

FOR MINI-SKIRTS

Panel For Modesty On New Chairs

Modesty panels — the latest item to combat mini-skirts — will be an extra feature of 510 chair desks in the senior high school this fall as a result of board action Tuesday night.

'Privacy Panel'

Termed a "privacy panel" by trustee Jerry Curry, the item brought the most controversy to light as board members considered and approved 25 items of furniture, costing $37,832.32.

Curry contended the panel would be uncomfortable for those "young men 250 pounds and more" who would be sitting in some of them. He found no other supporters, however, as he cast the lone negative vote.

Consideration of the type of cafeteria table hinged on the appearance of the two models. One, list cost $23.70, was a "typical cafeteria table," much like ones at Moss and Kentwood schools, according to Don Crockett, business manager.

More Attractive

The other, $41.06, was more attractive and approved by the board members with the general feeling of putting something "nice" into the newly-finished cafeteria. Alexander also pointed out that the cafeteria would be used by local groups, for banquets and parties.

The remaining 23 items recommended by Sam Anderson, superintendent of schools, and Crockett, were approved by the board. Ninety per cent of the furniture will go in the high school.

Israel Travelers Wait

NEW YORK (AP) — When threats of war rumbled across the Sinai Desert last month and reverberated around the world, the reaction of many Americans was to help Israel, in money, in mind and often in person.

Some said they would fight for Israel if the U.S. government would permit it. Some went there to work on collective farms and in factories to free Israeli men for battle.

When the war ended, those who wanted to help were joined by those who simply wanted to see.

Massive Tangle

The result has been nearly six weeks of massive tangle in the State Department passport division, with one of every five passport applications here specifying trips to Israel and many other listing Arab nations where there is no ban on travel, especially Lebanon.

"We're in a virtual state of siege," said Joseph R. Callahan, agent in charge of the New York City office where the brunt of passport applications were filed.

Outside Callahan's office, hundreds of persons stood in lines hour after hour waiting to file their applications or pick up their passports.

Influx Sparks Nightmare

The influx has pushed what is normally the office's busiest time of year into the nightmare category.

"I don't know if we've had some sort of record in applications," Callahan said, "but I don't remember anything like it in my career." Normally during the busy early summer months, the office averages 1,000 applications per day. Since June 2 this year, the average has been 2,100 with very little decrease during the few days of war when even travel to Israel was prohibited.

"They weren't allowed to go but they kept applying anyway," Callahan said. "And I really don't know when this might subside."

McNamara Still Mum

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara kept secret today his recommendations on boosting U.S. troop strength in Vietnam, but hinted more strongly at plans to get more combat power out of the forces already there.

In advance of a luncheon with President Johnson at the White House, McNamara refused to disclose what measures he will propose as a result of his ninth on-the-spot checkup of the U.S. military effort in Vietnam.

"I can't comment on what additional troops, if any, will be sent," the defense chief told newsmen who met him at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., where he arrived from Saigon just before midnight Tuesday.

He refused flatly to give any idea about the course of the air war, saying "I never comment on future operations."

Cannibalism Fears Voiced By Minister

KIGALI, Rwanda (AP) — A Congolese Cabinet minister today reported cannibalism of white settlers in the southeast Congo as a refugee pilot told of a stalemate between mutineers and loyal troops in Kisangani to the north.

Interior Minister Etienne Tshisekedi told newsmen at Bujumbura, capital of Burundi, that Congolese had eaten several whites in Lubumbashi. He said he feared similar cannibalism might occur in Bukavu because of the mutiny there by white mercenaries and Katanga troops loyal to ex-Premier Moise Tshombe.

STOP ORDER

Tshisekedi said he ordered a stop to "such barbarism and reprisals" in Lubumbashi, which as Elisabethville was capital of Katanga Province and Tshombe's former stronghold.

"I am going to Bukavu where similar acts could take place, all the more since the local population is still furious against mercenaries who mutined there last week," he said.

He said the situation was fairly quiet in Lubumbashi, but the Congolese population feared mercenary attacks. Lubumbashi escaped the mutinous uprisings that raged last week in Bukavu, 650 miles to the north, and in Kisangani, the former Stanleyville.

STALEMATE

A Cuban-American pilot who escaped from Kisangani said a stalemate seemed to prevail there with mutineers and loyal troops holding opposite banks of the Congo River.

The pilot for the Congo government's airline, Francisco Alvarez, landed his bullet-scarred DC3 at Kigali airstrip Monday night. He told Rwanda authorities he had escaped under heavy fire after being held for five days by white mercenaries and troops from Katanga Province who mutined after ex-Premier Moise Tshombe was kidnapped in the Spanish Balcas Islands and taken to Algeria.

FIVE JAILED

Alvarez, his French copilot, Georges Lagarrigue, and three passengers, a Belgian, a Spaniard and a Congolese, were jailed on demand of the Congolese Embassy on charges of stealing the plane.

Alvarez told U.S. Embassy officials that about 150 Europeans, including 22 visiting newsmen trapped in Kisangani by the mutiny, were in a hotel under the protection of the mercenaries. He said the mercenaries and mutineers hold that part of Kisangani on the right bank of the Congo River, including the airport and radio station.

He said the Congolese national army was holding the left bank of the river, but at the time he left there seemed to be a stalemate or tacit truce.

Alvarez, a refugee from Castro Cuba, has his first American citizenship papers. American officials said he and Lagarrigue were regular Air Congo pilots. They landed their DC3 at Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville, on a routine flight July 3, two days before the mutiny broke out.

Closed Campuses Approved, Parking Fee To Be Charged

By BECKY STARK

You can't go home for lunch any more — not if you're a student in one of Big Spring's three secondary schools this fall. And you may pay the schools to park, if you are a student in the high school.

SET LAST YEAR

The closed campus policy set by the school board last year was re-affirmed at Tuesday night's meeting, effective September, 1967. Considerable discussion centered about the policy, most of it concerning fencing the two parking lots on the senior high campus.

Joe Moss, president of the board, opened the discussion with the statement that if the policy isn't continued "we have wasted the taxpayer's money in building new cafeterias." Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper agreed, saying "We organized the schools with this end in mind and should go ahead with it."

The possibility of certain privileges for seniors to leave the campus brought up by Mrs. Cowper met a number of objections, the general feeling being exceptions should not be made.

WHERE FIRE TRUCK AND PASSENGER CAR CRASHED
Four firemen and one civilian driver injured in noonday collision

Two Seriously Hurt In Car-Fire Truck Crash

Five persons were injured, two of them seriously, in a collision involving a Big Spring fire truck, about noon today at the Fourth and Birdwell Lane intersection.

Two firemen — Capt. H. H. Morris and Bob Jones — were seriously injured and are in Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital, where they were taken in an Alert Ambulance. Attendants said Morris has serious chest injuries and Jones has serious skull injuries.

Eddie Henderson, driver of the car involved, is also in Hall-Bennett hospital, but his condition was not considered serious early this afternoon.

Firemen Jim Brown, who was driving the fire truck, is in Malone and Hogan clinic with a foot injury. William Rhoades, the fourth fireman on the truck, is in Cowper hospital with a fractured wrist.

Capt. Morris was with Brown in the cab of the truck; Jones and Rhoades were riding on the rear.

The fire truck was on a call to a grass fire at Sand Springs, driving east on Fourth Street, when the collision occurred.

Henderson's car was driving south on Birdwell, according to Rhoades.

Both vehicles were demolished, said Fire Chief H. V. Crocker.

Local firemen called the Coahoma department to answer the grass fire call at Sand Springs, following the accident.

Changes In Mental Institutions Due

AUSTIN (AP) — Armed with more money and high hopes, the new director of the State Mental Health Agency said Tuesday changes are expected in the "deplorable" conditions of some mental health institutions.

Dr. John Kinross-Wright said salary increases approved by the 60th Legislature should reduce the personnel turnover, and he said he was optimistic about a program to train college students, housewives, hospital attendants, nurses and others to help mental patients.

Wright, after four months on his new job, talked with reporters at a news conference.

He said he was disappointed at Gov. John Connally's veto of a $600,000 appropriation to lease and operate facilities for 100 patients in connection with the Texas Research Institute of Mental Sciences in Houston.

"More than 2,000 admissions to the Austin State Hospital are from Harris County alone. This is what we had hoped the 100 beds in Houston would do—take some pressure off the Austin State Hospital," he said.

Kinross-Wright said that within two years the new community health centers should start taking much of the load from state institutions. Currently, he said, overcrowding is still a problem.

SAIGON (AP) — Offensive pressure from North Vietnamese troops, which had seemed lately to be concentrated near the demilitarized zone, erupted violently today against two companies of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division in the central highlands.

A large detachment of Hanoi regulars pounced on an American force totaling about 250 men in rain-swept jungles just north of the Ia Drang Valley. They killed 35 and wounded 26 in vicious, close-quarters fighting. There was no immediate accounting of North Vietnamese casualties.

ON WAY OUT

Associated Press Correspondent Peter Arnett reported from Pleiku that the infantrymen had completed a survey of an area hit by B52 bombers Monday. They were on their way out when they came under heavy mortar, automatic-weapons and small-arms fire.

The Ia Drang Valley, near the Cambodian border, was the site of the week-long battle between U.S. air cavalrymen and North Vietnamese regulars that cost heavy casualties on both sides in November 1965. Several major engagements have been fought in that area since.

FRESH REGIMENTS

Intelligence officers had reported that fresh North Vietnamese regiments were braced close to the frontier of Cambodia, which professes neutrality, during the present rainy season for another effort to wrest the highlands from allied control.

American planes and ships carried the war to North Vietnam again with air raids deep in Red territory Tuesday and ship-to-shore bombardments far up the coast. Five Red MIG21s were reported sighted.

The U.S. Command said they refused battle.

'SPOOKIES' SPIT

A major Red effort in the highlands had been expected to follow or parallel the intensive pressure on the U.S. Marines farther north along the demilitarized zone. Reports from that area today said Communist harassment and artillery fire had dwindled to minor proportions over the past 48 hours.

In the delta, guerrilla forces hit outposts near the two main cities of My Tho and Can Tho.

Near Can Tho they attempted to penetrate an encampment held by black-clad pacification program workers. Circling American planes called "spookies" spewing Gatling-gun fire and flares, helped the South Vietnamese militia and pacification workers to beat off the attack.

48 REDS DIE

Farther south near Can Tho the guerrillas made a similar effort, but the South Vietnamese said at least 48 of the enemy were killed.

Militia guarding the outpost beat off the guerrillas, and at dawn a battalion of South Vietnamese rangers plunged in from helicopters to pursue the Viet Cong. Ten Reds were captured. Several rangers and three policemen were killed and two were wounded.

American pilots continued to concentrate on North Vietnam's rail network and made heavy strikes Tuesday on the line connecting Hanoi with Haiphong, its port. Air Force, Navy and Marine jets flew 137 missions against North Vietnam.

RAILS RIPPED

Air Force Thunderchiefs flew north of Hanoi to hit a rail yard just below the hard hit industrial complex at Thai Nguyen. Returning pilots reported the yard appeared bombed out and barren, with old, wrecked cars littering the area.

Carrier pilots streaking in from the Tonkin Gulf ranged from above Haiphong to close to the demilitarized zone, attacking fuel dumps, rail lines and water traffic. The Navy pilots sighted the five MIGs near Haiphong but said they made no effort to fight.

Cops Shotgun Rioting Mobs In Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP) — Police opened up with shotguns and carbines today on rioting mobs of Chinese Communists, killing one and wounding several others.

Mobs of roving gangs burned buses, taxis and cars, smashed store fronts, fought police with knives, and planted a time bomb that wrecked a rural government meeting house.

WATER RATIONED

As the Communist campaign against the British colonial officials was pressed without letup, the Hong Kong government announced drastic water rationing. Red China, which normally supplies water to the colony in periods of drought, has given no indication it will do so this year.

Peking backs the local Communists and repeatedly has assailed the British.

The rioting broke out both in Hong Kong proper and in Kowloon, the Chinese city and tourist center across the harbor.

ACID TOSSED

The mobs shouted and cursed the police and hurled crude bombs at them. In some sections, the crowds hurled acid at bus drivers who defied the Communist call for a transportation strike. Some mobs set fires at restaurant and theater entrances.

Police said the time bomb at the meeting house had been set to explode during a session of the rural advisory committee at Tai Po, a farm and fishing market town six miles south of Red China's border.

CARS AFIRE

The explosion hit only a few hours after Colonial Secretary D.R. Holmes told Hong Kong's legislative committee that the colony "may well be entering a new phase of terrorism."

