Warplanes Catch Convoys On Move

Strikes Follow Cease-Fire

'He's Real, He's Real'

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes swept over North Vietnam immediately after the allied Christmas truce ended and wreaked havoc on Communist convoys trying to complete a massive movement of supplies started under the umbrella of the cease-fire.

U.S. headquarters reported about 100 trucks destroyed or damaged in the heavy strikes which began Christmas night and continued unabated today.

Headquarters reported that Air Force, Navy and Marine jets spotted more than 300 trucks, one of the biggest transport targets of the war. Planes from two Navy carriers in the Tonkin Gulf reported one convoy of 150 trucks and another of almost 100.

BLOWN UP
In another strike a ferry carrying eight trucks was blown up and sunk.

The ground war also resumed after the truce ended at 6 p.m. Christmas night but only scattered actions were reported. The Viet Cong had announced that it would observe a 72-hour Christmas truce, until 1 a.m. Wednesday (noon today EST).

"I guess they thought we were going to give them a night off," said an air officer at U.S. headquarters, telling of the raids on the convoys. "They found out different."

Acting on intelligence from reconnaissance planes which maintained the vigil over the north during the truce, the U.S. jets were airborne on strike missions almost immediately after the stand-down ended.

"The recon guys had done their job well," a spokesman said.

TARGETS
The fighter-bombers were directed to targets as soon as they reached the major supply routes stretching down the North Vietnamese coast. Although scattered clouds blanketed the area and the ceiling dropped to about 3,000 feet, the U.S. airmen kept boring in.

Only a few minutes of light remained when the first planes reached the target area. Long strings of flares were dropped, and the bombing continued throughout Christmas night.

The 150-truck convoy was scattered along seven miles of highway below Thanh Hoa. Navy Skyhawk jets rained 500-pound bombs along the route, dotting it with billowing fires that lit the night sky.

Farther south, near Vinh, a 100-truck convoy was blasted. The ferry south of Vinh was hit just before sundown. Pilots said as it went to the river bottom with eight trucks, a massive explosion sent smoke shooting 3,000 feet into the air. There was no mention of any planes lost in the war communique, but a Marine F9J Cougar observation plane was shot down in South Vietnam and a Marine photo reconnaissance Phantom plane crashed due to a landing accident as it returned to Da Nang Monday, killing the copilot and critically injuring the pilot.

U.S. headquarters expected reconnaissance photos would show Communist truck losses higher than the initial pilot reports.

"It was a very unusual day," the spokesman said.

It was believed that the North Vietnamese had started a massive supply effort at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve, when the allied truce began. In the next 24 hours they were able to move supplies unmolested, but the U.S. recon planes were overhead keeping a close watch.

When the truce ended, the Reds were still on the move and evidently decided to take the chance that full-scale U.S. raids would not resume until dawn today. The U.S. air response was almost immediate, however.

BOMBERS
U.S. B52 bombers also went back to war shortly after the truce ended. They attacked areas south of Da Nang where the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were suspected of assembling, and suspected bivouac areas, gun posts and infiltration routes in the demilitarized zone northwest of the Marine outpost at Con Thien.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands reported a total of 118 shooting incidents during their 24-hour cease-fire and blamed all of them on the enemy. Twenty of the 79 incidents reported by U.S. headquarters were termed serious, meaning they involved casualties.

CASUALTIES
A compilation of the casualties indicated that 24 Americans were killed and 24 wounded, three South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and six wounded. Sixteen civilians were wounded and one kidnaped, one South Korean soldier was wounded, and 33 Communist soldiers were killed and two taken captive.

OVER TEXAS Clear But Cold

Cold temperatures and blue skies prevailed over most of Texas today as high pressure dominated the state's weather picture.

Free - dawn readings ranged from 17 degrees at Texarkana in East Texas to the 20s in West Texas up to the 40s on the coast and 51 at Brownsville.

The only cloudiness at daybreak were a few scattered wisps over Amarillo in the Panhandle and over Brownsville, 800 miles to the south.

The Weather Bureau said some light scattered snow could form during the day in the Panhandle and scattered light rain may develop in other sections. But no significant moisture was in prospect.

PARIS (AP) — At least 120 persons were killed and 800 injured on French highways during the three-day Christmas weekend, officials said today.

Two Quakes

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A University of California seismologist said his instruments recorded two earthquakes in the vicinity of Vancouver Island, British Columbia, early today, but Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Victoria said they had no reports of any tremor.

Dr. Mansour Niazzi said the quakes occurred at 1:31 a.m. and 1:52 a.m. and he measured them as 5 and 4.5 on the Richter scale, strong enough to cause damage in a populated area.

The only explanation for a lack of reports, he said, was that the quakes might have centered in an isolated area, possibly in the ocean.

The two quakes were recorded at the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Observatory at Newport, Wash., Al H. Travis, chief of the observatory, said.

Canada Has 69

TORONTO (AP) — At least 69 persons have died across Canada to date on the four - day holiday weekend, including 53 in traffic.

Autopsy Ordered

ABILENE (AP) — An autopsy report was expected today in the death of John Turner Richardson, found inside his automobile in a 4-foot-deep section of the Abilene Zoo Lake.

A zoo employee spotted the car early Monday. The body of the 66 - year - old Richardson was found inside.

Ranch Demonstrators

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Fifty - five anti-war demonstrators held a one - hour "Christmas Vigil" outside the LBJ Ranch Monday.

The demonstrators were from the Austin Committee to End the War in Vietnam. There were no incidents. President and Mrs. Johnson were in Washington.

The demonstration was the third of its kind in as many years. The protestors gathered on Ranch Road 1 near the presidential ranch.

FATALITIES REACH 672

Holiday Traffic Deaths High, But Not A Record

Christmas holiday traffic deaths topped the toll of a year ago but fell short of the record set in 1965.

Motor vehicle fatalities, in the period that began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Monday, numbered 672. The total compared with 48 for a non-holiday weekend of equal, three-day length.

RECORD

The record Christmas death rate for a three-day period was 720 in 1965. In the three-day observance last year the toll was 584. The all-time high for any holiday period, 784, was set in a four-day Thanksgiving observance in 1956.

"It's a sad commentary if we have to take consolation from the fact that we didn't set a record this year," a spokesman for the National Safety Council said.

He said Americans apparently have forgotten the national fervor about traffic safety that engulfed the Christmas season last year during a time Congress was considering the subject.

"If the popular concern with traffic safety showed up during the last 12 months were still in effect, the total this holiday probably would have been toward or below the low end of our estimate," he said.

ESTIMATES

The safety council, with headquarters in Chicago, estimated beforehand that 625 to 725 persons would lose their lives on the nation's highways during the Christmas holiday period.

As a comparison, The Associated Press on a nonholiday weekend of equal length to the Christmas span logged 484 traffic deaths. This count was made between 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 15, and midnight Monday, Dec. 18.

The traffic tolls for previous holidays this year were: New Year's—469 in three days; Memorial Day—608 in four days;

Independence Day—732 in four days; Labor Day—604 in three days; Thanksgiving—665 in four days.

Army Communique Changes Its Pace

SAIGON (AP)—The communique issued Tuesday by the U.S. Army, Vietnam, was different. Instead of being filled with accounts of operations and battles, it covered the 24-hour Christmas ceasefire period and told of the holiday activities of the troops.

In the southern part of the First Corps area there was a party for Roman Catholic refugee families given by elements of an American division. In coastal Binh Dinh province, troops of the 1st Air Cavalry Division distributed candy and gifts to orphanages and refugee centers.

Closer to Saigon, Sgt. James Penn of Troy, Mo., a member of the 1st Division played Santa Claus at the Ban San leprosarium. He distributed gifts, tools, sports equipment, medical supplies and bedding for the institution 20 miles north of the capital.

At the Lai Thieu school for the deaf and dumb, also just north of Saigon, Lt. Howard Miller of Richmond, Va., was Santa Claus from the 1st Division. Miller, who knows the sign language of the deaf and dumb, distributed gifts there.

At Di An, 1st Division headquarters, children from the St. Theresa orphanage gave a concert for the infantrymen. After the performance, they were given presents and candy.

Over much of the remainder of the country, it was the same as American military men paused briefly in the war to observe Christmas.

Texas Traffic Toll Hits 44, Falls Short Of Predictions

Traffic accidents killed at least 44 persons in Texas over the long Christmas holiday weekend, pushing the total violent death count for the state to 53. The Associated Press tabulation began at 6 p.m. Friday and went through midnight Christmas Day.

The Texas Department of Public Safety had feared that 55 persons would die on the state's streets and highways during the period.

SHOOTINGS
Shootings claimed six lives, one person died in a house fire and an infant suffocated. Texas led all states in traffic fatalities for a time over the holiday.

The latest deaths included: A two-car collision north of Corpus Christi on Texas 35 Monday killed Larry Allen Willard, 31, of Houston, and his wife Patricia, 28.

Edward H. Herpel, 43, of San Antonio was killed early Monday in a two-car collision in San Antonio. Four other persons suffered injuries. William Henry Miller, 31, of Terrell was killed Christmas Eve in Dallas when he sought to fish $35 from a grocery cash register. Patrolman R. E. Martin was hiding in a back room and ordered Miller to halt. The officer fired four times as Miller fled out the door and raced across a parking lot.

Three persons died in a head-on crash of a Highway Patrol car and another vehicle two miles south of Kirbyville in Southeast Texas on US 96 shortly before midnight Sunday. Patrolman Billy Ray Gynn, 34, of Jasper died in one car. Lewis James Guidry, 24, of Beaumont and Clovis McCurley perished in the other. Patrolman A. L. Mitchell of Jasper was treated for injuries and discharged. James Westmoreland, 32, of Plainview was shot to death at Tullia in Northwest Texas early Monday. The woman operator of a Negro hotel was arrested. Dorothy Fox, about 48, was shot to death in a residence in Bonham, Christmas morning, J.

Four Are Still Free After Gun Battle

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) — A running gun battle blazed early today between a force of state, county and city police officers and five men who broke out of the Terry County jail at Brownfield late Monday night. One of the escapees, identified by Hale County authorities as Charles Cleve Brooks Jr., 38, was recaptured shortly after midnight. The others remained at large.

HUNTER'S CAR
The five stole a hunter's car, which happened to contain a pistol, a rifle and a shotgun and an assortment of ammunition, minutes after the break.

They sped north and made it the 75 miles to Plainview before a highway patrolman and a vehicle of the state weights and measures division, gave chase. The escapees fired at their pursuers and then ditched the car in Plainview.

Officers traded shots with them in northwest Plainview as they dispersed on foot. Brooks then was apprehended. The others vanished, perhaps stealing another car.

Police later reported an automobile stolen just two blocks from where the escapees traded shots with police in Plainview. Law enforcement officers summoned from as far away as Lubbock, 50 miles to the south, mounted an intensive search in the Plainview area.

No one was reported injured by the gunfire. A Terry County officer said all five men being held in the jail — on the third floor of the court house — escaped when one of them, a trustee, got his hands on the cell keys. They walked down the stairs to the ground floor and then broke out a plate glass door and fled. The car they stole was less than a block from the court house.

IDENTIFIED
The Terry County sheriff's office identified the five as: Charles Cleve Brooks Jr., 38, charged with murder; James Thomas Stephens, 24, charged with theft; James Earl Adams, 32, an alleged fugitive from justice; Joe Audon Gutierrez, 27, charged with robbery, burglary and assault with intent to murder; and Decidero Villarreal, 29, charged with abandonment.

CITES VIET WAR LOSSES

Stennis Orders F111 Probe

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Sen. James O. Eastland today ordered a full-scale inquiry into American strategic weapons and weapons delivery systems, both aircraft and missiles.

Stennis said the probe would be part of a "thorough and overall look into U.S. ability to wage conventional war."

Stennis said the investigation would include a study of aircraft now under development and of plans for future aircraft, all with a view toward keeping American tactical forces strong enough to counter the Soviet Union and Communist China.

He said he expected that while Russia has us over this barrel, it will take full advantage of its opportunity.

Stennis also said that more than 700 American aircraft had been lost over North Vietnam, and that his subcommittee had found four months ago that both the Air Force and Navy were short of pilots.

Stennis said the F111 was scheduled to be a main part of the tactical air power of both the Air Force and the Navy, and would therefore have to be included in the study.

The F111—originally christened the TFX, for tactical fighter, experimental—in the swing-wing glider plane of the nation's arsenal.

