COL. ROBIN OLDS

TWICE AN ACE Col. Olds To Speak At Webb Dining-In

Members of Webb AFB graduating class 68-E and guests will hear one of the more colorful officers in the Air Force tonight, when Col. Robin Olds addresses the dining-in at 7 o'clock in the Officer's Open Mess.

The class includes 58 student pilots, who will receive their wings Saturday at 10 a.m. during commencement exercises on the Webb flight line. Outstanding students will also be recognized, and a contingent of the Lowry AFB band will be on hand.

Cadet Commandant

Col. Olds is commandant of cadets at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo. He is a flying ace of two wars, credited with more than a score of "kills" in World War II and four MIGs in Vietnam.

Until getting his present assignment, he wore a plish mustache, but Pentagon officers ordered it shaved away for his academy post. Popular with the cadets, some 6,000 of them greeted him during a noon review sporting similar mustaches. The colonel, a past commander of the 8th Tactical Fighter Wing at Ubon Royal Thai Air Force Base, Thailand, flew the E-4D Phantom jet in Southeast Asia, when he destroyed four MIG aircraft. He is a command pilot and a graduate of the National War College. A native of Honolulu, Hawaii, Col. Olds graduated from the United States Military Academy and was commissioned June 1, 1943.

Flew 107 Missions

After he completed pilot training, he was assigned missions in P-51 Mustangs and P-38 Lightnings, to the European Theater where he flew 107 combat missions in P-51 Mustangs and P-38 Lightnings. He is credited with downing 12 aircraft, destroying 11 aircraft on the ground and damaging two other aircraft during World War II.

During the war he served successively as flight commander, operations officer, and squadron commander. March 25, 1942, he became squadron commander of the 434th Fighter Squadron, 470th Fighter Group, Wattisham, England. He returned from England in August, 1945.

Col. Olds was promoted to first lieutenant Dec. 1, 1943; to captain July 24, 1944; to major Feb. 7, 1945; to lieutenant colonel Feb. 20, 1951; and to colonel June 1, 1953.

In addition to his Thai assignment, Col. Olds has served in England, Germany, and Libya as well as at several stations in the United States. His assignments have included duty as base commander, group commander and top level staff positions.

Many Decorations

Among his decorations are the Silver Star with two oak leaf clusters, the Distinguished Flying Cross with one oak leaf cluster, the Air Medal with 27 oak leaf clusters, the French Croix de Guerre, the British Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Force Commendation Medal.

Col. Olds is married to film star Ella Raines. They have two daughters, Chris, 15, and Susan, 14.

Enrollment Jumps

A late surge has pushed the spring semester enrollment at Howard County Junior College to 963. Of this total, 553 are full-time students, only two less than for the fall semester.

The total registration to date is 11 per cent over the spring of 1967 and full-time is up 10.4 per cent. Deadline for registration comes Monday before the class in which the student plans to participate. The addition of a class in shorthand at the end of the week brought in 12 registrants.

Copters Bring Troops Into Saigon Fight

SAIGON (AP) — Helicopters landed U.S. troops on Saigon's racetrack today to help rout out dihard Viet Cong forces as the North Vietnamese increased pressure against Da Nang and more Communist tanks were reported sighted near Khe Sanh.

Heavy fighting was reported across South Vietnam's northern sector, with 321 Communists and 67 U.S. troops killed Thursday, most of them in battles around Khe Sanh and Da Nang and in Hue. Another 170 Americans were wounded.

BOLSTER

Troops from the U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade were landed in the center of the Saigon racetrack and quickly took up positions to bolster South Vietnamese forces having slow-going blasting the Reds out of Cholom, the Chinese quarter and adjoining areas on the southwest side of Saigon.

Thursday night the Viet Cong burned down a block of homes just south of the track. The region had been declared pacified two days ago, but the Viet Cong either surfaced from hiding or slipped back into the city. A Viet Cong battalion is reported to control 20 blocks east and south of the race course.

It was the third time American troops have been used in the battle of Saigon that began last Wednesday. Paratroops of the 101st Airborne Division were helicoptered onto the roof of the U.S. Embassy when Red commandos invaded the embassy grounds Jan. 31. Two days later an armored column of the 25th Infantry Division helped clear out Viet Cong forces from the racetrack area.

TAPERING OFF

Elsewhere below the northern provinces, the big Communist offensive against the cities launched 10 days ago appeared tapering off. But the U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese forces were still battling doggedly in Hue, the old imperial capital in the north, and fighting drew closer to Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city and the nerve center for Allied operations in the northern provinces.

An indication of the gravity with which the U.S. Command viewed the situation in the north was a decision to send Gen. Creighton D. Abrams, deputy U.S. commander in Vietnam, to take personal charge. Informed military sources said Abrams would set up his headquarters in Phu Bai, north of Da Nang.

No major enemy activity was reported today in the Khe Sanh area, where U.S. commandos expect the biggest North Vietnamese push of the war in an attempt to seize South Vietnam's two northernmost provinces. But the U.S. Command in a delayed report told of the sighting Thursday of more North Vietnamese tanks, which made their first appearance in the war in the capture of the Lang Vei Special Forces camp west of Khe Sanh Wednesday.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay rejected early today the recommendations of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's special panel for ending the 8-day-old sanitation men's strike. Hours later, Rockefeller turned down Lindsay's renewed call for National Guard help in removing the tons of festering garbage.

AGREED

The striking sanitation union had agreed to the special panel's offer of a $425 annual pay increase, only $25 above a state mediator's proposal made before the strike. The city had also rejected the $400 settlement offer.

Asked if he thought the Guard would be called out, Rockefeller replied: "No, I honestly don't."

Grim and haggard at a pre-dawn news conference, Lindsay declared: "I said yesterday the city would not pay blackmail in order to conclude this strike. The proposed settlement, in my view, asks the city to pay a little blackmail."

Garbage was piling up in the city's 6,000 miles of streets at the rate of 10,000 tons a day. Fire engines began regular patrols of the streets, and vacant lots were used as public burning sites.

The poorer neighborhoods, lined with tenements which lack incinerators, suffered most. Residents stacked garbage along the curbs in piles that overflowed into the streets. Wind scattered paper, baring the rotting residue of dinner tables.

STREETS

Children still played in streets of these neighborhoods, but not all of them. "No sir, I won't let my kid go out in the street," said a lower East Side mother. "And where are they going to go?"

A health emergency was declared. Officials feared an explosion of the rat population and an accompanying typhoid danger.

Lindsay renewed his plea for a National Guard callup which the governor held in abeyance Thursday as he took charge of the dispute and sought to break the deadlock through mediation. But at 3:25 a.m. the mayor's press secretary announced Lindsay had turned down the proposal calling for a $425 annual increase in salaries—$25 more than the proposal of another mediation team which the union rejected earlier.

Union President John J. DeLury, who was released from jail to join the talks Thursday, was returned to his cell today after he had presented the panel's report to his shop stewards. He is serving a 15-day contempt sentence.

The union struck Friday in a demand for a $600 increase in the annual salaries that range from $6,424 to $7,956 after three years.

At the end of the first week of the unprecedented strike there was enough uncollected trash littering the city to fill the holds of six average-sized, ocean-going freighters.

In declaring the first citywide health emergency since a summer polio epidemic in 1931, the Board of Health warned that typhoid fever could result if uncollected garbage jammed sewers and caused flooding.

The Board also cited a whopping 700 per cent increase in rubbish fires since the beginning of the strike and the spectre of a citywide explosion in the rat population.

Cheerleaders Can Cheer, But Not Touch

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The boy and girl cheerleaders have to quit touching each other or quit leading cheers at Bethany Nazarene College.

Acrobatics and gymnastic routines are out, says head cheerleader Carolyn Davis, because some women complained about gymnastics in routines at Bethany basketball games.

NO CONTACT

Miss Davis said school administrators had ruled there is to be "no physical or body contact between the men and women cheerleaders at all."

She said the four cheerleaders had been told, "We must either hand in our resignations or cut out body contact."

All of the cheerleaders considered resigning, Miss Davis said, "but we decided we had a responsibility to the team and the students who chose us."

Gordon Wickersham, public relations director, said the rule only refer to the college catalogue concerning the schools position.

QUOTES

The catalogue, he said, notes, "It must be borne in mind that certain disciplines are necessary to the future welfare of individuals," and the college has the right to "supervise social activities in harmony with Christian principles."

N. Vietnam Peace Offer Has No Shift In Policy

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam offered the United States the sword and the olive branch Thursday on the 11th day of the biggest Communist offensive of the Vietnam war.

The peace bid was made by Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh, who said Hanoi would go to the peace table "as soon as the United States has proved that it has really stopped unconditionally the bombings and all other acts of war" against North Vietnam.

PROMISE

The promise of more fighting was held out by Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, North Vietnam's defense minister and the victor of the 1954 battle against the French at Dien Bien Phu.

Speaking at a reception marking the 20th anniversary of the North Korean army, Giap vowed to "fight on until we have won final victory."

Trinh's peace proposal—which said the 1954 Geneva armistice agreements could be the subject of the talks—was made in an interview with a French news agency correspondent in Hanoi.

State Department officials in Washington immediately began studying Trinh's statement. The initial reaction was that there was no fundamental shift in position.

Trinh went a step further than he had in his previous two declarations when he said that the "relevant problems" to be discussed were "questions related to a settlement of the Vietnam problem on the basis of the 1954 Geneva agreements on Vietnam; there are also other questions which could be raised by either side."

Though he insisted that Hanoi's long-standing four-point and the Viet Cong's five-point conditions for settling the war still stand, he said their "spirit" was a U.S. troop withdrawal from Vietnam. He added that the points "conform to the fundamental principles and the main clauses" of the 1954 Geneva agreements.

Hanoi's willingness to use the Geneva pact as a basis for the peace conference suggested they had not consulted Peking on this point. The Red Chinese insist the agreements are dead and no longer applicable.

STRIKES

Giap said in referring to the Viet Cong strikes in the south: "These brilliant victories marked a new and very important step in the development of our people's resistance against the U.S. imperialists for national salvation, and have taken our resistance to a new situation very favorable for our people and unfavorable for the U.S. aggressors. These resounding victories are vigorously stimulating the entire Vietnamese people from the South to the North to charge forward with still greater valor and determination and fight on until we have won final victory."

He made no reference to any possibility of peace talks. It was the third time since early last year that Trinh had publicly expressed Hanoi's willingness to sit down with the Americans, if the bombing of North Vietnam's cities and military targets are halted.

Violence Leaves 37 Others Hurt

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — Three Negro students were killed in a brief but bloody exchange of gunfire with police Thursday night in the fourth night of violence on two adjoining college campuses.

Thirty-seven other persons were injured in the outburst, which started when state troopers and National Guardsmen attempted to push the students back onto a campus to douse fires they had started.

The crack of gunfire or fireworks could be heard throughout the night from the grounds of South Carolina State College and Claflin College, both predominantly Negro institutions, but this morning all was quiet.

The outbursts began Monday night with a rock-throwing demonstration against the All-Star Bowling Lanes, a privately owned alley operated by Harry K. Floyd on a segregated basis. Students from the two colleges have been trying for months to integrate the facility.

13 Injured Earlier

Thirteen persons were injured in flare-ups earlier this week.

Chief J. P. Strom of the State Law Enforcement Division said Cleveland Sellers, 25, South Carolina coordinator of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), was arrested after the incident Thursday night on charges of inciting to riot. He was taken to the South Carolina Penitentiary at Columbia and held under $50,000 bond.

Associated Press photographer Dozier Mobley, who was on the scene of the shootings, said the incident lasted only three or four minutes.

He said the students had set a bonfire near the entrance to South Carolina State College, another near a warehouse across a street, and another by throwing a gasoline bomb against a nearby home of an elderly white woman, Mrs. Mammie Brunson.

Officers Moved In

About 50 policemen moved in from an intersection 1½ blocks away where the college area had been sealed off. They were followed by about 50 National Guardsmen.

Mobley said the police ordered the Negroes back onto the campus so firemen could enter the area. The police then moved in and the Negroes began throwing rocks and bottles, Mobley said. One patrolman, D. J. Shealy, was struck with a club.

Police took Shealy to a cruiser, which left for a hospital. Then the police started back up a slope toward the group of about 75 Negroes and a shot rang out.

"Get down," the lead policeman yelled. "They're shooting at us!"

"Then the shooting started," Mobley said. "In a few minutes it was quiet and the police moved up the slope and started carrying down the dead and injured." Several ambulances carried them to Orangeburg Regional Hospital.

Marine Thwarted In Plane Hijack

DA NANG (AP) — A U.S. Marine private in a black leather jacket with a cocked .45 caliber pistol tried today to hijack a Pan American Airlines DC6 loaded with war-weary U.S. Servicemen waiting to fly to Hong Kong, U.S. Air Force Police said.

After 2 hours and 45 minutes, a message from a four-star general and tear gas, the copilot thwarted the effort with a bold move.

The man arrested by Air Force police was identified as Marine Pfc. William Lee Clark of the 1st Division's 1st Field Artillery Group. No charges have been filed and authorities withheld comment pending a full investigation.

