PLANS THIRD Dr. Barnard Says Critics Seeing Ghosts

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Christiaan Barnard says he plans to discharge Dr. Philip Blaiberg, the world's only living heart transplant recipient, from the hospital when he returns to South Africa next week.

And when Dr. Blaiberg is sent home, Dr. Barnard says, he plans to perform a third heart transplant "soon—pretty soon."

Dr. Barnard, who performed the first human heart transplant, discussed his plans after reporting on his two transplants to doctors and students at Cornell University Medical College Tuesday night.

Dr. Barnard is scheduled to return to Capetown next Wednesday.

At Cornell and at a seminar at Somerville, N. J., earlier Tuesday, Dr. Barnard met head-on critics who have said heart transplants are premature.

The critics, including those who would establish commissions to decide on such operations, are "seeing ghosts," he said.

"I don't quite see the reason for all this," Dr. Barnard said. "They are seeing ghosts that are not really there. Perhaps I am too young and enthusiastic to see them."

Liquor Ruling

AUSTIN (AP)—The Liquor Control Board must turn down liquor license applications from persons who have not been Texas residents and United States citizens for the past three years, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

Martin's opinion Tuesday was issued to D. N. Humphreys Jr., acting director of the Liquor Control Board.

The Liquor Control Act imposes the residence and citizenship requirements, Martin said.

Fired Pilot Anyway

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jimmy H. Lane piloted planes for Eastern Air Lines for 11 years, including the big Constellations of the Washington-New York shuttle.

"He had a good clean record with us," an Eastern spokesman said Tuesday—never even a minor accident. The spokesman described Lane as a "quiet, friendly man" who was a Marine aviator before joining Eastern.

But Lane has been fired.

The Federal Aviation Administration said Tuesday that Lane never had more than a private pilot's license, which it said a person of average ability can earn by flying about 40 hours. Airline captains are required to have an "airline transport rating," awarded after a minimum of 1,200 hours flying time, including 75 hours in which only aircraft instruments are used.

The FAA said Lane lacked an instrument rating and could never have met this requirement.

But the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., flyer did pass Eastern's tests, graduated from its pilot training schools and after being checked out by the FAA moved on to piloting bigger, faster planes.

His downfall, the FAA said, came when he took a test Feb. 26 to go from jet-props to jets.

Copter Saves 45

LONDON (AP)—Batting 80-mile winds, a British Coast Guard helicopter ran a life-saving taxi service today and lifted all 45 crewmen from an oil drilling rig breaking up in the North Sea.

No casualties were reported.

The rig, the $6 million Ocean Prince, radioed from 110 miles off England's northeast coast that the gale winds and heavy seas were threatening to sink it and rescue ships could not get near.

The rig's giant drilling tower crashed into the pounding waves, and the rig listed badly as the crew huddled in lifejackets on the deck.

The rescue helicopter first made several 17-mile trips to another rig, the Constellation, bringing 36 of the Ocean Prince's crew for transfer to the coastal resort town of Scarborough.

Then the helicopter flew direct to Scarborough with the other nine crewmen.

The drilling tower toppled shortly after dawn. The helicopter reached the rig an hour later.

Student Pilots Die

FT. WOLTERS, TEX. (AP)—Two helicopters collided in flight on solo training missions Tuesday, killing the two Army student pilots.

The victims were identified by Army authorities today as 2nd Lt. James A. Wright, 20, of Portland, Ore., and 2nd Lt. Douglas H. Howard, 24, of Pink Hill, N. C.

The two TH55 helicopters were flying from a staging base training site five miles north of Weatherford, Tex., when the airborne collision happened. A board of officers was selected to try to determine the cause of the crash.

Teachers Take Holiday To Press Demands

By The Associated Press
Teachers throughout Oklahoma and in Manchester, N.H., take a holiday from schools today to press salary demands. Classroom walkouts continued in Florida and Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Oklahoma Education Association's "emergency convention" began less than 24 hours after Gov. Dewey Bartlett and legislative leaders agreed on a $37 million tax and school financing program aimed at averting a teachers strike.

PAY BOOST
Bartlett and a delegation of lawmakers appear before the statewide teacher's meeting in Oklahoma City to explain the program that would give a $1,300 pay boost to the state's 27,000 teachers over a three-year period.

A majority of the 600 public school teachers in Manchester voted Tuesday to stay away from classes today in protest over salaries. Officials said school would be held despite the walkout.

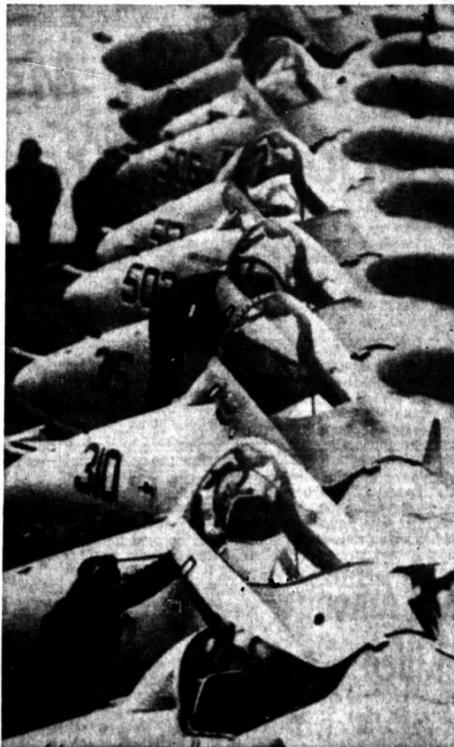

The teachers, represented by the Manchester Educational Association, said they would hold a "professional day." The city solicitor warned that any walkout would be "illegal and a breach of contract."

Meanwhile, teachers in the St. Louis suburb of Wellston, Mo., return to classes with an agreement by the Board of Education to submit a tax increase proposal to the voters for a third time.

SHUT DOWN
Wellston schools were shut down last Thursday when 94 teachers walked out to protest the defeat of the measure that would have raised their salaries.

Gov. Claude Kirk of Florida traveled his state today to talk to local school officials about giving striking teachers a "grace period" in which to return to work.

Some 18,000 of the state's 60,000 teachers have been away from their classrooms for 12 school days after the Florida Education Association labeled a new $329-million education bill inadequate.

Missions In The Making
Navy A4 planes are lined up on the flight deck of the U.S. aircraft carrier Bon Homme Richard ready to take off for missions over the embattled Marines defending Khe Sanh.

FATE OF 49 ABOARD NOT KNOWN

Relief Transport Shot Down

SAIGON (AP)—Communist gunners besieging Khe Sanh shot down a U.S. Air Force C123 transport carrying 49 men near that Marine combat base today, a 7th Air Force spokesman announced.

FATE UNKNOWN
The fate of the men—five crewmen and 44 passengers—was not immediately determined.

The C123s are propeller-driven planes with two auxiliary turbojet engines. The maximum payload is 15,000 pounds. They ordinarily carry in fresh troops for Khe Sanh and fly out others for rest or reassignment.

Communist shelling of the base appeared to be easing. The Marines reported 100 incoming rounds in a 24-hour period, a sharp decline from the hundreds of recent days.

Elsewhere, U.S. forces killed 110 enemy soldiers in three sharp clashes, U.S. spokesmen reported, as the Communists shelled provincial capitals and military posts for the third straight day. The U.S. Command said the shelling caused little damage.

LOST 2,000

American officers said 50,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have been killed in their operations against cities and other major centers in South Vietnam from Jan. 30 until midnight Tuesday. A senior U.S. commander said the enemy "scraped up a lot of people at the last minute" for the lunar new year offensive, but estimated the net losses at 30,000.

American armed forces were reported to have lost 2,000 killed and the South Vietnamese 4,000 in the five-week period.

About 75 miles north of Saigon, paratroopers of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division ran into 150 Viet Cong holding a village.

The Communists opened up with automatic weapons and bazookas and pulled in about 250 reinforcements. Supported by artillery and rocket-firing helicopters, the Americans killed 96 of the enemy force, spokesmen said, while five Americans were killed and 26 wounded.

Along the coastal lowlands below Da Nang, men of the U.S. Army's Army Division reported killing 64 enemy soldiers in two clashes. Artillery and air strikes accounted for many of the dead among the enemy replacements. The anti-riot measure, sponsored by Sens. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., and Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, was recorded before adoption to make it necessary to prove a person intended to incite a riot when he crossed a state line.

Its adoption came after a four-hour hassle in which Humphrey's ruling was appealed. The appeal was withdrawn and the ruling vacated after it became apparent the Senate was not going to sustain Humphrey.

Antiriot Proposal Gets Thumping Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has narrowly rejected an effort to exempt single-family homes from a civil rights-open housing bill but has crushed a liberal bid to stave off antiriot amendments.

More and tougher antiriot proposals were on tap today as the Senate continued its seven-week struggle with the civil rights measure.

THUMPING
By a thumping 82-13 vote, Tuesday, the Senate attached to the bill a measure that would make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite a riot.

And over the objection of Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., floor manager of the bill, it adopted two other Southern-sponsored amendments related to riots and other civil disorders.

In contrast, an amendment to punch a big hole in the proposed ban on discrimination in the sale or rental of housing was barely defeated, 48 to 43.

The amendment, by Sen. Howard H. Baker, Jr., R-Tenn., would have exempted individual homeowners and thus removed from coverage an estimated 29 million single-family dwellings.

Lt. Gov. Smith Visiting Friday

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, seeking advancement to the governorship, will bring his campaign into Big Spring Friday. He has scheduled a breakfast session at 7 a.m. at Coker's Restaurant, where he will confer with some 50 friends, supporters and special guests.

Smith had scheduled an appearance here last month, but his plane was unable to land because of icy weather.

Friday happens to be the lieutenant governor's birthday. After the session here, he will go to Houston and then be in Austin Friday night for a birthday party being given by friends.

Smith is swinging through a number of West Texas towns Thursday, and will be in Odessa Thursday night.