The plane has spawned a storm of controversy, culminating recently with charges that estimated costs per plane had mushroomed from $2.5 million in 1962 to $5 million for the Air Force version and $6 million for the Navy version.

Julie Awed By Reunions, Musical Toys, Youngsters

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — Julie Rodriguez, 23 months, who has spent five months of relative quiet in a hospital since her liver transplant, returned to her home Christmas Day and was awed by two family reunions, presents and noisy youngsters.

Since her operation July 23 Julie has been out of the hospital only four or five hours at a time. She has survived longer than any other liver transplant patient.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rodriguez had not been sure if they would be allowed to bring Julie home for Christmas Day.

Pal Says Constantine Will Return To Throne

ATHENS (AP) — A close friend of King Constantine serving as mediator between the king and the Greek military junta, says he is "100 per cent certain" the 72-year-old monarch will return to his throne.

This report from Haralambos Poulantzas, a retired air vice marshal, was bolstered by a remark by Queen Frederika, the king's mother, who told photographers in Rome taking Christmas pictures of the royal family.

He was named editor of the Odessa News and Times in 1923, and that same year became managing editor of the Austin American.

In Austin, Green lived up to his creed of influencing public opinion but never trying to dictate it. He took part in political and civic matters and was a leader in establishment of a series of dams and lakes on the Colorado River above Austin.

Survivors include his widow, the former Floy Robinson of Austin; a daughter, Miss Beverly Robinson Green, a student at Southern Seminary, Buena Vista, Va.; and a brother, Tom Green, Mineral Wells.

Christian World Returns To Work, War And Worry

By The Associated Press

The silent, holy hours of Christmas over, the world went back to work, war and worry today.

American troops in Vietnam with a hot turkey dinner under their belts, took up their weapons for more clashes with the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese. As soon as the 24-hour allied truce ended Christmas night, U.S. warplanes streaked over North Vietnam to attack supply convoys which the U.S. Command said the Communists rushed south during the ceasefire.

MIDEAST TENSION. Amid the war in Vietnam, enduring crisis in the Middle East and tension along the frontier in South Korea, Christmas 1967 occasioned prayers for peace from Pope Paul VI and many others.

After celebrating midnight Mass in the Sistine Chapel and two more Masses on Christmas morning, the pontiff spoke from the front balcony of St. Peter's Basilica. Looking tired but with an unflagging voice, he told a crowd of 200,000:

"Our wish today is united indeed with the renewed wish for peace. Let it now be our prayer for you and for the world, as even in these days our anxiety, our cares and our hopes have centered on peace."

BRAVERY

The Pope did not mention Vietnam nor his visit Saturday with President Johnson.

The President celebrated Christmas at the White House with his family. The early-rising Johnson clan exchanged gifts around a five-foot Norway spruce, with a gold cross from Pope Paul going to 6-month-old Patrick Lyndon Nugent, the President's grandson.

In a Christmas radio and television message, Johnson conceded that to say "Merry Christmas" in wartime is not easy.

"But when you think of the bravery of the human spirit—and the power of life to triumph over pain and darkness—you are thankful," he said. "Your own spirits are lifted high; and you say it—and mean it—as I do now: Merry Christmas."

NO COMPLAINTS

In Vietnam, Michigan Gov. George Romney, who seeks the GOP nomination to oppose Johnson in next fall's election, shook hands with American troops from Saigon to Da Nang and said over and over, "Merry Christmas," fellows, Merry Christmas.

In the Holy Land, the Israelis were in control of Bethlehem for the first time, and only 9,000 pilgrims braved the rain to celebrate Christmas at the birthplace of Christ—about half the number anticipated.

Bethlehem's Mayor Elias Bandak, a Christian Arab, said of the first Christmas under the Israelis: "Things went smoothly, and I have no complaints." The Israeli army posted heavy patrols to ward off Arab guerrilla attacks, and the only sabotage was a cut in the telephone lines between Bethlehem and Jerusalem. It interrupted the broadcast of the Christmas Eve Mass in the Church of the Nativity but was quickly repaired.

Selects Wrong Gun Customers

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Robert Miles picked the wrong customers when he offered a .38-caliber revolver for sale on a downtown street corner early Christmas morning, police said.

The patrolmen said they arrested the 29-year-old man after he walked up to their cruiser and asked if they wanted to buy the gun. Miles was charged with possession of a dangerous weapon.

Okays Chase Into Cambodia

PARIS (AP) — South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Do said today that if necessary for "self defense" South Vietnam would pursue Communist forces into Cambodia.

Speaking with newsmen on his arrival from Saigon, Do was asked if "the right of pursuit into Cambodia would be exercised by South Vietnam."

"If it is necessary, yes," he replied. "Our war is a war of self-defense. We would be obliged to do so if the enemy troops use Cambodian territory as a sanctuary and cross the frontier to attack our troops."

"But we have no intention of invading Cambodia, and on the contrary, even, we hope very much to have friendly relations with this country. But for our defense we are obliged to follow the enemy if he crosses the frontier. We have responsibility

North America was somewhat unlucky not to gain ground against Italy in today's hand taken from this year's World Title match.

When Eric Murray and Sam Kabela of the American team held the North and South cards; they reached an excellent six-diamond contract on a straightforward sequence of bids.

North's jump shift response of three clubs is somewhat shaded in terms of high-card values; however, he does have a good suit with ample side controls to provide a measure of compensation. Furthermore, flashing the immediate slam signal permits a more relaxed investigation subsequently.

South's bid and rebid of spades designated a five-card holding in that suit and, by inference, therefore, North concluded that his partner held six diamonds inasmuch as the latter had opened the bidding with one diamond. North proceeded to check back for aces by bidding four no trump and, after South showed one control, he carried on to six diamonds.

There was little to the play. South won the king of hearts opening with the ace, ruffed a heart, and proceeded to drive out the ace of diamonds. After trumps were drawn, declarer claimed his contract, announcing that he would discard his spade losers on dummy's high clubs.

At the other table, Italy reached a six-spade contract with the North-South cards. This was an inferior slam, inasmuch as declarer must bring in the trump suit without casualty, since he cannot avoid the loss of a diamond trick.

Had West guessed to lead his singleton diamond, the contract would have been sunk at the outset, because East can give his partner an immediate ruff by returning the suit. West, however, made the natural lead of the king of hearts and South was able to salvage his contract by playing West for the queen of spades—first cashing the king and then finessing dummy's ten. After trumps were drawn, the losing heart was discarded on the ace of clubs, the ace of diamonds was dislodged, and then South had the rest.

COURAGE CALL

The bleak prospect of domestic belt-tightening in Britain to make devaluation a success led Queen Elizabeth II to call on her subjects to emulate the courage and enterprise displayed by Sir Francis Chichester in his solo sail around the world.

Christmas was merry in the Suez Canal for crews of 14 foreign ships trapped there since the Arab-Israeli war in June. The seamen from U.S., British, French, West German, Swedish, Bulgarian, Polish and Czechoslovakian ships collaborated on a Christmas tree, set it afloat in an anchored boat, "exchanged hearty Christmas visits and feasted on turkey, Christmas pudding and other delights."

Expects Deep GOP Inroads During 1968

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican control of the House plus deep GOP inroads into the Democratic Senate majority is forecast by a self-styled nonpartisan group, the National Committee for an Effective Congress.

In the year-end analysis, the organization predicted "a very close" race for the presidency in 1968.

"The possibilities are wide open, and the political waters are boiling," said the committee. It called the Vietnam war "the symbol and principal manifestation of the real question facing America."

"This issue is whether the United States is to seek its destiny as arbiter of the globe, or whether it will live by the cardinal rule of the postimperial world: That a nation must first find its salvation at home," said the group.

But while viewing Vietnam as the overriding 1968 campaign issue, the committee said Republican chances to gain control of the House—which would take a gain of 31 seats—depends on the popularity of the GOP presidential nominee.

A committee spokesman said it hasn't taken a stand on any of next year's House races but has endorsed 10 senators for re-election. It said Republicans may pick up as many as six Senate seats.

Those the committee backs, among them seven Democrats and three Republicans, either strongly oppose or give only lukewarm support to President Johnson's Vietnam policies.

They are: Democratic Sens. J. William Fulbright, Arkansas; Joseph S. Clark, Pennsylvania; Frank Church, Idaho; George McGovern, South Dakota; Ernest Gruening, Alaska; Wayne Morse, Oregon, and A. S. Mike Monroney, Oklahoma, and Republican Sens. George D. Aiken, Vermont; Thomas H. Kuchel, California, and Thurston B. Morton, Kentucky.

Span Slam Kills South Texas Man

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP) — A car slammed into a bridge on a farm road 14 miles south of this South Texas city early today, killing the driver, Roman Morin, 21, of San Diego.

Horoscope Forecast

FOR TOMORROW
—CARROLL RIGTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until noon difficulties through accidents or arguments could occur unless you make a special point to do things that will prevent misunderstandings and trouble through carelessness, etc. However, the p.m. finds you able to handle some pretty big matters in a very constructive and skillful fashion. Be careful!

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Be sure to handle responsibilities religiously and without fail. It may seem like a lot to come to a real understanding with those there are bound to be many tensions during the day. Later all goes much smoother.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Important you are most diplomatic with an associate during the day, since he could be in a tense mood. Then you prove your credit early and it will be easy enough later.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Write a party, does not understand your way of operating during a.m., do not try to explain. Communications later in the day and all is fine. Be encouraging with fellow workers. Show cooperation.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Don't give in to that temptation to forsake important work just to go out for a good time in a.m. Avail the evening for that. Don't get too confused by those talents to the hill.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 22): A new attitude should be taken with regard to conditions of home, but this is done after 3 p.m. Then you get the finest results. Having those important discussions today could bring some pretty terrific advances. Avail a better attitude.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Use diplomacy when dealing with others in a.m. or you could run into some serious trouble, but by afternoon others are in a more satisfactory arrangement for yourself. Get rid of whatever really annoys. Substitute with the happy ethical.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Try not to lose your temper in a.m. since you find that all works out just fine later in the day if you keep calm. Then handle duties as though you were running a campaign. Be very clever and others respect you more.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 31): Morning could be very dull with quiet routines, but in the afternoon you can get up a more satisfactory arrangement for yourself. Get rid of whatever really annoys. Substitute with the happy ethical.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Morning is not good for meetings being with you, particularly if you are feeling tense. Get up early, and get your feet set for the day. Get rid of any doubts you may have concerning one you love. Look on the sunny side of things.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Try not to take any chances where mate is concerned in a.m. or you will regret it later on. Higher-ups then listen to what you have to say. Plan something of a career nature early so that you can carry through with it later.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): Get the date in a.m. that can help you to draw, advance, then put it to work in a.m. You make few contacts with anyone other than to you at first, but later you appreciate them. Remember that artists are in a class by themselves.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow he, or she, will be one of those charming young persons who will be a for-going ball of fire early in life and other hard to handle, but if you take time to correct little errors, teach lessons, the Golden Rule, your progeny can become very successful in adult life. A highly intelligent person here, tend to best college.

Classroom Parties!

DEAR ABBY: Mrs. Smith proudly writes that she has solved her children's birthday problems by taking ice cream and cake to school and treating the whole class. "The teacher," she says, "cooperates, and there is no fuss, no muss, and no frayed nerves." For whom? Perhaps not for the mother. But, I am a teacher, and if a mother came to me with such a suggestion I would quickly tell her that I am paid to teach, not to give parties. Furthermore, multiply this scene by 30 or 35, and considerable teaching time is lost.

When I first began to teach (and taught in a school that allowed it), I "cooperated" with one of those "no-fuss, no-muss" mothers who brought the birthday party to school. Games were played and the excitement ran high. The mother sat in the back wringing her hands while I tried my best to control the over-stimulated youngsters. Two children upchucked their hastily gulped refreshments all over the floor. (No fuss, no muss, aye?)

Abby, please tell mothers to give their children's birthday parties at home. Thank you.

PAID TO TEACH
DEAR PAID: Hundreds of teachers share your views and wrote to tell me so. The only teachers who had a kind word to say about the classroom parties were kindergarten teachers. And they qualified their enthusiasm with, "If the mother tidies up the room and leaves it as she found it."

DEAR ABBY: The woman who complained about her husband going to stag parties reminds me of this story: "Two men were in the barber shop getting haircuts. The barber finished with the first and asked, 'Would you like a little hair tonic?' The man replied, 'Oh, no, my wife might think I've been in a house of ill repute!'"

