DOZEN HURT High Winds Smash Florida Beach City

NORTH MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Tornado-like winds smashed a 60-block area along coastal North Miami Beach early today, injuring more than a dozen persons, knocking down power lines, overturning cars and damaging houses and business establishments.

Police said injury reports included two heart attack victims. Their condition was not immediately known.

Three people were hurt, authorities said, when a house was knocked over by the winds. Others were cut by broken window glass and battered by debris.

Police with dogs set up road blocks to prevent looting and to keep out sightseers.

The storm touched down briefly on the narrow strip of beach east of Miami shortly after 5 a.m. EST.

Apparently the hardest hit section was along Northeast 167th Street, a suburban shopping area. Store fronts along the streets were blown out. Groceries and clothing were strewn across parking meters and along sidewalks. Four automobiles in a 167th Street car lot were overturned as was a house trailer which had one end ripped out. The Weather Bureau said there was no evidence of a tornado on radar.

Forecaster Raymond Kraft said he suspected the damage was caused by a severe thunderstorm, "although it really doesn't make much difference what it was."

TO STAND UP Time Has Come

By The Associated Press

"Men debate — men may dissent — men may disagree — and God forbid that a time should come when men of this land may not. But there comes a time when men must stand — and for America, that time has now come." President Johnson, to the crew of the carrier Constellation during his weekend trip.

Extortion Thwarted

DALLAS (AP) — Detectives and an off-duty policeman broke up an effort to extort $1,000 from a Dallas minister Sunday.

The Rev. J. C. Hibbard, pastor of the Gospel Light House Church, said he received a telephone threat about 1:30 p.m. He said the caller threatened to blow up the church and kill the pastor's family unless Hibbard paid $1,000.

Detective Capt. Will Fritz told him to comply with the demand and two policemen were staked out at the telephone booth the caller named as the payoff site.

C. F. Williams, an off-duty policeman and member of Hibbard's congregation, heard of the threat and followed the minister. Hibbard left the money and withdrew and a man entered the booth and took the money.

Williams arrested the 32-year-old man without a struggle and held him until the other policemen arrived.

The man was placed in jail for investigation of extortion.

Help For Egypt

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government is joining an international rescue operation to bolster the near-bankrupt regime of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, qualified diplomatic informants reported today.

They said Britain would join West Germany, Italy and possibly other countries this month in lending Egypt 47 million pounds — $112.8 million — to cover payments due the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank.

Polio (?) Cases Tested

MALLEN, Tex. (AP) — One child is dead, another is "very sick" and two others are in a hospital for what is believed to be polio, says Dr. J. R. Copenhaver, Hidalgo-Cameron County health director.

Copenhaver said today tests to determine the actual cause of death are not completed, but he said all the symptoms of polio were present in two of the cases.

Two of the children are from Pharr. Neither had the Salk oral vaccine, the doctor said. The other two children are from Hidalgo and Edinburg.

Copenhaver said the children are being treated at McAllen General Hospital where an iron lung is "on standby."

The child who died and the "very sick" one were completely paralyzed on both sides, he said. All victims are under one year of age.

Police Gas Mob In Hippie District

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police hurled tear gas and marched into crowds in massed formations Sunday to clear streets of pedestrians who were blocking traffic in the Haight-Ashbury hippie district.

More than 90 persons were arrested.

Cars were backed up for blocks around, police said, and the crowds refused to get off the streets.

Two squad cars from Park Station answered the original trouble call but quickly summoned reinforcements.

Some 20 squad cars arrived, along with five tactical command units and 15 motorcycle officers.

The police formed columns and used three-foot long batons to clear the Haight-Ashbury intersection.

Bottles were thrown from rooftops as the officers made their march.

Officers at City Prison said charges against those arrested were mostly for failure to disperse, but included assault, resisting arrest and inciting to riot.

'They Want All The Money'

Clint Wescott, left, 51, reads a letter to Herman Honeycutt, lying down, and Missile Man, right, as they lounge under a downtown bridge in Los Angeles. "They're all the same," says Wescott of the hundreds of letters he's received.

"They all want the money," Wescott, who lives nearly penniless in the weeds of downtown Los Angeles, has more than $20,000 coming to him. But he refuses to accept the money.

Many Others Want Money Spurned By Man 'On Bum'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Clint Wescott may not want the money but others do.

Wescott is the man who spurned some $20,000 due him, saying he'd rather live on a pile of newspapers under a bridge and stay "on the bum."

HUNDREDS of letters have been written to him since last Sunday when he was told $19,219 in two Burnt Hills, N.Y., banks belonged to him from the sale of a gas station he abandoned 15 years ago. Since then he's been told his father died a year ago, leaving him about $4,000.

Wescott, 51, has had marriage proposals, and appeals from inventors, college students, ministers and many claiming to be particularly needy.

Asked if he would change his mind about the money, Wescott said, "I don't want to talk about it. I just want to keep living this life."

"I can't live in the weeds with my wine friends if I take the money. That's for sure."

Not all the writers sought money.

There was a letter from a man, apparently awaiting a plane at the San Francisco International Airport, who wrote, "no requests, just admiration for sticking to your beliefs. I'm making $10,000 a year working three jobs, keeping a family of four children, a wife and also a friend. I envy you. I may join you someday."

Marines Closing In On Red Strongholds

SAIGON (AP) — Battle-weary U.S. Marines moving behind a protective umbrella of artillery pushed 400 yards through the rubble ruins of Hue's Citadel today to the brink of one of the last Communist strongholds in Vietnam's old capital.

Eisewhere, the Viet Cong slammed more rockets and mortars into Saigon and a few other cities today, but the Communist second-wave assault appeared to be easing off considerably in its second day.

HIT TERMINAL One rocket hit a passenger terminal at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport, killing one U.S. serviceman and wounding 45 others as they waited with 150 other GIs for planes home after a year in Vietnam. Three civilians, one of them an American, also were wounded.

As the bloody battle for Hue raged through its 20th day, the Marines pushed to the southeast corner of the old walled Citadel. Then they turned right to begin a drive along the south wall toward the former Imperial Palace, where desperate North Vietnamese troops were dug in.

The Marines advanced about 400 yards and cleared the northeast wall of the old city.

South Vietnamese forces continued to battle their way along the stone wall on the western side of the Citadel, but the rate of their progress was not known.

The Viet Cong flag still flew on a towering radio mast rising from the inner Citadel.

Low clouds prevented air strikes today.

The battle for Hue is the only fighting still persisting from the Communists' lunar new year offensive. But in the second wave, the Viet Cong shelled 47 cities, towns and military installations Sunday and made ground attacks on several.

The allies estimate that the Communists sent 60,000 men into the lunar new year assault on 35 major population centers and lost more than 30,000 killed.

Allied forces reported gains in the coastal provincial capital of Phan Thiet, 90 miles east of Saigon, where 500 guerrillas seized part of the town Sunday and freed 500 prisoners from the jail.

A U.S. military spokesman said the town had been cleared although there was still enemy sniper fire in the northeast and northwest sections. He said U.S. paratroopers drove the guerrillas beyond the northwest edge of town but one band still held the provincial hospital.

South Vietnamese troops on the northeast side of Phan Thiet reported they drove the Communist troops out in that section and said they killed 102 Viet Cong Sunday, suffering seven dead and 57 wounded themselves. But the Communists launched a counterattack this morning, laying down heavy mortar and small arms fire on the railway station, the jail and the city headquarters.

U.S. fighter-bombers, helicopter gunships and the destroyer Frank E. Evans joined the battle, and the destroyer's five-inch guns blazed away for two hours from the South China Sea. An air spotter said he intercepted a Communist radio transmission reporting that "the big mortars from the sea caused many casualties."

'HELPFUL AS ANY ONE PERSON'

Johnson Visits With Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson gave an enthusiastic account today of a six-hour meeting with Dwight D. Eisenhower that climaxed a transcontinental tour. During his weekend tour, Johnson said more troops will be sent to Vietnam if needed.

Johnson visited the former Republican president Sunday at Palm Desert, Calif., before flying back to the White House. Their marathon get-together embraced serious talks about Vietnam and an 18-hole round of golf. "He did beat me," Johnson said. "He's really a professional."

Before flying by helicopter to the luxurious Eisenhower winter home, Johnson bade personal farewells to Vietnam-bound Ma-lines and Army paratroopers and spent Saturday night aboard the carrier Constellation off the California coast.

He also told newsmen during his busy, secrecy-cloaked travels that troop strength in Vietnam will be raised beyond the authorized level of 525,000 "if we need to."

He talked about his personal sendoff of Army and Marine troops headed for Vietnam from Pope Air Force Base, N.C., and El Toro Marine Air Station, Calif.

As for Eisenhower, it is to be assumed Johnson was not un-mindful of the political implications of his friendly meeting with the only living ex-Republican president in this election year.

"I really honestly believe he has been as helpful to me as any one person since I've been President," Johnson declared.

At the outset of his visit to the Eisenhower home at the El Dorado Country Club in Palm Desert, Johnson was accompanied by Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, deputy commandant of the Marines and a Vietnam veteran, and Walt W. Rostow, the President's special assistant for national security affairs.

These men, Johnson reported, briefed Eisenhower on crises in Vietnam and Korea for about an hour.

Johnson, who has had many kind words recently for the U.S. commander in Vietnam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, invoked Eisenhower's name in defense of the general.

He said Eisenhower told him he would never substitute his own judgment as a military commander for the man on the ground—Westmoreland being the man on the ground.

Reporting that Eisenhower spoke highly of Westmoreland, Johnson said the former chief executive told him the Vietnam commander bears the greatest responsibility of any general he ever heard about in history.

Johnson said he asked if this meant greater responsibility than Eisenhower shouldered as allied commander in Western Europe in World War II.

He said Eisenhower replied he meant just that because "I always knew where the enemy was."

Florida's Schools Forced To Close

Teachers At Rallies Instead Of Classes

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Much of Florida's public school system was paralyzed today by an unprecedented teacher walk-out. Organizers of the move claimed more than 35,000 teachers stayed away from their classrooms "despite frantic threats of reprisal" by school officials.

Leaders of the Florida Education Association said early reports showed 35,000 of the state's 60,000 teachers attended mass rallies instead of going to school.

