

With Mayor Daley In Charge, Illinois Demos Map Ticket

CHICAGO (AP) — State Democratic leaders continue considering today candidates for the party ticket amid controversy over Adlai E. Stevenson III's stance on supporting the Johnson administration's Vietnam policy.

The leaders, headed by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, finished listening to various aspirants Monday night but put off announcing the party's 1968 candidates for U.S. senators, governor and other state offices. Their closed-door sessions started late because many of the officials attended the funeral of former Sen. Scott W. Lucas earlier in the day.

Stevenson, 37, made another bid for the office of governor. He did not alter his stated position that he might disagree with President Johnson's Vietnam policy if he were slated for the Senate race to oppose Republican Everett M. Dirksen.

"I told them I have no difficulty supporting the general purposes of the administration's position in Vietnam," Stevenson said at a news conference after his nine-minute appearance. "I, nor anyone, could concur in advance. I could not agree in advance to support every feature of that policy," he said. Stevenson, state treasurer, reportedly fell into disfavor Friday when he told the leaders that he couldn't follow without question the administration's Vietnam policy.

Stevenson, a son of the late ambassador to the United Nations and twice Democratic nominee for president, said his position on Vietnam is dividing the party. "We are divided," said Stevenson. "We are divided perhaps as deeply as the country is about the events and policies in Vietnam. We are bleeding because of our wounds but these are, I think, honorable wounds."

Most of the aspirants for office stood in line awaiting their turn before the state party leaders, but one potential candidate who did not appear was Sargent Shriver, director of the federal anti-poverty program.

Shriver has been mentioned often as a possible nominee for governor or senator. He has maintained his Illinois residency by keeping a room at a Chicago hotel.

Gov. Otto Kerner, who decided not to seek a third term, has boosted Lt. Gov. Samuel Shapiro, 60, for the gubernatorial race.

Other possible candidates the slating committee will consider for statewide offices include Atty. Gen. William Clark, 43, and state Sen. Paul Simon, 39.

Simon, a former newspaper publisher, has campaigned for months for the chance to oppose Dirksen, but he, like Clark and Shapiro, said he would serve the party in any capacity.

Civil Rights Bill Sponsors Keep Plans Under Wraps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bipartisan sponsors of civil-rights legislation are keeping under wraps how far they may go to meet the compromise terms of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

The Illinois senator said votes taken so far indicate a general desire for a bill—designed to protect Negroes and civil rights workers from violence—and he is inclined to believe a compromise can be worked out.

56-36 VOTE
His bargaining position was strengthened when a second move to cut off debate and bring the legislation to a vote fell short Monday of the necessary two-thirds majority. The vote was 56-36 in favor of limiting further discussion.

But senators pushing for a civil-rights protection bill and an open-housing amendment were able to cite the vote as additional evidence of majority support.

It came on top of a 55-37 vote a week ago for cutting off the debate and a 58-34 vote against killing the proposed ban on discrimination in the sale or rental of about 97 per cent of U.S. housing.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was willing to let the six-week-old debate run on a few more days while compromise efforts continue.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said that on behalf of Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., the bill's floor manager, he has submitted proposed modifications to Dirksen.

Without disclosing the proposed changes, Javits said he was satisfied they were receiving Dirksen's "sympathetic consideration."

But Javits and Hart said they thought it might take two or three days to work out a compromise which Dirksen might support.

that a measure in this field could be made satisfactory to him. He didn't say, however, what it would take to satisfy him. Southern opponents of the legislation, left out of the compromise negotiations, vowed to fight on against its passage. But Dirksen said if a satisfactory compromise is worked out, he will vote next time to cut off the debate.

The vote Monday was six short of the required two-thirds majority. Voting for cloture were 37 Democrats and 19 Republicans. Against were 19 Democrats and 17 Republicans.

FIGHT VOW
Although Dirksen previously has opposed federal open-housing legislation, he told reporters college students use the hallucinogen. "How can we imprison 1.9 million students in the United States?" Carter asked.

Enforcement of the administration's proposal would be by the Justice Department. A companion proposal would transfer the Narcotics Bureau to the Justice Department from the Treasury Department.

Carter appeared to be in a minority in opposing the administration proposal to make LSD possession a misdemeanor punishable by up to one year in prison.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., acting subcommittee chairman, said he expects the recommendation to be approved.

There is strong agreement on the remainder of the bill, which would stiffen penalties against manufacture, sale, distribution and possession for sale or distribution of hallucinogenic, stimulant and depressant drugs.

Carter said surveys on LSD usage indicated that perhaps 1.6 million high school and 300,000

ing World War II and the Korean War. Brig. Gen. Winant Side, chief of information for the U.S. Military Command, issued the directive. He planned to meet with Saigon newsmen today to clarify it. Among questions expected to be raised was whether the restrictions mean correspondents no longer will be allowed to report what they observe in the field.

in addition, Moss said, his subcommittee staff is asking for a complete file on all cables and other messages between Saigon and Washington dealing with the matter.

The U.S. Command imposed restrictions on release to the press of information dealing with the matter.

A Pentagon spokesman said the restrictions are not expected to affect the daily release of casualty lists and the Defense Department's weekly report on the over-all totals of men killed and wounded.

Federals Watching Mississippi Race

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Voters in 12 southwest Mississippi counties cast ballots to select a congressman today under the scrutiny of federal poll watchers.

The field of candidates include Charles Evers, a Negro civil rights leader, a white Republican and five white Democrats.

The U.S. Justice Department said poll watchers were "routine" in such Mississippi elections. The observers have been instructed to watch election procedures and report any irregularities.

65,000 NEGROES
The candidates are bidding for the seat vacated when John Bell Williams retired after 21 years to become governor.

Polls opened at 7 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. The weather was crisp and sunny with temperatures in the 60s.

There are about 195,000 registered voters in the 3rd district, including about 65,000 Negroes. Only 90,000 votes were expected to be cast, however, as little interest was generated during the month-long campaign.

If no candidate receives a majority a runoff will be held March 12 between the two high men. The new congressmen may have to defend his seat again next June in the regular election.

EVERS KNOWN
Evers, 45, created only a mild ripple in normally white political circles when he announced for the post. Evers has been field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People since his brother Medgar's death in an ambush in 1963.

Evers is the third Negro of this decade to run for the job, but no Negro has held a congressional post in Mississippi since 1881 when Blanche K. Bruce left the Senate.

The southwest corner of the state is an area where Evers has concentrated his efforts to register Negro voters.

His name is well known by Negroes and whites alike as the spokesman for the Negro community. He led numerous civil rights marches and organized boycotts to force desegregation.

industries is tremendous. Small cities located at a distance from areas of high population density, work under an added but not insurmountable handicap. They simply must work harder at the job. Often they must help themselves.

The Dallas Morning News recently described the success story of the small neighbor city of Crane, where the entire community invested in a brand new industry, which has turned out to be successful and a big asset to the community as well as a profit to the investors. If a sizable percentage of the citizens of Big Spring made modest investments in a mutual fund, financing would be available for some good calculated risk along this line. And equally important, in my opinion, every investor would consider himself a part of the team that was seeking the industrial development of Big Spring. We have always had a small group that have worked hard along this line, but with only modest success. If we broadened this base of people who were trying to do something about it, the chances of finding the right prospect would be greatly increased. Let us all remember that a growing Big Spring would mean greater income, more prosperous businesses, more effective schools and growing churches.

of that suit, South withheld his king for one round; however, he could not stop the onslaught, and five diamond tricks were rattled off to send declarer down to a two trick defeat before he could even get started.

South's performance on the deal was utterly without guile and was reminiscent of the ostrich when confronted by danger. By playing the ten of hearts from dummy at trick one, he clearly advertised that he had some sort of secondary stopper in that suit. Unless West was under-leading both the ace and queen of hearts, East was certain to get in with one of the missing honors and the diamond shift then becomes marked.

In order to forestall an attack where he is most vulnerable, declarer should put up the king of hearts at trick one. If, for example, the king should hold, South has an abundance of tricks available. However, even if the king of hearts loses to the ace, there is a good chance that East will continue the suit, in which case declarer's jack serves as a delayed stopper. Once East surrenders the lead, South's diamond holding is no longer in danger of a fatal assault.

Altogether the recommended play is not foolproof since East does have an opportunity to make the diamond shift when he is in, he should at least be made to work for his bread and butter.

Red Cross Board Meets Wednesday

A meeting of the board of directors of the Howard Glasscock chapter of the American Red Cross has been scheduled for Wednesday afternoon. The session will start at 5 p.m. in the commissioners courtroom in the courthouse.

Presence of all board members is urged by the chairman, R. W. Whipkey. He said several matters pertaining to the new year's operations must be disposed of, and particularly must the chapter face up to new requirements imposed by the continuing growing demands of the Red Cross because of the Vietnam conflict.

