Predicts End Of War Talks Planned

PARIS (AP) — French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville expressed the view today the United States and North Vietnam will hold broad talks in Paris on ending the Vietnam war and not limit their contacts to halting U.S. bombing of the North.

Couve de Murville told the French Cabinet it was his belief that the talks, scheduled tentatively to open Friday, will consist of both preliminary talks and true negotiations. He said there are no plans to change the conference site of the negotiating teams for the two stages.

Couve de Murville's remarks were reported to newsmen by Information Minister Georges Gorse. In Washington, State Department officials cautiously agreed with Couve de Murville's view that North Vietnam and the United States will telescope the first diplomatic contacts and preliminary talks on a Vietnam war settlement into a single phase of the opening negotiations.

However, there was a tendency among officials here to be wary of predicting the actions of the North Vietnamese.

The original design for the negotiations called for three phases — diplomatic contacts, preliminary talks and finally full negotiations.

Talks To Miners

A rescue worker kneels in a low coal mine shaft as he chats with some of the miners trapped in a flooded mine passageway. The 25 men have been trapped since Monday when water poured through a broken wall into the passageway from an adjacent abandoned mine.

Commies To Enter

NEW YORK (AP) — The Communist party of the United States announced Tuesday that it would enter candidates for president and vice president this November for the first time since 1940.

Henry Winston, national party chairman, said the party's candidates would be selected at a special convention during the July 4 weekend.

Unemployment Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nation's unemployment rate dropped to 3.5 per cent of the nation's labor force last month, matching a record 15-year low point.

But the jobless rate for Negroes at 6.7 per cent remained more than double the rate for white workers, which was 3.1 per cent, and was even worse in the slums of the nation's 100 largest cities, the Labor Department said today.

Causes No Change

AUSTIN (AP) — The American party's apparent rejection of liquor — by — the — drink does not look as if it will change the statewide results favoring the proposal, the party's state headquarters said Tuesday.

The party's preliminary count on liquor-by-the-drink showed 32,130 votes against and 28,458 for, with about 35,000 votes still to be counted.

The combined Democratic and Republican party primary results showed a margin of about 40,000 votes favoring the issue.

American party voters also disapproved the other two opinion polls, voting 31,887 to 26,759 against horse race betting and 60,739 to 10,240 against a milk price fixing commission. Democrats and Republicans also rejected those proposals.

An American party spokesman said the total party vote would be about 95,000 — far more than enough to get former Alabama Gov. George Wallace's name on the Texas November ballot as a third party candidate for president.

Wallace needed 14,350 signatures of voters who did not take part in the Democratic or Republican primaries in order to get on the November ballot.

Indiana Highlights

By The Associated Press

THE FINISH: Democratic presidential — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., 42 per cent; Gov. Roger D. Branigan 31 per cent, and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., 27 per cent.

Republican presidential — Richard M. Nixon, unopposed.

Congressional nominations — All incumbents re-nominated, except Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., who did not seek re-election.

Also nominated were candidates for county and legislative offices.

DELEGATE OUTLOOK:

Kennedy assured a majority of the 63 Democratic National Convention votes apportioned when delegates are chosen at the state convention June 21. Branigan could capture some votes through his pluralities in at least two congressional districts.

Nixon assured the 26 Republican National Convention votes.

VOTE TURNOUT:

Indiana has no party registration figures, but about 2.6 million persons were eligible to vote in the last general election. More than 125 million voted Tuesday.

Bobby Wins Test, Denied By Rivals

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has proved his potency at the polls with victory in the first test of his White House campaign, but his rivals for the Democratic nomination denied today there were any clear winners or real losers in the Indiana primary.

The New York senator preserved the family record of election day invincibility by capturing 42 per cent of Tuesday's Indiana vote, and said it gave his campaign impetus for the primary races ahead.

SECOND

Gov. Roger D. Branigan, the salty, tough-talking favorite son who claimed neutrality but leaned toward Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, ran second with 31 per cent of the vote; Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy ranked third.

But McCarthy insisted he was not distressed at his 27 per cent showing, claimed he is the real front-runner in the fight for the nomination, and said he would do battle another election day.

That day won't be long in coming, for he meets Kennedy again next Tuesday in Nebraska.

Kennedy's prize in delegate strength in Indiana remains uncertain. The Democratic State Committee is yet to apportion the 63 votes. It could give them all to Kennedy as the statewide winner or it could apportion some or all on the basis of congressional districts, which could mean Branigan would have some. Either way, the primary is binding only on the first ballot at the National Convention.

In a two-man race with Kennedy, McCarthy claimed, many of the Branigan votes would have gone to him.

"I'm very, very pleased," Kennedy said. "I thought I'd have a difficult time doing well here." He said he came to Indiana against the advice of professional politicians to tackle a popular governor they rated unbeatable.

"To come in here under these circumstances, to be able to do this well is very encouraging," McCarthy said.

McCarthy, Branigan forces and promoters of the Humphrey campaign all said that Kennedy's was a minority victory.

Kennedy smiled. "I think it's better to win than to come in second or third," he said.

And by winning, he kept intact the chain of family election victories begun by his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy, and shared by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

With 4,422 of 4,461 precincts counted, and a record high vote cast, this was the Democratic lineup: Kennedy 320,485 votes, Branigan 234,312, McCarthy 209,165.

And so Indiana proved a preface to the contests to come, elections in Nebraska in Oregon on May 28, and in California and South Dakota on June 4.

Richard M. Nixon won the Republican primary in Indiana when the first ballot was cast, for he was uncontested and, write-in votes were not counted. That gave Nixon 26 Republican nominating votes.

It also gave him the outpouring of Republican votes he sought to prove his popularity. Nixon has said he could face tougher races in Nebraska and Oregon, where California Gov. Ronald Reagan is on the ballots. His only announced rival for the nomination, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, is not running in any primaries.

In Indiana, Nixon polled 501,149 votes in 4,363 precincts. That far surpasses the 408,408 ballots he won in a race against token opposition here eight years ago.

There were 63 Democratic nominating votes at stake in the primary. But their apportionment has not yet been determined. Most of them must go to Kennedy on the first ballot at the Democratic National Convention.

But the state Democratic Central Committee, controlled by the Branigan organization, is likely to decide that a share of the delegation should be doled out on the basis of congressional districts.

That would give Branigan control of some of the votes since he carried two congressional districts.

NEGRO AREAS

Kennedy scored heavily in Negro neighborhoods, concentrated in Gary and Indianapolis. Kennedy did, in fact, draw support across the state, in the farmlands as well as in the cities. He apparently carried at least two-thirds of the 92 counties.

LEAVE THURSDAY

Fresh Attacks Threaten Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. delegation is set for Paris peace contacts with Hanoi negotiators but in Washington officials expressed concern that what they termed accelerated North Vietnamese military activity could force American retaliation.

The six-member American diplomatic team, headed by Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman, is to leave for Paris Thursday. North Vietnam's delegation began arriving there Tuesday.

OPTIMISTIC

Ha Van Jao, adviser to chief Hanoi negotiator Xuan Thuy, said he is optimistic about prospects but did not elaborate.

Despite the approach of preliminary talks, U.S. officials said, record levels of troop infiltration from the North into South Vietnam have been noted.

These officials also said they are concerned about a new wave of enemy attacks on Saigon and other South Vietnamese cities.

Accompanying Harriman to Paris will be: Cyrus R. Vance, former deputy secretary of defense; Lt. Gen. Andrew Goodpaster, under assignment as deputy U.S. military commander in Vietnam; Philip C. Mabib, Asian expert in the State Department; William Jordan, aide to presidential adviser Walt W. Rostow; and Daniel I. Davidson, special assistant to Harriman.

GOING EARLY

Sargent Shriver, just sworn in as American ambassador to Paris, is hurrying to his new post a few days ahead of schedule in order to be on hand for the peace contacts.

Up to last Sunday, according to reports from Saigon, an estimated 100,000 Communist troops have entered South Vietnam since late January—more than 6,500 of them in the first five days of this month. Meanwhile, there have been no U.S. reinforcements, officials said.

Students To Surrender When Officials Arrive

CHEYNEY, Pa. (AP) — Cheyney State College students said they were ready to surrender today the school's administration building as soon as state investigators arrive for hearings on their grievances.

An end to the student demonstration was indicated Tuesday night after David H. Kurtzman, state superintendent of public instruction, had met most of the day with committees of the protesting students, of the faculty and of parents.

Kurtzman said he had promised the students and their parents that state officials would be on the campus to go over student financial accounts, to check courses in the curriculum and to determine whether complaints that some subjects are not offered frequently enough to permit graduation within four years are valid.

Some 400 of Cheyney's 1,800 students seized the administration building Monday and barricaded the entrances.

The demonstration was touched off by student demands for "better curriculum, a better faculty and a better system of finances" at this predominantly Negro institution 25 miles south of Philadelphia.

ENEMY DEAD PLACED AT 2,002

Saigon Fighting Continues

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 2,002 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers have been killed in the past three days of heavy fighting in and around Saigon. But despite his heavy losses, the enemy battled on for the fourth day in streets on the capital's western edge.

The government put a 24-hour curfew on the western half of Saigon to aid its forces.

In comparison with the 2,002 enemy killed, the U.S. Command said allied casualties in the first three days of the new wave of attacks on Saigon totaled 211 killed and 931 wounded — 30 Americans killed and 323 wounded, 181 South Vietnamese killed and 608 wounded.

The U.S. Embassy said 41 South Vietnamese civilians had been killed and 1,309 wounded. The government put the number of killed at 141 civilians with 1,230 wounded. The mayor's office estimated 29,000 persons had been driven from their homes by the fighting.

"There isn't much going on today," a senior U.S. officer said. "The key is whether the enemy will be able to reinforce and they don't seem to be able to. As far as the major threat from the west, it doesn't seem to be developing. It looks as if it is petering out, but it's a little early to say officially."

HOLDING OUT

Refugees from the western section said the Viet Cong were digging bunkers in the rubble of burned-out homes, apparently determined to hold out to the end.

U.S. helicopter gunships slammed rockets into the enemy positions on the western edge of the city, while farther to the west fight-bombers pounded enemy infiltration routes.

"Contacts throughout the Saigon area have been light and scattered today, with minimal contact in Saigon itself," the U.S. Command reported.

While eastern Saigon remained under a 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. curfew, the government said it ordered the round-the-clock curfew in the western section "to prevent Viet Cong infiltration."

One enemy 100-pound rocket hit the heart of Saigon, killing a civilian and wounding five, while 14 landed at Tan Son Nhut air base, on the northwest edge of the city.

A U.S. spokesman said three American servicemen were wounded at the base and damage was light. Other sources said five South Vietnamese also were wounded.

INFLUENCING TALKS

Military sources believe the Viet Cong intends to keep up their shelling and street fighting in Saigon in an attempt to influence the U.S.-North Vietnamese preliminary peace talks expected to open Friday in Paris.

In a show of force Sunday, the enemy bombarded more than 100 towns and allied military installations and opened the new assault on Saigon, which was shaken by widespread street fighting in the Viet Cong's lunar new year offensive in February.

There also had been heavy fighting in recent days below the demilitarized zone, but U.S. communiques today reported little significant ground action outside the Saigon area.

Accused Bomber Held In Juarez

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Freddie Lee McKenzie, 27, charged in the fire bomb death of eight persons in Fort Worth, Tex., is being held in jail here today.

He was arrested Tuesday by municipal police when he returned to a Juarez hotel where he was registered as Lonnie Smith.

McKenzie is accused of throwing gasoline into a Fort Worth night club called "The Grave" late Sunday, then igniting it. Eight persons died of smoke inhalation when trapped in a back room.

SOLDIER'S TIP

Mexican and El Paso police got on McKenzie's trail after a tip from a Ft. Bliss soldier and some help from an Associated Press Wirephoto.

The soldier, Robert Meinert, told El Paso police that McKenzie picked him up as he was hitchhiking toward El Paso Monday. He said the two men registered in a Juarez hotel and McKenzie gave him the keys and title to a 1962 Pontiac.

Meinert said he was unable to locate McKenzie Tuesday morning and added he thought the car might be stolen. He came to El Paso police and told them his story.

A check of records revealed the car belong to McKenzie and that he was wanted in Fort Worth.

Neither El Paso or Juarez police had a picture of McKenzie, so they contacted El Paso Times police reporter Bruce Bissonette to see if his paper had received an AP Wirephoto.

The Times had received a picture Monday night and the newspaper gave it to police who went to the hotel where McKenzie was supposed to be registered. The clerk identified a man registered at the hotel from the picture but said he was out.

Juarez police staked out the hotel. When McKenzie approached the hotel a few minutes later he was arrested.

QUIZZED

McKenzie was questioned by El Paso and Juarez police after his arrest. Mexican authorities said it might be Thursday before the necessary paper work could be completed and McKenzie returned to Texas.

A Fort Worth homicide investigator, Loyd LeFills, said McKenzie may be the man who left the club after an argument with a waitress Sunday. LeFills said a man fitting McKenzie's description purchased gasoline from a service station about 30 minutes before the fire.

TOUGHER ATTITUDE APPEARS NATIONWIDE

Taxpayers Stiffen Against New Issues

EDITOR'S NOTE: A recent survey by members of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association brought from many parts of the country reports of growing voter resentment against increasing tax burdens. This article answers the question: Is a taxpayer revolt brewing? It is the last of the current series of reports based on the APME survey.

By GEORGE TAYLOR
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—There are signs all across the land that the American taxpayer is becoming increasingly unwilling to vote "yes" on bond issues and school budgets that mean higher taxes for him.

There is a stiffening on the part of taxpayers to bond issues," says Henry Olson, Wisconsin assistant state school superintendent.

REJECTION

"The trend is more for rejection of issues than in the past," he says. "It's caused by a general feeling that taxes are too high."

Olson was one of scores of state, civic and school officials questioned in a nationwide survey by The Associated Press to determine the depth of taxpayers' feelings.

The survey found many examples of a tougher taxpayer attitude.

For instance:

—The school district covering Grosse Pointe, Mich., near Detroit, one of the nation's most affluent suburbs, rejected three tax increases by a 2-1 vote in February. It was the first time the district had turned down a bond issue or tax increase in 19 years.

—In New York State, voters in 57 school districts rejected proposed 1967-68 school budgets last May, so disturbing state officials that they commissioned a study of the reasons.

TURNED DOWN

—Well over half of local spending proposals submitted to California voters are turned down "and the percentage is rising every year," says a spokesman for a taxpayers group there. However, a state-wide $30-million higher education bond issue won in 1966.

REASONS

The study fixed two reasons for the defeats: "high taxes and lack of a general state aid increase." The report said resentment over the lack of more state aid was an important factor, particularly in the suburbs around New York City but "the tax rate was important everywhere."

Asa A. Gordon, Maine school administrative services director, says "there's been a lot stronger taxpayer resistances to taxpayer groups opposed to increases in 19 Kansas counties have joined in the Kansas taxpayers Federation.

—Two elections were required to win approval of a record Kansas City, Mo., school budget.

—The Oregon State Department of Education said that last year far more school budgets were turned down the first time than ever before. The same is expected this spring.

—A record 145 school budgets for the 1966-67 school year were rejected in New Jersey. The previous high was 103 in 1965.

—Six Florida counties refused to vote any school levies in 1967 and 15 others approved a rate lower than state officials sought—actions described as "a disaster" by School Supt. Floyd Christian.

U.S. Office of Education figures indicate a growing voter disenchantment with higher school outlays. In the 1966-67 year, 69.2 per cent of school bond issues passed, $2.1 billion of $3.1 billion, down from the previous year's 74.5 per cent.

10 YEARS

In 10 years, school bond issues have averaged 72.7 per cent approval, the Office of Education said.

Some states report little or no signs of a tougher voter attitude. Among these are Utah, Idaho, Mississippi, Iowa and Louisiana.

In New York, too, where school budgets took a beating, voters endorsed a $2.5-billion transportation bond issue—the largest single bond authorization approved by any state. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller stamped the state in support.

Local issues and personalities helped shape the outcome of some spending proposals. But one issue figured in virtually all the rejections—higher taxes.

George Eddington, assistant to the Grosse Pointe, Mich., school superintendent, blamed "general resistance to taxation" for Grosse Pointe's school levy rejection this year.

The New York study probed for the causes of the school budget defeats.

LIMITS

Two Oregon groups of property taxpayers are seeking to fix limits on property taxes for schools through November ballot proposals.

In South Carolina, Dr. Carlos Gibbons, president of the South Carolina Education Association, said "many schools have had to prepare budgets on a conservative basis."

Research Director Lloyd Mar-

kell of the Montana Education Association sees "an increasing indication of voter resistance to school bond issues. But I'm not certain the result shows the true voter attitude—just the fact they haven't sold the public on the necessity of these things."

