Norther May Be Coming

By The Associated Press

Texas' current spell of sunny weather appeared to be nearing an end today.

Cold air was traveling southward from Canada, packing a promise of snow for the Colorado Rockies. At the same time warm, moist air kept billowing inland from the Gulf of Mexico.

Shoving In Tonight

Weather observers looked for the norther to start shoving into the Texas Panhandle tonight. In expectation of its collision with the moisture-laden atmosphere from the south, they predicted scattered showers over all sections of the state by Tuesday.

It already was comparatively cool in the upper Panhandle, where the mercury dipped to 43 degrees before sunrise. Readings elsewhere were generally in the 50s and 60s, ranging up to 71 at Galveston.

Pilgrimage To Save It

TOKYO (AP) — Mrs. Oigi Vanna Wright, widow of American architect Frank Lloyd Wright, arrived Sunday to back a movement to preserve the Imperial Hotel, designed by her husband.

The Imperial withstood Tokyo's destructive earthquake of Sept. 1, 1923 — a day after it was completed. Business interests want to replace the structure with a 26-story building.

First Visit To Japan

Mrs. Wright, 64, who is staying at the Imperial, said it was her first visit to Japan. She said she felt at home in the hotel because she had seen designs and photos of it many times.

The preservation movement is being led by Japanese architects and lovers of the Imperial, considered Tokyo's most prestigious hotel.

Fair Reaches Record

DALLAS (AP) — Attendance for the 16 days of the State Fair of Texas reached a record 2,949,909 before the 81-year-old exposition closed its doors Sunday.

It was a new record, topping by 30,943 the previous high of 2,918,966 counted at the turnstiles last year.

Rains the first Saturday and second Sunday of the fair were blamed for holding the big show short of its goal of three million visitors.

Heidi May Miss Land

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Newly developed Hurricane Heidi offered only a threat to ships at sea as it moved away from land far out in the Atlantic today, the National Hurricane Center at Miami reported.

The 6 a.m. EDT advisory said Heidi was centered near Latitude 23.0 north, Longitude 60.5 west, or about 250 miles east-northeast of Bermuda and 1,600 miles east-northeast of Miami.

The storm was moving east-northeast at about 25 miles per hour.

Ships which radioed reports on Heidi were reported changing course to avoid the storm. Forecasters said Bermuda and the U.S. mainland would not be endangered if Heidi maintained her course.

Upgraded To Hurricane

The hurricane center upgraded Heidi from a tropical storm to a hurricane in the midnight advisory when her winds increased to an estimated 85 m.p.h. near the eye of the storm.

Heidi moved out of range of land-based radar on Bermuda shortly after midnight. Forecasters called for little increase in intensity, but said Heidi could increase in size today and tonight. The storm had gale force winds extending out 175 miles to the northeast and 75 miles to the southwest.

Farm Losses Lower

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reports its losses in carrying out farm aid programs are running slightly lower this fiscal year than last.

Losses during the July-August period of the current year totaled $64 million compared with $1.111 billion in the like period last year. Losses include deficits in carrying out farm price support operations, farm subsidy payments, purchase and sale of surplus products and commodity storage and handling costs.

Israel's Angry Mood Hardens

By The Associated Press

Israel's angry mood hardened in bitter official statements today and Egyptian officials said they expect an "attack" anytime to avenge Egypt's sinking of an Israeli destroyer in what may have been one of warfare's first sea-to-sea missile raids.

NO CAUSE

Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol called the sinking of the destroyer Elath Saturday "an act of war in open sea" and said "this despicable attack was launched without any cause."

Egypt's Cabinet asserted the warship was in its territorial waters when missiles shattered it. The exchange came as Soviet Deputy Defense Minister Marshal Matvei Zakharov arrived in Cairo unannounced and President Gamal Abdel Nasser called his ministers together to discuss what the semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram reported were "the eventualities of the situation."

The purpose of Zakharov's mission was not disclosed but the commander of Israel's navy said he believed "Soviet missiles fired from Soviet ships supplied to the Egyptian navy" sank the Elath, killing 15 of her crew of 202, wounding 48 more and leaving 36 unaccounted for.

NOT EGYPT

Former Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, speaking at his 81st birthday party, said the missiles were not fired by Egyptians. He would not name, however, those persons he said launched them.

In Cairo, an Egyptian official told The Associated Press: "We expect renewed Israeli aggression anytime. Our armed forces are constantly on alert."

Eshkol reflected the angry mood of his countrymen in a broadcast to the nation. "It was a deliberate and unprovoked attack," he said. "The blood of our sailors, like the blood of our civilians and soldiers, will not be shed wantonly."

It was disclosed meanwhile that as late as Friday Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, hero of Israel's three victorious wars against the Arabs, had said the Suez Canal area is "likely to become once again the spark which touches off war."

Israeli and Egyptian troops face each other across the canal and have exchanged fire sporadically since the June 5-10 war.

Dayan warned that a new conflict would involve the major powers and said the Soviet Union's speedy rearmament of Egypt was encouraging its aggressiveness.

In New York, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said he would be in contact today with governments "to point out the extreme gravity with which Israel regards the sinking of the Elath." He called it the "most flagrant" violation of the cease-fire that ended the June war.

TARGETS

Air Force fighter-bombers from Thailand struck targets above Hanoi, bombing a railroad bridge, rail lines and a missile site. Pilots told of cutting rail lines 29 miles northeast of Hanoi and hitting approaches to the Lang Lau railroad bridge 36 miles north of the capital.

In a delayed report on a ground action, U.S. headquarters said South Vietnamese irregulars and their U.S. Special Forces advisors killed 99 Viet Cong in a sharp clash Saturday 29 miles northeast of Saigon.

South Vietnamese casualties were termed light, while two American "Green Beret" advisers were reported to have been wounded.

New Troops Are Landed

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes struck at a naval yard outside Haiphong for the first time Sunday as the vanguard of 4,100 fresh American infantrymen began coming ashore to help hold down South Vietnam's unstable northern battle zone.

PENETRATION

Elements of the 198th Light Infantry Brigade joined 30,000 other infantrymen and 77,000 Marines already in the five northernmost provinces. The area, known as 1st Corps, is one of deep Viet Cong penetration and high enemy operating efficiency.

The arrival of the full brigade over the next few days will push the total American strength in South Vietnam to approximately 467,000 men.

Shortly before the new troops swept out of landing craft at Chu Lai on the South China Sea, Navy jets took advantage of a break in bad weather to hit a new target, a naval yard seven miles outside Haiphong.

DAMAGED

Fliers said they heavily damaged an oil depot and a drydock and destroyed a torpedo patrol boat. Other pilots pounded railroad yards 1.7 miles from the center of Haiphong in continuing efforts to stop the flow of supplies out of the key North Vietnamese port.

A carrier-based Navy A4 Skyhawk was shot down by enemy ground fire in the Haiphong area, the U.S. Command reported, and the pilot was missing. It was the 70th announced U.S. warplane loss over North. Hanoi had claimed downing two U.S. raiders.

Marine jets struck a railroad siding and bridge 20 miles south of Hanoi. Other Marine pilots reported destroying 35 enemy fortifications, just above the

ON FORD CONTRACT

Strikers To Vote

DETROIT (AP) — Top officials of the United Auto Workers today prepared for a ratification vote on a new contract with the Ford Motor Co., which could cost Ford close to a billion dollars in the next three years.

PLANS MADE

Ford executives made plans to get cars rolling off assembly lines if the strike, now in its 47th day and longest in the company's history, ends some time this week.

The union's Ford Council meets tonight and ratification votes by members are planned for Tuesday and Wednesday at the Ford plants in 25 states.

The council, made up of key officials in Ford locals, meets again at 8 p.m. Wednesday, to pass on the vote.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, said he expected his men to be returning to work by Thursday with more expected Friday. Malcolm L. Denise, Ford vice president for labor relations, said employees could be back on the job Wednesday "at the earliest."

SUNDAY

Denise and Reuther headed the opposing bargaining teams in 13 days of intensive negotiations before the contract was agreed on early Sunday.

Reuther said the union's gains represent "our share of the increase in productivity and cannot possibly form the basis for increasing prices."

The nation's four major domestic automakers have all increased prices for 1968-model cars and have indicated the prices could be changed depending on the cost of new contracts with the UAW.

Denise declined to answer specifically when asked whether Ford would increase car prices, saying only, "One cannot ignore cost when pricing one's product."

RAISE WAGES

Ford said the new contract will raise wages 4½ to 9½ cents an hour over its three-year span. The union estimates that its 20,000 skilled tradesmen at Ford will average $1.02 more hourly.

At the rate of $1 an hour increase in wages, fringe benefits and premium pay, the new contract would cost Ford $2,000 more per year for each of its 160,000 workers, thus close to a billion dollars in the three years of the contract.

Here are the major gains in the new contract:

- Compensation guaranteeing workers, depending on seniority, as much as 95 per cent of their annual wage, less $7.50 weekly work-related expenses, regardless of layoffs.
- An immediate raise of 20 cents an hour added to the $3.43 average Ford workers now get.

SKILLED

- Skilled workers get an additional increase of 30 cents an hour, making a 50-cent total.
- All workers get a 3 per cent raise during each of the last two years of the three-year pact.

- Depending on a workers' seniority, the raise will be between 9½ and 17½ cents.

Fighting Men Get Show Of Support

By The Associated Press

Americans turned out by the tens of thousands in the New York metropolitan area over the weekend to parade peacefully in a mass show of support for U.S. fighting men in Vietnam.

The demonstrations, sponsored by the National Committee for Responsible Patriotism, included a nationwide "Lights On" program, with thousands of motorists keeping their car headlights burning during daylight hours to back up the presence of GIs in Southeast Asia.

The biggest event, a parade in Newark, N.J., had 60,000 marchers with about an equal number of spectators.

Some 100,000 persons marched in several New York City boroughs and on Long Island, with another estimated 100,000 looking on. About 6,000 marched in Waterbury, Conn.

The peaceful parading was in sharp contrast to the weekend of anti-Vietnam violence in Washington, with some of the estimated 35,000 protesters clashing with guards surrounding the Pentagon in scuffles that left about 50 injured. During the two days of protest about 600 persons were arrested as thousands of youths tried to crash through the lines of troops and storm the Defense Department complex.

