

McCarthy To Challenge LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy announced today he will challenge President Johnson on the Vietnam issue in four Democratic presidential primaries and possibly two others.

"There is growing evidence of a deepening moral crisis in America," the Minnesota Democrat told a crowded news conference. He said he will enter primaries in Wisconsin, Oregon, California and Nebraska.

TODAY

First Frost Recorded

Howard County had its first official frost of the 1967 fall season early today.

Grady Randall, U.S. Experiment Station weather observer, said his thermometers dropped to 32 degrees at 7:30 a.m. and stayed at freezing for about 15 minutes. At 8 a.m. the temperature was 34 degrees.

Paul Gross, county agent, said that the freeze was heavier in other parts of the county, particularly in lower areas. Most parts of the county, he said, have already had freezes, and in some instances, the frost has been hard enough to defoliate cotton.

The coldest morning of the fall came with bright blue skies on hand when the sun arose. The drizzle and mist of the first three days of the week disappeared Wednesday afternoon.

A fair to average sandstorm, with gusts of wind whipping along at a high tempo, drove the clouds out of the area.

LASHING, HAIRCUT For Hippies

CAPITAL QUOTE

"If I had my way—and it may be a blessing I haven't—I would give draft card burners a good lashing and a good haircut, I would give beatniks the same, and I would give hippies a haircut on the face and then the head, then get a horse curry brush and give them a good bath. If I could I would put these combinations of odds and ends on the front lines with the enemy in front and a bayonet in back."

Toys Are Scarce

Toys are still "pretty scarce" at the city's six fire stations, scene of annual repair on bicycles, wagons, dolls, gun and holster sets and all other toys donated in the yearly Christmas campaign.

Those toys collected since the drive started two weeks ago have been repaired and made ready for distribution by the Salvation Army Dec. 23.

All fire stations and nine 7-11 stores are serving as collection points throughout the city. Pickups will be made if residents call 267-6083.

WARMER

Clear to partly cloudy today through Friday. Warmer today and tonight, slightly colder late Friday. High today 70. Low tonight 41. High tomorrow 75.

He will decide within two weeks on Massachusetts and New Hampshire, McCarthy said.

He said his determination to challenge Johnson "has been strengthened by recent announcements from the administration of plans for continued escalation and intensification of the war in Vietnam."

On the other hand, he continued, there has been an "absence of any positive indications or suggestions for a compromise or negotiated political settlement."

CONCERN

He expressed concern that "the administration seems to have set no limits on the price it will pay for military victory."

McCarthy said he did not see his opposition to Johnson as a threat to the unity and strength of the party.

"The issue of the war in Vietnam is not a separate issue but is one which must be dealt with in the configuration of problems in which it occurs," McCarthy said.

He said he was not advocating peace at any price but wanted "an honorable, rational and political solution to this war."

WAR COSTS

He listed what he called war costs to date.

"They included "the physical destruction of much of a small, weak nation by the military operations of the most powerful nation on this earth."

McCarthy also cited more than 15,000 combat dead and more than 84,000 wounded among U.S. forces; 100,000 to 150,000 civilian casualties in South Vietnam alone and U.S. expenditures between $2 billion and $3 billion a month.

And, he asserted, the war has resulted in a failure to provide adequate funds for such domestic programs as antipoverty, housing, education and other national needs.

The war also has brought about a dangerous rise in inflation, McCarthy said, attributing the devaluation of the British pound to that development.

MORAL CRISIS

"There is growing evidence of a deepening moral crisis in America: discontent, frustration, and a disposition to extra-legal—if not illegal—manifestations of protest," he said.

McCarthy expressed hope that a challenge to Johnson "may alleviate the sense of political helplessness and restore to many people a belief in the processes of American politics and of American government."

McCarthy indicated in advance that his target list includes the primaries in Wisconsin on April 2, Nebraska on May 14, Oregon on May 23 and California June 4.

He lists two other primaries as questionable, regarding his entry—the opening race in New Hampshire on March 12, and the April 30 balloting in Massachusetts.

AUTOMATIC

Actually, the races in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon are automatic for a presidential contender because state election laws in those states require that all candidates, in both parties, be listed on the ballot.

SOME COLLECTED TWICE

Junketing Congressmen Lose Real Money-Maker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jet-age travel has added something new to congressional junketing: an opportunity to collect daily living expenses twice a day.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, showed the House Wednesday how it works and his colleagues responded by voting to prohibit such practices on a forthcoming trip by a House Labor subcommittee.

LIMITS

Law limits congressional travelers to $50-a-day expenses in the currency of the country they are visiting. But the fast-moving congressmen frequently visit more than one country a day.

Gross said five junketers on a worldwide trip last year managed to collect $100 a day on 13 occasions by picking up $50 in each of two countries. He didn't name the travelers.

"If a racetrack offered a daily double like that it would go broke in a hurry," said Gross. He demanded that "this flagrant practice be stopped."

Gross detailed account of how the junketers operated was frowned upon by Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., sponsor of the amendment to ban the practice in the future.

"I had intended not to instruct the members in the complete technique," said Hall, whose amendment was adopted by voice vote.

Gross also criticized the proposed trip of 11 members of a postal subcommittee to inspect mechanized post office in Europe and the delivery of military mail in Vietnam.

"You could accomplish more and save a lot of money," he told subcommittee Chairman Arnold Olsen, D-Mont., "for the price of taxicab fare to the Pentagon and the Post Office right here."

DETERIORATED

Gross said the subcommittee has made two similar trips in recent years "and since then the mail service has deteriorated. I don't think you're going to accomplish anything but have a nice junket."

Gross's attack brought forth ringing defenses of congressional travel by other members.

Cyprus Crisis Ended, Peacemakers Go Home

Final Peace Agreement Is Being Drawn

ATHENS (AP) — The peace-makers headed home today, reporting that the threat of war between Turkey and Greece over Cyprus is over.

U.S. envoy Cyrus Vance flew from Cyprus to Athens and a reliable source said he would return to Washington shortly, having completed his mission.

NO DANGER

Secretary-General Manlio Brosio of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization told newsmen substantial understanding between the Greek and Turkish governments had been reached and the danger of conflict no longer exists.

"My mission is over," Brosio said as he left for his headquarters in Brussels.

The third peace seeker, Jose Roiz-Bennett of the United Nations, left for New York.

President Johnson's special envoy hurried into conference with Greek Foreign Minister Panagiotis Pinielis, who later told newsmen a communique announcing a final agreement with Turkey was being drawn up. However, he said he did not expect it to be completed today.

LONG TALKS

Vance came to Athens after seven hours of talks during the night with President Makarios of Cyprus. There were indications Makarios was at least delaying a Greek-Turkish agreement to avert war over his island nation.

But Vance told newsmen in Athens he was "very hopeful peace will be preserved."

Diplomatic sources had reported earlier that Greece and Turkey were ready to announce a settlement ending Turkey's threat to invade the island 40 miles off Turkey's southern coast.

TO NICOSIA

Vance flew to Nicosia before dawn Wednesday, reportedly to get a quick yes or no from Makarios on the proposals. But it was early today before he emerged from meetings with the leader of the island's Greek Cypriot majority.

"I have had informative and constructive discussions with Archbishop Makarios and that is all I have to say," Vance told newsmen.

"I endorse that statement," added the president, who had been reported objecting to keep demands made by the Turks.

Smiles on the faces of the two men plus Vance's cautiously positive statement seemed to indicate a feeling that the Cypriot president's objections could be worked out.

POISED

Turkey still was poised for the invasion it threatened after a battle on the island Nov. 15 in which 22 Turkish Cypriots and two Greek Cypriots were killed. Turkish jets swept low over Nicosia, the Cypriot capital, while Vance was there.

'IT COULD HAPPEN HERE'

Mass Poisonings Possible

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A U.S. pesticide expert says it is a miracle that mass poisonings by an insecticide, similar to the poisoning of scores of persons in Colombia last week, has not occurred in this country.

COULD HAPPEN

"It could happen," says Dr. Samuel W. Simmons, chief of the U.S. Public Health Service's pesticides program at the Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta.

At least 76 men, women, and children in Chiquiquira, Colombia, died last weekend after eating bread poisoned with a deadly insecticide whose effects are similar to nerve gas.

Another 86 Colombians are reported in critical condition despite antidotes rushed to Colombia from the United States.

More than 30 state and local health officials are meeting with Simmons in a conference on the investigation of chemical poisonings such as those in Colombia.

Commenting on the possibility of similar deaths in the United States, Simmons said in an interview there is little real regulation of the purchase of the transportation of pesticides.

"Take the loading of pesticides aboard ship, for instance. Ships are supposed never to load food with pesticides or poison. But the list of poisons is not kept up to date. A pesticide not on the list simply isn't considered poison," he said.

RECENT

The recent deaths in Colombia, as well as poisonings in Mexico, Arcadia, Fla., and St. Louis, Mo., show the need for training state and local health officials in modern techniques of investigating chemical poisonings, Simmons said.

Business At A High Level

AUSTIN (AP) — Despite indicators pointing downward, Texas business activity hit its second highest level on record in October, reports the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Dr. Robert B. Williamson, research associate with the Bureau said industrial production declined, although general business improved, according to early indicators.

DECLINED

Industrial electric-power use fell 5 per cent, and crude oil production declined 2 per cent, Williamson said.

The bureau's index of Texas business activity reached 200.8 per cent of the 1957-59 average, reflecting increases of 5 per cent from September and 19 per cent from a year earlier.

Williamson said the downward changes in industrial output, electric power use and oil production "paralleled those for national industrial production, which also showed a seasonally adjusted decline for the second consecutive month during October. Major adverse influences at the national level included strikes in automobile manufacturing and other industries as well as cutbacks in crude oil production."

AGRICULTURE

Agriculture has not contributed to Texas business growth for several months, Williamson said, and the cumulative value of marketings thus far in 1967 are down 10 per cent from a year ago, while receipts from Texas crops declined by more than 20 per cent.

"These losses are considerably sharper than the corresponding declines shown for the nation as a whole," he said.

PARATROOPERS

About 800 government paratroopers fought elements of the 24th North Vietnamese regiment for six hours during a sweep operation six miles northeast of Dak To, the central highlands battleground where the costliest battle of the war ended last week. South Vietnamese casualties were reported light.

The victorious government battalions were the same units which seized Hill 1416 near Dak To during the bloody campaign to drive the North Vietnamese from strategic heights in the area. In that three-day battle, the South Vietnamese said they killed 256 of the enemy.

In the air war, monsoon rains restricted nearly all U.S. air strikes over North Vietnam Wednesday to the southern half of the country from south of Hanoi to the 17th parallel.

However, Navy pilots, returned to the Haiphong area for the second day in succession, bombing fuel storage dumps seven and 11 miles west-northwest of the port city. Smoke and dust prevented an immediate assessment of damage, the Navy said.

DRAFT DODGERS

Reservists Are Ordered Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has issued regulations which may force as many as 700 U. S. reservists now living in Europe to return home and join a unit or face the draft.

IN LINE

The orders are in line with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's instructions earlier this year to summon to active duty reservists who aren't satisfactorily fulfilling military obligations.

Men regularly attending reserve meetings in U. S. units overseas are not affected.

An Aug. 29 Army directive gave four choices to reservists living abroad as of July 31 and whose ready reserve obligations extend beyond next January:

—Ask the Army for reassignment to a reserve unit in the United States.

—Join an overseas reserve unit if an opening is available,

—Return to the United States on their own initiative and expense and find a reserve unit opening.

—Apply for a discharge in case of extreme hardship, critical occupation or some other extenuating circumstance.

—Principally affected by the new regulations are men who signed up under the Army's reserve enlistment program (REP)—thus becoming ineligible for the draft—but who stopped attending weekly and monthly unit drills after 4½ to 9 months of active duty training.

McNAMARA

McNamara acted in February to draft thousands of other REPs, as they are known, who had less than 24 months active time and were not attending unit drills.

Some congressmen claimed the REP program had become a haven for men dodging the draft and the Vietnam War.

Postal Rates Going Higher

WASHINGTON (AP)— Congress has nearly completed favorable action on bills to give federal employees and servicemen about $3.5 billion in pay raises while hiking postal rates.

PASSED

The Senate passed two bills Wednesday, one dealing with the postal rate hike and civilian pay raises and the other with military salary hikes.

Both measures are virtually the same as those passed earlier by the House. A House-Senate conference is expected to encounter little difficulty in ironing out minor differences.

Both bills call for these postal hikes, making it all but certain they'll take effect in January: First class letters—from 5 to 6 cents.

First class cards—from 4 to 5 cents.

Airmail letters—from 8 to 10 cents.

Airmail cards—from 6 to 8 cents.

Postal workers would get a 6 per cent pay boost and all other federal workers would get a 4.5 per cent raise, retroactive to Oct. 1. The hikes will be in three stages.

BASIC PAY

Basic pay of the military forces would be raised by 5.6 per cent. But after subsistence and quarters allowances are taken into account the actual compensation would amount to 4.5 per cent said Chairman Richard Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

SLUM WORK HAILED Labor Leaders Change Signals

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Labor leaders, who recently criticized as "dreamers" the architects of federal plans to start rebuilding the nation's cities, pledged today full cooperation with the program.

With past differences apparently forgotten, the AFL-CIO building and construction trades department planned a red carpet welcome for Secretary Robert C. Weaver of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

JOB FRICION

The appearance of Weaver, the Negro in President Johnson's Cabinet, followed a proposal by the construction unions to help train Negro youths for slum rebuilding work.

"We should work with and help train these youths when they apply and show serious intent," said C.J. Haggerty, president of the 18-union group.