Viet War News Censorship Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman John E. Moss of the House government information subcommittee, saying he is investigating new U.S. restrictions on release of Vietnam war news, contends reports on the war's progress must not be censored.

It is more important now than at any time since our involvement there that we be fully informed about the war," the California Democrat said Monday night in an interview.

Moss said he has asked Phil G. Goulding, assistant secretary of defense, for a full explanation of the restrictions, which were imposed in Saigon Monday.

Files sought. The U.S. Command imposed restrictions on release to the press of information dealing with the matter.

A Pentagon spokesman said the restrictions are not expected to affect the daily release of casualty lists and the Defense Department's weekly report on the over-all totals of men killed and wounded.

LSD Possession Proposal Labeled 'Unenforceable'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican congressman says a proposal to make possession of LSD a crime "is absolutely unenforceable."

He said indications are that nearly two million students use the drug.

Rep. Tim Lee Carter of Kentucky made the comment to a reporter Monday after a House Commerce subcommittee on which he sits heard Commissioner James L. Goddard of the Food and Drug Administration support the administration bill.

Goddard added, however, that he personally disagrees with possession penalties.

"I wouldn't propose that section if it were to be under my jurisdiction," Goddard said, expressing doubts about the effect of such a penalty as a deterrent. Administration law enforcement officials said it would help them crack down on use of the hallucinogens and other dangerous drugs.

Carter said surveys on LSD usage indicated that perhaps 1.6 million high school and 300,000

RETIRING LIQUOR BOARD CHIEF STEVENSON TELLS LEGISLATORS:

Sales Of Strong Drink To Minors Biggest Headache

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Liquor Control Board's outgoing administrator says the board's biggest problem is sale of alcoholic beverages to minors.

There is a partial solution for this problem, says the president of the Texas Retail Grocers Association—lower the age from 21 to 18.

LCB Administrator Coke Stevenson Jr. told a special House subcommittee Monday he could write a book about the minor situation... I guess this is the biggest problem we have had to face."

TEEN SCHEME

Some youngsters have "used every scheme in the book" to get around the law, even telling beer dealers who refuse to sell to them that they will write a letter to the LCB saying the dealers did, Stevenson said.

S. H. Lowder, Wichita Falls, said boys are old enough to enter military service at 18 "but they can't buy beer." He said it was the recommendation of the grocers association that the age limit be lowered even though among the members of the association the question was a toss-up.

NO STAND

Stevenson took no stand on the age limit but said if the legislature lowered it the percentage of violations also would be lowered because "you'll have a smaller group."

Stevenson, Lowder and two LCB members, W. D. Noel of Odessa and Alfred Negley of San Antonio, were among witnesses who appeared before the subcommittee Monday. Headed by Rep. R. H. Cory, Victoria, the subcommittee is probing weaknesses in the Texas liquor law. It will hear more witnesses March 11.

Stevenson's resignation, submitted last week, was accepted Monday by the board, effective Feb. 29. O. N. Humphreys was named acting administrator, effective March 1.

"CLEARED UP"

Cory asked Noel if Noel thought legislators should be prohibited from representing clients before the LCB.

Noel said he saw no reason why they should not be allowed to appear before the board if they are "honest in their approach" and did not use their office to influence the board.

Cory suggested any possible unethical conduct by legislators would be "cleared up" if the law was changed to make board records open to the public.

Stevenson illustrated the irony of the law. It requires a liquor license to be displayed in a prominent place and to list the names of everyone with an interest in the establishment. Yet the administrator is forbidden to disclose this information.

Noel said LCB hearing records should be public.

"I think this is one of the things that has caused a great deal of misunderstanding," he said.

GANG SUSPICION

The LCB proposed the same changes in the liquor law to the subcommittee that it said Feb. 17 it would recommend.

Among the proposals were: —Outlawing private clubs in dry areas unless a local option election has been held on that question.

—Bringing fraternal organizations and veterans clubs, now exempt, under the Liquor Control Act.

—Elimination of the word "knowingly" from the liquor law as it applies to the sale of alcoholic beverages to minors.

The board also suggested that any person with an interest in the vending machine business should be prohibited from having an interest in a liquor license. Asked if there was any evidence that organized crime is using the vending machine business to control liquor establishments, Stevenson said, "I have a strong suspicion of it."

Ex-AID Chief Urges Pullout In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is "creating more Viet Cong than we are destroying," says Arthur Z. Gardiner, former director of the American foreign aid agency in Saigon who now heads a federally-backed organization operating there.

Saying he was expressing his personal views, Gardiner told an interviewer the United States should try hard for a peace settlement and pull its forces out of Vietnam.

ARTHUR Z. GARDINER

'NO ENDING'

He said such an approach would save American lives because "we are going down now on a course that has no ending whatsoever."

"Unless we do something different, we are going to be hopelessly bogged down in a major land war in Asia which our military leaders have said we should avoid at all costs."

Gardiner, chief of the U.S. Agency for International Development mission in Saigon in 1958-62, receives a heavy flow of grass-roots reports from South Vietnam in his current post as executive director of International Voluntary Services (IVS).

SOME QUIT

IVS is a private nonprofit organization which began sending youthful volunteers to South Vietnam for development work a decade ago. Their activities in the cities and countryside—similar to those of the Peace Corps, which has no unit in Vietnam—are financed by the Washington and Saigon governments.

In the wake of the Communist Tet onslaught, some of the 155 IVS volunteers have decided to quit before the end of their two-year tours.

But a spokesman for the administering Agency for International Development said there is no thought of withdrawing IVS altogether.

Sources said Gardiner is free to air his personal views as a citizen and that AID's spending on IVS, about $12 million this year, is related to the services IVS renders rather than the private opinions of its members.

Vietnamese are becoming benevolently neutral toward the Viet Cong—race, religion, xenophobia, all contribute.

—So much material and moral damage has been inflicted since 1965, when U.S. combat forces arrived, "that Vietnamese patriots will never be content until foreign influence has been eliminated from the government of their country."

— "We must agree to withdraw from Vietnam on terms enabling us to save the lives of those who have reason to fear retribution if American soldiers can no longer protect them: not necessarily as large a group as are killed by the war in a few months' time; and to a settlement by the Vietnamese themselves, Northern and Southern, under conditions of order satisfactory to them and to the international community."

U.S. Spy Ships Rap Levelled

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea claimed today that U.S. spy ships "recently" mingled with South Korean fishing boats and violated Communist territorial waters.

The North Korean Central News Agency did not say if the alleged violations occurred before or after the North Koreans seized the USS Pueblo on Jan. 23.

The Communist agency said: "Only recently, the U.S. imperialist aggressors forcibly drove South Korean fishing boats into the coastal waters of the northern half of the republic, infiltrating armed spy ships mingled with them to perpetrate hostile acts."

The broadcast said several of the fishing boats were wrecked by a storm, but the crews were rescued by Communist patrol boats. It said the fishermen were treated in North Korea, then allowed to return home.

Q. How often do you get a bargain these days?

A. Every time you use electricity.

True, your electric bill probably is higher than it was a few years ago. That's because you use more electricity to enjoy added comforts and conveniences.

During the past 10 years, the average price per kilowatt-hour to residential customers of Texas Electric Service has come down 27%. At the same time, the average annual use of electric energy by our residential customers has more than doubled.

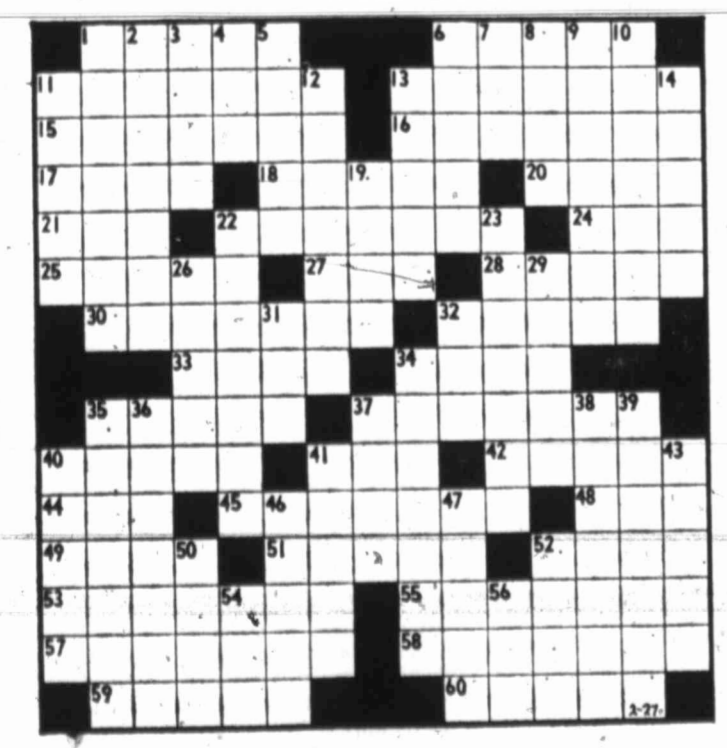

Electric service is a big exception to rising living costs. It's one of the few things that costs less than 10 years ago.

