Blood For Fighting Men

Hefty Pay Increases Appear Almost Certain

Antipoverty Bill May Be For Less

Practice What It's Preaching

No Chance For LBJ's Tax Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-poverty boss Sargent Shriver has congressional authorization to spend $4.16 billion over two years—but his agency may wind up with far less money.

MOST UPHELD
The bill sent Monday to the White House represents the most money ever authorized for the Office of Economic Opportunity, which Shriver heads, and marks the first time Congress has extended the program for more than one year.

But just after House passage of the bill, a House Appropriations subcommittee recommended that only $1.612 billion be provided to foot the antipoverty bill in the first year, compared with the $1.98 billion authorized.

Another $2.18 billion was authorized for fiscal 1969 but because Congress only appropriates on an annual basis, the question of how much money actually will be available for the second year isn't at issue now.

The full Appropriations Committee upheld the subcommittee at a meeting today. The House appeared likely to go along with it later in the day.

The bill includes a controversial provision giving local public officials control of the OEO's Community Action programs.

Opponents of the move say it will breed vote-buying and patronage in city halls, and Shriver has pledged to keep close watch on results of the change. Supporters of the antipoverty program pinned their hopes for more money on the Senate, where it has had a more sympathetic reception. Should the Senate approve full financing of $1.98 billion, the outcome could be a compromise of about $1.78 billion.

That's the minimum amount Shriver said would be needed to keep the program at its present level.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress got a recommendation today that it practice the economy it has been preaching and defer financing of some of its own projects and programs.

The proposal came from the House Appropriations Committee in the final money bill of 1967, financing the office of Economic Opportunity and other assorted programs.

While it approved $135,000 for emergency shoring up of the Capitol's west front, the committee deferred action on a request for $500,000 to continue remodeling the Longworth House Office Building and $2.8 million for drawing final plans for a third building for the Library of Congress.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears certain to okay hefty pay boosts for federal workers at virtually the same time it approves a $4.1 billion cut in federal spending.

In Monday action on separate measures:

SLASH
—The House voted 366 to 26 for a measure to slash spending $4.1 billion this fiscal year, sending the administration-backed bill to the Senate where speedy acceptance is predicted.

—The House sent to the Senate on a 326-62 vote a measure that would boost the salaries of postal workers 6 per cent and of other federal workers 4.5 per cent. The bill also provides for additional pay hikes on July 1 next year and July 1, 1969 at an eventual annual cost of $2.7 billion.

—The pay bill includes proposed increases in postal rates that would raise first-class stamps from 5 to 6 cents and air mail stamps from 8 to 10 cents.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he anticipated no difficulties in speeding the spending cut measure to the White House, which called for the slashes as part of a proposal for a 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes.

HOPES
The administration advocated the budget cuts in hopes of persuading Congress to approve the tax boost but there's no chance of action on taxes before next year's session.

The bill approved would require federal agencies to cut personnel costs by 2 per cent and other controllable expenditures by 10 per cent.

The action came shortly before the House vote to raise salaries of federal workers more than 10 per cent over the next 18 months.

Congress itself would be exempted from the economy drive it is ordering for most other federal agencies. The federal judiciary wouldn't be affected, either.

Under the postal-pay measure, also expected to win quick Senate approval, postal rates for all classes of mail would go up by next Jan. 7, generating new revenue of $900 million a year once they're all in effect.

The measure also would boost post-card postage from 4 to 5 cents and air mail cards from 6 to 8 cents. The per-piece postal rates for third-class mail would rise from 2.875 cents to 3.5 cents starting next month, then to 4 cents in July, 1969. But a 3.5-cent rate would apply to the first 250,000 pieces mailed in any year.

JUMP
Second-class rates, which cover newspapers and magazines, would jump next year from 1 cent to 1.1 cent under the minimum rate, then to 1.2 cents in 1969 and 1.3 cents in 1970.

Both the pay and postal rate boosts exceed President Johnson's requests but indications are he'll sign the measure.

NEWS BRIEFS

Upturn In Building?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Forest Service, in an economic report of special value to landowners who sell timber, says that by the spring of 1968 an upturn in residential construction may take place.

The report said the number of starts on residential units this year is below the number required to take care of new household formation — around one million — and replacements — about 750,000. "This suggests," the service said, "that residential construction may soon show a further and large rise."

Excellent Progress

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Louis Washkansky, in his 10th day with a young woman's heart beating better than his own used to, continued today to make excellent progress, his doctors said.

Toll At 115

BOMBAY, India (AP) — The earthquake toll in southwest India rose to 115 today as search parties fanned out to isolated hamlets in the Western Ghats mountains. There were estimates as many as 200 may have died.

More than 1,600 injured persons were seeking treatment.

Percy Party Escapes Injury

SAIGON (AP) — Sen. Charles Percy, his wife and seven other Americans escaped injury today when Communist gunners opened up with mortars and small arms during a spur-of-the-moment, unescorted visit to the devastated village of Dakson.

TOOK COVER

Some of the five mortar rounds crashed within 15 to 20 feet of the 48-year-old senator, who is a potential Republican presidential candidate, and four men inspecting the village with him, but no one was hit. The group took cover, and Percy got some small scratches on his arms as he crawled behind some wood huts.

Mrs. Percy had remained in the group's helicopter 75 yards away with the pilot and two crewmen. They flew her to a nearby town and returned with an escort of armed Army choppers to rescue the senator and his companions.

"This is closer to action than I got in three years of World War II," Percy, a U.S. Navy veteran, told a news conference after he returned to Saigon.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Command announced that 471 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars—the equivalent of a battle-ready battalion—were killed in a six-day battle that ended Monday along the narrow coastal planes near the pivotal town of Bong Son.

Allied casualties were 33 Americans and 30 South Vietnamese soldiers killed, and 147 Americans and 71 South Vietnamese wounded.

ERUPTED

The battle erupted when two companies of the helicopter-borne U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division began a sweep of the scrub land along the coast about 300 miles north-northeast of Saigon. Just to the north a battalion from the South Vietnamese 40th Infantry Regiment was pushing south.

Both allied groups ran into fortifications manned by the seasoned 22nd Regiment of the North Vietnamese 3rd Division. Over the next six days the allied-troops pushed forward, then pulled back while planes, artillery and helicopter gunships pounded the enemy over a five-mile stretch of the coast.

The Communists made a final stand in the fortified village of Truong Lam, which was overrun Monday. In it the cavalrymen found about 60 new graves in which the Reds had hastily tried to conceal some of their dead.

Many more of the veteran Communist troops evidently slipped away to the south.

LATEST

The battle on the Bong Son plain was the latest in a series of stand-and-fight engagements provoked in recent days by American and South Vietnamese sweep operations. Otherwise, the Communist troops have stuck mainly to hit-and-run attacks except along the borders of Cambodia and Laos, where shorter supply lines enable them to make more large-scale assaults.

A pattern of widespread small skirmishes was repeated in today's war communique from U.S. headquarters. Air action in the north was again hampered by monsoon rains.

The authorization measure cleared the House on a 246-149 vote. Listed for it were 153 Democrats and 63 Republicans. Opposing it were 51 Democrats and 98 Republicans. The Senate passed it last Friday.

Getting the antipoverty authorization bill to the President removed a big obstacle in the path of planned adjournment of Congress late this week.

Storm Victims

ALGIERS (AP) — A storm along the Algerian coast Monday swept three children to death and sank a trawler and several small craft.

Algerian police reported port facilities at Arzew, where liquefied natural gas is loaded for British and French destinations, were badly damaged.

Card Burners Being Drafted

AUSTIN (AP) — Local draft boards are processing five young Texans for induction into the armed forces because they turned in or mutilated their draft cards, the State Selective Service headquarters said today.

OTHERS

The names of six others have been sent to U.S. district attorneys for possible prosecution, the headquarters said.

Lt. Col. Boyd Sinclair, chief of the five who are being processed for induction were declared delinquent under the Selective Service laws.

Two other youths were declared delinquent by a San Antonio draft board, but their delinquency status later was removed. They were turned down in their requests for conscientious objector status, and an appeal is pending.

Three more young men are now being considered for delinquency action, Sinclair said.

The information was forwarded to national Selective Service headquarters Monday. National draft director Lewis Hershey asked the state draft offices to advise him by Friday of any cases dealing with abandonment of draft cards or classification notices, Sinclair said.

Houston draft boards sent four names to the U.S. attorney's office, and Beaumont and McAllen each sent one, Sinclair said.

Of those declared delinquent and who are now being processed for induction, two reported to the Baytown board, and one each was under the jurisdiction of boards in Alpine, Galveston and Houston.

Carmichael Loses Pass

NEW YORK (AP) — Black Power militant Stokely Carmichael was back in the United States today, his passport in the hands of federal officials and his presence stirring Congress to consider penalties for U.S. citizens who travel to forbidden nations.

Carmichael, whose five-month trip included calls in Communist Cuba and North Vietnam, flew into Kennedy airport Monday and was met by a cheering group of his admirers and by U.S. marshals.

U.S. Atty. Joseph P. Hoey of Brooklyn said Carmichael's passport—issued with the proviso that he not go to either Cuba or North Vietnam—was seized by a marshal executing a federal search warrant.

Shortly before Carmichael arrived, the State Department in Washington asked Congress to authorize penalties of up to one year in prison and $1,000 in fines for unauthorized travel by U.S. citizens to forbidden countries.

Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach termed lifting of a passport to prevent repeated violations of travel restrictions "inadequate to secure the foreign policy interests which are at stake."

PROJECT 100,000 FOR POVERTY-SCARRED YOUTH

Studies To Evaluate Salvage Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon plans long-range studies to evaluate social effects of its new project to salvage 100,000 poverty-scarred youth each year for military service.

