'Happy New Year' Long Ford Strike Due

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers leaders Saturday began a drive to rally their nonstriking rank-and-file in support of what is increasingly expected to be a months-long strike by 159,000 UAW members at Ford Motor Co.

The strikers drew their last full paychecks Friday, with no new negotiations scheduled on a labor contract.

Bargaining Delayed

An Associated Press sampling indicated that strikers expect the walkout to last from several weeks to several months. Some thought the deadlock might last until next year.

"I just wish everybody a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year," cracked John Metcalf, a 14-year Ford employe, in reply to a newsmen's question in Dallas, Tex.

Meanwhile, bargaining at General Motors and Chrysler was postponed for two weeks because the union leaders who handle the contract talks will be busy meeting with local union leaders across the nation next week.

Home Loans Probed

AUSTIN (AP) — Though he lacks the power to do anything about it until Oct. 1, Texas regulatory loan commissioner Frank Miskell says his office is investigating home improvement loan firms accused of charging too much interest.

Miskell said Friday he had sent three investigators to Dallas and five to Houston to probe the activities of the Gulf Coast Investment Corp. These are in addition to men from Miskell's office regularly stationed in those cities.

Lawyers Check Files

As many as 18 lawyers may be looking into loan company files throughout the state, Miskell said. A Dallas court of inquiry into home improvement loans spurred the investigation. Testimony involved allegations of forgery as well as usurious interest rates.

"I want to look into more than just Gulf Coast," Miskell said. "What we are proceeding on is a modus operandi."

"I know there are several other organizations in Texas that have similar methods."

"What we are doing is trying to set up teams, bringing our people in, having training sessions and strategy sessions."

Miskell said he had serious doubts that operations described in the Dallas testimony came within present regulatory law, but a new law goes into effect Oct. 1, and he said "There is no doubt in my mind that we will have authority" to go after such operations then.

Moon Landing Booked

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Scientists decided late Saturday to take a calculated risk and land America's trouble-plagued surveyor 5 spacecraft on the moon despite a malfunction.

The aim was a soft landing necessary to protect its soil-testing equipment and camera. If a soft landing Sunday afternoon is impossible, the spacecraft would smash against the moon and destroy itself.

Scientists said the only real alternative to attempting the lunar landing would be to orbit the 2,200-pound spacecraft around the earth—an alternative of little scientific value, a spokesman said.

"It's a lunar spacecraft and the object is to land it on the moon," the Jet Propulsion Laboratory spokesman said.

Big Spring helped Webb AFB put the frosting on a 25th anniversary birthday cake Saturday, and it was a big and happy party—just as the association has been long and happy. Our town is broader, more cosmopolitan in its outlook, its institutions are stronger and its friendships are worldwide because the Air Force has been part of the community family.

Hurricane Beulah Thunders Toward Dominican Republic

At Least 15 Persons Die; Homes Ripped

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Killer hurricane Beulah—already blamed with 15 deaths—thundered through the Caribbean Saturday night threatening Puerto Rico and headed toward a direct collision with the Dominican Republic. The deadly storm's 125-mile an hour winds sent hurricane and gale warnings up on parts of Puerto Rico and a huge chunk of the Dominican Republic.

Far out in the Atlantic, 1,500 miles east-southeast of Bermuda, tropical storm Chloe blew into a hurricane with highest winds estimated at 80 m.p.h., and tropical storm Doria sprang up just off Florida's east coast.

FLOODS THREAT
Forecasters at the National Hurricane Center at Miami predicted hurricane force winds for the extreme southwestern portion of Puerto Rico and said high winds and heavy rains—bringing a threat of flash floods—would cover much wider areas of the island.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at San Juan, Puerto Rico, ordered hurricane warnings hoisted along the Puerto Rican coast from the city of Cabo Rojo southward to Mona Island, and ordered gale warnings extended from Cabo Rojo northward to Aguadilla.

DANGER AT NOON
"The hurricane is expected to pass about 40 miles southwest of Cabo Rojo, which will be its nearest approach to Puerto Rico," the Weather Bureau said.

It said San Juan could expect heavy rains and gusty winds. But the Dominican Republic appeared to be in the most danger from Beulah.

At 9 p.m. a hurricane bulletin urged Dominican Republic residents to rush precautions and said "Beulah is expected to strike about noon Sunday in the vicinity of Isla Saona and continue northwest with destructive force."

HAITI ALERT
Haiti, an economically poor Negro nation which has been devastated many times by hurricanes, was under a hurricane watch. Haiti lies to the west of the Dominican Republic on the island of Hispaniola.

At 9 p.m. (EDT), Beulah was within range of land-based radar which located her center at latitude 16.9 north, longitude 66.9 west, or about 130 miles south-southwest of San Juan, the capital of Puerto Rico. The storm was moving at 19 m.p.h. to the northwest with gale winds extending out 125 miles in all directions.

Beulah is blamed with killing 13 persons on the island of Martinique and two on St. Vincent.

Five children were among those killed on Martinique as Beulah struck that French island Friday with 85 m.p.h. winds and torrential rains. Many homes were destroyed, flood waters coursed down city streets, and banana plantations were hard hit.

More Help Bible Fund

More friends put their shoulder to the wheel for the High School Bible Class Fund Saturday, adding $113 and making the new total $2,122.26. Little more than an additional thousand dollars is needed within this week to assure students that this instruction will continue.

In addition to gifts received, the First Baptist Church paid in its annual pledge of $400 (which is not included in the total). Several churches budget for the class, and the balance—the bulk of the cost—is raised through the annual appeal in The Herald. Mail or bring your gift to The Herald soon, please. ## U.S. Warships Blast Red Gun Emplacements

SAIGON (AP) — In alternating attacks, U.S. warships and fighter-bombers have blasted recently strengthened gun emplacements on a North Vietnamese cape six miles above the demilitarized zone where Communist forces may be massed for a new offensive, the U.S. Command said Saturday.

But speculation in Saigon was that the North Vietnamese buildup of coastal and anti-aircraft gun emplacements on Cape Mai was ordered in fear of a possible allied amphibious assault there.

For the past few weeks, Communist forces have been shelling U.S. Marine positions south of the DMZ possibly in hopes of softening them up for a major push southward. U.S. air attacks on enemy positions in the area have been on the increase to keep the enemy off balance.

Eight-engine B52 strategic bombers slammed twice at Red positions around the DMZ area Saturday.

100 Officials Map Sales Tax Ballot Plans

AUSTIN (AP)—More than 100 city officials from across the state held a closed-door critique Saturday on the 13 city sales tax elections scheduled late this month.

There is a definite air of confident optimism that all 13 of these cities will pass the sales tax," El Paso Mayor Judson Williams said after the meeting.

Williams acted as spokesman for men from the 13 cities. He said the meeting was "a critique primarily for the 13 cities. We spent the morning trying to discuss the problems and answer some of the technical questions."

'SWAP OUT'
They also exchanged ideas on campaign techniques, he said. "If Corpus Christi has a good idea that the rest of us can use, we all swap out," he said.

News In Brief Romney Attacks War 'Snow Job'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney shrugged off Saturday a suggestion that he bow out of contention for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination and attacked the Vietnam war "snow job" he said President Johnson is doing on the American people.

Romney stood by his assertion that he was "brainwashed" during a visit to Vietnam in 1965. This charge helped spark a Detroit News editorial suggesting that he get out of the 1968 presidential picture in favor of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

'BLURT, RETREAT'
The News, which backed Romney in three successful campaigns for governor, said that his "blurt and retreat habit" disqualified him for national office. The editorial, prepared for Sunday publication, said that in contrast, Rockefeller "knows what he believes and has the capacity to express his convictions."

Asked at a news conference held in connection with the Republican National Committee's windup of a two-day session if he will accept the suggestion, Romney replied with a flat "No."

He went on to accuse Johnson of a "systematic continuation of inaccurate reports, predictions and withholding of information" about the progress of the Asian conflict.

"This has kept the American people from knowing the facts about the Vietnam war and its foreign affairs," he said. "Above all, the American people must know what we are doing and the consequences, no matter how painful. We must have a government and a President we can believe in."

LODGE ABSOLVED
Romney cited a list of statements by Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in contending there is a credibility gap between actual conditions in Vietnam and the war reports given out by the administration. When he said he had been brainwashed, Romney said, he was referring to the "LBJ type of snow job" and not to the Communist method of treating prisoners.

He absolved former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, a Republican, of having brainwashed him on his 1965 visit. He avoided answering whether Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Vietnam commander, had joined in this action.

He named no individual party, but he said: "The President is very skillful and able in seeing that those who are subordinate to him express his viewpoint."

'McNamara's Wall' Under Way

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — A barrier of barbed wire and electronic eyes and ears along the northern rim of South Vietnam—how effective would it be against North Vietnamese infiltrating forces?

The evidence here is that U.S. Marines dug in and patrolling south of the demilitarized zone which divides the two Vietnams already are keeping out any major Communist force.

'I WISH HIM LUCK'
The chief infiltration route is not through the demilitarized zone, but over the old Ho Chi Minh Trail. This runs around South Vietnam's northwestern corner and southward through neighboring Laos and Cambodia. It has branches that cut into South Vietnam at points along the way. To be effective, such a wall as announced by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in Washington Thursday would have to run not only along the rugged mountain terrain of the northern rim, but also more than 100 miles south along the border of Laos.

Military men here are maintaining public silence on McNamara's announcement. But one Marine commander commented: "I wish him a lot of luck." The first, relatively easy, step in "McNamara's Wall"—as it is being called here—has been taken. Between April 12 and June 24, U.S. Marine and South Vietnamese engineers scraped out a 600-yard neck artillery base at Gio Linh west to the Marine stronghold at Con Thien, a distance of seven miles roughly paralleling the DMZ.

'What Sadness! What Disgust!'

OSWIECIM, Poland (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle of France gazed at the grisly relics of Auschwitz Saturday, then wrote of the sadness, and the hope, he felt after visiting the World War II Nazi death camps.

De Gaulle toured for an hour the crematoriums and barracks where four million persons, most of them Jews, died. He made few comments but murmured once: "So that is how it was."

At the end, he wrote in the visitors' book: "What sadness! What disgust! In spite of everything, what hope for mankind."

De Gaulle, at 76 the last surviving Atlantic wartime leader, made no speech at Auschwitz and has avoided bringing up the subject of the camps in speeches elsewhere in Poland. It appeared he wished to say nothing that could damage Polish-West German relations and work against the East-West European cooperation he seeks.

Nuclear Fear Voiced

LONDON (AP) — An American expert on the Middle East warned Saturday the Soviet Union or Red China might put a nuclear weapon—in Egypt—for bargaining with the West.

Prof. William Polk, director of the Center for Middle East Studies at the University of Chicago, said in a British radio broadcast: "Since no outside aid will enable the Egyptians rapidly to transform themselves into a modern, westernized society, I believe the Arabs will seek to acquire even more sophisticated weapons."

"It has long been my fear that circumstances are foreseeable in which either the Soviet Union or Communist China would find expedient the location in Egypt, whether or not they physically turn it over to the Egyptians, of a nuclear weapon.

"The precedent of the Soviet introduction of rockets in Cuba—although the strategic implications were obviously quite different—cannot be overlooked."

The Chicago professor said if the Soviet Union should station a battle group armed with medium-range ballistic missiles in Egypt "it could be in an excellent position to bargain for the removal of the (U.S.) 6th Fleet and the Polaris submarine units from the Mediterranean."

Thousands Visit Webb On 25th Anniversary

By JOE PICKLE
The old and the new mingled Saturday morning at Webb AFB as several thousand people turned out for the 25th anniversary of the air base in Big Spring.

CEREMONY
There was a touch of pomp and ceremony, too, as undergraduate Pilot Training Class 68-B was graduated to the congratulations of Col. Chester J. Butcher, wing commander.

While two flights of T-38s roared in low level salute to the honor class, other classes and base troops marched by briskly. Then as the Talons swooped back and peeled off, the Air Force Band from Lackland AFB broke off from the National Emblem march and into the Air Force march as it stood in clipped salute to the class.

Earlier there had been fly-bys by the T-38s and sister jet trainer, the T-47s, as well as the F-104 from the 476th Combat Crew Training Squadron. Then came a series of decorations for valor displayed in the air war over Vietnam, and next the presentation of the pilot wings.

WIVES
Pretty young wives, brightly dressed in vivid prints, linens, cottons, wools of golds, greens, reds, pinks, whites and other colors, edged forward as their husbands marched to the front. Some maneuvered, as did scores of proud parents, into position for a snap shot of the happy moment.

With Col. Connie Edwards narrating, the Confederate Air Force staged a one-plane air show. The vicissitudes of semi-ly overtook the P-51 Mustang, which was to have been the star performer, and it had to limp back to the runway with a palpating oil pump before the show ever got going.

Col. Lefty Gardner, Brownwood, took up the slack in his P-38 Lightning, however. He put his twin engine and twin-fuselage fighter through an uncanny series of acrobatics that drew admiration from today's jet pilots. He did roof-top passes, low-level rolls, countless Cuban 8's, power dives and other gyrations, all within easy sight of the crowd. All the while those twin motors purred and roared a song that called back memories of 25 years ago.

EAGER VISITORS
With the end of the show, eager visitors swarmed over the P-38, as well as several other World War II craft flown in by the CAF, and to view the stable of century series craft on display. They got a close up of the F-101, the F-102, the F-104, and F-105 as well as the red-hot 4-FC—any one of which would make the old P-38's speed seem like a walk compared with these sprinters.

They also gaped at the big C-130 Hercules transport, the A-1-E loaded with fire power and rockets for close-in work in Vietnam, and the C-47 equipped with three Mini guns (the 60 mm Vulcan cannon) capable of delivering a withering total of 18,000 rounds per second.

While this was going on, a (See WEBB, P. 8-A, Col. 4)

Band Wagon at Goliad

School's opening last Tuesday found Goliad Junior High School without cafeteria facilities and band boosters took care of the situation. The organization wheeled its concession wagon to the school grounds and are on hand during lunch hours to sell sandwiches and cold drinks. Hamburgers, hot dogs, chips and cold drinks will be sold beginning Monday. Superintendent Sam Anderson expects the cafeteria equipment to be ready Sept. 21, at which time the closed campus policy now in operation at the high school and Runnels will also affect Goliad. Until then, Goliad students may go home for lunch or purchase meals from band boosters.

No Penalties In Texas For Hiring Handicapped

A leader in the state's effort to increase employment opportunities for the handicapped declared this week that there is no provision in Texas' workman's compensation insurance policies or rates that penalizes an employer for hiring handicapped workers, according to Leon Kinney, manager of the Texas Employment Commission Office here.

"Many employers have been misinformed by scuttlebutt rumors which float around even though they have no basis in fact," Kinney quotes Laurence Melton, Dallas, chairman of the Governor's Committee for Employment of the Handicapped, as saying.

Wedding Links Auto Families

GROSSE POINTE WOODS, Mich. (AP) — Judith Elizabeth Fisher and Jack Forker Chrysler Jr. were married Friday at Our Lady Star of the Sea Roman Catholic Church, joining two families in the automobile industry.