POINT MADE

"It would appear at this time that the teachers of Florida have successfully made their point," an FEA statement said. "We regret having to close schools but it proved to be the only course left to the profession after the politicians of this state failed to meet their responsibilities to the children."

First reports were spotty. Checks made by The Associated Press indicated teachers from the Florida panhandle to the southern peninsula took part.

The FEA leadership submitted 35,000 signed resignations Friday, vowing Florida's schools would be closed until its demands were met.

Florida has some 60,000 teachers in 2,000 schools. More than 1.5 million pupils are involved.

At issue was a $254 million educational package passed last week by the legislature in a special educational financing session called by Gov. Claude Kirk.

NOT SUFFICIENT

The FEA contended the sum was not sufficient to give the state a first rate educational program and provide adequate salaries.

FEA leaders insisted teacher pay, which generally ranges from $4,000 to $8,000 in Florida, was not the main issue.

"We're not asking for anything right now except quality education," said Don Pierce, assistant executive secretary of Dade (Miami) County's 8,400-member Classroom Teachers Association.

"It is far better to abandon the children for a few days than to abandon them for the rest of their educational lives," he said.

Dade has the state's largest county system with 9,600 teachers. At least 4,500 stayed off the job and attended a mass rally in Miami.

SAFETY

Dade was one of 51 county systems closed by authorities who feared not enough teachers would show up to provide for the safety of the pupils. Florida has 67 counties.

FEA leader who resigned his $20,000-a-year executive secretary post along with the teachers, claimed the walkout was strong in most major metropolitan areas of the state.

He said teachers attending mass rallies in Miami and Orlando created early morning traffic jams. There were 21 such meetings across the state.

Gov. Kirk, in California on a speaking tour, was unavailable for comment. He returned to the West Coast after unsuccessfully trying to head off the walkout Saturday.

State School Supt. Floyd Christian, en route to Florida from Atlantic City where he attended a weekend meeting, also was unreachable.

'STARVED OUT'

Dexter Hagman, FEA president, said the walkout could last at least two weeks or as long as was needed. He said the teachers would not be "starved out."

LBJ'S POPULARITY

It's Down Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voters, newspapers and politicians are expressing growing disapproval of President Johnson's Vietnam war policy.

The Gallup Poll reports the recent wave of Viet Cong attacks on cities in South Vietnam produced a sharp decline — to 41 per cent — in the number of people who say they approve of Johnson's performance.

"This marks one of the sharpest declines over a period of three to four weeks yet recorded for President Johnson," said Dr. George Gallup, "and it ends a three-month upward trend in his popularity rating."

Gallup reported Saturday that 49 per cent of those polled expressed disapproval of the President's performance while 10 per cent had no opinion.

The Boston Globe, reporting results of its poll of 39 major U.S. papers, said seven metropolitan papers last year switched from general editorial endorsement of Johnson's war policy to criticism of military escalation.

It said four other dailies last year shifted editorially to a harder line on Vietnam. No paper polled advocated either an immediate pullout or an invasion of North Vietnam, the Globe said.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., another war critic, was sharply criticized for proposing a compromise Vietnam settlement.

U. S. Admits Jets Strayed

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The United States admitted today that two American planes strayed over North Korea briefly on Sunday and expressed regret, with assurance that efforts would be made to prevent any more such incidents.

It was one of the few times in recent years that the United States has admitted a Communist charge that it had violated the Korean armistice.

BAD WEATHER

Rear Adm. John V. Smith, the U.N. Command's senior delegate to the armistice commission, said the planes were on a navigational flight originating outside Korea Sunday afternoon. He said they violated Communist air space because of bad weather, the pilots' unfamiliarity with the terrain and a failure of navigational equipment.

"When they became aware of their location, they immediately took action to depart," Smith said. "The United Nations Command expresses its regrets and offers assurance that all possible measures will be taken to insure that such incidents will not recur in the future."

There was no indication that the North Koreans fired on the planes.

North Korea called the commission meeting. The senior Communist delegate, Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Kuk, charged that "a formation of American military airplanes" intruded into North Korean air space north of Panmunjom for four minutes and engaged in "hostile acts and reconnaissance."

Pak claimed that U.N. forces had committed 36 other armistice violations between Feb. 13 and Feb. 18, but Smith denied all these.

The North Korean delegate charged that "a few Yankee aggressor troops" raided a Communist guard post near Songwon-Ni on the western front Sunday night. He said the infiltrators were "successfully repelled and wiped out."

Smith also denied this. He said the only U.N. Command activity on the western front Sunday night occurred about 9:17 a.m. when U.N. Command personnel fired on "several of our marauders" attempting to infiltrate into South Korea near Panmunjom. He did not say what happened to these North Koreans.

PUEBLO

Pak said preparations by "U.S. imperialists to unleash another war in Korea" reached a peak when they sent the U.N. intelligence-gathering ship Pueblo into Communist waters Jan. 23. This was the only reference the Communist delegate made to the Pueblo incident during Monday's meeting.

In Washington, the State Department warned again that if North Korea treats the crewmen of the Pueblo as war criminals, it would be considered "a deliberate aggravation of an already serious situation."

Wasteland Is Parceled Out

GENEVA (AP) — A special tribunal today awarded 90 per cent of the desolate, disputed Rann of Kutch to India and 10 per cent to Pakistan.

The three-man court handed down the ruling after two years of argument and deliberation over 10,000 pages of evidence and 350 maps concerning the 17,000 square miles of wasteland over which India and Pakistan went to war briefly in May, 1965.

The Rann is on the coast of the Arabian Sea along the India-Pakistan border.

Dear Abby

Helping Retarded Children

DEAR ABBY: Several weeks ago I read with special interest a letter in your column from the mother of a mentally retarded daughter. She applauded the wise decision on the part of the parents to institutionalize their retarded child when it became apparent that she could no longer be properly cared for at home.

Despite the progress being made in providing facilities in the community for the retarded, there still remains a continuing need for residential care. I bear this in mind when I consider with gratitude how fortunate we have been thus far that our own little granddaughter, who is a mongoloid child, has been able to live at home with her parents and sisters.

There is, of course, great heartache when a child must go to an institution. But sometimes it is the most courageous and intelligent choice.

Once a child has been placed in an institution it is important for the family to maintain an active interest in the quality of care that is provided there. If it is not adequate, they should join with other families and concerned persons in seeking improvements. This can be done most effectively through one's local association for the retarded. I know of no stronger voice to raise the quality of institutions which may be sadly below the standard of treatment and training that is possible.

Sincerely,
MURIEL HUMPHREY
(Mrs. Hubert H.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a sister-in-law who never uses my brother's given name. She always refers to him as "my husband."

She calls my mother and constantly peppers the conversation with "my husband" this and "my husband" that, as if my mother doesn't know what relationship exists between the two of them. She does the same to me and my brothers and sister. I have even asked her to please refer to him as "Dan," but she continues to go on "my husbanding," all to the point of distraction.

Have you any suggestions as to how we can get her on a first-name basis with "her husband?"

HIS SISTER
DEAR SISTER: If you have told her, and she persists in rubbing the relationship into your hair (which is what she apparently delights in doing), you'd be wise to bear it in silence. The problem, as I see it, is YOUR refusal to accept the relationship because you don't like her. And if she works the word "husband" into every conversation, perhaps she is still so overwhelmed with having one she keeps using the word because it's music to her ears, though it's irritating to others.

Georgian Due Heart Exams

HOUSTON (AP) — A retired Georgia grocer who has been quoted as saying he hopes for a heart transplant operation was due to begin a series of examinations at Methodist Hospital today.

J. F. Register, 50, of Macon, Ga., checked into the hospital Sunday. He was accompanied to Houston by his wife who said her husband's heart condition is steadily worsening and that he is often in great pain.

The Houston Post said in a copyrighted story last week that Register was coming to Houston for a possible heart transplant operation.

However, Ted Bowen, Methodist Hospital administrator, said there were no plans to perform a heart transplant on Register.

"Mr. Register has been a patient here before and is returning at his own request for further medical study," Bowen said.

The Post quoted Mrs. Register last week as saying she wrote Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, internationally known heart surgeon, asking for a heart transplant operation for her husband and that the Houston surgeon told her to bring her husband to Houston.

DeBakey, who has been on a state department tour in Venezuela, also arrived in Houston Sunday.

"I don't know anything about that (possible heart transplant)," he told a newsmen.

Mrs. Register said her husband has been unable to work since his first heart attack seven years ago. She said he had a defective heart valve replaced five years ago.

Pampa Teen Cited For Raping Child

PAMPA, Tex. (AP) — Charges of rape were filed Sunday against Jackie Lee Mears, 18, after an attack on a five-year-old Pampa girl. He was ordered held without immediate bond. Investigating officers said Mears was left at his home to baby-sit with the girl Saturday night when both his and the girl's parents went out for the evening.

Dad, 2 Children Perish In Flames

HENDERSON, Tex. (AP) — Renzell Hart, 34, died with his two small children in their flaming home Sunday morning in an unsuccessful attempt to save the youngsters. Investigators said Hart had been able to lead his wife to safety when fire broke out in their home in the Big Springs Community, but was trapped when he re-entered the small frame house. The two children, Stanley 5, and Delle, 3, also died in the fire. The cause of the early-morning fire was not determined immediately. FOR BEST RESULTS... USE HERALD WANT ADS!

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. foreign aid agency has temporarily halted its nationwide recruiting of civilians for duty in Vietnam pending a review of job needs there.

Peale Critical Of Dr. Spock

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Norman Vincent Peale has criticized Dr. Benjamin Spock for his theories on baby care and his encouragement of young men to resist the draft.

Peale, in his sermon Sunday at Marble Collegiate Church, urged a national disciplinary crackdown to avert "A vicious rebellion" which he said the nation faces this summer.

Peale said recent generations had used Spock's baby-rearing principles, which he described as "feed 'em whatever they want, don't let them cry, instant gratification of needs."

Fog and light drizzle which prevailed much of the weekend and on into Monday added .93 inch moisture to February's total, the U.S. Experiment Station reported. The .93 brought the February rain to 1.29 and the year's total to 2.81.

