Peace Talk Reply Made By N. Viet

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — North Vietnam replied today to the latest U.S. proposals on the site for preliminary peace talks but the nature of the reply was not disclosed.

U.S. Ambassador William H. Sullivan was called to the North Vietnamese Embassy here to receive a formal note from the Hanoi government.

There were widespread rumors that both sides are approaching a compromise on Paris as the site for talks.

Sullivan spent 30 minutes with North Vietnamese Charge d'Affaires Nguyen Chan in Chan's gray stone villa residence on the outskirts of the Laotian capital.

It was their longest meeting in a series of contacts following President Johnson's March 31 speech. Sullivan refused all comment on the message from Hanoi.

Stuck On Tower

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Twenty-six people, plus an operator, were left hanging in the Tower of the Americas elevator for 37 minutes Wednesday afternoon before a repairman extracted dirt lodged in the electrical system.

About 4:30 p.m. according to Edward O. Goetz, assistant supervisor of the tower, the electrical control mechanism for elevator number two became stuck and the elevator stopped partway up the shaft.

"The people remained quite calm," Goetz said. "We talked to them on the elevator telephone." The officials called the HemisFair security department which immediately got in touch with the elevator repairmen, who fixed the failure.

Goetz said the difficulty was caused by falling debris dislodged in the course of work which is still proceeding inside the tower's column.

SATURDAY

Over 50 Models Due At Auto Show

The finest automobiles ever made — the 1968 models — can be seen in a colorful collection, all at one time and all in one place Saturday. And the public is invited to call during the day at this 1968 Spring Auto Show, in which all local franchise car dealers are participating. They likely will have more than 50 different models on display for leisurely viewing.

The Auto Show will be held on the high school parking lot, immediately east of the Steer gymnasium, and hours are from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. There will be parking for the public in some portions of this lot, and on nearby school parking spaces.

All adults (21 and over) calling during show hours may register for a color television set, to be given away. There is no obligation and it is not necessary to be present to win. The drawing will come at 7 p.m.

A refreshment stand will be operated on the show grounds by the Choir Boosters Club. There will be western band music at intervals during the day.

First National Bank and The Herald are joining the following dealers in sponsoring the show: Bob Brock Ford, Farris Pontiac, Jack Lewis Buick and Cadillac, Pollard Chevrolet, Dewey Ray Chrysler and Plymouth, Shroyer Oldsmobile and Barney Toland Volkswagen.

Maligned By Film

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — W. D. Deacon Jones, 51, who said he once was a driver for Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, filed a $175,000 damage suit Wednesday against the producers of the film, "Bonnie and Clyde."

Jones said, in the state court petition, that he was maligned by the motion picture in that it incorrectly portrays the driver as having participated in robberies and other illegal acts.

The petition against Warner Bros. - Seven Arts Inc. seeks $100,000 for use of material without Jones' permission, $50,000 for invasion of privacy and $25,000 for being maligned.

Last Cavalry Horse

FT. RILEY, Kan. (AP) — Old Chief's days of luxury are stretching on and on at Ft. Riley. Illnesses may slow down the 36-year-old last surviving Army cavalry horse but so far he's weathered them.

Haley said Chief is alert and has a good appetite for a horse his age, which veterinarians say is equal to 108 human years.

Just Before Speech

President Johnson sits at the head table last night in Chicago at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner of the Cook County Democratic Organization.

LBJ Keeps 'Em Laughing, Guessing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, as he makes duty calls around the nation following his dramatic withdrawal from the 1968 election, is proving to be a most tantalizing non-candidate.

Johnson made his first post-announcement political appearance at a Chicago gathering Wednesday night and, for a self-declared "lame duck" managed to sneak suspense into his speech.

FUTURE

The thrust of the chief executive's remarks at a Democratic-sponsored fund-raising dinner, was yet another appeal for national unity and a declaration that in the November balloting, perhaps, more than ever in the past, "we shall be choosing our future—and the future of our children."

Then, in an addition to his prepared text, he said:

"There are mothers and fathers in every land—and I am one of those fathers and one of those mothers and one of those mothers—who despise war as their children despise it. I will devote all my days, all my powers and all my energies to winning the peace that is the prayer of every single American family."

But for all the philosophical seriousness of his address, Johnson seemed to titillate his cheering audience most with teasing additions to his prepared text.

Right at the start, he remarked that his reception had led him to suspect for a fleeting moment that he had leaped ahead in time to another meeting in Chicago—to the Democratic National Convention that will be held there in August.

"But then," he continued, "I remembered who I was—the President and not the vice president."

As he paused, there was a new burst of cheering from partisans who appeared to think Johnson had chosen that moment to endorse a personal choice for the Democratic presidential nomination.

NOT TO BE

But this was not to be. Johnson added he was "President and not the vice president—or a member of the Senate."

Cheers dissolved into laughter.

NEWARK (AP) — A 13-year-old Negro boy was held today in a youth shelter for his own protection after arson investigators said he admitted setting a fire that left 600 persons homeless in Newark's predominantly Negro Central Ward.

The boy, arrested at his home Wednesday, set the fire with matches and then watched from a rooftop as it quickly spread over a two-block tenement area. Fire Director John Caufield said.

The boy, Caufield said, is not presently attending school and lives near the scene of the fire, which raged over two square blocks.

The fire destroyed 36 buildings, damaged 31 others and caused an insured loss of $750,000, the American Insurance Association reported.

Caufield said the boy, who was charged with juvenile delinquency, was "held for his own protection because of feelings in the community" after the weekend fire. It was also feared the boy might set another blaze, Caufield said.

The fire, Caufield said, is not presently attending school and lives near the scene of the fire, which raged over two square blocks.

The fire destroyed 36 buildings, damaged 31 others and caused an insured loss of $750,000, the American Insurance Association reported.

Students Demand Boycott Of Classes

NEW YORK (AP) — Student demonstrators pushed their tumultuous protest at Columbia University into a third day today, demanding fellow students boycott classes and blocking some with human barricades at three buildings.

Tensions rose as opponents of the protest sought to attend classes and confronted demonstrators blocking entrances to the classroom buildings. But the rest of the campus remained relatively calm as morning classes began.

SEALED OFF

The university had canceled evening classes Wednesday and virtually sealed off its campus despite the earlier release of acting dean and two other administrators from a Hamilton Hall office where they had been held hostage for 24 hours.

Classes were resumed today but demonstrators blocking Hamilton Hall, the main classroom building, and the architecture and graduate classroom buildings effectively halted attendance at midmorning.

About 50 students remained overnight in the ransacked office of the university president, Dr. Grayson Kirk, in Low Memorial Library. Some 200 Negroes occupied Hamilton Hall and proclaimed it "Malcolm X University."

In a statement to newsmen, the university said "every effort has been made to avoid force."

Officials however took the precaution Wednesday of asking city police to enter Columbia's grounds.

The disorder had its origin in student demands that the university not expand into a Har-

Demonstration

Demonstrators line balcony while students below gather on steps leading to Hamilton Hall on campus of Columbia University in New York yesterday. Militant student demonstrators occupied more buildings on the campus in a continuing protest today.

A meeting between President Kirk and a delegation of Negroes from Hamilton Hall broke up at 4 a.m. with no apparent progress in resolving the dispute.

At issue in the Columbia protest—which involved only a few hundred of the 27,500 students enrolled—were the school's plans for a new gym in a nearby Harlem park and its tie with the Institute for Defense Analysis.

As the demonstration grew, there were threats of violence.

There were reports too that Harlem Negroes planned to join the students.

The university locked up buildings overnight and sealed all but two entrances.

There was some obvious student dissatisfaction with the Students for a Democratic Society, which organized the protest. About 200 persons gathered in front of Kirk's office windows and chanted "The S.D.S. must go!"

Earlier a faculty committee met in emergency session on the student demands and recommended that construction on the gymnasium be halted but that ties to the IDA be continued.

The current protest began Tuesday noon and escalated later when the militant students blockaded Acting Dean Henry Coleman's Hamilton Hall office.

About 5 a.m. Wednesday the Negroes in the group asked the white students to leave, asserting they were not committed to radical action.

WRECK OFFICE

The group of white students then went to Low Library where they pushed past security guards and took over Kirk's office, hurling papers and books to the floor, damaging fixtures in a private bathroom and pasting signs on a window reading: "Liberated Area. Be Free to Join Us."

ON BUDGET CUT, TAX INCREASE

Mahon Willing To Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman George Mahon of the House Appropriations Committee, a key figure in the long congressional dispute over a proposed tax hike and spending cuts, says he is open to a compromise aimed at settling the issue.

"The need for a reduction in spending and the need for a tax bill are so great," said the Texas Democrat from Lubbock, "that I'm open to some kind of compromise to break this log jam."

Senate and House conferees have been working on a final version of the Senate-passed bill to impose a 10 per cent income tax surcharge, as requested by President Johnson, tied to a $6 billion spending cut.

The administration has talked of a maximum $4 billion cut but shows signs of accepting a $5 billion slash, says Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., one of the conferees.

The Appropriations Committee has been unable to agree on reductions. But after meeting with Secretary of Treasury Henry Fowler and Budget Director Charles Zwick, Mahon indicated a solution may be in sight.

He said a final decision is urgent because "we are in a very serious fiscal situation."

The Senate-House conferees met all day Wednesday and got nowhere. They scheduled another session for Tuesday, expressing hope the House Appropriations Committee would find a solution.

Another influential figure in the year-long dispute repeated his contention that any tax hike must be accompanied by a spending hold-down.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, said he will insist on a cutback in authorized but uncommitted funds for future programs, as well as a lid on spending during the coming fiscal year.

Chairman William McClesney Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board came in for sharp criticism from a congressman for his statement that the nation is in its worst financial crisis since 1931 and must cut the deficit in the domestic budget as well as the international balance of payments deficit.

Major Campaign Is Aimed At Warsaw For 'Talks' Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — High administration officials say a North Vietnam appears to be mounting a major campaign aimed at getting the United States to accept Warsaw as a site for peace talks.

APPEAL

That was their assessment of Poland's reported appeal to six embassies in Warsaw to exert influence in bringing preliminary peace talks on ending the Vietnam war to the Communist nation's capital.

President Johnson meanwhile was reported prepared to carry on prolonged, hard-nosed negotiations with North Vietnam over the site.

And U.S. officials forecast that the longer the present diplomatic sparring continues the more Johnson will harden his resolve not to give way on this first issue of what they maintain will turn out to be a long and painful peace-making process.

Administration insiders say the Polish pressure for selection of Warsaw—a site already spurned by the United States on the ground Poland is an ally of Hanoi's—points up what they feel is apparent: That North Vietnam regards selection of a site as an issue of substantial importance.

U.S. officials say there seem to be several reasons for this. One is that North Vietnam believes that by manipulating public opinion pressures against the Johnson administration it can force the U.S. to agree to a place agreeable to Hanoi and painful to Washington.

Another reason, U.S. officials believe, is that if the site is unfavorable enough to U.S. interest and disliked enough by South Vietnam the issue may be used to drive a wedge between the Washington and Saigon governments—which is one reason why the White House and State Department have been nervous about the site selection process from the beginning.

POWER

A third motivation suggested by American officials is that North Vietnam feels it is important to determine at the outset how much power it can wield—through the successful marshaling of the worldwide desire for ending the war—on a specific issue of peace negotiations such as the problem of selecting a place to begin meeting.

QUESTIONED IN KILLING OF KING

Man Quizzed, Released In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican authorities questioned today a U.S. citizen they said resembles the man wanted on a charge of slaying Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., then released him without pressing charges.

WALKING

Daniel David Kennedy of Baltimore, who said he was on a walking tour of the State of Sonora, denied any connection with King's death. An FBI agent, identified only as Mr. Smith, said there was no resemblance between Kennedy and the suspect, James Earl Ray, according to police in the city of Hermosillo.

Lt. Roberto Fletcher of the judicial police in Caborca, Sonora, had taken Kennedy into custody from a Caborca hotel.

In Baltimore, Kennedy's mother, Pearl E. Kennedy, said, "There is just no connection. He doesn't even look like him (Ray)."

"It was impossible for him to do it," said Mrs. Kennedy. "He wouldn't even kill a fly, let alone kill a human being."

Mrs. Kennedy said her 41-year-old son left Baltimore March 24 to go to Mexico—"he wanted to take off, that's all"—and that he telephoned her from there on Sunday.

"He was so happy when he talked to me," said Mrs. Kennedy. "He said people were so friendly to him there, because everything was so peaceful and quiet."

Fletcher said earlier that the man he was holding made a telephone call this week to Baltimore asking that money be sent him in Caborca.

Agents of the Sonora state police were en route to Caborca to return the man to Hermosillo, the state capital, Fletcher said. He added that FBI agents were on their way to Hermosillo from Arizona, but in Phoenix, John Mull, in charge of the FBI in Arizona, said he had heard nothing from Mexican authorities and none of his agents were en route to Hermosillo.

Fletcher said he picked the man up about 6 p.m. Wednesday in a cafe in Caborca, which is about 80 miles southwest of Nogales, Ariz. The officer said he took the man in because of his similarity to published photographs of Ray.

Fletcher said the man crossed the border at Nogales on April 7 and told him he had walked to Caborca.

Police in Ciudad Victoria detained another man briefly 10 days ago because he fit the general description of Ray. There have also been reports from several other Mexican cities of persons spotting men resembling Ray.

The FBI announced April 17 that it was seeking a man identified as Eric Starvo Galt in connection with King's slaying in Memphis, Tenn., April 4.

Two days later, the bureau said a "systematic and exhaustive search" through its fingerprint files revealed that Galt and Ray, a 40-year-old drifter and prison escapee, were the same man.

ESCAPED

Ray fled from the Missouri Penitentiary on April 23, 1967, while he was serving the seventh year of a 20-year sentence for a market holdup and auto theft in St. Louis.

The FBI said Eric Starvo Galt was one of a string of aliases used by Ray in frequent brushes with the law beginning when he was 21 years old, several years after he dropped out of high school in the 10th grade.

Rioting Overrides War, Tax Worries

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's attention is riveted on urban rioting rather than the war or tax issues, some 50 congressmen report in a survey following an Easter vacation among their constituents.

From coast to coast—whether urban, suburban or rural area—the issue of law and order far overrides worries about Vietnam, a tax hike prospect, inflation and government spending, the returning congressmen told a random Associated Press sampling.

PEOPLE SCARED

"The people are scared," said Rep. Delbert L. Latta, R-Ohio. "They want law enforcement and not appeasement," said Rep. Robert L. F. Sikes, D-Fla. "They are disgusted with the repetition of demands for more and more billions to be expended on slum areas as a cure for city problems."

