

Wrong Ammo Used In M16, Report Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators accuse the Army of "unbelievable" handling of the controversial M16 rifle program. In a blistering report after a six-month investigation, a House Armed Services subcommittee said the major contributor to malfunctions of the weapon could be traced to using an ammunition not designed nor developed for use in the M16. "The failure on the part of officials with authority in the Army to cause action to be taken to correct the deficiencies of the ammunition borders on criminal negligence," the report released Wednesday night said. The Army is committed to buy more than 1.4 million of the lightweight, rapid-firing rifles which are being used in the Vietnam war. The rifle, as initially developed, was described as "an excellent and reliable weapon" but the subcommittee said the Army ordered modifications which were unnecessary and were not supported by test data. The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., also criticized sole-source aspects of the rifle program, called for government audits of both the Colt Firearms Co., the manufacturer, and Olin Mathieson, producer of the powder used in ammunition for the M16, and questioned the ethics of a now retired general. It was "at least unethical" for Maj. Gen. Nelson M. Lynde Jr., who was commanding general of the Army Weapons Command at the time of the initial procurement, to accept employment with Fairbanks Whitney, now Colt Industries Inc., five months after his 1964 retirement from the Army, the report said. "In spite of his assertion of no interest in the M16 rifle activities," the subcommittee report said, "his name appears on distribution lists for intercompany memorandums involving the M16."

BOY, 11, FORCED TO CLOSE UP SHOP Lemonade Stand Must Have Restrooms

SATELLITE BEACH, Fla. (AP) — If Billy Churchill gets to reopen his sidewalk refreshment stand, chances are he'll be the only 11-year-old lemonade vendor to offer his patrons powder room facilities. Separate ones at that. The Brevard County Health Department closed Billy's business last month. A neighbor had complained that the boy was selling frozen refreshments without a permit. The young capitalist's mother, Mrs. Sally Churchill, said, "We got a call from the Health Department informing us that Billy would have to shut down the stand because it did not have separate bathrooms for male and female customers." She added, "I'd let Billy's customers use our two bathrooms if they (health officials) would let him reopen his stand."

county commission which began: "It's ridiculous." The letter went on to point out that businesses from grocery stores to traveling circuses could be closed on the same basis as his son's stand. The elder Churchill said the incident was caused by a crank call and then threatened to become "the biggest crank in the state" in pointing out bathroom-less businesses if his son was not allowed to reopen. "We're just trying to protect the health of the public," said Brevard Health Director Dr. T. Paul Haney. "We're not picking on little boys," Haney added. "We're just enforcing the laws of the State Health Department."

The charges were filed after King released statements at a news conference critical of the court and its proceedings.

Teenage Girls Found Dead

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., (AP) — Police today sought the murderer of two teenage girls bludgeoned to death in a remote "lovers lane." The girls may have been killed with an ax and an ice pick, the police said. The newly formed Florida Bureau of Law Enforcement, the Florida Highway Patrol and city police were called in to help the Leon County sheriff's department in the hunt. The girls were identified as Kay Granger and Ann Wood, both students at Florida High School. The girls were discovered on the edge of the Apalachicola National forest early Wednesday after an anonymous caller told sheriff's deputies there were "two bodies in the woods near Blue Sink." Blue Sink is a small lake in an isolated picknicking spot. The two 17-year-olds, one clad in "just undergarments," were smashed in the head "with a blunt instrument, possibly an ax" and stabbed with something sharp and round "like an ice pick or a leather punch," according to sheriff's administrative aide John Melton. He said authorities won't know if the girls were sexually molested until two Miami pathologists complete their autopsies.

TEC Gets Award For Referrals To Job Corps

AUSTIN—Bob Young, national deputy director of the Job Corps, this week presented the Job Corps National Job Service Award to the Texas Employment Commission "in appreciation of an outstanding contribution to the Job Corps program." The award was handed over by trainees at the Clearfield (Utah) Job Corps Center. "The Texas Employment Commission's outstanding job of recruiting trainees and placing them in jobs after training is deserving of this award, which is reserved for individuals and agencies making significant contributions to the Job Corps effort to conserve American youth," Young told TEC employees gathered for the presentation in the agency's state headquarters building in Austin. He pointed out that TEC has played a large part in placing in jobs 88 per cent of Texas trainees who completed training, and 71 per cent of those who left camp before the completion of training. Since the Job Corps program began, TEC has recruited over 14,000 youth to the Job Corps for training. Some 28,000 Texas youth have been interviewed and screened, since it is estimated that two youths are interviewed for each candidate who meets the screening criteria and is referred for training. This year, 30 have been referred from Big Spring.

Judge Rules For Mrs. Birch

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas probate judge held as valid today the 1966 handwritten will of A. Otis Birch, giving the California multi-millionaire's fortune to his ex-convict wife. Probate Judge F. W. Lawyers for five California Baptist charitable organizations had asked that the proceedings be stopped. The organizations were once recipients of financial gifts from Birch, whose 1966 will left his estate to Pearl Choate Birch. A psychiatrist told the hearing Wednesday that Birch was mentally competent in 1966 when he wrote the contested will.

Market Has Brisk Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was sharply higher early this afternoon following a brisk rally. Trading was heavy. Gains outnumbered losses by well over 2-1. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 5.14 at 908.63. Prices rose from the start and reached their peak on average late in the morning. Quick profit taking by traders pared the best gain of about 7 points in the Dow industrials to the gain at noon. Much of the market's power was attributed to a technical factor—the rise in the short interest on the New York and American Stock exchanges to record levels. As most of the short interest represents the total of shares borrowed and sold in hopes of a decline—meaning the stock must eventually be repurchased—this was a powerful prop to what some analysts have been calling an "oversold" market.

He said he posted bond in Nevada on the complaint from here, then, on advice of his attorney, returned voluntarily.

Profit Expected On Rowdysm

DALLAS (AP) — The City of Dallas will make a profit out of the rowdysm that erupted in the downtown area on the eve of the Texas-Oklahoma football game. Hugh Jones, corporation court clerk, said the 800 or so persons arrested Friday night and early Saturday posted bonds totaling $21,000 and $22,000. Jones said he expected most of the bonds would be forfeited, although those believing themselves innocent can appear for trial. Overtime pay for the 450 policemen who patrolled the downtown area is expected to amount to $6,000. A much smaller amount will go to court clerks and aides.

Martin Voters To Decide On Three Issues Nov. 11

STANTON — Voters here will have three local issues to decide when they go to the polls Nov. 11. One would create and provide for operation of a county hospital district; another would finance a road-building program; the third would set up funds for a county airport. Probably the major issue, from an immediate point of view, is the hospital district. While passing on establishment of a district which would be coextensive with the Martin County boundaries, voters also would be deciding on a maximum tax of 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation, and to assume the outstanding bonds against the county-owned Physicians Hospital. The residual bonded debt is $5,000. The hospital was built by popular subscription, matched by federal funds under the Hill-Burton Act shortly after World War II. The contract figure was $156,000, and a recent appraisal put the replacement value at around $300,000. Operation costs, however, have been a financial burden to the county which stepped in to assume indebtedness when the hospital was threatened with closure a number of years ago. County Judge Jim McCoy said that the hospital drain had put a strain on the general fund to the point that the district appeared to the county commissioners court the best way to assure operation. The proposed airport bonds would be in the amount of $25,000 for land and improvements. In terms of money, the largest of the three issues will be a road bond proposal to finance construction of some 40 miles of lateral roads, 10 miles in each of four precincts. The only project with an urgent stamp on it and marked for early construction is an 8-mile stretch from IS 30 north along the east county line to the Big Spring-Andrews highway. The state is building a shorter similar road much nearer Stanton. The amount of this issue has not been finally determined, but it may approach half a million dollars. Only that portion necessary for the eight miles would be sold at this time, and other increments would be marketed as road projects developed over the years, said Judge McCoy. Martin County's total bonded debt, including the hospital bonds, is $418,000.

State Fair Stock Winners Are Listed

DALLAS (AP) — A Black Angus named Freight Train won the title of grand champion steer for Donnie Miller, 16, of Kerrville at the State Fair of Texas Wednesday. The reserve grand champion was Old Whopper, a Hereford exhibited by George Herrman, 16, of Lampasas. Donnie's twin brother, Ronnie, showed the reserve champion Angus steer, which was runner-up to the grand champion in judging of that breed. Their brother Mike, 18, came through with the reserve champion Shorthorn steer. Last year the grand champion steer brought $2,500. The Miller brothers are sons of Mrs. Frances Miller and they attend Tivy High School in Kerrville. Their prize winners were bred on different ranches. Exams at Texas A&M kept young Manahan from being here to best his Shorthorn picked as best of that breed. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Manahan, were on hand and a friend, Rusty Holloway, 13, paraded David's steer in the show ring. Marinda Sue Rusche, 12, of Llano exhibited the champion Hereford heifer and Steve Daugherty of Scurry County the reserve champion. The champion Santa Gertrudis heifer belonged to Roger Frieles 16, of La Vega and the reserve champion to William Clark of Kerens. Kerry Lou Kimbriel, 17, of Mason showed the champion Charolais heifer and Kristine Arlt of Bexar County the reserve champion. The champion Angus heifer was owned by Richard Kirland, 16, of Borger and the reserve champion by Chester Hales of Armstrong County. More Baylor Clubs Must Stand Trial

WACO (AP) — A Student Congress committee decided Wednesday night that five more Baylor University clubs must stand trial on hazing charges. That brought to 10 the number of organizations hailed into student court since the death of a youth being initiated by one of the clubs. Those added to the list by a physical hazing committee after a closed session with their representatives Wednesday night are Tau Kappa Epsilon, Kappa Omega Tau and Lambda Sigma Chi, all identified as social clubs. The committee, headed by Dallas senior Jim Fuller, was ordered to inquire into hazing activities after the death Oct. 10 of John Everett Clifton, 19, of Crosby, Tex. An autopsy report stated Clifton in effect strangled from nausea after being compelled to drink a mixture of laxatives. He was being initiated at a farm near Waco by the Baylor Chamber of Commerce, a men's service club and oldest organization on the campus. Fuller's committee directed Tuesday night that the Baylor Chamber of Commerce be tried before a student jury. Cited for trial also were Phi Nu Alpha Sinfonia, national music fraternity; Alpha Kappa Psi and Delta Sigma Pi, national business fraternities, and Nu Alpha Tau Epsilon, a social club. Baylor's student court is empowered to bar organizations from the campus if they are found guilty of violating regulations. It could invoke such lesser penalties as fines or probation. A statement issued by Fuller's committee said use of the word "indictment" with reference to the accused organizations had been misunderstood.