Early today, the government broke up the tag-end of the demonstrations, arresting more than 150 diehards who ignored a midnight Sunday deadline—the expiration time of the demonstration permit.

In West Berlin, police ended a weekend of anti-U.S. demonstrations Sunday by hosing down about 1,000 student protesters from six water-cannon trucks.

In London Sunday, police fought a pitched battle with about 3,000 anti-Vietnam war demonstrators outside the U.S. Embassy, Scotland Yard arrested 47.

New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, a Republican, speaking at a Battery Park vigil, said that while Americans are behind U.S. fighting men in Vietnam there are "deep divisions" on long-range political goals.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Dean Rusk released a letter Sunday that he said was received from a GI in Vietnam before the past weekend demonstration.

Quarrel Sets Off Deadly Sharpshooter

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — A berserk paper mill employee, apparently upset over a dispute with members of his car pool, his boss and a neighbor, killed six of them today in a sudden and deadly accurate shooting spree.

Seven others were wounded, three critically.

ARSENAL

State Police Capt. John Gray said the alleged gunman, Leo Held, 39, a lab technician for the Hammermill Paper Co., had amassed an arsenal of guns before he was seized by police in his nearby Loganton home.

Officers said the shootings occurred, without warning, shortly before 8 a.m. after Held entered the Hammermill plant located on the edge of this semi-industrial farm community in central Pennsylvania.

Held had been driven to his job by Mrs. Margaret Ramm, a Loganton neighbor, who worked at the Piper Aircraft Co., a mile from the paper mill. The state police captain said a violent quarrel developed en route.

IN CAR POOL

Inside the Hammermill building Held whipped out a gun, said Gray, and started firing, aiming apparently only at those who were in his car pool and those who were his immediate bosses. He killed five and wounded four. After that he ran out to the company parking lot, took a station wagon and drove to the fire plant.

There he fired at Mrs. Ramm, wounding her.

Gray said Held then drove back to Loganton, went to the home of a neighbor, Donald Quiggle, and shot him dead. He also wounded Quiggle's wife and another person and reportedly took several guns before heading for his own home. He was captured about 95 minutes after the first shots were fired.

WAITING

Police were in Held's home—17 miles southeast of Lock Haven—waiting for him. He was shot in the hands and legs while on the sidewalk. He was reported in serious condition in Lock Haven Hospital, where all the dead and wounded also were taken.

Officers were not able to say immediately what kind of weapons Held used to shoot and kill.

It was reported that police found three rifles and four pistols in Held's home after he was seized.

What set Held off was unknown. Sheriff Jack Boyle of Clinton County said the shootings started shortly after Held reported for work at 8 a.m.

BEHIND DESKS

When the bullets started flying, workers dropped behind desks and sprawled on the floor shielded by machines.

Lock Haven, a community of 12,000, is 100 miles northwest of Harrisburg, the state capital.

Accepts Blame For Decline

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman said today farm program decisions made by his agency a year ago have turned out to be partly responsible for this year's decline in farm prices and income.

The decisions called for greatly expanded production of grains this year. At the time they were made, world supplies appeared to be tight. But subsequent developments showed that world production was larger than had been indicated.

SECOND SIGHT

"No one—not myself, nor the Congress, nor the scientists and economists—had the second sight to predict this," Freeman said.

The secretary spoke to the Agway Cooperative, Inc., an agricultural supply cooperative of the Northeast.

As a consequence of the program decisions, this year's wheat and feed grain crops turned out to be record crops. Prices have tumbled.

3 REPUBLICANS ARE LEADING

Johnson Losing In Poll

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Johnson would be unable to defeat the leading three Republicans mentioned as presidential candidates if any election was held today, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

The poll, conducted between Oct. 6-11, found that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., would fare better than Johnson but would not be able to defeat former Vice President Richard M. Nixon or New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

POLLSTERS

Pollsters asked the following question of 1,585 persons in 320 localities across the nation:

"Suppose the presidential election were held today. If (candidate's name) were the Democratic candidate and (candidate's name) were the Republican candidate, which would you like to see win?"

A Nixon-Johnson race showed 49 per cent for Nixon, 45 per cent for the President and 6 per cent undecided. It was the first time that Nixon has shown greater strength than Johnson in the Gallup Poll.

Despite his insistence that he is not a candidate, Rockefeller holds an even wider lead over the President—54 per cent to 40 per cent with 6 per cent undecided.

The latest poll also showed Gov. George Romney of Michigan defeating Johnson, 48 per cent to 45 per cent with 7 per cent undecided.

In races against Sen. Kennedy, Nixon holds a lead of 48 per cent to 47 per cent with 5 per cent undecided and Rockefeller's edge is 47 per cent to 46 per cent with 7 per cent undecided.

A survey to determine who voters favor as the GOP candidate showed that Nixon and Rockefeller were gaining support while Romney failed to recover the support he lost following his Sept. 5 statement about having been "brainwashed" by the Johnson administration on Vietnam.

NIXON

Nixon's percentage was 42 per cent, compared with 40 in late September and 35 in early September. Rockefeller's figures were 18, 17, and 14 per cent. Romney's dropped from 24 per cent in early September to 14 per cent late in the month and 13 per cent at present.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, who went from 11 per cent in early September to 16 per cent later in the month, now shows 14 per cent.

Still Counting Vietnam Votes

SAIGON (AP) — Weary tabulators continued to sort winners today from among 1,200 candidates for South Vietnam's House of Representatives and the only assurance with two-thirds of the 137 seats decided was that the body would be widely varied.

More than 24 hours after the polls closed on the quietest election the nation has experienced in the past 13 months, about 45 seats were still in doubt.

The candidates assured of victory in Sunday's voting ranged from government supporters to some thinly disguised neutralists. It remained impossible to assess the political complexion of the assembly.

Officials said that the final unofficial tallies should be available by tonight, except for some from remote provinces.

The known returns insured that the government of President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu, who will be inaugurated Oct. 31, will have to deal with both a House and a Senate of varied political hues.

The 60-man Senate elected last month divided more or less along opposition, pro-government and independent lines. The House promises to split into even more groups.

Outwardly this would make Thieu's prospects a bit gloomy. However, much horse trading remains to be done before the new constitutional institutions shake down.

In addition, under the constitution, Thieu retains for the first presidential term some wide powers—such as the naming of province chiefs. These were granted to placate the military and insure that the prosecution of the war was not overly restricted by bickering legislators.

South Vietnamese officials and the U.S. Embassy were generally content with the turnout — 72.9 per cent of the nation's 5.8 million registered voters.

While this fell well below the 83 per cent in September's presidential election it was considered a respectable figure in a war-torn nation with the Communist guerrillas threatening terror at the polling places.

The threatened terror largely failed to materialize.

Official government figures said six South Vietnamese soldiers and six civilians died in terrorist incidents on election day, a sharp contrast with September when the Communists killed 200 people in the period during and immediately preceding the voting.

Prison Rodeo Packs House

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A capacity crowd of some 32,000 packed into the stadium here Sunday for the penultimate performance of the 1967 Texas Prison Rodeo.

Rodeo organizers had brought in fresh stock for the performance, which drew the largest crowd in the event's 36 years.

Bryan State Sen. W. T. "Bill" Moore was honored at Sunday's performance. Next week's final performance will honor Texas Gov. John Connally.

Only one inmate cowboy was hurt Sunday. Alfred Gray of LaPorte received a foot injury in the opening mad scramble event. He was not seriously hurt.

James Tindal of Big Spring won first place in the mad scramble event. Vernon Abbott of Iowa Park shared top money in bareback bronc riding with Richard Linscomb of Norfolk, Va., and Louis Esclovon of Beaumont.

James Gibson of Victoria won the saddle bronc riding contest. Only three of the 20 bull riding entrants completed their eight-second rides. They were Theodore Miller of Edna, Leon Miles of Dallas and Willie Jones of Royce City. Gail Hall of Memphis took first money in the wild horse race.

Library Must Get Approval

FESTUS, Mo. (AP) — If voters decide in Tuesday's special election they don't want to approve a $65,000 bond issue for a new library after all, the situation is going to get sticky.

The library already is under construction.

Voters approved the bond issue April 4, but the City Council learned the election notice was not properly handled and a new election had to be called.

Dear Abby
A Talk From Experience

DEAR ABBY: Be fair, and give the other side of the question of whether to institutionalize a Mongoloid child. There are so many who say, "All the retarded child needs is to be kept at home, and assured that he is loved."

But, Abby, have you ever seen a mentally deficient child who has grown to adulthood? A 36-year-old man who still makes baby noises, but must be shaved, bathed, and taken to the bathroom? He is not very "lovable."

Oh, his mother "loves" him all right, but her heart aches and twists as friends try to conceal their embarrassment. And the terrible shadow of, "What will happen to him when I am gone," looms ahead and grows darker with the years.

Not all mentally deficient children are so seriously retarded that they would be better off in an institution, but once it becomes established that he must be cared for as a baby all his life, the sooner he is placed in a reputable institution, the better.

When our doctor suggested that I place my child in an institution, I cried, "I CANNOT put my child in an institution! What will she think?"

The doctor replied, "She wouldn't care. She wouldn't know the difference."

And it's true. She has been there for 19 years. She is safe and happy there. I let her go when she was young enough to adjust. I love her, as I love my other children. And I have no regrets.

BEEN THERE

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem and no one in my family can come up with an answer. My brother has been separated from his wife and two children for over five years. He lives in the same town with them, but is now living with another woman. He and this other woman have just become parents of a baby boy. My problem is, how do I receive this poor little innocent child? Do I just ignore the precious baby and pretend he doesn't exist?

I do not live in the same state with my brother and am not in contact with him, but as far as

I know there is no divorce in sight so it will be some time before he can make things legal with the woman he's living with. If that's his plan, I don't know what in the world they are thinking of. Surely not of that poor innocent child.

How in the world should I handle this mess? I don't want to do anything to hurt my brother's legal wife and children, but what about the illegitimate baby?

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: As I see it, the "mess" is your brother's and the woman with whom he is living. Their child isn't "illegitimate"—his parents are. Since you are not in contact with your brother, you probably shouldn't "do" anything.