The question of bringing unskilled Negro slum youths into union apprenticeship programs has long been a source of friction between labor leaders and some government officials.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard

Wirtz said Wednesday Haggerty's proposal was encouraging if the unions will follow through with it, and might help keep the government from having to act as a "policeman" over equal job opportunities.

KNOW-HOW

Haggerty pledged to Weaver "our full cooperation, our know-how, our resources and our manpower in the vast program of rebuilding our cities."

The government recently announced grants to 63 cities for planning slum rebuilding projects under the new multi-million dollar model cities program.

While union officials conceded that the labor cooperation was still in the talking stage, they described it as possibly the beginning of a new era between the unions and government officials working on slum rebuilding plans.

Haggerty also noted that federal law requires hiring slum residents on projects under the model cities program and urged union leaders to be "practical men" in accepting qualified workers from the slums and helping train unskilled youths for jobs.

Off-Campus Activities Of El Paso Prof Probed

AUSTIN (AP) — "Widespread reports" on the "out-of-state, off-campus activities" of Dr. Clark Knowlton led Chancellor Harry Ransom of the University of Texas System to request administrative fact-finding on the El Paso sociology professor, Ransom says.

Ransom said he wanted to establish whether published criticism of Knowlton was accurate when he asked Dr. Joseph Wray, president of the University of Texas at El Paso, for the reports.

RIGHT TO QUERY

In El Paso, meanwhile, Knowlton said Wednesday he did not resent Ransom's inquiry. He said he did not interpret the action as an effort to inhibit his activities. He said when a faculty member is involved in such a controversy, the administration inevitably has the right to query the faculty member.

Knowlton was informed of the reports' contents before they were sent to Austin, Ransom said.

"It is not an investigation in the usual sense. It is a report requested from Dr. Wray so I would be clear in my own mind after reading confusing press reports," he said.

SPANISH HGRANTS

He said there had been published criticism of the professor in both Texas and New Mexico and "widespread reports, chiefly from New Mexico of his out-of-state, off-campus activities." He said the reports contained references to Reyes Tijerina, leader of the Confederation of Free City States, which seeks to restore to Mexican-Americans title to thousands of acres of New Mexico land that Tijerina says is rightfully theirs under old Spanish land grants.

"What I wanted was to establish the accuracy of the criticism," Ransom said. "In reasonable firmness to the institution at El Paso and to Dr. Knowlton, a full report was needed."

NO CHARGES

He said Knowlton was being given every opportunity to present his side.

"No charges whatever have been lodged against professor Knowlton within the university system," Ransom said. He said if there appears to be sufficient evidence to warrant further action, Wray's report will be returned to El Paso, where a faculty committee will be elected to consider Knowlton's case.

"We have very carefully observed every point of the academic freedom resolution of the coordinating board and the national associations (of college professors of various kinds)," he said.

Ransom said he has received a full record of Knowlton's publications, "which have been highly praised by sociologists."

Censorship Snags Special Edition

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — It was censorship, says the student newspaper, when the University of Oregon athletic department delayed a special homecoming edition.

The edition was to be passed out at the Oregon-Oregon State game Nov. 18, but it was confiscated and held about an hour.

The paper's banner headline read: "Abolish Homecoming?" and an editorial suggested that the university do just that.

Time Is New Country's Foe

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Biafra today completed its first six months of independence amid signs the next six months may be the hardest and last.

Nigeria's former Eastern region, which seceded in May after a year of tribal suspicion and murder, so far has survived the "swift, surgical operation" launched by Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, head of Nigeria's military government, in an effort to put Nigeria together again.

CRACK SIGNS

News from the area is scarce but there are few signs of cracking, despite the federal army thrust which has occupied a third of the 29,000 square miles of Africa's newest but still unrecognized republic.

Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, 33, the bearded Oxford history graduate who declared independence at 3 a.m. on May 30, still governs a going concern. Its major exports include Nigerian bank notes which the federal government claims are being offered at half price, 10 shillings ($1.40) to the pound. These pay for the major imports, weapons to fight the civil war which started July 6.

RUNNING OUT

Although unrecognized, Biafra maintains a busy office in Lisbon, Portugal, from where it is believed planes loaded with military equipment fly to Biafra via the Portuguese island possession of Sao Tome off the African coast.

It has an advertising agency, Ruder and Finn, in Manhattan, as well as an agent in the United States. Its diplomats continue to move relatively freely through Great Britain and several East African countries.

The new country's most wearing enemy appears to be time. Surrounded by a federal sea and land blockade, it has only one link with the outside world — an airfield at Port Harcourt through which a trickle of fresh military equipment is channeled.

According to reports reaching Lagos, Biafra is slowly running out of material to fight a war.

JOHNSON'S POPULARITY MAY SLUMP AGAIN

McNamara Move Creates Storm

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has stirred a new political storm by his performance in assigning Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to the presidency of the World Bank.

If there was anything Johnson didn't need at this point it was a controversy over the retirement from his Cabinet of the last influential dissenter to the military chiefs' advice to go all out in the effort to win the Vietnam war quickly.

QUAGMIRE
But a combination of the President's inherent secretiveness and the requirements of international protocol led Johnson into a political quagmire bound to remain sticky throughout his expected 1968 bid for re-election.

Despite the valiant efforts of McNamara, in announcing acceptance of the unanimously proffered bank post, to absolve his chief of putting him and his possible critical voice in drydock for next year's campaign, it seems likely Johnson's anti-war critics will seize on the action as precisely so motivated.

McNamara suggested in a Wednesday night acceptance of the bank board's election of him as president that this was a magnanimous reward by the President to a bone-tired official who had served his country well for nearly seven years. But this did not square at all with what McNamara was telling friends two days earlier.

NO THOUGHT
At that time he said, according to them, that he had no thought of leaving his defense post in the foreseeable future. He had had no intimations from the President that a change was imminent. He was amazed when the news leaks indicated he was on his way out.

Yes, he told friends, he had discussed with the President the bank job about which retiring president George D. Woods had approached him in the spring. But it had been only a casual conversation with Johnson at a social affair and he thought this was something to be considered in the future—possibly after the 1968 election.

McNamara's private version was that he had not heard from the President again. This conflicted with an administration version that before he told Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler—who put the McNamara nomination in the international mill in October—Johnson had called the defense secretary and asked him if he still were interested in the job. The administration version is that McNamara replied that he was. Even if there were such a disputed call, McNamara's friends said, he could only have regarded it as a presidential check on possible future action and not a White House action message.

FRESH
Johnson's explanation that all of this started with Woods' approach to McNamara last spring emphasized that the defense secretary said then he was interested in the job as an opportunity for continued public service. The President added that when he talked to him, McNamara said he believed the Defense Department would benefit from the appointment of a "fresh person."

In neither the President's nor McNamara's explanation was there any time-table given for these various exchanges. There seemed little doubt the President's political instincts concurred in the defense secretary's belief the "fresh person" might relieve the President of some political liabilities in next year's campaign.

McNamara was a prime target in the Republican's successful drive in the 1966 congressional elections and seemed likely to be again next year. A new secretary would not bring into the campaign the record of Mc-

Namara's optimistic forecasts of progress and victory in Vietnam for which he has been under intense political fire.

DISABUSE
In his statement Wednesday of the events leading to the changeover, Johnson tried to disabuse those who thought McNamara had been pushed out because he had bridled the generals and admirals and had argued against the kind of escalation in the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam that now seems almost inevitable. The President said the American course is firmly set, that major policies are clearly defined. He suggested the successor he will appoint will follow

McNamara's lead in the Defense Department "without loss of momentum or effectiveness." None of this changed the minds of Johnson's war policy critics that they had lost a once effective—but less so now—advocate of moderation where it counted most. They compared McNamara's exit with the retirement several months ago of George W. Ball, a Vietnam dissenter, from the State Department. They concluded there is almost no one of importance left to argue within the administration against the adoption of stringent war measures.

The ungracefulness of the President's turning of a once-favored adviser into a banking monk who could no longer offer any opinions on Vietnam policies left Johnson open to political accusations that he was unwilling to entertain even mild dissent to what his opponents had characterized as a headlong course.

OBSERVANCE
Johnson's observance of the protocol that the 20 World Bank directors must approve the McNamara nomination before he could announce it did nothing to dispel the political opinion that he is so secretive in his operations as to suggest he would rather embarrass a faithful servant than let the average American get a glimpse of what is really going on in the White House.

If the President does not slump again in the popularity polls as a result of this flap, politicians will be greatly surprised.

Skies Clear Over Texas

By The Associated Press
Showers finished moving through East Texas into Louisiana today, and skies cleared nearly everywhere in the state.

Lingering clouds made South Central Texas an exception. Signalling an end to several days of drizzle and fog, forecasts dropped all mention of moisture except for a possibility of scattered showers Friday afternoon in the northeast part of the state.

Shower activity lasted into early this morning in an area stretching 100 miles from Galveston, Houston and Port Arthur toward the northeast and spilling over into Louisiana and Arkansas.

Drizzle and fog stuck around much of Wednesday in Central and East Texas but moisture amounts generally were less than .10 inch except for .15 at Tyler.

Conferees Begin Work On Inspection Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House conferees have voted not to tie the hands of their representative on a Senate-House conference committee which is to try to hammer out a compromise meat inspection bill.

In a seldom-used tactic, Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, tried to get the House to bind its conferees to the stronger and stricter Senate bill. This was voted down 207 to 166.

"I just don't know what will happen," Smith said afterward. "It could get bogged down and just stay there or it could move along."

One of the conferees who favors the broader bill, Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., said he won't accept a nominal bill and "I don't think the Senate will either."

Many House members said their conferees should be free to argue the merits of the House bill which authorizes federal aid to improve state meat inspection programs. Such a provision is included in the Senate version—with the additional provision that federal inspection will be imposed in any state which doesn't adopt its own regulatory system at least equal to federal purity standards.

States would be allowed two years to set up programs, with an additional year possible if they are near action. Governors could also invite earlier federal inspection.

GIs Staked Out As Bait Halt Communist Assault

HU DOP Vietnam (AP) — Backed by big artillery rockets and heavy mortars, a large Communist force attempted Wednesday night to overrun a battalion from the U.S. 1st Infantry Division staked out as bait. The Communist assault died at a big concrete cross in a Roman Catholic cemetery 50 yards from the American lines.

Using tactics that have cost them dearly this year in fighting north of Saigon, the Communists attempted again to overrun when well dug-in American positions but American infantrymen, artillery and air power hurled them back and inflicted heavy casualties.

UNLUCKY SEVEN

Twenty enemy bodies were found on the battlefield, and one wounded man was captured. But the fleeing Reds carried away many more dead.

Seven Americans were killed and 11 were wounded. One 122mm enemy rocket scored a direct hit on an American bunker, killing the three men inside and burning them under five feet of dirt.

A mortar crew fighting valiantly in the open was wiped out by a direct hit.

The attack came at 10 p.m. as many Americans slept in the open while their comrades kept watch. The first salvo of 122mm rockets sent men scrambling for their sandbagged bunkers. Mortars and antitank rockets began dropping in, making bright orange-yellow flashes in the night and opening thousands of pieces of shrapnel.

NO LETUP

"Doc! Doc! Hey, where's the medic?" a man called as he dodged among the bunkers.

Moments later machine guns began spraying the American positions.

A mortar round hit a rubber gasoline storage dump set up for helicopters and a sheet of flame shot several hundred feet into the air. The heavy tails of Communist rockets arched through the night sky.

Ground fire intensified as the enemy massed for a ground attack. Antitank rockets were launched at the forward American bunkers but failed to knock any out.

More firing touched off shrapnel from the gasoline dump. American artillery fired pointblank into the edge of a rubber plantation 100 yards away where the Communists were massing. Helicopter gunships

Feds Providing Food Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — An eagle-eyed federal inspector at Eagle Pass, Tex., spotted a raw potato on the top of a car radio antenna.

Dismissing the driver's plea that the spot improved his radio reception, the inspector confiscated the potato as representing a potential hazard to the nation's food supply.

It just lit him all up and blew him away," he said.

"Man, they tangled with the wrong outfit this time," a buddy said with gusto.

Communist troops still moved in the shadows, retrieving their dead, as dawn came.

Coahoma High Bids Sought

Bids will be asked for a 4 p.m. opening on Dec. 19 for additions to the Coahoma High School and Junior High School.

The opening will take place in the high school cafeteria on proposals to add four classrooms and two offices to the high school and four offices, a graphics laboratory and work room at the junior high. Cost of the work is expected to approximate $115,000.

Plans are available from Gary and Hohertz, architects. The work will include refrigerated air conditioning, brick and block masonry, built-up roof, vinyl asbestos floor tile except quarry tile in toilets and fluorescent lighting.

The architects also are working on plans for a 200-airman dormitory for Reese AFB at Lubbock, and on the First Baptist Church in Ballinger.

Visiting Prof Labels Christ 'Masochist'

SEATTLE (AP) — Dr. Lamont West, University of Washington visiting professor of anthropology, has asserted that Christ not only was "turned on" but was also a "masochist."

Two Bible Presbyterian Church ministers want West removed from the University of Washington for making those utterances at a question and answer session on campus Nov. 2. The Rev. Thomas Miller and the Rev. David Brown charge West attacked Jesus in describing him as a masochist.

"HIPPIE HANGOUT"

They presented petitions Wednesday to Dr. Philip Cartwright, dean of the University's College of Arts and Science, asking West's removal. Cartwright has said university officials are investigating and plan to issue a statement.

Both ministers accuse West, 37, of "using drugs over the past two years, including marijuana and LSD." They've also described his home as having "all the trappings of a hippie hangout."

West, in an interview, called Christ a "turned on person but a masochist."

"Yeah... Christ was a charismatic person, therefore he was turned on but he had a few hangups—he had himself crucified. That started a mass movement," he said. West said the crucifixion had turned Christ into a martyr which helped the Christian movement get started.

