CUT RATES

Beware Of Strange Roofers

Beware of strange roofers bearing cut rates. Such was the advice today by Carroll Davidson, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce. In the wake of every sizable hail disaster, out-of-town roofers flock in, he said. Some of them are reputable; some are fly-by-nighters offering cut rates as bait. "We certainly will try to run checks on the reliability or financial reliability of any roofing firm which people call us about," he declared. "but, please, call us before you close a deal or give a check for the work. Too often people call us after they have paid off and when they feel that perhaps all is not well. It's too late then." Davidson's advice was for people to do business with local roofers insofar as possible. "These people have stayed in business here because they are able to stand behind their work," he added. "They will be here for consultation should any questions arise in the future."

Spaghetti Supper

Scouters of Troop 300 are needing new tents and plan to stage a spaghetti supper to help raise the necessary money. The dinner of Italian spaghetti, green salad, garlic bread, cake, coffee, will be served in the St. Paul Presbyterian Church, Tuesday, May 21, from 5-8 p.m. Tickets are $1, but all those under seven years will be admitted free.

New Sales Tax Plan

HOUSTON (AP)—Gov. John Connally's tax plan for a special legislative session includes a one per cent increase in the state sales tax which would be returned to the cities on a per capita basis, the Houston Post reported today. The newspaper gave these details: Connally will ask the Legislature to repeal the existing one per cent city sales tax and raise the state tax from two to three per cent. In effect, the change would mean the city sale tax would be incorporated into the state sales tax. The 1960 census, which showed that 78 of every 100 Texans lived in incorporated municipalities, would be the basis for the return, the Post said. Bill Cobb, the governor's budget director, said the tax plan is prepared but is not ready for release. Cobb said $125 million in taxes would be needed to balance the state budget. "The governor apparently laid out his proposal to incorporate the city sales tax into the state sales tax at a closed-door meeting with 22 big city mayors on April 18," the newspaper said.

See-Saw Vote Count

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—It was C. W. Bradford's turn Monday to win the nomination. He was declared a Republican nominee for Allen County commission in an official handcount of votes, beating Owen Mason by six votes—4,419 to 4,413. An unofficial tabulation after last Tuesday's primary election gave Mason a 10-vote victory, but the election board later added in 133 damaged ballots and Bradford won by 19 votes. Mason challenged the result, and the board found that votes from a precinct in Bluffton hadn't been counted. The new votes gave Mason a one-vote margin. Then the board decided on the handcount of all ballots and up came Bradford's name again.

Withhold Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, now studying urban problems, says federal funds should be withheld from rich suburbs which don't have a Negro population of at least 11 per cent. The former Illinois Democratic senator told a news conference that poor people, particularly Negroes, are deliberately excluded from affluent suburbs through the use of stiff zoning requirements. He said a favorite device is the requirement of large lots for home sites—which substantially boosts the price of the home. He said two-thirds of the New York City suburban area is zoned for lots of a half acre or more and that similar situations probably exist in such rich neighborhoods as Philadelphia's Main Line and Chicago's North Shore. Douglas is chairman of the National Commission on Urban Problems and emphasized his views were personal, not necessarily those of the commission.

Zachry Takes Over Reins Of Troubled HemisFair

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The executive committee of HemisFair designated construction magnate H. B. Zachry—the man who came up with $3 million—as chief executive officer today of the San Antonio fair.

Zachry also is chairman of the board of HemisFair. He takes the job vacated by the resignation of James Gaines, former chief executive officer of the $2.6 acre fair.

HemisFair's selection of Zachry came as an anticlimax after a closed session of the fair executive committee over the weekend. Zachry, a multimillionaire, got financing of $3 million to tide HemisFair over after it incurred a $2.8 million deficit in the rush to complete the grounds for an April 6 opening day.

The fair's early days saw attendance too low to pay overhead, as well. HemisFair President Marshall Steves, a sash and door manufacturer, had been holding the executive post since Gaines quit. Steves introduced Zachry as a "pillar of strength" in HemisFair's organization after the speedy voice vote that put Zachry at the HemisFair helm.

The fair recorded its millionth visitor Monday. Gov. John Connally, commissioner general of the fair, is to address a meeting of local businessmen Wednesday to urge greater local participation to keep fair attendance around the "break-even" point of 26,000 per day. Some two million advance HemisFair tickets remain unused. Hotels are booked heavily for the summer vacation months. Attendance Monday was 20,637. The millionth visitor, 18-month-old Mark Lynn of San Antonio, was carried through the gates in his mother's arms late in the afternoon. HemisFair's projection of attendance called for a million to be through the five gates by the end of April. But the projection, fair officials say, was based on an opening date of two weeks after the April 6 opening and involved some mathematical errors. The projection was based on the Seattle world's fair of 1962 and its financial and attendance success. The Seattle fair ended up in the black, financially.

Little Mark made history of sorts by virtue of being carried in the arms of his schoolteacher mother, who left school early for a downtown doctor's appointment. Daddy, Fred Lynn, 26, a San Antonio barber, brought up the

Rivals Differ On Vote's Importance

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Nebraska Democrats vote today in a presidential primary which Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said he must win if he is to become the party's nominee for the White House.

Rival campaigner Eugene J. McCarthy, privately pessimistic about his prospects, insisted that Nebraska alone would not be crucial to his presidential effort and said he would stay in the race whatever the outcome.

Richard M. Nixon led the Republican list with no real contest—although his managers claimed they had faced aggressive campaigns for absent GOP challengers. Nebraska also was choosing delegates to cast nominating votes at the national political conventions. They will not be bound by the outcome of the

NO CONTEST While Nebraska made its decision, Kennedy was in Ohio and Iowa, trying to build delegate support. He called Humphrey "the major front-runner at the moment" for the Democratic nomination. Johnson said he would neither seek nor accept. Johnson's decision came too late for his name to be stricken from the Nebraska ballot. And in addition, there was a write-in movement for Humphrey.

In that situation, Kennedy said no one should expect him to get a clear majority of the vote. Stephen Smith, his campaign manager, said in Sacramento, Calif., that a 35 per cent Nebraska showing would be pleasing. Kennedy captured 42 per cent of the vote in his first primary contest, in Indiana one week ago, against a three-man field of active candidates, McCarthy among them.

Nebraska has 291,752 Democrats eligible to vote in the primary and 329,014 Republicans. Nixon, virtually assured of victory, campaigned a bit—but not in the waning days of the primary race. His campaign director, Robert H. Ellsworth, was on hand to represent that camp. Ellsworth claimed that the presence of California Gov. Ronald Reagan's name on the ballot, plus a write-in campaign for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, would cut heavily into the GOP vote.

"When you've got a three man race like this, if you get 51 per cent of the vote that's a majority victory," Ellsworth said. Ellsworth was virtually alone in that assessment. Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said he anticipated Nixon would capture 70 per cent of the GOP vote.

OTHER NAMES There were two other names on the Republican primary ballot—those of Harold E. Stassen, and a man named Americus Liberator, who used to be a cowboy in rear as the HemisFair band blared a salute and onlookers cheered the one-millionth visitor to come through the five gates to the 92.6 acre world's fair just off downtown San Antonio.

FIRST VISIT It was the first HemisFair visit for the Lynns. Mayor W. W. McCallister read off the list of prizes the Lynn family had coming. McCallister then held the boy for photographers while one member of the Grand Ole Opry troupe, waiting for a part in the million-visitor festivities, cracked: "Hold him by the ears and you'll look like LBJ." McCallister laughed less than most.

featured popularity race. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey appeared likely to gain a big share of the state's 30 Democratic nominating votes. Delegates to cast 28 of them were being elected, the other two go automatically to the national committee members, who favor Humphrey.

Sixteen Republican nominating votes were at stake. Nixon was expected to capture most of them. While Nebraska made its decision, Kennedy was in Ohio and Iowa, trying to build delegate support.

Shanties Fill Mall Around Memorial

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hundreds of unpainted plywood shanties took shape in front of the Lincoln Memorial today as the Poor People's Campaign hammered together its temporary home away from home.

Just 10 hours after The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy drove a symbolic stake into the ground, 88 prefabricated, tent-shaped structures stretched in four even rows down the mile-long, tree-lined grassy Mall familiar to millions of tourists.

BIVOUAC AREA By midnight the site resembled an Army bivouac area. Curious couples strolled past reflecting pools whose rippling waters pictured the glow of flashlights and enough moonlit piles of lumber to build another 100 or so shanties.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., visited the encampment today, donned a carpenter's apron, and pounded a nail in one shelter. Percy endorsed the purpose of the campaign and said as long as it remains nonviolent and reasonable, "We must be receptive, we must listen and we must learn."

Conceding that the reaction in Congress will be mixed, he said: "I can only say to my colleagues we have as much chance of stopping the march as we did of stopping the women's march for suffrage."

Percy said he thought the campaign would reinforce prospects for the housing bill which the Senate will soon take up. Five years ago, Abernathy's predecessor, the slain Dr. Martin Luther King, stood on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial to tell 200,000 marchers, "I have a dream."

That dream, Abernathy has repeatedly told his followers, did not die with King. With a carpenter's apron tied around his stocky, denim-clad frame, he told some 400 people Monday that "we will be here for a long, long time . . ."

TO STAY "We will be in Washington," he said, "until the Congress of the United States and the leaders of the various departments of our government decide they are going to do something about poverty and unemployment and underemployment . . ."

Each blow from the Southern Christian Leadership Conference president's hammer was echoed by a shouted "Freedom!" from the audience, most of whom had marched and ridden with him on a five-day trek from Mississippi.

Finishing the shanties of "Resurrection City U.S.A." is the main item on today's agenda. The estimated 450 demonstrators on hand early today slept in church basements and recreation rooms Monday night, but many are scheduled to spend tonight in their new plywood quarters. Chalked lines on the grass mark out sewer pipe trenches to be dug. Electric company crews installed equipment.

