

Commission Chief Will Address Law Academy

Wallace Beasley, director of the Texas Commission of Law Enforcement Standards and Education from Austin, will be the speaker at the graduation luncheon of the Southwest Academy for Law Enforcement Officers. The current course has been held for the past six weeks at Howard County Junior College. The luncheon will be held at the Student Union at HCJC.

Prior to the luncheon the Academy advisory board which is composed of mayors, city managers and chiefs of police of the Big Spring area, will meet to evaluate the school and discuss plans for the next one.

The Texas Commission of Law Enforcement Standards and Education is a new commission appointed by Gov. John Connally to assist in setting up training centers and recommending standards for police officers. This training program in Texas will be standardized.

ELEVEN GRADS

Eleven men have completed the course. Three are from Big Spring; three, San Angelo; one, Big Lake; one, Lamesa; one, Brownfield; one, Dalhart; and one, Kermit. Big Spring patrolmen are Jerry Morris, James Cadzow and Don Thompson. M. K. Woerner, manager of statistic service department of the Texas Public Safety Commission, is conducting an all-day workshop today as part of the Academy program on records of the police department. Members of the police departments of towns in the Big Spring area participated in the workshop.

The closing session, dealing with public relations, will be conducted by Louis Berry, editor of Texas Lawman and executive secretary of the Texas Sheriff's Association.

COURSE MATERIAL

Classes have been under the direction of Texas A&M's Engineering Extension Service. Included in the subject studied have been basic laws of arrest, search and seizure, criminal law and investigation, traffic law and accident investigation, effective communication, mob and riot control, public relations, liquor laws, auto thefts, fires and juvenile problems.

Other guests instructors have been Jay Banks, Big Spring chief of police; Melvin James, San Angelo police chief; M. C. Landers, HCJC speech professor; Steve Clark, Snyder police chief; Wayne Tollett, Howard County district attorney investigator; and Fred Creech, National Auto Theft Bureau representative of Midland. Charles Wiranski and Charles Mahaney Jr. of the TEES staff have assisted with the Academy.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, today said that Joe Nunez Jr., charged with burglary, will have to take his chances before a second grand jury in January. No indictment was returned in his case when the current grand jury reported Tuesday evening.

Burns said that city police have additional information which was not available Tuesday.

This, together with evidence laid before the current jury, will be submitted to the January panel, said the district attorney.

Nunez was alleged, in the charge, with having broken a window at Blum's Jewelry store. Several hundred dollars worth of merchandise were missing. Police recovered most of the items when the suspect was taken into custody. They also confiscated a pistol.

Cosden Opens North Carolina Service Office

Cosden Oil & Chemical Company has opened an office in High Point, N. C., to provide service to furniture manufacturers in use of Cosden's polystyrene.

Paul Meek, vice president of the chemical division of Cosden, said that the office will provide technical service in raw material selecting, testing procedures, pigmenting and finishing techniques to the furniture manufacturer who has a need for high impact polystyrenes.

Harley Henry will be in charge of the new office. He spent several years in an engineering capacity in the technical development department at Cosden. His office in High Point is located at 118 Church Street.

Cosden's new high impact polymer has excited interest in the furniture making trade because of its adaptability in rotational molding. This opened up new possibilities of articles of furniture from the polymer, whereas the injection molding process previously had more or less restricted polystyrene to small items, panels, mouldings, etc.

Ordaz' Visit Is Expected To Emphasize Friendship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz' three-day official visit with President Johnson is expected to feature hands-across-the-border cordiality rather than hard bargaining on mutual problems.

Diaz Ordaz, his wife and three children were flying directly from Mexico City to nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md., today, there to board helicopters for the short hop to the White House and a formal 21-gun salute red carpet welcome.

"There are no outstanding issues for the two presidents to take up," one White House official said.

But he said Johnson and Diaz Ordaz doubtless would discuss the Alliance for Progress, economic integration, joint efforts to boost the social and economic welfare of the Rio Grande border region and, perhaps, possible construction of one or more new flood control dams along the river.

The question of new dams became more acute following last month's disastrous flooding in the Rio Grande Valley that followed the onslaught of Hurricane Beulah.

Johnson and Diaz Ordaz, long-time friends, will be seeing a good bit of each other during the next three days.

Following the official round of ceremonies and meetings here, they will fly together Saturday morning to El Paso, Tex., for a series of three public appearances commemorating the amicable settlement of the 100-year-old Chamizal border dispute. A friction point between the two countries for many decades, the dispute arose because the Rio Grande River changed course in the El Paso area and put a slice of Mexican territory inside the legal border of the United States.

While in Washington, Diaz Ordaz will have two private meetings with Johnson, will be guest of honor at a White House state dinner, will be entertained at lunches by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and, on Friday, will address a joint session of Congress.

Early Friday evening, Rusk and the Mexican foreign secretary, Antonio Carrillo Flores, will sign a document legally establishing the new boundary between El Paso and Ciudad Juarez, Mexico.

Cub Pack 100 Passes Awards

A meeting of Pack 100 sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday night was occasion for the presentation of various awards, according to Cubmaster Robert Scoggins. Opening ceremonies for the session were made by Den 3, while Den 4 presented a skit. The attendance honor was won by Dens 2 and 4. Webelos were in charge of closing ceremonies.

Lomax Clubbers Planning Party

LOMAX — The Lomax 4-H Club is sponsoring a community Halloween party at the Community Building here at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Games will be featured, and everyone is invited.

At the club meeting where plans for the party were made, Steve Fryar made a report of the county pig show. Martha Couch and David Adkins, who won a trip to Washington, D.C. last summer, told the story in slides they projected. Twelve members and seven guests were at the meeting.

DST End Brings Hour Overtime

When residents arise Sunday morning, there'll be a lot more sunshine with departure of Daylight Savings Time, but workers on industrial graveyard shifts already will have had a little glow.

They will have reaped an hour of overtime because at 2 a.m. Sunday clocks will be turned back an hour — which makes their shift a nine-hour one.

What makes this such a happy circumstance for workers is that in most instances those on the graveyard shift April 30 when Daylight Savings Time took effect picked up eight hours pay although they worked only seven.

College Posting Scholarships

St. John's College in Santa Fe, N. M., one of the newest four-year colleges in the Southwest, is embarking on a special scholarship program open to qualified students in a five state area. The board of visitors and governors of the non-denominational, liberal arts college has just approved the Southwest Scholars Program which will provide 30 new scholarships, each worth $1,500. Eight are earmarked for Texas.

Though St. John's in New Mexico is just four years old, its big-sister campus in Annapolis, Md., dates to 1696. When the college felt the necessity of enlarging, it simply doubled itself by establishing a duplicate campus 2,000 miles away rather than expanding in the East.

DA To Submit Case Again

Wayne Burns, district attorney, today said that Joe Nunez Jr., charged with burglary, will have to take his chances before a second grand jury in January. No indictment was returned in his case when the current grand jury reported Tuesday evening.

Burns said that city police have additional information which was not available Tuesday.

Intercollegiate Rodeo At Alpine

ALPINE — The 22nd annual National Intercollegiate Rodeo will be held at Sul Ross State College this weekend in conjunction with homecoming activities at the school.

Rodeo contests start today at 7 p.m. at the rodeo arena located just east of the college on Highway 90. There will also be a performance Friday at 8:30 p.m. and Saturday at 6:30 p.m.

Foundations Give Hotel Property To Fort Worth

The Sid Richard Foundation and the Amon G. Carter Foundation, owners of Hotel Texas, will turn over ownership of the hotel properties to the Fort Worth Chamber Development Corporation, subject only to a $330,000 mortgage. It was announced today by Perry R. Bass and Amon Carter Jr., representing the two foundations.

The Fort Worth Chamber Development Corporation is a non-profit enterprise organized by the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce for the development and growth of the area.

In a simultaneous announcement, Lewis H. Bond, president of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, reported that the Sheraton Corporation has agreed to lease and operate Hotel Texas under a 20-year contract.

Bond also announced a $6,200,000 expansion and complete renovation and modernization of Hotel Texas, including the construction of a 230-room annex atop the Biltmore Garage, with connecting overpass across Commerce Street to the main hotel building. This provides a major downtown hotel facility adjacent to the Tarrant County Convention Center.

The two foundations, as a further contribution, volunteered to write off approximately $1,300,000 in debts owed by the hotel to the foundations, and will pay off $1,400,000 in other debts. In turn, Fort Worth residents will seek to raise $1,700,000 to complete the financing.

Being Returned

Harold Coleman is being returned from M. D. Anderson Hospital today and will be treated further in the Shannon Hospital at San Angelo.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Coleman and Dixie wish to thank the people of Big Spring and Mr. Sunshine for being so wonderful during the trying days of the past two weeks. We know there are no better people in the world than the people of Big Spring.

YOUR CAR IS WAITING Gabe, You Sure Have Started A Big Fuss

NEW YORK (AP)—Gabriele Birnbaum, where are you? More important, who are you? The police would like to know why you left your station wagon parked on East 25th Street for a month.

And, residents of East 25th Street want to know from police why the car collected 31 summonses from meter maids and was never towed away — while other cars are towed away 10 minutes after they are illegally parked.

Gabriele Birnbaum's station wagon came to public attention after residents took the 31 summonses, tucked in every cranny by a succession of meter maids, and taped them across the front of the car.

Police headquarters explained that towaway squads don't usually infringe on parking meter territory. The Traffic Department said it was odd, because meter maids were supposed to report to police after writing three or four summonses on the same car.

And, police at the East 21st Street station said they didn't know about the car and would look into it immediately.

When they did, they found that Gabriele Birnbaum listed her address as Narrowsburg in upstate New York, but so far no one can be located there who ever heard of her.

And in Pennsylvania, where the car is registered, authorities said it was registered to a post office box number and that's all they know.

The car is in the pound, retrievable only on payment of the $25 tow fee and $155 in parking tickets.

Togetherness On Jury Is Unusual

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — A husband and wife served together on a Wichita County jury against odds of nearly 10 million to one.

Kenneth Cox, 27, of Burkburnett and his wife Shirley, 23, were selected Tuesday for a 30th Criminal District Court case before Judge Arthur Tipps.

The judge said he did not recall having a married couple on a jury before. Neither did Dist. Atty. Stanley Kirk.

Dr. John W. Meux, chairman of the mathematics department at Midwestern University here, calculated the odds at .000000092—or something less than one in 10 million, or once in about 450,000 years.

"This is based on several assumptions, of course, and is purely mathematical probabilities which ignores procedure," Meux said. "You mean they're actually letting them serve together?"

The jury wheel contains nearly 40,000 names. 20,691 men and 18,451 women. Officials pull 240 names for each of 22 jury weeks per year. The 240 names for each jury week again are submitted to a lottery for division among four courts, reducing the chances of serving together even if called for duty the same week.

A defense lawyer asked Cox, after his wife had qualified, "If your wife felt that the state had not proved its case and you did, would you stick to your convictions or are you brow beaten like me?"

Cox was accepted after answering that he would stick to his convictions.

