FOR TOP SPOT

Nomination Of Kennedy Promised

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's name will be placed in nomination for the top spot on the Democratic presidential ticket by Michael V. DiSalle, former Ohio governor and federal official.

Announcing this Saturday, DiSalle said his plan will come as a surprise to the Massachusetts senator, younger brother of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, whose own bid for the presidential nomination was cut off by an assassin's bullet. Sen. Kennedy could not be reached for comment. His office declined to comment.

One Man Operation

DiSalle was active in Robert Kennedy's campaign but he described his move on behalf of Edward Kennedy as strictly a one-man operation at this point. He said he has not discussed it with the Kennedy family or associates, or with any party leaders.

DiSalle declined to speculate on his course should Kennedy request that his name not be placed in nomination.

DiSalle's announcement took the form of a letter to each of the more than 1,700 fellow delegates to the Democratic convention whose names and addresses he has been able to obtain, plus members of Congress and various political leaders. He distributed copies at a news conference.

There's No Excitement

"The problem now is that there is no excitement left for those elements of the party which lost a purpose with the assassination," DiSalle told newsmen.

He said that was evidenced by the number of voters who stayed away from the polls in the New York primary after the elder Kennedy was slain. "The prospects for a Ted Kennedy nomination are good because of the uncertainty of people as to which direction to take now," he said.

As to Edward Kennedy's likely reaction, DiSalle said he has not spoken to the senator since a chance meeting a couple of days after Robert Kennedy's death, and thus he has no real idea.

"But I don't see how he can turn it down," he said.

"No," DiSalle said, the move is not ultimately aimed at second place on the ticket. "You don't need a campaign for that," he said, adding he believes Kennedy could have the vice presidential bid if he would take it.

Soviet Units Moving Out

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovaks breathed a little easier Saturday as officials announced that convoys of Soviet troops started moving out of the country to their bases in Poland, East Germany and the Soviet Union.

But signs that Moscow and its four close ideological allies in East Europe were readying new pressures against the six-month-old liberal regime of party chief Alexander Dubcek accompanied the start of the pullout of the Red Army men who lingered here after Warsaw Pact war games ended 14 days ago. Estimates of their number ranged from 6,000 to 24,000.

Soviet leaders, including party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny, arrived in Warsaw for what was shaping up as a top level meeting of Communist leaders from the Soviet Union, Poland, East Germany, Bulgaria and Hungary on the Czechoslovak liberalization drive.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

We seem to have waited until after the holidays for violence and excitement. Mrs. Paula Sanchez de Tomlinson died of gunshot wounds and George Perez Uribe was charged with murder. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Eugene Carr and Luther B. Hallmark, all of Sterling City, were killed in a car-pickup collision below Sterling City. A youth was picked up in Midland after fleeing at speeds up to 130 mph after failing to pay a $5.20 filling station bill here.

The entertainment series, arranged by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, drew well last week. If the hymn singing session in the amphitheatre this evening draws well, the cumulative attendance will push around 5,000 for the week. The two biggest drawers, incidentally, proved to be the hymn singing and the western music nights.

Trustees have accepted an invitation to have Big Spring schools serve as a pilot for Region 18 (West Texas area) to map out procedures in securing assistance for technical programs. In another area of activity, a local committee probed the possibilities of setting up a language and learning center. (See THE WEEK, Page 2-A, Col. 5)

Self-Defense Claims 'Calm' Bronx Gunman

BURLINGTON, N. C. (AP)—Bobby L. Rogers, identified by police as the Bronx gunman who killed three men, told his brother he shot in self-defense, the brother said.

The 31-year-old Army veteran was in the Alamance County jail Saturday after surrendering meekly Friday to a deputy sheriff in the adjoining city of Graham and waiving extradition.

New York officials were being sent to North Carolina to take custody of him. They said they expected to return him to New York Monday or Tuesday.

Rogers, a Negro, was unarmed and accompanied by his brother, Henry Rogers of Burlington, when they approached Deputy Clifton Wilkinson on the courthouse steps. They were "calm as anybody," Wilkinson said.

NOT INSANE

Henry Rogers, 35, oldest of 11 children in the family, told the Burlington Times-News: "He did it in self-defense. Some people have asked me if my brother is insane. He is not insane. He did it in self-defense."

Rogers quoted his brother as saying "those people came into the building where he was superintendent. One of them put a gun against his belly. He took the gun away from the fellow and sprayed them with it."

"After he did it, he got scared and ran," Henry Rogers said.

Sheriff John Stockard said Bobby Rogers told him he had thrown the weapon away, then boarded a bus in Manhattan at 8:30 p.m. Thursday—a few hours after the Bronx shootings. He arrived in Greensboro, N.C., Friday morning and took another bus to Burlington.

Henry Rogers said his brother considered going back to New York to surrender.

'NICE GUY'

"I told him not to do that, because they would kill him if he did," he did not elaborate on who "they" might be.

Bobby Rogers had been the subject of a manhunt through the slums and busy streets of New York since the Thursday evening spray of bullets from a .30-caliber automatic carbine killed three men and left a bystander slightly wounded.

A 13-state alert had been broadcast for Rogers and more than 100 detectives were assisting in the case. A room-by-room search of Rogers' West 138th Street apartment building was conducted.

Rogers neighbors described him as "very calm . . . a hell of a nice guy . . . a very decent fellow . . . well liked."

Former Colorado City Football Star Killed

COLORADO CITY (SC) — David Charles McKay, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McKay, Colorado City, was killed in an automobile accident near Paris, Tex., at 5:30 a.m. Saturday.

Young McKay, widely known in this part of the state when he was a four-sport athletic star of the Colorado City High School, was employed by the Superior Switchboard Company of Paris. His home was in Commerce. He and two fellow employees had just driven out of the plant yard en route to Commerce when the fatal mishap occurred. The other two men were not killed but their condition and names were not available.

Services will be Monday at the First Baptist Church in Colorado City. The Rev. J. F. Selcraig, Houston, will officiate assisted by the Rev. Caddo Mathews of Colorado City. Burial will be in Colorado City Cemetery under direction of Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

Young McKay was born March 2, 1947, at Ballinger. He moved with his family to Colorado City at the age of 19 months and grew up here. He attended schools in Colorado City and in high school was a four-sports man, who made all district quarterback in his senior year. He was also all district basketball player, track and was star pitcher on the Colorado City High School baseball team.

"He was the finest young man I have ever known," was the comment Saturday of Truman Nix, Colorado City Coach, on

Cease-Fire Is Rejected By Clifford

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford rejected Saturday the idea of any immediate cease-fire in Vietnam.

Clifford said North Vietnam is redoubling its war effort rather than showing any reciprocal restraint in response to geographical restrictions on U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

CLOSE LOOK

The defense chief spoke with newsmen at planeside before leaving for his first close-up look at the war since assuming command at the Pentagon March 1. He will report his findings to President Johnson at a Honolulu conference late next week.

Asked about a suggestion by Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., for an immediate cease-fire during the Paris peace talks, Clifford said "there are a number of actions that are necessary before we reach that stage."

Obviously, he meant actions by the North Vietnamese, indicating a willingness to de-escalate their side of the war.

Clifford recalled that Johnson on March 31 restricted U.S. bombing to the southern part of North Vietnam to unfreeze a diplomatic stalemate and get preliminary peace talks started. "He has indicated that he would be willing to cut back all the bombing in North Vietnam if we had some show of reciprocal restraint on the part of the North Vietnamese," Clifford said.

"They have to date refused to indicate any restraint on their part."

MYSTERY

"In fact, they've gone to the other extreme, and instead of showing any restraint they have continued this very substantial buildup of additional men and material in South Vietnam."

He disclosed that at a White House meeting last night he received instructions from Johnson to get a reading from Gen. Creighton W. Abrams on the present military situation and the U.S. commander's expectations for the future.

To forestall a possible Viet Cong attempt on his life, Clifford's route to and arrival time at Saigon were not disclosed.

Clifford's intention is to arrive in Honolulu the day before the full-scale meeting there between Johnson and President Nguyen Van Thieu. He did not say when the Honolulu conference will open, but July 20 is the reported date.

I'm Miss Universe

Martha Vasconcelos of Salvador, Brazil, gasps as she learns she is Miss Universe 1968 at the finals of the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant Saturday night. At right is Miss Curacao, Anne Marie Braafheid, of Willemstad, who won the first runnerup position.

Miss Brazil Gains Crown

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Miss Brazil, Martha Vasconcelos, daughter of the Chief of Police of Salvador, was crowned Miss Universe Saturday night.

The slim green-eyed brunette won the title while 100 Brazilians cheered wildly from their $4.50 seats purchased weeks in advance.

The five-foot-eight, 131 pound girl, who complained that she was always sleepy during rehearsals, was crying even before she was named Miss Universe.

'CAN'T SPEAK'

When she was the first contestant chosen among the five finalists she broke down and told master of ceremonies Bob Barke, "I can't speak."

During the 10 days of rehearsals, Martha received a daily telegram from her fiancé Reynaldo Loureiro, an engineer in Salvador.

"He always tells me I'm the most beautiful girl in the world," Martha said during rehearsals. "Even before the contest. So if I don't win, I think he would still believe it."

First runner-up was Miss Curacao, Anne Marie Braafheid, of Willemstad.

She was followed by Miss Finland, Leena Marketta Bruslin, Helsinki; Miss Venezuela, Peggy Kopp, Caracas; and Miss USA, Dorothy "Didi" Anstett, of Kirkland, Wash.

FOR RENT

Even before she is rested from a hectic week of rehearsals, Miss Universe is for rent at $1,000 a day.

Miss U.S.A., also "owned" by the Miss Universe Corp. for a year, is available for $750 a day—fully chaperoned and traveling first class.

Herbert K. Landon, executive director of the pageant to select "the most beautiful girl in the universe," explained how the Miss Universe corporation, a subsidiary of Kayser-Roth Corp., can commercialize curves and make ends meet.

"Our income derives from payments for television rights and contracts for appearances by Miss U.S.A. and Miss Universe," Landon said.

Miss U.S.A., for instance—Dorothy Anstett of Kirkland, Wash.—planned to resume her appearances Tuesday at a watermelon festival in Pageland, S.C., unless lightning struck to make her the second Miss U.S.A. in a row to win the Miss Universe crown. But a runner-up in the Miss U.S.A. competition stood by to take over just in case.

Landon said "Procter and Gamble Corp. pays approximately $300,000 for the rights to sponsor national television shows of the Miss U.S.A. and Miss Universe contests."

If both the girls were "rented out" each day of the year—not a practical prospect—the corporation could take in another $638,750 before expenses and taxes.

American Troops Find New Weapons

SAIGON (AP) —U.S. Air Force B52s poured bombs by the hundreds of tons into 11 suspected enemy concentration and supply areas in provinces around Saigon while allied ground troops worked closer to the capital seeking to crush enemy preparations for a major assault expected this week, the U.S. Command reported Saturday.

There was speculation that perhaps the biggest battle of the war was shaping up to coincide with the visit, starting Sunday, of Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford.

105 BODIES

Saigon's nerves jangled Saturday night with an outburst of gunfire in the center of the city and a spectacular blaze in a power plant along the Saigon River. But neither incident proved out to be connected with enemy activity.

The eight-jet B52s carried out their raids Friday and Saturday. After one of the air attacks, allied ground troops found 105 enemy bodies on an infiltration route near the Cambodian border about 125 miles southwest of Saigon.

U.S. communiques said the bombers, which unload their bombs to impact like one exploding blanket, struck at "supply and storage areas, base camps, troops concentrations and fortifications." American ground troops operating closer to the capital turned up new weapons caches and a crudely built Viet Cong hospital.

ARMS CACHE

A weapons cache found nine miles west of Saigon contained the warheads for five 107mm rockets which have a range of five miles. Another cache was uncovered 40 miles northwest of the capital. It contained 617 hand grenades and 81 mortar rounds.

The hospital was found 18 miles south of Saigon. It consisted of three huts and a small quantity of medical supplies.

Rockets now are a common weapon among enemy forces ringing the capital.

Intelligence reports place six enemy divisions in the area with perhaps 1,000 Viet Cong suicide troops already infiltrated inside the city to attack, possibly before Saturday, the anniversary of the signing of the Geneva agreements in 1954 ending the French-Indochina war.

For this reason, Saigonese and Americans scattered and took cover when gunfire broke out Saturday night.

DISPUTE

It occurred on Nguyen Hue—the Street of Flowers—and tracers streaked over downtown buildings. Investigation determined that the fire was an exchange between South Vietnamese soldiers and police near the national Treasury building.