The bride is the granddaughter of the late Alfred J. Fisher, one of seven brothers who founded the auto body manufacturing firm. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Fisher Jr.

The groom's grandfather was the late Walter P. Chrysler, founder of Chrysler Corp.

After a Tahiti honeymoon, the couple plan to live in Playa Del Rey, Calif., where the bridegroom is working for a degree in aerospace engineering at Northrop Institute of Technology.

The veteran champion of the cause of the handicapped workers explained that an employer's workmen's compensation insurance rates are determined by two factors: the relative hazards in the company's work and its accident experience.

"Rate determinations are not affected by the physical condition of the workers hired by the employer unless the handicapped worker is placed on a job in which his handicap increases the risk of injury," Melton has pointed out.

He urged employers from throughout the state to send representatives to the annual meeting of the Governor's Committee at the Terrace Motor Hotel in Austin Sept. 22. Highlight of the meeting will be a keynote address by Governor Connally.

"We are especially anxious to increase employer participation in the effort to break down whatever barriers to full employment opportunity for the handicapped remain unchallenged," Melton said.

He urged mayor's committees and other community groups at the grass roots to make plans for full participation in National Employ the Handicapped Week to be observed Oct. 1-7.

Long Hair, Short Skirts Ban Sparks El Paso Sit-In

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — An estimated 75 to 100 students staged an hour-long sit-out in the Irvin High School parking lot Friday to protest school regulations banning long hair and short skirts.

Three persons were arrested but were later found innocent of loitering charges by Justice of the Peace Brunson Moore. They received a stiff warning.

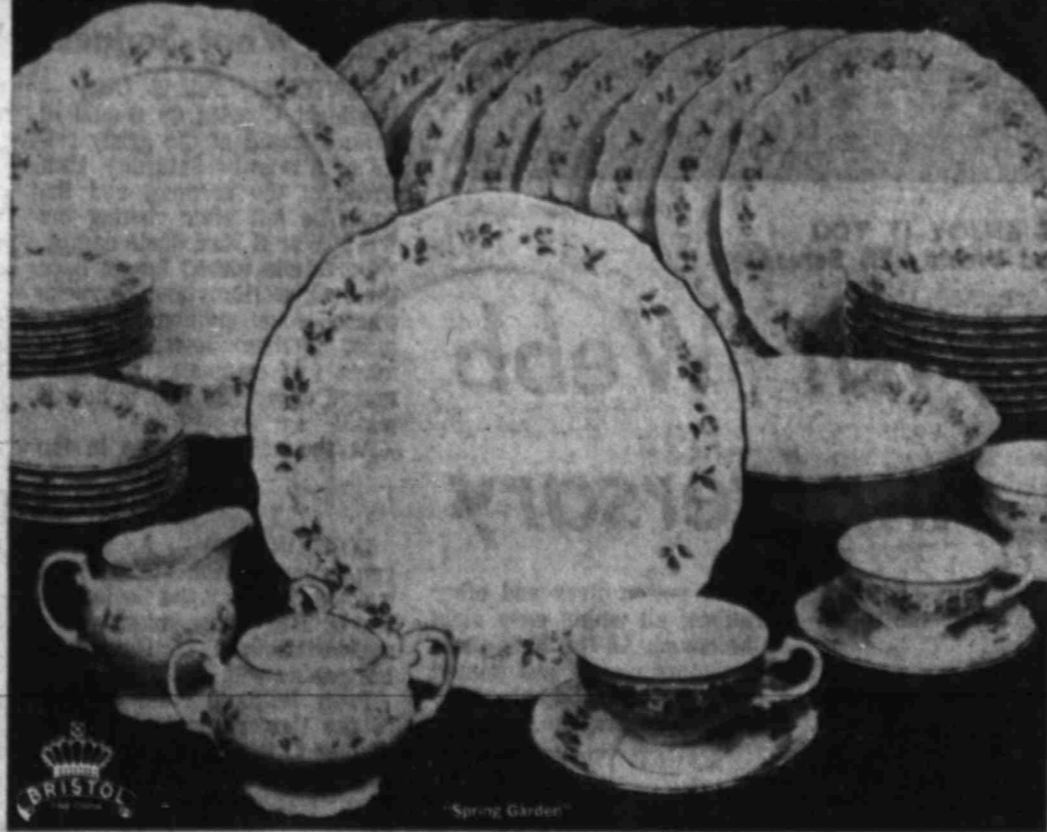

At the sit-out, the youngsters protested that boys were being sent home from school to get unreasonably short haircuts while girls were being sent away "by the dozens" to lengthen their skirts.

Principal Cecil Bean said that by long hair, the school meant haircuts that extended over eyes, ears and collars. With regard to skirt length, he said there was no arbitrary length, "only that decency be maintained . . . like when a girl sits down she doesn't show everything but what she is sitting on."

Here's Solid Proof That School Is Back in Full Swing

Howard County Library is the mecca of hundreds of boys and girls in Big Spring schools these days. This photograph taken at the index file cabinet on the second day of the session demonstrates thoroughly that the regular school rush for information required for special reports is back. Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, said that her staff is working overtime serving the youngsters who pour into the library each afternoon in search of needed books.

County Budget Approval Scheduled For Monday

By SAM BLACKBURN
Howard County Commissioners Court meets Monday at 10 a.m. to finally approve a budget for the county for 1968 which is nearly $60,000 less than the total expenditures for the current year. The public is invited to the session.

Mrs. Virginia Black, county auditor, said that the budget, as now set up for 1968, calls for spending $1,119,114.77. This is $7,938.64 less than the expenditures for the current year. The budget for the current year was $1,177,053.41.

VALUATION
Valuation for the county property for tax purposes is estimated at $63,000,000. This shows an increase of $218,061 from the valuation of 1967. The county valuation is based on 20 per cent of the true or market value of the property involved.

Tax rate for the county is $1.07 on each $100 assessed valuation. The tax levy is the same as in 1967. Taxes levied for the 1968 budget is $606,690. It is estimated $546,021 of this total will be collected in the current year, and that $60,669 will probably be delinquent July 1, 1968.

DEBTS
Bonded indebtedness of the county as of Jan. 1, 1967, stood at $1,481,000. It is estimated that the bonded indebtedness as of Jan. 1, 1968, will be $1,372,000. The county will pay off $106,000 in bonds and $41,628 in interest during 1968.

The budget allocates for the jury fund $34,888, compared with the 1967 figure of $36,965. Because of the change in the law, the appropriation to pay court-appointed attorneys named to appear for pauper defendants in the courts has been increased from $2,000 to $4,000. The jury fund is divided $31,887 for the district court and $3,000 for the county court. Tax rate for the jury fund is five cents.

The "big baby" of the county funds - road and bridge - with a tax levy of 39 cents, is set at about $3,000 more than the budget for 1967. The total shown for 1968 is $335,300. Aside from a $2,500 allocation for a new water tank trailer, the budget is almost identical with the one for 1967.

GENERAL FUND
The general fund which covers a vast assortment of county governmental functions has a budget about $3,000 greater than for the current year. Tax rate for the general fund is 42 1/2 cents. Budget total for the year ahead is $261,883, compared

School Enrollment At 7,537 In Opening Week Of Classes

The opening week of school ended Friday for 7,537 students in the city's 15 schools and found most problems facing administrators earlier in the week solved.

An additional first grade teacher hired earlier in the week alleviated an overload of first graders at Moss, although a large increase in students at Marcy may require employment of other fifth and sixth grade teachers.

Superintendent Sam Anderson said only one room was available at Marcy and should both teachers be hired, a portable building may be moved there.

All major furnishings have been received with the exception of cafeteria equipment for Goliad, Boydston, College Heights and Cedar Crest. Anderson said it should be installed and ready for use by Sept. 25.

Installation of planetarium equipment and a math computer is expected this week at the high school.

"Everything's looking better than we first hoped," he said. "The closed campus policy at the high school and Runnels is running smoothly and although some students aren't exactly enthused about it and the parking policy, most people have been quite complimentary."

Senior high enrollment totaled 2,046 Friday. Goliad moved to 681 and Runnels to 574. Added to the secondary total are 12 special education students at Runnels and 11 at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Zsa Zsa Defends Self In Pact Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Zsa Zsa Gabor appeared in a crowded courtroom Friday to defend herself in a $35,000 breach of contract suit.

A jury of six men and six women was selected.

The Hungarian-born Miss Gabor was sued by Fivell Developments, Inc., a construction firm, which claimed the actress broke a promise to buy a $175,000 house in Beverly Hills.

The firm said Miss Gabor stopped payment on a $20,000 check she had deposited in escrow.

Miss Gabor alleged the sale was invalid because the firm misled her on the rental value of her old home.

Vocational Division In Arts Building

One new development brought about by the new construction and remodeling at HCJC is the removal of all but the agricultural department from the Practical Arts building. This now is devoted to the new technical-vocational division under Dr. Marshall Box.

"This will be one of the few places in West Texas where people can get a real technical training program as distinguished from the purely vocational courses," said Dr. W. R. Hunt. "We are adding four new courses in data processing, electrical technology, welding technology and drafting and design. At the same time we are maintaining all of our regular vocational programs, plus MDTA programs and other adult courses. This means that we will be using every bit of our space."

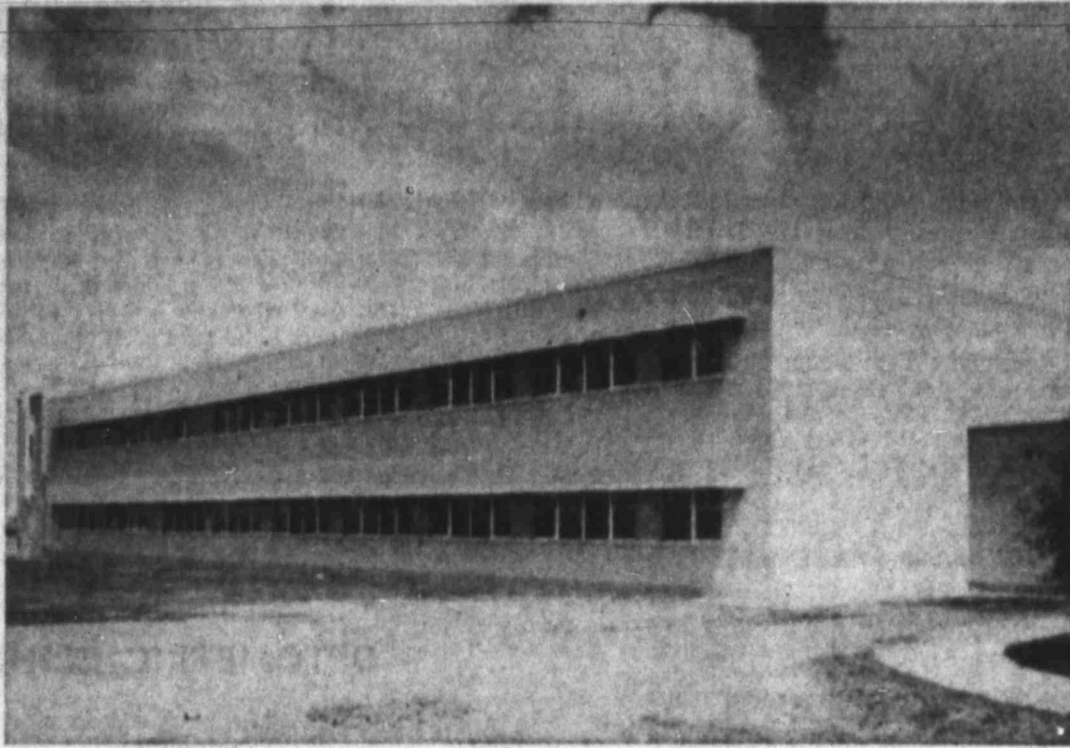

HCJC is dreaming of remedying this. Plans are on the board for a new technical-vocational plant, and the Dora Roberts Foundation has announced a $200,000 gift to help get it going.

New Quarters For Administration

HCJC has a new administrative quarters which is almost like having a new ad building.

This was accomplished by remodeling the old library wing. Part of the former library lobby becomes a reception room and a conference room. The corridor leading off these is flanked by offices for the administrative and the academic deans. At the end of the corridor is a testing center and offices for the counseling service.

The president's office will be off the former lobby area and where the librarian office and work room formerly was situated. This space also contains an office for his secretary.

Open House Set Today For New Buildings At HCJC

Howard County Junior College is putting the finishing touches on a million-dollar program of improvements for which the local bond outlay was only half of that.

Today from 2:30 to 5 p.m., trustees and the administration urge the public to come and see what has been done.

The frosting on the cake—and the point really where the open house will center—is the new library and the new science buildings. As modern and complete as any such educational facility in the country, they represent an investment of about $870,000.

In addition, the college contracted for the remodeling of the library wing in the administration building, so that there are now new offices for the president, the administrative and the academic deans, and for the counseling service, as well as two large classrooms.

On its own, the college also remodeled and refurbished the old science wings with a net increase of nine classrooms, plus the geology laboratory.

There have been other programs such as repainting the colonades, refinishing furniture, reupholstering the student union furniture and repainting the kitchen, reworking a sidewalk, relocating air conditioners, re-vamping the clock system, etc.

Besides this, laboratory tables and equipment and other furniture were given new tops, refinished and made like new.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, estimated that had this been purchased, it would represent an investment of $90,000. Also an irrigation system was installed around the new buildings, and other grounds improvements made.

To all this is added the college share of constructing the new field house at Memorial Stadium.

It all approximates a million dollars, Dr. Hunt pointed out. For this, Howard County voters passed a $500,000 bond issue Under the College Facilities Act, HCJC received $304,840. For science and library equipment, it got $32,000 NDEA funds, which it had to match.

Out of savings in its budget, the college financed the remodeling, also a considerable amount of furnishings. The total furniture and equipment bill for the new science and library structures ran to $123,000. The new buildings, planned for expansion when needed, were designed by Howard Ensign and Associates of Amarillo and were constructed by Walter Roemer of Giddings. The buildings contain 36,733 square feet and represent a cost of $18 per square foot.

New Library Can Serve Over 1,500 Students

A student body of more than 1,500 can be accommodated comfortably in the new Howard County Junior College library building, a handsome structure which houses 21,000 volumes.

In addition to the books, there are recording and film rooms for the library, plus a section where 167 periodicals are kept available. Virtually all of this is within easy reach of the student in bright, pleasant surroundings.

The library also is open to the public, and adults are making use of it for study and research.

When HCJC grows beyond the 1,500 mark, the north wall of the building can be removed and the library extended without any structural problems.

Contained in the building are 14,375 square feet. The bulk of this is devoted to open stacks and study room. Unlike older libraries which sometimes tend to the dark and drab side, the new plant is well illuminated, contains striking but pleasant colors in more than half a dozen different shades.

All of the auxiliary spaces are located on the east side of the building, starting with two conference rooms at the front. Next to these is the librarian's desk with control stacks and card index files. Back of these is a work room for marking or reconditioning books. The control desk stands out slightly so that it commands a sweeping view of the entire library.