Auto Negotiators End Long Session

DETROIT (AP) — Auto negotiators ended a 14-hour session today and the striking United Auto Workers said they would not return to the bargaining table until called by Ford Motor Co. "Apparently the company wanted to think something over," said a union spokesman when asked why no new sessions had been scheduled as they have for the past few days. The spokesman said he expected bargaining to resume sometime today. The fifth near-marathon talks in a row came as UAW President Walter P. Reuther and his top aides wired the leaders of Ford locals that no meaningful progress had been made on most key money issues in a new contract. The telegrams said most of the bargaining in the past few days has been confined to non-money matters, although "meaningful progress" has been made in the area of "pensions, insurance and income security during periods of layoff." When asked if the wires were to prepare members—some of them restive over the lengthening strike—for a possible breakdown in talks, a union spokesman would say only "they were to inform the membership." Some 160,000 workers struck Ford Sept. 7 on expiration of the old three-year contract. The strike was in its 43rd day today. There was no elaboration of the term "income security." But Reuther's main goal had been a guaranteed annual income that would assure a worker who starts a year employed that he will get 100 per cent of his wages for the year even if laid off. Pensions also had been a priority goal. Insurance improvements were listed among union goals, but without emphasis.

WASHINGTON (AP) — No further court-ordered congressional redistricting of states would be permitted until after the 1970 census under a compromise bill approved by House and Senate conferees. The bill would block at-large congressional elections from any state other than Hawaii and New Mexico. The agreement ended a long deadlock Wednesday over differing bills and discarded provisions.

Opening lead: Five of ♠

The taking of nine tricks in a three no trump contract would have been routine, and North merits a charge for not making that call himself over South's jump rebid of three diamonds. North has a bare minimum opening and should endeavor to avoid an 11 trick commitment. Once he chose to raise diamonds, South rebid his excellent five card heart suit and North, somewhat belatedly, accepted a 10-trick contract in preference to going a level higher.

West opened the five of spades, dummy played the jack and East's queen won the trick. The latter continued with the ace and declarer ruffed.

American League Set For 1969 Expansion

CHICAGO (AP)—The American League has voted to expand to 12 teams by 1969 and shift the Kansas City franchise to Oakland, Calif., for 1968.

At the same time, Kansas City and Seattle were awarded expansion franchises effective "as soon as practicable but not later than the 1971 season."

Kansas City's delegation was so angered that the city faced prospects of waiting as long as 1971 without baseball that League President Joe Cronin reconvened the owners last night and hammered out an agreement on expansion by 1969.

This came after an incensed Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a member of the delegation, said he would call a news conference in Washington this afternoon, and after one Kansas City fan fumed that the league "has rewarded the man who sabotaged baseball in Kansas City and has left the city without baseball until 1971."

Intramural Touch Football Champions

Toros, Runnels Slate Games Here Today

A football tripleheader involving the ninth grade Toros, Goliad's eighth graders and the Runnels eighth graders is on tap here this evening.

The Toros, boasting a 2-4 record, challenge Sweetwater at 7:30 p.m.

The undefeated, untied, unscored-on Big Spring Sophomores visit Colorado City this evening for one of their biggest tests of the year, a 5:30 p.m. contest with the Coe City B team.

Washington Grabs Lead In Scoring

Richard Washington of Slaton is District 4-AA's leading touchdown maker, both for the season and in conference play.

Washington has tallied 66 points overall and 48 against league opponents, all the result of touchdowns.

Starting in Douglass' place will be Mike Walsh, a junior, who has seen very little action at the position.

Abilene Back To Miss Game

ABILENE — David McWilliams, coach of the Abilene Eagles, revealed this morning that his star quarterback, Dale Douglass, would miss this week's game with Big Spring due to an ankle injury he suffered in practice Monday.

Greg Jones of Plains has scored the amazing total of 102 points to pace all scorers in District 5-A but Cliff Thomas of Tahoka isn't conceding him a thing.

Cooper-San Angelo Go Highlights Grid Slate

Abilene Cooper meets the tarnished defending champion of Class AAAA—San Angelo—in this week's big game of Texas schoolboy football.

Jackboro, Daingerfield and Brady, the 1-3-3 of Class AA, are not in apparent danger. They play Nocona, Gilmer and Coleman, respectively.

Class AAAA has a top game in the Conroe-LaGrange clash in Dist. 10. The two are tied for the lead with 2-0 records.

England's Ryder Cup Standout Is Ailing

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Britain's hopes of wresting the Ryder Cup from America's million-dollar professional golf team suffered a setback today when Welchman Dave Thomas turned up with a nagging back ailment.

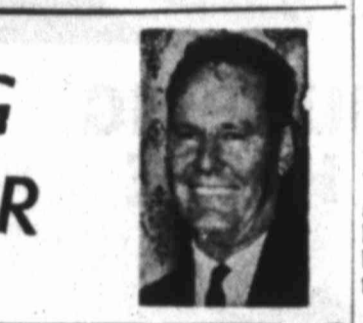

Thomas is a 6-2, 215-pound giant of a man who is one of the best drivers in the world.

Sunland's Post Time Is 1:00

EL PASO — Post time for the first race at Sunland Park, during the 74 day meeting opening Nov. 4, has been set for 1 p.m., general manager R. F. Haynsworth revealed today.

Haynsworth said the majority of the patrons had expressed a preference for the 1 p.m. post. Eleven races will be carded opening weekend with post time for the final event stated at 5:10 p.m.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

A cloak of funeral quiet enveloped the Big Spring Steers on their way back to the dressing room from Memorial Stadium last Friday night, interrupted only occasionally by one or two boys who were in deep grief.

The Longhorns had reason to be emotional. They felt they had played well enough to win and might have had their hands raised in victory had Lady Luck been in their corner.

Abilene Back To Miss Game

ABILENE — David McWilliams, coach of the Abilene Eagles, revealed this morning that his star quarterback, Dale Douglass, would miss this week's game with Big Spring due to an ankle injury he suffered in practice Monday.

What a battalion of Big Spring football buffs do not realize, perhaps, is that this is a young ball club. Less than half a dozen of this year's team saw much action with last year's 4-6 unit, whereas both Midland Lee and Midland High fielded veteran clubs against Big Spring.

Jones Is Leader In 5-A Scoring

Greg Jones of Plains has scored the amazing total of 102 points to pace all scorers in District 5-A but Cliff Thomas of Tahoka isn't conceding him a thing.

There was no cohesive effort for a while. There is now. Coach Dykes needs a while for his program to start paying dividends, just as Merrill Green at Abilene Cooper and Bob Burris at Lee needed time.

Sands Is Ready To Go 11-Man

ACKERLY — M. B. Maxwell, superintendent of schools at Sands, said his school was prepared to make the leap to 11-man football next year.

How good is Abilene Cooper? Some observers, this one included, reasoned that Green would have troubles because of an inexperienced line.

Jones Is Leader In 5-A Scoring

Greg Jones of Plains has scored the amazing total of 102 points to pace all scorers in District 5-A but Cliff Thomas of Tahoka isn't conceding him a thing.

Harold King, the former Midland High mentor who has scouted Cooper for Odessa High this fall, says the Cougars have a better primary than they had last year—mainly because their boys are quicker.

Sands Is Ready To Go 11-Man

ACKERLY — M. B. Maxwell, superintendent of schools at Sands, said his school was prepared to make the leap to 11-man football next year.

One of Haskins' big worries is his inside attack which suffered the heaviest blow after the graduation of 6-8 Nevil Shed and 6-7 David Lattin elected to forego his final year of eligibility for a pro contract.

Fashions From The Past

During a home demonstration club style show held Wednesday during the annual exhibit at Highland Center Mall, these women from Stanton modeled costumes like those worn by early settlers in West Texas. They are, from left, Mrs. Walter Kelly, Mrs. Herbert Shipp, Mrs. Roy Linsey, Mrs. Lewis Carlile, Mrs. Glenn L. Brown, Mrs. Leo Turner, Mrs. Ohmer Kelly, Mrs. Joe Stewart and Mrs. Owen Kelly.

Ready For Winter

Among the numerous exhibit tables at the annual home demonstration club exhibit held Wednesday in the Highland Center Mall was this one which displayed home produced and preserved fruits and vegetables. Inspecting the foods that will brighten a winter menu are Mrs. W. E. Hanson of the Luther HD Club and Mrs. Ross Hill of the Elbow HD Club.

A LOVELIER YOU

Fine Grooming Adds To Beauty's Appeal

By MARY SUE MILLER
At a round table discussion on the values of good grooming, the teen opinion shaped up this way: "It's not good grooming that makes a girl attractive. It's personality."

Of course the idea is true, at least in part. But look around and you will observe that the most attractive personalities always do seem to belong to girls and women who are clean and neat — well-groomed.

It could hardly be otherwise. For grooming reflects so many appealing traits. An orderly mind, fastidious habits, self-respect and consideration for others are but a few of the fine qualities suggested by a tidy turn-out. Lacking those qualities, none of us could expect to take honors in charm.

And, as unfair or uncharitable as snap judgments are, people rarely take the time or trouble to single out a damsel's sterling traits when she looks a minus quantity. Shoddy grooming is thus a handicap from start to finish. It makes a poor first impression, one that lingers on and on.

So viewed, good grooming is not just an esthetic concept or a special occasion affair. It's part of the business of daily living. Could be, more lovelies should make it their business. There's no excusing cop-outs, except in cases of extreme want.

TIPS FOR TEENS

Fifty ways to ideal skin and natural make-up for young adults — ages 13 to 19 — are detailed in my booklet, MODEL TIPS FOR TEENS. Advice covers corrective skin care; how to use make-up to accent good points and play down problems; fashion model make-up tricks. For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing 25¢ in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

finish. It makes a poor first impression, one that lingers on and on.

Two Win Prizes At Hobo Party

STANTON (SC) — Mrs. Ethel Thackeray and Mrs. Elizabeth Beck received costume prizes at the hobo party held Monday evening by Stanton Rebekah Lodge No. 287. Ten other members from John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge in Big Spring attended. Mrs. Henry Louder presided as noble grand, and Mason Coggins was chairman of the entertainment committee.

Volunteer Of Quarter Gets Award At Webb

Mrs. Barbara Wormser, wife of Capt. Owen H. Wormser, was named "Volunteer of the Quarter" at the special awards meeting held Monday afternoon at the Family Services Lounge at Webb Air Force Base. Maj. DeWitt R. Bunn, personnel chief, presented the awards and expressed appreciation for the service the volunteers are providing for Family Services.

Mrs. Wormser has worked as a Family Services volunteer for over a year. She has served as emergency chairman and is the present publicity co-chairman, as well as working on the office committee. Mrs. Wormser is a substitute school teacher, a Cadette Scout leader, special activities co-chairman for the OWC and publicity chairman for the OWC Bowling League.

Maj. Bunn also presented the Family Services volunteer insignia to Mrs. Larry Allen and Mrs. Bruce Ludwig.

The volunteer pin, representing a minimum of 25 hours service, was awarded to Mrs. E. W. Beverly and Mrs. Charles E. Decker. Receiving the 100 hour guard for their Family Service pins were Mrs. John Dinges and Mrs. Larry Kemper. Mrs. Norman Newhouse and Mrs. Jack Gaskill received the 250 hour guard.

One year stripes were presented to Mrs. Chandler B. Estes, Mrs. Jack Gaskill, Mrs. Kemper, Mrs. John L. O'Donnell and Mrs. Wormser. Certificates of appreciation were presented to three departing volunteers, Mrs. Kemper, Mrs. Fred Pinkins and Mrs. Robert J. Prather.

Mrs. Earl Glass, Family Services Coordinator, presided, and following the business meeting, refreshments were served from a table decorated in a fall theme.

