

Wants To Go Back Teen Goes AWOL Twice To Fight Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Louis Melendez wasn't supposed to be in Vietnam — but the Army says chances he'll be punished for deserting basic training are slight indeed.

After all, how many soldiers go absent without leave to fight in Vietnam?

That's what the 18-year-old Melendez did — twice. The native of Bayamon, Puerto Rico, currently is at Walter Reed Military Hospital here, undergoing treatment for shrapnel wounds suffered during his second stint on the front lines.

He still wants to go back to Vietnam and "do something for my country," he told the Washington Post.

Deserts, Grabs Plane

Melendez joined the Army last November and was assigned to training at Ft. Benning, Ga. "But you know," he told the Post, "I was sitting there after three weeks of training and I had seven more weeks to go when I heard they wanted me to go to jump school, which was going to be another four weeks.

"That morning I read about how 250 Green Berets had been killed in battle and that depressed me very much."

He said he deserted camp and took a plane from Atlanta to New York. He reported to Ft. Hamilton in Brooklyn, and there told officers he was home on emergency leave from Vietnam. He also said he was due back the next day but had lost his orders.

Repeat Ruse Uncovered

Ft. Hamilton authorities, not wanting to see a soldier get in trouble by failing to report as scheduled, drafted what they thought were duplicate orders, he said. Melendez flew to San Francisco, where he boarded a Vietnam-bound plane.

Arriving in Vietnam, he showed his Ft. Hamilton-drafted orders and was assigned to the Fifth Special Forces.

He served and fought with the unit for three months before his past caught up and he was shipped back to Ft. Benning.

But he stayed only a week before going AWOL again. Using the same scheme, he said he not only made it back to Vietnam but was assigned again to the Fifth Special Forces. He fought with a unit in the Mekong Delta, where he was wounded May 15.

His repeat ruse was uncovered during his subsequent stay in a U.S. hospital in Japan.

The Post quoted Col. Richard Louis Traub, commander of the medical holding company at Walter Reed, as saying Melendez probably will be discharged soon.

Social Security Axed?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee is trimming President Johnson's Social Security proposals sharply to avoid piling a big payroll tax increase on top of an anticipated jump in regular income taxes.

Instead of a benefit increase for retirees of at least 15 per cent as Johnson proposed, the committee now all but finally has voted for 12½. The Associated Press learned. Instead of raising the current $44 minimum monthly payment to $70, the committee would hike it to $50.

Medicare Rollbacks

Another preliminary decision is to set aside entirely the administration proposal to extend hospital and other benefits of medicare, now confined to those 65 or older, to younger persons retired because of disability.

These rollbacks make possible a much more modest increase in the payroll taxes that finance basic Social Security and medicare. These taxes now are levied on a wage base of a maximum $6,000 per employee. Employers and employees each pay 4.4 per cent.

Johnson's proposal would have increased the base next year to $7,500, the first step in a staged rise to $10,500 by 1974.

Subject To Change

The committee instead has written in a single increase, effective Jan. 1, to 17,000. Members concede future Congresses may have to make more increases.

The maximum annual Social Security tax on an employee now pays is $390.40. Under the administration proposal, the maximum next year would be $343.20. Under the committee version, the maximum would be $334.40 — up $44 from this year — and for those earning no more than $6,000 there would be no increase.

Freight Rate Hike To Hit Pocketbook?

NEW YORK (AP) — Your pocketbook eventually may feel the impact of the $300-million annual freight rate increase won by the nation's railroads Tuesday.

Groceries, cars and paper products may inch upward in price when the new Interstate Commerce Commission rates become effective.

"The ultimate consumer will feel the squeeze of these increased costs," said one Wall Street analyst.

PAPER PINCH

The increase was the railroads' first general rate hike in seven years and came despite administration pleas that such raises be considered "in the light of the national interest in promoting price stability."

The American Paper Institute, representing the paper and wood pulp industry, estimated the new rates would cost its members about $22 million annually.

Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. said the rates would add about $1 million annually to its $50-million railroad freight bill. "Rarely are costs of this type absorbed," said an Olin spokesman.

THEY'LL SHOW UP

C. F. Fisher, transportation director for the Great Northern Paper Co., said "ultimately they (the increases) have to show up somewhere."

The housewife in the supermarket may feel the pinch also. The new rates "cannot help but have an effect on food prices in the long run," said George W. Koch, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, representing 300 food processors.

"Eventually, they will have to be passed on," said the American Institute of Food Distribution.

One Wall Streeter close to the industry guessed that when the prices of 1968 model cars are announced, some of the rate increase will be reflected.

In Detroit, the Big 3 automakers declined comment. But more than 50 per cent of General Motors products move by rail.

Texas Lands Paper Plant

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—International Paper Co. announced Wednesday that the location of its $97 million southern mill will be in Northeast Texas on the Sulphur River about 12 miles south of Texarkana below Lake Texarkana.

Company officials announced at a news conference that the location is contingent upon the company being able to obtain adequate fresh water and an effluent disposal permit.

The announcement said the mill when completed in early 1970 will have two paper machines with an annual capacity of approximately 231,000 tons of bleached board and bleached paper.

One machine will manufacture high quality coated bleached board while the second machine will produce coated labels and offset papers.

The plant is expected to employ some 730 persons and the annual payroll should exceed $6 million when it is in full operation. An additional 1,200 men will be required in the supporting forest management, timber harvesting and wood delivery operations.

International Paper Co. has important timberlands in the 3-state area of Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana that are under intensive long-range management. Wood required by the mill will be drawn from company land and purchased on the open market from tree farmers in the area.

International Paper operates 10 pulp and paper mills in the South with an 11th under construction. The mills are located at Georgetown, S.C.; Panama City, Fla.; Mobile, Ala.; Moss Point and Natchez, Miss.; Bastrop (2 mills) and Springhill, La.; and Camden and Pine Bluff, Ark.

The 11th mill is under construction near Vicksburg, Miss., and should begin operation late this year. The company's southern kraft division headquarters are in Mobile, Ala.

The production rate of the Texas mill will be 600 tons per day. The power generation will be 750,000 kilowatt hours per day, the water usage in the initial operation will be 32 million gallons daily, and the wood usage is 1,125 cords per day. Freight cars will be 24,000 incoming and outgoing per year. Steam usage is 742,000 pounds per hour.

Sniper Fire Rips Riot Curfew In Milwaukee

Jordanians Swap Shots Second Day

By The Associated Press

The cease-fire between Jordanian and Israeli troops was broken today with gunfire erupting across the Jordan River for the second straight day.

A Jordanian military communique in Amman said the two sides exchanged fire for one hour, broke off for five minutes, then resumed. The shooting was still going on this afternoon, it said.

ISRAELIS HIT?

It claimed the Israelis had suffered losses in men and vehicles, with no casualties on the Jordanian side.

An Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv said one Israeli was wounded.

The spokesman said the first exchange took place when Jordanian troops fired on Israeli positions with small arms.

The Israelis replied and the shooting lasted for about 55 minutes, he said. The second incident occurred at 3 p.m. when the Jordanians again opened fire, and received returning fire, the spokesman added.

MACHINE GUNS

The Jordanian communique said 12 Israeli vehicles rolled down to the river about two miles north of the Damia Bridge at 11:55 a.m. and fired on Jordanian positions in the hills east of the river. Jordanian forces returned the fire, and the exchange lasted an hour.

The Israelis used four armored troop carriers, four cars with heavy machine guns and four other armed cars, the communique said.

FIFTH VIOLATION

The communique said, "It was believed that many losses were sustained on the mechanized forces of the enemy."

It was the fifth violation of the cease-fire on the Jordan River since the six-day war in June.

Gunfire flared across the river in almost the same place Tuesday in two exchanges lasting 30 minutes, but no casualties were reported.

At Khartoum, capital of Sudan Arab foreign ministers were bogged down in efforts to prepare the way for a summit meeting to deal with what they call "Israeli aggression."

FRANK STUDY

Tight-lipped and grim, delegates filed out of the old republican palace after a heated three hours of discussions.

Premier Sayed Mahgoub of Sudan, who is conference chairman, told reporters: "We began to study the agenda and it was a deep and frank study. The discussion concerns concerted efforts to eliminate the results of Israeli aggression."

Delegates were privately pessimistic that the foreign ministers could create an atmosphere in which a summit conference could meet without aggravating Arab feuds, let alone achieve worthwhile results.

Quakers Offer Viet Solution

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The Quakers today offered a formula for a cease-fire in Vietnam and asked for a reconvening of the Geneva Conference to work out a peace settlement.

To open the way for negotiations, they urged that the United States, North Vietnam and South Vietnam halt all military operations on a "cease-fire-unless-fired-upon basis."

The production rate of the Texas mill will be 600 tons per day. The power generation will be 750,000 kilowatt hours per day, the water usage in the initial operation will be 32 million gallons daily, and the wood usage is 1,125 cords per day. Freight cars will be 24,000 incoming and outgoing per year. Steam usage is 742,000 pounds per hour.

The Quaker peace proposal said the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) in South Vietnam should be represented at a reconvening of the Geneva Conference during the cease-fire. The statement also said any peace settlement should provide for "national independence and neutralization of Vietnam."

Biblical River Jordan Is Smugglers' Stream

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The Biblical River Jordan has become a smugglers' stream for Arab people and produce moving clandestinely in and out of Israeli-occupied territory.

The crossings begin after nightfall when the searing heat of the Jordan Valley subsides and the west bank of the river is curfewed by Israeli army patrols.

PAY DRIVERS

Shopkeepers in Amman report that Arab truck drivers pay Israeli soldiers on the west bank 10 dinars—$28—per truck to look the other way while they drive loads of fruit and vegetables across shallow fords in the river for the market in Amman. They pay again when they cross back into occupied territory for another load.

Arab refugees who fled from their homes on the west bank and are now crowded into desert camps around Amman report that many of their friends are crossing back to their homes by night. They pay Arab Palestinians five dinars—$14—per refuge to show them the river crossings and escort them past Israeli patrols.

JORDANIANS DIE

The slow-flowing green waters of the Jordan are only five yards wide in places. The river is easy to cross and bushes or orchards lining the banks in places provide good cover.

At least five Jordanians have been killed by Israeli troops in the secret nighttime crossings, Jordanian security officials report.

There is no way of estimating the number of trucks or people slipping across the river, but one Western official connected with the refugee camps said: "The traffic seems to be brisk and the Israeli soldiers must be making a lot of money."

"Hundreds of us are going back every night," said one refugee on the river bank. But some officials estimate only a few dozen cross each night.

Seven weeks after the end of the war, refugees are still fleeing the occupied zone with Israeli permission, crossing in daylight over the Allenby bridge and the northern bridges at Damia.

TENT CITIES

Latest statistics show 64,500 refugees packed into camps around Amman, 45,000 of them in tent cities run by the United Nations Relief and Works Agency. The total number of refugees who fled to Jordan is estimated at 200,000.

Israel has announced it will let refugees return home starting Aug. 10. But the repatriation is deadlocked by Jordan's refusal to use repatriation forms headed "State of Israel" and Israel's refusal to use Red Cross forms.

Police Chief Claims Fiercy Talk 'Sole Reason' For Riot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police Chief Bryce Kinnamon of Cambridge, Md., said today a fiery speech by Negro militant H. Rap Brown "was the sole reason" for a race riot that seared his town on July 24.

"Not only did his speech cause it, but he led these people," Kinnamon told the Senate Judiciary Committee as Congress embarked on its first inquiry into the recent waves of racial violence.

For that committee, considering a bill that would make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite riot, Kinnamon played a tape recording of a Brown speech which he said preceded the riot.

"EXPLODE, MAN!" "It's time for Cambridge to explode, man," the voice in the recorded speech shouted.

In words muffled by cheers, the voice said Cambridge—and America—should be burned down.

"Take you violence to the hunk," the speech went on. "How can you steal from a thief? He done stole everything from us. He looted us from Africa."

Brown has been accused under Maryland law of inciting a riot and being an accessory to arson in the burning of a Cambridge elementary school. Arrested in Virginia, he is free on bond pending extradition proceedings.

He is the chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

KILL INSTRUCTIONS

"Following his speech," Kinnamon said, "H. Rap Brown led a group of people to the main district of Cambridge, that's the business district."

"He instructed these people to shoot any patrolman, white or colored, who tried to stop them," the police chief said.

Kinnamon said his 21-man police force used live ammunition to turn the crowd back from the business district. He said the crowd returned to the Negro section of town for a night of shooting, looting and arson.

The police chief said about 300 people heard the speech by Brown, and about 150 of them marched on the business district.