Details as to the origin of the shooting were unclear, but it apparently resulted from a dispute between official personnel. Authorities said no one was hurt. But witnesses said one Vietnamese soldier was seen being taken away with a head wound.

There were several bursts from automatic weapons and reaction was typical for Saigon. Traffic and pedestrians in the immediate area continued on their normal way at first. Then military police jeeps raced around telling Americans to get off the streets. Persons eating, drinking and playing slot machines in a nearby U.S. officer's billet hit the floor.

NO CONTACT

A few minutes later streets in the vicinity were mostly empty and silent. South Vietnamese troops cordoned off the area around the Treasury building. Their reply to questions from newsmen was: "No VC, no contact."

A few minutes later a fire broke out across the Saigon River and there were reports of several explosions.

Police said investigation determined the blaze was in a power station, where gasoline for a generator had caught fire. Again, they said, there was no related Viet Cong activity.

Allied intelligence says one of the Viet Cong aims in a new assault on the capital would be to knock out all power facilities.

Security was tightened in Saigon and other areas of South Vietnam for Clifford's first visit to the war zone as the successor to Robert S. McNamara.

No significant ground fighting was reported across the country Saturday, and U.S. headquarters officially described action as "light and scattered."

On Friday, the weather over the North Vietnamese southern panhandle again was listed as good and U.S. strike planes flew 134 missions.

PRIME TARGETS

"Military storage areas and lines of supply continued to be the prime targets," a communique said. "Ten cargo craft and 18 trucks were reported either destroyed or damaged. Roads were cut in 49 places and six bridges were made unusable."

Rain Splashes Sand Springs

Sand Springs and the Coahoma area were given the lion's share of the moisture which fell on Howard County on Friday afternoon and again Saturday morning.

Sand Springs gauged from an inch to two inches in a sudden late afternoon rain which was sharply restricted as to the area it favored. Coahoma had 6.

At Moss Creek only 3 inch was gauged and very little of that was on the lake proper. Vealmoor reported a short 20 inch and there was no rain at all at Elbow.

Here in Big Spring, Texas Electric Switch Station on the east edge of the town had no rain but the area in the vicinity of the VA Hospital had from 2 to 3 inch. Downtown, the signs were that "probably the shower heavy Saturday may have been heavier elsewhere in the town."

No rain fell here on Friday afternoon at the time that Sand Springs and Coahoma were getting their showers.

SAYS PLAN 'COULD END WAR IN SIX MONTHS

Rocky Proposes Gradual Withdrawal

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller proposed Saturday a peace plan for Vietnam based on a mutual pullback of military forces by both sides. If Hanoi refuses, he said, the United States should unilaterally withdraw its troops to populated areas.

Rockefeller thus moved to what appeared to be a more "dovish" position on the war, contrasting with the self-imposed silence of his opponent for the Republican presidential nomination, frontrunner Richard M. Nixon.

"Mr. Nixon has refused to discuss any phase of the war," the New York governor told newsmen in a question-and-answer session. Nixon has said he does not want to discuss Vietnam while the peace negotiations go on in Paris.

The emphasis in Rockefeller's policy statement was on a four-point peace plan calling for gradual withdrawal by both sides, a neutral force to buffer the opposing forces and free elections. The elections would include the Viet Cong if the Cong "renounces force."

Rockefeller said in response to a question that his plan, if put into effect immediately, "could end hostilities in six months."

The governor suggested several steps that could be taken if the North Vietnamese do not respond to his proposal, including the pullback to populated areas, a move he conceded would be a "unilateral" pullback.

"This," he said, "would be a dramatic demonstration of good faith on our side."

"We should deploy American forces to protect the populated areas," he said, "thus sharply reducing far-flung search and destroy operations that cost most American casualties."

BLUEPRINT

Ten thousand American troops could be withdrawn each month for a year, providing North Vietnamese infiltration does not increase, Rockefeller said. Meanwhile, the South Vietnamese army could be re-equipped and strengthened.

Rockefeller did not mention the bombing of North Vietnam. He said this was deliberate, because bombing was the key question "under immediate discussion" in the Paris talks.

Rockefeller said this was not the same as former Vice President Nixon's position of silence, because he was proposing a detailed blueprint for peace, whereas Nixon has not.

The governor's aides said his proposals make him the only one of the four presidential candidates to offer such a detailed plan.

NO COMMENT

A Nixon aide said the former vice president would have no comment on the Rockefeller proposal. "It has been Mr. Nixon's policy not to comment on Gov. Rockefeller's speeches," the spokesman said.

Rockefeller's aides said his Vietnam policy paper was worked out in consultation with Henry Kissinger, the Harvard University professor who is serving as the governor's chief advisor on foreign affairs.

In his formal statement, read to a news conference, Rockefeller made these basic proposals: A mutual pullback in the first stage, with North Vietnamese regulars moving back toward the frontier while U.S. and allied forces move back to the populated areas.

An international force of neutral nations, largely Asian, would enter Vietnam to act as a buffer between the contending sides. This would be the beginning of a cease-fire, he said.

As the North Vietnamese forces begin to pull back, the United States would withdraw 75,000 troops "as a sure sign of good faith."

In the second stage, North Vietnamese regulars and infiltrators would withdraw from South Vietnam and the United States would withdraw the bulk of its forces. A small remaining U.S. force would be confined to fixed bases as long as North Vietnam carries out its commitments.

Rusk Sees Signs Of Isolationism

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk says he thinks isolationism has been growing in this country and also in Western Europe.

Rusk so expressed himself before a House Appropriations subcommittee May 22, when members told him polls in their districts showed declining support for foreign aid. The transcript was made public Saturday.

BURDENS

"I think these figures reflect the combination of the Vietnam war and its burdens and the mounting problems here at home," Rusk commented. "But I think it is also fair to say that the constituency of foreign aid in a sense is everybody and nobody—somehow like the consumers' interests... so the support for foreign aid is not very articulate..."

"But I think also, quite frankly, compared to the past, it reflects a growing isolationist sentiment in this country and in Western Europe."

ZERO

Rusk repeated his oft-stated defense of U.S. policy in Vietnam and of this country's refusal to stop bombing completely until "We... get somebody to tell us a whisper behind the hand, a little note under the door at midnight, a hint as to what would happen if we stopped all the bombing. Thus far the answer is zero."

He complained that the word "escalation is reserved for the United States." The North Vietnamese, he said, can pour troops into Cambodia and mine the Saigon River without being accused of escalation.

Totem Pole On Its Way To Japan

Sgt. David Viergutz, right, and Seiko, his Japanese wife, along with one of Nat Shick's totem poles they are taking back to Nippon.

'Cool' Swap Nets Nat's Totem Pole

By SAM BLACKBURN

One of Nat Shick's totem poles will soon adorn the front yard—if that's what they call them in that far-off land—of a dwelling in Tokyo, Japan. What the Nipponese will make of the pole with its weird faces and brilliant coloring is yet to be determined.

It is to be a marker at the Japanese residence of Sgt. David Viergutz, currently at Webb AFB but on Aug. 3 to be on his way to Japan.

By coincidence, the sergeant is being reassigned to the Yokota Air Base near Tokyo—the same base where he was stationed for four years before he was sent to Webb nearly five years ago.

HOME COMING

It is also the same base where he met and married his tiny Japanese wife, Seiko. For her it will be truly a homecoming and it will be familiar ground for the sergeant. He and Seiko were married in Tokyo shortly before he returned to the states and to Webb.

For nearly that entire period he has made his home in one of the small apartments at the rear of the Nat Shick residence.

The totem pole for Japan came about as a sort of swap, Shick explained.

"Seiko and David had a most remarkable electric fan they had brought from Japan with them. I wanted that fan real bad and they told me if I would carve them a five foot totem pole to take back to Japan, they'd give me the fan."

DANDY DEAL

Shick worked a slick trick on the sergeant who is not exactly an amateur with a woodchisel and paintbrush.

Nat finagled the airman into doing a lot of the heavy-work in getting the five foot

Travelers Report Canton 'Bloody Slaughterhouse'

HONG KONG (AP)—Rival Red Guard factions in Canton are mobilizing their forces for a pitched battle likely to turn South China's largest city into "a bloody slaughterhouse," travelers returning from the mainland said Saturday. The report coincided with other signs that China is again shuddering with civil disorder.

The travelers said relatives in Canton told them to leave the city as soon as possible because "East Wind" and "Red Banner" guard organizations were preparing for battle.

WILD BATTLES

Created by Mao Tse-tung to keep his rivals in check, the Red Guards ran wild last summer, fighting regular army units and warring among themselves in contests of zeal. Canton was one of the primary areas of trouble.

In Wuchow, only 120 miles west of Canton, anti-Maoist forces were reported by Radio Moscow to have taken over the city this week.

Another report reaching Hong Kong told of rival Red Guard units using hand grenades, rifles and light machine guns in nightly battles in the Wuhan industrial area, about 1,000 miles inland from China's coast.

"The fights are extremely bloody, bathing the streets with blood and many of both sides are being killed," a letter received here from Wuhan said.

MAO PLOTS

Chinese Nationalist intelligence sources reported that an anti-Maoist organization composed of Red Guards is now operational on Hainan, the big island off South China.

The report said the organization's leader is Peng Pai-chu, 68, once praised by Mao for his role in taking the island from the Nationalists in 1950, but later purged on charges of placing regional interests above national interests.

Accounts of plots against Mao were also in circulation. One newspaper, a Red Guard publication in Canton, said a top-ranked air force general was arrested for trying to smuggle President Liu Shao-chi out of China and set up a government in absentia to overthrow Mao.

Texan Vote Shy In Rail Election

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A. R. Lowry of Nampa, Idaho, was elected president Friday of the 44,000-member Transportation Communications Employees Union, which represents a railway worker group.

Lowry, 48, succeeds George Leighty, 70, who is retiring.

He was elected, 166 to 165, in a secret ballot, defeating Donald A. Bobo, 49, of Fort Worth. Both men were vice presidents of the union.

Lowry started as a telegrapher with the Union Pacific Railroad in 1938.

Leighty has been a member of the union, formerly the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, since he was 16. He was elected president in 1946 and served 22 years.

He will remain active as chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association, representing nearly all railroad unions.

Wanted Here, Also Charged In Ector County

Trajeses Ceballos, Jr., 23, has been charged with forgery and passing a forged instrument in Ector County and bond has been set there in the amount of $3,000.

He is also wanted here by Sheriff A. N. Standard, for forgery, passing and burglary.

Standard said that Ceballos and Dee Scaggs, Jr., arrested on Friday, are believed to be implicated in the burglary three weeks ago of the Vincent Gin Company office in which 300 check forms from the gin, an adding machine and a check-writer were stolen.

The stolen forms, filled out and signed with a forged name have been showing up in this and adjacent counties. The total face of the forged checks which have been reported—most of which have been cashed—is close to $2,000, Standard said.

He said that Scaggs was arrested here and released on $5,000 bond Friday afternoon.

The Stork Closes Maternity Ward

PENDLETON, Ore. (AP)—The Pendleton Community Hospital has closed its maternity ward because two married nurses are pregnant and three others are quitting for other reasons.

Al Cobbin, the hospital administrator, said the vacancies left the hospital without enough nurses to operate the ward.

There is one other hospital in the eastern Oregon community.

Mosquito Fight

The battle of man vs. mosquito used 35 gallons of insecticide during the month of June, according to the monthly report of the Public Works Department.

Crews sprayed once over the entire city and are now spraying and have sprayed from Lancaster west to city limits and all of the north side of town.

WCC Slated To Debate Draft Resistance Idea

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP)—The Assembly of the World Council of Churches will be asked to endorse official church support for men who resist the draft because of conscience.

This is one of the proposals which will be put before the 700 voting delegates this week as the result of 10 days of committee study of council policy on world problems—both ecclesiastical and secular. Committees completed their drafts Saturday.

'JUSTICE'

The section of "peace and justice in world affairs" produced the proposal on draft resistance.

While many churches, especially in pacifist groups, have sided with draft resisters, an affirmative vote this week would be the first official definition of the attitude of the assembly, representing churches with 300 million members.

The proposal will urge that, in addition to giving spiritual care to servicemen, equal support should be given to those who refused to serve because they objected to participation in particular wars. No war was named but it seemed obvious reference to current resistance to service in Vietnam.

Churches also should support those who refuse to bear arms for all for reasons of conscience, the report added.

ARMS RACE

In other proposals, the —Called on governments to halt the arms race and move away from the balance of terror toward disarmament.

—Demanded a complete stop to production of chemical and biological weapons of mass destruction.

—In evident reference to the Middle East and Africa, warned of the special dangers of encouraging wars by proxy through competitive delivery of armaments, which they called an international scandal.