Plans were made for Martin County Achievement Day to be held today at 10:30 a.m. at the Cap Rock Auditorium for the home demonstration clubs. Mrs. Bud Jones will speak and show slides on her trip to the Fiji Islands.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Here it is almost Halloween and we have already finished preserving the peaches from our tree that most years doesn't have its fruit ripened until just before Thanksgiving. It must have been something happened last summer that has brought about the change in 'old nuts.'

Have you seen the Jack O' Lanterns with ears that stick out from the pumpkin head? One on display at a local grocery store had the ears carved out and then punched in just enough to make the back side of the ear protrude . . . made it look almost human . . . in an eerie sort of way.

The LOWELL BAIRDS and her mother, MRS. A. C. BASS, left today for Tyler to see the Rose Festival.

The K. H. MCGIBBONSSES and the H. G. KEATONS have returned from a 21-day trip to Europe where they attended the Texas Oil Jobbers Seminar. They left the states from Chicago and flew to London. Following the seminar they toured in Paris, Belgium, Zurich and Lucerne, Switzerland, Florence, Milan and Rome, Italy, and they departed from Madrid, Spain.

MR. and MRS. OMER WILLIAMS were in Seminole Sunday afternoon for a family gathering at the home of Mr. Williams' daughter.

Former residents, MR. and MRS. JIM FIELDS, and their children were here over the weekend from their home in Fort Worth. Mr. Fields, who is a seminary student, was here to be ordained into the ministry by his father who is now retired.

In Lubbock Saturday night for the ball game were the CLYDE ANGELS, and MRS. ROBERT ANGEL. Also there were the FLOYD PANNELLS.

L. H. RUTLEDGE is resting well following surgery a week ago in Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital.

All the congregation had as much fun as their pastor and his family Sunday when the First Baptist Church gave their minister, the Rev. Robert F. Polk, and his family an old-fashioned 'pounding.' The event was in recognition of Rev. Polk's six years with the church.

M. A. HAMPTON, 1503 Tucson, has returned home after a 10-day trip that took him to Oklahoma City, Okla., where he visited his son and his family. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hampton and their children, Craig and Lisa. In Houston he was a guest of his daughter, Mrs. Jimmy McDowell, Mr. McDowell and their daughter, Kelly Tonette. He also visited his mother, Mrs. Birdie Hampton, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Reeves in Conroe and in Port Arthur he spent some time with Mr. and Mrs. John Hampton.

Keith Swim Talks To Lakeview P-TA

Keith Swim, director of special programs for the Big Spring Independent School District, was guest speaker Tuesday at the Lakeview Parent-Teacher Association meeting. He spoke on the adult education program and asked for volunteers for work in the Head Start Project.

Mrs. Ed Jacobs presided, and Mrs. Willie Foreman brought the devotion. Plans were completed for securing shelving in the school library.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Essie Randle and Mrs. Jacobs. Twenty-five attended.

Pythian District Convention Slated

Mrs. Herbie Johnson Jr. will serve as most excellent chief at the district convention Saturday in Odessa, it was announced at the Monday meeting of the Pythian Sisters, Sterling Temple No. 43, at Castle Hall.

Mrs. Choc Smith will serve as secretary at the convention. Mrs. W. L. Thompson presided, and announced plans to send boy's clothing to the Pythian orphanage in Weatherford.

Mrs. Fred Coleman won the capsule prize, and a garage sale was scheduled Oct. 28 at Castle Hall.

"Twin" Club Organized, Names Slate

The organizational meeting of the Mothers of Twins Club was held Tuesday evening in the home of the president, Mrs. James Newlin, 3227 Drexel.

Officers serving with Mrs. Newlin will be Mrs. Larry Dush, vice president; Mrs. Russell De Vore, secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Morrow, assistant secretary; Mrs. David Stephens, treasurer; and Mrs. Joe Langford, assistant treasurer.

"The purpose of the club is to bring together socially, mothers of twins who are interested in sharing problems and experiences," said Mrs. Newlin. The mothers brought their children to the meeting, and the ages ranged from 16 months to seven years.

Later, the club will become affiliated with a national group and will have a project such as helping a needy family with twins. Regular meetings will be held the third Tuesday of each month, and the next meeting will be Nov. 21 in the Downtown Tea Room for dinner.

To Give Hymnal For Encampment

The Wesleyan Service Guild of Coahoma Methodist Church met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Gerald Oakes with Mrs. Don McKinney leading the study, "The Church in a Changing World." Mrs. Billy Childers gave the devotion.

Mrs. H. L. Harrington, president, announced that the guild will purchase a hymnal for the Cedar Canyon encampment near Lubbock, and will serve refreshments at the church to teenagers following the Friday football game.

Ten attended, and the group was divided into four prayer groups.

Martha Fosters Plan Luncheon

The Martha Foster Circle of Wesley Methodist Church met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Howard Berry, 2900 Cherokee, with Mrs. Janie Cofer leading prayer. Mrs. Cofer joined Mrs. Abbie Anderson and Mrs. W. B. Morris in leading the Bible study group. Refreshments were served to seven members who were reminded that the next meeting will be a salad luncheon at the church.

Roads Leading To 'HemisFair'

"The Magic Carpet to the Texas HemisFair," was the program theme at the Monday meeting of the Forsan Study Club at Forsan school. Mrs. Raymond Moore presented the program, "How Shall We Go?" and suggested routes that travelers might take from Big Spring to the San Antonio celebration.

Mrs. Moore described scenic side trips that could be taken, including the hill country around Bandera where guest ranches offer a touch of western hospitality and atmosphere. She mentioned Fredericksburg and the LBJ ranch, and further down the road, the President's birthplace. Also, she pointed out that the Aquarena, at one of America's most beautiful springs, is about 30 miles from San Antonio.

Mrs. H. H. Story, Mrs. Larry Latson and Mrs. T. J. Walls discussed the topic, "The HemisFair Opens Up for Me," and told of the purpose, exhibits and events to be offered.

The fair will last 184 days, beginning April 6, 1968, and concluding Oct. 6, 1968. The occasion will mark the 250th anniversary of the founding of San Antonio, and the fair theme will be "The Confluence of Civilizations in the Americas." Fair grounds will be situated on 82.6 acres in the heart of San Antonio. The "Tower of the Americas" will extend 622 feet in the air, and will be the tallest observation tower in the western hemisphere. The tower will feature a revolving restaurant at the 550 foot level, and will have a doughnut-shaped dining room which will seat 312 persons. It will make one complete revolution each hour and will offer diners a panoramic view of the city and the countryside.

The gate fees will be $2 for adults, and $1 for children. The grounds will be open from 9 a.m. to midnight, and the exhibits will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The club discussed plans for a testing buffet and food bazaar to be held Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria of the Forsan School.

Fifteen attended, and hostesses were Mrs. Don Murphy and Mrs. M. M. Fairchild.

Police Break Up Wisconsin Sit-In

By The Associated Press
University authorities in Wisconsin and California have moved against student leaders of antiwar and antidraft protests after demonstrators in Madison and Oakland clashed with police.

In Washington sources said the Army may use paratroopers to augment the Pentagon's civilian guard force in preventing disruption or worse in a planned massive antiwar demonstration Saturday.

The extent of troop use would depend largely on any agreement on ground rules reached beforehand by demonstration leaders and government authorities. Officials would prefer to keep troops out if possible, it was said.

University of Wisconsin officials moved to oust leaders of a campus antiwar sit-in Wednesday which was broken up by riot-trained Madison city police. At least 65 persons were injured in the melee.

Demonstrators vowed to continue the struggle and discussed retaliatory strikes as a possible sympathetic faculty members.

The demonstrators were protesting the presence of Dow Chemical Co., manufacturer of napalm for the war in Vietnam, on campus to interview job applicants.

Chancellor William H. Sewell said Wednesday night he would suspend, at least temporarily, further interviews "to guard the safety of our campus."

Sewell also said the university would prefer charges against leaders of the campus demonstration and suspend them from school, referring their cases to the student conduct committee.

On the West Coast, Arleigh Williams, dean of students at the University of California's Berkeley campus, said his office was charging at least 20 students with violating university rules in the on-campus antiwar rallies.

San Francisco's cable car system is basically the same as equipment first tested Aug. 1, 1873.

Antidraft demonstrators continued their protest at the besieged Oakland Army Induction Center and the arrest of 91 squatters at the door brought to more than 300 the numbers of persons seized since the protests began.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, at the National Governors Conference on a cruise to the Virgin Islands, warned that if demonstrators step up their protest, California could use the National Guard.

In Buffalo, N.Y., 200 antiwar demonstrators paraded peacefully outside the local draft board chanting "We won't go."

Ten men, including one clergyman, turned in what they said were draft registration cards.

In Northampton, Mass., about 35 youths picketed the town hall where James Faulkner, draft board chairman, has an office.

The youths claim the war is "immoral and illegal" and that Faulkner and the draft board are committing a crime by drafting men into the Army.

Beats Back Students

A riot stick-swinging Madison, Wis., police officer beats back an angry throng of University of Wisconsin protesters Wednesday on campus. Squads of riot officers broke up a sit-in intended to disrupt Dow Chemical Co. job interviews. Dow makes napalm for the war in Vietnam.

Pentagon May Be Guarded By Troops During Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army may use troops to guard the Pentagon from disruption or worse in a planned massive weekend antiwar demonstration, sources say.

Officials would rather rely on the building's civilian guard force—and keep troops out of it entirely—if possible.

The degree to which troops may be brought into the situation will depend largely on any agreement reached beforehand by leaders of the demonstration and government authorities on ground rules.

There have been discussions—but no permit has been issued for the rally at the Lincoln Memorial Saturday and the march across the Potomac to the Pentagon afterward. Sponsors are hoping for a turnout as great as 100,000.

Sources indicated as many as four battalions—possibly about 3,500 soldiers—of the crack 82nd Airborne Division might be brought up from Ft. Bragg, N.C.

The bulk of such troops probably would be held in reserve at nearby bases, these sources said, but one battalion of some 850 military police might be stationed inside the Pentagon.

Officially, Defense Department officials are saying nothing. They decline to confirm or deny that their plans include possible use of troops.

"We support the right of expressly dissent," said one official. "But we cannot permit anything to interfere with the conduct of our business."

The Pentagon, like other government buildings, is operated by the General Services Administration. GSA has a force of about 200 guards, some of them elderly, assigned to the Pentagon. But there never has been a demonstration at the Pentagon of the size in prospect for this weekend.

On a work day, there are some 27,000 military people and civilian employees at work in the Pentagon. This drops to about 2,000 on Saturday, with even fewer reporting on Sunday.

Entrance to the building from 6 p.m. Friday until 7 a.m. Monday is allowed only to those persons who carry passes. Thus, unless the demonstrators storm the doors, they will not be allowed inside. The demonstrators' chances of confronting Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara appear limited.

McNamara rarely enters through the main doors, but is usually driven into an underground garage and rides to his third floor office by elevator.

Clothing, Toys Needed For Viet Orphanage

The unit of Maj. Smith Swords, formerly stationed at Webb AFB, has adopted a Vietnamese orphanage near Da Nang, and he has appealed for help on clothing and toys.

Since the climate there is tropical, any type of summer clothing for children (ages 3 to about 14) will be appreciated. Small toys (and they must be small and simple) can be used, too. Large ones can't be accepted on account of limitations on packaging.