A New England congressman who has supported civil rights and urban aid programs—and who asked not to be identified—said: "The red-neck Rotarian crowd in my district shows so little understanding of the racial crisis that I refuse to listen to them."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., reported as much division among whites as between Negroes and whites.

"The little lady with pen in hand who writes and wires my office wants more laws and more money because the white man abused the Negro's grandfathers," he said.

TERRIBLE THING

"The man in the street, however, says of the law," Aiken continued. "He has nothing good to say about the rioters."

Rep. J. Edward Roush, D-Ind., said he sensed that the people in his district were determined to combat major domestic problems following the violence ignited after Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated April 4.

"I sense a feeling of sadness in the whole thing," Roush said. "People are saying, 'What a terrible thing to happen in America.'"

"I believe it's made them more sensitive to the fact there are problems to which we must address ourselves to in America," Roush added.

He said that before King's slaying and the April riots, many people were calling for force to "clamp down on these people. Now I believe they are demanding not repression, but solutions."

But Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., reported an opposite reaction in his district.

SILVER PLATTER

"We're headed right toward lynch law if the people can't get protection from public officials," he said.

"Ninety-five per cent of the people are concerned about the violations of the law and the police's failure to enforce the law," Poage said. "The government will either enforce the law or the people will enforce it through vigilantes, and the people don't enforce the law very exactly or discriminately."

"It was very discouraging," said one Northeastern congressman who also asked not to be identified. "The man on the street, in the gas station—who normally doesn't speak out—was saying about Negroes: 'Do they want everything on a silver platter?'"

No congressman among those contacted reported back-home enthusiasm for a proposed income tax increase, but some said they found a new resignation to its necessity. Congress is considering a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes.

Claims Teachers Incited Walkout

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The president of the South San Antonio School District called a news conference Wednesday to criticize some district teachers for "inciting and agitating their students" into demonstrations against the board.

Max Fuentes Jr., made the remarks in regard to an incident of Tuesday when a mass walkout of the 1,500 pupils at South San Antonio High School was threatened.

Some members of the faculty have criticized the board for failing to renew the contracts of two administrators. The threatened student walkout regarded the firings of South San Antonio High School Vice Principal William Dalton and William Campbell, principal of Palo Alto Elementary School.

WON'T SIGN

Fuentes said his investigation—conducted in a closed-door question Wednesday of some teachers—showed "that the students were urged and incited to take this type of action by a small group of teachers."

One teacher questioned by the board said he told Fuentes and other board members he had nothing to do with the threatened walkout.

Almost all of the 306 teachers in Fuentes' district attended an emergency meeting of district teachers Tuesday. The group approved a resolution saying they would refuse to sign contracts for the next year unless the two administrators were reinstated.

Compact Car Zag Kills Two Texans

HOUSTON (AP) — A compact car veered off a highway Wednesday night and killed a truck driver and the driver of a wrecker as they stood alongside S. 59 about five miles north of Houston.

Harris County Deputies identified the victims as Joe Lee Lewis, 22, of Houston and Jimmy Ernest Burns, 25, also of Houston.

Police said Lewis' truck had stalled and he was being assisted by Burns. The driver of the car was held for questioning.

Anglo-Motorist Killed in Wreck

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — L. J. Berten, 64, of San Angelo, Tex., was killed Wednesday in the head-on collision of two semi-trailer trucks on Interstate 35 north of Oklahoma City. The driver of the other truck, John Naize, 47, of Oklahoma City, was in serious condition.

Floyd Young, 506 Bell, is preparing to get the jump on clean-up, paint-up, fix-up week by starting off with 10 gallons of "Wizard Latex Exterior House Paint." The new latex exterior paints are going over with most home owners in a big way. One particular person told me that the difference in time spent in cleaning brushes, etc. made the latex type paint far superior to the older oil base type of paint. Also, the Wizard Latex paint won't chip, blister or peel, and the brushes can be cleaned with only soap and water.

Mrs. Virgil Her of Coahoma solved her grass cutting problem by purchasing one of our 1-hp Wizard electric lawn mowers. Most people who have electric lawn mowers are really sold on the idea of no gas or oil to bother with, and the starting problem consists of only flipping a switch.

Eugenia Fierro of 706 N.W. 5th Street took advantage of our 59th Anniversary Sale which ends Sat. 27 April and purchased a new Wizard Refrigerator.

The little Cassette tape recorders are still going over in a big way. Mr. Howard Chancellor who has other recorders purchased one of the Truetone Cassette players because of the sensitivity and portability. They are proving to be exceptionally good for picking up speeches or lecturers that you wish to hear again.

$4.5 Million Allocated For 27 Texas Airports

Pulling Against Death

This was the dramatic scene as rescuers pulled one of two workers to safety to the roof of a 15-story building in Milan, Italy, after their scaffold, lower right, started tilting some 200 feet in the air. The other workman, unseen, is still trapped in the suspended iron cage. Both men, Franco Zangiomi, 22, and Alessandro Patini, 26, were rescued in good condition yesterday.

Concern About Peace Talk Simmers At Methodist Meet

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Concern about getting peace talks started on the Vietnam war simmered today at a national Methodist gathering, with a Malaysian lawmaker pressing an attack on President Johnson and his Asian policies.

Dr. Chee-Khoon Tan, a church delegate and opposition member of the Malaysian parliament, said the answer to the war is negotiations, after which "let America get to hell out of Asia."

'CANNON FODDER'

Efforts to prod the U.S. government to get on with peace talks came in a proposed resolution urging the president to keep his promise to go "anywhere, anytime" for that purpose.

A lack of time blocked final consideration of the matter at the United Methodist governing conference Wednesday, and also resulted in Dr. Tan being cut off in the midst of an emotional criticism of President Johnson.

Accusing him of bringing "death, destruction and devastation" to Vietnam and of "killing the innocent as well as the guilty," Dr. Tan told 1,200 church delegates from across the nation and abroad:

"It's about time Americans realized that Asians are not going to be used as cannon fodder for the white man."

After he was interrupted by a ruling from the chair that time was up for discussing the issue, delegates turned down a move to extend the time. But he told newsmen he has plans to get the floor again today.

ASKED TO KILL

"In my part of the world it's different," he said. "A man can finish his speech. But no matter, I have found a way."

The outspoken Malaysian legislator, also a practicing physician and life-long Methodist, said that in Asia the U.S. government "has mistaken nationalism for Communism, and has asked Asians to kill one another."

"In Vietnam, it has asked brother to kill brother," he added.

Militarily, he said, "America has no business in Asia," adding that this country — especially the churches—should be "more concerned over poverty and education" in that part of the world.

"It will pay far better dividends than dropping napalm," he said. "Then nobody will say, 'Yankee go home.' And it will cost far less."

Dr. Tan, 49, of Kuala Lumpur, former president of the Malaysian Medical Association, trained as a doctor in a British medical college in Singapore, noted that his government officially supports U. S. Asian policies.

But he maintained this was because his government receives support from the west. He contended his views are "universal among Asians free of American dominance."

Cowboy, Indian Society Ripped

AUSTIN (AP) — The nation's elementary school in the Southwest where we have Mexican-American. And if there isn't a bilingual teacher in that classroom there should be a bilingual aide from the community."

Howe was keynote speaker for the National Conference on Educational Opportunities for the Mexican-American.

GOOD GUYS

"The United States is in many ways a cowboy - and - Indian society," Howe said. "The good guys - whether they're selling automobiles or riding off into the sunset - wear white hats and white skins. They speak unaccented English (unless it's a cowboy drawl) and most important of all - they never lose a fight."

The commissioner said the "cowboy - and - Indian viewpoint... equated Anglo-American origin and Anglo-American society with virtue, with goodness, even with political purity. Other cultures are not merely different; they're inferior. They must be wiped out, not only for the good of the country, but for the good of the child. Not only must he learn to speak English; he must stop speaking anything else..."

"Until the schools realize how our society projects this conviction of superiority, this cowboy - and - Indian mentality, and takes positive steps to correct it, they will not truly succeed with Mexican - American children."

TWO THINGS

Howe said such changes in schools could be brought about by two things - leadership and money. "Neither will suffice without the other. The group meeting here today can encourage new leadership resources. You can awaken school boards and superintendents and state education authorities and governors and legislatures to the new directions which are necessary. These agencies in turn can provide some of the funds. The federal government can play a role in both leadership and resources."

Howe said schools need to send a message that everyone needs to hear: "Ours is not a nation of cowboys and Indians. White hats belong to everyone. None of our children is hyped. All of them are American."

Another first session speaker, Armando Rodriguez, chief of the Mexican-American affairs unit of the U.S. Office of Education, said "bilingualism must come to be accepted as a blessing - not a problem in our society. It must be cultivated - not neglected."

BILINGUAL TEACHER

"We need a bilingual teacher in every classroom in every Development Laboratory and the National Advisory Committee on Mexican-American Education with the cooperation of the Texas Education Agency and the Association of Mexican-American Educators.

Voters Befuddled By So Many Candidates

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of three stories about the 1968 Republican primary for Texas' next governor. Seldom have voters been subjected to so many largely unknown candidates who in different places seem to be saying about the same thing in the same way. Here's a glimpse of the characters in this complex political extravaganza.)

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Texas' favorite political game is "Guess the candidates." Many a fast buck has changed hands recently because a bettor could not name the 10 Democratic candidates trying to be Texas' next governor.

Fewer still can name the three Republican candidates.

NAMES MYSTERY
And did you know there is an independent candidate whose name will appear on your November general election ballot—if he can get 14,000 petitioners who did not vote Democratic or Republican in May and June?

He is Martin A. Wington, 35, Austin attorney, who says he is more interested in an educational campaign than a political campaign.

Most of the Democratic and Republican candidates have run "name identification" campaigns to get voters accustomed to hearing and seeking their names. Radio jingles and bill boards repeat their names over and over in hopes they will be remembered on May 4.

Almost everyone predicts the Democratic primary will require a June 1 runoff because the first primary vote will be split so many different ways that no one candidate is likely to get a majority over all the others.

BIG BOOST
Among the Democrats there is a division to the extent that a group of "know-betters" are challenging a group of "know-hows," three experienced campaigners who say their past records as public officials and politicians make them invaluable in choosing Texas' next governor.

The experienced campaigners whose names are already familiar to many voters are: Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, 55, former Lubbock movie man with 18 years experience in the state capitol in his present job and as state senator and representative.

"When your back-up quarterback knows the plans and has seen lots of action, you don't need to depend on a rookie when the first string quarterback retires," Smith says.

Don Yarborough, 42, Houston attorney, traveled the state extensively in 1962 and 1964 when unsuccessfully challenging John Connally. He is no kin to Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., but the name is a big campaign boost.

BOUNCE BACK BID
Wagoner Carr, 49, former speaker of the house and state attorney general, lost to U.S. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., in 1966 even with the backing of President Johnson and Connally. He says Texas voters like candidates who bounce back from defeat.

Challenging these are three other Democrats who say they could do a better job as governor despite all the governmental and political know-how claimed by Smith, Carr and Yarborough.

Eugene Locke, 49-year-old Dallas lawyer, quit as deputy ambassador to Vietnam to run for Texas governor—after heart to heart talks with President Johnson and Connally. He also formerly served as ambassador to Pakistan, and was Connally's campaign manager when Connally won his first term as governor. Now Connally's brother, Merrill, is Locke's campaign manager.

SHAGGY EYEBROWS
Locke admits one of his greatest tasks has been to get his name well known quickly. On sight, many voters recognize him as the candidate with the shaggy eyebrows. Locke has defended Johnson against Sens. Robert Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy and Connally against Sen. Yarborough.

"Kennedy's actions can only be devious," Locke said. "Is this what some of these men who want to be governor want?" Locke has been one of the few candidates to make himself clear on the liquor by the drink issue—he is for mixed drinks provided local voters want mixed drinks. He is against any sort of personal or corporate income tax and thinks the federal government can better handle the minimum wage issue.

Locke says teachers should get a "substantial" pay raise but the amount should be dependent on the state's financial condition.

Other candidates have criticized Locke's extensive campaign expenditures.

LABOR VOTES
"I will spend what it is necessary in the race," Locke said when he announced.

John Hill, 44, formerly a Houston attorney resigned as secretary of state, where he was appointed by Connally, to make the governor's race.

"The place to learn the job of being governor is being secretary of state. It is the closest office we have in this state to bring the equivalent of a vice president," he said.

AGAINST BETTING
Hill aims part of his campaign at the labor-liberal votes usually going to a Yarborough. Of Don Yarborough he said, "many laboring men are tired of their leadership going down the same old road with a man who only shows up at election time and is never there when the real battles are fought."

At the same time Hill has said he wants to keep the so-called right to work law, and thinks the federal government can best handle the minimum wage issue. Hill says he is definitely against the legislature approving a liquor by the drink bill and personally will vote against horse race betting.

He wants the industrial safety law strengthened and workmen compensation benefits made more liberal. He suggests a surcharge on criminal fines to finance educational programs for local policemen.

"We want to upgrade the professionalism of police work just like teaching," he said.

Dolph Briscoe, 44, Uvalde rancher and banker who may be one of the largest cattlemen in the state, says he wants to be governor because Texas is ready for a governor with business experience "not just political experience." Briscoe wears a white hat and boots but talks like a school teacher and stresses the "people-to-people" aspect of his campaign. Even in the state's largest cities he talks about the problems of small towns and of farmers and ranchers "because most city people came from the small town or farm at one time."

TRAFFIC WOES
He calls himself a "moderate conservative" now although known as a liberal when a state representative from 1948 to 1956.

"It may have been liberal then to support education and good roads but I don't think it is today," Briscoe said. He is co-author of the Colson

Briscoe act that automatically sets aside $15 million a year to build farm roads, and says he will try to work out a similar plan to help big city traffic woes.

He would not ask the legislature to pass liquor by the drink and personally will vote against horse race betting.

Briscoe favors a $2,000 teachers pay raise which he says can be done without raising taxes.

A newcomer to Texas voters, either as a public official or politician, is Edward L. Whittenburg, 38, Houston insurance man, who has made a flying, statewide campaign the past month. He makes special appeals to labor-liberal groups and minority groups.

"The real issues are being ignored by the professional politicians," said Whittenburg whose slogan is "Whittenburg understands."

OPEN HOUSING
He favors state open housing, equal employment opportunity and a $1.25 state minimum wage. He wants to give teachers a $1,000 raise plus $350 annual experience increases. He said he would vote for liquor by the drink and against horse race betting.