A dozen buses and cars were splashed with gasoline and set afire in Kowloon.

Earlier, police clamped a dusk to dawn curfew on the island, center of the business and financial district and seats of the colonial government.

With Communist pressure on the British colonial government mounting, the most severe water rationing since 1963 was ordered to conserve the local supply should Peking refuse to resume deliveries of water from the mainland in the fall.

NO CURTAILMENT

Will Expand Service When Needed Says T-TA Chief

Assured that Trans-Texas Airways will continue to provide convenient, connecting scheduled service as a local service carrier was given to a Big Spring group Tuesday.

R. E. (Dick) McKaughan, Houston, president of T-TA, came here for a luncheon session with public officials and civic leaders for a general discussion of the commercial airline picture in Big Spring. He reviewed T-TA's history and operations and then answered a series of questions about his company's plans and policies.

IMPROVE AIRPORT

McKaughan said it was important to his company to have improvements at the Howard County airport, but even more important for the community itself. "If you expect to attract industry," he said, "you will have to provide adequate air service for corporate planes, which more and more are jet-powered." Air transportation, he said, is the "most important asset" a city today must consider in its planning for growth.

Although McKaughan said a longer, north-south runway is necessary, under certain conditions for T-TA planes, and that an adequate east-west runway should be added, he told the crowd that his company has no plans for the foreseeable future to bring jet service into Big Spring.

NO JETS HERE

He said T-TA by mid-1968 will have phased out all conventional piston planes, and will be serving its customers with the Convair 440 (turbo-jet converted plane) and the twin-jet DC-9. The latter craft, however, is destined for longer flights between metropolitan areas, and is not economically suitable for short-hop service.

The progress of air transportation, he said, means constantly changing flight patterns and services, and each of these is for the better. "We think we will continue to improve our services—for Big Spring and all other cities we serve," he said. "The quantity of our service is up to you." He said the provision of more schedules simply comes in response to passenger load demands.

BOARDINGS HIGHER

He recited figures to show how T-TA's business has gained in Big Spring. In its first full year of service here, there were 2,266 passengers boarded. A year later the figure was 2,550; the next year, (1966) 3,287, and in the first six months of this year the total has been 2,072.

June was a record month with 441, and boardings for 1967 might reach 5,000.

He explained that a new permit for non-stop service between Dallas and Midland-Odessa was simply a supplemental schedule to accommodate more business from the twin cities to the west, and would not affect present schedules serving Big Spring.

LOCAL SERVICE

"We have no intention of curtailing our service," he said. "We have upgraded our service and schedules and will continue to do so. We started out 20 years ago as a local service carrier; still are just that, and plan to continue to be a local service carrier. We want to take people in towns like yours to the metropolitan complexes for convenient connections on transcontinental and major-city flights."

Asked about improved north-south service (to Austin and Houston), McKaughan said this would be determined by a survey of needs, and he would welcome any such information from the Chamber of Commerce or other source. "We are responsive to traffic needs," he said.

AREN'T CASUAL DO-GOODERS

Pretty Coeds Helping 'Born To Lose' Youths

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — The young Negro prisoner was so hostile his clenched jaws constantly quivered. No staffer at Preston School of Industry could penetrate Tommy's shell. But Julie did.

Julie is a senior at the University of the Pacific; pretty, intelligent, vivacious, white, member of a leading sorority, and very sensitive to feelings of other people.

Tommy's brother had been killed in an Alabama race riot. At 18 Tommy was a ward of California, and "the most 'burn, whitey, burn' inmate in the state school for delinquent boys," as Prof. William F. Byron described him.

"TO MISS WONDERFUL," Tommy was paroled recently, and he wrote to Julie. He addressed the letter "To Miss Wonderful."

"Thanks to you I am sure I'll make it on the streets because I understand people better, and I now understand that other people are human too. Just the short time I've known you has made me a better guy."

Julie, with other girls and boys from the university, visited the California Youth Authority school at Ione, 40 miles north-east of Stockton, once a week the past school year. They ate dinner with the wards, then spent an hour and a half with them, talking, taking part in various group projects, even in occasional dance sessions.

UNIQUE PROGRAM Byron, retired chairman of the division of social work at Northwestern University who came to Pacific in 1962 as visiting professor of sociology, initiated the unique program and directs it. A nationally recognized authority on juvenile delinquency, Byron is a man of energetic idealism liberally seasoned with pepper and salt.

Byron had helped obtain a parole for Nathan Leopold, survivor of the Leopold-Loeb "thrill killer" team. The professor decided to broaden his horizon by serving at schools in various parts of the United States after leaving Northwestern. But the opportunity to apply his rehabilitation theories at Pacific kept him here.

COLLEGE CREDIT Officials at Preston and the new O.H. Close School for Boys, a Northern California youth center facility 12 miles south-east of Pacific, have become enthusiastic supporters of the program started at Preston as an experiment in 1964.

The volunteers—some 70 in the school year just ended and most of them coeds—are not merely curious or casual do-gooders. Thorough screening by a Byron committee bars those types. The students don't get paid. Only about one-third of them get any college credit for their work, although Byron insists that the crux of the program is academic content and supervision.

The students simply want to help youngsters who have been committed by courts as juvenile delinquents, kids with demonstrated inability to handle freedom and responsibility. Most of the wards, Byron says, consider themselves outcasts and unwelcome in society.

"Some have 'born to lose' tattooed on their skin," he says. "We must keep it from being burned into their minds."

Rains Douse Parts Of U.S.

By The Associated Press

Locally heavy rains doused parts of the nation early today, but skies generally were clear over the Midwest and the Far West.

The heaviest thunderstorm activity developed along the boundary between cool air and warm air from Arkansas to New York state. Thunderstorms also rumbled across the Central and Southern Rocky Mountains and the adjacent plains.

Huntsville, Ala., recorded 3.29 inches of rain Tuesday night and 97 inches fell in Pine Bluff, Ark.

Cloudbursts left up to 4 feet of water on highways in Central Colorado. Akron, in Northeastern Colorado, measured 1.87 inches of rain Tuesday night.

Cooler, drier air from Canada pushed into the Midwest and forecasters said the cold front was expected to move into New England by tonight.

Warm weather continued in the Southern and Western states.

Yarborough Pays Tribute To Texan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., paid tribute in the Senate Tuesday to Tom Clark, the Texan who recently retired from the Supreme Court.

"Our regret at Justice Tom Clark's leaving the Supreme Court is only partly mitigated by our pleasure in having Ramsey Clark as attorney general and Justice Thurgood Marshall on the court," Yarborough said.

Ramsey is Tom's son.

Marshall is the first Negro appointed to the court.

For 18 years Clark, former attorney general, who once practiced law in Dallas, "contributed his wisdom" and experience to the Supreme Court, Yarborough asserted.

"His decisions are marked by a high regard for the law and the courts, and display his independence of mind and great experience as a public and private lawyer," the senator added.

Food-Stamps Plan To Cost Millions

BOSTON (AP) — Gov. John A. Volpe says a food-stamp program to aid 192,000 low-income Massachusetts families will cost about $14 million annually.

Dear Abby

Lonely Woman Needs Fun

DEAR ABBY: There is an older woman in our town who is a real weird character. She lives alone on some sort of pension. (They say her husband ran off and left her years ago.) She loves to get all dressed up and go where people are.

Well, she must think her church membership entitles her to attend all the social functions that take place in the social hall of her church, because she never misses one. The fact that she's not invited doesn't seem to bother her.

She goes to all the teas, receptions, and parties where refreshments are served, mingles with the guests, helps herself to everything, and has a very good time.

Isn't it the minister's place to tell her she should stay away? He sees her at all the gatherings and surely knows she has not been invited.

CHURCH MEMBER

DEAR MEMBER: If anyone is to discourage an uninvited guest, it should be the hostess. The poor woman is probably lonely. And if she causes no harm and enjoys herself, what is another glass of punch and a few cookies amid the socializing?

DEAR ABBY: I've always been a big fan of yours, but now I'm a bigger fan than ever, and here's why:

While out at Arlington race track the other day I came across a horse named GABBY ABBY, so I had a hunch and bet a bunch. The horse came in and paid over $55.

I hope you won't take offense.

CHAS. FROM ELMHURST DEAR CHAS.: I've been told that I have "horse sense" (that is the kind one finds in a STABLE mind). And horse sense is what keeps horses from betting on people.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to speak for grandmothers who feel as I do, but don't have the courage to complain:

Why do young mothers think that since we have raised our family and now have some leisure time that we have NOTHING to do — so they give us the grandchildren to raise while they go out and work to keep up with the Joneses, or to get away from the children.

Please tell them that we did OUR job — not it's time for them to do theirs.

GRANDMA W. DEAR GRANDMA: A general "statement" won't accomplish anything. If YOU know of such a "young mother," I suggest that YOU tell her.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell the man who had plastic surgery on his nose to be sure to tell his fiancée about it before he marries her. And for sure before they have a child.

The reason: When I came home from World War II and saw my baby for the first time, I nearly fainted. What a nose! Then Korea, another baby, and another nose like you wouldn't believe. (I had been home proper long of time both times.)

I loved the kids anyway, but because of those noses I really started to wonder who the father was. One night, as couples do, we had a few words and things got out of hand, and I asked her who the kids' father was because she has a little, tiny nose and mine is average. She felt just terrible. Then she showed me some pictures taken of her before we met. What a beak that girl had! Yes, she had it fixed. Can you imagine what I went through before I knew the truth? WRONG

Happy Birthday

Mayor Arnold Marshall, (right), wishes Tom Passmore and his family of supervisors happy birthday here Tuesday on the occasion of the Seven-Eleven stores 40th birthday. Appropriately, the party came on 7-11 (67). Operated now as Southland Corporation, the business started with an ice station in Oak Cliff (Dallas). Today there are over 2,500, including seven in Big Spring.

Trustees Study Record Budget

School trustees will be watching their nickels and dimes in the new budget year, if approval is given to the preliminary budget presented Tuesday evening, setting a record high figure of $4,467,107. It allows a year-end balance of only $19,141 in the general fund.

MORE STUDY
Further study of the budget will be done by trustees in discussions with business manager Don Crockett at a meeting July 25. Public hearing on the budget is tentatively set for Aug. 18, although the definite date will be announced following the next meeting.

The new budget represents an increase of $361,647 over the current year total of $4,105,450. Major increases called for are in salary increases, previously approved by the trustees in line with the legislative action that gave school teachers a five per cent salary raise. Teachers were given the entire salary increase approved by the state, when local trustees voted last month to maintain the local increment of $650 above state minimum.

REVENUES
In the general fund, the district anticipates revenues of $4,001,744, compared with expenditures of $3,982,602, leaving a budget - end balance of $19,141. In the interest and sinking fund, $672,637 will be received, with expenditures of $484,505, leaving a balance of $188,132. Local real estate taxes will provide the bulk of the money for financing the schools, estimated at $1,820,350, which includes current and delinquent taxes, plus penalties and interest.

Balance of the local revenue - $26,745 - will come from interest on investments, rentals, donations and fees, and other items.

The state will add revenues to the local budget of $1,919,659, and federal programs will kick in an additional $287,000.

Of the expenditures, instructional expense accounts for more than half of the total - $2,733,662, compared with $2,547,846 last year. The other accounts, with previous budget in parentheses, call for:

COMPARISONS
Administration and business, $176,154 ($166,936); attendance, $18,889 ($17,461); health service, $27,069 ($24,811); pupil transportation, $56,339 ($52,931); operation of plant, $297,483 ($251,495); maintenance of plant, $132,384 ($121,786); fixed charges, $127,001 ($112,290); student body activities, $114,868 ($84,171); community services, $9,832 ($7,000); capital outlay, $139,073 ($169,962); debt service, $484,505 ($412,157).

Weather Forecast

Showers and thundershowers are forecast Wednesday night in the Carolinas, Florida, the southern Plains and the Rocky Mountain region. Cooler temperatures are expected in the northern tier of states from the Dakotas to the middle Atlantic states and New England. (AP Wirephoto)

Meany Says Striking Rio Workers Need Protection

WASHINGTON (AP)—George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, said Tuesday striking farm workers in Texas "have been subject to almost incredible harassment" in recent weeks.

Meany, appearing before the migratory labor subcommittee, said the harassment included "physical abuse and unconstitutional arrest, by the Texas Rangers and other law enforcement authorities."

Meany wants legislation which would amend the National Labor Relations Act to extend collective bargaining rights to farm workers.

