Benefits To Lift Million Americans Out Of Poverty

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of a series analyzing the changes being made in the Social Security and Medicare regulations.

By BRUCE BLOSSAT WASHINGTON (NEA)—In today's context of the "antipoverty war," it is not easy for administrators and other defenders of the massive Social Security system to keep it from being regarded as just one more very large antipoverty weapon.

TOTAL FAILURE Liberal U.S. senators who tried to mount a last-minute attack on the alleged inadequacies of the 1967 Social Security bill talked of it as if it were nearly a total failure.

Sen. Joseph Tydings, Maryland Democrat, said the measure which finally was enacted "guts the Social Security program of benefits vital to all older Americans."

The proposals he spoke of actually provide the highest single increase in Social Security cash benefits in the system's history. It is estimated they will lift a million more Americans out of poverty — and that the system thereafter will keep at least seven million people out of that rut.

The complainant's argument is basically simple: that Congress should have raised the minimum benefits much higher and thus made the program still more useful as an anti-poverty weapon.

$70 GOAL Beginning with March 2 checks, the minimum retirement payment will rise from $44 to $55. But the Senate version, lost in the final compromise between the two houses, would have increased that minimum to $70.

The "minimum payment" feature is clearly an anti-poverty device, though it is of long standing in the program. For that fixed low-level benefit goes to any worker at age 65, even though his yearly earnings over the years under Social Security may average only $800 or less.

BAD DEAL Analysts who argue that Social Security is a "bad insurance program" fasten on such features. But Eugene Thore, president of the Life Insurance Association of America, wrote as follows to Wilbur Cohen, Undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare:

"The life insurance community, for the most part, recognizes the importance and necessity of the Social Security floor of protection as the base upon which American families can build their own plans of savings and security."

The minimum payment feature is not the only noninsurance element in Social Security. Some elderly folk with little or no work under Social Security have, since 1966, been able to draw limited retirement benefits.

RISK REDUCED These benefits become payable when these persons become 72. Men born 1896 to 1900, and women born 1896-98, need some work under Social Security to qualify. Anyone born before 1896, need have no work credit at all.

These special payments were $35 a person a month and $57.50 a couple, but have been raised under the new law to $40 and $60. And, in a departure from the insurance principle, they are paid not out of Social Security trust funds but from the general U.S. Treasury.

But it is not just the minimums and these special payments which give the Social Security system its "anti-poverty" flavor. The whole benefit formula is heavily weighted to give advantage to those with low average earnings through their working life.

Thus, under the pre-1967 law, the Social Security recipient gets in benefits about 63 percent of the first $110 of his average earnings, but only 22 percent of earnings above that level.

All these features notwithstanding, the administrators and supporters of Social Security regard it principally as a social insurance program which protects American citizens basically not against old age as such — but against the risk of loss of income which may accompany old age.

The property is described as one acre in section 7, block 32, township 1 south.

The consideration involved is $15,000 plus the purchaser assuming two notes aggregating more than $250,000.

'Corn-Fed Kansan' Offers Date Tips

DALLAS (AP) — "I'm just a plain, common girl," said a 36½ beauty, shedding her milk coat to show off her red-white-blue Ban-Lon outfit.

She plays the piano, organ, trumpet and French horn and bakes chocolate chip cookies. She sings like a bird and looks as wholesome and bouncy as Doris Day's baby pictures.

She water skis and makes the dean's honor roll at Kansas State College in Pittsburg. She writes music and years for a doctor's degree in piano pedagogy.

MALE STUDENTS

Aside from that maybe Debra Dene Barnes, 20, is a plain, common girl. She's also the reigning Miss America.

With two suitcases filled with sensible suits and comfortable evening dresses (a wardrobe for one month), she arrived here Wednesday for a department store fashion show.

She calls herself "a corn-fed Kansan" and, at 5-feet-9, recalls how she was taller than any of the boys in her classrooms until she was 13—and liked it that way.

