GAS MYSTERY

Seven Barely Dodge Death

Seven members of a Big Spring family narrowly escaped death early Saturday morning when unidentified gas fumes overpowered them as they slept in their three-bedroom home south and west of Big Spring.

Five children of the family are still at Cowper Hospital for observation but are not believed to be in any danger. The parents have been released.

Couldn't Stand

The victims are Mr. and Mrs. James Burch Sr., and their five children Carol Lynn, 13, Peggy Ann, 12, James Jr., 10, Shirley Faye, 9 and Garland Dee, 5.

The Burch family lives on the Old San Angelo road about three miles from the city.

Mrs. Burch said she was awakened at 4 a.m. by the whimpering of Garland Dee in the next bedroom. When she arose from the bed to go see about her little son, she found she could not stand. Burch managed to get out of bed and began opening doors and windows.

Unconscious Boy

Garland Dee was unconscious, Mrs. Burch said, when she reached him. One or two of the other children, groggy and unable to walk, had to be helped from the house. One fainted several times before the ambulance arrived. All were nauseated.

An Alert Ambulance brought the victims to the hospital. Mrs. Burch had attempted to call the operator for help but was so ill she could not complete the call. Burch managed to summon help.

Odd Odor Noted

Mrs. Burch said there was an odd odor in the house which she noticed after the building had been ventilated for some time. "I smelt nothing when I first awakened," she said. The central heating was burning but the rooms were not unduly warm she said.

Doctors said they were not certain whether the gas was carbon monoxide or possible refrigerant which might have leaked from a big electric refrigerator in the kitchen. The house was being checked Saturday by Burch and by representatives of the company which manufactured the refrigerator as well as by utility company representatives.

Kasperak Setback

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Mike Kasperak's new heart remained in excellent condition Saturday, a week after it was implanted, but his liver caused "a serious setback," his doctors said.

Kasperak's deteriorated condition was attributed by the doctors to a complication of an oxygen-carrying component of his blood. This was caused by poor liver function, a medical bulletin said, and was believed to be aggravating what was described as a "semitransfused" condition.

To overcome the adverse blood condition, doctors planned a massive blood transfusion later Saturday. Kasperak had a long history of heart trouble prior to the transplant operation the night of Jan. 6. His liver, kidney and lung functions were impaired.

Earlier in the week, Dr. Norman E. Shumway, head of the team which performed the transplant at Stanford Medical Center, commented: "About the only thing right with Mr. Kasperak is his new heart."

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

The year is getting off to a rather violent start. Friday evening L. B. Caughey, 60, long-time Howard County resident, was killed in a car mishap at the Ackerly US 87 intersection just over in Lawson County. Last weekend Octaviano T. Ramirez, 33, and Roy Rodriguez, 22, were shot down almost at point blank range apparently without warning at a northside barroom. Jose H. Jimenez, 17, Coahoma, was held by officers.

Those who watch the Pro Super-Bowl today should watch No. 53 for Oakland. He is Big Spring's Danny Birdwell and a veteran lineman, well able to hold up his part of the defense, no matter how rough the going. The Birdwell clan will have a lot of other local rooters with them today.

The way things are going, this may be the year we really had a winter. A week ago today an unexpected blast drove the temperature down to a raw 14 degrees. Monday it was up to 18, but there was a sheath of ice as slick as glass. Just when fair and warmer was predicted, freezing fog and (See THE WEEK, Page 8-A, Col. 3)

Main Thrust Of Air Power Shifts To Laos

SAIGON (AP) — The main thrust of the U.S. air effort in the Vietnam war has switched temporarily to Laos because of increased Communist truck traffic down the Ho Chi Minh trail, reliable sources said Saturday.

BLAST CONVOYS

The Air Force was reported sending about 250 fighter-bombers daily to blast convoys and troops moving south on the Communist-controlled road network in eastern Laos.

That is more than three times the average daily number of Air Force craft that, with Navy and Marine jets, are carrying on the bombing offensive against North Vietnam.

The informants said some carrier-based Navy planes are being diverted to help hammer convoys moving through Laos.

Weather is the key factor. This is the dry season in Laos, as it is in most of South Vietnam, and roads are in relatively good shape. North Vietnam is in its wet season and storm clouds of the northeast monsoon limit the choice of bombing targets.

"You must go where the traffic is," one source remarked.

TOUCHY ISSUE

Another said: "There are tremendous truck sightings. Probably twice as many as at this time last year."

From 6,000 to 8,000 trucks were reported seen moving down the southern panhandle of North Vietnam and in Laos during December. There may have been duplication, however, in some cases.

Military men estimate the air strikes are destroying or damaging about 25 per cent of the trucks. The others presumably are getting through with supplies and men to bolster Communist forces within South Vietnam.

The sources said the North Vietnamese also are using water routes, including the Mekong River, to move in war materiel.

The U.S. 7th Air Force refuses to comment. The bombing is a touchy issue with political ramifications because Laos is supposed to be a neutral country.

C-C Prexy Calls For Dedication

The Chamber of Commerce and community got a clear call to confidence and determination Saturday evening from the man named to head the organization.

Dr. Milton Talbot, taking over the reins from Dr. Lee O. Rogers, called for the utmost in cooperation and dedication to make "our community what we all know it can be."

John Ben Shepperd, Odessa, immediate past president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and one of the region's most indefatigable leaders, left no doubt as the handiest instrument to do the job—it is the Chamber of Commerce, but not just any chamber; rather a 1968 model.

A city of only steel and concrete is no good, he said. To attract and hold people, a place to live is not enough anymore. He pleaded for the community to marshal its forces on many fronts.

Dr. Rogers, in his valedictory, urged the community to have vision and to have confidence in its own ability. Dr. Talbot thanked him for his year of service and presented him a plaque carrying the thanks of the entire citizenry.

George A. McAllister kept the program moving so fast that he skipped two speakers — temporarily. He was, incidentally, cited by Dr. Rogers as an example of how a man with an idea and courage to pursue it can parlay this into a robust industry.

Recognized as retiring directors were Dr. John Fish, Gil Jones, George McAllister, Bill Pollard, R. H. (Dick) Ream, Harold Canning, Joe Price and John Rough.

Ralph Says He Won't Run For Governor

Attorney Don May Seek Top State Office

(AP WIREPHOTO)

Reveals Will Not Run

U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., tells an Austin news conference Saturday he has decided not to enter the 1968 Texas governor's race.

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., declined Saturday to run for governor—a race his followers believed he could have won easily. That sent liberals in search of another candidate.

Yarborough might also be that candidate's name, many liberals believe.

Don Yarborough, 42, of Houston, who lost to Gov. John Connally in the 1962 and 1964 Democratic gubernatorial primaries, said he hopes to decide this week.

GOOD ODDS

"I'm leaning a little toward it," he said when asked what his present inclinations toward such a race this year might be. "I'm now 60-40 in favor of it."

Sen. Yarborough's decision probably diminishes greatly the chance that Connally might change his mind about not seeking re-election. The governor said Thursday that he might get back in the race or at least play an active role in it if a candidate tries to vilify him personally or impugn the motives of his administration.

Some interpreted this as a warning to the senator, who has engaged Connally in often acrimonious political warfare for years in their roles as leaders of the state Democratic party's liberal and conservative factions.

CONNALLY MUM

Connally had no comment about Yarborough's decision. Yarborough told a news conference he thought he could give the most service by remaining in the Senate, where he has acquired 10 years' seniority and several important committee assignments. His term expires in January, 1971.

Declaring that the past three years "have been unsurpassed in progressive domestic legislation," he said this year's Congress "gives us an opportunity to add a fourth and final year of dramatic progress in Congress."

"This opportunity may not arise again for a generation. Under the very special conditions present this year, I consider it a high duty to remain in the Senate this year pushing this progressive legislation in which I believe," he said.

THREE FRIENDS

Yarborough said that in making his decision he had considered "urgent pleas from Washington" for crucial committee action the next four months.

"If I were in a gubernatorial contest, action on very vital bills would drag," he said.

The senator added that he had received more pledges of support for a gubernatorial race than in any campaign he had run and that he believed "victory would be assured should I announce."

Asked if he would take an active part in the campaign anyway, he said "events will largely determine" his role. He refrained from making any endorsements, commenting that "three friends" had discussed with him the possibility they might run for governor if he did not.

CLARK INTERESTED

Yarborough said Ed Clark, who is stepping down as U.S. ambassador to Australia, has discussed the governor's race with him.

"I think Ambassador Clark has an interest in the race—a pretty sharp interest," Yarborough said.

The senator commented that he has concluded from his travels and contacts across Texas that "not since 1938 have I seen such a desire for change. The machine that has controlled Texas for so long is on the way out."

Spending Cuts Battle Looms

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new and perhaps more intense battle over spending cuts is shaping up this year between an election-minded Congress and administration which is expected to propose the largest spending program in history.

It could cloud the future of the proposed 10 per cent tax surcharge which President Johnson announced in August and which business for the returning Congress and which the administration is already working into its new budget estimates.

Although the administration has not yet disclosed exact figures, one source said the total budget will be in the $100-billion range under the new all-inclusive system to be used for the first time this year.

Spending in the more familiar administrative budget would be up $9 billion to $14 billion to between $145 billion and $150 billion in the fiscal year which begins July 1, the source added.

These latter figures do not include spending of the huge government trust funds such as Social Security and highways which will be included in the unified budget figure to be submitted within the next several weeks.

The House Ways and Means committee is expected to work up the surcharge again on Jan. 22 and key committee members have already served notice they want to see a definite trend toward economy in government before asking the House to vote for higher taxes.

The committee chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said Friday that an administrative budget of $148 billion to $149 billion appears to be in prospect and that this is too large to meet the conditions his committee laid down for considering the income surtax.

Car-Pickup Crash Kills County Man

Laurel Bryant Caughey, 61, resident of Howard County for nearly 50 years, was instantly killed at 2 p.m. Friday when the pickup he was driving was involved in a collision at the intersection of US 87 and FM 2212 one mile north of Ackerly.

MIDLANDER HURT

Injured in the same accident was Mrs. Patricia Tumlinson, 25, Midland. She was a passenger in the 1968 Chevrolet driven by her husband, Alvin Tumlinson. Their three-year-old son, Tommy, was also in the car. Neither the husband nor the child appeared to have suffered any injury in the collision.

Mrs. Tumlinson is in the Medical Arts Hospital at Lamesa and her condition is reported as satisfactory.

Caughey was driving a 1964 Chevrolet pickup. He was working for Don Wills, Fluvarna, at the time of his death.

An Alert Ambulance was called to the scene and brought Caughey's body to Big Spring. Dawson County sheriff's officers began investigation of the crash but the state highway patrol took over the task soon after the deputies had arrived on the scene.

Laurel Bryant Caughey was born Dec. 27, 1906, in Merkel. He came to Big Spring in 1919 from New Mexico. His life had been spent in farming and ranching.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Leon Thornton, Smithville; one son, Raymond Caughey, with the armed forces overseas; one brother, Arthur Caughey, Big Spring, and one sister, Mrs. Frances Sewell of Weatherford. There are three grandchildren.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with Rev. Roy Honea, pastor Grace Baptist Church, officiating, assisted by Perry Cotham, minister of the 14th and Main Church of Christ. Burial will be in the Odd Fellow section of the City Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Cecil Gibbs, Henry Samples, Grady Gaskins, Maurice Chapman, Otis Williams and Melvin Gibbs.

About 1,000 Mothers To March

Michael and Marcus Ohnsorge, victims of the problems the March of Dimes is trying to solve, pose here with the chairman for the annual Mother's March in Big Spring, which will be staged Tuesday, starting about 5:30 p.m. They include, from left, Mrs. Jack Brown, Gay Hill; Mrs. Douglas Wingate, Mrs. Dan Johnson, Park Hill; Mrs. Gerry Poteet, Washington Place; Mrs. T. A. Harris, march chairman; Mrs. R. E. Ray, march co-chairman; Mrs. B. R. Fletcher, College Heights; Mrs. Luke Fortenberry Runnels; and Mrs. Donald Judd, Moss.

Mothers To March Tuesday To Aid Birth Defect Victims

January is the March of Dimes Month and has been ever since President F. D. Roosevelt founded the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The only difference is that through the never ending effort and contributions of millions of individuals, and the dedication of scientists and doctors, a breakthrough in the prevention of polio was accomplished. The March of Dimes for Birth Defects has taken its place, in local patient treatment and support of birth defect centers throughout the country.

Dear Abby Afraid Of Doctors

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which I have had for nearly 21 years. My daughter, Lulu, has been terrified of doctors ever since she was a tiny baby, and she seems to be getting worse every year. The few times she has had to have medical care she has passed out at the sight of a doctor.

Please help me to get her over this, Abby. A person has to see a doctor and dentist every once in a while, and I have to find some way of getting Lulu there without going through all kinds of hell. (Excuse the expression.) Thank you.

DEAR WORRIED: It's a pretty good guess that your daughter was frightened by a doctor (probably in a white coat) and consequently the mere sight of a man in a white coat triggers this deeply rooted fear. If Lulu is to overcome this obsession, she will have to cooperate with still another doctor. (One who deals with emotional problems, but happily he won't wear a white coat.) You can move heaven and earth, Mother, but you can't help her until she wants to help herself.

DEAR ABBY: I've wanted to be an air line hostess for as far back as I can remember, and I know I would be a good one. But I have a problem. My mother and father don't like the idea. They say it is too dangerous.

Abby, there are risks in every profession, and I have spoken to girls who have flown with the different air lines for years and they don't seem to think it's dangerous. What do you think? I have talked my heart out. What can I tell my parents to make them change their minds?

DEAR AMY: According to the most recent statistics, air travel is one of the safest methods of transportation. Last year the fatality rate on scheduled United States air lines was 0.07 per million passenger miles, as compared with 0.16 for railroads, and 2.4 for autos. One air line has never had an injury or fatality to passengers or crew members in its entire 20-year history. In this time it carried 15 million passengers over two billion miles. If 15 million people were to take showers, you could expect a few to slip on the soap.

DEAR ABBY: Where is a girl supposed to get married? In her own home town? Or her fiancé's? My fiancé and I have been having some disagreements on this. He's from Illinois and I am from Kentucky. His people live mostly on farms and could not get away for very long, whereas my people live in the city and most of them work in offices and could take a couple of days off work to attend the wedding.