A Devotional For The Day

Jesus answering saith unto (the disciples), Have faith in God. (Mark 11:22)
PRAYER: O God, to Thee we offer our thanksgiving. We thank Thee that we can live victoriously, as well as eternally, because Thy Son Jesus Christ dwells in us through our abiding faith in Him. We pray in our Lord's name. Amen.

Westmoreland's Request

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, whose responsibility it is to run the United States forces in Vietnam, has asked for more troops. There is some speculation that this may run 50,000 to 100,000.
This will stir new resistance in many quarters at home, but in the end, Gen. Westmoreland is due to get this additional manpower. His analysis is, in essence, that the enemy is making a desperate thrust in the knowledge that he (rather than us) cannot stand a prolonged campaign. Those who oppose escalation will oppose his request, but those who agree with his strategy can ill afford to deny his request; those who have contended that the professionals should run the war cannot oppose this.

It means that thousands of more families will be brought in direct contact with the war, and thus it will not be a popular decision. But we cannot function on the basis of what is easy but rather on what is in the right judgment of those best qualified to make judgment.

In this connection, Scotty Reston, New York Times special writer, has voiced one of the most compelling arguments for the income tax surcharge. Brushing aside the contention for a gesture if not a measure of fiscal stability, he says that it is not morally right to send men to fight in a war without making at least some financial sacrifices at home. And he has something there.

Sorry Spectacle

The proposal to limit foreign travel as a means of mitigating the balance of trade figures strikes us as a peanut approach to a big problem. Probably a request to the public to give consideration to seeing America first would accomplish about as much as a pesky and marginal tax.
But the reaction of the travel interests and carriers to this is a pretty sorry spectacle of self-interest. From every side we are bombarded with materials from the "nation's scheduled airlines," who incidentally still benefit from public subsidies directly and indirectly, from the travel bureaus, and assorted other groups whose ox is being gored.

Credibility Gap On The Cherry Tree

WASHINGTON — They've just discovered a new batch of papers belonging to President George Washington and among them was a transcript of a press conference held at George's home when he was six years old. It sheds new light on the famous cherry tree-chopping incident.

A spokesman for the Washington family, not identified in the papers, was asked at the noon briefing to comment on the destruction of a beautiful young cherry tree on the estate.
Spokesman: "To my knowledge, there have been no cherry trees destroyed on the property."

REPORTER: "Is it possible a cherry tree could have been chopped down without your knowledge?"

Spokesman: "I believe that I would be informed if a cherry tree were destroyed, and I'm not going to deal in rumor and conjecture."

Reporter: "But someone actually saw the cherry tree chopped down. It's out there by the garden."

Spokesman: "I'll check into it and get back to you."

At 3:30 p.m. briefing:
SPOKESMAN: "I have an announcement to make. A small cherry tree accidentally fell down on the Washington property sometime this morning. We are now investigating to find out what happened. It did no harm to the cherry orchard and immediate steps are being taken to see it doesn't happen again."

Reporter: "Does anyone know who chopped down the tree?"

Spokesman: "I said it was an accident."

Reporter: "But witnesses who saw the tree say that there were ax marks on the trunk, indicating that someone had deliberately chopped it down."

SPOKESMAN: "I think that anyone who spreads a malicious rumor like that is doing a disservice to the future United States of America."

Reporter: "These same witnesses say that they saw 6-year-old George Washington walking away from the orchard with a hatchet over his shoulder. Is it possible that young George could have chopped down the tree?"

Spokesman: "Whose side are you on? It is rumors like this that are giving-aid and comfort to the British. I can say authoritatively that George Washington had absolutely nothing to do with the chopping down of this cherry tree."

REPORTER: "How would we be giving aid and comfort to the British if we printed this story?"

Spokesman: "Someday George Washington may be the father of his country, and if it were known that he had once indiscriminately chopped down a cherry tree, it would play right into the hands of the Tories, who would do anything to discredit him."

Reporter: "All the same, would you please check and find out what George was doing with his hatchet this afternoon?"

Spokesman: "I'll get back to you." At the 6 o'clock briefing:

SPOKESMAN: "I have an announcement to make. At 10 o'clock this morning, George Washington, age 6, swung his hatchet playfully at a 4-foot-3 cherry tree and knocked it to the ground."

"At exactly 12:17 p.m., George was asked by his father if he knew who had chopped down the tree. Without hesitation young Washington replied, and I quote, 'I cannot tell a lie, Pa. I cut it down with my hatchet.'"

Reporter: "Is that all he said?"

Spokesman: "I see no reason to go into this matter any further."

REPORTER: "But wouldn't you say there was a credibility gap in Washington between the time he chopped down the cherry tree and confessed to doing it?"

Spokesman: "George Washington, as all future Presidents of the United States, would never lie to the press."

New Con Scheme

LA SALLE, Ill. (AP) — A fast-talking "bank examiner" bilked an elderly woman out of $1,800 after he showed her a gold badge.

Police Chief Walter Kincaid said the woman received a telephone call from a man who said he was a local bank officer and that "the examiners were in today."

He discussed her passbook, citing the number of her book, and asked if her account was short $100. She replied, "no."

Then he recited the details of the bank's bookkeeping system, suggesting she withdraw $1,800 from her account so they could watch a young teller they suspected of wrongdoing. He said he was sending a cab to pick her up.

In a few minutes the cab came and she went to the bank and made a withdrawal. When she returned home, the man came to the door and she let him in, giving him an envelope containing the money after he showed the badge in a leather folder.

Smoking can, in some people, produce this symptom.
Therefore my suggestions are to check (1) your sleeping habits; (2) your medicinal intake; (3) mouth hygiene.

Murders Easier To Solve Than Car Thefts

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Car thieves cause more trouble to police departments than murderers. There are more of them and they are harder to catch. Murders are generally crimes of passion, and such crimes are usually easier to solve than those committed for money.

One of the puzzling things about having a mislabeled teenage daughter today is that when she leaves the house you never can be sure by the way she's dressed whether she's going ice skating, to a ballet lesson, or to a school dance.

MANY PEOPLE can successfully write down the names of the 50 states in 10 minutes or less. But you can usually win money by betting any middle-aged man that in the same length of time he can't remember his social security number, his auto license number, his zip code number, and the home telephone number of the last girl he dated before he married his wife.

Aside from its over exploitation of sex, Hollywood's worst habit is the making of those windy color epics so long that they have to have an intermission. Why pay an extra buck or so at the box office to see such a film when five years from now you can see it for nothing on television—and enjoy 12 or 15 intermissions?

YOU KNOW you're in Greenwich Village when you see a girl in blue slacks walking down the street carrying a sack of groceries in one hand and a peacock feather in the other.

It gives more of a feeling of life to browse in an old-fashioned pawnshop than in a modern art gallery. There is no better place to sense the wistful wear and tear of this world, the forlorn battering of its dreams, than in an unkempt and abandoned cemetery.

If I could be any age I wanted and live wherever I chose, I'd like at the moment to be 30 and live in an apartment in London with Julie Christie as a neighbor on one side, Julie Andrews on the other, and Audrey Hepburn as the tenant in the apartment across the hall.

ONE WAY to tell whether a banquet in Manhattan is important is to look around and see whether general James A. Farley, the former U.S. postmaster general, is there. If he isn't, you can figure there's a bigger and probably better banquet somewhere else in town. Jim at 79 is still the bellwether and barometer of the banquet business.

Farms are getting fewer, cities getting larger. While this trend has its disadvantages, it also promises one great boon. At future cocktail parties you won't run into so many of those folksy fellows who proclaim, "I'm just a pore 'hill' ole country boy tryin' to git along."

Maybe what this country needs is a fat man as president. When William Howard Taft lived in the White House—from 1909 to 1913—the country had rarely ever been calmer at home or freer from wars and alarms abroad. Taft weighed between 300 and 334 pounds. Could there be a connection between presidential girth and national peace?

FEW THINGS annoy the head of a business firm more, after he thrifly dries his hands on a single paper towel in the wash-room, than seeing the office boy come in and use three or four to perform the same chore. But—that's democracy.

Even more than men, women are likely to judge the desirability of a thing by its price. If beer were to suddenly go to $10 a bottle and champagne fall to a dime a bucket, nine out of ten women would immediately decide they disliked champagne because of its nasty bubbles and preferred beer because it has such lovely foam.

Winter has been too much with us. It sure is a long time between April, isn't it? I'd give a million kisses right now for the sight of one golden dandelion.

