OTHERS DROP

Lung Cancer Deaths Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Cancer Society reports a continued rise in lung cancer deaths, while the fatality rates for most other types of the disease have been dropping.

The society, which began its annual convention Sunday, again linked cigarette smoking with lung cancer.

The report said the death rate for lung cancer in the last decade was up 35 per cent for males and 46 per cent for females.

C-City Youth Killed

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Sammy Leroy Parham, 18, Colorado City oil field worker, was killed in an automobile accident south of Snyder, early Sunday morning.

Funeral will be held at 5 p.m. today in the Oak Street Baptist Church with Rev. Caddo Mathews, pastor of the Plainview Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery, with Kiker and Son Funeral Home in charge.

Parham was born in Colorado City, July 3, 1949, and had attended Colorado City schools.

Survivors

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Billie Jean Parham, Colorado City; his paternal grandparents, Mrs. Hattie Parham, Colorado City; and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Wingo, Colorado City.

Additional survivors include an eight-month-old daughter, Jackie Renee, Colorado City; a sister, Mrs. Thomas Huff, Colorado City; and four brothers, Danny, Romie, Lynn and Jimmy, the latter three of the home.

Purple-K For Fires

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. aircraft carriers operating off Vietnam now have a "miracle chemical" called Purple-K for combatting fires such as the one which caused the disaster aboard the carrier Forrestal.

The new fire-fighting equipment has been in use for about one month, Vice Adm. John J. Hyland said today at a news conference. Hyland has been commander of the 7th Fleet operating off Vietnam.

Forms A Light Film

He said the Purple-K is a chemical mixed with water which forms a light film that blankets fires and snuffs them out in far less time than anything known previously.

Hyland gave no details of the method used to apply the chemical.

Bandits Grab Gems

NEW YORK (AP) — Three gunmen wearing Halloween masks held up a cargo hangar of American Airlines at Kennedy Airport Sunday night and made off with $102,000 in cash and sapphires and rubies from the Far East.

The bandits appeared at the hangar, in a remote section of the sprawling airport.

Armed With Pistols

The trio, armed with pistols, rounded up an unarmed guard and six freight clerks, then locked them in the hangar.

The cash and gems were being transhipped from the Far East.

Special For Girls

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The City of San Francisco is operating special schools for teenage girls who have been banned from regular classrooms because they are pregnant.

The schools are part of four centers providing a constellation of services — educational, medical, recreational and psychological.

Enrollment Of 112

The program, supervised by the San Francisco Unified School District, has a present enrollment of 112 girls. Their ages range from 12 to 17.

The ultimate goal for the "physically handicapped" — as these girls are designed — is described as rehabilitative.

Program director Elaine Wolfe said that when the plan was first thought of, out-of-wedlock births to increasingly young adolescents were on the rise and it was recognized that these young girls and their babies were a high risk, both medically and in terms of possible social disorder.

Mrs. Wolfe also said a study of 100 adolescent girls who had borne babies showed that within five years they had borne a total of 440 illegitimate children.

Smoke Rises From Fire

Huge clouds of smoke rises from brush fires along the crest of mountains in the Santa Susana Pass in west end of the San Fernando Valley Sunday. Twenty-two homes were destroyed in the Chatsworth area.

Fire Sweeps Through Homes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A searing brush fire swept into another Los Angeles residential area today, boosting to 26 the number of homes left gutted in its path and threatening about 100 more on nearby hillsides.

ONE OF TWO

The fire near suburban Chatsworth about 30 miles northwest of Los Angeles was one of two major blazes which have blackened an estimated 26,000 acres and left one person dead since Sunday.

Tired firemen, who battled through the night, said the major danger was that hot, dry winds might return.

At the most destructive point of the 10,000-acre Chatsworth fire four homes were reported destroyed today.

Some 100 other stood in the path of the flames.

There were 22 homes destroyed Sunday in the area.

SECOND

To the southwest—about 10 charred miles away—a second fire front burned toward new homes about three miles east of Thousand Oaks. However, firemen said no homes there were immediately threatened.

About 1,000 firemen fought the fingers of fire which nibbled over hills and into canyons and gulches.

Fire officials said the Chatsworth blaze combined with a 3,000-acre fire in the Simi Valley of southern Ventura County. Both fires were burning on a 20-mile perimeter bordering

US 101, the Ventura Freeway. Fire department spokesmen said Janet Cameron was killed at Simi when a fire truck collided with her car. Two firemen and other motorists were hospitalized. Traffic on the Ventura Freeway to the Simi area was backed up for eight miles at one point.

LOST EVERYTHING

"I lost everything," said Edward Collins whose home went up in flames. "Everything—house and furnishings. My son and daughter lost their home too. I stayed to fight the fire until it got so hot I had to leave. Now I have nowhere to go. All I have is on my back—pajama top, trousers and shoes."

No homes were damaged in Simi but a tract of homes near Thousand Oaks was threatened during the night. The fire burned around the rocketry testing center of North American Rockwell Corp., destroying several small sheds.

A blaze threatened homes in the residential suburb of Whittier about 15 miles southeast of Los Angeles.

CONTINUED

"It burned right up to the back doors of some houses," a Los Angeles County fire official said, but the flames were contained before there was any structural damage.

In Santa Paula, 100 miles northwest of Los Angeles, two ranches were destroyed in a blaze that had swept across 16,000 acres.

ACCUSES GOP OF 'BUCK PASSING'

Mahon Is In Middle Of Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the most popular members of the House is in the middle of the budget battle between Congress and President Johnson, and seems to be enjoying every minute of it.

IN THE EYE

"It's like being in the eye of a hurricane, so to speak," comments Rep. George Mahon, rangy Texas Democrat who heads the House Appropriations Committee.

In addition to being the main congressional spokesman on appropriations—which originate in his committee—Mahon is a long-standing friend of his fellow Texan, President Johnson.

They thoroughly understand each other—an understanding of their long friendship and of almost weekly chats.

"The President has his responsibilities and I have mine," Mahon said in an interview. "I don't want to delegate to the President my responsibility as chairman of the Appropriations Committee and I'm sure he wouldn't want me to."

NOT PROPER

"I have too much pride and too much respect for Congress to abdicate our authority and tell the President to make $5 billion in budget cuts anywhere he wants to. I don't believe that is the proper way to run a democratic government."

The reference to the $5 billion was to Republican insistence that as the price for providing emergency government financing, the President should be ordered to cut that sum from spending this year.

The administration contends it can't cut the budget until it knows how much money will be available. Many bills providing the money haven't cleared Congress.

PASSING BUCK

Mahon calls the GOP proposal "buck passing."

"It amounts to passing the buck to the President and downgrading Congress," he said. "It would be far less painful and more politically expedient for us to tell the President to do it, but we would lose our stature with the public."

Mahon has been fighting the Republican proposal for several months and has come close to losing the battle. He still may lose it.

But he won't lose his composure or his ever-present friendly smile.

"I don't mind a good fight," he said. "I rather enjoy it. There's nothing personal involved. I was a district attorney for seven years and I don't mind crossing swords."

OBJECTIVE

Mahon said: "The President has been very objective in his dealings with me. There's been no arm twisting."

Mahon's personal relationship with Johnson dates to 1935 when Mahon came to Congress and Johnson was an administrative aide to former Rep. Richard Kleberg of Texas.

The chairman's looks belie his age, 67. He was born in 1900 in Haynesville, La., but moved to Texas in 1908. He is from Colorado City.

He keeps his athletic appearance by exercising regularly.

"I'm an apostle of the strenuous life," he said. "I like to walk and I take calisthenics every day. I play golf when I can. I love to hunt rabbits and birds. I work hard and I try to get to bed by 10:30 at night and get up at 7 in the morning. I don't drink or smoke, but I have nothing against others doing it. I don't go in for a heavy social life. I avoid the banquet circuit as much as I can."

HOBBIES

Mahon's domestic hobbies are reading, "good art and good music."

He and his wife, the former Helen Stevenson of Loraine, live in a modest Washington apartment. They have been married since 1923 and have one daughter and three grandchildren.

Supervisor Resigns Post

Billy Paul Thomas, Howard County road administrator, has resigned from his post effective Nov. 1, he announced today at the meeting of the Howard County Commissioners Court.

Thomas will take a position with the Uvalde Rock Asphalt Co., as sales representative for this area. He will continue to make his home in Big Spring, he said.

Thomas has been with the county road and bridge department since 1956 with the exception of a nine-month interval when he worked for the Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. He has served as road administrator since 1960.

As road administrator he has been in charge of the county's road and bridge department — the largest operation of the county governmental complex. For sometime now he has had no assistant.

His new job, he said, calls for him to serve the area beginning at Abilene and extending west.

"I regret leaving the county," he said, "but the opportunity offered by the Uvalde company is too good to pass up."

The commissioners apparently had no advance knowledge of Thomas' plan to quit. He told the court he would stay until the end of the month but would like to be relieved of his duties by Nov. 1.

ONE GIFT

THE UNITED WAY

works many wonders

Mystery Weapons Awaiting Shipment

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence experts are puzzling over mysterious shrouded shapes spotted in a Communist Chinese rally yard just above the North Vietnamese border.

At first, some experts thought the shapes might be tanks covered by tarpaulins on rail flatcars.

ARTILLERY

But sources say there is a growing belief the objects may be heavy self-propelled artillery, possibly bigger than any guns yet used by the North Vietnamese.

U.S. Marines at Con Thien already have been battered by Communist artillery from north of the boundary separating North Vietnam from South Vietnam.

About eight tarpaulin-covered objects are among the mass of materiel which U.S. authorities said has been building up in the big rail complex of Ping Hsiang, which lies on the important train line between Hanoi and Nanning in south China. Officials said the Chinese obviously have been stockpiling supplies and rail rolling stock at Ping Hsiang in preparation for the extended period of bad weather, now closing in.

UNDER COVER

Under cover of this heavy rain and clouds, the Communists can hope to move supplies over the battered—but repaired—rail line to Hanoi while foul weather badly hampers U.S. bombing.

Sources said self-propelled artillery has been reported being unloaded from Soviet ships in Chinese ports.

Some government sources said there are indications the Soviets may be bypassing the port of Haiphong with war materiel and landing it instead in Red China, for shipment by rail and truck to North Vietnam.

The shapes which appear in U.S. reconnaissance photos are of the dimensions of either tanks or heavy self-propelled artillery, sources said. As always, they would not discuss the origin of the pictures.

Marine authorities in Washington have said the biggest guns known to be firing at Con Thien are about 130 millimeters. Such guns could reach about 18 miles south of the Ben Hai River boundary between North and South Vietnam, covering much of the important Marine front and extending to a point just above the city of Quang Tri.

BOMBARDING

Recently, Pentagon officials said somewhere around 70 Communist artillery pieces have been bombarding these Marine positions.

Ordnance officers suggested the mystery weapons possibly awaiting movement south from Ping Hsiang could be 152 millimeter Soviet heavy assault guns.

These have about a 20-mile reach and hurl a heavier projectile than the artillery the Communists now have trained on Con Thien.

Bomb Mishap Kills Three

2nd Mistake In 3 Days

SAIGON (AP)—A U.S. Marine plane accidentally hit the Marine outpost of Con Thien with a bomb Sunday, killing three Marines and wounding nine in the second mistaken bombing there in three days.

Communist shellfire wounded another eight Marines at the muddy base guarding Red infiltration routes just south of the demilitarized zone.

KILLED

A mistaken bombing Friday killed two Marines and wounded 21. Both incidents were being investigated.

The defenders of Con Thien came under repeated savage shelling last month from North Vietnamese believed attempting to take the outpost but overwhelming American firepower beat back the assaults.

Weather hampered strikes against North Vietnam Sunday and halted all raids around the vital port of Haiphong but the man who has commanded the Haiphong campaign promised more missions in the continuing effort to isolate the port.

CUT BRIDGES

Holding a farewell news conference in Saigon before leaving for command of the Pacific Fleet in Hawaii, the 7th Fleet commander, Vice Adm. John J. Hyland Jr., said the recent raids had cut all four of the city's main bridges.

Acknowledging that the North Vietnamese were repairing the bridges and had set up temporary pontoon structures, Hyland said Navy planes would hit them again "when the time is ripe."

Hyland made no direct comment on whether he was satisfied with the recent gradual relaxation of the Pentagon's ban on raids against certain sensitive targets in the North. But he said military men want "all those targets turned loose."

The U.S. Command reported heavy damage to at least three

Bombed Areas

Map locates Con Thien (A) where the U.S. Marine outpost was accidentally hit with a bomb by a plane Sunday. B52 bombers blasted the Mu Gia Pass (B) in North Vietnam while American fighter-bombers have knocked down all four main bridges leading out of Haiphong (C).

of five targets in the Hanoi-Haiphong area that were hit for the first time Saturday. They included boat yards, a storage area and a radar installation.

It also reported three planes losses over the weekend but said none was connected with raids in the Hanoi-Haiphong area. They brought to 701 the number of combat planes announced as downed over the North.

Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots were barred from the North Vietnamese heartland Sunday by bad weather. All 125 missions flown during the day were directed at supply lines stretching south from Hanoi to the demilitarized zone.

U.S. planes have been trying to damage Communist supply lines as much as possible before the impending start of steady bad weather.

AIRFIELD

A U.S. spokesman said the raiders hit the small airfield of Bai Thung northwest of Vinh.

The field, now used mainly as a storage area, was one of 12 airports originally listed by the Pentagon as worthy targets. These included six smaller fields and six MIG airports. All have been bombed with the exception of the major MIG fields at Phuc Yen and Gia Lam, both in the Hanoi area.

U.S. B52 bombers, which play a major role in the battle around Con Thien, swept into North Vietnam 50 miles above the demilitarized zone, their deepest raid in 10 months and blasted the Mu Gia Pass. This is the main entry to the Ho Chi Minh trail, which carries Communist troops and supplies through Laos and Cambodia to South Vietnam.

KEPT AWAY

The eight-engine, $8-million bombers are usually kept away from possible danger from North Vietnamese missiles, which can reach them even at the 30,000-foot altitudes where they fly.

The bombers struck truck parks, supply concentrations and fuel storage sites at the pass after coming from Thailand over Laos so they would be in North Vietnam only briefly.

California Woman Burns Self To Death Sunday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The husband of the 56-year-old woman, who police say burned herself to death on the steps of the Federal Building, says she "had a deep feeling against the slaughter in Vietnam" and "must have felt she had to do this."

VICTIM

Police identified the victim as Florence Beaumont of suburban La Puente, wife of a commercial artist, George Beaumont, and mother of daughters aged 18 and 20.

Beaumont said his wife had told him, "It's not worth living when you have no redress from your representatives. All you receive from this is form letters." A Federal Building security guard said the woman poured a can of gasoline over her body and set herself on fire Sunday afternoon.

Police said the woman was apparently dead before a federal guard put the flames out with a fire extinguisher.

Officers said they found literature opposing the Vietnam war in Mrs. Beaumont's purse and in the pickup truck she parked nearby.

ACTIVE

Mrs. Beaumont's husband said she was active in antiwar groups in the Los Angeles area. "She was a perfectly normal, dedicated person, and felt she had to do this just like the people who burned themselves in Vietnam," he said.

REPRESENTING STATES, CITIES, COLLEGES IN GROWING NUMBERS

Lobbyists Seek Favors From Uncle Sam's Money Tree

WASHINGTON (AP) — An estimated annual cost of nearly $2 billion, more and more cities and states are deploying their own lobbyists in the nation's capital to seek a bountiful harvest of federal favors from Uncle Sam's money tree.

SIX years ago only one state had a full-time liaison office here. Now 14 states have dispatched special representatives—4 in recent months—and more are on the way. In addition, at least 22 cities and a dozen or so colleges have hired Washington agents.

These envoys bristle when called lobbyists, and they apparently aren't required to register as such although two of them do. Their goals and tactics nonetheless bear striking resemblance to those of lobbyists—registered as required by law—for big corporations, labor unions and pressure groups.

Fanning out daily from converted townhouses on Capitol Hill and glass-fronted office buildings within sight of the White House, the city and state lobbyists use salesmanship, cajolery, flattery and pressure to help their clients—the folks back home—obtain federal grants, loans, defense contracts, government installations or pork barrel projects.

BIGGER SLICE Their scramble for a bigger slice of the federal fiscal pie is intense. Lobbyists sometimes even draft amendments to pending legislation, then peddle them to friendly congressmen or influential congressional aides.

"This is a very competitive business," says Peter F. Tufo, former Wall Street lawyer who heads New York Mayor John Lindsay's Washington outpost.

"There just isn't enough money to go around." Tufo adds, "is getting the maximum amount of federal money into the city."