About that time, the second man was finished and the barber asked him if he wanted some hair tonic. He replied, "Yes, please. My wife has never been in a house of ill repute." The point of my story is this: How does a complaining woman know so much? I have never seen a naked woman at a stag party, but I have seen some strippers come pretty close to it in some public bars where women sat in the front rows. Also, I understand that some women are not averse to going places where they are served by topless waitresses, so what are they complaining about?

ANN ARBOR, MICH.

DEAR ABBY: I have a message for the wife who signed herself "IGNORED."

You are not alone. My husband eats his dinner like he is a fugitive from a good meal, then he rushes to the TV set without a word, and leaves me sitting alone at the table. In the morning he eats his breakfast with his head buried in the newspaper, then dashes out of the house. I keep flexing my tongue to give it some exercise so it doesn't go into a state of paralysis. Take Abby's advice and condition yourself to the silent life. Some men never change.

Bullets Miss Rights Leader

LOUISBURG, N.C. (AP) — A Negro civil rights leader says three rifle shots fired into his home Christmas Eve were the latest in "terrorist attacks by persons who hold the school integration in Franklin County against me."

The Rev. Luther Coppedge said one bullet missed him by inches Sunday and his wife and son "narrowly missed getting hit."

No arrests have been made. The minister testified in federal court against the "freedom of choice" desegregation plan adopted by the Franklin County School Board and recently struck down in a federal judge's court order.

The desegregation plan allowed any pupil's parents to request his transfer to any school in the county.

The school board is appealing the court order that school assignments be made on a geographic basis.

Peking Is Silent On Latest Blast

TOKYO (AP) — Peking kept silent again today about a report from the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission that the Chinese Reds had set off their seventh nuclear test explosion Sunday. The silence heightened speculation that something went wrong. Official boasting and reports of celebrations in the streets followed each of Red China's six previous blasts. But a Radio Peking broadcast Monday made no mention of the reported Christmas Eve explosion in the Lop Nor testing area of central Asia. Instead it reviewed the first six blasts and touted the thought of Mao Tse-tung. The AEC declined to comment on the Chinese silence and said it would stand by its original statement, which reported the location of the blast and said the explosion equalled roughly 20,000 tons of TNT. That would be similar to the first atomic bomb, dropped on Hiroshima in 1945.

Ike Urges Accounting

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Eisenhower urges that "all elected public officials, particularly members of Congress, be required to make an annual certified accounting of their financial affairs—all income and all holdings."

Eisenhower, writing in the January issue of Reader's Digest, said such disclosures "should be part of the price of public office; if a man has nothing to conceal, why should he object?"

In the article, Eisenhower also urged that U.S. income tax laws be revised "to permit the taxpayer to treat a modest political gift as a deduction."

He said he was opposed to two other campaign financing plans — one to finance certain top-level campaigns directly from the public treasury and the other to allow taxpayers to designate one income tax dollar to a general presidential election fund.

More Than 20 Believed Killed In Gas Explosion

MOSCOW (AP) — Two explosions rent the calm of Moscow Monday night, shattering a six-story apartment building and damaging the empty car of an American correspondent.

Soviet officials refused to disclose the number of casualties in the apartment house. One bystander at the scene said a policeman told him the blast killed more than 20 persons. Another bystander said 10 or 12 bodies were removed from the wreckage.

Police blamed a faulty gas main for the apartment house blast but said a powerful bomb wrecked the auto of Henry S. Bradsher, Associated Press bureau chief in Moscow. No one was injured in the car explosion, and it had no apparent connection with the other blast 10 minutes earlier on the opposite side of the Moscow River.

The apartment house blew up about 9:20 p.m., bystanders said. About 100 persons were believed living in the building's 24 apartments, 10 miles southeast of the Kremlin.

Rescue workers with searchlights hunted in a heavy snowfall for victims while dozens of ambulances, fire engines and police cars gathered at the wreckage.

Most of the residents were believed at home because it was an ordinary weekday night. Russians celebrate Christmas on Jan. 7, according to the Julian calendar.

Gas explosions are not rare in the Soviet capital, although they are not publicly reported and officials refuse to disclose information on their frequency. The same general area was hit by a tremendous gas explosion last January that knocked out telephone communications for days. This was never publicly reported.

The Soviet press and radio maintained a blackout on the disaster Monday night also, and police, troops and barriers blocked off the mass of rubble and torn walls.

Hundreds of Russians gathered this morning to stare as a huge crane worked behind a board fence thrown up overnight. The police and soldiers refused to answer questions and would not allow Western newsmen to enter.

Police investigating the bombing of Bradsher's automobile seemed perplexed, and veteran foreign correspondents could not recall an attack like it in Moscow.

Bradsher said he did not believe the bombing was directed against him or his family. He said he assumed someone had picked out a handy foreign car as a target. The explosion occurred about 25 minutes after Bradsher, his wife, Monica, and their two sons, Keith, 3, and Neal, 2, returned home from a Christmas dinner. They live in a building for non-Communist foreigners.

House Fire Claims Five

WATERTOWN, Conn. (AP) — A 32-year-old mother remained in the hospital with serious burns today following a Christmas morning house fire in which her husband and their four children perished.

Jeannine Green, was the only member of the family to survive the blaze which burst from a space heater and fed on the unit's kerosene supply.

The body of her 32-year-old husband, Clifford, was found in his bed in the four-room house where he died of asphyxiation, a medical examiner said.

Two of the couple's children were also found dead in their beds, authorities said. One child's body was near a window, another near an outside door. They were Clifford Jr., 11, Elizabeth, 9, Craig, 6, and Leisa, 4. The town fire marshal, Avery Lamphier, said Mrs. Green was beside the space heater in the living room when it burst into flame. She told him she was adjusting the unit when some of the fuel apparently spilled and exploded.

The blast was of such force that it smashed the windows of apartments for at least four floors above the car.

Police Quell Jail Rioters In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Christmas dinner at the county jail was followed by a riot that brought out 100 policemen to battle 47 prisoners.

"A group of the prisoners said they were going to spend Christmas night at home," said jailer Elijah Hilton after police restored order with the help of tear gas Monday night.

Inmates smashed furniture, tore up bedding and set a fire in a trash can during the three-hour disturbance outside their cells.

No one escaped and there were no injuries reported.

Police armed with shotguns surrounded the Hamilton County courthouse, which houses the jail, while others entered to force the prisoners back into their cells. The trouble was in an area of the cellblock outside individual cells.

Because of the damage and lingering effects of the tear gas, the prisoners were transferred to a previously empty cell block. The jail has about 250 prisoners, many of them awaiting transfer to the Ohio State Penitentiary in Columbus.

About 400 persons gathered around the building during the disturbance despite freezing temperatures.

Authorities said the men refused to enter their cells as the lock mechanism on the main cell door jammed after they were returned from dinner.

After police halted the rioting and transferred the inmates to new cells, the prisoners jeered at the policemen, an official said. Police stationed canine corps units in front of the area.

Cincinnati and Hamilton County police along with Ohio state troopers combined to halt the disturbance.

Vessel Blaze Claims Three

NEW YORK (AP) — "We could see the fire in all the port-holes all the way up to the superstructure," said one fireman describing the blaze in the Norwegian freighter Dianet which claimed the lives of three crewmen and injured 18 others. "It was glowing like an ember."

Fire Department officials estimated the blaze early Monday may have started as much as 30 minutes before an alarm was sounded and fireboats dispatched to the vessel's Hudson River anchorage off 87th street.

At Ostrica, La., a Mississippi River port south of New Orleans, eight crewmen were burned early Monday when a string of barges rammed the SS Gulf Supreme and the 18,000-ton Gulf Oil Co. tanker was ripped by explosions. Two of the men were in serious condition.

New York fire officials said the freighter disaster was preceded by a rollicking Christmas Eve party. Said one: "You can get an idea what kind of a party it was by looking in the waste bins on deck. There must have been 200 or 300 empty cans of beer there."

The captain, I. J. Avilavlego, and five crewmen escaped injury and remained aboard. Two of the 29-member crew were on shore leave when the fire broke out.

The Dianet arrived in New York on Dec. 17 and had been at anchor in the Hudson waiting for a berth at Yonkers, just north of the city, to discharge her 8,020-ton cargo of sugar. The ship is owned by Christian J. Reim of Prgrunn, Norway.

Policewoman Ignores Mom

FREEMONT, N.Y. (AP) — While her mother and fiancé gazed in horror, Nassau County's first policewoman was killed Christmas night as she went to help the victims of an accident.

"This is my job," said Kathleen Reilly, 28, as she spurned her mother's plea not to walk out onto the crowded Meadowbrook Parkway on Long Island. Stopping her car, she went to the crashed vehicle and was comforting an injured woman inside when another car plowed into the back of the crashed auto.

A 5-foot-3 brunette, Miss Reilly was named to the Nassau County force two years ago and promoted to detective only three months ago and attached to the county juvenile aid section.

CHLORINE GAS SCARE

400 Refugees Return Home

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Four hundred refugees from a chlorine gas scare sang carols in an undecorated gymnasium Christmas Day as a woman and her 2-week-old daughter sat at the centerpiece of a nativity tableau.

Until Monday afternoon, when the all-clear was posted for 300 families roused from their homes by police late Christmas Eve, the holiday was celebrated with strangers at the gym of Robert E. Lee High School or with friends and relatives.

Sufferers of respiratory disease and heart patients were told to stay away from the neighborhood, however.

Almost every home in an 8-by-10 block section four miles southwest of downtown Jacksonville was emptied because dangerous fumes were drifting toward them from 91 fire-ruptured chlorine tanks at a nearby chemical plant.

Children carrying unopened Christmas presents were bundled in warm coats against a night so cold they could see their breath — unusual in Florida.

The Rev. Mr. King read the Biblical story of the first Christmas, the second chapter of Luke, verses 1 to 20, and then he organized the singing.

Rosa Mae Porter, a Negro who lives in the predominantly white neighborhood, and her infant daughter sat at the center of the carolers as King directed. Among them was a paralyzed woman in a wheelchair.

NOT WARNED

Adults toiled blankets. One man took his holiday turkey to the car in an open-roasting pan.

The gym, about two miles from the center of the affected area, was opened by the Red Cross as an emergency shelter. Hard bleacher seats slowly filled with people until cots and mattresses arrived in the early morning hours.

Two doctors volunteered help — one an eye specialist who treated eyes stinging from the acid gas and the other a general practitioner.

One little girl was asked if she was worried that she might not get any gifts away from home.

"No, I'm not worried," she said gaily. "Santa Claus has probably been evacuated, too."

The Rev. Charles King, an interdenominational evangelist, told many among the 400 Christmas refugees, "There will come worse catastrophes than this one. One ought to be ready."

Meanwhile, at the Apperson Chemical Co., bitter cold thwarted efforts to stem the flow of gas. First, firemen mixed it with ammonia fumes, in an attempt to neutralize the gas, but the chlorine was overwhelming.

FIREMAN FELLED

Then, forklift driver Carl Dickey, 18, and Willie Clarence Williams, 20, worked through the night unspending the torpedo-shaped tanks into tubes of caustic soda, but in the early morning hours the soda froze.

Wooden arrows were cut to peg length, sharpened and driven with hammers into the leaking valves but the chlorine ate through the wood in an hour. Warming temperatures allowed them to finish the work Monday.

Three firemen were felled by the gas Monday, joining 18 taken to hospitals for treatment of gas inhalation during the original fire Saturday night.

All were home Monday night when the emergency was ended.

Texans Set Mark

DALLAS (AP) — Texas highway users consumed a record 5.2 billion gallons of motor fuel in 1967, the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association estimates. This is 5.5 per cent over the previous year and should bring in $260 million in state tax money.

Unique Wager Offered LSU

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Bob Meeboer, president of the University of Wyoming alumni association has challenged W. J. Evans, who heads the Louisiana State University alumni association, to an unusual wager on the outcome of the 1968 Sugar Bowl — which pits the unbeaten Cowboys against LSU.

The alumni groups have bet an LSU football jersey and helmet against a Wyoming football jersey and helmet.

Meeboer wrote to Evans that the Jersey from LSU should be numbered to indicate the Tiger score and Wyoming's jersey would carry its score.

"The jerseys and helmets," wrote Meeboer, "will also be accompanied by an appropriately engraved plaque indicated the presentation of these jerseys and helmets, such as: won by Wyo. Alumni Assn. from L.S.U. Alumni Assn. in wager on the 1968 Sugar Bowl: Wyo 38 L.S.U. 0"

Evans immediately accepted the wager, but replied to Meeboer: "Your idea of a wager on the Sugar Bowl game is as clever as anything I ever heard of, but your idea of the score has to be a typographical error."