Maybe one reason was that she was giving piano lessons to people older than herself. She began teaching piano when she was 12 and she taught 40-year-old women how to play.

NERVOUS DUDDS

When she was 17 she had male students 20 years old. Speaking of men, she said she goes on blind dates only "if I know the friend who set it up very well and I know that I can trust her judgment."

What word would she give American males generally in proving themselves?

"Too many are too nervous. They should let themselves go. A dud can become a real interesting date."

And women? She said if anybody wanted her opinion, it would be a warning against "affectations." A woman should "be herself."

"That's the secret of how a girl from a Kansas town of 550, Moran, came to be Miss America last September.

She didn't go to charm school. Nobody taught her poise, she said. She lost the first pageant she entered. "I wasn't mature enough," she said.

The way to win is "naturalness," said Miss America.

Texans Expect Heavy Flooding

Lingering floods on the lower stretches of Three Rivers in South Texas put the only blot on the state's weather picture today.

Clouds disappeared in all sections and early morning temperatures stayed mild for this season. It was expected to remain mostly sunny with a little warming in most areas.

Official forecasters looked for heavy flooding—the aftermath of rains which ended the first of this week—to last into Friday along three streams crossing the coastal plains to spill into the Gulf of Mexico.

EL PASO COUL. Temperatures before sunrise held above freezing at all reporting points except El Paso, where the mercury eased down to 30 degrees. Readings elsewhere stood in the higher 30s and 40s at most points, running up to 48 at Abilene and 51 at Galveston.

Top marks Wednesday afternoon ranged up to a balmy 70 at Dalhart in the Panhandle, with Del Rio and San Angelo right behind at 69. Four places shared the coolest high of 53—Dallas, Fort Worth, Galveston and Lufkin.

Forecasters called for southerly winds hitting 10 to 15 miles per hour to fan the entire state. All traces of the latest norther had vanished and official observers found no other fronts in or near the state.

FLOOD STAGE

They predicted the San Antonio River, back within banks at Falls City, to crest at nine to 10 feet above flood stage at Goliad during the day.

An additional rise of 12 inches or more was expected to send the Guadalupe River around nine feet past flood stage at Victoria.

The Nueces River had started dropping gradually after considerable flooding around the town of Three Rivers but it was expected to climb five feet beyond flood stage at Calallen by Friday.

Both North and South were chargeable for the deficit incurred by the partnership—the former for permitting the auction to get beyond the three no trump level, and the latter for presenting the opposition with an opportunity to defeat the final contract of five diamonds.

North had 15 points in high cards and balanced distribution. If he had held a small heart along with the queen-jack, the proper response to one diamond would have been two no trump. Once South showed hearts on his rebid, North was completely remiss in not bidding three no trump. The taking of 10 tricks would have been routine.

West led the four of clubs and the queen was played from dummy. East won the trick with the king and shifted to a small spade. South finessed for a second time and, when West produced the king of spades, the contract was doomed, for declarer must still concede a trick to the ace of trumps.

South was the victim of his own finesse-itis. As soon as the dummy is spread, it becomes obvious that the solid heart holding will permit declarer to obtain two spade discards from dummy which eliminates the need for taking a finesse in spades.

The most urgent consideration is to draw trumps, so that the hearts can be safely cashed out. South should, therefore, seize the initiative at once by putting up the ace of clubs at trick one. A diamond is led and, when East gets in with the ace, he will presumably shift to a spade. Declarer puts up the ace—since he now has the situation under full control—draws the remaining trump and cashes out his four hearts, discarding two spades from dummy. He ruffs a spade and later concedes a club trick for his second and final loser on the deal.

Man Seriously Hurt In Wreck

A Fort Worth man suffered a fractured spine and other serious injuries at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday when the pickup truck he was driving turned over on its side at the east edge of Coahoma.

Homer Lee Tomlin, 53, is in Cowper Hospital where he underwent surgery this morning. His physician said the Fort Worth man had a fractured spine, in addition to numerous other severe injuries, particularly about the head.

