FIRST OF YEAR Brush Fires Raging In California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's first major brush fires of the year raged on today after ravaging thousands of acres of tinder-dry park land.

A blaze in Angeles National Forest, a watershed area 40 miles north of Los Angeles, has burned more than 40,000 acres in the Liebre Mountain area since Friday. It was reported 50 per cent contained, fire officials said.

A second blaze about 16 miles east, in the huge forest's Bouquet Canyon section, charred more than 3,500 acres before it was brought under control late Sunday.

A 3,000-acre fire in central California's Los Padres National Forest, 60 miles north of San Luis Obispo near the California coast, was about 90 per cent contained.

More than 1,500 firemen, including men from the U.S. Forest Service, Los Angeles County Fire Department, California Division of Forestry and about 150 Arizona Indians, battled the inferno. Five fire fighters were injured Friday, one critically. No communities were threatened, authorities said.

No More Silver

WASHINGTON (AP) — Silver certificates are still money but effective this afternoon they can no longer be exchanged for silver.

The Treasury Department redeemed the certificates with silver at its New York and San Francisco assay offices until the 3 p.m. closing time today.

As of that time the government also no longer maintains the official silver price of $1.29 — a price that had long since risen on the open market due to increased industrial demands for the metal.

Crushed Under Stone

GRAPEVINE, Tex. (AP) — A giant rock used for sunbathing tumbled into Lake Grapevine Sunday, killing an American Airlines stewardess trainee. Seven other persons managed to leap to safety. Pinned under the 20-ton stone in six feet of water was Barbara Maudry, 23, of Sycamore, Ill.

One witness said the rock suddenly tilted forward toward the water as the couples sunbathed. The other seven jumped off and one man tried to grab the victim as she fell into the water and under the stone.

Brenda Moves Away

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Brenda moved away from Bermuda today, spending her 75 mile winds on open ocean.

Brenda was traveling east-northeastward from her midnight position 275 miles from Bermuda at an estimated rate of about 20 miles an hour, the Weather Bureau reported.

The hurricane was to intensify later today, but little change in size or speed was forecast.

Fall Over Dam

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A motorboat containing 10 persons drifted over a dam and crashed into rocks in swirling rapids Sunday. Rescuers saved seven people, but three were missing and presumed drowned.

Montgomery County sheriff's deputies said the boat was pulling a man on water skis when its engine stopped.

Flood Devastation

HONG KONG (AP) — Southern China has been devastated by floods, and traffic between the north and south through central China has come to a virtual standstill, according to letters and travelers arriving in Hong Kong from Communist China.

Crops have been ruined and many lives lost in Hunan, Hupeh, Kwangsi, Kiangsu, Chekiang, Kiangsi and Kwangtung provinces, the reports said.

Only Fishing Boat

SEOUL (AP) — The ship North Korea sank Saturday was not an American spy boat but a small South Korean fishing vessel, a Seoul newspaper reported Sunday.

The Hankook Ilbo quoted military intelligence sources who denied the North Korean claim broadcast from Pyongyang. The U.S. Defense Department also denied any American ship had been sunk.

Prison Fire

This aerial view of the Ohio State Penitentiary shows fires in several parts of prison compound Monday where prisoners rioted and started fires. Front of prison is at bottom of picture. Prison hospital where several hospital workers and patients were trapped for a time is mostly obscured by smoke at top of water tower. Hospital was on fire but workers and patients were evacuated. Among burning buildings is prison mattress plant in back left of compound.

Rioting Inmates Start Fires In Ohio Prison

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rioting inmates who armed themselves with ball bats and homemade knives set fire to eight buildings inside the century-old Ohio Penitentiary Monday morning. At least 20 persons were injured.

But by noon, four hours after the first fire broke out, officials said order was being restored in the prison. Many of the more than 300 convicts involved in the rioting were herded onto the prison's baseball diamond to be returned to cells.

SCISSORS BATTLE
The convicts also battled guards with scissors from the prison tailor shop and butcher knives from the kitchen.

Two hundred Ohio National Guardsmen were alerted at 8:30 a.m. and ordered to the prison at noon to prevent further disturbances. Six hundred other guardsmen were ordered to standby.

Officials estimated damage at well over $1 million from the eight fires.

One major fire temporarily trapped nearly 100 persons in the prison's hospital.

Maury C. Koblenz, state corrections chief, said "there is a degree of control within the prison by various law enforcement units."

No shots were fired. Warden

Ernie Maxwell said Maury Koblenz, state corrections chief, said at least 20 persons were injured, including 10 prison guards.

Maxwell said the hospital fire was the most critical of the disturbance. He said 92 to 100 inmates and employees were in the hospital, but were brought out by heavily armed guards and police.

Hundreds of inmates milled in the prison yards, but an official said he believed the disturbance was led by a cadre of only 15 to 20 convicts.

The cause was not known immediately, and Koblenz said there had been no communications with the rioting inmates.

He said he had no knowledge of any demands by the convicts.

Asks Gun Control 'Or I'll Shoot'

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md., said he has received several hundred communications urging his support of gun control legislation, including one from a caller who told his secretary: "If Long doesn't get a gun control bill through Congress within two weeks, I'll shoot him."

At least seven fires erupted inside the walled prison, which houses 2,750 inmates. Some of the fires were still burning three hours later.

Maxwell said the hospital fire was "out of control 10 to 20 minutes."

NO DANGER
There was never any danger of a mass breakout," Koblenz said.

Maxwell credited a number of inmates with helping to put out some of the fires.

Two hundred Ohio National Guardsmen were sent to their armory, but they were not called into duty at the prison. One hundred state highway patrol, city police and sheriff's deputies reinforced the prison guards.

Maxwell said 220 prison guards were on duty before the first fire broke out.

The warden thought it likely the riot and fires were spontaneous.

"I can't believe it was a planned revolt," he said, although he said the situation has been "tight for the last week."

He referred to a sit-down strike by 51 inmates last week, and another disturbance when four prisoners commandeered the roof of the power plant. They surrendered to a 10-man guard unit.

The seven fires were reported in the hospital, the deputy warden's office, the woolen mill, printing shop, power plant, and the paint shop.

Many of the injured were treated for smoke inhalation. Two men carried out on stretchers were bleeding from the forehead. Three guards suffered apparent heart attacks.

Donald Craig, an employee, said he was in the hospital shortly before 8 a.m. when he was rushed by several inmates armed with clubs and scissors. He said he and other employees ran to the third floor and barricaded themselves.

Inmates then set fire to the hospital, Craig said.

Craig said trapped employees smashed windows and attempted to escape by tying blankets in knots and sealing the outside. They were rescued by guards and some inmates.

40 FEET

The roaring flames leaped 40 feet into the air, and heavy black smoke billowed over downtown Columbus.

The maximum security institution was swept by a holocaust April 21, 1930 in which 320 inmates died.

City Police Chief Robert Baus instructed bayoneted-armed police: "Stay in squads. Don't get within wrestling distance."

Police were told, "be aggressive" and use only "selective firing, if any."

Hundreds of inmates were mulling in the prison yards, but Baus said the disturbance was being led by a cadre of 15 to 20 convicts.

LAST WEEK

Last Thursday, four prisoners commandeered the roof of the prison's power plant, but surrendered to a 10-man guard force sent to regain control of the men.

Earlier last week, 51 of 108 inmates assigned to duty in the power plant coal yard refused to work for a day. They went on strike a week ago today and most returned the next day.

Campers Cleared Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police armed with shotguns and tear gas moved through and took possession of the Poor People's Campaign Resurrection City today. At the Capitol, other police arrested the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, the campaign leader.

About 50 arrests were made at Resurrection City, where the residents had been told they could no longer stay on public land. Abernathy was arrested, peacefully, on charges of violating a law which forbids demonstrations on the Capitol grounds.

MASSIVE SHOW
Despite the massive show of force—1,500 police were on hand—there was no serious violence as police cleared the camp.

As police with their shotguns and tear gas guns at the ready approached the gates of the camp the only sound was a man singing civil rights songs over the camp's public address system.

The police moved down in two lines checking each of the shanties and tents to see if any campers remained.

Halfway through the encampment they found a tent containing more than 50 demonstrators singing and clapping. This group submitted to arrest nonviolently and they were taken one by one to waiting police buses.

William Rutherford, executive director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which ran the Poor People's campaign, called the police operation orderly.

TEAR GAS
Two tear gas canisters did go off on the sweep down the camp. One apparently was part of the booby trap which went off when police ripped open a shanty door. Police fired the second one apparently assuming there was someone inside.

The arrest process at the tent took more than a half hour with the demonstrators including women and children singing such songs as "Do Right, White Man, Do Right."

Abernathy, who has frequently proclaimed he would be arrested, offered no resistance as two policemen led him and other demonstrators to be photographed and then placed him aboard a bus.

At Resurrection City, police were working their way through the camp from east to west, that is from the Washington Monument to the Lincoln Memorial area.

ULTIMATUM
The residents were given a police ultimatum at 9:42 a.m.

EDT to get out or be arrested. More than 1,500 riot-equipped Metropolitan and Park police were on duty to enforce the order.

John Diamond, a member of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference staff, said "upward of 100" members of the Poor People's Campaign were all that remained in the city when police entered.

Senate Panel Gives Okay To Increase In Sales Tax

AUSTIN (AP) — A Senate committee approved a one cent increase in the state sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent, today after defeating, 9-8, a motion which several members said would kill the bill.

Sen. Charles Herring of Austin asked that the measure be sent to a subcommittee "to see what we've got" after several amendments, including one to raise the tax on natural gas, were tacked on.

'KILL THE BILL'
Several members of the Senate State Affairs Committee appeared puzzled at first by Herring's motion, and then cries of "Kill the bill" went up from several on the committee.

Some senators went directly from the 90 minute hearing to another committee session on Gov. John Connally's small bottle liquor by the drink bill.

The major change in the sales tax measure, which passed the House last week, would make the effective date Oct. 1, rather than next Jan. 1.

Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo said the measure would bring in $169.9 million with an October starting date. The state comptroller said a January date would add $100.2 million to state finances, compared to an estimated $132 million to $138 million needed in new funds.

Sens. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston and Barbara Jordan of Houston offered the amendment to raise the gas tax from 7 per cent to 8 per cent of value. It survived a motion to table, 7-9.

Schwartz said it would bring in $12 million to $12.5 million a year.

The committee struck out a section requiring trading stamp companies to pay the state the value of trading stamps unredeemed after seven years.

It also defeated, 9-7, a Schwartz and Jordan attempt to raise the franchise tax from $2.25 to $3 per $1,000 of assets, and their motion to put alcoholic beverages, cigarettes and tobacco products under the sales tax.

Hardeman failed in an attempt to repeal the chain store tax.

When they quit for the week Thursday, legislators thought they would need $132 million to $138 million in new taxes to cover spending for the next fiscal year. Passage by Congress of President Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge adds to the problem.

Rusk Urges Allies To Press For Understanding

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the Western allies should press their search for East-West understanding despite Communist trouble-making in the Middle East, Southeast Asia, Germany and elsewhere.

Addressing the North Atlantic Council of Foreign Ministers, Rusk said there can be no across-the-board hostilities while thousands of megatons of nuclear explosives are available to destroy the world.

The allies nevertheless have been deeply disturbed by difficulties inside Germany, and the secretary called for total NATO solidarity in the face of the latest Communist pressures against Berlin and the West Germans.

Rusk insisted any Western accommodation with the Communist world must be coupled with effective security arrangements. He said this should make a balanced East-West program of cuts in armed forces perfectly feasible and acceptable to both sides.

The U.S. commitment to Europe, Rusk emphasized, will remain in force for as long as the Europeans want it that way.

Stampede Tramples 71 To Death

MORE FELL
Bot Hopper, owner of the Hopper's Landing on San Antonio Bay five miles south of Austwell, said he emptied 12 inches of rain from his gauge and that more rain fell.

Hopper said he clocked winds of 72 miles per hour—three miles less than hurricane force—before his equipment was blown away.