It really doesn't matter much to me, except that most of my friends are in Louisville. What does the book of etiquette say?

LOUISVILLE GIRL

DEAR GIRL: The book of etiquette says the wedding should take place in the girl's home town. But again, let me say that common sense, convenience, and circumstances transcend etiquette.

Big Springer Serves Aboard Medic Aid Boat

DONG-TAM — "We've been hit, we've been hit. Send one of the aid boats. The engine room is on fire and we need immediate medical attention."

The frantic call for help came from one of the many U.S. Navy Armored Troop Carriers supporting the 9th Infantry Division in the Mekong Delta during the recent operation CORONADO IX.

Immediately the medical aid boat captain said, "Turn 'er around! Doc, did you hear that?"

The doctor, Capt. Harry G. Reed, battalion doctor for the 4th Battalion, 47th Infantry, answered affirmatively. Turning to give orders, he saw little to speak as his two medical crew quickly prepared to treat wounded soldiers and sailors.

Before the boat could accelerate, another call came over the radio explaining that the boat's assistance would not be needed. Another aid boat was near the stricken boat and nearby on the scene to help. Reed, 28, of Binghamton, N. Y., his medicals, and the boat crew nervously settled back to wait for other distress calls.

The floating 4th-47th aid station, with a helicopter landing pad mounted atop its troop carrying section, is one of three used by the Division's 2nd Brigade. The pad is used for both medical and resupply purposes.

Seven to ten men with sprained ankles, foot immersions, fevers or small fragmentary wounds usually come to the aid boat in a day. The patients are kept aboard until the end of the day when they can either be sent to one of the "mother" ships of the Mobile Riverine Force or returned to the field.

Assisting Reed are two medicals, Spec. 5 Charles E. Hughes, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hughes, 2000 Morrison, Big Spring, and Spec. 5 Winston L. Wade, 21, of Burbank, Calif.

New Arrivals On VA Hospital Staff

Two new arrivals have joined the staff of the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Dr. Mary Dye has recently become a staff physician at the Veterans Administration Hospital after 35 years in private practice in Plainview.

Dr. Dye attended the University of Texas and George Washington University School of Medicine, Washington, D. C., and received her medical degree from Baylor School of Medicine.

Upon completing her internship at Watts Hospital, Durham, N. C., Dr. Dye entered practice at Plainview where she also served for a period as City Health Officer. She is a member of the American Medical Association and the American Association of General Practitioners.

Dr. William G. Hook Sr., who previously served as a staff physician at the Veterans Administration Hospital for four years, has returned to that position recently after 2 1/2 years' service at the VA Center, Whipple, Ariz.

Prior to joining the Veterans Administration, Dr. Hook was in private practice for over 25 years as a general practitioner at Danvers, Mass. A graduate of Boston University's College of Liberal Arts, he received his degree in medicine from the university's medical school, and taught clinical medicine there for a year before entering private practice. During World War II, he was in the Navy Medical Corps. Dr. Hook is a member of Massachusetts Medical Society and the American Medical Association.

He and his wife, Emma, are residing at 2800 Apache. Their son, Bill, lives in Phoenix, Ariz., and a daughter, Mrs. Carl Phillips, resides in Richardson, Texas.

Shroyer Given Plaque For Long Dealership

An Oldsmobile Achievement plaque, in recognition of more than 25 years continuous service as a quality Oldsmobile dealer, was recently presented to Alvin Shroyer, pioneer Big Spring motor car distributor.

The plaque deals only with 25 years — actually Shroyer has been Oldsmobile dealer in Big Spring for 34 years.

The presentation was by R. L. Hummel, Oldsmobile manager for the Dallas zone.

Shroyer's career in automobiles dates back to 1931 when he came to Big Spring and started business at the corner of Third and Goliad streets. He is still at the same location.

At the outset, Shroyer's operation was limited to a service station which occupied only a small triangular tract on the corner.

It was then he adopted "the place of almost perfect service" as his motto. The motto is inscribed in large letters over the front door of the present building.

From the service station beginning Shroyer expanded operations until today his plant has spread over a quarter block at Third and Goliad with an additional quarter block diagonally across the street for display of cars.

Shroyer stresses not all the credit for his accomplishments are his alone. He attributes much of his success to his wife, Vallie, who has worked with him constantly since they established the service station.

And both Mr. and Mrs. Shroyer are insistent that a third person contributed heavily to their growth in the motor car business.

"We will never be able to say how much we own M. Coppage," said Shroyer. "He will always be remembered by us as the person who did more to help us than anyone else."

Mr. Coppage was district service manager for Oldsmobile back in 1934. He was the man who saw to it that Shroyer received the dealership contract for Olds and, as service manager, he assisted Shroyer in maintaining quality service on the Olds product.

Later Coppage became assistant zone manager but he never ceased to be a friend and advisor to the Shroyers.

"He has now retired," said the Shroyers, "and we will find it difficult to adjust our undertakings without him and his advice." They added that the firm here has always enjoyed the best of cooperation from Oldsmobile personnel and that the present zone manager is "one of our best friends."

Johnson To Make Race For JP Post

Russell Johnson announced Saturday that he was filing as a candidate for the office of Justice of Peace, Precinct 1, Place 1.

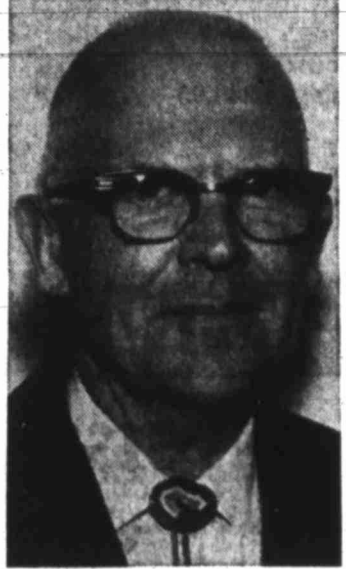

A life-long Democrat, Johnson said he would seek the Democratic nomination in the May 4 primary.

"In offering myself as a candidate for Place 1, Justice of Peace Precinct 1, I am running on the basis of my qualifications," he said.

"I have had two years of college, studying bookkeeping. This, plus business experience, will enable me, I feel sure, to keep the records of the office up to date and straight. I pledge my full energies to the office, and I will be available to the public and to law enforcement officers at any hour of the day or night. I want to make the office a complete place of service."

"I am 54 years of age, and my wife and I have lived in Big Spring for 20 years. I am a veteran of World War II, having been privileged to serve two years overseas. I am a Baptist, a member of the American Legion and of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. I own my own small shop on East 17th Street where I have followed my trade as a barber.

"I will be grateful for your support and vote. I want the opportunity to serve you and will work hard to justify your confidence."

Hearing Talk Set Tuesday

The West Texas Council for the Hearing Impaired and the Permian Basin Rehabilitation Center will sponsor a lecture by Dr. Aram Glorig, director of the Callier Hearing and Speech Center of Dallas, at the Permian Basin Rehabilitation Center, 512 E. 13th Street, Odessa, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Dr. Glorig is an international authority in the field of functions of the ear and hearing problems. He has extended his interest and services to include a total program of research, education and medical advances offering the general public one central facility for their child.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The $60,000 annual Iditarod Trail sled dog race is being canceled this year because of a lack of snow. The 50-mile race, run in two heats, was to have been Feb. 11-12, but sponsors said the lack of snow threatened injury to the dogs.

Circuit Exhibit Hangs In Library At HCJC

By WINNIE UNGER The West Texas Art Association's 1968 circuit exhibit containing 42 paintings, is hanging in the Howard County Junior College library, and may be viewed by visitors during the 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekday library hours.

The WTAA competitive show was held last fall in San Angelo, with participants from Colorado City, Big Spring, Lamesa, Sweetwater, Snyder, Rotan, Abilene, Cisco, Midland, San Angelo and Brownwood. The circuit-winning paintings are in several media and are mostly representational in style, though several are abstract.

The exhibit arrived here from Sweetwater and will go to Lamesa next month. Mikoyo Yamane, brilliant pianist, will be presented here Friday, Jan. 19, as the third attraction of the Big Spring Concert Association this season.

The Midland County Public Library will display through this month an unusual art work collection by three Texas Tech art faculty members, Dr. Foster Marlow, Patricia Marlow and Franz Kriwanek. The Marlow's work in creative stitching, hookings and weavings, and their designs reflect the wide spaces and simplified forms of

Cooper Calls For Halt In Viet Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., urged President Johnson Saturday to halt the bombing of North Vietnam and thus test that country's offer to talk about ending the war.

He said the United States can afford any risk involved in such a move, and should act to avoid what he said would be "the greater risk" of having the war continue.

He referred to a Dec. 30 statement by North Vietnam's foreign minister, Nguyen Duy Trinh, that North Vietnam "will begin talks with the United States on pertinent problems" after the bombing and other acts of war against that country are halted.

Cooper called a news conference to urge action, saying a decision on the offer might come before Congress gets into action next week.

Although serious risk may be involved, he said, "We can take this risk. The strength of the United States is evident, and our forces cannot be driven out or defeated."

"If we do not stop the bombing, the greater risk is the continuation of the war, its increased casualties, and the continued expansion of the war-step by step—as has only recently been threatened by its spilling over into Cambodia," the senator said.

The Fort Worth Art Center has an extensive exhibit on display—more than 100 works in various media including paintings, ceramics, sculpture and graphics—by 52 artists from the faculties of eight Texas university and college art departments.

Jan. 19-21, 8 p.m., will open "The Marriage of Figaro," Mozart comedy produced by the Fort Worth Opera Association. New York City opera bass Spiro Malas will sing the role of Figaro. The two performances will be sung in English at Will Rogers Memorial Auditorium.

Canyon Reef Pay Seen In O'Daniel Pool Test

Shenandoah Oil Corp. of Fort Worth was testing naturally Saturday its No. 1 Helen Louise Fleeman, et al. as an indicated Canyon Reef lime re-opener of the O'Daniel pool in northeast Howard County.

The venture is about 14 miles northeast of Big Spring and eight miles northeast of Coahoma. It is located about half a mile northwest of the depleted opener of the O'Daniel (Wolfcamp-Canyon Reef) field. From open hole at 7,996-8,007, the well flowed 50 barrels of 42-gravity crude oil in 14 hours on an 11-64 inch choke with surface pressure at 550 pounds.

During the next 24 hours, the well produced 86 barrels of oil through a 12-64 inch choke, and testing is continuing. No. 1 Fleeman also indicated possible production from the Wolfcamp on a one-hour check from 6,182-99 with recovery of 2,210 feet of gas in the drill pipe and 40 feet of formation oil, plus 75 feet of mud. On a later drillstem test on the interval between 7,965-85, gas surfaced in eight minutes at the rate of 128,000 cubic feet daily, and recovery was 350 feet of slightly mud-cut oil estimated to be 90 per cent 43-gravity crude.

Operator does not plan to test the Wolfcamp horizon any further at this time.

Location is 1,900 feet from the south and 1,200 from the west lines of section 2-30-1n, T&P.

JOE B. MATTHEWS

Joe Matthews Offers For Pct. 3 Job

Joe B. Matthews, 34, who has been with Coden for the past 13 years, has authorized The Herald to announce his candidacy for county commissioner from Precinct 3, subject to action of the Democratic primary May 4.

Matthews, who lives at 3601 W. 10th St., has lived in Big Spring since 1955. He came here after being honorably discharged from the U.S. Army, serving with the U.S. Corps of Engineers in Korea and in Guam. He attended public school in Wichita Falls and also attended the Howard County Junior College.

Mrs. Matthews is the former Shirley Ray of Big Spring and is a teacher aide in the city schools. The Matthews have four children — Joe, Lowell and Steven Bradley, who attend Marcy School, and Pamela Ann and Jana Sue.

The family has membership in the Hillcrest Baptist Church and Matthews is active in civic affairs and has held several offices in the Jaycees, also has worked with the United Fund and is a member of Boy Scout Troop 339.

"I am not running for commissioner to tell you what you want to hear," said Matthews. "I am running for county commissioner Precinct 3, because Howard County's on the threshold of growth. (Withdrawal of a second rate community is the price we pay if we continue on our present policy.)"

"We must elect leaders who are dedicated and energetic enough to get Howard County moving."

"I do not accept the view that our high noon is past. Our brightest days can be ahead. We need better cooperation between city and county government. We need officials who will seek out the answers, and then make a decision for the betterment of the majority. One who can bring together liberal and conservative elements, and find a workable solution. One who has a thorough understanding of business and labor problems. One who can get mileage out of the tax dollar, by more efficient operation and streamlining of our local government. One who has an interest in child welfare, and a belief that there should be a partial or total exemption of property tax-

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — The man who claimed first prize in the 1967 Vancouver Sun salmon derby will not be able to use the motor boat and equipment, valued at $3,500, which he won.

The prize will now go to the second place contestant.

GOP UNITY URGED

Wallace Called 'Stalking Horse'

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Republican leaders, still looking for a 1968 candidate for governor, advised their grass roots representatives Saturday to face the political year with patience and unity.

"The best tactic for the Democrats down here is to divide and conquer," said national committeeman Albert Fay of Houston, to the State GOP Executive Committee. He charged that former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, who says he is a presidential prospect, is merely a "stalking horse" for President Johnson.

GARBAGE CAN
"Wallace is going to gather up a lot of anti-Johnson votes in the South and proceed to throw them away. . . . If they can channel anti-Johnson votes into the Wallace camp, they will have removed them from the potential Republican camp and thus helped the President defeat the Republicans while depositing them in a political garbage can."

Fay said he was committed to Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., as a favorite son presidential candidate at the Miami convention next August.

Mrs. J. C. Man Jr. of Dallas, who has been on the national GOP committee with Fay since 1965, offered her resignation for "unforeseen circumstances." She formerly was president of the Texas Federation of Republican Women and in 1964 was co-chairman of the Draft Goldwater Movement in Texas and Southern states.

'NO' INCLINED
Mrs. Tobin Armstrong of Armstrong, Tex., presently vice-chairman of the state committee, was named to succeed Mrs. Man. Mrs. Armstrong, wife of a prominent South Texas rancher, has been a member of the state committee since 1961.

