Danny Reagan, Mrs. Conny Wade, Mike Bearden, Daury Powell and Teresa Conner practice for the "Let Freedom Ring" program scheduled for 1:45 p.m. Thursday. The four musicians will provide the music for the program.

COURTHOUSE

Freedom To Ring Here

Freedom will ring Thursday as city residents gather at Memorial Plaza on the east side of the courthouse for the third annual "Let Freedom Ring" program.

Activities are scheduled to begin at 1:45 p.m. when Sheriff A. N. Standard, dressed in a buckskin costume, and five members of the American Businessman's Club, dressed as colonial soldiers, proceed from the railroad depot to the courthouse.

Declaration Of Independence

Standard will present Town Crier Jim Baum with a copy of the Declaration of Independence and Baum will read the document to the crowd. The program will take place in front of a painting of Independence Hall by Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodds.

At the close of the reading, members of the high school Key Club will ring the Steer victory bell four minutes beginning at 2 p.m.

"For the first 100 years of our nation's life, ringing of bells was the standard method of celebrating Independence Day," Mrs. Dodds said.

"We have asked that bells be rung all over town for four minutes beginning at 2 p.m. to commemorate the signing and reading of the Declaration," Mrs. Connie Wade said.

Mrs. Dodds began the program in Big Spring in 1966, a year after President Lyndon Johnson initiated the nation-wide program.

Spirit Of '76

Teresa Conner, flutist; Mike Bearden, drummer, and Daury Powell, piccolo player, will combine to provide "Spirit of '76" music. They will play "Yankee Doodle" during the presentation of colors and "Hail Columbia" during the procession from the depot. Danny Reagan will be trumpeter.

The Webb AFB Color Guard will present the flag and Chaplain (Capt.) Thomas W. Black will give the invocation.

Larry Stanley has been asked to lead the crowd in singing the national anthem. Mrs. A. W. Moody, president of the Gold Star Mothers, said that the group, attired in colonial costumes, would be on hand for the program.

Coahoma Program

The Coahoma FHA Chapter will sponsor a special July 4th celebration in the Coahoma City Park Thursday, starting at 6:30 p.m. The program and fireworks will begin after dark.

Firecracker Display

A Fourth of July fireworks display is planned for 9:30-11 p.m. Thursday at Webb AFB. Military personnel and the public are invited to view the aerial display. A seating area will be provided and air policemen will be on duty at the base entrance to direct visitors to the display area. There will be no admission charge.

Plaque Dedication

The public is invited to the dedication of a bronze plaque in front of the F-86D Sabre Jet monument at the Howard County Airport Thursday. The plaque will be dedicated by Col. William C. McGlothlin Jr., wing commander, at 9:30 a.m. During the ceremony, a flight of T-38 Talons will fly over the airport.

After the dedication, the Webb Aero Club will hold an open house. The club's two planes, a Cessna 150 and a Cessna 172, will be on display. In addition, coffee and doughnuts will be served after the ceremony in the club's airport office.

Total resources	$49,170,541.25	$47,391,665.31	$1,868,875.94

Deposits gained nearly two million dollars over a year ago in Howard County's banks, according to statements issued today in response to a call of condition as of June 29, 1968.

The deposit total in the three banks in Big Spring and one in Coahoma amounted to $44,305,906, which was up by $1,970,536 from the June 30 call last year. It was, however, down from the peak call of April 15, which showed $49,057,519 on deposit, a figure which happened to have caught one of the banks with a hefty deposit in transit here. The deposit total, however, was a peak for the mid-year call.

Loans and discounts of $26,768,772 were up by $1,767,810. This also was an increase over the $26,155,937 in April, which previously stood as an all-time record.

Cash of $7,924,333 was off by $12,937 from a year ago, and it was down from the $10,229,874 in April.

Total resources of $49,170,541 represented a gain of $1,868,875 over June 30 last year. This was considerably under the peak of $54,168,325 in April.

The banks held $4,649,852 in United States securities, $8,854,067 in county, municipal and other bonds, and $1,894,596 in guaranteed agency bonds. This makes a total of $13,398,515, which is $869,918 more in bonds than the banks were carrying at this same time a year ago.

By banks the breakdown showed:

FIRST NATIONAL — Loans and discounts $14,390,617.55, deposits $21,111,993.44, cash $3,953,525.60, total resources $23,540,995.19. In addition the bank held $1,310,267.00 in U.S. securities, $2,450,516.65 in county, municipals and other bonds, and $1,679,989.49 in guaranteed agency bonds.

Opposes New Gun Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today he cannot support the administration's bill providing for registration of firearms and the licensing of gun owners.

He told the Senate that the bill submitted by President Johnson involves "an excessive and unwarranted intrusion into individual and state responsibilities."

Tuesday, the House Democratic Leader, Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, also announced his opposition to the new gun control legislation urged by the President.

While Mansfield spoke out against the administration bill, he said he stands by his decision to support and sponsor a measure introduced by Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., providing for federal controls only if the states fail to act.

Car Insurance Rates To Remain Same Here

AUSTIN (AP) — State Insurance Board rate experts recommended today that private passenger car liability premiums increase this year for Texas' most common class of drivers in a majority of rating territories.

Overall, the experts recommended an average statewide reduction of nearly 1 per cent, but this includes a number of specialized categories as well as some reductions for young drivers.

The board's staff also recommended a 7.7 per cent average statewide increase in full coverage comprehensive insurance and a 7.1 per cent hike in collision coverage.

Overall, the board's staff said, an average statewide increase of 2.8 per cent, counting all types of coverage, is indicated. The board heard testimony from the insurance industry on the proposed new rates and will set new premiums within a few weeks effective Aug. 1.

In all categories of private passenger car insurance, the Safe Driving Insurance Plan, which boosts the premiums of unsafe drivers, had the effect of pushing rates below what they ordinarily would have been.

Here are liability insurance rate changes for a 10-20-5 policy held by a driver in class B, by territory. Current annual premiums are given first, followed by the indicated new rate.

SALES TAX INCREASED, SPENDING BILL SET, NO BOOZE BY-THE-DRINK

Turbulent Special Session Ends

AUSTIN (AP) — The Special Session of the 60th Legislature, which will be remembered mostly for its hot arguments over sales taxes and liquor by the drink, ended today.

The official time for the final gavel rap was set for 12:45 p.m. The drowsy conclusion was in contrast to rip roaring filibusters throughout Tuesday that did not end until almost 2 a.m. today.

Talked to death in the early morning hours was Gov. John Connally's minibottle plan to legalize sale of liquor by the drink.

NO CALL
Connally sent word to legislators this morning that he would not call another special session on liquor reform. He also said he would not open the final hours of the session to the 109 requests he had received to expand the purpose of the session.

"I am informed, the House and Senate have completed action on appropriations for fiscal 1969 and have passed a tax bill to assure a balanced budget. These are the essential items for which the special session was called. . . There is insufficient time before the constitutional deadline to properly consider any additional subjects. I therefore will not expand the call," he said.

A Senate filibuster that dragged on past midnight finally laid to rest the session's No. 1 controversy—Gov. John Connally's recommendation to legalize mixed drinks through sales of liquor in two-ounce or drink-size bottles.

RESURRECTED
The minibottle plan died first last Friday on a 14-17 unfavorable vote but was resurrected at Connally's urging. Its fate was sealed Tuesday, however, as Sen. N. J. Blanchard of Lubbock and other senators from dry areas talked it to death.

Earlier in the day the House took back a decision not to accept the Senate-amended version of a tax bill for 1969 and passed it 107-39.

Tax experts are still unsure how much this measure will raise. Senate sponsors estimated $175.7 million but fiscal experts said after passage that $159 million was more probable.

Both houses then accepted the compromise version of a 1969 appropriations bill that had been written by a 10-man Senate-House conference committee.

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam said today it is releasing three more U.S. pilots but did not give their names or say when and where they will be freed.

Once before the North Vietnamese released American fliers captured on missions over the North. It freed three on Feb. 16 as a gesture for the Vietnamese lunar new year. In exchange, the United States released three North Vietnamese sailors a month later.

Hanoi Radio's brief announcement today said: "Proceeding from the humanitarian and lenient policy of the government of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, the general political department of the Vietnam People's Army has decided to release three U.S. pilots captured in North Vietnam."

The United States had hoped that some general agreement on prisoners might come out of the Paris talks, but Hanoi has insisted that other issues can be discussed only after the United States agrees to stop all bombing of North Vietnam.

One other brief announcement over Hanoi Radio today said Le Duc Tho, special adviser to Xuan Thuy, North Vietnam's chief negotiator at Paris, arrived in Hanoi Tuesday. There was no elaboration.

Some 700 American servicemen, mostly airmen, were listed in May as missing or captured in North Vietnam. The exact number held prisoner is not known because Hanoi has refused to supply names.

On the eve of the weekly meeting, the official North Vietnamese newspaper Nhan Dan said that North Vietnam is "resolutely and unalterably determined to reject the U.S. demand."

Harriman has told Thuy repeatedly that Hanoi must reduce its war effort before President Johnson will meet North Vietnam's demand that he end all bombing of the North. The North Vietnamese have repeatedly turned down such "reciprocity."

Harriman returned to the conference table for a new attempt to get North Vietnam to de-escalate the war in Southeast Asia, but he faced another rejection.

Argued, But He Signed Admission

TOKYO (AP) — The U.S. airliner carrying 214 Vietnam-bound troops that was held for two days by the Soviet Union flew to Tokyo today and the pilot denied that he violated Soviet air space.

"I did not stray over Russian territory," said Capt. Joseph Tosolini of Bethany, Conn. He said he had flown the same route from Tacoma, Wash. to Japan many times.

ARGUED
Tosolini said he argued with the Russians over the content of a letter that he signed indicating the plane's position. He said he was made to sign the letter as a condition for the release of the plane and its passengers.

Navigator Larry Guernon said his calculations showed the chartered four-engine jet was well outside the line defining Soviet air space off the Kurile Islands when it was intercepted by Russian MIGs Monday and forced to land on the island of Iturup north of Japan.

The Soviet Union said the plane violated Soviet air space and the U.S. Federal Aviation Administration concluded that Soviet air space was violated because the plane's crew made a navigational error. The State Department apologized, the Soviet government released the plane with unexpected swiftness.

SIGNED LETTER
Tosolini, flanked at a news conference by his 17-member crew that included nine stewards, said he signed a letter as a condition for his release. He said corrections in the letter indicated the Soviets had perhaps erred in fixing the plane's position.

Tosolini told how the plane was intercepted.

"The flight was perfectly normal. We continued on track. The first real knowledge I had of trouble was when I looked out of the copilot's window and noticed an aircraft. I was startled and took a second look and saw a red star on it.

"The pilot of the aircraft made a maneuver and came up to our left side and motioned for us to turn to its base.

"I asked the navigator twice to check his position. The navigator reported we were not over Soviet territory.

FIREGUNS
"I turned to the left hoping to get out of his (the MIG's) way. It was then that he fired a burst. It was a machinegun as far as I could tell.

"The MIG was flying parallel to us and it fired straight ahead. I felt the best course of action was to follow his command and turned to the right. We descended until we broke through the overcast and the MIG guided us to the airfield."

Others aboard the DC8 reported sighting a second MIG behind them.

After landing, Tosolini said the Russians interrogated him continuously.

"I assume they thought we were spying," he said. "I was questioned on the type of equipment, whether we were carrying weapons, which we were not, and other questions."

Tosolini stressed, "We were not mistreated in any way."

Some of the troops aboard the plane said they "had kind of a party" during the two days they were held. Upon release by the Soviet, the plane flew to Yokota, 30 miles west of Tokyo.

There was no immediate indication when its passengers would fly on to Vietnam and whether the same plane would take them the rest of the way.

The soldiers were tired and unshaven but seemed cheerful when they left the plane at Yokota.

come a surplus available to the 61st Legislature, meeting next January. There were numerous forecasts during debate Tuesday that the 1969 Legislature will need to raise still more taxes despite the anticipated surplus.

Legislators dealt harshly with recommendations made by Connally in calling the special session June 4 to solve 1969 spending and taxing problems and to quiet liquor law reform demands, made after a lengthy Texas Liquor Control Board investigation.

The usual mid-year session was needed because Connally talked the 1967 Legislature into appropriating money only for one year, in hope the state's revenue picture would brighten before 1969 budgets were made.