NO RIGHTS
The right of agricultural workers to organize and bargain collectively is not protected by the law," he said. "There is no federal machinery through which they can express their will or protect their rights; indeed, in this area they have no rights. "So in order to improve their miserable lot by the only practical means, through union organization, they must do what other workers had to do in the dark ages of labor history—scratch and claw and dig out their own little clearing in a hostile jungle."

SHOCKING POVERTY
Meany said farm workers were forced to live in "shocking poverty—even degradation" because they lack labor law protective provisions other employees have had for 32 years.

He told Senators that the average cash hourly wage for domestic farm employees last October was $1.18, or 36 per cent of the rate for factory workers.

The hearing was expected to last through Thursday.

Bike Bandit Strikes Again

A bicycle bandit may be loose on the east side of town if reports of stolen bicycles the last two days are any indication of a set pattern.

Three bicycles reported stolen on Lloyd and Sunset Avenue were joined Tuesday by another report from B. B. Hinson, 1701 Yale—in the same area. Hinson told police two bicycles valued at $40 each were taken Monday night from his front yard.

Three other thefts reported Tuesday are being investigated by police. An unknown amount of cigarettes and $100 in change from a cigarette machine at the Silver Saddle Motel, 1104 W. 3rd, were reported stolen by Warren Willborn. He told officers the theft was discovered Tuesday morning when he and his family returned from a short trip.

Cecil Peurifoy, 1013 Stadium, told police an undetermined number of radiator tanks had been taken from Perco Car Care Center. Two car stereo tapes and 80 albums, estimated value $320, were reported stolen from Gayle Harding, 1209 Scurry.

Good Crowd For Specials

Starlite Specials attracted another crowd of 500 people to the program in the City Park amphitheater last night.

The program included a comedy opera entitled "The Telephone," and a baton-twirling act by the Sweetwater "Sweetwaterettes." Also on the program was a folk dance by an Immaculate Heart Catholic Church youth group.

There is no program scheduled for tonight, but Thursday will be the band concert by the 65 member Big Spring High School Band group.

The program will begin at 8:30 p.m. Thursday and the band will play such patriotic songs as "This is My Country" and "Stars and Stripes Forever." Also they will play selections from the "Sound of Music," "My Fair Lady," "South Pacific" and "Carnival." They have chosen "Lil of the Latin," and "Valdres" for the concert.

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Karen Lassiter, 10, Huntsville, was killed Tuesday when an automobile struck a guard rail and overturned three times.

The accident occurred just south of Huntsville off US 73. The car was a 1965 Ford Mustang. The driver, Robert Mosty, Center Point and Harry Anderson, McCamey.

Peugh Receives Cotton Award

Johnny Peugh, Howard County, who won first place in dry land cotton production contest for 4-H Club members, is in Lubbock today to receive his $125 cash award and the plaque which symbolizes his achievement.

He was accompanied by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Peugh, and his sister, Patty. Also on hand to see the award presented were County Agent Paul Gross and his assistant, James Shelton.

Peugh averaged more than 800 pounds of lint cotton per acre. He had a test plot of five acres.

OKIE SHOTS 'BIG FROG'

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP)—Henry Brashears learned Tuesday that the "big frog" he thought he had shot with his rifle late Monday was a 3½-foot, 25-pound alligator.

Brashears, a retired St. Louis hardware dealer, was told by a neighbor he sure had a "big frog" in his farm pond. Brashears shot it Monday night.

Tuesday, he found the alligator floating in the pond—a dead of a rifle bullet. He said he had no idea how the alligator got into his pond.

Cotton Utilization Report Made By Study Group Today

Report on studies being made of locally produced cotton—products which can be made from it and the feasibility of establishing a plan to handle processing here—was heard today by a group of Howard County area agriculturists, businessmen and civic leaders.

The speakers were area development representatives from the Texas Electric Service Co. and the meeting was in the Cosden Country Club, starting at 8:30 a.m. R. H. Browder, agricultural consultant for Texas Electric Service Co., accompanied by Carl Cox, director of the Cotton Research Committee of Texas, and W. F. Harris of the Cotton Economic Research Division of the University of Texas, were the speakers.

The meeting was part of a study which is being made by the two cotton research groups, ferred with them on the specific advantages the textile industry might expect by locating facilities here.

The study will identify the products that can be manufactured from locally produced cotton and which of these products can economically be produced and marketed in this area. Harris and his staff at the University will determine the optimum size factory, the cost of operation, and profits that could be expected. They will consider return on investment, pay-out period and will prepare a detailed five-year operating statement.

Don Womack, Big Spring, manager here for TESCO said the study will be completed this fall and will then be presented to executives of the principal textile manufacturing firms throughout the nation.

TOPLESS DANCER, DRUMMER POST COINS THEFT BONDS
CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—A topless dancer who was married last winter in a wedding dress cut almost to the waist in front and a bearded drummer who was the best man were free on bonds today, charged with burglarizing a car.

Mrs. Diane Patricia Shaddix, 20, and another woman, Patricia Mienke, 22, were freed on $1,000 bond each Tuesday. The drummer, Danford Vella, 21, posted $1,000 bond on the burglary charge and another $1,000 bond on a charge of possession of amphetamine, a drug.

PASTIES MISSING
Mrs. Shaddix walked on a small stage Feb. 6 at the Beachcomber Lounge. She wore traditional white bridal veil, but tradition stopped there.

The front of the dress was cut away and gone were the small pasties used in her performances at the lounge. The bridesmaids also were topless.

Police arrested the trio Monday night in connection with the theft of several hundred dollars worth of old coins from a car of Mrs. Shaddix's former boss, Gene French.

French is the owner of The Beachcombers on Padre Island. Police said the coins were recovered in the attic of a residence in Flour Bluff and from the cashier at a cafe where the trio performed.

STILL MARRIED
Police said the coins were recovered in the attic of a residence in Flour Bluff and from the cashier at a cafe where the trio performed.

After an informal 15-minute discussion with spokesmen for 16 major oil companies, the commission, oilmen and representatives of the U.S. Department of Interior and Department of Defense went into a closed meeting.

"We're going to talk about the Middle East, transportation, logistics and the political situation there," said Jim Langdon, Commission chairman. "These are matters of national security and, under Texas law, may be closed to the press."

DEATHS

John W. Carter, 69, Furniture Proprietor

John William Carter, 69, partner with his son in the Carter Furniture Company here, died unexpectedly at 9:20 a.m. here Wednesday.

Mr. Carter, who had been in failing health for several years, was stricken at his home and was rushed to a hospital, where he died within a few minutes. Arrangements are pending at the Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home.

Mr. Carter was born Oct. 23, 1897 in Alexander, Tex. to Edward and Ella Carter. He came to Big Spring almost 20 years ago and entered the furniture business with his son, Terry Carter. Prior to coming here, he operated a business at Campt, near Wichita Falls, from the time that he was a young man. He was a quiet, modest man who delighted in other people and was happiest when in his (the First Baptist) church or with his customers.

Mr. Carter is survived by his wife, Mrs. Dora Ruth Carter; four sons, John Ewell Carter, Grand Prairie, James Conway Carter, Midland, Terry Melvin

JOHN W. CARTER

Carter, Big Spring, and Donald Jean Carter, Evansville, Ind.

Preceding him in death were the mother of his children, Gladys E. Carter, and their daughter, Mrs. Harold Simpson, who was killed in a car accident in 1959.

He also leaves his brother, Joseph Carter, Wichita Falls; three sisters, Mrs. E. W. Whitaker and Mrs. Earl Denney, both of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Charles Gregory, Parsons, Kan.

Mr. Carter leaves 10 grandchildren and a number of nephews and nieces.

Besides being a member of the First Baptist Church, he also was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Retail Merchants Association and other business organizations.

He married Ruby D. Rogers Sept. 1, 1917, in Alvarado, and came to Big Spring in 1942 from Knott. He was in the grocery business for 30 years, and retired last December because of ill health.

Mr. King was a member of the Baptist church.

He is survived by his wife, of the home; one daughter, Mrs. E. W. Hamilton, Midland; one grandson, Jerold Cox, Big Spring; three great-grandchildren; one brother, Vernon King, Amarillo; four sisters, Mrs. Thelma Allen, Mrs. Johnnie Phieffier, Mrs. J. W. Allen, all of Dallas, Mrs. Gertrude Rogers, Henderson.

Tom Slaughter, Funeral Today
Services for Tom A. Slaughter were to be at 4 p.m. today in the River-Weich Chapel, with Dr. Clyde Smith, Abilene, officiating, assisted by the Rev. K. K. Gee, pastor of the First Methodist Church. Interment was to be in the Masonic section of City Cemetery.

Included in the list of survivors are his two grandchildren, Sherree and Craig Parrott. Also included among the pallbearers were Myron Fairchild and A. J. Bailey.

OIL REPORT

Wildcat Strike In Howard Co.

Union Texas Petroleum Corp., a division of Allied Chemical Corp., has a wildcat strike in an unidentified formation in Howard County, pumping 60 barrels of 42-gravity oil and 90 barrels of water per day from the zone perforated between 6,438-7,797 feet.

It is the No. 1 Shroyer and is bottomed 8,890 feet, plugged back to 8,020 feet, and treated with 6,000 gallons of acid and fraced with 70,000 gallons of oil and 245,000 pounds of sand.

The gas-oil ratio registered 650-1, and 5½ inch casing was set at 8,020 feet. Location is 1,980 feet from the south and 600 feet from the west lines of section 11-33-T2N, T&P survey, 14 miles northwest of Big Spring.

L. W. Holbrook, Midland, has announced plans to dig the No. 1 Barber, a wildcat, to 6,500 feet to test the Wolfcamp in the city limits of Coahoma, two miles northeast of a marginal Wolfcamp producer in the Hutto field, and 3½ miles northeast of a Hutto South, one well Wolfcamp field.

Location is 1,850 feet from the north and 760 feet from the west lines of the northeast quarter of section 47-31-T1N, T&P survey.

H. L. Brown, Mr. J. A. Clayton and Johnson are drilling at 7,315 feet in time and shale. Location is 660 feet from the north and 1,080 feet from the west lines of section 8-33-T2N T&P survey, 11 miles southwest of Goli.

District Horse Show Opens Here Thursday

About 100 entries will compete in the annual Extension District 2-4-H Horse Show which is scheduled tomorrow in Big Spring.

Twelve to 14 South Plains counties will be represented in the show, say Extension District Agents Billy C. Gunter and Mrs. Aubrey W. Russell of Lubbock. The district agents plan to attend.

Equine enthusiasts will gather at Big Spring's Rodeo Bowl and prepare for halter class judging starting at 9 a.m.

Classes include the following: registered mare, any breed, five years of age and over; registered mare, any breed, under five years of age; grade mare, under 14 hands, three inches in height; grade mare, 14 hands, three inches tall and over; grand champion and reserve champion mare; registered gelding, any breed, five years of age and over; registered gelding, any breed, under five years of age; grade gelding, under 14 hands, three inches in height; grade gelding, 14 hands, three inches in height and over; and the grand champion and reserve champion gelding class.

Exhibitors in the halter classes will also be judged on their showmanship ability. Performance classes will be judged following the halter group. These include Western pleasure, reining, pole bending and barrel racing.

Entries include 4-H boys and girls who, with their animals, have topped their respective county 4-H horse shows.

Paul Gross, Howard County agricultural agent, heads the show committee and his assistant is Ken Cook, Briscoe County agent.

Judging halter and performance classes will be F. B. Yeates, extension animal husbandman (horses, and Jimmy Taylor, local banker and former Howard County agent, Bill Reagor, and Charles Green, Martin and Midland county agents, respectively, will judge showmanship.

Trophies will be awarded to the top contestants in each class and ribbons will be presented for other placings. Presenting these awards will be John Hill of Mitchell County, District 4-H Council chairman.

The top 20 contestants are eligible to compete in the state 4-H Horse Show to be held in Odessa, Aug. 10-12. These include the exhibitor of the grand champion mare; grand champion gelding; first place winner in showmanship, Western pleasure, reining, pole bending and barrel racing events; and 13 other high point contestants. Alternates will not be certified to participate in the state contest.

June's Rain Was Above Average

Now that we're deep in July and there seems no reason to expect the month will do any better than its predecessor, let's consider the meteorological standing of June.

Rainwise, June was not bad. In fact it was .17 inch better than the average June for the past 68 years in this county.

The U.S. Experiment Station records show that the month's measurable precipitation was 2.33 inches and the 68-year average for June is 2.16.

However, things are not good for the first six months of the year. The station's gauge has captured only 6.31 inches so far in 1967. This compares with the 68-year normal for the first six months of 8.62 inches and shows we are 2.31 in arrears.