Forecast for today and tomorrow calls for cloudy skies to continue with some slight warming up on Tuesday.

Humphreys Will Replace TLCB Boss In Few Weeks?

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Liquor Control Board is to get a new assistant administrator today and some newspapers predict he will soon replace Coke Stevenson Jr. as the agency's No. 1 man.

He is O. N. Humphreys Jr., 43, who has been director of the Department of Public Safety's intelligence division for 11 years.

Humphreys was to take the oath of office in Austin today as assistant administrator for the Texas Liquor Control Board, succeeding William L. Ferguson.

Stevenson, son of former Gov. Coke R. Stevenson of Junction, has held the post since 1949.

Within the past few months his agency has been the target of charges of irregularities and allegations of poor administration.

Rich Widow Theft Victim

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A thief got into a rich Texas widow's hotel room while she was out to dinner and made off with about $114,000 worth of jewelry.

Margaret B. Bowdle, 40, of Wichita Falls told officers the missing jewels included a $36,000 emerald and diamond ring, a $30,000 pair of emerald earrings and an $8,000 emerald and diamond pin.

Capt. Henry Morris, chief of detectives, said Sunday the room showed no sign of forced entry, but the cosmetic case in which the jewels had been left was pried open.

Mrs. Bowdle is one of two daughters of the late J. S. Bridwell, a multimillionaire oilman-rancher who died about two years ago.

The TLCB is being investigated by grand juries at Dallas and Tyler and probes have been started by the Texas Department of Public Safety and the state attorney general's office.

PROBERS SCORE?

The Dallas Times Herald said it has learned on high authority "that Stevenson, who Wednesday denied he will retire 'in the near future' will not be allowed to retire at his leisure."

"And it was learned that the TLCB commission planned as long as two weeks ago to deny Stevenson his own timing in announcing his termination with the TLCB," the Times Herald story said.

The story also said that the three-man commission governing the TLCB decided to turn Stevenson out only after probes from state agencies convinced them they should do so.

Pancake Event Gains Praise

It will be several weeks probably before a final count on the number of tickets sold for the Kiwanis Club's 16th Annual Pancake Supper can be established but it is known that more than 1,400 diners were served on Friday night.

"We think we had about 1,800 tickets sold," said Noel Reed, general chairman for the supper, "and the counter we had at the door registered 1,400 served. We could have missed a few at the door. All in all, it appears the supper was a satisfactory enterprise."

He said that the diners were most complimentary of the quality of the pancakes and the efficiency displayed in handling the crowd.

He said a mild jam of diners built up around 6:30 p.m. but that none had to wait very long before being served.

How profitable the enterprise will prove will have to wait on the final report on receipts and the settlement of bills for the food.

Walt Davis was ticket sales chairman. He reported J. C. Pickle sold 123 tickets and Henry Thames more than 80 to lead all members in advance sales.

Many tickets were sold at the door on Friday night.

The supper was held at the Howard County Junior College Student Union Building from 5 to 8 p.m.

The head of the U.S. aid mission in Saigon, Donald G. MacDonald, had been slated to return to Washington by this time to meet with Gaud on this matter but his trip was delayed by the Viet Cong attacks.

Woman Hurt In Accident

Three minor accidents were reported to police Saturday and two Sunday. A car which left the scene collided with a car driven by Bobby Gene Pruitt, Lamesa, at Third and Goliad Saturday. Carl Wayne Clanton, Garden City Route, was in collision with a car which left the scene of the accident at Fourth and Lancaster.

John Darby Jr., 700 Tulane, and William Martin, 1604 Wood, were involved in an accident in the parking lot of the First Christian Church, 911 Goliad, Sunday. Joe Armando Lopez, 508 NW 6th, and Bert Egan Engimangar, 3612 Calvin, were in collision at 810 Lamesa Drive.

$800-MILLION JOB Airbus Pact Is Announced

NEW YORK (AP)—American Airlines announced today an order of more than $800-million for a new McDonnell Douglas Corp. jet liner. It was commercial aviation's biggest single order.

American said it has placed a firm order for 25 McDonnell Douglas DC10 three-engine transports of a type called the Airbus in airline circles.

American said it has also purchased options to buy an additional 25.

LOCKHEED LOSES

George A. Spator, president of American, and James S. McDonnell, chairman of the aerospace firm, made the announcement of the first order for the 252-passenger jet liner. The order calls for delivery of the first 25 in late 1971 and the additional 25 during 1973.

McDonnell Douglas thus beats out Lockheed Aircraft Co. in a competitive battle for the first Airbus order.

The aircraft is so named because of its capability of carrying large numbers of people on distances up to 3,000 miles. It is designed to cruise at about 600 miles an hour.

American said it has committed money it would lose if the options for the aircraft were not exercised.

"It represents a firm indication of our intentions," Spator said.

The engines for the DC10 trijet will be selected within the next few weeks, Spator and McDonnell said.

JUMBO COACH

General Electric and Rolls-Royce are competing for the engine order.

The DC10 carries one jet engine slung beneath each of its wings with a third high in the tail. Two aisles will run the length of the jumbo size coach compartment.

The DC10 is 179 feet 8 inches

MAP MODERATE PLATFORM DRIVE

Race Frustrates GOP Governors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican governors, frustrated in attempts to agree on a presidential candidate, are launching a grass-roots drive for a moderate party platform.

Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, chairman of the Republican Governors Association, scheduled a news conference today to announce a series of platform hearings. Individual citizens will be asked to contribute ideas on domestic and foreign policy issues.

The GOP state executives are promoting Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania for chairman of the Miami Beach, Fla., convention platform committee to sit with Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

EXPRESS FEAR

The party moderates among the governors express fear that Dirksen, who has supported President Johnson's basic objectives in Vietnam, will be inclined to leave little room for a Republican alternative to the administration's Asian course.

They regard Dirksen, who placed Barry Goldwater's name in nomination at the 1964 convention, as too conservative on domestic policies. But so far they have not seemed to make much headway in their efforts to dislodge Dirksen or to win

Shafer a share of the chairman-ship power.

Shafer has been designated to supervise the governors' version of platform hearings. He will be operating with a workbook on issues assembled by staff members under the direction of the association's policy committee, headed by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

ROCKY CHOICE

Although Rockefeller apparently would be the choice of a majority of the 26 governors for the presidential nomination, he has made it difficult for them to coalesce behind him.

He has filed an affidavit of non-candidacy, withdrawing his name from the April 2 Wisconsin primary, and is expected to take similar action in the May 14 Nebraska and May 28 Oregon primaries.

Rockefeller and Chafee are committed to the candidacy of Michigan Gov. George Romney. But they have failed to stir any enthusiasm among other state GOP executives for crawling out on what many of them seem to think may be a cracking political limb.

Rockefeller's public disavowal of candidacy still leaves the door open for him to become a contender at the convention, with the powerful 92-vote New York delegation behind him as a favorite son.

LITTLE UNITY

But Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., a former GOP national chairman who participated in the abortive attempt by the moderates to head off Goldwater's nomination at the last minute in 1964, said time is wasting.

He said the moderates who predominate among the governors "haven't shown the unity which it will take... to bring about the nomination of a progressive candidate."

"I hope they don't fall on their faces or over their own feet," he said. "I'm for the governors. I think they can do it but I think they had better not waste any time."

Scott expressed these views on a taped television program broadcast by Pennsylvania stations Sunday.

Write-In Drive For Rocky Launched In New Hampshire

By The Associated Press

Evelyn Lincoln, who was President John F. Kennedy's personal secretary, writes that he told her just before his death Lyndon B. Johnson would not be his running mate in 1964. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., denies the report.

While that political story of what might have been captured attention there were promises of new and heavier competition in the 1968 New Hampshire first-in-the-nation presidential primary.

NOT LYNDON

A write-in campaign for New York Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was launched and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy announced he will step up his Democratic presidential drive in the state.

Mrs. Lincoln says in her new book, "Kennedy and Johnson," that on Nov. 19, 1963, three days before Kennedy was assassinated, she asked him who he wanted as a vice presidential running mate when he sought his second term.

"He looked straight ahead," Mrs. Lincoln said, "and without hesitating, he replied, 'At this time I am thinking about Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina. But it will not be Lyndon.'"

Robert Kennedy issued a statement saying that in 1963 he often discussed the '64 ticket with his brother and "it was always clear that Lyndon Johnson would be the vice presidential candidate."

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ 3 ♠ J 9 4 ♠ 6 3 2 ♠ A K 10 7 5
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
1 NT Pass 2 ♠ Pass
3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Four clubs. Partner obviously has only three hearts, else he would have given an immediate raise. No trump is out because of the singleton spade, so the only course open is a return to clubs.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ 6 3 2 ♥ K Q J 8 ♠ K Q 9 3 ♠ 6 2
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
3 ♠ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid?
A.—Four hearts. This does not do full justice to your holding and such mild action might result in missing a slam, yet no other step seems entirely satisfactory. We prefer to make a little allowance for the possibility that partner may have been acting under some degree of pressure. This is the toll we occasionally pay to preemptive bids.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ A 4 ♥ A 10 8 6 2 ♠ Q 3 ♠ A K 7
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Inasmuch as your hand can take seven tricks, a jump is indicated and the obvious jump to three hearts is the appropriate procedure.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ K J 5 4 ♥ A 9 6 ♠ 8 7 2 ♠ 9 6 3
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
3 ♠ Pass 3 NT Pass
4 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Four hearts. Up until this point you have done nothing more than tell partner you had a minimum spade response. Actually your hand is worth eight points and, in view of partner's vigorous bidding and your assertion on the second round that you had a minimum, you should take one aggressive step by way of advising partner that you have the ace of hearts. The rest should be up to him.

Q. 5—East-West vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠ K J 9 6 4 ♥ A J 6 2 ♠ Q 10 5 ♠ 6
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Dble. 1 ♥ 2 ♠
Pass 2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three hearts. With a singleton club, you are not disposed to support the no trump immediately. If possible you would like to elicit a spade preference from partner. The bid of three hearts will serve the purpose. If partner is well protected in the minor suits he is given the opportunity to proceed to game in no trump.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠ Q 10 8 6 3 ♥ Q 5 2 ♠ A 7 5 4 2
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Dble. 1 ♥ 1 ♠
Pass 1 NT 4 ♠ ?