Pat O'Daniel, 49, Dallas insurance man is the son of the flour salesman, W. Lee O'Daniel, who surprised everyone but the voters in 1939 by winning a governor's race and later served as U.S. senator. The younger O'Daniel announced for governor saying the Ten Commandments would be his platform. He made tours in a gaily decorated bus and a hillbilly band as his father did three decades ago.

He wants a state investigation of President Kennedy's assassination and calls for destruction of what he calls the "giant Cartel" between state and federal government.

SHAKES HANDS
"I am against liquor by the drink—even by the spoonful," O'Daniel said.

Alfonso Veloz, 44, Houston bank employe has done most of his campaigning after working a six-day week at the bank. He has no press agents, bill boards or appreciation dinners.

"When I get to a town I go to the filling stations, barber shops, cafes, lounges—any place people hang out he said. I shake hands and hand out campaign cards."

He denies his race is to draw Mexican-American votes from other candidates.

Mrs. Johnny Mae Hackworth, 63, Brenham Bible school teacher and frequent unsuccessful candidate, has done most of her campaigning by handwritten letters.

"The Lord told me to run and I am depending on him to help me," she said.

Dollar Drain Cut Problems Mount

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration is running into trouble in its efforts to cut the international dollar drain this year by $3 billion.

Some government officials have already conceded privately the goal in some areas of the program will be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to meet.

SOURTEST NOTE
But perhaps the sourest note in the entire picture is the deteriorating trade position which officials blame on inflation at home, strikes and what they call excessive wage settlements.

The net result is a sharp rise in imports and a decline in the trade surplus.

President Johnson unveiled his new balance-of-payments program on New Year's Day in a fresh attempt to lick a perennial problem which produced a $3.57 billion deficit in 1967.

be available until mid-May, officials now look for substantial improvement in the deficit for the first three months of this year compared with the last three months of 1967.

But the deficit in the prior quarter was $1.85 billion and there's reportedly little chance it will drop to the quarterly level prevailing before devaluation of the British pound last November.

TAX TANGLE
The quarterly drain during the first three quarters of last year ranged from $533 million to $638 million.

Johnson's new program called for congressional action on a variety of fronts but Congress has yet to complete work on even one of them.

Passage of the proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge is the keystone of the entire program.

300 Negro Students End Boston U. Sit-In

BOSTON (AP) — A sit-in by some 300 Negro students behind chained doors at Boston University has ended with a promise by President Arland F. Christ-Janer to increase the number of Negro students and teachers and to offer a course in Afro-American history.

A 12-hour demonstration in which the students took over the administration building was halted Wednesday night after Christ-Janer made a point-by-point reply promising to work for most of their demands.

The university president agreed that the planned Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. chair of social ethics should be reserved for a Negro professor, that 10 recently established King scholarships be designated for Negro graduate students and that "every effort will be made to recruit Negro scholars at every professional rank."

The demands were made by the university's Afro-American students society, known as UMOJA, a word meaning "unity" in Swahili.

On only one point did Christ-Janer express less than complete agreement. This was the students' proposal that the School of Theology building be named for Dr. King, a 1955 graduate of the school.

Hill Pokes 'Political Pollcats'

By The Associated Press

The Texas Democratic gubernatorial campaign was a revolving door of personal attacks Wednesday, including such name-calling phrases as "political pollcats," "Texas dropout," and "mud slinger."

Those abstaining from the personality wars attacked pornography, high automobile insurance rates and indifference to state historical projects.

John Hill, speaking in Dumas, talked about what he called the "political pollcats" in the Democratic race. He said:

TEXAS DROPOUT

"By pollcat, I mean someone who puts out polls saying he is winning the governor's race, when the polls actually have very little substance."

"Most of these polls are 'taken' at the direction of tired old politicians—or tired new poli-icians—and are based on political observers talking to political observers. The problem is that they never observe anyone but each other, and it is awfully hard for them to realize that there is a new voice on the scene."

In Dallas, Ed Whittenburg said when Democrat Don Yarbrough of Houston went to Europe "he became a Texas dropout."

Whittenburg said "I don't know what he did for a year in Europe, but I do know that he forgot anything he might have known about Texans and Texas problems."

MUD SLINGER

Democrat Waggoner Carr said Eugene Locke was "slinging mud in my direction."

"He (Locke) cites that crime rose in Texas while I was attorney general, as if I were solely responsible for all the evils in this state; but what he did not say was that Waggoner Carr established the Texas Youth Committee on Crime and, as a result, juvenile crime decreased 7 per cent."

Locke, speaking in Houston, said Texas needs to act swiftly to protect juveniles "from a growing rash of smutty movies and pornographic magazines."

He noted that the motion picture industry is supporting Preston Smith and added that "the smutty movie industry has for many years been protected in Texas because of friends in respectable and high places in state government."

CRAM COURSE

Smith said in Austin that he does not need to "take a cram course in Texas government" because he has been in the legislature for 18 years. He said "My qualifications to be a progressive and efficient governor are reflected in my public record of six years in the Texas House of Representatives, six years as state senator, and six years as the lieutenant governor of Texas."

Yarbrough was in El Paso where he said "people are tired of being gouged by high auto insurance rates. As governor, I will appoint a representative of the people to the State Insurance Commission to see that their interests, and not those of the insurance companies, are represented."

Dolph Briscoe said in Austin, if elected, he would designate a staff member to help plan restoration of historical landmarks and "also to publicize sites and shrines already preserved."

ANARCHY

"I think both white and black thieves enjoy the breakdown of law enforcement," he added.

"The apologists say, 'oh, they're just burning down the stores that are gouging them to show their resentment.'"

"Society can't exist in anarchy. Somebody's got to provide the rules and enforce them. If the government can't, the majority of the people will do it. I don't want to see lynch law—I think it's a terrible thing—but I know we're headed right toward lynch law if the public can't get protection from public officials."

He said he felt the presence of policemen under orders not to use force or arrest looters ultimately creates a disrespect for the law.

"If a crowd can carry off television sets in front of policemen, it only invites them to do it again," Poage said. "I'd a lot rather not have the policeman in sight than to have him looking like a fool."

FINES PROVIDED

The law requires governmental bodies to hold all their meetings in public. Exceptions are legislative investigating committees and deliberations on real estate purchases, security matters and personnel. Criminal prosecution and fines are provided for members of government bodies who attend closed meetings without entering or trying to enter their dissent on the minutes.

Martin said the law did not conflict with the constitutional guarantee of a defendant's right to be fully apprised of the nature of the accusation against him. He also said there is nothing in the act to deprive an official accused of attending a closed meeting of his right to a speedy trial by an impartial jury.

SAME THING

Graham asked Martin to define "meeting," "session,"

'We're Headed Right Toward Lynch Law,' Poage Warns

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We're headed right toward lynch law if the people can't get protection from public officials," says Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex.

"The government will either enforce the law or the people will enforce it through vigilantes and the people don't enforce the law very exactly or discriminately," Poage said in an interview.

ARSON ALARM

He said his constituents were greatly concerned about looting and arson during recent riots despite police presence.

In the past, only if "bad men had more guns than the good men," did law enforcers put up with incidents of arson and robbery, Poage said. "But this time, the guns didn't make any difference."

"If police had treated looters like they always have and shot them, it wouldn't have taken too many rounds to control the situation. Now it will take a lot more," he said.

"A lot of looters believe the police are not going to arrest them or shoot. It's going to take a lot of gruesome action to change their minds."

"I don't think this is entirely a racial proposition, except as a lot of people try to make it so," he said.

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

Not sufficient emphasis has ever been placed on the partnership factor in bidding. There is too much assumption of responsibility by the player in the making of decisions in doubtful cases, when discretion would call for a consultation with partner. Such a consultation is available by means of view of the forcing pass, which permits partner to decide. An extreme case of this principle occurs in this hand.

North opened the bidding with one heart and partner responded with one spade. West came in with two clubs and North made what appears to be the very normal rebid of two diamonds. South, in view of partner's free bid went on to two no trump and North carried on to game. Against the excellent opening lead of the jack of hearts, declarer could take no more than eight tricks.

It is North's rebid that is the subject of our observation. South contended that his partner should have passed the two club bid around to him. This bid he would have doubled for a set of 800 points. North maintained that there was no way for him to know that his partner could double two clubs. To which South replied, "You could pass and find out."

"But what if you were unable to do anything over the two club bid?" was North's query. South properly contended, "You might have trusted me. With sound values I would hardly permit the opposition to steal the hand from a partner who has opened the bidding."

I am inclined to sympathize with South's point of view. North with 15 high card points and balanced distribution was not far removed from a minimum opening, and he might well have left the decision up to his partner once West chose to enter the proceedings.

Texas' Open Meetings Law 'Constitutional'

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' new law prohibiting governmental bodies to meet in secret is "valid and constitutional," Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held Wednesday.

Martin's opinion on the 1967 act went to F. T. Graham, criminal district attorney at Brownsville, where newsmen recently were excluded from a public utility board meeting.

"open to the public" and "closed to the public" as used in the act. Martin said meeting and session mean the same thing.

"A meeting or session is one in which the members of the governmental body transact official business with which such agency is charged to perform," he said. "An open meeting is one that the public is permitted to attend. A closed meeting is one that the public is prohibited from attending."

A dissent entered on the records or minutes of an agency would be a defense for an official charged with violating the open meetings law, the opinion said.

"The apologists say, 'oh, they're just burning down the stores that are gouging them to show their resentment.'"

"Society can't exist in anarchy. Somebody's got to provide the rules and enforce them. If the government can't, the majority of the people will do it. I don't want to see lynch law—I think it's a terrible thing—but I know we're headed right toward lynch law if the public can't get protection from public officials."

He said he felt the presence of policemen under orders not to use force or arrest looters ultimately creates a disrespect for the law.

"If a crowd can carry off television sets in front of policemen, it only invites them to do it again," Poage said. "I'd a lot rather not have the policeman in sight than to have him looking like a fool."

Can You Be Particular About Your Prescription Eyewear and Be Economical, Too?

You can if you choose the right professional practitioner.

Professional eye care from TSO is exactly what patients say it is. A Doctor of Optometry associated with TSO studies the history of your eyes and visual symptoms. He examines your eyes internally for evidence of disease or defect. Then he examines your eyes for defective vision caused by astigmatism, near or farsightedness, or muscle imbalance.

If your eye examination reveals the need for glasses, they will be accurately prescribed and fitted for maximum possible seeing and wearing comfort.

The fee for a professional eye examination, prescription and finest quality single vision lenses and frame is as low as $16.00. With bifocal lenses the fee is as low as $19.00. A convenient credit plan is available without extra cost.

Single vision contact lenses are just $70.00, complete with examination and fittings. Bifocal contact lenses, too, are available at reasonable cost.

If you are particular about your eyes and your vision, and want to be economical, too, visit the Doctors of Optometry at TSO.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

In an article prepared for Sports magazine, Bill Veeck, the famed ex-baseball executive, proposes a sweeping realignment for the major leagues.

Club honchos likely would go for the changes but for the fact that Veeck, a revolutionary thinker, suggested them. Veeck would line up the clubs this way:

AMERICAN LEAGUE		NATIONAL LEAGUE
EASTERN DIV.	MIDWEST DIV.	SOUTHERN DIV.	N'WESTERN DIV.
Baltimore	Chicago	Atlanta	Anaheim
Boston	Chicago W.	Cincinnati	Los Angeles
NY Mets	Cleveland	Dallas-FW	Oakland
Philadelphia	Detroit	Houston	San Diego
Washington	Minnesota	Kansas City	San Francisco
	Pittsburgh	St. Louis	Seattle

Of course, Dallas-Fort Worth, Kansas City, San Diego and Seattle do not now have teams but are being considered in expansion plans. Fact is, Kansas City and Seattle have been promised teams by the American League.

"This remodeling is calculated to capitalize on natural rivalries," Veeck says, "to reduce travel expense; to simplify and improve scheduling; and to facilitate 'intra' league play, with minimal disturbance of existing league membership."

The basic schedule Veeck foresees features four games with each team in the other league (48 games, all told), six games with each team in the other division (36 games), and 16 games with each team in the same division (80 games), comprising a grand total of 164 games, plus a three-out-of-five league championship playoff and a four-of-seven World Series.

Veeck's plan is so good it probably will be rejected by most of the club owners, especially those in the National League. They don't like to admit baseball has problems that need to be updated.

Too, the National League would not like to be left without a base in New York, even though it would have the lucrative West Coast markets.

The National Football League proved that divisions within a league can result in unlimited prosperity. It may take a few more funerals for baseball to come around to the belief, however.

Jim Zapp, the one-time Big Spring slugger who is now one of the area's best-known umpires, says he'll probably take his vacation in San Francisco in October — meaning he would catch part of the World Series there.

In other words, Jim expects the Giants to represent the National League in the post-season classic.

Zapp would experience as trouble getting into the games, since he and Willie Mays are long-time friends. Fact is, Zapp was Willie's first baseball manager back in Birmingham, long before Leo Durocher ever heard of Willie.

Koen Lung, the girls' track and field coach at Borden County schools (Gall), thinks he has two potential state champions in Cheron Billick and Debbie Dennis. Both girls are sophomores and are already quicksilver-quick.

Prescott Sullivan, a San Francisco writer who strives to be a character (as do so many of his colleagues), proposes freedom and maybe a medal for the young Dallas woman who authorities say bilked the U.S. Olympic Committee out of $72,000 from money she had collected in Texas.

Sullivan elaborates by saying that Texans are prone to talk big but turn their backs and look at the sky when hats are passed for such causes.

Sullivan lauds the woman for doing a masterful job, no matter what inspired her, and instead points the finger of shame at "the busy bodies" who brought about her indictment.

In a colony of kooks, Sullivan seems quite at home.

Hargan Pitches One-Hit Game

By The Associated Press

Steve Hargan was twice as good as Clyde Wright and neither was very good for the batting averages of the Detroit Tigers and Washington Senators.

Hargan hurled a brilliant one-hitter Wednesday night as Cleveland ended Detroit's nine-game winning streak 2-0. A couple of hours later, Wright gave up two hits, pitching California to a 6-1 victory over Washington.

In other American League games, Baltimore ripped Minnesota 7-3 and Oakland tripped New York 4-3 in 11 innings.

NORTHUP CONNECTS

Hargan faced only 28 batters, permitting just two walks and Jim Northrup's leadoff single in the third. He struck out seven Tigers, who hadn't lost since opening day. He also scored Cleveland's second run of the game when left fielder, Willie Horton and shortstop Ray Oyler collided under his pop fly in the seventh inning and the ball fell for a triple. Leon Wagner's pinch single drove in the run.

