MOVES SOUTH

Cool Front Starts Light Showers

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A vast overcast spread over soggy Texas Saturday as a weak cold front moved south from the High Plains, setting off light showers. Temperatures dropped a little behind the front, but no sharp chill was due from this late winter surge. Panhandle temperatures stayed in the high 40s even as the cooler air reached a line from north of Lubbock to north of Childress. Light rain spread inland in Southeast Texas and covered a large section of that quadrant of the state. Rain also fell at such widely divergent points as Dallas, Big Spring, Midland, Brownsville and Panther Junction—this one in the Big Bend National Park. Winds were light to moderate and usually from the south in areas the cool front hadn't reached. The coastal plains and South Texas had temperatures in the lower 60s. Elsewhere the range was from the mid-40s to upper 50s. Sunday will be cloudy and a little cooler, forecasters said, with scattered rain areas over all the state through Sunday.

SOS Appeal Answered

Contributions to the Red Cross "SOS" (support our servicemen) appeal have run to nearly $800 in just a few days, the local chapter reported Saturday. The American National Red Cross has made an urgent call for supplementary funds to help carry the Vietnam load, and the local chapter was asked to help to the extent of $4,372. The local solicitation so far has been handled by mail, in the hope that personal solicitors will not have to be called on. First letters were mailed Tuesday, and the response has totaled $794.50. This is most gratifying," said R. W. Whipkey, chapter chairman. "We feel that the people of our area know how important the role of the Red Cross is in time of a war, and understand that the major conflict in Vietnam is putting on the pressure for more work, and hence more money. We are hopeful that many other people will respond promptly in any amount they feel they are able, and that the Red Cross in Howard and Glasscock Counties will be — as it always has been — at the top of the list in support of our men and women in uniform." Assistance is welcomed from every citizen. Checks may be made to American Red Cross and mailed to the local chapter, Box 626, Big Spring.

Given Life Term

BEAUMONT (AP)—Walter Lee Tyler, 28, was assessed a life term Friday night for slaying a Port Arthur policeman. The jury took 30 minutes to convict Tyler of the Aug. 3 gunshot slaying of Paul Emerson during an attempted burglary at a Port Arthur drug store. Tyler, of Galena Park, testified a gun taken in the burglary accidentally discharged as he handed it to Emerson. The state sought the death penalty.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

Congratulations are in order to the American Business Club for its successful sponsorship of the first Regional V basketball tournament ever to be held away from Amarillo. After the first night the club virtually was over the financial hump, thanks to excellent support at the gate. Saturday night the gym was almost packed for the third time; Friday the HJC gym had to turn patrons away at the Region B tournament; and Sunday night the high school auditorium had a good crowd for the All-School Sing. Things were popping in that end of town.

Final figures on voter registration were released during the week, showing 14,122 registered. Some attributed the 3,217 increase over last year to requirement that all voters (including over-age ex-employees) register. This isn't supported by the facts, for in Big Spring where this already was the case, 2500 more registered, leaving only 700 additional registrants in the county.

With deadlines falling, local candidates signed up. New entries for city commissioner were E. A. Fiveash and Eddie Acri. Filing for the school board were Joe A. Moss and Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, incumbents, and Jimmy Taylor. On the state front, (See THE WEEK, Page 4-A, Col. 4)

TELLS JURY HE BEAT HIS WIFE TO DEATH WHILE 'BLACKED OUT'

White Found Guilty, Given Five Years

PAISO PINTO, Tex. (AP) — An all-male jury convicted former Texas Highway Patrolman Alfred P. White Saturday of murder without malice in the July 14 bludgeoning death of his wife of 17 years and sentenced him to five years in prison. The guilty verdict came after only 65 minutes of deliberation. The panel took only 15 minutes to agree on the sentence—the maximum for the "without malice" conviction.

DISPLEASED Both prosecutors, who had sought the death penalty, and the defense, which contended White was temporarily insane, expressed displeasure at the verdict.

Mrs. Willie Mae Milliorp of Abilene, mother of the dark-haired woman White slew with blows from a tape-wrapped pipe broke into uncontrollable sobs when the guilty verdict was read.

White admitted killing his dark-haired, 38-year-old wife and former childhood sweetheart in the bedroom of their Abilene home.

White took both verdicts sitting erect and showing no emotion. He had sobbed Friday as he told the jury he blacked out and beat his wife to death.

Defense lawyer A. L. Rhodes asked for a probation sentence. Rhodes told newsmen that White a law officer most of his adult life, had a special fear of going to the penitentiary.

"If you put a law enforcement officer in with criminals he winds up killed," Rhodes told newsmen.

Dist. Judge W. J. Oxford stumbled while reading the jury's guilty verdict, mistakenly saying the panel had found White guilty of "murder with malice." Oxford corrected himself without comment.

One highway patrolman attending the proceeding said: "They might as well have let 'him off."

White began shaking his head slowly, almost imperceptibly when the verdict came in.

SURPRISE

The defense in a surprise move Friday, put White on the stand and he owned up to the murder. He said, sobbing as he spoke, that he did not remember beating his wife lifeless. White said he came to his senses to find his wife's body at his feet.

White said he blacked out after an accidental blow on the head received from his wife the night of July 14.

The prosecution had exhorted the jury to give White the electric chair.

Prosecutor Sam Cleveland, district attorney of Stephenville, told the jury Saturday afternoon that White's act "yelled malice, malice, malice."

"I can't believe it," said Dist. Atty. Ed Paynter. "I just can't believe it."

Asked if he had expected a quick murder with malice verdict, he replied: "I didn't expect a quick one. But that's what I expected. Murder with malice. I don't think anything in the record of this court substantiates a murder without malice verdict."

"I'm just amazed at it, personally. It was not justified."

White admitted he lied when he told investigators the night of the slaying last summer that two Negro intruders bound, beat and robbed him and his wife after their return from a movie.

Cleveland, a crusty, homespun cigar-smoking prosecutor, hammered away at the issue of malice, which must be established as a prelude to the death penalty in Texas.

NEVER

"I say that from the evidence, Al White has never had a moment of unsound mind in his life," Cleveland thundered.

He accused White of living a life replete with "deception and lies" and said the "circumstantial web of evidence" presented by the state "smoked him out."

Cleveland suggested that the defense decision to put White on the stand was done to provide "the jury some other story."

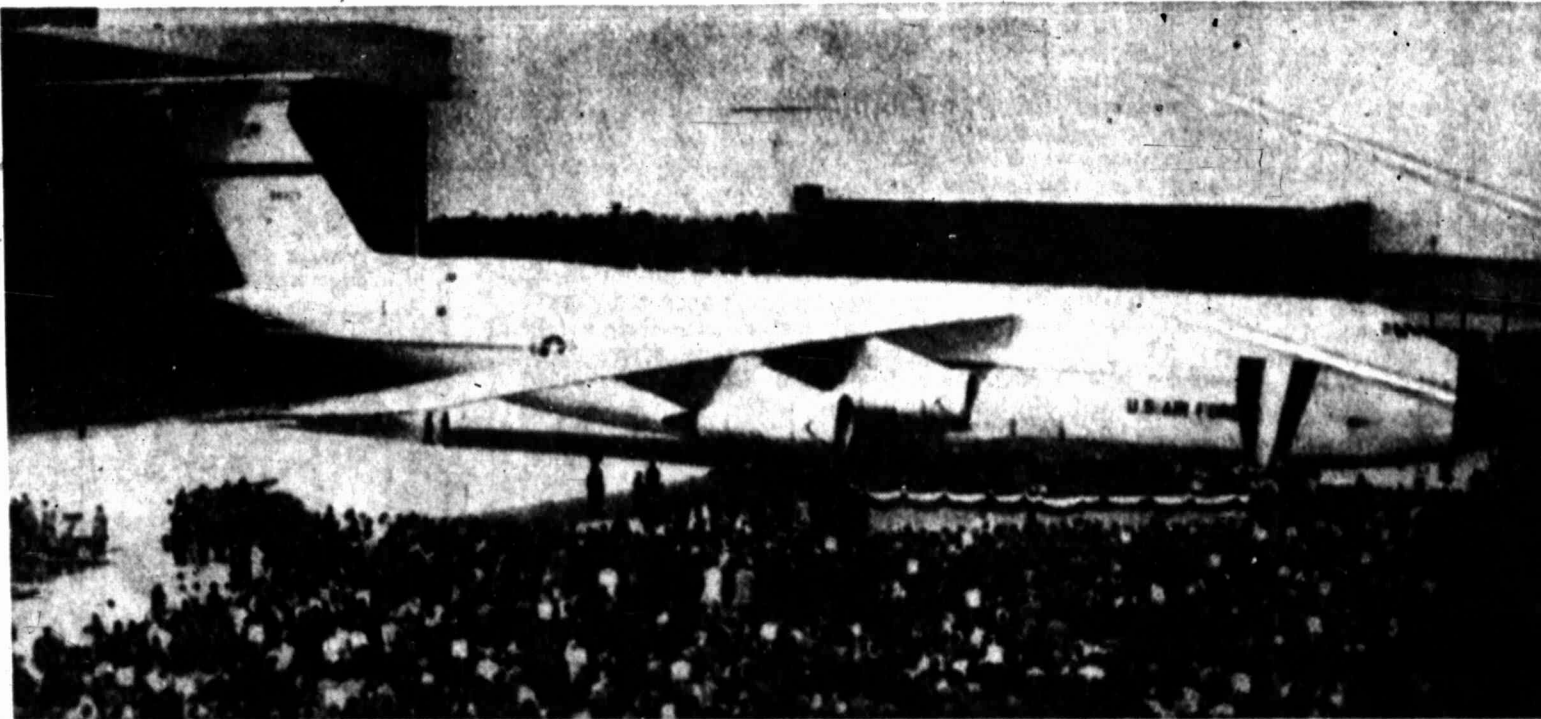

The state had sought to show that White had been involved with women other than his wife.

Without identifying her by name, Paynter made frequent reference to Miss Pat Lidia, 21, an Abilene newspaper employe who testified Friday she had from time to time met with White on roads around Abilene.

"It was not a love affair," she testified. "He kissed me, that's all."

"I suggest to you," Paynter said in his closing argument, "that White grew tired of his wife. She didn't have that blonde hair coiled up there on her head. . . . She didn't wear short skirts. . . ."

White was a state highway patrolman of 14 years' experience at the time his wife was killed. He claimed at first that two Negroes beat him and Mrs. White.

Giant Plane Dwarfs Dignitaries

The giant C5A is rolled past the speakers' stand at Lockheed-Marietta plant Saturday, dwarfing President Johnson and other dignitaries on the stand nearest the plane. The President made a surprise visit to the Marietta plant to witness the rollout of the world's largest plane.

LBJ Visits Puerto Rico, Sees Giant New Airplane

RAMEY AIR FORCE BASE, Puerto Rico (AP) — President Johnson brought most of his family to this soggy Caribbean territory Saturday for a week-end outing after affirming before a Georgia audience that the United States will not abdicate its global responsibilities in Vietnam and elsewhere.

Dressed in jaunty sporting togs, Johnson alighted from his jet transport under grey skies spitting light mist. He was hoping for some relaxation in the sun before returning to the White House, probably Monday.

AIRPLANE

Johnson flew to Ramey from Marietta, Ga., where he witnessed the unveiling of the world's largest airplane—a military air lifter of heroic proportions—and talked about the international responsibilities which, he said, go hand-in-hand with the nation's strength.

Accompanying him to Puerto Rico were his wife, Lady Bird, daughter Lucy, her husband, Patrick J. Nugent, and his 8-month-old grandchild, Patrick Lyndon Nugent.

Johnson watched the world's biggest plane — a mammoth military airlift jet — roll off the production line and hailed it as a sign the United States will not abandon its role as a world power despite the anguish of Vietnam.

"We are observing a long leap forward in the effective military might of America," the President told a crowd estimated at 40,000 at the rollout ceremony for the gigantic C5A cargo plane at the Lockheed-Georgia plant. "For the first time," Johnson added, "our fighting men will be able to travel with their equipment to any spot on the globe where we might be forced to stand—rapidly and more efficiently than ever."

Speaking of the new plane, the President said, "The aircraft that we roll out here today is the signal that we shall not abandon the road of responsibility. We shall match it proudly."

The President flew into Marietta Saturday to see the first in a line of super airlift planes so

Bomb Wrecks Consulate Of United States In Italy

TURIN, Italy (AP) — A bomb wrecked the U.S. consulate Saturday night and caused injuries and panic to families living in the same building.

LEFTISTS

Police expressed belief that the explosive device was planted by leftists in protest against the Vietnam war. They said they presumed a time device had been placed near the consulate entry at the second floor.

Two policemen in a car have been guarding the consulate from the street night and day since Vietnam demonstrations became more frequent one year ago.

The Swedish consulate in the same building was also damaged.

Johnson, glancing in the direction of the big aircraft still nestled in its hangar, said with a slight smile that he recalled the story of the man who built a boat in his basement too big to get through the doors.

To roars of laughter, Johnson added that normally he wouldn't worry about things like that but, since he had been stuck in the Pentagon elevator for 15 minutes, he wanted to be certain about the logistics.

Johnson didn't have to worry. A yellow truck pulled out the huge plane from the hangar and Air Force Secretary Harold Brown's wife christened the plane.

There was a holiday atmosphere at the ceremony with a band playing and many members of the Senate and House Armed Services committee on hand to see the President and the new plane. Among those who met the President was the chairman of the House Armed Services committee—Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., considered among the leading hawks in Congress.

'WHOLLY UNREALISTIC,' MAHON SAYS

Full Riot Report Is Released

WASHINGTON (AP) — A welfare, education, housing and job training it had already disclosed, the 11-member bipartisan commission submitted plans for:

1. A new boost in the federal minimum wage, which rose to $1.60 an hour only last month.
2. Broadening the seven percent investment credit to give firms a tax inducement to locate new plants in slums and train slum workers.
3. Starting a system of government income supplement—in effect, a guaranteed income—to provide a "minimum standard of decent living" for any employed or jobless person existing on substandard income.

"A broad system of supplementation would involve substantially greater federal expenditures than anything now contemplated in this country," said the body headed by Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois. The financing problems are grave, the commission conceded, "but we do not consider them insoluble." And the grim consequences of doing nothing more than at present cannot be accepted, it said.

Estimating the cost at hundreds of billions of dollars, Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations committee, called the proposals "wholly unrealistic." Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., called the report's findings "propaganda ad nauseam."

DEMAGOGUES

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said that the report "gives the demagogues a chance to take the stage" at a time when civil rights legislation is pending and a civil rights march on Washington is planned.

Negro leaders generally acclaimed the findings, as disclosed in the summary report. But even the commission's members conceded there was no chance at all that the proposals could be enacted.

Soviets Launch Space Vehicle

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched a space research vehicle called Zond 4 Saturday, the news agency Tass reported.

The agency indicated the vehicle was first put into a "parking" orbit and then directed into a planned flight path.

LIKE SUMMARY

Like the 12,000-word summary released on Thursday, the report offered little advice to openly dubious members of Congress on how to meet the costs—except to suggest higher taxes.

Raids Hit Khe Sanh Perimeter

SAIGON (AP) — Fighter-bombers from the U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps joined massive B-52 Stratofortresses Saturday in attacking North Vietnamese concentrations ringing the Marine combat base at Khe Sanh.

The high-flying B52s after serving for the first time in up-close, direct support of embat-led South Vietnamese Rangers at Khe Sanh, dumped 750 tons of explosives, near the perimeter Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

HIGH FLIGHTS

One of the strikes, staged from altitudes of 20,000 to 30,000 feet, was close enough to jar the Marine sandbag bunkers. Normally the B52 drops, referred to as "arc lights," are a mile or more away and are felt in allied positions only as a faint rumble.

Added to some 30 B52 runs, fighter-bombers from all three services launched 187 missions Friday in support of the 5,000 Marines and 500 government rangers at Khe Sanh.

Some of the missions were run by Navy pilots from the carrier Enterprise, who were diverted to the critical sector in the northwest corner of South Vietnam from strikes over North Vietnam because of monsoon storms over the North.

Near the other end of the frontier sector below the demilitarized zone, Marines found the bodies of 45 more Communist troops Saturday during a sweep of Mai Xa Thai village, four miles northeast of Dong Ha. The Marines had reported killing 26 Communists during a day-long battle at the village Friday.

The Marines suffered sharp losses themselves in the savage fighting. 22 killed and 87 wounded.

The newly found bodies raised to 375 the number of Communist troops the Marines and South Vietnamese troops claimed killing in a series of fights near the DMZ.

THREE STRIKES

U.S. Navy A6 Intruders from the Enterprise made three major strikes over North Vietnam Friday as missions were held to 69 by monsoon weather.

Radio Hanoi, mum on damage to Communist military targets, said American raids killed 29 persons and wounded 11 in Hanoi suburbs Wednesday.

Another broadcast declared the Viet Cong will take reprisals against American prisoners if "patriots" held by the South Vietnamese are executed.

A 230-truck convoy arrived in Hue Saturday with nearly two million pounds of food and relief supplies, including the first for civilians since the fighting erupted there. Marines and South Vietnamese troops cleared out the last of the Communist pockets last week.

The convoy, under armed guard, made the 51-mile trip up Highway 1 from Da Nang without incident.

Brief Shower Dampens City

Big Spring was treated to a brief shower Saturday afternoon that accumulated about 2 inch of moisture, according to Grady Randel of the U. S. Experiment Station.

Heavy clouds moved over the area Saturday morning, and light drizzle fell intermittently until noon. About 2 p.m. the clouds opened up, and for about 30 minutes, rain fell on the city.

Colorado City reported .02 inch rainfall.

Spring Is Getting Close, If Mr. G. Was Accurate

If the ground hog was right on Feb. 2 when he popped upward after seeing his shadow, then there will be 12 more days before winter will slink from the stage and leave spring to rule.

The six weeks that Mr. G. set up for the extension of winter, when he saw his shadow Feb. 2 ends March 15 and, judging by the report on how February acted, a lot of skeptics are agreeing that the ground hog knew his onions this year.

February, according to Grady Randel, who keeps tabs on weather for the U.S. Experiment Station, was colder than the average February of the past 53 years. The average maximum temperature for the month was 54 compared with the 53 year average of 61; the minimum for the month just ended was 30—two degrees under the average of 53 years. This brought the mean average for last month to 42 which is five degrees under the 53 year average of 47.

Warmest day of the month was Feb. 20, when the maxium temperature was 74 degrees. The coldest reading was 17 degrees Feb. 23.

However, for what it is worth, the wind did not blow as hard this past month as the average measurable precipitation was noted. Included was a 3.5 inch snowfall on Feb. 13. The total rainfall for the month was 1.48, which is more than double the average for the month in the 69 years rainfall records have been kept. The average is 73 inches.

Farmers say that the fields are in the best shape in many years as a result of the 1.32 inch of rain in January and the 1.48 inch in February. The total of three inches for the year is 1.68 inches ahead of the 1.32 inch average for the first two months.

Rain was measured Feb. 9, 01; Feb. 10, 13; Feb. 12, 61; Feb. 13, 42 (moisture value of 3.5 inches snow); Feb. 14, 10; Feb. 17, 04; Feb. 18, 03; Feb. 20, trace; Feb. 27, 14.

Sample March winds were hinted in the gusty gales which made Feb. 27 different, Randel noted.

Industry Parley Slated April 3

AUSTIN (AP) — John Harper, president of the Aluminum Co. of America, and James Ling, chairman of Ling-Temco-Vought, will address the first governor's conference on industrial expansion April 3 in Austin.

Harper will speak on "How U.S. Industry Looks at Texas." Ling's speech is entitled "Texas—Potential for Industrial Expansion."

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL The Mighty Grin Of Davy Crockett

By ED SYERS

Noting this is the time we Texans salute our independence heroes, Volunteer State's Irby Boyd of Memphis declares we neither appreciate the might of Davy Crockett, "who Tennessee loaned you briefly," nor do we have his history straight.

SAVED AGAIN

"For instance," says Boyd, "Tennesseans know that once when Halley's Comet got too close to his mountaineer neighbors, Davy climbed a peak near Chattanooga, twisted its tail, and ran it off. Also one winter got so cold that the sun got ice-jammed under the horizon and wouldn't come up. Davy saved the country again."

"He melted the ice with red hot grease he squeezed from a bear, oiled up the North and South Poles, and gave us a spin again. Then he cooked his bear-steak breakfast over a piece of raw sunshine he broke off during the fight."

"Davy admitted he was so ugly his grin would paralyze a bear. He had to be careful with that grin, for it would peel the bark right off a tree, which is how sycamores and maples happened. After forests learned this, whenever Davy walked through the woods, trees got out of his way, which is what cleared the right-of-way for U.S. 64 (east-west from Memphis). In Tennessee, this is the Crockett Highway."

TEXAS BRAGS

Boyd scoffs the notion that Davy Tell at Alamo. "He just grinned a hole through the wall and walked out. He had to get to San Jacinto to help his Tennessee neighbor Sam Houston. Now Sam knowingly put Davy in charge of those two cannon Cincinnati sent you; for old Davy just opened up with one grin, and half Santa Anna's arm surrendered."

What happened to Davy? "People got to calling him Pecos Bill in the West and Paul Bunyan, up North. Davy had left Texas because folks got on his nerves, bragging all the time.

"Texans should stop this, as well as claiming Tennessee see's hero," concludes Boyd, "unless, that is, you're willing to stick to Tennessee facts."

COMANCHE TRAIL

Lamesa's Ed A. Noret would like to hear from others of stories along the old Comanche Trail to Mexico. He traces a line roughly across the Red and line through via Matador, Christyton, Post, Lamesa, Fort Stockton, Marathon and from there down US 385 into Big Bend through Persimmon Gap, crossing the Rio Grande by old Presidio San Vicente, near Mariscal Canyon. Comanche rode it for fall raids during the time of the Mexican War.