RAREFOOTED

He spoke sitting cross legged and barefooted on a cushion in the living room of his sparsely furnished two-story home. The Rev. Mr. Miller described West's home as having a "religious altar" located in a prominent place. West pointed to it — three rectangular abstract paintings hinged together placed above a white foot locker with a cushion in front.

The Rev. Mr. Miller says West "has used a tax supported facility to attack Jesus Christ by calling him a masochist... I don't think tax money should be used for that."

Masochism is defined as "a tendency to direct aggressive or destructive impulses against one's own ego."

Two Boys Found Shot Triggers Phone Calls

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Telephones at the Flagler County sheriff's office rang steadily through the night as anxious mothers with missing sons and others knowing of missing persons called to see if two boys found shot to death Wednesday could be their relatives.

"The telephone rang steadily but most of the calls were just straws in the wind," said Sheriff P. A. Edmundson.

"I've got a pretty good lead out of Detroit," he said, but declined to elaborate.

SHOT IN DARK

The bodies were found in a thicket off US Highway 1. The New Smyrna Beach Police Department looked at mug shots of the two youths, both of whom were shot in the head, on the chance they might be the same two who spent Monday night in the New Smyrna jail on a vagrancy charge.

"The description seems to match," said Edmundson.

Fingerprints were sent to Tallahassee for a check but Edmundson said that "was just a long shot in the dark. These boys would have been pretty young to be fingerprinted."

Other effects found on and near the boys—a 1967 graduation ring from "Eastern High School," a newspaper ad from a Miami paper and a blanket stamped N.A.D. and B.O.Q. were the only clues.

Malaria Strikes Nearly 12,000 Troops in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Malaria and other diseases hospitalized more U. S. troops in Vietnam than do combat wounds, an Army surgeon said today.

Reporting on a recent survey trip to the war theater, Gen. James Wier, commandant of Beaumont General Hospital at El Paso, said:

30 DAYS

"Actually, the combat wounded accounted for less than 25 percent of our hospital admissions, varying from 12 to 30 percent month by month."

Wier's talk was prepared for a meeting of plastic surgeons at Walter Reed Hospital.

He said malaria struck nearly 12,000 Army troops admitted to hospitals in South Vietnam between Oct. 1, 1965, and last July 1. Most of these men, he said, required 30 days treatment and rehabilitation before return to duty.

Teaching Science Method Reviewed For 100 Teachers

Local county teachers heard Mrs. Sue Ashwood, consultant from West Texas Media Center at Midland, discuss the "Discovery Method of Teaching Science" at the meeting of the Pilot Study Group of the Texas Small Schools Association Monday night when about 100 teachers, administrators and school board members met at their regular meeting on the campus of Howard County Junior College, in Big Spring.

The administrators and board members heard a discussion by Dewey Baker on accreditation standards. Guests of this group included three members of Texas Education Agency, Charles McCull, Mrs. Donna Townsend, and Dale Carmichael.

Member schools include those from Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Midland, Glasscock, Fisher, and Gaines counties who have an enrollment of less than 500 pupils.

Those attending from this area were teachers and administrators from Sand's school and Glasscock, Borden and Dawson county schools.

Army Enlistees May Spend Yule Holiday at Home

"Home for the Holidays" might well be the title of the Christmas-New Year leave policy announced this week by the United States Army Recruiting Service.

According to Sgt. Joe A. Welch, enlistees who enter the Army between Dec. 6-20 will be processed at the Armed Forces examining and entrance stations and transferred to Army reception stations. They will then be offered leave and may return home for the holidays. Those young men enlisting between Dec. 21-29 will be offered leave at the examining and entrance stations and will return there for transfer to the reception station on Jan. 3.

Under this program, new enlistees may join more than 200,000 Army trainees who will head for home when training pauses on Dec. 16. Army school classes and training will resume Jan. 2.

Although commanders are required to maintain essential readiness, as many permanent party cadre, instructors, and support personnel as possible will be permitted to go on holiday leave. Some will leave during the New Year period. For those whom military duty requires that they stay on the job during the holidays, extensive programs of holiday activities will be provided.

The Army attempts to insure that all its personnel—the new recruit or the senior officer—have a happy holiday season.

Further information on the Christmas leave policy and other programs offered by the Army may be obtained from Sgt. Welch at 207 1/2 West 4th St., Big Spring, or by calling collect, 267-8940 or 263-2892.

Tax Increase Push Fizzles

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are no signs the Johnson administration's last-minute push for quick enactment of a tax boost has started the measure rolling through Congress.

"Psychologically the need is to do something and do it fast," Chairman William McCleskey Martin of the Federal Reserve Board told the House Ways and Means Committee.

WISE TO WAIT

But at the opening hearing Wednesday no committee member said anything that challenged Chairman Wilbur D. Mills' pronouncement that passage of a tax measure before Congress adjourns for 1967 would be impossible.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, one of the few committee members who has publicly spoken of the need to raise taxes to reduce the federal deficit, asked Budget Director Charles L. Schultze whether it would not be wise to wait until the time for drawing up the new budget—probably late January—before deciding on a tax increase.

Schultze disagreed, as did Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler.

HUGE DEFICIT

Fowler told Vanik, who had suggested Americans might resist a tax increase justified largely by effects of devaluing the British pound, "This is not a passing situation. For months we have been urging the need of a tax increase."

Several members focused on Schultze's testimony that the prospective deficit, which had been forecast at up to $29 billion—and which President Johnson at one point said might reach $32.5 billion—is now calculated at $22.5 billion.

Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., asked whether as large a tax increase is needed in view of a smaller deficit. The administration witnesses stuck to their recommendations.

BITE SPEEDUP

These, identical with those Johnson made in August, are for a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes, retroactive to July 1 for corporations and Oct. 1 for individuals. There would also be a speedup in corporate tax collections while the lowering of some excise taxes would be postponed.

The package is estimated to yield $7.4 billion, of which $6.3 billion would come from the income surcharge.

Fowler told Burke that a 6 per cent surcharge effective Jan. 1 would yield only $2 billion during the fiscal year ending June 30—the one presenting the immediate deficit threat.

The administration package also includes spending limits, to be written into law, estimated to require departments to economize by more than $4 billion this year.

Don Yarborough Will Not Contest Sen. Yarborough

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP) — Houston lawyer Don Yarborough, looking like a candidate for something, says he will not run for governor of Texas if Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., makes the race.

Yarborough was in Galveston County Wednesday to attend parties given by three volunteer fire departments. He dropped by a meeting of the Galveston County Mayors and Councilman's Association.

WARM FEET

"At this point," he told a reporter, "I'm getting my feet warm but not wet."

He said one thing is sure about his political future — he will not contest Ralph Yarborough, no relation but who shares the same liberal Democrat support, for the nomination.

Don Yarborough lost twice to Gov. John Connally, by a slim margin in 1962 and in a thumping defeat in 1966.

SMIFFING DAISIES

"It's mighty strange all the other candidates talk about waiting for Ralph to make up his mind," Yarborough said. "I think they are all sniffing daisies. It doesn't make a lot of difference to them what Ralph does."

"It does to me. I'm telling you right now, if he decides to run for governor, I will not."

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith is the only announced candidate for the Democratic nomination. Connally has disclosed he will not run for a fourth term.

Asked when he might announce whether he would run for governor, Yarborough said: "On the last possible day I can."

Recent reports have indicated that Don Yarborough still has some $40,000 of unpaid campaign debts for his previous statewide races.

Hope's Warm, Funny Image

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
By The Associated Press
NEW YORK (AP) — The warm, friendly and funny image projected over three decades by the remarkable Bob Hope makes it possible to pull off interesting and appealing television programs in awkward places that NBC would not wish on its deadliest rival.

The prime example, of course, is Hope's annual Christmas show—which will be filmed as usual next month while Hope and his hardy troupe are on a whirlwind tour of servicemen. Nobody—except Hope—could get away with a variety show filmed under the impossible conditions of impromptu stages and casual camera positions at camps, hospitals and on the deck of ships.

On Wednesday night, Hope—whose interest in education is apparently almost as strong as his concern for our fighting men—took his show to a temporary stage set up in a large gymnasium on the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles—not exactly an ideal TV studio.

The sets were practically skeletons, there was little room to dance and occasionally the lips of one of the performers was not synchronized with the prerecorded words of a song. The sketch—a college football theme, naturally, seemed to have been tossed together on short notice. Yet, somehow it worked well.

At the end of the frolic, Hope delivered a short, pithy speech appealing for support of colleges. It was a little masterpiece.

Wednesday night's episode concluded an interesting two-part story which by using a switch on the old "Grand Hotel" plot technique, managed to tell a number of stories at one time.

The device was a multicausal crash which cost some lives and sent a number of survivors to a hospital. Our hero, Paul Bryan, had been driving the car that caused the pile-up because of a faulty mechanism—and he was playing out his drama opposing the insurance company. The victim was a young girl with a greedy uncle eager to get hold of her insurance settlement. Another vignette concerned a girl who was running away from an impossible love affair. There was even a shoot-out because a young thief was trying to retrieve some stolen money from a hiding place in one of the banged-up automobiles.

It is an intelligent action-adventure series, but, unfortunately, there's a pretty good chance that when Paul Bryan disappears from television, it will not be his fatal illness that carries him off but generally unimpressive Nielsen ratings.

ABC, for the third and it hopes last time has set a date for its Carol Channing special—Feb. 29. The first two dates were cancelled because of complications arising from a strike of union technicians against the network. ABC has also announced that its two-hour production of "Laura," starring Lee Bouvier Radziwill, Jacqueline Kennedy's sister, and Robert Stack, will be shown on Jan. 12.

"Run For Your Life" now in its third season on NBC, remains one of the best constructed shows on the air and its star, Ben Gazzara, one of television's most quietly effective performers.

Recommended tonight: Perry Como's Christmas show, NBC, 7:30-8:30 EST, the singer's first special of the season with Rowan and Martin and singers Bobbie Gentry and the Jefferson Airplane.

Military Cracking Down On Marijuana Smokers

SAIGON (AP) — Military officials ordered an intensified crackdown following a survey showing use of marijuana by troops.

A bulletin issued in one division said the Viet Cong are supplying marijuana to GIs "because they know it makes American soldiers ineffective" in combat.

The U.S. command has begun using an anonymous questionnaire among departing troops in an attempt to check on use of marijuana.

Spot checks carried out for the Army provost marshal's office showed that statistically almost one of every 200 men was smoking marijuana, informed sources reported. Senior officers said earlier they did not know how extensively marijuana was used but charges involving it ranked as the single largest major offense at Vietnam.

Those arrested have included military police, young officers, guards on duty and combat men. For a time marijuana was being smuggled into the jail not far from the U.S. Army's Vietnam headquarters at Long Binh. Military police have been ordered to press efforts to get Vietnamese police to crack down on sellers and to pick up American GIs who use marijuana.

However, it is still easy to buy marijuana cigarettes all over the country.

The 1st Air Cavalry Division's crackdown on marijuana traffic included a troop information bulletin which warned GIs that marijuana decreases effectiveness and makes soldiers subject "to unpredictable and unusual actions which may involve them in neglectful and criminal actions such as shooting, grenade throwing, etc."

Oh, Brother

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — When an elderly New Mexico couple arrived at an El Paso hospital so the husband could receive treatment, a man they thought was an attendant told them their car was blocking the ambulance entrance.

The couple quoted the man as saying that if they would give him the keys he would move the vehicle for them. The couple did so and the man disappeared with their car, authorities said.

BOO HOO WANTS TO BE CHAPLAIN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Boo Hoo says he's a minister. The Army says he's a buck private. And the American Civil Liberties Union says it is going to help Benjamin L. Osterberg try to become Uncle Sam's first psychedelic chaplain.

The 22-year-old Osterberg, drafted in October, is Boo Hoo—leader-of the Pensacola lodge of the Neo-American Church, an organization which considers mind-expanding drugs sacramentals.

Osterberg, bearded before he marched off to camp at Fort Benning, Ga., a month ago, conducted his services on a bluff overlooking Pensacola Bay and at his home, "The All Night Harmonica Shop."

His congregation usually showed up in Mexican blankets, bare feet and blue jeans to eat green spaghetti and play with balloons.

It doesn't recognize the Neo-American Church, a spokesman for the ACLU said.

The church claims there are over 600 members across the country in congregations they call lodges.

Osterberg, who has been thrown out of two junior colleges, says he is the "primate of northwestern Florida" for the hippie religion.

He has been leading the Pensacola hippies for more than a year and publishes a weekly newspaper, called "Mouth Organ," which asks members to contribute to the "morning glory seed bank."

A Devotional For The Day

Men ought always to pray, and not to faint. (Luke 18:1)
 PRAYER: Our Father, accept our gratitude for the priceless privilege of prayer. Deliver us from trying to make selfish use of this privilege. Help us rather to use it in behalf of others and in furthering Thy will and purpose. In Christ's spirit. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Poll Reader

Sen. Robert Kennedy, who seems to garner an inordinately large audience among the media, has sent up another feather. In this one he ventures that the administration may be changing its reasons for the Vietnam war, which may in turn change his position on the administration.

This doesn't mean that he has been reading new signs and applying new ethics, but rather that he's been reading the polls. Perhaps he's a bit slow in reacting, for some straws in the wind make it appear that the trend may now be a bit more in the other direction. There can't and there won't be any pull-out, for the basic issue in this was established more than 15 years ago when our nation drew a line and said "no further" to the forces which try by intimidation and force to take over other nations.

