PLANS SET

Junior Stock Show Entries Are Arriving

Thirty-first Annual Howard County 4-H and FFA Fat Stock Show got in action at 3 p.m. today when the first animals began to arrive at the fair grounds barn.

Slick Boatler, official weigher with a crew of helpers, was on hand to accept the animals and get them on the books for the show. The entries were all expected to be on hand by 7 p.m. today. Fifteen steers are expected to compete and about 130 lambs.

Howard County 4-H Clubs, the Big Spring FFA, and the Coahoma FFA will be the competing agencies.

Lamb For Gary Moore

Gerald Oakes, vocational agriculture instructor at Coahoma, said that plans are being made for the Coahoma FFA to enter a lamb which was being fed and reared by Gary Van Moore.

Young Gary was killed early Monday in a train-car collision at a Coahoma crossing. Oakes said that fellow FFA members had taken over the care of his lamb and would enter it in Gary's name in the show. This was Gary's first year in the FFA program.

Oakes said that his boys and girls will have three steers and 30 lambs in the show.

Paul Gross, county agent, who is show superintendent, said all plans are as announced. Judging of lambs will be started at 5:30 p.m. Thursday and will be followed at 7:30 p.m. by the steer judging.

Tradition Of The Show

Friday at 6 p.m., the barbecue supper, a tradition of the show, will be served to exhibitors, their families, buyers who are to take part in the auction, and special guests. The auction begins at 7:30 p.m.

Seventy lambs will be sold and all of the steers. The general public is invited to attend the show events.

SOS Help Continues

Help for the Red Cross "SOS" (support our servicemen) appeal continues to come in, the chapter reported today.

Gifts, in response to a general appeal had amounted to $1,616. The chapter has been asked to raise $4,372 in a world-wide Red Cross campaign of $12 million. This sum is required to meet pressing demands brought on by the Vietnam War. The Red Cross load in giving assistance to service families has multiplied many fold.

Those who will help in this program are asked to send checks, made to "American Red Cross," Box 626, Big Spring.

N. Vietnam Invasion?

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government's chief spokesman said today that a volunteer "liberation army" is being formed to invade North Vietnam.

U.S. officials expressed complete surprise at the report.

The spokesman, Director General of Information Nguyen Ngoc Linh, said the invasion army would be made up of Vietnamese who are "sick and tired of those people who want to 'liberate' South Vietnam." This was a reference to the Viet Cong, who call themselves the South Vietnamese Liberation Army.

March To The North

Vietnam Press, the government news agency, reported earlier today that authoritative sources had said a "high-ranking member of the vice president's office is forming a March to the North Army." The vice president is Nguyen Cao Ky, the former commander of the air force who was premier for two years before he and President Nguyen Van Thieu were elected last fall.

Demos Put Drama In Primary Vote

PRIMARY COMMENTS

What They Said

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some comments on the results of the New Hampshire presidential primary:

DEMOCRATS

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy: "We can go on to the nomination in Chicago."

President Johnson: "I think New Hampshire is the only place where a candidate can claim 20 per cent is a landslide and 40 per cent is a mandate and 60 per cent is unanimous."

REPUBLICANS

Richard M. Nixon: "A smashing victory . . . the country is going to get a new president in January."

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller on Nixon's victory: "Politically I don't think it was very significant because there was no competition."

Gov. Ronald Reagan: "A hollow victory" for Nixon because he had no competition."

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — New Hampshire Democrats returned a startling split decision today, giving President Johnson a narrow, empty victory in the nation's opening presidential primary— while awarding rebellious Eugene J. McCarthy 42 per cent of the ballots and apparently 20 nominating votes at the party's national convention.

Richard M. Nixon won the overwhelming Republican vote he sought to help wipe out the memory of past defeats and propel his quest for the GOP presidential nomination.

DEMO DRAMA

But the drama was in the Democratic story. It was a story of political trouble for Johnson, and a leadoff success for McCarthy, whose campaign on a platform protesting Vietnam policy once was scorned as inconsequential by Democratic professionals.

Minnesota's McCarthy far surpassed his forecasts—and those of his opponents. Johnson's name was not on the ballot, but the state Democratic organization waged a tough write-in campaign. Its product: a minority win for the President, who received 48 per cent of the vote.

The near-final count had Johnson leading McCarthy by less than 4,000 votes. The President's promoters had forecast a 3-1 victory—and even that prediction was toned down from earlier 10-1 talk.

REVERSING

The contest for delegates appeared to be reversing the verdict of the presidential preference poll. Actually, the poll, popularly called a "beauty contest," is binding on no one.

In the separate contest for Democratic delegates, candidates pledged to vote for McCarthy's nomination were leading for 20 of the 24 national convention seats at issue, while contenders favoring Johnson led for four.

McCarthy's performance in that phase of the primary was enhanced by the fact that as a declared candidate, he could choose the people running as delegates pledged to him, and limit their number. Johnson, undeclared and not on the ballot, could not.

As a result, there were 24 McCarthy delegates on the ballot, while 45 persons favoring Johnson divided the loyalist vote.

CONFOUNDED

The Minnesota senator thus confounded the forecasts and gained his first officially selected, pledged delegates to the Democratic convention.

That showing lent new stature to his campaign of opposition to Johnson's policy in Vietnam, although the President scoffed at the outcome, saying New Hampshire is the only place where a candidate can claim "40 per cent is a mandate."

The magnitude of the Nixon vote left no doubt about the mandate there. The former vice president swept 79 per cent of the vote, smothering the last-minute write-in campaign for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. Nixon was out to erase the label of loser pinned to him after defeats for the White House in 1960 and for the governorship of California in 1962.

Nixon said it was "a smashing victory." Rockefeller said it was not significant because there was no competition.

RETURNS

These were the returns: With 98 per cent of the anticipated 54,000 Democratic votes counted, Johnson had 25,970 ballots, McCarthy had 22,479.

On the Republican ballot, with 99 per cent of the expected 106,000 votes in, Nixon had 83,071, Rockefeller 11,517.

Nixon and McCarthy were listed on the ballot; Johnson and Rockefeller were not. The total turnout in both parties was far larger than had been anticipated.

New Hampshire also chose delegates to the two national conventions.

Candidates pledged to support Nixon swept the eight GOP convention seats at stake.

In the Democratic contest, McCarthy-pledged candidates led for 21 seats, delegates favoring Johnson led for three. McCarthy delegates were pledged and approved by the candidate, so 24 sought the 24 seats. Forty-five candidates favoring the undeclared Johnson divided the loyalist vote.

CONCERN

Despite the Johnson ridicule, there could be no doubt that the outcome in snowy New Hampshire stirred concern at the White House. That concern may not in fact be about McCarthy himself, but about the possible impact of his showing on the course of New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Few believe that McCarthy can wrest the Democratic nomination from Johnson. McCarthy himself is one of the few.

BULLION DEALERS SHARPLY CURTAIL TRADING

Europe's Gold Rush Becomes Stampede

LONDON (AP) — Europe's gold rush became a virtual stampede today and bullion dealers curtailed trading sharply in the London market.

The curtailment was the first such action taken since the formation of the international gold pool in 1960.

London dealers made clear there was no suspension of sales. They raised the price of gold five cents to $35.20 an ounce and refused to take small orders. No big orders were refused. The action came as the Italian treasury described as "without foundation" a report from Zurich that the United States was shouldering Italy's share of bullion in the international pool.

In Washington, the Treasury Department also denied the Zurich report.

The United States already contributes 59 per cent of the gold sold on the London market as part of the pool.

Last June it picked up the nine per cent share of France which stopped contributing gold because she felt the pool was a one-way street. French sources have said the pool never took in any gold, just shipped it out.

Other nations in the pool are Belgium, the Netherlands, Germany, the United Kingdom and Switzerland.

The IMF listed Italian gold holdings in excess of $2.36 billion.

U.S. Treasury officials noted that Italy is free to convert her excess dollar holdings into U.S. gold any time she wishes. This option, they noted, is open to any country which holds dollars.

Forty tons of gold were snapped up in the London market at the opening price fixing, more than double Tuesday's level at the same period. This could mean a day's total of close to 100 tons and a return to last December's crisis level.

Heavy demand also hit the Zurich market. One source said Swiss banks expect an embargo soon by the United States, which with the other six nations of the gold pool is pledged to sell gold at $35 an ounce.

Britain, which devalued the pound last November in an effort to correct its balance of payments deficit, announced today that its unfavorable trade gap doubled in February. Imports increased by $115.2 million to a record level of $1.59 billion. This left a trade deficit of $168 million, compared with $84 million in January.

The pound dropped to $2.3960 today compared with Tuesday night's close of $2.3965.

Banking sources in Zurich said even the general public appeared to join in the gold rush there this morning. They estimated total demand at 60 to 80 tons in the morning alone.

The demand for gold reached an all-time high on the Paris market—15 tons of one-kilo ingots and large quantities in other forms.

Negro Leader Loses Mississippi Contest

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Rep.-elect Charles Griffin, landslide winner over the first serious Negro political challenger this century, today prepared to take his seat in Congress where he served as an aide for 18 years.

2 TO 1

Griffin scored a 2 to 1 victory over Negro leader Charles Evers in Tuesday's special election to fill the House seat vacated when John Bell Williams resigned in January to become governor.

Evers said he will seek the post again and informed sources reported several white political figures will oppose Griffin when he enters the Democratic primary June 4 for a full term beginning next January.

The presence of Evers in the runoff and the absence of racist overtones marked the campaign, which ended with Evers visiting Griffin's headquarters to offer his personal congratulations Tuesday night.

The two men, shook hands, and Evers signed the guest book.

As the Griffin supporters standing nearby applauded, Evers said, "We're all Mississippians. If I'd won I'd expect the same thing."

Griffin's supporters crowded around Evers, shook hands and pounded him on the back in a display of high spirits. Griffin, 41, called the record vote an endorsement of his political philosophy. He describes himself as a conservative.

Evers, 45, state field secre-

tary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told a television audience later more whites turned out to vote against him than he expected, but that the election proved a new day had arrived in the state.

RETURNS

Unofficial returns from 296 of the district's 308 precincts gave Griffin 85,039 votes to 42,684 for Evers, with the 127,723 total topping both the first round figure and runoff predictions.

The first round brought out 114,871, divided among Evers and six white opponents. Evers got 33,713 and Griffin 28,806.

Laos Troops Stop Commies

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Laotian government troops pushed back two North Vietnamese battalions that had driven to within six miles of Thakhek, across the Mekong River from a U.S. air base at Nakorn Phanom, in Thailand, Laotian military sources reported today.

The sources reported fighting five miles east of Thakhek but said latest reports indicated the Communists were pulling back because of intense "friendly" air attacks.

U.S. Air Force sources in Bangkok refused to comment on reports that the combat air support to Laotian forces came from American planes based at Nakorn Phanom.

A Thai Interior Ministry official said 22 foreigners, most of them American government employees and British Colombo Plan workers, fled across the Mekong from Thakhek to Nakorn Phanom.