He had been called for jury duty about three years ago but did not serve. The call is the first for his wife, who could have claimed an automatic exemption under the law since she and her husband were summoned at the same time.

No Support Found For Misconduct

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ethics committee says it finds no facts to support misconduct accusations against Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo.

The panel now plans to push forward with its efforts to develop a code of standards and conduct for senators and Senate employees.

The bipartisan committee's work on a code has twice been interrupted, first by its investigation into misconduct charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., and then by its inquiry into the affairs of Long.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., said despite the delays the committee may submit a code for Senate action before Congress adjourns this year.

The committee's report Wednesday to the Senate on its closed inquiry into Life magazine allegations against Long said it found no basis for conducting public hearings.

Long said he regarded the ethic panel's unanimous report as a complete vindication. He told the Senate his honor and integrity had been questioned for the first time in his career and the report had lifted a great burden.

The May 26 Life article said that in 1963 and 1964 Long had received $48,000 in legal fees from Morris A. Shenker, a St. Louis attorney for imprisoned Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa. The magazine suggested Long misused a Senate probe of wiretapping—which he headed—in an effort to keep Hoffa out of jail.

Hoffa has based attempts to overturn his conviction for jury tampering for the most part on grounds evidence against him was gained through illegal wiretapping.

Long never denied receiving money from Shenker. But he said it represented fee splitting in connection with legal services having nothing to do either with Hoffa or the Teamsters.

The committee said five clients were involved in the Shenker-Long payments, and added:

"From the evidence and information the committee has been able to develop, the committee has found no facts which show that either the payments to Mr. Shenker from the five clients, or the payments by Mr. Shenker to Senator Long, had any connection with Senator Long's duties or activities as chairman of the Subcommittee on Administrative Practice and Procedure, the subcommittee's hearings, or Senator Long's duties or activities as a member of the Senate."

School Committeeman Knows Of No Whippings

BOSTON (AP) — A veteran member of the Boston School Committee said he had not heard of any rattan whippings of school children as Jonathan Kozol testified to in Washington Wednesday.

Joseph Lee said that if children had been beaten as Kozol said "their parents would have complained by now, and I haven't heard of any rattan whippings or beatings."

Kozol testified about whippings of Negro children in Boston schools before a Senate labor subcommittee hearing on juvenile delinquency. Much of his prepared testimony repeated statements made in his book, "Death at an Early Age: The Destruction of the Hearts and Minds of Negro Children in the Boston Public Schools."

William H. Ohrenberger, superintendent of Boston schools, said, "Jonathan Kozol poses as an authority on education and the problem of the deprived child. He has written a book which he hopes to sell. I will not engage in any dialogue that will increase the sale of his latest piece of fiction."

Kozol was a part-time substitute teacher employed on a day-to-day basis in the 1964-65 school year. His assignment was a fourth grade in a school in a Negro section of Boston.

Before he completed a school year, however, he was dropped after a dispute with his superiors over accusations that he failed to teach the subjects required for the fourth grade.

A school spokesman at the time said Kozol spent time earmarked for specific subjects in reading poetry, such as Negro poet Langston Hughes' "The Ballad of the Landlord."

Kozol, who now is teaching a fifth grade in the suburban city of Newton, is white, but lives in the Negro section of Boston near the school where he once taught.

Four Texans Die In Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon identified four Texas servicemen as killed in action in the Vietnam War.

The Defense Department also listed two Texans killed in Vietnam not as a result of hostile action and said a Rio Grande Valley soldier had been re-listed from missing to dead.

The list:

Killed in action were Army Spec. 4 Joe Lovato Jr., son of Mrs. Rosie Baca, 411 Hubb Homes, Lubbock; Pfc. Melesso Garcia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Garcia, 1508 Hickory St., Houston; Pfc. Theodore D. Thomas Jr., son of Mrs. Alberta Thomas, 3902 Daphne, Houston and Marine Cpl. Quinton M. Bice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Quinton M. Bice, 3030 Danforth St., Texas City.

The Defense Department also issued these changes in casualty reports:

Missing to dead-hostile: Army Pfc. Arturo Garcia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilario Garcia, 793 N. Vermont, Mercedes.

Died not as a result of hostile action: Army Staff Sgt. Carl A. Ballenger, husband of Mrs. Regina Ballenger, 708 Brook Drive, Killeen.

Missing to dead—non-hostile: Navy Aviation Electrician's Mate 2.C. Charles D. Hardie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Hardie, 7508 Joplin St. Houston.

A Devotional For The Day

Satisfy us in the morning with thy steadfast love, that we may rejoice and be glad all our days. (Psalm 90:14, RSV)

PRAYER: O Father God, we thank You that You are never beyond our reach. Help us to give our lives into Your keeping while we are young, for then we shall be able to live in trust and rejoice in You all our days. In the Savior's name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Incentive Rather Than Club

The threat of withholding federal highway aid (usually 10 per cent), to compel state action unrelated to actual construction, is an intergovernmental policy tool that is not working too well.

Compliance failure by the states, for example, has moved Congress to curtail the federally guided highway beautification program, though Texas is in the forefront in complying with that in all but billboard control. Now the federally directed highway safety program is running into similar, though more complex, trouble.

The U.S. Department of Transportation has formulated a 13-point safety standards program with which states must comply by Dec. 31, 1968, or lose 10 per cent of federal highway construction aid. That would be about a $20 million yearly loss to Texas.

Gov. Connally has called the standards "arbitrary," and said that it is "politically, economically and administratively unrealistic to expect complete compliance with these standards in two years, or in four or six years." If that is overstating the problem, it is not by much.

The governor's highway safety coordinator, Terrell Blodgett, recently reported that Texas meets the federal standards by 90 per cent or better in motorcycle regulation, highway design, and vehicle registration; by 80-90 per cent in drivers license law and accident records; 70-80 per cent in vehicle inspection, and uniform traffic law code.

But this state is only about 25 per cent in compliance with federal standards for traffic courts, drivers education in schools, and intoxication testing. The state is near full compliance in traffic-control devices, but its cities are far from it — this is also the situation on the requirement for accident site identification and evaluation. And Texas is far from meeting federal prescriptions for emergency medical services or a "postcrash program."

Texas probably is well above average among the states in overall compliance with the federal standards, and it could improve that compliance somewhat in next year's special budget session of the Legislature if the governor so requests. But it is unlikely that this state can fully comply by the federal deadline.

Also, serious thought should be given to reversing the use of highway aid pressure, in such federal policies as beautification and safety, from a penalty to an incentive tool. Instead of a crude cut for anything short of full compliance, there might well be devised a system of graduated bonuses for varying degrees of compliance.

Ebb And Flow

News that the 466th Combat Crew Training Squadron will be phased out within about three months is hardly the most welcome news so far as impact of people and payroll is concerned. But the need for this particular job at this particular point seems to have been dealt a staggering blow when the foreign crew personnel — principally from the Arab states — blew with the Arab-Israeli war. In the over-all picture, the decision to terminate this particular unit was logical.

That does not mean that the Air Force will permit cob webs to pile up in the hangars and buildings on that side of Webb AFB. Indeed, some utilization will be made of the facilities. In time there likely will be some other type of program because it will make economic sense to use these facilities instead of raising others. The fortunes of war and peace, and the requirements and deployment of the military, change rapidly in this day and time. Communities which have the honor of working with the military in national defense and security adjust to these ebbs and flow.

Republicans Need A Policy

WASHINGTON — The Republican party is giving the country an impression of disunity and discord — a seeming inability to make up its mind on what ought to be done in national or international policy.

The 46 governors — Republicans and Democrats — gathered together in a week's conference could not muster the necessary votes to pass a resolution expressing an opinion about the Vietnam war because of the wide divergence of viewpoints. This is one of the most discouraging episodes in national politics.

REPORTS VARY as to what were the motivating influences in preventing any resolution from being adopted on the Vietnam question. It is apparent, however, that the Republicans could not agree among themselves, while the Democratic governors did not have enough votes to bring up a simple resolution supporting the President of the United States in the midst of a war.

are divided, and so are the Democrats. Many of the members are keeping an ear to the ground while trying to think of things to say that will please the folks back home. The prevalent theory is that at present the people like to hear their representatives denounce the war and that anybody who is demanding "peace at any price" is expressing the "popular will."

NEARLY ALL of the potential candidates for the Republican presidential nomination have discussed the Vietnam war in abstract phrases. While supporting in general the objectives of the United States in Southeast Asia, criticism has been directed either at the military strategy or the alleged failure of the State Department to press intensively for a peace conference with the enemy. All the sniping, however, doesn't go to the basic problem, which is that neither President Johnson nor Secretary Rusk nor the military chiefs have any control over the minds of the rulers in Hanoi, who have rebuffed every peace feeler.

Billy Graham

I am a victim of despondent moods, yet I am a Christian. Is this a spiritual, a mental, or a physical condition? Perhaps you can give me some advice. G.M.

Depression may be caused by a variety of things. Even Christians are not immune to mental illness, and physical disorders. Sometimes a disturbance of the metabolism can cause a loss of energy and consequent depression. More often it is a trick of a tired or sick mind. However, simple depression plagues the normal person also.

Sometimes depression can be caused by spiritual conflict. It must have been a serious depression to cause Paul to say: "O wretched man that I am; who will deliver me from the body of this death?" If depression is based on spiritual causes, the cure is to make a full surrender of the life to Christ. Some people have just enough religion to make them miserable. As Hanna Whitall Smith said: "They are like a man with a headache. He can't afford to give it up, and it hurts him to keep it." There is natural conflict between the person we know we ought to be and the person we really are. This creates feelings of futility, and subsequent depression.

In our high-gear, tension-ridden society, one out of twenty Americans spend time in a mental hospital. While I could not say that Christians never have mental problems, the Christian is "complete, and lacking in nothing." Christ can help us to become balanced personalities.

IT MIGHT WELL be asked how a small nation like North Vietnam can afford to keep up the fight after the damage which has been inflicted by the American bombing operations. The truth is that the United States is fighting not just North Vietnam but also the Russian and Red Chinese governments, which are rendering assistance, militarily and otherwise, to the Hanoi government.

UNDER THESE circumstances, one might have expected firm support from the Republicans for proposals to embargo shipments of arms or supplies by sea from any country in the world to North Vietnam. This might have been accompanied also by a demand that the United States examine its diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia and its trade with Communist nations in Eastern Europe which are openly supporting the North Vietnam cause.

THE CONDUCT of the Vietnam war unquestionably will be an issue in the 1968 campaign, but it looks now as if it will be widely misrepresented. The people who will be voting against the administration on that particular point may not have the slightest idea of how a Republican administration would deal with the same problem. For the Republicans have not given any intimation of what they would do if they came into power.

He May Not Drown

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson at this moment is like a man in a full-dress suit who suddenly walked under a cold shower. But that doesn't mean he is going to drown.

Although attired in all the trappings and power of the presidency, Johnson is being drenched in a flood of criticism and dissent about the war in Vietnam and his handling of it.

