SUNDAY

Get Ready To Set Clock Ahead

By The Associated Press

If you think there are not enough hours in the day to do what must be done, just wait until Sunday. You are going to lose one of the few hours you have in the twinkling of an eye.

But there is recompense. You will get an extra hour of daylight every day from Sunday to Oct. 27. At 2 a.m. Sunday, set your clock ahead to 3 a.m. to get on daylight saving time.

And when you walk out of your office every day at 5 p.m., your clock will say 5, but the sun time will be 4.

At 2 a.m. on Oct. 27, all clocks will be moved back to 1 a.m. The government merely borrows that hour for six months so your wife can get more yard work out of you.

Handing Out Silver

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury Department is handing out silver at a record clip to redeem a heavier-than-expected surge of silver certificates before the deadline two months from now.

Most of the silver is going to about a half-dozen dealers who pay a premium for each silver certificate in the hopes of turning a handsome profit from the two-price system now in effect.

They can redeem the certificates at the government's payout windows at the rate of $1.29 an ounce and sell the silver on the open market for more than $2 an ounce.

The Treasury will redeem the certificates—paper money circulated between 1929 and the early 1960s and backed by silver—through June 24 at the $1.29 rate.

After that silver certificates can still be used as money but they can't be turned in for silver.

Officials said that through last Friday about $31.75 million in silver certificates were redeemed for silver this year, including a record $13.6 million in March alone.

The April redemptions are expected to be near that figure.

Silver certificates can only be redeemed for silver at the New York and San Francisco assay offices and must be presented in person or by an agent. No mail orders are accepted.

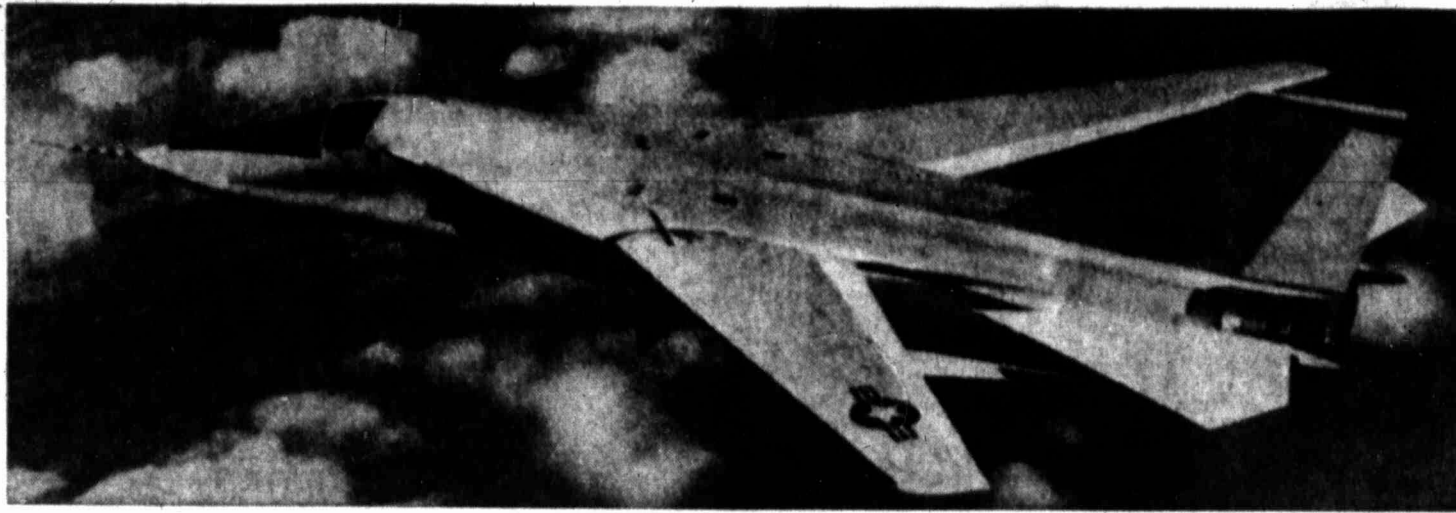

State's Deposits Zoom

By The Associated Press

Bank deposits in Texas zoomed upward—to record levels in some cities—over the last year, statements of condition announced Tuesday by the financial houses revealed.

The statements were made on deposits as of April 18, asked in calls from the Controller of the Currency in Washington, D.C., and the State Banking Department in Austin.

Bankers and financial leaders gave varying reasons for the increased deposits, ranging from "an increase in individual productivity" to "fear of making new investments."

TYPE OF FIGHTER BOMBER THAT CRASHED F-111, once the controversial TFX warplane

Third Costly Plane Lost On Mission

SAIGON (AP)—Another U.S. Air Force F111 fighter-bomber crashed Monday night while on its way to or from a bombing mission against North Vietnam, but there was no sign of the major enemy attack on the capital feared by the South Vietnamese.

The command said it had no other information on the plane or its two crewmen.

THIRD TO GO

It was the third of America's most advanced warplanes to crash in the Vietnam theater since six of the $6 million, swing-wing aircraft arrived at an air base in Thailand March 17.

The second of the previous crashes was in northern Thailand on March 30; the crew was rescued and the wreckage recovered. That crash was attributed to a capsule of sealing material getting lodged in the flight controls.

The first plane that crashed, on March 28, is believed to have gone down in a remote section of Thailand also.

Following the first two crashes, the other four F111s were grounded until two replacements were flown from Nevada. The squadron resumed combat missions against North Vietnam April 12 and have been bombing every night since then.

A U.S. spokesman said the F111s flew four missions against North Vietnam's panhandle Monday night, but he would not say how many planes were on each mission.

In the ground war, South Vietnamese infantry reported 115 Viet Cong killed in a battle 20 miles south of Saigon Monday, but there was no sign of the major enemy attack on the capital feared by the South Vietnamese.

The South Vietnamese said troops of their 7th Infantry Division fought for an hour with a Viet Cong unit of unknown size in the Mekong Delta. Seven South Vietnamese were reported killed and 47 wounded.

Light Turnout Of Voters Is Reported

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—With only Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's name on the ballot to lure them, early voter turnout was reported light in Pennsylvania's preferential primary today.

NO CONTEST

It was apparently an absence of contests, rather than weather, that held the early vote down. Temperatures were mild across Pennsylvania, with some cloudiness reported only in the east.

Despite very little campaigning for the presidency so far, observers were counting on the size of the write-in vote to give them some idea of what the mood is in Pennsylvania, the nation's fourth largest state.

Write-ins were expected to carry special weight—even lacking formal campaigns for them—on the Democratic side where the only entered candidate kept personal campaigning to a minimum.

McCarthy made his sole in-person appeal for votes in one hop-scotching state tour over the weekend.

Any threat to what his campaign managers hoped to be a net of 200,000 votes in Pennsylvania would come from write-ins for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the favorite in state labor circles, and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, whose personal appearances here early this month drew screaming throngs.

STAVE OFF

GOP Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, although his name does not appear on the ballot, told the Republican State Committee he wants to go to the national convention as a favorite son candidate to stave off an intraparty fight that would distract voters from the issue of state constitutional reform on which he has staked his administration's reputation.

Elsewhere in the war: Three American paratroopers were killed and 22 were wounded Monday night when four 105mm howitzer rounds fired by a U.S. artillery unit fell short, U.S. headquarters said. The artillery was firing in support of a paratroop unit near Phuc Binh, 29 miles northeast of Saigon.

S. Africa Out Of Olympics

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—South Africa is out of the Mexico City Olympic Games, the International Olympic Committee said today.

The IOC said it has received the necessary minimum of 36 votes approving its recommendation to withdraw South Africa's invitation.

An IOC spokesman said at least 38 of the IOC's 71 members have thus far voted in favor of barring South Africa, thus ensuring the necessary simple majority.

The vote was based on an appeal made by an emergency session of the IOC's executive board Sunday.

Variety Of Weather Served Up For Texas

By The Associated Press

A vigorous Midwest storm spun off a variety of weather—none of it good—across Texas Monday. Tornadoes, heavy rain, hail and even snow and dust lashed the state.

A few thunderstorms continued to prowl the state, especially in the northeast and south central sections, early today.

Monday's violence resulted from three frontal systems that ganged up on Texas. The systems now have merged and a cold front stretched from Texas to Austin and Eagle Pass.

Cloudy Skies were cloudy east and south of the front and nearly clear behind it. Generally fair and cooler weather was likely for most of the state as the front pushed southeast.

The waves of thunderstorms that rolled across Texas Monday were some of the worst of the season.

Tornadoes were sighted near Cleburne, Fort Worth, Farmersville, Ponder, McKinney, Grandview, Aspermont and Paris. Some farm buildings were struck but damage was relatively light.

Hail the size of golf balls pelted parts of Dallas.

Rainfall was heavy as a storm moved through an area but the downpours did not last long. One-inch rainfall amounts were

U Thant Sounds A Hopeful Note

PARIS (AP)—U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said today, "I hope preliminary peace talks between Washington and Hanoi will begin soon, perhaps even this week."

Thant told airport newsmen "Phnom Penh, Warsaw, Geneva or Paris are the cities where these preliminary talks could be held."

Thant was reported last week to be in contact with Washington and Hanoi on peace talks.

WAGGONER CARR Carr To Visit Wednesday

One of the candidates for governor ranked among the favorites in the May 4 Democratic primary, Waggoner Carr, will be in Big Spring Wednesday to press his campaign.

Carr is to be at the First Federal Savings & Loan Association community room from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, and the public is invited to call during this informal reception hour. Local supporters are arranging the affair, and stressed it is open to all interested persons.

From 7:30 to 8:30 a.m., Carr is to speak on KBST radio, and in addition to making remarks about his platform and program for Texas, will receive telephone calls during the broadcast and answer any questions which may be called in. The radio station said two lines will be open during the hour to receive any messages directed to the candidate.

Rates Going Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Interest rates on conventional loans for newly built houses edged upward during March to their second straight monthly record even before the new crackdown on credit. The Federal Home Loan Bank Board reported today.

The board said the nationwide average of interest rates on loans for new houses rose to 6.5 per cent last month compared with 6.47 per cent in February.

FUNNELS SPOTTED ACROSS OKLAHOMA

Twister Smashes Car Lot

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A tornado slipped past radar Monday and smashed 450 autos—350 of them new—on a suburban Midwest City car lot. Another splintered a dozen houses, four trailer homes and several barns at Wilburton, in southeast Oklahoma.

They were among half a dozen funnels spotted around the state in four late afternoon hours. The eastern half of Oklahoma was blanketed through most of the day with tornado watches, three in effect simultaneously part of the day.

NOT ON RADAR

The Weather Bureau said its radar did not show the funnel at adjacent Midwest City, and referred to it only as a "wind storm," with winds clocked at 63 miles.