Bobbie Taking Another Look

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said today that as a result of the New Hampshire primary "I am reassessing my position as to whether I'll run against President Johnson" for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I think that the election in New Hampshire has indicated a good deal of concern in the Democratic party about the direction our country is going," Kennedy told reporters in a crowded corridor outside a Senate hearing room.

Enemy Pressure Slacks Off On Khe Sanh Base

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces killed more than 300 enemy troops in four battles in the northeast corner of South Vietnam Tuesday, but enemy pressure on the besieged U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh slackened.

North Vietnamese gunners who have poured an average of 350 shells per day into the Khe Sanh base, in the northwest corner of the country, fired only 35 shells Tuesday.

DECLINED

U.S. commanders declined to speculate on the reason for the sudden drop-off in the bombardment.

There had been some expectation that the North Vietnamese surrounding Khe Sanh would make a major move today to mark the 14th anniversary of the beginning of the siege of Dien Bien Phu, another isolated base whose loss was the last straw for the French. The U.S. Command had no word on action today at Khe Sanh, but there was no indication from newsmen there that there was any unusual activity.

About 25 miles east of Khe Sanh, South Vietnamese infantrymen and armored cavalrymen reported 194 enemy soldiers killed in a two-day battle that ended Tuesday night five miles north of the U.S. Marine headquarters at Dong Ha. Their losses were 39 killed, 91 wounded and 12 missing.

A government spokesman said most of the South Vietnamese casualties were suffered in a heavy artillery barrage that triggered the battle, the 10th major fight by the same units in the past two weeks.

Three miles to the east, U.S. Marines battled for eight hours with an estimated 600 North Vietnamese and counted the bodies of 35 enemy soldiers afterwards. Ten Americans were killed and 23 wounded.

Soviets Abandon Listing Cargo Ship

NEW YORK (AP) — The 45-man crew of the Soviet cargo vessel Velikiye Ustuyg abandoned ship in the North Atlantic today, and a Coast Guard plane reported seeing only 26 survivors.

The Coast Guard said the plane's crew spotted a life boat with 25 men in it, and a life raft with at least one more. However, there could have been more men on the raft, which was covered by a canopy, the Coast Guard said.

The 495-foot vessel, en route from Cuba to the Soviet Union, notified the Coast Guard at midnight that it was "listing sharply" 360 miles south-southeast of Newfoundland.

Two vessels, the Adolf Leonhardt, a German cargo ship, and a Russian ship, Ledus, were on the scene by dawn, but had not yet picked up the seamen, the Coast Guard said.

its headquarters at Dong Ha, 11 miles south of the demilitarized zone. Tuesday's other heavy fighting was below Quang Tri City capital of South Vietnam's northernmost province, eight miles south of Dong Ha. Fresh enemy units have been reported crossing the DMZ into the area recently.

In a battle which continued into the night, soldiers of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division reported killing 59 enemy soldiers and seizing one suspect southwest of Quang Tri. U.S. casualties were withheld while the clash went on.

OTHER UNITS

Other units of the division fought southeast of Quang Tri and reported killing 16 North Vietnamese, with one American killed and 20 wounded.

About 80 miles farther south, government infantrymen overran a Viet Cong command post near Quang Ngai City and reported killing 56 guerrillas.

A government spokesman said U.S. Army helicopter gunships sank 21 sampans carrying Viet Cong supplies near Hoi An, north of Quang Ngai.

Unique Primary In Politics

Nixon Buoyed

NEW YORK (AP) — Buoyed by what he called "a smashing victory" in the New Hampshire Republican primary election, Richard M. Nixon sets out today to bid for a similar win in Wisconsin.

He called his victory and the strong showing made by Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., in the Democratic primary an evidence of "disenchantment" among voters with President Johnson. This was true, he said, "on all issues, not just the war in Vietnam."

Nixon said he would continue to campaign only against Johnson, no matter what Republican primaries New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller enters, "because I have never campaigned against a Republican."

Results of the primary, he said, showed that "the people of America don't want four more years of Lyndon Johnson in the White House."

The former vice president, who suffered defeats by the late President John F. Kennedy in 1960 and in California by Gov. Edmund Brown in 1962, reacted to the results with all the enthusiasm of a first-time winner.

Republican voters in New Hampshire gave him 79 per cent of their votes.

Jubilant and sure of himself, joking about how well he looked in new make-up, he urged Rockefeller to enter all the primaries.

Rockefeller told newsmen he considered the primary results, where his write-in bid won only about 10 per cent of the voters, "insignificant." Johnson also shrugged off the results.

But Nixon, surrounded by hundreds of supporters gathered in front of television cameras, disagreed.

"America is going to get new leadership in the fall and the country is going to get a new president in January," he said. "We have won in New Hampshire and we are going to win in Miami" where the Republican National Convention meets in August, he said as the crowd cheered.

Nixon, besides challenging Rockefeller to meet him in the forthcoming primaries, also said that the New Hampshire primary showed that "the people of this country this year don't like an absentee."

The Wisconsin primary is April 2.

Nixon kept repeating that he would only fight Johnson, but Rockefeller's name came up at almost as much—largely because reporters kept mentioning it.

The New Hampshire win, Nixon summed up, would "put pressure on Rockefeller to get in or get out."

Only Two Minor Mishaps Listed

Tuesday only two minor accidents were reported to police and there were no injuries. A car driven by Robert Lemons, 141 N. West Drive, was in collision with a car that left the scene of the accident at Barnes and Eleventh Place.

A car which left the scene collided with a car driven by Frankie Morrow, Sterling City Route, in the Gibson Discount Store parking lot.

Pres. Johnson Jokingly Dismisses Its Importance

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, speaking as the New Hampshire ballot count was revealing a surprising show of strength by Democratic challenger Eugene J. McCarthy, jokingly dismissed the importance of the Granite State primary.

Without mentioning Sen. McCarthy by name, Johnson drew laughs from a Veterans of Foreign Wars convention audience Tuesday night when he said, "I think New Hampshire is the only place where a candidate can claim 20 per cent is a landslide and 40 per cent is a mandate and 60 per cent is unanimous."

"The New Hampshire primaries are unique in politics. They're the only races where anybody can run—and everybody can win," the President added.

McCarthy, the Minnesotan who based his campaign for New Hampshire's Democratic National Convention votes on a platform of opposition to Johnson's Vietnam policies, polled about 40 per cent of the primary vote. That compared with about 50 per cent for Johnson, in whose name a write-in campaign was waged.

Johnson also turned to jokes to job at challenges to his Vietnam policies by members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which wound up Tuesday two days of questioning Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The President said of the televised hearings: "We had a great cast—but no plot. We also had trouble picking a title—'Gunsmoke' was taken."

But Johnson turned serious in defending his Vietnam policies. In a somber tone, he praised Rusk's defense of those policies and pledged anew there would be no retreat from America's world responsibilities. Earlier, at a White House ceremony at which he awarded the Medal of Honor to two Marine heroes of Vietnam combat, Johnson said, "This is an anxious time for America. It calls for every fiber of our courage, every source of our intelligence, every capacity for sound judgment that the American people can summon."

McCarthy Jubilant

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy—his gleeful student backers singing the theme of an older generation, "Happy Days Are Here Again"—predicts that he has picked up enough momentum in New Hampshire to carry him to victory in the Democratic convention.

The Minnesota Democrat went into the primary as a practically unknown symbol of opposition to the Vietnam war. He came out Tuesday as a full-fledged candidate whose backers say will attract more support, talent and campaign money.

In the New Hampshire primary, McCarthy won 41 per cent of the vote, President Johnson, a write-in candidate, got 49 per cent.

McCarthy's backers and many other observers considered his showing a surprising triumph.

Standing before several hundred cheering, perspiring youngsters crowded into a hotel meeting room, McCarthy declared: "With the momentum we have here in New Hampshire and with the experience of our now adult staff and campaign workers, we can go on to the nomination in Chicago."

Several hundred college students from Harvard, Wellesley, Vassar, Yale and other Eastern schools invaded New Hampshire in the closing days of the campaign to get out the vote for McCarthy. He told them to take a couple days off and said he would see them in Wisconsin, the next primary on the calendar.

The scene in the McCarthy hotel headquarters mixed elements of a political convention and a Mardi Gras as scores of the students moved in to get the primary results.

They chanted: "We want Gene. We want Gene," sang the Wisconsin fight song, and then "Happy Days Are Here Again" from the Franklin D. Roosevelt era.

A reporter asked McCarthy if he thought the result was a repudiation of the war in Vietnam. "I think that's at least half of it," said McCarthy.

There is also a feeling, the senator said, that "the President doesn't really represent what America stands for."

Wants Chugholes Filled, Quiz For Politicians

To the editor: The City of Big Spring should rename Farm Road 700 and call it the "Old Chisholm Trail," or the "Old Chughole Trail." Even our forefathers would have scouted a better trail for their covered wagons.

As you try to navigate this road, you must be constantly on guard against numerous obstacles of which the chugholes are the gravest. I have often wondered if these holes actually have a bottom.

Surely the construction company can allocate a small portion of their profits and provide the citizens of Big Spring with an adequate detour while they are trying to build a better road.

RAY G. PILAND
2613 Cindy

To the editor: I am a U.S. serviceman in Vietnam, and due to the recent crises in Vietnam and Korea, several questions have crossed my mind.

It seems like every decision being made today by major politicians is based on political gain, such as should we send more troops to Vietnam, call up more reserves, and what to do about the Pueblo. It seems like everyone now is trying to take the middle of the road and not step on anyone's toes, and the people trying to get into office are trying to influence the people in power one way or the other so as not to diminish their popularity.

My own opinions tend towards the hawk, but I'm not writing to discuss my opinions. I have a question for politicians, namely can they sleep well knowing that hesitation to make an unpopular decision might cost the life of an American fighting man, many of whom are not even old enough to vote but are fighting and dying to give others a chance to run for office?

Enthusiasm Overcomes Imaginary Barriers

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Big Spring Herald is sponsoring a Dale Carnegie Course as a means of retaining and developing leaders in the community. This article is one in a series written by Warren Quinlan, director of the Dale Carnegie Training Programs in West Texas.)

A prominent success-engineer once said that "enthusiasm is like the measles, we can't give it to anyone else unless we have it ourself."
 Last fall, 675 elementary school children demonstrated this principle when they participated in a series of fire drills. Each morning for more than four weeks all 675 students left their seats, lined up with their class and evacuated the building in an orderly procession when the alarm sounded.

After 32 drills, the entire program consumed only four minutes and three seconds. Each of the 24 dedicated teachers, as well as their safety-conscious principal, were justifiably proud with this record-breaking accomplishment. Everyone conceded that this impressive result of coordinated efficiency would be just about impossible to beat... everyone, that is, except the assistant principal. He conceded nothing, because he believed they could and would do even better.

When he went outside just before the lunch bell, he checked his watch and "timed" the departure for food and refreshment. From beginning to end, the building was emptied in three minutes flat... 63 seconds better than the standing record.
 "Doesn't this example prove an important point? When we do something we have to, don't we just do it? Then again, when we do something we want to do, don't we do it like champions? Why set imaginary barriers? Let's get a contagious case of the enthusiasm - measles, and start an epidemic right now!"