Mozeny of the Weather Bureau said most of the crop damage was to cotton and grain

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Ignoring a loudspeaker warning that a gate was closed, hundreds of soccer fans stampeded as they tried to leave Argentina's largest stadium Sunday and trampled 71 persons to death.

Police said 83 persons were injured, many of them seriously. Most of the dead and injured were men.

It was Argentina's worst sports disaster and recalled the worst such in the history of sports, a stampede at a soccer match in Lima, Peru, in 1964 in which 328 persons were killed.

The Argentine tragedy occurred just at sundown on a chilly winter afternoon at Gate 12, one of the 24 entrance-exit gates around the Estadio Monumental, the 90,000 seat home of the River Plate Soccer Club.

The stadium was full for the match between River Plate and Boca Juniors, which ended in a scoreless tie. As the crowd began to leave a jam developed at Gate #12, because the one-way entrance turnstiles had not been removed there. Stadium officials said the fans were warned by loudspeaker not to leave by that gate.

The stampeding crowd swept away the turnstiles in their panic.

Most were Boca Junior fans from the cheapest seats in the stadium. When the panic ended, the dead and injured were sprawled on the concrete staircases and ramp leading to the gate. Within a few minutes, dozens of ambulances rushed to the stadium.

Jose Maria Pereyra, 32, was jammed against the turnstiles and knocked unconscious. Revived on the playing field, he told a newsmen:

"The loudspeakers said not to use the gate, but everyone ignored the warning. I was caught in the crowd and carried toward the gate. I saw the crush coming but I couldn't do anything about it."

"When the first persons fell," said Hugo Paez, "those coming behind found themselves trapped between the people on the floor and the rest of the crowd pushing from behind."

The police reported that many of the victims were suffocated.

TRYING TO CUT INFILTRATION ROUTES

Bombers Hit Cong Center Near Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force B52 bombers today smashed a Viet Cong training center 13 miles from Saigon.

The B52s have bombed closer to the capital only once. Last Feb. 13, at the height of the Viet Cong's Tet offensive on Saigon.

They struck a suspected enemy troop concentration 10.5 miles north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command said ground observers in the training camp area southeast of the capital reported that secondary explosions lasted for six minutes after the eight-engine bombers left the site. A secondary explosion means ammunition or fuel going up after the 500- and 750-pound bombs have exploded.

In the last two weeks, the B52s have flown nearly 100 missions within a 75-mile radius of the capital, trying to cut infiltration corridors from the Cambodian border and prevent enemy troops from massing for a threatened attack on Saigon next month.

In five raids Sunday, the B52s aimed at enemy troop concentrations and infiltration routes in Phuoc Long Province, next to the Cambodian border 75 miles north of Saigon.

Saigon was spared any shelling for the third consecutive day today, but the Viet Cong shelled two airfields, a province capital and four government military posts.

Government headquarters said the shelling killed two government soldiers and wounded six soldiers and 15 Vietnamese civilians.

Hanoi Radio rejected a U.S. appeal for a halt to the shelling of Saigon saying North Vietnam is "ready to fight the U.S. aggressors anywhere in Vietnam."

The broadcast also said the Communist-led forces have "a solemn, inviolable right" to defend the sovereignty of Vietnam and warned they would intensify their attacks on Saigon and other areas of South Vietnam.

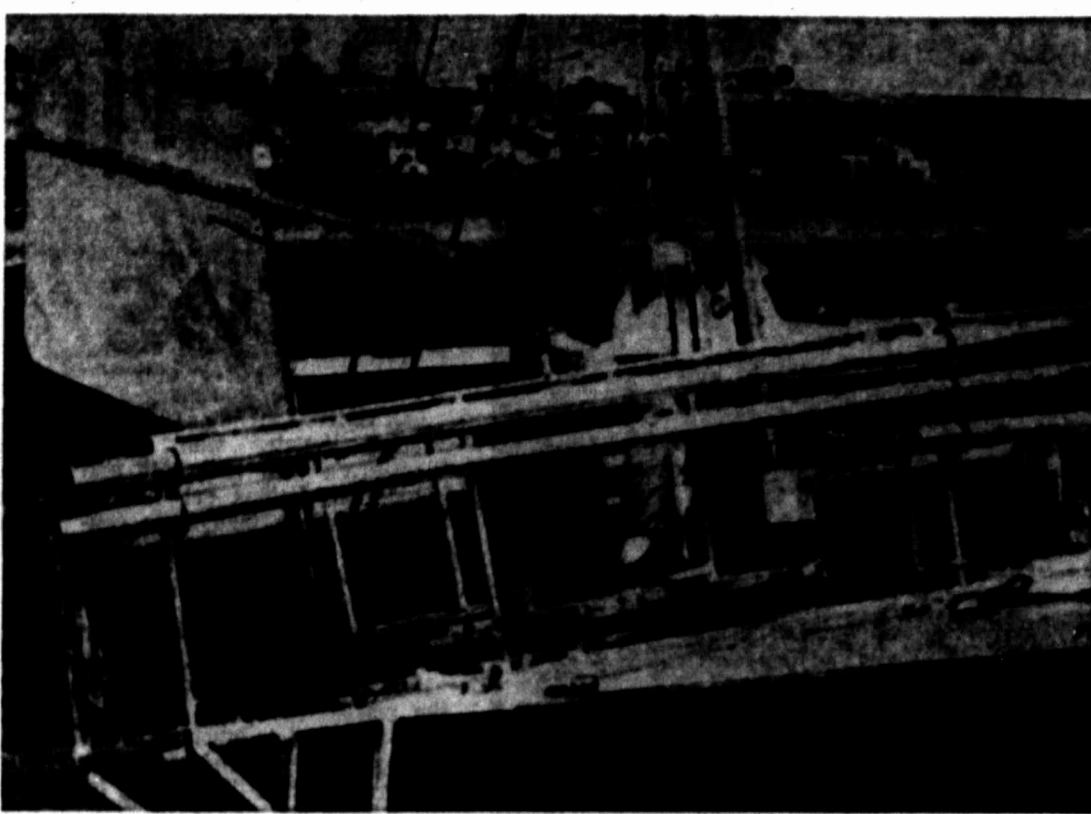

U.S. pilots flew 127 missions against the panhandle Sunday through heavy anti-aircraft fire. Pilots reported destroying or damaging 78 trucks, many of them apparently loaded with ammunition. Pilots said flames from the burning trucks could be seen 50 miles away.

On the ground, South Vietnamese troops suffered one of their worst setbacks in months Saturday as guerrillas ambushed a South Vietnamese infantry column moving down a highway 60 miles northeast of Saigon, killed 44 of the government troops and wounded 71.

The U.S. Command announced that U.S. Navy piper aircraft fired four surface-to-air missiles Sunday. The missiles wouldn't fight and the missiles missed, the command said.

The report supported U.S. estimates that the Communists are steadily increasing their air defenses below the 19th parallel in an effort to counter the big stepup in the American air war there.

Also in the panhandle area, U.S. headquarters announced that an Air Force F4 Phantom jet was downed by anti-aircraft fire Sunday and the two-man crew is missing. It was the 858th U.S. plane downed in combat over North Vietnam.

Trudeaumania Grips Voters In Canadian Election Polls

TORONTO (AP) — On the eve of Canada's national election, the key appears to be Trudeau.

Public opinion polls and newspaper surveys across the country say the Liberal party of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau is headed for a clear-cut victory largely due to the personality of Trudeau.

Unless there is a last-minute upset, Canada will return to a majority government for the first time since 1962. Several surveys give the Liberals a lead of 150 of the 264 seats in Parliament, or 17 more than needed for a majority.

In the 1965 election the Liberals, under Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, fell three votes short of a majority, but Pearson was able to carry on with a minority government until he resigned on April 20 to turn the government over to Trudeau.

Although the 48-year-old Trudeau and the Conservative leader, Robert Stanfield, 53, were both new to the national political scene in Canada, it was Trudeau who drew the big crowds across the country and stirred the younger set to near-riot fervor.

Tuesday's election will be Canada's sixth in 11 years and it will be the first since 1958 which was not contested between the two veterans, Conservative John Diefenbaker and Pearson. Stanfield was chosen Conservative leader last September. He was formerly premier of Nova Scotia.

Stanfield was winding up his campaign with a full day in popular Ontario province. He will go to his home province for election day. Trudeau planned to spend most of the final day in his home province of Quebec, where he is carrying on a sharp fight with the separatists.

Special security precautions have been ordered as a result of separatist threats to appear in force to heckle the prime minister. Trudeau already had been given added protection after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in Los Angeles three weeks ago.

The expectations for a Trudeau victory are based partly on the latest Gallup poll, which shows an 18-point spread between the Liberals and the Conservatives, as compared to a seven-point spread in 1965.

In Canada it is the number of parliamentary seats rather than the popular vote that counts.

NAACP Reformers Vow 'Return To The People'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People opens its 59th convention today amid vows from a reform delegation to "return the NAACP to the people."

The reformers, calling themselves the National Committee to Revitalize the NAACP, huddled Sunday to plan strategy for electing members to the 60-man board of directors of the civil rights group.

Chester I. Lewis, leader of the dissenting contingent to the six-day meeting, charged that the board was "self-perpetuating" and its actions were "irrelevant to the needs of black people."

Lewis, an attorney who is president of the NAACP chapter in Wichita, Kan., also criticized NAACP national leaders for supporting Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's presidential bid "by back-door methods."

He cited the scheduled speaking appearance at the convention Tuesday of U.S. Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okl., a co-chairman of the Humphrey campaign organization, as evidence "that the NAACP has become an appendage of the Johnson administration."

At a news conference, NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins said he saw no conflict between the goals of the revitalization committee and the NAACP leadership.

"They belong to us; they are NAACP members," he said. "As they do, we want to revitalize, sharpen and make more effective implementation of the NAACP movement."

Wilkins denied that the NAACP endorsed Humphrey. He said the national convention would retain its policy of not endorsing or opposing any presidential candidate and that members were free to work for anyone they chose.

The executive director also issued a plea for nonviolence in the civil rights movement. "The blood of our young Negro is too precious to be shed in some anonymous sidewalk anywhere in America," he said.

Hungry, Thirsty Thief At Work

Gladys Williams, 810 Wills, reported that three cigarette lighters, one package of cigarettes, one bottle of whiskey and some change had been taken from her home Saturday.

She said that she returned to her home Saturday afternoon and found empty bottles and cracker crumbs, but found nothing missing. During the night she saw a flashlight in her house but she did not see anyone. However, she found the items missing. Police are investigating.

America's first choice every year since 1937

Beneath Chevrolet's thick skin (double-walled in most places) lies a truck chassis built for punishment. A heavy-gauge steel frame provides the solid backbone for this inner strength. While a host of durable driveline components supply the muscle, enough to whip most any job. Of course, the heart of all this brawn is a Chevrolet engine. Six or V8, all are built for stamina. They last longer because of such things as induction-hardened crankshaft journals, inexpensive to operate, too. All run on regular gasoline. Keeping everything riding smoothly is the job of Chevy's famed independent front suspension. And what a job it does! Combined with tough coil springs, front and rear, this suspension system cushions the entire truck from jarring road shock. So you see, beautiful engineering is more than skin deep on Chevrolet.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Use Scouring Powder To Eliminate Odors

Dear Heloise: I find kitchen trash baskets retain odors so I scrub mine with scouring powder, rinse it carefully, and it smells and looks good for quite awhile. However, if I put a thin layer of scouring powder in the bottom of the kitchen wastebasket (since it gets the most abuse), all I have to do is wipe it with a wet paper towel to get it clean. None of the usual hard scouring. And the minute amount of bleach in the scouring powder acts as a disinfectant. Fan

Dear Heloise: When putting my sweaters away, I roll them instead of folding. Then store in plastic bags. They're free of dust and creases when I'm ready to wear them next season. Mrs. Jim McKinley

Dear Heloise: I wonder if you would tell your readers that when they use commemorative stamps on letters to please place it back about one-fourth inch from the corner of the envelope. Collectors like a little margin of the envelope to remain on the stamp. And this way there is less damage to the stamp when it's removed. Nina E.

