SUPREME COURT

Death Penalty Overruled In Lindbergh Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The death penalty provision of the Lindbergh kidnaping law was ruled unconstitutional today by the Supreme Court.

In a 6-2 decision, the court said the provision, enacted by Congress, in 1934, discourages the exercise of basic constitutional rights.

The provision says the death penalty may be imposed only on the recommendation of a jury. The high court reasoned that this discourages trial by jury and encourages guilty pleas since the case is thereby taken out of a jury's hands.

"The defendant ingenious enough to seek a jury acquittal stands forewarned that, if the jury finds him guilty and does not wish to spare his life, he will die," said Justice Potter Stewart.

Stewart went on to say the goal of limiting the death penalty to cases in which the jury recommends it, is an entirely legitimate one.

"But that goal can be achieved without penalizing those defendants who plead not guilty and demand jury trial," he said.

Justice Byron R. White and Hugo L. Black dissented. Justice Thurgood Marshall did not participate in the case.

The Lindbergh law was passed in the aftermath of the infamous kidnaping and murder of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., infant son of the aviation hero, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, in 1932.

It was exactly 32 years ago today that Bruno Hauptmann was electrocuted after being convicted of kidnaping the child.

Wreck Victim Better

Some slight improvement is reported in the condition of Wendell Lloyd, 21, seriously injured Friday in a car-truck collision three miles west of Fairview Gin.

Doctors at Cowper Hospital said that while young Lloyd is still "not out of the woods," he has improved materially since Saturday. Bleeding has stopped. Lloyd underwent two operations in the efforts to block bleeding from injuries to his liver.

His car and a truck owned by Howard County collided at the intersection of a farm road and a dirt road west of Fairview.

He is the son of Arnold Lloyd, Knott, and is a student in the Howard County Junior College.

Another accident victim of the weekend — William Ray Smith, 18, a student in Big Spring High School, is to be released from Cowper Hospital today.

Smith, alone in his car and en route from Lamesa to Big Spring, crashed into a culvert on US 87 at 12:30 a. m. Sunday morning.

Bill Robinson, state highway patrolman who investigated the crash said apparently Smith had dozed and the car left the road to ram the culvert. The accident occurred 15 miles north of Big Spring.

B-B Shooters Warned

Youngsters in newly incorporated areas of the city were reminded today that it is illegal to discharge firearms — including B-B guns — inside the city limits.

Police Chief Jay Banks said he had received numerous complaints of such shootings, and warned that officers are compelled to make arrests and file charges against persons involved in such incidents.

Arabs Chased Back

Israeli troops in helicopters chased a band of Arab commandos out of the Negev Desert and pursued them six miles inside Jordan south of the Dead Sea today, the Israeli army reported. The Israelis withdrew after inflicting a number of casualties and blowing up part of an Arab guerrilla complex, the army added.

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said the action was a limited one that lasted 105 minutes. He denied a Jordanian claim that Israeli armored columns and helicopter troops covered by jet fighters had invaded Jordan.

Jordanian military headquarters also reported fighting north of the Dead Sea near the Allenby Bridge, a major crossing point between Jordan and the Israeli-occupied sector of Jordan. The sound of gunfire could be heard in Amman, 25 miles east of the cease-fire line.

The Tel Aviv communique said the Israeli force entered Jordan 35 miles south of the Dead Sea near Dahal, part of the alleged Arab commando complex hit by Israeli troops in their lightning strikes inside Jordan on March 21.

LOOTING, ARSON FLARES UP AGAIN IN BALTIMORE

RIOT TOLL: 25 Dead, 1,200 Hurt

By The Associated Press
Violence, looting and arson scorched sections of Baltimore and Pittsburgh Sunday, but Army troops and National Guardsmen, rushed in to quell the disorders, enforced an uneasy calm today.

IN BALTIMORE
However looting which had slowed down during darkness flared up during the daylight hours in Negro neighborhoods today despite beefing up of local and State Police by U.S. Army troops.

By 7 a.m., there were 233 more arrests since midnight, nine fires and one more death, raising the total since violence erupted Saturday night to five.

The total number of arrests soared to 1,620 and fires to about 430. There were more than 300 injured.

STONES, ROCKS
A company of soldiers with bayonets fixed to their rifles surrounded one intersection where a crowd estimated at 300, mostly youths, was throwing stones and bricks at passing cars.

Authorities said reports of looting came in faster than they could count after 7 a.m., one hour after a curfew imposed by the governor expired.

Washington and Chicago, hardest hit by the violence which broke out in the wake of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Thursday night, were quiet. Authorities turned to the task of trying to provide homes and food for the victims of the riots.

Thousands Of Mourners March With Twin Purpose

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Thousands of mourning Negroes and civil rights leaders marched from a grey stone church toward the ultramodern city hall today in silent tribute to the man who had planned to lead them, the slain Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The marchers walked in ranks of eight, but on the front row there was a vacant space. That was where King would have been. They stepped off at 10:16 a.m. CST.

ARM BANDS
Many of the marchers wore black bands on their arms and carried signs identifying their organizations.

King's widow, Coretta, and the three oldest King children left Atlanta aboard the jet plane of singer Harry Belafonte to join the march.

"I've got my three children with me — and that helps," she said.

IN RIOTS' AFTERMATH

Situation Today

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON — Quiet, with federal and National Guard troops patrolling the streets and capital buildings. A food shortage looms.

CHICAGO — Army troops and National Guard units on patrol. Calm, but a food shortage reported imminent.

BALTIMORE — Some 2,000 soldiers and 6,000 National Guardsmen on duty to avert threatened violence which erupted anew.

PITTSBURGH — Comparative quiet in Negro area, but 1,000 National Guardsmen remain on alert.

NASHVILLE — Police suspect arson in the burning of an ROTC building on the campus of Tennessee A&I State University. The National Guard protected firefighters Sunday night.

DETROIT — Calm, but guardsmen patrol and curfew remains in effect.

NEW YORK — Comparative quiet since looting Friday night.

MEMPHIS — Some 5,000 National Guard troops deploy in city as thousands ready a march.

WILMINGTON, N.C. — National Guard patrol streets in wake of rioting.

DES MOINES, Iowa — Peaceful march early Sunday followed by six incendiary fires, windows broken, cars damaged.

struck again in Nashville, Tenn. Only hours after segments of the 4,000 National Guardsmen were on duty, the ROTC building on the campus of Tennessee A&I State University, site of recent racial violence, was destroyed by fire Sunday night. Police said it appeared to be the work of arsonists.

Violence in Baltimore broke out Saturday and threatened to spread Sunday into Baltimore County, causing Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew to call for federal troops.

Almost 2,000 soldiers rushed to the city to aid 6,000 National Guardsmen, and shortly after midnight officials said the situation seemed to be under control.

FIVE DEAD
Five persons were killed in the violence and more than 300 injured. One official said there had been 430 fires set, 550 stores looted and more than 1,620 persons arrested.

More than 1,800 National Guardsmen marched into Pittsburgh's predominantly Negro Hill District Sunday night, but by early today a state police official said "things are settling down."

Scattered firebombings and looting were reported far into the night, but the frequency dropped sharply about three hours after a 7 p.m. curfew went into effect. The streets were almost deserted by late evening.

ALMOST 5,500 SQUARE MILES MADE OFF LIMITS TO BOMBERS

N. Viet Target Area Reduced

SAIGON (AP) — President Johnson has put almost 5,500 more square miles of North Vietnam off limits to American bombers, U.S. sources said today. Below the demilitarized zone, allied ground forces reported killing more than 700 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in weekend fighting.

Informed sources in Saigon said the American air forces have been told to keep their raids below the 19th Parallel, which is about 170 miles above the demilitarized zone. In last four days U.S. bombers have struck no farther north than 160 miles above the DMZ.

Publicly, Johnson's order of March 31 setting the 20th Parallel as the northern boundary for air attacks still stands, and the sources said the President did not publicize the new curtailment because he wanted to leave open the option of bombing up to the 20th Parallel, or some 225 miles above the DMZ.

The U.S. Command in Saigon declined comment on the reported new bombing limits. In Washington, assistant White House press secretary Tom Johnson said there is no change from the March 31 order.

Although the area open to attack has been reduced, U.S. warplanes have more than doubled the pre-curtailed number of strike missions against North Vietnam's southern panhandle, mostly against enemy supply lines and convoys.

U.S. pilots flew a total of 134 missions over the North Vietnamese panhandle Sunday, the highest number in three months, since 144 were flown on Jan. 6. Military spokesmen said clearer weather, as the north-east monsoons move away, made the increase possible.

The fliers attacked North Vietnamese supply lines and gun positions, with the northernmost target an anti-aircraft position 160 miles north of the demilitarized zone, the U.S. Command said.

In the ground war, the U.S. troops that lifted the siege of Khe Sanh reported killing 118 North Vietnamese soldiers in a series of clashes over the jungled hills around the base on the northwest frontier.

The searching troops also reported finding the bodies of 198 enemy soldiers who apparently were killed by U.S. artillery and air strikes.

Seven miles to the southwest, U.S. artillery and rocket-firing helicopters smashed four enemy trucks and a tracked vehicle, presumably a tank, U.S. headquarters said.

LONDON (AP)—A BOAC jetliner with 126 persons on board crashed in flames on a runway at London's airport today just after taking off.

The British Overseas Airways Corp. said it knew of 103 survivors. The airport fire brigade reported three bodies recovered from the wreckage of the four-engine Boeing 707 bound for Australia. Police said they knew of five killed—three women, a man and a child. Eighteen persons are missing.

Scotland Yard reported it knew of 22 persons injured in hospitals, some of them badly hurt. Thirty others were in the airport medical center.

The plane's pilot radioed just after the plane was airborne that one of the jet engines had broken off.

A BOAC spokesman said the plane carried 115 passengers and 11 crew members.

BOAC said five of the aircraft's technical crew—the men in the cockpit—were safe. But they had no knowledge of the six stewards and hostesses aboard.

Airport officials said the plane's pilot, Capt. Charles Taylor, radioed two minutes after takeoff that an engine had fallen off.

The plane made a left turn, attempting to reach a cross runway. On impact the port wing fell off.

Black smoke poured from the plane as it lurched in. Airport emergency services rushed out alongside it.

A witness said: "There was a terrific pall of black smoke and flames coming from the aircraft. Two thirds of the plane appears to be intact with the tail end still sticking up."

"It lies almost in the center of the airport, 500 or 600 yards from the main buildings in the central area."

and the nation's capital was being enforced by 32,000 Army troops and National Guardsmen.

Cyrus Vance, President Johnson's riot troubleshooter in Washington, said shortly before midnight: "The city appears to be experiencing another night of relative calm. We are not yet out of the woods, but I am hopeful of the encouraging trend will continue."

HUMAN NEEDS
Washington Mayor Walter E. Washington announced a series of emergency measures to "meet the human needs." Long lines formed outside the few open supermarkets and community groups collected food for meals and tried to find ways to provide cash for families left penniless by the disaster.

The violence left six dead and the death toll may rise to eight if two other deaths are ruled riot-connected. Almost 1,000 persons were injured, more than 4,000 were arrested and more than 750 fires were set.

Residents of Chicago, where nine persons died in a wave of violence, burning and looting, also tried to resume normal life. More than 300 persons were homeless, however, and a serious food shortage was expected because stores in the riot area had been either stripped by looters or closed and boarded up.

A young Negro boy runs from a Baltimore grocery store Sunday with a stolen box of candy.

LBJ's Address Now Indefinite

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield cautioned Congress today against impetuous action in the wake of racial violence that followed the slaying of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

He also said that plans for President Johnson to address a joint session of Congress were "very indefinite."

At the same time an aide to House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said the Michigan congressman will not support immediate House approval of the Senate-passed civil rights bill, dealing a blow to hopes the bill might avoid lengthy work in a conference committee.

"I don't think we ought to rush into a joint session," the Montana senator told newsmen shortly before the Senate met.

Johnson originally announced that he would address a joint session of Congress Monday night. But the White House later said this would be postponed in order not to interfere with the funeral in Atlanta Tuesday of Dr. King, slain by an assassin Thursday night.

Mansfield said that if Johnson addresses a joint session of Congress at all, it may be after an Easter recess, starting Thursday and continuing to April 17.

Today Is The Deadline For Submitting Award Nominees

If you want to honor a young Howard County high school boy or girl with a nomination in the Yale Herald Youth Achievement Award, send this in today. Nominations must be closed as of Tuesday, in order that judges will have time to sift through the tremendous number of qualifications listed for so many young people.

ABOUT 40
Nominations for this high community honor now number about 40. Several were received today.

The Herald erred in announcing one nominee last week. The name of Marvin Wynn, a Coahoma junior, should have been listed. Marvin, like all other candidates, has an impressive list of scholastic, leadership and religious activities.

The Youth Achievement Award, kept secret until that date, will be presented to the winner at a major banquet on the evening of April 19, to be held at Cosden Country Club.

All nominees, their dates and their parents will be invited, and all nominees will receive special gifts and certificates. The winner receives a large trophy and an engraved wrist watch, plus, of course, the warm commendation of the entire community.

Seniors and juniors of the county's three high schools, Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan, are eligible for nomination. The form appearing in The Herald must be used, but supplemental information may be attached.

MAJOR
The award is regarded as one of the major recognitions that can come to a high school student who exhibits leadership, and volunteer activity in school, church and community.

Names received today included: Shirley Ann Cobb, Forsan junior — high scholastic average, in honor society in junior high.

girl basketball manager, junior class vice president, parliamentary member of FHA, homecoming queen nominee, plays piano for church and active in church youth organizations.

Donald E. Crockett Jr., Big Spring senior — national honor society, national merit commended student, Who's Who, junior class president, president student body and student council, choir member, in dramatic productions, golf team, substitute teacher for Sunday School class, youth workshop leader, civic awards from Optimist Club and American Legion.

Paula Green, Big Spring junior — national honor society, Who's Who, annual staff, BSIS Youth Council, member Future Teachers, Court Jesters, Latin Club, sings in church choir, active in church classes, has worked in several welfare drives.

Vicky Wallin, Coahoma junior — national honor society, Who's Who, Spanish Club, annual staff, in band for six years and has been sweetheart and secretary-treasurer of band, Interscholastic League participant, on student council, perfect attendance at Sunday School for six years, secretary of Sunday School class.

COMMENDED
Robert Strain, Big Spring senior — national merit commended student, outstanding boy at summer honors institute, member Band, choir, Spanish Club, Science Club, Who's Who, winner in Interscholastic League contest, named as young Texan of month by Optimist Club, has served as youth leader in church and is church pianist.

