Mysterious Galt Named In Charge

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The mysterious Eric Starvo Galt has been charged with conspiracy and murder in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The FBI said in a fugitive warrant issued Wednesday night in Birmingham, Ala., that Galt, 36, conspired with a man "whom he alleged to be his brother" to violate King's civil rights.

STATE CHARGE

The state charge of first-degree murder was filed against Galt in Memphis where King, 39, Nobel Prize winning civil rights leader, was shot to death on a motel balcony April 4 by a sniper who fled from a nearby rooming house.

There was no further mention in the FBI statement about the alleged brother and no charge was filed against him.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced in Washington that the conspiracy to "injure, oppress, threaten or intimidate" King began "on or about March 30" in Birmingham.

The FBI statement said a .30.06 rifle equipped with a telescopic sight found near the rooming house shortly after King was slain, was purchased March 30 in Birmingham.

The statement did not connect Galt directly with the rifle.

The FBI released a photograph of Galt and solicited public aid in finding him.

The FBI started hunting Galt a week ago. Agents even contacted persons named Galt in several states in an attempt to find him.

The picture—which had to have the eyes "opened" by an artist—brought uncertain responses from witnesses who were acquainted with Galt or saw the fleeing sniper.

NOT THE MAN

"Unless he was wearing a wig or had had a face lift or something, it's not the man I saw," said Charles Q. Stevens, who lives at the Main Street rooming house from which the fatal shot apparently was fired.

"The hair is too full and the face is too young," he said. But Stevens said he only got a side view of the fleeing figure.

A source in Birmingham said the photograph was taken within the past three months, although the FBI did not specify when it was made. The photo has sharp contrast, making hair and features very dark.

The FBI, relying on witnesses apparently, said the fugitive had been described as a white man, 5-8 to 5-11, weighing 160 to 175 pounds, with brown hair in a brush cut, blue eyes, straight nose.

Persons who have met Galt, the FBI reported, described him as a loner with a "rural" speech and little schooling, fond of vodka, beer and hillbilly music.

PULLS EAR

The FBI statement also said, "The fugitive is said to have a nervous habit of occasionally pulling at an ear lobe with his left hand. His left ear protrudes further from his head than his right ear."

"Galt should be considered armed and dangerous," the FBI release warned.

Galt has used the names of John Willard and Harvey Lowmeyer, the FBI said. The assassin registered at the Memphis rooming house under the name of John Willard.

Galt, the FBI said, is the owner of a 1966 white Mustang with Alabama license plates abandoned in Atlanta the day after King was shot to death. The vehicle was left in the parking lot of an apartment project near the Georgia Capitol.

May Oil Allowable Lowered

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission lowered the statewide oil allowable today to 45.7 per cent of potential for May, the second consecutive monthly reduction.

The May percentage factor will permit maximum production next month of 3,476,972 barrels of oil a day. Under the current factor of 46.7 per cent, the average calendar day allowable is 3,531,736 barrels.

Written nominations by major purchasers of Texas crude oil totaled 3,071,269 barrels a day for May, a decrease of 60,099 from April.

The Bureau of Mines forecast of May demand for Texas crude was 3,040,000 barrels daily, the same as this month.

Last May's allowable was 33.8 per cent, permitting maximum production of 3,022,309 barrels a day.

Bridge Sale Firm

LONDON (AP) — London Bridge is going west—to end its days as a tourist attraction in Arizona. London City Corporation today confirmed sale of the 136-year-old granite bridge to the McCulloch Oil Corp. of California for rebuilding at Lake Havasu City, Ariz.

The sale price was $2,460,000. Workmen were dismantling the five-span bridge and numbering each piece. It is being shipped to the United States later this year to be re-erected at a cost of $240,000.

Phone Strike Due

DALLAS (AP) — The first coast-to-coast telephone strike in 21 years, scheduled to begin at 2 p. m. today, could cause as many as 4,500 Dallas workers to walk off their jobs, a Dallas official of the Communications Workers of America (AFL-CIO) said.

If nationwide efforts to solve the wage dispute are fruitless before the strike deadline, installers at Western Electric Co., a subsidiary of Bell Telephone Co., will walk out, national spokesmen for the 24,000-member union said.

In Dallas, about 500 installers represented by Local 6290 are directly involved.

Other CWA-represented employees in the Bell system, including operators, will respect the picket lines in sympathy, Jim Holbrook, president of Local 6215 reported.

A Dallas spokesman for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. said he expects "little effect" on telephone service because so much of the firm's equipment is automatic.

"Customers will be able to dial all local calls and most long distance calls," the company spokesman said.

Six Children Perish

RABUN GAP, Ga. (AP) — Six children in this small North Georgia community perished when fire destroyed their two-story house Wednesday night, despite frantic efforts of their mother to rescue them.

Mrs. Billy Darnell, the mother, and a 16-year-old son, Hubert, escaped.

Mrs. Darnell awakened the children who were sleeping upstairs and then went to call volunteer firemen at nearby Clayton.

Bus Accident Takes Two Lives

BRADY, Tex. (AP) — The death toll in a bus-truck collision near Brady rose to two Wednesday night when the truck driver, James Calvin Dunn, 55, of Amarillo, died in a San Angelo hospital.

DIED IN CRASH

Mrs. Oleta Leist Walter, 55, of Fredericksburg, a bus passenger, died in the crash. She was riding in the Kerrville Bus Lines bus directly behind the driver.

Twenty-one other persons were injured in the crash, several seriously.

The bus driver, Royce L. Shelton, 53, of Kerrville, and a passenger in the truck, James G. Hicks, 37, of Amarillo, were among the seriously hurt.

The accident occurred at a highway intersection three miles north of Brady Wednesday.

Mike Walker, 19, of Lorraine, a passenger in the bus, said the accident occurred when the heavily-loaded grain truck, a diesel-powered tractor-trailer, came through the intersection "without hesitation."

Investigators at the crash scene said the truck was licensed to Bruckner Truck Sales of Amarillo. The bus was en route from Brady to San Angelo at the time of the crash. Ambulances shuttled back and forth from the wreck scene to the tiny Brady Hospital. Brady has six physicians and all helped treat the injured.

RELEASED

Most of the injured were released after treatment. The more seriously injured were taken to the base hospital at Goodfellow Air Force Base in San Angelo late Wednesday night.

Johnson Briefs Ike On War Problems

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—President Johnson, stopping en route to his Texas ranch after two days of Pacific policy talks in Honolulu, conferred today with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower about war and peace in the Pacific.

Johnson arrived at this Strategic Air Command base in the middle of the night, slept aboard his plane and, not long after dawn, welcomed Eisenhower for a breakfast meeting aboard the presidential jet.

SUMMIT MEET

Their talk followed a Hawaii summit meeting with South Korean President Chung Hee Park, who got Johnson's assurance that the Korean will have a voice in any Vietnam peace negotiations and that the United States will stand by its commitments to help defend South Korea against any Communist incursions from the north.

Johnson alighted from his jet at 7 a. m. PST, greeted a few score military families gathered nearby, and then strolled around the air base apron while awaiting Eisenhower, who flew in 15 minutes later from his winter home at Palm Desert.

The two dined aboard Air Force 1 while Johnson briefed

Eisenhower on his Hawaii talks. Johnson interrupted a Texas Easter vacation to fly to Hawaii Monday for discussions on Vietnam strategy with his Pacific military commanders and then Wednesday's parley with Park.

JOINT

A 1,000-word joint communique and a warm embrace by Johnson of his important Asian ally climaxed the meeting which grew out of a strain in U.S.-Korean relations following last January's North Korean assassination attempt—against Park and seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo.

Park publicly endorsed Johnson's cutback in bombing of North Vietnam and other efforts—still unsuccessful—to get talks with Hanoi under way.

VIETNAM

On Vietnam, the joint statement said:

"Coupled with continued resolution and military firmness," the common goal of the allies of an honorable and secure peace requires "the earnest pursuit of a diplomatic solution"—and they hope "serious talks on the substance of peace could begin in the near future."

Johnson reviewed the position that American envoys would take in direct contacts with North Vietnamese representatives and reaffirmed that

"the U.S. government would continue to consult fully with the Republic of Korea and other allies concerning negotiating developments and positions to be taken on the allied side at each stage."

ON KOREA

On Korea, the two said: "Further aggressive actions by the North Korean Communists would constitute a most grave threat to peace."

Johnson "reaffirmed the readiness and determination of the United States to render prompt and effective assistance to repel armed attacks against the Republic of Korea."

AT SCENE OF MASS MURDER

Officers Searching For Clues

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP)—Investigators returned today to the scene of the brutal murder of four members of a Mexican family in hopes of finding some clue to point to the killer.

Several leads involving reports of blood stained automobiles or cars seen near the 1958 Buick in which the family drove from Mexico were checked Wednesday night. Officers reported none of the leads provided tenable evidence.

Authorities awaited the results of autopsies performed in San Angelo and a report from the state police laboratory in Austin on fingerprints taken from the car. Texas Ranger A. Y. Allee Jr. of Ozona, heading the investigation, returned early today to the ranching area 38 miles north of here where the bodies were found.

In Sonora, hospital authorities reported that a girl, 2, also a member of the slain family, still was alive although in critical condition from a bullet that struck her between the eyes and passed through her head.

The four bodies were found scattered along the highway between Sonora and Del Rio Wednesday.

The dead were identified as Manuel Arellano Sr., about 30; his wife, Monica de Lopez Arellano, 24; his sister, Rosa Elia Santos Arellano, 21; and his son, Eduardo, 18 months, all of Villa de Fuente, Mexico, a small town across the border from Eagle Pass, Tex.

Police said the body of the younger woman was nude and that she had been raped.

Two other small children were wounded critically.

Manuel Arellano Jr., about 4 or 5, was stabbed four times and suffered either a severe blow or a gunshot wound in the head. He was placed in the intensive care ward at a San Antonio hospital.

Officers said they had no definite clues as to the killer.

They said they were seeking a light colored pickup truck. Earlier they searched for a hitchhiking Mexican national but when he was found he was released after questioning.

The victims' car was found with a flat tire a short distance from where the four bodies were discovered.

Because the bodies were strewn along the highway for some distance, investigating officers said they believed the victims had been thrown from a automobile.

The family suggested that those wishing to make memorials consider the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, of which she was a generous benefactor, or any other charity.

Mrs. Good is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Modesta Simpson of Big Spring; two sons, Jeff Good of Fort Sumner, N. M. and Clarence Porter of Neal-moor; three sisters, Mrs. Fred Henderson and Mrs. Tex Johnson, both of Lamesa, and Mrs. Willie Johnson, Clearwater, Fla.; and a brother, Morris Sanderson of Seagraves. There are also seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. A son, William J. Good, died in 1928.

Mrs. Tom Good Dies Here Today

Death came today to a member of one of the area's most prominent ranch families, Mrs. Tom Good.

Mrs. Good, who had remained active up until a week ago, when she fell ill while on a fishing trip, died at 9:17 a. m. in a local hospital. She had undergone surgery last week, but suddenly early today her condition became critical. There were plans to remove her to a Dallas hospital when death came.

CAME IN 1905

Mrs. Good was born Clara Elaine Sanderson Nov. 13, 1884, in Waco, but had come to West Texas in 1905. She was married in 1910 in Galt to Tom Good, operator of one of the big ranch spreads in this section, and also known as a founder and life-long devotee of the Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion. Mr. Good died Aug. 23, 1961.

A small woman with a radiant smile and sparkling eyes, Mrs. Good brightened the lonesome life of early-day ranching. Not only did she do all the house work, but she made a hand at roundup time. It was said of her that she was as good a cowboy as any and a lot better than most.

One of her delights was a harmonica. Sometimes on the cattle drives (which the Bar-One outfit pointed to railroad at Lamesa until after World War II) she would take it along and play after the cattle had let off lowering and bedded for the night; sometimes friends prevailed on her to play it at ranch dances; and sometimes she got pleasure from sitting in her rocking chair at home and playing it.

The Goods lived in Big Spring when the children were growing up and in school, and later they were benefactors at a low, low ebb of financial crisis for the schools. But when the children graduated, they went back to the ranch, their first and continuing love.

Mrs. Good had been a member of the Baptist Church since childhood.

FUNERAL

Funeral services are to be at 10 a. m. Saturday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel, with Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial will be in the City Cemetery beside the grave of her husband.

The family suggested that those wishing to make memorials consider the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, of which she was a generous benefactor, or any other charity.

Mrs. Good is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Modesta Simpson of Big Spring; two sons, Jeff Good of Fort Sumner, N. M. and Clarence Porter of Neal-moor; three sisters, Mrs. Fred Henderson and Mrs. Tex Johnson, both of Lamesa, and Mrs. Willie Johnson, Clearwater, Fla.; and a brother, Morris Sanderson of Seagraves. There are also seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. A son, William J. Good, died in 1928.

CANDIDATES CRISS-CROSS TEXAS

Foes Of Betting Map Rallies

By The Associated Press
Texas candidates for public office who have a hard time mustering crowds will probably be a little envious of the size of the mass rallies being planned for Sunday afternoons by foes of pari-mutuel betting.

Council of Texas, which said 1,250 are expected at the Houston rally and 1,000 at the Dallas meeting.
FLAYS RFK
Meanwhile candidates for the gubernatorial nomination in both the Democratic and Republican primaries had to be content with smaller audiences as they criss-crossed Texas this mid-week in search of votes.