Illinois' man in Washington, Edward D. Heffernan, views his missions similarly: "Getting a fair portion of federal expenditures into our state." In the view of some other states, Illinois got more than its fair share last year when it landed a $75 million atomic accelerator—described as the scientific prize of the century.

"ABSURD" One of the newest liaison men, D. Michael B. Thompson of Florida, says it is the "absurd" bigness of the federal government that has forced cities and states to resort to lobbying for federal favors.

Interviewed in his red-carpeted office suite two floors above the Republican National Committee headquarters, Thompson also said, "We're developing a whole new breed of bureaucrats—people who know how to fill out all these forms" required when cities and states apply for federal aid.

The growth in the new breed of lobbyists parallels the upward spiral in federal aid programs. In 1960 federal grants amounted to about $9 billion. This year they total $17 billion and officials estimate the figure will swell to $20 billion by 1975.

DEFENSE In addition, defense procurement now is proceeding at a $50 billion-a-year clip.

Even as they compete for individual grants and contracts, city and state forces are on opposing sides in a behind-the-scenes battle with significant long-range implications.

At stake is a fuzzy point of federal policy: Should all grants be funneled through the state governments, or should those affecting the cities be sent directly to city halls, bypassing the state level?

The administration's anti-crime bill provided the vehicle for a recent skirmish over this question.

The White House originally proposed that grants to improve local law enforcement be made directly to the cities. But House members, under prodding from state forces, amended the bill so states would receive the money and disperse it to cities with plans meeting state standards.

NOT WHIPPED The bill now is in Senate committee and city lobbyists are mounting a counterattack to restore the original language. "We're not whipped yet," one of them said.

The National Governors' Conference set up a six-man Washington lobby in March to supplement the work of the individual state representatives. Counting its $265,000 budget, states are spending about $1 million a year for lobbying activities. Add on the amount that cities and universities spend and the total approaches $2 million.

New York established its Washington office in 1942 to help state firms get defense contracts. It wasn't until 1961 that another state, California, set up a permanent office. Then came West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Guam, Texas, Missouri, Florida, Kentucky, Massachusetts and Maryland—the last four this year.

NEW JERSEY New Jersey plans to have its own representative in Washington by the end of October to help secure grants for the state. Connecticut, Iowa and Nebraska are considering such a step. Each had officials in Washington last week surveying present state offices.

Oklahoma bucked the trend. Its Democratic-controlled legislature last year abolished a Washington office created a year earlier by a Republican governor.

A Georgia legislative committee studied the idea recently but dropped it when the state's congressional delegation voiced loud opposition.

California is leading the pack with a dozen separate Washington offices. Besides the regular liaison office, complete with gold carpets and color pictures of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan, the Democratic-controlled state legislature has set up its own office here.

COLLEGES The University of California has a Washington office, as does the state college system. And there are individual representatives here for Los Angeles County, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, the City of Los Angeles—plus six other California cities: San Francisco, Long Beach, Oakland, San Diego, Napa and Vallejo.

California's cultivation of the federal decision-makers seems to have paid off handsomely. Last year the nation's most populous state received a whopping $20.4 billion from Washington and led nearly every category—defense spending $11 billion; health, education and welfare, $3.5 billion; space programs, $1.9 billion.

Reagan's Washington representative, crew-cut Edgar M. Gilenwaters, also serves as a "political listening post" for his boss, a rising star in the Republican presidential derby. He fires off one-page reports—he calls them "mini-memos"—to Reagan almost daily.

SURVEY In addition to New York and the California communities, a survey disclosed these other cities have full or part-time representatives in Washington: Boston, New Orleans, Omaha, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Seattle, Dallas, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Portsmouth, N.H.; Dayton, Ohio; Hampton, Newport News, Norfolk and Virginia Beach, Va., and Jackson County (Kansas City-Independence), Mo.

The new lobbyists have flocked to Washington in such numbers that Pennsylvania's representative, James E. Van Zandt, a white-haired 68-year-old former congressman and retired admiral, jokes he is running "a school of instruction to give these boys an education."

The trend toward more state lobbyists likely will continue. "I would bet you that in 5 or 10 years, there will be 48 or 49 of them," said Heffernan of Illinois.

CHURCH-STATE ISSUE

Court To Decide On Taxpayers Filing Suits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide if taxpayers can bring lawsuits challenging federal education programs that aid parochial schools.

This means the court will re-examine a 1923 decision that has barred individual taxpayers from going to court to try to block large-scale government spending programs.

Thus the court directly stepped into the controversial church-state area for the first time since its 1964 ruling barring required Bible reading in the public schools.

The target of the current lawsuit is assistance to parochial schools under the 1965 federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

A three-judge federal court in New York City dismissed the suit, brought by seven civic and education leaders, last June by a 2-1 vote.

This prevented determination of the taxpayers' claim that spending of federal funds for parochial schools violates the principle of church-state separation contained in the 1st Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

U.S. Circuit Court Judge Paul R. Hays, joined by U.S. District Judge John F. X. McGohery, said the seven taxpayers had no standing to sue because they could not show they directly suffered damages.

U.S. District Court Judge Melvin E. Frankel dissented, saying taxpayers have the right to attack a law "respecting an establishment of religion."

The test case was supported by the American Jewish Congress, the New York Civil Liberties Union, the United Federation of Teachers and the United Parents Associations.

The federal program provides funds to finance guidance services, purchase of textbooks and some instruction in religiously operated schools.

AT SAND SPRINGS

County To Help Pay For Fire Station

Howard County Commissioners Court today approved an expenditure up to $3,500 for materials on a building to house the volunteer fire department of the Midway-Sand Springs community. W. C. Westbrook and T. S. Marvin represented the citizens of the two communities, at the meeting.

They told the court that Harvey Hooser had donated a lot in the heart of the Sand Springs community as a site for a 30 by 40 foot concrete or cinder block building. The building will be constructed with volunteer labor — with the electric wiring and plumbing to be performed by professionals. The committeemen asked the county to contribute the money to buy the blocks, run the concrete slab for the floor, and pay for the roof beams and other material.

It was estimated the maximum needed would be $3,500 but that it was possible the money needed would be much less.

When the building is finished it will be deeded to the county and the structure will serve not only to house the fire truck but will be available for elections, meetings and other functions of the community.

The two spokesmen said that they had "volunteer firemen running out of our cars." Nearly every man in the community has offered to serve, they said.

A meeting of the community is to be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at which the committee will report on their visit to the commissioners court and work out the next step in providing the Sand Springs area with a fire department.

The motion for the county to provide the funds for the building up to $3,500 was made by Ray Nichols and seconded by Simon Terrazas. It was passed unanimously.

Lee Porter, county judge, told the commissioners that he would have to check with Mrs. Virginia Black, county auditor, and go over the books to find if there is enough money on hand for the county to provide the $3,500.

Helped Solve It DALLAS (AP) — Property owners near Southern Methodist University, where parking is a problem, helped the university solve a side question of a new parking lot in a residential area. The university agreed to a suggestion that the lot be fenced both for protection of children and for appearance.

At the same meeting at which the committee was announced, the Knott Association voted to stage a Halloween Festival on the night of Oct. 28. Any group or organization wishing to have a booth at this festival is asked to contact Mrs. Dan Brasher. A costume contest is planned as a feature.

Mrs. Porter Motley, Mrs. Robert Nichols and Mrs. Louis Harris have been named to a committee to advise the citizens of community services and needs.

A movie on Texas traffic laws was screened for the meeting by Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins.

Would Work Both Ways WASHINGTON (AP) — New legislation to protect American industry from foreign imports would cost the United States some $3.5 billion in export sales, according to President Johnson's special trade negotiator.

"Never in my recent memory," said William M. Roth, U.S. negotiator at the Kennedy Round tariff cutting talks in Geneva, "has there been such a concerted protectionist drive as we are now seeing in Congress."

"The terrifying thing," he said, "is that if a number of the more important bills were passed, this would cause retaliation against our exports, particularly against many of our agricultural products, such as tobacco, cotton, rice, grains, citrus, and also our industrial exports, our farm machinery, our business machinery—all to the tune of an estimated loss of more than $3.5 billion in trade."

Ceramics Club Meets Tuesday

The West Texas Ceramic Association will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College Student Union Building.

Workshop will be conducted by Mrs. Glenn Coates. Each one will participate in a special finish technique using dried glaze crystals and modeling clay.

Mrs. Coates asks members to bring a cleanup tool, spatula and some slip. Slip will be available at the meeting. Modeling clay and glaze crystals will be furnished.

"We would like to invite anyone interested in ceramics to take advantage of this workshop," said Mrs. Robert Fuller, president.

During the business session, officers will be elected.

Stanton Optimist Club To Meet

STANTON (SC) — A breakfast meeting of the Stanton Optimist Club will be held at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Jerry Hanson Electric building, Jerry Hanson, president, presiding.

Walter Cook, vice president of International in Fort Worth, will speak at the meeting. All club members of Zone J, including Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Lamesa and others, are invited to attend.

Big Fiscal Donnybrook Coming Up Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another fiscal donnybrook confronts Congress this week, with the House the arena for action.

Involved, as they have been for weeks, are the issues of taxes, spending, appropriations and whether Congress or the President should take the lead in putting the federal financial house in order.

The big battle comes Wednesday when the House acts on a fourth emergency appropriation bill to put money into the coffers of government agencies whose regular appropriations for the year that started July 1 have not cleared Congress.

Their emergency funding expires next Monday.

The shape of the emergency measure is to be molded at a meeting of the Appropriations Committee today.

Republicans are trying to tie the bill to a requirement that the President cut spending for the fiscal year by at least $5 billion. The President claims that assignment can't be carried out until all the appropriation bills become law.

The GOP came within eight votes of winning when they tried that approach to enforced economy Oct. 3.

Appropriations Committee Democrats are convinced the Senate would not accept the GOP plan. That could cause a House-Senate deadlock that would be difficult to break by next Monday.

They huddled with Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., and tossed around several alternative proposals Friday but reached no decision.

There was strong sentiment, however, for a requirement that the President freeze government employment until Congress finishes its appropriation tasks.

If the Senate went along, that would give Congress a breathing spell to finish the appropriation bills and give the Appropriations Committee time to draft another measure taking back some of the money Congress has appropriated this year and in past years.

Four appropriations bills, all compromises, could be disposed of this week, leaving only a few in the legislative mill. The compromises carry money for military construction programs, the Department of Transportation, the space program and a score of other agencies.

Mahon has promised to present later in the session a general bill rescinding specific appropriations already made. He takes the position that Congress, not the President, should decide where cuts should be made.

The GOP proposal for a mandatory $5 billion reduction doesn't spell out the areas for cuts.

Evangelist, Wife Found Shot To Death

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A young evangelist and his wife were shot to death in their Wichita home early Sunday while their four children were asleep, police said.

The Rev. James Henderson, 27, and his wife Louise, 23, apparently were shot at close range with an automatic pistol, police Lt. Richard Brown said. No weapon was found.

The children range in age from 1 month to 5 years. The eldest, Janice, found the bodies.

The father, shot in the head and a shoulder, was on a living room divan. Mrs. Henderson, shot once in the head, was in a bed with the youngest child, James Jr.

There were no signs of forcible entry to the house and no indication of a struggle, police said.

The Rev. Mr. Henderson, a resident of Wichita seven years, founded the Church of God of the First Born in Daingerfield, Tex.

Killed During Election Fracas

MANILA (AP)—Four persons were killed and two wounded Sunday in two shootings believed connected with the campaign for the Nov. 14 elections, newspapers reported today.

A candidate for mayor of a town in northern Ilocos Norte Province was killed and one of his relatives wounded, reported by town policemen. In Cavite Province, south of Manila, three followers of a candidate for municipal councilor were killed and one wounded from ambush.

At least a score of similar cases have been reported from the provinces in recent weeks. Thousands of local positions and eight seats in the national Senate are at stake in the off-year elections.

Gives Kids To Navy, Too

CORSHAM, England (AP)—Shortley Denman decided that if the Navy was going to keep her husband, John, it could keep her 16-month-old twins, too.

She left the twins, a boy and a girl, along with a bassinette and a week's supply of food and clothes, at the gate of the navy base at Corsham today.

Mrs. Denman's complaint was that after just returning from 18 months in Singapore, her 27-year-old husband had been ordered to leave again and that "John is so much of a stranger at home that our eldest daughter Frances calls him, 'that man.'"

The base chaplain returned the twins to Mrs. Denman and officers agreed to suspend John's travel orders pending a study of his case.

Zoo Operator Local Visitor

Claude Owens, superintendent of Finner Park and Lee Richardson Zoo in Garden City, Kans., was a recent visitor in Big Spring. He was accompanied by Mrs. Owens who manages the swimming pool in the park which is the world's largest free swimming pool, 230 feet by 330 feet and containing 3,000,000 gallons of water.

Owens said in Garden City, population 14,000, their park has approximately 600 birds and animals. The baby animals are taken to the grade schools to be used as part of the educational program.

After visiting the "Big Spring" area, Owens said Big Spring had a natural and beautiful place for a zoo.

Happy 108th Birthday Farmer Frank Purkey of Durant, Okla., celebrated his 108th birthday today. Purkey farmed until he was 90. The native of Tennessee points here to last year's calendar on the day he was 107. He said exercise and tobacco aided his longevity but does not exercise or use tobacco now. He said he never voted because he "couldn't cotton to these politicians."

Dog Interrupts HHH Speech

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — A black dachshund bounded onto the speakers platform at a new junior-senior high school educational complex Sunday interrupting a dedication speech by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

The vice president stooped down, scratched the dog's ears and said:

"I think he has political aspirations."

LBJ To Get No Support From Governors On Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Some Democratic and Republican governors said today that President Johnson will not get an endorsement for his Vietnam war policies during the cruise to the Virgin Islands that most of the nation's governors are undertaking.

Govs. John Connally of Texas and Otto Kerner of Illinois said in separate interviews they will not press for any endorsement of Johnson's Vietnam policies.

Both of the Democratic governors noted that 29 of their colleagues had endorsed the general policies of Johnson in Vietnam at a luncheon Sunday in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The Democrats had reaffirmed their support of the President's course in Vietnam. Most of them had criticized it at a meeting in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., last December, but they retracted the criticism in a St. Louis, Mo., meeting subsequently.

Twenty-three of the 25 Republican governors and 22 of the 25 Democratic governors were expected aboard the liner Independence today for the annual Governors' Conference.

Gov. John Love of Colorado, head of the Republican Governors Association, said he doesn't think the cruise conference will produce any unanimity on Vietnam.

"After all," Love said, "we Republicans are just about as divided as the Democrats on this issue and they have a candidate and we don't."

The declaration of Michigan Gov. George Romney, a Republican, that Johnson was following a "ping-pong" policy in Vietnam seemed to leave the governors as cold as the unsupported statement of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan of California that the United States may be "doing much better in the war than we're being told."

Reagan said Johnson was waiting until a politically opportune time in the 1968 campaign to announce that "we've turned a point in the war and perhaps we're winning."

He spoke on ABC's program "Issues and Answers."

Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio, a Republican who had taken the initiative two years ago in lining up the governors behind Johnson's Vietnam policies, said he is not interested in taking any similar action now.

Asked why, he said he thinks there is too much Republican dissent.

"I'm not running for anything and I'm not supporting anybody who is," Rhodes said.

Three Killed In Turnpike Wreck

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Three persons were killed and three other injured in a three-car pileup during a torrential downpour on the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike Sunday.

The dead were Mrs. Annette Parmenter, 31, of Taloga, Okla.; her brother, James Northcutt, 22, of Fort Worth; and Mrs. Alene Holding, 22, of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Holding's husband, Richard Holding, 33, was seriously injured. Two other persons escaped with minor injuries.

Witnesses told police that one of the vehicles jumped the median strip and slammed into the other two automobiles.

Plane Hit By Lightning

BAYTOWN, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., said lightning struck a plane bringing him here Sunday and "it gave us quite a jolt."

He and his party reported there was no apparent damage.

Yarborough was en route here from Dallas. He said he failed to see the lightning because he was working on a speech dedicating a new $1.2 million dollar technical and vocational education center at Lee College in Baytown.

"I've flown all over the world and I've had some close calls with amateur pilots on some of my campaigns," the senator said, "but this is the first time I was ever in a plane that was struck by lightning."

In speaking at the college, Yarborough predicted that a college education will be made available tuition-free to every qualified American in the reasonably near future.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain.

In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Arabs Giving Up Terrorist Drive

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Under unrelenting pressure from Israeli security forces, Arab saboteurs appear to have given up hope of starting a guerrilla war in Israeli-occupied areas west of the Jordan River.