Osteopaths To Treat Indians

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Two Georgia osteopaths—Dr. Lloyd Dale Gauvin of Decatur and Dr. A. Andrew Trimble of Chamblee—will join 35 other members Nov. 5 on an expedition to treat an isolated Indian tribe in the Sierra Madre Mountains in Mexico.

Authorities said the group would meet in El Paso, Tex., and fly 300 miles in private planes to reach a tribe of Tarahumara Indians.

The trip is being planned under the auspices of an organization, Doctors of Osteopathy Care of "Dodore."

Sources said only about 5,600 are still living in the tribe of Inca descendants. The tribe reportedly has a high infant death rate and the members have an average expectancy of about 45 years.

GOP Governors May Vote Policy Statement Later

ABOARD SS INDEPENDENCE (AP) — Republican governors, who blocked action on a Democratic resolution of support for the U.S. stand in Vietnam, may issue a war policy declaration of their own in December.

The declaration might be issued when the Republican Governors' Association meets Dec. 8 and 9 at Palm Beach, Fla., said Massachusetts Gov. John A. Volpe.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see it," Volpe said. "It would express support for our fighting men in Vietnam."

At the stormy windup of the 59th National Governors Conference, Volpe joined 17 other Republicans in voting to bar action on a resolution of war support. GOP governors contended the resolution was White-House inspired—politically motivated and not the proper business of a conference on state affairs.

Volpe, new chairman of the national conference, said he hopes Vietnam will not be debated again when the nation's governors convene in Cincinnati for their next meeting on July 20, 1968.

But Volpe said Republican governors meeting at Palm Beach could reaffirm support of Americans fighting in Vietnam without appearing to endorse the Johnson administration's conduct of the war.

The GOP governors caucus aboard the Independence asked the Republican policy committee to draft platform planks for the 1968 convention expressing a moderate view on domestic issues and offering an alternative to Johnson's conduct of the war in Vietnam.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said preliminary drafts of the GOP platform might be available for the December Republican governors parley.

The governors also are demanding that one of their number share the chairmanship of the platform committee at the 1968 convention with Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill. Dirksen has been outspoken in support of Johnson's Vietnam policy.

Dirksen had no comment on the governors' demands.

Also aboard the Independence, the new governor's conference executive committee met and made plans for two overseas trips next year. In late January, 8 to 10 governors will go to Israel for a five- or seven-week visit as guests of the Israeli government. And in early April, 20 governors will begin a tour of Japan and the Orient.

Volpe said it is possible some governors on the Oriental trip will visit Vietnam, but he said any such stopover would be arranged through the White House. It has not been decided which governors will take the trips, Volpe added.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will throw his hat into the ring for the Republican presidential nomination around

Slain Man Identified

BALLINGER, Tex. (AP) — Sheriff Don Atkins learned Sunday that a man slain near here a week ago was an escaped convict from the Midwest.

He said FBI records disclosed the dead man actually was Walter William Wallace, 28, from Legonier, Ind., one of three convicts who escaped Aug. 31 from the state prison at Michigan City, Mich.

Two teenagers have been charged in the slaying of Wallace, who previously was identified as Johnny Adair, a used car salesman from San Angelo.

Authorities at first thought Adair, found dead in a wrecked car, died in a traffic accident. After discovering his throat had been cut, they filed murder charges against Timothy Forder 16, of Indianapolis, Ind., and Lawrence Ward, 17, of San Angelo.

TONS OF DEBRIS LEFT BEHIND BY DEMONSTRATORS

Pentagon Gets Back To Normal

operation Army Chief of Staff Harold K. Johnson personally conferred with unit commanders. After the last demonstrator departed, there was a moment of silence and then a wave of cheering from the troops. The marshals then applauded the soldiers.

Thousands participated. Hundreds were arrested. Dozens were injured. And a few got inside the huge five-sided building. Dave Dellinger, chief organizer of the march, declared those who oppose the war now have shifted "from simple dissent to resistance."

At midnight Sunday, when their permit to stage a "nonviolent" demonstration expired, marshals, armed with night sticks and pistols and aided by military police, carried the protesters to Army vans.

By the Pentagon's reckoning at that time, 13 marshals, 10 soldiers and 24 civilians had been injured in the weekend's clashes. In that connection defense officials said troops reported they had lost nine canisters of tear gas in the collisions with protesters at Pentagon doors.

Congressmen OK No Plans To Cut Back Own Expenses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The current congressional economy wave is lapping at the doors of most federal agencies but shows little sign of threatening the island of prosperity Congress has created on Capitol Hill.

Rejection of the two attempts to cut back or hold the line on spending in Congress itself came as House members moved toward adoption of a directive that President Johnson cut expenditures an estimated $6 billion to $8 billion in the current fiscal year. Administration forces are pressing in the Senate to junk the House directive, or at least dilute it.

Fat Sums Lost To Embezzlers

HOUSTON (AP) — The brokerage firm of E.F. Hutton & Co. Inc. says a former employee was a "central figure" in an embezzlement scheme involving the killing of fat sums with the accounts of customers.

A regional vice president of Hutton, John D. Brown, said Sunday that when the system ended eight weeks ago, $300,000 to $500,000 was missing from six to eight accounts in Hutton's Beaumont branch office.

Brown said Hutton was ready to talk fully when arrests were made, but that it will be a matter of weeks before any arrests are made.

He flew home from New York for a news conference after the Houston Chronicle outlined the scheme in a page-one story.

In the eight weeks since Hutton uncovered the scheme, Brown said, "several" employees have been fired, including an account executive he described as "the central figure in the case."

Although Brown refused to detail the scheme, he said it was "not inaccurate" to liken it to check kiting, in which one worthless check is covered with another.

A Beaumont bank refused in September to honor about $300,000 in checks written to Hutton for deposit in customer accounts which the firm's executives were authorized to draw upon to make investments for the clients.

Brown refused to say outright that any customer was involved in the plan, stating, "Let me assure you, first, that no innocent customer of Hutton has suffered a loss."

He said the word "innocent" was carefully chosen. "We didn't put 'innocent' in there just because it was a word that surfaced at that time."

Six to eight accounts were involved, all handled by the dismissed account executive, he said, and the Chronicle said included those of persons whose incomes appeared too modest to explain the sums moving through their bank accounts.

Mia's Sister Teaches Yoga

BOSTON (AP) — Prudence Farrow, 19, who says she once wanted to be a nun, opened a Yoga institute Sunday in a rented room in Arlington Street Church, a Unitarian-Universalist congregation in the heart of Boston.

Miss Farrow, sister of Mia Farrow Sinatra, said "The hippies are the most interested in Yoga... but quite a few of the people who come are elderly—you know, 35 or 36, not hippie at all."

Miss Farrow said she was in the grotto of the Roman Catholic shrine at Lourdes, France, when she decided to study Yoga in 1966. She said she tried LSD before she tried Yoga.

Her teacher was a disciple of Maharshi Mahesh Yoga, described as a favorite teacher of the Beatles and the Rolling Stones. Mrs. Sinatra has announced plans to visit Maharshi in India.

Polar Fliers Wait Rescue

INUVIK, N.W.T. (AP) — Snug in parachuted gear, three polar fliers today awaited rescue after being missing since their plane went down Oct. 13 in the Yukon wilds.

The three are pilot Thor Tjontveit, 30, Fairbanks, Alaska; Rolf Storhavg, 30, Oslo, Norway, and Einar Pedersen, 48, chief navigator for Scandinavian Airlines System. They disappeared on a flight from Fairbanks to Inuvik.

A search pilot spotted them Sunday, walking near their downed plane in the Blow River Valley 90 miles southwest of Inuvik.

A rescue party, including the wife of one of the downed fliers, flew over later and dropped a radio, sleeping bags, food and medical equipment.

The airman radioed they were unharmed except for a few bruises, so rescue efforts were suspended until a helicopter could reach the scene.

They had pitched a tent in a grove of trees near where their plane lay with apparently damaged wings.

Tribesmen Flee, Troops Advance

ENUGU, Biafra (AP) — At least a half million Ibo tribesmen fled from their homes around Enugu, capital of secessionist Biafra, as federal Nigerian troops advanced on the city.

Aside from 500 captured Ibos held in an army gymnasium, not one Ibo could be found today in Enugu, once a city of at least 150,000 persons. The bush hamlet of Enugu Azike, 50 miles to the north, was likewise deserted.

The wide area around the capital, from which the Ibos fled, had a population of 1.4 million in the 1963 census.

Two Irish priests, Fathers Oliver Barrett and J. Coleman, the only white men in Enugu during the battle between the federalists and Biafrans, were busy hearing soldiers' confessions and the catechism recitals of the captured Ibos in the gym.

The federal authorities believe most of the Ibos have gone south to the already densely populated area around Aba in an exodus rivalling the flight of Ibos from Nigeria's northern region one year ago when Ibos were being massacred by hostile tribes.

The Roman Catholic priests said Ibos were sneaking back to Enugu by dark even after the federal seizure Oct. 4. The fathers, reluctant to give details, said they stayed in the mission during the three-day fight for the city. They said the federal army was now supplying them with food and fuel.

Federal officials said some Ibos are sneaking back to Enugu too, to fight the federal forces.

Enugu is without electric power and the soldiers' drinking water is hauled 70 miles from the north.

SECTION B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, MONDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1967 SECTION B

Traffic Takes 20 Lives, Other Violence Adds 8

By The Associated Press
Traffic accidents claimed 20 lives and other forms of violence ran the number of fatalities up to 28 in Texas during the week-end.

The toll was tabulated by The Associated Press between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

Among the victims were:
Juan Gonzales, 23, of San Antonio was killed late Sunday night when a car overturned south of Pleasanton on US 281. Julian Gonzales was injured.

Larry Pool, 28, of Plainview and his son Jeff, about 6, died Sunday evening when the family automobile plunged into a creek bed west of Jacksboro. Mrs. Pool, 27, and son David, 1, were injured. State patrolman Ray Priest filed a negligent homicide charge, accusing James D. Stout, 57, from Glen Rose of making a U-turn and forcing the Pool car off the road.

Morris Brown, 35, of San Angelo died Sunday of knife wounds in the neck and heart. Officers filed charges against Richard Hollis, also of San Angelo.