HE DID NOT pay much attention to the criticism a couple of years ago when it was just getting under way. He considered his critics in those days a very small percentage of the population. The picture has changed dramatically.

The most recent Gallup public opinion poll reports that 46 per cent of the people questioned look upon American involvement in the war as a mistake. A similar poll in August, 1965, showed only 24 per cent felt that way.

In this latest poll only 44 per cent said they did not think it was a mistake to send troops into Vietnam. Ten per cent had no opinion.

One Of Life's Ordeals

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals is to have an unforgettable face.

It is particularly a nuisance if your unforgettable face is continually being remembered by people who never saw it before.

THIS HAS BEEN my doom for some years now. I am continually being mistaken for someone else and having to apologize lamely for not being that someone else.

I am left with a vague feeling of guilt because I'm me.

Why I should remind so many people of somebody else is something I have never been able to figure out. I have a time-beaten visage of established vintage and a shape like a contented hourglass. Perhaps the explanation is that, if you've seen one middle-aged fat man with a receding hairline, you've seen them all — or think you have.

ONE OF THE THINGS about being mistaken for someone else that disturbs my vanity is the kind of character I am mistaken for.

No one says to me, "Oh, sorry, I thought you were Rock Hudson."

Or, "Well, Nelson, if you change your mind and decide to try for the White House, you can count on my vote."

Oh, no. Not me. They don't even mistake me for the prisoner of Zenda, or the guy in the iron mask. I am not even mistaken for any of the "10 most-wanted men" whose fugitive features are tacked up in the local post office.

I AM GENERALLY mistaken for the man who sold them a used car in Dubuque, the guy who hasn't been doing so well in real estate in Arizona, or that funny-looking fellow — what WAS his name? — who once sat behind them in study hall in high school in Omaha.

Now and then I get a puzzled feeling myself that I am someone I have met before.

Sometimes, when shaving in the morning, I look in the mirror and say to myself, "Excuse me, the fuzz is familiar, but aren't you the boy I used to know — or are you his father?"

Cluster Headaches

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been told that I have cluster headaches. I have not heard of them before. Would you discuss them in your column? — Mrs. L. O.

Cluster headaches are a variant of migraine, and related to histamine headache.

The term "cluster" means a group or a bunch; hence cluster headaches are likely to appear in a series, followed by a period in which the patient is free of them.

They may occur at night, waking the patient; or they may tend to occur at some particular time of day.

Onset is sudden. While they are severe, usually they are of reasonably short duration.

INSIDE-OUTSIDE

Headaches may have causes either inside or outside the head. The type (or types) we are discussing today all come under the general category of vascular headaches, related to a sudden dilation of arteries within the head. The cause of this dilation, however, varies.

The histamine form is the consequence of a sudden release of histamine in the body, chemically the same reaction which accompanies allergies. Sometimes desensitization is an answer.

When there is warning of an attack coming on, as is the case with most migraine sufferers, medications containing ergot and other drugs can, if taken promptly, stall off the headache but may not stop the headache once it has begun.

Emotional upsets are a known factor in many such headaches.

Alcohol (which dilates arteries) can precipitate attacks, and drugs such as nitroglycerin can do the same.

PESKY PROSTATE

Dear Dr. Molner: All my life I have been troubled with prostate trouble stemming from a case of gonorrhea at the age of 20. I am now 64 and still receiving treatment by massage and medication at intervals. That helps, but the backache, burning urine, and the need to get up at night continue.

My doctor says surgery eventually will be necessary. Would you comment on this? Please send your booklet, "The Pesky Prostate," for which I enclose 20 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. — C.J.M.

Chronic prostate trouble alone is enough reason to be wary of venereal disease, or to get treatment immediately if the disease is contracted. Gonorrhea can be the cause of prostate infection. At your age other types of infection can occur and become chronic. It can be difficult to subdue.

Timing of the surgery as well as its extent will have to depend on your doctor's judgment.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read your letter from the lady who could not swallow pills, and the suggestions from your readers. Nobody came up with my discovery.

Try it yourself. Put a pill on the tip of your tongue (which many people do) and try to swallow it. You will have difficulty if you succeed at all.

But put a pill on the back part of your tongue and see how quickly a swallow of liquid washes it down. — G.C.W.

Thank you very much. I'm sure it will help many.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have lumps on my wrists, neck and ankles which the doctor says are fatty tumors, but I am afraid they will become malignant. — H.M.

Fatty tumors do not become malignant. They sometimes have to be removed because of appearance.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet "The Way to Stop Constipation." For a copy, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Why A Bigger Airport

Fella asked me the other day: "You're a pilot, what do you fliers need with a bigger airport?"

PERHAPS SOME others have wondered the same thing. The answer is simple: the private pilots in Big Spring do not need a bigger airport. The one we have is more than adequate to handle the private aviation needs of the community for the foreseeable future. Indeed, there are some who say that Hamilton Field would probably be adequate for the needs of the weekend fliers here.

This helps pinpoint the real importance of the airport.

THE FIRST consideration is probably the need to maintain air transportation service here. Obviously, just as other means of transportation helped build the cities of the past and present, airports are certain to be the hub of the future. Already, more and more people are taking to the commercial airlines for trips; more are using the airways for freight and commerce.

A second consideration goes hand-in-hand with our efforts to locate industries here. Most big companies, and practically all that are looking about for sites, use airplanes for their executives. Any far-flung enterprise would depend on this method of getting about. Those who have made many such contacts tell me that one question usually asked by the industrial prospect is the availability of good airport facilities.

A THIRD and perhaps most important aspect of a modern airport concerns the Boy Scout motto: "Be Prepared." The way the world of aviation is growing today, it would be difficult to anticipate every way in which the airport can serve our future needs. In the past, an air field helped us land the bombardier base, then later Webb AFB, and finally the T-41 program at the county airport. None of these could have been envisioned when the initial airports were built. But the community was ready when the opportunity came along.

THE GREAT cities of the past were built where people had cleared a harbor and built docks; or, built wharves at some river point; or, ensured that the railway came through town; or, provided right-of-way for the major highways.

In the future, the great cities will almost certainly be those that provide an adequate place for airplanes to land. The present cities which do not, will inevitably find those same airplanes and their growth potential, flying over them.

Cruising With The Governors

WASHINGTON — I had the good fortune to be one of the survivors of the governors cruise to the Virgin Islands on the USS Independence last week, and it was truly a memorable experience. It isn't every day that a reporter has a chance to get seakick with 45 governors of the United States.

The Three Rs were on board, Rockefeller, Reagan and Romney, and all of us naturally were concerned with their presidential plans. For three days all I heard was, "It's Rocky, it's Rocky." I didn't realize until I got off that they were talking about the ship and not the governor.

GOV. GEORGE ROMNEY still seemed to be suffering from the effects of his brainwashing in Vietnam, because I asked him one morning, "Governor, how are you enjoying the cruise?" and he said, "What cruise?"

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Ronald Reagan got the most attention. When Gov. Rockefeller arrived at the pier with Happy, he was besieged by newspapermen, television cameras and radio microphones. Gov. Lester Maddox turned to a friend and said, "You see what happens when you have a million dollars?"

THE CRUISE was twice blessed because, besides Gov. Rockefeller, we also had Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller on board. Laurence Rockefeller, who owns large chunks of the Virgin Islands, was supposed to come also, but Henry Diamond, who works for him, explained, "because of the stake they have in them, Internal Revenue Service won't allow more than two Rockefeller on any one ship at the same time."

From President Johnson's point of view, there has been nothing like this cruise since the Andrea Doria.

THE MAIN PROBLEM was communications, and you were never sure when someone sent you a telegram if you would be the first person to read it. The most dramatic example of this was when Marvin Watson of the White House sent a radiogram to former Gov. Price Daniel on board the ship, suggesting how to twist Republican arms to get through a resolution supporting President Johnson in Vietnam. The radiogram was "accidentally" delivered to Gov. Reagan because his name sounds so much like Daniel.

Gov. Reagan started reading the telegram and then suddenly realized it wasn't for him. So he did the only honorable thing and had it Xeroxed and distributed to the press.

THE DEMOCRATS were rather embittered by this and accused Reagan of violating the law as well as reading somebody else's mail. This upset the governor from California no end because he felt he had made a real effort to return the cable to its rightful owner. Besides, by Xeroxing it, he was insuring there would be a copy available for Daniel, in case the wire got lost again.

To safeguard future communications between the White House and the Independence, Watson had to swim out to the ship every day and deliver them by hand. Fortunately for the country, Marv is a very good swimmer.

DESPITE THE instructions, the President didn't get as much support from the governors as he hoped. Every time the Democratic governors would propose a resolution supporting President Johnson, the Republican governors would hold a lifeboat drill. Except, of course, for Gov. Reagan, who had moved his deck chair up into the radio shack.

Where We Can Reign—Not Rule

EN ROUTE — In London, the four-star admiral who commands the mighty Sixth Fleet invited me to be at Istanbul when the ships pulled in. But a fortnight later when the cruiser, Little Rock, and the destroyer, Wood, approached the landing area at this port of a NATO ally, a demonstration of 300 students barred the way.

IN BEIRUT, American officials acknowledge that a broadcast by Radio Egypt, roaring Nasser's name, can turn 35 per cent of the populace into an anti-American mob. During the Six-Day War last June, the U.S. Embassy was stoned and besieged. Had not the ceasefire come quickly, and the Lebanese Army brought back to the city, it could have been a very ugly situation.

In Amman, the Jordanian officials, to a man, expressed dismay that the supposedly decisive influence of the U.S.A. did not immediately force the Israeli invaders back to their own borders.

EVERYWHERE, there was disapproval of the American role in Vietnam, and disbelief that the conflict could not be ended by negotiation.

To the homing journalist, these examples called up melancholy reflections on the limitations of American power. The craft of demagoguery has grown so cunning that an armada of warships cannot prevail. Sheer size has become a handicap. A large nation like ours cannot employ force, whereas a small nation like Israel can do so — and the Arab nations can do so, too, provided they learn how to win.

THE HOMEWARD bound traveler asks himself: Is this the twilight of the American colossus? The wealth and might which conquered on three continents in World War II, and then turned to kindness and generosity, no longer produce the old potency. We should be able to rule, but we can't. The next question comes: Can we reign?

TO REIGN is to put power to a different use. To reign is to command by benevolence, and yet with authority, in a climate where the leadership is accepted, desired, almost unnoticed. A much more optimistic outlook is granted the observer who views the American position from this angle. For it's a fact, we may not rule, but we certainly reign. If there were nothing else to prove it, there is the prevalence of the English language. It is the universal tongue of the commercial airways.

IN ALL THE universities, under all the fellowship plans, it is English that the students learn so that they can read the oncoming books of science. There is not a capital city in the free world which doesn't have an English-language daily newspaper.

When a country gives its language to so much of the world — as the Romans once did north of the Mediterranean, and the Arabs did south of that sea — a leadership role is self-evident. Also, despite the hardness of feudalism and the in-boring ways of socialism, it is possible to see throughout the Middle East a persistent evolutionary tendency toward free enterprise.