The incident started at 1:30 p.m. after 83 servicemen were aboard the plane for their rest and recuperation flight to Hong Kong.

In the cockpit of the four-engine plane were the pilot, John P. Jones, of New York City; copilot E.L. Archer, 30, of Beville, Tex., and a flight engineer, Robert H. Clack, 26, of Midland, Mich.

While the engines were warming up, the trespasser in the leather jacket, blue jeans and boots shouted up to Archer from the runway. He asked where the plane was going, Archer said, and added he worked for a U.S. airline in Vietnam.

The next thing the crew knew, Archer said, the man was up front in the cockpit. He shut and bolted the door, cocked his pistol and kept it pointed at the flight engineer's head most of the time, Jones said.

Conflict Of Interest Lashed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. John Connally, a lame duck chief executive whose three terms have been generally free of scandal, served notice Thursday that he may call a "special session" to deal with the state's burgeoning liquor controversy.

Connally called a news conference Thursday and lashed out at conflict of interest involving members of the legislature and the state's 170 boards and agencies.

Senators and representatives, Connally said, exercise more control over regulatory boards like the Texas Liquor Control Board than does the governor, even though the board members are his to appoint.

"They have more control in two ways," he said. "They (the Senate) must confirm them and they hold the purse strings... control of appropriations is the most flagrant example of influence."

"There have been times," he said, "when they threatened to cut off appropriations if a certain agency did not accede to the wishes of some senator," Connally said, speaking emphatically but naming no names.

He said he was thinking seriously about resubmitting his controversial liquor by the drink measure to a special session that must be called to work on a state budget.

"If I feel we need the revenue in the coming year I might well submit it again at the special session," he said. "I don't forego the possibility I might call a second special session for that purpose."

Passing a conflict of interest act, he said, would be the "best thing that could happen to this state."

He said he might not have time to prepare a full bill dealing with conflict of interest before the next legislative session but said he felt some bill should be passed which would prohibit those who make the laws from representing clients before state boards and agencies.

"Some of those today who appear so shocked and amazed at happenings (the TLCB investigation) were among those who opposed stricter liquor controls last year," he noted.

"I am still very strong on my liquor by the drink program and I will do everything I can to do away with the brown bags and the private clubs that are a subterfuge to state law."

He compared the present liquor situation to Prohibition. "The true matter is that a vast majority of people in Texas favor liquor by the drink. But there is a militant minority composed of prohibitionists, teamed up with bootleggers and some of the industry itself to defeat the wishes of the majority," he said.

He said he had confidence in the investigation of the TLCB being conducted by the attorney general's department and the Department of Public Safety.

On other subjects the governor: —"Applauded" House Speaker Ben Barnes for announcing the appointment of a special House committee to study revision of state liquor laws.

—Said W. D. Noel of Odessa, chairman of the TLCB, had asked not to be appointed again to his post well before the current controversy arose over the board.

—Commended the TLCB for making a harsher definition this week of the word "guest" as involved in guest cards at the state's private clubs.

—Said he considered the private fund set up to buy land for the LBJ State Park similar to solicitation for the United Fund and said he had not talked with fund chairman John Ben Shepperd of Odessa about publishing the names of contributors to the fund.

—Said he hoped to name a new secretary of state shortly to succeed John Hill, resigned to run for governor.

—Said he was both "amused and shocked" at published reports that Lt. Gov. Preston Smith — also a candidate for governor — favored state financing of teaching hospitals such as the one in San Antonio.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Friday, Feb. 9, 1968 - 3-A

—Said Richard Dockery, NAACP official from Dallas, showed "more interest in public prison system with brutalizing prisoners, saying his office had investigated the charges and found them unfounded."

FOR TOMORROW
—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day and evening when you could easily become over-emotional if you allow yourself the luxury of feeling that others are taking advantage of you and let yourself feel that life is hard. However, you are also able to take advantage of a chance to get some shopping, errands, home conditions improved.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Focus your time and attention on some one family and pleasing those who dwell in your home today. Clear up that widening situation that prevents your having harmony there. Use diplomacy.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20): Get that shopping done and keep whatever business or professional appointments you can on this day. Get finest results. Evening is then fine for being with relations, good friends for recreation. Evening is then fine for being with relations, good friends for recreation.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Doing whatever you can to cooperate with individuals brings fine results now. Make whatever improvements are necessary to your home, etc. Add to its value.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Forget being so petty and show others that you really appreciate and are interested in others' entertain them. The p.m. is especially fine for enjoying yourself with good pals. Be of a cheerful attitude.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Taking time to make some good friend happy is good today, since this is a sincere person. Replace discord with harmonious feelings. Show that you are a person of uncommon good sense. Handle your affairs wisely.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): You need the company of good pals, but this is not possible until p.m. Day could bring some real tension. Be sure that you know what your fondest personal aims are. Then go after them wisely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Be sure you get out and handle those outside matters, so that by scheduling your time wisely, you can also attend to house and bookkeeping, etc. Do what official reports. Don't feel you are being impatient.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You have ideas but must subordinate them most carefully if they are to be really effective. A new contact can give you fine ideas in p.m. However, during day he would only be talking drivel and waste your time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Ask a lot of those obligations about which you have been procrastinating during day so that you can devote yourself to romance in p.m. Your intuition is wrong in a.m. but follow it tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Others are in the mood to test you, so be sure you meet the challenge with fluid colors. Get corporate affairs handled wisely. Evening can prove to be most interesting in the company of your mate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Morning is a good time to complete unfinished tasks and then be out with associates for a happy evening. See that you do something to improve your health during spare time. Show that you are a person of ability.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): You have some big affair on for the evening so "be" through during the day to get yourself in the shape well prepared for it. Be with the hope of doing you like the most. Reflect hope.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow he or she will have to be taught early not to feel sorry for one's self or there could be frustration instead of much success, which is very possible in this chart simply by thinking objectively. Dealing with the public is one fine time, especially where the commodities are concerned. Teach polite control early.

Chubby Boy Hangs Self

CONCORD, Mass. (AP) — Police say a chubby high school boy left a note for his father that he couldn't "take the ridicule" at school and then hanged himself with a necktie.

The body of the 14-year-old freshman at Concord-Carlisle Regional High School, about 25 miles from Boston, was found Tuesday hanging from a clothes rod in his bedroom closet, police said.

A note he left his father was made public Thursday by the medical examiner.

"Dear Dad," the note said. "I love you, but I just can't go through life. I can't take the ridicule of those bastards at school. Love, The father, whose name was not revealed, was quoted as saying his son was "a chubby boy but not unduly so." The father said he learned from the boy's older brother he was called "Fearless Flab, Fatso and Fat Boy."

Student Expelled

DENISON (AP) — A student, 17, accused of hitting a teacher and shoving him against a wall was expelled Thursday by the school board. A doctor took five stitches in the head of the teacher, David Donohoo.

South Koreans Due To Stop Fussing

SEOUL (AP) — Informed sources said today the South Korean government has agreed to stop complaining about the private U.S.-North Korean talks at Panmunjom to obtain release of the crew of the USS Pueblo.

The informants said the United States agreed in turn to regard the talks as part of the functions of the Korean Military Armistice Commission and not bilateral negotiations with the Communists.

The sources said South Korean Premier Chung Il-kwo and U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter also agreed to continue handling the Pueblo case in private talks but to discuss the Communist attempt to assassinate President Chung Il-kwo on Jan. 21 in open session of the armistice group. South Korea presumably wants to keep the spotlight of publicity on the Communist threat from the North.

WAR SCHEME

The South Koreans had strongly opposed the private talks, contending that the United States was paying too much attention to the Pueblo affair and not enough to the threats to them.

North Korean Premier Kim

The Rev. and Mrs. Leo Gee are back from "roughing it" in Alaska and found the 49th state "challenging and thrilling."

"The weather ranged from 40 degrees below zero to 40 degrees above during the 10 days we spent there," he said. "The snow-covered mountains are truly breathtaking."

"Alaska is truly a frontier," he said. "People there have many problems — travel is difficult and houses are hard to heat."

"In view of all these things, though, people are optimistic and dedicated to making Alaska a great state."

Rev. Gee said the church in Alaska has difficulty reaching people. He said that many people have gone there to "get away," and simply do not want to be bothered.

"Slowly, the church is taking shape and exerting a great influence there," he added.

Valentine Banquet Slated Saturday

The General Association of West Texas, a group of Latin American churches, will sponsor a Valentine banquet Saturday at 7 p.m. at the student union building at Howard County Junior College.

The banquet is for young people, 12-24, and 130 reservations have already been accepted, according to Mimi Luevano, treasurer.

The association includes Latin American churches from Pecos to Del Rio, from Lubbock to Abilene, she said.

Theme of the banquet will be "If I Were Young Again," with the Rev. Episcopo Salazar of Lubbock as guest speaker.

Il-sung meanwhile ordered his army and nation to get into combat readiness because war might erupt "at any moment."

Kim accused the United States of "scheming to ignite a new war in Korea."

The United States and South Korea, Kim added at an Army anniversary dinner, "are taking a war posture and openly declared that they would invade the northern half of the republic."

"We do not want war, but are never afraid of it," he continued. "Our people and people's army will return retaliation for the retaliation of the U.S. imperialists, all-out war for all-out war."

He referred to the capture of the USS Pueblo and said U.S. attempts to get back the crew through "threat and blackmail will bring only corpses and death."

Prolonged search operations failed to turn up any trace of a U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane and two crewmen missing over South Korean mountains. The plane disappeared on a routine training flight Thursday, and U.S. spokesmen said there was no possibility it had strayed over North Korea.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The widow of Lee Harvey Oswald says she does not believe she helped Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's Kennedy assassination probe by testifying before the Orleans Parish grand jury.

But Asst. Dist. Atty. James Alcock thinks her testimony was useful.

Marina Oswald, now Mrs. Kenneth J. Porter, testified for three hours Thursday afternoon.

The Warren Commission said Oswald was the lone assassin of President John F. Kennedy. Garrison says several men, including Oswald, were involved in a conspiracy that originated in New Orleans.

Mrs. Porter, who was ordered here by a state court judge in Dallas for questioning, lives with her second husband in the Dallas suburb of Richardson.

She married Oswald after he visited her native Russia following his discharge from the Marine Corps.

Also testifying Thursday was Kerry Thornley of Tampa, Fla., a Marine Corps buddy of Oswald. Garrison contends Thornley helped Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's Kennedy assassination probe by testifying before the Orleans Parish grand jury.

Indian Plane Carrying 98 Is Missing

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Ninety-eight persons were aboard an Indian air force plane which has been missing in the Himalayas since Wednesday afternoon, the government-operated All India radio reported today.

The broadcast said that among those aboard the Soviet-built AN12 transport were four army officers, a civilian, and a crew of six. The other 87 apparently were enlisted army personnel.

The Defense Ministry first announced the plane was missing Thursday afternoon. It refused to say how many were aboard on a return flight from Leh, capital of the Ladakh region of eastern Kashmir State near the Tibetan border. The plane had not been able to land at Leh because of bad weather.

All India radio said search for the craft was hampered by the same bad weather.

South Vietnam Boots Scribe

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government today gave Francois Mazure, a correspondent for the French news agency, Agence France Presse, 24 hours to get out of the country.

The government accused Mazure and his agency of writing articles "detrimental to the well-being of South Vietnam." Nguyen Ngoc Linh, director-general of information, said many articles by AFP newsmen were "pro-Viet Cong" and AFP was "spreading false rumors and false news."

Linh added that Mazure was being expelled because he "allowed himself to be captured" briefly by the North Vietnamese in Hue and "was writing about North Vietnamese operations on South Vietnamese soil."

Linh warned foreign newsmen that the government takes a dim view of correspondents who talk with the Viet Cong or North Vietnamese troops. Government sources said the government first had planned to close the AFP bureau in Saigon, which has several newsmen in addition to Mazure.

Mazure is the second foreign newsmen expelled from South Vietnam this year. The government refused to renew the visa of Everett G. Martin of Newsweek magazine and he left last month.

60 Republicans Seek House Seats

AUSTIN (AP) — Preliminary figures released by the state Republican headquarters show 60 Republicans running for House seats in the legislature.

Rep. Malou Abraham of Canadian, in the northeast corner of the Panhandle, is the first GOP candidate in recent history to run unopposed for a house seat, the Republicans reported Thursday. No Democrat has filed against him.

The 60 running for House seats are in 68 races, all but seven with Democratic incumbents.

The four Senate seats include two in Dallas and one each in Houston and the Midland-Odessa-San Angelo areas.

Sixteen Republicans have entered 12 races for congressman. Rep. George Bush is unopposed in Houston's 7th District.

Israeli Soldier, Five Arab Saboteurs Killed In Clash

TEL AVIV (AP) — Five Arab saboteurs and an Israeli soldier were killed in a clash today six miles north of Jericho on the western side of the Jordan River in territory occupied by Israel, the Israeli army announced.

The shooting occurred when an Israeli army patrol came upon a band of seven infiltrators.