A racing car skidded and hurled Johnny R. Barnes, 23,

Girl Has Buck Fever, Then Hits

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — Fourteen-year-old Jerriann Bocchetti, on her first deer hunting trip Sunday, got over a bad case of "buck fever" in time to drop a four-point buck.

Jerriann was hunting with her father, Charles Bocchetti, Pueblo, and several of her dad's friends when the buck bolted from a grove of trees.

"I missed the first shot," she said, "and got a bad case of buck fever before I hit him in the side on the second try." After missing the first shot she accidentally ejected two live shells before seating a third round.

Jerriann's buck weighed 200 pounds after it was dressed.

Her older hunting companions could do no more than look at it and sigh. They didn't even get a shot.

out as it overturned Sunday at the Yellow Belly Drag Strip in Dallas. Barnes died about three hours later.

Ronald H. Scott, 22, of Oswego, N.Y., was killed Sunday when a pickup truck overturned 16 miles west of Seminole on US 180.

A tractor-trailer ran over and killed Buck Graves, 60, of San Angelo on a Sterling County road Sunday. He apparently had stopped and was trying to move a load of cattle in the truck.

Jack D. Faubion, 15, died Sunday of head injuries he received late Saturday when his motor scooter hit a curb in the parking lot of a shopping center in Houston.

An autopsy was ordered in the death early Sunday of Sarah Sue Clack, 17, whose body was found floating face down in the bathtub of her Houston home.

James Minnifield, 56, a Houston city sanitation worker, was found dead in his car early Sunday. Police said he had been shot three times, bore teethmarks on his right shoulder, and that a billfold containing $100 was missing from his pocket.

Robert A. Wilson, 42, was shot to death Sunday afternoon in the front door of his home at Houston. Police questioned a woman.

Arvis Ray Morehead Jr., 5 months, of Mansfield, was fatally injured Sunday in a two-car accident between Mansfield and Arlington. The boy's mother, Lois Mary Morehead, 23, was injured. Two other members of the family escaped serious harm in the wreck.

Marie Reed, about 50, of Irving, was killed early Sunday when the car she was a passenger in slammed into a parked car at the intersection of Loop 12 and the Carpenter Freeway in the Dallas suburb.

Houston policeman J. B. McClung said he shot 34-year-old Joseph Wolsey to death when he thought Wolsey was grabbing for a gun as the officer was investigating a tavern burglary. The incident happened at a near-downtown bar about 3 a.m. Sunday.

Fred William Gunther, 36, of Humble, was killed early Sunday when his car hit a Southern Pacific freight train between Houston and Humble. A dense fog cloaked the area at the time.

Soviets Are Building First Aircraft Carrier

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice Adm. William E. Ellis has disclosed that the Soviet Union is building its first aircraft carrier, The New York Times said today.

The story from Norfolk, Va., said the disclosure was made Sunday by Ellis, chief of staff of the Supreme Allied Command, Atlantic, which has its headquarters in Norfolk.

The Times story also said in part: "The carrier, believed designed for launching helicopters rather than jets, is viewed as evidence that Soviet naval strategists, traditionally concerned almost exclusively with defense, are thinking more boldly of gaining the ability to extend military power far from Soviet shores.

Ellis said in an interview that the Russians have "the second largest and best navy in the world" and are moving up fast. Since World War II, he said, they have built about 200 destroyers, 25 cruisers and more than 400 submarines.

"The Russians have really gone to sea," Ellis continued. "They've never before felt the need for carriers contrasted to the United States or Britain because they didn't have many overseas commitments. Apparently their thinking is changing."

This assessment was concurred in by Adm. Ephraim P. Holmes, supreme allied commander, Atlantic, for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and commander in chief of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet.

State patrolman Ray Priest said another automobile made a U-turn in front of the Pool vehicle and forced it off the road. Priest charged James Dennis Stout, 37, of Glen Rose, with negligent homicide.

The accident happened near the intersection of US 281 and Texas 199.

Father, Son Die In Wreck

JACKSBORO, Tex. (AP) — A car crashing into a 12-foot deep creek bed killed Larry Pool, 28, of Plainview and his son Jeff, about 6, west of here Sunday night.

Pool's wife Virginia, 27, and son David, 1, were injured. Attendants said Mrs. Pool was in serious condition. State patrolman Ray Priest said another automobile made a U-turn in front of the Pool vehicle and forced it off the road. Priest charged James Dennis Stout, 37, of Glen Rose, with negligent homicide.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1— Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠K10 ♣K7 ♦AQ10 43 ♣7643
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♦ Dblc.
 Redblc. 2 ♠ ?
What do you bid now?
 A.—Pass. In this type of situation it is proper to give partner the courtesy of the bid. You are not in position at this time to determine what will be the best course of action. Partner's redouble announces not only that he has a good holding but that the situation is well in hand.

Q. 2— Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠K10 ♣K7 ♦K9 ♣K762
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 ♠ 2 ♦ 2 ♠ ?
What do you bid?
 A.—Pass. While it is tempting to enter the bidding, an appropriate call is available. Had partner been interested in hearing about your suits he very likely would have chosen to double originally. If his hand is composed essentially of diamonds, any action on your part might lead to serious trouble.

Q. 3— As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠K10 ♣K10 ♦A864 ♣AJ108
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
 2 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
 A.—Five diamonds. You have not yet begun to describe the strength of your hand. In view of partner's vigorous action over what may prove to be a near minimum in your hand, the conclusion is inescapable that the hand will produce a slam.

Q. 4— East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠1097 ♣AJ ♦AQ5 ♣A872
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 ♠ Pass Pass Dblc.
 Pass 1 NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?
 A.—Two no trump. Partner might readily have 10 or 11 points, and yet have chosen to exercise restraint in responding to allow you leeway for having made a shaded double in the "re-opening" position. Since your double was quite sound, you should extend one more chance to partner.

Q. 5— Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠AQ104 ♣J2 ♦Q65 ♣QJ865
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1 ♠ 2 ♦ ?
What do you bid?
 A.—There is no action which you can take with safety. If you mention either of your suits, partner will probably be cornered into bidding three hearts, which will place you in a highly awkward position. When a free bid tends to project the bidding to the three level, the player contemplating such action should be backed up by a holding which is equal to an opening bid.

Q. 6— As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠AKQJ92 ♣104 ♦A1065 ♣3
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass
 3 ♦ Pass 3 NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?
 A.—Four spades. Your hand is not strong enough to justify contrasting for slam, but hope for slam is not abandoned by the four spade bid. The very fact that you took pains to bid three diamonds, intending all the time to take partner out of his aggressively bid game contract, indicates your willingness to entertain the idea of a slam. If his points are first rate (aces and kings), he may proceed.

Q. 7— As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠AQJ64 ♣T ♦A865 ♣1078
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♦ Pass
 2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
 3 ♦ Pass 3 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
 A.—Four diamonds. You possess a good fit for the diamonds and should as indicate by returning to that suit. Do not make the mistake of bidding three no trump. Partner was in position to make that call himself, but bid hearts instead.

Q. 8— Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠10962 ♣J822 ♦K6 ♣A92
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1 ♠ Dblc. ?
What do you bid?
 A.—This holding falls just short of the requirements for a redouble. An immediate raise should be offered only on a hand with less high card strength and more distributional values. You are forced to compromise by passing for the time being with every intention of offering competition on the next round.

A Devotional For The Day

Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. (II Timothy 2:15)

PRAYER: Dear Father in heaven, we are grateful for Thy many blessings. Forgive us for our many foolish ways. Make us sensitive to opportunities that are ours and help us to seek Thy guidance in making right choices. In Jesus' name we pray, as He taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

(From the 'Upper Room')

That Fair Share

Normally we shuffle anonymous letters to file 13, but let us quote in part from one just received:

"I see by the card before me, that it is once again that time. The card states, 'My fair share. . . one hour's pay per month.' The card will once again be returned with no donation.

"What would your reaction be to someone telling you that you must give to the United Fund or risk losing your livelihood? The teachers . . . have good reason to give. It has been strongly suggested that they do so (or else?). It has been strongly suggested that they do so . . . So I send my card back with no donation in sympathy with those who dare not to do so.

"The card before me asks, 'how much do you care?' I care a hell of a lot, but until UF gets rid of that 'fair share' idea, I will not give. My fair share is between my God and myself, and I will let no one tell, or even suggest, to me what my fair share should be."

Aw come off that! The fact that this individual returns his card without making a gift (which is his undisputed right) is clear evidence that he or she does not really believe all this stuff about being pressured or losing a job. There's not much difference between asking an individual to help and in suggesting some basis for consideration of an equitable part of a community obligation. Neither one adds up to pressure, but either often touches off a smokescreen of defense.

The letter concludes: "I care. Do you?"

Yes, we care. We will go right on giving a whole of a lot more than a fair share to try to take up slack for those who won't.

The New Court

What can be expected of the "new" Supreme Court — new, that is, in opening a new term with a new justice? Prediction scores on judicial performance caution against speculation, but involvement of great issues make it irresistible.

What difference does the new justice — former Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall — will make is problematic. He properly refused to delineate his legal philosophy in advance for the Senate confirmation committee. If he is generally "liberal" — replacing retired "conservative" Tom Clark — that would swing the court in that direction, except that Justice Hugo L. Black has been taking a more "conservative" stance lately. (Marshall's impact will be modified until the agenda is cleared of cases he handled as solicitor general.)

Actually, "liberal" and "conservative" are crude labels for high court justices. Strict constructionist or flexible constructionist would be more accurate. Also, the rapidity, scope and depth of social and economic change — the newness of fact situations to which old constitutional principles must be applied — often influence the court's course than its personal makeup.

At the close of its 1966-67 term, the Warren court seemed to be moderating its "activism." The Supreme Court can vary that by taking up every case into which a constitutional question can be read or refusing to review any but those with obvious and compelling constitutional issues as their pivotal point. The "new" court, perhaps significantly, has already refused to review Dr. Martin Luther King's contempt conviction (for demonstrating against an injunction) and a case in which the state courts held public school buses could serve private and parochial schools. It has, however, agreed to review whether individual taxpayers can challenge state aid to church schools.