Since Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced Project 100,000 last year the services have accepted 49,000 men who would otherwise be rejected for mental or physical reasons. This year the goal is to reach the full 100,000 annual rate. The services have just received their quotas: Army 70,400; Navy 11,000 and the Air Force and Marines 9,300 each.

"These 'new standards' men, as they are called, are getting close attention and instruction to help them get through basic training and, in the process, acquire a job skill intended to make them productive later in society. A small percentage is receiving minor surgery or other medical treatment to correct health problems which otherwise would have made them unfit for military duty.

"I don't want to prejudice the data but we are encouraged by the training results," I. M. Greenberg, director of Project 100,000, said in a Monday interview.

In the next few months the new standards men—they are not identified or singled out, to avoid any stigma—will be watched as they perform their assigned jobs in operating units, some in Vietnam.

Beyond that, the Pentagon is planning a decade of regular reports on new standards men after they leave the service to see what impact the special training has had on their performance in society.

Greenberg said the Defense Department is now working out a system of tracking all individuals who are involved in Project 100,000 through the military reserve units to which all will eventually be attached.

In order to make the long-range evaluation valid, the Pentagon will hire a private firm to follow the social progress of another group of individuals who barely failed, for one reason or another, to get in the project 100,000 program, Greenberg said.

This probably will involve a sampling of perhaps 2,500 men whose backgrounds are similar to the new standards individuals in geographical area, race and education. This second group would be interviewed by the firm mainly about their jobs, or lack of them.

The program has McNamara's personal stamp of approval. He has said many of the men rejected for service are victims of "the slow and silent poison of the poverty virus."

Couple Seized During Church Holdup Charged

DALLAS (AP) — Authorities pick up money in the church of a man and woman seized in an attempted holdup during a service at the New Liberty Missionary Baptist Church in suburban Garland.

The robbery was foiled Sunday night when a member of the congregation and the Rev. Kenneth Ashlock, 29, seized the bandit and wrestled away his pistol.

Complaints charging assault with intent to rob and car theft were lodged against Bennie Frank Toland, 29, and Sandra Lee Sirman, 24, both of Paris, Tex. Toland also was accused of assault with a deadly weapon.

REDEMPTION PRAYER

Hugh English, a church member, said the holdup man relaxed his guard while marching the minister from the sanctuary to a nearby limb.

Finally, Anderson pulled a .22 pistol from his holster to silence the squirrel. Simultaneously, the squirrel stroled into view.

Anderson grabbed his gun and holstered his pistol at the same time. The pistol discharged. The deer went one way. The squirrel leapt the other. The bullet coursed through the hunter's leg.

Anderson, 22, used his gun as a crutch to walk to his car and drive to a Paris hospital.

Squirrel Tease Proves Painful

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Deer hunter Gary Anderson posted himself under a tree and waited patiently for hours for a big buck.

A squirrel teased him from a nearby limb.

Anderson grabbed his gun and holstered his pistol at the same time. The pistol discharged. The deer went one way. The squirrel leapt the other. The bullet coursed through the hunter's leg.

Stockmen Get Lice Warning

This is the season, according to Paul Gross, county farm agent, when ranchers and farmers should keep a sharp lookout for lice on their livestock.

Gross said he has free copies of a booklet at his office which deals with this problem. The booklet (MP 681) is titled "Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry."

The booklet, Gross says, is filled with information on insecticides, and how to use them, in the control of lice, flies, mites, ticks, fleas and other external pests.

It also contains a valuable dilution chart for mixing sprays and dips and outlines control programs for beef cattle, non-lactating dairy cattle, sheep, goats, swine, horses and poultry.

Johnson Dedicates New Junior College

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson said today, in dedicating a new junior college, that "the time has come for these Americans who believe in progress to convince the doubters."

Johnson said the quest for educational excellence, abolition of poverty, better health, economic stability and world peace will succeed—"if we stay on the course."

His remarks were prepared for ceremonies at Central Texas College. The President, who flew to Killeen from his ranch near Johnson City, was headed back for Washington after the dedication.

The AFL-CIO gave cheering support Monday to Johnson's Vietnam policies.

At the dedication, the President noted the expansion of educational facilities and opportunities. "Yet still," he said, "there are those who oppose this kind of growth."

He said that it is too expensive; that it is too dangerous; that the effort cannot succeed.

Johnson argued that progress in America can never be too expensive.

He said: "It is sickness and ignorance and discrimination and crime which cost too much. It is not action but inaction that costs too much."

The President said colleges like Central Texas are being established at the rate of one a week.

"In the past six years," he said, "the number of young people going to college from poor homes has risen by more than 12 per cent."

"In those years, the number of high school dropouts has dropped—from 25 per cent to 18 per cent of young people between 16 and 24 years old."

Johnson said that these years, like those of growth on the frontier, "are noisy with the sound of controversy."

Johnson flew to his ranch Saturday after the White House wedding of his daughter Lynda Bird and Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb. Mrs. Johnson joined him there Monday and planned to stay longer.

Style, Pace And Class Marked Nancy's Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Nancy Sinatra, with only a casual assist from her father and his friends, moved into television's big time Monday night with one of the season's most imaginative and well-produced variety specials.

The NBC program, produced and directed by Jack Haley Jr., was an artful blend of interesting backgrounds—most of them taken on location up and down the California coast—and unusual camera work.

Added to this were dandy musical arrangements, attractive singing and—an extra—a fashion show, for Miss Sinatra's costumes and hairdos were in the mode and mood of young moderns.

Do We Go FORWARD? Or Fall BACKWARD?

(There Is No Standing Still)

We Need To Modernize Our Airport

Except under ideal conditions, Trans-Texas Airways, under authority of the Federal Aviation Agency, "flies over" our airport now. Continuing interruption service means loss of passengers, and this means that service could deteriorate or be lost. LET'S INVEST TO KEEP THE SERVICE WE HAVE!

The building which serves as the terminal at the Howard County Airport is completely inadequate and no credit to the citizens and the communities of Howard County. The Airport plan calls for a terminal building which will be in harmony with a progressive area. LET'S INVEST TO KEEP GOING AHEAD!

Any area which has any hope of attracting new industry and new payrolls (to improve our labor opportunities and expand our economy) must have adequate air transport facilities. This is a "must" on the list of any prospective investor. LET'S INVEST TO GIVE OUR AREA AN OPPORTUNITY TO GROW!

More and more all items — along with people — move by air. This means mail, express, freight. The area which cannot accommodate the planes which provide such service will be the area left in a "black spot." Remember when towns died for lack of railroads? The towns of the future will die for lack of airports. LET'S INVEST FOR THE SAKE OF OUR FUTURE!

The airport planning includes grants from the government as a nationwide airport aid program. One grant of approximately $200,000 has been made. (It will be good until Dec. 31.) Another has been filed for around $150,000, and approval can be expected. LET'S TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE AID WE HAVE TO MEET FAA REQUIREMENTS ON OUR AIRPORT!

The proposed Airport Authority is the most economical means available to finance airport improvements. While the County now owns and operates the airport, it could finance comparable improvements only by increasing property valuations throughout the county. The Authority will be able to operate at minimum cost, assessing mostly just to meet bonded obligations. The Authority directors will not be paid one cent. LET'S INVEST IN THE MOST ECONOMICAL MANNER!

POLL SHOWS NIXON SLIPS BEHIND LBJ

Rocky Says Single Pick Could Rip Unity

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says a move now by Republican governors to line up behind a single contender for the GOP presidential nomination could rupture their unity.

He said the governors are "doing the only good thing they could do" to preserve unity by concentrating on potential campaign issues rather than getting involved in endorsing someone for the nomination.

MISTAKE

Rockefeller sharply disputed Monday the assertion of Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., that the 26 GOP governors made a mistake and sacrificed their influence on the presidential nomination by failing to agree on a candidate during their meeting last week in Palm Beach, Fla.

"You mean like the Republicans in Congress?" the New York governor said. "Have the Republicans in Congress taken a position on a candidate?"

Laird acknowledged the party's House leadership has not picked one man to back. He said it's for the 1968 candidate who could be most effective in helping to win congressional seats. "The governors have worked together as they never have before," Rockefeller said. "They're doing the only good thing they could do to keep united and that is by concentrating on problems—not people."

REALISTIC

Rockefeller for months has urged his fellow Republican governors to align behind the candidacy of Michigan Gov.

George Romney. He said if that becomes possible, fine. "If they can't let's be realistic," the New Yorker said.

"The more united we are on the platform, the more effective we'll be on anything else," Rockefeller told newsmen after a meeting of the Republican Coordinating Committee.

Rhode Island Gov. John H. Chafee, also a Romney supporter, said the GOP governors will be a powerful factor in the selection of a nominee.

"They will have a great deal of influence with the various delegations," Chafee said.

"I think it was obvious right from the beginning that you weren't going to have unanimity on a candidate," said Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington.

Although the governors appear undecided on backing a single candidate, the public's favorite by a decisive margin, the Harris poll reported, is Richard M. Nixon.

LBJ LEADS

The newest survey by Louis Harris, copyrighted by The Washington Post, shows Nixon leading Rockefeller 52 to 33 per cent; Romney, 63 to 24 per cent; and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, 65 to 22 per cent.

But the poll also showed Nixon has slipped behind president Johnson in popularity. In early November Nixon led Johnson 49 to 41 per cent. Now it's Johnson by 47 to 44 per cent.

Nixon, who moved to New York after losing the California gubernatorial election in 1962, attended a major GOP fundraising affair Monday night for the first time since his move. He was at a dinner in honor of Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, who plans to run as an antiwar candidate in some Democratic presidential primaries, told a Liberty, N.Y., audience the United States policy in the Middle East is in a vacuum because this nation is so tied up with Vietnam.

