CAIRO (AP) — Yugoslav President Tito has begun visiting Socialist Arab countries involved directly in the war with Israel in an effort to help Arab leaders find an acceptable way out of the present deadlock over Israeli possession of territory captured in the war.

No immediate results are expected, but observers believe his mission will be a success if it brings the Arabs to reconsider and take what Tito called a more realistic approach toward a peace formula with the victorious Israelis.

Arab discussions so far have centered on "means of removing the traces of Israeli aggression."

LBJ Sends Message

After extensive talks with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser in Cairo, Tito is expected to go to Syria and Iraq with his plea for realism.

Tito's mission gained importance from the fact that both President Johnson and Soviet leaders have sent him messages outlining their views on a solution to problems of the June war.

Tito is believed to have acquainted Nasser with the attitude of the two largest powers, which reportedly also call for realistic policies. He is expected to do the same in Damascus and Baghdad.

Compromise Formula

Yugoslav sources in Cairo denied Tito brought a peace formula only after Tito and Nasser had talked privately for two hours. This implied Nasser considered it impossible at this stage to discuss any peace formula which would include a compromise.

There were signs Nasser is willing to seek a political solution to the crisis but only if it contains nothing which could be interpreted as capitulation.

Tito's difficulty lies in finding how far Arab leaders will go without considering the solution a capitulation.

The visit to Damascus and Baghdad leaders, known for their extremist attitudes also might be designed to pave the way for an eventual political solution, in which Nasser would not appear as its initiator.

Gunsights Spark Hassle

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — George T. Miller, who ordered seven telescopic rifle sights for the Houston anti-poverty agency, said Sunday he had hoped to convert them into classroom microscopes.

Police Chief Herman E. Short responded to Miller's statement with laughter. Miller, 64, property manager of the Harris County Community Action Association, was vacationing in Virginia Friday when Short made public the scope requisition and the chief's feelings about it: "disgust and outrage."

The sun-weathered Miller wore boots, cowboy hat, Western tie and a satin shirt with pearl snap buttons to a news conference and appeared unperturbed as he read a prepared statement.

Microscopes Plan?

Miller said his job involved ordering surplus goods offered free by the government to anti-poverty agencies. He asked first for microscopes, he said. But they were unavailable, so he ordered the telescopic sights, thinking the lenses could be used to make microscopes.

Miller said he did not know for certain that his plan for making microscopes would work. Dr. Jack Thompson, professor of topics at the University of Houston, said such conversion was impossible, since a microscope constructed from telescope lenses would magnify objects only two or three times.

Miller, one-time Harris county (Houston) deputy sheriff, said the police chief's remarks about the sights were "unfortunate and perhaps malicious."

It's Really Humorous

Miller added, "The chief of police knew the sights were at Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio, not Houston, and that there was no danger even if they were ordered for some nefarious purpose, which they were not."

Short responded later with laughter, saying, "They just requisitioned the rifle sights, and that's all there is to it. I don't consider it too unusual for the Police Department, and me, to get blamed for this. It's really rather humorous."

The scope order was approved by the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington and the General Services Administration's Fort Worth division before it was halted by a civilian employe of Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio, where it was to be filled.

Painful Tax Hike Choice Spelled Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler offered Congress a stark choice today: Reject President Johnson's tax increase and open the way for a possible $29-billion deficit, or enact it and still face the prospect of $14 billion to $18 billion red-ink spending.

Those, Fowler told the House Ways and Means Committee, are the hard facts of the nation's fiscal situation.

INFLATION

He said that with economies the government plans to make, and with the 10 per cent income tax surcharge, which he called "a moderate, temporary, emergency increase," the Treasury can hold its borrowing down to a level that will not disrupt markets and shoot interest rates up. Thus, he said, widespread inflation can be avoided.

Fowler cited higher Vietnam war costs as one reason for the surcharge and added: "We are engaged in a costly conflict in Southeast Asia with no clear prospect of an early ending."

$22 BILLION

But the secretary said the surcharge is designed as a temporary measure and "surely one day will terminate when the engines of freedom conclude that the price of aggression is too high."

Fowler said the cost of the Vietnam war now exceeds $22 billion a year.

Budget Director Charles L. Schultze backed Fowler's estimate of the deficit and said "we are determined to cut more than $1.5 billion" in spending.

"We are aiming at a cut of over $2 billion as a means of holding civilian expenditures below the January estimate," Schultze continued.

Fowler said the spending estimate submitted in January for the year that began July 1 may now be exceeded by as much as $8.5 billion, including $4 billion for defense, and that revenues may be as much as $7 billion less than had been anticipated.

Fowler sought to show that the proposed tax increase is less heavy than those enacted under comparable circumstances in the past. He said that during World War II personal income taxes were raised by the equivalent of 730 per cent and the taxes associated with the Korean War were equivalent to about a 28 per cent surcharge.

BITE PROPOSAL

In contrast, he said, a married couple with two children and a $10,000 salary typically would pay about $11 more under the pending surtax proposal, or not much more than one per cent of total income.

Crowd Frees Dope Suspect

NEW YORK (AP) — A crowd of Spanish Harlem overpowered two detectives at mid-afternoon Sunday and held them until a young Negro woman narcotics suspect escaped.

At the corner of Madison Avenue and 117th Street, Detectives Eli Velasquez and William Toner questioned a Negro girl, about 19. They said later they found in her possession 10 glassine envelopes which could have contained narcotics.

As the detectives started toward their car with the girl, about 100 persons suddenly surrounded them, pulled the girl loose, and kept the officers at bay until she disappeared.

Then the crowd quickly dispersed. Velasquez suffered a sprained wrist. Toner, who was not injured, said "They came out of nowhere, grabbed her and pulled her away from us."

Neither detective drew his gun.

Last month, the Puerto Rican neighborhood was the scene of three nights of violence, touched off when an off-duty patrolman shot and killed a knife-wielding Puerto Rican. Two persons died during the disorders.

Bombing Likely To Trigger Fresh Attacks In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. bombing within 10 miles of Red China detonated sharp new criticism of the Vietnam war by a persistent critic of administration war policy and appeared likely to generate more debate on Capitol Hill.

"I think it's very dangerous and extremely stupid," said Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-ARK., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. But Senate preparedness subcommittee chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., said the broadened bombing of North Vietnam reflects a more-pressure philosophy which he supports.

The new level of bombing came on the eve of Senate debate on President Johnson's foreign aid program. Debate opening today already had been expected to bring fresh attacks on Johnson policies in Vietnam and elsewhere in the world.

Whether one variety of recent congressional criticism—that bombing was too sparingly affected Johnson's decision to add new targets could not be determined as the White House fended off questions on the shift in tactics.

KEY TARGETS

But it was learned that Stennis' subcommittee heard secret testimony last week from Adm. Ulysses S. G. Sharp, Pacific commander, that Johnson had agreed to some extension of warplanes' options to strike what one subcommittee member called "lucrative targets."

Mike Mansfield, a foe of increased bombing, said he hopes to hold the line against further cuts in the bill but adding: "I expect it will be tough going."

He told a newsman he expects "all kinds of amendments to be offered."

The Senate warmed up to its latest Vietnam tussle Friday when a battery of members questioned how fairly the South Vietnamese elections will be run.

Clark Clifford, a Johnson emissary, said Sunday he gave South Vietnamese leaders earlier this month the President's warning a rigged presidential election would cost South Vietnam the support of the American people.

He and Gen. Maxwell Taylor visited South Vietnam chief of state Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, a candidate for president, and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, Thieu's running mate for vice president.

"We took a personal message from President Johnson to Ky and Thieu on this subject and said, as bluntly as it can be said, that if there was any one act on their part which would be calculated to alienate the American people, it would be to have a rigged election in South Vietnam," said Clifford.

TOUGH GOING

Fulbright said the bombing near Red China "is directly contrary to what was the established policy of the government in 1964 and it will lead the country directly into the most disastrous consequences."

Fulbright's committee, including members already troubled over Vietnam, cut Johnson's $3.4 billion foreign aid request by $736 million.

Fulbright Labels Action 'Stupid'

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. warplanes struck for the second straight day today at North Vietnamese targets just 10 miles from Red China's border, along the major railroad from China to Hanoi.

The attacks Sunday and today were closer to the Chinese border than any previous air raids in the Vietnam war.

Navy A6 Intruders and A4 Skyhawks from the carrier Constellation in the Tonkin Gulf raked the Lang Son railroad bypass bridge 63 miles north of Hanoi. Pilots reported dropping the southern span of the 360-foot, four-span structure.

MAJOR LINK

A U.S. military spokesman said the bridge is half a mile east of the Lang Son railroad and highway bridge which was knocked out in raids near the Chinese border Sunday.

The Navy said the bridge was one of two bypass bridges being built by the North Vietnamese at Lang Son to link with the major rail line.

Other Navy pilots from the Constellation hammered a rail siding south of Lang Son and pilots said they cut the tracks in several places.

THREE MISSING

The pilots reported they encountered only light antiaircraft fire.

No planes were reported lost in the latest raids, but the U.S. Command announced that in Saturday's 151 attacks on the North, an F105 Thunderchief and an RF4C reconnaissance plane were shot down by ground fire. All three crewmen were listed as missing.

This brought to 641 the total of announced U.S. warplane losses over North Vietnam.

As the air war came closer to Communist China in what appeared to be a lifting of some target restrictions by President Johnson, sharp ground fighting flared in South Vietnam's northern 1st Corps area.

RED BARRAGE

Elements of the 1st Brigade of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division, starting Operation Benton, ran into a withering barrage of small arms, automatic weapons, mortar and artillery fire from 100 to 150 Communist troops in a battle that raged from Sunday night until nearly dawn today.

The paratroopers said they counted 35 enemy dead on the battlefield southwest of coastal Tam Ky, about 340 miles northwest of Saigon. Two paratroopers were killed and 19 wounded.

The U.S. troops also reported capturing 18 enemy weapons. Another unit of the brigade suffered 12 wounded Sunday night in a 60mm mortar barrage fired by guerrillas.

WEAPONS SEIZED

About 40 miles to the north, Vietnamese rangers sweeping the ridges where they had battled an estimated 1,000 North Vietnamese regulars for two days west of Tam Ky said today they had killed 156 enemy soldiers and captured 45 weapons.

They reported they had suffered moderate casualties in the initial engagement Saturday.

Two reinforcing battalions reported light casualties.

Vietnamese militia defending the Huong Dien subsector post on the coast 10 miles north of Hue reported killing 52 guerrillas in a six-hour battle Sunday.

The defenders suffered light casualties, an army spokesman said.

DEPENDENTS KILLED

Government troops said they later captured three automatic rifles, six rocket launchers and 100 quarter-pound packages of TNT which the guerrillas apparently had planned to use against the outpost.

Reports from Cao Lanh, a provincial capital 72 miles west of Saigon, said Communist mortars killed seven dependents of South Vietnamese troops and wounded 12 others.

In an accident near Da Nang, two 60mm mortar rounds fired by U.S. Marines landed in a Navy Seabee compound, wounding 21 men.

LBJ'S POLICY

The intensified air raids on North Vietnam appeared to reflect the Johnson administration's announced policy of increasing pressure on the Communists.

Unofficial sources said U.S. pilots previously had been instructed to go no closer than 20 miles to China, apparently to avoid possible mistaken attacks on Chinese territory or clashes with Chinese planes, but military authorities refused to confirm this.

VERY DANGEROUS

In Washington, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., a persistent critic of the administration's war policy, called the close bombing "very dangerous and extremely stupid." He said it was "directly contrary to what was the established policy of the government in 1964 and it will lead to the country directly into the most disastrous consequences."

But other congressmen recently criticized President Johnson for sparing what they called lucrative targets in the North.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, said Sunday that U.S. pilots are getting "new and better equipment and ordnance which is proving more effective" in raids against military targets in the North, the New York Daily News reported from Saigon.

MEETS WITH GOVERNORS

Romney Renews GOP Drive

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP) — Gov. George Romney's final push for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination appeared to be under way today following a weekend meeting with three of his major supporters.

The weekend was billed as time of rest and relaxation and Romney and his guests, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Rhode Island Gov. John Chafee, and former Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton, left Sunday still insisting there had been little serious political discussion.

NEW TONE

But at a news conference Saturday, the three for the first time together emphatically endorsed Romney, and said they would work for his nomination.

There also appeared a new tone to Romney's news conferences, a tone that indicated to some there is no longer any question that Romney will seek the nomination, although he has yet to formally announce his candidacy.

None of the dozen newsmen who trailed the governors to this island resort, which can be reached only by plane or boat in daylight hours, asked the governors when or if he would announce.

ROMNEY HAS ROUTINELY turned aside that question at every news conference since the 59-year-old governor won a landslide re-election last November and became a front-runner for the nomination.