Three Force Colombian Plane To Land In Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—Havana Radio said today that a Jordanian and two Colombian hijacked the Colombian airliner diverted to Cuba Tuesday with between 32 and 36 persons aboard.

The broadcast said the passengers and crew were guests in the Hotel Versailles in Santiago, where the plane landed in eastern Cuba. It gave no indication when they would be allowed to take the plane back to Colombia, but this is expected soon. In the past, passengers and crewmen of hijacked planes have usually been allowed to leave within 24 hours.

The broadcast said the crew was forced to fly to Cuba by Taly Analay, a Jordanian who lives at Maicao, Colombia; Enrique Ortiz Acosta and Aristides Villalobos.

The Colombian DC4 plane was the third hijacked to Cuba this year and the sixth since last Aug. 6, including two other Colombian aircraft. In each case the hijackers asked Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government for political asylum, but there has never been an announcement that any of the requests was granted.

Among the passengers Tuesday were several children, a Colombian senator, two congressmen and an aide to President Carlos Lleras Restrepo, Emilio Urrea. No U.S. citizens were reported aboard.

The plane carried four crew members, but there were conflicting reports on the number of passengers. Colombian sources said there were 28 while Havana Radio said 32.

Wrecked Jet Liner Found, All 63 Dead

POINTE-A-PITRE, Guadeloupe (AP)—Rescue crews reached the wreckage of an Air France 707 Boeing jet today and reported that all 63 persons on board, including a woman identified as the wife of real estate man William Zeckendorf, died when the plane hit a mountain-side Tuesday night.

FOUND PARTS
Cutting through dense terrain, searchers found parts of the plane on Matouba Mountain on the western half of this two-island French West Indies territory. The mountain is about 700 feet high and alongside La Soufriere, a dormant volcano frequently visited by tourists. The plane ploughed into it as it headed for a landing at Pointe-A-Pitre's Raizet Airport, about 30 miles away. Witnesses said the jet burst into flames and exploded.

A resident of the nearby village of St. Claude told reporters: "It was coming in at an extremely low altitude. I heard it explode like a bomb."

En route from Santiago, Chile, to Paris, the plane "just disappeared from the radar screen" while making its landing approach, Luis Guillermo Medina, an airport administration official said.

The plane had left Caracas, Venezuela, at 6:27 p.m. after stops in Lima, Peru, and Quito, Ecuador, and was due in Guadeloupe, Air France's main servicing area in the Caribbean, about 55 minutes later.

WEATHER
Officials said the weather was good at the time of the crash and that they had received no emergency messages from the pilot.

In New York, Miss Marjorie Campbell, Zeckendorf's secretary, said Mr. and Mrs. Zeckendorf were to have met in Guadeloupe Tuesday night and then sailed on the SS France for a Caribbean vacation cruise Mrs. Zeckendorf had boarded the plane in Lima.

The government said the Viet Cong killed 20 civilians and wounded 50 when it seized the provincial hospital.

Other scattered clashes brought total American casualties for the day to 13 killed and 54 wounded, U.S. headquarters reported.

ISRAELIS BLOW UP ARAB HOMES
TEL AVIV (AP)—The Israeli army said today its troops blew up five Arab houses Tuesday in Kfar Ramma village in occupied Jordanian territory. Two of the houses belonged to village headmen who the army said admitted providing Arab commandos with food and shelter.

In Lydda, near Tel Aviv, eight El Fatah members were sentenced by a military court to prison terms ranging from five to eight years. They were charged with espionage and carrying arms.

ACCUSATIONS
Israel and Jordan each accused the other today of shooting first in an artillery battle across the Jordan River Tuesday. A Jordanian spokesman said in Amman that Jordan did not fire at all.

Two Houston Fires Kill 9, Officials Blaming Arsonist

HOUSTON (AP)—Two fires in the same east side area, both attributed to arson, claimed the lives of six men and three women during the night.

A fire department investigator, Mickey Manos, said there was evidence both were deliberately set, apparently by someone using gasoline or kerosene.

PERISHED
Eight of the victims perished in a two-story frame rooming house which burned to the ground early today. It stood near the edge of the industrial district about three miles east of downtown Houston.

Police listed one of the dead as Clara Roickman, 76. They tentatively identified another body, found in the bath tub of an upstairs apartment, as that of Mary Hill, about 30.

Efforts continued to identify five men and another woman who died in the place, called the Taylor Apartments.

A second blaze, discovered more than two hours earlier, occurred in a vacant house and took the life of an unidentified man.

Firemen answered the initial alarm at 9:58 p.m. The last unit was leaving the scene shortly after midnight when Fire Capt. Donald Hanks spotted a glow in the sky and summoned more equipment.

He reported the rooming house three blocks down the street was wholly enveloped in flames—a circumstance cited by Manos as evidence of arson—as the first truck arrived.

Five men were rescued from the blazing structure, one by Hanks himself.

Dave Thrillill, 36, temporarily in charge of the place, told of being awakened by the crackling sound of fire. He ran into his kitchen, dashed a bucket of water on the blaze and shouted for help, he said. Two neighbors in the rooming house—Edward Burgess, 20, a construction worker, and Louis Penney, 23, a gas station attendant—headed Thrillill's cries and helped him escape.

Others surviving were William McLeroy, 33, a feed store employe, and Leroy Harrison, 51, a heavy equipment operator. The death toll was the worst in a Houston fire since 1940 when 36 persons perished in a burning hotel.

DOZEN
Firemen have been plagued in recent weeks by nearly a dozen other fires laid to arson, six of them only last weekend, but all were in the southwest part of the city. They caused one death.

Manos said paper was used to set the earlier blazes. He expressed the view that it was possible but unlikely the same person set the latest fires.

Area Arthritis Assistant Here

Louis Moskowitz, assistant to the area director of the Arthritis Foundation, was in Big Spring Tuesday to speak to members of the Big Spring unit of the Permian Basin Chapter of the Foundation. Here he reviews educational pamphlets with Mrs. Mary Parke, executive director, Permian Basin Chapter, and Mrs. Robert Angel, director, Big Spring unit.

Arthritis Foundation Plans To Make Fund Drive Here

The Big Spring Unit of the Permian Basin Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation was urged Tuesday by Louis Moskowitz, assistant to the area director of the foundation, to firm up plans early for the arthritis fund-raising effort in May.

Moskowitz, who is from Houston, said that he was in Big Spring primarily because this is the first year a local arthritis unit has been formed. He told members that together with Carroll T. Lancaster Jr., also of Houston, the area director, they will serve five states, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas. He was to be in Midland-Odessa area this morning and later in the day R. Koger will coordinate special planned a stop in El Paso, to coordinate arthritis campaigns with local units. The noon luncheon Tuesday was held at Furr's Cafeteria.

Mrs. Robert Angel, director of the local unit, told the group that a "Victory March" is planned for May 7 and a Teen Tag Day has been set for May 11.

Mrs. Floyd R. Mays will be the march chairman, assisted by Mrs. W. P. Edwards Jr. General mailing chairman is Mrs. Allan Hamilton, and her co-chairman is Mrs. Robert Stripling. Riley, of the Medical Advisory Board, and Mrs. Omar Jones will do volunteer work with the unit, she said.

Mrs. W. R. Cashion, publicity chairman, announced exercises classes would be held at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center March 28, April 4, April 11 and April 18. Details are to be firmed up later, she said, and Jim Thompson, physical therapist at the center, will be in charge of those activities.

A winter festival is planned Friday at the Lakeview Y, Dawson said, with live music furnished by James Brown and the Skaters. Admission is 50 cents for students, and $1 for adults.

Dawson said that membership cards may be purchased or contributions received at the Y, 1006 NW 4th. He pointed out that one of the functions of the Lakeview Y is the Lakeview Day Nursery, operated by Mrs. Anna Myers, for working mothers.

Lanny Hamby, local attorney, will discuss "Government Concern for Human Rights" at the breakfast to be held at 7:30 a.m. in the ballroom of the Settles Hotel, which will open the activities for the eighth annual Student Government Day.

The purpose of the Student Government Day, which is sponsored by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce through the education committee, is to acquaint the students with the problems and functions of local government.

The student officers were elected at the high school during a regular campaign with all the details of a legal election being observed.

R. H. Dyer, chairman of the education committee, will serve as master of ceremonies for the breakfast and invocation will be given by Jane Thompson, student health nurse. Dr. Milton W. Tabbot Jr., president of C-C, will welcome the group, and Bobby Polk, student city manager, will respond for the students who are serving as district, county and city officials for the day. Each official will introduce his student counterpart.

Bean Bag Pitch Real Hair Raiser

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — A Travis Junior High School reading teacher, Miss Betty Criscoe, uses a bean bag to keep her students on their toes during spelling drills.

She pitches the bean bag to any student. He spells the word, then tosses it back.

Which went well—until Miss Criscoe was distracted about the time the bean bag returned. The bag struck the teacher on the head, dislodged her wig, and it sailed across the room.

There was a collective gasp while Miss Criscoe recovered both her hair and her composure.

Warsaw Pact Meeting To Spur Red Wrangling

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — Leaders of the seven Soviet Bloc nations gathered in the Bulgarian capital today for a Warsaw Pact summit meeting threatened with more wrangling between the Russians and the maverick Romanians.

WEAPONS DRAFT

Bucharest's delegation walked out of the international meeting of Communist parties in Budapest last week rather than sit still for criticism of Romanian policy and Red China. In what looked like an attempt to patch things up, Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev stopped in Bucharest on his way to Sofia and met with Romanian party chief Nicolae Ceausescu.

STALEMATE

After their walkout in Budapest last week, the Romanians warned that they would not tolerate any criticism of their positions at the summit meeting here.

Shaw's Attorneys Call Newspaper, TV Execs

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Newspaper and television executives and reporters testify today in a state court hearing on Clay Shaw's request that his trial on conspiring to murder President John F. Kennedy be held at least 100 miles from New Orleans.

Shaw's attorneys questioned Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison for hours Tuesday. They accuse Garrison of trying to "poison" the public mind about Shaw. The defense claimed Shaw could not get a fair trial in New Orleans because of publicity in the case, and because of actions by Garrison, his staff and others.

