RUSH DUE

Only Two Days Left For Car Tags

Only two days remain in which to register motor cars and obtain 1968 license plates.

The office of the tax assessor-collector will be closed Saturday. Monday will thus be the final date plates can be obtained without penalty.

Of course, Mrs. Zarah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, points out tags can be purchased Saturday at the Newsom Food Store, the one sub-station being operated by the tax office for the issuance of plates. Only passenger cars can be served there, she warned.

Meantime, no rush of any significance has developed at the office. Mrs. LeFevre said that the applicants have been coming to the property tax and the motor vehicle tax offices in constant numbers, but there has been no jam of people.

It is difficult, she said, to estimate how many unregistered vehicles are still to be processed.

Unless the unusual develops, it is almost assured a grand last minute jam will build up Monday. Motorists who do not register their cars before close of business Monday must not operate the vehicles on streets, roads or highways with 1967 license plates after midnight April 1. To do so involves the possibility of arrest and fine.

Belated applicants who do not operate their cars from the deadline until they do buy the tags, can be served after April 1 if they make an affidavit they have not operated the vehicle since midnight April 1.

Appeal Total Climbs

The local Red Cross appeal for funds to finance a greatly expanded program in Southeast Asia went past the $2,000 mark today.

Other contributions from Glasscock County people, who have helped generously, sent the total to $2,003.10, the chapter reported.

The appeal has been conducted during this past month as an "sos" (support our servicemen) measure. The Red Cross is being called upon to serve many more military families through wartime emergencies, and the national chapter has asked for a total of $12 million.

Formal solicitation will be closing soon, but those who wish to have a part may mail checks, made to American Red Cross, to the Howard-Glasscock chapter, Box 626, Big Spring.

Votes Out Schools

COLBERT, Okla. (AP)—Patrons of the Colbert school system have unknowingly voted the community out of the Oklahoma school system.

School districts voters rejected all three millage levy propositions presented to them at this week's school board operations next year—plus the state aid it would have drawn.

"We'll have to keep voting until the issues are passed in order to have schools," Supt. Charles Baker said Wednesday.

The three millage levy propositions were defeated almost two-to-one, while the same propositions were passed by wide majorities in practically all other school districts in the state.

Gold Price Drops

PARIS (AP)—The price of gold continued to drop on the free Paris market today, settling at $38.86 an ounce, its lowest point in a week. Gold was traded at $40.22 an ounce Wednesday.

Market analysts said the falling price was due to uncertainty about South African plans on selling newly mined gold. Many traders were said to be hedging against the possibility of South Africa's shipping new gold to the Continent, where its abundance would keep prices down.

Other considerations affecting trade, analysts said, were the scheduled opening of the London gold market next Monday and the Stockholm meetings of the Group of 10 this weekend when the 10 richest nations in the non-Communist world are to review proposals to finish the role of gold in international trade.

Must Accept Wallace

AUSTIN (AP)—All Texas county clerks must accept for filing all notices of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace's American Party wherever the party is holding precinct conventions, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said Wednesday.

And the county's registrar of voters is required to furnish the party lists of registered voters for not more than $5 a set if the party is holding precinct conventions, he said.

Martin's opinion was requested by Secretary of State Roy Barrera.

Barrera said the name "American Party" had not been certified on the general election ballot in Texas since Nov. 2, 1920. Martin said the name is available for use this year.

The party was set up to get Wallace's name on the November general election ballot.

Enemy Losses Pegged High

WASHINGTON (AP)—During Gen. William C. Westmoreland's tenure in South Vietnam the allies have reported killing 253,000 of the enemy—124,500 more than the enemy was said to have in the country when Westmoreland took over.

STRENGTH
Enemy forces at the end of 1964 when Westmoreland took over were estimated at 128,500. The top Viet Cong and North Vietnamese strength in the South currently is listed as 248,000.

Most enemy deaths have occurred the past two years when Hanoi, like Washington, was escalating its manpower commitment in the South.

Westmoreland, due to return to Washington as Army chief of staff by July 2, assumed command of the U.S. war effort in August 1964.

As of July 1, 1964, enemy death totals going back through 1960 stood at 67,080. This figure, it should be noted, generally consisted of South Vietnamese casualty claims. The United States later began its own count.

By the end of 1967 claimed enemy losses for eight years stood at 253,384.

The over-all toll as of March 16 stands at 320,129, according to Pentagon figures. There is no breakdown as to Viet Cong versus North Vietnamese losses.

That toll does not include 1,941 Communist U.S. officials report killed so far in the 18-day-old operation to clear enemy troops from the area surrounding Saigon.

The statistics show an improving kill ratio for U.S., South Vietnamese and other allied forces the past four years.

Using the enemy's annual killed total as a percentage of his year-end estimated strength, the figures indicate his losses rose from 13 per cent in 1964 to 14 per cent in 1965, jumped to 20 per cent in 1966 and soared above 30 per cent in 1967.

TOTALS

The killed-strength totals: 1964—16,785 dead, year-end strength 128,500 including 2,500 North Vietnamese; 1965—35,436 dead, year-end strength 251,000 including 25,200 North Vietnamese; 1966—55,524 dead, year-end strength 279,000 including 49,000 North Vietnamese; and 1967—88,104 dead, year-end strength 248,000.

Bombers Pound Red Supply Depots To Blunt New Buildup

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Air Force B52 jet bombers pounded North Vietnamese supply depots and command centers in the A Shau Valley west of Hue today with hundreds of tons of high explosives in an effort to blunt a new enemy buildup threatening the former imperial capital.

Thirty-five eight-engine Stratofortresses flew five separate missions against the valley 50 miles west of Hue, raining nearly two million pounds of bombs on the North Vietnamese positions.

The bombers, flying at more than 20,000 feet and unseen from the ground, mounted three raids Wednesday afternoon on truck parks, gun positions, bunkers and storage depots in the valley. They returned this morning for two more missions.

During the same period, the B52s flew two missions against North Vietnamese ammunition depots and troop concentrations around Khe Sanh. For the third consecutive day, Marines at Khe Sanh reported a relatively light shelling, fewer than 100 rounds. Marine casualties were reported as light.

The B52s have been averaging about five missions a day in support of Khe Sanh.

Russian trucks have been spotted regularly in recent weeks moving from the A Shau Valley toward Hue with ammunition and other war materials.

Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman, commander of the northern 1st Corps, said North Vietnamese engineers have rebuilt much of old provincial Route 547 running 40 miles over mountains from the A Shau Valley to Hue.

Get Involved In Issues, Governor Urges Texans

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Gov. John Connally urged Texans to "get involved" with the issues of mixed drinks, pari-mutuel betting crime and other Texas problems.

"There are two ways we can help tourists stay longer in Texas," Connally told over 1,200 convention members of the 91st annual Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association meeting which ended here Wednesday.

"One of these ways is mixed drinks," Connally said. "I'm for it, criticism or not. I think it's wise for the state.

HORSE RACING

"Another is horse racing, or pari-mutuel betting. This would open up a whole new industry in this state. I don't see anything inherently wrong in it," the governor said.

Connally said that if the pari-mutuel issue is favored by the majority of Texans at the May 4 primary then he felt the legislature could pass it, and if they did he would see to it that a top rate racing commission would be appointed.

"I will appoint members to a racing commission whose char-

CONTROVERSIAL TFX WARPLANE

F111 Lost On Bomb Mission

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the United States' controversial F111 fighters is overdue on a bombing mission in Southeast Asia and presumably lost, it was learned today.

A squadron of the 1500-mile-an-hour F111s arrived in Thailand March 17.

The supersonic, swing-wing fighters cost several million dollars each.

Sources said the F111 and its two-man crew was en route from Thailand to a bombing mission over North Vietnam Wednesday. The plane has not been heard from since.

It was understood the last radio transmission from the crew came while the plane was over Laos, which lies between Thailand and North Vietnam.

Search operations have turned up no trace of the fighter-bomber.

Six of the F111s had only recently been based at Takhli, Thailand.

The first combat mission was flown only three days ago when the variable-sweep-wing craft struck against bivouac and truck and storage areas in the southern panhandle region of North Vietnam.

The initial mission, staged in dark and overcast skies, was portrayed as successful.

The F111 is an offshoot of the TFX warplane which brought Robert S. McNamara so much controversy while he was secretary of defense.

Bobby Is Helpful To Johnson, GOP

LBJ Picks Up Strength In Several States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's entry into the Democratic nomination contest appears to have boosted President Johnson's delegate strength in southern and border states.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, seeking re-election in Oklahoma, said in an interview, that the New Yorker's venture into the presidential contest had wiped out what anti-Johnson sentiment existed in his state.

ENDORSES POLICY

Monroney noted the Oklahoma legislature's unanimous passage, with Republicans participating, of a resolution endorsing Johnson's Vietnam policies, which Kennedy has attacked.

Similarly, a high-ranking Democrat who has been feeling the voter pulse in Virginia said Kennedy's candidacy has made highly probable the choice of a 54-vote pro-Johnson delegation in the July state convention.

His explanation: The Democrats concerned don't like Johnson but they like Kennedy even less—because of his civil-rights actions as U.S. attorney general—and few of them have heard of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., third man in the race.

Johnson's lieutenants say they're convinced the President will have most of the South's convention votes, even in states that might be carried by former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama in the November election.

PREDICTED

As an example, Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., has predicted Louisiana will deliver its 36 convention votes to Johnson. But he expects Wallace to carry it in November.

In trying to sew up the fringes of the Deep South, Johnson's lieutenants are running into some difficulties.

TWO HAVE BEEN NOMINATED You Can Help Honor An Outstanding Youth

Would you like to have a hand in recognizing young people for outstanding leadership and civic achievements?

You can, by sending in the name of a high school senior or junior boy or girl in Howard County high schools (Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan) for consideration in the Zale-Herald Youth Achievement Award.

These nominations are being received now, but the time will run out in about 10 days. A second nominee's name was received today, that of Teresa Conner, a Big Spring High School senior girl, whose many school and civic activities are listed.

Other names are invited. The standard nomination form, which appears in The Herald today on Page 5-A must be used, but may be accompanied by a fuller listing of the nominee's activities.

From all the names submitted (there were more than 40 last year from the three schools) a panel of judges will select a winner. This young person will be honored at a banquet in April, will receive a large trophy and an engraved watch. All nominees will receive certificates and gifts.

This is the third year of the Zale-Herald Youth Achievement Award program, which is designed solely to pay tribute to the young people who are accomplishing worthwhile things in their school, church and community.

Nominations can be made by anyone—minister, teacher, parents, friend—and these are sought, simply as a tribute to the boys and girls who deserve such honor.

Reagan Forces See Chance If RFK Runs Well

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ronald Reagan's political advisers are hoping that Robert F. Kennedy gets off to a fast start in his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination because, as one of them put it: "With Bobby in the picture, we may have a chance."

NEW FACE

Two top men in the quiet campaign to win the Republican nomination for the California governor said in separate interviews that if Kennedy looks like a winner when the Republican convention opens Aug. 5, it could put GOP delegates in the market for a new face as an alternative to the current front-runner, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

If Kennedy becomes the Democratic nominee, one Reagan man said, "It will be harder for Republicans to campaign against the Johnson administration. After all, Bobby will have gotten the nomination by campaigning against the Johnson administration himself."

Since the Democratic convention opens three weeks after the Republican convention, the Reagan men are hoping for a strong early showing by Kennedy.

STAY OFF

In the interim, the Reagan forces are trying to convince Republican favorite sons to stay off a Nixon bandwagon.

"If the favorite sons hold, it's impossible for a guy to get that nomination on the first ballot," a Reagan adviser said.