"The trend over the past two years has been to reject bond issues, for the first time in Alaska's history," says Don Berry, executive director of the Alaska Municipal League.

Two key bond issues lost in Arizona last year. Scottsdale, a Phoenix suburb which has grown into Arizona's third largest city in the past 10 years, and votes Republican, rejected a $13-million school bond issue by a 4-1 margin.

Yuma, which has been an Arizona city since territorial days and votes Democratic, knocked down a $1.75-million school bond issue by a 1,266-892 vote.

North Little Rock, Ark., voters rejected a school tax increase in 1966 despite a warning that the school system faced loss of accreditation. The school system was placed on probation and last year voters approved an increase double the 1966 proposal.

NO TROUBLE

W. E. Easterling, executive secretary of the North Carolina Local Government Commission, says where proposed bonds are for new schools because of overcrowding "there is no trouble getting bonds passed."

But where the bonds are for new buildings resulting from school consolidations, voters are more apt to disapprove, he says.

Some school areas split fringe items, such as swimming pools, from main bond proposals to avoid jeopardizing the entire plan.

In Seattle, a $385-million rapid transit system proposal was defeated.

Choir Members Praised For Exemplary Behavior

To the Editor:

It was my privilege last week to accompany the Big Spring High School A Cappella Choir on their annual tour. This was a marvelous experience for me because I have never traveled in the capacity as a sponsor when the group I was with was so completely well behaved. Everywhere we went—restaurants, motels, churches and the Buccaneer Festival—people observing our students complimented their exceptionally good behavior.

We seem to have an abundance of information available to us concerning the bad things that our young people do, and I just wanted to take this opportunity to say that four other sponsors and I watched this group of young people in action for four days and were extremely proud of them at all times! I am sure that the people we met while we were gone will have good things to say about Big Spring, Texas, because of the good image left by these twenty-seven fine young people!

Juveniles Tear Up Testing Bridge

A federal government water flow testing bridge near Channing Street has been partially demolished by juveniles.

Juan Torrez, 1700 Channing, told officers Tuesday that he had seen a Latin-American youth, about 17, and another boy, about 17, destroying the bridge. Officers said the U.S. Corps of Engineers has been notified.

R. E. I. Martin, 1403 W. 1st, told officers a homemade pickup camper valued at $60 had been taken from 801 W. 3rd.

Mrs. Maria Rodriguez, 501 N.E. 9th, reported the theft of two bedsprings, six pants, six shirts and five pairs of socks from her dryer at the Nichols Laundry, 209 NW 2nd.

Sam Smelser, 405 Hillside, told police a car stereo and one tape was taken from his car while it was parked at Gibson's Discount Center, 2303 Gregg.

Martin To Head C-City VFW Post

COLORADO CITY — Felix Martin, Colorado City farmer, has been elected as commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Colorado City. He will replace outgoing Commander Don Delaney.

Other officers are: Clay Mann Smith, senior vice commander; Clyde Cooley, junior vice commander; Arthur Millsap, quartermaster; Horace Pace, judge advocate; Don Delaney, chaplain; E. E. Jones, surgeon; Jay Lynch, trustee; and Clay Smith and Warren Goode, directors.

Winner

Robert Margolis, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Margolis, won first place in the world history division in a West Texas regional competition of high school history students at Sul Ross College in Alpine. Sophomores competed in this division, juniors in American history and seniors in government. Robert is a member of the band and Latin Club and was in debate until a conflict in schedules caused him to drop this activity. He hopes to be a doctor, like his father.

The tree was actually a three-foot elm which had somehow taken root and grown from a drainpipe 70 feet up on the Central United Presbyterian Church. Firemen rolled out the ladder truck and chopped down the holy sprout.

Papers Stolen From President

NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia University has threatened legal and disciplinary action against anyone who repeats or publishes the contents of documents it says were stolen from the president's office in the recent student uprising.

A telegram signed by President Grayson Kirk and David B. Truman, university vice president and provost, was delivered Tuesday night to leaders of the student strike. It demanded immediate return of the documents.

Cries of "tear it up!" greeted the reading of the telegram at an assembly of about 600 students. During the meeting papers purporting to be copies of Kirk's documents were circulated.

The strikers continued their activities all over the Ivy League campus Tuesday. Pickets forced classes to meet in off-campus apartments, on the tree-shaded lawns and in at least one nearby bar.

Red balloons with the word "Strike" blossomed over the upper Manhattan campus as the activists continued to protest last week's removal by 1,000 police of students from five occupied buildings.

A member fact-finding committee opened an inquiry into the causes of the student unrest which has shaken the campus since April 23 but at least two new witnesses failed to appear.

Representatives of the radical Students for a Democratic Society and the Student Afro American Society did not respond to the invitations of panel chairman Archibald Cox, a former U.S. solicitor general.

Honesty Pays

DALLAS (AP) — Mrs. Gary Kiley, who recently moved to Dallas from California, is convinced there are some honest people around.

A faulty catch on her purse tripped open as she ran in a rainstorm and her billfold fell to the sidewalk—but she didn't discover the loss until later.

She placed an ad in one of the local newspapers without much hope of success. But the finder of the wallet read the ad and returned it. He earned a $10 reward.

Dear Abby

One-Sided Love

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating a 29-year-old man for the last eight months. I am 22. He's nice looking, well-mannered and can afford to show a girl a good time. He has bought me some rather expensive gifts (a stereo for Christmas and a color TV for my birthday.) He tried to give me a diamond for St. Valentine's day, but I wouldn't accept it.

I just don't love him and he knows it, but he says he's desperately in love with me. I never tried to lead him on. I told him from the beginning that I didn't love him and didn't think I ever could. I've even asked him to quit calling me, but he calls anyway, and if I have nothing better to do, I go out with him.

I have acted bored in his company, and been rude to him, but he can't be discouraged. A ny suggestions? TOO HONEST

DEAR TOO: If you really don't see any future with this man, don't go out with him again because the more you see of him, and the more you accept from him, the harder it will be to get rid of him. He plans to "wear you down." And if he succeeds, you'll both be sorry. A one-sided "love" doesn't last long.

DEAR ABBY: I am 31, have been self-supporting since I was 18, am well-groomed and have lots of friends. But in spite of my jolly disposition and happy smile, I am very unhappy. You see, I am one of those big-boned women who could diet herself down to nothing, but I would still be big.

I know I am fat, but I am naturally so large that if I were to lose any weight it would show in my face and neck, and I would rather be a little on the plump side than haggard and wrinkled.

This letter is a plea for more consideration on the part of those who make fat women the butt of their jokes. We have feelings, too, and although we are good sports on the surface, we are crying on the inside. I want love and companionship like any other normal woman, but it's hopeless. Men don't want fat women. Yet, no woman ever turned a man down because he was fat.

Don't tell me to go on a diet. No matter how much weight I lost, I would still be

BIG, AND HATING IT
DEAR BIG: Alas, all men (and women) were not created equal. And that goes for the oversized as well as the undersized. Don't try to rationalize your excess poundage by saying you "need" it to go with your "big-boned" frame. A "big-boned" woman only accentuates her size by being fat as well. Get a sensible diet from a doctor and stick with it. Plenty of "big" women are enjoying the love and companionship of big men. And some "little" men have shown their true "bigness" by marrying a bigger woman.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to "Lonely in Atlanta," there is an answer to loneliness. I know, because four years ago I was in the same boat. I sat around feeling sorry for myself. I did my share of grumbling, too, then it dawned on me, nobody cared to be around a dripping faucet. So, I dried my tears, washed my hair, polished my nails, dressed in my prettiest dress and went out into the world to see who needed me.

Well, to make a long story short, there were plenty of less fortunate people than I, who needed ME. First I contacted the local Red Cross to find what could be done and what I was qualified to do. I then became interested in Hospital Volunteers Service, now, I am so busy in one of the local hospitals, I haven't needed a handkerchief in months. "FORMERLY LONELY" IN ATLANTA

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to make sure you find out what others desire from you and help them to get such, as well as deciding where they fit into your picture, and in letting them know what you would like to have. All the various items of a cooperative nature should be discussed between them and you now. Then read record follows.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Associates cooperate with you more now than they have in the past, and very willingly since they understand your aims. Show your value having them. Out to dinner together for a little celebration.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Make the improvements necessary to your home so that you will be happier, more comfortable, as well as making others more so. Co-workers will gladly assist you. Show that you have good ideas, good taste, are practical.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal day to plan the kind of amusements you most want in the days ahead. Call your work partners in a good day's work. Show more in P.M. a particularly good time at the right place, be generous.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make those changes at home that will brighten the atmosphere, make you feel much happier in the days ahead. You can go ahead with the right new outlets that you have planned.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Contact regular partners early and discuss your plans in a most cooperative way. Get very practical way. Be complimentary with co-workers and get much done.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Add to your income so that you can make those improvements to home, etc., that are necessary. Make them more valuable as well as charming. You can find just the right ideas for improving all, having a greater abundance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) You are charming and attractive and can now operate in an elegant fashion so that you become very much more popular. Make new contacts socially who can be helpful to you in the days ahead.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Ideal time for investigating whatever has been puzzling to you for some time, and you get the right answer. Out to the romantic later that can be quite successful now that you have a charming manner.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Talk over with pals who are willing to do to assist you in your cherished aims, and be sure to do something to help them as well. Some interesting invitation is extended to you. Accept.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Showing others that you are an A-1 citizen can impress big-wigs favorably and make your reputation soar. You have a better method of operating now, so get busy. Improve both credit and profession.

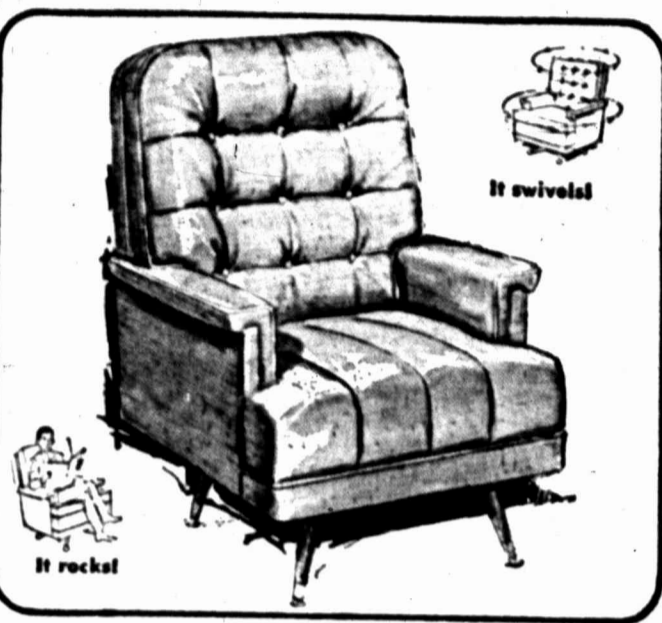

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Showing that you appreciate the contacts that have recently come into your life, gets you many new benefits in the ahead. Coordinating your energies with persons of varied backgrounds can now produce fine results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) If you hurry and get your work done early, you will have plenty of time for happy activities later on. You know exactly how to handle all of your affairs intelligently now. Get busy and do so.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow he, or she, will be one of those magnetic and charming young people that others will want to spoil, so teach early that whatever is honestly earned is best enjoyed in life. There is great ability where the artistic and the cultural are concerned, so start the education along such lines. Be sure to give spiritual training early.

Chief Hospital Corpsman Arnold Uffle, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon N. Uffle, 105 NE 8th, Big Spring, is serving with the second Battalion, seventh Marine Regiment in Vietnam. His battalion, a unit of the First Marine Division, conducts large scale search and destroy operations against the enemy. Marines of the battalion also participate in company and platoon size sweeps against the enemy.

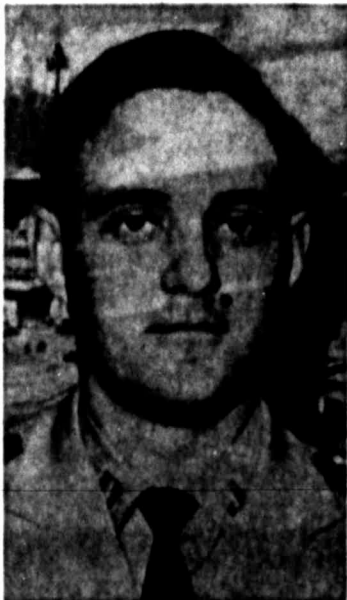

RONNIE JENKINS

Spec 4 Ronnie Jenkins, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Jenkins, Stanton, is home on a 45-day leave after a year's tour in Vietnam.

While there, Jenkins was attached to the 2nd Battalion, 20th Artillery of the 54th Group Artillery. For the past four months, he was assigned to the 101st Airborne Division and saw action in the Mekong Delta, Iron Triangle and the Demilitarized Zone.

He will report to Ft. Hood after his leave.

Quick action and imaginative thinking has earned a Big Spring native, Lt. Ivan Wayne Williams, the Navy Commendation Medal for meritorious service while serving in Vietnam.

LT. I. W. WILLIAMS

Lt. Williams, the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Burnett, 108 Circle, is credited with saving the life of a downed Navy pilot during action which took place in the South China Sea off the coast of Vietnam in July.

He returned to his home in November and is now a reservist attached to anti-submarine patrol squadron VP 702 at the Dallas Naval Air Station.

He and his wife, the former Lillian Burnett of Big Spring, now make their home in Dallas, where he is employed by Frontier Airlines as a first officer. Lt. Williams is a 1960 graduate of Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College for two years. He entered the Navy at Albuquerque, N.M., in 1962, and received his commission and pilot's wings in May, 1964, at Corpus Christi.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Williams, now reside in Mincola.

Army Private Terry D. Kinman, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terrell J. Kinman, 1100 N. Main St., Big Spring, Tex., completed a cooking course April 19, at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz. During the eight-week course, he was trained in meat cutting plus cake and pastry baking. He also learned how to prepare and serve food in Army mess halls and in the field.

Uranium Deposits Found On Plain

Amarillo Minerals Inc. today announced that it has explored by drilling about five per cent of approximately 100,000 acres of leases in the Texas coastal plain area owned either wholly by Amarillo Minerals or jointly with Continental Oil Co.

Four uranium deposits have been outlined, the total of which contain a sufficient amount of recoverable ore to supply a mill. Detailed marketing, economic and engineering studies are under way to determine the feasibility of constructing a mill.

Exploratory efforts in the general areas are being increased. No definite plans have yet been made, as to an exploratory effort in connection with acreage held by Amarillo Minerals in Wyoming.

Cotton Guessing Champ Selected

MEMPHIS, Tex. (AP) — Jim Reeves of Memphis is the cotton guessing champion of Hall county.

Reeves came within one bale of guessing the county's 1967 cotton production in a contest sponsored by the Memphis Democrat. Reeves' guess was 43,367 bales, just one short of the actual total.

Generally speaking, where there are two lines of play available for the fulfillment of a contract, that one should be selected which offers the better prospect of success even though it involves going down additional tricks if it fails. An exception may be noted in cases where the possible loss is apt to be out of all proportion to the gain.

Take for example, the situation where you find yourself in a contract of three no trump, redoubled and vulnerable. You can run off with eight tricks and resign yourself to a loss of 400 points. But the contract can be fulfilled if a finesse succeeds. If, however, the finesse fails you will be down four, for a loss of 2,200 points. Should you risk the finesse? Unless you have good reason to believe it will work, it is a bad gamble, because you stand to lose considerably more than you stand to gain. But where a contract has not been doubled, every effort should be made to bring it home, even at a slightly greater loss. Observe this case.

Against South's four spade contract, West opened the jack of hearts which was taken by declarer's king. The latter immediately led the king of trumps and with it, threw away the hand. The heart ace was driven out and the defense took one trick in each suit.

Declarer had pinned all of his hopes on finding West with specifically the king and one other diamond, a remote holding. He should have seen that his best chance to make the hand was to find East with the jack of clubs — an even gamble.

After winning the first trick, a club should be led to the queen. The ace will win and a heart will come back. This is won and the dummy should be entered with the ace of diamonds. It is not good strategy to take the finesse because even if it wins, it is almost certain that a diamond trick will have to be lost anyhow.

The eight of clubs is led and the ten finessed. When this holds the trick dummy can shed one of its hearts on the king of clubs. It is true if it loses declarer will go down one more trick, but what is 100 points compared to the increased chance of making game.

First Volunteer Signs For Revised Knott Blood Bank

Knott Updates Its Walking Blood Bank

KNOTT — Knott is revising and updating its Walking Blood Bank file and hopes after Thursday night to have at least 300 names on the list of potential blood donors.