Judy Abbe, Big Spring senior — national honor society, honors institute for three years, active in shorthand, in Shorthand Club, Spanish Club, Future Teachers of America, active church member.

Helmeted Soldiers Help 'Cool' Rioters In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—The national day of mourning for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., whose slaying triggered two days of burning and looting in Chicago, passed quietly as memorial services were held in dozens of churches.

The calm was enforced by some 10,000 green-clad, helmeted soldiers who kept an armed vigil on the South and West sides where violence Friday and Saturday resulted in nine deaths and $10-million damage.

1,800 ARRESTED

More than 300 persons were treated for injuries and some 1,800 were arrested.

About 300 persons were left homeless by the fires and most food stores in the riot area were burned, stripped by looters and closed. However, large quantities of food and clothing and other supplies were poured in to collection centers to aid them.

Nearly 7,000 of the patrolling soldiers were National Guardsmen ordered to duty Friday by Lt. Gov. Samuel Shapiro. The guardsmen were placed under

Five Linked To Vandalism

Police are investigating an undetermined amount of vandalism at the home of Mrs. Deloris Tackman, 2306 Marcy, which occurred Saturday about 10 p.m. and involved five juveniles.

Mrs. Tackman told police that her 13-year-old daughter and her 14-year-old friend were at home when the vandalism occurred. The boys punched three holes in the living room wall and did extensive damage to four doors, and according to Mrs. Tackman, used foul language.

About 11:30 p.m., the boys returned, she said, bringing with them another companion. They kicked holes in the walls and scattered napkins and washing powder over the floors.

Four Fires Are Doused

Firemen answered a call about 9 a.m. today to the home of Mrs. Don Statham, 631 Settles, and extinguished a small blaze which was caused by a short in the wiring.

Sunday firemen quickly snuffed out three small fires. At 2:06 a.m., they put out a fire of old burning tires at 509 N. Lancaster in a vacant lot. At 5:10 p.m., a grass fire was extinguished northwest of the Wasson Road Fire Station; and at 5:20 p.m., firemen put out a grass fire at 2504 W. 16th started by a child playing with a cigarette lighter.

Liberal Party's Choice Of Trudeau Poses Test

OTTAWA (AP)—The Liberal party's choice of Pierre Elliott Trudeau as Canada's next prime minister has set the stage for a confrontation with the Conservative leader, Robert Stanfield, in a national election later this year.

It will be a test of strength between two new personalities who are expected to give Canadian politics its biggest shot in the arm since John Diefenbaker and Lester B. Pearson began their rivalry a decade ago.

Both Trudeau and Stanfield are newcomers to the national political scene and are anxious to seek a mandate from the public which will bring an end to minority government under which Pearson has ruled for the past five years.

Trudeau was elected Liberal leader Saturday night on the fourth ballot after a coalition of middle-of-the-road and right-wing rivals failed to head off the youth-supported Trudeau bandwagon.

As leader of the ruling party, the 46-year-old Quebec Trudeau becomes prime minister when Pearson retires two weeks from now at the age of 70.

It was generally believed that Trudeau's policies will follow those of Pearson. He told a news conference, however, that there should be a thorough reassessment of Canada's foreign policy with a boost in foreign aid expenditures.

Stanfield, former premier of Nova Scotia, was chosen Conservative leader last September in a contest which saw Diefenbaker defeated along with other well-known conservatives.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A 6 ♥7 4 3 ♦Q J 10 6 5 ♣K 4

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1♣	Pass	1♦	1♠
3♦	Pass	?	?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three spades. The cue bid will serve a double purpose. It will enable partner to stop at three no trump if that is the limit of his ambition, or it may induce him to try for slam if his hand is so suited. You will be pleased to cooperate inasmuch as you have the equivalent of an opening bid now that the king of clubs has been promoted.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠J 6 4 ♥Q 10 9 6 4 ♣A K 9 5 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1♦	Pass
?	?	?	?

What is your response?
A.—Three clubs. This hand offers distinct slam possibilities dependent on partner's holding in spades. The jump shift, therefore, is clearly indicated. This is the strongest possible passed hand partner could expect and surely you will settle for no less than game in diamonds.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A J ♥Q 4 ♦Q J 8 6 3 ♣Q 9 7 5

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1♠	Pass	1♦	2♥
2♠	Pass	?	?

What do you bid now?
A.—Four clubs. A mere return to three clubs would be grossly inadequate. Partner has shown a hand of reasonably good proportions and your hand has the strength of an opening bid.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠J 10 7 3 ♥6 2 ♦Q 8 3 ♣K 10 9 2

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1♦	1NT
Pass	Pass	1♠	Pass
?	?	?	?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. This is a rather light holding with which to leave the double in, but we can't be sure which suit to bid and even if West should make his contract it wouldn't be game.

Q. 5—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠5 ♥K Q J 6 3 ♦A 9 8 2 ♣A Q

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1♥	1♠	Pass	Pass
Dble.	Pass	2NT	Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Three diamonds. Your hand is slightly unbalanced and you should make some effort to play at a suit contract. If partner takes you back to three hearts, bid four. If his call is three no trump, pass.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠9 ♥10 4 ♦K Q 10 6 2 ♣K 6 4 3

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1♠	Pass	1NT	Pass
2♠	Pass	?	?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. No thought should be given to bidding three diamonds. Partner has indicated a probable six-card suit since he didn't like no trump and failed to show another suit on his rebid. Furthermore, he might easily have a singleton diamond.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠Q 9 7 3 ♥K 10 5 ♣A K J 10 8 2

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	2♠	Pass
2♥	Pass	4♥	Pass
5♠	Pass	5♦	Dble.

What do you bid now?
A.—Seven spades. This should be a pretty safe investment. East's double of five diamonds indicates that little of partner's values are in that suit. The spades are solid and either your heart holding solidifies partner's or your clubs can be set up for discards.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠K 6 5 ♥Q J 10 9 3 ♦Q 12 ♣3

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1♠	Pass	1♦	Pass
2♠	Dble.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. If partner had wanted to hear from you he would have doubled one club. This is strictly a business double and you have no reason to run.

A&M Facing Censure Rap

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—The campus president of the American Association of University Professors says Texas A&M University may be censured this month for failing to clarify the change in an instructor's job.

The situation involving Dr. Leon Gibbs could lead to censure by the national AAUP in Washington, said Dr. George Krise, president of the local AAUP chapter.

Gibbs, a member of the A&M faculty since 1949, was told in May of 1965 that his services as a classroom instructor in the veterinary medicine department would be terminated Aug. 31, 1965, according to the winter bulletin of the AAUP.

Gibbs said his professional competence was not questioned, and the only mention of a reason for his dismissal concerned his marital difficulties.

Appeals to the AAUP have resulted in a research assignment for Gibbs on the A&M faculty.

Bertram Davis, general secretary of the nation AAUP, said the case will be discussed at the association's annual meeting April 26-27.

Censure of a university by the AAUP often means professors hesitate to accept jobs where academic freedom has been questioned.

"The deciding factor will be whether the administration takes appropriate action regarding the professor," Davis said.

LBJ Urges Swift Okay Of Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has dispatched urgent appeals to congressional leaders for swift passage of his civil rights bill.

The new pleas for legislative speed were disclosed by government officials Sunday night just after Johnson ordered 2,000 Army regulars to Baltimore, Washington was quieting with 11,600 troopers in her streets; 5,000 more patrolled Chicago.

There were signs that Congress, jarred by the looting, burning and violence almost on its doorstep, would heed Johnson's plea and seek House action this week on the Senate-passed civil rights bill.

House Republican Leader Gerald Ford indicated he might drop his opposition to an early vote, but made no promise. He guaranteed only that he would make an early decision.

Johnson flew over the still-smoking ruins of the capital's burned-out inner-city areas late Sunday in a helicopter. With him was Gen. William C. Westmoreland. The American commander in Vietnam, who spent almost two days conferring with Johnson and high presidential advisers before starting the trip back to Saigon.

Ford was one of a number of congressional leaders, it was

Fire Bombings, Looting In Pittsburgh Stalled

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Authorities said today they believe three days of arson and looting in Pittsburgh's Hill District has been brought under control, but 3,000 National Guardsmen and 1,000 city and state police remained on duty in the Negro neighborhood.

"I would say the situation is under control," said City Safety Director David W. Craig at a news conference held at dawn.

"But as to its permanency, I will have to make a decision on that later in the day."

HOODLUMS
The wave of fire bombings, window smashings and looting broke out Friday night following the Memphis assassination of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. But it was not until Sunday that the National Guard and state troopers were moved into the Hill District to reinforce Pittsburgh police.

Both Craig and Lt. Col. Joseph Dussia, deputy commissioner of state police, pointed out that there had been relative calm in the predawn hours today.

Craig said the violence followed a "pattern of individually inclined hoodlums." He said there was no indication of prodding by agitators or outside organizations.

Earlier in the night, gangs of vandals pitched firebombs and stormed liquor stores. A lumber yard burned down in the Strip District, adjacent to the troubled Hill District.

The Hill, where 50,000 Negroes live, covers not much more than a square mile. The streets were almost deserted except for the troops.

Six to 12 guardsmen or state police stood at every intersection.

Crowds that taunted the troops and peppered them with rocks when they took positions Sunday melted away as a 7 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew was enforced.

Strong Winds Rip Midwest

By The Associated Press
Strong winds buffeted the Midwest early today, leaving one woman dead, and thunder, showers, cold rain and some snow swirled across Minnesota and the Dakotas as a spring storm made its way northward to Canada.

Moisture generally was light but livestock warnings were posted for much of eastern North Dakota. Hazardous driving warnings were up in north-west Minnesota. Residents of both areas were warned of cold rain changing to snow and strong winds creating local blizzard conditions.

A woman, 26, was killed Sunday when high winds blew a large canopy from a grocery at Independence Hills, Ind., south of Gary, where 60 mile winds were reported.

Chicago's midway airport this morning reported a peak wind gust of 52 miles an hour.

CONNALLY WILL SEEK FAVORITE SON ROLE Demo Precinct Battles Loom

By The Associated Press
Hot fights over Democratic convention delegates from the precinct level up seemed certain today with Gov. John Connally now committed to seek the role of Texas' favorite son contender for the presidential nomination.

After mulling over an endorsement from the State Democratic Executive Committee for several days, Connally said Sunday he will enter an active bid for early-ballot support by home state delegates to the party's national convention in August.

BITTER FOES
Connally and U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough long have been bitter political foes, and backers also have been urging that the senator seek to become a favorite son candidate. So far he has reserved a decision.

Yarborough said Saturday he was staying in Washington to keep in touch with racial strife there and elsewhere but he reconsidered and flew to San Antonio late Sunday, a trip he had planned to make earlier. An aide said Yarborough was going to Corpus Christi to join Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson today in a ceremony dedicating the Padre Island national seashore area.

These developments occurred as Texas candidates for governor began picking up campaign activities which lagged after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King in Memphis, Tenn.

'TROUBLE DAYS'
About 250 top campaign workers including state Democratic chairman Will Davis conferred for two hours with Connally in Austin before he disclosed his decision.

The governor, who long ago said he would not seek reelection this year, told reporters his primary reason for seeking the favorite son candidacy was to fill a vacuum left by President Johnson's refusal to seek renomination.

Connally said he was prompted by "a deep feeling that in these troubled days, each person holds a very deep and continuing obligation to supply the highest degree of stability and reason that can possibly be provided in the atmosphere that surrounds us."

The governor went on, "It is in that spirit that I would hope to lead the delegation as a favorite son candidate, realizing that this action of mine will precipitate some dissatisfaction. It was the almost unanimous opinion of those here . . . that such an action on my part would contribute to the strength and solidarity of the Democratic Party."

PICKETS
As Connally arrived for the Austin conference, five Negro pickets stood outside the hotel representing the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. They carried placards opposing his proposed role as a favorite son candidate and protesting his remarks Thursday night at Westlaco after the assassination of Dr. King, the civil rights leader.

These were among the campaign moves Sunday by candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor:

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith attended a barbecue at Hallettsville. He said, "There's nothing like a governor's race to bring out 'What's wrong with Texas.' In my campaign I want to balance this outflow of negative criticism about Texas and say that there is a tremendous amount that is right with Texas."

Edward Whittenburg restated his opposition to horse race betting during a Dallas stop en route to Lubbock. He asserted, "Legalization of pari-mutuel betting will bring organized crime into Texas." At another point Whittenburg declared that Connally, who has spoken in favor of the proposal, was "badly misinformed if he thinks legalized gambling will be good for Texas."

Whittenburg planned the second in a series of live telecasts from a Lubbock station today.

Former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said he was starting a "stand up and be counted" tour of the state today with stops in Greenville, Paris, Marshall, Longview and Tyler. He scheduled radio and television appearances to answer questions telephoned by listeners.

NEW ERA
John Hill, the former Texas secretary of state, flew back to Austin after speaking at an afternoon reception in El Paso. Unaware at the time of Connally's favorite son decision, he said that with the withdrawal of President Johnson and the governor from the political scene the time was right for a new era of leadership in Texas.

HERE IS AN ASSESSMENT OF THE EVIDENCE

Just How Dangerous Are Drugs?

Editor's Note: There is admittedly an ever-growing use of mind-altering drugs among the nation's young. And the fear of physical, mental, moral damage grows with it. But what are the real dangers? Are the fears substantiated by medical and scientific evidence? Are the dangers imagined — or understated? Are there any benefits? Here is an assessment of the evidence concerning the hallucinatory drugs, marijuana and LSD.

By BERNARD GAVZER
By The Associated Press

There is a widespread, growing national concern about the use of marijuana and LSD. It is a very real, deeply felt concern — except to those experiencing the fantasies of the mind-altering drugs themselves.

Scarcely any parent in the United States can avoid the thought that his teenage child might toy with drugs that distort his mind. Nor is the teenager himself immune—he is not certain that what he took last week might not harm him years later.

CONFRONTED

The doctor is confronted with it in his clinic, the minister in his study, the judge in his courtroom—and not always professionally, not always with someone else's child.

This concern is rooted in a mountain of sometimes bewildering claims about dangers and benefits. Marijuana, it is said, is a stepping stone to stronger, addictive drugs such as heroin; causes damage to the body; twists the mind; leads to lust, violence and crime; produces moral decay. The far more potent LSD is indicted for: damage to chromosomes—the carriers of heredity—possible birth defects, homicide, suicide, insanity, and moral degeneration.