He echoed the California governor, who told a Sacramento news conference Monday: "There are now favorite-son delegations representing more than 700 votes. I'm still inclined to think it will be an open convention."

One of those delegations will represent California's 86 votes, pledged to Reagan.

Reagan has repeatedly denied he is an active candidate for the presidency. However, he won't remove his name from the presidential primary ballots in three states where it would take a disavowal of any intention of possibly becoming a candidate. Thus Reagan's name will be on the ballot in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon, though he has no plans to campaign in any of them.

FAINT PRAISE

Discussing Nixon, Reagan advisers tend to condemn the former vice president with faint praise.

"He (Nixon) has been one of the most comfortable candidates for a member of the Republican party to say he is for," one Reagan man said. "But how deep is that commitment?"

"It would be too strong to say he's (Nixon) not electable. But I've been surprised that with his campaign going so well, there's not much enthusiasm."

First Man In Space Killed Wednesday

MOSCOW (AP)—Handsome Soviet cosmonaut Yuri A. Gagarin, who flew the world's first manned space mission in April 1961, died in a training-flight crash Wednesday.

The crash also killed Col. Vladimir S. Seryogin, commander of an air unit and a member of the space backup team. The ashes of both Gagarin and Seryogin will be placed in the most honorable spot in the Soviet Union, the Kremlin Wall facing Red Square.

The news that the 34-year-old Soviet hero was dead plainly saddened many Russians. One radio announcer repeated the official report several times with deep emotion. The announcements were interspersed with slow funeral music from Tchaikovsky and Scriabin.

No details were given about the crash.

Gagarin's death was the second tragedy known to have hit the Soviet space program within a year. Last April 24 Col. Vladimir M. Komarov was killed when his Soyuz spacecraft crashed to earth.

Gagarin opened the book on manned space flight on April 12, 1961, when he shot skyward in his Vostok space capsule and orbited the earth once. The trip lasted 108 minutes.

King's Marchers Turn To Looting

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A march led by Martin Luther King ended abruptly today after hundreds of Negro demonstrators got out of hand and began looting stores and breaking windows on downtown streets.

Police opened fire with tear gas in an effort to disperse the crowd. One policeman was severely beaten by Negro youths when he tried to stop them while they were looting a store.

Presidential Campaign Trail Becomes Crowded

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Congestion has begun to mark the campaign road in Wisconsin where a high source in Sen. Eugene McCarthy's camp acknowledged the senator's staff is being retooled to get fewer backfires.

VALVE JOB

But, the source added, "It's like trying to do a valve job in the middle of the Indianapolis 500."

With the state's primary coming up Tuesday, presidential hopefuls and their spokesmen were numerous in the Badger State.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, facing limited competition from former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen and California Gov. Ronald Reagan on the Republican ballot, said he is preparing a major statement for broadcast Sunday concerning the Vietnam war and "the problem of diplomacy at the highest level involving the Soviet Union."

Three Johnson administration officials were in Wisconsin — Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and consumer affairs adviser Betty Furness.

McCarthy, the only Democrat listed on the Tuesday primary ballot besides Johnson, was showing signs of polishing the campaign efforts begun in New Hampshire with the help of young persons.

northern Wisconsin cities today, said in Chicago Wednesday that early in the campaign, "everybody was happy, kind of running his own operation. Beyond Wisconsin, I expected we'd have to organize, especially after the entrance of Sen. (Robert) Kennedy, which made it a different kind of campaign."

PREDICTS WIN

Nixon, speaking at a Madison news conference prior to addressing a farm audience in Wausau, said the statement he plans Sunday "will cover the problem of military recommendations that have been made" in the Vietnam conflict.

"Over a period of time, I've probably been the administration's most consistent critic," he said. "This speech will be along those lines."

Nixon predicted a victory for Johnson over McCarthy next Tuesday, and said he doubts Sen. Kennedy can stop the President from being renominated.

Clark addressed about 300 students at the University of Wisconsin where shouting by anti-war hecklers had forced Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to halt a speech last week. The attorney general, confronting student questions reflecting criticism of administration policies in Vietnam, got a polite but restrained reception. He drew heavy applause, however, when he discussed civil rights.

stay in Washington and let others campaign for him.

"The people begin to wonder who is tending the store," O'Brien said.

Miss Furness, describing herself as a "lobbyist for the consumer," addressed an Appleton group Wednesday, and was to be the guest of Mrs. Henry Maier, wife of Milwaukee's mayor, at a reception today.

Stassen, speaking Wednesday in Milwaukee, has been one of the state's most determined candidates despite his underdog role.

The former Minnesota governor, in his frequent addresses to Wisconsin voters, has worked the theme that he sees little difference between the military opinions of Nixon and Johnson on the Vietnam issues.

STAFF CHANGES

A source high in the McCarthy camp, who asked not to be identified, acknowledged a staff rebuilding program is under way.

But the source said critics of methods being used in the Minnesota senator's campaign should not view the situation by an "organization chart."

Few professionals joined the McCarthy move when the senator originally challenged Johnson, the source said, and the campaign was handled by "dedicated amateurs who learn fast."

McCarthy, he added, is now a man running in 50 states, "which was not true before New Hampshire."

McCarthy, planning visits to

TEEN FACING Burglary Rap

Raymond Puga Nunez Jr., 18, was charged by Detective Capt. Stanley Bogard today with burglary from a motor vehicle. Charges were filed with the district attorney. No bond was set.

A 16-year-old juvenile facing the same charge is being held for Ron Reed, juvenile probation officer from Midvale.

Police received a call at 10:25 p.m. last night that some boys were going through cars parked outside Miriam's, 703 W. 3rd. A call was made to Robert Mitchell, owner of Miriam's, and he was requested to keep a watch out until police could arrive.

Upon arrival police found one boy sitting in a car and one standing by a car holding a sack. The boys ran and Detective Paul Alexander and Mitchell were able to catch one boy. The other one was arrested later at his home.

LBJ Pushing Hard For Senate Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration reportedly is pushing hard for defeat of a proposal before the Senate that would combine a 10 per cent income tax surcharge with a $6 billion spending cut.

Senate Democratic leaders hoped to defeat the proposal — an amendment to the administration's excise-tax bill — in time to assure final action on the House-passed excise measure by today.

PAVE THE WAY

That timetable would pave the way for getting the main bill to President Johnson for his signature before excise taxes on cars and telephones expire at midnight Sunday.

In the House, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee said President Johnson's proposed tourist tax could be revived if the administration couples it with some kind of tax import.

The committee approved a bill imposing a 5 per cent tax on airline tickets for all flights abroad, and reduced for 18 months the duty-free exemption for returning travelers from $100 to $10.

Johnson's original tourist tax proposal, held up by the committee, is designed to help combat the balance of payments deficit. It involves a graduated levy on daily spending outside the Western Hemisphere. A co-sponsor of the taxes-spending curb amendment said the administration is working hard against the proposal.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said administration forces "were wavering for a while and I couldn't find out where they stood. But I called one of their top officials and he told me they were definitely against it."

Williams added he had always felt the administration would fight the spending cut.

-In addition to any administration opposition to the budget slash, the surcharge part of the amendment is likely to run into trouble in the House if it clears the Senate.

EXTRA TAX

House Ways and Means Committee members, who normally handle tax legislation before the Senate does, have made clear they are against the Senate taking initial action on a revenue proposal.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., planned to propose an amendment today that would impose a 20 per cent extra tax on the income of any U.S. firm doing business with a Communist nation supplying material to North Vietnam.

In Wednesday voting, the Senate adopted 55 to 31 an amendment by Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., to set up a system of textile import quotas. The President had dispatched five Cabinet officers to Capitol Hill last fall to speak out against such a proposal.

Also adopted, 70 to 35, was an amendment by Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., to overturn a Treasury ruling that commercial advertising in publications was out by nonprofit groups was taxable.

THREE TEXAS War Victims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty-five servicemen killed in action in the Vietnam war were identified Wednesday in a Defense Department casualty list.

They included three Texans: Army-2nd Lt. James E. Laird, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Laird, 3509 Robin Hood Lane, Texarkana; Sgt. Jimmy Flores, son of Mrs. Antonia T. Hernandez, 2436 Potosi St., San Antonio.

AP Photographer Wounded Again

SAIGON (AP) — Associated Press photographer Al Chang, 43, was wounded Wednesday for the second time in his six years of covering the Vietnam war.

A piece of shrapnel hit Chang in the chest when the Viet Cong fired on an armed personnel carrier he was riding as U.S. 25th Division infantrymen attacked a Viet Cong hamlet 25 miles northwest of Saigon.

He was walking around later and was believed not seriously injured.

In December, 1965, Chang was knocked unconscious by a bullet in his head but came to 40 minutes later and took more photographs after medics removed the bullet and dressed the wound.

Kirk Captures Ballot Round

Truman Kirk, former Big Spring resident, has won a round in his effort to run for district judge in Eastland County.

Previously, he had been blocked from a place on the ballot by injunction on the grounds that he was a legal resident of Abilene, rather than Cisco where he has his law offices and teaches in the Cisco Junior College. His wife lives in Abilene.

Kirk appealed to the Texas Supreme Court, either for a trial on merits of his case, or for a mandamus ordering his name on the ballot. The court ordered the trial court to hear the case on its merits Monday.

Kirk lived here several years, serving as The Herald's circulation manager before he decided to study law.

HCJC Books Band Tryouts

Young people who plan to attend Howard County Junior College next fall are invited to try out for places on the college stage band.

John Stanley, who will direct the band, said that tuition scholarships would be available to some who excel in the tryouts. All stage band instruments, including a bass fiddle, are acceptable.

The tryouts will be from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the college on April 13 and May 11, said Stanley.

Dickson Given Local Park Tour

Temple Dickson, Big Spring's legislator, visited the city Wednesday and was taken for a tour of the Big Spring State Park, as well as the big spring site and City Park.

Fuel Line Rip Halts Freight

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — A transmission pipeline used to pump jet fuel from El Paso, Tex., to Holloman Air Force Base near Alamogordo erupted Wednesday, demolishing a railroad bridge and halting freight train movements.

There were no injuries at the site, 10 miles south of Alamogordo.

Authorities said a road grader apparently punctured the line. Four fire units from Holloman including a 4,000-gallon tanker truck extinguished the blaze with chemicals. The blaze started shortly after 6 p.m.

Spokesmen said the pipeline was closed off at El Paso. It was not known immediately when it would be reopened or Southern Pacific freight traffic between Tucumcari and El Paso would be resumed.

Passenger service was discontinued on the one-track route recently.

Brazen Burglar Loots Residence

The home of Mrs. F. O. Allen, 900 Goliad, was burglarized Wednesday.

Mrs. Thelma Lewis, 906 Goliad, saw a man carrying household goods wrapped in a sheet from the house. When she asked what he was doing, he told her he had rented a room. Knowing this was not true, Mrs. Lewis called the police.

The front door glass had been broken and blood was found on the inside of the door facing. Apparently the burglar had cut himself forcing an entry.

Raymond Puga Nunez Jr., 18, was charged by Detective Capt. Stanley Bogard today with burglary from a motor vehicle. Charges were filed with the district attorney. No bond was set.

A 16-year-old juvenile facing the same charge is being held for Ron Reed, juvenile probation officer from Midvale.

Police received a call at 10:25 p.m. last night that some boys were going through cars parked outside Miriam's, 703 W. 3rd. A call was made to Robert Mitchell, owner of Miriam's, and he was requested to keep a watch out until police could arrive.

Upon arrival police found one boy sitting in a car and one standing by a car holding a sack. The boys ran and Detective Paul Alexander and Mitchell were able to catch one boy. The other one was arrested later at his home.