Mrs. Tom Gee of Austin and Dr. Martin Jones of Dallas were named to vacancies on the state committee.

Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., who has been mentioned most as a GOP candidate for governor, told the committee Republicans should concentrate in electing the additional 31 congressmen needed to control the House "even if we do not get the presidency."

Later, after hearing that Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., would not run for governor, Bush said he was "still inclined toward saying no" to the race.

GOOD PROSPECTS
Tower urged the state committee to "not allow passions and emotions to run away with out judgment," to stay unified and to have patience.

Both Tower and Bush said a number of good GOP gubernatorial prospects were being considered. Neither would name the prospects.

After the open meeting Saturday morning, "all potential candidates in 1968" were asked to meet with the state finance committee. State Chairman Peter O'Donnell said there would be no announcements following the closed meeting.

DEDICATION HCJC Gains Work Funds

prayer, and Clyde Green played the dinner music at the organ. Shepperd listed the multifacets of a modern chamber of commerce if it is to keep the community vigorous and growing.

"Every right-thinking citizen must work together in the community's interest," he said. "The Chamber is the right way to do it."

The Chamber must be involved in political activity for politics and politicians exercise a major influence on life; it must know about legislation; must encourage good men to run for office, and support good men in office.

It must support excellence in education and "recognize that this kind of education must be paid for," that faculty members must be brought into the main stream of community activity.

The chamber must find untapped and unused ideas; it must involve women and young people in its program planning and execution; it must "be the creation of a stockpile of brain-power."

"Cities cannot be sustained by wealth and numbers alone," he declared, so the Chamber must look out for cultural growth, to create a climate of individual responsibility for the liveability of the community, to promote recreation, create ingenuity.

"Cities of only steel and concrete cannot survive," he said. "A place to live is not enough anymore. Neither can an ostrich city exist, for it is dependent upon area development, too."

The job this year, declared Dr. Talbot, is to nurture the cultural, intellectual and economic values as well as the appearance of the community in such a way that it will become a saleable package to industries and other people.

Romney Calls For Limited Wiretap Use

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — The nation needs laws permitting limited use of wire tapping and eavesdropping devices to combat organized crime, Republican presidential aspirant George Romney said Saturday.

The Michigan governor spoke in a school cafeteria before a meager audience of 35 in Raymond, a town with a population of 7,000.

He is on a speech-making, hand-shaking tour of the Granite State to generate votes for his candidacy for Republican nominee in New Hampshire's first in the nation presidential March 12 primary.

RAPS LBJ

Romney said President Johnson promised, but had failed to propose "substantive legislation to fight organized crime."

The Justice Department's activities in this area "have been drastically reduced" since Johnson took office, he said.

Nearly every Presidential Crime Commission recommendation has been ignored by the President, he added. Legislation is needed, he said, that would allow qualified lawmen to use eavesdropping equipment under a court order granted at the request of the attorney general.

Romney moved on to Concord for a private pep talk to his campaign workers, then went to the town hall at Hopkinton and told some 75 townspeople he has been heartened by his New Hampshire campaign.

OPTIMISTIC

"I've found it much friendlier than I expected and I'm much more optimistic than when I came here," Romney said. At that stop, too, he called for a stepped-up effort to deal with the problem of crime.

Then he moved on to New London to campaign among skiers at the King Ridge ski area. Most of the cars in the parking lot had Massachusetts license plates.

Opens Campaign In New Hampshire

U.S. Ambassador To Spain Named Chief Of Protocol

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson announced today the resignation of Chief of Protocol James Symington and his replacement in the post by Angier Biddle Duke, now U.S. ambassador to Spain.

EYES RACE

The Texas White House said

Symington, 40, who has been chief of protocol since March 1966, plans to return to Missouri. There have been reports Symington, son of Missouri Sen. Stuart Symington, plans to run for Congress from Missouri's Second District.

There had been reports, too, that Ambassador Duke planned to leave his post in Spain to come home to join in Johnson's re-election campaign. He was appointed ambassador to Madrid in March 1965.

The office of the chief of protocol is responsible for arranging for the visits of world leaders and their meetings with the President and top officials. There have been increasing numbers of these visits in recent years.

Duke, 52, who has served in posts in Buenos Aires, Madrid, and El Salvador, was named chief of protocol by the late President Kennedy and served in that post from January 1961 to March 1965.

PRIVATE MEETING

No successor has been named for Duke's post in Spain.

The Texas White House said the President would be back at his desk in Washington Monday and plans to have a private meeting with former British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, 73, in this country for appearances at several university and literary groups. Johnson also has an appointment Monday with Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler.

Winding up business at the ranch, the President received reports from some of his top advisers and continued working on his State of the Union message to be delivered to the reconvening 90th Congress Wednesday night.

A court clerk said Friday members of the court will not be disclosed until the day of the hearing.

The former heavyweight boxing champion was convicted after refusing April 28 to take the traditional step forward that is symbolic of induction into the armed forces. He received the maximum sentence of five years and a $10,000 fine. He is free under a $5,000 appeal bond.

Federal officials have not yet answered the appellate brief filed last month by Clay's lawyers. Part of the appeal charges the Justice Department turned down a draft board recommendation that Clay receive an exemption because of his status as a Muslim minister.

Basin Engineers To View Film of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers will hold its January meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Reddy Room at the Texas Electric Service Company office in Midland.

Mr. W. A. Armstrong, District Representative of the Crouse-Hinds Company, will present a film entitled "Flame Propagation".

All interested persons in the Permian Basin are invited to attend.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District let another major contract last week, this one for $465,058 for construction of 17 oil well mounds in the new lake basin above Robert Lee. These were for one operator and several more mounds will have to be built. The next contract will be around March 1 for a diversion dam and side storage northwest of Colorado City.

Stanton voters gave a hefty margin to a one-cent sales tax last week, but Snyder voters turned it down narrowly. Of cities in this region who have voted on the tax, only Snyder, Midland and Kermit have voted against it.

The Rev. Melvin Montgomery, pastor of Mount Bethel Baptist Church, is the new chairman of the Big Spring Community Action Agency, succeeding the Rev. James A. Puckett. Programs such as Head Start and the Neighborhood Youth Corps are channeled through BSAA.

Howard County Junior College has announced another session of the Southwestern Law Enforcement Academy, this one Jan. 29-Feb. 9. This intensive short course for new officers has been a means of helping to substantially upgrade personnel in police departments in this area.

Helps Rescue Eight Seamen

TRIPOLI, Libya — Major Edwin A. Henningson recently participated in the rescue of eight seamen from an Italian freighter which had gone aground in the Mediterranean Sea.

Major Henningson was rescue crew commander of one of the two HH-43B Huskie helicopters which were dispatched from the 58th Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron at Wheelus AB, Libya, to the stricken vessel which was floundering in heavy seas about a mile offshore.

After making a low pass over the ship and dropping a smoke bomb to help judge the wind, the first chopper lowered a parascrambler to the deck. He instructed the crewmen in the proper use of the rescue sling before each was hoisted to the helicopter hovering 35 feet above. Six sailors were picked up by the first helicopter and two by the second.

The rescue effort lasted approximately 20 minutes, after which the sailors were brought to Wheelus.

Major Henningson, who entered the Air Force in 1954, is a veteran of combat duty in Vietnam. He was commissioned in 1955 through the aviation cadet program.

The major's wife, DeJores, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Belk, Rt. 2, Garden City Highway, Big Spring. Major and Mrs. Henningson are the parents of Melinda, 12, Marjori, 10, and Melissa, 16 months.

Solid Plantings Give Top Grain Sorghum Yields

LAMESA (SC) — A result demonstration on the Kenneth Hamilton farm has indicated that solid plantings of irrigated grain sorghum are best for top production.

Hamilton's farm is located four miles south of Lamesa.

Two varieties of grain sorghum, Pawnee and Pioneer 846, were used in the test. Solid plantings of Pawnee yielded 4,466 pounds per acre compared with 2,166 pounds on a two-in and one out pattern. Pioneer 846 performed considerably better. On a solid pattern, its yield reached the 3,766 pounds per acre level while on the two in and one out basis, 3,130 pounds were produced.

Considering these results on a yield per actual acre of land, Pawnee skip row yielded 1,644 pounds per acre and Pioneer 846 yielded 2,510 pounds.

All tests were planted at a rate of four pounds per acre on April 27 and harvested on Sept. 15. Eighty pounds of nitrogen and 40 pounds of phosphorus were applied per acre. Irrigations consisted of a two-four inch preplant and a one-three inch postplant. Actual rainfall amounted to 9.7 inches making for almost ideal moisture conditions and thus boosting production.

GREEN BAY FAVORED IN SUPER BOWL ENCOUNTER

Packers, Raiders Go For Broke

JOHNNY RAUCH
Oakland mentor

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Brainsy Bart Starr and an experienced ball-hungry defense make the Green Bay Packers solid favorites over the finely balanced Oakland Raiders Sunday in the second Super Bowl game between the champions of the National Football League and the American Football League.

A sellout crowd of 75,546 is expected to pack the Orange Bowl for this test of strength between two mutually respectful teams who will be battling for a $15,000 winning share and the world pro football title. Each loser gets $7,500 from the game.

The game will start at 2:05 p.m. CST and will be beamed across the nation on network (CBS) television and radio with the Miami area blacked out on television. The exclusive rights cost CBS $2,500,000.

Victory could mean as much as $26,000 for each Packer or $22,000 for each Raider. Green Bay already has won about $8,000 for beating Dallas and each Oakland player got $6,321.77 for drubbing Houston in their respective league playoffs.

Extra cash for the NFL divisional playoffs and the possibility of more money from the college All-Star game next August in Chicago would make up the difference. The highest payoff for a World Series winner was $12,794 by the 1963 Los Angeles Dodgers.

Green Bay struggled through a 9-4-1 season but rose to the challenge by turning back Los Angeles 28-7 for the Western Conference crown. The Packers then won an unprecedented third straight league title by edging Dallas 21-17 in 13 below zero temperature.

Oakland romped through the AFL season with a 13-1 record and then bombed Houston 40-7 for its first championship.

Coach Vince Lombardi considers his current Packer team one of his best efforts because it won without such old stalwarts as Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor on the roster and overcame shattering injuries to Elijah Pitts and Jim Grabowski.

Starr was crippled in early season and wound up with 17 interceptions, a career high, and only nine touchdown passes. However, he beat the Cowboys on a daring quarterback sneak with 13 seconds to go.

The solid defense, built around left end Willie Davis and right tackle Henry Jordan, and the fine trio of linebackers—Dave Robinson, Ray Nitschke and Lee Roy Caffey—carried the day while Bob Jeter, Herb Adderley and Willie Brown broke up the enemy passing game.

Forced to use two rejects, Chuck Mercein of the New York Giants and Ben Wilson of the Los Angeles Rams, as running backs during the late stages of the season, Lombardi won again when Donny Anderson and the speedy Travis Williams suddenly came off age. Mercein and Anderson are due to start at running back posts and Boyd Dowler and Carroll Dale as the wide receivers.

Oakland's startling rise to the title by ousting the Kansas City Chiefs, the Packers' 35-10 victims in the first Super Bowl, was achieved by fine balance and the emergency of Daryle Lamonica as a top passer. Lamonica has been sub par due to a bout with a virus.

Lamonica, a backup man to Jackie Kemp at Buffalo until 1967, threw 30 TD passes for the Raiders and was intercepted 20 times. The loss of running back Clem Daniels due to a broken ankle was offset by the play of Pete Banaszak, teaming with Hewritt Dixon.

Lamonica's favorite targets are Dixon, who caught 59, flanker Fred Biletnikoff, split end

Bill Miller and tight end Billy Cannon. The Raiders scored 58 touchdowns and 468 points as compared to Green Bay's 39 and 332 points in regular season play.

Oakland's pride is its well-constructed and stunting defense. The Raiders set a record by smearing the quarterback 67 times for 666 yards, averaging almost five a game.

Green Bay got to the enemy passer only 29 times all year.

Right tackle Tom Keating, right end Ben Davidson, linebackers Dan Conners and Gus Otto keep the Raider pressure on and a fine pair of cornerbacks, Kent McCloughan and Willie Brown, do a good job on covering the wide receivers.

Mike Escheid's punts averaged 44.3 yards as compared to Anderson's 36.6-yard average for the Packers. However, Anderson kicks a high ball, making runbacks difficult.

Johnny Pott Builds Three-Stroke Lead

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Steady Johnny Pott fired his third straight sub-par round with a 71 at Pebble Beach Saturday to boost his lead to three strokes at the end of the third round in the $104,500 Bing Crosby golf tournament with a 54-hole total of 212.

Australian Bruce Devlin and

two-time Crosby winner Billy Casper each lost big opportunities, went over par to 73 and deadlocked for second at 215.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus fired a two-under-par 70 at Pebble for 216 and a tie with Bobby Nichols.

Beautiful weather on the Monterey Peninsula proved a boon to Pott and brought misfortune to Casper who gambled and lost on the over-the-ocean 18th at Cypress Point. He hit his tee shot into the Pacific Ocean and was stuck with a double bogey five.

On the next hole, Billy missed an 18-inch putt for a bogey as those two holes cost him a chance to deadlock Pott.

Devlin took his double bogey on the next to last hole at Spyglass Hill and dropped into the tie with Casper.

"The Pebble Beach course was magnificent," commented Pott. "I've never played it before when the wind didn't blow."

The 32-year-old former Louisiana State University star from Broadwater Beach, Miss., added his 71 to a 70 he shot at Cypress Point and a 71 at Spyglass. All three courses play to a par 72. Going into Sunday's final round at Pebble Beach, he stands four under regulation figures in quest of the $16,000 top prize.

Nichols shot a 70 at Cypress Point. Former amateur champion Deane Beman and Frank Wharton were at 217. Beman played Pebble Beach and carded a 72 despite bogeys on the final two holes.

Wharton had a 74 at Spyglass where Arnold Palmer soared to a 77 and 223 total.

Mike Fetchick who, along with Devlin and Casper, stood only one stroke behind Pott at the midway point, slipped to an 80 at Spyglass Hill.