While the hearing was in progress, Garrison's office released a statement charging that the defense sought the change of venue only as "one more maneuver to confuse the public and to attempt to harass the prosecution."

F. Irvin Dymond, Shaw's chief counsel, claimed Garrison violated guidelines set up by Criminal Dist. Court Judge Edward Haggerty restricting publicity about the case.

The defense urged the statement from Garrison's office be admitted as evidence that Garrison continually tries to give the case undue publicity.

But Haggerty said: "I'm not here to rule on a contempt citation today. I have said before I will take that up at the conclusion of the trial against Shaw."

Garrison's statement said defense attorneys "well know that they would receive a fair trial in New Orleans and are obviously hoping that the judge will overrule them so that they will have something else to complain about if they have to appeal."

Even little Rhode Island was represented by business administration sophomore William McKee of Cumberland. Every other state was represented by two or more students, with 308 from neighboring New Mexico leading the immigration to Tech.

Dallas and Harris (Houston) counties, the state's two most populous metropolitan regions, easily led all Texas areas. Dallas sent 1,551 undergraduates and 51 graduate students. Harris, Dallas and Lubbock counties were the only ones from which the Tech population exceeded 1,000. The Houston area accounted for 985 undergraduates and 35 persons working on graduate degrees.

The only other county to be represented by more than 500 students was Tarrant (Fort Worth), with 684, including 34 graduates.

Included was Howard with 149 and Dawson with 116.

LBJ's Travel Tax Tangle Disclosed

WASHINGTON (AP) — It would be possible for a U.S. tourist to travel abroad, add nothing to the balance-of-payments deficit and yet still get hit with the tax on overseas spending proposed by President Johnson. This would apply to American tourists who confine their overseas spending to Ceylon, Guinea, India, Israel, Pakistan, Tunisia and the United Arab Republic.

Under the administration's proposals his ticket would be subject to a five per cent excise tax. His destination wouldn't change that.

But by visiting only those seven countries and converting his dollars into local currencies at the U.S. Embassy, he could avoid any impact on the dollar returning to the United States, however, he would still be socked by a travel tax designed to reduce the balance-of-payments deficit.

Price Heads Nominations

Rotarians received nominations for officers for the 1968-69 year at the noon meeting Tuesday.

Joe Price headed the slate as president with Lowell Jones named vice president and president-elect. William T. McRee was nominated for secretary and J. M. Hill for treasurer. Directors will be Curt Mullins, Les Caperton, Tommy Ross and Charles Bell. Election of the officers will be March 12 and installation at the first meeting in July. President Bill Coleman urged a full turnout at the next meeting.

She, his seventh wife, died Nov. 3, 1966, at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

The third was his nephew, Burney Kirk Archerd, 15, of Long Beach. He died Sept. 2, 1961 at Long Beach Memorial Hospital.

The graying Archerd was not charged in the other deaths, because they occurred outside Los Angeles County.

Archerd, who worked as an attendant at several hospitals including duty in the insulin shock therapy ward at Camarillo State Hospital, pleaded innocent to all counts.

She said that parents can most help a child by love, security and discipline and by instilling realistic goals and aiding the youth to find the meaning of life. Mrs. Rosson added that the schools are gearing their programs to meet these needs.

She was introduced by Sam Anderson who called attention to public school week, and urged Rotarians to visit a school this week.

CHICAGO (AP) — Safety-minded motorists soon may be telling their service station attendants to "filler 'er with gas, check the oil and put some water in the bumper." The new approach to safety, vinyl bumpers filled with water, was demonstrated Tuesday in Chicago.

Plugs along the top of the bumpers pop out on impact to let the water squeeze out, cushioning the force of collisions.

Nothing will be as important to the future of the community within the next 10 years as the college, he said.

The trustee election was called for April 6. Only candidates are K. H. McGibbon, board secretary, and Mrs. Horace Garrett, who is filling her late husband's unexpired term.

Approval was given to two interfund transfers, one for $5,440 to the general fund to cover initial architectural fees on the proposed vocational-technical building, and another for $8,000 to the student housing fund (already reimbursed), plus two short-term bank notes for $6,000 for insurance pre-payment, and $5,000 to the vocational fund pending reimbursement from the state.

The board also raised the pay of substitute instructors to $9 per semester hour, and fixed the vocational instructor pay at $6 per classroom hour.

Purchase of tape records for the speech-radio class in the amount of $140 was approved, along with $400 for replacing a hot water heater in the gymnasium. Employment of Mrs. Billie Hakes in the business office was approved.

The board approved employment of a clerk to prepare a delinquent tax roll, but it will request the county commissioners court to reimburse the college because the county charges the college a fee for collecting its taxes.

Dr. Hunt was granted permission to serve on an evaluation panel for Asheville (N.C.) Buncombe Technical Institute April 7-10 without expense to

Cancer Crusade Chairman Named

STANTON (SC) — The Martin County Cancer Society Monday was told Mrs. Leo Turner would be Crusade chairman this year. The society set the date for the house-to-house canvass for April 1, starting at 6 p.m. The goal is $1,300. Bill Whittis, field representative for the society, assisted by Tom Angel, showed three films entitled "A Sense of Security," "What's Your Line" and Walter Schirra, U.S. Astronaut as National Crusade chairman.

Whittis spoke on the need to inform the public as well as the need for funds. "On March 10 a film, "Cracking the Code of Life," will be shown.

Surgeons Claim Baboons' Hearts Swap Beneficial

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—An experimental operation to transplant the hearts of two baboons ended Tuesday when both animals died in three hours, but the head of the six-man surgical team said he believes the team learned from the attempt.

The head of the team, Dr. M. G. Rainey Williams, said laboratory analyses will take some time. He said the two baboons would have had to live several weeks for the team to make its hoped-for observations of rejections in the animals' systems.

"The purpose just couldn't make the heart support circulation without the pumps," he said afterward. He said the animals were able to live only a few minutes without help of a heart-lung machine.

One thing the team learned, Williams said, was that baboons tolerate the heart-lung machine well. It had been expected that the animals' hearts would respond after support from the machine and then operate normally.

Williams is professor and vice chairman of the department of surgery at the University of Oklahoma medical center where the operation was performed.

Working with him were Dr. Lazar Greenfield, chief of surgery at Veterans Administration Hospital; Dr. Gunner Sevillius and Dr. Michael Barkett, residents in cardiovascular medicine; Dr. Fred Gauthier, second-year surgical student; and George A. McAnelly, senior medical student.

Verdict In Insulin Deaths Case Pending After Months

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The verdict in the case of William Dale Archerd, charged with murdering two of his seven wives and his 15-year-old nephew with insulin injections, is in the hands of a Superior Court judge three months after the nonjury trial began.

Archerd, a 55-year-old male nurse, denied the killings in testimony before Judge Adolph Alexander before both sides waived final arguments Tuesday.

THREE MURDERS Archerd was charged last summer with three murders by hard-to-detect insulin and accused before the Los Angeles County grand jury in three other deaths by the same method.

The first murder charged to Archerd was that of Zella Winters Archerd, 48, his fourth wife. She died at her home in Covina, east of Los Angeles on July 25, 1965, two months after their marriage.

SHOCK TUDY The second, the one that spurred a full-scale investigation by sheriff's detectives, was Mary Brinker Post Archerd, 60, of Chino, Calif., best-selling author and assistant publicity director for the Claremont College.

Archerd, who worked as an attendant at several hospitals including duty in the insulin shock therapy ward at Camarillo State Hospital, pleaded innocent to all counts.

Police Form Association

Thirty-three members of the Big Spring Police Department voted to form a police association at a meeting held Monday afternoon in the police building. They also voted to abolish the police fund and incorporate it into the new organization.

Officers elected were Stanley Bogard, president; Jim Wells, vice president; Mrs. Ann Marie DeLong, secretary; and Mrs. Doris Smith, treasurer. Directors elected were Perry Chandler, Jack Jones, Sherrill Farmer and Jim McCain.

Bogard advised the group that as a police association, no affiliation would be made with any other association or union. He said the association's purposes would be to promote more social activity between members of the department, the Police Reserve Department, and their families, to promote fund raising activities and sponsor activities of a civic nature involving young people or other activity which would benefit the community. The association will give the police department members a common voice with which to speak on public issues, either for or against, which might directly affect law enforcement.

A meeting of the officers and directors has been called for the purpose of drafting a constitution and bylaws. These will be submitted to the membership for adoption in the near future.

Dear Abby

He Just Can't Hear

DEAR ABBY: One of the men in our office claims that in all the 31 years he has been married he has never had a fight with his wife. He says that she has never nagged him, questioned him, or contradicted him. And furthermore, he claims that he has never heard her raise her voice to him. Is this possible?

THE OFFICE GANG DEAR GANG: It's possible, but highly unlikely. Maybe there is something wrong with his hearing.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 30-year-old man who will be getting married in a large church wedding come June. My bride is 25, and we've been engaged for two years.

I was raised in a strict home where hand-holding in public was considered sinful, so perhaps you can understand why I can't see myself kissing my bride in front of all those people in church.

I am very inhibited when it comes to public demonstrations, but I am normal otherwise.

I have told my bride that I consider a kiss between a man and his beloved a very sacred and PRIVATE affair, and I do not intend to kiss her in front of all those people in church. She says everyone will be disappointed if we don't kiss.

I explained that if I were to give her a "token" kiss, people might get the impression that I am incapable of one more moment of passion, and they will feel sorry for her. And if I kiss her in public the way I kiss her in private we may be in for a lot of criticism. What do you suggest?

JUNE GROOM DEAR GROOM: Of all the reasons for kissing after a marriage ceremony, not wishing to "disappoint" the onlookers is the poorest. It seems to me that you two could compromise without going to one extreme or the other.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young woman with what I thought was a good marriage. We have two beautiful children and a lovely home.

My problem is my husband's constant companion (I'll call him Alex) Almost every night Alex calls here, and if he doesn't come over to spend the evening with us, my husband meets him somewhere. Usually at some bar.