Dear Heloise: I keep each child's out-of-season clothes (clean but unironed) in a box on the shelf in his own closet. I add garments that I may decide to make over for this or a smaller child. I am usually pretty well set when the next season rolls around without having to search all over the storage area for what I want in an emergency; need to remake or alter when my machine is out. Mrs. Mabel Sheppard

Dear Heloise: Here's how I keep all names and telephone numbers of people I call often and also emergency numbers. I just cut the name and telephone number out of the telephone book with a razor blade and paste them in my little book. This way I don't have to go through the large phone book to find the numbers when I'm in a hurry. Mrs. K. B. P.

It's also a good place to use that dab of leftover vegetables from last night's supper. It makes the soup much tastier and the children like it even more. Also, it's better for them. Barbara Waring

Mrs. Mabel Sheppard

Dear Heloise: Being an amateur cook (it's a hobby which has resulted in my doing most of the culinary chores around our house), I happened to stumble onto a new wrinkle that may be of interest to your female readers. After frying beef steak or veal, or with the drippings from beef or veal roasts, I use water to make the gravy. For poultry and pork drippings, I use milk or condensed milk and water. Depending on how much gravy we want, I pour off part of the grease, pour in the liquid I want to use and then stir in the thickening immediately. Before the liquid has even started to heat. Sure prevents lumpy gravy. As it cooks, I stir continually, adding either thickening or more liquid for the right consistency. After seasoning, it pours or dips like a cream soup and is delicious. Conferees Get A Slow Start

By LEE JONES
 AUSTIN (AP)—House-Senate negotiators on the $2.5 billion general appropriations bill apparently are ready to change provisions already agreed upon by the two houses.

The conference committee appointed to resolve differences between the House and Senate spending bills held its first scheduled, open meeting today. The meeting broke up after about 30 minutes when all five conferees had to attend a Senate State Affairs Committee hearing on the House-passed tax bill to finance the spending package.

No time was given for the conferees to resume their talks. Before they adjourned they were asked to make two changes from items that were identical in the House and Senate bills. One would eliminate a Health Department project director for water pollution. The other would raise the department's deputy commissioner for environmental engineering from $19,000 to $20,000 a year.

Rep. Gus Mutschers of Brenham, a member of the committee, made the request.

House conferees are bound by that chamber's rules to clear with the full House any changes from items that are identical in both bills. The same rule applies to items that exceed or fall below amounts in the two bills, although the amounts may not be identical. It takes a House resolution to approve the changes.

"I think we are going to have a pretty good sized list of changes," Mutschers said.

Mutschers also told newsmen it appeared a tax bill adding as much as $140 million in new taxes would be needed by the time the conferees get through.

The conferees agreed to accept the Senate provision on salaries for employees of the Department of Mental Health. The Senate provided $991,426, compared with $862,426 in the House bill, providing 54 more workers.

Also agreed upon was addition of four more parole supervisors for the Texas Youth Council that were included in either bill.

The conferees are under orders from Speaker Ben Barnes to hold its meetings in public. It held its first meeting Thursday behind closed doors in Barnes' Capitol apartment, although the speaker was not present.

Conferees said that Mutschers said in a response to a question that when he is president—a fair assumption in view of his pledged votes—he will order open conferences.

Took Money To Buy Car

The mystery of what became of Mrs. Jack Taylor's $125 in change from the locked trunk of her car has been cleared up and a 15-year-old boy, already on probation as a juvenile offender, has admitted the theft. He has been turned over to Bob Wakefield, juvenile officer.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said that Mrs. Taylor, who lives on Oil Mill Road, reported the money missing from her car June 14. Officers have been working on the case since.

Two boys were apprehended, but one is so young that it is possible no disciplinary action other than advising his parents will be undertaken.

Standard said that A. G. Mitchell, deputy sheriff, had obtained an admission from the 15-year-old about the theft. He said the boy told of pulling the rear cushions out of the car while it was parked on Oil Mill Road and getting into the trunk. The container with its trove of change was taken.

The boy told the officers he used the money to buy an old automobile from a Latin-American youth. He said that he had been afraid to use the car and that it was hidden in the country. Officers have not located the old car. The boy is in the juvenile ward of the county jail.

Mishap Causes Loss Of Blood

Joe Viera, a Latin-American laborer of the Knott community, was admitted to a local hospital Sunday for treatment of a deep slash wound on his upper right arm.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said that the man slipped and fell through a glass window which inflicted the wound. He had lost considerable blood by the time he was admitted to the hospital, but his condition was said to be good.

Watch Taken

Police are investigating reports that a watch was taken from the home of Steve Baker, 1707 Yale, some time within the last week Baker reported the watch was taken. The watch was given to him by Texas Electric for 25 years of service and valued at more than $100.

Cal Tech Students Learn In Luxury

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The young scholar can sprawl out on a deep pile gold rug in one classroom at California Institute of Technology.

Psychology Prof. John Weir says the students are learning more in the experimental classroom, which is in use day and night by classes in biology, logic, English, mathematics and psychology.

Besides the gold carpet, the classroom has brightly painted chairs, colorful ceiling panels to reflect overhead lighting, and loosely woven white draperies.

Students gather informally around the professor or sprawl on the floor if they prefer.

Weir says the setting makes students feel greater responsibility to become involved in classroom discussions.

Airplane Hits Car
 Firemen from Canyon inspect the wreckage of a light plane that crashed Sunday evening at the Amarillo Dragoon south of the city. The plane went out of control when its pilot, Manton Leon Brown of Friona, tried to take off from between the dragstrips and was caught in a crosswind. The collision of the plane and the parked car killed Miss Julia Archuleta, an Amarillo student nurse who was sitting in the car.

Plane Clips Fence Man Found In The Barn

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—A light airplane taking off from an asphalt drag strip clipped a chainlink fence and spun into a parked automobile Sunday. A woman passenger in the car was killed. Seven persons were injured, including four in the plane.

The accident happened just before the final race of the afternoon was to be run at the Amarillo Drag Strip, located seven miles south of this Panhandle city.

Killed was Julia Archuleta, 21, a nurse's aid at an Amarillo hospital.

Witnesses said the Cessna 172, a single-engine craft, apparently was caught in a crosswind just as it became airborne. It veered into a fence and then slammed into the automobile.

The plane was piloted by Manton Leon Brown, 42, of Friona. He suffered minor injuries. Jerry Oden, 14, of Friona, a passenger in the plane, was seriously hurt. Two others in the craft, Billy Rose Proctor, 16, and Stephen Ray Brown, 18, also of Friona, suffered minor injuries.

In the car with Miss Archuleta were Jerry Marple, 21, an airman stationed at Amarillo Air Force Base, and Teresa Diane Chambers, 8, Amarillo. Both sustained minor injuries.

The seventh person injured was Kenneth Lee Lawry, 26, of Amarillo, who was standing by the car. He and Miss Archuleta were engaged to be married.

A burglary suspect, armed with a stolen shotgun, was routed from his hiding place in a darkened barn at midnight Saturday without a shot being fired and with no one injured.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said that two of his deputies, A. G. Mitchell and Ed Cherry, handled what the sheriff termed a highly dangerous situation so smoothly that no unpleasant developments arose.

The sheriff said that the H. B. Hatch family, who live in the Fairview community, came home late Saturday night to find their house had been ransacked. A shotgun, money and jewelry was missing. Mitchell and Cherry answered the call.

They found the burglary suspect had entered the barn and had taken refuge in a pickup truck. He had the stolen shotgun with him.

The officers were able to talk the man into surrendering without gun play.

Standard identified him as Carlos Gutierrez, 43, who said he was a native of Mexico.

The officers found the missing money and jewelry on the man's person and these articles, with the shotgun, were returned to the Hatch family.

Standard said that he is checking with the immigration authorities on the man's record.

Follis Case Gets Started Today

A jury to try Carroll Wayne Follis, charged with being a habitual criminal, was being selected at noon today and first testimony by the state in the case was to begin this afternoon.

Follis is indicted in this case for burglarizing the residence of John Smith last Dec. 13. However, the grand jury also found the defendant had previously been convicted in 1955 of another burglary and in 1963 as a forger. These prior felony convictions qualify the defendant as habitual criminal under the state laws, and Wayne Burns, district attorney, proposes to prosecute the man on this basis.

Military Bill Before Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate opponents of the so-called "thin" Sentinel antimissile defense program are renewing their attack on the system, charging it is unproven and costs too much money.

A $1.8 billion military construction bill before the Senate for action today includes $227.3 million for the system, designed as a defense against potential Red Chinese nuclear attack capabilities in the 1970s.

The construction bill, already passed by the House, was expected to get Senate approval before the day is out—after a vote on an amendment to cut the Sentinel funds.

Congress has not completed action on the military procurement bill and Atomic Energy Commission legislation which also includes Sentinel funds.

Some senior members of the Armed Services Committee have argued that the Sentinel is a necessary deterrent against a growing Chinese missile force.

These committee members have attacked arguments that the Sentinel is an untried weapon that might not work and that, in any case, offensive weapons can always be kept one step ahead of defensive ones.

"We may have one deployed that will not work, said Sen. John C. Stennis of Mississippi, Democrat, during debate Friday, "but they will not know it will not work."

Zoning Hearing Set July 2

A public zoning hearing has been scheduled for 5:15 p.m., July 2, in the City Commission Room in City Hall, proposing to change a one-family residence zone to a retail zone at the northwest corner of Phillips Road and Birdwell Lane.

All owners of property located within 200 feet of the property affected are being notified and will be given an opportunity to express their opinions at this meeting.

Brief Agenda Set By City

City commissioners Tuesday will be looking at a brief agenda.

Humble Oil and Refining Co. submitted the apparent low bid last week to supply the city with gasoline for the next six months. Other bidders included Mobil Oil Co., Continental Oil Co., Standard Oil Co. of Texas, Gulf Oil Corp., and Texaco, Inc. Commissioners are expected to make an award.

Commissioners will consider the purchase of an addressing machine. The Addressograph-Multigraph Corp. submitted a bid of $6,100.90 for the machine, which Finance Director Charles Smith recommends be purchased. Pitney-Bowes bid $2,159, but companion items would push the bid to $6,148.60.

Routine readings of ordinances round out the agenda.

Prison officials said Harold Couch surrendered peacefully after giving the pistol to his wife, who handed it out the door to officials. An investigation was ordered to determine how Couch got the pistol.

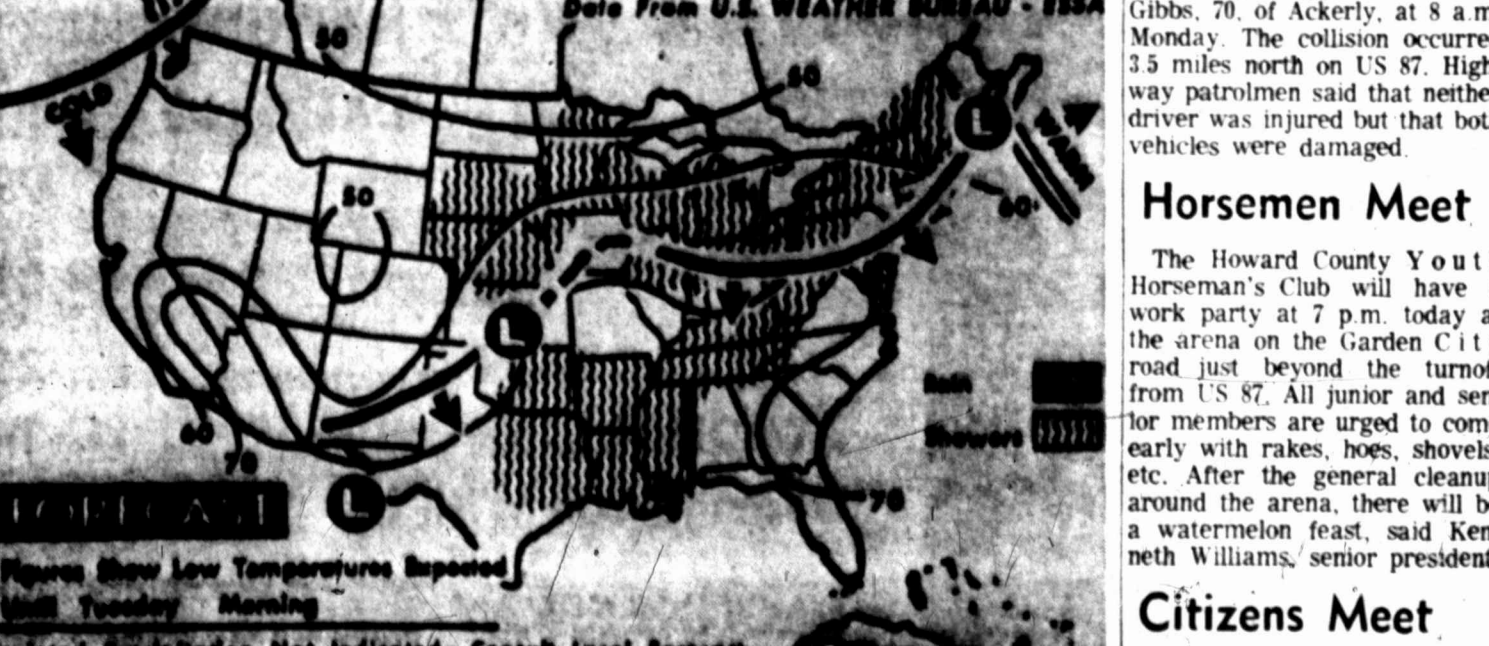

Couch is serving a 40-year prison term for rape.