Following the third round, the field was cut to the low 70 pros and 40 pro-amateur teams. In the latter division, Ron Cerrudo, a young pro from San Rafael, Calif., and former U.S. Amateur champion Harvie Ward moved into the lead with a best ball 63-190. The pro-am victory will be worth $2,700 to the professional.

In the Howard County-West Texas State University games, the hosts won both.

Gators Upset Kentuckians

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Big Neal Walk, maintaining his mastery of the basket, scored 28 points Saturday and led Florida's Gators to a 96-78 upset victory over fourth-ranked Kentucky.

Walk, averaging 26.9 points per game going into the contest, pumped in 19 points in the first half as the Gators took the lead and held it without trouble.

Kentucky, now 9-2 for the season and 3-1 in the Southeastern Conference, had lost only to third-ranked North Carolina before the defeat by the Gators.

Walk, a 6-foot-11 center, hit on 12 of 18 attempts from the floor and made good on four shots from the foul line.

Kentucky's, scoring effort, slowed by a 44 per cent average from the floor, was led by sophomore Mike Casey, with 21 points.

Kentucky took the lead at the opening tipoff but lost it two minutes later on a tip-in by Walk and a 12-foot jumper by Andy Owens as Florida went ahead for the first time. The Gators were never headed after that.

Florida held a small advantage through most of the first half, and went into intermission with a 43-33 lead. But Walk and Owens began hitting again soon after the second half began, and the lead started growing.

UCLA, Without Alcindor, Defeats Tribe, 75-63

The Bruins led the Indians by 46-22 at halftime with center Mike Lynn, Alcindor's substitute, tossing in 11 points and grabbing nine rebounds. He finished with 17 points.

Lucius Allen accounted for nine points in the first 14 minutes of play. However, UCLA Coach John Wooden removed him from the game after he had knocked down Stanford guard Gary Petersmeyer.

The angry Allen did not play for the next 15 minutes and came back only when Stanford began to narrow the gap in the second half.

Longhorns Vanquish Midland, 69 To 55

By TOMMY HART
Slow to warm to the challenge, Big Spring finished with a rush to topple Midland High, 69-55, here Friday night and remain very much in contention for the first half championship in District 2-AAAA.

The win was the third in four league assignments for Kirby Pugh's boys and left them one game off Odessa Permian's pace, with three games still to play in first round competition. Midland is 0-4.

The large throng thrilled to Midland's heroics early in the contest. Midland led by seven points at the end of the opening period. Big Spring simply wasn't ready to play.

The Longhorns, getting fine performances out of Snake Tucker, Seminal Johnson, Dean Gilstrap and Jerry McGuire, closed the gap in Round Two, however, and took command after the intermission.

When Goose Johnson popped in a two-pointer from the side just after the third period opened, Big Spring went ahead to stay. Johnson's goal gave the resident quintet a 30-29 edge at the time.

Big Spring outscored the visitors, 19-8, in the third round and at one stage in the fourth led by as much as 20 points, at 69-49.

Big Spring couldn't do much about the outside shooting of Midland's Robert Jackson, who settled for 21 points, but did a good job of containing the other Midland threats.

Tucker didn't start for Big Spring because of the lingering effects of the flu but he wound up as the Steers' leading scorer with 16 points and fought the boards well.

Danny Clendenin and Goose Johnson were off target shooting from outside but the Steers would have been lost without them. When Big Spring had to have the oomph late in the game Clendenin supplied it.

Pugh's boys hit 11 of 36 shots from the field the first half for an unimpressive 30 per cent but connected 17 times in 37 attempts for 45 per cent the final two quarters. Over-all, they were 28 of 73 for 37 per cent.

At the free throw line, they made good 13 times in 19 efforts.

Midland, on the other hand, hit 24 of 61 for the game from the field and seven of 12 from the gratis line.

Tucker was the Steers' leading rebounder with 11 while McGuire captured nine and Gilstrap eight. Gilstrap never scores much but he goes where the ball is and is great at blocking the opposition's route to pay dirt.

Coach Pugh started Seminal Johnson and the strategy paid dividends. Seminal scorched the net on four occasions for field goals at times Big Spring desperately needed help.

The Steers now have an over-all record of 14-7. They visit Abilene Tuesday for a crucial game with the Abilene High Eagles, defending champions in the race. They catch San Angelo here next Friday.

Midland's JV team took an early lead and led all the way in posting a 60-45 victory over the Big Spring JV's in the opener. Tommy Butler had 13 points for Big Spring in that one while Charles Campbell led Midland with 15.

Danny Clendenin (13) of Big Spring takes off in space to bag a two-pointer in Friday night's exciting 2-AAAA game with Midland here. No. 34 is Charles Jackson of Midland while the Steers' Snake Tucker is at the far right. Big Spring won, 69-55.

MAMMOTH UNDERTAKING Club Starts Promotion Work For Region Meet

The promotion and direction of the annual Region V Junior College Basketball tournament, scheduled here Feb. 29-March 1-2, will rest almost exclusively with the sponsoring organization, the American Business Club.

For that reason, the local service organization is making its plans a long time in advance under the direction of club proxy Bill Reed and tournament coordinator Harold Davis.

The ABC's Friday luncheon at the Settles hotel was dedicated exclusively to the upcoming tournament, which is being held in Big Spring for the first time.

A committee to sell advertising space in the tournament program, from where much of the tournament income will come, has already started work but teams will go into the field for one week starting next Friday in hopes of completing the job.

It is estimated the club will spend $3,000 to promote the three-day event. The ABC has three ways to erase the deficit, Davis told club members Friday.

Besides the income the organization expects to derive from the sale of program advertising space, the club will benefit from the sale of game tickets and concessions, Davis said.

Davis traced the history of the Region V tournament from the time it was first held in Amarillo shortly after World War II, pointing out that originally teams from Oklahoma and

New Mexico were eligible for the eight-team meet, along with clubs from half of Texas.

Oklahoma has since been granted a regional meet of its own and no longer sends teams to the Region V tournament, a development that helped Big Spring finally win the right to host the show.

Bob Rogers heads up the committee which will direct the sale of program ads.

Signature ads for the program will sell for a mere $5, Rogers told club members, which means the club can insure itself of a profit by selling at least 200 of them.

Hosts for each of the visiting teams will be appointed within the ABC. It will be those men's job to cater to the needs of each of the visiting teams during the meet.

The Regional meet, which will be held in the high school gymnasium, annually attracts some of the nation's finest junior college teams. HCJC automatically earns a berth, since it will represent the host city. Ranger College won last year's tournament and is certain to field another strong contingent this year, if invited.

Winner of the meet here qualifies for the National Juco tournament scheduled in Hutchinson, Kan., later in March.

The success of the tournament here will determine whether Big Spring is granted the meet again in 1969, Davis said.

Durham and Reddish said they were trying to arrange a fight for Harris in Philadelphia next month.

Local Golfers First In Meet

Big Spring High School's golf team, coached by Wilbur Cunningham, scored an 11-stroke victory in a six-school match played in good weather Saturday at the Big Spring Country Club.

In all, about 45 boys took part in the 18 holes of competition. The Steers, who earlier had beaten and split dual matches with Midland Lee, go to San Angelo next Saturday for another meet.

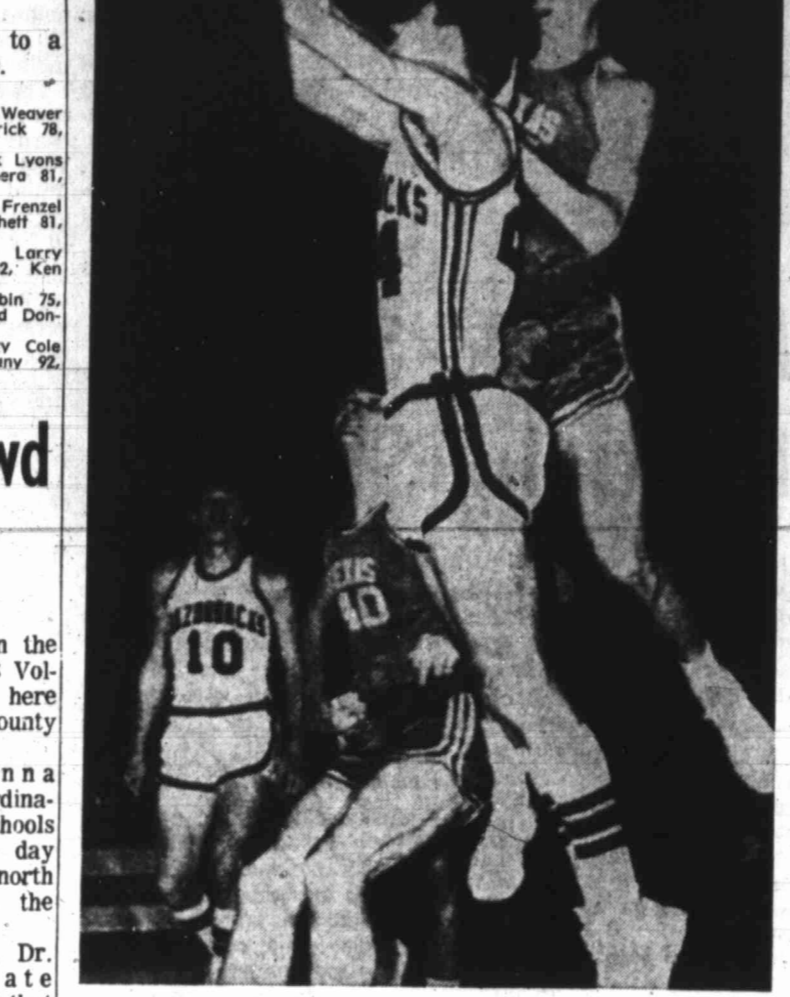

Mike Weaver of Big Spring posted a low medal score Saturday with a two-over par 73. The Steers had a four-man score of 306, compared to the 317 registered by runner-up Midland High.

Third was Midland Lee, with a 320, followed by Abilene Cooper, 321; Snyder, 352; and Abilene High, 361.

Tom Stuerzenberger of Abilene Cooper, playing apart from the Cougar team, had the second best medal score, a 74.

In previous meets with Lee, Big Spring had different medals each time. Hall put together a 69 at Hogan Park in Midland as the two teams tied, using 308-strokes each. In a match played here,

Ex-HCJC Star Goes High

Record Crowd Is On Hand

The largest gathering in the history of the Region VI-B Volleyball Clinic showed up here Saturday at Howard County Junior College.

According to Miss Anna Smith, director and coordinator, 350 girls from 34 schools participated in the one-day event. Schools from as far north as Perryton appeared at the conclave.

At its inception in 1964, Dr. Rhea Williams, Texas State Athletic Director, requested that the clinic be held at the HCJC campus each year.

Now in its fourth year, the UIL-sponsored clinic attracted many more participants than expected. Miss Smith stated that she was extremely pleased with the huge turnout.

Previously, the clinic had been held in conjunction with the basketball coaches and officials get-together. However, with the two sports clinics now separated, interest seems to have increased substantially in the volleyball "skull" sessions.

Miss Wanda Armstrong, player-coach-official of Phillips High School of Phillips, acted as consultant, along with Miss Smith. The other consultant, Miss Janice Hudson of Smiley High of Houston was unable to attend.

Part of Saturday's events was demonstration games between the two local junior high schools—Russell and Goliad—in which the officials stopped during the game to explain the particular rules violations. Also, coaching and officiating tips were given throughout the games.

All major rule changes for the current year were explained and demonstrated as part of the day's program.

The program saw as its finale a demonstration game between HCJC girls and West Texas State University of Canyon.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas broke a tie with Texas about five minutes deep in the second half and knocked the Longhorns out of a share of the Southwest Conference lead with an 85-80 victory here Saturday afternoon.

Texas dropped to 3-1 in the SWC. Arkansas evened its record at 2-2.

Gary Overbeck, a 6-foot-6 Longhorn senior, injured his ankle midway through the first half. Arkansas managed a 42-39 halftime lead. Texas came back to tie it 52-52 before sophomore James Eldridge, who finished with 25 points, hit a driving lay-up with about 15 minutes to go.

Don't be surprised if Vince Lombardi quits as coach of the Green Bay Packers after today's Super Bowl game in Miami and is succeeded by Phil Bengtson.

In a losing effort against Odessa Permian the other night, the Big Spring Steers had a 54 per cent shooting average from the floor (29 of 54) and a 64 per cent average at the penalty line (9 of 14) but could manage only 26 rebounds.

In addition, the locals had 11 turnovers in the contest.

Still, the Longhorns probably would have won had the officiating been a little closer.

Permian had better win the first half crown in District 2-AAAA—it plays most of its tough ones on the road during the last half.

The day after he and his Abilene Cooper team-mates were mauled by Big Spring in 2-AAAA basketball play in Abilene, ace athlete Jack Mildren was being shown around the University of Texas campus.

Frank Ditta, one of two Texans on Parade Magazine's All-America Scholastic football team, is bound for the University of Houston.

He was signed by Melvin Robertson, the former Stanton coach.

Ditta's father attended Houston. After the first half of the recent Orange Bowl game had been played, an Oklahoma backer remarked that the Vols looked "like Kansas State in Orange."

Tony Mason, who comes here this week to deliver the principal address at the Quarterback Club's football banquet, fielded unbeaten football teams in seven of his ten years as a high school grid mentor.

After shotpunter Bill Nieder tried it as a professional boxer a few years ago, he explained his smashing flop thusly: "When you throw that little iron ball, it doesn't throw anything back at you."

Personable Gene Stallings, the Texas A&M football coach, must have breathed a sigh of relief after the Cotton Bowl game. After he was hired three years ago, Stallings in three years or I'll quit."

Stallings also told Edd Hargett, a boy he was trying to sign: "Son, you'll play on a conference championship team in three years and win the Cotton Bowl for us."

Coach Red Myers' idea of equipping his Amarillo College basketball team with camp stools and leading his athletes out on the court under his school's basket for instructions during timeouts was lifted from an idea Broome Tech tried at a National Junior College tournament.

When retired Coach Gus Miller first saw the plot unfold, he remarked: "How simple it would be to beat them. Just steal their stools."

When Roger Craig was trying out with the Los Angeles Dodgers a few years ago, he was interviewed in Arizona. "I can't pitch out here," he lamented. "My spitter dries out half way to the plate."

