Negro Propaganda Advocates Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — A publication of a fugitive American Negro in Red China which advocates violence in U.S. cities and advises Negro GIs to "eliminate" their white comrades in Vietnam has been carried in the U.S. mails.

The 12-page folder, stating it is published in Peking by Robert F. Williams, contains in the latest edition available here tips for clogging sewer lines and highways, burning public facilities and smashing windows without getting caught.

Eliminate Real Enemies

It also urges that American Negroes refuse to fight in Vietnam. But it says those who are "trapped into" serving should "throw a monkey wrench into those murderous operations."

Further, it says: "They should eliminate as many of their real enemies as they can at the front so that these racists will not be able to return home and intensify the brutalization and extermination of black people to the extent that they are currently exterminating the Vietnamese people."

Police Power Restricted

Postal, Customs and Justice Department officials say their power to police the import of foreign propaganda has been sharply restricted in recent years by Supreme Court decisions dealing with the First Amendment's guarantees of freedom of speech and press. A customs spokesman said propaganda is barred at the ports of entry only if it is treasonable or advocates overthrow of the government or assassination of the President.

Because of the legal restrictions, the officials said, they were unable to determine the extent of the circulation of Crusader which Williams has turned out on an irregular basis since he fled, first to Cuba and then to Red China.

Receives Copy in Mail

"I don't think there is anyone in the government who keeps a record on it," said one official.

However, another official said "a hell of a lot of them come in." A Detroit detective acknowledged he had no trouble purchasing copies of the Crusader at a bookstore specializing in militant publications in the heart of the area torn by rioting last month.

A Negro newsman in Detroit said he didn't think the circulation was extensive. He said he received his copy in the mail although he never subscribed to it.

Fled To Havana

Williams, one of the first of the Negro militants, fled to Cuba six years ago to dodge a charge of kidnapping during a racial disturbance in Monroe, N. C.

In Havana, the bearded, 42-year-old Negro became a propagandist. He is said to have forged Fidel Castro's link with U.S. Negro militants and founded the violence-prone Revolutionary Action Movement (RAM). Some officers of the secretive RAM organization were arrested in New York in June and charged with a plot to assassinate moderate civil rights leaders. The House Committee on Un-American Activities has accused RAM of planning to start a riot in Chicago two years ago.

There has been widespread speculation this summer's epidemic of Negro violence was encouraged by Havana and Peking.

But officials with access to domestic and foreign intelligence information say they have absolutely no evidence of any underground financial channel from Communist capitals to Negro slums.

Goodwill Tour Set

Approximately 10 seats are available on the bus scheduled for the St. Lawrence Community Goodwill Tour Thursday. Twenty-eight businessmen have signed to make the trip this year. Last year about 40 local businessmen made the same trip.

Those making the trip will meet at the parking lot at Main and Second streets at 10 a.m. Thursday and will return at 4 p.m.

Group To See Crops

The group will view the cotton and maize crops at the Daniel Hirt farm and then will be guests at a barbecue luncheon at the Community House in St. Lawrence.

After lunch, the group will go to the Clifford Hoelcher farm to watch operations involved in packing and shipping tomatoes and cantaloupes. Other farms are also on the itinerary, according to John Taylor, chairman of the general arrangements committee.

Naval Chief Says Bombing Is Effective

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. bombing of North Vietnam is effective and should be continued, Adm. T. H. Moorer, new chief of naval operations, testified today.

"Our air effort against North Vietnam is making a major contribution to the achievement of our objectives in South Vietnam," he said. "Now is certainly not the time to terminate, or decrease in any way, this pressure on the enemy."

REDS SUFFER

Moorer, who took over as top naval officer Aug. 1, testified before a closed session of the Senate defense preparedness investigating subcommittee. Portions of his prepared testimony were released to newsmen.

His testimony backed the stand taken by other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and echoed a theme repeated by other generals and admirals: Bomb more while North Vietnam suffers.

Moorer said effectiveness of the air attacks has been enhanced recently "by the assignment of additional lucrative targets."

BIG RISK

He did not elaborate, but U.S. planes have been hitting more often near Hanoi and along the Red Chinese border. This has led to indications the brunt of the attack may be shifting to the heavily defended, politically sensitive northeast quadrant of North Vietnam.

Moorer said the targets in North Vietnam are being hit with "almost surgical precision." Unusual accuracy and controls are needed, he said, to minimize "risk of expanding the war to include Communist China and the Soviet Union."

DESTRUCTION

He said the precision is demonstrated in the destruction of specific bridges and power plants within what under other circumstances would be a military target complex.

The northeast area, which includes the vital railroad link with Communist China's weapons and munitions factories, is regarded as Hanoi's main base area for the war in South Vietnam.

In Saigon Tuesday Air Force spokesmen said the stepped-up attacks in the northeast are severely hurting North Vietnam's capacity for war, and a high-ranking officer declared:

"Hammer, hammer, hammer with everything you can because you know it hurts them. I know they're beaten. The question is: When are they going to quit?"

Firefighters Losing Ground

By The Associated Press

Embattled fire crews were reported near exhaustion in the Northwest timber regions late Tuesday as they appeared to continue to lose ground to hundreds of blazes in all sections but Oregon, southern Idaho, and Washington.

However, a wind change in British Columbia and the hope of reinforcements in western Montana and northern Idaho brought expectations that significant progress may get under way.

In those areas, uncontrolled blazes were reported on an estimated 50,000 acres.

Washington State officials braced for possible fire outbreaks but reported their forests were still free of major blazes which have raged for nearly two weeks in other Northwest states.

In Oregon and southern Idaho, crews Tuesday contained major timber blazes burned over more than 20,000 acres. Oregon officials said all fires there were under control. All but a few minor, but potentially dangerous "hot spots," were reported controlled in southern Idaho.

"We're wearing out," Ted Thompson, Glacier National Park fire control officer said. "It's getting to be a matter of trying to last to the limit of our resources, and then figure out how to replace worn out crews."

About 5,000 acres of land in the Glacier Park region has been aflame for almost two weeks.

Weather conditions were expected to improve with fewer lightning storms and forecasts along the coastal regions indicated no storms were developing. Rain in the entire Northwest region generally comes from Pacific storm fronts.

Chemical Cars Explode; 6,000 Texans Evacuate

Seven Texarkana Firemen Injured

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — Explosions and fire erupted in four derailed chemical cars of a freight train today, forcing the evacuation of 6,000 persons in a 1½-mile area and injuring 10 persons.

The evacuations were ordered as a precaution against possible poisonous fumes from the chemicals.

Fire and police officials issued an all clear at 10 a.m. after the fire burned itself out and residents began returning to their homes.

FIREMEN HURT

Seven of the injured were Texarkana firemen and three were Red Cross workers who were called in to help care for the evacuees. The injured were taken to a hospital for emergency treatment of cuts and burns. None was believed seriously hurt.

The evacuees were moved into four school buildings and the Marine Corps Reserve Center.

The derailment occurred Tuesday night on the grounds of the International Cresote plant. The area is about two miles off U.S. Highway 59 on the southwest edge of this city which straddles the Texas-Arkansas border.

Police said nine cars were derailed and four were on fire. All fire fighting equipment was moved back from the scene because of the possibility of more explosions.

EXPLOSIVES

One car was loaded with what the State Department of Public Safety called "a highly explosive chemical." Another contained nitric acid, another liquid plastic, one fertilizer and at least two held naphtha.

Cause of the derailment was not immediately determined. Mrs. T. O. Manley of Texarkana said she and her husband were sitting in their car at the crossing when an explosion ripped through one of the chemical cars.

SMOKE CLOUDS

The explosion occurred about 9 p.m. and sent thick, billowing clouds of black smoke skyward. Dave Hall, reporter for the Texarkana Gazette, said flames shot some 75 feet high above the wreckage.

A power pole was knocked down by the derailment, causing the loss of some electrical power.

Hall said one explosion was heard then another about 30 minutes later.

Federal Units Rout Biafrans

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Radio Lagos claimed today that federal forces have driven troops of the breakaway Biafran state out of Ore, 20 miles inside West Nigeria, and are pursuing them into the Midwest region.

No further details were given. Ore is 115 miles east of Lagos, the federal capital, and a government spokesman said Tuesday the battle for it could decide the course of the seven-week civil war.

The Nigerian army was reported to have blown up bridges north and west of Ore Tuesday to stem the Biafran advance into West Nigeria. About 3,000 troops, apparently divided evenly between the two sides, fought the battle in high forests, in the cocoa-rich area, which is about three hours by road from Lagos. Casualties were heavy, federal sources said.

The Biafrans took Ore Sunday. Federal forces were reinforced Tuesday by at least 300 troops and 19 French-built armored cars mounted with 90mm cannon.

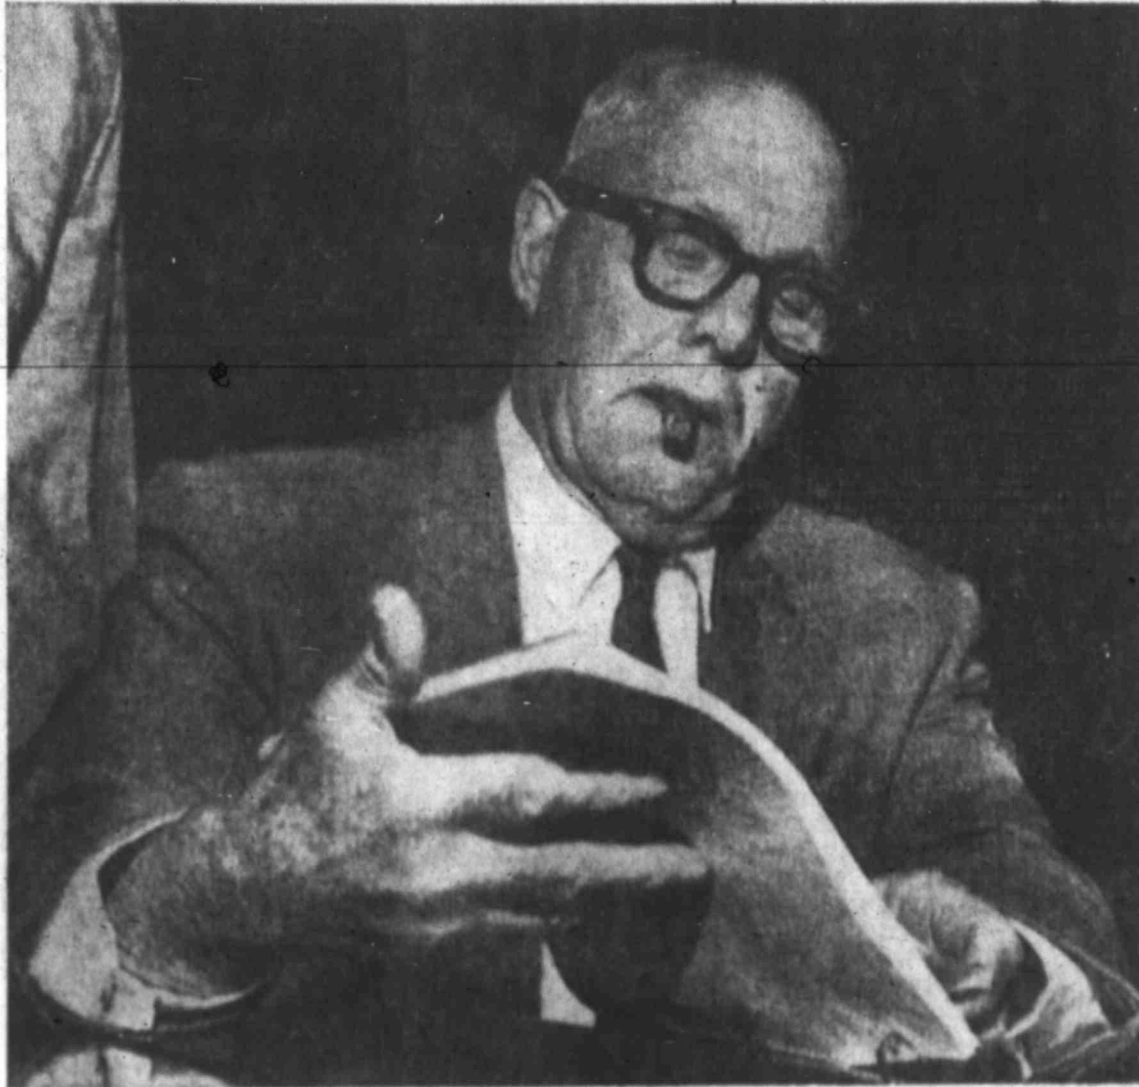

Reliable sources reported that federal forces to the south also smashed an apparent attempt to infiltrate Lagos State through a complicated network of creeks.

On other fronts in the civil war, federal patrols reportedly reached the Midwest river post of Warri, which was seized Aug. 9 by the Biafrans.

The federal government also continued to claim that a major assault was imminent north of Enugu, the Biafran capital.

Meanwhile, the Nigerian government radio accused the United States of seeking to "balkanize" Nigeria to get control of its oil.

"It was one of the most vicious things I've heard," said an American diplomat. "Nigeria's military government also protested Western criticism of its arms deal with the Soviet Union."

Senate Moves To Work Out Differences In Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate moved quickly today to work out differences with the House on the nation's largest single appropriation in history, a $70.1 billion defense spending bill.

The Senate overwhelmingly approved the bill Tuesday night, 85 to 3, after turning back several attempts to trim the total and hearing that the Vietnam war may require additional billions later.

The Senate's final version was more than $1.45 billions less than President Johnson has asked and more than $162 million less than the House voted.

STENNIS SELECTED
Voting against the bill were Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, and Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, opponents of Vietnam war policy. Shortly after passing the bill the Senate named Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., the bill's floor manager, and a group of other senators to work out a compromise bill with the House. Stennis said the two groups would meet today.

PLANE FUSS

The differences that must be reconciled before final passage sends the bill to the President include these Senate actions:

— $172 million reduction from the $287 million administration request to continue development of the controversial F111B aircraft, the Navy version of the swept-wing all-service plane backed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. The House had allowed $208.8 million to buy 20 of the planes. The Senate provided $115 million for six aircraft.

— Elimination of a House rider which would have prohibited purchase of any naval vessel built in a foreign shipyard.

— A $146 million slash from military personnel funds voted by the House. Senators said they acted because recent administration requests had been overstated and the money used later for other projects.

— Rejection of a Marine Corps bid to build a $123 million amphibious assault ship. The cut was part of a general $174.7 million reduction in procurement funds allowed by the House.

— A $141 million addition to operations and maintenance funds and a $40 million addition to research and development funds, both voted by the House.

The Senators approved $11.9 million to continue operation of 45 B52 aircraft McNamara has wanted to drop from active service, and they rejected his request for $233.5 million to build five fast deployment logistic ships to serve as floating arsenals or supply centers. They also eliminated $67.6 million voted last year for two similar ships.

Workers Hunt Youth, Horse

TRENTON, Fla. (AP) — Smelly sinkhole water hampered mud-smeared rescue workers today as they probed a collapsed underground cavern in search of a farm youth missing since Saturday when he went for a horseback ride in the north Florida piney woods.