GUNS BLOSSOM

"The street was full of guns seconds after the speech," Kinnamon testified. "It was a well-organized and well-planned affair."

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., expected to head the Senate's major inquiry into city race riots, asked whether there would have been trouble in Cambridge without Brown.

"I am confident that his speech was the sole reason for our riot," Kinnamon said. Earlier, Sen. Edward M. Kenedy of Massachusetts said the pending anti-riot bill "may constitute a fraud." He said it might present an appearance of meaningful congressional action when there has been none.

Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan said the bill and 97 more would not have prevented the violence that seared Detroit.

And Mississippi Sen. James O. Eastland said the Senate Judiciary Committee is "not seeking and we will not be seeking to find a scapegoat" in its hearings on city violence.

INITIAL INQUIRY

So began the initial congressional inquiry into racial riots which have swept American cities, a hearing on legislation making it a federal crime to cross state lines with intent to incite riot.

Five police officials from racially troubled cities were the initial witnesses. But first, Kennedy, Hart and Eastland, all Democrats, discussed the measures in a crowded hearing room.

"It is unbelievable but true that in these days of social madness the response of the Congress is a bill whose only purpose is to provide that a person who incites a riot will be apprehended if he crosses a state line," Kennedy said.

TRUE CAUSES

Young Negroes In Providence Battle Police

By The Associated Press

Sniper fire ripped the riot-controlling curfew in Milwaukee, Wis., early today while in Providence, R.I., police engaged roving bands of young Negroes in running gunbattles.

The violence that struck again in those two cities stood out in the general calm that prevailed over most of the nation's cities. Washington was quiet after Tuesday's disturbances.

And the last of 5,000 federal troops sent into Detroit to quell the racial violence there were withdrawn today. Cyrus R. Vance, presidential assistant in charge of the troops, said law and order had been restored.

GUARD ALERT

In Providence the sniping prompted the call for 100 state police officers and a brief alert of the National Guard. The situation in the predominantly Negro South Providence section was brought under control about 2 a.m.

Police said 57 persons—most of them white youths who tried to enter the area of the disturbance—were picked up. Two young Negroes were shot, one seriously.

In Milwaukee sporadic sniper fire swept across a Negro neighborhood for about three hours before National Guardsmen and police were able to control the shooting.

DEBATE HEATS UP

"This is the one thing that damn curfew can't stop," hissed one harassed guardsman as he crouched behind a wall trying to locate a hidden sniper. There were no reports of serious injury.

In Washington Tuesday, as the overnight disturbance cooled down the debate over the cause and cure of rioting heated up.

President Johnson's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders heard FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover advise "there is no intelligence on which to base a conclusion of conspiracy" behind the recent disorders.

BY COMMIES

But Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., saw Communists as the catalysts in city rioting and Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., asserted the inquiries will show "that at least some of the leaders of these riots are associated with and directed by the Communists."

Two Michigan lawmakers, meantime, warned that passage of an anti-riot bill should not be expected to avert riots.

"If anybody thinks that Detroit wouldn't have happened if we had had an anti-riot bill, he just landed from the moon," said Democratic Sen. Philip A. Hart.

SOME VALUE

His Republican colleague, Sen. Robert F. Griffin, agreed but said he would vote for the measure because "it may prove of some value."

Senate Judiciary Committee hearings begin today on the House-passed bill which would make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite riot.

In other overnight action police put down a rock-throwing, firebombing disturbance in the predominantly Negro Long Island community of Wyandanch, N.Y. Police said about 100 teen-agers were involved.

Jurors To Probe Fire In Sherman

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — A county grand jury at Sherman has been called into session for Aug. 14 to probe a July fire in which a mother and four of her children perished.

An assistant county attorney, Clifford Powell, told a Sherman news conference Wednesday that the husband of the woman who died, John W. Smith, will testify if he wishes.

Smith took a polygraph test Tuesday in Dallas concerning the July 22 fire. The results will be presented to the grand jury.

A motorist said he found Smith outside the blazing house and that the father said no one was in the home.

Brown Claims Texas Cities 'Powder Kegs'

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Texas AFL-CIO convention opened today with a warning that "our urban cities are powder kegs that could explode, such as Watts, Newark, Detroit and Houston."

In the president's report, H.S. "Hank" Brown told delegates that labor faces the beginning of a new era in Texas, but one that "abounds with numerous problems that will require vision and dedication."

POVERTY CHAMP

"Despite some progress, Texas is still number one in poverty in the nation," he said.

"While 75 per cent of our population is enjoying the 'good life,' the other 25 per cent live in misery, sickness and despair — without much hope."

Asserting that Texas cities are potential powder kegs, Brown declared: "The war on poverty is only a smirch. While many of our state, county and city leaders procrastinate, the fuse grows shorter."

'HAVE-NOTS'

He suggested that the trade union movement extend its hand to the "have-nots," contending that if labor does not, no one else will.

"Discrimination, poor housing, improper education, air and water pollution, unsound insurance law, chaotic labor-management laws . . . inadequate workmen's and unemployment compensation are still the rule instead of the exception," he said.

"We must be involved in and declare an all-out assault on poverty, both urban and rural."

"Texas," he declared, "is number one in poverty in the nation primarily because it is still open shop country."

WIRTZ BOOKED

"Labor can end the exploitation of more than three million workers in Texas," he added, "by building bridges to the unorganized — the have-nots of our society."

More than 1,000 delegates and VIP guests were expected to attend the three-day convention, highlighted with appearances by Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz and Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Wirtz speaks Thursday and Humphrey plans to address the concluding business session Friday.

With the exception of Gov. John Connally, most of the top ranking state officials will attend the biennial labor conference. Connally is on an African safari.

Last Of 5,000 Troops Pullout

DETROIT (AP) — The last of the 5,000 federal troops sent to Detroit to quell racial violence were withdrawn today as a presidential envoy declared that law and order has been restored.

Cyrus Vance, President Johnson's personal representative in charge of the military operation, announced at a news conference that responsibility for maintaining control would be returned to state authorities.

With the pullout of the federal troops, Vance said, the 46th Division of the Michigan National Guard and the last contingent of the Michigan Air National Guard will be defederalized.

STATE CONTROL

As of noon (EDT), he said, guardsmen would be returned to state control.

"With the departure of the last regular Army units, Gen. (John) Throckmorton and I, together with our staffs, also will leave," Vance said.

Lt. Gen. Throckmorton, former commander of the 18th Airborne Corps at Ft. Bragg, N.C., has just been named commander of the 3rd Army, with 250,000 military and 25,000 civilian personnel in the Southeast.

Three battalions of paratroopers from the 82nd Airborne Division, which were shifted Tuesday from assembly areas in the city to Selfridge Air Force Base, are being airlifted to their home base at Ft. Bragg.

ORDERLY DEPARTURE
Departure of the troops, said Vance, ends "an orderly withdrawal, developed in coordination with the governor and the mayor."

Vance said it was too early for him to make any recommendations growing out of his Detroit experiences, but said he would report later to the President and his special commission investigating civil disorders.

LITTLE ACTION

To newsmen, Vance said: "As you know, we arrived here on Monday, July 24, to assist and support the city and state in restoring law and order. We believe this mission has been accomplished efficiently and effectively."

Some 4,700 crack regular troops were airlifted into Detroit at the request of Gov. George Romney and Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

The federal troops took up positions on the city's East Side, while the West Side was patrolled by the federalized National Guardsmen, backed up by tanks and armored personnel carriers.

Most of the federal troops saw little action during the days and nights of sniping, arson and looting. One paratrooper shot and killed a suspected looter who got in the line of fire when the soldier was aiming at a fleeing man with a gun.

With the withdrawal of the federal troops, responsibility for security rested with about 7,800 Guardsmen and the 4,400-man Detroit police force, augmented by State Police.

Detroit policemen went back to eight-hour shifts Tuesday for the first time since the riot broke out July 23.

'NEW DETROIT'

Formation of a 27-member citizens resources committee dubbed "New Detroit" to stimulate and coordinate rebuilding of the sections ravaged by more than 2,000 fires was announced Tuesday.

The committee is made up of top auto company officials and labor leaders. Detroit department store president Joseph L. Hudson was named committee chairman.

Defends

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark speaks during a press conference yesterday in Washington at which he stepped into the controversy between President Johnson and Michigan Gov. Romney. Rodeo Entries Deadline Set Deadline for entries in the Howard County Junior Rodeo is 3 p.m. Monday.

So far, 10 entries have been received—seven of which are from out-of-town riders. Only three Howard County boys and girls have listed their names. A heavy invasion of riders is expected starting this weekend.

The rodeo will be at the Rodeo Bowl on Aug. 10, 11, and 12. Plans are being made for a record number of riders to enter.

Graham Film Showing Set

Preliminary film showings for the Encounter Crusade, sponsored here next week by 20 local Baptist churches, will begin at Webb AFB Thursday.

The Billy Graham film, "The Restless Ones," will be screened free in the base chapel at 9 p.m. This is the same picture that was shown commercially to capacity audiences nationwide at $1 per person. The Graham organization made it available to the local crusade for free screenings.

The film will be repeated at 5 p.m. Friday in the base service club and again at 9 p.m. Saturday.

Dr. O. Byron Richardson, evangelist, will arrive in the city Friday evening. The crusade will begin Sunday with a week of services in the City Park amphitheatre.

Pageant Slated For Weekend

LINCOLN, N.M.—Lincoln will be thronged with visitors this weekend for the annual pageant, "The Last Escape of Billy the Kid."

The pageant will be staged on the permanent grounds adjacent to the old Lincoln County Courthouse, where the actual escape of the young desperado occurred nearly 100 years ago.

The pageant will be enacted three times—at 8:30 p.m. Saturday and at 3 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

Numerous other events in connection with the yearly celebration are planned. The pageant is enacted with a cast of local residents and is directed by Mrs. John Thomas. John Thomas plays "The Kid" in the pageant.

There will also be an art show (sidewalk), a parade, a free movie, and other events. A special exhibit will be on display in the old courthouse of Lincoln artist Walter R. Henn's sketches of his "A Walking Tour of Old Lincoln."

German Student Pilot Dies As Jet Explodes

ARCHER CITY (AP)—A student pilot from Germany was killed as his Air Force jet trainer exploded in flight late Tuesday night.

The supersonic T38 plane crashed in a ball of fire visible for miles, hitting seven miles south of Archer City in Northwest Texas. It took off less than five minutes earlier from Sheppard Air Force Base at Wichita Falls.

NAME WITHHELD

Sheppard authorities withheld the name of the pilot pending word from the German embassy in Washington that his family had been notified.

He was among 185 Germans being trained at the Wichita Falls base in a year-old program and was attached to the 3630th Flying Training Wing.

Witnesses told about seeing the plane blow up from points as far as Graham, 45 miles south of here.

Mike Carpenter of Wichita Falls was locking his cabin at Lake Kickapoo, about 15 miles west of Archer City, when the craft exploded.

SHAKES HOUSE

"The fireball kept getting bigger and bigger, then seemed to die down, then flared up once more," Carpenter related. "The sound of the explosion arrived about 45 seconds later while I was describing the fireball to my dad."

Ed Neal, caretaker at the lake, said the blast shook his house.

Wreckage of the plane was scattered widely over an area about two miles off Texas 79. It touched off a big range grass fire.

A Sheppard spokesman said the student pilot was on a training flight. It was the first serious accident since instruction of the Germans began here.

Bus Crash Claims Its Third Victim

HEFLIN, Ala. (AP)—A bus wreck near here claimed its third victim today, the highway patrol reported, with the death of Inez Elizabeth Shirley, 37, of Friona, Tex., in Cleburne County hospital.