Considerable Impact

Robert McNamara, who resigned as Secretary of Defense to accept nomination as the president of the World Bank, is closing out seven years of service in what is surely the nation's toughest job next to the presidency. For most of those years, there have been recurrent rumors that he was about to resign, and now that it has happened, open season on speculation has been declared.

These take all sorts of directions—was he eased out? Was he in irreconcilable conflict with strategic objectives? Does this mean more hawkishness?

There is no immediate answer to any of these and scores of other conjectural angles any more than there is an immediate answer to Robert McNamara's real contribution to the nation's future.

The only clear conclusion, as one observer put it, is that his impact was considerable. By bringing to the Department of Defense many methods of modern business, he undoubtedly saved billions of dollars. Whether this paid off in more defense for dollars and hauled at the military's built-in proclivity for waste, or whether this penalized the strength and effectiveness of defense will have to be judged from a perspective of perhaps years.

He had his critics, principally from the military establishment (which is not altogether unbiased in the matter), for applying rigid civilian guides to matters which were military in scope. Thus, he was accused of substituting civilian judgment for military decision. Here again, the real answers will have to wait. He was faulted for uprooting old procurement practices in favor of those used in big business, but the verdict here cannot be fairly reached until the pipeline flow has been followed to its conclusion and then weighed in the balances of events.

McNamara himself had confessed he had been exhausted by this ordeal of running an establishment that consumes more than half the national budget. He had stayed long enough to accumulate increasing resistance, both in the services and in Congress. Perhaps it was time for him to move on. He has, however, left his mark, and it will endure for a long, long time. His successor may have an impossible job, but it will be a little less so because of McNamara the ice breaker.

How To Make Your Husband Happy

TOKYO — American women could learn a lot from Japanese wives. Despite subversive attempts to liberate her, the Japanese wife is still a slave to her husband, who is her "only master on earth."

This has not only made for happiness in the Japanese household, but it also has kept the divorce rate down to 10 per cent, as opposed to 25 per cent in the United States where 25 per cent of all couples seem to find reasons to split up.

WHAT ARE the major differences between the American and Japanese woman? For one thing, the Japanese woman is much more concerned about the welfare of her husband. On cold mornings, for example, I was told a good Japanese wife will prostrate herself on her husband's side of the bed, so he won't have to step down on a cold floor.

His small gestures like this that make for a solid marriage and a happy home.

Another area in which Japanese women excel is giving their husbands baths. There is an old Japanese proverb that a "family who washes together sloshes together," and anyone who has been bathed by a Japanese woman will never want to take an American shower again.

UNLIKE THE American woman, a Japanese wife looks forward to giving her husband a bath. She stays home all day cooking the hot water so it will be just right when her husband arrives from a hard day at the office.

First the wife will bow to him, and then help him off with his clothes. Then she'll start scrubbing him down with soap, making sure not to get any in his eyes. Finally, she'll rinse him off. Only then will she allow him into the bathtub where he will soak up to his chin, while she serves him a cold beer or a hot glass of sake.

AFTER THE bath the wife will then massage her husband's back, and even walk on him if he's really tired. Then she'll dry him off and dress him for dinner. By this time the husband is in a good humor and willing to listen to what the kids did in school.

Contrast this to the average American home where the American wife not only refuses to bow to her husband when he comes home, but in some cases won't even give him a bath. And when she does give him a bath it's slam bam, thank you ma'am, and about as romantic as a TV dinner.

MOST AMERICAN wives will run the water, hit their husbands a couple of times with a washcloth and then hand him a towel and say, "Dry yourself."

No wonder American husbands are irritable and hard to get along with at the end of the day. You would be, too, if your wife refused to walk on your back.

American women are afraid that if they offer to bathe their husbands, they will be considered inferior. This is ridiculous. A wife who knows how to bathe her husband in the Japanese style is a superior person, and one whom any husband would be proud of stepping on when he gets out of bed in the morning.

Roving Units

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Police Department is establishing special operations units in the nine districts to go where the action is.

A lieutenant will command each of the 14-man groups, deploying men as they are needed within the district. To combat a rash of burglaries, for example, he can assign part or all of the group for extra protection of the area.

Police officials call the new units small tactical squads. They say they can provide extra manpower without taking men away from their beats.

 McNamara's Mysterious Switch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert S. McNamara's almost mysterious switch in jobs from secretary of defense to the presidency of the World Bank is just about complete after a public relations mix-up with few equals.

Although McNamara as secretary has one of the most important posts in government the news of his leaving came not as a public announcement at the White House but as a report from London last Monday.

IT WASN'T until Wednesday night that President Johnson and McNamara, in separate public announcements, confirmed it.

On Monday the London Financial Times reported McNamara's departure on the basis of information supplied by a World Bank director.

That afternoon at a news briefing in the White House the President's press secretary, George Christian, was asked about the report. His reply was, "no comment."

THIS WAS almost the same as saying, "It's true." It would have been indeed strange if such a story about a man in such a high position was untrue and the White House didn't hasten to refute it.

Johnson and McNamara kept mum Monday, Tuesday and until Wednesday night. But American reporters had other sources of information besides the White House—McNamara himself would say nothing—and they went to work on them and got answers.

AS A RESULT the Tuesday morning papers were able to say flatly that Johnson had nominated McNamara for the bank presidency. It wasn't certain McNamara would get the job until the board of directors approved.

But it was about as certain as anything could be because an American has headed the bank since it was opened for business in 1945. However, the board was not scheduled to meet until Wednesday.

Since the board was almost certain to approve McNamara, which it did Wednesday afternoon, the reticence of Johnson and McNamara in saying anything until the board acted could be interpreted as deference to the board or a desire not to be accused of trying to pressure it.

SHORTLY after McNamara got approval—the board will ask him formally to be president after some other necessary steps are taken—he issued a statement saying he is resigning as defense secretary to be president of the bank.

Johnson followed this speedily with a statement of his own. The President spoke in the highest terms of McNamara's service in the Defense Department but to this writer, his language seemed rigid if not frigid.

And there was even a bit of the mysterious in what the two men said.

McNAMARA said that last April the outgoing president of the bank, George D. Woods, asked him if he would be interested in being president and added the secretary didn't have to make a decision then.

McNAMARA said he was interested in the kind of job the bank does—helping in the economic development of backward countries—and told Johnson later about his conversation with Woods.

NEW YORK (AP) — In the days of the cave man it was easy to tell a man from a woman.

The man was the one who carried the club, who ate first and took the choicest pieces of meat, and wore the warmest furs in winter.

THE WOMAN was the one who had lumps on her head, ate the leftovers, and followed three paces or more behind the guy with the big club.

All this has been substantially changed. Civilization steadily tends to iron out the difference between the sexes. They talk and walk and think and act and dress so much alike that it sometimes takes a trained eye to tell them apart.

Despite the trend toward similarity, they can still be classified with fair accuracy by a careful observer.

FOR EXAMPLE, here are a few guidelines:

If it shows up for breakfast with wire curlers on its head, it's a wife. If it has a cut on its face from shaving and is reading the morning newspaper, it's a husband.

If one says to the other, "Why, you old fool, you," that's grumpy grandma. If it replies placatingly, "Now, Mama, you know you shouldn't talk to me thataway," that's grandma.

DOES IT CURL its legs up under it when it sits on the sofa? It's a girl. Does it sprawl back on the sofa and stretch out spraddle-legged? It's a boy.

Can it wear a nest of robins in its hair? Put it down as probably a female hippie. Can it wear a nest of robins in its beard as well as its hair? Undoubtedly a male hippie.

Does it wear rubber gloves while doing the dishes? Hi there, Mom! Does it do the dishes bare-handed and curse when it burns its fingers in the hot water? Poor Dad!

IF IT THINKS money grows on trees, it's a her. If it loyally spends most of its life trying to find that kind of tree for her, it's a him.

If it bends over a coffin and lovingly kisses the dead lips therein, that's the widow. If it just stands wet-eyed by the coffin, quiffily whispering to its own soul, "I sure gave the old girl a rough time all the way," that's the widower.

DOES IT SAY after a business luncheon, "Gimmie the check—this one's on me," it's a male executive. Does it say, "No, let's go dutch"—but really doesn't mean it at all—it's a career woman.

Of course, in an emergency, if you feel it is necessary to know the sex of another person and can't decide, you can take the direct approach and ask the person involved.

If you get your face slapped, it's a woman. If you start bleeding from a punch on the nose, it's a man.

Around The Rim
 Those Insidious Pressures

Cooped up at home for a day has answered a lot of questions. For instance, when Baby Girl started insisting that she wanted one of those dolls that can really eat supper, I didn't know the toy men had such a versatile puppet. More, she assured me, it "chews and everything."

I FOUND out where she saw it. Those unfunny cartoons on TV are laced tightly together with toy commercials of every description, many that defy belief, and sure enough, the chewing doll was among them.

Here also, I found the foundation for her insistence on a washing machine, a dish washer, a clothes dryer, "all just like Mommie's." She is conversant with all the manufacturer's claims, describing the virtues of these utilitarian products.

If one of the commercials caught me happily out of the room, she chased me down to insist that I see for myself. Indeed, I think she only watches the cartoons so as not to miss the commercials.

I HAD occasionally wondered where she saw so many grand and glorious toys. Now, I'm about ready to sell the TV set.

Fortunately, Baby Brother is at a far better age. He struggles out from behind the collection of toys to seek some pots and pans, with which he amuses himself for hours on end. He puts the lids on and off, banging them helter-skelter about the house, and in general, is vastly pleased with his ability to create havoc. The best that can be said for this activity is that it's cheap.

TRUE, if his sister becomes attached to some particular item, he quickly develops a love for it himself, resulting in a mini-fight. But like I said, it's cheap.

I frankly don't know how parents, with several youngsters old enough to watch TV, can keep up with the financial pace. I shudder at the future planned by the merchandisers, who are short-circuiting the shield I have tried to place around our pair, in order to nip at my pocketbook.

ONE THING about this enlightenment, however, it makes a fellow perk up and get back on the job. With forces like that at work, he can't afford to nip at a single day.

 Comparisons Are Off Base

WASHINGTON — Before Thanksgiving, Mr. President was jubilant, jocular and jovian. The terms do not contradict.

When Lyndon Johnson feels his oats, he joshes with his friends, ridicules his domestic adversaries.

HE SPEAKS of Kozgyn, the only rival in world power, by the unadorned surname, showing no disrespect but certainly no awe. There is a Jupiterian self-confidence about Johnson, as if he doesn't remember not being President, and can't conceive that there might exist forces at home or abroad to threaten his allotted reign.

Some of this assurance undoubtedly is inside him. It is in keeping with his buoyant nature which cannot long remain subdued or repressed. There is authentic reason to believe that LBJ started this year with the expectation of a military decision in the Far East and of an accommodation between Arab and Israel in the Middle East.

THE ENEMY position in Vietnam has been hopeless ever since the decision was made and carried out to turn the fight into an American war. Last March, as Gen. Wheeler reported, the Communists were beaten, but didn't know it. The only question in the time-frame was when they would realize that the jig was up. And in the Middle East there were negotiations in progress that were designed to offer each side an acceptable compromise and an award for good behavior.

Much went awry in both places, just as it had two years ago in the Dominican Republic before coming out as the President felt that it would. Now, it's going to take a while longer in Vietnam, but only because the enemy has been harder to convince, and not because the American plans are the wrong ones.

IN THE MIDDLE East, Nasser was warned to strike, if he must, but not to keep making threatening noises about striking, and history may tell that the Egyptian braggart never intended to make an overt attack. Israel was implied and advised not to take the plunge. Nonetheless, the structure for a permanent arrangement in the Middle East is still intact, as is the President optimism about its use, which may take place soon.

BUT THIS optimism that the President took with him on the holiday break was not just a gusher of internal exuberance. Ambassador Bunker and Gen. Westmoreland brought him good news from the front. I think the best proof of this is that the reports of slow, substantial progress toward a discernible end of the main struggle were the same in public as the general and the ambassador were making in private. The President's sanguine spirits are reinforced by the soldier who knows most about the Vietnam fighting, and by the diplomat who is trying to bring about social reform so that people will sustain the Saigon government.

IT HAS BECOME the in-thing in recent months to compare Johnson with President Hoover, and the nation's plight of today with that of the depression. The analogy is father to the wish in many a faint heart and smoking typewriter.

But those who picture LBJ as desperate or dejected, and who see a slow-moving war as anything like an economic panic, must be drawing from imaginative models.

Not this President, not this war, call for any such comparisons. (Distributed by McNamee Syndicate, Inc.)

 Perhaps Time For A Reappraisal

WASHINGTON—Twice in this century the United States has saved France from enslavement by a foreign power, and many American lives and hundreds of millions of dollars were sacrificed in the task. But Gen. de Gaulle, president of France, is turning more and more against this country. He not only has sought to break up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization — thus weakening the Western Alliance against the Soviet Union—but now he has begun openly to reveal his hostility on the financial and economic front, too, in an effort to damage the dollar in world trade.

What is the reason for these flagrant acts of ingratitude? Even more important is the question: Why do the people of France stand by and allow their elected leader to travel the road to disaster? For alienation from the United States is bound to have a tragic result.

As the world, moreover, witnesses the attack on the dollar by President de Gaulle, the news dispatches tell of a demonstration in Paris by 60,000 Communists and their supporters who paraded with large placards on Sunday, assailing the American government and President Johnson, while chanting "U.S. assassin."

INSIDE FRANCE there has come in recent years an invasion of foreign capital — some British, but mostly American. Many millions of dollars have been invested in French companies by American corporations. This has allowed the economy of France, though it also has stirred up some animosity. Gen. de Gaulle in his news conference on Monday charged that the massive outflow of dollars from this country to France has enabled the United States to get control of a number of French enterprises. He said:

"We are facing an American takeover of certain of our industrial plants. But we know that this is chiefly due to the superiority of the United States, but to the inflation which it is exporting to other nations under cover of the gold exchange system . . ."