WHEN THE ONE country — the U.S.A. — where private enterprise still remains almost an economic religion, begins to spread the faith, something similar to the ancient spread of Islam and Christianity is taking place. American reigns in this fiscal field, as in the language field, by an acknowledged superiority which does not have to be enforced.

There are, when you start to count, as many reasons to find America in the ascendance rather than otherwise. The big stick and the big brag are obsolete weapons, and cannot be used to rule the world.

But there are these many subtle evidences of an American reign and they could be the better way.

Ken Gregory Grinds Out Yardage For Coahomans

COAHOMA — Fullback Ken Gregory of the Coahoma Bulldogs has averaged 5.76 yards each time he has carried the ball this fall.

The Bulldogs, who catch rugged Jal N.M., in their homecoming game here Saturday night, has outgained the opposition on the ground in seven games, 1634 yards to 1169 but has been outgained in the air, 375 to 156.

Coach Bernie Hagins does not believe strongly in putting the ball in the air.

The Bulldogs have thrown only 36 times, eight of which they have completed. The opposition

Jack Roden Now Student Coach

COLLEGE STATION — Jack R. Roden is getting a head start on his coaching and teaching career.

The Texas A&M University physical education major is student coaching in a Bryan junior high school program.

Three junior highs formed an intra-city football league with seventh and eighth grade boys as participants.

Roden, a senior physical education major, is assisting regular staff coaches at Neal Junior High. He is a graduate of Big Spring High School.

The pair proceeded to put on a rousing 10-round fight that ended in a draw after both had hit the canvas in separate rounds, and Saturday afternoon they'll go at it again in a rematch at 12 rounds.

How GOP Leaders See It

GOLDWATER: "I Was Right"

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Barry Goldwater said Wednesday he suspects that since last March Lyndon B. Johnson "in his heart knew I was right" on the issue of escalating the military effort in Vietnam.

The issue was a major one during the 1964 presidential election, in which the former Arizona senator lost by a landslide to Johnson.

Goldwater told a college audience he sees evidence Johnson has given the military chiefs of staff more leeway in charting the course of the war, something he urged during his campaign as the Republican nominee for President.

He plans to run for the Senate again, he said, but firmly pushed

REAGAN: "Aligned To Victory"

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The Republican party must offer a candidate "aligned to victory" in Vietnam if it expects to elect a president in 1968, says California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"I cannot believe the Republican party will go along with those who believe we should put our tail between our legs and run for home," Reagan told a news conference Wednesday before addressing a $100-a-plate Iowa GOP dinner.

Reagan was scheduled to fly to Manhattan, Kan., today on the second leg of a six-city speaking tour to raise money for the party's state treasuries.

"I'm one who believes escalation of the war should have taken place earlier," he said, adding that if the U.S. had not exempted 94 key military targets from air attack peace negotiations might have begun long ago.

Reagan said the Republican party would offer no alternative to winning the Vietnam war. "We should be there. We have a commitment. My disagreement is with stretching it out."

A formal declaration of war with North Vietnam "is worth considering," Reagan said, to permit anti-Vietnam demonstrators to be treated under the law as traitors giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

ROMNEY: "Best Candidates"

STURGIS, S.D. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney said Wednesday night the Republicans cannot win the presidency in 1968 "just because the opposition has lost favor with the people. We have to put forth our best candidates."

Romney leaves today for a speaking engagement in Phoenix, Ariz., on an eight-day tour of 19 states.

Romney told a GOP gathering that the recent Gallup poll showed only 27 per cent of the voters identified themselves as Republicans and added: "Even if every Republican supports

NIXON: "Greater Risk"

LACONIA, N.H. (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says if Russia and Communist China "succeed in Vietnam, they will try it again and the risk the next time will be infinitely greater."

There is a need to strengthen non-Communist nations "so Communist China will see it is not in their interest to expand, not in their interest to export revolutions," Nixon added here Wednesday night.

He said that his talk to more than 800 persons jammed in a motel dining room for the annual Greater Laconia-Weirs Beach Chamber of Commerce meeting was "nonpolitical."

Nixon said the war in Vietnam is being fought "for a more peaceful world...to win the peace in the Pacific." He added that it must be recognized that the reason the "world has not had a major war" in more than 20 years is that America has gained an overwhelming military superiority.

He said the United States "holds the key to peace and freedom" for the remainder of this century and expressed confidence that Americans will have the courage and vision to

Civil Service Announces Exam

The Interagency board of U.S. Civil service examiners, San Antonio, Tex., has announced an examination for agricultural statistician (trainee) paying $4269 and $4776 a year for employment with the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas, and Otero and Dona Ana counties, N. M. Information may be obtained from the examiners for South-Central Texas, Information Center, 615 E. Houston St., (P.O. Drawer 2709), San Antonio, Tex., 78206.

Only Bragging In Taking Credit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger of Los Angeles says Communist or extremist groups that take credit for recent city riots "are only bragging."

"All of the recent riots have started accidentally, triggered by some explainable incident," Younger told the House Committee on Un-American Activities Wednesday, adding it would be a mistake to assume Communists instigated the 1965 Watts riots just because they passed out pamphlets there.

"It would be a nice thing if we could blame all the riots on the Communists, or the Black Panthers, and go out and round them up, but it's just not that easy," he testified.

The committee's hearings on the role of subversive groups in planning, instigating or taking advantage of city rioting, looting and burning resume today and are expected to continue two days a week for the next three weeks.

Younger said rumors spreading from incidents, which have usually involved a confrontation between Negro civilians and white police have proved more inflammatory than the actual incidents.

The two key ways to prevent riots, he suggested, are to insist that laws be obeyed and to "free the slaves."

"We have been afraid to let the Negro come all the way up," he said, adding: "Let's spend money on true job skill training and placement and on projects like Head Start and compensatory education programs that help speed the day when the Negro has equal educational opportunities" instead of merely handing money to Negroes.

Both Younger and Clarence Mitchell, Washington director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, criticized newspapers and television stations on grounds of overplaying comments of some extremists and failing to check

Shah Crowns Empress

The Shah of Iran places a crown on the head of his wife, Empress Farah, during coronation ceremonies in Tehran. She is the 48-year-old Shah's third wife, 20 years his junior, and the first woman ever crowned in Iran's 2,513 years as a monarchy. Earlier, the Shah had set a jeweled crown on his head and named himself King of Kings and Light of the Aryans.

Bombed With Roses For Shah's Coronation

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Guns and drums boomed and planes bombed Tehran with roses today as the Shah of Iran set a jeweled crown on his head and named himself King of Kings and Light of the Aryans.

It was the longest delayed coronation in history. Mohammed Reza Pahlavi had ruled for 26 years but delayed his coronation until his 48th birthday, after his campaign to modernize Iran was firmly established and after he had an heir.

The Shah crowned himself, then rose from the fabled Peacock Throne and placed a crown on the head of his kneeling third wife, Empress Farah, 20 years his junior. She was the first woman ever crowned in Iran's 2,513 years as a monarchy.

Calls to prayer echoed from minarets through the land and crowds dropped to their knees shouting "Javid Shah!" (Long Live the Shah!). The coronation was broadcast and televised from the glittering Golestan Palace opposite Tehran's old bazaar.

Iran, which has been transformed into the fastest developing and most stable nation in the Middle East by the Shah's revolution, erupted in a fervor of celebrations.

By donning the Pahlavi crown with its 3,755 jewels and the pearl-embroidered coronation cape, the son of a semilitarist Cossack officer named himself heir to Cyrus the Great, the Persian emperor who ruled the civilized world 25 centuries ago before the Roman Empire was born.

The Pahlavi dynasty dates back only to 1926, when the Shah's father—an officer in the Persian army, led a military coup, seized the throne and crowned himself Reza Shah the Great.

Reza Shah's son came to power in 1941 when British and Russian troops occupied the country and deposed the father for al-system of landholding and poured much of its oil wealth back into modernization of the country.

Ward, right, assistant volunteer coordinator, and making the presentation were Mrs. S. J. Payne, Mrs. Frank Perry and Mrs. C. W. Utley, all members of the chapter's welfare committee. Alpha Chi is joined by other ESA chapters in the district in giving support to the hospital.

District B&PW Officer Guest Of Local Chapter

The Big Spring Business and Professional Womens Club met for dinner at Coker's Restaurant Tuesday evening with Mrs. W. H. Ward Jr., presiding, Mrs. J. O. Hagood gave the invocation.

The program was arranged by the National Business Womens Week committee, with Mrs. Willard Sullivan, chairman.

Others were Mrs. Ruby Billings, Mrs. B. N. Ralph, Mrs. J. O. Hagood and Mrs. Ivahlou Ashley.

Theme of the dinner and decorations centered around United Nations Day, and in observance of the 22nd birthday, Oct. 24, of the United Nations, Mrs. Ashley gave a brief talk on the purpose, history and structure of the organization.

A total of $165 from the garage sale Friday and Saturday was reported by Mrs. Garland Morrison, finance chairman.

Special guest was Mrs. James Cannon, Pecos, District Eight Director, who spoke on "Effective B&PW Membership," urging members to support B&PW programs from local to national levels. Mrs. Cannon also announced that Mrs. Beth Scott of Garland was selected as "Mrs. B&PW Woman of the Year" from among 15 representatives in Texas. The special recognition and award was made at B&PW Day in Dallas during the State Fair.

Other guests were Miss Jane Ross of Pecos, past district director; Miss Jane Hardy, and Mrs. Winnie Denton.

Poem Read By Mrs. Eula Pond

Mrs. Eula Pond read a poem, "Before It Is Too Late," by her brother-in-law, Everett Ellsworth Pond, at the Tuesday meeting of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 at the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. A. F. Hill presided and announced that coffee and cake were served Monday at the Veterans Administration Hospital. A. F. Gilliland, team captain, announced that all members of the degree staff will meet Tuesday for initiation practice.

A Halloween party was held following the business session. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mary E. Brown, Mrs. Rubye Simpson, Mrs. A. N. Standard and Mrs. B. A. Bunn.

Homemakers Hold Class Luncheon

Officers of the Homemaker's Class of the First Christian Church hosted a luncheon for members Tuesday at the church. Mrs. Dal Keith presided and introduced the guests, Mrs. Florence Halam, the Rev. and Mrs. John Beard and Mrs. Nettie Curtis. Mrs. Beard led the opening prayer, and cards were mailed to sick members. Thirteen attended.

LGA BENEFIT BRIDGE SET

A bridge benefit will be sponsored by the Ladies Golf Association at Big Spring Country Club on Nov. 2. The event is open to the public, and the fee will be $1 per person. Players must form their own foursomes and reserve tables by Nov. 1. Play will begin at 1:30 p.m.

A LOVELIER YOU

How Do Your Hands Look In Close-Ups?

By MARY SUE MILLER
Those beautiful hands one sees in advertisements belong to a mere handful of models. Few models are blessed with photogenic hands.