A LOVELIER YOU

Anything Goes This Fashionable Spring

By MARY SUE MILLER
A new fashion has to have majority acceptance before it enters the hit class and gets to influence what you and I must wear. At this date best selling spring fashions are a contradictory lot.

The very long-jacketed suit and the brief-jacketed suit run a close race in the popularity polls. Ditto A-line skirts and pleated skirts. Starchy ruffled shirts vie with soft, elastic shirts.

Your dress may have a dirndl or skummy skirt, long sleeves or none; a turtleneck or one down-to-there. The much touted belt clasps your waist in the middle or at any point to the north or south.

Tiny side-tilt berets and romantic hats with huge brims are showcased side by side. Fashion bulletins have it that preferred handbags are medium in size. But, if you have been in a handbag department lately, you'll know measurements range from tiny to portmanteau.

Stockings? Shoes? There's 10 times more to it than flares and flats. Hem lengths? In all of fashion nothing offers so much latitude as where you may choose to turn your hem. So what is it that it is, the

Before the weather changed so abruptly Sunday I saw the happy band of horsemen in the Big Spring Riding Club enjoying being on a leisurely afternoon ride. They weren't cantering or trotting or any of those fast-moving gaits... just sort of moseying along. Bigger Tax Bite May Be Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, shifting emphasis from economic to military arguments for higher taxes, says a bigger hike than originally sought may be needed if 200,000 more men are sent to Vietnam.

Fowler told the Senate Finance Committee Tuesday no decision has been made on any big manpower addition to the war zone. But he added that if it comes about, the administration will need more than the 10 percent tax surcharge it has already requested.

MORE MEN

Charles J. Zwick, director of the Budget Bureau, said sending 200,000 more men to Vietnam could cost $4 billion.

Although the administration hasn't abandoned economic arguments for the surcharge, the emphasis on Vietnam requirements appeared designed to win friends for the proposal in Congress and among the public by appealing to patriotism and sacrifice at home.

Fowler made his strongest bid so far to get the surcharge labeled a war tax.

RATES RISE

Some Congress members complained last year the administration lost its chance to win quick approval of the surcharge by not calling it a war tax—a term understandable to everyone.

There was some sentiment among administration advisers for using the war-tax label. But when President Johnson sent the measure to Congress he dwelled mostly on such issues as inflation, availability of mortgage money and the need to counter a rise in interest rates.

Responding to a question by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., Fowler told the Finance Committee he does not believe there will be a need for wage, price and credit controls.

But Fowler said if more men are sent to Vietnam, he would favor an entirely new fiscal package, including deeper cuts in domestic spending in addition to higher taxes "or a combination of both."

NEED STRESSED

Fowler said he favors a pending bill to extend excise taxes on autos and telephone service.

The Treasury chief also said he would support a plan by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., to attach the administration's 10 percent tax-hike proposal to the excise measure.

"I'm in favor of anything which will bring about the enactment of this badly needed income tax increase at the earliest possible time," Fowler said.

The House already has passed the excise measure, which would continue auto and telephone excise rates at current levels, but the surcharge bill has been in the Ways and Means Committee since Johnson sent it to Congress last August.

Troop Increasing Bid Faces Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration faces a bitter fight in Congress over whatever decision the President makes about increasing U.S. troop strength in Vietnam.

The two-day debate staged by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee with Secretary of State Dean Rusk as the reluctant witness has served mainly to demonstrate the depth of division on war policy with which President Johnson must deal at this critical point in the conflict.

DUE DECISION

It had the aspects of a preview of coming events when finally the President's decision is made known. Whether Johnson can moderate the dissension by consultation with congressional leaders and careful balancing of their views in arriving at his own position is still to be determined.

The dominant impression in Washington now is that the President will try to find some way to provide additional fighting men to Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in South Vietnam, without immediately authorizing the full 206,000 which is reportedly Westmoreland's maximum request.

Officials say they don't know when the President will reach his decision, but some expect it within the next two or three weeks.

Rusk's testimony suggests that when the President has made his decision he wants to disclose it to an accompaniment of the strongest and most persuasive reasons he can find for his actions.

For as the Foreign Relations Committee sessions have now made clear, whatever Johnson decides will be subject to immediate attack at the Capitol—criticized either as a move toward escalating the war or as a failure to provide all the troops necessary for victory or both.

NEW PEACE BIDS

It is believed the administration is meanwhile considering possible new peace moves—a major demand of Senate critics who told Rusk Tuesday they did not think enough had been done to try to get North Vietnam to the negotiating table.

Opening lead: Ten of ♠. North was not inclined to abandon all hopes for game though he lacked a fit for his partner's suit and South had merely bid and rebid hearts at minimum levels. With 17 high card points, North chose to make one more try by bidding two no trump even though he had no stopper in diamonds. South required only mild encouragement to carry on and when his partner announced additional values, he jumped directly to four hearts.

West opened the ten of spades and the ace was played from dummy. The ace and king of clubs were cashed so that South might dispose of his losing spade. The ace of hearts was played and a small diamond was led.

East followed with the three and declarer put in the queen from his hand which held the trick.

At this point South made the key play of the deal—he led the five of hearts from his hand, despite the fact that he had a perfect sequence in the suit in the form of the J-10-9. The five of hearts succeeded in dislodging East's queen and the queen of clubs came back. Declarer ruffed with the nine of hearts and West discarded a spade.

The jack of hearts drove out the king and when South regained the lead, he still retained the ten of hearts to draw West's last trump—the eight. When the king of diamonds fell under the ace, North's jack became established for declarer's 10th trick.

If South had led the jack of hearts instead of the five when he was in his hand, East's club return would have promoted an extra trump trick for his partner. If South ruffs low, West overruffs with the eight. If South trumps with the nine of hearts, West takes a discard and now he has two natural heart tricks.

South reasoned that, if the hearts were divided three-three, it didn't matter which card he led, for both remaining trumps would fall on the next round of the suit. His play, however, might protect himself from the risk of an overruff if East held a doubleton honor in trumps. And, ♠ was right.

A Devotional For The Day

Zacchaeus stood, and said unto the Lord; Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken any thing from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold. (Luke 19:8)

PRAYER: Almighty God, have mercy upon us and forgive us our sins. We confess and repent, believing Thou wilt forgive us. Grant us Thy guidance that we may go in Thy strength to lead a better life; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Commendable Record

The beginning of the month also marks the beginning of the seventh year for Dr. George J. Belo as director of the Texas Department of Corrections.

Steady and substantial strides in improving the programs as well as the interval, and for this Dr. Belo is due a major share of the praise.

Less than a generation ago Texas had a shameful situation in its prison system. It was both inadequate and archaic physically, sadism and sordidness were rampant, and the odds for rehabilitation of prisoners were long indeed. Under the late O. B. Ellis, a lot of this was changed, thanks to the support of the Texas legislature and the people of Texas.

Dr. Belo, former Lutheran minister, has maintained this momentum, and he has maintained good relations with the Texas lawmakers who have followed an enlightened course in raising the flow of funds. As a result, workers are receiving better pay — not as good as it ought to be, but far and away better than what it was. Consequently, better qualified personnel is being attracted, and better programs are being planned and implemented.

More money for capital improvements will be necessary, along with more for personnel, Dr. Belo warns, but these are consonant with his plans for "Constantly working to prepare inmates for a place in society after they leave prison."

Funds invested here can pay big dividends not only in relieving society of the burden of custody, but in human as well as economic terms of restoring men and women to useful, productive and dignified roles in society. Better facilities and scales to attract and hold good personnel will help make it so.

LSD's Alarming Statistics

Reports from many parts of the nation indicate that LSD (lysergic acid diethylamide) use is declining. This is an encouraging trend.

Physicians are uncertain about the ultimate effects of LSD, but many of them are convinced that they can be profound and disastrous. Dr. Donald E. Louria of New York City, reporting in the "Massachusetts Physician" on observations made at the city's Bellevue Hospital, cites some alarming statistics. The study covered 144 users of LSD over an 18-month period.

Of the 114, 13.1 per cent suffered profound terror, 12.3 per cent exhibited uncontrolled tendency toward violence, and 8.6 per cent attempted either homicide or suicide. Of that group, 15.8 per cent required prolonged hospitalization, although almost half of the number had no prior history of mental illness. Whether a previously "normal" person can have a psychotic reaction resulting in either long-term hospitalization or permanent deleterious mental effects is still unknown. But the drug's known effects on the nervous system "suggest that the drug might well permanently alter, for better or for worse, the personality structure of the individual." Only a single experience with LSD may produce permanent changes, Dr. Louria concluded.

There is some evidence, although not conclusive, that genetic alterations may occur from LSD use. Some users who became mothers have produced defective children.

The possibility of immediate as well as long-term psychic damage is too great to justify even one experiment with this powerful hallucinogen. It is medical dynamite outside of scientific hands.

David Lawrence Mobilization Or Defeat

WASHINGTON — More troops are needed to fight the Vietnam war. General Westmoreland has outlined a strategy that will require 200,000 additional men, according to a Washington dispatch to the New York Times on Sunday. Robert P. Martin, a staff correspondent of "U.S. News & World Report," now in Saigon, estimates that eventually the half-million that present in Vietnam may have to be doubled. He covered the French war in Indo-China in the 1950's and has been in Southeast Asia several times since. Writing in this week's issue of the magazine, he says:

"IT IS CERTAIN that more American troops will soon be involved in this war. It is conceivable that the United States in the end may find it necessary to put a fighting force of one million men into the battle areas. That is the judgment of many here, and military men would like to have more troops quickly, although there is no evidence in Washington of such a vast buildup soon.

"It is conceivable that fighting on the ground will spread to Laos and Cambodia, and possibly even across the southern part of North Vietnam.

"THERE IS NO real alternative to mobilization at home, in the view of many American officials here at the scene. Without a major mobilization of effort, the U.S. in the long run could stumble into humiliating failure inside South Vietnam itself. Or it could end up, as France did in 1954, agreeing to a camouflaged surrender at the conference table."

Due to the influx to the North Vietnamese of up-to-date weapons and our failure to estimate correctly the strength of the enemy, the American and allied military power has today been more than balanced by the enemy. The Saigon dispatch, which is based on comments "from Americans who know this war inside out," adds these points:

"FORCE LEVELS, even amounts of military 'hardware' were determined by computers (in Washington) that did not take into account the enemy's will and capability. Recognized too late was the fact that both Russia and Red China could and would supply modern weapons on a relatively massive scale.

"In the words of a general officer, a war effort 'computerized to save nickels and dimes may end up costing dollars for every dime saved.' Here is why:

"THE U.S. still not geared for war, has been unable to equip the South Vietnamese troops, other than the Marines and airborne forces, with the M-16 rifle. Heavier weapons are often inferior to Communist rockets, mortars and artillery.

"North Vietnamese regulars and many if not most Viet Cong 'main force' units fighting in the South have a common weapons system, including the excellent Chinese-made AK-47, the basic infantry weapon. The Communists today actually outgun most South Vietnamese units. It took only two years to carry out this extensive re-equipping job. Now the United States must do the same for its South Vietnamese allies — and do it fast and at great expense."