"It is in the interest of all, including the United States, that this be terminated."

THE UNITED STATES has been trying to curtail the flow of dollars abroad because of its imbalance of payments. The investments overseas, to be sure, have brought back many millions of dollars in tax revenue paid by American companies to the U.S. Treasury. But not enough trade has been developed to offset the billions spent outside the United States because of military expenses and foreign aid.

Gen. de Gaulle, unfortunately, lacks the imagination to see that foreign capital can do even more in the future to transform France from an agricultural to an industrial country. Whether it be in business relations or international policy, the larger nations of the world have not been able to live in economic or political isolation.

FRANCE UNDER Gen. de Gaulle, however, can disrupt its economic progress if the current course of hostility to the United States is continued. American tourists may begin to boycott France and its products. Also, there may be an inclination now for the United States to take another look at West Germany to see if a better defensive system can be built up with the aid and cooperation of the Bonn government.

ALREADY MEMBERS of Congress are asking why the United States shouldn't demand an immediate payment from France on its World War I debt to the United States, which, with interest, amounts to six billion dollars. Rep. Lester Wolff (D-NY) has urged that, if De Gaulle doesn't pay this, the United States should freeze French assets in this country. Such proposals are extreme, but they emphasize that the French president has certainly opened the way in American relations with France toward what has often been called in diplomacy "an agonizing reappraisal."

Billy Graham

My question has to do with sex in the Christian life, and in the married relationship. Is it to be only a matter of reproduction? Does it mean that sex is permissible for physical satisfaction? Can a Spirit-filled person enjoy sex in the married relationship?

R. M.

You have asked more questions than I can answer in a single column. The apostle Paul lays down very specific suggestions for sex in the marriage relationship. He says, ". . . To avoid fornication, let every man have his own wife, and let every woman have her own husband. Let the husband render due benevolence; and likewise also the wife to the husband. The wife hath not power of her own body, but the husband: and likewise the husband hath not power over his own body, but the wife. Defraud ye not one another, except it be with consent for a time, that ye may give yourselves to fasting and prayer; and come together again, that Satan tempt ye not for your incontinency." (1 Cor. 7:2-5)

Sex in the married relationship is to be unselfish, each yielding to the other, as though they were not their own. Just as a Christian's body is the temple of the Holy Spirit, and he is not his own, but God's when we marry we bequeath to our married partners all we have, and we are no longer our own. Since God has ordained and blessed such a relationship for the perpetuation of love, it does not hinder our spiritual health, nor is it in violation of God's will.

Johnson Says Major U. S. Defense Policies Defined

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says major U.S. defense policies are clearly defined for the man who will succeed Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, quitting the Pentagon for the World Bank's presidency.

TRIPLE PLAY

But a triple play of announcements by the World Bank, White House and McNamara Wednesday night left in a fog some of the more intriguing aspects of the defense chief's switch in assignments. The statements reported:

—McNamara will take over the presidency of the 107-nation World Bank after he finishes his work on the fiscal 1969 defense budget next year, probably sometime in February or shortly after.

—President Johnson maintained "the course of our participation in the war in Vietnam is firmly set, major defense policies are clearly defined" and McNamara's successor—not yet named—can carry on in McNamara's tracks "without loss of momentum or effectiveness."

OFFERS TO STAY

—Outgoing President George D. Woods of the World Bank sounded out McNamara last April 18. McNamara indicated his interest in the post. He discussed it with Johnson, offering to stay at the Pentagon "as long as he felt it necessary."

—About mid-October, Johnson asked McNamara if he still was interested. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler had prodded Johnson for the U.S. nomination for the World Bank presidency.

—McNamara told Johnson he was still interested. The nomination went forward to the bank. Its 20 executive directors voted unanimously Wednesday night to offer the $40,000-a-year job to McNamara, after the French representative reportedly delayed to check with Paris. A delegation headed by Woods called on McNamara at the Pentagon.

STATEMENT

The White House statement, issued under Johnson's name, called McNamara a "great administrator of the defense establishment... wise, resourceful, prudent" and said, "I shall miss him greatly."

McNamara's statement described the defense chief as

"profoundly grateful to the President for his unfailing support and friendship."

But neither formal statement did much to confirm or dispel speculation that McNamara was being thrown to the Vietnam war hawks—that he is being eased out because Johnson reportedly is siding more and more with the military chiefs.

There was only one brief reference to Vietnam in both statements. This was Johnson's line saying the course of U.S. participation in the war is firmly set.

REPORTERS REBUFFED

A White House aide said it was fair to assume Johnson's aim was to counter allegations that McNamara's departure will signal a major escalation of the bombing offensive.

Arthur Schlesinger, onetime aide to President John F. Kennedy, said in Upper Montclair, N.J., that McNamara's departure is "ominous."

McNamara's statement said he had worked with Johnson "in complete harmony and with the highest regard." This may have been intended to scotch rumors of disagreement between the two men.

But reporters were rebuffed in attempts to gain clarification.

Aden Arabs Cheer Chief

ADEN (AP) — Thousands of Arabs gathered outside abandoned British forts and barracks today, cheering the red, white and black colors of the South Yemen People's Republic on its first day of independence. The nation's new leader, until three months ago a hunted terrorist, received a tumultuous welcome.

British rule ended at midnight Wednesday after 128 years. A few hours before the last 900 men of a British force that once numbered 12,000 were flown from an abandoned golf course to the carrier Albion, and the British naval task force sailed at dusk.

Crowds celebrated through Aden airport this morning to welcome Qahtan Al Shaabi, certain to be the new republic's president or premier, and 11 other top leaders of the National Liberation Front.

Al Shaabi was embraced by 96 religious and civil leaders before leading a motorcade under triumphal arches to the city.

As late as a month ago, the NLF's gunmen had been firing both at British Tommies and members of the Front for the Liberation of South Yemen—FLOSY—which challenged it for control.

FLOSY lost out in the power struggle to take over from the British.

Strong Earthquake Kills At Least 8

BELGRADE (AP) — A strong earthquake shook western Macedonia today. First reports said at least eight persons were killed in the small town of Debar and property damage there was large.

PANIC

The population of several towns in the area fled from their houses in panic.

The seismological institute at Skopje said the center of the quake was 65 miles west of that city, the capital of Macedonia. No damage was reported in Skopje, which was destroyed by an earthquake in 1963.

The official news agency Tanjug reported that about 10 percent of all buildings in Debar were destroyed, including the postoffice. It said several bodies were taken out of the debris and rescue teams were working to save others buried in the wreckage.

Macedonia, Yugoslavia's southeastern republic, has Greek Macedonia to its south and Communist Albania to its west.

The center of the quake was reported inside Albania, but it will probably be some time before word of damage filters out of there.

POWER FAILURE

The quake was felt strongly on the Greek island of Corfu and in northwestern Greece around Igoumenitsa, the Athens seismological institute reported, but there was no immediate word of casualties.

The Yugoslav ministry of Interior said Debar, close to the Albanian border, was without electricity and water. Troops were rushed to the little town, and rescue teams were sent from Skopje.

A radio request for 10,000 tents was received in Belgrade. Debar has less than 5,000 people and it was believed from the request for tents that neighboring villages were hard hit.

Nixon Supports 'Pursuit' Policy

By The Associated Press

The campaign for the Republican presidential nomination makes such heavy demands, says Richard M. Nixon, that it should be entered only at the last possible moment.

When might that moment be, the former vice president was asked at a news conference Wednesday?

The reply: If, toward the end of January, "public acceptance is somewhere near where it is now, I expect to be a candidate."

GIANT ODDS

Meanwhile a candidacy loomed for a senator who says he wants to bring the nation's Vietnam policy into open debate inside President Johnson's own party.

Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., intends to challenge President Johnson in at least four presidential preference primaries next year. He indicated in advance of his formal announcement that he will enter primaries in Wisconsin Apr. 2, Nebraska May 14, Oregon May 28 and California June 4.

McCarthy, who acknowledges it would be almost impossible to take the nomination away from Johnson, maintains Vietnam policy must be debated within the Democratic party. His supporters say any sizable vote for him would indicate a degree of voter disenchantment with Johnson and his policies.

'SPONTANEOUS' BACKING

A different sort of political reaction came from New Jersey Wednesday as the state's 21 Democratic county organizations unanimously endorsed President Johnson for re-election.

The endorsement was "spontaneous," said Democratic State Chairman Robert J. Burkhardt, because "it was felt Johnson's leadership was such it should be reinforced."

At his news conference Nixon also expressed opinions on Vietnam. He said Republicans should adopt a platform calling for an end to the war in a manner which would insure permanent peace. He called also for a policy of preventive diplomacy to assure that the United States does not become embroiled in another Vietnam in Africa, Latin America or elsewhere in South East Asia.

Then he backed a statement by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower approving of a policy of hot pursuit of enemy forces in South Vietnam, even if the trail should lead into Laos, Cambodia or Red China.

Opening lead: Seven of ♠

The above hand provoked considerable discussion when it was dealt in an international championship a few seasons back.

East opened the bidding with one heart in third seat, choosing to treat his hearts and clubs as if they were the same length. On a holding of moderate strength, he reasoned that it would facilitate the showing of both suits to bid hearts first.

South overcalled with one spade. West raised his partner to two hearts and North jumped to three spades. East now showed his second suit by bidding four clubs and South persisted to four spades. West competed with five hearts and had the opposition stopped to double, they could have collected an 1,100 point toll by launching a cross-ruff in diamonds and clubs.

South chose to carry on to five spades, however, and West doubled.

Had West opened a heart, the defense would have cashed out two tricks in that suit to complete their book, with the ace of spades still to be scored. West chose to lead from his shorter holding, however, and declarer was given a little breathing room.

South won the opening club lead in dummy with the ace and promptly put the jack of diamonds thru. East was under pressure and the trick would have worked out better for his side, had he covered—it seemed advisable to make a fast decision to avoid giving away his holding, and he chose to play the five of diamonds.

Declarer let the jack ride, and when it held the trick, he ruffed himself in with a club and cashed the ace of diamonds, discarding a heart from dummy. A diamond was ruffed felling East's king and then a club was trumped, so that South could cash the now established queen of diamonds and discard a second heart from North's hand.

East was obliged to ruff the queen of diamonds with the lone ace of spades and after he cashed the ace of hearts, the defense was thru. South trumped the club return with the king of spades and after drawing the remaining trumps, the dummy was high.

Steers Seek 3rd Win In Odessa

ODESSA — A Big Spring victory over the Permian JV team in the first round of the annual Odessa Basketball tournament this evening would return the Steers to play against the survivor in the Odessa High-Amarillo Caprock contest at 7:15 p.m. Friday.

The Longhorns, who upset Lamesa earlier this week, are favored to topple Permian but coach Kirby Fugh is apprehensive about the test.

He reasons that the Permian club will be a mixture of A and B players and could pose a threat playing in their own backyard.

Too, the Steers could still be riding on Cloud Nine after having beaten Lamesa and may not be ready for the tournament test.

WIN TWO STARTS

The Longhorns have won two of their three starts, having knocked off Andrews and Lamesa (both AAA schools) while losing to a AAAA club, Lubbock High.

First game in the tournament pits Lubbock High against the Odessa High JV at 4:45 p.m. Big Spring and the Permian JV take the court at 6 p.m.

El Paso Jefferson and Permian's A team clash at 7:15 p.m. while Odessa High and Amarillo Caprock square off at 8:30 p.m.

El Paso Jefferson and Odessa High are favored to attain the Saturday night finals.

The two last place teams clash with seventh place at stake at 4:45 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 2. Consolation finals are scheduled for 6 p.m. that day. The game for third place starts at 7:15 p.m. while the championship goes on the line at 8:30 p.m.

Last year, Jefferson defeated Big Spring in the finals, 57-46 while Odessa High won third by trimming Andrews, 69-60.

Earlier this week, Permian's varsity troops lost to Odessa Early, 63-62, after having earlier beaten the Eagles, 67-57.

Odessa High was edged by Fort Stockton, 43-42, in a game played at Fort Stockton. Odessa

High will take a 3-1 record onto the court tonight.

WILSON BIG SCORER

The Bronchos lean heavily upon 6-7 John Wilson and scrambler Craig Heap. Odessa has beaten Crane, El Paso Bowles and Amarillo Palo Duro. Wilson has been averaging 29.1 points per game.

El Paso Jefferson is again led by 6-8 Nate Stephens, the boy who dealt Big Spring so much trouble last year. The Silver Foxes also have two 6-5 boys in Vince Brogdon and Wilson Barrow. The latter is only a sophomore.

Amarillo Caprock lost to Midland Lee, 65-60, in the finals of last week's tournament at El Paso Austin. Lamont Grogan, 6-4; Joe Jones, 6-2½; and Ken Carson, 6-0, lead the Cap Rock attack.

Lubbock High has won only one of four starts to date but that was over Big Spring.

Kermit and Andrews were entered in the tournament but pulled out and the junior varsity squads of Odessa High and Permian were substituted.

Danny Clendenin of the Steers was an all-tournament choice in Odessa last year. He'll start today, along with Wayne (Goosey) Johnson, Snake Tucker, Jerry McGuire and Senimal Johnson.

Trophies will be given to all eight teams and an all-tournament club will be selected the final night.

Pont Levelled In Sales Talk To Gridders

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — John Pont, who transformed Indiana's football team from a dead-end trolley into a Rose Bowl-bound express, said he attracted his crop of hotshot sophomores with a "don't fool them" recruiting pitch.