To withstand a close-up a hand really must be flawless. The camera's eye catches the slightest imperfection.

It's fortunate that the human eye is less demanding. In its view, hands appear attractive if only they are groomed and graceful. Still many a lovely face that her hands are saddled with some insurmountable problem. One of the most annoying seems to be short, squat nails and fingers.

Although the trouble is in-born, improvement is not impossible. These are the measures to take:

1. Keep the nails one-eighth to one-quarter inch beyond the fingertips in length. File them in generous ovals, never in points.
2. Keep the cuticles soft with oil and in place with an orange-wood stick, otherwise cuticle will overlap the matrix and this appears to foreshorten the nails.
3. Use opaque polish in a pastel shade. To apply, cover the entire nail except for a tiny margin down either side.
4. Avoid massive rings and bracelets. Dinky pieces, too. Scaled in the middle range, Jewelry furthers the trimming effect of the other measures. And it's considerable!

LOVELIER HANDS
Do you have a hand problem? Send today for "Lovelier Hands," a booklet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

WSCS Sets Area Meet In Ackerly

Mrs. Earl Stewart and Mrs. Robert Hill were named to the nominating committee at the Tuesday executive meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service at the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. H. C. Ernsting presided and announced the Signal Mount Sub-District meeting will be held Nov. 9 in Ackerly. The Rev. Leo K. Gee will be guest speaker, and a covered dish luncheon will be served.

The WSCS will serve at the state hospital Nov. 3 and at the Westside Recreation Center Nov. 17.

There are 86 college students from the local church, and literature will be mailed to them by the WSCS.

World Day of Prayer was held, with Mrs. R. S. Boyd and Mrs. R. E. Moren discussing mission work at the McDonald Methodist Center in Houma, La., and the Spofford Children's Home in Kansas City, Kan.

Others on the program were Mrs. Gary Sims, Mrs. Spike Dykes, Mrs. Verdell Turner, Mrs. Bob Dunson and Mrs. Jerry Hewett.

Approximately 30 attended.

Air Views On Vietnam

Mrs. Lee Rogers conducted table topics on the theme of "Vietnam" at the Tuesday meeting of the Tall Talkers Toastmistress Club at the Officer's Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base. Each member gave her views on the subject.

Mrs. Richard Shaver served as toastmistress and introduced Mrs. Larson Lloyd who spoke on "What's New, Svetlana?" Mrs. Lowell Grabau gave the ice-breaker speech, "If I Were A Bell," or a short talk on her life.

Mrs. M. A. Porter presided and introduced two guests, Mrs. Robert Shaffer and Mrs. Frank D. Wilkins. She also announced that anyone interested in becoming a member of the club may contact her at 263-4292.

Club Learns To Preserve Flowers

Mrs. W. D. Caldwell spoke on horticulture at the Tuesday meeting of the Rosebud Garden Club in the home of Mrs. Joe Myers, Knott Route.

Mrs. Caldwell, a new member, told the group how to gather roses at the height of their beauty and store them for later display. She stressed that the rose stems should be wrapped securely in waxed paper, and then the flower and stem should be placed on a bed of shredded newspaper and put in the refrigerator. By using this method, the flowers will remain fresh for 10 days.

Mrs. Walter Ross served as cohostess, and assisted the hostess in displaying feather arrangements and other handcrafts. Mrs. Don Malone was introduced as a guest by Mrs. Odell Womack. Mrs. Joe Hilland was presented as a new member.

Mrs. J. Wilkins Hosts Newcomers

Five tables were in play at the Wednesday meeting of the Newcomers Club in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room with Mrs. James Wilkins serving as hostess.

Winners were Mrs. Ray Daniel, Mrs. Robert Tinley and Mrs. Noel Shelton. New members were Mrs. N. J. McKinney, Mrs. Whitney Brandon and Mrs. Billy Ingram.

Mrs. Tinley asked for volunteers to assist with the Halloween party to be held Monday at the state hospital.

Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be Campbell's Bridge night at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 4, at the First Federal Community Room.

P-TA Slate Named At Moss School

The Moss Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association elected Mrs. Donald Judd president at the Tuesday meeting.

Other officers named were Mrs. Reg Hyer, vice president; Mrs. Eugene Clanton, secretary; Mrs. Joe Horton, treasurer; and Mrs. B. L. Porter, reporter.

Awards for the Halloween posters were presented. Winners were Marty Terry, first grade; Tony Lane, second grade; Phyllis Hart, third grade; Mark Grissom, fourth grade; Linda Little, fifth grade; and Amy Holloway, sixth grade.

Halloween carnival tickets were presented to the winners. The carnival will be held from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Oct. 30, at the school. Games will be played, and a chili supper will be served. Super tickets are 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children.

Head Start Speaker Cites Need

The Head Start program was discussed by Keith Swin, director of special programs for local schools, during the Tuesday social meeting of the NCO Wives Club at Webb Air Force Base. Swin asked for volunteer workers, and Mrs. James Wiggins was named to report on this possibility at the next business session, Nov. 14.

The second speaker was T. Sgt. Edward C. Burke on the Food Inspection and Veterinarian Service who informed members on the various services of the department on base.

The final speaker was Jesse Crane who demonstrated the making of papier mache items.

Scheduled events include a game night Wednesday at the NCO Open Mess and a Halloween costume dance and floor show Friday evening. The Country Squires will play for dance at 9 p.m., and the show will begin at 10 p.m. Costume prizes will be awarded in three categories.

On Nov. 9 the executive board will meet to plan holiday events, and on Nov. 18, a humorous fashion show is to be the highlight of a "Hippie and Mod" party.

The hostesses, Mrs. Robert Foster and Mrs. William E. Nelson, used the Halloween theme in decorating the refreshment table, and guests were Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Joseph Serwatka and Mrs. Delores Tightman.

Airport Proposal Is Linked To Transportation Future

Transportation always has been a vital component of progress, and in the future air transportation will become increasingly important.

This is the basis, Dr. M. W. Talbot told Downtown Lions at their meeting Wednesday at the Settles, on which a double election is being sought before the end of the year. One issue for which voters are petitioning a referendum is approval of a Howard County Airport Authority; another is approval of $750,000 bonds, only about half of which would be issued immediately for Phase I of an expansion project.

The Airport Authority route appears by far the most economical and best way to accomplish this, Dr. Talbot felt. For Howard County to issue bonds for airport development would mean raising the assessed valuation base substantially. This would have the effect not only of increasing taxes to the county, but also to Howard County Junior College and the State of Texas, both of whom operate from the same tax base. On the other hand, an Authority taxing on the regular county base would levy only for its needs without affecting other agencies.

Dr. Talbot made it plain that he anticipated there would be some increase in tax costs, probably on the order of $3.50 per year for a person with a home valued at $10,000. This, he believed, would be justified by the immediate and long range benefits to the county.

Bonds, he said, would finance the county's share of a $620,000 Phase I project (in cooperation with Federal Aviation Agency) for lengthening and doubling the width of the main runway, erecting and relocating a new terminal building. Ultimately, the Authority would seek to lengthen and widen the east-west runway in Phase II.

Present north-south runway length is too short for Trans-Texas turbo jet operations at full load or hot weather, he said. This has resulted in numerous fly-overs on scheduled stops. In spite of this, passenger traffic has more than tripled since the county airport opened, he said. Hopes of holding maximum passenger schedules, and in accommodating increasing industrial and possible freight traffic lies in having adequate landing facilities, Dr. Talbot ventured. He also explained mechanics of operation of the proposed Authority. Assisting in the presentation was R. W. Whipple. Both had petitions available for Lions to sign.

Only One Cast By Absentee

Voting enthusiasm, as reflected by demand for absentee votes for the Nov. 11 election on six amendments to the state constitution, is anything but high. Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk, said that one lone absentee vote has been cast so far. The voting period for absentee balloting began Monday and will end three days before the Nov. 11 election.

FATHER OF MRS. ROWE Denton To Honor A Top Citizen, E. J. Headlee

A man who has served his community in an outstanding capacity for a half-century is being honored Sunday by fellow-townsmen.

He is E. J. Headlee, now 57, who has resided in Denton since 1917. He has been in various businesses there, and served in many fields of civic and public endeavor. He has been president of the Denton Chamber of Commerce, an outstanding leader in the Methodist Church, and in various Masonic activities, including Shrine and Knights Templar.

One of Headlee's distinctions is that he has been for many years editor of a unique publication called "Denton Doings." This started in 1935 as a carbon-copy family newsletter, then branched into a sort of informal report on what was going on around town, and what was happening to various Denton residents and ex-residents. It recently has reached a circulation of 3,000 copies of a 12-page publication, and is eagerly read by all those who have connections with the North Texas community.

E. J. HEADLEE

One of those who will be present Sunday to enjoy the Denton homecoming and to pay honors for a top man of the community will be Mrs. C. L. Rowe of Big Spring, the eldest of five Headlee children.

COOKING FOR FUN?
Have an apple-snappy Halloween

When Witches Ride The Skies, Try Goblin Fare

When days darken early, leaves begin to turn into multi-hued splashes of color, and witches fly across the sky, it's time for mothers to plan goblin-good hobgoblin fare. Today's recipes feature the wonderful red delicious apples in our markets — and the little, crispy Jonathans too — arriving from Washington's famous orchards.

Truly a "must" at Halloween parties, the broad-shouldered red delicious variety is perfect for fresh eating, crisp salads, snacks, and beautiful "Trick-or-Treating." The Jonathans, full of tart flavor, make excellent sauce, pies and desserts.

We've combined two favorites of the young set — this pleasurable fresh apple flavor and gingersnaps — for three delightful Halloween recipes. Ours are Snappy Ginger-Apple Pies are individual goodies boasting whipped cream faces on the cookies — all atop an orange-colored gelatin applesauce base.

The Ginger-Crust Apples is a so-simple baked dessert with a crumbly gingersnap topping. Try this one with ice cream — it's delightful. The Applesauce Fluff may be prepared far ahead of party time, spooned into Halloween patterned paper cups, served to your hungry goblins with great ease.

GINGER CRUST APPLES
6 apples, cored, peeled and sliced

1/2 cup orange juice
1 cup gingersnap crumbs
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup sugar
Place sliced apples in bottom of greased casserole. Pour orange juice over. Combine cookie crumbs with butter and sugar. Sprinkle over apples. Bake at 350 degrees 20 to 30 minutes, depending on thickness of apple slices. Serve warm or cold. May be served with whipped cream or ice cream.

APPLESAUCE FLUFF
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 qt. hot applesauce
12 marshmallows
16 gingersnaps, crushed

Soften gelatin in cold water. Stir marshmallows in hot applesauce until melted. Add gelatin to applesauce and whip at high speed until light and fluffy. Spoon into sherbet glasses or paper cups and top with gingersnap crumbs. Chill. Makes about 10 servings.

