Of Forrestal Fire Survivors Accounts

ABOARD THE CARRIER FORRESTAL, off Vietnam (AP)—The fireballs that hopped and tumbled toward Lt. James J. Campbell were men, and he stood transfixed beneath the white body of an F4 Phantom jet until he heard their screams.

Then Campbell and scores of other Navy men preparing the jet planes for strikes against North Vietnam flung themselves on the fireballs that seconds earlier had been their buddies.

"We rolled on them, dived on them. Anything to get the fires out," said Campbell, from Homestead, Pa.

Screaming, Writching

"They were screaming and writching. And as their planes burned up we saw the big bombs fall to the flight deck, glowing red."

The young officer was in the midst of the worst U.S. Navy disaster in a combat zone since World War II. He was at the after end of the flight deck of the 76,000-ton carrier Forrestal, that had steamed into the Gulf of Tonkin five days earlier to join the war against the Communists.

A pilot poised to participate in the war probably had the first intimation that disaster was imminent Saturday. He was Lt. Cmdr. John S. McCain III of Washington, D.C., a graying 30 and the son of the chief of U.S. naval forces in Europe. Hunched over the controls of his A4 Skyhawk, he was third in line from the catapult that was to blast his and the other planes off to North Vietnam.

Fuel Spills Over Deck

A loud explosion shook McCain.

"I thought my aircraft had exploded. I looked out and fuel was spilling over the flight deck. Flame was behind me and in front of me. I thrust open my canopy and edged out along my refueling pole. The flames were 10 feet deep around the plane."

McCain jumped 10 feet to the deck and rolled through the fire, scorching his light tan flight suit.

"I rolled clear and moved toward the starboard side. I looked back and saw another pilot leaving his plane. Then he fell into the fire, he was burning. I ran toward him," McCain said.

"Then I saw a chief repairman come up. He ran right past me into the fire toward the pilot, carrying a fire extinguisher. Then the first bomb went off. We were blown all over the place. The pilot, the repairman, they disappeared."

Alarm Bells Sound

Crouching by a Phantom jet as McCain jumped was Lt. (j.g.) Lee V. Twyford of Arlington, Va. He ran toward the pilot. Two men manning a hose passed him.

The first bomb detonated. Twyford said he was flung to the deck. The hose was torn and spilled water on the deck. The two men carrying the hose had been killed.

Alarm bells jangled throughout the 1,639-foot length of the carrier, echoing throughout the massive structure that, from her keel to the top of her mast, is as tall as a 25-story building.

Rear Adm. Harvey P. Lanham, commander of the Task Force, was in his quarters.

Two Violent Blasts

"I dashed for the bridge," the admiral said. "Through constant practice I knew the time it took—one minute and 50 seconds. I heard two violent explosions on the way to the bridge."

"When I looked down on the aft deck it was engulfed in flames. As I peered over through the thick plexiglass the boss grabbed my arm and said, 'Get away from that window. It's not safe.' As I dropped down, another explosion shook the ship. A large piece of shrapnel crashed through the plexiglass where my face was."

The Forrestal's skipper, Capt. John K. Beling of Harrington Park, N.J., was in his cabin when the general quarters alarm sounded. He ran to the bridge shirtless and slowed the ship down.

The flight deck of the Forrestal, the first carrier built after World War II and the first with the revolutionary angled deck to aid plane launches and recoveries, was splintering under constant explosions of 750- and 1,000-pound bombs. Some holes in the 2-inch steel deck were 20 feet across.

Enemy Planes Attacking?

"The kamikaze pilots in World War II couldn't have done this much damage," one veteran said. Chief Ordnanceman Thomas J. Lawler, 33, of New York City, crouched in his maintenance shop as the noise reverberated from the flight deck just above him. The steel roof glowed red. Lawler believed enemy planes were attacking.

Flash Flames Spotted Anew On Forrestal

SAIGON (AP) — The aircraft carrier Forrestal, ravaged by flames and bomb blasts Saturday, limped into Subic Bay in the Philippines today and another fire broke out as she prepared to dock.

It was only a flash fire, nothing like the holocaust that swept the 76,000-ton carrier earlier. Officers of the Forrestal said in Subic Bay that 129 men were killed, seven are unaccounted for and 67 were injured in the disaster in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Knocked out of action in the aerial war in Vietnam, the Forrestal was replaced in the Gulf of Tonkin by the 38,500-ton Intrepid.

'FIRE' CRY

Aground, the U.S. Command said there was no significant action in 33 allied operations. But it reported 23 Marines killed and 191 wounded in a North Vietnamese ambush Saturday in the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

At Subic Bay, the cry of "Fire!" rang out from the Forrestal's loud-speaker system. No flames were visible to those on shore and Navy officials presumed the fire was small. The Forrestal later docked and no fire was visible aboard.

The casualty figures for the carrier disaster were a revision from an earlier announcement of 71 dead, 78 injured and 112 missing. Presumably some of the missing were found on rescue ships which had come alongside the carrier, and there had been duplications in reporting the missing and injured.

About 800 Marines invaded the buffer zone between North and South Vietnam Friday to raid Communist troops and gun positions. After reporting only light contact Friday, the Leathernecks were hit by a mortar barrage Saturday as they moved south along a narrow trail about 1,000 yards north of the zone's southern boundary.

CROSSFIRE

Some source said the Marine toll was at least 30 dead and 150 wounded and might go as high as 50 killed and 350 wounded. After a daylong battle, 40 enemy dead were reported left on the battlefield.

"They had us in a crossfire," said 2nd Lt. John Lengstet of Portland, Ore., a platoon commander. "They would run across areas right where we had our machine guns."

The chair of fires and bomb explosions that ripped through six of the 10 decks in the after part of the 76,000-ton Forrestal Saturday was the worst U.S. naval disaster in a combat zone since World War II.

It was believed to have begun when an F4 Phantom jet, preparing to take off for an attack on North Vietnam, shot a sheet of flame from its jets and ignited a rocket on a plane behind it.

The missing men were below decks—many of them night watch airplane mechanics who had just gone to sleep—or were injured men who jumped overboard to escape the fire and were drowned.

The last flames were extinguished 15 hours after the first blast. Twenty-six jet planes were either destroyed or jettisoned overboard in the first three hours of the inferno. Thirty-one were damaged, four of them probably beyond repair.

Officers on the Forrestal were reluctant to make any estimate of damage, but the plane losses alone are expected to amount to at least $70 million, with damage to the ship possibly $20 million more.

BACK IN ACTION

"But I feel that she will be back in action before too long," said Capt. John K. Beling of Harrington Park, N.J., her skipper. The engine rooms and steering mechanism escaped damage, and the carrier had no rips in her outer skin below the water line.

Many of the Forrestal's bodies and 33 of her injured were transferred at sea to the U.S. hospital ship Repose which docked in Da Nang with them. Ten of the injured were to be flown to the United States or Japan.

The Forrestal reached the Subic Bay naval base in the Philippines tonight. After preliminary inspection and repairs, it is expected to return to the United States.

The smaller 38,500-ton carrier Intrepid was rushed to Yankee Station to replace the Forrestal, but a combination of bad weather and apparently a reorganization of the three-carrier force limited Navy pilots to only 10 missions Sunday against the Communist North.

Policeman, Woman Found Dead Near Sniper's Nest

Violence Flares In Negro Areas

By The Associated Press

Two persons, a policeman and an unidentified woman, were reported dead in Milwaukee, Wis., today as violence flared anew in widely scattered Negro areas across the country, and then was quelled. Three battalions of regular Army troops were ordered pulled out of Detroit as the situation eased there.

Bodies of the two victims in Milwaukee were found near a burned-out house. Police said it had been a sniper's nest.

70 FIRES

They counted 53 persons hospitalized, including 12 policemen. There were 70 fires and 180 persons were arrested in the sniper-torn, fire-ripped area where 90 per cent of Milwaukee's 86,000 Negroes live.

Milwaukee Mayor Henry Maier declared a state of emergency and ordered everyone off the streets. A drenching summer storm helped break up the crowds.

Cyrus R. Vance, President Johnson's representative in Detroit, ordered withdrawn three battalions of regular Army troops sent to quell the violence there last week. Paratroopers also began leaving Detroit.

RACIAL OUTBREAKS

Despite President Johnson's call for a day of prayer for civil and racial peace, there were outbreaks in Portland, Ore., San Bernardino, Calif., Riviera Beach, Fla., Wichita, Kan., and Cleveland, Ohio, Sunday night.

In Portland, National Guard troops, especially trained in riot control, and a large force of state police were held in readiness after a night of looting and vandalism in which 12 fires were reported in the city's Negro area. A 30-block area was sealed off.

Portland Mayor Terry D. Schruck said the leadership of the disturbance appeared to be "hard-core agitators." He added: "Only 200 or 300 people had taken part in the violence."

SNIPER FIRE

Two persons were arrested in San Bernardino after violence flared in the city's Negro and Mexican-American section on the West Side. Gasoline-filled bottles were thrown onto the roof of a supermarket, but the fire quickly was extinguished. There also was sporadic sniper fire.

In Cleveland, firemen dodged bottles and rocks as they put out firebomb blazes.