Rights Fiddlin' Request Ignored

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee shows no signs of heeding a presidential call to "quit fiddlin' and piddlin'" on the Senate-passed civil rights-open housing bill.

The Rules Committee was to open public hearings on the measure today with no indication of any plan to move up the April 9 deadline it has set for voting.

While signing Wednesday of a bill outlawing racial discrimination in federal jury selection, Johnson criticized House delay in acting on the civil rights bill. "I think," said the President, "the conscience of America calls on Congress to quit fiddlin' and piddlin' and take action on this civil rights bill."

As passed by the Senate, the measure would ban discrimination in the sale or rental of about 80 per cent of the nation's housing. It also would provide protection for Negroes and civil rights workers engaged in seeking constitutional rights.

AP Photographer Wounded Again

SAIGON (AP) — Associated Press photographer Al Chang, 43, was wounded Wednesday for the second time in his six years of covering the Vietnam war.

A piece of shrapnel hit Chang in the chest when the Viet Cong fired on an armed personnel carrier he was riding as U.S. 25th Division infantrymen attacked a Viet Cong hamlet 25 miles northwest of Saigon.

He was walking around later and was believed not seriously injured.

In December, 1965, Chang was knocked unconscious by a bullet in his head but came to 40 minutes later and took more photographs after medics removed the bullet and dressed the wound.

LBJ Pushing Hard For Senate Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration reportedly is pushing hard for defeat of a proposal before the Senate that would combine a 10 per cent income tax surcharge with a $6 billion spending cut.

Senate Democratic leaders hoped to defeat the proposal — an amendment to the administration's excise-tax bill — in time to assure final action on the House-passed excise measure by today.

PAVE THE WAY

That timetable would pave the way for getting the main bill to President Johnson for his signature before excise taxes on cars and telephones expire at midnight Sunday.

In the House, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee said President Johnson's proposed tourist tax could be revived if the administration couples it with some kind of tax import.

The committee approved a bill imposing a 5 per cent tax on airline tickets for all flights abroad, and reduced for 18 months the duty-free exemption for returning travelers from $100 to $10.

Johnson's original tourist tax proposal, held up by the committee, is designed to help combat the balance of payments deficit. It involves a graduated levy on daily spending outside the Western Hemisphere. A co-sponsor of the taxes-spending curb amendment said the administration is working hard against the proposal.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said administration forces "were wavering for a while and I couldn't find out where they stood. But I called one of their top officials and he told me they were definitely against it."

Williams added he had always felt the administration would fight the spending cut.

-In addition to any administration opposition to the budget slash, the surcharge part of the amendment is likely to run into trouble in the House if it clears the Senate.

EXTRA TAX

House Ways and Means Committee members, who normally handle tax legislation before the Senate does, have made clear they are against the Senate taking initial action on a revenue proposal.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., planned to propose an amendment today that would impose a 20 per cent extra tax on the income of any U.S. firm doing business with a Communist nation supplying material to North Vietnam.

In Wednesday voting, the Senate adopted 55 to 31 an amendment by Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., to set up a system of textile import quotas. The President had dispatched five Cabinet officers to Capitol Hill last fall to speak out against such a proposal.

Also adopted, 70 to 35, was an amendment by Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., to overturn a Treasury ruling that commercial advertising in publications was out by nonprofit groups was taxable.

A Devotional For The Day

Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift. (II Corinthians 9:15)

PRAYER: I thank Thee, O Lord, that Thy forgiveness has so changed me that I am a new person. Though I remember what I was, Thou hast forgiven my guilt and made me Thy child. Teach me obedience to Thee, through daily discipleship with Christ Thy Son, in whose name I pray. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Voice That Deserves Heeding

Jesse Owens, whose great personal triumph in the 1936 Olympics qualified him to speak, commands attention when he counsels against heeding voices that urge Negro athletes to boycott the United States Olympic team.

Owens, a refined, intelligent and gracious gentleman, might have reached the pinnacle on his own, but he acknowledges that athletics helped him along. Sports, he rightly points out, is an area in which people stand on their own—stand wholly on what they can do and what they can deliver.

That there still exist social inequities and injustices is undeniable, yet in his view this has nothing to do with sports and least of all with the Olympics. In essence, he is raising the question of why should Negro athletes kick one of their greatest benefactors—sports—in the teeth? Nothing has so opened the doors of opportunities to those whose skins are dark as has the world of sports. Even in our own community the presence of Negro athletes on national college teams competing in track events opened hotel facilities to colored people long before the civil rights act came along. The record of sports pushing back discrimination on other fronts all over the nation is impressive.

When Jesse Owens says that Americans should run as Americans, regardless of circumstance or race, he deserves to be heard above the lesser personalities striving for the spotlight.

Thanks To The Board

We are grateful to the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation for transferring $39,500 to the Big Spring State Hospital account for physical improvements and equipment.

Of the amount, $30,000 is earmarked for air conditioning of Unit 7 at the hospital, and another $5,000 for painting and cleaning.

Air conditioning is one of the most wonderful things that can be done. We insist on it for our commercial buildings, and now for our new schools, and certainly for our homes. Well, the units at the hospitals are the homes of hospital residents, most of whom never go off to work, out to shop, or go visiting. The units are in use constantly—24 hours a day.

Air conditioning at the hospital isn't just a modern convenience—it's compassion. So, for the people who are under treatment there, we say thanks.

Holmes Alexander The Politicians Keep Us Laughing

WASHINGTON — "Whatever happened to the famous American sense of humor?" asked the Returning Traveler who'd been away for awhile. "You don't see all those funny books any more about left-footed GIs and amorous gobs that made life bearable on the homefront during World War II."

Never mind, the Traveler was told, the politicians are doing their bit to keep up the morale of the folks back home.

"PRESIDENT JOHNSON must have had that in mind with his speech on austerity," the Traveler agreed. "He'd whipped off in Air Force One for a weekend at the Texas ranch, and then he flew out of his way to stop in Minneapolis and preach austerity to a farmer's convention. It's a pretty expensive method of campaigning for frugality, but I can see how it gave the American people a laugh at a time they were gloomy about Vietnam."

Vice President Hubert Humphrey gave us a chuckle, too, the Traveler was reminded. Somebody forgot Hubert's dinner jacket in which he was to address a St. Patrick's Day banquet, and so the Air Force Jet Star made a 400-mile round trip to fetch the tuxedo. That day HHH introduced the President at the kick-off appearance of the austerity campaign.

"THE ONLY WAY the Great Society comedians could have topped their own show would have been to bring Sargent Shriver back from Spain where he was vacationing in spite of the President's pleas against foreign travel," the Traveler observed. "With so much grimness on the war front, you've got to hand it to the Johnson Administration for giving the people plenty to chuckle about."

The Senate was doing all right, too, the Traveler heard. Last year it censured Tom Dodd (D., Conn.) for spending campaign funds on personal uses, and last week the subcommittee on Standards and Conduct came in with a set of rules known as the Ethics Code. And who do you think took the floor to discuss the Code, and to offer amendments to tighten it up?

"NO LESS than Dodd, I guess," the Traveler said. "It's events like that which give comic relief to those terrible hearings and debates on the Vietnam policy. There weren't any rules when Dodd raked in all that money from testimonial dinners and spent it as he liked, but he got censured all the same. Now, the Senate is passing ex post facto regulations to make the censure legal, and Dodd is there to make sure there aren't any loopholes."

THE TRAVELER was tipped off not to overlook the Everett Dirksen act on the Ethics resolution. Dirksen has the comic style of W. C. Fields and the repertoire of Bob Hope, and it's worth a trip to Washington to see this old troupier on stage. As a renowned civil rights pleader, Dirksen takes the position that an Ethics Code would be an invasion of privacy and would turn a U. S. Senator into a second-class citizen. What other American has to make public disclosure of how he gets his money and how much he's got? What's the matter, Dirksen asks. Doesn't the country trust its politicians?

"The people never did trust their politicians," observed the Returning Traveler.

AND YET, the Traveler was reminded, no other country has been able to achieve and to keep a constitutional democracy.

"We are lucky that American politics remains so hilarious," said the Traveler. "Otherwise it would be too horrible to bear."

Ahoy, Don Duck

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — More than one eyebrow will be raised when a new crewman reports aboard the Navy's picket escort ship Falgout at Pearl Harbor shortly. The new crewman's name — Donald Duck.

Seaman Apprentice Duck recently completed his basic training at San Diego and has been assigned to the Falgout.

Duck, 20, said he has quite a time with his name. He said shortly after his arrival in San Diego he was sent to the naval hospital. He said he had to convince three staff nurses, two corpsmen and one doctor that his name really was Donald Duck.

He also tells of trouble in San Francisco with an airline ticket agent. The agent, according to Duck, said, "Sure, we have Mickey Mouse aboard, too."

Duck said his name is not a total deficit. He said it starts a conversation on the light humorous side and that it is a name that has its advantages in making friends.

What do the sailor's parents think about his name?

Ask them — Mr. and Mrs. Donald Duck of Agana, Guam.

Herald's Hal Hacks Hangdog American

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a pavement Plato:

I am tired of the hangdog American.

The hangdog American is a guy who lives in the greatest country on earth and feels he has to apologize for his own existence.

THERE IS NO longer much danger of the average American bragging himself to death. He is more likely to wither on the vine from unnecessary guilt.

It is hard today to name a thing that doesn't afflict the typical American with a sense of being in the wrong.

If he is over 40, he feels guilty because he isn't younger.

If he has children and can't give them everything they ask for, he feels he is letting them down. If they turn out badly, he is sure it must be his fault, not theirs.

HE FEELS GUILTY if his wife has to wear a cloth coat instead of a fur one, or if the refrigerator in her kitchen is more than 10 years old.

If the opera bores him, he feels he is a musically illiterate boob, because everyone is supposed to be cultured today and enjoy opera, whether he likes it or not.

If he is 10 pounds overweight, he feels guilty because he reads that half the people in the world go hungry every night.

If he goes to war—and he does—he feels guilty because his enemies fight back and his unfaithful allies don't rush to his support.

IF HE GIVES away billions to other lands—and he does—he feels guilty because his beneficiaries are not stun his ears with their applause.

The cringing posture of the hangdog American is something relatively new to our national life. Never before did we insist or require that the rest of mankind love us; why should we now? Never before have we looked down upon ourselves, our conduct, or our motives; why should we now?

UNCLE SAM should never let himself become another Uriah Heep, burdened with a pretentious humility, nor should the average American ever let himself degenerate into meretricious masochism.

The hangdog American is getting the bad habit of sticking out his chin and then hitting it with his own fist. He is getting the bad habit of looking at himself in the mirror and breaking into self-pitying tears because the face he sees there isn't that of a universally accepted god.

THE HANGDOG American is in danger of losing the fierce independence and self-pride of his pioneering ancestors. He is not only capitulating to his carping critics—he is becoming his own worst critic by doubting or distrusting his own obvious virtues: courage, ingenuity, loyalty, generosity, idealism.

That is the worst thing that can happen to any man—to lose faith in himself. And that is what is happening to the hangdog American.

Gold, Silver Crisis Continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — In less than three years, the United States has almost completely broken the last links between the nation's metals—silver and gold—mankind has used as money for thousands of years.

And a preliminary step has been taken under U.S. leadership toward decreasing the role of gold in international affairs despite France's opposition.

The intermediate and final steps must still be played in the international field but the next scene is scheduled this weekend in Stockholm among the non-Communist world's 10 richest nations, including France.

Crisis has marked the domestic demonetization of both silver and gold.