There were 10 days on which measurable rain occurred at the station in June, but the heaviest single rain recorded was .7 inch on June 10. There were numerous small showers which brought the month's total to 2.33.

The hottest day of the month was June 8 with a reading of 102 degrees. June 11 had the coolest night—62 degrees. Maximum temperature average for the month was 92. The 52 year average is 93. The minimum average for the month was 70 degrees which is three degrees warmer than the 52-year average. The mean temperature average for the month was 81 compared with the 80 degree average for the 52-year interval.

Wind velocity was 5.8 miles per hour compared with the 49-year average of 4.90.

No severe sandstorms occurred but there were short duration dust flurries.

The month was a bad one for evaporation of precious water. The figure for June was 11.18 inches and the 52-year average is 10.29.

Water Training Course Slated

COLLEGE STATION — An advanced water training course for Andrews area water works employees is set Aug. 7-11 and 14-18 in Andrews under direction of Texas A&M University's Engineering Extension Service.

Leon Holbert, chief instructor of Water Utilities Training for TEES, said the course will familiarize water works men with sanitation, chemistry, bacteriology, mathematics, safety and hydrology.

Charles Wall Jr. will teach water and sewage works operators, superintendents, engineers, mechanics and sanitarians who work for cities, industries, counties and other agencies.

Those who successfully complete the two weeks of training will receive 20 hours credit toward certification by the Texas Department of Health, Wall announced.

Science And You Computer Moon Landings

By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

We've already made millions of landings on the moon using the vivid imagination of computers.

One obvious requirement of lunar exploration is to be able to land safely. This is really one of the basic reasons behind our need for so many pictures of the moon's surface. It's also, in part, the reason we wanted to make unmanned landings with Surveyor spacecraft.

With all the pictures coming back from Lunar Orbiter, the question arises as to how best to find the ideal places for landing. Many, many thousands of square miles have been covered by the pictures that have been taken. Each one of them holds an exquisite amount of detail.

This detail is very important because we're interested in obstacles that might upset the lunar landing craft, the so-called LEM, and these can be only a few feet in size. When you start exploring many miles of lunar surface looking for tiny obstacles, the problem of screening out the best places really becomes enormous.

One way the Space Agency is attacking this is to use powerful computers. The Lunar Orbiter pictures are actually put into magnetic tape form so they can be put into a computer. The computer is then able to analyze the tape to find out what areas on the moon are smoothest. In order to be very sure that the proper areas have been picked, the computer is then programmed to simulate landings of the lunar landing craft on the surface.

The lunar module is a four-footed gadget with, roughly speaking, a 25-foot spread between its feet. It's possible to put this data into mathematical form and ask the computer to drop the lunar module onto the smooth lunar surface areas contained in its memory.

In this way, we can make perhaps 10,000 computer landings in each promising 600-foot by 600-foot area on the lunar surface. If you ask the computer how many landings were successful according to its calculations and how many were not, in the sense that the landing craft tipped over, you get a good measure of just how safe that 600-foot by 600-foot area is. By repeating this in a number of areas, you then get a numerical ranking of what places on the moon would be safest for a landing craft.

Such computer analyses will be done for each specific site under consideration for the live landings.

In such analysis, the astronaut is not asked to do anything. When one adds the capability of an astronaut to select a nice smooth place out of the 600 by 600-foot areas the computer has considered, the probability of a successful landing is increased still further. Using the astronaut is thus sort of an ace in the hole, as far as landing safety is concerned.

By the time we're ready to send men to the moon, NASA will have made millions of safe computer landings on its surface. Add the astronaut's pilot skill to the process, and the probability of having trouble on the landing itself will no doubt be acceptably small.

Whooper Eats Initial Meal

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A rare whooper chick ate its first meal — 20 worms — Tuesday and San Antonio zoo director Fred Stark said the bird was "doing real good."

Stark said the chick will never again live with its parents, Rosie and Crip.

"If I put it in the pen with the parents they would kill it," Stark said. "It would be strange to them and I'm sure they would attack it."

He took the chick away from the whooper parents after it hatched Sunday and put it in a box at his home.

A chick hatched earlier was apparently smothered by its mother's wing.

Stark will place the second chick in a cage by itself in three or four weeks.

Gross Warns Of Sleeping Sickness In Horses

This is the season when the danger of equine encephalomyelitis — sleeping sickness for horses — is current, according to Paul Gross, Howard County farm agent.

The middle and late summer is especially dangerous period the disease, Gross warns.

There is no specific cure for the disease, but Gross says vaccination prior to exposure will protect the horse for a year. Since the disease is most prevalent in middle and late summer this is the time to vaccinate, he warned. This will insure immunity to the animal during the danger period.

The disease is an infection of birds, but man and horses are susceptible to the viral disease. The culex tarsalis mosquito is attributed with causing the spread of the disease to both men and horses.

Incubation of the disease in the horse is from one to three weeks and may be accompanied by a fever, loss of appetite and dullness. Early symptoms are hypersensitivity, restlessness and blindness. Extreme depression may follow and the horse may stand with his head hung low apparently asleep.

In more advanced cases, he may lie down and refuse to eat or drink.

Vaccinations consisting of two injections seven to 10 days apart may provide protection for uninfected animals if losses of horses have occurred. Gross suggested horse owners in need of additional information discuss the matter with a veterinarian.

No need to dial 915!

You can dial many Long Distance calls faster and easier now.

It's no longer necessary for Big Spring phone users to dial the Area Code on many Long Distance calls. If the Area Code of the phone you're calling is the same as yours — 915 — you simply dial "1," then the telephone number. Your call zips through faster than ever before.

If you're calling Long Distance to a phone with an Area Code different from 915, you'll still dial "1," the Area Code, then the telephone number.

For a handy list of Area Codes and more information on this easier way to call Long Distance, see the front pages of your new telephone directory.

Southwestern Bell

If you need to know an out-of-town telephone number and the Area Code of the town is the same as yours (915), just dial "1," then the universal information number, "555-1212." When the information operator answers, give her the name of the town you want, then the name and address of the person or business. On calls for a city with an Area Code different from 915, you'll still dial "1," the Area Code, then "555-1212."

Critics Paint A Dark Picture If Viet War Intensifies

Retired President
Of Oil Firm Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional critics paint a dark picture of increased taxes, price-wage controls and mobilization of reserves if President Johnson intensifies the Vietnam war.

The doves are telling Johnson through Senate and House speeches that he also will be risking World War III if he pours in a huge complement of ground forces and expands the bombing of North Vietnam.

The hawks, diverted at the moment by the alarms of possible African involvement in the Vietnam conflict, are otherwise relatively silent while awaiting Johnson's decision after he confers with Gen. William C. Westmoreland and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. Both just returned from Vietnam.

WAR INCUBATING?
But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen seemed to voice the general view of hawks that if Westmoreland wants more troops, he ought to have what he needs.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who wants a renewed effort to reduce the present level of U.S. involvement in the Asian war, cited the possible domestic effects of expanding the conflict.

Mansfield told the Senate

Tuesday that a third world war may be "already incubating in the ever-deepening and expanding struggle in Southeast Asia."

He said every escalation thus far had failed to bring the conflict nearer an end.

PAY CONTROLS

"Before we take another significant step deeper into Vietnam," he said, "it is to be hoped that we will have asked ourselves at what point we intend to increase taxes, apply wage and price controls, tighten the draft exemptions, call up the reserves and make the countless other adjustments in our national life which are implicit in further extensions of the American involvement."

Mansfield's estimate that Vietnam expenditures will rise to $25 billion yearly brought a prediction from Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Rt., that an increase of 18 to 20 per cent in income taxes may be in the offing.

An effort by Secretary of State Dean Rusk to placate senators who vigorously protested Johnson's dispatch of three U.S. transport planes to help the Congo government appeared to have made little headway.

IMMORAL ACTION

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee, who said it was immoral to send one American serviceman to the Congo, said after hearing Rusk in a closed session that he hadn't changed his opinions about anything.

Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., head of the Foreign Relations Africa subcommittee, said the President acted "without clear legal authority." He said, however, he did not share action might trigger a Vietnam-type involvement in Africa.

Foreign Relations Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said later he and others told Rusk that Congress wants a much greater voice—not just post-decision consultation—in deciding whether U.S. military forces should be ordered to new world trouble spots.

FORT WORTH (AP) — William LeRoy Stewart, 74, oil executive, former School Board president and the Exchange Club's Outstanding Citizen of 1947, died Tuesday.

He had been in a hospital since May 9.

He was a retired president of Westbrook Oil Corp. and Westbrook-Thompson Holding Corp.

Vivien Leigh Worked Hard In War Epic

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The death of Vivien Leigh came as MGM was preparing for the sixth release of her greatest triumph, "Gone with the Wind."

The film company had asked the English actress to attend the festive opening of the Civil War epic in Atlanta, Ga., this fall, as she had done at the premiere in 1939 and the war centennial release in 1961. Now it appears that Olivia de Havilland will have the sad duty of representing the film troupe that made what has been called America's favorite movie.

Most of the other major figures connected with "Gone with the Wind" are dead: Miss Leigh, Clark Gable, Leslie Howard, producer David O. Selznick, director Victor Fleming, scenarist Sidney Howard, Thomas Mitchell, Hattie McDaniell, Ward Bond, Laura Hope Crews, Harry Davenport.

SHADOW OF SELF

Miss Leigh died at 53 last Saturday in her London home. She had suffered a return of the tuberculosis that had afflicted her in the years following the filming of "Gone with the Wind."

"I am convinced that Vivien contracted t.b. as a result of her rundown condition after the picture," Miss de Havilland said recently. "I've never seen anyone work as hard as she did on 'Gone with the Wind.' By the time the picture was over, she was a shadow of her former self."

Vivien Leigh always gave unstintingly of her energies as an actress but never more than in her role as Scarlett O'Hara. She realized that she had to prove herself since there was widespread criticism that a virtually unknown British actress would be given the role of the fiery Southern.

PHYSICAL ACTION
She worked hard at softening her English accent to Southern tones, then labored five long months at 16 hours a day, that was when the studios worked six days a week, not five. She was in virtually every sequence of the film, and many involved hard physical action.

Toward the end of the production, Selznick wanted a retake of a scene that took place at the beginning. But he took a look at his star and told her: "You look too old and too ill for the scene." He released her for a fortnight on the Riviera with the man she aimed to marry, Laurence Olivier—they were both married to others at the time. When she returned to Hollywood, she was told the film had been completed.

'BETTER WOMAN'

Miss Leigh married Olivier and returned to England for the war years. She refused to allow her career to be dominated by Scarlett O'Hara. When she returned to Hollywood in 1951, it was in an entirely different role, as the bedeviled Blanche DuBois in "A Streetcar Named Desire," which won her second Academy Award.

At that time she was impatient with questions about "Gone with the Wind," but she did speculate on what might have happened to Scarlett after Rhett Butler left her: "I think she probably became a much better woman. But I don't think she ever got Rhett."

Levelland College Plans Expansion

South Plains College in Levelland is asking bids for a building to house its technical-vocational program. President Marvin Baker said that contractors were being invited to submit proposals for construction prior to the opening time at 2 p.m. Aug. 3 at his office. Information may be had from him, or plans and specifications may be secured from LaVerne Kirby, architect, 1902 Dixie, Lubbock.

Horoscope Forecast —CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a good chance now to use your best judgment and your most effective abilities to convince others of almost anything that you have in your consciousness, to make a point to get together with charming and other contacts to let them know what you have in mind and then listen to what they have to say.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Try to be more cooperative with associates and stop going off on some tangent of your own and you then can increase corporate success. Then out to some new and charming place with mate.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Get home or office more comfortable, beautiful and you can have greater rapport with those who mean a good deal to you. Please the one who means most to you of close labor with love, diligence.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Out to wherever you feel most at home and enjoy entertainment or conversations most with one of your devotees to others in some tangible way. Then you get wonderful responses, results.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You want to make some rather expensive improvements to your home, so behave as if you think how to add to income quickly. Be clever, adroit. Then start buying small, artistic pieces, brighten your outlook.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have on several methods how to have improved relationships with others who are important in your scheme of things. Make sure you get statements out with clarity. Be precise, however.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A little disappointment now and then to those who have power over you can bring much better results than for some time. Be interested in getting everything around you to operate very efficiently. Be enthusiastic about whatever you are doing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have an ambitious plan that you can discuss with a fine friend who can give wonderful advice and ideas connected with it. Be very sociable. Much pleasure as well as benefits accrue thereby.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) An influential person's advice can show you how to gain your most cherished aims. The right solution occurs to you after much conversation. Improve romantic life by handling present situation rightly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Out with some good deal to a new place where you can get the information you need. You get much assistance in gaining personal desires. If you are more broad-minded where ideas of others are concerned.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show appreciation for the aid given you by one who comprehends your aims and ambitious plans for the future. Make understand your ideas more quickly now. You readily get the cooperation you need.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have to have a different attitude toward your associate if you are to operate together more successfully. Be sure you get out to some charming spot with one with whom you want to discuss personal matters.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Go over your personal expenditures and get budget working properly, both yours and your mate's. Get all statements in fine order. Evening should be devoted to romance, secret desires, business.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow, he or she will be one of those delightful young ones who can accomplish a great deal since there is a universal understanding of the wishes of others, plus a willingness to cooperate. Teach early not to be possessive or be completely under the domination of another. Artistic, practical work is best.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, JULY 12, 1967 SEC. B

Terry Ray Nappers To Make Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Ray Napper are at home at 307 E. 19th following their marriage Friday evening in Sunset Baptist Church in Lamesa. The bride is the former Miss DiAnn Amone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde F. Amone, 2223 S. 1st Street, Lamesa, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Napper, 1025 Stadium, Big Spring.