The governor's main recommendation for incorporating one-cent city sales taxes into the state levy and refunding part of it to the cities was never debated in House or Senate.

The compromise spending bill calls for $490 million from general revenue, compared to the governor's $465 million original request, but many of his recommendations for spending were ignored or revised.

W. K. Jackson Speaks On Mexican Business

William K. Jackson, an independent engineering consultant, spoke on "Mexican Chemical and Petro-Chemical Business as Compared to United States Industry" at the Monday meeting of the Desk and Derrick Club. Jackson is a former resident of Mexico.

"Many people in the United States think of Mexico as a primitive country and its people as lazy," said Jackson. "This is untrue, for the average Mexican businessman works longer hours and harder than his American counterpart. A large portion of the Mexican population is poor, but the country's government is working to change this." He stressed that 29 percent of Mexico's total budget has been allocated for education.

The speaker explained that the monetary system in Mexico is stable and more favorable than those in South America, remarking that the country is "much like the United States of 30 or 40 years ago."

In closing, Jackson said that the petroleum business is under one oil company ownership, which constitutes a monopoly, adding that the Mexican petroleum engineer is more versatile than the American specialized engineer.

Mrs. S. Gorman presided as the club agreed to support the candidacy of Miss Margaret Larking as director of Region Five, National Desk and Derrick Clubs, at the forthcoming convention.

Miss Chris Hargrove was a guest, and Mrs. Herbie Smith won the attendance prize. The next meeting will be Aug. 14.

A LOVELIER YOU Exercise For Firm, Shaplier Legs Fast

By MARY SUE MILLER
A lovely writes: I have realized for some time that my legs needed a slimming and firming treatment. I put off the job and now that I have a new bathing suit, I'm sorry. Is there a real quick acting exercise that trims the legs, particularly the inner thighline?

The Answer: Perform the following routine night and morning. You will have results in about a month.

Starting position: Lie on your right side with legs stretched and together. Raise your head and rest it on your hand. To maintain your balance, place the other hand on the floor opposite your waist.

Action: Bring your left leg up to side chest, by sharply bending knee. Now swing it straight out and up so as to form a V with the right leg. Hold position for five slow counts and then very slowly lower leg to rest nearly at right leg. Repeat 10 times.

After resting, turn on left side and give your right leg the same workout. That's all for the first week. Thereafter, repeat the entire routine twice, morning and night. Third week, repeat thrice. It's then you will begin to notice results. Tangible ones!

You'll speed matters by walking as often and far as you possibly can. By swimming if you have the facilities. By brush scrubbing the legs during daily baths until the skin glows.

SPOT REDUCING
Spot reduction—key to a proportioned figure. Exercise is the only way to trim those stubborn bulges... to lose inches exactly where you wish. My new booklet, "Spot Reducing Exercises," gives easy routines—in all-for slimming the upper back, arms, midriff, hips, legs, ankles... Plus ideal measurements... other figure-trimming tips. STANTON (SC) — A bridal shower honoring Miss Bonnie Glenn, bride-elect of Terry Cleo Franklin, was held recently in the home of Mrs. John Pinkerton.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Clyde Miller, Mrs. Louis Roten, Mrs. P. M. Bristow, Mrs. Ed Hall, Mrs. Paige Eiland, Mrs. Jake Hodges, Mrs. Roscoe Hazelwood, Mrs. Robert White and Mrs. Wayman Etchison.

Receiving guests with the honoree were her mother, Mrs. O. R. Glenn, her fiancé's mother, Mrs. D. C. Franklin, and the hostess. The mothers received white carnation corsages, and Miss Glenn was presented a pink gladioli corsage.

The table was decorated in the bride-elect's chosen colors of pink and white. A pink cloth was used, and the centerpiece of pink carnations was arranged with a miniature bride and groom.

Approximately 60 attended, including out-of-town guests, Mrs. E. I. Boyce Sr. of Midland, grandmother of the honoree; Mrs. W. E. Allgood of Fresno, Calif., grandmother of the prospective bridegroom; Mrs. Mary Slagle of Kingsport, Tenn., great aunt of Miss Glenn; and Miss Sherry Allgood of Gettysburg, S. D.

The wedding is scheduled Saturday in the First Baptist Church.

New Garb For 'Brave' Men

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Red and green plaid slacks by Bill Blass, long-haired velvet Napoleon suits by Oleg Cassini or bright yellow blanket coats by John Weitz are not for sissies.

A man must be big and brave to defend himself.

This idea seemed foremost in the minds of these three well-known American designers, who have been as busy creating men's wear lately as women's fashions.

They presented a show Sunday for more than 300 fashion writers attending the opening session of the American Design Series of fall style previews.

Blass said his clothes are for "a man who's not afraid of himself, his reflection in the mirror, the unsolicited opinions of his friends."

There followed a parade of gentlemen in red velvet pants, Windsor pane suits, raccoon maxi coats that double as bedspreads, dark shirts, plaid-like ties, tartan evening jackets with matching pants, pongee silk shirts, as a few examples of clothes that might elicit opinions.

Shirts, plain and fancy, were deep shades of blues, pinks and yellows. They were made of Sea Island cottons, Indian paisleys and poplins.

The big guy is designer Weitz's ideal. "Away with the sad, scrawny half-man," said the tall, brawny designer who himself is brave enough to wear a bright yellow shirt and fireman red necktie.

"All ties of the white variety are wild and 5 1/2 inches wide—the battle flag of executives," he said.

Cassini called his collection the great stand against the anonymous look. It was for a man in the mood to revolt. Nehru hats to accompany Nehru jackets were Cassini's revolt against "those horrible little hats with tiny brims."

A jacket that buttoned nearly to the tie and folded back, Napoleon fashion, could also be re-buttoned into a Nehru version for those moods of revolt, Cassini said.

Three Honored For Birthdays

Mrs. S. A. Wilson presided at the Monday meeting of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 254 in the IOOF Hall. Members having birthdays were honored. They were Mrs. A. F. Hill, Mrs. Tom McAdams and Mrs. Charles Stewart. On the refreshment committee were Mrs. Earl Wilson, Mrs. A. G. Hall, Mrs. C. N. Gilliland and Mrs. J. L. Hanke. Twenty visits to the sick were reported by the 25-attending.

Nixon, Reagan Top Texas Poll

By-The Associated Press
Richard Nixon holds a lead among Texas delegates to the Republican presidential nominating convention but the hearts of many delegates apparently belong to Ronald Reagan.

A poll by The Associated Press shows 24 of the state's 56 votes are either solidly for Nixon or leaning toward him. The poll was made after Sen. John Tower of Texas released the delegate votes that had been committed to him on the first ballot as a favorite son candidate for president.

Tower predicted 44 or 45 would vote for Nixon but a poll of 50 of the 56 delegates looks like this:

Solidly Nixon 24, Nixon or Reagan 7, solidly Reagan 5, Nixon or Rockefeller 1; undecided 4; declined to say 1; uncommitted 4.

A nationwide Associated Press count Tuesday showed that outside of Texas Nixon had 478 votes, Rockefeller 192 and Reagan 33. The remainder of the delegates were either committed to favorite sons or uncommitted.

Many of the Texas delegates polled indicated that if Nixon appears to be a sure winner on the first ballot they will swing to him, giving the former vice president as many as 40 of the 50 delegate votes contacted.

At least one delegate who said he favors Nixon, would vote for Reagan if the California governor makes an all-out effort to win the nomination.

A state political observer said if Reagan did announce he might swing some votes to his side that are now considered solid for Nixon.

Over 300 Youngsters Placed On Jobs Here

The Texas Employment Commission made 238 placements under the Workkrama Program during June and received 300 new applications, according to the monthly report.

This compares with 307 applications and 30 placements for youth during a similar period in 1967.

"Workkrama and the federal program at Webb AFB are responsible for this tremendous increase," Leon Kinney, director of the local agency, said. "Workkrama is a feather in the cap of the Kiwanis Club."

"We referred 85 young people to the Neighborhood Youth Corps with the city not counted in the report," he said. This puts youth placements well over the 300 mark.

Total figures for the commission list 472 new applications and 362 non agricultural placements and 170 agricultural placements for June. These figures include youth.

"Unemployment claims are continuing to hit new lows," Kinney said, "with only 303 claims made during June." He said that this is a relatively low figure when it is considered that one person files every week, or four times monthly.

Majority of the month's placements were made in contract construction, federal government, wholesale and retail trade and domestic.

"We still have quite a few applications to fill for Workkrama," he said. "We have not had much trouble finding jobs for boys, but jobs for girls are almost impossible to find."

"We have had almost no clerical and sales openings, even of a temporary nature."

Zone Change Is Approved

A zoning change from a one-family residence zone to a retail zone at the northwest corner of Phillips Road and Birdwell Lane was approved Tuesday during a regular meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission.

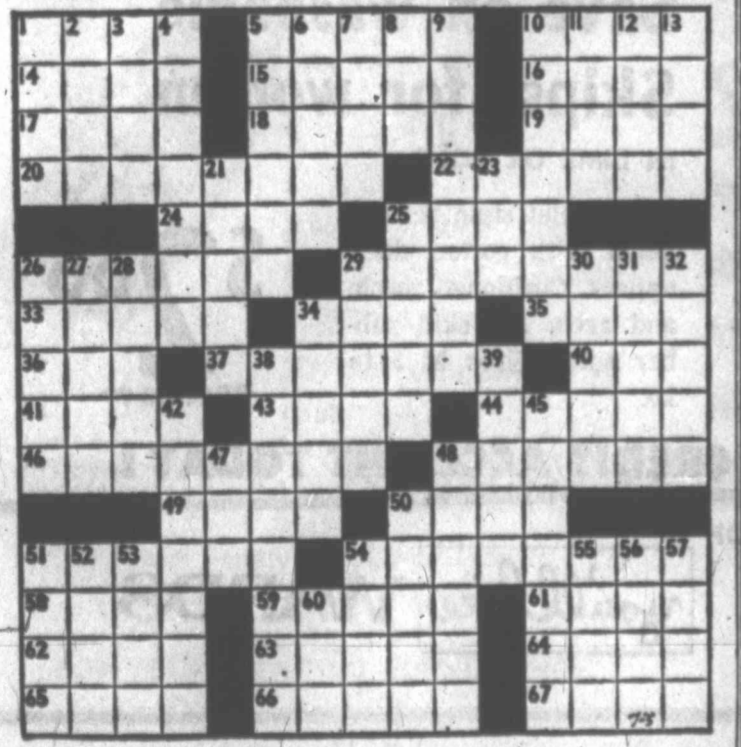

The request was made by Mack B. Moore who told the commission he planned to erect a building to house his exterminating business.

In answer to questions from the commission he said that the building was not a "nuisance" business and that there would be no fumes or odors.

Ernest Lillard, director of public works, told the commission that this was the only lot in that area not already zoned retail.

Big Springers Plan Holiday

The wheels of industry, finance and merchandising, along with those of government at all levels, will stop turning effectively with closing time today. They will not begin revolving anew until Friday and for some establishments a agencies, the activities will not begin again until next Monday.

The occasion is the annual observance of July 4 — Independence Day.

Most of the business firms will present closed doors to the public. Offices, city, county, state and federal, will be inoperative. Banks will not be open. Postal services will be curtailed to the utmost with only a skeleton crew functioning to handle outgoing and incoming mail.

Hospitals, the fire station, police station and the sheriff's office, of course, will be functioning. The highway patrol and others of the Department of Public Safety will have no holiday. The DPS, anticipating many traffic accidents and a bloody death toll on the roads, is mustering all of its available men in a desperate effort to keep the tragedies at a minimum.

New Drill Near Post

John Carpenter and B-H Oil Co. of Lubbock No. 1 Drizzle Gordon is slated as a 3,500-foot, five-month contract in Garza, nine miles northeast of Post, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 6 — H&GN survey.

Thousands of men, women and children will be on the roads en route to other cities on visits or on their way to lakes, recreation areas and golf courses.

DAILY DRILLING

MARTIN Superior Oil Co. will drill the No. 1-589 C. D. Jones, an old well plugged back, in the Fluvanna (Mississippi) field 4 1/2 miles west of town, 1 1/2 miles north and east lines of section 280, 9-H&G survey, four miles northwest of Fluvanna.