Mrs. Cecilia Allred, who operates the blood bank, explained that the current file lacks a considerable number of names of being complete.

"We want all residents of our community to sign up," she said. "This means not only those who can give blood, if it is needed, but also those who possibly may need blood. That's why we extended the age bracket from 16 through 65."

The Knott Community Improvement Club is the sponsor of the bank.

The plan calls for a meeting of the club at the Community Club house at 7 p.m. Thursday.

All Knott residents—augmented by the Ackerly Lions Club members and about 72 teenage boys from Sands High School—are to attend.

Charles Carter, M. T., chief laboratory technician from Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital and his assistant, Mrs. Bruce Allen, M. T., will be on hand with their equipment.

Each person's blood type will be determined. The information will be recorded on filing cards, along with other pertinent data. These file cards, when the entire revision of the files has been completed, will be placed in the care of Mrs. Allred.

At any time blood donors are needed, the hospital or a doctor can contact Mrs. Allred. She will be told the quantity of blood and the type needed.

In a matter of minutes she can be on the phone calling volunteers from her list and asking them to report to the hospital.

The blood bank was established two years ago and contains about 200 names.

L. E. Smith, president of the Knott Community Improvement Club, pointed out that there have been a number of new families moved into the area. These people, he said, should be included in the file list.

Mrs. Allred added that it is as important for someone who may need blood to be in her files as for people who will give blood.

"Suppose we have a person," she said, "who has to have blood. We have his name, his blood type right at hand. It can be most important to save as much time as possible in an emergency."

The Ackerly Lions Club formerly had its own walking blood bank but the operation has lagged and the club has agreed to join with Knott in the program. All teenage boys from Sands have also been invited to take part.

Knott recently was awarded the Texas Electric Service company first prize for its community improvement program. One of the activities which gave the club additional points was its blood bank.

Earlier this year, the bank had a chance to show how effective it could be. A young man in the community, gravely hurt in a car accident, needed a large quantity of blood. The Knott Blood Bank got into action and the blood was quickly provided. The doctors credited the bank with saving the youth's life, it was reported.

Nationalists Gain In Scotland

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — The Scottish Nationalist party scored sweeping gains in results today from Scottish local elections, ending the Labor party's control of the city councils in Glasgow, Aberdeen and Paisley.

A Nationalist spokesman claimed 86 seats on municipal councils and predicted a total of more than 100 when all results from Tuesday's vote are in.

Local elections are taking place all this week in Britain with the Conservatives gaining steadily so far as expected. The biggest vote comes Thursday when London and most of England and Wales vote.

Fish Pond Profit

AUSTIN (AP) — The habit of tossing coins in anything that looks like a wishing well apparently is responsible for making the state $57.62 richer.

Howard Lee of the Parks and Wildlife Department said the money, mostly nickels, dimes and pennies, was retrieved from the fish pond exhibit in the lobby of a state office building.

As soon as the money is dried out, it is turned over to the state Treasury.

Claim Control

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung's forces claimed control today of Chengtu, the strife-racked capital of Szechuan Province, but left in doubt the control of the whole province.

Chengtu, the cultural, political and economic capital of southwest China, has been torn by bloody clashes between the Maoists and supporters of President Liu Shao-chi as well as between rival Maoist factions.

Retaliation

LONDON (AP) — British newspapers called today for strong retaliation to the Franco government's new ban on tourist traffic between Spain and Gibraltar.

Commonwealth Secretary George Thomson told the House of Commons Tuesday that "no matter what pressures and provocations Spain engages in, Britain will not abandon the people of Gibraltar." Thomson announced no retaliatory measures, however.

The colony's residents voted 99 per cent in favor of remaining British last September, but Spain is persisting in its campaign to regain the 2½-square-mile rock, which it ceded to Britain in 1713.

Findley Wants Hearings On Wheeler's Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Illinois Republican says hearings should be held before Congress decides whether Gen. Earle G. Wheeler's term as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff should be extended.

Rep. Paul Findley said the House Armed Services Committee should find out whether Wheeler favors what Findley termed a policy of gradualism in Vietnam. He said that during Wheeler's chairmanship of the Joint Chiefs, the size of the U.S. force in Vietnam has grown from 20,000 men to more than 500,000 without ending the war.

Opposing Findley's stand, Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the Armed Services Committee urged the House to pass a bill extending the general's term for one year. Rivers said that while he could not explain Wheeler's views on war policy, he never saw a soldier who did not "want to win the battle once he is in it."

But Findley's move automatically means the bill will have to go through the regular parliamentary routine—including hearings.

Auto Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House approved a two-year governmental study of the auto insurance industry.

The Department of Transportation will conduct the $2 million probe under a proposal by President Johnson. The Senate has approved legislation authorizing an 18-month study.

Prime subjects of the study will be the insurance companies' policies regarding rates and cancellation of policies.

Capitol Footnotes

President George Meany of the AFL-CIO has endorsed a $4 billion federal program to create one million public service jobs for the hard-core unemployed. But the chief sponsor of the bill, Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., said he doesn't plan to seek action on the measure this year. The comments came at a hearing of the House Labor subcommittee.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey presented the Robert J. Collier Trophy for achievement in astronautics to the team behind the successful Surveyor Lunar Study Program, which includes scientists from Hughes Aircraft Co., the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif., and several other firms and organizations.

FIVE PRIMARIES STAGED ACROSS THE NATION

Kennedy Wins, Nixon Impressive, Ohioan Loses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two victories by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, an impressive showing by Richard M. Nixon and the defeat of veteran Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, highlighted five primaries across the nation.

Kennedy defeated Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in Indiana's Democratic presidential primary and his national convention delegate slate beat Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's in the District of Columbia.

Republican candidate Nixon was unopposed and got an even bigger Indiana vote than in the 1960 primary. He carried the state in the 1960 general presidential election.

Lausche was defeated by Cincinnati City Councilman John J. Gilligan, a former congressman who had labor support and the Ohio Democratic organization endorsement.

In Tuesday's primary voting: —Kennedy got about 42 per cent of the Indiana vote to about 31 per cent for favorite-son candidate Gov. Roger D. Branigin and about 27 per cent for Mc-Carthy.

But it appeared possible Kennedy might have to share with Branigin some of Indiana's 63 Democratic National Convention delegates. Nixon garnered all 26 Republican convention votes.

—All 21 candidates on Kennedy's delegate slate in the District of Columbia were far outdistancing their Humphrey rivals. By unit rule Kennedy gets all 23 of Washington's convention votes.

Also in the D.C. voting, a GOP slate composed of both Nixon and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller supporters easily defeated a state weighted toward California Gov. Ronald Reagan, a favorite-son candidate.

—Gilligan's Ohio GOP Senate opponent apparently will be Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe who issued a victory statement after outdistancing two opponents.

—In Alabama, third-party presidential candidate George C. Wallace apparently won the right to run on his state's Democratic party ticket he appeared to have picked up at least 25 of 34 Alabama delegates to the Democratic convention.

—Florida Rep. Edward Gurney won the Republican senatorial nomination by a landslide but the Democratic race between former Gov. LeRoy Collins and Atty. Gen. Earl Fairold appeared headed for a runoff.

Kennedy was making no claims for the future after his Indiana victory, including his prospects in the Nebraska primary next Tuesday.

“Vice President Humphrey

The Winner

Sen. Robert Kennedy, winner of Indiana's presidential primary, speaks to followers at his Indianapolis headquarters last night. His wife, Ethel, looks on at left. Kennedy beat Sen. Eugene McCarthy decisively in the race.

Bobby Shows Greatest Strength In Negro Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, showing greatest strength in heavily Negro areas, defeated Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey in their first primary confrontation and won the District of Columbia's 23-vote delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

Kennedy's supporters also won elections for Democratic national committeeman and committeewoman from incumbents who favor Humphrey. And they held the lead in contests for control of the local party organization.

All 21 members of the slate supporting the New Yorker were well ahead of the organization ticket which backed Humphrey. There was no presidential preference vote and Kennedy was the only candidate who did any campaigning here.

A spot check showed Democrats were voting 10-to-1 in favor of imposing a unit rule to bind the entire delegation, which will include the 21 delegates elected Tuesday and the outgoing national committeeman and committeewoman.

In the Republican primary, the regular slate won easily. It consists of six supporters of Richard M. Nixon and three backers of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The three Rockefeller delegates led the ticket.

Local college students struggle through the night to count the vote but the lengthy paper ballot slowed matters. The final count was not expected for some days.

Austin College Award Presented

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Noel G. Shaw of Evanston, Ill., former president of the Chicago Medical Society, is the Austin College distinguished alumnus of 1968.

Dr. Shaw has been in private practice in Evanston since 1931 as a pediatrician and children's disease specialist.

The award was presented by the college's alumni association.

Teaches At TCU

FORT WORTH (AP) — Madame Lili Kraus, internationally famed pianist, is conducting a master class at Texas Christian University.

The artist-in-residence teaches advanced students and conducts an active schedule of concerts both in this country and abroad.

“We will carry the fight to Nebraska. I think the direct confrontation that was denied us here in Indiana will be given us in Nebraska.”

Sens. Walter F. Mondale and Fred R. Harris, co-chairmen of United Democrats for Humphrey said: “In the only primary in which Sen. Kennedy was opposed by other candidates nearly two out of three Democrats preferred someone else.”

Nixon, campaigning in Nebraska, said he thinks McCarthy remains a strong Democratic contender because of his enthusiastic volunteer support—but will not win his party's nomination.

“He'll have the enthusiasm but he will not have the money or the organization,” Nixon said. “Hubert Humphrey will have the organization; Bobby's got the money.”

Nixon also predicted Kennedy will be the Democratic winner in Nebraska next week and Humphrey will be second on write-in votes.

DID YOUR PROPERTY SUFFER STORM DAMAGE?

If it did... and if you carry WINDSTORM AND HAIL insurance, the following suggestions are offered to acquaint you with the proper procedure for handling your claim in the speediest possible manner.

- LOOK FOR THE AMOUNT OF DEDUCTIBLE IN YOUR POLICY... Most policies contain a deductible clause, in return for which you paid a lower premium than you otherwise would have. If damage appears to be greater than the amount of deductible, or if your policy has no deductible, NOTIFY YOUR INSURANCE AGENT PROMPTLY. He will report your claim immediately to a qualified adjuster. Additional adjusters have been brought in to expedite the processing of claims, but it will take time to process the many losses. Hardship cases will be given priority.
- PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY FROM FURTHER DAMAGE... Make temporary repairs necessary to prevent additional damage from rain or wind. Cover broken windows or holes in the roof with temporary material.

Any expense involved will be considered part of your insurance claim. Keep itemized receipts of such expenses for the adjuster.

- IF POSSIBLE, OBTAIN AN ACCURATE ESTIMATE OF STORM DAMAGE... If it is possible, get an estimate from a firm of the cost to repair the insured damage to your home. Such repair estimates must be itemized to include only damage actually caused by the storm.

Capital stock insurance companies have placed the Texas Catastrophe Loss Plan into effect and the companies, local agents and adjusters are anxious to give you prompt service and fair settlement.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

Bigfoot's Game Bag

By ED SYERS

Big men, grown old, seem sad to youngsters; and that's the way Bigfoot Wallace — like our most prodigal Texan — comes to mind with Fort Worth's Mrs. James Minahan. Before century turn, when her folks owned Pearsall's then International Hotel below San Antonio, her mother held Bigfoot's palsied hand to steady his coffee cup.

And on her grandmother's back porch, the little girl was told that the strange things, hanging like great rawhide-strapped envelopes, were Bigfoot's "game bags." What in the world did the old man play with them . . . and how? she wondered out loud.

MUSCLE MAN

Few, if any Texans, ever played the size of Bigfoot's game. At 19, he came down from Virginia in '36 to square accounts for a brother at Goliad; stayed to his death at century turn. At prime, he topped six-two and 240 pounds, hard muscle: like his Scotsman forebears Robert Bruce and William Wallace, namesake.

To trace his game bag covers Southwest from Lipan and Comanche country to Apache and much of Mexico, from Mier's black beans (he drew white) to Perote prison, to Mexican War with Zachary Taylor, then later Rangering our west frontier at an age most men could only talk of it. But that was his fighting, not his fare. Bigfoot ate big as he walked and talked.

He began with a "smokehouse" — a liveoak still standing west of Austin's Capitol, where he strung jerked deer and bear and whatever turkey was more than one meal required. A man had to eat. When he had the 1850 job of getting Overland's stage from San Antonio to El Paso, he once shot a buck off the cliffs of Wild Rose Pass while his Concord stage ran Apache ambush; and thus took his meat almost without stopping. Mark that game bag north of now Fort Davis, toward Balmorhea. Mark it earlier, the rough mountains south toward Saltillo.

RAT STEW

Trying to escape Mexican cavalry, he worked his way into those desert gorges and, days out of food and water, killed his mount for meat and drink both. Recaptured to Prison Penitentiary, he determined regular meals weren't enough . . . and made do with extra portions of rat stew.

Later, on the Medina, where he cabined below today's Castroville, he specialized in hunting "panther." To save powder and lead, he climbed his trees and clubbed down 142 of them. That meat went to his dogs, so far as his memoirs recall.

Yet he'd later reflect that, one time or other, he'd been forced to eat a little of everything.

Mexican mule, of course, and prairie dog, guarding stages west. In one Mexican village, walking home from imprisonment, he'd managed down what proved to be polecat. He'd had rattlesnake, one, big as a man's thigh. Prickly pear was okay, but better for poitices for Bigfoot was a meat eater. He met that test in a then-friendly Lipan camp.

A squaw gave hungry Bigfoot meat and watched him with interest.

"How you like Comanche?" she asked presently. He didn't; so she gave him some buffalo.

WALKED 80 MILES

The meal Wallace enjoyed most wasn't provided by his own game bag. Some say he cut his stage south of Rio Grande to duck blizzard and Apache; others, that Indian caught him unwary, and he walked 80 miles for El Paso. He made San Elizario, famished.

"How much for breakfast?" he asked. It was 25 centavos for eggs, scrambled, and his maitre d' brought him eight. "Get more," Wallace required and laid out a dollar. When he'd finished, breakfast was 27 eggs: "pretty good bate!"

That's the way Bigfoot played his game bag. Of course, you know how it is, without diet. Back in those days when a man was lucky to live 40, Wallace only made it to 82, with a shaky hand on his coffee cup.

MAILBOX

"Re your articles about bottle-collecting," says Freer Jaycee President Eddie Saenz (Box 688). "We have a project to sell 10,000 glass insulators to finance other projects. They are in various sizes and colors . . . all dated from the late '30s, early '40s, and from 25 to 35 cents each. Maybe some of OBT's bottle collectors are interested. It would help us." Austin's Mrs. W. G. Willman (5013 W. Park Dr.) observes that Valley "resacas" show Brownsville's site has been on both sides of Rio Grande.

President Of DE Club Wins Webb Scholarship

James Belew, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Belew, 908 E. 15th and a senior distributive education student at Big Spring High School, has been awarded the $500 Webb AFB Protestant Chapel Scholarship. Announcement was made this morning by Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Robert Deming, Webb AFB wing chaplain.

JAMES BELEW

Belew is president of the DE Club and has been named the outstanding distributive education student this year according to George Rice, his instructor. He was earlier tapped for the DE scholarship, raised by the students, for $60. He works at Key Rexall Drug Ministry Study.

Belew plans to attend the Bible Baptist Seminary at Arlington to study for the ministry. His pastor is Rev. Claude Craven, pastor at Trinity Baptist Church.

Prompt Police Action Commended By Mayor

Mayor Arnold Marshall, speaking for the city commission and administration, commended the prompt action by police supervisors last week for demonstrating a determination to maintain the integrity of the department.

"Monday, April 29, Chief of Police Jay Banks brought to our attention the fact that certain members of the department were under investigation," Marshall said. "Shortly thereafter, these men were dismissed. The prompt action taken is commendable and demonstrates determination to maintain the integrity of the Big Spring Police Department."

"Since then, however," he added, "there have been irresponsible and misleading rumors spread concerning police activities. Such stories can do substantial damage to our community in many ways."

"These three men have been indicted by the Grand Jury, but in no way is this to be interpreted as an indictment of this department, its members, or law enforcement officers generally," he continued. "Every community must support and encourage those who enforce its laws. The alternative is anarchy."

"In these troubled times, when those who enforce the law, work under increasing difficulties, each one of us must ask himself where he stands regarding this growing problem of disrespect for the law and those who enforce it," the mayor said. "We call upon the citizens of Big Spring to support those who enforce the law and maintain order in our city," he said. "Our Big Spring Police Department."

'Georgy Girl' Becomes Mother

LONDON (AP) — Lynn Redgrave, 24, star of the film "Georgy Girl," gave birth Tuesday to an 8-pound 11-ounce boy at a London hospital.