OTHERS DUE A second contingent of marchers from the Midwest is scheduled to arrive Thursday, following by an Eastern caravan Friday and a Southern caravan Sunday.

SCLC has voiced hope they will raise the total to the goal of 3,000 "permanent" demonstrators who will live in the campsite. It has tentatively set next Monday for the beginning of mass demonstrations which, a staff memo said, may provoke "mass arrests and police brutality."

Despite repeated reminders from Abernathy that his demonstrators will remain nonviolent, the Midwest contingent briefly flirted with trouble in Detroit when they tried to stop police from towing away a car.

WIN SUPPORT PARIS (AP)—Rebellious students kept their sit-in occupation of most of France's 18 universities today, apparently with the backing of a majority of their professors. But after a week of bloody rioting in Paris and other cities, the police remained in the background.

The Sorbonne, the centuries-old University of Paris and hub of the worst of the fighting, presented almost a carnival aspect. Throughout the night orchestras entertained the student occupiers while relays of friends and sympathizers brought them food and drink.

STATUES DRAPED Statues of Victor Hugo, Pascal and other French immortals were draped with red and black flags. The students held all-night talk-ins, with the subjects varying from auditorium to auditorium. "Criticism of university structure, the struggle of workers and students, and the international student movement. The students made no effort at any mass sortie into the streets after the huge demonstration Monday against the government. Hundreds of thousands had marched through Paris to protest the police violence against the students last week.

It was the biggest public parade in France in recent memory. When the head of the procession reached the Place Denfert-Rochereau, three miles from the start, the Place de la Republique was still a mass of demonstrators waiting to set out on the march. The parade was the high spot of a 24-hour nationwide strike which ended at midnight. It was called by the country's four main trade union confederations in support of the students. The strike appeared most successful in northern France, where walkouts in the coal mines, textile plants and schools were reported total. In other sectors the strike was more than 50 per cent effective, but observance was far less in the capital.

The deans of the faculties of letters and the humanities of all French universities threw their unqualified support behind the students' demands for a top-to-bottom reform of the universities. A communique from the national committee of deans said the student uprising was directly caused by "the criminal neglect" of the authorities. The university structure and method of operation date from the time of Napoleon, they said, and they called for a university system designed for "a modern society."

AGREED The government has agreed to student demands for reopening of the Sorbonne, withdrawal of the police and the release of students arrested during the riots. President Charles de Gaulle left the fuss and fury at home and flew to Bucharest today for a five-day state visit to Romania. There he was expected to find a receptive audience for his thesis that the lesser East European nations should act independently of Moscow.

Shortly after De Gaulle took off for Bucharest, the Elysee Palace announced he would make a television and radio address to the nation on May 24. There was no indication of the subject, but it appeared likely it would deal with the university crisis.

Heavy Life Toll In Aircraft Loss

SAIGON (AP)—North Vietnamese forces shot down four American planes and five helicopters during the attack in which they seized the Kham Duc Special Forces camp, military spokesmen said today.

Two of the planes were big four-engine C130 cargo transports evacuating South Vietnamese irregulars and their families.

HEAVY LOAD About 350 South Vietnamese and six Americans are believed to have been killed in one of the C130s, U.S. sources said. This toll would be more than triple the worst previous crash of the Vietnam war and would also exceed the world's worst civilian aviation disaster, the collision of two airliners over New York City on Dec. 16, 1960, in which 134 persons were killed.

The second C130 lost was just landing to pick up government troops when it was hit by anti-aircraft fire. The six American crewmen aboard escaped but the plane was destroyed.

Kham Duc is 350 miles northwest of Da Nang, and 13 1/2 miles from the Laotian border. American B52 bombers continued today to pound the enemy troops around the camp, which was abandoned over the weekend. In the Saigon area, the mop-up of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces continued in the aftermath of the Communist offensive last week, and allied forces reported killing 226 enemy outside the capital Monday.

The C130 in which there was such a large loss of life was shot down Sunday during the removal from Kham Duc of the camp's garrison of civilian irregulars, their families, the U.S. Green Beret troops who led them and South Vietnamese army troops stationed there.

The U.S. Command announced earlier that the plane's six American crewmen and an unknown number of South Vietnamese were killed. Other Americans could have been aboard, but it was believed most or all of the passengers were Vietnamese.

The plane reportedly was hit as it was taking off, crashed into the side of a mountain and exploded. An estimated 5,000 North Vietnamese troops had threatened to overrun the camp about 30 miles southwest of Da Nang, and U.S. planes evacuated nearly 1,700 allied troops and civilians.

"We evacuated our troops and elected to bomb the hell out of the North Vietnamese, which we're doing right now," a U.S. officer said.

NOT MAJOR He said the camp was not protecting any major population center nor was it astride any major infiltration route but "was part of a screen, useful to stop infiltration through the area or an occupancy of the enemy."

Nineteen Americans were killed and 125 were wounded fighting a rear-guard action to cover the evacuation. South Vietnamese casualties have not been reported, but the U.S. Command estimated that at least 300 of the enemy were killed in the ground fighting that began last Friday.

Two Plays

Pat Adams (left) and Cheryl Haas have parts in "The Devil on Stilts," one of two plays being offered in the supper theatre program of the Little Theatre of Big Spring.

Last Chance To Get Reservations

Reservations began pouring in Monday for the Supper Theatre program to be staged Friday and Saturday evenings at the Cosden Country Club by the Little Theatre of Big Spring. Residents wanting to see the plays were urged to make reservations today, as there will be no tickets sold after the deadline Wednesday. No tickets will be sold at the door, and there will be no holdover performances, as was the case when the organization's last production was sold out. Steak dinners will be served at 7 p. m., with curtain time for the plays set at 8 p. m.

Four Youngsters Face 'Murder: Third Degree'

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Judge George A. Bowman Jr. grazed for a moment Monday at the four youngsters, aged 9 and 10, before declaring: "Charge, murder: third degree." The Milwaukee County Court judge then ordered psychiatric examinations for the four youngsters and detention in a county children's home until their May 29 trial date. The court was told the youngsters—a 10-year-old girl, two 10-year-old boys and a 9-year-old boy—played hooky from school April 23 and "decided to throw stones" at the home of Theodore Werhun hoping he would "come out of the house so they could get in and take some money."

DON'T KNOW Despite Bowman's use of the term "murder," the children technically are charged with aggravated battery in a petition filed in court prior to Werhun's death. The police report which Bowman read to the court said that when Werhun appeared, the children "began to throw stones at him. He was struck by a large rock... which knocked him down. All continued to throw rocks." Werhun died Saturday in a hospital, and death "was due to pneumonia and heart failure caused by being hospitalized for the leg fracture," Bowman read. "I don't know the answer."

Memorial Service Held For Donald Van Meter

While last rites were being said in San Antonio for Donald Van Meter at 1 p. m. Monday, friends joined in a memorial service at the Veterans Administration Hospital here where he served as manager prior to his death last Thursday. Chaplain C. O. Hitt, speaking to some 200 people in the old dining room of the hospital, said that out of Mr. Van Meter's death "we can accept the challenge and rededicate our lives to the service of those who come to the hospital and our community for help." This was what Mr. Van Meter did as manager and in his wide variety of community activities, said Chaplain Hitt. He alluded to improvements and programs begun under Mr. Van Meter and noted that Mrs. Hitt had prepared the three large bowls of roses from flow-ers taken out of the gardens

C-C LEADERS OUTLINE PROGRAM OF WORK

Webb Barbecue Support Urged

New members, guests of the Chamber of Commerce directors, heard of committee work at the meeting Monday in the Settles.

Out of the session came renewed appeals for support of the Armed Forces Day barbecue honoring the enlisted personnel at Webb AFB and their families. Marvin Miller, chairman of the base-community council, said that committees would be at work Tuesday to place an estimated 1,000 tickets, and he urged everyone from the civilian community acquiring tickets to also make it a point to be at the barbecue at 12 noon Saturday. Dick Ream will head up this special effort.

Col. Chandler Estes, Air Base group commander, said records showed 1,681 men, plus their families, eligible to attend from the base. All military personnel will attend in uniform and wear name tags, he said. Because of inadequate parking at the base pavilion, where the barbecue will operate from the line.

The Port of London Authority ordered the $500,000 yacht Beariz away from the Tower of London pier where the actress and husband Richard Burton have been keeping their four dogs.

The authority wanted the space for itself and was also fed up with jokes about "going into the kennel business." The Burtons rented the white yacht so their two Pekingese and two Yorkshire terriers wouldn't have to go into quarantine for six months, required of all animals landing in Britain.

The Burtons stayed at the Dorchester Hotel and visited their pets frequently. The Beariz, which is rented, was moved to an anchorage in the river, and the Burtons will now have to take a small boat out to their dogs.

Their own yacht, the Kalizma, has been fitting out in Marseille and is on her way to London. The dogs will be moved to her when she arrives.

Washington (AP) — Rep. Joseph Resnick, D-N.Y., says the Navy's handling of the case of a fired destroyer skipper shows "it values arrogance above honor, and holds firmly to the belief that it is a law unto itself."

Resnick criticized the Navy Monday for distributing to the news media last Friday "false information, knowing it was false," in an effort to discredit Lt. Cmdr. Marcus Arnhetter.

Arnhetter was relieved of command of the destroyer escort Vance in 1966 following complaints about him by junior officers. Resnick conducted unofficial hearings on the matter last week and concluded them by calling for the resignation of Secretary of the Navy Paul Ignatius.

The Navy did not participate in the Resnick hearings, contending the proper congressional forum would have been the house armed services committee, which declined to review the case in public.

But after Resnick's hearings ended, the Navy opened Arnhetter's file to newsmen. Resnick said the Navy did not publish the entire record. He said the reason was that Arnhetter was found guilty of only three of 41 charges brought against him.