Meeboer and Evans also have a personal bet on the game — albeit a small one.

Long Distance Donor

Mrs. Phyllis M. Jones came a long way from England to be a blood donor at Baylor University Medical Center in Dallas. On her way to a hospital coffee shop for a cup of tea, she noticed a sign directing the way to where hospital employees were making an unusual Christmas gift — blood to help replace the 1,200 pints used by charity patients. So she went instead to the blood station, then back to the room of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert E. Jones, 7 Coachman Circle, Big Spring, who had undergone surgery there. Robert Jones spent Christmas with her at the medical center and Mrs. Frank (Phyllis) Jones flew back to England to be home for her Christmas.

JUSTICE AGENCY GIGGED

ACLU Team Takes Over Case Of Cassius Clay

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — An attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union says the Justice Department overruled a recommendation by its federal hearing officer that former heavyweight champion Cassius Clay be granted a draft status of conscientious objector.

The charge came Monday as attorney Charles Morgan Jr. announced he will head a five-man ACLU team which has taken over the case of the flamboyant boxer.

DRAFT DEBATE

Clay was convicted last June of refusing to be inducted into the armed forces. The case is being appealed primarily on the grounds that Clay's draft boards — first in Louisville, Ky., and later in Houston, Tex., — systematically exclude Negroes from their memberships and thus cannot legally draft Negroes.

Morgan, in announcing ACLU's entry into the case, said his contention that the Justice Department overruled its federal hearing officer was made in a brief filed last week before the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The attorney said the incident occurred when Clay's draft board in Louisville failed to grant him the status of conscientious objector on the basis of his being a Black Muslim minister. Morgan said Clay appealed that decision and a Selective Service board hearing was held last August before former Kentucky State Circuit Court Judge Lawrence Grauman, appointed by the Justice Department.

$10,000 FINE

According to Morgan's brief, Grauman concluded that Clay "is sincere in his objection on religious grounds to participation in war in any form, and he recommended that the conscientious objector claim of the registrant (Clay) be sustained."

Morgan said the decision was overruled by the Department of Justice which said, in effect, that the beliefs of the Nation of Islam (the Black Muslim) sect were primarily political and racial rather than religious.

"Thus a man who gave up millions of dollars, popularity and his married life for his religious beliefs was denied conscientious objector status," Morgan said in an interview in his Atlanta home. Grauman was not immediately available for comment.

Last June 20 Clay was sentenced in Houston to five years imprisonment and fined $10,000 for refusing induction.

TCU Professor Edits Essays

FORT WORTH (AP) — Dr. M. Jack Suggs, New Testament professor at Texas Christian University, has edited a volume of essays written by an international group of theologian-scholars.

Co-editor was Dr. Boyd L. Daniels, dean of Murville, Tenn., College.

The volume is being released by the University of Utah Press and is entitled "Studies in the History and Text of the New Testament in Honor of Kenneth Willis Clark."

Dr. Clark recently retired after more than 30 years of service on the faculty of Duke University's Divinity School.

Cops Gun Down Nude Swordsman

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — A naked youth who may have been suffering a drug reaction was shot dead in the street after attacking a policeman with a sword here Christmas afternoon.

Another policeman was accidentally shot in the bizarre incident.

Killed was Daniel Bruce Brown, 19, who lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown told authorities their son had taken LSD previously but that they didn't know if he had taken any before he sallied forth naked, brandishing a curved 40-inch sword.

'Birthday Present' Provides Pleasure

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The afternoon and evening of a holiday, particularly when it comes at the end of a long weekend, is like a Sunday—a time for relaxation, a time when, for a little while anyway, the troubles of a troubled world can be pushed aside.

And, with considerable perception, CBS filled a late Monday afternoon hour with the first young people's concert of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. The program, with Leonard Bernstein conducting and describing the music, seemed just right.

COMEBACK
The program of Viennese music from Mozart and Mahler to Strauss was, as Bernstein said, "a birthday present" to the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra which, like the New York Philharmonic, is 125 years old.

The program may be for young people, but it is most enjoyable for some of the older ones, too. The next concert in the Bernstein series is scheduled, happily, for a Sunday.

For the past few seasons, NBC had scheduled its music-oriented Telephone Hour just ahead of its Sunday evening prime time schedule, where it was a program to anticipate with pleasure. This season, however, the biweekly series was placed in prime time—the 10-11 p.m. spot on Friday nights. At best this hour is a tough one for any program, but it has proved hard going for both the Telephone Hour and the public affairs shows with which it alternates. All season the shows have been low on the ratings list.

There are persistent reports that next season NBC may make some changes in the Telephone Hour's time—perhaps it will send it back to that nice Sunday spot again.

The television comeback story of 1967-68 has been the strong showing of CBS' "Gunsmoke" in the early Monday evening time slot. It was actually canceled at one point, but was given a reprieve and moved, from late Saturdays, to early Mondays. And it promptly climbed right back into the top 20 programs.

TRIPLETS
Monday night's episode, built around new-born triplets orphans at birth, suggest that the character of the long-playing series—once the prototype of the "adult Western"—has changed somewhat in the move.

There was Doc, a colorful curmudgeon with a heart of soft gold, carrying on about sending the babies to "the asylum." And Kitty, once the swinging owner of a Dodge City bar, was helping prepare the goat milk formulas for the children. Marshal Dillon never once drew a gun.

And the character of Festus, the marshal's comical sidekick, seems to have become more important in the series since it has been almost—very successfully—at young audiences.

May Change Procedures

If the ruling of Chief Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. of the U.S. District Court in Boston is upheld, local draft boards will have to make an important change in their operations. The judge ordered a directed verdict of acquittal in the trial of a man who refused to report for induction because the defendant had not been given a chance to be present at a meeting at which his draft board reviewed his case and ordered his induction.

"The due process law under the Constitution requires that anybody should have notice and opportunity to be heard with respect to an order affecting him," the judge explained to a New York Times reporter. "That is all it was, as simple as that. I didn't base it (the ruling) on regulations. I based it on the Constitution." Under Selective Service regulations local boards are under no obligation to notify a registrant that his status is being reviewed. Nor is it customary for the board to permit registrants to attend such sessions. But boards usually grant the registrant a hearing if he makes a request for one within 30 days of notice of classification or reclassification.

Under the Wyzanski ruling local boards would be required to call registrants to any meeting in which their classification or reclassification is decided. This would be an abrupt departure in local board procedures, but one which seems to be justified under the Boston court ruling.

Five O'Clock Foliage

It has long been an open secret that the ladies employ a certain amount of cosmetic deception to enhance their natural charms. The face milady presents to an admiring public is rarely, so to speak, all her own.

Now it appears that the male contingent is following suit. Heretofore, the masculine attempt was pretty much limited to a toupee or perhaps a tint of distinguished gray at the temples. News from England reveals that men no longer are content with these expedients.

A certain Alex the Hairdresser, it seems, has created a complete set of facial falsies. With little or no discomfort, men can add a beard, mustache or sideburns.

Eliminating criminals and errant husbands dependent on disguise, to whom would this sort of thing appeal? To the men, one supposes, who want to transform themselves into something a bit more glamorous—changing the tired face worn all day to a different one for the evening.

Five o'clock shadow will doubtless continue to be frowned on. But who knows, five o'clock foliage may come to be just the thing for the venturesome male.

'WELL-DON'T JUST STAND THERE...'

James Marlow Junior Congressman Displays Nerve

WASHINGTON (AP) — Can a little-known congressman with little seniority have an impact on the vast federal government structure? Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, a 44-year-old Democrat rounding out his sixth year as representative of a Queens, N.Y., district, thinks so.

"ONE CONGRESSMAN with a fair amount of chutzpah can awaken the public conscience," says Rosenthal, using the Yiddish word for nerve.

A lawyer who maintains the average citizen is frequently overlooked in the governmental process, Rosenthal has in the past few months launched campaigns for greater aviation safety, improved medical care including a shift away from the federal emphasis on medical research, and greater representation for the consumer's viewpoint.

A SERIES of hearings by a special House subcommittee he heads spotlighted higher prices and inferior merchandise in the poverty area outlets of supermarket chains. And Rosenthal is now investigating the sale to the public of millions of dollars of items manufactured for the government and rejected as inadequate.

Rosenthal is a firm believer that "government responds to the public's awareness" but that it is first necessary to stir that awareness. He is a refreshing difference from the ordinary junior congressman who tends to his committee work and waits for seniority.

HIS RECENT news conference on the nation's health needs is an example of how he operates. He sought to get one major point across—that health care in the United States is not what it should be. "We're not No. 1 or even No. 2," he said.

The New York Democrat then displayed statistics showing the United States ranks 21st in the life expectancy of infants, and 18th in infant mortality. Others showed the number of family doctors in the United States has dropped from 94 to 59 per 100,000 people in the past 35 years while reliance on foreign doctors in this country is increasing. Rosenthal insists "these matters will not await the end of a war, the beginning of a Congress, the results of an election or any other irrelevant event. They demand presidential and congressional action now."

HIS NEWS conference, held shortly after Congress adjourned this year, was similar to one three months ago during the congressional Labor Day recess at which he publicized his concern with air safety over the nation's cities by citing evidence of more than 80 near-collisions over New York City in the past three years.

Around The Rim

You Pays Your Money And You Gets—Nothing

Because 'I do a little writing of a sort from time to time, I am in accord with the basic principles involved in the copyright laws.

However, I bought a paperback book the other day which seemed to me to go a little too far.

ALL BOOKS have that warning paragraph in the foreword to the effect that the book is fully covered by copyright and that no part of it can be reproduced except by permission in writing of the author or the publisher.

This book went a lot deeper than that. It bluntly told me I had bought it under certain sale terms.

Not only was I forbidden from reproducing any part of it in any way or making any use of it other than reading the thing but I was also warned I could not sell it nor lend it nor give it to anyone without the author's express permission.

IF I DID ANY of these things, it was implied, I would have a big fat lawsuit on my hands.

Well, it was my 50 cents I spent for the book. When I paid for it, I somehow got the idea it became my book. I do not plan to reproduce copies of it nor do I have any ideas of making any nefarious use of its contents.

But if I want to lend it to a friend, resell it to a second hand book dealer or throw it in the ash can (which I probably will very soon) I do not intend to let this frontpiece threat deter me.

I WOULD ASSUME from the warning in this particular book will not be found in any public library. How could it be? The notice specifically warns it must not be loaned to anyone. And the libraries have to depend on borrowers or they might as well call it quits.

Perhaps I would be smart to hide it. Suppose a friend happened to call on me and the book was on the table beside his chair? This friend possibly might pick up the book and begin to flip through its pages. He would be getting me in a lot of trouble.

I MIGHT OUGHT to go back to the store where I bought it and ask the proprietor to show me his written permit from the author to sell it. Surely the dealer bought the book from some one before he placed in on the rack from which I got it. Therefore, by selling it to me he's in a jam if he doesn't have that written permit from the author.

This is kinda like the big to-do that was stirred up last summer in some community over a couple of kids opening a lemonade stand on the sidewalk in front of their house.

An overzealous health officer, who believed in going by the book to the end of the line, closed down the operation because the youngsters did not have a license, were not connected with the city sewer and neither had been passed as physically fit by the city health doctor.

FROM MY experience as a lemonade salesman when I was very young, even if I had been a carrier of bubonic plague, I would have menaced none.

I couldn't sell any so I drank it all myself.

It Was Fine While It Lasted—

WASHINGTON — I was walking through Lafayette Park the other morning when I almost tripped over a bum sleeping under some newspapers. I was about to continue on my way when I suddenly realized that the bum was my good friend, Hiram Penrose.

I was shocked. "Hiram," I said, shaking him awake. "What the heck are you doing here?"

Hiram rubbed his unshaven chin. "I'm busted, flat, broke, wiped out," he said.

"BUT HIRAM, I saw you a month ago. You looked great. You said business was fine. It couldn't have been the stock market."

"It wasn't the stock market. It was Christmas."

"You were wiped out by Christmas?"

"I was living in a dream world. It could never happen to me."

"You poor guy. Tell me about it."

