Gold Rush Over? Bankers Back United States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Banking leaders from seven nations comprising the international gold pool have promised to fully support the United States in its efforts to defend the dollar from heavy speculation in gold.

Meeting in Frankfurt, Germany, the bankers announced Sunday they possess sufficient gold reserves to guarantee the present $35-an-ounce exchange rate. But they invited other nations to help defend the gold rate in the face of the frenzied wave of buying touched off by Great Britain's devaluation of the pound.

Guarantees Success

In a brief statement, the bankers said they "took decisions on specific measures to insure by coordinated actions orderly conditions in the exchange markets and to support . . . the fixed price."

"The volume of gold and foreign exchange reserves at their disposal guarantees the success of these actions," the statement declared.

Details of the actions were not announced.

In Washington, the invitation to other nations to join the gold pool was seen as directed toward France, which left the pool in June. The United States has assumed the nine per cent share held by the French, increasing U.S. participation to 39 per cent.

Mare Stages 'Sit-In'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Kitty Hawk, a 5-year-old quarterhorse mare, staged a "sit-in" Sunday against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad. She blocked a passenger train and a 100-car freight train.

The trouble began when Paula Roberts, 15, started leading Kitty Hawk across a trestle in northeast Memphis. Kitty Hawk made it part of the way before her legs slipped through the space between the ties.

Sheriff's deputies, assisted by about 30 passers-by, freed the horse once, but her legs slipped through again.

Finally, they used an auto seat belt and a man's belt and pulled Kitty Hawk out of the trap and across the trestle.

It had taken almost two hours. Kitty Hawk was not seriously hurt.

LBJ Bounces Back

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Johnson's popularity has taken an upswing for the first time since the June summit talks, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

On another issue, the poll found residents in eight foreign nations overwhelmingly for the end of American involvement in Vietnam.

According to George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, 41 per cent of persons interviewed in a nationwide poll now approve the way Johnson is handling his job.

This represents an increase in Johnson's popularity from October and September polls conducted by Gallup in which only 38 per cent of those responding approved the President's performance.

Gallup said that Johnson also seems to be winning back disaffected Democrats.

In an October survey, 53 per cent of Democrats questioned approved Johnson's performance. In the latest poll, Gallup said, 63 per cent of Democrats questioned voiced approval of the President, an increase of 10 per cent.

Four Bodies Found

VAN HORN, TEX. (AP) — Four bodies were found today in the wreckage of a light plane which crashed during the night in the Guadalupe Mountains 45 miles south of Van Horn.

Calhoun County Deputy Sheriff H. B. Purvis said the green and white Cessna had departed from El Paso about 6 p.m. Sunday en route to Killeen in Central Texas.

He said authorities were trying to learn the identities of the victims.

A rancher reported the finding of the wreckage to Van Horn officers.

State police earlier had broadcast an alert for a missing plane en route from El Paso to Killeen, by way of Pecos and San Angelo, with a fuel stop planned for Midland.

The Civil Air Patrol in Odessa identified the pilot of the Cessna 170 as Charles W. McDonald of Ft. Hood, Tex. CAP Col. Joe Johnson said all the victims were believed from Ft. Hood.

Purvis said the bodies of the victims were removed from the wreckage and taken to Draper Funeral Home in Van Horn.

Military Slashing Production Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is slashing war production orders involving millions of dollars and is shuffling around other millions in on-hand goods in a broad effort to avoid wasteful surpluses in Vietnam, Pentagon sources report.

The move is in line with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's new directive urging efforts to "avoid the inefficiencies and waste" of past wars.

McNamara told the services and defense agencies Friday the Korean war resulted in $12 billion in supply excesses, much of which had little salvage value because of deterioration and obsolescence.

"I am determined that this will not happen in Vietnam," McNamara said.

A high-level defense team returned from an inspection tour of the war zone a few days ago and told McNamara that for the first time since the huge Vietnam buildup began in mid-1965, accurate statistics on inventories are being compiled, partly with the aid of computers.

The team, including representatives from the Pentagon's

Installations and Logistics Office, told McNamara the straightening of records on 300,000 items had slowed inventory work.

Because the Pentagon literally threw open the production faucet at the start of the buildup, stocks of some of the 300,000 items soared beyond needs and are being trimmed.

The Army ammunition inventory, for example, is being reduced by $50 million, sources said. Earlier this year McNamara ordered bomb production reduced by several thousand tons a month.

Since January more than $100 million in requisitions for other war supplies have been canceled, sources said, and backed-up requisitions older than 180 days are being torn up.

The Army also has redistributed an estimated $76 million in goods throughout Vietnam to even out inventories at various depots. A total of $40 million more has been earmarked for shipment out of the country to other areas.

The Pentagon plans to use ships returning from Vietnam to haul excess supplies to Okinawa and other Pacific areas.

The Army's Logistics Command in Vietnam has reported its redistribution program may save an estimated $20 million by next July.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. Commander in Vietnam, said last week in a Washington speech he is intensifying "logistical management" to deal with any surpluses.

"Our rapid buildup 10,000 miles away in an undeveloped nation lacking in logistical support facilities has created many problems," Westmoreland said.

"Some units brought to Vietnam equipment that has not been needed. Some supplies were shipped automatically based on experience in other wars and have not been consumed in the quantities expected."

McNamara praised Westmoreland's action and directed Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor and Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, Pacific commander-in-chief, to set up agencies responsible for inventorying and redistribution work.

McNamara said he will expect a monthly report on supply actions beginning early next year.

Turkey, Greece Remain At Odds

Comms Hit Heavily In Critical Areas

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces, striking boldly in three of the most critical areas of South Vietnam Sunday and today, slammed hundreds of mortars into American positions, and held off U.S. Marines in two fierce ground battles.

U.S. losses were 25 dead and 134 wounded, while 38 of the enemy were killed, the U.S. Command said.

PLANES LOST
The U.S. Command announced the loss of two more tactical fighter-bombers over North Vietnam. It said a Marine A4 Intruder was lost to unknown causes Saturday, and an Air Force F4 Phantom went down Sunday during 88 U.S. missions over the North. The four fighters are missing.

This brought to 757 the announced number of U.S. warplanes downed in combat over the North in the nearly three-year-old bombing campaign.

Nineteen Marines and 38 of the enemy were reported killed and 96 Marines were wounded in the Marines' two ground battles just west of Con Thien, below the demilitarized zone, and 100 miles to the southeast, below Da Nang.

MORE BODIES

The U.S. Command also reported that American forces had found an additional 224 North Vietnamese bodies on the Dak To battlefield bringing to 1,641 the total number of Communists claimed killed in the epic three-week battle. U.S. casualties also were revised upward, to 287 dead and 1,000 wounded.

Communist troops concealed in a heavily fortified village 19 miles southwest of Da Nang hit three companies of attacking Marines Sunday, and a reinforcing company with a savage crossfire of mortars, automatic weapons and small arms fire.

Twelve Marines and 16 Communist troops were reported killed in this encounter and 80 Marines were wounded.

Cyprus Invasion Still A Threat

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—U.S. special envoy Cyrus R. Vance returned to Ankara today with Greece's answer to Turkish conditions for averting a military showdown over Cyprus. Informants said it appeared the Turks will reject it.

Battle-ready Turkish troops and tanks waited aboard ships poised just 40 miles from the Mediterranean island republic for an invasion Vance and other diplomats were hopeful could be prevented.

"There's no call for a smile," said Vance after conferences with Greek officials in Athens, "but there is none for a frown either."

Secretary-General Manlio Brosio of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was also in Ankara with reports of his talks with Greek officials. Brosio said there was hope the two NATO partners could be kept from war.

A Greek Foreign Ministry spokesman said his government told Vance it is willing to negotiate the withdrawal of Greek forces from Cyprus "in return for guarantees by Turkey not to attempt an invasion."

GUARANTEES

Greece will insist on international guarantees of any such agreement, the spokesman added, including commitments from the North Atlantic alliance and the United Nations.

Informed sources in Ankara said the Turkish demands Vance took to Athens included renewal of the special rights given the Turkish Cypriots by the 1960 agreement on the independence of Cyprus, rights which Cypriot President Makarios took away in 1963; withdrawal of non-Cypriot forces from the island, and Greek compensation for the attack Nov. 15 in which 25 Turkish Cypriots were killed.

TIMING

An informed source in Ankara said the key point to be resolved was timing of troop withdrawals. Turkey and Greece both reportedly accept the idea of withdrawing troops on Cyprus in excess of the number allowed by the 1960 agreement, but Turkey insists Greece must take her troops off first.

Greece is believed to have between 8,000 and 12,000 troops on Cyprus and Turkey about 1,200.

Bridges came to Texas from North Carolina in a covered wagon 95 years ago. He drove an automobile until he was 100 years old and never had an accident.

Senate Studies Bill For Stricter Meat Inspection

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to require that all of the nation's meat supply measures up to federal inspection standards was the first order of business for the Senate after its Thanksgiving holiday.

The measure, more stringent than legislation passed by the House, was approved unanimously by the Senate Agriculture Committee last week. It was to come before the full Senate today.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Betty Furness, President Johnson's special assistant for consumer affairs, called it a great improvement over the House bill.

Federal inspection now is limited to meat crossing state lines, leaving about 15 per cent of fresh meat and 25 per cent of processed meat products to state or local inspection.

The Agriculture Committee said 29 states have mandatory inspection laws, 12 have voluntary systems, 2 have limited health regulations, and 7 have no meat inspection statutes.

Like the House-passed bill, the Senate measure provides for federal technical aid and for up to 50 per cent of the cost of developing or improving state inspection systems.

But the Senate bill goes further by providing: —That states wanting their own systems must establish standards at least equal to those of the federal government. They would have two years and in some cases three years in which to do this.

—That federal inspection may be extended immediately to meat plants operating wholly within a state upon the request of the governor.

—That the secretary of agriculture may impose federal standards on any plant in a state if he determines it is producing adulterated meat or meat products that clearly endanger the public health. However, he would have to give a governor a chance to act first.

The bill also provides for continuing federal review of state inspection systems, with the Agriculture Department required to submit annual reports to Congress.