What do you bid now?
A.—You have a strong hand opposite partner's double. Including distribution it is worth 11 points and you are odds-on favorite to make a game. Our choice is for a bid of four diamonds.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠ A ♥ 6 5 ♠ J 8 7 3 ♠ K Q J 9 8 7
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
Pass 1 ♠ 2 ♠ 2 ♠
2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three clubs. With a spade opening virtually assured, you must step with caution in case partner does not have the ace of clubs. The rebid of the minor suit will serve as a warning to him. If his hand does not contain the ace of clubs he should realize the danger of proceeding in no trump.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠ Q 6 5 ♥ 9 5 2 ♠ K 5 4 3 ♠ K 7 5
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
Pass Pass 1 ♥ 1 ♠

What do you bid now?
A.—Our inclination is for a bid of four spades. It does not appear that sufficient defensive values are held to defeat the vulnerable game contract. We prefer, therefore, to make the sacrifice bid which should not prove too expensive.

NO SHORTAGE OF APPLICANTS

Sheriff Is Forming Posse

CHICAGO (AP) — Jesse James' career as an outlaw would have been short-lived if the settlers of the Old West responded to posse calls as Chicago residents have.

Sheriff Joseph Woods of Cook County received more than a thousand applications and an equal number of telephone inquiries within a few days after his Feb. 12 call for a 1,000-man riot control unit to be used in case of civil disorders this summer.

NO PAY

As in the Old West, posse members will supply their own handguns and will draw no pay.

The first batch of volunteers included the president of an airplane company, two attorneys, a hospital therapist, a security guard, a utility company executive, a dining car porter, a systems analyst and an official of Pinkerton's, Inc., the private detective agency.

One man wrote, "I am 54 years of age. I know when the chips are down and America has to be defended, by God, I am ready."

The dining car porter said, "I am a Negro American. I don't think riots will help in any way. The only way is law and order."

BIRACIAL UNIT

The sheriff wants his unit to be biracial—500 Negro and 500 white volunteers. The first week's figures indicated white volunteers outnumbered Negro volunteers 4-to-1.

Earl Latham, a Negro security guard, said, "the squad is a good idea if members keep their temper and cool."

Applications from persons under 21, persons with police records or physical disabilities, or without jobs are automatically rejected.

Three hundred persons tentatively accepted last week will meet with Woods tonight.

"The volunteers will be carefully screened," Woods said. "Not one man will become a deputy until he has passed all the tests and gone through a riot training program of 40 to 60 hours."

The sheriff said that during the training starting March 1, Negro sergeants would swing bats at white trainees and vice versa.

"Part of the training," he said, "is to subject a man to insults and humiliation to a reasonable extreme. If he gets angry, out he goes."

"We are going to have psychological tests to help filter out sadists and kooks," he said.

Of the first 51 volunteers, 21 were turned down. One man's application was rejected when he remarked, "the colored have gone too far, we need something like this to stop them in their tracks."

When Woods' plan was announced Feb. 12, the sheriff reported to have said the unit was being formed to quell threatened demonstrations and riots during the Democratic National Convention in August.

DANGEROUS

Mayor Richard J. Daley, a Democrat, then criticized the plan as dangerous and said, "We don't want that in Chicago."

But Woods, a Republican, said Sunday, "I have never said I would come into the city of Chicago." He said he lacked manpower for such.

Harry Leviton has filed suit on "behalf of the people of Illinois" to stop formation of the posse on grounds it is illegal.

Woods said he believed it is based on an 1874 Illinois law but asked State's Atty. John Stamos for an opinion.

If Stamos "tells me this plan would cut Cook County in an untenable position," the sheriff said, "I would drop it."

Fire Unveils 'Rag' Profits

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — Firemen discovered that Clemmie Andrews, 65, who perished in flames Sunday, profited more than anyone ever suspected from her daily rounds as a ragpicker and bottle collector.

Only the bedroom burned. Elsewhere in her three-room shack searchers turned up evidence she was worth more than $7,000 in a chest-high accumulation of discarded garments, trinkets, boxes and bottles.

Fire chief C.E. Larkin said a bank book listing $6,500 in deposits and more than $900 in cash was found in syrup cans, cigar boxes and some of the bottles. There also was money sewed into part of the clothing.

Miss Andrews, a Negro, was a familiar figure to many residents of this East Texas city as she rummaged through the discarded goods of supposedly more affluent neighbors. She had lived in Marshall all her life.

Two Pacifists Claim Flight Endangers Other Prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two pacifists involved in North Vietnam's release of three American flyers claim "inept and cold-blooded" handling of the situation by this country has endangered release of other prisoners of war.

The three airmen—looking fit and cheerful after emotional reunions with their families—were in military hospitals Sunday for physical checkups.

They are Air Force Lt. Col. Norris M. Overly of Oscoda, Mich.; Capt. Jon D. Black of Laredo, Texas, and Navy Lt. (jg) David Matheny of Bakersfield, Calif.

PRESS CONFERENCE

They indicated there would be a joint press conference, yet unscheduled, on their four to five-month ordeals in North Vietnam prisons after their planes were shot down last fall.

The pacifists—Prof. Howard Zinn of Boston University and the Rev. Daniel Berrigan, a Jesuit priest at Cornell University—claimed the three were reluctant to fly home on military aircraft for fear of jeopardizing release of other prisoners.

The pacifists said the men had been told by North Vietnamese authorities to return home on a nonmilitary plane or it could mean the end of release of U.S. prisoners of war.

BETRAYAL RAP

Zinn and Father Berrigan, arriving in New York on a commercial flight from Paris, said U.S. authorities persuaded the airmen to return on military aircraft anyway.

Berrigan said "the spirit of the mission to bring the men back home has been betrayed by U.S. intervention."

But a Defense Department spokesman said the airmen had their choice, and they chose military transportation because it was faster and they could get medical examinations en route.

6,000 Riders Near Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Riders on 13 trail rides into Houston for the annual livestock show and rodeo neared the city today.

Some 6,000 riders will camp Tuesday night in Houston's Memorial Park and participate Wednesday in the downtown parade which officially opens the show.

The 36th Annual Livestock Show and Rodeo will run through March 3 in the Astrodome and adjacent Exposition Hall.

The largest of the trail rides is the Salt Grass Trail Ride which left Brenham Saturday with 1,500 riders and 50 wagons.

A LOVELIER YOU

Mini, Kneesie, Midi Fashionably 'In'

By MARY SUE MILLER
Midi lengths have had quite a fling this winter and will continue on through spring and summer. This does not mean that the mini now is on the skirts. It's just that designers offer a "wardrobe" of hemlines. You pay your money and you take your choice.

Midi lengths look especially great in airy spring late-date dresses, as for instance pale, bias crepes with a sash tied at the waistline. . . . dark voiles, snug of bodice and billowy of skirt. . . . bright organzas with a riot of pleats.

To top midi dresses, or any others, there are midi capes in gaberdines, heavy cottons, and fine flannels. These have great and irresistible flair. Really with it!

When the midi was first introduced its length was the whim of individual designers. So me liked it at the ankle, others at mid-calf and still others a bit below mid-calf.

Well, now there's been a consensus. The regulation midi length is just below mid-calf. And that's a smart decision, for it is the most becoming to the majority of legs.

However, the turn of the midi hem is not static. You should turn yours to the most becoming nuance—a half-inch higher than regulation or a quarter-inch lower. Nothing detracts more from the feminine figure than a misturned hemline. Mini or Midi!

Moisture Can End Static Electricity

Nothing fazes society today — not even static electric shocks. During winter months, in rooms where humidity is kept very low, unpleasant shocks occur when we walk across carpeting and touch metal objects or another person.

This is caused by an electrical charge built up in our bodies and released by contact with a non-charged object. The National Institute of Rug Cleaning recommends that moisture be added to the air in your home by use of humidifiers or by water in open containers. If these methods are impossible, or do not satisfactorily eliminate the problem, your local professional rug cleaner can prevent shocks by treating your carpet.

A Devotional For The Day

"Where two or three have met together in my name, I am there among them." (Matthew 18:20, NEB)
PRAYER: We thank Thee, O God, that Jesus Christ meets us in our church, as He promised. Speak Thy truth to us as we worship in Thy church and serve in Thy world. In His name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Brighter But No Panacea

The Texas Railroad Commission has set the state's oil allowable at 49.6 per cent for February and March. This pegs the daily output figure for the state at 3,732,485 barrels, roughly half a million more than a year ago. The new level is at an undreamed-of percentage when viewed from the point of not so long ago when operators languished with an allowable pegged in the 20's.

This will brighten the current outlook of producers. It will mean good news to the state, which relies heavily upon the oil industry for its support and may conceivably lessen the tax jolt when the legislature convenes to make appropriations for the 1969 fiscal year.

Yet, it is not prudent to look upon this development as having turned the corner toward long-range prosperity. Sober reflection will produce at least two conclusions: Texas cannot sustain this rate of production indefinitely unless it steps up its rate of exploration and discovery correspondingly. Exploration cannot and will not be stimulated to the necessary levels unless there is assurance of long-range demand and continuation of the depletion allowance as the incentive to gamble on wildcat wells.

Truth of the matter is that our oil reserves are falling behind our withdrawal. Instead of 12 barrels in the ground to each barrel taken, we are now down to 10 barrels in reserve to each one produced. Yet the rate of exploration has declined nearly 50 per cent within the past decade.

And while facing facts, we might as well admit that this applies to West Texas just as much as to the state and nation at large. The demand for oil in West Texas is beginning to outstrip our ability to produce it intensively over a long haul.

Ill-Advised Plan

The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King's called, but as yet unplanned, spring campaign to "escalate nonviolence to the level of civil disobedience" is fraught with danger and futility.

Without even a clear goal in mind, or at least not articulated, there is no way yet to measure the campaign's possible "success." But from Dr. King's comments so far, the probability is high that the massive disruption of public facilities and services he envisions in major cities, particularly Washington, could only result in self-defeating violence.