TWO IMPORTANT FACTS stand out. First, Russia and Red China have blocked American military victory. Second, the war isn't being lost in Vietnam but in Washington, where "gradualism" — a kind of concession to the "doves" — has been substituted for the maximum force that should have been applied promptly.

There is talk in Washington currently about "investigations" and "hearings" by Senate committees to find out why increased troop strength is needed. The inference is that American commanders are planning to "escalate" the war. The truth, however, is they are trying to save the military forces of the United States from a humiliating defeat.

Billy Graham

I am concerned about so many of the new translations of the Bible. The Word of God says that nothing is to be taken from, or added to it. I don't believe any translation is an improvement on the King James. Am I just too old fashioned?

L. D.

True, the Word of God is not to be altered by man. But, working toward clearer translations does not necessarily alter the content of the Bible. While I like the King James translation, and use it in the pulpit because more people are familiar with it, I find that some of the newer translations like Phillips and Living Letters make some passages clearer.

When I speak in a foreign country I speak through an interpreter or translator. He does not change my words. He simply puts them into the language of the people. If he changed the meaning of my message, I couldn't use him. Just so, a true translation does not alter the meaning, but clarifies it.

I heard of a lady years ago who wrote: "I'll use nothing but the King James. What was good enough for the Apostle Paul is good enough for me." Of course Paul never read the Bible in English for two reasons: he did not speak English, and the King James Version didn't come out until centuries later.

I believe that just as God directed "holy men of old" to write the Scriptures, that He can also direct men to translate it into the language of the peoples of the world. Of course, if a translation were erroneous, then like a bad interpreter, it should not be used.

Congress Loves Watchdog Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office is not like other government agencies. Various described as prying, nitpicking, firm-minded, opinionated, it is a fiscal intelligence service that keeps 2,400 auditors roaming through the sprawling vastness of the federal government, looking for waste and for compliance with congressionally-prescribed pocketbook safeguards.

The comptroller general, who heads GAO, is appointed by the President for a 15-year term but GAO belongs to Congress. It is Congress' combined watchdog and gaffly operating on the executive branch, and Congress loves it.

eral Deposit Insurance Corp., which insures bank deposits. GAO looks into the affairs of FDIC, but has feuded for years with that agency over withholding from its scrutiny some information FDIC says it must keep confidential.

The issue of broader GAO access to the workings of the bank supervisory agencies has boiled up at hearings by the House Banking Committee on the quality of bank supervision.

Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats testified GAO cannot make a meaningful audit of FDIC under the present restrictions. Faced with these, he said, a private auditing firm would withdraw.

Specifically, Staats said, "we cannot appraise the effectiveness of the examinations in identifying banks whose financial condition is unstable."

IN ITS MOST recent annual report, GAO claimed its activities saved the taxpayer $190.1 million.

Some activities of the federal government, however, are exempt from GAO audit. The supersecret Central Intelligence Agency and National Security Agency are, for obvious reasons.

But some Congress members question why the Federal Reserve Board and the office of the comptroller of the currency are shielded from GAO scrutiny.

THE FED and the comptroller's office are two of the three principal agencies that supervise banks. The third is the Federated Deposit Insurance Corp., which insures bank deposits. GAO looks into the affairs of FDIC, but has feuded for years with that agency over withholding from its scrutiny some information FDIC says it must keep confidential.

The issue of broader GAO access to the workings of the bank supervisory agencies has boiled up at hearings by the House Banking Committee on the quality of bank supervision.

Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats testified GAO cannot make a meaningful audit of FDIC under the present restrictions. Faced with these, he said, a private auditing firm would withdraw.

Specifically, Staats said, "we cannot appraise the effectiveness of the examinations in identifying banks whose financial condition is unstable."

STAATS' testimony understandably got a friendly reception from Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the Banking Committee whose suspicion of big banks and feud with the Federal Reserve are legend in Congress. His efforts to enact legislation in line with these feelings, however, have met at best uneven success.

Some of Patman's colleagues, however, think he may fare better if the present inquiry results in legislation pushing wider the doors of the bank supervisory agencies for GAO's auditors.

To Your Good Health More About The 'Atomic Cocktail'

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I noticed a letter from Mrs. W. C. about the "atomic cocktail." What exactly is it? — J. B.

Dear Doctor: Please advise the amount of iodine in the atomic cocktail. I have a goiter and thought it might help. — C.W.

Dear Doctor: I have the same troubles Mrs. W. C. wrote about — my legs swelling. But it seems these druggists don't know anything about it. — Mrs. L. J.

Evidently some misunderstandings need clearing up. The atomic cocktail, so-called, is a solution containing the isotope of iodine — that is, iodine which has been treated to become radioactive.

The amount is varied, depending on the needs of the patient being treated, and is calculated very carefully. In other words, this is not a drug store remedy for people to try on themselves. It must be administered by physicians with specialized training in its use.

For cases requiring it, it is useful indeed. Since the thyroid gland needs a trace of iodine to function properly, the body carries iodine to the gland. If the iodine happens to have been made radioactive, it also is carried to the thyroid. The radioactivity then can be used as a means of reducing the activity of a gland if it is overactive.

The atomic cocktail also has other uses. The radioactivity, although relatively faint, can be accurately measured by suitable instruments, and it thus is possible to measure the "iodine uptake," or the rate at which the thyroid collects iodine. This can be very important in diagnosing thyroid conditions.

Mrs. L. J. and other readers with the same idea should keep in mind that there are multiple reasons for swelling of the legs, so there is absolutely no point in jumping to the conclusion that because one case was helped by the atomic cocktail, that that would be the right treatment in other cases. It could be exactly the wrong treatment if the swelling was due to some other cause.

The atomic cocktail is a most valuable discovery, and has been used with beneficial results in many thousands of patients, but it is a sophisticated therapy which can be used only by experts possessing specialized training and equipment.

Incidentally, since radioactivity is involved, there was speculation as to whether it might tend to induce leukemia, which under some conditions can be more prevalent because of radiation effects.

It was good news earlier this year when Drs. George E. Thoma and Eugene L. Saenger, of the University of Cincinnati, announced that they had studied the records of 36,000 patients, scattered through 26 medical centers, and found that there was absolutely no difference in the prevalence of leukemia among patients who have had the atomic cocktail and those who had not.

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what types of trouble to look for send for Dr. Molner's booklet, "You And Your Gall Bladder." Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Around The Rim, Nothing Funny About Those Wells

Something like 30 years ago, in developing some copy about old timers, we carried a story about Borden County wells which natives regarded as having some healthful properties. This resulted, no doubt, from the apocryphal effect of the water. A glass or two made the partaker feel like he had spent a weekend in Mineral Wells.

SOME YEARS later, we speculated on the possibility of exploiting the magnesium in the water because the content was so much more than in sea water, the prime source. Now something is being done about it by American Magnesium company, which broke ground last week in southwest Scurry County not far from the Borden County line. Officials predicted that when in full production, the plant can turn out about a third of the domestic yield of this versatile metal. It's a big undertaking — $20 million dollars worth — and you may be sure that backers of that are convinced about the feasibility of the project.

IT IS INTERESTING that the first magnesium production came from deep wells in Michigan and Ohio, where a chemist named Herbert Dow developed a process for recovery. Once in commercial production, the price ran well over $4 a pound, but today this has been hammered down to 35 cents. There's no danger of running out of magnesium, for even if ground water supplies ever wavered, there are 320 million cubic miles of sea water which will yield 10 pounds or more per 1,000 gallons.

Magnesium is due to face rapidly increasing demand. It is so light that, according to a report from Reader's Digest, a ramp capable of supporting a 20,000-pound truck can be carried by a man. A magnesium chain saw capable of felling a 16-inch softwood tree in eight minutes can be handled easily by one man.

IT FOLLOWS that anything that light — and which is compatible with other metals — would find itself in demand for airplanes, in motors, and certainly in space vehicles. The Digest points out that a certain tactical fighter plane can carry 6,200 pounds of ordnance because many of its parts are out of magnesium.

THAT THIS new facility will have considerable economic impact on the area is beyond dispute. It serves as an example of how this region's productivity may be expanded. Another example is the facility near Van Horn to extract sulphur from water in deep wells. In the Fort Stockton vicinity there is activity looking toward development of sulphur leases.

THERE IS NO reason to suspect that this is the limit of potentialities from resources inherent in the Permian Sea, which produced our oil wealth, and from the versatility of overlying deposits in the basin. Things like brine and sulphurous water, once considered nuisances, may often be turned into assets. It will take research and venture, but it will come to pass.

Holmes Alexander Hardware That Protects The Software

TUXENT RIVER, Md. — Rear Admiral Daniel Fletcher Smith, Jr., a 6-foot-plus Texan, and a much-decorated World War II fighter-pilot, is now commander of this test center and, as such, the evaluator of everything that flies in Naval aviation.

Even this sweeping statement of Admiral Smith's responsibilities is inadequate. The test pilots who try the planes are trained under his command. Several hundred projects, mostly related to Southeast Asia, are being brain-stormed and given the practical try-outs here.

of place. There are many more academic failures (about one out of 20) than fatalities in the eight-month test-pilot school which has just now received its 50th class since 1948. Few potential dropouts get into the course. All students are volunteers and thus highly motivated. Most of them are from the Navy or Marines (Air Force, Army and some allied flyers are also eligible in smaller numbers). All must be of the highest quality both as aviators and military officers.

CAN ENEMY SUBMARINES be hunted and torpedoed by pilotless planes off the decks of destroyers? Can sea lanes be swept for mines by a five-man aircraft crew in a 50-man vessel? Can heavily armed helicopters recover precious shot-down planes, as well as flyers, deep in hostile territory? Can an aircraft carrier skipper keep in voice contact with each of his pilots during a combat strike?

And what of the most talked-about weapons-system of our time, the McNamara-sponsored F-111 (Navy version)? Will it win acceptance by the Navy Department? Will McNamara at last be exonerated in the Senate committees? Will the stock of its manufacturing firm hold up in the market? Final answers must come from Dan Smith's command here in the tobacco-and-oyster flatlands of southern Maryland.

THESE TEST-PILOTS and their instructors (all graduates of the school) are the humanized screens in contrast to the McNamaraized computer systems. They sift out the billion-dollar offerings of the private-enterprise plane makers. The aircraft which reach the military services have already been put through the experimental wringer, and flown by company-men at salaries far above military pay. The job at this Patuxent River station is to find out whether the aircraft the contractor has submitted is suitable for military use, whether it lives up to its promised performance in speed, altitude and endurance, whether it really can operate off flightdecks and carry ordnance under current combat conditions.

THIS IS NOT a place for hot news, nor a place of hot pilots. If a reporter were leaked a story here, the sedulous Russians might grab valuable information and put it to work, or some great Pentagon figure might tumble, or some financial empire might collapse. The popular concept of the bronc-busting pilot, riding exotic planes till they fall apart, is out.

ADMIRAL SMITH'S command is a field activity of the Bureau of Naval Weapons, so that ever item of conventional fire-power, as well as every item of airborne equipment, are up for evaluation — and so, to be candid and corny about it, is the expectancy of our national life.