No fundamentally new cases yet face the new court term. Its most controversial scheduled issues involve further interpretation of landmark decisions previously handed down, particularly in the field of police power vs. civil rights in criminal law. It would not be surprising therefore, if the court should spend most of its time this term explaining specifically what it meant in the broad language of its earlier opinions.

Time For Some Prosecuting

WASHINGTON — For some undisclosed reason, officials of the Johnson administration are reluctant to concede that Communists inside America are responsible to no small extent for some of the strikes, violence in street demonstrations, and riots.

The news from Great Britain, however, is different. A Reuters Press Association dispatch from London last Wednesday says:

"THE BRITISH government today placed the blame for the current wave of strikes here on a Communist plot to wreck the economy and ruin social democracy.

"There is now little doubt," declared Labor Minister Ray Gunter,

Billy Graham

Can you tell me where hell is? I have asked many people this question, but no one has been able to give me an answer. F.H.W.

There are fifty three references to Hell in the Scriptures. Many of these references suggest that hell is "beneath," or "down." "I cast him down to hell," and, "Hell from beneath is moved for thee," are two of many such references. However, we are not told specifically where hell is. Some Bible scholars think that it may be in the center of the earth which is as deep as one can go on this planet. But the only hint the Bible gives as to its location is "down."

Though there are many mysteries about hell, one thing is certain: it is not a pleasant place to spend eternity. In the book of Matthew alone, Jesus mentioned hell seven times and warned people to fear it and to shun it. He said: "Fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul; but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell." (Matt. 10:28)

The future life is envisioned in mystery, concerning both hell and heaven. We are not told the location of heaven either, but the Bible leaves no doubt that both exist. Interestingly each is mentioned about the same number of times. We are not true to the Scriptures when we invite people to go to heaven, without warning them that the alternative to heaven is hell.

John 3:16, one of the most beautiful Scriptures in the Bible, says that all who believe in Christ shall not perish, but shall have everlasting life. Christ is the Savior from hell.

'WE'LL JUST HAVE TO LENGTHEN YOUR ARMS'

James Marlow Would Evaluate Program

By EDMOND LABRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — During all the recent congressional thunder about government spending and how it might be controlled, legislation with interesting possibilities—and important connections—has been slumbering unnoticed.

REP. WILBUR D. MILLS, D-Ark., introduced it June 5 after he expressed concern in a speech about government continuing to expand by adding new programs without studying all its undertakings to determine whether some might now be unproductive, outdated or otherwise ripe for phasing out.

The bill would create a commission of 12 private citizens to "make a full and complete study and evaluation of existing federal programs and activities, old and new, and of projected expansions." It would be directed to report on the effectiveness of each program in terms of costs, whether each should be continued and which should have priority in assignment of federal funds.

While the commission in some ways would resemble the Hoover commissions that studied the organization of government and made recommendations for improvements, there would be a significant difference. Unlike the Hoover commissions, the proposed new one would contain no officials, from either the legislative or executive branches.

Mills' speech and introduction of the bill should have been notice to the administration that Mills, while chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, was thinking more and more in terms of holding down spending and the general growth of government. down on spending programs later.

YET THE administration showed every evidence of surprise nearly four months later when Mills, as his committee pigeonholed the tax increase bill, said the price for a tax raise was not only an immediate spending cut but a hold-

The commission measure attracted comparatively little attention, but several members of the House and Sen. William E. Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, introduced identical or similar measures.

A Human Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Diet-conscious Americans now eat 177 eggs each a year for breakfast, which pleases those doctors who think most of us need more protein.

SOME WOMEN of delicate appetite say they eat no more than a bird. They usually don't say what bird they have in mind, but it couldn't be a baby robin. Shortly after being hatched, those tiny birds need 14 feet of earthworms a day to satisfy their hunger.

Flight to freedom: Since Fidel Castro came to power in 1959, one in every 21 Cubans—some 378,000—has fled to the United States for refuge, and 700,000 more are listed as hoping to.

Quotable notables: "Don't put no constrictions on da people. Leave 'em ta hell alone."—Jimmy Durante.

LACK OF PROSPERITY note: Poverty is a human not just a racial problem. According to U.S. government figures, in 1966 there were 20.1 million poor white people in America and 9.6 million poor Negroes.

Odd types of insurance: You not only can insure your pet dog or cat today, you can also insure your home for damages resulting from poor design, workmanship or materials. Lloyds of London offers such a policy.

Cost of government: Someone has figured out that the average American now works 89 days a year to earn the 37 per cent of his income that goes to pay his federal, state and city taxes.

That means you're in the month of May before you start working for yourself.

SPOOKY: We worry about witches and hobgoblins only one night of the year—on Halloween. But the National Geographic Society reports that Mustang, a mountain kingdom in Nepal, is haunted year-round by 416 assorted demons of land, sky, fire and water. A demon trap hangs over the doorway of every home there to frighten away these ghoulish intruders.

Worth remembering: "It's impossible for a woman to be married to the same man for 50 years. After the first 25, he's not the same man."

FOLKLORE: Whistling in a home or office brings bad luck. When gulls fly inland, storms are brewing; when gulls fly seaward, the weather will stay fair. Some waiters believe that if the first customer leaves a big tip, their tips for the rest of the day will be small. If you turn a photograph of someone to the wall, evil spirits will attack him.

It was Fred Allen who observed, "A conference is a gathering of important people who singly can do nothing but together can decide that nothing can be done."

Cortisone Great—When Used Right

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What harmful effects should be expected from the use of cortisone or its derivatives for arthritis? Why do doctors frequently refuse to prescribe it? It is the only thing that has ever given me decided relief. I have taken it for short periods and have not felt any bad effects.—Mrs. S.F.K.

I have written a number of times about side effects because so many readers are over-fearful that there will be "harmful side effects" from medications that are in normal use.

Now I have to take the opposite tack in this case.

Cortisone can be an extremely useful medication, but being a powerful hormone it has to be used carefully. It can, indeed, have a remarkable temporary effect in some cases of arthritis.

In fact, this capability led to false hopes some years ago when it was first being used. It was given to patients so seriously afflicted with arthritis that they were bedridden.

LETDOWN

Quite a number of them got out of bed and danced around—and the world thought briefly that at last there was a cure for arthritis. This was soon followed by a devastating let-down. Cortisone didn't cure arthritis at all; it merely gave temporary relief. When the medicine was stopped, the disease reverted to its former state.

It was impossible to keep on giving the cortisone for many reasons. It causes edema—accumulation of fluid in the tissues. It encourages intestinal disturbances, including duodenal ulcers. It weakens the bones. It can cause mental disorders in patients having a tendency in that direction. It can mask the symptoms of infections, so that without close watchfulness, some infection can get a dangerous start without being recognized. It can make diabetes worse. It can cause skin disorders. And those are just a few samples of the things it can do. Being a powerful hormone, too much cortisone can affect virtually every part of the human body.

This does not mean that cortisone should not be used. It should. It is very valuable and life-saving in some instances. It is used quite often for various ailments which respond well to a temporary "lift" provided by cortisone.

FOR BRIEF TIME

But it dare not be used for more than a brief time in quantities which overcome the symptoms of arthritis. Used in small enough doses so they can be taken over an extended time, cortisone is no better and, according to some studies, not even as good as the salicylates (aspirin-type drugs) which can be taken with so much more safety and with less cost.

Dear Dr. Molner: The cause of death on my father's death certificate was acute myocardial infarction. In plain English, what did he die of?—Mrs. E.B.

Of a heart attack. Circulation to his heart muscle was shut off—most likely because a blood clot formed and then lodged in a narrow place in the artery, shutting off the flow of blood to the heart muscle. Therefore the muscle quickly became helpless, and the heart stopped beating. The majority of people recover from milder heart attacks, but his was acute—a severe one.

To learn of the many factors that can be involved in the treatment of heart disease, which concerns the esophagus, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of his booklet, "Heart Disease: Eight Ways to Combat It," enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20c in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

How To Gig The Government

This and that:

When the late and lamented John F. Kennedy assumed the highest office in the land, he challenged its citizens to "ask not what the nation can do for you but what you can do for the nation"—or words to that effect.

Regrettably, there is an element which thinks the nation owes them everything plus an embarrassing group which encourages the attitude.

A PUBLISHING firm, which trumpets the news that it is publishing a volume showing how many ways the reader can "cash in" on all payments, services and benefits the government owes him, reportedly is doing big business with the edition.

The encyclopedia recites 10,000 benefits the subscriber can get from the government and its editors boast that they guarantee $500 in cash or services to the purchaser of the book.

BY DIGESTING the wisdom offered within the tome, the publishers insist you can (1) get the government to help send your child through college (2) start a successful business, (3) provide needed cash to clear up old debts, (4) build a swimming pool, (5) buy an island, (6) explore, with government subsidy, for valuable minerals and (7) travel abroad at the expense of the tax payers.

The Pied Piper of Hamelin was a piker, compared to the manner in which the snake-oil salesmen of today operate.

YOU'VE GOT to admire the cool detachment with which most Englishmen live.

Consider a group in Britain which refers to itself as the Consumer Council. It fearlessly attacked that sacred refuge of masculinity when it declared the British pub (or tavern) should become a family place where children could go with their parents, suggesting that the emphasis should be on "snacks, grills, ice cream, tea and coffee."

A pub regular scoffed at the idea, icily rejoicing: "I don't think the regular customers would care to have children running about underfoot."

UTTERABLE UTTERANCE: Charley McCabe, San Francisco columnist: "Once in a while the best among us tires of the sad kindergarten of life. From space ships to swizzle sticks, we begin to wonder if there is any point to our toys. The monastic life begins to look pretty good." —TOMMY HART

Business Moves On Crime

NEW YORK (AP)—An "emergency" committee of 700 businessmen from throughout the country has been formed here to combat what is felt to be an increase in the rate by which gangsters are infiltrating legitimate businesses.

"This is organized anti-crime," said a spokesman for the National Emergency Committee. "It is safer for an association to stick its neck out than for one individual to do so."

FORMATION of the committee, which is heavily financed by big business, underlines the concern of government, police and business officials with the growing threat, as well as with the usually feeble counterattack.

One of the group's chief roles will be to alert industry to the methods gangsters use to move in on thousands of businesses: garbage disposal, machine vending and construction to be sure, but also banks, brokerage houses and automobile agencies.