Civil disobedience might be justifiable in a rigid society of intolerable conditions without hope for change through regular political processes. For all its past mistakes in race relations and all its persistent shortcomings in reform, that does not describe America today, and civil-rights militants who claim that it does have a credibility-gap problem of their own.

The kind of civil disobedience campaign that Dr. King seems to be promoting is virtually certain, even if sincerely designed to be nonviolent, to explode into violence. The violence may come from the general public that is exasperatingly inconvenienced or endangered. It may come from the necessity of government to use force to prevent disruption of essential functions. It may come from the civil disobedients whose emotions and judgments get out of hand. But from one or the other, or from all in a spontaneous flash, it will surely come.

With violence will go a wave of national resentment, as unreasoning as its cause, which will deny, not gain, help for the poor, opportunity for the oppressed, or respect for the rights of the underprivileged. Even if Dr. King were thus momentarily to regain pre-eminence in leadership of his discontented people, it would be in the role of doomed hero of Greek tragedy, and any success he might claim would be a Pyrrhic victory. For nonviolence can be escalated only into violence, and violence can only drain away the moral power without which the Negro movement is hopeless.

Holmes Alexander Keep Peace With Nuclear Power

WASHINGTON — Republican Representatives Craig Hosmer (Calif.) and Paul Findley (Ill.) are very good examples of why we need unguided missile-minds in Congress. Mental conformity is too much with us. Especially in matters of peace, disarmament and nuclear neurosis.

THESE TWO young-generation Republicans turned up the other day to testify against relicensing the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA). Yes — that's right. The ACDA is the only thing of its kind in the world. No other nation but us pays for armament out of one pocket, and disarmament out of the other. ACDA's chief officers, William Foster and Adrian Fisher, advise the State Department on how to reduce the potency of weaponry throughout the world, and particularly of Nukes — the nuclear systems.

Ambassadors Foster and Fisher go to Geneva and negotiate disarmament treaties which, in the current atmosphere of nuclear-neurosis, the President is apt to recommend and the Senate to ratify. Reps. Hosmer and Findley don't want to abolish ACDA. They'd much rather abolish NUKES.

IT TAKES unguided missile-mentality to think that way. Conventional mentality around Washington has a guideline, and controls. It thinks of Nukes in pyrotechnic terms — the holocaust! The guided thinkers welcomed the Non-Proliferation Treaty (NPT), a draft of which Foster and Fisher recently brought back from Geneva. If it goes into effect, the treaty would leave the five-member Nuclear Club intact, but would pledge some 110 have-not nuclear nations never to acquire Nukes.

Good idea? Guided mentality says that the fewer Nukes, the better; that a Soviet-American agreement on non-proliferation is a step toward mutual disarmament; that disarmament leads to peace.

BAD IDEA? Unguided mentality says that the treaty would weaken the USA; strengthen the USSR; do nothing to stabilize conditions for peace, cause an artificial and unstable division of the world into haves and have-nots of Nukes.

Guided thinking says that Nukes are always weapons of aggression. Unguided thinking says that Nukes can be weapons of defense. Guided thinking believes that almost any concession to the Soviet Union is justified in order to achieve nuclear disarmament. Unguided thinking believes that no treaty with communism is useful unless it's self-executing.

BOTH MENTALITIES would like to have inspection clauses in any nuclear treaty. But Foster and Fisher say they have negotiated a Soviet-American "agreement to agree" to inspection. And Hosmer and Findley say that such an arrangement is an absurdity.

Rep. Hosmer contends that the ACDA has done such a paucity of research and rendered such bum advice that it should be junked.

REP. FINDLEY doesn't trust ACDA either. He proposes to amend the ACDA's authorization act so that "no funds by this act may be spent for salaries or other expenses connected with advancing proposals... which preclude... nuclear (regional) defenses." This would hang up the phone on the non-proliferation conversation.

Findley finds the U.S. Government so anxious to negotiate it would trade away our peace-keeping Balance of Terror in order to get a disarmament treaty.

Could it be that the Nukes are better than treaties when it comes to protecting peace and freedom? It takes an unguided, unconventional mentality, like Hosmer's and Findley's, to think it through.

'ER — I'D BE GLAD TO TALK ABOUT PEACE...

Hal Boyle Better Off In Love

NEW YORK (AP) — Emmy award-winning producer-director George Schaefer says actresses give their best performances when they fall in love with their directors—and their directors fall in love with them.

"I very often end up with extreme crushes on my leading ladies—Claire Bloom, Lee Remick, Jean Simmons, Julie Harris, Geraldine Page, Genevieve Bujold," says the 47-year-old balding producer.

APPARENTLY, the feeling is not totally one-sided. Claire Bloom describes Schaefer as "an artistic gentleman." Julie Harris says he is "touched by genius." Lynn Fontanne calls him "technically brilliant."

Between rehearsals for his May 2 Hallmark production "The Admirable Crichton" starring Bill Travers and Virginia McKenna, Schaefer enthusiastically discussed his occupation and one of his favorite preoccupations: actresses.

Schaefer says his secret for successfully handling an actress is a certain amount of diversity and swinging with the punches.

"Everyone is different," he says. "There are no two major actresses who have anything in common—which is probably why they are major actresses... The job of a director is to size them up quickly."

"I think also you've got to have hoped that they've seen your past record. It helps if she can say he's won Emmys" for Lynn Fontanne, Julie Harris and Dame Judith Anderson, who can't do it for me, instead of her thinking, am I going to go in here and fight for my life."

Though Schaefer's technique works for actresses, he is not willing to recommend it as a playmate to a problem that has plagued men throughout history: How to handle a woman.

"I've had a great deal of experience handling actresses and very little experience handling all women," he says with a smile.

With actresses, he explains, rehearsals are concentrated, intense, and have a definite goal—a performance that will be admired and win critical acclaim.

"IN TERMS of women, it's more of a long-term running relationship," he says. "After a few weeks, if it didn't work, you might be inclined to desert the ship. After all there are other fish in the sea."

After a moment's pause, he adds: "The technique may be a little similar, but the working conditions are quite different." Schaefer, winner of more Emmys than any other individual transfer his directing techniques to his wife, actress Mildred Trarres, "but it would seem to be impossible not to."

After 14 years of marriage, however, he says "I find I can't fool her." Schaefer says she even understands the beautiful women who wander in and out of his life—especially since she is one.

WITH A little chuckle, he adds: "I'm glad to say she gets jealous occasionally. Mention the name Barbara Harris around the apartment and there's a definite chill."

James Marlow GOP Eyes House Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — The desire of Republican congressional leaders to recapture House control for the first time in 14 years is playing an important role in influencing their preferences in the GOP's presidential contest.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Conference, feels the party's best opportunity to win additional House seats lies in the Northeast and that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller would be the biggest help in getting them.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan sees the South as the best hope for electing more Republicans. While officially neutral, he has in the past been close to Richard M. Nixon.

STUDIES by the Republican Congressional Committee outlining how the GOP can gain the 31 seats it needs for House control show 12 possible gains in the 11 Deep South states and 12 more in the nine New England and Middle Atlantic states.

But this assumes a normal

Around The Rim 24-Hour Time Pieces

This and that: Quite probably, everyone who wears a timepiece will have to go out and buy a new watch in five or six years. That's what some of the watch manufacturers are saying.

Reason: The United States likely will be on 24-hour time with half a decade, mainly because it will make overseas travel less complicated.

America, of course, is now on the 12 hour system, a.m. and p.m., but most of the world as well as the United States military, air transport and maritime services are all on the 24 hour system — which identifies nighttime as 1200 hours and midnight as 2400 hours.

ACTUALLY, the 24 hour timepiece would be easier for school children to learn.

Under 24 hour time, no longer would airline timetables be a mystery to overseas travelers. He would know that when his flight departed at 1900 hours that it would be 7 p.m.

You might as well draw you a 24 hour clock and start memorizing it, once you punch out and leave work at 1700 hours. THOSE PEOPLE who are fond of saying "where there's smoke there's fire" obviously don't have fireplaces in their homes.

HEAVEN WILL fall short of expectations to some people, I'm sure, unless they are granted the permission to visit the other place and gloat in front of some of the less fortunate souls.

I DON'T THINK I'd want any stock in a paper clip company. What I mean is, do they every sell any? Of course, you can never find one when you want one but there is one attached to most of the pieces of mail that hit this desk.

Some one who knows swears they reproduce over night.

HERE'S A riddle for you: Who is the more satisfied — a fellow with a million dollars or a man with 17 kids?

That's easy — the man with 17 kids. The man with money wants more.

John Cunniff Taxes At High Percentage

NEW YORK (AP) — An amount equal to 31.6 per cent of the value of the nation's net output of goods and services will be collected in taxes this year to support local, state and federal government projects.

This percentage, highest in modern history, is an estimate by the Tax Foundation, a nonpartisan, nonprofit organization engaged in research and education.

THIS ESTIMATE does not mean that close to 32 per cent of everything somehow will go to pay government bills or that it will seep down the drain. But it does mean that this percentage of output will be taken for spending and redistribution by government rather than individuals or corporations.

Tentative estimates arrived at recently by the Tax Foundation and so far unpublished indicate that federal taxes this year will rise to 22 per cent of the net national product, a record, while local-state taxes will remain at 9.6 per cent.

These figures include sales, Social Security and excise taxes and assume a 10 per cent income tax surtax. They undoubtedly will supply added ammunition to many thousands of disgruntled taxpayers who, in the heat of recent debate, have forged their gripes into missiles aimed at Congress.

THIS TAXPAYER restlessness already has had a negative effect on President Johnson's attempts to impose a temporary surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes, and has also forced reductions in domestic programs.

The federal government's big bills result from an almost indescribable complex of responsibilities. Tax money goes not just for government administration, but for national defense, international affairs, commerce and finance, health, sanitation, civilian safety, transportation, education, highways, veterans benefits, welfare, agriculture and interest on debt.

Stated in terms perhaps more meaningful to the average person, the Tax Foundation estimates that to pay these bills Americans will work two hours and 26 minutes of each eight-hour day to pay 1968 taxes. To own and operate their homes will take only 61 minutes.

DISTURBING as this might be to most Americans, it is nothing new, for the percentages have been in their current areas for several years now. Although this year's estimate is the highest ever, it is larger only by a small percentage.