SNAPPY GINGER-APPLE PIES

GINGERSNAP CRUST:
1 1/2 cups gingersnap crumbs
6 tbsps. melted butter
1/4 cup sugar
Thoroughly mix ingredients and press firmly into bottom and on sides of six shallow four inch individual foil tart pans to form a crust. Bake five to eight minutes in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees). Cool.
FILLING:
1 8-oz. package orange

flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold applesauce
2 tsp. grated orange peel
Whole gingersnaps
Sweetened whipped cream
1 apple

Dissolve gelatin in the boiling water; cool until syrupy. Fold in applesauce and orange peel; blend well. Spoon into gingersnap crust and return to refrigerator. When set, decorate with whole cookies or pieces of cookies and whipped cream to form "faces"; set on an unpeeled apple ring (dipped in lemon'd water).

BASIC APPLESAUCE

1/4 cup boiling water
Few grains salt
4 cups prepared apples
1/2 to 1 cup sugar (for diabetics or diabetes, sugar may be omitted and saccharine, or a sugar substitute, may be added)

1 tsp. lemon juice
1/4 tsp. grated lemon rind
1/4 tsp. grated cinnamon
1/4 tsp. cloves or nutmeg
Wash, core and cut apples into eighths. Peeling them is unnecessary, but if you leave the skins on, the cooked sauce should be put through a strainer or food mill. Simmer apple slices, covered, in salted water until cooked through but not mushy. Stir in the sugar, lemon juice and grated rind, and your selection of spice or spices. May be served warm or cold, with or without cream.

'Spooked' Halloween Pumpkin

Are you "spooked" on a menu topic for Halloween?

If it's the dessert that has you hexed, forget it! Nothing could be better — or more appropriate — than pumpkin pie.

Remember, though, that the traditional jack-o'-lantern and tempting pumpkin pie shouldn't come from the same pumpkin. Usually the meat of the size pumpkin you prefer for carving is too stringy and tough for a tasty pie filling. You'll want the "pie" pumpkins for eating.

Biggest members of the pumpkin varieties grow to over 18 inches in diameter and weigh 60 to 75 pounds at maturity. They have an orange-salmon skin with thick flesh of bright yellow color. What jack-o'-lanterns they make!

What do you look for when buying pumpkins? These members of the squash family should be heavy for their size and free of blemishes. The rind should be hard. Bruised or otherwise injured pumpkins should be examined for evidence of decay that may have penetrated the flesh.

Pumpkin can also be used in your menus just as squash. Try it with a fresh pork roast. Boil pieces the size of apple halves in a little water as possible until tender. Then cook with the roast during the last 15 minutes it's in the oven.

The pilgrims, following the custom of the Indians, made a pumpkin cornbread. Use your favorite cornbread recipe, adding bits of boiled pumpkin.

You should have no problem finding just the right jack-o'-lantern and "pie" pumpkin this year. Market news offices of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service have been reporting arrivals at southwest markets for the past several weeks.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

When you are rolling out rich cookie dough, you may find it helpful to turn over the dough frequently during the rolling-out process. And be sure to use a pastry cloth and stocknet-covered rolling pin that have had flour rubbed into them.

Ever hear of a Prairie Oyster? It's a whole egg dropped into a small glass and seasoned with salt, pepper and a suspicion of vinegar.

Company fish dinner coming up? Garnish the fish with slices of lemon cut in half and dipped in minced parsley.

Ever add a touch of tarragon to ready-prepared chicken a la king?

Clear tea is delicious when served with a clove-stick orange slice. Two whole cloves for each orange slice will be plenty.

Some cooks forget about serving old-fashioned dried beef in cream sauce. You'll find this is a fine combination to offer for brunch.

Tomatoes that are to be broiled are easiest to handle if they are cut into halves rather than slices.

For a delightful sauce to serve over sponge or angel food cake, mix sieved defrosted frozen raspberries with softened vanilla ice cream.

If you are trying an old-fashioned cake recipe that calls for adding "grated unsweetened chocolate" to a cake batter, be sure to grate the chocolate coarsely so it will remain in small flecks. If you grate the chocolate fine, it is likely to melt and amalgamate completely with the batter.

When an old-time recipe calls for "a wine glass" of liquid, you are usually safe in adding one-quarter cup.

Mix mashed avocado with creamstyle cottage cheese and spread for crackers or celery a piece of string.

Braise pork chops with sliced onion; make a delicious last-minute addition to the skillet by adding dried fruit — prunes, apricots or raisins. Plump the fruit overnight in water or wine before using.

A deep straight-sided casserole is most suitable for serving paella — that wonderful Spanish dish of rice, chicken and seafood plus green peas and pimiento. If you have a large soufflé dish, you'll find it is perfect for the paella.

Cooked rice and diced pineapple are an interesting addition to chicken salad.

Party Fare

For Halloween trick-or-treaters, make and serve perky cats made with pears and candy-store trimmings.

For Halloween Small-Fry Serve Tricky Treats

Halloween calls for party food refreshers that are fun for youngsters to look at as well as to eat.

For a simple dessert, after sandwiches and milk, small fry may enjoy Halloween Cats. Canned Bartlett pears make the cat faces with candy-store garnishings added as the features.

HALLOWEEN CATS

1 can (1 lb., 13 ounces) Bartlett pear halves
Gumdrops
Licorice sticks
Black jelly beans
Milk chocolate bar
Caramel popcorn
Drain pear halves; using paper toweling, blot the pears to remove some of their moisture.

Slice gumdrops and cut into triangle shapes.

Cut licorice sticks into thin strands.

Make a cat's face on the rounded side of each pear half by using short pieces of toothpick to add the black jelly beans for the eyes and the gumdrop triangles for the nose. Fasten licorice strands under the gumdrop pieces for the whiskers.

Place each decorated pear half on a mound of caramel popcorn.

Break chocolate bar at markings and cut each piece in half to make two triangles; place two triangles at stem end of each pear half for the cat's ears.

Makes six to eight servings.

OTHER TRICKY TREATS

BLACK CAT CAKES:

Tint confectioners' sugar frosting with yellow and red food coloring to make it a pretty orange color. Use the frosting to cover squares of cake. Put a round thin chocolate mint patty in the center of each cake square for the body of the black cat. Melt semi-sweet chocolate over hot water and with a toothpick dipped in the chocolate, draw a head, ears and tail for each cat.

GOBLIN SANDWICHES:

Heat canned brown bread and slice. On half the slices make cutouts to resemble pumpkin face features. If you have tiny canape cutters, you can use the oval shape for the eyes, triangle shape for the nose and crescent shape for the mouth. Spread softened cream cheese over the plain slices of brown bread and top with the cutout slices so the cream cheese shows through.

HALLOWEEN GINGER-SNAPS:

Cut ginger cookie dough (the kind used for gingerbread men) into large rounds and place these on cookie sheets. Add small gumdrops to resemble the pumpkin face, pressing the gumdrops into the cookie dough; bake.

JACK-O-LANTERN ORANGES:

Insert whole cloves in the side of small oranges to resemble jack-o'-lantern features — one clove for each eye and the nose, and a row of cloves for the mouth. Nice to use as favors at a small fry Halloween party.

Try New Black And Gold Punch

Here's a recipe idea for the perfect punch for a Halloween party — Black and Gold Punch.

Even the name sounds intriguing. Prune juice and orange juice, sparkled with ginger ale, are the big three ingredients in this delicious drink.

You'll need: one quart prune juice, two 12-ounce cans orange juice concentrate, thawed but not diluted, two large bottles (one pint, 12 ounces each) chilled ginger ale and eight orange slices.

Pour prune juice into refrigerator trays and freeze about 1 1/2 hours or until mushy. Combine orange juice and ginger ale. Divide prune juice evenly between 8 glasses. Add orange juice mixture to fill glasses. Garnish with orange slices. Your guests will be talking about this punch long after the party is over.

Double-Duty Food For Family Treat

Fine as a treat for the family or for noontime guests:

OYSTER AND CRAB SOUP
1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed oyster stew soup, thawed

Milk
1 can (7 1/2 ounces) king crab with tendons removed, drained

Paprika
Turn the soup into the electric blender; fill soup can with milk and add; blend to puree. Turn into a saucepan; bring to a boil. Add the crab, cutting large sections into smaller pieces; reheat but do not boil. Ladle into soup bowls; sprinkle lightly with paprika. Serve at once. Makes four servings.

Cheese Pizza Pop Corn

Teenagers love any occasion for a party, so on Halloween let the gang gather at your house for a new corn-popping and record session.

Treat Teens With A Halloween Corn-Pop

Teenagers are sports lovers, music lovers, fun lovers — and pop corn lovers. You can combine all of these teenage pleasures in one wonderful fun-filled "after-the-game" or Halloween pop corn party.

There are so many festive ways to use pop corn for parties — from gaily decorated pop corn balls to just plain heaping bowls of hot buttered popped corn.

quick - cheese - pop corn and use as a topping, as illustrated, for any flavor of pizza.

CHEESE POP CORN

To each two quarts of freshly popped corn (it should be hot) drizzle 1/4 cup of melted butter or margarine. Salt to taste. Mix well. Sprinkle 3/4 cup of grated cheddar or parmesan cheese over the pop corn and mix.

Sprinkle the cheese pop corn over the hot pizza and press into the top of the pizza, just before serving. And to add to the warm, jolly atmosphere, serve with mugs of hot apple cider, . . . and extra bowls of hot-battered pop corn.

Discouraging Alcoholics

—By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

More than ever before, the problem of alcoholism has been the subject of great research effort recently. Some promising approaches to this disease have been uncovered.

One of the more interesting developments has come from the work of a Japanese doctor. His basic idea is to make it extremely unappetizing for an alcoholic to drink. This is accomplished by giving the patient a drug called calcium cyanamide. Calcium cyanamide is a very innocent-looking material; it's odorless and tasteless, and it comes in little needle-shaped crystals that can be taken by mouth. For the alcoholic, however, the results are anything but simple — in fact, they are spectacular.

If an alcoholic has taken a proper dose of the drug, he will react as though he's allergic to alcohol anytime he takes a drink. He will develop a very intense flush, his pulse will become very rapid, he will begin to pant and, finally, a most unpleasant taste and odor will become apparent. These quick and distasteful symptoms will gradually disappear over a period of about 24 hours. As you might imagine, they can be very effective in discouraging even the most addicted alcoholic from taking a drink.

The calcium cyanamide technique has been tried with some 330 alcoholics over a six-year period. About 150 of the patients are now considered cured by the most effective judges of all — themselves and their families. The other 180 patients were not cured and the Japanese researcher ascribed many of these failures to the attitude of the families of the alcoholics, or their understanding of the treatment method.

Families do play a critical role in the procedure. For one thing, an alcoholic patient is not very reliable about taking his medicine and, if he doesn't take the proper dosage each day, his allergy to alcohol will disappear. To get around this problem, the family of the alcoholic is asked to give him the proper dosage without his knowledge. The alcoholic himself is asked to take a placebo, or just a token amount of the drug. If the patient misses his prescription, he still gets an effective dose from his family.

To further enhance the probability of cure, psychotherapy is used with both patient and family, aimed at building a cooperative effort to cure the alcoholic. This approach is not necessary.