Horton was carried off the field on a stretcher and preliminary examination showed he had suffered a concussion. He was taken to Shaker Medical Center for further examinations.

Wright didn't look like he'd survive the first inning against the Senators. He walked the leadoff batter, surrendered a single to Hank Allen and then walked the next two hitters, forcing in a run.

But then, with the bases still loaded and none out, he struck out the side and then allowed just two more runners the rest of the way.

Home runs by Roger Repoz and Paul Schaf gave the Angels the lead and then Schal and Bob Rodgers each singled home two more runs in the late innings to wrap it up.

Baltimore pitcher Jim Hardin unloaded a two-run triple tying score, then Dave May's double drove him in with the lead run as the Orioles battered Dean Chance and beat the Twins.

ESCAPE IN SIXTH

But Baltimore needed a lucky bounce to escape a sixth inning jam. The bases were loaded with two out when reliever Eddie Watt uncorked a pitch that sailed over the head of Cesar Tovar, the Minnesota batter.

Many Winners Hold Tickets

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jim Filburn has some teeth-grinding news.

A kitty worth at least $10,000 awaits untold hundreds who've never cashed in their winning Kentucky Derby tickets for the past 40 years.

It might be more, says Filburn, director of mutuels at Churchill Downs, but the voluminous track records stop short at 1928.

Uncashed tickets are good forever in Kentucky, even though the track turns over the unclaimed property to the state every two years.

"Late ticket claimers get reimbursed immediately from a small pool we keep on hand for such purposes and, if we need to, we can go to the state for more," Filburn said Wednesday.

Who'd walk away from the famed twin steeples forgetting to claim part of the $1.5 million-plus which is bet on that once-a-year day?

Once-a-year bettors, Filburn says.

The first Saturday in May, Derby Day, always ends with the highest rate of uncashed tickets of any day in all race-dom, he says.

Records for 1967 show there's $2,195.40 worth of uncashed tickets still out on Derby victor Proud Clarion, $2,077.20 on place horse Barbs Delight and $1,331.10 on Damascus, who showed.

Filburn offers a few rules. "Don't drop your tickets," he says. "Put them in your wallet or purse."

"Don't forget you can still win and collect if you bet to place or show and your horse wins."

SO SAYS LEROY JORDAN HERE

Poke Draft Was Tops But Regulars Are Set

By TOMMY HART

"I don't see a person (a player drafted from the collegiate ranks) who can make our team right now," ace linebacker Leroy Jordan said.

Dallas and William E. Danley Jr., Lubbock, both associated with the Owens - Corning Fiberglas Corp., which sponsored the banquet. Guests were those who work with industrial insulation materials in some capacity.

Jordan, the ex-University of Alabama All-American who at 216 pounds looks to be in the pink of physical condition, said that the Cowboys had perhaps their most successful football draft in history this year but he looked for all regulars to hold their positions.

"The way it looks now," Jordan said, "the best incoming players can hope for is to take over some of the backup positions."

Among those drafted by the Cowboys were three linebackers. "Maybe they're trying to tell me something," Leroy quipped.

First-round draft choice of the Dallas club was a stellar end who also played with the University of Alabama, Dennis Homan. Jordan said that Homan was thoroughly scouted before he was drafted and, in addition,

Right Play, Wrong Game
A couple of centers look as though they are launching a football maneuver in third period of Boston Celtics-Los Angeles Lakers game Wednesday night in Boston. Darrall Imhoff, of Lakers, appears to be taking a pass back from Boston's Bill Russell. Lakers won second game of playoff 123-113 to even series.

Red Shirts Do Great Job For LA Lakers

BOSTON (AP) — Jerry West and Elgin Baylor led the Los Angeles Lakers to their equalizing victory over the Boston Celtics, but both coaches agree the key to the game came when these two old pros were on the bench.

"Those 'red shirts' did a hell of a job," Laker Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff said of the make-shift quintet which kept Boston at bay late in the third period and early in the fourth.

Los Angeles led 90-69 when Baylor went to the bench after drawing his fifth personal foul with 4:02 remaining in the third period. A few minutes later West also sat down for a needed rest, but the Lakers held on for a 123-113 victory to square their

Bunning Wins Over Dodgers

By The Associated Press

Jim Bunning made it home safely after a cold night in Pittsburgh but Curt Flood was turned away at the gate after a hot time in St. Louis.

Bunning posted his first pitching victory at home as a Pirate Wednesday night, subduing the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-3 in frigid Forbes Field with late-inning relief help from Erroy Face.

Flood, the National League's hottest hitter, drove in five runs with two singles and a triple as the Cardinals slugged the Cincinnati Reds 7-0 — but failed to score for the first time in 13 games this year.

Three other scheduled NL games were postponed because of bad weather.

Bunning, obtained by the Pirates in a winter trade with Philadelphia, yielded a three-run homer by Jim Lefebvre in the first inning and then blanked the Dodgers until the eighth, when he aggravated a pulled groin muscle and left the game.

The victory was Bunning's second of the young season against one set-back. He beat the Dodgers 3-0 at Los Angeles, then lost to San Francisco 5-2 at home last Saturday before Wednesday night's struggle, which began in 43 degree weather and ended with the thermometer at 38.

Gene Alley reached first on an error by Dodgers shortstop Zoilo Versalles in the sixth inning, moved around on Roberto Clemente's single and a ground out and scored the tie-breaking run on Bill Mazeroski's second sacrifice fly of the game.

The Pirates had pushed over three runs in the fourth, tying it 3-3. Alley tripled and scored on an infield out. Center fielder Willie Davis dropped Willie Stargell's long fly for a three-base error. Donn Clendenon walked and Mazeroski's first sacrifice fly sent home Stargell before Manny Mota's run-scoring single capped the rally.

Flood stroked a two-run single in the second inning, singled another run across in the sixth and lashed a two-run triple in the eighth as the Cardinals breezed to their third straight victory behind the five-hit pitching of Ray Washburn.

The St. Louis center fielder's run-scoring streak ended five games short of the National League record, set by Ted Kluszewski in 1954, when he was cut down at the plate trying to stretch his triple into an inside-the-park homer.

Flood had some consolation. The 3-for-5 night raised his league-leading batting average to .414.

Moore Will Join TV Team In NFL

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lenny Moore, one of the greatest runner-pass catchers football has ever known, will become a telecaster of National Football League games.

The 12-year veteran will retire from the Baltimore Colts to join the staff of Columbia Broadcasting System.

CBS announced Wednesday that Moore would join the eight team telecasting crew. Each team consists of two men. He will do an analysis of games.

Field In Dallas Meet 'Best Ever'

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The fact that 13 players have won the 15 tournaments this year on the PGA tour indicates why it is so difficult to establish a favorite in the $100,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic starting today over the 7,086-yard Preston Trail course.

Ten of those fellows are here but they are looked upon as about 20 others. Don January, the Dallas native who won the Tournament of Champions last week and is playing well, is considered little more than another in the pack. This despite the fact that he has played the course quite often.

The uncertainty of golf at this time, plus the fact that the field for the Nelson Classic is among the best ever gotten together, makes this tournament pretty wide open. Except that it has Jack Nicklaus, who hasn't won a tournament this year and which is quite out of character, champing at the bit.

Nicklaus has the big game necessary for tough Preston Trail.

Players who have won tournaments on the tour this year and are trying here are Johnny Pott, Kermit Zarley, Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer, Tom Weiskopf, Gardner Dickinson, Tony Jacklin, Bob Goalby, Steve Reid and January.

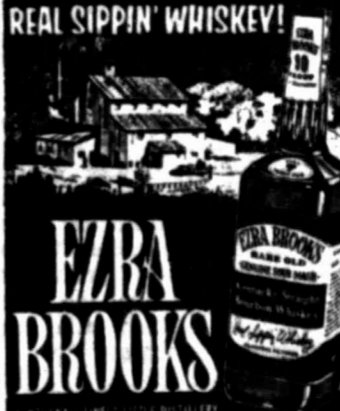

There also are nine former champions of the Dallas tournament, these including January and Pott. Others are Sam Snead, who won it three times before he started fading; Julius Boros, Earl Stewart, Billy Maxwell, Charles Coody, Roberto De Vincenzo and defending champion Bert Yancey.

Arnold Palmer is an attraction as usual but Arnie doesn't give the impression of one who's going to take the course in tow. He showed up with a hip ailment and said he was playing only because of Nelson, the great Texas golfer of the forties for whom the tournament was named.

FROM LITTLE LEAGUE TO BIG LEAGUE
Astro Hector Torres when 12 (L)

Hector Torres Has Come Long Way In Ten Years

NEW YORK (AP) — When Hector Torres pitched the Monterrey team to the Little League World Series title at Williamsport, Pa. in 1958 he won instant fame in two nations.

Mexico was astir with excitement about the feats of the 12-year-old pitcher and the kids from Monterrey. The New York Yankees hosted the team at Yankee Stadium, President Eisenhower congratulated them and television spread their fame far and wide.

Few people realize that this same Hector Torres now is the rookie shortstop of the Houston Astros, scrapping to establish a foothold in the major leagues. In the intervening years, Hector has been the property of the San Francisco Giants, the California Angels and now the Astros.

Houston traded Sonny Jackson, its regular shortstop, to Atlanta last winter and decided to go the route with Torres, despite a good-field-no hit label.

In the first few games, Torres led the Astros at bat but the pitchers have begun to catch up with him and he is down to .285, still considerably above his lifetime .216 for six years in the minors.

Negro Named Aide At Cal

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Negro athletes, who threatened to boycott all sports at the University of California, today are praising the elevation of freshman coach Jim Padgett to head basketball coach and appointment of Negro Earl Robinson as his assistant.

But they reserved judgment on the football situation, where they had demanded in their eight-point ultimatum the discharge of two coaching aides, Bill Button and Joe Marvin.

Bobby Smith, spokesman for the black athletes group of 40 when their demands were made in mid-basketball season, said, "I was very glad to hear" of the coaching appointments.

Padgett succeeds Rene Herrera, who resigned with one year to go on his contract. The Negroes had demanded Herrera's ouster.

Robinson succeeds Padgett, moving to California from Loyola College in nearby Oakland.

Bob Presley, sophomore basketball star center who was suspended and quickly reinstated last January by Herrera, said he was elated at the change.

Presley's reinstatement precipitated a walkout of white basketball players. They said Herrera had been ordered by the administration to lift the suspension.

Black athletes retaliated with their ultimatum.

Steer Bids For Honor

R. J. Englert, star outfielder for the Big Spring Steers, has been nominated as Texan of the Month by the Hi Noon Optimist Club of Big Spring.

R. J. could become the second Big Springer of 1968 to earn the honor, which is decided by a state committee named by the Optimist Clubs.

Named as Texan of the Month in January was Gary Don Newsom, BSBS senior and also a member of the Steer baseball team. As such, Newsom becomes one of 12 persons eligible for three college scholarships to be given by the Optimist Clubs. First place winner receives a $2,000 scholarship, the two runners-up each qualify for $1,000 in scholarship help.

R. J. is one of four children in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Englert, oldest of whom is 21 and the youngest 13. R. J. himself is 17 and a high school senior.

He has a grade average of 75.61. He started playing baseball in Little League at the age of eight and is now one of the top two or three hitters in District 2-AAAA.

Among other distinctions, he was selected as Beau of the Shorthand Club and to a similar honor by the FHA. He is a member of the 11th and Birdwell Lane Church of Christ, where he is a church worker.

During the summer months, he has spent his vacations working for a dairy, in construction work and helping his dad at a local motor company.

He was a member of the Cub Scouts for two years and in the Boy Scouts for 1 1/2 years. He enjoys all types of outdoor sports, was a tenacious linebacker in football.

In college, he hopes to major in business education. He hopes to wind up at the University of Houston, where baseball is emphasized.

If the right opportunity in professional baseball comes along in time, he will take it.

He was named to the all-tournament team two years running in the Andrews meet and has lettered in baseball for three years at the local school.

R. J.'s favorite big league ball player is a man known for his hitting talents, naturally. Who else but Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox?

Project chairman of the Hi Noon Optimist Club, who headed the group that chose both Newsom and Englert, is Roy Rumans.

GARY DON NEWSOM

Two-Division Loop Possible

CHICAGO (AP) — The American League will study a two-division, six-club schedule for 1969 at a meeting today but at least one official does not see a definite vote on such a plan at this time.

The junior circuit will add Seattle and Kansas City in expanding to 12 teams next season. Last week the National League also approved expansion to 12 teams for 1969 with two new members yet to be chosen among five bidders—San Diego, Buffalo, Dallas-Fort Worth, Montreal and Milwaukee.

General Manager Ed Short of the Chicago White Sox indicated that there still is uncertainty that the National League will match the American League's 12-club setup in 1969.

Short said if the National fails to expand to 12 clubs next year, the American probably will delay its two-division plan.

The plan reportedly favors its two-division split guided by geographical lines:

Western Division—Chicago, Minnesota, California Angels, Oakland, Seattle and Kansas City.

Eastern Division—Washington, Baltimore, New York, Boston, Cleveland and Detroit.

There would be division playoffs with the over-all winner entering the World Series.

Tony C Unsure About Pitching

BOSTON (AP) — Tony Conigliaro's hopes of a possible baseball comeback as a pitcher are up in the air at the moment.

Conigliaro told newsmen Wednesday that doctors have warned him not to undergo any heavy physical activity at this time because it might detach the retina of his injured left eye.

He indicated that this put a question mark on his thoughts of trying to return to baseball as a pitcher.

Threats Loom In State Meet

By The Associated Press

Four state and three national records will be in the balance next week in the Texas schoolboy track and field meet where Sam Walker of Dallas Samuel is expected to throw the shot over the grandstand.

And Spring Branch Memorial senses trouble aplenty from upstart Corpus Christi Moody in the fight to repeat as Class AAAA state champion. Moody may win only one first place but it is deep enough to roll up points in at least five events, which could mean about 45 points.

Spring Branch Memorial seems assured of three first places, one of them the mile relay where the points are double. But unless it gets some points in the 440 where it has two qualified, then Memorial might not amass more than 40.

Walker, the latest weight man star who bids fair to replace the great Randy Matson, has pitched the 12-pound ball 71 feet or better four times and each pitch has bettered the national scholastic record by 1 1/2 to 2 feet.

He should easily outdistance the state record of 66 feet 10 1/2 inches set by Matson while at Pampa in 1963.