IT INCLUDED the removal of all silver from dimes and quarters and the elimination earlier this month of the gold backing for paper money. The silver content of half dollars was cut from 90 per cent to 40 per cent.

Now the only backing for U.S. money is the strength of the economy, not the intrinsic value of the coinage or gold behind the paper money.

Silver was the first to be demonetized because of the burgeoning use of the metal in industries ranging from photography to jewelry and because of a coin shortage in the early 1960s.

Some paper money is still backed by silver but the deadline for redeeming silver certificates for silver is June 24. Silver certificates were made between 1929 and the early 1960s.

THE DOMESTIC demonetization of gold came with removal earlier this month of the 25 per cent gold cover, a move made necessary by the gold crisis which followed devaluation of the British pound in November.

Until last week, each $1 in Federal Reserve notes—the only paper money now made—was backed by 25 cents in gold.

Removal of the gold cover came after the United States and its European gold partners fixed a two-price system for gold—one for private hoarders and speculators who must now pay the going market price and a $35-an-ounce price among governments.

One provision of the so-called Washington gold agreement was that governments no longer buy or sell gold in the open market, thus freezing the $40 billion now held in government money stocks.

THE NEXT STEP will be played out in Stockholm this weekend and involves the finishing touches on a program approved last September by the International Monetary Fund — the creation of new money when and as needed to keep world trade flowing smoothly.

The new money—which would move only among governments—would be a bookkeeping entry by the IMF and would be linked in any way to gold.

Around The Rim

Direction In Reverse

Who knows what residents really want from their city government—or any public institution, for that matter?

OUR CITY, for instance, gets the usual number of complaint calls during a year, but when the commissioners invite folks to spell out exactly what they want done, such as by a questionnaire, the response is almost negligible.

Or take the matter of a petition containing a bunch of names. In a recent instance, residents who were signing the petition began calling the city hall to tell officials to disregard their signature even before the petition was turned in. Wonder how many signatories to any petition really know what they are signing, or whether they are carefully considering the name to some issue or another?

THROUGHOUT the year, we hear demands for this or that construction, or new agency, or other expenditure. But when the time for the real decision is made—when the budget is considered and approved—only a handful of folks show up to be heard. Absence gives tacit approval, which may or not necessarily be the case. In Big Spring, there must be in excess of 10,000 qualified voters this year. Yet, next week when it comes time to elect three city commissioners, it will take only a few more than 2,000 votes to set a new record turnout total. No doubt, any candidate that can garner 800 votes (probably less) will be elected.

IN EACH of these instances, we continue to be "against" in voter participation. We will sign petitions against something, we attend a budget meeting to oppose it, and we go to the election to vote against someone; rarely do we turn out to favor an issue, to support a budget, or to back some candidate.

Accentuating the negative, as we are wont to do, is an uncertain method of telling our officials what kind of government we want. It would give us precious little chance to build a better place to live if the minority "aginners" carried control on every public issue, as there are certain to be a bunch of these on most any question.

THE POSITIVE method of support for the issues we favor leaves no doubt—and encourages more of the same. And it builds a foundation for a positive approach to all our problems.

'Intensive Review' Of Vietnam

WASHINGTON — "Intensive review" is the key phrase here concerning the future of the Vietnam war. It doesn't mean withdrawal or surrender. It doesn't mean escalation into a larger war either. It is simply a penetrating study as to how the United States can secure its objectives in the most effective manner and with the least loss of life.

OBVIOUSLY A CHANGE of strategy is contemplated. The transfer of General Westmoreland recently announced, however, is not because in any respect he has failed. It is due primarily to the need for a new style of warfare which will require a different type of commander as well as a change in the distribution of America's manpower in South Vietnam.

Basically the last year has proved that the traditional type of war—bombing the enemy constantly and organizing a massive military apparatus—does not secure the safety of the small villages where the Viet Cong revolutionaries have taken over large parts of the countryside.

THE SOUTH Vietnamese government is perplexed because it is unfamiliar with military techniques and is not experienced in how to deal with the damaging effects of Communist penetration.

As military men discuss the future, they agree that a way must be devised to fight a "revolutionary war." This includes a struggle against infiltration by the Communists and their use of stooges and agents to terrorize the people and undermine South Vietnamese authority in local areas.

WHAT THE United States is up against in Vietnam is better understood now than it was two years ago. Forthcoming plans undoubtedly will call for an improvement in the tactics hitherto used.

What may be looked for is not necessarily an appreciable increase in manpower. In the long run, it could even be reduced. But over the next two or three years the United States will try to better conditions inside South Vietnam and will not be building up concentrations of troops.

MORE PRESSURE will be exerted, of course, on the South Vietnamese government itself to increase its military strength in a substantial way. Even if the American forces did win victories in large-scale offensives, it would not solve the problem. For if American troops were then withdrawn and the situation left to a weak and inefficient government in South Vietnam, a Communist take-over would be rapid, and all the effort of these last two years would have been in vain.

THE "INTENSIVE review" is naturally conducted in secret. Conferences are going on in Saigon and Washington. The hope is that before long a strategy will be developed which will permit the United States not only to reduce its forces in South Vietnam but to maintain its supply lines as well as to keep enough officers and men on hand to train a native army. In a nutshell, the United States now is likely to put much of its effort into a strengthening of the South Vietnamese government so that its military forces will be able to resist the North Vietnamese and eventually drive them out of the many villages in which they have planted groups of Communist-trained agents.

UNDOUBTEDLY a constructive policy, once explained to the American people, would clear up many of the current misunderstandings. The important fact to be borne in mind, however, is that the United States will not abandon South Vietnam.

The Experts Are Frustrated

WASHINGTON — The decision to bring Gen. William C. Westmoreland back to the United States caught Washington completely by surprise. Even Joseph Wallstop, the syndicated hawk and widely read pundit, had been kept in the dark on the President's plans.

This didn't go down too well with Wallstop when I saw him a few days later at the Army-Navy Club.

"No one consulted me," Wallstop complained. "I had to read about Westmoreland's recall in the newspapers."

"IT'S TYPICAL of the President," I said, trying to placate my friend. "The people involved are the last to know."

"Even Westmoreland knew before I did," Wallstop said. "I pointed out, 'But not by much,' I pointed out. 'Well, I think it's sheer idiocy,' Wallstop said angrily. 'Just when the tide has turned and we have the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese on the run, and the Hue offensive proved once and for all that we were fighting paper tigers, Johnson has given in to political expediency. Doesn't the President know that I need Westmoreland in Vietnam?'"

"BUT JOE, there has been some criticism of those policies since the Tet offensive. There are even some military experts who say that they are not working."

"Well, those experts will soon have jam on their faces. Of course, I can't be responsible for every minor setback in Vietnam, particularly when the President won't give me the troops I've asked for."

"That's right," I said. "You did call up the reserves last month, didn't you?"

"I CERTAINLY DID, not just in one column, but in three. Yet the President overruled me. I can't get it through to the Administration that if I'm going to be proven right in my column, I need at least 500,000 more men."

"Joe, do you think if we had a million American men in Vietnam we could win the war?"

"Maybe not at first, but we certainly could get the pacification program off the ground."

"And then win the hearts and minds of the Vietnamese people," I said.

"TELL ME, Joe, why can't anyone else in Washington see the Vietnam problem as clearly as you do?"

"Because they don't have access to captured enemy documents, Joe said. He opened his briefcase and handed me a sheaf of papers. 'Read them and then tell me if we aren't winning the war.'"

"They're all printed in Vietnamese, Joe."

"WELL, YOU CAN guess what they say, can't you?" he said, putting them back in his briefcase.

"Tell me, Joe, now that Westmoreland is coming back to the United States, do you think you'll be consulted about his replacement?"

"If I'm not, I can't guarantee the war will continue as well as it's going now."

Abrams' Departure For Viet Leaves Few Clues To Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams has departed Washington for Vietnam, leaving behind virtually no clues as to his future U.S. troop plans or to his own military future.

MORE FIGHTING

"I look for more fighting," was the clipped response of the deputy U.S. commander in Vietnam when asked to forecast the future course of the war.

And he dismissed as a mere speculation that he is in line to succeed Gen. William C. Westmoreland when the U.S. commander steps down to become Army chief of staff by July 2.

"The White House speaks for itself," said the 53-year-old Army general in referring to a White House refusal to comment on Westmoreland's successor.

His comments came in a planeside interview shortly before he flew out of Andrews Air Force Base for Vietnam. Like his two days of secrecy-cloaked talks with President Johnson and other U.S. officials in Washington, details of his return trip weren't disclosed.

The White House has said these talks do not involve Abrams' future and maintains no decision is imminent on war zone manpower changes.

MAJOR SETBACK

In an interview with The Associated Press, the man in charge of the pacification program in South Vietnam conceded the Viet Cong handed the program a major setback with their Tet offensive.

But Ambassador Robert W. Komer, predicted the South Vietnamese will recoup their losses faster than the enemy does theirs.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee meanwhile introduced a resolution urging President Johnson to create a Cabinet-level post to "deal exclusively with the question of ending the war in Vietnam."

NOT BINDING

The proposal by the Arkansas Democrat and fervent war-policy critic would not be binding on Johnson if the Senate adopts it.

A committee spokesman said the resolution had been routinely sent to the State Department for comment. One source suggested administration and public reaction to the plan would determine whether committee hearings on it would be scheduled.

Fulbright did not suggest the name of anyone to fill the proposed peace-seeker post, but called for Johnson to appoint "a man of high international stature who would not have been previously identified with any school of thought" on Vietnam.

HELEN MILLER
Receives Music Scholarship

Helen Miller, Big Spring High School senior and first chair clarinet in the symphonic band, has been notified she is the recipient of an applied music scholarship at West Texas State University, Canyon.

The scholarship exempts recipients from applied music fees in the amount of $55-$75 per semester and is renewable as long as the student receives a grade of A or B in the major and regional solo and ensemble contests and received a first place in the University Inter-scholastic League Solo and Ensemble Contest. She will compete in the state solo and ensemble contest in June in Austin.

Miss Miller, the daughter of Mrs. Leola Miller, 1806 Owens, has participated in both district and regional solo and ensemble contests and received a first place in the University Inter-scholastic League Solo and Ensemble Contest. She will compete in the state solo and ensemble contest in June in Austin.

Kennedy's Entry Sets Up Contest

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's entry today into the May 7 Indiana presidential primary sets up the first primary test involving him with Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and a stand-in for President Johnson.

Richard M. Nixon will run alone on the Republican ballot. Representatives of Indiana Gov. Roger D. Branigan, who agreed to represent Johnson in the primary, and McCarthy also were scheduled to file their candidacies before the midnight deadline.

BOMB THREAT

Kennedy's backers, certain that he would run even before he announced the decision Wednesday in Salt Lake City, had the needed petitions ready to enter his name on the ballot.

Nixon's Indiana supporters put his name on the ballot Wednesday, filing more than the required 500 certified signatures of registered voters from each of the 11 congressional districts.

Kennedy and his political strategists made the decision to enter the Indiana primary Wednesday—the day before the filing deadline. He also is en-

Israeli And Arab Forces Swap Shots

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli and Arab forces blazed at each other across the Jordan River today in an hour-long battle, the Israeli army reported.

There were charges from Arab quarters that Israel was engaged in a massive troop and equipment build-up both in the Israeli-held Sinai Desert of Egypt and on the Jordanian front.

RAIDS CONTINUE

An Israeli spokesman charged that Arab positions on the east bank raked Israeli troops with machine-gun fire this morning north of kibbutz Ma'Oz Hayim in the Beisan Valley.