Several persons at Hudburg Chevrolet Co. saw the funnel as it skipped over Tinker Air Force Base, just across Interstate 35. It demolished a concrete building on the car lot and damaged the main show room.

"I'll guarantee you there was no 'high wind' to it," Hudburg Manager Ray Jones said afterward. "It was a tornado. It was twisting and coming and roaring."

H. L. Oliver at Hudburg, estimated damage at $500,000. He said 150 new cars were extensively damaged and 200 other new autos less severely damaged.

Jones said 100 more used autos were damaged. He estimated the loss at $300,000.

There were no reports of serious injuries, either in Midwest City or in Wilburton, and no reports of anyone receiving hospital treatment.

Tinker AFB officials said two frame buildings received damage to their roofs, but no planes were damaged.

The funnel in southeast Oklahoma struck Wilburton about two hours after the one in Midwest City. It then dipped into Centerpoint, just north of Wilburton, and officials reported some damage there.

Two funnels were spotted north of McAlester, 25 miles east of Wilburton, and another near Hobart, in west Oklahoma.

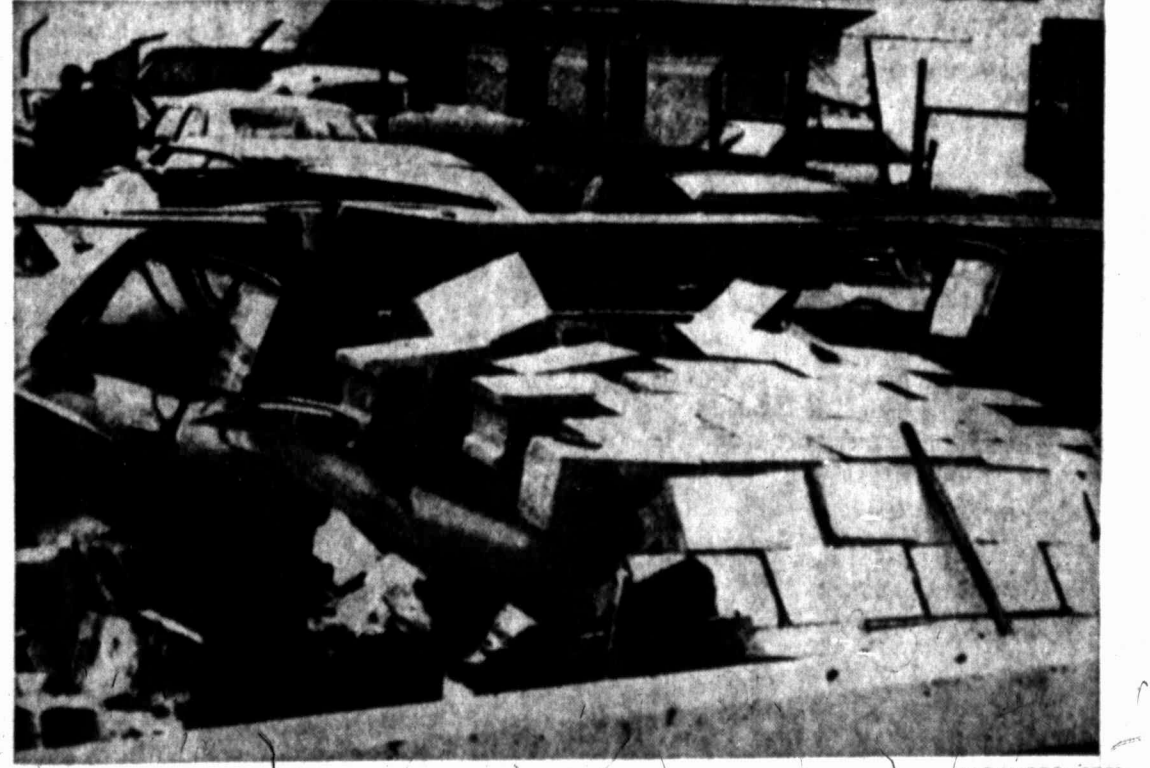

The Weather Bureau reported a "possible" funnel near Moore, south of Oklahoma City, which may have been the twister that struck the car lot.

persons received minor injuries as the twister sailed over adjacent Tinker Air Force Base.

Patton belongs to the unit which trains regularly at the Armed Forces Reserve center at Midland-Odessa Regional Air Terminal. Commander there is 1st Lt. George E. Moore, Midland. Although there is no special celebration planned here, unit members are preparing to train for two weeks at Ft. Hood this summer, Patton said.

Personal Attacks Pick Up As Primary Election Nears

By The Associated Press
Voters could tell today without a calendar the May 4 Texas primary election was near. The reason: the campaigning for governor was becoming more personalized.

The principal targets for attack were Don Yarborough of Houston and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith of Lubbock. The attackers were Eugene Locke of Dallas and former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock.

CROWDS INCREASE

Some newspaper polls and surveys show Yarborough and Smith as the two leading candidates and headed for a June 1 runoff as the Democratic nominee.

"I'm not predicting there won't be a runoff yet, mind you, but there are new conditions coming about that make me think it's possible for me to win without a runoff," Yarborough said in an interview in Dallas Monday.

He said the conditions he sees as encouraging are an increase in crowds where he speaks and the number of businessmen joining his campaign.

LABOR CANDIDATE

Yarborough said businessmen are responding because of what he calls his "exciting new approaches to reduce taxes and bring about business expansion." Locke said at a news conference that Yarborough's "radical pie-in-the-sky approach to the problems of Texas offer no real solutions. Rather, they promise economic chaos."

He also called Yarborough "the labor lobby's constant candidate." Carr, in his attack on Yarborough, said the Houston lawyer has taken a stand for a right to work law in Amarillo and opposed it in Houston.

"I wonder if the labor people know what he said in Amarillo, or if the people in Amarillo know what he told the labor convention in Galveston," Carr said.

In criticizing Smith, Locke said the lieutenant governor takes conflicting positions on major subjects in different parts of the state.

Carr added that in Smith he "found one candidate that wants a four-year college, a dental school and a medical school in every city in Texas." He said the lobbyists in Austin are behind Smith's campaign.

Carr said in remarks in San Antonio that "as governor, I intend protecting lives and property of law-abiding people from snipers, arsonists and looters with whatever force is necessary."

NON-LETHAL CONTROL

He said he would favor using non-lethal measures in riot control but would use something stronger if the occasion demanded.

Meantime, Smith said in Corpus Christi and Austin that one of his goals as governor would be to continue the state's economic growth.

"People seem more concerned about getting jobs than anything else," Smith said. "But most of them don't know how to do anything, and industry is crying for trained workers."

Dolph Briscoe, also speaking in Corpus Christi, declared he would be in the runoff June 1, but would not identify his opponent.

"I have little faith in polls," he said. "The people will vote May 4 and that's the only poll that counts."

Briscoe, who celebrated his 45th birthday anniversary today, was honored at a barbeque at the Corbett Ranch near Raymondville Monday night.

At another celebration in the Lower Rio Grande Valley Monday night, about 800 persons turned out in McAllen to honor House Speaker Ben Barnes, who is running for lieutenant governor.

MILK ISSUE

John Hill said in Austin, "My position as the leader for education, for conservation of human and material resources, and for unity of Texas is clearly emerging and the people are taking notice."

Campaigning in Dallas, Edward Whittenburg said formation of a state dairy commission would "only serve to guarantee high milk prices instead of competitive prices to the consumers."

He urged defeat of the dairy commission proposal in the May 4 election.

In the Republican governor campaign, Paul Eggers, one of three GOP candidates, said in Midland the names of contributors to the controversial Lyndon B. Johnson State Park fund should be made public.

He said, "No excuses by the parks and wildlife commissioners or anyone else can hide the fact that people lose confidence in government when they are not informed."

'Sock It To Me' Girl Enjoys TV Popularity

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — On a recent spring morning near the corner of Madison Avenue and 54th Street, passersby were startled to see a small red-haired girl with a Peter Pan haircut suddenly crying out: "And now, folks, it's sock it to me time..."

"People come up in the street, even in restaurants," said Judy Carne, looking pleased. "They call me by name and ask me to say it once just for them. And, like an idiot, I do it."

'FAIR EXCHANGE'

There is considerable irony in the emergence of Judy Carne, late of Northampton, England, as television's "Sock it to me" girl. Before NBC's "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-in" caught on, Miss Carne had spent several busy years in Hollywood with fat roles in three series. None lasted more than one season and nothing much happened to her career.

She had auditioned for and won the part of the English girl living with an American family in "Fair Exchange." This took her to Hollywood and introduced her to the American TV audience. This folded, and she moved on—briefly—to "Balleys of Balboa." Last season she co-starred in "Love on a Rooftop," but this soon faded.

"I had worked with one of the 'laugh-in' writers in England, and I'd done singing and dancing," she said. "So I auditioned and was picked. Simple as that."

'HERE COMES THE JUDGE'

"Sock it to me" is, of course, one of those catch phrases that the public suddenly picks up, gives it a whirl and just as suddenly discards. Even as the show's season ended—it is now in reruns—the writers were trying out a couple of potential successors, "Here Comes the Judge" and "Let It All Hang Out," whatever they mean.

"The Beat of the Brass," Herb Alpert's second television special on Monday night was an hour almost totally filled with the distinctive, attractive music of his Tijuana Brass. The show had trouble making the visual part of the show as interesting as the music.

The CBS show, while tuneful enough, lacked the sparkle and ingenuity that made the special last season such a treat.

On Music Tour

Don Haney, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Haney, 1101 Lancaster, has been selected as one of a 36-member student musical team to represent Oral Roberts University, Tulsa, Okla., this summer on an extended tour of Europe. Haney, a sophomore business major, is part of a musical group called the "Collegians," who will be touring 12 countries beginning May 27. The tour will conclude Aug. 3-7 in Sophia, Bulgaria, with appearances at the Ninth World Youth Festival.

MGCA Sponsors Pumpkin Contest

Any of you youngsters want to get in on the Big Pumpkin contest sponsored by the Men's Garden Clubs of America?

The contest is open to all youngsters over six and under 17 years of age. It is for growing the heaviest pumpkin or any curcubit. Seeds of Big Max pumpkin, a variety that averages more than 100 pounds when given plenty of moisture and fertilizer, have been donated by W. Ailee Burpee Co. to MGCA to give to contestants for spring planting.

Details of the contest and how to obtain free seeds may be obtained from local chapters of Men's Garden Clubs of America, or by writing to its executive secretary, Guy D. Chichester, Box 100, Johnston, Iowa 50313.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Hale Meets Friends From Home In Alaska

To the Editor:
Many of you already know that I am in Alaska, but perhaps many of you do not — so here I am telling you of the land of the future.

