Hippeland Action

Negro Held In Slayings

NEW YORK (AP) — A 26-year-old laborer was charged today with the murders of the teenage daughter of a wealthy Greenwich, Conn. family and a young man, whose nude bodies were found in a hippeland tenement Sunday after an LSD party, police said.

Donald Ramsey, who lives in the building, was arrested and charged with killing the couple in the boiler room of the tenement.

Police said their questioning of guests at the party had led them to Ramsey.

Rape, Robbery Raps

Also arrested was the man who found the bodies, Freddie Wright, assistant superintendent of the five-story building. He was charged with rape and robbery, police said, after a 25-year-old woman at the party, also being questioned, said he had attacked her and stolen $3 following the party.

The bodies of the slain couple, the man tattooed and long-haired, were found face down on a concrete floor. Their heads had been battered and blood stains were on the floor and walls.

Nude Bodies Battered

The girl was identified by a stepsister as Linda Fitzpatrick, 18, daughter of Irving Fitzpatrick, president of the Knickerbocker Mills, a tea and spice import firm at Totowa, N.J. Her home was a 30-room mansion.

The man, who had a police record in both New York City and New England, was identified as James Leroy Hutchinson, 21, of Central Falls, R.I.

By late Sunday night some 50 detectives working on the case had questioned more than 100 persons in the lower East Side area.

Couple's Clothes Folded

Near the victims lay a brick wrapped in a pair of men's trousers. The couple's clothing lay folded on the floor near the door.

Dr. Elliott M. Gross, who performed the autopsies, said the couple died of multiple blows on the head "with a blunt instrument consistent with the brick."

Gross said he was unable to determine immediately if the girl had been raped.

Hutchinson kept a room nearby on 11th Street, police said.

The Fitzpatrick girl's family said she was attending school in New York but did not identify the school.

Alcoholism Rule Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether chronic alcoholics can be punished for public drunkenness.

Set for argument and decision later this term was an appeal from Texas backed by the American Civil Liberties Union. It contended that conviction of chronic alcoholics for being drunk in a public place is a form of cruel and unusual punishment barred by the 8th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Last year the court refused to rule on the subject in a California case. Two U.S. circuit courts—in Richmond, Va., and the District of Columbia—have held that chronic alcoholics cannot be convicted of public drunkenness.

Teen Rescues Girl

SOUTH BAY, Fla. (AP) — A teenaged girl plunged into the waters of a 25-foot deep canal Sunday and rescued a 3-year-old girl from a sinking car that carried the child's mother and grandparents to their deaths.

The rescuer, Paula Scoggins, 14, of Miami, said a woman handed the baby out of the window of the car and cried "Save her! We can't swim!" as the car sank to the bottom of the murky water.

Miss Scoggins swam to the bank, about 15 yards away, handed blonde Laura Ann Schick to her boyfriend and swam back to try and save the other occupants.

Ministers Face Jail

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to re-examine the contempt of court convictions of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and seven other Negro ministers who led desegregation demonstrations in Birmingham in 1963.

This means Dr. King, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and the other ministers can be jailed at once.

Last June the court affirmed by a 5-4 vote the convictions of the eight ministers for holding the Good Friday and Easter Sunday demonstrations in violation of an Alabama court order.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Legal Defense and Educational Fund petitioned the court to reconsider. In July, Justice Potter Stewart, who had written the majority opinion, ordered the five-day jail sentences and $50 fines delayed until the court returned from recess and considered the petition.

Supplies For Con Thien

A giant U.S. Marine CH-53 helicopter hovers over a smoke grenade in Con Thien as it prepares to lower its sling loaded with ammunition and rations. The supply mission was made to the embattled Marine outpost south of the demilitarized zone in South Vietnam under clear skies during a break in the monsoon rains.

Planes Plaster MIG Airfield

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy fighter-bombers struck a North Vietnamese MIG airfield near Haiphong Sunday, the sixth installation hit in five straight days of raids on targets controlled by the Pentagon as out of bounds for U.S. warplanes. The strike that dug wide craters into the French-built jet strip at Cat Bi left untouched only two bases in the North capable of launching MIG interceptors.

NUN BURNS

In the ground war, an American platoon fought out of a surrounded position in rain-swept jungles and Communist mortar-men poured fire on the major Army-Navy base in the Mekong Delta.

Nearby in the delta, a 50-year-old Buddhist nun burned herself to death, a Saigon newspaper said, the second suicide by fire in a week during the drive by militant Buddhists to force the government to abandon a charter recognizing a moderate faction in the church.

The Cat Bi strike damaged a Soviet built liaison plane, but the U.S. Command said the carrier-based jets found no MIGs on the ground as they flew in "virtually unopposed."

FUEL DUMPS HIT

The raid was part of a maximum U.S. effort to cripple the North before the monsoon rains start this month and cut flying time by as much as 75 per cent. Since Wednesday, U.S. planes have also hit three bridges on supply routes from Red China and two fuel dumps, all previously barred as too sensitive to attack.

The two major MIG bases still on the forbidden list are the Gia Am installation and the big Phuc Yen base, which houses the North Vietnamese air force's major operations center and serves as headquarters for the air defense command. Both are near Hanoi.

FOUR MISSING

The Communist Chinese New China News Agency claimed that 10 U.S. planes were shot down over North Vietnam Saturday. The U.S. Command said three planes were downed and four airmen missing.

In the jungle battle, the U.S. forces reported 17 dead and four wounded.

Twenty-five sailors and three soldiers were wounded when the Red mortars ripped into the Mekong base at Dong Tam, crowded with river assault boats returned from a combat sweep.

The heaviest fighting reported took place Sunday when a company of paratroopers from the 101st Airborne Division ran into about 150 North Vietnamese regulars in the coastal foothills of Quang Tin Province about 300 miles north of Saigon.

NO HOPE

With rain pouring down, there was no hope of air support. Even the artillery had to be called off when the paratroopers and North Vietnamese locked in hand-to-hand fighting.

In the confusion of battle an American platoon of fewer than 50 men was cut off and surrounded by screaming Red troops. The rest of the company fought its way hand-to-hand to relieve the platoon.

60 KILLED

A field report said paratroopers with light wounds refused to leave the battle and presumably were not counted in the casualty report. The North Vietnamese—probably members of the well-trained 2nd Division—lost 60 dead, the report said.

Integration Rule Stands

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to review a historic decision by the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans calling for top-to-bottom integration of all public school systems in six southern states.

The high court gave no explanation in announcing that it would not hear appeals from the March 29 decision filed in behalf of six Louisiana and three Alabama school boards. This means the decision is left standing—and serves to give it added weight as a precedent for courts elsewhere.

Justice Thurgood Marshall did not participate in the case.

Rejection of the appeals was urged by the Justice Department and by attorneys for Negro pupils whose litigation led to the Circuit Court ruling.

In its decision the circuit court required integration of classrooms, faculties, facilities and activities in all public school systems in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas from kindergarten up.

Klan Conspiracy Trial Under Way

18 Men Charged In Rights Deaths

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — Jury selection begins today in the trial of 18 men charged in the deaths of three civil rights workers at Philadelphia, Miss., in 1964.

A special 250-member venire was summoned to federal court. About 200 were expected to remain after routine exemptions.

The charge strongest possible under federal law, accuses the 18 of conspiracy to violate the civil rights of Michael Schwerner, 23, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both white New Yorkers, and James E. Chaney, 21, a Meridian Negro.

WHITE KNIGHTS

Maximum punishment under the 1870 Reconstruction-era law, is 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine. No federal charge of murder can be brought except when the deaths occur on federal property.

No state charges ever were brought in the case.

Defendants include Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey, 43, Sheriff Deputy Cecil Glen "Hop" Barnette, 47, all of nearby Philadelphia, and Sam Holloway Bowers Jr., 42, of Laurel, described as the imperial wizard of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

NEWS RESTRICTIONS

U.S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox, who dismissed the charges once only to have the U.S. Supreme Court overrule him, set strict procedures for newsmen and photographers covering the trial.

Among the restrictions on newsmen is that they cannot enter or leave the courtroom except during recess.

Cox ordered that photographers could not go onto the block where the courthouse is located, in the downtown post office building.

Signs on all corners tell news cameramen that the area, including the sidewalks, is off limits.

John Doar, the Justice Department's chief civil rights counsel, heads the prosecution. The government had about 100 witnesses ready to testify.

FBI PROTECTION

Both the prosecution and the defense were armed with a background study on each prospective juror.

The government said Deputy Price arrested the three victims on a speeding charge on June 21, 1964, held them at Philadelphia about four hours, then released them where they could be seized and murdered.

The FBI dug the victims' bullet-riddled bodies from a new earthen dam on a farm about eight miles southwest of Philadelphia 44 days later.

Nineteen men were indicted but one of them—James E. Jordan, 40—will not go on trial here. His case is under the jurisdiction of the U.S. District Court for northern Florida. Jordan has been whisked in and out, under FBI protection, to testify before the federal grand jury which returned the indictments.

Cotton Crop Dip Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department estimated this year's government-restricted cotton crop today at 8,069,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, down 96,000 bales from its forecast last month.

The indicated crop is the smallest since 1921. The government had offered growers substantial payments for limiting plantings under a program designed to reduce surpluses accumulated from past crops.

By comparison, production was 9,575,000 bales last year and 14,935,000 for the 1961-6 average. The crop will be supplemented by reserves of about 12.4 million bales held over from previous crops. But the agriculture department expects this reserve to be down less than 7 million bales by the end of the 1967 crop marketing year next Aug. 11.

The census bureau said 1,013,338 bales had been ginned up to Oct. 1, compared with 11,131,452 a year earlier.

The yield per acre and production, respectively, by states included: Texas 363 pounds per acre and production 2,800,000 bales.

Arkansas 425 and 700,000.

Louisiana 607 and 430,000.

Oklahoma 215 and 180,000.

New Mexico 562 and 10,000.

Arizona 933 and 450,000.

California 956 and 1,175,000.

Governor Calls For Terror End

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Representatives met today to try to find an end to the violent, two-month steel haulers strike. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania called for an end to "a campaign of terror" on the highways.

"This conference is designed to find the facts, put them in proper perspective and furnish the answer," Shafer said.

"No group, however just their claims might be, has the right to subject their fellow citizens to a campaign of terror," he said.

SEVEN STATES

More than 40 people — representatives of seven states, the striking independent truckers, the Teamsters Union and the trucking companies — met at Shafer's invitation.

"He wants them to stay in the conference room until this thing is settled," said a Shafer aide. "The governor says he won't stand for any more violence and this thing must be settled."

Daniel M. Berger, Pittsburgh attorney assisting the strikers' two attorneys, Bernard A. Berkman of Cleveland, Ohio, and Porter Draper of Gary, Ind., said, "I think that our attitude is hopeful—that reasonable men will sit down and try to work out these problems."

Ohio, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, New York and West Virginia joined Pennsylvania in sending governor's representatives.

Scott Endorses Viet Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, a Republican moderate, endorsed President Johnson's Vietnam policies today and said "it is imperative that we do not undermine the stature of the President as commander-in-chief and as the nation's chief diplomat."

He said the Republican party should not "misconceive its role as to become a 'peace at any price' party."

The Pennsylvania said he supports present policy because "I know of no better alternative."

His position contrasts with recent criticism of Johnson and his policies from such GOP moderates as Sens. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky and Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, and Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

But it follows Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen's defense of Johnson policies and his recent warning against demeaning Johnson.

Scott's remarks were in a speech prepared for Senate delivery.

Scott said charges of a credibility gap in administration statements on Vietnam "can be remedied by greater candor with the American people within the legitimate bounds of national security."

"Meanwhile, I reiterate my own trust and confidence in the President in his prosecution of our basic strategy in Vietnam, because I know that he is not deliberately trying to deceive the American people on such a serious matter."