Those who can help with good, serviceable used summer clothing for children—or with toys—are asked to telephone 263-3868.

Cable Cars Are Big Business

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco's cable cars—a national monument—are becoming big business.

So big, in fact, that they will become a separate division of the municipal railway on Monday.

James K. Carr, general manager of public utilities, said: "The cable cars have more business than they can handle. Somehow we are going to have to find the money to add cars to the fleet."

He said that in the last fiscal year the rinkydinks carried 10,906,861 passengers—702,000 more than a year earlier. And nearly 1.4 million passengers a month from all over the world rode them during the summer tourist season.

San Francisco's cable car system is basically the same as equipment first tested Aug. 1, 1873.

The demonstrators were protesting the presence of Dow Chemical Co., manufacturer of napalm for the war in Vietnam, on campus to interview job applicants.

Chancellor William H. Sewell said Wednesday night he would suspend, at least temporarily, further interviews "to guard the safety of our campus."

Sewell also said the university would prefer charges against leaders of the campus demonstration and suspend them from school, referring their cases to the student conduct committee.

A Devotional For The Day

Living to me means simply "Christ." (Philippians 1:21, Phillips)

PRAYER: Our Father, we pray Thee give us this day the courage to follow Christ, the one who came to redeem us and transform our lives. By His spirit help us to love and serve Thee and our fellowmen as He was able to do. In His name we ask. Amen.

Wise Precaution

The American Medical Association has wisely called for better precautions against licensing of pilots with physical or mental health problems. The recommendations were made by the AMA's committee on aerospace medicine.

The AMA is concerned lest the federal agency certify persons without knowing all the pertinent facts about their health. As the medical group notes, the FAA may be unaware of problems "such as habitual alcoholism, severe emotional or mental states, epilepsy, temporary heart irregularities or use of tranquilizers, antihistamines, LSD or narcotics," even though these are known to the applicant's personal physician.

This argues the wisdom of the AMA's proposal that Federal Aviation Agency regulations be altered to require an applicant to furnish the names of all doctors who have examined or treated him, and to authorize the doctors to give the FAA any data pertinent to medical certification.

With flying rapidly on the increase, such precautions make excellent sense.

Gimlet Eye On Tax Gimmicks

Generous tax concessions to attract new industry, combined with tax-exempt industrial revenue bonds, have come under the watchful eye of Congress.

In an apparent attempt to head off federal regulation of the tax concession gimmick the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, a bipartisan group established by Congress in 1959, has warned that the practices may be self-defeating. The commission, the commission agreed in a recent report, "can have beneficial effects on our federal system by setting in motion a self-defeating cycle of competitive tax undercuts and irrational discriminations among business firms."

The commission must have had in mind a recent act of the Louisiana legislature which authorized the Louisiana Council on New Industry to meet the lowest tax offer of any other state in attracting industry. The conclusion of the commission was that there is "no direct relationship between industrial growth and tax differentials. . . (since) states are careful not to get 'too far out of line' with their immediate neighbors," but that the pull is more pronounced at the metropolitan level where tax concessions are a more definite attraction.

No one should expect members of Congress to stand idly by while the taxing resources of the federal government are eroded by gimmicks such as tax concessions and tax-exempt industrial revenue bonds.

Good Example Of Policy Under Duress

TEHRAN, Iran — "You are good news — and we need good news." This was the vice president's toast at a recent luncheon for His Imperial Majesty, the Shahanshah, Mohammad-Reza Shah Pahlavi.

Hubert Humphrey was saying a mouthful, and not a morsel of it was malarky. Not only does the Shah of Iran wear his crown on a head that rests easily in popularity and influence at home, he also rules a country which is in many ways the very best example of American foreign policy under duress.

IT IS HARD to recall any other U.S. Embassy which regards the country where it serves as such a signal success — and this despite the fact that Iran is internally a socialist state, and externally a deal-maker with the Soviet Union.

The Shah is good news on a number of points. He was a 21-year-old puppet in 1941 when the British and Russians dethroned his father, an Army officer who had seized the crown, and made him a nominal monarch. He was temporarily de-throned himself in 1953 when Prime Minister Mossadeq forced him to leave the country. The Shah returned in a coup that was expertly managed by the CIA. Since then he has been a gradualist-reformer in a part of the world where radicals are the usual order.

THE VAST petroleum resources — reaching well over 100 million tons of oil production this year — were nationalized. A consortium of foreign countries handles production, and pays a royalty of around half a billion dollars a year to the Iranian government. The Shah, seeing to it that the proceeds are used for internal improvements, has redistributed his own and other feudally held fiefs to the peasants, and undertaken many uplift programs in education and health.

Less well-known than these publicized reforms are his shrewd politics in absorbing former opponents into his administration. As an American official remarked to me, "It's almost impossible for the left wingers to find an issue. The country's biggest socialist and its biggest get-along-with-Russia man always turns out to be His Nibs."

IRAN, THE nation, is good news for America mainly because its monarch has taken us at our word. Every U.S. preachment since the end of World War II has been that the emerging countries should strive for self-sufficiency. Almost never, except in the case of Iran, has it happened that way. Since 1946 we have supplied some $120 billion in foreign aid to more than 100 countries. About $1.6 billion (1.3 per cent) has gone to Iran, and $887 million was for economic development purposes. But the AID money has been well spent, and we are now phasing out the entire operation. Only a corporal's guard of about 40 Americans will remain to wind up the work at the end of this year.

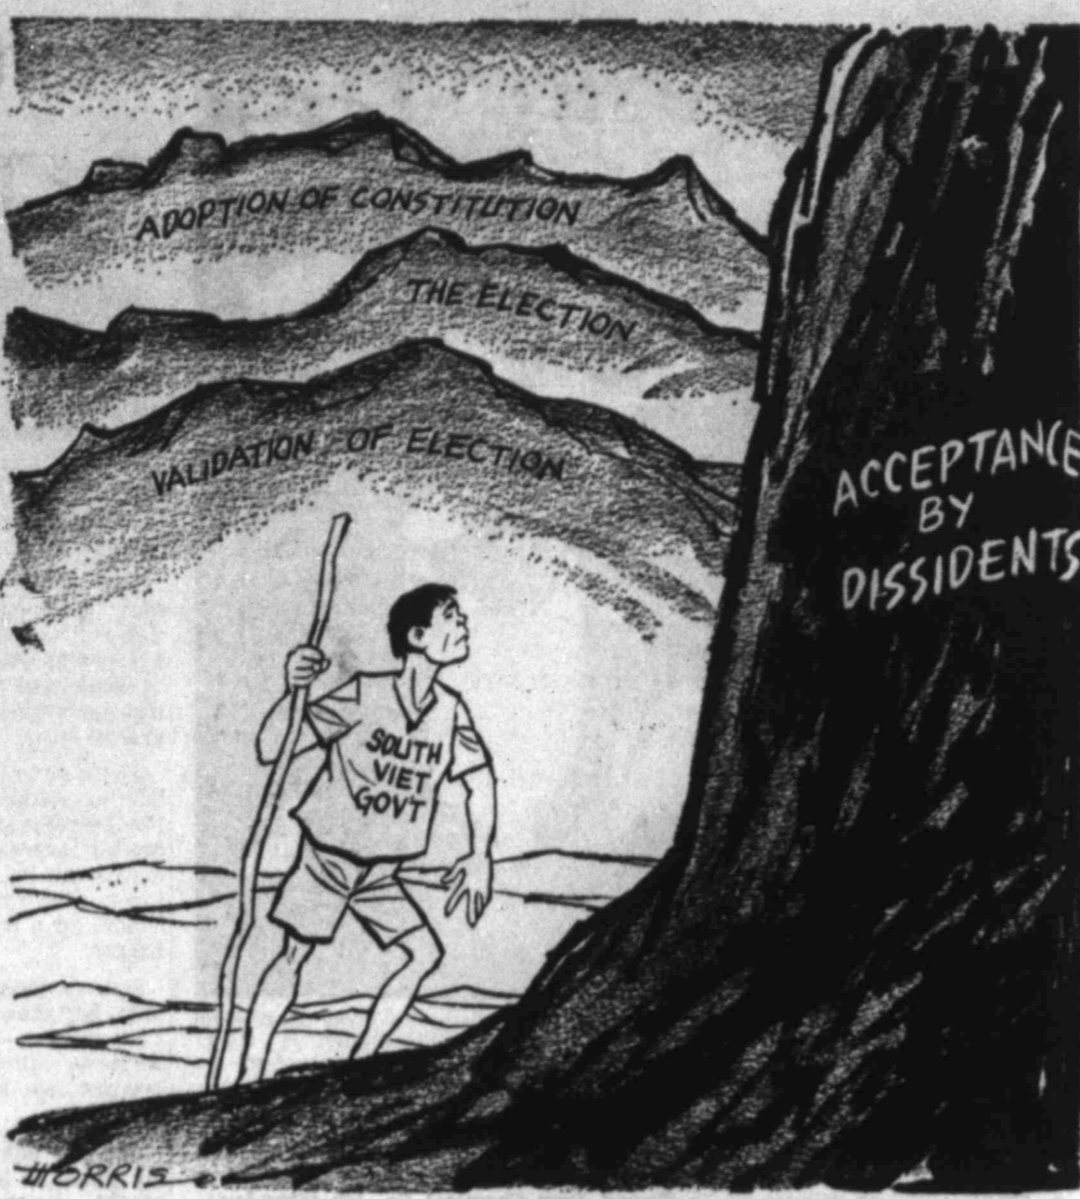

THE REST of the giveaway in Iran — about $714 million — has gone into military assistance. The Iranian armed forces of some 180,000 men are not going to invade any other country. But they give a sense of security along the common border with Russia, as well as against the threats of subversion that are represented by Nasser of Egypt. Despite much foolishness about arms distribution spoken in the U.S. Senate and elsewhere, a showy military force inspires the sort of pride that inspires a small nation to protect itself until outside help can arrive. This would happen in the case of Iran, by all accounts of U.S. military spokesmen here.

It is the self-sufficiency that has allowed Iran to undertake some cautious trading with Russia and the Soviet Bloc. The most talked-about deal is the planned piping of Iranian natural gas into Russia, and the feeling is that Iran will be disappointed in what it eventually gets in return. Meanwhile a barter agreement, effective last April, calls for bartering Iranian ores and textiles for Soviet railroad rolling stock and farm equipment. There are also recent agreements with Romania, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Poland.

THE AMERICAN attitude, in the overall, is that we have helped to make Iran a mature nation which now has to learn by trial and error. There is hardly a better illustration anywhere of how the USA chose the right time to act, did the right thing in acting, picked the right leader, got the full return on its investment.

What we need in our foreign policy are more kings and countries like these.

LBJ May Halt Bombing

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sometime in the next few months President Johnson is likely to stop bombing North Vietnam in a new test of possibilities for ending the Vietnamese war.

Such action has been widely and persistently demanded by critics of the President's war policy, and many officials consider it virtually inevitable. But they hold little hope now it will lead to peace talks.

ON THE contrary, there is growing belief here the war may never be settled by negotiations—in the end it may simply fade away, with Communist military operations subsiding into small scale guerrilla activity and terrorism.