This reporter came away thinking that some of the things being tested at the Naval station aren't hardware at all, but software that goes by the name of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness.

John Cunniff Tax-Free Bonds Action Signals Slugfest

NEW YORK (AP) — Seldom does the Treasury have much trouble getting publicity around income tax time, but a decision to take effect this week could give his federal agency more than it wants.

This decision concerns a significant change in tax regulations concerning corporations and tax-free bonds. Certainly it is one of the most important rulings made in recent years by the tax people.

tax-free industrial revenue financing in their own areas.

THE PRACTICE grew steadily during the 1950s but it really shot up in the 1960s, especially after 1964. Last year $1.3 billion of these industrials revenue bonds were issued, compared with $500 million in 1966.

Matching this growth was the growing alarm of the U.S. Treasury, which at first sought the help of Congress but then acted on its own. It intends to declare that after Friday such bonds are taxable.

Preceding their action was a long battle, led largely by the Investment Bankers Association, which declared: "The majority of recent municipal industrial bond issues have benefitted not the small community, but rather the big and powerful companies and the large affluent communities . . ."

CAUGHT RUSHING to beat the deadline was one of these powerful companies, U.S. Steel Corp., a company whose net income generally exceeds $200 million a year. This Friday it hopes to market — rather it hopes that Lorain County, Ohio, markets — some $80 million of tax-free bonds for a new plant.

Should the U.S. Steel financing be the last major one before the deadline, it would be a rather symbolic end.

INVOLVED WITH the corporations are towns, cities and states who market what commonly are called industrial revenue bonds but which critics claim are more accurately described as tax-free corporate bonds.

Originally these securities were used by municipalities in their quest for industry and jobs. By borrowing money and erecting a plant they found it much easier to induce a company to settle in their area.

Since government agencies, municipalities, did the borrowing these bonds were tax free, meaning the purchaser need pay no federal income tax on the interest. Since they were tax free they were very attractive to purchasers. And since they were so attractive, purchasers willingly accepted low interest rates.

AS A RESULT, a municipality could put up a plant for less than the corporation would pay to do the identical job.

Gradually, corporations realized the possibilities of this low-cost method of plant financing. Some of them encouraged towns to float issues on the promise they would sign long-term leases for use of the plant.

Large companies, which would have no difficulty raising the money themselves, also took advantage of the situation. And industrialized states, finding industry leaving for these new plants, passed legislation permitting

Police Quiz Texas Tech Student About Slaying

LUBBOCK (AP)—Police arrested a 23-year-old Texas Tech graduate student today and questioned him about the slaying of a four-month-old baby in one of the school's laboratories.

The arrest followed a stakeout by two detectives in the office of Dr. Kenty Rylander, a biology professor.

Officers said the young man opened the door of the professor's office about 7:20 with a master key.

KEY CLUE

The key, officers said, is believed to be the one possessed by the slain woman, Mrs. Alice Morgan, 54. It has been missing since her death about Dec. 4.

Mrs. Morgan was killed in a laboratory by slashing her throat. Officers said a saw blade then was used in what might have been an effort to decapitate her.

The student was surprised on the third floor of the Science Building, the same floor where Mrs. Morgan was found.

Detectives said the student is believed from outside the United States and that he speaks Polish. Detectives said the student saw them immediately upon opening Dr. Rylander's office door.

POOL OF BLOOD

They reported he fled down the hall, then down the steps and escaped, leaving the master key in the door and dropping schoolbooks as he ran.

Shortly thereafter, a woman reported to police that her car had been stolen.

Officers spotted the car about five miles west of the campus and arrested the student.

The detectives stated the office because Dr. Rylander reported Tuesday that someone had gone into the office and searched through his papers.

Mrs. Morgan was one of six custodians in the building when she was killed. A search was started for her when she failed to appear for supper and her body was found in a pool of blood about 8:15 p.m.

Polish Cops Club Pupils; Bigwigs Axed

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Police were reported to have used force today in dispersing spreading student demonstrations throughout Poland.

A reliable source said that club-swinging police waded into several thousand marching students in the western city of Poznan who were chanting "the press lies" and burning copies of the state-controlled press.

The students had gathered at the statue of Adam Mickiewicz, a 19th century Polish poet, who wrote a popular drama called "Dziady."

The Communist government ordered performances of the play closed in January at Warsaw's National Theater and this action set off a wave of protests from intellectuals which has culminated in student demonstrations and rioting.

The students were marching to Poznan University near the statue when they were stopped by the police.

Another report said police used force in the southern city of Cracow to halt a parade of 3,000 students near Jagiellonian University, Poland's oldest educational institution.

The students in Cracow and in numerous other Polish cities—Gdansk, Gdansk (formerly Danzig), Lublin, Lodz, Wroclaw (formerly Breslau), Poznan and Szczecin (formerly Stettin)—are angry over harsh police measures in breaking up demonstrations at Warsaw University.

Violence on the campus touched off street rioting in Warsaw and student demands for a hearing of complaints, including protests against the police and the state-controlled press.

No new outbreaks of violence were reported today in Warsaw, but helmeted police were patrolling the streets in three near the university to discourage gatherings.

The Communist party line has been to blame the unrest on Zionists. PAP, the Polish press agency, repeated the charge again, carrying a resolution of foreign trade ministry workers that said: "We demand that our authorities stop tolerating the activities of the reactionary Zionist elements in the political, economic, cultural and social life of the country."

The demand followed the government's ouster Tuesday of three high officials. PAP gave no explanation, but government-controlled newspapers had accused their children of leading protest demonstrations which touched off the rioting.

The three were Jan Grudzing, vice minister of forestry and timber; Jan Gorecki, director general of the Finance Ministry; and Fryderyk Topolski, head of a Warsaw industrial planning office.

(Sources in Washington said all three are Jews.)

Western observers predicted more dismissals and probably a number of trials of students, the worst in Poland since three days of disturbances in 1957 stemming from the closing of a student magazine.

The current unrest began with protests against the government's closing in January of a popular paper. Several newspapers have blamed the subsequent disturbances on pro-Israeli intellectuals upset by the government's anti-Israeli policy after the June war.

Texan Sentenced To Death In Slaying Wins New Trial

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a new trial today for Eddie Ray Byrd, sentenced to death in the November, 1966, slaying of Lynn Dickson Ross, a potato chip salesman.

Ross' body, with seven bullet wounds, was found in an irrigation canal north of Winnie in Chambers County. He had been missing since the previous day.

Byrd was picked up in Beaumont in December on a traffic violation, and it was shown at his trial that the arresting officer had been advised of a pickup order out of Hardin County for a Negro meeting Byrd's description who allegedly committed armed robbery and assault with intent to murder.

A search of Byrd's station wagon turned up a .32 caliber pistol, and ballistics experts testified that two slugs removed from Ross' body were fired from the gun.

However, over objections of Byrd's lawyer, the state introduced into evidence two written warnings given Byrd by a Hardin County justice of the peace in connection with accusations against Byrd for robbery by firearms and assault and attempt to murder.

The objection was on the ground that "such instruments showed extraneous offenses and did not pertain to the offense for which he was being tried."

NO CONNECTION

There was no connection between the two charges and offenses in Hardin County and the offense of murder in Chambers County, the appeals court said.

"We are unable to agree with the state's contention that the two warnings in Hardin County were admissible before the jury to show a legal arrest of the appellant (Byrd) and search of his vehicle," wrote Judge Wesley Dice. "Nor were the warnings admissible to show a valid confession in the case, as no confession was offered by the state."

Bush Books Press Meet

Local news media have been invited to a press conference with Rep. George Bush, Houston Republican, Saturday at 5 p.m. prior to his talk at a 1000 couple dinner Saturday night at Cosden Country Club.

The conference will be held in the meeting room of the Holiday Inn. A reception Saturday at 7 p.m. will precede the banquet, which is to begin at 8 p.m.

R. L. Tollett, dinner chairman, and Bill Crocker, vice chairman, said that approximately 50 tickets had been sold. About 50 more were expected to be purchased before Saturday.

Bush is a first term congressman, and the third freshman congressman in this century to win a place on the House ways and means committee. Bush is well known in West Texas as a former Midland oil executive and a past director of the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

Tickets for the affair are available at radio station KBST.

Beauty Pageant Plans Finalized

Tickets were distributed for the advance sale for the Merlion Show to be sponsored by the Lions Club March 22. Bill Terry is chairman of this project. John Wood, zone chairman, reported on a zone meeting held in Coahoma Monday evening. Wood, Nolan Simpson attended.

The program was given by Mac Nugent of the Social Security Office in Big Spring. He spoke on the new requirements of the social security program and stated that there were 29 different benefits available. There were 22 members present.

Board Votes Down Contract

Big Spring school trustees voted 2-1 Tuesday night to okay the school superintendent's contract through the board minutes, as it has been in past years, rather than stipulate a written contract be drawn up.

Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper and Roy Watkins voted for the approval; J. R. G. G. Cowper and Jerry Currie cast the dissenting vote; and Jerry Currie abstained. Grant Boardman and Dr. Carl Marcum were absent.

Anderson's contract calls for a two year extension, to expire in January, 1971, with a $1,000 salary increase, other increments are to be made commensurate with other personnel raises. This boosts his salary to $22,000.

The stipulation that a written contract be entered into was decided at the Jan. 31 meeting, but after studying the contract at length, Mrs. Cowper and Watkins said that they saw no reason for a written agreement, since the superintendent's contract approval through the minutes of the board meetings had been satisfactory in previous years.

In other action, board members okayed the adoption of the Multiple-List Textbook Committee for textbooks for the 1968-1969 school year. These selections include books for elementary spelling, elementary science, junior high spelling and arithmetic, high school physical science, high school book-keeping and shorthand and cosmetology.

Trustees accepted the resignation of Mrs. Edith E. Russell, high school physical science teacher, and employed Mrs. Eva Arnold Cannon, Park Hill, first grade, and Mrs. Rachel L. Ellig, high school English. Mrs. Cannon, a local resident, has a bachelor of science degree from the University of Houston and has no prior teaching experience. Mrs. Ellig, who is from Tucson, Ariz., obtained her bachelor of arts degree from the University of Arizona and has two years teaching experience.

Waivers for the following personnel subject to retirement May 31 were unanimously approved:

Mrs. Mattie Browder, Marcy; Rex Browning, special education; Mrs. Eleanor Slaughter, Boydston; Mrs. Irene Wiley, Goliad; Everett Mood and Lonnie Morris, custodians, and Kelly Mize, head custodian; Mrs. Frances Porter, cafeteria; Dan Paven, custodian.

Personnel planning to retire May 31 include Mrs. Linnie Keese, Washington; Jessie R. Beasley, Goliad librarian; Mrs. Oneta Odum, Bauer; Ira Raley and William Parke, custodians.

Carlee Allen, who with his co-defendant, Allen Lamar, probably set an all-time record for the most handwritten pleas ever to be filed in local, area and federal courts in one case hasn't given up his literary efforts.

Despite the fact that Carlee is now ensconced in the state penitentiary at Huntsville, he continues his barrage of documentary cannon fire in an effort to break down the prison walls.