ROUGH ROAD

In a speech to a Democratic fund-raising dinner Saturday night, Johnson said he knows he could boost his popularity by adopting policies aimed at getting the United States "out of trouble cheaply and fast"—but he said they would be irresponsible.

"I do know that we are following the road of responsibility in Vietnam, as we are at home. I know probably as well as any man, save those who are fighting there at this hour, that it is a rough road to travel. But the road does lead to a free Asia—and a more secure America."

A former president, Dwight D. Eisenhower, said Saturday he is supporting a new organization called "Committee for Peace with Freedom in Vietnam." He named former Illinois Sen. Paul H. Douglas as a prime organizer. Douglas said only that a policy statement has been signed by 40 to 50 persons but is not ready for release.

Eisenhower said signers include former Gen. Lucius Clay and Omar Bradley. Another organization concerned with the war, Negotiation Now, heard former presidential aide Arthur Schlesinger Jr. call the U.S. military leadership in South Vietnam "as disastrous as any we have had in the life of our nation."

He said Sunday the administration is acting under the mistaken assumption that military men know how to win wars.

The historian said if the administration persists in its Vietnam policies, the country, "if it is to save itself," requires new leadership within the present two-party system.

Draft Cards Decision Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court announced today it will decide whether the 1965 federal law that forbids the burning of draft cards is constitutional.

At the same time the court will decide if a draft card burner can be sent to prison for not possessing his card.

The Justice Department had asked the court to hear the case after the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston ruled unanimously that the 1965 law abridges free speech and is therefore unconstitutional.

Two U.S. circuit Courts — in New York City and St. Louis — have upheld the ban on draft card mutilation, which Congress added to the Selective Service law in 1965. And last February the Supreme Court refused to review the ruling by the federal court in New York.

However, the decision by the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston in April put the federal appeals courts in direct conflict.

The current case centers on David P. O'Brien, 20, of Framingham, Mass., who burned his draft card on the steps of the South Boston courthouse in March, 1966, to protest against the draft. He was sentenced to six years in federal youth correctional institutions.

Chief Judge Bailey Aldrich of the Boston federal appeals court said O'Brien could stand convicted for not possessing his draft card—but could not be convicted for burning it.

"In singling out persons engaging in protest for special treatment the amendment strikes at the very core of what the 1st Amendment protects," Aldrich said.

The Justice Department said in appealing that if Congress may require a draft registrant to carry his draft card "it would appear that it may also forbid him to destroy or mutilate his card."

IT'S SPRING THERE NOW

Chile A Nation Of Great Contrasts

By HOUSTON HARTE
SANTIAGO, Chile — This nation of 10 million people is one of contrasts. It is wet and dry, poor and rich, warm and cold, beautiful and desolate. It contains the highest mountains in the Western Hemisphere and 900 miles of desert along more than a third of its sea coast of 2,653 miles.

Four of its principal cities have Communist mayors and the fifth a socialist mayor who some believe more of a leftist than the Communists. The annual rainfall of the coastal low desert averages less than two inches a year. The south 40 percent of the long strip of narrow terrain is lush. It receives, in some areas, as much as 100 inches of rain a year. Here you find some of the most fertile, undulating ranch country on earth. It is an ideal cow and sheep country and appears prosperous and virile.

NARROW
The nation nowhere is more than 250 miles from east to west. It narrows to 50 miles wide in many places. While no one can explain how it got its name, it apparently comes from the word chilli — not from the hot dish we know, but from an ancient word that meant "the end of the earth." Here the earth ends in the sea on two sides and in many places the end is abrupt. There are few calm, sandy beaches along its great sea coast. In addition there are earthquakes, tidal waves and volcanoes. This all adds up to a harsh land.

It is bounded on the west by the Pacific and on the east by the towering Andes, which are shared farther east with Bolivia and Argentina. To the south are the Magellan Straits and Cape Horn. All of Chile is south of the Equator and its seasons are the opposite of ours. This is early spring with fruit trees in bloom and vivid green grass back from the coast that reminds one of the emerald country side of Ireland.

THE ANDES
The Himalayas have a couple of peaks higher than the Andes. But nowhere else in the world does a range of mountains compare in magnitude with the Andean peaks that extend from Colombia to Cape Horn, a distance of 4,000 or perhaps 5,000 miles.

The Andes are crowned with glaciers and snow the year round, even at the equator. In looking down the wide avenues of Santiago to the lofty snow-covered heights of the Andes, not more than 10 miles away, one is impressed with the similarity of the drive from Innsbruck to Lucarno on the border of northern Italy and Switzerland.

The drive from Valparaiso, Chile's principal port to its first city Santiago (population two million) is through the Andean Cordillera, the foothills. The road is excellent for the entire 140 kilometers (87.5 miles). It is good concrete, in some places wide enough for four or six lanes. It is the best highway we have been on since Panama.

PRODUCTIVITY
The light green spring grass, about 2 1/2 to 3 inches high, covers the valleys and modest hills. We ascended 3,000 feet from the sea to Santiago. The flat valleys were irrigated. Some were plowed and ready for crops. Vineyards, fruit trees, English walnuts were breaking out in bloom. It had the look of Austria, Germany and northern Italy at spring-time.

The farm houses were substantial and spoke contentment. Across the hills came the pipelines which brought pure mountain water to the seacoast villages and cities. The water came from miles away and must have cost millions.

No one could say what domestic water rates actually were, but all agreed they were high — but essential. Only in one valley were windmills pumping water from a shallow depth and here by the seaside were truck gardens. Tomatoes were ripening on the ground where the truck gardeners were trying to push the ripening in order to meet the early market.

VEGETABLES
Every city, no matter what size, had its vegetable market. There was fruit; vegetables of every kind, avocados — from half as big as a football to the size we too often see at home — were plentiful along with artichokes and a sort of Mango family fruit called chirimova. It is about five to six inches long and double the diameter of a cucumber. Its meat is yellow, is full of seed, but delectable.

John Abe March, our fruit specialist, made the purchases in a market in a large square in Antofagasta, the big mineral export port of Chile. Fifty to 60 percent of the foreign exchange is earned by the Chuqui camata copper mine about 100 miles northeast of Antofagasta.

It is owned by Anaconda and employs 7,000 men. It is a strip mine of very rich copper-bearing rock. The copper is crushed, smelted and shipped to the United States and Europe in ingots. This product provides one of the regular cargoes of the Gulf & South American line. Anaconda's taxes paid to Chile form one of the chief supports of the government.

IN DOLLARS
Anaconda pays its American employees in U.S. dollars, along with some supervisory Chilean workers. This depresses the peso, the chief denomination of Chilean currency. Antofagasta was the first place we were accosted by money changers who wanted to give seven escudos for a dollar, rather than six, the regular rate of exchange.

The peso once was the medium of exchange. At the end of the First World War the rate was about 20 to the dollar. Today you can find 1,000 pesos bills with an exchange rate of one escudo. The inflation of the Chilean money continues.

Robert M. Cooney, the manager of the First National City Bank of Santiago, thinks inflation may have something to do with the many apartment and office buildings now being built in Chile, especially in Santiago.

Water Chases Rio Residents

By The Associated Press
Fair and generally mild weather prevailed over Texas today as residents in the flood-weary Lower Rio Grande Valley sought to channel surging waters from weekend downpours.

Crews worked during the night to hack a 20-foot wide break in a levee at Donna to prevent backing up of water in the floodway system in the northern section of the Valley. A 3-inch rain Saturday night and early Sunday sent some families at Layford and Sebastian scurrying from their homes as water swirled into residential areas.

The maze of canals, creeks and man-made floodways that lace the Valley are still filled with floodwaters from the torrential downpours of Hurricane Beulah late last month.

The weekend rains in the state were triggered by a cool front that pushed into the Gulf of Mexico Sunday, leaving skies clear and bright in its wake.

Maximum readings Sunday afternoon ranged from Amarillo's 75 degrees to Presidio's 88. Readings before dawn today ranged from the 40s in the Panhandle to the 60s along the coast.

Indonesia To Suspend Relations With Peking

JAKARTA (AP) — Indonesia announced today its intention to suspend diplomatic relations with Communist China.

A Foreign Ministry statement said Indonesia has demanded that the Chinese government immediately allow the entire Indonesian staff in Peking to leave the country.

When this is completed, the statement said, Indonesia will allow the Chinese staff in Jakarta to leave.

STOPS SHORT
The announcement stopped short of a formal break. Heavy pressure is on Foreign Minister Adam Malik to break the ties with China, but he is reported opposed to it.

The strongly worded demand by Indonesia declared that China had ignored the "normal traditions among civilized nations." It rejected previous Chinese protests on grounds that the treatment of the Indonesian staff in Peking was worse than what has happened here.

OFFICIALS SHOT
Mobs of Indonesians and Chinese have sacked each other's embassies. In the most recent attack on the Chinese Embassy, twenty Chinese officials were badly beaten and two were shot.

The Foreign Ministry statement said China would be permitted to land a plane to pick up its staff once the Indonesians in Peking had safely arrived in either Hong Kong or Dacca, East Pakistan.

Earlier, Indonesia tried to move its embassy staff in Peking to Hong Kong, but China refused exit permits.

Under deposed President Sukarno, Indonesia was a friend of Red China. But that changed after the military put down a coup attempt led by the Indonesian Communist party in October, 1965.

Wins Sanger Award
NEW YORK (AP) — John D. Rockefeller III, board chairman of the Population Council, Inc., has been awarded the annual Margaret Sanger award in world leadership. It was announced Sunday.

ber, 1965. Peking was accused of having a hand in the coup and later was linked with pamphlets urging Indonesian Chinese to resist the government of acting President Suharto.

Mobs of Indonesian youths have attacked the Chinese Embassy in Jakarta on four occasions over the past year and a half.

CONSTANT GUARD
The government expelled two Chinese diplomats in April, charging them with subversive actions, and two in August, for allegedly shooting at the Indonesian youths who stormed the embassy.

The Foreign Ministry said Indonesians in Peking have nothing but the clothes they were wearing when the embassy was attacked Aug. 5.

Eight Indonesians are still in Peking, five of them with diplomatic status. China has 20 persons in its embassy here, four with diplomatic status.

The Chinese here are barred from leaving the embassy and armed troops are on constant guard around the battered grounds.

Award To Attend A&M

Kenny Ray Hensley, O'Donnell, has been named a president's scholar at Texas A&M University, announced President Earl Rudder. The award, made annually to 10 outstanding high school seniors in Texas, covers virtually all expenses for studying at A&M. Acceptance of the $1,000-a-year award must be made this fall, with the scholarship to become effective upon enrollment at A&M.

Hensley's selection was based on scholastic and leadership qualities through his junior year.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hensley, Route 1, O'Donnell, he ranked first in his 20-member Borden County High junior class.

Hensley was valedictorian of his eighth grade class, posted the highest class average during his freshman, sophomore and junior years and presently leads the senior class with a 94.46 average.

Kenny has been class president three years, co and tri-captain of the Borden County football team the last two years and Beta Club officer. He is working foreman on his father's farm, member of the Methodist church and active in its youth work.

Welsh Poet Dies On Tennis Court

SEATTLE (AP) — Vernon Phillips Watkins, a Welsh poet, collapsed and died Sunday while playing tennis at the University of Washington where he was a visiting English professor. He was 61.

Coroner's deputies said Watkins apparently suffered a heart attack.

Survivors include his widow, Gwendoline, and five children, three of whom accompanied their parents to Seattle recently from their home at Swansea, Wales.

Watkins came to the university at the start of the fall quarter last month and was to have remained for a year.

Cons Cheer Candy Barr; Big Springer Scores Win

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Old grad Candy Barr came back to entertain Sunday at the Texas Prison Rodeo and cheering inmates gave her a bouquet of cotton stalks to "convey our sentiments."

The former Dallas stripper, who has returned to Sunset Strip in Hollywood since her release from prison, received the gift from a delegation led by Glenn Gustafson of Satsuma, Tex.