Wide-Open Fight If Nixon Slips

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ostensible reason F. Clifton White showed up at last week's Republican National Committee meeting here was to lend California Gov. Ronald Reagan's help to other GOP governors seeking larger voice in their party's platform deliberations.

White, one of the masterminds of Barry Goldwater's 1964 campaign for the GOP presidential nomination, is presently working for the California GOP national convention delegation, which Reagan will head as a favorite son.

REPUBLICAN officials from Pennsylvania insisted that White's visit to their suite was to help Gov. Raymond P. Shafer in his so-far unsuccessful effort to win co-billing with Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen on the platform committee.

They denied in private discussions that any alliance is shaping up between the conservative Reagan and Republican moderates, who favor either Michigan Gov. George Romney or New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the party's presidential nomination.

But such an alliance, aimed at front-running Richard M. Nixon, could make a great deal of sense to both camps.

ROMNEY'S presidential hopes are tied directly to his uphill effort to defeat Nixon in the New Hampshire and Wisconsin presidential primaries.

As for Rockefeller and Reagan, who have said they are not candidates but whose supporters keep pushing them, their decision largely depends on whether Nixon falters enough during the primary season to turn the GOP convention into an open battle.

Republican congressional leaders, such as Wisconsin's Melvin R. Laird, who feel Rockefeller would be a stronger candidate than Nixon, think the former vice president will be the nominee if he sweeps primaries in New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon.

BUT IF he slips the convention could become a wide-open affair, with as many as 15 GOP favorite-son candidates, most of them governors, assuming an increasing importance. Rockefeller, as well as Reagan, is scheduled to be favorite-son candidate.

Around The Rim

Special Arrangements Didn't Endure

Let's call him Mr. Wilkins. That's not his name but it will serve. He was an elderly fellow and he and his wife were so rich it was almost shameful. They owned four or five banks, including two huge metropolitan institutions, also much other property.

MR. WILKINS was very, very close with a dollar. Once at a meeting in my town where a campaign to raise funds for some worthy enterprise was being drafted, it was suggested that someone contact Wilkins. After all, it was pointed out, he owned the bank and the hotel and a lot of other property in the town.

The chairman of the meeting smiled grimly:

"We all know that you can't take it with you and that there are no pockets in shrouds." He paused. "However," he said, "I have it on good authority that Mr. Wilkins has made some special arrangement."

I REMEMBER being in a drugstore one cold rainy day. Wilkins, who was in the town checking up on his holdings and seeing that his bank was making a profit, came into the store. He was suffering from a severe cold. He looked so woe-begone and sick I felt sorry for the man.

He asked the druggist for a certain kind of cold tablets.

The druggist brought them and handed them to Wilkins.

"How much are they?" asked Wilkins.

"Twenty-five cents, Mr. Wilkins," said the druggist.

Wilkins looked at him aghast:

"TWENTY-FIVE cents," he exclaimed. "Why I can get them in Oklahoma City at the Owl drug store for 18 cents."

The druggist merely shrugged. Wilkins handed the package back to the druggist.

"Never mind," he said, "I am going back to Oklahoma City tomorrow. I'll wait until I get there to buy the pills."

I started to dig up seven cents from my own pocket and hand it to him and tell him to go ahead and get the medicine.

HIS FORTUNE continued to pile higher and higher as the years passed. He bought more banks and, like Midas, he seemed to have the touch of gold. Everything he turned his hand to made him richer and richer.

The richer he got the more frugally he and Mrs. Wilkins lived.

They had no children, and the nearest kinsman either had was a nephew of Mrs. Wilkins. Neither liked this young man, for he did not fit the Wilkins' pattern. He had a warped and distorted impression that money was for spending.

PEOPLE USED to wonder what would become of all the Wilkins' wealth when they had died. Surely, everyone said, they will give it to some college or some church.

Maybe they did intend to do that but somehow never got around to it. The old man died. His wife did not long survive him.

And lo, who got the money? That wastrel nephew, that's who. And did he have a lot of fun with it!

McCarthy's Moral Campaign

WASHINGTON — His official campaign poster shows Sen. Eugene McCarthy pointing toward heaven with a benign smile on his face. This beatific posture, so unlike the traditional portrait registering challenge, aggression, the finger thrust out in the wavering voter, is typical both of the man and the campaign for the Presidency in which he has involved himself.

It was, above all, his moral concern for what he believes is the immorality of the Vietnam war that led him down a path strewn with obstacles and with small hope of reward at the end.

THERE IS NOTHING at all solemn about this. His wry humor is a trademark although he often throws away his witty lines by an indifferent delivery. His style has been called diffident, monotonous, uninspiring. The inhibiting factor is perhaps a natural modesty, an unusual quality in a politician campaigning for high office.

His reasoned criticism of the folly of the Vietnam war does not satisfy the bitter-enders. They want a tiger who will demand immediate withdrawal and resistance to the war by any and all means. Their heroes are the draft-resisters and Dr. Spock. McCarthy calls for an end to the bombing of the North, and end to the search-and-destroy policy on the ground, and a determined effort to negotiate a way out.

ONE OF McCarthy's heroes was the late Adlai Stevenson who said of him, "There is no more eloquent representative of what is good in American life." That eloquence was evident when McCarthy placed Stevenson's name in nomination at the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles

In 1960 it was the last hurrah for the Stevensons. For McCarthy it was a tactical error, since the Kennedy task force was out to control the convention with a first-ballot nomination. With their elephant memory the Kennedys would not forget the scare over the brief Stevenson flurry on the convention floor.

AT THE DEMOCRATIC convention in Atlantic City four years later McCarthy was again the center of a drama that fizzled. He had been led to believe, as Johnson played a cat-and-mouse game with the Vice-Presidential nomination, that he might be tapped. In the McCarthy suite the tension was such you could cut with a knife. McCarthy's Minnesota colleague Hubert H. Humphrey, got the nod when the White House finished shuffling the deck.

HIS DISAPPOINTMENT, some observers suggest, led him to seek revenge. Those who know him most intimately, however, say that revenge is furthest from the McCarthy motivation. In any objective view, and certainly as seen by the Johnson Administration, his candidacy hardly qualifies as formidable revenge. While it is an embarrassment, Johnson strategists are confident McCarthy will not take a single primary and in most will make only a token showing.

THE ROAD is a lonely one. None of the doveish Democrats in the Senate has given him support. He takes little pleasure in what he does. He is almost all up for re-election and must therefore consider the hazards of divided loyalties.

The Corner Men For The Candidates

CONCORD, N.H. — The handlers in the so-scheduled Republican main event of Nixon vs. Romney are a pair of energetic, attractive legislative lawyers named Dave Sterling (for Nixon) and Bill Johnson (for Romney). One way to tell how the fight's going is to watch the seconds and their reactions as well as the principals. Political handlers, like those in pugilism, pour advice into the ears of their fighters, kneed their muscles between rounds, sponge off the blood, salve up the wounds and lustily cheer their men on, occasionally emitting shouts of "foul" when things go wrong.

BILL JOHNSON, Dartmouth '53, has his man, Governor Romney of Michigan, concentrating mostly on in-fighting. That is, the Governor is going into close quarters with the voters and with Nixon also. In trying to shake hands with as many as 200,000 potential primary voters and jolting each with his special personality punch, Romney sometimes draws a verbal counterblow. He's been called "crotch" and "drunkard," which are far-out incredibilities, and Romney angrily retorts as a he-man should. Bill Johnson likes it for his fighter to show spirit, because that reveals the intensity and sincerity of the "citizen-politician" and morality-monger. The Republicans want a winner, do they? Well, look at the poked-out jaw and the fast right hand that goes to a heckler's lapel.

DAVE STERLING, 29, the Nixon handler, is coaching an entirely different kind of fight. His candidate is far ahead on points, and is playing it like a boxing master. He scores a clean punch every time he says, "This country can't stand another four years of Lyndon Johnson." Nixon never mentions Romney. He talks like the "thinking man's Republican" of his posters.

The country's need is for the soundness of "your dollar" and for "preventive diplomacy" to keep us out of future wars, although the Vietnam conflict is "the cork in the bottle" to contain Red China. Sterling says that Nixon brings a "Presidential" presence into New Hampshire, and that the high level approach is the proper one. It would be a mistake, says Sterling, for Nixon to do the house-to-house, person-to-person in-fighting that Romney undertakes.

BUT EACH of these handlers, Bill Johnson and Dave Sterling, have had some anxious moments. Johnson's man, Romney, has several times seemed close to a knockout. He has been laughed at, which is very bad for a politician. Some of Romney's early backers say they resisted turning to a Rockefeller write-in until convinced by Romney's gaucheness that he was actually out on his feet. But a weekend rest between rounds, a trip back to Michigan, or into Wisconsin, seems to refresh him, and Romney's handler has him ready to go for the next round.