His most recent effort is a lengthy petition for a writ of habeas corpus which he has filed in the 118th District Court. Allen and Lamar were arrested a short time after a small grocery-store station was held up and robbed about two years ago. Ultimately both were tried and Allen drew a 20 year sentence and Lamar a 25 year term.

'I'M GOING TO BE KILLED!'

Hijackers, Hostage, Stay In Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A passenger jet with 58 persons aboard was hijacked over South Florida Tuesday by two nervous gunmen kidnaping an old man who tearfully told passengers, "I'm going to be killed!"

The pilot of National Airlines flight 28, Capt. Clarence J. Delk, said "they were expecting us. I don't know how they knew we were coming. We were identified from the Cuban tower by flight number during our approach to Havana airport."

The hijackers' prisoner, a man who appeared to be in his sixties, was led from the plane crying and gesturing for help.

SOLDIERS SEARCH

Stewardess Sarah E. West said the man slipped her some personal papers when the men weren't looking. She hid them on the plane and they were not found when Cuban soldiers searched the aircraft during the six hours at Havana. The papers were given to the FBI in Miami.

All three men were met at Jose Marti airport in Havana by Jose Abrantes, Cuban vice minister in charge of security. They were driven away with him in a government security car.

REQUEST STUDIED

Radio Havana, official voice of the Fidel Castro government, said today that the plane was forced off its route by "three armed passengers." The Cuban broadcast, monitored in Miami, said: "The three passengers sought permission to remain in this country," adding that the request "is being studied by competent Cuban authorities."

The three men, all in business suits, boarded together in Tampa. The airline said they gave their names as J. Arnertero, G. Carrazana, and R. Donale when they bought tickets.

Four minutes after takeoff on the Tampa-to-Miami leg of a flight that began in San Francisco, one of the gunmen put a .45-caliber automatic pistol at the neck of stewardess Donna Goldiner, 26, and forced her into the cockpit. She fumbled with a key and made the men nervous. "They clicked their guns," she said.

Tell Of Hijack

National Air Lines stewardess Donna Goldiner describes how a man held a pistol on her as he forced a NAL DC-8 jet to fly him and two other men to Havana, Cuba, Tuesday. She, Capt. C. Joseph Delk, right, who was in command of the jet, and other crew members held a news conference Tuesday night after spending seven hours on Castro's island.

co, one of the gunmen put a .45-caliber automatic pistol at the neck of stewardess Donna Goldiner, 26, and forced her into the cockpit. She fumbled with a key and made the men nervous. "They clicked their guns," she said.

Delk said he maintained radio silence because "we didn't want to do anything to make them think we were not cooperating." American officials tracked the plane on radar. Cuba notified U.S. officials after the plane's safe landing at 12:36 p.m. The plane returned to Miami at 7:57 p.m.

The man who said he was going to be killed sat quietly in the coach section of the plane until the landing in Cuba.

"I heard noise that sounded like a fight in the cockpit," said Mrs. Kenner, "but then I saw it was the old man beating his hands and arms on the chair armrest. Then he began pacing up and down saying in his broken English, 'I'm going to be killed!'"

SCARED TO DEATH

"Kill, kill. Dead, dead," the old man said as he gestured at his throat with a finger.

To reports that hijackers were drunk or on dope, Mrs. Kenner said: "They were not drunk. They were just petrified, scared to death."

In Havana, crew, passengers and military personnel aboard the plane were separated, Mrs. Kenner said. "They would not let us all be together. We were interviewed all afternoon from one to seven—constant questions, pictures being taken, newsreel and everything."

THIRD TIME

Flip Wilson, the comedian, who was a passenger on the plane, said the old man indicated he had been taken prisoner in Mexico.

The National flight was the third commercial airliner hijacked to Cuba in 20 days. A Delta Air Lines jet with 109 aboard was seized Feb. 21 just after takeoff from Tampa by Lawrence Rhodes Jr., a fugitive from Welch, W. Va., and allowed to return the same day. On March 5, a Colombian airliner was seized over the Caribbean and later allowed to return after paying airport and fuel fees.

Comanche Police Jail Pair Linked To Bogus $20 Bills

COMANCHE, Tex. (AP) — Federal authorities expected to transfer a couple arrested here to Fort Worth and file charges of passing counterfeit money today.

Comanche police jailed the pair—a man, 35, and a woman, 18, identifying themselves as recently wed and from Houston—on suspicion of paying for purchases here Tuesday with bogus $20 bills.

U. S. Treasury agents came here from Dallas to take custody of the prisoners.

Officers gave this account:

A woman operator of a fruit stand became suspicious after accepting one of the bills and summoned officers. They learned the couple also had passed two other such bills in Comanche and one at Gatesville.

In a pickup truck used by the couple, searchers found 13 additional $20 bills. All bore the same serial number.

The young woman told questioners a merchant seaman gave her $1,000 recently in Houston. At another point she said she and her husband recently sold a lounge in Houston.

Her husband informed officers he knew nothing about any bogus bills. He said a sizable amount of apparently genuine currency in the pickup came from a Houston bank where he obtained change early in the day.

Duty-Free Bill Gagged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard White, D-Tex., said today a proposal to limit the amount of duty-free goods tourists can bring into this country could be a "severe economic blow at our border communities."

White's home town of El Paso is the largest city on the U.S.-Mexican border.

In remarks prepared for a Senate Finance Committee hearing, White said this nation hurts itself when it interferes with U.S.-Mexico border trade.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., has introduced a bill to cut the amount of duty-free goods to $25 and exempt no countries. The limit is now $100. The committee hearing is on his bill.

White has proposed doubling the limit to $200 if the goods purchased came from within a five-mile area of the U.S. borders with Mexico and Canada. President Johnson has asked that duty-free goods allotted each tourist be cut to $10, except the $100 provision be retained for the Caribbean countries, Canada and Mexico.

UNEMPLOYMENT, DOPE, TEACHERS' PAY

Political Pot Boils In Texas

By The Associated Press

It's nearly six weeks until the Texas primaries, and already the big field of candidates for governor is touching more campaign bases than you can keep track of.

Tuesday, for example, they talked to prospective voters about such widely assorted topics as unemployment, racial problems, Vietnam, narcotics, city traffic, a consumer code, the size of government, teachers' pay.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, first to enter the race to succeed retiring Gov. John Connally, and half a dozen rivals for the Democratic nomination were particularly busy.

EGGERS BUSY

On the Republican side, Paul Eggers likewise was busy. He declared at a Dallas luncheon, "a Republican has not served Texas as governor in this century, but I'm convinced Texans are ready to break with Democratic tradition and elect a Republican governor."

Vying with Smith, candidates Eugene Locke, Don Yarborough, Dolph Briscoe, Waggoner Carr, John Hill and Edward Whittenburg sought to drum up support on widely separated fronts.

The lieutenant governor swinging across East Texas, said at Palestine that legislators don't know how the people feel about sale of liquor by the drink and he felt a referendum on this issue in the May 4 primary would be helpful.

HOW MUCH?

Smith also asserted Texas must boost teachers' pay at least to the national average to solve its education needs.

Locke likewise endorsed more money for teachers but said he was not prepared to stipulate how much. Speaking as a former deputy ambassador to Vietnam, he told newsmen at the same time that U. S. forces there "are in better shape than the public would feel from the recent turn of events."

Known as a friend of the present governor, Locke suggested

Farmer Signup Deadline Looms

WASHINGTON (AP) — With but two more days to go on a farmer signup program, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman said today he is concerned about the possible success of the administration's feed-grain program this year.

The administration wants growers to retire at least 30 million of the 115 million acres they have available for corn and sorghum grain. This idled acreage would be about 50 per cent more than last year.

GRAIN PRICES

The recommended smaller feed-grain acreage is designed to improve grain prices, which tumbled after last year's record crop was produced and markets did not develop as much as had been expected.

A department report Tuesday showed that only slightly more than one million of the slightly more than three million feed-grain farms had signed through March 7 to idle 15.4 million acres of land. The signup period is scheduled to close March 15. Freeman said farmers have he has stepped forward to challenge better known candidates such as Connally did in winning election for the first time in 1962.

TRAFFIC WOES

Briscoe lashed city traffic as a major problem in the course of a Houston visit. There is urgent need for steps to relieve urban traffic congestion, he said.

Speaking as a co-author of farm-to-market road legislation, Briscoe said city traffic woes must be approached "with the same initiative, vigor and urgency that characterized the farm-to-market road system that got rural Texas out of the mud."

Racial matters drew the attention of John Hill, who was at Victoria. He proposed that a governor's commission on inter-racial affairs be set up and made responsible for finding solutions to causes of riots.

Hill said such a commission should single out "areas of racial disharmony" and join local officials in working out remedies.

Talk about a consumer code came from Don Yarborough, who was in Dallas. Calling for steps to protect the customer, he said, "I have seen those packages of pork chops with a nice big one on top and a bunch of scrawny brothers and sisters composed of all bone and fat underneath."

Yarborough went on to say that there should be a special state agency "to listen to consumer complaints, investigate and then act against false sales, false bargains and deceitful packaging."

Talking with backers in El Paso, Carr proposed renewed efforts in all border cities "to close down the traffic in marijuana."

BOOZE SCANDAL

Carr said, "We have to expand our narcotics division. We must get more men and see that this dope is stopped before it gets into Texas—and into our high schools. We must strengthen our laws. We must see that those who 'push' the sale of narcotics are put in jail—to stay."

'IF HE PUTS HIS GUN AWAY'

Reuther's Plea Granted

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Meany has accepted a challenge for a special AFL-CIO convention to judge whether American labor is foundering under his leadership. But he said challenger Walter Reuther must first agree to abide by the verdict.

Reuther, the United Auto Workers president who joined with Meany to found the 14-million-member labor federation 12 years ago, can have the special convention he demanded "if he puts his gun away," Meany said.

MEANY RIPPED

Reuther, who for more than a year has been attacking the 72-year-old Meany's leadership in the AFL-CIO presidency as "stagnant," "undemocratic" and "vegetating," called a meeting today of the Auto Workers Executive Board to consider the offer of a special convention.

Meany said the AFL-CIO's 29-man Executive Council unanimously agreed to the demand for a special convention if Reuther first promises to show up and accept any decisions of the convention.

But he said the council "unanimously rejects out of hand the ultimatum" by Reuther that he will pull his 1.5 million Auto

Workers out of the federation if he doesn't get the convention.

Meany said this didn't mean Reuther would have to promise not to secede from the AFL-CIO in order to get a special convention.

Reuther indicated earlier he couldn't accept any preconditions to a special convention. "I pray that the American labor movement can see the light," said the 60-year-old, red-haired Reuther.

LBJ BACKER

Reuther gave up the presidency of the Congress of Industrial Organizations in 1955 to nominate Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor, as head of the merged 128-union organization.

Reuther, speaking at the convention of the AFL-CIO's 6.5 million-member Industrial Union Department, said he favored neither a U.S. withdrawal nor escalation of the war in Vietnam. Meany is among Johnson's strongest war supporters.