Candy observed that the convicts in Texas prison farms "pick about 10,000 bales of cotton each year and love every minute of it." She pecked a kiss on Gustafson's cheek.

MAD SCRAMBLE
A crowd of about 20,000 saw 50 inmates compete twice in the hard money event because none was able to grab a sack with the $50 prize off the horns of the first bull—the animal kept most of them climbing the fences.

Aaron Reed of Hereford was able to get close enough as a second bull charged across the arena and snatched the prize.

A big Brahman bull kicked Clarence Whitlock of Odessa on the head in the mad scramble opening the rodeo, an event with 10 contestants riding 10 bulls. A doctor said Whitlock escaped serious injury.

In the girls' barrel race for non-inmates, Linda Hawley of Cypress was bucked off her horse and shaken up as she hit the ground but was not hurt.

Dear Abby

They're Comfortable!

DEAR ABBY: Some years ago I remember reading in your column a lot of letters from ladies who wanted the shoe manufacturers to get rid of the high-heeled, pointed shoes, and if I recall, you were on their side. Well, they did just that, and I think the new shoes are terrible looking. So you ladies who wanted them can go ahead and wear them and may the Lord bless you. Me? I'm still with POINTED TOES AND PENCIL HEELS.

DEAR POINTED: You are correct. My voice was among the loudest in protest of the needle-toed, spindle-heeled shoes. But after a while, I became accustomed to them. (Yet, they ruined my feet.) Now that the baby-doll, Cuban heels are back, I admit they look as strange to me as the pointed-toes looked at first, but I am wearing them. And I must confess, I LOOKED better in the old cripplers, but I FEEL better in the new ones.

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from the lady who signed "Hurt in Eugene" I have to speak up for the sitters. I agree, it wasn't very nice for that teenager to have left the note, "CLEAN UP YOUR FILTHY HOUSE, PLEASE," but, Abby, I honestly know how she must have felt. I am 15 and I was asked to sit for a lady whose husband was out of town. She was going to a luau and called me at the last minute. If she hadn't driven off as soon as I set foot in her house, I would have walked right out the door.

When I say her house was filthy, I am not kidding. The kitchen looked like a cyclone had hit it. The sink was piled high with dishes, and there were pots and pans on every inch of counter space, and even on the floor, which looked like it hadn't seen a mop in a year. I tried to lift a bowl from the table and it stuck! There were even ants crawling around. I didn't even want to sit down in that house.

The lady was gone for seven hours, during which time I had to give her children dinner and put them to bed. She left no instructions, but told me to fix them "anything" they wanted to eat. She said nothing about bedtime, so when I suggested going to bed I had a terrible time with all of them. These are so-called upper middle class people, Abby.

When the lady got home, she apologized for being late, underpaid me, until I corrected her, and drove me home. I wish I had had the nerve to leave her a note telling her to clean up her filthy house. Thank you, TEENAGE SITTER.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Police Jail 20 Marchers

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Police clashed twice with open housing demonstrators in Milwaukee's virtually all-Negro Inner Core Sunday night. Thirty persons were injured, including a policeman hit by a rock.

Police arrested 20 marchers among them was Negro comedian Dick Gregory, a leader of the protests now in their 43rd day.

The violence was the first to flare in this racially troubled city since mid-September despite nightly marches and counter-marches by opponents of open housing.

A shotgun blast shattered the windows of a police car in the neighborhood of the disturbances. The officers in the car escaped injury. No arrests followed the incident.

Most of those arrested, including Gregory, were seized after about 400 marchers moved from the sidewalk into the center of the street in opposition to police orders.

Earlier, police moved in on the demonstrators when they attempted to approach a band of white opponents of open housing also marching in the Inner Core where most of Milwaukee's 86,000 Negroes live.

Three open housing marchers were arrested in that clash.

The rival groups had been parading on opposite sides of the same street.

Bridge Test

—CHARLES H. GOREN

BY CHARLES H. GOREN (© 1967 By The Chicago Tribune) ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A63 ♥A10873 ♣97 ♦864

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

4 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—What started out as a colorless holding has, in the light of partner's vigorous action, blossomed forth into a thing of beauty. Upon reevaluation your hand is worth 10 points as a heart contract and, since partner's bidding indicates about 21, you are in the slam zone. One step is called for and should take the form of a cue bid of four spades.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠84 ♥QJ7 ♦QJ63 ♣K986

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 ♠ Dble. 1 NT ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Double. Assuming partner to be sound, either East or West has exaggerated his values. You have nine points in high cards and partner has at least 15 which gives your side a decided edge in high card strength.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A3 ♥K6 ♦J65 ♣AQ865

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♣ 3 ♣ Pass Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Your partner has no strength or he would have doubled West or made a free bid. The opponents assuredly have their signals crossed, and a double by you will only serve to wise them up. West apparently has the rest of the clubs and from your distribution it is apparent that East's long suit will represent a much better resting spot for their side.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠K9763 ♥AJ98 ♦A ♦107

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♦ Pass

2 ♥ Pass 3 ♦ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Things aren't going your way, and it behooves you not to be stubborn. It is true that you have not yet shown that you have a good rebidable spade suit, but there is a very grave doubt as to whether you can afford to do any more bidding. If partner doesn't like spades, you may be in a very deep water. The better part of valor is to resign yourself to a short loss by passing three diamonds. Incidentally, we would have preferred a rebid of two spades after partner's two diamond bid.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠K9742 ♥K103 ♦AJ96 ♣A

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♣ Pass 2 NT ?

What do you bid now?

A.—With this somewhat unbalanced hand the door should not be shut to a possible game contract in spades and the suggested call is three diamonds. If partner returns to spades, we would accept that suit as trump. If partner returns to three no trump, we relax.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠42 ♥KJ ♦K63 ♣AKQ862

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♣ 1 ♠ 1 NT 2 ♥

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. Your hand should produce seven or eight tricks and, since you can stop the hearts and partner has indicated that he can take care of the spades, fulfillment of a no trump game should prove routine.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠62 ♥KQ5 ♦AJ95 ♣J1075

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♦ Pass

1 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass

3 ♠ Dble. ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. Do not make the mistake of bidding three no trump. Partner was in position to make that call himself and declined to do so. Showing the heart support at this point will serve to clarify the picture for partner. Since you are giving a delayed raise he will know you have only three card support and will be in a better position to decide on the final contract.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A976 ♥10976 ♦A3 ♣AK2

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♣ Dble. 2 ♣ Dble. ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. A ruse is not to be considered. Had there been a better spot available, partner would not have offered an immediate raise over the double. If his values fit well enough, you may make your contract even against a badly stacked enemy trump holding.

Breath Test Champion

British Transport Minister Barbara Castle, who does not drive, is pushing curbside breath tests to catch drunken drivers in England.

Breath Tests Cut Business In Bars

LONDON (AP) — Curbside breath tests to catch drunken drivers began today amid complaints from British motoring organizations and reports from bar owners of a sharp drop in business.

The tests were pushed by Transport Minister Barbara Castle, who had already irked drivers by clamping a 70-mile-an-hour speed limit on the nation's previously unrestricted highways.

London police with "breathalyzers," plastic bags containing chemical crystals that change color when exposed to alcohol fumes, made their first test in front of Buckingham Palace, the Queen's home.

But for three of 13 other drivers who were stopped and asked to breathe into the bags during the night, the devices gave readings of more than 80 milligrams of alcohol per 100 milliliters of blood.

Under the new law, this means a trip to the police station for a blood or urine test. A too-high reading in these tests can be used as evidence in court.

SALES SURGE: Bars in many parts of Britain

Dancing and dining slated for the Fifth Annual Policeman's Ball promise an enjoyable evening for everyone attending the Oct. 21 affair at the Cosden Country Club.

Tickets at $5 per couple are being sold by all Big Spring policemen and at the police station. Proceeds will finance projects sponsored by the department, such as the Scout troop.

Award Made: A contract was awarded White's Auto Stores today to supply the Howard County road and bridge department with 150 gallons of antifreeze.

OIL REPORT

Two Howard Sites Selected

Two locations have been staked in Howard County by Donovan Investment Company of Dallas to explore the Howard-Glasscock (Queen) field.

Police Check On Thefts

Police are investigating nine thefts which were reported during the weekend. W. J. McNew, 204 Algerita, reported an electric grinder and a roll of automobile upholstery material stolen from the City Body Shop, 308 Young.

Pan American No. 2-D H. R. Clay will be worked over in the Howard-Glasscock field. Drilling to 2,000 feet with service unit, it is 330 feet from the north and 2,310 feet from the west lines of section 154-29, W&N survey, 11 miles southeast of Big Spring.

Approximately $80 in cash was taken from the home of Richard L. Robertson, 4210 Muir. Miscellaneous meat products and plastic bags were stolen from the Big Spring Locker, 100 Goliad, reported Jim Kinsey, 504 E. 13th. M. R. Ray, 815 Creighton, reported around $15 in cash taken from the cash register of the Southern Ice Co., 105 N. Johnson.

The Broadway Grocery, 1231 US 80, reported stolen an undetermined amount of cigarettes, beer and groceries. A stereo case and tapes were stolen from D. L. Darland, 1 Cochran Circle. Approximately $37 in cash was stolen from the Coca Cola Bottling Co., US 80 west.

There was a surge of sales of soft drinks and beer and liquor to be taken home.

Four cases of vandalism have been reported to police. Five cars were scratched with a sharp instrument at Farris Pontiac, 504 E. 3rd, and two cars were scratched at Shroyer Motor Co., 424 E. 3rd.

The front window of Mancini Cleaners, 1002-C 11th Place, was shot with a BB gun. A window at the Airport School, Airbase Road, was broken with a rock.

Some snow fell along the northern border of Minnesota and in parts of Upper Michigan. Most of the snow melted as it hit, although some white patches remained at International Falls, Minn. Chilly autumn weather prevailed in most sections of the nation.

Locally heavy downpours soaked portions of southeast Alabama. Almost 2.75 inches of rain fell at Dothan, Ala., in six hours.

Under the new law, this means a trip to the police station for a blood or urine test. A too-high reading in these tests can be used as evidence in court.

Hearing Set On Annexation

The Big Spring City Commissioners are expecting visitors at the Tuesday evening meeting, in response to the public hearing on annexation.

Several areas that can be served with city services on the fringe area of the city are being considered for annexation, with the public hearing set this week.

First National Bank of Dallas representatives will be on hand to present a contract for selling city bonds of $75,000 to build additions to the filter plant and water distribution system.

In other business, commissioners will consider a beer permit for the Wagon Wheel Restaurant; a barking dog ordinance; bids for an air compressor; recommendations of the traffic commission; and elimination of a curb in the 600 block of Main.

More Aid Sent: More food and clothing needed by flood victims in South Texas headed that way Sunday night when items collected by the Salvation Army were sent in a pickup and a trailer donated by Homer Burns.

Ed Gibson drove the truck to the Rio Grande Valley, said L. Bart Deggs, Salvation Army spokesman.

Playboy Made Headlines For Almost Five Decades

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Manville, playboy of the Roaring 20's and Depression 30's whose marriages and monetary settlements made headlines for almost five decades, died Sunday of a heart attack. He was 73.

With him at the end was his 11th and last wife, the former Christina Erdlen, 26, at their Westchester County residence in Chappaqua, some 30 miles north of Manhattan.

Manville took his first wife, a chorus girl, in 1911 when he was 17, and his last in 1960. He was married twice, was divorced 10 times, and widowed once. He was heir to a $10 million asbestos fortune, and his divorce settlements cost him in the neighborhood of $1.5 million.

Manville, during his hectic nightclubbing and pursuit of beautiful women, once said, "I'm too lonely—I just can't live alone." The first thing I say to a girl is "Will you marry me" and the second thing is "How do you do?"