DAVE STERLING has to worry that Nixon, although ahead on points, is showing up as "too bland." By not sometimes seems to be proving himself as a GOP "consensus" candidate, a synthesis of "sound" ideas, bankrolled with the good will of Republican politicians, not a hungry, gut-issue fighter, a little too slick.

The two principals are getting expert handling, and they need it. Romney because he has several times been on the ropes. Nixon because he's such a stylish fighter that his style-consciousness sometimes makes him seem unreal.

VA Rose Garden School Successful

The first local Rose Pruning School, held Saturday at the Veterans Administration Hospital rose garden, has been termed highly successful with an estimated 75 persons in attendance. Shown at the event are Mrs. Tom Ivey, president of the After Five Garden Club; Ken Williamson, American Rose Society, Odessa; L. D. Bender, head gardener, VA Hospital; and C. C. Michel, consulting rosarian of the American Rose Society, Odessa. Due to the interest displayed, sponsors are already planning another such school.

Classroom Teachers Hold Banquet Monday Evening

The western theme was used in decorations for the Big Spring Classroom Teachers Association banquet held Monday in the high school cafeteria. The head table held replicas of an oil derrick, jail, saloon and a paper mache figure of a cowboy and road runner. The invocation was given by Bill Irwin, and Bailey Clements, master of ceremonies, welcomed guests, then presented attendance prizes to Gerald Wilson, B. C. Allen and Mrs. Katie West.

Local Musicians Receive Ratings

Three piano students of Mrs. Fred Beckham participated over the weekend in the Pauline Slater Competition sponsored by the Odessa Music Teachers Association. The event was held at the Odessa High School. Playing Saturday were Cindy Coleman, 10, and Pamela Wheeler, 12, who placed second in their category, and Karen Fortson, 10, who received an excellent rating in her group. Medals and certificates were awarded, and 149 contestants from seven cities were entered for the event. The recital was held Sunday.

A LOVELIER YOU

Exercise Will Make Flabby Legs Firm

By MARY SUE MILLER
If a neater curve in the calf of the leg is on your self-improvement program, get busy on the exercises below. Repeat them daily, and it's a promise that spring's flippy skirts will not find your legline wanting. The first routine reduces the calf. The second has a firming action. A slim, firm contour just about adds up to perfection.

1. Sit on a carpeted floor with legs straight out and together. Pointing toes, bend feet backward as far as possible and hold position. Now slowly swing legs apart by sliding calves along floor; slide back to starting position. Without stopping, repeat 10 to 20 times. Be sure, throughout the exercises, to press calves to floor—hard.

2. Seated on floor with legs out and together, bend feet forward with toes pointing ahead. Raise right leg and swing it from side to side as far as possible, in a high, wide arc. Continue without pause for 10 to 20 counts. Perform with left leg.

The second routine limbers as well as firms the legs and your carriage benefits thereby. Your steps become smoother and more rhythmic. My model friends say that a gliding stride is more than ever desirable in this leggy fashion era.

LAZY GIRL'S EXERCISES
Here's an effortless way to trim off heavy spots. All you do is lie down or sit down, and flex your muscles. If that's for you, send for "Lazy Girl's Exercises." Based on the isometric principle of exercise, routines trim head-to-toe figure. High Front Wall Gives Seclusion

Would you like a high privacy wall for the front yard, but fear to offend the neighbors? Take a tip from Hollywood and try a false front.

The false front is nothing more than a tall fence designed to appear like the front wall of a house. You build it with cedar siding boards in whatever style best complements the house—bevel, tongue-and-groove, board-and-batten—finishing it to match.

For a gate, use tall double doors and flank them on either side with a panel of colored, pebbled glass. Match the height of these "windows" to the doors. At the top of the wall, use a cornice molding working into a wide cap board to give the illusion of a roof.

Leave space for a planting bed between the property line and the courtyard wall and the effect of a house front is complete—and most attractive.

'Mizpah' Disc Is Presented To Departing Member Of Xi Mu

Mrs. Ernest Rapalee was presented the traditional 'Mizpah' disc during a Monday evening meeting of Xi Mu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, in the home of Mrs. Robert Blassingame, 3212 Auburn. Mrs. Rapalee's husband is returning soon from Vietnam and the family will be moving to Phoenix, Ariz.

Names of two Howard County women were presented as nominees for "Woman of the Year" who will be named by BSP at the Founder's Day Banquet in April. The nominees are not required to be BSP members.

Mrs. Truett Vines presided as a nominating committee was elected consisting of Mrs. Roy Granbery, Mrs. Wade Choate and Mrs. Horace Rankin. They will present a proposed slate at a covered dish supper March 11.

Mrs. Choate was in charge of the program, "The Million Club," which concerned cancer, telling of interviews with patients who had been cured of the disease.

FINAL COUNT PEGGED AT 14,122

Voter Total Officially A Record

Final official total qualified voters in Howard County is 14,122, which is 3,217 more than were qualified to vote in elections of 1967 and is the largest number of electors ever to be listed in this county.

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, said that her deputies have completed the check and cross-check of the registration records and the 14,122 is the official figure which she will certify to the county clerk and to the secretary of state.

The total is slightly less than had been hoped, but this was explained by the elimination of duplicate registrations from the lists. Mrs. LeFevre said she had perhaps 100 applications for registration certificates which were sent to her office by mail ahead of the Jan. 31 deadline, but that all lack some information.

She has made an effort to contact the applicants to let them correct the applications, but still needs nearly 100 to complete the work. If these persons come in and amend their applications, they will be registered since Mrs. LeFevre points out they made their application ahead of the deadline and in good faith.

There are 21 voting precincts in the county this year — one more than ever before. All of the boxes, with the exception of No. 9 (Coahoma), show important increases in the number of voters. Coahoma dropped from 843 voters last year to 643 this year. This loss was caused by the division of the precinct to create Precinct No. 21 (Sand Springs) which showed 538 voters this year — the first time it has appeared in the lists.

Some of the increases shown in the boxes, particularly those outside of Big Spring, are credited to the requirement this year that all voters register. In the past, overage voters who lived outside cities of 10,000 or more population, did not have to register or even obtain poll tax exemptions.

However, the heavy increase in voting totals in the city boxes cannot be explained by this theory. A heavy turnout of voters never before equalled in the county's history was generated this year due, perhaps, to the first year when full scale registration replaced the old poll-tax system.

The voting strength of the boxes compared with that of the 1967 voting year:

Table with 2 columns: Precinct, 1968, 1967. Totals: 14,122, 10,905.

Brazilian Congressman Visits

The Hon. Levy Tavares (center), member of the House of Deputies from Sao Paulo to the Brazilian congress, is visiting here today. At left is David Wayne Smith, Presbyterian missionary to Brazil, who now works directly with the Christian leadership movement and who serves as interpreter to the Hon. Tavares. With them is Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church where they will speak this evening.

Brazilian Congressman Places Politics Second

Levy Tavares deliberately got into politics, but he is careful not to let politics get into him. Although he is in his first year of a second four-year term as a member of the House of Deputies in Brazil, he considers that his first calling is as a minister of the Gospel.

of the interior, is not only beautiful but is bustling. Roads now have been pushed out in four directions to population centers and others are being constructed. The goal of developing the vast interior is being achieved, in Rev. Tavares' opinion.

An unique approach to problems is the informal Christian Leadership group. Rev. Smith, who also felt he was banging his head against a stone wall in the conventional mission approach for the Presbyterian church, had the same conception as Rev. Tavares, so now he works entirely with the Christian leadership.

Once a week senators, congressmen, administrators and others come together in the spirit of Christ. "We seek and meditate upon the Word of God, and we have comments upon the Scriptures from all kinds of faiths—Catholic, Pentecostal, Baptist, Presbyterian," he said. During the past year, the group which normally meets in congress went to the Presidential Palace.

He did, and for the past five years has been serving in Brasilia as one of the deputies from the state of Sao Paulo. However, he still serves as one of three pastors in a Pentecostal church that has 14,000 members. The building which houses the congregation is the largest Protestant church in the world. It's main floor and two galleries which are in a semi-circular pattern, seat 25,000. And it is usually filled to capacity.

Miller, who is right-handed, stepped up to the tee of the 167-yard, par-3 17th hole at the Black Lake Golf Club and with a six iron stroked a hole in one.

One of the pastors is an administrator, another is a doctor of theology to instruct in doctrines, and the third — himself — is the evangelist. The church has the conventional teaching and others and is being blessed with rapid growth.

From the time of Pope John and now with Pope Paul VI, there is a new spirit and there is no longer pressure from the Roman church against other groups, he said. While the nation is 90 per cent nominally Catholic, Rev. Tavares said that perhaps only 20 per cent are devout members of the faith.