The questions and answers seemed to take for granted Romney's intention to seek the nomination.

"Already the three of us share deeply a sense of dedication to help Gov. Romney win the nomination," Rockefeller said as he sat with the other three on the veranda of the governor's 3-story, 29-room, white-frame mansion overlooking the broad Straits of Mackinac.

Chafee has endorsed Romney in the past as has Rockefeller, but Scranton, who left office in January after the four-year term that Pennsylvania governors are limited to, has been pretty much of a fence-sitter.

PREMATURE

Scranton made an attempt to wrest the 1964 nomination from Barry Goldwater but got no public support from Romney, who was widely criticized at the time for his aloofness.

Scranton beamed his approval, however, of Rockefeller's statement as did Chafee.

Rockefeller was asked about the possibility of his trying for the vice presidential spot on a Romney ticket.

"That's not my responsibility," he said. "That's George's." Romney interjected, "It's a little premature to think of that."

GOP TALENT

But Romney added, "We are obviously going to need tremendous talent and leadership. The Republican party has that. Just look at the abundance of Republican talent and ability all across the country, and of course there are many men in Congress too."

The exact role that Rockefeller and Scranton are playing in the Romney drive is unclear. The meeting here was planned only three days ago and seemed to be more of an effort to bring back in the public eye the Romney drive, somewhat sidetracked by a long but successful legislative battle for state fiscal reform and riots that devastated Detroit and spread across Michigan.

Traffic accidents and other causes of violent death claimed fewer lives than usual in Texas during the weekend.
The toll tabulated by The Associated Press between 6 a.m. Friday and midnight Sunday reached 24—including 13 in traffic, nine homicides and two from other causes.
These were among the victims:
Houston police said a shot from a passing car killed Ray Valdez, 17, as he stood at an intersection Sunday night. They reported a group of youths fired earlier at the home of deputy constable Julian Ramon, he shot back as the car passed again and a bullet from the passing auto then struck Valdez.
GALVESTON STABBING
Helen Culpepper, 41, of Rosenberg died Sunday at the Richmond Hospital where she recently finished training as a vocational nurse. She was injured when a car driven by Alta Achord, 29, her roommate, hit a utility pole east of DeWalt in Fort Bend County. Mrs. Achord escaped serious injury.
An argument ended in the fatal stabbing of Alton Scott Jr., 42, Sunday in Galveston. Freddie Grimes, 44, a neighbor, was held without bond on a murder charge.
Juan Hinojosa, 18, was killed by gunfire early Sunday in Houston. Neighbors told police shots awakened them and they saw Hinojosa firing a pistol as a car pulled away.

PREACHER SHOT
George Dixon, 35, was stabbed fatally with a broken beer bottle after an argument at a Houston barbecue stand Saturday night. Officers charged Edward "Football" Alexander, 33, a laborer, with murder.
A three-car crash killed David Sepski, 41, late Saturday in Corpus Christi.
Houston detectives said they had no suspects in the slaying of Johnnie Griffin, 69, a longshoreman and parttime preacher who was found shot to death behind a longshoremen's union hall Saturday. Officers said they found empty cartridges at both ends of a parking lot and "it looks like they were shooting from every direction."
WOMEN KILLED
Carlos Mireles, 28, was shot near the heart while inspecting a pistol at the home of his grandparents at DeWalt, in Fort Bend County, and died before reaching a hospital at Sugarland.
A foreign convertible hit a tree Sunday night in Northeast Dallas and killed a man identified by police as C. Michael Miller, 24, of Eiters, Pa. Critical injuries were suffered by a companion, Jerry Radetsky, 21, of Dallas.
Howard Lyda, 29, was thrown clear and injured Saturday when the earth-moving vehicle he was testing careened out of control at Grand Prairie and crushed the small car in which his wife Jean, 29, and Marlis McCarty, 30, were waiting. Both women were killed.
Russell Craft, 17, of Seagoville fell off the trunk of a moving car and was killed Sunday while returning home from an East Dallas swimming party.
FATAL FLIP
Jerome Shimek, 21, of Fayetteville, Tex., was killed Sunday evening when he was thrown from a car and it overturned on him in Frelsburg, north of Columbus in Colorado County.
A collision near the outskirts of Waco killed Clyde Waldrep, 38, of Waco late Sunday night. His vehicle collided with one in which police were transferring prisoners from McGregor to Waco.

Also attending from the area is Darrell N. Flynt, Forsan superintendent, president of the Howard County unit. Sam Anderson, Big Spring superintendent, is TSTA president and will preside at the meet.
The conference, which is San Antonio, is held each year to provide the state's 390 TSTA unit presidents with up-to-date information on association activities.

Queen's House Mighty Sticky

LONDON (AP)—A fire engine with a turntable ladder trundled up to Buckingham Palace today and out piled the pigeon squad.
They clambered up to window ledges and started the jobs of teaching pigeons they'll get sticky feet if they hang around the queen's house.

Denis Parsons and Ray Ash, special pest control experts, uncoiled sheets of a special plastic that will be laid on ledges, cornices and other protuberances of the big stone palace over a period of about ten days.
The "scarecrow strip" as it is called is a soft plastic. It does not harm the birds but gives them a very unhappy feeling. When they land on it, the plastic gives and any alert pigeon feels insecure. He takes off to find a firmer perch, somewhere.

To do Buckingham Palace will require about a mile of the strip.

Kathleen Johnson, 20, daughter of State Motor Vehicles Director Fred Johnson of Lincoln, suffered neck cuts.
Three other persons in the car were not hurt.

Forsan Budget Hearing Set

FORSAN—The Forsan School Board will meet Tuesday in the board room in Forsan High School and besides routine business matters, the board will conduct a public hearing on the 1967-68 budget for the district.
The budget, as adopted, is slightly up from last year. Next year's figure is pegged at $352,016 compared to $348,369 for 1966-67.
The increase is necessary to compensate for the advance in teachers' salaries.
At an earlier meeting the Forsan Board set the prices for school lunches in the two cafeterias at 40 cents for pupils and 60 cents for teachers. This was done in the face of increased food costs and in an effort to eliminate part of the deficit in the operation of the cafeterias.

A breakdown on the budget shows $23,997 marked for administrative purposes; $199,957 for instruction; $1,540 for health; $15,496 for pupil transportation; $38,374 for operation of plant; $3,080 for maintenance of plant; $7,300 for fixed charges; $2,500 for food service; $6,500 for student activities; $1,200 for community services; $968 for capital outlay; $51,127 for debt service. Of the budget, $23,757 goes for salaries.

—CARROL RICHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Only by an attitude of calm and a serene confidence will you be able to use this day to advantage and keep out of some arguments and discussions that could easily cause estrangement between those who are otherwise vital to your welfare and happiness. Do what pleases others.
ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Do not give in to some momentary temptation that could ruin your reputation. Show that you have will power. Keep busy with work at hand. Be more concerned with personal affairs instead of civic ones.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) While some new interest may seem most desirable, unless further study, you may find it to have serious flaws. Think carefully before you jump into it. Keep in touch with your own problems. You can make it more profitable.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Using some devious means to get out of paying some tax obligation could get you into tremendous trouble, so consider well and do better. Be more devoted with media in p.m. Then look over your problems tactfully.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Important new exercise drive in motion or driving your car today and avoid any trouble that could cause an anxiety. Be the soul of gentility in talking with a close tie. Cut off that sarcastic remark before it is uttered.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you exhibit some serious measure now, you find your assets start growing quickly. Think over how to improve the value and number of your home, other property. Show that you are on the job.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) One of those days when you want to argue with everyone and get absolutely nowhere. Be more controlled and show devotion to others instead. Show that friendships are very valuable to you.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Do not make any sudden and radical changes because you think certain persons or conditions are restricting you. Be fair, be sure. Assist others and then think about your own future.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Avoid that state friend who seems a winning boy and you could get the brunt of his anger. Keep busy with important and personal matters. The social could be fraught with petty ironies, etc. Be happy.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow... he, or she, will be one of those round people who is anxious to have others like him, or her, but will take rather strange methods to achieve such aims. So teach early to be kind, courteous and charming with everyone instead. Guard them for the property-minded, whether in building or handling real estate matters for others.

Fourth Patrolman Joins Force Here

For the first time in four years Howard County's force of state highway patrolmen is once again four.

graduate of the Texas Department of Public Safety's patrol academy in Austin, has been assigned to duty here.

He has joined Jimmy Parks, Arvin Henry and Jack White, the three patrolmen who have been on duty here for some years.

Temporarily Maxwell is riding with Patrolman White, familiarizing himself with the county and its network of highways and roads. Later he will ride with the other patrol members.

It is possible that he will be assigned his own car next spring and join the county crew as a regular driver.

A native of Odessa, Maxwell only recently was discharged from the U.S. Air Force.

He immediately enrolled in the DPS Patrol Academy and began his tenure of duty here Aug. 10. He had graduated from the academy six days earlier.

He and his family are living at 2200 Runnels. His family consists of his wife, Vivian, their daughter, Eunice, 3 and their young son, Richard, now 16-months-old. Mrs. Maxwell, like her husband, is an Ector County native. Both attended schools in Odessa.

Folk Singer Calls DAR Ban 'Silly'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Folk singer Joan Baez, who usually commands top fees for her concerts, will give a free performance tonight on the Washington Monument grounds after being banned from Constitution Hall.

The Daughters of the American Revolution, which owns the hall, refused to let her perform there because she opposes the war in Vietnam.

"The DAR is very much behind our boys in Vietnam," said Mrs. William Henry Sullivan Jr., of Scarsdale, N.Y., president of the organization.

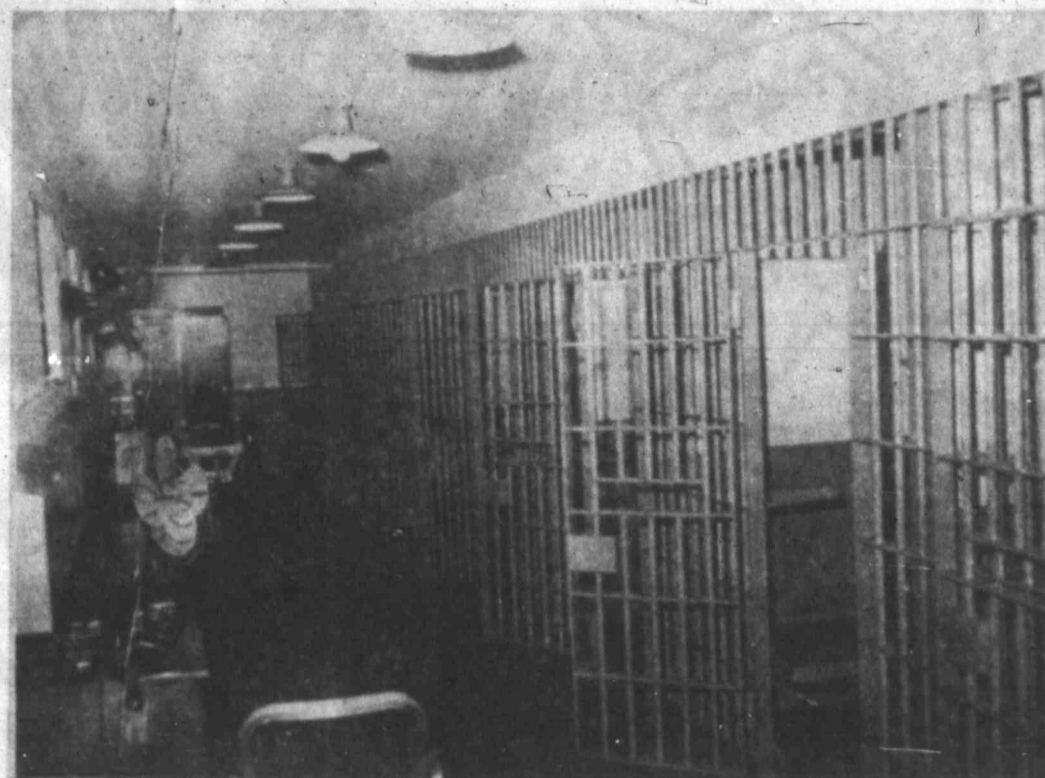

Miss Baez called the ban silly but added she doesn't want to condemn the DAR. "They do it out of the same kind of fear we all make our mistakes by," she said.

Denison Woman Wreck Victim

DURANT, Okla. (AP) — Barbara Waterloo, 23, of Denison, Tex., was killed Sunday night in a two-car crash at a country road intersection near Calera, in Southern Oklahoma.

Her husband Ralph was taken to a Durant hospital in serious condition.

The other driver, Ronald Umstead of Durant, was believed to have escaped serious injury.