Dubby Malaise, the new basketball coach at South Plains College, says he never realized there was so much to learn after his teams had absorbed several beatings.

Dubby recalled that a few years ago, when he was attending high school at Odessa, the Bronchos used to beat Odessa College regularly in scrimmages. Those days apparently are gone forever.

Right now, there are several junior college teams around who could beat the Southwest Conference powers regularly and some, no doubt, will be seen in the Region V tournament starting here the last day in February.

Incidentally, parts of the Region V tournament will be run in conflict with the Region VI-B tournament.

Wouldn't it be wise to start the VI-B championship game at 7 p.m., rather than 8 p.m., in order that some fans could move over to the high school gymnasium for the 9 p.m. junior college title test?

Pete Cook of Big Spring, for the first time, will be one of the officials in the junior college tournament here.

Much was said of the drawing ability of Leo Durocher and the Chicago Cubs the past season but the Chicago White Sox of the rival American League did more business at home, luring a gross gate of $2,386,143—about $14,000 more than in 1966. More than 100 television stations likely will air the UCLA-University of Houston basketball game from Houston later this month.

Look for the Green Bay Packers to use Texan Donny Anderson less and less as a ball carrier and more and more as a pass receiver in future seasons.

RED MYERS

Ex-Champ Is Now Stable Manager

BALTIMORE (AP) — The "world's worst amateur fighter," who defied the odds and won the bantamweight and featherweight titles, now calls himself an innkeeper for horses.

"And my guests never complain," said Harry Jeffra, who retired from the ring in 1946 after losing only six of 160 fights. Two of the setbacks came in title bouts.

Jeffra's official title is stable manager at Pimlico Race Course, now in the midst of a 35-day winter meeting, which ends Feb. 10.

"THEY DON'T COMPLAIN" "Oh, occasionally some trainer complains over this or that," said the soft-speaking Jeffra, who moves over the Pimlico acreage with the same speed he exhibited in the ring.

"But the horses, never. They seem to relish the brisk winds that have swept across the barn area."

The statement about being the world's worst amateur fighter is Jeffra's own.

"Would you believe it? I had 28 fights as an amateur and lost 27 in a row?" asked Jeffra, still looking fit and trim at age 54. He weighs 145 pounds.

"But I was determined to be a fighter and put myself in the hands of Max Waxman, who managed a number of top fighters, including Jack Dempsey. "I got $12.50 for my first professional fight. On Sept. 23, 1937, when I beat Sixto Escobar for the world bantamweight crown in the Tournament of Champions at New York's Polo Grounds I was paid $12,500."

He lost to Escobar in a bantam title scrap in 1939 but whipped Joey Archibald on May 20, 1940, for the featherweight championship in Baltimore's Coliseum.

"I would have fought him for nothing," said Jeffra as he talked of how good boxing had been to him. He was beaten by Chalky Wright for the feather crown in 1942.

"I am indebted to the game," said Jeffra. "I never can repay it. I have raised four children (two boys and two girls). Three went to college and the fourth, 16-year-old Debby, will.

"NO BENEFITS" "They never will have to hold a benefit for Harry Jeffra. I wasn't the best fighter in my day, but I was the best conditioned. You know, I broke my right hand after 15 fights and I turned boxer. I never was too concerned about knocking a man out. I just wanted to beat him.

"Still as much as I loved the game and still do, I never urged either of my boys to take it up. I started fighting at 15 and never had much teenage life. It was hard work to reach the top and stay there."

Harry Jeffra wasn't always known by that name. He was born Ignatius Guffie but in the fourth grade of school it was changed.

"The principal couldn't pronounce my first name. I've even forgotten how to spell it. The last name also was tough for her so she said: 'From now on you're Harry Jeffra.'"

Before joining the Pimlico staff eight years ago, Jeffra coached boxing at Western Maryland College for two years and then learned his way around race tracks as agent for jockey Sam Palumbo, then known as king of the half-mile track riders.

"Would he like to get back into boxing?"

"Yes," Harry replied. "I would like to be a manager if nothing more than to show my appreciation for the sport."

The Volkswagen for people who refuse to drive Volkswagens.

If shifting drives you to distraction, you should know that Volkswagen now has an optional attraction: the automatic stick shift. Like most automatics, it has a Reverse, a Low, a Drive and no clutch. But unlike most automatics, it has a stick shift and an extra gear for saving gas. Visit us and take one of these new stick shifts for a test drive. We think you'll take to it. Automatically.

Campus Revue Set Feb. 6

Campus Revue, a fast-moving variety extravaganza, will be produced Feb. 6 at 8 p.m. by the Big Spring High School Band in what it hopes will become an annual entertainment highlight in the community. This is no ordinary show, but one tailored along professional lines with a lot of cash, time and effort pumped into it. Special scenery, costumes, lighting, promotion and auxiliary activities call for a budget on the order of two thousand dollars. "Nothing," explained Gene Campbell, one of the Band Booster leaders, "is being spared to make this a polished, highly entertaining event." The revue includes with it— for those who so desire—dinner as part of the ticket package, along with parking space.

Among the many acts, which will be presented in a crisp continuity, are the Capulettes (girls' trio), Cemetery Symphonette, the Guches, German band, "The Wonderful Land of Oz," a girls' chorus line and (believe it or not) a boy's chorus line—the Hippodromes. There will be a Vincent You-man fantasy, the Four Aida trumpets, a solo typewriter, cornet trip, cornet solo, vocal soloists, clarinet ensemble, the Tijuana Brass, the Golden Horns (stage band), and of course, the Steer band. Tickets range from $7.50 (including a Mexican dinner, reserved parking, a program, free refreshments during intermission, and the best seats in the house; to $5 (same except for parking and program); to reserved $3 and $1.50 general admission ducats.

A. E. (SHORTY) LONG
A. E. Long Enters Race In Precinct 1

A. E. (Shorty) Long has announced that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the office of county commissioner of Precinct 1 in the primary May 4.

A long-time resident of Big Spring and Howard County, Long said that he believed his familiarity with the resources and potentials would help in development of the county.

"We have a rich and fast-growing county," he said, "and there are many things that could be done that would benefit all our people. I believe in progress and I believe in economical, honest government, and I believe in seeking the people's views on things which concern them."

He also pointed out that a decade spent as juvenile officer afforded an opportunity to learn about the various offices in the courthouse and their functions. For the benefit of those who may not have lived in the county for many years, Long had this background statement:

"Most of my life has been lived in Howard County. I came here as a small child with my parents and received my first schooling in the old Central Ward School (where the post office now stands). I have lived in both the town and in the county and understand the problems of both. My father, E. A. Long, was the city's first chief of police.

"I spent 28 years as a machinist and inspector for the Texas & Pacific Railway Company. After leaving the railroad, I was appointed county juvenile officer, a post I held for 10 years.

"I worked for the Big Spring State Hospital for a year and for the past four years have been associated with the Fashion Cleaners. I own my own home at 511-Aylford and am a Baptist. My wife and I have two sons, Frank and Eddie, both of whom are married.

EDWARD G. ROBINSON
Revival Has Unique Touch

Baptist Temple will have at least two unique experiences in a revival meeting beginning Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

The evangelist, a man with a familiar name—Edward G. Robinson—is from out-of-state, and the meeting for the first time will begin in the middle of a week rather than on Sunday. One reason for this is that the pastor, Rev. James Puckett, as well as the evangelist, will be attending the annual evangelistic conference of Texas Baptists in Dallas Monday through Tuesday.

The Rev. Robinson is a tall, red-headed former business executive with the Lebanon Woolen Mills at Lebanon, Tenn., where he was reared. He gave up his business career to heed the call to the ministry. A graduate of North Carolina State, he also graduated from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, then held a pastorate in Louisville, Ky., for three years.

There is yet another unusual twist in that he also leads the congregational singing. Rev. Bill Myers, music education director, will direct the choir.

Mrs. Robinson will accompany her husband here and will meet each day at 10 a.m. with women of the Baptist Temple congregation for soul winning training and visitation. The nursery will be open during the mornings as well as each evening. The revival will continue through Sunday, Jan. 28, said the Rev. Puckett, and he invited everyone to attend.

R GET YOUR INFORMATION FROM YOUR PHYSICIAN

Too little knowledge has always been a danger and there are too many people with insufficient knowledge, who are quick to offer advice about what to do for almost any sickness. Often well meaning friends will offer you drugs. Doctors have prescribed for them, because their symptoms resemble your problem. In days long past, no harm usually was done. We had few positive action drugs.

Medicines now are usually much more powerful. They no longer, as a rule, are the old type of many ingredient combinations, given with the hope that one of the different drugs will help. Please do not offer your friends any medicine you take yourself unless their doctor approves. It is possible to harm instead of help.

"YOUNG HOMEMAKERS OF TEXAS"

By JO BRIGHT

The 1968 state convention of the Young Homemakers of Texas came to a climax Saturday evening at the Commodore Perry Hotel in Austin with six area women in attendance at the closing sessions.

The Young Homemakers is an educational organization of young women who are interested in improving their knowledge and skills related to homemaking, and it is sponsored by the Division of Homemaking Education, Texas Education Agency.

The Young Homemakers of Coahoma is the only such group now organized in Howard County. It is guided by Mrs. Ivah Lou Ashley, Area Two Consultant, who attended the convention with two club officers, Mrs. Billy Spears, president; and Mrs. Randall Reid, vice president, who were voting delegates. Other club members attending were Mrs. Johnny Justiss and Mrs. H. L. Harrington, and they were accompanied by Miss Alice Denning, a senior at Coahoma High School, who had won the club's area title of "Little Sister."

The over-all goal of Young Homemakers of Texas is to provide creative opportunities for young women in maintaining effective personal, family and community life. Members learn new skills and gain information contributing to home, family and community living. Classes and group meetings emphasize such topics as home beautification, furniture refinishing, child care and guidance, home care of the sick, consumer buying, management of family finances, planning nutritious meals, self-improvement and citizenship responsibilities.

Active membership is open to women not enrolled in high school and who are not over 35 years of age. Eligible members may be single or married and they may be homemakers in small or metropolitan communities, or living on farms or ranches. The members may also be employed in wage-earning occupations. Women over 35 years of age may become associate members upon payment of dues, with the rights and privileges of active members, except that of holding office and voting.

The state association is composed of chapters in ten areas and the groups have representatives on area and state committees. Each chapter develops a program of work, including projects, which helps achieve the purposes of the Association. Local plans are based on a state program developed from suggestions submitted by local members and adopted at state conventions.

State and area recognition awards are given to outstanding chapters, outstanding new chapters, and to the Future Homemakers of America recommended by local Young Homemaker chapters as outstanding in their work in the home, school and community. Winners are honored at the conventions.

Information on how to organize chapters, affiliate with Young Homemakers of Texas and participate in the awards program may be obtained from homemaker teachers in the high schools, area consultants in Homemaking Education or by writing the State Advisor, Division of Homemaking Education, Texas Education Agency, Austin, Texas 78711.

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE a newspaper for gaining information contributing to home and family living and community membership. Young Homemaker members, Mrs. Rodney Brooks and Mrs.

Bobby Howell, check The Herald for consumer buying tips, food specials, clothing reductions and many items that help them better manage their family finances.

CHILD CARE AND GUIDANCE is one of the areas in which Young Homemakers receive help from printed literature or qualified persons who may be asked to speak at their meetings. Here, Alisa

Kay Scott gets the giggles over a funny doll shown by her mother, Mrs. Kenneth Scott, while Mrs. Randall Reid reads a story to her daughter, Debbie.

A MAN'S HEART IS very near his stomach, and with this in mind, Mrs. Billy Spears and Mrs. Clarence Hayes, members of the Young Homemakers of Coahoma, get ready to test recipes recommended by Mrs. Johnny Justiss, left, home economics teacher at Coahoma High School, who serves as the club advisor.

PROVIDING CREATIVE opportunities in the home for young wives and mothers is one of the over-all goals of Young Homemakers of Texas. Two of the Coahoma club members who find such an outlet in sewing articles for their families and homes are Mrs. A. R. Darden and Mrs. H. L. Harrington.

Miss Wade Marries Lt. Dayton G. Dickey

Miss Mary Wade became the bride of 2nd Lt. Dayton G. Dickey in a ceremony held Saturday evening in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church.

The Rev. Francis Beazley read the double ring wedding rites before an altar graced with four vases holding arrangements of white gladioli. Family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Mrs. Leslie Green, organist, accompanied Mrs. Milton Talbot who sang "Blessed Be This Day" and "Ave Maria."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Wade, 1807 Winston, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dayton E. Dickey, Glendora, Calif. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal gown of imported peau de soie and Chantilly lace designed with a crescent waistline and an oval neck circled with seed pearls. A crown of rolled peau de soie roses and seed pearls held her veil of tulle and her cathedral-length train was made of Chantilly lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses showered with white picot ribbon.

Mrs. F. E. Clayton of Talpa, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Miss Sally Wade, sister of the bride, and Miss Gloria Thompson of Fort Worth served as bridesmaids. The attendants were identically attired in avocado green formal gowns designed with puffed sleeves, and they wore matching Dior bows. They carried white rose bouquets.

Donald W. Dickey of Glendora, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were John Thompson, Fort Worth, and F. E. Clayton of Talpa. Groomsmen were Douglas Dickey of Glendora, brother of the bridegroom, and Robert L. Wade, brother of the bride.

Carol Clayton of Talpa served as flower girl. She wore an avocado green formal gown of peau de soie designed with an Empire bodice, and a matching Dior bow was her headpiece. She carried a basket of white rose petals.

The refreshment table was laid with a white satin floor-length cloth fashioned with twin flounces and swagged in the center front with a satin bow. Chantilly lace formed the border on the tulle flounce. The table was centered with an arrangement of white carnations and mint green pompons and the three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with confection roses, white orchids and lily of the valley. A miniature bridal couple topped the cake, and crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Miss Deanne Dickey of Glendora, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the guest register. Others in the house party were Mrs. Michael Harvey, Miss Kay Statser, Miss Jane Womack, Mrs. Talbot and Mrs. Green. Out-of-town guests were William O. Coleman, Cincinnati, Ohio; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Dickey of Robert Lee.