"IT ALL STARTED when my secretary gave me a list of people we had to take care of for Christmas. It included the telephone operators, the mailmen, the superintendent of the building, the cleaning women, other secretaries of people we do business with, the maitre d'hotel at my club, the locker room boy, my lawyer, my doctor, the children of my dentist, the parking lot attendants, the policeman on the traffic beat, the sergeant at the precinct and my travel agent."

"There were 500 names on the list, and I ran out of cash before I got to the doorman at the Mayflower Hotel."

"SO I BORROWED money from the bank to meet my obligations. I put up my business as collateral."

"Two days later my wife handed me a list of people she had to take care of for Christmas. It included the milkman, the laundryman, the trash men, the postman, the plumber, the gardener, the neighbor's children, the newspaper delivery boys, the tree surgeon, the gas man, the druggist, the liquor store manager and on and on."

"I went back to the bank and asked for another loan. They made me put up my house in exchange."

"I THOUGHT I could handle it, but I had forgotten the Christmas presents for my mother-in-law, four sisters-in-law, my father, my brothers' kids, my godson and an aunt in San Francisco I had never seen."

Penrose was shaking. "Do I have to go on?"

"Go ahead, Hiram. It will be good for you."

"After buying the presents, we had no money left for postage for Christmas cards. I asked my wife if we could dispense with Christmas cards this year and she said, 'Not on your life. What will people think? I went to another bank and asked for another loan, but they wouldn't give it to me, so I had to borrow money on my insurance.'

"Then I made a mistake. I forgot to give my insurance broker a Christmas present and he became suspicious of my financial status."

"SO HE CALLED in the loan. Once the rumor began, everyone started calling in their loans. The word was out that 'Penrose had been bankrupt by Christmas.' I begged for time to make good, but the wolves were at my throat. The department stores cut off my credit, the gasoline companies refused to honor my card. The final blow was when the Diners' Club informed they couldn't carry me any more."

"Two days before Christmas they took away my business. Christmas Eve I lost my house. The kids have been put out with relatives, my wife is living with her parents."

"I tried to keep back the tears. 'What can I say, Penrose?'"

"I guess it wouldn't be so bad, but what really hurts is the milkman never even said, 'Thank you.'"

Reagan And The Scandal

WASHINGTON — "I could have made a cheap hero of myself," Gov. Ronald Reagan told a close friend who told me.

All Reagan had to do was denounce the two men who were rumored to have left his administration because of a homosexual scandal.

"But I had absolutely no evidence of their guilt," the governor went on. "I told the truth without getting any credit for doing so. I absolutely refuse to sacrifice private citizens for my own benefit."

THERE HAVE BEEN men among us who literally could not tell a lie. For Gov. Reagan to have stood before television cameras and declare to an ardent falsehood would have been a faith-smasher of his integrity. It would have tarnished the conservative cause which, among much else, is fundamentalist about religion and personal morality.

It may be that others knew more about the sordid tale than Reagan did. It was brought into Washington by reporters returning from the ship. It was banded about on the ship-borne Governors' Conference to the Virgin Islands. The culprits were named. Six or eight reporters say they heard something about it from the governor's communications aide. None of this proves that Reagan's word is false. If something sly was going on, it could be that he hadn't found out.

REGRETTABLY, so many Americans find it hard to believe the word of a man in public office. The governor's enemies rejoiced in the circumstantial evidence that he was both dishonest and stupid. Gore Vidal on a TV show put it in so many words,

The governor's friends did not behave as though they quite believed him either. Almost nobody, foe or friend, was automatically willing to take the governor at his word.

BUT THE WAY he tells it at the top of his column has the ring of truth. He didn't know what was going on, if anything, while the two men were on his staff. Unless he had positive proof, he had nothing at all. If he learned something later, he had no right to play the "cheap hero" by injuring private citizens. It must be said that Reagan would have enjoyed a better credibility rating if he hadn't on the same cruise opened a telegram not addressed to him and revealed its contents. Everything's fair in war, but gentlemen don't read one another's mail in peaceful politics, and Reagan will have to live that one down.

IT WOULD BE a relief to believe that the homosexual story has been consigned to the limbo of file-and-forget. This is not to be. The whispering campaign goes on. His detractors won't let loose of the opportunity to sully a Republican in contention for the national ticket. But there is something altogether indestructible in the simple truth, and Reagan is wrong in thinking that he "got no credit for it."

He may have done more. He may have caused us to think it's still possible to take a public man at his given word. Maybe Reagan deserves blame for not knowing what was going on in his political household. But there's no good in a man who sees no evil, hears no evil, speaks no evil of those he trusts.

Marquis Childs GOP Candidates Do Homework

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
(For Marquis Childs, who is on vacation)

WASHINGTON — On the pragmatic premise that a politician's awareness of where his real problems lie is far more nearly indicated by what he does than by what he says, a look around the current scene in the race for the 1968 Republican Presidential nomination is instructive, indeed.

THE CLOSE of this pre-election year finds Gov. George Romney of Michigan and Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois trying to repair their fences on foreign policy in so urgent a way as almost to amount to public concession by each that this is the area in which he knows himself to be weak. Each has been taking the grand world tour, with Vietnam, of course, at its crucial center and Israel and the Middle East not for a moment forgotten.

EACH is clearly concentrating on world affairs to the total exclusion, for now, of purely domestic issues, on which both have fairly solid records already. Each man knows, in a word, that for him the name of the game is spelled by the phrase "foreign policy." Each knows now that unless he can present himself with some convincing logic as a qualified expert in the maintenance of the American interest and safety abroad, his outlook at next summer's G.O.P. national convention will be pretty dim.

Each, in the last analysis, has been far more dovish than otherwise toward the bipartisan American policy of resolute American military resistance to Communist aggression in Southeast Asia.

BOTH ROMNEY and Percy, in consequence, have been living well outside the Republican mainstream on this transcendental thing. For the vast majority of all the Republican leaders is more humanly committed to the line of resistance than is a majority of the Democratic leaders themselves, apart, of course, from President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

If Romney and Percy, therefore, are not able in the early part of the coming year to toughen up on Vietnam, it is all but certain that both will walk with only a small minority when the convention gavel falls.

PRECISELY THE opposite is the present stance of the man who is now plainly the front-runner for the nomination, former Vice President Richard Nixon. Nixon has determinedly backed the Vietnam war, in season and out of season, abroad as well as at home, and so has no kind of a problem in this matter. Thus, one now sees him returning to a preoccupation with domestic issues that he has not, in fact, shown during these last two years. The fence that Nixon is now repairing is the domestic policy fence.

AS TO Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, the man who next to Nixon is probably most likely to win the nomination in the end, no matter his repeated disclaimers of any ambition along that line, the prescription for the mixture is simply as before. Rockefeller remains quietly in the posture of wait-and-see; and a very strong posture it is, considering that it allows him to walk softly on both foreign and domestic questions.

Rockefeller's approach is showing that he, too, recognizes the nature of his problem. The core of that problem is the reality that if the lightning is to strike Rockefeller at all, it must do so by way of a legitimate convention draft, and not through any exertion of his.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

If anyone is interested, the blast-off of that tremendous Saturn rocket at Cape Kennedy produced one of the loudest noises (natural or man-made) ever. Only the eruption of Krakatoa in the East Indies or the fall of the Siberian meteorite in 1908 exceeded this sound.

People should be interested, because a good many man-made achievements—and non-achievements—do have startling spin-offs or side effects.

The Saturn's boom was bearable because the rocket went straight up and the "cosmic thunderstorm" quickly vanished—unlike the sonic boom of a supersonic jet transport which, tests show, could trail a thunderclap through a 30-mile width of landscape.

Modern living too often develops unfriendly fallout. Some inhabitants along the Winthrop, Mass., waterfront have to keep their windows closed to the ocean breezes, because raw sewage pumped into the sea by an undermanned treatment plant pollutes the air with hydrogen sulfide fumes.

How much should people have to "stand for"? Roars, smells, booms, pollution—mankind faces a big challenge here to see that progress does not build mankind into a thoroughly unfriendly environment.

To Your Good Health The Curious Story Of Sugar In The Body

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Someone wanted to know if eating sugar caused diabetes and I believe you said no, this was not the cause, but that things you ate (not sugar or sweets) turned to sugar inside you for some reason or other.

My mother has sugar diabetes and insists it is caused from eating sugar and sweets. I say it is not caused from this even though after people get diabetes they cannot eat sugar. — M.A.B.

You are correct. Eating sugar does not cause diabetes. Diabetes is a condition in which the body does not use its sugar supply properly. That is, insulin is necessary for efficient utilization of sugar. Insufficient insulin, or some disturbance in the insulin supply or its action, thus interferes with using up sugar.

Excess sugar therefore accumulated in the system. Some is excreted in the urine (which is why urinalysis is a valuable test for diabetes). But sugar also piles up in the blood. Hence the sugar tolerance test (one type of blood test) is essential for diagnosis.

Now let's talk about food for a moment. Some foods are "building" foods, protein being an essential one. Minute by minute, day by day, cells grow old and are discarded by the body, and new cells form. The "building" foods provide the materials for this.

Other foods don't build the body; instead, they are "fuel" and provide heat and energy. Such foods are, in large measure carbohydrates — sugars and starches.

Many foods, of course, contain both "building" and "fuel" materials — bread, milk, and a host of others.

How are the "fuels" transported? Why, by the blood, in the form of blood sugar. The commonest sugar is glucose. Thus when a patient is for some reason unable to eat, he can be fed by transfusing glucose into the blood stream.

We get most of our blood sugar from starches, sugars, fruit, and vegetables.

Our "building" or protein foods are lean meat, fowl, fish, cheese, eggs. But we must keep in mind that these protein foods also are a source of sugar, the chemical conversion process in the body turning about 58 per cent of protein into glucose.

Thus if a person ate no sugar at all, he would still have a supply of blood sugar, or glucose. He also could get diabetes.

Some people eat a lot of sugar and don't get diabetes; some eat little sugar, and do. I hope this will clear up the confusion for your mother.

I must add, however, that we know from experience that an overweight person is much more likely to develop diabetes, regardless of whether the overweight comes from too much sugar or too much of other foods.

Sugar doesn't cause diabetes. It is an inability to use sugar efficiently — an inherited disorder.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of the disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Tile Council Gives Advice On Care

Dear Heloise:

Being in the tile business, we thought your readers might be interested in these few tips on the care of ceramic tile. Glazed ceramic tile on walls seldom requires special cleaning except to remove a film which may result from the splashing of soapy water. Or which may be caused by the combination of soap and minerals in "hard" water.

HELOISE

In such cases, the best cleaner is a soapless detergent, although a scouring powder can be used also. If cleaning has been neglected to the extent that there is a heavy accumulation of dirty film, it may be necessary to use a stiff bristle brush. Do not expect that a single application of detergent will remove a stubborn coating of grime that has accumulated over a period of time.

Be sure to rinse the tile thoroughly and a wiping dry with an old Turkish towel will add sparkle to the wall.

As for heel marks and smudges that remain after a simple mopping, they may be removed by scrubbing with an abrasive type cleanser, an application of kerosene, or by rubbing with a soft rubber pencil eraser. Tile Council of America

Sir, you're great.

I especially loved your word "kerosene"! Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When buying Christmas gifts, and doubtful of correct size, I take the price tag off the article, turn it over and write the name of the recipient.

If any exchange has to be made, I then have the tag to go by, size, cost and who the gift was for and where it came from right at my fingertips. Mrs. Charles Posey

Dear Heloise:

I have a daughter who had problem hair until one day a friend of ours told us to put one teaspoon of baby oil in her shampoo, shake the bottle and then use it.

You have no idea how much difference it made in her hair. It's absolutely beautiful.

Other mothers might try it if the need arises. There is nothing to lose but a teaspoon of oil and within three weeks you will notice the difference. Minerva Hernandez

Dear Heloise:

I have a hint for preparing candied yams. Pour pineapple juice (can be kept from leftover sliced pineapple) over the peeled yams after adding margarine, sugar and spices. Let the yams marinate overnight and bake the next day.

This gives them a different taste and your guests or family will beg for more! Anna Moore

It's the greatest. I also tried candied yams and poured orange juice and cinnamon over one dish. It was great, too. Heloise

Christmas Guests Visit In Knott

KNOTT (SC)—Friday guests of Mrs. B. F. Airhart were Mrs. E. S. McArthur and Dee, Mr. and Mrs. Everett McArthur and children, the Floyd Barnetts and Mrs. Thurman Moore, all of Spar and Mrs. Henry Mann of San Angelo.