"We are not going to call our son Georgy, you can be assured of that," said the father, actor John Cark, 35.

'Friendly Ghost' Wins Invitation

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — Sir John Forbes, the "friendly ghost" at 17th century Craigevar Castle, has been invited to a wedding in the castle where he lived 300 years ago.

Kristine Forbes-Sempill, 24-year-old daughter of the ruler of Craigevar, Lady Sempill, will be married June 1 in the castle to John Cagle, 29, an accountant. The formal invitation to Sir John rests on the mantelpiece in the castle hall.

The invitation is to Red Sir John and the other castle ghosts to attend the wedding. "I saw one of the ghosts a few years ago. There are eight or 10 of them," Red Sir John got his name from his bright red hair.

The guest list totals 150—not counting the ghosts.

Car Loan Firm Must Pay Woman $44,400

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court affirmed today a $44,400 judgment against a Jefferson County car loan company after a 200-pound bill collector, seeking payment on a delinquent note, pushed a door at a woman, ramming her into a wall.

The suit was filed by Mr. and Mrs. Bert I. Cornelius against General Motors Acceptance Corp., naming Neil B. Salter on a charge of assault and battery. Salter, according to witnesses showed up at the Tex-Lou Drive-in at Nederland Oct. 10, 1961, to collect on an overdue car note. He was told to wait a minute, as the couple was busy in the kitchen, but cursed and demanded payment. Mrs. and Mrs. Cornelius said.

Then they said, he stepped out the back door of the restaurant's kitchen, and Mrs. Cornelius, 36, tried to close the door. Salter, testified, shouted, "no bitch is going to close the door in my face," and threw his weight into the door, ramming it against Mrs. Cornelius.

She was thrown backwards into a wall, her head hitting a fire extinguisher, and fell to her knees, they said.

Company lawyers said the jury judgment was "grossly excessive and shows the jury was influenced by passion or prejudice."

The Beaumont Court of Appeals said Mrs. Cornelius was forced to wear a back brace for 2 1/2 years and from time to time until the trial, March 9, 1967. She has not been able to do any work at her house or in the cafe since the injury and was taking drugs for pain and nerves, the court said. She had to sleep on a hard mattress on boards and underwent personality changes and, the court said, "is not as jolly as she was before."

Defends Self In LCB Case

Tommy Lee Hutchinson, operator of the Green Parrot here, appeared before the Texas Liquor Control Board Tuesday in Austin to defend himself against charges that he violated the state Liquor Control Act.

Hutchinson was charged with permitting intoxicated persons on the premises, allowing a minor to consume beer and illegally holding wine and liquor at the tavern.

Hutchinson told the board that the LCB agents had bullied him during their investigation and had ransacked his business. He also said Big Spring police chief Jay Banks was "out to get him."

Banks has filed a letter with the LCB asking for cancellation of Hutchinson's license. A decision in the case is expected in about two weeks.

Special Citations At Convocation

Dr. Hunt Salutes Students At HCJC

More than two score students at Howard County were saluted Wednesday morning at the annual Honors Day convocation.

These ranged from special awards posted by various groups and individuals to certificates for outstanding activities and leadership. In addition, there were 52 names on the Dean's List for academic excellence.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, in the convocation address, noted that 10 percent of the total full-time enrollment had distinguished academic achievement. He paid tribute to the basketball team, typifying the college spirit because "it wouldn't quit in spite of adversity, and through sheer grit and determination was able to win its conference championship." He paid tribute, too, to other campus groups.

'WE HONOR YOU'

Those honored Wednesday, he said, would take their places with previous honorees who since have gone on to become "leaders in our great society in science, business, the space program and other fields. We honor you; we believe in you; we are proud of you."

To Doris Ann Davis and Robert Lewis Lindsey went the American Legion citizenship awards, one of the oldest and most coveted of the special awards. Shirley Shroyer won the Civil Defense award; Kathy Howle the Dibrell Sports award.

Will Film 'Topaz'

NEW YORK (AP) — Alfred Hitchcock, movie and television director, announced Tuesday that he will film "Topaz," the best-selling spy novel by Leon Uris.

County Votes Canvassed

Canvass of votes cast in the Democratic and Republican primary elections of last Saturday have been canvassed and no important discrepancies discovered from the unofficial totals which have already been announced.

George Thorburn, county Democratic chairman, completed the canvass of the Democratic votes on Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Akin Simpson, Republican chairman, said that the votes cast by his party had been canvassed earlier.

Next political development will be the county conventions of the Democratic, Republican and the American Parties. The latter organization did not have an election but did hold precinct meetings.

Dr. Simpson said that he has called the County Republican Convention for 2 p.m. Saturday in the Howard County court room. He said that the party is entitled to send four delegates to the State Republican convention.

The American party will conduct its convention in the Grand Jury room at the Howard County court house. Lee Porter, county judge, said that he had informed the county chairman, Kenneth Normand, that he could use the room but that he did not know the hour of the meeting.

The Democratic County convention will be at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the District Court Room at the Howard County Courthouse.

Thorburn said that the Howard County party organization is entitled to 12 delegates to the state convention.

Pickups Smash, Drivers Escape

Two pickups were extensively damaged Tuesday afternoon but neither of the drivers was injured in a collision at the intersection of SH 176 and FM 2599 west of town.

Highway patrol officers said that one of the pickups was going west. It was driven by W. H. Hawthorne, 74, of Stanton. He stopped to make a turn onto FM 2599.

The other pickup, going east, was driven by Horace Tubb, 44, Garden City. The two vehicles crashed at the intersection.

Damage to Tubb's truck was estimated at $650 and for Hawthorne at $500.

'Hot' Checker Prison Bound

J. W. Reynolds Jr., 49, under 10-year sentence for worthless check writing, is en route to the state penitentiary. He was taken from Big Spring to Snyder early today by deputy Bill Whitton and will be placed aboard the Texas State Prison bus.

Musical Show Set Saturday

A special musical program, called "Bach, McCartney, Girls, and Other Things," is scheduled Saturday night, in a special variety show patterned after some of the current television programs.

Proceeds from the program will go to help finance Danny Johnson's participation in the All-America Choir overseas tour this summer. He and Dean Gilstrap will emcee the program, which will include several classical songs, and other stylings after the Beatles, Mamas and Papas, Simon and Garfunkel, and Andy Williams. Several comedy routines are included on the show.

The show will be staged in the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. Tickets are $1 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Arthritis Drive Collects $1,500

Approximately $1,500 was collected in the first "Victory March," a community-wide crusade held Tuesday night by the Big Spring Unit of the Permian Basin Chapter of the National Arthritis Foundation.

Mrs. W. P. Edwards Jr. and Mrs. Floyd Mays, co-chairmen, said that it would be several days before exact results are known. Over 100 volunteers participated.

Freak Mishaps

Four drivers, in two accidents collided in the parking lot at the Montgomery Ward store in Highland Shopping Center Tuesday.

Cars driven by David Harrison Newton, 1212 Lloyd, and Bennett Brooke, 700 Dallas, ran together; and Jeffrey David Talmadge, 2709 Carol, and Robbie Joyce Smart, 1809 Settles, were involved in an accident in the same location.

At 205 Galveston, the parked car of Wilfredo Fuentes, 205 Galveston, was involved in a mishap with a car which left the scene.

Coke Voters Defeat Bonds

ROBERT LEE — Coke County voters Tuesday turned down both ends of a bond election for $300,000 in improvements. A proposal for $125,000 to be used in constructing a new jail and sheriff's quarters was defeated 326-288; one for a new community center in Bronte and enlarging the one at Robert Lee was beat narrowly, 298-250.

A LOT OF PEOPLE SAY HE DID

Did A Texan Fly The First Airplane In 1865?

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer

Did a German schoolteacher in Texas fly the first airplane in 1865—or 38 years before the Wright brothers?

A lot of people say he did. But finding authentic records seems impossible.

The Institute of Texan Cultures at San Antonio's HemisFair '68 plans to tell his story. A book about him, written by a teacher at San Antonio's Our Lady of the Lake College, was published the day the fair opened.

His name was Jacob Brodbeck and he went to Fredericksburg the year after the first German immigrants settled that Hill Country town.

SAVAGE INDIANS
Brodbeck was born in Germany Oct. 13, 1821, taught six years, and tried to invent a clock that would run without winding. His parents considered going with him to America but were put off by reports of savage Indians.

Brodbeck reached Fredericksburg in March, 1847.

After farming briefly, he became the second teacher at the old Vereinskirche, an eight-sided building used as both church and school.

He also taught at smaller schools around Fredericksburg, including South Grape Creek, where he and one of his former pupils, Christine Sophie Behrens, were married in 1858. They had 12 children.

In 1863, Brodbeck built a model airplane that flew, powered by clock springs. That same year, he moved to San Antonio.

On Aug. 7, 1865, the Galveston Tri Weekly News reprinted an article from a San Antonio newspaper. It was an appeal by Brodbeck for money to help him build a flying machine that could carry a man.

"For more than 20 years I have labored to construct a machine which should enable man to use, like a bird, the atmospheric region as the medium of his travels," he wrote.

"The model he built in 1863 'imitates the flight of birds' in that it could move against the wind as well as with it. But it did not look like a bird, 'being constructed like a ship, which has caused me to call it 'AIR SHIP,'" he said.

"The blockade, and the state of the country during the (Civil) War, prevented me from progressing in my invention and from opening a new era in intercommunication by a larger ship, arranged for practical purposes, but now I hold it to be my duty, after those impediments do no longer exist, to follow without hesitation the path shown me by Providence and the spirit of progress," he wrote.

BLANK RECORDS
The craft would be "shut all around to prevent the rapid motion from affecting the breathing of the man within," he said.

"The portion producing the forward motion consists either of two screws, which can be revolved with equal or unequal force so as to serve the purpose of lateral steering, or of wings of a peculiar construction. The preference to be given to one or the other depends on the nature of the motive power." He calculated his air-ship would fly 20 to 100 miles an hour.

Records on Brodbeck's air-ship after this are blank—until 1924, when the son of Dr. Ferdinand P. Herff of San Antonio found some old certificates of quarter shares in Brodbeck's invention. The quarter shares cost $1.25 each and were "payable six months after sale of a U.E. patent right for an air-ship invented by me."

The Feb. 14, 1924, San Antonio Express article on the finding of the certificates said "Brodbeck did not achieve what he sought."

The first published account of Brodbeck's "flight" apparently is in "German Pioneers in Texas—A Brief History of Their Hardships, Struggles and Achievements," compiled by Don H. Biggers in 1925.

The article on "F. Brodbeck" said Brodbeck thought he solved the power problem by allowing the pilot to keep "the springs wound up."

"The day for the great trial test arrived and the ship sailed away... then the inventor discovered that a spring will not wind up and run down at the same time. He was several feet higher than a tall tree when he made this discovery. The inventor survived the crash, but the machine didn't."

Articles in various newspapers on the flight appeared in 1928, 1937, 1946 and 1961, and several since then. Slowly the story grows, without attribution, each account pirating earlier ones.

One date given for the flight is Sept. 20, 1865. Another says it was in 1868. Another says he took the air-ship to Washington, D.C., assembled it on the top of a three-story building and crashed when he tried to fly it off the building. This account blames the "iron wings."

TEXAS VERSION
The flight reportedly took place north of San Antonio. And it was said to have taken place near Fredericksburg where Brodbeck bought a farm in 1870. It took place nobody knows where, if it did.

In a San Antonio version, his backers witnessed the flight and refused to put up any more money after he crashed. Why no one in that crowd recorded in a letter or diary an account of a man flying in 1865 is never satisfactorily explained.

An embellished rendition of this version has Adm. Nimitz's father lecturing on the military significance of what the crowd was about to see.

Eyewitness accounts reportedly were mailed to historian J. Frank Dobie in 1937. But no one knows what happened to these accounts. The reported witnesses have died.

Brodbeck's papers were stolen in Michigan when he toured the north seeking money, according to some reports.

He made one last futile appeal for money in 1893, when he was 72 years old. He died at Luckenbach on Jan. 8, 1910. He was 88, reportedly bitter to the end about the fate of the Wright brothers.

His widow, by one account, also was bitter—about the wasted time, effort and money. She threw some of his papers into the creek in front of their home.

But one of Brodbeck's granddaughters says the only tale about this she heard in the family was that Brodbeck's model was thrown into the creek.

An indication of the margin that separated Brodbeck and his dream can be found in his essay on aerodynamics. He wrestled with the problem that the 19th Century could not solve: How to get sufficient power aboard that was not too heavy to lift.

Brodbeck said mechanics assured him they could build an 80-horsepower steam engine within the limits dictated by his calculations—one that weighed only 40,000 pounds.

Trail Of $100 Bill Traced As Burglary Trial Resumes

EL PASO (AP)—The trail of a $100 bill occupied the jury as the trial of 15 defendants in a widespread bank burglary and prostitution case resumed after a week's recess.

The delay came in federal court when one of the five women defendants became ill.

The $100 bill involved bank transactions in Utah and Oklahoma.

Bill Carnwell, operator of a motorcycle sales and rental company in Yukon and Edmond, Okla., told of withdrawing $1,000 from a Utah bank in May, 1965, and depositing $2,100 later.

Carnwell said he had intended to deposit the $1,000 in a bank in Edmond but changed his mind and carried the money around with him for a week or so before putting it in the Yukon bank along with $1,100 additional.

BILL SWITCHED?
Several witnesses later, FBI Agent Clark S. Miller of Oklahoma City said that one of the $100 bills the motorcycle firm's owner deposited bore the serial number of a bill stolen from an Oxford, Kan., bank April 28, 1965.

Lawyers brought up the possibility that the bill had been switched while in Carnwell's possession by a man whom he testified is not in prison for burglary.

The FBI agent said the bill was sent to the identification division of the FBI in Washington for a test for fingerprints. He said it later was returned to circulation on orders of the Kansas City FBI offices.

The defense protested that putting the bill back in circulation had the effect of destroying evidence and that the court had only the word of the FBI that it had been tied to any crime.

'Murf The Surf' Warrant Issued

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A grand jury issued sealed indictments Tuesday reportedly in the brutal murders of two former California secretaries who police wanted to question about a transcontinental securities conspiracy case.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

A statewide pickup order went out for Jack "Murf the Surf" Murphy, a beachboy-turned-jewel thief, and Jack Griffith, a karate expert. The order said first degree murder warrants had been issued in Broward County for the men.

Murphy surrendered today in nearby Miami.

The slain young women were Terry Rae Kent Frank, 23, and Annalie Marie Mohn, 21. Mrs. Frank was from Amberley, Ohio, a Cincinnati suburb, and Miss Mohn was a German national.

Their bodies, weighted with concrete, were found in Whiskey Creek near Hollywood Dec. 8.

Later, an audit at the Los Angeles brokerage house of Rutter, Jackson and Gray revealed $488,732 in securities were missing. Los Angeles police said the thefts were discovered after Mrs. Frank, a divorcee, and Miss Mohn quit the firm and moved to Miami Beach.

Six men were indicted in New York on securities conspiracy charges. Police said that when the women left the firm the thefts stopped. But they were killed before they could be questioned.

Murphy, 30, served a jail sentence for the daring theft of the Star of India sapphire and the DeLong ruby from the Museum of Natural History in New York City.

When the pickup order was issued, Murphy was free under $20,000 bond on charges growing out of an attempted holdup of the home of a wealthy Miami Beach widow.

Griffith, 30, formerly operated a karate school in the Miami area. He was described as "athletic looking," sandy-haired and having "a nice voice just like a radio announcer."

Arrested

Convicted jewel thief Jack Murphy was ordered arrested Tuesday in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., in connection with a grand jury investigation of the murders of two girls.

Coin Clubbers Meet Thursday

Everyone who attends the meeting of the Big Spring Coin Club Thursday evening at the John H. Lees Service Club at Webb AFB will take home a prize.

W. E. Wozencraft, secretary, said that a grab bag with enough envelopes for every person who attends will be provided and each participant gets a chance to draw an envelope from the sack. The envelopes will contain coins of various values. One is worth $10; others are worth anywhere from a quarter to two or three dollars.

All persons interested in coin collecting are invited.

Kamerick, Kent State Veep, Named President At NTSU

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Dr. John J. Kamerick, 48, vice president and provost of Kent State University in Kent, Ohio, was named Wednesday as the ninth president of North Texas State University.

His appointment will become effective Sept. 1.

The announcement was made by Ben Wooten of Dallas, chairman of the school's regents during a student assembly.

The appointment ends an eight-month search for a successor to Dr. J. C. Matthews, who has been NTSU's chief executive officer since 1951.