The Rev. R. W. Blackmon performed the double ring service before an archway of English ivy and blue carnations flanked by cathedral tapers in branched candelabra entwined with greenery and chrysanthemums.

Miss Betty Sue Houston of Lamesa served as pianist, and Miss Sue Crosthwaite of Cushing, Okla., sang the selections, "Because" and "One Hand, One Heart."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white peau de soie designed with wrist-length sleeves and Sabrina neckline. A scalloped panel of lace outlined in seed pearls accented the skirt front, and a chapel train of lace was attached to a lace cummerbund. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls and iridescent crystals. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations over a white lace-covered Bible.

Mrs. Danny Price, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She chose a street-length dress of blue lace fashioned with cap sleeves and scooped neckline. She wore a matching headpiece and brief veil and carried a bouquet of blue carnations.

Henry Williamson of Big Spring was best man. Ushers were Roy Napper of Big Spring, brother of the bridegroom, and Johnny Amone, of Lubbock, brother of the bride.

Dani-Lynn Price, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a skirt of blue faille and bodice of white lace with a matching headpiece. Brent Amone, of Seminole, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Altar tapers were lighted by Miss Wanda Edmondson of Snyder and Miss Gail McPeak.

MRS. TERRY R. NAPPER

The couple left on a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N.M., and for traveling the bride chose a two-piece linen suit of navy and white with white accessories. Her corsage was white carnations from her bouquet.

Judy Daniel Instructs Order Of Rainbow Girls

Judy Daniel, grand charity, instructed the group in Rainbow work at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Order of Rainbow for Girls at the Masonic Temple.

Sherri Alexander, worthy advisor, presided and announced a Founder's Day picnic will be held at 6:30 p.m., Thursday, at the Webb Air Force Base pavilion. Rides will be provided for those who meet in the hall at 6:15 p.m.

Mrs. O. L. Nabors, mother advisor, announced that the class for secret work will not be held Saturday afternoon, and a letter from Mrs. Victor Whitfield was read announcing that the 1968 Grand Assembly will be held July 17-19 in Corpus Christi.

Fifty-nine members and two adults, Mrs. Nabors and Mrs. J. D. Thompson, attended.

The BPO Does will hold a salad supper this evening at 7 p.m. in the Elks Hall for members, their husbands and guests. Each member is requested to bring a salad, and following the meal, table games will be played.

Merle Frazier To Be Married

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Bain, 119 Frazier, are announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter, Merle Leoma, to Glen Robert Press, son of Mrs. Nell Mott, Sands Motel. The wedding will be July 22 at the home of the bride's parents.

BPO Does Plan Supper At Hall

The BPO Does will hold a salad supper this evening at 7 p.m. in the Elks Hall for members, their husbands and guests. Each member is requested to bring a salad, and following the meal, table games will be played.

Church Women Compare Religion

Mrs. Bert Affleck, assisted by Miss Twila Lomax, brought the program, "Dialogue with a Difference," Monday evening at the ice cream supper held by the Martha Wesleyan Service Guild of First Methodist Church. Mrs. A. C. Bass, 106 Washington, was hostess.

The program dealt with a comparison of religions including Buddhism, Mohammedanism, Hinduism and Judaism. Hostesses were Mrs. H. M. Rowe and Mrs. W. R. Yates. Mrs. W. E. Moren presided and announced that she and Miss Edith Gay, district secretary, will attend the Wesleyan Service Guild retreat held July 22-23 in Ceta Canyon at Palo Duro. Thirty attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Porter of McKinney, are parents of their first child, a daughter, Samantha Anne, born at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, in the Collin Memorial Hospital at McKinney.

Honored At Luncheon

On Tuesday

Miss Lana Jean Satterwhite, bride-elect of Terry Kaiser, was honored with a pre-nuptial luncheon Tuesday in the home of Mrs. John Dibrell, 893 Dallas. Miss Merry Lee Dibrell was a cohostess.

The honoree was presented with a white carnation corsage as was her mother, Mrs. Bob Satterwhite. The hostess' gift was a set of cookware.

The dining table was centered with a bridal figurine holding a miniature wedding ring, a d china and silver appointments completed the setting. Ten attended.

Birth Announced

Announcement is made here of the birth of a son, Jeffrey Scott, to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reed of Austin, former local residents. The infant was born July 5 and weighed eight pounds, two ounces. Mrs. Reed is the former Miss Donna Clinton, and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Clinton, 2407 Alabama.

Practices Revue

Members of the Gay Hill 4-H Club met Monday in the annex of the Luther Bethel Baptist Church for a dress revue and to practice modeling garments made for the County Dress Revue to be held July 17. Ten participated.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

There's no telling how many people had their plans for the evening changed in the evening last night as the All-Star baseball game went on and on to a record number of innings. Few could turn off the tube before the winning run even if they liked baseball just a little.

At the Tuesday afternoon party for KAY BETTLE we had a nice chat with MRS. SEARCY WHALEY of Dallas who is an aunt of the honoree. . . also visited with MRS. R. J. REAM whose son, Ricky, is in Germany visiting Klaus Limbacher, our first exchange student. Now that Klaus has finished some school work, he and Ricky plan to do some sightseeing and hope to see their former high school classmate, KATHY SEDDON who is doing missionary work.

They have also spent some time with KENNY ROOVER who is in military service there. Mrs. Ream said she told Ricky to look all about him when he was out in public, since there more than likely will be a number of Big Spring people somewhere near.

Guests in the home of MR. and MRS. R. B. HALL are MRS. MICHAEL TAVAGLIONE and her children, Michael, Michelle and Valerie, whose home is in West Wyoming, Pa. They came to Texas early for a visit prior to the wedding of her sister, Miss Phillis Hall, which is set for Aug. 18. Mr. Tavaglione will come for the wedding.

MRS. H. A. REQUE has returned to her home in Austin after visiting her brother-in-law and sister, MR. and MRS. H. C. STIPP. Mrs. Reque visited her cousins, the Bartlett Manns in San Angelo and together they attended the Sterling County Reunion at Sterling City Wednesday.

MRS. CARROLL DAVIDSON is in Omaha, Neb., with her father who has undergone surgery.

From Bogota, Columbia, comes word from DR. JIMMIE TAMSITT that he is preparing to move to Canada where he will begin on Aug. 1, his new position as associate curator of mammals at Toronto University. He is the son of MRS. ANDY BROWN of Ackerly.

When the HOWARD CARMACK family left Monday for their home in Oakland, Calif., after a vacation here, his father accompanied them for a visit in their home and also with a daughter, MRS. HAZEL BROWN, and her family.

MR. and MRS. JIMMIE SIMMONS and their children are visiting in the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Wood.

Mrs. Grace Todd Joins Auxiliary

Mrs. Grace Todd became a member of the Eagles Auxiliary during the Monday meeting in Hotel Settles. She will be initiated at the district convention Saturday in San Angelo. Mrs. Grace Grandstaff presided and announced that refreshments will be discontinued at the Eagles Lodge Saturday meetings this summer. Twelve attended. The next meeting will be July 24 at the lodge hall.

Announce Marriage

The announcement is being made here of the marriage of Miss Emily Kathryn Richter and Barry Robert Butler Jr. in St. Bede Catholic Church at La Canada, Calif. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Del Mar Richter of La Canada and the late Mr. Richter, and parents of the bridegroom are Lt. Col. and Mrs. R. R. Butler, 16 Albrook. The bridegroom recently completed service with the United States Marine Corps, and the couple is residing at 234 Mero Lane, La Canada.

Weight Problem Ideas Exchanged By TOPS Group

A round table discussion on effective methods of losing weight was held during the Monday evening meeting of the TOPS Salad Mixers in the Knott Community Center.

Mrs. Dan Brasher presided with 17 in attendance. Joy Fowler is a new member, and Sandra Wells of Ackerly was a guest.

A 30 pound total weight loss was reported, and it was announced that Group Two won the recent contest and will be hosted to a supper July 25 by Group One. Miss Judy Shockley was the weekly winner and received a trophy.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Monday, in the center.

The Rev. Francis Beazley led the study, "One in Peace and Love," at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Altar Society of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church. The group met in the home of Mrs. Bill Sneed, 2914 Parkway, with Mrs. Harry Woodley as cohostess.

Rev. Beazley presented the first in a series of studies from the book, "Glory to the Lord," by the Rev. Andrew Chao and the Rev. Paul Brunner.

Altar workers for the month were announced. They are Mrs. C. C. Choate, Mrs. V. E. Gray, Mrs. Mary Mitchell and Mrs. E. W. Brewer. Mrs. Dan Maestas presided, and plans were made to serve coffee July 28 at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

A garage sale will be held Aug. 5 in the home of Mrs. Jack Engle, 201 E. 24th.

Refreshments were served to 15.

Van Hale Talks To Church Group

Van Hale spoke on "Preserving Democratic Processes" at the Tuesday meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service at the First Methodist Church. Members of the Maudie Morris Circle were in charge of the program, and Mrs. H. C. Ernsting, WSCS president, presided. Refreshments were served by the Fannie Hodges Circle.

Bridal Shower Held For Suzanne Whatley

Miss Suzanne Whatley, bride-elect of Ronald Anderson, was complimented with a gift shower Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Jess Thornton, 1004 Wood.

Cohostesses were Mrs. J. V. Anderson, Mrs. B. K. Edens, Mrs. Bill Draper, Mrs. Elvis Caudill, Mrs. Donald Brooks, Mrs. Charles Watson, Mrs. Lloyd Murphy and Mrs. D. O. Worthan. Calling hours were from 8 to 10 p.m., and approximately 50 guests attended.

Miss Whatley was attired in a gold, two-piece silk suit and was presented a white carnation corsage. Similar corsages were received by her mother, Mrs. E. L. Whatley, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. W. E. Anderson.

The bride-elect's chosen colors of blue and green were used in decorations. White linen covered the refreshment table where the centerpiece was a mirror on which was placed a white tree branch trimmed with wedding symbols and circled with miniature white Bibles. A crystal punch service was used, and the white cake was decorated in blue and green.

The hostesses' gift to Miss Whatley was an electric mixer and pillows.

A LOVELIER YOU Acquire Honey Tan For Beauty's Sake

By MARY SUE MILLER
There ought to be a law against dark suntans. Tanned to the color of burned straw, the skin looks dry and muddy. And it is too, owing to reduced moisture and thickened pigment. What a pity, when all those evils can be prevented by the judicious use of sunscreens and cover-up clothing.

The tan to aim for has the color and clarity of golden honey. It's the loveliest. Once you have acquired it, do make the most of it. Keep it glowing and translucent with the just-right make-up shades. Those you regularly wear might easily pale or dull your tan. Perish the thought!

Why not give your cosmetics the "tan test"? First take a look at your foundation. Is it as tawny as your tan? It should be a near-match, no darker and perhaps a bit lighter, with plenty of golden glints. Moreover, its texture should be sufficiently filmy to let your own color come through. Masky textures mask a tan. Horrors!

How about your lipstick? Coral and peach with a high brilliance are the colors. Pale lipsticks pale tanned skin and cause the lips to appear positively anemic. To further sweeten honeyed looks, wear a warm brown or beige eyeshadow. Should you wish for further gilding of an evening try apricot underfoundation or a peach blusher. You'll look double-delicious!