—Urged the churches to move beyond piecemeal and paternalistic charity programs to a positive confrontation with systematic injustice in the world economy.

—Backed the idea of a development tax on affluent nations to combat the poverty of the developing nation.

Employment In State Stays High

AUSTIN (AP)—A "healthy state of employment" for Texas was indicated last month by the downward trend of unemployment insurance claims, the administrator of the Texas Employment Commission said Saturday.

R. L. Coffman said unemployment payments in June totaled $3,310, a decrease of 12,617 from May. Claimants received $1,831,455 in June, $398,603 less than the previous month, he said.

Crude Buyers To Ask Lower Output

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Railroad Commission says the major buyers of the state's crude oil have indicated they want 3,014,872 barrels a day next month, a decrease of 40,472 from this month.

The commission also said the U.S. Bureau of Mines forecast for August demand for Texas crude is 3,025,000 barrels daily, a decrease of 5,000 from July.

Water Usage Is At Lower Level

The water filter plant received a total of 209,935 million gallons of water from the Colorado River Municipal Water District during June, according to the monthly report of the utilities department. The water received cost approximately 13.424 cents per thousand gallons. An average of 6,921 million gallons per day was pumped from the filter plant as compared to an average of 7,035 million gallons per day for June, 1967.

ing disabilities program, which would consist of diagnostic and follow-up services. This will be pursued further.

Boards of equalization for the county, schools and city had a busy two days, but the approximately 100 registrants dwindled to considerably below that number before actually laying their problems before the board. Most questions dealt with tax raises (via percentage of assessment) and not with equalization.

The $2,796,000 authorization for Webb AFB Construction made it all the way through last week, obtaining Senate, House and presidential approval. Now begins the long push toward securing appropriations from Congress.

We're losing a couple of well-known community leaders in Wes Shouse, Cosden and American Petrofina of Texas vice president, who is changing his center of operations to Dallas, and the Rev. V. Ward Jackson, First Church of God pastor, who is going to Erie, Pa. We gained two new ones in Jack Powell, who was at his desk as VA hospital manager, and Col. Donald A. Jones, who took over his post as deputy commander materiel at Webb AFB.

Sterling County people did a fine thing Thursday by observing Dr. Swann Day, honoring Dr. William J. Swann, for 28 years a physician at Sterling City. He is one of those increasingly rare general practitioners who knows his patients as intimately as their ailments. Sterling folk said thanks with one of the most eloquent devices—a nice check.

Campaign heads have been named by Clyde McMahon Jr., general campaign chairman of the United Fund, and last week they met to make out a schedule that will see the effort get off to an earlier start. The main push will be in October with a goal of going over the top in that month.

City commissioners passed an ordinance against vandalism and pollution of the "big spring" site. We hope it never has to be used, but if so, we hope it will be applied with severity. It's senseless to let a few people spoil pleasure, comfort and beauty of everyone else.

Youths Turn Out For Park Party

Teenagers, numbering well into the hundreds, took over the City Park Amphitheatre Friday evening, for the designated night in this season's "Starlite Specials" being sponsored by the Cultural Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Bob Lewis of Radio Station KBST served as master of ceremonies for the program of pop music, and was assisted by disc jockey, Bobby Dark. During intermission, the two gave away records and pictures of rock music groups who are currently popular with the younger crowd.

At the height of the program, as "James Green and the Mercenaries" performed, many of the teenagers left their seats and danced in the orchestra pit. A good percentage of the audience was made up of parents, and it seemed to be a light, fun evening for all who attended.

Green, a fine vocalist and showman, was backed up by the rest of the Mercenaries, Allen Brown, lead guitar; Pat Gray, percussion; Bobby Thompson, electric organ; Rick McKinney, rhythm guitar; and Clay LaRochelle, base. Their numbers included such pop chart titles as "Sock It To Me," "Mustang Sally" and "So Good," the latter featuring a drum solo by Gray.

Sharing the bandstand was a second group, the "Thirteenth Boulevard Medical Institute Band," a trio with a big name and plenty of sound. Thirteen-year-old Steve Covington played lead guitar, ably assisted by Matt Holten on drums and Loren Warren playing bass. During their performance, they included "Parchment Farm," "Summertime Blues" and "Foxy Lady."

As on other evenings, the Ambassador Club was on hand to usher.

Court To Call Cases On Criminal Docket

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, will sound the criminal docket on Friday at 2 p.m. Cases announced ready will be set for trial starting July 22.

He has instructed Fern Cox, district court clerk, to notify a jury panel of 120 to report Monday, July 22.

There are 15 cases on the docket and three of these are against one defendant.

Phone Future Is Forecast

In a talk made before members of the American Business Club at their noon luncheon Friday in the Settles Hotel, Glenn Scott reviewed the history of communications as related to the telephone.

Scott, who is science demonstrator for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., then parted the curtains for his listeners to show them what they could expect in the way of improvements in communications in the future.

The gravest offense listed is robbery by assault. Two men are charged with this crime — Roy L. Goswick and Ronnie G. Fisk. They were implicated in a single instance out of which the indictments developed.

Russell Headrick is the defendant facing the multiple indictments. He is charged with two cases of forgery and one case of forgery and passing.

Other defendants and the complaints against them are: Ellis Dyer, DWI second; Doyle Saunders, felony check; Herb Werner, embezzlement; Max Yocum, embezzlement; Stanley Owens, theft; Samuel Dominguez, worthless check - theft; Joe Edward Barron, DWI second; Laverne Norwood, forgery; Richard Roland Green, burglary; Miguel B. Pineda, failure to stop and render aid - habitual; Alberto Ortiz Gonzales, DWI second.

Tax Boards Are Kept Busy

Tax equalization boards representing the county, city and school district had an extra day's work above and beyond their scheduled two day session last week.

A number of tax protest cases which were presented required investigation which was not completed by 5 p.m. Thursday. As a result, the boards had to deal with these cases on Friday.

The conferences with taxpayers continued most of the day and the finale to the equalization sessions was not recorded until 5 p.m. Friday.

Twice as many taxpayers showed up with protests and questions this year as reported in 1967. Increased taxes announced by the city and school and the revision of the formula by which county taxes are fixed — which also means increased county tax bills — brought out more than 150 property owners to the two day session.

Howard County commissioners served as the equalization board for the county. Billy Smith, Bill Estes and Pat Murphy were the special commissioners named by the city and the school to represent these two agencies as equalization board members.

Permits Total Over $200,000

A total of 175 building permits valued at $200,881.75 were issued during June by the public works department, according to the monthly report, with only five new residence permits being issued.

Total fees for the 188 inspections totaled $1,156.40. Crews made nine sewer taps and 10 water taps were sold amounting to $1,362.50.

Social Security Payments Go To One Out Of Twelve

One out of each 12 persons in Howard County — 3,344 in all — are now on the rolls of the Social Security Administration and each month receive checks from that agency. The checks received in this county total $253,553 per month or $3,051,236 per annum.

Average check to the clients is $75.

Erven Fisher, manager of the Big Spring District office of the Social Security Administration, said the combined total payments made to the 9,729 men, women and children in the seven counties this office serves now aggregates $8.5 million per year.

Howard County, the most populous of the seven counties in the district, gets a lion's share of the total payments but Scurry County, with 2,077 clients, receives $2.7 million; Dawson County with 2,068 clients, $2.8 million, and Mitchell County with 1,637 clients, $1.4 million.

The other three counties are Borden with 41 clients and an annual payment of $34,448; Glasscock, with 94 clients and an annual payroll of $75,000; and Martin County with checks to 478 persons totalling nearly $394,000.

Combined monthly payments for the seven counties is $720,500.

The average check for the seven counties is $79.01. The latest population figures show that there are about 101,000 persons living in the seven counties. For the district, the Social Security is sending checks to about one of each 19 persons.

For each county there are more persons qualified to receive Social Security payments than are being paid. These are persons who have not as yet officially retired but who have qualified themselves in all other respects and can begin receiving their checks the date they elect to stop work.

For example, there are actually 3,877 persons eligible, as of this date, for retirement of this number, 3,344 are on the check list. Of the 3,877, Big Spring has 3,562. There are 180 in Coahoma; 42 in Forsan; 60 in Knott; 27 in Luther; five in Otis Chalk and one in Vealmoor.

WTCC Plans On Meetings

Plans for several special meetings have been announced by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The next large meeting will be the board of directors and various committees at Wichita Falls, Aug. 8-9, including the Quota Busters breakfast Aug. 9.

The 15th annual industrial development conference will be held Oct. 16 in Fort Worth.

The cultural affairs committee will meet Nov. 7-8 in Lubbock, making annual awards. Volunteer leader from the area serving on state boards and commissions will be honored Jan. 23-24 in Kerrville.

The West Texas legislative seminar will be held in Fort Worth, Dec. 12.

The annual tourist development conference is set for Feb. 18 in Snyder. A West Texas art show will be held in connection with the event, and a $500 purchase prize has been promised.

On March 4 at the Madison Hotel in Washington, D.C., members of the Texas delegation in Congress will be honored at a reception.

Leaders workshops are slated for Canyon, Big Spring and Mineral Wells, March 18-20.

Top Displaced West Texans will be recognized at the annual convention in Brownwood, April 20-21-22.

Immunizations Given To 459

Bo Bowen, county health nurse, administered 459 immunizations during the Tuesday clinics held in June at the county health unit.

She held 50 conferences with patients and conducted one V.D. clinic. Seven cases of chronic diseases were checked and 23 conferences concerning TB were held.

Miss Bowen met with 33 people concerning child care services and child health.

Tour Webb AFB

Thirty-five patients from the Veterans Administration Hospital were given a tour of Webb Air Force Base last week. Conducted by members of the Junior Officers Council, the tour included a briefing of the mission of the base, static displays, and a tour of the synthetic building. The tour was climaxed by a luncheon at the Officers Open Mess. Col. William C. McGlothlin Jr., wing commander, spoke to the group on base-community relations.

Snell Competes For State Title

A young man who has become a full-fledged farmer while going to school has been named the Area II Star Farmer by the Future Farmers of America.

He is Marion Lea Snell, Ackery, who lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Snell. He will be competing this week in Lubbock (Wednesday through Friday) for the right to represent the state in the Southern division competition. Regardless of whether he wins there, he still will be attending the national convention in Kansas City.

Designation as the Star Farmer is based on the record of achievement. Marion has excellent credentials, progressively broadening his operations from a modest start.

In his freshman year in FFA under Kenneth Wink, the VA teacher at Sands High School, Marion had a demonstration in which he raised a gilt and kept pig production records. As a sophomore, he had a demonstration of nine acres of cotton.

Then in his junior year he stepped this up to 24 acres of cotton and 22 acres of milo. "That was our ideal year," Marion recalled. "I raised nearly two bales of cotton per acre and cut 3,100 pounds per acre of the solidly planted milo. Last year, well, the weather was bad and I didn't do so well with 60 acres of cotton and 82 acres of milo."

Following graduation from Sands, he entered Howard County Junior College and kept up his farming.

This year he is farming 380 acres of cropland with 140 acres in cotton, 40 in milo, and some in pasturage.

He works this with a four-row tractor rig that he owns. He and his father, whom he helps, use their farm machinery interchangeably.

Right now, it looks like this is going to be another excellent year. Given a rain at the right time, it could be another of those two-bale years.

Marion is active in several organizations and is vice president of the young people's class in the Ackery Baptist Church.

Former Commanders At Webb Get Reassignment

Three former wing commanders at Webb AFB are involved in re-assignments recently announced by the Air Force.

Lt. Gen. Fred M. Dean is to become commander of Air Forces for the U.S. in Southern Europe, with headquarters in Naples, Italy. His most recent assignment has been as deputy commander of the Strike Command, with headquarters at MacDill AFB, Fla.

Brig. Gen. A. F. Taute is taking up new duties with an Air Force command in Norway. He is moving to the post there from Colorado Springs, Colo., where he has been a deputy commander for planning in the Air Defense Command.

Brig. Gen. Kyle L. Riddle is soon to assume the post of deputy commander of the 12th Air Force, currently headquartered at Waco. However, this command reportedly is moving within a few months to Bergstrom AFB, Austin. Gen. Riddle for the past three years has been chief of the Military Advisory Assistance Group in Japan, stationed at Tokyo.

Contractors To Meet Here

The West Texas chapter of Associated General Contractors will have its quarterly meeting at the Ramada Inn here Friday starting with a 12 noon luncheon for directors and their guests.

O. H. Ivie, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, will discuss and show film of the district's new lake project above Robert Lee. The construction features and the impact on West Texas will be emphasized. This portion of the program, arranged by Jim Bill Little, will come at the general meeting at 4 p.m., which will be preceded by a directors session at 2:30 p.m.