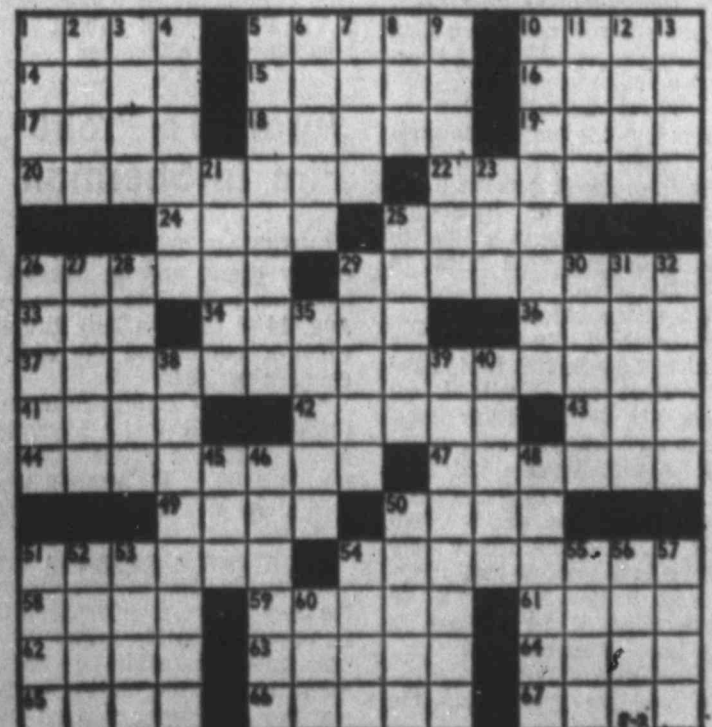

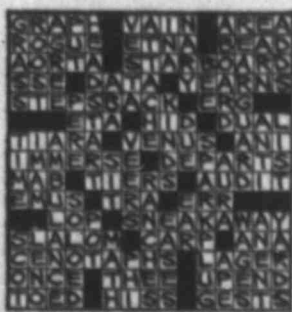

She was one of 36 passengers injured when a Greyhound bus en route from Atlanta to Birmingham last Friday ricocheted off a bridge into a creek on US 78 about five miles east of Hefflin. An automobile had side-swiped the bus, sending it out of control, the patrol said.

The bus driver, Melvin Harper, 49, of Birmingham, and another passenger, Georgia Mansell, 52, of Lawton, Okla., were killed outright.

Texas Interstate Highway System Up To 1,615 Miles

AUSTIN — Eighty-seven new miles of Interstate highways were completed to full freeway standards during the second quarter of 1967, the Texas Highway Department reports.

On July 1, a total of 1,615 miles was completed to full Interstate standards. This compares with 1,528 miles under rubber on April 1 of this year.

At midyear, three-fourths of the 3,028-mile Interstate network in the state was completed to full Interstate standards, under construction or fully adequate to accommodate present traffic volumes.

Specifically, the status of the Interstate highway system in Texas on July 1 was:

—Completed to full Interstate standards, 1,615 miles.

—Under construction to full Interstate standards, 378 miles.

—Adequate for present traffic, 217 miles.

—Under construction in stages, 54 miles.

—Construction and right of way acquisition programmed, 163 miles.

—Right of way acquisition only programmed, 597 miles.

When the national 41-thousand-mile Interstate network is finished in the early 1970s, Texas will have more miles of Interstate than any other state.

Route-by-route, here is how each of Texas' 14 Interstate highways shaped up on July 1:

IH 10 — (Orange - Houston - San Antonio - El Paso) — Total length, 878 miles; completed to full IH standards, 334 miles; under construction, 80 miles; adequate for present traffic, 44 miles; under stage construction, 22 miles.

IH 20 — (Shreveport, La. - Dallas - Fort Worth - to a junction with IH 10 west of Pecos) — Total length, 630 miles; completed to full IH standards, 419 miles; under construction 57 miles; adequate for present traffic, 46 miles; under stage construction, 23 miles.

IH 30 — (Texarkana - Dallas) — Total length, 170 miles; completed to full IH standards, 121 miles; under construction, 11 miles; adequate for present traffic, 6 miles; no stage construction.

IH 35 and 35E — (Laredo - Gainesville, via Dallas) — Total length, 505 miles; completed to full IH standards, 372 miles; under construction, 52 miles; adequate for present traffic, 19 miles; no stage construction.

IH 35W — (Western leg of IH 35 via Hillsboro-Fort Worth-Denton) — Total length, 85 miles; complete to full IH standards, 56 miles; under construction, 29 miles; adequate for present traffic, 8 miles; no stage construction.

IH 37 — (Corpus Christi - San Antonio) — Total length, 143 miles; completed to full IH standards, 6 miles; under construction, 26 miles; adequate for present traffic, 2 miles; under stage construction, 5 miles.

IH 40 — (Across the Panhandle via Amarillo) — Total length

177 miles; completed to full IH standards, 43 miles; under construction, 45 miles; adequate for present traffic, 74 miles, no stage construction.

IH 45 — (Galveston - Houston - Dallas) — Total length, 285 miles; completed to IH standards, 181 miles; under construction, 49 miles; adequate for present traffic, 15 miles; no stage construction.

IH 110 — (Recently designated connection from the International boundary to Interstate 10 in El Paso) — Total length, 31 of a mile. Programmed for right of way acquisition only.

IH 345 — (A spur route paralleling a short section of Central Expressway in Dallas) — Total length, 1.3 miles. Programmed for right of way acquisition only.

IH 410 — (A circumferential route around San Antonio) — Total length, 39.2 miles; completed to IH standard, 38.8 miles; under construction, 4 of a mile.

IH 610 — (A circumferential route around Houston) — Total length, 38 miles; completed to IH standards, 14 miles; under construction, 13 miles; adequate for present traffic, 3 miles; under stage construction, 3 miles.

IH 635 — (A circumferential route around Dallas) — Total length, 40 miles; completed to IH standards, 3 miles; under construction, 26 miles, no stage construction.

IH 820 — (A circumferential route around Fort Worth) — Total length, 36 miles; complete to IH standards, 28 miles. Remaining mileage programmed for right of way acquisition.

Boosters To Tour On Behalf Of Jr. Rodeo

A booster caravan to advertise the Howard County 4-H Club Junior Rodeo will leave Big Spring at 9 a.m. Saturday on a trip which will take the travelers to six West Texas towns. The rodeo will be Aug. 10, 11 and 12.

Paul Gross, county farm agent, said the caravan forms at the College Park Shopping Center at 9 a.m. Aug. 5.

First stop will be Coahoma at 9:15 a.m. At 10:15 a.m. the visitors are to be at Colorado City and at 11:30 a.m., the tourists reach Snyder.

All tourists are urged to bring their own sack lunches and lunch will be eaten at the Snyder City Park. The caravan is taking a supply of cold drinks with it and these can be purchased at the Snyder park.

After the dinner stop, the tourists take off for Lamesa, scheduled to reach there at 2:15 p.m. Andrews will be visited at 3:45 p.m. and Stanton at 5:20 p.m. The tour is due to end in Big Spring at 6 p.m.

Gross said that a rodeo clown is to accompany the group. He asked all of the tourists to bring "noise makers."

A loudspeaker rig is also provided to help rally the rodeo in the invasion of the several communities.

Dividend Paid By Pioneer Gas

AMARILLO — The board of directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, at a meeting held Monday, declared a quarterly dividend of 18 cents per share on the outstanding common stock, payable Sept. 1, to stockholders of record on Aug. 18.

C. I. Wall, president, stated that the consolidated net income for the first six months of 1967 amounted to $4,838,638 or 67 cents per share on 7,173,028 shares outstanding on June 30, 1967. These earnings compare with $4,177,632 for the first six months of 1966, or 58 cents per share on the same number of shares outstanding on June 30, 1966.

Dear Abby

Don't Needle The Giver

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative (my husband's actually) who has never really liked me, but she puts on a hypocritical show of friendliness whenever we meet, which is often, as we are a clannish family. She recently returned from Europe, bringing me a "gift." A set of 12 needlepoint canvases for my dining room chairs. (Seats and backs, totaling 24 pieces!) I mentioned some time ago that I was looking for some.

She said she had hunted all over Europe trying to find exactly what she thought would be perfect for my dining room. Abby, they are an absolute horror! I lied my thanks, saying they were "lovely," but I cannot bear the thought of working them and having to live with them.

I love to do needlepoint, but I don't want these monstrosities in my dining room. How can I get out of making them now?

STUCK IN QUEBEC
DEAR STUCK: Put the canvases away for a while. At a later date, if you find something more to your liking, go ahead and work them. After they are finished she may not even notice they aren't hers. If she does, explain that you found something you liked better. (True.) No point in needing her.

DEAR ABBY: My husband died four years ago. He was a heavy drinker and habitual gambler, and our children knew their father for what he was. I worked all my married years to give our children the necessities. (I had six—all married now.)

A year ago I married a good man who neither drinks nor gambles. He was divorced and walked out leaving his wife everything, so it was only common sense that he move into my home, which is completely furnished.

One of my daughters is making me miserable. She resents my new husband. She never got along with her father when he was living, but now she says she can't stand to see another man living in her father's house, sleeping in her father's bed, and sitting in her father's chair.

Abby, my new husband treats me better than I've ever been treated in my life, and I think should go into debt to re-furnish the house so my daughter won't keep making these nasty remarks? I can't take it anymore. What should I do?

MRS. A.
DEAR MRS. A.: Tell your daughter that if she can't stand to see another man using the same furniture formerly used by her father, she should spare herself the agony and stay away.

DEAR ABBY: Today is our 38th wedding anniversary. We have two married children and one still at home. I (the Mrs.) have worked most of my married life. Ever since I quit my job six years ago my husband has insisted that I prepare a lunch for him at home. He has only an hour for lunch, and there are plenty of good restaurants only a block away from where he works.

Thank God, money is no problem.

I have always hated to make these lunches, but I have never complained. Would I strike you as being a selfish or lazy wife if I were to tell my husband he should buy his lunch out?

THE MRS.
DEAR MRS.: Since you a "hate" the lunch-making routine, and it wouldn't be a hardship for your husband to buy his lunch, go ahead and tell him what's on your mind. If he still insists, then he's selfish.

Bold Texas Theft Ring Is Smashed

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — A bold theft ring that operated in daylight hours, taking color television sets, radios, guns and stereo sets in the Fort Worth and Denison areas has been broken up, police said here Tuesday.

Grayson County Sheriff Woody Blanton said he had been working on the case since April.

Blanton said Sidney Edward Nation, 26, of Denison was charged with 15 cases of burglary and theft. Bond was set at $2,500 on each case. John Thomas Johnson, 18, of Fort Worth was charged with two counts of burglary and theft and held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

The merchandise was in a series of burglaries totaled about $8,000, Blanton said.

Slashed Body Is Identified

HOUSTON (AP) — Peace officers identified a weighted body fished from West Bay near Galveston as that of an unemployed Houston insurance salesman today.

An autopsy performed by the county medical examiner in Houston indicated meanwhile that he drowned, probably early Sunday.

An investigator for the Brazoria County Sheriff, W. F. McCurry, said the dead man was Clifford Fitzwilliams, 38, of Houston.

The body, handcuffed to a boat anchor, was found Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. James Williams of Houston, who were on an outing near San Luis Pass.

Deputy Sheriff Eddie Burke of Galveston said the dead man's throat had been slashed and there were holes resembling bullet wounds in the head, hands and legs.

McCurry said Fitzwilliams' wife Rebecca told officers she left him sitting on their porch about 11:30 p.m. Saturday and returned shortly to find he had disappeared. She said someone had kicked a hole in her screen door and there were signs of a struggle.

Science And You

Research In The Forest

—By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

In a day when the word "research" conjures up visions of spaceflight, computers, fancy medical devices and similar things, it's rather refreshing to realize that even the forest can be a subject of scientific research.

Some years ago, a 10-year plan for forestry research was drawn up. The progress made thus far in implementing the plan has been examined recently by the advisory committee on forestry research of the Department of Agriculture.

What it finds is not altogether encouraging. The rate of implementation is only one-quarter of what was conceived when the plan was drawn up. The main reason the forestry research committee is slightly upset is because the prospects are so exciting.

Take balloon logging as just one example. There are many areas of rich woodland where adequate roads do not exist or are not easily built, where rivers are not handy; where, in short, transportation of logs is prohibitively expensive and difficult.

One possibility is to use balloons to carry the logs down steep hills or out of other difficult terrain. Balloons, in some ways, are a very underdeveloped form of transportation. As basic research tools in physics, they have been often used to haul cosmic ray research equipment up to altitudes of 100,000 feet or more. And, in other forms, they are occasionally used to support radio antennas.

Of course, they were heavily employed in wartime as barrage balloons.

Now, under the prodding of engineers and physicists, and because of the availability of new materials out of which to build them, it has become clear that balloons can be used to carry tremendous loads at low altitudes.

It thus appears feasible, at least in principle, to hang several tons of logs on the bottom of a balloon and float them out of a rugged forest area to a convenient river, railroad or roadway. The forestry research people would like to see this method explored.

They'd also like to see research money going into methods of solving the seemingly simple problem of separating bark from woodchips. If this could be done with greater efficiency, and if the method could be coupled with techniques for de-barking small logs and tree tops and branches, the effectiveness with which civilization uses wood would go up significantly. Forest researchers would also like to have money to figure out new ways of gluing small pieces of wood into lumber, panels and beams.

In addition, research money is needed for such matters as studying wood preservation and for making wood more fire-resistant.