The couple left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. For traveling, Mrs. Dickey chose a black sleeveless dress designed with ruffles to the hemline and a white organza bow at the neckline. She wore black patent accessories and a white wool coat. The couple will be at home in Big Spring.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School and attended Howard County Junior College. She is presently employed at Cowper Clinic and Hospital. The bridegroom received his BA degree in history from the University of Redlands, Redlands, Calif., and is presently stationed at Webb Air Force Base.

A reception was held in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club. Those in the receiving line were the bridal couple, parents, and feminine attendants.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

The thing that is as rare as a day in June this month is a nice, sunny day like Thursday just past. Friday was pretty and sunny but that touch of cold in the air made it a little too fresh for relaxing out of doors. However, when one reads of the many days of below zero weather in the northern and eastern states—freezing weather doesn't seem to be too cold... it's rather nice in our part of Texas.

MRS. WILLIAM KNIGHT had an interesting trip to Oklahoma City last week... the interest lay mainly in wondering if she and her mother, MRS. ROSE DUNN, would make it over the icy roads. They had to spend the first night in Wichita Falls but they were able to make it into Oklahoma the next day. When she had delivered her passenger, Mrs. Knight turned around and came back home, making it here by Wednesday night.

'Best-Dressed' List Released This Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Lynda Bird Robb is named on the "best-dressed" list for 1967, maintaining White House representation as her mother, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, was dropped from the annual roster.

Lynda was voted No. 9 on the list — just ahead of another newcomer, Mrs. Ronald Reagan; wife of the California governor — in the balloting by some 2,000 persons connected with the fashion industry.

First place went to Mrs. Wyatt Cooper, the former Gloria Vanderbilt, who took over the spot held by Princess Lee Radziwill, Mrs. John F. Kennedy's sister, in the 1966 list.

Mrs. Kennedy was "promoted" to the Fashion Hall of Fame in 1965 and has not appeared on the list since. Neither has Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower since she left the White House.

The list, which has no official standing, is drawn up by publicist Eleanor Lambert. The announcement said Mrs. Robb "replaced" her mother who was first named on the list in 1967.

With Mrs. Cooper in first place, the list follows:
2 Mrs. Carter A. Burden, New York socialite.
3 Mrs. Charlotte Ford Natchez of the automobile family.

4 Mrs. Harlan Theodoropoulos, wife of a Greek shipping magnate.
5 Mrs. Angier Biddle Duke, wife of the American ambassador to Spain.
6 Princess Radziwill.
7 Lauren Bacall, the actress.
8 Mrs. Henry Ford II, second wife of the auto heir.

9 Mrs. Charles Spittal Robb (Lynda Bird Johnson).
10 Mrs. Ronald Reagan.
11 The Hon. Mrs. Angus Ogilvy (Princess Alexandra of Kent).
12 Faye Dunaway, actress.

MRS. ELMER S. SEITZLER

Mrs. Elmer W. Seitzler (Juanita) began her civil service career in the zone chief's office of the General Accounting Office in Dallas in 1944 and was promoted to the chief's secretary soon afterward. In 1952, when her husband was transferred to Clark Air Force Base in Manila, P.I., she and their young son accompanied him. Since full-time maid service was available at a very reasonable cost, and secretarial help overseas was at a premium, she worked for the Airways and Air Communications Service as secretary to the Operations Officer.

Their daughter was born soon after their return to the States; and for the next six years, she enjoyed the role of housewife and mother. During this time, she did volunteer work for the Red Cross at the Bloodmobile in Waco and was a Cub Scout den mother for three years. When Patti started to school after their transfer to Webb Air Force Base, Mrs. Seitzler found time on her hands and returned to work in civil service.

Mrs. Seitzler is the daughter of Mrs. Dale Crandall of Seagoville. She was born in Breckenridge but spent most of her early years in Dallas, where she attended Crozier Technical High School and Rutherford's Business College. Since coming to Big Spring, she has taken some night courses at Howard County Junior College and plans to continue this next year. She met her husband while he was stationed at Love Field Army Air Field, and they were married in Dallas on May 6, 1945. Their children are John Michael, a sophomore student at Texas Tech, and Patricia Jeannine (Patti), an eighth-grader at Goliad.

The family belongs to the First Baptist Church where Mrs. Seitzler teaches a class in the Intermediate department.

Her present secretarial position to the director of the VA Hospital is a challenging and interesting one. She has been in this position since January, 1965. Before that, she was secretary to the chief of staff. She likes to save as much time as possible for family activities at home and feels that her full-time job, plus church activities, leaves too little time for participation in other organizations. However, Mrs. Seitzler is a magician with minutes, for in her "extra-curricular" time, she has given constant assistance to her boss and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Van Meter, with their volunteer work with the Boy Scouts, Concert Association, Cancer Society and Heart Association. Whatever could be done to help — with a telephone or typewriter — Mrs. Seitzler has accomplished.

Mrs. Cantrell was presented the special prize. Plans were announced for members having birthdays to contribute that number of pennies to the treasury.

The next meeting will be Jan. 26 with Mrs. Cantrell as hostess.

TOPS Given Diet Advice
Mrs. Mary L. Blackburn, head of the dietitian's clinic at the Veterans Administration Hospital, was guest speaker at the Thursday evening meeting of the TOPS Plate Pushers. The group met in the First Federal Community Room.

Mrs. Blackburn spoke on "nutrition" and emphasized the need for more trained dietitians. She told the group that a dietitian must have a degree in Home Economics and spend a year interning in a hospital. She pointed out that over three million dollars annually is spent on vitamins in America, and that with nutritious meals all vitamin requirements could be met. She pointed out that four servings per day of bread and cereal, two cups of milk or milk products, four servings of vegetables and fruits and two servings of meat would furnish an adequate vitamin supply.

The next meeting will be in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Trustees Decide To Pay For Computers

Trustees of Howard County Junior College moved Friday to complete ownership of an electronic computer complex.

Dr. W. A. Hunt estimated that this would require about $18,000 but that it likely would not have to be paid until the latter quarter of the fiscal year. Recently HCJC purchased an interest in two computers, but it had a considerable volume of other items on lease. The board voted in favor of outright ownership as soon as it is practical.

An increase in insurance coverage to include the computer equipment was authorized.

Resignation of Verdell J. Turner, who holds his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Texas Tech, as a member of the math department was accepted with regret, as was that of Mrs. Mary McClendon, vocational nurse instructor. Turner indicated he is planning on a private business connection. He has been a member of the faculty since the fall semester of 1962.

Turkish Officers Pleased With Friendly West Texans

Two captains of the Turkish Air Force are currently receiving training and practical experience in Webb's ground safety branch. They are Capt. Ayhan Sohta and Capt. Mustafa Turker.

Both jet pilots, the two officers will serve as ground safety officers at their respective bases as additional duties when they return to their native land.

Sponsored locally by W. W. Brown, ground safety officer, and Sgt. Don Morgan, the officers are here under the auspices of the foreign training program, headed locally by 2nd Lt. Charles Hundley.

Capt. Sohta and Turker came to Webb Dec. 27. They arrived in the United States from Turkey Oct. 18 and completed the ground safety officers' course at Lowry AFB, Colo.

Both had become sufficiently proficient in English prior to their arrival to enable them to bypass the language school at Lackland AFB. It is in their study of the language, which they both speak extremely well, that their careers begin to differ.

CAPTAIN SOHTA
Capt. Sohta entered the Turkish Air Force in 1954. Following his completion of the Turkish Air War College in 1956, he went to Canada for language school and flying training. The captain received training in the Chipmunk, T-6 Texan and T-33 T-Bird aircraft.

Upon his return to Turkey he flew F-84G Thunderstreaks. In recent years, he has flown F-100

Supersabres, the aircraft he will pilot when he returns to duty at Malatya, Turkey.

Capt. Sohta has more than 2,000 flying hours, some 1,800 of them in jets. Married eight years, the captain and his wife have one daughter and one son.

CAPTAIN TURKER
Capt. Turker entered the Turkish Air Force in 1955. He graduated from the Turkish Air War College in 1957, and completed his flying training in Turkey, flying T-6 and T-33 aircraft.

Following his pilot training, Capt. Turker flew F-84G and F-84F aircraft. In 1963, he started flying F-100s. He will continue to fly the F-100 when he returns to Eskisehir, Turkey.

Capt. Turker completed language school for English in Turkey just before his temporary assignment to the United States. The veteran of 12 years service has approximately 2,000 flying hours—1,800 of them in jet aircraft. Capt. Turker and his wife have a two-year-old daughter.

IMPRESSIONS
The two captains were only slightly acquainted before their joint stateside assignment, having met at the Air War College. Both expressed favorable impressions of this country, finding it "big, with nice, friendly people—especially at Webb."

Each of them had special praise for their reception and treatment at the base. "Mr. Brown and Sgt. Morgan have been kind and helpful in giving us useful information about visit Houston during their stay. Neither has developed a strong taste for American food, and both look forward to returning to their families. American coffee drew particular comment. "In Turkey, coffee is served in smaller cups, and is much stronger," they noted.

Because they are unfamiliar with the game, the captains are not too fond of football, naming soccer and wrestling as favorite sports in Turkey. They have brought a supply of brochures detailing the charms of their native land and hope to encourage American visitors there.

Capt. Sohta and Turker visited College Heights Elementary School Thursday to speak to two sixth grade geography classes about Turkey. A tour of the high school and a visit to the Headstart program are also planned.

The two officers return to duty with their own Air Force about Feb. 6.

A Devotional For The Day

The heavens are telling the glory of God; and the firmament proclaims his handiwork. (Psalm 19:1, RSV)
PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the multitude of Thy blessings. Teach us to see Thy presence in the works of nature, for they are the evident expression of Thy goodness and Thy love. Give us a consciousness and appreciation of the spiritual meaning of Thy work of creation and help us to be worthy of it. In Christ's name. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

Right Attitude Is Good Start

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce had its annual banquet Saturday evening, an occasion which is useful in recounting the activities of the past year and underlining plans and opportunities for the ensuing year.
For the first time in many seasons, the speaker — John Ben Shepperd — got down to the practicalities of chamber work and the hard job of building a more useful community. It couldn't have come at a better time, for what we need is a revival of spirit in tackling the tasks that lie ahead.
Apparently, this is one of the prime objectives of the Chamber and its leadership for this year. A first order of business is that of a positive attitude. Now we are well aware that you can't conjure up progress, and particularly sustained progress, on empty optimism. There has to be substance, but there are enough assets and potentials in this area to furnish that substance, which, on the other hand, can be frittered away if an air of negativism prevails.

Similarly, enthusiasm is vital. Of course, you can't build on the strength of a pep rally alone. But neither can you get things done if leadership is weary and can see only the reasons why things can't be done.
So while these may not seem to be hard realities on which one can lay his hands, they are realities nevertheless. Out of them can come a resurgence. The end of the decade is not far away, and it's time we all got busy.

Jobs Well Done

It is all too easy to assume that governmental agencies rock along on an even, never-deviating keel.
But our agencies do rise to the occasion and frequently come up with fine performances. Let us cite two handy examples.
One has to do with law enforcement alertness and cooperation which resulted in the apprehension of two suspects. It had to do with picking up a man wanted at Temple in connection with the robbery of the Lott State Bank. This happened because of cooperation between officers in different cities, because of the alertness of patrolmen, the thinking of detectives, and the cooperation at different levels of law enforcement. Only last week an abductor suspect was picked up because of inter-city cooperation between departments, and because of prompt response of local officers.

Another instance is that of the city and county, as well as the state highway department, rousing crews in the middle of the night to put out gravel at key intersections, on steep slopes and over bridges during the recent icy spells. Big Spring would have been paralyzed a week ago had it not been for this prompt service. Besides, there would have been vastly more car mishaps, possibly more injuries and even worse.
For these jobs, and many others well done, the community owes a vote of thanks.