"I believe that God has reserved a great plan for the Christian movement in Brazil," he said. There are great secular problems facing this great nation in South America. Rev. Tavares compared them to the tentacles of an octopus. One tentacle is inflation (where the U.S. inflationary trend is three per cent per year, Brazil's is three per cent a month); another is education (48 per cent of the country is still illiterate); another is health and the explosive birth rate (there are many unconquered illnesses in the country, and the rate of birth is second only to India).

"They are many, but these are enough," the congressman declared. He thinks the present government is making some headway toward stability in curbing inflation. Progress also is being made on the other fronts. The capital city of Brasilia, raised from the sprawling plain

BIG SPRING BUSINESS REVIEW

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1968

Savings On Insurance

Mrs. Babs Moore (left), Jeff Brown and Mrs. Vera Bright of Perman Insurance Agency feature savings for customers on certain types of insurance policies purchased through the agency.

Cheapest Insurance Not Necessarily A Savings

At Perman Insurance Agency, Jeff Brown, agent, comments that the purchase of the cheapest insurance policy on the market is not always a savings. The buyer also expects to save time and expenses if he has a claim to settle. The Perman Insurance Agency saving is defined as getting your money's worth when you purchase insurance. On policy holders that qualify, Jeff Brown is now offering a 15 percent dividend on automobile insurance and savings from 15 to 20 percent on business and home insurance.

In order to assure the customer of every saving to which he is entitled, the Perman Insurance Agency represents many companies. This allows the customer several companies from which to choose, and this competition between the companies to obtain business usually affords the customer insurance rates that are competitive. Jeff Brown personally guarantees his customers every saving of money he can offer on their purchase of insurance.

The Perman Insurance Agency believes service, is the thing that you should buy the most of when you purchase insurance. To guarantee prompt and equitable service, as well as paying when a claim arises, the Perman Insurance Agency uses independent claim adjusters.

In the selection of the many companies it represents, Perman Insurance Agency uses independent claim adjusters.

In the selection of the many companies it represents, Perman Insurance Agency prides itself in the fact that it chooses only those insurance companies that have the highest national rating. This assures a policy holder that the company he is insured with will remain solvent and will be able to promptly pay claims as they arise.

Perman Insurance Agency now offers automobile insurance to civilians age 18 and up and military personnel 17 and up at regular rates if applicant qualifies. In most instances, this means considerable saving to the young insurance buyer.

Recently Perman Insurance Agency received a survey prepared by an engineering appraisal firm, pointing out to the average family that their home may be "under insured." Referring to the survey, for a brick home constructed in 1963, the insurance appraisers state that it will cost the home owner 22.6 percent more to replace this same home on today's building market. For a Big Spring home policy holder, this could mean that if your home was insured under a five year fire policy and you are now renewing this policy for the same amount of insurance, you could be under-insuring your home as much as one-fifth. Perman Insurance Agency has a realtor on its staff and will assist in determining how much insurance should be placed on a home.

For business in Big Spring, offers a technical staff to study your insurance needs through insurance surveys and prepare proposals for the type of insurance you should purchase. This technical team is composed of Jeff Brown, his experienced staff, agents, engineers and Certified Property and Casualty Underwriters (CPCU), surveying the perils and risks your business is exposed to and recommending insurance fitted to your particular business needs. In the field of industrial and commercial insurance, the Perman Insurance Agency offers competitive rates and dividend type policies for those businesses that qualify.

For all your insurance needs, call or visit Jeff Brown at the Perman Insurance Agency, located in the Perman Building in downtown Big Spring.

HOME IMPROVEMENT CENTER

Fix Up With Help From Ward's

The Home Improvement Center at Montgomery Ward & Co., Highland Shopping Center, has experienced people to assist you with your home improvement and home remodeling plans. Free estimates and many workable ideas are yours by going by the store or calling 267-5571.

Larry Phillips, manager of the Home Improvement Center, has had eight years experience and is ready to help with improvement and remodeling problems.

Merchandise from the Home Improvement Center at Montgomery Ward may be purchased as single items and do-it-yourself installation or you may purchase a package deal which includes the installation. Financing is available with up to five years to pay and no money down.

Custom Kitchen At Montgomery Ward

Larry Phillips, manager of the Home Improvement Center, points out the different finishes of the custom kitchens at Montgomery Ward.

Try your hand at the starting line. You are no longer limited to the expected ordinary bathroom. Montgomery Ward's new line of vanity-lavatories opens the door to a truly exotic bath. Select the cabinet you prefer, fit it with the color bowl of your choice and imported or cultured marble top for the dramatic focal point of a high-styled bath.

H. D. Farrar, Interior Designer, has designed exclusively for Montgomery Ward a designer's collection of vanity-lavatories in Early American, Mediterranean, Classic and Conventional. Regardless of your choice, years from now your vanity-lavatory will still be one of your most prized possessions. It is constructed from carefully selected materials — skillfully crafted like the handcraftsman of long ago. Each vanity is finished with special care — hand-rubbed to preserve the natural beauty and graining.

At Montgomery Ward, the water softeners come in various sizes to meet your specific home requirements. For cleaner, healthier living, have a water softener that will filter the sediment and soften hard water for your every need. An extra-recharge feature gives you more soft water whenever demands are extra large and the "brine-fill" feature keeps the dosage of salt constant even if the pressure varies.

Live better this summer with central air conditioning from Montgomery Ward. Sleep better, too, on the hot summer nights. You'll enjoy cool, dust and pollen free air in every room. It can be connected to your present forced air furnace system.

There are food waste disposals in a variety of prices at Montgomery Ward, but the best one is jam-free. It pulverizes every known food waste and is whisper-quiet for the thick rubber collar absorbs vibration and the fiber-glass insulation soaks up noise. It has a quick and easy method of attaching.

Increase the value of your home and cut maintenance time and cost by cladding your home in incredibly tough aluminum siding. This will turn house painting time into relaxation time. If your house gets dirty, simply wash it with the hose. The aluminum siding resists rot, rust, warping, splitting, fire and vermin. It won't peel or blister. Let the Home Improvement Center give you a free estimate for aluminum siding for your home.

Many other items are offered through the Home Improvement Center including water systems, central heating, electronic air cleaners and roofing materials. Phillips and the sales staff at the Center are ready to help you with your plans and give you free estimates on any item you need for home improvement or remodeling. They will also go over the five year financing with no money down plan with you on any merchandise purchased through the Center.

Snow Whitens Ohio Valley

By The Associated Press
Rain, snow and freezing drizzle slicked a stretch of country from North Dakota to the central Great Lakes region today while light snow whitened the region southward into the Lower Ohio Valley.

Temperatures generally were notable for a lack of severity, ranging through the 20s and 30s in the northern tier of states. An exception was Northern New England, where Houlton, Maine, registered three below zero.

Cloudiness was widespread from Iowa and Missouri eastward, spilling occasional showers across parts of Florida. Clear skies were the rule through most of the country from the Central Plains westward.

Miller Says He's Willing To Live With Club Rules

By The Associated Press

(Photo by Danny Valdes)

CONFIDENCE REIGNS
HCJC bench had packed it in

Stu Miller is no law-breaker. He knows the rules of the game and he's willing to live by them. Happy about them he's not, but willing to live by them he is. Miller's slow stuff was no mystery to American League batters last season and the result was a 3-10 record — the poorest of the 40-year-old Baltimore reliever has had in 19 years of professional baseball. It will show in his paychecks this season.

"I expected a pay cut," said Miller, who was sliced from $40,000. "What else, after the year I had? It's the law of the jungle. Win and you are rewarded. Lose and they cut your salary."

But lose at Miller's age and sometimes teams cut more than your salary. Sometimes they cut you. Miller knows that and showed up at the Baltimore training camp weighing a trim 172 pounds, 10 under his playing weight. He went through his first workout Monday.

And Leo Durocher let his Chicago Cubs know they'd be in for it if he found it necessary to fine them this year.

"Just remember, fellows," Durocher told the Cubs at their first clubhouse meeting, "when I take your money for breaking rules, I don't start at $25. It's more likely to be $200 for a starter."

The New Yankees and Cleveland Indians came up with a couple of starters of their own. New York signed left-hander Al Downing, 14-10 last season, to a 1968 contract and Cleveland added righty Sonny Siebert, 10-12, in 1967.

Downing got a reported $9,000 raise to $31,000 and Siebert moved into the $40,000 neighborhood.

Pitcher Jim Maloney, seeking a $15,000 boost to $75,000, is one of five Cincinnati first stringers still not signed. Others are pitcher Mel Queen, second baseman Tommy Helms and outfielders Vada Pinson and Pete Rose.

Three .300 hitting outfielders are missing from Pittsburgh's camp. Batting champion Roberto Clemente and Manny Mota both have been delayed by illnesses in the family. Matty Alou, who hit .338 last year, is on his way to camp with his contract but the Pirates aren't sure he's signed it yet.

"An unofficial holdout," was what General Manager Joe L. Brown called Alou.