He called for a "positive" Middle East policy under which the United States would support and guarantee border adjustments necessary to insure security for Israel.

IN ABILITY TO TAP OCEAN GOODIES

Uncle Sam Holds Big Edge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal official estimates the United States holds a 5-1 edge over all other nations combined in its ability to probe the largely untapped—and politically disputed—wealth of the oceans.

But even with that capability, says Dr. Edward Wenk, the United States has refused to engage in any race for control of the vast animal, vegetable and mineral wealth believed hidden in the oceans' depths.

Wenk, executive secretary of the National Council on Marine Resources and Engineering Development and President Johnson's chief adviser on oceanic matters, told The Associated Press:

"You can't say we're winning the race for the oceans because there is no race. No nation can come close to matching our progress in this field. Our exploration capability is greater than that of all other nations combined and multiplied by five.

"But President Johnson has made it clear that we will not get involved in any colonization race for the deep oceans and sea beds."

The question of which nations have what rights in the ocean's depths was laid in August before the United Nations.

The Mediterranean island nation of Malta proposed to the General Assembly that an international agency take jurisdiction over the sea beds, with the net financial gain from their exploitation "to be used primarily to promote the development of poor countries."

MORE VITAL

Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, in rejecting the proposal, suggested the question of jurisdiction. Meanwhile no nation or agency would be given control and there would be an international program to determine what the seas hold that might be worth the effort and cost of recovering.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
4 ♠ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♠
With all the outstanding high cards located unfavorably for the declarer, it appears that South must go down to defeat in his four spade contract. The latter, however, found a way to put the opposition to work for him and thereby reduce his losers on the deal.

Altho a heart opening would have proven to be more effective, West chose on the basis of the bidding to wage a passive defense, and he therefore led the ten of spades. East's queen appeared and South played the ace from his hand.

A successful campaign appeared to hinge on the fate of the club finesse. South observed a method for improving his chances, however, by partially stripping out the hand and then throwing the opposition in.

The queen of diamonds was led to dummy's ace, and the remaining diamond ruffed by declarer. The ace of clubs was cashed and then a spade was led to the king, drawing West's last trump. A club was led from dummy and South played the nine putting West in with the ten.

West was not in position to cash the king of clubs, for by so doing he would establish South's queen for a heart discard from dummy. A diamond return would present the declarer with a ruff and discard, so West made the only safe play by exiting with the eight of hearts.

The three of hearts was played from dummy and East put up the queen to win the trick, however, he found himself to be hopelessly outplayed on the return. He had no more clubs and a diamond shift would clearly surrender a trick. East therefore led back a small heart. South's ten held and, after cashing the ace of hearts, he graciously conceded another club to the opposition.

In all, declarer lost two club tricks and one heart.

Dallas Woman Guns Intruder

DALLAS (AP) — An East Dallas woman shot and killed Jack Walter McKnight, 40, of Grand Saline as he tried to break into her home Monday, police reported.

Detective R. M. Sims said McKnight kicked in the front door and the woman, 44, fired three times as her daughter, 20, watched.

The woman was quoted as telling officers she had not seen McKnight for about two months. She was held without immediate charge.

Fire Marshal Urges Caution For Holidays

Fire Marshal A. D. Meador urged residents today to take a few precautions to insure a safe holiday season. Following the instructions issued by the Big Spring Fire Department will insure a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, said Meador.

When selecting your Christmas tree, choose a fresh one. Saw it off at a sharp angle at least an inch above the original cut. Stand the tree in water from the time you buy it until you dispose of it. Don't rely on do-it-yourself "flameproofing" treatments—none are reliably effective, he said. Place the tree well away from radiators, and fireplaces, and out of the escape path in case of fire.

If you choose an artificial tree, be sure it is made of slow-burning materials and carries a tag indicating it is "flameproof." Metal trees will conduct electricity, so use only indirect lighting on them; strings of lights on a metal tree can create a dangerous shock hazard. If your tree has a built-in lighting system, it should carry the (U.L.) label.

Decorative lighting requires the utmost care. Before using, check strings of lights for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets. Never use wax candles on or near the tree, or with polystyrene foam candle holders or decorations, he explained. Turn off all tree and other holiday lighting before leaving the house or retiring. For outdoor lighting, use only sets listed for outdoor use by the Underwriters' Laboratories.

Use noncombustible decorating materials—metal, glass, asbestos, etc.—as far as possible, he urged. If materials which burn easily—such as cotton batting, flock and paper—cannot be avoided, be sure they are marked "flameproof" which indicates they have been treated to make them flame resistant.

Dispose of gift wrappings promptly and safely. Never burn them in an indoor fireplace. Be extra careful about smoking near the tree and other decorations.

Most important of all, plan in advance the escape measures and exit routes needed for the safety of your family in case fire should strike, Meador added.

Gold Star Meeting Set

Mike McClain and Betty Lou Little, Howard County 4-H Club's Gold Star Boy and Girl, will join their 38 fellow Gold Star compatriots Tuesday night as guests of honor at a banquet in Lubbock.

Howard County youngsters will have an important part in this event which is staged by the cooperative organizations of West Texas. Forty Gold Star boys and girls from 20 counties in District 2, will be awarded trophies and their achievements lauded at the dinner.

Carolyn Crawford and Elaine Webb of Howard County will provide dinner music for the banquet which will be in the Monterey High School cafeteria at 7 p.m. Danny Fryar and Martha Couch, Howard County, will be two of the ushers.

Miss Little is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Little, and McClain is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McClain.

Also attending the banquet will be the parents of the Gold Star winners, along with Paul Gross, county agent; James Shelton, assistant county agent; and Mrs. Catherine Crawford, home demonstration agent.

LSD Leader Surrenders

MILLBROOK, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. Timothy Leary, leader of an LSD cult, just back from a California honeymoon, surrendered to Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan Monday on narcotic charges.

Leary, a former Harvard lecturer, was charged with violating the penal and public health laws, criminal facilitation and maintaining a public nuisance at a wooded estate here.

The sheriff read the charges to him, and Leary wished him a Merry Christmas.

Leary's attorney, Noel Tepper, entered an innocent plea, and posted $3,500 bond.

Leary was accompanied by his bride, Rosemary Woodruff, 33, his administrative assistant, whom he married Nov. 11.

Leary's son John, 18, and four others were arrested Saturday on the 2,400-acre estate Leary leases from William M. Hitchcock, member of a wealthy Long Island family.

SPLIT UNIT WITH LAMESA FORMING HOWITZER SECTIONS OF BATTERY C

Big Spring Unit Changing Artillery, Active Strength

AUSTIN—West Texas National Guard units—El Paso to Big Spring—continue artillery-orientated under the new reorganization for citizen-soldiers.

Howitzer Sections and Ammo Section of Battery C. Pecos will have a split portion of one of the firing batteries, the First through Fourth Howitzer Section and Ammo Section of Battery B, 3d Battalion, 133d Artillery.

Odessa has one unit of the artillery battalion, Battery A, and is the location of one of the two new types of command headquarters which has been dubbed the "Emergency Operations Headquarters" or (EOH).

State Adjutant General Thomas S. Bishop, Austin, Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, Odessa and Fort Worth will be locations of major headquarters of the Texas Army National Guard under a proposed reorganization, expected to be effective Dec. 15, it was announced in Austin today.

Under the new alignment a mechanized infantry brigade headquartered in Dallas will cover North Texas and the Panhandle; an airborne infantry brigade headquartered in Houston will be stationed in an area extending from the Port Arthur-Beaumont area northward to Austin and Waco and a traditional infantry brigade headquartered in San Antonio will cover all of South Texas.

Texan rancher from Friona, would continue as commander of the 36th Infantry Brigade (Separate), a position he has held since formation of the high-priority infantry brigade in November, 1965.

Their units. Included are Canyon, Clarksville, Belton, Dumas, New Boston and Rusk. The number of company-sized units in the state will be reduced from about 213 to 125, but the new units are much larger in strength under the new organization and in many cases will be split between two and three cities.

Sales Tax, Airport Issues Are Debated

Some 35 people attended a meeting of the Howard County Democratic Club Monday night to hear pro-and-con discussions on two issues before voters on Saturday.

Speakers talked on both the city sales tax propositions and the proposals for creation of an airport authority and expanding the airport.

City Commissioner George Zachariah presented arguments for the city sales tax, and reviewed what the City Commission proposes to do. This includes a reduction in the city ad valorem property tax rate of 10 cents, allowing of 50 per cent of sales tax revenue to permanent improvements, without borrowing money.

OR MORE TAXES Zachariah cited the problem of rising costs for the city, and said that a broader source of revenue would help Big Spring maintain the services and facilities the people want without raising the property tax.

Without the sales levy, he said, increased property tax may have to come. "Remember, we at the Commission can raise your taxes at any time," he said.

Jack Watkins, furniture store proprietor, spoke against the tax. "A tax is always paid for by the people," he said, "and the people will have to pay this one."

He reminded that even renters help pay city costs, since the landlord takes taxes into consideration in setting the rent scale.

proposals was given by R. W. Whitley, Herald publisher. He reviewed needs for providing better facilities for the commercial airline, so that what service we have will not be lost; mentioned that prospective industry looks to up-to-date transportation facilities when considering new sites, and regards air transportation as most important; and said that in the years ahead most business will be done by air—including mail, express, freight and passenger service—and the area which does not have facilities for these will not be in position to grow.