On April 6, 1968, I arrived at the International Airport in Anchorage, Alaska, and I was greeted by snow, and more snow on the 7th, and more snow on the 8th. Well, by this time I had begun to wonder if it snowed all the time, but lo and behold on the 8th it just rained a little. But on the 9th it finally cleared, and all around this city were snow covered mountains. Jutting up into the sky so awesome that one wonders how God ever made such majestic wonders on this earth.

Truly, one can hardly doubt that the hand of God did this.

Now here I am with my pickup truck and on the back of the truck camper is a sign "Big Spring Steers." It didn't take long for some ex-citizen of Big Spring to spot it, and they left a note on my windshield to come by to see them. (Only one door from our office.) I did just this, and found that person to be Jan Talley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Talley.

He is fine, and we had a long visit. He told me that there were several people from Big Spring around here. Well, I know that there are a lot of people from West Texas because I have met them from Levelland, Odessa, Midland, Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Houston and elsewhere.

My folks, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. (Pappy) Hale were concerned about my coming up here, but I can be home in about six hours by jet aircraft. We have flights leaving here almost every hour of the day. Flights land from all places in the world — we have one of the busiest fields in the world.

For the hunters and fishermen, breakup is coming at any time. Some reports have it that the fish are already striking. I saw a picture in the paper this week where a fellow caught a 12-pound rainbow trout, and I would say this is a real good one. Bear hunting is open, and the blacks are beginning to stir, so I understand. I will, perhaps this weekend, try my hand at black bear hunting which costs $10 for the license and $10 for the bear tag. To hunt a brown or grizzly costs from $100 to $150.

We had 14 hours and 59 minutes of daylight today — won't be long before we have 20 or more hours. "Boy, won't that be something — can fish all night or hunt, or whatever you care to do. You need heavy drapes to keep out the light so one can sleep. Well, I can get used to anything, I hope.

ONE CONTEST IN EIGHT RACES

County GOP To Have 9 Boxes

Howard County Republicans will vote at nine voting boxes in the May 4 primary election, Dr. Akin Simpson, county Republican chairman, has announced. At first the Republicans had thought they would need 12 boxes in the county, but the chairman said the final number has been reduced. Howard County Republicans will vote on eight races in the primary, but there is a contest in only one. The party has three candidates in the field for governor—Paul Eggers, Wallace T. Sisk and John R. Trice. The other posts on the ballot have unopposed candidates listed. The Republicans will also voice their sentiment on three proposals — to legalize horse racing with pari-mutuel betting; creation of a Texas Dairy Commission; and legalization of the sale of beverages above 20 per cent alcohol by the drink. Dr. Simpson said that Republican voters living in Precincts 1, 8, and 17 will vote at Cedar Crest School, where Miss Nell Brown will be presiding judge. Republican voters in Precincts 12, 13 and 14 will vote at the R. C. Thomas residence, one mile south and one mile west of Fairview Gin. Mrs. Thomas is presiding judge. Republican voters in Precincts 2, 9 and 21 will vote at Washington Place school, where Martin Gehling will be judge and Mrs. Floyd Mays, assistant judge.

Republican voters in Precincts 10 and 15 vote at Runnels Junior High School, with E. A. Fiveash as judge. Republican voters in Precincts 18 vote at 2514 E. 24th Street, with Mrs. Grant Boardman as judge. Republican voters in Precinct 3 vote at Wasson Road Fire Station, with Mrs. John Bennett as judge; Precinct 16 will be at Park Hill School with O. O. Craig as judge; Precinct 19 will be in Elbow school with George MacConnell as judge. Republican voters in Precincts 4, 5, 6, 7, 11 and 20 vote at the Eleventh Place and Birdwell Lane Fire Station, Conny Wade is judge. Special canvassing board for Republican voters will be at the Howard County Courthouse, with W. H. (Bill) Sheppard as judge. The polls open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

GOP Hopeful Here

Wallace T. Sisk, candidate for governor in the Republican primary of May 4, was in Big Spring Monday evening to promote his campaign. He is pictured here (center) with Dr. Akin Simpson, county GOP chairman, and Mrs. Jack W. Lipscombe, vice chairman.

Sisk Urges Party Members To Vote

An appeal for Republicans to turn out in force in their party primaries in the interest of building a two-party system in Texas was voiced here Monday evening by a GOP candidate for governor, Wallace T. Sisk, Houston attorney.

Sisk spoke informally with some 40 persons gathered in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. He is one of three GOP aspirants for the gubernatorial office, and said the competition engendered tends to strengthen the party. Without a two-party voice, he said, Texas tends to have a dictatorship. "We can have a choice in November," he said, "and we can win."

Sisk told the group he sees Don Yarborough as the Democratic nominee—and "this is our opportunity to bring together, for a victory in November, all those who believe in constructive, conservative government."

Sisk laid out a platform, which was encompassed in this statement: "I am for peace, but we may have to fight for it; I am for prosperity, but we will have to work for it; I am for plenty, but for this we must eliminate waste."

Sisk says he would favor establishment of a police academy in Texas to help curb the rising crime rate. He deplored decisions of the Supreme Court "which have given more rights to the law breaker than to law-abiding citizens."

He said he favored a local option system to determine whether or not liquor should be sold by the drink. He opposes pari-mutuel betting on the ground that it would attract to the state more organized criminal elements. He favored retaining the right-to-work law in Texas, and opposed a minimum wage law. He said he has endorsed the Texas State Teacher Association program for teacher pay raises.

Above all, he said, "I am against any invasion of personal privacy by the federal and state government — I am against give-away programs, but I am for equal opportunity for those willing to work for it, regardless of race, creed, or color."

Another Republican candidate for governor, John R. Trice, was to have been here last evening, but was summoned to Dallas on an emergency.

Young Calls For Massive March By White Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, called today for a massive march on Washington by white people to demand an end to racism.

A march by hundreds of thousands must be led by the nation's most respected white leaders if rebellion by poor and frustrated Negroes is to be avoided, said the Negro head of the civil rights organization.

Young told the convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, "White people own the industries, the newspapers, the housing. They reap the benefits of our way of life, and there are the rewards of this society. It is their future which is at stake, perhaps more than that of Negroes, who, after all, have the least to lose."

His remarks were prepared for delivery at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Young did not indicate whether he envisioned the white march coinciding with next month's Poor People's Campaign, first planned by the slain Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The campaign was organized to get the poor of all races from around the country to Washington to demand that Congress pass antipoverty legislation.

MIGHT SAVE U. S. Committed whites should follow a national march with demands on every city hall in the country, Young said. "It would be a national witnessing; a national reconstruction of decency and morality. It just might save this nation."

He called on men such as industrialist Henry Ford, financier David Rockefeller and labor leader George Meany to lead the march.

Tonsillitis Tops Diseases Total Tonsillitis led the list of diseases reported to the Howard County Health Unit over the past two weeks with 281.

Other diseases were upper respiratory, 124; gastroenteritis, 68; strep throat, 31; virus, 25; bronchitis, 25; chicken pox, 20; mumps, 18; diarrhea, 16; bronchial pneumonia, 6; impetigo, 5; measles, 4; ringworm, 4; influenza, syphilis, whooping cough, pink eye and hepatitis, two each; and gonorrhea, one.

Giving Totals $14.6 Billion

Americans contributed nearly $14.6 billion to charitable and philanthropic causes during 1967, according to estimates announced this week by the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel in its annual publication, "Giving, U.S.A."

The $14.6 billion total represents an increase of nearly $1 billion over estimated total giving for 1966 and more than doubles an estimated $6.7 billion only 10 years ago.

More than three-fourths of the sum was given by living individuals, the association says. They gave an estimated $11.144 billion to a variety of causes for civic and social betterment. Another $1.263 billion came from bequests. Grants by philanthropic foundations during the year totaled $1.25 billion, while business corporations contributed $912 million.

As in previous years, religious causes were the chief recipients of this generosity, receiving more than $6.8 billion, or 46.9 per cent of the total. Hospitals and health causes received $2.6 billion, while $2.5 billion was given to education. Human resources causes — defined as youth and character building, recreation and welfare activities — received approximately $931 million, while $621 million was given to civic and cultural causes. More than $1 billion was given to other causes, including amounts given to existing foundations.

"Giving U.S.A., 1968," the thirteenth edition of the publication, contains a wealth of statistics and data on philanthropic giving during calendar year 1967. It is distributed as a public service by the association to interested persons in various fields of social welfare and philanthropy.

Republican Campaigns

Paul Eggers, right, Republican gubernatorial candidate, brought his campaign to Big Spring early today. With Eggers was his press secretary, Peter Roussel.

Eggers Hammers For Leadership

Paul Eggers, Wichita Falls, Republican gubernatorial hopeful, hammered at what he considered the most important issue in the governor's race this fall — new leadership — in his campaign stop in Big Spring today.

Eggers, who is concentrating on state, rather than national political issues, said he felt the "governor of Texas should keep himself in a position where he is in no way committed to take orders or directions from Washington."

He swung through Big Spring about 9 a.m. today on the first leg of a trip that will take him to Monahan and Kermit this afternoon and to Lubbock, Plainview and Andrews Wednesday.

Eggers hit strongly against secrecy in government and assailed the policy of the Texas Wildlife and Parks Commission of holding closed meetings.

"Our Democracy is peculiar because it comes from the people," he said, "and when any part of government gets to where it can't trust the people with what it is doing, this is not good."

He said he could not understand why the commission and those whom it has designated to handle funds for the LBJ Park would not divulge the source of funds.

"It's supposed to have an annual audit; there has been no audit," he said. "Why?"

This is his first time to offer for public office, but he said that the position of governor is that of an executive, "and I think I have had a good background in this area . . . as an attorney and as a director of banks and oil and gas associations."

Government is working with people, he added, and he said that this is what he most wanted to do.

Eggers said he had detected a feeling that it is time for a change, that Texans were seeing the need for a two-party system.

He plans to spend most of his

HHH Says U.S. Should Push Plan To Meet Human Needs

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says the United States should concentrate on "affirmative action to meet human needs" and called for building "peaceful bridges" to Communist China.

In a broad survey of foreign policy apparently anticipating his entry into the Democratic presidential race later this week, Humphrey said the United States need not apologize for the ways it has used its power.

ALMOST 'IN' On the subject of his possible candidacy, he said later that he "thinks" he will seek the nomination. "I think so," he said. "I think everything will fall out right."

Humphrey's speech Monday night marked his first extended essay on foreign affairs since President Johnson announced March 31 that he would not seek re-election. He did not include a defense of the Johnson administration war policy.

The vice president did tell the annual awards dinner of the Overseas Press Club that the nation must honor its commitments and stand up against armed aggression. "We must do our part to protect world security by maintaining whatever strength is necessary to meet our commitments to the U.N. charter and the regional treaties to which we are signatory," he said.