Here in Big Spring, brief ceremonies to note the day are planned for Thursday afternoon. A fireworks display is slated for Thursday night at the Webb AFB.

LOCATIONS

BORDEN Superior Oil Co. will drill the No. 1-589 C. D. Jones, an old well plugged back, in the Fluvanna (Mississippi) field 4 1/2 miles west of town, 1 1/2 miles north and east lines of section 280, 9-H&G survey, four miles northwest of Fluvanna.

Blood Giver Cited

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Lee A. Neilson, a Wichita Falls man, contractor, has been cited for his blood donations to the Red Cross. He has given a total of three gallons.

Howard, Dawson Cotton Prospects Spelled Out

LUBBOCK — The preliminary report of the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service on acreage, yield and production of cotton shows 1,203,520 bales (500 pounds gross) produced in 1967 by the 23 High Plains counties served by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., 43.5 percent of the state's 2,767,000 bales total.

Texas Schools 'Bigotry' Cited

DALLAS (AP) — A director of the National Education Association attacked Wednesday what she called "hated and bigotry" in the Texas school system.

"We must be skeptical of those who clothe their organizations with names which sound patriotic and Christian in an effort to cover up the hatred and bigotry which they promote," she said in a prepared speech.

"The most dramatic attacks on our schools have occurred in Houston," she said.

'Rope Gang' Strolls Streets Of Denison

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — The "rope gang" is becoming a familiar sight around Denison.

H. M. Rhodes, whose wife operates a day nursery, takes the kiddies on strolls about town with each tyke clinging tightly to a rope that he holds.

Negroes Head School Systems

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For the first time Negroes head the Los Angeles city and county school systems.

The Rev. Daniel Twiliver, 40, former football star with the Los Angeles Rams, has been elected president of the county Board of Education.

Wins Driver Award

DALLAS (AP) — W. L. Jordan of Graham, Tex., a truck driver for 25 years, received the National Truck Driver of the Year Award for 1967 from the Oil Field Haulers Assn., Inc., at a luncheon in Dallas.

The 1966 and 1967 crops of cotton in Texas were far below the 1961-65 average of 2.1 million bales on the Plains and 4.5 million for the whole state.

Texans To Pay Higher Taxes

AUSTIN (AP) — The penny that the legislature added Tuesday to the state sales tax means that some Texans will be paying 3 cents and some 4 cents on the dollar, starting Oct. 1.

That means the tax has doubled its impact on the typical consumer's wallet or purse since it was first set at 2 cents on the dollar in 1961.

In addition to the retail sales tax increase, the legislature also passed a 1 per cent increase in the present 2 per cent automobile sales tax, adding about $30 to the price of a $3,000 car.

Won't Move Convention

CHICAGO (AP) — The coordinator of the Democratic National Convention says that despite problems caused by a strike against Illinois Bell Telephone Co., "we are planning to have the convention in Chicago."

John Meek said Tuesday that Democratic officials are hopeful an agreement will be reached between Illinois Bell and the striking International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

While rumors circulated that the convention might be moved to another city, workers at the International Amphitheatre continued preparations for the convention, which opens Aug. 26.

Asked if Democrats were considering moving the nominating convention to another city, Meek said, "No. If you have been out to the amphitheatre like I was today you would have seen the progress we're making."

A spokesman for Illinois Bell said to date the 56-day strike has caused no great problems in preparing for the convention.

Texas Court Nixes Plains Water Plan

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court has struck down an attempt by a water conservation district in the South Plains to redraw its boundaries after voters turned it down.

The court also ruled against the city of Tyler in a dispute with a railway company and agreed to hear appeals from two Dallas loan companies who applied for branch offices at the same location.

'CLUMSY' LAW
The South Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 4 was created by the Texas Water Rights Commission to conserve Ogallala formation water in all or parts of Andrews, Cochran, Dawson, Gaines, Lynn, Terry and Yoakum counties.

But district voters, especially in Seminole and Denver City, voted against it and the maintenance tax that would have financed it.

District directors redrew the district boundaries to exclude those areas that had voted "no." The Supreme Court said Tuesday that state laws on the case are "remarkably clumsy and cumbersome," but it held that when a majority of the voters oppose a district, "the same shall have no further authority."

INJUNCTION
The court reversed the Civil Appeals decision in the case and affirmed the trial court, except for that part of the trial court's ruling that ordered debts incurred by the district to be paid pro rata by the county commissioner courts in each of the affected counties.

The court also held, without a written opinion, that there was no reversible error in a Civil Appeals decision vacating a 1966 injunction against the Southwestern Railway Co. of Texas.

The injunction was based on an 1891 contract with Tyler to maintain the firm's Texas general offices and machine shops in Tyler.

The Tyler district court upheld the injunction. The Court of Civil Appeals reversed, saying the Interstate Commerce Commission released the railway firm from its obligation in 1953.

Trade Pacts Chances Fade
WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation that would ratify trade agreements hammered out in the past two years may be dropped by the wayside as Congress plods toward adjournment.

However, chances are even less bright for a batch of bills administration-opposed to set quotas or other import restrictions for the benefit of individual U.S. industries.

The House Ways and Means Committee ended prolonged hearings Tuesday on trade policy.

Committee sources say there is no chance of a trade bill passing if Congress achieves the goal publicly announced by its leaders—to adjourn by Aug. 2.

However, if Congress comes back into session during the two weeks between the Republican and the Democratic conventions in August, there is a chance the House would pass a trade bill. If it comes back in September for a more prolonged session, there is a chance to get the bill through the Senate and to the President.

As for protectionist bills, the only measure given a chance for approval now by the Ways and Means Committee is one restricting textile imports. But its chances of passage on the floor are rated poor.

The legislation the administration is interested in would revive trade negotiating authority, which has now lapsed, and would bring into force a supplementary agreement on chemical tariffs.

Light Shower Dots County
A light shower which fell in mid-morning Tuesday added 0.2 inch moisture to the July score, the U.S. Experiment Station reported.

This was added to the .16 inch gauged on Monday night. Most sections of the city as well as most parts of the county, had much more rain than that measured at the station.

Local community was not favored, however. Arthur Stallings, who lives west of the Lomax store, said that he had only a very light shower.

Feed stuff in that area needs rain badly. Cotton is not yet suffering, he said.

City Building Fees Increase
The inspection division of the city public works department issued 175 building permits and collected $462.50 in fees during June, according to the monthly report.

This compares with 26 permits and $139 in fees during June, 1967.

The division issued 54 electrical permits, 15 plumbing permits, 10 gas permits, 14 plumbing permits and 17 gas permits were issued and $257.40 was collected in fees.

City crews made nine sewer taps, collecting $382.50, and 10 water taps, collecting $980. Last year there were five water taps, $212.50 in fees, and one water tap, $85 in fees, during the month of June.

Gusty Winds Whip Through Houston
Hot weather eased its grip on most of Texas a bit today as the latest cool front started breaking up near the coast.

There were more tornado threats, thunderstorms and occasionally heavy rains, however, before the effects of the weak front abated.

FUNNELS
Far in its wake, two tornado funnels whirled through the sky north of Levelland on the South Plains. The twisters dissipated after about 20 minutes without touching ground.

Gusty winds whipped through the Houston area, overturning a small storage building three miles south of the downtown district and interrupting electric power as long as two hours in the city's northeast and southwest sections. There was no word of injuries.

Threatening conditions caused the Weather Bureau to issue a tornado warning for Harris and Fort Bend Counties during the evening. It expired without report of any twister damage.

A water spout whirled through the Gulf of Mexico within sight of Corpus Christi earlier.

As the front moved southward, heavy rains soaked parts of North and Central Texas, AFB Hospital for treatment.

Modern Day Robin Hood Ruled Legally Insane
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jewel thief Jack "Murf the Surf" Murphy, said to consider himself a modern day Robin Hood, was declared legally insane Tuesday night.

Criminal Court Judge Carling Stedman canceled Murphy's murder and robbery trials after declaring him "mentally unable to aid his defense counsel or understand charges against him."

"The defendant is adjudicated insane and incapable of standing trial at this time," Stedman said at the Dade County hearing.

Dr. David Rothenberg, a psychiatrist, testified at the 13-hour hearing that "Jack Murphy is suffering from an extreme mental disorder, is extremely dangerous and belongs in a mental hospital."

Rothenberg quoted Murphy as saying during the May 6 examination, "I am like a Robin Hood. I'm here to help those that need help, and help those that have been wronged, and to punish those who do wrong."

The judge committed Murphy to a state mental hospital for an undetermined term and ordered him held under maximum security.

Another psychiatrist, Dr. Peritz Schienberg, told the court that Murphy blames society for his situation which finds him charged with an abortive robbery and the slaying of two girls.

Three psychiatrists testified for the state that they found nothing wrong with Murphy's mental condition.

Whenever state officials believe Murphy is capable of trial he will be returned to Miami for another sanity hearing. If judged sane then, he could be ordered to stand trial.

Ship Workers Pact Expected
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Agreement was reached Tuesday on a new three-year contract for 20,000 West Coast shipyard workers.

The settlement was reached after nine weeks of negotiations AFL-CIO Pacific Coast Metal Trades District Council and the Pacific Coast Shipbuilders Association. The old contract expired at midnight June 30.

Spokesmen for both sides said details of the pact will not be released until the contract is submitted to membership approval by referendum voting in California, Oregon and Washington. Results of the referendum are expected to be announced July 15.

Union representatives said they would urge approval of the new contract.

Gun-Control Law Actions Dropped
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Plans to draft a gun-control law have been dropped by county supervisors in Los Angeles where Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was shot to death.

The supervisors were advised by the county counsel Tuesday that only state or federal legislation could be effective. Supervisor Ernest E. Debs said, "It would be ridiculous for the county and its 77 cities to adopt individual ordinances."

Two Guilty Pleas
Two defendants pleaded guilty in Howard County Court Tuesday. Donald Paul Howell was allotted 30 days in the county jail on a charge of aggravated assault and Lewis Edward Sims was sentenced to three days in jail and a fine of $50 for DWI. Costs were assessed against both men.

Smoke Damage
Fire department units were called to 1605 Robin Tuesday but the fire had been extinguished before they arrived. Only smoke damage was reported from the fire which started in a kitchen oven.

'THE DRUNKARD'

Melodrama Next For Little Theatre

A brave hero, a fair heroine, and a black-hearted villain are upping the Little Theatre of Big Spring for its upcoming summer melodrama production.

Dick Shaver, director for the production, said try-outs will be staged next Tuesday and Wednesday in the Chamber of Commerce offices at 8 p.m. For its first melodrama in several years, the little theatre has selected "The Drunkard," one of the best known and probably one of the oldest such productions. It has been staged continuously for over 50 years.

Shaver said there are parts for 13 men and five women, and anyone interested is invited to read for a part. The play will be offered to the public in August.

Westmoreland Takes Over As U.S. Army Chief Of Staff

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson made a surprise visit to the Pentagon today and watched smilingly as Gen. William C. Westmoreland was sworn in as the Army's 25th chief of staff.

Johnson, dressed in a snappy, light brown suit, stepped into the office of Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor just as Westmoreland, former U.S. military commander in Vietnam, was about to take the oath.

Johnson at the White House where they spent the night. Westmoreland saluted the President and shook hands with Mrs. Johnson. His wife exchanged kisses with both Johnsons.

Upon his arrival, Westmoreland told newsmen the enemy's spring offensive and recent shelling of Saigon were designed to create a public uprising against the Saigon government.

"In all these cases he was badly defeated," he said. Westmoreland also said that the enemy had been "progressively weakened over the past several months" while all forces have become stronger.

He said the enemy will suffer tremendous losses if any attempt is made to stage a "resurgence" aimed at capturing world attention during Paris peace talks.

NEA Delegates Weigh Plan To Aid Strikers

DALLAS (AP)—Members of the National Education Association weighed a proposal today that, while not endorsing strikes, would commit the organization to offer striking teachers "all the services at its command."

This statement of policy is among resolutions on which about 7,000 delegates at the annual NEA convention will act Friday and Saturday.

"Deplorable conditions in education in some school systems have brought about emergency situations which have forced educators to take drastic measures," the proposed resolution states.

It goes on to say that the NEA, representing 1.4 million members, recommends steps to correct such conditions through mediation, fact-finding, voluntary arbitration, political action and sanctions.