The hunt for 20-year-old Cecil Davis was stymied for hours early today by rising waters in the bottom of the hole. A large pump was ordered to augment one that was showing almost no results.

In addition, a small generator powering a single light broke down. It took almost two hours to get the inadequate light glowing again.

There is little chance that the boy is still alive if he is in the hole, Gilchrist County Sheriff Charles R. Parrish said.

As he stood Tuesday night at the edge of the yawning sinkhole—caused by the collapse of a limestone cavern's roof—the sheriff said: "I hope the boy's somewhere else."

The Florida National Guard again volunteered a helicopter for use in an aerial search of vast expanses of farmland and wooded pastures—pock-marked with more sinkholes—northwest of Trenton.

A helicopter and a small airplane have flown over the area for two days with no success.

Four Jailed After Raids Net Arsenal

NEW YORK (AP) — Four men, described by authorities as "right wingers," were arrested early today in a series of raids which netted an arsenal including 250,000 rounds of ammunition, an anti-tank gun, a sub-machine gun and explosives.

The four were accused of planting a bomb last June in the Allerton Community and Social Center in the Bronx.

The bomb, which was supposed to go off while a Communist party theoretician was speaking, actually went off two days later.

BOMB AGENCY

The four also allegedly were involved in proposals to bomb the headquarters of a federal antipoverty agency, named BOMB, in the Bronx.

The arrests were announced by Bronx Dist. Atty. Isidore Dollinger and Chief Asst. Dist. Atty. Burton Roberts.

The defendants, all from the Bronx, are:

George Colitto, 52, whose sporting-goods store was the meeting place for the group.

Peter Psyrras, 37, owner of two luncheonettes in Manhattan.

Michael Mikulik, 26, a postal worker.

Warren Hoy, 40, a parks department employee.

Colitto, Psyrras and Mikulik are charged with conspiracy to commit murder, possession of explosives, violation of the weapons law and attempted murder. Hoy is charged only with conspiracy to use a bomb.

BIRCH MEMBERS

Roberts said Colitto and Mikulik said they were members of the John Birch Society.

The raids, carried out from midnight to 7 a.m., occurred at all the men's homes, the two luncheonettes and the sporting-goods store.

In addition to the weapons, Dollinger said, police seized literature of the John Birch Society, the National Renaissance party, the Minutemen and the Black Muslims.

The search warrants were obtained in Bronx Supreme Court Tuesday, Dollinger said, on the basis of an affidavit which alleged some of those arrested talked with undercover police agents about a proposed bombing of the antipoverty agency.

Education Aid Urged

DALLAS (AP) — Lt. Gov. Gov. Preston Smith urged Texas' private industry to continue its aid, both financial and inspirational, to the field of education.

Smith, who says he will run for governor in 1968, spoke at a luncheon honoring John Lawrence, Dallas, president of Dresser Industries, and sponsor of a school on the island of Mikonos.

The luncheon was a part of the American Hellenic Educational Progressive Association's national convention.

"I would have the trumpets sounded to re-group industry in a mass of support for education, whether a school on the island of Mikonos or in our own country," Smith said.

"In the years to come, I believe that the greater responsibility for aiding education which private industry carries on its broad shoulders, the greater will be our education."

U.S. Planes Make Fourth Attack On Hanoi's Span

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes kept up intensified pressure on North Vietnam's battered supply lines Tuesday with raids from the suburbs of Hanoi to within 30 miles of the Red Chinese frontier.

The U.S. Command said the principal targets were rail and road bridges around the North Vietnamese capital, including the big span across the Canal des Rapides only five miles from the city's center. It was the fourth attack on the bridge, one of Hanoi's two chief rail routes to China.

BLISTERING FIRE

Returning pilots reported blistering antiaircraft fire and barrages of surface-to-air missiles within the heavily defended North Vietnamese heartland, but there was no report of any losses. The previous day's raids cost six American planes.

It was the third day of heavy raids deep into North Vietnam and around the Hanoi-Haiphong road, rail and industrial complex. U.S. headquarters reported planes from Thailand, South Vietnam and three carriers in the Tonkin Gulf flew 162 missions during the day, continuing an above average rate that has been maintained recently during good weather.

PRAVDA CHARGES

The U.S. Command's combat maps showed no raids on Hanoi itself, although Soviet correspondents in Hanoi claimed American planes obliterated a densely populated block within the capital.

A Pravda correspondent said dozens of civilians were killed or wounded in rocket attacks that were "possibly the most violent bombings of the entire war."

In South Vietnam, the guerrilla war of attrition inflicted more casualties, but no large-scale actions were reported. In Saigon, an American GI was killed on the way to work, and scattered similar terror attacks occurred elsewhere, some aimed at disrupting the Sept. 3 presidential elections.

RAILS SMASHED

In the absence of heavy ground fighting, the main thrust of the American effort remained the air war on the supply lines from China south through North Vietnam to the Communist forces in the South. Warplanes streaked up the Red River to cut the northwest rail line from Hanoi to Red China in five places. A rail yard 30 miles from China was the northernmost target. Other raids smashed at the northeast line, the only other rail link between Hanoi and China which carries about 75 per cent of the traffic entering North Vietnam.

Returning pilots reported heavy damage to rolling stock massed in yards above Hanoi during a week of bad weather which began to break up last Sunday. The cars had been used to move south because the main bridges into Hanoi had been dropped by bombing raids.

BOXCARS BLASTED

Pilots of an F105 Thunderchief raid on two rail sidings near the capital reported destroying or damaging from 45 to 65 boxcars but accurate assessment was impossible because of smoke and flames.

The Canal des Rapides bridge had been hit three times before, but since it was one of two main arteries into the city it had been the subject of intensive repair work.

The cruiser Boston and destroyer Berkeley moved inshore near Vinh to destroy five heavily loaded 90-foot barges. The previous day the Boston had destroyed a big steel observation tower which the Reds were putting up near Vinh probably for use as a spotter tower against naval raids.

90 REDS-KILLED

Military headquarters said 90 Communist soldiers—most of them North Vietnamese regulars—were killed in scattered fighting along the coastal foothills of Quang Nam, Quang Tin, Quang Ngai and Binh Dinh provinces, where allied task forces have been maintaining intensive pressure to root out long-implanted guerrillas. American losses were not given.

The Army reported the Viet Cong is making an intensive terrorist effort in the area to disrupt the election campaign and that consequently American and South Vietnamese patrolling had been increased.

PILOT CAPTURED

The other center of fighting was the Mekong delta, where the usual spate of Communist hit-and-run attacks and night mortar assaults dotted the military maps.

Eight-engine B52 bombers struck in the northwest corner of South Vietnam today, jarring enemy storage areas and truck parks in the A Shau Valley.

Peking Radio today reported the capture of the pilot of one of two U.S. Navy A6 fighter jets downed when they strayed over Red China Monday just above the North Vietnamese border.

"One of the occupants of the U.S. aircraft was saved when he escaped by parachute and was taken prisoner," the broadcast said. "The other occupant crashed with his aircraft into a hill and was killed." It was inferred from the wording of the account that the second A6 jet crashed and its two crewmen were killed.

Scholarships For ROTC

High school senior boys interested in applying for four-year Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) scholarships for school year 1968-69 must apply before Jan. 15, 1968, according to spokesmen at Headquarters Fourth U.S. Army, Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio.

It is not necessary for applicants to have participated in the junior (or high school) ROTC program. They may attend any college or university offering the four-year Army ROTC program if accepted by that college.

Nationwide there will be 800 four-year scholarships this year, ranging in value from $5,000 to $9,000, depending on the tuition charged at the college selected. Each scholarship includes all tuition and fees, books, military uniforms and a $50 monthly living allowance, for the period of the scholarship. The pay is higher during summer camps. There were about 100 scholarships awarded in the Fourth Army area of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico last year.

The first testing date throughout the nation is scheduled for Dec. 2, 1967, for which the last registration date without a penalty fee is Oct. 23. In Texas there will be a special administration of the CEEB-SAT on Nov. 4, for which the without-penalty registration deadline is Oct. 7.

Application kits and further information on the Army ROTC Scholarship Program are available by writing Commanding General, Fourth U.S. Army, ATTN: AKAAG-RR, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., 78234. The kits will be mailed as soon as they are available.

Plane Crashes In China Sea

HONG KONG (AP)—A plane crashed into the South China Sea today and three survivors were reported rescued but no one would say what the plane's nationality was or who had been flying it.

Officials also said no information was available as to the plane's take-off point or destination.

British spokesmen said two critically injured Nationalist Chinese were picked up by a U.S. amphibian plane from Clark Airbase, the Philippines, and flown to Hong Kong.

A third survivor was reported rescued by a ship in the crash area about 130 miles south of Hong Kong. Three British navy ships, a British air force plane and six American military planes from Clark were reported looking for more survivors.

Airline pilots said intercepted radio messages indicated there had been nine persons aboard the downed plane.

T. R. Thomson, director of Hong Kong's civil aviation department, said the plane was first reported to be a U.S. military transport but was later described as of "unidentified type and unidentified nationality."

A U.S. consulate spokesman first said it was a U.S. plane on a training flight out of Formosa, then said the consulate knew nothing about it, then reported, "It's not an American plane."

Key Developer Of 'Pill' Dies

BOSTON (AP)—Dr. Gregory Pincus, the research biologist who developed the first practical oral contraceptive pill, died Tuesday night. He was 64.

With Dr. Hudson Hoiland, he was co-founded in 1944 of the Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology, now located in Shrewsbury, Mass., where laboratory research on the pill began in 1950.

His death came 10 years after the pill he developed was approved by the Food and Drug Administration for use in treating threatened abortion and menstrual disorders, and seven years after its approval as a prescription contraceptive.

CYCLES EXPERT

Peter Bent Brigham Hospital listed the cause of death as myeloid metaplasia, a disease of the blood and spleen akin to leukemia.

Although he achieved worldwide fame for his contraceptive pill Dr. Pincus also developed estrone, a hormone used in treating breast cancer, and was recognized as an authority on both the reproductive cycles of mammals and sex hormones.

A $2,100 grant from the Planned Parenthood Research Fund started research on the contraceptive pill.

IDEA REJECTED

In determining the goals for a new approach to birth control, Dr. Pincus rejected the idea of painful and potentially expensive injections and settled on a pill as the ideal physiological contraceptive.

His approach centered on progesterone—a hormone, or one of the chemical controllers of body processes—which is secreted by a woman's ovaries in large quantities after ovulation.

Working with Dr. Min-chueh Chang, who conducted the experimental observations on rabbits and rats, Dr. Pincus demonstrated that progesterone administered orally could inhibit ovulation in animals.

Then in collaboration with Dr. John Rock at the Free Hospital for Women in Boston, Dr. Pincus began to apply the work to humans—using progesterone compounds first to correct infertility in women.

COMPOUND SEARCH

The large doses of progesterone required to inhibit ovulation were a drawback for its uses as a contraceptive, however, and Dr. Pincus began a search for a progesterone-like compound that could be effective in small doses. He and Dr. Chang tested almost 200 compounds that had been supplied by drug manufacturers

Grand Jurors Are Selected

Twenty citizens have been notified to report to Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, at 9 a.m. Aug. 29 to serve as a grand jury panel for the new term of the court opening on that date.

The judge will select 12 of the 20 and these will immediately begin consideration of a dozen or so felony cases which Wayne Burns, district attorney, said he has ready to present for consideration.

The panel is comprised of F. C. Appleton, Ynez Yanez Jr., Charles Sweeney, Don Lovelady, Leroy Perry, Jack F. Johnson, Mrs. Morris Patterson, Mrs. Verona Williams, Gene Nabors, Horace C. Beene, E. S. Morgan, Raymond Garcia, William T. McRee, S. R. West, A. J. Prager, Wesley Deats, Paul Soldan, J. M. Sterling, Mrs. Bill Winters, and Mrs. J. D. Cauble.

All of the panel members have been notified by the sheriff's office to report to the court at 9 a.m. next Tuesday.

Algerians Seize Civilian Plane

ALGIERS (AP)—Algerian authorities have seized a U.S.-licensed plane and charged the three Swiss crewmen with photographing "strategic installations" in southern Algeria, the government-controlled newspaper El Moudjahit reported today.

The twin-engine plane was based in Niger, the report said, but its ownership was not given. Its description as U.S.-licensed indicated it was a civilian plane.

Woolworth Exec Dale, 64, Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard I. Dale, 64, who rose from a trainee to vice president in charge of public relations for the F.W. Woolworth Co., died Tuesday, apparently of a heart attack. Dale, who joined Woolworth's in New York in 1924, served as regional vice president for the company's east central region at Cleveland for 12 years.

'The Kid' Regains Coffee Can Crown

BRITT, Iowa (AP)—Only nine hoboes braved the rain Tuesday to attend the 67th annual Hobo Convention.

But it took five votes before the Hardrock Kid could be elected king of the hoboes and receive his coveted crown—a coffee can.

The Kid, whose real name is John Misen, a New Jersey native, regained the crown he lost last year to the Pennsylvania Kid, Richard Wilson.

Car Wreck Kills Harlingen Man

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Alan Dean Medley, 20, of Harlingen, died Tuesday night on U.S. 83 about three miles north of Brownsville when his car struck a tree.

Leaves For Police School

Detective Sergeant Sherrill Farmer heads for Louisville, Ky., Thursday to attend a 12-week program on police administration. He was one of 30 officers in the United States awarded a grant to attend the school.

Detective Leaves For Police School

By REBECCA STARK

Detective Sergeant Sherrill Farmer will be going back to school this week as one of 30 law enforcement officers in the United States awarded a grant to attend the Southern Police Institute at the University of Louisville.

Farmer will join 70 other officers for the 12-week session slated to begin Monday.

"The Southern Police Institute is highly recognized throughout the United States and is comparable to the FBI Academy," said Jay Banks, chief of police. The school deals basically with police administration. Farmer will participate in field projects, psychological supervision and additional book assignments. Although he has attended numerous in-service training programs offered by the local department, this will be his first extended program.

Banks nominated Farmer for the grant — one which provides full tuition and an additional $400 for board, lodging, laundry and miscellaneous expenses.

Heroin Suspect Nabbed In Raid

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — City and federal narcotic agents raided a home in San Antonio's southside early today and seized 18 ounces of pure heroin worth an estimated $350,000 on the underworld market.

A 37-year-old man was arrested in connection with the raid.

Lt. Charles Doer, who made the estimate on the heroin value, said a warrant was issued for the raid by U. S. Commissioner Frank Baskin.

New Handguns Law

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — A new law in New Hampshire forbids the sale of handguns to nonstate residents when the sale violates their home state law.

Marines Offer An Alternative

Men who have already taken their pre-induction examinations for local draft boards and many who have received orders to report for induction are still eligible for the Marine Corps "Two-Year" enlistment program.

Sgt. Joe Bradley, Marine recruiter in this area, explained that men enlisting in the Marines for two years are eligible for the "Buddy Plan" and "120-Day Delay" enlistment programs.