Arnhetter, 42, is seeking a court of inquiry into the matter and Resnick has supported his request. Arnhetter now has shore duty near San Francisco.

Hospital Bond Issue Approved STERLING CITY — Voters in Sterling County approved a $200,000 bond issue to finance the construction of a wing to the Sterling County Hospital for extended care patients. The money will be supplemented by Hill-Burton funds to provide facilities for 28 patients. Some of the rooms would be private; some wards. Precinct No. 1 had a margin of 124-3 for the issue. Last February it passed 226-10, but there was a technicality in the call that made necessary holding the election again.

MIGHT BRING VIOLENCE

Panama's Tribunal Due To Name Samudio Winner

PANAMA (AP) — Panama's electoral tribunal today was reported preparing an announcement that government candidate David Samudio has won the presidency by a small margin. It might bring violence from the opposition.

The tribunal, controlled by the government, made no announcement of partial returns amid unofficial reports that the opposition candidate, ex-president Arnulfo Arias, 67, was ahead.

It was understood that the tribunal would announce Samudio had won by about 6,000 votes of an estimated 350,000 cast Sunday.

GUNS, ROCKS No results would be given, the tribunal had said, until street violence that raged Monday subsided. At least two persons were killed and more than five wounded as rival political factions battled with guns and rocks.

The official coalition's unofficial tabulation, announced by a radio station Monday night, gave the 57-year-old Samudio a 3,700-vote edge with 128,820 votes to Arias' 125,118 in returns from 935 of the 1,389 voting districts.

Samudio, an architectural and construction engineer, was finance minister under outgoing President Marco A. Robles.

When Robles gave his backing to Samudio, opposition forces charged the president with violating a constitutional clause against a president's engaging himself in political activity. The opposition-dominated National Assembly convicted Robles in impeachment proceedings in March, but the National Guard kept him in office until the Supreme Court reversed the assembly.

Arias, a U.S.-educated medical doctor, lost the 1964 election to Robles by 11,000 votes after being pegged as the favorite.

Hints 'Touchy' Heart Trial HOUSTON (AP) — A lawyer for a man charged with murder in the death of a heart transplant donor says some "touchy" legal questions may arise during his client's trial.

"It is incumbent on the state to prove that a man is dead, when he died and of what cause," Monty Bray said Monday.

Bray represents Alfred Lee Branum, 18, one of two men charged in the death of Clarence Nicks, 32.

Nicks' heart was given last Tuesday to John Stuckwisch, 62 of Alpine, Houston's third heart transplant patient. The county medical examiner has ruled Nicks' death was a homicide and that he suffered fatal head injuries in an April 23 beating.

"There are going to be some things that are quite touchy as far as legal questions are concerned," Bray said.

Monday were among about 100 students who crowded into the president's reception room after a rally in a lecture hall. Students are allowed in the reception room but are not permitted in the inner office where the arrests were made, a university spokesman said.

The university has nearly 7,000 full- and part-time students and a faculty of about 400. About 200 students attended the rally Monday.

Graduate student Paul Shain, one of the protest leaders, said the students would continue their protest by starting a hunger strike in Weil's reception room.

The protesters are demanding the university drop charges against all arrested students and withdraw orders expelling and suspending demonstrators.

The protests began March 29 when Weil refused to hire Lynd on a full-time basis although he had been recommended by the history department. Lynd is on a leave of absence from Yale University where he was an assistant professor. He teaches part time at Roosevelt and full-time at another Chicago college.

Monday were among about 100 students who crowded into the president's reception room after a rally in a lecture hall. Students are allowed in the reception room but are not permitted in the inner office where the arrests were made, a university spokesman said.

The university has nearly 7,000 full- and part-time students and a faculty of about 400. About 200 students attended the rally Monday.

Graduate student Paul Shain, one of the protest leaders, said the students would continue their protest by starting a hunger strike in Weil's reception room.

The protesters are demanding the university drop charges against all arrested students and withdraw orders expelling and suspending demonstrators.

The protests began March 29 when Weil refused to hire Lynd on a full-time basis although he had been recommended by the history department. Lynd is on a leave of absence from Yale University where he was an assistant professor. He teaches part time at Roosevelt and full-time at another Chicago college.

FRANCE LIKELY WILL HAVE GO-BETWEEN ROLE TO PLAY

Compromise Might Produce Peace In Vietnam

PARIS (AP) — The first positions taken by the United States and North Vietnam in the Paris cease-fire talks suggest that only the patient, skillful diplomacy of compromise can eventually bring peace to the ravaged provinces of Vietnam. France likely will have a critical go-between role to play.

DEADLOCK

On the surface, the first exchange between Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Ambassador Xuan Thuy produced a solid deadlock. They disagreed totally on new moves to scale down the fighting. But neither delegation seems to accept this deadlock as final; it is regarded rather as a start toward bargaining. The two positions on this and other issues were staked out at Monday's opening session in a 4,000-word speech in Vietnamese by Xuan Thuy and an 1,800-word speech by Harriman. Thuy spoke first at Harriman's suggestion.

After three hours of speech-making and translations in the International Conference Center's grand salon, Harriman reluctantly agreed to the North Vietnamese proposal to skip a meeting today and hold the second session Wednesday morning.

TIME TO STUDY

Xuan Thuy said there should be time to consult with the governments back home. U.S. officials speculated that he wanted to give leaders in Hanoi time to study Harriman's statement and send new instructions if they thought it necessary.

Since North Vietnam's communications with Paris are assumed to be far less speedy than Washington's, there may be many such gaps in the future meeting program. But the blank days in the calendar will give opportunities for secret meetings and French go-between activities when needed.

The need may arise soon on the problem of de-escalating the war, following up President

Johnson's partial bombing halt March 31. Since then U.S. bombing has been concentrated on the southbound Communist supply lines south of the 19th parallel, and Harriman said the movement of men and materiel on these lines had been increasing. He called on North Vietnam to show some restraint.

'ACTS OF WAR'

Xuan Thuy called on the United States to end all bombing and "other acts of war" against North Vietnam. He said that was the reason these talks were arranged and other questions—related to peacemaking—could only be taken up after that. But Harriman said Johnson wants some evidence of reciprocity for the bombing he has already halted. Xuan Thuy said reciprocity is out of the question since the United States is the "aggressor" in air and sea operations against the North.

This deadlock has in fact existed for many months, but the effect of the Paris talks is to force the United States and North Vietnam to look at it jointly in the context of a search—real or pretended—for peace, while the rest of the world watches.

Western diplomats have suggested two forms of compromise to break this opening stalemate.

PUBLIC POSITION

One would be for North Vietnam to maintain an unambiguous public position but indicate privately to the United States that Hanoi would de-escalate if Johnson ended the bombing.

Another is to treat the problem not as a stalemate over de-escalation but as a block to carrying the talks into a new phase. This could be circumvented by discussing in detail now the long-range problems of peace involved in de-escalation.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Tuesday, May 14, 1968

Conceivably this discussion, if it went well, could move both nations closer to a full-scale peace conference and make reductions in military operations more attractive to both.

Xuan Thuy gave some indication of the issue might be acceptable to him. He said "we wish to obtain a clear and positive answer" from the United States at the end of bombing but indicated he is willing to wait for the answer to develop "during these official conversations."

Behind such maneuvering is almost total distrust by each government that the other will be honest or make deals without deceit.

REAL PURPOSE

North Vietnamese diplomats are reported to have told Westerners privately, for example, that they just do not believe that the United States will withdraw its troops from South Vietnam and abandon bases in which it has invested vast amounts of money and blood.

Harriman's reiteration Monday that "we are prepared to withdraw our forces as your side withdraws" and his assur-

Houston Told To Integrate

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston School Board has been told by the federal government to make plans by June 1 to integrate its school system fully by next fall.

The district has not made "meaningful progress in transforming its dual system into a unitary nonracial system," said Owen Fiss and Thomas Top, Justice Department attorneys.

In a letter that was released Monday at the school board meeting, the attorneys said the purpose of the letter "is to give the school board opportunity to take such steps voluntarily."

The attorneys said problems in the Houston schools include the lack of white students in predominantly Negro schools, the small amount of faculty integration and bus routes which divert Negro pupils from white schools and white pupils from Negro schools.

"The performance of the school board has not been adequate to meet its obligation," said the attorneys.

Joe Reynolds, school board attorney, said the requirements in the letter are "unreasonable and impossible to meet."

Solons Indicate LBJ Must Accept Big Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress members close to the tax controversy are speculating President Johnson will have to accept a tax bill containing a $6 billion budget cut or there will be no tax bill at all.

Johnson has labeled a $6 billion slash as unacceptable although he has repeatedly pleaded for early enactment of his proposal for a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes. But Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler told Congress Monday he would accept a $6 billion cut in order to get the tax hike.

HOPELESS

One congressional member close to the Johnson administration said it would be hopeless to send the tax measure—already passed by the Senate—back to a conference committee to have the spending limit shaved closer to the $4 billion the President has said he would reluctantly accept.

The conference committee approved the $6 billion figure last week. Others opposed to the deep spending cut said privately the best strategy appears to be to pass the bill and hope the spending stringency can be eased later by separate legislation.

PACKAGE DEAL

There continued to be considerable doubt whether the House will pass the bill. Handlers of the legislation appeared inclined to delay a vote until Johnson gives a clearer indication of whether he would ultimately sign a bill with a $6 billion spending slash provision.

Although the President has spoken in strong terms against such a deep cut, he has never specifically said he would veto such a bill.

Observers said that if Johnson gave the word, even privately, that he would accept the package rather than lose the $10 billion tax increase, passage would be virtually assured.

Five Detroit Marchers Injured By Policemen

DETROIT (AP) — A leader of the Poor People's Campaign says Detroit mounted police rode into a group of 15 marchers—including Milwaukee civil rights leader Father James Groppi—and injured five of them, none seriously.