In Dallas, Smith said he would "do all in my power" to block the Democratic Party's nomination of Sen. Robert Kennedy of New York for president.
NO PROMISE
Another Democrat, Dolph Briscoe, told Lower Rio Grande Valley residents "Texas has a tremendous potential to develop tourism. There is everything for the tourist—scenic beauty and historical landmarks."

Briscoe, who planned to campaign in Houston today, also said "lawlessness of any type will not be tolerated in Texas."
Eugene Locke, another Democrat, told a Huntsville coffee that "If elected, I will enforce the laws of the state, will work for a program that will take the handcuffs off peace officers and put them on criminals."

He said the main issue in the campaign is leadership, adding "I am an independent who has made no promise or commitment to any group."
Another Democrat in the May 4 primary, Ed Whittenburg, proposed a constitutional amendment to require the redistricting of the state courts at least every 10 years.

UN Resolution Takes Aim At Rhodesia's Regime

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The U.N. Security Council started today on a resolution calling upon all countries to "sever immediately all economic and other relations" with Rhodesia's rebel white-minority regime.
Ethiopian Ambassador Endakachew Makonnen introduced it to the 15-nation council on behalf of Ethiopia, Algeria, Senegal, India and Pakistan.

The resolution would censure Portugal and South Africa for "assistance to the illegal racist minority regime" and demand "resolute and effective action" if they kept it up.
It would urge Britain to "take all necessary measures including the use of force to bring an end to the rebellion" in Rhodesia that began Nov. 11, 1965, when Prime Minister Ian Smith declared the colony independent.

Rockefeller Urged To Take New Step

WILLIAM G. PROCTOR

Commandery Banquet Set

William Green Proctor, McKinney, past grand master of Texas Masons, will be the speaker for a banquet Saturday at the Settles Hotel sponsored by the Big Spring Commandery No. 31, Knights Templar.
Proctor, a native of Dixon County, Tenn., has been a resident of McKinney since 1926. He is a past commander of the McKinney Commandery No. 34, past deputy grand high priest of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Texas, and a 33-degree member of the Scottish Rite. He holds the York Rite Cross of Honor and for two terms was master of the McKinney Lodge.
In addition to his fraternal activities, he is active in the McKinney Lions Club, where he served as president; is a director of both the Chamber of Commerce there and the Retail Merchants Association.

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is under increasing pressure from some key associates to take a new step toward active candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller, in Washington today to launch what he has said will be a series of speeches on major issues, will talk on big-city problems before the American Society of Newspaper Editors.
Some of the New Yorker's backers who participated in the abortive 1964 attempt to stop Barry Goldwater with then-Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania are convinced Rockefeller must abandon quickly his position of waiting for a draft.
Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., among others, thinks Rockefeller should say within two weeks he is willing to seek the nomination that former Vice President Richard M. Nixon is campaigning for vigorously.

'COULD BE'
Rockefeller said on April 12 there "could be" circumstances under which he might become an active candidate.
Some of his strategists feel action of this nature would help eliminate some of the political hangups they have encountered in trying to get a flow of convention delegates headed his way.
They believe Gov. James A. Rhodes and the 58-vote Ohio delegation might be favorable to Rockefeller. But they don't expect the canny Rhodes to make any commitments to a contender who isn't even in the ring.
Similarly, Gov. George Romney of Michigan has given clear signs he isn't inclined to reciprocate Rockefeller's support of his own abandoned campaign for the nomination until he is certain the New York governor is in the running. Michigan will cast 48 of the 667 votes needed for the nomination.
Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania won't know exactly where his state's 64-vote delegation stands until members are elected in the April 23 primary. Shafer was not listed among governors backing Rockefeller when a national committee was formed recently to support the New Yorker for the nomination.

Mansfield Doubts Viet Cong Is Communist Organization

HONOLULU (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says it is "very questionable" whether the Viet Cong is a Communist organization.
He made the statement on a discussion program produced by the Honolulu Star-Bulletin and KHVH-TV, Honolulu.
Mansfield also indicated a deep division of opinion about Communist China may exist between President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.
Mansfield said President Johnson does not view the Vietnam war as a confrontation with Red China.

Asked if that position wasn't in conflict with recent testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in which Rusk conjured up the "specter" of a billion Chinese threatening Southeast Asia, Mansfield replied: "I think he was ill-advised to say what he did. I don't think he thought through what he said."
CIVIL WAR
Mansfield said the United States should withdraw from Vietnam as soon as it is honorably possible because "we have no vital interest there and... it is not necessary to the security of the United States."

He added he regarded as invalid the theory that with U.S. forces gone the nations of Southeast Asia would topple like dominoes.
"The war in Vietnam, allegations to the contrary, is a civil war because the Viet Cong are South Vietnamese," he said.
Mansfield was in Honolulu participating in the eighth annual Mexico-United States Inter-parliamentary Conference.

Freedom Loving Coed Will Not Be Expelled

NEW YORK (AP) — A Barnard College committee has recommended that Linda LeClair, 20, lose several campus privileges but not be expelled over her admitted breaking of college rules to live off campus with her boyfriend.

"I sort of expected them to come up with something sensible," Miss LeClair commented with a smile after learning the decision. "After all, they're sensible people."

'BEAUTIFUL'
Wearing a bright orange shift, she read the decision to a crowd of about 100 sympathetic students in Barnard Hall. Laughter and cries of "beautiful!" and "terrific!" accompanied the reading.
The panel of five students, two teachers and two administrators deliberated five hours Wednesday before writing a letter of reprimand to Miss LeClair.
They also recommended she be denied the use of the snack bar, cafeteria and recreation room and be barred from college and dormitory social functions.

Here's What Those Oscar Winners Do

By BOB THOMAS
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "We saw that parade of winners at the Academy Awards," writes a bewildered viewer. "What do they do?"

A fair question. The academy often takes for granted that the viewing public will know what an art director or cinematographer does. As a matter of cold fact, most movie-goers haven't the foggiest notion of the nature of the work contributed by the names that are thrown on the screen at the beginning and end of pictures.

Okay, then, here is a guide to movie credits:

Producer—The man who oversees the entire film. He acquires the story; hires the writer, director, actors, etc.; approves the sets and costumes; arranges for studio space and locations; oversees publicity and advertising. Nowadays he often raises the money for the film, and many of today's producers are deal-makers rather than creative film makers.

Director—The man who determines what goes on the film. He chooses the camera angles and tells the actors what to do.

The best directors also work with the writer on the script and perform many of the functions of the producer. In fact, some are producer-directors.

Associate producer—He is the producer's aide, sometimes a creative contributor to the project, sometimes little more than a yes-man.

Assistant director—He does the preliminary work for the director in arranging crowds, summoning actors, calling for quiet and otherwise speeding production along.

Writer—He adapts books, plays or other works to script form, or works from his own story. Rarely does his script appear the way he wrote it; usually it reflects contributions by other writers, the director, producer or even the actors.

Cinematographer — A fancy word for cameraman. Actually the head cameraman seldom touches the camera; he approves camera angles and supervises the lighting.

Art director—He plans and designs the look of the picture — drawing the sets, choosing colors, etc.

FOR TOMORROW
—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day finds you able to organize conditions in such a manner that your whole future can be more satisfactory but then later you want to make some drastic changes in such arrangements which would be most unwise, so be sure to let others see and realize you are the one who has it in your power to control such impulses.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You can cement better relations with one who is very vital in your life, but don't permit some other to interfere. Steer clear of social cliques that do little other than gossip. Be profitable, employed.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Showing that you are wide awake to new outlets and interesting people gives you a chance to advance now. Keep out of the way of that pompous higher-up though. Contact that expert who gives right advice.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Avoid that temptation to join with the ultra-fashionable who could well be on the wrong tangent. Get the approval of the one who means the most to you instead. Show that you are a stable, intelligent person.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Morning is a good time to make the right contacts with associates, and if problems arise later, do something constructive about them. Remain cheerful even though others may be quite contentious.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Show others that you will do your fair amount of work, and then make conditions about you much better. Cooperate with co-workers in a.m. Then you can carry through on your own with true enthusiasm.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) A different form of entertainment is all right during a.m., or in business matters, but be careful later in the day. Don't take any chances that could bring you ruin. Later you will be less radical.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Your kind expect you to attend to certain duties which it would be wise to do, though you may have other commitments. You need to have a firm foundation beneath you. Get busy and do just that.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make the right decisions during a.m. and then go ahead and do work necessary to bring you success. Labor constructively. Be careful in driving and do not argue with others or you get into trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Others are doing their utmost to get ahead, so be sure you do the same, especially in the evening. Show that you have good practical sense and all is fine. Stop dreaming so much and get busy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are able to advance a vocational interest during the morning, but tonight take care you are not spending extravagantly. Show others your finest talents and you get big results. Stop loafing around.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Show others that you are capable of keeping a secret in a.m. and then see what you can do to better your future. Assist one who is in trouble during morning. Study hard and you will be successful.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Listen to what a good pal has to say in a.m. and then see what you can do to achieve during your morning. Be charming.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow... he, or she, will be one of those charming young people who has constructive ideas during early youth and will early accomplish a good deal in a financial way, but later in life this person will want to get into all sorts of new Era outlets and probably undo most of what has been established, so give the right education.

A Devotional For The Day

After you have suffered a little while, the God of all grace, who has called you to his eternal glory in Christ, will himself restore, establish and strengthen you. (I Peter 5:10, RSV)

PRAYER: Almighty God, help us to have the faith and strength to endure our trials and temptations. Grant us Thy help. In Jesus' name and for His sake. Amen.

Excess Baggage

The "greatest deliberative body on earth" is not always the greatest deliberative body on earth. Take, for example, the "Easter Basket Bill" which began in the House as a bill to extend federal automobile and telephone excise taxes past their scheduled April 1 expiration date.

By the time the bill had passed the Senate these amendments had been added:

Imposition of quotas on imports of wool and man-made fiber goods.

Foreign nations in arrears on war debt payments to the United States are forbidden to exchange dollars for gold from U.S. holdings.

Advertising space bought for national political convention programs will be tax exempt.

Tax exemption given on income from publications by untaxed organizations such as the American Medical Association, the National Geographic Society and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

A 10 per cent income tax surcharge on personal and corporate income and a ceiling of $180.1 billion on federal spending during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Appropriation reductions of $10 billion to be submitted by the administration within 30 days after the bill becomes law. The administration was also instructed to submit tax reform ideas by Dec. 31.

An extension of the right to sell tax-free state and local industrial development bonds until next Jan. 1.

The repeal of a measure voted last year which imposed a freeze on aid to dependent children.

Some of these amendments undoubtedly have merit; many do not.

The legislative process is debased when measures of great importance are tacked on a bill without appropriate study or committee hearings. A Senate-House conference committee should dispose of some of this excess baggage.

Experienced Man

When President Johnson turned to Averell Harriman as his special envoy in whatever peace talks materialize, that was not at all surprising. Harriman, though now a decade past the so-called "retirement age," is a logical choice for the job.

Harriman is the inheritor of great wealth, son of the turn-of-the-century railroad magnate Edward H. Harriman. He abandoned his conservative heritage at the call of the New Deal in the early 1930s, and has ever since been involved in public life ever deeply. His many offices include the ambassadorship to the Soviet Union, the secretaryship of commerce under President Truman, and numerous special posts.

In 1954 he was elected governor of New York. This success led Truman to favor him for the 1956 presidential nomination, but it went to Adlai E. Stevenson. Harriman has continued to play an important role. The cumulative experience gained over long years of service at a high level should equip him well for the demanding task that lies ahead.

The Site For Peace Talks

WASHINGTON — There is more than meets the eye in the sparring between the United States and the government of North Vietnam over the selection of a site for peace talks. Thus far, the Hanoi government has favored places which are dominated by the Communists. The United States wants the conference to be held in a neutral country, preferably in some capitol city in Asia.

THE REASONS are well understood in diplomatic circles but not by the public generally. For if the delegations were to meet in a location which is controlled by the Communists, it would be difficult for the President or Secretary of State to be sure the confidential messages being sent to and from our envoys were not being intercepted. Likewise, the American government is insistent that the representatives of the press of the United States shall not be subject to any censorship or local restrictions.

MANY PEOPLE who are reading about the effort to set up a peace conference are unfamiliar with what happened when the truce delegation of the United Nations met in July, 1951, with the North Koreans. The first meeting convened within Communist-held territory, and Communist troops surrounded the conference. The impression sought to be conveyed was that the United Nations was "surrendering." After vigorous objections from the U.N., the conference was moved to a point on the dividing line between North and South Korea. Discussions continued there for almost two years before an armistice was signed, but a peace treaty was never concluded.

FEARING A repetition of the same kind of tactics, the United States is wary of any conference held within Communist jurisdiction. It is already apparent that the controversy over the mere picking of a site for the peace talks has furnished an opportunity for Communist propaganda to be spread.

THE NORTH VIETNAMESE government in its latest statement charges, for instance, that the United States was guilty of bad faith in refusing to hold the conference at places suggested by Hanoi. Reference is made to President Johnson's declaration that he was willing to go "to any spot" to hold peace talks. But he meant, of course, any neutral location, and has since suggested Switzerland, India, Burma, Laos and Indonesia. Actually, the United States would prefer a site in Asia, as the people of that region are most concerned with the terms of a settlement and what it may mean to the future safety of each of the free countries.