The pickup was towing a two-ton truck and was going east.

In the larger vehicle was Cecil Ed Tomlin, 30, a nephew of the pickup's driver. The big truck broke loose, and rammed the pickup, witnesses said. The lighter car flipped over.

Texans Expect Heavy Flooding

Lingering floods on the lower stretches of Three Rivers in south Texas put the only blot on the state's weather picture today.

Clouds disappeared in all sections and early morning temperatures stayed mild for this season. It was expected to remain mostly sunny with a little warming in most areas.

Official forecasters looked for heavy flooding—the aftermath of rains which ended the first of this week—to last into Friday along three streams crossing the coastal plains to spill into the Gulf of Mexico.

FLOOD STAGE
 They predicted the San Antonio River, back within banks at Falls City, to crest at nine to 10 feet above flood stage at Coliad during the day.
 An additional rise of 12 inches or more was expected to send the Guadalupe River around nine feet past flood stage at Victoria.

The Nueces River had started dropping gradually after considerable flooding around the town of Three Rivers but it was expected to climb five feet beyond flood stage at Calallen by Friday.

The Weather Bureau reported flood conditions were dissipating generally at other points.

EL PASO COOL
 Temperatures before sunrise held above freezing at all reporting points except El Paso, where the mercury eased down to 30 degrees. Readings elsewhere stood in the higher 30s and 40s at most points, running up to 48 at Abilene and 51 at Galveston.

Top marks Wednesday afternoon ranged up to a balmy 70 at Dalhart in the Panhandle, with Del Rio and San Angelo right behind at 69. Four places shared the coolest high of 53—Dallas, Fort Worth, Galveston and Lufkin.

Forecasters called for southerly winds hitting 10 to 15 miles per hour to fan the entire state. All traces of the latest norther had vanished and official observers found no other fronts in or near the state.

Hereford Grows
 HEREFORD, Tex. (AP)—The annexation of 17.42 acres into the Hereford city limits by action of the city commission gives Hereford a land area of 2,980.50 acres, or more than 4.65 square miles. Since 1950, Hereford city limits have more than doubled.

 Both North and South were chargeable for the deficit incurred by the partnership—the former for permitting the auction to get beyond the three no trump level, and the latter for presenting the opposition with an opportunity to defeat the final contract of five diamonds.

North had 15 points in high cards and balanced distribution. If he had held a small heart along with the queen-jack, the proper response to one diamond would have been two no trump. Once South showed hearts on his rebid, North was completely remiss in not bidding three no trump. The taking of 10 tricks would have been routine.

West led the four of clubs and the queen was played from dummy. East won the trick with the king and shifted to a small spade. South finessed for a second time and, when West produced the king of spades, the contract was doomed, for declarer must still concede a trick to the ace of trumps.

South was the victim of his own finesse-itis. As soon as the dummy is spread, it becomes obvious that the solid heart holding will permit declarer to obtain two spade discards from dummy which eliminates the need for taking a finesse in spades.

The most urgent consideration is to draw trumps, so that the hearts can be safely cashed out. South should, therefore, seize the initiative at once by putting up the ace of clubs at trick one. A diamond is led and, when East gets in with the ace, he will presumably shift to a spade. Declarer puts up the ace—since he now has the situation under full control—draws the remaining trump and cashes out his four hearts, discarding two spades from dummy. He ruffs a spade and later concedes a club trick for his second and final loser on the deal.

OFF BEATEN TRAIL

Time Reveals 'Ghost Light'

By ED SYERS

To help hunt phantoms, here's San Antonio's Bill Chesnut; and though he hasn't flushed our spirit Spanish conquistador near Brownsville on East Texas haunted house close by Mt. Pleasant, he unveils something unusual in ghost lights.