IT HOPES to do this by arousing businessmen and their trade associations and by encouraging volunteer roles for civilians in the operation of police departments, courts and jails, and in rehabilitating former criminals.

The committee, a unit of the non-profit National Council on Crime and Delinquency, will convene here Nov. 13, chaired by H. Ladd Plumley, who was president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in 1962 and 1963.

MEANWHILE, it suggests business leaders familiarize themselves with some of these principal methods of infiltration:

1. Investment in legitimate businesses of profits from gambling, extortion, narcotics or other illegal sources. This type of infiltration is difficult to detect if the company's stock is traded publicly.

2. Loans with such fantastically high interest rates—as much as 150 per cent a week—that the businessman must accept the lender as a partner or go bankrupt. After the partner is accepted, the original owner is dealt out.

3. EXTORTION, in which the owner yields partial or complete control of the business because of threats. These threats might include arson, beatings, labor trouble or destruction of property.

Why should the underworld be interested in surfacing? The compelling reasons, the committee explains, include these:

—A legitimate business establishes a legal source for funds upon which some taxes are paid—as little as possible. This helps protect the gangster from income tax charges.

—A legitimate business allows the gangster to operate without the high rate of protection which he pays when he runs a gambling or other racket. Furthermore, the business may dovetail with other syndicate operations."

What A Power Government Does

TEHRAN, Iran — It is the cult of personality. Make no mistake about that. The one man who matters here is respectfully spoken of by Americans as H.L.M. He is the Shahanshah — the Shah, for short — His Imperial Majesty, aged 47 and for 26 years a king.

Talk about him with Iranians or Americans, with military officers, with bankers, with businessmen, with economists, and the story is the same. The Shah of Iran knows as much — "more," a major general told me — about their specialties than they do. When does he do his homework? Nobody knows. Everybody marvels.

IRANIANS TELL their success story in fables. It may not be the worst way. They say that in a certain village there were three evil sisters, not welcome, but ever-present, in the cottage, among the animals, at the well. Their names were Ignorance, Poverty and Disease. Then, one day, the good king ordered the three witches banished, and soon they were.

THE KING SENT a young sergeant to drive away Ignorance. In Iran, when high school graduates are called up for the military draft, they may choose to serve in the Army or to join the Literacy Corps. If they take the second choice, they are sent out alone to some distant village with orders to teach reading and writing. In typical instances, their night-classes are larger than the village population, for children and adults come from afar. When the sergeant finishes his tour of duty, he is usually offered a job by the national government to become a teacher in the regular school system. This is the Shah's plan. It has been fantastically successful.

THE KING ALSO dispatched his men to banish the witch of Poverty. At first this was done by persuading — by forcing, in recalcitrant cases — the feudal landlords to sell their estates, or trade them in for industrial stocks, so that farmers for the first known time in 4,000 years became owners. Then, came more of the king's men, called the Extension and Development Corps. They taught how to spray the crops, inoculate the animals, build bathrooms and toilets, construct feeder roads and hydro-electric dams.

ALSO, THE KING exiled the witch of Disease by sending in his Health Corps. At least once a week, a doctor visits every village. A dispensary becomes standard equipment in every village. One of the government programs calls for two hospital beds for every thousand inhabitants.

Of course, these are folktales, put into print and given circulation by the king's ministry of information. It is no more possible in Iran than anywhere else to "plan" social evils out of existence. But there is no doubt that the Shah has succeeded better as a social uplifter than the Great Society and its several American predecessors have. He began at a lower base, and people are getting services they never thought of asking for. The prosperity is general. The growth factor in the Gross National Product here is an amazing 9 per cent by U.S. calculations, and as high as 12 per cent, as the Shah sometimes tells his visitors.

IS IT DICTATORSHIP? A benevolent despotism? One-man rule by acclamation? By whatever name, it is certainly "consent of the governed," and an important Iranian financier tells me that it is one of the many forms which Democracy takes.

"It is power," he said. "It is management. And without power every government is only — a curiosity." (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

American Australians

PERTH, Australia (AP) — A broad American accent floated over the tourist coast loudspeaker in North-West Australia.

"Don't forget to holler if you want to take any pictures. You probably won't see scenery like this again," said coach driver Bob Ranney.

Ranney left Phoenix, Ariz., with his blonde wife, Candy, in 1965, and arrived in Western Australia last April. They have teamed up as coach-driver and hostess to show Australian tourists 1,000 miles of rugged North-West.

His wife, who travels through the red landscapes dotted with male colonies — but with very few women — is referred to by tourists as the "Princess of the North."

"It's just marvelous. I love every minute on tour," she told a reporter. "We saw a newspaper advertisement — a man and wife wanted."

The Ranneys did one trial run as passengers, and then the tough seven-day safari was all theirs.

Overnight they stop at sheep and cattle stations. Ranney is first out of the bus, helps his passengers unload bedding, and starts the shearing shed kitchen fire.

Candy buys supplies in the towns, organizes the kitchen, and prepares meals, helped by women tourists,

Jim Hart Hurls Cards To Win

By The Associated Press

Jim Hart's strong arm put new wallop into the St. Louis Cardinals' attack, but Gale Sayers' sore leg left the Chicago Bears offenseless.

Hart, St. Louis' sensational rookie quarterback, fired four touchdown passes Sunday in a 48-14 bombardment of the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Cards' fourth triumph in six games kept them tied for the National Football League's Century Division lead with the Cleveland Browns, who blanked the Sayers-less Bears 24-0 for their fourth straight victory.

Green Bay's NFL champions also flexed their muscles in demolishing New York 48-21 while Minnesota fought Baltimore to a 20-20 standoff, Los Angeles and Washington played to a 28-28 tie, San Francisco whipped New Orleans 27-13, Dallas edged Pittsburgh 24-21 and Detroit beat Atlanta 24-3.

HOT HART

Hart hit on 16 of 29 passes for 267 yards as St. Louis poured across 45 straight points to wipe out the Eagles' 14-3 first-quarter lead.

Frank Ryan's nine-yard TD pass to Gary Collins broke a scoreless tie in the third quarter and the Browns wrapped up the victory with a 17-point final period over the Bears.

Quarterback Bart Starr returned to the Packers' line-up after missing two games with injuries and directed an awesome running attack that produced 38 points in the second half. Jim Grabowski accounted for 123 of Green Bay's 249 rushing yards and Elijah Pitts, who scored three touchdowns, picked up 72 more.

COLTS GET TIE

Minnesota, which upended the Packers 10-7 last Sunday, barely missed knocking off the unbeaten Colts behind Joe Kapp, whose 11-yard TD pass to Red Phillips produced a 20-13 edge in the fourth quarter.

But Johnny Unitas, whose 20 completions set an NFL career mark of 2,131, brought the Colts back 50 yards for the tying touchdown, climaxing the drive with a three-yard pitch to John Mackey.

Roman Gabriel's six-yard TD pass to Bernie Casey with 64 seconds to play capped a 75-yard march and earned the Rams a tie with the Redskins. Sonny Jurgensen's fourth scoring pass, a 39-yarder to Jerry Smith, gave Washington a 28-21 lead minutes before Gabriel hit for the tying touchdown.

ACCURATE TOES

John Brodie passed for two touchdowns and Tommy Davis kicked a pair of field goals, leading the 49ers past winless New Orleans for their fifth victory in six games.

Craig Morton hit Pettis Norman on a five-yard TD pass with 24 seconds to play, giving the Cowboys the nod over Pittsburgh in another wild finish.

Detroit's Karl Sweetan, making his first start of the season, connected with Tom Nowatzki and Bill Malinchak for a pair of fourth-quarter scoring passes, breaking up a tight defensive battle with the Falcons.

Bridie Does In Local Golfers

An uncanny shot by Roy Peden, Kermit, gave him and his partner, Joe Ehrliche, a play-off victory over Rob Smith and Ronnie Broadrick of Big Spring at Sweetwater Sunday.

The Kermit pair won the Sweetwater Invitational Partnership trophy after tying with Smith and Broadrick, first round leaders, at 139. On the third hole of the sudden death playoff, Peden drove the green, chipped within two feet, and canned his putt for a birdie that settled the match.

Southwest Conference Is Mixed As Stretch Opens

The Southwest Conference football race moves into the stretch drive this week, and the possibilities are intriguing.

Seven of the eight members still are in the championship fight, and about half of them could be leading or sharing the lead when the smoke clears Saturday night.

Rice, which wasn't supposed to be in contention at all, tops the race and also has the best season record—3-1.

Texas, which wasn't supposed to lose to anybody but fell to Texas Tech and got itself in a position of having to fight back. A tie counts a half-game won and half lost.

Rice was jolted by the loss of its leading ground gainer, L. V. Benningfield, who got torn ligaments in the 14-10 victory over Southern Methodist, and is out for the season. Also, defensive end George Alexander will miss the game against Texas at Austin Saturday night because of a knee injury.

Texas beat Arkansas 21-12 last week to stay in the tie race and probably will be favored to take out Rice despite the latter's high status.

AGGIES CHANCE

Texas A&M, which kept Texas Christian winless with a 20-0 victory, faces Baylor at College Station Saturday afternoon. The Aggies could take over the undisputed leadership by beating Baylor if Rice should fall to Texas.

Southern Methodist and Texas Tech, who have 1-1 records, tangled at Dallas Saturday night. The loser will fade from contention, and the winner might go into a tie for the lead.

Arkansas, virtually out of contention with a 1-1 record, and Texas Christian play inter-sectional games. Arkansas plays Kansas State at Little Rock in a night contest, Texas Christian plays Nebraska at Fort Worth Saturday afternoon.