The basic assumption underlying this view is that U.S. and allied military might will prevail over enemy forces in South Vietnam and will make the war too costly for North Vietnam to continue.

The bombing of North Vietnam is considered by President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk to be an important means of imposing that heavy cost yet also a pressure which can be withdrawn when timing is right to probe President Ho Chi Minh's attitude toward peace.

U.S. LEADERS believe if Ho Chi Minh does not negotiate short of defeat, he will see his forces in the South and his resources in the North slowly ground down to a state of military impotence. They assume he will want to stop the war before that point is reached and retire to rebuild his strength and perhaps to fight again another time.

The game of trying to read the minds and assess the intentions of the government in Hanoi has been going on for almost three years.

Opinion here on peacemaking has vacillated between the feeling Ho would agree to negotiations and the thought he will refuse to do so on any terms acceptable to President Johnson.

The greater emphasis now given to the fade away theory is due in part to Ho's persistence so far in rejecting Johnson's various overtures and those of many other would-be peacemakers.

OFFICIALS NOTE that North

Vietnamese spokesmen have said repeatedly for the past year that if President Johnson halted the bombing unconditionally there could have been talks.

But they have never been willing to say flatly that there would be talks.

Passing From Scene

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Gone are the Arrow and the Phoebe Snow.

Heading for the sidetrack are many railway post office cars which once rolled through snow, the gloom of night and six-shooter stickups.

MANY PASSENGER trains soon will be routed to the end of the line, done in by the loss of mail revenue and a decline in riders.

Railroads claim they have been losing mail and passenger income for a long time, but the situation hit the public right in the eye recently when the Post Office Department announced that it plans to eliminate railway post office cars from 162 passenger trains.

That will mean an annual loss in revenue of more than $17 million for the lines affected.

An Associated Press survey of reaction shows that railroads plan to eliminate 43 passenger trains, if federal and state regulatory agencies approve.

WILLIAM J. Hartigan, assistant postmaster general, said that eventually all railway post office cars probably will be discontinued.

The post office cars have been fixtures for a century. In 1862 the postmaster of St. Joseph, Mo., tried the idea of sorting mail on moving trains between Hannibal and St. Joseph to avoid delays in speeding letters to the West.

Service began in 1864. Much of its history has been melodramatic.

Jesse James and his gang went in for robbing banks and trains during the first two decades after the Civil War.

The robbers grew so bold in the tempestuous 1920s that U.S. Marines were assigned to guard post offices, railway mail cars and postal trucks in the fall of 1921.

"IF ATTACKED, shoot and shoot to kill," ordered Navy Secretary Edward Denby. "There is no compromise."

The heists came to an abrupt halt. Then, in 1924, a gang took $2 million from a mail train near Rondout, Ill., the biggest grab of all.

Times, and methods of traveling and shipping, have changed. The number of mail sorting cars has dropped about 2,500 in less than 15 years. The total is down to 800, and dwindling.

Railroads still are handling much mail. But, under the new Zip plan, mail is shipped in bulk by the fastest means available—air, rail or highway—among 532 section sorting centers around the country.

THE DECLINE in money from rental of postal railway cars has prompted railroads to petition regulatory bodies for permission to take passenger trains from the rails.

The Erie-Lackawanna has discontinued the Phoebe Snow's runs between Hoboken, N.J., and Chicago.

The Pennsylvania Railroad eliminated its Arrow between Chicago and New York.

A string of other lines also have drastically curtailed their profitless passenger services.

Around The Rim

A Step Ahead?

I suppose it is part of the American philosophy to be first always, whether it's a fight, a football game, or two cars in every garage. With politicians on every hand assuring us that our cause is just and that all our eggs are safely in the best basket, it is shocking to be reminded again and again that the Russians are still ahead of us in the ill-named "space race."

SINCE THE celebrated Sputnik sailed off to claim a world historical honor, it seems the Russians have been first with most of the truly significant achievements in space. Our spokesmen had assured us that the U.S., after all, has the more sophisticated equipment. Heaven only knows it is expensive enough, but why do the Russians, with their so-described hardware, continue to be a step ahead of us?

It's doubtful they are spending more money. One scientist has said they are probably spending much less than we do in space adventures. Yet, while our spaceships slip by the sister planet Venus at 2,500 miles for a look-see, the Soviets land their ship for a really good look.

OUR SPACE program, (and there is no effort here to justify or condemn the vast expenditures), appears to be plagued by something, perhaps the fabled gremlins of World War II. Despite the fact that we had a superduper rocket developed by some of our captured German scientists at the end of the war, we spent fortunes trying to develop another one to get into space.

THE ONLY things these abortive attempts ever raised was expenses and our taxes. Finally, it was the original Redstone missile that provided our initial space successes. By this time, of course, the Russians were long since in another phase and way out front.

That was enough for our government to increase the expenditures for this type of work in a catch-up game, which never did quite make it. For this week, we find we are back in the old Sputnik days, with Soviet achievement again in front. The first time this happened, our government attempted to buy our way out, by pouring millions of dollars into the program. Hopefully, they'll have some better answer this time.

All of us like to be first, even to landing on Venus or Eros or Mars.

BUT ANY program must be evaluated by its successes, and despite its steps forward, our space program is seemingly not first. Throwing more money into the program may or may not get us there.

It might be time to take a careful look at the quality of our program in the first place.

Council Leaders May Not Speak For All

WASHINGTON — Many people are beginning to say that clergymen and church organizations are driving away parishioners by talking too much about politics — national and international — about which they know very little, and by failing to teach the all-important lessons of ethics and morality so essential today in countries troubled by disorder and violence.

DR. EUGENE Carson Blake, general secretary of the World Council of Churches and formerly the head of the United Presbyterian Church of America, said on Sunday at St. Louis that the position of the United States in Vietnam is wrong for moral, strategic, diplomatic and sociological reasons. He said with respect to the Vietnam war: "It is wrong for a great and powerful nation to impose upon a small nation even a right policy for their own good."

Dr. Blake added that the claim of the United States that it is bound to fulfill a commitment to the government of South Vietnam is hypocritical and that he believes the Vietnamese are "fighting a war of independence and overwhelming force we won't make them seek peace." He called for unconditional cessation of bombing by the United States.

WHILE OCCUPYING a high post in the World Council of Churches, Dr. Blake claims, of course, to be speaking in conformity with a resolution adopted in August by the central committee of the World Council. His criticism of U.S. policy is, however, far more direct. The World Council — composed of representatives from virtually all denominations — recommended that the United States stop bombing, but declared that the North Vietnam government, "either in advance of or in response to the cessation of bombing, should indicate by word and deed its readiness to move toward negotiations."

DR. PAUL RAMSEY, one of America's most respected Protestant theologians, has just been attracting attention by his criticism of voluble clergymen. He declares that both "liberal" and "evangelical" Protestant leaders have been inclined in recent years to say too much on too many topics.

Dr. Ramsey points to a growing disposition on the part of church councils and denominational conventions to adopt resolutions on a variety of intricate national problems on which religious leaders, as such, have no particular competence to formulate policies. On the question of their offering "concrete political policies for the world's statesmen," he says:

"For ecumenical councils on church and society responsibly to proffer specific advice would require that the church have the services of an entire state department."

DR. RAMSEY further asserts that many of the pronouncements are adopted by a relatively small number of churchmen after a minimum of serious debate, and that often these documents are drafted by anonymous staff members and presented to national assemblies under circumstances which provide rank-and-file delegates with little choice except to rubber-stamp them. He points to the procedures of the conference on church and society, sponsored by the World Council of Churches in Geneva last year, as a glaring example of this weakness. He recalls that, in only two weeks of deliberation, the 410 participants in the conference arrived at specific, detailed "conclusions" on no less than 118 complex public questions, ranging from the best way to make peace in Vietnam to the suppression of crime. Dr. Ramsey's experiences at the Geneva conference where these resolutions were adopted prompted him to write a recently published book entitled, "Who Speaks for the Church?"

THE AUTHOR, in calling on contemporary Christianity to clarify the church's message about the meaning of Christian life in the world today, criticized both the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches for wrong methods and wrong goals. It is being predicted among religious leaders that this very question will be raised in the study conference on church and society to be held by the National Council of Churches Oct. 22-26 in Detroit, Mich. Up to now, it has been assumed by church leaders that the rank and file of Christians were backing the involvement of their organizations in governmental questions with a political background.

Teaching China A Lesson

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Dean Rusk announced last week at his press conference that the real reason we are fighting in Vietnam is to contain Red China.

This came as good news to the Vietnamese people, many who are still not too sure what the war is all about.

TWO VIETNAMESE peasants were huddled in a foxhole during a bombing raid.

"Say," said one of them to the other. "Did you hear the good news? This war has nothing to do with us. It's really between China and the United States."

"No kidding," the other peasant said, hugging the earth as a bomb exploded. "Where did you hear that?"

"On the radio. You see, the reason why the United States is fighting in Vietnam is to contain China's expansionist ambitions. This is America's way of telling China to keep her hands off Southeast Asia."

ANOTHER BOMB exploded.

"I wish there was another way of doing it," the peasant said.

"That's the trouble with you, Dao. You never can see the big picture. If the United States doesn't show that it's willing to honor its commitments in Vietnam, then every country in Southeast Asia will fall."

A bomb hit a hut about 100 feet from the foxhole.

"I guess I'm just selfish at heart," Dao said. "I really can't get too excited about what is happening in the rest of Southeast Asia at the moment."

"Dao, I'm surprised at you. There are one billion Chinese people and they are committed to taking over one billion free people, and if it were not for the United States bombing, they would do it tomorrow."

SEVERAL FIELDS caught on fire.

"Okay, I grant you that the Free World has a great stake in Vietnam. But even so I don't enjoy being bombed."

"Nobody likes being bombed. But once you understand the reasons behind it, then it all makes sense."

"If this is really a contest between the United States and China, why don't the Americans bomb China? Why don't the Americans bomb China instead of us?"

"Because that would get China into the war, and the United States doesn't want China in the war, stupid."

"DON'T CALL me stupid. I don't see why we should be bombed just because the United States doesn't want to bomb China."

"Good grief, Dao, do you want to remain a peasant all your life? Secretary Rusk has spelled it out as clearly as possible. He's even willing to stop the bombing if Hanoi will go to the conference table."

"Why won't Hanoi go to the conference table?"

"Because if it does the Chinese will lose face."

"I was afraid of that."

Proposes Aid In Searching

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new federal agency to help parents and local police hunt for the thousands of hippies, dropouts and other missing persons was proposed today by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff.

"A computerized records system at the Justice Department would be an important aid for local policemen as they search for these youngsters," the Connecticut Democrat said.

His speech was prepared for Senate delivery.

Ribicoff introduced a bill he said would set up "a highly skilled, resourceful investigative group with an excellent and coordinated data-exchange and communications system."

About a quarter of a million persons disappear each year, of whom "5,000 to 10,000 persons disappear permanently," he said.

Ribicoff said the proposed agency should act if a person is missing 72 hours or longer or circumstances indicate he may be a victim of a criminal offense.

Communities Finding High Interest Rates For Bonds

NEW YORK (AP) — Communities across the nation are finding it expensive to borrow money to build schools, roads and sewers. High interest rates in the municipal bond market are forcing some to postpone projects.