Sources here said El Fatah gangs backed by Syria are pulling out of bases from which they have carried on a terror campaign for the last six weeks.

The sources said the raid on the Ma'oz Hayyim kibbutz in northern Israel Sunday is a strong indication that the saboteurs have reverted to the tactics they used before the Middle East war last June—hit-and-run raids across the Jordanian border.

Four bombs caused damage at the kibbutz but no casualties were reported. The Army spokesman said the tracks of three men led to the Jordan River, a mile east, and that 15 Soviet-made submachine-gun magazines, grenades and other ammunition were found near the kibbutz.

Israeli security officials say they have rounded up at least 200 terrorists west of the river. They claim they have broken the most successful group of saboteurs and have uncovered an El Fatah operations center in Jerusalem.

Arabic-speaking Israeli agents are still searching adobe villages for isolated resisters but curfews and other restrictions are being eased in Nablus, Tulkarm and Jenin, formerly saboteur centers.

Israeli tank gunners pounded suspected El Fatah bases east of the Jordan Saturday after snipers began firing near Sheik Hussein Bridge. It was the fiercest battle on the Jordanian border since the war.

The raid on Ma'oz Hayyim was the fifth in two weeks in the Beisan Valley, which runs south from the Sea of Galilee 25 miles to the old Israel-Jordan frontier.

The lush valley is vulnerable to sabotage raids, lying along the only sector of the border unchanged by the war and the only direct point of entry to Israel from Jordan.

Singer Finally Is Recognized

WORTHAM, Tex. (AP) — Freestone County's people got together Sunday and gave blind Lemon Jefferson what he asked for 38 years ago in his song: "Please See That My Grave Is Kept Clean."

The blues singer's plot was marked with a state historical plaque dedicated on a day as somber as his art.

Jefferson was born near Wortham in 1897, knocked about East Texas and Dallas as a musician-beggar and reached Chicago, where his mournful songs of hard luck took him to the top of the blues field.

A heart attack killed him in 1929, and his frozen body was found on a Chicago street. He was buried in Freestone County and the grave was poorly tended until Houston folklorist John A. Lomax Jr. and others began the campaign to see it marked.

Sunday's drizzle sent the crowd of 200 into a dimly-lit funeral home where Lomax and folksinger Nance Lipscombe recalled Jefferson and his music.

At the end Lomax switched on a tape recorder, and Lemon's recorded voice chanted: "One kind favor: Please see that my grave is kept clean."

Priest Announces He's Quitting Catholic Church

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The Rev. James Kavanaugh said Sunday the Roman Catholic Church is dead and he will practice the priesthood in his own way.

The priest said, "I want the religious freedom that Vatican II promised me."

He addressed about 400 persons at the University of Notre Dame in a talk sponsored by the school's Academic Commission of the Student Union.

Father Kavanaugh, 38, who wrote the book "A Modern Priest Looks at his Outdated Church," returned to La Jolla, Calif., where he is marriage counselor at the Human Resources Institute. He has been on leave from his diocesan work in Kalamazoo, Mich.

He said in his address that the institutional church is dead.

"The bishops at the synod in Rome are wasting their time. We, the Catholics of America, are getting our theology second hand from European theologians who don't have answers either," he said.

Father Kavanaugh said those who need the traditional forms of the Church will stay in it while those for whom the traditional is irrelevant and legalistic will leave.

"I want the freedom to be myself, the freedom to find God without arrogant priests telling me I can't," he told the audience. "I will remain a priest in my own way even as I leave the institutional priesthood."

Although he has no definite plans, Father Kavanaugh said he will marry.

"I don't know how I as a man can find God and meaning without marriage," he said. "I need the close personal relationship of a woman. I need it and I intend to have it."

Soviet Spies Caught, One Hangs Herself

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP) — West German authorities have arrested four persons on charges of spying for the Soviet Union and one of them has hanged herself in prison, the federal prosecutor announced today.

The four were taken into custody last Wednesday in what the prosecutor said was a "grave, perhaps very grave, case of treason."

At a press conference he said Leonore Suetterlin, 39, a veteran secretary in the West German Foreign Ministry, hanged herself in her cell in Cologne early Sunday.

Federal prosecutor Ludwig Martin said a Soviet lieutenant colonel who recently defected to the U.S. officials had tipped authorities to the espionage in Bonn. He declined to name the Soviet officer, but said he was now in the United States and claimed to have directed ac-

ROTC Interest Survey Set Tuesday At School

Seniors and girls of any grade at Big Spring High School just won't count Tuesday when a survey is taken to measure student interest in initiating a Junior Air Force ROTC program for the 1968-69 school year. It'll be the ninth, tenth and eleventh grade boys who "hold the cards."

The survey will be the second of three preliminary steps scheduled to estimate local interest before the school board makes a final decision on the program at a noon meeting Monday.

Last Thursday Lt. Col. T. Bruce Buehler, commander of the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron at WAFB, outlined the program at an afternoon assembly. Following Tuesday's survey, John Talmadge, assistant prinincipal, hopes to meet with those interested and explain the program in detail.

One barrier Although the program offers instruction in courses such as manned and unmanned flight, navigation, aircraft flight and an array of related air age topics, it does have one downfall—lack of response on the part of students.

Three Texas schools have sponsored the program, although one discontinued it this year because it failed to enroll the 100 boys required to register for the course.

In brief, the program would provide aerospace education as an elective on three levels under the direction of retired Air Force officers and NCO's.

Classes would be divided into 80 per cent instruction, 20 per cent drill.

A boy enrolled in the program is still required to take physical education, which may prevent him from taking other elective courses.

The Air Force sets up the program as a three-year course; the state only grants credit for one.

GETS CREDIT On completion of the three-year program, a student going to college receives credit for one year of college ROTC; one enlisting in the Air Force goes in as Airman 3C.

Financially, the local district has no problem, according to Supt. Sam Anderson. Both summer and winter uniforms are furnished by the Air Force. A classroom and acceptable storage space for the uniforms must be furnished locally.

Salary paid officers or NCO's is the difference between their retired salary and active duty pay. The school pays half the difference, the government the other 50 per cent.

Minor wrecks Investigated Five minor accidents were reported during the weekend.

J. C. Burchett, Gail Route, and Judith Elaine Cauble, 1310 Sycamore, were in collision Saturday evening in the 1600 block of East Third. At 12:46 a.m. Sunday Martin S. Davalos Jr., 314 NE 9th, and Perry Marvin Thurman, 1111 W. 4th, were in an accident in the 200 block of Gregg.

Sunday afternoon Vicente C. Polanco, Lamesa, and Charles Edward Johnson, 402 NW 9th, were in collision at Northwest Tenth and Lancaster. At 2:17 P.M. Eschol Ways Graham, 2317 Thorp, and Roy Edward Kirkpatrick, 1519 Sycamore, were in an accident. Cecil Rhodes Long, Garden City Route, and Danny Joe Reece, 511 E. 18th, were in collision in the 1600 block of East Seventeenth.

New Manager LITTLEFIELD, Tex. (AP) — Terry A. Scarborough has become city manager here after resigning a similar position at Hearne. He replaces Richard Bean, who resigned to become San Marcos city manager.

Professors Get Green Light On Speaking Out AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas College Coordinating Board made it a statewide policy that a professor in a state college can voice any opinion he has as a private citizen.

But the professor is expected to exercise responsibility in expressing his private opinions, the board said.

The landmark decision on academic freedom called for the freedom of a professor "from the corrosive fear that others inside or outside the university community, because of their vision may differ from his own, may threaten his professional career or the material benefits accruing from it."

The board in its regular quarterly meeting postponed until at least January any action on a statewide educational television network. Gene McDermott of Dallas suggested that action on a state network now would be "putting the cart before the horse" until the board sees the outcome of three regional networks now being developed. The three present networks, in various stages of development, are in the Houston area, West Tex-

Rare Show In Skies Set Early Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Sky watchers will see a rare celestial phenomenon tonight as a nearly full moon hides the ringed planet Saturn from view for more than an hour.

Hayden Plantarium astronomers said the phenomenon takes place in New York from 6:48 p.m. to 7:33 p.m. (Big Spring time), and will occur a few minutes earlier to the south and west, and a few minutes later to the north and east.

A Hayden spokesman said hiding of stars by the moon—called occultation—occurs several times each month, but hiding a planet is "quite rare."

What the sky watchers will see—with the unaided eye but more dramatically with binoculars or telescopes, was described this way by the planetarium spokesman:

"From about 6:15, the sky will become increasingly dark and Saturn will be noticeable to the left of the moon, less than the moon's diameter away."

"By 6:45, the dark edge of the moon will be less than the diameter of the rings away, and the closing of the gap will be very obvious."

"At 6:48, the western side of the rings will begin to disappear, and in less than a minute and a half the entire planet and its rings will have vanished."

"To see the end of the occultation, observers should begin to watch the southwestern edge at the right about 7:50. Saturn should begin to appear at 7:53, but it will be difficult to see at the moon's bright edge. Saturn will return to full view by 7:55."

Martin Man Wins Case

A jury in Midland Sunday morning returned a verdict for the defendant in a damage suit involving a claim for $200,000. The suit had been on trial in the Midland court since Thursday.

Chalmers Wren, a pioneer Martin County farmer, was the defendant. He was being sued by Domingo Hinojosa and, Eledia Hinojosa, his mother.

Wren was represented by Guilford Jones and Dick Milshead of Big Spring. Leonard Howell of Midland was attorney for the plaintiffs.

Hinojosa claimed in his petition that he fell or had been knocked off a cotton trailer while working for Wren on Dec. 7, 1965. The fall resulted, the plaintiff alleged, in total paralysis from the chest down.

The case was on trial Thursday, Friday and Saturday and the jury began deliberations late Saturday. It reported its verdict for the defendant at 2 a. m. Sunday.

Jurors Show up, But Cases Fold Forty-three men and women reported to 11th District Court this morning for jury duty but found there was no work for them to do.

Judge Ralph Caton thanked the panel members for showing up and told them they were excused from further service this week. None of the cases set for the week is ready for trial. Three cases had been tentatively listed for trial today at the docket sounding Friday.

M. Fern Cox, district court clerk, said that each of the 43 jurors who reported would be paid $5 for his appearance.

Court Appoints Voting Judges Howard County Commissioners court today appointed Mrs. Dolores Hull as judge and W. O. Moore as her assistant in Voting Box 18. They will serve in the elections coming up this fall.

Voting will be continued at the Byron Neel residence 2605 East 26th street as in the past.

Appointment of a new judge was made necessary by the death of Mr. Neel who had served as judge since the box was created.

The commissioners court today approved the list of voting boxes which will serve in the special election of Nov. 11 on six amendments to the state constitution. The same officials will serve on Dec. 9 if the probable airport bond election comes up on that date.

Marine Unit Helps A Buddy BEAVERTON, Ore. (AP) — A stateside Marine unit is trying to make home life easier for a comrade who lost both legs and one arm to a land mine in Vietnam.

The 10th Engineer Battalion, Marine Reserves, in Portland is building an extra room to the family home of Cpl. Craig Algers, 19, of Beaverton.

Albers, now in a naval hospital in Oakland, Calif., will require special facilities when he comes home.

Marricle Works On Vintage Car COLORADO CITY, Tex. (AP) — Benny Marricle, 17, is restoring and rebuilding a 1923 Model T Ford one-ton pickup truck.

Marricle has been at work on the project in his spare time since February of 1966.

SILLY SEASON

Nutty Calls, Un-Hot Tips Keep Policemen In A Spin

By BECKY NUGENT Halloween is yet to come and already local police have gathered enough "trick or treat" calls during the past few months to keep aspirin in heavy demand before the Oct. 31 date arrives.

A New York drunk called Big Spring at 2 a. m. checking on weather conditions and the health of patrolmen at the station. Officers thought it was a local prankster until the operator cut in when the caller's time was up.

On the local scene, yesterday's "juvenile delinquents" chalked up more points than today's. They seemed to run into everything — rocks, fire hydrants, baseball backstops, mail boxes and stop signs, not to mention each other. One even ricocheted from building to building before coming to a stop.

A clerk at a local motel reported someone stealing soft drinks at 1:44 a. m. Anxious to corner burglars active during the past month, policemen dashed to the scene of the crime, only to find a tired traveler who only wanted something to drink before "hitting the hay."

During the reign of Big Spring's battery bandit, two men reported "tampering" with autos on a local car lot turned out to be TESCO employees repairing a downed line.

Foiled again, police were assured of an open and shut case when a feminine voice said a "suspicious person" was stealing soft drinks from a truck.

Yep, it was the driver making routine deliveries. You've heard about those mornings after the night before? Picture the sleepy-eyed resident who awoke to find a peanut vendor in the front yard. One of the best is perhaps the young woman who couldn't remember where she'd parked her car; a close second is the caller who reported at 4 a. m. that two monstrous animals were walking down Fourth Street.

SORRY ABOUT THAT Tired, sleepy and obviously confused, one man barely escaped arrest when suspected of entering a home he had mistaken for his own just blocks away.

Animals and children formed a natural twosome — sending officers to all parts of the city in search of lost dogs, cats, pet rabbits and children who hadn't come a bright home from school. Frequent calls concerned children bitten by dogs, while one brought attention to a youngster bitten by a rat.

One bewildered patrolman sent to investigate barking dogs in a neighborhood said the only dogs he was able to hear were barking at him.

"COWS ARE LOOSE" Almost monthly, messages noted "the cows are loose again," referring to incidents in which cows and horses habitually found their way into strange yards. Cattle, too, were reported on IS 20 at midnight one weekend, while in July a bull snake was entered on the activity sheet as an "arrest."

In the 12-and-under category, wide-eyed, All-American boys and girls contributed their share of mischief, ranging from a more innocent search for a lost baseball atop a roof to possible artistic touches to desks at Airport Elementary.

The granddaddy of all the oft-beat antics, however, chose to pay a personal visit to the local police station. She confessed with a straight but inebriated face: "I killed Tokyo Rose."

Walker's Case Thrown Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court threw out today a $75,000 judgment won by former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker in Louisiana courts against the Associated Press and The Times-Picayune Publishing Corp.

The court in a brief unsigned ruling cited its decision of last June that public figures — like public officials — cannot recover libel damages without a showing of actual malice.

Walker's suit was based on AP accounts of his activities at the University of Mississippi campus at Oxford in 1962 during disorders accompanying the admission of a Negro, James Meredith, into the university.

Last June the court threw out a $500,000 judgment Walker had won against AP in a Texas state court. This suit was based similarly on reports of the Oxford incident.

Second Held In Robbery

DALLAS (AP) — Police brought Gead Pierce Taylor, 26, a husky truck driver, back from Houston Sunday on a charge of attempted bank robbery.