There will be a hospitality hour and reception at 5:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 6 p.m. and at talk by Helmut O. Wolff, regional manager of the American Arbitration Association, and a film related to the subject. This will point up the arbitration machinery available to the construction industry.

Coahoma VBS Dates Announced

Coahoma Church of Christ will hold Vacation Bible School 9-11 a.m. Monday through Friday.

The theme of the school is "My God Is Real," and an emphasis is placed on laying a solid foundation for faith in a living God in the present age. Classes will be conducted for all ages, infants through adults.

Those who attend will learn through song, Bible study, visual aids, and filmed presentations about God and His relationship to man.

Each person who attends the class each day of the school will receive a Bible at the final program at 7 p.m. Friday. Refreshments will be served.

To Train As Chief Nurse

Mrs. Joyce Propst, assistant chief of nursing service at the Veterans Administration hospital for the past year, is transferring to the Veterans Administration center, at Bay Pines, Fla., for one-year training program as chief nursing service trainee. Following her training Mrs. Propst will be assigned as a nursing chief.

Mrs. Propst attended the Cook County School of Nursing in Chicago in 1945 and obtained a B.S. degree in nursing from Montana State University in 1944.

She worked 10 years at the Holy Rosary Hospital in Montana, and then joined the VA Hospital in Miles City, Montana in 1959. While Mrs. Propst was stationed there, she ranked from staff nurse to assistant chief nurse for evenings.

Mrs. Propst was a member of the Montana Nurses Association and was the state chairman for the general duty section, and president of the district association.

Mrs. Propst's husband, Lyle, and six children will accompany her. Libby, 19, attended Howard County Junior College; David, 16, attended Big Spring Senior High; Kathleen, 13, attended Goliad Junior High; Jennifer, 12, and Jeffrey, attended College Heights Elementary School. Matthew is two years old.

Young Kennedy Felled By Bull Calf

Blood streams down the face of Joseph Kennedy, son of slain U.S. Senator Robert F. Kennedy, after he was knocked down by a year-old calf as he tried his hand as a bullfighter in Seville, Spain. The incident occurred at the bull breeding establishment of Salvador Guardiola on the outskirts of Seville. Joseph is vacationing in Spain. After his brush with the calf, Young Kennedy was quoted as saying, "This is really fascinating."

Sulfur Finds Signal West Tex Growth

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Culberson County may soon be the home of the largest sulfur producing facility in the world, with deposits reportedly worth $3.4 billion, based on today's market prices.

The largest known sulfur deposit in the world is in Iraq, but because of government limitations and restrictions, the deposit remains largely undeveloped.

LARGEST

This could make the West Texas find the world's largest producing sulfur deposit.

Duval Corp., a subsidiary of Pennzoil United, Inc., with headquarters in Houston, announced plans Friday to construct a plant capable of producing 2.5 million tons of sulfur annually from the newly discovered field.

The $65 million facility proposed by Duval, to be completed by 1970, would be 18 miles west of Orla, or about 200 miles west of San Angelo.

Duval's announcement capped a week in which West Texas sulfur news built from a slow start when Washington County's commissioners court refused a bid in excess of $10 per acre bonus on its school land located in Tom Green County.

During the week, a pilot plant in Tom Green County operated by Allied Chemical Co. was reported to be producing sulfur for the second time in two weeks.

LEASING

In the last three months, chemical and petroleum firms have been quietly leasing lands and drilling test holes over a wide area of West Texas, seeking sulfur.

Culberson County, in which the latest find has been reported, is one of the most sparsely settled areas in Far West Texas. Van Horn is the county seat, with a population of some 2,200. The county has 3,848 square miles and a total population of some 3,300. The sulfur deposit is about 38 miles southeast of the Carlsbad Caverns National Park, which is in New Mexico.

The closest community to the find is Orla, just across the county line to the east in Reeves County.

Duval's announcement was based on a substantial core drilling program and successful operation of a pilot plant on its Culberson leases.

Some reports indicate that the Culberson deposit contains 80 million long tons (2,240 pounds) of recoverable sulfur. However, Duval President W. P. Morris of Houston said the reserve contained about 50 million tons.

Tom Schneider, a Midland independent sulfur operator, said his information was that the deposit was the second largest known in the world.

This week's developments confirmed a prediction made day weeks ago by a Houston mineral consultant firm that the Culberson area is considered one of the best in the sulfur evaluation field. The consultant said that West Texas would become the home of some of the largest sulfur strikes in the world.

Schneider, reflecting on the latest developments, said "I don't think it (sulfur) is going to be as big as the oil boom. But it's going to be fairly large. When you find it's worth that much ($40 to $45 per ton), it's going to be big."

At the rate of 2.5 million tons per year, it would take 20 to 30 years for Duval to exhaust its Culberson prospect, depending on whether one accepts the company's $0-million ton figure or the $3-million ton figure of some informed insiders. Only a few West Texas oil fields have produced at the rate of $105 million for 30 years.

HCJC Signup Set Monday

Registration for the second six-week term of summer school at Howard County Junior College will be held Monday at the college.

Although the enrollment is due to drop some from the nearly 400 who registered for the initial six weeks, college officials are expecting a brisk signup.

In addition to the second half of bread-and-butter courses like English, math, history, chemistry, physics, biology, government, etc., there will be new offerings in Spanish, psychology (human growth and development), and radio speech and production.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. and continues to 4:30 p.m. There will be a break, and then it resumes at 6 p.m. and continues to 8 p.m. in the Dora Roberts Student Union building.

Sewage Report

The sewage treatment plant treated a daily average of 3,077 million gallons of sewage during June, according to the monthly report of the city utilities department. Total for the month was $2,311 m.g. of which 3,789 m.g. was sold to Cosden Oil and Chemical Company.

Huge Hurricane Season Predicted

MIAMI (AP)—The National Hurricane Center said Saturday that indications are that this will be one of the worst hurricane seasons in years.

"The chances are that we are going to have an above normal number of storms and hurricanes in the Atlantic and Caribbean for the rest of the season," said Dr. Robert Simpson, director of the center. "We should be in for a rather active year."

Simpson has researched Weather Bureau records and discovered that only three times previously has the hurricane season started with such gusto.

SAMPLE

In each of the years 1888, 1936 and 1959 three tropical storms developed during June. The only other time that has happened was this past June when Abby, Brenda and Candy all swirled to life.

"It's not a certainty, but I think the sample is large enough to imply that such a

City Reports More Customers

The water office opened 204 accounts and closed 145 accounts during June, leaving the city with 9,087 accounts, according to the monthly report.

During a similar time period last year the office opened 206 and closed 196, which left them with 8,900 accounts at the end of June, 1967.

vigorous early-season start will mean a larger total of storms," Simpson said. "And, as a result, I would predict with some confidence that it's going to be a busy hurricane season."

Simpson based his prediction on something more than statistical probability. He said conditions are very favorable for development of tropical storms.

"From the standpoint of atmospheric physics, too, the stage is now clearly set for development of more tropical storms," he said. "The tropics are now quite warm in terms of their potentiality for developing hurricanes."

Simpson said the semi-permanent "Azores - Bermuda" high pressure zone over the Atlantic dipped unusually far south this winter and caused a massive dislocation of important weather factors such as the jet streams and Florida's usual westerly winds.

The high pressure zone migrated north more than a month later than it should have, he said, and huge supplies of moist air moved into the area. Temperatures were four to eight degrees below normal in certain key layers of the atmosphere.

Horoscope Forecast

FOR TOMORROW
—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES

SUNDAY You have a good chance today to get off some idea that impresses you. You may find the way you can make it work so that you get the desired results that made you interested in it in the first place. Develop any interest you have in the cultural aspects of life as they can be most helpful to you now.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A very good day for gooding about and seeing persons you like and admiring and vice versa, since many benefits can come from this. Make your mate life more ideal as well. It's mostly you to you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Go directly to higher-ups if you want to clear up that mess you may be in instead of raving on underlines. When all is O.K., get busy on that civic work that benefits the whole community. You have much ability—use it!

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Show a positive attitude in going after those new interests that have seemed hard for you to obtain before this. Stop fooling around and lose out on golden opportunities. Be sincere about this.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Shine down with that other in some other field that is quite new to you is fine now, since you can arouse other such lines. Doing whatever pleases your friend is fine. Don't procrastinate any longer.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Good day to be with associates so that you come to that important decision. But be sure you listen to his side of things first. Then out to pieces of amusement, social life but be with associate for best results.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show appreciation for your fellow workers who are more willing to give than a hand where it is most needed. So much can be accomplished that not a moment should be wasted. Why not give them a chance to express themselves socially today? Be generous.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You need more of the social side, so buy your friends early and then out to the places mutually liked. Some hobby you started some time ago can now be delved into with relish. It comes doubly enjoyable with.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get into some matters need settling. Get into some matters need settling. Get into some matters need settling. Get into some matters need settling.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show early. Then you have time for settling making contacts, etc. Don't neglect that correspondence that you have been postponing for some time. The one should bring good results too.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) It is necessary to make your property more valuable, compare it with some other property. Then out to the expert. Improve your basic security, also. Stop wasting so much time on the problems.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Be very steady when some personal matter is concerned and you find it is cluttered in a relatively short time. Then out to that great effort where you can take big strides forward. Be with your own element.

GENERAL TENDENCIES

MONDAY You find you are able to gain the left principles and precepts that you would like to express in your life with far more ease than has been possible before this time. Let your own light shine brightly so you can be helpful to all about you.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Get busy and see those good friends who are anxious to see you, since much that is good can come of this activity now. Be as sociable as you can, but do not let your own selfishness be a bit of an inspiration to others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Coming out to the real world where important matters are concerned is possible today and certainly about social life now in the right limelight. Show others that you are community-minded. Gain their

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Out to the service or studies that bring you in perfect communion with the Master of all things so that you have the right philosophy to guide you in the days ahead. Be realistic in your recreational plans. Be your own happy self again.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A new attitude toward the small but important things of life make you a more discriminating person in the future. If you have decisions to make, talk matters over with mate. Then you come to the right conclusion.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Give sensible advice to partners during your leisure today and you arrive at the right policy decisions. Take the initiative and you and one who opposes you comes to right terms. This could also be in your personal life.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show how much you appreciate being allied with a particular group today for some mutual attainment and you gain their full support, which has not been forthcoming in the past. Plan new week's activities in a practical way.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Entertainment is fine now with the cooperation of good friends. Take part in whatever it is you like to do most. Show your proficiency of tennis, golf, swimming, etc.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Give you the most happiness now, so do that. You can clear up any misunderstanding by showing understanding and good will. Make the week's and months ahead more happy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are so anxious to get ahead, but you must first attend services of your choice to renew the spirit within. Be off later in the week. Contact individuals with whom you have business or want to be allied with for the time being.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) How to have a greater abundance should be on your mind now so that you can advance accordingly. When you converse with others, show that you are a practical and wise person. Avoid frivolity for the time being.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Out for some amusement with friends today, since both you and they have been under a good deal of tension lately. Get out of that shell you have built around you.

YOUR MONEY

By CHARLES E. BEIL

The fact that the average man today doesn't often have the skills needed to build his own house—or the funds to have someone build it for him—is nothing new. But you'd probably be surprised to know that there are records showing that a society was formed for the purpose of saving funds to pay for building homes way back in 200 B.C. in China! Of course, there's no connection between this ancient organization, about which little is known, and today's modern savings and loan associations, except their similar purpose. But with the cost of building a home today, and the complex skills involved in construction, the need for such a savings and loan society is infinitely greater than it was 2,000 or even 100 years ago. Just like the earliest savings and loan organizations, our association exists primarily for the purpose of enabling you to obtain low-cost financing for home construction or remodeling. We aren't 2,000 years old... but we have a long record of dependable service that makes people turn to us with confidence.

Heavy Showers Amaze Texans

By The Associated Press

Scattered rain, some quite heavy, dampened the northeast quarter of Texas Saturday as flood waters drained toward the sea in the coastal plains. The western edge of the High Plains and Central Texas also got moisture.

The surprising rains came without warning from a low pressure center aloft from extreme South Texas to the Edwards Plateau around San Angelo.

Corsicana, 55 miles south of Dallas and near the center of Texas, measured 2.05 inches of rain between 6:30 and 10 a.m. Saturday and the rains still came down at times.

MORE RAINS

For the first time since mid-week, showers abandoned the coast as the rain belt shifted northward. Aside from the main rain zone in the northeast, a few showers fell in Central Texas near Temple and Junction.