Pellet Smashes Kitchen Window

Mrs. O. O. Hill, 1315 Wood, reported to the office of Sheriff A. N. Standard at 8 a.m. Tuesday that some one had shot a hole through her kitchen window. Lindy Oldfield and Bill Whitton, deputy sheriffs, investigated. Oldfield said he found the pellet on the floor in the kitchen. It was fired from an air rifle of some type and he believes it was an accidental incident. A check into the incident is being made.

NATIVE OF IOWA
Dr. Matthews notified the regents in November, 1966, of his desire to relinquish the presidency effective Aug. 31, 1968, and a presidential search committee was appointed last August.

The school has about 14,500 students. Kent State has about 28,000.

Dr. Matthews will teach education full time beginning in the fall.

Dr. Kamerick holds masters' and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Iowa in history. A native of Iowa, he has been at Kent State since 1956.

Adds Famed B25 To His Air Force

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Paris pilot I. N. Burchinal, who is establishing a flying museum of World War II vintage airplanes, has added the famed B25 bomber to his private air force.

The B25 is the long-range twin-engine model that Gen. Jimmy Doolittle used on his famous bombing of Tokyo in September 1942.

Burchinal flew the B25 into his Flying Tiger Airport here after picking it up near St. Louis. He traded a Stearman bi-plane for the bomber, which in recent years had been used to drop aerial chemical "bombs" in forest fire fighting.

The Paris flyer used only a third of his 2,700-foot runway to set the bomber down. It will remain on display at Burchinal's airport on US 82 just west of Paris.

PRICE HIKES OFFSET BY COSTS Farmers On Treadmill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm product prices are on a treadmill. It seems that every time they rise, they end up just about where they started.

This is because farm price increases are being offset by rises in costs of goods and services farmers use in production and in family living.

PROFITS FADE

So while producers may receive a little more for their products, they make no financial gains because rising prices in other segments of the economy require the farmer to pay more for a given quantity of store-bought items and for medical, utility, automotive or other services.

Farm prices, for example, increased one-third of one per cent during the month ended March 15. But prices paid by the farmer for goods and services he buys went up one-half of one per cent.

Farm prices in mid-March were up 4 per cent from a year earlier. But this increase would buy no more goods and services than in March last year.

This situation reflects only a part of the price trouble for the producer.

The price of goods and services used by the farmer set a record high in March. But prices received by the farmer for his products were 17 per cent below their record high set in February, 1951.

MUCH LOWER

Thus, in 17 years, farm prices have lost ground in the race with non-farm prices.

Many consumers who complain about food prices do not realize that prices of many farm products are much lower now than at times in the past.

In 1951, wheat brought $2.21 a bushel compared with $1.42 in recent weeks. Corn was $1.00 compared with $1.06 in mid-March.

Other comparisons between 1951 and March this year, included: Hogs $22 a hundred pounds and $18.50; beef cattle $29 and $23.30; chickens 26.9 cents a pound and 14 cents; turkeys 34.5 cents and 17.9 cents; lambs $33.30 a hundred pounds and $24.50; cottonseed $100 a ton and $56.10; and eggs 41 cents a dozen and 30.4 cents.

CROP PAYMENTS

Federal farm programs measure the economic welfare of farmers by a standard called parity. Prices at the parity level buy as much of the goods and services farmers buy as they did in a past favorable period, usually 1910-14. Government reports show farm prices, measured in dollars now are 250 per cent of the 1910-14 average. But prices farmers pay for goods and services are 350 per cent of their 1910-14 average, giving farmers only 74 per cent of parity. But inasmuch as prices received by producers for some products are supplemented by government crop payments, the government says the combination of the actual prices plus payments brings returns for a farm commodity unit to 80 per cent of the 1910-14 level in terms of buying power.

YOU'D BETTER WAIT AND SEE

Figures Hint Smith Win

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Pencil-and-paper politicians can show you figures indicating Lt. Gov. Preston Smith will win the runoff but practical politicians say you'd better wait and see.

How many of Don Yarborough's supporters on May 4 will return to the polls on June 1 along with how many supporters of Dolph Briscoe and John Hill is one of the two big questions.

The second question is how many of Smith's supporters will return, augmented by how many Waggoner Carr and Eugene Locke fans.

Right now Smith trails by about 36,000 votes on the basis of unofficial incomplete figures. However, aides of the four major defeated candidates predict more of their supporters will favor Smith over Yarborough, if they can be enticed to the polls.

60-40 SPLIT

"I would guess that Hill's supporters will split about 60-40 in Smith's favor," said one campaign helper who is looking for a job.

Another expert from another campaign estimated Yarborough would get most of Hill's voters.

Hill did not get as much Negro vote as he expected but what he did get probably will favor Yarborough. Texas lawyers favored Hill, particularly from the smaller towns, and these likely will go to Smith.

Briscoe did not get as large a labor-liberal vote as he expected but got a larger than expected conservative and moderate vote. His basic South Texas home area vote usually goes conservative and probably will switch to Smith. So will Briscoe's considerable vote in West Texas. Mexican-American votes that went to Briscoe, along with some coastal industrial votes and scattered East Texas votes, likely will go to Yarborough.

CARR'S BACKERS

Carr's supporters are expected to change to Smith in larger numbers than any other candidate's, particularly in West Texas, where the two Lubbock boys split the turnout. "Smith will get 90 per cent of Carr's vote," one campaigner predicted, adding: "We would have been in the runoff if it had not been for Locke and Briscoe."

Locke's campaign staff thinks the majority of the former Locke supporters who vote June 1 will vote for Smith. "Our people may be the largest of the no-return voters," said one disappointed campaigner. "They voted for Locke because they didn't like Smith, Carr or Yarborough. What have they got to gain?"

If Connally supports Smith many of the Connally supporters who helped Locke are expected to go along. A small segment of Locke's vote came from the so-called moderate Negro faction, which now may turn to Yarborough, along with Locke's Mexican-American vote.

Using broadside guesses and speculation from the defeated campaign workers, who are not sure yet what happened or what will happen, it appears Smith might get 90 per cent of Carr's first primary vote, maybe 70 per cent of Locke's vote and maybe 60 per cent of Briscoe's vote. Yarborough apparently will get close to half of the Hill vote.

FIGURES LIE

If these percentages hold on May 4 will vote on June 1, then Smith would win 953,487 to 660,366.

However, Texans have never voted that way and there is no indication they will this time.

In 1956, when Price Daniel first became governor after a hot race with Ralph Yarborough, there were 180,000 fewer voters for the runoff. Daniel led in the first primary but gained only 60,000 votes from the three defeated candidates while Yarborough picked up 230,000. Daniel won by a slim 3,171 vote margin.

In 1962, when Connally first became governor in his first meeting with Don Yarborough, there were 340,000 fewer voters for the runoff. Connally picked up 134,000 additional voters from the four defeated candidates while Yarborough got 221,000. Connally led Yarborough by 113,512 in the first primary but won the runoff only by 26,250 votes.

SMITH TRAILS

Smith trails by 36,000 votes going into the runoff. Can he overcome this deficit and convince supporters of defeated candidates they should back him? Can Don Yarborough keep his supporters faithful and at the same time attract more voters to overcome any gain Smith might make?

Watch the newspapers the morning of June 2 for the answer to this intriguing political thriller.

Smile Of Victory

John J. Gilligan and wife, Mary, signal the victory smile at campaign headquarters in Cincinnati, Ohio, early today after the 47-year-old Cincinnati councilman denied U.S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche, (D-Ohio), a third senatorial nomination Tuesday. Unofficial returns in the state's election showed Gilligan ahead by nearly 100,000 votes. "Every once in a while something happens," said Gilligan in exploding the 48-year-old legend of Lausche's political invincibility.

LT. GOV. TO CONTACT CONNALLY

Seeks Special Session Delay

AUSTIN (AP) — Lt. Gov. Preston Smith plans to contact Gov. John Connally Thursday about the 1968 special session and, if asked, recommend the session be held off until June

"It would be a good deal more convenient to me if it is held after the runoff," Smith told a news conference Tuesday afternoon. "But of course the governor must take into consideration what is best for the state." There have been reports the governor may be considering a 30-day session starting the middle of May, before the June 1 runoff between Smith and Don Yarborough for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

WILL PRESIDE

Smith said he first tried to contact Connally Tuesday, the day after the election, but was told the governor would not be in his office until Thursday. Connally's office said the governor was in San Antonio in connection with his duties as commissioner general of HemisFair.

Smith, who will preside over the Senate in the special session regardless of runoff results, said he felt "on the basis of past experience" it would be difficult to pass a tax bill during a 30-day session.

He also said in answering a question that the narrow approval of the liquor by the drink opinion poll "doesn't indicate to me that the chance would be very good at this time" for passage of a mixed drinks bill.

Smith spent much of the conference discussing his runoff campaign which he said would be "just as vigorous if not more so" than the first primary. "There's no question there's a pretty clear line... on conservative-liberal issues."

'GOOD LUCK'

Smith said he had received indications of support from Dolph Briscoe and Waggoner Carr, but nothing from Eugene Locke or John Hill. He said Herb Petry, Briscoe's campaign manager and state highway commissioner, "assured me that he felt we would have their support." He said Carr sent him a telegram wishing him "good luck in the days ahead."

Smith said a big problem of the runoff would be getting voters to the polls. May 30 is a national holiday, Memorial Day, and falling on Thursday may cause many persons to plan long holidays through Saturday, June 1, the election day. "I hope everyone with travel plans will be sure to vote before they leave," he said. "... But I'm beginning to get the feeling we will have a good turnout."

Five-Inch Gully-Washers, Twister Hits Near Corpus

By The Associated Press

Nine tornadoes struck Texas Tuesday but only one caused any reported damage or injuries.

The damage occurred in the southern portion of Corpus Christi where a twister knocked down tree branches, smashed windows and did other minor damage.

Mrs. T. A. Wall Jr. of Corpus Christi was cut by flying glass. The Corpus-Christi Naval Air Station on the city's south side measured more than 5.5 inches of rain in two hours.

Five-inch gully-washers also hit west of Corpus Christi in the Callihan - Whitsett - George West area. The Weather Bureau said streams in the area might flood.

Funnel clouds also were spotted near Alice, Kingsville, Agua Dulce, Weatherford and Decatur.

GOLF BALLS

Four tornadoes were spotted in the Weatherford section and one touched down twice at Decatur.

At one time, a 140-mile strip extending from southwest to northeast across the state and extending into Oklahoma was under tornado watch.

Hail the size of golf balls hit Alice and Kingsville vicinities. Great Southwest Airport between Fort Worth and Dallas recorded 3.16 inches of rain in two hours before midnight. Itasca measured 3.05 and Smithville 2.24 inches.

Fog covered a large area today from Texarkana to the Fort Worth-Dallas area to Waco, College Station, Austin and Victoria.

Crank Calls Dip Reported

FORT WORTH (AP) — Southwest Bell has reported a decrease in complaints about annoyance calls in the Fort Worth metropolitan area.

The company said it received 1,136 complaints during the first three months of this year, a 20 per cent decrease from the level of the corresponding three months of 1967.

The strategy against harassment includes: —Sophisticated tracing devices to identify source of the call. —Coordination with authorities to obtain convictions. —A program of published information and specialized guidance to instruct customers on how to handle annoyance calls.

in the 18 hours ended at 1 a.m. today included Alice 3.82 inches, Tyler 1.75, Victoria .95 and Longview .80.

FLOOD ALERTS

The Weather Bureau issued flash flood warnings for the Upper and Lower Frio, Leonia, Seco, Blanco and Atascosa rivers and San Miguel Creek.

The storm clouds, which built to 55,000 feet, were caused by a cold front pushing southward into warm, moist air from the Gulf of Mexico.

The new turbulence followed a violent storm Monday that produced a tornado which injured five persons and caused an estimated $300,000 damage in the small Panhandle town of Miami.

The cold front extended today from south central Missouri to Fort Worth, San Angelo and about 50 miles south of El Paso. Behind the front temperatures were chilly with frost warnings for the Northern Panhandle.

However, early today Brownsville in the Lower Rio Grande Valley had a balmy 76 degrees. South and East Texas could expect more showers and thunderstorms today while the remainder of the state had clear to partly cloudy weather.

High temperatures Tuesday ranged from 92 at Presidio and San Angelo to 70 at Amarillo and Dalhart.

Further Study Of Plan To Divert Water Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Midwest congressmen have proposed further study of a plan to divert Missouri River water to Texas and other states.

Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., and Rep. John Kyl, R-Iowa, have offered bills calling for the study.

Mundt said Tuesday his bill calls for a study of the long-term water needs of the Missouri basin "well beyond the present 50-year comprehensive study now underway."

The bill, he said, would prevent any immediate encroachment upon the waters of the Missouri.

Mundt criticized a plan issued by R. W. Beck & Associates of Denver, which he said calls for annual diversion of 13 million acre feet of water from the Missouri River below Randall Dam in South Dakota.

The plan calls for lifting the water through a series of reservoirs and canals up the Ni-obrara River to Alliance, Neb. From there it would flow through a 940-mile canal through west Nebraska, east Colorado near the Kansas border, across the Oklahoma Panhandle and into Texas, west of Amarillo.

Mundt said the estimated cost of the project is $3 billion to $3.5 billion.

Rotan Lad Killed

ROTAN, Tex. (AP) — Terry Lynn Floyd, 19, a Rotan High School senior, was killed Tuesday night when his car went out of control and overturned 12 miles east of Rotan on State 92

Students Affirm Changing Theme

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The new Student Congress at the University of Texas at Arlington has reaffirmed a decision of the previous congress to do away with the Confederate flag and Rebel theme.

The action was taken Tuesday over protests from some students. The decision came after Negro students said they regarded the flag as offensive.

The university now is faced with selecting a new flag and nickname for its athletic teams.

UNEXPECTED COMPLICATIONS DEVELOPED

One Of Three Heart Transplant Patients Dies

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — One of the three men who underwent heart transplants within five days of each other died today.

A St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital announcement said James B. Cobb, Alexandria, La., died eight hours after unexpected complications developed.

"The transplanted heart was not rejected and functioned well until the unforeseen complications occurred," the announcement said.

NOT KNOWN
The cause of death was not known but the hospital said Cobb, who received the heart of a 13-year-old boy Sunday, was believed to have died because of liver and kidney failure.

Meanwhile, the other two patients remained in satisfactory condition.

They were J. M. Stuckwisch, 62, Alpine, Tex., and Everett

Claire Thomas, 47, Phoenix, Ariz.

The condition of Cobb, 48, had been excellent Tuesday but doctors remained at his bedside constantly once the complications developed.

"It is believed Cobb's response to immuno suppressive drugs (that combat rejection) was at fault since the white blood cell count fell to precariously low levels just prior to death," the hospital said. Thomas stood up Tuesday for the first time since receiving his transplant Friday. His donor was a 15-year-old housewife.

Surgeons said Stuckwisch was "either dead or dying" when he received the heart of a 36-year-old man Tuesday as medical and county officials huddled to start a study of the legal complications involved in such surgery.

The conference followed a series of telephone calls in which Dr. Denton A. Cooley, the head of the team that performed all three operations, participated.

TAVERN BEATING
Stuckwisch received the heart of Clarence A. Nicks, 36, Houston, who died of injuries received in an April 23 beating in a tavern. The actual transplant required only 30 minutes.

Harris County Medical Examiner Joseph Jachimczyk said Nicks was pronounced dead at 10:30 a.m. by Dr. Pedro Caram of St. Luke's Hospital.

Caram said an electroencephalograph showed absence of any brain waves. A respirator was used to keep the donor's heart viable before it ceased to function at 1:58 p.m., a hospital spokesman said.

NO AUTOPSY
The implant to Stuckwisch began six minutes later.

Cooley called about noon and asked permission to proceed with the operation, Dr. Jachimczyk said.

"I couldn't give legal approval, but I told him I would neither file nor press charges," the medical examiner said.

"I suppose I gave him my tacit approval," Jachimczyk said. He could not give his legal approval because an autopsy had not been performed, Jachimczyk said.

Two Soldiers Die In Crash

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — Two Ft. Hood soldiers were killed early today in a two-car collision 2½ miles west of Ft. Hood on U. S. 190.

The victims were Nelson R. Darragh, 27, of Normandy, Mo., the driver of one car, and Richard A. Heskae, 20, passenger in the same car.

Heskae's home town was not immediately available.

Two other persons, James R. Wood, 22, and William L. Hymer, 37, were injured. Wood's condition was termed critical.

Wrists Slashed

Dee Balch, 307 S. Bell, was in satisfactory condition today at Cowper Hospital and Clinic after sustaining slashes to his wrists late Tuesday night.

His mother, Mrs. Mame Balch, notified police who sent for an Alert Ambulance, which took Balch to the hospital. Officers are investigating.