About 200 Attend Y's Open House

Approximately 200 visitors inspected the extensive improvements at the Central YMCA Sunday afternoon.

The open house was begun by a brief address by the Rev. Leo K. Gee, First Methodist Church, in dedicating the renovated swimming pool as the Horace M. Garrett Memorial Pool.

The late Mr. Garrett had been a benefactor of the Y.

Speaking from I. Cor. 3-6-9, the Rev. Gee declared that "Horace Garrett was a sower of seeds. He wisely left to some the watering and cultivation. But he depended upon God for the increase."

A bronze plaque will be erected in the pool area to the memory of Mr. Garrett. Funds provided by the Dora Roberts Foundation, of which Mr. Garrett was chairman, made possible the installation of ceramic tile on the decking of the pool as well as refinishing the pool property and adding new diving board equipment and ladders.

During the afternoon swimmers, young gymnasts, a hand ball players and weight lifters staged demonstrations. Visitors also inspected the refurnished men's and women's locker and shower rooms and refurnished gymnasium.

Jack Little, president, was in charge of the brief program which was attended by Mrs. Horace Garrett.

Opal McDaniel, Howard County librarian, asked the Howard County Commissioners Court today to increase the salaries of herself and of Mrs. Joan Crowner, who works in the county library.

Mrs. McDaniel said that Mrs. Ray Redman, who has been assistant librarian, has resigned to take a better paying job at Webb AFB.

Mrs. Crowner has been receiving $235 per month. Mrs. McDaniel asks that her salary be raised to $250.

Since the resignation of Mrs. Redman will increase the responsibilities and work on Mrs. McDaniel, the librarian asks that her own pay be increased $50 a year. She points out there is enough money in the library budget not allocated to absorb these increases and not require additional financing.

The commissioners took the matter under consideration and had not acted on the matter at 11 a. m.

DEATHS

L. S. Patterson, 89, Founded Insurance Firm

Logan Selwyn Patterson, 89, resident of Howard County for more than three score years, died at 5:30 a.m. at his home at 1410 Benton Monday. He had been in failing health for several years.

He had been active in farming here for nearly 20 years and then established one of the first insurance businesses in the city. It is still operated by two of his sons.

Mr. Patterson also served several years on the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees and was also a long-time county Democratic chairman. He had been a Baptist since his youth. For 40 years he was secretary of the Woodmen of the World Lodge 312.

Surviving him are his wife, Kate Patterson; three sons, Malcolm L. Patterson, and Morris Patterson, both of Big Spring, and Murry Patterson, Fort Worth; and one daughter, Mrs. Reg Jarvis, Houston. He also leaves four grandchildren.

One daughter, Mary Kate Patterson, lost her life in an automobile mishap in 1941.

Services will be at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Nalley - Pickle Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Robert F. Polk, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in the City Cemetery.

Mr. Patterson was born in Lincoln County, Tenn., July 27, 1878, and grew up in Giles County. He attended Winchester College and taught at a rural school near Pulaski. One of his pupils there was Velma Kate Leatherwood, whose family not long afterwards moved to Texas.

Having abandoned teaching for a career in ginning, farming and threshing, he heard of a bumper wheat crop in Texas in 1905, but when he got to North Texas there was a foot of snow on the ground. So he came on to Big Spring where the Leatherwoods were. He homesteaded two sections of land on Elbow Creek, and two years later he and Kate Leatherwood were married as they sat in a buggy near the First Methodist parsonage.

They operated the farm from 1907 to 1924 when he sold the place to J. B. Harding and moved to town and became active in civic affairs. A large-framed Tennesseean, he, like his wife, was noted for his wry sense of humor.

Leonard C. Fraley, Retired Merchant: Leonard C. Fraley of Lubbock, father of Roy Fraley of Big Spring, died Sunday afternoon at age 62 in a local hospital. Services are pending at Holden Funeral Home in Haskell.

He was born April 27, 1905, in Tennessee and was a retired store owner.

Other survivors are his wife, Lubbock; one daughter, Mrs. Harlis Allison, Lubbock, and four grandchildren.

Local arrangements are under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

LBJ SCORES VICTORY

Demos Pick Chicago For '68 Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats officially ratified today President Johnson's decision to forge a beachhead in the politically hostile Middle West with an August, 1968, presidential nominating convention in Chicago.

The party's national committee scheduled speedy acceptance of a site committee's proposal to meet in a state with a Democratic governor and a city with a Democratic mayor—but in an area where the Republicans are in resurgence.

National Chairman John M. Bailey predicted Johnson would be renominated unanimously at the four-day extravaganza opening Aug. 25.

FIGHT TALK

In a fight talk today, Bailey summoned the Democrats to back Johnson's Vietnam efforts "to prevent World War III."

The national chairman said while Johnson takes "the only position that makes sense" on Vietnam, most Republicans "are busy trying to win the 1968 election" by criticizing his actions.

In a thinly veiled reference to Democratic dissenters, Bailey told the Democrats: "Let's defend the President of the United States against those of his critics who are utterly unreasonable."

POLLS GIGGED

Bailey spoke out in a report prepared for a formal national committee session.

Bailey scoffed at public opinion polls which generally show a majority not satisfied with the way Johnson is handling the war.

Asserting that the President's decisions "will be vindicated by history," the national chairman told the Democrats they must not be stamped by the polls.

Bailey said Republicans have not yet had to spell out proposals. He scorched Michigan Gov. George Romney, California Gov. Ronald Reagan, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois for "trying to dupe us into believing they can do both more or less in Vietnam at the same time."

CHALLENGE

The Democratic chairman did not mention New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a prospective GOP favorite son who has generally supported Johnson's basic Vietnam policies. Bailey has made it clear to associates he regards Rockefeller as probably the toughest opponent the Republicans could put up against Johnson.

Bailey echoed throughout his speech the hard line Johnson took at a $1,000-a-plate Saturday night Salute to the President dinner. Johnson challenged his critics to offer a viable alternative to his Vietnam course.

The choice of Chicago for next year's convention came after Miami Beach, Fla., and Houston, Tex., made opposing bids.

ROOMS SHORTAGE

Miami Beach, which will have the Republican nominating convention starting Aug. 5, turned up $50,000 short of the $750,000 cash and $150,000 in fringe benefits offered by Chicago.

Houston had been ruled out by Johnson because of an intra party fight in the state. The site committee found also that Houston didn't have enough actually available hotel rooms.

Florida apparently was not to Johnson's liking because it houses headline-making Republican Gov. Claude Kirk Jr. Party leaders also want to go where the big electoral votes are. Illinois, with 26, currently is classified in the doubtful column for the election.

Snow Job Squabble

CHICAGO (AP) — Pablo Picasso would like to see a snow job on the monumental sculpture he gave to Chicago.

Some critics feel Picasso pulled a snow job on Chicago when he gave the city the design for the 50-foot rusty steel sculpture, which was unveiled in the Civic Center Plaza Aug. 15.

But William Hartmann, the architect who persuaded the artist to give Chicago the sculpture, said Picasso is very pleased with Chicago's reception of his gift and has asked to be sure and send him a photograph when snow is on it.

There has been considerable debate about what the sculpture depicts, but most experts believe it represents a woman's head.

Face Familiar, Figure Slimmer

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Sid Caesar is playing his first New York club date in five years and though the face is familiar the figure is slimmer.

"He lost so much weight!" exclaims the ladies at ringside at the Latin Quarter. Consequently the comedian begins his routine with a wry aside about his new look.

"Forty-three pounds off in a year and a half. There is no bread. There is one baked potato in the world, but there is no bread."

Bad Bite Blues?

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Headache? Ears ring? Have dizzy spells and a creaking neck? Might be nothing more than a bad bite.

Which is to say you might have a crooked jaw. Dr. Harold Gelb, a New York dentist says seven million Americans have that problem.

Speaking at a meeting of the Georgia Dental Association, Gelb said people who bite badly for a long time can get their muscles in such shape they can't be realigned. However, he said, most of the problems caused by crooked jaws and teeth can be corrected.

Houston Leaders Singing The Blues

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston leaders said they were surprised at the Democratic Party's decision announced Sunday night in Washington to hold its 1968 nominating convention in Chicago.

Ed Stumpf, who headed the convention council which sought to bring the meeting to Houston's Astrodome, said, "I thought we had it."

He said, "Political overtones determine where a convention will go, rather than where the best bid was made."

PARTY FEUD

Stumpf referred to reports before the site selection committee announcement Sunday which said President Johnson at one time favored Houston, but changed his mind after an old party feud flared up in Texas.

Texas Gov. John Connally and U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., leaders, respectively, of the state party's conservative and liberal wings, had unpleasant words for each other over the handling of disaster relief requests in last month's Hurricane Beulah.

'DISAPPOINTED'

"The conflict between Yarborough and Connally, to me, doesn't seem to have anything to do with delegates coming to a convention in which they want the finest facilities," Stumpf said.

Mayor Louie Welch, who won office as an independent, said he felt "disappointed. We think they've missed the best convention city in America."

He theorized, "Perhaps the fact that a fellow named Percy is from there, the fact that there had been a recent very strong showing of Republican strength there, may have had something to do with it." He referred to U.S. Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill.

'OH, SHUCKS'

Harris County Democratic Chairman W.N. "Bill" Blanton, a member of the Connally wing of the party, said Chicago was "an understandable selection by the committee. Having it in the central part of the United States is a wise selection."

Blanton let dismay catch up with him, interjecting, "Oh, shucks."

He went on, "There was no indication whatsoever that we would not get the convention. As a matter of fact, I thought we would get it."

Blanton added, "I think the Texas delegation will support President Johnson no matter where the convention is held."

Abe Weatherwise Predicts Storm

DUBLIN, N.H. (AP) — The big January storm of 1967 will be repeated in 1968, but next spring will be early and sunny, the Farmer's Almanac says.

Predicting the weather a year in advance is the principal claim to fame for the publication, now in its 176th edition.

The almanac accurately forecast last year the end of the drought in New England during 1967 and the January storm this year which was a blizzard in the Middle West and heavy rains in New England.

Abe Weatherwise, the almanac's weather forecaster, predicts that 1967 will be marked by nice spring weather, interrupted only by a major storm from Chicago to New England in late April.

Abe Weatherwise is the pen name of Robb Sagendorf and Rob Trowbridge who publish the almanac. They use a secret formula, current atmospheric data and charts dating to 1802 in plotting the forecasts.

Musical Director Nowicki, 71, Dies

GREAT NECK, N. Y. (AP) — Ignace Frank Nowicki, 71, musical director of "South Pacific," "Gypsy" and other Broadway shows, died Saturday after running back into his burning apartment. Police said Nowicki, who was a concert violinist, probably returned to the apartment to retrieve his violin.

More On Ball Lightning

—By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

Some time ago in one of the columns I discussed the mysterious phenomenon called ball lightning. At that time a wise and adventurous friend of mine suggested that we ask readers to send in any stories of their encounters with it. Before telling you of the results of this experiment in collecting scientific data through the newspapers let me remind you what ball lightning is.

There are certain occasions when a glowing sphere of gas is released during a lightning storm, or bounces off a lightning stroke and goes wandering around by itself, lightning balls can range anywhere from a few inches to a few feet in diameter, according to reports, and it's not understood how they can live so long and remain so intact as they carom off walls, ceilings and floors while scaring people half to death. To put it bluntly, we don't understand lightning balls — we need more information.

I can't of course, claim that we got highly scientific observations from our readers, although some who wrote are obviously pretty well qualified. But the results are quite interesting — sufficiently so that other scientists have already asked for the collection of data. Most of the observations recounted to me took place before 1940, and relatively few of them were in the 1960's, so one must worry a bit about details because of fading memories. Nevertheless, some interesting things do come through. First of all, the size of a ball lightning seems to range from that of a golf ball up to perhaps three or four feet across, with the most common being described as like a basketball or grapefruit.