TEAR GAS

A sheriff's spokesman in the Florida city north of Palm Beach said about 400 Negroes stoned officers and may have set a lumberyard fire. Spokesman Robert Widman called the situation a riot. Police used tear gas to disperse the crowds and made at least 13 arrests.

Wichita's acting mayor, Negro Councilman A. Price Woodard, ordered an emergency curfew after crowds of Negro teenagers threw rocks at cars and firebombed two grocery stores. The Negroes went quickly home after the curfew order. As these areas flared Sunday and today, federal paratroops withdrew from Detroit to bivouacs just outside the city, leaving National Guardsmen and state and city police to walk patrols along the city's wrecked streets. It was Detroit's quietest night since July 23 when the rioting that took 41 lives began.

A contingent of 500 guardsmen started leaving Toledo, Ohio; a curfew and state of emergency were lifted in Phoenix, Ariz., where gunfire had cracked, and New York City's Spanish Harlem and Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant sections were free of disturbances Sunday night.

CAR SET AFIRE

But police in the Bedford-Stuyvesant neighborhood, sometimes called "the Harlem across the river," reported today that a radio patrol car was set afire early this morning and destroyed. Two officers said Negro youths touched off the blaze.

Calm also returned to Elgin, Ill., where violence had broken out Saturday. There was a fire-bombing early Sunday in New Castle, Pa., but no other serious incidents. Racial peace was maintained in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., north of New York City, and a state of emergency there was lifted.

Romney Raps White House

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. George Romney accused the White House today of "a complete and absolute distortion" of what happened in his request for and the disposition of federal troops in Detroit racial violence last week.

Romney said at a news conference that former assistant Secretary of Defense Cyrus Vance was quoted by the White House as indicating Romney concurred with him in the delayed commitment of federal troops. The governor added: "Nothing could be further from the truth."

It marked the first time the Michigan governor, a leading prospect for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, had criticized President Johnson for the handling of the riot crisis in Detroit last week.

At another point Romney said that Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark appeared to be making "more a political request than a legal request, everything considered up to that point," in insisting that the governor certify Detroit had an uncontrollable insurrection on its hands.

Wreck Kills Three Texans

FLOYDADA, Tex. (AP) — A car slammed into the side of a truck at a farm road intersection near here today, killing three persons and injuring three others.

The dead, all from Lockney and all in the car, were: Romeo Salas, Marulo Salas and Jesse Salas. It was not known if they were related.

The three persons in the truck were treated for minor injuries at nearby hospitals.

Highway Patrolman B. U. B. Rainey of Floydada said the wreck happened at the intersection of farm roads 2201 and 2286 in the southeastern Texas Panhandle.

Two Guns Due Mail Service

TWO GUNS, Ariz. (AP)—Postal service will be restored to Two Guns Tuesday, 41 years after its removal following the gunshot slaying of Postmaster Earl Cundiff.

Officials said Mayor Ben Dreher, also a postal clerk, and Postmaster E.H. Husband will officiate at opening ceremonies. The community is 33 miles east of Flagstaff.

53 Persons Injured In Milwaukee Riots

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Bodies of a policeman and a woman were found today near a burned sniper's nest in Milwaukee's inner core after a riotous night in the area where most of the city's 86,000 Negroes are concentrated.

Calm returned to streets on the Near North Side with daylight, but a partial count of casualties showed 53 persons, including 12 other police, in hospitals. Six of the policemen were wounded in exchanges of gun fire with snipers. Six were hurt by debris.

Normal activities in the central city, and in most of its 20 surrounding suburbs as well, halted after Mayor Henry Maier declared a state of emergency and ordered everyone off the streets "until such time as the police department tells us the situation has returned to normal."

CURFEW CONTINUES

At Madison, Gov. Warren Knowles, who had ordered 900 National Guardsmen into Milwaukee with 500 more standing by at outstate armories, told a news conference the state would "stand behind the mayor for anything he wants."

Mayor Maier said he would "not hesitate to demand a call of federal troops if necessary." He also said he was ordering continuation of a curfew clamped on the city until further notice.

Tensions in the core area, where more than 90 per cent of the Negroes who make up 12 per cent of Milwaukee's 750,000 population live, have been simmering since last summer when the governor called out the guard to protect civil rights demonstrators in the virtually all-white suburb of Wauwatosa.

COPS PROTECT

The cordoned-off area was bounded by Michigan Street and Capitol Drive on the south and north, respectively, and by Second Street and 28th Street on the East and West.

Acting Deputy Fire Chief Alven Hainke said full crews were sent to 70 fire calls. Most fires were doused quickly either by rain or by firemen operating under police protection. At least two fires burned out of control because policemen couldn't clear out snipers in time to enable firemen to work.

Roving bands of Negroes smashed windows, looted, stoned passing vehicles, and hurled firebombs on the pavement.

RIOT GEAR

Off duty police were called in and equipped with riot gear. A police command post was set up in a warehouse in the heart of the trouble area and the city's inner core was cordoned off.

Radio-equipped police stood guard at the barricades and at stores with broken windows on the fringe of the cordoned-off area.

"What are you doing with that bag of candy?" shouted a helmeted policeman standing in front of a smashed grocery store window.

"I'm eatin' it," replied the Negro, about 25.

"Throw it on the ground."

"Why?"

"GO HOME"

The policeman leveled a shotgun at the man.

"Because it's still closed, that's why."

The Negro hurled the package to the ground.

He stared angrily at the policeman.

The officer—shotgun still leveled—gazed back.

"Go on, go home," he said.

The Negro walked away slowly, very slowly. He kept stopping and looking back.

The policeman watched him—the shotgun held steadily at his hip—until he had walked a block and turned a corner.

The officer went back to guard the broken window.

Cars with horns blaring and filled with Negroes passed the barricaded side streets. Nearly outnumbering these were police vehicles—ambulances, patrol wagons, squad cars—many with their sirens and flashing lights working. Some hurried to the trouble area. Some rushed away.

LIGHTNING

Lightning illuminated the sky. And the streets, normally bare during the early morning hours, were filled with small bands of

Violent Deaths Drop In Texas

By The Associated Press
Texas counted 25 violent deaths during the weekend, a smaller than usual toll. Among the fatalities were 12 resulting from traffic accidents, which ordinarily claim many more lives. This was viewed as clear evidence of reduced travel because of the July heat.

The total from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday likewise included six shootings, four drownings, a fatal plane crash, a fire death and a stabbing.

These were among the victims:
Steven Van Ness, 15, of Texas City apparently drowned Sunday

Wichita Negro Orders Curfew

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — An emergency curfew was ordered early today by Wichita's acting mayor, Price Woodard, a Negro councilman, after crowds of Negroes stoned cars and fire-bombed two grocery stores.

Woodard, cruising the disturbance area in the Negro section of Wichita, announced from a police car the 1 a.m. curfew. That gave the crowds only 15 minutes to disperse.

Newsman said the crowds began breaking up at once.

Damage was minor at one grocery store where a fire bomb was hurled through a plate glass window. Two policemen, D. W. Knowles and Sgt. Robert Peach, put out the blaze with fire extinguishers.

The other fire was controlled quickly by firemen.

Windows in another business section were smashed earlier.

Two persons were injured by a brick that was thrown through the windshield of their car. They were treated at a hospital.

Five men were charged with resisting arrest in a similar disturbance Sunday.

Miss Wool Show Complaint Filed

SAN ANGELO (AP)—A formal complaint has been filed with the Federal Communications Commission by officials of the Miss Wool of America Pageant, protesting showing of a pageant telecast in San Angelo and the immediate area.

Object of the complaint is Texas Cablevision Corp., which put the show on its customers' sets after pageant officials announced a blackout of the San Angelo sector. Robert Corn of Roswell, N.M., Miss Wool board chairman, said the showing damaged the pageant's reputation and is likely to hurt ticket sales next year.

Science And You

Cosmetics As A Speed-Up

—By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

Many of you, I am sure, have encountered a so-called time and motion study expert. This is the guy whose thankless job it is to increase the efficiency of production lines. His specialty is producing economies so that profits can go up, efficiency can improve, and so on.

In some quarters, time and motion study men have gotten a bad name, perhaps because they do tend to make people work harder. Or it may be because nothing seems to be sacred to them.

Consider a recent Japanese study and you'll see just how far this business of applying science to improve productivity can go. I must say right at the outset, that I view the results with some fear and misgivings, even though the study was made in far-away Japan.

A group of Japanese girls, key punchers and salesgirls, were subjected to tests to see whether or not using make-up would improve their productivity. It did—and here are the results: In one test 59 women were divided into two groups—those with make-up and those without.

FOUND DYING

Edgar Aronfehrer, 65, was killed Sunday when his pickup truck swung off US 183 and hit a tree north of Goliad.

Witnesses told police an argument over money led to the fatal shooting Sunday night of James Kirven, 15, near Fair Park in East Dallas. Police sought three youths for questioning.

James K. Howell, 17, of Seymour died at a hospital Sunday of injuries suffered as his car ran off US 283 at a curve south of Seymour.

SHOT TO DEATH

A collision of two cars 7.5 miles north of Anson on US 277 killed Wheat Lampkin, 66, of Anson. Second Lt. Michael E. Giles, 19, of St. Paul, Minn., an Army officer stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla., was injured.