FLATTERING COLORS

In fashion, nothing makes you lovelier than color. It can enhance your skin, hair, eyes and figure; it can express your individuality and style. Great powers, those! To learn how to put them to work for you, read our leaflet, "Your Most Flattering Colors." To obtain a copy, send your request to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin.

A Devotional For The Day

The Lord said unto Moses, . . . Thou hast found grace in my sight, and I know thee by name. (Exodus 33:17)

PRAYER: Eternal God, who hast created us, teach us to know that Thou art always near, Thine eyes ever upon us, Thy hands stretched forth to guide us. Grant us to meet the demands of today in wisdom and without fear; through Jesus Christ our Lord, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Preventing Latin Arms Race

President Johnson tried at the Punta del Este conference on the inter-American common market project to check Latin America's current tendency toward a damaging and senseless arms race. That effort unfortunately has not yet been rewarding.

Most Latin American nations spend far too much on the military, usually as a political rather than a security necessity. The region cannot possibly arm itself to resist outside aggression—that security the U.S. must provide—and it has enough to maintain internal order and put down subversion including guerrilla activities. Some of the military money is well spent on "civil action" projects, but largely it is waste, retarding economic development and social progress. And a new arms race would risk blowing up relatively minor international disputes into war threats.

However, Peru is now exemplifying the difficulty of preventing such an arms race. Its coup-prone military now wants supersonic jet fighter planes, which no Latin American nation yet has. Friendly, able, reform-minded President Fernando Belaunde Terry, plagued by a financial crisis for which he needs U.S. aid, has a congressional opposition majority with which he must compete for military support.

Washington has blocked Peruvian purchase of American or British supersonic jets, knowing that if Peru got them, then Argentina, Brazil, Chile and others would want them too. Now it seems likely that Peru will get French Mirages, highly esteemed after Israel's effective use of them against the Arabs' Russian MIGs. But if the U.S. applies withdrawal of economic aid to force Belaunde to stop the French deal, the result easily might be a military coup that would upset a democratic government while failing to prevent the plane purchases.

The Peruvian dilemma underlines the weakness of unilateral U.S. pressure to discourage a Latin American arms race. For all its weaknesses, the Organization of American States seems to offer the only vehicle for a hopeful arms-control policy in the region. Washington should use every OAS lever in reach to try to get an inter-American accord on arms limitation.

Facing A Vexing Problem

Israel is trying to come to grips with the problem of approximately 750,000 Arab refugees in the Gaza Strip. For 13 years those refugees who fled or were driven from land that is now Israel have envenomed Arab-Israeli relations.

Resettling the Palestinian refugees will be an enormous undertaking. The United States and other countries should gladly help in this task, one that Israel for lack of resources cannot do alone. For it is a profitable investment in peace, as well as a humanitarian necessity.

The refugees have a claim against Israel for their property that was taken over when Israel came into being. Resettlement appears to be a better solution than the payment of indemnities, since the refugees could then become useful citizens and achieve stability. The Arabs have used the refugee camps as a focus for grievances and recruited from them terrorists who have repeatedly violated the Israeli border.

The question of how to go about this vast resettlement project is now under intensive study. The Israeli cabinet in a recent session discussed the question at length and decided that "the Israeli government reiterates its view that with the creation of new conditions in the region, there now exist conditions enabling a general immediate solution to the refugee problem."

If Israel can solve this nagging problem, at least one of the obstacles to peaceful coexistence between Arabs and Jews in the Middle East will have been removed.

To Tax Or Not To Tax

WASHINGTON—How does a President make up his mind what to do when he is up for re-election the very next year and he must try to assure favorable conditions in business and employment?

Certainly, on its face, to be advocating a six or eight per cent surcharge on income taxes looks like an unpopular thing to do, for nobody likes higher taxes. But Mr. Johnson is finding himself in an age-old dilemma—that while an administration may be hurt politically if taxes are raised, it may be hurt much worse if they aren't.

CONFRONTED WITH the possibility of a 29 billion dollar deficit when the current fiscal year ends June 30, 1968, the Treasury has to collect more revenues. If no increase in taxes is ordered, then the prospect is for another wave of inflation. For as government deficits rise, the purchasing power of the dollar tends to go down, and wage rates are forced upwards along with prices.

With the Vietnam war costing a bigger and bigger sum of money, the administration has a plausible explanation for a tax increase. The experts who are trying to help the President to figure out the best arguments for higher taxes are likely to come to the conclusion that it is safer to impose a relatively small tax rise—such as is involved in the surcharge plan—than it is to let things drift with higher and higher deficits.

INVOLVED in the debate as to what policy to pursue is the complex question of interest rates. If they are too low, borrowing is increased, and various types of spending are unduly expanded.

The theorists have a hard time predicting the future. They observe the moderate sort of recession which some businesses have been encountering in the first six months of this year. Residential building has been slumping, and in many industries inventories have been piling up.

THE NATIONAL economy experiences many unlooked-for changes that retard or advance the state of business. Some of the very things, of course, that can swing the country into a boom or depression are beyond the control of government.

Indications are that total spending will show an increase from 732.3 billion dollars in the second period of 1966 to 773 billion dollars in the corresponding period of this year—a gain of 40.7 billion dollars, or 5.6 per cent.

ECONOMISTS ARE already estimating that, by the second quarter of 1968, total spending will have gone up to 837.6 billion dollars—a gain of 64.6 billion dollars, or 8.4 per cent, over the same period of 1967. These figures are based on an analysis of the probable flow of dollars generated by federal, state and city spending. This was at a rate of 149 billion dollars last year, and is running at 175.5 billion dollars this year. The estimate now is for 197 billion dollars for all government spending a year hence.

THE IMPACT of such vast sums on the private sector of the economy is hard to measure, but history tells us that, during two world wars, government spending caused an expansion of the economy which had to be restrained by excess-profit taxes and high-income-tax rates. Maybe the administration should previously have requested the same kind of tax rises on account of the Vietnam war. Most businessmen would prefer a surcharge on income taxes at a six or eight per cent rate than to see introduced the wage-and-price controls and excess-profit taxes of wartime.

Viet Critics Can't Agree

WASHINGTON (AP) — The search for peace is like trying to teach an elephant to play the violin.

For 17 years the United States has been involved in Vietnam—in all that time the main target has been the Communists—but victory, or even peace, is just as invisible as it was in 1950 when President Harry S. Truman first began giving the French economic aid to sustain them in their war with the Reds.

That went on for four years, until the French were smashed by Ho Chi Minh and his Communists and had to withdraw. Then a non-Communist regime was established in South Vietnam and American aid continued, first economic aid, then economic aid plus military advisers, then the whole works until now there are 465,000 U.S. troops there.

BUT THE REPORTS from Vietnam sound like a dreary monotony. Even the critics of the war in this country seem to have lost their intensity. They sound more muted than a year ago. But so do the Johnson administration and the American military. At the rate it's going this war can last for years.

The best that could be said about it last week by the American military commander there, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, was that the war is being won slowly. And he felt he needed another 100,000 to 140,000 men. If President Johnson doesn't give him the men he thinks necessary to do better, then the result looks like a stalemate, which is what the Communists say it is now.

THE MAIN REASON, of course, for the lack of progress is that the United States is not fighting all-out. And it won't—because of world opinion if this country went all-out against such a primitive society as the North Vietnamese.

But this restraint is such a fixed and accepted policy now—some variations in bombing are possible but they still won't be all-out—that it is generally accepted as a limitation within which the United States must do the best it can.

YET, EVEN IF the North Vietnamese should be driven back behind their own frontier there is no assurance such a victory would be more than just a temporary one. Before South Vietnam can be considered safe against Communist encroachment, the vast peasantry of South Vietnam must want to support the South Vietnam government, which hasn't yet been proven truly democratic.

That the Johnson administration is conscious of the lack of progress, and the prospect of an indefinite truce, seems clear enough from its lack of glowing predictions. There is a general awareness, except perhaps among the extreme critics, that the United States can't just pull out, admitting defeat, without wrecking the confidence of other backward peoples that this country is willing to help them against aggression.

BUT THERE is uneasiness about the gloomy outlook and some of it was expressed this week by eight liberal House Republicans hoping some way could be found to bring an end to the fighting. They proposed the United States take the initiative in de-escalating the war—to see if Hanoi would respond—by a long pause in the bombing.

Recognize Yourself?

NEW YORK (AP) — No art is as widespread in American business life as the art of killing time.

It is an art which isn't taught in school or university. One has to pick it up by one's self, largely by watching how fellow office workers do it.

It takes a lot of time to become skilled in killing company time. In this respect it is like piano playing—practice makes perfect.

THE NICE thing about it is that you get paid while learning it. And it isn't as lonely to work at as most arts. Everybody in the place is at least a part-time time killer, and some even give their full endeavor to it.

If you look around your own office, you may find these time-killing employees familiar:

The Ambusher—He hangs around the water cooler telling old jokes to all who amble up to cool their thirsty pipes. On a good day he wastes not only his own time but the time of from 15 to 20 other persons.

THE RECEPTIONIST — With her, killing time is less an art than in industry. She does it by reading long novels. She can't decide which is her favorite — "Anthony Adverse," which she has read 12 times, or "Gone with the Wind," which she has gone through 17 times. If nothing else is handy, she reads the "Boston Cookbook."

The Great Pretender—This

fussy dynamo is always in action, scribbling furiously on memo pads, opening and closing his desk drawers, pawing through files. He looks dramatic but never gets anything done. If the office ever gave an Oscar for acting, he'd win it every year.

MR. BIG EARS—As a self-appointed espionage agent for the front office, he hangs out for hours in the company cafeteria listening to what the other employees talk about during their coffee breaks. He tries to uncover at least one conspiracy a week against the management, but his spying is a joke to his coworkers. They refer to him as "Agent 004M."

The hypochondriac — He'd rather poison himself with pills and palliatives than do an honest day's work. When he isn't busy rearranging his medicines, he can be found in the washroom studying his tongue in the mirror to see if it's coated.

THE GENIUS—The boss himself is probably the biggest unconscious time killer of all. He spends most of his time brooding over how much time his hired hands fritter away on the jobs. His verdict: "Never have so many done so little for so much."

There they are: the office gallery of time wasters. Recognize yourself?

Proper Thyroid Medication Does No Harm

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I am 45 and have been taking thyroid pills for a year and a half because of any underactive thyroid. My doctor tells me I'll probably need them the rest of my life. Now I hear that these pills can affect your heart.

Does a thyroid condition ever change so that one can discontinue with the pills? — MRS. D. K. Thyroid activity can change, but not count on it.

As to thyroid pills affecting the heart, that is true only if they are used in excess, speeding up the body's metabolism to a harmful degree.

In your case, your thyroid is not active enough, and the pills are being used to bring your thyroid requirements up to normal. Thus there is no reason for you to be harmed by them, but only helped.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, 10½, is a very active child and enjoys running, dancing, bike riding, etc. Every time she does a deep knee bend or squats, her knees crack. She does as many as 15 continuous knee bends, each one producing the same cracking sound in the knee. Is this normal or should I look into it? — MRS. W. S.

The cracking is due to certain tendons riding over prominences of the bones, or the ends of the bones moving in the joint socket under tension. It may be annoying but is not abnormal. The fact that she is active and without joint pain or swelling implies that there is no serious condition involved.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband had rectal surgery for fissures and has had a successful recovery. However, friends were astonished to hear that the doctor had him take showers instead of baths. The doctor prescribed three showers a day and my husband enjoyed them, but I wonder what therapeutic good showers do. — C.S.

The moist heat is what counts. A sitz bath is the most direct way and is most comforting, but you get almost the same effect from a warm or hot shower. Baths haven't been abandoned for this purpose, but good results can be had with showers, as you have seen.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, requesting a copy of the booklet, "How to Control Emphysema," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

What's In A Name?

The Environmental Science Service Administration has blessed us with names for tropical storms, such as may arise during this season. With considerable forethought, the service has given us names for 1968, 1969, 1970. No one can claim this is wasteful, for the quota of storms should be about the same for any given year.

IN CASE you're interested, here are the names for this season: Arlene, Beulah, Chloe, Doria, Edith, Fern, Ginger, Heidi, Irene, Janice, Kristy, Laura, Margo, Nona, Orchid, Portia, Rachel, Sandra, Terese, Verna, Wal-las.

For 1969—Abby, Brenda, Candy, Dolly, Edna, Felice, Gladys, Hannah, Ingrid, Janet, Kathy, Lila, Molly, Nita, Odette, Paula, Roxie, Stella, Trudy, Vesta, Wesley.