MORE MONEY
"The association believes that these procedures should make the strike unnecessary and recommends that every effort be made to avoid the strike as a procedure for the resolution of impasse," the resolution adds.

Thousands Eye Fiery Meteor
By The Associated Press
Thousands of people relaxing under warm night skies Tuesday saw a flaming meteoric flash through the darkness for about half a minute.

From Vermont and northern New York to Maryland, from the Atlantic Ocean to Ohio, reports came in of a bright, flaming object sailing through the night.

Among the spotters were several professional airline pilots. Police, newspapers, radio stations and airports all reported a flood of telephone calls at about 9:30 p.m., minutes after the sightings.

Observers said the object moved from east to west, and many people reported seeing a brightly colored trail to the flaming object. Several pilots and residents in western Pennsylvania reported "several streaks of light," indicating that the meteor may have broken up by then.

Job Didn't Last

Patin, from Port Arthur, weighed 172½ and Martinez 214. Patin now has 35-3 won-lost record.

Johnson's Holiday Has Latin Flavor
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's long July 4th holiday will have a strong Latin flavor, mixing celebrations with serious diplomacy South of the Border.

With some 40 Latin American ambassadors and their ladies in tow, Johnson flies to San Antonio, Tex., today for an elaborate Independence Day celebration at HemisFair, the Southwest's answer to Montreal's Expo 67. The Latin nations are major participants in the exposition.

FLAG RAISING
Johnson plans called for joining the ambassadors in both ceremonial and social activities associated with the fair before nightfall. On Thursday he will be the main speaker at a flag-raising ceremony on the HemisFair grounds.

Then, on Friday, he will entertain Bolivia's President Rene Barrientos Ortuno at the LBJ ranch near Johnson City, 70 miles north of San Antonio. Barrientos, who once attended a flight school at San Antonio's Randolph Air Force Base, will be honored guest at HemisFair on Saturday.

Johnson has Saturday plans too, all of them centered far south of the border.

The Chief Executive flies Saturday to San Salvador, capital of El Salvador, for talks with presidents of the five Central American nations.

And before returning to the United States on Monday, Johnson will make airport stops at four other Latin countries; Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

FIREWORKS
Texas Gov. John Connally, long a Johnson personal and political ally, arranged an elaborate welcome for hemispheric ambassadors flying to Texas with Johnson.

The governor after appropriate arrival ceremonies, invited all the envoys to join him at his ranch near Floresville, 35 miles from San Antonio, for an informal dinner tonight.

Connally also will be on hand for a black tie dinner dance at the U.S. pavilion at HemisFair Thursday night after the traditional fireworks.

Without committing himself in advance Johnson is apt to show up at any of these events.

MISSISSIPPI DELEGATES BATTLE

Reagan Is Presidential Candidate

California Gov. Ronald Reagan says he'll be a Republican presidential contender at the GOP national convention but not before — and Mississippi delegates appear headed for another seating battle at the Democratic convention.

"I intend to be placed in nomination by the California delegation," Reagan told a news conference Tuesday, "and if at that time the convention wishes to consider me a candidate, the convention can do so."

"I believe it is an open convention," Reagan said. "I don't believe it is tied up."

Mississippi Democratic "loyalist" and civil rights forces pledged Tuesday to challenge the state's predominantly white delegation at the national convention — after a state convention they charged was "railroaded" by Gov. John Bell Williams' states rights forces.

RONALD REAGAN

The Mississippi delegation was challenged at the 1964 convention by the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party and walked out when the convention decreed delegations must be representative of state population. Mississippi's population is 40 per cent Negro.

THIRD PARTY

Williams, regarded a backer of third party candidate George C. Wallace, hinted at a presidential election bid. He said the Democratic party could lose Mississippi's support — and electoral votes — if demands including states rights protection are ignored.

"If the governing bodies of the convention choose to single out our delegation for special vilification and persecution without cause," he said, "let them do so at their own peril."

Negro leader Charles Evers of Fayette resigned as one of the four Negro delegates after the civil rights and "loyalist" white forces were defeated in every attempt to revise all-white nominations to state party posts and committees.

"I can't be and I will not be used or picked by any group to deny representation to the people," Evers said. "We as Negroes have not been given a fair shake."

Some of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's advisers,

meanwhile, were urging him to concentrate on winning delegates and abandon until fall efforts to drum-up large campaign crowds.

Despite publicity buildups by local officials Humphrey drew unusually small crowds in Denver and Cleveland during a seven-state campaign swing highlighted by his proposal for a foreign aid-like "Marshall Plan for the Cities" to help finance redevelopment.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller closed out a four-state effort in the West today to convince delegates he would more likely be a presidential winner in November than would his GOP rival Richard M. Nixon.

STASSEN SLAPS

At stops in Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon — considered strong Nixon territory — Rockefeller emphasized he was offering Republicans an alternative to the apparent GOP frontrunner.

In other political developments: —American Independent party candidate Wallace said he will return to Massachusetts for concerted campaigning next week in his drive to get on the state's November ballot.

—Harold E. Stassen, campaigning in Stony Brook, N.Y., for a GOP presidential nomination he has sought since 1948, said "for the sake of peace for America and for the world" both Nixon and Humphrey should be defeated in November.

"Republican Papers" — a book of studies by House Republicans will be published July 4. Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, editor, said the emphasis is on a need for revision of welfare programs to return recipients to jobs and a need to restore governmental control to local areas.

Exchange Grad, Bride Visit WT

By JEAN FANNIN
Most young husbands take their brides home to meet their families; but Youssef (Joe) Bissada brought his to visit West Texas.

The Bissadas are winding up a six-week tour of the United States and "we decided to drop by Big Spring to see old friends. I have plenty here," Bissada said.

Bissada spent five months in 1961 as an exchange student working at Cosden Refinery through the International Association for the Exchange of Students for Technical Experience program.

TO VISIT FAIR

While in Big Spring, he and another exchange student, Gottfried Schlichthaerte, lived in the home of Mrs. Lucile Hamrick, 408 W. 8th.

Tuesday Joe brought his bride of one year, Hoda, "home" to Big Spring to meet Mrs. Hamrick and other friends living in the nearby area. They were to leave Big Spring sometime today for San Antonio, where they hoped to visit the HemisFair.

Bissada received his masters degree in business administration from Harvard Business School last month and is currently employed by IBM. After a short computer course Bissada will begin work in the financial operations department of the company.

They will be living in New Jersey and Bissada will be working between New York City and New Jersey where he has been assigned to ESSO.

NATIVE OF CAIRO

Bissada grew up in Cairo, Egypt, the son of a pharmaceutical salesman. He attended college at the University of Karlsruhe near Heidelberg, Germany. He was a senior majoring in chemical engineering when he learned of the exchange program and applied.

He arrived in Big Spring in May, 1961, and stayed until October. He received his degree in chemical engineering in 1963.

Since that time he has worked in Germany, Spain, France and Lebanon. He attended a business school in France in 1964. He met his wife last year while working in Beirut, Lebanon. They were married last June.

"We plan to stay in the U.S. at least a year," Bissada said. "We both would like to go back to the Middle East to work."

Families Given Medals Of Fallen Sons

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Two young Mitchell County men, combat casualties in Vietnam, were posthumously honored Tuesday at Colorado City when medals awarded them were presented to their families in a public ceremony at Civic House.

Sgt. James Glenn Standefor has been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action on a search and destroy mission Southeast of Da Nang Feb. 9, when he rescued a wounded friend, and killed two North Vietnamese soldiers.

He also received the Purple Heart, the Combat Infantryman's Badge, a Korean medal and several other awards, which were presented to his mother, Mrs. Jack Strain, and other members of Sgt. Standefor's immediate family.

Spec. 4 Robert W. Cooper, of the Army Tank Corps, was fatally wounded by a booby-trapped bomb, on Dec. 16 while on a combat mission in the "Iron Triangle." Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cooper, his parents, received an official presentation of the Bronze Star for his bravery, and the Purple Heart.

Kiwanians Slate Hotel Meeting

Kiwanis club members who were unable to attend the directors meeting on Tuesday night and who still desire to maintain their perfect attendance records are invited to report at the lobby of the Hotel Settles on Thursday noon. Delaine Crawford, secretary of the club, will be on hand it was announced, at the board meeting and record the Kiwanians who report as having "made" a meeting.

It had been announced no Thursday session would be held but it has been discovered that the bylaws of the club require that some type of official meeting must be conducted if records are to be maintained.

The club has foregone its normal Thursday luncheon because of the July 4 holiday.

Vandals Enter

Vandals broke into two vacant houses during the night according to police reports. It was reported that someone was sleeping in the rear of 306 NW 5th which was vacant. Police found the house was broken into, as well as one at 203 NW 8th, but they found no damage.

Senator And Friend

Mrs. Bea Alford, a native of Rotan, was photographed with the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy two days prior to his assassination in Los Angeles. An employee in his campaign office, Mrs. Alford is the sister of R. L. Price, Lamesa, who is the Veterans Administration volunteer service representative at the Big Spring VA Hospital.

Ray's British Lawyers Preparing New Appeal

LONDON (AP) — James Earl Ray's British lawyers today began preparing his appeal against Chief Magistrate Frank Milton's ruling that he should be extradited to the United States for trial on a charge of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Milton on Tuesday rejected the argument by Roger Frisby, Ray's British attorney, that the killing of the Negro civil rights leader was a political crime and therefore not subject to extradition.

Frisby planned to enlarge this argument in his appeal to the High Court. Ray remained under close guard in London's Wandsworth jail. The appeal will delay his return to the United States until late this month, at the least.

Ray's court-appointed attorneys have 15 days from Tuesday to file their appeal. They were expected to take advantage of almost all this period.

The court then may take several days to schedule a hearing and to hold it. Ray could appeal another adverse decision on a point of law to the House of Lords, Britain's highest court, but only if either

Two Gospel Sing Songs Scheduled

The Week in the Park "Starlite Specials" will include two gospel sing songs in its week of activities scheduled July 7-14 in the City Park amphitheatre.

"We have so many people signed up that to try to include them all in one program would be impossible," Joe Dunn, chairman of the week's programs, said.

A big portion of the program will be congregational singing of old familiar hymns and gospel songs that people like to sing," Dunn said.

Scheduled on the program for the first sing-song Sunday night, July 7, are several choirs and ensembles from various churches in the area.

Choirs from Baptist Temple, Berea Baptist, 14th and Main Church of Christ, First Methodist and the Goliad Assembly of God Church will sing.

The David Elrod Family Quartet, a duo from the First Assembly of God, a quartet from the Carl Street Church of Christ and the singing class from Stanton will also perform.

Truett Thomas and Dunn will emcee the program.

Highlighting the July 14 gospel sing song will be a presentation of the "Hallelujah Chorus" under the direction of Glenn

Dear Abby They're Horsing Around

DEAR ABBY: Herb and I would break his neck. He was never near it.

A neighbor boy, age 5, came over to play with him, and I told him the same thing. That kid wasn't there ten minutes when I saw him put his foot into the fresh cement. It was no accident. He didn't "fall" and nobody pushed him. He deliberately stepped into it, then he took off like a shot.

I went right to his house and told his mother. She promptly located the workmen and they repaired it. But here is my point. The mother said that since I saw the damage done, and it was repairable, I could have just as easily located the repairman myself and left her out of it. Now I am the stool pigeon. Was I wrong to tell her or not? BAD NAME

Navy Version Of F111 Due Death In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy version of the controversial swing-wing F111 jet fighter-bomber has been all but junked by Congress in favor of a lighter, more maneuverable plane.

TOO HEAVY

The House Armed Services Committee—approving a $21 billion defense procurement bill Tuesday—agreed to the Senate's cut of all current funds for the plane, the F111B. The full House is virtually certain to concur.

"Although the Air Force version of this plane (the F111A) appears to be satisfactory," said Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House committee, "it is obvious that the attempt at commonality between the Air Force and Navy versions has failed."

"We are now looking to a new lighter aircraft that will have the capability the Navy needs," Rivers said. "It is presently designated the VFX-1."

The chief complaint of Navy brass has been that the plane is too heavy for aircraft carrier use.

Former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara fought for the common basic plane, originally known as the TFX, over strong opposition from military officials. He said the common use could save $1 billion in development costs.

NOT GROUNDED
The Defense Department had asked $425 million for eight production versions of the Navy F111B and 60 Phoenix missiles.