He described the Airport Authority procedure as "the most economical" route, since it would tax on the county valuation base, and added that a projected 18-cent levy means $3.60 per year on a $10,000 valuation. If the county had financed the airport, he noted, a raise in valuations would have meant increased tax payments to the county, the state and the Junior College district.

COST TOO HIGH The opposite view was taken by D. A. Brazel, representative of the International Union of Operating Engineers. He noted that the county still owes $400,000 on the airport, "and now we will be having to borrow more money—at a higher rate. It looks like we are financing bankers somewhere," he pointed out to the increased tax rate, and said that while the Airport Authority has said it will levy Absentee Votes Lag Less than 80 absentee votes had been cast at the office of Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk, at noon today in the special Howard County Airport Authority election. Deadline for absentee voting ends at 5 p. m. today.

The election proper will be Saturday in each of the county's 20 voting precincts. The issues at stake are the creation of a Howard County Airport Authority, empowering it to levy taxes and approving issuance of a bond issue of $750,000 for airport improvements.

OLD FAVORITES With Fred Waring will be Poley McClintock, the drummer who was one of the original four musicians who organized a band back in their hometown of Tyrone, Pa. in 1917. Another old timer and a favorite here is Leonard Krandonk, bass soloist. The programs reflect Waring's penchant for novelty and changing trends as well as an incomparable touch for the old favorites, choral treatment and expert showmanship. There is a touch of classics, chorales, patriotic music, jazz, Broadway favorites, folk songs, novelties, etc.

Early Yule Concert Set For Monday

Four Big Spring High School choirs will present a pre-Christmas concert Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

Spotlighted will be the capella choir, the freshman soprano choir, and the boys and girls choirs, said Kenny Sheppard director.

There will be no admission charge, but an offering will be taken for those who desire to support the choirs.

The first portion of the program will be serious music and will feature the Bach cantata, "For Unto Us a Child is Born." The a capella choir, with 43 voices, will present this work.

The second half of the program will be a presentation of familiar Christmas carols, including "Come All Ye Faithful," "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," and "Joy to the World." The freshman soprano choir will join the capella group for this. In all some 175 voices will be taking part in the program.

Feds Seize 'Money Tree'

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—After 23 Christmas seasons in a local finance company's window, a "money tree" was seized Monday by the Secret Service because it held "reproductions of legal tender."

The play-money on the tree, about one-third the size of a dollar bill, was imprinted with a skinny George Washington wearing glasses, inscribed with the words, "this certificate is not worth a cent," and signed by "Oscar Zlich and Harry T. Zlich, stenographer."

The Secret Service office in Dallas explained that it is charged with preventing counterfeiting and that the "money" was a reproduction of legal tender.

Out Of Town Gifts Spiral

The out of town division of the United Fund drive with Raymond L. Tollett as chairman, has reported $11,069.50. With the exception of two or three gifts this division is complete and will exceed last year's giving.

Tollett has served as chairman of this division for several years and each year the division has shown an increase.

The United Fund drive has set Friday, Dec. 15, as the official closing date and all workers are asked to return their cards to their division chairman by that date.

Light Snow Predicted

Another batch of wintry weather whistled southward off the Colorado Rockies today with a promise of the Texas Panhandle's second taste of snow in as many days.

Skies were clear throughout the state in early morning, however, and some sections were as much as 20 degrees warmer than 24 hours earlier.

Before clouds moved eastward across the Louisiana line late Monday, a little light rain fell in Northeast Texas. Amounts ran as high as .10 inch at Texarkana.

Snow melting as it descended brought traces of moisture in some areas of North Texas.

By afternoon, however, winds from the south helped warm most sections, with many points recording temperatures in the 60s. Top marks ranged up to 72 at McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Texarkana was the coolest spot with a high of 42.

The quick warmup on the heels of a weekend cold spell helped keep the mercury higher than expected over much of the state early today.

Waring To Take Peek At Future

Fred Waring, who has been making delightful music for half a century, takes a peek into "The Next Fifty Years" when he brings his Pennsylvanians here for an 8:15 p. m. concert today at the City Auditorium.

This is the second of the current season offerings of the Big Spring Concert Association to its membership. It also is the third appearance of Waring and his Pennsylvanians here within the last decade.

OLD FAVORITES With Fred Waring will be Poley McClintock, the drummer who was one of the original four musicians who organized a band back in their hometown of Tyrone, Pa. in 1917. Another old timer and a favorite here is Leonard Krandonk, bass soloist.

The programs reflect Waring's penchant for novelty and changing trends as well as an incomparable touch for the old favorites, choral treatment and expert showmanship. There is a touch of classics, chorales, patriotic music, jazz, Broadway favorites, folk songs, novelties, etc.

Among those in the cast of "The Next Fifty Years" are the Gentry Trio (George Bowers, Tim Novle and John Schmutz),

The sports car your mother's not afraid to let you drive.

Every mother knows that a sporty convertible like the Karmann Ghia must cost too much, go too fast, and be too drafty. So you better straighten the old lady out before you buy one or you'll never hear the end of it. The first thing you do is ask her how fast she thinks a car with a 53 hp motor can go. She doesn't know (it goes 82 mph) and you better not tell her. But you can say that the Ghia gets up to 28 miles a gallon, and can be fixed by any Volkswagen dealer. So you don't need your allowance raised. Next, pull the top up and take off the sweater she brought for you. Show her how tightly the top's hand-fitted. You don't need a hat; there are no drafts. Finally, tell Mom the Karmann Ghia has two separate braking systems so you can always stop. And that's what you ought to do. While you're ahead, Volkswagen Karmann Ghia

Carpentry Course Is Planned Here

Young men who think they may want a career in carpentry will have a chance to learn more about it in a special pre-apprenticeship course planned to start Jan. 2.

Set up in conjunction with the Manpower Development Training act, the training session is not only without charge but pays subsistence for the first eight weeks.

If, after six months of the pre-apprentice training, the men want to make this a career, they may enter the regular apprentice program of the Unified Brotherhood of Carpenters & Joiners. This covers a four-year period of training leading to a journeyman's rating. However, time put in on the pre-apprentice program may be applied to the regular apprentice requirements.

Classes, to be held at Howard County Junior College with J. Fred Whitaker as the instructor, will run from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the initial eight weeks. Included will be about one-third of related text study and two-thirds demonstration of tools, their use and care; lumber, kinds and dimensions; some of the basics of carpentry.

Tools will be furnished for this portion of the course. Then, for the next 18 weeks, the students will go on the job and work under supervision. They will receive pay for this and will supply their own tools.

During this latter period, they will be required to make two sessions of three-hour classes each week at HCJC to keep up their technical part of the training program.

By this time they should be able to step right into the regular apprentice program with a six-months time credit.

Young men between the ages of 17 and 27 are acceptable, and those who have had military service will be accepted to age 32. Those interested may call Whitaker (267-7074), W. T. Boadle (267-7241) at the Carpenter's Hall across IS 29 from Corden refinery; or contact the Texas Employment Service office.

Baptists Reverse HemisFair Stand

DALLAS (AP)—Baptists have reversed themselves and will take part in HemisFair '68 at San Antonio. They will restore the Eager House across from exposition headquarters. The foreign missions board of the Southern Baptist Convention, the Texas Baptist Convention and San Antonio Baptists will sponsor the participation.

Horoscope Forecast

FOR TOMORROW
—CARROLL RICHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A fine day presents you with a chance to do with the practical little details of every day living. Analyze your holdings and what you owe to others. Then you can come to some interesting conclusions.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You have much to do of a practical nature so schedule your time wisely if you are to get them done efficiently. Consult that business advisor and get ideas you need badly. Avoid persons who are not reliable.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Reach the vital decision regarding what you truly want in the days ahead. Then contact those who can assist you to obtain aims. Attend social affairs that can also be helpful. Be happy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Seek out a specialist in your own field and get the data you desire from him or her. Once you have business matters out of the way, turn your mind to domestic matters. Forget anxieties and confusions.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A day for having a good time with friends you like, so be generous, friendly and courteous. Here work is necessary if you are to gain that aim that is close to your heart. Evening is a good time for this.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Some detailed work is necessary if you want to get that business matter handled cleverly, successfully. Don't let a higher thought or you get into trouble. Be more interested in civic matters if you want to improve your image, too.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have to get right facts and figures if you want that new plan to work out properly, but show that you are open-minded. More scientific study is important. Take time for doing just this.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Be sure to pay your obligations and be more friendly in handling books and records in the days ahead. Once your financial affairs are settled, turn your attention to matters. Show more regard for your state.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) See what your true position is with associates and career better rather than in the past. Be more conciliatory with one person in particular. Avoid any troubles and be happy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Handle those fascinating details connected with your work and get more accomplished than you have in the past. Get the clothing that you prefer. Remember that the main theme is individuality. Add a bit of extra flair.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Getting into activities you prefer, whether of a business or recreational nature, is good today and you can be highly pleased with everyone. Handle practical matters first. Then you need not have any worries.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Put other matters to the background and handle home affairs attentively, cleverly. Get all in A-1 order. Buy small thoughtful gifts for kin and make them feel they are associated, you are devoted.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Ideal day for shopping, buying gifts for Christmas, etc. Get together with that fascinating person who has the information you desire. Get it from him or her. Have a delightful time as well.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow he or she will be one of those interesting young people who certainly know the real value of money, but if you don't teach them to make decisions quickly, much of the success possible in this short life will be lost. Otherwise there would be a number of false starts in business, etc., and little or nothing would be accomplished. College is a must.

Faith Real Power Behind U. S. Dollar

WASHINGTON (AP) — The good faith of the government and the strongest economy in the world—not the gold at Ft. Knox, Ky.—is the real strength behind the U. S. dollar.