These areas of research are particularly important to the wood industry because of the shrinking markets and competition it faces for such products as poles, pilings, railroad ties and general construction materials. Better methods of preserving wood and better methods of making wood fire resistant would give this economically important material an increased chance of meeting the competition.

Subsidy For Junk Mail

The House post office subcommittee handling President Johnson's unavoidable request for mail rate increases is mulling the administration bill. It has made two revisions, both wrong, that obviously reflect more consideration for the lobbyists than for the individual taxpayer, mail user, and home-owner deluged with bothersome and unwanted "junk mail."

The subcommittee has voted (1) to increase first-class mail rates more than the President requested, and (2) to increase bulk third-class mail rates less than the President requested. It would also spread the "junk mail" rate increase over three years. It is doing no such favor for single piece third-class mail users, such as senders of Christmas cards, who also would be hit harder than the administration requested.

Even the increased rate structure requested by the President would leave the Post Office Department running with a deficit larger than the "public services" costs with which taxpayers properly may be charged. So what the subcommittee's changes amount to is greater subsidization than now of "junk mail," a subsidy that will be paid both by taxpayers and those who use the mail for its prime purpose, communication. That is public subsidization of direct-mail private-enterprise advertising of a type that most people consider a nuisance.

The full House Post Office Committee is expected to reverse its subcommittee's twofold error. And if it doesn't, there will be a House floor fight to boost the "junk mail" charge even higher than the administration proposed, which should be done. Then there is the Senate and a joint conference committee after that to save the day. Hopefully the House subcommittee's lobby subservice will be corrected before final passage of the postal rates bill.

Seeking Help In Time Of Strife

President Johnson last week asked the people of the nation to join in prayer for a reconciliation of differences among the peoples of our country and for a resolving of strife. State and local officials followed up the request.

Undoubtedly, countless thousands responded to this plea, and ministers generally led their groups in special prayer. All of these surely must be worthy of repeating, but not all become available.

As one example of how Christian people can go to their God in time of trouble, The Herald reprints here a prayer offered Sunday by the Rev. Robert F. Polk at the First Baptist Church, a prayer which was broadcast by radio.

It might be used by any individual so inclined, on any day, as the country still is involved in turmoil, and must have guidance in stilling the strife.

The prayer:
"Our Heavenly Father, at this time when our nation is torn by riots, strife, bloodshed, lawlessness, and dissension, we turn to Thee praying that Thou wilt assist the people of these United States to return to peacefulness, order, and obedience to the law. We approach Thee in a spirit of humility, acknowledging that we have sinned against Thy holy will. Save us, O Lord, from hatred, hypocrisy, prejudice in our attitude toward the man of another color. Let not position, power, pride, or selfishness betray any citizen into unbrotherliness toward another citizen. Neither let us ignore the great basic fact of diversity in unity, which Thou hast written all over the universe.

"Help us treat our fellow citizens with justice, acknowledging each other's rights, and recognizing the many differences, while at the same time having regard for the welfare of the whole human family.

"Bless, we pray, the President of the United States and all national and local governmental officials who serve the people and enforce the law. Give to them Thy Divine Guidance.

"Then, O Lord, help us walk worthy of the calling which is ours as Thy children. In our dealings with others, may we be gentle, patient, and charitable, keeping the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace.

"Grant us that grace of heart and repose of mind, which will enable us to contribute our share toward a just and happy solution of the great social, economic, and race problems that so vex our nation and the world."

Brokers Push Tax-Exempt Bonds

NEW YORK (AP) — Some brokers and investment advisers now are recommending tax-exempt municipal bonds as a way to offset partially the personal effects of an income tax increase.

Since no federal income tax is paid on such bonds, they become relatively more valuable as taxes go higher. As taxes eat into almost all other investment profits, tax-exempts remain unscathed.

A TAX-EXEMPT bond that returns 5 per cent interest, for example, is now equal to a taxable return of 6, 7, 8 per cent or even much more, depending on the owner's tax bracket.

The tax-exempt feature is meant to make such bonds attractive to investors, the theory being that the easier it is for municipalities to raise money for sewers, schools and reservoirs, the greater will be the public good.

THESE ARE drawbacks to such

Billy Graham

In your sermons on the radio I think you are very hard on sinners. Why don't you stress the word love as you do repent and confess?

R.L. I see no place in the Bible, in either the Old Testament or the New, where God patting the sinner on the back, and said, "There, there, now; that's all right; you're a fine fellow; all is forgotten." If you think God ever said that, you are ignorant of the Bible.

The first sermon that Jesus preached He said: "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." Repentance, not self-affirmation, is the door to the kingdom of God. But, I don't see that this rules out the love of God. He loved us so much that He sent heaven's most precious person, His Son, to redeem us. Before we can be forgiven we must repent. Without repentance forgiveness would be impossible. Since God has done so much for you, you certainly wouldn't want Him to take you into His kingdom without you so much as bowing your heart and head. It's a small thing to do for eternal life. "Straight is the gate and narrow the way that leads to life and few there be that find it." Even though the way is so simple, many miss it, because it requires confession, repentance and humility of heart.

purchases, as there are with any investments, but there is no denying that such yields, or interest payments, are higher than almost any other type of investment.

One of the big questions in deciding whether to purchase these bonds is the uncertainty about the administration's tax plans.

REGARDLESS of what tax action is taken or if any tax action at all is taken, the returns on many bonds, taxable or tax-exempt, are now near historic highs.

The big drawbacks for the small investor are these: Bonds generally are purchased in multiples of $1,000, a sizable sum to many people; the tax exemption benefits the big investor the most.

FOR EXAMPLE, an individual in the 22 per cent income tax bracket, which means a taxable income of $4,000 to $6,000, would receive a return equivalent of 7.05 per cent on his purchase of a tax-exempt, 5.50 per cent bond.

In the 48 per cent bracket, which includes individuals with taxable incomes of $20,000 to $22,000, that same 5.50 per cent bond would provide a return equivalent to 10.58 per cent.

IN OTHER WORDS, if there was no such thing as a tax-exempt bond, an investor would have to search out a taxable investment that earned him 10.58 per cent interest. He would search, but he wouldn't find it.

But for the individual with excess funds — and admittedly there are few of this breed — tax-exempt bonds do provide a secure and quite profitable investment.

Why Didn't Romney Call LBJ?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney's complaint this week—"I think the President of the United States played politics in a period of tragedy and riot"—was not the first time he had accused President Johnson of playing politics with a critical situation.

Last February Romney, who is expected to try for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968, found a lot of fault with the way Johnson was handling the Vietnam war. He said some of the administration's decisions were made on a basis of political expediency.

BUT WHEN reporters asked if he would cite an example, he replied: "No, I will not." A reporter asked: "Why?" And Romney replied: "Because I choose not to."

In the case of the Detroit riots last week Romney made a major point of the time it took to get the Johnson administration to put U.S. troops into the riot area after Romney asked for them.

He said about 24 hours elapsed between the time he first called Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark about his problem and the time the troops reached the riot zone. In effect, he said some lives might have been saved if the troops had arrived sooner.

THE ADMINISTRATION position is that Romney consumed a lot of time trying to make up his mind to admit the situation was out of control and to say so in the kind of legal language the administration thought necessary before the troops could be sent.

Asked by a newsman when he first began to feel politics were getting involved, Romney said later: "When the attorney general (the only high Washington official whom Romney telephoned) began to insist on certification (one of the legal words involved) that we had an insurrection (another legal word) that was out of control and he didn't seem particularly impressed with the fact we needed troops to keep the situation from getting out of control."

ONE OF THE mysteries of this whole episode is why Romney never called Johnson personally if he felt Clark was failing to respond quickly enough.

But it was ironic the Michigan governor had to ask the federal government to step in and bail him out at the worst moment of his three terms in office.

Romney's speeches on national political problems so far have been usually vague, platitudinous, moralistic or limited in range but he has made a lot of them as he traveled the country to sound out his chances for 1968.

One of his favorite themes is that the state should exhibit more self-reliance less dependence on the federal government.

He has pictured Washington as forever trying to do what he thinks the states should be doing for themselves.

'Life Is Supposed To Be Fun'

NEW YORK (AP) — "Watching a baseball game to me is like going to church," said Carl Reiner. "There is time to think and ruminate."

"I'd rather have been a baseball player than anything."

Young Carl, alas, had a big falling as a player. He could throw a fast ball, a slow ball, a curve or a fadeaway. The one thing he couldn't throw across the plate was a strike.

SO, AFTER FINISHING high school at 16 and working briefly as a shipping clerk and machinist's helper, he turned to acting.

Reiner, one of the best-liked men in show business, quickly became a master at pitching funny lines. Now he has matured into a quadruple-threat man in the entertainment field as actor, writer, director and producer.

CARL, WHO MADE his mark as a "top banana," or supporting comedian for Sid Caesar for eight years, widened his fame by originating and producing the "Dick Van Dyke Show," a popular television series.

His latest film opus, "Enter Laughing," introducing Roni Santoni to stardom, is based on a semiautobiographical novel that Reiner wrote in 1958. Carl directed the film and also served as cowriter and coproducer with his long-time friend, Joseph Stein, author of the Broadway hit, "Fiddler on the Roof."

REINER, WHO STILL says his vocation is acting regards writing, directing and producing as his hobbies. But he enjoys them all.

"The thing I get the most satisfaction from is anything that I start as a blank page in a typewriter, and then follow all the way through, whether it's a book, a play or a film," he said.

"There's something wonderful about catching a fish, cleaning it, cooking it and serving it, and then having someone say, 'Very good.'"

THE TALL, hazel-eyed actor picked up the rudiments of comedy writing by working with the gag men on the old Sid Caesar shows.

"But I had been such a poor student in school that I hesitated at trying anything at all serious. I felt I didn't know enough words to become a real writer."

"My wife got me over that hurdle. She convinced me that it wasn't important whether I knew a lot of long words, only whether I knew the right words."

CARL IS convinced now that empathy, the feeling for people, is more valuable to a writer than a big vocabulary.

Reiner feels he is normally neurotic: "If you're not neurotic to some extent, you can't function in this society." But he believes his most valuable personality trait is an inborn, unquenchable optimism.

"Life is supposed to be fun," he said. "The human being isn't supposed to be genuinely happy very often, but if your problems don't let you have fun and moments of joy, then you haven't had much of a life."

Around The Rim

Solving Man's Problems In Space

The fascinating story of our work to conquer space generally is associated with activities at Cape Kennedy, Fla., where the glamor of the rocket firing takes place; and at NASA headquarters in Houston, where flights are controlled.

BUT BACK OF this is a tremendous work going on in the field of aerospace medicine, which, in the last analysis, must determine whether and how man can live on the moon or on other planets; how he is going to react during the trips there and back; how, actually, he is going to fare in an environment which most of us know nothing about.

The Aerospace Medical Division of the Air Force Systems Command has more than a half-dozen operations, extending from Texas and New Mexico to Ohio and Alaska.

ONE OF ITS major units is the USAF School of Aerospace Medicine, a completely new and antiseptic complex of 13 gleaming buildings at Brooks AFB, San Antonio. A group of Big Springers got a quick run-through of this operation on a recent tour sponsored by Webb Air Force Base. If the work carried on there is beyond comprehension in one quick tour, there is at least the impression that here is a nation at work on the future.

THE SCHOOL'S research mission represents the major activity, with work on a broad spectrum of basic and applied medical research subjects in bioastronautics and life sciences. Among these are the selection of candidates for pilot training or space operations and the medical protection and support for man in high performance and space vehicles, both present and future. There are laboratory and clinical studies which seek to cover all conditions affecting the health and efficiency of airman under any operation that the imagination of scientists has yet conceived.

A clinical mission of the school includes medical evaluations; not only for "conventional" aircrew members whose medical fitness for flying is under question, but also for candidates for space pilot training.

THE SCHOOL also has an educational mission, and offers some 25 different courses in subjects related to aerospace medicine, and turns out physicians, veterinarians, dentists, engineers, nurses and scientists and technicians in a variety of fields.

By tragic circumstance, the new facility at Brooks was dedicated Nov. 21, 1963 by President John F. Kennedy. It was his last major address to the nation, since the next day he visited Dallas. In that talk, President Kennedy said: "This nation has tossed its cap over the wall of space — and we have no choice but to follow it."

THERE IS no question in the mind of a tourist — layman that the school is following that cap, as it increases its capability to cope with the medical problems of the space age.

The buildings, the equipment, the experiments, the whole atmosphere of the School of Aerospace Medicine would strike some of us as being an endeavor of another world — something right out of the science fiction magazines. The truth is, science achievement has caught up with the fiction, and this is impressively evident at the Brooks AFB center.