Texas holds three national records already—41.2 by Port Neches-Groves in the 440 relay and 3:11.8 by Spring Branch Memorial in the mile relay, both last year, and 37.8 by Rocky Woods of San Angelo Lakeview in the 330-yard hurdles in 1967.

Lane Adams of Grand Prairie has equalled the 330 hurdles mark already this season. Fort Worth Dunbar has come within a tenth of a second of the national record in the 440 relay.

Olen Terrell of Corpus Christi Moody high jumped 6 feet 6 1/2 inches in the regional meet, which is only a half-inch back of the state record.

Walker goes to the state meet with a high of 71.7 in the shot. He registered this in the regional meet.

Spring Branch Memorial has the state leader in the half-mile in John Drew, who has done 1:52.1. It also paces the mile relay with 3:15.8 and Tom Joyce of Spring Branch Memorial tops the milers with 4:18.9.

Paul Bradley with 48.6 and Rusty Brents with 48.7 are the threats in the 440-yard dash where Jimmy Evans of Waco leads with 47.5 and there were five other times in the regionals that were faster than Bradley and Brents.

Moody hitches its hopes to Phil Lusk who has run the 100 in 9.7, the 200 in 21.5 and has done 23.6 1/2 in the broad jump, all second best. The mile relay has turned 3:16.6, which is the second best in the state. Terrell, of course, is expected to win the high jump.

Houston Wheatley could make it a three-cornered fight for the state championship since it appears capable of at least 30 points. Houston Worthing, Dallas Lincoln and Fort Worth Dunbar are other schools likely to score well.

First With Fiber Glass Tire

THE FIVE STAR by ARMSTRONG!

Armstrong has the safety breakthrough you've been waiting for! A tire strong enough to give you the protection you need. A belt of fiber glass is actually vulcanized under the famous Rhino-Flex Tread. (The tread with patented safety discs for extra grip.) Once for once, fiber glass is stronger than steel. And the fiber glass in the new Armstrong tire means added safety and mileage for you! 30% more impact resistance than ordinary tires and up to double the usual tire mileage. Faster, smoother stops. More controlled cornering. Better traction. Why take unnecessary chances. Put Armstrong Fiber Glass Tires on your car. It's the only tire you can buy with a safety-belt of, stronger than steel, fiber glass!

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

Two Shrines Of Rio Grande

By ED SYERS
Few areas of Texas reverence more devotional shrines than Rio Grande Valley, an old land of devout people. There are the churches' reaching spires; also the tiny, tucked-away places where one prays. This is about two of them, near Rio Grande City.

Corpus Christi's Perry J. Sherman recalls the very old one that stood on Tigre Ranch, near Lopeno above Falcon Dam. It was the latter 1700's when New Spain's colonization had thrust Indian country north to Rio Bravo with Reynosa, Camargo, Mier, that a bold Don Silvestro Ramirez crossed the river to hold vast Rancho Tigre.

Forted, Tigre survived and Don Silvestro would give thanks; but the nearest church was two days' horseback at Mier. In the hard rock before his house, he hewed a good well, walled it, and topped the white-painted whole with a statue of the Virgin of Guadalupe. Carving was his own, with delicate care. To reach the well beneath his Lady, he set steps so that, at this shrine, all who passed by Tigre could quench thirst of both body and soul.

And so it remained, near two centuries, until some years ago, the waters of Falcon covered old Rancho Tigre and today hide its shrine.

EXACT REPLICA

Just downriver at Rio Grande City is another family, old as Don Silvestro's. My news-publisher friend, Felipe Ramon, tells that this Saturday (April 27), his fellow parishioners will observe the fortieth anniversary of a second shrine, famed in its way as Tigre's lost one: being an exact replica of the miracle Grotto of Lourdes.

Also, those of Rio Grande

Chief Discovers Force Dedicated

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—Kalamazoo Police Chief Dean A. Fox found out firsthand how dedicated his police force is. It cost him $9.50.
The police chief paid the fine in Kalamazoo municipal court, after Patrolman Charles Draper ticketed him last Thursday on a charge of driving 15 miles per hour above a 25 mph speed limit.

City fear that their Grotto, where many a traveler has paused for meditation over the years, may itself be hidden from view.

Stone by stone for 14 months, the Grotto was completed in 1928 by Father Gustave Gollbach, then pastor of Immaculate Conception Church: 35 by 90 feet, walled in rock and petrified wood from nearby Escobares. Centering is a seven-foot statue of the Virgin Mother: in all, a place of peace where one can go, any hour, to seek it.

Should not such a place of prayer, reason its parishioners, be open to wayfarer, as neighbor? Since its Grotto, this Oblate parish has completed a handsome new church and rectory, all on the block beside... and now plans a convent for the sisters in charge of their school. On that block, the convent would necessarily stand directly in front of the old Grotto. For those yet to pass, this town's particular Lourdes would be obscured. This, it seems to Rio Grande City's parishioners, is not what shrines are for.

They'd put the convent a little away, where the old church must come down anyhow. Build with the old church's bricks. But leave Padre Gustavo's Grotto so it may invite all.

I know. A Presbyterian has no business in these matters. Yet next time through that gracious old river town, I'll hope you and I may see the Grotto clearly... from the heat and burden of our particular road. That way, we'll know where to pause for awhile.

MAILBOX

Richardson's Mrs. Carol King: "OBT has had several stories about Santa Anna. I have two questions. What was the Texas battleflag at San Jacinto? Also what kind of treatment did he (Santa Anna) receive after capture?"
Muskegee, Oklahoma's Avery von Blon: "You asked about displays of antique autos. A fine one is at Galveston's Moody Center on the Seawall."
Odessa's Mrs. Belle Speed (2700 Redwood Drive) says that in our collection of collectors, we have overlooked her important group. Old post cards are her hobby.

Gift For Rehab Center

Representatives of the National Foundation (March of Dimes), Bob Galbraith, vice president, and Mrs. Tom Phillips, treasurer (left) hand over a check for $500 to Miss Bessie Love and Jim Thompson, representing the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. Galbraith was fund drive chairman for the MOD last January, and a large portion of the funds received is spent in Howard County, assisting individuals, as well as such organizations as the rehabilitation center.

Journalism Students Stage Parley Here

More than 200 journalism students from 25 Texas colleges will begin arriving in Big Spring this afternoon for the 20th annual Texas Intercollegiate Press Association convention Friday and Saturday, being hosted by Howard County Junior College.

The program is to include 18 different workshop sessions covering various phases of mass communications. There will be several keynote speakers, and the students will be able to attend dances, barbecues and swimming parties as well. Holiday Inn has been reserved by HCJC, and the motel had reached capacity by Tuesday, according to Dal Herring, TIPA director and head of the HCJC journalism program. Awards banquet speaker Saturday night will be Dave Knapp, special assignments reporter for the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, who was one of the trio of journalists instrumental in coverage of the fall semester slaying of a Texas Technological College cleaning woman.

Colleges will receive achievement awards at the Saturday banquet in all categories of newspaper and yearbook proficiency. Miss TIPA 1968 will be announced at that time. A dance will follow the banquet. David Bradford, HCJC sophomore and TIPA president, will speak to the gathering as the convention begins Friday morning.

Opening the convention will be Gene Craft, operations manager for the Texas State Network. Craft will discuss the role of the correspondent in the field and show slides from his recent trip to Vietnam.

Katharyn Duff, of the Abilene Reporter-News, will begin the workshop sessions after Craft's address. Miss Duff writes "Page One" for the Reporter-News and will speak on the general column.

Phil Orman, assistant to the vice president of the University Division of Taylor Publishing Company, will conduct a discussion in yearbook style and continuity Friday morning and present yearbook photography and advertising Friday evening.

Dalmon McNair, of the Midland Reporter-Telegram, will lead a session on "Putting Sparkle into Headlines," and Mrs. Mary Cochran, former reporter now with the Big Spring State Hospital volunteer office, will speak on "A Reporter Looks at a Mental Hospital."

Jim Baum, program director at KBYG, will speak on the "Broadcast News Beat" Saturday morning, and Bob Lewis, of KBST, will cover "Preparing Effective Documentaries." Mrs. Jerry Monson, reporter for The Herald, will discuss the "Woman's Role in General News," and Sam Blackburn, Herald reporter, will speak on "Writing Better Features."

Included in the convention are Tommy Hart, Herald sports editor, who will discuss the sports column; Margaret Koy, Abilene Reporter-News sports writer, on the action sports story; and Luiz Perez, photojournalism instructor at the University of Texas at El Paso, who will lead a session on photography.

A tentative political press conference is planned Friday afternoon with Temple Dickson, state representative from Sweetwater, as the speaker. Students will cover the conference and the best news story will win for its writer a $25 savings bond, Herring said.

Presents Program To 'Cool' Rioters

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Gov. Richard J. Hughes, expressing grave concern about racial tensions, submitted a broad new program of urban and slum aid to the legislature today and recommended that it be financed by either a state income tax or an increase in New Jersey's sales tax.

"I am presenting a program not for the suppression of riots but for the elimination of their cause," the Democratic governor told the Republican-controlled legislature.

PRICE TAG
The program, which carries a $126.1 million price tag to start, is in response to reports by national and state commissions on civil disorder.

It proposes state payment of 75 per cent of county and municipal welfare costs, state administration of the public school system in Newark, new and expanded urban and law enforcement programs, emergency school aid in financially troubled cities and a multimillion-dollar housing program for the poor.

Hughes urged the legislature to enact either a one to five per cent graduated personal income tax or to raise the sales tax from three to four per cent.

The governor coupled his special message to the senate and assembly with recommendations for tougher laws aimed at cracking down on riots, looters and arsonists.

Two Agents For Rockefeller Stir Draft Bid In Midwest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two emissaries for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller headed for the Midwest today expressing confidence they will uncover sufficient support to move him into active candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

Nonaligned party members generally doubt the emissaries—Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., and William E. Miller, the 1964 GOP vice presidential nominee—will succeed in generating a presidential draft for the New York governor.

READY TO RUN
But Morton and Miller told an airport news conference before their departure that meetings with GOP leaders during their six-state tour will show Rockefeller there is "enough substantial support for his candidacy so he can become an aggressive candidate."

Rockefeller himself says he thinks the draft movement for him is gaining momentum. And he says he is ready to run if his party wants him.

Morton said he and Miller hope to persuade Midwestern GOP leaders to "keep their option open." Their first stop is Minneapolis, Minn., where Gov. Harold LeVander is an ally. Morton also predicted Rockefeller would become an active candidate in about a month.

JOGGING
"I wouldn't be making this barnstorming tour if I didn't think I had a candidate," he said adding that Rockefeller has been "privy to all we have been doing."

The governor, asked Wednesday whether he's already jogging if not running, replied: "I haven't got my feet in concrete, I'll tell you that."

The trip is the first of a series intended by Rockefeller backers to stir up enthusiasm for a draft among national convention delegates.

But uninformed party members generally think the best Morton and Miller can hope for are some assurances that favorite-son and uncommitted delegations will stand fast against a possible blitz at the convention by Nixon forces.

Rockefeller told newsmen in a Capitol Hill hallway the draft movement is enlisting more people "and they're active and they're raising more money."

"I would say that it's gaining momentum," he said. "I think the delegates are looser than people think."

Morton and Miller planned to fly to Des Moines later today, and back to Chicago for an overnight stop and breakfast meeting Friday.

Large Object Hovering In Sky Bothers Texans

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP)—A large object hovering in the North Texas sky this morning had to do with outer space, all right, but only the study of it. It was a 420-by-380-foot silvery balloon launched by the National Center for Atmospheric Research at Palestine.

Many persons who saw it didn't know just what to make of it, and asked law enforcement agencies and news media for an explanation.

A spokesman for the research center said the balloon was filled with 10.6 million cubic feet of lighter-than-air helium. It carried a 1,246-pound scientific payload designed by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to study X-ray emissions from the constellation Cygnus.

At mid-morning, the balloon was at an altitude of 127,000 feet southeast of Denison.

A spokesman at the center said it was launched at 6:48 p.m. Wednesday and was to descend northeast of Dallas.

Air Force, Civilians Fuss Over U.S. Air Defense Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Air Force and civilian analysts differ sharply in a Pentagon intelligence dispute already casting a shadow over U.S. plans to defend against Soviet bombers of the 1970s.

Basically at issue is the soundness of a national-level assessment that the Soviets will not develop a supersonic strategic bomber with far-reaching missiles during the next six years.

Gen. John P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff, thinks they will and argues the United States should build some new 2,000 mile-per-hour interceptors able to shoot them down.

BOMBER THREAT
But Robert S. McNamara, just before he left office as secretary of defense, decided indications were that the Soviet bomber threat actually would decline. He rejected the Air Force's requested interceptor, the F12.

Instead, McNamara went along with his civilian planners who figured $1 billion could be saved if the Air Force put a new missile system in an existing fighter, the F106, part of the present air defense network.

Although this plane was developed in the 1950s, cost-effectiveness studies showed that a souped-up version known as the F106X would be just as good as the Mach 3 F12, if a few hundred miles an hour slower.

'DON'T AGREE'
McNamara also based his thinking on the National Intelligence Estimate (NIE) of what the Soviets might be expected to do in the area of strategic bombers between now and 1976, the period in question.

This projection, drawn up about last October, was that the Soviet Union would stick generally with the strategic bomber force it already has. This includes 155 bombers capable of reaching the United States without refueling.

McConnell, testifying before the Senate Armed Services Committee in February, said, "I don't agree with" and "I don't subscribe to" the NIE view.

The four-star general said he

felt the Soviets would indeed put into operation a new supersonic bomber capable of "delivering an extremely long-range, high speed air-to-ground missile" against the United States by 1976. The F106X would be inadequate to deal with this threat, McConnell declared.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, APRIL 25, 1968 SEC. B

National Secretaries Are Observing 'Week'

National Secretaries Week now in progress, was the main topic of discussion Tuesday when the local chapter of the National Secretaries Association met in the Texas Electric Reddy Room.

MAY SPONSOR ASSOCIATION

Church Women Push Planned Parenthood

The board of directors of Church Women United will meet Monday at 10 a.m. in the chapel of the Salvation Army to discuss sponsorship of a planned parenthood association for the local area.

Also, the group will discuss plans for May Fellowship Day.

Mrs. D. L. Nash Named Secretary

Mrs. Jack Dunn presided and appointed Mrs. D. L. Nash corresponding secretary at the Tuesday meeting of the Faculty Ma'ams in the home of Mrs. Ben Johnson, 707 W. 16th.

New officers assumed their posts and committee members were appointed by the president. Mrs. B. M. Keese was given an honorary membership. She was a charter member of the club, and her husband is retiring as registrar at Howard County Junior College.