That's why government officials see no technical problem in eliminating the last domestic link between gold and dollars—the 25 per cent gold cover. The only obstacles are political and psychological, they feel.

Next year, the Treasury Department is expected to ask Congress to remove the requirement that each $1 placed in circulation must be backed by 25 cents in gold.

PRESSURE

This will free more than $10 billion in gold for possible sales to foreign countries and reinforce U. S. policy to buy and sell gold at $35 an ounce—a policy officials say has made the dollar as good as gold.

It's a keystone of the present international money system.

The decline in U. S. gold stocks since 1949—from $24.56 billion to less than $13 billion—has increased pressure on the gold cover. The available gold is now 28.5 per cent of the paper money in circulation.

Government and many private economists contend the gold cover idea is archaic—a throwback to the era of hard money when a dollar could be exchanged for gold.

GOLD COVER

Despite the gold cover, dollar bills cannot now be exchanged for gold, even at the rate of 25 cents to the dollar.

Republican leaders have already taken aim at the expected bid to remove the gold cover but their major criticism is of administration financial policy.

"Eight years of deficits and irresponsible spending have brought the nation to the brink of financial crisis," the Republican Coordinating Committee said Monday.

"We deplore that the Johnson administration may soon find it necessary to request removal of the remaining gold backing behind our currency, now 25 per cent, thus turning it wholly into paper money," the committee statement said.

30 YEARS

It's been more than 30 years since Americans could hold gold in other than jewelry, tooth fillings or other industrial or artistic purpose.

Many people, Treasury officials have said, still don't realize that since 1934 U. S. citizens have been forbidden to hoard gold. Only foreign central banks—the counterpart of the Federal Reserve System—have the privilege of exchanging dollars for gold.

The United States is one of the few remaining industrial countries still linking its currency to gold internally.

Of the free world's major countries, only Switzerland, Belgium, the Netherlands and South Africa have such a link.

The gold cover was dropped to 25 per cent in 1945 on both currency and bank reserves. It had been 40 per cent on currency and 45 per cent on reserves. It was eliminated entirely on bank reserves in 1965 and some members of Congress at the time felt the cover should be eliminated entirely.

Even France, where the fondness for gold is beyond question, has none backing the franc.

The Federal Reserve Board backs every dollar placed in circulation 100 per cent. What's not covered by gold is backed by government securities held by the system.

This places the good faith of the government and its taxing powers behind each dollar bill in circulation.

Since the Federal Reserve now holds more government securities than paper money in circulation they could become a possible substitute for a gold cover.

River Basin Report Ready

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — A report on the comprehensive study and plan of development for the Sabine River Basin in Texas and Louisiana will be signed and made public in ceremonies here Friday.

The report will culminate several years of work by federal and state agencies with an interest in the over-all program for development of the river and its tributaries.

The river basin study and plan of development resulting from it were financed by a series of congressional appropriations.

Work on both was directed by the Fort Worth District, Corps of Engineers, and participated in by other federal and state agencies represented on the coordinating committee.

The Sabine River Basin is one of the original 16 river basins chosen by the Water Resources Council for comprehensive study.

Territory included in all of the Sabine River watershed from the stream's upper reaches in Northeast Texas to Sabine Lake, just south of Orange.

Swap Survivors Dwindle To Three

DENVER (AP) — An elite group of little girls—the only known survivors of liver transplant operations—dwindled to three Monday with the death of Paula Kay Hansen, a 2-year-old Texas youngster, at the University of Colorado Medical Center. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Hansen of Fort Worth.

Another of the group, 1-year-old Carol Lynne Maccourt, died late last week.

Paula Kay, Carol and two of the other three children all surpassed the previous known survival record of 34 days, established here during an earlier series of operations. The fifth patient received her new liver Nov. 25.

NOT CLEAR

It was not clear whether the ailment which caused Paula's death was directly linked to the transplanted liver she received Aug. 1, a hospital spokesman said.

Paula Kay's new liver didn't function as well as doctors hoped, although for a time recently her condition seemed to stabilize and she was taken off the serious list and reported in fair condition.

She took a turn for the worse Saturday, and on Sunday surgeons removed part of her small intestine, where dying tissue was causing blood to clot and obstructing circulation, the hospital spokesman said.

The Maccourt child, daughter of Mrs. Marilyn Maccourt of Salt Lake City, died of an infection caused by a blood clot that cut off circulation to half of her transplanted liver.

The three survivors, meanwhile, remained in fair condition, and the spokesman said they were continuing to progress. He cautioned, as doctors have before, however, that the youngsters remain "in a tedious balance with life."

The most enduring patient of all continues to be Julie Rodriguez, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rodriguez of Pueblo, Colo. She underwent the surgery July 23, eight days before the Hansen child.

The others are Kerri Lynn Brown, 1-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barbaree of Orlando, Fla., who underwent surgery Nov. 25.

In all cases, the girls were otherwise doomed by terminal liver ailments.

TEMPORARY STERILIZATION

New Birth Control Idea

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — Dr. William Bradford Shockley, who shared a Nobel Prize in 1956 for helping to develop the transistor, has proposed a sweeping birth control plan that includes temporary sterilization of all women and government approval before each baby. The Stanford University physicist explained his plan in a lecture at McMaster University Monday night and also accused "inverted liberals" of blocking research into inherited intelligence differences between Negroes and whites.

TIME CAPSULE
The chief points of Shockley's birth control plan are these: The public would first of all vote on the rate of population growth it wants. The Census Bureau would determine how many children each couple could have in keeping with the predetermined growth rate and certificates would be issued to them.

All girls would be temporarily sterilized by time-capsule contraceptives. When a woman and her husband wanted children, they would have the time-capsule removed by a public health agency on turning in one of their certificates. After the child was born, the contraceptive capsule would be reinserted.

OPEN MARKET
Couples not wishing children or wishing less than they were entitled to could sell their surplus certificates on the open market.

Under this system, Shockley said, "only people who want and can afford children will have them."

The physicist also made a plea for research into racial differences. He urged eugenic studies related to the relative intelligence levels of Negroes and Caucasians.

"Let's ask the questions, do the necessary research, get the facts, discuss them widely," Shockley said, "then either worries will evaporate or plans for action will be developed."

Names Of GIs Killed In Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department listed Monday servicemen killed in action or wounded fatally in Vietnam.

Killed in action was Marine Corps Lance Cpl. Jackie R. Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett M. Perry, 8318 Banquo, Dallas.

Marine Corps Pfc. Frederick W. Todd, son of Mrs. Nora L. Todd, 2506 S. Tyler St., Dallas, died of wounds.

Listed as died not as a result of hostile action was Army Sgt. I.C. Richard L. Dennis, husband of Mrs. Magdalena Dennis, House 4, James Connally Air Force Base, Waco.

Changed from missing to dead — nonhostile was Army Spec. 4 Jesse A. Gordy, husband of Mrs. Cynthia R. Gordy, 7262 Piedmont St., Dallas.

Capt. Cvik To Leave Webb Post

Capt. James E. Cvik, who served as T-38 Talon training officer for graduating Class 68-D, leaves Webb AFB shortly for an overseas assignment.

The original assignment for Capt. Cvik calls for a 5½-month period at George AFB, Calif., flying the F4C Phantom II. He will leave the United States for Southeast Asia during July.

His jobs at Webb have been T-37 Twenty-third and T-38 instructor pilot, academics instructor, officer in charge of the photo lab, and a test pilot for maintenance quality control.

Bizarre Funeral

Navy Machinist's Mate J. C. Edward D. Olsen, 26, killed in a traffic accident, was buried Monday with a Navy Honor Guard and the rites of the Satanic Church conducted by black caped priests. At left, High Priest

Seaman's Satanic Funeral Features Magician's Wand

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The sun was setting at Cypress Lawn Cemetery. A Navy bugler blew taps. The sorcerer waved his magician's wand. The Navy honor guard fired a volley over the casket.

Thus Edward D. Olsen, a Navy machinist's mate third class was buried.

"To the earth whence he came and where he lived, not to any heavenly realm," said the priest of Satan, Anton LaVey, founder of the First Satanic Church of San Francisco.

Olsen, 26, was killed in a traffic accident last Friday. His widow, Christine, asked as the next of kin for the Satanic funeral.

WONDERFUL GIRL
They had joined LaVey's church six months ago, she said, and although they hadn't talked much about death, he had said "this would be the only way. He believed in this church."

LaVey, dressed in black sorcerer's costume, with shaved head and a Mephistophelian beard, said this was his first fu-

Dear Abby

Let The Gang In On It

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school freshman and belong to a church group which meets every Friday night. There is a boy in this group who is sort of physically deformed and a little mentally unbalanced.

I am not saying this to be mean, Abby, he really is. Everyone makes fun of him but me.

My problem is, he keeps hanging around me asking me to do weird things, like telling him if he blinks his eyes. Abby, I go to have a good time, and I can't with this kid bothering me all the time. I don't want to tell him to get lost or anything like that because I hate to hurt his feelings. But what can I do?

PESTERED
DEAR PESTERED: That you would write with such a problem shows you to be an extremely sensitive warmhearted person. Surely this group has an adult counselor, and a few leaders among its peers. Why not try to organize a meeting to discuss this problem with them? It would be an act of genuine kindness (not only to the handicapped lad, but to all the young people) to point out the need for patience and understanding in such a situation.

If I invite all these folks to the wedding there won't be room for anybody else. Where does one draw the line? How can we tactfully get this message across to my daughter's fiancé?

MOTHER OF THE BRIDE
DEAR MOTHER: Allow your daughter's fiancé "X" number of guests, and let him invite whomever he wishes.

DEAR ABBY: I know you've had several letters on this subject, but will you please answer it again, and this time a little more specifically?