Those On The 60-Hour Week

WASHINGTON — The squeaking wheel of the American economy, the poverty population, gets the grease—the smooth-running wheel, the productive population, is taken for granted.

The very poor (families with annual income below $3,000) are larded with special attention in the form of uplift programs, while the very successful (those who earn between $10,000 and $300,000) will shoulder the additional burden of a 6 per cent surtax which the President says he will ask Congress to impose. This is how it has to be, except for the familiarly-gap. Much is known about one wheel, and too little about the other.

IN AMERICA men acquire high income by a combination of talent and hard work. The formula of the frontier days still holds good despite opinions to the contrary. Published last year, a Brookings Institution survey of 957 big money-earners showed "many members of this group . . . work 60 or more hours a week." The typical tycoon, as he emerges from these studies, is a man whose decisions about work-hours is dictated "by the demands of his job and by his health, rather than by taxes or other purely pecuniary reasons."

INDEED, the typical tycoon very often is a "moonlighter" with a secondary job, working for his employer through the office-day and for himself in off hours. The more successful he is, the more likely he is to undertake side-work. The earner of a $200,000 income is three times more likely to moonlight than the earner of $12,000.

Why do well-off Americans, returning from 20 to 91 per cent of their income to the tax-collector (at the time this survey was taken), drive themselves to greater efforts? Some responses, rated as "typical" by the interviewers, were:

"I WORK TILL I get too tired . . . When I get so tired that I'm not doing a good job, I stop . . . I give this job everything I've got."

Some 95 per cent of the persons under study were employed in the work force, not principally self-employed. Company loyalty, and a belief in the company's purpose, must play a part in these white-collar work habits.

Thus, says the survey, many jobs provide their occupants with a "sense of belonging," or a "sense of power," or "social status." Many men are driven to extra efforts by "self-imposed standards of performance."

NOT TO BE overlooked as a work-motive is old-fashioned acquisitiveness—a fondness for the Almighty Dollar. Heavy taxation drives many successful men to rise above it, and gain the Brookings report, and to say more "disposable income" even though they pay more than ever to the government. Many an American still regards monetary possession as an "index of success," and then "he is often focussing on his gross, before-tax income, rather than on what he has available for spending."

THE MONEY-MAKING, success-seeking, enterprise-talented individual is not much in the news. But he is the Atlas of the American economy. His shoulders carry the ponderous budgets for the anti-poverty and anti-Communist wars that are the history of our times.

Riots Vs. Civil Rights

WASHINGTON—President Johnson might well have decided to make six addresses to the nation on TV instead of trying to cover all phases of the riot problem that he mentioned briefly in his speech a few nights ago. There was a need for emphasis primarily on law and order, but the President did not deal with the problem of why incitement to violence has not been punished by law.

THE PRESIDENT spoke of "the conditions that breed despair and violence," and he mentioned "ignorance, discrimination, slums, poverty, disease, not enough jobs." But, on the same Thursday that he was addressing the nation over the radio and TV networks, a well-educated Negro was publicly urging Negroes "to shoot and loot," calling the President "a wild, mad dog, an outlaw from Texas," and declaring that Mr. Johnson had sent "white killers" and federal troops "into Negro communities to kill black people."

HUBERT G. (RAP) BROWN attended public schools, was graduated from high school and then entered the Southern University Agricultural and Mechanical College in Louisiana as a sociology major in September, 1960. He had a very good scholastic record. After leaving college, he became a project director of the "civil rights" group known as the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee for the state of Alabama, where he worked in voter-registration drives as an other "civil rights" programs. He recently became national chairman of this organization as successor to Stokely Carmichael.

DURING HIS address at a rally in an Episcopal church in Washington on Thursday night, Brown called on his listeners to prepare for the "black revolution," and said:

"Death is no stranger to the black man. So when the rebellion starts, don't be afraid of being killed."

In commenting on the recent killing in Plainfield, N. J., of a white policeman — who was shot, stabbed and beaten to death—Brown said this was a "beautiful" example of black people controlling their community. These anti-white statements drew standing ovations from the crowd, which interrupted him frequently with applause. The meeting itself was peaceful, and there were no untoward incidents. Four uniformed policemen—all Negro—were assigned to watch the proceedings.

JUST THREE DAYS before, Brown had addressed a rally at Cambridge, Md., and after an inflammatory speech, fires were started and a riot ensued. Authorities tried to arrest Brown and found he had left town. He had made similar speeches in other cities. He was finally arrested in Alexandria, Va., on Wednesday and released on bail.

Disturbances in different parts of the country have followed speeches of this kind by some of the other "civil rights" leaders. President Johnson tried in his Thursday-night address to separate the riots from the civil-rights movement when he said:

"THE LOOTING, arson, plunder and pillage which have occurred are not part of a civil-rights protest. There is no American right to loot stores, or to burn buildings, or to fire rifles from the rooftops. That is crime — and crime must be dealt with forcefully, and swiftly, and certainly—under law."

The big question is why basic laws are being ignored and why it is considered merely an expression of "free speech" for leaders to assemble crowds and exhort them to violence, instead of utilizing the legislative processes of self-government in order to redress injustices.

IF INDIVIDUALS are permitted to provoke others into violence, and if the effort to teach the principle of adherence to moral law does not have the support of the government itself—which nowadays even bars prayer in the public schools—then the problem of "educating" the populace on the true meaning of "law and order" will be a difficult task. It will not be fulfilled by one or two exhortations over nationwide television.

Learns Much From Pageant

By RHODA LEMONS

"I would do everything all over again were I given the opportunity," said Darlene Leifeste, who represented Big Spring in the Miss Texas pageant during the past week in Fort Worth.

The contestants were housed at the Western Hills Motor Hotel, and on their arrival, were given instructions and schedules for the week. One of the rules most enforced was that a contestant not speak to any man unless given special permission by her chaperone.

Daily activities began with breakfast at 7:30 a.m., and then the girls were driven to the Will Rogers Coliseum for practice sessions that sometimes lasted until 1 or 2 a.m. A catering service provided lunch and dinner.

They were instructed in how and where to walk, when to appear and in more effective ways of projecting their talent. No stone was left unturned in order that the final television performance would move with beauty and precision.

"Most of us were too busy to be nervous," said pretty Miss Leifeste, "and we fell into bed exhausted."

Beginning Wednesday and climaxing on Saturday, evening performances and judging were held at the coliseum before capacity audiences. Girls were divided into three sections, and Miss Leifeste was placed in Section B. She performed her talent the first night, modeled her evening gown the second night and entered the swimsuit competition on Friday evening. The programs started at 8 p.m. and continued through 11 p.m.

In competition, talent was judged 50 per cent, the judges' interview was worth 25 per cent, and the evening gown and swimsuit competition together accounted for the other 25 per cent. Miss Leifeste said that the judges were very easy to talk with and seemed genuinely interested in whatever the contestant had to say.

"They tried to make it as easy for us as possible," she said. Highlighting her trip was a

4-H Revue Rankings

Carolyn Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delaine Crawford, won a red award in the senior division during Tuesday's District Two 4-H Dress Revue at Texas Tech in Lubbock. Molly Adkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Adkins, received a blue award in the junior division of the contest.

Mike McClain served as escort as the girls modeled their garments, and others attending from Big Spring were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Adkins and children, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stallings, Miss Twila Lomax, Carla Perry, Mrs. Carl Pambro, Mrs. Mrs. H. C. McClain, Mrs. Frances Zant, Debra Buchanan, Mrs. O. D. Engle and Mrs. Delaine Crawford and children.

Actual judging of the participants began at 1:30 p.m., and the program was held at 6:30 p.m. in the ballroom of the Student Union Building.

Theme for the annual affair was "A Cotton Pickin' Dress Revue." Featured at the district-wide fashion show were winning seamstresses and fashions they created. In judging, emphasis was placed on the over-all general appearance of the outfit on the model, suitability of design, color and texture for the girl, grooming, posture, attitude, poise, personality and 4-H records. Mistress of ceremonies was Oleta Bednars of Slaton, a member of the District 4-H Council.

Roy B. Davis, general manager of the Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, Lubbock, which sponsored the banquet, extended greetings while Dr. Gene Sheldon, head of the clothing and textiles department at Texas Tech, gave the welcome. Davis also assisted with the awards presentation.

Rebekahs Observe Birthdays Month

Mrs. C. B. Herring and Mrs. Beulah Morrison were honored with a birthday party at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 at the IOOF Hall. Mrs. A. F. Hill, noble grand, presided. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lonnie Griffith, Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. Travis Melton. Twenty-five attended, and 31 visits to the sick were reported.

fashion showing at Leonard's Department Store in which a number of contestants were asked to model. Miss Big Spring was selected and she showed six costumes. Another occasion was a luncheon hosted by members of the Downtown Lions' Club where the girls were honored guests and Miss Texas was the featured speaker.

Miss Leifeste said that she secured all her clothes in Big Spring prior to the trip, and that with the advice of her chaperone, Mrs. James Tibbs, she always had the right thing to wear for the proper occasion. Miss Leifeste had praise for her Jaycee sponsors who made everything easier for her on the trip.

Miss Leifeste will enter Angelo State College in the fall as a business major. She is a graduate of Howard County Junior College with an associate arts degree.

"The week was one of the most exciting and exhausting in my life," concluded Miss Leifeste, "and my one regret is that I did not have longer to perfect my talent as it is of such great importance in the competition."

A LOVELIER YOU

Look What's Coming In New Fall Fashions

By MARY SUE MILLER

When it comes to spotting the best in fashion, some women seem to have a sixth sense. But, truth to tell, fashion clairvoyance is given to few. The quality is cultivated.

The process begins by watching the fashion news. In that way you learn to spot authentic trends and then to single out those which best suit you. Excellence in dressing just naturally follows. Merely to get you on the fall wave length, here are a few fashions with a strong signal:

Hemlines — The mini is shorter than ever; the new midi falls to mid-calf; betwixt, there's that can - your - knee - take - it? length.

Dress and Coat Silhouettes — Big and little tents, close at top and easing into width; narrow, skinny shapes coming in closer to the body; midl girl shapes fulling from high waistlines.

Suits — Long jackets, vests, divided skirts.

Pantsuits — Midi-length capes and coats over short pants; long, below hip jackets with long pants.

Dresses — The coattress and sweater dress by day, plunging necklines late-day, midl lengths at home.

Belts — Worn high, low and natural, but never cinched.

Fabrics — Brushed, nubbed and smooth in bright and deep.

Rich tones, in brown influenced neutrals.

Top Note — Butter soft suits in dramatic shapes.

Foot Note — Leather leggings with the mini, knee boots with the midi, with everything stockings that match the shoe or the costume.

FLATTERING COLORS

In fashion, nothing makes you lovelier than color. It can enhance your skin, hair, eyes and figure; it can express your individuality and style. Great powers, those! To learn how to put them to work for you, read our leaflet, "Your Most Flattering Colors." To obtain a copy, send your request to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin.

West opened the queen of clubs and East overtook with the king, in order to shift to his singleton diamond. It was his intention to win an early trump lead and then put his partner in with the jack of clubs by underleading the ace to obtain a diamond ruff. South had no difficulty in diagnosing his opponent's intentions, and he sought for a way to foil East's plans. Since the latter is more or less marked with the ace of hearts, it is the club suit that will provide the crucial line of communications for the defense. Declarer therefore concentrated his efforts on getting rid of his second club at once. The king of spades was cashed, followed by the ace. Now the nine of spades was led; and when East covered with the ten he was permitted to hold the trick, as South discarded the six of clubs. East returned a club in an attempt to put his partner in; however, South ruffed and proceeded to drive out the ace of hearts. When he regained the lead, he drew trump and claimed his contract—having lost a club, a heart, and a spade. South was, admittedly, fortunate in finding East with the Q-J-10 of spades, for, if West had held any of those cards, he could not have been prevented from obtaining the lead. However, if that had proved to be the case, then the declarer cannot avert the ruff, and must go down to defeat.

Fighting Slows In Giant Sweep

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced the loss of three more American warplanes in combat and a Communist attack on an American ship.

The ground war lapsed back into a lull with no further fighting reported in the 10,000-man allied Operation Coronado II in the Mekong delta south of Saigon.

Two of the planes were lost over North Vietnam and the other in South Vietnam, bringing the total number of American warplanes reported lost in combat in the war to 825. This includes 629 over North Vietnam and 196 over the South. One of the losses over the North was an Air Force RF101 reconnaissance Voodoo and the pilot was missing. The other was a carrier-based Navy A4 Skyhawk; its pilot was rescued.