U. N. Due To Vote Against Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly today neared a vote on whether to admit Communist China to the United Nations. It was expected to vote once again to keep Peking out.

Debate on the question, opened a week ago, was expected to end late this afternoon, and one U.N. official speculated that the voting would begin then.

U.S. RESOLUTION

Diplomats generally predicted that the 122-nation assembly would adopt a U.S.-inspired resolution reaffirming that a two-thirds vote is necessary to change China's U.N. representation. They predicted defeat for a resolution by Communist and nonaligned countries to seat the Chinese Reds in place of the Chinese Nationalists and defeat also for an Italian resolution to have a committee study the whole question. That is what the assembly did last year.

The Italian resolution called for a committee to draw up recommendations "for an equitable and practical solution to the question of the representation of China in the United Nations," taking into account "the existing situation and the political realities of the area."

It was generally regarded as looking toward eventual adoption of the "two Chinas" formula calling for both Communist and Nationalist China in the United Nations.

For that reason, the staunchest supporters of the Communist government in Peking and of the Nationalist government on Formosa were all against it, because each claims to be the only legal government of China and rejects the two Chinas idea.

Light Rains Spread Over Much Of Texas

By The Associated Press

Parts of the Texas Panhandle shivered in temperatures as low as 15 degrees above zero this morning while light rain spread from western areas across much of the state's midsection.

Subfreezing temperatures gripped most of the Texas Panhandle in the wake of a cold front which crossed the Upper and Middle Texas Coast before daylight and edged into the extreme south part of the state.

Clouds tended to hold temperatures up a bit in other sections.

BORDER FOG
El Paso, still a relatively warm 50 degrees before daylight was cloaked in dense fog—a rarity for that normally dry and sunny city on the state's western tip. The fog forced diversion of some commercial air traffic.

There also was fog at Laredo on the Mexican border.

Perryton in the north edge of the Panhandle was one of the chilliest spots with a 15-degree reading before sunrise. Skies were clear there and a light north breeze was blowing.

Readings at other Panhandle points included Dalhart 22, Amarillo and Dumas 23 and Pampa 24.

13 Below At Butte

By The Associated Press

A large arctic air mass carried a prewinter chill into most sections of the nation today and dropped early morning temperatures below zero in some areas.

A freezing line during the pre-dawn hours extended down the Appalachians and westward to the Rockies. Subzero readings were reported in Montana and in the Wyoming and Colorado Rockies.

The coldest weather of the season moved into the Midwest on hitting west to northwest winds. Gale warnings were displayed for the Great Lakes with snow flurries along exposed shores.

The coastal storm that deluged Southern California last week was spreading heavy rains over the normally arid Southwest. Nearly 1 1/2 inches of rain fell at Yuma, Ariz., in a 12-hour period.

Mild weather prevailed along the Gulf Coast, but there was locally heavy fog in some areas.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 74 at Key West, Fla., to -13 at Butte, Mont.

Violent Death Takes 29 In Texas During Holiday

By The Associated Press

Twenty-nine persons met violent death in Texas during the Thanksgiving holiday weekend, including 19 killed in traffic.

The toll, recorded between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday, was no heavier than for many two-day weekends—bearing out the idea that Thanksgiving Day is a time for families to stay at home and occasions less travel than most other holidays.

FATAL INJURIES
Among the latest victims were:

Mrs. Sylvia Lipsey, 19, of Groesbeck was killed Sunday evening when a pickup truck collided with a car five miles north of Groesbeck on Texas 14. Her two companions in the pickup escaped with cuts but hospital attendants reported Mr. and Mrs. McKinley Wright, in the car, suffered serious injuries. Jerry Adamek, 54, of Temple died and his wife and daughter were injured Sunday in a two-car crash on Texas 36 near Cameron.

A one-car accident resulted in fatal injuries Sunday to William Wright, 27, of Iowa Park about 17 miles south of Seymour on US 183-293. He was on a hunting trip.

SHOTS SWAPPED
Jimmie D. Blackwell, 48, of Hereford died Sunday of wounds which police said he suffered in exchanging shots with two patroimlen Saturday night. The officers had gone to Blackwell's home in response to a disturbance call.

Philip G. Pounder, 44, of Mexia fell from a boat and drowned Saturday in Lake Mexia. Investigators said his head apparently struck an outboard motor.

Thelma J. Stewart, 40, of Haskell and Stephen R. Black, 18, of Abilene were killed as two cars collided Saturday night in Abilene.

BODY RECOVERED
Jesus S. Ollis, 17, of Alamo drowned Saturday while swimming in highway gravel pit near his home in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The body was recovered from nine feet of water.

Rudolph E. Rodriguez, 25, was shot and killed Saturday in downtown Galveston. Police held a woman.

A car struck and killed Jesse Hughes, 24, of Corpus Christi as he was walking across US 59 Saturday night east of Beeville.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—As South, both vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ1076432 ♥J654 ♣J

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South 1 ♠ 2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid?
A.—Pass. Even if the 11 might prove that two spades would be the best contract for your side, one cannot escape the conclusion that you will have your hands full persuading partner of that fact. By the time you have succeeded in convincing him, the tariff will be exorbitant. Pass and let nature take its course.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ8 ♥QJ8632 ♦7 ♣Q84

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East Pass 1 ♠ Pass Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two hearts, one more than is necessary to overcall. Such a bid can hardly be misconstrued by partner who must realize that the original pass limited your holding. A mere reopening bid of one heart could be made on a deal less.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South 1 ♠ 1 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid?
A.—Even though partner made a mere overcall you should not be willing to ignore slam possibilities. A jump to four hearts would not do justice to this holding. If your answer was three hearts, you have flunked the exam ignominiously, for such a bid (when partner did not open the bidding) is not even forcing. The approved call is two diamonds, a cue bid forcing to game.

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J94 ♥QJ843 ♣K9852

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East Pass 1 NT Pass Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. You have more to lose than gain by bidding. Remember one of your opponents has 16 points. The other may have as many as seven.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable. As South you hold:
♠K109742 ♥QJ1063 ♦5 ♣Q

The bidding has proceeded: North East South 1 ♠ 1 ♥ ?

What do you bid?
A.—Do not make the mistake of doubling. The auction will never rest there, for both West and your partner are short of spades and one of them is sure to run. This hand is a potential misfit and the soundest strategy is to pass and await further developments.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A102 ♥J10 ♦642 ♣AJ10754

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass 3 ♥ Pass 4 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Four hearts. While it is abnormal to give partner a preference with a singleton, his jump rebid indicated at least a good six-card suit. Furthermore, there is no better fit in the minors and a 10-trick contract will be a wiser choice than one for 11 on the relative misfit.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A9 ♥AK107 ♦K10963 ♣42

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♥ 2 ♣ 2 ♠ 3 ♣ ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three diamonds. While this hand would not normally be considered strong enough for a free bid at the level of three, in this case partner has shown a hand of game proportions when he overcalled West's two club bid with the drastic bid of two spades. It would waste a round of bidding for you to fail to show your second suit.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠5 ♥K6542 ♦K103 ♣A1094

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♥ 1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two clubs. This may seem rather on the timid side, but a stronger bid is not necessary. By reopening the bidding after partner's second round pass, you have indicated at least a fair hand. A three club bid is out, for we treat that as forcing to game.

DRIZZLE

El Paso's fog formed after 13 inch of rain fell before midnight. San Angelo measured .14 inch and Midland .03.

The moisture ranged on eastward in a mixed pattern. Radar spotted light rain or drizzle in early morning from near Brownwood toward Longview and Tyler, and from around Dallas toward the south and east in the vicinity of Waco, Austin, College Station and Lufkin into Louisiana.

Outside the Panhandle, early morning temperatures ranged from the high 30s through the 40s, 50s and 60s—and up to 71 degrees at Corpus Christi and 74 at Brownsville, still ahead of the cold front.

Forecasts promised another chilly night in the Panhandle and a little cooler weather tonight and Tuesday over the rest of the state with light rain scattered through all sections.

Overnight marks down to 30 were predicted for the Panhandle, and from the middle and upper 30s into the 40s elsewhere.

Parents Pushing White Boycott

MADISON, Ill. (AP) — A group of parents urged Sunday that a boycott by white pupils at Madison High School continue until the School Board resigns.

A spokesman for the white parents said picketing will continue at the high school. The group also is circulating petitions to ask the seven School Board members to resign.

The board, to end a recent boycott by Negro pupils, reversed a previous decision and reinstated Negro athletes who walked out and were suspended over their protest against cheer-leading selection methods.

That started the white boycott last Monday. The white parents had proposed to have the board members recalled. But Madison County School Supt. Wilbur Trimpe said Illinois law has no recall provision.

Dear Abby Up To The Psychiatrist

DEAR ABBY: We have been married for 14 years and have five children. Two years ago my husband "flipped his lid" so to speak. He shouted at me, cursed me, and even accused me of trying to do away with him.

He is now on his third psychiatrist and has become impossible to live with, so I have started divorce proceedings. My husband cannot adjust to the fact that I am divorcing him, and now he's worse than ever.

I am also seeing a psychiatrist, and MY psychiatrist tells me if I don't get away from this man I will be as sick as he is. But HIS psychiatrist tells him to try to persuade me to postpone the divorce until he is able to adjust to the idea. (His psychiatrist doesn't say how long that will take. He may NEVER adjust to it.)

My friends say I have a duty to stay with my husband. I know I sound heartless, Abby, but I have children to raise and I want them raised in a sane environment. So what do I do now?

UNDECIDED
DEAR UNDECIDED: If you are seeing a psychiatrist, you are paying good money for his guidance. So listen to him, and don't go shopping around for less professional opinions. Your psychiatrist is in a position to know you and your problems better than anyone else. Including ME.

DEAR ABBY: A policewoman who directs traffic near the school my 15-year-old daughter attends made a very insulting remark to my daughter about her mini-skirt. (She said she was surprised she hadn't been sent home from school.) My daughter was annoyed and upset over this.

Isn't a policewoman's job to direct traffic, and not to judge peoples' clothes?

I would appreciate your comments on this. HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I wouldn't condemn the policewoman until I saw your daughter in her mini-skirt. (Is it possible that she was holding up traffic, or could have caused an accident?)