Pitcher Phil Regan and catcher Elston Howard drew praise from their respective managers.

Los Angeles skipper Walt Alton watched Regan who slipped from 14-1 in 1966 to 6-9 last year. "Last year," said Alton, "his trouble was mostly control. He started off throwing a little too high and it stayed that way most of the season. We'll work on keeping him down and see what happens."

Howard, Boston's 39-year-old catcher, belted a pair of long drives over the left field fence and impressed Manager Dick Williams.

"Ellie looks good," said Williams. "He is working hard and swinging the bat well for his early in the spring. He acts as if he wants to prove something in a hurry."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:
JIM HART, who replaced Big Spring's Charley Johnson as quarterback of the St. Louis Cardinals when the latter was called for military duty:

"When you have a new quarterback dumped on a team that is used to someone else, the timing is bound to be off. It isn't only my timing, but that of the receivers, too. I think the Cardinals' offensive line is the best in pro football. If we had had a rookie offensive line with a rookie quarterback, the quarterback would not have been found at mid-season. I hate to think of the consequences, but I think the line did a tremendous job of protection. I think our so-called dissent was blown all out of proportion. It's sad to see that sort of thing done. If you win, nothing is said; if you lose, someone is always trying to make trouble. When you get 55 men in one group, there are bound to be problems. Every team has problems. Ours was between a few individuals — four, at the most — and the coaching staff. After it all came out, I was told by persons connected with other teams that our problems in that area were minor compared to those of other clubs. . . . We have to be better next year. We lost linebacker Bill Kroman and we'll have Larry Stallings only on weekends, but we got a couple of running backs in the draft."

BOB PETTIT, former LSU and pro basketball great, commenting on the new glamour boy at his old school:

"I never realized how many records I held in this league until this year, when Pete started breaking them. I had watched him as a freshman last year and had figured he would score 30 to 35 points a game this year and lead the conference. I don't think anyone else figured he would do as well as he has. All records are made to be broken at one time or another. In my case, the records have certainly been broken by an exceptionally fine ball player. Pete is fantastic, especially when you consider the fact that he is only a sophomore. He has poise. He's very confident and is a tremendous ball handler as well as scorer. How good can he be? There's just no telling. He's pretty much in a class by himself now and he'll get better."

JIM MINTER, Atlanta Journal:

"According to the Internal Revenue Service, which is never wrong at this time of year, a whopping 50 million Americans attended auto races of some sort in 1957."

BOB MILBURN, San Angelo scribe:

"Dan LaGrasta, head football coach and athletic director at San Angelo Central, plans to open spring grid drills April 26, a Friday, and go straight through the 21-calendar day period. Dan has a lot of things to cover, but must first uncover a quarterback."

SHELBY METCALF, the Texas A&M basketball coach, due in here this week for part of the Region V junior college basketball tournament:

"Tyler Junior College must have some kind of basketball team. Two years ago Harvey Huffstetler was the best freshman we had. He's just the fifth best player at Tyler."

CLETUS BOYER, infielder for the Atlanta Braves:

"Probably the best all-around athlete I ever saw is my brother, Kenny. He played only half a season of football in high school. That was his senior year. Thirty-seven schools wanted to give him a scholarship. The only thing I've ever been able to do better in baseball than him is get the throw away. I've got a quicker arm than Kenny because I'm not as big. I was a better basketball player than he was and I had to be all-state to do that. I was a shooter and got all the attention. Kenny took all the bruises."

HC Racks Up Another Title

Nothing But White Shirts

The HCJC Jayhawks did a thorough job of controlling the boards in their Western Conference game with Frank Phillips College Plainsmen, 113-75, here Monday night, as the picture so graphically shows. Terry Fields (38) goes for the basket while Robbie Lemon (partly hidden), Larry Linder (54) and Barry Linder (41) wait around to see if the ball goes through. HC won the game, 113-75, to clinch their second straight league championship.

HCJC's Jayhawks blitzed Frank Phillips College Plainsmen, 113-75, here Monday night to clinch their second straight Western Conference basketball title.

Phillips, a school that doesn't give athletic scholarships, fielded a crew of gunners who hit very well from outside but the Plainsmen died by the sword—they couldn't stop HC's fast break.

The win was the 13th in 16 assignments for the locals. Overall, the Hawks are 21-1. Buddy Travis' team finished one game ahead of Clarendon.

Hiron Hubert couldn't miss the first half for the Hawks and wound up with 31 points, his best output of the season. He counted 20 of those before the intermission.

Larry Linder, the league's leading scorer, spent considerable time on the bench as coach Travis experimented with reserves but still counted 21 points. Three other Hawks hit in double figures.

Frank Phillips was paced by Dale Dawson and Don Piland, each of whom tallied 16 points. Two other plainsmen, Ken Plumlee and Larry Reed, each had 15.

The Hawks were especially warm the first half, connecting on 25 of 46 shots from the field for 54 points. In the final half, they cooled to 46 per cent, getting 23 of 50.

Between them, Larry and Barry Linder and Simon Terrazas grabbed off 38 rebounds, Larry Linder coming down with 17. The Hawks were magnificent at keeping the visitors from getting a followup shot.

The contest served as a final warmup for HCJC before the Region V tournament, an eight-team event which starts in the high school gymnasium here at 2 p.m. Thursday.

The Hawks have drawn Amarillo as a first round opponent in the tournament. The two teams take the court at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Forsan Fems Play Here

Coach Don Stevens brings his Forsan High School girls to the HCJC Gymnasium here this evening for a return practice basketball game with Westbrook. Tipoff time is 7:30 p.m.

When the two district champions met last week in Roscoe, Forsan won by a score of 59-52.

Ace scorer for Forsan is Mollie Condon, who has scored a record total of 1,072 points this season for a 33.7-per game average.

TV Exposure Frowned On

ATLANTA (AP) — Professional football commissioner Pete Rozelle says he would like to see less "Sunday exposure" on television for the game and more Monday night action.

"Whether we can crack Monday night and whether they will pass by their regular programs, I don't know," he told newsmen Monday, "but they're turning to an awful lot of movies now."

He said more television sets would be on Monday night and a bigger percentage of viewers would not be football fans, which he said "might make more fans."

Income from television may have "peaked," Rozelle said during a news conference after a civic club address. He said National Football League clubs now get about $1.2 million each in television income while AFL teams pull about $850,000 each.

Jayton Wins Over 'Dogs

Cee City, Crane Square Off At 8 Here Tonight

Two CLASS AA basketball champions, Colorado City and Crane, come to grips in the Big Spring High School gymnasium at 8 o'clock this evening, with a spot in the Regional tournament at Lubbock at stake.

The fieldhouse will, no doubt, be rocking since both communities will send large delegations here. Crane, 6-AA, coached by Jack Gothard, is 24-8 on the year. Colorado City got off to a slow start but recovered well and will bring a 47-10 record here.

The contest is sponsored by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, which will furnish a trophy to the winner.

Admission prices for the engagement are a modest $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Crane will have a height advantage and will rule as a slight favorite over Caddo Matthews' Wolves. The Golden Cranes boast a 6-8 boy in Mike Pearl, who does a good job controlling the boards, and coach Gothard is projecting two of his boys, 6-0 Tommy Jones and 6-4 Glen Fletcher, for all-state honors.

Colorado City has shown an ability to come back when all seems lost. The Wolves appeared beaten by Hamlin in a crucial game at Hamlin but won on a last-second field goal by Randy Parker.

Parker and Kerry Campbell are the hatchet men for Colorado City. Both have shown an ability to come through when the chips are really down.

Jones is averaging 24 points and 14 rebounds a game while Fletcher has a 17-point norm for Crane. Pearl is dragging down 12 rebounds a game and helping in numerous other ways.

Among other accomplishments, Crane-knocked off Big Spring in the semifinals of the Snyder tournament.

Campbell, a 6-2 senior and the lone returning letterman at Colorado City, is averaging 13.8 points a game for the Wolves while Parker is averaging 13.5

Conference championship over the weekend and now have a ranking position in The Associated Press' college basketball poll to show for it.

Negro Jobless Triple Whites

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says nearly one-third of job-age nonwhite youths—the vast bulk of them Negroes—are unemployed in the nation's 20 largest metropolitan areas.

A newly completed Bureau of Labor Statistics breakdown on unemployment shows the jobless rate for all potential nonwhite workers is at least triple that of whites in six of the cities.

WITHOUT WORK

It says 32.7 per cent of nonwhites aged 16 to 19 were without work—compared with an 11 per cent jobless rate for white teenagers in the same 20 metropolitan areas.

The report, based on unemployment last year but believed to accurately reflect current urban employment patterns, appears certain to generate concern as the nation's big cities face another summer of predicted racial violence.

In the St. Louis metropolitan area, the over-all nonwhite unemployment was more than four times the white rate.