"Our County (Dawson) had several Indian villages destroyed by Ranald Mackenzie's troops in the 1870's. I'd think there are stories all along it, for the trail has been used by humans as long as buffalo were here. I'd like to hear more of what happened down the trail."

PETRIFIED GIANT

Snyder's Mrs. Wayne Boren reports "remains of a giant petrified tree nearby in Scurry County, estimated possibly 300 feet tall." For Texas Forestry's list of notables, she also cites the county's "Witness Tree," a cement-encased stump in Snyder that was once early surveyor's corner, as well as a fallen, dead sycamore where buffalo hunter J. Wright Moor killed a rare white buffalo in 1876. (Note: Tallest redwood is 364 feet; Scurry seems to have a petrified giant.)

MAILBOX

Hallsville's Miss Jolene Jones: "OBT mentioned Marshall's old Confederate Capitol as possibly in a downtown hotel or nearby plantation. For my Harrison County research, I would appreciate any additional information." Bryan's Stuart Cole: "Can you tell me of a place called 'Indian Mounds'?" These are not the mounds on the Neches near Alto, but in Southwest Texas, I believe. (Note: Southwest are "Indian Mountains" in Brown, Burnet, Comanche and Edwards counties; north west, near Quanah, "Medicine Mounds." Need help, otherwise.) Lubbock's Dorothy Rylander: "We're trying to trace a Richard Dennis, a doctor in the Civil War. Dr. Dennis lived in Hood and Shackelford counties and was widely known, it seems, as the developer of 'Uncle Dick's Eye Water,' said to have been available in any Texas drug store." Pleasanton's Mrs. Steve Ridg-

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Leonard M. Bump dropped $1 while buying a pack of cigarettes in 1924. The anonymous finder returned it recently, plus $9 interest and a note that said: "I 22.52 picked it up and later spent it. My conscience has never stopped bothering me. I hope this $10 bill will cover principal, interest and inflation."

Dedication Speakers

Dedication For Marker Is Held

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Mitchell County Historical Society dedicated a historical marker to Lone Wolf Mountain Friday afternoon in a ceremony held at the southeast corner of the Lorraine Cemetery which lies five miles south of the mountain.

Dr. Bruce Johnson, Lorraine mayor, was speaker and said that the mountain was named for an Indian Chief, and told of the arrowheads found around the mountain by early day settlers.

Harvey Muns, Sweetwater, told of living near Lone Wolf Mountain from 1901 to 1920. In 1902, he said, two wagonloads of men, thought to be Indians from Oklahoma, camped on top of the mountain for about five days. When they left, he said, he and other Lorraine youths went to the mountain and found a large hole.

At the bottom of the hole, he said, the youths found the imprint of a solid object, such as a three legged round pot. Muns said that he and the other youths felt that the group had come there to retrieve buried treasure and had found it.

Mrs. Witt Hines, chairman of the Mitchell County Historical Society, told of the need to establish additional markers in the Lorraine area. Charley Thompson, Colorado City banker, who grew up in the Lorraine area, was master of ceremonies.

Three Criminal Trials Slated

Three cases were tentatively set for trial Monday in the 118th District Court at the sounding of a criminal jury docket Friday afternoon. No other trial dates were announced, but it was indicated several guilty pleas are planned and that possibly other cases will be set up for trial.

The cases slated for trial are John Lewis Christmas, indicted for burglary; Carol Ann Scaggs, charged with burglary; and W. C. Hendricks, worthless check.

Russell Williamson, charged with theft, and James R. Grant, charged with forgery, told Judge Ralph Caton they wanted to enter guilty pleas.

Case against Roy B. Broadwell, charged with burglary, was passed.

Candidate Speaks

Tom Rees (right) was among the 60 persons attending a reception for Lt. Gov. Preston Smith in Colorado City Friday afternoon. Smith spoke briefly on his gubernatorial aspirations on this stop of a swing through West Texas.

SASSY LITTLE PLANE IS MUCH IN DEMAND
O. D. Landrum trying to sell his Ercoupe

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Unique Plane, New Offices Are Added

By JERRY MONSON
It's a sassy little number. It's fast, it climbs right, and it lands so well it's best to let it have its own way.

The one O. D. Landrum of Big Spring Aero Repair has for sale now is a 1946 model, decked out with a spanking new coat of white paint, trimmed with red. It's a two-seater, equipped with rudder pedals, which the original Ercoupe did not have. Landrum also has another one which he is in the midst of fixing up.

The rebirth of interest in the Ercoupe has created a tremendous amount of activity in aviation. This plane, according to some aviation experts, was 20 years ahead of its time. It is a non-spin, stall-resistant craft, with a simple control system. The Ercoupe travels at a speed of 110 mph.

When new the sporty airplane sold for approximately $3,000. Today there is a lengthy list of accessories the luxury-minded pilot can purchase.

Although the firm manufacturing Ercoupes has been sold a number of times, Moonsey Aircraft at Kerrville now manufactures the planes. At one time, the City of Carlsbad, N. M., owned and produced them.

Remodeling has been completed at Howard County Airport in the offices of Big Spring Aircraft, according to Charles Noble, manager. A classroom has been added, and the lounge has been given a streamlined effect by moving the counter out about eight feet.

Margaret Skillern, a member of the Webb AFB Aero Club, passed her FAA flight check Monday and became a private pilot.

A chemical engineer, she worked in Midland for the past year while her husband was in pilot training at Webb. She left Tuesday for California to join him there.

1st Lt. Harold R. Gillenwaters took his family to Oklahoma last week in the Cessna 172.

Nina Thomas, daughter of M. Sgt. F. N. Thomas Jr., made her first solo flight in a Piper Cub Friday. Nina, 16, is being taught to fly by her father, who is an instructor for the club. She has been taking lessons since December and hopes to get her private pilot's license on her 17th birthday.

Sgt. Greg Taylor planned a trip to Lubbock and Carlsbad, N.M., today.

Up for Big Spring Aircraft during the week were Leon Anderson, Ralph Mahoney, Bob Wells, John Koettner, Carolyn Jones, H. Ernst, Rod Tuller, Mary Chancellor, Sam Dennis and Shelby Veazy.

Howard County had a few members logging flying time. They included Don Grigg, Joyce Green and the Rev. Byron Orland.

In the Two-Seven Whiskey Club plane, Rex Kennedy, Ray Hill, J. W. Parks and Charles Dodson flew.

Up for Big Spring Flying Club were Ronnie Howard, J. R. Hammond, Don Baker, Glenn Coates and Tom Williams.

Trans-Texas Airways boarded 201 passengers in February, down 63 passengers from one year ago.

The local office reported 191 departing passengers; 5,857 pounds of freight, 3,620 pounds of mail, and 296 pounds of express handled.

According to Dean Berry, station manager, all airline fares have gone to the nearest dollar, as of Friday, March 1.

In other words, if the fare totaled $25.36, Berry said, the charge would be $25.

He also said that the airline's "first-time rider" policy had been extended to expire May 30.

Under this privilege, anyone who has not ridden on T-TA before may fly anywhere in the T-TA system for $25 round-trip. The plan was originally to expire March 31.

THE WEEK

... (who visited here on... of his announcement... was back to visit supporters and tell why he believed he could best do the job.

Several raids were conducted during the week, largely on the strength of work by a Liquor Control Board undercover agent. Most of the places hit were the outlying bistros. Several private clubs were reported tightening up "guest" regulations.

With former presidents (who had from experience a first-hand knowledge of the importance of the Chamber of Commerce) leading, the current membership enlistment has pushed the total to 511 and has accounted for $5,200 new revenue. The cleanup is expected to add considerable to this, giving the Chamber a little financial trans-... (Photo by Frank Brandon)

Who can blame Col. George Franks for having tears in his eyes when he saw the flag come down for the last time as an officer Thursday? There were a few in the eyes of his friends, who turned out in large numbers to wish him godspeed as he returned to private life.

The Jack & Jill school is having open house today, and one of the things people may inspect, is a carpeted outdoor playground. If this works out, it may be more expensive, but in our book a lot better looking than river rocks for ungrassed yard areas.

That on-again, off-again routine for the past quarter century may be on one of its "on" cycles. The U.S. Corps of Engineers announced it had asked for funds and authority to proceed with the Beal's Creek drainage problem which affects Big Spring.

The sudden death of James Little, an attorney in Big Spring for more than 40 years, came as a shock to his many friends. As a fledgling reporter, we learned many things from him, including not only many important points of law but also how to learn from experience instead of blowing up.

This is a busy beauty season. HCJC just completed its annual contest with Miss Sidney Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred I. Carr, winning the title. The Jaycees are having their Miss Texas eliminations this weekend with 11 contestants in the senior division and 20 in the junior division.

Winter continued its frigid pulsations, but each blast seems just a little weaker than the

Committee Agrees On Cotton Program Changes

LUBBOCK — The legislative committee of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. has reached general agreement on support for an extension of the current cotton program with refinements or modifications recommended on eight points.

W. L. Edelman, Friona, committee chairman, emphasized that this was subject to review by the full 48-man PCG board of directors.

The current cotton program, included in the Agriculture Act of 1965, expires with the 1969 crop year. But the agriculture committees of both houses of Congress have announced that hearings will be held in 1968.

The eight points outlined by the committee as major provisions that need to be in an extended program are:

- 1) Protection of producer net income;
- 2) Protection against the imposition of individual program benefit limitations at any level;
- 3) a more equitable procedure for determining projected yields;
- 4) elimination or modification of the current program's small farm (10 acres or less or 3600 pound projected yield or below) provisions.

- 5) A "total market" concept as opposed to the "domestic market" concept now in effect;
- 6) liberalization of allotment sale and lease provisions;
- 7) a continuation of the 16 million acre legal minimum allotment and realistic efforts toward domestic and export consumption that will lead to a return to production from 16 million acres or more; and
- 8) adequate flexibility to allow production volume adjustments, either up or down, to keep in line with domestic and export market needs.

Disaster Experts 'Bank' Proposed

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Dr. Robert S. Ayre and J. E. Hass propose that a "world bank" of disaster experts be formed so that relief operations can be organized within hours of a natural catastrophe. They made the recommendation after touring earthquake-ravaged Sicily.

one before. In general, this had a beneficial effect in holding back fruit trees, although a few foolish apricots and peaches were breaking into bloom. A light thundershower brought the year's total rain to three inches. In some fields farmers have not yet been able to get in and finish plowing.

What was feared came true for Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Holguin, 1202 N. Gregg. They were notified that their son, Spec. 5 Israel Holguin, 20, reported missing Feb. 5 in Vietnam, is now listed as killed in action. Pic-jerry L. Henson, son of Leman Henson, Stanton, was wounded in Vietnam when his vehicle hit a land mine.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kaderli, widely known Stanton couple, were killed in a car mishap on US 80 some three miles east of Stanton a week ago. Mr. Kaderli came to Stanton in 1904 and she in 1906.

We had a Leap Year baby contest, but no babies arrived. Probably our fault; the contest was sort of jumped up, so who could anticipate it in time?

 Robert R. "Mac" McKinney, longtime Legion member

Anniversary Is Special For 'Mr. Mac'

By JERRY MONSON
 For Robert R. McKinney, the American Legion's Golden Anniversary Year has a special meaning.

Just over 50 years ago, he joined the U.S. Navy to help fight in World War I. He returned to civilian life in 1920 but was recalled in 1942 for a tour of the Pacific theatre where he served in Naval Intelligence, working in operations so secret that even today he cannot reveal some of his experiences in the Sino-American Cooperative Organization.

SACO was an elite, top-secret outfit, disbanded after the war, a joint project commanded by Chinese officials and the late Adm. Milton E. Miles.

In World War I, he served in the European theatre, stationed on the ship Walter D. Munson out of New York Harbor. He took his boot camp training at Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

He thought his service to his country was over, but when World War II broke out and he was recalled, he was able to get the age requirement waived so he could serve in Naval Intelligence. For 21 months he served as a guerrilla in China, a member of the storbook forerunners to the "green berets" of today's Vietnam war. It was his group, through their actions, that led to the deaths of 46,000 Japanese without losing one of their own men. Eventually, McKinney lost his hearing, working so closely with demolitions experts.

He can remember boiling pork fat to lubricate the ancient trucks; the corps had and then paying $20 for a gallon of gas. "Mr. Mac" was one of the Post Office's most beloved mailmen for many years. He delivered mail in the Webb AFB housing addition and because of his service career, felt a special empathy with those who were stationed there.

He has received numerous commendations and citations from service organizations and has held almost every office in the Legion, where he is a charter member, the Disabled American-Veterans and the World War I Barracks. He also is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. In 1967 he received the Legion's distinguished service to veterans award, which reads, "to Robert R. McKinney for valorous service to his country in two wars, for his concern for veterans and his unflagging loyalty to the programs of the American Legion."

"Mac" received the DAV National Membership Honor Award in 1960-1961 and has also been awarded several DAV distinguished service citations. He has over 1,750 hours as a Veterans Administration Hospital volunteer.

The son of Robert H. and Alice McKinney, he was born in Pottawatomie County, Okla. The family moved to Texas when "Mac" was six months old. His father died when the boy was only a year old, and his mother died in 1947.

He and his wife, Isa, were married just before he enlisted in the Navy in 1917. They reside at 1411 Eleventh Place and have two daughters, Mrs. Roy C. Ponder, Oklahoma City, and Mrs. Jerry Smiley of New Jersey, and a son, Robert McKinney, who lives near Dallas. There are also seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

OPEN HOUSES PLANNED

Public School Week Opens

Texas Public School Week is being observed in Big Spring schools Monday through Friday with open house and special events. Emphasis is on parent visitation.

This marks the 18th year of the special week, and in proclaiming it, Gov. John Connally said "our goal is to make Texas public schools the finest in the nation. To achieve this our citizens are urged to take an active interest in the school system. Never before in our history has there been a greater need for educated leadership."

Letters have gone from Supt. S. M. Anderson to all patrons. In the invitation to visit, Supt. Anderson noted that "what we achieve in the next generation depends on the kind of education and training our children and youth receive now. The importance of education today is not debatable; it is a fact. Our job is to see that this generation gets the best possible education we can give them."

Friday is not included in the schedule because it is the day of the district teacher convention; also Student Government Day.

Goliad Junior High, which did not have its autumn parents' night because of construction, will observe it Tuesday from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. There will be selections by the band under Russell McKiski and the choir under Mrs. Susan Dawes. After the invocation by Glenn Faison, Sammy Chappell will lead the pledge of allegiance, and Mike Adams, student council president, will give the welcome. S. A. Walker, principal, will present faculty members, the director of cafeteria, athletics, etc., and then teachers will go to their rooms where parents may visit them. Student Council will serve refreshments in the cafeteria.

Senior high school is staging conducted tours each morning beginning at 10 a.m. at the auditorium. These terminate at 11 a.m. and patrons are invited to eat in the cafeteria (plate fee—50 cents). Parking spaces will be available on lots off Benton Street between Eleventh and Twelfth Street. The tours, it was emphasized, will start promptly.

Observing special evening programs in addition to daily visitation will be:
 MOSS — Tuesday 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.; also P-TA meeting.
 BOYDSTUN — Tuesday 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. open house; refreshments by P-TA.

CEDAR CREST — Thursday 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.; also P-TA.
 WASHINGTON — Tuesday 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.; P-TA and faculty hosts.
 AIRPORT — Tuesday 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.; P-TA hosts.
 PARK HILL — Tuesday 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. open house; P-TA will serve refreshments.
 KENTWOOD — Tuesday 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m., open house; also P-TA.
 LAKEVIEW — Tuesday open house 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

COLLEGE HEIGHTS (with open house 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. Thursday, P-TA to serve refreshments, special programs and displays).

Construction Shows Decline

AUSTIN (AP) — Construction permits in Texas rose nearly $26 million during January but still showed a small decline when adjusted for normal seasonal variations.

The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said January building authorizations totaled $154.5 million, compared with $128.9 million in December and $109.7 million the previous January.

Seasonally adjusted, however, the Texas building construction index dipped 3 per cent from December but was 40 per cent higher than in January, 1967. The sag from December in the total authorizations rate reflected a decline of 17 per cent in the seasonally adjusted index of residential authorizations.

WHEN ARE CHILDREN TOO SICK FOR SCHOOL?

Each child has his own pattern of illness. There should be no absolute rules, but the usually healthy child should stay home: 1) if feverish; 2) if symptoms such as headaches, drowsiness, runny nose, nausea, diarrhea are sufficiently severe to be disabling; 3) if it is likely to disturb others in the class; 4) if it is impossible, due to his ailment, for him to profit from school.

There is no reason, except for rare medical contra-indications, for a child to be in school without immunological protection from the available vaccines.

March 29 Deadline Set For Picking Champions

Big Spring city schools which are to have representatives in the Howard County Sixth Annual Spelling Bee on April 13 have been advised by Keith Swin, coordinator of the bee in the system, to have their champion and alternate speller named by March 29.

Younger Sister Seeking To Win School Contest

By SAM BLACKBURN
In 1967, the runner-up for the championship of the Howard County Spelling Bee was Susan Sulak, then a student at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic School. She came close to winning the county title which was awarded to David Robertson of Gollad Junior High School.

Susan, the daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Sylvester Sulak, 4200 Parkway, is now in Big Spring High School and no longer eligible to compete in the spelling bee. Sylvia Sulak, 12, is Susan's younger sister, and she is still a student at the Immaculate Heart of Mary School. Last year, Sylvia tried hard and wound up in fourth place in her school elimination. She was a staunch rooter for Susan at the county bee. She is a sixth grader.

Now Sylvia is out to take the title of champion speller of Immaculate Heart of Mary. She began studying for the event even before it was formally started. The other day, she showed up in the office of Sister Catherine, principal of the school, to get a new edition of the "Words of Champions," the official list of words used in the spelling bee at all levels.

She has just about worn out the copy of the words that was in service in 1967. There's really not too much difference in the lists, she says, but she needed a new book.

Sylvia has her work cut out for her. Sister Catherine warned. Nearly a third of her schoolmates in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades at Immaculate Heart of Mary are also out to grab the school championship and go to the county bee.

Sister Catherine said that plans are being drafted for the school elimination spelling bee to determine the championship.

Minor Accident

Only one minor accident was reported to police Friday evening. The cars of Odie Lee Donney, Gail Route, and Hugh Bowen Edmondson, Westbrook, collided at Third and Birdwell.

Water District Directors To Meet In Odessa

In one of those rare occasions when board meetings are held at a place other than headquarters in Big Spring, the Colorado River Municipal Water District directors will convene Thursday, March 14, in Odessa.

The session will be held at 10:30 a.m. in the First State Bank in Odessa in deference to Charles Perry, president, who is recovering from a spine fracture some three months ago.

Among the items of business to be considered are the bids and award of contract for channel dam pumps for the Mitchell County low-water diversion works on the Colorado River, and for the filter plant for Humble Oil Company, adjacent to the Robert Lee reservoir.

If the district's application for a permit for side storage in connection with the diversion works is approved by the Texas Water Development Board on Thursday, then the board may set a date for construction of dam and the low-water channel and the levy for the 2,500 acre-foot side storage. This project is designed to trap the normal low flow and the initial flush of the river contents which are highly mineralized. This is to upgrade the quality of water downstream in the new Robert Lee reservoir.

Grant Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Office of Education has approved a $737,950 grant to the Texas Education Agency for a program to aid handicapped children.

Council To Meet Monday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations announced Saturday the Security Council will meet at 11 a.m. Monday for further debate on South Africa's sentencing of 33 South-West African nationalists. Diplomatic sources said Friday night seven council members had asked for the meeting so that Pakistani Ambassador Agha Shahi could introduce a resolution they are sponsoring. The seven are Algeria, Brazil, Ethiopia, India, Pakistan, Paraguay and Senegal. The resolution, circulated last Monday, would commit the council to take "effective measures" against South Africa if she does not free the prisoners, sentenced Feb. 9 as convicted terrorists.

Like Women For Wrong Reasons

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Men like women—there's no doubt about that—but for the wrong reason, says Eunice Clarke, director of the Multipurpose Training Center at Temple University. Mrs. Clarke, in an interview at a conference of the status of women, said Friday men just can't regard women as emancipated people who have as much right to go out in the world in search of their fortunes as men. "There is still a higher value placed on a woman's sex appeal than on her brain," said Mrs. Clarke.

Unions To Support Yarborough's Bid

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — The Texas AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) endorsed Don Yarborough of Houston for governor as expected Saturday and recommended its members support Rep. Don Gladden of Fort-Worth for lieutenant governor. There was no opposition to the Yarborough endorsement but the weaker statement of support for Gladden was a compromise agreed upon in a closed session of the executive board in the final hours of the three-day convention. Gladden had hoped and worked for a full endorsement but he accepted the compromise with good grace as did AFL-CIO President H. S. Brown, who favored no endorsement in the lieutenant governor race. The board's agreement later was ratified without dissent by the convention and avoided a possible floor fight. The principal difference between a full endorsement and a recommendation of support apparently is money. COPE will supply immediate financial support to help Yarborough's campaign and to the legislative and congressional races which have priority. Gladden would get assistance if there are any funds left. However, individual delegates started a campaign collection for Gladden when the convention adjourned. Brown had argued for no endorsement in the lieutenant governor's race on the grounds that labor had a better chance to win the governor's race and elect some friendly legislators if it did not spread itself too thin. Gladden was given an ovation when he was escorted to the platform to address the convention after the compromise was announced. He told the delegates it would have been "difficult and harmful" to thrash out the issue on the floor and he did not want to cause a division in labor. "I have approved the report of the executive board," he said. "I have no objection to it, and I ask you unanimously approve it." A few minutes later this was done. The report said, "We propose that we endorse Don Yarborough for governor. And we further recommend support for our friend Don Gladden for lieutenant governor." Brown told newsmen after adjournment he thought Gladden was in better shape to obtain votes because the floor fight was avoided. "It was not that I was opposed to supporting Don Gladden, but it was a matter of priority," he said. He said Gladden will get the full support of the Texas AFL-CIO and all its affiliates in his race against House Speaker Ben Barnes.