PRISON'S ORIGINAL DEATH ROW

Condemned Outnumber Cells On First Death Row

HUNTSVILLE — It has been more than three years since anyone has been executed for a capital crime in Texas. The last person to die in the electric chair at the Huntsville Unit of the Texas Department of Corrections was Joseph Johnson Jr., 20, who met death July 30, 1964 after being convicted in the slaying of a Houston grocer during a hold-up.

Since then, the prison's original death row, designed to hold eight condemned men, cannot hold the 20 men who may pay the supreme penalty.

In order to accommodate them, prison officials have set aside a cell block at the Ellis Unit, 15 miles northeast of Huntsville.

Each condemned person is housed in an individual cell. However, the cell block, being a part of the over-all prison unit, makes it possible for each occupant to enjoy the facilities of the unit's day room three days per week.

None of the 20 condemned men has an exact execution date, due to indefinite stays or new trials granted by both state and federal courts.

Most of the inmates on Ellis Death Row agree that capital punishment may be a thing of the past in Texas — with this one important exception. It is still part of the state's criminal code. Although no one has been executed in more than three years, there is a large number of convicted men, who have been assessed the death penalty, in county jails pending completion of appeals.

Joe Edward Smith is the veteran inmate on Death Row, where he has been nearly six years, having first come to Huntsville Dec. 28, 1961. He was one of several defendants in the July, 1959 Bodenheimer ice-box murder case in Houston and had his case before the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court Jan. 12, 1965. The court has not rendered a decision.

Smith, like many of his fellow Death Row occupants, is hopeful the courts will order a reversal and grant a new trial. A product of the Gatesville School for Boys, he is now 25 years old. He maintains he is innocent of the charge the state holds against him.

"I was not there," he said. "I had nothing to do with it." In spite of his long residence on Death Row, Smith appears in good health, in addition to being mentally alert. He said that at first he worried about holding up mentally.

"Now if I can hold up physically," he added, "I can make it mentally." One of the other men on Death Row, William Bryan, convicted of murder in Fort Bend County, came to Death Row in October, 1966. The U.S. Supreme Court has refused to reverse his case. He is waiting to be taken back to Fort Bend County for re-sentencing. Unless his attorneys can convince a higher court that Bryan should not be executed, he has something to worry about.

ILLEGAL
Paul W. Crain has been on Death Row since July 28, 1966. He was convicted of murder in Harris County, and his case was referred to a lower court by the U.S. Supreme Court. He says that the death penalty is illegal because the state qualifies all jurors on the death penalty.

"The death penalty is not American justice," Crain stated. In his final remarks, Crain declared: "I am not a criminal now anymore than I was when I was arrested."

John Oscar Young, 28, of Houston was given the death penalty for the armed robbery of a wealthy family in March, 1964. He takes a philosophical view of his case, because he said after the federal courts got through with it, he will get out from under the clutches of the electric chair.

Young admitted he was not adverse to committing a few robberies, and quipped: "I never robbed anyone but thieves and gamblers."

ONLY THE POOR
"Don't forget that the only man to get the electric chair in Texas is a poor white man or a Negro," one condemned man said.

The record seems to bear out this statement. Reviewing the 189 executions in the death chamber in Huntsville since 1938, only a small percentage were men of wealth.

Search For Killer Of Brunette Veers

DALLAS (AP) — Investigators turned to other cities today in search of clues to the killer who throttled a former airline stewardess in a downtown hotel.

Capt. Will Fritz of the homicide bureau expressed hope that details of similar slayings elsewhere might yield some lead to the man who killed brunette Carol Jane Black, 29.

A part-time employment agency sent Mrs. Black to fill a telephoned request for a receptionist-secretary. It came from a man identifying himself as an executive of a Seattle, Wash., aircraft corporation here to conduct interviews.

'DO NOT DISTURB'
Fritz said the aircraft firm reported it had no employee under the name given by the man and no such interviews were scheduled here.

The body was found Friday night by Joe W. Black, husband of the dead woman, and by an assistant manager and a security officer of the hotel when they entered a 19th floor suite.

Black, an insurance agent, told of going to the suite about noon Friday and finding the door locked with a "do not disturb" sign on the knob. She had left the employment agency en route to work at 8:55 a.m.

After trying to telephone his wife several times in the afternoon, only to be told the hotel switchboard had orders to complete no calls to that room, Black went back and induced the hotel men to unlock it.

They found the body across a bed with a dress pulled around the waist and the hose and undergarments of the slain woman under a blanket on the bed.

GAGS REMOVED
Fritz said there were indications that Mrs. Black was gagged with adhesive tape and hand and foot, but any such bindings had been removed.

The homicide captain said she was strangled but examiners have not determined whether the victim was raped.

Hotel employees reported the man who registered shortly after 8 a.m. Friday departed without paying his bill or checking out. They described him as 30 to 35 years old and about six feet tall.

Mrs. Black, a Houston native, had attended Longview schools and Texas Christian University. She made her home in Dallas with her husband and two small daughters.

Also surviving are her parents, Oran T. Kent of Houston and Mrs. Richard Dallam of Longview; two brothers, Tommy Kent of Miami Springs, Fla., and John M. Kent of Sparta, N.J., and her grandmother, Mrs. Ida Williams of Fort Worth.

PASO Slaps Gov. Connally

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Mexican Americans ended the fifth annual convention of the Political Association of Spanish Speaking Organizations (PASO) Sunday with slaps at Gov. John Connally and the Texas Rangers.

PASO passed unanimous resolutions asking that the Rangers be abolished and Connally defeated in any fourth term bid. Roy Elizandiro was re-elected chairman of the group, and Houston was picked as the 1968 convention site.

The group said the Rangers repeatedly were guilty of violating the civil rights of many and had "outlived their purpose of pacifying Indian uprisings, banditry and curbing bootlegging."

Connally was criticized for "his lack of support for the state minimum wage and failure to recognize the rights of the Texas worker."

The resolutions also said Connally "used the Texas Rangers as strike-breaking thugs."

Sens. John Tower, R-Tex., and Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., each was commended for his efforts in Washington. Other resolutions praised the Office of Economic Opportunity, members of the clergy who took part in the Valley farm workers march and the strikers against a Houston coffee plant.

In another resolution, Congress was asked to amend the National Labor Relations Act to cover farm workers and to assure that Spanish speaking children received their initial schooling in Spanish until they were able to master the English language.

Former Convict Shot To Death

HOUSTON (AP) — Charles August Mikeska, 32, a former convict, was shot to death early today.

Mikeska's death climaxed one of the bloodiest weekends in Houston history with eight slayings. The city now has 150 killings this year compared to 128 last year.

Police quoted witnesses as saying Mikeska and two other persons were walking along a street when two gunmen lined them up against the side of a house. One of the men who was armed with a rifle, shot Mikeska, witnesses told police.

Mikeska served two burglary theft sentences from Houston, police said, and was released March 18 after serving six years on a burglary conviction from Victoria.

Explosion Traps Miners In Spain

MIERES, Spain (AP) — An explosion killed at least one miner, critically hurt another and trapped 14 or 15 in a mine near Mieres today.

One body was removed from the pit at midmorning and a critically injured miner was rescued about two hours after the blast.

Seventeen miners were first reported trapped but mine officials said later they were not certain of the number. Ambulances, medical equipment and rescue parties were rushed to the mine, but efforts to contact the trapped miners have been unsuccessful so far. The officials said the explosion occurred just after the morning shift entered the pit, whose main gallery was believed to have collapsed.

ACTION RULED ILLEGAL

Search Uncovers Fruits Of Crime

DALLAS (AP)—Switching on red lights and siren, a policeman stops a car with a loud muffler. It's 4 a.m. and traffic is sparse.

The officer asks the driver for his operator's license. He has none. The policeman asks the driver and a passenger to sit in his squad car with his partner.

LOOT RECOVERED

Then the policeman searches the car with the defective muffler. He discovers a gun, a paper sack stuffed with money and a handkerchief, all concealed under the glove compartment.

What the officer found was the loot of a motel robbery just minutes earlier. The passenger in the car was subsequently convicted of armed robbery and sentenced to 25 years in prison.

FREEDOM LOOKS

But that prisoner may soon walk out of the state penitentiary because a federal judge in Dallas has ruled that the officer's search of the car was not reasonable, and thus violated the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution.

This amendment, one of ten in the Bill of Rights, establishes the "right of the people to be secure . . . against unreasonable searches and seizures."

U.S. Dist. Judge W. M. Taylor Jr. ruled that the gun, money and handkerchief were illegally obtained and should not have been permitted to be introduced in evidence at the robbery trial of Daniel Grundstrom, who had seven previous felony convictions.

APPEAL NOTICE

The judge granted Grundstrom's petition for a writ of habeas corpus and ordered him discharged from prison, subject to the right of the State of Texas to retry him.

The attorney general's office in Austin has served notice of appeal and the case appears headed for the U.S. Supreme Court. Officials here say that the high court never has ruled on the question of searching automobiles in connection with arrests for traffic violations.

The state is also asking Judge Taylor to stay his order so that Grundstrom would not be released until higher courts have ruled on his decision.

FAR-REACHING

The final outcome of the case will have a far-reaching effect on law enforcement officers throughout the United States.

Dallas Police Chief Charles Bachelor says that, pending a final decision by appellate courts, his department has no plans to change its routine in traffic violation cases.

"We have always felt, under our interpretation of the law, that we have the right to search a car if we have the right to stop it for a violation," Bachelor said.

Bachelor said that some courts have ruled that no search may be made of a car stopped at a driver's license check-point.

FISHING?

Referring to Judge Taylor's ruling, Bachelor said, "If this applies to all traffic violations, it will be highly restrictive if it is upheld. We undoubtedly would have to make some changes."

In his 15-page opinion, Judge Taylor said, "To permit all searches incidental to an arrest . . . would be to allow wholesale fishing expeditions whenever a legal arrest is made."

The judge also said, "The fact that the officer's search uncovered the instrumentalities and fruits of a crime does not render this exploratory search valid."

Angelo's Only Air Service Criticized

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Complaints about service furnished San Angelo by Trans-Texas Airways have been aired here by the Board of City Development's aviation committee, headed by W.D. Parker. Parker said the problems—in the realm of lack of service, personnel and flight scheduling—have been acknowledged by T-TA's local manager and public relations personnel from Houston. The line furnishes San Angelo's only air service.

AFTER BITTER EXCHANGE

Peking Releases Kremlin Vessel

MOSCOW (AP)—The battered Soviet merchant ship Svirsk limped out of the Red Chinese port of Dairen Sunday a Moscow report said, after the Chinese released her captain and three crewmen following a bitter exchange of protest notes with the Soviets.
The Soviet Union announced that seven tugboats full of Red Guards escorted the ship out of the Yellow Sea port. The Svirsk's hull, superstructure and equipment bore anti-Soviet inscriptions.
All the Russian crewmen were aboard when the Svirsk headed for the Soviet port of Vladivostok, the announcement reported, but the ship's documents were kept by the Chinese.
DON'T COME BACK
Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin sent a telegram to Chinese Premier Chou En-lai Saturday demanding that the Red Chinese release the captain and captured crewmen and let the Svirsk sail.
A Peking broadcast heard in Tokyo, however, made no mention of Kosygin's telegram in announcing that "the Chinese government ordered the captain and one other crewman to leave China and never come back to this country."
BADGE REFUSED
The ship arrived in Dairen July 22 and shortly after, a Pravda dispatch said, second navigator Stanislav V Ivanov was accused by Chinese authorities of refusing to accept a Mao Tse-tung badge. The Chinese demanded that Ivanov be turned over to them but Capt. Viktor A. Korzhov refused.
When the captain went to the port office Friday to register the Svirsk's departure, he was arrested, Pravda said.
The Chinese version held that two crewmen asked for a Mao badge and then "wilfully insulted it and threw one badge into the sea." Peking called it "an intolerable act of sacrilege towards Chairman Mao" and "an extremely serious provocative incident against China."
SOVIET PLOT?
The Chinese version was contained in a note delivered to the Soviet Embassy in Peking and broadcast by the New China News Agency.
The Soviets planned the whole incident, the Chinese note charged, to "worsen relations between China and the Soviet Union." The Chinese ignored a formal protest note by the Russians Friday, then Kosygin sent his telegram to Chou, warning that the Chinese might be jeopardizing trade between China and the Soviet Union.
Pravda said Red Guards stormed aboard the Svirsk on Saturday, smashed the ship's equipment, beat up its captain and threatened the crew after the crew refused demands of perhaps 2,500 Red Guards to exchange the navigator for the arrested captain.
Moscow Radio said the navigator was finally seized.
Last December the Chinese held another Soviet ship in Dairen for 20 days.