Next, along the east third of the building are the librarian's office, a microfilm room and storage for the film library (for the college and area high schools), another conference room, a private reading room, restrooms, a room for storage and for microfilm readers and printers, recorders. (The printers enable a student to make an instant copy of a page in a book for a dime.) Outside, but near this latter space, is a transcription battery with four turn tables and one tape deck, all feeding to ear phones.

Approximately the middle third is given over to study tables, desks, carrels of varying numbers. The west third contains the open stacks, flanked on the outside by a line of study carrels so that a student is never more than a few steps from the book stack to his study point. At the south end of the building is the area for reference books and for the periodicals. This also contains occasional furniture.

To the right of the front entrance is a large lecture room with desks rising on semi-circular tiers. There is a demonstration table at the front, backed by equipment - storage room. At the rear is a projector. Each of the desks is wired for the Edex unit. When the instructor poses a question, the student presses a button on a shielded multiple-choice control, registering his answer on the board for the teacher. Instantly, incorrect answer are spotted. Also, the percentage is figured automatically to show what portion of the class assimilated the instruction. This also gives the teacher a permanent record.

Also at the front on the first floor level are restrooms, phone booth, seminar room, the stair well, backed by large rooms for mechanical and air conditioning equipment serving both the science and the library buildings.

Going down the hall, on the east side is a small library of technical material, then two freshmen chemical laboratories with power exhausts for the vented fume hoods. Between the laboratories is a supply room which serves both. There is a receiving room at the north end, and it has a dumb waiter by provide the latest physical means for effective learning. This is one of the few two-story buildings on the campus, and like the library, it is designed for easy expansion when the student load warrants.

Entrance may be from the front, through a patio between the library and science building, or it may be from the southwest side back of the music building.

biological sciences. Starting from the south, the east side of this area contains a technical library, plus reading room, two biology labs flanking a common storeroom. The receiving-storage room is at the north end. Across the hall is the zoology department, adjacent to work rooms, autoclave, bacterial center, a zoology laboratory, a lecture room, and a classroom. Wall windows are of a type which lets subdued light through and blocks the heat. Wide slabs of marble are used at the base of lab windows so displays or projects may be kept there. Every laboratory contains a spray that can instantly wash the eyes or body of anyone who may have come in contact with chemicals or materials which might cause harm. These spray heads are on hoses and have only to be squeezed.

Floors in the building, as in the library, are terrazo. Ceilings are acoustical tile panels that may be lifted to give access to wiring and plumbing. Wainscoting is in three shades of ceramic tile.

Old Appliances Needed By Class

Do you have an old appliance that may be repairable?

The appliance repair vocational class at the high school can make good use of it, according to E. Y. Buckner, instructor. He said the class can use refrigerators, washing machines, irons, toasters, and other electrical appliances.

Residents interested in donating such items may call the high school - 267-7461 - and Buckner will make arrangements to have the appliances picked up.

Enrolls In Graham Class

The Rev. James A. Puckett, pastor of the Baptist Temple Church, will join 1,100 students Monday in Kansas City to enroll in the Billy Graham "School of Evangelism." The week-long school is being held simultaneously with the Kansas City Billy Graham crusade.

Rev. Puckett was granted a scholarship to cover half of his expenses. Classes will be held each morning and evening, with attendance at the crusade meetings a part of the curriculum.

"By attending the crusade, we will have an opportunity to observe first hand exactly how Dr. Graham conducts the services," said Rev. Puckett. "Special lecturers during the regular classes will provide us with information and experience which will enable us to translate this knowledge of evangelism into terms understandable and practical on the local church level."

In addition to Dr. Graham, lecturers include the Rev. Joseph D. Blinco, director of the Forest Home Christian Conference Center in Forest Falls, Calif.; Dr. Kenneth Chafin, professor at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky.; Dr. Robert O. Fenn, dean of the Kansas City school of evangelism; Dr. Walter Smyth, director of Graham's crusade organization and team activities.

Clashes Mar Demonstration

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Open housing marchers, singing "Oh Freedom," marched out of the heavily Polish-American South Side Saturday night after a demonstration marred by clashes with police.

At least six persons, including two white men, were arrested. There were two injured, including one policeman.

HECKLERS
A straggle band of white youths followed the marchers for most of their more than five-hour march through the virtually all-white section that had erupted with bricks, stones and slurs in demonstrations last week. There were only minor incidents Saturday between the demonstrators and the hecklers who turned out in only a fraction of the thousands that had greeted earlier marches.

But police moved in on demonstrators. The first incident occurred after a white man and two Negroes began fighting. Police entered the fray with night sticks flying. Shortly afterwards on the same block, a police van tried to move into an alley but the demonstrators blocked the path. Police rushed the line to force the opening. The final incident occurred when a Negro began swearing at a policeman.

Struck By Auto

Aaron Wilmon, 91, of 1104 W. 6th, escaped with minor injuries at 7:22 p.m. Saturday, when he was struck by a car as he crossed a street. Police said an Alert Ambulance rushed Wilmon to Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital where he was given first aid and released.

Police identified the driver of the car as Eusebio Olivares Anaya, Ackerly. The accident occurred at the intersection of Galveston and West 4th.

Cap Rock Event Draws 1,600

STANTON — Three directors were re-elected to the board and 1,600 members of the Cap Rock Cooperative dined sumptuously on barbecue Saturday night at the 28th annual stockholders meeting of the organization. The program was presented at the Stanton High School Football field.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of scholarships to Linda Shaw and Ray S. McKinnon, young co-op family student, and an address by Gene Linn, Rogers, Texas, formerly with a television and radio service in Lubbock.

Re-elected to the board of directors were Mrs. Lee Castle, Big Spring, Garden City route for District 4; Paul Adams, Ackerly, Route 1, District 5; and D. W. McDonald, Midland District 9.

Financial reports to members showed income of $1,690,778 last year and operating expenses of $1,383,953. From the margin of $306,825, Cap Rock paid $130,801 principal on loans, leaving a net of $176,023.

Expenses included $673,939 electric power, $288,492 operating and maintenance, $310,811 depreciation, $19,290 taxes and $91,419 interest.

Cap Rock now has total assets of $7,285,160, which includes a net value of $6,031,175 in plant. Of $3,279,319 borrowed from the REA since inception, Cap Rock has repaid $1,535,166 ($785,054 of it ahead of time). The cooperative's equity in its system is pegged at $2,830,024. Membership of 6,250 showed a gain of 459 for the year and 2,411 miles of energized line, a gain of 337 miles during the year.

Representative Ace Pickens, Odessa, drew special praise from the realtors for his authorship of a bill to protect landlords from tenants who leave their lodging before paying rent, or tenants who pay rent with worthless checks. The new Pickens bill makes this an offense punishable by fine under Texas law.

As expected, support was given by realtors for the Constitutional amendment to extend the loan program for veteran land purchases. The board of directors approved a resolution to back this opportunity for Texas veterans to purchase Texas land and pay as low as 4 1/2 percent interest on the loan.

In other action, the board commended the Legislature for passing a bill to permit the voters in Texas to decide whether they want to continue the state's property tax. This will be a vote as a Constitutional amendment in the general elections of 1968.

Final plans were made for a Real Estate Institute in San Angelo Oct. 8-13 by the TREA Education committee. This will be a freshman course in real estate principles. Approximately 100 are expected.

Many Big Spring realtors were responsible for the success of the weekend program here. President Harold Talbot, of the Big Spring Board of Realtors listed his chief aids as Jeff Brown, facilities and planning committee; Jack Shaffer, vice president of the board, in charge of transportation; greeting committee, Sue Brown, Marie Rowland, and Lorraine Talbot; registrations were handled by Thelma Montgomery and Ellen Ezell. Mary Jane Briggs was motel reservations chairman; Sam Burns was responsible for directional signs to the various meetings; and Bill Sheppard was in charge of publicity.

The realtors sampled the barbecue of the Odessa Chuckwagon.

Scarcity Of Homes Talked

The big topic of discussion among realtors meeting at the fall board of directors' meeting is the sudden scarcity of available homes for sale.

As late as the June meeting in Dallas, realtors were talking mostly of the problem of "tight money," a scarcity of funds. This problem was solved so well, that the existing inventory of available homes for sale has been used.

Harold Talbot, president of the Big Spring Board of Realtors, said, "Our realtors will be glad to add as many listings as possible to the local inventory." While Big Spring is not as short of available housing as some of our larger metropolitan areas, most felt this is an excellent time to buy.

While interest rates are up over a year ago, the realtors agreed the rates are probably still on the way up. Apparently, the public feels the same way.

Our sincere thanks to the kind friends, neighbors and relatives for expressions of sympathy, beautiful flowers, foods, and other courtesies extended to us during our recent bereavement. Special thanks to Bennett House.

Over 175 Attend Fall Meeting Of Realtors Here

Realtors will begin leaving here today after they completed a fall board meeting, staged here at the Ramada Inn and the Big Spring Country Club.

The fall meeting is one of three held by the state's realtors to conduct business of the Texas Real Estate Association. Over 175 were here during the weekend. Sessions consisted of some 15 committee meetings, a board of directors meeting, and a special program for members of Multiple Listing Services for farm and land brokers.

In committee action, realtors were urged by their legislative committee to commit themselves to more involvement in community politics in line with the trend of other business and professional groups. Of particular note was the plunge into a long range planning program by realtors which will bring them in touch with the plans of the state's growing industrial plants, of agriculture, and of the plans of state government for the future.

President P. C. Naylor Jr., of San Antonio, speaking to the legislative committee Friday, expressed gratitude for the foresight of the 60th Legislature in passing the TREA sponsored amendments to the Real Estate License Act. He commended the committee and also State Senator David Ratliff and Representative Temple Dickson for their interest in this realtor-backed program.

Representative Ace Pickens, Odessa, drew special praise from the realtors for his authorship of a bill to protect landlords from tenants who leave their lodging before paying rent, or tenants who pay rent with worthless checks. The new Pickens bill makes this an offense punishable by fine under Texas law.

Realtors Group To Study The Future Of Real Estate

Realtors jumped into the future while in Big Spring, with the appointment of a long range planning committee to look at themselves and at the future of real estate. H. W. Bahman of Harlingen, former TREA president, was elected chairman of this task force for future plans.

"Each of our members has received appointments to this committee," Bahman said. "They know that planning for the future can be important both to their careers as realtors and to the state. I am glad to be a part of this new undertaking by the TREA. Space age Big Spring and a host of other growing Texas cities hold great promise. I hope through this study we can contribute to the orderly growth of these cities and our state."

Most TREA committees meet three times annually. This one apparently will meet bi-monthly. One of the early measures it will take is to solve its own real estate problem—a new headquarters for its growing services to its membership. As soon as a new site is selected in Austin, plans will be drawn for a building to house a library for realtors, executive offices for the 13 member professional staff, and rooms for educational meetings.

The committee will plan and explore a host of long range projections. Realtors played an active part in the regular session of the 60th legislature by urging passage of an improved license act to educate real estate salesmen. Another target for future legislative action by realtors will be abolition of the state's taxes on real property.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards has a long range plans program under way. Its committee has invited the nation's industrial giants to testify informally before it in gauging the future. IBM, General Motors, and AT&T were a few who sent experts to confer with the nation's real estate professionals on land use and urban growth. Realtors on the Texas committee will look to to present to realtors in the January meeting in Fort Worth. Realtors on the committee are: Bahman, and Joe Phillips, of Lubbock, both former TREA presidents; Ebby Halliday, Dallas, who is a former president of the Women's Council of the National Association of Real Estate Board and member of that group's long range planning committee; and O. O. Collins, active on San Antonio's HemisFair board of directors; Sid Holdrege, Alvin, president of the Gulf Coast Board of Realtors; Harry Reareick, of El Paso, and a commissioner of the Texas Real Estate Commission; Joe McManus, of Corpus Christi, Vincent J. Schmitt, of Texas City, and Ann Crockett, of Austin.

TREA president P. C. Naylor Jr., of San Antonio who appointed the new committee, challenged it to come up with specific goals and suggestions

Millhollon's element repeatedly engaged hostile MIG 21 aircraft in defense of friendly aircraft. Included in the mission was a test of extremely hazardous tactical equipment designed to reduce aircrew and aircraft losses due to hostile ground fire. In order to obtain the most positive results for the test, Lt. ## Webb Anniversary lively model airplane demonstration was staged under the direction of Maj. David R. Eby.

Old timers who had served in the early days of Webb AFB and particularly those who were at the base when it was called the Big Spring Bombar-der School, were asked to call by the John H. Lees center. There was coffee for the graduating class, and at noon a luncheon given by Big Spring citizens in appreciation of Webb AFB and its former commanders.

The afternoon brought a gymkhana at the 476th flight line, and the evening the commander's reception for Class 68-B, followed by the colorful military ball in Building T-75, and the anniversary dance at the NCO open mess.

Sunday Tactical Air Command craft, which were seen Saturday, will be on display, along with some of the CAF examples left over from World War

THE WEEK

College Has Open House Today

Oil and Refinery plant here. The facility, a replacement of existing crude units at Big Spring and Colorado City, will cost around $7,500,000 and will require almost a year and a half to complete. Contracts are due to be closed this week.

The only regretful development is that this means extinguishing the plant at Colorado City, something most people knew would happen someday because it was old and wearing out.

Big Spring has had the honor of entertaining members of the Texas Real Estate Association here for their annual autumn meeting this weekend. We hope that the urge to come west was a profitable and joyous one for them.

That was some show the Big Spring High School band put on at half time Friday evening. With almost 200 on the field, the band made an impressive showing, but for that many youngsters — many of them green at it — the execution and the playing were good. When new uniforms come, the band should look even sharper.

The annual appeal for the High School Bible Class is meeting with exceptionally good response thus far. If friends don't slacken this weekend, and if various church classes and groups get in their offerings today, the campaign — although shorter than usual, may be successful.

Schools got off to a good start last week — even high school where there was a last minute rush to get in late-arriving furniture, and where a new plant opening was compounded by a new parking plan. At the end of the week there were upwards of 7,500 students — not far off last year's pace. When operations have been smoothed, patrons will have a chance to see the new high school.

You'll have a chance this afternoon to inspect two other brand new educational plants — the handsome library and science buildings at Howard County Junior College. In addition there were other improvements which will be on display. Open house hours are 2:30 to 5 p.m.

Howard County has about a million dollars worth of highway work assured for 1968. A contract had been set Aug. 28 to Strain Bros. of San Angelo for resurfacing 10.3 miles of Interstate 20 for $547,000. Work will begin next April near the Sahara Drive in and go to the Martin County line. Joe Smoot, resident engineer, also had word on $407,000 set up to improve US 87 from FM 700 south to Hearn Street into four lanes.

We seldom have had such excellent cloud cover as the past two weeks — and with so little results. A few spots in the county — mostly where it has been raining — got nice showers; the rest sprinkles. Morning temperatures dipped into the upper 50's.

Howard County got a deep wildcat location in the northeast corner — the Tarbon Oil, et al No. 1 Howze, 3 1/2 miles northeast of Vincent. It is projected to 7,500 in the Pennsylvania. Shabean & Sons No. 1-20 Eleanor or will be a Wolfcamp wildcat 1 1/2 miles northwest of Sterling City.