And yet the use of marijuana is more open than ever before, and society's prohibition against it is being challenged in the courts and opposed in pro-marijuana campaigns which claim Americans have been fed lies about the drug. Others are demanding the right to use LSD as a sacrament in their newly proclaimed churches, just as the Native American Indian Church legally uses mind-expanding peyote in its ritual.

LSD is one of the most powerful mind-altering drugs. Marijuana is far less potent and its effects of far shorter duration. There are no known toxic doses for humans for either drug.

EFFECTS

But both have subjective effects that make it extremely dangerous to perform complex skilled acts, such as driving a car. Marijuana can produce a dream state—or an excessive feeling of well-being—in which the sense of time and space is distorted and in which the smoker might be confronted with real danger and not recognize it.

LSD radically opens up sensory awareness so that there is a rush of sensory information. A man driving a car while under the effect of LSD might know that he was in traffic, but at the same time might think he was in a canal and the buildings were huge ocean liners.

There are also other reported crossovers in which sound is seen and color heard. Panic states—the so-called LSD "bad trip"—have produced situations in which the user becomes paranoid. There is a contention that these extreme conditions can return unexpectedly weeks and months after using LSD.

While all drugs can be misused, the problem of abuse centers on LSD and marijuana because they involve greater number of young Americans than heroin addiction, for instance, which has long been a severe drug problem. The Federal Bureau of Narcotics says there are 60,000 known addicts of opium-derived drugs. Others say there could be as many as 200,000.

ILLEGAL

Because its possession is illegal, there is no valid census as to marijuana users, just educated estimates.

"The National Students Association put the figure at 10 million," says John Finlator, director of the Federal Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, "but our view is that it may be between three and five million."

A recent Gallup Poll of colleges produced an estimate of 300,000 on the nation's campuses. Dr. James L. Goddard, commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration, estimates 20 million Americans have tried marijuana at least once.

TYPICAL

A California judge, Arthur L. Alarcon, describes what has become almost typical in courts: "Today, a judge sees an increasing number of marijuana users from good families, students with above average grades and without prior record of delinquency."

The LSD user has been described by Dr. Richard Blum, director of the Psychopharmacology Project at Stanford University in California and principal author of the President's Crime Commission Task Force on Narcotics and Drugs, in these terms:

"LSD is most common among the 20-30 age group in urban centers; well educated rather than poorly educated persons are using it; males more than females use it; and its users are often very competent students who are 'introverted,' interested in the humanities and art, somewhat more 'intellectual' than their peers, and less sensitive to convention."

How dangerous are marijuana and LSD? There are those who argue that marijuana is less dangerous than alcohol, which causes far greater known deaths—through traffic accidents and abuse—than marijuana, and is a direct factor in divorce, family desertion and job absenteeism.

NO ANSWER

But no definitive scientific answer has been possible for the most part about marijuana—a plant—because until recently there was no unequivocally known potency. One cigarette could be far different from another because of soil, weather and harvesting. This tended to make experts skeptical of claims that a single cigarette could produce any given effect. More so, very little scientific research was conducted because of a dominant law enforcement attitude, shared by portions of the medical profession, that there was no medical use for the drug. Now there is a synthetic, THC, which scientists feel will allow them to conduct valid research as to what it does and why it is used. This research is now going on in 19 projects. There also is prospect that the American Medical Association's council on drugs will conduct a scientific study.

Reports about chromosomal damage and birth defects from LSD emerged only this year.

Dr. Maimon Cohen, a geneticist at State University of New York at Buffalo, subjected white cells to LSD and detected breakage. Subsequently, other investigators found broken chromosomes in the white cells of persons who used LSD.

IMPORT

The full import of what this means has not yet been determined. Other scientists argue that because there is chromosomal damage in white cells in test-tube studies, such as conducted by Dr. Cohen, this does not mean that such damage necessarily occurs in the body of an LSD user.

University of Wisconsin investigators were the first to report possible birth defects. This was based on tests which LSD was given to pregnant mice and it was found that when it was given on the seventh day of pregnancy, 91 of 158 embryo mice had malformations.

Although marijuana is under control of the Bureau of Narcotics, it is not a narcotic. The smoker does not build a tolerance to it, such as he would with heroin, and there is no need to increase the amount in order to get high. Also, he can stop use abruptly without suffering the withdrawal sickness that is part of narcotics addiction.

The Bureau of Narcotics claims that one of the grave dangers of marijuana use is that it is a stepping stone to heroin and similar opiates.

NO EVIDENCE

The Medical Letter, a non-profit drugs and therapeutics survey service for the medical profession, reports: "There is no evidence that it (marijuana) has any physiological or emotional effects which directly lead to more serious drug abuse, but its use may facilitate contact with persons or groups using more dangerous drugs."

No similar theory has been proposed about LSD. In fact, in the psychedelic scene, drugs such as heroin, morphine, cocaine, barbiturates and amphetamines—anything that anyone would inject with a needle—are frowned upon. One of the amphetamines which has turned up in significant quantities is methedrine, which is called Meth or Speed. Its dangers were quickly recognized and the underground press raised warning flags. Buttons appeared carrying the message: "Speed Kills."

Does chronic use produce any long-range personality change? Dr. Joel Fort, former director of San Francisco's Center for Special Problems and drugs consultation to the World Health Organization, claims "such harmful effects are not inherent qualities of marijuana. Drugs do not make the personality. That is already there."

The adverse effects of LSD go far beyond personality change. Psychotic episodes—what the LSD cult calls "bad trips"—have been reported with mounting frequency.

ACUTE

Dr. Donald B. Louria, a microbiologist who is chairman of the New York State Council on Drug Addiction, says that during a 10-month period in 1965, "65 persons were admitted to the psychiatric division of Bellevue Hospital with some acute psychoses resulting from self-administration of LSD. We were able to carefully examine 32 of the cases. The predominant manifestations were overwhelming fear, uncontrolled violent urges and strong auditory hallucinations. Two had attempted homicide. Twelve appeared to have underlying psychosis or schizoid personalities."

Dr. Sidney Cohen, chief of psychiatry service at West-south Hospital in Los Angeles and one of the early investigators of LSD, says the danger of suicide and of psychotic reactions have been under-reported. "Deaths stemming from the illusion of being able to fly are getting so common that they're not even making the papers any more," he says.

Dr. Louria, incidentally, extends the danger of psychotic episode to marijuana use. He says "a study of the literature makes it clear that even one cigarette can produce a panic reaction and even a psychotic reaction, although this may be short-lived."

Dr. Bruce Jackson, a sociologist at the State University of New York, reports that his three-year study of middle class, adult marijuana users in New York City, Boston and Austin, Tex., shows no evidence that marijuana led to sexual promiscuity, violent behavior or criminal activity.

STIMULATES

Marijuana users, on the other hand, are inclined to say that marijuana stimulates them sexually. But Dr. Constantinos J. Miras of the University of Athens, who sees many dangers in marijuana, says this is not one of them. He cites his studies with rats, saying such tests showed there was a 90 per cent drop in reproduction activity.

"The premise behind this is that marijuana lowers inhibition," says Dr. Paul Gebhard of The Institute for Sex Research at Bloomington, Ind., "but if that is so, it might be the same as drinking a martini. We have seen no evidence that marijuana or alcohol can accomplish this. If someone thinks it can, then it may occur because of his expectations."

STUDIED

LSD is being studied to determine if it is of any benefit in treating disorders which are notoriously resistant to conventional therapy: terminal illness, alcoholism, schizophrenia, to name a few. It is also being studied to learn how it works and what it does to human beings; can it help in the creative process, in understanding the dynamics of sleep, in enriching the life of normal individuals?

One of the major projects on terminal illness is being conducted in Veterans Administration hospitals. Dr. H. Martin Engle, chief medical director of the VA hospitals, describes the project's aim as seeking to evaluate "the use of LSD to alter the meaning of pain and death and reduce the need for narcotics in those terminal illness cases suffering intractable pain."

Two major studies involving alcoholics are being conducted, one in California under the direction of Dr. Keith Dittman, and the other in Spring Grove State Hospital in Baltimore, under Dr. Albert Kurland.

At the Federal Addiction Research Center in Lexington, Ky., it is being used with group psychotherapy to try to modify psychological dependency in narcotics addicts. This also is the scene of one of 19 marijuana use projects in which the synthetic THC is being employed to study effects of marijuana.

CONCLUSION

"None of the LSD research projects, to my knowledge, has yet been brought to a scientific conclusion," says John Finlator, director of the Bureau of Drug Abuse Control. "As one of the most powerful mind-altering drugs LSD is of particular interest to behavioral scientists. Discussing its potential, Dr. Daniel X. Freedman, head of the University of Chicago's psychiatry department and one of the early investigators of LSD, says: "LSD is one of a range of tools that the behavioral scientist can use. We need to know what the drug reveals basically about behavior—about how the mind is built and how it functions. What is very important is what the drug reveals about the chemistry of the brain is—or is not—related to behavior."

State Officials Like To Travel

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Texas who joke or complain about their congressman's junkets to faraway places should remember that their state officials and legislators also like to travel.

Auditors of state expense accounts recall one repayment of about $3,000 for an official trek to Greece.

Five officials of one state department recently attended a week-long meeting in Honolulu, at state expense. The round-trip air fare alone is about $340 each.

Groups of legislators have seen the need in recent years to study Texas' problems while on trips to the Grand Bahamas, Virgin Islands, Panama Canal, Mexico City, and Montreal.

"You'd be surprised how much official state business must be done in Las Vegas, Nev., according to the expense accounts," said one expense account tabulator.

In the summer, Colorado is a frequent destination of official state travelers; in winter time it's Mexico City or Acapulco. Some times there are official sessions in Panama, Puerto Rico, or Canada, Montreal was frequented during Expo 67 just as Seattle was a favorite while its world fair was running. The convention cities of New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver, and Washington are frequent destinations of Texas state officials and employes.

Texas taxpayers contribute about $12,000 a month to pay traveling expenses of its officials and employes both in and outside the state.

Staff members of the comptroller's office are quick to point out that the $144,000 a year is legally spent as authorized by the legislature—or it would not be paid. Legislators decide how much travel expense money should be spent and then dig up the revenue to cover the bill. The comptroller just writes the checks.

The trips to convention cities and recreational spots usually are prompted by national, regional or state meetings where state officials and employes attend as official representatives or participants for Texas.

State officials and employes accompanying Gov. John Connally to the national governors conference this year did most of their work on a cruise ship en route to and from the Virgin Islands, because the ship was the site picked for the conference.

Another portion of the state spending bill says that officials and employes of state universities and colleges can get expense-paid trips to national, international, regional or state education meetings if it is for the purpose of presenting an original research paper or speech.

Briefly here are the guidelines for state expense accounts as prescribed by the 1967 appropriations bill:

Employes and officials get 10 cents a mile, via the shortest route, if they use their own car. Executive heads and key officials who travel in their own airplanes on state business are repaid 16 cents per highway mile.

Most employes get $14 a day for meals and lodging while traveling in the state and $17 outside the state. However, judicial officers, heads of all state agencies, legislators and employes of the governor's office are reimbursed for their actual cost of meals, lodging and incidental expenses.

Another large group, including assistant attorneys general and most administrative officers of other departments, get repaid for actual living expenses, up to $35 a day.

Each official or employe certifies his expense account is correct and the vouchers must be approved by his department head. Expense accounts of legislators are approved either by the lieutenant governor or the speaker.

All are checked for accuracy by the comptroller's department and subject to later recheck by the state auditor.

Some Lawmakers Cost Us A Lot More

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

The Texas Constitution says taxation must be equal and uniform but there is nothing that says the cost of lawmaking must be equalized.

It cost Texas taxpayers about 19 times as much the past fiscal year to keep one senator in business as it did one other and it cost eight times as much to keep one representative as it did another.

This is not the cost to the taxpayers in the respective districts of these senators or representatives. This cost is shared by every taxpayer in the state.

A new audit report by the state auditor of expenses of the Texas Senate and House showed that Sen. Murray Watson of Waco and Rep. Paul Floyd of Houston were the champion spenders during the state's 1966-67 fiscal year.

Watson spent $8,029 during the regular session of the 60th legislature and the interim periods before and after the regular session, until just Aug. 31. Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paducah recorded as spending $6,000 during the same one-year period.

Floyd was reported as spending a total of $2,352, compared to $272 reported spent by Rep. Wilson Foreman of Austin. These expense figures cover salaries paid; authorized; employes of the legislators, office supplies, postage, telephone and telegraph, and printing equipment. They do not include the $4,800 annual salary received by senators and representatives alike.

The size of a senator's expense account cannot be compared directly to that of a House member because senators are allowed more employes and their districts usually cover more area and people, making communications more expensive.

Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth was reported as spending $2,996 for telephone calls, almost half of his total $6,731 expense.

Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin spent $2,013 on stamps, a third of his total.

Sen. William Moore of Bryan spent $818 on stationery. In the House, Rep. Joe Shannon Jr. of Fort Worth spent $1,566 on telephone calls, more than half of his total expense.

Rep. Lee Duggan Jr. of Houston spent $1,493 on stamps, but only $118 on telephone calls.

The speaker's office was charged with only $1,338 in stamps but had a huge $10,733 telephone bill. Total expenses charged to the office, not including any salaries, was $15,548.

The lieutenant governor's office was reported as spending $7,665 for the year, without salaries, including a $2,115 telephone bill, $3,272 for stamps, and $949 for newspapers. The annual audit report had no economy recommendations for either house.

MIGHT HAMPER STUDIES
Researchers Fear Controls On Drugs

Editor's Note: In many laboratories, medical scientists are experimenting with LSD in the hope of finding benefits to mankind. They also fear that the growing nationwide concern over LSD and marijuana use may lead to hasty legislative controls which may hamper their work.

By The Associated Press

The hue and cry over the use of LSD, marijuana and other psychedelic drugs has raised fears among scientists of control legislation which they feel might hamper legitimate research beneficial to man.

"I have a dream sometimes in which I'm at a microscope and get the eerie feeling that someone is looking over my shoulder," says a research scientist at New York's Bellevue Hospital who wanted to use LSD in a far-out experiment but abandoned the idea.

"I look up and he's gone. But I see his shadow going out the door. He's a policeman."

Some scientists cite reports of chromosomal damage and potential birth defects from LSD—though still subject of hot debate—as among pressures on lawmakers to do something soon in the field of restrictive legislation.

Dr. Robert Wilson Jr., a Mayo Clinic psychiatrist, recently said that because of "moral presures" exerted on the government, supplies of LSD for medical experimentation were virtually exhausted.