DEAR ABBY: I was delighted to see that you had a good word to say about the traveling man. So many folks are quick to make jokes about how traveling men cheat on their wives. My husband and I have owned a motel since 1951, and we ought to know something about traveling men. For the most

Hammond Of FB Dies

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — J. Walter Hammond, 79, "the father of the Texas Farm Bureau," died Saturday at his Abilene home after a two-year illness.

Hammond was one of the 1939 founders of the Texas Farm Bureau. He served from then until his retirement in 1958.

During the 18 years he was influential in formation of farm policies both in Washington and Austin. The Texas Farm Bureau grew from 4,500 members in 60 counties to more than 80,000 members in nearly every county of the state.

Funeral services are scheduled at 3 p.m. Monday in Central Presbyterian Church in Abilene. Burial will follow in an Abilene cemetery.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Dub Wofford, Abilene; two sisters, Mrs. Lou Ella Henslee, San Francisco, Calif., and Mrs. W. A. Harber, Caps, Tex., and two grandsons.

101st Birthday
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Emily J. Mann, who was born in Oregon just seven years after it became a state, celebrated her 101st birthday Sunday. She has watched the growth of her city and state with interest—especially the freeways.

Riding on the freeway is "the best view of the city you can get," Mrs. Mann said.

Colleges Share In Big Gifts From HFC

Presidents of 703 privately supported, liberal arts colleges and universities have just received checks totaling $121,450, a gift from Household Finance Corporation, the nation's oldest and largest consumer finance company.

The checks ranged from $100 to $1,000, based upon the full-time enrollment of the individual colleges.

Schools in this area which benefited from the grants are Abilene Christian College, Hardin-Simmons University, McMurry College and Wayland Baptist College.

Since 1956, when HFC established its annual program of unrestricted gifts, these have totaled more than $1,000,000.

Checks this year were sent to all qualifying four-year accredited colleges and universities in the 48 states in which HFC operates, according to E. C. Brantley, manager of the Big Spring office of the corporation.

Auto Workers Wrap Up New Chrysler Contract

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers today wrapped up a three-year contract covering 8,000 salaried workers at Chrysler Corp. and then moved on to a showdown battle with General Motors, the giant of the auto industry.

Chrysler and the union announced agreement on a new three-year pact at about 3 a.m., five hours before most of the firm's white collar workers were to report for duty.

HUGE HIKES
The company said the contract called for salary increases ranging from $35 to $87 a month, all of which would be retroactive to Oct. 16, 1967. The 13 salary classes now range from $82.20 to $262 a week.

The pay hikes would follow the patterns laid down by agreements covering UAW hourly rated workers at Ford and Chrysler.

The key issue at Chrysler, the only one of the Big Three auto firms where white collar workers are represented, was translating hourly wage scales into salaries.

Hourly-rated workers at Ford and Chrysler won roughly $1 an hour more above the old Big Three average of $4.70 an hour in wages and fringe benefits.

SPECIAL INCREASES
These agreements include a 30-cent general wage increase

Consumer Credit Service Scores

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two months ago, a group of businessmen established the Consumer Credit Counselors Service in Los Angeles to help persons who have gotten in too deep with consumer credit.

More than 300 families, many on the verge of bankruptcy, have asked for help since the service was founded. Officials expect the number to grow even larger when credit agencies, banks and employers begin referring persons with financial problems to the service.

"Some of the people who have come to us are thousands of dollars in debt and haven't a hope of getting straight," said Norman Fawcett, manager of the nonprofit service.

"We have found we can help in about 75 per cent of the

Cyclists Arrested For 'Crucifixion'

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Angered over the nailing to a tree of a girl member of a motorcycle club, Sheriff William Heidman took two detectives and raided motorcycle clubs in Chicago, Indiana and Detroit until he found his quarry.

Heidman arrived at West Palm Beach Airport about 3 a.m. Sunday with his three handcuffed prisoners.

Florida Gov. Claude Kirk was at the airport to meet them. "You left that girl hanging to the tree and I want to make an example of this thing," said the governor, natty in a pin-stripe suit as he talked with the grimy-clothed prisoners.

"Crazy John, Squirrel and Mangy," Kirk said, repeating the men's nicknames. "This bunch of bums has got the word they're not welcome in Florida. I hope young thrill-seeking girls who go with them know now they can get their fingers turned in this case, their hands nailed."

Booked on charges of aggravated assault and conspiracy were Donald "Mangy" Graves, 18, of Detroit, Joe "Super Squirrel" Sorsby Jr., 19, of Houston, and John "Crazy John" Wables, 24, of Warren, Mich.

Heidman and his men, reinforced by squads of Detroit police, arrested them in a Detroit motorcycle club Friday night after a 1,600 mile, three-day hunt.

Along with two men arrested Nov. 14, they are charged with driving four-inch spikes through the hands of 18-year-old Christine Deese Nov. 10 as punishment because she held out $10 from a club member.

Heidman a sheriff of Palm Beach County, said Christine's outstretched arms were nailed by the hands to a thick limb of an oak tree, with her toes just touching the ground, for about 15 minutes while club members sat around her.

Governor And The Outlaws

Fla. Gov. Claude Kirk (facing, right) talks to Palm Beach county sheriff William Heidman after Heidman returned to West Palm Beach early Sunday from Detroit where he arrested three members of the Outlaw motorcycle gang. Handcuffed, they are, from left, Donald Graves, 18; John Wables, 24; and Joe Sorsby Jr. They are charged with helping nail a girl's hands to a tree.

Texas Pair Being Held

WINTERHAVEN, Calif. (AP) — Police held today a pair of Greenville, Tex., teenagers, one as a runaway and the other charged with kidnaping.

Martha Bever, 16, turned herself into Winterhaven police Sunday and was held by juvenile authorities at Imperial, Calif., as a runaway.

Authorities sought the girl after Wilton Reeves, 19, was arrested Friday at the Mexican border in a bruised and seemingly dazed condition. A warrant for his arrest on a kidnaping charge had been issued in Hunt County, Tex.

Police quoted Reeves as saying he and Miss Bever left Greenville last week to take Edward Dickens, 21, to Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Reeves said their car broke down and they took a ride from an unidentified man who drove them to Algodones, Mexico. Police said Dickens was picked up in Los Angeles. He was accused of being absent without leave from the Marine Corps.

Little Damage In Sharp Earthquake

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A sharp earthquake caused alarm — but apparently little damage — when it rumbled 130 miles or more in all directions from its origin near Denver Sunday night.

The first shock, followed by less severe tremors, was felt at Laramie, Wyo., about 130 miles northwest of Denver, at Pueblo, Colo., some 130 miles south of here and at Goodland, Kan., about 175 miles east.

The shock was felt along both sides of the Continental Divide west of Denver.

Sheriff Charles Clark of Summit County said he felt the quake at his home at Dillon, about 65 miles west of here. Tremors were reported at several cities on or near the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains, including Loveland, Boulder, Louisville, Colorado Springs and Fort Collins.

The first of three quakes hit the Denver area at 10:09 p.m. MST, with a reading of 5.1 on the Richter scale of intensity, according to Maurice Major of the Colorado School of Mines at nearby Golden, Colo.

Twenty-six minutes later, another tremor produced a reading of 4.5, and two minutes after that the third quake registered 3, Major said.

The most severe earthquake on record here was last August and registered 5.3 on the Richter scale at the school's seismograph. That quake caused relatively little damage.

Major said the Sunday night shock was centered in a deep rock fault just northeast of Denver. The fault, in the Derby area, is about 10 miles below the surface.

Police, newspaper, radio and television station switchboards were jammed with calls from anxious residents, some of whom reported they were bounced out of bed by the tremblers.

Ballot Form Questioned

A question has arisen as to whether the ballot forms printed for the ensuing Howard County Airport Authority-Bond Issue election are in proper form.

The ballots, which were put to use today for the first time as absentee voting opened for the Dec. 16 election, follow the old style. The election law, as amended by the last legislature, specifically states that the new ballot forms apply in all elections, with the sole exception of local option voting.

The ballots which are offered for this election set forth the propositions, with statements for and against each. Instructions to the voter are to scratch out the statement on each proposition which is opposite to his wishes.

The new election law specifies that squares be printed on ballots opposite each proposition with the voter instructed to place an "x" or other acceptable mark in the square beside the particular proposition that he favors.

Judge Lee Porter said that he discussed the matter with an attorney for the fiscal agent for the county. The form followed, he said, was on the attorney's instructions.

Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, after studying the amended law, said that he doubted if the old form is acceptable. Porter said he would call the fiscal agency's attorney and recheck with him on the problem.

If the ballots are valid all well, but if they are not they will have to be reprinted to comply with the new law.

While the new law specifies that the ballots must follow the form stated — with the squares in which to mark the voter's wishes — it also provides that if a voter does scratch out the proposition for which he does not want to vote, his vote will not be disqualified.

Poison Bread Fatal To 76

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The only son of a baker who unwittingly baked deadly parathion insecticide into loaves of bread was one of 146 persons still in critical condition in Chiquinquirá today. Sixty-six children and 10 adults died after eating the bread.

The dead were buried in a mass funeral Sunday.

Those hospitalized were being treated with antitoxins flown from other parts of Colombia, Venezuela, Panama and the United States. Ayerst Laboratories Inc. of Little Falls, N.J., supplied 456 grams of protopan chloride, enough to treat 400 persons.

"God can punish me if I was responsible for this tragedy in any way," said the baker, Aurelio Fajardo. He and the driver of the truck that delivered the flour mixed with parathion insecticide were in custody but were expected to be released.

Thirty containers of parathion, used to kill field pests, were loaded on the truck in Bogota along with flour for Fajardo. Three containers broke on a sharp turn and the poison liquid spilled onto 10 bags of flour. The truckdriver said he did not know the liquid was poison.

Wins CAP Award For Excellence

The Meritorious Service Award has been presented to WO Kenneth D. Lawhon for excellence in performing duties as information officer for the Civil Air Patrol.

Lt. E. L. Mulkey, commander of the Big Spring composite squadron for CAP, said that Lawhon had distinguished himself for the period July 14, 1964, to July 15, 1967, in the squadron's information program. He had, said Lt. Mulkey, ranked consistently among the top 10 information officers in the Texas wing. In addition, Lawhon had been invaluable in the recruiting program and last December took on the additional duties as executive officer.