"On our ranch in Bee County," says Bill, "I was entertaining a Yankee friend, hunting deer. I wanted to give him something to tell his friends since the deer were few; so I started telling of 'ghost lights' in the vicinity. (Bill knows ghost lights; when editing the Kenedy Advance, he took me where old-timers were harassed and outwitted by one for years near his town.)

"Now, maybe there have been some tales about these lights on our place and maybe not; but these particular ones came straight out of my imagination. I figured my friend, believed none of it but was too polite to comment. Finally we bunked down in our hunting trailer.

"About two a.m., he shook me awake. 'Chesnut! That light's here in the trailer!'

"Sleepily coming to my senses, I saw what caused my hair to stand on end. There, toward the front of the trailer in the dark, about three feet off the deck, was this bluish-green ball of light, about three inches in diameter. This being the first ghost light I'd actually seen, I was plenty shook up. Then came the thought, 'Kill it!'

"I had an old thumb-buster .45 beneath the bed. I reached down for it, took as careful aim as I could in the darkness and squeezed off. The blast brought me fully awake.

"It also revealed that I had blown the daylight out of a brand new alarm clock with a luminescent dial."

GALLOW'S TREE

Fort Worth's Bill Horton sought a 'hanging tree' near Columbus. From Yoakum's Mrs. H. P. Krause and Weimar's Mrs. Leslie Rabel comes a grim account that might earn its oak the dubious distinction of being the most recently-used gallows tree in Texas.

"One fall day in the late 1930's," go both accounts, "a high school girl was riding through the pecan groves on her parents' farm near Columbus. She was attacked, raped, murdered, and her body thrown into Cummins Creek.

"Later that day, two teenage colored boys confessed. The community was so furious, they were taken to a nearby town for safety. Months later, being returned under guard to a Columbus hearing, they were seized from the officers by

HCJC Telling The World About New Tech Division

When Howard County Junior College registers students for the second semester next Wednesday, it will be legging for a substantial increase in its new vocational-technical division.

This new division, under the direction of Dr. Marshall Box, dean, got off to a good start last autumn, but some of the programs had received approval or materialized too late to be really advertised effectively.

HCJC is embarked on a course now to tell the world about the expanded curricula. For instance, area residents are being apprised through big advertising spreads. Moreover, every high school senior in this general area has been furnished information about the program.

With the exception of space devoted to agriculture and allied instruction, the entire Practical Arts building is being utilized by this division. Plans are being rushed to completion for a new vocational-technical building which would house all the programs, plus several others in the making.

Being offered now are electronic data processing technology, drafting and design technology, electrical technology, machine tools technology, welding technology, as well as vocational nursing. The vocational office program is being handled currently through the academics program but is being shifted to the new division. Approved but due to be offered for the first time next autumn is mid-management technology.

Dr. Box said that application is being made for at least two other programs, both of them in major fields.

"Our aim is to help develop the student's intellectual abilities and skills so that he (or she) will be able to enter a technical or semi-professional occupation," he explained. "The program also will prepare the student for jobs in industry."

This is no forced-draft short course, he emphasized, but a two-year college-credit program. While the program will also train students for industry or jobs, it is geared at providing an understanding of the technology and some of the fundamental concepts behind specialized vocations. Those satisfactorily completing the two years will emerge as technicians, not merely craftsmen.