Top Marks In Texas Below 100

By The Associated Press
Milder than normal August weather lingered in Texas today. Occasional showers peppered western areas of the state lightly during the night and early morning. Skies were mostly clear in other sections.
Temperatures near dawn ranged from a cool 57 degrees at Dalhart in the upper Panhandle up to 74 at Del Rio and 78 at Galveston.
Effects of last week's cool front kept Sunday's top marks below 100 throughout Texas. The afternoon highs varied from 80 at El Paso to 95 at Presidio in the Big Bend country.
Dalhart received 1 1/2 inch of rain during the night. Most other points didn't get enough to measure as shower activity in the Panhandle extended southward close to Lubbock and from the New Mexico line eastward almost to the west edge of Oklahoma.
Showers also fell south of Galveston in the Gulf of Mexico but they were not expected to affect coastal areas.
Forecasts indicated little change the next day or so.

Shot From Car Kills Teenager

HOUSTON (AP)—Ray Valdez 17, was shot and killed Sunday night, apparently by a group of youths firing from a car at the home of deputy constable Julian Ramon.
Homicide detectives said three shots had been fired from the car at Ramon's house and the deputy constable got his own pistol and fired three shots in the air when the car passed again.
Witnesses said one return shot was fired from the car. It struck Valdez, who was standing beside an automobile at a nearby intersection.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠J1043 ♥K98 ♦A97 ♣Q76
Your partner opens with one spade. What is your response?
A.—Two spades. This hand is worth 10 points in support of partner's suit, which brings it barely within the limits of a single raise.
Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A3 ♥K104 ♦K92 ♣Q10964
The bidding has proceeded: West North East South Pass Pass Pass 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—You made a slightly shaded opening bid in the fourth seat and, having adequate heart support, should pass at this point. Since partner failed to jump, it seems safe to assume that game is out of the question.
Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A10 ♥A83 ♦Q432 ♣1095
The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 2 NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Three no trump. The points just don't add up to a slam. Partner has at most 20 points which with your 11 total just 31.
Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q4 ♥A10 ♦QJ1063 ♣1095
The bidding has proceeded: West North East South Pass 1 ♦ Dble. Redble. 1 ♥ Pass Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—One no trump. While you have a satisfactory holding with which to offer partner a raise, there will be opportunity for that action later on should the auction become competitive. But since three no trump appears your best for a game contract an immediate effort should be made to tell partner that your hand is primarily a balanced one with fairly scattered values.
Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KJ9653 ♥5 ♦K4 ♣K102
The bidding has proceeded: West North East South Pass 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 2 NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Three spades. This hand was close to being a positive response initially and something must be done now to correct the negative impression that has been created. Showing the spade suit is just the first step. If partner raises spades you can next show the king of clubs. If his rebid is four clubs your fitting cards in his suits are enough to make a club slam a reasonable undertaking.
The bidding has proceeded: West North East South Pass 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 2 NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Four spades. If you bid just three, partner with some weak spade holding, may be forced to pass. His ability to bid freely guarantees enough overall strength to make game a reasonable undertaking and your spade suit is practically self-sufficient.
Q. 6—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQ4 ♥AQ3 ♦J862 ♣A73
Your right hand opponent opens with one diamond.
What do you bid?
A.—Double. The decision is close between the take-out double and an overall of one no trump. We intend to choose the latter for a raise on the next round, we wish to double first to offer partner an inducement to bid in the majors if he has sufficient length.
Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠12 ♥A ♣AKQ87 ♣AQ107
The bidding has proceeded: West North East South Pass Pass 1 ♥ Dble. Pass 1 ♣ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Two hearts. This hand very nearly measures up to the requirements for an immediate cue bid. Strong action is therefore recommended. If partner rebids spades you may raise him. If he has a secondary minor suit he will be induced to show it and, if he bids no trump, you are prepared to support that contract.
Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠J109864 ♥98 ♦Q108 ♣K5
The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 2 ♣ Pass 2 NT Pass 3 ♣ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Three spades. This hand was close to being a positive response initially and something must be done now to correct the negative impression that has been created. Showing the spade suit is just the first step. If partner raises spades you can next show the king of clubs. If his rebid is four clubs your fitting cards in his suits are enough to make a club slam a reasonable undertaking.

Abilene Boy, Lamesa Girl Win Junior Rodeo Saddles

By SAM BLACKBURN
Rex Bland, Abilene, and Ann Miller, Lamesa, won the handmade saddles Saturday night as the top cowboy and cowgirl of the 22nd Annual Howard County Junior Rodeo.

Bland, entered in the 16-19 age group, scored a total of 577 points to easily give him the victory in the boy's division, and Ann, with 399 points, in the 13-15 year age group, won the high score for girls at the meet.

They received their saddles from the Jack Lewis Buick and Cadillac Co. and from the Ward Boot and Saddle Shop. This is the first time the local rodeo has awarded two saddles for the top girl and top boy of these annual shows.

The two winners were selected on points scored in all of the events in which they competed for the three nights they participated.

Ann won top honors for the rodeo in barrel racing in her age group and took home one of the 20 silver buckles awarded by the association. She had an average time of 37.15 and barely nosed out a fellow Lamesa, Ti'Ada Sharp, who had an average of 37.82.

Tuesday Hearing Is Open To All

Final approval of the 1968 school year budget is expected Tuesday night in a trustee meeting following a public hearing at 7:30 o'clock in the board room. Trustees and administrative personnel will answer questions and explain portions of the proposed budget to interested citizens during the hearing.

In the general fund, the district expects revenues of $4,904,111, compared with expenditures of $3,962,195, leaving a year-end balance of $41,915. In the interest and sinking fund, $676,637 will be received, with expenditures of $484,505, leaving a balance of $188,132.

Local receipts are expected to furnish 40 per cent of monies for financing the schools—contributing $1,847,095. Real estate taxes, which include current and delinquent accounts in addition to penalties and interest, total $1,820,350. Balance of the local revenue—$26,745—is expected from tuition, interest on investments, rentals, donations, fees and other items.

Local tax rates are fixed by the school on a basis of 60 per cent true value at the rate of $1.70 per $100 valuation. Tax roll for 1968 is expected to reach $182,000,000 in property valuation.

County funds will contribute $553; state funds, $1,921,426; federal revenue, $287,000; payments on short term loans, $16,700. Combined with cash on hand of $603,954, total available receipts are $4,676,748.

Of the expenditures, instructional expense should account for 65 per cent of the total, $2,871,187 of budgeted expenditures the five per cent salary raise for teachers passed by the state legislature and approved by the local school board in order to keep local wages $650 above the state minimum.

Other accounts, with previous budget figures in parentheses, call for: Administration and business, $167,854 ($169,936); attendance service, $19,354 ($17,461); health

Andrews Guilty Of Perjury Raps

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - A jury convicted Dean Andrews today of lying to a grand jury about a mysterious figure in the alleged New Orleans plot to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

Guilty on three of five perjury counts, the Criminal Dist. Court jury decided at 1:30 a.m., after deliberating two hours and 40 minutes.

"I really shouldn't complain," said Andrews with a heavy sigh moments before he was hustled off to jail. "If I didn't have had luck, I wouldn't have any at all."

Defense attorney Harry Burgess immediately announced an appeal will be filed on many points of law.

Judge Frank J. Shea did not set a date for sentencing. Burgess said Andrews, 44, will not be eligible for bond until he has been sentenced. Maximum sentence would be five years.

Hot Spell Zips East

Negroes Demanding Beer Wound Five White Men

HAMMOND, La. (AP) — A group of Negroes demanding, "we want beer!" shot into a crowd of whites barring their way to a tavern Sunday night, wounding five white men, state police said.

State police and sheriff's deputies raided Negro bars at Covington, 20 miles from here, before dawn today and arrested 12 Negro men and women.

Col. Thomas D. Burbank, state director of public safety, rushed from Baton Rouge and said several of those jailed had taken part Sunday in the Bogalusa civil rights "liberation march" which stopped here for the night en route to the state capital.

'CURIOSITY MARCHERS'
"But they haven't been regular marchers," said Sheriff Tom Sanders of Tangipahoa Parish. "I'd say they were curiosity marchers."

A. Z. Young, leader of the march, denied any of his followers were involved. He said, "All of our people were here."

The wounded men were hospitalized in Hammond. Authorities at the hospital refused to give their condition.

Col. Ray Heard of the state Crime Laboratory gave paraffin tests to the arrested Negroes, to determine if any had fired weapons recently.

TAUT ATMOSPHERE
Sixty-five state troopers armed with riot guns guarded the Negro marchers who camped for the night at a school.

Streets of Hammond were deserted in the predawn hours, but the atmosphere was taut. Burbank indicated he would try to escort the marchers out of the area before their scheduled 10 a.m. departure.

About 100 marchers slept in the ballpark of Greenville Park High School, a Negro school, inside a ring of cars drawn to gether like covered wagons of the Old West. Arc lights illuminated the area.

Shortly before dawn, all but 20 left in cars for Bogalusa. Young said those who remained would continue the trek.

RACIAL BRAWL
White witnesses to the shooting said there was a racial brawl at the combination bar and service station, the Riverside Inn, earlier in the evening. They said a Negro who was refused service cursed and struck a white man and was beaten

FURIOUS WHITES
Shortly after the shooting, a crowd of furious whites gathered at the inn. Some were and kicked unconscious. Sheriff Sanders said 11 Negroes later returned to the bar, demanding beer.

They were told they would be served outside, he said.

When several whites blocked the door, said Sanders, the Negroes opened fire, then fled to two cars. Sanders said the Negroes had two pistols and a shotgun.

State troopers arrested a Negro girl near the scene of the shooting. She told officers she got out of the car before the Negroes went to the bar because she didn't want to be involved. Troopers said she identified all of the assailants.

armed. A sheriff's deputy said he persuaded them to go home.

Officers found two abandoned autos, believed used by the Negroes and discovered a revolver, a .22-caliber automatic pistol and a sawed-off shotgun inside.

Heir To Throne Dunks Countess

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles, heir to Britain's throne, created quite a splash when he dived into a swimming pool party, the Sunday Express reported.

It was after midnight, some unnamed guests were quoted as saying, Queen Elizabeth II had left the party, and some guests had gone swimming when the aquatic high jinks occurred last weekend.

One guest told the Express that 48-year-old Primrose, Countess Cadogan, came with-out a swimsuit.

"Primrose was wearing a blue silk dress. She was running up and down the side of the pool wondering how she could get in," he added.

"Then Prince Charles and another guest, Prince Ali of Mubadabat, gripped her hands and pulled her in with all her clothes on."

Another guest remarked that "Primrose took it all in great fun" and started swimming around.

The party took place at Buckhurst Park, country home of a friend of Prince Philip.

Weapons Shelved By Angelo Cops
SAN ANGELO (AP)—The confiscated weapons stored at the San Angelo police station include eight full shelves of 22 caliber automatic pistols. Capt. Odell Wagner said of the guns, available by mail order, "We get one or two of those every day."

Viet Buddhists Vow Protests

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's militant Buddhists vowed today to stage protests against the government's recognition of a rival faction as the country's official Buddhist church and hinted at a "struggle movement."

In a strongly worded statement, the leadership also denounced the current presidential campaign and called for "drastic changes."

They avoided saying what form the protests would take, but questions about "struggle movements" or "demonstrations" brought wild cheers and applause from the more than 800 Buddhist followers at a news conference.

POWER SAGS
The "struggle movements" of extremist Buddhists have in the past been able to help topple governments and bring thousands of demonstrators into the streets. But their power is believed to have greatly diminished following their clash with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky last year.

The militant Buddhists held their news conference at the An Quang pagoda, Saigon headquarters of their leader, Thich-Venerable-Tri Quang. The Buddhists cheered as their leaders accused the government, and specifically Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, of trying to "suppress and destroy Buddhism."

ELECTION FEARS
Thieu signed a charter the last week of July which set up Saigon's Buddhist Institute, the Vien Hoa Dao, as the official Buddhist church of South Vietnam and squeezes the An Quang Buddhists from control of the Unified Buddhist Church.

The Viet Hoa Dao and the An Quang Buddhists have been fighting bitterly for months for control of the Unified Buddhist Church which is unified in name only.

"Truly, in regard to buddhism, Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu has shown himself both malignant and reckless," a communique from the An Quang Buddhists said.

Thich Thien Minh, a spokesman at today's news conference said, "If Thieu pushes the An Quang Buddhists against the wall, we Buddhists will have to struggle."

Minh also said "We won't have a fair election unless drastic changes are made."

He referred to the elimination of two Buddhist slates in the Senate election for what the government called "pro-Communist and neutralist views."

Sanctuary Setting For Bizzell-Robnet Rites

STANTON (SC) — Miss Nancy Elizabeth Robnett and Gary Gerald Bizzell married Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church with the Rev. Richard Payne reading the double ring rites.

The altar was flanked with basket arrangements of white gladioli and branched candelabra, and white satin ribbon marked the family pews.