IN WEST TEXAS

Copter To Help Check Motorists

If you are driving along a highway in Howard County these days and see a helicopter hovering overhead don't be deluded into the belief that it is a military aircraft.

Very likely it will be a highway patrol ship and how you are driving will be something that the pilot can readily evaluate and report to other highway patrolmen in cars on the road.

COMMUNICATION
Jack White, information and safety officer for the highway patrol, said that Major Lee E. Gossett, Midland, commander of the patrol's 49-county West Texas region, had announced Saturday that one of the Department of Public Safety's two leased helicopters would be assigned to this area and put on patrol.

The machine is manned by a pilot and by a highway patrol officer. The latter will be in communication with other patrol cars and with headquarters on the behavior of drivers below.

BRIEF TEST
White was told that the two copters have been leased on a four-month trial basis.

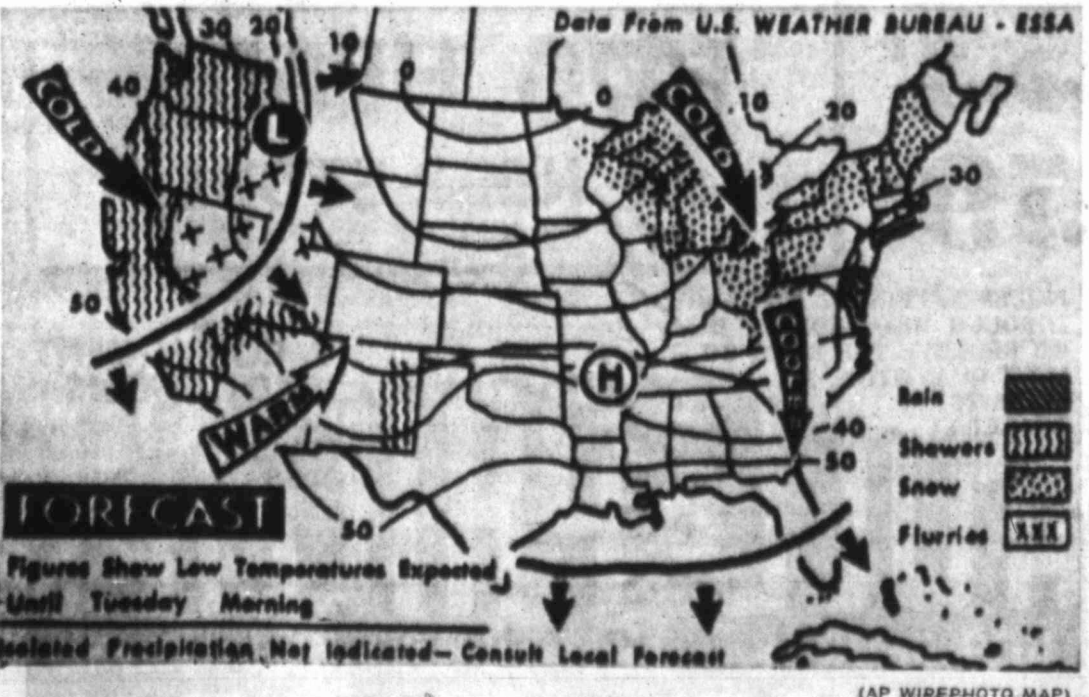

Gossett said in a statement released Saturday: "This is completely new to the State of Texas. Only two helicopters have been leased for a four-month experimental period. The department has trained pilots assigned to flying the helicopters. Current plans call for having the helicopter work in the Midland-Odessa-Big Spring area; the El Paso area; the Abilene area and the San Angelo area."

Workshop Scheduled On Rehabilitative Nursing

A two-day workshop on rehabilitative nursing will be presented by the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital on Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 4 and 5.

Conducted by Miss Lucie C. M. Schultz, associate professor of nursing, Texas Woman's University, the program will feature practical methods of helping disabled patients return to as productive and normal a life as possible. The workshop is planned to aid nurses who work in small community hospitals and who must depend largely upon their own ingenuity and resourcefulness to meet the rehabilitative needs of their patients.

Miss Schultz, a graduate of Incarnate Word College of Nursing, San Antonio, holds a Master's Degree from the Frances Payne Bolton School of Nursing, Western Reserve University. She specialized in Rehabilitation Nursing at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation in New York, later completing additional post-master's work at Boston University. Miss Schultz is presently Program Director, Rehabilitation Nursing Workshops, Texas Woman's University College of Nursing, Houston Center.

Also featured on the program for Tuesday is Dr. Verna Mae Crutchfield, associate professor of education and psychology, Angelo State College, San Angelo. Dr. Crutchfield, a speech pathologist as well as an educator, will speak on "Working with the Adult Aphasia Patient."

Death Suspect Awaiting Quiz

Sheriff A. N. Standard said this morning that Jessie Lee Zuck, 16, arrested in this county last weekend for frauding an innkeeper in Sweetwater and later detained as a suspect in the murder of a six year old Oklahoma City child, is still in Nolan County jail.

Officials in Sweetwater told the sheriff that they have instructions from Oklahoma City to detain the youth until investigators from that city can reach the Nolan County seat.

No new developments, Nolan County authorities, told Standard, have developed locally. Apparently there is no explanation why the Oklahomans are so long in coming to Sweetwater. There was a published report over the weekend that new clues turned up in Oklahoma City had decreased the reasons officers had for suspecting Zuck. The officers did not reveal the new developments.

Says Vietnamese Distrust Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Fred Schwengel, returning from a private tour of Vietnam, says the South Vietnamese distrust their government because it is composed largely of military men and distrust Americans because they are white.

As for himself, the Iowa Republican says he was "pretty hawkish" when he left for Vietnam and "far less hawkish now."

Cold Doesn't Slow Shoppers

About the closest thing of the autumn season to wintry weather had the area in its chilly grasp today.

Heavy clouds brought a cold drizzle to Big Spring in the early hours of Monday morning. The temperature dipped to a cool 38 degrees at 8 a.m. — the same reading which still prevailed at 11:30 a.m.

The drizzle had accumulated more than a quarter inch of moisture at 8 a.m., but the wetness was diminishing at 11:30 a.m.

The forecast calls for the continuation of the same sort of weather throughout today, tonight and on Tuesday.

No freeze is forecast. The predicted low tonight will be about the same as early today.

Despite the unpleasantness, the downtown area was thronged today with the heaviest traffic in many weeks as Christmas buying got underway. Parking places were at a premium downtown and sidewalks were teeming with pedestrians.

Crews of workmen were straining up the downtown Yule decorations.

School Study Grizzle To Meet

The Texas Small School Administrators Association pilot study group will have its regular monthly meeting at 7 p.m. today at Howard County Junior College. The participants from several counties go to various sub-groups to which they are assigned. In the Jan. 25 meeting, however, there will be a general session.

Monday morning, top students from a number of schools in this area began a seminar-type series, on topics of their own choosing. Today they discussed the drug problem on campuses. The next meeting is set for three weeks from now.

Council Faces Busy But Routine Session

City commissioners meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in City Hall face a relatively routine session, according to the agenda released this morning by City Manager Larry Crow.

Transactions in the early 1960's between the City and two pipe companies named in a price-fixing suit will be reviewed by City Attorney Tom Huckaby, "with the idea in mind we might enter into the damage suit" said Crow. The two companies, United Concrete Pipe Corp. and Gifford Hill-American, Inc., have been indicted in a suit brought by CRMWD and several Texas cities.

BEFORE RUNNING

Romney Alerted Church Of His Independence

NEW YORK (AP) — Before Governor Romney first ran for governor of Michigan in 1962, a magazine article says, he went to Salt Lake City and warned leaders of the Mormon Church that his political career would put heat on his church's racial policies.

church influence and made it clear that his stands would not be altered by what Harris characterizes as Mormonism's anti-Negro bias.

The report is made in the issue of Look magazine appearing Tuesday. The writer is T. George Harris, senior editor of Look and author of a forthcoming book, "Romney's Way."

Romney—a declared candidate for the 1968 Republican nomination for president—told David O. McKay, the Mormon president, and a group of advisers that if there were any religious objections to his running for governor, he wanted to know them.

Bandit Binds Motel Clerk, Grabs Cash

Seventy-five dollars in cash was taken from the Americana Motor Inn, 804 IS 20 West, Saturday at 10:30 p.m. in an armed robbery.

A white male in his late twenties entered the office of the motel carrying a small brown sack. He came around the counter and pulled a gun from the sack. He told the desk clerk, Dorothy Hull, to go to the back and she entered the bathroom to lie down on the floor on her stomach. After taping her hands and feet, he placed a piece of tape over her mouth.

The robber came back after getting the money. He removed the tape from her mouth and told her not to move for 30 minutes. A guest at the motel found Mrs. Hull, released her and police were notified.

Brazen Bandits Strike Twice

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Two bandits held up a sandwich shop in Baltimore early Sunday and then, while the waitress telephoned police, walked next door and held up a second shop.

The waitress, Helen Carr, said a patrol car arrived in about four minutes. But by that time, the holdup men had escaped with $49 from the two stores.

It was the second holdup in two days at the shop where Mrs. Carr works, and the 18th there in the past seven years.

Portuguese Floods Kill More Than 250 Persons

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Covered in slums of Lisbon's suburbs and nearby villages, Grieving Portuguese buried their dead and dug away today at the muck and mire left by heavy weekend rains and floods which killed more than 250 persons and destroyed thousands of dwellings in heavily populated Greater Lisbon and surrounding villages.

HUNDREDS HURT

Hundreds more were injured, and many were missing under tons of debris and mud. Muddled bodies were still being recovered in slums of Lisbon's suburbs and nearby villages. The poor, living in filthily constructed dwellings, suffered most. As the downpour collapsed house after house, there were relatively few casualties in better built buildings.

Most of the dead and injured were in the low-lying Lisbon suburb of Odivelas, where more than 60 bodies had been counted by sundown Sunday, and in the village of Quintas, about 30 miles north of Lisbon, where more than 90 were reported dead.