And in Northwest Texas, a line of thundershowers extended from near Lubbock north to Dalhart.

Far West Texas south of Lubbock was clear. Clouds covered most of the state.

Temperatures generally ranged from the low 70s to the upper 80s near the coast, an unusual legacy for July in Texas.

Forecasts called for scattered thundershowers in most sections during the night, with showers in the east and south Sunday.

FLOODING

Local flooding was frequent in the Coastal Bend around Corpus Christi. Heavy showers fell in the upper Sabinal River watershed before dawn Saturday, and minor flooding was forecast.

Low water crossings were closed.

The lower Atascosa and San Miguel Creek ran at near bank-full stages. The lower Nueces was full from Three Rivers to Lake Corpus Christi. Minor flooding was expected from below Wesley Seale Dam to below Calallen through Sunday night.

Rains in the Corpus Christi area included Papatote 3.30 inches, Tarpley 3.05, Utopia 2.95, Robstown 2.50, George West 2.00, Wesley Seale Dam 2.11, Vanderpool 1.35 and Refugio 1.00. Corpus Christi itself got 1.74 inches in the 24 hours to dawn Saturday.

Your Next Paycheck Will Reflect Tax Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans will begin paying higher federal income taxes with their next paycheck.

Collections of the 10 per cent income tax surcharge which President Johnson signed into law on June 25 will begin Monday through increased withholding of taxes from wages and salaries.

The additional tax must be deducted from paychecks received after July 13 even though the money was earned before that date.

The new law will increase by 10 per cent the amount of taxes each employer must deduct from paychecks. In other words, if a person had $30 withheld from his pay for federal income taxes the amount now withheld will be $33.

But even this will not cover all the additional tax a person will owe the government by the end of the year because the surtax is effective retroactively to last April 1 for individuals and to last Jan. 1 for corporations.

This means individuals must make up the additional tax they will owe when they file their Federal income tax returns by next April 15.

The surcharge is designed to help raise money to fight the Vietnam war, to help carry out the Johnson administration's "Great Society" programs, to stem inflation and reduce a budget deficit which in the last fiscal year went to about $25 billion—the fourth largest in history.

Movie Theater Blast Hurts 25

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — An explosion in a crowded movie theater in downtown Belgrade Saturday night injured at least 25 persons. Witnesses said it was a bomb.

Several of the injured were reported in critical condition. A witness said one girl had both legs blown off.

The explosion occurred during the last evening performance of a French film in a second-story hall of the "20 October" theater. The blast was heard throughout the center of the city.

Two bombs reported set by an antigovernment Yugoslav emigrant group exploded recently at Belgrade's railroad station.

End Of Extended Flight

Passengers disembark from Delta flight 977 as it was en route to Houston from Philadelphia. Crewmen of the airliner talked the man out of his gun and made the emergency landing at Miami.

Former Mental Patient Talked Out Of Jet Hijack

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A Delta Airlines jet with 47 persons aboard landed safely in Houston Saturday after the flight engineer talked a pistol-wielding former mental patient out of hijacking the flight to Cuba.

The Convair 440 four-engine jet made an emergency landing Friday night in Miami after the gunman put down his chrome-plated .45 caliber automatic and broke into sobs in the cockpit.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., was among the passengers. No one was hurt.

Led handcuffed from the plane in Miami was Oran Daniel Richards, 33, a forklift operator from Springfield, Ohio.

Federal authorities charged Richards with air piracy Saturday. The maximum penalty is death.

U.S. Commissioner Edward Swan set bond for Richards at $250,000 and scheduled a preliminary hearing for Wednesday.

Officials at the Ohio State Hospital in Columbus said Richards had been "in and out" of the institution between July 14, 1958, and Aug. 31, 1959.

The attempted hijacking began in the skies over Nashville, Tenn., Friday evening, as Flight 977 was en route non-stop from Baltimore to Houston.

Witnesses said a man left his seat to go to the rest room. Returning, he brandished the pistol and grabbed Stewardess Elaine Haws around the neck, they added.

"I'll kill you," Eastland said he got up to go to the rest room and encountered the armed man.

"I heard a man say, 'I'll kill you. Get back. I'm a dying man. So I sat down,'" the senator said.

Eastland said the man forced the stewardess to accompany him to the cockpit door and knock. Then they entered.

"That gun looked big enough to crawl into," said Capt. Forest Dines of Chicago, the pilot. The gunman ordered the flight diverted to Cuba, Dines added.

"My engineer started talking to him and established a rapport with him," Dines said.

HE WEEPS

Flight Engineer Glenn Smith said, "sometimes he was rational, and other times he became irrational and began babbling. We never once attempted to jump him, but assured him we'd comply with his request."

Dines said the flight had begun with only 40,000 pounds of fuel and a diversion to Havana would have been "risky, it would have been cutting it pretty fine."

Truck Recovered, Driver Arrested

A pickup truck stolen from Odessa was recovered here about 9 a.m. Saturday.

O. O. Lipstrop reported a man sleeping in a pickup at the rear of 1701 W. 3rd. When the police arrived, they found the man and a new pickup with no license plates.

The Odessa police department was notified and local police are holding the driver of the pickup. The report showed no charges had been filed as of Saturday night.

The owner recovered the pickup Saturday afternoon.

Seek Attendance

STANTON (SC) — The Optimist Club met Friday morning with the Rev. Richard Payne, vice president presiding. A business meeting was held and plans to boost attendance were discussed. There were nine members present.

Fines Assessed

Tragedy Dims 35th Reunion

STANTON (SC) — Martin County devoted Saturday to the celebration of the 35th Old Settlers Reunion with a round of activities that began at 10 a.m. in Stanton.

However, a note of tragedy struck when Bill Crayton, Midland, died at 3 p.m. while attending the reunion's activities. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

A parade including various floats and riding clubs kicked off the reunion with Martin County Sheriff's Posse 4-H Horse Club, and Stanton Rangers riding in the parade.

WINNERS

Winners of the float contest were Koffee Kup Home Demonstration Club, first place. The float portrayed an old-fashioned general store. Second place winner was Stanton Garden Club float and third, Stanton High School cheerleaders.

At 2 p.m., the 4-H Horse Club sponsored a rodeo for the youngsters.

In the barrel race, first place went to Sherry Hankins; second place, Kay Hankins; third, Deane Holcombe; fourth, Tom Hoggard; fifth, Steve Fryar; sixth, Kenneth Smith.

In pole bending, Deane Holcombe took first place; Charles Atchison, second; Sherry Hankins, third; Mike Bridge, fourth; Kay Hankins, fifth; Kenneth Smith, sixth.

Sherry Hankins took first in the barrel race with Mike Bridge taking second place. Other winners were Kay Hankins, third; David Porter, fourth; Joe Cruse, fifth; and Bobby Odum, sixth.

DRESS REVIEW

In the flag race the results were Kay Hankins, first; Deane Holcombe, second; Curt Howard, third; Tom Hoggard, fourth; Charles Atchison, fifth; Steve Fryar, sixth.

Sherry Hankins took first place in the bull riding event. Second place went to Jim Epley; Wesley Henson, third; David Porter, fourth; Larry Fryar, fifth; Kay Hankins, sixth.

The 4-H dress review was at 7:30 p.m. in the city park. The winners will represent the county in Crane July 18 at the district dress review. Winner of the senior division was Doris Howard and her alternate is Deborah Hazlewood. Winner of the junior division was Brenda Holloway and her alternate is Patti White.

BARBECUE

The barbecue following the dress review attracted some 670 people.

The reunion program began at 8 p.m. and was emceed by Woodford Sale. The invocation was given by Rev. Richard Payne, pastor of the First Methodist Church. Horace Blocker gave the welcome address and the response was given by Jerry Hall, Austin.

Special awards were presented by Mrs. Jo John Cox and Mrs. Ohmer Kelly.

The award for the oldest person in attendance went to Mrs. Viola McClane; the award for the youngest went to Kenvin Gillespie, six months.

Mrs. Pat Gilliar, Great Neck, N.Y., received the award for the person coming the farthest. Morgan Hall and George Shelburne received awards for those who had never missed a reunion.

NEW OFFICERS

An award for the oldest married couple was given to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kelly who have been married 52 years; the award for the youngest married couple went to Mr. and Mrs. Danny Fryar who have been married five weeks.

Costume prizes went to Mrs. Leo Turner, John Peters, and the Curry sisters.

Following the recognitions, Mrs. Morgan Hall read communications from persons who were unable to attend.

Owen Kelly was elected president of the Old Settlers Association as the last event of the one-day reunion. Other officers were Bob Haislip, vice president; Mrs. Hall, secretary-treasurer.

Judge Faces Impeachment

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — Judge John D. Hasler was found guilty today of oppression in office. He was accused of favoring the woman defendant in a divorce case in his court.

The jury recommended a $1 fine.

A jury of six men and six women returned the verdict Saturday after deliberating for nearly 11 hours.

The maximum penalty for the misdemeanor is one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Hasler still faces impeachment proceedings before the Missouri Supreme Court because of his conduct in the case, which was described by Chief Justice Lawrence Holman as "anything but discreet."

The 56-year-old St. Louis County Circuit Court judge had been accused of misusing his office in behalf of Mrs. Jean Shelby, 26.

Testimony during the week-long trial, which ended Friday, established that Hasler met privately in motels with Mrs. Shelby, but he denied any impropriety.

Stormy Weather Slices 'Poor Aubrey' Crowd

A handful of Big Spring and area residents turned out for the Big Spring High School production "Poor Aubrey" Saturday night at the Starlite Specials program in the City Park Amphitheater.

Threatening weather was attributed to the light attendance. The program had originally been scheduled for last Monday, but the weather forced the cancellation of the production.

A group of drama students under the direction of Dan Shockey, head of the high school drama department, presented the one-act character comedy.

The plot concerned a braggard whose attempts to impress people always seemed to backfire. It was set in Philadelphia in the years immediately following World War II.

Kerry Gunnels, Aubrey, and Elizabeth Lipscombe, his wife Amy, starred in the domestic comedy but Aubrey's toupee stole the show. Other members of the cast were Belinda Gonzales, Mrs. Cole, and Janet Perry, Mrs. Fisher, Lynn Schaefer, who was in charge of props.

Four members of the Ambassador's Club collected the 25 cents admission charge. They were Bob Galbraith, H. L. Heith, Leland Pierce, and Elmo Phillips. The Four O'Clock Garden Club, Mrs. John Edgar, was in charge of concessions.

SING-SONG

Closing the second annual Starlite special tonight is the Gospel Sing-Song, headed by Joe Dunn. Those planning to participate in the last night of activities at the City Park Amphitheater are East 4th Baptist choir, Coahoma First Baptist choir, College Baptist, First Baptist, Webb AFB Chapel, and Grace Baptist choirs.

A trio from West Side Baptist, the Nazarene Church Gosselites, several ensembles from Trinity Baptist, and the youth choir from First Baptist will also perform.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Oliphant, Mrs. H. M. Jarratt and Mrs. Donald Richardson will provide the accompaniment for the program.

An organ and a piano are being furnished by White's Music for the program.

Mrs. Robert Deming and Mrs. Jarratt will play violin and piano number for the offering.

There will be no admission charge to the sing-song.

DEATHS

Stanton Services For R. D. Linney

STANTON (SC) — Services for Roy Daniel Linney, 58, were held at 3 p.m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church of Stanton with the Rev. W. H. Ullman officiating, assisted by the Rev. Richard Payne, Methodist minister.

Mr. Linney died at 8:15 a.m. Friday in Midland Memorial Hospital following a lengthy illness. He was born Oct. 21, 1909 at Robert Lee and came to Stanton in 1948 from Glasscock County. He was a farmer and also was employed as a pumpjack and loader for Mobil Oil Co. He was a member of Odd Fellows lodge, Stanton.

Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery under the direction of Gilbreath Funeral Home.

Survivors include his wife, Lorena; one son, LeRoy Linney; one daughter, Mrs. Robert Herzog; one stepson, Jerry Harlin, all of Stanton; one stepdaughter, Miss Betty Hardin, Midland; his mother, Mrs. R. A. Linney, San Angelo; two brothers, Lester Linney, Rising Star, and T. P. Linney, San Angelo; three sisters, Mrs. Clarence Stroman, Sweetwater, Mrs. John T. Hale, Midland, and Mrs. E. G. Allen, El Paso; and four grandchildren.

Relative Of Mrs. Agnell Succumbs

Mrs. Della K. Agnell has received word of the death of her cousin, Mrs. W. H. (Lollie E.) Haynie in Gilmer. She was buried in Lampasas beside the grave of her husband, Dr. W. H. Haynie, who died in 1908.