THERE ARE MEN TODAY PLANNING FOR IT

Is The Good Life Around The Corner?

By JOSEPH E. NOBBAT
Associated Press Writer

In a flash of geologic time, the 21st century—the third millennium—will be upon us.

Will it bring the good life for Americans? There are men today planning for it.

Will it be unbearably crowded and clogged? The same planners fear it, but have ideas for avoiding it.

There probably will be men from earth on the moon 50 years hence. But will it be easier to make that journey than to commute to work, or to visit a dying relative halfway across the land?

WILL WE?

There will be technicians with computers capable of the most ingenious innovations. But will their children have ready access to the ABCs of human knowledge? Will we breathe clean air, drink good water, boast good health?

Or will technology, moon-gear and missile-oriented, leave man, in his everyday existence, lagging far behind?

For a glimpse into that world, the 50-year-old American Institute of Planners called recently for the ideas of respected authorities—not in housing, transportation, finance and the arts.

The responses produced some intriguing previews of a 21st century America that, for technology and gadgetry, would make Buck Rogers feel like a relic of the horse and buggy age.

But they also raised some problems of enormous potential that must be surmounted, if life in the new century is to be worth living at all.

To the extent that the future is predictable, a fairly believable portrait of the next half century emerges from a blending of the ideas of these scholars and planners.

Their composite view: By the year 2020 the population of the United States, now 200 million, will be about 350 million. About 80 per cent of the population will be living in vast metropolitan areas.

Four huge "megalopolitan" regions will contain 60 per cent of the people on less than 8 per cent of the land. These giant complexes will be in Florida, California; along the lower Great Lakes and the Atlantic seaboard—with the last two possibly blending into one gigantic megalopolis.

One pessimistic view is that unless enormous advances are made, the homes of these millions will be little different from today's. City planner Charles Abrams cautioned: "If present trends are any guide, the United States should have put houses on the moon long before it has given all its families decent communities on its own soil. The disparity between house cost and income will show no sign of abating."

ROSIER

But a rosier view, also put forth by Abrams, envisions automation and nuclear power yielding tremendous benefits to man in his quest for suitable shelter. Picture thousands of self-contained new towns in the countryside: fully equipped, capsule rooms to be bought in department stores, sonic cleaning devices and air filtering systems banishing dirt; computerized, microwave ovens automatically mixing ingredients from preselected recipes.

Or helicopters whirling above, hauling geodesic domes to distant sites, where they will be tacked to the ground complete with utilities: compact sewage systems converting dishwater to pure drinking water. But achievement of these dreams may require a federal agency to do the long-range planning, buy the land directly, arrange for its use, and turn it over to the private sector.

FORESEES

As planner Abrams foresees it: "As more and more people move into the metropolitan regions, the competition for land will stiffen, the traffic flow slow to a halt, and the general problem of getting around, finding a bit of open space, breathing good air and getting good drinking water will move up as public concerns. We shall have to build as many structures of all kinds as we have built since our earliest immigrants moved from their hillside dugouts."

Transportation expert Max L. Feldman, peering into the next 50 years, looks for the development of "at least one high-speed, long-distance transportation mode," and high-speed systems carrying air travelers from all major airports to connections with local traffic distribution systems.

"At least one east-west and two north-south automatic highways should be guiding and controlling individual passenger vehicles speeding from coast to coast and border to border. Freight should be moving through at least one completed, continuous freight system that completely separates freight from people."

City traffic threatens to become so clogged as to change drastically some long-accepted values, Feldman said. "For example, extreme freedom, the ability of people to go where they want to, when they want to, in their own vehicles by the route of their own choosing, will eventually have to be limited in order to prevent the complete collapse of urban circulating systems and save the cities themselves."

RESULT

The result: possibly a general acceptance of more expensive, but also more satisfactory, communications devices, such as visual phones.

For international travel, Feldman looks forward to development of a low-fare sky bus. "The jet set will be outnumbered and overshadowed by a great horde of middle-class people from all nations exploring their world. More people will learn to understand people of other lands."

By the year 2000, as Feldman envisions it, "the larger U. S. cities may have converted completely to electric transportation, and several completely new cities should have been built incorporating the most recently developed transportation systems and offering maximum convenience."

In those great cities, when the private automobile passes from the scene, public transportation might even be free. Those who hunger for time off from work may take heart from the forecast of political scientist Sebastian de Grazia that the average work week, by the year 2000, will average 31 hours, and perhaps as few as 21. Twenty years later, "on-the-job hours" may have dwindled to 26, or even 16.

CHEERY

But what will people do with all that free time? The outlook may not be cheery.

As De Grazia sees it: "There is reason to fear, as some do, that free time, forced free time, will bring on the restless tuck of boredom, idleness, immorality, and increased personal violence. If the cause is identified as automation and the preference for higher intelligence, nonautomated jobs may increase, but they will carry the stigma of stupidity. Men will prefer not to work rather than to accept them. Those who do accept will increasingly come to be a politically inferior class."

One possible solution: a separation of income from work;

perhaps a guaranteed annual wage to provide "the wherewithal for a life of leisure for all those who think they have the temperament."

To accommodate the new age of leisure, "the city has to be turned into a place for (man) to live in and enjoy, rather than a place for him to escape from to restore his senses." Educator Robert M. Hutchins sees a movement away from the theory of education aimed at meeting the manpower needs of society. "An educational system that aims at manpower rather than manhood will not suffice. As the rate of technological change is accelerated, it will become clear that, almost by necessity, training for a job will have to be given on the job or immediately beforehand. Education takes time, and job requirements can change in no time at all."

EULL LIFE

Hutchins envisions an educational system geared not to "a limited, partial life," but "to prepare for a full life for all."

"A six-year elementary school, a three-year high school, and a three-year college should suffice to give everybody a basic, liberal education. Only those students interested in and qualified for independent study should go on to the university."

A technological revolution in education, Hutchins said, "may go so far as to dissolve the institutions we have known. Imagine a learning center in every home. Its components might be a telephone, a TV set, and a console. Teachers might go from house to house like visiting nurses. The bulk of the instruction and examinations would be handled by computers. The safest course will be to turn over to the machines the task of training and informing, thus relieving teachers for the work of education."

The university, in Hutchins' view, must become a center of independent thought and criticism, geared to the intellect, abandoning irrelevant activities, such as intercollegiate athletics.

A foretaste of the potential contributions of science to 21st century man's physical well-being came from John R. Platt of the University of Michigan's Mental Health Research Institute.

Wouldn't it be possible, he wondered, to regenerate a cut-off finger or hand, instead of just regenerating a bit of skin tissue over the stump?

Lobsters can regenerate claws. Perhaps the ability to do this is simply turned off in higher organisms, who knows? Perhaps it was an evolutionary defense against the unwanted proliferation of cells that we call cancer. But perhaps it might be turned on again by some application of embryonic fluids or tissue inducers."

Pervading the thoughts of most of the planners is the fundamental question: whether space-age technology will end up being man's master or his servant. David T. Bazelon, writer and social critic, taking the pessimistic viewpoint, contended: "Technology does not change society; it destroys it." But August Heckscher, public official and author, sees possible salvation in the hippies of today.

FAD

"It is easy," Heckscher told his fellow planners, "to dismiss the hippies as one more fad, a new and passing phase in the dialogue between generations which has always existed."

"But no serious prophet should disregard the other possibility—that they represent the beginning of a withdrawal from the values and concepts which have dominated the Western world for more than five centuries. They may be the beginning of an antitechnological movement which will slow down the mindless pursuit of technological change carried out for its own sake, without concern for the human values which it supposedly serves."

Show Life Raw, Real

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Underground film, once limited to Greenwich Village and film festivals, now has extended its influence from Hollywood to Rome and from university campuses to respectable movie houses.

The Underground film, most authorities agree, denotes movies usually produced with a minimum budget and a disregard for the normal conventions of film making. Most have been made in New York.

HUSH-HUSH

The term "Underground" came into use about five years ago because the films often were made and released in a hush-hush manner—to avoid police prosecution. That is another common element of the Underground film: a disregard for the restraints of a moralistic society.

Some critics have attacked Underground film makers for allegedly purveying sex, nudity and foul language to appeal to audiences' lower instincts.

Nonsense, say the Undergrounders: they are merely showing life as it is—raw and real.

Regardless of motives, they no longer need to operate underground. Recent rulings of the United States Supreme Court have wiped out virtually all state and local film censorship.

Almost anything goes, as exemplified by two recent releases in midtown Manhattan: "Portrait of Jason," directed and edited by Shirley Clarke, an Underground film pioneer. The film, a two-hour soliloquy by a male Negro prostitute who recalls past orgies in explicit, style, was applauded at the recent New York Film Festival in Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts.

Underground films might be dismissed as prurient trash except for their increasing acceptance by segments of the intellectual community in this country and abroad. At Arizona State University a campus theater ran Underground films every Saturday at midnight, usually to sellout audiences.

Other universities and art museums regularly offer festivals of Underground movies. Within two years, the number of theater outlets for Underground films has risen from a handful to 100.

The profit-making possibilities are apparent. Jonas Mekas' "The Brig" was filmed in one night at a cost of $1,000, and has grossed $20,000. Andy Warhol's "Chelsea Girls" already has taken in more than $200,000; expenses on the film were $2,000.

But the Underground filmsters claim to be more concerned with aesthetics than commerce, and they argue that their techniques have had a far-reaching influence.

Chief spokesman for the movement is Jonas Mekas, born 44 years ago in Lithuania and in recent years a lecturer, propagandist, organizer and producer of Underground films.

"There can be no doubt that the Underground film has since 1960 exercised a profound influence on the making of commercial films," said Mekas. He cited these developments: the freeing of the camera from a tripod; use of nonactors and improvisational actors; use of under- and over-exposure of film.

Some outsiders take a less euphoric view. Commented a veteran reporter for a trade paper: "How long have Underground movies been around?—About 10 years. And they still haven't gotten very far. Andy Warhol is the only one who has made any money out of them."

"Maybe some individual film makers may come out of the movement. But then they'll go off to Hollywood, and their attitudes will change when they make the big time."

The theater owner and film distributor, Walter Reade Jr., has distributed only one Underground film, "Crazy Quilt," which drew "modest returns." Reade feels Undergrounders might develop a fair-sized market, but he cautioned: "Before that happens, they will have to stop cheating. To be accepted by a wide audience, a film requires preparation, rehearsals and a degree of writing. They need more experience, more discipline in their thinking."

NOT INTERESTED

"They've been getting by too easily by exploiting nudity and perversion. They think that works. There has always been a part of the public that seeks the prurient, but it is a small percentage, and I'm not interested in that kind of audience."

Perhaps the most promising aspect of the underground movement is the stimulation it has provided for young film-makers. Mekas said that when he lectures at universities he often gives the students an 8mm movie camera. Invariably the students produce and send to him their own Underground movies.

Campaign To Aid GIs

Mrs. Beverly Lasher of Arlington watches as a rifle expert gets ready to put the Army M16 rifle through tests. Mrs. Lasher, whose son, Rick, was killed in Vietnam, has been conducting her own campaign to get a different kind of cleaning solvent sent to GIs in Vietnam.

Tiny Texan Influenced Second Look At M16 Rifle

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP)—A remarkable story surrounds a tiny Texas widow who, without wealth or power, has influenced Congress to take a new look at the M16 rifle.

She is Mrs. Beverly Lasher, who last August lost her 20-year-old son, Spec. 4 Rick Lasher, in combat in Vietnam.

MINE

Rick died when he stepped on a mine while fighting with the 9th Infantry Division.

His death had nothing to do with the M16.

But he had written home many times asking for a different kind of non-military cleaning solvent and oil for the M16—for himself and his buddies. She sent both.

When Rick was killed, Mrs. Lasher decided to battle for the living in Vietnam.

First she started the Rick Lasher Memorial Fund with Rick's savings. She bought a solvent and sent it to fighting men in Vietnam who had asked for it to use in their M16s, which they said were jamming in combat.

Next, she took her plea to Congress.

"The gun oil and solvent sent these boys in Vietnam isn't working for the M16," she wrote her congressmen.

"I have hundreds of letters from boys in all branches of the service. I have documentary proof that the M16 is a good rifle, with a few flaws, but the solvent and oil supplied our men isn't what the M16's designer recommended. . . it is too greasy."

At first, she got letters bound in red tape, some of them from the Pentagon.

But Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., took up her cause.

And about the same time, the House Armed Services Committee appointed Rep. Thomas Morris of New Mexico to head a subcommittee to investigate the M16.

Mrs. Lasher told her story to the Star-Telegram and The Associated Press.

Morris read a story in a Washington newspaper about Mrs. Lasher and her campaign.

She flooded his office with her "proof"—much of it quotes from letters from men of all ranks in Vietnam.

Suddenly, all of the VVL500 gun oil was withdrawn from Vietnam. New specifications called for M146000A, which Mrs. Lasher says is a good lubricant.

"I have this one letter from a boy who wrote of being under heavy fire when his M16 jammed. He skimmed off grease from a can of ham and lima beans in his C-rations and used it as lubricant, knowing it wasn't good for the gun but might save his life. It did," reported Mrs. Lasher.

"I have no ax to grind, except to see that our youngsters fighting over there have the proper lubricants for that M16—which I am convinced is a good weapon."

Morris' subcommittee recommended modification and retesting of the M16. Retesting began in Panama in January under conditions simulating Vietnam.

Meanwhile, Rep. Wright of Fort Worth said the Armed Services Committee "believes the lubricant problem has pretty well been solved."

HAPPY

And Mrs. Lasher is happy. "I don't seek the spotlight," she said. "Just results. Just knowing those boys have a fighting chance. We can't pick our weapons and their oil and solvent on a cost factor basis. It means their lives," she said.

The widow, a 52, 95-pound secretary who supports her two other children, Kevin, 8, and Maureen, 13, is impressed with Congress.

"We live in an era of big government," she said. "It is refreshing to know Congress does listen to those of us who are unimportant and unimportant."

By BROOKS KELLER
GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—A portrait of a child who is vulnerable to fire looks like this:

His mother is working or preoccupied with a new child he's curious and active enough to explore the little cans of gasoline his dad makes fires bigger with, he lives in a crowded and often new or unfamiliar house.

SECONDS

And, typically, he or she is wearing flammable clothing which can become an envelope of fire within seconds.

Researchers at the Shriners Burns Institute here are exploring the factors of fire tragedies, hoping to find clues to fires that will alert parents and help prevent future catastrophes.

The institute has concentrated on pulling youngsters through the critical stage of injury and then reconstructing their bodies. One requirement of admission to the institute is inability to pay for such extensive treatment.

Of 300 cases studied involving severe burns in children aged from 1 to 14 years, flammable liquids caused 24.7 per cent of the fires. Of these victims, 59 were boys and 12 were girls.

Mrs. Ruth DeVerter, a sociologist at the institute, says boys are naturally adventurous and quick to imitate their fathers. Often the imitating ends tragically when gasoline, kerosene, paint thinners, cleaning fluids, turpentine and charcoal fire starters are within their grasp.

The second most common cause of burns among the institute's sample of 300 was an open flame indoors such as a fireplace or floor space heater. Girls were more susceptible with 46 cases treated compared with 11 boy victims.

Judy Ann Welford, 8, of Lucedale, Miss., for instance, wore a long flannel nightgown when she got too near a heater and was enveloped in flames. Help arrived quickly but she had been burned over 70 per cent of her body.

Darla Diane Hansen, 4, of Elk Horn, Iowa, was in a similar gown when she caught fire while playing with matches.

Both girls had about a five per cent chance of survival when brought to the Shriners Burns Institute. Their lives were in balance for months. The crisis passed, for them, and after a half dozen skin graft and other reconstructive operations they should mature into normal young women.

Other patients die or lose a limb from the burns.

The researchers are unanimous in urging that all clothing should be made non-flammable, by legal action if needed. Few garments of today are safe from fire, although the technical knowledge of fireproofing is widespread.

Scalds, the third cause of severe burns, usually happen to children 3 years or under.

A mother carrying a pot of boiling liquid trips over a child underfoot. An older child may be told to draw the baby's bath water and forgets to mix cold with hot water. There are other typical patterns, researchers say.

Open heater or fireplace accounted for 19 per cent of the burns among the 300 patients. Scalds were 18 per cent; playing with matches, 9.7 per cent; trash and other outdoor fires, 9 per cent; explosions, 5 per cent; house fires, 4.6 per cent; playing with kitchen stoves, 3.3 per cent; electrical, 1.7 per cent; chemical burns, 1.7 per cent; and miscellaneous causes, 2.7 per cent.

Mrs. Katherine Raines, a teacher and researcher at the institute, said a typical institute victim comes from a rural family.

She said the mother is apt to be working away from home or caring for a new baby or invalid. A recurring factor was the lack of familiarity with surroundings, such as a new apartment or the house of a relative.

Family disruptions such as a father a way from home occurred frequently.

SIMILARITIES

"When I first began to chat with these children, I was struck by the similarities in their situations," Mrs. Raines said. "So many were living in new homes, so few were the oldest child in the family."

"Where certain of these conditions exist together, you can almost say it's an accident if this kind of tragedy doesn't happen," said Mrs. DeVerter.

THE ARTS

Art Shows Announced

By WINNIE UNGER
 Every day brings more announcements of spring art shows, regional and state-wide, and painters and sculptors who want to enter all of them are in serious trouble if they haven't accumulated a backlog of works through the winter to use as entries.

Latest word comes from the College of Artesia, N. M., announcing a May 5 deadline for an all-water color exhibit. Painters from adjoining states and Mexico are invited to submit two entries each, at $2 per entry, which must be framed but not glazed due to shipping hazards. The show will run through mid-June.

Peter Hurd will collaborate with professors William Rakocy and Chester Kwiecinski of the college's art department to select winners of the $500 in prizes.

The cultural affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce recently reorganized, with Mrs. E. H. Boulhoun Jr. as chairman. The group adopted several projects for the year, including "Week in the Park" activities tentatively scheduled for July 7-14, and the "Let Freedom Ring" observance July 4. The committee plans to make an effort to get a museum started and to study possibility for a cultural community center.

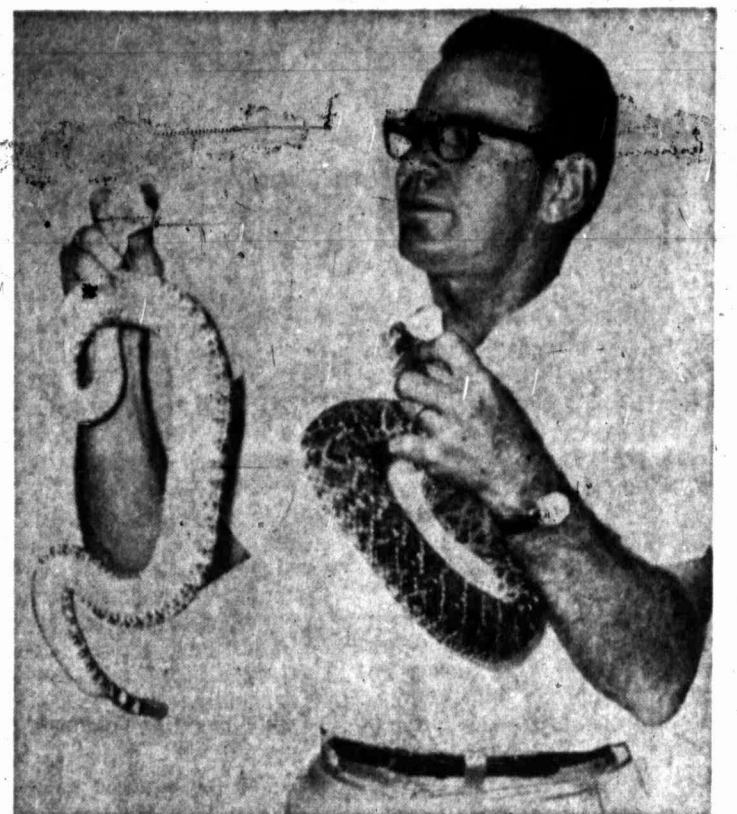

Fresh from sponsorship of the first All-School Sing here Saturday evening, the Big Spring High School choir has a busy month ahead. On the 16th, the cappella, freshman-sophomore, and girls choirs will be at the district contests in Odessa, Permian. On the 21st, the choir sings for the district meeting of the Order of Eastern Star here. March 28 will see the University of Texas madrigal singers here for a noon program in the choir room. The following day the choir will sing for the American Business Club at the Settles.

The band will be pointing for the contests April 6 at Midland. Lee, Bill Bradley will take both his concert band and his symphonic band to participate. Judging will be on concert playing and on sight reading.

The Ford Foundation has approved a grant of $360,000 to the American Symphony Orchestra League over a five-year period to strengthen the services of the league to its member orchestras.

With the expanding interest in the arts on the part of foundations and business communities, and governmental participation at city, state and federal levels, there is increasing demand by the orchestras for information and guidelines that relate their goals and problems to national economic and community development data.