DISEASE DANGERS

Interior Minister Alfredo Rodrigues dos Santos said "approximately 250" were dead but indicated the final toll was expected to be much higher. He directed municipal officials to bury the dead quickly because of the danger of disease and infection.

Residents of the affected area were warned to boil water before drinking it. There were reports health authorities would conduct a vaccination campaign against typhus.

The heavy rains, which the Weather Bureau said were unprecedented in many areas, brought disastrous flooding in low sections.

A dike broke in Odivelas, sending water gushing through the small town. The swirling torrents crumbled houses and swept up people, pets, livestock, automobiles and debris of all kinds.

Many people drowned. Others were crushed by collapsing walls. Some were electrocuted by broken power lines. There were many automobile accidents when the rain was the heaviest, between 6 p.m. and midnight Saturday. A great number were buried under mud slides.

HOUSES FOLD

Water rose 8 to 10 feet in some areas. Hundreds of cars were abandoned on the streets of Lisbon and on country roads. Many motorists took refuge on top of their cars or in nearby buildings. Some were hoisted up into second-floor windows.

Many drowned in their beds. Others were swept away by the flood waters. House's collapsed trapping whole families under the debris and mud.

This is the season for heavy rain in most of Portugal, but the Weather Bureau said the 3.1 inches that fell in the Lisbon area in six hours Saturday was unprecedented.

Plane Crash Cuts Vacation Short

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two Kansas City law partners were homebound today, their vacation cut short by a plane crash in the Atlantic where they drifted on a raft for some four hours before being rescued.

Lantz Welch and James Horn told the Coast Guard in Miami they were picked up by a fishing vessel 50 miles at sea Saturday. The Coast Guard, unaware of the rescue, had continued its search through Sunday.

They said they drifted for about four hours before being picked up by the fishing boat "San Francisco."

Texan Linked To Slayings

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican police are looking for an American in connection with the brutal slayings of a retired couple from Oregon City, Ore.

A Mexico City newspaper last week identified the suspect as Hedron Daridon, a physician and a Korean war veteran.

He is wanted for questioning about the machete and bullet killings of Mr. and Mrs. Percy L. Gentry. The bodies were found last week near Queretaro, about 100 miles northwest of Mexico City.

Gentry, 62, retired recently as a Southern Pacific yardmaster. He and his wife Margaret, 57, were taking a leisurely trip in their camper, heading toward Central America.

A Portland newspaper, the Oregonian, said a check with the FBI in Las Vegas, Nev., revealed that Daridon might be Carroll Boyd Nanny, 35, who also is known as Earl Van Blaricom. FBI records show Nanny was born at Fabens, Tex., and attended Baylor University in Waco.

The newspaper said the FBI is seeking Nanny because he jumped bail while awaiting arraignment on federal auto theft charges. FBI agents told the newspaper Nanny is a member of a ring that smuggles stolen cars into Mexico.

The Oregonian said the FBI reported its investigations have linked Nanny with the killing of the Gentrys.

SOCIAL SECURITY DEBATE Congress To Act On Tax Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rested from a Thanksgiving recess, Congress returns to consider controversial legislation dealing with poverty, foreign aid, Social Security and the big issue of the session—taxes.

Both Senate and House scheduled noon sessions today—but the key decisions will come first in the committee rooms.

Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, 15th adjournment would be possible. House Appropriations Committee, predicted today that "hasty passage of a tax bill is not likely."

Bow said an administration pledge to cut spending may end the tug of war between the President and Congress.

"However, other questions still require answers before the House will vote for higher taxes," Bow said. "Foremost among them is the economic situation of the country, now somewhat stagnant."

PAY RAISES

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., another opponent of the tax bill, predicted "long and exhaustive floor debate" if it survives Mills' committee and a favorable House vote.

Other bills awaiting final congressional decisions:

Houston Couple's Baby 200 Millionth American

HOUSTON (AP) — Joseph Alan Williams, who weighed in at a husky 9 pounds and 15 ounces, was born just in time to be counted as the 200 millionth American, report officials at Memorial Baptist Hospital Northwest.

He arrived a week ago, and they planned a special ceremony today before the blue-eyed baby boy and his mother started home from the hospital.

Dr. Gerald W. Maness, the physician who delivered him, arranged to be there along with representatives of the Houston mayor, the chamber of commerce and other wellwishers.

TWIN SONS

Young Joseph Alan is the son of Joe and Carolyn Williams. They're also parents of a daughter, Annette, 7, and twin sons, Cary and Gary, 6. The father is a Houston butcher.

The U.S. Census Bureau reported the baby's birth at 10:10 a.m. last Monday occurred just as the population clock in its Washington offices ticked off the 200 million population count—a level also passed only by India, China and Russia.

Some individuals—President Johnson is among them—claim the bureau's count is running quite a few laps behind and the 200 millionth American actually was born about two years ago.

An executive of the Houston hospital said the Census Bureau nevertheless proceeded with plans to mark the arrival, and called for hospitals across the nation to advise when babies arrived at the census people's selected time.

It was only last Wednesday, the 25th birthday of Mrs. Williams, that the parents learned Joseph was designated.

They Honeymoon After 58 Years

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Harry V. Spidle are on their honeymoon today—58 years after Spidle first proposed to the former Mary C. Segmiller.

Miss Segmiller came to Cincinnati where she eventually became head of Deaconess Hospital's nursing school, retiring in 1964. Spidle became an agricultural researcher and bought a farm near Tiffin, Ohio. He married and raised five children before his wife died.

Last year, Miss Segmiller and Spidle met again in their native Altoona, Pa., where both were visiting relatives. They got together and the courtship resumed. They were married Saturday night.

Both were 17 at the time of the first proposal in 1909 but the courtship ended because her father felt she was too young for marriage.

Lucky Pilot Misses Target

CHESTERFIELD, Mass. (AP) — His plane was out of fuel and he was blown 15 miles off course, but a Kingston, N.Y., man ended up with only scratched hands and a slightly dented airplane after landing in a field.

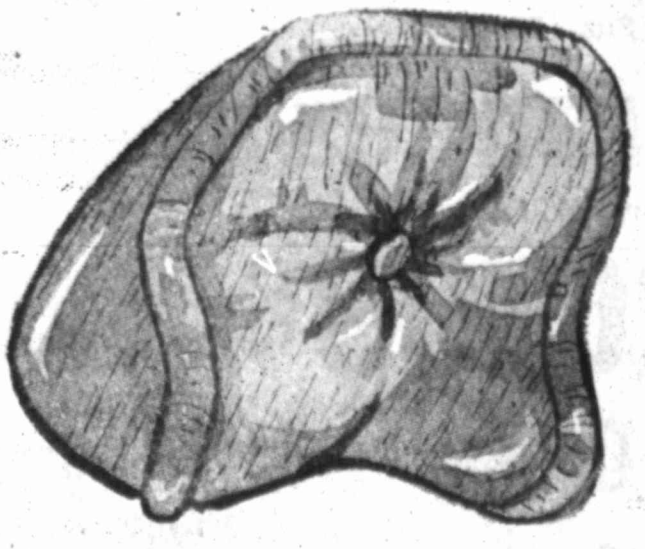

Police said Richard N. Netter, 23, was bound from Red Hook, N.Y., to Worcester Sunday when he ran into trouble and made a forced landing in his single-engine plane.

King Charts Out More 'Civil Disobedience'

FROGMORE, S.C. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and about 80 of his top lieutenants from across the nation are mapping strategy for a massive civil disobedience program for Washington, D.C., next spring.

The week-long session, closed to the press, concerns civil disobedience moves such as a possible "tent-in" across from the White House and sit-down demonstrations in the offices of congressmen, a King spokesman said.

The demonstrations would continue indefinitely "should Congress fail to enact meaningful reform measures for America's poor," said Tom Offenburger, the King aide.

Offenburger said Sunday in an Atlanta interview that the strategy session also will consider recruitment of a hard-core cadre of 2,000 volunteers from 10 of the nation's cities who would plan the Washington protests.

He said the demonstrations would be nonviolent.

"What we hope to do is to build up pressure for reforms," Offenburger said.

"We think that the present mood of Congress is not conducive to really meaningful legislative reforms in terms of the poor," Offenburger said.

"They're just barely getting the poverty bill out of Congress now, and its been cut and isn't sufficient."

He said King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference, joined by other civil rights groups, will go to Washington in the spring "with specific proposals for the government around the question of jobs and income."

"We're appealing to the federal government for action," Offenburger said. "For example, Dr. King has called for a guaranteed income, and a massive works program to provide jobs."

Colorado City's Chamber Backs City Sales Tax

COLORADO CITY (SC)—The Colorado City Chamber of Commerce has voted to assume the promotion and presentation of the city sales tax, with an election set for Dec. 15.

Chamber of Commerce president Frank Deregibus met with the city council earlier in the week, and heard a presentation of Colorado City's need for additional funds by Mayor John Chinn and members of the council.

Mayor Chinn told the group that there was a "possibility" that property taxes could be reduced if the sales tax were passed, but that it was almost a sure thing that property taxes would be raised in 1968 or 1969 if local citizens should turn down a sales tax.

The Chamber of Commerce will mail letters to local voters and will send speakers to clubs and organizations for promotional talks.

HUMPHREY DEFENDS U. S. OBJECTIVES

Have Changed Position In Viet, Bobby Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., says the United States has undetermined its moral position because it changed its reasons for fighting in Vietnam, inflicting thousands of civilian casualties there and "I think we're going to have a difficult time explaining this to ourselves."

But Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey contends the Johnson administration's Vietnam policy is designed to prevent nuclear war.

AGAINST FUTURE

"We are taking stands now for limited objectives in the war, in battlefields far away, so that we may not have to take a stand later on in a greater conflagration. In other words, I don't think the people want a mageddon on the installment plan," Humphrey said.

The two spoke in television interviews Sunday—Kennedy on CBS' "Face the Nation"; Humphrey on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Kennedy said the United States first involved itself in the war so the people of South Vietnam could decide their own future and government without interference by North Vietnam.

"That is certainly the way I looked at it when I was in President Kennedy's administration and when I was with President Johnson."