PROPAGANDA outbursts may be expected at every stage of the present controversy. The North Vietnamese government and its Communist allies have been encouraged by the dissension within the United States to believe that the American people will consent to anything just to find an excuse to withdraw their troops.

"Peace talks," therefore, can be part of a propaganda war by the enemy. One thing is clear — the North Vietnamese are in no hurry and need time to reorganize and recuperate as they have been dealt some heavy blows in the war. But once the American presidential elections are over, the Communists will probably be surprised to discover that American policy in Southeast Asia is concerned will not have undergone any significant change.

SOONER OR LATER an international force will have to be established by the United Nations to keep the peace in Asia or a collective arrangement will have to be set up with Japan, Australia, New Zealand, Indonesia, the Philippines, Thailand, South Korea and India contributing manpower for such a permanent force. Once an armistice in Vietnam is declared, the U.N. could take over the responsibility for supervision of the agreement which presumably will spell out the future obligations of North and South Vietnam.

THE DRAFT

'Family Farmers' Forced Off The Land

WASHINGTON (AP) — The killing of thousands of pigs by farmers demanding higher prices for them dramatizes a rising interest among farmers in direct action rather than continued reliance on the complex and elaborate federal programs designed to help them.

The direct approach is also evident in Congress, where farm legislation of an entirely new kind is being considered, based on the collective bargaining procedures guaranteed to labor and industry 30 years ago.

DURING THOSE three decades, the government, in an effort to hold down farm production and stabilize prices, has erected a dizzying edifice of farm law.

It takes 108,000 people to run the Department of Agriculture and it was only half-jokingly that an amendment was offered a few years ago prohibiting the department from acquiring more employees than there were farmers.

Yet despite costly, often confusing legislation the problems it is supposed to solve continue. Farm prices still fluctuate sharply, production increases yearly and farm income last year was lower than it was 20 years ago.

For the small farmer—the so-called "family farmer"—Congress talks the most about helping—the situation grows steadily worse. Unable to take any of his small acreage out of production to qualify for price supports, he gets almost no benefit from the programs. Squeezed by higher costs for everything he needs, he is being forced off the land.

IN THE LAST 15 years, 15 million people have moved from the farms and rural areas into the cities, compounding the urban problems now tormenting the nation.

With the current farm programs due to expire next year both the House and Senate are in the process of reviewing them and new departures have already been suggested.

In the Senate a bill has been introduced that would give farmers the right to bargain collectively with processors on the price of their crops. It is based on the same principle written into law in 1935 that gave organized labor the right to bargain collectively on the terms of its employment.

ORIGINALLY tossed out as a suggestion by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman more than a year ago, the bill is unlikely to advance very far this year.

More promising is the future of another Senate bill that would extend the system of federal marketing agreements to all farm products. These production-and-price agreements, embodying collective bargaining procedures, now apply only to selected crops.

Remarks That Trigger Woes

NEW YORK (AP) — English is a language of glory.

It is a great tongue for saying memorable things, such as "Give me liberty or give me death," "Don't give up the ship," "United we stand, divided we fall," "Keep off the grass," and "Pleez step arrear ennadubus."

Every schoolchild soon learns a number of these deathless utterances. He quotes them at every opportunity throughout the rest of his life as proof that he has been educated.

WHAT OUR SCHOOLS fail to teach, however, is that the English language can also become a disaster area. It is full of pitfalls. No other form of communication makes it simpler for a person to put his foot in his mouth in public.

Here, for example, is a brief catalogue of remarks that often only catapult a fellow deeper into woe:

"If you don't see it, ask for it."

"Only one to a customer."

"I THINK I'll have to meet the last raise of your just to keep the game honest."

"This year I'm not going to ask for advice on how to figure out my income tax. I think I know enough to do it myself."

"I think your problem, boss, is that you're gripping your putter wrong. Let me show you how I do it."

"We don't really have enough to retire on yet, but of course we plan to start a small business. Anybody can make money these days."

"Okay, double or nothing."

"I'd like to take you away from all this, Myrtle."

"IT'S AN EASY trick anyone can do. I just take the tablecloth in both hands, then give it a quick jerk. It comes off so fast it leaves your glasses and dishes standing there intact. Now watch as I—"

"Don't miss the show just because you can't get a baby sitter. Leave your kids with us. They're about the same age as ours, and they'll probably get along famously."

"What do I need with a lawyer? It's an open and shut case. All I'll have to do is tell the judge the simple facts of the matter."

THEY'RE PRETTY weak. One more drink ought to fix me up just fine."

"If it's a favor you want, don't hesitate. After all, what's a friend for?"

"The zipper seems stuck. Here, let me fix it."

What To Do About A Color-Blind Boy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: We have just found out that our nine-year-old son is color-blind. The school nurse said he is in the red-green category and the doctor said the green category, just a bit. What is the difference?

I understand it is hereditary. Is this so? Two uncles on my mother's side are color-blind. Will it get worse? How does it start? Can it be cured? Why is it worse in boys than girls? Can I help my son in any way? — Mrs. D. H. C.

Color-blindness is hereditary, and present in 10 times as many boys as girls, but the cause is unknown. Nobody knows how it started.

While it is incurable, there is no reason to expect it to become worse in your son's case—and color sense can be developed to some extent, to make the best use of the ability he has in this regard.

Color blindness amounts to the inability to recognize red, green, or blue—or some combination of these colors. It is unusual for a person to lack perception of all three (although this may occur in older persons having atrophy of the optic nerve).

More usually, the color-blind person lacks the perception, in varying degrees, of one color or two colors. Further tests can determine whether your son cannot distinguish green, or cannot distinguish either red or green. The red-green combination does occur.

What can you do to help the boy? Follow the advice of your ophthalmologist (eye specialist).

He will have to be trained in a career which does not involve dependence on perfect color vision, but that still leaves him a wide field to choose from. He may need some help in the choice of clothes — neckties — for example — to avoid color combinations that do not blend well, but that's not a very important problem.

Color-blind people readily learn how to recognize traffic signals. The red (stop) light is uniformly the top light and green is at the bottom, with the yellow warning signal in between. He will be able to see by the brightness of the light which is on, and tell the color by its position.

Dear Dr. Molner: What can I use to keep from sunburning, especially near the water? I have used (a certain brand of) suntan lotion but it did no good. — R.B.G.

Some suntan lotions contain special materials to screen out ultra-violet rays and thus protect against burning. Other lotions are intended mostly to let you "cook" to an even tan. Therefore check the labels of various brands to find those which have this screening effect. But if you have an unusually tender skin, don't expect miracles. Such lotions can help, but you still have to avoid overexposure until you have gradually built up a protective tan.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. Dr. Molner's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as outlining effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis" write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Around The Rim

The Auditorium

I'd just about as soon recommend filling up the "original big spring" with sand, as suggest tearing down the city auditorium, but facing the facts — the huge structure is little more than a white elephant.

IT IS A beautiful example of period architecture, and on rare occasions, it is even used as an auditorium. But these are rare. Last year, the city took in no more than $1,000 in fees for its use, and only the same amount is expected this year.

At the same time, the costs of operation are high. The budget, which lumps the auditorium and city hall together, calls for expenditures of $22,874. Insurance alone is pegged at $9,300.

ABOUT THIS time of year, the lack of air-conditioning in the building makes it second choice for almost any gathering. The cost of adding air conditioning is prohibitive, and would not result in increased usage — at least not enough to compensate for the expenditure.

At one time, it was the largest auditorium in the city. Today, the school district has one with comparable seating capacity, and it has the modern advantage of air conditioning.

OF COURSE, the city should have an adequate meeting place for public meetings, but it is unfortunate that our auditorium falls so short of meeting the total public needs.

TAKING ANOTHER tack, there are at least three committees of the Chamber of Commerce currently studying the needs and wherewithal for a community center, or convention center, or coliseum. By whatever name, they are all wanting some kind of large multi-purpose meeting place. Certainly, the city could use such a facility. The expense of building such a facility will not be the end of the costs, however. Other cities with such buildings have found it difficult to keep such facilities booked, which helps to pay the cost of maintenance, etc.

PERHAPS OUR city auditorium could be enlarged and remodeled to provide such a facility, at minimum cost. The city already owns half of the adjacent block, and there are indications that the balance of the block is available.

If this part of the problem could be licked, and there is room enough to provide the needed structure, there is ample available land that could be converted to parking space.

If we are ever to have a major meeting place, it must certainly be done at least expense — we can't afford a facsimile of the Astrodome. Some kind of auditorium conversion might be the answer we can afford.

Rumor Factories Behind Schedule

WASHINGTON — While many businesses suffered during the recent disturbances in our American cities, there was one that thrived — and that was rumor-making. The rumor factories in Washington were going full steam during the crisis and still they couldn't keep up with the demand.

I visited a rumor factory in the nation's Capital the other day and was given a tour by the foreman, a jolly, round-faced man named Clarence, who has been manufacturing rumors for 30 years.

"WE'VE BEEN going 24 hours a day for the last two weeks, and we've yet to fill all our orders," Clarence said, as we walked around the large air-conditioned building.

"I know this is a silly question," I said, "but how do you make a rumor?"

"It's not hard once you get the formula," Clarence told me. "Over here we have the raw facts. Now you mix them with gossip and fantasy, put them through this machine, and they come out a solid rumor. The process doesn't take long, a matter of minutes; but in order for a rumor to have any substance, it has to be kept hot. That's what those burners over there are for. They can heat up a rumor in seconds."

"Where do you get your raw materials?" I asked him.

"MOSTLY FROM bars and hairdressers. We have a staff that does nothing but collect bits and pieces of rumor material which they bring in at the end of the day. The ones we don't use right away, we bale and store in a warehouse for later use."

"For example, right now, because of public demand, we've been working on racial rumors, so we've been storing the political tidbits for later on in the year, just before the conventions."

"BEFORE WE switched to racial rumors, we had a big run on Vietnam rumors, but that's died down for the moment."

"How do you distribute your rumors?"

"Distribution is no problem. A lot of them are distributed through taxi drivers; others are dropped off at the press club; some are left on street corners, and, of course, there's always the telephone. During a racial crisis our rumors hardly get out the door before they're grabbed up and spread all over town."

We walked into another room where several women were inspecting the rumors as they came off the line.

"THIS IS our quality control division. Every rumor that leaves our factory is carefully inspected for holes in it."

We walked to another part of the factory and the foreman said: "This is our research and development division. We're constantly trying to find new methods of making rumors. We had a big breakthrough not long ago. We found out a way of taking old rumors and using them again."

"ONE OF OUR lab assistants discovered that by taking a rumor circulated in Chicago and doctoring it slightly and fixing it up, it would look like a brand-new rumor for Washington. We're franchising the process for other cities."

"What happens when you put out a rumor and it turns out to be true?"

"When we let a rumor go, it's a genuine rumor. And there is no truth to it. We have no control over people who will misuse it for their own benefit. As with gun manufacturers, our responsibility stops when our product leaves the factory doors. We can't help it when a hot rumor hits the cold air and becomes a fact."

The President's New Victories

WASHINGTON — Both Gen. Westmoreland and Cyrus Vance were White House guests over Palm Sunday weekend, and you can write them down as Lyndon Johnson's co-commanders of two-front victories over world Communism.

Neither Vance nor Westmoreland has yet won the war, but each has won a major campaign.

There are persons close to the action (not altogether lockjawed among their friends) who believe that an Armageddon was fought and won during the early days of this April. We had better not celebrate just yet, but it won't be out of place if Americans draw a long breath of relief. From the night of March 31 when the President telecast a conditional limitation on North Vietnam bombardment and removed himself from this year's politics, LBJ has been quite a man.

EVEN BEFORE April, by mid-March, the tide has been turned by Westmoreland's troops in Vietnam, but the South Asian campaign also required the President to overthrow Ho Chi Minh's unwitting auxiliaries in Washington, notably the Trojan Horsemen under Sen. Bill Fulbright. Mr. Johnson did this in his telecast while Westmoreland was winning the battle at Khe Sanh, killing Communists like mosquitoes, until Uncle Ho had enough of that.

THE COMMUNISTS made still another lunge, for if the most cogent thinking in this town is correct, the ignorant uprising in American cities — in particular in Washington — was a transplanted Tet offensive, timed and instigated to put the Commander-in-Chief out of commission as an anti-Communist leader. We will need to know much else before the full tale unfolds. We need to understand the Memphis murder, the activities of several riot-ripleaders, the postponement of the President's intended address to Congress and the reason he chose to hold a Camp David conference with warleaders instead of attending the Atlanta funeral.

BUT FOR PRESENT purposes, it is enough to find the President's two field-commanders, Westmoreland and Vance, doing what was expected of them. The general has made it very evident that the U.S. forces can frustrate the invasion now mounted against South Vietnam, though his successor may need more troops if the Communists are re-enforced. Cyrus Vance, hardly less than Westmoreland, has demonstrated strategy and tactics for breaking the back of invasion, though he may have to do it again before the summer ends.