Reports Only Humphrey Favors Space Program

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey is the only presidential candidate who has come out forthrightly for pushing forward the national space program. Edward C. Welsh, executive of the National Aeronautics and Space Council said today. Welsh made the statement in remarks prepared for delivery at a conference of scientists. Welsh was the keynote speaker for the fourth International Symposium on Bioastronautics and the Exploration of Space.

He said the nation's economy will slow down "if we grow blind to the clear light of truth about the benefits of space exploration" and the United States will risk becoming a lesser nation.

Steel Companies Balking At Union Pay Demands

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steel Workers, who want a big pay hike, and the steep industry, which says it can't afford one, being the last phase of their contract talks today.

Top industry men held a background meeting for newsmen last week and claimed that steel simply can't afford the raises other industries have been giving out.

Industry sources claim they can not afford to hand out raises like the six per cent increases the union won in the copper, cans and aluminum industries.

They said profits dipped by about 30 per cent last year and production is expected to nose-dive this summer even without a strike as consumers use up big stocks of goods bought as strike protection.

They say that cheaper foreign steel already has grabbed off 13 per cent of the domestic market and price increases by American producers to offset a wage hike would open the door for imports even wider.

Steelworkers now earn an average of $3.67 an hour. The industry contends that fringe benefits raise their cost to $4.88 an hour.

Negotiations actually have been going on at local and company levels since April. But today is the day the negotiating teams that have been scattered around the country move to Pittsburgh to hammer out the wage agreement and other issues that couldn't be settled on a local level. The three-year contract expires Aug. 1. "If it would not seem to have political overtones, I would interrupt right here to make a factual statement that only one candidate for the presidency of the United States... has come out forthrightly for pushing forward the national space program," Welsh said.

He added that that candidate is Humphrey. "I also would risk stepping on personal toes, but I would not risk any conflict with the facts, if I were to assert that he who opposes continuing advance in space experience may be honest may be sincere, but most certainly is wrong," Welsh said.

Humphrey is the chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Council. Welsh said the United States is now ahead in the space race but could fall behind.

"We will not remain ahead for long if we grow complacent. If we fail to recognize in full the true benefits of the space program, or if we overcut space spending—as the Congress in runoff elections in 150 other districts, indicating that the president and Premier Georges Pompidou might win a majority of more than 100 in the 487-seat assembly.

De Gaulle Forces Appear Headed For Big Majority

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's forces appeared headed today for an overwhelming majority in the French National Assembly after strong gains in the first round of the national elections.

Centrists and two members of rightist parties. And in comparison with the vote in the first round of the 1967 general election, the Communists' percentage of the total vote dropped from 22.51 per cent to 20.03, the non-Communist Leftist Federation slipped from 18.96 to 16.50 and the Centrist Party of Modern Progress and Democracy declined from 12.34 to 10.64.

Left-wing extremists warned that "the battle has only begun" as preparations began for the runoff elections next Sunday.

In the last assembly the Gaullists and their allies had a majority of only one.

Despite the Gaullists' initial triumph at the polls, most of the problems that set off France's "mad month of May" remain unsolved, and the wholesale wage raises handed out to get 10-million striking workers back to their jobs will almost certainly bring widespread inflation.

Frightened by the May weeks of student violence and nationwide strikes, the French people headed De Gaulle's theme of "Gaullism or Communism" and elected 142 of his followers Sunday.

It was an unexpected triumph for the 77-year-old general who less than a month ago threatened to resign at the height of the national convulsion.

Former Premier Pierre Mendes-France, a left-wing leader who was in trouble in the Grenoble district, warned the government that it probably would have trouble with "those who voted for it but who for all that are not ready to give up their demands."

Gaullist candidates also were in favorable positions for the first round in Metropolitan France — six Communists, four

Communists and two members of rightist parties. And in comparison with the vote in the first round of the 1967 general election, the Communists' percentage of the total vote dropped from 22.51 per cent to 20.03, the non-Communist Leftist Federation slipped from 18.96 to 16.50 and the Centrist Party of Modern Progress and Democracy declined from 12.34 to 10.64.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠AK6 ♣AKS ♦10883 ♣AKQ

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 2NT Pass 3♣ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. If there is the least temptation to raise the hearts, it should be resisted. Partner has not indicated any special strength by his bid of two hearts. From your standpoint the hand is not impressive. Your response of one no trump was based on a high card holding of only seven points, just a point above minimum. There is, therefore, no occasion for you to take further action.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠QK42 ♣K53 ♣Q842

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1♣ Dble. 2♣

What do you bid?

A.—Bid one no trump. This will inform partner that you have scattered values. If you choose to pass, the bidding may progress at so rapid a pace that you may never have the opportunity to enter the picture, for your values are not sufficient to justify doubling the opponents at any low contract which they may reach.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A6 ♣9 ♦AK364 ♣AK876

The bidding has proceeded: East South 1♥ ?

What do you bid?

A.—Double. While normally we are disinclined to make a take-out double with hands containing two suits, no other form of action is suitable with a hand so rich in high card values. A false cue bid of two hearts cannot be accepted, first, because insistence upon a game will not be justifiable; secondly, not sufficient trump support is held for spades should partner have to play that suit.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AK842 ♣AQJ3 ♦7 ♣Q92

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1♣ Pass 1♠ Pass 2♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four clubs. This does not indicate a desire to play at the minor suit but is, rather, a descriptive bid on the way to what looks like a certain slam. Your next step will depend upon the character of partner's response.

Q. 5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠642 ♣9532 ♦AJ94 ♣Q9

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1♥ Pass 1NT Pass 2♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. If there is the least temptation to raise the hearts, it should be resisted. Partner has not indicated any special strength by his bid of two hearts. From your standpoint the hand is not impressive. Your response of one no trump was based on a high card holding of only seven points, just a point above minimum. There is, therefore, no occasion for you to take further action.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, partner opens with one no trump, and you hold:

♠A984 ♣Q105 ♦AJ842 ♣8

What is your response?

A.—Three diamonds. You have sufficient high card strength for a jump to three no trump (12 points), but the three diamond bid is superior, for it will produce the same result with the added advantage of providing partner with the opportunity to bid three spades, if he happens to have a four card major suit; and, with the slightly unbalanced hand, a suit contract may prove to be superior.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AJ752 ♣KJ4 ♣83 ♣AKQ

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1♣ Pass 3♣ Pass 3♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Five spades. If partner can protect against the loss of two diamond tricks, you wish him to contract for slam, and he should place that construction on your five spade bid. The Blackwood bid would not be at all helpful to you, for the slam might be there even if partner has only one ace, if he has, for example, a singleton diamond.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠K10 ♣AKQJ4 ♦7 ♣J8642

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1♥ 2♦ 2♥ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—There is a choice between three and four hearts, and we have a slight preference for the latter. Partner's free raise to two hearts indicates a good hand and, with the adverse overall of two diamonds, it is highly likely that partner's values will be in the black suits, which should make the hand fit very well.

Space 'Voyage' Comes To End

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronauts Joseph Kerwin, Vance Brand and Joe Engle return to earth today after a simulated space voyage of almost eight days which carried them to an artificial altitude of 110 miles.

Manned spacecraft center officials said the trip would step out of their spacecraft cabin about 8 a.m. (CDT), an hour and one-half after technicians started bringing the huge vacuum chamber surrounding the cabin back to a sea level pressure.

The astronauts entered the spacecraft test model on June 16, closing the hatch behind them at 11:06 a.m. (CDT). They were placed into a simulated space later that day when technicians pumped out the air from the vacuum chamber.

The test was scheduled to end Sunday night, after a week and nine hours, but delays in the test schedule pushed the end into this morning.

Vacuum in the chamber simulated altitudes of up to 110 miles during the long test. The astronauts lived on the oxygen, food and water systems that will be used by crews actually sent into space.

The test spacecraft, called the ZTV-1, is a non-flying sister ship of Apollo 101 which will carry a few into orbit later this year. Officials said a successful thermal vacuum test of ZTV-1 would thermally qualify Apollo 101 for manned flight.

Heat lamps and super-cold wall panels in the vacuum chamber subjected the spacecraft test model to temperatures ranging from a minus 150 to a plus 150 degrees. Astronauts inside the spacecraft were protected by the craft's environmental control system and spent most of the simulated voyage in light coveralls without helmets.

HHH ADVOCATING IMMEDIATE CEASE-FIRE

McCarthy Wants To Talk To Enemy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says he hopes to talk to North Vietnamese diplomats in Paris this summer to learn prospects for a "settlement or accommodation" of the war. And Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has advocated an immediate cease-fire.

On the Republican side, California Gov. Ronald Reagan said Sunday it makes no sense to regard military victory in Vietnam as impossible but GOP presidential aspirant Nelson A. Rockefeller said the only way to an honorable peace is through negotiations.

HOPES TO TALK

McCarthy, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said he hopes to talk to North Vietnamese representatives during a Paris trip in July or early August.

But McCarthy said he does not plan to participate in peace negotiations in Paris or to offer a proposal there on settling the war.

Humphrey said an immediate cease-fire in Vietnam would create a positive atmosphere at the Paris peace talks and end "fight and talk" tactics.

Humphrey, during an interview with editors of the New York Times, said he would be prepared to offer a cease-fire "any hour of the day" but said Hanoi has shown no such interest.

EUGENE MCCARTHY

McCarthy was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers" Sunday. The Humphrey interview appeared in Sunday's editions of the New York Times.

McCarthy LEADS The Gallup Poll, meanwhile, both the Republican contenders and Humphrey leading GOP candidate Richard M. Nixon but not Rockefeller.

The poll of registered voters showed McCarthy leading Nixon 41 per cent to 39 and Rockefeller 39 per cent to 38. It showed Humphrey leading Nixon 42 per cent to 37 but trailing Rockefeller 39 per cent to 38.

Reagan, a GOP favorite son who says he is not a presidential candidate; criticized the Johnson administration for publicly ruling out use of nuclear weapons in Vietnam.

He also criticized the administration for indicating the war would not be escalated during peace talks.

He said nuclear weapons are "neither necessary nor desirable" in Vietnam but argued: "If they are to be a deterrent, we should not have gone as far as we have to assure everybody they would not be used."

NOT INCLUDE

New York Gov. Rockefeller said a negotiated honorable end to the war would not include a settlement that would result in a Communist government in South Vietnam.

"I think the settlement has got to be on a basis of self-determination," he said, "and the renunciation on the part of the Viet Cong of the use of force and subversion."

Rockefeller was interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press."

GOP candidate Nixon, meanwhile, said he was disturbed at what he called indications "the administration plans to follow the path of least political resistance and swing its economy heavily against the national security budget."