Israeli positions returned the fire, although the spokesman did not say how heavy the ex-

STUDENTS HELP

Striding to the platform, he quipped: "This is what you call opening your campaign with a bang." There were 5,000 in the building, and an estimated 2,500 in the street outside.

In Indiana, Kennedy nominating petitions circulated in a drive led by C. Michael Riley, Indianapolis lawyer and Indiana Young Democrat president.

The McCarthy entry was backed by Hoosiers for a Democratic alternative, and also had produced more than enough voter names.

Robert A. Fangmeier, HDA chairman in Indianapolis, said about 20 McCarthy campaign staff members would be in Indiana April 9 to stay at least five days, possibly nine if Kennedy entered.

Fangmeier said 20,000 to 30,000 college students, many from other states, would be available as weekend campaign helpers after the April 2 Wisconsin primary.

None of the candidates disclosed specific campaign plans for Indiana, but Nixon's headquarters said he would spend about two days in the state late in April.

PUMP BLASTED

Saboteurs were active in the exposed valley late Wednesday night when several explosive charges damaged a water pump in kibbutz Hamadiya, the army said.

Today's cross-river gun battle, which followed a brief lull in action along the tense border, was the fifth clash since last week's sweep along the Jordanian bank.

Besides the Al Fatah Arab guerrillas camped on Jordan's east bank, Israeli sources say other forces in the area include Egyptian commandoes of the 141st Battalion, volunteers from the Iraqi 421st Palestinian Commando Battalion, and Syrian irregulars. These sources put the total Arab forces there at 1,500 trained men.

Tiwa Money Bill Advances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Responsibility for a tiny tribe of Indians believed to be Texas' first settlers would be turned over to the state under a bill approved by the Senate Interior Committee Wednesday.

Passage of the bill, sponsored by Rep. Richard White, El Paso Democrat, would allow Texas to spend $35,000 for food, clothing and medical care for the 167-member Tiwa tribe.

The Tiwa Indians were identified as a tribe only two years ago. Neither federal or state governments now have programs to aid the Tiwas, who average about $400 income a year.

White said the Tiwas are a displaced branch of the Tiwa-speaking Pueblo Indians of central New Mexico. Nearly three centuries ago, the Tiwas fled the Pueblo revolt of 1680 which wrested New Mexico from the Spanish, White said.

"The Tiwas were the first permanent inhabitants of the State of Texas," White said. "They founded the first permanent settlement in Texas at Ysleta in 1682, where they still reside today."

Six Men Seeking School Positions

Absentee balloting may be done at the school tax office until April 3.

Pills Plus Whisky Can Trigger Death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Jones had trouble getting to sleep Thursday night. He knew Friday would be a long day, so he took one of his wife's sleeping pills.

He woke up Friday with a cold and used nose drops.

On the way to work he started coughing and stopped at a drug store for throat lozenges.

In midafternoon Jones still felt under the weather. He tried a fellow worker's multipurpose flu remedy.

That night, before dinner, he popped a diet pill in his mouth. After dinner he chewed a tablet to "feed his ulcer."

Later Jones and his wife went to a party. They had a few drinks and Jones started feeling better. He readily agreed when a friend suggested an early morning fishing trip.

The water was choppy, but Jones' foresighted host had motion-sickness pills handy.

By midmorning Saturday Jones was exhausted. He had a few beers with lunch to perk him up for the drive home.

On the freeway, Jones went to sleep.

(Crash)

The autopsy showed Jones was not drunk. Instead he had taken an overdose of drugs.

Jones' death was an accident not suicide. Like most accidents, it could have been prevented.

POTENT PILLS

Dr. Brady said his and other schools over the country are pushing research in what he calls "a new and hot field of pharmacy—drug interaction."

"We are trying to learn what drugs interact with others and what the effect will be in different types of persons," he said. "It's a slow process and it is complicated by the fact that new drugs are coming out all the time, and today's drugs are not as simple as they used to be and they are far more potent."

"We have known for some time that alcohol and barbiturates are a dangerous combination. They potentiate—that is, the effect of alcohol and sleeping pills together is more than twice that of either taken singly."

Each seems to make the brain more sensitive to the other.

"But now we are also becoming concerned with drugs that are simply additive, not multiplying, in effect, primarily because the number of available depressants and stimulants is growing.

"Barbiturates are prescription drugs, and thus less easily obtained. You're not so likely to take liquor and barbiturates together. But you can get the same effect—illness or even death—from mixing liquor with a number of over the counter drugs, or even from mixing them without alcohol."

10,000 CASES

Dr. Brady said he was citing alcohol only because it is so commonly used and thus more likely to be taken with other drugs not generally known to be depressants or stimulants. He cautioned that one can no longer feel safe simply by avoiding alcohol when taking medications.

Dr. Sol Bernstein, assistant director of internal medicine at the Los Angeles County-USC Medical Center, said the hospital annually treats 10,000 cases—about 10 per cent of all admissions—directly due to alcohol or drugs.

"We are planning to set up screening tests to determine how many of these cases involve interactions between drugs and alcohol and between one drug and another," he said.

"It is seldom that we find a case where only one drug is involved."

Red Sox Pose Problems For Their Pilot

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — The Boston Red Sox have been struggling this spring without Jim Lonborg. Carl Yastrzemski has been having trouble with his timing, as usual.

Tony Conigliaro is striking out too much for comfort. Only George Scott and Rico Petrocelli have been massaging the ball.

Manager Dick Williams keeps telling visitors he isn't worried because his pennant winners are under 500 in the exhibition games. They were so-so last spring, too, and look what happened.

"It doesn't bother me if they downgrade us," said Williams. "Let everybody else worry about us. We'll manage somehow."

"Sure, it's tough to try to replace a man like Lonborg but you have to do your best with what you have. Not until I see Jim on the mound, throwing a ball, will I take interest in him as a pitcher again."

FAR FROM READY

That is Williams' way of saying he doesn't have the faintest idea when to expect help from Lonborg, the 22-game winner of 1967's Impossible Dream. The cast is off the left knee that required surgery after a skiing accident but he is far from ready.

The pitching which ranked eighth in the league last year, even with Lonborg's big season, casts serious doubt on Boston's ability to repeat.

"If I had to name a rotation now, I'd say Jose Santiago, Gary Waslewski, Dick Ellsworth and Ray Culp," said Williams, "but that is subject to change. We probably won't need a fifth starter in early season."

Williams named most of the other men on the staff as candidates for the fifth job. Men who have seen the Sox play all their spring games say Jerry Stephenson, Garry Roggenbuck and Darrell Brandon have done the best work. Gary Bell has been bombed, especially in one effort against Chicago.

Rick Dyer Signs At South Plains

LEVELLAND — Rick Dyer, 6-2 Lubbock Monterey basketball player, has signed a letter-of-intent offered by South Plains College of Levelland.

Dyer was the Plainsmen's second leading scorer the past season with a total of 566 points. He was an All-District 3-AAAA selection.

He was the first player signed by South Plains coach Dub Malone for the 1968-69 season.

Softball Loop May Not Go

Plans for the City Softball league may go by the boards unless more interest is shown in the circuit, according to league commissioner Francis Johns.

Only three teams are definitely committed to the circuit, Johns stated. The ideal league should have as many as six teams, the commissioner added.

The door will be left open for entry of the teams until Monday, April 1, Johns stated.

Those interested in fielding teams can contact him by dialing 267-6287.

Chicago Bulls Get Playoff Reprieve

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Bulls won a late reprieve, the Philadelphia 76ers saved themselves from an embarrassing predicament and the Detroit Pistons kept right on killing the giant.

The first round of the National Basketball Association playoffs provided surprises all around Wednesday night when Chicago beat Los Angeles 104-98 in the Western Division, and Philadelphia outlasted New York 128-132 in double overtime and Detroit took Boston 109-98 in the East.

Chicago's victory kept the Lakers from taking an impregnable 3-0 lead in the best-of-7 series and put Los Angeles ahead 2-1 instead.

Philadelphia's late heroics kept New York from pulling ahead in their rugged series, which returns to New York Saturday. The 76ers are now ahead two games to one.

And, ah, the Pistons. To have predicted only a week or so ago that Detroit could have taken a 2-1 lead over the Celtics at this stage would have been foolhardy. But Detroit, which beat Boston only twice during the regular season, already has matched that total in the playoffs.

Even more remarkable, the triumph came at Boston where the Pistons rallied from a 32-48 halftime deficit and outscored the Celtics 33-15 in the third period. Dave Bing and Eddie Miles each scored 10 points.

Then Jimmy Walker took over and scored 14 points in the final period to keep the Celtics away. Bing led the Pistons with 27 points while John Havlicek had 23 for Boston.

The Knicks fought back from 10 points behind in the fourth period to take a lead near the end of regulation time, but a basket by Chet Walker sent the game into overtime. Again New York took the lead and seemed safely ahead by three points with little time left.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Did you know that the Sun Bowl people in El Paso have signed a long-term contract with the CBS television network to air future football games there? The contract is effective with the 1968 game, which usually is played the Saturday prior to New Year's Day.

The Sun Bowl game is the third oldest bowl game in the country. Next season's game will go the 34th.

CBS also televises the Cotton Bowl, Blue-Gray Football Classic and the NFL post-season contests.

W. L. (Punk) Thornton, who performed with distinction at first base for the old T&P baseball team back in the '20's, when the club was the scourge of West Texas sandlot circles, has operated Thornton Feed Mills in Cisco since 1932.

Thornton says that Spee Williamson, a tremendous shortstop on some of the T&P teams, is now working for the T&P railway out of El Paso and comes by to visit with him now and then.

Both Thornton and Williamson were popular figures here. When they played, the baseball park was located between Second and Third streets fronting east on Lancaster (or Jack Street, as it was sometimes called then).

If TCU's Micky McCarty makes it as a pro athlete, it will probably be in baseball.

He was best known as a basketball player at the Fort Worth school but pro scouts have wondered aloud about his shooting. He'd have to play outside in the pros.

Pro football has made overtures to him but it's doubtful he could stick in the play-for-pay ranks. He does stung a baseball, though, and makes a natural target at first base.

Abilene Christian College's "Track Facts 1968" is now in print and, for lovers of the cinder buffs, it is a steal at $1 a copy.

Put together by James Norman, a former Abilene sports scribe who is now in his fourth year as Sports Information Director for ACC, the booklet not only is an exhaustive treatise on the school's track lore but is invaluable as a reference book for schoolboy, collegiate and world records.

The city of Birmingham, Ala., where collegiate football has long been the big thing (due to the nearness of the University of Alabama) is getting ready to make a bid for a franchise in the American Football League.

Promoters reason that, when the two leagues are realigned in 1970, a natural southern division would consist of Atlanta, Miami, New Orleans and Birmingham.

Out in Sunland Park last March 16, the board of racing stewards saw fit to declare a race "no contest" for the first time in the ten-year history of the track.

It took place in a 400-yard quarterhorse event, which had seven horses in the field.

Spirit Of '76 At Work Again

Leaders Of 10 Protestant Denominations Push Unity

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Stepping up their drive for unification, leaders of 10 Protestant denominations aimed today to have a specific plan of union ready in two years—and sooner if possible.

HIGH GEAR
"This puts us in high gear," said the Rev. Dr. David G. Colwell of Seattle, chairman of the consultation on church union. The action moved the project out of the exploratory phase into the concrete process of carrying it out—what one churchman called "the nuts and bolts stage."

Captured Crew Letters Simply Do Not Ring True

PHONY CHARGE
Mrs. O'Bannon thinks the letter is phony. And many other relatives of the Americans who were captured two months ago say that the letters they have received simply do not ring true.