Mrs. Madelle Davidson has been a patient in the Medical Arts Hospital in Lamesa. Mrs. Cecil Allred is a patient in the Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital in Big Spring. Mrs. O. B. Gaskins has returned to her home from Medical Arts Hospital.

Beverly Shockley of Arlington is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shockley.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roman have returned to their home in Corpus Christi after visiting his mother, Mrs. Jean Roman in Big Spring and her parents in Lenora. Roman is stationed at the naval base in Corpus Christi.

Christmas Supper In Westbrook

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Rex McKenney and daughter, Joyce, hosted a Christmas party for the JOY Sunday school class of Baptist Church on Dec. 18.

Keith Williamson led prayer, and the Rev. L. B. Edwards, pastor, spoke on "Christmas Contrasts" and "Ten Commandments of Christmas." Mrs. W. A. Bell gave a reading, "Three Definitions of Christmas," and Mrs. L. B. Edwards sang "White Christmas" accompanied by Mrs. Charles Ranne, pianist.

Mrs. Edwards, class president, presented Mrs. W. C. Hutchins, teacher, with a gift from the class, and Mrs. McKenney presented a gift to Rev. and Mrs. Edwards.

Following the program, supper was served.

Mrs. C. V. Wash Hosts Club Party

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. C. V. Wash entertained members of Pioneer Sewing Club with a Christmas party recently in her home. Secret pals were revealed and new names were drawn. Gifts were exchanged, and the hostess presented gifts to each member. Refreshments were served.

Splice The Yarn To Free Knitting

To keep knitting smooth and free of knots, splice the yarn when you join it. This is done by threading a darning needle with one end of the yarn, and sewing it into the other end for three or four inches. Always sew with matching thread and continue to pull it through until the ends just disappear. Twist gently and continue knitting. This careful splicing can't be noticed and does away with knotting.

Rug Shedding No Cause For Worry

Shedding from a new carpet or rug during cleaning is no cause for alarm. Extension specialists at the University of Nebraska say that the fluff that shows during cleanings is left during the manufacturing process. It is made up of short fibers which drop back into the pile when the rug surface is brushed.

A LOVELIER YOU Walk With Beauty

By MARY SUE MILLER
Have you ever noticed how a woman's walk reflects her loveliness traits? Particularly in the areas of poise and grace? At this busy season, several telltale walks — notably the scurry and the slouch — are much in evidence. The scurrier betrays a woeful lack of composure; she's pressured and lets it get to her. The sloucher is an exhausted scurrier — a drag who drags.

"leans into the winds"; takes rapid, tiny steps, punches the air with her arms. The correction: Hold the body erect and keep the chin parallel to the floor. Carry arms relaxed at the sides and let them swing naturally. Increase the length of your steps to the length of your foot. To regulate the tempo of your steps, do not change your walking pattern. Get rhythm! To saunter, hold the beat to walk time; speed up the tempo of your favorite marching song.

The Scurrier: This character

PIZZA HUT, HIGHLAND CENTER
Offering a complete assortment of pizzas

Zip Code Books Are Free With Order At Pizza Hut

The Pizza Hut, Highland Shopping Center, is giving away, upon request, with any pizza order, a copy of the "Nationwide Zip Code Directory." The offer begins today and continues as long as the supply lasts.

When you place your order for either a 10-inch or 13-inch pizza, be sure to ask for your copy of the zip code directory. At the Pizza Hut many varieties of pizzas are offered on the menu. Recently they added shrimp and jalapeno to the menu. Other types of pizza offered in either size are Mozarella cheese, green pepper, sausage, mushroom, pepperoni, pizza supreme, onion, anchovy, hamburger, and half-and-half of sausage and cheese. The sauce at the Pizza Hut is made of a special blend of herbs credited with the popularity of the pizzas. The sauce and the dough for the shell are always fresh, never frozen. Since it takes 20 minutes to prepare the pizza, call 263-3333 to place your order ahead of time if you are in a hurry. The Pizza Hut offers plenty of seating space, enough for 80 persons, so you can eat it here or take it with you. While you wait for your order, have something to drink. They serve cold beer, tea and soft drinks. Featured are Michelob and Budweiser beers served in frosted mugs. Delicious hot coffee is also available as well as milk for the children.

Want to give a fun party? — Make it a pizza party. Ray Woolverton, manager, can give you some helpful hints and you can leave the food arrangements to the Pizza Hut. Have a party the easy way — no big kitchen clean-up job when the fun is over.

Serving hours at the Pizza Hut are 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Mondays through Thursday, from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. on Friday and Saturday, and 4 to 10 p.m. on Sundays.

There is plenty of parking space at the Pizza Hut where they serve the hottest, freshest, juiciest and biggest pizzas in Big Spring.

Whether you want to eat your pizza at the Pizza Hut or carry it home, you can be sure of getting the best at the Pizza Hut where Woolverton and his staff are ready to serve you.

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — Ordered your 1968 Christmas tree yet?

Forestry Prof. F. H. Pitkin of the University of Idaho said Monday the school has received orders for 130,000 Christmas tree seedlings, indicating a record crop in the Moscow area by next December. The seedlings will be delivered to growers in the spring.

Fixed Return May Surrender To Inflation

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The entrance of insurance companies into the mutual fund sales industry is partial admission that one of the keystones of life insurance—a guaranteed, fixed return—may be surrendering to inflation.

The decisions by which John Hancock and New England Mutual have moved into mutual funds were really made by their customers, potential and actual. The companies have had to accept the dictate of the buyer.

In the past two decades Americans have shown a growing interest in equity investments, in shares of stock that grow or shrink rather than remain fixed in the manner of life insurance payouts.

These people have been liberally rewarded, for stock prices have doubled on average in the past 10 years of economic expansion and millions of people have made their fortunes, large and small. The word has spread.

Since 1952 the shareowner population of America has grown from about 6.5 million to 23 million, expanding at the rate of nine per cent a year or nine times the gain in adult population during that time.

In the same period the insurance companies have seen their relative share of the dollar decline steadily, although the industry has continued to grow and remain profitable. It simply hasn't grown as fast as the fund industry.

Mutual funds, which invest in scores of stocks for their customers, have come out of nowhere, possessing in 1945 assets of less than $500 million but owning close to $40 billion in securities 22 years later.

As the insurance companies explain their moves, they are hardly abandoning the concept of a guaranteed return, as from a life insurance policy. Neither are they totally embracing the equity concept.

Instead, they are recognizing that mutual funds in various combinations with which life insurance may be more suited to a buyer's needs and aspirations than a fixed return.

This, of course, is especially true during inflation, which some analysts fear may be with us for many years. If this turns out to be true, the fixed return would really be a shrinking return.

The insurance companies hope to offset this limitation both for themselves and their customers by establishing their own funds or by purchasing existing ones, and then offering shares for sale.

The implications of these moves are enormous. Some existing mutual funds are welcoming the new competition, for the impact on prices of a new flow of funds is bound to be bullish.

The full impact on prices cannot be foreseen yet, but it would appear that the battle for stocks will become very aggressive. Some analysts feel there will be a stock shortage, as billions of dollars seek a limited supply of stocks.

These analysts feel that the insurers will continue to operate in their old conservative manner and invest in blue chips, many of which are now lagging in price behind the newer, more glamorous stocks.

As their mutual funds invest more and more money in blue chips, it can be assumed that the insurance companies themselves will also invest more money in the same stocks.

Computer Caper Questioned In IBM-Air Force Contract

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that Burroughs Corp. has won a $60-million Air Force computer contract that originally went to International Business Machines for $114 million, some interesting questions seek answers.

Specifically: —Were the original requirements written in such a manner that only IBM could qualify for the contract?

—What accounting method did the Air Force use in calculating that the original IBM bid, which not only was the highest but was nearly double the price of other bids, represented a price difference "not of significant magnitude"?

—Is the electronic computer industry, which is as important to the information revolution as the steam engine was to the industrial revolution, really so lopsided that only IBM was able to fill the original order?

—Why, of 15 companies which requested copies of the Air

Force's needs, did only four companies respond with bids? This is not to suggest that the Air Force is guilty of wrongdoing. It may be that its demands were justifiably high and that it can defend itself on every score.

But, if clear answers are available, the companies, the country, the Air Force and the various agencies investigating the computer industry should benefit. These answers are not that obvious so far.

The computer caper began July 29, 1966, when the Air Force released copies of its requirements for a computing system to handle personnel and accounting work. Bidders were allowed 130 days to submit plans.

IBM's offer was for $114 million. The others submitted offers to do the job for many millions of dollars less, but after careful deliberation the IBM offer was accepted in April, 1967.

Soon after, the Air Force received complaint letters from other potential vendors. Insinuations were made that in the future the Air Force could look elsewhere for bidders, that the losing companies no longer were interested. It was strongly suggested that the requirements were tailored to IBM abilities.

The General Accounting Office and congressmen also joined in the criticism, and in response the Air Force released a detailed explanation last May 29.

In determining costs, the Air Force explained, long-range as well as immediate considerations were calculated. It obviously felt that over the six-year period the computer would be used the savings would mount.

Nevertheless, in July the Air Force canceled its award to IBM and new proposals were permitted from the interested bidders.

On evaluation of the new proposals, Burroughs this week received the highest score from Air Force examiners and so was awarded the bid at nearly one-half the original price.

EARLY AMERICAN, SPANISH, MODERN, FRENCH Has Wide Furniture Selection

Carter's Furniture, 100-110 Runnels, has 23,000 square feet devoted to furniture for your selection. At 110 Runnels, 9,000 square feet of space has Early American furniture on display. The 14,000 square foot area at 100 Runnels features displays of Modern, French and Spanish furniture.

This departmentalizing of the furniture makes it easy to shop at Carter's. If your taste runs to Spanish, Carter's has a large stock in suites and individual pieces. If you are interested in colored accent pieces, there are many styles and colors for your selection to match or complement your present furniture.

If French provincial is the style you choose, go to the middle room of the building. They have everything you could want. Lenoir House captures the grace and charm of pointed front French provincial design and adapts it for the spirit of youth and the most feminine taste. The details are countless—carved legs, shaped tops, base rails, carefully carved mirror frames and plastic tops that will not stain even from nail polish.

There are so many pieces to choose from—enough to permit complete individuality in your rooms. Many pieces are in dove white with gold trim and featuring plastic tops. The drawers have center glides and are dust-proof.

If your home should call for modern design, there is a whole section filled with the latest styles in the newest color combinations. The Early American suites, tables and chairs, are arranged in room arrangements so it is easy for you to see exactly how they would look in your own home. With all the furniture, it is quality that counts with Carter's. All is brand-name furniture, merchandise of quality. Besides Lenoir House, they carry such famous brand-names as Tel City, Broyhill, Sealy Mattress, Berkline Recliner, Lane Cedar Chests, Empire Furniture and many more.

New shipments are arriving daily and you are invited to drop in to see the latest in the furniture line. Even if you are not shopping for furniture, the dollar table at Carter's is worth paying them a visit. The table is covered with many items that you will want to use in your home or give as gifts.

They carry king-sized bedspreads in all the latest colors. Make Carter's a one-stop shopping place for that king-size bed, mattress and spread to match your bedroom decor. Regardless of the design of your furniture, Early American, French, Spanish or Modern, you will find lamps and tables for that place that needs something. Lamps in stock have a wide variety of colors of shades and types. The stock is constantly being replenished.

Stop in at Carter's, 100-110 Runnels, and let Terry or Dorothy Carter or a member of their trained staff help you make the right furniture selection for your home.

SOMETHING NEW

What Happened In Big Spring Today?

There is always something new happening around town, in the county, state or nation. There is also news and happenings of the events in other nations. The Big Spring Herald is a paper for the entire family, from the youngest of the family to the Grandparents. Besides the informative news of the world, we also carry a complete coverage of the many specials, advertised by the merchants of Big Spring. So, as you can plainly see, anyone can benefit from reading the pages of the Herald daily.

Just for your interest, here are some of the types of news covered by the Big Spring Daily Herald. There is always news to interest the people of Big Spring regardless of their position in the community. We cater to the doctor, lawyer, merchant and chief. There is news to interest the oil men, the cattle men, the farmers, store managers, and even the teenagers get into the act with complete details of the events taking place on their campuses by reviewing the past week on the School Page in the Sunday issue of the Big Spring Daily Herald. Remember, in order to keep up on the latest of happenings in and around your community, be sure to read the . . .

WELL, HOW WAS YOUR DINNER WITH THE CAPTAIN, BUZ?