The army reported earlier that 10 persons were killed on the Jordanian front Thursday: two Israeli civilians and three soldiers, four Arab raiders and one Swiss civilian.

However, a Jordanian spokesman in Amman, said eight Jordanians, including a woman and two children, were killed and 43 wounded in an afternoon-long battle across the Jordan River on Thursday. A Jordanian spokesman claimed the Israelis turned big artillery on refugee camps.

The Israelis charged Jordan with igniting the flareup with a machine-gun barrage, and an army spokesman said three Israeli soldiers died in the battle across the river.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Police foiled a holdup Tuesday night at a supermarket. Two of the three bandits were shot and wounded by police and some $3,000 scattered over the floor of the store and in a parking lot.

Wednesday, after all of the money was gathered up, store Manager Jack Meredith said an accounting showed the store gained $1.

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — The Ernest Medders, who promoted rumors of an oil inheritance into a $3 million debt, will get to keep their showplace farm after all.

Joe Huffstutler, bankruptcy referee, signed a court order Thursday allowing them to keep the 185-acre core of their one-time extensive holdings. The farm is called Colonial Acres and was the scene of lavish parties given for Texas and national leaders.

The Medders' financial pyramid collapsed last year and they accepted bankruptcy. Under Texas law, a homestead cannot be taken for bankruptcy, and the Medders selected the farm as their claimed homestead.

Some of the creditors disputed the claim.

The Medders came to Texas from Memphis, Tenn., in 1961 and began building their farm holdings and soon were accepted in the best society.

Medders said in court he was able to borrow the money, most of it from the Poor Sisters of St. Francis, a Roman Catholic order. He believed he was an heir to the Pelham Humphries Estate, including oil-rich land in East Texas. The claims made by many persons to the supposed estate have been lost many times in courts.

Downtown Lions members will honor their wives at a special dinner Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in Cosden Country Club.

The district governor, J. Marlin Allen, San Angelo, will be the speaker. The ladies' night affair will take the place of next Wednesday's meeting, said Jimmy Ray Smith, president.

Firemen answered a call to a grass fire 5:30 p.m. Thursday located half mile west of the Red Barn on IS 20. The grass caught fire from burning trash. There was no property damage.

John Buttny, co-chairman of SDS, said the booth was established so that any girl over 18 could make an appointment with a medical doctor for prescription of birth control pills. Buttny said the booth may be opened later if there is evidence of any interest.

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — A birth control information booth opened by Students for a Democratic Society at the student union building on the University of Colorado campus was closed after four days because of lack of interest.

Services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. Billy Wilkinson, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery, under the direction of the Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

She was born Sept. 21, 1898, in Abbott and was a member of the Methodist Church.

She leaves her husband; two sons, O. D. Thompson and E. S. Thompson; one daughter, Mrs. Estalee Curtis, Bynum; one stepdaughter, Mrs. Hazel Henderson, Beaumont; one stepson, Raymond Uzzle, Dallas; one sister, Mrs. Veal Carter, Tahoka; two brothers, Eddie Spruce, Fort Worth, and Jessie Spruce, Houston; several grandchildren.

Mrs. Fortenberry, 72, died at 2 p.m. Thursday in a Lubbock hospital after a lengthy illness.

Services will be at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. Wendell Leach, of Wilson, the Rev. Wayne Parmenter, of the Welch Methodist Church, and the Rev. Howell Watkins, of Northridge Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in the Lamesa Memorial Park, under the direction of the Branon-Philips Funeral Home.

She was born Jan. 10, 1896, in Mitchell County and moved to the Welch community in 1903.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. O. C. Harrison, Grassland, Mrs. E. C. Short, Tahoka, and Mrs. Kelton Russell, Electra; two sons, P. A. Fortenberry, Captain, N.M., and Clayton Fortenberry, Welch community; her stepmother, Mrs. Fannie Martin, Welch community; her stepbrothers, Johnny Martin, Lubbock; Bill Martin, Tucumcari, N.M., and Clifton Martin, Plainview; also several grandchildren.

Arthur Bronson, Montour Falls, N.Y., brother of Robert H. Bronson of Big Spring, died Wednesday. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in Montour Falls.

DEATHS

Mrs. Mary Bynum, 75, died at 12:30 a.m. today in a local hospital.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel, with Perry Cotham, minister of the Fourteenth and Main Street Church of Christ officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

She was born Dec. 15, 1892, in Alabama and married S. C. Bynum, Jan. 15, 1914, at Colorado City. The family moved to Big Spring in 1958. Mrs. Bynum was a member of the Fourteenth and Main Street Church of Christ.

Survivors include her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Lois Hill, Big Spring; three brothers, John M. Alexander, Dallas, Jeff Alexander, Daisy, Ark., and Viri Alexander, Abilene; three sisters, Mrs. Ida Robinson, Andrews, Mrs. Lillie Lewis, Big Spring, and Mrs. Pearl Myers, Seabrook.

Mrs. Mary Elva Vela, one-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Vela, 208 N. Johnson, died early today in a local hospital.

Arrangements are pending at the River-Welch Funeral Home.

She was born Jan. 7, 1968, in Uvalde. The family are members of the Catholic Church.

Survivors include the parents; one sister, Juanita Vela, of the home; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Guillermo Vela and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Juan Rendon, both of Big Spring.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday for Mrs. Minnie Myrtle Webb, grandmother of Mrs. Estil Petty of Big Spring. Mrs. Webb, who had been in failing health for two years, died Friday in a Midland nursing home.

Rites will be conducted by Elder B. R. Howze of Big Spring and the Rev. Elvis Barrington of Midland.

Mrs. Webb was born in Glen Rose, moved to Coleman when she was a child, and resided there until 1929, when she moved to Midland. Her husband, Leonard S. Webb, who died in 1959, had farmed in the Midland area, and was credited with inventions of an insect-killing machine and a mechanical cotton picker.

Mrs. Webb is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ina Beauchamp of Midland; two brothers, Arthur Goodman of Phoenix and Herbert Goodman of Laurel, Miss.; a sister, Mrs. Viola Pruttitt of Johnson City; three grandchildren, Mrs. Estil Petty of Big Spring, Mrs. Joy Allmon of Anchorage, Alaska, Mrs. J. D. Boen of Odessa; and five great-grandchildren.

Marines Wait In Khe Sanh, Similar To French Debacle

KHE SANH, Vietnam (AP) — Fourteen years after the decisive French defeat in Indochina, U.S. Marines at Khe Sanh wait for battle in an outpost that looks like one synonymous with debacle in Vietnam—Dien Bien Phu.

The topography is similar, the same North Vietnamese general commands the Communist troops that surround the stronghold and the initiative is with the enemy.

U.S. military officials say there is a major difference—the American command's ability to supply its men with firepower, material and virtually unlimited air support.

READY TO LEAVE

The absence of these factors during the 55-day siege of Dien Bien Phu are considered the decisive factors that made possible the Viet Minh attack which overwhelmed the garrison May 7, 1954. Two months later, France was ready to leave Viet Nam.

The Marine base at Khe Sanh, just south of the demilitarized zone near the Laotian border, is defended by 5,000 to 6,000 men. The French sent some 15,500 to their fortress about 180 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap's forces around Khe Sanh are believed to number about 20,000, some 10,000 less than the Viet Minh attack troops he assembled at Dien Bien Phu, but another 20,000 are believed close at hand around the demilitarized zone.

While the Marines remain in their defensive position to block a campaign to take South Vietnam's northern provinces, the French conceived their Dien Bien Phu campaign as a way of bringing the Communist into a decisive conventional battle. But the French command was not prepared for the kind of fighting the Viet Minh did.

Coolies and bearers carted heavy artillery piece by piece through heavy jungle. Then they were assembled on the rim of the valley and the murderous pounding began.

Outposts Gabrielle, Beatrice and Huguette fell under heavy enemy attack. The Viet Minh took great losses, four times as many casualties as the French in one battle, but kept coming back.

INTENSE SHELLING

Intense shelling—like that now aimed at Khe Sanh—eventually made landing supplies by air impossible for the French. Reinforcements and new material became limited to what could be parachuted into increasingly small secure areas.

Khe Sanh's Marine commander, Col. David Lownds, told AP correspondent George McArthur that Khe Sanh could be maintained without its air strip. He said it had been done last fall when monsoon rains made the strip useless for more than a month. If it were to be closed again, U.S. troops among the more than 40,000 stationed with-to come to the aid of the men dying at Dien Bien Phu. When the Viet Minh's red flag went up on the garrison's command bunker, 5,000 French Union troops had died in the valley or on its hilly outposts. Another 7,000 prisoners died later in prison camps or forced marches.

'The Fantasticks'

The final performances of "The Fantasticks" will be staged tonight and Saturday at 8:15 p.m. in the Lamplight Theatre on the Mall. Tickets will be available at the door, but theatre-goers were urged to get advance duets if possible, to insure getting a seat. In this opening pose are Mrs. Wanda Grabau (left), as The Mute; Dan Shockey (right), as The Narrator; Dick Shaver (on knees) and Barry Clayton as The Fathers; Sharon Belsler, as The Girl, and Lowell Grabau, as The Boy. Not shown, but also in the cast, are Al Scott, as the Old Actor, and Dennis Brewer, as The Man Who Dies.

Dear Abby Tammy Needs Help—Now

DEAR ABBY: Your advice is needed badly. I am a 15-year-old girl. My best friend (I'll call her Tammy) is also 15, and she's about three months pregnant. Tammy isn't married and she doesn't have one single friend but me.

The boy who got her pregnant took off, and she doesn't even know where he is now. She says she doesn't care, as he showed his true colors by running away, and she is better off forgetting him. I agree with her.

Abby, if Tammy's folks find out they will kill her. I can't ask my mother to help her. She wouldn't let me even speak to Tammy if she knew about this.

Tammy keeps talking about running away or killing herself. I can't take a chance on getting a letter at my house and neither can Tammy. Someone might get suspicious and open it, so will you please tell me in your column if there is a home for unwed mothers who would take my friend in? She doesn't have any money. Thank you.

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Find "SALVATION ARMY" in your telephone directory. Listed under it is BOOTH MEMORIAL HOSPITAL. Telephone either number, explain the situation, and they will help you. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I am a working girl, 23, married two years and am extremely happy with my husband and my job. However, I have a problem at the borders on the ridiculous.

I have had this same job for five years (long before I knew my husband) and I have always gone to lunch with a group of my co-workers. The men outnumber the women, but most of the men are old enough to be my father. Furthermore, I am not naive, and I can tell when a man has more than just a platonic interest in me. And believe me, nobody around here has!

My husband resents my lunching with these men. He thinks that because I am attractive and extremely bosomy, every-man I know has designs on me. His jealousy is getting me down. Must I give in and stop these harmless luncheons just to please a jealous husband? I pay for my own lunches and there are always other girls along.

BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: If you "give in" to one unreasonable demand, a precedent will have been set, and others are sure to follow. There is nothing wrong with lunching with your co-workers. Tell your husband to grow up and to show a little more confidence in himself and in you.

DEAR ABBY: What happens to parents when they become grandparents? Mine are too young to be getting senile, but they certainly don't show the good judgment in handling MY children as they did when they raised me.

My parents ruled their children with an iron hand. No backtalk, we did as we were told, and if we forgot our manners we heard about it. We weren't permitted to eat between meals, and we had to be in bed with lights out at a certain time, and no nonsense.

But you should see the way they handle our children! All rules and regulations laid down at home are out-of-the-window at the grandparents' house. The kids whine and beg until they get their own way. They talk back, and are fed soft drinks, candy, and cookies—all they want at all hours. And they don't have to do anything they don't want to do.

I love my parents, Abby, but I wish they realized how tough they are making it for me when they do this. It's difficult for children of any age to tell their parents anything, so you would do me (and millions of others) a great service if you printed this. Thank you.

FRUSTRATED PARENTS

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Low Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

American Transport Planes Begin Evacuating Thousands

SAIGON (AP) — American transport planes began evacuating to safety today thousands of Vietnamese and Laotian soldiers and civilians who descended on the U.S. Marine combat base at Khe Sanh after the fall of the Lang Vei Special Forces camp.

Big C130 transports started flying the 5,000 to 6,000 refugees to Da Nang to refugee centers.

They included about 2,000 Laotian civilians and some soldiers from a Laotian army battalion who escaped to Lang Vei last month after their post in Laos was overrun by the North Vietnamese troops; local Broun mountain tribesmen, Vietnamese civilians and about 200 Vietnamese and Montagnard irregulars from the garrison of the Lang Vei Special Forces camp.

Humble Asks Immediate Increase In Allowable

HOUSTON (AP)—Humble Oil & Refining Co. has asked the Texas Railroad Commission to increase the state's February oil production allowable immediately.

Humble, the nation's largest producer of crude oil, hiked its February nominations for crude requirements from 597,000 to 617,000 barrels per day.

NOT AVAILABLE

Humble, the domestic exploration, producing, refining and marketing affiliate of the Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) made the request in a telegram Thursday to Jim Langdon, chairman of the Railroad Commission's state oil and gas regulatory body at Austin. The commission is to hold regular monthly production hearings Feb. 15 to set the March allowable.