Persons joining under the "Buddy Plan" are assured of spending at least the early part of their enlistment together. The "120-Day Delay" program allows a man to enlist and then delay his departure for active duty for as much as 120 days.

Sgt. Bradley emphasized that men who join the Marines for two years will have complete utilization of the GI Bill which includes assistance for college education or vocational training. For additional information on the Marine Corps "Two-Year" enlistment program young men may call 332-4512 in Odessa.

Car-Logging Truck Wreck Kills Teen

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) — An automobile crashed into a logging truck inside Nacogdoches Tuesday, fatally injuring William C. "Bill" Park, 15, of Nacogdoches. The youth's body was trapped in the mangled wreckage of his car for some 30 minutes.

Another $110 is allotted to cover the cost of textbooks, supplies and typewriter rentals. Travel expense and the registration fee of $110 is being paid by the City of Big Spring.

The educational grants made through funds provided by the Law Enforcement Assistance Act of the federal government are provided semi-annually. Approximately 75 per cent of the participants must be selected from the Southern area states of Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia. The remaining 25 per cent are awarded to other states. No more than three participants are chosen from a state. An officer from Austin and another from Dallas will join Farmer in the class.

Farmer has been with the local police department 11 years. April Fool's Day, 1956, he first joined the department as a dispatcher. Since that time he has seen duty as a patrolman, accident investigator, warrant officer, sergeant in the patrol and traffic divisions and, most recently, became a detective in 1963.

"You work a little bit on everything, regardless of the position," said Farmer. Emergencies or simply being present when something happens, account for experiences ranging from the arrest of a murder suspect to the delivery of a baby.

His job has one familiar side—one involving shootings, armed robbers and other major crimes which usually involve a lot of footwork, checking out tips and making investigations.

Farmer is married to the former Jane Hill of Big Spring. They have an eight-year-old daughter, Shanna. He is active in Boy Scout work, helping with the troop sponsored by the police department. This year he is serving as chancellor commander of the Knights of Pythias Lodge and captain and commanding officer of the Texas state guard security unit.

STAFF MEMBERS PUMMELED

Britain Restricts Chinese Diplomats In Retaliation

LONDON (AP) — Britain imposed tight restrictions on the movement of Chinese diplomats in this country Tuesday night in retaliation for the burning of its Peking mission and the beating of British staff members by rampaging Red Guards. But a break in diplomatic relations did not appear imminent.

The British government reacted with swift anger over the incident in which British charge d'affaires, Donald Hopson, and nine other mission staff members were pummeled and humiliated in front of a screaming mob.

Britain charged that Mao Tse-tung's regime was behind the attack and linked it to Peking's campaign to harass British rule in the crown colony of Hong Kong.

"SIT TIGHT" Sources in Whitehall believed it unlikely, however, that the incident would prompt Britain to sever relations with China. One source said the Foreign Office "has learned not to react in a huff."

The Foreign Office branded the attack "an outrageous and uncivilized act which would bring the Chinese government into disrepute throughout the world."

Summoning Chinese Charge d'Affaires Shen Ping, a Foreign Office official informed him that:

—All Chinese in Britain holding diplomatic or official passports must obtain exit visas from the Foreign Office before leaving Britain.

—All members of the Chinese diplomatic mission are restricted to travel within a radius of five miles from the center of London unless they give 48 hours notice.

—Permission to operate diplomatic radio transmissions by the Chinese mission is suspended until restrictions on the British diplomatic radio in Peking are lifted.

DEMONSTRATION

A day-long demonstration by more than 10,000 Red Guards in front of the British mission's office building exploded into violence with the expiration of a Chinese ultimatum demanding that the British release Communist newsmen arrested in the Hong Kong and withdraw action against pro-Communist newspapers.

The demonstration got underway, the Foreign Office said, with an attempt to make Hopson and other British diplomats bow their heads and "admit their guilt."

Hopson refused and after hours of argument he was allowed to transmit a Chinese protest to the British government. The British Mission's radio went dead after the operator reported: "they're coming in."

FLAMING GAS

The Foreign Office learned from other diplomats in Peking that the Red Guards smashed their way into the building, savagely beating diplomats and secretaries, and began throwing cans of flaming gasoline.

A Japanese report from Peking said Hopson and nine other staff members were beaten up as they fled from the burning building. The Kyodo News Agency's Peking correspondent said it was not known how seriously they were injured.

The Foreign Office said another embassy sent word to London the British staff and their families were safe in other foreign missions.

Communists in Hong Kong have been carrying on a campaign of strikes, riots and terror since May with the open sanction of the Chinese regime. Red China supplies half the colony's food, and a Communist leader in Hong Kong threatened Tuesday that this would be stopped unless action against the pro-Communist papers and their employees and executives ended.

Med Grant Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service announced Monday approval of a $1,594,000 grant to help finance building of research facilities at the University of Texas' Southwestern Medical School in Dallas. The new five-story building will house the school's departments of anatomy, physiology, pharmacology and biochemistry.

36th Division Reunion Slated

HOUSTON (AP) — More than 600 veterans of Texas' 36th Division are expected for the annual reunion Sept. 1-3.

Speakers will include Maj. Gen. Thomas Bishop, Texas adjutant general; Carl Phinney and Paul Adams, division commanders during World War II.

The Texas National Guard Infantry organization saw federal service in both world wars. In World War II the division was among the first American troops to land in Europe by invading Italy at Salerno Sept. 9, 1942.

Hubert Simons of Waco, president of the 36th Division Association, said the first assembly would be on Sept. 2.

Demolition Begins

NEW YORK (AP) — Demolition work has started on the 17-story Singer Building—the world's tallest building for a short time after its completion on lower Broadway in 1910. It is one of several buildings being cleared for a new 50-story tower.

Hedy Lamarr Claims Rape

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Hedy Lamarr complained to police Monday that a man she had dated several times raped her at gunpoint.

On the basis of the complaint, signed by the 32-year-old actress at the West Los Angeles police station, officers arrested Donald Blyth, 40, of nearby El Monte, and booked him on suspicion of forcible rape.

L. R. C. Madlock gave this account:

Miss Lamarr said she had known Blyth about six months. Last weekend he came to her home, she said, made advances and after she declined forced her into a bedroom and raped her.

She said Blyth called her Monday afternoon, indicating he was returning to her home. Two detectives hid in the house. They said they arrested Blyth when he arrived about 7 p.m.

The officers said Blyth was not armed and he told them Miss Lamarr had submitted to him previously. Police said Blyth told them he was a school maintenance man.

Fishermen Find Body In Bayou

VIDOR, Tex. (AP) — Fishermen found a body floating in Baird's Bayou west of here Tuesday near a dead end road off Interstate 10.

Officers tentatively identified the man as Ronald Allen Hitt, 21, of Logansport, La., and said his car apparently had skidded through a barricade marking the dead end and plunged into the water.

 A brilliant yet nevertheless logical shot by East at the outset of the campaign, administered a fatal salvo to South's four spade contract.

West opened the deuce of hearts, the nine was played from dummy and East put in the jack which won the trick. He paused before continuing, to assess the defensive prospects.

There was significant information to be gathered from the first trick. West's lead of the deuce marked him with a maximum of four hearts, and therefore indicated that the declarer had at least three. When East's jack held, it revealed that his partner had the king. This fact prompted East to conclude that South had the balance of the missing high card strength including both minor suit aces—else where were the ingredients for the latter's opening bid?

In order to defeat the contract then, the defense must take three heart tricks in addition to the ace of spades. In order to accomplish this end, the dummy's trumps have to be removed while East still retains his high spade, for once that key control is gone, South may be expected to take full charge of the situation.

At trick two, East found the one lead to sink his opponent's ship—the deuce of spades. South was in, however, he was unable to launch an effective campaign. If he continued to draw trump, East would win the next trick with the ace of spades and proceed to cash two more hearts. If the declarer tried to take an immediate heart discard on the dummy's clubs, West would ruff the third round with an otherwise worthless trump and return a heart to score the setting trick.

Lawyer Lived Double Life For 27 Years

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Daily News says Joseph Imburgio Bulger, Chicago lawyer who died in a plane crash in 1966, lived a double life for 27 years, with one family in Illinois and the other in Florida.

As a young man acquiring wealth he married the former Elsie Tomm. Their home is in Melrose Park, a suburb of Chicago.

In a copyright story the News quotes the former Sallee M. Young, one-time Chicago model: "We were married in Reno, Nev., in 1939." She lives in the Miami area.

SYNDICATE ADVISER
 Bulger, known as a friend and legal adviser to some members of the Chicago crime syndicate, spent workweeks in Chicago and commuted to the South on weekends.

On a Friday afternoon, Dec. 2, 1966, he took off in his plane from Chicago Midway Airport and headed for Miami. The plane crashed into a hillside near Spring (Tenn.)

CHANGES NAME
 Months later, the News says, Sallee Bulger looked at pictures of the wreckage and said:

"Those aren't his shoes. And that can't be his wallet. He never carried one. As far as I know, nobody saw the body who knew him. I can't believe he's dead."

Bulger, a competent pilot, was in his 60s at the time of the crash. He was a native of New Orleans, where he is known as Joseph Imburgio. He added the name Bulger when he entered politics. His father died when he was 11, and the family settled in 1918 Melrose Park, where a mass Prohibition Era raid uncovered 119 illegal stills.

FORMER MAYOR
 Young Bulger worked in a bank, married Elsie Tomm, operated a delicatessen, went into the real estate and insurance business. He served as mayor in the early 1930s. He quit to study law. He also held office as president of the Unione Siciliana at a time when members included Tony (Big Tuna) Accardo, Paul (The Waiter) Ricca and some lesser known underworld figures.

The newspaper said Sallee and Bulger lived nine years in apartments and hotels in Chicago and New York, moved to San Marino Island off Miami Beach, moved to Cuba later and ultimately returned to Florida, making their last home on a horse farm southwest of Miami.

The News says a son, Lawrence Joseph Bulger, was born to Sallee Nov. 15, 1949. Bulger and the former Elsie Tomm had three children—Joseph Jr., who was killed in World War II; Robert, now 43; and Patricia Bulger Jones.

Brown Labels Justice 'Joke'

NEW YORK (AP) — H. Rap Brown was free today after having his bail on a federal gun charge reduced from $25,000 to $15,000 in a noisy hearing before U.S. District Judge Thomas F. Murphy.

The 23-year-old chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee walked out of the federal House of Detention at 5:20 p.m. Tuesday.

He immediately returned to the Foley Square Courthouse where the hearings had taken place and told a crowd of some 150 of his supporters: "Justice is a joke in America."

Brown, arrested on a federal charge of carrying a gun across state lines while under indictment, said: "If Lyndon Johnson thinks I'm going to pay $25,000 to get out of jail, he's crazy. He wouldn't pay that much for Lady Bird."

He added, "If he (Johnson) is worried about my rifle wait until I get my atom bomb."

Twice during the afternoon hearing Judge Murphy left the bench until the noisy courtroom crowd could be brought to order. The first time two of Brown's aides were forcibly ejected.

When Brown, wearing a blue pin-striped blazer and dungarees, entered the room he was greeted by wild applause and repeated shouts of "Black Power Black Power!" Murphy again left the room.

While the New York proceedings were under way, a federal grand jury in New Orleans indicted Brown on charges that he carried a .30-caliber carbine across state lines while under indictment—a federal crime punishable by a maximum five years in prison.

Texas Cop Faces Car Theft Count

FORT WORTH (AP) — A suburban Benbrook policeman was free on $1,000 bond today, charged with car theft.

Calvin Cearly Jr., a former patrolman in the Tarrant County sheriff's department, was accused Monday of the April 9 theft of a car owned by a Euless man.

Investigators identified Cearly as the owner of a five-acre tract in adjoining Parker County, where 17 stolen and stripped cars were found Wednesday.

Cearly said he was in the process of selling the land and did not know what it was being used for. Parker County deputies found the stolen cars Wednesday.

Two Fort Worth brothers were charged with theft, and investigators said more arrests were expected.

Nude Body Identified

HOUSTON (AP) — The body of a Negro woman found floating in the Gulf near West Beach at Galveston was identified Tuesday as Rosie Mae Bonton, 19, of Houston.

The nude body was found early Monday. Justice of Peace Pete Urbani, who ordered an autopsy, said the body had been in the water less than 12 hours. A sister in Houston identified the body.

Texas Lawmaker Remains In Coma

DALLAS (AP) — Gravelly-voiced State Sen. George Parkhouse, a staunch conservative and one of the most colorful and cantankerous of Texas' legislators, lay near death today.

Parkhouse, 67, was in a coma at his Dallas home and listed in critical condition after a series of strokes.

His wife told reporters Tuesday that his condition was critical. Parkhouse is under a doctor's care at his home.

Parkhouse, a leader in the fight to solve Texas' water problems, has been in ill health for the past three months. He became famous in the last legislature for his quickie filibusters. His most frequent targets were bills favorable to organized labor.

UN Budget Jumps

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, who wants to add 324 persons to the U.N. staff, has proposed a record 1968 budget for regular U.N. activities of $141.6 million. This is an increase of $12. million, or 9.6 per cent, over 1967 expenditures.

Mass Trial Opens

ATHENS (AP) — The first mass trial of political opponents of Greece's military government opened before a military tribunal today. Thirty-seven defendants faced charges arising from the printing and circulation of a leaflet attacking the regime.

Goopy Product Riots Answer?

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — It didn't seem to have any commercial application at first, this RioTrol.

Sure one pound of the plastic-derived substance could turn several hundred square feet of smooth pavement into a surface eminently slicker than an oiled-over ice skating rink, but who needed it.

Then one day engineer Dave Garland slipped on a smudge of the substance while talking to a co-worker about the Detroit riots and RioTrol was born.

MOB STOPPER

Officials of the Western Co. of suburban Richardson, had a press showing Tuesday of RioTrol, a slick way to stop a mob. The showing was sort of a riot in itself.

Eight firemen had been hired for $20 apiece to simulate a riot on a 1,500 square foot area

Texas Eastern Seeks Gas Okay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. has applied to build $14.9 million worth of pipeline to take natural gas from a Louisiana offshore field, the Federal Power Commission said Tuesday.

Texas Eastern proposed to buy gas from Mobil Oil Corp. and build 45 miles of 24-inch pipeline and dual 24-inch pipeline crossings of the Mississippi River.

The new line would extend from near Venice, La., to the Block 6 Field, Main Pass area, offshore St. Bernard Parish.

Fresh Thundershowers Pepper Bone-Dry Texas

Late summer thundershowers prowled Texas today after torrential rain in some coastal areas.

Corpus Christi Naval Air Station reported 2.69 inches of rain Tuesday in six hours. Brownsville got 2.20 in the same period. Radar picked up thundershowers again today from the Texas-Oklahoma line to the Gulf Coast.

FUNNEL CLOUD
Other rainfall amounts included 1.25 inches at Kingsville and covered with the substance. A $20 bonus was offered for the first fireman-riot actor who could cross a finish line with a box roughly the size of the looter's favorite catch, a television set.