In 1966 the percentage of national product collected as taxes was a bit under 30, made up of 9.4 per cent local and state taxes and 20.9 in federal taxes. Last year it was 29.9 and 9.6, for a total of 30.5.

The entire rise this year, the Tax Foundation estimates, will be in federal taxes. The percentage of 22 exceeds any year in recent history, including the World War II and Korean War years.

THE 1968 estimate compares with an extreme low of 2.9 per cent in 1931, when the federal government was less extensively involved in welfare or warfare, and when the country was undergoing a depression.

The spurt in the federal percentage marks a significant rise after several years of stability, and even of shrinkage after the 1964 income tax cut.

But the dramatic rise in taxation in recent years has come not from the federal government but from state and local administrations, whose percentage has grown from 5.9 in 1948 to more than nine since 1961, or better than 60 per cent.

Much of this state-local increase represents the demand for roads and schools that had been postponed during war years, and after that to accommodate the crop of postwar babies and still later for rising welfare costs.

DR. GEORGE A. Bishop of the Tax Foundation feels that the percentage for state and local taxes might be leveling off. Military and defense needs and the degree of social problems may dictate the size of federal spending.

David Lawrence Waging War-Communist Style

WASHINGTON — The American people may not realize it, but "World War III — Communist Style" — as Sen. Wallace Bennett (R-Utah) termed it in a recent speech in the Senate — has actually begun.

NORTH KOREA went on a war footing nine months ago, and the United States government was warned about it at the time. Hundreds of infiltration teams have since crossed the armistice line into South Korea, killing Koreans and American soldiers and spreading terror. One group of 31 North Koreans was recently sent to Seoul to assassinate the president of South Korea. The attempt was not successful. Some of the "commandos" were killed and others captured. But this kind of Communist activity, which is in violation of the Korean Truce, is continuing.

Moscow has provided North Koreans with billions of dollars' worth of arms and equipment, along with Soviet technicians to operate or to train others in the use of up-to-date weapons. These include modern jet planes and late-model tanks, artillery, and infantry rapid-fire rifles.

AT ANY moment, the North Koreans may expand the war by an invasion of South Korea. They have the bases and the equipment—better than that of their adversaries—for launching an attack. The American government is thoroughly familiar with the Soviet relationship to the North Korean military buildup and Moscow's help to North Vietnam.

The United States today is confronted with a delicate problem in trying to get the release of the seized naval ship "Pueblo" and its crew. While talks have been going on at Panmunjon, there is no sign as yet that the Americans will be freed.

THE MEETINGS of the military armistice commission are under the auspices of the United Nations. The Korean War was fought by U.N. forces sent there as the result of a resolution by the U.N. security council. The war was halted by means of an armistice negotiated and signed in behalf of the United Nations. The American admiral who is senior delegate of the commission at Panmun-jon is officially a representative of the United Nations.

So "World War III — Communist Style" has reached the point where the U.N. will be obliged to recognize that one of the principal members of the security council, which has been engaged in fighting the U.N. in the past, is preparing now for another assertion of military strength against the international organization.

THE CREWMEN of the "Pueblo" are really being held as hostages, and only the Soviet government can bring about their release. Up till now there's been no hint that Moscow wishes to do anything about it. Indeed, the Kremlin may be assuming that the United States would be willing to pay as a price for getting the "Pueblo" crew back an acceptance of the Soviet terms for peace in Vietnam. The Communist mind evidently has a limited amount of imagination, as its illusory theory is that the United States will agree to withdraw from Vietnam in exchange for the crew of the "Pueblo."

Meanwhile, the United States is striving in every way to get some kind of negotiation started with the government of North Vietnam. Nowhere, however, is there any indication of success. Rumors crop up frequently, but they prove to be meaningless. The truth is that the Soviet Union has the power of decision—not only in Vietnam but in Korea.

INEVITABLY, the U.N. will have to decide whether it will call on all its members to build up the South Korean military strength to equal that of North Korea, which is threatening another way of aggression. The United States, moreover, may be confronted with the necessity of asking the U.N. to notify the Soviet government either to cease its military participation in Korea and in Vietnam or face the possibility of being expelled from the organization.

If the U.N. does nothing, there is a course America could pursue. It is for Congress to pass a joint resolution declaring "a state of war," and then place an embargo on all shipments of war materials to North Vietnam and North Korea.

Billy Graham

I have never seen a time when there seems to be such opposition against the church. Can you tell me why this is happening? Y.T. The reason is perhaps threefold.

First, the church like any other institution is inclined to lose its love and luster. So, part of the rebellion against the organized church is against its perversions and hypocrisies.

Second, the Bible teaches that there exists a natural antagonism against God's people. "If you were of the world, the world would love his own; but because you are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you," said Jesus to His disciples. (John 15:19.) We live in a secular society, and the church which teaches the things of the Spirit is a natural target for agnostic snipers. Christ said it would be so, and it is.

Third, because of the imperfections of professed Christians (and they are many), the non-Christian says, "They are no better than we." In most cases, this is true. But the point is: the follower of Jesus Christ trusts not in his own righteousness, but in the finished work of Christ on the cross. He believes that he is saved, not because of what he does, but because of what Christ has done. However, because the follower of Christ is given a new life (the new birth), his responses should be in keeping with Christian principles and ethics. Every Christian should "let his light shine before men, that they may see his good works, and glorify his Father which is in heaven."

Big Springs Community near the East Texas city of Henderson snuffed out the lives of two young children and killed their father as he rushed into the burning house to try to save them.
 Dead in the fire were Renzell Hart, 34, and his two children, Delle, 3, and Stanley, 5. Investigators said Hart had led his wife to safety and went back into the small frame home to try to get the children.
 Miss Clemmie Andrews, 65, of Marshall, burned to death in her modest frame home in the East Texas city early Sunday. Fire investigators found thousands of dollars hidden in the bottle-clothing and debris-strewn home.

 Butis Lee Davis, 31, of Oklahoma City, was fatally injured Sunday morning when his pickup truck spun out of control on ice-coated US 69 three miles west of Bovina and overturned three times.
 Brady Hanna, 54, of Dumas, was killed early Sunday when his automobile collided with a truck on ice-coated US 287 at the northern edge of Dumas. Investigators said the icy highway was a factor in the smashup.
 David Washington, 67, of Houston, was gunned down early Sunday while arguing with a woman.

Bogey Wins For Knudson

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — "I'll be all alone in the runner-up spot."

That's how George Knudson, a $20,000 first-prize check in his pocket, described his winning effort in the $100,000 Phoenix Open.

Knudson, a 31-year-old tour regular from Toronto, Canada, carded an even-par 71 in Sunday's final round for a 12-under-par 272 and a three-stroke victory over three challengers.

Oddly, it was a four-foot bogey putt on the 210-yard, par-three 15th hole which Knudson considered the spark that led to his first triumph since the 1967 New Orleans Open and his fifth tour win.

BOGEY TURNING POINT "I showed my colors there," said the chain-smoking Knudson of the putt which managed to keep him even with charging Sam Carmichael, after he had put his tee shot in a lake in front of the green.

Carmichael, who parred the 15th, held a share of the lead only briefly and fell two strokes behind after the next two bogeys. He was only one of two challengers who caught Knudson during the final round over the 6,765-yard, par-71 Phoenix County Club Course.

Knudson carried a two-stroke lead into the final hole and then holed out a three-foot birdie putt to put him three-up on Carmichael. Martinsville, Ind., who finished with even-par 71.

Defending champion Julius Boros, who finished in a tie with Carmichael and young Jack Montgomery, Fort Worth, Tex., for second place, each with nine-under 275, missed a shot to

PESKY PUTT

He pitched to within three feet of the hole on the 535-yard, par-five 18th hole, but his putt rolled to the left of the hole. Second place was worth $8,166 to each of the three players.

Tommy Shaw, 26, Golf, Ill., club pro, after two early birdies, passed Knudson on the sixth hole when the Canadian carded the first of his two final round bogeys to go 12 under par.

But from that point on, Shaw's game collapsed completely. He bogeyed the eighth and ninth holes, double bogeyed the 11th and added successive bogeys on the 12th, 13th and 14th holes, dropping from 13 to six under par.

Finishing in a tie for third place, each at eight-under 276, were Frank Beard and Bert Yancey. Each won $4,050.

Golf Play To Resume

Competition in District 2-AAAA golf will be resumed at the Abilene Municipal course today, with seven teams bidding to overtake Midland High.

Big Spring is nine strokes back of Midland, after having scored a first round score of 299. Midland Lee completed the first round in 292 to wind up only two strokes back of Midland.

Today's round was originally to have been played last Saturday but was postponed due to bad weather.

Cooper and San Angelo are deadlocked for third place after the first round, with scores of 296. Odessa Periman followed at 298, one shot ahead of Big Spring.

First round of competition took place at the Big Spring Country Club.

Ranger Clinches N. Zone Title

RANGER — Ranger Junior College has clinched the North Zone championship in the Texas JC Conference basketball race with a 127-77 win over McLennan County JC here Saturday night.

The win was the 11th in 12 league starts for Ranger. The tournament involving champions and runners-up in both zones of the conference will take place next weekend.

Utric Cobb scored 28 points and Sol McMillan 24 for Ranger in the rout.

LEE-PERMIAN TILT TUESDAY

Midland Lee's Rebels won the toss and the right to host the Permian Panthers when the two teams meet Tuesday for the district 2-AAAA basketball title.

The game will be at 8 p. m. in the Lee gym. Permian sacked up the first half title with a perfect record, but sagged to a 3-4 record in the last half. Lee, getting stronger, had a 6-1 skid in the second round and is slightly favored. Lee has a 23-8 season record, Permian 21-10.

Clay's Appeal Heard Today

HOUSTON (AP) — Arguments on heavyweight boxer Cassius Clay's sentence of a five-year prison term were to be heard today by a three-judge federal court.

Clay received the five-year prison sentence and was fined $10,000 after he was convicted June 20 for refusing to enter the armed-services. He has remained free on a $5,000 appeal bond.

It was not necessary for Clay to be in court and one of his lawyers said the boxer did not plan to be here.

The entire proceedings were expected to take no more than an hour as each side was to be allotted 30 minutes for arguments.