Langdon was not available for comment but commissioners Ben Ramsey and Byron Tunnell said they had not seen the telegram. However, Tunnell said

Coastal States had requested an increased allowable.

"This morning (Friday) the Marines are sorting them out. They moved them into different groups and they gave back the arms to the Laotian soldiers and the Vietnamese irregulars. Now they are moving them out of Khe Sanh."

U.S. officials said they hoped to complete the evacuation by Saturday.

respectfully requests an immediate increase in Texas allowable for the month of February.

"Humble has an immediate need for additional suitable crude oil to meet February demand and has been unable to purchase crude after extensive canvassing of the market."

WAIT, WATCH

The request was sent by J. F. Bennett, general manager of Humble's supply department.

Last week Langdon acknowledged the commission had been approached about boosting the February allowable but he said the commission was not ready at that time to call a special hearing.

"We want to watch it over the weekend," Langdon said. "He said there had been an unusually strong demand for domestic crude but added that hasty action of boosting allowables could pose "some inherent pitfalls."

The February allowable based on a 47 per cent factor was designed to yield about 3,139,170 barrels of crude a day.

Education Panel To Eye Tech Lag

AUSTIN (AP)—The House Education Committee will meet in Kilgore Feb. 20 for the first of 10 public hearings over the state to determine Texas' vocational and technical education needs.

Rep. George Hinson, Mineola, announced Thursday.

Hinson, committee chairman, said, "Texas stands tall in many fields of education, but vocational-technical education is not one of them. I regret to say, 'We must find out why we are lagging behind other states comparable to Texas in this area of educational opportunity, and what the real needs are.'"

Plan Special Services Sunday

Among ministers who are participating in COCU, the Consultation on Church Union, are, from left, Rev. John Wagner, associate pastor, First Methodist Church; Dr. Hubert Bratcher, district superintendent of the Methodist Church; Rev. Marvin Roark, Kentwood Methodist Church; Rev. John Payne, St. Mary's Episcopal Church; Rev. John Beard, First Christian Church; Rev. Leo Gee, First Methodist Church; Rev. Dan Sebesta, St. Paul Presbyterian Church; and Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian Church.

Inter-Church Group Plans Special Services Sunday

Church unity and the ecumenical movement will be discussed at special services Sunday at 7 p.m. at the First Methodist Church.

The service is part of a unique Christian experience called COCU, the Consultation on Church Union, according to Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, who is handling arrangements.

"Different teachings and doctrines of the churches will be pointed out in a special panel discussion," Dr. Lloyd said. Similarities of theology on which churches could agree will be emphasized.

Expected to participate in the service are Methodist churches in the area, the First Presbyterian Church, St. Paul Presbyterian Church, the First Christian Church and St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

The panel will include the Rev. John Payne, St. Mary's Episcopal Church; the Rev. John Beard, First Christian Church; Rev. Leo Gee, First Methodist Church; and the Rev. Tom Strother, Wesley Methodist Church.

The Consultation on Church Union is a step toward a united church, Dr. Lloyd said. Every year since 1962, national delegations from 10 member churches have discussed the issues involved in a union of churches.

Member churches participating nationally include the African Methodist Episcopal Church, the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ), Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, Episcopal Church, Evangelical United Brethren Church, Methodist Church, Presbyterian Church in the U.S., United Church of Christ and the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. Sunday's program will feature a sermon by Rev. Payne, in addition to the panel discussion.

The Rev. John Wagner, associate pastor of First Methodist Church, will offer the invocation and pastoral prayer; scripture will be read by Dr. Lloyd from Jeremiah 2:10-13 and 1 Peter 2:1-10; and the anthem will be "Once to Every Man and Na-

Members of all churches are encouraged to attend, said Dr. Lloyd.

Interracial Service Set

Campbell, Rev. Melvin Montgomery, and standing, Rev. R. F. Polk and Rev. Julian Vigil.

Association Sets Meeting

The Big Spring Baptist Association will meet Monday at 6 p.m. with the Salem Baptist Church.

The January meeting was cancelled due to icing conditions, and the moderator, the Rev. Byron Orand, College Baptist pastor, said that there was a heavy slate of business. One matter to be discussed is the possibility of joining with the San Angelo Association to form an area (which supersedes the old district alignments). The message for the monthly meeting will be brought by the Rev. James Puckett, Baptist Temple pastor. James Kinman will direct the music.

Nazarene Quartet To Sing Here Saturday

The College Four Quartet from Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Okla., will present a program at the Church of the Nazarene fellowship hall Saturday at 5:30 p.m. The program will follow a buffet-style barbecue dinner which is $1.40 per person, said Rev. D. M. Duke, pastor, said. "This special program is for high school or college students and their parents who are interested in learning about Bethany Nazarene College," Rev. Duke said. Alumni of the college are also invited, he added. The Rev. Marcell Knight, director of public relations for the college, will coordinate activities. The quartet will sing at the revival service at 7:30 p.m. The Rev. Buford Battin, evangelist from Lubbock, is leading the revival, which ends Sunday.

CHRIST IS THE TRUE 'BREAD FROM HEAVEN'

The Bible is food for the Christian. By knowing it better, he knows Christ better, as the International Uniform Lesson series for Sunday points out.

It is not only the suicide victims who fail to find happiness and meaning in life. Many stay alive but do not really live. The words of Christ about His being the bread of life who gives lasting satisfaction have real meaning for the lost. Men need spiritual food just as they need food with which to nourish their bodies, Christ told His disciples. A person who becomes a Christian must feed on the spiritual food available to him so that he can "grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour" (II Peter 3:18).

Background scripture is taken from John 6, and the scripture selection is from John 6:35-44, 48. The "real life" illustration points out that most big bakeries have "second-day" bread stores, where it is possible to purchase slightly stale bread reduced in price. The point is that the bread deteriorates with 24 hours, and, after a certain time if it is not bought, it is dumped into the garbage can. Spiritual truths from Jesus Christ do not get stale. Instead, they make possible satisfying growth in grace.

FOR THOSE WHO FOLLOW

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Imagine picking your way along a frozen wilderness trail. You're bitterly cold, but see no sign of human habitation, mile after terrifying mile. Then, thanks to someone who's already gone this way, you come upon a crude shack. Even with shelter you could still freeze to death, but you find wood already gathered for a fire. Later, before venturing on, you too pile high more wood for someone yet to come. No matter who you are—or where—your life marks a trail that someone is following. Along that way is the Church—a haven from storms of the world. Yet the building alone is not enough. It must have people to work in it and to gather fuel for the fires of faith. Begin today to support and strengthen the Church for those yet to come.

DALLAS — American Petroleum today announced that Blankinship Oil Company, Paris, a large Northeast Texas independent petroleum jobber, has been named a jobber of Fina gasolines and lubricants. Fifteen stations serviced by Blankinship Oil Company have been branded Fina. J. H. (Hack) Blankinship is the principal officer of Blankinship Oil Company.

Fellowship Hall Will Be Added

A new fellowship hall, costing $4,800, will be added to the educational wing of the Goliad Assembly of God Church, 2200 Goliad.

The Rev. Melvin McKnight, pastor, said that the hall will be used for recreational purposes. Men of the church will build the facility, he added.

Wallace Bid Puts Focus On System's Weaknesses

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In bidding for the White House, George C. Wallace is gambling he can do something that hasn't been done for 144 years—throw a presidential election into the House of Representatives.

The fact the nation has been able to avoid such a turn in its presidential politics for so long is no comfort to many major party moguls and Wallace's candidacy is certain to focus attention again on the manner in which the United States chooses its presidents.

In essence, it clings to a system that hasn't really worked the way it was supposed to since George Washington decided two terms was enough and retired to Mount Vernon. The constitution says the President shall be chosen by electors named by each state, with a state having as many electors as it has senators and representatives in Congress.

As envisioned by the founding fathers, the electoral college system would permit leading citizens from each state to get together, weigh the merits of various illustrious colleagues and pick one for president.

Trouble arose in 1800 when it took 31 ballots in the House to break an electoral-college deadlock between Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr. In 1824, the last time the House had to act, it chose John Quincy Adams although he ran well behind Andrew Jackson in a four-way race.

The system cost Samuel J. Tilden the presidency in 1876 when he ran 250,000 votes ahead of Rutherford B. Hayes but lost by one electoral vote in a disputed election settled by a special commission. And in 1888, Grover Cleveland had a 100,000-vote plurality over Benjamin Harrison, but lost the presidency by 233 electoral votes to 168.

By various statutes, understandings and political adjustments the system has been adapted to the vastly changed conditions of today.

But one feature remains that is at the heart of the controversy over it—the award of a state's entire electoral vote to the winning candidate.

This is the basis of Wallace's hopes. If he can win enough electoral votes to prevent either the Democratic or Republican candidate from getting a majority, the House will have to choose between the top three in the popular vote.

In recent years efforts at reform have centered on three main proposals: Scrap the whole system and go to a direct national presidential election; divide the electoral vote in each state in proportion to the candidates' popular vote; or divide it according to the vote by congressional districts.

The two vote-dividing plans appear to have run their course and more attention now is being given to the idea of a direct popular election. It is hardly new. James Madison and Benjamin Franklin proposed it at the Constitutional Convention, but it got the votes of only two states at that time.

What has brought it back strong is the Supreme Court's ruling on the one-man, one-vote principle in state and local elections. The court's logic would appear to apply equally to national elections.

Many questions connected with a direct election remain to be answered and the obstacles are formidable to such a drastic revision of a system that has lasted so long.

But if Wallace wins his gamble and the House of Representatives chooses the next president, the nation could decide its time to make the effort.

Prison Bodies Search Stops

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Thursday that excavation for graves of convicts who prison inmates said were murdered and secretly buried would cease until he is assured such excavation is legal.

Rockefeller said Thursday he had asked the state police to check the legal aspects of exhumation and report their findings to him.

The State Penitentiary Board had given Prison Supt. Thomas O. Murton the authority to dig at will and Murton had planned to resume digging at Cummins Prison Farm next week.

Nazi 'Killer' Free On Bond

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — John Patler, convicted of first-degree murder in the shooting death last Aug. 25 of American Nazi party leader George Lincoln Rockwell, is free on bond pending an effort to overturn the conviction.

Patler, 30, had been in jail since his arrest shortly after Rockwell was slain at a shopping center near the rundown estate he used as party headquarters.

A hearing is scheduled for Feb. 23 on a defense motion to set aside the Arlington Circuit Court jury verdict. Patler's attorneys said if the motion is denied, they will appeal.

In a related development, the American Nazi party filed a suit in federal court against the secretaries of defense and the Army in an effort to win a court ruling to permit what they consider a proper burial for Rockwell, a World War II veteran, in a national cemetery.

Rockwell's body was cremated shortly after his death. The Army has granted permission for burial in a national cemetery but will not allow party members to wear Nazi uniforms and insignia or allow display flags at the interment.

Rockwell's remains were brought to Culpepper National Cemetery in Culpepper, Va., a few days after his death, but Army officials turned away the Nazi party members because of their apparel.

Combat Pilot To Command

Col. Robert W. Casey became deputy commander for operations at Webb AFB Feb. 1, replacing Col. Thomas J. Rowland, who retired from the Air Force in January.

Col. Casey came to Webb from a tour of duty as chief of Air Force Advisory Team No. 7, USMAC V, and Senior Air Force Advisor IV Corps Tactical Zone, South Vietnam. He has served four other overseas tours—three of which were combat—for a total of almost 10 years overseas.

A veteran of 28 years active duty, Col. Casey's combat experience totals 347 combat missions in single engine, single place fighters in Europe, Korea and South Vietnam. He has flown a total of 98 combat hours in Republic P-47 Thunderbolts, Lockheed F-80 Shooting Stars, and Douglas A-1H Sky Raiders.

The colonel arrived at Webb Jan. 12 after a two-month assignment at Perrin Air Force Base where he completed pilot instructor training.

A native of Brownwood, Col. Casey finished high school there and attended Texas A&M for one year before he saw duty with the 36th Infantry Division, Texas National Guard. After service as a staff sergeant, he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Infantry in August, 1942, at Fort Benning, Ga.

Col. Casey became a rated pilot Aug. 4, 1944, a member of Class 4-G at Eagle Pass AAF. He received his rating as a command pilot on the same date, exactly 24 years later.

Following pilot training in the P-47 at Suffolk Co. AAB, Long Island, N. Y., Col. Casey went to the European Theater of Operations to fly combat missions with the 509th Fighter Squadron, on an assignment to Korea. He was operations officer of the 36th Fighter Squadron, 8th Fighter Group, 5th Air Force, flying combat missions in the F-80.

Col. Casey has served at O'Hare Field, Ill., Selfridge Air Force Base, Mich., Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Alaska, and Ent Air Force Base, Colo., Oxnard Air Force Base, Calif., and at Truax Field, Wis.