PILOT KILLED Communist fire brought down an Air Force F100 Supersabre fighter-bomber on a combat support mission over South Vietnam and the pilot was killed.

The U.S. Command also announced that six Vietnamese civilians were killed and 23 wounded by U.S. artillery and air strike mistakes. In a third such incident, a U.S. Army helicopter accidentally fired on troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division 22 miles northeast of Saigon, killing one U.S. soldier and wounding seven.

SHIP ATTACKED

A military spokesman said Viet Cong positions along the banks of the Long Tau River opened up on the American merchant ship Seatrail Florida 15 miles southeast of Saigon with small arms, automatic weapons and recoilless rifles, but the only damage was two punctured tires on a vehicle the ship was carrying.

Navy river patrol boats, Army gunship helicopters and Air Force fighter-bombers swarmed over the area and killed four Viet Cong, the spokesman said.

The ship is owned by Seatrail Lines Inc. of New York.

Field commanders in the delta operation made estimates of enemy dead ranging from 150 to 350, but the U.S. Command put the figure at 200. The Saigon headquarters also reported 16 Americans killed and 59 wounded so far in the sweep. Unofficial reports from the field said 28 South Vietnamese soldiers had been killed and 50 wounded.

Stock Mart Prices Hit High Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market roared into new high ground for 1967 in heavy trading early this afternoon.

The ticker tape lagged as the market took off from Tuesday's rally when a classic bull market signal was hoisted — the advance of the Dow Jones industrial average to a new high for the year, confirmed by a rise in the Dow Jones rail average to a record peak.

With both averages in gear and an assortment of good economic news behind it, the market rose from the start.

The Dow industrials posted a gain of 10.28 in the first hour. Some profits were taken and the gain was pared.

At noon the Dow industrials were up 9.24 at 922.21.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 2.1 at 343.8 with industrials up 4.2, rails up 3 and utilities up 2.

The AP average also was pushing into new high territory for the year.

Sperry Rand paced the list on volume, adding a full point. International Nickel spurted more than 3 points.

Up about 2 points or more were such issues as Raytheon, Jones & Laughlin, U.S. Smelting, Merck and Pfizer.

Weather Still In 'Hot' Rut

By The Associated Press

A mild cool front eased into the upper Texas Panhandle this morning but it appeared to promise no more than limited relief from the statewide heat wave.

Farther south a few showers fell during the night around El Paso and elsewhere west of the Pecos River. El Paso received up to .10 inch of rain in some sections but only a trace at the Weather Bureau.

The cooler air cooled Perryton to 83 degrees by daylight and Dalhart to 64. Their respective highs Tuesday were 93 and 91.

Amarillo, still ahead of the front, saw the mercury dip to 72, down 21 degrees from its top mark the day before. Readings elsewhere across the state ranged through the 70s and into the lower 80s.

High marks elsewhere Tuesday included Presidio 107, Cotulla 106, Laredo 104, Waco and Wink 103, Alice and Del Rio 102, Austin and San Antonio 101 and Dallas and Mineral Wells 100.

Forecasts called for little change in Northwest Texas temperatures and continued hot weather everywhere else in the state. A few showers were expected across West Texas and eastward across the northern half of the state.

Clever Cover Up Exposed

A statement today by Mr. Jay Cunningham of John Davis Feed Store revealed one of the cleverest coverup operations of our time. According to Mr. Cunningham, his company has been covering up bare ground...

The cover-up is effected by the use of some of the finest fertilizers and soil conditioners you've ever seen to grow healthy, disease resistant plants and grasses.

One of the finest products at Davis' is Bactelife, the organic fertilizer and soil conditioner. Bactelife won't burn and will feed the soil that feeds the plant. You'll be pleasantly surprised at how much longer your grass will stay green, and how soon it'll come out next spring when you use Bactelife.

Hasten to John Davis Feed Store and tell them you're wise to their cover up operation and want to be implicated.

BIG SPRING BUSINESS REVIEW

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, HERALD, WEDNESDAY, AUG. 2, 1967

Tate, Bristow, And Parks Has Served 32 Years

Tate, Bristow, and Parks, 308 Main, has been serving the Big Spring area in insurance needs for 32 years. In 1935 Obie Bristow and Bill Tate started the agency, and Wendal Parks joined the firm in 1961, and Jim Parks, in 1964.

All types of insurance can be put in one common low economical plan at Tate, Bristow, and Parks at the lowest cost.

With the new automobile rating that became effective Aug. 1, your insurance rates may be different from the previous ones. Wendal Parks encourages collision and liability policy holders to contact the insurance firm to check on their policies.

The rating system, a penalty system, awarding the safe drivers and penalizing the bad ones, is based on the point system. Drivers accumulate points by the number of accidents they have and the number of spending tickets they receive. The policy holder's insurance rate depends on the number of points he has accumulated; the ones with the most points pay the highest rates.

Those collision and liability policy holders who are interested in a renewal policy are urged to contact Tate, Bristow and Parks, for the rates and costs may be reduced.

Clients now are using the convenient budget plan. For example, a driver with a good driving record, not underage, can buy a basic liability policy for $11.99 down payment, and $4.44 per month.

This is a convenient plan for those who are not prepared to buy a policy in a lump-sum, and is offered to keep every driver from jeopardizing his driving license and the possibility of a law suit.

The firm writes a trip accident insurance, especially valuable to families during this vacation season. The policy provides protection for one day to 30 days for a reasonable price. For one day's protection, the customer can pay 65 cents and receive $500 for medical expenses and $5,000 principal sum; or he can pay $3.90 and $5,000 for medical expenses and $50,000 principal sum.

Another policy that is most beneficial is the personal protection accident and illness policy. Its protection covers a businessman on the job or away from the office. This is especially-become ill, the policy will take care of the family expenses. Tate, Bristow, and Parks is located at 308 Main, and welcomes all persons with insurance needs.

It's Cheaper By The Dozen With Johnston's No-Roach

Using a shoe is one way to dispose of a cockroach, one at a time. But if you would rather get them by the dozens, eliminate them all. The solution is Johnston's No-Roach.

Tried and true—it comes in a quaint brown-amber bottle as common as an old shoe—but uncommonly effective.

Johnston's No-Roach, with a free brush attached, is different for many reasons. No-

Roach eliminates the need for frequent application of messy, unsafe sprays and powders, and No-Roach is clean and easy to use and is harmless to pets.

There is no need to move dishes or food when you use Johnston's No-Roach, simply brush this odorless, colorless liquid around baseboards, sinks, table-legs, behind cabinets and appliances on shelves and inside cabinet doors. Johnston's No-Roach can be used in bathrooms and anywhere else cockroaches may breed.

No-Roach dries fast to form an invisible path of death that kills roaches, ants, spiders, silverfish, all crawling insects, and it continues to kill effectively for months.

No-Roach is available at Hull and Phillips, Newsom's, Safeway, Piggly Wiggly, Furr's, and all grocery stores.

Carver's Pharmacy Provided First Drive-In Service Here

Carver Drive-In Prescription Pharmacy, located at Ninth and Nolan streets, calls attention to the fact that the pharmacy stocks many items outside the medical profession.

For example, when seasonal holidays or special days question the customer's mind with gift ideas, nothing can be more appreciated than a box of Pangurn's chocolates. The quality andy is boxed in various sizes, appropriate for the gift of each customer.

The pharmacy is air conditioned, so the appearance and taste of the chocolates are not altered by the effects of the heat.

Carver also stocks cosmetics of all well-known brands, and shaving lotion and needs for men. The pharmacy also stocks Hallmark greeting cards, magazines, books and other popular items.

Carver keeps abreast of the latest developments in prescription drugs and the trusted patient medicines.

As a licensed pharmacist, Milton Carver, owner of Carver Drive-In Prescription Pharmacy believes that every person should use pharmaceuticals prescribed by qualified physicians and that the medicine should be properly compounded. "A physician's advice is paramount where questions of health are concerned," Carver said.

The drive-in window, on the east side of the building, was built for the conveniences of its customers and was the first Big Spring drive-in pharmacy.

This enables patrons, wanting to pick up prescriptions in a hurry and without having to worry about dress or keeping an eye on the children, or getting out in the scorching summer heat, to drive around the building from Nolan, pick up their items and drive off on Ninth Street without having to be concerned about a parking place.

For all pharmaceutical needs contact Carver's Drive-In Prescription Pharmacy. The pharmacy also deals in other items of necessity to customers.

A telephone call to 263-7418 will have your prescription ready for you when you drive up, or it can be delivered with no extra charge.

Drive-In Pharmacy

Carver's Drive-In Prescription Pharmacy, Ninth and Nolan, was the first drive-in pharmacy in Big Spring. Milton Carver, owner and pharmacist, added drive-up window for the customer's convenience.

BS Lions Lead Surge Into Second Round

Big Spring's Lions surged into the second round of the District 4 Sophomore Teen-Age Baseball league tournament by defeating the Westside Optimists of San Angelo, 3-1, here Tuesday night.

In other contests, Lawrence Bates pitched Odessa Natural Gas to a no-hit, no-run win over Odessa B and B, 2-0, and Crane bombed Rankin, 13-1.

Steve Ames went all the way on the mound for Big Spring, limiting the San Angeloans to three hits. He also scored the first run for the Lions after walking in the third.

San Angelo shot ahead in the opening inning when Leonard Green reached base on a bobbie and David Raney brought him around with a double. Ames was air-tight, after that.

Today's Pairings:

7 p.m. — Odessa B&B vs. San Angelo Optimists (winners' bracket); 8 p.m. — Odessa Natural Gas vs. Big Spring Lions (winners' bracket); 8:30 p.m. — Crane vs. Odessa Big State (winners' bracket).

Tuesday's Results:

Odessa Natural Gas 2, Odessa B&B 0; Big Spring Lions 3, San Angelo Optimists 1; Crane 13, Rankin 1.

After Ames walked in the third, Dickie Stanley gained a life when he hit a ball to the infield and it was thrown into right field. Ames scrambled all the way home on the play. Stanley then counted from third on Randy Womack's one-baser.

Big Spring added an insurance run in the fourth when

Billy Paul Thomas Named Tourney's Top Player

LAMESA — Billy Paul Thomas of Morton's Foods, Big Spring, was named the Most Valuable Player of the Districts 7-26 Texas State Amateur Softball Tournament, which ended here early Sunday morning.

ROY NEW

Included on the all-star team chosen at the conclusion of the six-team tournament were pitcher Ron Boulden, second baseman Herb Sorley, third baseman Tito Arencibia, shortstop Roy New and right fielder Joe Sharpnack, all of the Big Spring club.

Other players on the elite squad include catcher John White, Odessa D&B Plumber, pitcher N. E. Stephens, Odessa D&B Plumber, first baseman Guy Kinnison, Lamesa Merchants; utility infielder Gene Underwood, Odessa D&B Plumber, left fielder Harvey Everheart, Lamesa Merchants; center fielder W. C. Dixon, Odessa Permian Oil and Tire; and utility outfielder Burt Coleman, Odessa Permian Oil and Tire Co.

Morton's won the tournament crown by defeating Odessa D&B Plumber in the finals. The Big Spring club will compete in the state tournament at Wichita Falls next week.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Newly crowned PGA golf champion Don January is a man widely admired by links galleries and fellow slaves.

A decade ago, however, January and three other contenders in the Derby Open at Louisville came close to being suspended by the PGA for what a jury of their peers considered unsportsmanlike conduct.

The four were disgusted with their play and deliberately flubbed around in order to fail to make the 36-hole cut.

January took a ten on a par 3 hole and George Bayer, one of the other malcontents, turned in a 17 on the 17th hole.

Golf has been good to Don. On Feb. 2, 1961, he pocketed $50,000 by scoring a hole-in-one in the Desert Classic at Palm Springs, Calif.

He's made news in other ways, too. He caused a major ruckus in the Phoenix Open in 1963 by holding up the entire field for seven minutes waiting to see if his ball, hanging on the lip of the cup, would drop.

That irritating bit of strategy caused a change in the tournament rules, limiting the time a player may wait for a ball to drop.

If you were watching the recent PGA tournament on TV, you saw Arnold Palmer step up and tap in a ball immediately that might have, in time, fallen.

One of the Big Spring teams competing in the recent District 3 Little League tournament at Andrews did neither its own community nor the city in general any good by its deportment during and immediately following the game.

It is important that adult supervisors instill the spirit of sportsmanship in boys that age. Their hostility toward the opposition will be remembered long after the score of the game is forgotten.

Any athletic team which ventures from town to compete on other fields should never forget it represents the city as a whole and try to improve its image.

Incidentally, former big leaguer Al Rosen is author of an interesting book published recently entitled "Baseball and Your Boys."