AND WHILE we're taking history, we had better not compose any farewell judgments on Lyndon Johnson. He will not seek renomination this year, and certainly won't dictate to the Democratic Convention. But his unveiling of Cyrus Vance as a riot-suppressor, and much else, ought soon to catch the uneasy attention of Sen. Robert Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy in their quest for the Democratic nomination.

Anybody setting up a canvass to paint LBJ as a discredited politician will have to take into account that the President, not quite 60, has ideas for another career after next January. The saying of Herodotus, "Call no man happy until you know the nature of his death . . ." could be revised to read for LBJ: Call no politician a has-been until you know the nature of his plans.

Viet War's Biggest Aerial Hits Staged

Interviewed

Tomas Reyes Lau, director of Los Angeles International School of Bartending, tells newsmen yesterday that Eric Starvo Galt was a student at the school and graduated March 2. Lau said Galt was "very intelligent." He said the FBI interviewed him about Galt Tuesday.

SAIGON (AP) — Waves of American B52s hit South Vietnam's A Shau Valley with more than 1,500 tons of bombs Wednesday and today in the war's heaviest aerial blows for a 24-hour period. At least 60 of the eight-engine Stratofortresses streaked over the valley from bases in Thailand and Guam to bomb North Vietnamese truck parks, storage areas and troop concentrations.

TOP TARGET

The 25-mile-long valley has become the No. 1 target for the B52 saturation bombing. Senior U.S. officers believe the North Vietnamese may be using the valley as a staging area for another major attack on Hue, 25 miles to the northeast.

The Communist command is believed to have 25 to 30 battalions in the Hue area, perhaps 15,000 to 18,000 men. The valley is used to funnel enemy troops and supplies from Laos eastward to the fringes of the old imperial capital on the coast where the enemy made his most determined stand during the lunar new year offensive in February.

Vietnamese sources report that the North Vietnamese 325C Division, once deployed around the Khe Sanh base 50 miles to the north, has moved into the A Shau Valley.

CIRCLE ENEMY

Since April 1, the B52s have flown 55 separate missions over the area, with each mission averaging about six planes. An estimated 8,000 tons of explosives have been dropped.

On the ground, U.S. and South Vietnamese troops battled enemy forces in the Mekong Delta and along the northern frontier Wednesday.

In the biggest battle, U.S. Infantrymen from the 9th Division reported killing 78 Viet Cong in day-long fighting in the delta 43 miles southwest of Saigon. Four Americans were reported killed and 15 wounded.

The U.S. infantrymen surrounded the enemy, and artillery and fighter-bombers blasted the enemy positions.

No new ground fighting was reported at Khe Sanh, but U.S. officers said more than 240 rounds of artillery and rockets hit the area Wednesday in the third consecutive day of heavy shelling. U.S. casualties were reported light.

COMBAT TOTALS

For the 14th successive day in the air war against North Vietnam, U.S. jets stayed south of the 19th Parallel.

The deepest penetration reported was by Navy bombers that hit a ferry crossing 26 miles northwest of Vinh and 10 miles south of the parallel.

The U.S. Command announced that 363 U.S. troops were killed in action last week, the highest number in five weeks. The South Vietnamese said their combat dead totaled 293, 114 less than the week before, while the two commands said 3,071 of the enemy were killed last week.

An increase of 5,000 also was reported in the number of U.S. military personnel in South Vietnam, raising the total to 522,000.

Defies House Arrest, Smuggles Out Appeal

ATHENS (AP) — Former Premier George Papandreou defied house arrest Wednesday and smuggled out an appeal for international political and economic isolation of Greece's military dictatorship.

The statement from the 80-year-old leftist leader said "solidarity and support" from nations of the "free world" would lead to the immediate overthrow of the junta that seized power in a coup April 21, 1967.

Papandreou and ex-Premier Panayiotis Kanellopoulos were placed under house arrest Monday in an attempt to prevent them from issuing statements in connection with the first anniversary of the coup.

FOILS GUARDS

But Papandreou foiled the guards around his house and managed to smuggle out a long and defiant statement that was distributed by his followers.

He accused the regime of abolishing freedom of the press, freedom of speech and freedom of assembly. He said the coup leaders have so far failed to justify their claim that a Communist revolution was to be launched during the elections that had been scheduled for May 28, 1967, elections which Papandreou's Center Union had been expected to win.

"The Communist danger was manufactured and the coup undertaken only to prevent our electoral victory," Papandreou said.

Mayor Daley Clarifies Shoot Arsonists Order

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley has clarified his order that police shoot arsonists and looters on sight, but he reiterated his position that such force as is necessary be used to prevent such crimes.

Daley read a statement to the city council Wednesday which clarified the language of his order Monday in connection with arsonists and looters. An aide said the statement was designed to remove the impression that the mayor had called for indiscriminate shootings.

'SHOOT TO KILL'
Daley's statement to the council Wednesday was in connection with a resolution he introduced designating May 1 as Law Day, a resolution which the council adopted unanimously.

Daley evidently was replying to criticism during the April 5-7 disturbances that police did little to stop looters and arsonists. The mayor touched off a wave of controversy—in the city and the nation—Monday when he rebuked Police Supt. James B. Conlisk for not issuing "shoot on sight" orders during the disturbances. He told a press conference at the time that policemen should "shoot to kill" arsonists and shoot to "maim or cripple" looters.

An aide to the mayor called Daley's statement Wednesday "a clarification" of his earlier order.

Senate Taking Aim At Offshore Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation aimed at tapping federal income from oil and gas development in the off-shore areas to provide funds for park land purchases is due before the Senate next week.

Louisiana and some other coastal states strongly oppose such use of off-shore revenues. Louisiana has made a claim for at least part of this federal income, estimated at about $500 million a year.

Congress several years ago, in a move to provide new outdoor recreation areas, set up the land and water conservation fund to be used by the states and government for land purchases and development work. The $100 million fund proved inadequate and considerably below estimates.

PARK PINCH
Many states, which had set up elaborate park purchase programs, felt the pinch. The Interior Department found itself with insufficient money to buy land it wanted. It also was faced with rapidly escalating land prices in the areas where it planned to buy.

So the proposal was made to use some of the off-shore revenues to augment the land and water conservation fund. Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., has introduced a bill to set up a $1.2 billion fund to finance a five-year park land program. About $500 million would come from existing sources. The off-shore revenues would be tapped for about $700 million.

A somewhat similar bill has been approved by the House Interior Committee. It provides a total fund of $1 billion for five years with about $500 million to come from the off-shore revenues.

Supporters say such outlay is necessary if the government is to acquire a Redwoods National Forest and similar recreation areas in other parts of the country.

SEEK SHARE
Louisiana congressmen aren't opposed to the idea of a bigger parkland fund, but they do oppose earmarking the off-shore revenues for this or any other purpose.

Originally, Louisianians had proposed that off-shore revenues be divided on the basis of 32 1/2 per cent to the adjacent coastal ward the highway we found two more small bodies. In looking, we discovered at least one child still breathing.

"About five minutes after we discovered the children, one of the little boys we presumed dead began to come to life and asked for water.

"We gave him two swallows of water and then walked to the top of the hill and called the law in Sonora.

Quigg said the slayings were the "most bloodthirsty thing I've ever seen."

"I'm a big man and I've seen quite a few things, but after seeing the little boy I had to go off and cry."

TWO CHILDREN SURVIVE ATTACKS

Mass Murder Made Husky Highway Employe Weep

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — A husky road equipment operator said today the sight of the tiny stabbed body of an 18-month-old Mexican boy who was killed with his parents and aunt made him cry.

J. T. Quigg, who works on a county highway crew, said he was one of the last to see Manuel Arellano, his wife, sister and 18-month-old son, Eduardo, alive and one of the first to locate their bodies early Wednesday morning.

BLOODY MESS
Quigg said he and two others on his crew came on the family about 6:15 p.m. Tuesday after the family's car apparently had two flat tires about eight miles north of Loma Alta. He said the crew offered to help, "but we didn't have the right tools or equipment."

Two women, a man and three children were in the car, he said. Two of the children survived the bloody attack and are hospitalized in critical condition in Sonora and San Antonio.

Quigg said he passed the car again about 7 p.m. and saw the family but didn't stop.

CLAD IN RED
"The man waved to me like he was saying 'hello'—just a good will gesture," Quigg said. The next morning, he said, he passed the car—now vacant—at about 7:30 a.m. The car was in the same place he had seen it the night before, Quigg said.

He said he went to the Whitehead Ranch, which runs along US 270, and was told that one of the ranchhands had found a man in the pasture—"They didn't know if the man was sick or just what was wrong with him."

Quigg and two others drove to where the man lay, finding him face down about 40 yards from the highway, he said.

CHILD STABBED
"We got out of the pickup and walked over to it and saw a small child stabbed three times in the back. About eight feet to ward the highway we found two more small bodies. In looking, we discovered at least one child still breathing.

"About five minutes after we discovered the children, one of the little boys we presumed dead began to come to life and asked for water.

"We gave him two swallows of water and then walked to the top of the hill and called the law in Sonora.

Wild Elevator Ride Triggers Screams
Mrs. Rita Palmer, office secretary in the Howard County Engineers office, won't be making any further use of the courthouse elevator.

"I'll use the stairs," she said today. "I never did like that thing (the elevator) and I refuse to ride it any more."

Mrs. Palmer's distaste for the elevator resulted from a frightening ride she had in the device late Wednesday afternoon. She boarded the car about 4:45 p.m., she said.

"I pushed the button," she recalls. "The elevator dropped without stop to the basement. Then it started back up again. The doors wouldn't open. The thing kept going up and down and I was scared to death."

She said she had visions of everyone leaving the courthouse with her trapped in the elevator on an endless up-and-down ride through the night.

"I was screaming for help," she said. "Deputy sheriffs and others outside yelled to me to 'Push the DO button.' I did. The elevator kept right on."

Finally someone got the safety key and unlocked the door from the outside.

"I rode up and down in that thing for 10 or 15 minutes," said Mrs. Palmer. "That's enough for me. Now I walk up and down the stairs."

Sen. Kennedy Responds To Debate Challenge

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, campaigning in Indiana, says he wants to debate Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, his rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, and also wants Secretary of State Dean Rusk to resign because of his association with the Vietnam war.

McCarthy responded to the Kennedy debate challenge by saying the Minnesota "isn't the only candidate" and that he is willing to debate all other White House contenders together, including Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who is expected to be a candidate.

WHERE RACIAL VIOLENCE OCCURRED

Gun Sales Rise Sharply In Cities

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gun sales have soared in predominantly white suburbs of Washington, Baltimore and Kansas City since looting and violence erupted in the Negro neighborhoods of those cities this month.

BUYS BANNED
Rioting that followed the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. on April 4 marked the first major racial disorders in any of the three cities in recent years.

In contrast, there was little if any increase in gun sales in the suburbs of two cities which experienced rioting in previous years as well as this month. Only one dealer in two suburbs adjacent to Chicago's West Side, scene of a 1966 riot, reported an increase in sales. And there was no evidence of an increase in Detroit's suburbs, where gun sales went up sharply during the 1967 riot.

When trouble broke out in Washington, gun sales were banned in the city and in its Maryland suburbs.

Sales were permitted in suburban Virginia, however, and in Alexandria long lines of suburbanites formed outside gun shops.

400 APPLICATIONS
Alexandria police said in the first two weeks in April they received 400 applications for permits to possess handguns—more than they had during the entire month of March.

Although purchases were barred in the Maryland suburbs of both Washington and Baltimore during the disorders, many dealers forwarded applications for handgun permits to police for processing. The ban was lifted last Sunday.

Karl Zinkhan, deputy chief of the Baltimore County police, said the number of requests was the highest his department has received since 1966 when the law requiring permits was passed.

"We don't like to see so many handguns going out," Zinkhan said, "but we're reasonably sure they are going into the hands of responsible citizens."

MOSTLY HANDGUNS
Gun dealers in Overland Park, Kan., a suburb of Kansas City, reported a spurt in sales as soon as a ban on them was lifted.

In Independence, Mo., another Kansas City suburb, 40 people were lined up at one gun shop when the ban went into effect.

Edward Breit, owner of a gun shop in Oak Park, Ill., a town adjacent to Chicago's West Side, said his business was up substantially.

"Mostly handguns. Not rifles or shotguns," he said.

However, police in Oak Park and neighboring Cicero said applications for handgun permits were running about normal.

In the Detroit suburb of Dearborn, Police Chief John B. O'Reilly said, "Last fall the amount of handgun registrations probably tripled. This pace has been constant. I don't think there has been any change as a result of Dr. King's death."

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL Big Bend Blossoms Blaze

By ED SYERS

Since 1958, when Gov. Price Daniel reactivated the Texas Navy for our heritage-minded sailors who can take their own craft to sea, San Jacinto Day has observed ceremonies anchored on our fleet's flagship, former USS Texas, moored at the battleground.

It appears a passing armada of boats, large and small (this year, daylong Saturday, since the anniversary falls on Sunday); it is much more.

Houston's Joseph B. Hutchison, Texas Navy executive officer, advising this year's memorial, recalls the little-known fact that a fledgling four-ship Texian fleet helped earn San Jacinto. Those tiny Schooners that did well just to survive sea, not only harried Santa Anna's shipping but blocked supplies and reinforcements that were vital, invading Texas.

Rightly fearful of troop landings across its coast, Texian government strained credit's limit to buy and outfit its fleet, reconditioning what U.S. would have scrapped. That was early '36, when Travis was about to garrison Alamo and Fannin fortify Goliad.