Newsman following third party presidential candidate

George C. Wallace, meanwhile, estimate his recently completed 11-day, fund-raising tour may have brought his campaign more than $300,000.

ARGUED

While the candidates argued the issues over the weekend, party conventions in eight states selected or distributed national convention delegates.

Nixon picked up nearly 75 for a total of 445 of the 667 convention votes needed for the GOP presidential nomination. Humphrey appeared to have won more than 100 but only 20 from Minnesota were officially committed.

Rockefeller has 176 anticipated votes and favorite son candidates control 383.

The Democratic delegate counts show 47% including the Minnesota delegates for Humphrey, 324 for McCarthy and 462 for favorite sons with 79% listed as technically uncommitted.

GEORGE WALLACE

Needed for the Democratic nomination: 1,312 votes.

the vice president's call for a Vietnam cease-fire. Minnesota is the home state of both Humphrey and McCarthy and McCarthy had won 13 1/2 of the 32 delegates selected earlier at the local level.

NIXON FIRST

—Nixon was listed the first choice by four of the 32 uncommitted GOP delegates selected at conventions in Washington, New Mexico and Montana. Sen. Strom Thurmond announced after a South Carolina delegation meeting his state's 22 GOP delegates would support Nixon. Seven at-large Louisiana delegates elected by convention said they favor Nixon.

—Indiana Democrats, with 63 national convention votes, picked a delegation heavily favoring Humphrey but McCarthy backers claimed at least 11 votes. One McCarthy backer objecting to what he said was token representation was ejected after a fist fight.

48 Texans Lose Life

By The Associated Press

At least 48 persons died in accidents and homicides in Texas over the weekend, marking the state's highest toll in months. Traffic accidents claimed 30 lives. Five persons drowned, seven were shot or stabbed to death, and six perished from miscellaneous causes.

The Associated Press tabulation began at 6 p.m. Friday and went through midnight Sunday. Latest deaths included:

Sam Kennard, 86, was found shot to death at his home in Breckenridge Sunday. Sheriff Chase Booth said Kennard had been shot twice by an unknown assailant.

Henry Holloway, 60, of Anson was injured fatally late Saturday when his pickup truck overturned north of Anson.

A car carrying Cal Parks, 61, and Gillespie Slaton, both of Midland, hit a concrete bridge 15 miles west of Mansfield on FM 1062 about 1:35 a.m. Sunday and both were killed.

Gunfire killed Francis Kay Parker, 36, in a Lubbock cafe Saturday. Police sought a man, Bennie R. Perez, 9, of Plainview, drowned Saturday while on a fishing trip with his parents to Buffalo Lake west of Canyon, Sylvia Lessman, 6, of Fredericksburg stepped into deep water while wading and drowned Saturday in Lake Buchanan. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Sivils.

Robert D. Ramsey, 48, of Levelland was crushed to death against his stalled truck near midnight Friday, state patrolmen reported, as another trucker stopping to help was backing toward the first vehicle. The accident happened at the intersection of Texas 9 and 72 east of Three Rivers in South Texas.

Earnest Cawthorn, 67, of Tahoka and Olin Conley Poir, 27, were killed and two other persons were injured in a three-car crash near Tahoka Sunday.

France Tightens Money Controls

PARIS (AP) — France tightened currency controls today for residents travelling abroad. If they go for less than 24 hours they can take only $20 with them.

Nonresidents are allowed to take out as much foreign currency as they take into France, plus a maximum of $200 in francs.

Chief Breaks Guns At Police Auction

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Police Chief J. C. Goodman Jr. spotted the sale of three BB guns at a police auction in Charlotte Saturday and broke the guns.

"It would be pretty embarrassing for us if children caught shooting out windows or piercing a playmate's eye were to say they had obtained the BB gun from the police department," he said.

Cutback In Arms Studied By NATO

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Statesmen of the North Atlantic Alliance met today in quest of an East-West pact cutting back arms and armies in Middle Europe but with slender hopes of early success.

Initial signals from Moscow suggested to top authorities here that the Russians, concerned with getting their Warsaw Pact allies back into line, at this time want no part in a program of military reductions.

Foreign ministers of NATO mean nevertheless to push ahead because their arms-cutting initiative has a parallel purpose: It is to insure that member-governments of their 15-nation partnership do not one-sidedly begin withdrawing their forces, or reducing their firepower, from mainland Europe.

This purpose is likely to be embodied in a resolution, or some other form of endorsement, by the foreign ministers. It will have the effect of helping governments like the United States, Belgium and Canada resist domestic pressures for a withdrawal of troops.

The ministers met in the theater of the University of Iceland against a background of sporadic Communist-led demonstrations protesting the presence of American military bases in this windswept mid-Atlantic territory.

A protest march which began Sunday at the American air and naval base at Keflavik ended here around midnight with a demonstration outside the headquarters of Iceland's small but active Communist party.

New trouble flared in the capital early today when youths stoned the Communist party headquarters. Police moved in, and fights broke out. There were several arrests, but no reports of serious injuries.

A series of proposals prepared for ministerial scrutiny featured the British government's revival of the so-called "Gaitskill plan" for the disengagement of East-West forces in the two Germanys, Czechoslovakia and Hungary.

This plan, bearing the name of the late leader of Britain's Labor party, envisages a gradual reduction of forces and armament in what would become a zone of reduced tension.

The city has offered 15 per cent.

In addition to the garbage men, the strikers include employees at the water and sewage plants and street maintenance men. Eight soccer games were postponed during the weekend because park employees did not mark the fields.

The St. Lawrence Seaway remained bottled up as leaders of the 1,200 strikers and the seaway authority apparently waited until Tuesday's national election is over.

The workers walked off their jobs early Friday demanding wages equal to those paid employees on the seaway's U.S. locks.

Nearly 70 ships, most registered outside Canada, are lying in the seaway.

Officials of the seaway authority estimate the daily cost of the strike at $96,000 in lost toll revenues and $34,100 in lost wages. David Oberlin, port director at Duluth, Minn., warned the strike could cost shippers $2,000 a day for each ship.

Strikes Cripple Many Sides Of Canadian Life

TORONTO (AP) — The garbage piled up in Toronto today, Ontario's supply of beer was threatened, and Canada's most important waterway was closed, all because of strikes.

The brewery strike-lockout in Ontario started a rush on liquor stores and hotels as supplies dwindled. About 2,700 brewery workers and warehousemen struck Friday for better wages and pension plans.

Government liquor stores reported most imported beer stocks were sold out. Hotels also reported a booming business. Hundreds flocked to a nonunion brewery 110 miles northwest of Toronto to stock up.

Toronto residents felt the first impact of their garbage strike today as the 7,000 tons of garbage usually collected daily began to pile up around the city.

Streets Commissioner Harold Atyeo announced residents may dump carefully packaged refuse at 29 sites—24 of them parks. The 3,700 strikers want a 20-per cent wage increase over two

A Devotional For The Day

"Fear not, therefore, you are of more value than many sparrows." (Matthew 10:31, RSV)

PRAYER: Lord, we bless Thee for daily evidence of Thy wisdom, love, and care in our lives. When temptation comes, may our faith be renewed in Thy personal guidance. May we share this assurance with others who feel lost and frightened. We pray in Christ's name. Amen.

One Thing Can Be Changed

There is a great debate ensuing over whether candidates for high office should expose themselves to the hysteria of crowds, or whether, through electronic means, they could engage more in debates with each other and thus gain video tube's projection of distance.

As with any debatable matter, there are pros and cons. Many argue that in a democracy it is utterly necessary for the aspirants for office to be seen in the flesh by as many citizens as possible. Others argue that were candidates to confront each other in dignified debate, perhaps the focus would be upon issues rather than personalities. Whether in mass rallies or on television, the advantage likely will go to the individual who can identify or who is able to project some mysterious personal magnetism, or stir the animal instincts with clichés.

Probably not much will be changed except as practical considerations evolve change. We may be in for a new version of the early era when personal oratory was the hallmark of a successful politician.

What can be done and ought to be done is a drastic shortening of the prior of campaigning. From winter primaries in New Hampshire until the election in November is just too long, too wearying, too expensive; too unnecessary. England accomplished its elections within the compass of six weeks. Why can't we pull ours within some reasonable bounds?

Hunger's Challenge

By now it should be abundantly clear that the publication, "Hunger — U.S.A.," over-extended its license for the dramatic in its claims of widespread hunger in this nation. This report, made by a group called "Citizens Board of Inquiry into Hunger and Malnutrition in the United States," and made up of church, union, civil rights groups and individuals, cited 256 "emergency hunger counties."

Chairman W. R. Poage of the House Agriculture committee immediately dispatched letters to health officers in these counties. The committee was not able to document one case of starvation, and few instances of what one might regard as hunger in the conventional sense.

This is not to say that there is no hunger, for there undoubtedly is. There may be some instances in our own community where individuals experience less than a satisfying and sustaining fullness. But the point that Rep. Poage and others make is that this is seldom because food is withheld or unavailable; most often it is due to lack of understanding, ignorance, illiteracy and sometimes personal preference and dietary customs.

Now malnutrition is something else again. Some people are denied a balanced diet because of meagre circumstances, but it is equally true that many others do not have a balanced diet because they don't want it. Eating right is something everyone should do but not everyone does. However, it is within our capacity to see that cheap high-protein food preparations are made available to those who want sustenance but lack the means for it. Here is a challenge for researchers, food and chemical manufacturers as well as for society.

Such measures. They will continue their very heavy buying and selling.

STANLEY WEST, research director of the New York Exchange, late last week told a congressional committee that first-quarter volume was up only 3 per cent but that large-block volume had soared 50 per cent higher than a year ago.

Professionals Are Speculating, Too

NEW YORK (AP) — The warnings against speculation now being disseminated by brokerage houses are welcome and overdue. There is also a suspicion that they are to some extent misdirected at the small investor.

Little question exists that the public is speculating, but the professionals are showing them how to do it. By a curious twist of emphasis, however, it seems that the public alone is at fault.

WHY IMPLY that the troubles of Wall Street are caused by public activity when this is a market of institutions: of mutual and pension and hedge funds, banks, insurance companies and free-wheeling professionals?

And just how effectively will the backed up paperwork and speculation be resolved through broker restraints on small investors and their purchases of 30 or 40 or 100 shares, when the professionals trade in tens of thousands?

THIS IS the year of the professional. On the American Stock Exchange more than 100 stocks are held by 10 or more institutions. And the percentage of trading by professionals on the New York Exchange is probably nearer one-half than one-third.

Some of the attitudes heard from brokers seem a bit sanctimonious in light of these figures. It's as if some of the community is afraid of the fun will be spoiled if the small investor is hurt. Therefore, he should watch the game from the sidelines.

THIS MAY be the best position for the ordinary investor right now, and perhaps brokers should be commended for advising it. But by driving out the little guy can brokers solve the problems of paperwork and speculation?

Among the restrictions now being enforced by some brokers are: curtailment of solicitations; refusal to take new accounts for securities selling under $5; increases in the amount needed to open credit accounts; refusal of credit on purchases of low price stocks.

Professionals, with millions of dollars behind them and an urge and need to get some action for it, simply will be unaffected by such measures. They will continue their very heavy buying and selling.

STANLEY WEST, research director of the New York Exchange, late last week told a congressional committee that first-quarter volume was up only 3 per cent but that large-block volume had soared 50 per cent higher than a year ago.

Large blocks usually mean those of 10,000 shares or more—million dollar transactions. This obviously rules out ordinary traders. And these big blocks have been crossing the ticker tape at a record rate, 75 of them on one day, June 13.

Last week the New York Exchange tabulations showed 35 big blocks on Monday, 39 Tuesday, 43 Thursday and 56 on Friday. Wednesday was a market holiday.

At Most Marriages

NEW YORK (AP) — If I could have held her in my arms as I had done before, perhaps I would have been as smug as the smiling man I saw put the ring upon her finger.

The day just couldn't have been more perfect had the Lord wanted to improve the weather in heaven.