PEACE BRIDGE "But we are also obliged to concentrate on the arts of peace. Through affirmative action to meet human needs, we can build security and peace," Humphrey said.

"I look forward to the day when the great Chinese people, no longer victimized from within, take their place in the modern world," he said. "Surely one of the most exciting and enriching experiences to which we can look forward is the building of peaceful bridges to the people of mainland China."

"I believe the power of the free idea will in time infiltrate mainland China—as it has infiltrated and is infiltrating the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe."

Troop 146 Is Looking For New Scoutmaster

To Troop 146, G in Class 68-G may well be for going.

For when the class graduates on May 4, 2nd Lt. James Carl (Jim) Hohlt will be going to another assignment with the Air Force, and the troop will be looking for another scoutmaster.

Jim Hohlt has carried the title of assistant scoutmaster, but actually he has been the acting scoutmaster, devoting his off-time to his Scouts.

An avid out-doors apostle, he has had the troop on at least two outings a month. For service projects the boys staked a Scenic Mountain trail, conducted a cleanup of Scenic Mountain State Park and in one area at Moss Creek Lake. In the recent exposition, the troop earned a first place rating.

When the next Court of Honor is held April 29, it will be dedicated to Jim Hohlt.

Scouting is nothing new for Lt. Hohlt, who calls Indianapolis, Ind., home. When he turned 11, he joined Troop 215 in Whiteland, Ind., February, 1955.

Three years later he had his Eagle badge, then went on to add bronze, gold, silver palms. He also earned the Silver Award in Explorer Post 215 at Whiteland. He was a member of the Order of Arrow and the Firecrafter Order (only three councils in the nation offer this). He also attended the National Jamboree at Valley Forge in 1957. In his troop he served as assistant and patrol leader, quartermaster, assistant senior patrol leader and junior assistant scoutmaster.

While working on a degree in animal science and biology at Purdue, he was assistant scoutmaster of Troop 35 at Lafayette. He also worked with the Ft. Wayne (Ind.) YMCA as wilderness trip director, taking boys on Canadian canoe trips and treks, to the Grand Tetons for mountain climbing, to the Great Smokies, and one group to Alaska to drive to the end of every major road. He also served as aquatic director for the Lafayette Y during winter months.

A Devotional For The Day

"By this all men will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another." (John 13:35)

PRAYER: Our loving Father, we thank Thee for our Lord who led a humble life while in the world. Grant us strength so that we may walk in the path Jesus has shown. Help us to lead lives of humility and love so that others may know Thee. We ask it in Christ's holy name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Crucial Last Half

Buffeted by many recent events of great importance, members of Congress went home for the Easter recess to commune with their constituents. It should be an interesting experience.

It is practically impossible to separate recent events into political, economic, social or foreign policy pigeon-holes.

President Johnson's move toward negotiations with North Vietnam have far-reaching potentialities which cannot now be measured. It seems far-fetched at the moment, but if peace negotiations start in earnest and the level of hostilities subside, many new imperatives arise, ranging from a reduced military budget and improvement of our balance of payments to domestic economic reactions and the pressure for much greater commitments to civil rights and poverty programs.

President Johnson's decision not to seek the nomination leaves a vacuum that cannot be filled until late August. Democratic members have no visible coattails to cling to in November. Republicans have refurbished their hopes, but are divided on the question of who among them would have the best chance of being elected president against a Democratic nominee who cannot be identified until after the Republican convention is over. The gold drain and the continually unfavorable balance of payments situation have created misgivings in the business community as well as among plain citizens. Are the American people finally persuaded that the only solution is to follow the administration's recommendation for a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes? Members of Congress will be trying to find out.

The assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King and the widespread rioting that followed, present grave questions which go to the very heart of American democracy.

Seldom in history have congressmen been faced with so many troublesome and seemingly intractable problems. The legislative process, involving as it does committee hearings — often prolonged ones — and the reconciliation of opposing views, is necessarily slow during the early months of a Congress. But the Easter recess just about marks the half-way point for this session. To date, the only important measure passed by Congress and signed by the President is the civil rights act.

The people will ask: What are you going to do this session? Members of Congress yearning for re-election had best be prepared with some convincing answers.

Commendable Job

It may seem like a little thing, but a word of thanks is in order for members of the Howard County Junior College staff, headed by Dr. Dawson De Vine as director general, who stage the Region VI-B Interscholastic League meet here each year.

And with them, a word of appreciation is due the Big Spring judges whom they enlist to serve as judges for various events. Without this sort of cooperation, it would be impossible to stage this meet here each year.

It is important to Big Spring and Howard County in more ways than the hundred or two people who come here to participate or to supervise and coach those who take part. It gives the college and the community exposure to top students over a wide area. Some of these come here to take their first two years of school, and all, if the contests are well operated and the town hospitable, take away a good impression of our community.

Marquis Childs No Easing Of Racial Crisis

WASHINGTON — After all the public lamentation over the murder of Martin Luther King Jr., the blunt truth is that the divide between the white and the black societies is as wide as ever. That is the conviction of officials here directly concerned with race relations in the cities.

THE WAVE of looting and arson touched off by the assassination offset within the white community the shame and compassion that was the first reaction. To anyone who took seriously the Report of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders the riots were predictable. But few, and this goes for many in the top level of government, heeded the warning that any spark could touch off an explosion.

What stunned officials here was Mayor Richard Daley's order to Chicago police to shoot to kill arsonists and cripple looters.

STRENUOUS efforts were made here to try to persuade Daley to modify or rescind his order to the police. But those who used every possible channel to try to turn the Mayor around frankly acknowledged that the damage done could scarcely be undone. The words are echoing not only through Chicago's huge slum with its million blacks but in all the ghettos.

One consequence of the Daley order, which he later modified slightly, will be to encourage the black militants in spreading the report that the whites are bent on genocide.

ON THE WHITE side of the divide sick suspicion and hatred match the paranoia of many blacks. Civil war is imminent and the only recourse is to arm yourself and kill as many of the four-letter blankety-blanks as you can before you go down. That attitude has sent a new wave of white suburbanites to the gun stores. Daley undoubtedly knew that with his shoot-to-kill order he would have the support of a considerable part — perhaps a majority — of the white community. Widely disseminated pictures of free-wheeling looters in Washington apparently generated a backlash of monstrous proportions.

ONE MAN and one man only might have spoken to the conscience of the nation and thereby begun to bridge the gap between the two societies. When the rioting was at its height in the wake of Dr. King's death the White House let it be known the President would go to Congress early the following week. He would call for a greatly expanded program for the ghettos.

In the face of opposition from Capitol Hill he abandoned the idea. That, too, has not escaped the notice of the black minority. Even failure to get what he asked for would have been taken as evidence he had done his best in the face of implacable resistance. The House and Senate went on vacation and the order of the day on their return is a little more of the same.

SPECULATION OVER what might have been the national mood if Johnson had gone to the country is as idle as speculation over the reaction to the King assassination if it had not been followed by riots. Attitudes have hardened and it is difficult to see what can prevent further violence and bloodshed.

Inexpensive Idea

NEW DELHI (AP) — City police set up an "anti-missile" system at a cost of only 20 rupees ($2.60).

Warned of a planned demonstration at the old City Hall, police hired jute carpets to cover piles of stones lying around the building. They said the carpets hid the stones so the demonstrators did not find them a ready supply of missiles.

A DISCONCERTING GAUNTLET

James Marlow Clear Victory For Censors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just last May the Supreme Court made chapeau of the idea that juvenile court judges are a sort of substitute parent, entitled to punish or condone as they see fit.

Juveniles accused of crime, the court said, are entitled to be judged by the same constitutional ground-rules as adults are.

"Neither the Bill of Rights nor the U.S. Constitution is for adults only," Justice Abe Fortas said then.

ON MONDAY, however, the court turned around and assigned a parental role to the states in deciding what juveniles may read or see.

The 6-3 decision, written by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., amounts to a clear victory for the censors and an utter rout for civil libertarians. It puts government in the business of deciding what is moral and gives government the right to declare illegal what it finds immoral.

BRENNAN'S pronouncement by building on the proposition that "the well-being of its children is of course a subject within the state constitutional power to regulate."

Since society and "constitutional interpretation" have recognized the authority of parents to direct the rearing of their children, the next step was that parents and teachers "are entitled to the support of laws" designed to help them do the job.

All this means that states have a green light from the Supreme Court to suppress sales to minors of whatever books and magazines a majority of the legislators decide are too rich for young blood. The same probably holds true for movies, though the decision, in a New York case—wasn't explicit.

SINCE the same Supreme Court decided last term that "girlie" magazines can't be kept from adults, the result is two sets of rules, or what is called variable obscenity. The reach of the First Amendment depends on the age of the reader.

Once again, the subject of censorship fragmented—the court, and the frayed nerves showed.

Justice Potter Stewart, who in some recent instances has taken a strong free-speech stand, voted with the majority, saying there was no need for "a doctrinaire, knee-jerk application of the First Amendment."

Some 35 states now have laws or provisions of laws designed to shield juveniles from sexy or violent reading matter or movies. Though the decision dealt only with New York's special law, apparently all the states have to do to pass the court's censorship test is to take a leaf out of New York's law books.

Hal Boyle 'Living Is My Hobby'

NEW YORK (AP) — Her four score years rest lightly on the bitthe spirit of Dame Edith Evans, perhaps the most honored of living English actresses.

"Living is my hobby," she said. "I'm 80—so they tell me. I hope you find it difficult to believe. I've had nothing to do with it."

She wore a vivid spring-bright frock. Not for her the accoutrements of a grande dame—the tower of silver hair, the lace handkerchief, the silver-nobbed cane. Her hazel eyes sparkle, her short gray curls shake defiantly at times.

"I WORK STEADILY and hard and am not conscious of age," she remarked. "I have no particular goals now, except to go on doing creative work. That is always exciting."

"I have no retirement plan. I'll continue to work as long as people want me and I enjoy it." Dame Edith—she became a commander of the Order of the British Empire in 1946—won six "best actress" awards for her latest film, "The Whisperers," in which she played a lonely old lady on welfare. But Hollywood did not vote her an Oscar, nor did it in 1964, when she was nominated for her work in "Tom Jones."

"I was disappointed momentarily," she acknowledged. "It would have been the cherry on the top. But I never worry about awards. My mind doesn't work that way. If you let something like that bother you, you had best get out of the business."

DAME EDITH, whose father was a postmaster and whose mother ran a London boarding house next door to a home in which lived a small lad named Noel Coward, worked in girlhood as a milliner's apprentice. Both parents frowned on her acting aspirations.