SLIPPING, SLIDING

Byron Branscum made it almost to the line after slipping and sliding past the fallen forms of his comrades. At the line his feet went skyward and he came down on top of the box, smashing it.

Branscum got a $50 bonus for valor for venturing onto the RioTrol-treated surface with his motorcycle. The cycle wound up on top of him.

H. E. Chiles, 57, board chairman of the firm, invited state and local law enforcement men to watch the demonstration.

'INSTANT BANANA PEEL'
He said the powder that forms the slick substance sells for $5 a pound and can cover several hundred square feet of smooth pavement.

A comely model, Linda Graves, was hired for the show. Standing just off the goopy surface she pulled an automobile toward her with one hand—side-ways.

Chiles said RioTrol can be dusted on a street. Sprinkling it with water turns the surface into footing not fit for man, beast, or mob disorder.

Chiles says the firm's pet name for RioTrol is "instant banana peel."

"When they told me this was going to be instant banana peel, I thought it was going to be something for hippies," model Linda Graves said.

Instead, it was something of a riot.

Dissolute Life Now Top Movie

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

ATHENS (AP) — Conrad Rooks has converted his personal hell of alcoholism and dope addiction into a film made with $750,000 of his own money. The result may bring a new dimension to the movie medium.

Rooks is in Greece to restore his soul before assaulting the world-of-film-commerce with "Chappaqua." He has spent much time in recent years here, studying with modern Greek poets—while he was sober.

NARY A DROP

He now neither drinks nor takes narcotics. But from his early teens until his late twenties, says he, "I was on drink or dope most of the time."

When you meet Rooks, you figure him as an improbable candidate for a dissolute life. He is strongly built with blond good looks. He articulates his theories of film technique with clarity. Yet within the eyes there seems to be a worldliness that indicates he has seen everything. He has.

"You name them—heroin, morphine, LSD—I've had them all," he comments freely.

NOT EASY

How did he get that way? The answer is not easy. But he envies it as a kind of reverse of the so-called American Dream. His father was a self-made man who rose from poverty to millions as part of the hierarchy of the Avon beauty products. Relationships between father and son soured along the way, and young Conrad turned to drink.

"My father died when I was 26, and he had scarcely seen me sober," said Rooks, who is given to the casual confession of former addicts.

TURNED TO DOPE

"Eventually I turned to dope, but only to escape the agony of being drunk all the time. I am convinced that alcoholism is a much more serious problem than dope addiction. After all, there are six million alcoholics in the United States, but only 39,000 heroin addicts."

Five years ago Rooks came to the end of his tether. Help came in the form of a New York doctor who specialized in treating alcoholics and dope addicts. As part of the cure, Rooks was sent to a Switzerland hospital where he was put to sleep for a month.

PLAYBACK

"That was the worst time of all," he recalled. "It was the first time in seven years that I hadn't been intoxicated. My whole life came before me like a playback, and I could see all the terrible things I had done. It was like going through purgatory."

After his recovery, Rooks felt the need to record his experience. He chose the medium of film.

He had had a scattering of experience in various media, having trained as a television cameraman and worked for an advertising agency in New York. He even did some acting in television films—"I earned $3,000 in two or three weeks, then dashed off to the Bahamas to take it out in drink."

Rooks saw in film the opportunity for a new form of expression.

NEW LANGUAGE

"Television, especially in the commercials, has created a new language of film which millions of people can now accept," he observed. "It is the language of visual images, not necessarily in logical form. The possibilities have been explored in 'Hard Day's Night' and 'A Man and a Woman' both directed by former makers of TV commercials, but endless possibilities remain." There is no plot in the convention sense; the film merely depicts a series of nightmares, culminating in Rooks' cure.

EXOTIC CAST

Rooks explored those possibilities in an uncompromising way. He pushed the camera to the extent of its capabilities and enlisted an exotic cast: French star Jean-Louis Barrault as a psychiatrist, author William Burroughs "Naked Lunch" as a death symbol, poet Allen Ginsberg as himself. The central figure is Rooks, trying to escape his torment.

He rearranged the film again and again, adding music of Indian sitarist Ravi Shankar and the pop group, the Fugs. Then Rooks felt encouraged to enter "Chappaqua" named after the New York commuter town, symbol of American security in the Venice Film Festival of 1966. It won second prize.

DARING FILM

"After that, I did a daring thing: I completely recut the film to aim it at a more popular audience," said Rooks. "It took guts to alter a prize-winning film, but I was determined that it would not be just another art-house movie."

Then came the challenge of selling "Chappaqua" to an American film distributor. Most of the movie bigwigs were astonished or appalled by what they saw, so daring is the film's conception. But after six months

Cooper Dam Plans Fuzzy

WASHINGTON (AP) — About all the Texas Water Development Board and the Army Corps of Engineers agreed on Tuesday concerning plans for the $24 million Cooper Dam on the Sulphur River in northeast Texas was to hold further talks.

After meeting all day behind closed doors, the engineers and the board still remained at odds. Just when the new talks will be held was not certain.

At issue is a federal requirement that 63,000 acre-feet of water each year be allocated for discharge out of Lake Texarkana, below the proposed dam, as a means of helping control pollution in the Red River.

The Sulphur River flows into the Red River just below Texarkana, in southwest Arkansas. The proposed Cooper Reservoir, upstream from Lake Texarkana, would be expected to provide 32,100 acre-feet of the 63,000-acre-foot pollution control allocation. The water would be released as needed to dilute pollution that might arise in the Red River.

More than a score of communities in Northeast Texas have a stake in the Cooper Reservoir plans, many of them counting on it to supply water for home consumption to meet the demands of population growth.

Joe G. Moore Jr., executive director of the Texas Water Development Board, said the allocation of part of Cooper Reservoir capacity for pollution control was not figured in planning of the project.

Computers And Disease

—By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

There is no questioning the fact that the computer is going to be a great aid to the medical profession. A properly programmed machine can assimilate the records of hundreds of thousands of patients, digest those records, and then feed back to the doctor just the highlights that he needs. The one great hurdle that is being overcome, but only with great effort, is supplying the correct form of medical data to the computer in the first place.

As progress is made on this problem it will also bring computer diagnosis on an individual case-by-case basis. One of the more interesting possibilities for getting the data required for computer diagnosis is to use the speech of the patient. In quite a number of diseases, there are inaudible, very subtle changes in a human being's voice and in speech patterns. Since the voice can be picked up with a microphone, it's easy, at least in principle, to supply such tell-tale information to a computer for diagnostic purposes.

One type of diagnosis uses a computerized frequency analysis — to detect very early growth on the human larynx. These growths unbalance the vibrating cords of the larynx. Scientific analyses can detect them far more rapidly and reliably than the doctor's ear.

Another technique is to record a person's voice and have the computer analyze such characteristics as the rate of speech, the stress, the inflectional pattern, the intensity of the speech and so on. These tend to be key to certain neurological diseases. If a computer can be programmed to recognize the changes that occur with these kinds of neurological diseases, it may be possible for the computer to deliver an instant diagnosis, or at least instant guidance, to the doctor so he can look in more detail for possible disease.

A number of people who are working on the problem look forward to the time when it will be routine practice in a doctor's office to have the patient speak a few standard lines into a microphone, or perhaps into a telephone. These lines will then be routed to a computer, perhaps at some distant point. The result will be compared with what that patient sounded like, say, six months previously. The computer will then come back with a statement as to whether there was any significant change. All this could happen within a matter of seconds. The price for such an analysis might be a dollar or two.

Before this is possible, however, we will have to understand just what the important characteristics of speech, as related to disease, really are. When we are in possession of such data, it's likely we'll be able to do many other useful tricks besides disease diagnosis. In the process of achieving this goal, we will probably learn so much about how we talk and how we communicate by words that we might even be able to teach computers to understand words, rather than simply "analyze" them. At such a time, if it ever arrives, we'll be able to command computers to do things for us just by speaking to them. Hey, 170B, scratch my back, please!

Stinnett GI Dies In Vietnam Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Texas servicemen were listed by the Defense Department Tuesday among Americans killed in action in Vietnam.

They were Army Spec. 4 Richard A. Lasher, son of Mrs. Beverly A. Lasher, 1809 Brooklyn, Arlington, and Marine Pfc. Marvin D. Hawthorne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Hawthorne, Box 607, Stinnett.

BILL COOK

Bill Cook Wins Award

Bill Cook, a Garden City High School senior, took the top award in a photography workshop at Texas Tech, Aug. 4.

The workshop, sponsored by the Southwestern Student Publications, included a week of taking pictures, developing film, and making prints.

Cook's pictures were selected from 24 competitors as the top pictures taken at the workshop. Judging was based on flash, action, and night pictures, also technical dark room procedures.

He is the president of the student council this year at Garden City, and the head photographer of the school's yearbook. He has been on the yearbook staff as a photographer four years. He is also the manager of the Garden City football team.

Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cook.

Two Items Tabled When No Spokesmen Attend

Two matters on the Big Spring City Commission agenda Tuesday evening were tabled, when persons making the requests were not present to make their case.

Joe R. King had asked that a dedicated alley on the east side of the Elks Lodge, connecting FM 700 and Twenty-third Street, be closed and that the property be returned to him. The alley has never been opened. Neither he nor his attorney were present.

City Attorney Tom Huckaby pointed out that even if the city the property would revert to the adjacent property owner, in this case the Elks Lodge. Roger Brown, representing the lodge, said the Elks opposed closing the alley.

Spokesman for establishment of a Child Welfare Unit were not on hand, and this item too was tabled until they might want to appear before the commission.

A resolution authorizing transfers of tax liens was approved, as was the ordinance levying taxes for the 1967-68 year. The tax roll is listed at $69,454,900, an increase of $380,710 over 1966 figures. The levy is $1,041,823.50, an increase of $5,710.65.

Second reading was given an ordinance for on-premises beer consumption at Tommie's Place, 401 NW 4th, requested by Tommie Lee Hutchison.

Recommendations of the traffic commission were approved, eliminating parking in the HCJC area and installing a stop sign at Nolan and Eighth.

Funeral services will be today for Miss Annie Reese, editor of the Gonzales Inquirer from 1910 to 1934. She died Monday at a Gonzales hospital at the age of 82.

Dear Abby

Honeymoon Delayed

DEAR ABBY: On the first day of our honeymoon, my husband (let's call him Alex) fell asleep on the beach and got sunburned so severely he had to have a doctor. His eyelids were swollen shut, so he couldn't watch television or read. So I spent the whole two weeks of our so-called honeymoon holding his hand.

The day Alex was well enough to go to work his boss asked him to go on a two-week business trip, without me. I asked him to explain the circumstances to his boss, but he wouldn't, so I stayed at my mother's while he was gone.

Alex got back on a Sunday morning. That afternoon we went on a picnic and he got poison oak over seven - eights of his body. The doctor said he never saw such a bad case.

When Alex recovered from the poison oak he was fixing his car, the jack slipped and the car fell on him and broke both his legs. So now he is in the hospital with both legs in casts up to his hips. What I am trying to say, Dear Abby, is that I have been married since June and I still haven't had a honeymoon, so what should I do?

DISGUSTED: I would appear that your husband has been either consciously or unconsciously avoiding the honeymoon since the day he said "I do." If something else happens to delay the honeymoon further, you may have to ask Alex to face the music and settle down to some serious soul searching involving himself and these unfortunate accidents.

DEAR ABBY: I just read that letter from the lady who said she has a pet tiger which she plans to have defanged, declawed, and keep in a cage so as not to disturb her neighbors. Well, I don't want any pet tigers, but I would sure like to get my hands on that lady. I will promise to pull all her teeth out. Then I will pull all her fingernails and toenails off. And I'll keep her in a small cage.

I'm sure she won't bother any of my neighbors — except maybe for the noise she might make. There ought to be a law preventing people like her from having pets. G. B.

DEAR ABBY: A member of our card club always asks the hostess if she may take a few refreshments home to her husband. Then she collects a few cookies, candies and whatever else she can carry off in a paper napkin.

We all think this is in very poor taste, but we don't know how to put a stop to it.

They are in the same financial bracket as the rest of us and outside of this one cheap little trick, she is a lovely person. What do you suggest?

IRRITATED: I certainly would not offend a lovely person by denying her a few cookies, candies or whatever can be carried off in a paper napkin.

Damage Suits Filed Tuesday

Two damage suits were filed Tuesday in 118th District Court.

One, in which Manuel Flores is suing for Angelita Flores, Geraldine Flores and Ismael Rubio, all minors, asks $19,120. The defendants are Carmen Gonzales and Jose Gonzales. The suit is the result of a collision Aug. 4. The plaintiff alleges the minors he speaks for were injured when the parked car in which they were seated was rammed from the rear.

Pete Paradez is the plaintiff in a second suit naming A. McCasland et ux as defendants. This stems from an accident May 30 at Main and First Streets. The plaintiff asks $3,850.

IN GOVERNORSHIP BID

Leopard Hunt Blocks Smith

DALLAS (AP) — Lt. Gov. Preston Smith confirmed Tuesday that all that stands between him and a formally announced campaign for governor is the end of a leopard hunt.

Smith, in an interview, said he will run for the governorship in 1968, whether or not he has to run against incumbent Gov. John Connally.

"There's never been any question but what I'm going to run but I'm not ready to make any formal announcement until after Gov. Connally gets back," Smith said, "out of respect to his office."

DISCLAIMER FILED

Connally is in Africa hunting leopards and other big game for a television network. He is expected to return to Texas sometime early next month.

Smith was to address a Dallas convention today.

While Smith was confirming his candidacy here, his Austin office quickly filed a disclaimer of sorts, saying he would make no formal announcement until Connally returned from Kenya.

The subject came up after he told Dallas Times Herald editor Felix McKnight that he would be a candidate. Smith said the report was not meant to be an announcement of candidacy.

'GOOD FRIENDS'

House Speaker Ben Barnes, another politically ambitious public official is expected to announce for lieutenant governor.

Barnes said Smith told him last week he was not running for lieutenant governor again.

McKnight quoted Smith as saying that Connally's plans did not enter into his. "We are good friends," McKnight quoted him as saying, "but I have decided this is the thing for me to do."

CONNALLY MUM

Smith is a veteran of six years in the House and six as a state senator from Lubbock. He is in his sixth year and third term as the state's second highest executive.

In previous races, Smith and Connally ran as a team. The recent legislative session, however, saw them break often on pending legislation.

Connally has withheld any announcement of his political plans.

Smith, 55, has movie theater holdings in the state. He was born on a farm near Georgetown, the seventh child of a family of 13 children.

He attended college at Texas Tech and has called Lubbock his home since then.

Child Poisoned By Weed Killer

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — Denison officials did an autopsy Tuesday to try to determine what killed 23-month-old Becky Lorraine Terrine, daughter of a Perrin Air Force Base staff sergeant.

The girl, daughter of S. Sgt. and Mrs. W. C. Terrine, was believed poisoned by an arsenic-based weed killer while playing on the lawn. The autopsy results were not expected for several days.