These pressures did remove LSD from the normal channels of obtaining new drugs for research. In the case of LSD, Sandoz Pharmaceuticals—which developed the drug—decided it was a headache and gave its supply, amounting to 22 grams, to control of the National Institute of Mental Health in 1966.

What is the supply of LSD? How much research is going on?

DISPENSED

As of Nov. 15, 1967, NIMH had dispensed enough LSD to researchers for 50,000 average human adult doses of 100 micrograms. It had on hand, 500 ampules, 19,500 tablets and 17.4 grams of bulk powder—the equivalent of 180,000 additional doses.

So far as is known, none of the legally dispensed LSD has emerged in the black market. That market seems well-supplied since it is claimed that once someone has lysergic acid the process for making LSD can be followed by a college student in a chemistry lab.

"There is no legitimate concern that the supply for research will be exhausted," says

Dr. Kohn Scigliano of the Center for Studies of Narcotic and Drug Abuse, which keeps track of the LSD. "If we need more, Sandoz has promised to supply it from Switzerland."

There are 30 LSD research projects being done under NIMH grants and at least 100 other investigators, who obtained supplies before LSD was listed as a dangerous drug, also are continuing research.

STUDIED

LSD is being studied to determine if it is of any benefit in treating disorders which are notoriously resistant to conventional therapy: terminal illness, alcoholism, schizophrenia, to name a few. Riot-Ripped Capitol Resumes Normal Pace

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's capital, its riot-ripped Negro slums in the grip of rigid military control, took a few tentative steps toward resuming its weekday routine today and pushed plans to aid the hungry and homeless.

Four confirmed sniping incidents were reported as 11,600 troops, carrying unloaded rifles, patrolled the city's deserted streets on a sunny Palm Sunday.

They firmly enforced a late afternoon curfew, virtually halting the arson and looting that had raged for three days in this city of 800,000 people—500,000 of them Negroes.

Police blamed six deaths and 961 injuries on the rioting that followed the assassination Thursday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. They reported 4,800 arrests and 751 fires since the violence began. Damage was estimated unofficially at $10 million.

Mayor Walter Washington, saying the situation was "well in hand," announced schools, businesses and government agencies would reopen at their normal times today.

Schools and government offices were ordered to close 90 minutes early, and businesses at 4 p.m., so streets could be cleared by the time a 6 p.m. curfew begins.

The curfew began at 4 p.m. Sunday, as it had on Saturday, and troops and police stopped—and in hundreds of cases arrested—those on the streets during the night. Troops were posted near the White House, Capitol and other government buildings.

"The city appears to be experiencing another night of relative calm," Cyrus Vance, President Johnson's riot troubleshooter, told a late-night news conference. "We are not yet out of the woods but I am hopeful the encouraging trend will continue."

Vance said he expected the troops—including paratroopers and Marines—to remain in the city until after King's funeral Tuesday. About 2,000 soldiers who had been held in reserve at nearby Andrews Air Force Base were sent to nearby Baltimore when violence flared there Sunday night.

At the height of the violence, looting had spread to within two blocks of the White House. But the main areas of destruction were mixed business and residential neighborhoods along 7th and 14th streets about two miles north of the White House, along H street northeast of the Capitol and in the Anacostia section southeast of the main business district.

2 Big Springers Win ROTC Funds

Two Big Spring boys have been selected to receive four-year Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) scholarships to any of the 259 institutions offering the Army ROTC program.

They are Richard G. Macklin, 1403 E. 19th St., and Tom E. Wood, 1817 Benton, both senior students at Big Spring High School.

Each scholarship pays for tuition, textbooks and laboratory fees and provides a subsistence allowance of $50 per month. During a six-week summer camp between the junior and senior years of college, the student receives $160.50 per month.

ALREADY PUT 20,000 TROOPS INTO RIOT BATTLES

Army Has 22,000 On Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army, which has thrown nearly 20,000 regular troops into the battle against riots in U.S. cities, has another 22,000 ready to go.

These comprise 11 brigades in varying states of alert, most prepared to move out on an hour's notice Pentagon sources said.

Some of them are specially organized provisional brigades made up of engineers, artillerymen and other combat and combat-support troops.

But, like infantrymen and paratroopers, they have received riot control training.

The sources said still more brigades are being formed in anticipation of possible need.

Air Force transports have been posted strategically around the country, awaiting call.

In this connection, no Air Reserve troop-carrier units have been called up or placed on extended training duty for the purpose.

However, the Air Force said some reserve volunteers have stepped forward to help out and a total of 96 Air Reserve C119 and C124 transport planes have been used in the emergency airlift of regular troops.

The Air Force said it was impossible to identify the units from which the reserve volunteers had come.

The Army already has called into use a brigade of soldiers whose normal mission is to serve as school troops for the training of new officers at Fort Benning, Ga.

So far, the army has committed, or moved into position to commit, seven brigades from Ft. Bragg, N.C.; Ft. Hood, Tex.; Ft. Carson, Colo., and Ft. Benning.

It also has brought into play a considerable part of an armored cavalry regiment, a ceremonial battalion, and a variety of military police, transportation and service units of battalion size.

Moving Of Texas-Based Troops To Riots Ends

By The Associated Press

Movement of Texas-based federal troops from Army and Air Force installations to riot-torn cities of the nation apparently neared an end Sunday night.

Transports flying out of Sheppard Air Force Base at Wichita Falls began ferrying about 2,000 artillery troops from Ft. Sill, Okla., to an undisclosed destination.

The first plane load took off at 8:33 p.m. CST, a Ft. Sill spokesman said. He added that the destination would be disclosed only after the troops arrived. When that would be, he said he did not know.

The artillery troops were conveyed to Wichita Falls Saturday night where they had remained on standby alert until their departure.

The Ft. Sill troops were all from the III Corps Artillery. Meanwhile, near Austin, the last contingent of Ft. Hood soldiers for riot-control duty in Chicago stood by at Bergstrom Air Force Base. They awaited for flying conditions to improve over troubled Chicago.

Only six more aircraft, most of them loaded with military trucks, stood by at Bergstrom.

An Air Force officer said about 40 C141 Starlifter transport planes flew 57 missions to Chicago, Saturday night and Sunday.

"We've moved about 2,400 men," the officer said.

The Ft. Hood troops were from a brigade of the 1st Armored Division.

A Devotional For The Day

One of them smote the servant of the high priest, and cut off his right ear. . . . And he (Jesus) touched his ear, and healed him. (Luke 22:50-51)

PRAYER: Almighty God, help us to be more like Jesus as we journey through life. May we act according to the example of our Master, whose love led Him to overcome evil with good. Grant us more of His spirit as we offer the prayer He taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven. . . . Amen."

Move Off High Center

In the light of the United States Supreme Court's decision requiring equal representation on commissioners courts, there is good reason to believe that reforms and changes will come in Texas county government.

Critics of equal representation on the commissioners court argue that rural interests will be dominated by urban interests, and that the rural needs will be ignored. Well, tyranny by the majority may not be much better than tyranny by the minority, but it does satisfy one of the demands of representative government. The real answer, however, is that rural interests will not suffer. Wholesale revision of the Texas Constitution will be required, and many laws dealing with county government will have to be swept aside before rural interest would be penalized.

The court's ruling undoubtedly will mean the election of more urban commissioners. This likely will start the ball rolling toward reforms and create a system of more broadly responsive government. The ultimate overhaul may require constitutional rewriting or revision, but the step in the offering may be the thing that pushed the cry for modernization off high center.

Open Hearings Needed

Considerable debate has been generated recently over the free press vs. free trial issue, as before and still by the freedom of information vs. national security issue. But what about free press vs. diplomacy — or the people's right to know vs. protocol in international relations?

The latter issue has caused a flare of dispute in the national Capitol's committees and corridors, though it has not reached floor debate. Mainly it has been between Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., and Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee that is now considering President Johnson's $2½ billion request for foreign economic assistance aid. The security cloak may be drawn over military aid, but what about economic aid?

One Morgan position is that open hearings will delay proceedings, a dismissible point because foreign aid is always the last to clear before congressional adjournment anyway. More debatable, he thinks U.S. agency testimony on the shortcomings of foreign officials' handling of economic aid funds will damage relations with friendly underdeveloped nations.

Findley takes the position that American taxpayers have the right to know how their aid money is being spent abroad. If foreign officials handling it are embarrassed, they should be; maybe that will improve the effectiveness of the aid's use. Foreign countries should not take offense to criticism of their officials' management of U.S. aid money, if U.S. aid officials are subject to similar open criticism.

The Johnson administration for the first time in two decades has requested detailed economic aid requests on a country-by-country basis. That seems to support Findley's contention that open discussion of economic aid management is in order, and probably would be less damaging than critical rumors. And economic aid to South Vietnam, related though it is to a war effort, should be no exception. It has often been charged that corruption is rampant in that aid program, and a cover-up has never been known to cure such corruption.

Moving Day For A Big Outfit

NEW YORK (AP) — All the famed planning ability of General Motors will be needed for its upcoming moving job. Cars are produced by the millions, but a change of address is like no other.

After 40 years on Broadway here, in a dowdy building faced with Grecian columns and marbled and gilded inside, GM is preparing to move its executive offices to an efficient white marble tower on Fifth Avenue.

FOR THE 3,300 workers on 25 floors of the Broadway building, the current preparations focus on "purging the files," tossing out papers so old they are bound by common pins instead of staples. It's the same problem individuals face—and often fail—when moving. GM isn't likely to fail.

The nation's biggest automaker has another advantage over ordinary beings. It has money and it can go first class, so all the furniture is being left behind—desks, rug cabinets, wastebaskets, coatsracks.

APPRAISERS recently walked through the building at night, seemingly talking to themselves but really speaking into tape recorders that later will be transcribed. They identified each piece of furniture, priced it and left attached to it an identification number.

Now the GM people are considering what to do with the old but useful furniture—give it to charity, for example, or sell it to dealers. The decision will be made soon, for the company must vacate this summer.

ABOUT FIVE years ago GM began thinking about what it should do when its latest 10-year lease was up. A decision was reached against staying in the old building, mostly for reasons of efficiency and space.

By August, 1964, an agreement was reached to move into a 50-story structure then being planned. Three months later the automaker bought one-half of the firm that will own the building, the Savoy-Fifth Avenue Corp.

AS MOVING day nears, the GM people expect few personnel problems. The biggest one, they feel, is likely to be the adaptation to new surroundings, especially to new transportation. Status hasn't intruded on plans. Although it is possible that some middle managers might not have the office they desire, everyone is bound to come out ahead, in the opinion of one member of the moving committee.

THE REASONS given: a brand new building, centrally air conditioned, soft wool carpets on 90 per cent of the floor space, plenty of windows, swift service elevators, a cafeteria. In the old building carpets were not as common. Quarters sometimes were cramped. The cafeteria was across the street.

The move will take place on six to eight weekends.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Twenty-one years ago Clem T. Harris buried a bottle of whisky at the foot of a plum tree in his backyard to celebrate the birth of his daughter. He dug up the bottle to celebrate the 21st birthday of his daughter — now Mrs. Colin Dunn.

The label on the bottle was well-preserved — so were the contents.

Working Woman Is Getting Older

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

You'd never guess it by looking at her—because she doesn't like to show her age—but the average U.S. working woman is getting older. She's 40 now. In most cases she's got a husband, too. Over 57 per cent of working women are married.

HOW MUCH water is in the Atlantic Ocean? Well, give or take a few drops, it is estimated to contain 82 quintillion, 171 quadrillion, 672 trillion, 175 billion, 125 million, 450 thousand, 100 gallons.

An old saying goes, "It ain't what you want that makes you fat—it's what you eat." What you eat also makes you smart.

Scientists now link impaired intelligence and slow learning ability with malnutrition in early childhood.

PROSPERITY NOTE: Some 79 per cent of American families now own automobiles, and 25.1 per cent have two or more.

Sometime this year the nation's trucks and passenger vehicles will reach the 1500 million mark, or one for every two persons. Only four automobiles were registered in the United States in 1895. And here's an irony, in 1904 only two cars were registered in Kansas City—and these two had a collision.

Quotable notables: "I want to be the white man's brother, not his brother-in-law. The sweltering summer of the Negro's legitimate discontent will not pass until there is an invigorating autumn of freedom and equality." —Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

THRIFT TIP: Tax experts advise you to double check bills from the Internal Revenue Service this year. They say the switch to computers has resulted in a rash of errors.

Where is the safest place to live? Alaska has the highest death rate from accidents of all the states. The injury rate from accidents is generally highest in the West, lowest in the Middle Atlantic and Northeastern states. For persons under 25 it is lowest in the South, but highest there for the elderly.

LADY, DOES your husband sometimes complain that you and the kids are crowding him out of his castle? By sending 15 cents to the American Humane Association in Denver, Colo., he can get a pamphlet entitled, "How to Build a Doghouse."

Fatal padding: That belt of fat around your tummy can turn into a death belt. A recent study by the Institute of Life Insurance showed: among a group who were 25 pounds overweight when they took out policies in the 1930s, deaths were 35 per cent above average 30 years later.

Mother opossums have a tough time keeping track of their young. They are so small at birth that more than a dozen will fit into a teaspoon.

It was Don Marquis who observed, "If you make people think they are thinking, they'll love you; but if you really make them think they'll hate you."

Deep Change In D.C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Down the mail from the bright bubble of the Capitol dome to the brooding figure in the Lincoln Memorial, Washington looks the same. But a deep change has taken place.

A city that had been slowly hardening into two separate cities, one white and one black, has been made searingly aware it is one. How it reacts to this awareness may hold an answer for other cities afflicted with racial troubles.

ONE ANSWER seems apparent: A cool and carefully planned response to looting and burning may be able to achieve results without the bloodshed and violence that marked last summer's riots in Newark and Detroit.

In the early stages of the disorders in the capital, the outnumbered police were withdrawn from trouble areas so they would not have to resort to gunfire to protect themselves.

Later, backed by federal troops, they moved forcibly but with restraint against the looters and rounded up curfew violators by the droves.

THE RESULT was a minimum of deaths and injuries and a massive 4,800 arrests. The performance of the District of Columbia police and the troops has drawn praise from Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and is likely to set a pattern for the police in other cities.

There was encouragement also in the immediate response of the white community to the despair the black community inflicted on itself in its blind rage and frustration.

APPEALS for food for the persons living in the riot area, where food stores were either burned, looted or locked up, brought a tremendous outpouring from the white areas.

"This is the real beginning of the real meaning of the life of Martin Luther King," said a white civic leader active in the food drive, who was overwhelmed by the response.

For the long haul, however, the Negroes in Washington need what they need in every urban area—more and better jobs, better schools and better housing. And it takes more than a willing spirit to supply them.