If my husband and I go out together, Alex always joins us. When they are together, I feel like an intruder. Abby, I love my husband, but I am beginning to feel like a housekeeper. What should I do? WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Have a talk with your husband, but remain calm, and don't become accusative or hostile. Ask him point blank what there is about Alex that he finds so fascinating. If your husband won't (or can't) try to be more of a husband to you, get professional help. Your doctor can advise you.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A LOVELIER YOU

Ruffled And Saucy Will Be New Look

By MARY SUE MILLER

A gathering trend toward softer, more feminine and romantic clothes shows itself in gentle silhouettes, in sheer fabrics and fabrics with clinging and powdery pale colors. But its clearest indication comes in accessories with a flourish of ruffled touches.

To adorn a neckline, there are ruffled ascots, bordered in pleated ruffles, organza jabots a-flutter with deep fluffy ruffles, and ruffled circlets fashioned of fine dot silk. Froths of ruffles embellish the wrists of gloves and form cuffs to wear with dresses.

Layers of organza and taffeta beruffle the wide-brimmed leg-horn sort of hat. Mini-brellas—rain-proofed parasols—are afloat with ruffles or wear ruffled covers.

Yes, my lovely, romance is in the air. But like other love affairs, this one has its ups and downs. Ruffles can easily begin to cloy.

Muffled in ruffles, a damsel who is already fluffy as a ruffle could appear dollish. A shower of ruffles on a sleek woman could cancel out her chic. To be on the safe side, we recommend one ruffle to a custom-er.

Then there's the matter of figure flattery. You have to be fairly slim to carry off full, deep ruffling. An extravagant frill at the neckline, for instance, is not a wise choice for a short neck. As with other facets of fashion, proportion is the secret of success here.

A LOVELY FIGURE

What's your figure problem? To achieve total attractiveness send for my booklet, "Secrets of a Lovely Figure." It contains easy ways to reduce weight and proportions; to overcome grooming problems, such as freckles and blemishes; to move with grace and poise. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Mrs. W. R. Cashion presided, and the club made a donation to the Salvation Army.

The next meeting will be April 2 when hostesses will be Mrs. Fred W. Lurting and Mrs. John Hogan. The program on garden statuary will be given by Mrs. Lloyd Wasson and Mrs. James Duncan.

Public Schools Mark 'Week'

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

How nice to have a garden club for men in Big Spring! Now, when a man works hard to develop a bed of roses, peonias or whatever, he will probably get the credit instead of his wife who more than likely already belongs to a society of greenhumpers. If they both belong, how sympathetic the association will be among the problems of the blighted posies.

We are not good gardeners in terms of making things grow and bloom beautifully. J.P. did once have some strawberries that were doing so well it appeared they might be perfect for the county fair... but his enthusiasm became too great.

and he sought larger fruit than it seemed he might get, so he put some high-powered fertilizer on them. They might have turned out prizewinners if he hadn't put the extra boost on the berries but, alas, he did and they didn't last through the night.

But with the rain of this winter and what looks like a rainy early spring, a fine new fence for the back yard, who knows, we may turn out some fine specimen yet.

Three teachers from St. Mary's Episcopal Day School, MRS. HAROLD BULL, MRS. ROBERT McDONALD and MRS. LARSON LLOYD plan to leave Friday afternoon for Amarillo where they will attend a session of training for Episcopal Day School teachers. They will return here Sunday afternoon.

Annual Meeting Set In Midland

The annual meeting of the North West Texas Conference will be held March 26-27 in Midland, according to an announcement by Mrs. Kenneth Born at the Tuesday meeting of the Easter Circle, Kentwood Methodist Church. Mrs. Harold Pearce, 1515 Vines, was hostess.

Mrs. Walter Maynard presented the last in a series of studies, "The Response of the Church in Changing Japan." Mrs. Born, Mrs. Pearce and Mrs. William Bodin were on the program.

The Ester Circle will be hosts at the WSCS meeting, March 18.

Two guests, Mrs. Sam Dennis and Mrs. Paul Koshi, were introduced. The next meeting will be Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Tommy Franklin, 3208 Cornell, and Mrs. Pearce will present the program.

The W. F. TAYLORS accompanied the O. B. CAVES of Stanton to Waco the past weekend to see JANE CAVE who is a Baylor University junior who was performing with the Alpha Omegas in the All University Sing which is an annual affair at the university. The first six place winners are the principal attractions at the yearly homecoming Pig Skin Revue in the fall. The Alpha Omegas won a place much to their delight.

Also on the program but not in competition was CYNTHIA POND, daughter of MR. and MRS. JOE POND, who is a member of the National Music Society at Baylor.

Good friends of the Taylors, MRS. GUY SPECK of Carlsbad, N.M., and her sons, Cecil Speck of Lamesa, and Donald Speck of Seagraves, visited with the Taylors when they were here for the funeral of a relative, R. O. Carothers.

From the little magazine edited by William Feather is a little squib that says owners of automobiles are the least punctual of all people because they assume they can get anywhere in the city in ten minutes, which is possible if everything favors them, but it never does. This is so true and is brought more forcefully to those of us who live southwest of town and who must come to town by way of the Wasson Road-Marcy Drive Y. It is not impossible to get through the road construction but it takes a little slowing down and an earlier start which we seldom do... get an early start, that is.

Moss Students Display Work

Texas Public School Week was observed Tuesday with an open house by Moss Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association. Students' work was displayed in each room.

Mrs. Donald Judd presided, and Mrs. Ralph Caton gave the devotion.

Huff, vice president; Mrs. Tommy Franklin, secretary; and Mrs. Bennie Porter, treasurer. Others on the nominating committee were Reg Hyer and Mrs. Caton.

Room count was won by Mrs. Ted Hick's first grade.

Howard County TB Board members and their guests were delighted with a talk by MRS. FLORENCE REILLY, coordinator of volunteer services at McKnight Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Carlsbad Tuesday evening. She is so enthusiastic with her hospital and her work she gives others the desire to help more and more.

Come a note from the BUSTER GARTMAN family expressing thanks for all the gifts and help that came when they lost their home and all their belongings. "We've never met any people as nice as those of the Big Spring community," the note said.

Political Rally Is Scheduled Friday

A Devotional For The Day

"Truly, I say to you, whoever does not receive the kingdom of God as a child shall not enter it." (Mark 10:15, RSV)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for experiences that alert us to see ourselves as we are and to discover whatever within us hinders the kingdom. With Christ to encourage us and the Holy Spirit to empower, may we become better than we are. We would be good witnesses today of the Christ we love and in whose name we pray, as He taught us, "Our Father who are in heaven . . . Amen."

(From the "Upper Room")

Need For Reasonable Voices

After seven months of probing the President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders has issued its report. It expressed a fear that the nation may be headed for a system of "apartheid" (complete separation of the races) unless a massive push is made toward enrichment of the slums and integration.

The panel has put a price tag on the proposed massive effort that dwarfs the current war on poverty and surpasses the cost of the Vietnam war.

Sober voices have been raised on Capitol Hill in caution against too great an expenditure of funds for even a substantial portion of the various proposals. Rep. George Mahon, chairman of the House appropriations committee, issued a blunt warning in advance of the report, calling for the panel not only to make proposals for action but also for how they will be financed. Without this realistic view, he said that there is grave danger of raising false hopes which would be incapable of fulfillment. The reactive bitterness, he indicated, could only aggravate the situation.

The problem is a critical one, perhaps as mountainous as any in the history of the republic. Right now, this nation is confronted with waging a frightfully costly war in Southeast Asia, and this must come first. This does not mean the effort to melt away the ghettos and gnaw at the inequalities and restricted opportunities should be held in abeyance until the war is over. But it does mean that some sense of propriety and balance will have to be maintained. For if Congress is in no mood to pass the President's tax-surge to finance the war, how can it be expected to vote new taxes to underwrite a massive program?

In the meantime, what is most needed is for the reasonable voices in both black and white communities to be heard rather than the extremists. Certainly there must be hope, but there must also be understanding if any solution is to be more than a transient balm.

Yep, Man, Your Image Is Okay

NEW YORK (AP) — How is your image doing? Is it fading or in focus?

In a world that judges you by status symbols, it is presently necessary that you keep your image sharp.

How can one be sure about this? Well, there are little ways.

FOR EXAMPLE, you don't have to worry too much about your image if—

On your last birthday the boys at the office got together and gave you a solid gold key to the executive washroom.

The firm owes so much of its success to your presence that the chairman offers to carry your clubs when you go golfing together.

The board of governors at your country club doesn't vote a doubtful character into membership without first making a quiet phone call to you.

THE COLLEGE you almost flunked out of years ago asks if it is all right with you if they name a new men's dormitory in your honor.

The snobbier college that once wouldn't even accept you as a student invites you to make a commencement address in return for an honorary degree "DBS"—doctor of business science.

You look so prosperous that a bum on the street automatically hits you up for a dollar instead of a dime.

Your responsibilities are so great that you have three secretaries now—one to do the work and the other two to give you something to look at when you are bored with looking out the window.

NATURALLY, your administrative duties are so onerous that—much as you'd like to be there—you find it simply impossible to go to the monthly P.T.A. meetings at your daughter's school. So you pay your butler overtime to attend them on one of his nights off—because you feel duty bound to see that the family is represented in some manner.

The flowers are coming up so nicely in your garden that you hire an Irish assistant for your Italian gardener. After all, it's too much to ask one immigrant to prop up all those lovely tulips. It's a two-immigrant job.

When you pause to congratulate the minister on the fine sermon he has preached, he takes your extended hand in both of his hands as if it were a treasured thing to be coated with bronze or kept in amber forever.

THE GUY IN your high school graduating class who was voted most likely to succeed is now — thanks to the fact you put in a kind word for him — working steady at last as a night watchman for your firm.

When the cigarette girl comes by your favorite table at your luncheon club—the one with the best view in town—you don't select a cigar. You take a handful.