An all-family picnic is slated for May 17 in the Student Union quadrangle, and reservations should be made with the college business office. The next meeting will be Aug. 20 in the home of Mrs. W. A. Hunt.

Reception Honors AAUW Member

Mrs. Gary Sims, board member of the Texas Division, American Association of University Women, was one of the honored guests at a reception Saturday hosted by the Abilene chapter of the AAUW. The event was held at the Hotel Windsor.

Dr. Gloria Shatto of Houston was guest speaker at the luncheon following the reception. Dr. Shatto was the recipient of an AAUW fellowship enabling her to obtain her Ph.D. in economics, and she is now a professor at the University of Houston.

She told of her economic study at San Blas Indiana of Panama, where she is continuing her research. A $500 gift to the AAUW fellowship fund was presented by the Abilene branch in honor of Mrs. J. F. Boren, charter member and past president.

Picture Yourself As Beautiful Bride

By MARY SUE MILLER

A Lovely writes: I will soon sit for my bridal portrait, and I am uneasy over the prospect as I am not particularly photogenic. Do I need a special make-up? Would it help? How can I be sure of taking a graceful pose? Please help me.

The answer: When any lovely faces the camera for a wedding portrait, she must relax and let the photographer do the worrying. The most vital secret in getting a likeness of your best self is a relaxed approach.

A tense, stiff sitter takes a picture that answers to the same description. Tension is one of the few problems that cannot be overcome by a photographer's artistry.

Really, there is nothing to be nervous about. The photographer will direct your posing. He will light your face and position your head, so as to catch the flattering angles. Should there be a flaw in your makeup, he will suggest the improvement.

at Big Spring Country Club. Don Womack will serve as master of ceremonies, and the invocation will be by Miss Marguerite Cooper. Following the welcome by Mrs. Dee Ratliff, chapter president, a book review, "Wit's End," will be presented by a guest, Mrs. Larson Lloyd. Mrs. Ratliff will present a certificate to the "boss of the year" and Mrs. Jerry Callahan will make the presentation to the "secretary of the year." Roses will form the decorative motif, and a bouquet of roses will be presented to the winning secretary.

Mrs. Ratliff presided at Tuesday's meeting as new officers were elected. They are Mrs. Aubrey Bryans, president; Mrs. Vic Ames, vice president; Mrs. Jerry Callahan, recording secretary; Mrs. Winifred Greenlee, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. S. Gorman, treasurer.

During the past year, the NSA has sponsored a bridge marathon to provide a scholarship fund for a secretarial student at Howard County Junior College. The final bridge session will be held today at the Cosden S n a c k Bar. Refreshments will be served and prizes awarded to the top three pairs.

Panel Has Program

"What Is Involved in Personal Development?" was the program presented by Mrs. Nell Frazier, chairman of the personal development committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club at the Tuesday meeting in Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. Bill Ward and Miss Edith Gay participated in the panel discussion, and the four points discussed were education, participation, indoctrination and communication. The speakers noted that this is a four-square program for self improvement and development.

Other committee members were Mrs. Oma Buchanan, Mrs. O. L. Jamison, Mrs. Rip Smith and Mrs. Ruth Dyer.

Mrs. Ward presided and announced that Miss Lorene Williams, former local club member and past district director, is a resident in the Morris Nursing Home at Roscoe.

The announcement was made by Mrs. Ward that Mrs. Herman Smith will review the book, "Christy," by Catherine Marshall at 7:30 p.m., May 16, at the Howard County Junior College auditorium. Tickets will cost $1 and may be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce, from club members or at the door.

One guest, Drew McKeener of Abilene, was introduced.

Bags Are Made By Sewing Club

Twenty laundry bags were completed for the county welfare office when the Sew and Chatter Club met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Tom Rossion, 108 Lincoln. The 11 attending also finished and delivered bibs for the Veterans Administration Hospital.

The birthday of Mrs. Jack Lightfoot was observed and she received a gift, as did the hostess. Refreshments were served from a polished table centered with yellow irises.

The next meeting will be May 8 in the home of Mrs. H. V. Crocker, 1707 Benton.

Methodist Group Presents Skit

Mrs. H. C. Ernsting presided at the Tuesday meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service at the First Methodist Church.

A skit was presented concerning church literature. Those on the program were Mrs. Gary Sims, Mrs. Harrol Jones, Mrs. Carl Riberd, Mrs. Max Fitzhugh, Mrs. Clyde Johnston, Mrs. Knox Chadd, Mrs. Warden Mayes, Mrs. R. B. McAfee and Mrs. Ernsting.

A district meeting of the WSCS will begin today in Snyder, and May Fellowship Day will be held at St. Mary's Episcopal Church on May 3.

Knott Residents Visit In Lubbock

KNOTT (SC) — Mrs. Donald Allred and Mrs. J. W. Fryar Jr. visited Mrs. Eddie Herm and Mrs. L. G. Fuller Saturday in Lubbock. Also, they visited their sister, Mrs. Mildred Free who resides in a convalescent home in Amberst.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fryar Jr. were in San Angelo Monday and were accompanied home by their son, Tommy, a student at Angelo State College, who will be farming with his father.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Sweatt of Westbrook were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Taylor.

OES Fetes Officer At Guest Tea

Mrs. Floy McNaughton, retiring worthy matron of the Laura B. Hart Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, was honored by her retiring officers with a tea Sunday in the First Federal Community Room.

The tea table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a yellow and orange arrangement of spring flowers. Mrs. J. H. Eastham presided at the tea service. Crystal and silver appointments were used. The coffee table was laid with an ecru lace cloth and centered with orange and white seasonal flowers. Silver appointments completed the setting, and Mrs. Lois Marchbanks presided at the coffee service.

Mrs. Morgan Martin attended the guest register, and the table was decorated with a miniature worthy matron doll which was presented to the honoree as a gift from the officers.

Approximately 60 attended, and guests were registered from Odessa, Midland, Crane, Coahoma and Big Spring.

Girls Tour Chapel

The Intermediate Girls Auxiliary of Ackerly Baptist Church toured Rosewood Chapel Monday. David Taylor conducted the tour.

Will Represent P-TA At Spring Conference

Mrs. Gerry Poteet, president of Washington Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association, will represent the unit at the 16th District 22nd annual spring conference of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, Saturday in Sterling City.

The unit has worked with state programs in a total of nine meetings this year. The fund-raising project was selling school day memory books, and the unit sponsored three children's plays presented by the National Theatre in Dallas. Under her leadership, the campus was landscaped.

The P-TA Council gave a Howard County Junior College scholarship and Texas and National title memberships.

Mrs. Poteet has represented her unit at all workshops, conferences, conventions and schools of instruction. Also, she has completed the parliamentary law course and the leadership procedure course.

Accompanying Mrs. Poteet to the conference will be Mrs. Ben Boadle, Mrs. Edmond McMurray, Mrs. E. B. Compton and Mrs. Jimmy Bumgarner.

Run Hot Water

According to plumbers, it is a good idea to help clear drains by running very hot water periodically in your water pipes.

Tall Talker Club Hears 'Wit's End'

Mrs. Larson Lloyd reviewed the book, "Wit's End," by Erma Bombeck at the Tuesday meeting of the Tall Talker's Toastmistress Club in the Officers' Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base.

Mrs. M. A. Porter presided, and Mrs. Richard Shaver gave the invocation. Mrs. Dan Williams introduced table topics and Mrs. Shaver was lexicologist. Mrs. Lee Rogers was toastmistress.

Favors were made by Mrs. Lowell Grabau, and Mrs. Porter introduced two guests, Miss Carolyn Cook and Miss Celia Fowler.

MRS. J. W. TIPTON

Child-Centered Family Is Best, Say Tiptons

By RHODA LEMONS
 "We are a home-centered family, perhaps, even child-centered," said Mrs. J. W. Tipton.
 Mrs. Tipton and her husband, Dr. J. W. Tipton, an ear, nose and throat specialist at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital, live at 507 Highland. They have three children, Diane, 12, a seventh-grader at Goliad Junior High School; Jimmy, 9, a fourth-grader, and Steve, 7, a first-grader, both at College Heights Elementary School.
 Mrs. Tipton buys according to family needs but keeps a watchful eye out for specials. She does not plan her menus in advance, but she does compare prices at the store and saves where possible.
 She cooks breakfast, a light lunch for her husband and the main meal in the evening. She serves dinner at different hours according to when her husband can get home. The family favorite is steak and they most often cook it outdoors. Dr. Tipton broils the steaks while Mrs. Tipton arranges the rest of the meal.
 Mrs. Tipton does all her housework and only occasionally does she take her ironing out. She has found her greatest time and labor saver to be the new wash and wear fabrics for the boys' clothing. She does a great deal of mending and button replacing, finding the iron-on patches of great help in the mending department.
 Diane helps her mother and assists with the clean-up chore after dinner. She usually keeps her room neat and is in the process of redecorating it.
 "My theory is that my main job is being a wife and mother," said Mrs. Tipton. "She does her housework according to the day's activities and does not schedule her work in a dogmatic fashion. She keeps the home "picked up," but does not have a special day to do different types of tasks.

 Mrs. Tipton uses her food freezer more as a convenience than as an economical measure. They buy meat by the hind quarter, and she buys certain specialties by quantity and freezes them. However, she does not prepare foods primarily for the freezer.
 Mrs. Tipton's favorite appliance is the dishwasher which saves her time for the family and to be active in outside activities. She is chairman of the leadership and resources committee at St. Paul Lutheran Church and is responsible for buying supplies for the kitchen and ordering church literature.
 She is a member of the 1946 Hyperion Club, the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary - and the Child Study Club. Her sons have started in Little League, where Jimmy will be in the minor league and Steve will be in the Pee Wee league.
 She enjoys gardening and is in the process of getting her yard ready for spring. She recently put a commercial "weed killer" on the front lawn, and as yet, she said that she has the best looking and strongest weeds on her block.

Serve This Rich Soup

Let a rich soup bubble merrily in the kettle if you would properly welcome the men home on a blustery day!
 Pepper Pot is a favorite among the Pennsylvania Dutch who are well noted for the delicious food they prepare. It's especially liked by men for its peppery character which comes from both green pepper as well as the spice, black pepper and sometimes red and cayenne pepper.
 A variety meat called tripe is also a characteristic of this famous soup. It may be purchased fresh, pickled or canned, but even in buying it fresh, it has had some precooking.
 Philadelphia Pepper Pot
 4 slices bacon, diced
 1 onion, diced
 1 green pepper, diced
 2 quarts soup stock or beef bouillon
 1 pound honeycomb tripe
 1 tsp. salt
 1/2 tsp. pepper
 3 potatoes, diced
 2 tsp. flour
 2 tsp. drippings
 1/2 cup milk
 Brown bacon. Add onion and green pepper. Cook slowly five minutes. Add stock and tripe which has been washed and shredded. Season. Simmer at least one hour. Add potatoes and cook for 30 minutes. Mix the flour and drippings to a smooth paste and thicken soup. Add milk just before serving. Yield: two quarts.

Barbecued Franks
 2 lbs. frankfurters, cut diagonally in 1-inch pieces
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 2 tbsps. vinegar
 2 tbsps. brown sugar
 1/2 cup lemon juice
 1 cup catsup
 3 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
 1/2 cup water
 1/2 tsp. cayenne pepper, if desired
 Combine all ingredients except frankfurters. Simmer 20 minutes. Add frankfurters and cook slowly 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Makes eight servings.

Try Kabobs For Lunch
 "En brochette" is the French way of saying one has threaded various foods on a skewer usually for cooking. Our way of saying it is "kabob-style," or cooked on a skewer or stick.
 Whatever you call it, this is an interesting style of preparing foods. En brochette foods are usually those that cook quickly as well as a combination of foods that will all be cooked in about the same time, explains Reba Staggs, meat authority with the National Live Stock and Meat Board.
 Prepare these kabobs for lunch at any time if you keep canned luncheon meat, pineapple chunks and cherries on your convenience shelf. They're attractive served on a bed of rice for a group of club women or just on the skewers as a special for youngsters.
 LUNCHEON LOAF EN BROCHETTE
 2 cans (12 oz. each) luncheon loaf.
 1 can (1 lb.) pineapple chunks, drained
 Maraschino cherries
 3 tbsps. melted butter or margarine
 1/4 cup brown sugar
 1 tsp. prepared mustard
 Cut luncheon loaves into one-inch squares. Thread first a pineapple chunk, then meat cube, alternating until skewers are filled with three of each. On top, slip cherry. Brush with mixture made from butter or margarine, brown sugar and mustard. Broil meat until lightly browned on all sides, about 10 to 12 minutes. Makes six servings.

Serve Spongettes For Special Treat
 After baking, this dessert has a cake-like bottom, a custard top.
 SPONGETTES
 2 tbsps. butter or margarine
 Two-third cup sugar
 2 large eggs, separated
 2 tbsps. flour
 1/4 cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
 1 cup milk
 Cream butter and sugar; thoroughly beat in egg yolks, then flour and orange juice concentrate. Gently beat in milk, keeping smooth. With clean beater beat egg whites until they hold stiff straight peaks; add to other mixture and beat gently to blend. Turn into five six-ounce buttered oven glass custard cups.
 Place cups in a pan of hot water, having water come nearly to top of mixture. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven for 35 minutes. Chill; unmold, removing any custard that doesn't turn out, with a small spatula. Garnish, if you like, with unsweetened or only slightly sweetened whipped cream. Makes five servings.

New Recipe For Poached Prunes
 A delightful way to use the last of the season's fresh prunes.
 FRESH PRUNES
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 cup water
 1 medium orange, unpeeled and thinly sliced with seeds removed
 1 1/2 pounds medium-size fresh Italian prunes, halved with pits removed (about 2 dozen).
 In a 10-inch skillet stir together the sugar and water until sugar dissolves; add sliced orange; heat to boiling point. Add fresh prunes, skin side up; gently boil, uncovered, until partly softened - a few minutes.
 Turn skin side down; continue boiling gently for a few minutes more or until as tender as desired; test with a fork. Fruit should keep its shape but some of the skins will slip off. Serve warm or chilled. Makes eight servings.

Party Starters
 Mix cream cheese with diced almonds, chopped dried beef and a little instant coffee powder. Form into balls, roll in minced parsley and serve chilled on picks.
 Switch Dressings
 Switch bottled Italian Dressing, ordinarily used for vegetable salads to a fruit salad dressing by pouring in a little light corn syrup.