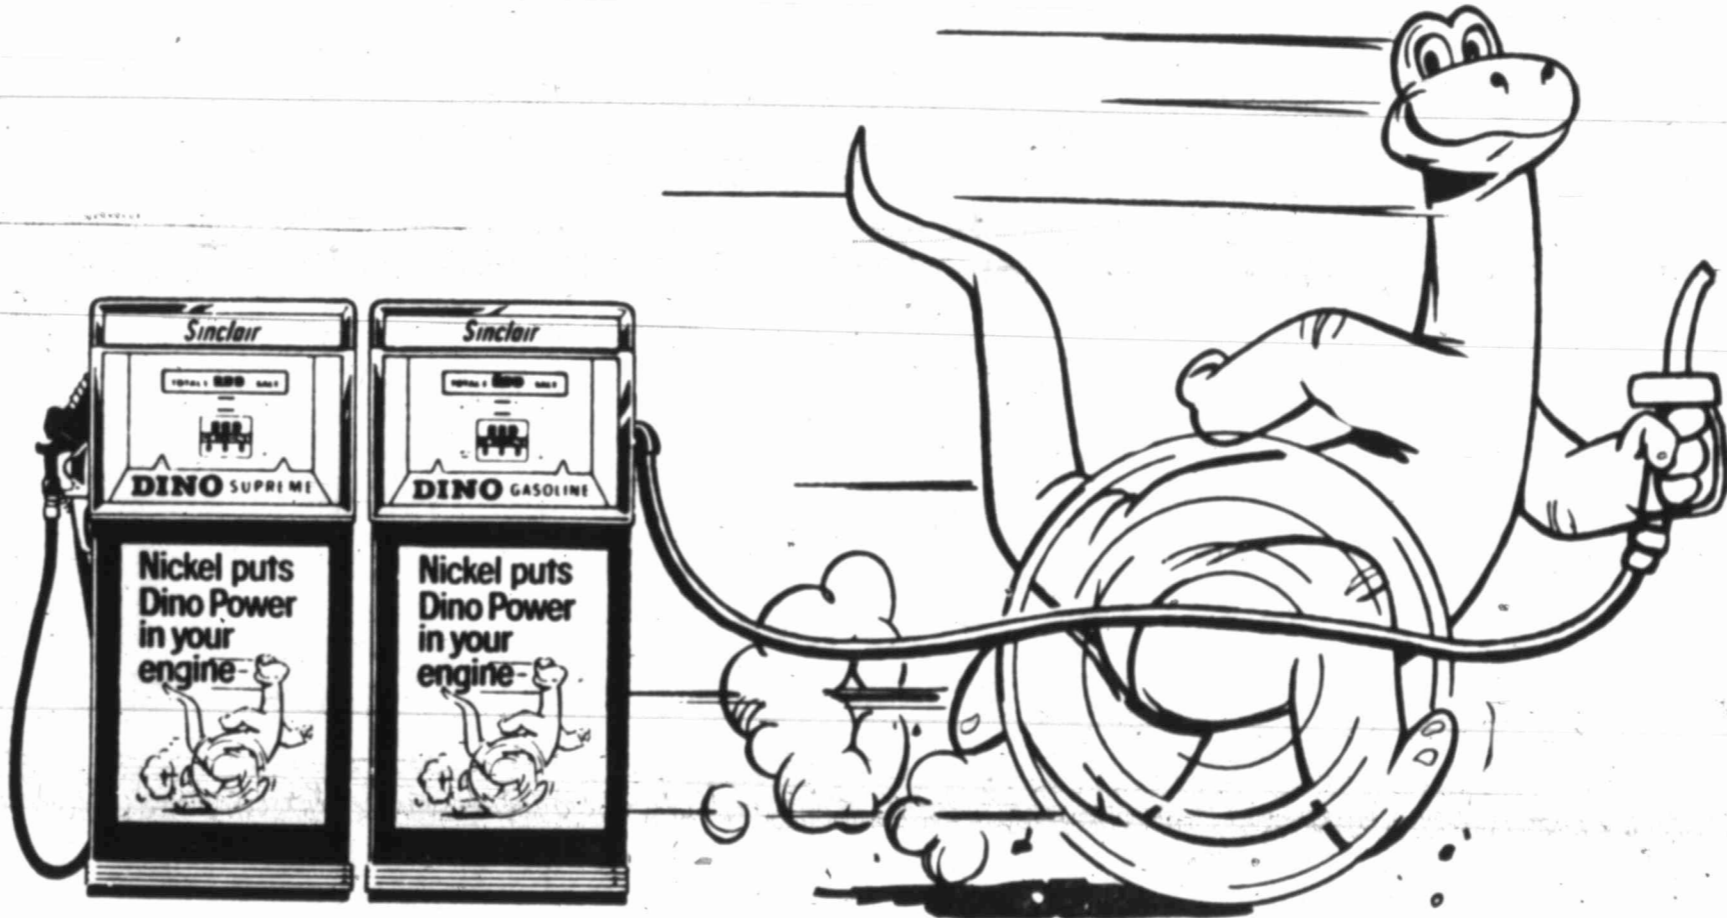

The division has well over a quarter of a million dollars in specialized equipment, including an extraordinary electronic computer complex.

Shining Example

Ellen Provost, a miniskirted 20-year-old blue-eyed brunette, is Pittsburgh's only shoeshine girl. She thinks "It's groovy." "I'm supposed to look young and fresh and sexy," Ellen says.

Lots Of Polish In Her Job

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ellen Provost is a shining example of what a curvy young girl with lots of polish in a miniskirt can do at a barbershop. Since she became Pittsburgh's only shoeshine girl three weeks ago the customers at the Razor's Edge—a men's hair styling shop—have looked sharp and waxed eloquent. "It's groovy," agrees Ellen, a 20-year-old blue-eyed brunette whose long tresses extend almost as far as her skirt. "I'm supposed to look young and fresh and sexy," she said before sitting down to polish another pair of shoes.

She took the job, she said, because she was out of work and needed money to go back to school. Now she makes $10, even on a bad day, at 50 cents a shine plus tips that usually are generous; working from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. six days a week. "I never had shined a pair of shoes," Ellen said. "The fellows just told me what they knew about it and I went from there." But the brushing will bush you, she said. "If I hadn't been a tomboy for years I might not have been able to do it. It gets you in the back."

AFTER GETTING LOAN

Alaskan Bought Land In Arizona

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Alaska Democrat who received a big government disaster loan after his motel was flooded says a Republican congressman's allegations about a subsequent land transaction consist of "politically motivated half-truths." L. Donald Pruhs, who received the largest Small Business