Mel Rae Angel, organist, accompanied Mrs. Walter Harry as she sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "One Hand, One Heart."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal cape gown of sate-peau and Chantilly lace designed with a scooped neckline. The Empire bodice was accented with seed pearls and crystals, and the short sleeves were appliqued with sheer lace which continued on the shoulder and around the lower edge of the chapel-length train. She wore a matching lace mantilla, and her only jewelry was a pearl necklace.

Miss Kay Bryan was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Connie Jones, Wilcox, Ariz., and Miss Linda Thompson, Lubbock. Mrs. Richard Steinhauer of Georgetown served as bride's matron. All attendants wore avocado brocade satin ankle-length dresses with matching slippers. They carried turquoise carnation bouquets tied with turquoise ribbon.

Gail Bizzell of Olton, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Butch Robnett and Steve Robnett, brothers of the bride.

Christi Turner was flower girl, and Jeff Robnett, brother of the bride, was ring bearer. Altar tapers were lighted by Webb Jones of Wilcox, Ariz., and Meredith Kincaid of Caney, Okla.

WEDDING TRIP

The couple left on a wedding trip to New Mexico. For traveling, the bride chose a royal blue dress with matching accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple will be at home at 1014 Ave. M, Ralls.

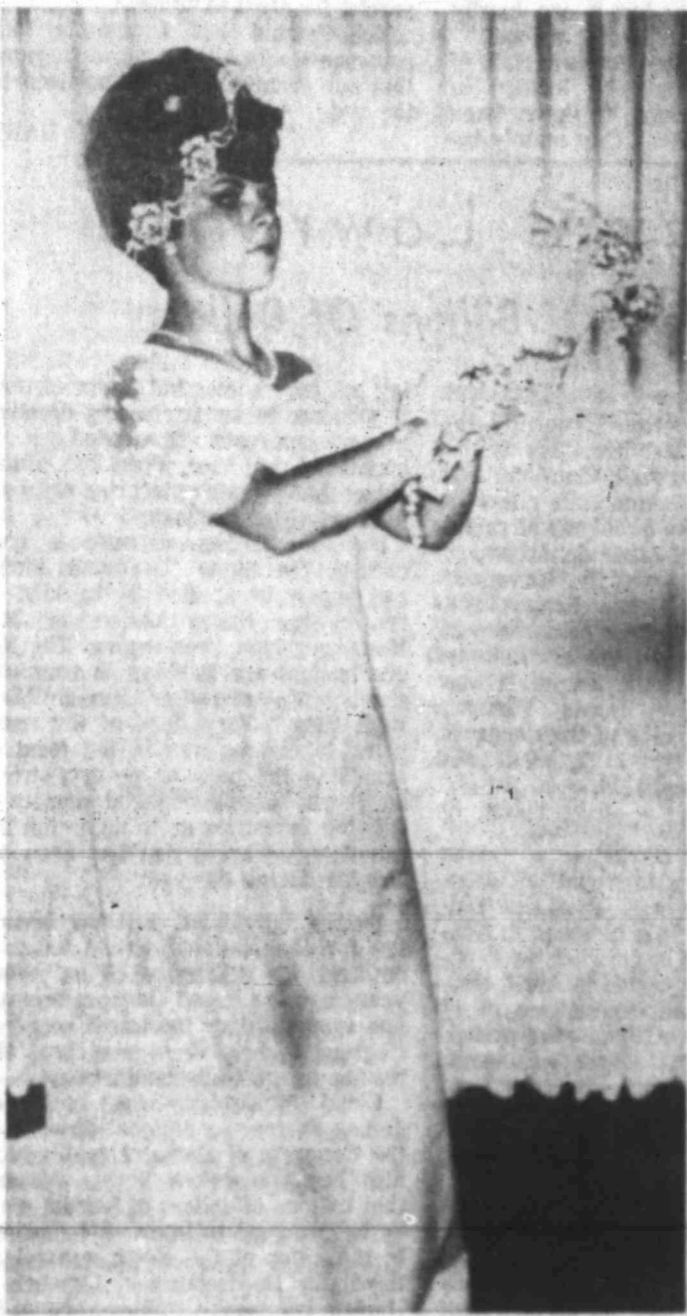

The bride is a graduate of Stanton High School and Texas Tech in Lubbock. The bridegroom graduated from Olton High School and will get his degree from Texas Tech this month.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in fellowship hall where the wedding party greeted guests.

The bride's table held a four-tiered wedding cake and crystal punch service. Crystal and silver appointments were used. The bridegroom's table held a silver coffee service and a chocolate ring cake.

Miss Helen Gaspie of Lubbock presided at the guest register. Others in the house party were Miss Mary Gaspie, Miss Gay Gates, Mrs. Tommy Newman and Mrs. Gene Partee.

Letters Out For Club Supplement

Letters and information forms have been mailed to presidents of women's social, fraternal and study clubs which are to be returned to The Herald as soon as possible in order to be included in the Woman's Supplement, a special edition to be published soon.

The letter includes instructions on having the president's picture made, free of charge, at Howard's Studio, and the picture will be published, along with the club story, in The Herald.

Local women's organizations make important news in the Big Spring community, and The Herald is recognizing their important contributions by issuing this special supplement. Since the stories must be written quite a bit in advance of publication, we urge an early return of the forms.

Hawaiian Welcome

The SS Lurline arrived in Honolulu to receive the traditional aloha welcome and included among the cruise passengers were Mr. and Mrs. Walton S. Morrison of 1501 Eleventh Place. The Morrisons are guests at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel during their vacation in the islands.

Fall Knits Are Good Most Everywhere

By MARY SUE MILLER

Fashions come and go, but knit fashions are always go-go. Teeming with fresh ideas, fall knits are at the ready for immediate wear. Where and everywhere!

There's a weight, shape and shade of knit to meet every individual requirement. By way of example, consider the modern classics: well-tailored suits with pleated skirts and vests in great pleids; sweaters, loosely belted, in navy, chocolate brown or black; costumes of a cape and jumper in subtle color combinations like grape and pink.

For mini fans, knits go medicinal as a page in Arthur's Court. The idea is a brief tunic over tights, worn with long vinyl leggings. In this group, too, are pants suits, short in the leg and long in the jacket; sweaters, the miniest, skinniest ever.

That brings us to the midi—the voluminous calf-length coats and capes posed over short short dresses and pants dresses, and also the at-home dress falling slim as a test tube to mid-leg.

turns, shows off with enormous flourish.

That about sums up the knit knack, a total fashion.

A Devotional For The Day

One thing have I desired of the Lord, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life. (Psalm 27:4)
PRAYER: God, our Father, we pray Thee to fulfill the prayer of Thy Son: that we may not be taken out of the world but be kept from evil, and that we may behold Thy glory. We pray in His name. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

Economic Study Of The State

A Texas House interim study committee has the power and resources to improve greatly state government economic policy - making, now a haphazard and neglected function. And it should grasp the opportunity.
The special committee grew out of last session's farm workers' minimum wage issue. That brought up the cost-price squeeze on Texas farmers and the disparity between producers' and consumers' food prices. And that led to the problems of small business. The House decided an over-all look at the state economy was in order, and created a committee of five representatives and five "public members" appointed by Speaker Ben Barnes.
The committee has power of subpoena and sworn testimony. It will have Texas Legislative Council staff assistance, can employ staff of its own, and is assured aid from other state agencies. It has expense funds and it can accept more from private and public sources. It should be able to produce a worthwhile survey of state economic problems, but more particularly recommendations for better state governmental economic policy - making in both the executive and legislative branches.

State economic problems are, of course, largely subject to national economic forces. And the broad coverage of federal economic policies does severely limit the areas of discretion for state government economic policy - making - notably in agriculture, major industry regulation, interstate commerce and fiscal-monetary affairs.
However, there is surely enough leeway for state action in this field to justify the governor having professional economic advisers, as the President does, and for the Legislature to have a standing joint economics committee, as Congress does. State government badly needs a continuous economic - impact overview of governors' programs and general legislation.

Legal Aid For The Poor

While lawyers elsewhere continue to talk about the problem of poor legal representation for indigent defendants, the District of Columbia bar has done something about it.
Young attorneys from 21 major law firms in Washington are assigned to general sessions courts to upgrade the quality of justice that indigents receive at that city's busiest courts. The firms, which include such prestigious ones as Arnold and Porter, Cobington and Burling, and Sutherland, Asbill and Brennan, are expected to handle about 10 per cent of the 300 cases a month in which indigents are involved.
The D.C. bar plan was a response to criticism by the Department of Justice and the D.C. Crime Commission that many of the general sessions regular lawyers who represent indigents provide "less than adequate" defense for their clients. Participating lawyers will be paid nominal fees under the Criminal Justice Act.

This is a heartening example of enlightened self-interest on the part of lawyers. It should go far toward meeting the criticism of thoughtful observers that a double standard is applied in many criminal cases: The rich can afford the best legal talent available, while the poor must often rely on something less than adequate defense counsel. No thinking lawyer should wish to perpetuate this double standard, so repugnant as it is to the American ideal of justice for all.

Stock Market Expansion Worries

NEW YORK (AP) - Errors in forecasting, the very skill that brokers sell, explains why the stock market community was surprised by the paper storm that has forced the nation's exchanges to close early.
Very few brokers foresaw the tremendous volume that has buried them, even though the conditions were brewing for months and years and are even the result of their own promotional efforts.
IT TOOK from 1792, when the New York Stock Exchange was established, until 1929 to get one billion shares listed on the Big Board. Now the number is 11 billion, and the rate of growth indicates 30 billion shares by 1975.
Moreover, most of this increase has developed in the past decade. And with it has come two related developments that have caused an accumulation of paperwork not seen since the Great Crash in 1929:
1. An enormous growth in the number of persons owning stock, from six million in 1952 to more than 22 million today.
2. A new, swinging attitude on the part of some institutions - trade in and out quickly, rather than invest for the long term.
Why didn't Wall Street and the nation's other stock market streets foresee these events and make plans to handle the resulting volume?
For one thing, it is said reliably that New York Stock Exchange projections are conservative. It is one thing for the exchange to forecast volume of 10 or 11 million shares. It is another thing to produce it.

THE REASONING of some investment men is that the Big Board would rather underestimate and have members complain about the abundance of profitable business than overestimate and have member firms geared up, at great cost, for business that doesn't come.
Nevertheless, even though it is obvious to most people now that the forecasts underestimated volume, many firms have been slow to acknowledge it. They have good reason. Expansion is costly. It is even speculative.
AND SO, AS sometimes happens with the stocks they trade in, brokers now are reacting rather than anticipating the event. This is what is being done:
1. Recognizing that this bonanza of big volume is not just a squall but a well developed storm, some firms are making permanent enlargements of staff, equipment and space.
2. Workers are being recruited from pools of unemployed housewives and retired stenographers.
3. WORKERS ARE being upgraded to handle more responsible jobs.
4. More work is being automated.
But the final solution of paperwork problems is the first course mentioned, to build in new capacity, a course that most are reluctant to pursue until they have every assurance that the heavy volume will continue.

Billy Graham

You say that the world's troubles come from sin in the hearts of men. I believe that our problems are economic and social rather than spiritual. K. G.
The world is full of problems - social, economic, racial, political, etc., but behind all of these things there lies the deceitfulness of the human heart. The outward manifestations of sin have their root in the heart - impurity, hatred, envy, jealousy, avarice, intolerance, intolerance, greed. If men's hearts are changed, if instead of all these things which are sin, we have love, tolerance, gentleness, concern for the welfare of others, peace, temperance, joy - then in our social, economic, racial and other relationships we have an entirely different approach. That is why the solution of the world's problems are contingent on the change of the heart itself. Christ spoke of this as being "born again." When we accept Him as Savior and Lord, He comes into our hearts and makes us new people. That is what we call regeneration and it takes this, rather than reformation, to change individual lives and the social order of which we are a part. That is why we preach that Christ and His redeeming work in the human heart is the answer to all of our problems.

Super Pub Crawl

SYDNEY (AP) - A "pub crawl" in Australia means starting at one end of a city street (preferably the longest) and traversing it to the other, calling at every hotel on the way for one glass of beer. This can be money and time consuming.
An even more time and money consuming pub crawl is being organized by a group of 30 Australian publicans who plan what they describe as the world's longest pub crawl - 25,000 miles through more than 20 countries.
It is officially described as a "study tour" and will cost each participant $2,000 (U.S. $2,240).
The organizers are a hotel keeper of Adelaide, South Australia, and a travel agent.
Flanagan says: "The party intends to study beer, hotels, bars, nightclubs and clubs in Thailand, Italy, Germany, Austria, Scandinavia, Britain, France, Switzerland, Hong Kong and Singapore."
The pub crawl will begin in September and will reach Munich in time for the celebrated Oktoberfest.
Statistics show Australians are the highest in consumption of beer - but they try harder.