What can I do about people who come right out and ask me how old I am? I am so stunned when someone asks me, I always blurt out the truth.

It's not that I am ashamed of my age, Abby, I just resent the nerve of these people who ask me and get away with it.

GOING ON 50
DEAR GOING: Dean over, and in a very confidential manner ask, "Can you keep a secret?" The inevitable reply will be, "Yes." Then you say, "Well, so can I."

CONFIDENTIAL TO G. G.

A Devotional For The Day

Ye are the temple of the living God; as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people. (II Corinthians 6:16)
PRAYER: O divine Guest, we pray that Thou wilt find our hearts free of impurity, worthy to be Thy abiding place. May we welcome Thee with joy and be filled with love and concern for Thy children everywhere. In Thy name we pray. Amen.

Airports And Industry

Governor James Rhodes of Ohio was in Dallas the other day to receive an award from the National Aviation Trades Association.

He devoted it. For Gov. Rhodes dedicated 31 new airports in Ohio last year — and said that in 1968 he will dedicate 43 more.

Gov. Rhodes said that during the 1963-67 period, Ohio attracted $6.4 billion in industrial investments, leading all other states in this activity in 1964-66.

"Certainly one of the major reasons for this record growth is our airport program," he declared. "Many of the new-to-Ohio companies gave as their No. 1 reason for locating in Ohio that a business-type airplane landing area was within minutes of their plant site."

The governor said that when he took office five years ago, 52 of Ohio's 88 counties had no landing strip on which a pilot could land a twin-engine plane or an executive jet. Next year, every county in the state will be able to accommodate that type of planes.

Here is a public leader of stature (he's been asked many times about whether he's interested in being a presidential candidate) who is setting a sharp pace for his state in industrial development. And he knows that airports are a factor in attracting new industries. Just look what he, as a governor, is doing about it.

The Ohio industrial gains would look mighty good to some West Texas towns, including Big Spring. We've got to keep trying to attract such investments, and in order to attract them, we had better be ready to offer the facilities.

It's a thought to consider when you go to the polls Saturday to cast a ballot on the airport issues.

Something To Chew On

Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware is not taking a stand against chewing — gum, food, tobacco, sweet gum sap, or whatever. But he is against studying chewing habits at government expense.

Williams took specific exception recently to a $142,798 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, for research in the "art of chewing." The experiment is in its third year at Case-Western Reserve College in Cleveland, Ohio. The conclusions of dentist researchers so far are that correct chewing is best, and that chewing greatly aids athletes by reducing muscular tension and giving them a sense of well-being — the same can be said of cows, of course. If funds hold — $71,000 has been spent so far — researchers would like to test a theory that chewing in big-league baseball is a "neurotic activity" — fancy trying that on a Leo Durocher!

Williams thinks that the supposedly contentedly chewing taxpayer will swallow his wad and come out fighting when he discovers how his money is being spent on chewing research. He may have something there.

Holmes Alexander McNamara In LBJ-Bobby Feud

WASHINGTON—"There is a tavern in the town..." and you can hear it said by the diagnosticians there that former Deputy Defense Secretary Cyrus Vance did not leave the Pentagon because of the pain in his back—it was the pain in his neck, metaphorically speaking.

Good soldiers don't come any better than Cy Vance. I would have to see a sworn affidavit before believing that he ever, by word or gesture, revealed any disagreement or distaste he may have felt concerning his Pentagon boss, Robert McNamara. But that Vance and McNamara are different cuts of wood from separate stumps of timber cannot be denied, a fact of some consequence should Vance return to Washington in a cabinet position, as he may well do.

VANCE IS A JOHNSON man, and McNamara a Kennedy (Robert F.) man. It was Lyndon Johnson, chairman of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee who brought Vance, a West Virginia lawyer in New York practice, to Washington as assistant counsel to that unit. It was "the Kennedys," President-elect and Attorney General-to-be, who brought McNamara from the Ford Motor Company to be Defense Secretary.

VANCE IS SO popular with the press (respected would be a stiffer and more accurate adjective) that it would be surprising if McNamara (constantly needed and disputed by reporters) did not wonder how two men could say substantially the same things and draw such opposite response from probing scribes. It is reported that Vance loyally adopted his superior's style of rapid, concise, arithmetic replies, and this is true in part. But when Vance presided, in McNamara's absence, at the conference table where "background" meetings were held, the Deputy did not sit in the Secretary's chair. He talked from the opposite end of the table, and there was a polar difference in the congeniality of the exchanges. If Vance returns as Defense Secretary, or Secretary of State, the administration will gain in two scarce commodities—empathy and credibility.

IT IS RISKY, as often proved, to guess the President's mind, which is changeable upon exposure. But his long-range planning in the field of personnel is an irresistible study of feints, forays and ambushes. The man who made an Associate Justice of Abe Fortas, a U.N. Ambassador (pro tem) of Arthur Goldberg, an Attorney General of Ramsey Clark and a what-you-may-call it of Betty Furness is one whom you fixate for the next surprise. And all the while you know that it may astonish only because of being so obvious.

NEARLY EVER "inside" explanation of the McNamara affair has issued from one of those warring statesmen. If you read that the President treated the Secretary with fairness and respect, be sure that the President somehow planted the story. If you see a yarn which says that LBJ took a mean and devious way of firing the Secretary, you can bet you are reading what Bob Kennedy put into somebody's mind.

Time alone will tell us if Vance-for-McNamara was the ploy, and that the President planned it just that way. Meanwhile, there is one certainty: If McNamara wasn't caught in the Johnson-Kennedy crossfire beforehand, he is now.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Less than a week after Texas voters approved six amendments to the constitution, county authorities were asking Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin to explain what one amendment says.

Tarrant County Auditor J. M. Williams requested the ruling on Amendment No. 1. In question is the clause "any county may put all tax money collected by the county into one general fund without regard to the purpose or source of the tax."

This is merely one of many vague amendments that have been added to the Texas Constitution.

The result is a verbose, confusing, unsatisfactory document which often does not represent the purposes of the voters of this state or meet the needs of 11 million Texans in the 20th century.

The fact that past efforts to rewrite the Texas Constitution have failed does not diminish in the least the need for getting this job done.

'UP MAGIC CARPET-UP-UP!'

James Marlow Congress Wants Larger Voice

WASHINGTON (AP)—Whatever the final record of the 90th Congress, it is most likely to be remembered for trying to recapture influence and authority previous congresses have lost to the executive branch.

By ordering substantial cuts in spending before it will even consider President Johnson's request for a tax increase, Congress has told the administration it wants a larger voice in controlling the growth of the federal government.

BY TRANSFERRING control of important education and anti-poverty programs from the federal bureaucracy to state and local governments it has called for a halt in the long trend toward centralization of authority in executive agencies in Washington.

Also under challenge is the President's authority to send U.S. forces into overseas combat without congressional approval. A resolution calling on the President to get such approval is awaiting Senate debate.

Such congressional declarations of independence would have seemed ludicrous to an earlier breed of congressmen accustomed to dealing with passive presidents.

BUT THE exercise of presidential power that marked occasional administrations became an overpowering force in the early days of the New Deal. White House occupants since Franklin D. Roosevelt have consolidated and added to his gains.

Where presidents once were content to suggest programs for Congress to act on, they now send the complete draft of bills to Capitol Hill and fight any attempt to alter them.

UNDER THE shadow of nuclear war and recurring foreign crises, presidents since 1950 have tended to act first in foreign affairs and then ask Congress to back them up.

"We want to pause in the headlong rush toward even bigger government," said Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee in touching off the revolt against Johnson's tax request.

The Senate resolution calling on Congress to "reassert its constitutional authority over the use of the armed forces" said until it does "the American people will be threatened with tyranny or disaster."

WHETHER the 90th Congress will be able to follow up what it has begun remains to be seen. The move is essentially a reaction to the Vietnam war and its economic dislocations.

Hal Boyle Sieve Your Yesterdays

NEW YORK (AP)—Which is more important—yesterday, today, or tomorrow?

Well, tomorrow may never come, so one can't be certain of its value.

TODAY IS here now, but it tarries so briefly and flies so quickly that it is gone, often, before we are fully aware of its meaning.

And that leaves us yesterday, the day which, as we grow older, comes to have the biggest imprint on our lives. It is all our memorable yesterdays, incessantly strained through memory's bright sieve, what has given the individual pattern to our personalities and made us what we are.

You've sieved a lot of yesterdays yourself if you can look back and remember when:

EVERY few years some bewhiskered, addled old-timer would announce he was the famous bank robber, Jesse James, still alive.

A mother who wanted her son to grow up to be a genius stuffed him with fish as often as possible because fish was supposed to be good brain food.

Butchers almost had to give calf's liver away, because it was eaten only by cats and people so desperately poor they could afford nothing else.

NO FRENCH leader dared knock the United States, because he knew here was where he had to float a loan to keep his country from bankruptcy.

Kids had as much fun sliding down a snow-covered hill on a pair of barrel staves as their own children do now going to an expensive ski resort.

Men worked hard 50 or 60 or more hours a week and looked forward to Sunday, because it was the one time in the week they could take a long, restful afternoon nap. Without those naps they couldn't have faced another Monday.

In 1927, Greta Garbo and John Gilbert appeared in "The Flesh and the Devil," and lanky young Gary Cooper got his first screen leading role in "Arizona Bound." Until then Gary had specialized in being shot off galloping horses for $10 a day, plus free studio liniment.

PRACTICALLY every boy in America carried in his pockets a top, some string, several marbles, and a pocketknife. No one worried about the knife, however, as it didn't contain a switchblade, and the boy used it only to whittle with or play mumblety-peg.