Groppi was not injured.

About 100 members of the Midwest contingent of the march on Washington were in front of Detroit's downtown

Cobo Hall Monday, protesting police efforts to remove a stalled automobile.

A march leader, Abraham Rice of Chicago, said he had been ordered by police to move the stalled communications car, equipped with a public address system.

When police tried to move in with a tow truck to remove the car, Rice ordered a group of marchers to surround it.

North's three club response to the opening two no trump bid is a conventional request for the opening bidder to show a major suit if he has one. The fact that North actually has clubs in the present instance is purely coincidental.

When South rebid three hearts, North's hand became worth 12 points in support—counting one for each doubleton—and he proceeded directly to six hearts inasmuch as the partnership was assured of having at least 33 points between them.

West opened the queen of diamonds and, with the appearance of the dummy, declarer relaxed, as if his chores were purely routine. It was his intention to draw trump and then play clubs—ruffing one in his hand, if necessary, to establish the suit. The trick count was: four hearts, four clubs, one club ruff, two diamonds, and one spade.

After winning the opening lead, South cashed the ace of hearts and then led over to the king. When West showed out of trumps, the situation became exceedingly complicated. While South can still establish clubs by ruffing once in his hand, the heart suit becomes blocked in the process and he is unable to draw trump.

South decided to shift his attentions elsewhere. He led back to the king of diamonds and ruffed a diamond in dummy. When the jack and ten appeared from the West hand, it established declarer's nine as a winner. The jack of hearts was cashed and the closed hand was reentered with the king of clubs, so that declarer could draw the last trump.

West had in the meantime discarded the three and seven of spades. When the nine of diamonds was led, however, his margin of safety was gone. He could not afford to part with a club or else the dummy's suit would become established, so West gave up the jack of spades—thereby blanking his king.

South tried to run the dummy's clubs. When the suit did not split, he led back to the ace of spades, refusing to finesse and felling West's king in the process. The queen of spades took the fulfilling trick.

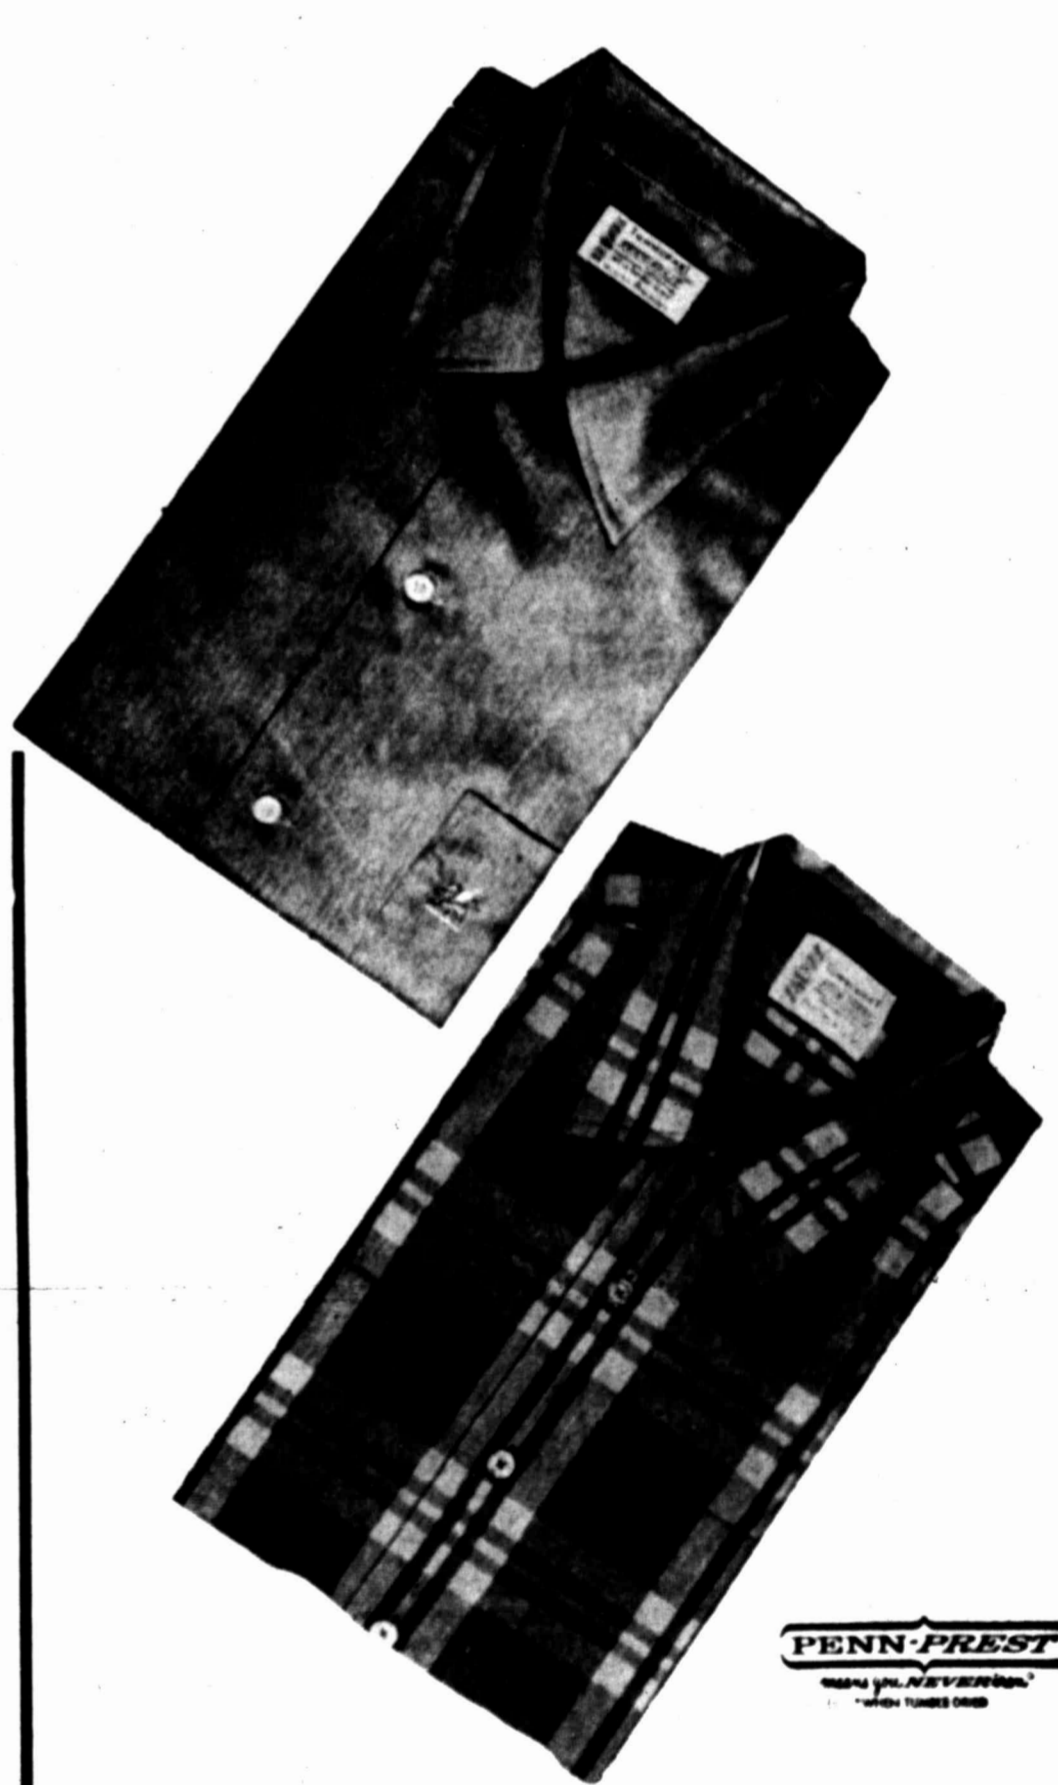

South could have made matters much easier for himself by going after the club suit immediately. It was all right to cash one high trump from his hand early, but he must then switch to the king, ace, and a small club. When East shows out, declarer can safely ruff low to establish the suit. He now draws trump ending up in dummy and the club suit can be run to cinch 12 tricks on the deal.

2 Men Linked To Rio Murders

FORT WORTH (AP) — Investigators held two men for questioning today in the April 19 slaying of five members of a Mexican national family in Southwest Texas. Bodies of the victims were found strewn along US 277 between Del Rio and Sonora.

WESTERN ATTIRE

Detectives said the two men, aged 40 and 24, were arrested Monday for a traffic violation. Both wore Western attire, they said. "We are awaiting a call from Midland, which is the Ranger company investigating that murder down there," said Texas Ranger G. W. Burks.

"They probably will send somebody here today to talk with them." Burks said it was his understanding that at least one of the two men sought in the slaying fit the description of the killer. He said he had been told that both men were dressed in Western clothes and carried Mexican money.

STABBED, RAPED

Detectives said both men would be warned of their rights and held for questioning by Rangers involved in the case since the beginning.

Four members of the family, two men and two women, were found dead and two children were critically injured. One, a girl, a year old, died later.

The lone survivor, Manuel Arrellano Jr., 4, was discharged from a San Antonio hospital last week. All had been shot or stabbed.

Sewer Plant Study Begins

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City Sanitation Department, with the cooperation of the State Board of Health, is beginning a study of the city's sewer plant.

Colorado City manager J. A. Sadler told the City Council Monday night that tests are being made of the plant's operation in order to compare results with state standards.

If tests show that repairs or changes are needed, the engineering firm of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper will be called in to make an engineering survey and to suggest improvements.