Perfect Hollandaise Sauce For Vegetables
 Every good cook should learn a simple yet satisfactory way to make hollandaise sauce. More than just a classic trimming for asparagus, broccoli and other vegetables, hollandaise serves as the basis for Bearnaise and other famous sauces. It's also essential for numerous great dishes such as eggs Benedict; it's an ideal accompaniment to many fish dishes; and it may be used to mask foods that are to be glazed or browned under a broiler.
 Offered here is a new, fret-free method for making hollandaise, one that features the powdered creamer, as a surprise ingredient. This nearly disaster-proof method results in a sauce of perfect flavor and of extra rich, satiny texture. It's a sauce, too, that can be refrigerated for two or three days, then beaten in a bowl or pan over hot, not boiling, water until warm and smooth. Serve it warm, not hot, as too high heat can spell grief for any sauce based on an emulsion of butter and egg yolks.
 EASY HOLLANDAISE
 1/2 cup butter
 3 tbsps. powdered creamer
 4 egg yolks
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/2 cup lemon juice
 1/2 cup water
 Heat butter in top of double boiler over hot (not boiling) water until just melted. Beat together powdered creamer, egg yolks, salt, lemon juice and water. Stir egg mixture into melted butter; continue to cook over hot water, beating with wire whip until thick. Makes about 1 1/3 cups.
 Teenagers Thrive On Hot Dogs
 "Why don't we have something I like?" Any mother is familiar with this comment from a teenager who can eat the same thing for weeks at a time with little variation.
 "Something I like" can fall into a category characterized by hot dogs, hamburgers, pizza and milk shakes. If mother gives in to this request, she can serve barbecued frankfurters built into a balanced meal, says Reba Staggs, meat authority with the National Live Stock and Meat Board.
 Balance the menu with French fried potatoes, coleslaw or green salad and a milk shake. Hot dogs may be served with buns. Wieners are a convenience food. If this barbecue sauce is prepared in advance, it needs only to be heated with the franks for 10 minutes.
 BARBECUED FRANKS
 2 lbs. frankfurters, cut diagonally in 1-inch pieces
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 2 tbsps. vinegar
 2 tbsps. brown sugar
 1/2 cup lemon juice
 1 cup catsup
 3 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
 1/2 cup water
 1/2 tsp. cayenne pepper, if desired
 Combine all ingredients except frankfurters. Simmer 20 minutes. Add frankfurters and cook slowly 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Makes eight servings.

GOURMET DESSERT Made by almost foolproof recipe

Serve Cool, Refreshing Delectable Soufflé

Whether or not to peek at the soufflé becomes an academic question with the almost foolproof cold soufflé, which may go a long way toward explaining its popularity as a company dessert choice. A tempting example is today's Orange Apple Soufflé, a springtime-fresh fruit combination starring convenient canned pie-sliced apples, orange juice, and grated orange rind.
 As in the preparation of the more skittish hot soufflé, egg whites and yolks are beaten separately here, with the beaten yolks used to make a delectable chilled orange custard into which the apple slices, meringued egg whites, and whipped cream are later folded. The result is dessert-rich, yet delicately airy, with a fetching appearance to complement its abundantly good taste.
 A portion of the apple slices, enhanced with a currant jelly glaze, make an attractive garnish which you can put in place long before serving because the canned pie-sliced apples are specially processed to stay moist, firm, and flavorful even on exposure to air.
 ORANGE APPLE SOUFFLE
 1/2 cup currant jelly
 1 lb. 4 oz. can pie-sliced apples, well drained
 2 tbsps. gelatin
 1/4 cup cold water
 3 eggs, separated
 1/2 cup sugar
 2 tbsps. grated orange rind
 Two-thirds cup orange juice
 1 tsp. lemon juice
 1 cup (1/2 pint) heavy cream, whipped
 Prepare Soufflé Dish: Fold a 24-inch length of foil in half lengthwise; securely tie or tape around outside of one-quart soufflé dish to form collar.
 Prepare Soufflé: Melt jelly in skillet. Add apples and sauté until apples are glazed, about two or three minutes. Drain and cool. Soften gelatin in cold water. Beat egg yolks slightly. Combine with 1/4 cup sugar, orange rind and juice and lemon juice in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water until mixture thickens and coats the spoon. Remove from heat. Add dissolved gelatin and stir until dissolved. Chill until thickened. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in remaining sugar until mixture forms stiff peaks. Fold meringue and whipped cream into thickened orange mixture. Fold in glazed apple slices, reserving several for garnish. Pour into prepared soufflé dish. Chill until firm, about four hours. Makes eight servings.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Cheese bread, made with yeast-risen dough, may be sprinkled with yellow cornmeal before baking.
 To vary rice that is to be served with curry, add almonds, coconut, golden raisins, or currants.
 For a surprise addition, add diced candied fruit to a casserole of mashed sweet potatoes. Good served with ham.
 Using grenadine syrup as a glaze for baked ham adds a rosy glow. Angostura bitters, used the same way, also adds ruddy color.
 Sauté a duck liver in butter, then chop fine and add to liver spread to use for canapes.
 Breading veal chops? Add a pinch or two of powdered ginger to the breading ingredients.
 When an old-fashioned recipe calls for a "drip pan," you may find that a pan that measures about 13 by 9 by 2 inches does the trick.
 Some cooks like to cut through quick-bread batter after it is in a loaf pan to let air bubbles escape. Same technique that is used in making angel food cake. But don't overdo the cutting! Once through the batter is enough!
 Brush canned drained peach halves with butter or margarine, sprinkle with sugar and broil until hot through. Serve with baked ham.
 Add a dash of garlic salt to lamb chops along with salt and pepper before you broil them.

ROSE-COLORED APPLES Flavor roast with apple syrup

Serve Apples On Roast Pork
 If you, like most other cooks, usually serve applesauce with roast pork, it's time to bring a change.
 Glorify those apples - especially if they're for a company meal. Pare and halve them and cook them in a rose-colored syrup, then add a little almond extract. You'll have apples that are lovely to look at and delicious to taste.
 Now about the roast pork. Competent research, done recently, has shown that fresh pork loins can be safely cooked to an internal temperature of 170 degrees instead of the 188 degrees formerly recommended; this means that the pork loin meat may have a tinge of pink. The 170-degree temperature, however, does not apply to other cuts of fresh pork; these other cuts should still be cooked to 185 degrees or until all tinges of pink color are absent when the meat is cut.
 ROSE ALMOND APPLES
 4 medium or large yellow Delicious or Winesap apples
 2 cups sugar
 1 cup water
 1/4 tsp. salt
 12 drops red food coloring
 1 tsp. almond extract
 Pare apples; core; cut each in half lengthwise.
 Into a 10-inch skillet turn the sugar, water and salt; over low heat stir until sugar is dissolved; bring to a full boil. Reduce heat and stir in the red food coloring. Add apples; cook very gently, turning with a fork several times, until apples are tender but still hold their shape - about 10 minutes.
 With a slotted spoon, place the apples in a single layer in a wide shallow casserole or similar container.
 Bring the syrup remaining in the skillet to a full boil; boil for 10 minutes; remove from heat. Stir in almond extract; pour syrup over apples. Let the apples stand in the syrup for several hours, turning them occasionally, for later service.
 To serve: turn the apple halves with a little of their syrup into an attractive serving dish to accompany roast pork; or if the pork platter is large, the apple halves - drained of syrup - may be placed alternately with parsley sprigs or watercress around the pork. Remaining syrup from the apples may be used as a glaze for baked ham or boneless smoked pork shoulder butt.
 Rose Almond Apples make 8 servings as a pork accompaniment.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Mrs. J. W. Tipton

- CRAB SALAD
 1 flat can crab meat, drained
 1 cup cooked rice
 1 cup green peas, drained
 1 cup chopped celery
 Mix ingredients together, salt to taste, add mayonnaise or salad dressing as desired. Serve on lettuce leaf.
- SWEET POTATO PUDDING
 (Served as vegetable)
 1 1/2 cups grated sweet potatoes
 1 cup milk
 2 eggs
 Two-thirds cup sugar
 1/4 cup melted butter
 1/4 tsp. salt
 1/4 tsp. nutmeg
 1 tsp. brandy or brandy flavoring
 Measure milk into bowl. Grate potatoes and put into milk as soon as they can be measured to prevent darkening. Beat eggs, add sugar and seasonings then add to potato mixture. Turn into a buttered shallow baking dish, and bake at 350 degrees for about 40 minutes. Stir once or twice during baking.
- CORN PUDDING
 1 can cream style corn
 3 tbsps. sugar
 2 eggs, beaten
 Salt and pepper
 Mix all ingredients and bake in shallow buttered dish in moderate oven until firm in center.
- FROZEN DESSERT
 1 1/2 cup vanilla wafer crumbs
 2 tbsps. baking chocolate
 Two-thirds cup butter
 2 cups powdered sugar
 2 egg yolks, beaten
 1 tsp. vanilla
 1 cup chopped pecans
 2 stiffly beaten egg whites
 1/2 gallon pecan ice cream
 Place one cup vanilla wafer crumbs in bottom of ungreased 9x14-inch pan. Melt baking chocolate and butter, and let cool slightly. Add powdered sugar, egg yolks, vanilla and chopped pecans. Mix well, and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Spread mixture over crumbs in pan. Freeze for two hours, then spread ice cream evenly over chocolate mixture. Sprinkle top with 1/4 cup wafer crumbs. Freeze and cut in blocks to serve.
- GLAZED ORANGE CAKE
 1 cup butter or margarine
 2 cups sugar
 1/2 tsp. vanilla
 2 tbsps. grated orange rind
 5 eggs
 3 cups cake flour
 1 tsp. baking powder
 Pinch salt
 1/2 cup milk
 Butter and flour 10-inch tube pan. Cream butter and sugar,
- Add vanilla and orange rind. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Sift together twice, flour, baking powder and salt. Add to creamed mixture with milk. Beat well and pour into pan. Bake at 350 degrees for about one hour.
- GLAZE
 1/2 cup butter
 Two-thirds cup sugar
 One-third cup orange juice
 Heat ingredients until sugar is dissolved. Pour evenly over cake in pan while cake is still hot. Allow cake to cool thoroughly in the pan before removing. Makes a nice, moist cake.
- CHOCOLATE CHIP BARS
 2 eggs
 1 1/2 cups brown sugar
 Two-thirds cup cooking oil
 1 tsp. vanilla
 1 1/2 cups flour
 1 1/2 tbsps. baking powder
 1 tsp. salt
 1 pkg. chocolate chips, large size
 1/2 cup pecans

Dear Abby

Poor Excuse For A Wife

DEAR ABBY: We have been married for over one year, and I can't remember the last time Eve cooked a hot meal for me. She is so busy with her bridge club, garden club, and book club that she doesn't have time to cook. She comes home at 6 p.m. and serves me a cold meat sandwich with some potato chips on a paper plate, and that is supper!

I give her a generous allowance for groceries, but there is never anything to eat in the house. We have no children yet, so if I get mad enough, I could just pick up and leave. Any suggestions?

EVE'S HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: The next time you're served a cold meat sandwich and potato chips on a paper plate, tell Eve that the "picnic" is over. And also tell her that at one time EVE was the only woman in the world, but times have changed, so she'd better turn over a new leaf.

DEAR ABBY: My son is 23 years old, already has his years in the service behind him, and is now making a good living in a body and fender business in partnership with his brother. I should add that my son has supported himself since the age of 15 and is a very good boy who never gave me any trouble.

He has a girl I'll call Jane. They have gone together for three years and want to get married soon. Jane has just turned 21. The problem is Jane's mother. She won't let Jane get married until my son OWNS a home of his own and has $2,000 in the bank. Abby, my son has a real nice apartment completely furnished and ready for Jane to move into. He has a good car (paid for) and he doesn't owe a cent. They love each other, and I can't see where Jane's mother has any right to put such a big stumbling block in their road. I would like your opinion. THE BOY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: A 21-year-old girl doesn't need her mother's legal consent to marry, so if Jane is willing to wait until the man she marries meets her mother's qualifications, perhaps Jane isn't mature enough to marry anyone yet.

DEAR ABBY: Your recent column on who should say

Hospital Hangs Up Safety Record

The VA Hospital in Big Spring has been designated as having the best safety record of all Texas hospitals completing requirements of the 1967 hospital safety contest.

According to Donald D. Van Meter, hospital director, a total of 451 hospitals throughout the country completed the contest and 102 others participated in phases of it.

The local VA was also recognized for the third consecutive year as a "perfect record" winner and shared this honor with 84 other hospitals of varying sizes throughout the nation for a total of over 86 million injury-free man hours.

The local hospital's last lost-time injury was in September, 1964.

Special Class Planned At VA

The Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital expects by early summer to offer a continuing postgraduate medical education program to its staff and to medical and nursing personnel in the community and area.

Dr. H. C. Ernsting, chief of staff, said that by means of videotape playbacks and guest lecture programs produced by the California Medical Television Network through contract with the VA, 36 selections will be presented annually on a scheduled basis.

Four of these, Ernsting said, will have a guest lecturer for in-depth discussion.

Glasscock Stake

Haney Co., Midland, has staked No. 2 Wraga - Henrickson on an 8,600-foot operation in the Spraberry Trend area of Glasscock County, 13 miles northeast of Midkiff. Drillsite is 660 feet from the north and west lines of section 8-36-4s, T&P survey.

Lions Are Coming With Light Bulbs

Hold out just a few days more — the Lions are coming with their light bulbs. Clyde McMahon Jr. reminded today.

The annual city-wide light bulb sale kicks off Wednesday when Downtown Lions Club members will begin knocking on doors.

As usual, they will be offering a packet of eight light bulbs for $2.

"Big Spring people have been generous in their support of this project over the years," he said, "and we urge their continued backing.

"Remember, when you buy these light bulbs, you may be turning on the light for children and adults who have sight problems. The club provides eye glasses for those who cannot afford them, and sometimes it aids in more complex sight conservation and blind cases."

Another activity financed out of proceeds of this venture is the Texas Lions Crippled Children's camp at Kerrville. Children with handicaps are sent to the camp for two weeks without one penny of cost.

Graham Awarded Enid Scholarship

ENID, Okla. — A 19-year-old senior at Odessa High School has been awarded a $400 merit scholarship to Phillips University here, according to Mrs. Gerard Taylor, director of admissions at the church-related school.

Jonathan Leroy Graham, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Buri M. Graham Jr., Box 125, Coahoma, has been accepted in the freshman class for September, 1968, and plans to major in the ministry. He has been active in band, National Junior Honor Society, church choir, Christian Youth Fellowship president, a cappella choir.