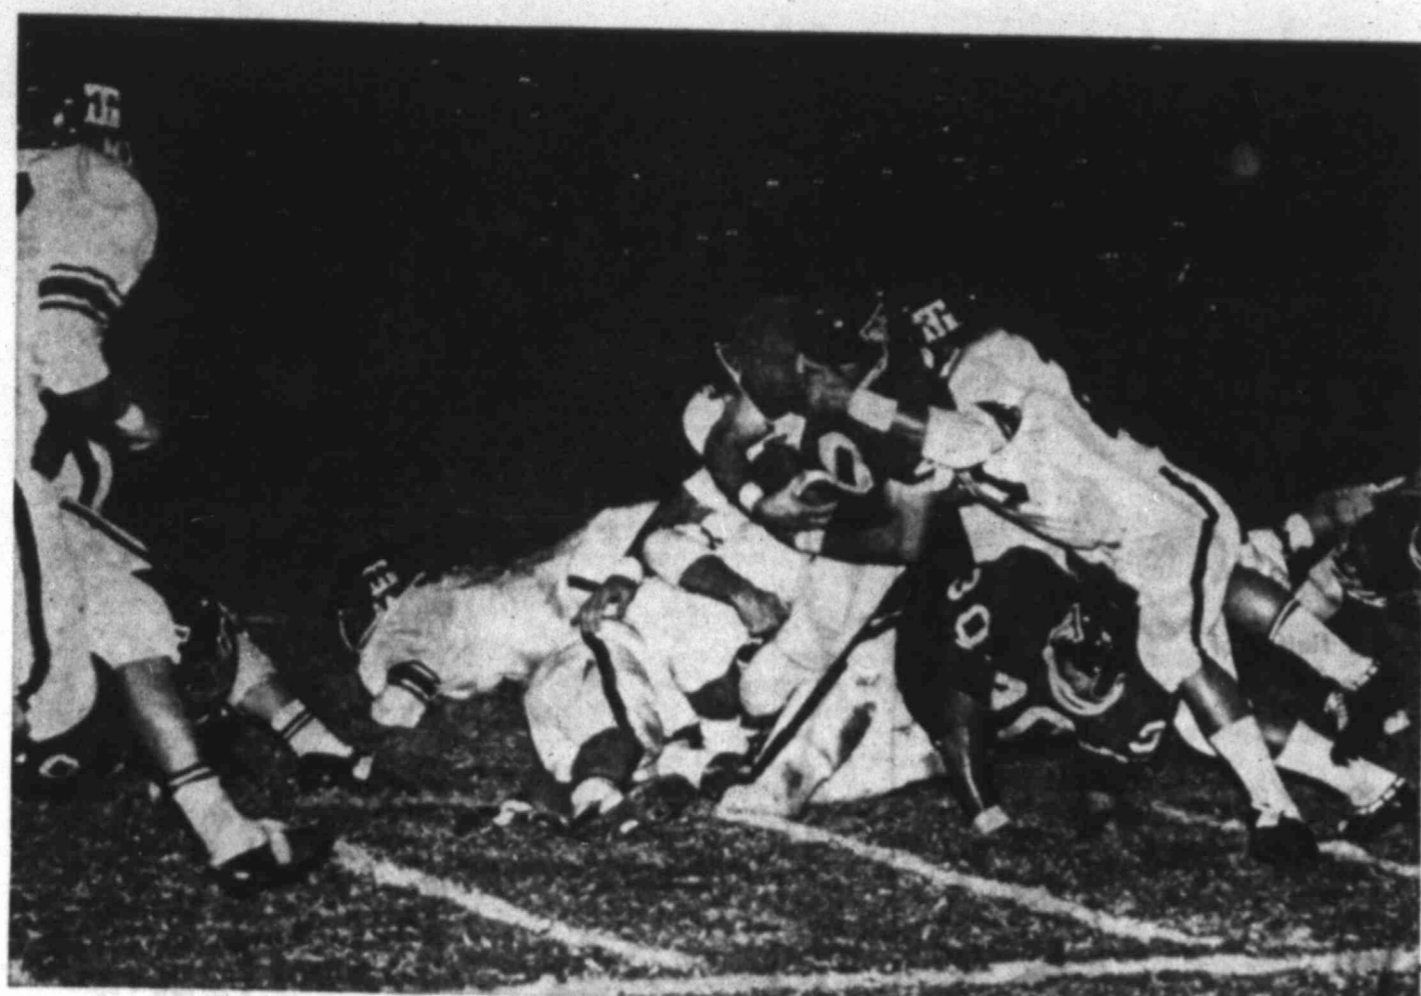

City detectives arrested Taylor in Houston earlier in the day on a warrant accusing him of trying to holdup the Inwood National Bank in Dallas Aug. 8, 1966.

Houston officers had arrested Larry M. Potts, 23, a Houston insurance salesman, last Friday on a charge of armed robbery in the same case.

Dallas detective Capt. Will Fritz said Taylor had been in a car driven by Potts, and Potts told questioners he drove Robert L. McCain, 25, from Houston to rob the bank in Dallas.

Vikings Make A Habit Of Beating Green Bay

By The Associated Press

No wonder the winning habit hasn't come easy for the Minnesota Vikings. They only play Green Bay a couple of times each year. The Vikings pulled the biggest upset of the young National Football League season Sunday, spilling Green Bay's world champs 10-7 on a 12-yard field goal by Fred Cox with eight seconds to play. It was Minnesota's first victory of the season... and the first setback for the Packers since they bowed to the Vikings 20-17 last November. "Beating Green Bay is getting to be a habit," quipped Cox, whose second field goal in the 1966 game at Green Bay provided Minnesota's margin of victory.

After losing that one, however, the Packers reeled off five straight victories, beat Dallas for the NFL title, whipped Kansas City in the Super Bowl and got off to a 3-0-1 start this year. The Vikings, meanwhile, dropped five of their last six games in 1966 for a 4-9-1 finish and were 0-4 this season going into Sunday's game at rain-drenched Milwaukee, Wis. While the Vikings were overtaking Green Bay with a 10-point spurt in the final period, the Los Angeles Rams came from 10 points down in the last six minutes to earn a 24-24 standoff at Baltimore and spoil the Colts' perfect NFL record. At Atlanta, Wade Trainham's 31-yard field goal with two seconds remaining gave the winless Falcons a 29-20 deadlock with Washington. At Pittsburgh, Fran Tarkenton's 69-yard TD bomb to Joe Morrison off a triple reverse shot the New York Giants past the Steelers 27-24 with 1:50 to go. At Philadelphia, Ken Willard's fourth-quarter scoring burst carried the San Francisco 49ers to a 28-27 nod over the Eagles.

The Dallas Cowboys edged New Orleans 14-10, the Cleveland Browns shagged St. Louis 20-6 and the Chicago Bears subdued Detroit 14-3 in other NFL games.

The Colts had won their first four games and appeared to have No. 5 wrapped up on Johnny Unitas' 31-yard TD pitch to Willie Richardson early in the fourth quarter.

Unitas, who signed a three-year contract for a reported $375,000 before the game, also hit Alex Hawkins with a 14-yard TD pass. Lou Michaels kicked a 45-yard field goal for the Colts, but missed a 44-yard bid with 1 1/2 minutes remaining.

PARTLY WRONG

Unitas Signs Fabulous Pact

BALTIMORE (AP) — A few years ago quarterback Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts predicted that within five years someone in the National Football League would be drawing an annual salary of $100,000. "But," he added, in the same matter-of-fact tone he uses when discussing one of his many NFL records, "it won't be me."

Typically—for Unitas—there was no flag waving when he did reach the magic figure. The Colts, in fact, practically kissed off the signing with the same notice given to the release of a rookie.

Just before the opening kickoff for Sunday's Baltimore-Los Angeles game, a terse announcement was made in the Memorial Stadium press box: "Attention press. John Unitas has signed a three-year contract."

As usual, terms were not disclosed. But the best guess was Unitas signed for about $375,000, which more than likely would be spread over more than the three playing years. Still, he would be one of the highest-paid athletes and probably tops in football on straight salary, disregarding bonuses.

Now 34 and in his 12th NFL season, Unitas reached agreement with club owner Carroll Rosenbloom on the monetary value of the new contract during the training season. The additional time was used to work out ways of easing the tax bite. Unitas has acknowledged that he makes more money during the off-season than for playing football—income that will be sharply curtailed when he retires from the gridiron. That's why he sought the long-term payments as he concluded his previous three-year pact.

Winless Rams To Face Last Victim

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Angelo State, possessor of Texas college football's longest current losing streak, 19 games, meets Texas Lutheran Saturday the team it last defeated two years ago. Since that 34-0 victory in 1965 the Rams lost the last four games of that season, all 10 a year ago and the first five of this season. Lutheran won the 1966 game 19-12. Texas Lutheran brings a 1-4 won-lost record into the afternoon game here.

Drab Effort Saves Cowboys

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dallas beat New Orleans 14-10 Sunday but it was the scores that weren't made that brought most of the comment. At least that was the main lament of Coach Tom Fears of the Saints, who said "we don't get many opportunities like today."

Coach Tom Landry of Dallas' Cowboys didn't worry as much about missed opportunities because his team won, but he did say that "any time you win a game on a field like this you feel fortunate. Breaks can go against you as easily as for you."

It had rained heavily for several hours before the game and it rained intermittently during it. And the Cotton Bowl field had mud puddles and patches of water all over.

The game was about as drab as the weather and was marked by 183 yards in penalties.

Dallas never was behind all through New Orleans tied the score at 7-7 in the second quarter when Dave Whitesell intercepted a damp pass from Craig Morton and ran it back 26 yards for a touchdown. Dallas scored in the first period on a 65-yard drive with Don Perkins ramming over from the New Orleans two.

Look Who's Leading The S'west Pack

By JACK DONOVAN Associated Press Sports Writer

Look who has the only winning season record in the Southwest Conference! Rice, that's who.

If one surprise is not enough, look who is still leading the conference race—Southern Methodist, the only team expected to finish lower than Rice this year. Some of this will be changed after one non-conference and three conference football games are played Saturday.

The Owls, who have completed the non-conference portion of their season with two victories and a one-touchdown defeat, commence their conference action at home against the defending champion Mustangs.

PONIES ON TOP Southern Methodist has not won since the Sept. 16 season-opening game with Texas A&M. That victory, however, has kept them in first place in the conference standings.

Rice, whose last winning season was in 1963 and who in the next three years won only eight of 30 games, crushed Northwestern of the Big Ten Conference 50-6 last Saturday night. The week before Northwestern carried a 16-4 lead into the fourth quarter against unbeaten Purdue before losing 25-16.

For a team that supposedly was stripped of its guiding hand and offense when quarterback Robby Shelton suffered a shoulder separation in the first game of the season, Rice has mysteriously emerged as a threat.

Robert Halley, a quiet 22-year-old senior who was expected to be only a reliever in his final season, assumed Shelton's job and passed for five touchdowns and ran for one in victories over Navy and Northwestern.

TOUGH WEEK

Most conference teams shed their season-long docile demeanor last week. While Rice trounced Northwestern, Texas A&M, in an incredible finish, upset Texas Tech 28-24; Texas, embarrassed by a first half that never saw it cross midfield, defeated Oklahoma 9-7; and Baylor, which outplayed Arkansas, saw the Razorbacks escape with a 10-10 tie on a field goal with 37 seconds to play. Southern Methodist, sorely lacking a quarterback, lost to Army 24-6.

Another big conference game Saturday in Texas at Arkansas in a nationally televised contest. The revitalized Aggies, who had lost four in a row, meet winless Texas Christian Saturday night at Fort Worth and in a day game Tech goes to Florida State who the week before edged Texas A&M.

Baker Sets Pace

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Buddy Baker, driving a Dodge Charger, won the National 500-mile stock car race and the $10,335 first prize with an average speed for the 334 laps of 130.186 m.p.h.

OLYMPIC PREVUE

Only One Record Falls In Mexico's Big Sports Week

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico's big rehearsal for the 1968 Olympic Games moved into the second round today with one world record in the bag after a generally disappointing, and confusing, opening day. Seven finals were on the program for track and field events in the third International Sports Week, with attention centered on Randy Matson of Texas A&M, world shot put record holder, and Gaston Roelants of Belgium, the 3,000-meter steepchase king.

Pat Winslow of San Jose, Calif., led the women's pentathlon with 2,957 points into the first two events—the 200-meter dash and the long jump. Annalaria Tothne Kovacs of Hungary was second with 2,901.

Matson will be trying to beat his world mark of 70-7 1/4 in the shotput, and he seemed to have the field to himself, with the exception of Wilmos Varju of Hungary, bronze medalist in the Tokyo Olympics.

Other finals on tap were women's 100 and 400 meters and discus and the men's high jump and 800 meters.

Opening day times were off the world marks, as had been expected in a city over 7,000 feet above sea level.

Duncan's Dream Is Chiefs' Nightmare

By The Associated Press

The voices Speedy Duncan hears give him good information, but his dreams tend to get a little out of hand.

"I had a dream Saturday night that I would intercept four passes and help San Diego win," the Charger defensive back said after an important 45-

31 victory over Kansas City Sunday.

In real life, Duncan intercepted just one of Len Dawson's throws but it was a good one. Duncan took it 100 yards for a touchdown, the longest return of a pass interception in league history.

"Chris Burford had beaten me on that play for the last two years," the 5-10, 175-pound defensive back said. "It's a short up-and-out pattern where he pushes me off, goes for the flag and beats me. This time, I played a yard or two deeper."

RUN, SPEEDY, RUN "I got the ball with my hand, batted it up and was ready to down it when I heard (defensive back) Bud Whitehead yell, 'Run, Speedy, run, you've got the sideline.' So I looked. Whitehead yelled again, and I ran."

Earlier in the afternoon's festivities, Duncan had picked up a fumble by Mike Garrett and taken it 35 yards for a touchdown.

Two other Charger touchdowns also came on long strikes. Quarterback John Hadl hit flanker Lance Alworth with a 66-yard scoring pass, and rookie halfback Dick Post burst through for a 67-yard touchdown run.

In other AFL games Sunday, New York and Houston fought to a 28-28 tie, Oakland beat Buffalo 24-20 and Boston crushed Miami 41-10. Denver was idle.

ON TARGET Daryle Lamonica threw two touchdowns passes against his former Buffalo teammates despite a lot of pressure from the Bills' line, which threw him five times for losses of 50 yards. The Oakland defense was equally hard-hitting, punishing Jackie Kemp 11 times for 96 yards lost.

Babe Parilli threw five touchdowns passes for Boston, three to Jim Whalen and two to Larry Grantham. The Patriots rolled to a 27-3 halftime bulge on four Parilli scoring aeriels. Babe finished with 16 completions in 20 attempts and 251 yards gained.

Beginning Of Boomerang

New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath fades back to pass on the final play of the Jet-Oiler football game yesterday. But an interception saw the long pass returned 71 yards to the Jet four-yard line before Namath himself finally made the tie-saving tackle.

Oilers Almost Win On Final Defensive Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Houston's best offense was its defense, and New York's best defense turned out to be Joe Namath.

Namath, the tender-kneed quarterback who is protected so carefully by the Jets' offensive line, wound up making the game-saving tackle Sunday as New York hung on for a 28-28 American Football League tie against the Oilers.

Unable to formulate any kind of attack against the Jets, the Oilers fell back on their defense which provided three touchdowns and set up a fourth.

And when Namath tried for a game-winning bomb on the final play, W. K. Hicks turned it into Houston's sixth interception and a razzle-dazzle double lateral almost made it the winning touchdown for the Oilers. Hicks grabbed the ball on Houston's 25 and weaved his way through swarms of tacklers before running into trouble at New York's 35. He flipped the ball to Kenny Houston, a safety man who had already scored twice.

But Houston couldn't move and he lateraled to Larry Carwell, who chugged his way down the sideline before running into the last defender—Namath—at the Jets' four-yard line.

That saved what was a disappointing tie for the Jets. New York had rolled to a 17-0 lead, but the rash of interceptions helped Houston storm ahead. It took Al Atkinson's interception, Emerson Boozer's second TD and a two-point conversion pass by Namath to Don Maynard to tie it with five minutes left.

USC Blows Super-Game Out Of Midwest To West Coast

By The Associated Press

Southern California's publicity campaign to move this year's Game of the Decade from the Midwest to the West Coast has opened with one eye-popping orange juice commercial. Even Notre Dame, after a taste of O.J., is buying.

It came about last Saturday when Southern Cal's O.J. Simpson thrust himself onto the national scene by leading the Trojans to a decisive 24-7 victory over the Irish in college football's game of the day.

The loss dispelled any hopes twice beaten Notre Dame had of retaining its No. 1 ranking of 1966 assured by its Game of the Decade tie against Michigan State and a final 51-0 victory over USC.

On the other hand, the victory was sure to strengthen Southern Cal's present No. 1 ranking and further enhance its upcoming traditional battle against UCLA Nov. 18 should the Trojans, 5-0, and Bruins keep winning.

UCLA, No. 4, ran its record to 5-0 with a 37-14 whipping of California as Gary Beban passed for two scores and ran for another.

Second-ranked Purdue also had an easy time, swamping Ohio State 41-6 to remain unbeaten in four games and No. 6 Colorado, Alabama, No. 7, and North Carolina State, No. 9, also carried on.

But two other Top Ten clubs—Georgia and Nebraska—dropped from the undefeated as Mississippi stunned the third-ranked Bulldogs 29-20 and Kansas surprised the Cornhuskers

No. 8, 10-0. Tenth-ranked Houston was idle.

Notre Dame, oddly a two-touchdown favorite, kept the top on Simpson the first half, but could only sit wide-eyed when the second half commercial started and O.J. began pouring through Irish fingers. The nation's rushing leader, held to 41 yards in 14 carries before intermission, scored three touchdowns and covered 125 yards in 25 carries in the final two periods.

USC Coach John McKay, glorying in the revenge of last year's humiliating loss to Notre Dame, said his club "had more speed, better running backs and just better football players in there—and that's why we won."

First Important TV Drama Is Scheduled

NEW YORK (AP) — The first of the season's important dramatic shows will arrive Tuesday night, a drama of the kind television talks about a lot but rarely presents.

The play, an original by Loring Mandel called "Do Not Go Gentle into that Good Night," stars Melvyn Douglas and Shirley Booth. When CBS broadcasts the 70 minutes of drama, there will be no commercial interruptions—and that's really special.

Currently just about every thing short of the Saturday morning kiddie cartoons are being labeled "special," and the language used to describe some more special than others is beginning to sound like grades of olives.