Jose Gomez Santayo, 24, was shot and killed Sunday in Houston. Police found the body beside a car in the downtown district.

A car struck and killed Ivy Alcorn, 10, as she walked at the edge of a Houston street Sunday.

Mitchell Stowell, 17, was killed and three other teenagers, all from Jasper, were injured Sunday when their car hit a tree at the intersection of FM 1004 and FM 1013 near Jasper.

CYCLE COLLISION

Ernest Box of Bryan was killed Sunday in a collision of a car and a motorcycle on Texas 21 in Bryan.

Mrs. Roy Alston, 53, was killed Sunday evening as she started home from church at Plainview. Officers said a car driven by her husband, 54, turned left in front of another vehicle. He and his son John, 24, suffered serious injuries.

A highway crash 4 miles south of Daingerfield killed Patricia W. Amerson, 22, of Mount Pleasant and sent Charles E. Amerson of Mount Pleasant and Lou Frank Freeman, 49, of Daingerfield to a hospital seriously injured. Officers said the Amerson car swerved in front of the Freeman vehicle.

Carol Moore King, returned here from Midland on a check charge, is not the same as Mrs. Carol J. King, 3704 Connally. Carol M. King lists her address as 3009 2nd St., Lubbock, and according to Sheriff A. N. Standard, is also wanted in New Mexico to answer check charges.

Stolen Items Recovered In Martin County

A Howard County deputy sheriff is to go to Stanton today to take charge of four sportscar wheels and tires identified as stolen here and to question a man held in the Martin County jail as a suspect in the theft.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said that thieves took two of the wheels from a parked car owned by Danny Stroup on one occasion and then, some days later, returned and took the other two.

The stolen items have been recovered in Martin County with the arrest of the man to be interrogated by the deputy.

Bus Pact Signed

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Possibility of bus rapid transit on urban freeways is being studied by Texas Transportation Institute researchers at Texas A&M University.

TTI officials signed a $100,000 contract with the Urban Transportation Administration, Department of Housing and Urban Development, for a 15-month project. A surveillance control system will be developed to get a bus onto a freeway with brief or no delay, officials announced.

Freeway designs and conversion cost studies are central to the research.

Move To Make Holidays Fall On Monday Mapped

WASHINGTON (AP)—A move to make most national holidays fall on Mondays, thus providing five or six three-day weekends each year, is about to get a push in Congress.

A House Judiciary subcommittee has scheduled hearings for Aug. 16-17 on bills that would shift Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Independence Day and Veterans' Day to Monday. Several bills also would add Thanksgiving Day to the list.

With Labor Day already falling on a Monday, the measures would produce a string of short vacations throughout the year.

FIRST HEARINGS

Christmas and New Year's Day still would cycle through the days of the week.

Similar bills have been kicking around Congress for years, but this is the first time hearings will be held on them.

The idea has strong support in the business community, which thinks it would smooth out production schedules and cut down absenteeism among workers who make their own three- or four-day weekends when holidays come in mid-week.

The only real opposition comes from traditionalists who find it inconceivable that the Fourth of July, for instance,

Child Hurt In Bike Ride

Terry Ulsana, 12, Rankin, received a broken leg shortly before midnight Saturday when the bicycle he was riding collided with a car in the 100 block of East Fourth. Driver of the car was Clifford A. Hart, 708 Douglas. Employees of Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital said Terry was in good condition this morning.

INFO GATHERED

But supporters of the legislation have amassed a lot of information showing the dates of most holidays have been set arbitrarily and that the calendar itself has been changed.

The proposed changes would make Washington's Birthday fall on the third Monday of February, Memorial Day on the last Monday of May, Independence Day on the first Monday in July and Veterans Day on either the last Monday in October or the first Monday in November.

Agribusiness Courses To Open Here Tuesday

Big Spring area businessmen, interested in more effective business and managerial practices, will have an opportunity to attend an Agribusiness Short course here, Tuesday through Thursday.

The short course will begin each day at 9 a.m. in the community room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association Building and will terminate at 11 a.m., says County Agricultural Agent Paul Gross.

Keynote speaker for the event will be Kenneth Wolf, economist — agribusiness specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Wolf is a recognized authority in the agribusiness field, Gross pointed out.

Topics to be discussed by Wolf in the three-day sessions include business expansion, management of the labor force, selling a service, credit and the customer and managing a manager's time.

Considering each of these topics individually, the specialist's discussion on business expansion will cover key points to use in evaluating a current business with a view toward expansion vertically, horizontally or by diversification.

According to Gross, Wolf's presentation on labor management will include the latest principles and techniques in the recruitment, training and maintenance of a work force.

Antipoverty Funds Gain Green Light

Scout Pedals Bike To Attend Jamboree

FARRAGUT STATE PARK, Idaho (AP) — A German Scout arrived Sunday at the Boy Scout World Jamboree after pedaling his bike 4,500 miles from Guatemala in 14 weeks.

Gross urged all farmers, ranchers, homemakers and businessmen to attend the short course.

Gross will be master of ceremonies for the initial meeting Tuesday. Bobby Lemons, farm agent from Mitchell County, will preside Wednesday, and Billy Roach, Scurry County agent, on Thursday.

Also considered at the sessions will be some vital aspects of providing a service in a business operation and the development of a credit policy and its administration.

Some Things Are Different For Sen. Dodd

WASHINGTON (AP)—On the surface, at least, life for Sen. Thomas J. Dodd now appears about the same as it did before he was censured 92 to 5 by his colleagues last month.

But it is apparent from talking to the 66-year-old Connecticut Democrat and other senators that neither he nor they can erase the censure from their minds.

"Of course I'd like to forget about it," Dodd told a reporter. "But it just isn't possible."

Colleagues observe all the amenities in their contacts with him, but there are differences not readily apparent.

PERSONAL BENEFIT
One senator, for example, who had invited several colleagues to speak to summer interns working in his office, said he had not and would not invite Dodd.

The Senate censured Dodd June 23 for conduct "which is contrary to accepted morals, derogates from the public trust expected of a senator, and tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

This was based on a finding by the Senate ethics committee that Dodd had converted to his personal benefit at least $116,023 of campaign and testimonial funds.

STATEMENT ISSUED
The Senate rejected 51 to 45 a second count that Dodd bilked both the Senate and private groups for the same travel expenses.

The censure vote did not deprive Dodd of any of his rights or privileges as a senator and he has made an obvious effort to carry on his work as usual.

He has put out statements about pending legislation and actively has tried to prevent the extradition of former Prime Minister Moise Tshombe to the Congo, where he has been sentenced to death on treason charges. Tshombe is held in Algeria.

PIPE PUFFER
But Dodd has been most prominent since his censure as chairman of the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee, presiding over hearings on the federal gun control bill that is part of President Johnson's anti-crime program.

Puffing on his pipe, the white-haired senator seems to conduct the hearings with assurance as he questions witnesses and engages in occasional banter with other senators. And yet it is evident his censure is on his mind.

In an interview in his office, Dodd said he has not noticed any difference in the attitude of his colleagues and does not feel awkward in presiding over the hearings.

GOV. ROMNEY SAYS:

'We Were Pleading For Federal Troops'

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. George Romney said today, "We were pleading for federal troops as fast as we could get them" during the early hours of the Detroit riots and he listed, point by point, the delays that arose before federal authorities responded to his appeals.

"You can draw your own conclusions," the governor said in an interview. "I'm just telling you what happened."

Grimly, Romney said nearly 24 hours elapsed between the time he first asked Washington for help and the moment when the federal airborne troops were committed to the riot zones.

CLARK CHANGE
The racial explosion took 44 lives and hit Detroit with an estimated loss of $500 million in property damage and related costs.

In the interview, Romney made these points:
1. He said U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark "changed his position" with respect to requiring a written, not just an oral, request to send the federal troops to Detroit.

2. After President Johnson's representative, Cyrus R. Vance, arrived in Detroit, nine hours passed before Vance agreed to commit the federal troops.

3. Federal authorities demanded a "certification of an insurrection," Romney said. "My basic point was that the federal troops should be sent because I didn't want to let the situation get out of hand. That's what we were trying to prevent."

Romney said the first moves were made at 2:30 a.m. last Monday morning.
At that time, Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh telephoned Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey in Minneapolis for advice. A member of the mayor's staff said the call went to Humphrey because "the President has more or less made him the liaison between the federal government and the cities."

5,000 GIs NEEDED
Humphrey told Cavanagh and Romney to telephone the attorney general in Washington.
"We knew we would need federal forces," Romney said. "The National Guard could not get to Detroit until late Monday afternoon."

The guardsmen were bivouacked at Camp Grayling, 220 miles northwest of Detroit.
"The airborne troops could have been flown in by jet from Ft. Bragg, N.C., much faster than the guardsmen could get here," Romney said.

Racial Problems

Gov. George Romney, in a televised speech Sunday, said he believes that unless America follows the proper course in seeking to solve racial problems this nation could be plunged into civil guerrilla warfare. Speaking of last week's Detroit riots, the governor said he hopes to prevent an even greater tragedy, a backlash that could result in a third Detroit racial explosion. (AP WIREPHOTO)

At 3 a.m., the governor said he talked with Clark and "described the situation." He said 5,000 troops were needed at once. Romney said the attorney general replied that he would have to confer with the White House.