The American Symphony Orchestra League, founded 25 years ago, is a non-profit service, research and educational membership association of symphony orchestras of the United States and Canada. Its headquarters is Symphony Hill, P.O. Box 66, Vienna, Va., 22180, and is the first national park to be devoted to the performing arts—the Wolf Trap Farm Park.

Famed Snake Handler Here Soon

Bill Ransberger, expert snake handler, demonstrates how, when a rattler strikes, his fangs are straight out and his lower jaw is straight down.

Ransberger To Be Back For Round-Up

Bill Ransberger, professional snake handler who was bitten severely in last year's Big Spring Rattlesnake Round-Up, will be on hand again this year to give lectures, milk snakes, and show on-lookers how to handle the slithering reptiles.

Ransberger, who has said he plans to retire after his last hunt in Coleman March 29-31, was hospitalized for five days here in serious condition from a bite inflicted by one of the rattlers last year. He is now allergic to the horse serum used to combat the snake venom and it would be dangerous for him to continue working after this spring.

Ransberger has been bitten only five times during his 10 years of snake handling, eight of which have been as a professional handler. Oddly enough, three of those times have been in Big Spring.
 Last year he milked 6,000 snakes for venom which was donated for medical research at colleges and Army research centers. He points out that every part of the snake may be used, from the heads which decorate belt buckles to the gall bladder, which has been used since ancient times by the Orientals for a cough syrup.

Acri Announces Plans For Commission Race

Eddie Acri, office manager and co-owner of Family Money Service Inc. of Big Spring, announced Saturday that he will be a candidate for city commissioner in the April 2 election.

Acri came to Big Spring with the Air Force when Webb AFB was activated in 1951. While stationed here he met and married the former Miss Mary Alice Rutherford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rutherford. They have two children, Frank Edward, student in Goliad Junior High and Veronica Gay, pupil at Kentwood Elementary. They are members of the First Presbyterian Church.

"Since I came to Big Spring 17 years ago I have seen the city grow from 17,000 to an estimated 35,000. I have seen a lot of progress, but as in most cities, there always is more work to be done for the people. We have a drainage problem in the city; in some parts we need sidewalks; we need street lighting; we need paving on many streets and repaving on some others. Our municipal golf course is in need of a new golf shop because more golfers are using the course. In the near future Big Spring will be ready for a coliseum, which will add to the income of our city.
 "I am in favor of keeping experienced police officers in Big Spring, but in most cases we lose them due to the salary paid by our city. I have known some police officers and city firemen to have to work two jobs to make a living. Nor am I overlooking employees in our other departments when talking about salaries. I favor spending our tax dollars in Big Spring because working people and those buying or owning property pay the majority of tax. Pretty things are nice, but the necessities of people are more important, especially when jobs are scarce.

 "When the one per cent city sales tax was passed, a 10-cent reduction in the current ad valorem property tax was promised; I endorse this reduction.
 "I have no axe to grind and no special interest groups pushing me to run for city commissioner. I feel that it is every citizen's responsibility to want the best for his city. If elected, I will be working for the people of Big Spring to see that tax dollars are spent wisely and efficiently."

Warns Teachers Of Law-Breaking

EL PASO (AP)—A California educator told the Trans-Pecos Teachers Association Friday that teachers in many areas are being led into "mass law-breaking."
 Dr. Frank McIntire, executive director for information service of the California Teachers Association, called on teachers to stay in professional organizations and shun labor unions. He warned that the teaching image would suffer from affiliation with labor unions and that "we can take one of two roads."

Final Week Of Year To Have Regular Tag Rush

Unless conditions alter rapidly for the better, the final week of March of this year will be the same sort of weary nightmare that the week was in 1967 at the office of Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector.

March is the last month in which to acquire 1968 automobile license plates. Last year, in the final week before the April 1 deadline, the tax office sold $113,000 worth of tags—nearly double the total tag sales for all of February, the first month the plates were available. This year, Mrs. LeFevre said that sales are running about even as compared with 1967. Through March 1, 1967, she cited, the receipts from the sale of plates was $86,482.86. This year, the total was $86,747.51. A slight increase in plate fees for many cars is in effect this year.
 It is estimated there are approximately 27,000 vehicles in the county, which must be rigged with 1968 plates by April 1.

Mrs. LeFevre said that the final week of the period last year, when her office sold $113,000 worth of plates, there were long lines of weary motorists, who had to wait their turn at the counter. Much additional work was piled up on her staff as a result of the last minute rush.
 She urged all motorists not to wait until the last week. No rush is in evidence now, she points out, and the car owner who wants to get his tag can be served in a matter of minutes.
 Sales of plates so far have not been brisk. That they barely exceeded the sales for the same month last year is puzzling to the statistics section.

SEC. B. BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MARCH 3, 1968 SEC. B.

All-Tournament Team

These stellar players were named to the all-tournament team of the Region V Basketball Tournament Saturday, which was climaxed by the most exciting play in the history of the game here. They are (from left, front row), Bob Spivey, Ranger; Mike Reid, Christian College of the Southwest; Joe Hamilton, CCSW; Sol McMillon, Ranger; (back row, from left), Claude English, CCSW; Larry Linder, HCJC; Ulric Cobb, Ranger; Chris Peacock, Clarendon; and James McLeod, Ranger.

CCSW Trojans Upset Ranger; HC Is Third

By TOMMY HART

Perhaps the greatest outside player active today on any level of the game — 5-10 Joe Hamilton — popped the cotton from 30 feet away with a jump shot that gave underdog Christian College of the Southwest a pressure-packed 98-97 victory over Ranger College in the finals of the 1968 Region V Junior College Basketball tournament here Saturday night.

The mercurial Hamilton, despite the fact that he was sometimes double and triple-teamed, scored 39 points and steadied the Trojans at a time Ranger had come charging back and appeared to be staging a successful Battle of the Bulge.

The victory, witnessed by a crowd that filled every nook and cranny of the BSHS Gym and threatened to give half of those present a permanent case of the heebie-jeebies, earned the Dallas-based team its first trip in history to the March 19-23 National Juco tournament at Hutchinson, Kans.

Hamilton, who often dribbled through and around the foe when all escape routes seemed sealed off, got great help in the back courts from Michael Reid plus fine rebounding from his post men.

Ranger, down 19 points at one stage and apparently hopelessly beaten, showed its mettle with a dramatic comeback that sent it to the fore at 97-96 with only 21 seconds remaining when Stan Thompson hit a free pitch. John Fairfax had made it tighter than Ned's hand with 55 seconds remaining when he dropped a shot for the Rangers to dead-lead the score. It was the first time Ranger had been even in the game.

Ranger's job became more complex when ace guard Bob Spivey fouled out with 6:20 remaining and big Solomon McMillon, who did the best job of containing Hamilton, followed him to the bench with 5:34 still showing on the clock.

Hamilton got some scoring help from Reid, who blanked 25 points, and Claude (Snowflake) English, who rang up 14.

Ranger was led by James McLeod and Thompson, each of whom managed 23.

CCSW led at half time, 53-42, and seemed supremely in command at the time but Ranger bounced up off the deck more times than Louis Firpo did against Jack Dempsey.

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks finally shook off the all-season jinx here Saturday night and defeated tough Clarendon College, 67-62, for third place honors in the Region V tournament held in Steer gymnasium. In three other encounters during the season, the Hawks bit the dust in each instance.

The victory was long coming, but certainly at no better time since it kept the locals from walking away empty-handed from a cage tournament in which they were hosts.

Buddy Travis' Jayhawks surprised the CC contingent by jumping out to an early lead and never relinquishing it by more than seven points, which occurred right after the intermission, 47-40.

Clarendon's 39-37 edge at the recess didn't seem to bother the Hawks who kept plucking away with Hiron Hubert and Terry Fields all over the court on offense and Larry Linder pouring them in as if his life depended on it.

Linder dropped in 37 points for the night, grabbing high point honors going away. Larry's twin brother, Barry, became runner-up point-getter for the Hawks with 13, although he was banished from the contest with 4:56 remaining in the clash. Rick Vidaurri paced Clarendon with 17 points, getting help from Harry Cannon with 11 and Mike Innery with 10.

Freshman Chris Peacock, one of Clarendon's bigger guns, was also discharged — just ahead of Linder — and the 64-59 Hawk edge looked much larger after that.

Robbie Lemons, content to let teammates shoot most of the way, took the initiative by sinking a pair of free throws when the home team needed them most — with 1:21 left and leading by only four, 64-60.

Clarendon's dominance of the boards most of the game told the big story for the visitors, although Larry Linder managed to burglar 15 caroms and Hubert seven.

The Hawks hit 12 of 27 field goals in the hello half, a 44 per cent clip, then warmed to 49 per cent in the final 20 minutes — 10 of 21.

IOC's Prexy Gives Ground On His Stand

By The Associated Press

Avery Brundage has changed his mind and taken the first step toward acting on the Olympic, South African problem, but the amateur athletic world is still at least two more steps and maybe almost six months away from bringing the issue to a head.

In agreeing to call a meeting of the nine-member executive board of the International Olympic Committee, President Brundage has given some ground on his original position that no further meetings would be held on the readmission of South Africa to the Mexican Games.

The readmission, approved by a mail vote of the 72-member IOC, touched off a wave of angry blasts and resulted in an announced boycott of the Games by 32 black African nations and, so far, seven other countries.

Latest country to join the boycott was Pakistan, which announced its decision Saturday. The other protesting nations, besides the black Africans, are India, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Malaysia, Syria and Cuba.

Russia has not made any decision on a boycott but has voiced strong protest against the re-entry of South Africa.

In fact, the leading Russian sports newspaper, Sovetskiy Sport, while not openly threatening that the powerful athletic country would join the boycott, did imply Saturday that it might withdraw if the IOC does not repeat its decision.

Although South Africa has pledged itself to an integrated team for the Olympics, the protesting nations object to that country's participation in the Games because of its policy of racial segregation. South Africa was barred from the Games by IOC vote in 1963 and missed the 1964 Games in Tokyo.

COACH JAMES RAUGHTON WITH BRONTE CHAMPIONS Region VI-B winners bound for tournament at Austin

Bronte Longhorns Headed To Austin

By NATE MITCHELL

After trailing throughout the first three periods, the Bronte Longhorns pulled a rabbit out of their hats and edged the Roby Lions, 54-53, here Saturday in the championship game of the Region VI-B basketball tournament in HCJC gymnasium.

Davis Corley, somewhat of a boy wonder on the hardwood, did more than his share in the win which sends the Steers to the state tournament in Austin, beginning next Thursday.

Corley scorched the cords for 27 points and hauled in 14 caroms for his second outstanding performance in the meet. The previous night he had sparked Bronte to a 70-64 victory over Sands to gain a berth in the finals for coach Jim Raughton's Lions.

The one-two punch of Corley and Doug McCutchen kept Bronte's hopes electrified despite the sharp shooting of Roby's Jacky Knox and Moody Meixner. Knox pored in 19 points and Meixner 12 for the Lions.

Roby seemed to have the game on ice when leading 51-48 with just 1:43 left, but Corley's hook shot, followed by Charles Masterson's two free throws put Bronte in command as the time diminished to 40 seconds.

Still eyeing the state meet, Lion Joey Whitfill hit a key shot and brought Roby within a point, but Bronte tucked the ball away with a stall for the win.

Bronte struck first on a three-point play by McCutchen, then saw Roby grab the lead and end the first quarter ahead 16-12. The 30-27 Roby edge at the half became 40-37 at the end of Round Three and Roby fans began thinking of tickets to Austin.

Roby went out front 41-49 with just over four minutes left, but failed to box in Corley who acted as if he owned the territory around the key and underneath the hoop.

Counting their two victories in the tournament, the Longhorns boosted their over-all record to 29-2, while Roby slipped to 20-9. Only one casualty resulted from excessive fouls — Roby's Meixner with just under two minutes left.

Seven of the 10 boys making the tourney for Bronte are seniors, including Corley and McCutchen, while all of Roby's catchers are in their final term except one.

The late-starting Paint Rock Indians surprised the Sands Mustangs for third place in the Region VI-B basketball tourney with a narrow 57-55 victory.

Catching the Ponies on perhaps their coldest afternoon of the year, the Tribe stayed just enough ahead to keep Coach Arlen White's Mustangs playing catch-up from wire to wire.

Leading by four points at the first quarter's end, the Indians increased the bulge to seven (28-21) at the recess and got their biggest scare late in the third canto when the Ponies knotted the count at 41-41 with just over a minute remaining. The Ponies tied the tab at 45-all with 6:02 remaining in the contest, but were never able to overtake the trophy-hungry Paint Rock team.

Sands lost three of its starters via the penalty route — Kynn Maxwell and Ike Lewis with just over five minutes left, and sharpshooter Claud Fryar with 2:36 to go.

Owls Batter Tech, 84-80

HOUSTON (AP) — The Rice owls took the lead for good in the first few minutes Saturday and went on to whip Texas Tech, 84-80, in the final Southwest Conference basketball game of the year for both teams.

The Owls finished with a 68 mark and the Tech loss put the Red Raiders, a pre-season favorite, in the league cellar with Southern Methodist.

It was the first time for Rice to finish out of the cellar in three years.

The victory also marked the first time Rice has taken both games from Tech since the Red Raiders entered the conference three years ago.

Rice's Larry Miller led all scorers with 29 points. Team-mate Greg Williams connected for 24 Jerry Haggard led Tech shooters with 21 points and Vernon Paul added 17.

Rice hit 31 of 60 field goal tries for a 51.7 per cent while the Red Raiders hit 30 for 65 for 46.2 per cent.

Texas Places Two On Elite Quintet

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Texas had the only unanimous choice and placed the most men on the All-Southwest Conference basketball team selected by the coaches.

High scoring Billy Arnold of the Longhorns was the player getting all the votes.

Texas also came up with Gary Overbeck, who ranked third in the balloting.

Mickey McCarty, Texas Christian's great scorer and rebounder, lacked only one ballot of being unanimous.

Five schools placed men on the all-conference team that once more turned out to be a sextet instead of a quintet.

Ronnie Peret of Texas A&M and Lynn Phillips of Southern Methodist tied for the fifth spot on the team.

Tommy Bowman of Baylor, a sophomore, was the other player making the first team.

James Eldridge of Arkansas, Bill Voight of Southern Methodist, Vernon Paul of Texas Tech, Larry Miller of Rice and Billy Barnett of Texas A&M make up the second team.

Three seniors, two juniors and a soph comprise the first team which averaged 6 feet 5 3/4 inches per man. The tallest was junior Ronnie Peret of A&M at 6-9.

The other junior, Lynn Phillips of Southern Methodist, soared to 6-7 while Overbeck, McCarty and Arnold, all seniors, stood 6-6, 6-5 and 6-1 respectively. Bowman is 6-4.

Aggies Nudge Texas, 1-0

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M pushed across one run in the sixth inning for a Southwest Conference baseball victory over Texas 1-0 Saturday.

Centerfielder Bob Long singled, stole second, reached third on an error and scored on freshman Dave Elmendorf's sacrifice fly.

The six-inning combination resembled Long's 80-yard touch-down catch for a Thanksgiving Day football victory over Texas.

The Aggies held off a ninth-inning Longhorn rally that stranded a Texas runner at third base.

Aggie pitcher Rocky Thompson distributed five hits for the victory. He got one-out ninth inning support from reliever Bob Sanders.

Texas' James Street allowed six hits and the unearned run.

The Longhorns are now 4-2 for the season and the Aggies are 3-1. It was the conference opener for both teams.

Bugs In New Garden Spook Sports Fans

By The Associated Press
As Abe Lincoln might have put it: You can see some of the hockey all of the time and all of the hockey some of the time, but NEVER all of the hockey all of the time.

He would have been talking about the new Madison Square Garden, this major center of the sport's world billed previously as the largest unobstructed indoor view in the country. Some 1,000 New York Ranger fans, and some track buffs, call it a $43 million SNAFU.

LOUD BLASTS
Ever since the first hockey game Feb. 18 and the first indoor track meet two days earlier in the new Garden, the screams of criticism have blared loud and long. And some of the happenings border on comedy.

About 1,000 of the 17,250 hockey fans who can fit into the beautiful and spacious structure towering above the Pennsylvania Railroad Station in midtown Manhattan can only see the goal's head. Some can see nothing at all in the corners. They must lean forward to see as much as they do.

Even telecasts of the games are sabotaged, showing the heads of the fans as much as those of the players.

At the New York Athletic Club track meet, it was "now you see them, now you don't" for many spectators who watched runners run out of sight over half the track.

"Is this what we're paying $2.50-$7 for?" customers cried. To make the sightlines more difficult to swallow, the circular Garden without any posts had been advertised as completely free of obstruction without a blind spot in the house.

Adding to the folly is a clock and scoreboard that won't work and a public address system that works now and then.

The escalators have broken down or run too fast at various times, water fountains are missing and there have been complaints of a chill in the air.

And basketball has not been exempt.

RUSSELL GRIPES
Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics noted that it took his club 35 minutes to find the dressing room in the maze of corridors, and then the Celtics refused to play for 35 minutes until padding was placed around the stantions that hold the baskets.

Dust covers the court and while play went on at one end, a ball boy at the other end mopped up water dripping from the ceiling.

A pigeon was seen buzzing the court during one game and a light bulb is rumored to have fallen from the ceiling and splattered on the ice before a hockey game.

Fortunately, the view for basketball, seating 19,500 with its court smaller than an ice rink, has escaped relatively free of complaints. Fans also are expected to see all of the title fight doubleheader March 4 and any other center stage events.

OTHER USES
Perhaps even more fortunate, the Garden will be used two-thirds of the time for non-sports events such as the Feb. 11 opening USO show at which Bob Hope joked about the only building with a "crazy set of electric trains in the basement."

HC'S LARRY LINDER IS NAMED TO ALL-REGION SECOND TEAM

Five schools are represented on the All-Region Five Junior College Basketball team, chosen by coaches at a breakfast held here Friday.

(Note: This elite squad is separate from the Region V all-star team chosen at the conclusion of the tournament in that all boys in the far-flung region are eligible.)

Leading the first team were Ulic Cobb, Ranger, and Joe Hamilton, Christian College of the Southwest. Cobb is a post man while Hamilton plays outside.

The two tied in the balloting and, for that reason, both will be projected as All-American candidates with the National committee.

Others on the first team are Mike Bannister, Weatherford; Harry Cannon, Clarendon; and Charles Wells, Amarillo.

Larry Linder, HCJC, was named to the second team.

The squad:
FIRST TEAM

Villanova Pick In Indoor Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — A record number of 65 colleges are entered in the ICAAs annual indoor track and field championships Saturday. Some good competition is expected, but it should be the same old story in the end: Villanova.

Coach Jim Elliott's Wildcats are heavily favored to take their ninth indoor title in the past 12 years at the meet in the Madison Square Garden. Eight Villanova first-place finishes are not out of the realm of possibility.

Dave Patrick, who ran the mile in 3:59.3 indoors last year and turned the distance in 4:01.0 this season, had been figured a cinch in the mile, but recent events have conspired to make the subject a little more interesting.

Patrick has been hobbled by a foot injury that, while not disabling, has been slow to heal. Also, Harvard's Rayce Shaw is suddenly a competitor to be reckoned with. Last weekend, for instance, he ran 4:02.8 indoors.

Bill Hurd of Notre Dame and Van Evans of Army will press Hall in the dash; and Jeff Howser of Duke is strong in the hurdles.

The 1,000 shapes up as a good race with Byron Dyce of New York University, Jack Endrikat of Princeton, Bob Zieminski of Georgetown, Frank Murphy of Villanova and defending champion Pete Farrell of Notre Dame all in the field.

Sebsibe Mamo, from Colby College by way of Ethiopia, and Ambrose Barfoot of Wesleyan will challenge defending titleholder Messenger and his teammate Tom Donnelly in the two-mile.

Elijah Miller of Rutgers, with a best of 6:10, and Frank Costello of Maryland, with a top of 6:09, are the class of the high jump. Yale's Calvin Hill is the best competitor in the long jump.

Dick Benka of Harvard and Larry Hart of Army top the shot-put field while Hart and Bruce Weberbauer of Manhattan lead the 35-pound weight entrants.

Doubleheader Doubles

Nino Benvenuti of Italy and champion Emilio Griffith, right, of New York find themselves doubled in a mirror at Griffith's Klamesha Lake, N.Y., training camp. They meet Monday night in Madison Square Garden for their third middleweight title fight. They're followed by a partly recognized heavyweight title bout between Joe Frazier and Buster Mathis.

Steers Shade Andrews, 4-1

ANDREWS — The combined mound work of Jim Newman, Tom Ham and Junior Mendoza limited the Andrews Mustangs to three hits, while the Steers collected twice as many safeties and defeated the Ponies 4-1 here Saturday in a non-district baseball game.

It was the second victory in as many outings for the Longhorns, who return home for a game with Andrews next Tuesday at 2 p.m. in Steer Park.

Billy Burchett smashed a triple and Tony Martinez a two-bagger for Big Spring, aided with a pair of singles each by Mendoza and Newman.

Larry Martin hit a solo circuit shot off starter Newman for Andrews' lone run in the first inning to give the Ponies a short-lived lead.

The Steers counted two runs in their share of the opening frame, then one each in the third and fourth to round out the scoring.

Bobby Matthews got tagged with the loss—going the first five innings and issuing five of the Bovies' six hits.

Hayes Wipes Out Gobblers

HOUSTON (AP) — Player of the Year Elvin Hayes passed the 1,000-point mark for the season by pouring in 54 and leading unbeaten No. 1 Houston to its 28th straight victory, 120-79 over Virginia Tech Saturday.

The Cougars, 27-0 this season, fell behind 7-0 to trail the smaller Gobblers, but with Hayes scoring his team's first seven points they soon gained the lead.