Word comes that Skipper Driver, popular young rancher, is considerably improved from injuries and burns received in a welding blast more than a week ago. Recovery from the burns

Top Hands Welcomed Back, Reminiscences Delight All

Big Spring men welcomed back the top hands of former days to the Webb AFB corral Saturday and delighted in the reminiscences of former commanders at the Cosden Country Club luncheon.

Here to share in the occasion were Col. Ernest F. Wackwitz, Orlando, Fla., who had the unenviable task of reactivating the base in 1951 to meet a flying training schedule in 1952; Lt. Gen. Fred M. Dean, now deputy commander of the Air Force Strike Command; Col. Donald Eisenhart, San Antonio; Col. Wilson Banks, War College, commander, read the citations

for the two men for earning the "sincere gratitude of the Air Force."

Regrets came from two former commanders, Brig. Gen. Kyle Eddie, who at the last minute was unable to leave his Tokyo, Japan, headquarters; and Brig. Gen. Charles M. Young (Ret.), R. W. Whipkey, master of ceremonies, paused to pay respects to Brig. Gen. Howard Wilthycome, who died in a traffic mishap within months after he had taken command here.

Each of the commanders spoke briefly, but the place of honor was given to Col. Wackwitz who had the job of starting it all. Gen. Dean, with a characteristic twinkle, noted that each commander was convinced that his predecessor had been the most ineffectual one of all, and Gen. Taute added: "That's right; Chester Butcher's been showing me all the things that have been done since I left."

Col. Wackwitz paid tribute to the military who came here when there were only the bare bones of a base to be reactivated, and to the people who took them in. From the reputation of "the Slobovia of the Air Force," the base steadily gained stature as an outstanding training base, he said. "A lot of the credit," he said, "belongs to the most wonderful group of people you'll find anywhere, no matter where you go."

There was good natured ribbing, to the pleasure of over 200 men and officers from Webb AFB and business and professional men from the community. The deep drought which beset the base at the outset, and Gen. Dean's "Operation Oasis" were recalled, as were Col. Eisenhart's prowess as a golfer, and Gen. Taute's reputation as a gin rummy player.

ALL COUNTED "It's been real nice to have been back," said Col. Eisenhart; "you all know how I felt about Big Spring; my opinion hasn't changed," added Col. Banks; "I'm grateful to be counted among the commanders of this illustrious base," declared Gen. Taute, "God speed all of you."

Petition Filed To Name Receiver For Loyd Estate

A petition was filed in 118th District Court Friday asking a receiver be appointed to conserve and protect the property and estate of John Howard Loyd, Ida Bell Loyd and their three minor children, Howard Don, Carol Wayne and Paul Darrell Loyd.

The Loyd family has been missing since Aug. 27, when they took off from Acapulco for Mexico City, on the first leg of their plane flight back to Big Spring.

The petition asking that the court name a receiver to take charge of the Loyd holdings was filed by A. B. Carter, who identifies himself as an uncle of Loyd's.

He points out in his petition that the family has considerable property, both personal and real estate, and that in view of their unexplained absence, it is important steps be taken to protect their holdings from being dissipated.

The Loyd and the John Polone families left here in mid-August for a flight to Acapulco. They left that famous Old Mexico resort center on Aug. 26 flying back in two airplanes to their homes.

The Polone plane crashed and the four members of the family were killed, a short time after takeoff. No word has been heard of the Loyd plane nor its occupants, although a wide search both on land and from the air has been conducted over the mountainous area.

Dear Abby

Joke—Or A Gift?

DEAR ABBY: My daughter was married last Saturday at a beautiful, large church wedding and she and her husband are now away on her honeymoon trip. She asked me to open any wedding gifts that came in her absence, so I have. Today she received a big gift-wrapped box filled with baby things, disposable diapers, rattles, baby powder, etc.

If this is someone's idea of a joke, I fail to see the humor in it. What is your opinion of such a gift to a bride?

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If she's not pregnant, it's a practical joke. If she is, it's a practical gift.

DEAR ABBY: Why are men so inconsiderate? My husband asks me out for dinner with an hour's notice, and I always have to say no. If he had asked me in the morning I could have had my hair done so I'd look nice for dinner.

He bought expensive tickets to a sports event and asked me to go the night before. Since he usually works on Saturdays I had the day pretty well outlined and there are some things you can't change at the last minute, so I told him to invite a fellow. He was annoyed.

He used to ask me for a date in plenty of time before we were married. Why not now? He said if I really loved him I'd drop everything just to be with him. I DO love him, but I'd like to train him to know he can't get me on an hour's notice. Am I wrong?

DEAR "CINCY": Lady, you are crying "famine" with a loaf of bread under each arm. If you don't have a portable hair dryer, buy one and put your hair up at the last minute. Or buy a few turbans for these days when your hair needs doing. Rearrange your schedule, but always be available, or you're apt to "train" him to quit asking you and to make other last-minute arrangements.

Ninth Police School Stated

Six weeks of school awaits almost 25 police officers arriving Sept. 18 for the ninth session of the Southwest Academy for Law Enforcement Officers, according to Jay Banks, chief of police. This marks the first time the school has varied from its traditional four-week sessions.

Classes under the direction of Texas A&M's Engineering Extension Service are scheduled eight hours daily at Howard County Junior College. Registration fee is $75, while room and board at the Settles Hotel will run close to $56, said Banks.

Big Spring patrolmen enrolled in the course are Jerry Morris, James Cadzow and Don Thompson.

Both city and county law officers will study basic laws of arrest, search and seizure, criminal law and investigation, traffic law and accident investigation, effective communication, mob and riot control, public relations, liquor laws, auto thefts, fires and juvenile problems.

Among guest instructors are Banks; Lewis Berry, Texas Sheriffs' Association executive secretary; Wallace Beasley, director of the Texas Law Enforcement Standards and Training Commission; Melvin James, San Angelo police chief; N. C. Landers, Howard County Junior College speech professor; Steve Clark, Snyder police chief; Wayne Tollett, Howard County district attorney investigator; and Fred Creech, National

Elmo Wasson the men's store

DEAR ABBY: I will be married in a couple of weeks. My fiancée, Gary, and I get along very well, except for one detail: Ironing!

I have an exceptionally good job, and Gary wants me to continue working after we are married so we can put a substantial down payment on a house. This is fine with me, but I feel as long as I will be working, I should at least be entitled to send Gary's shirts out to be ironed. He wears 6 white shirts a week and that's a lot of ironing.

Gary thinks nothing of spending $5 a week to bowl with the boys, but he thinks it's ridiculous for me to spend 15 cents a shirt to have them ironed, when I can iron them myself on the night he bowls.

On that night I want some leisure time of my own. Am I wrong to feel this way?

FLOHSSANT

DEAR FLOHSSANT: No! Stand pat. And how wise you are to iron out all these knotty little problems before you're married.

The defendant, under indictment for burglary, pleaded guilty in 118th District Court. The evidence showed he had no previous criminal record.

ALABAMA WILL BE SEEKING 19TH STRAIGHT VICTORY

Irish Likely To Repeat As Champions

By The Associated Press
Notre Dame, expected to produce another football powerhouse despite the loss of several star players, is picked to repeat as national college champions this year, according to The Associated Press' annual preseason poll.

of Florida, Georgia, Southern California, UCLA, Tennessee and Colorado.
Notre Dame, which beat out runner-up Michigan State by 35 points in last season's final poll, collected 17 first place votes and 296 points in the 1967 pre-season balloting.

Michigan State drew only one vote for first place and 183 points while Texas, unranked in last year's final poll, was a close fourth with two votes for the top spot and 176 points.

Bend, Ind., and Michigan State's Spartans locked up an interesting duel for the poll lead through most of last year. Their dramatic late season meeting produced a 10-10 tie and Notre Dame pulled ahead in the voting in the final weeks.

Alabama will start the season with 13 straight victories, including two smashing bowl triumphs over Nebraska. The Tide hasn't tasted defeat in its last 21 games, dating back to its 1965 opener when it lost to Georgia 18-17.

nucleus for a strong squad despite the loss of Bubba Smith, Clint Jones, Gene Washington and Jerry West, among others. Jimmy Raye at quarterback, Bob Apisa at fullback and Al Brenner at end are among the holdover standouts.

Bill Bradley, Chris Gilbert, Linus Baer and Greg Lott plus fine personnel on both lines and about a dozen highly regarded sophomores.
UCLA and Tennessee, the No. 8 and No. 10 teams, respectively, meet in their opening games this Saturday.

Cards Dream Club, Says Wes Westrum

ST. LOUIS (AP) — There are few questions left about the National League pennant race. The streaking St. Louis Cardinals have just about answered the big one. But what about the Cardinals?

The first-place Redbirds started the season on the hot bat of Lou Brock, their lead-off hitter.

BROCK WARMS UP

Brock had a great first 44 games: 13 homers, 37 runs, 22 stolen bases and a .348 batting average. Brock leveled off, but the Cardinals kept going and moved into first place to stay June 18.

Wes Westrum, manager of the lowly New York Mets, says of the Cardinals: "They're a dream ball club.

"They have everything a manager would want: Speed, power, defense, good pitching; and they have the know-how to win. They've had experience; it would be pretty tough for them to fold down the stretch."

Last April, pitching was a question mark with Manager Red Schoendienst's club.

"I don't think anybody knew about Dick Hughes (14-5 thru Sept. 1)," a rival manager said. "Look at the year he's having. And Nelson Briles is a good young pitcher ... They've got five good starters, even without Bob Gibson. And they alternate them and get good balance on the bullpen."

Stan Musial, the one-time Cardinal slugging great who is well on his way to a pennant in his first season as general manager, agrees with observers that the key to the Cardinals' success was the conversion of Mike Shannon from an outfielder to third base.

"If he couldn't make the switch," Musial explained, "we might have wound up platooning Roger Maris and Shannon in right field ... Then we would have had to find a third baseman."

BACKS SKIPPER

Shannon, a St. Louis native pointed to Schoendienst's office after a good game and said: "I couldn't have done it without him (Schoendienst). He had confidence in me."

The red-haired skipper, who first came to the Cardinals as a player in 1945, took the compliment with a shrug. He takes most everything with a shrug. "I have confidence in all my men," he said. "It's my job."

First baseman Orlando Cepeda gets down to basics when talking about Schoendienst. "Red is a great man to play for. He treats us like men, like human beings."

The flesh and bones of the Cardinals have been cut, bruised and broken in the 162 game grind. Take a look at the team's injuries in terms of weeks missed:

Eight weeks on sideline: Bob Gibson, broken leg.

Three weeks: Center fielder Curt Flood, sore arm; Shannon, virus; reserve catcher Dave Ricketts, rib cage injury, and pitcher Ray Washburn, broken thumb on pitching hand.

Two weeks: Second baseman Julian Javier, bruises and pulled muscles; relief pitcher Joe Hoerner, broken toe.

One week: Right fielder Roger Maris, elbow injury.

But, according to the standings, the Cardinals haven't noticed the injuries.

"Sure, we've had our injuries," Hoerner said. "But the important thing is that every-time we've had one, somebody has come off the bench and did the job."

Catcher Tim McCarver thinks the reason for the Cardinals' success is attitude.

"This is the happiest club I've ever been on," the veteran backstop said. "I can't think of a cross word between any of the guys on this club. I don't think you can play 100 per cent if you keep thinking about somebody else on the team."

Every club has a big man. For the Cardinals, it's Cepeda.

"He's our cannon," McCarver says, "and we're the little guys that shoot around him."

In 1961, when he was with the San Francisco Giants, Cepeda hit 46 home runs and drove in 142 runs. By Sept. 1 this year, Cepeda had 24 home runs and 104 RBI.

"This is my best year," Cepeda says.

MEANS MORE

"Yes," Cepeda says with surprising feeling. "It means more to me because we're winning the pennant. This club comes back to win games. It has spirit. Everybody is trying to win and willing to help."

"What I enjoy most is that we're beating down the clubs closest to us."

During one five-week stretch in July and August, the Cardinals played all the teams in the first division. They didn't lose a series to a contending team and won 22 of 28 games.

Cepeda is sure to be one of the top vote getters in the National League's Most Valuable Player voting. And surprisingly, much of his value is from more than the consistently productive bat he swings. He's a fine fielding first baseman with easy grace rare in a man his size.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Receipts Up At Course

By TOMMY HART

Jimmy Montgomery, the Midland High junior who is a brother to TCU's celebrated Ross, will "be the most sought-after tackle in America next year," according to Allie White, the TCU assistant coach.

Jimmy, at 232, is bigger than his jet-propelled brother and both like to run over people.

Harold Henson, the former cage star at HCJC, is now on the varsity coaching staff at Lamesa High School.

Jimmy Evans, the former Big Spring athlete who tried it in the professional football ranks until injuries cut him down, is now associated with an El Paso newspaper.

He is in the oil business in Oklahoma for a while.

Bob Churchich, who kept Big Spring's Albert Fierro on the red-shirt squad at the University of Nebraska a couple of years ago, played first base for the Jamestown team in the New York-Pennsylvania baseball league the past season.

His contract is owned by the Atlanta Braves.

If it's any comfort to coach Darrell Royal of the University of Texas, the inmates in the Texas penitentiary favored the Longhorns, 12-1, in a pre-season poll to pick a Southwest Conference football champion.

Kit Kittrell, the former Baylor griddler, is now high school principal at Lake Worth High School.

Golfer Don January lost his rabbit's foot recently when he sunk money in an oil well drilling firm that struck a dry well.

When Stanford University in Palo Alto, Calif., built a stadium in 1929 seating 30,000, the entire bill came to $200,000.

This year the stadium was expanded by 15,000—at a cost of $2,969,000.

The Baltimore Colts told Taylor-ex Terry Southall from the start that he would wind up on their taxi squad—the Colts carry only two quarterbacks on their active roster.

Receipts at the Municipal golf course here are running $3,000 ahead of the first five months for the last fiscal year, or $14,321 all told.

City officials, in their long range planning, are drawing up designs for a new clubhouse and a putting green, along with other improvements.

RICK BARRY

Those who watched him play in the last Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament think John Shepperson of San Angelo has quite a links career in front of him.

The 19-year-old, a sophomore at Texas Tech now, was on this year's Texas Cup team, which played its matches at Pecan Valley in San Antonio, won the Fort Stockton Invitational and the junior club championship at the San Angelo Country Club.

In addition, Shepperson teamed with Rik Massengale to finish second in the San Angelo Partnership tournament.

Last year, John was fourth in championship consolation here, so he is making progress.

Gary Wharton, the new junior high athletic mentor at Stanton, is a former Big Spring resident.

The gross value of the 1968 All America Futurity at Ruidoso Downs will exceed $500,000, in all probability.

Athletic teams at the University of Florida finished $490,000 in the black last season.

Don't put too much stock in that poll conducted recently among the nation's sports writers, wherein they decided that professional football had become the No. One sport.

Most writers don't feel at home discussing anything but football.