Marquis Childs McNamara Closes His Record

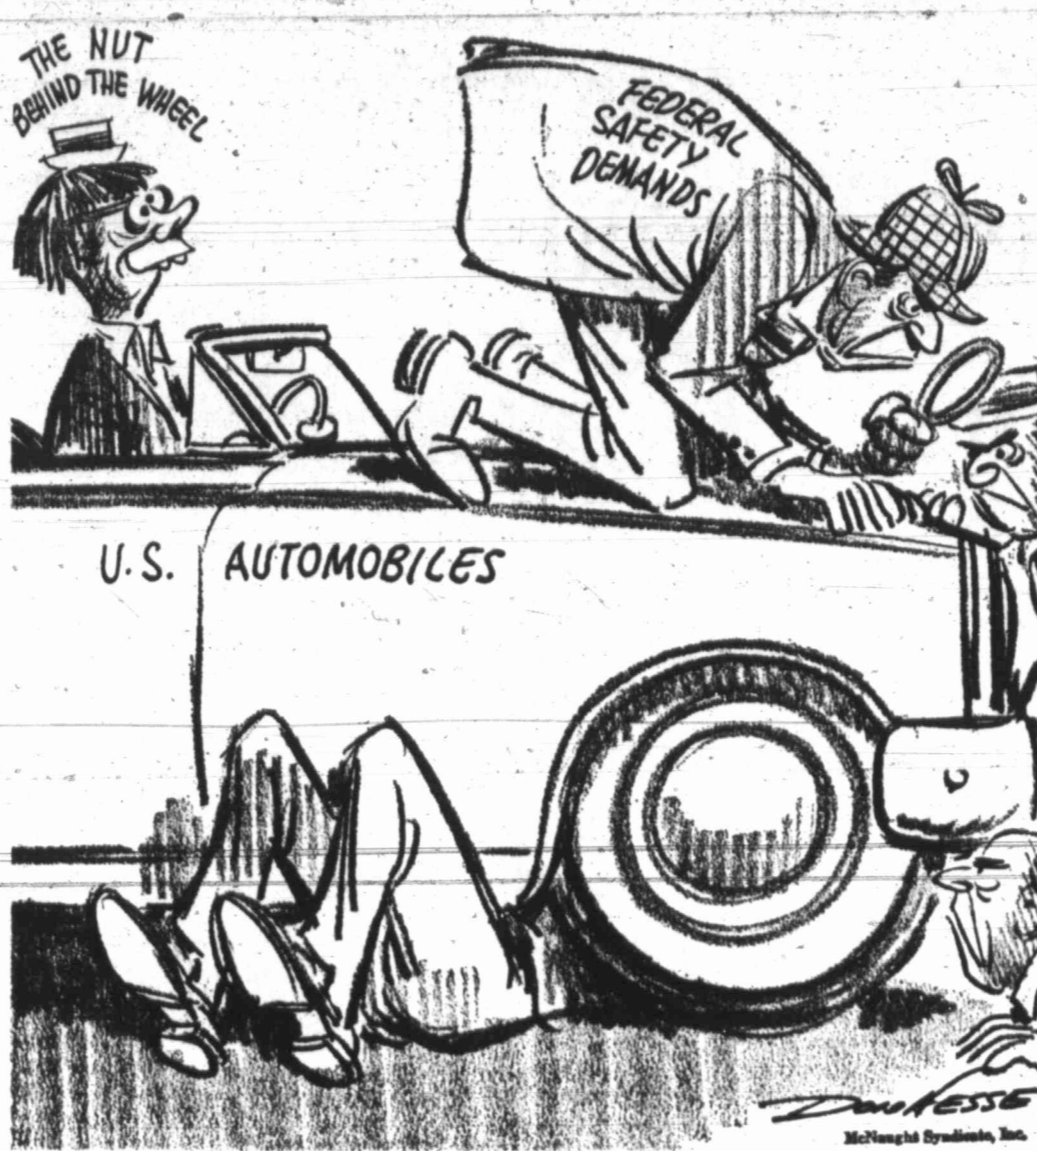

WASHINGTON — The desk is nearly clear, except for those orderly looking files with the top-secret stamp on the broad surface. Working with the same concentrated discipline that he has brought for seven years to his incredibly difficult task, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has completed the preliminary estimates for the defense budget for next year and is now turning out the posture statement to Congress covering the vast range of $70 billion-plus in defense spending.
WHEN HE WILL LEAVE the office that looks out across the Potomac to the Capitol on the distant horizon is not of his choosing. He is serving at the pleasure of the President who will decide when he goes. George D. Woods, whom McNamara is to succeed as head of the World Bank, has a convenient arrangement with his directors providing that he serve until the Secretary of Defense is released.
McNAMARA HAS MADE AN extraordinary record on his seven crowded years in the Pentagon, a record to be fully evaluated only in a longer perspective. But his impending departure comes at a moment of dramatic coincidence. Having resisted the bombing of the center of Hanoi and the port of Haiphong because of the grave risk of enlarging the war and having been overruled, the Secretary is leaving as the lesson of that warning is brought home. Moscow's charge that a Soviet ship was deliberately attacked in the harbor and that from here on out Soviet ships bound for North Vietnam will take measures to protect themselves cannot be lightly brushed off.
McNAMARA WILL SAY nothing about differences he has had over bombing targets in North Vietnam. He believes in the American form of Cabinet government that does not permit an appointed Cabinet officer to challenge the Executive in contrast to parliamentary practice.
The record is nevertheless written large in a document likely to stand for a long time as a benchmark in the conflict of civilian vs. military authority. That is the record of the hearing last Aug. 25 before the Senate Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee when McNamara was badgered for nearly six hours to compel him to agree with military commanders determined to enlarge the target list.
ADMIRAL U. S. GRANT SHARP, commander in the Pacific, had done an end run around civilian authority with his case that 2 per cent of recommended targets were still off limits. Even before Sharp's testimony the White House, anticipating the political pressures, had added a number of new targets.
But again and again, under the pounding of Senators echoing Sharp and other commanders, McNamara stated his case in unequivocal language. Short of destruction of population centers and the whole structure of North Vietnam, the flow of the small amount of material needed to sustain the war in the south could not be stopped no matter what the expansion of the target list. Of a list of 57 targets under debate the Secretary said that three, the ports of Haiphong, Hon Gai and Cam Pha, "carry with them very high risks of direct confrontation with the Soviet Union."
IF THAT IS indeed where we are today, five months after his testimony, the Secretary still holds that eventual agreement with the Soviet Union on arms limitation will come. This is a reflection of his temperance and, above all, his convictions that reason must prevail over the primitive passions motivating nation states since the beginning of civilization. The miracle, it may well be, is that he could endure for seven years in an arena where emotion overrides intellect more often than not.

Billy Graham

Quite often I hear you speak of pleasure in your sermons, and I get the impression that you believe that any kind of pleasure is a sin. Just what kind of pleasure do you allude to? Could you be more specific? I would really like to please God, but I can't believe that He doesn't want us to enjoy life.
E. F. I am sorry that my meaning was not clear to you, and I will try to make myself clear on the subject of pleasure. First may I say that there are two kinds of pleasure: the one is healthy and wholesome, and the other can damage and even ruin our relationship to God. Real Christians have lots of pleasure. David said, "In thy presence is fulness of joy; at that right hand there are pleasures forevermore." (Psa. 16:11). I would even go so far as to say that real Christians have more pleasure than anyone else. I have known people in every strata of life, and I know of no one in all the world who enjoys life as much as a follower of Jesus Christ. Why shouldn't it be that way? When life can be lived without a sense of guilt, without a bad conscience, and in peace, joy and satisfaction become natural and easy. I am an opponent of a pious religion which is morose and miserable. To me, this is just a caricature of Christianity.
You see, Satan counterfeits everything that God creates. He offers his own peculiar brand of pleasure. While it has its moments of hilarity, its purpose is to destroy, and to alienate from God — the Source of true pleasure. The Bible warns against this kind of pleasure. It says: "She that liveth in pleasure is dead while she liveth." (1 Tim. 5:6). Hence, Satan's false brand of pleasure blights and destroys, while God's pleasures are abiding and eternal. Seek all the pleasure you like, but make sure it is God's kind, and not Satan's.

ONE PART BEING OVERLOOKED

Jack Lefler Outlook For 1968 Is A Rosy One

By JACK LEFLER
An Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A bright picture of the 1968 economic outlook was painted this past week. It emerged from the Commerce Department's annual survey of 86 major industries. Almost all of these segments of the economy look for substantial business advances this year.

But, the Commerce Department said, all projections of gains were on the assumption that Congress will enact President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent tax surcharge. Nearly two-thirds of the industries surveyed expect gains of 5 per cent or more.

CAR BOOM

Biggest predicted advances were automobiles, 13 per cent, civilian aircraft 45 per cent, motels 15 per cent, photographic equipment 10 per cent, construction machinery 13.7 per cent and copper brass mill products 15 per cent.

The only industry expecting a decline is railroad car building. Also looking into the future, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York said the gross national product—total of all goods and services—"will go up substantially and so will prices" in 1968.

"The question is by how much and how fast," the bank said. "The answers largely depend upon the direction of events in Vietnam and government action on taxes and spending."

RETAIL SALES PEAK

The Commerce Department reported that in 1968 retail sales rose to a record $133.33 billion although the December percentage increase disappointing. Retail sales last month, adjusted for seasonal factors including the Christmas shopping rush, dropped one-half of 1 per cent to $26.34 billion from November but were about 4 per cent above the December, 1966, level.
In one area of retail sales,

Richard E. Burow, president of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers, predicted that 1968 volume would reach $6.48 billion, up $260 million from 1967 and equal to the record set in 1966.

The unemployment rate declined substantially in December for the second straight month. And, as the result of strength in manufacturing, con-

FARM JOBS SHRINKING

WASHINGTON (AP)—The way farm employment has been behaving in recent years, jobs in agriculture may well be down to an annual average of slightly more than three million by 1975. That compares with last year's average of 4.94 million.

Yet farm production could be expected to be up sharply from the present level because of expanding needs at home and abroad.

A year-end Agriculture Department report indicated farm operators are continuing to develop ways and means of producing more with less hand labor—largely through increased use of machinery and other labor-saving devices and by more efficient production methods.

The report showed the annual average of farm employment in 1967 was down five per cent from the previous year. In 1968 it dipped six per cent below 1965.

There's a sharp difference be-between agriculture's ability to provide jobs in 1916, for example, than at present. In 1916 farm employment reached a record high of 16.6 million. It has been going down ever since.

Factors influencing farm output to disperse with hand labor include increasing labor costs and a short supply of qualified workers, particularly those able to care for livestock and to operate and care for machinery.

The decrease in employment has been accompanied by increases in farm wage rates. In 1967 cash wages averaged $12 an hour, not including the value of room, board and other benefits provided by employers. This was an increase of one per cent over 1966 and the sharpest annual upturn since 1950.

The rate without room and board averaged $11.33 in 1967, an increase of eight per cent over the previous year.
Wage rates averaged 75 cents and room and board in 1966—86 cents without room and board.

To Your Good Health Constipation In Children A Different Problem

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: My son, 7, has been chronically constipated since he was 2 and cannot have a bowel movement without the help of a laxative. For some months he has been getting a senna compound two or three times a week.
His pediatrician said he would outgrow this but I have seen no improvement. Can you tell me what is wrong and if there is another solution besides laxatives? He has had no tests whatsoever to determine what is causing his problem. His movements are as large as a baby milk bottle and he seems to have extreme pain.—Mrs. R. B.
Constipation in children is seldom the problem it is in adults. One of the difficulties in a child can arise because, while the child is growing, the proper muscle-nerve balance has not yet been attained. As this correct balance develops, the problem disappears.
Not every child has this difficulty, of course, so when it occurs, a mother is understandably upset about it. Yet the doctor, in an average pediatric practice, has seen the problem occur, and in time correct itself, many times.
It isn't always easy to assure parents that the problem will disappear when the child gets a bit bigger, yet that is what happens. The doctor's problem is two-fold: To find a way to keep the child reasonably comfortable for the time being, and at the same time to avoid too much emphasis on the matter. Why? Because some bowel problems are psychological in that too much attention is focused on the difficulty by the mother. The child senses this—and may in some cases even use it as an attention-getter.

Another aspect which sometimes complicates things can be failing to allow enough time for a complete movement, or—and this is important—not taking sufficient pains to establish regularity as a habit.
Various simple measures may be tried in the meanwhile. More bulk in the diet (fruit and vegetables) often helps. So does increasing the water (or fluid) intake. Prune juice as a breakfast juice is an excellent mild laxative.
Stool softeners other than senna which you mentioned might be tried, but harsh laxatives should be avoided for several reasons, one being that the "laxative habit," established in childhood, can be a nuisance ever after.
A glycerin suppository may be used to initiate a movement at a given time each day, thus establishing the habit of bowel activity at a regular time. This is often overlooked, but is important.

If these measures, given amply in time, do not improve the situation, then you might be justified in asking for an X-ray of the colon, but I would not be too impatient or too much in a hurry about this. For I feel sure that if your pediatrician detected any sign that the trouble was other than that which plagues quite a few children for several years, he would have instituted special tests.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our 9-year-old nephew likes to eat a package of dry gelatin when he visits us, so we always have some here. He always wants orange flavor. Some of the family say it will make him have diabetes. Is there any danger?—H.M.O.
No, it won't. In fact it is a more sensible snack for him than candy, cake or cookies.
What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.
Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Uncle Sam's Getting Too Nosey

The news dispatches have contained another of those scare articles about what the government is doing, or will do, to find out about the behavior of all us common citizens.

There is some plan of creating a "national data center" into which would be fed all manner of information about all of us — such information to be flushed out in a second.

WELL, IT MIGHT be all right for Uncle to have a little biographical rundown, such as who you are, where you came from and what you're doing.

There are those, however, who feel that the stocking of a national data center would carry the subject entirely too far into the personal realm, and no privacy would be left.

One article said that some government agencies already are asking such questions as: Do you drink heavily at home? Have you been married more than twice? Are your sexual preferences exotic? How are you and your wife getting along?

GOT TO THINKING what to do if a G-man interviewer came to the door to ask me such questions. The initial plan was to play it sort of morose: "Do you drink heavily at home?" "Duh, try to down a quart of milk a day."

"Have you been married more than twice?" "Duh, I may be stupid but I ain't crazy."
"Are your sexual preferences exotic?" "Duh, how's that again?"

"HOW ARE YOU and your wife getting along?"
"Duh, what days are you talking about?"

Even the Census Bureau, last time out, got to asking a lot of questions over and above name and age, etc. I would guess that in the 1970 counting there will be a lot more questions added, for example:
"How do you like your eggs?"

THE BUREAU then will be able in time to report that 28 per cent of Americans prefer them scrambled; 34 per cent want 'em over, and 38 per cent say sunny-side up. This will prove something, but not much. However, it is a statistic that can go into a computer.
Or this question: "When you dress in the morning, which shoe do you put on first?"

THIS WILL BE a puzzler, because nobody can really remember until he goes through the motion of getting on the footwear. It may turn out that 50 per cent go for the left foot first, and 50 per cent for the right foot. Not harmless, over-all, but if the machine speyed out your name with the intelligence that you like your eggs sunny-side up and put your left shoe on first, you probably would be suspect. It would indicate that you are impatient and radical. The government wouldn't like that sort of thing. It would be much better if Uncle left us alone and let us eat our eggs any way we damn please. By the way, which shoe DO I put on first?
—BOB WHIPKEY

Art Buchwald No More Traveling Candidates

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon Johnson, knowingly or unknowingly, may have dealt a blow to his Republican opposition when he indicated it would be very unattractive for any American to travel outside of the Western Hemisphere for the next two years.

It is part of the American political tradition that any candidate running for high public office must visit Ireland, Italy and Israel with stops in other parts of the world if he hopes to get elected.

Without these trips no politician can ever win the hearts of the American people.

IT IS interesting to note that President Johnson made his announcement about keeping Americans at home after he completed his globe-girdling trip, and Republicans think it no accident that the President saw the Pope before he told the American people that they shouldn't go abroad.
One Republican candidate, a favorite son, said, "Nixon, Romney and Percy must have known something, because they got their trips out of the way before the President made his dollar-deficit speech. But what chance have the rest of us got if we can't leave the country?"

"Does it mean that much?"
"IT CERTAINLY does. How would you feel if you had announced you were running for president and you'd never seen Dublin's fair city, where the girls are so pretty and you had not had your picture taken with sweet Molly Malone?"
"Just terrible," I admitted.