Mrs. Haynie, who was a sister of the late J. J. Hair of Big Spring, visited here many times. Born Dec. 27, 1861 in Anderson near Navasota, she was the oldest graduate of Baylor University. She attended Baylor Female College at Independence when men and women students were separated into two institutions and then transferred to Waco University (combined with Baylor) where she graduated in 1881. Her grandfather, J. O. Johnston, founded the Texas Baptist Herald. Decendants included seven grandchildren, 18 great-grandchildren, and 13 great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. W. V. Nichols Dies In Tennessee

Mrs. W. Vivian (Pearl) Nichols died early Saturday morning in Linden, Tenn. where she and her husband had been residing for several years. Arrangements are incomplete, but she will be buried there. Mr. and Mrs. Nichols, who lived at 533 Hillside here, moved to Tennessee after his retirement from the Texas & Pacific railroad. She was for several years president of the First Methodist Susannah Wesley class.

Peace Envoys Finally Start Serious Talk

PARIS (AP) — U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators have finally started some serious talk on Vietnamese peace-making issues during their private coffee-break meetings here.

SECRECY

These secret, informal, and brief meetings have so far failed to produce any opening toward a break in the deadlock on de-escalation of the war in Vietnam.

They have encouraged U.S. officials, however, in the belief that serious negotiations with North Vietnamese representatives probably can be achieved at some future point.

The formal talks themselves are totally stalled and the coffee-break sessions, which come as recesses in the middle of the formal meetings, have been covered by official secrecy and double-talk until Saturday, when U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman made a terse reference to them in a television interview.

YES AND NO

He was asked whether they were talks of substance, and replied: "Well, yes and no. There are a lot of trivialities and personal discussions, but one can't help but touch on serious matters. And we're getting into a little bit more of the idea of what's important in each other's mind."

At another point Harriman said there had been no indication so far that North Vietnam had—or would—cut back its military operations to get President Johnson to end the rest of the bombing of North Vietnamese territory—the issue on which the conference is stalled.

"All the indications so far are that they will take advantage of the military aspects (of the limitation on bombing)," Harriman said. "Yet... they haven't shelled Saigon for a couple of weeks. That's a good sign."

The question of whether the recent lull in the fighting in the South is the result of some deliberate policy move by Hanoi is undoubtedly one which U.S. officials have raised with North Vietnamese authorities.

Oldtimer Is Skeptical About Newest Sulfur Boom

By GIL HINSHAW
 ORLA, Tex. (AP) — Outside the West Texas sun bears down at a scorching 102 degrees. Inside his combination cafe, grocery store and gas station, Hall Olds expresses doubts about the sulfur boom taking place some 17 miles away in the Rustler Springs country. "I've seen it start and stop too many times, and I've been here 40 years," Olds says with a scornful smile. Cowpokes with faded blue eyes line the lunch counter, wetting down the desert dust in their throats with cold beer. The wall behind the counter serves as a classified advertising section. Along with the "Sorry, No Credit" sign are posters advertising a house, or a barn for rent.

ACTIVITY
 A steady stream of vehicles, water trucks, gas trucks and those bearing drilling crews, rumbles past outside on US 285 from Carlsbad to Pecos. They slow down at Olds' station and turn onto the county road toward the sulfur field. Olds, who came to Orla in 1910, says he doesn't believe Orla will grow as a result of the activity. There's no school in this small far West Texas community, about 30 minutes by car north of Pecos and 40 south of Carlsbad, N.M.

He voices a suspicion that the sulfur activity might be a promotion. It would be an expensive promotion.

NEW FACILITY
 Duval Corp. president W.P. Morris announced in Houston Friday that Duval's directors have authorized construction of a $65 million facility for mining and development of sulfur deposits 17 miles west of Orla. He said financing plans for the new facilities are under study. But Olds has reason to wonder about the sulfur boom that is changing the face of the lone some valley near Rustler Springs where outlaws used to waylay the stage between St. Louis and San Francisco. The sulfur business in the area has boomed numerous times since before the turn of the century. William P. Blake, a geologist attached in 1854 to the U.S. War Department expedition that made a railroad survey from the Mississippi River to the Pacific Coast, first reported that native sulfur existed in the area.

IN 1890's Mining operations began there were two companies operating, and mining stock was sold as far away as the British Isles. The war years, 1916 and shortly thereafter, saw the biggest development. As many as 60 men worked the claim, producing pure sulfur, and a town of sorts grew. It had a post office, church, dining room and even a house of pleasure at one time, some oldtimers claim, but it was a town whose name no one remembers.

There were plans at one time to build a rail line from the area into Orla, 17 miles to the east, to link up with the Santa Fe Railroad. One company bought the old El Paso narrow-gauge streetcar tracks and laid toward the mines. There the remainder of the rails stayed, construction ended and the restacked, in Orla.

The Delaware Co. and the Michigan Sulphur Co. operated in the Rustler Springs field. One firm even used the Frasch mining process—forcing hot water into the earth to bring up molten ore. The ore was hauled into Orla by eight mule team wagons, and thousands of tons were shipped by rail to the West Coast.

Development of the big Louisiana and East Texas sulfur deposits in the 1940's saw the deposits of sulfur soil, a fertilizer product. He bought into the then existing fertilizer company and took leases on about 6,000 acres of land. During the next 12 years, he worked the surface mine, digging up the soil and transporting it to Orla where it was ground and sacked.

As his digging rig pushed deeper below the earth's surface veins of pure sulphur became more prevalent. He was hard-pressed for operating capital, and began writing to the major companies, sending them samples of the pure sulfur in his diggings. He conducted countless tours in the area for company experts. They became convinced that something big was under the earth's crust. This year, Sandford sold most of his holdings. Despite Olds' admonition that it may be another promotion, the present sulphur exploration is taking on a "we mean business" look: Half a dozen companies have taken leases in the area, or are drilling test holes. Ten drilling rigs are working in shifts around the clock. Duval Corp's test plant is the dominant structure in the valley. Duval and Sinclair Co. have the major operations, and a few independents have followed their way in beside them. Other major companies with holdings in the area are Phillips, Texaco, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Cal-Tex, and Freeport.

The activity has drawn upward of 200 employees into the area, all working in shifts. One crewman said he had been working 24 hours on and 24 off since he came to the sulfur field. Most of the workmen commute from Pecos or Carlsbad. Most companies have declined comment on what they've learned from test drilling. But Duval reported its 85 test holes in Culberson County indicated recoverable reserves of 13 million tons.

Back in Orla, Olds tells his listeners that over the years $40 million has been spent on sulfur developments at Rustler Springs.

Top Attractions Listed In New Concert Series

A four number series of outstanding quality and public appeal has been put together for the 1968-69 season of the Big Spring Concert Association. Organizational work will be done this month for the annual membership canvass. Tickets will be sold, both on adult and student basis, only for the entire series.

The season opens November 11 with presentation of the popular Broadway show, "Cactus Flower," a long-run hit. Returning, and because of numerous requests, will be the popular San Antonio Symphony, booked for December 16. The Pennsylvania Ballet will be the attraction on February 3, 1969. This booking also was made in accordance with a poll of membership, which put a ballet presentation high on the list.

Ther series concludes March 25 with the Paul Winter Jazz Ensemble, a modern musical group regarded as one of the top groups in progressive jazz.

"No Maw, there ain't been no accident . . . looks like it's rainin' on the back pasture and we wanta see it!"

8-A Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, July 14, 1968

Far West Texas Hit By Storms

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The rains came again to widespread areas of Texas and halted early farming activities, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The director said cool temperatures were general for July, further delaying crops. Dry, hot and open weather is needed in most sections for the maximum development of cotton and to dry fields so harvesting of hay and grain sorghum in South Texas can get moving.

COTTON PUSH

Ranges generally furnish abundant grazing and livestock are in top shape; however, the threat from increasing screw-worm cases poses a real problem to stockmen, he said at mid-week.

Despite the mingling of hot and cool periods and rain, cotton on the South Plains (Lubbock) is making good progress. The need is for more uniform hot and dry weather to push late cotton. Sorghum is making excellent growth and the recent rains have greatly benefited the dryland crop. Hay production was excellent and livestock and range conditions are good.

Rains have been general over North Central Texas and moisture is adequate. Cotton looks good but fleashoppers were active. Some sorghum is being sprayed for midge. Corn earworms are causing damage. Corn has reached the hard dough stage in many counties and prospects look good. The hay crop made good growth with some harvesting under way. Livestock and ranges are in good condition.

FLOODING

Far West Texas, especially the El Paso area, was hard hit by excessive rains. Flooding did considerable damage to crops in the Presidio area. Rains varying from a half-inch to three inches fell over the district, and ranges will benefit greatly. Cotton was making excellent growth and fruiting well. The insect infestation is light to none. Livestock is in good condition and should improve. Labor is critically short.

Showers fell over West Central Texas and some areas which have been missed are dry. Cotton and sorghum are making good growth and hay prospects are the best in years. Grazing is good and livestock were in excellent condition. Some calves are moving to market. The peach harvest is on.

HAYING

Rains left Central Texas with adequate to surplus moisture. Crop progress was good but light infestations of midge were reported in several counties. Seeding disease is damaging peanuts in Erath County. The peach harvest is on and a heavy set of peaches was reported. Livestock conditions are good and haying is the major activity.

Moisture is short in the Winter Garden but surplus in all other parts of deep South Texas. The sorghum harvest is starting slow due to rains and wet fields. Cotton looks good and needs hot, dry weather. Insects are a real problem. Bollworms cause the biggest trouble. The melon harvest was complete in most areas; livestock and ranges were excellent; screwworms are a real problem.

Tractor Driver Age Lowered

Farmers can now employ 14- and-15 year olds to operate tractors and other farm machinery under the terms of an amendment to the "agricultural hazardous occupation" order adopted and announced by Willard Wertz, U.S. Secretary of Labor.

Paul Gross, county farm agent, has been notified of the change in regulations.

The amendment stresses, Gross said, that minors can be hired for these jobs only if they have completed formal training in the safe use of such farm equipment. Gross said that he is advised written and practical tests will be given.

The new amendment became effective on June 6 but the announcement reached Gross' office only in the past week.

The training program will be operated through the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Federal Extension Service, and its cooperative units which in Texas is the Agricultural Extension Service.

Under the amendment, farmers hiring 14- and 15-year old workers to operate tractors and other farm machinery are required to instruct the minors on the safe and proper operation of the specific equipment they will use. They must also check on the youth three times a day—midmorning, noon and mid-afternoon — to see that they are following the proper safety measures.

Gross said that 4-H club members who have completed four years of the 4-H tractor program are eligible for employment.

Cemetery Takes In $1,684 In June

The city cemetery took in a total cash revenue of $1,684.04 during June, according to a monthly report by John R. Evans, caretaker.

Activities included servicing equipment, opening and closing graves, setting markers, watering, trimming and mowing.

Donations Needed To Stage Annual Old Timers Reunion

Jess Slaughter, president of the Howard - Glasscock County Old Settlers Reunion, said Saturday that additional donations must be forthcoming to insure payment for the barbecue dinner which will feature the event here July 28.

This will be the 44th year that pioneers of these two counties have celebrated their residence here with a barbecue dinner on the last Friday in July.

Slaughter said he had received a considerable number of gifts from well-wishers and that these have been helpful in preparing for the big rally. However, he said since it is anticipated food must be prepared for hundreds, more money is needed.

The reunion is staged at the Old Settlers Pavilion in the City Park. Registration for the old timers begins at 8:30 a.m. The dinner will be served to all who have registered at noon.

The Majors and a Minor, a local string band, will provide western and country music. The afternoon will feature a number of special events and a dance that night will close the show.

Donations to the fund can be made to Slaughter whose address is the Howard County Courthouse.