When you consider the fact that big league baseball teams play 162 games a season, the ratings proved a colossal tribute to baseball (which ranked a close third in the balloting).

If the Green Bay Packers or the Dallas Cowboys played 162 games a year, those teams would play to empty stands most of the time.

Pat Boone, the TV entertainer, said he had no idea that Bruce Hale was the father-in-law of cage star Rick Barry when Hale was signed to coach Boone's Oakland professional basketball team.

A former Big Spring, Elton Dozier, who made his first athletic mark in golf, is taking part in that $27,500 Lubbock Bowling Open this weekend.

Dozier was the 1939 BS Invitational Golf tournament champion.

You can tell you're getting old if it takes you longer to rest than it did to get tired.

Nen's Triple Leads Sens By Angels

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dick Nen's triple with the bases loaded following a disputed call on a hit batsman led the Washington Senators to a 4-0 victory over the California Angels Saturday.

After a two-out single by Fred Valentine and a double by Ken McGoheen in the fifth, a pitch by Jim McGlothlin to Frank Howard bounced back to the mound.

But Umpire Bill Haller said the ball hit Howard before it hit the bat. Nen followed with a triple and scored on Cap Peterson's infield hit.

Manager of Bill Rigney of the Angels was ejected for making a gesture to Haller when he went to the mound following Nen's triple.

Reliever Darold Knowles allowed only two hits in six innings to gain the victory.

Bert Decker Paces Buffs To Victory

By NATE MITCHELL
 ROSCOE — Coach Bryan Boyd's Buffaloes of Stanton High School evened a four year football series with a 14-6 win over the Roscoe Plowboys here Friday.

The visitors scored in the first four minutes of the opening period — going 67 yards in six plays — counting on a nine yard aerial from quarterback David Jones to Ricky Corbell. The point after touchdown attempt was blocked.

The Bisons scored again midway in the fourth quarter on a four yard end sweep by hard-running Bert Decker, who rushed 114 yards all evening.

Jones hit Corbell a second time in the end zone for the extra two points play.

Trailing 14-0 with less than three minutes remaining in the clash, Danny Pitts, who had replaced Roscoe quarterback Jerry Don White in the fourth period, electrified the large crowd with a 56 yard scoring jaunt. The two point conversion was thwarted when Benny Avery intercepted the ball.

First year signal caller Jones and power rusher Decker provided the bulk of the offensive punch behind the Buffaloes' solid forward wall. Jones connected on seven of 11 passing attempts for 106 yards and piled up 168 yards rushing to lead the offensive effort. Alan Gregston caught a 26 yard Jones pass in the third period.

A 27-yard TD aerial from Jones to Benny Avery was nullified due to a rule infraction. Stanton's other scoring threat came in the third period when Jones & Company failed to strike pay dirt from the Plowboys' one yard line with two downs to go.

Roscoe's only scoring threat in the first half came when Ron Watz intercepted a Jones pass at mid-field and returned the ball to the Bisons' 32 yard line. A clipping penalty moved the ball to the Stanton 17 and a first down.

Frankie Arguello and Bert Decker, who displayed tremendous defensive effort throughout the contest, made Roscoe's offensive — pushed the home team back to the 26 yard line before it relinquished the pigskin.

Benny Avery, Alan Gregston — along with Arguello and Decker — provided most of the Stanton defense — holding the Plowboys to only two first downs — none in the first half. The Buffaloes recorded 15 first downs in the game.

The Bisons surrendered 105 yards in penalties in the game — six of which were for major infractions. By comparison, the home team was charged with only 35 yards in penalties.

Coach Sparks' young Plowboys fought nobly, but were out-classed from the opening whistle. The team's future should brighten, however, since most of the members are sophomores.

The Buffaloes host Iran at Stanton next Friday night, while the Plowboys journey to Colorado City for a clash.

Score by quarters:
 Stanton ..... 6 0 0 8-14
 Roscoe ..... 0 0 0 6-6

Amarillo Stops Odessa, 14-0

AMARILLO — The Sandies of Amarillo kicked off the football season with a convincing 14-0 win over the Odessa Bronchos here Friday night.

The Amarillo team struck paydirt after receiving both opening and second half kick-offs. Odessa threatened only once — moving to the Sandies' 10 yard line in the waning minutes of play.

After running back the first half kickoff to their own 41, the Sandies scored in nine plays, with signal caller Dickie Graham tossing to end Gary Ritchey two yards deep in the end zone. Marc Jones booted the PAT.

Amarillo returned the second half kickoff to its 21 yard line but a 15 yard penalty moved the ball to the Sandies' 36. On the next play, Harmon Hollar exploded over right tackle and romped 64 yards for the second TD. Jones' second conversion try was successful and the local squad led, 14-0.

Hollar carried 18 times for 152 yards and a touchdown. Fullback Doug Robbins racked up 78 yards in 14 trips. Graham looked quite impressive in his initial try at signal calling; connected with three of eight passes for 26 yards, and — earned eight times for 45 yards.

Bulldogs Trounce Redskins, 28-6

MIDLAND — Midland quarterback Paul Lyons accounted for all four touchdowns in the 28-6 win over Ysleta here Friday. Lyons passed for two TDs and ran for the other two.

In the second quarter, Lyons found Carlos Rankin with a TD strike. With seconds left in the first half, he tossed a second touchdown pass to Larry Pipkin. Mike Cool booted both PATs.

Lyons widened the margin in the third period with his one yard sweep, after which Andy Farris hit Wayne Stribner on a 63 yard play for Ysleta's only score.

With less than two minutes on the clock, Lyons romped 61 yards for Midland's final score.

McLenna Claimed By Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts of the National Football League filed a claim Saturday for Bruce McLenna, a running back put on waivers by the New Orleans Saints.

McLenna was with the Detroit Lions last season and obtained in a trade by the Saints.

Runs In Family

More Than 10 Million Have Seen Astrodome

HOUSTON — More than 10 million persons now have come to the Astrodome in its less than 2½ years of operation.

Through Labor Day, last Monday, Sept. 4, the total reached 10,102,620, which means that the 10 millionth visitor probably attended one of the Houston Astros baseball games in late August.

It would be appropriate if the 10 millionth visitor was a baseball fan since more than 6½ million persons have come to see Astros baseball in the Astrodome since the fabulous stadium was opened April 9, 1965.

The next best attendance getter has been the tours, which from April 17, 1965, through Sept. 6, 1967 — about 28½ months — totaled 1,187,370.

The two rodeos staged by the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo Association have added an average of 375,000 annually and University of Houston football, which begins its third season in the Astrodome on Sept. 13, already has had more than a half million customers.

Bullfights, polo matches, professional soccer, championship boxing, circuses and various other concerts, shows and religious events have brought the rest of the visitors from throughout the world.

Thus far, the average of four million visitors annually to the Astrodome is continuing. With plans for more football, boxing, bullfights, baseball, tours and other special events in the next six months, that average seems likely to increase.

Permian Routs Tascosa, 32-6

ODESSA — William and Tommy Stewart sparked the Permian Panthers to a 32-6 trouncing of the Amarillo Tascosa Rebels here Friday. With Tommy's running and signal calling, the brothers accounted for four of Permian's five TDs.

William opened the scoring with a 53 yard dash in the first period, as did Tommy on a 62 yard jaunt in the second stanza. Roger McGraw's boot made it 13-0 at the half.

In the third frame, Stewart hit Pat Pope for a 57 yard touchdown and McGraw again kicked the extra point. A few plays later, the Panther quarterback kept the ball and raced nine yards for his second score, but the PAT failed.

The play of the night came when Pope picked off a Rebel aerial on his own end and raced 99 yards to paydirt — lengthening the lead to 32-0.

Tascosa's only TD came in the fourth period when Dick Ingram bowled over from the two yard line. The PAT try failed.

Gilchrist Placed On Injured Roll

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Fullback Cookie Gilchrist of the Denver Broncos American Football League team was placed on the injured waiver list Saturday and will undergo exploratory surgery Monday for a knee injury.

Coach Lou Saban said Wendell Hayes, the team's No. 1 fullback last season, would open at fullback against the Raiders on Oakland Sunday.

"Welcome Coffee"

—AAUW OPENS SEASON—

STARTING THE SEASON with a welcome coffee Sept. 16 at Big Spring Country Club, the American Association of University Women expects to begin its busiest year. Next on the schedule will be an orientation breakfast in October, here being planned by Mrs. Jack Dunn, membership chairman; Mrs. Harry C. Rogers, a new member; Mrs. Wilbur Cunningham, first vice president; and Mrs. S. M. Anderson, in whose home the breakfast will be held.

THIS YEAR'S FUND-RAISING project for the AAUW will be a spaghetti supper, here being planned by Mrs. Robert Winders, community problems chairman; Mrs. Doris Gambill, ways and means chairman; Mrs. Richard Rossmiller, treasurer; and Mrs. John Pearson who is in charge of models and decorations for the welcome coffee.

PUBLISHING A PRE-SCHOOL directory has been a major project of the AAUW which has compiled and distributed the listing of nurseries and kindergartens in the city. Checking the new directories are Mrs. John Smith, public relations chairman; Mrs. Walter Wheat, welcome coffee chairman; Mrs. Ted Hicks, president; and Mrs. W. H. Hallmark, corresponding secretary.

FASHIONS FROM SWARTZ will be shown at the Sept. 16 coffee and style show hosted by the AAUW at Big Spring Country Club. Among the models will be Mrs. Carl Bradley, in a three-piece knit suit with white fox collar, and Mrs. Ookey Hagood wearing a shocking pink wool gabardine shift.

READY FOR FALL is Mrs. Leo Gee, who wears a camel dress and a giant hound's tooth check camel and white coat with lush red fox collar. The other AAUW model is Mrs. B. L. Dunson who will show an all-silk green and brown check suit with green print silk ascot.

MRS. DONALD RAY FRANKE

Vows Are Exchanged In Methodist Church

Formal nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Regena Paullett Haney and Alrman S.C. Donald Ray Franke Friday evening at the First Methodist Church in Coahoma.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myrtle Haney, Gail Route, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Franke of Baird. He is stationed at Webb Air Force Base.

The Rev. Lynward Harrison read the double ring rites before an altar graced with baskets of white gladioli and green fern trees. Flanking the altar setting were candelabra holding cathedral tapers. The couple knelt on a white satin prie-dieu during the benedictory prayer.

Miss Donna Yater sang, "Still As The Night," "One Hand, One Heart" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Miss Sarah Oakes, organist.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She was attired in a white peau de sole formal gown designed with molded bodice overlaid with French silk lace. The fitted sleeves formed petal points over the hands, and the draped satin skirt fell into a full chapel train which was scalloped at the edge and trimmed with lace appliques. She carried a bouquet of feathered chrysanthemums, carnations and centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Stanley Haney of Big Spring served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Charlotte Kinstley and Miss Rose Ann King, both of Sand Springs; and Miss Sandi Haney of Lamesa. The attendants were attired in similar pink, green and blue dresses fashioned with Empire bodices, scoop necklines and floor-length skirts. They carried white carnation bouquets.

Gary Bacon of Fort Worth was best man. Groomsmen were Gary Franke, brother of the bridegroom and Robert Barnhill, both of Baird; and Stanley Haney, brother of the bride, Big Spring. Ushers were Doyle Venghaus, Texas City; and Clifford Owens, Temple, Okla.

Altar taper lighters were

Craig Franke, brother of the bridegroom, Baird; and Lindy Love, cousin of the bride, Hobbs, N.M.

WEDDING TRIP
For traveling to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a three-piece beige suit with matching accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple will reside at 1408 1/2 Virginia, Big Spring.

The bride is a graduate of Coahoma High School and is attending Howard County Junior College. The bridegroom graduated from Baird High School.

RECEPTION
Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the fellowship hall. Those in the receiving line were the bride and groom, parents and feminine attendants.

The refreshment table was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with the bride and attendant's bouquets. The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated in green, yellow, pink and blue confection roses and topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Baptist Women Meet Thursday

The Loyalty Sunday school class of Baptist Temple met for a party Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. J. C. Cravens, 1005 E. 15th. Mrs. E. T. White worded prayer, and Mrs. Robert Graham bought the devotion on friendship.

Reports were given concerning ill members, and promotions for the new year were discussed. Members presented Mrs. Cravens, class president, with a hanging basket containing a pepperoni plant.

The closing prayer was led by Mrs. A. W. Page, and refreshments were served to 11.

Line Baking Pan

It's a good idea to line the broiling or baking pan on which fish is to be cooked with aluminum foil; but be sure to grease the foil thoroughly or the fish will stick.

Chap. R. T. Deming Speaks At CWF Affair

Chaplain Robert T. Deming spoke on "They Also Love" at the business meeting and supper of the Christian Women's Fellowship Thursday evening at the First Christian Church.

Mrs. Harold Rosson, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, and Mrs. Allen Kernodle was in charge of worship. Sampy Wall sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. Bob Simpson at the piano.

The tables were arranged in a U-shape and were covered with white linen cloths and centered with green pewter vases holding orange and yellow fall flowers with green foliage. Streamers of ivy were placed on the table tops.

Hostesses were Mrs. Frank

Rice, Mrs. James L. Johnson, Mrs. Joe B. Johnson, Mrs. John Burgess and Mrs. Luther Bean.

Mrs. Curtis Driver presided and announced a $25 contribution to the Bible Fund, and plans were made to host a birthday party at the state hospital. Those who will serve are Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Bean, Mrs. Edison Taylor and Mrs. Wall.

Mrs. Don Williams will direct the party at the Westside Recreation Center later this month, and Mrs. Herman Smith was named September flower chairman.

Approximately 50 attended. Guests were members of the Snyder CWF, Chaplain and Mrs. Deming, Wall and the Rev. and Mrs. John Beard.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MRS. W. F. HOADLEY
If you were in the Officers' Open Mess this weekend during the anniversary celebration, you no doubt admired the handsome new addition to the Fireplace Room, the hand-carved mahogany pilot's wings which were recently hung above the mantle.

Maj. Joseph M. Powell, a dentist stationed here at Webb, is already well-known for the beautiful furniture he creates. However, these wings, his first venture into carving, have endeared him to us at Webb.

Regular all-day bridge and mah jongg were played Aug. 31 at the Officers' Open Mess. The winners at mah jongg were Mrs. Peter Bock, Mrs. James Hardman and Mrs. Michael Pido. In bridge, first place went to Mrs. James G. Delvin and Mrs. H. A. Hornbarger; second Mrs. E. A. Henningson and Mrs. W. L. Nelson; and third Mrs. J. L. Spermis and Mrs. R. L. Wiles and Mrs. P. A. McElroy were low.

Class 68-B, which graduated this weekend, held a dinner dance at the Ramada Inn Wednesday. During the festivities, each pilot received a

Garden Club Has Program On Trees

Mrs. W. D. Caldwell presented the program, "Bonza!," at the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Spaders Garden Club in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

Mrs. Caldwell discussed methods of growing cultured dwarf trees and the care and planting of the shrubs. Mrs. W. A. Miller presided, and Mrs. Kyle Cauble served as hostess.

Five attended. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Zack Gray, 1305 Pennsylvania humorous award, and Capt. and Mrs. Norman Little were special guests.