"WHY NOT?" He knows he can beat Romney, Nixon or Percy, but what he doesn't know is if he can beat any of the rest of us. My people believe the President made up all that stuff about an economic crisis just to keep me from running against him in 1968.
"It makes more sense," I said, "than anything I've heard so far."
(Copyright, 1968, The Washington Post Co.)

David Lawrence We Still Have Unemployment

WASHINGTON—Comparative percentages on unemployment from year to year do not tell the whole story. For, although the Bureau of Labor Statistics has just announced that the unemployment rate dropped in December to its lowest level in nine months, there are actually more people unemployed than there were a year ago.

It is true that the unemployment rate for 1967 averaged 3.8 per cent, which is the same as in 1966, but the number of unemployed rose from an average of 2,875,000 in 1966 to 2,975,000 in 1967. So, while the rate of unemployment or ratio of unemployed to the labor force remains unchanged, the number of persons unemployed increased by 100,000.

EVEN THOUGH more individuals are obtaining jobs than in the preceding years, the unemployment totals still are substantial.
Thus, nearly two decades ago—in 1948—the unemployment rate was also equal to 3.8 per cent, but the number of unemployed then was 700,000 less than the average for 1967. The number of persons unemployed has risen by 20.7 per cent since 1948. This figure is obtained by comparing the total number of persons unemployed in 1948—which was 2,276,000—with the total of 2,975,000 in 1967.

THE SIMPLE truth is that job creation in America has not yet taken care of the increased number of persons seeking employment. There is some comfort, to be sure, in the fact that, as the labor force has been increasing, jobs have been made available for the vast majority. The continuation, however, of nearly three million people on the unemployment rolls year after year is a discouraging aspect of the American economy.

IT WILL BE SAID, of course, that out of the three million who are unemployed, some don't want to work or are "uneducated" or are trying to get "poverty" assistance without performing any services. It is also true that in homes where husbands are incapacitated or disabled, the wives usually are working, and children may drop out of school in order to provide funds for the family.

The unemployment totals are to some extent due to the inability of citizens to find in their particular localities the kind of work they are able to do. There is a reluctance to shift from one region of the country to another to seek work.

ONE THING IS clear—jobs are plentiful during war years. The nation's lowest recorded percentage of unemployment was in World War II, when it dropped to 1.2 per cent in 1944. The lowest point since then was 2.9 per cent in 1953, during the Korean war. By 1958 the unemployment rate had gone up to 6.8 per cent, and has been diminishing slowly during the last 10 years. This, however, is a percentage measurement, for the labor force has been increasing steadily. There is, for instance, very little difference between the number unemployed today and the total in 1957.

THE RISE in the number of unemployed from 2,875,000 in 1966 to 2,975,000 in 1967 is a truly disconcerting figure, and does not justify the optimistic comments which are being made by some economists to the effect that the country is "booming" and that a tax increase is needed to "slow things down." It is probable that, if such restraints were applied to the national economy at this time and government really cut its spending, the number of unemployed would grow considerably. This is why, for political reasons, it is unlikely that any slowing down will be permitted, at least until after the November elections.

Wild Pot Plot

HONOLULU (AP)—Honolulu police put a plot of illegal marijuana plants, being grown in the mountains, under surveillance for several weeks in hopes of catching the gardener of more than 600 plants.

But their hours of waiting and watching ended without reward and police officials ordered the plants destroyed.

Police officials admitted that the plot had gone to pot.

IN THE OLD DAYS

In Aunt Miranda's day there was no question about whether you went to church on Sunday. You didn't stay home because it was raining or snowing, or because you had a slight headache. You went—by horse-drawn wagons or carriages—a much harder trek than it is today.

Maybe because it was harder, people appreciated it more. Maybe in that era of pre-modern conveniences people had a better sense of values. They seemed to know, at any rate, what was really important.

Of course, the church is just as necessary today as it was in Aunt Miranda's day. Certainly the complexities of our present generation make life's problems seem increasingly abundant. Hadn't we better go to church next Sunday—and see for ourselves?

'FITZWILLY'
Edith Evans, Dick Van Dyke, Barbara Feldon

Zany, Madcap Film Opening At Ritz

Plaudits from the public are what England's Great First Lady of the Stage Edith Evans has become used to receiving in her more than 50 years on stage and screen.

But these have come mainly for her portrayals of dramatic roles, the one she was most recently seen in, "The Whisperers," being unanimously hailed by public and critics alike as a high point in screen drama.

She has done comedy too, and well. But now, in her 78th year, say the critics, a new star has been born! A comedienne of the first order!

It happens in the zany madcap "Fitzwilly," starring Dick Van Dyke in the title role and introducing TV's Barbara Feldon to the screen. It opens today at the Ritz Theatre, in Color by Deluxe and Panavision.

In "Fitzwilly" Dame Evans portrays a somewhat barmy elderly dowager who's dead broke but doesn't know it, and who is kept from knowing it by a household almost as barmy as she. Born in London in 1888, Dame Evans was early apprenticed to a milliner before stirrings of theatrical ambitions began to disturb her at 15. This led to enrollment in a dramatic class run by a local elocution teacher. From this she went to Shakespearean repertory and an occasional meal but it wasn't until she appeared in support of the great Ellen Terry in "The Merry Wives of Windsor" that her talent was recognized for what it was and she was on her way to the top stardom which won her the honored title of Dame.

'Peyton Place' Posts Record

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Peyton Place" marked its 400th chapter Monday night, passing what seems to be a record for filmed television series.

The ABC series has not only appeared more times than any other show on film but also has pursued its inexorable course winter and summer with nary a rerun.

Thus "Peyton Place" wins honors for persistence, if not for excellence. Nobody has ever accused it of being a prestige show. But it is a well-made series, with competent if not inspired acting. Hence it has held a solid core of viewers, though not in the same numbers as before.

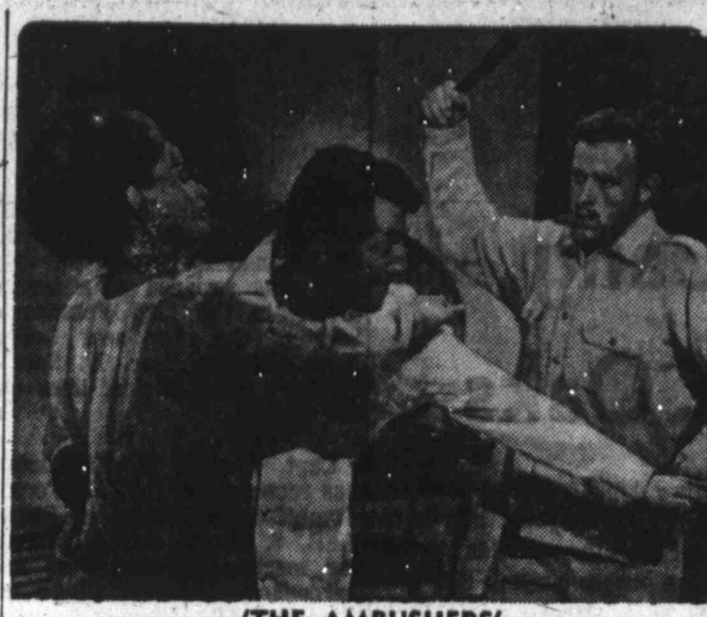

"Our ratings this season have been good enough to keep the show on the air, but not good enough to allow any further attrition," admits executive producer Paul Monash, who has guided "Peyton Place" from its very beginnings. "We've done well on Monday nights, holding our own with two popular shows, 'Family Affair' and 'Dragnet.' But the movies have hurt us on Thursday night, as they have hurt all series this season."

To avoid further decline in the ratings, Monash plans innovations.

"We can't continue to move the same characters through the same environment," he remarked. "I plan to send one of the major characters to Boston for a story that will take place there. A young minister and his wife will be introduced, and they will be linked to the Boston story."

"The purpose is to give the show a broader geographic axis and to start new and dynamic stories. The series must get involved with new characters because frankly, some of our established characters have told their stories. Now we are forced to invent for them what we call camping scenes—scenes in which they stand around and observe the action, just so we can keep them apparent."

"I fear we will lose some established characters before long. I can imagine what the clamor will be. 'Peyton Place' viewers don't like to have the show tampered with."

'THE AMBUSHERS'
Dean Martin and Senta Berger

Dean Martin Returns In Third Matt Helm Movie

Dean Martin regards the role of Matt Helm, the super spy, which he plays for the third time in "The Ambushers" in Technicolor at the Ritz Theatre, right up his alley.

"Matt Helm is a demanding part," Martin explained one day on the set, where he was shooting a scene with co-stars Senta Berger and Janice Rule. "I have to drink and smoke and chase pretty girls. But at least I understand the character."

As has been demonstrated to everyone's complete satisfaction on two past occasions, Dean Martin is the perfect Matt Helm. He is so right in the part, in fact, that it is difficult to conceive of anyone else attempting to play it.

Dean's talents are hardly limited to pictures alone, however. One of the most versatile entertainers in show business, he is literally in a class by himself in the fields of night clubs, recordings and television. As for acting in films, he is at home in almost every kind of a part. His record is dotted with memorable performances ranging from heels ("Toys in the Attic") to hoods ("Oceans 11") and from heavies ("Rough Night in Jericho") to sophisticated business executives ("How to Save a Marriage—And Ruin Your Life") a comedy he completed for Columbia release just before starting work on a fourth Matt Helm adventure.

In addition to the Misses Berger and Rule, other Dean Martin co-stars include James Gregory and Beverly Adams, back in her role as Matt Helm's very private secretary.

Coburn Talks On Stardom

James Coburn, who demonstrates his considerable flair for tongue-in-cheek comedy in his newest film, "Waterhole No. 3," which opens Wednesday at the Jet Theatre, is nevertheless quite serious about the various advantages and disadvantages that mark the transition from "actor who works a lot" to "star."

In point of fact, Coburn, now that he has arrived, can no longer enjoy many of the simple joys of life which he previously took for granted, including sitting unmolested in a restaurant. Fellow diners take one look at his handsomely homely face, his silver-brown beaver-length hair and his tensile 6-2 frame and then they look again and usually end up by shouting, "Hey, there's what's his name!" In many cases, when people do remember a name, it's more often Derek Flint than James Coburn.

Coburn says he doesn't mind being identified in the public mind with the debonair Mr. Flint. "I'm grateful for that character. I'd be crazy not to be. Before, it was the same for me as for most other actors out here. Somebody handed me a script and said 'Here man, do your job.' But now, it's an entirely different story. I feel like I have some control now, something to say about character development and putting together the total package. It's a good feeling."

Sam Bass Outlaw Gang Whipped At Seven Oaks

By ED SYERS
 With all our historic trees, few ever sheltered a rougher outlaw gang than Seven Oaks of Wise County, believes Mrs. Etta Bearden Pegues of Newark, near Jacksboro. The clump that tops a hill a mile north of her town was Sam Bass' certain safe hideout.
 "The Bass gang's most talked about 'home ground' was the cross timbers of Denton County," concedes Mrs. Pegues. "But it was just a short distance into southern Wise, and these train and stage robbers knew the area better than their pursuers." So Seven Oaks was to become a regular rendezvous and, unknown to them, their last.

"In April, 1878, trackdown began in earnest across Denton territory: the gang had to drift west. Charge was robbing the U.S. Mail; warrants were out for Bass, Henry Underwood, Arkansas Johnson, Frank Jackson and Seaborn Barnes (the last two, destined for Bass' ill-fated ride into Round Rock, shortly thereafter).

RANGERS JOIN IN
 "Rangers joined the chase that spread over Cross Timbers. Yet Bass was confident his men could hold against any force in that rough country. Weaving across southern Wise County, they'd separate if the chase got too hot, with Seven Oaks for rendezvous." Its high ground could spot pursuit from all directions: pursuit that ultimately came.

"Bass men rode out from Seven Oaks, cutting straight for the timber of Salt Creek where, near the Parker County line, their luck ran out in gunfire. Arkansas Johnson was buried on the spot, four others wounded and several captured.

DOWN TO THREE
 "The 'gang' was down to three hunted, running men; and the campaign against it in North Texas was effectually over."

Significantly, those three stumbled into Round Rock Ranger ambush that killed Bass and Barnes; with only Frank Jackson disappearing in history.

But the hilltop rendezvous of Seven Oaks, believes Mrs. Pegues, is where law finally caught up with Sam Bass.

FORT PARKER STUMP
 "I'm not sure it would qualify among Texas Forest Service's 'Notable Trees,'" writes Waco's Mrs. Ruth G. Whittekin; but submits a "twelve-foot stump of the 'Historical Oak' in Ft. Parker Cemetery between Groesbeck and Mexia.

"That live oak was old when Columbus discovered America. I've been told. Under it were buried the men of the Ft. Parker Massacre (when Cynthia Ann was taken and her family decimated by Comanche and Kiowa.)

"When the old tree died, they had to cut the huge limbs to keep them from falling on the tombstones below." Nearby, another grave puzzles Mrs. Whittekin:

"Not far from this stump is the grave of a Sim Dixon, buried 1873. I was told he was an outlaw killed near Groesbeck, and though they put him in the cemetery, they wouldn't give him a proper buryin'. His grave lies at a strange angle to all the others. Is anything known of him?" (Note: OBT asks if that off-angle constitutes 'not a proper buryin'?)

Write OBT, care of The Herald, or Ingram, Texas 78025. For personal reply, please enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Court Backlog About Same

Judge Ralph Caton's 118th District Court has moved into 1968 with a sizable backlog of pending suits awaiting action. Actually, the court has just about been able to keep even over the year ended.

Fern Cox, district clerk, said that there were 1,079 cases of all kinds on the docket on Jan. 1. A brisk filing has developed in the past few days and the number has been steadily increasing since the month began.

Actually the increase reflected in December over November was small. There were 1,076 cases pending Dec. 1. Twenty-nine new cases were filed but the court had cut down the total by disposing of 26 from the starting total.

December report showed 200 divorce suits on file, 14 new cases lodged in the court, and 33 disposed of leave the total on hand Jan. 1 at 201. Annulments were unchanged with two on file. Tax suits were also stationary with 30 pending.

Other civil suits began the period with 307 and there were 15 petitions filed. The court disposed of 12 and the total at the end of the month was 540. Criminal cases dropped from 20 to 29. No additional indictments were voted in December.