His awards include: the Legion of Merit, Distinguished Flying Cross with one oak leaf cluster, the Bronze Star with V device, the Air Medal with 13 oak leaf clusters, Presidential Unit Citation, Air Force Outstanding Unit Award, European Campaign Medal with two bronze battle stars, Medal for Humane Action, Korean Service Medal with four bronze battle stars, Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal with two bronze battle stars, Vietnamese Distinguished Service Order, Vietnamese Cross for Gallantry with gold star, Vietnamese Air Gallantry Medal with silver wings, Vietnamese Armed Forces Honor Medal, Republic of Korea Presidential Unit Citation, United Nations Service Medal (Korea), and the Vietnamese Service Medal.

Col. Casey married the former Rosemary Stanley of Rapid City, S. D., whose parents now live in Eugene, Ore. They have one married daughter, Judy Harding, who lives in Pueblo, Colo., with her daughter, Kim, and son, Larry. The Casey's oldest son, Robert Jr., 19, is a sophomore at SMU in Dallas. Col. and Mrs. Casey and son, Shawn Michael, 14, reside at 7 Albrook Drive.

Farmers And Ranchers Band To Collect $90,000 Claims

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK

MCKINNEY, Tex. (AP) — Collin County farmers and ranchers have formed a special committee to see what can be done about collecting an estimated $90,000 for livestock they sold through a local auction.

Nearly 200 grim-faced stockmen gathered in the district courtroom Thursday night to hear federal, state and county officials promise a thorough probe into the operations of the Collin County Livestock Commission Co.

FIRM SOLD

The firm was sold last month and has not held its usual weekly livestock auctions the past three Wednesdays. A survey made at the meeting showed those present held unpaid checks totaling $39,107 from the firm. Most of the checks had been returned from a bank at Haltom City, a Fort Worth suburb, with the notation "Uncollected" new owner will contact payee.

Officials of the Collin County Livestock Improvement Association say the total of unpaid checks may run as high as $90,000.

Ralph Williams of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Packers and Stockyard Administration told the group that a complete audit of the firm's operation was started Thursday and a report should be made within a week.

"The new owners claim some of the checks that have been issued are not 'legitimate' and they insist that they will eventually pay all 'legitimate' checks," he said.

He said that the firm has a $55,000 performance bond, as required by the federal government, to cover the purchases of livestock and that this should offer some protection to the Collin County farmers and ranchers.

County Atty. Bill Boyd and Bill Craig, an assistant state attorney general, pledged the cooperation of their offices in the investigation.

Declaring that no criminal violation has been discovered to date, Boyd said his investigation will continue and any evidence of wrongdoing will be presented to the county grand jury next Friday.

Boyd said the recovery of money would be a civil procedure and suggested the stockmen consider securing legal counsel to represent them.

Bud Wallace was elected chairman of a steering committee to map a course of action for the group. His committee is to report at a second meeting to be held Monday night.

Most of those present Thursday night said the unpaid checks they held were dated Jan. 17 and Jan. 24 and they had not been contacted by the new owners regarding payment.

Nineteen Africans Draw Life Terms

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Nineteen Africans were sentenced today to life imprisonment on charges of terrorism in South-West Africa after a controversial case that prompted the U. N. Security Council to condemn South Africa's white supremacist government again.

Supreme Court Justice J. F. Ludorf sentenced nine others to 20 years and two to five years. The remaining three defendants drew five-year sentences with four years and 11 months suspended.

FACED DEATH

The accused had faced possible death sentences under South Africa's Terrorism Act. The 15-nation council voted unanimously last month to condemn the court's refusal to halt the trial and release the defendants. Council members charged that the defendants had been held incommunicado and attacked the Terrorism Act because it requires defendants to prove their innocence rather than the prosecution to prove guilt.

Morris B. Abram, U.S. representative on the U. N. Human Rights Commission, charged earlier that the men had been uprooted from their homes by an alien government for trial under a 1967 law made retroactive to 1962.

WARNING

The South African government has rejected U. N. General Assembly resolutions declaring void South Africa's League of Nations mandate over neighboring South-West Africa and calling for abandonment of the trial.

Ludorf said he would not impose death sentences when he convicted the group last month. Today he commented: "Others are warned that our courts will not necessarily decline to impose the death penalty in the future."

He said the crimes were so serious he was obliged to impose heavy sentences, adding that the ages, marital status and dependents of those convicted could make no difference.

The defendants claimed they were nationalists fighting for their homeland.

Ludorf said that publications issued by them were "clearly meant to create animosity toward whites."

Over 120 At Safety Banquet

Over 120 persons attended the Cabot Carbon Corp. safety banquet Thursday night at the Cosden Country Club to see 12 employees receive safety citations.

Honored were Walter W. Beauchamp, Paul O. Russell, Howard L. McCarthy, William L. Lile, William F. Bordsoske, Alton A. Cunningham, Billy B. Ford, Walter A. Rau, L. L. Marshall, Walter A. Huse, Richard J. Shields and John W. Davenport.

R. S. Boyd, assistant plant manager, was master of ceremonies. A safety film was shown following the banquet. Among representatives from other Texas plants were Jud Jasin, industrial relations department, Pampa; Ralph Prock, Cabot pilot; W. S. Dixon, furnace plants manager; Bert Arney, safety director; Dave Redus, of the Pampa plant; O. M. Prigmore, production manager; Russ Allen and Buck Burdett, retired executive vice presidents.

Baptists Plan Revival Tonight

The Rev. Frank Radcliff, pastor of the Carlsbad, Tex., Baptist Church, will lead the three-day revival beginning tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Westside Baptist Church, 1200 W. 3rd.

Rev. Radcliff lived in Big Spring for several years when he was stationed at Webb AFB. He attended Berea Baptist Church before entering the ministry about two years ago. He is married and the father of three children.

A special service will precede the regular service at 7 p.m. Joe Dunn of Baptist Temple Church will lead special singing. Waymon Lepard is in charge of arrangements.

Council Elects New Officers

Officers of the Trinity Lutheran Church Council were elected Monday at a special meeting.

The Rev. Robert Knutson, pastor of the church, will serve as president. Other officers will be Tom Campbell, vice president; Mrs. James Charnawskas, secretary; Mrs. E. E. Jones, treasurer; and Mrs. William Bokelman, financial secretary.

Named to serve on committees were Lowell Grabau, Jimmy Heisz and Mrs. Jones, Christian education; James Charnawskas, evangelism; stewardship; Campbell, property committee; and Mrs. Charnawskas, worship and music.

Capt. Raign Gets Gallantry Medals

A veteran of 108 combat missions in the RF4C Phantom, Capt. Philip H. Raign, recently received the Silver Star, the Distinguished Flying Cross, and the Air Medal with four oak leaf clusters.

In special ceremonies in the Webb AFB wing commander's office, Brig. Gen. Ernest T. Cragg, deputy chief of staff for operations of Air Training Command, presented the medals to Capt. Raign for gallantry in Southeast Asia.

The Silver Star, the nation's fourth highest decoration, was awarded Capt. Raign for gallantry in military operations near Hanoi, North Vietnam, July 27, 1967.

The citation accompanying the award of the Silver Star read in part: "... Capt. Raign flew an RF4C reconnaissance aircraft into the most heavily defended area ever to confront an aircrew of the United States. In site of anti-aircraft fire, MIG attack, and possible missile attack, Capt. Raign obtained 100 per cent photo coverage of his assigned targets plus many bonus targets."

Again crediting Capt. Raign with 100 per cent photo coverage on a flight near Hanoi, June 27, 1967, the citation accompanying the award of the DFC stated in part:

"On that date, Capt. Raign braved three active surface-to-air missile sites and intense hostile fire to obtain photographic coverage of his assigned targets."

The captain received the Air Medal for "outstanding airmanship and courage exhibited under extremely hazardous conditions from April 10 to April 30, 1967."

He was awarded the first through the fourth oak leaf clusters to the Air Medal for actions between June 27 and August 28, 1967.

Of the 108 combat missions Capt. Raign flew from Udorn Royal Thai Air Force Base, 100 were flown over North Vietnam. In addition to his flying, the

Congressional Cutters Eye Foreign Aid Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional budget cutters are honing their scissors again for use on the administration's $3 billion foreign-aid request.

But some of these same members took a more kindly view to President Johnson's bid for a $2.1 billion increase in military aid for South Korea. It's included in the overall foreign aid request, submitted Thursday to Congress.

Congress cut nearly $1 billion out of the administration's $3.2 billion budget for the controversial foreign aid program in the current fiscal year.

WHACK GUESS

"I think it can be and will be reduced," said Rep. E. Ross Adair of Indiana, second-ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, top-ranking GOP member of the House Appropriations Committee, agreed reductions could be made. But neither would predict a specific amount.

Adair and Bow said the $100 million request for South Korea probably would go through. Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., a key member of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee, said he opposed it.

Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said he plans to launch hearings on the authorization bill about Feb. 26 "and we'll be shooting for House action sometime in May."

Predictions of cuts also came from some members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and little urgency has been attached to the proposal there.

A Devotional For The Day

When (Jesus) had sent (the disciples) away he went up the hills quite alone, to pray. When it grew late he was there by himself. (Matthew 14:23, Phillips)

PRAYER: O Lord, who knew how precious the fellowship with Thy Father in the quiet of the day, teach us to come to Him with His Word and our hearts open to Him. May we receive mercy and find grace in the hour of need. We ask these things in Thy name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

This Can Be Stopped

With all the nationwide concern for the rising crime rate and costly suggestions for its control, it does seem that prompt action could be had on a cheap way to reduce the car thefts that figure so prominently in crime statistics.

All the cautions to motorists to lock their cars seem a bit ridiculous when anyone with $12 can order by mail a set of master keys that will unlock most vehicles now in use. Some are guaranteed to "open doors and ignitions on all cars and trucks built—1940-67."

Master-key supply companies claim that they mail advertisements of their wares only to those dubiously assumed to have a legitimate use for them—"new car dealers, police agencies, body shops, parking lots, etc." But circulars are known to have gone to people and businesses in this state not in those categories, and with a little effort anyone can get the suppliers' addresses. There is no control over the actual mail orders.

Better Business Bureaus all over the country have been complaining about this for a long time. Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., introduced a bill in 1966 for federal curbs on lax interstate sale of automobile master keys. But nothing came of it.

Now the House Post Office Committee has approved a bill aimed at preventing such master keys from getting into the hands of operating or potential car thieves. But the final legislation, which certainly should be approved early this session, must be tightly written if the public to be assured the protection deserved.

For A Touch Of Neatness

Can anything be done about the napkins, paper cups and other debris that decorate the right of way near drive-in food places?

This is an unsightly vista that greets the eye in the vicinity of most of these establishments, but more particularly along US 87 (Gregg Street). Doubtless operators of these businesses encourage neatness and cleanliness, but patrons seem not to have the same civic pride about these things. Without picking on the young folk, it is correct to say that these seem to be the worst offenders about tossing out paper napkins or cups.

The wind carries this trash to the next clump of tall grass or mesquite shrub, leaving it to flutter and advertise its ugly presence. The way to avoid this is to dispose of the materials in convenient containers, and somehow to get our young people to set a good pattern for the rest of us in public cleanliness.

Many Big Springs apparently have had aim when it comes to hitting barrels the City has placed over town for collecting trash. Often times, the beer cans, paper, bottles, etc., are strewn half a block in either direction. City crews this week have done a cleanup job around several of these receptacles, and it looks so much better.

And finally, how are things coming along Pigeon Avenue, to wit Third along the front of the old Crawford Hotel building? If we can't get rid of those birds, maybe we can go into the fertilizer business.

Revealing Military Secrets

WASHINGTON — Perhaps the most extraordinary intrusion into the operations of the armed services — an action which, if completed, could impair the future gathering of military intelligence — was revealed this week. It became known that the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had sent a letter to Secretary of State Dean Rusk demanding a detailed report of the intelligence collection plans of the United States government involving naval vessels.

UP TO NOW, intelligence activities of the military forces have been described only in general terms and certain phases have been explained in confidence to the Senate Armed Services Committee. But there has never been a request for the publication of details such as Senator J. William Fulbright, Democrat of Arkansas, asked for in his four-page questionnaire. These include "information which individual members desire."

THE LETTER SENT by Mr. Fulbright seeks a "complete description of the development of the intelligence collection plan which included the use of the Double and other vessels." Together with the name of the "highest official in the United States government who is aware of the day-to-day operations" of such ships and the number of vessels which are "capable of this type of activity." It also questions the need for sending ships as close as 13 nautical miles to the coastline of another country.

NOT SATISFIED with a request for general information, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman asks for disclosure of "what agency or agencies have operational responsibility for the Pueblo," along with "copies of all operational instructions and mission concepts relating to the Pueblo." He requests, too, a "full description of all intelligence equipment aboard the Pueblo" and of "the skills, training and affiliation of all personnel" on the ship.

Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic leader of the Senate and a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, apparently was not too happy with the letter. When he heard about it, he said:

"SOME QUESTIONS can't be answered. We ought to move very carefully in some of these extremely sensitive areas if we expect the fullest operational capability in what is involved."

"We can't expect everything they have because that might be giving in."