'NO'
"I asked him then if he needed anything more than an oral request from me and he said, 'No.'"

About an hour later, the governor and the mayor called a press conference to report that they had requested federal troops to help quell the rioting.

"In the middle of the press conference, Clark called and said he wanted a request and a certification that we had an insurrection that we could not control," Romney said.

"I replied that there was no way of knowing yet whether we could control it, but that the best judgment of our state and local authorities was that we needed the troops."

'WHOLE PICTURE'
Romney said Clark told him he had received a different military evaluation of the situation in Detroit.

"He indicated that he had talked with the general of the 8th Army (Lt. Gen. John H. Michaelis) and that Michaelis had talked with Gen. Cecil Simmons, commander of the National Guard. He said Simmons had told Michaelis the National Guard could handle the situation without federal troops."

Romney said he returned to the press conference and told reporters it would be necessary to re-evaluate the situation.

"So then I had to get Simmons from his headquarters and the key men in the police department and we did evaluate it with Simmons and went through the whole picture and Simmons agreed that we needed the federal troops," Romney said.

He said he then advised Clark of Simmons' judgment. Meanwhile, the governor said, at Clark's request, he drafted a telegram. It said in part:

"I do hereby officially recommend the immediate deployment of federal troops into Michigan to assist state and local authorities in re-establishing law and order in the city of Detroit."

AREAS CHECKED
"I am joined in this recommendation by Jerome P. Cavanagh, mayor of the city of Detroit."

Romney said Clark called back and told him this telegram was "inadequate."

In reply, Romney said, "We described the character of what we were confronted with and the basis of the need for federal troops. We were pleading for federal troops as fast as we could get them."

Shortly before dawn—Romney thought between 5 and 6 a.m.—the governor, Cavanagh and top police officers toured the areas of Detroit where fires were raging and some persons had been killed.

'NOT ADEQUATE'
Meanwhile, Romney said, he had instructed his aides to draft another telegram to Clark.

Returning from the tour, the governor said he read the message to Clark who replied that it was "not adequate." Romney said, "He said I had to make a definite request and certification of an insurrection."

Flames Lick At Wreckage In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Foot-high flames from the worst racial explosion in recent American history still licked at wreckage on 12th Street today amid warnings it could happen again—here and elsewhere.

"Unless we take the proper course, this nation in the years ahead could be plunged into civil guerrilla warfare," Gov. George Romney told the people of Michigan Sunday night in a television report on looting, burning and killing that gripped the city for over a week.

"More and more Negroes are listening to and supporting Negro leaders who advocate a separate black society in America," the governor said.

GRAVE FACTS
"These militant revolutionists are preaching hate, violence and rebellion; furthermore, they are organizing on a national basis and they are arming for that purpose. We should not ignore these grave facts."

The governor spoke in an unemotional tone that belied sleepless days and nights in which he frequently toured areas where fires glowed and soldiers and police fought savagely with snipers.

He rejected "brute force" as a solution to terror that in Detroit alone resulted in 41 deaths, hundreds of injuries, thousands of arrests and $500 million in property damage. The violence spread throughout Michigan and the nation last week.

NO ARRESTS
He urged instead a nine-point attack on what he said were the causes—shum housing, poor education and high unemployment. He promised a full-scale state investigation to supplement one already ordered on a nationwide basis by President Johnson.

As Romney spoke, the city began its quietest night since a routine police raid July 23 set off the riot along teeming 12th Street on the near West Side.

Small flames flickered amid the pattered rain of hundreds of buildings torched by looters and arsonists.

For the first night in eight there were no arrests, no gunshots and no injuries in a section where such things are commonplace even in the best of times.

TROOPERS READY
National Guardsmen, ranks thinning and weapons unloaded, patrolled with police.

Paratroopers of the 101st and 82nd Airborne divisions, in the city since Monday on presidential orders, were withdrawn completely from active duty but held in readiness at staging areas.

In his television talk, Romney touched on a major question in the agonizing post mortems: Was Detroit's riot organized?

Opinions and theories came from everyone—from Romney to Negroes who claimed they fought in the streets.

'BLACK POWER'
Police Commissioner Ray Girardin said there was evidence something far more volatile than gasoline was used to fire stores and homes.

"From the information we now have," said a top police officer, "this sniper activity is part of the network of the Black Power movement. It's divided into city groups that are called 'bays' and they roughly resemble Communist cells in structure. Indications are now that a lieutenant in charge of the Detroit operation and higher authorities are located elsewhere."

Revolutionaries Gather In Havana

HAVANA (AP) — Latin American revolutionaries assembled in Havana today to echo Fidel Castro's call for guerrilla warfare from Detroit to Cape Horn.

Stokely Carmichael, the U.S. Black Power advocate, is to be among the speakers at the nine-day meeting of the Organization of Latin American Solidarity.

Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos is expected to deliver the keynote address at the opening session tonight. Prime Minister Castro is expected to wind up the meeting Aug. 8.

MORE VIETNAM
One key point in the agenda for the meeting calls for "support of the Negro people of the United States in their struggle against racial discrimination."

Since arriving in Cuba last Tuesday, Carmichael has been calling for American Negroes to take up guerrilla-type operations. He has endorsed missing guerrilla leader Ernesto "Che"

Guevara's call for creation of more Vietnams for the United States and said racial upheavals in Detroit, Newark and other U.S. cities should be considered Vietnams.

CONG OBSERVERS
Big delegations from the Viet Cong and North Vietnam are among the observers. The Puerto Rican Independence Movement is represented by its executive secretary, Juan Mari Bras.

Eugenio Rodriguez Balari, executive secretary of the Cuban OLAS committee, said the main OLAS objective is to develop armed revolutionary forces against imperialism and its lackeys—meaning the United States and most Latin-American governments.

Bridge Test

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ6 ♣KT ♠AQ10854 ♠A4
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Two no trump. Theoretically this hand is one point short of the required 19 for this call but the fine six card suit is adequate compensation for the deficiency.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQ10653 ♣4 ♠AJ62 ♠AK
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
2 ♠ 4 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Seven spades. A pass at this point would be the height of cowardice. Partner is surely marked with the king of spades, the ace of hearts and extreme shortness in diamonds as indispensable values for his bid.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J1063 ♣4 ♠A1032 ♠862
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
Pass Pass West 2 ♥ Pass 2 NT Pass 3 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—This hand has suddenly grown to slam proportions. In fact a direct leap to six would not be at all unreasonable. The safest course, however, at this juncture would be a bid of four diamonds, followed by an overbid of game in spades. This allows for partner's having a highly distributable hand with weakness in clubs.

Q. 4—East-West vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠1083 ♣41 ♠KQ10 ♠Q1072
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
3 ♠ 3 ♠ Pass 1 NT 2 ♠ 4 ♠ ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Five diamonds. This situation contains many of the elements of the classic sacrifice bid. The vulnerability is in your favor, your hand is practically worthless defensively and the length in diamonds serves to vitiate the defensive possibilities of partner's holding. At worst you should be able to score 300 points and there is the prospect that such a small profit may not appeal sufficiently to the opponents who could be goaded into bidding five spades which might be defeated.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠Q4 ♣Q9653 ♠A10874
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 1 NT Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. We are not partial to partners who overcall in the opponent's suit, especially when we are vulnerable. However, since North is also vulnerable we must presume he knows what he is doing. No rescue should be seriously contemplated even if partner gets doubled.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AQ1062 ♣K732 ♠108 ♠54
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
Pass Pass 1 ♠ Dble. 3 ♠ ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Four spades. This hand should produce a reasonable play for game even facing a shaded takeout double. If you bid just three spades partner may feel you are acting under pressure. Even in such a call constitutes a free bid in this position he may pass with a minimum double.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J9522 ♣86 ♠10874 ♠63
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 NT Dble. Redble. ?

What do you bid?
A.—Pass. Give partner the courtesy of the road here. If he rescues in hearts and that gets doubled, you can try two spades if you wish, but before you crowd the bidding give him a chance to act. He may bid two diamonds for which your hand will present a dummy worth a couple of tricks.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠J ♠AQ842 ♠9872 ♠4042
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Dble. Pass Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. The opponents may have their signals crossed and this could turn out to be a profitable venture at 200 for each over-trick. In any event, you have no indicated place to run and should be content to stick it out.

Cattle Empire Spread Over Three Counties

By JO BRIGHT

Safely out of the traffic pattern, and with a moment to look below, more than a few fledgling pilots at Webb Air Force Base have viewed the vast expanse of sage-sprinkled sand — and felt glad they were reared someplace else. Like warriors the world over, they look for something familiar and long for "home."

Johnny Lees would have understood. Warm and outgoing, he, too, wore the Air Force uniform and had taken his training at places far removed from those he knew. He was reared a Texan, with pioneer ancestry, and longed to look again on the land that was his family's heritage.

It was May 10, 1945, and Johnny was 20 years old. Homebound from a strike deep into Northern China, the big B-25 received its mortal wounds. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lees, 611 E. 16th, and his brother, B. B. Lees, now on the faculty of Eastern New Mexico University, were present when the John H. Lees Service Club at Webb AFB was dedicated and became his memorial.