Horoscope Forecast

—CARROL RICHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The day-time is very busy for most everything so don't try to force anything and by all means do not get too worked up or right and give orders to those about you, or they would be greatly resentful. However, as the evening wears on, the moods become better and better until late p.m. is extremely relaxing.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): You would like to check everything and get your job done, but it is wiser to get your work done during day. Then, in the evening you can have a little time. Take time to finish that project you have been working on.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Evening is best time to handle that problem of home, or to do some entertaining. There that others will appreciate. During day rid yourself of anything cluttering in the south of your success. Evening could prove to be most interesting.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20): You have many contacts to make and statements to get out during day so that you have time in p.m. to be with friends for fun. Show others how efficient you can be. Then give yourself over to enjoyment.

CANCER (June 21 to July 21): Anything you wish to do that can bring more harmony in business relations is fine. Be especially attentive to work. Fixing the health of your contacts need is wise. Evening can then be a most fascinating time.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 22): Personal matters can be expected. Get out early, too. Fixing the health of your contacts need is wise. Evening can then be a most fascinating time.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): You have many dull tasks to perform, so do them quickly. In the evening, release time for pleasure, relaxation in a garden, in water, in a pool, and you make big headway with others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Plan to have some free time for a generous gift who wants to take you out socially of some mutually convenient hour. Concentrate on the full scope of your daily living. See where you can make it in your life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Relationships with others in civic circles should be improved by contacting others and stating your views. Don't be petty, improve credit rating the day. Also, into town for pleasure tonight at some favorite spot.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Ideal day to make your best getting into activities that can help you to develop. You are able to have many contacts who can help you in the days ahead. Be intelligent, efficient.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Although others who depend on you may seem to be pushing you, it is only that they desire more consideration. Do so. Out to charming place with men in p.m. for a most delightful time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): It would be wise to share your appreciation those with whom you have made certain payments and thereby insure their working out beautifully. Arrange matters differently with loved one in p.m. Be happier.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20): Plan how to make your share more charming during day and then invite friends in to enjoy it with you. Fine better system for getting what you truly desire. Increase income through some outside resource.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow he or she will be one of those youngsters to whom stunts come as natural as to a peacock, so be sure to feed his or her education along lines where much of this is part of the job. There is much common sense in the hours. The kind of acting public or official work, would be very fine. A fine executive here.

turned into a moderate drinker rather than a strict teetotaler. A moderate drinker, in Japan, is defined as someone who imbibes a daily three to six ounces of Saki, the Japanese rice wine. Saki contains only 15 per cent alcohol.

It appears that calcium cyanamide may hold real promise of helping alcoholics. However, much more work and extensive experimentation must be done before the method could come into widespread use.

To the Navy saying, "If it moves, salute it, if it stands still, paint it," should be added a latter day adage: "Where there is a problem, appoint a committee to study it."

This is the angle Rep. Omar Burleson takes in his weekly news letter to constituents. All committees and commissions eventually come up with some sort of finding, he observed, and it is filed — somewhere. Who reads them is obscure. Studies encompass everything, even to studying government paperwork which occupies space needed for other study reports, he noted.

If There's A Problem, Name A Panel To Study It

Out of studies often come statistics which, because they are published, become authentic references. A case in point, Rep. Burleson pointed out, is the testimony on the rat extermination bill. A witness estimated 17,000 people are bitten by rats, which also cause a $900 million annual property loss. Soon this estimate became a rockbed statistical reference.

Studies most often find use as reference material for other people who will make future studies on the same subject. This means, noted the congressman, that the real purpose of a study is not to solve a problem, but to postpone the solution in hopes it will go away.

He wryly noted that a committee should be formed to study committees. He did think, however, that some useful purpose might be served by a study in depth concerning population movements in the United States to see how a more orderly pattern of population growth could be better encouraged. Imbalance of population, by reason of opportunity, portends a more serious situation than exists today, he said.

Plane Crashes

DALLAS (AP) — A single-engine Cessna plane crashed at Dallas Love Field late Wednesday when the pilot apparently forgot to lower his landing gear, the control tower said. He escaped unhurt and there was no fire.

Carson Sees Car Stolen

NEW YORK (AP) — Television star Johnny Carson was staged Wednesday night by a fleet-footed thief who drove off with a rental limousine while Carson stood watching.

The episode took place outside the RCA building where the National Broadcasting Co. has studios, police said.

It was raining heavily and Carson stood in the Sixth Avenue lobby entrance waiting to enter his car less than 20 feet away at the curb.

His chauffeur, Clarence Leonard, went to meet him with an umbrella, leaving the car door open and the motor running.

Suddenly, an unidentified man dashed into the limousine and sped off, leaving Carson and the chauffeur standing there. Police were looking for the auto.

Wanna Get Rid Of Skunk Odor?

By ED SYERS

Mrs. Louis J. Rochat knows a deodorant: green cedar smoke.

"Make a ring of kindling and report suggested, you severally lay branches of green cedar on top. With caution (and big enough ring) get in the center, light the fire: small enough to let fresh air in, and an opening to escape, if too hot.

"If a skunk sprays under a building, put a little burning charcoal in a metal container, then add the green cedar (with fire precaution). Guide the smoke with heavy paper.

The Rochats don't wage "all out war on skunks," because "those of us with running water or fishing ponds, appreciate what they do to balance nature: eat turtle eggs. When you fish and catch nothing but turbles, be sure someone's killed too many skunks."

Georgetown's G.A.C., when young, tackled the problem another way. "I learned that a skunk's musk bag could be dried up by filling a hypodermic needle with iodine, holding a kitten by its tail, squirting in the iodine, then taming the kitten. Skunks are clean as any house cat, make good pets, will rid a home of rats, cockroaches, etc."

HE SAW BOOTH

Levelland's W. H. Grossa chides us for suggesting that asassin John Wilkes Booth's "escape" could be legend.

"About the middle '20s, I was in Coleman, where I noticed a carriage parked midway of the street. On its side was a sign inviting people to view the (embalmed) remains of John Wilkes Booth. Of course, curiosity took charge of me.

"At the carriage, I discovered the body of a man, clean shaven except for a mustache (like Booth's). The face was emaciated but the small thumb showed plainly. All who were intimate-ly acquainted with Booth knew he had (just such a small thumb), and on stage, carried a cane to obstruct the view of the audience.

"There were many certified or notarized documents on display. These gave the name, address and relationship they bore to Booth (mostly cousins). All stated under oath that Booth was not killed (in the Virginia barn), nor buried in the Potomac River as history states, but made his escape to Granbury, Texas, where, under the assumed name of John St. Helen, he operated a saloon for many years."

(Note: This was the body of an Enid, Okla., derelict-suicide of early 1800's, apparently the same John St. Helen known to Granbury and Glen Rose. Circumstances of Booth's secret burial were such that, for decades, many sound men "knew" how and where Booth escaped. OBT's point, however, was that the extended private bell of all who may survive to elude man's law, is proof the Higher Law, and no escape at all.)

Hubby Does His Job

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a carpenter - builder who specializes in remodeling homes. He is a fine craftsman and takes pride in his work, having learned his trade from his father who was a builder. The problem is this: When my husband calls on a prospective customer, he feels it is all right to go directly from off a job in his old dirty work clothes. He says people know he is a working man and they might even have more confidence in his work seeing him that way.

I admit there are times when it is more convenient for him to call on folks to estimate a job on his way home from work, but I say he should take clean clothes with him in his truck and clean up before calling on these people.

My theory being that if people see him dirty and sloppy they might think his work is sloppy, too.

My husband insists that his appearing in old dirty work clothes has no adverse effect on his customers, but I think he is just making up excuses so he won't have to clean up.

He reads your column, so if you, or any of your readers have any ideas about this, I'd appreciate hearing an outsider's opinion.

HIS WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Personally, if I were interested in a remodeling job, I would hire the man with a reputation for quality work and fair prices. If he came straight off a job in his old work clothes, I wouldn't object as long as he didn't track up my carpets.

DEAR ABBY: An old gentleman (7), one whom I have befriended on several occasions, recently betrayed my trust in him by stealing some rare coins from my collection, a valuable unset diamond, a revolver from my gun collection, as well as several old keepsake antiques, which I had intended to donate to the local museum at a later date. He accomplished this during a couple of social visits he paid me in my home.

Upon discovering my loss, I paid him a return visit, and while there I complained bitterly about the theft of these items. I didn't accuse him openly, but strongly hinted that he was under suspicion.

The next day he called on me, and had occasion to visit the bathroom. On his departure I found a few of the missing coins on the wash basin. However, the most valuable coins, the unset diamond and revolver are still unreturned.

The man in question is a very well-to-do and respected citizen in this community. (So am I.)

What is the best way to regain my stolen possessions? I am positive this man is the thief, but wish to avoid publicity if possible.

VICTIMIZED IN OREGON
DEAR VICTIMIZED: In order to protect yourself, and regain your stolen possessions, I advise you to discuss this with your lawyer. (Clip this letter and reply from your local newspaper and mail it to the man in a plain white envelope - minus, of course, this parenthetical addition.)

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69780, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Canada Wants No Dodgers

OTTAWA (AP) — A private member's bill was introduced in the House of Commons aimed at preventing Americans seeking to avoid the U.S. military draft from settling in Canada.

James Ormiston, a Conservative, told the House his bill is designed "to prevent U.S. draft dodgers from finding a haven in Canada."

Carrier Dented, Docks Damaged

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The USS Lexington arriving Wednesday for Navy Week celebrations, tried docking at the Bienville Street wharf. Gun tubs on the ship, which jut out far beyond the hull, smashed into the corrugated steel warehouses on the wharf. While a crowd of greeters scampers for safety amid a shower of metal debris, the Lexington backed off. Then all 42,000 tons of her came ramming into the wharf again. The crowd, which eased hesitantly back onto the wharf each time, the 900-foot-long ship maneuvered away for another try, beat still one more retreat. A third time the Lexington smacked into the wharf, and finally the captain sidled the ship into the middle of the Mississippi River until two Army docking barges — called "camels" — were positioned alongside the wharf to act as a buffer. The fourth mooring attempt went smoothly. Only one camel had been fixed to the wharf when the Lexington tried docking previously, damaging nine huge sections of warehouse sheds in the process. Capt. Edward W. Gendron, commanding officer of the Lexington, said there would be a naval investigation.

Brennan At Tech

LUBBOCK — U. S. Supreme Court Justice William J. Brennan Jr. will be in Lubbock today as the third lecturer in Texas Tech's University Speaker Series. The noted jurist will speak to Tech students and faculty members at 7:15 p.m. in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium. His topic will be "The States and the Federal Guarantees of Individual Rights."

Truck Horns Save Couple

LINCOLN, Ill. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. James W. Abbott would like to thank two truck drivers for saving their lives — but they don't know their names. The Abbotts told firemen that when they were awakened by the sound of truck horns Wednesday they discovered their house was on fire and were trapped on the second floor. The truck drivers maneuvered a large truck against the front porch of the home. The Abbotts climbed through a window to the porch and then onto the truck. As the Abbotts climbed down from the truck firemen arrived and the men drove off. Firemen surmised the men spotted the fire while driving in front of the house and blew their horns. The house was destroyed, officials said.