"We laid our offer on the line," Pont said. "As far as Indiana University was concerned, we told them the school had not been successful. But we said 'if you come here you will be on a team which will accomplish a first—one that will win.'"

The Hoosiers rose from a record of 3-16-1 the previous two seasons to a 9-1 record and a No. 4 ranking in the final Associated Press national poll of the season.

Indiana, which won its only Big Ten title in 1945 before the Rose Bowl pact with the West Coast teams was made, had its last winning season in 1958. Before Pont arrived in 1965, the record of the four preceding coaches was 42-106-3.

The scrambling tag was most associated with the sophomore trio of quarterback Harry Gonso, halfback John Isenberger and flanker Jade Butcher. Gonso and Butcher teamed on electrifying pass plays. Isenberger earned his fame with last-second decisions to run instead of punt. Pont's theory of "we're going to make mistakes, so we'll make them aggressively," affected his older players too.

In the Old Oaken Bucket battle with Purdue Saturday, senior linebacker Ken Kaczmarek showed the aggressiveness in the fourth quarter. He hit full-back Perry Williams charging through a line opening and forced Williams to fumble on the one-yard line.

That stalled Purdue's last strong drive, insuring Indiana's 19-14 victory, a tie for the Big Ten title and a Rose Bowl journey to face top-ranked Southern California on Jan. 1.

In 11 games, Williams has caught 23 passes for 367 yards and a 16-yards-per-catch average. Five times he has scored touchdowns, including two against champion Green Bay on Oct. 30 when the Cardinals lost 31-23.

Interest In Playoffs Centers On Amarillo

Sixteen games Friday and Saturday bring the surging Texas schoolboy football race to its semifinals in all four classes with 11 undefeated, untied records on the line.

But in only one instance do teams with perfect records meet each other — Austin Reagan at San Antonio Brackenridge in Class AAAA—and that means there can be only three at the most left with undefeated, untied slates in that class when the firing is over Saturday night.

TWO ALL-WINNING
Just two teams are undefeated and untied in Class AAA, where El Campo risks its unsullied record against twice-beaten, aced-tied Silsbee, and Seguin throws an 11-0 mark on the line against Donna, which also has lost twice.

The big game, however, comes in Class AAAA where Abilene Cooper, unbeaten and untied, rolls against Amarillo Tascosa, a four-time loser. While the Tascosa record isn't good, this team has been coming on like the wind of late and Cooper should be worried about playing the Panhandle powerhouse on its own field at Amarillo Saturday afternoon.

Another unbeaten, untied team goes against one that arrived late when Dallas Adams, with Scotty Miles passing high, wide and handsome, hits twice-beaten Richardson at Dallas Friday night. The winner will meet the Cooper-Tascosa victor in the semifinals.

The other AAAA game, setting up the Reagan-Brackenridge matches Houston Bellaire with Beaumont Hebert at Beaumont Saturday night.

The Reagan - Brackenridge clash is Friday night.

SPLIT SCHEDULE
Class AAA also has a split schedule with two games Friday night and two Saturday. The headline thrower Dumas against Brownwood at Amarillo Saturday night. It is the clash of two former champions who have had some ups and downs getting to the quarterfinals.

McKinney, with only a tie to mar its record, plays Palestine at Arlington Friday night at the same time that unbeaten, untied Seguin is clashing with Donna at Alice.

The other game is the El Campo-Silsbee affair scheduled for Saturday night at Houston.

Sweeny, the last defending champion in the field, tangles with San Antonio Randolph in a headliner of Class AA, the teams meeting at Scharbert-Cibola Friday night.

Plano, a former champion, tests No. 1-rated Daingerfield at Longview—also Friday night, as is the clash of Phillips with Crane at Lubbock.

Undefeated, untied Del Valle, in the state playoffs for the first time, runs into tough Kountze at Brenham Saturday night.

Seagraves, the championship favorite of Class A, battles Sudan at the top of this division. They meet at Lubbock Saturday night. Ranger goes against Clifton at Stephenville and Tilden clashes with Odem at Victoria Friday night. Brownsboro takes on Rogers at Mexia Saturday night.

While the big boys of the A classes are moving toward state championships, Class B will be winding up the season with regional title games.

All seven are Friday night with Bronte vs. Wilson at Snyder, Celina vs. Chillicothe at Necona, Hawkins vs. Aledo at Terrell, Bruceville-Eddy vs. Tatum at Waco, Wall vs. Salado at Belton, Shepherd vs. Brookshire Royal at Cleveland and Blanco vs. Runge at Lubbock.

Sixteen out of 32 week end tie ups are scheduled for this week.

CLASS AAAA
Friday night—Dallas Adams over Richardson, Austin Reagan over San Antonio Brackenridge; Saturday afternoon—Abilene Cooper over Amarillo Tascosa; Saturday night—Houston Bellaire over Beaumont Hebert.

CLASS AAA
Friday night—McKinney over Palestine, Seguin over Donna; Saturday night—Brownwood over Dumas, El Campo over Silsbee.

CLASS AA
Friday night—Phillips over Crane, Plano over Daingerfield, Dumas over San Antonio Randolph; Saturday night—Del Valle over Lancaster.

7bers Beaten Again; Woes Stacking Up

Is there anything wrong with the Philadelphia 76ers, champions of the National Basketball Association?

A year ago at this time they were rolling merrily along at a 19-2 clip. Today they are 15-7 and second to the Boston Celtics in the Eastern Division.

"I don't know what the answer is," said Coach Alex Hanum after the 76ers had taken a 11-95 whipping from the San Francisco Warriors at the Philadelphia Spectrum Wednesday night.

And big 7-foot-1 Wilt Chamberlain, who scored only 12 points, nine in the last five minutes, asserted, "There's nothing wrong with me."

It was the seventh straight victory for San Francisco and moved the Warriors within one-half game of the first-place St. Louis Hawks in the Western Division.

New York scored a 119-99 road victory over Cincinnati and Detroit, playing at home, defeated Los Angeles 127-123 in the other scheduled NBA games.

The last time the Warriors played in Philadelphia they held Chamberlain to just one point. This time 6-11 Nate Thurmond of the Warriors held Chamberlain to three field goals, the first of which came with five minutes left and the 76ers behind by 16 points.

Jeff Mullins, with 22 points, and Fred Hetzel, with 20, topped the Warriors. Chet Walker got 4 and Luke Jackson 20 to top the 76ers.

New York broke a 43-43 tie with Cincinnati on Phil Jackson's basket, then opened a 33-point lead to rout the Royals, once again minus Oscar Robertson because of a knee injury. Willis Reed's 18 points paced the Knicks. Happy Hairston was high for the Royals with 20.

The Big Spring ninth grade Brahmas will be at home to San Angelo Lee in a 7:30 p.m. game today while the ninth grade Toros go to San Angelo for a 7:30 p.m. engagement with Edison Junior High.

The Brahmas beat San Angelo Glenn earlier this week, 46-45. The Runcells eighth graders, losers by a 22-25 count to Glenn earlier this week, will be at home to Lee's eighth graders at 6:15 p.m.

Probable Starter

When Big Spring takes the court against the Permian JV's in the first round of the Odessa Basketball Tournament at 6 o'clock this evening, senior Jerry McGuire (above), 6-3, will, no doubt, be in the starting lineup. Jerry has been averaging 13 points a game.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Allen Davis, the former basketball coach at San Angelo Central, had his Athens High School team in the Class AAA playoffs his first year there but the team lost in bi-district competition to Palestine, 36-28.

Under Davis, Athens finished with a 9-2 record.

Odessa High is showing early foot in the basketball campaign and ranks with Abilene High as a co-favorite to win the District 2-AAAA championship.

Big Spring is rating a lot of support among observers for a first division berth and could have a lot to say about who wins the crown.

Midland school officials have decided to shut down the Negro high school over there and integrate the students into the other two schools.

Stan Cobb, a Midland High coaching aide, remarked recently that he thought the best way to divide the Negro students would be to send all the boys to Midland High and the girls to Lee.

Lee's coach, Bob Burris, allowed as how that would be okay by him, adding:

"Give us the girls and we'll get the boys, too. You can't beat 'em as recruiters."

Cotton Bowl-bound Alabama will have played before close to 600,000 paying customers this season — a school record — when it meets Auburn Saturday in its final start Saturday. The Auburn contest is already a sellout.

This marks the first year in history the Tide has gone over the half-million mark in attendance. Against Tennessee in Birmingham, Alabama played before 71,849.

Artesia College in New Mexico likely will be the next school to apply for admission in the Western JC Conference.

Artesia is fielding a basketball team and recently lost an overtime decision to Odessa College, 103-83.

At the age of 32, Gene Stallings of Texas A&M is the youngest head coach to win a Southwest Conference football championship in the modern era.

Alabama, the Aggies' Cotton Bowl opponent, did not have a scout present for the Aggie-Texas game last week but the schools will exchange films. While coaching at Alabama, Stallings accompanied the Crimson Tide to seven bowl games.

Perhaps the solution to the grass problem in the Cotton Bowl is Astroturf.

So many games are played there each fall, the sod becomes worn out long before play ceases and the ground has to be painted when color TV cameras move in to film games.

CLUBS DEAL IN SHORTSTOPS

Luis Aparicio Delighted Over Trade To White Sox

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Little Luis Aparicio, the speedy shortstop who once helped the Chicago White Sox win a pennant, returns to Comiskey Park after a five-year absence in one of a dozen trades involving players made at the winter baseball meetings.

"That is good news. Wait until I tell my wife," Aparicio said when Chicago General Manager Eddie Short called him in Maracaibo, Venezuela, to break the news.

The White Sox got Aparicio back from Baltimore Wednesday in a six-player deal designed to solve problems for both clubs. The Venezuelan will aid the White Sox defense while Baltimore tried to strengthen its pitching staff which collapsed last season.

Chicago gave up pitchers Bruce Howard and Roger Nelson and infielder Don Buford. The Orioles dealt outfielder Russ Snyder and John Matias, a minor league first baseman. The Orioles had earlier traded knuckleball pitcher Eddie Fisher to Cleveland for lefty John O'Donoghue.

Shortstop has been a key in both major transactions announced so far. Zoilo Versalles was the major factor in the big Los Angeles-Minnesota swap Tuesday which still had tongues wagging. Versalles and pitcher Mudcat Grant went to the Dodgers in exchange for catcher John Roseboro and pitchers Ron Perranoski and Bob Miller. Cleveland sent Chuck Hinton to the California Angels for Jose Cardenal in an exchange of right-hand hitting outfielders.

"We still like Aparicio but we just had to find a spot for Belanger," said Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer. Aparicio's batting average fell from .276 to .233 last season.

Bauer said Howard, 24, was a deciding factor for Baltimore in the deal despite his 3-10 record last season with Chicago.

"Howard has pitched good against us. He has a good slider and will fit into our starting rotation with Jim Palmer, Dave McNally, Tom Phoebus and Jim Hardin," Bauer said.

Other Hamlin pairings send Jayton against Leuders-Avoca at 4 p.m., Weinert against Anson at 5:30 p.m., and Hamlin against Roby at 8:30 p.m.

Leuders-Avoca, which recently beat Abilene Cooper, is the meet favorite.

Most U. S. Cities Face Budget Woes

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's cities are hunting for revenue to balance their steadily increasing expenses.

Rising prices of goods and services, increasing salaries, and expanding populations are putting pressure on municipal budgets all through the country.

MORE DEMANDS

More people mean more parks, playgrounds and swimming pools, more demand for water, expanded sewerage, more garbage collection, more police and firemen, and more persons on welfare.

Cities have been forced to enlarge or improve their physical plants, buy more efficient and sophisticated equipment, hire more people, and pay their employees more money to keep them from taking better jobs in private industry.

An Associated Press survey of 27 of the nation's largest cities disclosed, among other things:

—A nearly 19 per cent budget increase at Baltimore in a single year, to just under $538 million.

—A 13.7 per cent increase, representing $634 million, for New York City where the $5.178 billion 1967-68 budget nearly trebles that of 11 years ago.

HIGHER WAGES

Phoenix, Ariz., whose Finance Director Jack Urie blamed "higher wages, higher costs and inflation" for continually rising budgets, is an extreme example of growth pressure. In 1960, Phoenix encompassed 17 square miles and had a population of 107,000. Today it covers 248 square miles and has 525,000 inhabitants.

There has been no property tax increase at Phoenix in 14 years, Urie said, but revenue has been increased by a 1 per cent city sales tax, the city's 40 per cent share of a one-cent increase in the state gasoline tax, and a 2 per cent utility tax.

"HOLD THE LINE"

Houston, operating on a "hold the line" $109-million budget, up $7 million from last year, has reached the point where "we are unable to furnish all the services we would like within the structure of present income," said Mayor Louie Welch. Yet since that budget was adopted, the City Council voted pay increases for policemen and firemen in 1968 and is considering increases for other employees.

A 1 per cent city sales tax goes before Houston voters Dec. 5. If the sales tax is rejected, Welch said, property taxes will have to be increased to raise $11 million to $14 million needed for pay raises.

SAN ANTONIO VOTES

San Antonio also votes Dec. 5 on the city sales tax. Officials said a property tax boost is the alternative there too.

Every city covered in the survey said increasing wages and salaries of municipal employees are a major factor in rising budgets.

"City government as well as private industry has to meet the competitive market for higher wages," said Walter Stecher, Detroit's budget director.

Detroit's $420 million budget represents an increase of more than $12 million in one year.

Stecher said cities also have to meet increased costs of construction, materials and supplies.

Detroit needs state legislative action to provide new revenues, he said, because the city is levying the limit on property taxes. He suggested an excise tax, such as a hotel tax, or raising the 1 per cent city income tax.

UTILITY TAX

New York City's new income tax is expected to produce $167 million to apply on its record budget.