One persistent observation is that a ball can come right through a closed window or a screen. A number of people reported that a glowing sphere would first appear on the outside of a closed glass window and then would be inside the room. How does it get from one side to the other? This is not a simple question.

An even larger number of people said that they saw ball lightning come right through a screen door or screened-in window. Here we have what is presumably an electrical phenomenon going right through a good electrical conductor — a metal screen. Again, not simple to explain.

It would also appear that seeing one lightning ball is only slightly more common than seeing two or more in any given storm.

Quite a number of writers claimed that the lightning balls they saw seemed to be guided down wires — such as barbed wire fences or phone lines. Whether this is just a layman's impression of how electricity ought to behave or whether there is some real "guiding" phenomenon associated with ball lightning I just can't say.

As you can see, lightning balls remain mysterious. Tomorrow I'm going to ask readers to help out on another mystery.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Keeps Party Silver Shiny

Dear Heloise: Tell the gals not to throw away those odd or worn white cotton gloves. I've found a new use for them.

They are just dandy to use when setting your table which is appointed with a lot of silver. Namely, silver trays, hollowware and silver-plated goblets. There's nothing that makes me madder than to set the table a day ahead of time for a big dinner party — so I can spend that entire day preparing the food — and then find fingerprints all over my silver.

makes for a much more beautiful table. Heloise

I was plagued with lack of humidity in the house last winter. I found one thing that helps — having a few extra potted plants around. Marge Shaffer

You're marvelous, Marge! Naturally, the plants have to be watered, which adds humidity to the air, and you have the added beauty of the plants instead of plain ole containers of water. Heloise

Dear Heloise: This is a suggestion for mothers who have small children that ride the bus to school.

Please supply the little ones with a shopping bag with handles. They always end up ripping paper bags open and dropping them because there's nothing there to hang onto! And how much easier it would be for them to carry their assorted "junk". Sure would save lots of spills! Lady Bus Driver

Dear Heloise:

Here is a good planting hint. September and October are planting months for iris flower bulbs and other types. Plant half of them on the east side and half on the south side of the house. The ones on the south side will bloom earlier. You will have iris a lot longer than when planting all bulbs on the same side of your house. The little difference in amount of sunlight and temperature is what does the trick. A.T.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: I have taught my children to hang all the hangers in one direction in case of fire. This way they can be scooped off the rack very quickly.

But lately I'm so far behind in my ironing, I've taught them to grab the ironing basket instead, because nearly all the hangers are empty. Mrs. Ralph Cannon

Dear Heloise: Your discarded plastic garment bags with zippers are very handy to cover folding porch chairs for storing. A Daughtery

(Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald)

Here's where the white gloves come in.

Put them on and then set your table. You won't have a single fingerprint on your beautiful silver. Dorothy McConnell

I think you took a stab at something and won!

Another good idea is to go ahead and set the table even TWO days ahead of time. If necessary, and cover the entire caboodle with a big sheet of plastic. These plastic sheets can be bought for about 50 cents. And you can use them nineteen other places after the party.

For those of you who do not have the plastic and do not want to purchase it, set a heavy vase on each end of the table and have your husband help you gently lay a sheet over it. It works, too.

And while we are on this topic of giving the annual dinner party, try using a folded bed sheet for a liner under your nice linen dinner cloth. It

A Guide For O.E.S. Service

Mrs. Steve Baker (center), state chairman of the Order of the Eastern Star for volunteer service, presents a copy of the state handbook to Dr. H. C. Ernsting, Chief of Staff of Veterans Administration Hospital, and Mrs. Ara Cunningham, director of Voluntary Service.

Local Woman's Handbook For Volunteers Used By O. E. S.

The booklet, "Portraits of Service" prepared by Mrs. Steve Baker, was accepted by the Grand Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star at its state meeting held recently in Dallas and will be used by all chapters of the Order of the Eastern Star in Texas as their guide in doing all types of volunteer work, but particularly with the Veterans Administration Hospitals.

"Portraits of Service" sets forth the policies and regulations which will be observed by Eastern Star members doing volunteer work. In order that these rules did not conflict with those set up by the Veterans Administration Volunteer Service, Mrs. Ara Cunningham, director of Voluntary Service served as consultant.

A copy of the booklet was presented to Dr. H. C. Ernsting, Chief of Staff of Veterans Administration Hospital, and Mrs. Ara Cunningham, director of Voluntary Service.

Eastern Star volunteers must go through an orientation based on "Portraits of Service" to earn the right to wear the official uniform which was adopted at the state meeting. The aqua uniform is designed along princess lines and is highlighted by a multi-colored star insignia and will be worn by all members of Eastern Star doing volunteer work in the state of Texas. An aqua cap with the same star insignia will be awarded at the completion of 25 volunteer hours. The first stripe may be earned by completion of 75

A LOVELIER YOU Sagging Chin Needs Firming Exercises

By MARY SUE MILLER

A Lovely asks: What can be done for a chin that was always too square and prominent, and now has developed a swag of flesh? I look like an elderly lion.

The Answer: The problem appears worse than it is. Added to a strong chin, a little lax flesh looks like a lot. It can be dislodged. Here's how:

1. Exercise for two minutes, night and morning, to tighten the chin muscles. Just place fingertips well out on cheek bones, gently draw skin upward and, at the same time, drop jaw, hold position for five counts, relax and repeat.

2. Because excess pounds and excess chins are inseparable, check your weight. Reduce, if that course is indicated. Beware, though, of any fast method. A quick drop in weight accentuates "swag" before exercise can tighten it.

3. Give the chin area specialized skin care. Sculpt the jawline with throat cream or oil before retiring. Before dressing mornings, apply greaseless, moisturized all-day throat cream. Such creams are invisible; some come in purse-size, stick form.

4. While awaiting improvement, camouflage the trouble: wing pink blusher upward from the center of cheek bones. Apply contour shadow to jawbones. Apply lipstick in long, slow curves. Wear the hair high over forehead, slick at temples and fullish behind ears.

CREPEY THROAT

To firm and uplift sagging facial muscles and flesh, use my four-way method. It works wonders through corrective exercise, posture, skin care and make-up. Procedures are detailed in the leaflet, "Banish Crepey Throat & Chin." For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 10 cents in coin and a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

Mrs. Derrick used the "Convoy Ceremony" when she compared a convoy of ships with the organization of the class. She likened the flagship to the president and her duties and obligations in connection with church worship and leadership were explained.

Those installed were Mrs. W. H. Kay, president; Mrs. Clayton Swinney, vice-president; Miss Rex Browning, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Ruby Billings, chairman of ministry; Miss Gladys Hardy, chairman, and Mrs. William T. McRee, co-chairman of the social committee; Mrs. J. B. Hardy and Mrs. R. T. Newell, project committee chairmen; and Mrs. Catherine Hargrove, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Derrick presented the retiring officer with gifts of books. Mrs. J. C. Irwin, outgoing president, presided and worded the invocation. She also gave a resume of class activities during the year. Mrs. Billings and Mrs.

Irwin sang a duet accompanied by Mrs. William T. McRee. The closing prayer was given by Miss Gladys Hardy, who served as chairman of the installation dinner. The tables were U-shaped and were covered with white cloths and centered with arrangements of fall flowers and fruit.

Seventeen members and one guest, Mrs. J. H. Eastham, attended.

A Devotional For The Day

I will sing of thy steadfast love, O Lord, for ever; with my mouth I will proclaim thy faithfulness to all generations. (Psalm 89:1, RSV)

Trial By Jury

The Sixth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution provides that an accused "shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed." But for many years this right was confined by Supreme Court decisions to cases arising only in federal courts.

Over the years, though, the Supreme Court of the United States has used the due-process and equal-protection clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment to extend the Bill of Rights to state courts in such cases as free speech, the ban on unreasonable search and seizure, protection against self-incrimination, and a speedy trial. Now the court has before it a Louisiana case in which it is being asked to extend the right of trial by jury to state courts in criminal cases.

Gary Duncan, a Negro tugboat captain from Boothville, La., was tried by a judge on a charge of simple battery. His demand for a jury trial was denied. He was convicted and sentenced to 60 days in prison and a $150 fine. He could have been sent to prison for two years and fined $300 under the Louisiana law which classifies simple battery as a misdemeanor, or to be tried by a judge without a jury.

In his appeal to the Supreme Court, Duncan argues that trial by jury in criminal cases is a right traceable to the earliest Saxon colonies and points out that it is a fundamental article of the Magna Carta. The court's decision may turn on its construction of the term "in all criminal cases," the language used in the Sixth Amendment to define the right of jury trial.

Yet it would seem to flow naturally from the Sixth Amendment that the right of trial by jury should apply to those cases in which imprisonment could result from a finding of guilty. That right applies in federal courts,

Another Open-Ended Travail

There hasn't been much talk lately about opening the Suez Canal. The hopes of an early opening after the Arab-Israeli war have gone glimmering.

Fortune magazine reports that the added cost of shipping to the oil industry has already passed $1 billion. Before the conflict the cost of shipping a ton of oil from the Persian Gulf to Rotterdam was $2.90. Lately the quoted price has been $18.60 a ton, after about 5,500 miles had been added to the haul.

The Arabs have made no move to open the canal because of the expectation that Israel would demand right of passage through it. The direct loss to Egypt from canal tolls approximates $16 million a month.

In the absence of a peace treaty, Israel has integrated divided Jerusalem and is moving toward at least token colonization of territory seized on the west bank of the Jordan. In response, there is no sign that the Arabs are willing to acknowledge that they have been defeated. Instead of peace and a recognition of its existence, Israel can look forward to nothing but an almost endless occupation of Arab territory, with all the difficulties that administration entails.

In this context the continued closure of the Suez Canal is but a minor incident in a tragic sequence that has no visible ending.

LONDON, England — Communist propaganda and pressure in foreign capitals has deprived the Western World of the acknowledged champion of all infantry fighters.

He is the compact, slant-eyed, sturdy Gurkha from the independent, anti-Communist nation of Nepal, a mountain kingdom, in the subcontinent of India.

THE GURKHAS for 150 years have made the enemies of England tremble. They broke the Indian Mutiny of the 1850's, they killed Turks in Mesopotamia, they decapitated Germans in the trench warfare of France and Italy with their deadly curved knife, the kukri. They have routed pro-Communist insurrectionists in Burma, Borneo, Malaya, Hong Kong and the Congo.

Fearless but friendly, intensely loyal and ferocious in combat, expert in jungle-fighting and superb in their objectivity as internal security troops, the Gurkhas are made-to-order for action in Vietnam. They would make the Vietcong rue the day they turned Red.

I HAVE interviewed British retired officers who commanded Gurkhas in many parts of the world. Why haven't

I have a 14-year-old son who was injured in an automobile accident. I prayed that he might recover, but the doctors told me he will be an invalid for life. I wish I could tell you the hatred I feel for the heartless being you call God. When you pray to Him, please tell him how much I despise Him. Thank you for listening to me. Now, I feel better.

M.W.

I read the other day of a boy whose father gave him just about everything he wanted. One day the boy asked for twenty dollars, but his father did not have it. The son picked up a shotgun from the wall and killed his father. Having failed, just once to get what he wanted, hatred and vengeance filled his heart, and brought death to the one who loved him dearly. When asked how he felt about murdering his father, he said "I feel better."

You have poured out your hatred upon the One who gave you a child to love for fourteen wonderful years, and when He didn't answer your prayer, you turned on Him, and want everyone to know how much you hate Him. Like the boy who killed his father, you feel better, you say. But do you? This bitterness toward God and life will color everything you do. How different your attitude than a Christian missionary I know who recently died of cancer. She said: "Let there be no sadness at my funeral. God has given me a life of usefulness, a thousand friends, a million blessings, and I leave this world with a heart full of praise and gratitude." I pray that your contempt for God will be changed to love for Him, and for compassion for all who suffer in this world.