BRAVE NAMES
They bore brave names—those converts: Liberty, Invincible, Brutus, Independence. At 60 tons, Liberty was smallest; four smoothbore six-pounders that could lob a solid shot or blow in your face. Low-hulled, 125-ton Invincible manned eight guns—two, long 18's. Independence was flagship. There were some seamen; mostly riflemen.

And so they went out: harass anything to supply or reinforce. Santa Anna might march a big army over the wintry-lean land north; but sane support must come by sea. So little Liberty struck first. Even as Alamo tottered and Fannin hesitated, the boarded schooner Pelicano, took her in sharp fighting. Off Texas? No, off Yucatan!

Pelicanos was prize indeed: loaded to gunwales with provisions, lead and powder—invasion-bound. She'd reach Texas; but for Texians already falling back toward San Jacinto.

GRIM RETREAT
It was during that same grim retreat that Invincible held the flank. She blockaded Rio Grande's mouth below Matamoros where 2,000 reinforcements waited shipping. Off the pass, she took on Bravo, conveying Correo Segundo, fought them to a draw, then came about on a downbearing American-owned brig, the Pocket.

It was Pocket that the little schooner took as prize: it would develop that this American was under contract to land the waiting troops in Texas. They could have joined Santa Anna before San Jacinto. Invincible left them port-bound, still waiting.

In time the first little Navy would be lost: Liberty, New Orleans—sold for lack of money to refit her; Invincible and Brutus, 1837 storm-wrecked; and Independence, captured the same year. But the loss of all of them, notably, came after San Jacinto held.

The Texas Republic would ultimately boast a second, slightly larger Navy which in turn would revert to scrap, wreck or transfer to United States, on annexation.

But it was that tiny splinter fleet—the first four—that rates San Jacinto's "Well done!" Sailorman Hutchison knows the right day for us to review our Texas Navy.

BLOOMING BIG BEND
We were asked when Big Bend blossoms. Cacti to bluebonnet, Alpine's Phil Plimmer asserts: continually! "Cacti bloom from February to November. Some have a relatively short season while others bloom off and on over many months. Among the yuccas and other succulents, one may come across blooms other times than their regular blooming season. There are always flowers in bloom, even in severe cold spells. Don't have exact data on bluebonnets but have seen them out in February, most every year."

OB's apologies to Friend Plimmer and others. "Couldn't find your address in several recent papers." Sorry; like news-loaded papers, OB ran out of column room, left it off. Write OB, care of The Herald, or to Ingram, Texas 78025. For personal reply, please enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Snow Blanketing Parts Of Wyoming, Colorado

By The Associated Press

A spring storm laced the central Rockies and adjacent Plains today, blanketing parts of Wyoming and Colorado with six to eight inches of wind-whipped snow.

Highway crews worked throughout the night in southeast Wyoming, but strong winds and blowing snow frustrated their efforts and made some roads impassable almost as soon as snow plows left. Five-foot drifts clogged portions of interstate 80 just east of Laramie.

Warnings to travelers and stockmen remained in effect for Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska, Utah and New Mexico. Much of the same region was belted by a major snowstorm only two weeks ago.

EIGHT INCHES

Eight inches of snow fell at Laramie and four inches at Rawlins, Wyo. Denver measured a three-inch accumulation.

Temperatures slid into the 20s from Montana and the Dakotas southward into Colorado.

Goliad Wins 8th Grade Title Here

In the first City Championship track and field meet ever staged between the two schools, Goliad Junior High's eight graders outscored Runnels 235-218, but the Yearlings ruled the roost in seventh grade competition, 234-219.

Ricky Blackman and David Stanley led the Goliad ninth graders to victory.

Blackman ran on two winning relay teams, won the 330-yard run and tied for first in the high jump with two teammates. Stanley also ran on both winning relay teams and capped the 220-yard dash.

Charley Brown played a big role in Runnels' seventh grade win, scoring a total of 41 points. He was first in the 220 and broad jump, ran on the winning 1200-yard relay team and was second in both the 100 and high jump.

All marks set yesterday will stand as record, since this was the inaugural meet between the two schools.

Cookie Rojas Leads Phils By Dodgers

When the wind shifts his way, little Cookie Rojas can blow up a big storm. "I hit home runs only in hurricanes," said the slender second baseman, who cracked a game-winning, two-run homer Wednesday night as the Philadelphia Phillies ended a six-game talsip by edging Don Drysdale and the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2.

Rojas' fifth inning shot off Drysdale enabled the struggling Phils to pull out their home opener and snap their longest losing streak since 1964, when a ten-game September skid cost them the National League pennant.

ASTROS LOSE The New York Mets and Pittsburgh Pirates also captured their home openings in impressive fashion, the Mets trimming San Francisco 3-0 behind rookie left-hander Jerry Koosman and the Pirates smothering Houston 13-4 with a 17-hit barrage.

The Phillies trailed 2-1 when Tony Taylor stroked a two-out single in the fifth and Rojas slammed a 3-2 pitch into the lower center field seats. "I was trying to punch the ball for a hit," said Rojas, whose first 1968 homer gave him a six-year career total of 17. "With a runner on first and Johnny Callison coming up I just wanted to keep it going."

"He gave me a high fast ball and I punched at it. It got up in the air and the wind did the rest. We were lucky the wind shifted later or Jim Lefebvre's shot in the eighth would have gone out."

Manager Gene Mauch lifted southpaw Woody Fryman, with two Dodgers on in the eighth, over center fielder Tony Gonzalez, who had been in the dugout since the fourth inning.

HALTS GIANTS Koosman scattered seven hits and struck out 10 on the way to his second successive shutout, lowering the Met pitching staff's earned run average to 0.81 before 52,079 Shea Stadium supporters—the largest crowd in the majors thus far.

Koosman stopped the Giants cold after escaping a bases-loaded none-out jam in the first inning by striking out Willie Mays, retiring Jim Hart on a foul pop and fanning Jack Hiatt.

A six-run uprising in the third inning keyed the Pirates' romp over Houston before a Forbes Field crowd of 30,779. Ex-reliever Al McBean, given a commanding early lead, went the distance for his second victory without a loss.

FEES, BULLARD HONORED Stanton's Jimmy Jones On All-Area Cage Club

Jimmy Jones of Stanton has been named to the All-West Texas Academic Basketball team chosen by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Nominations were made from more than 400 high schools in the 132-county area served by the WTCC. In order to qualify for nomination to the teams, the students had to be classified as seniors, maintain much better than average grades and he must have been selected to represent his school on an all-district team.

Jones maintained an 89.9 grade average to earn a position on the Class AA Academic team. Pat Fees of Lamesa was named to the Class AAA Academic team, as was Tommy Bullard of Snyder. Fees, who is bound for Baylor, led all AAA players in scholastic average with a 97.5 rating. Bullard was right behind with a 97.3 mark.

In Class AAAA, Bruce Huff of Abilene High was included with a 93.0 average. Cliff Thomas of Tahoka, with a 91.0 grade average, was included on the hitless until Rick Monday homered leading off the sixth and after that the only Oakland hit was Tony La Russa's single in the ninth. He was promptly erased in a double play. A crowd of 50,164 watched the opener. "We were lucky to get a run," said Athletics' Manager Bob Kennedy. "We only hit the ball hard about four times."

The Orioles hit the ball hard at least three times and they all ended up out of the park with Brooks Robinson and Mark Belanger homering along with Powell. In other American League games, New York beat California 3-2, Minnesota crushed Washington 13-1, Detroit topped Cleveland 4-3 in 10 innings and Boston shut out Chicago 2-0.

Coach Oakley Hagood says his Big Spring Steers aren't going to overpay any foe this spring, that—if they continue to win—they will have to rely on superior pitching and finesse. That, plus daring base running, at times. In compiling their fine record to date, the Longhorns haven't been beating down the fences. Neither do they have great speed. But they do believe in taking the extra base when the opportunity presents itself.

In their first 20 starts (16 of which they won), Steer pitchers yielded only 45 runs and 91 hits. That averaged out to 2.3 tallies and 4.1 hits a game. On only one occasion did a foe connect for as many as ten hits in that stretch.

Officials of the Houston Sports Association are among the most gracious people in business today but Houston writers can't resist poking fun at small communities. After visiting Canyon for the annual West Texas State spring football game (where he had all expenses picked up by his hosts), writer Dave Fink of the Houston Post wrote "It's an exciting event in Canyon when you strike a match."

Scribe Putt Powell of the Amarillo Globe News, a firm friend of Canyon and athletics as played by West Texas State, then nominated Dave as Fink of the Month. Of course, writers from such metropolitan areas as New York and San Francisco are prone to use the sneer approach when they visit Houston. (One San Francisco scribe, after a visit to Houston several years ago, wrote, in effect, that the only awesome thing about the place was man-made (i.e., the Astrodome) and natives like to spice their conversations with discussions about it because they dread talking about the oppressive heat that descends upon the area in the summer time.

Incidentally, the tallest mountain in Harris county will be the artificial one being built at the Astroworld playground for the sleigh ride. A total of 622 high schools are fielding baseball teams within the state this spring. Of that number, 190 are in Class AAAA, 13 in AAA, 106 in AA, 86 in A and 127 in B. No Class B school in West Texas fields a baseball team, as far as I know. That is hard to understand, since spring football training is not allowed on that level and not many of the schools have good track programs.

Incidentally, almost twice as many boys play high school football in Texas than in Ohio, a state which is also prone to point with pride to its athletic program—91,000 compared to 47,000. Ohio, however, fields 40,000 prep baseball players, compared to only 22,000 in Texas, even though the weather in this state is supposed to be better in the spring than in the Buckeye State.

When Midland stages its annual Tall City Golf Open (for women pros) May 9-10-11, the first day of competition will be devoted to pro-celebrity type of play. Coaches Darrell Royal of Texas, J. T. King of Texas Tech and Bobby Dobbs of UTEP have already accepted invitations to play in the meet. Several of the competitors may come from the world of entertainment, tournament officials say. Abilene Cooper's Jack Mildren was finally beaten in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles. His conqueror was Lance Adams of Grand Prairie, who turned the trick last weekend in Hurst by negotiating the distance in a sizzling 37.8. Mildren has shaded Big Spring's Snake Tucker several times in the event this spring. Tucker is faster than Mildren but Jack takes the hurdles better. In time, Snake may eclipse anything Mildren has done in the hurdles.

Alex Hannum: We're Ready

BOSTON (AP) — The annual National Basketball Association showdown between the rival Philadelphia 76ers and the Boston Celtics has come down to its final playoff game. You can take your pick of opinions on how much the home edge will mean. "The home court doesn't mean much to these two teams, Boston Player-Coach Bill Russell said after his Celtics evened the best-of-7 Eastern Division finals 3-3 with a 114-106 victory Wednesday night. "The team that has a good night wins; it's as simple as that."

Philadelphia's Alex Hannum sees it differently. "If the Celtics can come in there and beat us they deserve all the credit in the world, because they're going to be up against a tough basketball team," Hannum said.

"We worked all season for the home court advantage," he added. "We've still got it. We're going to have that crowd yelling for us Friday night."

The Celtics had it Wednesday night, and they made the most of it before a wildly cheering crowd of 14,780 at Boston Garden, leading virtually all the way behind the sparkling all-around play of Russell and John Havlicek.

Russell scored 17 points, played a strong defensive game, and dominated the boards in his personal duel with Walt Chamberlain, hauling in 31 rebounds. Havlicek led the Celtics with 28 points and was all over the court in a brilliant floor game.

what?
a wagon with a basement?

And a penthouse? The Impala Tri-Level Wagon has both—plus a huge center cargo area. The "basement" is a concealed storage area. In between, there's space galore, when the seat is folded. The penthouse, on top, is a luggage rack that you may order. That's three-levels of room, enough to carry about everything... including the kitchen sink. Get our on-the-level deal on an Impala Tri-Level Wagon! We're determined to save you money... now!

Are you willing to go as low as $1797 for a new VW?

We don't sell status.
Just a car. One that gets about 27 mpg, averages 40,000 miles on a set of tires, and hardly uses oil between changes.
Of course, the fact that it's practical is no secret. And everybody is going to know that you're saving money. But that's the price you pay for Volkswagen.

Dear Abby

Now It's Daughter's Nest

DEAR ABBY: My 21-year-old daughter is moving into her own apartment, and she claims that the furniture in her bedroom, the piano, and some other items are HERS to take along because I bought them for her—like her clothes. I feel guilty not letting her take these things, because although I DID buy them for her, they were for her convenience and comfort only as long as she lived at home.

Abby, if all my other children decided to move out and take their bedroom furniture, desks, etc., with them, I would be left with an empty house, and I certainly can't afford to refurbish right now.

Have times changed so much in 25 years? When I left my mother's home, it never would have occurred to me to take anything but my clothing.

Please answer this in your column for other parents who must have been faced with this same problem.

DEAR B.B.J.: You have no reason to feel guilty. Any mother's "child" who is old enough to leave home, should not expect to take half of "home" with him.

DEAR ABBY: Last week my sister had the flu, so I went to her house to help her out. I did her laundry and when I went to put it in her linen closet, I could not help but notice an unusually large supply of soap and toothpaste. They were "free samples"—the kind I recently got in the mail, addressed to "occupant."