In the tome, Rosen provides an interesting check list for each paternal parent.

"Can You Give Him Up?" Rosen asks, meaning can you put him in the hands of a manager to make his own way with the team.

Rosen asks other pertinent questions like: "Can You Admit Your Shortcomings?" When your son asks the best way to field a grounder, it takes something for a father to admit he may not be the best authority on the matter.

"Can You Accept His Triumphs?" It sounds easy, but some fathers don't realize they actually are competitive with their sons. If they play catch with him, they are prone to throw the ball too hard for the boys, a way of showing how much better they are.

"Can You Accept His Disappointments?" Sometimes being a father means being a target for the child's anger and frustrations.

"Can You Show Him Self-Control?" Civilized conduct is basically taught at home and mostly by example.

"Can You Let Him Make His Own Decisions?" This is an essential part of the boy's growing up. It's a challenge to any dad.

Winston Winkle, manager-owner of radio station KBST, says his station will air a play-by-play account of the Big 33 football game between high school graduates of Pennsylvania and Texas.

The contest takes place in Hershey, Pa., a week from Saturday night.

Dan Blocker, who plays Hoss Cartwright on the TV program, "Bonanza," is a great admirer of coach Darrell Royal of the University of Texas.

Last spring Dan presented the Royal family with a $1,000 color TV console.

Darrell reciprocated by inviting Blocker to sit on the bench with the Longhorns when they meet USC in Los Angeles Sept. 23.

Boyer, Rocky Adding Punch To White Sox

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
By The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox gained the reputation as a good-pitch, no-hit team. But that was in their BBC era—before Boyer and Colavito.

Ken Boyer, whose pinch hit singled tied the game in Chicago's 4-2 victory over Cleveland Monday night, got a double and three singles in five times at bat and scored twice in the White Sox' 11-5 drubbing of the Indians Tuesday night.

Colavito, who won Monday's game with a two-run homer in the 10th inning, collected three singles in five times up, scored three runs and drove in one Tuesday night.

Since being acquired from the New York Mets July 22, Boyer has gone 14-for-31 for a .452 average, with four RBI. Colavito, picked up from Cleveland last Saturday, is 4-for-12 for a .333 mark, with three RBI.

Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday night, Boston lost 4-3 to Kansas City before beating the Athletics 8-3. Minnesota edged Washington 5-4. Detroit topped Baltimore 4-2 and New York trounced California 6-1.

The White Sox, who increased their league lead to 2½ games over second-place Boston, blew a 5-1 tie with six runs in the ninth inning.

Boyer doubled and, after pinch hitter Smoky Burgess walked, scored the go-ahead run on Colavito's single. Tom McCraw then doubled home a run, three more came in on Ron Hansen's bases loaded double, and final tally crossed the plate on Walt Williams' triple.

Cleveland scored three times in the seventh off starter Gary Peters and tied the game with a pair on Lee Maye's single in the eighth off reliever Hoyt Wilhelm, who had driven in the Sox' fifth run with a single in the top of the inning.

Kansas City scored four times in the third inning on Bert Campaneris' three-run triple and John Donaldson's single and Chuck Dobson survived a three-run homer by Car Yaztrzemski, his 27th, in the sixth for the first-game victory over Boston. Jim Lonborg, on pass from two week's active duty with the Army Reserve, ran his record to 15-4, with relief help, in the second game.

Boston clinched the nightcap with four runs in the seventh, three coming on Mike Ryan's homer.

Tony Oliva tripled home two runs in a three-run first inning and Ted Uhlaender drove in two with a two-out, bases-loaded single in the fifth for Minnesota's victory.

Dean Chance picked up his 13th victory against eight losses, but he needed relief help from Al Worthington when Washington scored twice in the eighth to pull to within one run.

Earl Wilson, backed by solo homers from Don Wert and Bill Freehan and a two inning relief stint by Mike Marshall, made his record 14-8 for Detroit. Wert also drove in a run with a sacrifice fly.

Mel Stottlemyre broke a scoreless tie with a two-run single in the seventh inning when New York scored five times. The right-hander lost a shutout in the eighth when Jim Fregosi beat out an infield hit with the bases loaded.

Phillip Ferguson singled to right and Ernest Garcia powered him home with a single to left.

Barney Rodriguez and Carl Bizzell scored for Odessa Natural Gas in the first game of the day, making victory safe for Bates.

Odessa Natural Gas managed only four hits off Albert Hernandez, the losing flinger.

Bates fanned 15 of the 23 batters he faced. He allowed three men to reach first, two on walks and another on a throwing error.

Rodriguez counted in the first for ONG after walking as the leadoff batter. He stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and counted on another wild pitch.

In the third, Bizzell counted for Odessa Natural Gas following a two-base hit. He counted on a throwing error.

Kirk Kirksey singled in the fifth for ONG but was left stranded. Rodriguez banged out a one-baser for the winners in the sixth but could not make it home. Kenneth Smith singled in the seventh for ONG but died on base.

Hernandez fanned 11 in his seven inning on the hill. He walked only two and faced only 27 batters.

No player in the game hit safely more than once.

Cards Shade Tribe, 6-2

The Big Spring Cardinals led with their best pitching talent and succeeded in subduing the McMahon Indians, 6-2, in a practice baseball game in the Teenage Park here Tuesday evening.

The contest served as a final warmup for the Indians before they take on McCamey in the first round of the District III Junior Teenage tournament at San Angelo Thursday.

The Cardinals managed 11 hits off Jody Flores, Thomas Ham and Tom Wood. McMahon's club wound up with six safeties at the expense of Tony Fierro and Ronnie Steen.

Big Spring and McCamey will square off at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the San Angelo meet.

Snyder Tourney Opens Aug. 12

SNYDER—The Snyder Invitational Golf tournament will be staged here Aug. 12-13. Cost of entry is $17.50. The field will be limited to the first 112 who register.

BY CASS CLAY

Houston Talent Is Downgraded

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay was in his sometime hometown of Houston today, equipped with opinions about the quality of the four fighters who'll mix it in the Astrodome Saturday.

This occasion is the first stage of the World Boxing Association's tournament to name his replacement as heavyweight champion.

Ernie Terrell will fight Thad Spencer and Leotis Martin will battle Clay's old sparring partner, Jimmy Ellis, in the quarterfinal bouts.

Clay arrived Tuesday for a hearing today on his plea in federal court for permission to fight abroad. He cannot leave the country without a judge's permission because of his June 20 conviction for refusing to be drafted — the reason the WBA lifted his crown.

"Terrell has the class," clay said. "He's a lot like me."

"Frazier could whip any of the four," he said, referring to second-ranked heavyweight Joe Frazier, who is, shunning the WBA series.

Clay finished up by observing, "Liston could whip any of them, including Frazier."

Frazier was in Houston Tuesday night for a soft-gloves-and-headgear exhibition with Chuck Leslie of Los Angeles. Their three-rounder was a preliminary to the bout in which Dave Zyglicz defeated Willi Besmanoff.

Despite the bulky gear, Frazier opened a cut over Leslie's right eye. It also cut short their scrap.

Martin's manager, William "Pinny" Schafer, said Tuesday his man never has earned more than $2,500 in any of his 25 fights, 24 of them victories.

A reporter turned to Frazier and asked, "Why hasn't Martin been able to get a big fight?"

Frazier pointed to his companion and said, "My manager here does all my talking."

"That's his trainer," Schafer snorted. "His manager is York Durham. You've seen a classic example of his sidestepping."

Schafer said many fighters have sidestepped Martin's punch, but he agreed that he might owe Frazier some thanks for Martin's spot in the tournament.

"But when it's all over, we'll show them the same respect they showed us," Schafer said. "We'll sidestep too."

Tracksters Assume Pan-Am Spotlight

WINNIPEG (AP)—Uncle Sam's young band of swimmers and divers turned over the spotlight in the Pan-American Games to the other athletes today after hauling in a record bag of 28 championships in 23 events.

The swimming phenoms busted 11 of the 14 world records that were destroyed in a fantastic week-long display of speed and stamina in the huge, indoor Pan-American pool.

A pair of 17-year-old sharks from Santa Clara, Calif., Mark Spitz and Claudia Kolb, 15-year-old Katie Ball of Jacksonville, Fla., and Canada's 16-year-old Elaine Tanner were the record wreckers of distinction. Spitz captured his fifth gold medal and Miss Kolb collected her second world record and third gold medal Tuesday as the United States swept all five of the final events in the Pan-Am pool.

Miss Tanner, the "Mighty Mouse" of the Canadian team, earned her third silver medal as a member of the second place 400 freestyle relay team. Earlier in the meet she won two golds, breaking the world records for 100 and 200 meters backstroke. She lowered the 100 mark again to 1:07.1 in the medal today.

In all the favored U. S. squad had 88 gold medals, 47 silver and 32 in bronze for a whopping total of 167. Canada was next with 75 (8-27-30) while Brazil was next best in golds with six and a total of 13 (6-4-3). Argentina had 4-8-8, Mexico 3-11-13 and Cuba 3-7-17.

Spitz, a slender, 5-foot-11, 150-pounder who aims to be the world kingpin in five to six events in the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City, collected his fifth gold as the butterfly man on the winning 400-meter medley relay quartet which won in Pan-American record time of 3:39.2. Other members of the team were Doug Russell, Midland, Tex., Russ Webb, Yorba Linda, Calif., and Ken Walsh, East Lansing, Mich.

BOOTS SAY A LOT ABOUT A MAN

Boots say that a man has a mind of his own... that he is rugged... that his life is exciting.

He knows what he wants and how to go about getting it.

That's why so many men choose boots from Ward's Boot Shop.

They know the style is tops, the fit is perfect, the wear is long and comfortable, and they like the image his boots create.

Come see our broad selection of Acme, Dan Post, Cowtown, Tony Lama and Justin Boots.

Wear a pair (or two if you can stand the excitement).

Mays Powers Giant Win

By The Associated Press

Leave it to Willie Mays. It was a pitcher's paradise in the National League Tuesday night until Mays caught up with Woody Fryman in the seventh inning of San Francisco's 3-1 victory over Pittsburgh.

Willie walloped his 14th home run of the season and No. 556 of his career helping Juan Marichal win his 14th game.

Mays' blast was the first and only homer of the night as the pitchers shut off the power in the National League. The shot soared over the right center field fence at Candlestick Park and was Mays' first homer since June 28. He struggled through a homerless July with a heavy cold and influenza.

In other National League action Tuesday, Chicago cut St. Louis' lead to 3 games by clipping the Cardinals 3-2. Cincinnati shut out Atlanta 2-0 on Jim Maloney's three-hitter. New York topped Houston 3-1 and Philadelphia nipped Los Angeles 2-1.

Marichal buried a six-hitter and drove in the game's tie-breaking run with a sixth inning single following hits by Hal Lanier and Tito Fuentes.

Roberto Clemente had tripped home a run for the Pirates in the third but Jim Hart's two-out single in the fifth following an error by Gene Alley, tied it for the Giants.

Ferguson Jenkins hurled a six-hitter and won his 14th game for the Cubs as the Cardinals' six-game winning streak came to an end.

Ron Santo and Clarence Jones smacked run-scoring doubles, helping Chicago to an early 3-2 edge. Jenkins was coasting on a two-hitter until the eighth when the Cards rocked him for both their runs. But the young right-hander pitched out of the jam and hung on for the victory.

Maloney, 27, buried his second complete game of the season and was in control all the way against the Braves. He scattered three singles and struck out eight.

Maloney protected a 1-0 lead provided when Tony Perez rapped into a bases-loaded double play in the fourth. Then doubles by Don Pavletich and Chico Ruiz gave him an insurance run in the eighth.

Ed Charles drove in three runs with a pair of singles and Don Shaw bailed Don Cardwell out of a bases-loaded jam in the fifth inning as New York ended a six-game losing streak and a seven-game Houston win string.

Charles singled John Sullivan across with the tying run in the second inning and then followed hits by Tommy Davis and Ron Swoboda with a two-run single in the third.

Shaw struck out Rusty Staub, Eddie Mathews and Bob Aspromonte, leaving the bases loaded in the fifth inning. The young left-hander allowed just three hits in five innings of relief and gained credit for his third victory.

Tony Gonzalez drove in both Philadelphia runs with a single and a sacrifice fly as Larry Jackson outduelled Claude Osteen.

Jackson hurled a five-hitter for his eighth victory. Osteen lost his 11th.

San Antonio, Tex. (AP)—Mighty Steve Worster rolls for the last time as a schoolboy football player Thursday night and his final effort could enable the South to break the North's stranglehold in the All-Star game of the Texas Coaching School.