Once ahead, the Cougars dominated the game. Hayes not only dominated the scoring but controlled both boards, hauling down 21 rebounds in the first half alone.

Hecker May Be Bounced

By TOMMY HART

Coach Buddy Travis of HCJC would take Crane's Glen Fletcher over all the boys he saw in that recent Class AA bi-district game here. Fletcher shows the aggressiveness Travis so likes in a player. Incidentally, Caddo Matthews, who coached Colorado City to a win over Crane in that playoff game, has been instructing boys in the game 18 years now after graduating from East Texas State.

He has had coaching tenures at Gruver, Texline, Wayland College, Morse and Spearman before moving to Colorado City nine years ago.

Larry Linder, the HCJC basketball whiz, lost the Western Conference scoring championship to Odessa's multi-talented N. S. Hurd on the final night of the season but had the satisfaction of counting the most points in any one game—38 compared to 35 achieved by both Hurd and New Mexico JC's Elmer Singletary.

Lubbock High, which met the Big Spring Steers in the 1968 baseball opener here Friday, was picked by the 3-AAAA coaches to finish no higher than seventh in the league while Lubbock Monterey, which arrives here March 12 for a contest, was selected to lead the ticket.

Golf archivist John M. Pipes has quit dickering with the Guinness people, who had expressed interest in his historical lore, and is now in communication with the Benjamin Company of New York relative to having a segment of his work printed.

Robert E. Lee, new head coach at Pampa High School, is one of the best-traveled of coaches. He graduated from the University of Texas a decade ago and since has coached at Amarillo, Comanche, Texarkana, Galveston Ball, Oklahoma, Cincinnati and Iowa State.

The District 2-AAAA all-star basketball team will be announced March 10. They say that Cooper's celebrated Jack Mildren held up on the announcement that he would attend the University of Oklahoma until his father, Larry, could close a deal for an article appearing in Sports Illustrated Magazine.

FRED CARR

Even though Big Spring's Charley West was drafted by the Minnesota Vikings, there are those who reason the UTEP star will wind up with the Los Angeles Rams—NFL intrigue being what it is.

West stands to pick up a bigger bonus with the Rams.

Charles Skeen, the Howard County product who guided Follett's girls to a district basketball championship recently, also had a winner in the discus throw in the girls' state meet last year.

She was Roberta Roots, who, in addition, placed second in the shot put.

Dominick Mazza, the Howard County JC weight man, was a tackle and kicker on his Long Branch, N.J., high school football team.

Phil Bengtson, new coach of the Green Bay Packers, likely will try UTEP's Fred Carr at tight end, a tip-off on the ace linebacker's versatility.

Allen Davis, the former San Angelo basketball coach, is now head coach and athletic director at Bryan Austin, a Class AAA high school.

He was at Athens. Of the 12 boys who won basketball letters at San Angelo the past season, only Bobby Lacy returns next year.

He scored 22 points in 29 games.

Jack Gothard, who brought the Crane basketball team here for a bi-district game with Colorado City last week, played his high school ball under Metz LeFollette at Seminole.

If the Atlanta Falcons have another season in the NFL like they had in 1967, Coach Norb Hecker will likely be ousted.

Club directors are supposed to have laid it on the line to him.

Western Carolina College has a basketball player named Henry Logan only six feet tall who, from a standing position, can jump and dunk the ball.

Don Loyd, the Frank Phillips College case mentor, says things are looking up at his school.

Officials will permit him four basketball scholarships, which will be four more than he has had.

Odessa High has four regulars back next season but likely will face spirited competition for the 2-AAAA basketball championship from the likes of Midland Lee and Permian.

Former Numeral Winners To Meet

Members of the Big Spring chapter of the Steer Ex-Lettersmen's Association will gather at the First National Bank building at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday to discuss plans for the year.

Those planning to attend should enter by the south door of the bank.

One of the immediate objectives of the association is to boost local membership.

The conclave will be in charge of Freddy Simpson and Freddy Blalack, co-chairmen of the local chapter.

Ringener First In MOD Meet

J. M. Ringener won first place in the recent March of Dimes Bowling tournament, staged at the Bowl-A-Rama with a score of 699.

Al Ham had a 685, good for the runner-up spot, while Mary Logan was third with a 677 and D. S. Johnson fourth with a 670.

Tied for fifth were Jerry Osgood and Tony Cherry, each with a 664.

A total of 223 entries took part in the event, staged for the benefit of the local MOD.

TCU Claims SWC Title, Gunning Down Bears, 72-65

WACO, Tex. (AP) — TCU used its sharp defense and a shooting spree by James Cash to beat Baylor 72-65 Saturday night and win the Southwest Conference basketball championship.

Texas was upset 74-73 by Arkansas and failed to tie the Frogs for the title.

Cash scored 20 points in the second half to lead the Frogs away from Baylor, which had led 31-29 at intermission.

The second half saw Texas Christian hit five points before Baylor could score. Cash getting four of them. Baylor then tied it up at 40-40, again at 42-42 and once more at 49-49, but never regained the lead.

Texas Christian pulled ahead for keeps 51-49 with 8:47 left when Rick Wittenbraker hit a 23-foot jump shot from the side.

Cash had 25 points for the game. Bill Swanson scored 15. Mickey McCarty 14 and Wittenbraker 10 to help Cash in the conquest.

Baylor took the lead early and held it for most of the first half on the shooting of Ed Thorpe, David Sibley and Tommy Bowman. They also played great defensive ball, holding Cash to the first-half total of a mere five points.

Baylor's biggest lead was seven points, with 13:47 left in the first half.

With 4:59 left in the first half, Texas Christian went ahead 25-23 but Baylor pulled back for its halftime bulge.

Bowman's 16 points led Baylor. Bob Porter, Sibley and Thorpe each got 13 for the Bears.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Arkansas arose from the also-rans Saturday night to hand Texas a stinging 74-73 defeat and knock the Longhorns out of a tie for the Southwest Conference basketball championship.

It was a nip and tuck game with the score tied nine times and the lead changing hands on 14 occasions.

After trailing five points at the half, Arkansas took the lead right after intermission 47-46 on James Eldridge's layup. But the lead seceded back and forth until Bob McKenzie's free throw and Larry Lake rammed down a layup to close the gap to 72-68.

With 51 seconds left Papp stole the ball and sank a layup to tie it at 73-73. Arkansas then took the ball down and with 18 seconds left Jacky Kimbrell sank a free throw. Texas barely had time to go down and fire a shot that missed.

Texas, which once was fourth in the nation in field goal shooting, was cold in its last two games, hitting well below 50 per cent. Saturday night it could only do 40 per cent.

A Devotional For The Day

Give thy servant an understanding heart. (I Kings 3:9)

PRAYER: Our Father, grant us a growing ability to see mirrored in everyone of whom we disapprove the person we could be. In the name of the compassionate Christ we offer our prayer. Amen.

Something To Follow Up

Last week Dr. R. B. G. Cowper took the initiative in calling together a group of businessmen to hear discussions on developments in certain areas of plastics. Several officials and representatives of Cosden Oil & Chemical including R. L. Tollett, president, Paul Meek, vice president, Granville Hahn, head of plastics technology, Harley Henry, industrial representative, and others were good enough to brief the group on strides within the plastics manufacturing industry. They made it clear that their company is a supplier of raw plastic, is not a competitor to its customers. It is, however, willing to share know-how.

In this connection, some possibilities were mentioned, one in particular which has promise. It would be within reach of concerted local effort, capable of being realistically competitive and marketable, and avoiding undue penalties from remoteness and freight tariffs.

Those attending indicated, by intensity of their questions, an interest in exploring the matter. Obviously, the various angles to something of this sort cannot be pursued within the compass of a short meeting. There are many penetrating questions to be raised, many eventualities to be considered. This is simply common sense.

But to leave a thread of this appealing hue untraveled would be provident if not foolish or even tragic. Perhaps heads of agencies most logically concerned — the Industrial Foundation, the Chamber of Commerce economic development committee, and the industrial team could assume responsibility for following up on this informal meeting. It's too important to be left lying around or shelved, even for a short while.

Influence That Spills Over

Today marks the 10th anniversary of V. Ward Jackson as pastor of the First Church of God. During his ministry, the congregation moved from a small structure into a new, large and handsome plant on a quarter of a block.

These facilities are many times what one would expect of a congregation of substantially less than 100 people. Moreover, the congregation also has pioneered in the church-school program, combining nursery with kindergarten operations.

In this Rev. Jackson has had the help of some remarkably dedicated, able and unselfish people, but it is equally true that the catalyst is leadership. This would be important enough within the church alone, but Rev. Jackson has avoided hiding behind the clerical shield when calls came for civic responsibility. He got into the arena where the action was and worked with (indeed headed) several organizations. We join in the salute to Ward Jackson — beloved pastor, good citizen, friend to all.

Day Of Decision Forced Forward

WASHINGTON — Gov. Romney's withdrawal from the race for the Republican presidential nomination has produced a state of uncertainty and a kind of bewilderment inside the party. For Republican politicians throughout the country suddenly find themselves wondering if they should now make alignments such as normally would not materialize until just before a national convention is held.

MOST OF THE delegates, of course, have not yet been chosen, but the party leaders are in a quandary because many of them would prefer not to commit themselves so early. When there are only two leading contenders, however, the pressure starts to be exerted long before convention time. Actually, Gov. Rockefeller's public statement that he would accept a "draft" is regarded as virtually an announcement of his candidacy. Many of Romney's active workers now will start to mobilize "draft" sentiment for the New York governor.

While former Vice President Nixon has substantial support in several states, his nomination depends upon how many of the delegations, which will naturally vote for their own "favorite son" on the first few ballots, are going to be willing eventually to wind up on his side.

ALREADY THE self-elimination by Gov. Romney has caused some of the Republicans to say that the division now will be between a "liberal" or "moderate" — by which they mean Gov. Rockefeller — and a "conservative," as Nixon is sometimes described. There are, to be sure, some public issues on which he has not agreed with the so-called "conservative" point of view in national affairs.

The Republicans will be making a mistake, however, if they begin to develop a cleavage and characterize either prospective candidate as "moderate" or "liberal" or "conservative." An indication of what can happen by reviving the issues which produced disunity at the 1964 convention may be derived from noting an interview which Barry Goldwater gave at Phoenix, Ariz., on Wednesday, immediately after the Romney announcement. The 1964 Republican candidate said that Gov. Romney's withdrawal "puts the basic issues of the party right back to a clear-cut liberal and conservative situation."

WHEN ASKED what effect the Romney announcement would have on the bid by former Gov. Wallace of Alabama for the presidency, Mr. Goldwater said:

"I think it would only intensify Wallace's efforts, because, you see, Rockefeller will represent the extreme liberal wing of the Republican party, and this is the reason that Wallace is running, in that he didn't feel the Republicans would put up a conservative enough candidate. I think we are, in the form of Nixon."

THERE IS A HINT in this that if Nixon is nominated, Wallace might not run, but that, if Rockefeller is chosen by the convention, Wallace would certainly seek to head a third-party ticket.

For the next several months there will be a discussion among the Republicans in many states as to whether the so-called "liberal" vote in the Democratic party would move to the Republican side if Rockefeller is named, and whether President Johnson would derive the biggest benefit from the Wallace candidacy. For it would certainly draw "conservative" votes away from a Republican ticket headed by Rockefeller.

IN THE NEXT five months the local delegations in the Republican party will have to make up their minds which candidate — Nixon or Rockefeller — would be likely to retain the existing Republican vote and gain a sizable number also from the Democratic side as well as from "independents."

Money may have a big effect on the delegates finally are lined up because many senators and all the members of the House are up for election this year, and they will be interested in any campaign funds which may be supplied to aid them and local officials in getting re-elected. Naturally, they would feel obligated to play ball with whatever faction in the Republican party gives them the biggest financial contribution.

Cost Pressures May Be Slowing Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — Some major segments of the economy slowed in January, new statistics showed this past week.

The slip was from December's level of business activity. The Commerce Department reported that of 21 leading economic indicators available for January, 11 pointed down, nine pointed up and one was unchanged.

A comparable tabulation in December showed 12 indicators pointing up and nine pointing down.

The department also reported that in January labor costs per unit of output in manufacturing rose to a record 108.8 per cent of the 1957-59 average from 107.3 per cent in December. The index was at 104.8 per cent in January, 1967.

WHOLESALE PRICES UP

Officials said of more concern were the widespread increases in wholesale prices. Of 22 manufacturing categories, 90.9 per cent showed increases in both January and December, compared with 77.3 per cent in November and 54.5 per cent in December, 1966.

Construction activity appears to be turning sluggish, according to F. W. Dodge Co., an analyst of building activity.

Dodge's index of contracts for future construction fell in January to 159 from 166 in December. This was the third straight monthly decline since the index reached a record 171 in October.

The firm said failure of construction activity to grow in the last three months was due to high interest rates and newly imposed restrictions on public construction, particularly highways.

Living costs rose three-tenths of one per cent in January in their fourth consecutive increase. The advance boosted the Labor Department's index to 118.6, which means it cost $11.86 to purchase items worth $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

FOOD AND MEDICINE

Biggest factors in the January climb were increases in grocery prices and doctors' bills.

IT COSTS MORE

- Labor costs rise; adding to price of some goods...
- Wholesale prices showing increases in most lines
- Construction sluggish; restrictions, high interest blamed
- Living cost .3 of 1 pct.; furniture to cost more
- Foreign trade looks up, but margin down from year ago

Price increases are spreading during the year beginning next July 1.

Automobile production this past week rose three per cent to an estimated 185,700 passenger cars from 18,411 the previous week.

American Motors Corp. said it will suspend its entire auto production in the United States and Canada for a week starting Monday and will furlough 11,700 workers. It said the close-down was due to a shortage of parts stemming from a strike at Hayes-Albion Corp., an iron foundry.

"They're still feeling the effect of the minimum wage increase in February. Every raw material they buy has built into its cost the wage increase and the costs build up geometrically for the companies assembling the materials into furniture."

HIGHER FURNITURE

Wholesale price increases generally ranged from three to five per cent. When retailers pass these boosts on, it will mean a sizable bite on consumers, who spend about $7 billion annually on household furniture.

The U.S. foreign trade picture brightened in January when the surplus of merchandise exports over imports climbed to $169.3 million. It had fallen to $79.1 million in December. However, the January surplus was far below the $316.5 million in last November, and $360.4 million in January, 1966.

The House of Representatives this past week passed and sent to the Senate President Johnson's requested continuation of the excise taxes on automobiles and telephone service. The legislation also would speed collection of corporate income taxes.

AUTO OUTPUT GAINS

It is expected that the measure would increase revenues by $1.1 billion during the current fiscal year and by $3.06 billion

What Others Say

Mao Tse-tung forces in Red China have let it be known publicly that the army is not exactly perfect in its attitude toward supporting Mao. "Certain comrades in some units have committed errors," said an Anwei Radio editorial.

The radio urged peace between the people and the army in Anwei Province. It said "anti-Chinese" elements had taken advantage of the situation.

It is a serious situation for Mao to have trouble with his army. He cannot run a police state with the military force against him. Perhaps Mao was right in thinking that it was better to have soldiers armed with the thought of Mao Tse-tung than the rifles. In this case, it would be better for the Maoists. It would not be much of an army, but it would not be against the teacher.

Around The Rim In Austin, Nearly All Is Politics

Politics gets to be a warming subject in all county seats about this time, and more heat — if not more light — will be generated in the next couple of months.

But to encounter the political atmosphere in its fullest fruition, one needs to daily for a time in a state capital. Must report on a recent trip to Austin where, because of the timing, the talk, the discussion, the rumor and the wild story was running at full tide.

THERE IS MORE than politics in Austin, of course. I regard it as one of the state's more attractive cities, blessed by location, climate, natural setting, plus considerable man-made assets.

Austin might be described as a city with three faces. There is the customary one of business, industry, commerce and finance, and the city is doing all right in these areas. Light industries are centering in the place, and general commerce seems to be going at a brisk pace. There is business growth in Austin.

ANOTHER FACE is the academic. The giant University of Texas dominates a considerable segment of the city, and its influence is widely felt. There are 20,000-plus young people, for one thing, who must spend a great deal of their time looking for a parking place somewhere near the campus. They bring a youthful aura to Austin, because everywhere you turn there are the college kids.

A FEW HIPPIES, and fewer of the anarchist type. Most of them, as elsewhere, are earnest young people going about the business of getting an education. But they're there, on every hand. They saturate the campus area, fill up the rooming houses and the apartments, through the theatres, hang out to the leisure areas. They're young, that's what.

The University also influences Austin because of the faculty people, most of them learned and sophisticated, interested in better libraries and opportunity for more cultural pursuit. In a city no larger than Austin, this academic factor is a major one.

BUT AUSTIN is also the state capital, and filled with politicians, state employees, lobbyists, legislators of every degree of capability and stature.

All of these people have a personal stake in the state political picture, and while they may not know much more about the governor's race, for instance, than does a citizen of Big Spring, they sure would like for you to think they do.

They can recite, correctly or not, at the drop of a hat, what Gov. Connally will do or will not do; how Judge So-and-So is going to fare in his race, and whether or not Sen. Doaks is going to make it in his bid for re-election.

ONE IS ALMOST led to the conclusion that all state races are determined in the state buildings, the hotels and the clubs in Austin. I don't believe this is so, because Austinites will press for some report from the hinterlands. They want to be interested in the political winds out in Black Gulch County, but secretly they feel that all major decisions will be made right in their own bailiwick.

There may not be much accomplished by all this, but if you want to feel the unique cloak of politics enveloping you, just go down and talk to (or listen to) the state boys.

Art Buchwald Insurance Is Good For You

WASHINGTON—Montgomery Ward & Co. came under attack a few weeks ago for an insurance plan it had instituted for its charge account customers. The insurance automatically covers charge account bills up to $3,000 in case of the death of the person holding the account. The premiums are charged to the customer unless he specifically writes to the company and says he doesn't want it.

What annoyed many customers was that they were paying premiums on a life insurance policy they didn't ask for or know they had.

THE ONLY ONE who wasn't too bothered by the Montgomery Ward insurance plan was my friend Spritzer, who loves to match wits with some of the largest corporations of this nation.

As soon as Spritzer heard that he was being charged for a life insurance policy he had neither applied for nor wanted, he wrote the powers at Montgomery Ward a letter:

DEAR SIR: I understand you have taken a life insurance policy just in case something happens to me before I make all the payments on my new washing machine. This is good thinking, as you never know when I'm going to pop off and you're going to be stuck with the bill. I think you're wise to worry about me particularly, since with all the aggravation my kids are giving me, I could have a heart attack any day.

But the thought occurred to me, when I heard about your insurance policy, that I had no protection in case something happened to Montgomery Ward & Co.

I'M NOT WISHING you any worse luck than you're wishing me, but through the years I notice that Montgomery Ward has had some very big ups and downs and I've started to get a little nervous about what would happen to me.

Unless I hear from you to the contrary, this insurance policy goes into effect immediately. As long as Montgomery Ward remains in good health, you have nothing to worry about. But if something comes up, and believe me, I'm not predicting trouble, you can rest easy in the knowledge that there will be enough money left over from your estate to take care of my washing machine.

PLEASE UNDERSTAND there is nothing personal in this and I wish Montgomery Ward a long and happy life. But the fact is, all our destinies are still dependent on that "great retailer in the sky."

Sincerely yours,

Spritzer.

Marquis Childs Departure Of A Remarkable Man

WASHINGTON—It was hardly a coincidence that on almost his last day in office the departing Secretary of Defense, Robert McNamara, should be confronted with a demand for more and bigger armaments. The implication was that he had been letting the Soviet Union get ahead by restraints he imposed on the admirals and the generals.

IN THIS INSTANCE the demand was for more nuclear submarines and the propaganda came from two built-in lobbies within government — the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee and the twin brother, the Atomic Energy Commission. In order to stay in business they must promote more and more nuclear arms. As an influential voice they had enlisted a congressional totem, Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, to support their cause.

For a moment, as he saw the prominent play given to this in the press, McNamara lost his classic cool. But his calm was restored as he realized that shortly he was stepping out and the long struggle—the fiercest struggle of his seven years in the Pentagon—to keep arms spending within reasonably sane limits was passing to his successor, Clark Clifford.

AN INJUSTICE to this extraordinary man was to have type cast him early on as a computer mind. Certainly he has a remarkable ability to reduce complex problems to manageable computerized dimensions.

Take nuclear submarines as an example. The figures come out at the speed of light. Thirty-three nuclear attack submarines, only 13 in 1961. The first class anti-submarine submarines have gone from four to 24. The forward barrier — the subs that never have to come home — has increased 300 per cent in kill capacity over '61. And under the continuing program an additional 60 nuclear attack subs are still to come.

ON MEETING the press he quoted a stanza from T. S. Eliot's "Little Gidding" as follows:

"We shall not cease from exploration, And the end of all our exploring Will be to arrive where we started And know the place for the first time."

These lines McNamara related to the American position in Vietnam. A letter to the Washington Post quoted the preceding stanzas full of despair and bitterness at man's folly. Had he read those other stanzas? Yes, of course he had read them. And still he would take his stand on the ultimate lines. They were right, they were true.

IN THE commencement address he delivered at his daughter's graduation at Chatham College in Pittsburgh in 1966 he quoted from 46 authorities ranging from Plato and St. John of the Cross to Simone de Beauvoir, Karl Marx and Kafka.

McNamara's seven years cannot be measured by any of the obvious standards of success or failure. Even the farthest-out computer could hardly put a total figure on what he has saved in resisting the demands of the big armament lobbies both in and out of government and often closely intertwined. Far from being resolved, as McNamara knows only too well, the struggle to hold down arms spending is fiercer than ever.