'GO AHEAD-FLAP THE WINGS AND FLY LIKE A DOVE'

James Marlow Taxes And Spending Game Deadlocked

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — While the Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinals battle in the baseball World Series, two other teams are battling in a more serious game over taxes and spending. The score is now firmly deadlocked.

The team managers are President Johnson and Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee. Their dugouts are 16 blocks apart—the distance from the Capitol to the White House.

THE FIRST pitch was tossed Aug. 3 when Johnson proposed a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes. The administration promised $2 billion in spending cuts from civilian programs.

The ball was pitched back to the White House last week by the Ways and Means Committee. It temporarily shelved the surcharge plan by a 20-5 vote pending an agreement with the administration on spending cuts.

BUT JOHNSON whacked the ball right back late in the week, contending it's up to Congress to make cuts in a budget he considers already free from fat.

The administration applied a squeeze play about the same time. The Defense Department froze all new contracts for construction unrelated to the Vietnam war at military bases and on Army Engineer programs—the so-called pork barrel projects of river and harbor development.

THE RIVAL managers, through public statements and news conferences, repeatedly spelled out their positions as the week wore on but stuck to their original lineups.

Johnson said he wouldn't yield to congressional demands for big spending cuts as the price of reviving the surcharge. Mills called for an overhaul in spending philosophy, not just now but for the future.

Then Saturday the White House confirmed the President had ordered Wednesday a temporary freeze on all federal spending commitments except for national defense and vital health and welfare programs, pending an end to the budget battle.

(James Marlow, who usually writes this column, is an educator.)

Hal Boyle Heavenly Hazards

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: The average snail's pace, science has decided, is 23 inches an hour—on a clear day and a fast track.

Nothing brings married people together like the income tax. In 1965, some 39.3 million U.S. couples filed joint returns. Only 2.8 million married people paid their taxes to Uncle Sam separately.

WHAT KIND of debris collects behind the desk drawers in business offices? A recent check by cleaners disclosed that 12 per cent had unspent Christmas cards, 10 per cent had shoe polishing gear, 19 per cent had miscellaneous business cards, and nearly 100 per cent had forgotten medicines and personal photos.

How well off is the ordinary Russian after 50 years of communism? According to Eugene Lyons in "Workers' Paradise Lost," a Soviet workman has to pay four months' salary for a washing machine, then wait a year for the machine to be delivered.

PROSPERITY note: Americans last year bought $122.5 billion worth of life insurance, and the average amount owned per family is now $15,900, double what it was just 10 years ago. Cheering news: Mortgages seem to run on forever, but they do get finally paid. Among U.S. homeowners, one out of every four currently owns his house free and clear of debt.

Quotable notables: "I look back on my life like a good day's work; it was done and I am satisfied with it. Life is what we make it, always has been, always will be."—Grandma Moses, the artist.

YOUR WIFE might be able to save money if she learned to make her own beauty preparations. Queen Nefertiti of Egypt designed her own foundation cream. It was a mixture of white lead, chalk powder, honey and perfume. Your wife could do the same thing in her kitchen by using ground-up wallboard or white crayons, boiled sugar syrup, and a dish of your own shaving lotion.

Heavenly hazards: Outer space may soon have to hire a traffic cop. The United States alone has sent up more than 500 satellites and space probes, and some 250 are still whizzing around the earth in orbit.

Worth remembering: "In this modern age men who die with their boots on usually have one of them on the accelerator."

To Your Good Health Diabetic Not On A Diet? Check On This!

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has just been discovered, after a blood sugar test, to be a borderline diabetic, but takes no medication and has not been put on a diet. He still has a great thirst and appetite, and is about 30 pounds overweight. Must he get worse before he is given medication? He is 63.—Mrs. M.C.L.

I smell a rat somewhere. It is quite conceivable that a borderline diabetic may not need medication—but when he is overweight, he certainly should be on a diet. Medication depends on the blood sugar level and the presence of sugar in the urine.

It is a curious, dangerous, but known fact that some diabetics refuse to admit that they have the disease, or think that for some reason they are different from other diabetics and can keep on overeating with impunity. They can't. I'd check back with the doctor, and see whether he hasn't given some instructions on diet.

Dear Dr. Molner: Two months ago the doctor told me my 8-year-old daughter has epilepsy. Please tell me all you can about it.

She is taking medication (Dilantin) three times a day. What would happen if she missed a tablet?

Could the medicine itself slow her down physically and mentally? What effect does epilepsy have on her ability in schoolwork? She is repeating the second grade and doing poor work.—Mrs. G.S.

I suggest that you join the Epilepsy Association which can provide you with reading material on epilepsy and its treatment, and keep you up to date on new developments. That's one of the purposes of the association—to furnish useful information to people like you. (It also encourages and supports research work.)

The drug in your case is an anti-convulsant, that is, a drug to prevent seizures. Possibly nothing would happen if she missed taking a tablet, but possibly she might have a seizure. Safest thing is to get your daughter in a firm habit of taking it as prescribed.

It may help her schoolwork just by relieving her of the tension of fearing seizures; it won't slow her up. Other than that, the medicine won't affect her mentally or physically.

Most types of epilepsy have no bearing on mental ability. Some of the world's most famous people have had epilepsy.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 70 and have been advised by my doctors to have the prostate gland removed. One surgeon wants it done by freezing, the other by regular surgery. I would appreciate your opinion and explanation of both procedures.—P.M.

Cryosurgery—surgery by extreme coldness—is a relatively new technique but already has proved to be effective. It takes special equipment, and not all surgeons are familiar with its use. Instead of removing tissue with the scalpel, the unwanted tissue is destroyed by freezing it with a fine jet of liquid nitrogen. I am under the impression that its use will increase, but the important thing for you is to have the surgery done one way or the other.

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble—symptoms; treatment; how to speed recovery—write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for his booklet, "The Pesky Prostate," enclosing 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Just A Bunch Of Stories—

One thing and another: You've probably heard about that doctor's new office help who was having trouble reading the boss' notes. In one case, he had written: "Patient shot in the lumbar region." The girl brightened shortly and typed in the record: "Patient wounded in the woods."

AND THERE'S the one about that lake near here that is so dry the catfish raise a duststorm swimming into the wind. It's supposed to have only two inches of water—all the rest is fish.

One fellow claims he caught a fish so large there, its picture weighed 11 pounds. The first thing the fish did when the man got him aboard was ask for a drink of water.

SHED A TEAR for those bank bandits in Arkansas who, a year ago, cut through a vault and came away empty handed.

The bank, it seems, has two vaults—one where the money is kept and one where the records are stored. The robbers went to work on the same bank recently.

Same thing happened. They tunneled into the wrong vault each time.

DO YOU SOMETIMES go to church just to see who didn't?

WHY IS IT that if you rob some stores, it is considered a crime; yet when the store robs you, it's inflation?

ONE OF OUR beauty parlor operators obviously doesn't care for one of her customers.

David Lawrence Commies Mix Race And War

WASHINGTON — The Communist party in the United States is taking a deep interest in the forthcoming "peace march" in Washington. In "The Worker," the official organ of the party, which is read primarily by Communists, the headline on a story of a few days ago about the planned demonstration says: "Support zooming for peace march in Washington." The first paragraph then reads as follows:

"IT'S ALL OUT, rain or shine, for the mass march, rally and demonstration before the Pentagon in Washington Oct. 21-22. In the last week there has been a great surge of support for this first demonstration which will couple the nation's peace demands and the freedom struggle of black Americans. Support for the demonstration is both national and international."

Detailed instructions are given to prospective participants as to the exact time they may get buses in different parts of New York City. Included is a list of various organizations involved—several from colleges throughout the country—and facts about the preparations for the rally. The article further states:

"IN DETROIT ten buses and a plane have been already chartered for Oct. 21-22 and publicity here for the demonstration is going full blast. The Detroit area National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam reports an 'excellent' initial response to leaflets and billboard signs publicizing the demonstration. In addition car caravans will be heading for Washington from this city.

"In Madison, Wis., several campus and community groups have joined to charter buses for Washington..."

MANY PEOPLE may well wonder why the organ of the Communist party feels it necessary to publicize the details of the forthcoming march—unless it is a means of notifying Communists throughout the United States that they are to take an active part in getting a big turnout for the rally in Washington. The same article in "The Worker" tells also of the plans for demonstrations abroad. It says: "In addition, U.S. embassies and consulates in virtually every major city of the world will witness solidarity demonstrations Oct. 21-22. Supporting demonstrations are planned for Rome and Bologna, Italy; Oslo, Norway; Amsterdam, Holland; Aberdeen, Scotland; London, England; Paris, France and other cities throughout the nation, Copenhagen, Denmark, Winnipeg, Canada, in West Germany, Belgium, Japan, Australia and New Zealand among others."

THIS COMPREHENSIVE statement "peace march" would seem to indicate that there are influences at work of the plans being made for the in this country and abroad which are trying to break down the spirit of America's armed forces and to mobilize public opinion, if possible, in the United States to bring about a withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam. This would involve the humiliation of retreat and the waste of American lives already lost there.

THERE ARE, of course, certain members of Congress whose expressed views on Vietnam are identical with those of the Communists, and this gives the latter an excuse for saying they are merely endorsing what senators and representatives are advocating. Some of the Negro leaders have deplored speeches which have joined the Vietnam issue with the agitation for "civil rights" in the United States. But undoubtedly the Communists see a means of stirring up more racial friction in this country by linking the Vietnam war with the racial problem. (Copyright, 1967, Publishers-Hall Syndicate)

John Cunniff The Big Money Is In Skiing

NEW YORK (AP) — Businessmen who sell to the ski trade are talking these days about the increasingly higher prices that customers are willing to pay for everything from boots to building lots near ski slopes.

Although spending per skier is now estimated to average a bit under $300 a year, more and more participants are paying $170 for their skis, $80 for boots, $40 for bindings, $30 for gloves and $35 for poles.

A REAL ESTATE development between two ski resorts in southern Vermont is now selling lots beginning at $2,700 to $4,900 that in pre-ski days would have brought a fraction of that price from farmers or campers.

Money seems plentiful as snow. Each year skiers demand more luxurious accommodations, thus helping to finance the transition of ski areas with bare necessities to year-round resorts with golf, swimming, dining and dancing.

SKI RESORTS, as distinguished from ski areas, are now what modern full-service motels are to the Ma and Pa operations of the early 1950s. Glamour abounds, liquor flows and the hills after dark echo and twinkle with fun.

The spending spree, says Ski Business, a trade publication, is developing at the very time the increase in ski population, now totaling somewhere from 2.25 million up, shows signs of decelerating.

A VERY LARGE percentage of those on the slopes this season will be novices, but their brand-new participation in the sport may be nearly offset by the number retiring. More are quitting than ever before.

Not all of those who retire, however, discontinue their snowtime spending. Many snow romances that lead to marriage lead also to retirement, but couples later may return for swimming, sunbathing, dancing, skating. Transportation for this hyperactive, spending crowd is improving. Wide highways and excursion buses have more than offset the discontinuance of ski trains.

EACH WEEKEND hundreds of buses leave large Eastern cities for the mountains. In Seattle, where snow sports exist at several resorts 1½ hours away, an estimated 150 buses leave each Saturday and Sunday in season.

Some airlines also report charter business from the Eastern population centers to the Western ski areas has increased in the past couple of years. And southerners, too, can travel a few hours to slopes in Tennessee and North Carolina.

The big money spent on skiing and winter vacations is based in the trend for more Americans to make bigger wages for working fewer hours. Leisure time and incomes seem to be moving upward as inevitably as a ski tow.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

A man can become very unpopular talking against high wages. Nevertheless the time may be here when somebody has to point out what we are getting into. If the increases in pay are swallowed up by inflation, if we stimulate a feverish drive to eliminate jobs and curtail services, what have we gained?