Administration loan in Fairbanks after a major flood there last August, said Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, need only to check records "to learn the truth." Gross told the House Wednesday that shortly after receiving an SBA loan of $894,000, Pruhs bought $203,100 worth of land in Arizona. "Where did the money come from for the Arizona deal?" Gross asked. The Iowa Republican said Pruhs' SBA loan was approved in the first week of October and that on Oct. 19 he made a $3,000 cash down payment on 160 acres in Yuma County, Ariz. Gross added that Pruhs paid $10,500 down on a 640-acre tract on Nov. 28, with another $24,500 payment due on this purchase by Feb. 1.

Vernon Wright, recorder of deeds in Yuma County, agreed with Gross' statements in a telephone interview with The Associated Press. Pruhs said the value of his land purchases was "considerably below $203,000" but gave no specific figure in comments to a newsmen in Seattle, Wash., after Gross' speech. "My wife and I bought 160 acres, ourselves, as an investment and put $3,000 down, but I was only one of several Fairbanks businessmen in the deal for the other 640-acre tract, and the $10,500 down payment was made by the group, not just by me," Pruhs said. Accusing Gross of half-truths, Pruhs said: "This is just politics in a political year, and an effort by the Republicans to blow something up out of all proportion." Pruhs, a member of the Democratic State Central Committee in Alaska, said, "Mr. Gross needs only to check the escrow instructions recorded in Yuma County to learn the truth." The AP reported last week that Pruhs got his $894,000 loan to repair his flood-damaged Golden Nugget Motel, while Republican Gov. Walter J. Hickel received half of the $1.2 million loan he sought for his motel, the Travelers Inn, damaged in the same flood. Gross has urged a congressional investigation of the situation.