The council accepted the report from the firm presenting costs of a recently completed paving program totaling $217,925, less engineering fees. Of this amount, $207,620 was paid by property owners and $10,305 by the city.

The council also: (1) heard a report that the cost of a newly completed dam and low water crossing in Ruddick Park on Lone Wolf Creek totaled $6,794; (2) accepted the City National Bank as official city depository for two years; (3) appointed R. B. Baker and A. L. Geer to the Board of Tax Equalization which meets July 1 — Henry Billberry and Phillip Berman were appointed subject to acceptance; (4) accepted a low bid of $2,690 from Jay Adams Chevrolet Company for a two-ton truck and the bid of $3,200 of Pakmor Manufacturing Co. of San Antonio for a garbage and packer unit for the truck. The Pakmor bid was higher than was Tampo Company's bid of $3,099 but was accepted on the recommendation of Sadler, who said that the city was receiving good service from Pakmor units now in use.

Vote Boxes Change Eyed

The possibility of combining several voting precincts in the Democratic primary is being explored by George Thorburn, chairman of the Howard County Democratic primary.

No boxes would be affected in county commissioner precincts No. 1 and No. 3, where there are run-off elections for county commissioner.

The chairman does have the right, however, to consolidate boxes in the other precincts in the absence of any precinct or county elections, Thorburn said.

By combining the voting places, a substantial amount of expense could be saved in holding the run-off primary.

Thorburn drew for places of candidates on the run-off ballot. In order of listing, the places will be:

Governor — Preston Smith and Don Yarborough; Commissioner Precinct 1 — Simon (Si) Terrazas and A. E. (Shorty) Long; Commissioner Precinct 3 — H. W. Smith and Mrs. Mae Hayden.

Nebraskans Vote Today; RFK Says He Must Win

By The Associated Press
Sens Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy faced their second head-on presidential primary test today in Nebraska and competed with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey in West Virginia for convention delegates.

The Kennedy-McCarthy test comes a week after their first primary confrontation in Indiana and Kennedy said he'd have to win the Nebraska primary to get the Democratic presidential nomination.

NOT CRUCIAL
But McCarthy said Nebraska alone is not crucial to his campaign. He said he will stay in the race regardless of the outcome there.

Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon appeared assured of victory. But his camp said write-in votes for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and the presence of California Gov. Ronald Reagan's name on the ballot could cut heavily into Nixon's total.

The West Virginia primary has no presidential candidates but it will select 36 Democratic National Convention delegates and 14 GOP convention delegates.

PEACE TALK
Preferences voiced by the Democratic delegate candidates before the voting indicated a largely Humphrey-Kennedy contest.

In other political developments: —Rockefeller adviser Leonard Hall said at a private meeting with Reagan at a Western governors conference in Honolulu that he had not suggested Reagan become Rockefeller's vice presidential running mate.

Texas Demo Chieftains Will Certify Results

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas Democratic party leaders meet today to stamp official approval on nominees chosen in the May 4 balloting.

The agenda called for routine canvass of votes by the state executive committee, but discussion of Gov. John Connally's favorite son candidate was certain to be the unofficial topic of conversation.

Connally's endorsement at the state convention June 11 in Dallas apparently was guaranteed in last Saturday's county conventions when his supporters elected more than the needed 1,700 vote majority of state convention delegates.

BIG MARGIN
"The convention is very safely in Gov. Connally's control," said state Democratic chairman Will Davis, "maybe by a 4-to-1 margin."

However, there were a number of contested delegations named that will have to be heard by a credentials committee at the state convention. Anti-Connally forces took over the El Paso county convention and his supporters held a rump or separate convention to name a second group of delegates. Anti-Connally forces also controlled three of the five senatorial district conventions in Harris County and won the Denton and Angeline County conventions.

OUTNUMBERED
In Midland County, anti-Connally forces found themselves outnumbered and held a separate convention.

Most other conventions in larger cities accepted the resolution recommended by the state Democratic executive committee which boosts Connally as a favorite son candidate.

Hall said he and Reagan agreed Nixon is not assured of the GOP nomination.

—An aide said Rockefeller will speak on "peace in Vietnam and the rest of the world" at Pennsylvania State University Wednesday and meet with Pennsylvania GOP convention delegates to seek their support.

—San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto, returning home from a trip to Washington, predicted Humphrey would likely win the Democratic presidential nomination on the second or third convention ballot.

NBC news said a survey completed on the eve of the Nebraska primary showed Kennedy leading McCarthy 47 per cent to 22 with a 9 per cent write-in vote for Humphrey. NBC said the survey of about 350 people indicated Kennedy would get more than 50 per cent if the undecided vote were divided.

Humphrey appeared likely to win a big share of Nebraska's 30 convention delegates. The primary will select 28 Nebraska's two Democratic national committee members are automatic delegates and they favor Humphrey.

NIXON FAVORED
Nixon was expected to capture most of the 16 Republican delegate votes at stake.

The conservative hopes Nixon aides were expressing over his likely Nebraska showing were not shared by other observers. Republican Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann predicted Nixon would win by 70 per cent.

The major interest in West Virginia was on delegate selection and the gubernatorial race. Incumbent Gov. Hulett C. Smith cannot succeed himself.

The chief Democratic competitor in today's special runoff elections for an expired state representative term ending this year.

Eleven candidates in Dallas vied for the unexpired term of Rep. John Field, who died recently.

In Houston's legislative District 23 Place 1 race, Nick Nichols, 39, a Houston welder who has already won the Democratic nomination for a two-year term, faced eight opponents for the unexpired term of Rep. Glenn Vickery, who resigned Nichols has no Republican opponent in November.

In Floridal Dist. 48, the battle is to succeed Rep. Bill Rapp, who resigned. There is no Republican opposition in November.

Busy Week Ahead For President

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson is returning to Washington to meet with top advisers on the U.S.-North Vietnamese peace negotiations in Paris.

The President was due back in Washington this morning after a weekend of relaxation with his family at his Texas ranch.

The Paris talks were high on the agenda of a regular weekly White House luncheon with advisers, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford.

White House spokesmen said the President would keep in close touch with the American diplomatic team in Paris, but planned no immediate comment during these preliminary proceedings in the Vietnam peace effort.

The President also was expected to seek backing from the AFL-CIO Executive Council on wage-price restraints at a meeting late today.

A busy week ahead for the President includes a state visit Wednesday by Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba.

The social calendar at the White House included a private black-tie dinner tonight for Mrs. Ferdinand Marcos, wife of the Philippine president, in this country for medical tests. And Wednesday night there is a state dinner for Bourguiba.

$290 In Fines
Fines totaling $290 were assessed this week in Corporation Court.

These included six charges of intoxication, $175; traffic violations, nine, $90; and petty theft, $25 for one charge.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss and grow more hair.

For years they said it couldn't be done. But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss but is really growing hair.

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc. will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

A Devotional For The Day

He went on to Derbe and to Lystra, and there he found a disciple named Timothy, the son of a Jewish Christian mother and a Greek father. He was well spoken of by the Christians at Lystra and Iconium, and Paul wanted to have him in his company when he left the place. (Acts 16:1-3, NEB)

PRAYER: Our Father, we would remember before Thee Thy helpers—parents, teachers, friends—who are touching lives with understanding love. We would remember that because the need for workers is perpetual, each of us should be alert every morning to ways of serving Thee. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Act Of Appreciation

The Chamber of Commerce, helping with the Base - Community Council, is making contacts this week to place more tickets for the Saturday barbecue honoring the enlisted personnel at Webb AFB.

This affair is an ambitious, but an entirely worthy, undertaking to express appreciation to our citizens whose assignment to Webb makes them part of our community.

Because of numbers and because of their jobs, officers and top non-coms have been honored in the past. But there is a danger that the men down in the ranks might not know how the natives feel about them. Officers freely and frankly say that "these are the men who make the base go." At Webb, they have demonstrated a fine spirit that has kept the base high on almost every score on Air Training Command ratings. They have a pride in their jobs and in the Air Force.

Most of them have a pride in their temporary home town, too, for they have taken active roles in churches, service clubs, youth work, Little League, band and choir organizations and assorted other matters.

A wonderful way to say pass a flower to the living is to purchase the barbecue tickets for a number of these, our guests, and also turn out to greet them at the barbecue. We urge our people to do this quickly, spontaneously, eagerly.

Squatting For The Summer

The Poor People have arrived in Washington and avowedly have squatted for the summer.

This is the first time that such a thing has happened since the dark days of the Depression when the "Bonus Army," a ragged band of unemployed, camped in the capital city. Remembering how that all turned out when Gen. Douglas MacArthur was obliged to rout the dissidents who had deteriorated into breeding ground of disease, squalor and crime, one can hardly look with optimism upon the latest adventure.

There is one difference. The Bonus Army was more or less spontaneous in the outset and existed upon the public largess and upon what its members could beg, borrow or otherwise acquire. The current version for all its alliterative title of Poor People, comes somewhat better organized and financed. They can't be too poor or else they couldn't afford a prolonged stay in Washington.

But, in spite of much counsel to the contrary, they are there. Now it can only be hoped that they remain disciplined, law abiding in spite of the erosions of time and frustration. It's an awful lot to hope for.

New U.S.-Soviet Moves

WASHINGTON — Vasily Kuznetsov, First Deputy Foreign Minister of the Soviet Union, dropped a chance remark the other day that may have been more than polite chitchat. In conversation with one of the delegates of the 17-member United Nations Disarmament Commission in New York he observed that it was important to get all possible business with the United States wrapped up in the next few months because no one could tell what would happen after November.

THESE ARE those who see in this explanation for a series of moves resolving long-standing differences between Washington and Moscow. In this interpretation the peace talks in Paris could not have come about without at least tacit Soviet encouragement. Certainly, active Soviet opposition, matching that of Red China, would have made it all but impossible for Hanoi to sit down with the United States.