George Schaefer, who for the past decade has concentrated on directing and—lately producing—NBC's "Hall of Fame" dramas, directed the program, his first outside assignment for a long time.

The current emphasis on special programs, particularly drama, he believes is forcing welcome changes in programming concepts.

"Hall of Fame," for instance, will break its familiar mold by kicking off its season with an adaptation of "A Bell for Adano," and later in the season will present Shaw's "St. Joan."

For years the NBC series has specialized in presenting performers of major stature like the Lunts and Julie Harris, in historical biographies—colorful, beautiful and perfectly safe.

"For at least three years I've been screaming to get away from that," Schaefer said. "But what really changed it was the success of the movies—and movie nights on television are really a succession of special programs—plus the success of 'Death of a Salesman.' Now there is once again real interest in original drama—so the wheel has made a complete circle again."

The return to favor of meaty drama in specials may, he hopes, bring back some of the talents who have moved into motion pictures. "There just was not enough television to keep them busy—men like Franklin Schaffer, Fielder Cook and Delbert Mann," Schaefer said. "Unless they wanted to turn out religious programs for Sunday mornings, there was not drama beyond the series. So they left and they're all gone very well."

Turning out Mandel's drama for CBS' "Playhouse 90" series was not without its crises. Rehearsals were almost over and taping ready to start when Fredric March, who was to star, was stricken with a circulatory ailment and hospitalized and his wife left the cast with him.

"I was lucky beyond my best dreams—Douglas found he could make the time and Miss Booth was willing to break into a vacation to handle the emergency," Schaefer said. "And they are great."

Joey Bishop, whose late evening ABC show had been catching on nicely until forced into reruns by the recent strike on the network, has had a contract renewal that will carry the show to January, 1969. The program, incidentally, resumes with new shows tonight.

Recommended tonight: "The Bob Hope Show," NBC, 9-10 EDT, with Debbie Reynolds, Eydie Gorme and Steve Lawrence.

Teddy Kids About Bobby

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Does Robert Kennedy want to be president?

Ask his brother Edward. You'll probably get a tongue-in-cheek reply.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., told a crowd of nearly 2,000 in Topeka Saturday night that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., is telling everybody he doesn't want to be president.

"If you ever want to hear a short conversation," the Massachusetts senator said, "it's my brother, Bobby, telling someone he doesn't want to be president."

Kennedy's remark came after a telegram was read at a party fund-raising dinner in honor of Gov. Robert Docking. The New York senator sent birthday greetings to Docking, who was 42 last Monday.

The telegram from Robert Kennedy said: "I'm sorry I cannot be with you tonight but I've sent my brother to read my speech for me. When he's through with it, please send him right home."

"Unlike my brother Bobby," Edward Kennedy chuckled, "I do know where my home is."

The younger Kennedy also said there is nothing to reports about a presidential ticket of Robert Kennedy and Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., for 1968.

"My brother hasn't selected his vice president for 1968 yet," he continued in a kidding vein.

President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey sent greetings to Docking.

Docking said he was touched by the events of the evening. He added, "And I know all of you have also been touched."

FOR TUESDAY

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You would be wise to use all possible care during this Fall season since you are all but set to break up some condition that is very good for you or to get in the way of one who is bombastic and unpredictable and who makes all kinds of trouble through his desire to express the worse part of his nature.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Trying to please associates instead of angering them is the only way you can make progress today. Go along with the most practical ideas. Some social event p.m. could wind up in a sour note if you are not careful, tactful.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Although there are obstacles in the path of which you want to rise yourself, be sure you use tact in so doing. Do not run away from them. Show that you can carry through with wisdom and understanding.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) This is not a good day to offer some favor from allies in business or personal life, since they already feel imposed upon by others. Be encouraging instead. You can approach them successfully if a later date.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 22) Planning him in a quiet way is wise now. Be sure to handle civic matters so that you gain the gratitude of higher up. Don't get entangled with one or two hours or there is real annoyance.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) Stop struggling around so much and be alert to good ideas given you by dear friends. Being choosy, picky, and you find that all goes better for you and those in your community who follow every law that applies to you. Don't feel VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Be subtle in handling monetary matters and do not jump into that new investment without further study. Citizens are set to make the best back, as it were. Don't be caught like the proverbial lamb.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Being more courteous with others is imperative, especially with one you love and want to keep under your wing too much. Plan how to make a good impression on a social matter. This can help you in your career.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Being more efficient at your work should be your goal now. Try not to irritate a superstitious partner. Listen to what a real expert has to suggest, but do not divide homes, he, or she, would not like it, if you served it around.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Doing whatever will truly please your friends is wise, which could be to support their ideas and ideas, and you find that all goes better for you and those in your community who follow every law that applies to you. Don't feel

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Give your support to those who are in financial or civic matters and you find that all goes better for you and those in your community who follow every law that applies to you. Don't feel

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ 53 ♥ J7652 ♦ AK74 ♣ 52
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♥ 5 ♣

What do you bid now?
A.—Even though you may never take a heart trick, our advice is to double, for there should be three other defensive tricks at least. The temptation to bid five hearts should be resisted. There is no reason for you to believe that you have a good chance to take 11 tricks.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ AQ109832 ♥ AJ4 ♣ AK63
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ 2 ♥ Dbl. Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—While ordinarily the possession of a six card major suit combined with a void in the suit doubled is sufficient ground for overriding partner's penalty double, in this particular case, South should stand for the double because he has such a wealth of defensive strength that the penalty should be highly gratifying. Furthermore it is likely that partner is short in hearts, so that you may find it difficult to reach a convenient spot for game.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ A54 ♥ Q2 ♦ K1043 ♣ A1092
The bidding has proceeded:
East South

What do you bid?
A.—There is no reason for you to feel that anyone is putting his hand in your pocket. You should pass. You have barely an opening bid and the fact that East has confessed to weakness should not induce you to look at your hand thru rose colored glasses.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠ Q10 ♥ K76 ♦ AQJ75 ♣ QJ7
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ 1 ♥ 1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—You have somewhat more than an opening bid, but not enough to wax enthusiastic. You have a choice of rebidding diamonds or bidding one no trump. The latter bid is chosen because it is important to show the heart stopper.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ 4 ♥ 8 ♦ AKJ7432
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—It is reasonable to assume that the diamonds are solid, and that the question of the trick taking possibilities of this hand depends only on the number of aces held by partner. A Blackwood bid of four no trump is, therefore, clearly indicated.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ Q109764 ♥ 8 ♦ KQ10983
The bidding has proceeded:
East South

What do you bid?
A.—Our preferred call is two diamonds. This is rather on the unorthodox side, but is made in anticipation of the opponents getting up to four hearts before it is your next turn to bid, in which case you might reasonably try a bid of four spades. Whereas, if you elect to overcall with one spade, you may not feel inclined to try five diamonds over the adverse four heart bid.

Q. 7—East-South vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ AK764 ♥ KJ ♦ 42 ♣ J932
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—The prospects for going game are bright because you have the equal of an opening bid facing partner's opening bid. Your heart support is adequate for a rebid suit. Bid three hearts.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠ KJ72 ♥ K983 ♦ K ♣ AKJ9
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♥ Pass ?

What is your response?
A.—It has been my observation that with hands of this type best results are obtained by flashing the immediate slam signal. This is done by making a jump suit and our choice is three clubs.

It's been replaced.

For the 19th consecutive year, we've replaced the bug. With another bug.

To those of you who were expecting something fancier, sorry. (The '68 looks just like the '67 crossed out above.)

To those of you who now own a Volkswagen, congratulations. (Once again your model has not gone out of style.)

To those of you who've been thinking about buying a new one, nice thinking.

The front seats are more comfortable. (They have built-in headrests.)

The windshield wipers are much more efficient. (They're larger.)

Even the shifting is easier. (We put a decal on the window to show you how.)

All in all, we feel that the 36 nice little changes on this year's Volkswagen make it the best ever.

Of course, every year we build the "perfect" Volkswagen.

And then we do a masterful job of proving ourselves wrong.

Try Pretty Way To Camouflage Ears

By MARY SUE MILLER

A young Lovely writes: My ears are big and protruberant. Not for me, those short cuts with the hair cropped away at the ears. I can't even get by with the new bowed-back styles. I guess I am doomed to fluffy cover-ups. Or am I missing a secret disguise?

The Answer: Bowed-back styles or most any off-the-face arrangements can be adapted to camouflage prominent ears. Simply arrange the side hair so that it dips a bit over the top of the ear.

To further the cause wear large, important earrings—any bulky shape that does not dangle. Dangling earrings produce an elongated effect.

Make-up also adds to the illusion of tidy ears, and powder base is the cosmetic to use. After the face is filmed with base at make-up time, which the residue left on the hands onto the shell and lobes of the ears. That way, the color and finish of the face and ears blend.

Now what about short-short do's? They are altogether wearable as long as the ears are not denuded. No law of fashion says the hair must be cut out like a donkey's hat to let the ears come through.

When all disguises fail or become wearisome, plastic surgers offers a permanent solution. The operation is relatively simple and recuperation time is minimal.

LOVELIER HAIR Overcome your hair problems! Send for my booklet, "How To Have Lovelier Hair." Values Probed At DKG Meet

"The Study of Personal Values, Their Transmission and Impact Upon Communities" was discussed by Miss Gladys Burnham and Mrs. E. Y. Backner at Saturday's meeting of Beta Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma.

They challenged members to examine their own values, both as members of Delta Kappa Gamma and as women educators and to reflect on the influence communities have on these.

Following the discussion, Miss Mary Foreman presided for the business session, and Mrs. Norman E. Backs was welcomed as a new member, transferring from a Midland chapter. There were two guests, Mrs. Ivalou Ashley, who is employed with the Texas Education Agency, and Mrs. Marilyn Payne of Stanton.

Mrs. Ray Cantrell, chairman of the committee on Personal Growth and Services, announced that the society will have a March of Dimes coffee in January. Also, she said that the collection of eyeglasses will continue and reminded the group that it is time for contributions for the Christmas party at the Big Spring State Hospital.

The meeting was held in the Coahoma High School where the required ministerial counseling session required of all couples marrying in the Episcopal church. Such sessions are usually conducted by the minister who will preside over the ceremony, but the Rev. Mr. McAllister said Sunday, "If it's not possible for me to handle it then perhaps someone in Washington could."

President's Daughter Tells Wedding Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lynda Johnson and Marine Capt. Charles Robb have picked romantic sunset time for their Dec. 9 White House wedding and have ruled out television coverage of the ceremony.

The Rev. Canon Gerald McAllister, a personable young Texas Episcopal clergyman, will perform the marriage, the White House also announced Sunday.

Guest list for the East Room nuptials of the President's elder daughter will be held to about 500 persons. That's 200 less than Lynda's sister, Luci, invited to her Aug. 6, 1966, cathedral wedding and White House reception.

This will be the first time in 53 years that a presidential daughter has been married in the White House. The Johnsons announced that "lack of space" will limit coverage by news media.

Only a pool of reporters will be permitted to cover certain portions of the event. There will be no television coverage of the wedding ceremony itself at a White House spokesman said.

Speak On Buddhism

Mrs. B. T. Faulkner was hostess at a salad supper and program held Thursday for the Evening Circle of the First Baptist Church. Mrs. Johnnie Winham worded the invocation, and Mrs. Faulkner presided.

Mrs. John Hardy was named stewardship chairman, and Mrs. Ben Johnson, Woman's Missionary Union president, announced the annual planning meeting for all circles which was held Sunday. Miss Gladys Hardy, missionary study chairman, reported that Dale Moore, a missionary to Nigeria, will be here Oct. 30 for the WMU meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the church.

Mrs. Neal Bryant, program chairman, led the discussion of modern Buddhism. Mrs. Ruby Billings and Mrs. Mamie Roberts compared the religion to Christianity, and Miss Hardy told of Buddhism in California. Mrs. Ola Mae Roberson spoke on Buddhism in Hawaii, and Mrs. F. C. Gambill gave the call to prayer. Mrs. Omer Williams led prayer for missionaries. Ten members and one guest attended. The next meeting will be in the Winham home, 608 Rannels, at 7 p.m. on Nov. 16.

Modern Forum Told Of Head Start Need

Keith Swim, director of special programs for the local school system, asked for volunteer workers in the Head Start program when he was guest speaker Friday for the Modern Women's Forum luncheon in the home of Mrs. A. C. Bass, 106 Washington. Three women, Mrs. Harwood Keith, Mrs. W. A. Laswell and Mrs. J. P. Dodge, will investigate the possibility of the forum assisting with the program.

Mrs. Hugh Duncan, newly-elected president, welcomed 14 members and one guest, Mrs. Viola O'Daniel.

The buffet luncheon was served from a table accented with a bouquet of mixed roses. The next meeting will be Oct. 27 in the home of Mrs. Hugh Duncan.

HINTS FROM HELOISE Rose Potpourri Can Make Room Sweet

Dear Rose Lovers: So many of you have written lately for instructions on the making of a rose jar or potpourri—a mixture of rose petals and spices. This is truly a pleasure to prepare, emitting a fragrance that will delight you for years.

Some people like to make potpourri only of rose petals and spices, usually cinnamon, cloves, allspice, nutmeg, mace and orris root. Others like to add dried sprays of lavender blossoms and fragrant leaves along with the roses.

First spread your loose rose petals (and any others you desire) in thin layers over a screen or rack made of cheesecloth, paper towels or tissue and keep this in a warm, airy place. Stir the petals EVERY DAY for about two weeks until they are COMPLETELY DRY. This step is most important! They must be crisp and brittle.

Now measure out a half teaspoon of nutmeg, one teaspoon of mace, a tablespoon each of allspice, cloves and stick cinnamon broken into bits and two tablespoons of powdered orris root.

Mix the above in a bowl, then fill your decorative jar (usually a covered glass, stone or porcelain one) with alternate layers of petals and the spice mixture. When winter comes, what a delicious aroma will meet you when you lift the cover of your old-fashioned, yet still beloved rose jar! So go pick your petals, pals. . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: I am 79 years old and sew all day. I find it hard to thread my machine needles because the thread frays so often. So I taped a small piece of soap to the face of the machine. Now I just dampen the thread and hold it against the soap, rolling it with my thumb.

That seals and stiffens the thread so it goes through the needle easier. . . . Parthenia C.

Dear Heloise: If you have magnetic catches on your cupboard doors, just slip a metal paper clip onto your loose recipe card and attach it to one of the magnets.

It keeps the recipe at eye level and out of the way while you are cooking. . . . Doris

Dear Heloise: When I fill small-necked containers with dry ingredients, I put the powder or granules into an envelope and tap it into one corner. Then I cut the other corner a suitable size and funnel the contents into the container.

This works especially well with something tricky like bird seed (which I usually spill). . . . Mrs. William Beer

Dear Heloise: I have long-nap rugs and find that after shampooing them, if

I rake 'em with a bamboo rake when almost dry . . . they end up nice and fluffy . . . A Reader

Some people use a clean, heavy type broom and sweep the pile of the rug backwards. This is done AGAINST the nap. Results are wonderful. I've done it myself. . . . Heloise

Horse May Be Out Of Barn

Many members of Congress, apparently reflecting the feeling of their constituents, are opposed to the 10 per cent income tax surcharge requested by President Johnson.

Yet the alternative to a tax increase is almost inevitably inflation. Moscow Narodny Bank, used chiefly by the Soviet Union to finance the country's foreign trade, has clearly seen this alternative in a quarterly report which was analyzed by a Wall Street Journal reporter.

Moscow Narodny reported that the Johnson administration's budget deficit, which it said would be the largest of the postwar years, will continue to rise and put upward pressure on interest rates. The President's proposed tax increase may thus "be too little and too late."

"The implication of interest rate rises can't be considered favorably either inside the U. S. or outside," the report continued. "In the international money world, the prospect of price inflation in the U. S., with consequent balance-of-payments complications, can only add to the already large problems facing the U. S. in that sphere."

American bankers and businessmen have been warning Congress of substantially the same problem. But the yearning to be re-elected seems to have triumphed over statesmanship.

Offers Sound Advice

It is not known yet whether Gov. Connally will seek a fourth term; he says now it may be next year before he finally decides.

Neither is it known when he will call the Legislature to pass the general appropriation and tax bills for the second year of the 1967-69 state biennial budget.

But these unknowns are not really relevant to the wisdom of his "economy letter" to all heads of state agencies. He advised them to be prepared to assess the effectiveness of fiscal 1968 spending levels and to hold down their requests for fiscal 1969 spending. That is sound advice.

At Connally's request, the Legislature split the biennial budget into two annual budgets, necessitating a special session by next summer to approve the second year's expenditures. And, under the circumstances, a major tax bill must be passed too.