Pittsburgh reported inquiries from other cities interested in its $10-a-year, occupation tax on every person employed in Pittsburgh, regardless of residence. The tax is in addition to the city wage tax, collected only from Pittsburgh residents.

Los Angeles passed a 4 per cent utility users tax on telephone, gas and electric service and raised real estate transfer and license fees to meet costs which have risen $20 million in two years. The council rejected Mayor Sam Yorty's proposal for a garbage collection fee, and also an earnings tax on all persons employed in the city, urged by Yorty to permit reducing property tax rates.

BUDGET BLUES

San Francisco's budget is up $29 million to $433 million and San Diego's is up $10 million to $91 million.

Philadelphia is relying in part on a city wage tax to provide the additional $11.8 million embodied in its $406 million budget for 1968. Pay increases for 30,000 municipal employees accounted for most of the boost.

Pay increases of 5 to 8 per cent and the addition of 1,200 employees are included in Mayor Richard Daley's proposed $713-million budget. The total is $70 million higher than for the current year.

The civic federation, a private, non-partisan tax research organization, estimated the rise would boost property tax rates by 19 cents per $100 assessed valuation despite a city sales tax increase from 1/2 per cent to 3/4 per cent. Daley proposed raising the 2 per cent telephone tax to 5 per cent, saying this would hold a property tax increase to 11 cents per $100.

TAX PRESS

The $50 million allocated to school construction, provision for hiring 777 more teachers, and an air pollution control program helped boost the Washington budget by $80 million to nearly $501 million.

Mayors A. J. Cervantes of St. Louis and Ilius Davis of Kansas City are pressing for larger shares of the Missouri sales tax to help meet budget increases. Gov. Warren Hearnes has ordered a study of the question. Both cities are levying the limit on property to cover Kansas City's $77 million budget, up $5 million from last year, and St. Louis' nearly $99 million, up 20 per cent in five years.

BIGGER SHARE

Milwaukee's Mayor Henry Maier also has asked for a bigger share of the Wisconsin state income tax and state tax on utilities. Milwaukee's $13 million budget increase goes largely for general purposes including police and fire department operations.

Real estate owners in Boston will pay an additional $16.80 per $1,000 assessed valuation to help finance the $16.5-million budget increase.

About 58 per cent of Boston's real estate is tax exempt—owned by governments, religious groups, schools or charitable organizations.

Boston's total budget includes $182.6 million to be raised by the city, and, on the basis of current year's figures, plus $71 million from the state and $25 million from the federal government.

Denver's City Council has decided to transfer to the operating budget $3.5 million earmarked for capital improvements, and to eliminate $650,000 in fees paid to merchants for collecting the sales tax. Mayor Tom Currigan's proposal to raise the city sales tax to meet a $61.5-million budget, up $5 million, was rejected. The increase is earmarked mainly for pay raises for policemen, firemen, career employees and judges.

Atlanta boosted the property tax 1 mill and business license fees 65 per cent to cover a $10-million increase in the 1967 budget. The $58.5 million total represents a 37 per cent increase in 10 years. Gov. Lester Maddox blocked a proposed city sales tax, and a payroll tax on commuters died in a legislative committee.

REBATES

Property tax increases—8 mills in Minneapolis—and rebates from the new Minnesota state excise tax figure in financing the higher budgets for Minneapolis and St. Paul. Minneapolis' budget is up $6 million to $63 million, St. Paul's up $4.5 million to $41.7 million.

Some other reports: Seattle—Mayor Dorm Braman's nearly $227 million budget includes a general fund of almost $49.5 million—a 19 per cent increase covered by higher taxes, license fees and fines.

Newark—The $95 million budget is nearly $12 million higher than last year, funded by an anticipated $17 million more revenue from property tax rate increases.

Buffalo—Budget $122.5 million, up $15 million.

Cincinnati—Budget $77.7 million, up $7.3 million.

Columbus, Ohio—Finance Director John Stanley estimates the 1968 budget will be up $1.7 million, from $29.2, and that a $1-million surplus will help pay salary increases figured at $2.2 million.

PLAYS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY TOO

'King And I' Opens Tonight

"The King and I" the outstanding Rodgers and Hammerstein musical adaptation of a popular book and screenplay, will open a three-night run this evening on the Big Spring High School stage.

Final rehearsals were staged Wednesday evening, and Dan Shockey, high school drama instructor, promised local audiences this morning that the musical drama will be an evening of rare entertainment.

"The King and I" is the fourth musical staged in the public schools here, all under Shockey's direction. Others (and each received successively larger audiences and wider response), included "Oklahoma," "South Pacific," and "The Music Man."

Tickets will be available at the door at $2 for reserved section, $1.50 for adults and $1 for students.

Shockey is directing the play, with Kenny Sheppard as choral director; Bill Bradley and Don Turner, orchestra; and Miss Mary Jean Byrd, art work and scenery.

The leading parts will be played by Beth Hayworth, who joins the court of the King of Siam, played by Mark Shaver, as a British governess for his many children. The comedy is developed through a clash of cultures, but the delight of the play is probably in the rich musical score.

Curtain time each evening is 8 p.m., in the newly-remodeled high school auditorium.

Helping bring the play to life are Ann Garrett, Candy Marcum, Pat Macklin, Jan Morehead, Cindy Bryan, Lorrie Watkins, Stephanie Sokolewicz and Dona Yater, as the King's wives; Cheryl Colclazer, Betty McCann, Debbie Dunlap and Nancy Baird, as Amazons;

John Weeks, Brad Cederberg, Keith Grauman, Rob Charman, Smith Ellis, and Ricky Denson are cast as the priest and slaves; dancers, under the direction of Mrs. Sue Pearson, are Carl Van Vleet, Jill Lewis, Earsie Miller, Ginger Adams, Helena Wozencraft, and Teresa Conner.

Making the production possible are members of the production crew, including makeup by Sharon Swim, Linda Switzer, Raye Nell Dyer, Lynn Schaedel, Regenia McKinney,

Texas Atlas Maps Growth

AUSTIN — More than 200 maps, representing a visual gold mine of basic data about Texas, appear in a greatly expanded and revised "Atlas of Texas" published by The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

A useful reference for persons engaged in industrial development work, market research and teaching, the atlas includes extensive data on Texas' physical setting, population, transportation, education, recreation, agriculture, mining and manufacturing. In addition, an appendix carries tabulations of the growth of the state's largest cities from 1900 to 1960 and county population statistics for the years 1940, 1950 and 1960.

"This revised edition of the 'Atlas of Texas' contains approximately twice as many maps as the original 'Atlas' published in 1963, and there is more use of color," said Dr. John R. Stockton, bureau director.

Among new items contained in the atlas are maps depicting the concentration of military, non-agricultural and federal employment in Texas, and a map showing state and national parks. The publication also includes expanded data on manufacturing plants, minerals, water resources and climate.

The "Atlas of Texas" is available at $5 per copy from The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, Austin, Tex.

Cited For Story In School Paper

Rebecca Bright, daughter of Mrs. Jo Bright and Bob Bright, has been cited for a feature story she wrote on the history of Big Spring High School.

The story, said Max R. Haddick, director of the Interscholastic League, was "very well done." Haddick enclosed a proficiency citation for "superior journalistic talent." The story was carried in the early November issue of the Corral, the school paper.

Sooner Slaying Suspect Cleared

Jessie Lee Zuck, 16, Harrah, Okla., arrested here on a charge of defrauding an innkeeper in Sweetwater and later surrendered to Oklahoma City officers for interrogation in the slaying of a 6-year-old Oklahoma City child, apparently has been exonerated of the latter charge.

Oklahoma County officials said they are convinced Zuck has no knowledge of the slaying of the young girl.

However, they said more truth tests might be conducted. The skeleton of the child, missing for several months, was found just a few days before the teen was arrested here.

MRS. J. W. GREENE

Adjusts To Absence Of Children At Home

By RHODA LEMONS

When Mrs. J. W. Greene realized that her youngest daughter was going away to college, she felt a feeling of extreme loss, but in the intervening years, she has learned to adjust well to her life with no young people around. Of course, this is interspersed with frenetic weekends when college students are swarming all over the place.

Mrs. Greene and her husband live at 2305 Cindy, and they have two daughters, Mrs. Repps Guilar Jr. of Colorado City, and Brenda, a junior student at Texas Technological College, Lubbock. There are also two grandchildren, John, 2, and Leslie, 5, both children of the Guilars.

Mrs. Greene now does some of the things that in previous years she did not have time to do. She enjoys playing bridge and can "get up a game" on short notice. She enjoys some of her husband's hobbies which include woodworking and all types of outdoor sports such as hunting and fishing. Mrs. Greene accompanies him on some of his trips, and they both enjoy eating his game.

Greene is employed as truck and fleet manager at Bob Brock Ford. They usually spend their evenings watching television or entertaining friends for an informal meal or game of bridge. They are avid football fans either televised or in the bleachers.

Holidays are big things with the Greene family, and they always try to get together. Each year, they spend Christmas with Mrs. Greene's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Shepherd, in Hico. The girls think it just isn't Christmas unless they spend it in the traditional way. Mrs. Greene will take holiday goodies that she has prepared to help with the dinner, and her mother will provide the turkey and trimmings.

Mrs. Greene has already started some of her baking and will utilize her freezer for those recipes that can be prepared and frozen ahead of time.

Baked French Pancakes

They are stuffed with a creamy sauce holding nuggets of chicken and ripe olives. Domestic sauterne and cheese enliven the flavor and will be pleasing even to a gourmet's palate.

Make A Luxurious Pancake Dish For Dinner Or Entree

Once upon a time baked stuffed pancakes couldn't be found on the American dining scene.

A couple of hints about making the pancakes:
If you have an 8-inch teflon skillet, you'll find it's an enormous help in frying the pancakes with ease. Before frying them—no matter what kind of skillet you use—it's a good idea to melt a little butter and have it on hand for greasing the skillet; this way you can dip a pastry brush—heatproof, please—in the melted butter and brush it over the bottom of the skillet before you pour in the batter.

Because all the batter has to be poured in at one time, use a small ladle for this operation. Your silver drawer may boast one that holds exactly three tablespoons—the amount needed for each of these crepes.

FRENCH PANCAKES WITH CHICKEN-AND-RIPE-OLIVE STUFFING
5 tbsps. butter
5 tbsps. sifted regular flour
1 container (8 oz.) heavy cream
1 cup chicken broth
3/4 cup medium-sweet domestic sauterne

1/4 lb. Swiss cheese, grated medium-fine (1 cup)
1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
2 tbsps. minced parsley
Salt and white pepper to taste
2 cups diced cooked chicken
1 cup canned pitted ripe olives, sliced
8 French pancakes (see recipe)

Paprika
Avocado slices and whole ripe olives, if desired

In a one-quart saucepan, over low heat, melt the butter and stir in the flour. Add cream, chicken broth, and sauterne. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and boils. Off heat, stir in 3/4 cup of the cheese, Worcestershire sauce, parsley, salt and pepper.

Mix one cup of the sauce with the chicken and olives. Place filling (about 1-3 cup for each) in center of pancakes. Roll pancakes, and place in a buttered oblong glass baking dish (about 13 x 9 x 2 inches) or similar utensil.

Top with remaining sauce and cheese. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in a 375-degree oven until hot through and bubbly—about 15 minutes. Place under broiler a minute or two to brown top.

Garnish, if you like, with avocado slices and whole ripe olives. Makes four main-course, or eight first course, servings.

FRENCH PANCAKES
2 large eggs
2-3 cup milk
1/2 cup sifted regular flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. butter, melted

In a one-quart mixing bowl, beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites; add milk; beat to combine. Add flour and salt; beat (if using electric beater, set at medium speed) until smooth — there should be no lumps. Stir in the butter.

Lightly butter an 8-inch skillet and heat thoroughly — butter should not brown; hold skillet off heat and pour in (at one time) three tablespoons of the batter; swirl so mixture covers bottom of skillet. Quickly return to medium heat and lightly brown bottom side; turn and lightly brown second side. Turn out on waxed paper. Lightly grease skillet and heat before making each pancake. Do not stack pancakes. Makes eight. Use as directed in recipe for Baked French Pancakes with Chicken and Ripe-Olive Stuffing.

ISLAND EPIZOOTIC

Smoky Reek Of Death

LONDON (AP)—The smoky reek of death rises over Britain's russet countryside this fall. The nation is burning infected livestock.

The worst epizootic of foot and mouth disease this island has ever known has brought the destruction of more than 200,000 animals—cattle, sheep, pigs, goats.

More than 1,000 farms and 14 northern counties are directly affected. The rest of the nation is in a state of virtual siege in an attempt to keep the disease from spreading.

Standstill orders prohibit the movement of cattle, sheep or pigs. The markets are silent and deserted, their stalls empty. The 500 veterinarians fighting the epizootic—animal version of the epidemic—say the virus is the most virulent encountered yet. They aren't sure of its origin but they believe that a farmer's boot, a truck tire or a sudden change of wind can spread it.

Since the accepted method of control is slaughter, each new outbreak means another farmer's livestock is wiped out.

The farmer gets market value for his lost stock. He gets nothing for the consequential losses—milk yield, butter sales, the cost of building a new herd.

To some the spread of the disease, which first showed at Oswestry near the Welsh border five weeks ago, is reaching alarming proportions. There have even been suggestions it is out of control.

Peart calls such talk irresponsible. Even with the current proportions of judicial carnage, he says, Britain is losing less than one in every hundred of her 9 million cattle, 5½ million pigs and 20 million sheep.

But the blow to badly needed exports is severe. Rudi Steinberg, chairman of the Agricultural Export Council, has reported the loss of a $297,600 order from the Soviet Union for British cattle.