New York City is one of the latest to feel the keen competition by communities and corporations to borrow the big investor's dollar.

This week the city borrowed $191.1 million through the sale of bonds at an interest rate of 4.91 per cent—highest the city has paid since 1932.

But others haven't been lucky enough to get the money they wanted.

A compilation by the Bond Buyer, daily trade paper, shows that 12 communities have postponed $88.3 million in borrowings since mid-September because of high interest rates.

The largest was the Houston, Texas, Independent School District, which delayed borrowing $39.8 million.

Some localities didn't get any bids from underwriters or else ran into their own legal limits on interest rates. These included Daytona Beach and Boca Raton, Fla., Consolidated School District of Warren, Mich., and St. Louis County, Mo.

"Money isn't tight but it is certainly dear," said Truxton Pratt, vice president of Bankers Trust in New York.

The municipalities and corporations are caught in a fiscal web stretching back to the tight money situation and credit crunch of last summer.

Banks which used to be big buyers in the municipal bond market are buying shorter-term investments, one analyst said.

Another source on Wall Street, where virtually all the nation's bond dealings are handled, said the communities themselves are providing some of their own competition.

This comes in floating industrial revenue bonds, permitted in 40 states. These bonds are issued by a community to build an industrial facility for lease to a corporation, often with an option to buy.

The bonds generally carry a higher interest rate than straight municipals and siphon some investors away from the municipal market.

The communities need for money shows no signs of easing. For October, they have listed $1.2 billion in bonds for sale for a nine months' total of $10.85 billion, said Salomon Brothers & Hutzler, a large investment firm.

Of the nine months' total, $620 million will be in industrial bonds.

This year's total is almost certain to surpass last year's when localities borrowed $11.08 billion.

The demand for money also is pushing up investors' yields in the corporate bond market to record levels. Northern States Power Co. this week sold $30 million in bonds which were offered to the public at a 6.44 per cent yield.

Cat Brings Home Poisonous Snakes

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Chi Chi, an 18-month-old Siamese cat, has a hobby her owners wish she would abandon. She brings home poisonous snakes.

Chi Chi started it by bringing in a 16-inch diamond-back rattlesnake in September. Then came another diamond-back of about the same size in early October.

She topped it off this week with a 10-inch moccasin.

"Right in my kitchen she brings them," Mrs. Stuart Lang said. "She's so proud."

Romney Buys Prime Time

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System reports that Gov. George Romney of Michigan has purchased a half hour of prime evening time on its television network. This has led to speculation that he will use the telecast to announce his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

The program is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 15, at 10 p.m. Romney said last Sunday that he would decide within six weeks whether he would be a candidate.

A spokesman for Romney said his telecast would be "a report to the people on his recent urban tour, but might not be limited to that subject."

When CBS announced the time purchase Wednesday, Carl W. Tillmanns, vice president and general sales manager for the company, said the cost could be as much as $70,000 if all of the network's 200 stations carry the program.

Salvation Army Has Busy Month

The Community Service report of the Big Spring Salvation Army Corps shows that 693 persons were assisted during the month of September. This brings the total for the nine months of this year to 4,258. Of them were Big Spring residents and 314 were transients.

Through the family welfare department of the Salvation Army, Big Spring people received 1,871 garments and shoes. Sixty-five received material assistance; the majority of these were grocery orders. Consultations were held with 70 persons and 130 persons were visited in their homes.

In the transient program, 314 persons were given lodging during September, and 952 meals were served. A total of 392 garments and shoes was given to transients. Expenditures for transient service for the month was $329.98.

Nineteen adult religious services were held with 388 attendees and 31 religious services for youth were held with 370 present. Pastoral visits were made to 71.

Total expenditures for September for the Salvation Army Corps in Big Spring was $2,235.79 and income for the month totaled $2,235.05. Sources of income are United Fund, donations, collections, tithes, missionary, War Cry and salvage, said Lt. Bart Deggs, local corps commander.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

Palmito—Last Battle Of War

By ED SYERS
 We were asked about Civil War's last battle: Confederates won at Palmito near Brownsville's Texas tip. The answers, from several, disclose a strange two months: one preceding, and one following Lee's exhausted surrender at Appomattox, April 9, 1865.
 First, the month before. On March 10, while the Gray still struggled in Virginia (though Texas had blunted random invasion attempts), a small boat under truce flag landed near Port Isabel. In it was Union Gen. Lew Wallace (best remembered for 'Ben Hur') with a secret proposal. Would Confederate Gen. J. E. Slaughter and Col. John S. (Rip) Ford hear?
 In essence, were four points: 1) under Monroe Doctrine, the U.S. was deeply concerned with Maximilian's French occupation of Mexico; 2) surrender now of Trans-Mississippi Confederacy (now, essentially Texas) would have no bearing on war's outcome east; but 3) would grant specifically listed amnesty terms — light, indeed. Then 4) a massive federal fleet would land sufficient troops here and, teamed with Texas Americans, advise France to leave Mexico. (This ultimately was done by Gen. Phil Sheridan.)
BRIEF BATTLE
 In time came Texas' refusal. So cut off was the state, that Appomattox came and went; and Col. Ford's troops held their guard against Rio Grande entry. On May 11, began the month after Confederacy's last, brief battle.
 Union Lt. Col. David Branson led 300 troops up Rio Grande to occupy Brownsville. At Palmito Ranch, roughly halfway, they hit 150 Confederate cavalry in two days of desultory skirmishing: ending abruptly when Col. Ford arrived with an artillery battery, scant reinforcements but with the command to attack.

 Confederate losses were seven wounded; the routed Federals lost half their command, mostly prisoners. Ironically, it was from those prisoners that the coast-guarding Texans learned their War had been over, more than a month.
 (Note: Austin's Mrs. Evelyn Willman cites Louis Schuler's 'Last Battle of the Civil War,' Springman-King, Brownsville, 1960, as best reference on Palmito.)
BLIND LEMON
 Point Comfort's Preston Fellers, Box 175: "Your story on Blind Lemon Jefferson's music was just great, because true. I've heard many Negro guitar pickers, and there were some mighty good ones; but I've never heard anybody like Blind Lemon."
 "I've tried a good many years to find some of his records, was just a young lad when my Dad got some; but I can still hum the tune to some of his old blues. "Can you tell me how I can get a record or two? I'd even tape-record them and return carefully. For you see, when these old boys are gone, so is a part of our heritage. I'd appreciate any help." (OBT's hunch: From somewhere, you'll get it, let us know.)

MAILBOX
 Abilene's Mrs. C. L.: "About the Dalton's and Youngers... Yes, they rode into West Texas... My great uncle used to claim he rode with them. (Note: And doubtless did. And with truly no offense intended, you know that if all kinfolks rode with the wild ones really did, well, they'd hold the West yet)... Roswell, N.M.'s 'Student': "Who brought barbed wire to Texas and where was it first used?"

A Bad Habit
 REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Things have come to a pretty pass—a man got a ticket for kissing his wife. Officer Harry Stangel Wednesday cited Dennis W. Levasseur, 43, of nearby San Bruno, on a charge of interfering with a driver in a vehicle—kissing his wife, Rosann.

Demonstrators At Wrong Place
 ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Albuquerque was among cities which experienced draft protests, but the demonstrators were at the wrong building.
 About 40 prospective military candidates showed up at the old post office building for induction board physicals. Although FBI agents and security police were on hand, the demonstrators were not.
 About 30 minutes later a group of nine University of New Mexico students, who call themselves "Students for Democratic Society," were noticed handing out literature at the federal building, a block away.

Youths Urged To Stay In School, Prepare For Life

A stay-in-school picnic was to be held at the City Park at 4:30 p.m. today, according to the Rev. E. J. Browning, Georgetown, a state director for the Youth Crime Prevention League.
 He said his group was the first to speak up militantly against "unruly street demonstrations, vandalism, riots, or hate movements." He said that the picnic, with hot dogs and soft drinks for the youngsters, was being made possible through cooperation of Big Spring people.
 He planned no formal program but indicated the police chief or some member of the department would be invited to speak, and he might have some informal remarks.
 He deplored the solution of problems offered by Rap Brown and Stokely Carmichael, declaring that riots, pillage and murder are not the answers. These men represent only a small part of the Negro America community. There are millions of Negroes who have deep pride in their country and had rather live here than any place on earth," he said. "Education and Christian love is the answer. We must encourage all youth, not just Negro youth, to seek to prepare now as individuals to take a rightful place in society. If each will develop himself, he will in time be an effective member of the group," he said, adding that staying in school is one of the best ways to prepare. Rev. Browning, who lived here in the 1940's when his father was pastor of the Baker's Chapel AME church, said that he came from five generations of preachers and he was proud of his heritage. The time has come, he added, when responsible Negro leadership must deter violence, noting "We must have the spirit of good will and not barbarianism. Mad men can't think. Instead of hate and violence, we must put into action the spirit of Christ and adding that staying in school is

Rev. E. J. Browning

Science And You Want To Walk On Water?

—By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

You may have heard the expression, "He thinks he can walk on water." As a derogatory remark it refers to somebody who seems to know all the answers, or at least thinks he does. Nevertheless, a real ability to walk on water would actually be an extremely handy ability for human beings if it could be developed. In particular, think what it would mean to the foot soldier in Vietnam. Imagine being able to cross a swamp by just walking right across the top of it instead of sloggng your way through it.

There are many living things that can do just this — most of them happen to be insects. Water striders, for example, are common on almost any pond. Engineers have now begun a study of these water-walking insects with the intent of finding out their secrets and perhaps transferring them to man himself.

Most of these bugs have a sort of velvety hair-like on their legs which increases the effective area of the legs and traps a cushion of air underneath. In addition, the hairs are covered with an oil or waxy material which makes the hair very difficult to wet. These natural design features are what give a bug its buoyancy.

Might we not be able to come up with a set of human water-shoes that use the same principles? Such water-shoes might consist roughly of a frame on which non-wetting fibers were crisscrossed in a very heavy weave. Minute sets of hair would protrude from each fiber. The whole affair could easily be coated with a water repellent material. One might end up with structures that looked a bit like snowshoes, but which would allow a man to walk right across the surface of a lake or swamp!

This may sound like a wild idea and perhaps it is, but it's being seriously considered now at Rock Island, (Ill.) Arsenal, one of the Army's key weapons development agencies. If the Army is successful in developing this technique it could mean a great deal to soldiers and to other people as well. Can't you see a hunter chasing down a technique as a method for building rafts. Such rafts could be thin and extremely light, and yet could be used to move soldiers or equipment very efficiently. Lying prone on an individual raft, a soldier would be a good deal less vulnerable than he is now as he wades waist-deep through enemy-infested swamps.

If we can steal this page out of the book of tricks the insects have written it could be to our great advantage. It wouldn't be the first time we've been inspired by other species.

Ageless Freckles Brown Still Wins

DENVER, Colo.—Professional rodeo cowboys renewed their charge against the sport's all-time money records the past week, and the grand old man of the game, Freckles Brown, appears to have found a fountain of youth in bull riding.