Congress has passed bills to meet all these needs and President Johnson has asked for more, but a lack of money has crippled many of the programs. (By John Beckler, for James Marlow, who is ill.)

Around The Rim

Do You Remember These Things?

You're not getting any younger if you can remember:

When a mixture of hot grease and turpentine was used to treat chest colds. No one ever went to see the doctor for such ailments.

The can of kerosene kept beside the box for kindling wood, used to light the first fire in the morning. Likely as not, the top of the can had been lost and been replaced by an Irish potato.

THOSE OLD news reels which purported to show the individuals or families who held winning tickets on the Irish sweepstakes. Invariably, the alleged winners were ham actors or were coached exhaustively by the news reel people to put on an act.

Mothers who boiled the fat out of hens, which was used to treat ear aches. The treatment often worked, they now say, not because the hen's grease had magical healing powers but because heat helps soothe most aches.

A MIXTURE of kerosene and sugar used to doctor sore throats and coughs. No more than two drops in teaspoon were ever taken orally.

Anything more was considered toxic. Automobiles which were judged by the size of their radiator caps. Also, those vehicles boasting gasoline tanks underneath the seats. Everyone in the front seat had to dismount when a car pulled into the refueling station for a new supply of gas.

THOSE BREEZEWAYS built into many farmhouses. That was one way to beat the summer heat. Another way was to build the walls of a house so thick the sun's rays couldn't penetrate.

The comedy team of The Two Black Crows. They were genuinely funny but in this enlightened age they would be shouted off the stage.

THOSE LONG-DEAD days when, in order to get yourself weighed, you went to the corner drugstore. While there, you picked up your favorite newspaper and fed the weighing machine with the change you received after purchasing your newspaper. On the cardboard stub the machine fed to you, you got your fortune read at the same time.

Country Left In The Lurch

WASHINGTON—Dead or dying, the Democratic party has laid the palmed hand of death upon the country too.

President Johnson, although he had but a Hobson's choice of withdrawal or defeat, has left us in the lurch. It would be ungracious and unporting to flog a man who's down, but it's necessary to be frank about the nation's plight.

When LBJ designated himself a lame duck eight months before the national election, he effectively de-commissioned our Commander in Chief. Shortly before that, he had run the gong on our field commander, Gen. Westmoreland, who indicated he couldn't win without some 200,000 additional troops and the freedom to deploy them as the case demanded.

ON THE FIRST day of the momentous month of March which saw the U.S.A. forfeit continuity in the White House and on the battlefield, the office of Defense Secretary changed hands, perhaps later than should have been, but disconcertingly in midst of war. Then, in announcing his own political non-combatancy, the President suspended bombing of the enemy homeland. He sued for peace by naming two emissaries to meet with Ho Chi Minh, broadly hinting that Vietnam might someday be reunified with American aid, thereby proposing to grant the enemy's war aim and to regard it.

THIS NATION has not been defeated in the field, but its majority party has suffered a debacle that is grievously injurious to the country. I incline to go easier on Lyndon Johnson than on the fellow-Democrats who brought him to his knees, and the nation with him. Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of Foreign Relations with all the traditional power of that post, would not have it any other way than that the American policy against communism should fail. Fulbright was viciously abused by Sens. Frank Morse and Ernest Gruening, Stephen Young and Joseph Clark. So many established Democrats lost heart and forsook the President that the wonder is that he persevered as long as he did.

SOMETHING CAN BE said for courage of conviction. Only Sen. Eugene McCarthy laid his career on the line when the political risk was thought to be large. The least admirable of the Senate Democrats, Bob Kennedy, came to claim a jackal's share after the prey was wounded in New Hampshire.

KENNEDY, whom I have cared for as a man and friend and chose to remember for his better parts, is now to all appearances the inheritor of this sick-sick party. I would have thought it had a better chance to be cured if Lyndon Johnson could have lasted till November. From what is known he always had victory in mind in Vietnam. All the internal evidence is that Mr. Johnson had been inserting steel in the backbone of Attorney General Ramsey Clark and intended him to put down civil disorder as Gov. Buford Ellington, the President's pal did in Memphis. Late and uneven as Mr. Johnson's performance as a national financier has been, he at least has moved toward setting fiscal affairs in order.

CALL HIM disoriented and dis-appointing as a leader, still Lyndon Johnson is a gutsy patriot. The Democrats have cut him down without raising up another of that kidney.

Talks Provide New Hope

WASHINGTON—All of a sudden the United States and North Vietnam, encouraged by the principal governments of the world, are going to sit down together and try to end the war.

Whether it was the persuasive arguments of Great Britain and the surprising support given by France or the realization by the Soviet Union that the time has come to halt a war which is proving so expensive to everybody, at last the North Vietnamese have agreed to come to the peace table.

THIS DOES NOT necessarily mean an immediate peace. In the Korean war, armistice negotiations dragged on for two years before the firing ceased. It was a tragic period during which more than 20,000 Americans died in combat. The first objective today, of course, is to stop the fighting and to argue later about the terms of a settlement.

The sequence of events which cause the Hanoi government to announce that it is ready to talk peace will probably not be known for a long time. But unquestionably diplomatic pressures behind the scenes were extensive. It is to be noted that President de Gaulle of France, just a few hours before the Hanoi government broadcast its willingness to talk, proclaimed his support of President Johnson's initiative as a "first step toward peace and consequently an act of reason and political courage."

GREAT BRITAIN has been having private conferences with Moscow about a formula for peace in Vietnam, and undoubtedly has been talking to Peking along the same lines.

The turning point came when President Johnson announced that he would not run for another term because he wanted to take the Vietnam war issue completely out of partisan politics. His carefully prepared address, intimating also a willingness to de-escalate the war, gave proof to the North Vietnamese that this was an earnest peace effort which could not be ignored.

THE HANOI government, of course, reiterates its previous terms and insists that the United States must "end unconditionally its bombing" but, nevertheless declares "its readiness to send its representatives to make contact with U.S. representatives" to discuss steps to end the war.

This does not mean that the Hanoi government will make any concessions in the early stages. It is conceivable that the United States, on its own accord, may gradually curtail much of the bombing. There doubtless will be considerable maneuvering before a complete cease-fire will be reached, and it may take a long while before such a result will be attained.

UNQUESTIONABLY the war has been hurting the North Vietnamese, and there is a desire to find a way out now. The United States, on the other hand, has been under pressure internally to de-escalate the war. But the American position, which has been stated so often, still is that the peace must be honorable and cannot be any form of "surrender."

It may turn out that some of the "conditions" will be unacceptable to both sides. If there is a cessation of hostilities, however, the discussions could go on indefinitely. It could be that the North Vietnamese believe the United States now will soften its terms and that support will be given to a coalition with the Communist elements in South Vietnam.

PRESIDENT Johnson will not compromise on these issues, but, as has always happened in solving war problems, the biggest progress is made when both sides become convinced that the issues appear insoluble. Then, and then only, do the adversaries begin to listen to the plea of neutral and disinterested governments for the adoption of some workable formula whereby the rival nations can live together in peace.

North Vietnam wants to control South Vietnam, and South Vietnam wants to remain independent. Maybe the final result will be a federation of states, set up as a stabilizing apparatus in all of Southeast Asia in order that Laos and Cambodia and Thailand, as well as North and South Vietnam, will be protected.

It's going to be a long and hard negotiation, but at least the warring sides are ready to talk. This is the new hope.

At Least 38 Persons Die; Dozen Shootings Posted

By The Associated Press
Mild spring weather the first weekend of April had Texas residents stirring about, and at least 38 met violent deaths.

The toll, recorded between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday, included 20 traffic fatalities and a dozen shootings.

Five persons died in the worst auto accident, a collision of two cars late Friday night near Buffalo in East Central Texas. They were Billy Ray Brown, 28, and Jimmy D. AHunt, 24, of Waco and Larry C. AHunt, 20, of Houston, in one vehicle, and the Rev. A. T. Lane and John W. Howe, 27, both of Denison.

REPRIEVE
The Rev. Mr. Lane and Howe were taking a state prison inmate who had been granted a reprieve to the bedside of his gravely ill father at Denison. The prisoner, Ray Junior Paul, 23, was reported in critical condition at a Dallas hospital after the crash.

Another crash took four lives early Sunday as two cars collided head-on 11 miles west of George West on US 39. They were George H. Welland, 55, and his wife Palma, 51, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Cesar Hall, 21, and Bario Hinojosa, 18, both of Laredo. A fifth person, Lusano Flores, was taken to a Three Rivers hospital in fair condition.

NUDE BODY
Police still sought to identify a man, about 20 to 25, whose nude body apparently was dumped into a West San Antonio street from a speeding car late Sunday night. Hospital official said he was shot 10 to 12 times in the head and body.

Willie Charles Thomas, 21, was shot and killed as he left a Houston tavern Sunday evening. Police quoted a woman, also 21, as saying she shot Thomas. She was held without immediate charge.

Three shots into the chest killed Jeanie Mae Andrews, 37, at a Houston lounge Sunday. Officers held a man, 49, for questioning.

Willie Mae Brown, 56, perished Sunday as fire destroyed her two-room home in Austin. A University of Houston student, Wendy MacEachern, 19, died Sunday of injuries suffered as she fell off her horse the day before.

Larch Elder Anderson, 42, of Houston was shot to death early Sunday. Police said Anderson was shot near a Houston tavern.

FATAL FIRE
John T. Owens, 52, of Crockett was killed and his wife injured early Sunday when their car overturned. The accident occurred on Texas 21 about five miles west of Crockett.

Thomas C. Wilson, 65, died in a fire Sunday that destroyed his home in the University Park section of Dallas. Firemen found Wilson in the doorway of an upstairs bedroom. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

SHOT TO DEATH
Niangelo Jones, 3, tiny daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stacey

Jones of Dumas, was shot to death Sunday as her mother was preparing to go to church. The little girl was shot as she and a 5-year-old brother played with a loaded pistol.

Charley Wright, 59, of Dallas' Oak Cliff section was shot to death Sunday at his home. Police, who held a woman in the shooting, said it followed an argument.

ing up anew on a clear and pleasant Palm Sunday.

Stores hit by looting ranged from a large chain department store to the smallest corner grocery. The festive mood of the looters Saturday changed Sunday as troops began to arrest those violating a 4 p.m. curfew. Courts were clogged with curfew violators.

Gen. George M. Gelston, adjutant general of Maryland, said he could not believe that the violence in Baltimore was spontaneous. He did not elaborate.

Mayor Thomas J. D'Alessandro III said most rioters and looters seemed to be in their teens. He estimated those involved in disorders at no more than 3,000, which he said compares well to the city's near one-million population.

Young GOP Club Drive Launched

A special membership drive has been launched by the Howard County Young Republicans to stimulate interest among college and high school students in the election this year.

Dennis Brewer, president of the organization, said that David Simpson will coordinate the drive. A publicity effort and a "bring a friend" campaign will get under way at a meeting this week.

Any young resident of Howard County is eligible to join the club. Anyone interested in further information should contact either Simpson or Brewer.

Dear Abby

Mom Gets The Blame

DEAR ABBY: Our 16-year-old son (I'll call him George) told us he was going to a hockey game with a boy his age, so his father gave him the car and permission to stay out an hour later than the usual midnight.

Instead, George went with a 24-year-old divorced man, and didn't get home until four o'clock the next morning. George had been told that we didn't want him running around with this man.

For punishment, we grounded George for a week. Last night he was bored, so he asked if he could go to town for a couple of hours. I said, "No, you're grounded." Then he turned to his father and asked him, and his father said, "YOUR MOTHER said you couldn't go."

George pouted a while and asked his father again. His father said, "YOUR MOTHER has grounded you!"

Later I told my husband that I resented being made the "bad guy" — that he and I had made the decision together. A quarrel followed. My husband said it wouldn't hurt to let George go to town for a few hours. I said once we grounded the boy, he should stay grounded.

I'd appreciate your opinion. "THE BAD GUY"

DEAR BAD GUY: You had better get even tougher because if your letter is any indication of what it's like at your house, you are going to have to administer any discipline your son gets — and he sounds as though he needs plenty.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is as follows: I married a man of 73. I am 73, also. We had both lost our mates.

Well, my husband moved into my dwelling, and he brought along a picture of his first wife, which he keeps on our dressing table.

He "talks" to her, waves and smiles to her, which hurts the very much because I try my best to be a good wife.

I cook for him, and I keep house for him and do his laundry, but that picture gets more conversation than I get.

Today I told him I thought he was an "idiot," and he got mad at me and walked out. Do I have to let him back in?

NO PICTURE

DEAR NO PICTURE: When two 73-year-olds marry, it is usually for mutual companionship. If you're not getting the kind of companionship you had in mind, talk to your lawyer about ending the arrangement.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "OLD SARGE" he is not alone. I have been married for 22 years and I have the same problem. I have bought my wife dozens of beautiful sheer nightgowns, but she wears flannel ones to bed. I think they make those sheer gowns for men to buy, not for women to wear.

I love my wife, and I would give anything if she would put on one of those beautiful nightgowns and look glamorous just for me. But she never has. I have come to the conclusion that some women just don't want the bother and mess of being loved. If you use this, please don't use my name. She would kill me.

HARRIS LUMBER COMPANY

Headquarters For Fix-Up Plans

Make Harris Lumber Co., 1609 E. 4th, your headquarters for supplies you need for the Clean-Up, Paint-Up and Fix-Up campaign.

Soon Big Spring will be starting its annual Clean-Up, Paint-Up and Fix-Up program and now is the time to start making your plans for the month long program. Take a look at your home — how does it look to your neighbors?

If your floors need to be fixed up, Harris Lumber has the answer for that problem with Flecto Seamless flooring. It is a permanent floor that you can complete yourself in a matter of hours.

There are 10 exciting color combinations for you to select from and the colors were carefully selected to compliment to day's modern color trends. The colors are flecked with white to accent the brilliancy of the color-ones and to highlight your floors. Colors for your floors in Flecto Seamless flooring are parchment, azure, alabaster, sunflower, sand base, tropicana, fern, mink, mod and avocado.

Flecto Seamless plastic flooring will add beauty to any room in your home and will add a touch of elegance to your patio flooring. The Flecto floors are easy to keep and do not change color-ones.

Don't be afraid to use the flooring where the traffic is heavy and where children's feet beat a path, for Flecto flooring won't chip, crack, scuff, warp, stain or fade.

Fixing up your floor with Flecto flooring is a do-it-yourself project. It is actually a laminated floor with colorful flakes sealed between layers of plastic — plastic that paints on right over your old floor.