More men smoked cigars than cigarettes, and probably more chewed tobacco than smoked either.

"TAKE HOME" pay wasn't what was left after all the government deductions had been taken out; it was what a worker got home with after stopping off at a neighborhood saloon on payday.

It was the height of repartee to tell a friend on parting, "Don't take any wooden nickels." Nobody thought then we'd ever have to worry about rubber dollar bills.

Yep, those were the days! Remember?

To Your Good Health Why Some People Grow Shorter With Age

Dear Dr. Molner: We are three ladies, all 60 years old. I was once an inch or inch and a half shorter than the others, who are twins. I am am by-boned, and weigh the same as I did the day I finished school: 158 pounds and 5 feet 8 inches.

The others were smaller boned but tall. They weigh 190 or better and have had a blood deficiency all their lives. At present they are nearly two inches shorter than I am. Please tell us what is happening.—L.I.

Losing some height is not uncommon as one gets older.

A slouching posture is a common cause, but there also may be an actual decrease in the size of vertebrae due to certain bone changes. That is, the spine can actually decrease in length.

In the particular instance you cite, the excessive weight—190 pounds and more—could contribute to both postural and bone defects which could make your friends shorter while you have kept more trim and maintained your height—and doubtless your good posture.

Dear Dr. Molner: My brother has gout. What food can he eat and what can't he eat?—M.S.

Diet isn't the whole thing. He should follow a diet low in purines. Briefly, he should avoid organ meats (liver, kidney, sweetbreads), no anchovies, sardines, roe. Also avoid meat extracts, such as bouillon, broth, gravies. Other meats, fowl and fish, are allowable in small amounts.

Among vegetables, limit the amount of beans, peas, spinach, asparagus, lentils.

But do not depend on diet alone, because medication these days is bringing welcome comfort to gout sufferers. Read my booklet, "Gout, the Modern Way to Stop It." Send 25 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner, in care of The Herald for a copy.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been given the liver function test three times in the last year and each time the fat retention was between five and 14. My doctor says I should give up drinking for at least a year.

The extent of my drinking is about two highballs each evening and maybe four on Saturday and four on Sunday. Would you say this amount of alcohol would cause this condition? Of course, I have drunk more in the past.—G.M.

Yes, I'll bet you have drunk more in the past!

But there's a difference between what caused liver damage in the first place, and what may increase the damage now.

If you are smart, you will do what your doctor told you to do—quit for at least a year. And unless the doctor then gives his specific approval to start drinking again, don't. The test does not measure fat retention but rather a dye retention. Five is upper normal, 14 is high.

To learn of the many factors that can be involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia, which concerns the esophagus, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It," enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Charm From Imagination

Christmas usually stirs me to re-read a number of my favorite Christmas stories.

I mean stories other than the greatest of all—the account of the first Christmas as described by Matthew and Company.

The stories I usually read again are "A Christmas Carol," by Charles Dickens; "Gift of the Magi" by O. Henry; "The Three Wise Guys," by Damon Runyan.

If you are familiar with these stories, you can see they really cover a wide field of Christmas views.

I HAVE READ that the authors of the most famous of Christmas stories wrote their masterpieces in the middle of the summer.

I do not know if it is true now, but forty or fifty years ago, magazines which bore December dates were assembled, edited, printed and readied in July and August. Consequently the authors who wanted their efforts to appear in a seasonal time had to write with an eye to the potential date the publication would reach the readers.

WHEN YOU read Dickens' vivid description of winter in London it is hard to realize that the writer probably penned the words while basking in perspiration of a sultry, humid English summer.

When O. Henry wrote his exciting little story of the young couple who were so poor in worldly goods and so wealthy in love and compassion, he most likely scrawled it on sheets of yellow copy paper in the dull heat of a New York summer.

RUNYAN'S amusing little story of the three gangsters, who inadvertently became involved in a fantastic replica of events of 2,000 years ago in Judea, was typed out on a battered old typewriter, possibly while the temperature sizzled, or at least with no more than a touch of early autumn.

Yet those fabulous tales have to be read at the right season for the reader to properly savor their quality. Possibly this quality is the product of the environment under which they were written. Perhaps the authors, working under the handicap of hot weather and everything opposite to the traditional Christmas scene, were given a sort of wistful inspiration—a longing to live again, even on their manuscript pages, the loveliness of the Yuletide season.

PERHAPS, had the writers attempted to pen their Christmas tales at Christmas season, they would have been too close to the picture to see it in all of its lovable colors.

At any rate, I am happy that these scribes worked as well as they did and that they have left me the pleasure of enjoying their efforts.

It always makes Christmas a little happier time for me because of these tales.

Everybody's Working Out Of Alabama

WASHINGTON — The entire government of the state of Alabama is now working for former Gov. George Wallace's presidential nomination outside the state, and nobody is quite sure who is minding the store.

While Alabamians can probably govern themselves, there is always the chance that an emergency could arise in which somebody in authority might be needed.

SUPPOSE, FOR EXAMPLE, there is a riot in Bull Whip County, and the sheriff down there calls the state capitol for help.

"This is Sheriff Axhonde of Bull Whip County. Let me speak to the governor."

"She ain't here. She's in San Diego helping her husband, George."

"Well, where's he at?"

"He's in Sacramento trying to get a petition signed."

"Well, let me speak to the lieutenant governor, then."

"HE AIN'T HERE. He's up in Alaska at a White Eskimo Rally for Wallace."

"Darnit, I'm having trouble down here, and I need some state troopers."

"Ain't no state troopers left in the state. They're all out guarding George."

"Well, then, I'll have to take the National Guard."

"Can't help you. The National Guard is out in California guarding the state troopers."

"I've got to speak to somebody. What about the commissioner for public safety?"

"HE'S DOWN in New Mexico as Wallace's advance man. I doubt if you could get through to him."

"Let me speak to the speaker of the House."

"You must really be out of it down there. The speaker of the House has moved to Oklahoma until after the elections."

"Listen, man, this is an emergency. I need some police dogs fast."

"All the police dogs are in Wisconsin. George expects a hard fight there."

"Can you get me some cattle prods pronto?"

"THE STATE SENATORS took all the cattle prods with them when they went off to campaign for Wallace in New Hampshire."

"This is ridiculous. What about some fire hoses?"

"The fire department is in Ohio trying to put out some fires George started a few weeks ago."

"There's got to be somebody in authority."

"Let me look around and see." (Pause.)

"Sorry, Sheriff. There's nobody here."

"WHAT ABOUT YOU? Don't you have any authority?"

"I hadn't given it much thought."

"Well, who the hell are you, anyway?"

"Ah's the janitor, Boss. What kind of riot didja say you was having down there?"

William S. White Dirksen, Humphrey Have Common Foes

(For Marquis Childs, who is on vacation.)

WASHINGTON — The Republican leader of the Senate, Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois, and the Democratic Vice President of the United States, Hubert H. Humphrey, are undergoing together a most curious experience.

They are jointly under whispered attack from the anti-Vietnam war Democratic left wing. Dirksen on the novel ground that he is too close to President Johnson and Humphrey on the ground that he is not close enough.

ANONYMOUSLY BASED "reports" that Humphrey is in the doghouse at the White House, in spite of the visible reality that the Vice President's relationship with the President has never been more cordial or more intimate, march alongside equally uncheckable "reports" that Dirksen is "in trouble" with highly anonymous "Republican leaders."

Dirksen, it is said — though nobody says who is saying it — is to be challenged in his bid for the chairmanship of the platform committee at next summer's GOP national convention.

Why? Because he is giving the Vietnam war policy too much support.

THIS IS AN ODD thing altogether. For fact No. 1 is that Dirksen is backing a military action that is also backed, and to the hilt, by the last Republican President, Dwight Eisenhower; by the last Republican Vice President, Richard Nixon; and by a staggering majority of all the Republican officeholders of this country.

And fact No. 2 is that Dirksen himself knows of no "challenge" to his clear and firm intention to head the platform committee; nor does any other Republican hierarchy that any correspondent has been able to find or identify.

AS TO HUMPHREY, the effort to picture him as highly unsatisfactory to his chief, President Johnson, is in one sense only standard operating procedure of the endlessly petulant far-out liberal wing of the Democratic party.

The same people tirelessly peddled the same "reports" as to Mr. Johnson when he was John F. Kennedy's vice president. The generalized aim then, as nobody knew better than John F. Kennedy himself, was somehow to bring about the dumping of Johnson at the 1964 Democratic convention in behalf of some man more nearly acceptable to Robert F. Kennedy.

THE ASSAULT-BY-MURMUR on Humphrey now, however, is more pointedly zeroed in. Humphrey's real crime, which is precisely the crime of the Republican Dirksen, is that, like Dirksen, he will not waver in his support of firm military resistance to Communist aggression in Southeast Asia.

It is, of course, to each of these victims a difficult kind of whispering campaign to combat. Hubert Humphrey can hardly go around saying that President Johnson does, too, like him. Everett Dirksen can hardly announce the public rostrums to announce that, no matter what carefully unidentified informants may say to the contrary, he is, too, a good Republican party man.

STILL, DIRKSEN does have a certain freedom of movement not open to Humphrey. He can in private at least point out that those who are spreading tales of his alleged unacceptability to the GOP are neither Republicans in the first place nor interested in the smallest way in any Republican success in 1968.

Too, he can in private also suggest that his offense in defending a bipartisan war policy in Vietnam is shared by such surely authentic Republican presidential possibilities as Richard Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Ronald Reagan of California.

Glittering Gown

Mrs. John Taylor models a flowing chiffon gown, the neckline lavishly adorned with glittering, gem-like stones, which won applause in the recent style show presented by the Ladies Golf Association at Big Spring Country Club. Serving as Mrs. Taylor's escort, and showing men's evening fashions, was R. J. Ream.