Reuther, at his convention, and Meany, at AFL-CIO headquarters, exchanged statements at news conferences a block apart, but neither moved for a personal confrontation.

"I'm going to write him a letter," Meany said, "as soon as I get around to it."

Leo's Lip In Top Shape For Play

By The Associated Press
 You can start the baseball season anytime now. Leo Durocher is ready.
 The athletes struggle each spring getting their arms and legs in shape for the summer grind. But Leo has it easier. He needs to worry only about his lip.
 Durocher's lip, jaw and other vocal equipment was in top form Tuesday and they earned him an early exit as his Chicago Cubs absorbed a 12-2 pounding from the San Francisco Giants in an exhibition game at Scottsdale, Ariz.
 In other games, the New York Mets edged Los Angeles 5-4. Minnesota tripped the New York Yankees 8-5, the Chicago White Sox ripped Boston 10-5. Pittsburgh routed Detroit 14-5 and Philadelphia blanked St. Louis 9-0 in a game halted by rain after five innings.
 Also Cincinnati nipped Houston 8-7, Washington dropped Atlanta 7-2, Oakland nipped Baltimore 6-5 and California shaded Cleveland 4-3.
 Durocher took on Umpire Mel Steiner in the bottom of the fourth inning after the Giants had embarrassed 20-game winner Ferguson Jenkins with six straight hits and five runs in the top half of the inning.

 The battle started over a spitball warning to Jenkins early in the inning which rubbed Durocher the wrong way.
 After the argument, three baseballs were thrown onto the field from the Cubs' dugout — two in Steiner's direction and the third striking a photographer on the field.
 The Giants collected 21 hits, 19 of them singles, against five Cubs pitchers.
 The Mets got only two hits against Los Angeles, but three errors, two of them by new shortstop Zoilo Versalles, both the Dodgers. New York got both hits — a single by Al Ewis and a triple by Cleon Jones — in the third inning when errors by Versalles and Jim Lefebvre helped build four runs.
 Pitcher Jim Grant, victim of the big inning, had homered for the Dodgers in the top half of the inning.
 Ron Clark's bases-loaded double in the seventh inning

Rule Altered By Eckert

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The pitchers still have to keep their hands out of their mouths but baseball has decided to be a little more lenient with them for awhile if they forget the rule.
 Commissioner William D. Eckert announced Tuesday that pitchers will no longer be ejected from the game after two violations of the new spitball rule. Instead, they will be charged with an illegal pitch, similar to a balk.
 The spitball has long been an illegal pitch but violations became so frequent that the rules committee decided on a crackdown. Umpires were busy this spring explaining the rule which called for one warning and then expulsion from a game for a pitcher who brought his hand in contact with his mouth or lips.
 American League umpires enforced the rule strictly and several pitchers including Dean Chance of Minnesota, Camilo Pascual of Washington and Dennis Ribant of Detroit, have been thrown out of exhibition games.

Steer Tracksters Go To Odessa This Week

Big Spring's improving track and field squad looks westward this week, moving to Odessa for the annual West Texas Relays.
 The Steers prospered in the Possum Kingdom Relays at Graham last Saturday and supplied one record breaker in intermediate hurdler Snake Tucker who ran the 330 yards in 39.6 seconds.
 Gerald Loyd is the new head track coach here. Loyd served in a similar capacity in Bishop before coming here.
 A total of 35 high schools are sending teams to the 25th annual event at Odessa.
 This year, for the first time, there will be four high school divisions, featuring the top schoolboy track and field men in West Texas. The Relays are sponsored by the Ector County Independent School District and the sports committee of the Odessa Chamber of Commerce and each year draws spectators from throughout West Texas and New Mexico.
 Tickets are available at the chambers of commerce in Big Spring, Crane, Fort Stockton, Kermit, McCreary, Midland, Monahans, Pecos, Seagraves and Wink, as well as Odessa.
 Adult season tickets are $2.50 and $1.50 for Saturday afternoon only. Student general admission tickets for Saturday afternoon are $1.00.
 The first event is slated to get under way at 1 p.m. Friday, March 15 and will continue through Saturday afternoon.
 Division I teams include Big Spring, Borger, Hobbs, N.M., Midland Lee, San Angelo, Amarillo, Tascosa, Odessa Permian, and Plainview.
 Teams in Division II include Andrews, Artesia, N.M., Carlsbad, N.M., Fort Stockton, Ector, Kermit, Monahans, Pecos, and Sweetwater.
 Division III teams entered are Abernathy, Alpine, Crane, Denver City, Eunice, N.M.; Friona, Jal, N.M.; McCamey, Spearman, Stinnett, and Phillips.

 Running in Division IV are Booker, Seagraves, Merkel, Sunray, Tahoka, Tatum, N.M.; Van Horn, Wink and Sudan.

Forsan Buffaloes Head For Meet In Grandfalls

FORSAN—Coach Oscar Boeker will take his Forsan Buffaloes to Grandfalls Saturday for a track and field meet. Only Class B Schools will compete. The Buffaloes scored 12 points last Saturday in a cinder show at Wink and 10 of them were accounted for by Steve Park's first place finish in the 440-yard run.
 Park was clocked in 53.2. His best time in the event last year was 52.0.
 Forsan's sprint relay team, consisting of Alex Moreno, Terry Wooten, Clayton McKinnon and Park, were sixth, at which time they were caught in 47.1.

Steer Tilt Moved Back 24 Hours

The baseball exhibition between the Big Spring Steers and Lubbock Monterey, which was to have been played here Tuesday afternoon, was postponed 24 hours due to wet grounds.
 The starting hour today is 4 p.m. The delay means that the Longhorns will not be playing four games in as many days. They return to competition in Tubbock Friday, at which time they oppose Lubbock High, then scout over to Snyder for two Saturday.
 Quite likely, Junior Mendoza will get the starting call against Monterey, which won seven of its first eight starts this season. Mendoza ran into rough luck

Bullets Know About Jackson

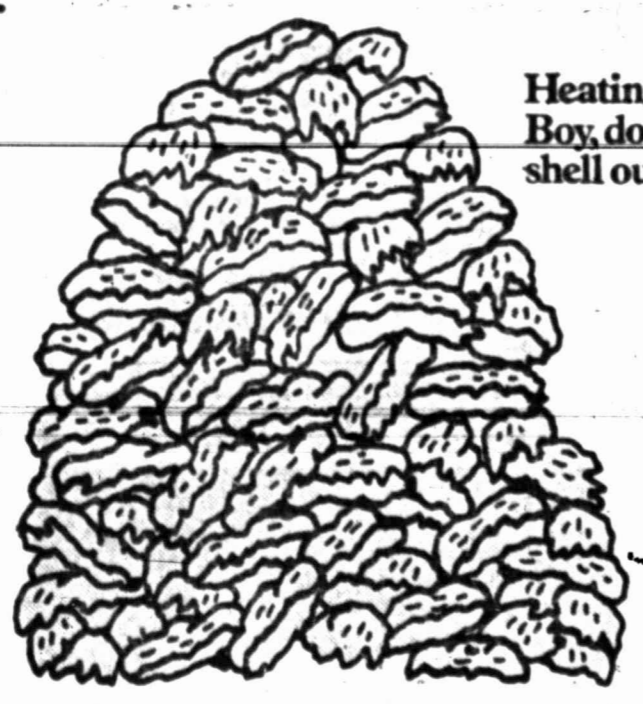

NEW YORK (AP) — The first weekend Phil Jackson was in New York somebody pulled a knife on him in the subway. The Baltimore Bullets couldn't have been more surprised Tuesday night if he had pulled one on them. As it was, Jackson about slashed the Bullets National Basketball Association playoff hopes to ribbons. Through 47 minutes and 20 seconds of the New York Knicks' 107-104 victory, Jackson was just another cog in the machine, thrown into the line-up at odd moments for defensive purposes. But after the Knicks had "ought back from an 11-point deficit with just over five minutes left in the game to a 104-104 tie with 1:34 left, Jackson popped up all over the place. With 40 seconds left, he threw in a free throw, giving the Knicks a 105-104 lead. On the Baltimore throw-in, Jackson threw himself in front of Baltimore's Kevin Loughery and stole the ball. Moments later, Jackson took a pass in the corner, dribbled over to the basket and scored his only field goal of the game for the final points of the contest. In other NBA action, Detroit beat Seattle 139-123, Philadelphia swamped Chicago 139-115 and Boston edged San Francisco 124-121 in overtime. The St. Louis-Chicago game scheduled for Cleveland was postponed when the Hawks were snowed in at home. In the American Basketball Heating bills? You know what the Cummings pay?

Well, by comparison, peanuts.

How come? Gas makes the big difference.

Buckeyes In NCAA Spot

Ohio State didn't have any worries for about a week but those last 22 seconds Tuesday night almost gave Coach Fred Taylor enough ulcers to last a lifetime. The Buckeyes hung on, however, after blowing most of a 12-point lead and won their play-off game from Iowa 85-81, giving them the 23rd and last berth in the NCAA tournament as the Big Ten representative. The teams had finished the regular season tied for the conference lead. "Ohio State is in a great position. They haven't had any worries for a week," was the way Iowa's Ralph Miller put it before the contest on the neutral Purdue court, the first Big Ten playoff since 1968. The worrying began in earnest when Iowa charged to within two points with 22 seconds remaining. But State recovered on free throws by Denny Meadors, Bill Hosket and Jody Finney and won the right to meet East Tennessee in the NCAA Midwest regionals Friday night at Lexington, Ky. Taylor said his team had practiced only three times in the past week while Iowa was wasting a chance to win the title

ULRIC COBB TO GET TRYOUT WITH U.S. OLYMPIC SQUAD

BINGHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Ulric Cobb of Ranger, Tex., Junior College has been named to the junior college Olympic basketball squad. Dick Baldwin of Broome Tech, chairman of the junior college selections, also named John Johnson of Northwestern Community College of Wyoming. The other six players on the squad will be announced next week at the national junior college tournament at Hutchinson, Kan. Cobb and Joe Hamilton of Christian College of the Southwest were nominated for the Junior College All-America team during last week's Region V Juco tournament held in Big Spring.

Julius Boros Has Sights Set On Masters Victory

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Julius Boros calls himself "a depression baby" but the ambitious 48-year-old defending champion has his sights set much higher than another victory in the Orlando Citrus Open Golf Tournament. "I'd like to win the Masters," the easy swinging 1967 Orlando champion said, "and do well in all the major summer tournaments." Boros, who starts defense of his title Thursday when the 1968 tournament gets under way, said on the eve of the meet that he considers this fight just another battle in the pro tour's golf war. However, Boros would be happy to pocket the winner's share of the $115,000 the leaders will split Sunday when the 72-hole Orlando tournament comes to a close on the flat but difficult Rio course. Boros has not been a standout this year. Last week he failed to qualify for the final 36 holes of the Doral Open won by Gardner Dickinson. "I had the flu and I still have it," Boros said after a casual workout. "But I have never felt better about my chances." That makes him an optimist because the South African member of golf's Big Three — Gary Player — is starting his 1968 seeded Stephen F. Austin of Texas were eliminated by Eastern Michigan 82-80. The other results: Northeastern Oklahoma 89, Athens, Ala. 72; Hanover, Ind. 107; Southern Oregon 59; Central Washington 95; Albuquerque 72; Central, Ohio, State 81; Millikin, Ill. 64; Dickinson, N.D. 76; Washburn, Kan. 71 and Eastern Montana 83, Wayne, Neb. 70.