Brown, Soper, Okla., is a rarity in the sports world. At the age of 46, when many an athlete has become a veteran pitching or backfield coach, Brown still rides bulls and bareback and saddle broncs — and wins money doing it.

Brown won the Montreal bull riding and $1,584, and is currently ranked eighth nationally in the event. He was bull riding champion in 1962, and was third last year.

The reigning all-around cowboy, slightly-built Larry Mahan, 23, Brooks, Ore., continued to reach new heights for a single season, after breaking the decade-old mark about two weeks ago of $43,381 set by Jim Shouder, Henryetta, Okla.

Mahan won $3,495 in bull riding, bareback and saddle bronc riding at Montreal, bringing his season's total to $47,481. With the Cow Palace Rodeo at San Francisco still on the agenda, plus the National Finals and a few smaller rodeos, Mahan is expected to surpass a personal goal of $50,000.

With national finals coming up Dec. 1-9 in Oklahoma City, Okla., event leaders are: All-around — Mahan $47,481, and Barry Burk, Duncan, Okla., $29,078; saddle broncs — Shawn Davis, Whitehall, Mont., $23,168, and Marty Wood, Bowness, Alta., $18,292; bareback broncs — Clyde Vamvoras, Burkburnett, Tex., $21,253, and Paul Mayo, Grinnell, Iowa, $16,845; bull riding — Mahan $20,187, and Bill Stanton, Amboy, Wash., $19,173; Mrtis Dightman, Houston, $15,288; calf roping — Glen Franklin, House, N. M., $29,360, and Burk, $22,806; Junior — Garrison, Marlow, Okla., $22,133.

MRS. ALICE TREES

Veteran Homemaker Overcomes Handicap

By RHODA LEMONS

Mrs. Alice Trees is no stranger to adversity. She reared 10 children on a farm during the depression, eight of whom are still living. She was widowed when a number of the children were small, and her daughter, Madeline, helped support the home.

Mrs. Trees formerly lived in La Pryor, and in 1943 moved to Big Spring to make her home with Miss Madeline Trees at 607 W. 17th. She suffered a debilitating stroke in 1966, resulting in paralysis of her left side. After much therapy and "passive exercise," she has made remarkable progress. She walks with the aid of a cane, and is now working to regain the use of her left hand.

Miss Trees has been invaluable in her mother's fight to recover. She is a registered nurse, employed as night supervisor at Cowper Clinic and Hospital. At first, she took her mother to the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, and through instruction received there, has been able to assist her mother with the therapy exercises she must have. The exercises last 20 minutes twice daily and are held immediately after breakfast and at 5:30 p.m., when Miss Trees arises for her "night-day."

Mrs. Trees is approaching 80, and her face mirrors the fact that, even if circumstances were hard at times, she faced them serenely and beautifully. She cooks two meals a day for herself and daughter, and breakfast is the meal she most enjoys preparing. They usually have oatmeal and toast with jelly, or on alternate days, she makes sausage, eggs and hot biscuits. They have dinner at six, and Mrs. Trees cooks as she used to on the farm. She has a meat, several vegetables, bread and salad. They have fried chicken fairly often, and Mrs. Trees always cuts up the chicken herself.

She is a member of the Gold Star Mothers, having lost a son in World War II, and each month she bakes a cake for patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital. The one most often baked is the "One, Two, Three and Four Cake" listed below.

Mrs. Trees does the housework and usually does the major cleaning on Saturday. The rest of the week, she just "tidies" the place. Of course, her daughter keeps her own room, and assists her mother when there is extra company.

Miss Trees does the washing, the shopping, and most of the ironing, and her mother has just begun to do a little ironing and finds it "wonderful" to be able to master another chore.

Mrs. Trees does an unusual form of needlework called colonial art work. The process requires a crochet needle, hoop and crochet thread which is punched in and out. She has made a strikingly attractive picture for the living room, and those thick hot pot holders that can't be bought any more.

Prior to her disability, Mrs. Trees did all her own sewing, but now another daughter, Mrs. Mary Blakely of Paso, does most of her dressmaking.

Old-fashioned flat irons decorate the fireplace, and Mrs. Trees and her daughter both said that they had ironed many hours with these. There is a fireplace shovel that was made by a blacksmith on order from Mrs. Trees' father when she was a tiny girl. It is still serviceable and ornamental.

Mrs. Trees accompanies her daughter to many places that she goes, and especially enjoys going to the Main Street Church of Christ, where they both have membership.

Listed below are a few of the recipes Mrs. Trees has used all her life. She maintains that they are just as good today as they were when she was rearing her children. Her only problem was in putting them in order as she cooks from memory, and this is, perhaps, the first time they have ever been written down.

Flavorful Food For Fall Term

Flavor's the thing that rejuvenates those summer-weary appetites back to normalcy. Consider the delightful combination of ground beef with pork sausages and mushroom caps.

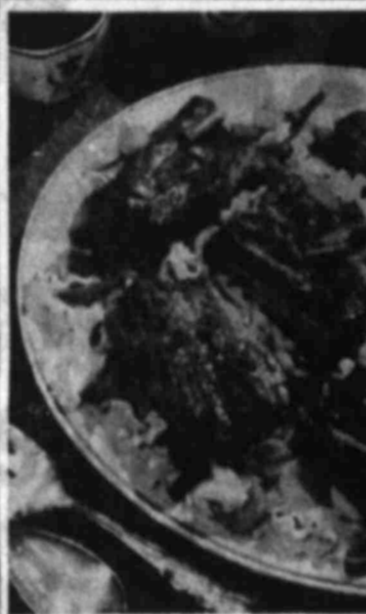

These pyramids are just as easy to make as grilled beef patties since they need no turning once assembled, says Reba Staggs, meat expert. Ground beef patties are topped with tomato slices, seasoned with instant onion and parsley flakes, then pork sausage links and finally, mushrooms.

BEEF AND SAUSAGE
 1 1/2 lbs. ground beef
 1 lb. pork sausage links
 1 tsp. salt
 1/4 tsp. pepper
 8 tomato slices, cut 1/2 inch thick
 1 1/2 tps. instant minced onion
 1 1/2 tps. parsley flakes
 1 can (4 oz.) mushroom caps, drained

Combine ground beef, salt and pepper. Shape into eight patties, approximately 1/2 inch thick. Top each with a tomato slice, sprinkle with instant onion and parsley. Place two sausage links on each patty and arrange on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes. Remove from oven and place mushroom caps on top, using a wooden pick to hold in place. Return to oven and continue baking for 15 minutes. Serve hot. Makes eight servings.

Tomatoes Star

For stuffed tomatoes, cut each tomato into sixths from the top to the bottom — without actually cutting through the bottom. The tomato will have a star shape and will hold a salad filling. For the filling you might like to use chicken, turkey, tuna or salmon along with celery and mayonnaise. Serve the stuffed tomatoes on salad greens.

Good, Rewarding Dish

Moist heat cooking with oregano, caraway seeds and bay leaves treats these short ribs to a gentle method of preparation guaranteed to please the palate.

Flavorful Short Ribs Are Good Any Time

There must be a reason for the popularity of short ribs year in, year out.

The answer, of course, is flavor. These square to rectangular servings are a combination of alternating layers of meat and fat on a section of rib bone. Cooked with moist heat like beef bouillon and tomato juice, they make a richly rewarding dish.

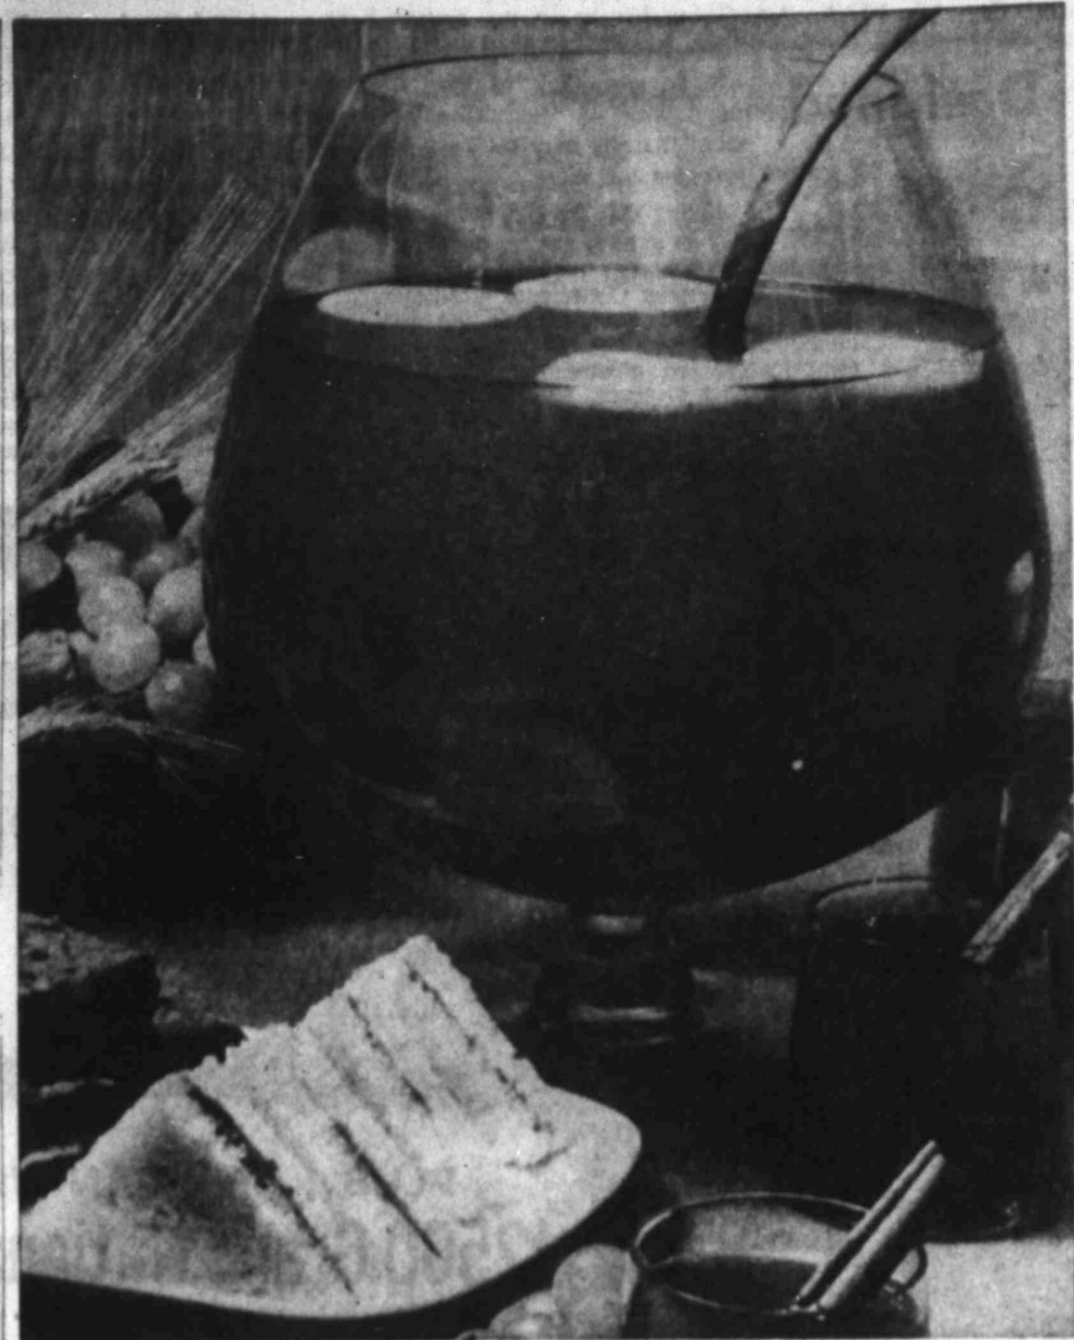

SAVORY BEEF SHORT RIBS
 3 to 4 pounds beef short ribs
 2 tps. lard or drippings, if necessary
 1 1/4 tsp. salt
 1/4 tsp. pepper
 1 cup water
 1 cup tomato juice
 2 beef bouillon cubes
 1/2 tsp. oregano
 1/2 tsp. caraway seeds
 2 bay leaves
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 1 tsp. parsley flakes
 3 carrots, sliced 1/4 inch thick
 1 package (9 oz.) frozen green beans
 Flour for gravy
 Noodles, if desired
 Brown ribs in own fat or lard or drippings. Cover tightly and cook slowly one hour. Pour off drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Add water, tomato juice, bouillon cubes, oregano,

Bread And Stew

If you have old-fashioned soup plates with shallow bowls plus rims, you'll find these are perfect for serving fish stew. Have lots of crusty French bread as an accompaniment for the stew.