With the turmoil inside the Communist bloc, accentuated by the revolutionary changes in Czechoslovakia, Moscow has another motive for clearing up unfinished business with the West. That is to batten down the hatches in the event that a serious storm should start to blow.

THE KREMLIN has just gone through with the formality of ratification by the Soviet parliament of the consular treaty. This provides the terms for opening additional consulates outside Moscow and Washington in each country. The most important provision from the American viewpoint covers the notification of American authorities when American citizens are held by the Soviet police.

Early last month Moscow agreed after a long delay to resume negotiations for renewal of cultural exchanges. And the last technical details have been cleared away for the start of direct commercial flights, probably by mid-June, between Moscow and New York.

THE FRAMEWORK for this is the cooperation of the two nuclear superpowers at the United Nations in pushing for ratification of the non-proliferation treaty. Each is working on respective allies and friends to overcome an undercurrent of opposition centered in resentment that the nuclear giants propose to restrict others while taking no steps themselves to scale back their vast nuclear arsenals.

PRESIDENT Johnson continues to push for a broader understanding with the Soviet Union, looking with some hope apparently to a settlement that would mean a plateau of coexistence — competitive coexistence — between the two powers. It would be a monument to the President's goal to try to bring peace to a deeply divided world. The latest report giving substance to this effort is a letter Mr. Johnson is said to have sent to Premier Alexei N. Kosygin calling for a new exchange on the principal outstanding issues, with a possible summit meeting like that at Glassboro, N.J., last year not ruled out.

THE LETTER is believed to have been transmitted by Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson who was in Washington in April for consultation on the peace talks with Hanoi. He returned to Moscow on April 17 and, if the reports are correct, carried with him the President's new proposal.

IF THE SOVIETS really want to come to an understanding, say the skeptics, why then don't they respond to Thompson's repeated approaches on the antiballistic missile. In his State of the Union Message in January, 1967, the President called for an agreement in principle to forgo building a missile defense system costing not less than $40 billion. Former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said that such a system is useless, since it cannot prevent a first or second strike bringing millions of casualties. Thompson's principal mission in returning as Ambassador was to get action on an ABM agreement. Thus far he has encountered only delay and more delay.

Home Is A Dangerous Place For Kids

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: When secretary of State Dean Rusk was a Boy Scout, he was Georgia's "knot-tying champ."

THE HIGH cost of government: Federal aid programs for fiscal 1969 will total about $20 billion, three times the $6.6 billion such programs cost in 1959.

Alcoholism, which takes at least 11,000 American lives each year, is becoming an increasing problem among older segments of the population. The death rate from drinking disorders has increased 27 per cent among men over 70 in the last 10 years and 39 per cent among women in that age group.

IF YOU value your pet cat or dog, better keep it at home or on a leash "Petnapers" are now stealing some two million cats and dogs a year.

It certainly is hard to figure out real estate values. In 1867 the United States bought all Alaska for a mere $7.2 million. Just 90 years later the late John D. Rockefeller Jr., signed a check for $8.5 million in payment for the site here of the United Nations. Which will history rate as the bigger bargain?

Our quotable notables: "You gain strength, courage and confidence by every experience in which you really stop to look fear in the face. You must do the things you think you cannot do."—Eleanor Roosevelt.

PRECEDENCE: Because Delaware was the first state to ratify the federal Constitution, its delegation is usually given honor rank at national events such as presidential inaugurations.

Putting asunder: A 100 years ago there was one divorce in the United States for every 36 marriages, in 1900 one for every 12. Now the divorce rate seems to be holding pretty steady at about one for every four marriages.

Home is a dangerous place for kids. It is estimated that some 250,000 household products are potentially poisonous to children if gulped in quantity. The items they accidentally poison themselves with most often are drugs, particularly aspirin, cleaning compounds, bleaches and insecticides.

HAVING TROUBLE figuring out what makes you tired? No wonder. At a symposium in Paris on fatigue, 800 psychologists, sociologists and physiologists spent four days discussing the problem—and failed to agree on a definition of what fatigue is.

Worth remembering: "You are getting pretty old when you start bragging that you feel as young as you ever did."

History lesson: Can you name the U.S. presidents who bore the following nicknames: "Philosopher of Democracy," "Napoleon of the Stump," "Son of His Grandfather," and "Houdini in the White House"? They were Thomas Jefferson, James K. Polk, Benjamin Harrison, and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

YOU'RE WRONG if you think icebergs taste salty. They are huge chunks of frozen fresh water that have broken off glaciers. They have been known to reach a height of 550 feet. It would take up to 2,000 tons or more of explosives to blow up some icebergs, but the warm waters of the Gulf Stream can melt them in a couple of weeks.

Four wheels with an engine are safer than two wheels with an engine. The injury rate among the 64 per cent of students at the University of California who ride motorcycles is 100 times that among the students—55 per cent—who use automobiles.

Labor Split

Could Spell Trouble For HHH

By NEIL GILBRIDE

Associated Press Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO is ready to suspend Walter Reuther's big United Auto Workers union in an historic labor split that could spell trouble for the White House bid of Hubert H. Humphrey.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, who founded the 14-million-member labor federation with Reuther 13 years ago, said Monday the UAW will be suspended if it doesn't pay up back dues by Wednesday. This is an unlikely prospect in view of the vote by the 15-million-member UAW to stop monthly dues payments.

"THIS IS NOT an expulsion, it is a withdrawal" by the UAW, Meany said. Referring to Reuther, Meany said, "He's taking this method of withdrawing."

"It's to be regretted but that's the way it is," Meany told newsmen. In Detroit, UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock said his union will not seek to halt the threatened suspension.

"I'm just as glad the AFL took this position," he said without elaboration.

Reuther was unavailable for comment.

The imminent suspension climaxes a two-year fight between Meany and Reuther.

IT ALSO appears certain to further fracture organized labor's once united political front into partisan camps pitting supporters of Vice President Humphrey against backers of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The 73-year-old Meany, a one-time Bronx plumber, is committing the giant labor federation's total political support to Humphrey.

Reuther, 60-year-old former Detroit tool and die maker, is reported leaning toward Kenne-

Around The Rim

Permanency Important

If the heavy rains proved nothing else, they pointed out that stabilized streets are just what they are meant to be—temporary.

ALTHOUGH DIRT streets bear the brunt of bad washing, the stabilization bears up only a little better. Even the best of such surface treatment will require similar, if not more expensive, maintenance, to get them back into semi-paved condition. For this reason, city engineers have hesitated in the past to spend a lot of money on this kind of pavement.

Although it is temporary, nonetheless, a stabilized street has also led adjoining property owners to think they have pavement, thus they have, in turn, hesitated to participate in a more permanent type of pavement. Thus, streets needing a good paved surface have sometimes been kept semi-paved, with the resulting problems when a heavy rain comes along.

THE CITY commission and administration has been discussing another major paving project, to add to the city's string of permanently paved streets. It will be expensive, as are all such projects, and no doubt the city's extra sales tax income will help pay the cost.

At the same time, there are many streets that might benefit from pavement, but the extra money will almost certainly fall short of meeting all the needs. Short of a bond issue to pay the cost, doubtless the paving program under consideration will help, but not provide the final answer.

IT HAS BEEN POINTED out at many meetings of the commission, by the commissioners themselves, that pavement is cheaper to maintain than dirt streets. The big problem has been how to finance the paving in the first place, after agreement has been reached that the maintenance cost will, in time, pay for the pavement.

Maintenance costs are budgeted annually, including the street department. A similar annual budget for paving streets would eventually eliminate this maintenance cost, as more and more streets are paved.

IT IS A DIFFICULT problem, and one which many commissions have studied for many hours. Probably one of the biggest problems is getting property owner participation. Even this requirement might have to be restudied in order to get a workable program off the ground.

Some program of providing permanent paving over the entire city is a worthy goal for a "sparkle" city. Every angle should be given consideration. —V. GLENN COOTES

Senate Contest In Idaho

BOISE, Idaho — Sen. Frank Church of Idaho is a pretty good example of an off-beat Democrat who puts the burden of proof on his Republican opponent who could be called the five-out-of-six parlay.

Two-term Church plays it liberal for five years of a senatorial term, but in the sixth year he makes adjustments to the mainstream thinking of his state. This is not so much hypocrisy as pragmatism, for Church is at least a tip-toe Leftist. And it often happens in politics that circumstance comes to the aid of a candidate whose feet are too nimble to get stuck in the concrete of his performance.

Church has done much to prevent Idaho from being hog-tied by a Federal gun-control law which would be absurdly prohibitive in the Rocky Mountain States and of no more than dubious value to the police-patrolled urban jungles. The senator opposed the administration's gold-cover removal bill, a nuisance for the gold-mining West, but at least a stop-gap necessity for the nation.

CHURCH IS a strong conservationist. This is a typical Western State posture, but not untainted with sectionalism. On the big Western States issue of water-power and watershed-sharing, Church has been pro-Federal in the first and pro-Idaho in the second.

All these positions can be rationalized. They are generally helpful to an established senator in an election year. But they are not particularly helpful to a nation in need for industrial growth, increased revenue within the private sector, and a reduction in Federal activities. Any senator's stature as a "do more" man for his state is dwarfed if he fails to do the right thing by his country.

IN FAIRNESS to Church, he has not been an obstructionist to military preparedness although he opposed military policy. And, in full fairness, the Vietnam War is becoming a dead-letter issue, mainly because our Armed Forces have won it for us. But all this shows how Church, an off-beat liberal senator in a conservative state is going to be very hard to displace.

Bobby's Allowance Running Short

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Rose Kennedy, mother of Sen. Robert Kennedy, added fuel to her son's presidential campaign when she told a reporter of Women's Wear Daily that she saw nothing wrong with spending a great deal of Kennedy money to win the Democratic nomination.