U.S. tour at Orlando again, and sluggers Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus also are in the field.

That was the only major college game Tuesday night but plenty more are on tap later this week. The National Invitation Tournament gets under way in New York on Thursday and 16 more teams swing into action Friday in the NCAA's four regional pairings. The eight-team NCAA college division tourney opens today at Evansville, Ind., with Kentucky Wesleyan, the nation's second-ranked small college team, favored. The Panther, 25-3, play American International, 21-4, in the opening round. In other games, Cheyney, Pa. State, 22-6, faces Ashland, Ohio, 22-5; Indiana State, 21-7, meets Nevada Southern, 22-6, and Evansville, 20-7, plays Trinity of Texas, 21-6. Eight games were played Tuesday on the second day of the 32-team NIAA tournament at Kansas City and there were plenty of surprises. Top-seeded Guilford, N.C., lost to Oshkosh, Wis., State 80-78 and second-

Swim Program To Be Studied

A study of the availability of facilities at the YMCA and the cost of such a program in relation to the number of students involved will be made by Supt. of Schools Sam M. Anderson before any decision is made to hire a swimming coach at Big Spring High School, it was decided by members of the school board at their meeting here Tuesday night. A motion to hire a swim coach who would double as a football assistant in season, made by board member Jerry Currie, died for lack of a second.

Big Spring fielded a swim team last year but its coach, Bill Lewis, departed the system shortly after the season was over. In other action, the board expressed regret at losing two coaching aides, Jack Tayrien and Joe Crousen, both of whom resigned recently to become head coaches in other school systems. Tayrien went to Lockney while Crousen becomes head coach at Athens. Coach Spike Dykes, who was present for part of last night's board meeting said that the athletic department would be able to "get along" by hiring one man for the rest of the school term — which extends for 2 1/2 months — and he expressed confidence he would be able to fill both jobs by the time fall football practice gets under way.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

That tightening of the belt in the two professional football leagues, predicted when the long-awaited merger took place, is now a reality.

The players assigned in the recent draft are finding the teams less ready to talk bonuses and far more prepared to discuss straight salaries.

The big league teams are haunted by the prospect that there is collusion among the television networks concerning future contracts and their revenue might decrease as a result.

A number of big league teams claim they lost money the past season. All of the clubs seem now to have gone to the other extreme in dealing with players.

One college mentor, Doug Dickey of Tennessee, remarked recently:

"What they're offering the kids now is unrealistic, considering the bonuses in the past. I know there is no competition between the leagues now, but last year I thought the contracts were fair. This year they're offering very little."

Big Spring's Charley West, who has played out his string at University of Texas-El Paso, had been told he could expect to get upwards to $120,000 in the way of a bonus. He may have to settle for considerably less.

Big Spring's Thurman Randle, also a UTEP product, is wondering why the Philadelphia Eagles haven't offered him more than $10,000 to sign but the Eagles are strapped for money at the present time and probably won't get rash with their bonus offers. Randle may have to take the Eagles' offer and hope his play will warrant long employment and big pay checks.

No fewer than four coaching aides in District 2-AAAA have been tapped for head coaching jobs in other areas since the 1967 season ended, which is quite a compliment to the caliber of coaching in the league.

The departed mentors are Jack Tayrien and Joe Crousen, both of Big Spring; Tommy Stone, Abilene Cooper; and Timmy Doerr, Abilene High School.

Tayrien went to Lockney, Crousen to Athens, Stone to Lubbock High and Doerr to Liberty.

The departures, too, point to something else — the fact that the shortage of people willing to invest their business lives amid the treacherous shoals that constitute coaching is becoming more acute.

It's becoming harder and harder to interest young men in the profession, even though the chances for advancement are much better.

The pay is good in most instances but the hours are long. No one is on the spot, game in and game out, season in and season out, like a football coach — and he is just as good as his last game.

There are any number of industries waiting to grab off young men who have made names for themselves in the coaching world. Those industries are prepared to offer good salaries and bright futures to the men, knowing full well their names are already indelibly imprinted in the eyes of potential clients for their deeds on the athletic field.

When the West Texas Relays take place this weekend in Odessa, something new in the way of track and field equipment will be used for the first time.

Perfecting by Ted Dawson, the one-time Permian coach, it is a set of automatic pole vault standards. The standards are operated by battery-powered electric motors and the desired height of the cross-bar is adjusted by a series of relays, on the back of each upright.

If the cross bar is kicked off, the standards automatically return to a height where workers can replace them without benefit of ladders or auxiliary poles.

Once the cross bars have been reset on the pegs, the motors return the standard to the original placing.

Teachers Hired For School Year

The Big Spring Independent School District Board of Education gave the green light Tuesday night to Supt. Sam Anderson to re-employ elementary special education, special service and secondary school personnel for the 1968-1969 school year.

Those personnel not fully qualified according to Texas certification requirements will attend summer school in accordance with the policy set by the board, Anderson pointed out. He added that all the teachers were degree teachers; however, Texas state law requires the teacher to have a minimum of six hours in Texas state history and government which some teachers do not have, he said.

All teachers are elected subject to assignment by the superintendent.

Those hired include:

Dear Abby

Get A Marriage Counselor

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a woman who has many fine qualities, but she is the world's louisiest cook.

I could forgive her if she would only try, but she doesn't. She buys frozen foods and canned foods, and doesn't even follow the instructions. Everything she makes is either undercooked or burned. I know food isn't everything, but if I want something that's fit to eat I have to make it myself.

She doesn't have an outside job, and we have no children. We've been married nearly two years and she hasn't made one decent meal. Any suggestions?

HAROLD
DEAR HAROLD: A wife who hasn't cooked or even thawed out a "decent" meal for her husband, and won't even try, needs more help than I can give her in a letter. Find a marriage counselor — and invite him to dinner.

DEAR ABBY: I am the secretary of a very busy man and I like my job. My problem is that my boss has instructed me to find out not only who is calling and his telephone number, but with whom he is associated and the nature of the call.

I have tried to get all this information by asking, "Would you please tell me, what is this call regarding?"

You would be surprised at some of the answers I get from businessmen and lawyers who probably expect the same information from their secretaries. They usually say, "Just have him call me. He'll know." (Usually, he doesn't.) How can I let these callers know that I am not nosy, I simply want to give my boss the information he seeks?

DEAR PERPLEXED: Continue to ask the questions in your usual courteous, businesslike manner, and report the responses to your boss. And don't take them personally.

DEAR ABBY: Our 18-year-old son has recently become engaged, which is fine. Up until now I have minded my own business, but last night was the straw that broke the camel's back.

My son is about to go into the service, so while he is gone he is giving his brand new automobile to his girl to use for her convenience. He is also paying for her insurance so she can drive it.

Now, Abby, what kind of girl would accept things like that from an 18-year-old boy? And what kind of parents would allow her to? Please advise the parents of their duty to their daughter and my son. And please let my son know that he is being the world's biggest sucker. Thank you.

HIS MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Apparently this 18-year-old "boy" is man enough to own a "brand-new" car, and to become engaged. If the car (and insurance money) belongs to your son, he may do with it as he pleases, and shouldn't be labeled "sucker."

Commission Urged To Help Finance Highway Signboards

Big Spring City Commissioners Tuesday evening were asked to participate in financing highway signboards in anticipation of the expected influx of visitors going to HemisFair this year.

Jeff Brown, representing the tourist and convention committee of the Chamber of Commerce, told the commission that Tel-Rite Signs had agreed to erect a huge sign five miles north of the city on US 87 at cost — $600 — for six months. He said $340 had been pledged and he asked the commission to add $100 to the kitty. Commissioners suggested he take the matter up with the "big spring" improvement committee, which was to meet today, for a recommendation.

Carroll Davidson, chamber manager, also asked the commission to consider participation in financing the signs on IS 20, east and west of the city. He suggested $280 to repaint the signs, and $25 per month, or $300 per year, as a share of the lease cost of $100. Commissioners asked him to present the matter to the parks and recreation commission for a recommendation.

Gov. Wallace 'Not Critical'

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. Lurleen Wallace's doctors say she is in "serious but not critical" condition after surgery for an abdominal abscess.

Mrs. Wallace, who had her third operation for abdominal cancer just 20 days ago, underwent the 30-minute operation to drain the newly developed abscess Tuesday.

Physicians said they were satisfied with the results, but Mrs. Wallace, 41, "will not be out of danger from this complication for the next several days."

The hospital statement after the governor's operation Tuesday said the infection did not result directly from cancer, but instead from "lowered resistance caused by various treatments she has undergone during her extended illness."

Previously she was reported to be receiving heavy doses of antibiotics to counteract the infection.

Mrs. Wallace was taken to St. Margaret's Hospital here by ambulance Feb. 22 with what an intestinal blockage causing severe abdominal pain. A small malignant tumor was removed from the pelvic wall, along with a 10-inch section of bowel.

Two Votes Tops Dozen Opponents

BEAVER BAY, Minn. (AP) — James Takvam led a field of 13 Tuesday and was elected justice of the peace with two votes.

Twelve other persons received one vote apiece. All were written in ballots, because no one had filed for the job in this northern Minnesota community.

DAMAGES ASKED

Mrs. Ernest Bruner, 816 W. 8th, was told her request for damages would be taken under advisement. She presented a bill for $18.96 for car damages caused, she said, when a city maintainer left big rocks in her driveway. The city recently replaced a water line in the area, which coupled with the wet weather, has created a street problem.

Commissioner Jimmy Morehead pointed out the next rain could create a serious flooding problem for Mrs. Bruner, and he urged that the commission make a thorough study of the problem and the facts in the damage claim. Ernest Lillard, director of public works, said he would have crews check into the matter to see what might be done to avert future flooding.

BEER PERMIT

First reading for an off premises beer consumption permit for Rock Oil No. 1 service station, 2600 S. Gregg, was approved by a 3-1 vote. Morehead cast the dissenting vote, following a brief discussion by the commission, in which Commissioner Walter Stroup was told by Police Chief Jay Banks that to his knowledge there were no other service stations selling beer. Morehead suggested that approval might set a precedent here, and indirectly encourage drinking and driving.

The commission appointed Harold Davis to the parks and recreation board. He fills the place vacated by Jack Watkins, whose resignation was accepted at the Tuesday meeting.

The Texas Highway Department's plans for building a new viaduct to replace the Benton Street structure for SH 350 will be discussed April 1 at a San Angelo meeting, and the commissioners were urged to attend.

RESOLUTION

A resolution commending Col. George Franks for his work in the city was voted. The colonel recently retired from Webb AFB.

Second reading was given an on premises consumption ordinance for the Desert Sands Restaurant.

The application for an on premises consumption permit for Katie's Bar, 1806 Wason Road, was withdrawn Monday by the applicant, according to City Manager Larry Crow. The public hearing was not held.