He announced he had received gifts from:

Lanny Hamby and Roger Brown, Jack Lewis Buick and Cadillac, Record Shop, Blums Jewelers, Charles Grocery Store, Coahoma State Bank, Big Spring Savings and Loan, Horace Reagan Insurance, Cosden Oil and Chemical Co., Harvey Fryer, William R. Henry Clark, who lost to Sonny Liston on that nationally-televized heavyweight fight last week, says neither Jimmy Ellis nor Joe Frazier could go over three or four rounds with Liston . . . Sonny insisted following the Clark bout he was holding back, knowing full well he was far ahead on points . . . Clark was not knocked out in a true sense of the word but California fight laws label a TKO as a full-fledged knock-out . . . Big Spring-owned horses won successive races on Independence Day at Ruidoso Downs, Strollingboy copping the tenth and V. Mill the featured 11th . . . The Grantham brothers own Strolling-boy while L. O. Tucker has the papers on V. Mill . . . Nearly 13 million golf clubs, costing $140 million, were sold in this country last year . . . Despite what you might have heard, the last solid gold medals were struck for Olympic Games winners as long ago as 1912 . . . Ex-Big Springer Joe Jaure is listed as a second string right cornerback on this year's University of Texas at El Paso football roster—immediately behind Leon Harden . . . Joe will play at 185 . . . It's definite Big Spring High School will have a swimming coach next semester and the choice will, no doubt, be a popular one . . . Swimming try-outs will start here about Nov. 1 . . . The day after he died (July 6), John Dillard had a horse named Doyle G., finish third in a race at Ruidoso Downs . . . It's estimated that visitors in Houston for the all-star game pumped $1.9 million into the city's economy . . . Charley Brantley, pro at the Muny golf course here, says his business is up about 40 per cent over 1967 since the April 1 start of the fiscal year . . . That means about 1,200 more have played the course than for a comparable period last year . . . Many women are touring the Muny layout regularly . . . Forsan Baptist continued to impress in Church Softball league play here Friday night, beating Berea Baptist, 7-0, in the tussle for second place.

Forsan is now 7-2 in the standings while Berea dropped to 6-4.

While Mac Robinson and Thelbert Camp were dividing time on the hill for Forsan, throwing three-hit ball between them, Gary Grissom slugged a home run to help their cause.

In the second game, Westside Baptist decided Hillcrest Baptist, 11-5, to drive the losers deeper into the cellar.

Jerry Don Paige had five runs batted in for Westside, collecting a triple and a single. Gene Tyra also had two safeties for the winners while Jim Williams came up with two hits for the losers.

Track Standouts Headed For HCJC

Coach Jerry Dudley of Howard County Junior College is shown with three of four Fort Worth athletes he has recruited for the Big Spring school in recent weeks. They are, from the left, Charles Copeland, Fort Worth Kirkpatrick, Phillip Anderson of the same school; and Ronald Chole, Fort Worth Dunbar. Copeland and Anderson were members of the Kirkpatrick National championship sprint relay team, which was clocked in 41.1. Chole is a sprinter and runs on the 440 relay team. Milton Martin of Kirkpatrick, a member of the school's state championship mile relay team, is also headed here, Dudley said. Martin is valedictorian of his 102-member senior class.

Raiders Open Cage Season With Loyola

LUBBOCK—The Texas Tech Red Raiders will open their 1968-69 basketball season against Loyola in Lubbock Saturday night, Nov. 30, and will play home games against Colorado and Arizona before taking to the road.

Among opponents new to the Tech schedule are Houston Baptist College and Angelo State.

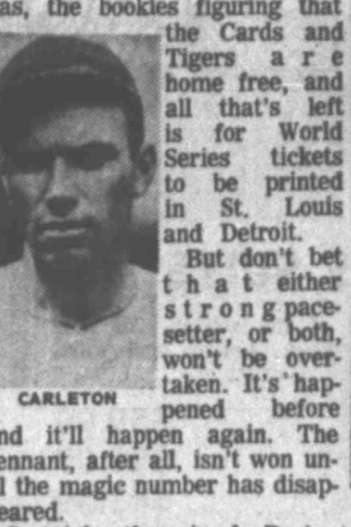

The Raiders will oppose Angelo State after having played two Southwest Conference games, hosting the Rams Jan. 18.

In non-conference road games, the Raiders will go to Norman for a game with Oklahoma University and to New Orleans for a contest with Tulane.

The schedule:
Nov. 30—Loyola of Lubbock.
Dec. 2—Colorado U. of Lubbock.
Dec. 3—Arizona U. of Lubbock.
Dec. 4—Oklahoma U. of Norman.
Dec. 14—Houston Baptist College of Houston.
Dec. 15—Tulane U. of New Orleans.
Dec. 21—Centenary of Lubbock.
Jan. 2—McMurry of Lubbock.
Jan. 3—Missouri of Lubbock.
Jan. 4—Arkansas U. of Fayetteville.
Jan. 5—Arkansas of Lubbock.

Cards, Tigers 'In'? Don't Wager On It

NEW YORK (AP) — They've taken the baseball pennant race odds off the boards in Las Vegas, the bookies figuring that the Cards and Tigers are home free, and all that's left is for World Series tickets to be printed in St. Louis and Detroit.

CARLETON

RABBIT MARANVILLE

Now, there was one out left and the batter was Manager Hartnett. Star reliever Mace Brown threw a called strike. Hartnett fouled off the second pitch. On the next pitch, Hartnett hit a home run to win the game.

4. It's now Aug. 5, 1942, and the Cards are 10 games behind pace-setting Brooklyn. The records are the Dodgers 74-30 and St. Louis 63-39. The Cardinals rallied and on Sept. 11 trailed by only two games as the teams opened a two-game series in Ebbets Field. Mort Cooper defeated Whitlow Wyatt 3-0 in the first game. Max Lanier beat Max Macon 2-1 on Whitey Kurovski's two-run homer in the second.

ko's homer gave Brooklyn an early lead, but Bobby Thomson's two-run home run in the fourth put the Giants in front. New York went on to win 3-1 behind Jim Hearn. Clem Labine blanked the Giants 10-0 in the second game as Gil Hodges, Pafo, Jackie Robinson and Ruben Walker homered for Brooklyn.

In the deciding game, the Dodgers led 4-1 in the last of the ninth and, with Don Newcombe going strong, appeared to have the flag in the bag. New York had only four hits off Newcombe, but Alvin Dark opened the final frame with an infield hit and Don Mueller also singled, sending Dark to third.

HARTUNG IN

After Monte Irvin popped out. Whitey Lockman doubled, scoring Dark and sending Mueller to third. Mueller injured an ankle sliding into the base and was carried off the field on a stretcher. Clint Hartung went in to run for him. The Dodgers then summoned Ralph Branca from the bullpen to replace Newcombe.

Owana's first pitch to Thomson was a called strike. On the next delivery, Thomson drove a home run into the lower left field stands, good for three runs, the game victory and the pennant.

6. It's now Aug. 20, 1964 and the Philadelphia Phillies are leading the NL by 7 1/2 games. Cincinnati is second and St. Louis is fourth, 10 games back. The Phils still lead by 6 1/2 games while St. Louis and Cincinnati are tied for second.

There are less than two weeks remaining in the campaign. However, Philadelphia lost its next seven games and on Sept. 27 slipped to second place behind Cincinnati with the Cardinals leading the Red Sox.

On Sept. 29, with only four days left, St. Louis and Cincinnati were tied for first place with the Phils 1 1/2 games out. The following day, St. Louis handed the Phils their 10th straight defeat, 8-5, while the Reds lost to Pittsburgh 1-0 in 16 innings on Jerry May's squeeze bunt.

Philadelphia had dropped out of it, but going into the last day, St. Louis and Cincinnati were tied. The Phils rose up, though, and overwhelmed the Reds 10-0 behind Jim Bunning while the Cards took the flag by beating the New York Mets 11-5. The final standings showed St. Louis with a 93-69 mark while Cincinnati and Philadelphia were deadlocked for second at 92-70.

Wasteland Converted Into Site For PGA

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Some funny things have happened to E. J. Burke Jr., on the way to golf.

In 1961, non-golfer Burke, son and heir to a San Antonio land developer, had two booming subdivisions going in South San Antonio and a wasteland—populated with wildcats, raccoons, snakes and flora that made it look like a jungle—in between.

Burke decided a golf course would be good business. He did not know a nine iron from a driver at the time, however, and asked around and got the names of three golf course architects.

The chosen builder was J. Press Maxwell, who was selected "mainly because he was willing to say what it would cost in advance."

In 1962 Maxwell came to San Antonio for a look at what was going to be a golf course. He couldn't see the fairways for trees.

Maxwell and Burke took off for a closer look at the course in a four-wheel drive vehicle, which came to grief in a gully while plowing through grass eight feet high.

Maxwell retreated to the high ground and an aerial mapping crew was sent out so he could have an idea of the topography of the would-be course.

SCRAPES AWAY
Burke called in some bulldozers then to scrape away at the trees and brush. The big machines were called off after Maxwell was able to get into the jungle and mark off trees that were to stay, mostly those with 12-inch or thicker trunks.

"I was thinking about what somebody had told me would be a subdivision golf course," says the 48-year-old Burke, a one-time heavyweight wrestler.

"Maxwell told me it wouldn't cost much more to build a championship course—whatever that is."

Burke is still vague about the meaning of "championship," in relation to golf courses.

He shoots in the high 80s on good days, the high 90s on bad, and forgets all the free professional advice he got when it comes down to his favorite subject—money.

"I was playing a round with Miller Barber (the Pecan Valley touring pro) in the early years and I told him on nine I'd bet lunch on the hole if he'd give me a stroke."

Barber was on in two, Burke put two good woods together to a spot 60 yards from the green and reached for a "six iron so I could roll 'er up there."

"Miller had a fit," Burke recalls. "You're supposed to hit a wedge from here," he said. I said, "Not for lunch."

BARBER BOUGHT
Burke and Barber had four, Barber bought lunch.

In 1963 Burke got the idea that he might get the Ladies Professional Golf Association championship for Pecan Valley and went to Augusta, Ga., to talk it over with USGA officials.

He ran into a PGA official "who told me the U.S. Open or the PGA would be a bigger deal than the LPGA championship."

He struck out on the Open, but took heart again in 1964 when the late Warren Cantrell of the PGA told him the Pecan Valley course would be "suitable" for a PGA championship.

"I went to Florida and talked to John D. McArthur, who had an option for another year."

"McArthur," Burke says, "is the fifth richest man in the world."

Robinson Abed After Attack

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Baseball Hall of Fame member Jackie Robinson confirmed at his home today that he recently suffered a "mid heart attack."

Robinson, 49, the first Negro to play major league baseball, suffered the attack while playing golf last month. He was examined by a doctor June 24 and confined to bed rest for a two week period.

Virginia Teens Win In Regatta

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (AP)—A group of Virginia teenagers, who earned the $3,000 to buy their shell and then raised an additional $10,000 to compete in the Royal Henley Regatta, won the Princess Elizabeth Cup Saturday.

The Elizabeth Cup is equivalent to the world championship for schoolboys and the eight representing the J.E.B. Stuart High School of Falls Church, Va., already the national champions of the United States, won under adverse weather conditions by a shrinking six feet from Eton College.

The Americans almost capsize afterwards when they began celebrating their victory before getting ashore and their shell rammed into the booms marking the finish.

Their time was 8 minutes, 17 seconds for the 1-mile, 550-yard flood-swollen course. Weather conditions were atrocious, yet more than 20,000 spectators lined the river banks.

While the Virginia high schoolers triumphed, the Cornell University lightweights were beaten in the Thames Cup competition by the Leander Club of England by four lengths in 8:08.

The New York Collegians, the defending champions and the victors over the Irish Police eight of Dublin in the morning semifinal.

In the final, Cornell drew the right lane and had to row straight into the heavy flood current and also into a strong wind.

Aussie Is Upset

NEWPORT, Wales (AP) — Kristy Pigeon, 17-year-old left-hander from Danville, Calif., upset Mrs. Fay Moore of Australia 6-2, 6-0 Saturday and won the women's title in the Welsh Lawn Tennis Championships.

"The Ladies Shape Up"

IN THE SWIM is pert Mrs. Allen Miller who keeps in condition by helping with the YMCA summer program and directing the evening "Trim and Fit" class.

There's a lot of laughter and a great deal of fun going on these days in the women's exercise room of the YMCA. There's something else, too — the unmistakable sound of soft groans as the ladies learn that the desire to keep fit is one thing, and doing it quite another! The effort, however, is well worth the first sore muscles, as women all over the nation discover new energy and increased vitality in regular programs of exercise.

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION is worth more than a pound of extra weight according to Mrs. John Burgess who includes this vibrator in her program of exercise.

SITTING DOWN on the job is Mrs. Jerald Cox who rests from more strenuous routines by letting the roller machine do a little of the work for her.

IT'S UP, UP AND AWAY for Mrs. Jim Butler, right, as she does her workout on the wall bars. Having someone to talk with makes the routine easier as she chats with Mrs. J. A. Coffey who takes a turn on one of the exercise machines.

ROWING USES MUSCLES that a lady doesn't know she has, according to Mrs. Arnold Marshall who makes daily use of the special equipment at the YMCA.

TWO'S COMPANY when it's time to take off pounds. Mrs. S. M. Anderson, left, keeps trim with the help of the exercycle, while Mrs. Cole Jacobs, one of the "Trim and Fit" instructors, relaxes on the vibrator couch.