SKIES WERE treasuries of bright blue, the sun brightened the spirits of everybody, and there was space in the church parking lot for all but the last 37 cars that showed up for the ceremony.

I felt so tremendously responsible. Was there a hymnal and a prayer book in every pew? The church looked so nice and new, as if Christ had just walked His freshness there.

There is a human glory in the waiting of the groom and the flowery walkway of his adorned bride.

As she strolled down the most wonderful street of her life arm in arm with her tall, dark handsome father, I thought to myself, "Well, they'll surely be calling on me next. There must be something for me to do."

BUT THE NEXT words I heard were the famous words of the preacher presenting the acceptance of alternates. "In sickness and in health..." in the union of going the way together.

"Who giveth this woman..." the minister inquired.

"This woman?" This growth of protoplasm whose bottom I'd pretended to spank when you could hold all of her person in either hand and lift her to the ceiling?

SHE STOOD THERE, framed in her usual portrayal—her fair hair, her eyes that mirrored the feeling of an occasion, a look of being wistfully eager to make you feel better.

Looking at her critically, I sensed, as probably most people do, the luminous fact that girls never look more lovely than they do when echoing the words of a minister as they stand steady by the man they're being wedded to.

"Who giveth this woman..." the minister asked.

Responded in confident affirmation, the tall, dark, handsome father:

"Her mother and I!"

How about me? Nobody asked me. Nobody asks at a marriage how a fellow like me feels about the situation.

Yet at most marriages there's a fellow like me. He's the guy who stands around with a hurt look in his eyes and offers to pour you a drink—and then spills champagne in your lap.

HE FEELS HIMSELF to be the silent hero of the occasion, the one who takes the major suffering, and gets the least recognition.

Who is this guy? He's the godfather of the bride, the silent heartache at the giving.

Well, at least I had done my chief godfatherly duty. I had taken care of my goddaughter's moral welfare. I had married a girl named Nina Ann Palmer to a man named Bill Sweeney who loves her.

worried. — K. R. The patient with chronic gastritis — irritation of the stomach — who insists on alcohol and spicy foods is asking for the misery he goes through.

Compulsive eating is a psychological matter; the gastritis is a physical result of it. My suggestion in a case like this would be to tackle the root of the problem, the compulsive eating and drinking, with some psychiatric counseling. There's not much point in trying to heal the stomach until the patient will accept sensible eating habits.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Advice From Third-Graders

One thing and another: Adults might accept these bits of advice passed on by third graders and profit from them:

"Don't drink anything with bones in it."
"Don't hang from bridges."

I KNOW of a couple of places in this town where if the termites ever move out the structures would collapse and somebody would get hurt.

ONE OF THE most sex-mad creatures in the world is the Western pine beetle, which destroys enough prime timber every year to build 10,000 five-room houses.

Its last may prove its undoing. A team of chemists and biologists on the west coast have discovered the body chemical that makes these insects attract each other sexually. The chemical has been reproduced in the laboratory, with the result that the scientists hope to lure the beetles to their death.

The beetles bore deeply into the sap-carrying layers of trees and build tunnels there in which to lay their eggs. Fungus drifting into the tunnels stop the flow of sap and kills the trees.

The scientists plan to lure the beetles away from the trees through use of the chemicals. Once so attracted, there are any number of ways to destroy them—by poisons or sterilization through radiation.

THE UNITED STATES — North Vietnam peace talks are being held in Paris, even though many Americans regard Le Grande Charley de Gaulle in a suspicious light.

One observer, however, said such talks should be held either aboard a Chinese battleship in U.S. waters or on a U.S. warship in Chinese waters.

WHAT ABOUT that southern department store which can't stand to be second in anything?

One of its promotional schemes is a basketball team. When the team loses, the store's publication always reports its team's score first (e. g. 45-62).

A Town That Came To Stay

By ED SYERS
Some time ago, listing Texas towns that retain their charm of least change, I was reminded by several of you that little Castroville, west of San Antonio on the Medina, was omitted. It should not have been.

With its slope-roofed, dormer-windowed, story-and-a-half, its old white-plastered stone, its spires and arcades, shade, flowers and neatly quiet yards, it is one of our most unique villages—a miniature of New Orleans French, somehow on the way west to once New Spain.

CASTROVILLE was, in fact, settled by Alsatian Henri Castro in an 1844 Texas Republic colonization grant; and its first comers were a mixture of Alsatian, French, Belgian and German.

If you leave US 90 long enough to browse, the town's venerable landmarks stand much the way they were: four-square Zion Lutheran Church, Gothic high-spired Church of St. Louis, the ordered brown and white arcades of Moye School . . . and the stout old homes.

YOU CAN BE misled that here is an air of serene unconcern for a busy world; it is rather the quality of a settlement that came to stay, fought for its life as few others . . . and won.

Castroville's early days were successive grim collisions with calamity in numbers — any of them enough to break most settlements. First, it was thrust literally into Comancheria; whatever west of San Antonio's frontier. Settlers from Europe, ex-cartering up from the coast for their new land, found they had to fight for it. Guns went to the fields even as they were broken for first crop.

BUT IT WAS the year 1848 that nearly finished the colony. The normally cool, green Medina dried to clay, and 10 foot cracks broke what had been rich farmland. For a year, then three months more, there was simply no rain. Settlers foraged anything edible and hung on for the rain that had to come . . . and finally did.

Yet even as they looked to a bountiful harvest, a second disaster came from the same sky that loosed the rains. The sky turned black with grasshoppers; the old ones thought of Biblical Egypt's plague while their wells and windows gluttered for a day. The earth was bone bare again.

SOME LEFT, and many thought of it, but redoubtable Castroville dug in once more with wagoned help from neighbor San Antonio. Surely now, the worst was past.

It was not Texas' mid-century epidemics struck the village with cholera — bitterly virulent on the struggling town by the Medina. For a time, it seemed the entire settlement would be exterminated, for burials ran ahead of available coffins; bodies were wrapped in rawhide. More than once, mourners at gravesides died there.

Six weeks, Castroville fought the spectre of pestilence . . . and survived.

SO THE VILLAGE you see today is very much like the one its forebears founded. Yes, it's a quiet jewel box; if out of the mainstream, solid and growing. As you look down on the valley from Cross Mountain west, you have the certain feeling that little town will be anchored there, centuries yet.

The People Demand Action

WASHINGTON — Congress has a real problem on its hands in the closing months of the session, as disorder in the country has become extraordinary. The people are demanding that something be done.

The most affluent and greatest nation in the world is in the midst of a moral crisis. Crime continues to rise month after month. Violence is rampant, robberies are frequent, and people are afraid to go out on the streets. Police often are scared or are not allowed to make arrests, and the courts tend to release criminals on technicalities.

MEMBERS OF Congress from all over the country are becoming more and more concerned with the expressions of discontent and dissatisfaction which they are receiving from their constituents. This was reflected in the passage of the anti-crime bill. It provides some financial assistance to state and local law-enforcement agencies, and contains a watered-down provision for gun control. But much more is needed.

ONLY THIS past week the American people read of a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States which relied on technicalities of law in disregard of principles of morality. The Court declared invalid regulations by the state of Alabama denying aid to dependent children when mothers "cohabit" with men other than their husbands. The state argued that the purpose of its regulations was to discourage illicit sexual relationships and illegitimacy. The ruling of the nation's highest court seems, however, to condone adultery and encourage more illegitimacy.

THERE HAS long been criticism that some government "welfare" programs were having such a result. A subcommittee of the joint economic committee of Congress, for instance, is currently holding hearings on various proposals for assistance to the poor. At Tuesday's session, Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, Democrat of Michigan, sharply criticized a plan of the Office of Economic Opportunity as one that would "subsidize bastardy."

People read about or saw on their television screens the culmination of the "poor people's march" on Washington. These "demonstrators," in fact, ignored the governing bodies in states, counties, cities and towns across the nation from which they could seek redress and relief.

AT THE SAME time, however, people wonder why the vast "anti-poverty" programs are not providing aid to the poor and others who really need it. Questions have been raised for years as to the efficiency of governmental agencies in helping the deserving needy. The charge is often heard that there is waste running into hundreds of millions of dollars in the handling of "welfare" programs. These criticisms are becoming far more pressing now as publicity is given to the fact that thousands may be suffering from hunger or malnutrition.

AMERICANS have been contributing billions of dollars annually to private institutions for charitable purposes, and they are not averse to having their tax money spent for help to the needy, particularly where children are concerned. Their dissatisfaction today is based on a feeling that funds intended for assistance to those deserving it are being diverted to other ends.

The American people are disturbed about what is happening throughout the country, and about the failure of Congress and the executive departments to deal effectively with these problems. This will be a big issue in the forthcoming campaign.

What Others Say

Twice within two weeks the United States Supreme Court has rendered decisions strengthening society's hand against those who would either break the law or take the law into their own hands.

In the first decision the high court reasonably and wisely upheld the ban on destroying or mutilating draft cards and held that freedom of speech does not extend to "an apparently limitless variety of conduct." In its second decision the court, equally and wisely, has deemed that the police have the right to stop suspicious-looking persons and frisk them for weapons.

This latter decision is of outstanding importance for at least three reasons. In the first place it gives a solid underpinning to police efforts to nip crime and catch criminals before an antipublic act has taken place. In the second, it encourages the police to believe (and this belief has been seriously eroded of late years) that their efforts at crime-control have court backing. In the third, it indicates that the Supreme Court may well be listening to the rising public demand for more effective action against the swelling national tide of criminality.

Not A Flaming Personality

WASHINGTON — Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota is not a dull man, but it's impossible to write anything except dull pieces about him. Somebody ought to find out why.

When he moved from House to Senate in 1959, McCarthy's friends predicted a brilliant career. In a discussion among newsmen a year or so ago, some of us tried to name the brightest man in the Senate. McCarthy's was the only name mentioned.

IN HIS press conference the other day, McCarthy had a chance to join the chorus of candidates in still another maudlin tribute to Bob Kennedy, but he didn't mention his slain rival. He unobtrusively did something better. McCarthy had shifted the press conference site from the spacious Caucus Chamber to a cramped committee room, and we all thought it a matter of personal security. McCarthy could have made news by explaining that he did so out of respect to Kennedy who had announced his candidacy in the big place. We had to find out this reason later, on our own.

UNDER QUESTIONING, McCarthy said laconically it would be "very difficult" for him to support the nomination of Hubert Humphrey. He could have made a noise on this party-riding point, but he played it down. McCarthy eschews theatrics. In the aftermath of tragedy, he was business-as-usual. In his role of peace-candidate within a war-making party, we keep expecting Gene to glow with the fervor of his sincerely held cause. He never does.

HISTORICALLY, our presidential peace candidates have been vivid, feisty fellows. De Witt Clinton of New York, who ran against President Madison in 1812, rejoiced in the nickname of the Magnan Apollo. Like McCarthy, Clinton was a man of parts. He fought Tammany Hall. He helped to start a public school system, the Academy of Fine Arts, the New York Historical Society and the Erie Canal. Like McCarthy, he opposed an unpopular war.

THOSE WERE the days! We have come to expect flaming personalities and sulfurous rhetoric when public figures grab the banner of peace, and all good patriots try to knock them down for it.

But in these dismal times, when so much has gone from the glamor of war, Gene McCarthy has robbed peace-mongering of the allure that once aroused the national passions.

This presidential campaign has little enough fun in it, McCarthy, by nature or by guile, is one of the spoliators.

What Others Say

Amidst the national cry for stringent gun-control laws, Tarrant County Sheriff Lon Evans has hit the nail on the head. He would impose 25 years imprisonment on anyone convicted of using firearms during a major crime.

Evans explains that gun-registration laws aren't the answer to the problem of the use of firearms in crime. "A hoodlum can always steal a gun. But we'd have a lot less pistol-carrying criminals if they knew they faced at least 25 years in prison if they used a gun in a felony."