The House committee approved $170 million for development of the VFX-1, including $100 million originally intended for the F111B. The Senate also approved $170 million for the VFX-1.

Air Force F111A fighter-bombers have already been used in Vietnam but have flown no announced combat missions since the last of three crashes. The Air Force claims the planes have not been grounded.

The House committee cut $748 million from the $22 billion authorization requested by the Pentagon for military hardware and research and development.

The committee refused to provide $183.6 million requested for four Fast Deployment Logistic ships (FDL) "floating warehouses" and $221 million for a still-undesignated destroyer.

Fines Assessed

Corporation Court assessed $430 in fines through Tuesday. Of that amount, seven cases for $215 were for intoxication; ten cases of traffic violations were for $115; $50 were collected for soliciting after hours and $50 for no peddlers' permits.

Burglary Listed

Police reports indicate that a check protector machine and a portable television were taken from Bill Hanson Trucking Co. during the night. Police are investigating.

Minor Mishap

Police are investigating a minor accident which occurred Tuesday. At Eighteenth and Gregg, the cars of Hubert C. Rowden, Route 1, and Gilbert G. Martinez Jr., 311 NE 7th, collided.

'Homesick' Cuban Exile Hijacked Airlines Plane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The pistol-waving hijacker who forced a Northwest Airlines plane carrying 86 passengers to fly him to Havana Monday was identified today as a Cuban exile.

The State Department's Miami office said the hijacker had been identified as Mario Velazquez. But a government spokesman said the FBI had not determined which of several Cuban exiles of that name staged the hijacking.

TRACED

The Chicago Tribune said federal investigators had found that a Mario Velazquez arrived in Florida last July and came to Chicago where he was issued an alien ID card on July 7, 1967.

An FBI spokesman in Chicago would neither confirm nor deny the Tribune account.

quez, going first to the Mont Clare Hotel in the uptown section where he had lived since last July.

The investigators were told he had left without checking out, the account said.

The Miami Herald quoted the manager of the Mont Clare as saying, "The man was obviously so homesick it was eating him up."

The Herald said Velazquez left a wife and two sons in Oriente Province of Cuba to come to the United States. It said that before he left Chicago he told his few acquaintances of strong feelings of despondency.

Joseph Ramey, a London businessman on the hijacked flight—715 from Minneapolis and Chicago to Miami—said Cuban soldiers greeted the hijacker heartily after the jetliner landed at Jose Marti Airport in Havana.

The plane returned to Miami Tuesday morning with its seven crewmen and the passengers later were flown to Miami in a plane chartered by the State Department. Cuban officials had said the Havana airport's 10,000-foot runway was too short for the Northwest plane to take off safely with the passengers.

A Devotional For The Day

"If then the Son sets you free, you will indeed be free."
(John 8:36, NEB)
PRAYER: Our Father, who hast offered us freedom through Thy Son, we would yield ourselves to Thee. So may we find the perfect freedom that makes us creative instead of destructive; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

Tiny Step Toward Slowdown

It is easy to take two extremes when dealing in international negotiations. One is to expect great miracles overnight; the other is to take the cynical view that nothing good can come from them.

Somewhere in between is the ground for communication and perhaps to come to some understanding. This is the view which may best fit the recent developments which promise to involve the United States and the Soviet Union in talks aimed at reducing the anti-missile systems race.

After the signing of the atomic arms non-proliferation treaty, President Johnson expressed the hopes that this would lead to other explorations for arms reduction. Russia now has responded cautiously and chances for serious talks are enhanced.

Whether there will be material accomplishment remains to be seen, but there is some hard realism for hoping that there will be. Russia evidently responded out of self-interest rather than out of altruism. The U.S. had announced it was going ahead with a new anti-missile system, which would force Russia to respond with a replacement or refinement of the one which first forced the U.S. into the field. It all added up to billions and billions of dollars for both sides.

Moreover, rocketry is the most sensitive point of international defense concern and potentially the most likely trigger of a world holocaust. If some progress can be made in this area, it should ease tensions and anxieties considerably. Progress in control and reduction of rockets could logically then be applied in other fields. Eventually there might be some sort of accommodations which would gradually lighten the oppressive burden of the arms race on the back of mankind. Right now it seems to be necessary load, but it doesn't always have to be.

Stopper And An Advertiser

The City of Big Spring's overnight camping ground project has proven one of the best bits of transcontinental advertising and public relations imaginable.

This facility caters to a special group of people who are not interested in tying up to trailer park facilities but rather who have their own light rigs geared to camping out.

With relatively minor expense, the city has provided what these people need most—space and restrooms. The city has gone a step further to have shower stalls with hot water to permit the travellers to freshen, and grills for cooking out.

Hardly an evening passes without at least a dozen families camped for the night. Sometimes the number is greater.

One thing that has added to the popularity of this place is its proximity to town and even more so to City Park. Here the youngsters have a chance to play and to swim; the parents have a chance to golf or take in softball, tennis, or occasional entertainment at the amphitheatre. (For example, when the recent Aggie barbecue was held here, several campers came over, bought tickets and happily shared in the experience of a Western barbecue.)

This is more than a gesture in good neighborliness. Tourist experts testify that the secret of sharing in the tourist dollar is to induce a stop. The camp not only encourages this, but it also accelerates it as witness the effectiveness of the camper grapevine. Big Spring is getting to be known favorably from coast to coast.

Congressman's Notes Burlison Reviews Firearms Bills

WASHINGTON — The second amendment to the Constitution of the United States says, "A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed."

For nearly 200 years Americans have believed that they did indeed possess such a right as guaranteed by the Second Amendment.

The first federal gun law regulating the shipment of certain types of firearms in interstate commerce was passed in 1934. This action was the outgrowth of sentiment created by the attempted assassination of President Roosevelt in Miami, Fla., in 1933.

IN 1939, in a case known as the U.S. vs. Miller, the Supreme Court upheld the conviction of Miller for possession of an unregistered "sawed-off shotgun" as a violation of this act. The amendment did not guarantee the right to keep and bear such a firearm for the preservation and efficiency of a well-regulated militia.

In 1941, shortly before Pearl Harbor, Congress passed what is known as the Property Seizure Act. It was made clear in the law that nothing contained in the bill should be construed to authorize the President to requisition or require the registration of firearms possessed by an individual for his personal protection or sport, nor that registration should be required. The law said specifically that the President or any board, agency, or officer, had no right to trespass upon the people in this respect.

THE LANGUAGE of the bill further stated that "in view of the fact that certain totalitarian and dictatorial nations are now engaged in the willful and wholesale destruction of personal rights and liberties, it is appropriate for the Congress to expressly state that the law shall not be construed to impair or infringe the Constitutional right of the people to bear arms."

In 1963, the Congress passed PL 88-186, amending the Arms Control and Disarmament Act. Section 33 of this law contains the following provision with respect to the individual's right to keep and bear arms for legitimate purposes:

"NOTHING CONTAINED in this act shall be construed to authorize any policy or action by any government agency which would interfere with, restrict, or prohibit the acquisition, possession or use of firearms by an individual for the lawful purpose of personal defense, sport, recreation, education, or training."

In recent debate in the U.S. Senate the Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court was quoted as follows:

"We may happily note that the Constitution has weathered a variety of crises. Some were as acute as those we face today. Today, as always, the people, no less than their courts, must remain vigilant to preserve the principles of our Bill of Rights, lest in our desire to be secure we lose our ability to be free."

THE RIGHT of people of the United States to keep and bear arms is guaranteed not only by the Federal Constitution but by the Constitutions of thirty-five states.

Article I, Section 23 of our own Texas Constitution, says "Every citizen shall have the right to keep and bear arms in the lawful defense of himself or the state; but the legislature shall have power, by law, to regulate the wearing of arms, with a view to prevent crime."

AT THE PRESENT time a majority of the states are seeking through agreements and compacts, uniform firearm legislation. It would seem they should have time and opportunity to work their will.

Would it not be better to have local and state enforcement to keep guns out of the hands of criminals, addicts, minors and the mentally deficient, than to have federal police knocking on our doors?

The point has been made that we register and license dogs and automobiles. True — by the states, counties or municipal governments.

Wrong Flavor

MOREHEAD, Ky. (AP) — After 2-year-old Jeffrey Garrett sprained his elbow, the bandage made it impossible for him to lift his favorite sucking thumb to his mouth.

"Suck the other thumb," his mother advised.

"It's not as good," the child replied tearfully.

Billy Graham

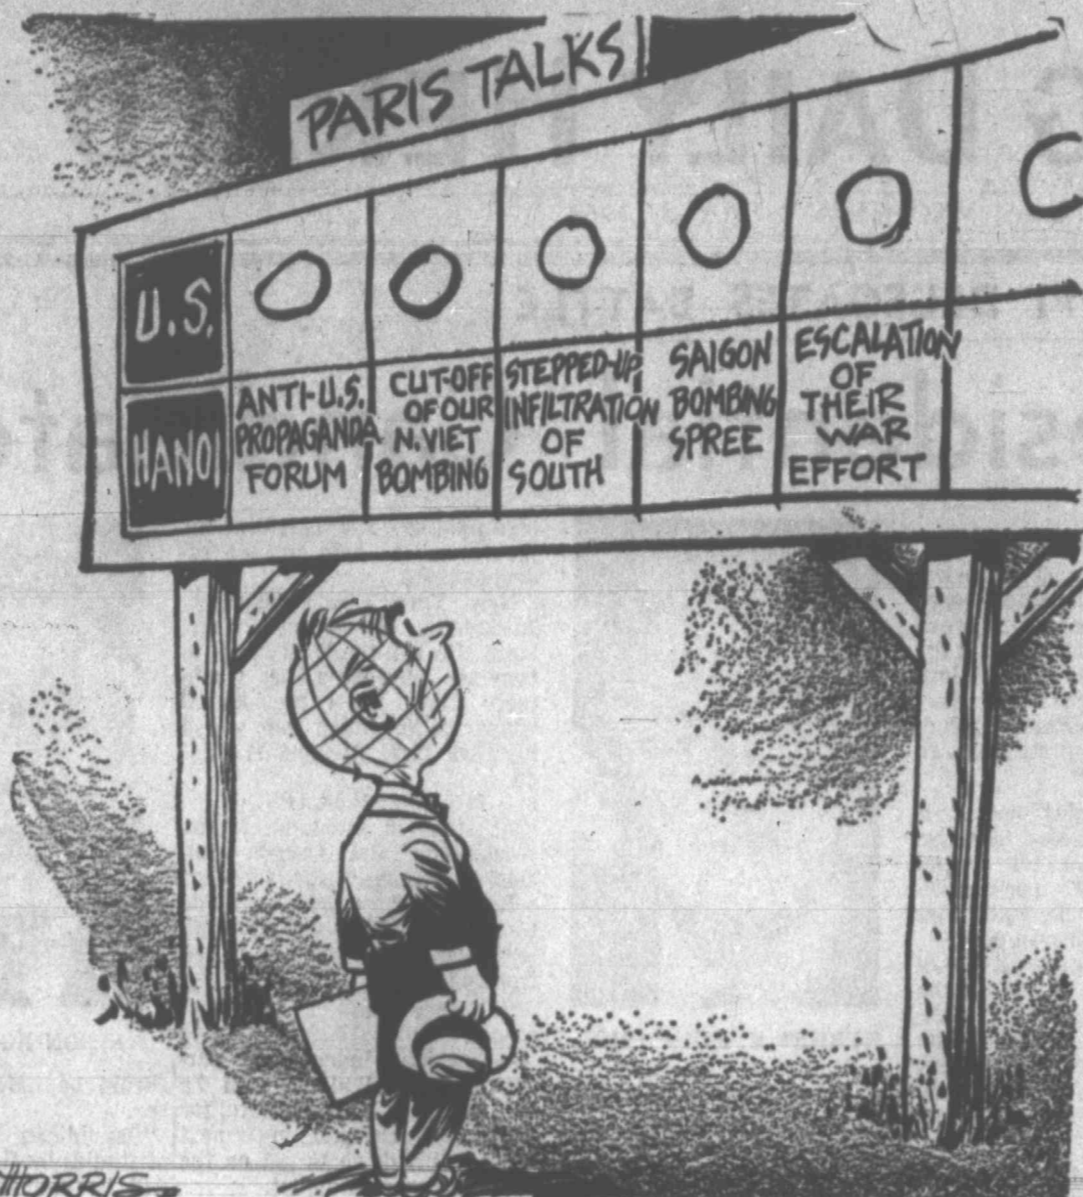

My husband does not conduct family worship, yet he says he is a Christian. Shall I just forget it or should I conduct worship? V.C.