Not since 1961 has the South triumphed in this storied game. It was in San Antonio then, and that has been taken by some as an omen.

The writers have made the South crew strong favorites mostly because of such fellows as Worster, the Bridge City back called the finest power runner in schoolboy football history.

He is backed by another terrific runner, dashing Charles Speyer of Port Arthur. And then there are Dave Elmendorf of Houston Westbury, who plays both offense and defense in sensational fashion, and Jim Sheffield of Houston Waltrip, one of schoolboy football's greatest passers.

Offensively, the South seems to have it solidly over the North, but the North has a defensive genius as its coach—Gene Mayfield of Odessa Permian. He may be just the guy to stop the wild lunges of Worster and the whirlwind runs of Speyer.

Mayfield hinted that he had the tackles to handle even the great Worster in San Angelo's big Randy Stout and Stamford's Joey Lawson.

The North isn't exactly impotent offensively. It has Monty Johnson of Amarillo Tascosa, a two-way player who does everything, including top passing, strong running and accurate placekicking. He booted 33 conversions last season.

The starting offensive line of the North averages 299 pounds, and its defensive array is about 20 pounds to the man heavier than that when the starting tackles, guards and linebackers are considered.

So despite apparent superiority offensively, the South has its work cut out getting past that massive wall at Mayfield's command.

The South sorely needs a victory to boost its self-respect. In the 32 games that have been played, the North has won 19, the South 10 and there have been three ties.

A crowd of 23,000 is expected for the 7:45 p.m. kickoff at Alamo Stadium.

Stan Wright Quits

HOUSTON (AP)—Track coach Stan Wright, who nursed Texas Southern University from obscurity to eminence in track, has quit the school to coach at Western Illinois University, Macomb, Ill. TSU's president confirmed Tuesday.

State Tourney Set Aug. 10

The Morton's Foods team of Big Spring will know the identity of their first round opponent in the Texas State Amateur Softball tournament by next Tuesday, sponsor Cotton Mize has revealed.

The tournament is scheduled Aug. 10-11-12. Originally, there was talk of combining the best softball talent in Big Spring and Lubbock to play in the meet but that plan fell through.

Morton's has played about 25 games as a unit this season and only last weekend captured championship honors in the District 7-26 tournament at Lamesa, turning back Odessa D and B Plumbing in the final game.

Morton's recently split a series with the Abilene A's, state champions in 1966.

Push Buttons To Forecast U.S. Weather?

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — "The day of push button weather forecasting is coming," says Dr. William H. Clayton, a member of a Texas A&M scientist group launching a program to understand and predict local weather with mathematical models.

A computerized thunderstorm is also possible, say the scientists.

The research program is being conducted under a new three-year research grant of about $1.5 million from the Defense Department. The weather program is one part of the department's "Project Themis."

MANY FACTORS

Dr. Horace Byers, meteorological expert and dean of A&M's College of Geosciences, is working with Clayton on the program.

Wind, temperature, turbulence, clouds, barometric pressure and soil temperatures are all involved in the study.

The task involves detailed analysis of one area. Then the area can be moved or expanded at will.

"We'll take a hunk of the atmosphere and assume the rest of the atmosphere will mind its own business," Clayton said.

As to push button weather forecasting, he said: "Twenty years ago there was little objective forecasting. Now, we can beat the subjective people more and more, but by no means can we replace them."

ON MARS

"Even with our models now, give us some data and we'll give you a forecast of the weather on Mars. From what we know, however, its atmosphere is pretty thin."

Project Themis is named after a Greek goddess who had some powers of prophecy. Interest is widespread. The military, for instance, is interested in weather forecasting in possible battle areas of the world where at present there is no subjective or native weather history available.

Such mathematical work has been done before, and is being done by other researchers including the Weather Bureau. But this will be the first time information from a dual-radar system will have been used.

Pals Get Ready For Fish Story

HONOLULU (AP) — Friends of Austin, Tex., attorney George Cox had better get prepared for a fish story.

In Honolulu for the American Bar Association convention, Cox caught a 1,300-pound marlin, the biggest fish ever landed in Hawaiian waters on hook and line.

It took Cox nearly four hours to whipl the fish Monday night. It was so big the marlin had to be towed back to port.

Cox asked for a certification of the weight.

"My friends back home may not believe me," he said.

AUSTIN'S DAY OF AGONY Two Wounded By Tower Sniper Revisit Scene

AUSTIN (AP) — It was a strange sort of anniversary reunion. It wasn't planned as such, and all that linked the two men and the boy were memories of gunfire, fear, pain and blood.

For one of the men and the 18-year-old boy, it was the first time they had stood on the observation deck 231 feet above the University of Texas campus.

From the deck, Charles J. Whitman, a troubled 24-year-old architectural engineering student killed 14 persons and wounded 31 with amazingly accurate rifle and shotgun fire last Aug. 1.

SHOT OFF BIKE

Among those who visited the tower on the first anniversary of Austin's day of agony Tuesday were Morris Hohmann, Aleck Hernandez Jr., and Allen Crum. It was noon, approximately the hour Whitman opened fire.

Hohmann, 31, is a funeral home manager who was wounded while running beside an ambulance. Hernandez, 38, was shot off a bicycle while delivering newspapers. Crum, a retired Air Force gunner, joined two police officers in raiding Whitman's vantage point to end his massacre.

Crum's 14-year-old son, David, was with him. Aleck's mother and father joined him on the deck.

STRANGE FEELING

Hohmann and Hernandez, who became friends in the hospital, came to the tower together. It was the first time they had been there.

Hohmann pointed a home movie camera at the campus below. The people and cars looked tiny, as they must have to Whitman. But Whitman's powerful rifles had telescopic sights.

"I was planning to do this all along and wanted to re-enact as much as I knew anything about and put it on 8 millimeter film," he explained. Pointing at an intersection just west of the campus, he said, "Right there where that blue truck is parked is where I was."

Did the visit to the tower give him a strange feeling?

"No," said Hohmann.

"Yeah, a little," said Hernandez in a quiet voice. He was standing where Whitman may have been when he shot him.

BIG NIGHTMARE

"Coming up here, you still have a funny feeling about it. I guess everybody feels that way. That day it felt like a big nightmare going on that you have been living in," Crum said.

Crum said Whitman, whom police bullets killed, "got what he deserved." Crum, who worked at the campus bookstore across Guadalupe Street—"The Drag"—from the university, has changed jobs. He is administrative supervisor of mechanical technicians at Tracor, an electronics, research and manufacturing firm here.

Flags flew at half staff on the campus. At the base of the pole with the Texas flag was a spray of red roses, one for each person killed.

The tower was closed for nearly a year after the tragedy. It reopened, with a regular force of three campus policemen June 29. About 550 people visit it each weekday and 1,200 on Saturdays.

Kremlin To Buy
Canadian Wheat

MONTREAL (AP) — The Soviet Union is going to buy $150 million worth of Canadian wheat at its second order under a three-year grain agreement signed in 1966.

Canadian Trade Minister Robert Winters and Soviet Foreign Trade Minister N.S. Patolichev said Tuesday a minimum of 75 million bushels of wheat and flour will be delivered between now and next July.

The three-year purchase agreement is for a total of about 336 million bushels. The initial contract last year was for 112 million bushels.

Patolichev said most of the new purchase will be shipped to the Soviet Union, but a small portion of the flour will go to Cuba.

Dope Double-Cross Sparks Deadly War

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — An estimated 300 persons were killed or wounded in a three-day battle between two Chinese hill tribes using machine guns and rockets, Deputy Premier Praphas Charusathien said today.

Praphas told his weekly news conference an unknown number of Burmese, Laotians and Thais were among the casualties in the battle in Burma's Shan state along Thailand's northern border.

Praphas said the two tribes of between 500 and 1,000 men each fought over what was believed to be a double-cross in their opium traffic.

Horoscope Forecast —CARROL RIGNER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although there may be some delays in putting some important plans into motion, there are some very good chances you will get some brilliant inspirations on how you can later express yourself in unique and unusual ways so that you have a greater amount of opportunity in handling all of importance in the future.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): It is better to wait a better day before trying to resolve certain situations of home that are not to your liking. Do whatever will ensure you the right day. Show intensity in this and start bettering matters surreptitiously.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): You have some pain in mind that is best touched off by assistance from those who are experts, so get their aid. There may be some delay on some massive work, but you will get it done and all works out much better.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): You have to use practical sense if you are to get the right benefits you want from present business matters on hand. Know what is expected of you from those who are experts, so get their aid. There may be some delay on some massive work, but you will get it done and all works out much better.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Find right people to get rid of your problems and be sure not to complain in doing your regular work. Love, sex can be quite demanding in p.m. Show that you have a little will power of your own and come to a better understanding.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Anything you plan that needs aid from outside can be successfully provided. Do not demand results too fast. Get out your group meetings. Find a partner from this in the not-too-distant future.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Avoid not being active in business, but do get into the active business world. Get some powerful person who gives back to you. Get some powerful person who gives back to you. Get some powerful person who gives back to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): These interesting ideas that occur to you may not be fruitful until some time later, but work on them with vim and vigor. Show patience with others. Their minds may not be working as quickly as yours.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): You need to handle some work swiftly and accurately if you do avoid some error in business or personal relationships. More does not quite understand your views. Take time to explain your views.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Perhaps you've understood why you do not agree with them. Where a high-up is concerned, but will later on. Take time to study into certain facts, phases you had not thought before.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You have many tasks to perform and you can do them well provided you do not let your emotions run away with you. Getting health improved does much to get you operating beautifully. Be alert to new opportunities.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): Good day for having a good time, but be sure you do not overdo, whether it is your money, or your mate's. You are able to carry through with special talent on the narrow much better. Be careful for 4-Chinese.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow he or she, will be one of those interesting young people who likes to cooperate with others and thereby can be very successful in life, especially where selling is concerned, since the needs of the public are recognized and catered to. Teach early to have a happy accord with those of the opposite sex.

Gold Star Selections To Be Made

Howard County's 1967 4-H Club Gold Star boy and Gold Star girl will be selected Wednesday, but the selections will be secret until the Achievement Day Banquet much later in the fall.

The 1966 Gold Star winners were Carolyn Crawford and Danny Fryar. Last year, the Achievement Day Award dinner was in November.

It is possible, the office of Paul Gross, county agent, said, that the banquet may be a little earlier this year, much earlier than usual.

The Gold Star Award is the highest honor a 4-H Club member can receive at the county level.

The winners are selected by the adult committeemen and committeewomen from each 4-H Club.

Members of the club were advised of the deadline to enter their names for selection for this honor some days ago.

In order to be eligible, a club member must have been at least 12 but no more than 19 years of age Jan. 1, 1967. He or she must have completed at least three years of 4-H Club work, including the current year. He or she must have been active in current year club work, and it is specified they may receive the Gold Star only twice.

Those who have these qualifications must submit a complete record book or write a report on "What I Have Done and Learned in 4-H."

Brown Named To FHA Post

Robert W. Brown, long-time Howard County farmer, has been named to serve a three-year term on the Howard County Farmers Home Administration committee. Brown replaces Edgar L. Phillips, who has served on the committee for the past three years. His home is in Knott.

The other members of the committee are James C. Barr, Coahoma, and Earl S. Hull, Big Spring. These men give assistance to Delbert Donelson, the agency's county supervisor, in determining applicants' eligibility for FHA assistance.

Donelson said funds are available for both farm ownership and rural housing loans. Applications are accepted and processed at the Howard County office, located 605-C Johnson. The office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Help Stamp Out Sick Grass

That's the slogan for one of the largest un-organized movements, now gaining enthusiastic support from Big Spring women. They want the beauty . . . the soft luxury of carpet-like grass underfoot . . . and they're finding it so easy with Bactelife, the organic fertilizer and soil conditioner . . . now available at John Davis Feed Store. Start a "HELP STAMP-OUT SICK GRASS" campaign in your neighborhood . . . you'll find it so easy when you stop by John Davis'.

Dog Classes Being Held

A conformation class, to help local dog owners train to show their animals, is being held in the Highland Shopping Center parking lot each Tuesday at 8 p.m. At 7 p.m., owners may work their obedience dogs.

Rebecca Given, Neal Given and Michael Specht, all of Odessa, are instructing the conformation class, and Dorothy Linn is calling signals for the obedience group.

These classes are preparatory to the Plan A match to be held here in the fall, sponsored by the Big Spring Kennel Club, which is also sponsoring the classes.

Anyone who owns a registered American Kennel Club dog may participate in the classes. The club meets the third Thursday of each month in the Flame Room of Pioneer Gas building, and interested residents are invited to attend.