No city-by-city breakdown was provided on teenage unemployment by race.

The figures on total unemployment varied widely from area to area.

TEXAS FIGURES

The figures showed the Houston metropolitan area had a total unemployment rate of 3.3 per cent. The white rates was 2.4, the nonwhite 6.3.

The Dallas metropolitan area had an unemployment rate of 2.5 per cent, with the white rate 2.1. The nonwhite rate was not given.

In Detroit, Pittsburgh and St. Louis, more than 10 per cent of the nonwhites in the work force were unemployed.

In Washington, only 3.2 per cent of the nonwhites in the work force were unemployed.

Of the 20 areas included in the study, Los Angeles-Long Beach had the highest unemployment rate among white persons, 5.3 per cent. Washington had the lowest jobless rate among white persons, 2.0 per cent.

In St. Louis, the area with the greatest disparity between white and nonwhite unemployment, the white jobless rate was 2.9 per cent, the nonwhite rate 12.3 per cent.

Nonwhite unemployment was at least three times that of white persons in Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Baltimore as well as St. Louis.

Nonwhite unemployment rates were between two and three times that of whites in four areas: Philadelphia, San Francisco-Oakland, Newark and Houston.

Russell Expecting Reservists Call-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Richard B. Russell of the Senate Armed Services Committee expresses uneasiness about the U.S. military position at Khe Sanh where entrenched Marines face a potential massive Communist offensive.

"I am afraid this position may be difficult to defend," said the Georgia Democrat. "I hope we will be able to reinforce our troops there sufficiently."

Russell, predicting more U.S. troops will be sent to Vietnam, indicated in an interview he also expects a call-up of ground reservists to fill gaps in American home forces depleted by Vietnam manpower needs.

He declined to speculate on how many more troops might be sent to Vietnam.

Russell and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield agreed the pacification program in Vietnam had been all but wrecked when protective troops had to be withdrawn from villages and hamlets to defend the cities against the recent Viet Cong raids.

Mansfield said in a separate interview it is essential the program be revived, calling it the best hope for eventual stabilization of South Vietnam.

NOT SURPRISED
Russell said he is suggesting that the Senate preparedness subcommittee call Chairman Earle G. Wheeler of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to testify on likely increases in U.S. troop commitments in Vietnam.

Wheeler, en route home from Vietnam, said in Honolulu that U.S. forces were not surprised when the Viet Cong launched the raids.

"Contrary to some allegations, they—U.S. forces—were not taken by surprise by the enemy's Tet offensive," Wheeler told newsmen. "Rather, they were alert to the impending attack and Gen. William Westmoreland employed his troops in a timely and decisive manner to aid the South Vietnamese forces and to inflict major losses on the attacking units."

'A BAD MISTAKE'
Wheeler is bringing home from Vietnam recommendations for troop increases that Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, a war critic, said in a Senate speech may total 125,000 additional men.

Mansfield again proposed in a Senate speech a trial halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam. But the Democrat who ranks second to Mansfield, Assistant Democratic Leader Russell B. Long, D-La., said any pause would be "a bad mistake."

Long said the American people "are getting disgusted with this talk of a pause, of pulling your punches when the enemy is slugging you."

Beauties Get Training Talk For Pageant

Twenty contestants in the junior division of the Miss Big Spring Pageant began a crowded two weeks' schedule Monday night with a junior training session at the First Federal Community Room.

John Anderson, pageant coordinator, reviewed rules of the pageant, and girls were given first briefings on poise, walk and general appearance. Mrs. Margie Baker is to coordinate girls' activities, Anderson said.

The senior training session will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn, and the annual Pepsi Party and rehearsal will be Friday at 7 p.m. in the city auditorium.

Advance tickets may be purchased at $2 for reserve seats and $1 for general admission at Edwards D. Jones and Company, Room 208, Permian Building. Tickets for the junior division will be 50 cents, with no reserve seating, and will also be sold at the door.

The pageant, slated for March 8-9, is an annual Jaycee-sponsored preliminary to the Miss Texas pageant and the Miss America pageant.

Differences Snag Bulky Riot Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Differences among members of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders remain unsettled as the panel pushes toward completion of its landmark report on last summer's riots.

In disclosing this, one commission member who refused to permit use of his name said some commissioners want a stronger "get-tough" policy toward rioters than that preferred by their colleagues.

POLICE BLAME
The disagreement extends also to how much blame should be placed on city police for what the commission member called repressive measures taken to quell racial violence.

But he said the commission will call firmly for maintenance of law and order, both in combating riots and in cleaning up conditions—such as narcotics traffic—that contribute to slum crimes.

The 11-member commission, appointed by President Johnson after last summer's riots in Newark and Detroit, meets today and Wednesday to put the scheduled for release next Sunday.

HOPE TO SHOCK
The document will provide a detailed report on last summer's riots, examine causes of the disorders and recommend finishing touches on a report steps to prevent further violence.

Commission members hope the report will shock the public because, as a member put it, "if we don't do something about it we're going to have a hell of a problem in this country."

The member who reported the differences of opinion said "a lot of people may be disappointed" in the report because it will make the point that there is no easy answer and no quick solution.

Major recommendations will cover job training, better education and better housing, he said. The commission's investigation shows conditions in many city slums are "unbelievable"—far worse than most Americans believe, he said.

Nostalgia Filled Screen On Three Comedy Shows

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There was nostalgia all over the television screen Monday night. Lucy was working with Viv again. Danny was reminiscing about the old days when he was poor and struggling. Carol returned to that wonderful year with Garry and Durward.

It all added up to a pleasant, lighthearted evening of entertainment.

Lucille Ball has, of course, ratings to prove that she doesn't need much more than a wisp of an idea to turn out a popular comedy show. But when she is working with her old colleague, Vivian Vance, a fine comedienne with a nice way with a dry line, things work out very smoothly.

Monday night's CBS show had Lucy and Vivian joining Joan Crawford and mistakenly believing that she is broke, they organize a benefit for her.

Danny Thomas' weekly NBC hour was a tape of his nightclub act, a one-man show. His routines were a typical Thomas mixture of comedy, anecdote, sermonizing and song. He even managed to squeeze a few stanzas of Edgar Guest into the proceedings.

Highlight of "The Carol Burnett Show" on CBS was her reunion with Garry Moore and Durward Kirby and a revival of one of the most popular features of the old "Garry Moore Show."

Andy Griffith, who finished shooting his series last week, plans to make two motion pictures and one television special a year in the immediate future. He picked Ken Berry to star in "Mayberry R. F. D." which will replace his seven-year-old series on CBS next season.

Although Griffith and members of his current TV family will appear a few times in the new series which is set in the same locale, only George Lindsey, who now plays Goober, will be a regular in the forthcoming show.

The Smothers Brothers show, during their summer vacation, will be taken over by Pat Paulsen and Glenn Campbell. Campbell is a guitar-playing singer from Arkansas who although not well known to television audiences is a popular recording star. Dean Martin's summer show will star Joey Heatherton and Frank Sinatra Jr.

Recommended tonight: "The Red Skelton Hour," 8:30-9:30 EST, an all-pantomime one-man show, taped in New York before a U.N. audience.

Censorship Relaxation Indicated By Protestor

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Seeger's singing of an antiwar song, "Big Muddy," Sunday night on the Smothers brothers' television show constituted an "obvious relaxation" of censorship of the show, Columbia Broadcasting Systems spokesman said Monday.

"It was scheduled for the first show of the season and found objectionable," said the network spokesman, who asked not to be identified. That CBS allowed Seeger to sing it this time was an "obvious relaxation of censorship," he said.

The last chorus of the song, which tells of soldiers on maneuvers being led into quicksand by a captain referred to as "the big fool," was cut by CBS affiliate WJBK-TV in Detroit.

The station looked at the pre-taped show Friday and decided to cut the last chorus "because it calls the President, by inference, a big fool," the station said.

The station's program director, Bob Rlerson, said, "Whether you like Johnson or not, I don't think an entertainment program is the place to do this." The CBS spokesman said the show was sent intact to all affiliated stations. He said CBS had no knowledge of the Detroit station's action nor word that any other station had cut out any of the show.

"Every part of every show is judged in total context of the show," the spokesman said.

A viewer from Ann Arbor, Mich., registered objection to the cut by calling the Smothers brothers in Los Angeles Monday, Ken Fritz, a spokesman for the brothers, said. He said the show had received two telegrams protesting the song and more than a dozen in favor.

"Tommy called the manager in Detroit today to ask him about the cut," Fritz said. He said the manager told Smothers he didn't object to criticism of the President if in a humorous context, but not "in a serious context, by a serious singer." He also told Smothers that although the station did not always agree with the show's context, this was the first time it had cut the show, Fritz said.

The show had not intended the kind of inference the Detroit station interpreted, Fritz said.