Do you get a ticket now and then for parking too long in the wrong place? You could square it, of course, with a personal call to the traffic court judge, or have your wife call his wife. But it's more tasteful simply to have your chauffeur take the ticket to court and let the clerk there tear it up.

YOU NO LONGER have a desk in your office. Desks are for peasants. You wouldn't even bother to have a telephone in the room except as a courtesy to the White House. When the president of the United States calls you for advice, you don't like to keep him waiting or force him to go through channels.

Your biggest daily exercise is pushing the button in your posture chair when you're ready for your afternoon nap.

All in all, you're doing so well that your gray-haired old mother is the only one in the world left with the courage to call you by your first name—and she's a bit timid about doing it.

Yep, man, your image is okay. You've got status inflated for sure.

House Election Hassle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Politicians are doing some late-at-night figuring—much of it concerning the Republican-Democratic division of delegations in the House—on how to put a presidential election through that branch of Congress.

A House election would be necessary if no presidential candidate received a majority of electoral-college votes.

THE EXTENT of concern was pointed up in a little-noticed speech by House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford at a recent party luncheon.

It was a 15-minute lecture on the task of electing a president in the face of an all-out third-party threat by former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

First problem: How do you get the necessary 270 electoral votes when 35 or maybe more of the total look away from Ford stayed away from naming states but other party sources listed Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina as areas where Wallace is at least a threat. Together they have 35 votes.

BESIDES, Wallace is on the ballot in California and is looking over numerous other states.

Ford treated the failure of either major party to gain an electoral majority as a real possibility. The burden of his talk was about what happens when the job of picking a president shifts to the House.

A presidential vote there is by states, so that Nevada with just one congressman, carries the same weight as California or New York with their platoon-size delegations. It takes 26 states to win.

As things stand, Democrats would win hands down. They control 29 delegations to 18 for the Republicans.

Around The Rim

One Of God's Children

Old Shine is gone, but in Tenyson's words, "let there be no sadness of farewell." Sometimes in his revolt against sham and stiffness, he may have oversteered his philosophy, but Shine wanted to exit smiling.

SO I CHOSE to remember him in his cubby hole in the stare down on Main Street, or even his prescription department in his Johnson Street store (this nook looked remarkably like the old). It seemed to me that he used his horn-rimmed glasses mostly for pushing up on his forehead, though he did pull them down so he could peek over them now and then. Warm, sparkling eyes added to the illumination of a face ready to snort or smile.

FROM THE TIME he was a lad Shine worked. It probably wasn't imitative, but neither were his pioneer parents on comfortable financial grounds. He hawked newspapers, bottled castor oil, got up early and oftentimes worked late. When he went into business, most of his customers were working men at the shops and on the railroad, and the farmers breaking out the sod above the cap rock. He never forgot them, and instinctively he was in the corner of the underdog and the forgotten. He just loved people, that's all.

NO ONE excelled him in a sense of humor. He wasn't a joker; rather he could see the funny side of things, even in adversity. Those quirks of human nature which he saw crop out, and those situations which flipped in the face of pompous or stiff personalities delighted him no end. He usually had an anecdote to nail down a point or illustrate a story, like explaining the spelling of Phillips: "My father knocked the 'l' out of me."

SHINE had the good manners to be gracious in the face of sham and pretense, but he spotted these glosses for what they were. He liked people for what they were, imperfections and all, just like his. He was a great one for the straight-forward approach, and he couldn't be stingy with a verbal bouquet. Failure of people to speak that word of cheer led him to observe that he didn't want flowers for his funeral.

People warmed to him, and in time popularity ripened into something more than that. He had a lot of honors come his way, especially after his book about his Big Spring attracted wide attention. None of this bothered him. He could be hard-headed, but not swell-headed.

IT WOULD have been out of character for him to have been a formal religionist, but I suspect that a deep personal faith was one of Shine's prime motivations. He was like something lifted out of the book of James — he was a doer of the Word. His church attendance was confined mainly to sticking his head in a hospital room, speaking a cheering word, reaching in his pocket for a few goodies, a comb, a trinket, and moving on to the next. It made no difference to him who was there, their background, color or beliefs. They were one of God's children, and so was he. — JOE PICKLE

Forced To A Military Showdown

WASHINGTON—Gen. Giap's failure in the Tet offensive was a head-on blow. He did his own cause harm. He did the American cause an unintended favor.

THE COMMUNIST generalissimo not only lost 40,000 effectives, but lost credibility. His government in Hanoi was left with egg on its face from having predicted a war-ending victory. He did not cause an uprising in South Vietnam, nor the overthrow of the Thieu government, nor the collapse of the defending forces, nor the shattering of American morale.

It may now be as difficult for the Communist populace to believe Giap and Ho Chi Minh, as for the U.S. public to believe Gen. Westmoreland, Secretary McNamara and President Johnson. The fight for faith in leadership is a standoff, whereas before Tet their propaganda about a protracted struggle seemed more true than ours about a victory-within-sight.

BUT GIAP has inadvertently handed us a gain we have not yet counted. He has relieved us of the "pacification" program. Wrapped up in that sloganized package is a basket of evils we are well rid of. In his Johns Hopkins address, and several others, the President had vowed to slay the dragons of ignorance, poverty, disease and political repression in South Vietnam. He was going to win "the minds and hearts of men" out there. This was the "other war" we were fighting, the second front of social welfare, especially in the rural areas. Gen. Giap has relieved us of that one. We should be grateful.

GIAP, by assailing the cities, has forced a military showdown. It did not fully exist when we had units playing county agent in the hamlets, and riding shotgun in the provinces. Our firepower, the principle American superiority, was dissipated, and our only honest purpose for being in Vietnam was falsified. But with our withdrawal from much of the hinterland, we consolidate our lines and we mass our ground, sea and air artillery.

Since the Tet offensive at the end of January, we squarely faced the military showdown for the first time. The President has been saying so in his personal interviews. He has been demonstrating it by escalating the air war against North Vietnam, which had been in a semi-pause to encourage peace talks. He has dispatched more troops, increased the draft calls, summoned some reserves, stopped his mooning about negotiations.

GEN. GIAP DID this for us. He made up the administration's mind for it. He made certain, as it was not before, that we would accept no ersatz solution. If Giap has somewhat strengthened the enclave theory, he has also validated the domino theory. He has shown that we cannot be driven from established bases, and that we cannot weaken in Vietnam and still expect South Korea and other anti-Communist governments to believe in us.

THE PRESIDENT is more determined than ever, in his own phrase, "not to be the first American President to lose a war." He is bled tired. He is savage with his critics. He may be headed for political oblivion and historical debasement. But Giap has cleared the decks for Lyndon Johnson. There need be no more toe-dancing about limited objectives and unconditional negotiations.

Our objective is, and always was, despite much palaver about pacification of the provinces, the establishment of a Western stronghold in Southeast Asia. We hung onto Formosa. We recaptured South Korea. We stayed in West Berlin. A military solution, and nothing else, is mandatory in South Vietnam. (Distributed by McHought Syndicate, Inc.)

What About Those Who Started Riots?

WASHINGTON — Although the report of the President's Commission on Civil Disorder contains 200,000 words, not a single sentence of it recommends the arrest and imprisonment of the persons who have incited violence and the riots of 1967.

THIS IS NOT surprising. For out of the 11-member commission, six hold elected office, one is running for the United States Senate this year, one is the leader of a labor union, and one is the executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People who calls the report "excellent." Politicians and others who are responsive to the Negro vote in big cities are so involved in the racial controversies of today that they are not likely to take impartial positions on the subject of law enforcement. They could be expected only from a panel consisting solely of judges or former members of the judiciary.

WHILE the commission said that it found no evidence that "all or any of the disorders, or the incidents that led to them, were planned or directed by any organization or group, international, national or local," the next paragraph was seemingly contradictory and read as follows: "Militant organizations, local and national, and individual agitators, who repeatedly forecast and called for violence, were active in the spring and summer of 1967. We believe that they sought to encourage violence, and that they helped to create an atmosphere that contributed to the outbreak of disorder."

THEN WHY were they prosecuted? This question arises again and again, as details of the incidents and riots are portrayed in the commission's report. The commission advocates the expenditure of many billions of dollars in programs to improve community life and the economic position of the underprivileged, but it blames the terrorism and the encouragement to violence on the white people of America. The report says:

"A CLIMATE THAT tends toward approval and encouragement of violence as a form of protest has been created by white terrorism directed against nonviolent protest; by the open defiance of law and federal authority by state and local officials resisting desegregation; and by some protest groups engaging in civil disobedience who turn their backs on non-violence, go beyond the constitutionally protected rights of petition and free assembly, and resort to violence to attempt to compel alteration of laws and policies with which they disagree."

In the main, the report attempts to show why Negroes have risen up in protest in big cities, and declares:

"THE CIVIL disorders of 1967 involved Negroes acting against local symbols of white American society, authority and property in Negro neighborhoods — rather than against white persons."

But then the commission goes on to say that "white racism is essentially responsible for the explosive mixture which has been accumulating in our cities since the end of World War II."

Nobody doubts that "racism" exists in America. But who has been instigating it and inflaming both sides in the last five years? This is the central fact which is avoided entirely by the commission. It fails to note that speakers for militant Negro organizations have preached violence and have threatened more and more riots unless Congress grants the demands of mobocracy.

THE COMMISSION'S report is not going to help produce that spirit of reconciliation and friendly association between the races which alone can, in the long run, bring peace inside America. (Copyright, 1968, Publishers-Hall Syndicate)

Hopeful Look At Holdings

NEW YORK (AP) — The mathematical realities involved in the cost of education are causing colleges to take a hopeful but critical look at their stock holdings. The purpose: bigger capital gains.

Yale University has arranged for professionals in Boston to handle its portfolio. And the University of Chicago, which already has made big profits in unusual investments, is now using its on-campus brainpower to invest "more aggressively."

BEHIND THIS QUEST of colleges is a desperate need for funds, for neither tuition nor gifts nor even tax advantages come close to meeting expenses of most higher education plants.