HOUSTON STILL NO. 1

Conference Races Muddled As Tourney Bidding Starts

The plot thickens as most of the major college conference basketball races remain muddled on the eve of post-season tournament bids, but Houston and St. Bonaventure leave little suspense among the independents.

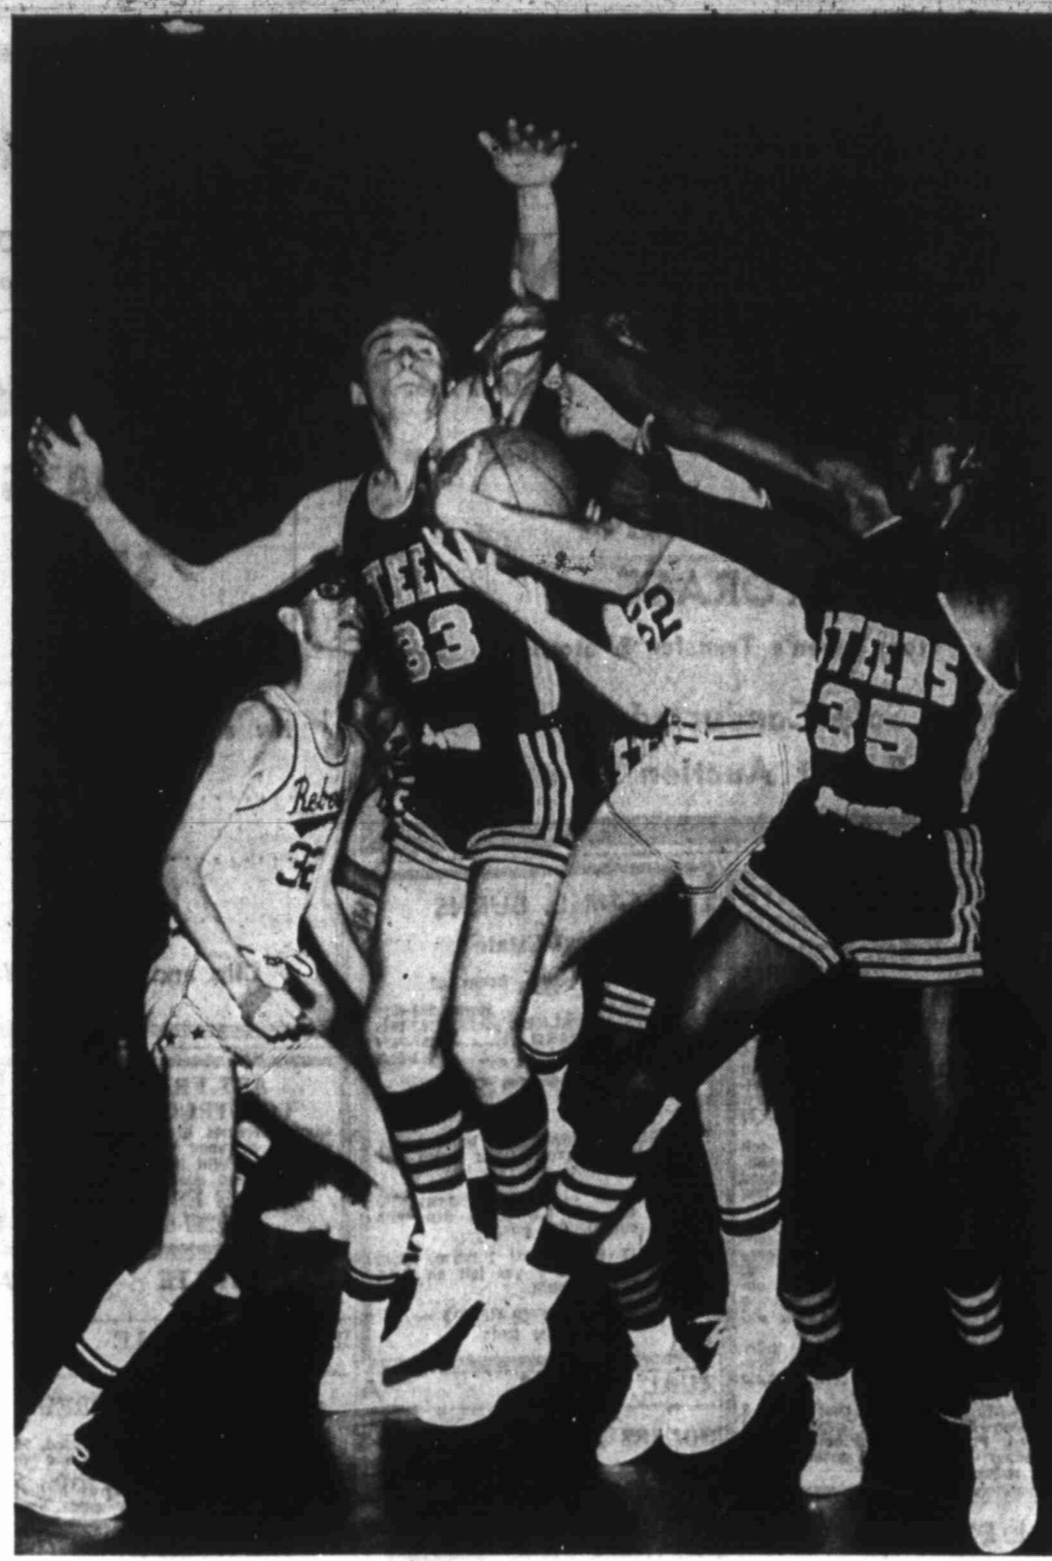

an NCAA bid all but wrapped up among the conference teams. The Bruins, 20-1 after clobbering Oregon and then Oregon State 88-71 Friday and Saturday at home, are 9-1 in the league but must play second place Southern California, 8-1, March 9.

Most conference winners receive automatic bids. Elsewhere, the tension grows, particularly in the Southeastern Conference where three of the Top Ten teams are involved.

Tennessee, No. 7, dropped a 75-63 decision at Nashville to ninth-rated Vanderbilt following a 60-59 heart-breaking loss to eighth-ranked Kentucky.

Kentucky stopped Mississippi State 107-81 Saturday at home and took a 1 1/2-game lead with an 11-3 league record, 17-4 overall. Tennessee, 15-5, and Vanderbilt, 17-4, are tied for second at 9-4.

Kentucky plays at tough Georgia tonight and closes its season at home March 2 in a showdown

Ball-Snatching Ballet

This might have been set to music, but it would still have turned out to be a sour tune for the Big Spring Steers. Lawrence (52), Midland Lee Rebels guard, is shown here rebounding a goal attempt by the Big Spring Steers, while Dean Gilstrap (33) reaches over and Snake Tucker (35) stretches in vain. Randy Prince (32) of Midland watches this action. The Rebels beat the Steers in rebounding, refusing to give the locals second shots in the last half of play. Lee won, and with it the last half title.

Rockets Blow Chance For Record, They Beat 76ers

By The Associated Press
With a chance to set a National Basketball Association record, the San Diego Rockets blew it—they won.

San Diego blew a chance to set a record for the most assists in a game when they beat the Philadelphia 76ers 111-106 Sunday night, stopping a 17-game losing skid which had tied the NBA record for most losses in a season.

San Diego didn't win since Jan. 17, when the Rockets nipped Chicago, 110-104. Friday night's 124-108 loss to the 76ers had tied the record held by San Francisco in 1964-65.

Pipers Breathing Easier After Pair Of Victories

By The Associated Press
The Pittsburgh Pipers breathed a little easier today after letting in some daylight in the Eastern Division of the American Basketball Association.

The Pipers opened a 1 1/2 game lead over Minnesota with victories over New Orleans 129-121 Saturday and Denver 103-92 Sunday, both at home. Minnesota was idle both days.

PRO BASKETBALL

Philadelphia 107, Boston 106, Chicago 112, St. Louis 107, New York 111, Philadelphia 106, Detroit 123, San Francisco 104.

Denver was a 116-106 winner over Kentucky Saturday before bowing to the Pipers while Dallas beat Anaheim 107-100 Saturday before dropping a 110-93 decision at Houston Sunday.

Winter Olympics Wind Up In Controversy And Anger

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — The Winter Olympics, beset by injury and warm weather, ended in controversy and anger, and possibly set the stage for more of the same at the Summer Olympics next October.

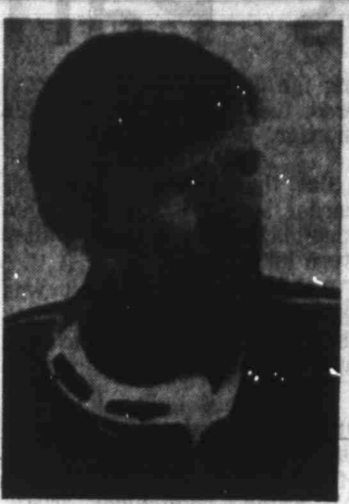

The administrative antics off the ice and snow all but overshadowed the athletes and such performances as Jean-Claude Killiy's sweep of the men's Alpine skiing, Eugenio Monti's two victories in the bobsleds and a pair of gold medals for Toni Gustafsson in the women's cross-country skiing.

However, it did not shake U.S. pride in skaters Peggy Fleming, Terry McDermott, Tim Wood, Diane Holm, Jenny Fish and Mary Meyers, nor its disappointment in the injury-prone U.S. skiers and the hockey team. In all, the United States finished with one gold medal, five silver and one bronze—a total of seven, one more than in 1964.

Norway finished with six gold medals, one more than Russia, and everyone headed home, some wearing casts, many disappointed, others red in the face with anger.

CLOSING RITES
The Games officially closed Sunday night in traditional ceremonies at the Grenoble ice rink and the extinguishing of the Olympic flame, which burned for 12 days and nights for 37 countries. It will be relit in Mexico City and more countries will be represented, as usual for the Summer Games. But a number who normally would compete now look doubtful.

A bloc of predominately Negro African nations have pulled out, protesting an International Olympic Committee decision to allow South Africa with its apartheid policy of segregation to participate with an integrated team.

THREE GOLD MEDALS
Jean-Claude Killiy

There also is some fear of a Russian pullout after the Soviet Union denounced the IOC decision.