Sooner Port Bonds Okayed

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A $17.5 million bond issue for construction of port and industrial park facilities at the head of the $1.2 billion Arkansas River Navigation Project was approved Tuesday by Tulsa voters.

Complete, unofficial returns from the city's 254 precincts gave the proposal 22,687 votes with 13,770 recorded against it.

The port will be constructed on the Verdigris river at Catoosa, a small town three miles from the northeastern city limits of Tulsa, and will connect the oil capital with Mississippi River barge traffic when the Arkansas-Verdigris navigational channel is completed in 1970. The Verdigris flows into the Arkansas River about 50 miles downstream near Muskogee, Okla.

Muskogee, Fort Smith, Ark. and Little Rock, Ark., already have voted funds for port construction.

New Police Chief Named At Orange

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — Walter Cobb, chief of police here for the past 2½ years, resigned Tuesday to join the security force of an industrial plant.

Keith Bannon, 31, a former Houston policeman, was promoted to succeed Cobb. Bannon has been identification bureau chief here for eight years.

Recruiter Promoted

Sgt. Sherry Zies, the Woman Marine recruiter for this area, was promoted to her present rank at the Marine Corps Recruiting Station in Dallas. Sgt. Zies received her promotion after 2½ years of service. Capt. D. E. Bremer, of the Dallas Recruiting Station, presented the promotion warrant to Sgt. Zies, who has been the Woman Marine recruiter in the Odessa area since December of last year.

Cuban Refugees Arrive After Perilous Journey

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Five Cuban refugees who fled the Castro government arrived at this Texas port Tuesday after a perilous boat trip from the tiny Red enclave off Florida.

The refugees were met by some 50 of their fellow ex-Cubans as they stepped off the British tanker Esso Exeter after four days at sea.

The party all went without sleep to keep the boat bailed out. Morning produced a new peril. Guthner related, a circling group of sharks whose number increased hourly. Five ships passed by but made no effort to come to their rescue.

RUSSIAN SHIP?

"It was like 5th Avenue," Mrs. Dupont told reporters here, "the boats passed constantly but didn't stop."

Then, as the little runabout began taking on water more swiftly through its ruptured seams, the group saw a red flag aboard a big ship that was veering their way.

"We were afraid it was a Russian ship," Mrs. Dupont said, "we would have drowned before getting on a Communist ship."

DEMOCRACY HAILED

Officials of the U.S. Immigration and Customs authorities questioned the refugees before the Esso Exeter docked.

The five will be taken care of here by local refugee groups. Garcia was a paymaster for workers in Cuba's construction ministry, Guthner a buyer in the Ministry of Trade.

Mrs. Dupont said the escape had been planned for three years.

"You don't know what democracy is until you've done without it," she said.

Power Line Jolt Kills Texan, 24

WINNSBORO, Tex. (AP) — Garvis Hill, 24, Quitman, of the Wood County Electric Cooperative was electrocuted while at work four miles west of Winnsboro Tuesday.

His widow and four children survive.

Officials said Hill was on the ground holding a wire that came in contact with a power line, sending a 7,200-volt charge through his body.

Winnsboro is about 16 miles north of Quitman.

Farmworker 'Image' Key To Shortage?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says the "poor image" the general public has of the farmworker and his work contributes greatly to the farm labor shortage.

The report said many commercial farmers have difficulty obtaining and holding an adequate and dependable supply of qualified labor in spite of a farm labor force that has a high underemployment rate.

"This picture (of the farmworker) must change if hired labor is to be a satisfactory and stable part of farming," the department said. "The term alone carries enough stigma to discourage most young men."

The report said that farmers generally feel that they cannot pay wages high enough to compete with industry.

The department suggested that promotions, incentive payments, bonuses, life insurance and retirement plans be used to encourage workers to stay on the job.

A Devotional For The Day

I do not account my life of any value nor as precious to myself, if only I may accomplish my course and the ministry which I received from the Lord Jesus to testify to the gospel of the grace of God. (Acts 20:24, RSV)

PRAYER: Teach us, our Father, the joy of total giving of ourselves to Christ. Help us to share with Him completely our time, our money, our life, and our love. We pray in His name. Amen.

Welfare As A Right?

Public assistance — welfare — seems to be becoming a matter of right rather than governmental charity. Cases are pending in federal courts in half a dozen states testing the constitutionality of residence laws.

Every state has some kind of requirement restricting welfare payments to persons who can prove that they have lived within a jurisdiction for a certain length of time — anywhere from six months to six years. The aim is to avoid attracting the indigent seeking better benefits than they may have enjoyed elsewhere.

All these laws are now in jeopardy. A three-judge federal court in Connecticut on June 19 ruled that the state's residency requirement for aid to dependent children is unconstitutional. By 2 to 1 the court held that "the right of interstate travel also encompasses the right to be free of discouragement of interstate movement."

Almost 8 million Americans depend on public assistance. The rolls list 4.4 million children, 2.1 million aged persons, 70,000 persons who are blind or otherwise incapacitated. These are less than a quarter of the poor. The New Republic, noting that the public welfare system leaves millions of the indigent unaided, reports, however: "Favorable rulings in test cases now before the courts or in preparation could double or treble the number of people on welfare rolls."

New York City has almost 10 per cent of the nation's welfare clients — more than 80 per cent of them non-white. Mitchell Ginsberg, who heads the city's welfare agency, says: "The main problem with the welfare system is that nobody likes it. The average citizen doesn't ever expect to use it and he doesn't have much respect for people who do. The system has failed to free the poor and has locked them into dependency. . . . The point is that more people have to see social services as a right, not an admission of failure."

In any event, the various court tests now in progress should work to clarify the status of the very poor, who for one reason or another — not always failure to meet residence requirements — are unable to qualify for welfare.

It's In The Air

The surgeon general's 1964 report on the evident connection between cigarette smoking and the incidence of various maladies, including lung cancer, was entitled "Smoking and Health." These days the U.S. Public Health Service offers a pamphlet entitled "Smoking and Illness." The change in emphasis suggests that the Health Service is more convinced than ever of the public health hazard in our huge consumption of cigarettes.

It is significant, however, that the Health Service is not concentrating exclusively on smoking as a causative factor in lung cancer. This was emphasized the other day in Surgeon General William H. Stewart's testimony before the House Commerce Committee. He stressed the fact that lung cancer death rates rise in proportion to city size, and suggested that this is "presumptively related to air pollution."

The thought that the polluted air of urban centers contributes to disease is not new; a connection has long been suspected. Nor is lung cancer the only disease involved. Dr. Stewart noted a "significant correlation" between air pollution levels and a variety of ailments including colds, emphysema and chronic bronchitis. Not only the smoke Americans inhale, but the very air millions of them breathe is potentially a threat to good health. Corrective measures must be undertaken on a broad scale.

The U.S.-West Germany Stand

WASHINGTON — The implications of the meeting here between Chancellor Kiesinger of Germany and President Johnson have been far-reaching. The conference dramatizes before the world the close relationship between West Germany and the United States. For despite the withdrawal of French troops from the NATO military force by General de Gaulle, the fact remains that the United States is pledged by treaty to an instantaneous defense of West Germany as well as France if they should be attacked.

SINCE THIS COMMITMENT has in no way been diminished by the French attitude, it is natural for the United States to rely more on West Germany for troops, and to urge that German defense against a possible invasion by hostile forces be not reduced. The wording of the official communique issued by the President and the German chancellor significantly describes the community of interests as follows:

"We agree fully that Europe and the United States are dependent upon one another for their security. The planning of the common defense in the years to come must remain in the hands of NATO."

ON THE SURFACE it might appear that all this merely refers to the size of the armies to be maintained by NATO, but there is in the background something even more important, which is reflected in a London dispatch that came over United Press International wires coincident with the conference at the White House here. It reads as follows: "The Soviet Union's determination to prevent nuclear arming of Germany appears to be the primary reason behind the Kremlin's sudden readiness to hasten a ban on the spread of nuclear weapons, diplomatic sources said today."

THE GERMAN CHANCELLOR declared in Washington that if his government were to sign the treaty for the non-proliferation of nuclear weapons, it would require assurances that non-nuclear nations "cannot be the object of political blackmail by a power which possesses the weapons."

The most practical way to defend West Germany, therefore, is to have a nuclear force established under the auspices of a United Europe, so that the trigger would be pulled by an international command the moment there was a nuclear attack from the Soviet Union. This is the German chancellor's real desire.

THE REDUCTION, however, of the number of ground troops maintained in West Germany would in the opinion of the American government be construed in Eastern Europe as a sign of weakness. Hence, the United States has urged that a substantial force be ready to take care of crises which might suddenly develop if tensions are again heightened.

The current policy, of course, is to try to improve relations not only with the Soviet Union but with the countries in Eastern Europe. The communique said on this point: "WE SHARE the view that a policy of relaxation of tensions can help avoid conflicts. Such a policy can remove the causes of existing tensions, can overcome differences and in this way lead to mutual understanding and trust among peoples. It is only by following such a policy that the division of Europe and the division of Germany can be ended and a just and permanent peace be established in Europe."

The reference to an ending of the division of Germany itself is a reminder that the seeds of unrest are still present. History has proved that, when persons of the same nationality are prevented from living under the same government, there is a steadily increasing pressure for reunification. This often has led to war.

THE JOHNSON-KIESINGER conference reaffirmed American friendship with the German people, and it also made clear that the United States itself has not changed its mind about the importance of bringing East and West Germany together. While the issue of reunification is at present not being pressed, it has not been forgotten.

Fulbright 'Misinterpreted' Bill?

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Sen. J.W. Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, went back and read his own words on the Senate floor three years ago he might not be so surprised now at the way President Johnson is handling the Vietnam war.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, is one of Johnson's most caustic critics on the war, and has been for some time, although he captained the Gulf of Tonkin resolution through the Senate.

THAT CAME about in the summer of 1964 when North Vietnamese torpedo boats attacked American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin. Several of the Communist craft were sunk.

And, in further retaliation, Johnson ordered bombers to hit some of North Vietnam's bases on the Gulf. Then he asked Congress to back him up by passing a resolution which said in part:

CONGRESS backed the President in taking "all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

It said further the United States is "prepared, as the President determines, to take all necessary steps, including the use of armed force, to assist" any of the Southeast Asian nations requesting assistance to keep its freedom.

THE HOUSE approved by a vote of 416 to 0 and the Senate by 88 to 2. But, before the full Senate could act, Fulbright's committee, with him in the chair, held hearings to quiz top government officials about the meaning of the resolution.

Fulbright asked practically no questions although most of the other 14 members present did. The committee voted 14 to 1 to approve, with Fulbright one of those approving. Dean Rusk, secretary of state, explained both the resolution and its implications, at one point saying: "We cannot tell what steps may be required to insure the security of those to whom we are committed, and to bring such aggression to a halt."

AT ANOTHER point he said:

Carol Too Busy To Mope

NEW YORK (AP) — The statue of Buddha in the Waldorf Towers apartment looked unreal. Half-hiding the placid timeless face was a large blonde wig, tilted askew.

"I'm waiting for the hairdresser to come and fix it," said Carol Channing.

RARE INDEED is the actress who creates one unforgettable role in the theater. Carol did it twice, scoring as Lorelei Lee in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" in 1949 and as Dolly Gallagher Levi in "Hello, Dolly!" in 1963.

Miss Channing made musical comedy history by bringing in $17,015,018 in 1,272 consecutive performances of "Dolly" on Broadway and on the road. It was a personal triumph for her as well as a financial triumph for producer David Merrick.

So when Hollywood decided to film the musical, whom did the title role go to? To Barbra Streisand.

THE CHOICE was a heavy blow to Carol, but she's too good a trouper to be bitter about it. "Naturally, I was disappointed," she said. "But Barbra and I were always good friends. She's a creative person, and will do the role in her own way. "It doesn't hurt me anymore.

"We feel that it is very important that his country on as unified basis as possible make it quite clear to the entire world that we are prepared to take the steps that may be required to insure the security of those to whom we are committed, and to bring such aggression to a halt."

Two of the staunchest GOP leaders, Rep. Gerald Ford and Senator Thurston Morton, have plunged daggers into the most vital part of militant anti-communism. They have knifed at bipartisan loyalty, the heart-organ of our ability to wage an expensive, bloody and extra-inning conflict.

ONLY SO LONG as the Republicans stand firm is it possible to avoid what the Communists have been counting on: the loss of the war in Washington rather than in battle. The defection of Floorleader Ford and the former National Chairman Morton puts gaping wounds into the national determination to see this one through.

Of the two men, Ford is more devious and Morton more frank in cutting into American morale. Ford had demanded intensified bombing as a price for sending the ground troops which General Westmoreland says he needs. But the bombing has already been intensified over a period of 30 months, and Ford is not likely to admit satisfaction at anything the President does. ### Don't Guess—Use The Test!

In this day and time, you have to have a test to prove the superiority of your product. For instance, a certain floor wax is better because city firemen can't scrub it off a test floor with harsh detergents; a car wax is better because it causes more surface beads when strapped to a submerging submarine; a wrist watch is better because it still runs when dropped from an airplane; a detergent is better because it has those mysterious blue granules which do the dirty work.

NOW I DON'T propose that our circulation department be left without ammunition in this war of dramatic tests. In the company laboratory, shared in common with Sam's janitorial weapons, I have come up with a series of startling discoveries.

When soaked and stirred for three days, The Herald produces only one-third the goosy mess as the Dallas News. When it comes to wrapping fish, The Herald will lose this pungent fragrance 2.87 times as fast when draped on the family clothes line, as will the Fort Worth Star Telegram. When it comes to the problem of disposal, The Herald creates one-tenth the problem of the Los Angeles Times, New York Times, or the Chicago Tribune.

WHILE I AM reluctant to mention names in the more locally competitive field, I feel that I must cite these findings because of the intense contest for the market dollar:

Because of a mysterious ingredient in the ink (the tell-tale aroma of wild panther, indistinguishable by the human nose), dogs are less likely to chew up The Herald than the San Angelo Standard Times. Also, it is demonstrable that The Herald makes a handler dog-beater without the risk of maiming the family canine.

ON A RARE Sunday morning, when rain has been coming down since midnight, The Herald requires half as many backs - of - chair space or one-half the time in the kitchen oven to dry than does the Abilene Reporter News.

Put against the Stanton Reporter, The Herald will make 3.7 times as many patterns for the sewing room, wrap 3.9 times as many lunches, or stop up 3.42 times more flue holes.

COMPARED TO the Colorado City Record, The Herald will go under twice as many carpets, or will catch 2.3 times more paint when spread beneath walls or facings, or will start 2.7 more backyard barbecue fires.

Against the Lamesa Reporter, The Herald will blow apart and cover that cranky neighbor's fence 3.1 times as fast, will wrap 2.914 times as much garbage, will cover the bottoms of 2.83 times as many bird cages or kitten and pup boxes, or will shred into 3.25 times as much material for the church hayride.