There are many signs that we are encouraging a large number of people in this country to price themselves out of the labor market. Nearly all the people on our huge relief rolls are what the welfare professionals call unemployables. This does not mean that they can't work or won't work. It means rather that they can't sell their labor at prices that have been set for them by government, unions, or even by the informal standards of people they associate with or get their advice from. The growth in the number of so-called unemployables in this country is a frightening thing. It may even be a degrading thing in that people are actually being prevented from working at wages which fit their abilities.

A rather tragic by-product of pushing the cost of human labor up and up and up is that we have manufactured goods and even food, produced largely by machines, running out of our ears, while it is virtually impossible to get anyone to take care of children or old people even when the need is desperate.

Farm labor costs, though relatively modest over the years, have been rising so fast that farm operators bought almost any kind of machine or gadget to eliminate a hired man.

The professional brains who have in the past 25 years devoted their efforts to raising and maintaining wage standards had better begin giving thought to what we are getting ourselves into. A lot of people who have given support to raising wage scales over many decades are beginning to question whether human welfare is being served by go-go wage policies.

Reuther Says Strike Could Stretch Into New Record

DETROIT (AP) — Armed delegates cheered when told the emergency increase was needed to win at Ford and "possible strikes at Chrysler, General Motors and other large companies." They passed the dues increase overwhelmingly.

Asked at a post-convention news conference if the strike fund was being beefed up to support a General Motors strike later, Reuther replied: "It's not directed against any specific corporation, but it could include GM."

Reuther also told the news conference that "if there is no significant change in the company's attitude in the next week or ten days, Ford Motor Co. will have made a policy decision to force a long strike."

And in that case, he said, "it might equal or exceed the one we had at General Motors."

POLICY DECISION

Henry Ford has said that what he terms the UAW's "unconscionable" demands are responsible for the strike. One industry executive has estimated it would take an additional $4 hourly per worker to meet all union wage and fringe demands, compared with the current package of wages and benefits of $4.70 hourly per worker.

The union scoffs at the $4 figure, but has put no dollars and cents figures on its demands, which include a guaranteed income, a substantial wage increase and higher pensions.

The emergency dues increase will be continued until new contracts are reached with the Big Three automakers and the union's strike fund has been built up to at least $25 million.

BITE SPIRALS

A special UAW convention Sunday voted an emergency increase in dues from $5 to $25 monthly for most of its 1.4 million members.

Reuther returns to the bargaining table with Ford today in search of a new contract he hopes to carry later to GM and Chrysler for matching or bettering.

More than 2,400 convention members were present at the Detroit convention.

Railroad Crews Push Cars Aside

LITTLEFIELD, Tex. (AP) — Railroad crews worked through the night clearing derailed freight cars from the Santa Fe Railway tracks 1 1/2 miles west of Littlefield.

The railroad's dispatcher at Slaton reported a faulty journal, or wheel bearing, caused a car loaded with potash ore to jump the track late Sunday, and the pileup followed.

About one-fourth mile of track was ripped off. Railroad workers used heavy equipment to shove the derailed cars aside. They said the line would be cleared in time to prevent any delays or detours of passenger trains.

Another derailment was reported Sunday across the New Mexico line near Artesia. Santa Fe employees said 31 cars of potash from mines near Carlsbad, N.M., were off the track near Artesia.

Lonborg Carries Bosox Hopes In Series Today

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals chirped merrily while the Boston Red Sox sang the blues today as they awaited the fifth, and possibly final, game of the 64th World Series.

The Cardinals took a commanding 3-1 lead in the best-of-7 series by defeating the Red Sox 6-0 behind Bob Gibson's five-hit pitching Sunday, but the National League champs shied from making any predictions.

"We don't know whether we'll go back to Boston or not," Manager Red Schoendienst said before falling back on the time-worn cliché, "we'll play them one game at a time."

Boston Manager Dick Williams, disappointed but not disheartened, faced the facts of life realistically.

DO OR DIE

"We have our backs to the wall," Williams said. "Now it's do-or-die."

Asked if the Red Sox would try to duplicate Boston's comeback from 1-3 to win the first World Series in 1903, Williams grinned and replied: "That's something I didn't know—I wasn't around in 1903. But I'll tell you one thing: We'll give it everything we've got."

"Sure, the odds are against us," Williams said. "But they've been that way all season. We're not giving up now. We've come back all year long, so let's see what happens."

"I know we've looked bad the past couple of days, but we looked bad at times during the season. Nobody quit then and nobody will now. We're rebounding all along the way and I'm proud of every one of the fellows."

Tech Falls Off Cloud Nine, Joins Blue Monday Society

By The Associated Press

Cloud nine has disappeared over the South Plains of Texas and Texas Tech has rejoined the Southwest Conference.

The Red Raiders, who only a week ago looked to be in a class by themselves after upsetting Texas, were looking somewhere else last Saturday night.

Mississippi State slipped into Lubbock with the distinction of having scored only one touchdown in two losing games while giving up 54 points and flew away on Tech's pink cloud with a 7-3 victory.

State doubled its season point production on the first play of the second quarter, then held unbeaten Tech, 10th ranked in The Associated Press poll last week, to 87 yards rushing and 110 passing. A fourth quarter field goal of 43 yards by Ken Vinyard averted a shutout.

While Tech proposed membership in the conference's Blue Monday Society, Texas and Arkansas began to see some silver in the dark clouds that had engulfed the first two weeks of their football seasons.

The Longhorns and Razorbacks started one-game winning streaks by whipping Oklahoma State 19-0 and Texas Christian 26-0, respectively.

The Razorbacks go to Waco Saturday night for an engagement with Baylor, which also ended a two-game losing streak last week by edging Washington State 10-7 for only the fourth

Dolphins Blanked By Chiefs, 41-0

KANSAS CITY (AP) — When you're only No. 2 you have to try harder, according to the Kansas City Chiefs. The Miami Dolphins just wish it wasn't so hard on them.

The Chiefs, defending American Football League champions but only in second place in the AFL's Western Division right now, held the Dolphins scoreless for the second time this season Sunday in winning 41-0.

But the big news came after the game when the Chiefs announced they had traded reserve quarterback Pete Beathard to the Houston Oilers for defensive tackle Ernie Ladd, quarterback Jackie Lee and the Oilers' first draft choice in 1968.

Bell Wins Pair Off Odessa Team

Harold Bell, driving his '66 Corvette, won two of three in matched races with the Wise Brothers racing team of Odessa in the Concho Dragway races Sunday.

Bell also captured street eliminator money. Autrey Moore won the M stock trophy and was runnerup for little eliminator money.

Runners-Up Get Chance

By The Associated Press

San Antonio and Tulsa take the week off, giving the other teams a chance to slow the Texas Football league leaders' runaway race for division honors.

Undefeated San Antonio made it eight in a row Sunday with a 42-10 victory over Odessa-Midland despite the strong defensive effort by both teams through the first three quarters and up to the last few minutes.

BUFFALO WINS, 17-16

Scarpitto's 'Run' Gives Winning Margin To Bills

By The Associated Press

Len Dawson, Kansas City's conservative quarterback, was at his ad lib best but Bob Scarpitto, Denver's impromptu punter, would have been better off sticking to his script.

Dawson hurled five touchdown passes, touching off the spree with a 77-yarder on a broken play, as the Chiefs bombed Miami 41-0 in the American Football League Sunday.

Scarpitto, trying to run from punting position on a fourth down, was swarmed under by Buffalo defenders, giving the Bills possession and setting up Buffalo's 17-16 victory over Denver.

In Sunday's other game, San Diego rallied behind John Hadl for a 31-31 tie against Boston. Saturday night, New York knocked off previously-unbeaten Oakland 27-14.

Scarpitto, who had pulled off six straight successful runs from punting position, had the string broken but good by the Bills.

Denver was leading 16-10 in the fourth quarter when Scarpitto gambled and lost in a fourth and 11 situation. A 15-yard penalty for piling on the poor punter pushed the Bills back to Denver's 44 but six plays later Keith Lincoln barreled in for the tying touchdown and Mike Mercer kicked the decisive extra point.

Hadl brought the Chargers back with a pair of fourth quarter TD passes that tied Boston. Hadl hit Willie Frazier with a four-yard scoring pitch and Lance Alworth on a 24-yarder. He completed 17-of-29 for 249 yards in the game.

The Raiders suffered their first setback of the season when New York defeated them 27-14 Saturday night. Emerson Boozer, the league's leading scorer, ran for 98 yards on 18 carries and scored two TDs, running his season's total to eight.

Lone Star Title Game In Making

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Texas Bobcats last won a Lone Star Conference football championship in 1962; the Howard Payne Yellow Jacks have never won it.

The two undefeated teams meet in Brownwood Saturday night in what could be the title game although there will be five more conference games to be played.

The surprising Yellow Jacks have reeled off four straight victories, including a 20-0 conquest of previously unbeaten Sam Houston last week to open the conference race.

The Bobcats, with a good passer in left-handed quarterback Jesse Perkins and strong runners in Reece and David Morrison, who are not related, also have four victories, including a 47-13 triumph over Sul Ross in the conference.

Visitors May Seek More Ducats

Midland may take second thoughts about its ticket order for the game here Friday against the Big Spring Steers. Two weeks ago when the Bulldogs ordered, they asked for 300 adult and 500 student ducats. But Friday the Dogs turned San Angelo's Angry Orange into the Miffed Mauve, 21-12, while Big Spring was taking a lesson from Midland Lee, 19-7.

Tickets will go on sale at the school business office here at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday and will continue until 2 p.m. Friday.

Midland Lee has not yet reported final figures in last Friday's game. Big Spring sold 1,005 adult and 432 student tickets, and scores of other fans bought their tickets at Midland.

Rice's Trainer Dies Sunday

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Eddie Wojeki, Rice University's head trainer since 1945, will be buried in Calvary Cemetery after funeral services at 10 a.m. Tuesday in St. Vincent Depaul Catholic Church.

Wojeki, who was 56, died early Sunday of a heart attack.

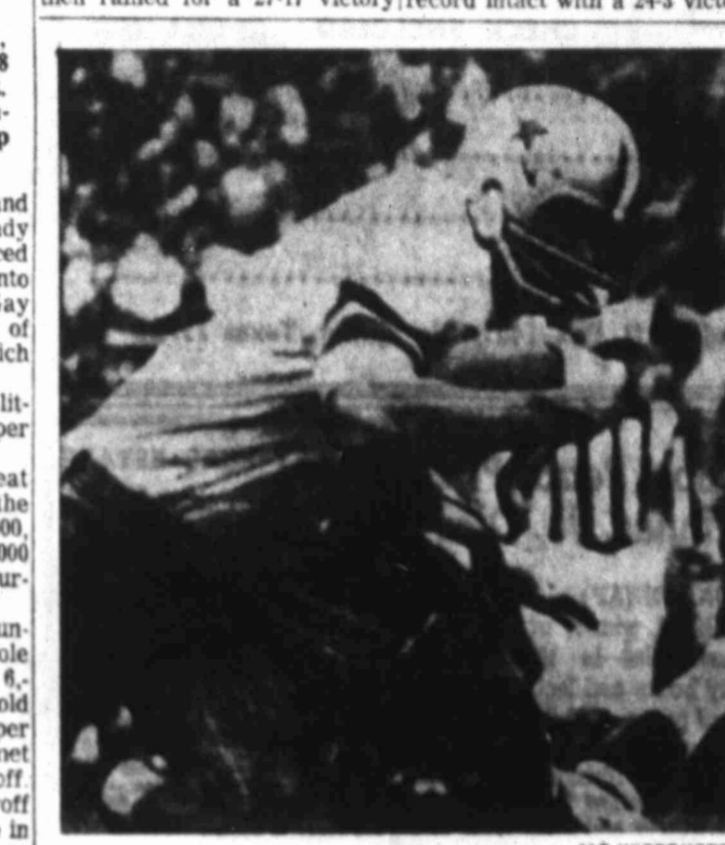

Packers Scramble To Win, Brodie Humbles LA Rams

By The Associated Press

Vince Lombardi ignored the panic button and the Green Bay Packers scrambled back to daylight.