If he has no objections to your leading in family worship, go ahead. It may be the means of getting him to realize his place of leadership in the home, but under no circumstances should you take the lead to the extent of annoying or aggravating your beloved. It is his God-given responsibility to take the lead, and chances are if you "jump the gun" he will be driven farther away.

Love, patience and prayer will go a great deal further toward accomplishing that for which your heart yearns than anything else in the world. I do not mean, however, that you must not continue your own personal and private devotions. That is, regardless of cost, a prerequisite to personal victory and spiritual power.

THEY'VE GOT A NO-HITTER GOING

John Cunniff Precooked Dinners Increase Profits

NEW YORK (AP) — They might deny it, but it's a fact that some of your favorite restaurants are serving specialties of the house that were prepared and frozen in factories hundreds of miles away.

An industry representative claims that in one well known Eastern chain about 70 per cent of the meals are so prepared. Even gourmet meals of veal cordon bleu or filets de sole bonne femme are offered this way.

In some restaurants a frozen entree that cost 75 cents wholesale is simply popped into the oven for a prescribed time. The vegetables, also frozen, and the bread are added, along with any unique touch the restaurant might devise. Served in fine surroundings, the meal might cost $6.

"I DON'T THINK you or anybody else would know who made it," says Gerry Thomas, a former Nebraska farmboy and now frequently the man behind that semi anonymous tag, "industry spokesman."

In a restaurant, he agreed, "you would have an opinion of whether it was good or bad." But, he added, "since you wouldn't be thinking along certain lines you wouldn't detect the difference."

The trend to restaurant use of precooked dinners has been developing for several years, partly because of a shortage of chefs and the rising cost of employing one: as much as $25,000 for a quality man. Regardless of price, however, there aren't nearly enough chefs.

WITH OBVIOUS disdain and with lack of foresight, Sam Martin, editor of an industry publication, remarked that "the kids today are taking up physics. They don't want to be cooks. It isn't glamorous."

Some claim also that precooked meals found increasing favor with restaurants when the minimum wage rose to $1.60 an hour in February. One frozen food executive claimed a growing trend "rapidly accelerated" about that time, presumably as restaurants turned to more automation.

The mass producer of frozen meals can buy in volume and can afford the most expensive chef to formulate recipes, laboratory technicians to "fabricate" them, and a stable labor force to run them down the assembly line.

Are you getting tired of people who seem to come to dinners and parties at your house three times as often as you find yourself attending dinners and parties at their homes?

AFTER TWO MARTINIS at lunch and three highballs in the evening, do you suddenly begin to think that you understand exactly what is going on in Vietnam?

Are you too educated to believe in astrology but too human to refrain from reading your daily horoscope if it's printed in your local newspaper?

Do you feel that the tax assessor is a political hack who has overvalued your house to make up for the fact that he has undervalued your neighbor's house, thereby raising your taxes unfairly?

On a rainy day at home do you now and then find yourself

THE RESTAURANT that uses the meals then can regulate its storage, cut waste, and employ relatively low-pay personnel to heat the meals. It also isn't restricted to serve only when a chef is on duty.

Present offerings include almost everything from hors d'oeuvres to soup to entree, sauces, desserts. Some of the best hotels no longer employ sauciers but instead melt frozen newburg or mushrooms blends to spread on their best dishes. Some companies in the frozen food business concentrate only on dishes that involve considerable preparation time, great complexity and high labor costs—on Stroganoff and lasagna, for example—ignoring the steaks and chops and other readily prepared dishes.

More precooked dinners also are being served in hospitals, nursing homes, schools and industrial cafeterias. University students reportedly are going big for precooked omelets, the airlines are considering offering them also.

Hal Boyle Have You Lost Your Marbles?

NEW YORK (AP) — If you see your dentist twice a year, don't you think you ought to have your mind checked at least that often, too?

After all, if you lose a tooth, you can always buy a new one, but if the old brain loses some of its marbles, it's hard to stay in the game.

WE'RE ALL SO BUSY, busy, busy, however, that it is difficult for us to find time to get all the thorough, periodic, professional checkups we need.

So, for the prisoners of hurry and worry, here's an alternative—an easy, self-help way of solving that burning question of our times, "Am I normal and—if so—how normal?"

It won't take long. Sit down and write yes-or-no answers to the following simple questions: Do you lose your head when those around you are losing theirs—and blaming it on you? Are you getting tired of people who seem to come to dinners and parties at your house three times as often as you find yourself attending dinners and parties at their homes?

ARE YOU DEPRESSED now and then by the feeling that you're losing touch with things—that either the world has gone crazy or you have?

Well, that's the test. Now for the score.

If you answered "yes" to each question, relax. You're as normal as you can expect to be in mixed-up time—as normal as a fly on a blueberry pie.

But if you answered "no" to each question—kid, you're in trouble. You're out of this world, and don't know what's going on. You're adrift in your own dreamland, and had better pick up your oars and row your way back to reality.

To Your Good Health More On Rules For Visiting The Sick

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Continuing yesterday's comments on how (and how not) to visit a sick friend, let's pick up at the third rule:

RULE THREE: Don't visit too long.

A short visit makes you more welcome next time. If it seems like an effort to travel a long distance for a short visit—well, are you doing it for your own sake or for the pleasure of the patient? Even a brief visit can make a whole afternoon brighter for a patient. An overlong visit can tire him. How do you want him to feel about having another visit? Keep your visits short.

RULE FOUR: Don't express your concern. Or should I say "worry?"

There are some subtle but important distinctions here: A patient doesn't want—and shouldn't have to combat—the dire warnings of what may happen to him. He shouldn't be reminded that his serious illness has been the end for others.

But neither does he want any forced cheerfulness which seems to make light of the seriousness of his illness. On the one hand, I can wholeheartedly approve of the mother, in the London blitz, who told her youngster, "Oh, that was just a little bomb," and thereby comforted him.

But if you tell a heart-attack patient, "Oh, a heart attack doesn't amount to much," he'll know you are a fool.

As I said, it's a matter of subtle distinctions.

RULE FIVE: If you can't be helpful or cheerful, don't visit.

When I was quite ill, a clergyman came in and stood at the foot of the bed, saying not a word. Maybe he was saying a silent prayer for my salvation. I don't know, but the situation for me was embarrassing and awkward, and I have never forgotten it. Eventually he said something or other and left, and I never saw him again.

A book or a flower or a magazine can express one's sympathy cheerfully. Sometimes a patient likes to have a visitor read to him.

Sometimes one can be more genuinely helpful to the family rather than to the patient himself—running errands, helping with meals, driving them to the hospital, and so on.

A visit to the sick requires tact. It can be uplifting and comforting, or it can be tiring or depressing or a complete bore.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. Around The Rim Our Point Of Beginning

In the public mind the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States of America are almost synonymous. It is not at all uncommon for citizens to impute to the one what is in reality in the other.

THURSDAY puts us within six years of the 200th anniversary of the signing of the document which declared the 13 colonies to be independent of Britain.

There are many memorable, yet sublime, lines in the declaration, although the bulk of it is taken up in an enumeration of the causes which impelled the people to take this crucial step.

"WHEN IN THE COURSE of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands . . ." the statement begins. The second paragraph declares that "we hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness." Then it affirms that governments are established to provide these rights, "deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed." When governments become destructive of these rights, it is the right of the people to abolish and to set up a new one. Yet this is such a grave and far-reaching step that governments are not "to be changed for light or transitory reasons."

AMONG THE many accusations, upon which the colonies justified their separation from England, were these: The king had refused assent to laws to give the colonies relief; governors had been blocked from reform; legislatures had been frustrated by fiat and fatigue, and oftentimes had been dissolved; judges had been brow-beaten and justice obstructed; immigration and naturalization had been mired; the people had been harassed by officials; military power had been substituted for civil law.

STANDING armies had been maintained and quartered without consent of the people; troops had been made immune from civil crimes; acts of war had been waged against the colonies and persons seized on the high seas had been compelled to fight against their fellow men. The right of trial by jury had been deprived; taxes had been levied without consent; trade had been cut off; insurrections had been incited and hostile attacks encouraged.

In this atmosphere, colonists felt compelled to separate from their mother countrymen "and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends."

THE "APPEALING to the Supreme Judge of the world (one of five references to deity; the constitution has none) for the rectitude of our intentions do, in the Name and by the authority of the good People of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare that these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be, Free and independent States . . ." and do the things that independent governments are expected to do.

And finally, this final pledge that carried them all the way: "AND FOR THE support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor."

Thus, on July 4, 1776, the 57 men representing their 13 colonies, soberly cognizant of the consequence of their act, signed their names in acceptance of whatever lay ahead.

Marquis Childs A Breakthrough With Moscow

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
(Substituting for Marquis Childs)

WASHINGTON—Below the somber and ceaseless drumbeats of the Vietnam dilemma and the shrill clamors of a domestic political campaign, there runs now within the Johnson administration an undertone of genuine feeling that in these last months of his service the President may yet score a major diplomatic breakthrough with the Soviet Union.

OF COURSE, once bitten is twice shy; and many times bitten is many times more shy when the White House approaches any Russian gesture that may appear to promise abatement in the Cold War.

All the same, and making allowance for past disappointment and disillusion, the fact remains that the administration is inclined to believe that the Russians' sudden affirmative response to the President's long-standing offer for discussion of a limitation of missiles may in truth have substantial meaning and may raise authentic hope.

IF THIS SHOULD turn out to be the case, it would be ironic, indeed. It would mean that only after renouncing his office had the President been able to convince the Russians of a vast point which in the full powers of that office he had never been able to make them accept. This point was that this country was honestly prepared to make accommodations with Moscow, so long as they were realistic and enforceable accommodations, to reduce a possibility of nuclear holocaust that still hangs over the world and will so hang, whatever may or may not happen in the Vietnams.

HOWEVER BESET by Vietnam and all the rest of it, in short, the President from the day he took his oath has identified the real and big objective as a thaw in the Cold War with the one nation that still holds the ultimate Communist power and menace, the Soviet Union.

Accordingly, to this matter, and specifically to missile limitation, he has given an absolute and a continuous priority.

To be sure, nobody here is prepared to assume for a fact that this time the Russians mean business. The only way to put it is to say that this time all the information available to this government does suggest that, for whatever reason and however improbably, they really do.

WHY NOW a Soviet act of conciliation that has for so long been so stonily withheld by Moscow? There are several provisional answers; one can take his pick.

It may be that Moscow is willing to deal with a lame-duck administration precisely because that is what it is. It may be that Moscow fears the election of Richard Nixon, whose general foreign policy line is harder than Mr. Johnson's.

IT MAY BE, to reverse the coin, that the Russians see as well that in the improbable event of the election of an ultra-liberal and profoundly dovish President like Eugene McCarthy, an accommodation with the United States would be next to impossible for the quite different reason that such a presidency could never obtain the consent of the operatively vital center of public opinion and certainly not the consent of the controlling moderates of the Senate.

At all events, the atmosphere in the highest places in this government is less gray than it has been in a long time.

Holmes Alexander Party Politics On Trial

WASHINGTON — Politics is a cynical game — so what else is new? Only that this year both political parties are tempted as never before to snatch at the main chance and let the country kick its heels in the ditch.

The Republicans, their convention coming first, have a major decision in morality to make. Shall they throw out Richard Nixon and all the party principles with him in grabbing for a meaningless victory?

IT'S CLEAR ENOUGH by now that Nixon would have no cakewalk in November, despite the abject failure of the Kennedy-Johnson Administrations to manage America's interests at home and abroad. It's been three months since Lyndon Johnson removed himself from the target range, and somehow the slings and arrows of an outraged nation have not been redirected at the remaining Democrat candidates, Hubert Humphrey and Eugene McCarthy. The mosaic of minorities which forms the Democratic party strength remains intact. Nixon will not easily get votes out of the slums, the academics, the Catholic parishes, the Labor unions, the Government job-shops or the enclaves of once-Solid South. In every instance, the Democrats are better fixed to win there. Nixon still can win, but only by a tremendous effort.