In Britain, the penalty for carrying a loaded firearm in a public place is six months imprisonment or a $480 fine. Up to 10 years imprisonment may be imposed for possession of a firearm with intent to injure property, endanger life or resist arrest. The latter penalty applies whether the weapon is loaded or not or even if it is an imitation. There were only 35 murders by firearms in 1967 and 1,511 indictable offenses involving firearms in Britain in 1966. The nation also has a stiff registration law.

The answer to the gun problem is to punish those who use them in violent means.

McCovey's Blasts Win For Giants

By The Associated Press

Willie McCovey is a firm believer in that maxim: Out of sight, out of mind. And he's getting his message across to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

McCovey unloaded a pair of tape measure home runs Sunday, giving Juan Marichal and the San Francisco Giants a 2-1 victory over Pittsburgh and driving the Pirates up the walls of cavernous Forbes Field.

"I don't get any thrill out of hitting the ball real far. I just want it to go out of the park," said the slugging first baseman, who has hit seven of his National League leading 18 homers in the Giants' last seven games against the Pirates.

Marichal's 14th victory—tops in the majors—enabled the second-place Giants to trim one-half game off St. Louis' league lead. The Cardinals had their seven-game winning string sliced by Atlanta 5-1 in the opener of a doubleheader, but rebounded for a 3-1 second game victory that left them 6½ lengths in front.

REDS GET TWO
Cincinnati swept a twin bill from the Chicago Cubs 9-8 and 4-3, the nightcap going 11 innings, while the New York Mets edged Los Angeles 5-4 and Houston tripped Philadelphia 7-4 in other single games.

McCovey took exception to his own rule in the first inning at Pittsburgh when the first of his two homers off Jim Bunning sailed onto the 56-foot high roof of the double deck right field stands. "I watched it all the way," he admitted. "I knew it cleared the stands."

TWAS NOTHING
But he shrugged off a reminder that the roof had been reached only 12 times before in Forbes Field's 59-year history. "That sounds like quite a lot to me," said Willie.

McCovey's second homer—and third in two games—was a 425-foot blast into the right-center field stands that gave Marichal a 2-0 margin in the third.

While Marichal was taming the Pirates, a pair of unheralded hurlers—Atlanta reliever Cecil Upshaw and St. Louis southpaw Mel Nelson—divided the spoils before a record regular season crowd of 49,743 at Busch Stadium.

Upshaw allowed only two hits over the final 7 2/3 innings of the opener after the Braves chased St. Louis starter Nelson Briles with a four-run first-inning flurry.

Nelson, recalled from the minors last week, fired a six-hitter and held the Braves to an unearned run in the nightcap for his first major league triumph since 1963, and his first ever as a starter. Catcher Johnny Edwards backed his battery.

FREAK PLAY
The Reds completed their sweep on a freakish 11th-inning force play that deprived Tommy Helms of a single but sent Tony Perez home with the winning run.

With one out and the bases loaded, Helms' blooper fell in front of right fielder Al Spangler, who recovered the ball and forced Lee May at second as Perez trotted across the plate.

May had driven in the Reds' first three runs with a homer and single.

Don Pavletich's two-run double climaxed a three-run ninth in a desperate attempt to denigrate rally that carried Cincinnati behind the first game.

The Mets again climbed with one victory of the elusive 500 mark as Cleon Jones smacked a three-run homer and doubled home another run against the Dodgers. Rookie Nolan Ryan staked to a 5-0 lead, which was knocked out in the eighth inning but picked up his sixth victory in 11 decisions.

High Jumper

Philadelphia Phil's second baseman Cookie Rojas has to go high in the air to reach catcher Mike Ryans throw in the fourth inning of Sunday afternoon's game with the Houston Astros. Rojas got the ball and came back to earth in time to get the sliding Doug Rader, who was trying for his first stolen base of the year. Houston won the game 7-4.

Lemaster Needs Help, But Wins
HOUSTON (AP) — Southpaw Houston pitcher Denny Lemaster says he is going to attack the mound in the Astrodome with ruck and shovel.

The ex-Atlanta hurler is beginning to dislike that pile of dirt in the infield as much as he does opposing hitters.

"It's too flat," Lemaster said Sunday after Houston scored a 7-4 victory over Philadelphia.

"I was fighting that mound all day," he said. "I almost wore a hole in the knee of my pants when I kept hitting the thing with my knee."

Philadelphia left fielder Richie Allen slammed his 14th homer into center bleachers in the third. Tony Taylor followed with a single, and Roberto Pena's double cost Lemaster another run.

Lemaster left in the ninth after giving up singles to Cookie Rojas and John Callison. Gladding fanned Allen and gave up a run-scoring double by Ricardo Joseph before Tony Tattler scored Callison on a ground out.

Sony Gonzalez hit a bouncer to Denis Menke at second for the final out.

Right fielder Dick Simpson smashed Woody Fryman's first pitch in the game for a homer, his fourth of the year and first since joining Houston from St. Louis.

Ramos Bids For Upset
NEW YORK (AP) — Manuel Ramos, a 41 underdog, is expected to shoot the works early in a desperate attempt to dethrone five-state heavyweight champion Joe Frazier in a 15-round title fight at Madison Square Garden tonight.

"It only takes one punch to turn a fight around," said Gil Clancy. "Ramos can punch pretty good but he better get Frazier quick because the champ keeps coming at you. If Ramos can nail him everyone may be in for a surprise."

Tigers Beat Snyder 1-0 In 14-Inning Hurler Duel
The Big Spring Tigers and the Snyder Redlegs locked in a mighty pitchers battle here Sunday, and it was the 14th inning before the Tigers could finally get a run across and win 1-0.

Hank Pope was the star, hurling the first nine innings with only one hit while whiffing 13 Redlegs, but it was Tony Fierro who saved the game after a shaky debut.

Al Mendoza, Jody Florez and Jim Fierro helped the Tigers with two hits each, yet it wasn't until the 14th when Billy Weatherall got aboard on an error that the Tigers developed any punch.

Tigers Win On Annual Homer By Tracewski

By The Associated Press

There was the faintest sign of a crack showing in Detroit's armor but Dick Tracewski's annual home run sealed it right up.

The Tigers had dropped three straight to Cleveland and another loss to the challenging Indians could have meant real trouble for the American League leaders.

So Manager Mayo Smith, taking no chances, went to his secret weapon, starting Tracewski in the second game of Sunday's doubleheader. The veteran infielder produced a three-run homer that carried the Tigers to a 4-1 victory after Luis Tiant had blanked them 3-0 in the first game.

In other American League action Sunday, Minnesota dropped New York 6-3, Oakland whacked Washington 9-0, California shaded Baltimore 3-2 and Boston split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning the first game 6-2 but dropping the rain-delayed nightcap 10-1.

ONCE A YEAR
Tracewski has hit one home run in five of his six major league seasons, missing only in 1966 when he was traded by the Los Angeles Dodgers to the Tigers. Blame that lapse on the adjustment to a new league.

Ted Uhlander smacked five straight hits, scoring two runs and driving in another, as the Twins rocked the Yankees.

Jim Fregosi opened the ninth inning with his fifth home run of the year, beating Baltimore for California.

Jim Nash pitched a four-hitter and the Athletics jumped on Washington's Bruce Howard for six runs in the first inning and coasted past the Senators.

SEN'S FINALLY WIN
The Senators, who dropped their 10th game in the last 11, saved some face and perhaps some runs by executing the American League's second triple play in the third inning.

Pete Ward drove in five runs — three of them with a home run — and Chicago romped past Boston in the second game after Gary Bell's pitching and hitting had given the Red Sox the first game victory.

Jim Lomborg, making his second start, hit two batters and lasted for only five pitches in the second game before retiring with a sore arm.

Sandy, Kathy In Playoff
SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Sandra Post attempted a rare feat today in meeting defending champion Kathy Whitworth in an 18-hole playoff for the Ladies' PGA title at Pleasant View Country Club.

Miss Post, who turned 20 just two weeks ago, had a chance to double her money earnings in her first year on the pro golf tour as she teed off against a veteran, who set a record by winning more than $44,000 in 1967.

Sandy, a resident of Oakville, Ont., a small town near Toronto, sought to become the first foreign player to win the LPGA Championship and also break a long standing hex on rookies.

A first-year player has not won an LPGA tournament since Judy King captured the American Women's Classic at Minneapolis in 1961.

Miss Post, laughing off pressure before a record crowd of 15,000, and Miss Whitworth matched par 73s in the fourth round to finish deadlocked with 294.

Germany's Gerda Whalen had a 72 for 295 and third money of $1,800.

Donohue Victor
B R I D G E H A M P T O N, N. Y. (AP) — Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., won the Bridgehampton three-hour Transamerica Sedan Championship, driving his American Motors Javelin 99 laps over the 2.85-mile course Sunday in an average speed of 94.37 m.p.h.

Lefty Bob Charles Holds Off Jack Nicklaus Charge

TORONTO (AP) — It's getting to be a habit.

Bob Charles of New Zealand won the $125,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship Sunday and became the second golfer in eight days to ignore a final-round charge by Jack Nicklaus.

Lee Trevino did it a week earlier and won the U.S. Open. Charles shot a four-under-par 66 during Sunday's final round for a six-under-par 274 and picked up $25,000.

Nicklaus, who staged a head-to-head battle with Charles over the final 18 holes of the 6,792-yard St. George's Golf Club layout, said later that the New Zealand's game was "just too good."

Charles went to the first tee Sunday afternoon with Nicklaus and Billy Casper. He was tied with George Knudson of Toronto for the lead at two-under 208.

Nicklaus, who started the round one stroke back, scored three-under 67 and won $15,000 for his second-place finish.

Bruce Crampton of Australia was alone at three-under 277 after a 66 for the day, while three-time winner Sam Snead, R.H. Sikes, Tom Weiskopf and Tommy Aaron were tied for fourth with one-under 279s.

Jack Nicklaus and Casper, the defending champion, were at par 280. Knudson slipped to 73 and finished in a tie with six other at 281.

Jess Claiborne Edges J. Broyles At Lamesa

LAMESA — Jess Claiborne, Lamesa, held steady to edge Jake Broyles, Fort Stockton, one up on the 19th to win the 17th annual Lamesa Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament here Sunday.

Claiborne, who is the Southwest conference golf champ, was hard pressed to hold off Broyles, Howard Hassel, Seminole, one up on the 19th to win the 17th annual Lamesa Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament here Sunday.

Al Lanford, Lamesa, ousted Danny Autry, Seminole, 3-2 to win the first flight honors, while J. P. Ward, Snyder, was the consolation winner.

In the second flight, it was Ronny Payton, Lamesa, over Dewayne Snell, Lamesa, 2-1.

Roy Peden Grabs C-City Trophy
COLORADO CITY — Roy Peden, Kermit, took an easy six-stroke victory in the Colorado City 25-er Golf Tournament here Sunday.

Carl Beard, Odessa, and Leonard Perry, Sweetwater, each carded 114s and Beard won second place in a playoff Marvin Williams, Big Spring, tied for sixth with 116, eight strokes off the pace.

Adam Ramos won second place in the first flight, defeating Joe Burchard in a playoff. Each posted 118. First flight honors went to Don Venson with 116.

Ted Gross, Big Spring, captured consolation honors with 71 in the championship flight, and Jackie Thomas was fourth and Bob Waters sixth with 79 and 80.

Cards Overcome Yankees' Lead
The Cardinals got off to a bad start but plugged away to overcome the Yankees 10-7 in a Saturday evening National Little League game.

Bruce Abbe started for the Cards but was knocked out by a seven-run Yank uprising in the first. However, he stayed in the game and homered in the second with two aboard, then added two singles. Corky Burchell got the victory and Bobby Bradshaw was tabbed with the loss.

Jimmy Stewart contributed a couple as did Jerry Dunne. The Yanks are now 4-13 and the Cards 10-6. The box score:

Cubs Break Victory Ice

A seven-run blast in the fifth gave the Cubs a 10-4 victory over the Orioles in a Sophomore League game Saturday night.

Wayne York got the victory and Brewer got the loss.

Despite the margin, both sides got seven hits.