THE RETIRING secretary's most vulnerable point is conceding the start of a thin anti-ballistic missile system against the threat of Chinese missiles two or three years from now. That concession came in a brilliantly reasoned speech making the case for the utter futility of an all-out ABM system which would have a beginning cost of $50 billion. James Reston called the thin system the anti-Republican missile.

Billy Graham

It seems to me that some of our "angry young men" are going to irrational extremes. I refer to the demonstrators who tear up their draft cards, and destroy the American flag. What do you think of this kind of behavior? K.B.

Personally, I find it revolting and distasteful. I recently saw, on the same day, in the same newspaper, pictures of some of our young men facing danger and death in Vietnam, and pictures of other young men burning an American flag, and protected by police while doing so. This was a shocking contrast.

While one of the greatest privileges in this nation is the right to dissent, I personally doubt if the Bill of Rights was ever intended to protect those who mutilate the revered symbols of our country. What these people refuse to understand is that they are undermining the very system that gives them the right to dissent.

Our flag is a symbol of those who shed their blood that we might have the right to be free, and to have the right to protest things we believe are wrong. But we make mockery of our valiant men who died to preserve it, and all that it stands for, when we burn the symbol of our freedom. Every state in the Union has laws against the desecration of the flag. It has been desecrated in the past, but the new thing is the public tolerance of this evil. Perhaps it is a sign of the times. But I would say it is a bad sign.

'Stay Awake' Pills? Why Not Coffee?

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss the "stay-awake" pills taken by college students. Do they really help, or are they harmful and habit-forming? — T.C.

Well, they'll keep people from going to sleep, but there is a question whether this pill-induced wakefulness leaves people in the best condition to learn and understand.

Some of the pills can be dangerous. My advice is to depend on nothing stronger than coffee to stay awake.

Just about all the accomplished teachers I know say that these late-at-night cramming sessions for exams really don't do much good anyway. If a student hasn't learned his subject during the regular term, he can't do much to help himself by staying up all night before the finals. Efficiency can be greatly reduced by such enforced wakefulness. Sometimes he's so groggy at exam time that he'd have done better by getting a decent night's sleep instead.

Dear Dr. Molner: I understand that some "health" diets advocate taking a spoonful or two of oil every day, perhaps vegetable or mineral oil, as a health aid. I thought our American diet was too rich in oil and fats as it is. However, my informant (not an M.D.) was pretty definite about taking it, along with other foods. Are there cases in which it is helpful? — N.H.

Nothing's sure except that we will always have death, taxes, and health food nuts.

Yes, our diet tends to be much higher than necessary in fats and oils, and unless a person is low in fats (an unusual circumstance) there would be no point in vegetable oils. As to mineral oil, that isn't absorbed, hence adds nothing to nutrition, and it can, by absorbing and carrying away Vitamin A, deplete our supply of that. Let your friend ride that diet hobby; just stick to a well-balanced diet yourself and forget "health food" fads.

Dear Dr. Molner: I was troubled with varicose veins for years until they became unbearable so I had them removed. My doctor told me most folks do not follow his advice, which is WALK.

So I started, first around the block, then another block. It has been 12 years since the operation and now I walk back and forth to church which is two miles. I average at least three miles a day.

I have three neighbors who have had the same operation and they are complaining all the time of pains in their legs. One lives at the end of the block but he always drives to my house.

So tell them to walk. I am 75 now. I had told people to walk. So has your doctor. Maybe it will do more good now that you've told 'em.

Steers Blast Lubbock High In '68 Debut

By NATE MITCHELL

A large crowd of supporters turned out to watch the Big Spring Steers crack open the 1968 baseball season at Steer Park Friday, despite the 15 mph wind and 57 degree temperature.

Hosting the Lubbock High Westerners, the Longhorns shelled two visiting hurlers for 10 hits and an 11-2 decision.

Neither team could move in the first inning, but the Westerners came on strong in the second when rightfielder Dale Thompson connected on a 2-2 pitch from starter Junior Mendoza and sent the horsehide into orbit.

Leading 1-0, Lubbock counted again in the third frame when catcher Farris latched onto another Mendoza pitch and blasted it across the street.

After Felix Martinez fanned, and Gary Don Newsom grounded back to Westerner pitcher, Randy Coleman, R. J. Englert smashed a single and Tony Martinez was safe at first on a miscue Billy Burchett clubbed a shot to third baseman Leon Lindley whose easy throw was muffed by first sacker Don Taylor — letting Englert score.

Keeping the rally alive, Dean Gilstrap belted a three-bagger — scoring two more runs and sending the locals to the fore, 3-2.

The action slowed until Big Spring's half of the fifth stanza, when the entire battery visited the clubber's box. A pair of doubles by Don Newsom, a two bagger by Tony Martinez and singles by Burchett and Ron Wrightsil produced seven additional runs off five safeties and one boo-boo.

The Steer bombardment sent starter Coleman to the showers, and Larry Meed strode to the rubber; as had Tom Ham for Junior Mendoza in the ceiling of the same inning.

A Gilstrap double, followed by Burchett's walk, produced the other Boveine run in the sixth inning to complete the scoring.

Winning pitcher Mendoza issued but two hits while fanning eight in his four innings on the mound, and reliever Ham struck out seven while refusing to issue a hit.

Los'er Coleman used the whammy on five Big Springers. Mead but one.

The Steers host the Andrews Mustangs in Steer Park next Tuesday.

Randy Allen and Rick White had the only hits for the Cougars.

Thompkins Oil defeated First Baptist, 98-76, Thursday night to finish YMCA Adults Basketball league play with an 11-1 overall record.

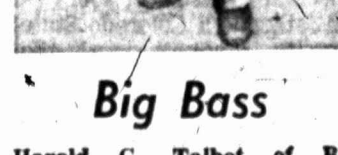

Tied for second place in the standings, each with an 8-4 record, were Bob Brock Ford and Morton's Food.

Brock's made sure of its place with a 64-44 success at the expense of Neel's VA Thursday while Morton's was forced to forfeit to Kentwood Methodist.

Charles Tubbs led Brock's Ford in scoring with 26 points. Delnor Poss had a busy night for Tompkins Oil, scoring 21 points.

Mantle Surprised At Early Success

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The New York Yankees couldn't keep Mickey Mantle down on the farm 18 years ago. And home cooking is still a cold weather luxury for the grown-up kid from Oklahoma.

Mantle, the Yankees' slugging senior citizen, begins his 18th major league season next month. He signed his sixth $100,000 contract last week at the club's spring camp and recalled how it all began — on a train trip to Washington.

"I earned for Texas. We were going down there to open the season after playing three exhibitions against Brooklyn," Mickey said. "I still didn't know where I was going to wind up. I hoped it'd be Beaumont, Tex., because it was close to home and Harry Craft was managing there."

The year was 1951, third year of Casey Stengel's reign as manager of baseball's dominant force. Dan Topping was the boss and George Weiss the general manager as the Yankees launched their drive for another pennant.

Mantle, then 19, had torn apart Class C pitching the previous year, batting .383 with 26 homers and 136 runs batted in for Craft's Joplin, Mo., club. But he'd been in professional baseball for just two years, and he expected to be shipped out before the start of the season.

"Then, on the train, Casey came over to me and said they were going to keep me," Mickey remembered. "A little later, I went into the dining car with Mr. Topping and Mr. Weiss and signed the contract."

"I got $7,500. The minimum was $5,000, but Casey talked them into giving me a little more. There was a retroactive clause where I'd get the full $7,500 if I stayed with the Yankees all season. I got sent down to Kansas City in the middle of the year, but I came back up and collected the $7,500."

BURKE IN ITALY Mike Burke, the current club president, was movingmaking in Italy when Mantle ambled aboard the Yankee express — a shy country boy with the wrists and shoulders of a dock wallop and blazing speed to burn.

Ralph Houk, now the field pilot was Stengel's third-string catcher and Lee MacPhail, the present general manager, was head of the Yanks' farm system.

Last Tuesday after Burke Houk and MacPhail rolled out the red carpet for their 36-year-old superstar, sole survivor of a fallen Yankee dynasty, the GM confessed he had Mantle ticketed for another season in the minors in 1951. "I was a little irritated when they kept him up," said MacPhail, tongue deep in cheek.

"This winter I just golfed and fished—not much of anything else," he said. "We opened a chain of eating places back home called the Mickey Mantle Country Kitchens. For one dollar you get your choice of ham hocks and beans, chicken and dumplings, Irish stew—or Pot Luck."

Mantle also is in the real estate business in Texas. "We have a development called Mantle Manors at Cedar Lake, about an hour's ride outside Dallas," he said. "We started with 500 lots, but there's only about 150 left. You'd better hurry if you want one."

Despite his back-home business ventures, it appears likely that Mantle will remain in baseball—possibly as a Yankee radio-television commentator—when his playing days are over.

That time could be fast approaching, but Mickey is not looking forward to it. "I'd like to keep playing," he said. "When I do quit, it will be an awful hard thing to do."

Of immediate concern to the muscular switch-hitter is helping the Yankees climb back into contention from their ninth-place finish last fall. "I think we can move up," he said. "The main thing is the American League is so close."

So many teams are about the same. "We've got good pitching, and that's a big thing. We've got to score more runs. I think we lost 29 games last year when the other team scored three runs or less. We've got to change that."

EXCEEDED HOPES The Great Experiment of 1967—Mantle's shift from the outfield to first base—proved successful beyond expectation for the Yankees. But the season ended in disappointment for Mickey, despite a relatively healthy summer after so many injury-shortened campaigns.

He played in 14 games—Tops on the club—but batted only 245—his career low—with 22 home runs and 55 RBI. "I can't do any worse," he said. "I was afraid to ask for a raise. I'm lucky to be getting the same thing as last year."

FIFTH ON LIST The 22 homers sent Mantle into fifth place on the all-time list with a career total of 518—behind Babe Ruth, Willie Mays, Jimmy Fox and Ted Williams. He should pass Williams (521) and Foxx (534) this season.

Mantle will settle for 125 games and about 30 homers in 1968, he says. He admits, however, that it's getting harder to reach the seats—particularly in cavernous Yankee Stadium. "They might have to build a fence across center field," he quipped.

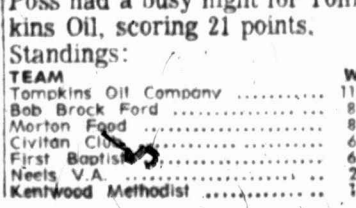

"I didn't do anything the second half of the season," he said. "I hit only one homer the last month. I felt I was hitting the ball good, but I just couldn't get it up in the air."

"The pitchers seem to be getting better all the time—they probably aren't, but it seems that way. Maybe I can't get around that well on them anymore. Another thing, when I used to get in a slump, I could always drag bunt. Now I can't beat them to the bag."

One of Mickey's late-season problems in 1967 was that the pitchers were giving him very little to swing at. "They could afford to do it because nobody else on our club was hitting either," he said. "They never give in to you anymore, that's for sure. You can get ahead of them 3-0 and you're still liable to get a knuckleball."

When the Angels paid a late season visit to the Stadium, Manager Bill Rigney told Mantle not to expect any fat pitches. "You're never gonna hurt me," he said.

Rigney knows too well how much Mickey Charles Mantle can still hurt a guy with the big bat—and the California skipper has plenty of company.

Dayton Melee At Cage Game Injures Two

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A tense high school basketball tournament game erupted into a swirling melee of fist fights here Friday night. A basketball player and a fan were stabbed, and another fan suffered a fatal heart attack.

An undetermined number of persons were injured, but a total of 12 went to hospitals for treatment, and four were admitted.

The fight broke out in the University of Dayton fieldhouse just as the buzzer sounded giving Beaver Creek High School a 74-73 win over Dayton Dunbar in the Class AA sectional tournament game.

Beaver Creek is a predominantly white school in neighboring Greene County, and Dayton Dunbar is predominantly Negro — but officials said "it was a spur of the moment thing—there were no racial overtones."

Police classed the disturbance officially as a "disorderly crowd" and not as a riot—but for a time spectators would hardly have classed it as a mere disturbance.

At one time as many as 100 persons were on the floor in individual fist fights with police, coaches, players, officials and fans all mixed up in the altercations.

Dunbar Coach Ben Waterman, who with some of his players tried to halt the free-for-all, also were bowled over.

"It was a nightmare," said Bill Marquardt, director of physical education for Dayton schools. "I was afraid it would never stop." Before the melee was over, Tim Swain, 17, a Beaver Creek player, suffered a stab wound as did Robert Brookauer, 18, a fan of the team. Neither was hurt seriously, but both were taken to Miami Hospital for treatment.

A number of Beaver Creek players were slugged and some knocked to the floor. No one could say how many fans were hit and bloodied.

Up in the stands, James S. Rawlings, 63, grandfather of a Beaver Creek cheerleader, suffered a heart attack. A Negro adult tried mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to revive him, but it was in vain.

Police arrested two 17-year-old boys for disorderly conduct, one for kicking a dent in the side of an ambulance, and the other for throwing a rock through a window.

Most of those injured did not seek hospital treatment, authorities said.

He will be introduced by Jay Norman, Waco, Texas, Farmers Union president.

A. A. Porter Files For Place On City Ballot

A. A. (Athol) Porter, life-long resident of Big Spring and for 38 years an employee at the post office, has filed as a candidate for the City Commission. He will be seeking one of the three places involved in the election of April 6.

Porter said Saturday, "I am not in the role of finding any fault with the way our city is run. I would just like to offer my services in the hope that I could be of help in seeing that our city continues to improve."

Porter said he especially was interested in trying to work out some method of improving housing conditions for the lower income people in Big Spring, that he wants to help push an aggressive cleanup and beautification program through the city, and that he would like to see downtown improvements continued.

Porter is a native of Big Spring and was graduated from high school here. He worked for a time for the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. then joined the post office force. Before he retired in December, 1965, he had advanced to assistant postmaster. Porter resides at 1611 Indian Hills.

Showdown On Rights Bill Due Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — All senators were urged Saturday to be on hand Monday for a "go-for-broke" showdown on a compromise civil rights protection and open housing bill.

The Senate will vote then for a fourth time on whether to close out a debate that is its seventh week.

A third attempt Friday to put the cloture rule into effect and force action on the bill fell four votes short of the necessary two-thirds majority.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., was asked by newsmen if he would move to put the measure aside if the Senate again refuses to cut off the debate.

"I have an idea this is the go-for-broke vote on cloture," he replied.

He said he knows of no other legislation on which four cloture votes have been taken.

Mansfield said he would expect every senator, except for John O. Pastore, D-R.I., to be on hand for Monday's vote. Pastore is recovering from a heart attack.

The vote Friday for cutting off the debate was 59 to 35. Although six Democratic senators were not recorded, they made their positions known and the count would still have been four short of a two-thirds majority if they had voted.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., a leader of the southern senators fighting the bill, told reporters, "I can't conceive how any senator who has voted against cloture three times can switch around now."

But leaders of a bipartisan civil rights bloc who worked out the compromise with Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois maintained they still hope to pick up four votes. Mansfield reported he knows of no switches in position.

As the compromise was introduced Wednesday, its open housing section would become fully effective on Jan. 1, 1970 and cover nearly 70 per cent of the nation's housing units.

The next day, however, Dirksen surprised liberals who had worked with him in hammering out the compromise by modifying its coverage and enforcement sections.

The principal modification would exempt single-family, owner-occupied homes financed with FHA and VA mortgage guarantees.

Dirksen's son-in-law, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., has offered an amendment that would exempt all individual home owners from the proposed ban on discrimination in the sale or rental of their property.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., a leader of the southern senators fighting the bill, told reporters, "I can't conceive how any senator who has voted against cloture three times can switch around now."

First Lady Planning To Host Texas Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon Johnson plans a "Discover America" tour of her island built up by wave action, home state of Texas April 5-9.

Mrs. Johnson will officially include official opening of San Antonio's HemisFair '68, which was acquired by the National Park Service in 1963.

The White House said Saturday the First Lady wants to help President Johnson in his campaign to reduce the tourist dollar drain.

Mrs. Johnson and Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall will be travel guides for a group of 40 foreign editors from 13 European countries.

The five-day trip was timed for the April 6 opening of HemisFair, designed to promote the brotherhood of the nations of the Americas and its cultures.

Mrs. Johnson will launch her tour April 5 in the Central Texas Hill Country around the LBJ Ranch, including a visit to Fredericksburg.

She'll spend the weekend of April 6-7 in San Antonio, opening the fair, dedicating its women's pavilion, and visiting missions in the area.

On Monday, April 8, her party will fly to Corpus Christi for an overnight stop that will include

Reuther Threatens To Pull UAW Out Of AFL-CIO Ties

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Saturday threatened to pull out of the AFL-CIO unless a special convention is called to discuss "internal democratic reform, modernization and revitalization" of the 14-million-member labor federation.

In a telegram to George Meany, the 73-year-old chief of the AFL-CIO, the union asked for a special meeting this December.

"Should the UAW be denied this opportunity to present its program to a special convention earlier because it will be engaged shortly in negotiations in the aerospace industry plus the fact that the 1968 election is of crucial importance."

The request for an AFL-CIO convention came after what officers described as "unanimous action" by the 26-member UAW International Executive Board which met both Friday and Saturday in Detroit.

With 1.5 million members, the UAW is the nation's second largest union and the largest in the AFL-CIO. Should Reuther lead his men out of the AFL-CIO, it would be the biggest schism in organized labor since the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the nation's largest union, with 1.8 million members, was expelled from the AFL-CIO in 1957.

The Teamsters were thrown out for corrupt practices. A walkout by the UAW, however, would open again the often bitter split between industrial unionists (Reuther) and trade unionists (Meany) that dates back to the Thirties.

The gap between Reuther and Meany has been widening over the past year. The auto union president has described Meany's leadership of the AFL-CIO as "undemocratic," "complacent," "vegetating," and "stagnant."

A special UAW convention gave its executive board authority last April to withdraw the membership from the AFL-CIO unless Reuther's demands for reform and what he termed "revitalization" of the federation were met.

Reuther, whose union officers have been active in organizing migrant farm workers in the Southwest, has called specifically for a massive drive to bring more workers into the ranks of organized labor.

Saturday's telegram to Meany briefly, paying tribute to the support the community had given the tournament and the sportsmanship it displayed during the games.

Davis said the fact that both the junior college and Region VI-B high school tournaments were playing up to turn-away crowds pointed up a serious need for a coliseum here and urged members to work toward such an objective.

Joe Smoot and Travis Starr were introduced as new members while Bill Littlejohn, Lloyd Morris and Gene Arrington were recognized as guests.

Colonel, Former Webbite, Gives Kidney To Son

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Brian McGinnis, an 11-year-old boy, joined the Boy Scouts only four weeks ago, now has his Tenderfoot badge.

That's not so unusual. Except that Brian underwent a kidney transplant operation only eight weeks ago.

Brian got his new kidney from his father, Lt. Col. Keith R. McGinnis of Lowry Air Force Base.

The family moved here from Big Spring, Tex. Col. McGinnis was stationed at Webb AFB until the boy's condition necessitated a transfer. The family came to Lowry for the surgery, after it was learned Brian had terminal kidney disease.

"He was almost ready to be a Boy Scout when he got sick," said his mother, "and he really wanted to be one since his three big brothers had been, too."

The father is a Colorado State University graduate, and the three older sons were born in Colorado. Kelly, 16, is in high school here, while Scott, 18, is a freshman at Texas Technological College in Lubbock and Doug, 21, is a junior at the University of Texas.

The new Tenderfoot? He's working on his next badge.

YOUR BEST CURB AGAINST INFLATION IS A HOME OF YOUR OWN!

FHA TODAY!!!

IT'S A PROVEN FACT - Real Estate prices have kept pace with inflation. A home is a good buy today. It will be higher tomorrow. Why wait for real estate prices to get higher and higher? If you are now renting your home... chances are you can actually buy and own your own home for less money.

SELECT A BEAUTIFUL BANNER HOME

CONSIDER THE FOLLOWING CAREFULLY:

- All FHA owned properties are reconditioned and are ready for immediate occupancy.
- There are lovely FHA homes available in all sections of town. All homes are convenient to the best schools - churches - parks - and shopping centers.
- Terms of up to 30 years are available to all purchasers. NOW IS THE TIME TO INVEST IN YOUR OWN FUTURE!

BUT THAT'S NOT ALL... HERE'S THE BEST PART... BUY WITH NO DOWN PAYMENT - ANYONE!

SIMPLY CONTACT ANY REAL ESTATE BROKER WHO HAS A COMPLETE LIST OF FHA BANNER HOMES

"FHA PROPERTIES ARE OFFERED FOR SALE TO QUALIFIED PURCHASERS WITHOUT REGARD TO THE PROSPECTIVE PURCHASER'S RACE, COLOR, CREED OR NATIONAL ORIGIN. PURCHASERS SHOULD CONTACT THE REAL ESTATE BROKER OF THEIR CHOICE. OFFERS TO PURCHASE MAY BE SUBMITTED DIRECT TO FHA WHEN THE PURCHASER CANNOT SECURE THE SERVICES OF A QUALIFIED BROKER. THE LOCAL FHA OFFICE IS LOCATED AT 1601 AVENUE "N", IN LUBBOCK, TEXAS."

We give you less for your money.

You don't get a drive shaft. (Our engine is in the rear to give you better traction.)
And you don't get a radiator. Or a water pump. Or hoses. (Our engine is air-cooled, not water-cooled.)
And since you don't get any of these things, you don't have to get anti-freeze. Or rust inhibitors. And what you don't get, you don't have to pay for.
So if you like what you don't get, you can get a new Volkswagen for only $3,000.
That's the price you pay for getting less.