Broil Rare Roast

Thin slices of rare roast beef may be coated with prepared mustard and bread crumbs, then broiled. The broiling should be quick so that the meat becomes warm, but not overcooked.

Festive Enough For A Fun Evening

To top off a wonderful evening following the football game, hold an informal open house for your friends and serve finger sandwiches with this new punch. Then, just sit back and relax while you listen to the compliments.

Invite Friends Over After The Games For Sandwiches, Punch

Autumn activities include many after-the-game-get-togethers and family gatherings. Warmth and friendliness fill the air as friends and relatives visit with each other, exchanging stories of vacations or exciting football plays.

While chatting, everyone enjoys a little refreshment and it's a wise hostess who plans to serve quick-and-easy treats that can be prepared ahead of time.

An ideal open house menu includes: delicious Raspberry Spiced Punch, an assortment of tasty finger sandwiches and an attractive fruit and nut bowl.

Whether it's served hot or cold, this taste-tempting punch is sure to hit the spot. Take an old fall favorite — apple cider — and add several spices and two jars of strained raspberry cobbler. The result — a delightful flavored punch that will be enjoyed by youngsters as well as adults.

For finger sandwiches, you can use a variety of different types of breads, such as date and nut, rye and white bread. After trimming the crusts, fill them with your favorite meat and cheese spreads.

With a bowl of flavorful raspberry spiced punch and a tray of finger sandwiches you can set up your open house table with a minimum of time and effort. Then just set out a stack of individual trays and let everybody help themselves to a refreshing snack.

RASPBERRY SPICED PUNCH
 1 qt. sweet apple cider
 1 whole allspice
 8 whole cloves

Soda Cuts Stain

Dissolve one teaspoon soda in a cup of hot water and let it sit near the sink while you wash the breakfast dishes.

When you come to any spoons or forks discolored by eggs, drop immediately into hot soda water. By the time you have finished washing the dishes they will be clean.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Good with tomato juice: neat pieces of dried beef stuffed and rolled with seasoned cream cheese. Serve as a first course.

Ever add crumbled blue cheese to Russian dressing? Good served over hearts of lettuce or tossed with a variety of salad greens — escarole, chicory, romaine and water cross.

Perk up sour cream (the cultured kind) with prepared mustard, chili sauce and paprika — the last for color.

Allow frankfurters to stand in boiling water and simmer for about 10 minutes before serving. Do not boil!

If you are adept at making cream-puff shells, use them for a main course filled with creamed chicken or ham or a combination of chicken and ham.

Slivered toasted almonds — they come in cans — will enliven practically any creamed dish when the nuts are used as a topping. Add them the last minute so they will stay crisp.

Cook sausage meat so it is in small crumbles and add to the eggs that are to be scrambled, top with bread cubes that are fried until golden-crisp in the sausage fat. Serve for brunch.

Soy sauce varies in strength so when a recipe calls for this ingredient, you may wish to add more or less according to the brand of soy sauce you use and your own taste.

A cup of blueberries is about right to add to a two-cup flour muffin recipe.

POWs Slate Meet Here

Former Prisoners of War will have their monthly sectional meeting here Saturday when officers for the Permian Basin chapter will be installed.

Charles Houston, San Angelo, will succeed E. L. Fannin, Big Spring, as president. Houston was a survivor of the Batuan Death March and later was removed to Japan. He had given up all hope of living and refused to work, telling guards to "go ahead and shoot me."

Other officers to be installed include Cecil Derrick, Odessa, vice president; and Dick Angus, San Angelo, secretary.

The POW group has 28 members in the Basin area. Meetings are held monthly except for July and December, and all interested persons and certain former POWs are invited.

Saturday's session will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn.

Road Is Closed

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The Pikes Peak auto road will be closed for the season Sunday. Jack Sullivan, road superintendent for the city of Colorado Springs, estimated travel this season on the road to the 14,110-foot summit of the famous peak would total 274,000 vehicles.

programs and huddling nervously about ailing old ones.

The time has come, earlier than in most years, to pronounce death sentences on feeble entertainment series, to take some chances that a few ailing shows will mend and, above all, to look over the bull pens for replacements.

Usually such frenzied activity does not start until mid-November, but this year, with big, important movies capturing the attention of audiences, the Nielsen handwriting appeared almost from the very beginning.

"Dundee and the Culhane" was the first victim of the Nielsen, given a death sentence by ABC a couple of weeks ago. ABC's "Good Company" is not given much of a chance to survive beyond December, if that long. The future looks blacker than Little Bighorn for its "Legend of Custer." NBC denies furiously a rumor that its "Maya" is not long for the TV world, but has nothing much to say about the disappointing showing of "Accidental Family," a new comedy series.

"Star Trek," whose popularity has slipped since last season. It is certain that a number of shows will be involved in complicated switches within network schedules in efforts to save shows. ABC's "Hollywood Palace," for instance, has done poorly since it was shifted into a Tuesday evening spot. It is probable that it will be moved back to Saturday nights—and no one is prepared to say what will happen to "Iron Horse," which has been quietly dying in its new late evening position.

There is talk of shifting around some of CBS's comedy shows in salvage efforts.

All networks are stuck with some faltering shows they would like to knock off early, but many of them have firm commitments for 26 weeks—practically a full season—and there is always the replacement problem.

ABC, unhappy about the way "Off to See the Wizard" has turned out will have to stay with the show for awhile, but already is playing down its title and laying up the film features that will appear within its format.

CBS has an option on a new British-made series starring Patrick McGeehan, late of "Secret Agent." It may pull it out as an emergency midseason replacement. Jonathan Winters will head a variety show to replace "Dundee."

ABC, with more problem shows than the other two networks, can fall back once again on the British-made "Avengers." It also has access to a new science-fiction show, "Land of Giants," and a new action-adventure series, "Magnificent Thief."

National Nielsen ratings made public Wednesday and covering the first week in October once again show that televised movies are the hottest things in television—for four two-hour movie blocks captured spots in the top-10 list. The other six shows were old favorites—"The Lucy Show," "The Andy Griffith Show," "Gomer Pyle," "The Dean Martin Show," "Bonanza" and "The Ed Sullivan Show."

"Gentle Ben," with a black bear for its star, was the highest rated new program—in 13th place. The "Carol Burnett Show" and "Ironside" were 21 and 22 respectively.

Cancer Fight Volunteer Role Is Stressed

Mrs. George E. Franks, chairman of the Howard County unit, is back from Houston where she attended the annual meeting of the Texas division of the American Cancer Society last week.

She participated in a number of working sessions and committee meetings aimed at expanding the volunteer's role in conducting more quality cancer control programs. Recommendations to the division included: Service committee — expanded services to cancer patients, including new gift items; public education—approval of new cancer educational films for men, women and school children.

Increases were noted in all phases of the fight against cancer. Thousands of cancer patients were helped by loan of hospital equipment, gift items, cancer dressings, etc.; more educational materials made available, including material on hazards of smoking; professional programs for medics; the investment of $950,472 in research sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

A featured speaker was Walter M. Schirra Jr., the 1968 crusade chairman and one of the astronauts. Practical medical applications now in use were demonstrated when seven prominent Texas physicians, all past presidents of the Texas divisions, discussed four different cancer cases. Travis T. Wallace, Dallas, national board chairman of ACS, reaffirmed the need for expanding the volunteer role in the cancer fight.

Stray Message Adds To LBJ Opposition

ABOARD USS INDEPENDENCE (AP) — A White House message which went astray stiffened Republican resistance today to any endorsement from the national governors' conference of President Johnson's Vietnam war policy.

The 21 GOP governors on the cruising conference already had decided Wednesday to block any Vietnam resolution. Since a three-fourths vote is needed to bring a resolution before the conference, they have the power to do it.

Then Gov. Ronald Reagan of California stumbled onto a cable from presidential assistant W. Marvin Watson to former Gov. Price Daniel of Texas—now the administration's liaison man with the governors.

The cable told Daniel to question Govs. James A. Rhodes of Ohio and John H. Chaffee of Rhode Island—both Republicans—about their views on the President's war policy.

One White House source said Watson's cablegram was no more than an effort to arm Daniel with talking points and background for shipboard debate on a Vietnam resolution.

Watson instructed Daniel to ask Rhodes whether he was "running out on his former position" supporting the administration's Vietnam policies. The cable said Chaffee should be pinned down on his contention that after previous Vietnam endorsements by the governors' conference, Johnson had "waved around such documents for political purposes."

Chaffee told newsmen the message demonstrated that the Democratic resolution was "produced at the direction of the White House as we Republicans thought all of the time."

Rhodes said if the resolution is brought up he will vote for it, but that he has not decided yet if he will vote to bring it up.

Reagan said he read Watson's cablegram accidentally while leafing through his own messages.

He alluded to it in the Republican caucus and Gov. George Romney of Michigan said he urged Reagan to make it public.

"It's quite a different thing when they ask for a resolution before an election year," Romney said. "The timing and the injection of this message indicate its political motive. It's the type of news management I have been referring to."

be balanced by a White House recital of recent administration statements on the war.

Daniel, surprised when a newsman showed him a copy of Watson's message to him, said if he had received such a communication addressed to someone else, he would have passed it along to the addressee "and not reproduced it and made it public."

The Democrats' resolution on Vietnam, introduced by Govs. John Connally of Texas and Calvin L. Rampton of Utah, expressed support of "the military defense of Vietnam against aggression and our continuing search for a meaningful solution assuring peace and stability for that area."

Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey said if the governors do not approve it, the morale of K.S. troops will be hurt and that of the Communists bolstered. He said that is not the Republicans' intent, "but it will be the inevitable result."

Republican Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington said the GOP governors felt the conference should deal with state matters, not foreign policy, and since the Democrats are pressing the point, any morale problems will be their fault.