STRIPPED COMMANDER TESTIFIES:

'There Was Mutiny On Ship'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter, stripped of a ship's command after junior officers' complaints, has told a special congressional committee there was mutiny on the vessel.

Arnheiter, a 42-year-old, career Navy officer, was relieved as captain of the destroyer escort Vance in 1966 after the Navy ruled he showed "a serious lack of judgment" and "knowingly and deliberately committed many derelictions."

Capt. Richard G. Alexander, 45, who lost command of the battleship New Jersey after interceding with Defense Department authorities on Arnheiter's behalf, is to testify today.

MORALE LOW

Appearing Tuesday before a committee called together by Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., who vows to get the case "before Congress or to the White House if needs be"—Arnheiter said that when he assumed command of the Vance, "complete bedlam" existed.

He contended morale was low, the vessel was rusty and infested with cockroaches "and I began to wonder what I had inherited."

He testified throughout the first day of the scheduled three-day hearing, saying he wanted his "day in court under proper naval proceedings" and that this had been denied him. His wife sat two rows behind him in the crowded committee room.

There are no official Navy witnesses at the hearing. Resnick said the Navy has refused to cooperate or participate in the inquiry.

LAX SHIP

Arnheiter, a decorated Naval Academy graduate with seven years of sea duty aboard destroyers, said his intention aboard the Vance was to "take a lax ship and make it into a fighting ship."

Denying any improper conduct, he said, "My major intent was ... to take this ship into a war zone with a shipshape crew who would be proud of the ship and of whom the U.S. Navy could be proud."

Arnheiter said he met resistance in his efforts.

"Did you feel there was actual mutiny aboard the Vance?" attorney Marvin Lewis asked Arnheiter.

"Yes," Arnheiter replied, puffing on a cigar.

He said he filed charges alleging mutiny over the objections of the commander of the Pacific destroyer force.

Arnheiter now is shore-based near San Francisco and Alexander has a desk job in Boston.

Tax Raises Help Rocky

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The New York State Legislature decided early today to raise taxes on incomes, gasoline and cigarettes, thus giving Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller a substantial victory in his revenue demands.

The Republican governor, who is seeking the GOP presidential nomination, had requested more in taxes to balance his budget of more than $3 billion. Faced with a rebuff by the politically divided legislature in its election year, he threatened to veto other budget-balancing devices.

The compromise provides for increasing taxes on income of $17,000 or more, raising the cigarette tax by 2 cents, to 12 cents a package, and the gasoline tax by a penny, to 7 cents a gallon.

Arson Suspected In Church Fire

AUSTIN (AP)— Fire caused heavy damage to the Asbury Methodist Church early today and authorities said they suspect arson.

Assistant Fire Chief R. H. Dickerson said the blaze broke out just after 1 a.m. and evidence was found that leads to the arson conclusion. The church is in southwest Austin.

A Devotional For The Day

Salute... the church which is in (Nymphas) house. (Colossians 4:15)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, make our hearts to be Thy dwelling places that the house in which we live may be a holy place. May life in our earthly home be a foretaste of heaven, our eternal home, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Why Not The Modern Way?

Nearly every election year we bring this up because it keeps happening, but something needs to be done about the major voting precincts in town. Invariably, one or two get clogged and the returns are late coming in. That all boxes are not clogged is due to some experienced hands who have been through the mill often before and have been able to recruit basic crews with experience.

We long have felt that these boxes need to be broken into smaller precincts where the vote total will not be so formidable. Granted this may increase the expense somewhat, even to the levy upon candidates in primaries. The only alternative, under the present system, is to add additional clerks — and that would be a good idea, too.

The ultimate solution may be some type of mechanical voting aid, either voting machines or some electronic arrangements. The latter may call for some amendment of the Texas voting laws, but logic compels us to believe that the answer is in this direction.

Big Spring has a chance to become something of an electronic data processing center. There is no good reason why, if voters are required to use ball point pens with magnetic ink, a ballot could not then be tabulated on data processing equipment. The same thing is being done on checks and assorted other items. This would be cheap, relatively inexpensive. Then, at intervals during the day, or at the conclusion of the voting period, the returns could be gathered up, taken under seal by judges or officials to the data processing center and there, in the presence of these judges and officials, put through the equipment. Within a matter of minutes the returns would be tabulated and without a chance for human error. Mutilated ballots or those with more than one marking per candidate or issue, would be kicked to one side for a ruling by the precinct election judge (or if the law were changed to permit it) a board of election supervisors.

This could be accomplished at a far less cost than is now the case. Surely, before long some enterprising data process programmer can devise a simple system such as this and break the log jam the modern way.

Next—Our Wind

A lee shore being the dread of mariners, a great deal of time and effort through the years has gone into designing warning beacons. Whale-oil lamps gave way in time to electricity, or gas. But in far too many cases, dependable lights required continuous marring or frequent renewal of batteries, or replacement of gas cylinders.

A Japanese maker of radio buoys has perfected an ingenious new addition to the art of making beacons. It consists of a wave energy device, using the rise and fall of water by wave action to drive a small turbine which continuously charges a condenser, which in turn powers a 100-watt light. The device was installed on the tiny island of Ashika at the mouth of Tokyo Bay, the busiest shipping lane in Japan. It has had more than a year of trouble-free operation.

There have been attempts in the past to harness the energy of wave action to produce electricity directly. But the attempts proved unsatisfactory. It remained for a Japanese to take this one step further to use energy generated by wave force to provide a dependable source of electricity.

We don't need many beacons out in West Texas, but if someone will only figure out how to put our winds to work dependably, we'll have it made.

Holmes Alexander The Second Wave Of Terror

WASHINGTON — "A Mafia-type of extortion operation," was what the cop said. He is Inspector Thomas Herlihy, head of the D.C. police intelligence division. He was talking about the secondary assault wave on the capital city of the United States of America.

"A blood war," was what the Congressional Committee investigator called it. He works for Sen. John McClellan's permanent investigations subcommittee which is continuing its probe into city riots.

THE SECONDARY assault wave doesn't get reported in the front pages of newspapers as yet. It is more a "trend," according to Herlihy, than a happening thus far. Its future is iffy. If the white store owners submit and pay the protection that's being demanded of them, the racket will flourish.

In some instances the shakedown is brutal and direct. The storekeeper is visited or telephoned and told to pay up with $50 or take the consequences in looting and arson. In other cases the merchant is visited by Negroes who identify themselves as members of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), and is pointedly asked to contribute to something like a summer camp for slum children.

PICTURES AND lapel buttons depicting Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., are being hawked under subdued warnings. Pictures and buttons sell for $1, and picture frames for $3. Prominently displayed, they may save the storekeeper from future trouble. It's against the law to make solicitations without a permit from the D.C. department of licenses. No arrests have been made. No complaints have been heard, the police say.

THE TERM "blood war" as used by investigators, who later would normally testify to the McClellan subcommittee, is dual in its meaning. It connotes both blood-letting and racial conflict. But there are no rigid color lines between the contestants. The investigators are reaffirming what the Kerner Report and other urban studies have found — that the middle-class Negroes are terrified by their co-racial militants. The investigators also say that white crooks and hoodlums are taking over the extortion racket. White and black shakedown victims are understandably slow to report threats to an inactive police force.

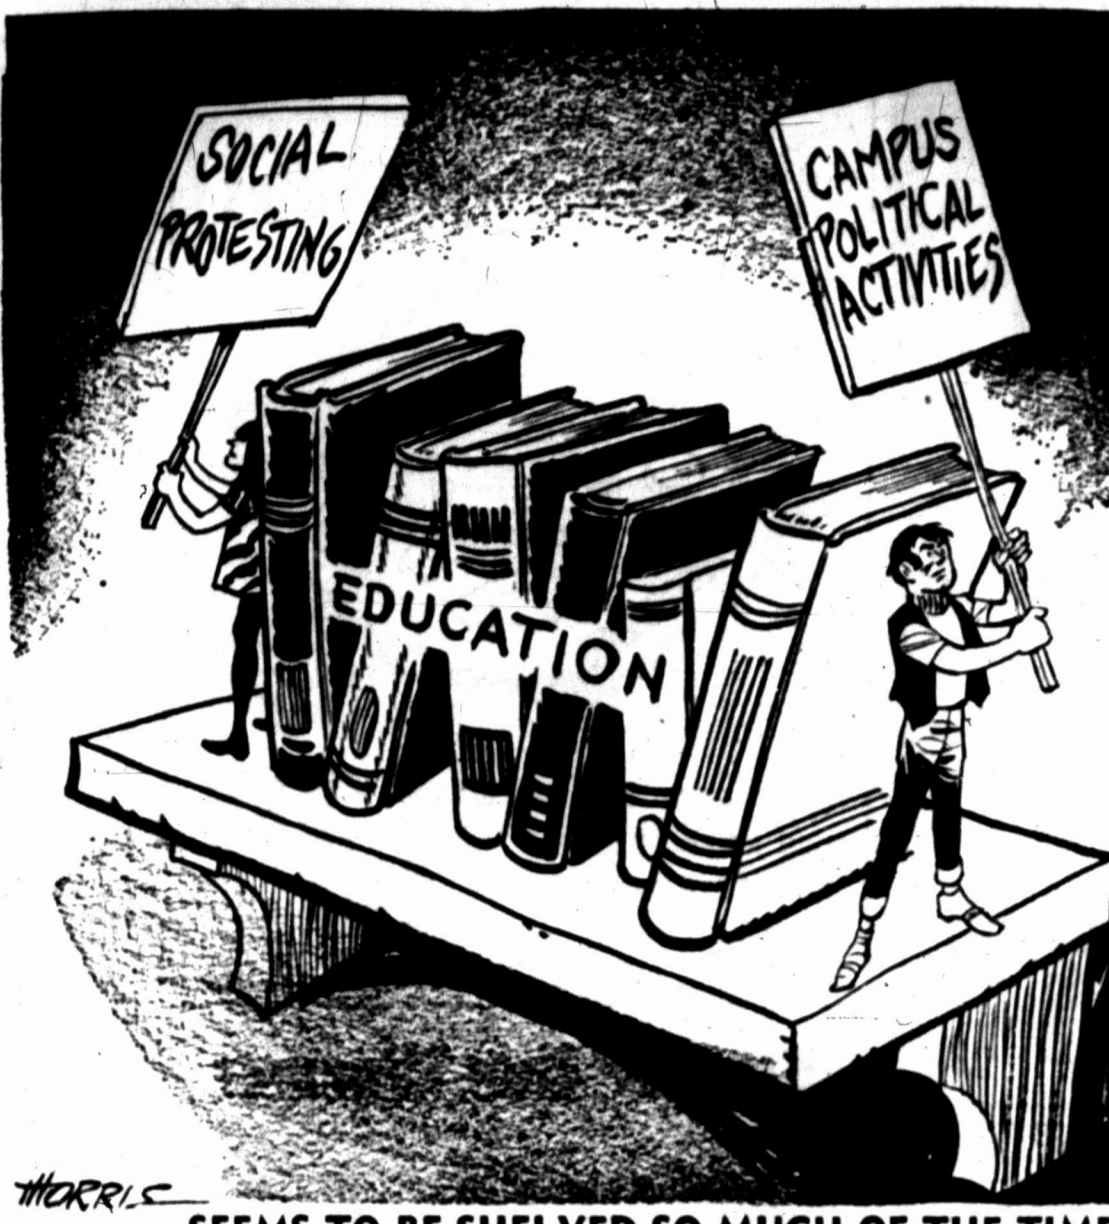

EVERYBODY concerned chooses to be iffy. If the storekeepers would form a delegation and tell their collective story to a District or Congressional committee, maybe the Metropolitan Police or the National Guard or the U.S. Army would crush the secondary wave of terror before the midsummer riots strike. But thus far only one such meeting, to my knowledge, has been held. It was held in executive session — no publicity, please.

IF A preliminary report by Congressional investigators were released today, it would say that the counteraction most feared is vigilantism. Crazy extremists (the Minute Men are mentioned) will be police-controlled even if looters, arsonists and racketeers are tolerated for fear of a major insurrection. But neighborhood protective associations among respectable citizens, white and black, are expected to do what the police and paramilitary forces leave undone. No society, least of all our own, is apt to sit out successive waves of terror in its streets.

COUNTERACTION is not entirely undercover. Opposition to any stringent gun-control legislation is certain to grow in Congress. Opposition to the Supreme Court soft-on-criminal rulings is already coming up for action in the form of bills, and resolutions. Opposition to the Federal Government's craven hospitality to the Poor People's March draws daily speeches on the Congressional floors.

The State of the Union was never so iffy.

Worth Remembering

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The high cost of keeping up with the Joneses is creating more moonlighters in America. Some 3.6 million workers — about five per cent of the labor force — now hold down two or more jobs.

Modern war has eliminated at least one combat hazard—the mule. After the Civil War, a thousand Union veterans received disability pensions from injuries suffered from the bites and kicks of Army mules.

A GERMAN doctor has given medical approval of the feminine custom of wearing boots with miniskirts. He says the boots helps keep the girls from catching colds.

You have a right to take umbrage if anyone calls you bird-brained. A bird's brain is pretty small. Often it is outweighed by the bird's two eyes. And an ostrich is such a mental lightweight that either of its eyes weighs more than its brain.

QUOTABLE notables: "I think it's very dangerous for an actor to get into politics," says Jackie Gleason, the fat man's fat man. "An actor spends his career learning how to fool people, and I think it becomes an unfair advantage if he uses his knack to get elected to public office." How they got started... David Niven reveals in Saga magazine that he once worked as a liquor salesman. He got bounced when he blithely spent a salary advance on gambling instead of trying to make sales. After exhaustive engineering studies, it has been found that it takes less effort to pick a paper clip off the floor and put it on a desk than it does to take a paper clip off the desk and lower it to the floor. There doesn't seem much left for science to find out, does there?

ONE REASON they have to sell popcorn in motion picture houses to break even is the high cost of making films. For example, Julia Andrews, in her latest production, "Star!", wears 96 gowns created for her at a cost of more than $300,000. Think of all the money they might have saved if someone had taught Julie how to sew!

Despite a falling birth rate, the U.S. population explosion is still going boom, boom, boom. If you love people, be sure to stick around until the year 2030. There'll be twice as many of your fellow Americans to love them—400 million.

Worth remembering: "The middle-aged woman with a nice figure may be only a bulge in a girl's cage."

HISTORY lesson: Can you name the first U.S. president who was born an American citizen? He was Martin Van Buren, whose birth date was Dec. 5, 1782. The seven presidents who preceded him in office were all born British subjects.

Do you dislike it for women to wear long fingernails? Well, think what they'd look like if they never cut them. As a girl's fingernails grow at about an inch every 32 weeks, if she left them untrimmed from birth she'd have fingernails 9½ feet long at the age of 70. Imagine having a wife like that trying to pour you a cup of morning coffee!

Jack Bell Says:

Men, Money, Mystique Wins

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The Kennedy men, money and mystique were simply too much for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and Gov. Roger D. Branigan in the Indiana Democratic presidential primary Tuesday.

While he didn't get a majority, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy emerged as the winner of the three-man joust with 42 per cent of the vote.

BUT MCCARTHY remained politically alive in defeat to fight another day and perhaps on more favorable ground, although his New Hampshire and Wisconsin primaries victories were dimmed by his third-place finish. He got 27 per cent of the vote.

For Branigan, an uncommitted favorite son who ran second, there was the consolation that he might yet save some of the state's 63 convention nominating votes. If he did, it was presumed that they eventually might find their way into the roll call column of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

BRANIGAN got 31 per cent of the total Democratic vote and won in two congressional districts. McCarthy's percentage was 27. He led in no congressional districts. It was something of a juggernaut that Kennedy mounted in Indiana. He saturated the state with advance men, organizers and follow-up operatives. He spent money liberally to transport himself, his retinue, his relatives and his big name friends to all corners of the state. He overwhelmed his opponents with television time.

Against this McCarthy's largely volunteer organization, which had worked so well in previous primaries, couldn't muster crowds or stir up interest to rival that of the Kennedy road show. Branigan didn't even try, depending primarily on the state patronage organization to deliver for him.

The boyish-looking millionaire with the shaggy hair whose shoes and cufflinks were snatched joyously for souvenirs in milling crowds, had a message for Negro and blue collar workers that they seemed to understand.

THEY apparently formed the solid backbone of his support at the polls. These votes helped him to win the larger cities, such as Indianapolis, Gary, Fort Wayne, Richmond and Terre Haute.

But that didn't explain it all. He carried the majority of Indiana farm counties, although McCarthy said he was the only real farmer in the race and Branigan's basic strength had been in those areas in the past.