This was the first win of the year for the Cubs, who are 1-5, and it left the Orioles with a 3-2 record. Carter and York each hit two singles for the Cubs, and Brewer had a pair of safeties for the Orioles. The box score:

Ravens Peck Cats Into Submission
The Ravens had the Tigers crying "nevermore" after an abbreviated game in the International Little League Saturday evening. This left the Ravens with an 8-3 season and the Tigers 6-11.

It was 4-3 through the first but in the second the Ravens began pecking away with five runs. Ray Lagor was the winning pitcher, striking out nine men in three innings. Moreover, he had a pair of doubles and three singles in a blistering night at the plate. Aldridge was charged with the loss. The box score:

Morton's Wins Pair But Losses In Lamesa Tourney

LAMESA — Morton's Foods of Big Spring won its first two games, then dropped a pair to fall out of contention in the Lamesa Invitational Softball tournament here during the weekend.

The Abilene A's won the tournament over Reece AFB of Lubbock, 4-0. Reece's pitcher hurled seven straight games.

Morton's won its first two games, then dropped a pair to fall out of contention in the Lamesa Invitational Softball tournament here during the weekend.

Morton's also got credit for the second win, holding D&B Plumbing of Odessa, 4-2. Again, Morton's was out first 6-3, but they rallied for four runs in the fourth.

It was trouble for Mize, however, against the Lamesa Marchants, who clipped Morton's 4-1. Morton's matched Lamesa's six hits but could not bunt them. Gibson was the winning pitcher. The heart-breaker came against the Abilene Merchants which took Morton's out 3-4. Joe Blasingame pitched good ball and allowed only seven hits. But Morton's 11 hits off Williams were scattered too much to help. The damage came on a homer with two aboard in the first, but Morton's was able to tie it in the third, only to see Abilene get the go-ahead run in the fifth.

MAJOR PARTIES SHOULD RUN SCARED

Wallace Role Looming Larger

George C. Wallace's barnstorming across the South to the cheers of zealous supporters indicates his increasingly significant role in the presidential election.

It into the House of Representatives," he told crowds on his Southern fund-raising tour last week. "We are running to win."

Brewer predicted Wallace would carry Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia "of a certainty." And he said Wallace has an excellent chance of taking Texas, Arkansas, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and Virginia.

Even though Brewer is partisan, behind the scenes there were other governors who agreed Wallace might carry from 5 to 10 states or more.

Gov. John Connally of Texas told newsmen at the Southern Governors Conference recently that both major party candidates should "run scared of George Wallace."

Former Georgia Gov. Carl E. Sanders said Wallace would sweep the South unless the Democratic organizations get busy.

"If," said Sanders, "the state and national party keeps sitting around while he gains momentum, then it is going to be too late."

Both Connally and Sanders alluded to the law-and-order issue which Wallace has hammered in his speeches. This has a strong appeal among voters, Sanders said, and the Democratic candidates ought to talk about it.

Wallace has already won positions on the ballot in more than one-half the states. All indications are that he will be on the ballot in most states by November.

He tells listeners how he made the ballot in California by getting 107,263 voters to re-register as members of his American Independent party—when only 66,000 were needed. He also points to the turnout of thousands for his party's county conventions in Texas. It might be in his plans to work hard at winning the plurality in the big states like California and Texas. He reminds interviewers that California will have at least four different presidential candidates on the ballot.

The former Alabama governor does not talk about segrega-

Denise Darcel Charged With Shoplifting Undies

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bosom pals, a few pair of panties, a French actress Denise Darcel, with money in her purse and a show date waiting, was charged with shoplifting $35 worth of underwear Sunday. She called it "a bum rap."

Miss Darcel, who rose to film stardom in the late 1940s, was arrested outside a downtown Miami department store by a store detective who said "she had three shopping bags full of merchandise."

Later, in jail, Miss Darcel said, "They can't get away with treating me like a common criminal."

"She had already purchased several articles and paid for them," Police Lt. Paul Oboz said. "And she was picking up other things she wanted. She claimed there was no sales lady at the time and she intended to pay for it later. She claims she went out to see if a bus was coming by. That's when she was arrested by the store detective."

Police said the goods—valued at $35.06—in Miss Darcel's shopping bags included hose, slippers, a comb and mirror, hair-plins, a few pair of panties, a nightgown and one bra—size 40.

Miss Darcel, petite and trim at 43, had her blonde hair tucked under a scarf when jailed. She wore a blouse with fruit prints, slacks and large sunglasses. She posted $500 bond and was released from jail about three hours after her arrest. She must appear in Municipal Court next Friday on petty larceny charges.

The Paris-born actress came to Hollywood in 1947 to film "To the Victor." She followed with a success in "Battleground" opposite Van Johnson and the late John Hodiak.

Dear Abby

Has An 'Adopted' Girl

DEAR ABBY: I am an unmarried, middle-aged, professional man. While working in another state last summer, I became acquainted with a young woman who worked as a carhop. She had a pretty 11-year-old daughter, and was having a hard time making ends meet. Since I was going to take an extended trip through the west, I offered to take the child with me. They were both enthused and the mother gave me the girl's birth certificate "in case I needed it."

Upon returning from the trip, the mother was nowhere to be found. I spent several days trying to locate her, but to no avail. The forwarding address she left was phony. I notified the local police, but they could not find the mother, nor did they try to remove the girl from my care. They took my permanent address and said they'd notify me if anything turned up.

When I commenced my present job in this town, I presented the girl "as a close relative." She is now 12, very happy, and doing well in school. She never asks about her mother. I think I am doing an excellent job of raising her and it would be a shame to be separated now.

Can you advise me as to the legal and social aspects of this? NORTH CAROLINA: DEAR NORTH CAROLINA: I think you need a lawyer to help you establish a legal guardianship over the child, satisfying whatever preliminary actions that are required. However well-intentioned, you are now vulnerable to a number of unpleasant charges.

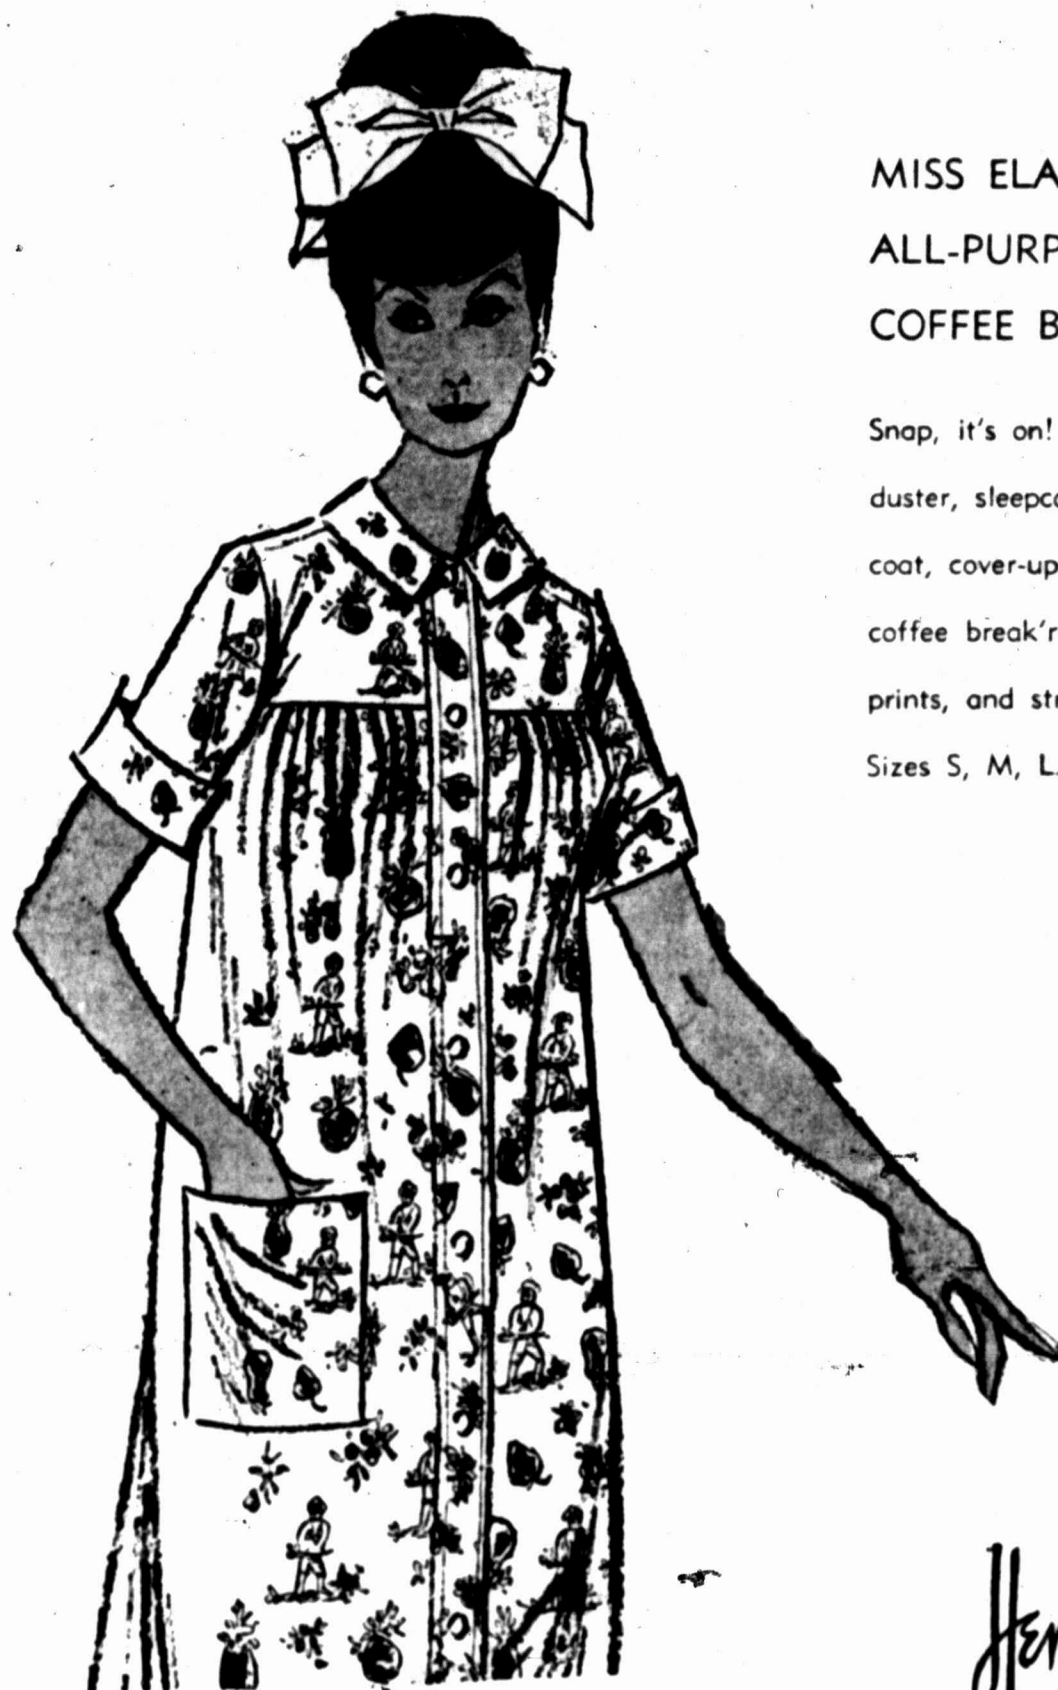

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because I don't have a mother and my dad wouldn't understand.

I am 14 and have a boy friend named Gary, who is also 14. This might be only puppy love, but I do like him a whole lot. My problem is another girl. She likes Gary, too, and she's trying to get him away from me. She is having a party and she invited Gary but not me. I think she just made up this party as an excuse to get my boy friend.

I felt just terrible and cried in my pillow last night. I keep thinking that if Gary really liked me he wouldn't go.

GARY'S GIRL: DEAR GIRL: Try to be a good sport if it kills you. DON'T say a word to Gary about the party or the other girl. The surest way to lose a boy friend is to be possessive, and bossy. Give him all the freedom he wants and you won't be able to get rid of him.

Everybody has a problem.