My sister's husband is a postman, so this might give you a clue. Another thing I noticed, they have every magazine under the sun and they all have little square "holes" on the covers, where the names and addresses have been cut off. If these magazines and all those free samples of soap and toothpaste are undeliverable, I am sure there are plenty of institutions that could use them.

If my brother-in-law is typical of all postmen, they must be the "cleanest, sweetest-smelling men in town. NO NAME, OHIO

DEAR NO NAME: I smell something—and it's not your brother-in-law. Ask your sister if she can explain the "free goods."

DEAR ABBY: For "Likes 'Em Real," who got in such a flap over foam-rubber fannies, etc., and suggested "truth in packaging," or verification cards for the ladies, may I suggest one for the gentlemen, too? One might read:

Hair: Natural color—Gray. Uses hair color. Also wears hair piece to cover baldness.

Eyes: Near-sighted. Wears contact lenses.

Teeth: Dentures. (Lost his own when hit in the mouth, after the "pinch test" for rubber fannies.)

Shoulders: Natural width—32 inches. With padded shoulders in jacket—44 inches.

Chest: Actual measurement—32 inches. With abdominal belt—44 inches.

Waist: Actual measurement—44 inches. With abdominal belt—32 inches.

Height: Actual—5 feet 8 inches. With elevated shoes—6 feet one inch.

Many men could be in trouble under the same law, if it were passed. Right? M.R.M.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

Silent Killer stalks Texas Peanut Crops?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Researchers at Texas A&M University say there is strong evidence that common air pollution may be damaging Texas peanut crops. Although it has yet to be proven, scientists believe the common industrial pollutant sulfur dioxide might be the villain using ozone as the weapon. Here's a look at the problem.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Researchers at Texas A&M University believe Texas peanut crops are being stalked by a silent killer—air pollution. Small amounts of sulfur dioxide—a common industrial pollutant—have been discovered in the peanut plants.

BIG MYSTERY
For several years, Texas peanut farmers have been mystified by some damage which has occurred to their crops.

Dr. H. C. Applegate, a plant pathologist and pollution researcher at Presidio, and researcher assistant, Lane Durant, said a combination of ozone and sulfur dioxide may be responsible.

"We are convinced as far as we can be without going out to the field," said Applegate. He said environmental chamber tests show that it takes "far less of both ozone and sulfur dioxide to cause damage than either one caused alone."

Applegate said ozone-sulfur research done in New Jersey with tomatoes and beans and in Ohio with tobacco plants produced similar damage.

POLLUTION PROBE
"I would suspect that all plants might be affected to some extent by this (air pollution)," said Applegate.

He said ozone is a normal constituent of the atmosphere. Applegate said higher concentrations occur on sunny days due to the action of sunlight on oxygen in the air and during thunderstorms because of lightning production.

The bidding:
South West North East
J 1 2 ♥ 2 4 Pass
4 4 Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Three of ♣. West was highly critical of his partner's play to the first trick in defending against South's four spade contract.

West's own performance left something to be desired, however, for he had it in his power to provide East with a clear-cut picture of how to proceed.

West opened the three of clubs, the deuce was played from dummy, and East put in the jack—playing his partner to have led from a holding which included the queen. South won the trick with the queen, however, and proceeded on his merry way.

The jack of spades was led at trick two and West put up the ace. He returned the ten of clubs and declarer ruffed in his hand. A small spade was led to the king, leaving West with the only outstanding trump—the queen.

Another club was trumped by South and a diamond was returned. West discarded a heart, inasmuch as it would have done him no good to trump. North's king of clubs was ruffed with declarer's last spade, and he proceeded to lead the rest of his diamonds. West could ruff with the queen of spades whenever he liked but, after cashing the ace of hearts, he was thru. The defense was limited to two spades and one heart.

West contended that East should have played the ace of clubs at trick one and shifted to a heart, which would have permitted West to take two tricks in that suit. West asserted further that since he did not lead hearts originally, he must have a tenace in that suit rather than a sequence of honors; therefore, East should have been alerted to the necessity for obtaining the lead in order to make a heart play thru declarer.

While there is definite merit to West's contention, he could have facilitated matters greatly by opening the ten of clubs originally, instead of the three. Inasmuch as it was his desire to get East in for a heart play, rather than to cash a club trick, the lead of a high club was more apt to alert partner to his wishes.

If East plays the ace of clubs at trick one and returns a heart, the defense will have their book in immediately, with two spade tricks still to be scored.

Delicious Salmon

Canned salmon transforms this robust German specialty into a delicate treat. Topped with capers and sauteed bread crumbs, it's a dish with intriguing flavor.

Serve Delicate Treat From German Origin

During the early spring months, millions of salmon eggs, buried in the sands of Pacific Coast streams, become tiny living fish which, when mature, provide Alaska with a thriving industry and the American table with one of the most delicate and delicious of all fish and seafood. Try this new, easy-to-prepare salmon dish soon. It's a great one!

SALMON BALLS IN CAPER SAUCE

- 1 one-lb. can salmon
 - 2 slices soft bread, crumbled
 - 1 tsp. grated onion
 - 3 tbsps. melted butter
 - 1 tsp. grated lemon rind
 - 1 tsp. lemon juice
 - 2 eggs, beaten
 - 1/4 tsp. pepper
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 4 tbsps. chopped parsley
 - 1/2 cup white wine
 - 2 tbsps. soft butter
 - 2 tbsps. flour
 - 1 boneless, skinless sardine
 - 1/2 cup heavy cream
 - 1 1/2 tsp. chopped capers
 - 1/2 cup sauteed bread crumbs
- Drain liquid from salmon into a two-cup measure and set aside. Flake salmon into mixing bowl and stir in bread crumbs. Saute grated onion in melted butter for three minutes, or until onion is transparent. Add onion and butter to salmon mixture. Add lemon rind and juice, eggs, pepper, salt and half the parsley. Mix and beat thoroughly. Form into eight medium-size balls (mixture will be sticky).

To salmon liquid in measuring cup add wine. Fill cup with water to make a total of two cups liquid. Pour liquid into a 10-inch skillet and heat to simmering. Gently lower salmon balls into hot liquid, cover and simmer for 10 minutes.

Remove balls from liquid and keep warm. Mix soft butter, flour and sardine to a smooth paste. Gradually stir mixture into liquid in skillet and cook, stirring, until sauce is thickened. Stir in cream, capers and remaining parsley. Return salmon balls to sauce, spoon sauce over them, cover and simmer for two minutes. Sprinkle with sauteed bread crumbs and serve. Serves four.

No need to fret over left-over turkey from special holiday meals.

Turkey already cooked offers an endless array of menu possibilities for several weeks.

Naturally, some will be used for delicious sandwiches or hot or cold turkey and cranberry relish. But for other meals, a good plan is to remove all of the meat from the bones as soon as possible after the festive dinner. Slice the "sliceable" portions and then dice or grind the remaining meat. Divide into portions just right for your family mealtime needs. Freeze immediately.

Try these tasty recipes.

TURKEY-RICE SOUP

- 4 cups turkey stock
 - 1/4 cup finely diced onion
 - 3/4 cup diced celery
 - 1/2 cup diced carrots
 - 1/4 cup rice
 - 3 tbsps. fat
 - 3 tbsps. flour
 - 1 cup diced turkey
 - 1 tbsps. chopped parsley
- Heat stock to boiling. Add vegetables and rice to stock and cook slowly. Melt fat, blend in flour. Add a little hot stock to flour mixture and blend until smooth. Stir into soup. Add turkey. Cook, stirring constantly, for 10 minutes longer. Remove from heat. Add chopped parsley before serving. Makes five servings.

TURKEY GUMBO

- 2 small diced onions
 - 2 tbsps. fat
 - 4 cups turkey broth
 - 2 cups canned tomatoes
 - 2 cups cooked turkey, chopped
 - 2 tbsps. chopped parsley
 - 1/2 tsp. paprika
 - 2 cups cooked rice
 - 4 cups cooked okra.
- Cook onion in fat until it's tender but not brown. Add broth, tomatoes, okra, turkey, parsley and paprika. Heat and simmer 10 minutes. Taste for seasoning. Add cooked rice and heat. Makes four to six servings.

CREAM OF TURKEY SOUP

- 1 cup finely diced celery
 - 1/4 cup minced onion
 - 3 tbsps. butter or margarine
 - 1/4 cup flour
 - 2 cups turkey broth
 - 2 cups milk
 - 1 cup grated fresh carrots
 - 1 cup finely chopped cooked turkey
- Salt and pepper to taste
2 tbsps. chopped parsley
Saute celery and onion about five minutes in butter until soft but not brown. Remove from heat, add flour and blend thoroughly. Stir until thick and smooth. Add carrots and turkey meat. Cook about 10 minutes. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Garnish with chopped parsley. Makes six servings.

Salad And Pork

Place canned pear halves on nests of finely shredded western iceberg lettuce in lettuce cups, top with cranberry sauce and serve with roast loin of pork or pork chops.

Use Eggs, Cheese In Luncheon Dish

Omit eggs from the breakfast menu the day you serve this dish for lunch.

SHIRRED EGGS WITH BEANS

- 1 can (15 1/2 ounces) beans in barbecue sauce
- 6 eggs
- 3 tablespoons grated cheddar cheese.

In a small saucepan, stirring occasionally, heat the beans in barbecue sauce until very hot. Turn into three round individual overglass pie dishes (six inches across and one inch deep). Carefully break two eggs over the hot beans in each dish. Sprinkle with grated cheese; cover tightly with foil, but do not let foil touch top. Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven until eggs are set as much as you like — about 25 minutes for well-set whites with slightly soft yolks. Serve at once in baking dishes. Pass salt and pepper. Makes three large servings.

Bake Unusual Bishop's Bread For Family Treat

Women the world over enjoy serving special holiday breads. The Viennese, perhaps the world's most skillful bakers, have a traditional favorite, the classic Viennese Bishop's Bread.

Somewhat like fruitcake, it's made with raisins, candied cherries, nuts and the added goodness of semi-sweet chocolate pieces. Soft-type margarine containing liquid safflower oil adds its own fine flavor to the recipe, too. And because of the margarine's soft consistency, both the batter and frosting are simple to prepare. It combines easily with other ingredients right from the refrigerator.

Serve Bishop's Bread with a luscious Lemon Spread for breakfast or with tea later in the day. It keeps well, too — truly an international favorite that would do the most skillful Viennese proud!

BISHOP'S BREAD

- 1/2 cup soft-type margarine
 - 1/4 cup sugar
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
 - 2 eggs
 - 2 3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 - 3 tbsps. baking powder
 - 1/2 tsp. salt
 - 1 cup milk
 - 1-3 cup finely chopped nuts
 - 1-3 cup chopped candied cherries
 - 1-3 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces
 - 1-3 cup raisins
- Blend together soft-type margarine, sugar and vanilla. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; gradually blend into margarine mixture alternately with milk. Stir in nuts. Coat inside of 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan with soft-type margarine; turn in batter. Bake at 350 degrees one hour and five to 10 minutes, until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Remove from pan; cool. Spread top with Frosting. Serve with Lemon Spread. Yield: One loaf.

FROSTING

Blend together two tablespoons soft-type margarine, 1 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, one tablespoon milk and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

LEMON SPREAD

Blend together 1/2 cup soft-type margarine and 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar. Stir in one teaspoon grated lemon rind and two tablespoons lemon juice. Yield: 3/4 cup.

Aid Budget With Lamb Meat Loaf

Homemakers who frequently need budget aid would do well to use ground lamb for the variety accent.

This is different kind of meat loaf from those usually served mainly because of the seasonings. Finely crumbled bay leaf gets mixed right in with the other ingredients.

With so many different ingredients, make certain they are well mixed but not excessively handled for this meat loaf.

PERKY LAMB LOAF

- 1 1/2 lbs. ground lamb
 - 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
 - 1 cup milk
 - 1 egg
 - 3 tbsps. grated onion
 - 1 1/2 tbsps. salt
 - 1/4 tsp. pepper
 - 2 tbsps. chopped parsley
 - 1 small bay leaf, finely crumbled
 - 3/4 cup cooked rice
 - 3 tbsps. chopped pimiento
 - 1 cup cooked peas
- Combine lamb, bread crumbs, milk, egg, onion, salt, pepper, parsley, bay leaf, rice, and pimiento. Mix thoroughly. Add peas, mix lightly. Pack firmly into 9 x 5-inch loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 1/2 hours. Makes six to eight servings.

Serve Casserole For Sunday Meal

A four-serving version of one of our popular recipes.

ITALIAN CASSEROLE

- 3/4 cup enriched yellow cornmeal
 - 3/4 tsp. salt
 - 3/4 cup cold water
 - 2 cups boiling water
 - 1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese
 - Meat sauce (see Note)
- Mix cornmeal, salt and cold water; slowly stir in boiling water; cook and stir constantly until thickened; cover and over low heat cook five minutes more, stirring a few times, until very thick. Off heat, stir in 1/4 cup of the cheese. Turn into an eight-inch square baking pan; cool. Refrigerate, covered tightly, until firm. Cut into squares and place in a 10 by 6 by 1 1/2-inch glass baking dish (1 1/2 quart). Add meat sauce. Bake in a 350-degree oven about 25 minutes. Top with remaining 1/4 cup cheese; bake five minutes longer. Makes four servings.
- Note: For Meat Sauce, skillet-cook 3/4 pound ground beef; add one eight-ounce can tomato sauce, 1/4 cup chopped onion, 1/2 teaspoon each salt, sugar, celery salt and oregano; simmer for 10 minutes.