RED, I'M SCARED... REALLY SCARED! THAT CRACKPOT PLANS TO FIRE HIS MISSILE ON MIAMI!

BUT WHY?

TO START A WAR BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA, HE THINKS THE U.S. WILL BELIEVE THE MISSILE IS RUSSIAN.

THEN HE IS A CRACKPOT. SUCH A WAR COULDN'T HAPPEN!

ON THE CONTRARY, IT COULD EASILY HAPPEN. WASHINGTON WOULD NEVER DREAM THE MISSILE WAS FIRED BY A FANATICAL NAZI. THEY'D BLAME RUSSIA AND START SHOOTING.

SAYS BOYD

Winning Tilt Like Adding To Family

By NATE MITCHELL
STANTON-Bryan Boyd puts a lot of miles on a pair of shoes during the 48 minutes plus required to play a high school football game. His trim, lanky frame can be seen pacing back and forth constantly, save the seconds he is making changes in his playing unit or listening to his advisers from "upstairs" - the men on the phone above the press box.

"Winning a ball game is like having a baby," Boyd once told me, as he passed out long, expensive cigars. Along the same line of thought, each boy on his squad is like his son. Perhaps only the boy's real father has more concern for his safety and well-being.

"These kids are our meat and potatoes," Bryan says. "And must be given every consideration. We ask a lot of them, and usually get every bit of it." Boyd got into coaching upon graduation from Hardin-Simmons University nearly seven years ago. Taking up the coaching reins at Lometa, Tex., he stayed there two years and ran up an 18-2 won-lost mark.

Coming to Stanton and AA coaching, Bryan worked as first assistant to Bill Milam for the next four terms. Moving up to the top job a year ago, he ran into troubles when three of his main grid standouts were injured and remained out of uniform for most of the season.

Boyd managed only a 1-8-1 mark his initial campaign as head man with the Bisons, but looked forward to better years. This season, he improved the mark to 4-6 and figures like they used to say in Brooklyn during the Dodgers' era, "Maybe next year."

The Buffaloes lost some heart-breakers during the season - losing in the waning minutes to McCamey by a 28-22 tab, and dropping a last minute decision to Morton by a 28-26 score. These losses, coupled with the defeats by Iraan (27-8) and tough Denver City (34-0), continued the hex of Stanton's not tasting a home victory in nearly three seasons.

On the brighter side, the Bisons edged Roscoe 14-8 in the opener; trounced Friendship 37-0; squeaked by Post 22-14, and routed Midland-Carver 37-6. The Midland-Carver victory was double-significant in that it not only gave the Bisons a respectable 4-8 season despite the numerous bad breaks, but broke the three season hex of being wins at home.

Boyd's grid coaching staff at Stanton consists of Vaughn Thomas and Joe Cruise, defensive coaches; and Tom Blackwell, first assistant mentor and line coach. Al Smith and Gary Wharton handle the Junior High coaching and the scouting.

North Batters Dixie's Best In Shrine Go

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "All-Star games are fun. There's no contact work and the practices are short."

That's what All American tackle Edgar Chandler of Georgia said last week as the South team prepared for the College All-Star game with the North Christmas Day. But it didn't turn out to be fun for the Rebels.

Scoring in every quarter, the North stamped the South 24-0 in an unexciting game played before 17,400 fans—the second smallest crowd in the history of the Shrine series for the benefit of crippled children.

Quarterback Greg Landry of Massachusetts led the Yankees on two touchdown drives and the other touchdown came easily after a pass interception by Dennis Coyne-deep in South territory.

Coyne, a quick 190-pounder from Northwestern, won a press box vote as the North's most valuable player after intercepting three passes. A 235-pound defensive end from Tennessee-Martin, Gordon Lambert, was chosen the best of the South.

But the favorite of the crowd was Eldridge Dickey, who passed for 6,541 yards during his career at Tennessee A & I. Dickey's running and passing produced the few exciting moments in the South attack and the fans once protested loudly when he was taken out.

The choice of some pro scouts was Max Anderson, Arizona State running back who gained 98 yards to spark the North ground game.

Landry, outstanding Navy's quarterback John Cartwright, directed the North 48 yards to a second period touchdown, and 93 yards to another in the fourth quarter.

He passed two yards to Bob Baltzell of Purdue for the first score and Oscar Reed of Colorado State got the other on a two-yard run.

Dwight Lee of Michigan State ran three yards for a touchdown in the third period after Coyne stole a pass from Mike Livingston of Southern Methodist and returned it 23 yards to the South 11.

Although he could not take the South in for a score, Dickey led all passers in yardage with 135 on nine completions in 17 throws. Landry hit eight of 11 for 89 yards.

Steers Face Rugged Monterey Wednesday

Lubbock Monterey, first round opponent of the Big Spring Steers in this week's Caprock Basketball tournament at Lubbock, won 12 of its first 15 games, yet stands only 2-2 with in District 3-AAAA.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart
Sports dialogue: DR. SAMMY LEE, former Olympic diver, after hearing that Dr. Harry Edwards of San Jose State was advocating a Negro boycott of the 1968 Olympic Games:

"I never heard of this meathead Edwards and if I never hear his name again I'll be happy. I get so darn mad at those dopes who never have done a thing athletically, but go around posing as experts."

DICK YOUNG, New York scribe: "A lively promotion in Oakland by Charlie Finley could really hurt the San Francisco Giants. Willie Mays is on the way down, Candlestick Park has gone to pot, and the Los Angeles Dodgers have lost their gate appeal. The Giants need a winner to survive."

VINCE LOMBARDI, coach of the Green Bay Packers: "No one is ever hurt. Hurt is in the mind. If you can walk, you can run. Fatigue makes you a coward."

HENRY JORDAN, defensive tackle under Lombardi: "He drives you until you know you can't go on... He pushes you to the end of your endurance and then beyond it. If you have a reserve, he finds it."

BOB SKINNER, former major leaguer, now manager of the San Diego baseball club: "If the club owners want to raise the minimum baseball salary from $7,000 to $12,000, all they have to do is reduce the player limit from 25 to 23 and that'll mean 48 fewer jobs in the big leagues."

TOMMY CRUTCHER, former TCU athlete now with Green Bay, on why he wore goggles as a high school quarterback at McKinney: "It kept the cinders out of my eyes when the other guys got ahead."

Stanton is also entered in the Class AA-B decision of the meet and will oppose Tahoka at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow. In other first round contests in that division, Lubbock Christian College High School vies with Rails at 8:30 a.m., Lorenzo has it out with Denver City at 10 a.m., and Crosbyville opposes Dimmitt at 2 p.m.

Championship finals in that class are down for 7:30 p.m. Friday.

This is the final action booked for Big Spring before it opens District 2-AAAA competition against Odessa High here the night of Tuesday, Jan. 2.

Big Spring, which went back to the practice court today after a layout for Christmas, will carry a 10-4 record onto the floor against Monterey.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Oklahoma Sooners begin practice here today for the New Year's Day Orange Bowl football game with Tennessee, and Coach Chuck Fairbanks is determined not to steam up the Vols.

Tennessee arrives this afternoon. Both teams have 9-1 records in regular season play. Kickoffs for the annual classic is 8 p.m. (EST) as the finals in an all-day round of nationally televised bowl games (NBC).

Fairbanks didn't want to downplay the chances of Tennessee as his team arrived in Miami on Christmas Day. "Tennessee is a great football team," said the rookie head coach. "And they get even better when they're playing the tougher opponents."

LONBORG FLOWN TO BOSTON

Boston Mound Ace Is Hurt While Skiing

BOSTON (AP)—Jim Lonborg, the Boston Red Sox Cy Young Award winner as the American League's outstanding pitcher, was hospitalized today with a knee injury suffered while skiing.

Lonborg, who won 23 regular season games and then added two victories in the World Series, injured his left knee while skiing at Lake Tahoe, Nev., Sunday.

Utah is the only new member of the Top Ten this week, jumping into seventh after defeating San Jose State, Southern California and Denver last week. Bradley slipped out of 10th place after losing to UCLA 109-73.

Utah could face possibly its toughest task this week in the Portland tournament. North Carolina, which dropped from fourth to fifth in the rankings, also is in the tourney, playing Stanford Thursday.

Two other Top Ten teams conceivably could clash in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. David, which tumbled from sixth to eighth, plays Memphis State, and Vanderbilt, No. 8, takes on Michigan State, both Friday.

Vanderbilt was No. 3 last week but lost to Florida 74-72. Indiana moved into the third spot from fifth.

Kentucky climbed from seventh to sixth and has only one game this week—a non-tourney affair with Notre Dame Saturday at Louisville. Boston College, which fell from eighth to 10th, played Penn State today.

Balance Pays Off In NBA

NEW YORK (AP)—Balance obviously is the secret for success in the National Basketball Association.

Boston and St. Louis, the Eastern and Western Division leaders respectively, prove that convincingly. Between them, the Celtics and Hawks show only one man among the NBA's top 10 scorers.

Official league figures released today show Zelmo Beaty, a distant 10th in the scoring race, is the only player from St. Louis to show among the leading point-makers.

Boston's top scorer is Sam Jones, who is 14th in the league. But the Hawks and Celtics are on top and who can argue with success?

The league's leading scorer is Detroit's Dave Bing, averaging 27.9 points per game. Bing has scored 975 points in 35 games and holds a wide lead over second place Bob Boozer of Chicago, who has scored 827 in 37 games for a 22.4 average.

Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia leads in field goal percentage with a .568 average on 303 baskets in 533 attempts. Chamberlain also leads in rebound average with 24.7 per game but trails Nate Thurmond of San Francisco, who has played four more games; than the 76er star. Thurmond has 849 recoveries to Chamberlain's 841.

St. Louis' Len Wilkins leads in assists with 259 in 34 games, a 7.6 average.

Chilly Temperatures Push Livestock Feeding To Peak

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Cold dominated the Texas crop and weather scene last week.

John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said field work was hampered and chilly temperatures pushed livestock supplemental feeding to a peak.

The moisture situation is mixed. In northern regions, moisture is a little short despite sleet and rain. In the southern portions, rains have been generally adequate, he said.

District extension agents summarized conditions like this:

Moisture received in the Panhandle from sleet and snow is very light. Cattle are being fed and their condition is generally good, although suffering from shrinkage due to cold weather. Field work is at a standstill.

In the Lubbock region, cold, wet weather benefited wheat and boosted winter grazing. But there is some greenbug damage to wheat. The remainder of the cotton crop is being harvested between wet spells.

Sleet, snow and rain will help some areas around Vernon. Moisture is adequate in the district but short in the other half. Supplemental feeding is under way throughout the district. Cotton harvesting was in full swing until stopped by the weather.

HARVEST OVER

Jack, Johnson and Montague counties are moisture-short but all other counties in the Denton district report adequate rains. Pastures and livestock are doing well, but there is some supplemental feeding. Harvesting of cotton, corn, sorghums, peanuts and pecans is almost complete.

Cold, wet weather forced full feeding of all livestock in Northeast Texas. Moisture is adequate and pastures are average. The pecan crop is light.

In far West Texas, livestock and ranges are generally good but chilly weather has increased feeding. Irrigated small grain, cotton and sorghum fields are providing some grazing. The corn and sorghum harvest is about completed.

Sleet, rain and snow stopped all field work in the San Angelo area. Winter weeds and grass are growing well and providing grazing. Livestock are in good shape but supplemental feeding has begun.

OATS DAMAGE

Moisture is adequate to surplus in the Stephenville district. Care of livestock is the major activity. There are a few pecans yet to be harvested. A good cabbage harvest is under way.

Deep East Texas moisture is still on the short side. Scattered showers helped oats but pastures are still below average and supplemental feeding is continuing.

Moisture is generally adequate in South Central Texas. Small grain and native grasses are giving good grazing and livestock are in good shape.

Moisture ranges from short to adequate along the upper Gulf Coast. Oats are short on moisture in the northern portion but are thriving in the southern half. There has been some freeze damage in oats. Cattle are in fair to good condition.

In the Rio Grande Valley, moisture is adequate to surplus. Winter garden area oats and wheat are progressing, although there is rust damage in Jim Wells and Zavala counties. Wet weather slowed vegetable harvesting operations.

FARM ROUNDUP

India's Grain Crop Improves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Foreign Agricultural Service predicts India will seek to maintain grain imports during 1968. The 1967 level of 9.4 million tons even though its production is rising.