SO THE NEXT time you buy a paper, make it the Daily Herald — that's spelled H-E-R-A-L-D. Don't let them palm Playboy off on you.

Bipartisan Loyalty Slipping

WASHINGTON — And you, Gerry? You too, Thurston? Those who have supported the Vietnam War through thick and thin might well make this Caesarean exclamation.

Two of the staunchest GOP leaders, Rep. Gerald Ford and Senator Thurston Morton, have plunged daggers into the most vital part of militant anti-communism. They have knifed at bipartisan loyalty, the heart-organ of our ability to wage an expensive, bloody and extra-inning conflict.

ONLY SO LONG as the Republicans stand firm is it possible to avoid what the Communists have been counting on: the loss of the war in Washington rather than in battle. The defection of Floorleader Ford and the former National Chairman Morton puts gaping wounds into the national determination to see this one through.

Of the two men, Ford is more devious and Morton more frank in cutting into American morale. Ford had demanded intensified bombing as a price for sending the ground troops which General Westmoreland says he needs. But the bombing has already been intensified over a period of 30 months, and Ford is not likely to admit satisfaction at anything the President does. Morton has candidly reversed his hard-line position and virtually calls for admitting defeat. A third Republican, hitherto unshakable, tells me he is preparing a speech which will say that the apathy of South Vietnam and other Asian allies has made the war no longer worth fighting.

CAN SUCH THINGS be? Clearly, the war which President Johnson undertook in 1963 is not the one we are fighting today. Bombing results have been disappointing. North Vietnam, at home and in battle, is tougher than anybody thought. Time has brought about these changes, which are local changes, and some reappraisals may well be in order. But, in the largest sense, there have been no changes. We did not expect Asian communism to collapse. The most we expected was to halt the Red takeover in South Vietnam. This we have done. This is not less important in the 1967 than it was yesterday.

IN HIS BOOK, "The War We Are In," James Burnham points out that every clash between the Western World and communism has after-effect on the struggle as a whole. We are still in the eastern Mediterranean because President Truman made his doctrine stick in Greece, and still in Berlin because we chose not to run away. The stands we didn't take in Hungary and Suez have allowed the Soviets to own East Europe, and allowed them to take a lease on the Middle East. Our fight in Vietnam encouraged the overthrow of Sukarno in Indonesia, and thus far has thwarted Ho Chi Minh. The Economist of London has asked:

"Where else . . . the wave can be stopped? Trilateral? . . . Burma? . . . India, then? . . . The deal the Americans can reasonably be asked to make is one to sell the pass to the whole of Southern Asia."

THIS IS THE proposition: "to sell the pass." It is what defecting Republicans, joining such hitherto-deposed Democrats as Morse and Gruening, McGovern and Clark are now proposing to bring about.

There will certainly be political after effects. It will be worth watching to see whether Richard Nixon now stands by the defiant guns he's been shooting off for three years, and whether George Romney will backslide into the pacifism he's been attempting to renounce, and whether Walter Lippmann will stage a come-back as the trumpeter of retreat. If both parties desert Lyndon Johnson, Dr. Spock and the Reverend King won't have to run a peace-ticket, and we may have to start a hunt for some independent war-candidate to "do it better" than LBJ.

A time for re-examination of the Vietnam crisis, maybe. A time to strike the flag, never.

Signs Of Fall Fast Approaching

NEW YORK (AP) — In Detroit, where the seasons refer to automobiles as much as to the weather, the telltale signs of fall are fast approaching. In one nine-day period between September 14 and September 22 the nation's Big Four automakers will begin selling their new models, but already the tension is building with preview showings. This isn't going to be an ordinary season.

The begin with, seldom have the automakers planned a season with as much care. Having suffered two long and difficult years they are determined to make this an exceptional one.

TO CONDITION themselves for the new season they began model changeovers earlier than in most years, and their introduction of the 1968 models is scheduled to be in the earliest in the past few years.

They have also cleared the road to one of the biggest obstructions to sales, the safety problem. Most automakers now have met the safe standards demanded by federal authorities.

THE ADVERTISEMENTS are prepared and mailed. The promotional hoopla is all cleared for use. The new models are clanging from production lines. The dealers are standing smugly confident beside the new canvas shrouded models. And millions of customers are ready to make deals.

The one thing that sends a chill down the fastback of the industry is the possibility of a strike, a very real possibility this year against at least one of the big three—General Motors, Chrysler, Ford.

Negotiations for a new contract are now under way, but a strike deadline of Sept. 6 is approaching fast.

BARRING A STRIKE, the experts say sales could exceed nine million cars, imports included. This would be an improvement of about 500,000 cars, but the domestic makers might get a larger share of this increase at the expense of imports. These are the plus factors that automakers count on to lift sales.—Dealer inventories of old cars are lower than they were at this time a year ago. There is less of a backlog of 1967 models to be sold off.

—Safety features, the absence of which might have caused some customers to postpone buying 1967 models, are installed on most of this year's cars. For the time being, that problem is licked.

—FOREIGN COMPETITION in the U. S. market might not be as severe this year because some foreign makers are finding it more expensive to adapt to the new safety standards.

—People are loaded with cash this year, having saved as much as 6.5 per cent of their take home pay through much of the year. This is a very high rate and leaves potential customers very capable of buying.

The clouds in the new season include higher prices, perhaps about $100 to $150 a car; the lack of marked model changes; the threat of an income surtax; and the subtraction from customer lists of those who bought late 1967 models to avoid price increases.

COMMUNISTS ARE FAR AHEAD OF PREDICTIONS BY WEST'S OBSERVERS

Concern Grows Over China's H-Bomb Plans

In one searing moment last June 17, the world changed suddenly and drastically. Red China exploded an H-bomb. Within 30 months, she may well have 100 of the mammoth bombs. Dr. Ralph Lapp, a nuclear physicist, estimates. Within that same brief time, she could be stockpiling the missiles needed to lob city-obliterating bombs at American or other targets.

BY ALTON L. BLAKESLEE AND WILLIAM L. RYAN Associated Press Writers

Super-terror weapons are coming into the hands of a Chinese regime regarded by the West as reckless and paranoid. "If they think about it, Americans get a gut feeling this spells big trouble," declares Rep. Craig Hosmer of California, a Republican member of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy. China's nuclear program "is frightening," says Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., committee chairman. "China within five years will be a formidable nuclear power." The possible consequences from China's dealing herself in as a nuclear poker player are widespread and dismaying. An Associated Press study finds: —It could resolve affirmatively a hot debate whether the United States should drive ahead now for antiballistic missile defenses and perhaps civilian shelters—at a cost to taxpayers that could reach $70 billion as a starter. Such a decision, opponents argue, would only explode the arms race into a new, dangerous and useless spiral. —China might donate a few A-bombs to Arab countries in the touchy Middle East. Israel then could be impelled to build, beg or borrow bombs of her own. —China might use bombs to blackmail weaker countries into keeping hands off "people's liberation" wars of rebellion within their own borders. —It could resolve affirmatively a hot debate whether the United States should drive ahead now for antiballistic missile defenses and perhaps civilian shelters—at a cost to taxpayers that could reach $70 billion as a starter. Such a decision, opponents argue, would only explode the arms race into a new, dangerous and useless spiral. —China might donate a few A-bombs to Arab countries in the ships, booze and bibles forced on them by foreigners, after suffering heartaches and burning in their bellies from all that, the bomb is a tremendous symbol of emancipation from second-class status," he remarks. It took China only 32 months to leap from her first atomic explosion to detonation of a pretty complete H-bomb. How swiftly may she acquire significant nuclear muscles? —China, under Mao Tse-tung or more cooperative successors, must be reckoned as a first-class power. The H-bomb gives a soaring boost to Chinese morale, says one top adviser on China to the U.S. government. "After 100 years of ignominy and having to accept battle-cant number of operational ICBMs before the mid-1970's, or that these ICBMs would have great reliability, speed of response, or substantial protection against attack." A "significant number" of ICBM—intercontinental ballistic missiles—was defined by Pentagon sources at the time as 75 to 100 or more. McNamara and others have predicted China may test-launch an ICBM before the year's end, or send a Chinese satellite beep-beeping into orbit, signaling progress in control and guidance skills required for pinpoint nuclear missiles. The estimate that China could have 100 H-bombs by 1970 is made on the basis of published information and other sources by Dr. Lapp, of Washington, D.C., a physicist now in private consulting business who played a role in A-bomb development. He credits China with current ability to produce 1,000 pounds per year of uranium 235, the atoms that fission or split in A-weapons.

U.S. experts figured China might have H-bombs by 1975. Little official concern was expressed—China still had to produce numerous A-bombs, and means of delivering them. DOUBLE —May 17, 1965: An air drop of an A-bomb about double the earlier force. U.S. officials spoke in terms of a Chinese H-bomb by 1970. —May 9, 1966: Test tower detonation of a device of over 200,000 tons of TNT. Ingredients needed for an H-reaction were detected, says Rep. Hosmer. —Oct. 27, 1966: A missile carried an A-warhead 400 to 500 miles to detonation. The explosive force was perhaps 20,000 tons. Major Asian cities were coming within range. —Dec. 27, 1966: Probably a proof test of an H-bomb trigger, Hosmer reports. Explosive force, a few hundred thousand tons of TNT. —June 17, 1967: Proof test for an H-bomb. Its force, "several" millions of tons of TNT, said the Atomic Energy Commission. Furthermore, says Hosmer, it was an air drop, something transportable even if only in one of China's limited-range bombers. Experts analyzing China's nuclear hurry point to numerous factors: —Her leaders put top priority on this goal. —The Soviet Union helped directly for a time; the United States indirectly. —The Chinese are very smart people, as evidenced by their impressive share of outstanding scientists in many fields. PROFITED —They profited hugely from U.S. and Soviet pioneering which showed that A-bombs and H-bombs can be built—that warheads can be designed to fit atop missiles—that gaseous diffusion is an effective way of separating U-235 from ordinary uranium. This fact alone saved them half to 80 per cent of the time and effort Americans had to spend originally in various phases of weapons development. Dr. Philip Abelson, editor of Science magazine, estimates. —China worked simultaneously to develop bombs and missiles, then to marry the two. The United States and the Soviet Union got weapons first, with bombers to carry them, then made ICBMs to hurt them. China could take a shortcut. SPENDING Rep. Hosmer estimates China is spending about $1 billion annually on nuclear and missile development, or some 4 per cent of her gross national product. She is getting what the Maoists want—nuclear war power. In China with this new kind of might, says a China-watcher, "maybe we are seeing the manifestation of a giant waking, and stretching, and kicking."

FROM RUSSIA AND THE UNITED STATES—WITHOUT LOVE

Foes Gave Chinese Reds Lot Of Help

Both America and the Soviet Union gave significant help to China's drive for nuclear power. America helped by training highly skilled scientists and then deporting them to a China under communism. Russia helped by sending scientists, technicians and materials to China and training Chinese in Russia.

America where his two children were born. In the summer of 1950 Tsien's security clearance for sensitive work was lifted. The reason: 12 years before, Tsien's friends had included government leaders whom the government later would call members of a Communist party unit. A party registration in Tsien's name was found by an undercover agent, but not in Tsien's handwriting and without his signature. He denied having registered. The undercover agent himself testified anyone could register a desirable candidate for membership without the subject's knowledge.

But Mao frightened Khrushchev. In a Moscow speech in November that year, Mao said that "if the worst came to the worst and half of mankind should die in nuclear war the other half would remain, while imperialism would be razed to the ground, and the whole world would become Socialist." Khrushchev's repeated references to this made clear he had heard it with horror as a demonstration of Chinese ruthlessness. He kept Peking guessing until June, 1959, then tore up the agreement to give China a sample bomb. China, without Soviet assistance, was in a position to move forward, despite Khrushchev's abrupt removal of 1,000 Soviet scientists and engineers. The Russians openly told China she was unprepared to enter the nuclear club and would do better to mend her economy. Soviet arguments got nowhere. UPHEAVALS Then, in the fall of 1964, came two great upheavals, one technological, one political. Moscow fired Khrushchev. The Chinese fired their first atom blast.

APPALLED Now both were appalled at the prospect of an unstable China possessing nuclear-tipped missiles, a hydrogen bomb and potential for quick development of long-range rockets. Ironically, both were haunted by the same question: By how many years did their help speed up the Chinese timetable? Eventually China, with a wealth of talented people and natural resources, would have made it on her own. But in 32 months she had marched from A-bomb to H-bomb in a third the time it had taken the United States.

RELEASED After two weeks behind bars, Tsien was released on bail. Hearings dragged into the spring of 1951. He was declared deportable but he was far too valuable to deport. For five years, forbidden to leave, Tsien continued teaching and turning out brilliant papers, through removed from sensitive work. Colleagues refused to believe he ever was a Communist.

BEFORE COMMUNISM, Americans, British and French considered China a friend and ally. After communism, Russia treated China as an ally, vowing "eternal friendship." Today Peking is implacably hostile to America, calls the Soviet regime "enemy No. 1," vows publicly to support brush-fire wars which could lead to catastrophe, and to aid the spread of nuclear weapons. American help to China dates back as much as 30 years. Soviet help dates to the 1950s after communism seized China. Before World War II, there was a heavy influx of Chinese students into the United States. By 1950, more than 3,000 Chinese were on top U.S. campuses.

Suddenly in 1955 the government deported Tsien and his family, along with 39 Chinese students mostly in graduate scientific work. As soon as he arrived in Red China, Tsien was put to work on missile research. Without men from America and Europe, China would have taken much longer to produce bombs and missiles. She had been severely short of senior scientists. —Red China nagged Big Brother in Moscow for nuclear help. Moscow and Peking agreed on joint activity, including a cooperative rare metals corporation in Sinkiang. The Russians installed a plant to process sinkiang's uranium ore. Russia would refine it.

China, without Soviet assistance, was in a position to move forward, despite Khrushchev's abrupt removal of 1,000 Soviet scientists and engineers. The REMAINED Many remained after communism took over the mainland. Some were lured back by threats. Some were disheartened by a U.S. climate they considered hostile to Orientals. About 80 men whose U.S. training could contribute much to a nuclear program went back. Their roles would be significant. Russia trained many engineers, technicians and scientists for the nuclear drive. Moscow extended important help in an "atoms for peace" agreement. Soviet scientists worked with Chinese in China, even selected the site for prospective testing.

SWIFTLY The Chinese began to move swiftly, and Moscow began to worry. In 1957, Khrushchev had signed an agreement promising China a sample A-bomb and data on how to manufacture it.

WILL SOON HAVE A FINGER ON THE BUTTON. THEN WHAT?

World's Peace Equation Has Been Altered

The roll of Chinese scientists who went home from America, laden with know-how and often with bitterness, impressive. Among them were: Dr. Chao Chung-yao, outstanding physicist, alumnus of the California Institute of Technology, veteran of an 24 years research in the United States and once an official observer at U.S. A-bomb tests; Dr. Tsien Hsue-shen, brilliant Caltech alumnus considered one of the world's top rocket researchers, who undoubtedly had a key part in marrying China's nuclear warhead to a missile.