While many farmers are forced to live virtually isolated on their farms, windows closed against the stench from their burning stock, each countryman's life is affected.

Fox hunting, favorite winter sport of landowner and farmer alike, is completely stopped. So is horse racing.

The famed Smithfield Fatstock Show will have no live animals—just farm machinery.

London's Christmas poultry show is off; while the disease does not affect poultry, officials discourage large meetings of farmers.

Southern England's 104 square miles of New Forest, once William the Conqueror's favored hunting ground, has been cleared of all grazing stock for the first time in 700 years. Several zoos have closed. State-ly homes are barred to visitors to protect deer in their parks.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Ticklish Situation

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl with a big problem. Please don't laugh, Abby, but my problem is that I am ticklish. And I mean like if someone just tickles me a little bit, I practically go into hysterics.

Of course, nearly everyone who knows me knows about how ticklish I am, but my uncle in particular takes advantage of this, and he will get a hold of me and tickle me until I am so played out from laughing and screaming that I always end up crying.

My parents aren't much help, Abby, and I can't handle this alone. Please tell me what to do.

TICKLISH
DEAR TICKLISH: Being ticklish is no laughing matter, and I sympathize with you. Your uncle sounds like a first class nincompoop, who's probably sadistic to boot. When you see him next, give him fair warning that if he so much as puts a hand on you, you will clout him with a lamp, or whatever is handy. Then go ahead and do it. No jury would convict you.

DEAR ABBY: I am 33, have four practically grown children, and I have a problem, the likes of which you've never heard. I guarantee you.

Six months ago I married a 47-year-old man also divorced with three children. I had been a divorcee for six years. My husband assured me I had nothing to worry about because he had had an operation nine years before that made it IMPOSSIBLE for him to father any more children. Naturally I took his word for it. Well, something went wrong because I am four months pregnant. My doctor confirmed it. I am just furious, Abby. My husband went back to the doctor who performed that operation on him, and the doctor said that the operation is 100 per cent foolproof, there are no failures, and if I am pregnant, the baby can't be my husband's. Abby, I KNOW the baby can't be anybody else's.

Tell me, are those operations on men always successful? If so, how come I am PG? Can a blood test prove that my husband is the father of my baby? If he is, can my husband sue his doctor?

PG AT 33
DEAR PG: The operation your husband had is called a "vasectomy." If properly performed, it is 100 per cent foolproof, but unfortunately it is not always properly performed. If your husband IS indeed your baby's father (and I believe you when you say he is) then he should go to a urologist for a "sperm test." This will show beyond a doubt whether he is able to produce children or not. A blood test can be taken only after the baby is born, and can determine only who the baby's father is not. NOT who he IS. Your husband CAN sue his doctor. Whether he can collect is another question.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a pilot for a big air line, and on layovers in different cities the stewardesses frequently go out with the fellows, and on occasion they go to dinner, movies or sightseeing. My husband says this is the accepted thing. I am consumed by jealousy and tied up in knots just thinking about it. I need advice on how to handle the situation so I don't question him too much and get into fights with him when he comes home.

I don't have any reason to doubt my husband but I can't rid myself of the jealous feelings I have. I love him very much, and am so afraid of what might happen as a result of what the pretty new young faces that surround him. Can you help me?

JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: Jealousy is a "sickness." The twin germs which usually cause it are lack of self-confidence and mistrust. Don't quiz him, but let him know (good humoredly) that you think he is quite a prize and are slightly jealous. (This will be his cue to reassure you, as anyone with sense enough to fly a plane must surely know.) Frankly, I don't think you have anything to worry about. The husband who swings away from home avoids mentioning other girls.

Big Spring Kennel Club Plans Mapped For Lions

Downtown Lions got a close-up of the Big Spring Kennel Club and its plans for a series of obedience tests and judging of dogs.

Mrs. Billy Tubbs, assisted by Mr. Tubbs, demonstrated on how dogs are trained for obedience.

Addressing the Lions at their meeting in the Settles ballroom, Mrs. Tubbs said that the local club, which is affiliated with the American Kennel Club, is seeking through a series of matched contests to gain license for an AKC sanctioned dog show.

Projects to finance the club in its ambition to stage an AKC-licensed show include collection of scrap metal (anyone knowing of scrap which can be given should telephone the Big Spring Kennel Club for a pickup). Also planned is a tattoo clinic at which identifying names or numbers could be tattooed on pets.

The latter is intended as a public service to owners because of a rampant practice of dog-napping. Most pets are stolen, she said, to be sold for laboratory experiments.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

Beulah Uncovered 'Finds'; Troopers Buried Near Here?

By ED SYERS
Coast-battering hurricanes blow in few clouds with silver linings, and the recent, vast

Beulah was no exception, beyond the glint of exposing what appears to be 'treasure.' Early it seemed that Padre Island, below Corpus Christi might have turned up an 1800 Spanish ship, freighted with silver bars.

Prospectors Clubman A. E. Evans, Odessa, bulletined the hopeful flurry of that find, but to this date nothing further has shown. A forgotten hulk, perhaps; but no treasure.

However, from Texas Memorial Museum in Austin comes word of another and somewhat singular 'treasure.' Beulah left with all her wreckage.
Near Port Lavaca, the heavily eroded bay shore, turned up quite large fossil bones. Port Lavaca amateur archaeologist Cecil Calhoun notified the museum; out went a University of Texas team. They came back with an 'Ereobierium'—largest of four kinds of ground sloths in North America, some three million years ago.

These elephant-sized animals were 15-20 feet long, massively built vegetarians with a relatively small head and short, three-clawed feet, the museum's bulletin noted.
U.T. scientists observe that most remains of the species, over the country, have been fragmentary. But the flood-encrusted Port Lavaca specimen appears to be one of the most complete and best preserved in the U.S.

The plaster-jacketed bones are now in U.T. laboratories, ultimately will be assembled for exhibit by a museum staff that is delighted with teamwork that helps science turn up a remarkable find and thread a little deeper into our past.

LOST TROOPERS
"Quite some time ago," writes Meridian's Mrs. Sam Radde, "OBT told of a skirmish between Comanche and troops in the Big Spring area. A resident of Sterling City in the '20s, I traveled the old road to Big Spring many times. About 10 miles from Sterling City, just past the Garden City turnoff, west side in a pasture, were two graves. I was told they were of troopers, killed in a fight with Indians. Is anything known of what happened there?"

(Note: OBT's reference was to U.S. Tenth Cavalry's Negro 'Buffalo Soldiers,' whose real showdown with Comanche came north of Big Spring in Lamesa-Gail country in 1877 in scattered skirmishes and a waterless, wandering ordeal. However, the Tenth—who'd go on to a proud record—marched out of Fort Concho, up the road she covers. Those unmarked graves may well be men of the Tenth.)

Write OBT, care of The Herald, or at Ingram, Texas 78025. For personal reply, please enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Rain, Snow Make Driving Hazardous

By The Associated Press
Snow fell in the Upper Midwest Thursday while widespread rain dampened an area from the Southern Plains to the Middle Atlantic states.
The Weather Bureau warned that snow mixed with rain created a risk of hazardous driving in the higher terrain of the Appalachians. Roads were slicked by sleet and snow.
The bureau said the storm would move rapidly up the Ohio Valley and thunderstorms that developed along the Mississippi Valley into Eastern Texas would move with the storm. Locally heavy rains were expected in the Ohio River Valley.

In six hours extending into the early morning, almost one inch of rain fell in parts of extreme Southern Illinois and extreme Southeastern Missouri.
Rain spattered the entire West Coast and snow fell in the Northern and Central Rockies, where snowpacks increased in spots from two to four inches since Wednesday evening.
Travelers warnings were up for parts of Utah, California and Nevada where there was heavy snow in the mountains.
Some snow flurries continued along the Eastern Great Lakes, in New York and Vermont. Clear skies were restricted to the Southwest.

Cars Creating Big Headaches

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The sharp increase in the number of college students and their cars are creating a big headache for campus security officers.
"Ninety per cent of our problems involve traffic and parking," Bobby Hudson, chief of West Texas State University's five-man security department, told a meeting of 42 security officers from 35 senior and junior colleges in Texas and New Mexico Wednesday.
"Unregistered cars and cars parked in restricted areas cause the biggest headaches," Hudson said. "It's a game to students to see how long they can go without registering their cars."

Students Raise Money To Head Off Merger

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Southern College students have waged a successful 29-day campaign and raised $1.18 million in pledges and cash to head off a proposed merger with the University of Louisville.
Wednesday, KSC's board of trustees reconsidered the proposed merger, which was planned because of a $4.5 million debt, and voted 18-1 for independence.
The students who last week had asked for a tuition raise if it would help matters indicate they're happy they'll be charged $200 more per trimester next month if it means saving their school.
It was a long four-hour wait as some 200 of the 800-member student body sat outside the board meeting for the second time in four weeks, again waiting word.

Then, L. Leroy Highbaugh Jr., chairman of the board, stepped out and silence prevailed in the hallway as he told them that remaining independent would have some effect on their pocketbooks.
Highbaugh said the school would continue on its own for the next year but added that a guarantee for the future was difficult.

Million Hunters

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Safety Association estimated that one million Texans went hunting in the state during the fall season.

Ikard Won't Say At Present Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Wichita Falls congressman Frank Ikard, presently president of the American Petroleum Institute, says he may have something to say in the future about running for governor of Texas.
"I don't have anything to say at this time," Ikard told a reporter Wednesday. "I may have something to say later — but nothing now."
Some reports have suggested that incumbent John Connally, who says he will not seek reelection, has suggested that Ikard make the race.
Ikard, 53, served in the House as a Democrat for 10 years. He resigned in December, 1961, to become an executive of the API and later succeeded to its presidency.

Child Hurt In Mortar Shelling

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab terrorists fired nine mortar shells and wounded a child late Wednesday night in Petah Tikva, a residential suburb only six miles from the heart of Tel Aviv.
The attack was the closest to Israel's largest city reported since the June war. Security forces went after the raiders and set up roadblocks.
It was the second mortar shelling of the Tel Aviv area this month. Half a dozen shells burst Nov. 9 on the outskirts of Kfar Sava, seven miles to the north.
Both raids were blamed on El Fatah, the Syrian-backed terrorist organization.
At U.N. headquarters, meanwhile, sources in a position to know said they expect the new U.N. special representative to the Middle East, Gunnar Jarving, to delay his peace mission until after the Arab summit conference scheduled to start Dec. 9 in Rabat, Morocco.

Spanish-Americans Ask $1 Trillion For Damages

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Span- too large to be comprehended by ish-Americans, have sued the United States for damages that could total $1 trillion—a figure

The suit was filed in federal court here Monday by 28 descendants of Spanish-named Americans who held the grants in what is now the United States at the time the land was ceded to the U.S. in 1803, 1848 and 1898.

TRICKERY

The suit contends the land was taken by force, trickery and through violation of their ancestors' civil rights, and asks that the land be returned or damages of $1 million be awarded to all descendants of the land grant holders.

Charles S. Vigil, the former U.S. attorney for Colorado who filed the suit for the 28, said a rough estimate would place the number of those descendants today at 500,000 to 1 million. At $1 million apiece, that would add up to $1 trillion.

The suit mentioned specifi- cally lands in Colorado, New Mexico, Florida, Texas, California, Arizona, Louisiana, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina, along with the Louisiana Purchase as a whole.

Brian Taylor, a student at Howard County Junior College and employe of Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, and John Bayne, psychology instructor at the college, were guest speakers Tuesday for the Business and Professional Women's Club. The dinner meeting was held at Coker's Restaurant, and Miss Moveida Rhine introduced the program.

Taylor, formerly of London, England, gave his impressions of the United States, explaining differences and similarities of life in America and Europe. He dwelt on customs, education and economics.

Bayne described his impressions while serving 22 months with the military in Korea. During this time, he had opportunity to learn of the vast differences in the American and oriental way of thinking in the fields of religion, economics and education. He said that similarities were practically non-existent, resulting in much difficulty between the occidental and oriental peoples, in understanding each other.

Mrs. Bill Ward presided and introduced the speakers. Mrs. Mammie Roberts will serve as club chairman when members of the B&PW Club, in conjunction with the Altrusa Club, will sponsor a ward party at the Big Spring State Hospital Dec. 21. Mrs. E. W. A LOVELIER YOU

Clever Hostess Uses Ingenuity On Table

By MARY SUE MILLER With a bit of ingenuity it is possible to create delightful decorations for holiday party tables. The effects are all the more appreciated because they reflect your warmth and wit. Purely as a springboard for your own ideas, consider trimming a table for a gala buffet with a candle-lit Yule Log. There could be no more traditional symbol of hospitality. "Kindling" the Yule Log is a rite that originated centuries ago in northern Europe. With the lighting of the log it is believed that the household will be kept safe, old friendships will be renewed and good fellowship will prevail for the coming year.

To fashion a log you need these supplies: 1 roll of golden brocade fashion foil gift wrap and 1 roll of emerald color lustre-tie, 1 1/4 inches wide; three 10 inch red candles; rubber cement and transparent tape; 10 green-pipe cleaners and a long, sharp pin; 2 round cardboard salt boxes. To make the log: 1. Place containers end to end and connect with tape. 2. Cut out three holes for candles. 3. Cover ends of cylinder with fashion foil. 4. Wrap body of cylinder with fashion foil and cement. 5. Wrap at intervals to create texture of bark.

For branches: 1. Cut eight 3/4 inch lengths of lustre-tie. 2. Strip ribbon with pin, leaving 3/4 inch border at end. 3. Starting at one end of pipe cleaner, twist and moisten each shred strip in overlapping sections. 4. Arrange log on branches as desired.

Work up your own ideas. It's rewarding!