NO VIET EFFORT

"Now we turned, when we found that the South Vietnamese haven't given the support and are not making the effort; now we're saying we're going to fight there so that we don't have to fight in Thailand, so that we don't have to fight on the West Coast of the United States, so that they won't move across the Rockies.

"Our whole moral position, it seems to me, changes tremendously," Kennedy said.

He also charged that the South Vietnamese army "has really pulled out" of the war, suffering fewer casualties than the Americans who "are carrying the burden of the fighting."

He asked why South Vietnamese troops weren't fighting on the demilitarized zone or at Dak To, the scene in recent days of some of the bloodiest fighting of the war.

COURAGEOUS FIGHTING

"My answer of course," replied Humphrey when asked about Kennedy's comment, "would be that the South Vietnamese army has been at Dak To" as well as the demilitarized zone and has done "some of the most courageous fighting of this war."

Humphrey added that the South Vietnamese army, in addition to combat, also is responsible for pacification, "the nitty-gritty, the hard part of this war as much as any other part."

The mission, Humphrey said, is to give security and protection to South Vietnam's civilian population against Viet Cong guerrilla tactics and terrorism at the village and hamlet level.

Kennedy and Humphrey also disagreed on the effects of the war on the people of this country.

Death Toll Is Below 1967

By The Associated Press

Deaths on the nation's streets and highways mounted steadily Sunday night during the final hours of the long Thanksgiving day weekend, but the death toll was behind last year's record slaughter.

Weary travelers clogged roads on their homeward journeys Sunday and swelled the death toll to 634.

Last year 748 persons were killed over the Thanksgiving weekend, a record for any holiday period.

The count began at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and ended at midnight Sunday, a 102-hour period.

In comparison, 567 persons were killed in a similar but non-holiday period from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 8, to midnight Sunday, Nov. 12, an Associated Press survey showed.

The National Safety Council does not forecast the number of fatalities from traffic accidents expected over the Thanksgiving holiday period. The council regards the holiday as one which most Americans spend at home.

A Devotional For The Day

Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do. (Luke 23:24)

PRAYER: Father, help us to follow Christ's example in praying for those who seek to harm us and despitely use us. As we pray for them, may our hearts reach out in love and concern. May our prayers in their behalf be followed by efforts to break down all barriers that exist between them and us. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Embarrassing Test

A most embarrassing test of the secret, innermost working of the government's security services — MI-6 for secret intelligence and MI-5 for counter-intelligence. But British officials are going to be hard put to sustain this position if, as appears likely, the memoirs are published in Russia — or for that matter, in the United States. It would appear a bit silly to deny residents of Britain information freely available to those of Russia and other countries. If, on the other hand, authorities fail to move against publication of those memoirs, the Official Secrets Act will resemble well-aged Swiss cheese.

This certainly promises to be a bit of a nuisance.

Under any normal interpretation of the Official Secrets Act, the publication of those memoirs would be an offense, since they would reveal the secret, innermost working of the government's security services — MI-6 for secret intelligence and MI-5 for counter-intelligence. But British officials are going to be hard put to sustain this position if, as appears likely, the memoirs are published in Russia — or for that matter, in the United States. It would appear a bit silly to deny residents of Britain information freely available to those of Russia and other countries. If, on the other hand, authorities fail to move against publication of those memoirs, the Official Secrets Act will resemble well-aged Swiss cheese.

Help In Transition Period

British devaluation of the pound sterling was a long, painful time coming, and in retrospect appears to have been inevitable. The devaluation, which has sent a financial shock wave throughout the Western world, will not in itself solve Britain's deep-set economic problems, even with vigorous and necessarily fast follow-up action to improve its adverse trade position, but it was an essential first step.

Basically, the British economic problem is that of completing conversion from a world military, empire, banking power to a modern industrialized trading nation dependent on collective security. World War II foreign investments depletion, loss of empire, loosening of Commonwealth ties, a chronically adverse trade position, military overextension, obsolescence of industrial structure, and the heavy institutional drag on education, management techniques, technological advances, and on economic policy flexibility — all these were only brought to a head by this year's Middle East war, dock strikes, and alarming early fall trade deficit.

Ultimately Britain must integrate its economy with Western Europe by Common Market membership, restrict its military commitments to self-defense, reorient its education, remodel its industrial structure, relieve itself of the pressure of sustaining a reserve currency, accelerate technological adaptation of scientific advances, and strive for popular discipline to increase productivity, control inflation and strengthen political stability. That is indeed a tall order, and it is in the direct interests of Western Europe and the United States and the Commonwealth to help the British in every way possible to overcome their transition crisis.

The British struggle will, in fact already has, thrown additional strain on the war-burdened, inflation-threatened United States economy, which is itself plagued by a balance-of-payments deficit, pressure for higher interest rates, and the effort to sustain the dollar as the dominant free-world reserve currency.

It is absolutely imperative in this situation for the United States to control internal inflationary forces, check the protectionist wave in Congress and keep trade channels open, and push urgently for a new international monetary system that will relieve speculative pressures on the dollar as well as the pound. Asia may be important to American security strategically, but Britain and Western Europe are more important economically.

Rent Your Car At Department Store

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Customers at Rich's, this city's oldest and largest department store, can now walk in, do their Christmas shopping, rent a car and drive out with their purchases.

And they can charge it all with their regular Rich's credit card.

THE CAR RENTAL service started on Nov. 8, 1967, under a lease agreement between Rich's and Ohio Rent-A-Car Inc. The rental firm operates the business, using Rich's facilities, promotion, etc., and pays the department store a commission on total rentals.

Mrs. E. M. Kelly, vice-president of Ohio Rent-A-Car, is manager of the Atlanta operation, coming from a similar position at F. and R. Lazarus, Inc., a department store in Columbus, Ohio.

"WE HAVE FOUND that such a service is needed by department store customers, and experience in other stores has proven that this service will be used," Mrs. Kelly said.

Rates begin at $5 per day and five cents per mile for the compact and range upward, depending on the type car and equipment. A standard passenger car, fully equipped, for instance, rents for $7 per day and seven cents per mile.

The cars must be checked out and returned to the main Rich's store downtown at present, but plans are to extend the service to a branch store in the suburban Lenox shopping center.

Billy Graham

Dr. Graham, I go to a church where they put great emphasis upon the sort of clothing one wears. They don't believe in sleeveless dresses, short hair, or bathing suits. Could you tell me what these things have to do with being a Christian? I am at a loss to know.

Why would a person rent a car from a department store rather than from a regular car rental agency?

"THE KEY to the whole thing," she said, "is the fact that their regular credit card can be used to charge the rental as well as serving as a deposit."

Mrs. Kelly founded Ohio-Rent-A-Car with an operation at Rikes Department Store in Dayton. Robert Kramer bought the business in 1966 and is president of the company.

Since Kramer took over, the operation has been expanded to the Lazarus Department Store in Columbus, L. S. Ayers department store in Indianapolis, Inc., and Rich's.

By Lamar Matthews, substituting for John Cunniff.

"WE ARE NOT aiming for the commercial trade," Mrs. Kelly said, pointing out that the maximum lease period is one month.

"Basically, our's is a family thing for local residents. For instance in a city the size of Atlanta, there are a number of traffic accidents each day. A person may want to rent a car for a day or two while his car is being repaired. Or perhaps a family car might not be in shape for a vacation trip, so a car would be rented from Rich's."

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Raymond Gilbert, 17, hopes his "mouse ranch" will help put him through college. He began four years ago with a pair of white mice and now has more than 300 in his home at Boulder.

He sells them at anywhere from $1 to $5 a pair and says he has 27 varieties.

Troubles Trim LBJ's Tree

WASHINGTON (AP) — Besides the packages of trouble stacked under the tree, the tree itself is trimmed with monotony. So this will not be President Johnson's happiest Christmas.

For a while, after it became clear American forces in Vietnam were going to have to stay quite a while, there was a bustle and fervor about the criticism dumped on Johnson.

IT CAME from all directions, including Congress, in the form of denunciation of American involvement or a variety of proposed solutions, although only Johnson, not the critics, would have the task of applying the solutions.

Neither Johnson nor those around him have been any match, in the multitude of their answers, for the vaster multitude of criticisms.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, probably more than anyone in the administration, has talked the most in defense of the administration and the war. But now he sounds like a broken record. So do the critics. It's the same thing over and over on both sides.

JUST BEFORE Thanksgiving, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, visited Johnson here and went around spreading optimism. But it won't help Johnson's Christmas much.

He was predicting the beginning of a U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam in two years.

But by then the 1968 presidential election will be long over and it's the election Johnson has to begin worrying about now, in addition to the war.

It's easy to say Johnson has it made anyway, that the Democratic party, no matter how unhappy it may be over having Johnson run again, can hardly deny renomination to a president. But it has happened before.

AT THE moment public opinion polls show public confidence in him at an all-time low. Worse than that, from his viewpoint, it's hard to see how he can increase that confidence unless the war takes an unexpectedly good turn.

No president in recent memory—except Herbert Hoover in the 1932 depression and Harry S. Truman in 1948—will have started thinking of a second term under as many handicaps as Johnson. Truman made it, Hoover didn't.

Dodo Finds A Home

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — His name is Dodo.

His past is murky and his ancestors unknown, but to the 4,000-man brigade at the U.S. Naval Academy, the little black and brown mongrel already outranks the Navy goat in academy tradition.

It was on a stormy night during first-semester finals last year that he wandered dripping into a room in Bancroft Hall, the vast dormitory for midshipmen.

SOMEBODY gave him some misappropriated food from the mess hall, dried him off and it was immediately apparent that Dodo had found a home.

He never spends two nights in the same room, fastidiously avoids favoritism and ignores commissioned officers with a disdain that brings secret delight to the hearts of his dormitory mates.

Wherever the brigade goes, Dodo is there.

He sleeps in Bancroft, eats in the mess hall, marches at parades, including June Week, and regularly attends classes.

HIS EXPLOITS are heralded and numerous. He's been in classes, in chapel, in love and in trouble about as much as his human classmates and this fall he was granted all the privileges of an upper-classman.

It is not unusual to see plebes snap to attention when he saunters into one of their rooms.