Her objections collapsed when teen-aged Edith, who had never earned more than $9 a week in the millinery shop, was offered $12.50 on the stage.

The worst year of her life was 1935, when she lost both her mother and her husband, George Booth, a petroleum engineer. Childless, she dwells alone now in a flat near Piccadilly Circus, the Times Square of London.

Here is her philosophy: "I never pined for roles I never got. That's why I'm looking so well. There's nothing eating at me. It's very aging to go through life carrying a burden, and thinking you should have done something you didn't."

"I'm a great admirer of living—not grumbling. I think that grumbling brings nasty things into your life. One of the ways not to look your age is not to grumble or overeat or over-drink."

"WHEN I GO for a walk, I feel I should pay for the privilege of it. I believe gratitude is a very creative virtue. The more things you are grateful for, the more you'll find worth your gratitude."

Then, with a crisp but kindly smile of dismissal, she rose and said:

"I don't really know me. We never really know ourselves. But I really have nothing else to say now. I think you've torn me limb from limb."

To Your Good Health Tonsil Removal With Radium Opposed

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Will you give your opinion on radium treatment for removal of tonsils? Our family doctor says no, they might not regulate it just right and cause a burn or other harm.

I have talked to several people who have had theirs removed this way, and they say it's the only way.—H.A.L.

My opinion is no. I have tried consistently — most recently only a few days ago — to persuade people not to fear the brief exposures involved in whatever X-ray examinations they may need.

But in the same breath I am just as intent on people avoiding all X-ray (or similar) exposure that is not necessary. There certainly is no justification for exposing patients' throats to the amount of radium that would be necessary to destroy tonsils.

I would also protest against taking the opinion of "people" rather than of your doctor who knows the situation.

In addition, I am interested to know how you came to talk to several people who have had this radium procedure. In my 35 years of experience I cannot recall having seen a person who has had this done. Radium may have been used dangerously used years ago, but it is not, to my knowledge, being so used now.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a girl going on 13 and have a serious problem. I still suck my thumb. I find that I don't rely on this when I am nervous, only when I am asleep. Sometimes I try not to suck my thumb when I am going to sleep, but I wake up with my thumb in my mouth.

I realize this can be bad for my health and my teeth (I have buck teeth). I am afraid to sleep with my girl friends. I try falling asleep without my thumb, but one of my friends told me I was sucking my thumb while I was asleep. I was embarrassed and told her she was crazy, and that I must have been biting my nail. Can you help me? — WET THUMB.

It sounds like a pretty ingrained habit, and I suppose there was some underlying psychological aspect that started it, but let's skip that.

You don't need your thumb while awake; the trick now is to break the automatic habit when asleep. Have you tried making yourself mittens of some sort, perhaps out of an old towel? Some elastic around your wrists might keep them on at night, and the cloth might make your thumb unappetizing enough so you'll stop wanting to pop it into your mouth.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald requesting the booklet, "How to Deal with Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

There Are Days—

I once owned a little shack on the shore of a club lake. The lake was 12 miles from town, and most of the road to it was a narrow, dusty country lane.

The lake teemed with fish, but I am not a good fisherman. Most of the fish I catch are too small to cook; most of the time I don't catch any fish at all.

ONE DAY, though, I found a lovely channel cat on my trotline. He would weigh about four pounds — probably the biggest fish I will ever snare.

Very proud of my achievement I deposited Mr. Fish in a livebox, planning to feast on his succulent flesh on my next visit to the cabin.

On the great day, I parked the car and lugged in the mountain of supplies you always have to take with you when you go on a "pleasure trip."

I THEN went to the lake, waded out to the livebox. I carefully opened the lid and there was my prize fish swimming idly to and fro.

Grasping him firmly (or so I thought) by the gills I carefully lifted him out of the box. He gave a mighty flip, jerked loose from fingers and vanished in the deep cool waters of the lake.

I crept to the shore and back to the cabin, almost in tears. My wife checked the cupboard and said we could dine on wieners, pork and beans and iced tea. That is we could if I could drive the 12 miles to town and get the ice. Also while I was there, why not get a watermelon for desert?

I MADE the long dusty trip and bought the ice, which I lodged on the bumper of the car. I shopped until I found the most luscious looking watermelon you ever saw. Then I headed back for the lake under the broiling August sun.

At the cabin I got out of the car and walked around to the rear bumper to carry in that 50-pound of ice. You guessed it — somewhere en route I had hit a chughole too hard and my ice had bounced off and, of course, long since melted and soaked into the parched roadbed.

OH WELL, I told myself, so we'll not have iced tea but we will have red, ripe cold watermelon along with our wieners, pork and beans and bread.

I proudly toled that big green monster into the shack and deposited it on the kitchen table. I took a long sharp butcher knife and plunged it into the green rind.

I sliced around and the two halves fell apart.

The inside was just as green as the outside. Well, with a word of encouragement, I would have cut my throat. I thought about crying a little, but that also seemed pointless. With my luck, I probably would never have gotten any tears to fall.

I LOOKED at the lake thoughtfully and wondered how bad drowning really was.

Being a philosopher, I did the only thing I could do.

I sat down and ate my wieners, pork and beans and bread and washed the meal down with a big tall glass of room-temperature water.

There are days when a fellow should have stood in bed.

Art Buchwald A Case For The Draft Board

WASHINGTON — "The Republican Draft Board is now in session. Those case are we hearing today?"

"We have a fellow by the name of Nelson Rockefeller."

"Mr. Rockefeller, I see by our records that you are requesting your draft status be reclassified from 4-F to 1-A. We're curious about why you want to be classified 1-A at this stage."

"I'VE ALWAYS wanted to serve my country, sir, but when I was drafted, I did it because I didn't want to split the Republican Army. But I've decided now that with all my friends going in, I would be considered a draft dodger."

"That's very interesting, and we certainly admire your change of heart, but we see in your folder that you have said that you don't want to fight in the primaries. How could you be a good Republican soldier if you don't want to fight?"

"I DO WANT to fight, but I believe in just wars against the Democrats. If I fought in the primaries I would be trying to kill my brothers, and this is a matter of conscience with me."

"Nelson, we had classified you 4-F because you had been married twice, you were a member of the Eastern Establishment and you refused to campaign for our dearly beloved Gen. Barry Goldwater in the Battle of '64. We still consider you a security risk."

"I'M A LOYAL Republican and I would do anything to be drafted. Give me a chance. We've got a tough battle ahead, and you know the Republican Army can't win it with Richard Nixon."

"Nixon is an experienced soldier.

He's fought in many campaigns. It's true he's lost a few of them, but I would like to remind you that 'old soldiers never die,' at least not as far as the Republicans are concerned."

"I didn't come here to beg, but if you don't draft me, I'll never be able to face my grandchildren. I'm a poor man, but I'll sacrifice everything if you give me this one chance."

"NELSON, a few months ago you were going to volunteer to fight for the Republican Army. Then, at the last moment, to everyone's surprise, you burned your draft card and announced you were a conscientious objector. How do you square that with what you've been telling us today?"

"I had a change of heart. I was all ready to go in, but I was talked out of it by my friends. They said, 'Don't volunteer and then they'll have to draft you.' So I decided not to go in. But I didn't realize it was so hard to be drafted."

"You still haven't made a good case for wanting to be inducted."

"I CAN BEAT the Democrats. With me leading the Republican Army we could get the liberals to defect and the Democrats to surrender. I could end the war in Vietnam and bring law and order to the streets of America. I am a symbol of economic stability. Besides, no one knows what I really think about most of the issues of the day. You have to admit that's a plus."

"Nelson, we will reconsider your case, though at this time we can't give you any assurance that you'll be drafted. Go back to your home and wait until you hear from us."

Holmes Alexander The Parties Want To Stay Alive

WASHINGTON — Democratic and Republican political pros have already picked the top of their tickets—Richard Nixon and Hubert Humphrey.

It's still possible that the poor, old, put-upon public will kick the picked slates into smithereens and stampede one or both of the national conventions, but this is unlikely. The strongest urge within both parties in 1968 is merely to stay alive.

THAT IS THE name of the game this year, so far as the Presidential office is concerned. Sen. Bob Kennedy has got more money, more gall, more crowd-appeal than any other Democrat, but Bobby to every Democratic leader from Lyndon Johnson to George Meany would be a pig-in-the-parlor.

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has more money, more administrative experience, more voter-attraction than his Republican rivals. But Rocky's nomination would play Jack the Ripper with the Grand Old Party that now holds 26 governorships and is on the verge of winning the House of Representatives.

ONE REASON, I'm told, why President Johnson won't tell the Democratic Convention what to do is — he doesn't have to tell it. Johnson wants Humphrey, and so do the majority of Democrats who are going to be delegates. He is the Good Humor Man to Labor (without which no Democrat can win and nobody can say that Hubert ever hounded a Jimmy Hoffa to prison. I'll never forget Mayor Humphrey of Minnesota making that stem-winding speech for a civil rights plank at the 1948 Democratic Convention when Bobby was still a college boy. That speech drove the Dixiecrats from the party — and I think the Negro leaders won't forget it either.

THE VICE PRESIDENT has got it all the essential elements of the Democratic establishment in his coat pocket, and it's said around this town that he's also got Mrs. Muriel Humphrey, at his coattails. This last is important, Mrs. Humphrey is supposed to be the one who knows how to tug when it's time for Hubert to stop talking and sit down.

Dick Nixon has developed into the comfortable Old Shoe for the Republicans that Humphrey has become for the Democrats. If Gov. Ronald Reagan stays put as a favorite son, Nixon is sure to take the 26 million Old Guard vote that went for Barry Goldwater. No Republican can win without that grubstake for a beginning.

If we win the Vietnam War very soon, which seems quite likely, Nixon will get some benefit. He was a war-whooper in the darkest hours when Rocky was not even whispering.

HUMPHREY VS. Nixon is how the professional match-makers want it, and it's easy to see why. The Democratic leaders believe the vice president can win and they'd like to see him do it, whereas the vision of Bob Kennedy in the White House, sending down messages to Congress and road-building a dynastic highway for Ted Kennedy and maybe John-John, is a nightmare for the smoke-filled room. The Republican leaders, who put the party together after 1964 and engineered the Congressional comeback of 1966, aren't sure that Nixon can make it, but they're positive that he isn't the rule-or-ruin man that Rocky is self-certified to be.

The people, as distinct from the politicians, could very well demand Kennedy and Rockefeller, and the lion when Bobby was still a college boy. That speech drove the Dixiecrats from the party — and I think the Negro leaders won't forget it either.

The refreshment table was laid with a royal blue cloth and centered with a turquoise floral arrangement. Milk glass and silver appointments were used. Seven attended.