If trends to higher expenses continue, in fact, many privately run colleges may be absorbed into state systems or close their doors or simply fall apart, crushed by bills that force standards to bend and facilities to crack.

At Chicago a relatively wealthy school with an endowment of nearly $300 million, the income from investments last year totaled $10.3 million, or less than 9 per cent of the year's operating expenses of $115.5 million.

THAT THE STOCK market may rescue some schools certainly will do no harm to Wall Street's image, which over the years has been associated with acquisition rather than charity, with immediate goals rather than higher aspirations.

But it's a tough game the colleges are entering. Are they able to play it?

A study of endowment holdings, released this week by the Boston Fund, shows much good judgment already exists, for the most commonly held stocks are IBM, General Motors and Standard Oil New Jersey.

However, this doesn't mean that real losers aren't also in portfolios, and the suspicion and even stronger hope exists that much improvement can be made in the yearly return on investments.

ONE YEAR AGO McGeorge Bundy, Ford Foundation president, remarked that a one per cent improvement in the performance of higher education's $12 billion stock portfolio would mean $120 million additional each year.

One per cent — not much compared with 100 per cent gains last year by some mutual funds. That one per cent seems even smaller when it is realized that some college portfolios are merely held — seldom reviewed and, like old theses, not even taken off the shelves for dusting.

There are some excuses for this. Many college endowments contain the provision that capital must not be used, that interest only can be spent. Thus, slow moving stocks paying good dividends are accumulated.

IN ADDITION, the pressing need for steady income, as from dividends, inhibits the ability to invest in growth stocks of the kind that have paced the bull market of the 1960s. Many growth stocks pay small dividends or none at all.

Beavers Busy

AURORA, Ill. (AP)—Beavers along Fox River are chewing tree trunks and felling trees like woodsmen, but no woodsman can discover where the beavers are taking the tree branches.

Virgil L. Gilman, director of parks and recreation for the Fox River Park District, said more than 25 trees were felled by beavers in one three-week period.

Ash trees more than a foot in diameter were cut down by the animals. They leave the tree trunks after stripping off the branches.

To Your Good Health

A Strange Form Of Pain In The Chest

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: My son is 25 and appears to be in good health. Recently he had pains in his chest while making certain movements or lifting something heavy.

His doctor told him he was suffering from Tietze's syndrome. Can you give me some information on the ailment?

MRS. J. I.
Tietze's disease (or syndrome) is a painful swelling of one of the joints where the ribs articulate with the breast bone.

Cause is not known, but it usually occurs in younger individuals, usually on one side, and chiefly affects the second, third, or fourth articulations.

While the pain generally is localized in the involved joint, it may radiate to the chest wall or the arms.

Because other chest pain can be in the same general location, it is necessary to distinguish Tietze's from pleurisy, heart disease, or other ailments which can cause chest pain.

This is not too difficult as a rule because there will be swelling at the joint and it will be tender. Sometimes X-ray may be advised to rule out lung disease.

The disorder fortunately is self-limiting — it will get well by itself, but this may take weeks.

The patient needs reassurance that the disorder, although painful, is not serious. Treatment consists of medication to relieve pain, heat, and avoidance of movements which aggravate the pain. Injections of hydrocortisone or procaine may be used to accelerate relief.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain septicemia. Is it a fatal disease? If not, what medicine is used for it? Is it a disease of the elderly only? — K. M. R.

Septicemia is what is also commonly called "blood poisoning."

It is a dangerous disease and can be fatal if not brought under control. Or, again, a patient may throw it off — but it requires medical care.

It is not the result of any particular germ, but can be caused by many. Let's say a person has an infected finger. Ordinarily the body's defenses — the white blood cells, chiefly — fight the infection, and keep it pretty well bottled up at the original point.

But if the infection overwhelms the natural defenses, and the germs get into the blood stream, then it is septicemia.

Treatment, besides careful nursing and various measures to support the patient's natural defenses, involves use of which-ever drugs are particularly effective against the particular germs involved.

It is not specifically a disease of the elderly, but is more likely to attack people who are in frail health.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Rehab Center Plans Open House Sunday

Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, 306 W. 3rd, will hold open house Sunday from 2 to 4:30 p.m., announces Jim Thompson, director.

The open house is being sponsored by the board of directors, volunteers and staff at the center. The Rev. Robert Polk is president of the board of directors, and Mrs. Roy Granbery is president of the volunteer council.

Those attending will be given a guided tour of the center and will receive an explanation of the equipment used in treatment of crippled children and adults. Refreshments will be served and volunteers will rotate at the serving table.

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center was opened Oct. 1, 1965. The annual report for the past year shows a total of 479 crippled children and adults received treatment at the center. Of the 7,553 treatments and services, 6,147 were physical therapy and 859 were speech therapy. # U.S. Army Seeks 'Super Dog' For Use In Vietnam Battles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has set out to find a "super dog" for the Vietnam war.

Specifications call for the best possible purebred or crossbred animals that "can cope with a critical problem in Southeast Asia—tracking the enemy and alerting troops to mines, tunnels, booby traps and ambush."

Army veterinarians and geneticists, together with University of Maryland scientists, hope to evaluate from 500 to 1,000 puppies next year under this project.

FIVE TYPES

Five types are being evaluated:

—Purebred Labrador retrievers, hunting dogs with excellent field control characteristics.

—German shepherds, which have been used by the U.S. Army in scout and sentry work.

—A cross between the Labrador retriever and the foxhound, combining the Labrador's field talents with the smaller breed noted for its sense of smell.

—Crossbred German shepherd and small collie with Labrador retriever for size and combined intelligence.

—Purebred standard poodles, for intelligence.

Dogs used in this research program either are bred at special kennels or bought from commercial kennels.

Experts explain that a crossbred dog's family tree is traceable while the mongrel's background usually is known.

Only crossbreds are used in the Army-University of Maryland study.

Army geneticists and other scientists decided more than two years ago that nothing beats the dog as a sensor.

It was agreed that no weapons system has been devised that can replace a good dog and handler for the specific unusual missions they can perform.

Afterward, the Army experts may decide to keep the best dogs as breeding stock.

Each Army brigade in Vietnam is supposed to have one scout dog platoon with up to 32 animals controlled by handlers.

Ideally, the platoon's point man—at the head of a column—would have a dog with him trained to range silently within eyeshot and to give an alert of enemy presence, a mine or booby trap.

The Army's Limited War Laboratory at Aberdeen, Md., has developed an electronic device to be hitched to a dog's harness to help in detecting the enemy.

But regardless of electronics,

TRAPS ALERT

Full evaluation of the dogs at the university's Canine Behavior Laboratory is performed in five stages and takes about 85 days. When the process starts, the dogs are 10 to 12 weeks old.

Zoom Sparks Woes

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A customer remembered an appointment Tuesday and zoomed his car away from the gas station. The trouble was, the gasoline pump nozzle was still attached to the car. The fire department said the pump was shaken loose and a spark started a $600 fire, which closed the station.

Alligator Wins Serial Number

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — His serial number of AL00001 and his bunk is on the second floor of the headquarters building of the 7th Battalion, 6th Infantry of the 2nd Armored Division.

AL00001 is an alligator, mascot of the battalion, and some day may take his place with the battalion regulars.

He formerly was a citizen of the Central Texas Zoo at Waco. The unit crest has an alligator, symbolizing service in the Indian campaigns, particularly the Seminole Wars, 135 years ago.

McCarthy Backers Claiming Victory

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's peace candidacy claimed control of party machinery in at least three congressional districts today after heavy turnouts for Democratic precinct caucuses.

It shaped up as a major victory for McCarthy backers in what amounted to a grass-roots test on Vietnam precincts in more than 3,000 precincts of McCarthy's home state Tuesday night.

If the claims hold up, McCarthy will net at least 15 seats on the 62-member delegation Minnesota sends to the Democratic national convention.

The Johnson-Humphrey forces clearly will control the Minnesota delegation, but the outpouring of McCarthy support obviously hurt.

Party regulars had predicted only six delegates for McCarthy, at most.

McCarthy, 51, is opposing President Johnson in a half-dozen state primaries, starting with

New Hampshire next Tuesday. He has made the Vietnam war his primary issue.

Vietnam was clearly the issue in most of the state party caucuses, with the turnout hitting record proportions in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

Dr. John C. Wright, a University of Minnesota professor who heads the McCarthy-dominated Concerned Democrats, claimed the 3rd, 4th and 5th congressional districts for the party doves.

Each of the Twin Cities area districts will elect five delegates to the national convention.

State Sen. Wendell R. Anderson, the Johnson-Humphrey campaign chairman, acknowledged loss of the 3rd and 5th districts today.

Massachusetts Demos Say They Will Resign

BOSTON (AP) — Some prominent Massachusetts Democrats, including U.S. House Speaker John W. McCormack, say they will resign as candidates for the state delegation to the Democratic national convention rather than be forced to cast first-ballot votes for Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota.

President Johnson sent word

Tuesday that he would neither enter the April 30 state presidential primary nor allow a stand-in to run for him, leaving McCarthy the lone candidate for the Democratic ballot when the filing deadline passed at 3 p.m.

PRISON PENALTY

A new Massachusetts law requires delegates, under penalty of fine or imprisonment, to vote on the first ballot at their conventions for the winner of their party's presidential preference poll in the state unless he releases them in writing.

Joining McCormack in promising to resign from the party's official slate of delegates were Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, a legal resident of Springfield who had been considered a possible stand-in for Johnson, and McCormack's nephew, former state Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack.

WRITE-IN IDEA

The only chance that Massachusetts' 72 convention votes might be kept from going to McCarthy appeared to be a write-in campaign for Johnson. Democratic leaders immediately began discussing the possibility, but some observers doubted there would be adequate time.