The state ended last fiscal year with about a $150 million surplus. The Legislature appropriated all of that for the first year of the 1967-69 biennium. So, just for programs to continue at present levels — with normal increases in statute-fixed spending, as for education, and a normal rise in revenues with economic growth — the Legislature will have to approve at least a $150 million increase in taxation to finance the second year of the biennium.

Spending levels increased steeply, if necessarily, this year. State agencies' appropriations increased 37 per cent, including a 20 per cent salary increase. Major increases were 33 per cent for universities and senior colleges and 69 per cent for junior colleges.

The 61st Legislature in 1969 will face still higher spending and taxing, particularly for a comprehensive improvement of the public school system now being studied and planned. Federal taxes may then still be going up, though it is hoped the great war costs may end by then. Surely local governmental revenues and spending can be expected to continue increasing with widespread and intensifying urbanization problems. Consequently, politics aside, the Legislature will be well advised to forego any substantial spending increases in the special session for the second half of the 1967-69 biennial budget.

Soviets Accede To Hanoi, Red Chinese

WASHINGTON — The biggest single factor holding up the cessation of hostilities in Vietnam is the failure of the Soviet government to use its influence with the North Vietnamese to bring about an armistice and the negotiation of a peace agreement.

SECRETARY OF STATE Rusk, in a lengthy conference with newsmen on Thursday, emphasized that there has not been the slightest intimation from the Hanoi government as to what it would do if there were a suspension of bombing by the American side. When the reporters asked Mr. Rusk what Russia was doing to bring peace, he replied that he had absolutely no information. The transcript of the press conference on this point reads as follows:

"Q. Mr. Secretary, is it not correct that this government was informed by the Soviet government, on the authorization of Hanoi, that if the bombing was stopped there would be a conference between the United States and North Vietnam within three or four weeks?"

"A. NO, WE were not informed that. There was a public statement by Mr. Kosygin, in London. But Hanoi has not said that, to our knowledge. . . . There is no one in the world who has been able to tell us what Hanoi would do if we stopped the

You have visited Russia and I want to ask you a question: Do they really have freedom of religion in Russia as they claim? I have heard conflicting reports, and I would appreciate your frank opinion.

Theoretically, the Soviet Union claims to have religious freedom. But I would rather describe it as a certain religious tolerance—for political purposes.

A recent news story seems to bear this out, in which two Soviet women were sentenced to five years deprivation of religious liberty for running a Baptist Sunday school. These two women who were conducting a Sunday school for about 80 pupils of elementary school age, were accused of spiritually corrupting the children and causing them to reject membership in the Communist youth organizations. A Russian newspaper stated that anti-religious propaganda is permitted, but that the "constitutional freedom" of religion does not imply that religious propaganda is legal.

The Soviets teach that their people's first duty is to the state, and not to God. They do not permit the propagation of any faith, Catholic, Jewish or Protestant. Obviously, what the Soviets mean by "religious liberty" is that one is free to believe what one wishes, just so long as he doesn't try to share it with anyone else, and so long as he worships only in one of the state approved houses of worship.

Neither Side Is Happy

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — The compulsory rail settlement going into effect today for 137,000 shop craft workers may have come just in time to block the growing pattern of tossing tough labor disputes into Congress.

Congressional sources believe it may thus give collective bargaining a much needed boost in the rail industry, where it appeared in great danger of failing entirely.

THE REASON is simply that neither side is happy with the way this dispute was settled: The unions don't like the compulsory settlement procedure that was used — although they like the contract they got — and management is unhappy with the settlement terms.

When the proposal for a compulsory settlement of the shopcraft dispute was debated last spring and summer, organized labor and its supporters in Congress denounced it as just what management wanted.

They argued that adoption of the plan, proposed by the Johnson administration after voluntary settlement efforts failed, would set a pattern so that management would henceforth balk at meaningful bargaining, knowing Congress would then approve a compulsory settlement.

A 1966 STRIKE involving the airlines was settled voluntarily only when similar legislation bogged down and key congressmen forced resumption of bargaining.

Rail management said it accepted the settlement idea as a necessary last resort, but it also knew that proposed settlements by two presidential panels were much closer to management's terms than those of the shopcraft unions.

But management got a rather rude awakening last month when the special five-member board created to set settlement terms agreed on a much more generous raise than the two earlier panels had proposed.

When Sen. Wayne L. Morse, D-Ore., chairman of the board, announced the terms, railroad management spokesman John P. Hillz Jr. called them "clearly inflationary." Machinists union President P. L. "Roy" Slemmer commented, "They asked for it."

ALTHOUGH there was some talk of a court challenge, Hillz announced Friday the railroads would accept the decision.

Sources familiar with the board's thinking indicate members made their determinations solely on what they considered to be the merit of the situation with little if any thought to the political impact.

But although they may not have intended it that way they left both sides unhappy with the over-all episode.

This may show later this week when a Senate-Judiciary subcommittee holds hearings on legislation to create a special court on labor management relations to handle major disputes when collective bargaining breaks down.

Made Her Angry

NEW YORK (AP) — "I like men," said actress Carolyn Jones. "I like the sound of their voices, the way they think."

"They're more sensitive than women. With a woman, everything is either this or that, black or white. But a man can see shades of gray. That's what I call being sensitive."

AS A NEW step in her ever-widening career, Miss Jones has undertaken a seven-month tour as Ruth, central figure in Harold Pinter's controversial and darkly funny play, "Homecoming."

This is a lot of hard work for a lady who is still counting the loot she earned from her two-year stint in "The Addams Family," a successful television series.

But "C.J.," as her friends call her, has always liked to do new and interesting things ever since she broke in show business in Amarillo, Tex., as a disc jockey at the age of 15. To her, life must have an accordion quality of expansion to avoid stalesness.

AT WITTY as she is lovely — she has an intelligence quotient of 154 — Carolyn isn't content to be known as one of the most talented actresses in television and films. At the close of her present tour she'd prefer to undertake a singing and dancing role in a Broadway production. Eventually her hope is to become a producer.

Her own talent has enabled Miss Jones to live down that period of her career when critics were hailing her as "another Bette Davis."

"That used to make me so angry," she admitted. "I'm me, and nobody else—and I don't imitate anyone else."

CAROLYN IS a free-wheeling, outspoken girl with a graceful thumb ever held to her nose against life's more absurd hypocrisies. Asked what she thought was her own biggest virtue and biggest fault, she laughed and replied:

"The best thing about me is that I am generally very honest. The worst thing about me is that everybody can make me feel guilty. I feel responsible about things that don't even concern me."

How Do You Handle Your Money?

This and that: Smart people say there are at least six ways to judge a man by the way he handles money:

If he makes money grow he is a capitalist; if he runs after it he is a money mad; if he spends it he is a playboy; if he doesn't get it he is a ne'er-do-well; if he doesn't try to get it he lacks ambition; and if he accumulates a lot of money after a lifetime of hard work, he is a fool who never got anything out of life.

I once heard a preacher insist that a Croesus could, too, enter the Kingdom of Heaven, that the Bible didn't mean what it seems to mean.

I think he'd read the terms of some millionaire's will.

A FRIEND swears he received a parcel-post package the other day which had these words printed on the outside:

"This package contains an article which is very fragile. Please throw it underhand."

DR. JOSEPH G. Molner, who offers medical advice in a column written for your favorite family newspaper, says he received 817,000 letters from readers last year.

In company with another doctor, he columnizes for 400 papers around the nation.

Besides writing his articles, Dr. Molner is health officer of Dearborn, Mich., part owner of three nursing homes and has a consulting firm.

Molner says the success of his column can largely be attributed to the fact that it is written in layman's language. He also says that the Japanese smoke five times as much as Americans do and have considerably less cancer.

THAT ELEMENTARY school boy who was making a field trip to study nature was using his old bean.

His teacher noticed that as others studied and made over the flowers and the birds he kept his hands over his eyes.

Asked why he was doing this, the lad replied: "If you don't look, you don't have to write about it."

HAVE YOU EVER noticed that many men who give up smoking substitute something for it—like bragging? —TOMMY HART

Change Of Direction

NEW YORK (AP) — This may be an historic week in trade relations, a frustrating one for free trade advocates, a significant one in revealing the changing sentiments of America.

FIVE YEARS ago, in October, 1962, the most ambitious round of tariff cuts ever attempted in this century was begun with passage of the Trade Expansion Act.

This week a wave of protectionist sentiment is expected to be heard from Congress, a remarkable and partially inexplicable change of direction in only five years.

American enthusiasm for cutting trade barriers five years ago was great. Through lower worldwide tariffs the United States hoped, among other things, to boost its exports enough to reduce the balance of payments deficit.

THE TRADE ACT passed with a large majority of both houses. It was extolled as the beginning of an era, and for nearly five years negotiators for the big trading nations hacked away at tariffs.

Early this year, finally, the Kennedy Round of tariff cuts, named for the president who persuaded other nations to join us in the tariff-cutting attempt, reached a successful conclusion.

The European Common Market reduced tariffs on more than $10 billion of imports. The United States, Canada, the European Free Trade Association and Japan, among others, agreed to gradual reductions in trade barriers.

NOW THE opposite of free trade could be gaining support. Several widely supported bills are before Congress to protect domestic industries, mostly by restricting imports through quotas. Among them are textiles, watches, steel, oil.

To William Roth, special U.S. representative for trade negotiations, the prospect is appalling. Protectionist sentiment, he believes, could "restore the chaos in international trade that we knew during the depression of the 1930s."

We may be on the eye of a movement, he said, "that will wipe out the progress of 30 years unless those American industries concerned with world trade make themselves heard loud and clear."

ROTH FEELS that an increase in American tariffs or a reduction of imports through quotas would result in similar moves against American products. This retaliation could be enormous, he feels, because pending U.S. bills would effect $3.6 billion of imports into the country.

"And this is a very crude estimate, definitely a minimum, not a maximum," he said in a speech. The $3.6 billion total is "our rock bottom estimate."

A lot of senators and representatives feel differently.

Today, a bill for mandatory steel import quotas is expected to be introduced into Congress. Curiously, one of the arguments in support of quotas is the balance of payments, the same argument used by free traders.

SEN. VANCE Hartke, D-Ind., feels that "surging steel imports have aggravated the U.S. balance of payments deficit, adversely affected employment opportunities . . . and posed a threat to national security."

Another bill, already passed by the House, would permit the president to limit imports of foreign products produced under labor standards inferior to ours. This, of course, would include many thousands of items.

Another bill, with 20 senators supporting it, would establish quotas on products that contribute to economic problems for domestic producers. And 40 senators desire a bill that would increase the number of cases on which antidumping duties might be applied.

PROTECTIONISTS and free traders always have put on good battles through American history, their fundamentally different philosophies sometimes stripping a lot of confusion from issues. The battle is on. It should be a good one.

Jordan Looks To The Constable

AMMAN, JORDAN — "Unfortunately, your country is not doing enough," said the Prime Minister of Jordan, Saad Juma, a former Ambassador to Washington. "We do not ask you to stand for Arabs. We want you to stand for right."

His government and many others of its unimpressive size and strength are the ones who have elected the USA to be the Constable. It is necessary, I think, to get away from America in order to learn this unwelcome fact. We are not self-appointed in the role of universal cop by election, not of the large and sturdy nations, but of the puny, the mischievous, the ne'er-do-well, the strugglers and the deadbeats.

IT IS THESE, and only these, who look to a world order which they regard as promised by the charter of the United Nations and by the persistent declaration of principles on the part of the USA. The Great Powers do not need the UN, and much prefer to keep world order by their own economic and military forces. But the rabble, not because they are less good but because they are less able to succeed when being either good or bad, call upon the Constable.

Every country in the Middle East is a "nouveau" to world society. Not one of them has a continuous national history of as much as 50 years, although many have kept an identity through conquering empires, and under various systems of government. But Jordan, roughly since the two World Wars, has been put together, pulled apart and reassembled so many times by the Western Allies that it has some claims on its makers.

AS JORDAN has stood since the arrangements of 1943, it had a chance of continuity, presuming that the constable would keep on walking his beat. With one-half of the little kingdom on the East Bank and the other on the West Bank, a viable economy was in sight. Jordan has lived for nearly two decades on four sources of income: tourism, agriculture, phosphates and foreign aid, the latter not just from the United States but from Europe, the Balkans and the Arab World. A good many foreign companies were investing. The government was able to subsidize starts in various industries. The gross national product was increasing by a remarkable 11 per cent. Many of the political leaders by this time were men with European and American education, and they were reasonably dedicated. Except for the necessity of a large army to keep the royal family in power, a stabilizing influence amid volatile forces, Jordan was on the way to being an established member of the Western society.

THE CONSTABLE can't fairly be blamed for what happened to Jordan last summer. If there is any such thing as an objective observer in these affairs, he might have said that gang warfare broke loose in the Middle East, and that Jordan could have stayed out of the brawl, but it didn't. Israel's lightning victory literally cut Jordan in two.

There were 5,000 hotel rooms in the Jordanian sector of Jerusalem, now all confiscated by the Israeli victors. The West Bank produces 60 per cent of the fruits, 65 per cent of the vegetables, 60 per cent of the olives, 30 per cent of the cereals — and the West Bank is now occupied by Israel, along with 48 per cent of the industrial establishments which once supported King Hussein's realm. Hordes of unproductive fugitives poured over the river, so that half the people in what remains as Free Jordan's population are now refugees.

IT IS THIS postwar situation which the Prime Minister feels the USA is not "doing enough" to remedy. It may be illogical that Jordan now wants to restore the same borders that it tried, with other Arab countries, to abolish. But nothing changes the fact that the Constable had pledged to keep "territorial integrity" in the Middle East, and that this integrity has been violated. Worse, such countries as Jordan are tempted to look for another Constable, and Soviet Russia is not at all unwilling to take over the beat.

What About Non-Fat Milk For Baby?

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: We live in a area where stores are few and far between. My family (six children) uses 15 half-gallons of milk a week.

I don't drive and can't always get to the store if I run out of milk, so I have been buying non-fat dry milk to keep on hand. The children like it.

Would it also be all right to give to a baby of five months after being on a formula, or would regular milk be better? —F.A.M.

Keeping a reserve of dry non-fat milk, which can be reconstituted with water when needed, sounds like a good idea in your situation, but there are two things you must keep in mind.

The fact that it is non-fat milk means that the butterfat has been removed. It is, therefore, roughly skim milk, in dry form.

Reconstituted, it has the same nutritional value as that of skim milk.

With the butterfat removed, the non-fat milk does not have the same caloric value as whole milk. The non-fat milk is good for children or adults—but you still have to make up, in one way or another, the calories represented by the missing fat.

For an overweight child, the United States because of this Vitamin D added to milk.

Dear Dr. Molner: I assumed that the "pill" was for birth control but now I am told that isn't so, that it is an interruption of pregnancy.—Mrs. J. H. You were right all along. The pill is not an interruption of pregnancy. Rather, it brings about a change in hormone level in the body which is very similar to that which occurs in pregnancy. This "deceives" the body so that (as is the case during pregnancy) no more ovulation occurs. Without ovulation, there cannot be a pregnancy.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for your copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Only this summer the American Academy of Pediatrics, noting the increased use of non-fat milk, recommended that children who got it also be given a Vitamin D supplement. The younger the child, the more important this is.

Therefore I would not use the non-fat milk for the baby without discussing it with your doctor and making sure that the baby gets adequate Vitamin D. Rickets is now uncommon in

Castro Accepts Death Reports

HAVANA (AP) — The revolutionary movement in Latin America will go on despite the "hard blow" of guerrilla leader Ernesto Che Guevara's death in Bolivia, Prime Minister Fidel Castro says.

In a broadcast speech Sunday night, Castro said that "imperialism has a fear of Che after death." He said Guevara has been eliminated physically but his example "can never be eliminated by anything or anyone."

Castro spoke softly in a low voice, his characteristic flamboyance muted by sadness, as he said he accepted as "bitterly true" reports that Guevara had been killed in a battle with troops in Bolivia's jungles.

The prime minister said he could not doubt the authenticity of photographs of the dead man and a diary said to belong to Guevara, who fought with Castro against Cuban President Fulgencio Batista and became Castro's right-hand man in government. Guevara had dropped from sight in Cuba in 1965.

It was the first official Cuban comment on the reports of Guevara's death.

Castro, dressed in an olive green major's uniform, said he was declaring three days of mourning and that a memorial tribute to Guevara will be held Wednesday night in Havana. He said the Cuban flag would be flown at half-staff for 30 days and announced that Oct. 8, the day Bolivian authorities claimed Guevara's death, would be henceforth a holiday.