It is easy to apply over linoleum, resilient tile, wood or concrete. Because Flecto flooring is painted on, you don't have to cut around appliances, plumbing fixtures — just paint right around them and up to baseboards.

FLECTO SEAMLESS FLOORING
Clean-Up your floors with Flecto from Harris Lumber Company

Flecto flooring needs no wax, interior or exterior flooring requires no special skills or tools are required for Flecto flooring and as children. This mistake-proof you have finished your floor, the color flakes are applied to a plastic base with an ordinary broom. Flecto color flakes can be spread quickly and easily and as soon as they have set, you cover them with a coat of plastic to seal in your beautiful floor. There are no seams to catch dirt and mar the beauty of your Flecto floor.

Let's take a look at your yard. Does it need to be cleaned up? At Harris Lumber Company, they have a good stock of yard and garden tools to do the job. Make your neighbors glad you live with them — have a yard that says we like living here. Tools for cleaning up the yard and for digging in the dirt to make flower beds are at Harris Lumber — stop by 1609 E. 4th and see for yourself.

With pretty Flecto floors you will probably need to Paint-Up your walls and the paint department at Harris Lumber can mix the paint for any shade you might like. They have a large selection of paint samples from which you may make your selection.

Keeping the outside of your house painted is being smart. A good coat of paint keeps your house from deteriorating besides keeping the realtor's market value of your neighborhood high. Select a good outside paint that will withstand the wind, sand and sunshine of our area.

What else at your home needs to be Cleaned-Up, Painted - Up and Fixed-Up? Take your project to Harris Lumber Company, 1609 E. 4th, and they will help you select the tools and material necessary for the job. Make your neighbors glad you live with them.

Creighton Invites You To Inquire About Seiberling Tires

Creighton Tire Company, 601 Gregg, invites you to drive in, have your tires checked and let them tell you about the Seiberling tires that they have in stock.

One of their most popular tires is the Seiberling 200 Sealed-Aire. Distinctively styled and performance rated at the top, this tire provides all the desirable qualities of comfort, safety, security, control and service you would expect in the finest tire made by Seiberling.

In addition to its superiority in comfort and control, the 200 Sealed-Aire provides the security of positive puncture protection. The puncture-sealing works in the following manner: When an object punctures the tire, the sealing gum clings to the object, keeping air in. When the object is removed, gum follows it through the puncture, sealing the break. In ordinary puncture-sealing tires, normal internal heat will semi-liquefy the sealant, allowing it to shift position. You lose both puncture protection and tire balance. Sealed-Aire bulkheads built permanently into the crown of the tire, keep the sealant in position, give you unflinching puncture protection and retention of balance.

The Sealed-Aire has new continental styling. They are distinctively styled from bead to crown, the Sealed-Aire is highlighted by a smart pattern of black and white radial ribs plus a slim ribbon white — identically proportioned to complement modern automotive styling. Everyone will know at a glance that you've chosen the finest tire of all.

Another exclusive feature of Sealed-Aire is thermo-vents — air conditioning vents, built into the shoulder area, permitting excess internal heat to escape, allowing the tire to run cooler. This protects against the danger of blow-outs and other heat caused failures. A tire runs cooler, safer and lasts longer.

This safety tire has stabilizing wrap-around tread — functional wrap-around tread ribs descend well into the shoulder area providing traction where you've never had it before. Eliminated tread roll-over in cornering, smooths out changing road patterns, rides up and over ruts and ridges with complete steering control. Provides new handling ease, unprecedented control and directional stability. The latest advance in tire rubber compounding slows heat buildup, improves traction in all weather and extends tire life. You gain outstanding roadability, softer, quieter ride and bonus miles.

The Sealed-Aire has wide, deep hi-tractive tread. Grooves, road contact area improves traction and stability, distributes load over larger surface for increased tread life. The highly tractive pattern provides maximum grip under braking and acceleration.

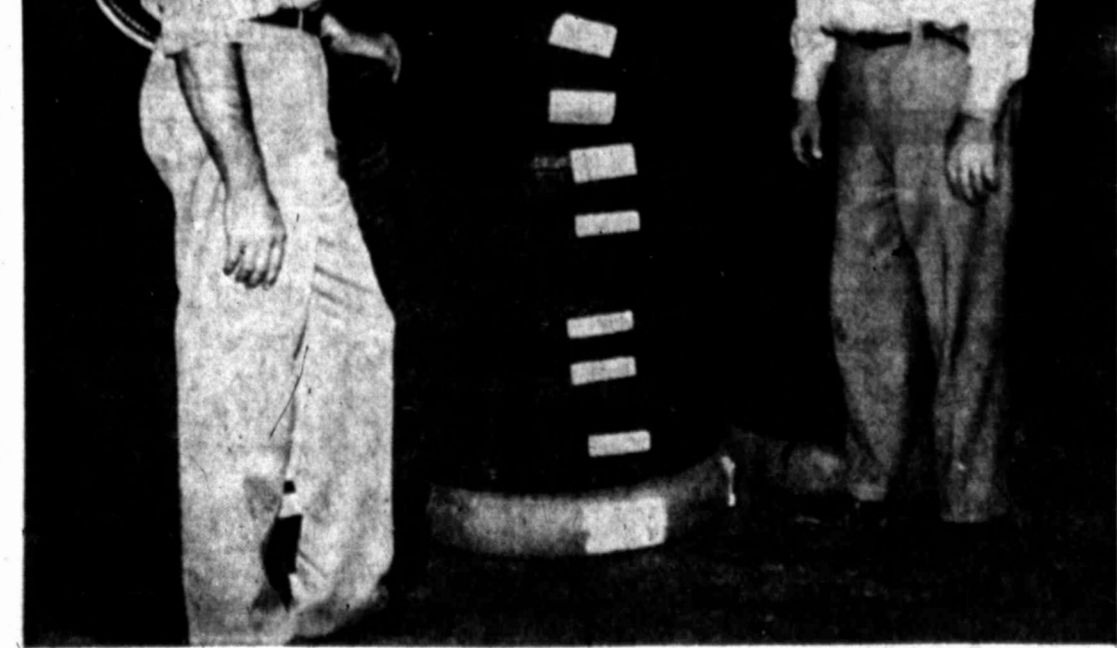

A tire that has not been stocked at Creighton Tire Company long and is proving popular is the Super Wide Sports, the tire of 1970.

The Super Wide Sports tire has new wide-tread for high performance, long - mileage. With sporty Red-Line on one side and conventional white trim on the other, Super Wide Sports offer tremendous advantages. They've been designed to fit a wide variety of automobiles.

Another popular tire at Creighton Tire Company is the Supreme 150 — the maximum performance tire. It has the wide, deep, hi-tractive tread, long mileage rubber and exclusive thermo-vents to let internal heat escape. It is constructed of Nyltex cord. The Supreme 150 is an outstanding, good-looking tire. It has made a lot of tire "fuss-budgets" happy.

Many other tires for automobile and trucks are stocked by Creighton Tire Co. Farmers and ranchers are finding that the place to find any size tractor tire is at Creighton, 601 Gregg.

Take your tire problems — whether car, tractor or truck — to Creighton Tire Company where Charlie Creighton, Dalton Carr or one of their trained personnel will have the answer for you.

Clark Killed During Race

HOCKENHEIM, Germany (AP) — The auto racing world paid tribute today to Jim Clark, who was killed in a crash Sunday.

The 32-year-old Scot, winner of the Indianapolis 500 in 1965 and twice world driving champion, met death in the rain at the Hockenheim Motodrom when his Lotus Ford Cosworth skidded on wet asphalt.

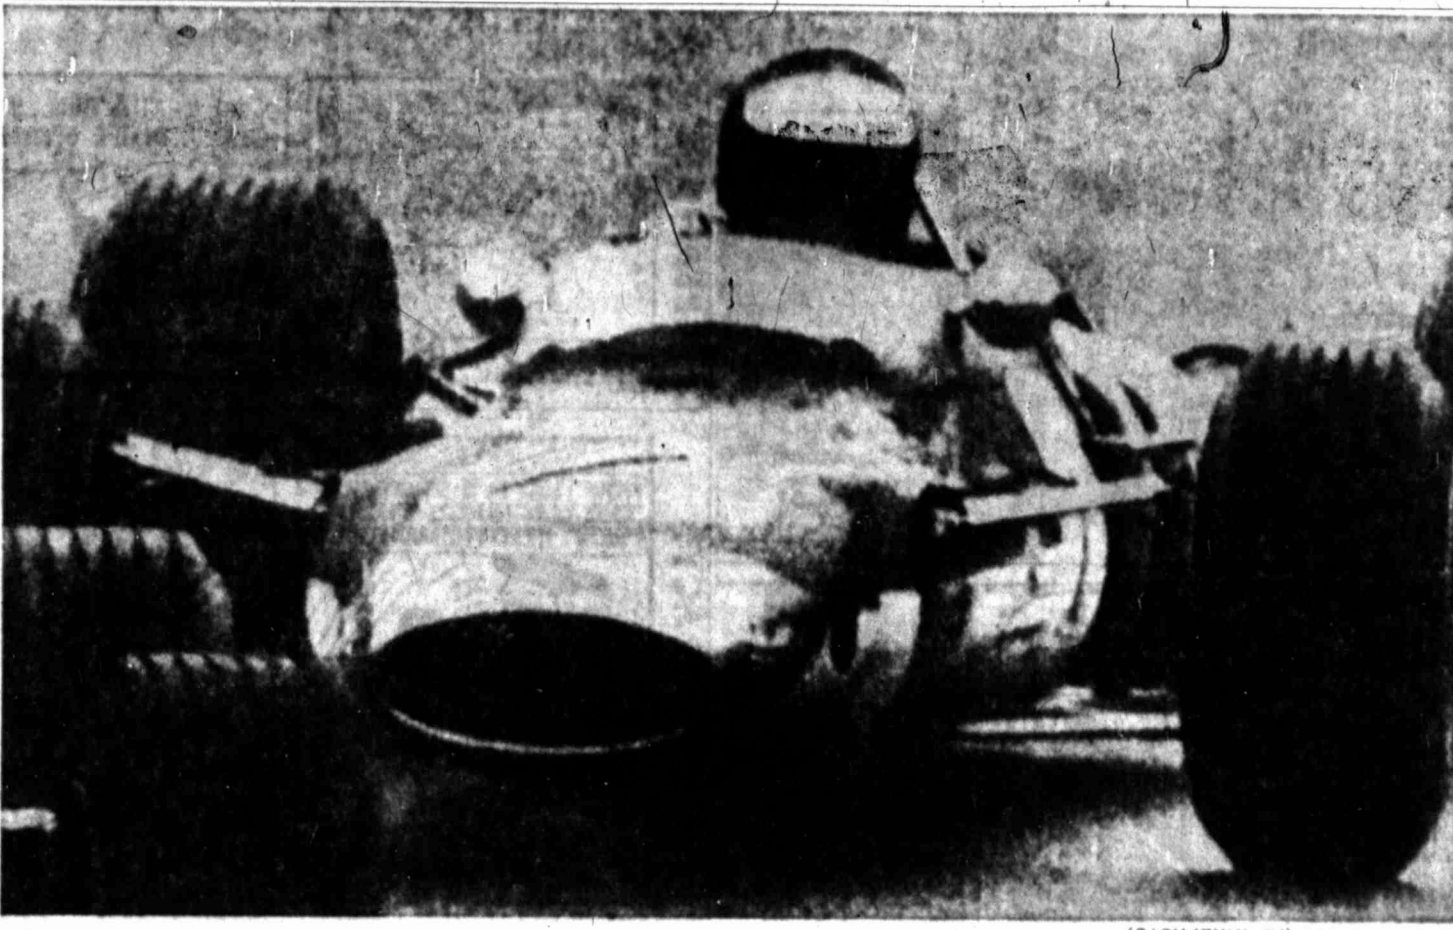

His car, speeding along at 174 miles per hour, tore through a fence and hit a tree after turning over several times. Doctors at the nearby Heidelberg Hospital, where he was pronounced dead, said he had been killed instantly from a broken neck and a compound fracture of the skull.

A bachelor, Clark won a record 25 Grand Prix races and was the world champion in 1963 and 1965. Three of his Grand Prix victories came in the U.S. Grand Prix at Watkins Glen, N.Y., the last one in 1967. He set a record by winning seven Grand Prix races in a row in 1963.

"Jim Clark may well have been the greatest driver of all time," said Wilfred Andrews, chairman of the Royal Automobile Club in London.

"Clark was unquestionably the greatest racing driver in the world," said Andy Granatelli in Indianapolis. Granatelli is president of the company which sponsored Clark's Lotus cars in 1966 and 1967 and for whom Clark was to have driven in the Indy 500 this year.

Clark's body will be flown to Edinburg, Scotland, where the funeral will be held Wednesday.

Racing To Eternity

Jimmy Clark, former world champion race car driver, is shown Sunday just a couple of minutes before crash that took his life during race at Hockenheim, Germany. Clark was 32 years of age. Police officials said his Lotus Ford Cosworth racer left the track and somersaulted. The track was wet, officials said, adding the car hit a stone and a tree after somersaulting several times. Clark's death was announced by physician at Heidelberg University Clinic where Clark was taken after the accident.

Turbo-Type Car Is Victor

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., sped through a flaming pileup to capture the Jimmy Bryan 150-mile U.S. Auto Club race at Phoenix International Raceway.

Unser, driving a turbo-charged, rear-engine Offenhauser, averaged just over 100 miles per hour to win the Sunday race, after setting a one-lap qualifying record of 124.059 m.p.h. It was Unser's second victory in a row.

Net Association Ready To Take Tournament Bids

DALLAS (AP) — The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association is ready to receive bids for four open tournaments, including the National Open.

The association, meeting in Dallas over the weekend, agreed to go along with recommendations made earlier this month by the International Lawn Tennis Federation that major tennis nations hold only four open events this year. Professionals will compete against amateurs.

Robert Kelleher of Los Angeles, president of the association, and eight other members of a committee will decide where the four meets are to be held.

Kelleher said as many as a dozen cities have indicated interest in staging either the national open or one of the other tournaments.

Win 500-Mile Race

BRANDS HATCH, England (AP) — Jackie Ickx of Belgium and Britain's Brian Redman, averaging 95.96 miles an hour, drove a Ford GT40 to victory Sunday in the BOAC 500-mile international sports car race.

Dallas Schoolboy Uses College Shot To Warm Up

DALLAS (AP) — Sammy Walker, 17-year-old Dallas schoolboy athlete, uses the college shot to warm up for the 12-pound shot and he's doing very well with both.