Selkirk's Remarks Cited In Congress

Frank Howard may get a lot of surprises before the 1968 baseball season ends, but none is likely to be more astonishing than seeing his salary dispute with the Washington Senators end up in the Congressional Record.

management's enviable position whereby a player, bound by the reserve clause, cannot contract with more than one professional baseball club, it is unfortunate that he should be subjected to insults when he seeks to bargain for a salary raise.

day, the 1966 batting champion asking for $125,000. "We did not use our offer and Frank did not come down," Dalton said. "I repeated I felt we had made a very fair, considerate offer and told him I felt it was time he signed and got to work."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Adolph Rupp, the caustic basketball coach of the University of Kentucky, could have retired at the age of 65 on a pension amounting to 90 per cent of his salary. He's 67 now and still going strong.

One of the senior college basketball coaches attending the recent Region V Junior College tournament here said that Christian College of the Southwest's Joe Hamilton was a fine ball player "but in one end of the court only," indicating he wouldn't grade Joe E. for effort.

Don McDonald, the former Big Spring High School mentor now at Texas A&I, came north from Kingsville for the Region V tournament to scout talent ("because we don't have many junior colleges in our area").

James Kile, the Region V game official who played ball at Amarillo College with both coaches Buddy Travis of HCJC and C. W. (Red) Myers of Amarillo, says that the crowd which showed up for opening night here Thursday at the high school gymnasium was probably bigger than the total gate at last year's regional tournament in Amarillo.

Gene Chancellor, who worked with Kile in the local tournament, lives in Guymon, Okla., and toils at selling farm equipment on the road. He is a member of the Amarillo SBOA chapter and works many games during the year in the Texas Panhandle.

Lavorn Boyette of Dallas was brought in as a tournament arbiter after John Bray, an original choice, had to beg off due to a bad knee.

SMU Coach Hayden Fry, no doubt, was nettled when Abilene Cooper's Jack Mildren signed with the University of Oklahoma but his remark to the effect that he regards Gary Hammonds as a better quarterback probably should have gone unmade.

Hammonds' credentials are good. As of now, the dossier on Mildren is just a little more impressive — a college could have afforded to recruit him for his defensive play alone.

Francis (Smitty) Hill, Hammonds' high school coach, had this to say of his boy: "He's the best athlete I ever coached. Mildren might be a better passer but he's not the runner Hammond is."

RAY JEFFORDS, University of Georgia basketball player, after being drafted by the Atlanta Falcons of the NFL: "I think basketball has improved my agility better than football ever would have."

REG. VI-B

Klondike Is Triumphant

Field for the Region VI-B girls' basketball tournament scheduled to get under way at HCJC here Thursday night will be made up of Talpa-Centennial, Forsan, Trent, Klondike and Fort Hancock.

A single game will be unreeled in the meet Thursday, starting at 7:30 p.m. Two semifinal games are scheduled Friday, one at 7 o'clock and the other at 8:30 p.m.

The third place contest and the title go are booked for the same hours Saturday. Winner of the tournament here goes to State.

Admission prices per session will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Pairings for the meet will be drawn up at 2 p.m. today at HCJC, at which time three of the five schools will be represented.

WINK — Bill Brown's Klondike Cougars, winners of District 70-B girls' basketball title, won the right to play in the Region VI-B tournament by defeating Grandfalls, 73-43, here Tuesday night.

Margy Minter, who stands 5-8, hit 22 points for Klondike, as did Doris Wilcher. Sherry Cozart and Sharon Scott divide time at the other forward position for Klondike while Leta Wood, Gayla White and Gayle Wilcher play in the back courts.

Klondike has lost a 30-4 record and has lost to only one Class B school — Borden County. The other reversals came at the hands of Winters (Class AAO), the Wayland College Queen Bees and Spring Lake.

Fort Hancock qualified for regional play by trouncing Fort Davis, 34-27, Monday night.

WINTERS—Talpa-Centennial (66-B) won the right to compete in the Region VI-B girls' basketball tournament in Big Spring by defeating Edens (65-B), 52-33, here Tuesday night.

Carol Lane scored 19 points and Glenda Brimer 18 for Talpa while Maggie Larrod led Eden with 18.

The Reds did sign two of their holdouts, though, as outfielder Pete Rose and reserve infielder Chico Ruiz agreed to terms.

The Pittsburgh Pirates signed up their last player when Matty Alou arrived in camp from the Dominican Republic where he said he had trouble getting a visa. Pitcher Bob Humphreys also signed with the Senators Tuesday.

Johns Is Named Softball Prexy

Francis Johns has been named commissioner of the City Softball league, which held its first business meeting of the year Tuesday night. He succeeds Huck Doe.

Indications are the league will consist of four or six teams. Those interested in fielding teams in the circuit can call Johns at 26-76287.

Abilene Winner Over Lubbock

ABILENE — Abilene High defeated Lubbock High, 6-2, in a baseball exhibition here Tuesday.

The game was called in the fifth inning due to rain, which fell throughout the contest. Lubbock's record is now 2-2. Abilene is 2-0.

New Records May Come In Bunches

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Records are due to be smashed wholesale Saturday in the Arlington Relays as a powerful university division launches a three-way fight for the title among Abilene Christian, Baylor and Oklahoma State.

Texas at Arlington, Southern Methodist and North Texas State are other entries in the university-college class.

Jim Hines Not Eligible For Laredo Track Show

LAREDO (AP) — Chances of a Jim Hines-Clyde Glosson sprint duel faded today but there'll still be big doings in the Border Olympics 100 come Saturday.

Hines, who has run 100 yards in 9.1 to tie the world record, hasn't made up some grades at Texas Southern and won't be eligible for the big track and field meet.

But Coach Clifford Paul has entered Clyde Duncan, who has done the 100 in 9.3, and believes that will offer sufficient competition for Glosson, the Trinity flyer. Glosson has run a 9.2 and the Border Olympics record is 9.3.

The college division offers more competition, with 11 schools entering contestants, but the university class will get its share of interest with Texas, Texas A&M, Houston, Lamar Tech, and Texas Tech offering defending champion Rice an interesting Saturday evening. Martin Rollins of Texas A&M seems most likely to set a record. He has vaulted 16 feet 1 1/2 inches and the Border mark is 15-8.

There will be 16 junior colleges endangering records all the way around and 32 high schools will be battling it out. Competition picked up remarkably in the golf tournament that opens Thursday. Texas beat Houston, the perennial champion here, last week and could offer the Cougars plenty of trouble as they go after their seventh straight university-college class title.

There are 13 colleges entered while the high school class will have 18 teams. It has been limited to that number this year.

Steerettes Lose Conference Test

ABILENE — Abilene Cooper topped the Big Spring Steerettes, 12-14, 15-6, 15-0 in a District 2-AAAA girls' volleyball game here Tuesday evening.

Forsan Girls Claim Berth In Regional

BRONTE — Forsan's girls won their way to the Region VI-B basketball tournament for the sixth straight year by defeating Mertzon, 60-48, here Tuesday night.

Don Stevens' club next sees action in the Regional playoffs at Big Spring, which start Thursday night in the HCJC gym and continues through Saturday night.

The Buffalo Queens had no easy time of it. The Hornets crept to within four points of a tie, at 50-46, in the fourth period.

Forsan, however, rallied around Mollie Condon, who suddenly found the range again and stepped out to lead the Queens in scoring with 32 points. Gloria Dodd made a big contribution toward the Forsan success with 22 points.

The win was the 27th of the year for Forsan, compared to eight defeats. Mertzon finished with a 21-10 record.

Suzy Ewing kept Mertzon in the ball game with a 30-point effort.

Forsan built up a 16-11 lead at the end of the opening period and was in charge at half time, 25-21.

FORSAN (40) — Condon 9-14-32; Dodd 8-22; Franklin 3-0-6. Totals 20-20-60.

MERTZON (48) — Ewing 11-8-30; Lindley 6-13; Bryant 1-5. Totals 18-12-48.

Forsan 16 25 41 60
Mertzon 11 21 32 48

Frazier collected $175,000 and New York, Massachusetts, Maine and Illinois recognition as heavyweight champion while stopping Mathis with one short, jolting left hook to the temple in the 11th round.

The Philadelphia slugger's manager, Yancey Durham, talked about possible lucrative matches with the winner of the Jerry Quarry-Jimmy Ellis World Boxing Association title fight April 27, and with Floyd Patterson, Boone Kirman of Seattle, Wash., Manuel Ramos of Mexico and Argentine Eduardo Corlelli.

Bonventuri, back at the top as middleweight champion, may take on Don Fuller of West Jordan, Utah, Luis Rodriguez of Miami, Fla., or Gypsy Harris of Philadelphia, in his next title fight.

Both managers said they would take their time before signing for the next match.

Durham said he will wait until Quarry of Bellflower, Calif., and Ellis of Louisville, Ky., settle their title fight.

"But they'll have to challenge us," said Durham. "We've got the hot fighter."

He said the unbeaten Frazier, winner of 20 fights including 18 knockouts, would have to get at

CLAY IN ERROR Boxing Bubbles With New Elan

NEW YORK (AP) — Boxing bubbled with revived spirit today and looked ahead to a series of top caliber matches.

The highly successful twin title show in the new Madison Square Garden Monday night, in which Joe Frazer stopped Buster Mathis and Nino Benvenuti edged Emile Griffith, may have touched off a fresh boom in the often kicked around sport.

Cassius Clay said boxing would die when he left. Well, the corpse had a lively time Monday night when 18,096 fans paid from $10 to $100 in contributing to a record indoor gate of $658,503.

Frazier collected $175,000 and New York, Massachusetts, Maine and Illinois recognition as heavyweight champion while stopping Mathis with one short, jolting left hook to the temple in the 11th round.

The Philadelphia slugger's manager, Yancey Durham, talked about possible lucrative matches with the winner of the Jerry Quarry-Jimmy Ellis World Boxing Association title fight April 27, and with Floyd Patterson, Boone Kirman of Seattle, Wash., Manuel Ramos of Mexico and Argentine Eduardo Corlelli.

McGuire Seeking To Break Pact

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Coach Al McGuire got what he asked for last year—a five-year contract as Marquette basketball coach. Now he's wishing he never asked.

The university refused Tuesday to let him accept a lucrative offer to coach the new Milwaukee franchise in the National Basketball Association.