For 1970—Alma, Becky, Celia, Dorothy, Ella, Frances, Greta, Hallie, Inez, Judith, Kendra, Lois, Marsha, Noreen, Orpha, Patt, Rena, Sherry, Thora, Vicky, Wilma.

AND THAT ought to hold the situation until the ESSA can get its second wind. But I have a feeling that about half or more of the list is never used.

In any one year. That's a waste of names. Why not have left overs for the next year?

THERE'S NO USE belaboring the point that the storms are named exclusively for women (which makes me wonder how Wesley got in 1968), or denying that this has anything to do with the stormy nature of the female of the species. I do fault the brethren for leaving out names beginning with Q, U, X, Y and Z on the grounds of the scarcity of names beginning with these letters. What's wrong with Quinine, Udora, Xenobia, Yvonne, and Zeldi? Nothing, that's what!

The ESSA explains that after four years, when the four sets of names have been used, they are used over again in the same manner. This has its hazards, for some names are apt to get a reputation for being windier than others.

IT HAS ITS injustice, too, for seems to me that somewhere in there, there ought to be just one year for the men. Take guys like Glenn, Sam, Tommy, Walt, and Nate—they're all pretty big blows, and they ought to have a chance to show what they can do.

Meanwhile, in hopes that ESSA will come around, I am working on my list—Abercrombie, Barthelme, Charlestown, Pdominick (the P is silent), Elbertosle, Frankensense, myrrh.

The Future Of Nuclear Power

GAS HILLS, Wyo. — Neil McNeice ("Lucky Mc") was a Riverton (Wyo.) machinist by trade and a "Sunday prospector" in the best traditions of the West. Back in 1953, he discovered outcroppings of uranium in the Wyoming wastelands, not far from where the pioneers of the Oregon Trail trekked through the Rocky Mountain passes a century before.

HIS LUCKY McMINE has become the richest developed uranium acreage in the world. In Wyoming alone uranium mining and milling is a $50 million investment, involving 1,200 geologists, miners and other assorted workers. They have moved 150 million cubic yards of "overburden" in the Gas Hills district, and this ore has become thousands of barrels of "yellow cake" at the outgoing ends of the mills.

THE STORY everywhere across these prairies buttes and dry river bottoms is of giant corporations standing where a few hardy adventurers once made their beginnings. The corporations do it better—in fact, only the firms with the wherewithal for big investments in machinery and risk capital can begin to take the wealth from these stubborn rocks, and to distribute the income and benefits all the way from the shareholders and workers to the U.S. Treasury, the U.S. Defense Department, and the general public.

THE URANIUM boom in the Western States began to revive a few years ago after being given up for dead. As everyone recalls, production of atomic and nuclear energy from uranium, starting in World War II with the Manhattan Project, seemed to have little purpose beyond weaponry and laboratory experiments. But today more than half the increase in civilian electrical power comes from this ore that luckily abounds within the American continent. Projections into 1975 show that private manufacturing companies will be buying twice as much uranium from the miners as will the Atomic Energy Commission, which a few years ago was buying it all. The potential demands and future uses of uranium are beyond prediction, and this is an industry that is literally open-ended in its opportunities for expansion.

IT IS ALSO an industry that does not fit into the commonplace categories of reference. Although it commenced as a wholly nationalized venture, the trend toward private and corporate involvement has been encouraged by the Atomic Energy Commission. Government policies have been erratic and even contradictory in placing and keeping controls. The question of health hazards, for example, has been one of divided opinions among the Department of Labor, Interior and HEW. Sub-surface mining is thought to be cancer-producing, but this is disputed, and in any event does not apply to the stripmining. The streams, especially underground streams, have supplied animals and humans with drinking water for centuries without any apparent harm.

NOTHING is sure except that a tremendous enterprise has survived its initial and expected letdown and is now moving with an awesome momentum. Even if only a fraction of the promises made by nuclear enthusiasts come true, the revolutions in agriculture (multiplying the crop yields), in medicine (discovering disease-probabilities and treating them in whole generations of school children), in anti-pollution (the virtual elimination of the burning of fossil fuels) are wonderful to contemplate.

Nuclear energy, once the gloomiest topic of conversation on earth, looks like becoming the brightest.

Private Enterprise Push

NEW YORK (AP) — Philosophical distinctions sometimes fail to distinguish front-line fighters in the continuing war between private enterprise and what some businessmen consider to be the swollen monster of big government.

The brand-new Council for Private Enterprise, for example, is headed by Edwin Hood, who also heads the Shipbuilders Council of America, which represents an industry well subsidized by big government.

THE COUNCIL for Private Enterprise, whose main purpose is to "publicize the importance of private enterprise in every possible way," maintains a simple, pragmatic approach to the contest.

Its view is that the more work the government handles the less there is for private enterprise. And so it suggests that wherever possible the government get out of retailing, engineering, dredging, employment agencies, florist shops, parking lots, restaurants, shipbuilding.

IN THIS WAY it is unlike its cousins in the fight against big government, the largest enterprise in America today. Many other opponents of big government take a moral or legal or political approach.

First, there are those who simply dislike big budgets and deficits. This group maintains that big budgets are mostly politically inspired and that the government is acting immorally in passing on debts to future generations.

ANOTHER GROUP consists of those who oppose government regulation on the grounds that the fewer the restrictions on business the better it is for both buyer and seller.

The council, however, states simply that such activities are wrong because they deprive business of its legitimate rights. Private enterprise, they say, is the American way. It built the country. It is the strongest system.

Despite its great strength, however, private enterprise is hardly winning the battle with a growing government, the council feels.

THIS IS A PROBLEM that won't be corrected immediately, if ever," Hood said. "This little effort isn't going to solve the problem."

The little effort Hood refers to was formed by representatives of various industrial associations, many of which have lobbying as their main concern. They meet once a month, informally, in Hood's office.

The chief product of their mutual interest has been a booklet sent to congressmen and businessmen which documents its case in terms such as this: "In 1960, in fact, the Bureau of the Budget admitted to 24,000 examples of competition with the private sector: 19,100 were maintained by civilian agencies and some 5,000 by the Department of Defense."

HOW DID GOVERNMENT get into these areas? Often because of the failure of business to regulate itself, because of its inability to handle profitless jobs, because of the huge scope of projects such as space.

Wars have played a role, forcing the military and defense areas to swell. And size itself demands more facilities, workers and services, none of which are cut back completely after the war.

The council feels some mixture of public and private enterprise is needed for some problems. But it feels that much of the present big-government activities developed in spite of, rather than in response to, the demands of voters.

Who Can Tell?

NEW LOCATION

Don Tolle, manager of the guitar department of White Music Co., shows combo organ, guitars and amplifier, popular with young music groups, at the new store, 1307-B Gregg.

White Music Co. Moves, Better Serves Customers

White Music Co., which served Big Spring residents seven years ago at 1903 Gregg, has recently moved to 1307-B Gregg, to better serve its customers.

Clyde Green, manager, said that the new location provided about 2,000 feet more floor space than did the old one, and that he was looking forward to Big Spring residents coming by to see the new store.

Included in the store is a separate room for combo items—guitars, amplifiers, etc.

Green stocks Baldwin, Gibson, Epiphone, Gretsch, and Kalamazoo guitars and amplifiers. Also available are Baldwin Home - Theater organ and Howard combo organs at 1903 Gregg, has recently moved to 1307-B Gregg, to better serve its customers.

White Music Co. also has a wide selection of music for instruction as well as enjoyment. It sells book and sheet music, in classical, popular, western, religious, folk and beginner instruction.

White's also offers a tuning service to its customers and Big Spring residents.

The music company also keeps a list of piano and organ teachers in Big Spring which is available to anyone who is interested in taking music lessons.

Don Tolle, manager of the guitar department at White Music Co., also teaches guitar lessons.

White's now carries a new line of guitars and amplifiers, widely popular with young music groups. A local combo recently purchased three Baldwin guitars and three 300-watt amplifiers and a harpsichord from the firm.

Green invites all Big Spring residents to stop by his new location and look over the new facilities at 1307-B Gregg for a wider selection of musical instruments and better service.

Graham's Stocks 2 New Machines

Graham's Office Machines, 417 E. 3rd, has two new office machines in stock for business firms, the Olivetti Underwood 702 electric typewriter and the Olivetti Underwood Electrosumma 23, an adding machine.

Graham's sells Olivetti Underwood typewriters, calculators and multipliers, and many more office machines. His new typewriter, the Underwood 702, is an electric typewriter that establishes a new set of typing traditions.

The Underwood 702 is the first vinyl-upholstered electric typewriter in decorator colors. And its upholstery is only one of its unique characters. It also outperforms and outlasts other electric typewriters, with either carbon or fabric ribbon. It uses special keys without requiring a special keyboard, and the typing never grows uneven or ragged in appearance.

Cleaning and changing ribbons in the 702 is a neat and simple job. To clean the type and platen, the case slides open at the touch of a lever. Changing the ribbon is easy as that, too, is virtually automatic. Hands never get dirty because they never touch the ribbon.

Also offered on this revolutionary machine is the horizontal half-spacing control and contoured keys prevent breaking fingernails.

The Underwood 702 has been tested and guarantees crisp, sharp typing impressions for over 10 years of constant use. This endurance is due to hardened steel whip rings that will never pit or deteriorate, slotted segments that prevent any horizontal play in the type stroke, special electrostatic painting that assures wear protection, and a steel power shaft that does not require frequent replacement like standard rubber power shafts.

Also new at Graham's is Olivetti Underwood Electrosumma 23, an adding machine of flexibility and convenience.

The machine has a capacity of listing 12 figures, totaling 13 figures. It has an automatic credit balance with a credit balance indicator, two color printing (totals and subtotals in red), electric clear key and back spacer, repeat key for addition and subtraction. Figures can be retained on the keyboard during subtotaling, separate add key, single and double zero keys, single function subtotal and total keys, and double zero balance when the machine is clear.

Graham's Office Machines offers a wide selection of machines for business firms as well as private users.

Graham's has within his stock standard electric and portable typewriters, calculators, multipliers and adding machines. Charles O. Graham, owner-manager, has been in the office machine business for 25 years, and he knows his line of sales.

Haney Listed On Honor Roll

Don Haney, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Haney, 1101 Lancaster, has been listed on the honor roll at Oral Roberts University, Tulsa, Okla.

Students who achieved this honor maintained a grade point average of 3.4 or better for the spring semester of 1967 while carrying a minimum of 15 semester credit hours. His other interests are in model cars and music. He attends an inter-denominational church where he is the pianist and is in the choir.

Church Attendance Followed By Death

SHERMAN (AP) — A car struck and killed Mrs. Raymond Orr as she started home from church Tuesday night.

Police said the automobile was driven by Mrs. H. A. Blalack, who had attended the same church with her husband, and it also hit Mrs. Hub Cooper, 54, who was injured.

The car went out of control while making a "U" turn, officers said, and ran into a church wall.

Blalack, 83, was taken to a hospital. His wife, in her 70s, was believed to have escaped injury.

Old-Fashioned

Johnson's No-Roach is the old-fashioned way to kill roaches and other crawling insects, but it is the most effective way to kill household pests. One application lasts more than three months.

No-Roach Does Thorough Job

There is a product so effective that it literally eliminates some insects for three months from your home. It is Johnson's No-Roach.

No-Roach comes with its own applicator - brush attached to an ordinary brown bottle. It sounds old fashioned, because it is.

But some old fashioned things are still the best. No modern spray or pellet on the market today can do so much for so long as Johnson's No-Roach.

No-Roach is different, and it is different for a reason. It eliminates the need for frequent application of messy, unsafe sprays and powders. No-Roach is a brush-on roach control preparation so effective that it rids the home of cockroaches, ants, waterbugs and other trouble-makers that literally eliminate some insects for three months from your home. It is Johnson's No-Roach.

No-Roach is clean and easy to use and is harmless to pets. Just one application on woodwork, in cupboards and drawers, on baseboards and sinks, behind cabinets and appliances, protects the home from pesky insects and No-Roach is harmless, odorless and colorless.

It dries fast to form an invisible path of death that kills all crawling insects, and best of all, it continues to kill them effectively for months.

Johnson's No-Roach is available in Big Spring at Hull & Phillips, Newsom's, Safeway, Piggly Wiggly, Furr's, and all the home of cockroaches, ants, waterbugs and other trouble-makers that literally eliminate some insects for three months from your home. It is Johnson's No-Roach.

SECRET MEETING

School Board Fills Vacancies

A new band director and director of instructional services were among those vacancies filled by school trustees Tuesday night.

