RUNOFF ELECTION

Tuesday Is Deadline For Absentees

Deadline for casting absentee votes in next Saturday's second Democratic primary election is 5 p.m. Tuesday, according to Mrs. Pauline Petty,

Mrs. Petty said her deputies had handled 114 applications to vote absentee at the office, and 28 ballots had been mailed to voters in other areas. The total is extremely light, indicating a similar turnout Saturday.

The runoff election involves only the governor's race statewide - between Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and Don Yarborough. At the local level, Mrs. Mae Hayden and H. W. Smith are contesting for the Pct. 3 county commissioner's seat, and Simon Terrazas and A. E. Long are vying for the Pct. 1 county commissioner's seat.

Special Paving Meet

Big Spring City Commissioners have scheduled the first of several neighborhood meetings, to explain paving program procedures, for Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church recreation hall.

Mayor Arnold Marshall advised the commission several weeks ago that such meetings were being planned. He, the other four commissioners, City Manager Larry Crow, and Public Works Director Ernest Lillard will be on hand to answer questions posed by interested persons attending the meeting.

At the same time, similar meetings are being planned for other areas. Purpose of the meetings is to explain the complex procedures necessary for city paving programs, which have often been misunderstood in the past, the mayor said.

One Of Nine Rescued

WELLS BEACH, Maine (AP) - Only one of nine Springfield, Mass., area men and boys survived the capsizing of a 16-foot boat in high winds and rough seas Sunday

The Coast Guard recovered six bodies and was searching today for two men missing and presumed drowned. Eight of the nine were members of two families. The ninth was a friend.

A northeast gale struck the New England coast around noon Sunday, and more than 100 persons were rescued from swamped or capsized boats or from islands where their craft went aground.

The Coast Guard used helicopters and boats in the rescue operations.

Sole survivor of the boat upset off the Maine coast was Arthur Savageau Jr., 20, of Springfield. He was clinging to the craft and was pulled from the sea by Oscar Hubbard and William Tower of Ogunquit in Hubbard's party boat, "Finest Kind."

of France's Fifth Republic, which Gen. Charles de Gaulle créated virtually single-handedly in 1958, was domestic stability. And it was on that stability that De Gaulle planned to restore France as a major power in world affairs.

The internal explosion that surprisingly paralyzed France with strikes and demonstrations - gravely embarrassing De Gaulle as an international broker by upsetting the Paris site of the U.S.-Hanoi peace talksappears to be a spontaneous, if longfused, socio-political rebellion against De Gaulle's brand of paternalistic doupheaval did not seem to have any definable ideological, or even partisan, context, though the Communists will of course try to capitalize on the confusion. It was as though suddenly a consensus was triggered that the French had had enough of one-man rule, however benign, as though the society-long dampered-was instantaneously inflamed.

For several years, however, there Gaulle achieved what amounted to a peaceful revolution in 1958, he had the weary, politically soured and econom- cal life

The basic tenet of the constitution ically handicapped people. He became premier on June 1 that year, won overwhelming approval for his strong-executive constitution on Sept. 28, and on Dec. 21 was elected first president of the Fifth Republic by a huge majority.

On Dec. 5, 1965, however, he failed to get a clear majority for re-election and was embarrassingly forced into a runoff that he won 55-45, and his Gaullist parliamentary strength has steadily dwindled. Since then the unions, students, the press, business and industry, farmers and others-despite relative affluence—have been chaffing increasingly under De Gaulle's remestic stability. The mushrooming strictive regulatory regime and his neglect of internal problems while posturing on the world scene.

Under his own constitution, De Gaulle has immense personal powers in a national emergency. His term runs to 1972. Whether he can employ those powers and marshal enough support to overcome France's current French spirit for a pluralistic, freer crisis remains to be seen. He has asked for even more sweeping powers. But this all-French outburst of unrest may mark the ending of Gaullhad been warning signals. Presumably, such an academy, in addition to formalizing and improving training for state police, would develop a program of state aid for professional training of forces of local law-enforcement agencies. It could valuably supplement, especially in advanced training, the municipal police academy and in-service training programs of the state's larger cities.

Two major presidential commissions have now stressed the need for itself, if such federal aid is not forthgenerally improved police training coming, would be a substantial imthroughout the country both as a provement over the existing situation.

A new state spending item likely means to check the rising crime rate to be approved in the June special and control the rising tide of urban snarled in controversy over gun regulations, Supreme Court criminal-law aid for crime control seems sure to come sooner or later.