"I'm a little flattered," said McGuire, who brought the Warriors from the bottom to national prominence in four seasons at Marquette. "If they don't release me, I guess I'll play with Dean Meminger for three years."

Meminger is a highly touted freshman at Marquette.

Marquette says it won't release McGuire. "As far as we are concerned Al McGuire is our coach now and he will be our coach next year," said Rev. Raymond R. McCauley, Marquette executive vice president.

So Big Spring's record remains at 2-0 and the Steers try to improve upon that in a game with Odessa Ector here at 4 p.m. Thursday.

Thursday's encounter will serve as a final warmup before the Steers shove off on a road trip to El Paso this weekend.

Big Spring plays El Paso Burges in the border city Friday, then sees action against El Paso Austin and El Paso Jefferson Saturday.

Ector dropped a 2-1 decision to San Angelo Monday.

James Newman possibly could get the mound call against the Eagles tomorrow but Coach Oakey Hagood probably will again use as many as three pitchers.

Philly Nears Cage Crown

By The Associated Press

Time is running out for the Boston Celtics and nobody knows when Sam Jones will be back.

Boston beat New York 113-91 in a National Basketball Association game Tuesday night, but Philadelphia's 134-103 victory over San Diego cut the 76ers' magic number for clinching the Eastern Division title to six.

Jones has missed eight games with a severe virus and the Celtics have missed his scoring touch.

In other NBA action Tuesday night, Detroit edged Chicago 121-119, St. Louis trimmed San Francisco 134-117 and Baltimore topped Seattle 126-121.

That's how little we charge for a Volkswagen. Of course you don't get certain things with it. Like a drive shaft. (The engine's in the rear.) Or a radiator. (It's air-cooled.)
 Also, because a VW gets about 27 mpg, you don't get a whopping bill at the end of every month. Come in and take a look. We think you'll like what you see.
 And also what you don't see.

Queen Fails To Prevent Executions

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — The Rhodesian government hanged three Africans today after rejecting Queen Elizabeth II's order commuting their sentences to life in prison.

A guard pinned notices on the gate of Salisbury's central prison announcing the executions of the three men convicted of murder and terrorism.

The queen, still considered head of state by Rhodesia's rebel white minority government, commuted their sentences Saturday. But the appellate division of Rhodesia's high court, ruling on two of the cases Monday, held it was "not a personal decision by her majesty but by her government (in Britain). Her majesty is quite powerless in this matter. It is a source of great regret that her majesty has become involved."

Prime Minister Ian Smith declared independence from Britain in 1965, and Chief Justice Sir Hugh Beadle ruled it is the only government in Rhodesia with the power to exercise the prerogative of mercy.

The decision to go ahead with all three hangings was understood to have been reached at a six-hour Cabinet meeting Tuesday.

The case of one of the men, Duly Shadreck, had gone to Clifford Dupont, appointed by the Smith regime as the queen's representative. The queen had sent her order to the last British governor of Rhodesia, Sir Humphrey Gibbs, who the British government still considers her representative.

Barry Now Hints He Could Back Rocky

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater—joining in Republican pleas for unity after his near-renunciation of Nelson A. Rockefeller—has strongly indicated he could back the New York governor for president.

Employees Support Holidays Change

Five national holidays would be changed to Mondays if the resolution adopted recently by the employees of the Big Spring State Hospital were adopted. Such a proposal has been introduced in both the House and the Senate.

The Big Spring Chapter of the Texas Public Employees Association submitted a resolution to the state organization urging the rearranging of five of the national holidays so they would fall on Mondays.

The dates listed for change are Washington's Birthday and changed to President's Day and set on the third Monday in February; Veteran's Day be set on the first Monday in April; Memorial Day, last Monday in May; Independence Day, first Monday in July; and Thanksgiving Day, last Monday in November.

"I've never voted for a Democrat for president yet," Goldwater told a Republican dinner Tuesday night. "And if people want to convince me they have changed their spots, I can be convinced."

UNITY PLEAS

The 1964 presidential candidate had said 24 hours earlier that "conservatives want no part of Rockefeller"—and the remark prompted pleas from around the country for Republicans to unify and beat the Democrats.

Presidential hopeful Richard M. Nixon and California Gov. Ronald Reagan immediately announced they would support Rockefeller if he became the nominee and Reagan said he hoped Goldwater would, too.

"The months ahead," Reagan said in a message to the dinner, "are too crucial to allow for bickering and backbiting among Republicans. If we are divided, we may lose forever the opportunity to meet the challenges of this generation."

William F. Miller, Goldwater's vice presidential running mate in 1964, said he also would back Rockefeller and said he thought Goldwater would end up supporting whoever, the GOP nominees.

Goldwater—referring to his earlier remarks against Rockefeller—added his own call for unity at the Tuesday night dinner.

"If we Republicans can learn one lesson from 1964," he said, "it is this—let's attack the ultimate target, not a Republican."

"If you think that's a funny statement coming from a fellow who said what I said yesterday," he continued, "well, I've never voted for a Democrat for president yet."

But Goldwater repeated that his choice for the nomination is Nixon. "I don't rule out others," he said, "I just happen to believe in Dick."

Opening lead: King of ♠ South, the declarer at four hearts, was obliged to alter his plan of campaign more than once on the deal and, tho the defenders never let up their pressure for a moment he managed to emerge unscathed.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the ace. East followed with first the seven and then the three in order to show that he had a doubleton.

West continued with the queen of clubs and South cautiously discarded a spade from dummy to avoid an overruff. It was his intention eventually to trump out his losing spade which appeared to be a safer course.

Having apparently located declarer's weak spot, West continued with a fourth round of clubs. East ruffed with the ten of hearts and South was obliged to overruff with the king. The ace of trumps was led next and, when East showed out discarding a second spade, declarer realized that he must abandon his design for ruffing a spade in dummy, inasmuch as it had now become necessary to use North's hearts for the purpose of drawing West's trumps.

A small heart was led and, when West followed with the eight, North covered with the nine as East parted with a diamond. The ace of diamonds was cashed, followed by a diamond ruff. A trump was led to the queen felling West's jack and on this play East—who was left with the Q-J-7 of spades and the K-9 of diamonds—found the pressure unbearable.

If East discarded a diamond, it would enable declarer to establish North's ten of diamonds by ruffing away the king. East chose to throw away a spade; however, South now cashed the ace of spades and led a small one to the king, dropping the queen and ten. His six of spades took the final trick.

TURNING YOURSELF ON

Learn To Influence More And Antagonize Less

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Big Spring Herald is sponsoring a Dale Carnegie Course as a means of retaining and developing leaders in the community. This article is one of the written by Warren Quinlan, director of the Dale Carnegie Training Programs in West Texas.)

A reader asked us why the simplest facts and basic truths of human relations are the most difficult to grasp and apply. "Why," he inquired, "do I continually find fault and criticize, when I know that I can't influence and antagonize anyone at the SAME time? The habit seems to have me hooked, and I can't get loose."

Criticism, like evil, is nearly always an absence of love. To all of us it is a dangerous spark in the magazine of pride and the explosion can take place without warning in the form of a lost friendship, a social suicide, and an uncomfortable feeling between ourselves and people we don't want to antagonize.

Shortly after the second world war on an over-loaded passenger train in the early morning hours a tired father tried again and again to quiet his infant son from crying and screaming. Most of the passengers were tolerant and patient for a while, because they knew the father was trying his best. One man complained to the conductor that he couldn't sleep, and later yelled in an angry voice, "if you can't keep your kid quiet, why don't you give him to its mother." After a loud silence the father replied, "I wish I could, mister, but I can't. His mother is the car-behind us in a coffin. She died last week."

The passenger realized his mistake. He thought of something to say, left his chair, and finally fumbled, "I'm sorry, mister, I just didn't know . . . I just didn't know."

If we've played the role of the passenger and "didn't know" by pouncing the circumstances and errors of others, we need to gain and then apply insight about criticism and its dangerous effects.

Three proven facts are important to know. First, to accuse others for own feelings and reactions is a sign that our education hasn't started. Second, to accuse oneself shows our education is underway. Third to accuse NEITHER ourself or others shows our education is complete.

Wise Seminole Indians learned never to "criticize my neighbor until I have walked in his moccasins." We become more worth while when we know how to fight with and motivate ourself. Each of us will enjoy lasting rewards when we know how to influence more and antagonize less. Let's remember, that everytime we point our index finger at someone else, there are four fingers pointing at ourself.

West Texas Rattlers Were Really Big In Those Days

Ever hear of an eight and one-half foot rattlesnake, re-splendid with 21 rattles, that measured six inches through at its widest diameter?

Jack Horn, who works at the Parkway Grocery, has Horn's father, the late John Horn, who owned the Wigwam Cafe in Big Spring many years ago, and the late W. S. Willis, Gustine, not only saw such a reptile, they shot it.

It was a long time ago. Horn and Willis, who wrote reminiscences of his slithering sties over a decade ago, were on a geological exploration of an escarpment near Sterling City, according to the Fort Worth Star - Telegram's late J. Frank Dobie who published the piece in 1955.

Willis started to examine something that looked like a "rat's nest" just beyond some catclaw bushes. He peered into the "nest" — and it moved.

It was the biggest rattler he had seen in his 76 years. Willis then waved to Horn, who was walking along behind him carrying a rifle. As Horn approached, he asked, "What have you found?"

Willis looked him in the eye, then said, "Are your nerves steady?" "I went through World War I," was the reply.

Horn examined the snake, from a safe distance, and Willis urged him to shoot it. "I would not get down to where I can draw a bead on that rattler's head for all the money in the West Texas National Bank in Big Spring," he said steadily. "If you want to shoot, here's the rifle."

Anyway, the outcome was that Willis shot the snake, and he and Horn dragged it into town to show the folk at the general store and stretched it out on the sidewalk.

Horn's son speculates that although Big Spring Jaycees may not conjure up a snake worthy of beating his father's prize, they probably will root out a goodly number of the critters from the surrounding countryside in their sixth annual Rattlesnake Round-Up March 22-24.