GI Teenager Shields Kin

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A battle-scarred 19-year-old soldier is heading back to Vietnam for the same reason that brought on his earlier tour—to keep his older brother from having to serve there. Spec. 4 Thomas Clark volunteered for the war zone 10 months ago so that the brother, Spec. 4 Gary Clark, 22, could remain in this country with his wife, who was expecting a child. The younger Clark, who suffered a fragmented wound in the shoulder and returned home on leave, now is volunteering for an extension because Gary again has orders to Vietnam. "He wanted to stay but didn't want me to go back and risk my life again," Thomas said Wednesday. "I convinced him it was better for him and his family if I went." "I knew how he felt about the baby and his family," said the younger brother, who is unmarried. Thomas said he is seeking to return because of a Pentagon policy that allows only one brother at a time in a war zone.

RACIAL DISTURBANCES HAVE DIMMED PROSPECTS

Little Chance Seen For Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even its most ardent Senate admirers concede President Johnson's civil rights program has little chance of getting through Congress this year. Johnson offered the package Wednesday in a special message asking Congress for measures to ban discrimination in housing, employment and federal jury selection. He also urged protection for Negroes and whites who are helping Negroes try to exercise their civil rights. It marked the third time around for a program first submitted in 1966 and reoffered last year. The House passed the package of measures in 1966, after modifying the President's open-housing proposal, but the legislation was strangled by a Senate filibuster. Senate backers of the program take a glum view of its prospects now, partly because of the climate created by riots and other racial disturbances. But the President told Congress action should not be delayed because "the air is filled with the voices of extremists on both sides." Although his over-all civil rights program is in trouble, parts of it are making headway on a piecemeal basis. Shortly after he submitted his message, a House Judiciary subcommittee unanimously approved a bill to ban discrimination in selection of federal jurors. Similar to a bill passed by the Senate without objection last December, it provides for random selection of jurors from voters' lists without regard to race, religion, sex or economic status. Senate sponsors of the measure had steered it to passage as a jury reform bill rather than civil rights legislation. However, a separate bill to prohibit discrimination in the selection of jurors in state courts has proved much more controversial and appears unlikely to pass.

Scarcity Of Witnesses At Liquor Probe Looms

AUSTIN (AP) — Is Monday's widely heralded hearing into alleged irregularities in liquor law enforcement going to suffer because of a shortage of witnesses?

That question emerged today

DON'T KNOW

"People who have been mentioned in newspapers as knowing a great deal have told our investigators they couldn't testify as to what they've heard," said Asst. Atty. Gen. Nola White, who is directing the attorney general's probe.

"I thought the hearing might go on for several days, but now I don't know."

But all who are involved in the various probes say cautiously ly they don't know what is likely to turn up before it is all over.

Aubrey Cartledge, chief of the LCB's enforcement division and the man who supervises all of Texas' liquor agents, said his own "personal investigation" turned up nothing to justify losing confidence in the "L-men."

AXED AGENTS TALK

Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said the grand jury in that city, where the first allegations concerning alleged misconduct by LCB agents were made, has only begun its investigation. Four men appeared before the grand jury Tuesday. Wade said "a good many more witnesses will appear before the grand jury later on."

Included in the group called before the grand jury were two of the six Dallas LCB agents fired because of alleged misconduct involving sale of a confiscated truck.

BRIBERY?

White said one of his investigators has returned to Austin from Odessa, where published reports said a gambling operation had been located in a well-known hotel. The Odessa investigation is "not necessarily through" and is not concerned with gambling itself but "only from the LCB standpoint," he said.

Enforcement of laws against gambling is the concern of local police agencies and district attorneys, he pointed out, but "we want to know if there has been some payoff or bribery in connection with that (LCB) angle."

White's investigators in Tyler and Jasper submitted preliminary reports that they produced no evidence or witnesses of misconduct by board employees.

The DPS also is investigating, and White said the two agencies would "correlate" their reports Friday in anticipation of Monday's hearing.

Turner Draws Death Penalty

WACO (AP) — Oscar Turner, 23-year-old, 350-pound Negro truck driver from Dallas, received a death sentence Wednesday for the slaying of two men during a filling station robbery.