Thirty-one pretty girls are poised to put their best foot forward and begin a walk that will end with one of them being named "Miss Big Spring," and possibly, "Miss America."

The fifth annual pageant, sponsored by the Jaycees, is slated March 8-9 in the city auditorium with Jim Baum of Radio Station KBYG as master of ceremonies. Appearing with him will be Miss Mary Lou Butler, "Miss Texas" of 1965.

The public may view the Junior Division preliminaries March 8 at a charge of 50 cents, while admittance to the final junior and senior judging, March 9, will cost $1 for general admission and $2 for reserved seats.

Entered in the Senior Division are Patricia Adams, Sidney Carr, Alice Denning, Debney Estes, Carla Grisham, Sharon Hicks, Susan Lewis, Sheryl Moore, Shyrlene Moore, Janine Whirley and Sheryl Williams.

There are 20 entries in the Junior Division. # Casually Yours

By JO BRIGHT

Maybe we needed something to dispel the gloom at our house since the first-born, Becky, nudged her way out of the nest. We're getting it, and I must say, there's nothing that keeps a mama on her toes — and on edge — like letters that a coed posts when she is either without funds or something else to do. Of course, you hope the only thing she'll get hooked on is books but with spring coming on, about all you can depend on is that she won't grow a beard.

SMALL TALK: Guess Miss Celia Fowler, Girl Scout District Advisor, made the Brownie beat once too often. She's bedded with the maumpis. Evelyn Gunning did a fine fashion show the other night for nurses and attendants at Big Spring State Hospital who are throwing away their uniforms. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin D. Newton, who were married Feb. 29, 1948, celebrated their fifth anniversary last week and her birthday the following day. Their children, David, 18, and Jeffery, 9, joined the party. The mural in the Fireplace Room at Webb was done by Mrs. Fred Kenyon. Mr. and Mrs. Ira E. Norrell had as guests, their son, Bobby, of the Navy and family of La May, Calif.; Mrs. Cliff Smith and children of Enid, Okla.; and Mr. and Mrs. John Kenemur and son, Jimmy, of Big Spring. Mr. Norrell has been ill and the family got together to cheer him up at dinner. Here for the recent wedding of David McNallen were his brother and sister and their spouses, Mr. and Mrs. Bob McNallen of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hagan of Austin. Airman I.C. and Mrs. Jack Walls of Germany send word that they are parents of a son, Jimmie Wavlon, born Feb. 17. Mrs. Walls is the former Karen Jackson of Knott.

Barrister Gil Jones has gone to Marble Falls this weekend to visit his dad, Gullford L. Jones Sr., who is 90 years old and not feeling quite up to par. Betty is already there, and think they'll come back together. Gil's comrade, Attorney Dick Milstead, is still a little leery of hand shaking. He slipped on the ice and it still feels like a fracture. Mrs. V. Ward Jackson would like a cheer card or two. She had emergency surgery Wednesday at Medical Arts Hospital. Rev. Jackson says she's feeling better but will be there a while. But no one feels better than Mrs. James Duncan this week. She earned those few needed points and became a

Belts For This Year Are News

Belts can be seen everywhere this year—bright, buckled, brassy, braided, beautiful belts! After years of beltless shifts, smocks and empire waists, the belt has firmly cinched its place in the style scene with the fashion prediction for '68 being "The Year of the Belt."

The look of hardware in this year's fashions has spread to belts. The gleam of shiny gold, silver and brass is strung into long chains with enormous links. These links come in circles, ovals, squares, rectangles and every conceivable geometric shape. The results are belts so fantastically like jewelry that one manufacturer even advertises its hip-chain as a necklace.

Two other materials are often used for great effects in belts. The first is leather (or a synthetic look-alike). This material was probably used by cavemen, yet it seems very fresh and different in '68 designs. Sometimes cut into geometric shapes and alternated with links and sometimes braided into chain, leather seems to be a natural with shiny metals.

The other material—plastic—is a newcomer to belts. Hard, bright and colorful, it is shaped into links on long chains. Plastic chains are often preferred over metal because of their bright colors, light weight and lower prices.

Wide showy belts with huge buckles are very much in vogue, even on evening wear.

Many suits and jackets have belts this year, too.

How should these belts be worn?

Many are definitely made for the hips and look great on ribbed knits or "stovepipe" dresses.

Others are being shown more and more around the waist.

With all this diversity, one thing is for sure — '68 belts are definitely for showing off.

Life Master during the duplicate bridge tournament in San Angelo last week. Her favorite partner, Mrs. R. H. Weaver, needs only about 16 black points to do the same. Has anyone heard if Roy Peet is back from Puerto Rico? He's had a ball, I'm sure, but I think he's due back at work tomorrow. The K. H. McGibbons are in Houston this weekend at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Werlein Jr., but they really went to see the grandson, Ewing Jr., and are due back today. The Champ Rainwaters of Lubbock were back in town for one of the farewell affairs for Col. and Mrs. George E. Franks recently were Mr. and Mrs. Reggie McDaniel of Dallas who visited the Dee Jon Davises. Mrs. McDaniel is the former Ciderette Benson. They all got together with the Kimball Guthrie, Jeff Hannas and Jerry Worthys while Jerry's brother, Bob, was here from Donie.

TIDBITS: Pretty Patty Anderson (Mrs. Charles) is slated to take over the noon show at KWAB. Patty has been such a help to us with OWC news. Webb as has another Webb wife, Mrs. Roger (Helen) Shaw. Bill Burrell tells me his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ost and family were on hand for the opening of the New Madison Square Garden. Ost is secretary-treasurer of the corporation, and I think Bill was the first newsman to know about the new facility. His plans for the new facility. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. William Burrell of Lancaster, Pa., were invited to the opening. Mrs. W. W. Grant is home after two weeks in Hall - Bennett Memorial Hospital. She's the mother of Mrs. Peggy Grant. Here's a nice note Mrs. B. K. Mainord was honored at something a little different — an anniversary tea in the home of Mrs. A. C. James in Silver Heels. T. Sgt. Mainord is serving with the Armed Forces in Thailand but the couple's friends didn't let the occasion go by unmarked.

Awarded University Fellowship

Mrs. John M. Sweeten Jr., the former Mary Claire Kinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon M. Kinney, 801 W. 16th, will be one of the recipients of fellowships, totalling $3,500. She will receive $1,750 presented by the General Foods Fund, Inc. and the same sum will be given another Oklahoma State University graduate student.

The other young woman to receive the fellowship is Miss Marie Kathleen Carano of Reno, Nev. The announcement was made Friday by Dean of Home Economics, Lela O'Toole, and the fund will be used for study at OSU during the 1968-69 term. The fellowship was given to Mrs. Sweeten for work on her master's degree, and Miss Carano received the doctoral fellowship. She holds her bachelor of science and master of science degrees from the University of Nevada.

Try An Ice Cube

Candle wax on your carpet? Try an ice cube. Rub it briskly over the wax, so that the wax becomes brittle enough to be picked up. Blot with a paper towel to prevent wetting the carpet with melting ice.

Skirts Are Any Length For Spring

Mini or midi — that is the question! At least it's the question when it comes to the skirt lengths in your fashion future.

In '68 fashion collections will feature skimpy skirts along with middle-of-the-road skirts, and short mini-dresses worn with coordinated mid-length coats.

The current interest in the Thirties, when skirts were long and droopy, is partly responsible for designers' introduction of the mid-skirt, which falls a good six inches below the knee.

A stylish example is a new spring outfit in a neat blue tweed. It has a buttoned cardigan top, close-fitting and hip-length, with a deep V-neckline. Completing the look is a long and slightly flaring mid-skirt.

But don't start throwing away your wardrobe. In '68, there are more mini-styled around than ever. In fact, the casual, long-lined look of the Thirties shows up in fashions with very short skirts just as well as those with long skirts.

Permian Play Day Slated March 19

The Big Spring Ladies Golf Association met for luncheon Friday at the Big Spring Country Club, with Mrs. G. F. Dillon, golf chairman, announcing that Permian Play Day will be held March 19 in Odessa.

Mrs. Carl B. Marcum presided, and hostesses were Mrs. James Duncan, Mrs. Ike Robb, Mrs. Clyde McMahon Jr., Mrs. Lorin McDowell III, Mrs. Charles Warren and Mrs. R. H. Johnson.

The table was laid with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of spring flowers, and they were presented to Mrs. Hayes Stripling Sr.

Two guests, Mrs. Robert Angel and Mrs. H. A. Hornbarger, were introduced.

PRESS WEEK SHOWING OPENS

Fashion Fun For HemisFair

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Fashion designers dedicated to HemisFair '68 will be the highlight of the Texas Fashion Creators' Association 18th annual fashion press week starting here Sunday.

Sportswear, afternoon and evening wear and children's clothes will feature the vibrant colors and unusual design that are a part of the San Antonio World's Fair.

More than 200 fashion editors will view the designs of 60 Texas manufacturers of women's and girl's clothing in a series of shows during the week.

The press week will open Sunday night with a black tie dinner. The first showing, of daytime sportswear, will be Monday morning.

A showing Tuesday will be on the HemisFair grounds and will feature afternoon and evening clothes.

Children's wear fashions will be presented in a Wednesday showing at another point on the HemisFair grounds.

Fashions Shown At White House For First Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — History's first White House fashion show had it all—fancy clothes, beautiful models and a gilded setting—and the President of the United States.

President Johnson popped in briefly to greet wives of the nation's governors, guests, at Mrs. Johnson's fashion first and to joke.

"With so many governors in town, I didn't want to leave the White House too long."

The governors' spouses oohed and aahed at the half-hour array of finery, but were noticeably cool to those miniskirts displayed. They saved their biggest applause for long evening dresses emphasizing the feminine look.

A white-carpeted, 600-foot runway in the elegant State Dining Room was the showcase for the offerings of 25 American designers during the First Family's salute to the nation's garment industry and the "Discover America" program.

Excited models changed clothes in the sacrosanct Lincoln Bedroom.

Narrating the show with its red, white and blue theme, Nancy White, editor of Harper's Bazaar, said everyone in the garment industry—the nation's fourth largest—was grateful for "the very first time that fashion has come to the White House as an invited guest."

H. B. Beards Move To Tilden

COAHOMA (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Beard have sold their home to Mr. and Mrs. Rob Ethridge and are moving to Tilden. Beard worked with Mobile Oil Company, and Mrs. Beard was a teacher in the Coahoma Public School system.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiford Lucas of Corpus Christi are moving to Coahoma to make their home. He is associated with an oil company, and they have three daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Ford are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Max Kenemer in Bloomfield, N. M.

Mrs. George Turner made a business trip Friday to Midland. The Rev. James Drewery of Sand Springs is preaching at revival services in Monahan.

Mrs. Dale Drewery of Austin is visiting his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Virgil Drewery, in Sand Springs.

Mrs. Clyde Angel To Present YMCA Review

By JO BRIGHT

When the YMCA decided recently to sponsor a benefit book review on March 13, the matter of who would present the review was settled almost before the question was raised. The logical — and delightful — choice was Mrs. Clyde Angel.

A warm and gracious woman, Mrs. Angel has not only an unaffected charm, but a complete awareness of the world around her, and the combination produces a personality that makes her a popular and entertaining reviewer of books.

Books have been a blessing to Mrs. Angel all her life, and her hobby for a great part of it. The "hobby" part began when she was a school teacher and found that story telling was the best way to feed knowledge to her young students. When her son, Dr. Robert Angel, was a small boy, he, too, was an attentive listener to the tales told by his mother.

Gradually, Mrs. Angel began to review religious works for church groups, and eventually, other types of books for study and review clubs. In time, her reviews were requested by women's organizations in towns such as Lamesa, Odessa, Sweetwater, Sterling City and Midland. She recently reviewed for the Northway Review Club of Dallas and the Permian Basin Pre-School Workshop in Odessa. Since September, she has given 25 reviews and already has scheduled six more engagements.

For the YMCA review, Mrs. Angel has chosen the book, "Wits End," by Erma Bombeck who writes a successful newspaper column which provides "flashes of truth and unending wit." The syndicated column has become favorite reading for millions of people.

THE LIGHT SIDE

"This book was meant to help you laugh your way through life while still hanging onto your sanity," said Mrs. Angel. "It will tell you how to overcome the six depression cycles that beset a woman during a twelve-month span."

To prepare for a review, Mrs. Angel reads first, for the story line, second, for the character studies, and third, for the background or setting.

Of course, the story must be condensed and an outline made of the main divisions which are then sub-divided. In memorizing much of the review, Mrs. Angel remembers words and phrases that help to recall the story. Time is paramount, so she goes over the final presentation, with one eye on the clock, until it can be timed at from 45 to 60 minutes, the length which is generally requested by the review sponsors.

Meditation is a must for Mrs. Angel, who thinks about the book until it becomes "real" to her, and thus, easier to project to her audience.

Four types of books are usually "ready" for review by Mrs. Angel. She prepares a family book, a religious book, a book on Texas, and always, a humorous or clever book. Also, she procures reviews for special seasons such as Christmas and Easter.

"People as a whole like clean, family books," noted Mrs. Angel. "For review purposes, I try to choose something that is not very controversial and will appeal to the most people. For instance, I have reviewed the book, 'Forty Odd,' at least 35 times and still get requests for it."

TELLS OF TEXAS
One of her most difficult assignments came with a request over the final presentation, with one eye on the clock, until it can be timed at from 45 to 60 minutes, the length which is generally requested by the review sponsors.

A LOVELIER YOU

Diet Dressings You Can Make At Home

By MARY SUE MILLER

A reducer writes: "Trying to lose weight, I eat a great many simple salads and I usually use dieter's dressings from my market. However, I do tire of them as good as they are. Could you give me some recipes for home-made, low-cal dressings?"

The Answer: Two recipes follow. They are sufficiently different in taste to make an excellent change-off.

LOW-CAL INDIA DRESSING

1 cup cottage cheese
1 can (10 3/4 oz.) condensed tomato soup
1 tsp. India relish
1 tsp. lemon juice
Grated lemon rind, as desired

Blend all ingredients; chill. Stir well and serve over vegetable salads. Yield: Two cups. Calories, 14 per tsp.

CHEESE AND CHILI

1 can (10 1/2-oz.) condensed beef broth
2 tbsps. chili sauce
2 tbsps. vinegar
1 tsp. grated onion
1 oz. crumbled blue cheese

Combine ingredients. Shake well; serve on green salads. Yield: Generous cup. Calories, 10 per tsp.

All are so good, non-dieters will be wanting some, too.

CALORIE COUNTER

Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our booklet "Pocket Calorie Counter," tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan — a way to eat and slim. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller, care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope a 15 cents in coin.

Altrusans Selling Lecture Tickets

Altrusans To Sponsor Porter Randall Talk

Far away places with strange sounding names are as common-place as a cup of coffee to Porter Randall, the jet-propelled newsmen of the Texas State Network. He has visited them all, and most of them many times.

As a tour director, he goes abroad four or five times each year, has traveled nearly every country of the world and has circled the globe time and again.

Randall is scheduled to appear for a lecture here March 22 under the sponsorship of the Big Spring Altrusa Club. His presentation of the program, "The Orient: An Equisite Enigma," will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium at Howard County Junior College and is open to the public at a charge of $1 per person. Tickets are now available at First Federal Savings and Loan Association, the county clerk's office or by calling Mrs. C. R. Rhoads, ways and means chairman at 263-2450 or 267-6902. Proceeds from the lecture will be used for the scholarship which Altrusans provide at the college.

Of all his sojourns overseas, Randall expresses a favoritism in directing photographic safaris through Africa. However, he has also made 12 pilgrimages through the Holy Lands and numerous travel adventures in the South Seas, the Orient, Asia, Scandinavia, South America, Russia and Eastern Europe.

Despite this, Randall has still found time to write a book on the political tensions between Israel and the Arab world and narrate a film for 20th Century-Fox concerning his travels through the Soviet Union. His own travel films are shown nearly every night in schools, civic clubs and churches. He averages about 300 personal appearances each year.

English Woman Visits Relatives

Guide TO Glamour

Valtai Reeves

How often we've heard the words "crowning glory" applied to a woman's hair, but how many women are letting themselves be truly glorious? Really well done hair can glorify the plainest face, show it to the best possible advantage. The proper coiffure will give balance to the face and head, and to the hairline as well. Your hair is an essential part of the picture that your whole head conveys to the beholder, and your head is that part of you which mirrors your character. . . . The real, complete you. Lovely, integrating coiffures, which add to the totality of your loveliness, are available to every woman. She may do her own styling, but she should insure her success by consulting professionally trained beauticians.

Financing arranged on approved credit.

Dear Pat...

I know it has been a long time since I've written. As you can imagine, I've been very busy getting settled here. Everyone has been wonderful, and what an experience it is teaching these first grade children! It's a real thrill to watch them as they learn to read. I've already met some wonderful people, both here at school and in church...

So she writes her letter, and although "it has been a long time..." these words will stretch across the miles and the fibres of this friendship will be as strong as ever.

If you were never to write a letter you would lose touch with people who mean a great deal to you. By the same token, if you never were to go to church, you would fail to keep the fabric of your faith woven tight and strong. True, you might still believe firmly in God, but the affirmation and continued growth of this faith requires worship in His presence and in His house.

Thinking about a friend isn't the same thing as writing a letter to him — wanting to be in that person's presence. Believing in God isn't the same as professing that belief by attending church regularly.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

It's hard to believe what we are seeing in the previews of women's fashions both in hair styles and in clothing. If some of the so-called mini-skirts go much higher they will no longer be in the skirt classification. They are now about where the middy blouse once came to and that was from the shoulders down. On the other extreme, some of the dresses for the younger ladies has the would-be waistline down around the mid-hip area, and the skirt is about six inches long. I remember a picture taken of me at age four with a dress on that is almost a duplicate of some that are being shown this year. I think I looked better in mine all those years ago. It's a little girl fashion that just doesn't give a little girl look to a leggy teenager... personal opinion, of course.

And the hair styles are a caution. I can't believe anyone would pay the traffic on a shampoo and set and willingly go to the beauty shop looking like the curlers had been removed and that's all. Can you remember when mothers rolled their daughter's hair in rags hoping to have a natural-looking long curl, a la Mary Pickford? And while the moppets were going around the house looking like rag mops, the mothers had rolled their own hair in either the metal curlers or the metal curlers covered with leather. These objects of torture didn't make pretty curls but the hair was certainly in a kink by the time it was unrolled, and didn't look much different when it was just unrolled than the 1968 Spring styles.

Chris, Kathy and Peter, of Lubbock are weekend guests of her parents, MR. and MRS. MANLEY COOK.

The RALPH PROCTORS have a new grandson, STEVEN SHANE NEWTON, who was born in Sherman, Feb. 23, to S. SGT. and MRS. EVERETT NEWTON. Mrs. Proctor returned here Wednesday after being in Sherman for the past month. She brought the other Newton youngster, 14-month-old Mike, here with her to spend several weeks.

MRS. OMER WILLIAMS is getting along slowly at Malone-Hogan Foundation Hospital after surgery two weeks ago. Also having surgery there recently was MRS. LEROY HOLLINGHEAD and MRS. AVERY WILLIS.

MRS. ARTHUR PICKLE planned to return this weekend from Lubbock where she has spent several weeks with her son, Randall, who has been ill.

MISS ILENE (BILLIE) BARNETT is hospitalized at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital with a broken left hip and wrist which she sustained in a fall Wednesday noon in the parking lot of the Permian Building.

MRS. BILL BOYD, a former resident of Big Spring, is improved after surgery in the University of Virginia Hospital for the removal of an arthritic spur which caused some paralysis when it punctured her spinal column. She has regained movement in her arms and upper part of her body and can get about in a walker. Her husband was the former rector at St. Mary's Episcopal Church here and is now at St. Thomas Episcopal Church in Orange, Va. The address is Box 147, Orange.

The PETE COOKS entertained coaches, referees and their wives Friday night at their home with an informal meal prior to the Region V Junior College Basketball Tournament games. To say their joint was jumping is probably an understatement. MRS. COOK took MRS. JAMES KILE of Amarillo with her to the Gallino Duplicate Bridge games at the Big Spring Country Club Friday morning and stayed for lunch.

RONALD SWEATT AND DAVID FORTSON, former HJC students, spent the weekend with their parents, MR. and MRS. PAUL SWEATT and MR. and MRS. J. E. FORTSON. Both of the young men are majoring in business agriculture at Sul Ross State College in Alpine.

Details Requirements For Driver's License

Home demonstration clubs held meetings throughout the week to hear programs on consumer goods, driver's re-education and family stability. One unit sponsored a community meeting to hear a Texas Highway Department officer discuss new driver's license rules.

LEES CLUB

CAPT. AND MRS. R. WILLIAM PETTY, MARK AND DAVID

Flight Surgeon Says 'Run For Your Life'

By JO BRIGHT
Pilots who are looking for a doctor to tell them to spend more time on the golf course shouldn't seek such help from Capt. R. William Petty, flight surgeon at Webb Air Force Base. It's likely he would tell them to run—not walk—around the course, and not one, but several times, at that.

Capt. Petty is a believer in the benefits the human body receives from exercise provided by running, and for a long time has practiced what he preached. In Kentwood, where Capt. and Mrs. Petty reside, neighbors are used to the daily sight of the doctor circling the blocks at a steady jog. He first started running as a junior in medical school and now averages two to four miles a day although in endurance tests, he is capable of running six miles without stopping.