John Brodie flipped the safety switch and the Los Angeles Rams stumbled in the dark.

The Packers spotted Detroit a 10-0 first-quarter lead Sunday, then rallied for a 27-17 victory

Cowboy Hero

Dan Reeves, Dallas Cowboy back shows picking up a few yards against Washington in the second quarter before being stopped by Rickie Harris, Redskins safety man, was the final hero in the 17-14 Dallas victory. He took a TD pass in the last 18 seconds from Don Meredith.

Cowboys Pull Win Out In Final 18 Seconds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dallas running back Dan Reeves was worried: He was all alone, the goal line was so close and quarterback Don Meredith's pass just hung in the air.

"I didn't think about dropping it," Reeves said after the Cowboys defeated the Washington Redskins 17-14. "I just didn't think it was coming down."

Meredith hit Reeves on a 36-yard touchdown play that began with only 18 seconds remaining. It was a Washington defensive mistake—set up by the Dallas offense—on which the Cowboy won despite the strong defensive effort by both teams through the first three quarters and up to the last few minutes.

"STAYED TOO LONG"

"Reeves was Chris Hanburger's man all the way," said Washington Coach Otto Graham. "He was simply helping out another defender and stayed too long."

"He blew it and he knows it. No one feels worse about it than he does," Graham said. "The first back out is Hanburger's man and he didn't take him."

Reeves, who said he called the play, waited until Lance Rentzel made his move toward the center and then saw right linebacker Hanburger drop off into the middle to provide double coverage. At that moment, Reeves said, he began running his pattern—and out.

"We noticed that after Rentzel had begun to pick up yardage, Hanburger would do a little chucking (hitting the end), then drop off to help the other defenders," Reeves said.

"As soon as I saw him make his move," he said, "I went out and cut toward the sidelines. I was sure the free safety would be picking me up but when I saw him going in, too, I knew there would be no problem."

"NEVER GET THERE"

"When the ball was coming to me—it seemed like it would never get there—I saw Hanburger try to get back," Reeves said. "But it was too late for him."

The Cowboys now tied for first place with Philadelphia in the Capitol Division at 33, barely survived the battle as only a minute before the final touch-down the Redskins—now 2-2—took a 14-10 lead on a Sonny Jurgensen to Charlie Taylor eight-yard touchdown pass play. Up until the last two minutes, it appeared that Danny Villanueva's 27-yard field goal for Dallas in the third period would be enough as both defenses contained running attacks and put constant pressure on Meredith and Jurgensen, throwing both for losses several times.

RENTZEL TD

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said: "We were lucky to win."

Meredith hit Rentzel on a 25-yard touchdown pass play in the middle of the third period and Washington rookie Ray McDonald went over from the one near the end of the first half for the only other scoring in the game.

that kept them atop the National Football League's Central Division with a 3-0-1 mark. Brodie, meanwhile, tossed a 29-yard scoring pass to Sonny Randle in the fourth period that gave the San Francisco 49ers a 27-24 triumph over the previously-unbeaten Rams.

Baltimore kept its perfect record intact with a 24-3 victory over Chicago, Dallas edged Washington 17-14 on a last-minute TD pitch by Don Meredith. Philadelphia mauled Atlanta 38-7 and New York downed New Orleans 27-21 in other Sunday games. Cleveland trimmed Pittsburgh 21-10 Saturday night.

"One thing you learn in this league is not to panic," said Lombardi, the Packers' tough-minded general manager-coach.

Brodie drove the 49ers 69 yards for their winning touchdown at Los Angeles after the Rams had erased a 20-0 halftime deficit to go four points up.

The 49ers, crushed by Baltimore 41-7 a week ago, handed the Rams their first setback in four starts after blowing the first-half bulge in a span of just over 10 minutes in the third period.

Brodie also fired touchdown bombs of 59 and 55 yards to John David Crow and Bob Windsor.

The Colts broke open a defensive struggle at Chicago when rookie Rich Volk raced 97 yards with an intercepted pass and Orzell Braase rumbled nine yards with a recovered fumble for two fourth-quarter touchdowns.

Meredith's 36-yard scoring strike to Dan Reeves with 18 seconds remaining lifted the Cowboys past Washington for their third victory against one loss. One minute earlier, the Redskins had taken a 14-10 lead.

Trailing 24-13 with less than seven minutes to play at Minnesota, the Cardinals, 3-1, struck for three touchdowns behind rookie quarterback Jim Hart and hard-driving halfback Johnny Roland.

Hart tossed a 49-yard scoring pass to Dave Williams and Roland ran for two more tallies as the Cards stayed atop the Century Division.

Norm Sneed threw a 67-yard TD pass to Gary Ballman, hit Mike Ditka with a two-yard payoff pitch and set up another score with a 59-yard pass to Jim Kelly, leading the Eagles, 3-1, past winless Atlanta.

Fran Tarkenton rattled New Orleans for 248 passing yards and two touchdowns in the victory at New York.

"I know we've looked bad the past couple of days, but we looked bad at times during the season. Nobody quit then and nobody will now. We're rebounding all along the way and I'm proud of every one of the fellows."

Steers' Stastical Edge Is Melting Down Steadily

By The Associated Press

Statistical bulge built up in the first two games of the season continued to melt down for the Big Spring Steers after their fourth game and first conference test against Midland Lee.

While the Steers continue to lead in all departments, the margin is considerably smaller than the 2-1 edge after the two openers. The Steers hold an edge of seven first downs, 163 yards rushing, 100 yards passing. They have picked off two more enemy aerials and hold a

Astros Swap Off Sonny Jackson

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Atlanta Braves have come up with a shortstop in Sonny Jackson and the Houston Astros have strengthened their pitching staff by acquiring left-handed Denny Lemaster.

In addition to Jackson, the Braves obtained first baseman Chuck Harrison, who already has been ticketed to the Richmond farm club of the International League.

Houston also got shortstop Denis Menke who had outwitted his welcome with the Braves' management with a 227 season.

Southern Cal Meets Irish In Week's Top College Clash

By The Associated Press

Southern California, which is the top-ranked college football team in the country, and Notre Dame, which used to be, both rolled to convincing victories Saturday, setting up their clash this week as one of the top contests of the season.

The Trojans remained unbeaten by knocking off Stanford 30-0 on touchdown passes of 38 and 29 yards from Steve Soggo to Earl McCulloch and the running of O. J. Simpson.

The Irish, knocked down first, to sixth in the rankings by losing to Purdue a week earlier, came roaring back and pounded Iowa 51-6. The clubs meet at South Bend, Ind., Saturday and Southern Cal may be inspired by the memory of the 51-0 drubbing it took from the Irish last season.

Houston, ranked second last week, got a surprise before a record crowd of 82,483 in the Astrodome when North Carolina State rallied from a six-point halftime deficit and beat the Cougars 16-4.

The only other team in the Top Ten to lose was Texas Tech. No. 10, humbled 7-3 by previously winless Mississippi State. A couple of other top teams had their problems in winning, however.

UCLA, ranked third, pulled out a 17-15 victory over Penn State when the Bruins scored after blocking a punt in the third quarter. Purdue, rated fourth after upsetting Notre Dame a week ago, came from 10-points behind to beat Northwestern 25-14.

And seventh-rated Nebraska beat Kansas State 16-14 when Bill Bomberger kicked a 51-yard field goal with 1:11 left in the game.

Georgia, ranked fifth, Colorado, No. 8, and ninth-rated Alabama all won with ease.

Bedroom Bats Pain Viewer; Bad Guys Die

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Over the years, most viewers have grown accustomed to television fights—the hand-to-hand battles that finally end when the battered hero summons strength for one roundhouse punch—or lately, a short judo chop to the back of the villain's neck. Mostly, we watch with bored, callous indifference.

We seem to react these days with a yawn when the good soldiers fire a burst of machine-gun bullets and the bad guys—usually Nazis—fall dead over a convenient log.

SHOCK STUFF
But it seems now that the recipe for keeping the viewers tuned in—or maybe just awake—is to load the shows with a little more off-beat violence, a little more shock stuff. Sunday night, for example, "High Chaparral" on NBC recorded in detail the scene of a man with a broken leg having it set without anesthetics. This included closeups of his face wreathed in pain and of the damaged leg—all in living color. This proved painful to the squeamish viewer, and the logical move was to CBS for "Mission: Impossible." There one found that, for no perceptible demands from the plot, bats were deliberately unleashed in the bedroom of a sleeping couple.

The result was, of course, screams of horror and much running around. After sufficient time had elapsed, the disturbance was used to cover the kidnapping of the woman while her frightened husband was still brushing bats out of his hair.

If the nefarious villains of this piece had dreamed up this improbable diversionary tactic it would have been bad enough, but in this case the clever scheme was hatched by the white hats of the series.

Earlier in the day in a network broadcast of a professional football game, two players were knocked out in a play. In past seasons, it usually seemed that the cameras turned away from injuries in almost unseemly haste, picking up the contretemps only when the injured player was being helped off the field.

In the Sunday broadcast, however, the camera lingered on the two prone figures and seemed to cut away almost reluctantly.

All this was by way of almost ironic contrast to Friday night's NBC special program, "Raymond Burr Visits Vietnam." It was a low key, warm and affectionate report, almost a travelogue, about a nation involved in a war.

U.S. Ambassador To Leave Ecuador

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Wymberley DeR. Coerr prepared to leave Ecuador today after the Ecuadorian government requested his withdrawal for what it called "publicly and openly criticizing" President Otto Arosemena Gomez.

Ecuador's complaint was over a speech in which Coerr, 54, defended the Alliance for Progress and called it a success in Ecuador. Arosemena had criticized the American program in a speech two weeks ago.

WITHDRAWAL

"The Ecuadorian government saw itself forced to ask for his withdrawal to protect the national dignity and demand the respect due by a foreign envoy to the chief of state," a Foreign Office statement said.

Coerr, a career minister and member of the Foreign Service since 1939, spoke Friday at the American School in Guayaquil. Ecuador asked Washington Saturday to have him out of the country by tonight.

The U.S. State Department said that under traditional diplomatic practice its only possible response is withdrawal of the ambassador. It considers Ecuador's request "to be unjustified by the circumstances" but added that it sees no reason to ask Ecuador's ambassador to withdraw in retaliation.

RATES RIPPED

Coerr's speech did not name the Ecuadorian president but it did quote a number of remarks made by Arosemena as published in Ecuador's newspapers.

Arosemena had complained about high interest rates for loans, high costs for materials that had to be bought in the United States and the cost of the services of U.S. technicians under the Alliance for Progress.

In his speech, Coerr said interest rates were one per cent in the first year and 2.5 per cent thereafter. He said that of the total of $216 million in alliance loans to Ecuador, only $26.5 million had to be spent in the United States and only half of one per cent was needed to pay U.S. technicians.

He acknowledged some alliance failure in Ecuador but said "The alliance not only has been a success in the economical aspects in Ecuador but also in the social progress of this country."

Yes, Virginia, Santa Will Show

DEMING, N.M. (AP) — If there are any little girls in Deming named Virginia, they can take heart that there'll be a Santa Claus again this year.

The Deming Chamber of Commerce got more than it bargained for when it decided to cancel this year's community Christmas lighting program due to lack of funds.

Townpeople got a bit critical with one woman writing: "If you cheap old merchants won't even ask for Christmas lights to put us in a spending mood we'll just shop at neighboring cities where they do appreciate us."

So, a local bottler, Joe Stevens, who says he was "all shook up just imagining no Christmas lights," and a local auto dealer have started a Christmas decorating fund.

Their goal is $3,000 to buy new lights and pole decorations.