Castro said he accepted Bolivia's report of Guevara's death in part because its government is too "stupid" to invent it. But he said there were "strange and contradictory things" surrounding the story and suggested that Che had been betrayed by a deserter.

He said he believed the Bolivians killed Guevara after taking him captive and not, as reported, during a five or six-hour battle. He said a battle that long is out of line with guerrilla strategy.

Castro ridiculed a Bolivian army report, contradicted in Bolivia by some military officials, that Guevara gasped before his death, "I am Che. I have failed."

The Cuban leader said Che would never have said anything to aid the enemy.

Mrs. Guevara and her four children have been reported out of Havana for the last few days.

Boy Ineligible For Queen Contest

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The 1967 Texas Christian University homecoming queen will not be Mason Dickson.

Dickson, 18, is a boy. He filed as a homecoming queen candidate Wednesday, pointing out that the only qualifications listed are 73 semester hours (Mason's a senior) and a 2.0 grade average (he has a 3.8).

But the Student Election Committee disqualified Dickson's candidacy Sunday. "Any reasonable man would know a queen is supposed to be a girl," the committee said.

The group, two boys and two girls, ruled they would not count any write-in votes Dickson might get.

Heavy Rains Cause More Coast Flooding

By The Associated Press

Up to 8 inches of rain hit some rural areas still soggy from Hurricane Beulah's deluge last month and caused flash flood warnings along South Texas streams today.

The new downpours accompanied the passage of the latest cool front, moving steadily downstate Sunday and into the Gulf of Mexico by this morning. Skies cleared swiftly in its wake.

Widespread squall lines whipped through one area after another as the turbulent weather swept southward. There was even a small tornado near the west edge of San Antonio, causing only minor damage, to signal its approach Sunday.

Flash flooding occurred in low areas along the Nueces and Frio rivers and high water surged downstream. Warnings of the same kind of trouble were up along the Aransas and Mission rivers, as well as numerous smaller streams feeding into them.

Rainfall of cloudburst proportions apparently centered in areas near Refugio and Goliad, north of Corpus Christi. Refugio measured 3 1/2 inches of rain in an hour and the Weather Bureau received unofficial reports of 5 to 8 inches in rural areas nearby before the downpours ceased.

Smaller amounts fell in flood-soaked sections of the Lower Rio Grande Valley, but official observers said there apparently was no added threat of flooding.

Brownsville, at the mouth of the Rio Grande, gauged 1.06 inches of moisture. Radar indicated it was somewhat heavier toward the north in areas still pumping out water and clearing debris from Mercedes toward Raymondville.

Highway accidents on wet roadways claimed at least five lives and hundreds of accidents slowed heavy travel as steady rains lasted most of Sunday in some areas from Central Texas southward.

Rainfall amounts at other points included Austin 3.04 inches, Kerrville 3.00, Victoria 2.88, Corpus Christi 2.32, Houston 1.99, Fort Worth 1.75, Dallas 1.68, Waco 1.05 and San Antonio .99.

Dry, cooler air spread over the state behind the storm-stirring front and clouds were expected to disappear in all sections by tonight or Tuesday.

Early morning temperatures sagged to 36 degrees at Dalhart and Plainview and 35 at Amarillo and Lubbock, all in the Panhandle-Plains sector. At the same hour the mercury rested on 69 at Brownsville.

Top marks Sunday afternoon over the state ranged from 87 at Alice in South Texas down to 64 at Lubbock.

New Plan To End Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A mediation team in the steel haulers' strike has come up with a new proposal on the disputed issue of paying the truckers for waiting at steel mills. The strikers and trucking firms face a vote on it this week.

A steel industry publication says the strike, in its second month, is having serious economic effects on steelmakers.

The time truckers wait for loading and unloading—at present without pay—has become the key issue in the strike. The new proposals would give the truckers $13.70 an hour after a four-hour wait. The proposal, arrived at in weekend sessions by a seven-state mediation panel, will be submitted to the National Steel Carriers Association, a breakaway group of independent trucking firms, the Teamsters Union and the strikers.

The two trucking groups rejected the original agreement giving the truckers $10 an hour after two hours. Truckers in most areas approved the plan.

Steel Magazine reported that the strike has forced curtailments at steel finishing mills and fabricating plants and caused layoffs or short-term employment for 15,000 to 20,000 workers.

The weekly journal said a Pittsburgh area mill estimated it lost orders for 20,000 tons because it couldn't make deliveries. Another major producer set its loss at 40,000 to 60,000 tons. Mill deliveries for the industry during September were off 16 per cent from August.

Highways in the strike-torn states were reported relatively calm over the weekend in contrast to the violence earlier when scores of truck drivers were shot at, stoned and beaten.

Dear Abby

Divorcees' Problems

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for saying that a divorcee can be alone through no fault of her own, just as a widow is. Most people aren't willing to give a divorcee a kind word. I am a divorcee because a wealthy widow decided she wanted my husband.

"FOOD FOR THOUGHT"

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the widow who wonders why widows keep losing all the eligible men to divorcees is one that I would like to answer. My qualifications: A bachelor who has had a great deal of experience dating both.

On a man's first date with a widow, she will pull a picture of her "dearly beloved, deceased husband" out of her purse and then tell you how "wonderful" he was, and what a "wonderful life they had together. (If you ask around, their life was nearly as "beautiful" as she said it was.)

Then, to show you how domestic she is, she invites you to her home where, on the living room wall, hangs a big picture of "HIM" staring you in the face all evening. (If you had any romantic ideas about her, this will kill them fast.)

Her conversation is about how "good" he was to her and the trips they had together. It is sickening.

A divorcee, on the other hand, will seldom mention her ex-husband's name. And if she does, she doesn't make you feel as though you are competing with a saint.

I've known exceptions, of course, but as a rule, divorcees are much better company. Sincerely yours, EXPERIENCED

DEAR ABBY: I was quite interested in your article a while back where the widow complained that she has lost out several times to divorcees, and asked you why.

As you know, the longer a woman is a widow, the greater was her husband, and it often gets to the point that he was the most magnificent human being who ever lived. The following story may illustrate the point:

"The greatest man who ever lived was Huggins. Broad-minded, tolerant, generous, temperate, patient, brilliant, yet he died with all his good qualities unsuspected."

"Well, how did you manage to find out so much about him?"

Violence Takes 35 In Weekend

Streets and highways slick from Sunday's rains sent the weekend violent death toll soaring in Texas.

Traffic accidents contributed at least 22 fatalities to a total of 35 counted in an Associated Press survey between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

One of the worst accidents Sunday killed three motorists on the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike as one vehicle swerved across the median and collided with two traveling the opposite direction. They were Mrs. Annette Parmenter, 31, of Taloga, Okla.; her brother, James Northcut, 22, of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Richard Lee Holding, 34, also of Fort Worth. Mrs. Holding's husband was injured seriously.

Other victims included: John L. Terson of Corsicana died in a five-car smashup Sunday night five miles south of Corsicana on US 75. Four others suffered injuries.

Fred A. Holmes suffered fatal injuries Sunday when his car hit a guard rail on Houston's South Freeway.

A head-on crash of two cars west of Amarillo on US 66 Sunday killed Lena Sprull, 56, of Amarillo.

Joseph Harvey, 35, died in a Sunday afternoon shootout at San Antonio. Bullets wounded two other men.

Johnny Adair, 28, of San Angelo was killed Sunday in a one-car accident near Ballinger. Police held two men for questioning.

The body of Leo Cardona Lueda, 18, of Corpus Christi was found floating Sunday in Corpus Christi Bay.

Christi Bay. An autopsy was ordered as police investigated the circumstances.

Eddie James Bell, 31, of Houston was shot and killed Sunday outside a Houston lounge. Police charged Horace Price, 54, with murder.

Gerald D. Williams, 20, was killed Sunday when his car spun off Texas 385 one-half mile north of Odessa as he tried to pass a motorcycle.

Dr. Norman Anderson, a Houston chiropractor, was killed when his car slipped off a wet bridge into Hunting Bayou at Houston.

A car rammed into a piece of heavy road machinery early Sunday in the South Plains town of Meadow and Nasario M. Flores, 42, of Lubbock died in the crash.

Sammy Parham, 18, of Colorado City was killed Sunday when a car upset two miles south of Snyder on Texas 208.

Three persons were killed and two injured Saturday evening in a two-car crash 16 miles east of Corsicana on Texas 31. Killed were Mrs. Vivian Ingram, 26, of Richardson; Marvis Beach, 50, of Hamilton; and Pauline Allen, 52, of Waco.

Proud Norfleet Dies At 102

HALE CENTER, Tex. (AP) — J. Frank Norfleet, a 5-foot-3 rancher who weighed 125 pounds, was simply too proud to let a gang of bunco artists get by with fleecing him. So he grimly tracked them down, and became a widely known man-hunter in the process.

His death Sunday at the age of 102 recalled the saga of the peppy Norfleet, who also wrote a book about his experiences of the 1920s and proudly recounted the details for years to come.

Death came at his modest home in Hale Center, the West Texas town in which he retired and spent the past dozen years in failing health.

He leaves his wife Liza, 96, who stayed home and managed their ranch to help finance Norfleet's five-year manhunt; a son, Pete Norfleet, also of Hale Center; a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Gialiel of Miami, Fla., and three grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete today.

Norfleet, born at Lampasas, Tex., moved to the Hale Center vicinity north of Lubbock and worked as a cowboy and first foreman of the big Spade Ranch. By 1907 he was ranching on his own.

It was in 1919, at the age of 54, that he went to Fort Worth and Dallas with the idea of buying a ranch.

A chance meeting with a mule buyer developed into a quick friendship because Norfleet took pride in his knowledge of mules. He introduced the little rancher to another stranger, and talk turned to how they could make a killing in the cotton market.

When it appeared they were about to profit handsomely, Norfleet was asked to put up $30,000 as evidence of good faith. His new acquaintances quietly disappeared.

At length the gullible Norfleet realized they weren't coming back—he had been swindled.

He went home and told his wife he was resolved to see the gang brought to justice. As he later wrote in a book simply titled "Norfleet," she told him: "Get them, Frank . . . I will manage the ranch and earn the money for your expenses—but Frank, bring them in alive."

He checked hotel registries and pursued countless tips, traveling from coast to coast and into Canada. The word spread in newspaper accounts of how Norfleet had been bilked.

Arrests of the fugitives came months apart—the first two men in San Bernardino, Calif., another in Oklahoma City, much later a fourth in Jacksonville, Fla., and finally a fifth in Salt Lake City.

There were six altogether. The other man died before Norfleet could track him down.

In the course of his travels the West Texan also was asked to help police in Denver to trap a bunco stock exchange syndicate. Norfleet, mild and unobtrusive in appearance, posed as a sucker. His work led to 41 arrests and about 20 were convicted.

His feats won national acclaim. Norfleet wrote a book about his adventures and it was published both as a newspaper serial and bound volume. There also were numerous magazine articles. A motion picture was based on the book.

Over a period of 15 years Norfleet estimated that requests for aid in other cases led him to pursue and find 100 swindlers.

Once his personal manhunt was finished, he returned to live and work on his ranch near Hale Center. About a dozen years ago he and his wife moved to a small home in town.

Until his health failed, he stayed busy raising game cocks and breeding and racing quarter horses. Through the years the memories of a five-year manhunt that changed his life stayed vivid.

Norfleet told one visitor in his latter years, "I did have some fun."

Reavley Files For High Court

AUSTIN (AP) — Austin Dist. Judge Tom Reavley is the third candidate to announce for the Texas Supreme Court.

Reavley, Texas secretary of state from 1955 to 1957, said Sunday he will be a candidate to succeed Justice James Norvell, who has said he will not seek re-election when his current term expires Dec. 31, 1968.

Previously Justice Matt Davis of the 6th Court of Civil Appeals at Texarkana and Dist. Judge Sears McGee of Houston said they would be candidates to succeed Justice Meade Griffin, who also says he will retire at the end of 1968.

Reavley formerly was Nacogoches County attorney and assistant district attorney in Dallas. He practiced law in Anglin, Jasper and Travis counties.

He was appointed 16th District judge in Austin by Gov. John Connally in 1964, and was elected to a full term that same year.

He graduated from the University of Texas and the Harvard Law School.

Aggies Sixth

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Texas A&M was sixth in the intercollegiate livestock judging contest at the American Royal Livestock Show. It was announced Sunday. The Bryan team had 4,368 points. Michigan State's team took first with 4,472 points.

Two Lost In Boat Mishap Off Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "If Tom's gone, I want to go too," the young woman said and gave herself up to eight-foot waves that had washed her husband from the sinking boat they had been clinging to, survivors said.

"She removed her life jacket," the survivors said, then she slipped away.

Wainwright Vickers, 39, and his wife Barbara, 40, told of the deaths of their companions and their own rescue after being thrashed for 14 hours by wind-whipped waves on Biscayne Bay.

They said they joined Tom Carter, Miami Central High School principal, and his wife, Dolores, for the Saturday outing in a borrowed boat.

The foursome was bound for home, Vickers said, when a squall struck about 8 p.m.

The boat's anchor slipped from the bow and snagged on the bottom, he said, and the line fouled in a propeller of the twin-engine craft.

He said the 17-footer "snapped around," tearing an engine and part of the transom from the boat.

It began to take water and soon swamped, Vickers told officers, leaving the four occupants clinging to the bow.

Sometime later—Vickers told police he wasn't quite certain when—Carter "just disappeared in the dark."

Mrs. Vickers said that shortly afterward "Dolores said, 'If Tom's gone, I want to go too.' Then she disappeared."

Vickers told officers he donned Mrs. Carter's discarded life jacket and that he and his wife floated through the night clutching the boat, then each other after it sank.

Mrs. Vickers said when a fishing boat spotted them and changed direction, she thought: "It was a man sent by God."

Leroy Pendarvis said when he and his partner, George Apostol, saw the Vickers, they thought they were skindivers.

"When she waved with both arms like that I knew there was something wrong and went straight to them. They were pretty well exhausted. They told me two other people drowned," Pendarvis said.

Vickers, operator of a Miami funeral home, and his wife were hospitalized and treated for exposure and skin irritations caused by floating gasoline.

Firemen Leave 14 Children

CLIFFSIDE PARK, N.J. (AP) — The deaths of five firemen trapped by a collapsing wall leaves 14 children under the age of 21 fatherless. The Ridgefield volunteer firemen also are survived by five widows.

A fire department spokesman said $8,000 had been pledged to a fund for the survivors sponsored by the Hudson Dispatch, a Union City newspaper.

Bergen County authorities say they are investigating the possibility of arson in the fire Sunday at Cardinal Lanes bowling alley in this town just across the Hudson River from New York City. The Ridgefield Fire Department scheduled memorial services for Wednesday.

One civilian and 10 other firemen also were injured when the cinder-block wall collapsed as about 130 firemen from eight communities tried to control the fire in the one-story building.

The civilian and one fireman remained in a hospital today, but their conditions were not serious.

Joseph Licata, a volunteer fireman from Palisades Park, said, "The trapped firemen were just about to enter the building. Then, all of a sudden, the whole place just went 'whoosh' and the flames traveled right down the building from front to back, blowing out the roof and a side wall."

The sole survivor of the hose crew, Henry Dengler Jr., 22, said he was at the end of the hose and farthest from the wall.

Burglars Armed With Bows, Arrows

NEW YORK (AP) — Burglars armed with bows and arrows killed another Sunday before making off with $5,500 worth of auto equipment and accessories from a Jamaica, Queens, garage and service station.

Police said the thieves broke through a ceiling air vent of the building and, from some 10 feet above the floor, sent one arrow into the back of Duke, a two-year-old German shepherd, and another in the chest of a second dog, King Duke died, but a veterinarian said King would recover.

Max Miltzman, owner of the building, said he bought the dogs because he had been held up six times and burglars had entered the building nine times in the past five years.

Bennett's Keeps Family Record

Bennett's Drive-In Pharmacy, 306 W. 16th, has recently started a family prescription record to assist patrons, and serve as a reference for physicians to better serve its customers.

The family prescription record is set up in alphabetical order with one sheet for each family. The entire family is listed, with the ages and any allergies of each shown. This assists the two pharmacists, Bennett Brooke and Paul Keele, to check the dosage of medication as far as age and allergies are concerned. Each prescription filled is listed on the sheet by the member of the family receiving the medication. Should a prescription number be lost and a refill is desired, it is a simple matter to find the correct prescription number from the family records.

Should a record of a family's prescription be needed in filling out internal revenue forms or completing insurance claim forms, the family prescription record will be a ready reference for the patron of Bennett's Drive-In Pharmacy.