Ivah Lou Ashley Is President Of COSTA

The 61st annual convention of the American Vocational Association ended Dec. 8 in Cleveland, Ohio, with Mrs. Ivah Lou Ashley of Big Spring being named national president of an affiliated organization, the Conference of Officers of States and Territorial Associations (COSTA).

Mrs. Ashley, who is area consultant for Homemaking Education for the Texas Education Agency, attended the convention and presided at the COSTA session. She is also a member of the advisory council of the AVA.

Highlighting the convention was a speech by Rep. Roman C. Pucinski of Illinois, chairman, General Education Sub-Committee, U.S. House of Representatives.

Stanton Residents Visit, Take Trips

STANTON (SC)—The 4-H Community Club was honored with a Christmas party Saturday in the home of Mrs. Doyle Corder. Gifts were exchanged from a tree, and refreshments were served to 14. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cox are club leaders.

A dinner honoring husbands of members of the Koffee Kup Home Demonstration Club was held Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cox. Games of 42 and cards were played. Sixteen attended. The club will have its Christmas party Thursday in the home of Mrs. Nolan Simpson.

A LOVELIER YOU Repair Make-Up As Errors Are Made

By MARY SUE MILLER

Stop! . . . Make repairs at once when a cosmetic goes on badly. In an ideal make-up, each step is perfect in itself. Let one slip go by and it will trigger a chain reaction. Powder will streak over the tiniest puddle of powder base; streaked powder will then mottle a blusher. What a mess!

It takes only a second to repair a slip if you use these methods:

Lighten a too-heavy coat of powder base by blotting firmly with a tissue. Blot, do not scrub. If a base application appears ineffectual, let it set and then smooth on a sparing second coat. Streaked applications require further blending, and it is best done by firming the fingertips with a bit more base.

Powder blushers and eye shadows can be blended and toned down as need be by quick, quick whisks with a cosmetic cotton ball. To correct misapplied creamy blusher or shadow, film with a pin dot of skin oil and then blot. For tidying pencil lines the best tool is a dry cotton swab. Mascara smudges respond to a swab, dipped in skin freshener.

With a lipstick slip-up you must carefully remove the color with cleansing cream or a clear-tone cleansing liquid. It's a wise move to powder the lips and blotting areas after cleansing. This makes for a clean lipstick outline and neat blending of make-up tones.

THE EYES OF YOUTH
You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, "The Eyes of Youth." To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

HD Council Christmas Party Held

Mrs. J. C. Pickle served as installing officer at the Monday Christmas party of the Howard County Home Demonstration Council in Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Pickle used a decorated gift box as symbolic of the new offices. Officers installed were Mrs. Omer Decker, chairman; Mrs. Alden Ryan, vice chairman; Mrs. Jesse Crane Jr., secretary; and Mrs. Bob Wren, treasurer.

Mrs. Arnold Tonn, accompanied by her daughter, Jerre, gave a reading, "Children of the King," and sang "Winter Wonderland." Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins brought the devotion, "A Gift of the King."

Mrs. Delaine Crawford, home demonstration agent, gave the welcome, and Mrs. H. S. Hanson served as program chairman. Mrs. Crawford presented Mrs. Frances Zant, outgoing chairman, with a gift of appreciation from the council.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of red and white poinsettias and greenery flanked by red candles in silver holders. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Mrs. Joe Myers was chairman of decorations, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Alton Underwood, Mrs. W. E. Eggleston, Mrs. O. D. O'Daniel and Mrs. D. D. Johnston.

Gifts were exchanged. Mrs. J. F. Skalicky was gift chairman and those serving with her were Mrs. E. L. Bridge, Mrs. Billy Gaskin and Mrs. Frank Wilson.

Mrs. Crane played piano selections during the tea hour, and approximately 50 attended.

Sisters Host Party For Intermediates

STANTON (SC)—Linda and Glenda Adams were hostesses Monday evening in their home for a Christmas party honoring members of Intermediate Two, Sunday school class of the First Baptist Church.

Linda Adams read the Biblical Christmas story as the devotion. Gifts were exchanged, and refreshments were served. Mrs. Woodford Sale is class teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul K. Jones hosted the Lelia Sunday School class party of the First Baptist Church Monday evening. A covered dish supper was held, and husbands were special guests.

Mrs. Paul Allen Jones and Mrs. Paige Eiland were cohostesses. Mrs. Elmer Long is class teacher.

Becky Hyer, Andra Hohertz and Melody Dabney will be featured in "Happiness Is," and Suzanne Smith, Marie Buckner, Sherry Barron, Rhonda Richardson, Sherry Williams and Rhesa Wolf will be seen in "Here Comes Santa Claus."

Also, participating in songs, dances and rhythm band selections will be Halena Wozencraft, Leslie Murphy, Dawn Estes, Robin Daniels, Linda Meek, Doby Walker, Kevin McMahon, Marcus Smart, Liane Miller, Debra Jennissen, Bruce Pedlar, Peter Brigham, Ronald Throckmorton, Mary Catherine Kanylak, Kassi Bridges, Lori Little, Brenda Lewandowski, Glen Margolis, Scott Butler, David Tucker, Kenneth Hulbregtse, Vance Stephens, Valerie Stephens, Ronnie Burleson, Donnie Burleson, Steve Havens, Penny Lemons, Christopher David Thompson, Lisa Griffice, Wendi Lane, Melissa Roberts and Tammy Tonn.

"The Drummer Boy," portrayed by C. M. Wozencraft, will conclude the program.

Party Accents Red Dresses

A "Red Dress" party, which has become an annual event, was held Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m., in the home of Mrs. Ernest Garrett, 300 High School Drive, Coahoma. An estimated 300 guests, all wearing red dresses, attended from a number of area cities.

Hostesses with Mrs. Garrett were Mrs. Fred Adams, Mrs. D. S. Phillips, Mrs. Phil Wynn, Mrs. J. A. Westmoreland, Mrs. P. F. Sheedy, Mrs. Pat Shields, Mrs. John Williams, Mrs. O. D. O'Daniel Jr., Mrs. J. C. Collins and Mrs. Bill Esterling, all of Coahoma; Mrs. Don McKinney, Mrs. George Glynn, Mrs. J. C. Thompson, Mrs. Bea Bonner, Mrs. Bruce Frazier, Mrs. Shirley Walker, Mrs. Connie Felts, Mrs. Velma Griese and Mrs. Zula Reeves, all of Big Spring; and Mrs. H. H. Thames, Sand Springs.

The hostesses were attired in green dresses and wore Christmas corsages of red and gold.

The refreshment table was covered with a red cloth overlaid with red net elaborately embroidered with Christmas designs. The centerpiece of red carnations and white chrysanthemums was flanked by red candles in silver candelabra. At opposite ends of the table were a crystal punch bowl and a silver coffee service.

Holiday decorations were

Hostesses Give Program On Home

The program, "Our Own Home," was presented by Mrs. Bobby Hughes and Mrs. Charles Madry, hostess and cohostess, at the Monday meeting of Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi in the Hughes home at 2104 Cecilia.

They described color schemes to use in the home and discussed methods of making homes more attractive and livable.

Mrs. John Turner presided, and Mrs. Bob Bradford gave a report on sales of a hind-quarter of beef. A letter of appreciation from Girlstown, U.S.A., was read, and Mrs. Edwin Dickson reported on the dance held at Cosden Country Club Saturday evening.

Refreshments were served to 15. The next meeting will be 18 in the home of Mrs. Dave Twitty, 3606 Parkway. Gifts will be exchanged at the meeting.

placed throughout the home and included three Christmas trees; one a blue net, another was white with green lighting and the third was decorated in white and red.

Members of the house party who assisted the hostesses were Mrs. Bob Garrett, Midland; Mrs. Bill Fishback, Mrs. W. A. Wilson, Mrs. Janie Achard, Mrs. Rob Ethridge and Mrs. Ray Swann, all of Coahoma; and Mrs. Mazie Wright, Mrs. Billie Anderson, Mrs. Janie Smith, Mrs. Joe Neff, Miss Mollie McKinney, Mrs. Mack Frazier, Mrs. Fred Carr and Miss Beth Frazier, all of Big Spring.

Beauceant Slate Is Announced

The Social Order of the Beauceant elected new officers during the Monday evening meeting in the Masonic Temple, and the new slate will be installed Jan. 3.

Taking office then will be Mrs. Harvey Hooser Sr., president; Mrs. R. L. Lee, first vice president; Mrs. J. A. Magee, second vice president; Mrs. Wright Vickers, preceptress; Mrs. W. A. Bryans, recorder; and Mrs. C. R. McClenney, treasurer.

The altar was draped and graced with red roses as a memorial service was held for the late Mrs. E. E. Brindley.

During the business session, it was announced that more clothing is needed for the Big Spring State Hospital and any donations may be taken to Bradshaw Studio. Mrs. Lee Porter asked that more food be brought to supply a basket for a needy family at Christmas.

The hostesses, Mrs. J. B. Hoard, Mrs. Jack Alexander and Mrs. W. Sullivan, served refreshments to 20 guests from a table covered with a red cloth and centered with a candelabrum decorated with pink and white holiday ornaments. Crystal appointments were used.

The next meeting will be Dec. 26.

Westbrook Junior To Compete Today

WESTBROOK (SC)—Miss Sue Bell, Westbrook High School junior, will represent the Westbrook Chapter of Future Farmers of America in the Lone Wolf district sweetheart contest held today at Sweetwater High School. Miss Bell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell, and is a member of the National Honor Society, the Future Homemakers of America, and the girl's basketball team.