> Experience with the Federal Bureau of Investigation's police academy, in seminars for state and local police, though hardly more than a token effort, has indicated the potential. It appears probable, therefore, that a state police academy, which offered local training aid, would have a first call on federal crime-control aid. But even what the state could do for

But your anxiety and frustration underscore the seriousness of breaking God's moral law. The agony of heart and mind you have experienced just doesn't justify a few moments of fleeting pleasure. The Bible tells us that God grieves when we sin because He loves us, and desires that we be happy and have peace of mind. But the fragedy of sin is what it does to us. You say, "Many nights I have cried myself to sleep over this mistake." Unless you accept Christ's forgiveness. this stain will be upon your conscience the rest of your life. Every day I receive letters from people who committed immorality in their youth, and they have never been able to escape the anguish of conscience, and it has colored their whole lives. The Scriptures say that this sin is forgiveable. Christ said to the adultress: "Neither do I condemn you: go your way and sin no more." This week past, farm folk from Sherman north to Crystal City south have allowed we just might be having one of our "guessin'est" spring weathers in memory. Some reach back 60 years to recall a similar Black May. Too wet! No sun! Every creepin' thing in Kingdom come.

Waco's R. W. Cervenka, who knows men of the land, can tell a harder time. Researching his fellow Czech countrymen in Milam County east of Temple, he recalls from family record, a Black May in 1876. That was grasshoppers; he figures, a record.

"THE FARMERS, planting cotton, heard a sound as though something were falling to earth: grasshoppers so numerous it was impossible to go outside . . . and eating anything green. If a farmer didn't have his well covered, they'd fill it. No pumps in those days; the grasshoppers had to come out by buckets." Children couldn't go out; they got in your clothes.

When they finally flew north, they 'overshadowed the sun" for three days. And all of spring's green promise looked like winter, down to barebone trees. But then some rain came; the farmers started planting again, and those with no seed were helped by their neighbors. Well. I like farmers. They're not gamblers; just determined men. Whatever Black May.

San Antonio's B.B.: "OBT told of a ghost dog in West Texas. My daddy used to tell of one in the brush country near George West or Three Rivers. In the early '20s, he was driving a Model-T Ford down there and picked up an old man, walking through the brush country on a lonely road. The old man had a big dog; but he said not to worry. The dog just went along to protect him and he wouldn't hurt friend. So he took them both.

"MY FATHER let the old man out at a little road that led to a shack, and then drove on to Laredo. On the way back, he drove out of his way to stop by, because the shack was tumbled down and he had begun to worry that the old man couldn't take care of himself.

"To his surprise, he found the shack all fallen down and deserted, it looked for years. The people around there said it was vacant, that an old man had lived there many years before. But he was killed by bandits who were after gold he was supposed to have hidden in the place. They also killed his dog. The old house stayed empty thereafter.

Noting our recent query re Texas Navy Cottonclads off Galveston, Houston's Billy Wills relates this account. Blockading the Texas coast in the fall of 1862, Federal troops landed on Galveston from a gunboat squadron and occupied that city for roughly three months. ON NEW YEAR'S Eve, Confederate Gen. John B. Magruder retook the city, attacking both by land and sea. The Texan fleet were two "Cottonclads": coastal packets armored with cotton bales and gunned with riflemen. Harriet Lane alone should be able to account for a dozen like those two. But "Bayou City" rammed and boarded Harriet Lane. The other federals were shot up sufficiently by riflemen that they withdrew.

Holmes Alexander Nixon Is November-Minded

WASHINGTON — "I just happen to be the guy," said Richard Nixon. In the capacious backseat of the chartered limousine, he was as relaxed as his language

He'd arrived here long after midnight, had made a major speech, had submitted to trip-wire questioning, opened a new headquarters, talked with his workers, shaken hands and given autographs amid a jostling crowd and now was headed for another cross-country flight and more of the same campaigning.

HE "JUST happened to be the guy." said Nixon, because this was a year when the people wanted a change. The three Democratic candidates -Humphrey, Kennedy, McCarthy — all belonged to the liberal wing of their party. Nelson Rockefeller, the only announced Republican of any consequence, was also an avowed liberal.

Nixon wasn't going to say that Rocky had waited too long to make his move, "because no one should underestimate the power of money." And Nixon preferred to take Ronald Reagan's noncandidacy at face value. "I think we're going to win," said Nixon. He was thinking and talking past the GOP Convention of August. He was November-minded.

I SAID Arthur Krock had remarked that Johnson and Humphrey were both 'subjective" politicians in a time that called for objective leadership. Nixon said, yes, that it was one thing to feel sorrow for the anti-poverty demonstrators, but that a President ought to "think nationally" about all the poor people in the country, and not just special groups of them. It was a 'cruel delusion" to hold out hope of ending poverty by billion - dollared

HIS NOVEMBER-mindedness meant The principal carcinogen in ming up their conclusions, addressed, stamped envelope. against Democrats. He agreed that guy who stands for change."