She was quoted as saying, "It's our money, and we're free to spend it any way we please. . . . It's part of this campaign business. If you have the money, you spend it to win. And the more you can afford, the more you'll spend."

MRS. KENNEDY said her family was no different from the Rockefeller's. "The Rockefellers are like us. We both have lots of money to spend on our campaigns."

I can just imagine a telephone conversation with Mrs. Kennedy and her son, Robert.

"Hello, Bobby, this is Mother. I heard you ran out of your allowance after the primary in Indiana, and you're now borrowing from Teddy."

"I'm sorry, Mother, but you can't imagine what television time costs these days. And then the newspapers in Indianapolis were against me, so I had to spend money for posters and outdoor advertising, and before I knew it, it was gone."

"NOW, I DON'T want to lecture, Bobby, but you and I agreed that you would not indulge yourself in one state. After all, you still have Oregon and South Dakota and California to go, and if you start borrowing money now from your sisters and brothers you won't have any left for the summer."

"But, mother," Bobby protested, "I think my allowance is too low. Nelson Rockefeller gets twice as much as I do and he isn't even running in the primaries."

WE'RE NOT THE Rockefeller's, son, and besides, he's older than you are. I could give you more money, but I'm trying to teach you thrift and the value of money. After all, if you're going to be President of the United States, you should have an appreciation for the worth of the dollar. Teddy just called and told me you're wrong in large ones.

A LOVELIER YOU

Try Massage For Beautiful Hands

By MARY SUE MILLER

The hand complexion has very little natural oil. Much of what it has is drained away by household detergents and cleansers. Moreover, cleansers upset the skin's balance. Normal skin is slightly acid; most cleansers are highly alkaline and therefore drying.

Unless the lost oil and balance are restored, your hand complexion becomes prey to many problems of which grubby looks is the least. It is for restorative purposes that hand lotions and creams are formulated with oils, moisture, healing agents and normal acidity.

But however good a preparation, you do not get the good of it unless your applications are methodical. Ideally, the time to apply your product is upon arising, before and after wet or grimy jobs, and upon retiring. The timing is a year-round proposition. There's never an off-season.

An application should be generous, not a mere dab. It must be massaged in well. The resultful massage pattern follows:

Repeatedly pinch fingertips between thumb and forefinger; work with rotary motions on knuckles; stroke sides of fingers as if squeezing into tight gloves; stroke backs of hands with palms; rub palms together.

Try the method. The results are beautiful. And do watch the column next week for a special series on "Your Tour Allure, Vacationing Beauty."

LOVELIER HANDS

Do you have a hand problem? Send today for "Lovelier Hands," a booklet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

BUYING TIPS FOR HOMEMAKERS

Here's How To Find Off-Season Storage

By GENEVIEVE S. WOOD
Are you prepared for the over-season storage that confronts every homemaker? Winter coats, sweater, suits, dresses, small wool items, blankets and odds and ends. This tremendous seasonal job can be made easier with modern storage aids, some of which are new developments. Another helper-outer that many homemakers overlook is tissue paper — the inexpensive, plain white thin paper, and a lot of it.

Never in any circumstance put any wool item away without dry cleaning or laundering it first. To do so invites moths to an all-summer banquet. In case they are otherwise occupied, the stain will be set in the fabric, possibly forever. After garments have been cleaned slip tissue paper into the sleeves and around the neck before putting them on the hanger. This helps keep the garment in shape. If garments such as sweaters are to be stored flat, slip the paper into the sleeves and lay another piece flat before folding.

Small items such as mufflers, socks, mittens and the like can be stored in clear plastic bags that are then closed tightly. Blankets can be put away in boxes or bags made for that purpose. A wise precaution is to scatter moth balls or flakes over the garments before closing the containers that are air tight. Any container must be air tight to give protection.

FOR CLOSET
Some of the storage aids that you will find helpful are: Shirt or blouse racks, which hold a half dozen garments in a staggered arrangement. After the garments and a cover are in place, these racks may be hung high in a closet where they will be out of the way. Ditto skirt and - or trouser hangers. These racks are very moderate in price and sturdy enough to last for years. Sweaters should not be hung on these or any other hangers. Instead they should be folded and stored flat.

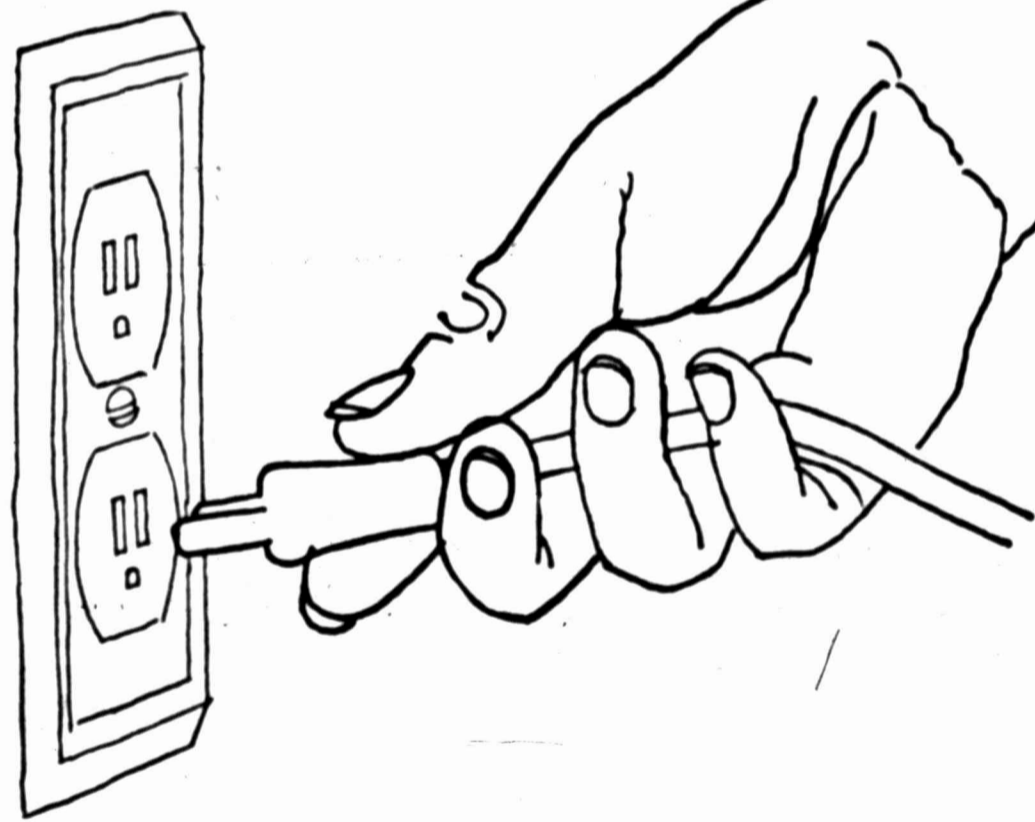

You have a wide choice of garment bags for storing garments for a season. For over-season storage select a bag that closes tightly so that you can give wool clothes moth protection. The over-season bags can be larger than those in daily use without inconvenience. You can get storage bags in a wide range of prices, mostly quite moderate. Boxes for hats, sweaters, blankets and so on are available in many sizes and shapes, most of them in clear plastic and colors. The clear plastic enables you to see what is stored in the box.

ATTIC AND UNDERBED STORAGE
If your house room is limited, underbed chests are one of the best investments you can make. These chests are only eight inches tall, but they come in various capacities. They make grand storage for blankets, quilts, and anything that can be folded flat. By slipping them under the bed you capitalize on space that otherwise is lost. Of course, if you have an attic, any of these flat chests and boxes can be used just as successfully.

Take an inventory of what storage you will need, get all your wools cleaned or washed, store them in appropriate containers — appropriate for both garments and the storage space that you have. It will give you a grand and glorious feeling next fall to take out each piece — clean and well kept, and ready to go into service.

Q. How often do you get a bargain these days?

A. Every time you use electricity.

True, your electric bill probably is higher than it was a few years ago. That's because you use more electricity to enjoy added comforts and conveniences.

During the past 10 years, the average price per kilowatt-hour to residential customers of Texas Electric Service has come down 27%. At the same time, the average annual use of electric energy by our residential customers has more than doubled.

Electric service is a big exception to rising living costs. It's one of the few things that costs less than 10 years ago.

Electricity, the clean modern energy that does so many nice things for you, is the biggest bargain in your household budget.

Garbage Strike In St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Once again a large Southern city is tangled in a strike by garbage men that began over money and spread to threats of racial boycott and charges of outside agitation.

This time it is the streets of the Gulf Coast tourist and retirement mecca which are redolent with the stench of garbage steaming in the 90-degree afternoon sun. There are parallels to the recent 65-day strike in Memphis.

groups whatsoever which are identified with the so-called Black Power movement." Collectors first asked raises from $1.875 hourly to $2.50. Drivers and crew chiefs wanted $3.25 instead of their $2.27. But the demands were cut to 25 cents an hour for all by the end of last week and to 20 cents an hour Monday.

Andrews said the city won't add to the five-cents hourly raise recently given all city workers. "The citizenry seemed to be 100 per cent behind meeting this head-on," Andrews said. "I told the public there has to come a time to meet the problem and, unfortunately, this is the time."

FIRE STRIKERS
 When the strike began in this city of 181,000 May 6, City Manager Lynn Andrews fired all 170 strikers.

Marvin Davies, the state field director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, threatened Monday to boycott downtown businesses if the local Chamber of Commerce doesn't back off from supporting Andrews' action in firing the strikers.

The city-appointed Community Relations Commission in St. Petersburg has urged the city to resume talks with strikers here.

Andrews replied, "This is not a racial matter. It's a labor problem and the Community Relations Commission has no business getting involved."