Maj. and Mrs. G. O. Smith traveled to their home in Arkansas over Labor Day.

A cool, enjoyable Labor Day at Rudoso, N.M., was spent by Capt. and Mrs. R. G. Morgan, Lt. and Mrs. Walter Putman and Lt. and Mrs. Glenn Perry. They enjoyed the mountain scenery and races.

Approximately 70 Webbittes, who decided to stay at home for a "safe and sane" holiday, gathered Saturday evening for the Chamute Drive Block Party. The idea for this unique get-together was conceived by Lt. Col. and Mrs. J. H. Van Pelt, Maj. and Mrs. G. D. Shaffer, Maj. and Mrs. M. J. Took and Capt. and Mrs. G. R. Helmech. Undaunted by the uncooperative weather, the guests feasted on a buffet dinner in the Shaffer's carport, then spent the evening dancing in the "roll-around ballroom," a moving van which Henry W. Bell of Mayflower kindly provided. Mr. and Mrs. George Grimes were guests of Maj. and Mrs. Shaffer.

On Sept. 30, the Officers' Wives Club is planning an outing for teenage patients at the State Hospital. Following a base tour, which Maj. J. L. O'Donnell has arranged, there will be a cook-out and games. Mrs. Eugene N. Bellevue, OWC State Hospital chairman, would appreciate donations of potato salad and volunteers to help serve food and supervise games. If you can help, call 263-1144.

Capt. and Mrs. J. C. Hussey hosted a bridge party Saturday. Their guests were Capt. and Mrs. G. Johnson, Capt. and Mrs. Lyle Burry and Capt. and Mrs. R. Castleton.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. E. W. Luby are back at Webb after a visit with his family in Illinois.

Iowa is the destination of Lt. and Mrs. G. K. Havens who plan a reunion with many family members.

Mrs. N. H. Stone has returned from a visit with friends in Phoenix, Ariz.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Keep Bread Fresh In Freezer Packs

Dear Heloise:
For those who live alone or who have very small families and do not eat much bread, here's a little trick I learned that saves me time and keeps the bread fresh.

When I bring a loaf home from the store, I put two or three slices of bread in little plastic sandwich bags and fold them over or staple them. Then I put all the bags in the crisper of my refrigerator.

When I need bread, I remove one envelope at a time and the rest is undisturbed. Mrs. A. S. K.

cover. Mrs. Gorrell

Dear Heloise:
Do you have a solution to iced tea becoming cloudy? This has plagued me for years.

Hope you can help. Reader

Let's ask our readers how they prevent it or correct it after it becomes cloudy. Sure would help those of us who work at church dinners and have to make tea ahead of time.

Write to us in care of The Herald and tell us your solution to this problem. We'd love to hear from you. Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER
Dear Heloise:
I have been making my own frozen dinners for several months now.

And out of this idea something else has evolved. I am losing weight much to my delight!

No seconds on the table to reach for and soon the old appetite trims down, too! "Overweight"

Dear Heloise:
When giving clothing items to a charitable group or putting them in a collection bin, be sure that all parts are fastened together with belts secured

MRS. ADRIAN LINN DE GRAFFENREID JR.

Miss Hibler Marries Adrian de Graffenreid

Miss Peggy Diane Hibler became the bride of Adrian Linn de Graffenreid Jr. in a double ring ceremony performed at 8 o'clock Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church at Austin. The Rev. Robert Ledbetter officiated.

Miss Laurie Posgate sang "The Song of Ruth" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by the organist, Mrs. A. L. Podio, who played selections including the bridal chorus from Lohengrin and "Marche Religieuse."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hibler T. Hibler of Austin, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. James Lee Hanson, 904 Johnson, and Adrian L. de Graffenreid Sr., 1208 Main.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a traditional gown of peau de soie and hand hand-clipped Chantilly lace accented by seed pearls. The Empire bodice featured a scalloped neckline and long-fitted sleeves ending in petal points over the wrists. The waist was marked by a narrow fold of peau de soie and finished at the back with a flat bow of the same fabric. A wide, fan-shaped cathedral train extended from the fold to form the back detailing, and her Swedish crown of pearls, crystals and Chantilly lace held a tiered illusion veil which fell to the waist.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white roses encircling a white orchid.

Mrs. Fred E. Davis was matron of honor, and Miss Patty Swanson of Arlington, Va., was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Diane Guy, and Miss Patricia Guy, both of Corpus Christi, and Miss Claire Peterson, Miss Mary Johnson and Mrs. W. T. Ley, all of Austin.

The attendants were gowned in lime green chiffon dresses designed with scooped necklines and elbow-length sleeves. A wide panel of the fabric formed the center front. Floating side panels draped to the back, forming a slight train. Details

Send Candy Gift In Lunch Box

Here is another idea for the homemaker who likes to send gifts of homemade candy by mail to friends or men in the armed services. Obtain the box you intend to send, either a cigar box (or even a children's lunch box), line with waxed paper, then plastic wrap. Pour the candy, while still warm, into the box and let it harden (using the box instead of a pan). The slab will fit the box perfectly — and you can score it rather deeply to enable portions—but not so deeply that cause jostling will be cut to it will crack in mailing. It will

OWC Luncheon Turns Into 'Summer Picnic'

"Summer's Last Picnic" was the theme for the September luncheon held Thursday by the Officer's Wives Club in the Officers' Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base.

Decorations carried out the picnic theme. Tables were laid with red-checked cloths and centered with ivy and imitation bugs. Columns were decorated as trees, and blue crepe paper formed the sky which held fleecy, cotton clouds. Kites and airplanes were suspended overhead. The head table was centered with a mass arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums.

Mrs. John O'Donnell worded the invocation, and Mrs. Ed Hennings presided. Mrs. T. B. Tompkins made the announcements, and guests and newcomers were welcomed by Mrs. William Lund.

Those welcomed were Mrs. R. R. Anderson of Class 68-G; Mrs. Jack E. Bailey, formerly of Ent Air Force Base; Mrs. Joseph R. Musulonas; Mrs. John B. Baker of Sheppard Air Force Base; and Mrs. Charles McLenon, formerly stationed at Libya.

Start With Art Prints In Fabrics

Art is in! With good reproductions of everything from old masters to "op" available to every budget, you don't have to be a millionaire to own a Matisse. The Textile Dye Institute suggests your favorite artist (print or painting) as the starting point to decorate a room.

If it's a "busy" painting, how about draperies in an unburied, solid-tone mood over window shades touched off with scallops of fringe? Whether you're dealing with yards of fabric or strips of trim, America's dye manufacturers work hard to produce quality dyes—colorfast to light and cleaning.

By LUCILLE PICKLE

At the last minute, LONNIE KEMP, Ackerly, had to cancel his plans to take part in the Old Timer's Reunion at Webb AFB Saturday. He was called to Waco to be with his mother who is to undergo surgery. He came here from San Antonio Sept. 1, 1942, on the eve of activation of the bombardier school. While stationed here he married MARY WOMACK. If that doesn't seem very long ago, then consider that their son, MIKE KEMP, is at Tulane University now working on his doctor of philosophy degree.

BILLY HILL, who retired from a career in the Marines to begin another with the Red Cross, was here last week with his wife and two children, Linda and Kirk, for a visit with his parents, MR. and MRS. ROBERT HILL. He has just completed a year of duty in Vietnam and came home with the greatest admiration for our servicemen over there. They appear to be the finest and best behaved crop of servicemen ever to represent this nation, he said. His new post will be in Alaska where he will be field director for the entire state.

TAYLOR SMITH has returned to Baylor University for his senior year at the Waco school. He is the son of MR. and MRS. VERNON SMITH.

MARY FRANCES MALONE, daughter of DR. and MRS. P. W. MALONE, plans to leave Monday for Bloomington, Ind., where she will continue her studies at the University of Indiana. Her father plans to fly her there, weather permitting.

MR. and MRS. J. D. LEONARD are expected to return here Tuesday from Durango, Colo., where they have spent 10 days.

The CECIL BELLS visited his brother in El Paso and also in Cloudcroft, N. M., while on their vacation.

Back from a three-weeks vacation are MR. and MRS. JAMES SUGGS who spent some time in Little Rock, Ark., with the Bobby Suggs family, and in Bethany, Okla., with the Billy Suggs family.

If the price of beef keeps going up I am going to be forced to go on a low beef diet. I thought it was about as high as it could go, but when stew meat goes to 90 cents a pound it's too high for us. If the steers ever learn to read they'll get as snooty as the hogs got when pork went out of reach. Wonder how no pork and no beef will be . . . might bring out an ingenious streak in us.

Weekend guests of the W. A. Bells were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Holkart of Lubbock.

Modernization Catches Up With 'Old' New Orleans

By HOUSTON HARTE
NEW ORLEANS—This city is changing with the rest of the world. If you are looking for progress along the old lines you will be disappointed. Rue Royale, the elite street through the so-called antique area of this unique American city, has lost much of its charm.

The big antique names are still there. Manheim, Rothchild, Feldman are there, but when you walk inside there is little to see and the quality of what remains demonstrates that antiques have disappeared.

There are dining room sets, but seldom with as many as eight chairs to match. Few of them show a pair of armchairs for their traditional positions at the head and foot of a table. When you are lucky enough to find out and look at the price, you learn that $1,500 is the least tag on an inferior armchair. No side chairs are marked less than $500.

sets of a little better quality than the majority of those sold now, but an ordinary one shown at Manheims at $8,000 causes deep reflection as you remember dining room furniture in a number of Texas homes you have visited. Texans have been good customers on Rue Royale.

Antiques — the quality kind — appear to be gone forever. Perry Feldman, one of the sons of the man who for years brought shiploads of furniture from Europe into this city and made Rue Royale famous over the world, says he knows a few aged artisans who can still work in mahogany and can copy some of the fine pieces he has in his own home.

SLOW WORK
It is a slow process, but he is getting some handsome Chippendale chairs and tables which he sells as reproductions. This, he says, is the finest furniture now being made in New Orleans. Twenty-five to 30 years from now these "reproductions" will have real value. He thinks every housewife knows it takes of how grease to give fine furniture the patina which is the mark of an antique.

He says the people who have traded on Rue Royale for the last 50 to 75 years have heirlooms that are priceless. "You can't create antiques," he says. All you can do now is to pay the price for the few excellent craftsmen left to copy the lines of Chippendale Empire and Heppelwhite and wait a half a century for it to age."

DOUGHTY BIRDS
The case of the Doughty Birds shows what has happened when one of the real artisans dies. For the last 35 to 40 years, Doughty Birds have been the beautiful creation of a single family in Cornwall, England.

Eight years ago the last of the family, Dorothy Doughty, died. It had been their custom to destroy each mold after a certain number of birds, with their respective environment, were cast. A few years ago — say 15 years ago — you could find a hundred or two of Doughty Birds along Royale Street.

Yesterday one showcase of not more than 10 to 15 birds could be seen. They were under lock and key as though they were jewels, which is what they are, and the price list had no bird offered for less than $2,500.

each. In the old days you could have had your pick for $250. If you have one or two, treasure them for there will never be any more Doughty Birds.

SKY THE LIMIT
Like a Rembrandt, the sky is the limit on the price. Give any you have to some loved one you know who appreciates their worth and will treasure them every day.

The oyster bars and the burlesque shows are on Bourbon Street, just one street from Royale. The Acme Bar, which has been in the same location for years, seemed as crowded in the last of August as in any month with an "R." The oysters were just the same, although not quite as large as I remember them. The story is the New Orleans bars import them from someplace in the world where you eat raw oysters in August.

The old restaurants are still flourishing. Antoine's had a full crowd, so we were told, if not the great queues of tourists wanting Oysters Rockefeller and Pompano in the sealed paper bags with the potatoes blown up a half-an-inch wide. There was Kolb's across Canal Street with its pork from pickled pigs feet to pork roast and steaming hot sauerkraut in August with the temperature in the humid high 90's.

BUSY BRENNANS
But the spot which, for the last 10 years, appears to have the business is Brennans. It has a beer garden in a back courtyard and room after room of small eating spaces where all its best food dishes are served with dispatch and with a price tag which demonstrates how attractive values bring them in even with "expense account" travelers. The crowds seem to say this is the best place on Rue Royale.

Like San Antonio, New Orleans needs a great urban renewal project, which will preserve the worthy and bulldoze the cheap and worthless. A project a mile from the present downtown area, is being gutted. Probably the tallest building west of Chicago is being erected and a whole new area is to be constructed on an 18-acre site. It may cause the renovation of the town without disrupting the French Quarter with its historic beauty and local color.

$8,000 TAG
There are some dining room

Sharp Drop In Building

Building permits issued during August reflected a sharp drop in construction during the month. Only $71,965 in permits were recorded, slightly over half of the $139,684 listed for July.

January remains the high for the year with $449,310 in permits recorded. To date, $1,236,491 is registered, far below the $1,953,203 of last year.

Homer Ward, plumbing and electrical inspector, issued 40 electrical permits, 21 plumbing permits, 12 gas permits, collected $320.50 in fees and made 165 inspections.

Money collected for three sewer taps totaled $127.50; three water taps were made for $385. No pro rata payments were made.

A total of 23 building permits cost owners $141.50 in fees, 54 inspections were made and one zoning board case was heard, according to Tom Newton, building inspector. By category the permits are: three for new commercials, $31,000; 13 additions, $13,100; three remodels, $26,600; one sign, $300; one move, $425; one demolishing, $250; one metal awning, $300.

Texas Electric Service Company purchased a permit for $26,000 to remodel a building at 108 N. Goliad. Big Spring Independent School District bought one for $18,000 for a new structure; Henry A. Thames, 1001 W. 3rd, was issued a $9,000 permit for construction of a new business building.

The Evolution of Pharmacy

By Bill R. Spain, R. Ph.

Ancient Babylonian tablets, recently discovered, often called for a form of application other than a poultice... prepared from oil of cedar and finely ground up bones. (Frequently human bones were used.)

There was also a mention of solutions or lotions to be used as an eye wash consisting of alkaline salt dissolved in water.

Just a mention this week for the ladies. We have a complete line of "Allercreme" hypo-allergenic cosmetics. These very fine cosmetics are priced sensibly at our usual low discount level.

For accurate inexpensive prescription service, it's...

- the drained cooked beans
- 1 lb. salt pork (scalded, rind scraped)
- 2 slices onion

Combine the following and pour over the beans:

- 1/3 cup molasses
- 1/3 tsp. pepper
- 2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. dry mustard

Add just enough bean liquid to cover beans. Cover pot, bake 8 hours in a slow oven (300°). Remove cover last half of baking, draw pork to top, and add a little boiling water if the beans seem dry. Serve hot with steaming hot brown bread. About 10 servings.

A Devotional For The Day

How excellent is thy lovingkindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings. (Psalms 36:7)

PRAYER: Forgive me, O God, for those times when I have looked elsewhere rather than to Thee for salvation. Help me to look to Thee in trust for delivery. In Christ's name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Revitalizing Rural America

Rep. Omar Burleson, the congressman representing our district, has come up with a thoughtful question on the complexities of our times which seems to us to be deserving of considerable meditation.