Mrs. O'Bannon said the grin on her husband's face was the one he "always wore when I wanted him to do something he didn't want to do." She said she is pretty sure that the man is her husband and that he's wearing his "go to hell grin."

She said the letter was written in an unnatural style. He refers to her as "My dearest Kay," which she says he never would have written and to his parents as "the family" instead of the usual "Mom and Pop."

The letters to relatives, to President Johnson, and to senators are seen by the State Department as part of a propaganda effort by the North Korean Communists. Many of the letters call on the United States to apologize to North Korea for the activities of the electronic surveillance ship.

'DEAR FOLKS'
Mrs. Gerald Nolte of Washington, Iowa, said the letter from her son, Clifford, reads "like he had been forced to copy it from a blackboard."

The handwriting on the letter across along the coast, in parts of East Texas and a spot or two in the west.

FOG, CLOUDS
It was foggy around Beaumont, Port Arthur, Galveston, Houston, College Station, Lufkin, Victoria, Corpus Christi and Lubbock.

Fog and low clouds covered parts of East Texas, including most of the state's southeast corner, and it was mostly cloudy elsewhere except for extreme West Texas and the upper Panhandle.

Weather Bureau observers looked for no further effects from the weak Pacific front, which came to a standstill along a line from near Amarillo southwestward past Carlsbad, N.M., and skies started clearing behind it.

MILD TO WARM
Except for a few widely scattered light showers in prospect across the southern half of the state, forecasts dropped all mention of rain. Occasional rain had been expected in other areas as well before the cool front stopped edging toward the southeast.

Mild to warm temperatures were in prospect.

Presidio in far West Texas recorded a summery 91 degrees Wednesday afternoon, and the mercury hit 80 at Wink and 81 at Laredo. Top readings elsewhere ranged down to 65 at Amarillo and 66 at Abilene, Galveston and Lubbock.

Light Rain Peppers West Central Texas

By The Associated Press
Light rain peppered the West Central Texas area from Abilene to San Angelo this morning while a dissipating cool front stalled across the Panhandle.

Clouds covered much of the state except for extreme West Texas and the upper Panhandle, while early morning fog plagued

The young Virginia wife of a Webb AFB airman has begun her duties as secretary to County Attorney Dee Jon Davis.

She is Mrs. Judy Fisher, married just two months to Airman Thomas Fisher. Her home and that of her husband is Purcellville, Va.

She will replace Mrs. Cathy Hopper, wife of Capt. T. L. Hopper. Capt. Hopper has completed his training here and will soon be assigned to a new post. Mrs. Hopper leaves Big Spring this weekend.

Mrs. Fisher formerly worked in the United States Department of Agriculture. She was there for a year and nine months. She and Airman Thomas were married and moved to Big Spring on Feb. 2. They live at the OK Trailer Courts.

Native Of Black Forest Honored

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Air Force M. Sgt. Horst K. Heugle, a native of the Black Forest in West Germany and a naturalized American citizen, has been named Airman of the Year at Sheppard Air Force Base.

He is senior instructor in the veterinary specialist course of the Medical Service School's veterinary department.

At 17, Heugle emigrated to a ranch near Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. He came to the United States three years later. He entered the Air Force in 1956.

Connally Plugs For Mixed Drinks, Horse Race Bets

By The Associated Press
There appeared to be fresh fuel for the Texas gubernatorial campaign today in pronouncements from Gov. John Connally favoring legalized sales of liquor by the drink and betting on horse races.

Candidates vying to succeed Connally, who does not seek reelection, kept plugging away meanwhile, at a wide assortment of other issues.

NEW INDUSTRY

Connally, speaking Wednesday to the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in San Antonio, tabbed mixed drinks as a likely lure to keep tourists in the state, declaring, "I'm for it, criticism or not."

As for pari-mutuel betting, the governor said, "This would open up a whole new industry in this state. I don't see anything inherently wrong with it."

At another point Connally said one of the current crop of candidates for governor, not named, was "talking about being a conservative and still favoring three programs that would cost this state $400 million in the biennium."

Two of the men seeking the gubernatorial nomination in May 4 party primaries took steps, meanwhile, to shore up their campaign organizations.

PENA JOINS

Don Yarborough, in the Democratic race, disclosed at San Antonio that Bexar County commissioner Albert Pena is joining his advisory committee. Pena, in turn, lauded Yarborough as "the only man in the governor's race who can deliver on new programs to help Mexican-Americans and all the people of Texas."

In the three-way contest over the Republican nomination for governor, Paul Eggers announced that retiring State Rep. Frank Cahoon of Midland is taking the chairmanship of a statewide "Elect Eggers Committee." Eggers' opponents are Malcolm Sisk of Houston and John Trice of Dallas.

These were among the activities and utterances of other Democrats in the gubernatorial derby.

CHALLENGE

Edward L. Whittenburg challenged his rivals once more to make public their sources of income, specifically naming Yarborough, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, Waggoner Carr, Dolph Briscoe, Eugene Locke and John Hill.

Whittenburg said at Pampa, "It seems fundamental to me that the people have a right to know from whom their next governor gets his money."

Carr, at a Houston rally branded as "ridiculous" welfare laws which limit the earnings of old age pensioners and said older persons must be encouraged to remain active in promoting the state's growth.

In a talk to the Houston Junior Chamber of Commerce, Carr appealed for tougher laws to block sales of narcotics, marijuana and LSD to children and making convicted offenders ineligible for probation.

LONE LIBERAL

Winding up a two-day visit in El Paso, Briscoe expressed favor for doubling the present two-year term for governor—but only if the state's chief executive is limited to one term. He opposed a similar extension of tenure for state representatives.

Briscoe, mentioning his eight years in the Legislature, work as president of several statewide organizations and direction of the program which eradicated the livestock screwworm, said it is essential that a governor possess wide experience in business and administration. Aides reported Locke shook hands with about 700 longshoremen on the Houston docks. The candidate himself referred to Yarborough, generally considered the lone liberal among his rivals, and asserted "There appears to be a considerable misconception that the liberal candidate in this race has the labor vote tied up."

Locke also discussed pollution with a group of business men, telling them that future needs make conservation of water and protection of air vital matters. Smith put in a long day at Corpus Christi, speaking at rally and three other gatherings and plugging hard for conservation—without which he said "Texas as we know it will cease to exist."

The lieutenant governor said it would be his aim to "provide leadership in many areas of conservation of our natural resources and I would concentrate on retaining the native charm of our state."

offers no fisherman should even consider journeying to California or Florida waters. "The beaches themselves in a sense constitute park land," Hill said, "because they are public, but we need to make the ocean's potential more accessible and useful to Texans and others."

Work On Lawn Now For Spring

Strange as it may seem, this is a fairly good time to work on your lawn. And it will save time later in spring when things are busier, advise garden experts.

First, clean off your lawn thoroughly. Rake it free of the sticks, stones and other debris that every lawn collects during a year. Also get off any leaves that have become wet and matted down. If you don't get rid of these, your lawn is likely to have dead patches in it by spring.

Now you are ready to feed your lawn - if you wish. This is a new idea and it has proved effective. Using a balanced fertilizer, containing synthetic, organic or ureaform fertilizer as the source of nitrogen, spread it over the lawn at the rate prescribed on the package.

A LOVELIER YOU

The 'Ruffle' Is News In Romantic Styles

By MARY SUE MILLER

The most feminine and romantic hair style around town is titled "The Ruffle." It features a lavish show of wisper-soft curls and waves. After nearly 10 years of straight hair, the look of curls is refreshing.

Ruffle styling calls for fairly short hair. Cutting tapers the length from about 4 1/2 inches at the crown to 3 1/2 inches at the front and 2 1/2 inches at the nape. This gives the hair great mobility so that curls and waves may be arranged for individual flattery. Curls may swing toward the face or toward the crown, behind the ears or over the ears.

Actually no two stylings are exactly alike. Nothing about the Ruffle is rubber stamp. When the hair can take it, there may be suggestion of a part. Airy tendrils replace straight bangs and fringes. Only one factor remains constant and that is an over-all natural effect. The hair always appears a natural toss of natural curls.

The sure means of achieving naturalness is with an inner-body perm. Contour permanents, through new salon-created short curling rods, give the hair delicate bounce, body and shape.

Other than charm, a Ruffle "do" possesses secret advantages. It's a great way to fill out a sketchy head of hair. And it's the easiest way to grow out a boy cut. Anyone for curls?

New Uses For Plastics Demonstrated For Lions

New applications of plastics were shown Wednesday to the Downtown Lions Club by Don Wiley, engineer for Cosden Oil & Chemical Company.

Among these were examples of furniture from new polystyrene made by Cosden. The product, however, is used for everything from drinking cups to meat trays, from radio and television cabinets to ornamental grills and panels.

Lions also elected officers for the year beginning July 1. Clyde McMahon Jr. will be the new president, succeeding Jimmy Ray Smith. Others elected are Waymon Clark, first vice president; Winston Wrinkle, second vice president; Roy Hughes, third vice president; James Lemons, Liontamer; Morris Rhodes, secretary-treasurer; Don Shoemaker and Earnie Boyd, zone directors; R. H. Snyder, John Annen and Joe Horton, talkwriters.

Joe Pond, past district governor, made a fervent plea for a large delegation to go to the district convention in Brownwood April 5-6 and reinforce the city's invitation for the 1969 District 2A-1 convention (and with it the state convention). Schley Riley, also a past district governor from this district, will be the master of ceremonies for the Key breakfast April 6. John Wood, Stanton, zone chairman, said that Stanton will send six delegates to Brownwood.

Introduced as a new member was Maj. Wes Westrum.

Wiley touched on innumerable liquid products coming from Cosden and then concentrated on the company's one solid—polystyrene. New uses are being found constantly, he said, and furniture is one. Last year the industry took 50 million pounds for this use; this is due to be 180 million in 1969 and up to 500 million by 1970.

Cosden is cooperating closely with the industry to establish quality controls because, cheap, ineffective materials could give a bad name and set back the great potential in furniture. He also exhibited items where plastic had been metal coated.

A new musical group, a quartet composed of Dan Conley, Paul Petterson, Lynn Hise and Bill Gipson, drew a big hand from the club.

COAHOMA (SC) — The Coahoma High School Border Brass has been invited to play for the three-day Richardson City Fair in June.

Last weekend the popular band filled an engagement to play for the Miss Haltom City contest near Fort Worth, and Richardson officials immediately booked it for its summer extravaganza.

Jacksboro Deeds Land To Agency

JACKSBORO, Tex. (AP) — The Jacksboro City Council has voted unanimously to deed the property at Ft. Richardson, built in the 1860s, to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission.

After the deed is approved, the Texas Legislative Commission is expected to accept the property.

Some 43 acres are included. Seven of the fort's original buildings are still on the property. The largest is the old post hospital, which now houses a museum and meeting room.

The Parks and Wildlife Department is said to be planning to convert the property into a state park and recreational area. Purchase of an adjacent 600 acres is also planned.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

A Very Remote Problem

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I gave birth to a baby boy. I was young and not married and could not care for him properly, so I gave him up for adoption and have not seen him since birth.

My problem is this: I am now married to the father of that child, which he totally rejected, and now we have a baby girl who is six months old.

What would happen, if in later life our daughter should meet the boy (our son) and fall in love with him? They will actually be brother and sister.

This probably sounds ridiculous, but it COULD happen. I can't discuss this with my husband because he refuses to talk about it.

DEAR TROUBLED: I don't have the statistics handy, but I would guess that your chances of ever having to face this problem are too small to worry about. There is no "law" that says that it couldn't happen, but the law of averages is certainly on your side.