Soon Red China will have a finger on the button. Will she, by accident or design, launch a nuclear catastrophe? Fallout effects of China's H-bomb test last June 17 are enormous. The impact on the vast underdeveloped world is incalculable. For 18 years the United States and the Soviet Union have warily confronted each other with awesome nuclear arsenals but managed to preserve nuclear peace. They know what nuclear war could mean. China, though still a fledgling member of the nuclear club, vastly alters the peace equation. Caught in the madness of the purge that Mao Tse-tung calls the cultural revolution, she is a puzzling X, perhaps even to herself.

—Is China really the "crazy, reckless, paranoid country" she appears to be to outsiders, or is her behavior just a passing phenomenon created by Mao's eagerness to shape Chinese into selfless robots? —Might India and Japan, close enough to feel the hot breath of China's threat, feel impelled now to produce nuclear weapons? Either one can. Some of the worry among China's neighbors — India, Japan, Burma, Australia, Malaysia, Indonesia — has been eased by the spectacle of Mao's cultural revolution, suggesting vast political, social and economic turmoil in China. Will the strife not eventually slow or even halt China's nuclear program? "It hasn't, up to now, and the chances seem to be that it will not." Ten years ago some of China's scientists, including those returned from the United States, were caught in a Mao trap; the Hundred Flowers period, when Mao invited open criticism came in a wave, and then Mao cracked down hard on the critics. But important scientists got off lightly. Mao distrusts those who had been abroad long years, fearing that they had been contaminated by American and other foreign ideas. But Mao also needed them. They were required only to make routine formal confessions. Other intellectuals were forced into corrective labor for re-education. And in the cultural revolution, Mao's supporters took care to insulate the important scientists. Rule 12 of the Aug. 8, 1966, communique that launched Mao's Red Guards, the storm troopers of political orthodoxy, took care to steer them clear of the scientists.

watchers believe they are witnessing a change of dynasty. Great revisions may come. But, if Mao's philosophy wins out, Asians will have to take another look. FEW DOUBT Few doubt that China eventually will be the dominant power in Asia. It has the resources, and energetic, clever people. The its involve China's problems of food, population, education, training, industrialization, advances in science other than in the nuclear field, and, most of all, solving the present political chaos. So far China has avoided direct involvement in Vietnam. China wants to give no excuse for an obliterative attack on her new nuclear installations. But whatever happens, China is going to be a major power, for both the United States and the Soviet Union. In direct military threat, the United States seems to have little to fear from China until the mid-1970s. For the United States, various experts agree, one consequence of China's nuclear march will be increased pressure to develop antiballistic missiles to intercept and destroy any incoming enemy missiles. The ABM cost to taxpayers could range anywhere from $4 billion to $70 billion, perhaps just as a starter, for limited defenses. "It is no longer a question of whether to have them, but when," declares Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., long a member of military and atomic energy committees. Others argue that ABMs will trigger a spiral in the arms race, forcing the Soviet Union to strengthen its striking force or expand its own ABMs. Arguing against extensive ABM efforts now, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara says that probably "all we would accomplish would be to increase greatly both their defense expenditures and ours, without any gain in real security to either side." Practical testing of ABMs could violate the limited nuclear treaty which bans atmospheric testing. THINKING Chinese bombs affect Soviet thinking, too. A ban on ABM systems "must be considered among the whole range of questions relating to arms and disarmament," said Premier Alexei N. Kosygin just after China exploded her H-bomb. China is an infuriating problem to Moscow. China's rulers claim to be the true Communists and denounce the Communist parties in the Soviet Union and elsewhere as "revisionist" betrayers of world revolution. China's feud with Moscow, aggravated by Peking's eagerness for nuclear arms, has ripped the fabric of world Communist unity to shreds. NO HELP Since 1960, there has been no Soviet scientific help for China. But the experts say China still can spring surprises. She can develop long-range rockets, they say, by brute engineering. A missile good enough to hit within five miles of an intended target could wipe out Moscow or Leningrad, or Los Angeles or San Francisco. But China, with her vast territory and primarily agrarian population, offers fewer strategic targets. Missiles aimed at China would have to pinpoint missile sites. In the long view, says an authority on China, advances in technology and science and in satellite communications will tend to knit nations closer together. Nations cooperating with these advances know they can progress faster than nations which try to go it alone.

INTRIGUING One of the most intriguing stories was that of Dr. Tsien. He arrived in America in 1935 to study at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In 1936 he transferred to Caltech, fascinated by the study of rocket propulsion in the days when it was regarded as science fiction. So brilliant was his performance that during World War II Tsien became head of the rocket section of the U.S. National Defense Scientific Advisory Board under Gen. Henry H. "Hap" Arnold of the Air Corps. With the rank of Air Corps colonel, Tsien went to Germany after the Nazi surrender to probe secrets of Hitler's rocket scientists. Tsien became Godard professor of jet propulsion at Caltech and head of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena. In 1949 he filed notice of intention to become a U.S. citizen, evidently deciding to stay in

Perils Of Pauline Script Enduring

By The Associated Press
George Scott was in a daze for a little while and Dick McAuliffe was temporarily in the dark, but when they recovered it was the American League pennant race that was in a real state of confusion.

Scott was kicked on the back of the head in Boston's 2-1 victory over Washington in the first game of a doubleheader Tuesday night.
But he played all of the second game and drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single, sparking the Red Sox to a 5-3 victory.

Tahoka Trapshoot Ace Is Champion

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Britt Robinson of Tahoka, Tex., won the championship of special doubles competition in the Grand American Trapshooting Tournament Tuesday.

Robinson broke 99 targets and went 39x40 to win the title.

Mustang Field General

Mike Livingston of Dallas will be handling most of the quarterbacking chores when Southern Methodist University takes to the field this season. Livingston is a senior and last season while sharing the duties with Mac White completed 37 of 81 pass attempts for 475 yards. (AP WIREPHOTO)

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hort

Don Maynard, the one-time Colorado City athlete who is now a star pass receiver for the New York Jets, suffered a slight concussion in a recent game with the Kansas City Chiefs.

In the Jets' first two games, Maynard gathered in three passes for gains totaling 40 yards.

In the wake of that poll conducted among coaches and sports writers who sat in on that District 2-AAAA session here last week, when the principals balloted to pick the football champion for 1967, one must conclude that had Gene Mayfield been coach at Abilene Cooper rather than Permian, Cooper would have been the overwhelming choice to win the crown this fall.

Mayfield, who remarked following the balloting, "Oh well, we'll just have to live with it," has built up a solid reputation as King of the Hill.

Permian failed to win the 2-AAAA crown last year but it did have the satisfaction of knocking off the eventual district and state titlist, San Angelo.

Merrill Green, who has done a tremendous job as the Cooper coach since arriving here, has a great backfield returning intact but has problems in his line.

As long as Green can keep his multi-talented quarterback, Jack Mildren, healthy and hungry, the Cougars are going to be a large order for any opponent to handle.

Wayne Tyrone, new head coach at Snyder High School, remarked recently that there is an acute shortage of backs at his school — more pronounced than at any time since he's been in the system.

Fourteen of the 31 boys Snyder lettered last season are returning, so Tyrone undoubtedly will make a few position changes before Snyder hosts Big Spring the night of Sept. 22.

The Tigers will have big ends and tackles and the team has long been noted for its mobility. Of the first 35 boys on the Snyder team, 21 will be seniors.

Championship trophies in three sports (football, basketball and baseball) cost District 2-AAAA $167.50 last year.

Two awards, costing $50 each, had to be purchased in football, since San Angelo and Abilene Cooper shared the title.

Receipts from the 2-AAAA track and field meet, held in Big Spring last April, amounted to $345. Each of the competing schools was required to put up $50 to keep the spring meet in the black.

McAuliffe had trouble seeing and wasn't sure the pitch was wild until he saw the ball rolling toward the wall. He then scampered home of a 2-1 Detroit victory.

While Scott was relieving his headache with a hit and McAuliffe was winning his game of Find The Ball, the Chicago White Sox were sticking to the American League's Perils of Pauline script by splitting with the New York Yankees, The Sox won 3-2 and then lost 2-1.

After the smoke had cleared, Chicago was in first one percentage point ahead of Boston and a game ahead of Minnesota and Detroit. Minnesota was a percentage point in front of fourth-place Detroit.

Luis Tiant set a single game high of 16 strikeouts for the majors this season as Cleveland edged California 3-2 and Baltimore beat Kansas City 2-1 before losing to the Athletics 6-1 in other American League games.

In the first game, Boston broke a scoreless tie when pinch hitter Dalton Jones tripled in two runs in the seventh.

Scott was put in his temporary daze an inning later when he bobbed Dick Nen's grounder and dove head first to tag the bag. He made the putout but was kicked and had to leave the game, only to return as a hero in the nightcap.

New Titlist Is Assured

A brand new champion has been assured in the City Golf tournament now under way at the Munny course.

Donald Lovelady made certain of that when he fanned out former titlist Bernard Rains in the semifinals Tuesday, 2 up.

Lovelady gained the advantage when Rains three-putted nine and never let up the rest of the way.

Bob Waters will oppose Lovelady in the 18-hole finals later this week. Waters overcame a three-up lead Richard Pachall built at one stage to win, 3-1, in his semifinal test.

Jeff Alexander copped the Third Flight yesterday by defeating 14-year-old Howard Stewart, 4-3.

Max Pitts reached the semifinals in the Second Flight by sidelining Faris Hammond, 2-1. In Second Flight Consolations, Russell Tidwell outlasted Jim Welch, 3-2.

In Fifth Flight Consolations, E. L. Terry crowded past Mike McCreary, 4-3, while Gene Madry shocked Van Perry, 10-8.

Orlando Cepeda Feasting On Pitching Of Giants

By The Associated Press
St. Louis has been cashing in on last year's Orlando Cepeda-Ray Sadecki swap for a long while, but Cepeda still won't let the San Francisco Giants off the hook.

The slugging first baseman tagged Sadecki for a run-scoring single and a three-run homer Tuesday night, backing Nelson Briesley's four-hit pitching and powering the National League-leading Cardinals to a 9-0 romp over the Giants.

Cepeda, dealt from San Francisco to the Cards in May, went 3-for-3 against the Giants and boosted his batting mark to .344 — only two points short of league leader Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh.

Sadecki, meanwhile, lasted 4 1/3 innings, committed an error, wild-pitched two runs home and wound up with his fifth loss in 10 decisions.

In other NL action Philadelphia swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 2-0 and 11-4; Cincinnati trimmed Los Angeles 4-1; Chicago drubbed Pittsburgh 8-1 and Houston spanked Atlanta 4-1.

The Cardinals, who had dropped two in a row, jumped on Sadecki for three runs in the first inning and finished him in the fifth on Julian Javier's error, the pitcher's fielding single and Cepeda's 22nd homer.

Javier, who also had three hits, clubbed a three-run homer off reliever Bob Bolin in the sixth and re-relief pitcher Briesley breezed to his first shutout and eighth victory in 13 decisions.

Larry Jackson, beaten by the Mets last week after reeling off 15 straight victories at their expense, started a new string in the nightcap at New York as Rich Allen paced a 14-hit assault with his 22nd and 23rd homers.

"We have 10 fine players left," Pollack said.

Huffman Will Speak Here

Berl Huffman, veteran coaching aide at Texas Tech, will return to Big Spring Thursday, Aug. 31, to serve as principal speaker at the Quarterback Club's annual barbecue honoring members of the 1967 Steer football team and their coaches.

The meal will be served starting at 7:30 p.m. in the amphitheater at the City Park.

Huffman is widely known for his homespun humor. He has been in coaching for many years. At the present time, he is serving as head freshman coach at the Lubbock university.

Membership tickets have been placed on sale by the Quarterback Club, priced at $5 per family. The duet will ensure a man to take his family to the barbecue and attend all Tuesday night meetings of the booster organization.

Co-captains of the club are Don Newsom and Jess Slaughter, who are heading up the membership drive.

At last night's meeting of the club, held in the Vocational building at the high school, an estimated 60 persons attended to greet the new coaches and hear plans for the coming year.

Richest Prize Awaits Westchester Winner

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — "I guess I must be the richest golfer in the world," said Charley Johnson of Big Spring, who a season ago was piloting the St. Louis Cardinals at quarterback, as he began two years' active duty as a first lieutenant.

ment—the $250,000 Westchester Classic—gets off the tee Thursday at the luxurious Westchester Country Club and almost every golfer worth his salt is here for a shot at the loot.

First prize is $50,000, the biggest purse since the halcyon days of George May at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter in the 1940s. Second prize is $30,000, third $15,750 and on it goes with $5,500 waiting for the tenth best finisher.

Ron Sellers Will Test Tech's Mettle Oct. 21

(Editor's Note—This is the fifth in a series of articles on Texas Tech's football opponents. The Red Raiders play the Florida State Seminoles on Oct. 21 in Tallahassee.)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Florida State will be blessed this fall with the same group of passers and receivers which made the Seminoles the country's No. 4 team in passing and the No. 5 team in total offense last fall.

Coach Bill Peterson, who saw his club go 6-4 during 1966, has three outstanding quarterbacks to put the ball in the air. Junior Gary Pajcic returns from his record sophomore season when he broke a school total offense mark with 1,735 yards.

Defensively, the Seminoles should be much quicker than last season. The lack of a pass rush hurt last fall. Three of the four starters in the defensive secondary were sophomores in '66, so they are back with junior Walt Summer leading the way.

Cougars Eyeing League Crown

ABILENE — Cooper's Cougars had their greatest season in history last year when they compiled a 9-1 record, tying for the District 3-AAAA title with eventual state champion San Angelo.

MERRILL GREEN

What can they do for an encore? Well, perhaps the only way is to either go unbeaten or perhaps claim outright possession of the district championship.

The Cougars, who were ranked second in the state by one publication but only third in their own district in the most recent poll, are definitely contenders because of the fact coach Merrill Green has all of his starting backs, including multi-talented quarterback Jack Mildren, returning for another season.

Six Lettermen Return To Help Dragon Club

FLOWER GROVE — Coach Max Fly, starting his second season as head mentor at Flower Grove High School, has four offensive and as many defensive starters back from last fall.

Seven lettermen were lost to the eight-man Dragons, six of whom ran out of eligibility. The other, Elvis Burton, quit because of illness. Burton was a 220-pound guard.

Jimmy Walker, a 138-pound quarterback with two letters to his credit, is back to man the quarterback spot for the Dragons. He gained Honorable Mention on last year's all-district team. On defense, he plays end.

All-district linebacker Neil McMorris, 150-pounder, is also back. A senior who has also won two varsity letters, McMorris plays guard and half-back on offense.

Other lettermen out for drills include Tony Barbosa, 135-pound senior back; Pete Geurin,

Reserve letter winners returning include Roy Oaks, 135, a junior guard and end; and Paladio Garza, 165, a sophomore guard and end.

Other candidates for the team include Max Fly Jr., son of the coach, who was ineligible last year but came out for drills anyway.