MRS. JOE HORTON

Busy Mother Plans Efficiency Schedule

By RHODA LEMONS

Mrs. Joe Horton, 3300 Cornell, doesn't look like what she is — an efficiency expert. She and her husband are parents of four boys, Gregg, 11; Waleo, 10; Derek, 7; and Doug, 4. The three older boys go to Moss Elementary School.

Horton is an inspector at Cosden Oil and Chemical Company.

Petite, blonde Mrs. Horton arises at 7 a.m. and cooks a large breakfast. After getting her husband off to work, and her sons to school, she tidies her house and cleans up the kitchen. Then she makes a gelatin salad or prepares other foods in advance for the noon meal which is the largest of the day for her family. She plans her menus in advance and does her shopping once each week. However, she watches the newspaper for specials and buys accordingly.

"I buy cheaper cuts of meats and use a lot of marinade," said Mrs. Horton, who shops economically. She does not have a set amount for her grocery budget, but she believes in eating well as cheaply as possible.

For supper, the Hortons have sandwiches, soup or leftovers. The boys play Little League ball, and Horton coaches a Little League team while "mother" is a spectator. Mrs. Horton makes all her clothes, and does a lot of mending. She makes an occasional shirt for the boys and averages two garments a month. She subscribes to a home pattern catalog and chooses new fashions best suited to her.

"I don't watch much television," said Mrs. Horton. "I don't have much time for it." She usually mends in the evenings while the boys are getting homework and dad is reading the paper.

Mrs. Horton washes Monday, Wednesday and Friday. She does the household linens on Wednesday and the clothes on the other two days. She irons on Monday and if she has an unusually heavy amount, finishes it the next day.

She thoroughly cleans her house on Wednesday, and then picks up and straightens the rest of the week.

Mrs. Horton has worked three years as a den mother and has more years ahead of her. Her husband assists in Boy Scouts. She is president of the Women of the Church at St. Paul Presbyterian and teaches a Sunday school class. She is a member of the Four O'Clock Garden Club.

The Hortons entertain infrequently. Both older boys wear

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Like the idea of a coffee-flavored marshmallow sauce to top chocolate ice cream for a Mocha Sundae? Stir a teaspoon of powdered coffee into a tablespoon of boiling water, add half a cup of marshmallow cream and blend. Enough topping for four servings of ice cream.

If you've cooked roast beef in a slow oven and want to put Yorkshire pudding into a hot oven while the beef is "resting," count on it taking from five to eight minutes for the oven to reach the high temperature.

Before you begin mixing drop cookies, turn on the oven to the correct baking temperature and, if necessary, butter the cookie sheets. Rubbing the sheets with butter rather than shortening gives a good flavor.

A ham loaf in the oven? Bake some bananas to go along with this meat. Roll the bananas in sugar, melted butter or margarine and then dust with nutmeg; place in a pie plate and let them bake the last 10 or 15 minutes that the ham loaf is in the oven.

Need a quick luncheon dish? Drain canned red kidney beans, rinse in cold water and mix with any crisp raw vegetable such as celery, green pepper, or cucumber. Toss the combination with French dressing and serve on salad greens. You can give the salad a garnish, if you like, of a dot of mayonnaise sprinkled with red pepper.

An hour before you make that cake, take the eggs and milk out of the refrigerator; if butter or margarine is to be used in it instead of shortening, it should be allowed to come to room temperature along with the eggs and milk.

Did you know that in general potatoes are classified as long and round? Their color — white, red or russet — also distinguishes them.

Potato starch and potato flour are two different products although the former is sometimes called "flour." Potato starch is, similar to cornstarch in texture; potato flour is fine but granular.

You can often save time by cooking potatoes ahead, but the spuds will lose some of their vitamin C (ascorbic acid) after 24 hours in the refrigerator. So when you serve cooked-ahead potatoes to your family, make extra sure that you also serve some high-C foods such as tomatoes, citrus fruits and green cabbage.

Grating potatoes for pancakes? If milk is used in the recipe, grate the potatoes directly into it to help keep the spuds white.

Different salad: drain a can of mandarin oranges and toss with salad greens, cucumber slices and French dressing. Paper-thin onion rings or sliced green onions (scallions) may also be added if you favor onion flavor.

Two rules can save homemakers time and energy. They are: Keep food and equipment at the place they are first put into use; keep food and equipment used in the same food process together.

At cocktail time, insert small frankfurters in a head of cabbage and serve the franks with a tangy sauce. To prepare the cabbage, choose a dark green head, rinse thoroughly and dry. Trim base so head will stand steady. Curl loose outer leaves down and away from the head.

Add seedless white grapes and 1/4 cup of white wine next time you make fillets of sole for a marvelous French version called Filet de Sole Vernique. If you can find shallots, they add great flavor.

BLEND BREAKFAST AND LUNCH
Serve delicious pancakes and bacon

Use Orange-Cheese Topping On Pancakes For Special Brunch

Brunch is that leisurely meal which blends breakfast and lunch. It is a time to catch up on conversation and relish crisp, brown-sugar cured bacon and hot cakes. Because there is time to savor the foods, a few special touches are in order. Canned or frozen blueberries may be added to the pancake batter and some folks will forsake syrup for an orange-cheese sauce topping.

When there are hot cakes to supervise on the griddle, why not cook the bacon in the oven. Arrange separated slices of bacon on a rack in a baking pan. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) about 10 to 12 minutes.

Martha Logan, well-known home economist, has this tip for separating bacon slices. She slips the edge of a rubber scrapper between the slices. Each slice comes away easily. When pan-frying several slices, it is not necessary to separate them first. Remove the desired number of slices from the package in a group. Place in an unheated skillet. The slices will separate easily when heated.

ORANGE-CHEESE SAUCE FOR HOTCAKES

2 pkg. (3 oz. each) cream

Make Marinade With Soy Sauce

Salad oil (but not olive) mixed with soy sauce and sweet sherry make a good marinade for flank steak that is to be broiled. If you like, you can add a cut and slightly crushed garlic clove to the marinade.

cheese
2 tps. shredded orange peel
1/4 cup fresh orange juice
2 1/2 tps. sugar

Allow cream cheese to stand until it reaches room temperature. Beat cheese until it is light and fluffy. Combine orange juice, sugar, and shredded orange peel. Add to cheese slowly while beating. Pour about two tablespoons cream cheese sauce over each serving of blueberry pancakes. Serve with crisp bacon. Yield: 1 1/2 cups.

Keep Pancakes Hot

To keep pancakes hot while making several batches, place the baked griddle cakes one layer deep in a shallow pan in a very low oven.

'GALLON JUGGERS' VS. 'DAIRY GANG'

Voters Asked To Referee Fuss Over Milk Prices

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one in a series on the price question that will appear on the May 4 ballots in the Democratic and Republican primaries. Each voter will be asked to say if he is for or against the dairy commission, issuer of the milk price control bill, and the dairy commission, issuer of the milk price control bill. The results will be merely an expression of opinion and will not be binding on the legislature or anyone else.

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Texas voters will be asked May 4 to referee a family feud within the milk producing and processing industry.

The "gallon juggers" vs. the "dairy commission gang" could be the billing on the Democratic and Republican ballots if labels were applied as used by the contesting sides.

HANGOVER
All of which is a hangover headache from the 1967 Legislature. Whether or not Texas should have a Texas Dairy Commission to fix and control milk prices in the state was one of the hottest issues. The measure passed the Senate 21-8, then died in the House.

The appearance of the dairy commission question on the primary ballots is, by frank admission of opponents of the idea, an attempt to keep the bill from being revived in the 1969 Legislature.

When the opinion poll was ordered by the Texas Democratic Executive Committee there was general agreement that it was not an appropriate subject for the ballot, but general agreement also that state law required it to be placed on the ballot. The opponents of the commission plan presented petitions with a total of 133,000 signatures, far above the 5 per cent of the 1966 general election vote or 62,770 signatures necessary for submission of a referendum vote.

MILK HOSTESSES
Proponents of the dairy commission plan claim the 133,000 signatures were obtained by fetching hostesses in certain grocery stores who without explanation asked shoppers: "Are you against higher milk prices? Then sign here."

The proposition asks the voter to say if he is for or against enactment by the Texas Legislature of a law creating the Texas Dairy Commission with the power to regulate and fix the retail and wholesale price of milk.

The results will make no changes in the law and will have no binding effect on the next legislature, although probably will exert considerable influence if the commission plan is presented again.

"Frankly we hope voters will vote down the dairy commission plan so we won't have to fight it in the next legislature," Dallas lawyer Douglas Bergman, told the state Democratic committee. Bergman said he represented a group of independent milk producers and supermarket grocery stores.

"Opponents have distorted and misrepresented facts with cynical disregard for the consumer welfare," said George M. Clarke, executive vice president of the Dairy Products Institute of Texas, which originally backed the commission plan and claims to represent most Texas dairymen.

STATE BOARD
"I don't believe that the fate of a vital Texas industry should be decided on the basis of a hurried, uninformed ballot. The consumers and industry should be entitled to full and exhaustive public hearings before the duly elected representatives of the people in their legislature," he said.

The 1967 bill would have set up a new nine-member state board with authority to set minimum prices by area for the dairymen, the processor and the retailer, based on local conditions.

ARGUMENTS
Supporters of the dairy commission plan claimed opposition came mostly from "gallon juggers" in the Dallas and Grand Prairie area who feature cut-rate prices on milk in gallon jugs and from the big Kroger grocery chain outside Texas.

The opponents claimed that three out-of-state dairies — Bor-den, Meadowgold and Foremost — helped write the bill and would benefit most from its passage and the stabilized prices in grocery store competition.

In recent weeks both sides have revived their arguments in preparation for the May 4 vote.

The Texas Association for the Prevention of Retail Milk Price Fixing was organized with Keith Young, Grand Prairie dairyman, as president. The association hired a well known Dallas public relations firm.

"Our organization, composed of milk producers and major grocery organizations, was formed to combat any attempt to revive a bill to create a milk retail price regulatory commission that failed in the last session of the legislature," Young said.

PRICE WARS
"A milk control commission for Texas will be the best insurance that a housewife can have against high milk prices," said Clarke. "Chaotic conditions due to price wars, extreme price fluctuations and unfair trade practices are forcing many independent milk plants out of business. In the last 10 years more than one-half of Texas' dairy farmers have quit. Texas has lost over 25 per cent of its dairy herds."

"A milk control commission would set minimum milk prices both for the dairy farmer and the consumer. It would eliminate excessive supermarket profit squeeze upon the consumer as well as unethical trade practices which ultimately cost the consumer," Clarke said.

Texas Rain, Fog Reported

By The Associated Press

Scattered thunderstorms, light showers and fog covered much of Texas today as the flow of warm, moist air from the Gulf continued over most sections.

A slow moving cool front lay on a line from Wichita Falls to Lubbock at dawn. Temperatures behind the front were in the upper 30s and 40s. Ahead of the front they were mostly in the 60s, with some South Texas points reporting readings in the 70s.

Scattered rain was reported from Painview to Wichita Falls and southward most of the state. Fog restricted visibility in some parts of South Central and southeast Texas.

The forecasts called for the showers to continue over most of the state with the slow moving front reaching Central Texas by Friday.

Maximum readings Wednesday ranged from 73 at Dalhart to 93 at Presidio.

New Rules For Voters Who Moved

Voters in the May primary who moved into Howard County on or after Nov. 4, 1967, must vote between April 15 and April 30 in the office of the county clerk in this county, according to information supplied by Pauline S. Petty, county clerk of Howard County.

A new law enacted last year permits registered voters with less than six months' residence in the county to vote on all statewide offices and issues if they have lived in the state longer than one year, but they must vote in the county clerk's office under procedures similar to absentee voting. The new law puts into effect a constitutional amendment adopted in November, 1966.

Formerly, a person who moved from one county to another within the state was totaly disfranchised for the first six months after he moved, unless one or more of the various types of districts (congressional, legislative, judicial, etc.) included and the fourth day preceding the election unless he is unable to appear because of sickness or physical disability or unless he is absent from the county during that period. Sick or disabled voters and those temporarily absent from the county may obtain a ballot by mail.

Persons living in a city of 10,000 or more population who registered in the county of their former residence must have their registration transferred through the county tax assessor-collector's office before they vote. Persons living elsewhere than in a city of 10,000 or more are not required to transfer their registration, but they should have their voter registration certificate with them when they apply for a ballot in the county clerk's office. However, if a voter has lost his certificate, he will be permitted to vote after making an affidavit of that fact.

Mrs. Petty warned that voters living in a city of 10,000 or more who have moved from one voting precinct to another within the county since registering must also have their registration transferred through the tax assessor-collector's office by April 29 in order to vote in the May 4th primary. They will vote on election day at the regular polling place for the voting precinct of their present residence. Voters registered in some other county who moved into the county before Nov. 4 will also vote a full ballot at the regular polling place on election day, but they also must have their registration transferred by April 29 if they live in a city of 10,000 or more.