Walker recently pitched the high school shot 71 feet to better the national scholastic record by 1 1/2 feet.

Saturday he threw the ball 69-1/2 at the Texas Relays and apologized for his "poor showing." He explained that he just hadn't gotten enough sleep the night before and didn't feel well.

"I think in the next four years I can get 70 feet with the 16-pound shot," he said. "My biggest handicap is that I am only 6 feet 1 inch tall."

He added, however, that he had found a college shot putter no taller than he is and that followed—George Woods, the Southern Illinois weightman—got 66 feet 11 inches. Woods, though, weighs about 290.

Walker weighs 225 when he gets through throwing the shot each time. He starts out at 235.

Three times he has thrown the 12-pound shot more than 70 feet and twice he has reached 71 feet or better.

Walker will be graduated this spring and already has signed to go to Southern Methodist University under a football scholarship. He still is being sought over the nation, and he'll look into each offer.

He'll visit San Jose State, Southern California, UCLA and California, although he admits there's little chance that he will go elsewhere.

Olympic Basketball Coach Expects Tough Competition

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — U.S. Olympic basketball Coach Henry Iba of Oklahoma State feels foreign competition will be plenty rough and mighty tall.

A 12-man U.S. team was named Sunday, banking more on quickness than on size.

The Olympic trials ended Saturday night with the NAIA All-Stars whipping a cold-shooting AAU team 64-50 in the title game. More than 80 players were considered in the three-day tournament in Albuquerque.

A 45-man committee picked this team:

NAIA—Glynn Saulters, 6-foot-2, 175 pounds, Northeast Louisiana; Don Dee, 6-7, 205, St. Mary of the Plains, Kan.

AAU—Calvin Fowler, 6-1, 170, Akron, Ohio, Goodyear; James King, 6-7, Goodyears.

Junior College All-Stars—Spencer Haywood, 6-8, 230, Trinidad, Colo., Junior College.

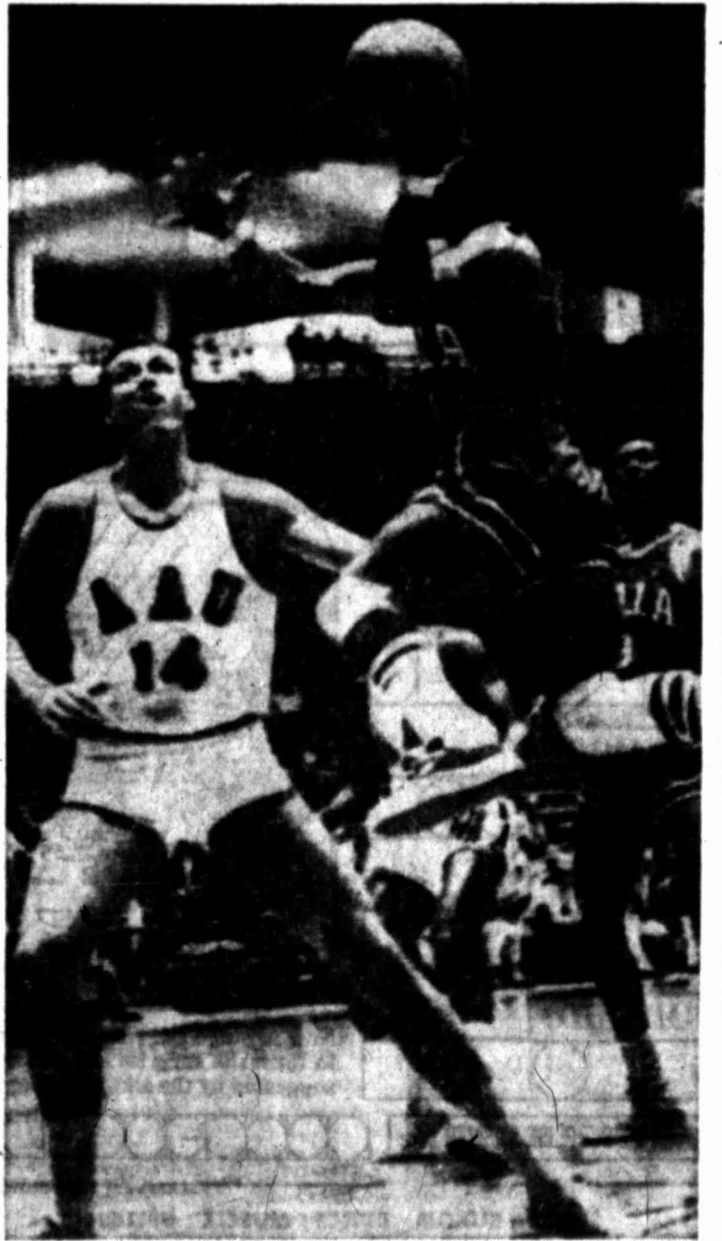

Armed Forces—Mike Barrett, 6-2, 155, U.S. Navy and former West Virginia Tech collegian; John R. Clawson, 6-4, 200, U.S. Army and Michigan; Mike Silliman, 6-6, 225, U.S. Army and U.S. Military Academy.

NCAA—Ken Spain, 6-9, 22, Houston; Jo Jo White, 6-3, 194, Kansas; Bill Hosket, 6-7, 228, Ohio State, Charlie Scott, 6-4, 180, North Carolina.

Alternates—Don Issel, Kentucky, Tom Black, Goodyears, George Carter, U.S. Army, Charles Paulk, Northeastern Oklahoma, Rick Mount, Purdue, and Joe Hamilton, Southwest Christian, Tex.

The said the 12 first-team selections will gather at Alamosa, Colo., in early September and four weeks of high-altitude training before exhibition games against professional teams in New York's Madison Square Garden, Cincinnati and Albuquerque.

Aggies Try To Catch Texas

The Philadelphia Phillies were caught in a rundown between Walter O'Malley and Warren Giles today as the Los Angeles Dodgers considered opening home games in deference to the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, slain civil rights leader.

Los Angeles owner O'Malley was to decide today whether or not to go ahead with Tuesday night's scheduled home opener against Philadelphia—a game the Phillies have refused to play.

The Dodgers were left holding the ball Sunday when the St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago White Sox pushed back Tuesday opens one day, joining seven other major league clubs which had postponed opening home games in deference to the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, slain civil rights leader.

National League President Giles left it up to the Dodgers, as the home club, to decide whether to go through with their game.

John Quinn, the Phillies' general manager, said earlier his club would not take the field at Los Angeles Tuesday night, at the risk of a possible forfeit and fine—because of the King funeral that afternoon.

The other opening games in each league, including the presidential fixture at Washington, all were set for Wednesday.

President Johnson was expected to miss the Senators' debut against the Minnesota Twins—one of five afternoon openers in the American League. The White Sox entertain Cleveland, Boston's defending champions are at Detroit, the new Oakland Athletics at Baltimore and California at New York in other AL inaugurals.

The Chicago Cubs visit Cincinnati and the New York Mets are at San Francisco in National League afternoon games. Pittsburgh is at Houston and Atlanta at St. Louis under the lights.

While O'Malley and Bavasi pondered the possibility of opening the season without an oppo-

IN TEXAS RELAYS

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Relays, in which Texas led the university division and Southern topped the college class, didn't produce as many outstanding individuals as usual. But still there were some mighty bright Olympic prospects.

A couple of them already had appeared in the Olympic Games—Randy Matson, the Texas A&M giant who holds the world's record in the shot put at 71 feet 5 1/2 inches and was second in the 1964 games at Tokyo, and Billy Mills, former Kansas star who won the 10,000 meters.

GREAT SHAPE

Matson, who has been resting up from the winter track wars, admitted he wasn't ready to try for a record and that 66 feet would suit him in the Texas Relays. He did better than that, heaving the 16-pound ball 66 feet 5 1/2 inches in an exhibition.

Matson is bigger than ever, up to 265 pounds, and says he's in top shape and all he needs to do is practice and have some competition.

Mills won a six-mile race in 28:53.3. That delighted him that he could make such good time this early. He seemed ready to go to the Olympics at Mexico City in October.

Few Bright Stars Shine

Jim Hines, the remarkable sprinter from Texas Southern, kicked up his heels in some open events. He ran the 100 in 9.5 although there were six false starts, four by Hines.

"LOSE EDGE"

He had said before the race that he was going after 9.0, which would lower the world's record by a tenth of a second (he is co-holder of the record).

"There was too much moving around down there," he declared.

"After that many false starts you lose the edge; your incentive goes out the window."

There were no false starts in a special 220, however, and he romped in with 20.8 although bucking a stiff wind part of the way.

Preston Davis, the former Texas star now in the Army, ripped out a mile in 4:01.6—the second fastest time for the event ever to be run in the Texas Relays. Davis had won it in under four minutes previously.

PRODIGIOUS LEGS

Bob Beaman of Texas-El Paso won the broad jump with 26 feet 1 inch although leaping into the wind.

Another Olympic prospect also bobbed up from Texas-El Paso, Keary Pearce, who ran the three-mile in 13:23.1.

Texas won the mile relay in a record 3:07.0, with Dave Morton running a 45 flat quarter on the anchor leg, and was named the outstanding university team. Southern won three relays to take college division team honors.

Yaz Refuses To Pick Sox

BOSTON (AP) — A year ago Carl Yastrzemski drew polite smiles of friendly laughter when he predicted the Boston Red Sox would win the American League baseball pennant as 100-1 longshots.

Now the Triple Crown winner smiles politely in refusing to make any predictions on the 1968 flag chase.

"You just can't make any predictions on how we'll do at this time," Yaz said while waiting for his turn in the batting cage Sunday during a workout at Fenway Park.

"Last year I knew for sure the talent was there," he said. "We had (Tony) Conigliaro and Jim Lonborg healthy and ready at the start. Now things look bad for Tony, and Lonborg may miss the first month."

"We have too many ifs to make a sound prediction—but I'll guarantee that we'll be shooting for it all again."

Yastrzemski, who hit 326 with 44 homers and 121 runs batted in en route to the AL's Most Valuable Player award last season, pronounced himself fit for the start of the 1968 campaign.

Conigliaro suffered a cracked left cheekbone and a serious eye injury when struck by a fast ball thrown by California's Jack Hamilton last Aug. 18.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Dave Davis of Phoenix, Ariz., scored a 213-205 victory over Don Johnson in the finals of the $100,000 Firestone Professional Bowlers Association Tournament of Champions.

Greensboro Tough Test

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A rarity on the professional golf tour, a 36-hole day, brings the twice-daily $137,500 Greater Greensboro Open Tournament to a belated conclusion today.

Billy Casper, never out of the lead since play began last Thursday, held a two-stroke margin over Bobby Nichols with a 36-hole score of 132, one shot over the record for the tournament, and 10 under par.

Gene Littler and Don January were tied for third place at 135. Today's endurance contest was set up when Sunday's scheduled two rounds were postponed because of the national day of mourning for the slain Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King.

Play previously was set back a day by the washout of Friday's second round. The double postponement delays the 250-mile trek to Augusta, Ga. and the Masters championship opening Thursday.

Augusta Links Are Now Open

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The Augusta National golf course opens today for Masters Tournament Week but few golfers are expected to be on hand.

The traditional opening of the course for the Masters was delayed one day because of the nationwide memorial services for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Many golfers who will play in the Masters, which begins Thursday, are competing in the Greater Greensboro Open Tournament in Greensboro, N.C. The final 36 holes of the tournament were postponed until today by a rainout and services for Dr. King.

Cleaver Foot and Verbatim failed to live up to expectations in the Governor's Gold Cup at Bowie. Verbatim still is in Derby contention, but Cleaver Foot is out of the Derby, trainer Bernie Bond said Sunday.

The Gold Cup running also produced Dancer's Image as a new threat. Owner Peter Fuller said the colt would be shipped to Kentucky sometime this week.

Captain's Gig made his 1968 debut impressively at Keeneland, but nipped Lithiot by a mere neck. Add another possible Derby starter.

Nodouble won the Arkansas Derby at Oaklawn, but isn't eligible for the Kentucky Derby. Alumination Farm's Te Vega was just a length behind, however, perhaps prompting thoughts of Louisville.

Proper Proof took a half-length victory in the Gold Rush Stakes at Golden Gate Fields, boosting his Derby stock at least a notch.

Derby List Opens Up

By BOB COOPER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The calendar says this is the time of year when the list of Kentucky Derby probable starters should be getting shorter—thinning to about a dozen, more or less.

Unfortunately, horses can't read calendars.

With the May 4 classic at Churchill Downs less than four weeks away, there still are nearly three dozen 3-year-olds knocking at the starting gate.

Races at four tracks, spanning the nation, not only failed to thin the ranks Saturday, they may have added some names to the already puffy list.

218-Pound Texan Wins AAU Heavyweight Title

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — George Foreman, a 218-pound Texan, came storming out of a record field of 250 to win the heavyweight division title Saturday night in the National AAU Boxing Tournament.

Foreman, with only two months ring experience, scored three consecutive technical knockouts en route to the title and one of 11 berths up for grabs for the Olympic trials.

In a major upset in Saturday night's finals, Kenny Bazer of New Iberia, La., relied on a punishing right hand to defeat Roland Miller, defending champion in the 112-pound division.

Bazer, a high school senior, was making his second appearance in the Nationals when he turned back Miller, of Prairie View, Mont.

In the heavyweight division, the 6-foot-3 Foreman, of Houston, scored a unanimous decision over Henry Crump of Philadelphia to clinch the title.

SAYS SCENIC STRIP TAUGHT HER PATIENCE AND FAITH

Mrs. Johnson Dedicates Padre Island Seashore

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson today dedicated a strip of scenic Padre Island as a national seashore area with a personal recollection about a Padre trip that taught her the "patience, faith and openness" of the sea.

The First Lady spoke in remarks prepared for delivery at the official proclamation of some 80 miles of Padre as a national seashore area.

The dedication was at 11 a. m. at Bob Hall Pier, some 12 miles south of Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Johnson said she believes a Padre trip of some 20 years ago with her husband may be one of the reasons Johnson is a strong advocate of conservation and reclamation.

SEA LESSON

"My mind turns back to it today," she said, "for we walked the beach and felt that sense of timelessness that envelops one like the rolling waves."

"There is always an ineffable tranquility in which you are face to face with sea and sky—forces which put one's own problems into perspective. Patience, faith, openness is what the sea teaches."

She put in a word for her beautification program, saying the planners of Padre Island's seashore area have given consideration to tasteful hiding of such necessary things as signs, markers and parking lots.