THE GOP has an easier way, if it stoops to the opportunity. Nelson Rockefeller, wearing false colors, will pass as a Republican, provided the Convention leaders let him get away with it. Rockefeller is spending an estimated $5 million to exaggerate Nixon's liabilities as a candidate.

Both the Gallup and Harris polls show Humphrey out in front of Nixon. Harris shows Humphrey ahead of Rockefeller, but by a closer margin. Gallup shows Humphrey and Rocky about even. If these trends continue, the GOP convention will have the excruciating decision of sticking by principles with Nixon, or grasping at opportunism with Rockefeller.

THE DEMOCRATS face a cynical choice that is macabre and almost shameful to contemplate. They have reason to know they can improve their chances by nominating the 36-year-old Senator Ted Kennedy of Massachusetts as Humphrey's running mate. We must expect Ted Kennedy and his friends to go through all the ritual of reluctance. There is no need to doubt that Ted is sincerely in a quandary.

BUT THE DECISION is hardly his own. The party's call and the family tradition of upward-and-on cannot conceivably fail to be decisive. It is up to the delegates, and delegates read polls. Already Harris has found that a Humphrey-Kennedy ticket is rated above the crucial 50 per cent mark to defeat any feasible combination of Republicans. Hubert and Ted would beat the "dream ticket" of Rockefeller-Reagan by 52-40 per cent, with a negligible number of undecideds. Hubert and Ted would take a clear 51 per cent of the votes, if the polls are valid. Can political flesh and blood at the Democratic Convention resist such temptation?

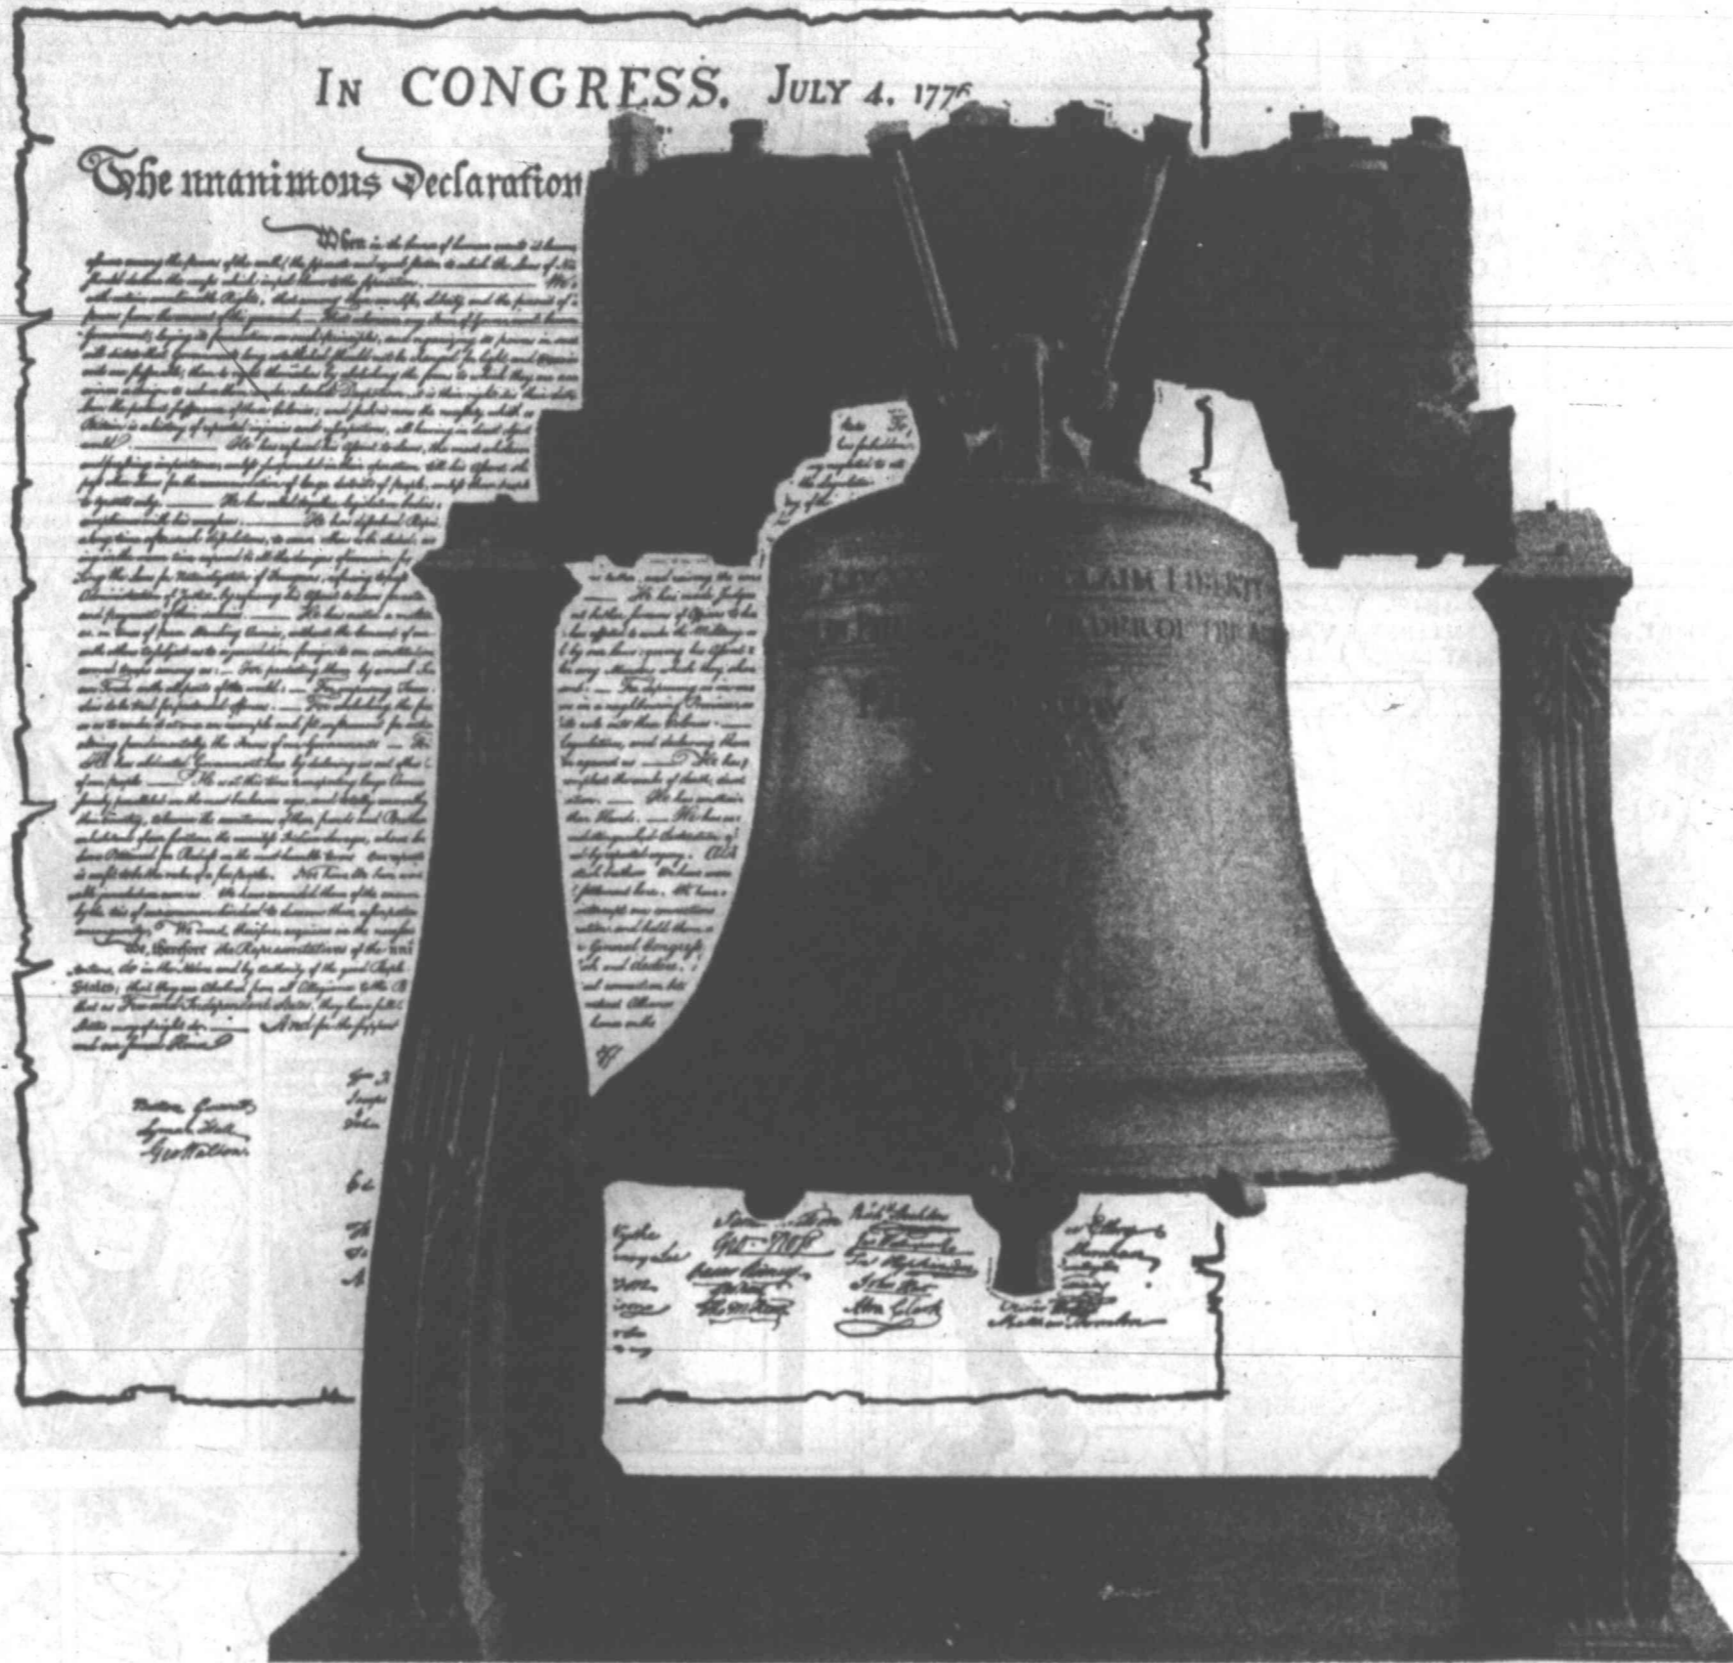

AND YET THESE two candidates, Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination, and Ted Kennedy for the Democratic vice presidential nomination, can be put forward only in total disregard for whatever morality remains in American politics.

Neither man is a fit nominee. And every leader within the party system knows it.

prize money would then go back into the pot. The success of the amateurs is one reason why officials are happy over the outcome of the first Open Wimbledon Tournament.

David Lewis Leads Cabots

The Cabots made it 12 wins in 20 starts by turning back the Stars, 10-3, in American Little League play here Tuesday once.

The Cabots started off with a three-run first, added six in the second and wound up their scoring for the night with a singleton in the third. Don Beene benefitted from Cabot's early surge to notch the win. He teamed with Doug Robison and Larry Stanley to notch the win.

David Lewis clubbed a home run for Cabot with one on. In all, he had three of the winners' 11 hits.

The Stars slumped to a 7-12 record with the defeat.

Tigers Giving No Indications Of A Slump

A couple of American League managers have proclaimed in recent days that Detroit's rampaging Tigers are due for a siege of misfortune any old day now.

Don't hold your breath. The Tigers are giving anything but an indication of a summer slump. Willie Horton's first-inning single Tuesday night delivered a pair of runs that helped the Tigers to a 3-1 conquest of California—their seventh in eight games.

And, Detroit's lead was widened to 8 1/2 games over Cleveland when the Indians were victimized 6-0 by Minnesota.

Boston came from behind to nip Oakland 4-3 in the only other league game. Rain postponed the New York at Washington and Chicago at Baltimore games.

Although the Tigers continue to make the race for first a hot-hum affair, a big logjam is developing for the runner-up spot. Only four games separate the Indians from the seventh-place Red Sox.