"A History of Texas and Texans," printed in 1914 by the American Historical Society, devotes a generous amount of space in its Volume IV to Johnny's maternal grandfather, the late Greenleaf L. Brown, noting that he represented a family that has been prominent in Texas since the time of the Republic.

Johnny's great-grandfather, William Franklin Brown, served in the Indian wars of Georgia and Alabama during the campaigns of the 1830's, and at the time of the book's publication, was one of the oldest surviving Indian fighters in the country.

When he brought his bride to Texas, they traveled the entire distance from Georgia in a wagon drawn by ox teams. In the early days, he frequently took herds of cattle from Brown County (named after the family) across the country to Shreveport, La. One of his sons, W. H. Brown, was killed in West Texas by Comanche Indians in 1875.

Another son, Greenleaf, was born in 1861 at Brownwood. His earliest associations were with ranch life and he was a cowboy almost as soon as he could ride a horse. Leaving school at the age of 17, he rode to Mitchell County where he worked as a cowboy for 10 years, saving most of his earnings. Finally, he was able to finance a herd and began his operations in what are now Mitchell and Sterling counties.

There was no settlement at Big Spring then, but the springs attracted several cattle outfits to the vicinity. After the railroad was established in 1881, Brown became one of the first permanent settlers of the town. Later he sold out his interest, transferring his operations to the Panhandle and New Mexico, but finally returned to West Texas and located in Howard County in 1897.

CATTLE HERDS

His business grew and his herds increased until he was running from 2,500 to 25,000 head of cattle over his various ranches in Howard, Sterling and Ector counties. In one of those earlier years he bought full grown cows in Texas at $6.25 per head. In 1914, he was the owner of 8,000 acres of land in Ector County and 5,000 acres of land in Howard County.

A leader in building Big Spring, he organized the West Texas National Bank in 1903. As president and largest stockholder, he saw that the bank was housed in the finest office building in the city. He became a large stockholder in the bank at Coahoma, and married Miss Eddie Lee at El Paso in 1888.

Returning to Big Spring, she met young Harry Lees, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lees. His father was associated with the Texas and Pacific Railroad, and the boy had been born and reared in Big Spring.

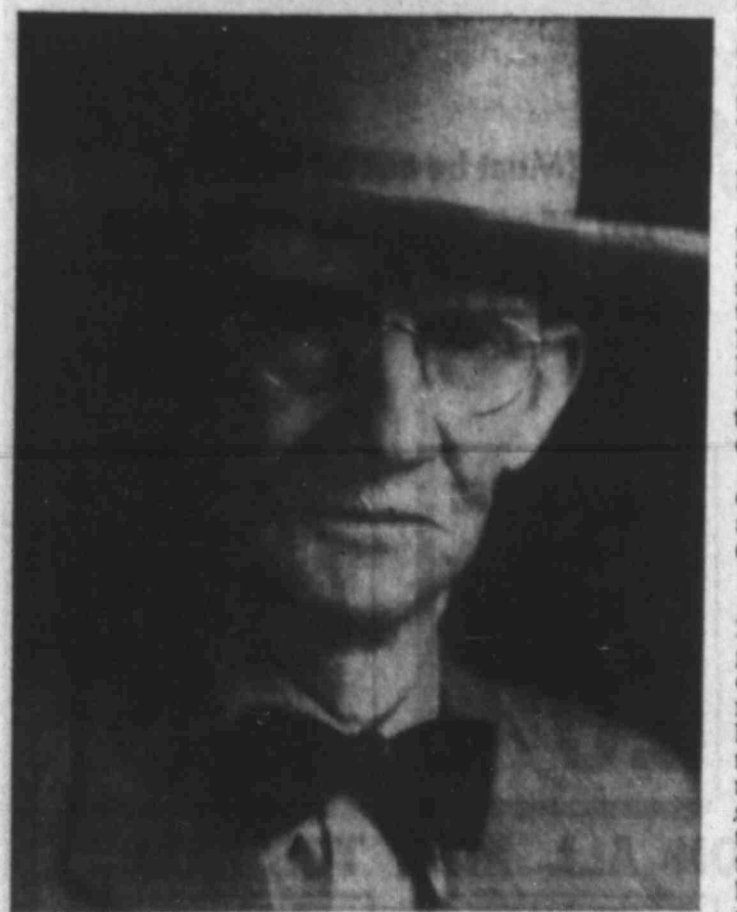

They were married on June 13, 1918, in the big house on Aylford. Lees was working at that time in a tailor shop located in the 100 block of Main. Later, he purchased the business which operated as Lees Tailor Shop until it was sold in 1945 to the late Mr. Ben Hartley.

In 1928, the Lees had built their big brick home on East Sixteenth where they still reside. It was here they reared three children, the late John H. Lees, B. B. Lees of Portales, N. M., and Mrs. Jack Clark (Eddie Raye) who lives in Dothan, Ala. There are eight grandchildren.

To date, Mrs. Lees has given over 3,000 hours of time as a volunteer worker at the Veteran's Administration Hospital.

EMPIRE ENDS

Greenleaf L. Brown died in 1944, never knowing that his grandson would not be home to continue the family interest in ranching. He had stipulated in his will that if the family did not wish to continue the business, the ranches were to be sold. This was done, and thus the Brown cattle empire came to its end. Perhaps it would not have been so, had John H. Lees returned to his western heritage.

A LOVELIER YOU

Fool The Eye While 'Lengthening' Neck

By MARY SUE MILLER
A Lovelier Asks: What can I do to make my neck look less stout? It is so short and plump that my head seems to sit on my shoulders.

The Answer: There are numerous tricks-of-the-eye that create an illusion of slender length for the throat. The first involves waterproof powder base. You need a dark shade for the job — about three shades darker than the one used on your face. To make application you simply firm the throat with base, blend in all directions and blot with tissue.

Another aid to the cause is a hairdo with upward movement. It should have some height on the crown and be swept up and off the back of the neck.

Clever necklines and jewelry also offer slimming treatments. Excellent effects come with V and diagonal necklines, longish necklaces and winged earrings.

Last, and no trick, is improved posture. It is far from easy to achieve. You have to concentrate on keeping your neck stretched by drawing your head up and your shoulders down.

The stretched position immediately gives the neck a more slender, graceful appearance. If you are faithful to the action, day in and out, the neck actually becomes slimmer, trimmer and longer.

Battle-weary U.S. Marines carry a wounded to a helicopter north of Con Thien near the demilitarized zone of South Vietnam today after a Marine battalion was hit by a large North Vietnamese force 1,000 yards inside the zone. Johnson Leads Peace Prayers

By The Associated Press

President Johnson led the nation Sunday in prayers for racial peace.

One churchman, the Most Rev. Fulton Sheen, added a call for U.S. troop withdrawal from Vietnam.

"Is this reconciliation to be limited only to our citizens?" asked Bishop Sheen, who heads the Roman Catholic diocese of Rochester, N.Y.

The President led prayers in Washington to erase civil and racial strife, a weekend observance echoed in churches and synagogues around the nation.

REBUILDING TIME

Bishop Sheen, speaking to parishioners in the Sacred Heart Cathedral, said: "Could we not also be reconciled with our brothers in Vietnam. May we plead only for a reconciliation between blacks and whites, and not between blacks and whites and yellows?"

On Detroit's 12th Street, amid a shambles left by five days of violence, the St. Mark's Community church pastor, the Rev. James Cannon, told his Negro congregation: "Life must go on. This is not the time for pointing the finger of scorn, this is the time for rebuilding."

TRUE RIGHTS

In Boston, Rabbi Samuel Korf of Kehillah Jacob Temple, said, "Restrain the hand that destroys, strengthen the hand that builds for a better community and for a recognition of the true rights of man."

In Memphis, Tenn., 4,000 National Guardsmen, camped near there to guard against outbreaks of violence, joined in silent prayer for racial peace. The guardsmen had been withdrawn from the city after officials declared that tension had eased.

RACISTS, BIGOTS

At Rochester, N.Y., the Rev. F. D. R. Florence of the Church of Christ, a Negro, termed the President's call for a day of prayer "a bit premature."

"If prayer is to be effective the President first must get rid of the sinners, racists and bigots around him," he said. "People would rather die on their feet than die on their knees."

The Rev. Robert Chiles of the Monfort Heights Methodist church, near Cincinnati, Ohio, told a white congregation: "The irony of the situation is that the President had to instruct the church to pray. The voice of the church has been conspicuous by its absence."

Torrid July Exit Looms

By The Associated Press

July blazed toward a torrid exit throughout Texas today. Skies were almost cloudless throughout the state and the overnight cooling at many points was too slight for relief from a scorching weekend.

Sunday's top temperatures hit a torrid 105 degrees at Alice, Cotulla and Waco.

High marks elsewhere included Junction and Laredo 103, Austin, Fort Worth and San Angelo 102, Dallas, Del Rio, McAllen, Mineral Wells, Presidio and Wichita Falls 101, and San Antonio and Tyler 100.

Galveston on the coast, with a maximum of 86, was the only regular weather reporting station staying below 90.

Occasional sprinkles teased scattered areas in East and Central Texas and the north edge of the Panhandle late Sunday, none received enough rain to measure.

Forecasts called for little change.