Max is a 145-pound quarterback and end who could be a big help to the Dragons. Also Barry Hill, 150, senior guard; Marty Rawlings, 160, junior end; Eugene Hill, 145, freshman guard and center; Danny Howard, a freshman back weighing 85 pounds; Rodney Feaster, 145-pound sophomore back; and Rex Hopper, a freshman, yet unassigned to a position.

The 1966 season was a year of rebuilding for the Dragons. They played several fine games only to get edged in the final moments and wound up with a 1-9 over-all record. Within the league they were 0-4.

The Flower Grove team opens a ten-game season the night of Sept. 8, at which time they invade Dawson.

Quite probably, the Dragons' Homecoming game will be Oct. 6, at which time they host Loop.

Dragon schedule:

Albany Slates Links Tourney

ALBANY — The Albany Invitational Golf tournament will be held Sept. 1-4.

Entries can qualify any time up to 6 p.m. Friday, Sept. 1. Winner of the championship flight will be determined in medal play. Entries in all other flights will engage in 36 holes of match play, then resort to medal play over the last 18 holes to determine the winner.

If golfers are not able to qualify, they can have their home pros attest to their scores and forward their notices to the Albany course.

The starter will employ a shotgun start at 8:30 a.m. and again at 1:30 p.m. daily. Players will complete 18 holes daily.

Four prizes will be awarded in each flight. A barbecue will be served to entries and guests at 6:30 p.m. Friday.

Price of entry is $15.

Norb Won't Settle For 3-11 Season

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. (AP) — The mass confusion of an expansion club camp has given way to a more orderly process this year in the second season of the life of the Atlanta Falcons.

Coach Norb Hecker brought 104 to camp but he cut quickly because he knew that he had a solid nucleus of talent. He won't be satisfied with another 3-11 season.

"Our camp was not as hard this year," said Hecker. "In 1966 I didn't want anybody to think he could have it easy in an expansion camp. This year we went right to work on our offense, putting in a new passing attack. I think we are quite a bit ahead of last year."

"We are going to throw the ball a lot, if we find out we have guys to catch it. Our offensive line is working together better. That will let us open up our running game a little more."

Hecker's Falcons had the toughest schedule in the National Football League last year because they had to play each of the other 14 teams once. Now they will compete in the Coastal Division of the Western Conference with Los Angeles, Baltimore and San Francisco.

"We're in a tough division," observed Hecker.

"I never make any predictions but we're not afraid of anybody. We'll be up there in three or four years. We did better last year than the 3-11 indicates."

Randy Johnson went the route as No. 1 quarterback last year as a rookie. Despite his inexperience and 21 interceptions, he moved the Falcons with 12 touchdown passes.

Steve Sloan figures to be No. 2 although the Falcons picked up Terry Nofsinger from St. Louis and Archie Roberts from Cleveland.

Junior Coffey and Ernie "The Wheel" Wheelwright carried the heavy load as running backs last year. They probably will do it again although Hecker has hopes for Ron Smith, a speedy defensive corner back in 1966.

Tom Moore, a running back at Green Bay and Los Angeles, is being used as a flanker with Alex Hawkins. Hecker also is taking a look at Preston Blidhuber, Joe Williams of the Continental League and rookie Tom Bryan of Auburn.

Flanker candidates include rookies Bobby Moten of Bishop and Jimmy Jordan of Florida, also a running back.

Billy Martin and Tax Anderson, two veteran tight ends may have competition from Bill Delaney of American International when he returns from the Army. Angelo Coia, in top shape, is the split end.

Ace Guard
 Greg Pipes (above), a 235-pound guard built like a truck, is Baylor's leading candidate for All-America honors this fall. He was named AP Lineman of the Week for his play against Arkansas last fall. He was largely responsible for the Bears' 7-0 upset that day. Coach John Bridgers calls him the finest guard he's had in his eight seasons as mentor there. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Miss Hurt Is NSA Speaker

Miss Helen Hurt, assistant to R. L. Tollett, president of Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, presented a program on public relations at the Tuesday evening meeting and salad supper of the National Secretaries Association. The group met in the Reddy Room of Texas Electric Service Company.

Miss Hurt discussed the interrelationships existing between public relations and human relations, and listed desirable traits for success in either business or personal relationships. She noted a sincere desire to help others as the most important attribute of a business woman, and she reminded the women that they represent their companies by their appearance, actions, voices and courtesy.

Mrs. Dee Raliff presided and announced the regional meeting and leadership clinic for the area will be held Sept. 23 at the Holiday Inn in Midland.

Plans were completed for a bridge marathon to begin in September, and proceeds will be used for a secretarial student scholarship to Howard County Junior College.

Ten attended.

Gift Shower Held For Recent Bride

Mrs. Charles Stewart, the former Miss Margaret Cockerham, was honored with a gift shower at the Monday evening meeting of the Pythian Sisters, Sterling Temple No. 43, at Castle Hall.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Choc Smith and Mrs. Doyle Vaughn. Mrs. Joe Neese was presented the capsule prize and Mrs. L. D. Chrané was given the silver drill award.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a white cloth and centered with a pink and red floral arrangement. Miniature cakes were decorated with silver wedding bells, and crystal and silver appointments were used.

Thirteen attended.

Mrs. Leon Land Named Treasurer

Mrs. Leon Land was elected treasurer at the Monday evening meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Howard County Unit No. 355. The group met in the Legion Hut.

Mrs. Foster Kemp presided and announced plans for a picnic honoring 25 patients at the state hospital Friday evening at City Park. The legion and auxiliary will co-sponsor the affair.

Another party hosted jointly by the Legionnaires and auxiliary will be a farewell party Sunday at 5 p.m. at the Legion Hut honoring Mr. and Mrs. Tim Jones and family and Sgt. Ervin Vetter of Webb Air Force Base. The American Legion Scramblers will provide musical selections during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are moving to Longview, and Sgt. Vetter is going on an overseas assignment.

Twelve attended, and two new members were introduced. They were Mrs. H. W. Long and Mrs. Harrison Cleveland. Refreshments were served.

Knott Residents Take Trips, Visit

Knott celebrated surpassing their weight loss goal of 300 pounds at a dinner Monday evening at Furr's Cafeteria. Mrs. Dan Brasher presided and introduced four guests, Miss Donna Fleming of San Angelo; Mrs. Tim Cockerham, Big Spring, and Mrs. Bill Shockey and Mrs. Harry Kennedy, both of Knott. Twenty attended. The next meeting will be Monday in Brown's Paymaster Gin at Knott.

Leaves Hospital

Mrs. Camille Inkman, 1407 Runnels, was to be released today from Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital where she has been a patient since Saturday. Mrs. Inkman became ill while visiting in Lubbock over the weekend and was returned to the hospital here.

A LOVELIER YOU Teen Tresses Need Proper, Super Care

By MARY SUE MILLER
During teen years hair is especially contrary. It's something you can't do a thing with. It's too oily or flaky, too limp or fly-away, too drab and lusterless.

Why do you suppose? It wants for more care at this stage of life, that's why. And not the roller but the conditioning kind. Your hair has to be in the pink of condition before it will look or behave properly. To see steady improvement use these methods:

Shampoo before you need to, being sure to use a wash that suits your hair type. Especially recommended for teen heads is antibacterial shampoo—one with three per cent hexachlorophene and a normalizing pH factor. Use helps to control both scalp disorders and skin blemishes. The latter can be triggered or worsened by the former in the absence of safeguards.

Give your head 50 strokes, night and morning, with a clean hairbrush. For top results, lean over and dangle your head. Cover your brush with a square of disposable gauze to remove oil between shampoos. After brushing, wash your face if oily flake's the trouble. Best to wear your hair away from your face, too.

Avoid these injurious practices: Leaving hair in rollers after it dries, overexposing the head to sun and icy wind, ignoring the two D's—Diet and Doctor. Serious hair problems require a doctor-prescribed diet and medication.

TEEN TRESSES
Is your hair a problem, Miss Teen? Then send for my leaflet, "Teen Tresses, Model Type." It tells how to correct such ailments as oily hair and flaky scalp; fly-away, unmanageable, lackluster locks. Included, too, are styling tips and model grooming quickies. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin.

MRS. RICHARD R. SAGLE

Former Resident Is Married In Lubbock

Saint John's Methodist Church in Lubbock was the scene of a recent afternoon wedding when Miss Betty Jane Sherwood became the bride of Lt. Richard R. Sagle. Rev. Mark B. Williams performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of family and friends.

Parents of the couple are Col. and Mrs. Joseph H. Sherwood, Jr. of Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Ray R. Sagle of Huntsville, Ala. Col. and Mrs. Sherwood are former residents of Lubbock and Big Spring.

The bride's gown was fashioned along skimmer lines and featured a portrait neckline and fitted sleeves edged with Venetian lace. A cascade of flounces outlined with lace formed a sweep train, and a cluster of satin flowers outlined in seed pearls held her tiered veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with pink orchids.

The bride attendants were Mrs. Max Fry, Houston, sister of the bride, who was matron of honor, Miss Paul Sherwood, also a sister of the bride, a junior bridesmaid. Bridesmaids were Miss Debra Fowler, Houston, cousin of the bride, and Miss La Nelle Adams, Plainview.

Their gowns were identical and designed of petal pink tulle in the same silhouette as the bride's gown. Venetian lace outlined the Empire waistline, and their short veils of pink illusion fell from a circlet of flowers. Their posies were of pink carnations and wine red velvet ribbons.

Lt. Tom Delaino of San Antonio, served as best man and groomsmen were Lt. Jack Byrne, Lt. Neil Lewis, and Lt. Paul Taylor, all of San Antonio.

Pent Hines Host Family Members

Mrs. Tiemann is the former Miss Glenda Hines and Mrs. Yaden is the former Miss Jo Hines. Col. Yaden who is serving in the South Pacific is expected to return home soon.

Melanie Parsons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Parsons, was a recent guest of her uncle, Allen Clifton in San Angelo. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons visited in San Angelo over the weekend and returned home with Melanie and her cousin, Darlene Clifton.

Mrs. W. P. Turner of Valera is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Chambers.

Mrs. D. J. Barber was admitted to Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City Wednesday after suffering a heart attack at her home. She is critically ill.

Honored At Party

Shawn Allan Torres was honored with a party on his first birthday Sunday in the home of his parents, S. Sgt. and Mrs. Raymond S. Torres, 1804 Hearn. Games were played and a Mexican pinata climaxed the affair. Refreshments were served to 13.

Lt. George Rilling, of Albuquerque was usher.

Mrs. Champ Rainwater, provided wedding selections at the organ.

The couple greeted guests at a reception at Reese Air Force Base Officers Club following the ceremony.

Mrs. Sagle is a junior at Texas Technological College, Lubbock and Lt. Sagle is stationed with the United States Air Force at Lackland Air Force Base San Antonio.

After a wedding trip to California, the couple are at home at 206 Whitewood, Apt. 124-B San Antonio.

Eastern Star Tea Honors Two On Sunday Afternoon

The home of Mrs. Norman Read, 503 Washington Blvd., was the scene Sunday of a tea hosted by Big Spring Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star in honor of Steve Baker, a member of the Masonic education committee, and Mrs. Pyrie Bradshaw, a member of the arthritis and rheumatism committee.

Receiving guests with the honorees were Mrs. Read, past grand matron; Mrs. Carl McGlothlin, worthy matron; A. A. McKinney, worthy patron; Mrs. M. G. Moore, worthy grand matron of the Grand Chapter of New Mexico; and Mrs. T. H. Barnard of Decatur, past grand matron.

Members of the house party were Mrs. H. J. Irion, Hobbs, N. M.; Mrs. C. T. Bond of Eunice, N. M., grand representative of the Grand Chapter of Texas in the Grand Chapter of New Mexico; Mrs. A. A. Strawn of Lovington, N.M., District 11 instructor, Grand Chapter of New Mexico; Mrs. W. B. Sullivan, local Beaumont president; Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCarley; Mrs. Orbin Daily, Mrs. W. U. O'Neal and Mrs. A. A. McKinney.

Pink carnations were used in arrangements placed throughout the entertaining area, and gold and bronze chrysanthemums were used in the den. A white linen cutwork cloth with scalloped lace edge covered the table which was centered with pink and orchid daisies. A silver punch service completed the setting.

Mrs. Vester T. Hughes of Merton was a guest. Others attended from Coahoma, Garden City, Odessa, Midland and Lamesa.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKEE

If you are new to Texas and want to learn about the state there's an excellent opportunity now in the offing at Palo Duro Canyon near Canyon, Mr. and Mrs. LEE WILLIAMSON have recently returned from Amarillo where they visited Mr. Williamson's son and his family, the Mike Williamsons. Saturday night the two families drove the 25 miles from Amarillo to the canyon where the pageant, "Texas — Musical Romance of the Panhandle," was being acted. Mrs. Williamson said the show is very spectacular in the canyon setting, and the producers have taped an actual thunderstorm for authentic sound effects. The pageant deals with the area after 1880 and the cast of 100 depicts the fight between the farmers and ranchers of the area. The last performance will be on Labor Day beginning at 8:55 p.m. and continues for two-and-one-half hours.

Another such show that tells the story of its area is the "Fandango" at Albany which was written by a native, and all the cast is made up of townspeople. It takes much work and enthusiasm and an unusual amount of imagination and patience to put these historical events on, but they do much to keep history alive. Remember when we had our Centennial and put on the big show at the amphitheatre? Some of our people are still worn out from that effort, but it certainly was worth it to those who watched from the seats.

MR. and MRS. RALPH PROCTOR plan to leave Thursday for Sherman where they will take their little grandson, Mike, home to his parents, S. SGT. and MRS. EVERETT NEWTON. The little seven-month-old boy has been with his grandparents for several weeks. He was here during the visit last week of his uncle, S4 LANNY PROCTOR, who is now stationed at Fort Bliss near El Paso after a year of duty in Vietnam.

MR. and MRS. NOEL HARVELL JR. and their son, Noel Leon, left this morning for Dallas where the son will see a heart specialist on Thursday. The 15-year-old boy will probably undergo a series of tests at Baylor Hospital.

Lincoln National Park in New Mexico is the site selected for a camping trip by the LARSON LLOYDS and their two older children, Larson Jr., and Lisa.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM MC

REEE have returned from Lawrence, Kans., where they visited her mother, Mrs. William Frowe.

BILL CREGAR has returned from Tucumcari, N.M., with his children who have been visiting his mother.

When PENNY FRAZIER started planning her wedding she reminded her mother of a promise made ten or more years ago when her mother made a bridal gown for Penny's bride doll. Mrs. Frazier promised she would make her one just like it for her wedding and when Penny married Saturday night she was wearing a beautiful copy of her doll's wedding gown . . . made by her mother. While the mother was busy in the dressmaking department, eldest brother, Jim Bruce, busied himself with making a cake for the groom's table which made the groom's table a most popular place at the reception.

It's Back-to-school time fashions . . .

Catch the spirit of the campus, be ready to swing with the crowd in a spicy sweater to match the kilt skirt. In the ziest colors.