"We have had more mingling of the races in Alabama" than in any Northern city, he said, adding: "People of all races are wanted and needed in Alabama."

"OUR STATE has obeyed the laws," he went on. "We don't advocate disobedience."

But in March, 1962, waging his successful primary campaign for the governorship, Wallace pledged to defy federal court desegregation orders. He recalled that as a state judge he had refused to permit voting records to be handed over to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission.

"I plead guilty to refusing to obey this federal court order that this federal judge had issued," he said at the time.

THE COLLECTING of secret information is one of the most difficult tasks confronting the military services. There are intelligence units in the Army as well as in the Navy and the Air Force which are entirely separate from the Central Intelligence Agency, but all co-operate for one purpose — to get information essential to the successful operation of America's armed forces. Intelligence data often can be of crucial importance in military planning and can help save the lives of America's fighting men.

Partisan politics has certainly reached a critical point when even the party in power apparently cannot restrain its own members in the Senate from seeking to publicize information of a sensitive character.

Wallace Stresses Big Government Backlash

WASHINGTON (AP) — George C. Wallace, the former Alabama governor seeking the presidency as a third-party candidate, has long insisted his political support stems from a backlash against big government, rather than a white backlash against civil rights.

"There isn't any white backlash that I know about," he said in an interview last year.

"THERE IS a strong backlash among the voters all across the country but it isn't against anyone because of race," he said.

"It is against the idea of a big federal government trying to solve problems that should be solved on the local level."

But though the segregationist slogans and appeals for defiance of federal courts that made Wallace a symbol in the Deep South have largely disappeared from his public statements, the racial issue is never far away.

Wallace's statement Thursday in what he formally announced his candidacy contained only one brief allusion to race — a comment that "The typical American of all races is tired of riots." But the subject dominated reporters' questions.

ASKED WHETHER he still believed in school segregation, he said: "Public education is a problem for determination by the states."

Although "we have supported in the past a separated school system in Alabama," he said, "we have an integrated school system in our state."

"We have had more mingling of the races in Alabama" than in any Northern city, he said, adding: "People of all races are wanted and needed in Alabama."

"OUR STATE has obeyed the laws," he went on. "We don't advocate disobedience."

But in March, 1962, waging his successful primary campaign for the governorship, Wallace pledged to defy federal court desegregation orders. He recalled that as a state judge he had refused to permit voting records to be handed over to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission.

"I plead guilty to refusing to obey this federal court order that this federal judge had issued," he said at the time.

Five years later, in a farewell speech to the legislature before turning the governorship over to his wife, Lurleen, Wallace sounded a similar note.

"WE SHOULD never stop fighting judicial tyranny," he said, "until it is rid of judges and bureaucrats who believe that their individual notions are superior to the law written in the Constitution which they swore to uphold and defend."

Wallace was asked Thursday what he would do about desegregation and civil rights if elected president. He said he would appoint different kinds of judges and ask Congress to repeal civil rights laws.

But first, he went on, "I would stop bureaus from writing guidelines that go beyond the law."

"THE FIRST thing I'm going to do is to bring all those briefcase-toting lawyers from HEW back to Washington and throw all of their briefcases in the Potomac."

Wallace and HEW—the Department of Health, Education and Welfare—have been at odds for years over HEW's moves to desegregate schools and hospitals.

He was asked how he thought he could end what he termed "crime running rampant in every city of the nation."

"IF I WERE the president of the United States, you could walk in the streets of Washington, D.C., at any time," he said, "even if we had to bring in 30,000 troops and station one every 30 feet with a bayonet."

Then, without being asked, he looked at the reporters with a questioning expression and said: "When has it come to have racial overtones to say you are standing for law and order?"

Miniskirts Create Cowards

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the problems facing the American male today is what to do about the miniskirt.

Most of us males are cowards. We sneak a look. But when Miss Miniskirt glances back at us, we look away hurriedly. That's where we make the big mistake, being embarrassed.

We shouldn't sneak. We should stare. And if Miss Miniskirt looks our way, we should stare even harder.

SHE MAY sit more primly on the subway or bus seat opposite us. She may even try—though it's probably a losing battle—to jerk her skirt down lower.

Above all, she'll be furious. Furious that we stared at a portion of her anatomy that she left uncovered purposely so we would look her way.

Isn't that just like a woman? THE POINT is that men—some of us, at any rate—have developed guilt complexes over these miniskirts. We're deathly afraid of being caught staring. And subconsciously we hate the miniskirt because it makes us feel uncomfortable.

Well, it wasn't our idea for the girls to wear above-the-knee skirts. Since we're looking as long as the gal we're looking at isn't our mother, sister, or wife, or girlfriend, or daughter. It's okay, of course, if it's someone else's mother, or sister, or wife, or girlfriend, or daughter.

SO THE ANSWER to the problem of the miniskirt is to do just what the girls want us to do — look. Even stare.

And maybe someday the women will wake up, and the skirt will go down. Then men can breathe a sigh of relief, feel comfortable again on subways, buses and in cafeterias, and daydream about how wonderful it was when the girls used to wear their skirts above the knees.

Some More Cortisone Jitters

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read the article concerning cortisone and its effects. What I'd like to know is whether the symptoms and disorders are permanent or temporary. This fact was not stated. I had two shots for an injured knee.

I would also like to make a suggestion. Why don't you list the booklets you have available in the newspaper? — E.M.A.

As I have complained in print before, a healthy regard for drug side effects is a necessity — but too many people are getting the "side effect jitters."

Side effects from heavy and prolonged use of cortisone will gradually disappear when the medication is stopped, although the physician must exercise some care not to discontinue the medication too abruptly. Hence every doctor using this (and many other kinds of drugs) is constantly on the alert to detect side effects, if any, before they progress very much. With proper dosage, many patients, when in need of cortisone, receive it for weeks, months, or even longer without ill effects. If cortisone and its derivatives are needed, they should be used.

But when patients, after two shots of cortisone, begin worrying about side effects, that is being unreasonably jittery — like taking sleeping tablets two nights in a row and wondering whether you have become a slave to the habit.

Certainly we guard against side effects, but let's not fly into a panic. That's putting the cart before the horse. The first task is to cure whatever is ailing the patient. The side effects are just a secondary result which may, sometimes, develop but most of the time doesn't.

Thanks for the suggestion about the booklets, but I think it more to the point merely to mention one or another when a question calls for it. Anyway, all the booklets include a listing of others which are available. Or just me a self-addressed, stamped envelope, in care of the Herald, and ask for it, and I'll send you the whole list.

Don't take chances with "kidney trouble." It may be only minor, but it can be dangerous. Read Dr. Molner's booklet, "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need To Know About Them." Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

The Not-So-Exemplary Couple

It's time for our annual visit with Frank B. and Evelyn H. Jones, of 3700 Mill Way, Hometown, N.Y.

They are the couple whose income tax return is used annually by the Internal Revenue Service as an example for those of us who seek their help. (Your Federal Income Tax, 1968 edition; U. S. Treasury Department).

OVER THE YEARS I have subjected these two to a close check, and concluded — reluctantly — that they are not the type the IRS should choose. For their return is full of questionable figures and (I hesitate to say it) what appear to be fraudulent claims.

Some of the unusual aspects of their returns are:

1. Dating back to 1960, their combined annual income has been $17,890.14 a year — the same to the penny — although both of them have changed jobs.

2. THEY ARE still claiming James and Marie as dependent children although their 1960 return gave Marie's age as 18 (James was identified that year as a student, so his age is a mystery).

3. Frank's alimony to Jane Jones, New York, N.Y., started at $900 in 1960, rose to a high of $2,100 in 1965, and now has leveled off at $1,900 (Jane herself has been demoted to plain J. Jones, N.Y.).

4. Frank has claimed a $79.50 exemption for theft of a camera every year.

5. BEGINNING in 1960, he claimed he won $50 in an essay contest. This good fortune continued until 1965. He now claims he won a $50 photography contest on his 1966 return.

That must have been before the annual camera theft.

Is this the kind of example to set before the American taxpayers?

Frank, who claimed an exemption for being over 65 as far back as 1960, sold or retired from his retail store in 1965, became a member of the Electricians Union (he deducted $150 in dues), and the joint income totaled the same as the year before.

FRANK SHOULD have been an income tax expert. Come to think about it, he probably is. On the side.

One puzzling aspect is that both Frank's and Evelyn's signatures changed noticeably between 1965 and 1966.

The IRS boys should have been suspicious from the start, though. What normal married couple would have Social Security numbers ending in 1492 and 1776?

HERE'S SOMETHING about the young year 1968 which you may not have noticed:

Turned upside down it's 8961. Not all years are so versatile.

In a town where you can park as long as you want to, you don't want to.

I've decided that getting up early in the morning wouldn't be so bad if it didn't come just before going to work.

General Westmoreland's Position

WASHINGTON — In the agony of the Civil War Abraham Lincoln, as commander-in-chief of the Union forces, searched after the terrible defeats of the early years for a general who could win. One of his gravest trials, he nevertheless had the resoluteness to relieve politically popular generals until he found Ulysses S. Grant.

THE COURAGE of the Civil War President is recalled at this time against the uncertainty and doubt over military leadership in Vietnam today. The doubts have grown with the shock of the Viet Cong successes and the impending threat of the biggest battle of the war about to begin. Inevitably, the doubts center around Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the American commander in Vietnam and the author of the "search and destroy" strategy spreading ground forces the length and breadth of the country.

LESS THAN three months ago Westmoreland returned to Washington ostensibly for a conference on the course of the war. With him came Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and others of the Saigon team. They put on what was, in effect, a high-powered propaganda campaign, creating the impression that all was going well with Allied military operations, bound to bring triumph in the foreseeable future.

Westmoreland outlined Phase III for 1968 with the South Vietnamese forces greatly strengthened, the number of American advisers with South Vietnamese units reduced. Then would come Phase IV, the final phase, when in the not-too-remote future at least token withdrawal of American forces could begin.

REPORTS FROM Vietnam indicate that almost exactly the opposite is happening. South Vietnam units have been slow or reluctant to meet the wave of terrorist attacks. Instead of American forces leveling off or even anticipating withdrawals, alarmed senators now predict a rise above the 1968 ceiling of 525,000.

The question being asked here is whether these were considered military judgments or whether Westmoreland was influenced by the need to reassure the American people that all was going according to plan.

POLITICAL GENERALS — either self-propelled or pushed into the vortex — have been no novelty in this capital. Lincoln's biggest headache was Gen. George Brinton McClellan who in the initial phase of his command of the Army of the Potomac won important battles. He got a popular buildup with the nickname "Little Mac" the Young Napoleon. Then he faltered and the Northern armies took fearful losses.

But Lincoln hit the bullet and relieved him of his command, knowing there would be a loud outcry.

HARRY TRUMAN relieved Gen. Douglas MacArthur of his command in Korea for going against the commander-in-chief. In this instance, however, the damage had already been done since MacArthur by advancing to the Yalu brought on a mass invasion of Chinese troops and the American forces suffered perhaps the worst rout in our military history.

Increasingly Johnson, as at his last press conference, cites the authority of Westmoreland for his personal judgments on Vietnam. And he backs this up by reciting what the Joint Chiefs of Staff tell him. He seems at times to be reversing the Constitution of the United States which holds that the President as commander-in-chief exercises the supreme authority.

Explaining Robert Kennedy

WASHINGTON — The panel wasn't scheduled as "Bob Kennedy and others." With him on the dais were the two majority House leaders, Hiram Boggs and Gerald R. Ford, and the personable Texan, John Tower. It wasn't Kennedy territory by any means, but the public affairs conference of the National Chamber of Commerce. He wasn't getting much applause, but he was getting most of the attention.

SENATOR KENNEDY said American children were "starving," and it made you remember that Candidate John F. Kennedy once spoke of 14 million Americans going to bed hungry. He said it was terrible that the President, the Vice President, the Secretary of State could not freely travel and publicly express their views, and you reflected that, perhaps, he himself might be the only campaigner in the country who would not be howled down in a ghetto.

KENNEDY ANNOUNCED that he knew no foreseeable conditions under which he might oppose President Johnson this year, but you glimpsed some loopholes there, and Johnson might not run. RFK said that the federal government had failed to meet the country's needs, and that it would take the help of the cities, states and the private sector. He was projecting the idea that some of his own unpassed legislation might put this combination together.

OTHERS ON THE PANEL had their say. Boggs defended the President's proposed tax increase, only half as much, he said, as tax reductions over the past five years. Ford attacked the Presidential budget on the grounds that you couldn't believe its arithmetic. Tower (R, Texas) said the War on Poverty was a "cruel hoax" because it did more for bureaucrats than it did for the poor.

BACK AT THE typewriter, you knew you'd end up writing about Senator Kennedy of New York. At first, it seems easier to explain him away than to explain him. But when you say he came to the Senate on his name, you have to say that he's made a name for himself before and after he got there. When you remember that by "starving" children, he probably meant no more than diet-deficient children, you still know it's a problem. When you cringe to envision him as President of the United States, you consider the alternatives, and they're not very reassuring either.