Around The Rim

Hail! I Mean Hail

There used to be an old dialogue which went something like this: "Hail, Caesar!"

"Hail? There is ashes. Vesuvius is ruptured!"

WELL, SO FAR as the east side of our town was concerned Sunday, the fury was every bit as intense as the historic volcano, but there was no doubt about the hail.

Estimates are now that that bombardment, crowded into the space of a few minutes, will cost about $1,200,000. That doesn't mean that it was the worst storm that we have ever had, though it was certainly one of the worst.

An isolated strip out by Midway can testify from last year's experience that hail can be terrifying. In the backlash from the storm that inflicted costly damage to the Richardson plant, hail literally beat through the roof of some homes. One family couldn't take refuge under the beds because at that instance a wall of water bore down upon and through the house.

ABOUT THREE years ago we had a severely damaging hail storm here. This one managed to cover most of the town, so that settlements finally aggregated around a million dollars.

Perhaps the one that inflicted as much damage is the latest one was the April 26, 1960 storm. Within two days, local agents had received 1,500 telephone calls concerning claims, and when General Adjustment Bureau opened an office the third day, 200 claims were ready to be processed. Unlike Sunday's punishing storm, which concentrated its fury on the east side of town, the 1960 hail hit heaviest in the west.

SOMEWHERE around 1954, about the time the historic mid-century drought was breaking up, a devastating hail hit the city. Pellets, between marble and golf ball size, were so heavy that people had to shout inside their homes to be heard. Then came the artillery — stones. They came through the roof, and others sent geysers of water shooting into the air as they plunked into puddles. Within a week, there was another heavy hailstorm, this one denting hundreds upon hundreds of cars. Streets were so covered with the stones that cars slipped and slid on the slopes as though covered by a winter's sleet storm.

IT WAS DURING this storm that I covered myself with glory. I remembered I was still wearing my glasses as I dashed through the cannonade to a car. With a brilliant display of instinctive thinking, I removed my hat (just how that could protect my glasses, I'll never know), and whammo! I caught a big stone right in the top of my dome. I staggered to my knees and into the car.

Not so lucky was an acquaintance during a Sunday afternoon storm about 25 years ago. He was playing golf on the Munny course when this storm suddenly hit, hurling down giant stones. One of them beamed him and laid him out cold on the green. Miraculously, others seemed to miss him — all but one, which hit the finger of one of his limp hands. It broke the digit, but good.

THERE HAVE been many, many other hail storms hereabouts, one producing stones that banged through roof tops and smashed windows. One man swore that one chunk of ice knocked a hole in the thin post-war metal top of his car. Hail? Man those kind are cannon balls.

Many Problems Ahead In Peace Talks

WASHINGTON—Now that Paris has been selected as a site for the meeting to seek a settlement of the Vietnam war, another delay may be anticipated, because the composition of the peace conference itself then comes up for consideration. Some of the candidates for the presidential nomination have indicated they would like to see the National Liberation Front—the political arm of the Communist guerrillas—represented at the conference. The people of South Vietnam are not likely to regard this as a friendly act. Indeed, there has been a noticeable indifference in this country to the feelings of the South Vietnamese, who are making enormous sacrifices in an effort to preserve their independence.

EVEN WHEN talks are started, the chances are they will be fruitless for several months. President Johnson expressed at his press conference last week a cautionary note as he remarked that "only the very first step" has been taken and that "there are many, many hazards and difficulties ahead." The usual procedure of the Communists is to have a meeting and ask what the United States has to propose. This is carefully noted, and the custom is then to adjourn and send back to Moscow or Peking a report on the proposals. Decisions are made many miles distant from the conference table, and often the other side doesn't authorize its representatives to make any answer.

IT IS PRECISELY this kind of stalemate which the United States wishes to avoid. The belief prevails here that the Communists would venture to utilize such a formula indefinitely, since the meeting is to be held in Paris. Everybody now will be able to learn who is responsible if there is a failure to get a peace agreement.

THE AMERICAN government, in its efforts to get peace talks started, has been blamed for the delays not only by the Communist world but right here in the United States. The critics of the President, many of them motivated by what they think is "populism" with the country, have been accusing him of going back on his word when he said he would be willing to go to the peace table "any time, any place." Obviously he meant any suitable location, and didn't mean the city of Hanoi or any other Communist center.

AGAIN AND again America's adversaries have been encouraged by what is being said inside the United States about the Vietnam war. In the last few days, a survey made by the Gallup Poll has shown that the "hawks" and the "doves" are now about 50-50. In describing a "hawk" or a "dove," the distinction was on the basis of whether the individual wanted to "step up" or "reduce" our military effort in Vietnam. As between those two points of view, certainly a large number would not have a chance to make clear that they do not, in any case, want the United States to go to the peace table and surrender.

THE NORTH Vietnamese have completely misinterpreted the temper and mood of the United States. Certainly the American people would like to see an end to the war. But they also want to be assured that there will not be a bigger war coming up as the result of some patched-up peace which merely opens the way for further Communist aggressions in other Asian countries that would surely involve the United States militarily one more.

Credit Bureaus Work On Privacy Guidelines

NEW YORK (AP) — Prodded by public criticism and the prospect of legislation, the nation's credit bureaus are working on guidelines to protect the privacy of those whose financial histories they compile.

Within a few days, industry sources say, an advisory committee will be named to hammer out standards for the larger credit bureaus, most of which are members of the Associated Credit Bureaus of America.

THESE BUREAUS maintain files on a person's economic status and credit history for use by members in deciding whether to sell him goods or services on terms.

Among the questions to be considered by the bureaus:

—Should an individual be shown his own credit report?

—Should information in the files be given on request to government agencies?

—What information should be put in files?

—HOW LONG should derogatory information be maintained?

The action follows hearings by a special House subcommittee headed by Rep. Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.Y. Following an agreement on guidelines, the credit bureaus then will submit their thinking to the subcommittee.

Some of the industry's stand apparently has already been agreed upon following a meeting just concluded in Chicago. Many of those attending, it was learned, feel an individual should be permitted to see his file on request.

This already is standard procedure for some credit bureaus. Others decline to show a person the information in his file but will discuss specific information contained in it.

LESS AGREEMENT was reached on some other areas in which guidelines will be sought. One of the most controversial areas concerns the release of information to other than credit grantors.

Some bureaus believe they have a patriotic obligation to work with government agencies, such as the Federal Bureau of Investigation. An industry source, who asked to remain unidentified, put it this way:

"It is a serious philosophical question that is not completely resolved. Do we have a moral obligation to the country? Well, we're trying to face this question now and it's a damn serious one."

ANOTHER GUIDELINE will establish specific standards for the type of information to be placed in files. Data concerning a person's moral character generally is not now included in files. But beyond this point, the issues are less clear.

For example, if a credit bureau places the filing of a suit in a person's file, does it obligate itself to place the disposition in the file also? In current practice this is not always done, posing dangers to both the credit bureau and the credit seeker.

HERE IS AN extreme case: An individual denied credit in a large Eastern city inquired at the credit bureau for the reason why. He was told that a court suit was recorded against him.

"But this was a technicality involving health insurance," he answered, "and it was settled long ago."

"Then bring in the information and we'll correct the files," he was told.

Auto Union Facing AFL-CIO Kick Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers union, currently renewing threats to quit the 14-million-member AFL-CIO, faces the possibility of being kicked out next week for nonpayment of dues.

BEHIND IN DUES

The Auto Workers, issuing new attacks on AFL-CIO President George Meany's leadership from its convention in Atlantic City, will be three months and about $250,000 behind in dues May 15 and face automatic expulsion, informed sources said.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council, meeting next week, may take up the matter and some sources predict a majority of its members may be angered enough to oust Reuther's union if it doesn't pay up.

Sen. Brooke Urges Solons To Ease Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's only Negro member has asked his Capitol Hill colleagues to play down talk of potential violence during the Poor People's Campaign in Washington.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., spoke after Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., told the Senate Tuesday that his investigations subcommittee has evidence "two radical and very extremist leaders" plan to grab control of the campaign and turn it to rioting.

Despite a request from Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., McClellan refused to name the two.

Brooke said Congress "should presume the march on Washington is going to be a peaceful, nonviolent demonstration. There is no basis for the assumption that this march on Washington will be violent."

MORE JOBS

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, successor to Dr. Martin Luther King as head of the sponsoring Southern Christian Leadership Conference, has vowed the protest will be nonviolent.

He also has said it might involve civil disobedience if Congress didn't respond to the campaign's pleas for better housing and education and jobs for the poor.

Estimates on the number of people involved in the campaign—to get under way next week in the capital—have ranged from several thousand to hundreds of thousands.

McClellan said his subcommittee learned of an Alabama meeting where statements were made that Abernathy "will be pushed aside and that two very radical and extremist leaders whom I will not name now, are to take his place and lead the demonstration and take over."

McClellan said his subcommittee has evidence the militants will seek to build a "shantytown" on the Capitol Mall between the Capitol and the Washington Monument—whether or not they have a permit and "prevent senators and congressmen from reaching their offices by accosting them on the streets of Capitol Hill."

'POLICE BRUTALITY'

He said "they will place children in the forefront of demonstrations in order to gain publicity about 'police brutality' when police or any soldiers try to control crowds or halt law violations."

"They will obtain new clothing and other merchandise when the looting starts," McClellan said. "They will carry weapons" and "will incite demonstrators to violence and rioting."

He urged President Johnson to issue a firm, unequivocal warning to the marchers that violence will not be tolerated.

The House Public Workers Committee meanwhile approved a measure designed to prevent demonstrators from living in tents or shacks in downtown Washington.

The measure would ban issues of permits for a camp-in on property near the Capitol, White House or the Mall.

SECOND TIME

This is the second time in its long feud with the AFL-CIO that the Auto Workers has withheld dues almost up to the suspension deadline.

Meany previously ignored most of Reuther's actions. But there are new elements in the deepening split between the two men who founded the AFL-CIO 13 years ago by merging Meany's American Federation of Labor with the Reuther-led Congress of Industrial Organizations.

They are also now moving apart on presidential politics and the impending Poor People's Campaign in the nation's capital.

Meany, 73, is throwing the AFL-CIO's support behind Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. The 60-year-old Reuther, elected Tuesday to a 12th term as UAW president, is officially keeping the Auto Workers neutral in the fight for the Democratic presidential nomination. But he is reliably reported leaning toward Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York.

Reuther has endorsed the Poor Peoples' Campaign. Meany, while taking no official position, is reportedly cool to the idea of thousands of marchers besieging government buildings in Washington.

LATEST SLAP

In his latest slap at Meany's leadership, Reuther charged at the Auto Workers convention that the AFL-CIO is "ruled by the dead hand of the past."

Replied Meany: "The American trade union movement today is in the best condition in its entire history."

Meany cites a 14 per cent growth of membership in AFL-CIO unions the past three years, record-high wages and a powerful voice in national politics and legislation as proof of labor's growing strength.

Reuther says the growth doesn't match the rise in unemployment—and that millions of white-collar workers, farm laborers and others aren't being organized into unions fast enough.

Hands Of Well-Wishers

Many hands are thrust toward Sen. Eugene McCarthy at his Indianapolis headquarters where he appeared after it was apparent Sen. Robert Kennedy had beaten him in the Indiana presidential primary. The election failed to eliminate McCarthy as a strong contender for the nomination.

Paris Police Use Gas To Block Student March

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle discussed student rioting today with his Cabinet after police battled through the early morning hours to block a student march on the Sorbonne. The new fighting grew out of a five-hour demonstration by 10,000 to 20,000 persons.

Concerned about France's image with hundreds of correspondents here for the start of preliminary peace talks between the United States and North Vietnam, De Gaulle was reported to have said that more work is needed to increase educational facilities.

OUT OF DATE

This is one of the prime demands of the New Left students who are protesting overcrowding in France's universities and courses of study they say are out of date in the age of space

Montgomery March Slated

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The Southern prong of the Poor People's Campaign, 300 strong and growing, stopped here on the second night of their trek to Washington and planned a downtown march today in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The march was to begin shortly after the body of Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace moved to the State Capitol to lie in state.

Officials were apprehensive that that two processions might coincide. City Atty. Ira Dement said the marchers had not asked for a parade permit, but a last minute application would be considered.

The Dexter Avenue church is a block from the State Capitol. Numerous state troopers had circled the Capitol Tuesday night when there was talk of an after-dark march into the area.

Abernathy, who talked Tuesday to some 1,500 marchers and supporters from Montgomery, warned them against resorting to violence.

NO SIDE ISSUE

"If we get off on a tangent and give the state troopers and the Army a chance to shift the focus to violence," he said. "Then we take the focus off of poverty."

"We are going to keep the focus on poverty and we're not going to let them get us off on a side issue."

The marchers had come into Montgomery on foot about supper time Tuesday, walking in from their buses which were left west of town.

They had come from Selma, the first stop after leaving Mississippi. In Selma they had followed Abernathy — who was driving a mule team — in two demonstration marches downtown.

Rotary Hears Stage Band

Rotarians greeted the high school stage band at the regular meeting Tuesday noon. The band, under direction of Don Turner, played several popular numbers and featured various soloists.

The group was introduced by Mrs. David Haas, who called attention to National Music Week. She was introduced by program chairman Dave Duncan.

Larry Taylor and Joe Moss, representing the Key Club, asked members of the Rotary for assistance in their Work-A-Rama project. This is a program designed to give summer employment to students of high school age. It is being jointly sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and the Texas Employment Commission.

President Bill Coleman read a letter of resignation from Jack Payne. He reminded the board of directors of the joint meeting Wednesday noon.

Participate In Delta Kappa Gamma Ritual

The Beta Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma closed its 1967-68 year with rituals for initiates and incoming officers Saturday evening at Big Spring Country Club. At top, are the new officers, Mrs. Rogers Hefley, parliamentarian; Miss Eulalia Mitchell, treasurer; Miss Elzada Herring, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jack Denson, recording sec-

Miss Mary Foreman Feted At Gift Party

Miss Mary Foreman, who will be married this summer to Dale Vaughn, was honored Monday evening with a pre-nuptial gift shower in the home of Mrs. H. H. Stephens, 1907 Eleventh Place. Mrs. Fred Beckham was cohostess, and guests were members of the Questers Sunday school class of First Methodist Church. They presented Miss Foreman with a gift of lingerie.

Pythian Gift To Mrs. H. Johnson

Mrs. Herbert Johnson Sr., past chief and charter member of the Pythian Sisters, Sterling Temple No. 43, was presented a Mother's Day gift by members at the Monday meeting in Castle Hall.

Mrs. Choc Smith was named representative to the grand lodge June 7-12 at the Stephen F. Austin Hotel in Austin. Also, she was elected Temple deputy to serve under Mrs. Walker, grand chief of Texas, who will make her official visit at the local hall, Oct. 7.

Mrs. Herbert Johnson Jr. presided and Mrs. E. V. Cockermah won the silver drill award. Mrs. L. B. Conway was presented the capsule prize. Eight attended, and 27 visits to the sick were reported. The next meeting will be May 20.

Club Holds Installation

Mrs. Rod Tiller introduced Mrs. L. M. Mauldin who served as installing officer at the Monday meeting of the 1941 Study Club of Coahoma. The group met in the home of Mrs. Wendell Shive, and Mrs. Grady Tindol was cohostess.

The theme of the installation was "Symphonic Music." New officers were Mrs. Trevor Crawford, president; Mrs. W. A. Wilson, vice president; and Mrs. Dwayne Clawson, secretary-treasurer.

A skit entitled, "Let's Look at Federation Elections," was presented by Mrs. John Westmoreland, Mrs. Bill Read, Mrs. Tiller, Mrs. Tindol, Mrs. Paul Allen, Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. P. A. Wynn.

Mrs. Wilson reported on the career crusade and announced the group collected $419.12. Mrs. Wynn, president, announced plans for a spring outing, May 25, at the home of Mrs. Read. Nineteen attended.

Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Crooks of Henderson announce the birth of a daughter, Teri Kathleen, on April 17 in Henderson Memorial Hospital. The infant weighed eight pounds, 12 ounces. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Crooks of May, and the maternal grandmother is Mrs. Thelma Smith, Knott Route, Big Spring.

Desk-Derrick Studies Safety

Paul F. Soldan, safety supervisor for Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, was the guest speaker for Monday's meeting of the Desk and Derrick Club at the Cosden Snack Bar. He was introduced by Mrs. S. Gorman, president.

Soldan showed slides and gave a resume of the safety movement in the petroleum industry. He noted that the first fire protection activities by the American Petroleum Institute were begun in 1920, and in 1927, the safety activity was included.

"The character of the petroleum, chemical and related industries processing these combustible, corrosive, toxic and sometimes explosive materials is such that accidents to property usually involve hazards to workers as in any other industry, so successful industrial safety work requires sustained attention to correction of mechanical and personal faults."