Mrs. J. E. Brown returned Monday from Dallas where she visited a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Brown. Also, she was a guest of another son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brown, and family in Fort Worth when his birthday was celebrated with a family dinner.

That's a new way to clean a closet and get some new clothes at the same time! Heloise

Dear Heloise: I have found the most marvelous way to keep my clothes clean in order. I keep a large paper bag standing in the corner. Now when I pull out that dress I have intended to shorten for three years, a skirt that is just a little too tight, or a blouse that doesn't go with anything, I just drop them in the bag right then and there.

When it's full I call a charity organization to pick it up or I take it to the nearest collection box. Then I put a new bag in my closet for further use. R. R.

Dear Heloise: We had "chicken in a bucket" from one of the drive-ins the other night. After the family finished the chicken, I took the big cardboard bucket, washed and dried it, then spray-painted it inside a bright red. I covered the outside with heavy red and gold gift wrapping paper.

The result was the prettiest bathroom wastepaper basket you ever saw. It could be used also for an arrangement of flowers and many other things. It cost nil, too. Mrs. Linda West

Dear Heloise: Instead of discarding my sea grass runners that were spotted and ugly, I just got out an old bucket of paint. The first coat I put on them was a flat paint, applied very thick. Then to finish them off, I used an enamel spray coat. After a year, I sprayed the runners again and they are like new and so useful. I painted only one side because they dried quickly that way.

BSP Group Hears Art Program

The program, "Enjoyment of Art," was presented by Mrs. Triett Vines and Miss Beverly Jones at the Monday meeting of the Xi Mu Exemplar Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. Mrs. Harry McMillan, 2619 Central, was hostess, and Mrs. W. A. Clark was cohostess.

The members sketched a rose, comparing sketches, and discussed various paintings that were displayed. They talked on literature and compared the works of fiction writers, dramatists and poets. Recordings of folk tunes, popular ballads, dance music and symphony selections were played and comparisons were made concerning each type of music.

Mrs. Spike Dykes, a guest and multiple sclerosis drive chairman, announced a door-to-door canvass on May 21, noting that this is the first organization of a Multiple Sclerosis Society chapter in Big Spring.

The table was laid with an ecru lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of orange and green fruit.

INTRODUCTORY TEA

Bride-Elect Honored At Pre-Nuptial Reception

Miss Alice Everett, bride-elect of Dewayne Richters, was complimented at an introductory tea Sunday in the home of Mrs. Billy Spears in Coahoma.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Aubrey Darden, Miss Shirlene Richters and Miss Linda Richters. The honoree was joined in the receiving line by her fiancé and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Everett of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Richters, and her sister, Miss Diane Everett of Midland. The bride-elect was attired in a white shift with long lace sleeves, and was presented a red corsage. Both mothers were given white corsages.

The refreshment table was laid with a white cloth with net overlay and centered with an arrangement of red and white roses accented with a miniature bridal couple and flanked by candles. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Approximately 75 guests were registered. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Mark Burnam, Cisco; Mrs. W. A. Everett, Putnam; and Miss Brenda Lusby, Miss Diane Scott and Miss Julia Dawson, all of Sul Ross College, Alpine.

Mrs. Robert Pritz presided and plans were discussed for a fund-raising project. The pledge pin ceremony will be held at 7:30 p.m., May 13, at the KC Steak House, and new officers will be installed by Mrs. Pritz.

The refreshment table was laid with a royal blue cloth and centered with a turquoise floral arrangement. Milk glass and silver appointments were used. Seven attended.

Mrs. J. E. Brown returned Monday from Dallas where she visited a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Brown. Also, she was a guest of another son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brown, and family in Fort Worth when his birthday was celebrated with a family dinner.

That's a new way to clean a closet and get some new clothes at the same time! Heloise

Dear Heloise: I have found the most marvelous way to keep my clothes clean in order. I keep a large paper bag standing in the corner. Now when I pull out that dress I have intended to shorten for three years, a skirt that is just a little too tight, or a blouse that doesn't go with anything, I just drop them in the bag right then and there.

When it's full I call a charity organization to pick it up or I take it to the nearest collection box. Then I put a new bag in my closet for further use. R. R.

Dear Heloise: We had "chicken in a bucket" from one of the drive-ins the other night. After the family finished the chicken, I took the big cardboard bucket, washed and dried it, then spray-painted it inside a bright red. I covered the outside with heavy red and gold gift wrapping paper.

The result was the prettiest bathroom wastepaper basket you ever saw. It could be used also for an arrangement of flowers and many other things. It cost nil, too. Mrs. Linda West

Dear Heloise: Instead of discarding my sea grass runners that were spotted and ugly, I just got out an old bucket of paint. The first coat I put on them was a flat paint, applied very thick. Then to finish them off, I used an enamel spray coat. After a year, I sprayed the runners again and they are like new and so useful. I painted only one side because they dried quickly that way.

The older squares I now use on the patio, but the others are still doing duty in the house. Some are white but the grass green rugs outside look terrific — and all for a dollar or less. Iris Clark

Iris, I hope our friends know to do that painting outside on the lawn just BEFORE they mow the grass. When the lawn mower does its next chopping job, the painted grass is cut off. Results? No messy, sticky papers to pick up. Heloise

Hints From Heloise

Dear Snookie-Pies: If you have acquired a bit of "cool" and love to wear bright colored stockings, like green or red or purple, I just learned something by a tried-and-true method which I did myself.

Buy a package of all-purpose dye. Then take your OLD ESTUMATED stockings and tint them to wear with those cute dresses.

I did not even boil mine. I put my teakettle on the stove and brought the water to a boil. Poured the package of dye into a stainless steel pan, held my teakettle high and slowly poured the boiling water over the dye. Then stirred it real good with a spoon.

You'll be amazed what pretty colors of pink, red and blue you can get. Why buy 'em when you have unmatned stockings anyway? Or "more better yet," tint those light-colored ones which look like they're faded.

By the way, I've just been told by my teenage daughter, "Mother, you better get with it!" Heloise

Chronic Hunger Is Widespread In United States

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new report says that in the Deep South, in New England, on Indian reservations, in Appalachia — in every section of the nation — at least 10 million Americans suffer unrelenting hunger and the number of victims is growing.

DIZZY SPELLS

They suffer anemia, growth retardation and parasitic diseases usually found in underdeveloped countries, the report said. And their infants often are fed water instead of milk, while their aged suffer dizzy spells from hunger.

"No other Western country permits such a large proportion of its people to endure the lives we press on our poor," the report said. "To make four-fifths of a nation more affluent than any other people in history, we have degraded one-fifth mercilessly."

The report, made public Monday by the Citizens' Board of Inquiry into Hunger and Malnutrition in the United States, urged President Johnson to declare that a national emergency exists and to launch emergency food programs in 256 hard-hit counties, as well as migrant farm camps and some Indian reservations.

POOR DIETS

It also recommended establishing a free food-stamp program and stripping the Agriculture Department of responsibility for food aid because it places

"the interests of agricultural producers first, the needs of the poor and hungry second."

The report said only 5.4 million of the estimated 30 million persons in poverty receive surplus commodities or food stamps under current Agriculture Department programs. And, it added, one-third of those receiving the government aid still have a poor diet—according to Agriculture Department standards.

"We cannot assume that any of the remaining poor—those on neither program—are getting enough food," the report said.

Co-chairmen of the citizens' group are Benjamin E. Mays, retired president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., and Leslie W. Dunbar, director of the Field Foundation, New York.

The report said the 256 counties requiring immediate food programs are in 20 states—most in the South and Southwest—with 47 of them in Georgia.

In discussing its listing of "hunger counties, the board said "use of counties as the basic geographic and statistical unit necessarily overlooks smaller pockets of intense privation" in counties not listed as a whole.

It added: "This tends consequently to understate the extent of malnutrition and hunger in (some) urban areas."

TEXAS COUNTIES
The listed counties, by state, included:

New Mexico — Hardin, Mora, Rio Arriba, Sandoval, Socorro, Taos.

Oklahoma — Caddo, Cotton, Okfuskee, Tillman.

Texas — Atascosa, Burleson, Caldwell, Cameron, Concho, Cottle, De Witt, Delta, Dimmitt, Falls, Foard, Frio, Hays, Hidalgo, Karnes, Kinney, LaSalle, Limestone, Madison, Marion, Milam, Motley, San Augustine, San Jacinto, San Patricio, San Saba, Trinity, Tyler, Willacy, Zavala.

Ceremonies Signal Birth Of Largest Church Merger

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Two families of Christians today joined hands—literally and symbolically—in a vast pageant uniting them into a single denomination, the United Methodist Church.

"All praise to our redeeming Lord, who joins us by His grace," sang the assembly in Dallas Memorial Auditorium after the newly combined body was formally declared established.

11 MILLION ADULTS

It is the largest Protestant merger yet in an era of multiplying interdenominational mergers. It unites the Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church into a denomination of more than 11 million adult members in this country.

Prayers, processions and chanted litanies marked the occasions. Flags of many nations bedecked the big arena, before a towering cross.

The climactic moment came when E.U.B. Bishop Reuben H. Mueller, of Indianapolis, and Methodist Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, of New York, clasped hands and pronounced in unison: "Lord of the church, we are united in Thee, in Thy church, including the Bible."

The announcement was made by O. T. Brewster, inkeeper, who said the system inaugurated the program in cooperation with airlines and other carriers which have reduced fares to encourage travel to the U.S.A. and to improve the country's balance of payments position.

Thirty Jailed After Battle

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A mushrooming squabble broke out Monday night among a small knot of the 85,000 persons jamming the downtown area after a festive float parade on the San Antonio River. A youth was shot in the leg and about 30 young men and two women were jailed.

Police reacted with scores of officers equipped with helmets, special baseball bat-length night sticks and other equipment. The disturbance was under control in about 30 minutes.

Police said four shots were fired. One of the shots, officers said, hit Lloyd Dancy, 17, below the left knee. Dancy was in satisfactory condition at a hospital.

Two youths were booked into jail, one for illegally carrying a pistol and the other for using abusive language. All others taken in were released on their own recognizance.

Brazen Barefoot Burglars Steal Office Machines

Barefooted burglars with a penchant for office machinery cleaned out the offices of the Jack Lewis Buick and Cadillac sometime early today.

The loot comprised three calculators, six adding machines and four typewriters.

The burglars bothered nothing else in the offices. They did not ransack drawers or open file cabinets. They contented themselves with the office machines.

The prowlers gained entrance by breaking a glass on the door at the east end of the office. They then went through the service department and raised the overhead door to a wash rack area. Apparently they drove their car or pickup into the service department where it would not be seen from the street.

They made numerous trips the length of the building at Fourth and Scurry, carrying the machines to the car. They left prints of naked feet as they walked to and from the office. Officers estimated one set of tracks about size nine and the other size 10.