Annual Banquet

STANTON (SC) — The National Honor Society and Math Club of Stanton High School will hold their annual banquet at the Cap Rock Auditorium Friday at 8 p.m. The speaker will be Connie Mack Hood, Midland.

Pioneer Oilman To Be Honored

MIDLAND — Frank T. Pickrell, El Paso, pioneer oil man who was one of the moving spirits in the discovery and development of the famed Big Lake oil field, will be honored at a banquet in Midland Tuesday.

The Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame is sponsoring the affair, said George T. Abell, Midland, general agent.

Mr. and Mrs. Pickrell will be honored with a reception at Midland Country Club, beginning at 6 p.m. The banquet will follow an hour later.

Pickrell, now retired, will be the principal speaker. Houston Harle, veteran San Angelo newspaper publisher and a long-time friend of Pickrell, will introduce the pioneer oilman.

Trustees and executors of the Petroleum Museum will meet at 4:30 p.m. at the First National Bank here prior to the reception and dinner.

Pickrell became involved in the historic Santa Rita No. 1 (University) when he chanced to meet his World War II captain, the late Rupert P. Ricker, Big Spring, in Fort Worth. Ricker had been trying desperately to peddle a spread of over 400,000 acres which he had blocked for oil exploration. Pickrell interested Hayman Krupp, El Paso department store owner, and two years of frustrating operations followed before the accidentally - located well suddenly blew in just before abandonment. It opened up the great Permian Basin.

Understanding Lack Charged By Speaker

The Golden Rule of communications is "speak to and of your neighbor as you would that they would speak to and of you."

This, said Sam McDowell, management consultant, would solve a lot of problems. McDowell addressed the Downtown Lions Club at its meeting Wednesday noon in the Settles.

Most of the difficulties in human relationships, in business and other areas of activity issue from a lack of understanding, he said. Frequently, this results from an inability or a failure to get an idea from one individual's head into another's.

But as vexing as the matter of imprecise expression may be, the biggest problem of all is that people just fail to say anything. When, he asked, is the last time that a man told his wife that he loved her, or

Directors Act Like Tourists

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The 25-member board of directors of the Texas Tourist Council set out like tourists today to tour the fairgrounds of HemisFair.

The group scheduled a 9 a.m. breakfast atop the 622-foot Tower of the Americas and some sightseeing later in the day.

The council is a privately-financed enterprise devoted to promoting visitor travel in Texas. Don Epperson of Austin, executive director of the council, said Wednesday that HemisFair will be a "springboard for future years" in developing the Texas tourist industry.

The committee approved a proposal involving production of some 200 or 300 television tapes featuring Gov. John Connally urging Texans to be polite and helpful to visitors.

FIRST LEG OF THREE-DAY CAMPAIGN Wallace Plans Stops In Texas

By The Associated Press

Third-party presidential candidate George Wallace planned stops in five Texas cities today on the first leg of a three-day campaign jaunt through the state.

The former Alabama governor was to hold airport news conferences at Beaumont-Port Arthur, Lufkin, Tyler and Texarkana, and was to speak at a political rally tonight in Dallas.

PEACE PARADE
Wallace, who is running on the American Party ticket, has scheduled one of his news conferences at the Texas Capitol Friday. A University of Texas peace group has scheduled a parade there the same day.

Other major campaign rallies for the 48-year-old candidate are scheduled at San Antonio Friday at 8:30 p.m. and at Houston Saturday at 8:30 p.m. Friday's agenda includes airport stops at Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Lubbock, Midland and San Antonio. Saturday, Wallace will hold news conferences at airports in Corpus Christi, Victoria and Houston.

Overnight stops were planned in Wichita Falls and Austin.

CITES SUPPORT
Wallace supporters said volunteer workers have been recruited in at least 126 of the state's 254 counties in a drive to get his name on the Nov. general election ballot. About 85 per cent of the state's population is included in those counties where Wallace groups have been formed, supporters said.

Tom Turnipseed, campaign coordinator, said the counties include Gillespie, where President Johnson's LBJ Ranch is located.

Speaking in Texas earlier this year, Turnipseed commented on the growth of the American Party in the state.

"No one we have talked with can recollect such a phenomenal growth of a political organization in Texas. It is further evidence that the average Texan agrees with Wallace that we must have law and order, local control of our schools, our labor unions and our business, and a strong foreign policy," he said.

Wallace has claimed several times that his ideas are basically the same as those of the average Texan.

PRECINCT WOES
Wallace supporters are currently trying to get 14,259 Texans to attend American Party precinct meetings, each stating his affiliation under oath in place on the presidential ballot. Under state law, none of those attending American Party precinct meetings may vote in the Democratic or Republican primaries May 4.

The American Party of Texas opened headquarters in Austin in January and at that time urged Gov. John Connally to ask this year's special legislative session for a law to make it easier for the party to get Wallace's name on the November ballot.

Former state Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston accused the legislature of "enacting a statute with obvious intent to make it more difficult to get the name of George Wallace on the ballot."

14,000 MEMBERS
Moore said that under the law, the American Party must prove it has more than 14,000 members, each stating his affiliation under oath in the presence of a notary public. Moore said the law does not state when the party can start soliciting members, but that members of former Texas Secretary of State John Hill's staff told him that solicitation could not begin until after the June 1 second party primaries. It must be limited to those who voted in neither the Democratic nor Republican primaries, he said.

Moore said the party executive committee had adopted a resolution asking Connally to submit legislation changing this law.

Wallace announced his third party candidacy for president at a news conference last February in Washington.

Unemployment Benefits Up

Figures released by the Texas Employment Commission this week reveal that $11.6 million was paid into the Texas economy through state and federal unemployment insurance payments during the first quarter of 1968.

This is slightly less than the total of $11.9 million paid during the first quarter of 1967, even though monetary payments to claimants were adjusted upward as authorized by the 60th Legislature.

For 1967 minimum benefit payments were $10, for 1968, they are $15. Maximum payments for 1967 were $37, for 1968, they are $45.

Of the statewide total, $31,946 was paid out by the Big Spring office, says TEC manager, Leon M. Kinney.

Of this figure, $18,247 was in Texas unemployment insurance payments, $2,400 was made in interstate payments (paid by other states to claimants residing in Texas). Another $8,684 was in payments to federal employees, and $2,615 was in payments to veterans.

"First quarter totals normally run somewhat higher than the others," Kinney pointed out, "due to after-Christmas layoffs and bad weather."

Says Horse Bets To Net Millions

AUSTIN (AP)—A vote against the pari-mutuel horse racing in Texas on the May 4 referendum will be a vote for higher taxes, a Texas Tourist official said Wednesday.

Texas would get $25 million in direct taxes from horse racing the first year alone, said Arthur A. Seeligson Jr., head of the Committee of Ten Thousand for Tourism.

Seeligson said the 28 states that welcome horse racing got $388 million in taxes from the tracks in 1966.

'Syndicate Of Sound'

The "Syndicate of Sound," a folk-rock group from California, will present a concert in the Big Spring High School auditorium Saturday at 8 p.m. The Big Spring High School choir is sponsoring the program, and proceeds will go to the Danny Johnson tour fund and the Texas Youth Council. Tickets will be available at the door for $1.50 each, according to Kenny Sheppard, choir director. Members of the group are, from left, Don Baskin, Bob Gonzalez, Jim Sawyers and Carl Scott.

Claims Chances Look Good For Breaking Pay Deadlock

WASHINGTON (AP) — The union leader directing the eight-day-old nationwide telephone strike says chances look good for breaking the deadlock in wage talks.

More than 200,000 members of President Joseph A. Beirne's A.F.L.-C.I.O. Communications Workers union are involved in the walkout in about 40 states, but there has been little effect on most telephone service across the country.

WAGE REOPENER
"At this point, I can report definitely that things are looking up," Beirne said Wednesday of continuing informal talks with Bell Telephone System officials.

Beirne said negotiators on both sides now favor abandoning the 18-month wage reopener provision—which set off the first nationwide telephone strike in 21 years—and writing a new three-year agreement.

"Talks have centered on a brand new contractual agreement, to give parties an opportunity to break out of the impasse we had reached prior to the start of the strike," Beirne said in a statement.

The union, before launching the strike of telephone installers, operators, linemen, repairmen, clerks and other workers, rejected a company offer of a 7.5 per cent wage increase over 18 months. The company said at the time the union was demanding 10.5 per cent.

Telephone installers, who set the wage pattern in the industry, averaged $3.27 per hour before the strike and other telephone workers averaged $2.79.

"Chances look good, but there are many knotty problems to resolve," Beirne said of talks with company officials.

Talks originally were confined to wage matters, including pay differentials for various jobs and geographical areas. Discussing a completely new contract adds such matters as pensions, health and life insurance and working conditions to the agenda.

A few hours after Beirne's statement, the Federation of Telephone Workers of Pennsylvania, representing 13,000 employees, went on strike after their new contract negotiations were broken off.

A federal judge in Kentucky threw out a state injunction ordering Bell employees back to work. The union is fighting a similar state injunction in Alabama.

Thousands of Bell workers whose contracts have not expired in those two states and others are refusing to cross picket lines of the union's 23,000-member telephone installers unit, who work in most states. Another 140,000 Bell workers in 15 states where their contracts have expired are also on strike.

'Candy' Helps Sweeten 'Bonanza' Range Plots

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — For eight seasons, the Cartwright family ruled NBC's "Bonanza" range, and then, this year, a football player-turned-actor moved onto the Ponderosa. And David Canary has done so well that he will return next season, rewarded by having at least two shows written around his character of Candy.

Canary, a 29-year-old six-footer with a nose shaped by an over-enthusiastic tackle, on some forgotten five-yard line, is happy to be regularly employed in the long playing, popular series, but quite without personal conceit, figures that he is making his own important contribution to the program.

NEW DIMENSION
"By adding the character of Candy, a whole new dimension has been possible," the actor explained. "He can certainly open the door on some new plot since he is associated with the Cartwrights but not one of them. Stories can be developed around his relationships to them—he can even be in conflict with them—and his relationships with others."

When "Bonanza" was born nine years ago, the father, Ben, had three sons, Adam, Hoss and Little Joe. Before two seasons had passed, there had been stories written with flashbacks that told of Ben's three marriages and the births of the sons from each. After a few seasons on horseback, Pernell Roberts who played Adam, became restless and pulled out of the show. Art Blocker and Michael Landon carried the show. But nine years is a long time, so a little change was welcome.

FOOTBALL OFFERS
Canary, who was born in Indiana and grew up in Ohio, was a voice major at the University of Cincinnati and turned down professional football offers to study voice in New York.

He played in three Broadway shows and got his first TV assignment when he was playing in "The Fantasticks" in Los Angeles. This was a six-month part in "Peyton Place." That, in turn led to the movie, "Hombre." "Bonanza" producer David Dortort looked at the film—he was interested in Cameron Mitchell's performance because he was casting "High Chaparral"—spotted Canary and added him to the cast of the established series.

David's unusual last name is a corruption of "McHéneric," where David was plugging a new record album, going to the theater and visiting people and places they knew during the lean days when, as a newly married couple, they were struggling to make ends meet.

SA Schedules Rummage Sale To Aid Transients

An experiment to turn a surplus in one category to help meet an over-burden in another will be made by the Salvation Army on May 3-4.

Through the generosity of Big Spring people, the post has an abundance of adult clothing in most categories, so much so that it is overflowing storage space.

At the same time, the ministry of helping needy transients, has been running the Salvation Army operations here in the red.

So, the advisory board has authorized the experiment to pare down the surplus inventory on adult clothing in keeping with storage space by staging a rummage sale.

It may be, said Lt. Bart Deggs, in charge of the Salvation Army work here, that residents have clothing which they want to contribute to the sale. If so, he asks that they call the Citadel.

All proceeds from the sale will go to assist the transient program.

Over the past 28 months, the Salvation Army has lodged 8,157 transient individuals, fed 20,664 meals, and the load is increasing. Since January the Citadel has served 3,500 meals and lodged nearly 1,600 people. This would project an annual rate of 14,000 meals and 6,400 lodgings (but the summer months likely will be lighter).

The clothing program here has been a tremendous one, according to the records. During the past 28 months, the Salvation Army has distributed 37,818 items of clothing and 5,315 pairs of shoes. About 10,000 of the clothing items were in the transient aid, 1,300 pairs of shoes. The rest were for local charity purposes.

There is, said Lt. Deggs, still an urgent need for gifts of children's clothing, particularly for those of school age.

Aggie Campaign Chief Appointed

COLLEGE STATION — Alton Marwitz has been appointed 1968 chairman for Texas A&M's annual fund campaign in Big Spring.

A&M former students provide dollars for university programs of excellence not covered by state funds. Since 1942, some $4.1 million has been given by former students for scholarships, fellowships, faculty salary supplementation, building programs and special projects. Last year they gave $386,000.

Plot To Pick Off Leaders Feared

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, who succeeded the slain Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., has raised the question of a possible conspiracy aimed at picking off leaders of the civil rights movement and the Poor People's Campaign.

EVIL FORCES
Abernathy, who launches the Poor People's Campaign next Monday, told newsmen Wednesday that the "forces of evil have sought to defeat our movement and our crusade by killing off our leaders." He enumerated many slain civil rights leaders.

"Now the grave concern at this particular time on my part," he said, "is the fact that there may be a conspiracy taking place in this country to actually defeat our movement, defeat the thrust, by picking off our leaders one by one or three by three, as the case may be."

King was shot to death in Memphis, Tenn., where he was to lead striking garbage workers April 4 in a march. The FBI has charged one man, Missouri prison escapee James Earl Ray, with criminal conspiracy in the slaying but has not named other alleged conspirators.

Since then, all locks have been changed at Southern Christian Leadership Conference offices in Atlanta and an armed guard posted.

Abernathy succeeded King as president of SCLC and now will lead the Washington campaign which seeks federal programs providing jobs or income for the poor and unemployed.

The campaign begins May 1 with a mass meeting in Memphis, followed by the placing of a gold star on the motel balcony where King fell mortally wounded and a three-day march from Memphis to Marks, Miss.

WAGON TRAIN
Marks is one of the poorest areas of the nation, Abernathy said. It will be the starting point for the southern caravan, including a wagon train loaded with poor families pulling out May 6 for the nation's capital.

Abernathy will drive the first nail May 13 in a shantytown in Washington, the location not yet chosen. Meanwhile, participants will be streaming toward Washington from across the nation, with a huge demonstration set May 30.

Abernathy said he did not object to a march by white persons as suggested by the National Urban League's Whitney Young recently. But, Abernathy said, it would be duplication and he invited any one inclined to march to join the SCLC campaign.