Texas' Unit Rule Blasted

WACO, Tex. (AP) — A Texas supporter of Sen. Eugene McCarthy said Wednesday efforts of party leaders to put the state delegation to the National Democratic Convention under the unit rule is "a scheme to throw all Texas votes to Hubert H. Humphrey."

David G. Copeland, Waco, legal counsel for the McCarthy campaign organization in Texas, spoke at the opening of McCarthy's McLennan County headquarters.

Copeland said that binding the delegation to the unit rule would be "an unvarnished effort to stifle the democratic process." "If only one man is to case Texas' 104 votes we might as well stay at home and abandon the fight for free elections," Copeland said.

Houston Raps Santa Fe Ax

HOUSTON (AP) — The City of Houston formally objected Wednesday to a proposal that Santa Fe passenger train service between Houston and California be discontinued.

Thomas B. Tyson, director of public services, testified at a hearing held by James Cowden, an examiner for the Texas Railroad Commission.

"The growing city of Houston needs the services provided by railroads," said Tyson, chairman of the city's transportation committee.

Under cross examination by attorneys for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Co., Tyson acknowledged that the city has not made a study of the line's discontinuance proposal.

The Santa Fe contends it would lose $700,000 annually if the service is continued.

Cowden said a final decision by the commission will not be made before mid-summer.

Americans Killed In Vietnam Climbs

SAIGON (AP) — The number of Americans killed in the Vietnam war climbed to 363 last week, the highest number in five weeks, the U.S. Command reported today.

An increase also was reported in the number of enemy killed, while South Vietnamese casualties dropped from the previous week.

An increase of 5,000 also was reported in the number of U.S. military personnel in South Vietnam, raising the total to 522,000 as of midnight last Saturday.

There was no official explanation for the increase in the number of American battle deaths in a week when fighting generally was described in communique as light and scattered. U.S. officers said, however, there were tens of thousands of men in the field in widespread operations.

The week before 279 Americans were killed.

American wounded last week totaled 2,694, compared with 3,190 the previous week. Of the wounded last week, 1,352 were hospitalized.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 293 government soldiers were killed last week, considerably less than the 407 reported the previous week. The headquarters said there were 985 South Vietnamese wounded last week, compared with 1,479 a week earlier, and 32 missing last week against 14 the previous week.

Both the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands reported that the total number of enemy killed by allied forces last week was 3,071. The reports of enemy dead from the two commands frequently differ.

The casualty report raised to 21,417 the number of U.S. military personnel killed in action in Vietnam between Jan. 1, 1961, and last Saturday and the total number of wounded reported to be 133,752. Of the total wounded, the U.S. Command said 70,042 required hospitalization.

Commissioner To Visit Here

Dr. John Kinross-Wright, Texas commissioner of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, will visit the Big Spring State Hospital Friday.

Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent, and his staff will confer with the commissioner on projects and programs carried on at the hospital. The hospital improvement project will be visited, and considerable time will be spent at the Community House in downtown Big Spring. In addition, the alcoholic program will be reviewed with the idea of extending the alcoholic services at the Big Spring State Hospital to include a modern detoxification unit along with the present program available at the hospital.

Finally, Dr. Kinross-Wright will review efforts at establishing several out-patient clinics in many small towns about Big Spring, extending especially westward toward the New Mexico line. This effort is in keeping with the objective of providing services to remote rural areas, small towns, and villages. These areas now often find it difficult to find help at the proper time in such concrete forms that effective management of the emotional illness requires.

NAVY RESEARCHERS REPORT UNIVERSE Doomed To Fiery Destruction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy researchers report they've obtained evidence the universe is a closed, closed system—and therefore inexorably doomed to fiery destruction some 10 billion years from now.

They said the new findings—gleaned from the flight of an Aerobee rocket—appear to provide a possibly definite answer to a great cosmological question that has plagued scientists for generations:

BALLS AFIRE

Will the now-expanding universe, with its millions of star-filled galaxies, grow forever—or is it a closed system whose expansion will gradually slow to a stop, with catastrophic results?

Dr. Richard C. Henry of the Naval Research Laboratory, who reported the findings Wednesday on behalf of a five-man research team, said the rocket-gathered evidence "indicates strongly that the universe is closed."

He said such a system, would "fall inward until all the galaxies condense again to one great fireball of matter and radiation."

Henry, 28, a research fellow supported by the National Science Foundation, reported to a special symposium marking the dedication of NRL's new Hubert Center for Space Research.

COSMIC X-RAYS

He explained in an interview:

The Aerobee rocket, in a 100-mile-high flight above the White Sands, N.M., missile range last September, detected and measured certain cosmic X-rays coming from galaxies beyond the Milky Way.

That evidence indicated there may be 100 times as much matter dispersed in the vast reaches of space between galaxies as there is in all the mass of all the galaxies combined.

Henry explained that a closed universe—with a curved space boundary—contains a certain amount of material within it. The amount is vastly greater than that of an open or ever-expanding universe.

"These observations of the Aerobee," he said, "indicate that there's enough matter in the universe to produce the complete curvature required for a closed universe."

Carolina's Top Prison Official Defends Plan

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — North Carolina's top prison official says his efforts to build a progressive correction system were partially responsible for Wednesday's Central Prison riot in which six prisoners were killed.

But State Correction Commissioner Lee Bounds plans no change from his relatively new policy of collecting the worst offenders at the maximum security unit in Raleigh.

The advantage of the regrouping, Bounds said, outweighs the risks.

FIVE KILLED

He said that his system insures that the "bulls"—extortionists, racketeers, assaulters, sexual offenders and other prisoners who have been terrorizing their fellow inmates—are removed from medium security facilities throughout the state, allowing more rehabilitation in those units.

Five inmates were killed and 78 wounded early Wednesday when guards fired shotguns into a crowd of more than 400 rioting prisoners. One of eight critically injured prisoners died late Wednesday night in a hospital.

Five officers were hurt, none seriously, in the confrontation that Bounds said lasted 10 minutes.

Bounds said the "root cause" of the trouble was administrative take-over of the prison handicraft system. For years the system was operated by inmates as a revenue source by making wallets and other leather goods for outside markets.

Prison officials maintained the system bred extortion and racketeering and was a means for some prisoners to gain power and control within the inmate population.

ORDER TO FIRE

Bounds said the handicraft production will continue, but only under control and supervision of prison officials.

For the past 18 months Bounds' department has been classifying the prison system's 10,000 inmates. The worst offenders and those with the least potential for rehabilitation are collected at Central Prison in Raleigh.

Before the riot began some 500 prisoners staged a sit-down strike in the prison yard. Tempers became short with the chilly fight and a small building was set afire.

Officials decided to lock up the prisoners and summoned Raleigh police and state highway patrol to assist.

The order to fire was given after the inmates "began throwing lighted torches at unarmed custodial officers," Bounds said.

ORDER TO FIRE

Bounds said the handicraft production will continue, but only under control and supervision of prison officials.

For the past 18 months Bounds' department has been classifying the prison system's 10,000 inmates. The worst offenders and those with the least potential for rehabilitation are collected at Central Prison in Raleigh.

Before the riot began some 500 prisoners staged a sit-down strike in the prison yard. Tempers became short with the chilly fight and a small building was set afire.

Officials decided to lock up the prisoners and summoned Raleigh police and state highway patrol to assist.

The order to fire was given after the inmates "began throwing lighted torches at unarmed custodial officers," Bounds said.

Bounds said the "root cause" of the trouble was administrative take-over of the prison handicraft system. For years the system was operated by inmates as a revenue source by making wallets and other leather goods for outside markets.

'Clyde' Planned To Pick Lawmen Off One-By-One

SAFFORD, Ariz. (AP) — "Bonnie" and "Clyde" found out quickly that Arizona is "hot country."

"It looked like National Guard maneuvers," declared Harvey D. Webb, 20, in describing how he was captured by Arizona lawmen Tuesday. Also arrested were Virginia Collins and Jessie James Smith, both 20.

Webb prefers to be known as "Clyde" and Miss Collins is known as "Bonnie."

NO CHANCE

In a telephone interview with The Associated Press Wednesday, they told of patterning their lives after Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker — the 1930s desperados glamorized by the recent movie "Bonnie and Clyde." Their arrest came near Benson, in southern Arizona, after a 100-mile chase which started with the robbery of a Safford, Ariz. grocery store. They also were sought for kidnaping a couple in Texas and forcing them to take a 300-mile trip.

"Clyde" said Wednesday that officers swarmed over them so fast that they had no chance to shoot it out as he wished.

"We couldn't run because the plane was spotting us," "Clyde" added.

'GOOD TIME'

He said that his attempt to ambush officers fell through when one sneaked up and got the drop on him. "Clyde" said he had hoped to pick the lawmen off one-by-one.

Both Webb and Miss Collins said things would be different next time.

Webb said he was born in Oklahoma, his kin knew the original Bonnie and Clyde, and that they had started their escapades before seeing the movie. He said they hadn't got around to robbing any banks as Barrow and Miss Parker had.

Of the kidnaping in Texas, Webb said the two who were abducted "had a good time."

WANTED TO KILL

The two talked freely with The Associated Press over the telephone, asking that newspaper clippings and pictures be sent to them. Smith, however, declined a chance to talk.

They are charged with the Arizona robbery, and Graham County Sheriff "Skeet" Bowman said they probably will stand trial here.

Texas authorities put a hold on them on the kidnaping charge.

The Texas charges were filed after John Patrick McElroy, 20, and a 17-year-old girl, both of Fort Worth, told officers of a terror-filled nine-hour, 300-mile journey into West Texas after they were kidnaped.

Before they were released the girl said she was raped by the man who identified himself as "Clyde."

The two kidnap victims told officers that the "Bonnie" and "Clyde" wanted to kill them but the third abductor talked his companions out of it.

New Vaccine To Battle German Measles Tested

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A scientist says mothers of child bearing age may be able to get protection within a year against the birth damaging defects of German measles. The next epidemic of the disease is due about 1970.

That was a report on a new live virus vaccine against German measles given today by Dr. Maurice R. Hilleman of the Merck Institute for Therapeutic Research at West Point, Pa.

Hilleman said large scale tests are already under way in the United States and that by the end of the year up to 20,000 children in five different areas would receive this experimental vaccine. Tests of other vaccines will cover another 20,000 children.

In the case of ordinary measles vaccine 10,000 were tested, and in mumps only 5,200.

At least three other vaccines using different strains of the virus are undergoing tests in the United States and abroad. The manufacturers also hope to get them on the market within the year.

PILOT TESTS

The virologist said the vaccine successfully passed pilot tests with mothers and children in two suburban Philadelphia communities.

Hilleman couldn't say how many people would have to be given the vaccine before the Federal Food and Drug Administration ruled on its safety and effectiveness.

EPIDEMICS

German measles is a relatively mild disease that strikes mostly children and young adults. Until recently there seemed to be no need to prevent it but now doctors have proven that it causes serious congenital defects in children whose mothers were infected in the first trimester of pregnancy.

World wide epidemics of the disease normally occur every six years. During the last epidemic in 1964-65, 20,000 deaths within the womb were reported and 20,000 birth defects.

Hilleman, in reporting his findings at the annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology, said the pilot study involved 527 children and their mothers in Havertown and Broomal, Pa.

Program By 'French Chef' Called Happy Inspiration

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a happy inspiration that took educational television's Julia Child out of her Boston kitchen and put her in the White House to show the general public what a state dinner is like, out front and behind the scenes.

The program is being shown on most of the nation's educational stations during this period and is certainly one to watch for.

Mrs. Child, whose "French Chef" series has a legion of devoted fans including this writer, is no professional broadcast journalist, but her enthusiasm, her curiosity about large matters and small details, and her knowledge of all the things that go into gracious dining made her a natural for the assignment.

LITTLE WOBBLY

She was among the invited guests to a dinner for 190 given by President and Mrs. Johnson late last fall in honor of Japanese Prime Minister Sato and his wife. The formal ceremonies — the 19-gun salute, the official greeting — were duly noted, but the program really got rolling when Mrs. Child inspected the pre-dinner preparations backstage.

She talked to the White House housekeeper about the menu planning, the careful attention to any dietary limitations. She watched the flower arranger at work on the 19 centerpiece for the tables.

She was, of course, completely in her element when talking to the White House chef. They animatedly discussed the ingredients of the fish course, the meat course and the sauces — "can I have a little taste?" asked Mrs. Child, already helping herself.

Sometimes the photography was a little wobbly, and at no point was there that slick production that we have become accustomed to on the commercial networks. During the dinner itself the pictures were pretty dark since it was shot intentionally without additional light.

But it was the content — bright, informal and informative — that made it a fine example of enterprise broadcasting.

JOEY CELEBRATES

Joey Bishop celebrated the first anniversary of his late evening show Wednesday night with a program composed of highlights from the past 12 months. ABC celebrated it by announcing it had renewed his contract for another 39 weeks. The network also said that starting in late April, the program, routinely, will no longer be live, but taped one night for broadcast the next.

CBS's "Jonathan Winters Show," a late starter this season is among the few programs that still is showing new material. Winters, whose comedy style is unique, is at his best playing wayout characters, like Wednesday night's Chinese detective, but he is hilarious when confronted with the unexpected. In the Chinese sketch, his false goatee dropped off by accident and his handling of the minor mishap was the funniest part of the show.