Viet Solutions Looking Less Easy

WASHINGTON (AP) - There is more uneasiness now about the American position in South Vietnam than at any time since President Ngo Dinh Diem's ouster and assassination in 1963, with solutions looking less easy.
In the closing days of Diem's regime it became clear to the Kennedy administration, although it seemed clear to a lot of people before then, that he was more hindrance than help to resistance against the Communist push.

HE LIVED in his own little, thoroughly undemocratic world, running a dictatorship, unmindful of the masses of the peasantry, jealous of his power.

As a result of his isolation from the people and their needs the Viet Cong helped themselves to the countryside, a position from which they have not been dislodged since.

AFTER HIS DEATH there were a number of successors as the Vietnamese generals maneuvered among themselves for power. This country managed to do business with all of them.

Finally Nguyen Cao Ky as premier and Li Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu as chief of state emerged and managed to repress some of the internal disorders, like the protests of the Buddhists.

This gave the impression of stability although the country was being run by a military junta. But the United States claimed to be fighting the war, to prevent a Communist takeover, so the people could determine their own future.

THE BEST EVIDENCE that the people were moving toward some semblance of self-determination would be elections. They have been arranged for next month.

Thieu is running for president and Ky for vice president on the same ticket. There are other candidates for the presidency, 11 in all, and hundreds of candidates for other offices. This makes it all look democratic.

But now there are serious doubts about it, with complaints about rigging and fears that if Thieu and Ky don't win, the military junta will throw out the election victors anyway—or undercut them until they are meaningless.

Quotable Quips

NEW YORK (AP) - Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:
If the average man, instead of retiring at 65, worked on until death he would spend an additional 25,000 hours on the job. The big problem of the retired man is how to spend those free 25,000 hours happily.

THE HUMAN animal is the only one that consciously goes on a diet. Among those with the biggest appetites are the elephant which can eat up to 93 pounds of food daily, the hippopotamus 49 pounds, the milk cow 45 pounds, and the camel 35.

The hot dog has become an international delicacy. We prefer all-beef frankfurters, but in Africa they are made of lamb and antelope, in Finland of reindeer, and in Japan of whale meat.

WIVES MARRIED to college graduates might do well to avoid running the vacuum cleaner while their husbands are in the home. Tests at the University of Michigan found that highly educated people are bothered more by the noise from household appliances than are the uneducated.

Quotable notables: "I have always thought respectable people are scoundrels and I look anxiously at my face every morning for signs of my becoming a scoundrel." -Bertrand Russell.

IT PAYS to advertise: American Indians used to carve figures on trees to let it be known they sought a squaw.

What is the largest U.S. city in terms of area? You're wrong if you say Los Angeles, which covers 454.8 square miles. The honor is claimed by Oklahoma City. As the result of some 300 annexations, it now sprawls over 631 square miles.
Quip of the week: "It really takes a pretty small man to hide behind his wife's skirts these days." notes John Whyte.

PROSPERITY NOTE: The swimming pool now has become a family status symbol. Of the nation's 725,000 pools, about two-thirds are home-owned.
If you don't spoon down 5 1/2 gallons of ice cream a year, you're below the national average. Vanilla is preferred by 46 per cent, chocolate by nearly 13 per cent, and strawberry by 7 per cent of the consumers. Coffee-flavored ice cream goes over big in the Northeast, peaches in the South.

WORTH REMEMBERING: "God gave man five senses - touch, taste, sight, smell and hearing. The successful man is endowed with two more - horse and common."
Folklore: Eating bread crumbs will make you wise. Putting pepper in your stockings will cure you of chills.
It was the Greek philosopher Plato who said, "O ye gods, grant us what is good whether we pray for it or not, but keep evil from us even though we pray for it."

Honors For A Dissenter

One thing and another:
The message is clear: Don't be afraid of assuming the role of a dissenter.
The Post Office Department is now issuing a stamp in honor of a man who (1) personally seceded from the union, (2) refused to pay any kind of tax because he thought a war being waged by the nation was wrong, (3) advocated civil disobedience, (4) contended politicians and the press were evil.
The unique individual was Henry David Thoreau, the outspoken author of "Walden." He lived to be only 45 but he wrapped up a lot of living in his allotted time on this earth.
I wonder if he would have had second thoughts about his stand on civil disobedience, had he been alive in this day and time.

OKLAHOMA CITY is an outstanding, antiseptic city but it can hardly be considered as a tourist mecca.
It does boast the Cowboy Hall of Fame, which should be located in Texas but was said to have been awarded to Oklahoma City mainly because it is on one of the nation's busiest highways - Route 66. The capital of Oklahoma also has an interesting zoo and some nice parks but, all in all, it is no different than half a hundred other cities in America.

Why, then, do its motel operators charge two prices for the privilege of occupying one of their rooms? Travelers who visit Texas generally get a better break when it comes to paying for their lodging.
For that matter, Salina, Kansas, has much less to offer in the way of civic attractions than does Oklahoma City, but visitors can expect to dig deep to pay for motel accommodations when they stop there.

I SEE BY the papers that the U.S. Coast Guard plans to bombard icebergs with chemicals that will penetrate the ice, turning them a brilliant scarlet for eight to 10 days.
Nobody said it, but I assume that someone wants all the world to know that our country is operating deep in the red.

Tens Of Billions Of Dollars

WASHINGTON - Vice President Humphrey has been frequently referred to in the last few days as the author of a "Marshall Plan" for the reconstruction of American cities in order to help solve problems of racial friction, riots and other disturbances. Actually, this idea was first advanced by the National Urban League and was discussed at a news conference in July 1963 by Negro leader Whitney Young, director of the league. It was later endorsed by James Farmer, then national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, in a book published in February, 1964.

THE ORIGINAL "Marshall Plan" for Europe was started as a means of reconstruction in countries damaged in World War II. President Truman proposed it in a message to Congress in 1947. The project was authorized in a law passed in April, 1948, and called for an expenditure of 17 billion dollars over a four-year period. Actually, 13 billion dollars was spent. The plan got its name because Gen. George C. Marshall, as secretary of state in the Truman administration, launched the idea in a speech at Harvard on June 5, 1947.

WHEN, THEREFORE, the cry of a "Marshall Plan" for American cities is raised, it means that many billions of dollars would have to be provided. Vice President Humphrey has emphasized that the project could be undertaken along with what has been called the "model cities act." The purpose is primarily to clear up the slums and improve housing conditions in overcrowded areas. Preliminary estimates indicate that it would cost 100 billion dollars over a 16-year period just for the "freedom budget" for the poor that is being proposed by Negro leaders.

FOR A "MARSHALL PLAN" to assist American cities means that the municipalities and the states would have to put up large sums for building not only homes but factories, too. If jobs are to be extensively created, a new approach is needed. It is contended by Vice President Humphrey that private enterprise can perform much of the task.

But so far as expense is concerned, the name "Marshall Plan" can hardly be applied to the kind of project the Negro leaders or Mr. Humphrey have been urging. The Negro leaders are thinking in terms of a relief project rather than a "Marshall Plan." Very little of the sums given to Europe was in the form of grants to the poor or poverty-stricken. It was largely financial support to existing industries or to cities for the rebuilding of areas that had been destroyed during the war.

WHEN WHITNEY YOUNG, speaking for the National Urban League, outlined his "Marshall Plan" four years ago, he urged that preferential and compensatory treatment be given Negroes to help them overcome the results of past discriminations.
Floyd McKissick, who succeeded James Farmer as national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, has also been outspoken in his demand that billions of dollars of federal money be provided to improve conditions in the cities of the North as well as the South. He declared in a speech in Harlem last week that there should be an increase of 10 billion dollars in the appropriations for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

MEMBERS OF CONGRESS have not yet taken cognizance of the demand for a new "Marshall Plan." While they may not object to the use of that title to describe the sociological improvements which the government is seeking to achieve in cities with congested populations, they hardly have envisaged the expenditure of tens of billions of dollars as the price of peace in the Negro neighborhoods of America's cities.

The Lament Over Socialism

WASHINGTON - From Norman Thomas and Martin Luther King, down to such senators as Clark (Pa.), McGovern (S.D.), Nelson (D. Wis.) and even Robert Kennedy (N. Y.), the socializers are also the pacifists, with varying degrees of opposition to the war in which we are engaged.

THE FORM was set in the Spanish Civil War of the 1930's. Wild-eyed socialists in Britain and the U.S.A. did not fight much against fascism, though they pamphleteered and visited the fronts. It was the Anglo-American Communists who joined the combat, risking and giving their lives. A socialist becomes a Communist only when he gets religion. Since ardent Democrats and even fascists also have a religious fervor for their beliefs, the wars we must fight at the mid-century are religious wars.

BUT SOCIALISM is not less harmful to democracy than communism is. In his Karl Marx-to-Harold Wilson history of British socialism, C. Northcote Parkinson (of Parkinson's Law) is writing a slow - death of pestilence which is as disastrous to a nation as a military defeat would be. This book - to be published here in October by Houghton Mifflin) is a diagnosis of Britain's decline and a prognosis of the same impending collapse in America.

SOCIALISM, which advocates melting down the guns into butter, would leave any nation defenseless, but its peculiar virus is just as fatal in peace as in war. A nation can recover from military defeat (the American Confederacy is a local example), but socialized Britain showed how irrevocable are the results of a socialist victory. The colonies of the Empire cannot be repossessed; the industries that have been nationalized never recover from the seizure; the Tories with every whipping at the polls become less conservative and the competition in political ideas does a phase-out.

TO BE SURE, such democratic countries as Britain and America have to consent to the election of socialists, but capitalistic democracies give consent only because they are bamboozled into believing that a classless society is desirable in terms of human progress and felicity.

British history from Marx-to-Wilson shows this to be a fallacy. The politics of domestic underdogger, a debacle in Britain and a menace in America, brings economic and intellectual stagnation. It forecloses all hope of a renaissance Golden Age. It leaves the victim - nation with a past and no future.

A CLASSLESS society without aggressive, successful, wealthy citizens is without economic resources. It can no more fight its enemies than it can fight off the spread of poverty as it advances from the slums to the suburbs.

George Bernard Shaw, the laureate of intellectualized socialism, had no sentimentality for the poor. He proposed to abolish them by paying a dole which required money from the rich. "Money," wrote Shaw, "is one sound spot on our social conscience. . . . It represents health, strength, honor, generosity and beauty as conspicuously as the want of it represents illness, weakness, disgrace, meanness and ugliness."

AS TO NATIONAL leadership, without which every country is doomed, Parkinson finds it easier to breed than to procure by chance. The classless society would rob the poor of Churchills and Kennedys alike, for they are the products of their forebears' wealth.
Parkinson's lament for Britain is a warning for the U.S.A. The socialists will get us if we don't watch out.

Mosquito Bites Cause Big Swelling

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a severe reaction to mosquitoes. A bite can swell up to the size of a tennis ball. For example, I had a bite on the wrist and my arm swelled from elbow to knuckles. If I am bitten on the foot, I can't get a shoe on.

I have tried numerous repellents but the mosquitoes seem to like them) and other things ranging from serum to penicillin and cortisone.

Yet when I am pregnant they do not bother me. Then I had a miscarriage and the mosquitoes wouldn't leave me alone. I would appreciate any help. I even called an allergy clinic, but they had no suggestion. -Mrs. R. P.

Individual reactions vary widely, and can be of an allergic type which seems to be the case with your mammoth swelling.

Your comment about not being bitten while pregnant is of interest. This problem has been studied, and it has been found that women can attract mosquitoes differently in accordance with the phases of the menstrual cycle. This is thought to be because of the amount of estrogen, or female hormone.

But the studies aimed at finding out more about why mosquitoes - and people - react the way they do is not of much practical use to you right now. In spite of your lack of success with the clinic desensitization with mosquito extract has been reported to be successful, in the same sense that desensitization can protect to some degree against hay fever and other allergies.

I would check further in this direction. See if your physician can obtain this extract and give you treatment - you are not very far from one of the big medical schools, and he may find help there in obtaining the extract.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a medical assistant student. One of my courses is X-ray, one hour a day, five days a week. Only one person takes the X-ray and she is the only one protected from the rays. The rest of us just sit there and get the exposure. Could this be harmful? My classmates would be interested. -D.A.F.

Excessive exposure is harmful, but from your letter I cannot even estimate how much exposure you are receiving. I would assume - or at least hope - that any institution teaching such a subject would include training in protection and information in amounts that can be tolerated safely.
Monitoring badges are widely used in places where exposure must be measured. The badges contain small pieces of X-ray film, and when these are developed they indicate the exposure to which the wearer has been subjected.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is too much Vitamin C harmful for arthritis? -P.A.