NOT BEING ABLE to explain him away, you try to explain him. He makes you think. No, something else. He makes you think you're thinking. You recall that, long ago, Ring Lardner or someone like him, had written about the puzzling popularity of certain forms of serious writing done in comic guise. The formula's said to be — Don't make 'em think, or they'll hate you for it. Make 'em think they're thinking, and they'll love it.

Perhaps that is Robert Kennedy's forte. He is able to do, in a somber mood, what other politicians have done by making us laugh at them. If it becomes unbearable to think of our national problems, we can find escape by merely pretending to think.

Longhorns Try Abilene High

Still alive in the District 2-AAAA race although they are two games off the pace, the Big Spring Steers will be at home to Abilene High in an 8 o'clock contest tonight.

Abilene had been considered the team to beat in the second half race until it lost to Odessa High earlier this week.

Now, the Eagles are still going for second place in the race with Big Spring. Each has a 2-2 record. The loser tonight is almost certain to be relegated to the sidelines for at least another year, as far as the pennant race is concerned.

If the Steers are to win tonight, they must hobble Matt Scott, the leading scorer in the district. Scott scored 16 points in helping Abilene achieve a 79-77 victory over the Steers in

He's Available

James Newman (above) hasn't logged much playing time with the Big Spring Steers this season but he's invaluable in practice or when the regulars take a rest. He'll be in uniform when the Longhorns host Abilene High in an important game at 8 o'clock this evening.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Big Spring's Charley West was so elated over the news when his name came up early in the recent football draft he called his good friend and former coach here, Delnor Poss.

Minnesota tapped Charley in the second round of the draft which means that the Big Spring native was All-American in the eyes of the pros.

The highest rating the UTEP defensive ace got on last fall's elite teams was a second-team selection by the United Press International team of experts.

West is also a stellar baseball player but he, no doubt, will turn to football. As a grinder, he can make the 'big leagues' right away. In baseball, he'd have to serve an apprenticeship in the minors for two or three years.

West could point with pride, were he so minded, to the fact that he was snapped up in the draft long before last fall's most celebrated player, UCLA's Gary Belton, his two teammates, left-handed quarterback, Warren McVea, Houston, and Granville Liggins, Oklahoma.

The latter was Lineman of the Year in the eyes of some observers.

Charley, a credit to athletics wherever he goes, wavered when offered a $30,000 bonus by the Philadelphia Phillies in 1966 but was talked into finishing his collegiate eligibility at UTEP by coach Bobby Dobbs. He's a man with family responsibilities and hopes the Vikings will go higher than that to sign him.

An early pay day (e. g., a bonus) would serve to tide him over until the 1968 season begins.

Big Spring has still another fellow at UTEP who is going to be a high football draft choice, in time.

That would be Joe Jaure, a sophomore at the El Paso school. He could command a big price by the time his name is thrown into the hopper. Ernest Hawkins, the East Texas State coach, thought he had signed Jaure at one time but Joe decided UTEP's record for placements among the pros was too good, so he went west.

Not many cities of 35,000 in the country will have four products in big league sports, as Big Spring likely will have in 1968. Our Town may not win many championships but it produces more than its share of outstanding athletes.

McVea, incidentally, has become identified as a player hard to coach and harder to know.

That may be the reason why he wasn't taken before the fourth round of the draft, when Cincinnati took a flier on him.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife magazine, one of the best of its kind on the market today, has more than 70,000 subscribers. The publication is available by subscription and at a very nominal cost.

Joe Medwick, recently named to Baseball's Hall of Fame, was known as one of the best bad-ball hitters of all time.

Like Yogi Berra, he hated the thought of accepting a base on balls.

Red Grange, football's famed Galloping Ghost, was asked not long ago to name the toughest player he ever saw.

The answer came easily for Grange, who replied: "It has to be Bronko Nagurski. If you were a linebacker you didn't have to worry about finding Nagurski. He'd look you up."

The West compiled a 19-11-2 edge over the East in the National Football League last year and a 20-10-1 chart advantage in the AFL.

Both the Dallas Cowboys and the Houston Oilers are part of the Eastern division teams in their respective leagues.

The Miami-Notre Dame football game last fall outdrew both the Orange and Super Bowl games in the Orange Bowl, by actual turnstile count.

The Hurricanes lost to Notre Dame before 75,559. The Super Bowl contest attracted 74,477 while the Orange Bowl game drew was reported officially at 69,283.

During the long football season, the Orange Bowl seated 916,277 paying customers — which must be some sort of record.

Unknown Low In Williams Links Event

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The par wreckers of golf, who had a pretty busy day in the first round, set forth again today in the $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open Tournament with virtually unknown Jimmy Powell in the lead.

Powell, a strapping 6-footer who teaches the game for a living at Indian Hills Golf Club in Riverside, Calif., gave such more renowned pros as Jack Nicklaus, Billy Casper and Arnold Palmer a lesson on how to whip the Torrey Pines Golf Club's par 36-36-72.

He did it Thursday over the 6,792-yard layout with 32-32-64, the lowest score of the 1968 PGA winter tour, and moved into today's play with a lead of two strokes.

Nicklaus, ending a three-week vacation from competition, was three shots back of the leader with 33-34-67. Casper was in the 68 bracket after 34-34 and Palmer was even par with 36-36-72.

Four players were tied at 66 — Ron Reif with a 31-35; Ray Floyd, 33-33; Ron Funseth, 32-34; and Tom Weiskopf, 32-34.

Golfers Gather Here For Meet

The District 2-AAAA battle for golf honors opened at the Big Spring Country Club this morning.

This is the first of five meets which will be held to determine team and individual champions in the league. Other member cities get their chance to host the linksters over intervals of about two weeks.

Accumulated totals in the tournaments will be used to determine the winners.

The stage shifts to Abilene's Municipal course Feb. 16 while Midland's Hogan Park will be the host course March 15, the Odessa Country Club March 22 and San Angelo's Riverside course April 5.

Odessa Periman is the defending champion.

Wilbur Cunningham is the new coach of the Big Spring team, having replaced Dan Lewis — who elected to concentrate on his duties as a junior high coach here.

Ranger Batters Cisco, 123-89

CISCO — Ranger College mauled Cisco College, 123-89, here Thursday night, with all five starters hitting in double figures.

The outcome was never in doubt, despite the fact that Larry Walker scored 54 points for Cisco.

Ulric Cobb counted 33 points and Bob Sprivy 24 for Ranger, which is now 2-1 on the year. The Rangers play Cameron, Okla., Saturday night in Ranger.

Clarendon Winner

CLARENDON — Lubbock CC legs 103-66, in a Western JC Conference Basketball game here Thursday night.

Hawks, South Plains Square Off At 7:30

Fresh from an 88-78 victory achieved at the expense of New Mexico Military Institute, the South Plains College Texans move into HCJC's gym this evening to square off with the resident Jayhawks in an important Western Conference game. Tipoff time is 7:30 p.m.

The Hawks are still riding at the top of the league with a 9-2 record, despite staggering mid-term losses, but must win tonight in order to remain there.

MAIASE
The Hawks are still riding at the top of the league with a 9-2 record, despite staggering mid-term losses, but must win tonight in order to remain there.

South Plains, coached by the one-time cage great, Dubby Malaise, hasn't lived up to expectations this season but has shown much improvement in recent games.

Over-all, the Texans are 14-11. HCJC will be seeking its 18th win in 28 starts tonight.

Jim McCroy led South Plains to its win over NMMI earlier this week, scoring 19 points. Danny Sleeg, David Clyde, Ronnie Kenmore and Lynn Shultsworth are other standouts for the Lovelland team.

All five South Plains starters hit in double figures against NMMI.

HCJC, although it lost Robert Jackson and Wally Stuart at mid-term, handed Amarillo a 21-point drubbing in Amarillo last Tuesday.

Last time the two teams played, HC won by a score of 87-53 in Lovelland. The Hawks limited the Texans to 17 points the first half.

Coach Buddy Travis credits his team's defenses to its enduring success. Many reasoned the Hawks would fold like an accordion when Jackson and Stuart left but the Hawks have since won two games.

Probable starters tonight are Larry Linder, Terry Fields, Heron Hubert, Simon Terrazas and Robbie Lemons.

Over the season, the Hawks have averaged 87.5 points a game to 76.0 for the opposition — not bad for a club that was supposed to win only four or five games.

Howard County Is Rated Fifth In Region Five

A selection committee consisting of Tommy Bryant, Amarillo Globe News; Carl Dinger, Odessa American; David Stevens, Weatherford; and Tommy Hart, Big Spring Herald, has rated Ranger College the No. 1 team in Region V Junior College basketball on the strength of a 19-8 won-lost record.

The ratings will be made weekly until the Region V tournament, which takes place in Big Spring Feb. 29-March 1-2.

Teams for the tournament are

Matt Scott Tops In 2-4A Scoring

Matt Scott of Abilene, who leads the Eagles into Steer Gymnasium here tonight, leads all scorers in District 2-AAAA with a total of 278 points and a 25.3 average.

Second in the derby is John Wilson of Odessa High, who has 255 points in 11 games for a 23.2 average.

Big Spring's Wayne (Goose) Johnson has climbed to eighth place in the race with a total of 233 points and an 18.6 average.

France's Cool Colossus Grabs Downhill Event

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Jean Claude Killy, France's cool colossus of the ski slopes, won the men's downhill race at the Winter Olympic Games today while three American girls sprang a major surprise by sharing silver medal honors in the 500-meter speed skating test.

Killy, 25-year-old ace of the powerful French Alpine team, beat countryman Guy Perillat by a slender margin for the gold medal in the downhill, with J. Daniel Daetwyler of Switzerland third and the four-American contingent far off the pace.

The victory opened Killy's bid to match the 1956 feat of former Austrian star Toni Sailer, who won all three Olympic Alpine events—the downhill, slalom and giant slalom.

Mary Meyers of St. Paul, Minn., Dianne Holm of Northwood, Ill., and Jenny Fish of Strongsville, Ohio, provided the best skating fireworks, finishing in a startling three-way tie behind gold medalist Ludmila Titova of Russia in the women's 500-meter race.

The American trio finished with identical times of 46.3 seconds—two tenths of a second behind the winner—and each will receive a silver medal, highest award ever captured by U.S. girls in Olympic speed skating competition.

Killy, the world's premier skier, zipped down the Chamrousse slopes in one minute, 59.85 seconds to win the downhill race, postponed Thursday because of bad weather, by less than one-tenth of a second.

Perillat, starting in the No. 1 position, had set a blistering race of 1:59.93. Daetwyler finished in 2:00.32 and fourth-place Heinrich Messner of Austria in 2:01.03.

Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., skiing on a tender left ankle which he sprained two days ago during practice, could do no better than 18th, with a 2:03.40 clocking.

Lefevre Guides Tilden To Title

Tilden High School, coached by a one-time Big Spring High School cage star, Zay Lefevre, has won the District 53-B basketball title and will engage in bi-district competition Feb. 26-27.

D'Hannis was the pre-season favorite in the circuit but Tilden sailed through the double round-robin schedule unbeaten. Other teams in the conference include Charlotte and Yancy.

The Region of which Tilden is a part holds its annual tournament at San Marcos and, of course, Lefevre will be shooting for a spot there.

Zay, son of Mrs. Zuan Lefevre of Big Spring, coached at Forsan last year.

Lorraine Loses

IRA — Ira hurried to a 69-62 District 70-B victory over Lorraine here Thursday night, with John Evell's 23 points leading the way.

Some Of Best Stars Enter Texas Show

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Will Rogers Indoor Games unfolds for the eighth time tonight, headed by three world record holders and featuring a new $15,000 track.

With shot putter Randy Matson and long jumper Bob Beamon and Ralph Boston on hand, two world marks could fall.

Two other outstanding track tourists, high jumper John Thomas and distance runner Preston Davis, help give the sponsoring Fort Worth Coaches Association one of its finest fields.

The coaches purchased the new plywood track for the occasion and contend it is second to none in this country. Previously, the meet was held on dirt in the coliseum.

Matson, the Texas A&M giant and world shot put record holder, will go after the indoor shot record of 67 feet 10 inches, while Beamon will try to improve on his indoor record leap of 27 feet 1 inch.

The University of Texas-El Paso ace is unbeaten this year and has been under 26 feet only once.

Boston reached 24-1/4 a week ago, off the pace that won him an Olympic gold medal in Tokyo four years ago. He also will run the high hurdles.

Rog Mead Is Race Winner

In a "lime run" held following a Big Spring Motorcycle Club business meeting Thursday night, Roger Mead won first place and was followed across the finish line by Carol Mead and Jack Pakt.

Rules of the event dictated that a 15-mile course be marked at intersections with lime bags, with contestants having to choose which way to go. Winners were determined by the time taken to complete the course, by the mileage and by the number of lime bags counted.

In the business meeting held in the TESCO Buggy Room, presided over by Jack Parrot, Article 3 of the club's by-laws (relating to voting procedures) was formally approved and Dennis Holmes was named road captain and referee.