The agency said in a report that latest information clearly indicates India's food grain crop during the 1967-68 production year may well reach the country's goal of 95 million metric tons.

If realized, such a crop would be far above the disaster crop of 72.3 million and 76 million production years and 7 per cent above the previous best year of 1964-65.

"It would not, however, eliminate the need for imports next year," the report said. "Farmers will be replenishing stocks and the government will be rebuilding a buffer or emergency stockpile of two to three million tons."

"As a result, India will be seeking to keep imports near the 1967 level of 9.4 million tons," it added.

The United States has been and presently is a major Indian supplier and is expected to continue in that role in the years immediately ahead.

The report said much of the credit for the crop improvement must go to the weather.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department must announced this week a production adjustment program for rice to be grown next year.

Farm law directs that a program be announced by the end of December if it embodies production controls.

The program is expected to announce continuation of market quotas, subject to approval by growers voting in a referendum, and an increase in planting allotments. A larger crop than this year will be needed.

Space Administration officials said the primary objective of the mission, officially designated Apollo 5, "is to verify that the Lunar Module is ready for manned operations in space."

If successful, the test will flight qualify the main spacecraft propulsion engines and the Lunar Module's structural concept, NASA said.

When three American astronauts rocket to the moon, a similar Lunar Module is to ride through space attached to the nose of an Apollo spacecraft cabin section. After the joined vehicle swings into orbit around the moon, two astronauts are to enter the Lunar Module and pilot it to the moon's surface.

The two astronauts are to use the Lunar Module again to launch themselves from the surface and rendezvous with the orbiting Apollo cabin section for a return trip to earth.

Check Suspect Placed In Cell

Carroll Wayne Follis, 35, who sometimes claims this city as his home, is in the county jail here in lieu of $3,000 bond on charges of forgery and passing.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said that Follis was arrested in Crane on Monday on a local warrant and returned here during the day.

He is alleged to have cashed three forged checks here aggregating $400. When arrested the sheriff said the man had a dozen or more other prepared checks on his person.

Laverne Norwood, charged with forgery and passing, was free on bond after charges had been filed against her on Monday. She is alleged to have cashed one forged check and attempted to pass a second.

Standard said that a search is under way for Leo A. Dotras, identified as having tried to cash forged checks here but that the man has not as yet been apprehended.

Richard Green, wanted here for burglary of a Texaco warehouse, was arrested in Odessa over the weekend and returned here. One of the adding machines taken from the warehouse has been recovered.

Books Donated

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Waco Judge Frank M. Wilson has donated a collection of rare books to Baylor University. It is described as "one of the most significant gifts the law school has ever received."

The collection contains 2,135 books and about 50 documents dating back to the Middle Ages.

Factory Worker Kills Ex-Wife, Two Clerks

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A man shot and killed his estranged wife and two other persons in a grocery Christmas Day, police said, before a retired school teacher hit him over the head with a bottle.

Daniel Lewis, 31, a furniture factory worker in nearby High Point, regained consciousness before police arrived but "apparently made no attempt to escape," Police Chief Lester Sheets said.

NO MOTIVE?

Lewis was charged with murder. A motive was not at once determined and police were still investigating today.

The police chief said Miss Lillian Jones, about 65, hit Lewis with a soft drink bottle after he had killed his wife, Mrs. Terri Lewis, 33; O. T. Nicholson, 37, his 70s, the store owner; and Charles Robbins, 39, another store clerk. Miss Jones also worked in the store and Nicholson was her brother-in-law.

Other customers were in the self-service grocery and Chief Sheets quoted one man as saying Lewis "just walked in and started shooting" shortly after 5 p.m. Witnesses said Lewis said nothing before or during the shootings.

Lewis was armed with a .22-caliber lever action rifle that had to be cocked after each shot. Police said Mrs. Lewis and Robbins were behind the counter near the cash register when they were hit and Nicholson was in another part of the store.

The chief said the two clerks died shortly after being hit and Nicholson died without regaining consciousness.

Nicholson had a trailer park, a coal and wood yard and several pieces of rental property as well as the grocery store.

Lewis and his wife had been estranged for some time, the chief said.

MEN IN SERVICE

S. Sgt. Jimmy D. Peacock of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Peacock of 3623 Dixon Ave., Big Spring, is on duty at Bien Hoa AB, Vietnam. He is a security police supervisor.

Before his arrival in South Asia, he was assigned at Kadena AB, Ryukyu Islands.

Sgt. Peacock is a graduate of Knott High School.

Machinist Mate J.C. Raymond C. Rich, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman L. Rich, Coahoma, has returned to the United States as a crewmember aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Constellation after a seven-month deployment with the seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific. The Constellation spent much of her deployment on "Yankee Station" of the coast of North Vietnam in the Gulf of Tonkin, and conducted 196 major air strikes against military targets in the heavily defended areas of North Vietnam.

Airman Placencio R. Y. Carmona, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Taide P. Novoron, Tarzan, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB. He has been assigned to the Air Force Technical Training Center at Chanute AFB, Ill., for specialized schooling as a personal flight equipment specialist. Airman Carmona is a graduate of Flower Grove High School.

1st Lt. Robert D. Brookshear has been graduated from the Air University's Squadron Officer School at Maxwell AFB, Ala. He was one of the 325 students who completed the 14-week professional officer training.

A 1960 graduate of Denton Senior High School, the lieutenant received his BBA degree in 1964 from North Texas State University. He was commissioned there as a distinguished military graduate, upon completion of the Air Force Reserve.

His wife, Marilyn, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Godwin, 735 E. 16th St., Colorado City.

Capt. Jerry R. McMahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McMahan, 1304 Johnson, Big Spring, has been graduated from the Air University's Squadron Officer School at Maxwell AFB, Ala.

Capt. McMahan was one of 325 students who completed the 14-week professional officer training. He was specially selected for the course in recognition of his potential as a leader in the aerospace force. He is being reassigned to Robins AFB, Ga., as a transportation staff officer.

The captain, a graduate of Big Spring High School, received his B.B.A. degree from Texas Technological College, where he was commissioned in 1962 upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program. He is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha. Capt. McMahan's wife is the former Sandra J. Lawrence, from England.

First Aid Hassle Triggers Battle

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A man who tried to stop firemen from giving first aid to his young sister because of her pained screams was arrested Monday by police who said he then battled with them.

Capt. Robert K. Adair said Van Dyke Russell, 24, was upset because his sister, Leah Larry, 9, was screaming for her mother after falling three stories from an apartment balcony. Russell thought the fire department rescue squad was not acting properly as they splinted her broken bones, Adair said.

Russell was charged with assault and battery on a policeman, disorderly conduct, obstructing a police officer, creating a disturbance and resisting arrest.

Many Offices Remain Closed

Many of the offices in the Howard County courthouse were still closed Tuesday and were due to resume operations on Wednesday.

The offices which were open were having only a mild business rush.

No courts were in session and the county commissioners court will not meet until next Monday.

Holiday Feast Served Inmates

A Christmas dinner featuring turkey, dressing and the traditional features of a holiday feast was served by the sheriff to the 11 inmates of the county jail on Monday.

The dinner was served at mid-afternoon.

PERSONAL PAL OF PRESIDENTS

Leader In Cotton Industry Dies

HILLSBORO, Tex. (AP) — Colorful Col. Burris C. Jackson, one of the world cotton industry's most widely known personalities, died Monday in his native Hillsboro.

He had been in failing health for several years. He had wide business and financial interests.

One of the founders of the National Cotton Council, he twice was president of the organization and served more than 20 years as a director.

He founded the American Cotton Congress and served as its chairman until his death. He organized the State-Wide Cotton Committee of Texas in 1936, and it was this committee which included all elements of the industry, that served as a model for the National Cotton Council organized in Dallas two years later.

He joined his father's firm, Jackson & Co., in 1926, and assumed ownership 10 years later.

He served as chairman of the Texas Cotton Research Advisory Committee, the National Affairs Committee of the American Cotton Shippers Association and the legislation and public relations committee of the Texas Cotton Ginners Association.

He was a supporter of the Democratic Party, Jackson was a personal friend of Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and Lyndon B. Johnson. The late Sen. Tom Connally and the late Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn also were close friends of the big, white-haired Jackson and often attended receptions he gave in both Washington, D.C., and Hillsboro.

For nearly 20 years, until the Eisenhower administration took over in 1952, Jackson served as postmaster at Hillsboro and twice was president of the National Postmasters Association, the first man ever to hold the office twice.

He was one of few party leaders who thought President Truman could gain re-election in 1948 when Truman upset Thomas Dewey, and he made speeches throughout the country for HST. "He's a great man," Jackson told his audiences.

He was a member of Hillsboro's First Methodist Church and served as board member for more than 30 years.

When the Republican Party took over the Post Office Department at the beginning of the Eisenhower Administration, Jackson was one of the first postmasters in the country to go. But politicians, state and national, continued to come to Hillsboro for advice and ask for support.

He was one of few party leaders who thought President Truman could gain re-election in 1948 when Truman upset Thomas Dewey, and he made speeches throughout the country for HST. "He's a great man," Jackson told his audiences.

He was a member of Hillsboro's First Methodist Church and served as board member for more than 30 years.

gressmen flocked to the Jackson receptions.

"The big Texan, with a reputation among his friends as a 'man who never whispered,' was outspoken on his beliefs and always termed himself a 'conservative Democrat.'"

"I'm as proud of my enemies," he once said, "as I am of my friends. Both reflect my own personality."

In World War II, Jackson rose to colonel quickly and was liaison man between the U.S. Army and the Post Office Department. After the war, Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson said of the Texan: "The people of this country owe a debt of gratitude to Burris Jackson. It was his responsibility to see that the men overseas got their mail quickly — and Jackson's leadership gave them the fastest mail service any fighting force ever had."

He was a commander of the Hillsboro American Legion Post, had served as president of the Hillsboro Lions Club and as district governor of Lions International, was formerly president of the International Demolay Alumni, a member of the State Fair of Texas board, and a member of the Texas Civil War Centennial Commission.

Survivors include his widow, Frances; two brothers, Randolph M. Jackson of the General Services Administration, Dallas, and Kirby H. Jackson of the Internal Revenue Service, Dallas; and a sister, Mrs. Nancy Barker, Wichita Falls.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the First Methodist Church of Hillsboro. Burial will be in Hillsboro's Ridge Park Cemetery.

Paper Employee Regains Tresses

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Pam Gossett, advertising employee for The Paris News, was on a mission to the composing room.

She leaned too close to a linotype machine, and one of the belts caught her hair.

Composing room foreman E. C. Hundley nearly fainted when Mrs. Gossett's tresses whisked through the air and slammed to the floor.

Hundley regained his composure shortly after Mrs. Gossett regained her wiglet and escaped to the powder room.

Predicts Equipment Probe Will Save Taxpayers' Loot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Investigations by the Senate-House Economic Committee and the General Accounting Office of use of government equipment by contractors will result in savings of millions of dollars, Sen. William Proxmire predicted today.

The Wisconsin Democrat, chairman of the joint congressional committee, said it will make public next month a list of defense contractors who "were using government equipment most of the time for their own commercial gain rather than on defense work."

SHOCKING MISUSE

"The government has been losing inestimable millions because of such abuses," Proxmire said in a year-end statement.

"The Pentagon initiated action at year's end to stop the shocking misuse of some of the $15 billion worth of government-owned property in the hands of private contractors uncovered in a GAO study requested by the committee," he said.

New regulations were issued by the Pentagon, said Proxmire, to "halt widespread and costly noncompliance with the vital Truth in Negotiations Act, the taxpayer's only defense against blatant overcharges."

Another committee investigation, he said, resulted in Pentagon action to improve accuracy of records on the Defense Department's $37 billion inventory to avoid unnecessary purchase of items already in stock.

Other achievements Proxmire claimed were changes to increase competitive bidding, administer more efficiently inventory that deteriorates unless used promptly and improve government management of real property.

Oh, Brother

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Mrs. Eugene Lee panicked when she opened her oven to check Christmas dinner.

Mrs. Lee was kept in a state of frenzy for about an hour before her neighbors confessed they had substituted a 16-ounce Cornish game hen for her 12-pound gobbler while the Lees were at church.

Discoverer Dies

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Harry Steenback, 81, the man who "trapped the sun" by discovering Vitamin D in 1924, died Monday of complications following a heart attack. His discovery of Vitamin D—called the sunshine vitamin—wiped out the bone disease rickets in the early 1920s. He was on the University of Wisconsin faculty from 1916 to 1956.