The building open when they made the rounds of the area around 5 a.m.

Southern Bell, which obtained both the Alabama and Kentucky state court orders, contended its employees were illegally refusing to cross the picket lines of telephone installers.

"There has been no formal bargaining since the strike began six days ago in some 40 states."

Company spokesmen said telephone service—mostly automated—remained largely unaffected by the strike.

The Alabama injunction applied only to the approximately 8,000 strikers in that state but CWA President Joseph A. Beirne said the state court order blocked any early possibility of settling the nationwide walkout.

The Alabama strikers continued to ignore the injunction, issued Saturday by Circuit Judge James A. Hare of Dallas County, while union lawyers sought to have the case transferred to federal court in Mobile.

The case was placed on the docket of U.S. District Court there.

A similar union legal strategy succeeded Monday in Kentucky where Federal Judge James Gordon voided a state injunction and said Southern Bell Telephone Co. would have to seek some other remedy such as a suit for damages if it felt it had any valid complaint against the union.

Southern Bell, which obtained both the Alabama and Kentucky state court orders, contended its employees were illegally refusing to cross the picket lines of telephone installers.

"There has been no formal bargaining since the strike began six days ago in some 40 states."

LEGAL STRATEGY

Company spokesmen said telephone service—mostly automated—remained largely unaffected by the strike.

The Alabama injunction applied only to the approximately 8,000 strikers in that state but CWA President Joseph A. Beirne said the state court order blocked any early possibility of settling the nationwide walkout.

Hopes Appear Dim For Fast Phone Strike Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hopes appeared dim for renewed negotiations anytime soon in the nationwide strike of some 200,000 telephone workers as union attorneys sought to upset an Alabama court injunction against the walkout.

Thirty Jailed After Battle

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A mushrooming squabble broke out Monday night among a small knot of the 85,000 persons jamming the downtown area after a festive float parade on the San Antonio River. A youth was shot in the leg and about 30 young men and two women were jailed.

Police reacted with scores of officers equipped with helmets, special baseball bat-length night sticks and other equipment. The disturbance was under control in about 30 minutes.

Police said four shots were fired. One of the shots, officers said, hit Lloyd Dancy, 17, below the left knee. Dancy was in satisfactory condition at a hospital.

Two youths were booked into jail, one for illegally carrying a pistol and the other for using abusive language. All others taken in were released on their own recognizance.

Brazen Barefoot Burglars Steal Office Machines

Barefooted burglars with a penchant for office machinery cleaned out the offices of the Jack Lewis Buick and Cadillac sometime early today.

The loot comprised three calculators, six adding machines and four typewriters.

The burglars bothered nothing else in the offices. They did not ransack drawers or open file cabinets. They contented themselves with the office machines.

The prowlers gained entrance by breaking a glass on the door at the east end of the office. They then went through the service department and raised the overhead door to a wash rack area. Apparently they drove their car or pickup into the service department where it would not be seen from the street.

They made numerous trips the length of the building at Fourth and Scurry, carrying the machines to the car. They left prints of naked feet as they walked to and from the office. Officers estimated one set of tracks about size nine and the other size 10.

The building open when they made the rounds of the area around 5 a.m.

BUSINESS REVIEW

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, TUESDAY, APRIL 23, 1968

NATIONAL BUILDING CENTER HAS LOTS OF LUMBER
Tom Vernon brings in a new load

Lumber Center Has New Spring Supplies

Though National Building Center, 301 E. 2nd, is primarily in the lumber business, the company handles remodeling and new construction of homes and businesses.

Take your ideas for remodeling and new construction to National Building Center for a plan drawing service. With experience in the building business, the staff can turn your ideas into workable plans and the firm carries all material needed for residential and commercial construction.

Tom Vernon, manager, invites you to view a demonstration of the Spartan Storm Door for a demonstration of its safety features. The glass section of the door is made from tempered glass called Herclite that is shatterproof. It takes an amazing amount of punishment without breaking. A demonstration will prove that this particular glass is almost break-proof.

The Spartan Storm Door is of all-aluminum construction 1 1/2 inches thick which is rustproof and rot proof. The heavy gauge frame parts are held rigidly in place giving the door great strength. It is ready to hang and easily installed. The door is adjustable and the bottom expander is weatherstripped.

The storm door also converts to a full aluminum screen door in seconds. This Combo door is really two doors in one—a glass door for complete bad weather protection and a full screen door for warm weather protection and a full screen door for warm weather ventilation. All storm or screen panels are the same size and are instantly removable and easily replaced.

Besides the safety factor of this door, there is another feature that makes it excellent for a home with children. There is a heavy duty embossed kick plate, 22 inches high that adds strength to the door.

Another line in stock at National Building Center is the Vac-Cyclonic, the built-in power cleaning system which is the answer to the homemaker's dream. When planning to remodel or build a new home, this modern cleaning system is a must. It can be quickly and neatly installed in your present home with no interruption of the household routine. The special tubing with safe, low-voltage wiring is concealed in the walls, attic or under floors.

The Vac-Cyclonic has no heavy, awkward unit to push or pull. There is no electrical cord to tangle and no bag to empty. The unit turns on automatically when it is plugged in and only three or four outlets are needed for the average six-room house. This modern vacuum cleaner with its wall outlets conveniently located to give complete accessibility to any part of the home is up to five times as powerful as portables. This extra power picks up more dirt and dust in less time. It cleans quieter for the power mechanism is installed completely outside the living area. Babies can sleep undisturbed and you can hear the doorbell while you are using this modern cleaning system.

Since all dirt and dust is carried outside the living area and not recirculated within the living space to irritate asthma and allergy victims, it is healthier than the Vac-Cyclonic cleaning system, ash trays are emptied easily and even fireplace ashes can be cleaned up in minutes.

If you need some furniture and like do-it-yourself projects, National Building Center has the answer in the unfinished furniture department. It has a complete line of unfinished furniture of superior construction and in wood that is easy to work with. Stop by 301 E. 2nd and see the desks, chairs, rockers, bookcases, tables and chests.

After you have selected the furniture you need, one of the sales staff will help you select finishing materials to secure the desired effect to match or complement other decor. The stock includes kits for antique finish or decoupage.

Blue Lustre Makes Cleaning Easier

To the housewife, spring means gleaming furniture, polished floors, fresh flowers on the table, and the knowledge that everything is clean!

original brilliance of the colors and the springiness to the nap. Housewives everywhere are raving about the wonderful new look that Blue Lustre brings to their carpets and upholstery.

Supermarkets Deny Profits

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As the symbol of our abundance, as the cornucopia for more than 8,000 farm, factory and laboratory items that 200 million persons need in one degree or another, one might think that supermarket owners were reaping profits.

This they deny. Profits on each dollar of sales range in the area of one cent, says George Koch, president of the Grocery Manufacturers Association.

"The 25-cent tip you give the boy for taking your groceries to the car is more profit than the store gets on a $10 order," Koch will tell you, assured that the simple contrast will cause shoppers to consider the unfairness of it.

Wolf On Lam?

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — The wolf isn't quite at the door in Paris, but Police Chief Dan Bills spotted one galloping down a Paris street in broad daylight recently.

A resident had complained minutes earlier to police that there was a wolf in the neighborhood.

Bills tried to give chase, but the animal ducked into the woods. Police decided it was either on the lam, or headed for grandma's house.

DALLAS (AP) — Golf's biggest names lash at Preston Trail's 7,086 yards today as the field for the $100,000 Byron Nelson Classic goes through the only practice rounds it will get.

In the afternoon a clinic was planned with Nelson as the master of ceremonies. Thirteen players who combined have won more than 150 PGA titles and over $3 million were the demonstrators of all the clubs in the bag except the putter.

The long course got its first test Monday as 83 players shot for 15 qualifying places but only one—Ron Cerudo of San Rafael, Calif.—could master its par.

Womack's Fireman Chore Saves Win

By The Associated Press

Oakland's Floyd Robinson still is ahead of Dooley Womack, but the New York Yankees pitcher has shortened the distance by about 350 feet.

Robinson, who beat the Yanks a week ago with a 400-foot pinch hit homer off Womack in the ninth inning, nicked the slender reliever for an infield single with two out in the ninth Monday night.

Womack, however, retired the next batter, preserving a 2-1 New York victory that ran the Athletics' losing streak to four games.

California's Jack Hamilton pitched a three-hitter and drove in the deciding run with a fourth-inning single, leading the Angels past Washington 4-2 in another American League night game.

Baltimore nipped Minnesota 2-1 on Andy Etchebarren's 10th-inning homer Monday afternoon in the only other game on the AL schedule.

In the National League, Los Angeles trimmed Pittsburgh 5-3 and Philadelphia shaded San Francisco 2-1 in 10 innings.

Womack, whose home run pitch to Robinson last Tuesday at New York cost Yankee south-paw Fritz Peterson a victory, rescued Peterson in the eighth inning at Oakland, striking out Sal Bando to escape from a bases-loaded jam.

He stopped the A's in the ninth—with the exception of Robinson's second hit of the season—to protect Peterson's first triumph. The New York starter yielded six hits and struck out nine.

The Yankees managed only four hits against loser Lew Krausse, who fanned seven before going out for a pinch hitter in the eighth. Singles by Horace Clarke and Mike Ferraro, followed by Tom Tresh's sacrifice fly, sent the winning run across in the sixth.

Hamilton spotted the Senators two runs in the second inning, then held them hitless the rest of the way to win his first 1968 decision. The husky right-hander snapped a 2-2 tie in the fourth with a run-scoring single off loser Dick Bosman.

Roger Repoz scored three runs, one of them on his third homer, as the Angels ended

Washington's winning string at four games.

Etchebarren drove his first homer of the year into the left field pavilion at Minnesota with one out in the 10th, sending the Orioles past the Twins. Jim Merritt, who had given up a first inning homer by Paul Blair, was the victim of Etchebarren's winning blast.

Dave McNally, who allowed just four hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the 10th, picked up his second victory without a loss. John O'Donoghue finished up, retiring the Twins in order in the bottom of the 10th.

In the National League, Los Angeles trimmed Pittsburgh 5-3 and Philadelphia shaded San Francisco 2-1 in 10 innings.

Womack, whose home run pitch to Robinson last Tuesday at New York cost Yankee south-paw Fritz Peterson a victory, rescued Peterson in the eighth inning at Oakland, striking out Sal Bando to escape from a bases-loaded jam.

Local Driver Achieves Win

His father, J. W. Mount, 1510 State Park Drive, has been racing for 30 years, but Johnny, who resides at 1309 Scurry, has taken over on the driving.

He's started off well, too, for in his opening race of the season Sunday at Lubbock's Arena Park Raceway, he won top money in the super-modified division.