The club will meet again at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 22, at the business of Glenn Wallace, 1001 W. 4th. Twenty-four were present for last night's session.

Hyperion Club Hears Music

The Big Spring Music Study Club presented a program at the Wednesday meeting of the 1946 Hyperion Club in the home of Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, 429 Edwards. Mrs. C. W. Shouse was cohostess.

The program included "No body Knows The Trouble I've Seen" and "Climb The Highest Mountain," sung by Mrs. Claude Underwood accompanied by Mrs. Charles Bell. A tape recording of the musical, "Oklahoma," was played by Mrs. Jim Baum, and a quartet composed of Mrs. Rene Brown, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Robert Hill and Mrs. Verdell Turner sang "Sound of Music" accompanied by Mrs. Louis Heinze. Also, the group sang "Shenandoah" accompanied by Mrs. Turner on the auto harp.

A piano duet of "Analuclia" and "Stardust" was given by Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Heinze, and Mrs. Jarratt gave an organ arrangement of "Tea for Two" and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach. The final number was a choral presentation of "The Hills of Home" and "The Flying Dutchman." Those participating were Mrs. Charles Dennison, Mrs. Underwood, Mrs. Thomas Kessler, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Michael Linen and Mrs. Carl B. Mangum. Accompaniment was played by Mrs. Heinze.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with an embroidered linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of spring flowers. Approximately 15 attended. New members were Mrs. Bobby Fuller, Mrs. Russell Thompson, Mrs. Bill Spain and Mrs. Dewitt Bunn.

Coahoma Has Study On Japan

COAHOMA (SC) — The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Bill Patterson. The hostess brought the devotion, and Miss Susie Brown presided. The group studied "The Response of the Church in Changing Japan."

A study of the Book of Acts was led by Mrs. Lynward Harrison Sunday night at the First Methodist Church. The Rev. Harrison is recuperating from an illness.

Bob Van Meter was here for the weekend. He recently purchased a business in Weatherford.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wood will leave in April for an extended trip. They will attend the wedding of their son, Butch, April 13, in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Mary Grace Holden entered Medical Arts Clinic and Hospital Monday in Big Spring. Mark Barr of Vincent is a patient in Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital in Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Bur Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Mart Spikes are staying in Loraine. Their mother, Mrs. J. E. Spikes, is seriously ill in the Loraine Hospital. Mrs. Jim Lovelace and Mrs. Freeman Meskimer of Santiago, Calif., were recent guests of the Frank Lovelaces. They returned to Santiago Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Collins of Sand Springs and Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Sheedy of Coahoma visited in the Terrell Shaffer home Sunday in Vincent.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Krouse attended the funeral of R. L. Shipman Sr. in Brady. They visited friends while there.

Visiting in Midland Tuesday were Mrs. A. K. Turner, Mrs. David Stoker, Mrs. Jackie Sheedy and Mrs. George Turner.

Sorority Talks On Landscape Forms

Mrs. Joe Smith directed the discussion on "Nature's Landscape and the Artist's Landscape" at the Tuesday meeting of Alpha Beta Omicron chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, of Coahoma. Mrs. Rodney Hallmark, Sand Springs, was hostess.

Members participated in the discussion, expressing opinions on landscaping. Mrs. Don Cunningham presided and announced plans for a brunch in March.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a large gold valentine. Crystal and silver appointments were used, and the valentine motif was carried out in the entertaining rooms.

Six attended. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Clarence Hayes, Sand Springs, with Mrs. Cunningham as cohostess.

Club Urged To Balance Activities

"Help. Help? Help!" was the program presented by Mrs. Delaine Crawford during the Wednesday meeting of the 1953 Hyperion Club in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Taylor, 2309 Alledale. Mrs. Gene Nabors was cohostess.

Mrs. Crawford discussed the dilemma of the modern housewife in balancing time in dealing with her family, community demands and things she would simply like to do. She stressed that for a well-rounded life one must find the balance in skills, time, energy and knowledge.

It was reported that the club held a theater supper party Feb. 2 prior to attending a performance of the "Fantasticks."

Nineteen members and two guests were served refreshments from a table centered with an arrangement of red carnations and white chrysanthemums.

The next meeting will be March 6 in the home of Mrs. Roger Brown when Joe Pickle, managing editor of The Herald, will speak on the hospitality of the Old West.

LVN Group Will Host March Tea

Plans have been made for a tea to honor all student nurses in Big Spring during National Nurses' Week in March, it was announced by Mrs. Jack Cox at the Tuesday meeting of the Licensed Vocational Nurses Association. The group met at the Malone and Hogan Clinic.

Mrs. Fred Winn gave the invocation, and Mrs. Sam Reed and Mrs. Pete Banks were hostesses. The next meeting will be March 5 at the clinic when the program will be on external heart massage and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

A LOVELIER YOU Exercise To Remove Paunch From Midriff

By MARY SUE MILLER
The last bit of extra padding around the rib cage takes on giant proportions. It can spell ruin for an otherwise slim figure for the reason that it distorts the line—the definition—between the bosom and waist.

If the figure is on the plump side the effect is the same as that of a double chin on the throat. Reduction involves spot exercise and improved posture. An excellent trimmer use this routine:

Stretch out tall on the floor with arms extended behind head. With legs together, bend knees until they hover just above and close to diaphragm. Then slowly straighten legs, keeping them about two inches off floor. Repeat twice without letting legs touch floor. Relax to 10 times, resting between each set. Don't overdo, but work up gradually to maximum count.

4-H Clubbers See Educational Skits

Elaine Webb presided at the Tuesday meeting of the Coahoma 4-H Club in the Coahoma Elementary School, and gave a talk on "Junior Leadership."

Sonia Oliver gave advice on choosing patterns, and Sheila Kinstley talked on how 4-H work can help one in public speaking. Gloria Webb read poems, and Sherry Boyles and Linda Beistle gave a demonstration, "Milk, the Calcium Queen."

A skit entitled "Share the Fun" was presented by Johnny Early, Marlene Swinney, Phyllis Wynn, Sheila Kinstley, Gloria Webb and Ben Herrera. Brenda Thompson led the 4-H prayer.

The president announced the forthcoming livestock shows and food show. Darla Harrington reported on the Foods and Nutrition Group One, and Patricia Fryar told of the Group Two meetings. Sonia Oliver discussed the progress of Group Four and announced that meetings had been planned and goals established.

The next meeting will be March 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the elementary cafeteria. Sherry Boyles will serve as program chairman, and 4-H members will have a food show. The boys will serve as judges, and parent's night will be observed.

P-TA Fetes Presidents At Program

Past presidents of the College Heights Parent-Teacher Association were honored at a Founder's Day program at the Thursday meeting at the school.

Those honored were Mrs. W. N. Norred, Mrs. R. E. Ray, Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., Mrs. Grady McCrary, Mrs. Floyd Williams and Mrs. A. W. Gerhart.

Mrs. B. R. Fletcher presided and gave a resume of the history of the P-TA unit, and Mrs. J. E. Swindell, Mrs. Harlan Hill and Mrs. Elvis McCrary were elected to serve on the nominating committee.

Lynn Hise, director of curriculum at Big Spring Senior High School, spoke on "Keeping Youth in School."

Room count was won by Mrs. Tom L. Newton's second grade. Refreshments were served to 50.

Book Review Is Slated By Wives

Mrs. J. D. Leonard presided and led the devotion at the Tuesday meeting of the Conoco Wives Club in her home at 2310 Roberts.

Yearbooks were distributed, and committee appointments were made. The next regular meeting will be March 5 at Coker's Restaurant with Mrs. Larson Lloyd reviewing the book, "At Wit's End."

The Valentine motif was used on the refreshment table which was laid with a pink linen cloth and centered with a nosegay of pink roses based in net and ribbon. Pink tapers in silver candleholders flanked the arrangement, and crystal and silver appointments were used.

Mrs. Charles Golden was introduced as a guest.

Valentines Were Made By Queens

The Kiwanis Queens made humorous valentines for their husbands at the Thursday luncheon meeting at Holiday Inn. Eighteen attended, and hostesses were Mrs. Bob Dunson and Mrs. Clyde Brigrance. Mrs. Don Lovelady presided and announced that next Thursday will be ladies' night at the Kiwanis Club meeting. The table was laid with a white cloth, and the valentine motif was used in decorations.

Mrs. H. Enoch Honored At Party

Mrs. Howard Enoch was honored recently at a "get-acquainted" coffee given by her neighbors on Hamilton Street with Mrs. Robert C. Lane as hostess. Mrs. Enoch's husband has been reassigned from Webb to Thailand. While her husband is in Southeast Asia, she will be attending the Vocational Junior College.

Stanton Club Hears Program Of Music

STANTON (SC) — Fourteen fifth grade students, under the direction of Mrs. John Wood, presented a program at the recent meeting of the Stanton Music Club. Mrs. A. Wilson was hostess, and Mrs. R. O. Anderson was cohostess. The Mexican theme was carried out in decorations. Mrs. Wood played accompaniment as the group sang American and Spanish selections, and Dr. Sue Fisher and Mrs. Roy Koonce sang four numbers accompanied by Mrs. Edmund Tom, pianist. Don and Guy Leonard played a flute duet and were accompanied by their mother, Mrs. Carl Leonard. Refreshments were served to 31.

The Stitch and Chatter Sewing Club met recently in the home of Mrs. E. H. Morrow. The valentine theme was carried out in decorations and refreshments. Eleven attended. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. John Poe.

Jack White of the Texas Department of Public Safety in Big Spring spoke on changes required in drivers licenses at a recent meeting of the Koffee Kup Home Demonstration Club. The group met in the home of Mrs. Delbert Hopper for a valentine party and salad luncheon. Mrs. R. P. Odum presided, and secret pal gifts were exchanged. Twelve members and two guests, Mrs. F. M. Bowlin and Mrs. John Calvin Jones, attended.

A luncheon meeting and workshop were held at the recent meeting of the Stanton Home

Col. C. B. Estes Speaks To Wives

Col. Chandler B. Estes gave a talk on crank telephone calls at the membership tea Thursday of the Independent Wives Club at the John H. Lees Service Club, Webb Air Force Base.

Members welcomed were Mrs. Lee Burns, Mrs. Marvin Thornton and Mrs. Sam Hall.

The refreshment table was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with a large red heart flanked by red candles in silver holders. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

The next meeting will be Feb. 22, when WO Henry Brewer will be guest speaker and will show slides on Thailand. Seventeen attended.

Cookies Packed By HD Groups

STANTON (SC) — A total of 725 dozen cookies were packed by Martin County home demonstration club members at a Tuesday meeting in the Cap Rock auditorium. The cookies will be distributed to Big Spring State Hospital patients during February.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: Can a man get a word in here? I've discovered that practically all shampoos advise two applications. However, the first makes very little lather. I have noticed that if I use a lather of plain bath soap for the first application, then rinse and apply the shampoo that the results are every bit as good. The shampoo lathers just as well and there is no soap film left. I believe the hair is left just as clean this way since the soap seems to do a better job of cleaning out oil and dirt. C. J.

Dear Heloise: When I want to use just a portion of a head of cabbage, I first remove and set aside one or two of the outer leaves before cutting off the amount that I need. Then I use the outside leaves to seal the cut side of the head of cabbage to be stored. I never have discolored cabbage this way, because there is enough moisture in those leaves to retain the freshness on the cut side. Claire Christy

Now, that's the best yet. I do suggest wrapping it in a piece of plastic wrap if it's going to be a week or so before you finish using the rest. Heloise

Dear Heloise: You know those little plastic covered wire strips that bread bags are sealed with? They're perfect to put in the tab of a zipper on garment bags. Place an end of one through the tab hole, twist it and you'll have a nice "grabber" for easy opening. Mary B.

Dear Heloise: I use baby hangers for my young men's long-sleeved shirts, even up to size 12. They don't come beyond the shoulder seam and leave that unsightly bulge in the sleeve after hanging for a few days. Mrs. M. B.

Dear Heloise: When the good Lord was passing out long legs and long arms, he completely missed my dear mother! So, she keeps some long-handled barbecue tongs handy to grasp pieces of cereal and other lightweight objects that are out of reach. They are certainly handy for her. LaVerna Nelson

Know what you mean, LaVerna. I'm a shorty, too! Heloise

Dear Heloise: Telephone conversations can liven any dreary day. But they can also cause loss of precious time particularly on ironing day. Set up your ironing board by the phone and have a clear conscience while gabbing with those long-winded—but much loved—friends and relatives. Just buy and attach one of those gadgets to your phone that holds it on your shoulder while you talk.

Incidentally, there's no better place for your mending basket either than beside the phone for use during those unexpected long calls on other days. Nan

That's a sure fire way to get your mending done. Now if we could figure out a way to set up the coffee maker there, too, wouldn't that be great? Heloise

Dear Heloise: To make a long stocking cap, cut the sleeve from an old sweater. Gather the ends at the bottom of the sleeve and put a tassel there. Then crochet around the cut edge. If you can't crochet, just make a loose buttonhole stitch around it. Easy to do and a gay addition to your wardrobe. Mrs. A. W. Greve

(Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)