Turner sat impassively and without apparent emotion as the jury was polled and as Dist. Judge Vic Hall read the death sentence.

"Judge, I want to let you know that I want to appeal," the big man said calmly. The judge told his court-appointed lawyers.

Turner was found guilty of murder in the slayings of Anton Kaska, 41, and Kaska's 20-year-old son, David Kaska. The pair drove onto the gas station driveway while trying out a used car they were considering buying.

Two station attendants were shot during the same robbery but recovered and testified against Turner.

Also charged in the incident was Willis Scott, 24, another Dallas man. He is to be tried later.

Turner's defense was based on a plea of insanity. The jury returned the guilty verdict Tuesday but heard additional testimony Wednesday before deciding the accused should die in the electric chair.

Tito Walks The Plank

It looks as if the competition between divisions in the YMCA participating campaign is really keen. Tito Arencibia, left, chairman of the handball division and already a Y quota buster, gets a shove from Mrs. Jack Cathey, head of the swimming division, while Frank Hardesty, chairman of the participating campaign, tries to keep things on an even keel. Arencibia's team leads all others in Y memberships brought in.

Three Doctors Ruled Guilty

HOUSTON (AP) — Three Texas medical doctors have been placed on five years probation by the Texas State Board of Medical Examiners.

The doctors are Charles Wendell Thompson III and Willard W. Pratt, both of Houston, and William Earl Korndorffer of Dickinson.

The board issued the penalties after a two-day hearing.

The board found Dr. Thompson guilty of a charge of falsifying insurance claims. He also is under an indictment charging theft and faces trial in criminal district court.

Dr. Pratt was found guilty by the board of a charge of prescribing class A narcotic drugs for persons he had neither examined nor obtained their past medical reports.

The board found Dr. Korndorffer guilty of a charge of having "large quantities (of narcotics) in his possession and dispensing to various individuals without keeping a record of the names of the persons to whom such drugs were dispensed."

Draft Law Called 'Act Of Hysteria'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has given a cool reception to contentions the 1965 law making it a crime to burn draft cards was a congressional "act of hysteria" designed "to punish those beatniks."

The American Civil Liberties Union also argued Wednesday before the high court that draft-card burning is "symbolic speech" protected by the Constitution.

ICY RESPONSES

Both arguments put forth by ACLU lawyer Marvin M. Karpatkin drew icy responses from the justices.

Karpatkin maintained Congress passed the legislation to punish conduct it considered unpatriotic. "The only legislative purpose here," he said, "was in stamping out dissent."

But Chief Justice Earl Warren wondered if a soldier who broke his weapon in Vietnam could be considered to have performed an act of symbolic speech.

And Justice Abe Fortas drew a parallel to a dissenter throwing a brick through a White House window or his "quivering body" in front of a train, carrying troops.

NO CASE

Both Fortas and Justice John M. Harlan suggested it isn't the court's function to examine the motives of Congress.

argument that a law of Congress can be declared unconstitutional because of improper motive."

The hearing brought the court in touch with the emotional way some young Americans are dissenting from the Vietnam war. The question is: Can they do so by burning their draft cards without winding up in jail?

14 CONVICTED

So far 21 American youths have been indicted, and 14 of them convicted, under the law.

It was passed, without public hearings, 393 to 1 by the House on Aug. 10, 1965, and by voice vote of the Senate three days later.

Presumably its use will pick up if the court reverses the judgment of the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston and declares the statute constitutional.

In the case at hand, David P. O'Brien, a 19-year-old pacifist, burned his draft card on the steps of a Boston courthouse in March, 1966, and turned over the charred remains to FBI agents who watched him.

The act, which could put O'Brien in jail for four years, was described by Karpatkin as a peaceful "expression of dissent."

"Abstract discussion," the somber, dark-haired lawyer argued, "is not the only form of speech protected by the First Amendment."