DOUBTS PULL-OUT
"Without Russia the Olympics Games would still be the Olympic Games," said Frank Braun, president of the South African Olympic Association. "In any case, I cannot see Russia withdrawing—not with all those postonements and finally abbreviating the events.

Warm weather, fog and rain added to the headaches by forcing numerous luge and bobsled postponements and finally abbreviating the events.

The U.S. hockey team finished a dismal sixth, its worst ever, with a 2-4-1 record. But it was not all bad news for the Americans.

Miss Fleming of Colorado Springs, Colo., sparkled as she lived up to expectations by winning the gold medal in the women's figure skating.

Sooner May Not Favor SWC Recruiting Rules

AMARILLO (AP) — Coach Chuck Fairbanks of Oklahoma gives small indication that he would favor his school meeting Southwest Conference rules on the recruiting of athletes.

Commenting on a statement from Darrell Royal, coach of Texas, that he was suggesting a meeting of coaches of the Southwest Conference with coaches from Oklahoma, Houston and Louisiana State to discuss limiting visits to athletes, Fairbanks told Puts Powell of the Amarillo News-Globe: "I might be interested in attending the meeting to discuss it, but I would say right now that I'm not interested in limiting our visits to a prospect unless they can convince of something I don't know about now."

The Southwest Conference schools can visit an athlete only after he has wound up his high school football and then only make two calls before the boy is signed to a college scholarship.

Oklahoma can contact the boy any time during his senior year under the rule of the Big Eight Conference.

Coach J. T. King of Texas Tech was quoted by the Dallas News as saying "a lot of work has to be done to keep Oklahoma from coming in here and picking off the top people because they are taking advantage of a lot of our rules. As one high school coach told me they (Oklahoma) practically had a coach in his huddle all through the playoffs."

Fairbanks said that "we are trying to do a good job and observe all the rules."

Four Champs Still In Race

By The Associated Press
Four of the five defending state champions remain in the race this week as Texas schoolboy basketball decides its district champions.

Sam Ryon's topped Boston with 24 points as the biggest Cincinnati home crowd of the season — 10,275 — watched.

C-City Schedules Practice Game

Colorado City and Brady will play a practice basketball game in the Winters High School gymnasium at 7:45 p. m. Tuesday.

Forsan-Bronte To Play Tuesday

Forsan and Bronte have settled on Roscoe as a neutral site for settling the 67-B basketball championship. The game is set for 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Roscoe gymnasium. The two clubs finished in a deadlock for the title.

INEXPERIENCE HURTING Bears Holding Only Thin Lead In JWC Race

By The Associated Press
When Baylor was rated last in the Southwest Conference basketball race and then proceeded to step out in front, there were opinions that the Bears would falter in the stretch—that they would crack from inexperience.

Tears Of Joy Flow At Texas Reunion

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Tears of joy flowed as Air Force Capt. Jon D. Black, freed after being held captive by North Vietnam, came home to his wife and three sons Sunday.

He dashed from an Air Force transport at Kelly Air Force Base for a reunion charged with emotion, exclaiming, "Oh, God, it's so good."

First the captain swept his blonde and pretty wife into a lingering hug and then he bent down to hug the boys all at once.

"I'M FINE"
"Oh, you look so good," murmured Mrs. Black.

"I'm fine," said Black, who looked thin and energetic in his new Air Force blues.

It was only last September that Black departed for Vietnam, leaving his family at Laredo. His plane was shot down in October and he was a prisoner of the North Vietnamese until his release last week with two other fliers.

Mrs. Black accompanied him to Wilford Hall Air Force Hospital close by. Doctors prescribed rest for the captain, who had gone almost sleepless since Friday while flying back to this country, and said he would undergo a physical checkup and medical interviews.

It was expected that Black would stay here about a week. His wife said she would remain close to the hospital while the boys would spend their time with her former in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Waugh of McAllen.

The Waughs were parents of Mrs. Black's first husband, a Marine lieutenant who was killed in a plane crash.

Cold 'Cuddles' Causes Woes

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Johnson owns a small python and Shan Torrance, his girl friend, once had four snakes as pets, but they ran into a new experience with a 9-foot boa constrictor named Cuddles.

Miss Torrance, 18, bought the boa three days earlier. She kept it at home briefly until Johnson agreed the reptile could stay in his apartment.

Meanwhile she discovered that Cuddles had a cold—"he rattles when he breathes"—and decided to give the boa to the city zoo. Johnson put the snake into an open box Sunday and drove to pick up Miss Torrance. Somewhere along the way Cuddles disappeared.

Nobody was greatly surprised, however, to find Cuddles coiled in the wiring behind the dashboard in Johnson's car when he reached the zoo—and stubbornly unwilling to emerge.

Someday later, after they painstakingly removed the dashboard, the boa was extricated. Said Miss Torrance, "I think Tom and I were going to get married, but I'm not sure now."

Television's Idea Hunters Turn Up Flop

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television's busy idea hunters turned up a couple of new ones on NBC Sunday night. One had possibilities, the other had best be forgotten.

"I Remember Illinois," inspired by the state's 150th anniversary, was a warm and affectionate salute that managed to include most of its famous sons and adopted sons from Abraham Lincoln and Carl Sandburg to Jack Benny and Benny Goodman.

Steve Allen narrated the program. Dave Garroway recalled the old radio days of Chicago. Paul Douglas spoke of Lincoln and Everett Dirksen recited a poem about him. Mercedes McCambridge read from the writings of Jane Addams, and Adlai Stevenson Jr. recalled a short speech by his father.

And, naturally, the program wound up with the voice of Sandburg reciting some of his own poetry, and pronouncing the word "Chicago" as if it were a word of love.

It was, altogether, something of a mishmash, and yet all the bits and pieces were put together with such affection that the result, even to a rank outsider whose experience in Illinois has been limited to changing trains in Chicago, was impressive and interesting.

If the other 49 states could be given the same kind of treatment, it would make a nice, long-playing series of specials.

On the other hand, the producers of "The Legend of Robin Hood" are already laying plans to follow Sunday night's effort with musical specials centering on other members of the merry outlaws of Sherwood Forest.

BIG THINKING
The first endeavor hardly merits such big thinking for the future. While the costumes and settings were handsome and the singing voices of the cast were, by and large, excellent, there was considerable trouble encountered in the handling of the plot and the general treatment. For one thing, the writer never seemed to be able to decide whether it was a show for children or just a grade B opera they were working on.

The music by Sammy Cahn and Jimmy Van Heusen was not up to their usual standard. And there were so many characters in Robin's band that none, including Robin himself, really had much more than a cameo part. Walter Slezak as Friar Tuck managed to steal the show although he didn't have such a whale of a part either.

New Crime Info Limits Giggled

CHICAGO (AP) — News media representatives make a final plea today to the American Bar Association to sidetrack proposed new limits on crime information.

But the 289 members of the House of Delegates who will vote on the issue already have been told by its chief proponent, Justice Paul C. Reardon of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, that delay would be dangerous.

The guidelines, proposed by a special committee headed by Reardon, would limit what judges, police officials, lawyers and the cop on the beat may tell a newsmen about a pending criminal case.

TRAGIC ACTION
The objective is to shield defendants from jurors influenced by "prejudicial publicity." Critics fear dangerous secrecy would result.

Theodore Koop, a CBS vice president and chairman of a joint media committee; D. Tennant Bryant, publisher of the Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch and News Leader; and Michael J. Ogden, executive editor of The Providence Journal and Bulletin, are making the plea for delay from the floor.

They have told the delegates by letter that "it would be tragic indeed, if, in concern for one type of problem which might better be solved in better ways, we were to provide a ready-made cloak for official incompetence and corruption."

In any event, the newsmen say, adoption should be deferred because a study sponsored by the American Newspaper Publishers Association Foundation is developing "important new evidence."

Reardon, in a speech to a bar foundation, questioned whether the study would already know "to what we add anything."

TAINTED TRIALS
Besides, he said that "in the face of increased criminal activity" it is imperative that convictions be not upset in appeals courts "because improper publicity has tainted trials."

The press-trial guidelines are the most controversial of 70 policy issues the delegates are considering in two days of sessions. Other significant items include committee reports that recommend people be offered the chance to buy insurance to protect themselves against future needs for a lawyer and proposed reforms in trial and appeals procedures.

Meanwhile, a special committee headed by Robert G. Storey, a former dean of the Southern Methodist University Law School, decided to ask the Democratic and Republican parties to adopt platform planks calling for direct popular election of president and vice president.

Storey told a news conference "I would think the chances that it would be adopted by the two party conventions are very good."

Heavy Rains Soak Florida, Snow Squalls Hit New York

By The Associated Press
Heavy rains soaked the Pacific Northwest today and snow squalls lashed parts of New York near Lakes Erie and Ontario. Sandwiched between was a weather pattern that boded wetness for most of the nation.

Quillayute in northwest Washington received more than 1.50 inches of rain in six hours and four inches in 24 hours. An inch of rain fell at Olympia, Wash., and Salem, Ore.

Heavy rains accompanied by a Pacific cold front were expected from San Francisco to Washington. Boonville in the foothills of the Adirondacks, had 6.6 inches of heavy snows in the Sierra Nevada Mountains and Mt. Shasta in northern California. Snow flurries, centered over the Great Lakes, intensified moving into New York. Whipped by high winds, the snows buried some highways under 11-foot-high drifts.

66 INCHES
New York state 12 was blocked at Boonville where 28 inches of snow had fallen since Saturday. Turn, a ski resort near Boonville in the foothills of the Adirondacks, had 6.6 inches of heavy snow on the ground. The flurry activity over the Great Lakes dropped one inch of snow on Sault Ste. Marie off the tip of Lake Superior in upper Michigan.

Other snow flurries were scattered throughout Vermont and New Hampshire. Elsewhere, light rain sprinkled most of Texas with freezing drizzle reported in the Panhandle.

Clouds blanketed the area from Texas to the Dakotas with scattered snow flurries from North Dakota to the northern Rocky Mountains.

Rain was widespread over most of Florida except in the extreme south. It was 11 below zero at dawn in Limestone, Maine.