DEAR ABBY: I plan to announce my engagement soon, and my problem is this: My fiancé's mother wants us to have a big wedding, and I don't want a big wedding.

My fiancé's family is quite wealthy, and his mother says they will pay for everything. Abby, I don't want to accept this kind of a gift from my future-in-laws. Besides, aren't the bride's parents supposed to put on the wedding? Mine can afford only a simple little family affair, which is all I really want.

My fiancé's mother already has a "temporary guest list" of 300. She says she "owes" so many people, and there are other friends who will not invite HER to their children's weddings if she doesn't invite THEM to hers. She's already picked out the bridesmaids' dresses. How about that?

Another thing. She told me she wanted me to have a baby right away because all her friends have grandchildren and she is way behind. Abby, I intend to teach school while my husband finishes law school, and we don't plan to have a baby "right away."

What am I going to do? My fiancé is in the middle of all this. He doesn't want to hurt his mother, but he doesn't want me to be unhappy either. How can I stand up for my rights without having his mother hate me?

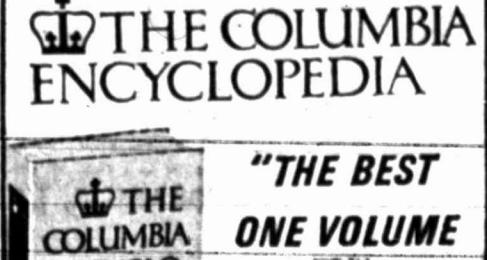

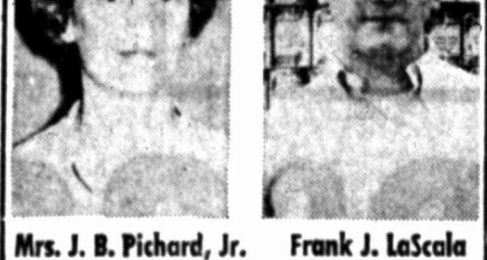

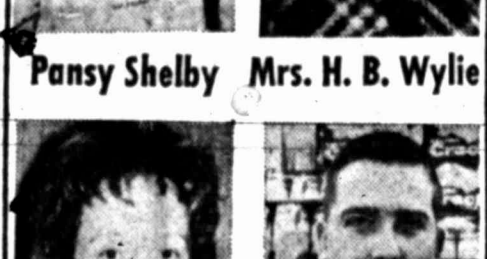

DEAR DISTRESSED: It may not be possible, but you'll have to take that chance if you want to be a free agent. I think you are right in refusing to allow your future mother-in-law to use your wedding to repay her social obligations. Tell her as respectfully as you can that your parents will put on the wedding, and thanks a lot.

'Liliom' Preview On Stage Tonight

Curtain time for the Big Spring High School Drama Department production of an excerpt from "Liliom" is 7:30 p.m. today in the high school auditorium.

Tornado Sparked Portrait Mystery

CROWELL, Tex. (AP)—A portrait of the namesake of Foard County—Major Robert Foard—that lay behind a filing cabinet in the courthouse here for 25 years has been renovated for display.

The painting was blown off the wall of the courthouse during a tornado in 1942. It fell behind a file and was not found until repair work was done on the office last year.

Cast members will journey to San Angelo Friday and Saturday to enter the one-act play in District 2-4A competition.

Tickets are available at the door at $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. "Liliom" is the drama from which the musical "Carousel" was adapted, and Dan Shockey, high school drama director, has been in charge of the production.

Principals in the production are Carl Van Vleet, as Liliom; Teresa Conner, as Julie; Janet Perry, as Marie; Beth Hayworth, as Mrs. Muskat; John Hull and Kerry Gunnels, as policemen; Sue Fannin, as Mother Hollander; Mark Shaver, as Ficus; Don Crockett Jr., as the Magistrate; and Karen Bell, as Louise.

Interested persons are urged to come early to be assured of a good seat, Shockey said.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

Spring Was Different At Old Fort Concho

By ED SYERS

Next time west, with this good wet Spring greening up, study our gleaming fields and cities. You'll enjoy visualizing that country, just one century ago when San Angelo's Fort Concho—well preserved today—was a hard-to-reach end of the line.

Army information press chief Bill Sholl of San Antonio (whose hobby of old forts keeps him better posted than most historians) extracts an 1868 Surgeon General's report—with just such a Spring at hand—and sends it on for you:

When the rainy season sets in, communication almost ceases.

"A few days' rain upon the light prairie soil so loosens it that an ordinarily laden wagon sinks to the hubs and the mule, to his girth. The winter of 1868 was especially wet, and no supplies were received. The post is entirely dependent, the soil having no natural products of any utility to a resident. Prevention of scurvy... (troubled) the post surgeon last spring."

If short on vegetables, however, Concho was long on meat. "The vicinity is abundantly supplied with game. Buffalo exist in countless herds, winter and spring; and deer and antelope at all seasons... Water fowl of every kind—from the large white swan to the green-winged teal—abound on rivers. Wild turkey and quail can be found anywhere. Immense catfish, weighing as much as 75 pounds, and a trout—in this country, a bass—reward the angler for little exertion.

"It may be some drawback," the report cautioned, "that country so lavish with game is equally furnished with venomous reptiles and insects." He underscored the rattler and water moccasin, while "tarantulas and lesser spiders lurk under every cactus shrub, and the centipede (some over seven inches) are in every pile of lumber about one's quarters."

"The large gray wolf and coyote are abundant; and the fox, badger and (javelina) can easily be found. In every direction is one vast prairie dog town."

Conceding that the Comanche and Kiowa "repeatedly stole horses within the post lines; and as late as February, a citizen has been scalped within a mile of the adjutant's office," the Surgeon General was still confident of that country's future, viewed from "this post's central position on three roads of travel."

"The situation of the post is an unusually healthful one," he concluded.

STINSON TRAIL

"We have an old map showing the Stinson Trail entering New Mexico at Clovis," reports El Paso's Mrs. Gene Strevver (401 Mills St.). "It went west to Fort Sumner, then Vaughan, Estancia, Mountainair, finally down to Magdalena, where it converged with the Slaughter Brothers' Trail, we believe."

"But we have been unable to trace its path through Texas. There's an old song that tells of James Stinson hiring young cowboys for a drive through this country. He is my husband's great grandfather. Any help of his Texas trail will be appreciated."

Plane Wreck Talk Staged

Webb Air Force Base was host to representatives of the area at noon Wednesday at the Officers' Open Mess for an instructional meeting on aircraft accidents.

Col. Robert W. Casey, deputy chief of operations, was in charge of the meeting, assisted by Col. Chandler Estes, air base group commander, and Col. William K. Knight, deputy chief of material.

Following a film, "Night on Jackrabbit Mesa," T. Sgt. Norman Newell, disaster preparedness service, gave instructions and precautions to be used in case of aircraft accidents. He stressed the necessity for preserving all evidence at the scene of an accident and pointed out how people take away pieces of the aircraft not realizing the importance of everything remaining at the scene for examination.

Lt. Richard W. Block, wing information officer, was in charge of the bus tour to the flight line where instruction for removing personnel from a plane was given.

Attending the meeting were representatives from Snyder, Midland, Odessa, Andrews, San Angelo, Lamesa, Sweetwater and Big Spring.

Grads Offered Fellowships

College graduates and graduating seniors interested in teaching careers are invited to apply for special fellowships at the University of Denver leading to a master's degree and teaching certificate.

Applicants must have a college degree, but not have completed a student teaching program, or have been awarded a teaching certificate.

Each fellowship carries a stipend of $2,000 for the first academic year and $2,200 for the second year, in addition to full payment of tuition and fees. Each fellow will also receive $400 per academic year for each dependent. Fellows who undertake summer study of at least six weeks will receive an additional $100 per dependent.

Prospective fellows should write before April 15 to Dr. Phyllis Adams, director of elementary fellowships, or Dr. Doris Mohbert, director of secondary fellowships, University of Denver School of Education, Denver, Colo., 80210.

MRS. ALTA KING

Retains Zest For Life In Retirement Years

By RHODA LEMONS
Someone has said that what you look like before 40 is a gift from God, but what you look like after 40 is your own to make. If this be true, Mrs. Alta King, 702 E. 12th, has lived a fruitful life for her face reflects serenity, happiness and a zest for living.

Mrs. King and her husband, the late Jack King, moved to Big Spring in 1914, and for 49 years Mrs. King made her home at 305 Owens. They moved here from Gorman in Eastland County, and for a time they ranched near the Moore community. Her husband later served as a policeman in Big Spring and in Odessa.

Mrs. King has two daughters, Mrs. Vick McCabe of Silver, and Mrs. C. E. Pearce of Midland. She has five grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

"I seldom ever get lonely," said Mrs. King as friends drop in at all hours of the day, and her daughters visit her often. She is busy working on a quilt, her second, with a third one ready to go on the stand. These will all be gifts to her great-grandchildren.

Mrs. King shops for groceries once each week. One of her friends unfailingly picks her up for the shopping trip, and Mrs. King buys what suits her fancy for the forthcoming week. She does not try to stock up on staples, but she does a great deal of baking for friends and her church work.

"I have a driver's license for checking purposes," said Mrs. King. She does not own a car and when notified that her license had expired, she was not unduly worried. That is, she was not worried until every place she tried to cash a check asked for her driver's license. She wrote the Department of Public Safety, Driver's License Division, and told them that she was 75 years of age and probably would never drive again, but that she needed her driver's license renewed. She promptly received the license in the mail.

She is a charter member and the only active member remaining in a group of 16 persons who met in 1931 to form the Wesley Memorial Church. She is secretary of the Friendship Sunday school class and serves as chairman of the Lalla Baird Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

Mrs. King sews all her own clothes. She decides when she needs a new dress or ensemble and settles at her sewing machine. It usually takes her about one day to complete an outfit, and she enjoys wearing the things she makes.

She does all her own work and washes every two weeks. Her washing machine is not automatic, and she manages the lifting of the tub to dump out the water by herself. She is careful to wash the day after her next door neighbor does, because they share the same clothesline. Mrs. King irons the next morning after she washes.

Mrs. King enjoys spending time with her daughter, Mrs. Pearce, who has a cabin at Lake Colorado City. She tries to fish, but insists that she has never really caught "anything important." Also, she recently returned from San Saba where her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Newton, have a large grove of pecan trees.

Mrs. King gathered a good supply of pecans and has used them in all her baking for the past few months.

She provides the refreshments for her circle meeting as her grandchildren when they come to visit her. Below are some of the recipes her family and friends most enjoy.

Try Seafood Tacos For New Taste Treat

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here come tacos new-style. Served with a delicious shrimp filling and a hot sauce, they charmed all our tasters and the chances are they'll please yours. The shrimp for the filling comes from convenient cans, chilled in the refrigerator to make the seafood delightfully firm in texture. Canned, frozen or fresh tortillas may be used for the taco so they, too, can be on hand.

SHRIMP TACOS
2 cans (each 4½ ounces) deveined shrimp, chilled in the can

Oil and Vinegar Dressing (see Note)

10 large-size tortillas, fried taco-style (see recipe)

1 cup grated mild cheddar cheese

2 cups shredded iceberg lettuce

1 cup finely chopped sweet onion

Hot Sauce (see recipe)

Rinse shrimp in cold water and turn into shallow container; cover with Oil and Vinegar Dressing; refrigerate, covered, for 1 hour or longer; stir a few times. At serving time, place tacos on a large serving dish; fill with layers of cheese, lettuce, onion and shrimp; pour marinade from shrimp over the top. Serve at once, accompanied by Hot Sauce. Makes 3 servings — 2 tacos per portion.