Johnny was driving with a fuel-injected large Buick engine up front. The body is a special racing type developed by the elder and younger Mount, and the red and white No. 8 is sharp enough that it won third place in the automobile show which was held in connection with the opening race of the season at Lubbock. Sixty cars were entered.

The racer weighs in at about 1,700 pounds and has tremendous fast acceleration with a motor which generates upwards of 500 hp.

Johnny plans to drive again this Sunday at Lubbock, and during the season he likely will make races in Amarillo, Albuquerque, N.M., and Lawton, Okla.

Mount says the hobby can be expensive and a racing enthusiast considers himself lucky if he can break even over a year's time.

He gets no more than 1 1/2 to 2 miles per gallon from the special preparation of fuel he uses. In his races, Johnny's dad usually serves as his chief mechanic and advisor.

Johnny was hospitalized with neck and back injuries in a wreck he had in his inaugural year on the track last year but the miseries were minor and he was soon back in action.

Steers Visit Odessa In Comeback Effort

Will the Big Spring Steers perform better with the pressure off or will they suffer a let-down after having lost to the District 2-AAAA pace-setter last Saturday?

Coach Oakley Hagood finds out today how his charges react in a game with Odessa High in Odessa. Starting time is 4 p.m.

Big Spring is still not out of the championship race by any means but can ill afford to lose another decision. The local trail Midland Lee by two games in the standings, with six contests remaining.

The Longhorns were lucky to beat Odessa High last time out. They fell three runs behind but rallied in the final couple of innings to win by a 4-3 margin.

Quite likely, Junior Mendoza will go to the mound for Big Spring. Junior has been very effective of late. Odessa could counter with Mark Green.

Other local starters will likely be Gary Don Newsom behind

The Longhorns, now 16-5 on the year and 5-3 within the circuit, come home Saturday to square off with Abilene Cooper in a 2 p.m. engagement.

Odessa will be seeking to improve upon an 11-6 over-all record. In district play, the Broncos are 3-4.

Among Sunday Entries

The four drivers pictured here were among the entries in Sunday's sports car races held here by the Mesquite Rallye Association. From the left, they are Dave Ford, Bill Harris, Erven Fisher and Bruce Miller.

Bill Harris Is Biggest Winner In Auto Races

Big Spring's Mesquite Rallye Association held their second sports car racing event Sunday afternoon in the College Park Shopping Center. Fifteen automobiles were entered in four categories, according to engine size.

Taking the sports car class of over three liters was Bill Harris driving a Chevrolet Corvette. Dave Ford, driving a TR-2 was the winner of the sports class over two liters.

Sports car class under two liters was Bruce Miller driving a Porsche 912 and Erven Fisher took the sedan class in his Plymouth Barracuda.

The event lasted some four hours in which each driver had three attempts to drive through one pylons set in various gates, the object being to get through as fast as possible without having a course deviation or knocking down the pylons.

The Mesquite Rallye Association will have their next meeting at the Ranch Inn Pizza Hut the first Wednesday in May. The next rallye is scheduled for May 26 and "all adult drivers who are interested in sports car driving are cordially invited," said Bill Harris, rallye coordinator.

Dogies Decision Andrews, 12-5

The Big Spring JV's erupted for seven runs in the second inning on their way to a 12-5 baseball victory over Andrews here Monday afternoon.

Jimmy Farris notched his second mound win of the season, compared to two losses. Over-all, the Dogies are now 5-4. Andy Gamboa hit a leadoff home run for Big Spring in the opening inning.

In Business Since 1949

By REEVES MOREN

As Western Auto Supply Co. celebrates their 50th year in business our family recognizes that we have progressed from newcomers to old timers in Big Spring.

My mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moren bought the Western Auto Associate Store then located at 206 Main St. in the fall of 1949 in partnership with my aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crossland. It was the fall of "51" before I joined the business and we installed many "Wizard" batteries in cars parked at meters in front of the old Main Street Store.

One of the things that newcomers to this area can't understand is why bicycle tires have so much trouble with the local burrs. Heavy duty tubes with neverleak will solve the problem, and these "Davis" heavy duty bike tubes have been one of our better selling items.

"Davis" is also the brand name of our popular line of automobile and truck tires. The Davis tire is unique not only in the fact that it is guaranteed to give service (any unrepairable tire will be replaced with a new tire and customer pays only for tread worn away); but there are Western Auto Stores in each of the 50 states where the tire can be serviced or replaced. There are over 4500 Western Auto Stores.

Have you noticed the extra wide tread, 30% wider, on the new 70 series tires that are now coming into popular use? The "Davis Wide One" is a tire that will give faster stops with less skidding. Moses Barraza of 2405 West 16th put a set of "The Wide Ones" on his Pontiac because he said, "My wife wants a set of those new extra wide tires."

County Clerk Lists Vote Rules For New Residents

County clerk Pauline Petty has reminded new residents of Howard County that they must vote in the county clerk's office by Tuesday, April 30, if they wish to participate in either the Democratic primary or the Republican primary to be held on May 4.

Any person who has lived in the county less than six months (who became a resident after Nov. 3, 1967) must vote in the clerk's office during the period of April 15-April 30. He must be a registered voter either in this county or in the county of his former residence and must have lived in the state for a year. He will be required to present his registration certificate or to make an affidavit of its loss when he applies for a ballot.

A voter with less than six months' residence in the county will be able to vote on all statewide offices and on the referendum propositions on the primary ballot, and will also be able to vote on district offices for districts in which he has six months' residence preceding the election, but he will not be permitted to vote in local races.

Persons who now live in Big Spring and who registered in the county of their former residence must have their registration transferred to Howard County through the office of the county tax assessor-collector of this county before they will be permitted to vote.

Mrs. Petty said that voters living in Big Spring who have moved from one voting precinct to another within the county since registering must also have their registration transferred through the tax assessor-collector's office by April 29 in order to vote in the May 4th primary. They will vote on election day at the regular polling place for the voting precinct of their present residence.

Voters living elsewhere in the county who have moved to a new precinct within the county also vote in the precinct of present residence, but they need not transfer their registration.

If a voter living in Big Spring has lived in the county for six months but obtained his registration certificate in another county before moving to this county, he also must have his registration transferred by April 29. He will vote on election day at the regular polling place for the precinct of his present residence.

Persons who now live in Big Spring and who registered in the county of their former residence must have their registration transferred to Howard County through the office of the

Two Youths Connected To County Vandalism

Two youths, one of whom is a juvenile and the other around 18, have been connected with a series of vandalistic activities over the weekend in the northeast corner of Howard and the southeast corner of Borden counties.

They fired up a power grader owned by Montgomery, drove it around for a while and then plunged it into a ditch where it was left abandoned and damaged.

Charges have been filed against the older youth and he is being held in jail in Borden County, according to Sheriff A. N. Standard. Standard said that this youth and his younger companion will be brought here. Meantime, charges have been prepared against the older boy in the Howard County court.

At Aubrey Lankford's farm, north of Gay Hill, a farm tractor was started and the youths allegedly smashed it into a butane truck causing damage to both vehicles.

B. J. Montgomery, a contractor, was the first victim of the

They also damaged a heavy truck owned by the Graves Gravel Co. near Vincent. While on that property, they ransacked a small trailer. Reports of the damage reached the sheriff's office here on Monday.

Dear Abby

Babysitter Has Problem

DEAR ABBY: I have a strange problem for age 14. While babysitting one night, a man called and asked for my employer. I told him she would be out quite late, but I would give her his message. He started talking to me and we got into a rather interesting conversation. Then he asked if he could come over. At first I said I didn't think it would be right, but he talked and talked and finally talked me into it. He is nice looking and about my father's age.

apologized and said he wouldn't do it again and he talked me into letting him stay. Now he comes over whenever I am babysitting there. I keep telling him not to come over anymore, but he talks me into it. I need your help, Abby. I don't have any intentions of giving up this babysitting job because it is my only source of income.

DEAR TROUBLED: This man is had news, with a capital "B." You seem to be too easily "talked into" things for your own good. You are no match for him. I urge you to TELL YOUR EMPLOYER about this man's visits, and never let him into the house again while you are babysitting.

Well, he made a couple of passes at me and I told him to leave, but he promised to behave himself so I let him stay. Later on, he made another advance, and I got mad, but he DEAR ABBY: First, let me explain that I have been happily married to a wonderful woman for 18 years. We have two fine children. Now, the problem: I received a telephone call recently from a friend of mine who informed me that a girl I used to go with (20 years ago) was moving back to town. It was a real serious thing between us at the time. In fact we nearly ran off and got married. It seems she is separated from her husband and has set herself up in an apartment here. Her husband is in Texas. My curiosity about her appearance, feelings, etc., after 20 years is most intriguing.

My alternatives: (1) Call her just to say "hello." (2) Take the bull by the horns, and ask my wife if she would have any objections if I saw her. (3) Forget the whole thing.

PERPLEXED: Forget the whole thing. Why look for trouble?

DEAR ABBY: For our 45th wedding anniversary, I surprised my husband with a wedding band because he never had one. When I gave it to him, I could tell by his expression that he wasn't too happy with it. My heart sank today when he came home from work and told me that he hoped I wouldn't mind if he didn't wear it as it kept hitting his desk and made him nervous.

Am I wrong to let it bother me?

DEAR M. Y.: Yes. Many men (and not just the swingers) find that wedding rings make them "nervous." You could have saved yourself much disappointment if you had found out first whether your husband really wanted a wedding ring before "surprising" him with one.

South's insistence on playing a suit contract was a questionable bit of judgment, but once having made his decision he handled himself very commendably in the play.

Perhaps North should have rebid three diamonds over two hearts. If South by some chance had a preference for clubs, slam was not out of the question. When North, instead, jumped to three no trump, it was unlikely that he held a fit for either of South's suits, and the latter might have left well enough alone.

After South persisted to four hearts, North was obliged to show a preference for spades—which became the final contract.

West opened the deuce of diamonds and the king was played from dummy. South observed that his trump holding was a bit shaky and he decided to single in as many spades as possible by ruffing. At trick two, he cashed North's other high diamond discarding a club, and then he ruffed a diamond with the deuce of spades. When West dropped the jack of diamonds, declarer decided to abandon that suit.

He next played the ace and another heart, trumping in dummy. The ace of clubs was followed by a club ruff and another heart was ruffed with dummy's remaining trump. Declarer's careful timing had netted him the first eight tricks, and at the same time reduced West to his five trumps.

A club was led from dummy and when East covered with the king, South discarded a heart. West was obliged to trump with the three of spades and then lead away from his tenace. South won the trick with the ten of spades.

A heart was returned and West ruffed once more only to surrender the last two tricks to declarer's ace-queen of spades. In all, West was limited to exactly two trump tricks—a very neat performance by South.