Bob Kennedy was preaching revolution - "irresponsible revolution," Nixon called it. Some revolution was necessary for the Republicans to bring about social and economic change, but Nixon was uncomfortable with a word that implied violence. "Evolution," he said. "Call it responsible evolution."

A President doesn't have full control over his Congressional programs. but a change in the White House could abruptly alter foreign policy. Nixon looks upon Russia as the pressurepoint where the hemorrhage of war can be stopped. The USSR is supplying 80 per cent of the arms and 100 per cent of the oil to Hanoi. What we can do about it, Nixon believes, is to substitute toughness for accommodation. If he were President, Russia would get "no bridge-building, no credits, no economic concession at all," until it ceased all aid to Hanoi. There would also be under Nixon a strong policy to "enlist" the NATO allies in peace-keeping common inter-

NIXON'S SERENITY had to be witnessed to be believed. He wore it as lightly as he did the well-tailored spring suit, and as jauntily as a man going off for a lazy weekend at the cottage. How could he be so blithe? There was still the threat that Rockefeller, or a Rockefeller - Reagan ticket, would frustrate him in Miami.

If he won the nomination, he would be an underdog to Humphrey or raw meat to the daggers of the Kennedy clique/If he won the election, he would take over a riotous, divided, defeat-fed nation that craved but defied the hope of reconciliation.

SOME MEN might need a messiahcomplex to have self-confidence in such conditions, but not Nixon.

Bridge Test

-CHARLES H. GOREN

BY CHARLES H. GOREN (e 1946 by The Chicago Tribune)
ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as

South you hold: ♦AQJ94 ♥K ♦K962 ♣K32 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West Pass 1 ♠ Pass

Pass What do you bid now? A.—Our recommended call is a bid of four no trump. If our partner shows up with three aces, it is our intention to contract for a grand slam. If he has only two, naturally, we shall have to be content with a little slam and, if he has only one, we shall feel constrained to send him to the local teacher for a refresher

Q. 2-As South, vulnerable,

▲AK 984 ♥AKQ 95 ♦A ♣52 The bidding has proceeded: West North East South Pass 2 > ?

What do you bid? A .- Something is rotten in whatever state you happen to be reading this. There is scarcely enough outstanding strength to piece together an opening bid, but to combine that with a jump shift suggests a mere fantasy. Surely you will not wish to retire from the contest at less than the level of five in one or the other of your major suits and, in order to be sure that the bidding does not suddenly subside, a game forcing cue bid of three diamonds is recommended.

Q. 3-East-West vulnerable. As South you hold: ♠QJ92 ♥A5 ♦ 763 ♣QJ64 The bidding has proceeded: East South West North Pass Pass Pass 1 🛇

What do you bid now? A.—Double. Your hand has a reasonable expectancy of developing four tricks in the play and if partner can do as well you should score a 500 point profit, which is more than you can do by going game, assuming that your side can do so, which is by no means established.

Q. 4-Both vulnerable, as South you hold: AA 73 ♥K765 ♦62 AK965 The bidding has proceeded: North East South Pass Pass ? 1 ◊

What do you bid? A .- You should be unwilling to sell out so cheaply. Partner is may even have been lying in wait to double. Partner should not take such action by you too seriously under these conditions and should test out the situation before making any drastic commitments. It is good practice to re-open the bidding in this situation. with a hand that is average in high cards.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, ▲KJ97 ♥Q93 ♦62 ♣J632

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West Pass 1 A Pass Pass

What do you bid now? A.—Two hearts, to give partner another chance without increasing the contract. The hand is not strong enough to warrant a raise

Q. 6-As South, vulnerable, you hold: AAQ ♥J742 ♦Q 10 765 AA6 The bidding has proceeded:

1 ♦ Pass ? What do you bid? A.—We would not be inclined to settle for less than a game contract and in order to insure getting there the recommendation is for a cue bid of two clubs. From partner's next step it may become more evident whether the better course lies in a three no trump contract or a try for game

West North East South

Q. 7—East-West vulnerable. As South you hold:

♠AJ962 ♥4 ♦A 1063 ♣1074 The bidding has proceeded: North East South 2 🚓

What do you bid? A.—Double. A bid of two spades by you would be forcing for one round and would prove embar-rassing if partner rebid his hearts. I think it is safe to assume that you can win three or four tricks against the club declaration which, added to the three that the opening bidder is expected to have, should produce a sizable

Q. 8-East-West vulnerable. As South you hold: AA 102 ♥AJ753 ♦K3 4654 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 ♠ 2 ♥ Pass 1 ◊ 40 Pass

What do you bid now? A.—You have a good opening bid facing a partner who has opened and jumped. Your proper bid is four spades, showing control of that suit and, if partner night take the liberty of