Tiger right-hander Earl Wilson picked up his sixth victory in 11 decisions but had to constantly pitch out of trouble.

Horton staked him to the early lead after Jim Northrup doubled and Norm Cash walked, then both advanced on a wild pitch.

Rookie Tom Matchick's first homer accounted for Detroit's other run in the seventh. California's Jim Fregosi ran his hitting streak to 12 games with a solo homer in the eighth, his seventh of the year.

South African Ties Mark At 100 Meters

A South African who won't be able to compete in the Olympics, matched the listed world mark in the 100-meter dash—and wasn't satisfied. Paul Nash of South Africa, fighting a mild headwind, tied the world record of 10 seconds flat in a meet at Zurich, Switzerland. Ron Jones of Britain was second in 10.4 and Hansruedi Wildner third in 10.5.

Nash, who won't be able to compete in the Olympics because of the South African ban, has been clocked in 10 flat several times. Three Africans, Charlie Greene, Ronnie Ray Smith and Jim Hines, were timed in 9.9 seconds at Sacramento, Calif. June 21.

The headwind did not bother me very much," Nash said. "But I wished I had stronger men running against me perhaps some of the Americans. That might have brought a world record."

Nash also won the 200 meters in 20.1, running on a synthetic track, similar to the surface that will be used in the Olympics at Mexico City.

Vera Nikolic of Yugoslavia won the women's 800 meters in 2:02.2, the world's best time this season, while a French relay team won the men's 400-meter relay in 39 seconds flat, just four-tenths of a second off the listed record.

In Stockholm Sweden, Bodo Tuemmler of West Germany recorded the fastest mile of the year, 3:54.7. He was followed by Andre de Hertoghe of Belgium, 3:56; Werner Gosewinkel of West Germany, 3:59.1; and Alberto Estaban of Spain, 3:59.2.

Wilson Kiprugut of Kenya won the 1,000 meters in 2:21.6, but Russians dominated the rest of the meet.

Also outfielders Matty Alou, Pittsburgh, the league leading hitter with a .353 mark, and brother Felipe Alou, Atlanta, .303.

Bench is batting .268 with 43 RBI and seven homers while Haller is hitting .291.

Red Sox Defeat Bruins, 10-7

Thunderbolt Patterson Experiences His Woes

It simply wasn't Thunderbolt Patterson's night Tuesday, when the American Business Club wrestling shows were resumed at the City Park amphitheater.

Patterson, a rubbery Negro with an itch to skirt the rules, got in a wrangle with a ringsider and had a complaint sworn out against him in municipal court.

In addition, he watched his opponent's hand raised in victory from outside the ring. His foe was popular Ricky Romero.

The two fell through the ropes onto the hard concrete and only Romero made it back through the strands in the required 20 seconds.

The only satisfaction Patterson had was in finding his retreat to the dressing room was a shorter distance than from the ring. The end came after four minutes in what would have been the third and deciding fall.

Patterson had won the opening fall with a slam and a pin in 8:55 minutes but Romero fought back to even matters with six minutes gone by coming off the ropes to pin Thunderbolt.

The show didn't catch the fancy of the local fans. Perhaps it was because there was a threat of rain in the air or maybe it was due to the fact that the matches were booked so close to a holiday. Whatever the cause, not more than 500 were present for the two-hour event.

The infernos had their hands raised in victory under the tandem of Dick Murdock and Dory Funk Jr., in an Australian Tag match that was billed as the co-feature.

Funk had used a leg strangle to win the opening fall in 11:10 but Murdock missed a dive bombing attack on one of the hooded pair and the Inferno pinned him easily after 6:30 minutes had elapsed.

Mays Picked On NL Squad 19th Time

CINCINNATI (AP) — Willie Mays was named to the All-Star team for the 15th consecutive year today as National League Manager Red Schoendienst completed his squad for the July 9 game.

Mays, the colorful San Francisco Giants' center fielder, will be making his 19th appearance in the summer classic, which will be played this year in the Houston Astrodome against the American League All Stars.

From 1958 through 1962 when two games were played each year, Mays appeared in all eight.

Schoendienst, manager of the defending champion St. Louis Cardinals, went along with the player balloting in adding nine more players.

He chose all eight runners-up at each position and selected rookie catcher John Bench of the Cincinnati Reds, who finished third behind starter Jerry Grote of the New York Mets and Tom Haller of Los Angeles.

Others picked besides Mays, Bench and Haller on the 25-man squad were:

First baseman Rusty Staub of the Houston Astros, a .311 hitter with 43 runs batted in and four home runs; second baseman Julian Javier, St. Louis, .256; shortstop Gene Alley, Pittsburgh, .236; third baseman Tony Perez, Cincinnati, .253, 46 RBI and eight homers.

Also outfielders Matty Alou, Pittsburgh, the league leading hitter with a .353 mark, and brother Felipe Alou, Atlanta, .303.

Shelton's Run Stops Yanks

Bennett Shelton raced home on Kent Felson's triple in the fourth inning with what proved to be the winning run as the Wildcats edged the Yankees, 3-2, in National Little League play here Tuesday night.

Ricky Darrow and Craig Coffe combined to set the Yankees down without a hit.

Darrow and Roderley Ferrell clubbed home runs for the Cats in the first inning, each coming with the sacks deserted.

Bobby Bradshaw, although he was tagged for no more than four hits, was saddled with the defeat.

Wildcats: 3 runs, 4 hits, 0 errors. Yankees: 2 runs, 3 hits, 1 error.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Strange things happen, and not only in the Land of the Midnight Sun. One of the strangest was the fact that not a Lamesa High School baseball player was named to the Class AAA all-state tournament team, although the Tornados stormed into the finals.

One apologist explained that the Tornado success story resulted from a team effort but a club which does as well over a credit of time as Darrell Froman's club did deserves some credit.

Schools now fielding teams in District 3-AAAA (2-AAAA last year) have won ten state football championships since Abilene High first broke through in 1923.

The Eagles have claimed six titles over the years, San Angelo two and Odessa Permian and Odessa High one each. On four other occasions, conference schools have reached the finals only to lose.

If the Permian Panthers operate out of the I formation this fall, as they are apt to do, then Travis Wright could become one of the most feared ball carriers in the state. Wright missed spring training due to injuries but has fine credentials.

Incidentally, Tommy Stewart (brother to the celebrated William) could wind up at quarterback for the Panthers. Coach Gene Mayfield was not overly satisfied with some of the other boys who were tried at the position in the spring.

When the now extinct Midland College was fielding a football team shortly after World War I, one of its quarterbacks was J. Everts Haley, who more recently made a devastating appraisal of President Johnson in a book which was used as political fodder.

Big Spring's Charley Brantley has been invited to play in the Odessa Pro-Am for the second year in a row and naturally has accepted. Don Lovelady of Big Spring will be his partner.

Sul Ross is probably going to get a complete change in coaches, in the wake of the news that the Alpine school has dropped baseball as a competitive sport.

Big Spring's Hank Pope is one of those concerned with the decision, since he was a pitcher with the Lobes last year and has eligibility left. (He could follow his old coach, Al Ogletree, to Pan-Am College in Edinburg.)

Sul Ross could eventually drop all athletics, since it is so isolated and the cost of maintaining an athletic program has become so high.

That might seriously affect the enrollment at the college, however, because the only time it is mentioned in many of the gazettes around the nation is when its athletic teams strike a blow.

The eighth round draft choice of the New York Jets of the AFL was christened Robert Taylor. His wife answers to the name of Elizabeth.

A new financial record is sure to be set in this year's major (baseball) league all-star game at Houston, since the Houston Astrodome (site of the contest) has so many box seats—21,000 in all. The gross receipts at last year's contest in Anaheim, Calif. were a record $324,428. This year's take will top that by at least $50,000.

How to buy a bug a little bit at a time

First say to yourself, "I'd like to buy a bug a little bit at a time." And if you've got $250.00 for a down payment, you can have the whole car and pay for it little by little $51.17 a month for 36 months). You also get some financial help from the car. Such as an average 27 mpg, and about twice the usual mileage from a set of tires. The bug takes 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts. And it doesn't take anti-freeze at all. This whole money thing is easily arranged. Just start by paying us a little visit.

Cop Says Minister Lied About Arsenal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A policeman has told Senate probers that a Presbyterian minister lied under oath when he testified he wasn't asked to turn over to Chicago police a gang arsenal stored in his church.

SURPRISE

"The Rev. (John R.) Fry was not telling the truth when he said I did not ask for the guns," Sgt. Neal Wilson told the permanent Senate investigations subcommittee. "I say it did occur."

"There is a serious conflict of evidence here and it will be a surprise to many if we have a minister telling untruths," said Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

"But somebody here is deliberately, willfully perjuring themselves before this subcommittee," he added. "And I hope the guilty person will have to face the bar of justice and get what he deserves."

The Rev. Fry, testifying before the subcommittee last week, defended a $927,000 Office of Economic Opportunity grant to provide basic education and job training to members of two Chicago street gangs—the Blackstone Rangers and the Devils Disciples.

ARMS SEIZED

He denied flatly allegations by former gang members and others that while allowing the Rangers to headquarter in his First Presbyterian church on Chicago's South Side he also counseled them in crime and condoned marijuana smoking and other illegal activities.

Chicago police detectives Tuesday described 1966 efforts by local and federal officials to arrange a general surrender of gang weapons.

They said they considered the final result only a token effort and believed the gang's real arsenal was hidden elsewhere.

They said Fry insisted the weapons turned in be stored in the church's vault for 30 days because the Rangers might need them to protect their territory.

The weapons were eventually seized in a police raid on the church.

'Still Touch And Go' For Heart Recipient

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The condition of the world's 24th human heart transplant patient was listed as satisfactory today as doctors watched for change in his new heart, which was artificially nourished for 24 hours while a recipient was sought.

George Henry De Bord, who received the heart in a two-hour operation Tuesday at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital, was conscious and alert today and his vital signs were stable, a hospital spokesman said. De Bord remained on a respirator.

HOPEFUL

"His doctors at this stage are hopeful," the spokesman said.

"But of course it's still touch and go."

DeBord, 46, a contractor from Helotes, Tex., near San Antonio, was the fifth person to receive a human heart at St. Luke's. He received the heart of Maxie Elwood Anderson, 50, of Lufkin, Tex.

Anderson, the oldest donor in any of the heart transplants at St. Luke's, was transferred to the hospital Monday suffering from a brain hemorrhage.

Doctors said Anderson's brain waves were flat for 24 hours and the doctors kept the heart and lungs attached to a respirator while they searched for a recipient.

Dr. Denton A. Cooley, head of the St. Luke's heart transplant team, said, "so much depends on the condition of the heart rather than the age of the donor. The donor's heart was perfectly normal."

Anderson, a service station operator, told his sister a week ago, "If anything happens to me I'll donate my heart."

STUNNED

DeBord, under the care of a San Antonio physician, was referred to Cooley Tuesday morning.

"We were stunned, lost for words, but we felt that Dr. Cooley was the best surgeon for this type of operation," Mrs. DeBord said.

West opened the king of diamonds against South's three no trump contract, and declarer, observing that a diamond continuation would automatically present him with an extra trick in that suit, permitted the king to hold — following suit with the nine of diamonds. When East played the three, however, West was not taken in by declarer's actions.

West realized from East's discouraging signal that South was apt to hold both missing diamond honors and, in an attempt to get his partner in to lead thru declarer's holding, West declared to shift to the ten of spades. The four was played from dummy, East alertly overtook with the jack and South played the ace, in a belated effort to preserve his diamond holding from attack.

A heart was led to the ace in order to put the queen of clubs thru. The finesse lost to West's king and a spade continuation thru North's queen enabled East to cash four tricks in that suit, and South suffered a 100 point setback on the deal.

Declarer would not have gained by permitting East to hold the lead with the jack of spades when West shifted to that suit. A diamond return by East drives out South's ace and, when West gets in with the king of clubs, he can cash the setting tricks in diamonds.

South can assure his contract by winning the opening diamond lead and then crossing over to the dummy in hearts to take the club finesse for, even if West gets in with the king of clubs, he cannot continue diamonds without giving declarer another trick. As soon as the clubs are established, South has nine tricks — four hearts, three clubs, one spade, and one diamond. Declarer should, therefore, have devoted his efforts to keeping East — the danger hand — out of the lead.