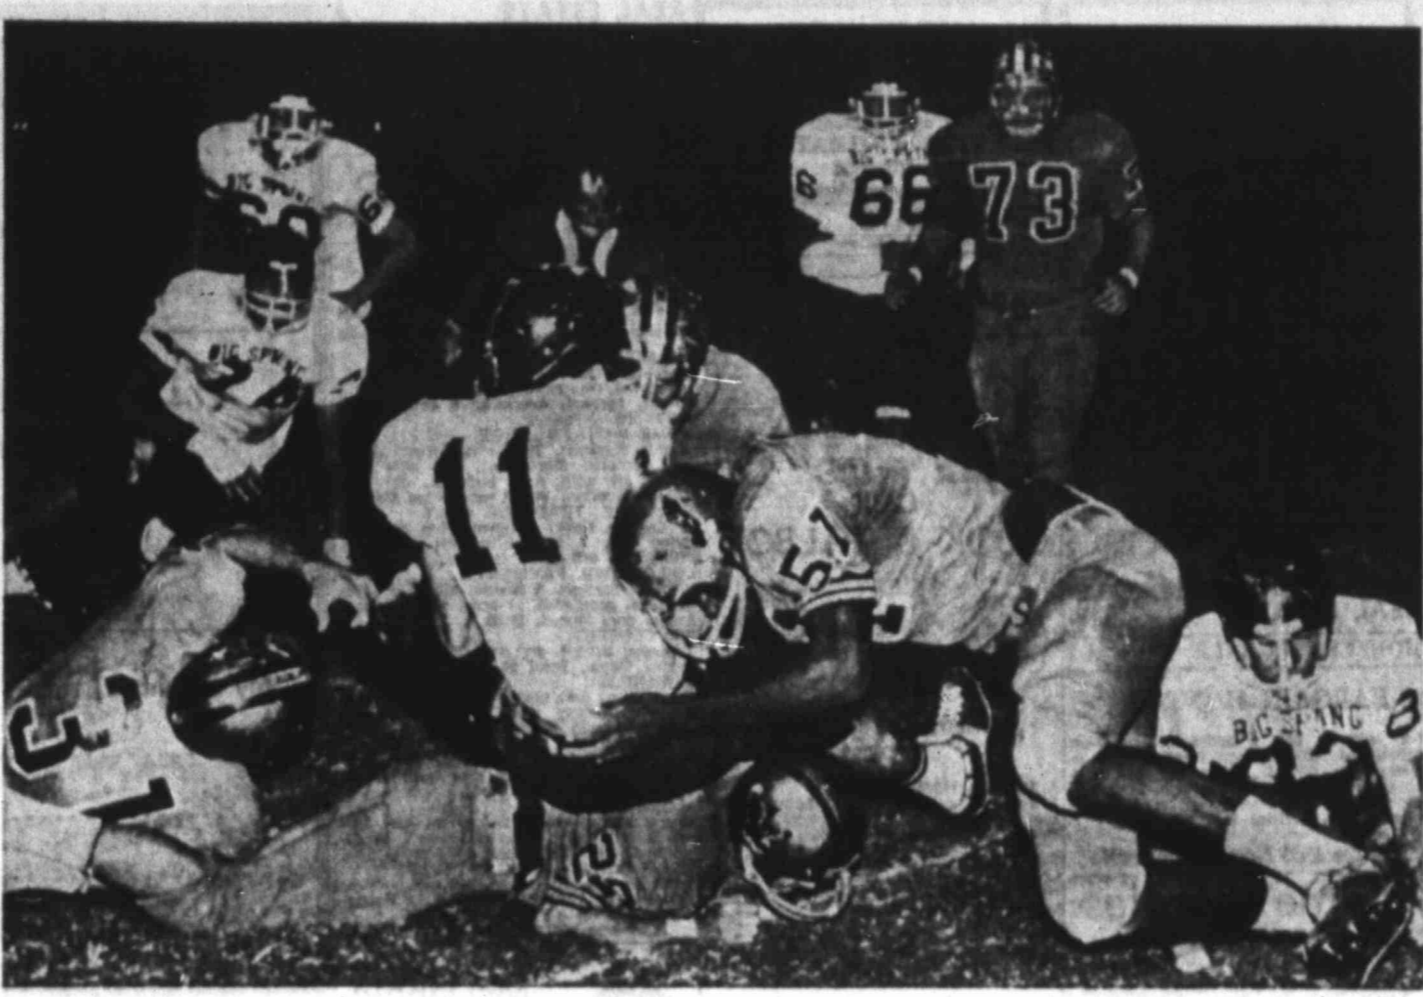

They are the last inter-sectional games of the season. The league has won only six of 22, dropping its latest last week when Texas Tech took a 28-12 drubbing from Florida State.

TEXAS COULD LEAD

Texas could take over or share the lead by beating Rice and a series of other events not firmly predictable come about.

Even Baylor, which has played only one game and tied that, might shoot into the lead. A tie counts a half-game won and half lost.

Rice was jolted by the loss of its leading ground gainer, L. V. Benningfield, who got torn ligaments in the 14-10 victory over Southern Methodist, and is out for the season. Also, defensive end George Alexander will miss the game against Texas at Aus-

Burchett Finally Bottled

Bill Burchett, Big Spring's sparkling quarterback, made life miserable for the Abilene Eagles last Friday. Here on one of his keepers that proved a turning point toward the end of the game he is finally bottled by Perry Hunter (51) of Abilene. Paul Drake (31) has been blocked out, and Ronnie Phillips (28) is on the bottom of the pile. Coming off the ground after throwing blocks are Jerry Ryan (74) and Mike Gartinman (83) of Big Spring. Chuck Smith (66) and Curtis Barnes (66) of Big Spring follow the play as does Tommy Teward (73) of Abilene.

Yanks Must Score Heavily In Aquatics To Catch Reds

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico's Pre-Olympic Games entered their second week today with Russia the front-runner in gold medal standings, but with the United States' strongest event yet to come.

The United States awaited its day in swimming, which opens Wednesday, but will have to go some in that and other competition to out-distance Russia, which had 19 golds to the Americans' six.

and his country's gold total to two when he won the 25.5 miles marathon Sunday. He ran it in 2 hours, 19 minutes, 34.4 seconds trailed by Kenji Kimihara and Akio Usami, who brought Japan a silver and a bronze.

Italian cyclist Cipriano Chemello won a gold in the 4,000-meter individual pursuit, while the silver went to Colombia's Martin Rodriguez and the bronze to Mexico's Radames Trevino.

Damascus Tries For Big Crown

By TED MEIER, Associated Press Writer

Damascus, the latest darling of the thoroughbred set, returns to the races this week and hopes to cement its claim to Horse of the Year honors.

The 3-year-old colt, owned by Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft, goes to the post in the $100,000-added Jockey Club Gold Cup at Aqueduct Saturday. It will be his first start since his impressive 10-length victory over Buckpasser and Dr. Fager in the Woodward Stakes several weeks ago.

Sharing the weekend spotlight will be Ogden Phipps' unbeaten 2-year-old filly, Queen Of The State, who will try for her eighth straight victory in the $100,000 guaranteed Selma Stakes at Laurel.

Damascus' appearance in the two-mile Gold Cup will be his last before he will try to beat the foreign invaders in the Washington, D.C., International at Laurel Nov. 11.

Houston Upset Baffles Chiefs

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Bewilderment last week at San Diego was replaced by self-doubt Sunday for Kansas City's defending American Football League champions, now on the ropes after a 24-19 upset by Houston.

"It's a crime when you play that well on defense and break down in other areas," said Hank Stram, Kansas City coach. "We just gave them 17 points."

Last week Stram talked about San Diego's awesome speed and Kansas City's own offensive mistakes, which gave the Chargers 21 points. This time poor kick coverage killed the AFL champs. In the loss at Oakland, big errors offensively and defensively hurt them.

In the jubilant Houston dressing room, coach Wally Lemm grinned and said, "I'd rather be lucky than good. We just got the early breaks and that did it for us."

When the Chiefs rallied, Norton's end zone interception helped hold them off.

Fight Postponed

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An eye injury to Jack Rodgers has forced a two-week postponement of his light-heavyweight match with Joey Giardello, which had been scheduled for tonight.

Third Gives Hulme Title

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Denis Hulme, world driving champion and New Zealand's latest example of how to beat a man at his own game, is a king in search of a mount.

Hulme won the driving title Sunday with a surprise third place in the Mexican Grand Prix. Jim Clark of Scotland won the auto race in spectacular fashion but had no hope of keeping the title out of New Zealand or Australian hands.

The quiet Kiwi is the first New Zealander to win the championship invented by Europeans but he's not sure he'll try for a repeat in 1968 in the same type car he drove this year.

Brabham had to win Sunday, and Hulme finish fifth or worse, for Brabham to win the title for the fourth time and repeat his 1966 championship.

Chris Amon, a New Zealander driving for Ferrari, appeared to be a safe second until stopped by engine trouble on the next-to-last lap of the 45-lap race. Oil gushed from his engine, the temperature shot up and Amon pushed it home.

Yanks Clobber British In Final Ryder Cup Matches

HOUSTON (AP)—It's not the muscle, the power or the tournament experience that gives American golf pros a wide edge over their British cousins—it's the touch on the greens.

Both U.S. and British players agreed on this point today as they reviewed another one-sided American victory in the biennial Ryder Cup competition.

Led by Arnold Palmer and Gardner Dickinson, each of whom figured in five winning points while losing none, the Yanks clobbered the best pros from the British Isles, 23½ to 8½.

It was the 14th team victory for the United States in the 40 years of the competition. Americans have lost only three times—always on British courses.

"It's ridiculous," said one high-placed British golf spokesman who preferred that his name not be used. "We are no match for you Yanks. We must change the format if we're to keep it interesting, maybe bring in the rest of the Commonwealth."

The British undoubtedly could give the Americans a good fight if they wanted to take in players from Australia, Canada and New Zealand.

"I am keenly disappointed we didn't make a better showing," said Dai Rees, the little Welsh nonplaying captain of the invading forces. "The matches were much closer than the over-all score.

Chargers Hold To West Lead

By MIKE RECHT, Associated Press Sports Writer

Coach Sid Gillman of San Diego doesn't worry anymore about John Hadl giving up the football, but those shapely blondes are starting to give him trouble.

It began Sunday, more unexpectedly than the Chargers' showing this year, when a gal dashed from the stands in the third quarter, grabbed up the football at the line of scrimmage and refused to give it back.

It was about the only game the surprising Chargers have lost this year as they ran their record to 5-0-1 with a 38-14 rout over Denver on Hadl's three touchdown pitches in the last half.

The victory kept them the American League's only unbeaten team and still atop the Western Division, a half-game ahead of Oakland.