But Andrews also said, "I don't think money is really involved." The city manager outlined what he called a conspiracy of some sort by young militants among the predominantly Negro garbage men. He said some of the people he termed agitators were of "the beard variety" or linked with the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

"I do not think it was any particular group although there appears to be some outside agitation from somewhere, although we haven't located it," Andrews said in an interview.

Transplant Patient Isn't 'Making Much Progress'

HOUSTON (AP) — Heart transplant patient John Stuckwisch entered his second week of recovery today in critical condition.

Doctors at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital said Stuckwisch, 62, of Alpine, Tex., became grave Monday afternoon. He had been listed as serious but improving Sunday.

LONG WAY
 Hospital personnel remained at his bedside.

Stuckwisch "is a long way from recovery," a spokesman said. "His blood pressure is normal, but he really isn't making much progress."

Stuckwisch, a hospital administrator, was dying when he received the heart last Tuesday of Clarence Nicks, 32, a Houston welder who died from injuries received in a tavern fight April 23.

The hospital said Stuckwisch's condition became critical last Thursday about 48 hours after he became the third heart transplant patient in five days at St. Luke's. His condition improved Friday.

The first of the three patients, Everett C. Thomas, 48, was in excellent condition with high spirits, the hospital said.

ABLE TO WALK
 Thomas, a Phoenix, Ariz., accountant, received his new heart May 3. He is able to walk in his private room and turn himself in bed without assistance.

James Cobb, 48, of Alexandria, La., received a new heart May 5 but died three days later. Dr. Denton A. Cooley, head of the transplant team that performed the operations, said Cobb's body apparently developed complications after a serum was given to help prevent rejection of the new heart.

Two teenagers have been charged with murder in the death of Nicks. Robert D. Patterson and Alfred Lee Branum, both 19 and of Houston, surrendered to police.

Jurors Receive Letters Backing 'Fake' Doctor

KAUFMAN, Tex. (AP) — The unusual case of Freddie Brant took an even more bizarre twist at his perjury trial Monday when four members of the jury panel said they had received letters supporting the defendant.

Jurors were quickly chosen Monday and brief testimony got under way with Arthur Miller, assistant district attorney, and Fred Miller, an attorney from Terrell, testifying.

State testimony resumes today.

LICENSE RAP
 Brant is also accused of practicing medicine without a license at Terrell State Hospital.

Kaufman County Dist. Atty. Harold Hollingsworth said four panel members had told him they received four-page letters praising Brant. He said each letter contained a note, "Pass along to a friend," and was signed "Citizens for Freddie Brant" and "The People of Kaufman County."

Hollingsworth indicated he might try to press charges against the note writers.

Brant, 43, was indicted by the

Dear Abby Advice For Baby-Sitter

DEAR ABBY: Whenever we need a baby-sitter, I ask a 16-year-old girl who lives in our block. My problem is the way she acts around my husband. Abby, this girl is big for her age and she is just developed (physically) as I am. She likes to run her fingers through his hair and wrestle with him. I have told my husband that I don't think he ought to let her get so familiar with him as it only encourages the child.

If I get another sitter, my husband will get mad at me because, crazy as it sounds, I think he is flattered by her attentions. So what is your advice?

UPSET
 DEAR UPSET: Getting another won't help because she is only half your problem. The other half is your husband. First, tell the "child" in a motherly way that it isn't nice for young ladies to engage in horseplay with men, so please to keep her hands off your mister. Then tell your mister to see to it that she does.

DEAR ABBY: What kind of a husband would encourage his wife to line herself up with dates with other men while he is out of town?

NOSY
 DEAR NOSY: One with a guilty conscience.

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon, and am now planning my wedding. My fiancée has a 29-year-old sister who lives about 800 miles from here. She is married and has two children. Should I ask her to be a bridesmaid?

They are not very well off financially, and I am afraid the cost of the trip plus the gown might be a strain on them. But then, if I don't ask her, maybe she will be hurt. I can't very well ask her if she can afford to come to be a bridesmaid because even if she can't, she might be ashamed to admit it, and borrow the money or something. I have never discussed this with her as I hardly know her. My fiancée is as confused as I am and we have no one else to ask. Also, is a 29-year-old woman too old to be a bridesmaid?

WORRIED
 DEAR WORRIED: Rather than risk hurting her feelings, ask her, and let her decide whether she is able to accept. Bridesmaids are usually very close friends of the bride. Matron of honor (if you have no one closer to honor) would be a more appropriate role for your husband's 29-year-old married sister, should she be in the wedding party.

DEAR ABBY: About those husbands who can't understand why their wives don't wear sheer, sexy nightgowns to bed:

I don't know what other wives look like in flimsy, revealing nightgowns, but I do know what I looked like for about two years after my second baby, and it wasn't anything I wanted to show off in a sexy nightgown.

I love my husband very much, and would love to be a pin-up girl for him, but if your liabilities exceed your assets, you are better off in flannel. Sign me.

Dear Abby Advice For Baby-Sitter

DEAR ABBY: Whenever we need a baby-sitter, I ask a 16-year-old girl who lives in our block. My problem is the way she acts around my husband. Abby, this girl is big for her age and she is just developed (physically) as I am. She likes to run her fingers through his hair and wrestle with him. I have told my husband that I don't think he ought to let her get so familiar with him as it only encourages the child.

If I get another sitter, my husband will get mad at me because, crazy as it sounds, I think he is flattered by her attentions. So what is your advice?

UPSET
DEAR UPSET: Getting another won't help because she is only half your problem. The other half is your husband. First, tell the "child" in a motherly way that it isn't nice for young ladies to engage in horseplay with men, so please to keep her hands off your mister. Then tell your mister to see to it that she does.

DEAR ABBY: What kind of a husband would encourage his wife to line herself up with dates with other men while he is out of town?

NOSY
DEAR NOSY: One with a guilty conscience.

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon, and am now planning my wedding. My fiancée has a 29-year-old sister who lives about 800 miles from here. She is married and has two children. Should I ask her to be a bridesmaid?

They are not very well off financially, and I am afraid the cost of the trip plus the gown might be a strain on them. But then, if I don't ask her, maybe she will be hurt. I can't very well ask her if she can afford to come to be a bridesmaid because even if she can't, she might be ashamed to admit it, and borrow the money or something. I have never discussed this with her as I hardly know her. My fiancée is as confused as I am and we have no one else to ask. Also, is a 29-year-old woman too old to be a bridesmaid?

WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: Rather than risk hurting her feelings, ask her, and let her decide whether she is able to accept. Bridesmaids are usually very close friends of the bride. Matron of honor (if you have no one closer to honor) would be a more appropriate role for your husband's 29-year-old married sister, should she be in the wedding party.

DEAR ABBY: About those husbands who can't understand why their wives don't wear sheer, sexy nightgowns to bed.

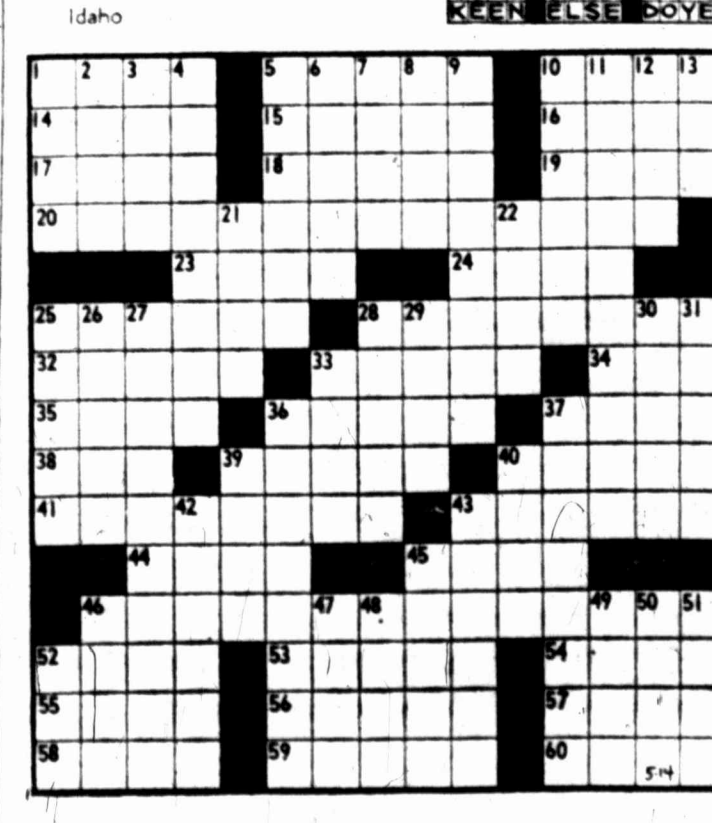

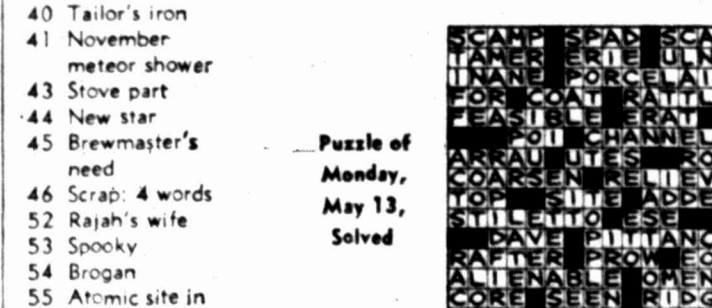

I don't know what other wives look like in flimsy, revealing nightgowns, but I do know what I looked like for about two years after my second baby, and it wasn't anything I wanted to show off in a sexy nightgown.

I love my husband very much, and would love to be a pin-up girl for him, but if your liabilities exceed your assets, you are better off in flannel. Sign me.

rancher said only last Thursday to the lieutenant governor, "Best he would not choose sides in the runoff, you have our vote and support."
Smith's office released a telegram Monday, however, which Briscoe and his wife had sent as farm and ranch areas.