"It has been said that wilderness is the miracle that man can tear apart but cannot reassemble," she said. "So I hope very much that these white sands, this dazzling dome of sky will be here, in all their freshness to be savored year after year."

PRICELESS

"For here, facing the sea, touching the spiral of a perfect shell, it is hard to believe the crowding and tensions of an urbanized society. Every man has a thirst to leave his footprints on an untrammelled sand. I hope it will always be so, and we will always provide it."

She said Americans have "priceless scenery" to show the world, if not works of ancient civilizations.

She noted that there now are six national seashores on all three of the United States' coastlines and more than 250 national parks and historic areas.

She singled out former county Judge Oscar Dancy for praise as one of the dreamers who made Padre's preservation possible. Others mentioned were Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Reps. John Young and Eligio de la Garza.

NECKLACE

"And—if I may be forgiven for pointing it out—it also takes a president who recognizes the value of this kind of project," she said in ticking off the credit list.

She said the President has secured 35 new additions to the National Park System in his years in the White House, including 163 linear miles of shoreline.

"The President calls them a 'necklace of national seashores,' and he knows well the thirst that is still growing for wild places and outdoor recreation," she said.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall was traveling with the First Lady. Udall accompanied her to Texas Friday when she embarked on a long-scheduled trip of Texas as part of her "Discover America" program.

Mrs. Johnson was obviously a bit worried about the tumult in Washington in the aftermath of the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. after she arrived Friday. She gave a stiff-upper-lip performance in taking a group of foreign and domestic journalists on a Friday tour of the hill country near the LBJ Ranch and Saturday made the principal address at the opening of HemisFair, San Antonio's world's fair.

Sunday she went to church and spent a day at the ranch, near Stonewall north of San Antonio.

The Padre Island National Seashore Area is the sixth such in the national parks system.

The scenic island stretches from the southernmost tip of Texas to Corpus Christi, more than 100 miles.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., was to be on hand for the ceremony. It was Yarborough who pushed the Padre Island bill again and again until it finally was passed by Congress.

Vote Recount Bid Slated To Dominate Proceedings

An application to a recount of the votes in last Tuesday's city commission election is almost certain to dominate the proceedings of the Big Spring City Commission regular meeting Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Thomas, who finished fourth in the unofficial returns to elect three commissioners, has filed a formal request for a recount. A record high 3,120 voters cast ballots in the election, and the three incumbents — Arnold Marshall, Jimmy Morehead, Walter Stroup — were re-elected, according to the uncensored votes.

Mrs. Thomas, however, was only 13 votes behind.

Morehead, 1,255; Stroup, 1,251; Mrs. Thomas, 1,238; Eddie Acree, 947; E. A. Fiveash, 735; A. A. Porter, 731; M. M. Hines, 720; and W. A. Fitzgerald, 382.

Write-in votes were given 10 other candidates.

Mrs. Thomas has officially filed an application with Mayor

Marshall for a recount of the election returns, and she asked that the recount include "all of the ballots cast... both those counted which were actually counted by the election judges and those which were rejected and not counted because of alleged invalidity, mutilation or other grounds..."

The procedure, which apparently will be considered by the commissioners Tuesday, includes:

The commission will appoint a committee of three disinterested registered voters of the city, designating one of them as chairman, to recount the votes, setting a time and place, and notifying all candidates in the election.

REGULATIONS

The time must be at least two days, but not more than four days, after the candidates have been notified. In addition to the committee, the city secretary or his representatives, may be present for the recounting. All may inspect the ballots, observe the tally, and observe all actions of the committee in connection with the recount.

The committee members must work seven hours daily, excepting Sundays and holidays; until its work is complete, and the members will be paid $1.25 per hour. When the recount is complete, the committee reports its findings to the mayor.

Within two days after receiving the report, the mayor must call a meeting of the city commission and declare the results of the election on the basis of the revised returns.

MEN IN SERVICE

Airman Thomas M. Pajot, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cletus T. Pajot, 2610 Rebecca Drive, Big Spring, is serving with Attack Squadron 55, which was awarded its fourth Navy Unit Commendation during ceremonies at the Naval Air Station, Lemoore, Calif. His squadron earned the Commendation for meritorious service in combat operation in Southeast Asia while serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Constellation.

and Mrs. Archie R. Gammons, 2100 Runnels, was assigned to the 58th Aviation Battalion near Long Binh, Vietnam, March 14. A medic in the battalion's Medical Section, he entered the Army in January, 1964, and completed basic training at Ft. Polk, La.

The specialist attended Big Spring High School. He has previously received the Army Commendation Medal, the Air Medal and the Combat Medical Badge.

Snyder Books Air Service

SNYDER — Bill Hawes, president of Air-Pak Airlines, told the Snyder Chamber of Commerce Aviation committee that daily air service between Snyder and Dallas may start by April 15.

Tentative schedule for the flight calls for departure from Winston Field at 6:30 a. m. with arrival in Dallas at 8:25 a. m. and return from Dallas at 7:30 p. m. with arrival in Snyder at 9:20 p. m. There will be no return flight from Dallas on Saturday and no flight originating in Snyder on Sundays.

The fare would be $45 round trip with the possibility of family rate reductions later. Optional stops at Sweetwater for passengers and freight are possible. Handling reservations locally is the White Buffalo Travel Agency, established by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Amato.

Chamber officials have been seeking pledges of round trip use of the service during the first 90 days. Beechcraft planes will be used.

DAMAGING BLOW

Padre took a damaging blow from Hurricane Beulah last September. The cleanup and fixup work, however, has removed most vestiges of the hurricane's passing.

Mrs. Johnson's tour ends Tuesday when she leads the journalists through Goliad and Flores, two towns in Texas cattle country that are rich in Texas history. It was at the Presidio la Bahia at Goliad where Col. James Fannin and 376 Texans were massacred during the fight for Texas Independence.

At Gonzales Mrs. Johnson will make a brief speech before planting a tree as part of a beautification project for the court-house square near the Texas Heroes Monument.

The last stop on the tour will be at Palmetto Park near Luling.

Brit Bailey's Ghost Light

By ED SYERS

We've trailed our share of ghost lights; yet here's a notable one, seldom mentioned.

Between Columbia and Angleton, toward Houston, maybe you've seen it, dark nights: prowling woodland clearings in coastal Brazoria county. It's old-storied Bailey's Prairie that the light has wandered since pioneer days, yet you can find few to admit it or even talk about it. This puzzled me quite awhile.

Nowhere, you see, are Texans rightly prouder of heritage than here, where Austin's colonists first settled. So why not brag a little on a genuine historic phantom? Then I found that history itself is the problem: this ghost disputes the way it's written.

Now, the prairie takes its name from one of our ruggedest first comers, James Britton (Brit) Bailey. At 42, the North Carolinian had his family settled when Austin's folks arrived in 1821. The colonists soon knew Brit for integrity, shoulders like an ox-yoke, an insistence on "his rights," and a fond readiness to fight for them.

The colonists soon knew Brit for integrity, shoulders like an ox-yoke, an insistence on "his rights," and a fond readiness to fight for them.

Showers Dot East Texas

Light showers dotted the East Texas countryside and it was at least partly cloudy and mild throughout the state today.

A Pacific front which brought a little cooler air into the state from the northwest late Saturday stalled, meanwhile, and showed signs of dissipating along a line linking Texarkana, Waco and Del Rio.

Forecasters expected the weak front to exercise no further effect on the weather.

While showers or light rain were scattered over much of East Texas and into Louisiana starting Sunday, moisture amounts generally were light. College Station measured .11 inch, Lufkin .04, Austin .03, Houston .02 and Tyler and Victoria .01.

By this morning there also was fog across the coastal plains.

Sunday's top temperatures ran as high as 84 degrees at Presidio in the Big Bend country and at McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Forecasts promised still more scattered showers in all sections tonight and Tuesday along with rising temperatures in West and North Texas.

Readings before dawn today ranged from the 30s and 40s in the Panhandle up to the lower 70s near the coast.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

FREE FIGHT, BOYS!

Freeport's able historian, Mrs. John Caldwell, showed me accounts that distinguished Brit, even in those days, for a determination about "rights" that bordered on "eccentricity." Whenever riding into Brazoria or Columbia, for instance, better not let him find a fight in progress. He felt compelled to join the loser. "Free fight, boys!" he'd shout.

When he presently announced "Fight's over, boys!", it was. Some said it was Brit's determination and some said, his jug. Everybody knew he was determined about rights to that jug.

It was not long after he captured Velasco's first freedom fight in '31 that the years took old Brit — much to his neighbors' sorrow. You just had to go along with a man as determined on his rights, jug or no jug. That's the way folks felt when it came time to read Brit's will... which is where the ghost light comes in... as you've been wondering.

Bury him, directed the will, standing straight upright: no

Missing Radio Items Recovered

Radio equipment stolen from a Howard County oil lease several days ago has been recovered in Sherman and returned, Sheriff A. N. Standard said today.

He said that he had not been informed where the Texas Rangers found the radio equipment nor whether it was in usable condition.

Originally, one of two men, now in jail in Grayson County, had made a statement claiming the radios had been dumped in a lake. Search of one lake a prisoner said was the place the loot had been thrown, did not reveal it.

Standard said the pair would be returned here when disposition has been made of the cases already pending against them elsewhere.

Scholarship Program Open

A scholarship program to help worthy students attend Howard County Junior College was instituted by Cap Rock Electric Cooperative eleven years ago. Since that time, twenty-two students have taken advantage of the scholarship program. Applications are now being received for the 1968-69 school-year award.

This program provides for two students, a boy and a girl, to attend college for two semesters, studying any subject which they prefer. Scholarships pay for tuition, fees and books.

Any student who needs financial assistance to attend college, and whose home is served by the lines of Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, may apply for a scholarship. Application forms are available at the cooperative office in Stanton and at the office of the principal in most of the senior high schools in the area served by Cap Rock.

Aug. 10 is the final date for applying for the scholarships to be given for the 1968-69 school year at Howard County Junior College. Winners will be selected by the scholarship committee.

Boy Scouts Drop 'Bob-A-Job' Idea

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Boy Scouts are dropping their "Bob-a-Job" fund raising scheme because of inflation.

Some jobs, the Boy Scout Association said, now are big enough to warrant "a rather larger reward" than a bob, slang for a shilling, or 12 cents.

Trains Halt Called

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad plans to halt all their trains for one minute at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday during the funeral of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Lark's Last Trip LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Southern Pacific's Lark, a symbol of the era of luxury train travel, ended 58 years of service today between Los Angeles and San Francisco. The railroad says it has become a financial liability.

The final trip from Los Angeles left late Sunday with 177 passengers, double the number the Lark has carried in recent years.

Delta Kappa Gamma Hears Speaker

At right is Miss Sarah Tobolowsky of Dallas, keynote speaker for the Delta Kappa Gamma spring meeting in Colorado City. With her are Mrs. C. C. Burt, president of the Colorado City chapter; Miss Dorothy Miller, Snyder president; and Mrs. Joe Clark, Rotan president.

Says Youth Caught In 'Society's Transition'

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The spring meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma, a teacher sorority, was held at Colorado City's Country Club, Saturday afternoon, with Miss Sarah Tobolowsky, former state president of Delta Kappa Gamma and a member of the Dallas educational system, as speaker.

Miss Tobolowsky explained the confusion of today's youth "caught in the midst of contradictions of a society in transition — a society unable to agree on standards of language, manners and morals —" Miss Tobolowsky said that parents, schools and government used to set standards for young people, but with adults confused themselves, now the youngsters must decide for themselves what is good and what is right.

She said that what is needed is a return to basic standards of decency and respect for moral standards.

The Colorado City Chapter of Beta Epsilon was host for the affair, which drew teachers from Mitchell, Scurry, Fisher and Nolan Counties. Mrs. C. C. Burt, president of the local chapter, presided.

Washington Conference Postponed By Women

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Women's Conference, scheduled for Washington, May 19, 20, 21, has been postponed until next spring, it was announced today by the Democratic National Committee.

Vice Chairman Margaret Price said that the decision was made at the request of national committeewomen and party leaders across the nation.

"Our women felt that this was the best possible decision in such a critical campaign year. Each of them is currently so active within their home states that it was simply a matter of not having time to spare for a national conference. We've had this decision under study for some time and we concur with their request."

Mrs. Price pointed to women's activities as a cornerstone of the 1968 campaign. "As always, our Democratic women are deeply involved. They will continue to work diligently to inform the people of the great accomplishments of the Democratic party throughout its history and, most notably, throughout the past seven and one half years."

Rainbow Order Honors Founder

The Order of the Rainbow for Girls observed the birthday anniversary of their founder, the late Mark Sexton, by attending services Sunday at the College Baptist Church.

Afterward, the 77 girls and 15 adults reconvened at Cosden Country Club for lunch with the Rev. and Mrs. Byron Orand as their guests.

Tables were decorated with miniature palm trees, and four large palm trees flanked the head table. During the luncheon, Mrs. W. C. Fryar presented two readings, "His Last Word," and "Mary Magdalene."

Gift Party Held For Bride-Elect

STANTON (SC) — Miss Sharon Kuhlman, bride-elect of Eddie L. Odum, was honored recently at a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Troy Bradshaw.

Cohostesses were Linda Glaspe, Luann Louder, Kathy Gamel, Margaret Uhlman, Jane Hodges, Linda White, Mary Bradshaw and Martha Bradshaw. The table centerpiece was a basket of yellow roses, and the hostesses presented the honoree with a gift of lingerie.

The couple will marry April 12 at the Lenora Baptist Church.

St. Thomas Planning On Festival

The Ladies Altar Society and St. Joseph Society of St. Thomas Catholic Church held a joint meeting last week to begin plans for the annual mid-summer festival at the church.

The event is slated July 20-21, and both societies are working closely with the Rev. Leo St. John in arranging new booths and entertainment as well as the Mexican supper which will be served on the 20th. There will be no complete supper on the 21st, but tamales will be sold then instead.

Chairmen for the festival are Pedro Rodriguez and Mrs. Carmen Gonzales.

The groups will meet again this evening to continue work on the festival program. Tickets for prizes will sell for 25 cents each.

A LOVELIER YOU
Wear False Lashes For Beautiful Eyes

By MARY SUE MILLER
A lovely writes: My eyelashes are practically non-existent. Is there anything that would make them grow? I tried false eyelashes but they looked so phony — made up. I'm not the type.

The Answer: Nothing yet discovered grows lashes where there are none. Eyelash creams are useful, however. Applications help to keep the lashes you do have from breaking and then appearing stubby as well as sparse.

False lashes are the only out. And following the present trend for natural looking make-up.