Lynn Hise, principal of Boydston Elementary, was employed as director of instructional services to fill the vacancy created last year when Dr. C. L. Ainsworth resigned. Employment of Hise was made in a secret session, closed to the public and press.

Richard Grady, Lubbock, was hired to replace Don Turner as director of the Runnels Junior High School Band. Turner has been transferred to the Senior High School.

Sam Anderson, superintendent of schools, told board members Grady was well recommended and although he had no teaching experience, would receive his Master of Science degree from the University of Illinois in August. He holds a bachelor of music degree from Texas Tech. Grady is 23 and single.

Five elementary teachers received approval of the board for employment during the 1967-68 school year. Each was recommended by Noel Reed, director of personnel.

Employed were: Anna Marie Gonzales, 23, Big Spring, unassigned primary; Mrs. Joan Nash, 46, Abilene, first grade; Shirley Osburn, 23, Big Spring, first grade; Mrs. June Prather, 34, Big Spring, sixth grade; Mrs. Reba Lee Thruston, 50, Big Spring, unassigned primary.

Six faculty resignations were also approved by trustees. They included Mrs. Cecile Banks, Mrs. Nellie Beckmeyer, John Black, Mrs. Nina Locke, Mrs. Polly O'Quinn and Mrs. Shirley Wallace. Retirement of Mrs. Ruby Blankenship, fourth grade teacher at Boydston, was announced.

Board members also passed a resolution to recognize the years of service given by the late John B. Hardy, formerly principal of Washington Elementary School for 16 years. The resolution was suggested by Anderson and approved unanimously by the board. Mr. Hardy died June 29.

Six Mishaps Are Checked

Six traffic mishaps Tuesday were investigated by police, one involving a car reported stolen in Lampasas Tuesday which was in a collision at Third and Gregg with a car driven by Terry Wayne Howell, Amarillo. The two occupants of the alleged stolen car ran from the car, according to police. One was charged with investigation of car theft; the other is still at large.

An accident on the First National Bank parking lot involved Elmer Wood, Southland Apts., and the parked car of Robert W. Solmon, 509 Lancaster, Wanda Whitaker, Coahoma, and Jose Fina Albre, 605 NW 5th, were in collision at Wood and Roosevelt. A collision in the 100 block of Main involved Lona Parker Newcomer, 31-A Albrook, and Lyman L. Campbell, Hurst.

Third and Scurry was the scene of a mishap between Howard Wayne Newton, Westbrook, and Maefair Hogue, 1402 Main. Randall Larry Smith, 1108 1/2 E. 13th, and Ronald Thompson, 311 1/2 W. 4th, were in an accident at Fourth and Birdwell.

Seven Dairies Fined In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — The City of Dallas has fined seven dairies for selling quarts of milk that contained only seven-eighths of a quart of liquid.

J. D. Walton, director of the city's weights and measures division, said the shortages all were in paper carton milk containers.

He said his agents discovered them during routine checks of retail stores.

Four local and three out-of-town dairies have been fined since April, Walton said. Two paid $25 fines and the others paid $50 fines.

Opening lead: Ten of ♠ North and South reached a sound six no trump contract by merely adding up high card points. North has 17 and inasmuch as South's opening no trump promises a minimum of 16, the partnership is assured of the 33 required to undertake a small slam. Since a grand slam was not under consideration, North proceeded without further ado to six no trump.

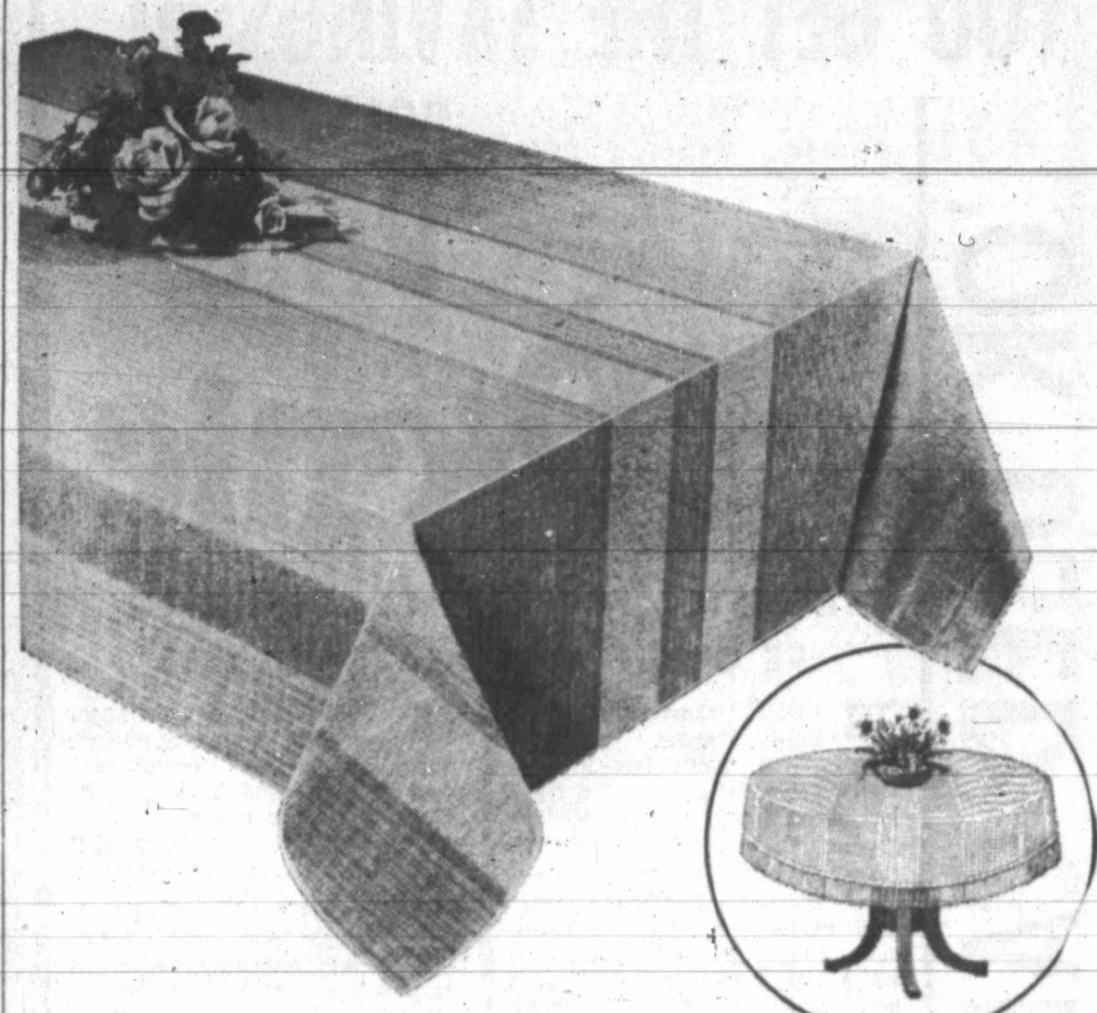

West opened the ten of hearts and North's queen held the trick. Declarer observed that he could count 12 tricks: provided clubs divided three-two. Off the top, there would be three spades, three hearts, one diamond, and five clubs.

king of clubs and East showed out on the second round, discarding a heart, the situation altered. The sure trick total had been reduced to 10. A diamond finesse would develop number 11 and if that suit responded favorably, South could count back up to 12.

Declarer observed, however, that if diamonds were stacked as unfavorably as the clubs, that he must proceed with caution to avoid a disaster. At trick four, a diamond was led to the ace as both opponents followed suit. A small diamond was continued from the dummy. East played the nine and South covered with the jack. If West had the king, he was welcome to it, for now the suit must divide and declarer has his fulfilling tricks in diamonds.

When West showed out on the second diamond, South abandoned the suit—having scored a vital trick therein—and went back to clubs. The queen and another club cleared the suit, and established North's long card for the 12th trick. West's jack of clubs was the sole defensive tally on the deal.

South's careful play paid off. Observe that East would not have benefited by putting up the king of diamonds, for by so doing he establishes two diamond tricks for declarer and thereby eliminates the need to develop clubs.

Ship's Seizure Huge Mystery

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A heavily armed band of greasy, thirly stowaways who took command of a freighter off Miami Beach apparently vanished after listening to the ship captain's jokes for two hours Tuesday.

The stowaways fled to shore after struggling for 30 minutes with the mooring of two lifeboats. They brushed past a bar-keeper and his date, and hailed a taxi, which has not been found either.

That was the story police and officers and passengers of the ship, the Freight Transporter, pieced together.

The motive for the ship's seizure remained a mystery.

Ramon Carpio, captain of the 333-foot ship, said the men told him they had intended to "use the vessel to hijack another ship." When there was no sign of a rendezvous, the men grew nervous and abandoned the escape, he said.

Carpio said the men apparently have been in the cargo hold of the Freight Transporter since Sunday night or early Monday. The ship had left a Miami dock only moments before the stowaways appeared.

Farris' Attend Elks Parley

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Farris will attend the annual convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of the Elks in Chicago Sunday through Thursday.

Farris, exalted ruler, will represent Big Spring Lodge No. 1386 as the official delegate. Others planning to attend include Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Jordan, of San Angelo.

About 15,000 Elks and members of their families are expected to attend from the 50 states and Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, Guam and the Philippines. The Elks will be making plans for the order's centennial celebration in 1968 at the convention.

Cooler Air Sets Off Showers In Texas

By The Associated Press
A new cool front brought showers in parts of the Texas Panhandle today and prospects of relief from summery heat for the northern half of the state.

Dalhart measured .67 inch of rain and Perryton, 40 as comparatively mild thunderstorm edged southward and started to taper off before daylight.

MERCURY SAGS

Early morning temperatures sagged to 65 degrees at Perryton, 66 at Dalhart and 68 at Amarillo.

Skies were mostly clear and hot weather showed no signs of abating in other sections of Texas.

The mercury climbed to 100 degrees Tuesday afternoon at Wichita Falls, highs for the day also included Brownwood and Presidio 105, Waco 104, Abilene and Mineral Wells 103, Cotulla 102, Austin, Laredo and San Angelo 101 and Alice, Childress, Dallas, Del Rio and Junction 100.

RAIN PROMISE

Forecasts promised a renewal of scattered showers or thunderstorms in the Panhandle and elsewhere across northern areas of the state by evening, with somewhat lower temperatures tonight and Thursday.

Occasional showers and a continuing heat wave were in prospect for the rest of Texas.

Rioters Roll Police Car

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — Police stood by today to maintain order at the strike-bound Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co., where a two-hour riot erupted after midnight.

A crowd estimated by newsmen as at least 3,000 persons turned on about 30 policemen in front of the shipyard. Some rioters overturned one police car, set it afire, and looted stores in a two-block area across from the shipyard.

Police refused immediate comment on the cause of the riot, which broke out as striking members of the Peninsula Shipbuilders Association awaited the exit of nonstrikers on the shipyard's night shift.

The association represents 15,000 of the yard's 21,500 workers. Monday it began the yard's first general strike in its 81-year history. It was called on grievances involving incentive benefits, job ratings and the suspension of three workers.

Assaults on nonstriking workers, tire slashings and windshield shattering outside gate plants began Monday night. Nearly 20 persons have been arrested.

Credit Costs Bill Advances

WASHINGTON (AP) — House advocates of the so-called truth-in-lending bill, approved unanimously by the Senate, say the House will begin hearings on the measure in three weeks.

The controversial legislation cleared the Senate 92 to 0 Tuesday after only 2 1/2 hours of debate.

House sponsors said hearings will be conducted by one of the bill's strong backers, Chairman Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., of the Consumer Affairs subcommittee.

Some opposition generated by retailers, bankers and others melted away in the Senate after several compromises were made in the bill's provisions.

Many of its foes also became reconciled to its passage in some form during the lengthy consideration starting after former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., introduced it in 1960.

The bill would require disclosure of the cost of loans on items for which $100 billion of debt now is outstanding. The theory is that this will enable consumers to shop for the most advantageous credit terms. The bill would not regulate interest rates or credit charges.

Consumers would have to be told two things on most debt transactions—the annual percentage interest rate and the total finance charge in dollars and cents.

The biggest type of borrowing covered would be auto loans, now totaling more than $30 billion.

Also affected would be $20 billion of personal loans, about $20 billion of second mortgages, $19 billion of loans for appliances and other consumer items, $7.8 billion worth of single payments loans, and $3.6 billion worth of repair and modernization loans.

Thus, a lender financing a $2,200 automobile for installment payments of $75 a month for three years would have to tell the borrower the payments included a $500 financing charge and a 16 per cent annual interest rate.