The speaker concluded by saying that the machines and processes have to be guarded and made safe, and a safety program is "data and design, selling and promotion and teaching and organizing." During the brief business session, the recent seminar was reviewed. Mrs. Chester Matheny won the attendance prize, and the next meeting was scheduled for June 3.

Legion Announces Barbecue, Dance

Mrs. Foster Kemp presided at the Monday meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Howard County Unit No. 335, and announced plans for a barbecue and dance May 18 at the Legion Hut.

Yvette Fisher, president of the Junior Auxiliary of the American Legion Auxiliary, invited the group to attend a Mother's Day tea honoring members and Gold Star Mothers, May 12, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Legion Hut.

Delegates were elected to the Fourth Division convention set for June 8-9 in Mineral Wells. Those named were Mrs. Kemp, Mrs. Zella Rae, Mrs. A. M. Stansel, Mrs. John Littlejohn and Mrs. Gary McKennon. Game parties will be resumed May 25. Seven attended.

Closet 'Organizers' Solve Space Dilemma

By GENEVIEVE S. WOOD

Do your closets hurt things at you when you open the doors? Are some of your favorite foods lost for weeks on your pantry shelves? You'll find various solutions and a lot of help for such problems in the modern space savers available today. If you haven't been using these organizers, you'll be surprised at what they can do for you. At small cost, too, for practically every one of them is moderately priced.

These space savers usually are simply and substantially made. Most of those for the kitchen are of wire coated with vinyl. Look to this coating when you buy to be sure the wire is completely covered. Closet and bathroom space savers are usually chrome plated steel. Easy-to-clean plastic is much used for bins and containers. When you buy be sure that each item you buy is a size you can use. This is particularly true of racks and turntables for pantry shelves. Here a size of this shelf space varies so much.

A LOVELIER YOU

Use Warm Skin Oil For Back Beauty

By MARY SUE MILLER

Fashion bares the back for summer. Not only the backs of bathing suits, but of late-day dresses, too. To suggest that satiny shoulders are in demand is an understatement.

Ways to satimize the shoulders and back, as need be, are here detailed. Treat dry, roughened skin with an oil soak. Using warmed skin oil or olive oil, thickly coat back and shoulders; let "set" for 15 minutes. Then bathe or shower, and scrub with a sudsy, long-handled brush or back stick. The latter is equipped with pads that give a treatment lather. In any case, a non-drying soap is needed.

Follow cleansing with a stiff towel. Finish with a creamy body-lotion massage. Repeat several times weekly until the skin improves.

To free the back of blackheads, brush-scrub with medicated soap during daily baths until skin glows. Twice weekly apply a grainy cleanser after soaping up, and massage it in with a long-handled sponge. Thoroughly rinse and blot dry. Then pat on an antiseptic lotion and let dry. (Caution: Do not use grainy cleanser if skin is cracked.) Pimples and eruptions respond to medicated to medicated liniment and washes and lotions, used organizers that you will find particularly helpful.

CANISTER SETS
Because these sets are made to be used on kitchen counters as a decorative item as well as for utility, they are highly styled and colorful. They are in many different materials—wood, plastic, glass, pottery, and metal, and are designed to be nested or to sit side by side. Since they are made for storing flour, coffee, sugar and so on, tops should fit snugly.

SPICE SHELVES
There are many ways of taking care of herbs and spices—single racks or double (depending on how many spices you use) that hang on a pantry wall or door, turntables, and the elaborate and expensive wood racks with labeled containers, usually glass.

TURNTABLES
These handy gadgets, usually of plastic, can take care of many household items, in the kitchen, the bathroom or wherever you have an assortment of small packages or other containers. They are even useful to the individual who must take a number of different medicines every day.

SHelf PLATFORMS
These are most commonly used in the pantry. You can get various sizes in wire construction. If you need larger ones, a carpenter can make them to serve your space and paint them to match the interior of the pantry. They are great savers in areas where the shelves permit their use.

RACKS
One of the problems facing many homemakers is the storage of dishes that are in daily use. Many different types of racks are made for dishes today. You'll find a number of different capacities, from small racks and turntables that will accommodate six cups and saucers to large ones that will store a number of plates of different sizes and dessert dishes. All of them enable you to keep your china conveniently at hand.

UNDER SINK
Another serviceable item in this category is the rack made for under-the-sink storage. Look into the various styles available if this is one of your storage problems.

Stacking racks are made for compact storage of leftovers in the refrigerator. If possible get glass or plastic that is clear, so that you can see what is in the container at a glance. Where to store potatoes, onions and other dry vegetables often is an unanswered question. Now you can buy bins that stack, either on top of each other or in racks. Some what similar closed bins are made for dry vegetables such as rice, beans, peas and so on.

What do you do with your pan lids, especially the dome type that takes so much room? There are racks made especially for this dome lid as well as the conventional lid. They stand on a shelf or they can be screwed to a wall.

The erstwhile rack for the kitchen now comes with at least three compartments: one for the large roll of towels, one for foil, and another for plastic and/or waxed paper. If you have a number of small fry you may want to get a single towel rack for their exclusive use in the bathroom.

STANTON (SC) — The Lakeview Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Bill Vaughn where Mrs. James E. Land, HD agent, gave the program, "Food Dollar Sense." She presented charts and prepared snacks to illustrate her talk. Mrs. E. P. Madison was named nominee for delegate to the Texas Home Demonstration Association meeting at McAllen. Mrs. E. L. Reynolds was a guest.

'ROUND TOWN'

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Those carpets of roses seen over a great part of the city Monday morning were probably the result of the hail and wind that hit Sunday afternoon in the eastern and northern parts of the town and countryside. Many rose gardens were completely shucked and tree leaves battered from limbs left a thick green mass on many a lawn that hasn't come up yet. Trees took on a half-naked appearance. And those young gardens took a beating also. Some who thought they had been spared, and had been on the first go round, were caught on the second storm and everything that had come up was beaten down.

MR. and MRS. JOHN RALSTON, Dallas, are visiting with his aunt, MRS. J. E. HARDESTY. They are en route to San Francisco, Calif., where they will be the guests of his cousin and wife, MR. and MRS. JACK HARDESTY.

Happy news at the home of the BILL McREES the past week was that of the adoption of a little girl by the McRees' son-in-law and daughter, CAPT. and MRS. W. E. DROKE who live in Albuquerque, N.M. The baby has been named Amy Elizabeth and weighed 8 pounds, 4 ounces at birth on April 24. The Drokes brought her to their home on May 4.

Good friends of the J. C. PICKLES, MR. and MRS. IKE PHILLIPS who live in Richardson, visited the local friends over the weekend en route to their home after a trip to California.

In Ruidoso, N.M. the past weekend for the New Mexico State Square Dancers Festival were MR. and MRS. CURTIS THOMPSON, MR. and MRS. BOB ROGERS and MR. and MRS. ROGER FLECKENSTEIN of Stanton. The three couples were joined by friends from Jalisco, N.M., and El Paso.

While enjoying the festival the party also visited the ski run and other places of interests at the resort.

MRS. ARTHUR PICKLE has returned home from Lubbock where she has been since March 19 to be with her son, H. R. Pickle, who is ill.

Back from ten days in San Antonio, Houston and Waco are DR. and MRS. H. M. JARRATT. In San Antonio the two attended the state dental meeting and took in HemisFair '68. They were guests of DR. and MRS. R. F. DICKSON with whom the Jarratts were associated here at the Bombardier School during WW II. The Dickson twins, who were ten years of age at that time, are both married and living in San Antonio. The son is a dentist and is practicing with his father.

Salvation Army Sponsors Girls' Rally In Odessa

Mrs. (Col.) Paul Thronburg gave the keynote message, "Overcoming Obstacles," at the Texas Division 1968 Girl Guard and Sunbeam rally sponsored by the Salvation Army Saturday in Odessa.

The rally theme was "The Sound of Music," and the motto was "While building for tomorrow, let us keep a song in the heart with the 'Sound of Music'."

Five local members of the Girl Guard presented a timbrell drill. They were Mary Moore, Debbie Moore, Janet Del Bosque, Mary Helen Renteria and Janie Renteria.

Capt. Doris Fizer of Dallas, divisional guard director, spoke on "Say, Is Your Life a Song?" and Capt. T. Arrowood of Dallas spoke on Mexican missions and accepted an offering for the work there. Each group contributed $6.

The day's activities began at 10:45 a.m., a banquet followed and a "musical happening" was held at 1:45 p.m.

Twenty-seven Girl Guards, Sunbeams and leaders from Big Spring attended the rally.

Past Matrons Host Breakfast

COAHOMA (SC) — The Past Matrons' Club of the Order of Eastern Star had its monthly breakfast Saturday at the First Methodist Church fellowship hall.

Mrs. Hattie Belle Shives presided, and Mrs. M. E. Tindol brought the morning meditation and invocation. She combined National Family Week and Mother's Day thoughts.

Mrs. Bama Devaney read Mother's Day poems, and a business meeting was conducted by the incoming president, Mrs. M. R. Turner. Future activities were planned.

Hostesses were Mrs. Margie Engle and Mrs. Devaney.

Compares Culture Of Rome To Modern Day

Mrs. Charles Weeg compared ancient and modern cultures when she presented the program at Saturday's luncheon for the 1930 Hyperion Club. The final meeting of the season was held at Big Spring Country Club with Mrs. M. R. Koger, Mrs. Roland Schwarzenbach, Mrs. J. R. Farmer and Mrs. C. M. Pheasant as hostesses.

"Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" was the title used by Mrs. Weeg as she noted how much, yet how little, civilization changes. In comparing the Roman and Greek cultures with modern times, Mrs. Weeg pointed out that the Roman Youth Movement was comparable to today's Peace Corps, the coliseum has its counterpart in Houston's Astrodome, and the Roman baths had much in common with the Neiman-Marcus Green House.

"Man's joys and sorrows always remain the same," said Mrs. Weeg in quoting Thornton Wilder. She further emphasized the thought with Santanya's "Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it."

The speaker said that the greatest teachers of all time were Aristotle, Plato and Socrates, and concluded with a quote from Alexander Pope, "Know thyself; presume not God to scan; the proper study of mankind is man."

The incoming president, Mrs. H. G. Keaton, presided and ap-

Speakers Talk On Curling Iron Use

Mrs. D. M. Moore and Gary Don Carey presented the program at the Monday meeting of the Texas Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, Affiliate 24, at 210 Owens.

Models were Donna Cobb and Mrs. K. D. Carter. The speakers demonstrated the electric iron and the technique of using the iron on hairpieces.

Mrs. Oma McCown presided, and delegates were elected to the state convention Aug. 28 in Corpus Christi. Those named were Carey and Mrs. Fred McGowan, with alternates, Mrs. A. H. Hardin and Mrs. S. D. Faulkenberry.

The next meeting will be June 10 at 1310 Austin, and meetings will continue through the summer.

Twelve attended.

pointed Mrs. Lester Morton, Mrs. R. W. Thompson and Mrs. J. M. Woodall to the program committee.

PRE-NUPTIAL SHOWER

Miss Carolyn Gentry Complimented At Party

Miss Carolyn Gentry, bride-elect of James Grimley Jr., was complimented with a gift shower Monday evening in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Miss Gentry and her fiancé plan to marry June 21 at the Fourth and Galveston Church of God.

Cohostesses were Miss Rita Owens, Mrs. Wayne Stewart, Mrs. Gorman Rainey, Mrs. Howard Reed, Mrs. Myrtle Moore, Mrs. Margaret Ray and Mrs. Vada J. May.

The honoree was attired in a ruffled pink shift, and she and her mother, Mrs. Linnie Gentry, were presented miniature kitchen utensil corsages. Mrs. James Grimley Sr., mother of the prospective bridegroom, was unable to attend.

TOPS Club Group Receives Flowers

Miss Judy Shockey was presented a single carnation for a 50-pound weight loss in nine months at the first anniversary meeting Monday of the TOPS Salad Mixers at the Knott Community Center.

Others presented carnations for weight loss were Mrs. Robert Nichols, Mrs. B. J. Williams, Mrs. Floyd Kennedy and Mrs. C. M. Coldiron.

Mrs. Dan Brasher, president, received a gift of appreciation. Mrs. B. J. Williams was named "queen of the week," and Miss Sandra Wells was named "queen of the month."

A covered dish supper was served. The table was laid with a white cloth and centered with pink flowers surrounding a candle. Floral place cards and napkins were used.

A bowl of fruit and vegetables were presented to Mrs. Wayne Webb, who also won the attendance prize.

Eighteen members and four guests, Mrs. Mike Jackson, Mrs. Bill Shockey, Mrs. Max Zant and Miss Gayla Kennedy, attended.

Gift Party Honors Miss Linda Gray

Miss Linda Gray, bride-elect of Donnie Ralph Baker, was honored with a dinner party Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Horace Garrett, 715 Edwards Blvd. Miss Ann Garrett and Miss Debnay Estes were cohostesses.

The honoree was attired in a pink A-line dress and was presented a white carnation corsage. Her mother, Mrs. Zack Gray, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. James Baker, were given similar corsages.

The hostess' gift to the honoree was silverware.

The dining table was laid with a white cutwork cloth and centered with aqua and white daisy chrysanthemums in a milk glass container.

Twenty-two attended, including Mrs. Howard Kemper of Phoenix, Ariz.

The couple will marry June 15 in the First Baptist Church.

Independents Told They Must Double 'Cat Tests'

BILOXI, Miss (AP)—Independent oil operators have been told they must practically double by 1980 the number of wildcat oil tests they drill each year.

Harold M. McClure Jr., president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, expressed hope Tuesday that even stronger leadership by independent operators in the area of wildcatting will prompt purchasers to restore the 1956 purchasing power of a barrel of oil.

McClure called upon the purchasers to increase the price of crude oil by one cent a gallon in 1968. This would be equivalent to about 40 cents a barrel.

The Alma, Mich., independent spoke at the concluding session of the association's mid-year meeting.

Minutes later the independents approved a resolution renewing a plea that congress strengthen the mandatory oil imports control program. The resolution also tagged depressed crude prices as one of the causes of a prolonged drilling slump that threatens to x x x the nation's crude oil reserves position.

McClure said the independents should encourage exploration technicians and see that this results in a substantial increase in wildcat wells.

"In 1967 the total industry drilled 5,200 wildcats," he said. "Of these, the independents drilled in excess of 4,300. We x x x independents must accelerate to about 8,000 wildcats per year by 1980."

The trade group that represents independent operators in 40 states is supporting a Senate bill that would require the Interior Department's imports control program to limit crude imports to 12.2 per cent of domestic production. The program's current formula includes such a limitation but the independents contend it is being undermined by special favors and exceptions.

"These special treatments have increased from 100,000 to 390,000 barrels a day in just three years and are prime reasons for the industry's loss of confidence in the program," the resolution said.

"Standards must be enacted into law if the program's integrity is to be restored."

Resolution Asks Cooper Dam Funds

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—The Sulphur River Municipal Water District has passed a resolution asking a $1 million construction appropriation from Congress to start building the Cooper Dam and Reservoir. The Red River Valley Association, North Texas Municipal Water District, the City of Irving and the State of Texas will join in the request.

The resolution will go to the Appropriations Committee of Congress. The $1.6 million figure is the Corps of Engineers' capability figure for use in the coming year on the project.

Networks Handle Primaries Like 'Practice Sessions'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Over the years the television networks have learned their lessons well, and today can handle any election efficiently.

But during the preliminaries to the presidential campaigns, they all seem to handle the state primaries like practice sessions.

The Tuesday Indiana primary was a case in point. It seemed to turn out pretty much the way the advance predictions indicated. But all three networks had their sights on the state ballot and their experts put the totals under the microscope.

SHORTER WRAPUP

NBC pre-empted the early evening "Jerry Lewis Show" for an hour-long special program. It made the voting seem very important, but it was unable to come up with anything much that was fresh and exciting beyond the changing totals as the votes were counted.

CBS came along an hour or so later with a shorter wrapup of the primary battle that covered the same ground but in a more economical style. It devoted the second half of its Tuesday night news hour to a once-over-lightly treatment of the unfortunate plight of many American Indians. The Indians subject deserved a deeper treatment, but the show consisted of material salvaged from a daytime news feature show.

ABC OVERHAUL

ABC handled the election in a late evening program when the results were established.

That network, which seems to be having problems finding its niche in news coverage, is about to overhaul—again—its early evening news show. On May 27 Frank Reynolds will take over the principal role in the program.

Bob Young, who replaced Peter Jennings at the first of the year, will be reassigned to the network's New York news bureau. Reynolds moves into the network's top news spot after three years as its White House correspondent.