No. Too much Vitamin C is not harmful for anything else, either, since this vitamin, unlike some of the others, does not accumulate in the system if you get more than you need. You use what is useful and the rest is discharged.

That's why citrus or other juice high in Vitamin C is recommended every day - simply because the body uses or discards it promptly, and does not save it up.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

"It is quite a job keeping all the cars in good condition," Grisham said. "It is a major job keeping my wife's car ready for the road every day," he added.

"It was difficult for me at first," Carla explained. "We had to make every-minute count."

"I didn't like the idea of Mother going to Tech at first, but we got used to the responsibilities, and realized how much it meant to her," she said.

"I became discouraged many times," Mrs. Grisham said, "but my family encouraged me in every way, and always helped solve my problems."

"I have had to give up many pleasures and duties as a mother and homemaker these past two years, but I never open a book to study until after the children go to bed," Mrs. Grisham said.

ON ROAD

"In fact I do most of my studying on the road," she explained. "I devised a system of mental shorthand keyed to brief notes, and at night I write them on study cards. Then while I am driving to Tech and back, I place the cards on the dash, where they will not interfere with my driving, and memorize and review them while driving."

"Utilizing driving time for study gives me more time to spend with my family," she said. "When I arrive home, I am ready to give my full attention to the needs of the household."

ACCIDENT

"I am receiving my degree almost by accident," Mrs. Grisham said. "We lived in Lubbock for several years, and I took several courses at night just for enjoyment. Then we moved here and I went to Howard County Junior College for three semesters."

"By that time, it was too late to quit, and my husband suggested that I work toward a degree, so that is exactly what I did."

"My education began to mean more to me than just a personal fulfillment, and I wanted to teach home economics," she explained. She will teach in a Big Spring area school.

"We have always been a close family, sharing recreation and church life at First Baptist, and I have always felt that I have led a deep and meaningful life as a wife and mother," she said.

cooks breakfast before he leaves for work.

The children have their jobs around the house, too. Carla, who will be a senior at Big Spring High School this fall, is in charge of washing dishes and cleaning the kitchen.

DIVIDE DUTIES

Paige and her brother, Roger, spend the mornings cleaning the house. They divide cleaning duties by cleaning certain rooms.

"During the week, we only make the beds, pick up clothes, straighten and dust," Carla said. "Saturday mornings are our big cleaning days when we vacuum and polish the furniture."

Paige, who is seven, also has responsibilities. She sets the table and helps Carla with jobs around the house.

Saturday is a busy day for "mom," too. Mrs. Grisham works all day Saturday preparing food for the following week.

WITH FAMILY

"Saturdays, I completely forget school, and spend time with my family," Mrs. Grisham said. "Most of the day I prepare pre-cooked food which I freeze in meal-size quantities for convenience."

During the months when the children are in school, Grisham puts the pre-cooked food into the oven before going to work. He sets the electric timer so that when everyone gets home, the meal will be ready. With the help of Roger, Paige and Daddy, Carla prepares a salad at the last minute, and perhaps an extra vegetable.

The dishes are left unwashed from school, and then Carla cleans the kitchen, and by the time Mrs. Grisham gets home from Tech about 7:30 p.m., dinner is ready.

PROBLEM

Transportation has also presented a problem to the Grisham family, since Mrs. Grisham drives one car to Lubbock, and her husband takes the other one to work.

"This necessitated a third car in the family," Mrs. Grisham said. "Carla is our family chauffeur," she added. "She takes stances of sleet and snow," she said.

In addition to her perseverance during her two years at Tech as a full-time student, she has maintained a 3.85 grade point average out of a possible 4.0.

Last spring she was awarded the Borden Scholarship, an honor reserved for the top ranking student in the School of Home Economics. In her college career at Tech, Mrs. Grisham has made only six B's. The rest were A's.

Her college education has been a family project. Her husband, an optician at Malone and Hogan Clinic, has taken over many of her responsibilities at home and the three children, Carla, 17, Roger, 14, and Paige, 7, have pitched in as well.

BUYS FOOD

Grisham has taken over the responsibility of paying the bills and doing the family's grocery shopping.

"Tolbert has been buying the groceries for over two years," Mrs. Grisham said. "I haven't even been in a grocery store since I started going to school full-time."

Every morning Mrs. Grisham rises at 5 a.m. and leaves for Lubbock about 5:30 a.m. Grisham wakes the children and

The oldtimers can brag about walking miles and miles through the snow before sunrise to attend school, but Mrs. Tolbert Grisham can spin them a taller tale—she has driven more than 125,000 miles during the past two years in order to earn a degree at Texas Tech. And besides that, she will graduate with honors.

"It has been difficult for my husband and three children," she said, "since they have had to assume many of my responsibilities while I have been driving to Tech and back every day."

TO THE FAMILY

"I feel rather guilty when I think about the sheepskin I will receive this month. I wish Tech could give it to my family. If it weren't for them, I would never have been able to earn my college degree."

Mrs. Grisham, a homemaker and mother of three, has been commuting from her home at 904 E. 23rd St. every day for two years, and Aug. 25, she will receive her B.S. degree in home economics education.

Although actual driving time is less, Mrs. Grisham allots 2 1/2 hours for each one-way trip, allowing for delays due to inclement weather or car trouble.

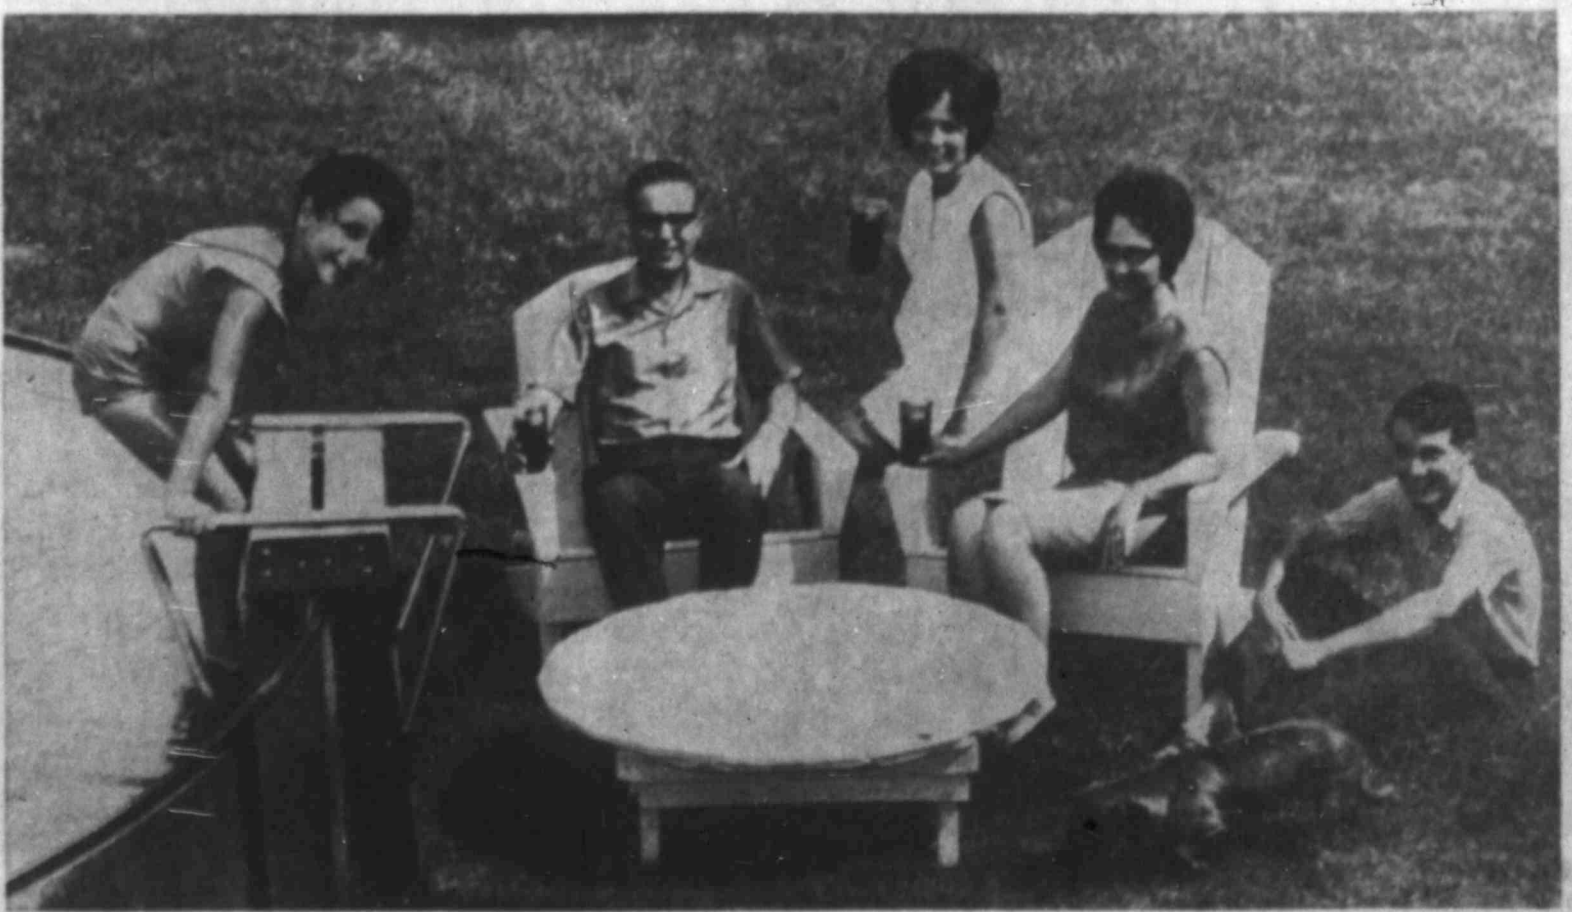

"Fortunately, I have had only three flats and only a few in-

Specialized Printing

What goes on in a printing shop? How do the machines work? These are the questions of many curious people, but only few get answers. McMillan's printers are not just printers—they are specialized printers.

Harry (Max) McMillan, known by many as "Max the printer," invites everyone to come and look at his shop at 1712 Gregg. He not only does printing, but he carries Hon and Hoosier office furniture, and Stenocrat paper, plus other office supplies.

There are three full-time employees and two part-time workers. He has been a printer for 25 years and is assisted by Jerry Rich, also a printer. Mrs. McMillan takes care of the office supply and furniture section while their son, Perry, helps his dad in printing. A daughter, Jo LaNae, and Mary Passey, work in the bindery department.

"No job is too big or too small for us," Max emphasized. "We will do any type of commercial printing."

A big item McMillan printers turn out are business and social cards. Social cards are for every day needs. These cards include weddings, teas, showers, luncheons and can be either engraved or printed.

Go by McMillan for your printing needs. Max the printer will be happy to serve you and show you around the shop.

Meter Problem

DETROIT (AP)—Five thousand times a month, Detroiters pull up to parking meters and, instead of depositing a nickel, insert a pull-ring from a beer can.

Fun And Relaxing Atmosphere Offered By Local Bowl-A-Rama

The attractive, friendly atmosphere and helpful personnel at the Bowl-A-Rama, located on US 80 east, are a winning combination as the 1,000 people who bowl there each week can testify. Quality service and equipment in the modernized plant are two of Bowl-A-Rama's many features. Keith Henderson, manager of the bowling lanes, invites all Big Spring residents to come into the relaxing atmosphere for individual bowling or for extra fun, party bowling. Not only does Bowl-A-Rama provide the most modern lanes in the area, but shows and bowling balls are for rent at a small fee. Brunswick is the kind of well-known bowling equipment that Bowl-A-Rama specializes in, Henderson said.

If you are hungry before you bowl, or perhaps after an exciting bout, stop by Bowl-A-Rama's spacious grill, where a variety of sandwiches and beverages, plus all types of snacks await you.

And, for mothers who like to bowl with their friends, or for families that like to bowl together as a group, a popular feature of the Bowl-A-Rama is the free nursery, compliments of Bobby Layne and Tommy Krueger Jr., owners.

If you don't know how to bowl, that is no problem. Everyone can, and should learn to bowl for healthful relaxation, the bowling experts say. Private lessons are available, and interested persons may call Henderson at 267-7484 to receive additional information.

The next time you are looking for a different way to spend that evening, or a way to let off steam and relax, stop by the Bowl-A-Rama on US 80 east, just outside the Big Spring city limits.

Twenty-Four Lanes At Bowl-A-Rama

A friendly atmosphere, free nursery, a grill, and private lessons are just a few of the many offerings of the Bowl-A-Rama, located on US 80 east.

Dear Abby

Classic Advice

DEAR ABBY: I recently read something in your column which in my judgment was one of the best pieces of advice I have ever seen anywhere. But why was it buried in small print at the bottom of your column?