Nor is it unusual for him to trot happily along behind a trio of upper classmen when they head for Annapolis on weekend leave.

SO IMPORTANT has he become to the brigade that various midshipmen are assigned to keep a log of his activities.

Around The Rim

Didn't Know It Couldn't Be Done

One thing and another: I identify with Nathan Bedford Forrest, the general who rode "with the South during the 1861-65 War Between the States."

I mean for a liberal helping of the old charisma, how can you beat him? Consider the man:

He had almost no formal education and must have been rebuked at times by those who did — he had a cool disregard bordering on contempt for West Pointers, most of whom he felt looked down upon him.

CONSEQUENTLY, he never passed up a chance to put them in their place.

One chance came when troops masterminded by Forrest made military history by capturing a Navy craft flying Union colors. His horse soldiers caught a U.S. gunboat steaming up the narrow Cumberland river. Their fire from two small cannons forced the ship aground on a sandbar.

THE BEARDED general couldn't resist the opportunity to ride his horses aboard the vessel. The feat raised questions in Confederate headquarters back in Richmond. His superiors inquired as to how the act was accomplished.

A lot of Forrest's pent-up frustrations were let loose in his reply, which read:

"Not having the benefit of a West Point education, I did not know it could not be done."

I LIKE THE story about the exasperated money-lender and the man who approached him about a loan.

The shlyock was quite acid in his remarks. Said he:

"Your finances are in terrible shape — overdrawn accounts, extended loans. Why do you allow your wife to spend more money than you make?"

"Because I'd rather argue with you than her," the man with debts outstanding replied.

Wasn't it Mark Twain who said that, had the serpent rather than the apple been forbidden, Adam would have been the first person on earth to sink a tooth into snake meat?

The Militant Ministers

WASHINGTON — Much has been heard from time to time about "separation of church and state" in America. But a recent episode emphasized that clergymen feel they have a right to tell the government what to do. While a Virginia pastor was reprimanded by the laymen of his church for expressing his criticism of the Vietnam war policy in the presence of the President of the United States — obviously an act of discourtesy — the real issue was not given much prominence.

FOR EVERYTHING that the Virginia minister — the Rev. Cotesworth Pinckney Lewis — said and far more caustic remarks have been uttered by pastors of various churches throughout the United States. Indeed, national church organizations have issued declarations not only dissenting from the President's policies in Vietnam but also presenting demands for the ending of the war through a halt in the bombing and other moves.

Laymen in many parts of the country are protesting against the activist role of their preachers who participate in "lie-ins" or "sit-ins," and openly encourage "demonstrations." In one city where a member of the staff of an Episcopal Archdiocese had been urging men to burn their draft cards, picketing by enraged churchgoers ensued, and the Bishop finally issued an order forbidding further acts of civil disobedience by his staff.

A TOP OFFICIAL of one church has proclaimed that "revolution is our business." A nationwide conference held under the auspices of the National Council of Churches heard delegates proclaim that churches not only should become "sanctuaries" for draft evaders but should sponsor a 24-hour general strike across the United States if the Vietnam war is escalated sharply. Some delegates felt that the "complete restructuring" of society in this country might justify the arming of snipers and incitement to riot. One of the study papers said:

"Detailed mobilization of church resources must be developed to respond to confrontation between the police-military arm of the state and subjugated, robbed and excluded populations."

The trend toward militancy on the part of clergymen has been growing. Many pastors feel that it is their function and duty to discuss public questions and, in effect, to persuade their congregations to take certain attitudes toward governmental questions.

UNFORTUNATELY, many of the clergymen have not familiarized themselves with all the facts connected with controversial questions. Also, numerous church-going people feel that pastors might well concentrate on how to make human beings better rather than on how to change the policies of the federal, state or local governments.

The cause of human welfare in domestic as well as international affairs might be enhanced if the pastors could help to build the moral character of their individual members.

MANY PARISHIONERS are complaining that, when they go to church, they do not like to hear lectures on political science or similar subjects that are not readily understood. But if pastors are to debate current political issues in the pulpit and "church and state" are no longer to be "separate," then maybe the government has a duty to set up a "peace corps" to help educate clergymen on public questions.

The Drawn Battle Over Poverty

WASHINGTON — "Is that Sargent Shriver being carried on the shoulders of his admirers?" asked the Returning Traveler. "Is that a victory celebration being held for the War on Poverty?"

NOT ENTIRELY, he was told. Those people are some 200 Congressmen, about half the membership of the House of Representatives, and they're actually performing a removal procedure. Performing it gently, of course, because practically everybody in town likes and admires Shriver.

"Not a royal impeachment? Not the unthrone of the Poverty Czar?" exclaimed the Traveler. "I'm aware that Shriver threatened to abdicate if he didn't get sufficient funds for the Office of Economic Opportunity. But he did pretty well, didn't he? He got within a few digits of last year's amount, even though he was asking for more."

THAT'S TRUE, the Traveler was told, but about half the House, using the strength of a near-majority, managed to remove Shriver from a certain amount of his sovereignty. They did this by forcing the Education-Labor committee to incorporate the Edith Green Amendment which wrenched control of the Community Action program away from Shriver and which turned it over to the city halls and the county courthouses. Also, the House put a ban on some of the high salaries. Anyway you look at it, it's a loss of sovereignty for Shriver — he's being firmly removed from a portion of his seat of power.

"He doesn't seem to be unduly distressed about it," the Traveler observed.

NO DOUBT the Czar is thinking that things could have gone a whole lot worse for him, the Traveler was informed. There was a time when it seemed that the House would dismantle the whole anti-Poverty empire by distributing many programs to non-Shriver agencies. As it turned out, he's to get less money than he'd like to have, and not as much authority as he used to have, but his friends are pleased to have cut their expected losses.

"The House must have relented at the last moment," said the Traveler. "The members must have been moved to mercy by consideration of how well the OEO has served the poor. With the country four-fifths well-to-do, the constituents back home must have instructed the Representatives to go easy on dismantling the OEO."

THAT'S NOT exactly what took place, it was patiently explained to the Traveler who'd been away for a while. In truth, the rich people of America are sympathetic toward the poor, but they're widely dissatisfied with the conduct of the War on Poverty. They believe that the poor can be helped without institutionalizing an insatiable pressure group, a self-perpetuating bureaucracy and a population — within the population, all that being what the War on Poverty means. Indeed, if the Congress were wholly responsive to its constituency, the OEO might have been retooled beyond recognition.

"Then what happened?" demanded the Traveler.

TWO HAPPENINGS took place, it was explained to him. One was an external force, the other an internal force. You can hear it said that the President isn't much of a force these days, but not so. There's life in the Old Lion still. More than any single factor, it was LBJ who kept the OEO substantially intact.

"And the inside force?"

THAT WOULD be the growing pains of the GOP. Paradoxically, the Republicans lost their fight against the OEO because they're getting stronger around the country every day. A few years ago, they formed a coalition with the Southern Democrats. That combination has ceased to exist since the GOP developed a Southern wing of its own. The coalition has been scuttled, and that's a reason why the OEO survived.

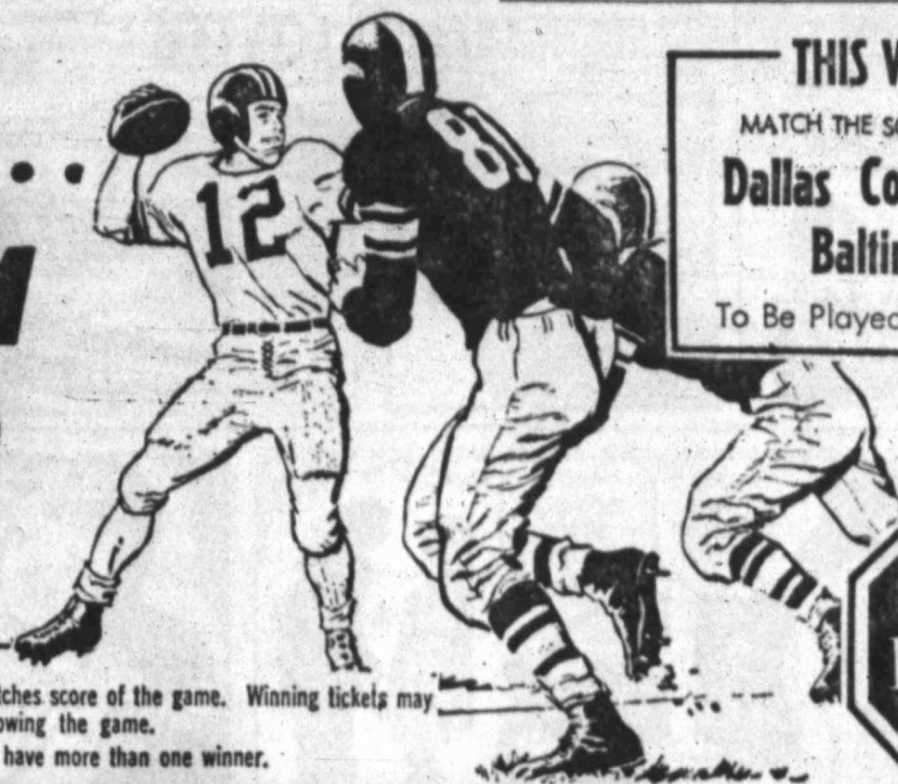

"Now, I can clearly see that there's no victory celebration taking place," agreed the Traveler. "It was one of those contests that ended in a stand-off."

Packers Edge Bears To Nail Division Crown

Green Bay's burial brigade has made an early killing in the National Football League's Central Division.

But, if you ask Packers pundit Vince Lombardi, Chicago's Papa Bear is a very lively corpse.

Lombardi lauded George Halas, Chicago's 72-year-old owner-coach, Sunday after the Packers nailed down the Central title with a 17-13 verdict over the rugged Bears.

"Get this straight; he's an old man but he's a great man," Lombardi told newsmen in Chicago, where stories had been written suggesting Halas stepped down after 40 years as the Bears' pilot.

Hawks Have Troubles

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks bombed Garden City, Kan., by an 80-54 tally for their only win in five starts this basketball season.

For their other four starts, the local Hawks have dropped games with score differentials from four points (92-96 to McLennan) to 20 points (58-78 to N. E. Colorado) at Garden City last Friday.