Florida Sheriff Breaks Up Dream Of Hippies

SUWANNEE, Fla. (AP) — The hippies who moved onto Hog Island in the Suwannee River to become "united in a dream" were separated Wednesday by a sheriff who thought it was "immoral of them to live like that." Four of the six swingers, who described themselves as "a group of people living closer than brothers and sisters," were jailed by Levy County Sheriff Pat Hartley. The other two escaped. The four bearded young men and two girls, had been camping on the 40-acre island for about six weeks, living on fish, crabs, oysters and whatever their $7-a-week budget allowed them to buy. Hartley said he made the arrests because "they shouldn't be permitted to live like that. They weren't in my hair," Hartley said, "I was looking at it from a moral standpoint." Arrested during a trip to the fishing village of Suwannee were: Paul Morgan, 21, of Duncan, Okla.; James Lynard, 20, native of North Dakota who said he has lived a year in Gainesville, Fla.; Margaret Ann Zimmer, 21, of West Point, Miss.; and Lynn "Cricket" Jacobs, 18, of Gainesville. Still at large were: Stanley Rheinheimer, 21, of Asheville, N.C., and David Breuning, 25, of Melbourne, Fla. Cricket was charged with vagrancy and the others were charged with contributing to Cricket's delinquency. On the way to the Levy County jail Lynard said of the bond, "Why should we pay $200 to a machine we ran away from." Asked how the hippies would pass their time in jail, Lynard replied, "We'll laugh a lot."

Pleads For Jail Time

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Two persons have been arrested by federal officers in connection with alleged threats on the life of President Johnson, who is to be in El Paso Saturday for signing of the Chamizal border treaty. Shirley Rucker, 60, Albuquerque, N.M., was being held under $20,000 bond in Albuquerque after arraignment on a charge of threatening the President's life. U.S. Marshal Emilio Naranjo said Rucker was arrested at his home Tuesday night "while in the process of trying to telephone the White House to threaten the life of the President." Robert Allen Moll, 29, was ordered jailed Wednesday in El Paso under $10,000 bond on the same charge after being arrested Tuesday by a deputy U.S. marshal at the office in El Paso where he is employed.

Confused Youth Returns Home

PARSIPPANY, N.J. (AP) — "This is unbelievable. It's like returning from the dead," said 19-year-old Bruce Burkan. Bruce—missing and presumed dead for two months—walked into his home and told his mother that he had no idea of what happened or where he had been. "He looked very confused and had several cuts on his face," said Mrs. Theodore Burkan, who was Mrs. New Jersey of 1966. Her son had been missing since Aug. 22, when he left his fiancée, Valerie Schmetzer, 19, on an Asbury Park beach to put a coin in a parking meter. Bruce said Wednesday he remembers being in Asbury Park and leaving the beach. The next thing he remembers, he said, was being in a bus terminal Tuesday in Newark. Mrs. Burkan said she was upstairs on the phone Tuesday when Bruce walked in. She stood in complete shock for a few minutes and then "flew" down to him. She said similar scenes took place as his three brothers, Barry, 13, Lee, 9, and Wayne, 15, came home from school. Mrs. Burkan showed Bruce a remembrance book she kept, showing pictures and stories of memorial services conducted for him. More than 200 area residents attended. "I never dreamed so many people cared about me," the youth said. "No one even knows how much he will be mourned at his funeral. I've had the golden opportunity of returning."

Shot, Killed

HOUSTON (AP) — Renauld L. Ikner, 18, was shot and killed Wednesday at a barbecue stand in Northeast Houston. Officers said a man who had argued with Ikner was being held.

Motor Hotel in Dallas today, followed by a press conference. He planned another press conference and $100-a-plate dinner speech in Houston tonight.

Reagan repeatedly has insisted he is not a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination. He left home Wednesday on a three-day, six-city speaking tour of the Midwest and Texas. Many "Reagan for President" signs could be seen at airports and rally points.

Ben Barnes, speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, said several weeks ago in Fort Worth that he had seen polls showing Reagan could give President Johnson the toughest battle of any GOP candidate in Texas.

Reagan, elected California's governor in 1966 by nearly a million vote majority, is known to every Texan with a television set. The former actor is still being seen in TV reruns of his movies.

Last week he became embroiled in an exchange with former Texas Gov. Price Daniel, a Democrat, when a White House radiogram to Daniel fell into Reagan's hands at the national governors conference.

Reagan denied he or his staff had any hand in obtaining a copy of the radiogram to Daniel. In Texas, Reagan is expected to repeat his call for Republican unity.

With 2,000 persons spending an estimated $200,000 for his two appearances, state GOP treasurers will be the happiest of all.

Sophia Loren's Rome Show: Beauty, Humor, Originality

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The television audience, without ever leaving its easy chairs, has done a lot of traveling lately in illustrious company. We visited London with Lucy and with Liz and Richard and Greece with Melina Mercouri. And we have had variety shows offered to us in such quantities that they are beginning to be a bit of a drag.

But with "Sophia, With Love" on ABC Wednesday night, some rubbernecking was combined with variety and the result was an unusual and totally delightful treat.

The hour program was a camera visit to the beautiful estate of the Italian film star, Sophia Loren, outside of Rome. And Villa Ponti—outside and inside—was artfully introduced by brilliant camera work. It was the stuff that picture post cards are made of.

Miss Loren wandered through this gorgeous background, sometimes singing sad, sexy songs in a breathy voice, sometimes making funny faces and always wearing wonderful clothes.

Peter Sellers turned up for a funny bit about a Nazi officer, Marcello Mastroianni slithered forward as a Valentino character and romped around the estate with Miss Loren in a burlesque of a tango.

There were a couple of sketches by Jonathan Winters, one in which he played Michelangelo and another in which he was almost all the characters in a sightseeing bus. He was pretty funny in both of them.

Fatigue Results In Third Man On Missile Crews

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fatigue factor has prompted the Air Force to add a third crewman to launch sites for the nation's latest land-based nuclear missile, sources report.

The Minuteman II, the Air Force found, requires three men to alternate at resting and carrying on the hour-by-hour checkouts of the missile's readiness, and other activities.

The Air Force, in response to questions, officially attributed the need for the additional officer to the greater sophistication of the 6,300-mile range intercontinental ballistic missile.

As the Air Force explained it, the Minuteman II, with preset directions to hit installations in the Soviet Union and China, "has more sophisticated computer and console equipment which requires more consistent monitoring by members of the missile combat crew."

There are 200 Minuteman II missiles stationed in hardened firing silos throughout the middle and northwest United States, along with 800 older Minuteman I launch sites each controlled by two officers.

The three-man crews spend 24-hour shifts in the missile hole, one sleeping while two work. The team consists of a missile combat crew commander, a deputy and an alternate commander ranking from lieutenant colonel down to lieutenant.

Manning the silos is an assignment of prolonged tension that has gained missile specialists a tag as "the silent sitters of the 60's."

The pressure has forced some missile dropouts. The Air Force said that between February, 1962, when a "human reliability" test system was started, and last June 30, 106 officers lost actual or potential missile crew assignments because of unreliable ratings.

Student Sickened

SHENANDOAH, Iowa (AP) — A college student wrote in his home town newspaper that he was "sickened" by a weekend Vietnam War protest in Washington to the extent that he could have "dismantled limb from limb any of the protestors."

Chuck Offenburger, a junior at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., described his experiences in an article for the Shenandoah Evening Sentinel.

Equipped with an arm band he said was borrowed from a demonstrator and a button identifying him as a protector, Offenburger took a place in the front line as the crowd marched on the Pentagon.

He said that as protestors came face to face with U.S. troops, "one bearded and flopped boy blew smoke in a soldier's face and challenged him with: 'Hey, mercenary, did you rape any Vietnam women . . . kill any babies?'"

Offenburger said he had been tolerant of Vietnam protests in the past, but after the weekend march on the Pentagon, "I returned feeling that I had been . . . in an emotional state in which I could have easily dismantled limb from limb any of the protestors."

Waco To Vote On Sales Tax

WACO (AP) — Waco residents will vote Dec. 5 on whether to assess themselves a one per cent city sales tax.

The city council voted unanimously to hold the election and the Chamber of Commerce board of directors said it will conduct a campaign to educate the public on the issues involved and why the tax would be beneficial.

The Heart of Texas Council of Governments, composed of mayors of McLennan County cities and towns, earlier endorsed the tax and recommended that elections be held on the same date.

Recommended tonight: "Don Knotts Special," CBS, 8-9 EDT, variety with Andy Griffith and Juliet Prowse, "Good Company," ABC, 10-10:30, with Jack Paar.

On the bidding, however, East rather than his partner was marked with possession of the ace of hearts, in order to warrant his opening call. South decided, therefore, to try a long shot.

After ruffing the third club, he cashed the ace and king of spades and then trumped a third round of the suit. Dummy was reentered with the jack of diamonds and the queen of clubs was put thru. East refused to ruff, discarding a diamond; South, however, trumped again in order to continue reduction of his heart holding in preparation for the end position.

The king and ace of diamonds were cashed as everyone obligingly followed suit and declarer was in dummy at trick 11, with the following holding:

Q6
WEST EAST
Q 102 AJ8
SOUTH
K97
The six of spades was led and East realized that if he ruffed with the eight of hearts, declarer would merely overruff inasmuch as West was obliged to follow suit. East, therefore, ruffed with the jack, obliging South to top him with the king.

The nine of hearts was put thru and West alertly covered with the ten. North played the queen and East the ace. The latter's eight of hearts scored the setting trick since South was left with the seven.

Group Of Boys From Pyote To See Graduation

Class 68-E will have a group of special guests for its graduation at Webb AFB Saturday — 20 members of the Pyote Boys Home. This is a facility of the Texas Youth Council.

The boys will arrive Friday morning and will be shown the base and told of its operation. Their tour will include the parachute shop, synthetic trainers and a trip to the mobile control unit. Its flight-operations section of the class will show the group T-37 Twenty-bird and T-38 Talon operations.

Maj. Paul Adams, class training officer, in coordination with base officials, has arranged for housing and feeding the group so that the boys can see the graduation ceremonies the next day.

"I don't know how or why you decided to do this; but it is one of the finest things that could happen to us," said Fred Conrad, superintendent.

Council Votes Itself A Trip

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Long Beach City Council plans to ride the Queen Mary from England to Long Beach at taxpayer expense, but at least one taxpayer objects.

The city has bought the luxury liner for $3.5 million to turn her into a dockside convention center, hotel and maritime museum.

The City Council voted itself money for the trip two weeks ago and said its members would confer with foreign dignitaries at ports of call to boost Long Beach trade.

Attorney John E. Crooks filed suit asking that Superior Court declare the council's decision illegal. Crooks said the councilmen aren't competent to handle the public relations tasks they set for themselves, even if it were legal to spend the money.