ON TARGET

The Raiders easily ran their record to 5-1 behind Daryle Lamonica's four scoring passes that carried them to a 48-14 rout over Boston and set up a clash against San Diego next Sunday.

The league's defending champions, Kansas City, fell further behind when Houston upset them 24-19, while the New York Jets continued to roll along as the Eastern Division leader with a 34-14 triumph over Miami.

Hadl, troubled by interceptions during his six-year AFL career, was the man of the hour for the Chargers. He shook off two thefts on his first three tosses against the Broncos to snap a 14-14 deadlock with scoring passes of 66 yards to Dick Post, five yards to Willie Frazier and 67 yards to Lance Aworth.

SHE STARS

While Hadl was pulling out the game for San Diego, a gal who said her name was Beverly Hutchison of Colorado was the woman of the hour.

She came out of the east stands, vaulted a three-foot-high fence and swiped the football just as the Denver center moved over it. Stunned officials tried to get it back, and then ushers and police officers pleaded in vain after she returned to the stands.

Oakland, keeping it a man's game, handed Lamonica the ball and he responded by throwing one TD pass and setting up two field goals for a 20-0 halftime lead. When the Patriots closed to 20-7, he demolished them with three more payoff tosses, and then expressed dissatisfaction.

JOE CONNECTS

Joe Namath got the Jets clocking, hitting 13 of 15 passes for 188 yards and two touchdowns and a 34-0 halftime lead before sitting out the last half with a charley horse.

Emerson Boozler clung to his league-leading point total by catching one of Namath's scoring passes and running for another TD as the Jets ran their record to 4-1-1.

Frantic Finish Saves Cowboys

PITTSBURGH (AP)—It's been a season of frantic finishes for the Dallas Cowboys and the Pittsburgh Steelers, so it was only fitting that the most frantic of all be saved for their game against each other.

Not even a Hollywood script writer could have dreamed up anything wilder than the amazing last-minute heroics of substitute quarterbacks Kent Nix and Craig Morton Sunday.

The game had been a stubborn defensive battle for 57½ minutes, but in the last 2:35 Nix and Morton completed 10 of 15 passes to move their teams 209 yards.

Nix, the former Texas Christian star, took the Steelers 81 yards to score the go-ahead touchdown, 21-17, with 1:12 to play.

Then Morton marched Dallas 77 yards on three passes that took 48 seconds.

NIX NIXED

And finally Nix brought the Steelers back 41 yards before they ran out of time at the Dallas 27.

The Cowboys won 24-21 but if either of the two young quarterbacks keeps his job next week, it's more likely to be Nix, the loser, rather than Morton, the winner.

Nix completed 23 passes—a Pittsburgh record—in 45 attempts for 313 yards, Morton, alternating most of the day with Jerry Rhyme, clicked on 12 of 18 for 256 yards.

Statistics Shrink Some But Steers Rack Up Win

The Big Spring Steers lost a little statistical ground last week in the District 2-AAAA football wars, but what was much sweeter — they beat the Abilene Eagles.

The Steer margin in first down dwindled to a pair, the rushing yardage held steady at about 260 to spare, but the steers fell some 30 odd paces behind in passing. Punting continued to be a bright, bright spot with an average of 39.8 per boot. This was a good six yards over opponents, who have had to kick to the Steers 29 times.

DiMaggio Named Oakland Exec

CHICAGO (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, one of baseball's all-time greats, is back in the game as executive vice president of the new Oakland Athletics.

DiMaggio signed a two-year contract to run the club for Charles O. Finley, the insurance tycoon who last week succeeded in getting his American League franchise shifted from Kansas City to Oakland.

Finley said DiMaggio, 53-year-old native of San Francisco, will consult and advise on personnel, player transactions, community relations and promotions.

Crippling Blow

L. V. Benningfield, star back for the Rice Owls, plowed into the SMU Mustangs last Saturday, but it was a costly collision for the high-flying Owls. He strained a ligament and probably will be out for the rest of the season. This, added to other injuries, may knock the Owls out of it, although they are the Southwest Conference's only subsec team.

Veteran's Land Program Being Offered Third Time

Editor's Note — This is the second in a series of three articles on the proposed constitutional amendments on which Texans will vote Nov. 11.

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN (AP)—Texans should know the veterans' land proposal by heart. They have turned it down twice in four years, each time by less than 10,000 votes, and will look at it again Nov. 11.

The land program, started in 1946 from a custom that began centuries ago, ended Nov. 30, 1965, after its second successive defeat at the polls.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, one of its big backers, said the program had boosted Texas' economy by more than $1 billion.

But in 1963, Texans rejected by 7,877 votes an amendment to authorize the issuance of $150 million in bonds to continue the purchase of land for resale to veterans, and in 1965 defeated by 9,564 votes an amendment to authorize an additional $200 million in bonds to $200 million approved since the beginning of the program.

The 1967 legislature agreed to put the $200 million plan before the voters at a statewide election again, along with five other proposed constitutional amendments.

The veterans' land proposal will be No. 3 on the ballot. It has been the custom of the federal government since the revolutionary war to reimburse veterans of military service with land. The Texas Republic adopted the custom in 1836 and changed the system, after World War II, to a liberal credit program for the purchase of land by veterans. The Veterans Land Board was created in 1946, and a fund of $25 million in bonds was authorized to be used by the board to purchase lands to sell World War II veterans. Over the years the total was raised to $200 million and fighting men of the Korean War were made eligible.

The new proposal would make any veteran eligible who has served at least 90 continuous days on active duty between Sept. 16, 1940, and the date of the formal withdrawal of United States troops from Vietnam.

Arguments for and against the land proposal have been the same each time: Supporters say it gives the state a chance to reward servicemen, it has bolstered the state's economy, it makes a profit for the state and it does not cost the taxpayer anything. Opponents say the state should not have a loan program which, in effect, puts the government in competition with private enterprise. Also, they say, the program invites veterans to buy land they neither need nor plan to use for productive purposes.

The Texas AFL-CIO said it will not advise its members to support or oppose the proposed amendment, the only measure on which the labor organization did not suggest which way to vote.

Sadler said if the additional $200 million is authorized the state could make a $5 million a year profit.

Striking Steel Haulers Reject Compromise Bid

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Striking steel haulers in Western Pennsylvania have rejected a compromise proposal to end their walkout, now in its third month.

It was the first reported rejection of the proposal worked out by governors' representatives of seven states.

Gary, Ind., and will be released late today by William Kusley, the trucker who started the walkout.

The strikers rejected the proposal by a 462-341 margin in Pittsburgh Sunday, hooting when warned that a thumbs down vote might result in a long, hard and possibly fruitless struggle.

Strikers in Cleveland, Ohio, and Buffalo, N.Y., have accepted the pact. The National Steel Carriers Association and an independent group of trucking firms also have approved it.

The votes of strikers in all states are being tabulated at

"It is my personal opinion that it would be a wise decision to accept the recommendations and to resume work as a unified group," Daniel Berger told some 800 strikers meeting in a Roman Catholic high school.

Berger, attorney for the strikers, said, "This contract would represent a tremendous victory that no one anticipated when the strike started many weeks ago."

The strikers apparently were upset over a remark made by William J. Hart, Pennsylvania secretary of labor, and dissatisfied with a key provision—the amount of time they must wait at mills before collecting penalty payment.

Bishops Face Varied Tasks

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Roman Catholic Synod of Bishops went into its final week today with action on its most important topics still ahead.

The tasks:

- Finish debate on liturgy changes.
- Hear and pass on a committee's report on doctrine and theology, the main issue being modern trends and tradition.
- Vote on whether to propose to Pope Paul VI changes in the Church's mixed marriage rules.
- Attend a meeting of the Pope and Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras, who is scheduled to arrive for a historic, three-day Christian unity visit Thursday.
- Draft an appeal for world peace.

The proposal would give them $13.70 an hour after a four hour wait for loading or unloading. The strikers want only a two hour wait.

Berger told the strikers if they insisted that the wait-time be reduced to two hours "they (steel companies) will exert every pressure they can muster when this is placed before the Interstate Commerce Commission."

Steel companies have refused to comment on the strike.

Hart said last week that if the strikers rejected the pact they would be out "until hell freezes over."

CINCINNATI (AP)—Youngsters in suburban Madeira will march tonight to protest a loss of their rights—Halloween.

Local officials set Sunday, October 29, from 2 to 5 p.m. as the official trick or treat hours, in the interests of safety.

Richard Mosbacher, 10, leader of the protesting group, said he wants Halloween to remain at night on October 31. He thinks he has a "ghost of a chance" of winning his cause.

'Belinda' Had A Good Plot, Hoffer Show To Be Re-Run

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Whatever the ailments of Sunday night's "Johnny Belinda," ABC's remake of a 20-year-old movie and an even older play, it did not suffer from a lack of plot.

Indeed, all of its melodramatic elements would have kept any soap opera going for at least a full season, and it was pure concentrate of soap opera with which we were presented.

In two hours, less time out for commercials, we saw a little workhorse of a deaf mute, called "Dummy" by a callous father and stern aunt, learn sign language and turn into a pretty girl. Then she was raped, had a child, and shot and killed the baby's father when he tried to take the child from her. And before the big dramatic murder trial climax and happy ending, there was even time for another killing plus a tender romance.

Mia Farrow played the wistful, silent girl with the same-wide-eyed, dewy stoicism she gave to her role of Allison in "Peyton Place," and she never really said much in that series either.

"Johnny Belinda" is the first of a series of programs adapted from successful old movies produced by David Susskind and his Talent Associates.

Several seasons back Susskind was busily turning out this sort of thing and even then nothing memorable resulted. But we have come to expect better things since Susskind was responsible for some of the most exciting evenings of drama we have encountered in recent seasons.

David Carradine swaggered his way enthusiastically through the part of the bad guy who assaulted the girl, fathered the child and got his comeuppance.

But from start to finish the program seemed more an exercise in play-acting than drama involving human emotions.

CBS Eric Severeid, in mid-September, interviewed Eric Hoffer, a 65-year-old ex-longshoreman turned philosopher. Later President Johnson quoted from the interview and subsequently invited Hoffer to visit him at the White House. All of which persuaded CBS it would be a good idea to rerun the interview on Nov. 14.