Big guns for the Hawks have been dead-eyed Robert Jackson who is averaging 15.2 points in five games, and Wallace (Hawk) Stuart with a 12.2 average over the same span.

Third man on the scoring totem pole is Larry Linder who has poured in the tallies at a 10.4 point per game consistency.

In over-all total points, the totals are but 13 points off the pace—384 to the opponents' combined 397 total points.

Dobbs To Scout UTEP's Opponent

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Dobbs, the university of Texas at El Paso football coach, says he'll be in Starkville, Miss., Saturday to scout El Paso's Dec. 30 Sun Bowl opponent, Mississippi, against Mississippi State.

El Paso accepted a bid Saturday night to play in the 33rd annual Sun Bowl after returning from a 28-8 victory at Utah and finishing the regular season play at 6-2-1.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Houston Oilers stayed in hot pursuit of first place in the Eastern Division of the American Football League Sunday and could thank a rocklike defense and the running of Hoyte Granger for a 27-6 victory over Boston.

Surprising Hoosiers Rest As Bowl Picture Settled

By The Associated Press Indiana Coach John Pont already has worked a miracle on the football field and now he seems to expect one off it.

Pont, whose Hoosiers won a trip to the Rose Bowl by shocking third-ranked Purdue 19-14 Saturday, said Sunday his team now would get a three-week rest and added:

"Our players now go back to leading normal lives." This makes Pont either a supreme optimist or one of the greatest dry wits in Indiana.

Interleague Swaps Pace Baseball Meet Opening

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The interleague trading mart is expected to pick up today when the annual winter baseball meeting opens after a weekend of lobby conversation dominated by expansion talks.

The New York Mets are involved in two deals still hanging fire. The Chicago White Sox still owe the Mets a player as part of the swap that sent third baseman Kenny Boyer to the American League team last summer.

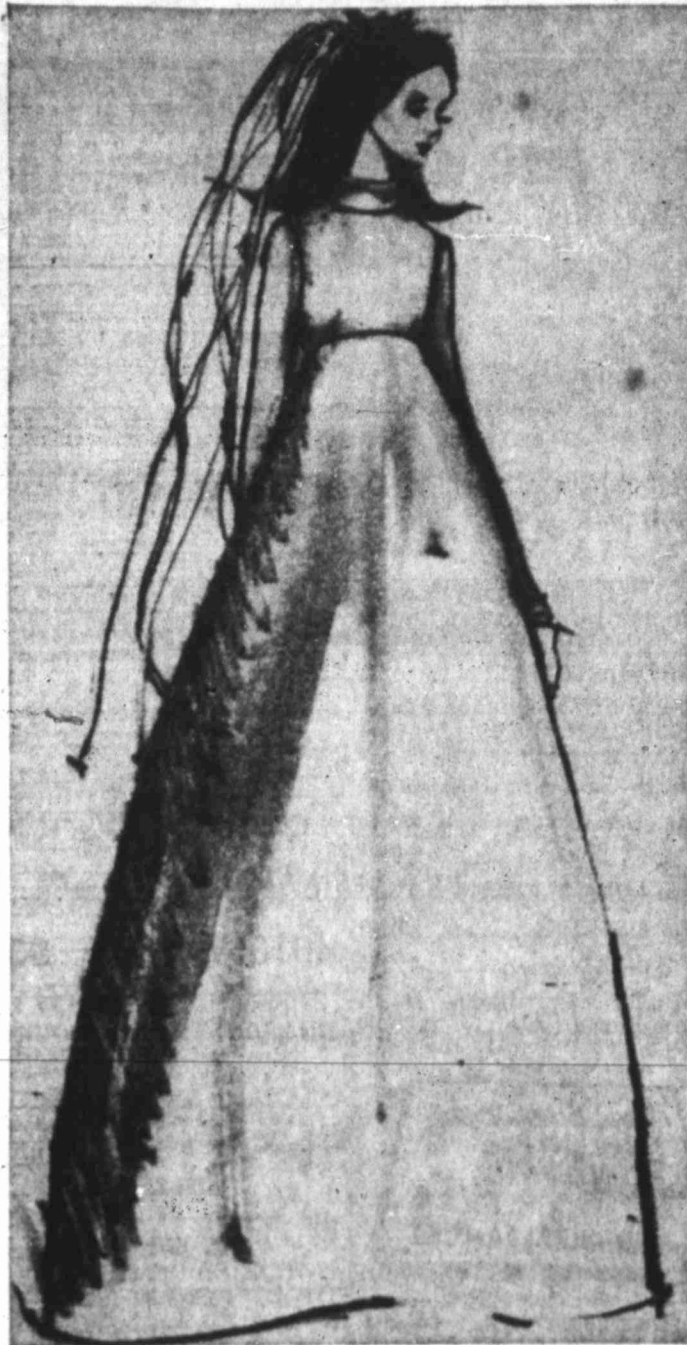

The minor league convention opened today and runs through Wednesday. In contrast with the usual formula, the draft will be held Tuesday morning, not the first day of the meeting.

A LOVELIER YOU

Soft Heavy Legs Not Ready For Exposure

By MARY SUE MILLER
A mature lovely writes: Shortly after the New Year I am going to have a winter vacation at a tropical resort. Locating a becoming bathing suit is my problem. Styles are so very brief and my legs are not up to the exposure. . . too heavy, soft and spotted with veins. I usually avoid beaches, but now I'd like to get into the swim. Gracefully!

The Answer comes in three parts: 1. Look for a bathing suit with a skirt. And don't let anybody tell you that there's no such animal. Suits designed with skirted tunics are high fashion. Soft suits with moderately full skirts are not out of the picture. Although very short, the ease of a skirt causes the legs to appear slimmer.

2. Get busy reducing the legs. In six weeks the following routine takes off two inches and firms the line: Lie, back down, on floor and raise legs perpendicular to it. Keeping knees stiff, move left leg five inches forward and right leg five inches backward; reverse leg positions. Then, without stopping, briskly repeat those movements for 30 counts. Now fling legs apart, sideways, to full extension — hold for five counts; repeat twice.

3. To conceal discolorations use waterproof body make-up. And why not take along an ankle-length beach dress? It's the smartest bit of concealment that ever was!

LEGLINE TRIMMERS

If your individual problem is heavy legs, send for my new leaflet, "Legline Trimmers," which contains spot reducing exercises that will meet your individual needs, whether for thighs, knees, calves or ankles, or for contouring your entire legline. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents in coin to cover handling.

Party Held On Saturday

Three couples, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Darby, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ramsey and Mr. and Mrs. Harroll Jones were hosts for a holiday cocktail party Saturday evening in the Darby home at 700 Tulane.

The affair began at 6:30 p.m., and 100 couples were included on the guest list.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a gold linen cloth and appointed with brass. Accenting the table was a black limb arranged with fall flowers and autumn leaves. Flanking the arrangement were orange tapers in brass holders.

Mrs. Darby was attired in a black, sleeveless, turtleneck knit dress, and Mrs. Ramsey wore a light blue sleeveless sheath. Mrs. Jones chose an A-line white wool dress with high, round neckline.

Mrs. Tedesco is the former Miss Kathleen Soldan, and the couple was married Nov. 5. She has taught school in El Paso for the past two years.

Members of the house party were Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lusk, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hill, Dr. and Mrs. Glen Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Noble Kennemur, Mrs. Nettie Mitchell, Mrs. R. Gage Lloyd, Mrs. Nell Frazier, Mrs. Bill Smith, W. S. Talbott, Blake Talbott and Paul Soldan Jr.

Mrs. Tedesco was attired in a pink lace shift with long sleeves and cape effect at the bodice. She wore pink slippers, and her corsage was a white gladiolus. The women in the house party wore bronze pompon corsages, and the men had yellow carnation boutonnieres.

Punch and coffee were served from silver services on a polished table accented with a brandy snifter holding bronze chrysanthemums, yellow gladiolus, orange daisies and greenery. Appointments were of crystal and silver, and a matching floral arrangement, a gift from the house party, was placed on a credenza.

Mr. and Mrs. Tedesco left Sunday for their new home in Troy, N.Y.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Find Pills Quickly In Cigarette Case

Dear Heloise:

Since I take two kinds of pills every day, I carry the bottles in my purse so I am always sure to have them with me.

To keep from digging through my purse in search of them, I put the two small bottles into an inexpensive plastic cigarette case. And the little space on the side that is supposed to carry matches is just right for a tin of aspirins.

Now my medicine is all together and easy to find, and I never worry about the pills spilling. . . Mrs. Wayne Inman chine with never a droop. . . Schoolteacher

Janice Wright

Dear Heloise: I have a suggestion for the mothers of small children who complain about the task of sorting the many pairs of identical socks of varying sizes.

I made three nylon net bags with different colored drawstrings and hung them on the inside of the closet door. I have each child put his soiled socks in his own bag.

When wash days come, I just pull the drawstring tightly and tie. Then toss (as is) into the washer and on into the dryer. No sorting or confusion later as to which ones belong to whom. . . Bernice Bradford

Dear Heloise: After grinding cheese in a meat grinder, run two or three crackers through and it will keep in cleaning it. . . Eliza Warner (Age 11)

Thanks, Eliza, I can tell who is your mother's expert kitchen helper. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: I've found a use for the third-class advertising mail we're all deluged with these days.

Possibly all families aren't like mine, but the demand for a piece of writing paper has never ended since the children were age three or four and starting to scribble with a pencil.

The whole family uses the so-called "junk mail" for phone messages, notes to one another, and, of course, mother's grocery list.

We keep a whole stack in a shoe box in a convenient place, and our supply is endless. . . Darlene Stephens

Dear Heloise: Why do you continually use the words "you all" when you know it's incorrect English? . . .

Provide Toy Box For Protection

It must have started a few years before I was born.

The words "you all" are used six times in the Book of Philippians in the Bible. You can find them in Chapter I, II and IV.

In fact, one of the latest dictionaries which I just received contains this expression. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: We use a pointed-top mustard container (the squeeze-type), and have found that the easiest way to transfer mustard to it from the large jar is by using a baster. . . Elizabeth (Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)