NOTE: To make the oil and vinegar dressing, thoroughly mix together 4 tablespoons olive oil, 3 tablespoons cider vinegar, ½ teaspoon Dijon mustard and a dash of white pepper.

TORTILLAS, FRIED TACOS-STYLE

Into a deep 8 inch skillet pour 1½ cups salad oil; heat oil. Fold tortillas in half, one at a time; holding rounded edges together with fingers, dip the bottom into the hot fat, until it sets and crisps; slip the edge of a slotted spoon between the folds and quickly press one side under the hot fat, turning the spoon upward to hold the shell open. Fry until crisp and brown; turn and brown the other side, again using the spoon to hold the edges apart. Drain on absorbent paper.

Repeat, folding and frying one tortilla at a time until all shells are crisp and brown. Keep in warm oven until all are fried.

NOTE: This method is one used by a man who hails from Texas. If you can't manage it, lower the flat tortilla into the hot oil in the 8 inch skillet and fry until crisp.

HOT SAUCE

1 can (1 lb. solid-pack tomatoes, drained and chopped)

1 can (about 4 ounces) roasted and peeled green chilies, drained and chopped

2 garlic cloves, crushed

½ cup coarsely grated onion

½ cup coarsely grated cucumber

1 small green pepper, finely chopped

1 tsp. lemon juice

1 tsp. olive oil

1 tsp. sugar

1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce

Salt and pepper to taste

Mix together all the ingredients. Makes about 3 cups.

NOTE: For a smooth sauce, blend ingredients in electric blender. In this case, it is not necessary to chop the tomatoes and chilies or grate the onion and cucumber. Add tomatoes and chilies after draining them. Coarsely chop ½ cup each onion and cucumber and 1 small green pepper before blending.

Bake From New Yeast Rye Recipe

An interesting new recipe for cooks who enjoy baking with yeast.

RYE BREAD STICKS

1 ¼ cups warm water

1 pkg. active dry yeast

3 tbs. sugar

½ tsp. salt

1 tbs. caraway seeds

3 tbs. butter or margarine

2 cups unsifted rye flour

2 cups (about) unsifted regular flour

In a large warm bowl dissolve the yeast in the water. Add sugar, salt, caraway seeds and butter. Stir in rye flour; beat until smooth. Add enough additional white flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about eight to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top.

Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about one hour. Punch down dough; turn out onto lightly floured board and divide in half. Cut each half into 12 equal pieces. Roll each piece into a rope about six inches long; place sticks on greased baking sheets.

Cover; let rise as previously for about 30 minutes. Brush lightly with extra melted butter. Sprinkle with extra caraway seeds. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about 2 dozen.

Keep Heat Low
When you are planning to use the bacon fat (after frying bacon) for cooking eggs, make sure that you cook the bacon over low heat so the fat stays as white as possible.

Popular Casserole To Serve On Weekends

It's called Johnny Moussetti, Johnnie Morselle, Johnnie Mäzzette or Jo Mazzotti.

It's popular everywhere — from Massachusetts to Kentucky — and is always showing up in regional cookbooks. So what's in a name? By any name it's a great ground beef dish that satisfies both a budget and hearty appetites.

Recipes for this Johnny M casserole vary. Our version uses ground beef, tomato paste, macaroni, corn, cheese. And something not found in other recipes. A package of seasoning mix for sloppy joes — that convenient product that's becoming as popular as the Johnny M casserole.

JOHNNY M CASSEROLE

1 pound ground chuck or round beef

1 package (1½ ounces) sloppy joe seasoning mix

1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste

1½ cups water

2 cups elbow or shell macaroni

1 can (1 pound) whole kernel corn, drained

2 cups grated sharp cheddar cheese

In a medium saucepan over moderate heat, cook the ground beef, stirring constantly with a fork to crumble, until meat loses its red color. Stir in seasoning mix, then tomato paste and water. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Meanwhile cook macaroni in boiling salted water according to package directions, until just tender (al dente); drain. Stir in meat mixture, corn and one cup of the cheese. Turn into a buttered 2-quart casserole; sprinkle with remaining one cup cheese.

Bake uncovered in a 350 degree oven until thoroughly hot — about 45 minutes. Makes six to eight servings, though four to five people have been known to do away with this casserole at one sitting!

Try Chops In Gravy

For the times when you want a mild, smooth main dish for change of pace, try some braised veal chops in a cream gravy.

In keeping with the simple meat dish, serve plain noodles or baked potatoes, buttered peas and carrots, canned pears molded in cherry-flavored gelatin for a salad with yellow cake for dessert. Veal rib or loin chops may be used for this recipe. Dredge in seasoned flour for browning easily, then try the instructions for preparing cream gravy which actually uses milk but takes its name from the consistency of the sauce.

BRAISED VEAL CHOPS. CREAM GRAVY

6 veal rib or loin chops, cut ½ inch thick

3 tbsps. flour

1 ½ tbsps. salt

¼ tsp. pepper

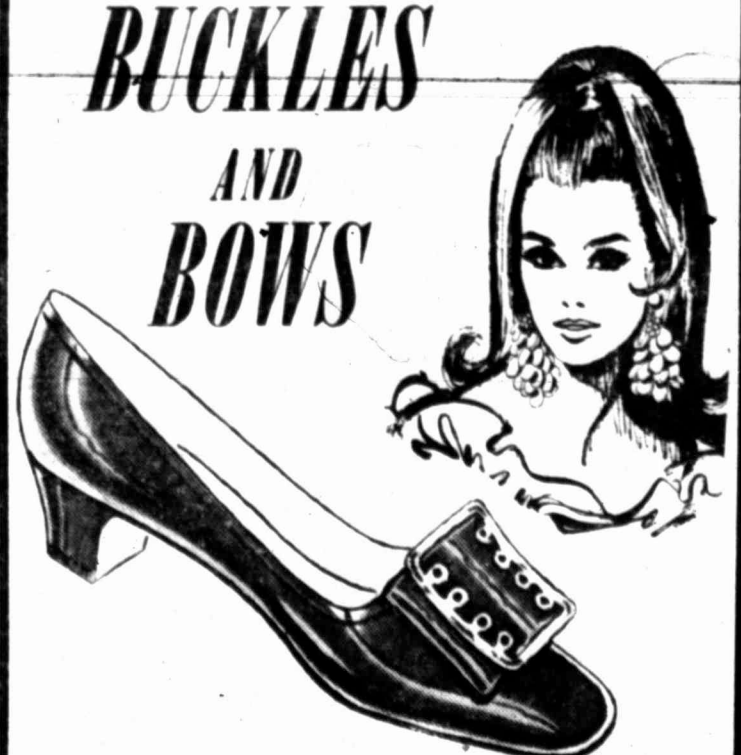

3 tbsps. lard or drippings

¾ cup water

Salt and pepper

FIRST 1968 SCHOOL SPELLING CHAMPION
Joy Linn Murphy, Washington Champ; Mrs. Jack Denson, and Faustino Aguilar Jr.

Washington Place Student Captures Spelling Contest

Joy Linn Murphy, 11, who is about as big as a cake of soap, is the first 1968 school spelling champion. Joy Linn won her title on Wednesday at Washington Place School over 13 of her fellow schoolmates and will be Washington's official representative at the Howard County Spelling Bee on April 20. Joy won her title by actually outspelling an 11-year-old sixth grader—Faustino Aguilar Jr. He will be Washington Place's alternate in the County Spelling Bee. There were 77 spellers entered in the bee from Washington Place.

Champion speller of Washington Place school in 1967 was Rhonda Thompson.

Joy Linn is no novice at this spelling thing. She was in the lists at her school last year and came up in fifth place. Now a year older and experienced in the field, she's out to take the county championship.

"She just might do it," said Mrs. Jack Denson, fifth grade teacher, and coordinator for Washington Place school in the spelling bee eliminations. "Joy Linn is a hard working little girl and will study very hard. I am sure, between this date and the County Spelling Bee." The little champion is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Murphy, 2304 Marcy. She is a fifth grader.

Joy Linn was classroom champion of Mrs. Denson's room and Carol Duggan was the room alternate.

Alternate for Washington is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Faustino Aguilar, 1201 Lamar. He won the top honors over Dewayne Allen in Hollis Ford's sixth grade classroom.

The seven room champions and the seven second place winners in each of the rooms at the school competed for the title on Wednesday.

In addition to the champion and alternate, the other 12 kids who competed for the school title are: Rita Gee, Deborah Meyer, Jeff Batchelor, Craig Parrot, Dianne Dunagan, Carolyn McKee, Carol Duggan, Sonja Lusk, Jay Huskey, David Bruce Wright, DeWayne Allen and Cindy Herron.

New Operating Area Announced For Phone Co.

The Midland District of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, which includes Big Spring, has been incorporated in a newly created operating area for the company in Texas.

San Antonio is headquarters of the new area, the company's third in Texas. Effective date of the area organization is April 1; however, it is expected to be about Oct. 1 before the area is fully operational.

The Midland District is part of the Lubbock Division of the company. The entire division, which includes Southwestern Bell's operations in West Texas, has been incorporated into the new area, said Harry Sawyer, manager.

The area also will include much of central, south and east Texas. Southwestern Bell confirmed the new area last week.

Dozen Votes Cast In City Election

A total of 12 absentee votes have been cast in the city commission election, which will be held Tuesday, according to Charles Smith, city secretary.

Deadline is 5 p.m. Friday, but votes mailed from out of the county received in Monday morning's mail will also be accepted, Smith said, so long as the letters bear a postmark before midnight Friday.

Attends School

Dr. Peter L. Hernal, staff physician at the Veterans Administration Hospital, is attending a post graduate medical study in surgery held at the University of Kansas Medical Center, Kansas City, Kan.

The bidding:

1♣ Pass 2NT Pass
6NT Pass Pass
Opening lead: Jack of ♠
When North heard South respond with two no trump to the opening one heart bid, he knew the partnership had the assets for a slam. South has announced at least 13 high card points and North has 20 which assures a minimum of 33. He, therefore, proceeded without further ado to six no trump.

West opened the jack of clubs and the ace was played from dummy. With an even division in hearts, South has 12 tricks — three spades, five hearts, one diamond, and three clubs. However, when the ace and king of hearts were cashed and West showed out, declarer's total of winners were reduced to 10.

Inasmuch as East was marked with a double stopper in hearts, South switched his attention to diamonds. He led the four of diamonds and finessed the queen from his hand. When West won the trick with the king, South's defeat became assured.

Declarer won the club return in his hand and led a small diamond out to the ten. East was in with the jack and exited with a spade. Declarer played the ace and cashed the ace of diamonds. When the suit split evenly, he was able to claim the balance for a one trick setback.

Declarer's conviction that the success of his contract hinged entirely on a successful diamond finesse plus a three-three division in the suit was not quite accurate. The presence of the ten in dummy and the eight in his hand, offered him an additional chance that could be attempted without risk.

It is suggested that South lead the ten of diamonds at trick four with the intention of passing that card into the West hand if it is not covered. Inasmuch as one trick in the suit must be surrendered regardless of the distribution, the finessing of the queen can be conveniently deferred for one round.

When the ten of diamonds is led, East is obliged to play the jack to protect his partner's holding in the suit. South covers with the queen and West is in with the king. When diamonds are led the next time, East follows with the five and declarer plays the eight which holds the trick. The ace now picks up the remaining diamonds and South has his 12 tricks.

If the East-West diamond holdings were reversed, declarer would still succeed. The ten of diamonds would lose to the jack, but on the following lead South can successfully finesse the queen and then pick up the king with the ace.