Wife Of Aircraft Designer Expires

NORTHPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Alexander P. De Severecky, wife of an accomplished aircraft designer, died Friday at her home after a long illness. She was 60. Mrs. De Severecky tested and helped her husband design World War II fighter planes.

Paraplegic Plans To Swim Channel

REHOBOTH BEACH, Del. (AP) — Harry Hinken has his problems on land. But put him in the water, and "I'm free."

Hinken, 42, had polio 14 years ago. He can't walk without crutches. But the rest of him is strong, including his determination to become the first paraplegic to swim the English Channel.

Hinken lives in Arlington, Va., where he has a thriving general insurance business. He gets in four to five miles of swimming at the Northern Virginia Aquatic Club each morning before going to work.

JOINTS REMOVED

Then on weekends he comes to Delaware to train under conditions approximating those found in the channel. The "Indian River inlet here is probably even more treacherous than the English Channel," says Hinken.

His strenuous training was interrupted last year by two operations, the 18th and 19th in the years since he was stricken by polio. In successive operations the left and right collarbone joints were removed because they "were eaten up by arthritis," caused by the strain put on his shoulders by his crutches, Hinken said.

WHY TRY?

Why try to swim the channel? "It's like asking a man why he wants to climb a mountain. I have a successful business and a lovely family. I have overcome my handicap. But I want to swim the channel!"

Hinken will try to swim the channel between Aug. 28 and Sept. 1, the time of the neap, or minimum tide.

Sims Back From Parley

Lorraine H. Sims, comptroller representing Bennett House, Inc., extended care facility here, has returned from a 2½-day educational meeting in Galveston sponsored by the Texas Nursing Home Association.

Conducted by the accounting firm of Ernst & Ernst, the meeting was designed to assist both providers and non-providers of extended care facilities with their accounting systems.

Sen. A. R. Schwartz was a guest speaker at an awards luncheon which climaxed the institute. TNHA president, Arthur B. Taylor of Vernon, presented participants with certificates.

The association is the professional association of licensed nursing and custodial homes in the state, dedicated to the improvement of health care for the aged.

Mrs. Sims, a nurse's aide at Bennett House, accompanied Sims.

Envoys Encounter Rebuffs During Far Eastern Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—The political turbulence two of his envoys are encountering on a flying Far Eastern trip points toward fresh difficulties between President Johnson and Congress over Vietnam.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Clark Clifford, representing the President in a search for larger allied troop commitments, already have encountered a couple of diplomatic rebuffs and possibly face more.

Congress almost is unanimous in the belief that U. S. allies should contribute many more men to the Vietnam war that Johnson says is aimed primarily at saving Asia from communism.

There is sharp, though usually subsurface, criticism of the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand for not supplying more of the fighting manpower which Gen. William C. Westmoreland says must be beefed up to retain the offensive in the conflict with the Communists. Westmoreland is U. S. commander in Vietnam.

UNCLE SAM PAYS

South Korea draws praise from U. S. senators and representatives for its willingness to contribute fighting men, even though there is general recognition the United States pays its costs.

If Taylor and Clifford fall to interest the allies in providing more troops, this may mean a heavier dispatch of U.S. combat forces to Vietnam and give new ammunition to congressional critics of Johnson's war course.

Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos canceled a scheduled conference with Taylor and Clifford, saying he had been to Vietnam recently and didn't need any American briefing.

Marcos is involved in a pending election, with increasing opposition to Philippine commitments in the war.

After they had conferred in Bangkok with Thailand officials, Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman announced he saw no need for an allied summit conference Taylor and Clifford had hoped to arrange for this fall.

MIXED EMOTIONS

To some members of Congress, the situation in the Far East is similar to that prevailing in Europe.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara have said members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are not meeting their defense commitments in Europe but still don't want any U.S. troops withdrawn.

In testimony before a special Senate committee in closed sessions in April and May, made public in a censored version Sunday, both testified that world conditions would not permit any large-scale reductions in U.S. forces in Europe at this time.

Rusk noted that when asked to contribute more to the joint effort, NATO countries have replied that tensions were easing and they had domestic problems.

On the other hand, he said that when the question of reducing U.S. forces comes up, these countries say, "But there is a threat and you people must not let us down."

A Devotional For The Day

Let me hear what God the Lord will speak. (Psalm 85:8, RSV)

PRAYER: Our Father, today many voices will be calling us in many directions. Teach us to listen to Thee so that no other voice will lead us, and grant us willingness to obey. In the spirit of Christ. Amen.

Solid Plan For Air Safety

More than a month ago, Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd told an air safety panel that airport congestion was one of the most critical of the nation's transportation problems. On the same occasion another speaker said that aircraft may be equipped with electronic anti-collision devices by 1970.

All this is germane to the hullabaloo that has arisen because of the crash over North Carolina in which 82 persons, including Navy Secretary John T. McNaughton, were killed. The conditions that led to this accident—that is, use of major airports by both private and commercial planes and the shortcomings of air traffic control—have been the object of intensive study for some time. Thus it seems unlikely that Congress can now rear back, so to speak, and pass a miracle. Nothing within its competence will solve the problem overnight. It is clear that if at least all commercial transports carried collision-avoidance equipment, the possibility of mid-air accidents would be greatly reduced. But time will be needed to perfect and test such equipment. Congress might speed things up a bit, but quite a bit of time will still be required.

That applies even more certainly to the relief of airport congestion, and to traffic control. Congress can stimulate efforts to improve existing control systems; it can push for airport expansion, and put up the money to help it along. But none of this can be accomplished in a hurry.

There should be a sense of urgency about the matter, but stopgap action under the stimulus of the North Carolina crash would be unwise. What we need is not hasty measures but a long-range, coordinated plan of action.

Our West Germany Relationship

The range of President Johnson's concern can never be parochial for long. He must jump from Vietnam to the Middle East to Newark and Detroit and to Europe.

His advisers must now be preparing for another engagement of wits and measurement of personality when West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger visits Washington Aug. 14. Kiesinger was first scheduled to visit this country in early July, but he had to postpone the trip because of a cabinet controversy arising from a decision to cut the defense budget, thereby reducing by approximately 60,000 men the country's armed forces.

President Johnson was not happy with the German army reduction plan. Nor was Defense Secretary Robert McNamara.

American policy toward West Germany has not moved nearly as rapidly as West Germany's policy toward Europe. The "special relationship" of the Konrad Adenauer - John Foster Dulles days is over. Gone is the Hall-stein doctrine which prevented West Germany from having relations with any country which recognized East Germany. A certain measure of flexibility in West German - Russian relations is becoming evident - President Johnson, in fact, encouraged bridges between West Germany and the East, as well as bridges between the U.S. and Russia.

What sticks in the craw, though, is Kiesinger's move to trim a firm strength, at a time when West Germany's commitment to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces was well below previously agreed levels. At the same time the U.S. force level was being maintained.

Nothing of any far-reaching importance is likely to arise from the talks between the President and Kiesinger. The most contentious subject will, of course, be the question of German troop strengths.

West Germany no longer tugs at our apron strings.

When Wirtz Shot From The Hip

WASHINGTON — Which newspaper should a Great Society Cabinet officer read before he shoots from the hip?

Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz, not normally a trigger-happy sensationalist, decided that lung cancer was running rampant in the western states uranium mines last spring when he read the Washington Post. He might have had sober, second thoughts if he'd waited and read the National Observer, a weekend cousin of the Wall Street Journal, shortly afterwards.

THE POST (April 14): "More than a thousand uranium miners in this country can be expected to develop lung cancer by the end of 1985 . . . (April 27) "A labor specialist on atomic energy charged yesterday that federal agencies with authority over radiation hazards 'haven't done a thing about it' . . . (April 18, editorially) "The death warrant for perhaps 1,150 uranium miners has in effect been signed . . . the miners must die . . ."

THE OBSERVER (May 22) " . . . but there has been a great deal of disagreement that reaches from Washington, D. C., down through the Public Health Service (PHS) researchers to the miners themselves. One complicating area of disagreement centers around heavy smoking among uranium miners. This, say some doctors, is an accelerating factor in the development of cancer (among miners) . . . Out of 101 known cases of lung cancer, only one was a non-smoker . . . lung cancer has not shown up among the Indian miners who make up 20 per cent of the original 5,370 study group. Indian miners rarely smoke."

ON THE BASIS of the earlier stories, Secretary Wirtz accused private mining interests of tripling the cancer hazards of their employees, and last May he issued a directive which had the effect of ordering all underground mines closed by June 9. He did this by invoking a law which gives the Labor Department control over working conditions which involve government contracts.

Fortunately, Wirtz was almost instantly set upon by the Atomic Energy Commission, the Defense Department, the Agriculture Department, the Congressional Joint Atomic Committee, the American Mining Congress and a Presidential board called Federal Radiation Council. The upshot was that the Labor Secretary backed down, and the mines stayed in operation.

TWO OTHER agencies which know a good deal about the hazards of uranium radiation, the HEW Department and NASA, have still divulged information which knocks the scare-story statistics. In any event, such miners who may have died entirely because of radiation hazards are miners who contracted the disease as long as 10 or 20 years ago when knowledge was less and conditions in the mines much worse. The secretary was agitating, at best, on day-before-yesterday facts.