Congressman Burleson asks why, with so much national emphasis on finding solutions for the mounting problems of the big cities, isn't some attention also being given to revitalizing rural America.

"The rural people, in their independence," Burleson commented, "have been one of the most important factors in making our nation great. People's interest in their local institutions—their churches, their schools, their concern for the welfare of their neighbor, recreation and cultural improvement—is the foundation of good government and good living."

Many other people have become concerned with the rural life, and that in the small towns, so many of which are growing smaller. Perhaps metropolitan and rural problems are related, since the mass migration of people affects both.

But, give the final death throes to the small towns and an important basis of this nation's strength will have been wasted away. They were for so many years the real heart of the country.

But Burleson notes that a brief 25 years ago Texas was approximately 75 per cent rural and small town. Today, it is about 75 per cent urban.

None can deny that there is a more leisurely pace to small town living, and more interdependence among the people themselves, a closer interest in the local institutions; and, frankly, generally a more wholesome atmosphere for the rearing of families.

But these towns need to retain at least enough population—and with it, income—to be able to maintain their schools and their local government, to support their churches, and to reach for some of the finer aspects of modern living.

Agriculture, of course, has changed that small towns can no longer be just farm and ranch centers. The decline of railroad service has done none of them any good. They must look to other areas.

Congressman Burleson is interested in incentives to make it possible for small town people to stay in small towns if they like the life there. The big problem, of course, is jobs.

He is interested in legislation before Congress which would give a tax break for industrial plants locating in small towns. One bill would increase the normal 7 per cent credit on machinery to 14 per cent if a rural site were involved. Also provided is stepped-up depreciation. To guard against unfair treatment to other cities, the tax break would go only to a new operation—not to one re-locating from another site.

The issue of saving at least a degree of rural America may not be the most pressing one before the nation today. But it is vital on down through the years, and some interest needs to be taken in it.

Such organizations as chambers of commerce and industrial foundations could do well to pursue such a program as Congressman Burleson has brought to public attention.

The Not Infallible Index

Metropolitan area population growth is not necessarily an indication of prosperity—that depends on income, employment and other factors—but it is an indication of increasing urban problems.

That urban Texas faces exceptional difficulties, however, is suggested by these two facts: Generally, this state's metropolitan areas are increasing in population as fast as those in the rest of the nation, but Texas' per capita income increase is not keeping up with the national rise.

Texas metropolitan areas whose population gain was above the national average included Amarillo, Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Galveston-Texas City, Houston, Laredo, Lubbock, McAllen-Pharr-Edinburg, San Angelo, San Antonio and Texarkana. Those below the national average were Abilene, Beaumont - Port Arthur, Brownsville, Corpus Christi (7.2 per cent), Midland, Odessa, Tyler, Waco and Wichita Falls.

Obviously some of those with high population growth may be less prosperous, like Laredo, while some with low population growth may be among the more prosperous, such as Midland and Odessa. Desirable growth must be economically healthy growth.

For the state as a whole, however, the point is that Texas' urban centers are growing as fast as those of the nation as a whole, but this state's per capita income is lagging behind the national average. That simply means that Texas' urban problems will intensify seriously unless the state's economic growth can be substantially accelerated.

Uncle John's Cabin

CHICAGO — The New Left just held a meeting in Chicago and set back radicalism by 20 years. The original idea of the meeting was for it to help unite all the left-wing organizations under one banner and start a third party to defeat President Johnson in 1968.

But before anyone realized what was happening, a minority of militant black power delegates took over the conference, and the majority of white delegates found themselves giving in to every demand made of them by the likes of Rap Brown, Floyd McKissick and James Foreman.

THE BLACK POWER people told the white delegates either to see v-

Billy Graham

In one of your sermons you said the Ten Commandments are still for us. Didn't the Cross change that?

S.F. The Ten Commandments are still God's moral law which shows up our sinfulness and our complete inability to live by that law in our own strength. The change which the Cross makes is that on that Cross our Lord fulfilled the law, taking the penalty for sin and offering us, by faith, the privilege of receiving His righteousness as our own. It is by the Law, expressed in the Ten Commandments, that we know what sin is. It is by this same Law that we realize our own helplessness. This should drive us to the Saviour who has done everything necessary for our salvation. — Trying to keep the Ten Commandments will not save us — for we cannot keep them. Our salvation is the result of God's grace and is received by us by faith. The Ten Commandments have been likened to a mirror — we see ourselves for the sinners we really are. At the same time, after we have accepted Christ as Saviour we should try, by His help, to live lives consistent with the teachings of the Ten Commandments. For the Christian, idolatry is unthinkable. So too are adultery, stealing, murder, false witnessing, etc. The moral Law has never been revoked. It is for all men of all times.

"YOU'VE GOT to give us time. That's all we ask for."
"It's too late, boy. The only thing we can do with you now is to burn down your house."
"I was going to suggest that myself."
"Well, we really don't give a damn one way or the other, but if you want to get involved you can support our program."
"Of course I will. What is it?"
"IMPEACHMENT of the President, free guns in the ghettos, the abolition of the Supreme Court and the overthrow of the U.S. government."
"There's nothing in there I couldn't support."
"But let's get something straight, boy. This is our show. We don't want you stealing it away from us."
"PLEASE DON'T reject me. The only thing I can't take is rejection."
"Get off your knees, boy. You're embarrassing me."
"I've still got this other shoe to do."
"Well, hurry up and finish the shine. I've got to go back into the meeting."

Auto Strike Fly In Economic Ointment

MIXED SIGNS

- Output of cars skids as Ford first to be shut down
- President fears prolonged halt would damage economy
- Despite signs of inflation, surcharge seen as brake
- Unemployment down, but so are capital expenditure plans
- Construction rises third successive month, steel gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Assembly lines ground to a halt in Ford Motor Co. plants across the country this past week when the United Auto Workers Union called its long-expected strike.

General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. continued operations on a day-to-day basis although their union contracts expired along with Ford's at midnight Wednesday.

Ford and UAW negotiators were far apart on the issues involved when the strike deadline arrived, and indications were that the strike would be a long one.

The union had picked Ford as its target company for negotiations on a contract which would set a pattern for the rest of the industry.

The strike pulled 150,000 UAW members off their jobs at plants in 25 states and halted production as Ford was moving full speed into its 1968 model output.

If the strike is prolonged, its effects would spread into the steel, railroad and trucking industries upon which the automakers rely heavily for materials and transportation.

WOULD DAMAGE President Johnson has said he feared the strike would damage the nation's economy.

The main issues between the union and the companies include a general wage increase, an additional increase for skilled tradesmen, a guaranteed annual income, pay parity for Canadian auto workers, and higher pensions.

Workers in the automobile industry as a whole average $3.41 an hour with benefits paid by Ford, General Motors and Chrysler raising their workers to $4.70 an hour.

Ford made an offer which it figured amounted to a minimum increase of 36 cents an hour over three years for a typical production worker.

The company estimated that union demands would amount to $4 additional hourly.

Ford said the walkout would cost its striking workers a total of $5.2 million a day in wages, or about $33 per striker.

The UAW has a strike fund of $76 million to pay benefits of $20 to $40 weekly.

The strike had an immediate impact on automobile production, cutting Ford's output this past week to 13,92 cars. Industry output was estimated at 115,400, down 17 per cent from last week.

HALTS RISE Auto production in August rose 91 per cent to 280,305 cars from 146,549 a year earlier, when the start on new models was later. Sales in August fell 15 per cent to 518,970 cars from 607,622 in August 1966.

The Johnson administration said this past week that its forecast of "a strong economic expansion" in the second half of this year and into 1968 had been confirmed by "every recent piece of economic information."

It added that the latest economic statistics also provided an "unwelcome but convincing indication of inflationary pressures ahead."

But, the report continued, with the 10 per cent income tax surcharge sought by the administration "there is good prospect of keeping the growth of demand within a pace that can be matched by production."

On the other hand, a report that businesses again have reduced their planned capital spending increase for this year was considered ammunition for opponents of a tax boost.

The Commerce Department estimated capital outlays for this year at $62.03 billion, up 2.3 per cent from the record $60.63 billion in 1966. But this gain would be far short of the 16.7 per cent increase last year.

The Labor Department reported that the unemployment rate fell in mid-August to 3.8 per cent from the labor force from 3.9 per cent in mid-July. It said this was evidence of renewed economic expansion.

BUILDING UP Jobsless persons totaled 2,942,000 in August, compared with 3,255 million in July. The employment total dipped to 76.17 million from 76,221,000.

Construction spending rose in July for the third consecutive month, according to the Commerce Department. The $7.4-billion annual rate was up from $7.4 billion in June and $7.1 billion July 1966.

Steel production last week increased 1.1 per cent to 2,428,000 tons from 2,401,000 tons the previous week.

Around The Rim

It Was A Beautiful Wedding . . .

Let's face it, about the most important occasion in the life of a couple of people—their wedding—has become big business. Nature being what it is, the more young people, the more weddings.

That population explosion that we saw hit the grade schools, then the high schools, next the colleges, must have by now reached into the marital age. And the young people are marching to the altar in such numbers that weddings, like Santa Claus and the Easter bunny, have gotten so involved that they take a lot of organizing and direction.

ONE METROPOLITAN newspaper the other day reported that the ceremonies were being held in such rapid succession at the larger churches that many guests were getting into the wrong affair, and were unaware of their mistake until it was too late to sneak out.

Well, they got to see a beautifully decorated sanctuary, a lovely bride and a stalwart groom, and got to hear a ritual that sounds binding. These characteristics apply to all weddings.

BACK TO the business side of getting married. I was a little shook to read an ad by a Dallas store (or THE Dallas store, if you prefer) announcing that it has no less than ten people trained and assigned to helping young couples embark on the sea of matrimony. From the day the young lady accepts the proposal, this staff will handle all details, through the honeymoon and into the matter of setting up housekeeping.

THERE IS A "honeymoon captain" who apparently plans the whole trip; a linens spokesman, who puts the girl on the right track with her selection; a stationery counselor, who arranges the invitations, the thank-you notes and all the rest; a trousseau organizer, who sees to it that the bride-to-be has just everything she needs and all of that just right; a reception planner, who puts together the traditional party; a photographer who specializes in making wedding pictures; a dining room counselor, who must see to it that the newlyweds start a new life with the proper china and silver; a bridal gown connoisseur, who is just what the phrase says; a "first-step" consultant, who, obviously after determining that the kids don't want to back out, or elope, takes them in hand and steers them along the appointed course. And to top it off, there's a groom's guide. Most grooms I ever knew or heard about could have done with a guide.

IF A CREW like that can't see that a wedding goes off according to the etiquette book, there's not much hope for the institution of marriage.

What all this presumes, of course, is that the couple is ready, willing and able to go first-class. There have been some young people who got the knot tied before a justice of the peace, and did very well thereafter, thank you.

THERE ARE others who respond to the call of an elopement, and still others who are happy with a modest home wedding, with just the family attending.

But the big wedding is the thing. There seemed to be an omission in that there was nobody to handle financial counseling. This leaves the poor father of the bride, who hopes that he, in turn, can find a friendly banker.

Responsibility Of Cities

WASHINGTON — A most significant example of how easily public opinion in America is misinformed—if not misled—is the impression prevalent today because the federal government is unwilling to spend 40 million dollars to control rats.

On the surface it might seem that Congress is indifferent about the hazards to people from rat bites and the damage to property that can come from the what appears to be a "population explosion" of rats. When Congress refused to grant the request by President Johnson that 40 million dollars be spent over a two-year period for rat control, the idea somehow spread across America that the problems of the cities are being neglected, even though the great proportion of the estimated 90 million rats of the country are in rural areas.

ARE THE TOWNS, cities and counties going to sit back and expect the federal government to do their jobs for them? Rats are not a new phenomenon, and methods of controlling them have been available for many decades. The fact is that some major cities, like Detroit and Milwaukee, have rat-control programs and have substantially reduced the incidence of rat bites. Disease developing from rat bites has been virtually eliminated in many of these cities.

IT WAS THE feeling of Congress that local communities with a rat problem should be responsible for the handling of it. If Congress were to be required to take care of the prevention of rat bites, there are plenty of other bites — from cats, dogs, pigs and horses — which could give the federal government an interminable responsibility.

EXPERIENCE HAS shown that the most efficient means of fighting rats is a program of starvation and poisoning. The first step — already a part of the sanitation code of most cities and towns — is that all garbage and discarded food shall be stored or disposed of only in metal containers with tight-fitting covers. Once food is made unavailable, hungry rats will eat certain poisons which are harmless to humans and other animals but are effective against rats.

THERE IS ONE function in all this for the federal government. It is to make studies and provide guidance. Three federal programs dealing with the rat problem already are in existence. The Department of the Interior studies rat-control methods, and gives information on the subject, in a project costing 27 thousand dollars a year. The Public Health Service spends 229 thousand dollars annually on research into rats, and the General Services Administration uses 200 thousand dollars a year to get rid of rats in federal buildings.

IT IS ESTIMATED that it costs about 600 thousand dollars per hundred thousand of human population to exterminate rats, or six dollars per person. Thus, a federal program of only 20 million dollars a year would have little effect on the 90 million rats. If, however, every city fulfilled its job of rat control, the cost would be spread throughout the municipalities of the country. Experts say that if cities enforced ordinances requiring the proper handling of garbage, and then carried on a program of poisoning, the rat problem would disappear.

THE FUROR over rats is an illustration of how easily cities can forsake their own responsibilities and begin to rely on the federal government for everything. The finger of blame on rat control needs to be pointed not at Congress but at those cities which have neglected to institute programs known to be effective in getting rid of rats.

Progress In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS — For sheer, soaring triumph of form nothing approaching it has come out of this century. So many monuments are dull, spiritless, cookie-cutter notions that the Gateway Arch must seem a miraculous accident thrust up on the levee of the great river flowing past this old city.

FOR THE ARCH was no accident. Civic-minded citizens in this city with its conservative background pushed and pulled and prodded, beginning in 1935, to get Federal and local funds to bring off a great Jefferson National Expansion Memorial monument. They had the imagination and the courage after the first steps were taken to project a competition for the best design. The result was the arch, instead of a dreary assemblage of sculpture or the discovery of the father of waters with attendant Indians and trappers.

IN ONE LEG of the arch the train that runs to the top is in operation and visitors stand in line for three or four hours for the ascent in eight small cars that look like space capsules. When the second train is operating the pressure will be somewhat relieved. In practical terms as a tourist attraction, however, the arch cannot be discounted, as hotels, motels and apartment houses go up on the once-desolate river front.

A LOT OF THE desolation is still there, since St. Louis along with almost every other American community abandoned its waterfront to industry, now largely decayed as the movement from the core city has accelerated, and to ancient dwellings deteriorating into slums. It is a poignant commentary on the pressures of the war and inflation that, while the arch has been completed, Congress has denied the money even to complete the landscaping, to say nothing of the museum and the theaters to be installed in the base.