The drive-in window is located at the side of the building on Sixteenth Street, between Gregg and Lancaster, and is easily accessible away from the traffic. At the drive-in window the customer will be waited on without having to leave his car. Patrons with small children will find the drive-in window a great benefit. If a customer requests a physician to call the prescription to Bennett's, the prescription will be ready upon arrival.

For emergency service Brooke and Keele are available on a 24-hour basis. From 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. you will get immediate service by calling 263-1751. From 6 p.m. to 9 a.m. emergency numbers are Brooke at 267-7384 and Keele at 263-4416.

Bennett's is ready for the cold season coming up shortly. It has a complete line of medications for treating a cold, but suggests you consult your doctor since a slight cold can develop into something serious.

Filling prescriptions and offering minor medication needs of any home is the business at Bennett's.

There is a right way and a wrong way to do everything, including the taking of medicine. When medicine is taken correctly, the exact dose is taken at the proper time under conditions that insure against error. Here are a few useful directions prepared by the American Medical Association:

Store medicines in a cabinet, preferably locked, away from the reach of children.

Keep only medicines currently in use.

Destroy old prescriptions, because most drugs lose potency or may be chemically changed by time.

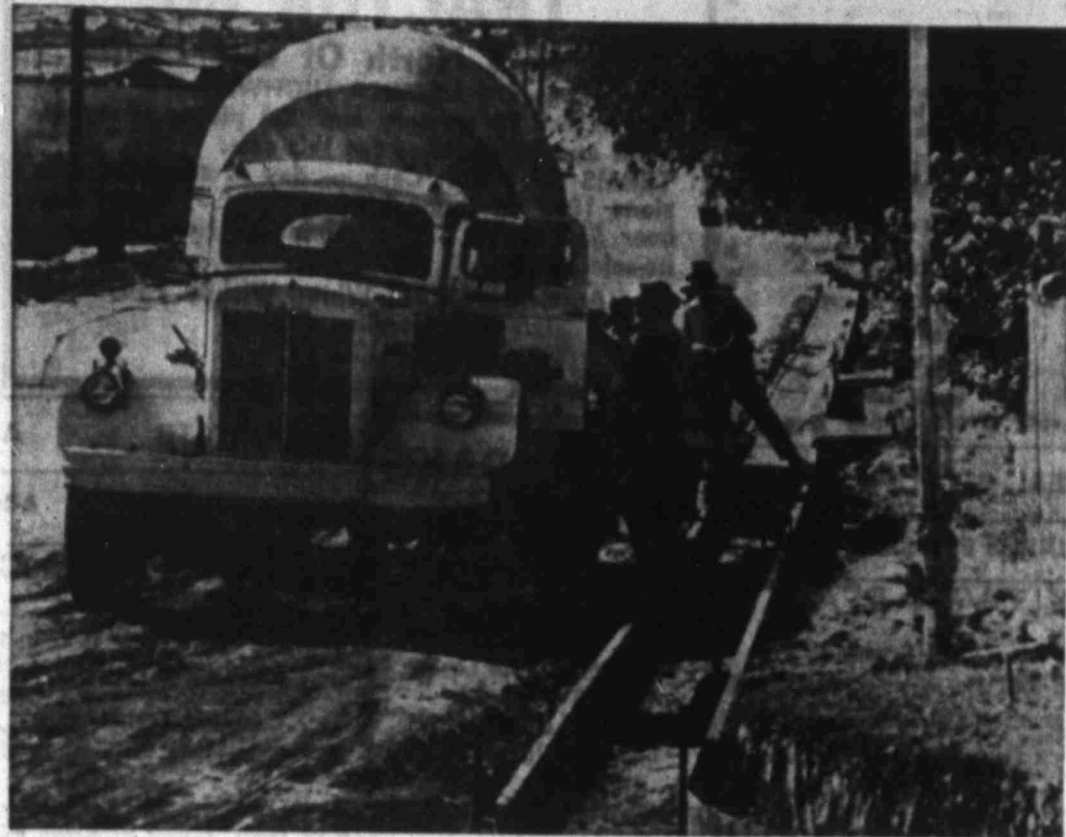

Read the label in a good light before opening the bottle or box. Read it again before taking the medicine.

If you have more than one box of pills or capsules to take, be sure one is closed before opening the other. This avoids switching covers, and also the labels.

When pouring from a bottle, keep the label up so that any dripping will not soil it and make it hard to read. Keep medicines away from the bed. Make it necessary to get up to take them. Drugs and medicines on the nightstand by one's bed are dangerous because an overdose may occur if the medication is accidentally repeated while sleepy.

Keep medicines in the original labeled container. If you carry pills in a pocket pill box, identify them with a label. Never put medicines in containers identified with food.

Avoid medicine which is disguised as candy for children. Poisoning—or at least overdoses—can occur when children find and take medicine which looks and tastes like candy.

Precast Roof Sections Are Added To McMahon Stock

Precast concrete items are in the fastest growing department at McMahon Concrete Company, 605 N. Benton, according to Clyde McMahon Jr. Contractors of industrial buildings as well as homes are using more pre-cast concrete to make construction quicker.

The latest addition to the pre-casting department is roof sections. They have been making precast wall panels for some time. These wall panels from McMahon were used in construction of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, 306 W. 3rd. The fence at the Rehabilitation Center is also from McMahon and is precast sections two inches thick and six feet in length. This particular fence is made with exposed aggregate; however, if you do not wish to have a rough surface from the exposed rock, you may have a smooth concrete surface. With the fence made in sections, two men can quickly enclose a yard.

Ranchers are finding precast feed and water troughs an asset in raising cattle and horses. The water standing in the trough does not cause deterioration nor does the concrete absorb heat from the sun as quickly as metal containers. If the farmer does not find troughs to suit his needs, McMahon will precast troughs from his design. The durability of concrete has been proven through the years and it is now proving its versatility.

Patio furniture and patio blocks have long been a popular item at McMahon's. Patio blocks come in a variety of sizes and colors, but should you not find in stock the size and shape you desire, they will cast your blocks according to your design. Enjoy patio furniture that will withstand any weather and is not necessary to store in the winter since no painting or upkeep is necessary.

Recently McMahon's made pre-cast seating for the Midland Racquet Club.

The firm stocks Whiteman finishing machines and tools to complete work on the poured concrete. Rotary blades finish off the mixture to the proper surface. It is no longer necessary to smooth concrete with a trowel or a piece of "two by four."

McMahon Concrete is a supplier, but should you have construction work to be done requiring concrete, they have a list of local contractors for your consideration. Put your own ideas to work in items that can be made of concrete—McMahon can make it from your own design.

The plant, located at 605 N. Benton, on the Snyder highway just north of Big Spring, is open daily from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. except on Saturday when hours are 7 a.m. to noon.

HARRIS LUMBER COMPANY

Decorative Ideas Offered

Harris Lumber Co., 1609 E. 4th, offers the homemaker dozens of ways to decorate any room and add shelf space for everything from decorative items to children's toys in the Lustra Shelving Center.

Pamphlets are available to help you with your decorating ideas for any room and it is a do-it-yourself project that really works. The hardware for mounting the shelves can be put up by an amateur workman and should you move, can be taken down and moved along with your other furniture.

What more practical way to make two rooms out of one than with shelves? You have both a room divider and functional shelves that were easy to install, practical, low in cost and smart in design. Make your job easier as a homemaker by installing shelves in your children and teenagers' rooms. Redecorate their rooms and add space for books, hobbies, toys, radios, record players and a study area which can be raised as the child grows.

Shelves by Lustra can create everything from a music center to a vanity.

Be your own decorator with Lustra quality shelf hardware that is produced from the finest aluminum and available in five soft, gleaming, brushed finishes: gold, walnut, natural charcoal and white. Finishes that will never rust, corrode or tarnish. Harris and Lustra offers you shelf hardware, shelving and pole, everything necessary to decorate your home with a handsome look, a smart look and yet at little expense.

The shelves come in light or dark wood of special construction to prevent warping. The plastic finish is resistant to marring and scratching. Water nor alcohol will ruin the plastic-coated finish on the Lustra shelves. They are easy to keep as they require no waxing. Harris Lumber Co. is handling Flecto Seamless plastic flooring, a new item on the market. The housewife can apply this new floor-covering herself in just a matter of hours. There are 19 colors to choose from which will match or complement the color scheme in your kitchen, bathroom, patio or den.

Whether you need one piece of lumber, a truck load, shelving, new flooring, decorative items or a can of paint, Bert Harris and the staff at Harris Lumber Co., 1609 E. 4th, are ready to help you with your selection and give you some good hints in the use of your purchase.

Americans Have Pressed For Reforms In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — American officials believe that for the first time they have successfully pressured South Vietnam's present leaders into some major reforms.

But U.S. sources say the reforms have only scratched the surface. Much depends, they say, on how the new regime of President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President-elect Nguyen Cao Ky behaves.

Recent evidence of effective U.S. pressure, one source said, was the removal of six province chiefs and from 40 to 50 district chiefs on charges of corruption and incompetence. Yet there were signs that at least some of the firings were triggered by personal rivalries rather than a desire for good government.

In a parallel development, reliable sources said U.S. and Vietnamese officials have worked out a major overhaul of the much-criticized pacification program to win over the countryside from the Communists.

The plan gives Maj. Gen. Nguyen Duc Thang, a Vietnamese general regarded by U.S. officials as hard-working, shrewd and incorruptible, greater powers to carry out the program. U.S. sources believe he may be able to claim honest success in 80 per cent of 1,100 hamlets where he has started pacification work.

Boys Outscore Girls In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Boys outscored the girls as Texas' high school seniors were rated "slightly above the average nationally" in their educational development, a ranking made from a nationwide test last spring.

Thang, father of the latest pacification program but apparently waning in influence several months ago, will become deputy chief of the joint general staff and de facto commander of the territorial security forces. He will have wide powers to weed out corrupt regional officials.

The American College Testing Program's examination on four subjects was administered to 67,625 seniors by the governor's committee on public school education.

The Texas composite score averaged 16.6-17 for the boys and 16.2 for girls—compared to the national average of 15.6. The composite score was obtained by averaging the results of the tests in English, Mathematics, Social Studies and Natural Science.

Texas seniors averaged 16.1 in English and 16.2 in Social Studies, below the national averages of 16.5 and 16.8 respectively, but averaged 16.3 in Mathematics and 17.3 in Natural Science, above the national averages of 14.5 and 16.1 respectively.

As part of a "high school profile report" prepared by the American College Testing Program, Inc., it was discovered that of the pupils who took part in the survey 44,278 planned to attend college, and 21,255 did not plan to attend.

Sixty-three per cent of the boys and 48 per cent of the girls said they were seeking at least a bachelor's degree after high school.

"Getting ahead" and "earning more money" were the boys' most important reason for attending college, the survey showed, while girls listed "necessary to get ahead" and "broaden intelligence and cultural interests" as their primary reasons for continuing their education.

Twenty-one per cent of the boys not going to college said it was "too costly," and 22 per cent of the girls gave the same reason.

One-fourth of the boys who admitted they had considered dropping out of school said it was because they disliked either their teachers or courses, and 19 per cent of the girls had the same reason. Fifteen per cent of the girls who had considered dropping out said it was because of the possibility of getting married but only 6 per cent of the boys listed that reason.

Washington (AP) — The State Department has issued a travel guide for the care and handling of touring congressmen.

Its "Handbook for Congressional Foreign Travel" declares congressional visits abroad are good for America and all foreign service posts bear a major responsibility for providing VIP treatment, including a welcome at the airport by the U.S. ambassador.

The handbook says that visiting congressmen like to be given on arrival at the airport envelopes containing the local currency equivalents of $5, $10 and $20 for quick exchange.

The money is part of the official $50-a-day subsistence allowance per person. In countries such as India, however, there is no limit to available funds because the U.S. government holds more local currency than it can use.

A regional meeting of the Small Business Administration representative and bankers will be held here Tuesday at the Ramada Inn.

Larson Lloyd will be in charge of the meeting, and several members from the regional staff at Lubbock will have a part on the program. Several bankers who handle SBA loans in the area also will participate. The meeting begins at 9 a.m. and terminates with a luncheon session.

Abandons Effort For Antigerrymandering

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional redistricting impasse in Indiana is forcing Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., to abandon his effort to write an antigerrymandering provision into law.

The provision has deadlocked a House-Senate conference on a proposed redistricting law. Celler has said he would rather see no law than give up a fight he has been waging for 30 years.

But the pressure from Indiana representatives threatened with having to run statewide for Congress in 1968 instead of from districts has apparently ended the fight.

The House and Senate conferees are scheduled to meet Wednesday and are expected to approve a bill that would prohibit statewide elections for Congress but would leave control over gerrymandering to the states.

The bill will also provide that, starting in 1972, the maximum permissible variation between the largest and smallest congressional districts in a state would be 10 per cent.

Celler has been holding out in conference for a provision in the bill passed by the Senate requiring that all districts be "as compact as possible." But of the five Senate conferees, only one, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., favors it.

The other four senators are insisting on language leaving it to the states to determine whether districts are "as compact as practicable."

Gerrymandering means to draw districts with roundabout boundaries so as to benefit a party.

At the last conference more than a month ago, Celler said he would never yield to the Senate conferees. "To turn this matter over to the states," he said,

In a further effort to press South Vietnam's "other war," the U.S. Embassy announced plans to increase to 41 from 21 the number of American relief experts trying to help civilian refugees. Much of the job will be to make sure funds and supplies meant for the refugees get to them and not to corrupt Vietnamese officials.

The refugee program has come under sharp attack in the U.S. Senate, notably by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., chairman of the Senate Judiciary subcommittee, on refugees. The United States is paying nearly $25.5 million in refugee aid money.

Official figures show 700,000 refugees in camps or shelters but authorities say twice as many may be homeless because of the war.

U.S. pressure for reform is believed to include placing Thieu's junta on notice that the United States would not tolerate any attempt to brush aside the country's newly elected Congress in favor of rule by decree.

A qualified source described both Thieu and Ky as reform-minded but would not extend this description to the rest of the officers making up the present military government.

Tax On Smokes Up 5 Per Cent

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Gov. Raymond P. Shafer signed a bill today raising the state tax on cigarettes 5 cents per pack.

The tax boost is expected to

10-B Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Monday, Oct. 16, 1967

add $55 million in state revenue, to be used for numerous programs.

Shafer signed the bill at 12:01 a.m. and it took effect immediately.

Hugh E. Flaherty, the govern-

nor's legislative secretary, said Shafer signed the bill 11 hours ahead of a planned ceremony in the Capitol because many dealers planned on raising their cigarette prices right after Sunday midnight.

Science And You

Our Cells And Cancer

—By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

One of the biggest questions we can ask about the behavior of living organisms is how the cells of the organism are controlled so they stop growing at just the right time and place.

Suppose you cut your finger. Why does the finger heal up in just the right shape, instead of growing a big knob or something? How does it remember the shape it had before it was cut?

One possibility is that a chemical signal might communicate from one cell to another and this chemical signal stops the cell from growing or dividing, thereby keeping the whole structure of the body organized. A fine idea, if it could be proved. But, it's not easy to demonstrate that things as tiny as cells are busily passing signals around.

It has been shown, however, that certain cells definitely can pass big chemical molecules across their walls. These molecular messengers just might have something to do with the fact that cells remain orderly. Another theory was that electrical signals caused by ions—electrically charged particles—moving between the cells might give a good clue as to whether there was communication from one cell to another. A current of ions was, therefore, injected into one cell and measured in the adjacent cell. It was found that indeed an appreciable amount of current put into one cell finds its way into the surrounding cells. This could provide a very interesting mechanism for inter-cell communication.

We obviously want to know what happens to cell-to-cell communications when cells misbehave, as in cancer. One test was made with cancerous liver cells. The intriguing result was that in a mass of cancerous liver cells there seems to be no detectable ion communication. The cells behaved as separate, independent units. Furthermore, it was found that normal cells (at least they appeared normal) that were close to the cancerous cells also had a kind of reduced communications ability with each other. It almost seemed as though the cancer might be getting to them somehow and reducing their ability to keep track of where they were and what they were doing.

This is far from a proven idea, but the test results seem to be peculiar to cancer cells, at least in the tests on liver. Fast-growing young liver cells of a normal variety can grow as fast as any cancer cells that were tested, and yet they have been shown to maintain good ion intercommunication with their neighbors. Thus, it is not just the fact that cells are growing fast that seems to be connected with a lack of communication with their neighbors; cancer seems to be the unique feature in blocking signals.

We are a long way from understanding the whole mechanism of cancer. But it is possible that these ion current experiments might lead to very good ways to check on whether a cell structure is cancerous or not.