THE GREAT Society has race riots, disloyalty problems and galloping socialism all over the landscape. It could come from going too fast, too far, too ignorantly. Secretary Wirtz is a relatively immaculate example of how an official can stir up internal strife.

Fewer Holidays?

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Some Republicans will recommend to the 1968 Legislature that the state eliminate some birthday holidays. They have complained about people finding Capitol doors closed on such days as Robert E. Lee's and Franklin D. Roosevelt's anniversaries.

Riot Solutions Fuzzy

WASHINGTON (AP) — H. Rap Brown, Negro leader charged with inciting a riot in Maryland, was in a fashionable restaurant over the weekend having lunch with his lawyer, a newspaperman, and others.

This time he was all dressed up, quite a difference from his usual attire of tight pants and blue denim jacket in which he harangues Negro groups about violence.

HIS PICTURE, showing him shouting and performing, had been in the newspapers for days. Only two days before this luncheon he had urged a Negro audience to shoot and loot. But in the restaurant he practiced some self-restraint.

Brown is chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. When he started out of the restaurant, said the Washington Evening Star reporter who was with him, well-dressed Negro men and women "stopped him repeatedly and shook his hand and said, 'We're with you, Rap' or, 'Keep it up, Rap.'"

IF THIS seems surprising to those who may have thought the rioting was supported only by impoverished Negroes in the ghetto, it nevertheless bore out the findings of some sociologists from the University of California who made a long study of the 1965 riot in the Watts section of Los Angeles.

SUNDAY NIGHT Michigan's Gov. George Romney talked to the people of his state about the riot but didn't provide any new insights although he warned that unless solutions are found the rioting will get worse and spread.

And Detroit's mayor, Jerome P. Cavanagh, on the NBC television program, "Meet the Press," blamed the "indifference in Congress" as one of the prime causes for the "maldy of riots in the streets."

But neither Romney nor Cavanagh went into an explanation of how a riot actually starts and, for that matter, the sociologists apparently didn't either.

But the sociologists found the No. 1 gripe of the Watts Negroes was about the poor neighborhood they live in, meaning things like dirty streets and dilapidated housing.

Candy Character Clues

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

It's possible to get the mumps twice, but only one in 400 victims does. Whether you crunch candy, chew it, or suck it may give a clue to your character. British psychologists say crunchers tend to be "impulsive and volatile," chewers are "more over-assertive," and suckers are "calm and well-integrated."

WHAT'S IN A TITLE? Quite a bit, our modern industrial society is finding out. For example: The term "credit manager" has come to have such an unpleasant ring in the ears of many customers that some firms are changing the title of that executive to "director of credit sales." But no matter what they call him, the bills still go out once a month.

In what part of the world does a single frog leg make a meal? Only in sections of western Africa, where the favorite delicacy of pygmies is earth's biggest frog, a species known as Rana goliath. These amphibian whoppers can grow to be three feet long and weigh as much as 11 pounds.

NO WONDER stale air makes you dizzy. Your brain makes up only 2 to 3 per cent of your weight, but it consumes 20 per cent of the oxygen required by your whole body. Quotable notes: "A hall player's got to be kept hungry to become a big leaguer. That's why no boy from a rich family ever made the big leagues." — Joe DiMaggio. New gimmick: In Lewiston, Maine, a used-car dealer lured prospective buyers to bring along their own mechanic to help them select a car. The dealer offered to pay for the mechanic's time. POSTURE REMINDER for slumbers: If you are 40 years old, you are not as tall as you were at 20. So straighten up, or you'll lose even more height. Refrigerator raiders: Those snacks you eat after dinner may be the cause of your fat, if you're overweight. It is estimated that many obese people consume a fourth of their daily calorie intake in late evening icebox forays.

THE GOOD old days: In 1895 only four automobiles were registered in the entire United States—and it was no problem at all to beat a horse and buggy into a good parking place. Folklore: You'll be lucky in business if you marry on your birthday. A girl who marries on April Fool's Day will be the boss in her family. If a yellow honey bee flies in a circle about you, you'll hear good news soon. If you can get turtle doves to nest near your home, they'll help ward off rheumatism. It was Helen Rowland who observed, "When you see what some girls marry, you realize how they must hate to work for a living."

Healing A Bed Sore No Easy Task

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter has multiple sclerosis and has a big sore on her back side, about eight inches by six and very deep.

She is in a turning frame, but the doctor does not seem to be able to heal it. She is 47 years old. — H. H.

These bed sores or pressure sores are a complication of any condition which forces a patient to lie on his back too much.

It is easier to prevent them than to cure them, but it is one of the problems which most people are not on their guard against, until once they have experienced it.

Continued pressure causes irritation. Soiling skin with urine also can irritate. Once the sore forms, it is not unlikely that it will become infected. In fact, this happens more often than not. By then it is a most difficult type of ulcer to heal. It is complicated by the fact that such a patient often has a poor appetite, and it may be difficult to get enough protein, vitamins and minerals into the diet to maintain good skin texture. Further, drainage from the sore saps the body of important fluids and minerals.

If the ulcer, or sore, is deep, it is almost sure to be infected. Surgical removal of the infected tissue may then be the most satisfactory method, followed by skin grafts.

The turning frame is very useful, since the affected area can be periodically relieved of pressure, but it cannot necessarily heal an ulcer once it has developed.

Sorry as we must be for the woman with this large ulcer, I hope that it may also be a warning to others who have a chronic bed patient to care for. To prevent such sores we must be aware of the conditions under which they develop.

Providing a means (turning frame or other) so the patient does not lie constantly in one position is important. So is good nutrition, even though it can be difficult to provide this if the patient's appetite is poor. If the patient can turn in bed, or be turned, a daily bath in bed and alcohol back rubs can be more than a comforting luxury. Besides keeping the skin clean, they encourage circulation, which is slow when the person is a chronic bed patient. A sheepskin pad under the lower back helps prevent bed sores.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please send me your booklet on "The Way to Stop Constipation." I enclose 20 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

I am taking one capsule every night as I have diverticulosis and this is the only pill the doctor will give me. Will it hurt me to take one every night? I am 80. — Mrs. E. B.

The capsule your doctor is giving you is one of the so-called "stool softeners," or moistening agents, and is one of the extremely useful medications. It is used in a couple of dozen preparations under various trade names.

It will not harm you to take it every night, and will not bother your diverticulosis — that's why your doctor does not permit other types of medication. The stool softener helps your elimination but, unlike laxatives, helps by softening, not by irritation to induce bowel action.

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble — symptoms; treatment; how to speed recovery — write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for his booklet, "The Pesky Prostate," enclosing 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Our Streets, Parks, Topography

A boost here, a knock there and a dash of this and that:

Are we so devoid of imagination in this town that we cannot rename either 11th Street or 11th Place? The two thoroughfares are within a block of each other and the name of one of them is a misnomer.

If the Crawford Hotel is ever dismantled here, let's make a downtown park and not a parking lot out of it, for heaven's sake.

Would you describe a toothache as a pain that drives you to extraction?

I IMAGINE a lot more people would stop smoking if they could find a way to keep the wrapper on a candy bar lit.

I get the idea that there are some people in this community who will never be happy until our topography is as level as a billiard table and as bald as a billiard ball. When that time comes, as it most surely will, we'll be just like every other city on the prairie, without a distinguishing factor. We should be proud of what nature has provided for us.

WHY IS IT a foreigner with the patience of Job can take an ordinary jar or pot and make a work of art out of it, whereas we are prone to take something useful and make junk out of it?

Did you know that the problem of fuel supply will probably be so great around airports in the 1970's that planners are already thinking of building pipelines directly to them, which would end the need for fleets of trucks? Some of the modern airline jets use as much as 500 gallons of gasoline just to warmup and taxi to takeoff positions.

TRAFFIC EXPERTS preach safety at all times. For that reason, there is something unrealistic about those highway signs which go up telling us about "Your taxes at work." The signs could hardly be described as things of beauty. They can't be read without slowing down and obstructing traffic. And who has to be reminded that the money for such work is coming out of the taxpayer's pocket?

DID YOU KNOW that nine out of every ten new products which hit the grocery shelves never make the grade, despite the lavish and expensive publicity given them? On the other hand, 55 per cent of the grocery and frozen food goods on sale in super markets today were not even in existence ten years ago.

Why is it that a mother sending a child down the street to play at a neighbor's house will instruct him or her to insist that he or she is suffering from an allergy rather than a head cold?

Poor Service Costs Rails

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the nation's problem industries, the railroads and the postal service, have found themselves stumbling over each other's difficulties in their search for modernization.

FOR MANY decades these two were ideally married. They leaned on each other heavily, the postal service needing railroads to haul its sorting cars and the railroads depending heavily on the revenue so earned.

The marriage is ending now. As in many separations the couple had been drifting apart for a long while.

The final break came when the Post Office Department sent notices to many of the nation's railroads this month that it intended to cut back permanently on the use of railway post offices.

THIS PROVOKED the heated response from some lines, especially the New York Central, that the loss of revenue was more than it could bear. On many trains, the Central said mail revenue exceeded passenger fares.

The result, some railroad people insist, is that within the next couple of months the Interstate Commerce Commission and state regulatory agencies are going to receive an avalanche of applications to discontinue passenger service.