It should have been featured right at the top, and billboarded with 12 point bold type. It was:

"CONFIDENTIAL TO THE WIFE OF AN UNFAITHFUL HUSBAND: DON'T ASK YOURSELF WHAT DOES SHE HAVE THAT I DON'T HAVE? THE ANSWER IS NOTHING. BETTER ASK YOURSELF WHAT HAS SHE GIVEN THAT I HAVEN'T GIVEN?"

The husband of an unfaithful wife may substitute "she" for "he" and the same advice applies to him. Sign this

ONE OF YOUR EDITORS

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of people who refuse to play cards for fun? They always suggest playing for a little something, just to make it "interesting."

I enjoy playing gin rummy, and I play the same game whether I'm playing for money or for fun. My sister and her husband will never play unless there's money involved to make it "interesting."

Last night we gave them an "interesting" evening — which cost us a 10-dollar bill. One night last week they had another interesting evening here — for $6.50.

Don't you think that people who HAVE to play for money in order to make the game "interesting" are interested only in the money?

PLAYS FOR FUN DEAR ABBY: Not necessarily. To a card player who enjoys a challenge, playing for "fun" is about as "interesting" as playing tennis with the net down. On the other hand, if the stakes run hogwild, your assumption is correct.

DEAR ABBY: I am in a social snake pit. I am 21 and my husband is 26 and we have been married for five whole months! Our social activities center around my husband's friends which include hippies, alcoholics, people with shaky reputations,

Beaumont Court Reporter Elected

BEAUMONT (AP) — Mrs. Barbara Marshall, court reporter for Judge George Taylor, was named president-elect of the Texas Shorthand Reporters Association during a recent convention in Houston. Mrs. Jo Wolaver, court reporter for 163rd District Court in Orange, was named a director.

and you name it, he knows one. My husband claims he loves me, but when it comes to his friends, I am supposed to just accept them.

I've asked him why he didn't marry someone more "in" with the crowd. He replied, "If I had wanted to marry someone like that, I could have, but I didn't want someone like that for my wife."

Well, he didn't get someone like that for a wife, but as his wife I get people like that for my social environment. What am I to do? NOT "IN"

DEAR NOT IN: You can either accept them, or try to upgrade your husband's choice of company. If these are the kind of characters your husband found attractive during your courtship, one wonders what you had in common as a basis for marriage.

Quick Tremors Rock Village

BORDEAUX, France (AP) — Earthquakes rocked southwestern France and northern Spain Sunday, devastating one French village and felling scattered buildings elsewhere. One death was reported.

In Arette, France, an 80-year-old woman was crushed to death when her house came tumbling down.

The Pyrenees Mountain village, population 1,000, was badly hit by the quick tremors, and its residents abandoned their homes to spend the night in cars or huddled around campfires.

Four persons were injured in the Arette quakes.

Walls collapsed in Montory, France, and many slight injuries were reported.

Reports from northern Spain, particularly in the area of Santander and San Sebastian on the northern coast, said people ran into the streets in fright while furniture shifted, lights swung on their chains and small cracks ripped down plaster.

Scores of cities, from Bilbao on the northern coast to Valencia on the Mediterranean, reported quakes.

Reinforcements Being Airlifted

BRUSSELS (AP) — Quoting Radio Kinshasa, the Belgian Congo announced today that the Congolese government had sent reinforcements for a battle against the rebellious mercenaries holding the Kivu capital, Bukavu.

The reinforcements, the Congolese Radio announced, were being airlifted through Burundi. The Congolese Radio also said that 15,000 Congolese soldiers were now ready to oust Jean Schramm, and his army of about 1,000 mercenaries and Katangan troops from Bukavu.

Schramm occupied Bukavu a week ago against a force of nearly 3,000 Congolese soldiers. The radio said what was to have been a silent demonstration against the mercenaries in front of the French, British and Belgian embassies in the Congolese capital, Kinshasa, turned violent.

Mobs surged through the streets stoning cars and shop windows and stormed the Belgian Embassy. Finally President Joseph D. Mobutu went out in person and quieted the demonstrators, the broadcast said.

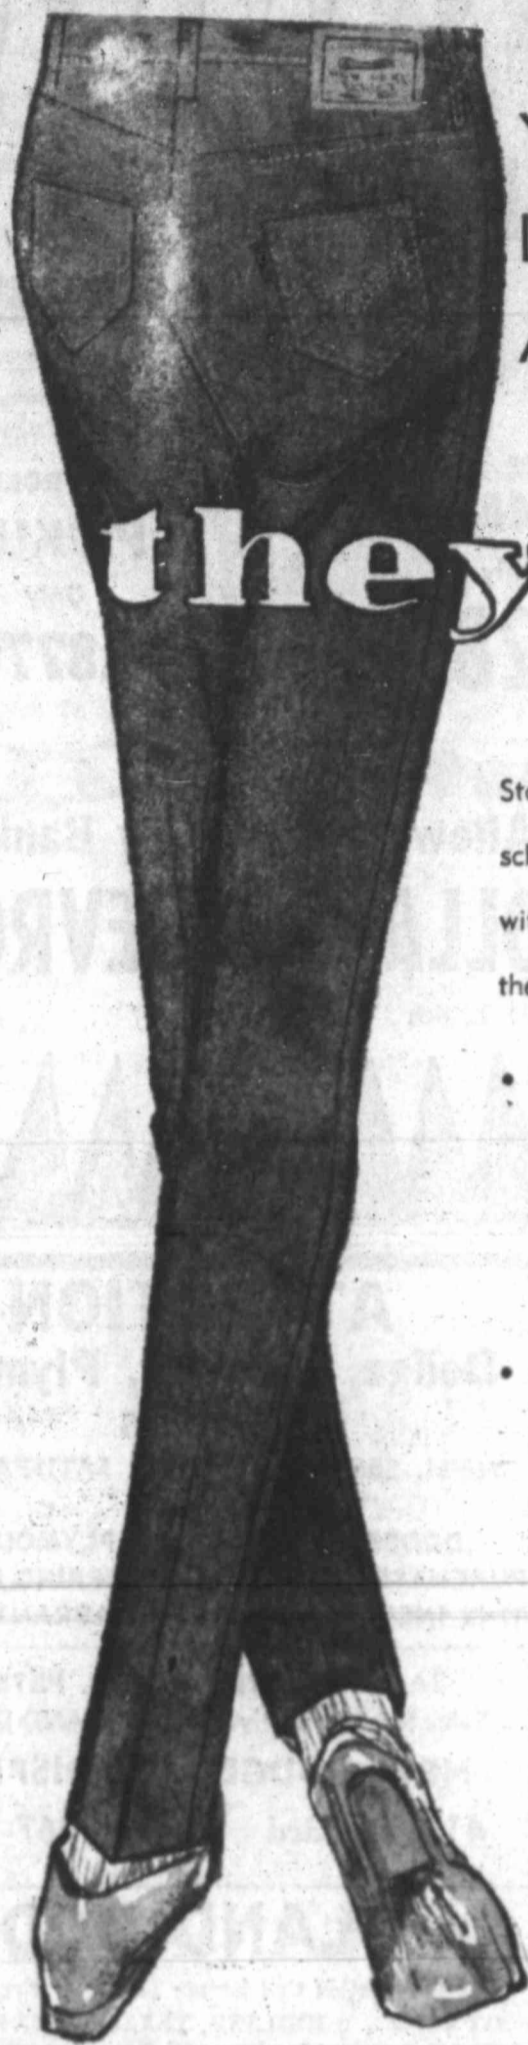

Before they were forced to leave the Belgian Embassy, the crowds damaged furniture and a number of files. The embassy was empty because of a holiday.

Science And You Dawn Of The Slim Age?

—By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

One of the biggest (literally) problems that faces many a portly citizen is how to control his weight. Walking down any street, you can see plenty of evidence of how much we have learned about shrinking that fat around the middle. There have been all kinds of approaches to this problem. But, for most people (including me), none of them work, at a second look at any crowd will demonstrate.

Now the psychiatrists have gotten into the act and things are beginning to look up. In fact, we may be on the threshold of a new age in which dieting is practically painless and sensationally psychological.

Results obtained so far are based on an experiment with 120 fat volunteers. These 120 were divided into five groups. The first group was enrolled in the experiment and simply told to return in eight weeks. They knew the objective was to lose weight and the idea was to see if just participating in the experiment would motivate them to eat less. The second group was asked to keep a food diary in which they duly recorded comments on all the foods they ate during the eight-week period. The third group was also asked to keep a diary, but each participant was brought back for twice-a-week talks with friendly counselors and sympathetic interviewers. The fourth group really had a rather bad deal. They had to keep a diary but, in addition, received random (but mild) electric shocks during interviews. The fifth group probably had the worst time of all. During interviews with this group, especially during special moments when the people were ecstatically describing their favorite dishes, the interviewer would zap them with electric shocks. The point was to see the effects of unpleasant associations between the food descriptions and electric shocks.

Only one group out of the five lost any weight. Can you guess which one it was? Well, it turned out to be the third group — the group that was asked to keep a diary and brought in twice a week for those psychiatric interviews.

During the interviews, the participants were given mild praise for moderation but were not subjected to any criticism for gluttony. They were, however, asked rather searching questions based on what they had written in their diaries, such as: "Just exactly what were your thoughts when you bought that $1.50 banana split?"

These gentle interviews seem to be the key to the whole business. The third group lost an average of eight pounds per person during the tests and seemed to be well-motivated to continue to lose. The others on whom will power or electric shocks were used, went right on gorging themselves.

Now, based on one experiment, you may feel it's too early to announce the dawn of the great Slim Age in America. I suppose you're right. First of all, more data are needed. It would be very interesting to know whether that lucky third group really keeps the weight off.

Shrimpers Kill Beaked Whale?

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Park workers found the carcass of a 14-foot whale aground Sunday at the upper end of Padre Island south of here.

They spotted two bullet holes in the back and theorized that rifle-toting shrimpers killed the seagoing mammal to keep it from destroying their nets.

Jack Ward, a marine biologist at nearby Aransas Pass, said it was a beaked whale, more commonly found in the Atlantic Ocean. Other whales washed up in this same vicinity in 1961 and 1965.

The teeth and stomach of the 14-ton whale were removed for research study at the University of Corpus Christi and at Trinity University in San Antonio. Fishermen carved up the rest for shrimp bait.

Price Joins C-City Schools

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Wylie Price, 40, former assistant principal of Texarkana, Tex., High School, will serve as principal of Colorado High School this fall, replacing Joe Burchard, who resigned Aug. 1st to accept an assistant principalship in a junior high school in Austin.

Price reported for duty Aug. 7. He has 17 years of school experience, and at Texarkana, was responsible for student scheduling, activities and discipline.

The Colorado City schools are still short one principal, according to James McMath, superintendent. Walter Black, formerly with a Colorado City grade school, has been named principal of a Forsan school.

Teaching positions are filled, according to McMath, who said the Colorado City schools employ 93 qualified teachers. McMath is not expecting an increase in the number of students.

Student registration will begin Aug. 14 and classes will begin Aug. 30.

Railway Strike Hearing Slated

HOUSTON (AP) — Dist. Judge John V. Singleton has set an Aug. 21 hearing on a Southern Pacific Co. request for a permanent injunction against a strike by its railroad switchmen.

Pickets went up Saturday night in Houston and over 1,400 miles of main-line tracks in the road's Texas and Louisiana division, which reaches from El Paso to New Orleans.

Six hours after picketing began, Singleton stopped it with a temporary restraining order asked by the railroad. A Southern Pacific spokesman said some trains were delayed but most ran normally.

The strike grew from a dispute over the company's removal of a switch engine in its Galveston yards, a Southern Pacific spokesman said. He said the union claimed bad faith in bargaining over the matter.

The stoppage was called in telegrams sent by John B. Cropper of Houston, general chairman of the Switchmen's Union of North America.

Few Chores Slow Patrolman's Trip

NEW YORK (AP) — Patrolman Robert Turner, a boat-swain's mate 2nd class in the Navy Reserve, arose early Sunday to catch a plane for Florida for two weeks annual training.

At Kennedy Airport, a ticket seller said he could fly half fare if he got a special serviceman's form. The form was available at 3rd Naval District, Manhattan, 15 miles from the airport. Back to Manhattan went Turner, who was told no forms were available there but he could get them at a naval station in Brooklyn.

Subway-bound for Brooklyn, the 40-year-old Turner saw a knife-wielding man threatening two women. He went to their aid, received a cut on one arm, and aided in the man's arrest. Taken to Beekman-Downtown Hospital in Manhattan, Turner still had to go back to Brooklyn for the forms—which he did. His next chore was to appear in criminal court, as a patrolman, to sign a complaint against the man.

It was back to the airport, where he took off for Florida at half fare.