NO CERTIFICATE
Capt. Petty was born in Little Rock, Ark., one of three children of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Petty. Unable to obtain a high school graduation certificate due to the temporary closing of the city's schools at that time, he obtained admission to Little Rock University through entrance exams, finishing a year early by taking summer classes. He entered the University of Arkansas Medical School, graduated in 1966 and interned in the Tampa General Hospital. A year later he returned to Arkansas and completed his work for a master's degree in medical microbiology in August of 1967. In September, he entered the Air Force at Brooks Air Force Base and was at the School of Aero Space Medicine for 12 weeks prior to coming to Webb AFB in December.

As a flight surgeon, his duties involve taking care of the medical problems of flying personnel, and he flies as a medical examiner. Away from work, flying became a hobby of Capt. Petty's, and he received his private license last spring in Tampa where he and his wife also spent much of their time sailing and scuba diving.

VANDERBILT
Mrs. Petty is the former Betty Blackmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Blackmon of Little Rock. He is school supervisor for Pulaski County and operates an investment company, while Mrs. Blackmon is an elementary school principal. Mrs. Petty, like her husband, is a graduate of Little Rock University. Afterward, she attended

Metal Box Of Snuff Was Early Day Treasure

By SAM BLACKBURN.
Truly there is nothing new under the sun.

Today, attractive girls, bearing small trays, distribute sample packages of cigarettes to diners in cafes or people they encounter on the street.

Nearly a century ago, tobacco distributors handed out little samples of their product — with a subtle invitation to the person receiving the sample to try it and become a regular customer.

ADVERTISING GIMMICK OF 80 YEARS AGO
Jess Smith and "sample" snuff box dating to 1888.
Inset shows closeup of box and contents

AGLOW
The kid was about 10 years old.

His eyes were alight with excitement. Clutched in his hand was a small metal box with a hinged lid. Inside the box was a small quantity of a brownish dust.

The boy was almost running when he left the country store, and before he had reached the farmhouse where he lived he had actually begun to trot.

Probably he ran on to the barn. After peering through a crack to see that he was not observed, he opened his treasure.

Thrusting in his thumb and forefinger he extracted a generous portion of the brownish powder and pored the snuff between his lower lip and his gums — in the traditional manner American snuff users have followed for two centuries. It is probable his eyes watered at the bit of the powerful Scotch snuff for that product had authority.

This occurred more than 80 years ago. The boy who experimented with the snuff has been dead for more than three-quarters of a century. He was only 11 when he died.

But the little metal box with its lid, and still containing perhaps half of the original portion of snuff it held that day the youngster received it, still exists.

It is owned by Jess Smith, who was about seven years old on that day that his older brother, Pressly, came from the store proudly displaying that box. Jess is 87 years old.

"I guess Pressly was already a tobacco chewer even before that," said Jess, who lives just north of the State Hospital on US 87.

The interesting feature of the little box is that it has a legend imprinted on the back which reads "Sample. Not to be sold."

The enterprising tobacco distributor who had prepared these metal boxes with their supply of the company's favorite snuff was G. W. Gail and Ax of Baltimore. Apparently, even in the old days companies used samples, much as modern cigarette manufacturers do today, to get people to try their product.

"Why Pressly never used up the rest of the sample I don't remember," said Jess. "Maybe he got sick right after that. Anyway he died in 1888."

Jess Smith is a long time pioneer of this part of Texas. He came from Hopkins County about 1899 with his father and mother, the late Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Smith. His father was one of the men who helped organize Borden County.

Jess himself tried for some land in the celebrated 1904 "c.

"land rush" which was an event of early Borden County days.

"They wouldn't let me have any land," he said. "Told me I was too young."

He saw lines of cowboys and nesters which formed at the old Borden County Courthouse and watched Sheriff W. K. Clark make each person deposit his rifle, pistol or knife in a big barrel on the courthouse yard.

The settlers wore red ribbons and the ranchers wore blue ribbons. Tempers ran high and there were many fist fights.

The little tin snuff box is now a collector's piece. Possibly it was designed by the manufacturer to continue to serve as a snuff box after the recipient had used up the sample and (presumably) restocked with a larger portion of the product. The distributor wanted only that his name and that of his product be preserved.

The unused fragment that little Pressly left in the box now looks more like a small, black irregularly shaped rock than snuff.

COURAGE
Aid Jess estimates that not even the most enthusiastic tobacco chewer would have the courage to try his teeth on it now.

Jess Smith and his wife, Myrtle whom he married in 1914 in O'Donnell, are the parents of 11 children.

"There's lots of us Smiths around," said Jess.

Agricultural Panel To Meet Tuesday

The agriculture committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce will meet Tuesday, March 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Chamber conference room, according to Alton Marwitz, chairman.

The diapause boll weevil control program and the possibility of establishing a "block" cotton variety planting in the Big Spring area will be discussed at the meeting.

John Taylor and Jimmy Taylor are serving as coordinators between the committee and the board of directors of the C.C.

Stock Show Sales Parley Set Monday

Howard County FFA and 4-H Fat Stock Show sales committee will meet Monday, March 4, at 7 p.m. at the Vocational Agricultural Building on the west side of the High School Parking lot.

Plans for the sale, which will climax the annual fat stock show will be worked out at the session. The show will be March 13, 14 and 15.

An important change in procedure has been adopted for this year's show — all of the events will be in the evening rather than in the daytime as in the past.

Entries will be accepted starting at 5 p.m. March 13. Judging will be on the evening of March 14 and the sale on the following night.

Hopes are held that by changing the events to later hours, a better attendance can be developed and more interest generated.

This will be the 30th year the show has been held. It is sponsored by the Howard County Junior Livestock Association.

The Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce is assuming responsibility for the barbecue Friday, March 14, which will be served just ahead of the auction sale. All exhibitors, their parents, and special guests of the association will be invited to the barbecue.

A catalogue is being prepared by the county agent's office and will be ready in a few days.

City Court Has A Busy Week

Corporation Court had a busy week with 51 charges filed Tuesday through Friday and fines assessed amounting to $433. Three warrants were issued for traffic violations that have not been answered.

Twenty-one traffic violations brought $288 in fines and six charges of being drunk were fined $155. A $10 fine was assessed for one charge of excessive noise.

Charges dismissed during the week were three for vagrancy, one for being drunk, one for suspicious person, and one for possession of prohibited weapon.

Seven charges of violation of liquor laws and one charge of driving while intoxicated were transferred to the county court.

Three teenagers were held for the juvenile officer and one charge of being drunk was set for hearing on March 7.

Boll Weevils To Be Talked

An effort is to be made here to determine if any of the boll weevils which appeared in this county last fall have survived the winter and if the survivors are numerous enough to pose a serious problem for cotton farmers.

Gross said he is hopeful all cotton farmers would make a special effort to take part in this meeting.

Monday at 10 a.m. Lyndn Almand, extension entomologist, will be in the office of Paul Gross, county farm agent, to discuss the boll weevil problem with interested farmers of the county. Any farmer who is interested is urged to be on hand.

Farmers will be asked by Almand to gather samples later Monday from their fields and adjacent areas and to bring the samples Tuesday to a second meeting in the Howard County livestock barn. Time will be announced Monday.

Machines will be used at the barns to count the weevils which have survived the winter. The number found in the samples will be the factor to decide how grave the problem may be.

Gross stressed that all farmers who found weevils in their fields last fall should attend the meeting. Methods of coping with the problem — if one is shown to exist — will be discussed and a campaign to cope with the weevils outlined.

Almand will also take part in a second important agricultural swim Olympics in the Horace meeting slated Friday of this week. This second meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the Howard County Courthouse. Its topic will be "Producing Quality Cotton" and events for swimmers and non-swimmers. After the competition, a recreational swim in this area and conducted for boys and dads will be held. The cotton insect threat and what can be done about it to competition winners.

Disease Report Shows Decline

The number of cases of communicable diseases for the past week continues to show a decline with 20 compared with 277 for last week, according to the Howard County Health Unit.

There were only 20 cases of flu reported and last week the total was 53. The number of cases of upper respiratory infection also declined, with 45 this week and 72 last week. Tonsillitis showed an increase with 85 cases this week and last week 69. Mumps also increased from seven cases last week to 29 this week.

Other diseases reported this week were strep throat with 11 cases, diarrhea, 10, gastroenteritis, 7, pneumonia, 7, virus, 2, and gonorrhea, scarlet fever and impetigo, with one case each.

Guides To Stage Swimming Meet

The Y-Indian Guides will hold a second important agricultural swim Olympics in the Horace meeting slated Friday of this week. This second meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the Howard County Courthouse. Its topic will be "Producing Quality Cotton" and events for swimmers and non-swimmers. After the competition, a recreational swim in this area and conducted for boys and dads will be held. # New Storage Methods

AAA - You - Store - It & Lock-It Warehouse, 1224 W. 3rd, holds its formal opening today at 2 p.m. and has a new method of storage for individuals and merchants of the Big Spring area.

The new masonry and steel fireproof warehouse structure is divided into 22 individual compartments, each being served by an overhead door. The tenant supplies his own lock and may enter his compartment as he desires.

Each storage unit consists of 250 square feet of space. Should more space be needed, it is possible to remove the metal partitions between the sections to give double or even triple storage area. The compartments each have an electric outlet, which will permit the use of additional lights or small electrically operated equipment should it be needed.

Some of the items that might be stored in the compartments include household goods, boats, automobiles, surplus merchandise received by area merchants, old legal records of attorneys and abstractors.

There are many other uses: air conditioning firms can store their spring shipments; those people who live in mobile homes who have surplus furniture can use the compartments; two or three families can go together on the compartment and store what they like in the unit.

In addition, hospitals and rest homes may store surplus bedding and other materials when they have a need for more room. Tenants may enter their compartments at any hour of the day or night. The building is so arranged that large vans can back up to the doors on the west side of the building for loading and unloading; the openings on the east side are ample for automobiles and pickups. Tenants can buy insurance to cover this merchandise from the Mayflower.

Industry Leaders Say 300,000 Jobs Possible

NEW YORK (AP) — "I feel sure 300,000 jobs can be created this year. They must be created by business is good."

What we need more than anything else is training to qualify unemployed for employment, said H. C. McLellan, president of the Management Council, calling for 300,000 jobs for the hard-core unemployed in Los Angeles.

In Detroit, one of the cities hit by rioting last year, General Motors, the Ford Motor Co. and at Chicago's Inland Steel Chrysler Corp., have had programs under way for several months to hire the unemployed. In Newark, N.J., another city hit by riots, a spokesman for the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., said, "Whether that goal of 300,000 jobs is realistic or not, we'll have to go all out to meet it."

Some reacted with caution by rioting last year, General Motors, the Ford Motor Co. and at Chicago's Inland Steel Chrysler Corp., have had pro-

Big Turnout Expected For Open House Today

Henry Bell, manager of Bell Mayflower Transfer and Storage, 1224 W. 3rd, is looking for a big turnout today at the warehouse grand opening from 2-6 p.m.

Area residents are invited to visit the warehouse, and the AAA - You - Store - It & Lock-It Warehouse, 1224 W. 3rd, which Bell manages.

"Come prepared to see a modern method of moving your household goods," Bell said. "Families that have stored or moved furniture in the past are only familiar with the old methods, not the new ones that are upgrading the moving industry."

Bell, who has been affiliated with Mayflower for 14 years and in business for himself for nearly three years, said that new "palletized" storage is a major break-through in the moving world.

private storage container and this service costs no more than regular storage.

The Mayflower Company is celebrating its 40th year in the moving industry, Bell said. The company's vans have "air ride", which cushions the vehicle (and goods and furniture) from jolts and shocks. The vans are now equipped with radios for more convenience to the shippers.

Bell has eight men working both full and part-time. The fleet specializes in military moving and have done a lot of shipping for military families who must move their goods to all parts of the country or overseas.

The warehouse contains 11,000 square feet. Bell's firm owns two vans, a small truck van and two pickups — a fleet to serve a big or small job.

Hospital Staffers Give Up Uniforms

Effective April 1, white uniforms will be a thing of the past at Big Spring State Hospital, according to a change of uniform policy announced by Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent.

Between now and April 1, all attendants and nurses will change their on-duty white uniforms for regular street clothing. This policy change is being made at all state hospitals, under the direction of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, in keeping with the new trend in hospital living.

Mrs. Ottilie Van Vleet, R. N., director of nursing service, stated it had been proven that staff members wearing regular clothing could better relate to the mentally ill patient. The white uniform was a constant reminder of illness and hospital and placed barriers between members of the nursing staff and the patient. This change of dress will place the resident of the hospital in a more natural environment which will aid in a more rapid progress of the mentally ill.

"We are interested in seeing the effect of the change on both the patients and nursing staff. One of the patients told a nurse he was glad to see her wearing people's clothes," said Mrs. Van Vleet.

To aid both the male and female employees at the state hospital in making the change, Montgomery Ward presented a fashion show of working apparel Thursday night in the old Char-Steak House on the mall at Highland Park Shopping Center. Mrs. Joe Gunning, fashion coordinator, and Mrs. Mary Cochran, volunteer coordinator for the hospital, did the commentary. The accent was how to dress in fashion and yet be appropriately and neatly attired to complete the duties of the job which will still be governed by the needs of the patient.

Anti-Hero Trio In Ritz Feature

Regardless of what the history books taught us, there were more than two sides in the Civil War. Between the impassioned forces of the North and the South was an army of adventurers who didn't care which side won. Three of these desperadoes are the anti-heroes of "The Good, the Bad and the Ugly," opening in Techniscope and Technicolor Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre.

Clint Eastwood, who starred in "Fistful of Dollars" and "For a Few Dollars More," and Lee Van Cleef, who portrayed the infamous Man in Black in the latter film, returns together with Eli Wallach in the role of Tuco. All three of these stars seem to specialize in playing cinematic bad guys and in this exploit in evil they demonstrate the various villainous attitudes audiences take so dearly to their hearts. While the Union and Confederate armies tear a nation apart for one kind of greed, a more basic greed motivates the three gunmen: gold.

They are after a cashbox containing $200,000—and they are willing to trick, torture and kill anyone, including each other, for the loot. But greed always begets trickery and deceit we learn as the story of "The Good, the Bad and the Ugly" rolls toward a climax.

Clyde Barrow And Bonnie Parker Story Put On Film

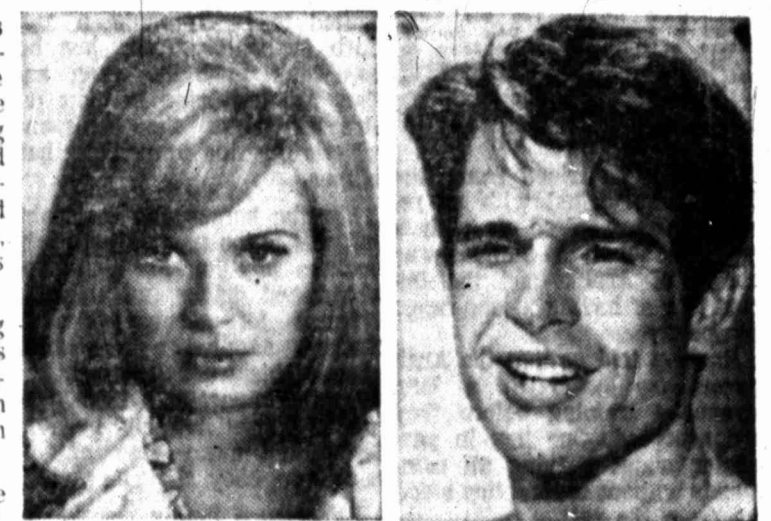

"Bonnie and Clyde" revives the Depression-ridden Southwest of the 1930's. It was the time when bank-robbing Clyde Barrow and his cigar-smoking sweetheart, Bonnie Parker, held sheriffs and bank-tellers in terror and frequently captured headlines with their daring, reckless and often pointless crimes.

The motion picture, opening today at the Ritz Theatre, stars Warren Beatty and Faye Dunaway in the title roles. The film was directed by Arthur Penn and produced by Beatty.

Other cast members include Michael J. Pollard as C. W. Moss, the driver for the Barrow gang; Gene Hackman as Clyde's brother, Buck; Estelle Parsons as Buck's wife, Blanche; and Denver Pyle as the sheriff who hunted down Bonnie and Clyde in an obscure wood in Arcadia, La., on May 23, 1934.

The "Bonnie and Clyde" unit spent 10 weeks in northeast Texas, in and around a series of small towns near Dallas—Rowlett, Maypearl, Venus, Ponder, Pilot Point, Garland, among them—which had been visited by the Barrow gang for their raids on banks, grocery stores and gasoline stations. The small communities had remained almost unchanged since the early 1930's. The area is often called "Clyde Barrow Country."

With the company went a retuned-up motors and, after their "acting chores" were completed, they were sold at a profit to vintage-vehicle fans.

FAYE DUNAWAY

WARREN BEATTY

Three of the actual banks held up by Clyde Barrow and his gang—in Pilot Point, Red Oak and Venus—are still standing. All closed during the Depression, then re-opened for "business" as the movie cast went about looting them anew.

Lady Buccaneers Used Realism To Win Battles

When Jill St. John first saw the deep-plunging necklines on her costumes as a lady buccaner in "King's Pirate," she thought that history was being given the "Hollywood touch" again. The swashbuckling comedy adventure, photographed in Technicolor and also starring Doug McClure, Guy Stockwell and Mary Anne Mobley, comes Saturday to the Jet Theatre.

"But that's before I researched lady pirates," Jill added. "I found out they really existed. Furthermore they showed a lot more than a low neckline. Some of them would strip themselves nude and stand on the bow of the ship. By the time their adversaries recovered their senses, the pirate ship had swung around and clobbered them with a broadside. That's what I call using every weapon available to win a battle."

As a result of her research, did Jill want to add even more realism to her role?

"No, thanks," she says. "I don't feel like being that realistic."

Real Test Comes After Longer View, Long Period

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Big Spring Herald is sponsoring a Dale Carnegie Course as a means of retaining and developing leaders in the community. This article is one in a series written by Warren Quinlan, director of the Dale Carnegie Training Program in West Texas.

A turned-on friend from the Near East visited with us recently and inspired us with a message about the famous war horses of Arabia and the importance of having a long-range perspective.

Hashem told us that the Arab horses are tested to a long strenuous training before they are accepted. One test in particular about obeying all commands without reservation stood out from the rest.

Each day every horse was worked continuously under the hot broiling sun on the sizzling desert. At night the horses were brought to corrals and the trainers would herd them in an area without any access to water.

Each trainer follows this procedure on the second and third day. At the end of the fourth day, the horses are nearly frantic with thirst, and they are permitted to finally make a final dash for water. Then, just before they reach the water and they are quivering in their desire for thirst, the command whistle for an immediate halt echoes.

For the horses and the trainers, this is the moment of truth, because any horse which goes ahead and drinks the water is rejected for service. Until Hashem adopted a long-range view of his work and went on a bathing average system, he judged himself harshly, because he wanted every one of his horses to obey the command.

Experience finally proved to Hashem that if he could be like the baseball player who strokes three hits in five attempts to bat, he would do well, and though he fouled out or struck out the other two times, perhaps we too, like Hashem, will turn ourself on when we take a longer view over a period of time, instead of severely judging ourself on a day by day end of world basis.

Dear Abby

Needs Professional Help

DEAR ABBY: My son (a junior in high school) is getting to be a very clever thief. I give him a generous allowance, and if he asked for anything extra, we would be glad to give it to him, but he doesn't ask, he just helps himself. He doesn't "need" anything. He just steals for the thrill of stealing.

I know he has been in my purse and stolen money. And I have seen him take money from his father's wallet. He has stolen little things from his friends, and now I find that he has taken things from the grocery store, drugstore and other places of business.

I keep finding things in his room that I know he didn't buy. I have even threatened to take him to the police station to frighten him, but nothing helps. Am I raising a criminal? Please help me.

DEAR MOTHER: A child who steals for the "thrill" of stealing needs professional help. He can be straightened out if he's taken in hand early. Threatening him with the police is unwise. A policeman should be identified as a friend who protects us and our property, not an "enemy" who would take pleasure in punishing our wrongdoing. Ask your family doctor whom to see about this boy.

DEAR ABBY: Isn't it true that if two people dance well together it means they are "in tune" and "meant for" each other?

I heard somewhere that if a boy and girl dance well together they will probably have other things in common and will most likely have a successful marriage. Please confirm this.

LOVES TO DANCE
DEAR LOVES: When two people dance well together, it means only one thing. They dance well together. Believe me, it means nothing else. If you are using "dancing" as a basis for compatibility in marriage, forget it.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is getting married soon and being as how he never made it in college we would like to give him a large sum of money for a wedding gift.

It says in the book of etiquette that checks given to brides and grooms should not be put on display with the rest of the wedding gifts.

My husband doesn't go along with this. He feels that since we are giving the newlyweds so much money we should be giving full credit for it.

What is your opinion?

GROOM'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Checks should not be "on display" along with the other wedding gifts. The book of etiquette recommends displaying only the amount, but covering the signature, which strikes me as being pretty ridiculous. And anyone who gives a large sum of money as a gift and wants to make sure he gets "full credit" for it will, because he's the type who will tell everyone he knows.

DEAR ABBY: To the "GUEST WITH A GIFT" who complained of eating homemade cake at a wedding reception, while a "beautiful three-tier wedding cake stood untouched on the buffet table":

You wouldn't have had any better luck at our silver wedding reception. We also had a three-tier beautiful "wedding" cake on our buffet table, but we didn't offer anyone a piece. It was a "baker's dummy" made of plaster of paris, loaned to us for the occasion, and intended for decoration only. Sincerely,
THE ODD-COUPLE

Humble Oil and Refining Co. has sent its congratulations to a Big Spring man who has recently completed 30 years of continuous service with the company.

He is Ray H. Puckett, 2604 Apache Drive, field superintendent for his company in the Howard-Glasscock area, south of Big Spring.