THE RUBBLE and the disarray along the levee that Mark Twain described so vividly in the heyday of the steamboat underscore how far the cities of America must go if "beautification" is to mean more than planting a few daffodils along the highways. The contrast with Europe's cities is so sharp. In Paris the Seine is the focus of the city's splendor. The Thames embankment in London is a source of pleasure for strollers and sitters.

Put this down to the euphoria of the returning native, yet for all that remains to be done St. Louis is nevertheless on the upswing. It may be the Cardinals, who are leading the National League by 10 or 11 games. A rip-roaring baseball town, St. Louis has the fans to pack the handsome new Busch Stadium to cheer on their team.

IT MAY BE the gusty, gutsy mayor, Alfonso Cervantes, who almost daily goes into the ghetto to meet and talk with people on the streets.

It happens to be one of the cities with a large Negro population—estimated above 30 per cent—that has not been afflicted with rioting. No one is quite sure why, nor is anyone inclined to boast. Squallid housing, a high percentage of joblessness among the young in the slums, inadequate transportation to job areas — all the factors are here, as in every American city.

Up to 15 per cent of the police are Negroes, Cervantes says. This has been a phenomenally cool summer.

There may be inspiration in that soaring monument on the levee. As a kind of gleaming man-made rainbow, it gives the city a new identity.

Savings With U.S. Stamps

Many Big Spring schools offer U.S. Savings Stamps as a part of the program to encourage thrift. Frank Hardesty, postmaster, said Saturday.

He has just been commended by Glenn R. Johnson, national director of the U.S. Savings Bond program for his leadership in encouraging and boosting the Savings Stamp program locally.

In a letter to Hardesty, Johnson said:

"Today the school savings program is more important than ever. Our children are growing up in a world of tension and conflict. The challenges they must face are increasing. If they are to reap the full benefits of their American heritage, they must be prepared to meet these challenges; they must be given positive goals for themselves and their country. The school savings program not only serves to teach the habit of thrift but to prepare our young people for some of the responsibilities they have as American citizens."

Hardesty said the schools cooperating in the program offer the stamps in five denominations from 10 cents to $5. These are on sale all the time at the post office and on "stamp day" at schools.

Little arms reach up, I stoop and lift the precious weight of baby son into my arms and smell his sweetness. Prayers of praise and thanks fill my heart.

Cuddling him close, I remember the night of his birth when Mary and I were told that our baby could not live until daybreak. How we prayed in those early morning hours, holding hands and clinging fast to our belief that God in His goodness would spare our son. How grateful we were for the courage and strength God's love and nearness supplied. How glad we were for the Church where we had learned to love and worship the God who gives us all life.

Do you wonder that Sunday morning finds us both in church joyfully worshipping and giving thanks to God?

Attend the church of your choice. Whatever your need, it stands ready to help.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE ARTS

Midlander's Works To Be Displayed At Fall Meet

By WINNIE UNGER

A selection of works by Preston W. Doyle of Midland, director of the Saint-Laurent Gallery and School of Art, will be on exhibit at the Cosden Country Club Sept. 19, 7 p.m., when the Big Spring Art Association has its first fall meeting. In the collection will be mixed polyester media landscapes, seascapes, sculpture, in a representative assortment of his works.

Doyle will discuss "New Trends in Art" for the art group and interested persons who attend the dinner. Reservations may be acquired by calling Mrs. Don Bohannon, 267-2432, Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw, 267-8513, or Mrs. Paul Bruns, 267-8016. Price is $1.75 per plate. Deadline is Friday, Sept. 15.

Doyle is a member of American Federation of Arts. He taught at William and Mary College, Frederick College, and the Interlochen Arts Academy prior to coming to Midland. He now has paintings on exhibit at The Blue Door, Taos, N. M., and showings scheduled late in the year in New York and Paris.

The Big Spring Art Association is making an appeal for local artists and collectors to submit paintings for a school circuit of art works. All that is necessary is to call Mrs. Paul Bruns, 267-8016, or any club member, and the paintings will be picked up, rotated among the elementary schools, and returned to the owners next May. Youngsters are especially interested and responsive to art, and this program deserves some support.

Some 18th and 19th century bultos (statues), 19th century paintings on tin plated panels, and five Mexican Colonial canvases are on exhibit in Midland's Museum of the Southwest. These Mexican iconographic art forms have almost vanished from the Americas. Some were the finished product of an Academy-trained craftsman in Mexico City, and others were turned out by rural self-taught image-makers.

Also in Midland, at the Saint-Laurent Gallery and School of Art, 102 S. "G" St., is a collection of works with emphasis on the Southwest, reflecting the wide variety of subject matter to be found in this region. Many are landscapes in the new polyester media by Preston Doyle, director of the gallery. Both exhibits will run through September.

"Annie Get Your Gun" will open the Permian Playhouse season Sept. 15 in Odessa, with a five-weekend run scheduled.

Snyder's Diamond M Foundation Amateur Art Show scheduled for Oct. 22-29 at the new Scurry County Coliseum has obtained Peter Hurd, New Mexico painter, to be juror. The other artist-juror will be Emily Guthrie Smith of Fort Worth. Registration (paintings only) will be Oct. 19 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Hurd's protege and neighbor, painter John Meigs, will juror the Midland Arts Association Fall Regional Arts and Crafts Exhibition to begin Oct. 15-21 at the Midland County Exhibit building. This show will register entries Oct. 12, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Categories include paintings in all media, graphics, photography, all crafts, textiles and sculpture.

Startling wild animals, funny clowns, they make up some of the main appeal of the Shrine Circus, which appears in Big Spring Monday. The big show also includes any number of other acts, including aerial acrobats, trapeze artists, elephants, horses — all the circus attractions. The big show will be at the Rodeo Arena, with performances at 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. The sponsoring Big Spring Shrine Club is expecting sellout crowds, since many merchants have purchased tickets to be distributed to children. Proceeds go to finance the various Shrine philanthropies.

Golf Story Opens Today

A group of Hollywood's most aggressive, enthusiastic and talented young players brings "Banning," photographed in Technicolor, to the screen of the Ritz Theatre today. Starring Robert Wagner, Anjanette Comer, Jill St. John, Guy Stockwell, James Farentino and Sean Garrison, it is an explosive drama that builds suspensefully to a surprising romantic climax.

The story opens when Wagner, as Mike Banning, a professional golfer, arrives at the country club and uses individuals indebted to him to get the job of assistant pro, displacing Farentino who was next in line for the position. "Banning" is the alias he uses to cover his previous career which was marred by an unsavory incident in a tournament in another part of the country.

Raquel Welch Has Lead In 'Fathom'

With Raquel Welch in the title role, co-starring with Tony Franciosa, "Fathom," action-adventure drama, opens Thursday at the Ritz Theatre in CinemaScope and DeLuxe Color. Film rights have been obtained to a new series of thriller novels by British author Larry Forrester, whose central character is the glamorous and adventuresome Fathom, an international heroine engaged in both counterespionage and the war against organized crime.

The first of these novels is to be published by William Heinemann, Ltd., London. However, "Fathom" is introduced to the screen in a film based on Forrester's second book — "Fathom Heavensent" — which is still in the draft stage. The reason for starting off the film series with Forrester's second book is that its story involves the dangerous and spectacular sports of skydiving, which is rapidly gaining popularity throughout the world.

Widmark Stars With Patch

As a hard-bitten Confederate officer in "Alvarez Kelly," in which he stars with William Holden at the Jet Theatre in Panavision and color, Richard Widmark wears an eye-patch throughout the film; his cheek also shows the stitch-marks of a sewn-together wound. In the course of the release, in which Holden plays a renegade adventurer bringing up cattle from the Rio Grande, Holden is kidnapped by Widmark and "persuaded" to help get the herd to starving Richmond instead of to the U. S. Army. The persuasion consists of having one of Holden's fingers shot off, and promising he will thus lose a finger daily until there are no more, or until he agrees to help the guerrillas.

Body Of Teen Found

TYLER (AP) — The body of David Allen Chaney, 19, of Winona, Tex., was found beside Texas 155 about 10 miles north of Tyler shortly before 5 a.m. Friday. Sheriff's deputies said a heavy truck apparently ran over him.

1968 Chevrolet Pickup Trucks

A wider selection of V-8 power, more colorful and comfortable interiors and additional safety items as standard equipment are offered in the 1968 Chevrolet pickup truck line. The models are now being shown locally at Pollard Chevrolet, 1501 E. 4th St.

vision of the road. The rear window has been enlarged to nearly twice its former size. The V-8s are offered, including a new 307 cu. in., 200-hp, standard engine and an optional 310-hp version of the 296 cu. in. V-8 available for the first time in regular pickups.

BEING SHOWN BY POLLARD

More Power, Attractive Design Mark Chevy Trucks

In meeting current trends, the 1968 Chevrolet truck line features continued functional styling, more powerful V-8 engines, more attractive cab interiors, a redesigned city delivery series and a wider variety of optional equipment.

The trucks are on display at Pollard Chevrolet, 1501 E. 4th St.

The clean angular styling is continued on light-duty conventional cab models, with new paint treatment to give a more massive effect to the front end. Rear visibility is improved with a standard rear window nearly twice as large as in previous models and one of the largest in the industry. The forward line-of-sight visibility to the road directly ahead of the front wheels also is among the best in the field.

New standard equipment features of the 1968 truck line include extension of backup lights to all light- and medium-duty cab models, nylon cord tires on all but 1/2-ton models and Chevy-Vans and Sportvans; side marker lamps or reflectors, clearance and identification lights on all conventional models over 90 inches wide, and exhaust emission control systems on gasoline engines used in 1/2-ton and dual-purpose models.

Included among new options are a dual-master cylinder self-adjusting brake system for the medium-duty line; a full line of wide-base nylon cord tires for light-duty models; rear leaf springs for 1/2- and 3/4-ton light-duty conventional models, and a wider choice of engines, transmissions, and axles. Conventional cab models feature many improvements for 1968. They include as standard equipment such items as rounded edge window cranks, dual padded sunshades, yielding shank window control handles, deflecting door lock remote handles, pushbutton seat belt buckles, larger low profile control knobs, and recessed ignition switch and cigar lighter.

More power is offered in light-duty conventional models

'I Didn't Want To Kill The Boy'

FORT WORTH (AP) — "I didn't want to kill the boy—he was one of my best friends," said the young ex-convict, charged in the August knife slaying of Ernest Silva, 26.

"I pulled a steak knife from my belt and started cutting on Ernest. I closed my eyes and don't remember how many times I cut him, but I just started cutting and stabbing."

Roy Meza Jr., 25, blurted out the story to investigators and newsmen Thursday, more than a week after Silva's mutilated body was found in a North Side alley.

A medical examiner said the former Waco convict had been stabbed and slashed 98 times.

Meza said Silva had threatened his brother's life after a midnight drinking spree Aug. 28, and the two, Meza and Silva, stepped from a car into a darkened alley.

Meza said he heard a rattle and attacked Silva because he thought he had a knife. He was jailed without bond.

with two V-8s not previously available. One is a new 307 cu. in. engine developing 200 hp., and the other is a new 310 hp. version of the 296 cu. in. V-8. The 307 replaces the former 283 cu. in. engine as the standard V-8 in light-duty models.

The improvement in cab interiors and comfort, larger V-8 engines, improved transmissions and other chassis advances in the light-duty line are of special importance in the expanding truck camper market. The dual-purpose Suburban with capacity for eight persons and excellent for trailer towing because of its durable chassis, has the same interior and chassis improvements as the light truck line. More interior colors are offered and a bucket seat option with center console and front compartment carpeting is new for 1968.

In the medium-duty line, the 366 cu. in. V-8 is increased to 235 hp. A new 427 cu. in. V-8 with 260 hp., the highest powered gasoline engine ever offered in Chevrolet trucks, is available as an option in the light-heavy series.

4 Negroes Face Cop Beating Rap

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Four persons were arrested and charged with murder Friday in connection with the July 16 fatal beating of patrolman John V. Gleason Jr.

Gleason was killed during the rioting in Plainfield, about 20 miles southwest of Newark.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

Petrified Trees Abound In Texas

By ED SYERS

It took quite some million years, they tell me, to petrify that five-foot diameter stump and tree-trunk ruin, west at Van Horn. Asked if we had others, and where, I used some time, too—choppin' and no chips flyin' . . . until you checked in. Can't list all; try these samples:

Cities Service chief surveyor Irving H. Webb of Bartlesville, Okla., collected specimens while a Texas Aggie cavalry cadet in the late '20s, all south and west of College Station. Granbury's V. F. Meyer advises many a Glen Rose building has employed the infinitely aged wood for building rock.

Waco's M. A. Jeffrey tells of "quite a stretch of petrified palm near Three Rivers, in such abundance that they haul it to San Antonio for a good price. There's an elderly gentleman at a Whitsett who sells white palm, quite rare. No one knows his secret of just where the exact location . . . McMullen and Live Oak Counties."

Fort Worth's L. V. Hamill Jr. reports: "North of Eagle Pass on US 277, 3-5 miles on the Rio Grande side, is a good stand of petrified tree trunks, some standing, some fallen . . . only 100 feet or so off the road, easily visible."

And finally Fort Worth's O. C. Schmidt quotes from the precise German geologist, Ferdinand von Roemer, who journeyed Texas in 1845, wrote of our land in detail. Near Wheelock, east of Waco, the scientist found much fossil wood . . . and noted earlier English historian William Kennedy's suspicion of petrified forest-remnants in our state. Conclusion?

WHILE ROCKHOUDING "Whenever anyone mentions rock - hunting," says Austin's Mignon Wagner, "my ears stand straight up! If OBT readers are interested in becoming amateur rockhounds . . ." She then lists 42 clubs welcoming beginners (listing would take the column), and one's near you. To find yours, write Mrs. R. H. Peters, 2908 California, Wichita Falls, 76304, secretary, Texas Federation of Mineral Societies, Inc.

Upcoming rock shows (to dazzle you and teach the family fun hobby) are Houston, Sept. 22-24; Waco, Sept. 23-24.

And Round Rock's John D. Robertson asks of a different rock — for building: Cordova Cream and Cordova Shell, which you see in many Texas homes. He thinks his location has the last of it. Does it?

CHISUM TRAIL

Recently, in-the-middle OBT carried Trail Driver documentation that fabled Chisholm Trail ended at the Red on Texas feeder routes; was the Sooners' property, not ours.

Not so, vehemently declare Odessa's Mrs. Lorene Drake, Blum's historian Ray McDearmon, Yoakum's A. Williams, who all regard Oklahoma's as "the upper trail"; Texas, the lower or Southern prong . . . and they toss in some trail markers, too.

As your granddaddy used to say, seems we purely disagree.

I feel kind of like Fort Worth's fifth generation Mrs. Hazel Buckley (who knows all about Jesse Chisholm's trail - blaving wagon tracks) and yet asks how we know but what the song (sung, trail - riding, before it was printed) might not have been for great Texas cattleman John Chisum and his jingiebob, out of Paris, east to west. Let's pretend, a moment.

You rein in alongside that flank rider, "Partner, spell me that song you're singin'."

Reckon you'd have got a 'Chisholm' or a 'Chisum'?

What say, we just divvy with the Sooners before we stampede the herd?