THE INFERENCE in some of these statements is that the Post Office is to blame, an attitude that postal officials, among others, decline to accept.

The Post Office has its own problems, they say, and its officials have publicly broadcast them. And it has its own responsibilities, the primary one being to provide mail service to the public rather than business to the rails.

The fact is that the Post Office and the railroads, under the pressure of modern living, are assuming different characteristics. No longer do they share the same interest, except that of modernization.

ZIP CODING, for example, has changed the processing and routing of mail. No longer is it as imperative that mail be sorted by postal workers riding a special car hitched to a long-distance passenger train.

Meanwhile, the railroads have been eliminating much passenger service as being unprofitable. This has led to less integration of schedules, making it a bit more difficult to route mail to distant points over the tracks of several lines.

Poor rail service may have been a contributing factor in the Post Office decision. Many lines have been levied against the railroads this year because of a pattern of late arrivals.

OTHER FORMS of transportation also have helped change the Post Office mind.

One of the biggest competitors for the Post Office dollar has been the airlines, which themselves have been fined, although the greater use of trucks for distances up to 200 miles has cut into rail revenue also.

A New Type Of 'Peace Corps'

WASHINGTON — The remedy for the epidemic of riots and disorders sweeping America today is not to be found only in the development of better living conditions for persons of all races residing in congested cities but in better means of communication between governmental authority and the people. A new kind of "peace corps" is needed.

BASELESS RUMORS of alleged injustices and brutal treatment would never have been accepted as factual by masses of people if it had not been for the suspicions and bitter feelings around beforehand by demagogic speakers in street "demonstrations" and "marches." Incitement to disorder as a result of these utterances has gone unpunished and even defended as "freedom of speech." But there has been no effective counter-effort—unquestionably permissible under "freedom of speech"—to spread truth so as to overcome false charges and to produce a better feeling between Negroes and whites in troubled communities.

YOUTHS HAVE been responsible for many of the crimes and much of the looting and hoodlumism. Lots of the young people don't read speeches or listen to radio, but they have been antagonized by the kind of things they hear in neighborhood gangs on street corners. Whites who misbehave can be reached by other whites, and Negroes can be counseled by fellow Negroes. Then mixed groups can be chosen to carry further the process of promoting a better understanding between races. Careful training of such a peace-making corps will be necessary. Benefits can be derived by everybody if the destructive influence of racial friction is superseded by the constructive consultations of groups striving to reason with each other.

THE PROBLEM is not confined to America. Riots have broken out in almost every free country and, indeed, in some police-state areas. The collateral effects of the enormous expansion of the world's population have been underestimated. Systems of government that have succeeded when the majority have been passively content now are faced with demands for sociological improvements which cost vast sums of money. These funds, however, can be collected in taxes only from the trained and educated segments of the community wherein individual talent has been given the opportunity to apply initiative and inventive ability.

THE "PEACE CORPS" idea which came into operation during the administration of the late President Kennedy has been applied abroad with considerable success, though its advantages are not always immediately apparent. There are some among those enlisted in the movement who have not yet learned how to get along with people in other countries and advance the basic cause of human brotherhood. Progress nevertheless is being made, and what has been done externally can be accomplished internally.

THERE IS a tendency inside the United States to regard racial controversies as solvable solely by the exercise of rigid discipline. It is important, of course, to hold "teach-ins" to widen respect for law and order. But while disorders may be lessened this way to some extent, the roots of the trouble will not be eradicated just by threats of punishment.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — The 105-year-old King medal for rifle marksmanship is won with only one shot from a .22 caliber rifle, with or without a scope, at a tiny bulls-eye at 50-yard range.

Tom Rowe of Rock Island competed with more than a score of shooters participating in the Davenport Shooting Association's annual shoot at Rock Island Arsenal's indoor range.

Rowe's bullet cut the bulls-eye closest to dead center and he won the medal.

Revised Charter Nixed In El Paso

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — El Paso voters defeated Saturday a revised city charter by an 8-1 margin. A total of 9,733 persons voted against the charter and 1,233 votes were cast for it.

A 25-man elected commission had worked 2½ years on the charter which was opposed by both El Paso daily newspapers and by Mayor Judson Williams even though it would have brought him a salary increase.

The vote marked the second time in 13 years that a revised charter was defeated in El Paso, Far West Texas city of about 350,000 persons.

Venezuela Quake Toll May Hit 300

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The governor of the Caracas area says the death toll in Venezuela's earthquake may reach 300 when workers clear away the rubble from tall apartment houses that crumbled in seconds.

Gov. Raul Valera made his prediction as workers using cranes and bulldozers removed 50 bodies from the rubble Sunday. An official called the earthquake which devastated western Venezuela Saturday night the worst of the century and the government said it injured 1,522 persons.

YANKS KILLED
The U.S. State Department had reports of two U.S. citizens killed in the quake—Emilio Cabrera, a naturalized U.S. citizen of Cuban birth who worked as a musician at the Macuto-Sheraton Hotel near Caracas, and a man identified only as Eduardo Parra Nes.

Many of the 15,000 U.S. citizens in Venezuela live in the quake zone, which extended from Caracas on the east to the Andes border with Colombia on the west.

SOBBING RELATIVES
Authorities in Colombia said 10 persons were killed and 100 injured in two quakes which hit Colombia Saturday, striking hardest in Santander and Boyaca states near the Venezuelan border and about 220 miles northeast of Bogota.

After the largest jolt at 8:05 p.m., walls kept crumbling throughout Saturday night. Thousands of persons camped out away from tall buildings. Many drove to empty lots and slept in their cars.

Caracas changed from a city of gay parties, celebrating the city's 400th birthday, to a chaotic picture of rubble, sweating rescue workers and sobbing relatives sitting on curbs across from fallen apartment houses.

Federal Old Age Assistance Drops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Better Social Security payments for the elderly have caused a marked decrease in the number of Americans over 65 receiving federal old age assistance grants, Undersecretary of Welfare Wilbur J. Cohen said Saturday.

Cohen said by next year less than 10 per cent of those over 65 will be on old age assistance. The figure today is 11 per cent, or 2.1 million oldersters. The figure in 1950 was 23 per cent, or 2.8 million.

"The decline . . . is one of the notable achievements of recent years," Cohen said. He attributed much of the decline to the increasing number of elderly people collecting Social Security benefits.

He based his remarks on a study by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare which began in May, 1965.

Diamond Head Sparks Fuss

HONOLULU (AP) — Two views of Diamond Head, as food for the soul or fodder for the developer, have made Hawaii's famous landmark the centerpiece of an increasingly bitter dispute in the islands.

On one side is the Diamond Head Improvement Association. It wants to dot the lower slope of the 761-foot extinct volcano with luxury, high-rise apartment buildings and hotels.

On the other side is the Save Diamond Head Association and assorted allies. They think nothing can be done to improve Diamond Head except to leave it exactly as it has been for 15,000 years.

Arguments over what should or should not be done with Diamond Head have flared intermittently for years, since the long line of tall hotels first began creeping along Waikiki Beach toward the mountain.

The dispute intensified with a vengeance last March when several landowners organized the Diamond Head Improvement Association. The group, headed by Honolulu financier Chinn Ho, envisions a $40-million hotel-apartment complex—a 1,600-unit development of at least five buildings—on 8.3 acres of Diamond Head.

George K. Houghtaling, former planning director of Honolulu and now spokesman for the improvement association, said the buildings would be 10 or 11 stories, but none would rise more than 100 feet above sea level. Diamond Head is the ideal place to build, he said, because it is a natural extension of Waikiki.

That, said opponents of the plan, is exactly what they're afraid of, that once high-rise construction is permitted, Diamond Head will soon look exactly like Waikiki, lined by a seemingly endless row of tall buildings.

Dear Abby Keep The 'Old Lady'

DEAR ABBY: My wife's mother raised her with the following advice about housework: "The less you know, the less you will have to do." When our kids were young, I was the one who bathed them and put them to bed every night. When they wanted a drink of water in the middle of the night, they never called for "mama." It was always "daddy." We've been married 41 years, and when I retired four years ago my wife announced that she was retiring, too. "Retiring from what?" I asked her. I soon found out. I have to get the breakfast for both of us, make the beds, run the errands, and do all the shopping and driving. I do most of the housework, mix the drinks, and give her service deluxe. My question, Dear Abby: Should I trade my old lady in on a newer model? Or should I head for the orient and take a closer look at the geisha girls?
OLD ED
DEAR ED: You may look at the geisha if you wish, but that's about as close as you will get. They aren't "domestics." They're accomplished, cultured young women who from early girlhood have been trained to entertain graciously with song, dance, and conversation. Period. And you aren't allowed to take them home either. So you had better take a closer look at your "old lady."

DEAR ABBY: My father, because of his job, was transferred to another city and some friends gave me a nice going away party with presents. My father's transfer was suddenly canceled. My question is, should I give the presents back or not? My mother has already told me she thinks I should give them back, but I want your opinion. Please put your answer in the paper because if a letter came to the house my mother might open it and I wouldn't want to hurt her feelings. Thank you.
PUZZLED TEEN
DEAR PUZZLED: The presents were intended as "going-