PARALLEL BARS are for posing, but Mrs. Larry Stanley is not yet ambitious enough to tackle them. However, as a newcomer to the city, she's pleased to find the exercise room available at the Y.

THOROUGHLY ENJOYING the exercise room are Mrs. W. A. Hunt, left, and Mrs. Leo K. Gee. The women spend time every morning on their exercise routines, making use of the various machines. Here, Mrs. Hunt cycles as Mrs. Gee uses the health walker — which can also be used for running.

Candelight Wedding Held In Webb Chapel

MRS. OWEN LARAY WILLIAMS
Curley's Studio

Miss Shirley Simunovic and Sgt. Owen LaRay Williams pledged their wedding vows at 8 o'clock Friday evening during a candelight ceremony conducted by the Rev. John Darcy in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base.

The double ring service was performed before an altar accented with white floral arrangements. Preceding the ritual, Mrs. Leslie Green, organist, presented a prelude of nuptial selections and accompanied Miss Annette Fitzhugh as she sang "Ave Maria" and "Blessed Be This Day."

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John B. Simunovic, 2003 Morrison, and Sgt. John B. Simunovic of Shreveport, La. Given in marriage by Joe A. Moss, the bride wore a formal gown of bridal satin. The moulded bodice was styled with portrait neckline and long, tapered sleeves. The waist was circled with a self-belt which fastened with a large, flat bow. The slender skirt was gathered at the waist for soft fullness at the sides. Her waist-length, tiered veil of illusion fell from a cluster of organza petals, and she carried a bouquet of white gardenias circled with feathered carnations and showered with satin streamers.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Sue James attended the bride as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Marcy Dement and Miss Marilyn McGuffey. They wore street-length, A-line dresses of green satin, and their headpieces were matching Dior bows, briefly veiled. Each carried a nosegay of white carnations tied with green ribbons.

The bridegroom's brother, Sgt. Curtis M. Williams, and groomsmen were Lester Barrett of Grapevine and Airman 1. C. John Luby, Airman 1. C. Clinton Hall and Sgt. Gary Taylor, all of Webb Air Force Base.

A graduate of Big Spring Senior High School, Miss Simunovic is employed in the office of Joe A. Moss at Cosden Oil and Chemical Company. Sgt. Williams is stationed at Webb AFB and graduated from high school in Garland before joining the Air Force.

RECEPTION

The bride and bridegroom were joined by their parents in receiving guests at a reception in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club.

Mrs. Ronnie Capps presided at the guest register, and members of the house party were Miss Lynn Green, Miss Chris Hargrove, Mrs. Lyn Jordan and Mrs. Tom Moore.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. C. M. Williams, Mrs. Lester Barrett and Miss Vonna Neasbitt, all of Grapevine.

The refreshment table was covered with ruffled white net and caught with clusters of white rose buds and greenery. A crystal and silver punch service was used, and the five-tiered wedding cake was topped with wedding bells.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore a dress with white lace bodice, orange knit skirt and green satin sash. Her accessories were white lizard, and she wore a gardenia corsage from her bouquet. Upon returning the couple will reside at 1706 1/2 Johnson.

Mrs. T. A. Melton Hosts HD Meeting

Mrs. T. A. Melton presided and served as hostess at the Tuesday meeting of the Center Point Home Demonstration Club in her home at 1104 E. 13th. Mrs. W. L. Eggleston directed games. Refreshments were served to 13 from a table laid with a lace cloth over pink and centered with an arrangement of summer flowers. Crystal appointments were used.

The new look in Voile... Milanda Brooke wears a Darling Deb creation in dotted voile that's plain to the hip line then with lace and buttons for a pleasing look. Priced at... $12.00. Ellen Gossett wears a wild print designed by Tootsie. Voile with princess lines and flare at hem for a lovely effect. Priced at $18.00. Both dark Voiles are perfect for now and later. Come see our new remodeled shop and all our new styles.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Guests in the home of MR. and MRS. ALLAN C. BIBBY, 2106 Nolan, will all be gone tomorrow when MR. and MRS. (Lillie Bibby) CHARLES R. LOOBY II and their daughter, Charlotte Marie, of Williston, Conn., leave for home after a two week visit here. Also here until Friday were MR. and MRS. (Nelda Rose) ALVIN BLAGG and son, Alvin Richard, whose home is in Sherman.

MRS. LILLIAN HALL and her grandson, Michael Strickland, of Phoenix, Ariz., have returned home after a visit here with her sister, MRS. J. J. HARDEGREE, and Mr. Hartdegree. The group attended a family gathering at Lake Texahoma on June 27, 28 and 29.

MRS. CLIFTON YATER will leave this week for Houston where she will enplane for Venezuela where she will join her husband. She has been waiting here for her visa to clear. Friends entertained for her with a farewell party Friday night. She will probably be away until December. Mr. Yater is in construction work.

MR. and MRS. DWIGHT PAINTER and their children, David and Tra of Abilene, and her aunt, MRS. FLOYD SEWELL, who has been their guest, visited with Mr. Painter's parents, MR. and MRS. G. F. PAINTER for several days this week and left Thursday. Mrs. Sewell was en route to her home in Visalia, Calif.

The two daughters of MR. and MRS. JIM W. ARRINGTON are vacationing in Winstboro with their grandmother.

I know the chain is broken on the chain letter I received during the week because there was postage due on it.

Good friends ALLEN ROBERTSON and ED CONWELL dropped by for a short visit Thursday which delighted all of us. Robertson is a former Webb Public Information Officer and comes back regularly to visit with his many friends here. He and Conwell have lived in interesting places all over the world it seems. Robertson retired recently as a major. They live in his home town of Westco.

Few couples in the military for such a short time endear themselves to their associates as much as 2ND LT. and MRS. CHARLES HUNDLEY who will leave Webb AFB Tuesday for Randolph Field in San Antonio for a new assignment. Lt. Hundley has been associated with the foreign student program for most of his assignment here, and each group has left with a better understanding of the military, America, Texas, especially Big Spring. Friday his group gathered for an informal evening of visiting following a pot luck supper at the base pavilion. The foreign students, the group associates and a number of civilian friends joined in wishing the popular couple and their month-old son the best of everything in their new assignment. Col. Robert Casey gave a humorous resume of the honor guest's career as a second lieutenant, but casually referred to him as "Col." Hundley. Several spoke short tributes to Lt. Hundley.

MRS. GEORGE HALEY left Friday for Norfolk, Va., where she will make her home with a son, ROBERT HALEY (Capt. USN ret.). Now that he is retired from the Navy, he has launched upon a new career as a teacher and finds it tremendously challenging. Mr. and Mrs. Haley have three children, the eldest is the wife of the Rev. Jack Bartee, minister of music for the Broadway Methodist church in Columbus, Ohio; Robert is in the Navy; Chris is in Duke University.

Call about your visitors or if you are going or have been away to me at 3-2543.

Report Will Be Heard

Mrs. Walter Pachall will give a report on the Texas District Lutheran Women's Missionary League convention at the Aug. 1 picnic for St. Paul Lutheran Parish Workers. The announcement was made at Thursday's meeting.

Mrs. Albert Hohertz and Mrs. Halvard Hansen will be in charge of arrangements for the picnic. Mrs. Moran Oppgaard presided as the group agreed to continue serving coffee and cake monthly at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

The Rev. William Roth led a discussion on "Open Questions - Matters Scripture Neither Commends Nor Forbids." Mrs. August Graumann brought the devotion, "God's Independence Day Message."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. L. G. Sinder and Mrs. Marilyn Gieseking. Guests were Mrs. Ray Cantrell, Mrs. Herman Taylor, Mrs. William Ohlenkamp and Rev. Roth.

Guide to Glamour

Valtai Reeves

With swimming a year-round sport now in the days of heated swimming pools we must protect our hair at all times... when sitting in the sun be sure to wear a hat to protect the hair from drying out. After swimming in chlorine or salt water be sure to rinse your hair out in clear water to guard against dryness. A good trick to keep hair dry is to wrap a chemist around your hairline before putting on a good bathing cap. Finishing arranged on approved credit.

Brewer-White Rites Held Friday Evening

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Melissa White and Spec. 4 Robert Frank Brewer Friday evening in the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Roland White, 701 E. 15th, and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Brewer, 1314 Park.

The Rev. Dan Sanford performed the double ring ceremony as the couple stood before an altar graced with a massive arrangement of white gladioli and pink chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Wayne Salmon, pianist, accompanied James Kinman as he sang "Oh Promise Me" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length two-piece ensemble of white brocade with matching coat. The dress was designed with a scalloped neckline and tapered sleeves. She wore a pillbox encrusted with seed pearls, and a brief veil. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Ellen Rutherford served as maid of honor. She was attired in a pink brocade dress with matching accessories and carried a pink carnations nosegay.

Ronnie Robey was best man, and Brian Peay was an usher.

The couple left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination and will be at home in Killen.

Mrs. Brewer is a senior at Big Spring Senior High School. The bridegroom attended BSHS and is presently stationed at Fort Hood in the Army.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall where Miss Debbie Rutherford presided at the guest register. Others in the house party were Mrs. Ronnie Robey, Mrs. Denise Yoak, Mrs. Judy Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. George Turner and Mrs. R. C. Stocks.

The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth over pink underlay accented with roses at scalloped edges. The bride's bouquet centered the table, which was highlighted by the three-tiered wedding cake topped with a bridal couple. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Make Your Own Storage Space

Need storage and shelf space? Make it yourself with open-end boxes and bright cotton fabrics, suggests the National Cotton Council.

Make boxes any size you want, using four plywood squares screwed together with angle irons.

Before assembling each see-through box, cover all four of its plywood sides with colorful cotton fabrics: perhaps striped cottons on some of the boxes, polka dot fabrics on others. Use a fabric glue and be sure to miter corners neatly.

Now stack the boxes in rows, and fill with books and what-nots.

Club Plans New Member Drive

The executive board of the Airmen's Wives Club met Thursday evening at the John H. Lees Service Club. Plans were outlined for Capt. Robert D. Gobble to speak on Vietnam at the next meeting, July 18. A swim party was set for Aug. 24, to be followed by a picnic, and a membership drive will be launched. All interested persons are asked to call Mrs. David Wallace, 267-2284.

MRS. ROY C. CHALLIS (Curley's Studio)

Couple Recites Vows On Friday Evening

The wedding of Miss Lillian Faye Langston and S. Sgt. Roy C. Challis was held Friday evening in the Webb Air Force Base Chapel. Chaplain Thomas W. Black performed the double ring ceremony before an altar adorned with baskets of white chrysanthemums and white gladioli.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Mae Challis, Bethany, Okla., and the late Mr. Challis, and Mr. and Mrs. Troy Langston of Stanton.

Mike Springer of Lenora was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white organza and Brussels lace, veiled over bridal taffeta. The gown was designed with Empire lines, a Batteau neckline and short, fitted sleeves. Lace accented the princess silhouette and back fullness swept to a chapel-length train. Her bouffant veil of illusion was held by matching organza petals and lace-leaves highlighted by seed pearls and iridescent crystals. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations atop a white Bible.

The groom was attired in a semi-fitted dress of pink crepe with rounded neckline and center front inverted pleat. She wore a pink cabbage rose headpiece accented with pink velvet bow and brief veil, and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations with streamers.

Mike Flansburg of Eakley, Okla., was best man. Ushers were Corky Perry of Tarzan and Jesse Townsend of Idalou.

The couple left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. For traveling, the bride chose a white cotton A-line dress with rounded neckline and scalloped front trim. Her accessories were white and she wore the corsage from her bouquet. The couple will reside at the Southland Apartments, Big Spring.

The bride is a graduate of Flower Grove High School and attended Howard County Junior College. The bridegroom attended Hinton High School in Hinton, Okla., and is serving in the Air Force at Webb Air Force Base.

Couple To Marry In Munday Rites

The Rev. and Mrs. C. Pena of Munday, formerly of Big Spring, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Esther, to Faustino Armendariz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Faustino Armendariz Sr. of Corpus Christi. The couple plans to marry July 27 in the First Baptist Church at Munday, with the Rev. Juan Nix of Abilene as officiant.

Both the bride-elect and the prospective bridegroom graduated from Big Spring Senior High School and are now attending Hardin - Simmons University. She is an elementary education student, and he is a ministerial student. The couple will be at home in Denton.

Reception Held After Initiation

A reception was held in the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn where Miss Sandy Townsend of Idalou presided at the guest register. Others in the house party were Miss Elizabeth Per-

Dick Mitchell, worthy patron of the Laura B. Hart Chapter, No. 1019, Order of the Eastern Star, presented the degrees in a candlelight initiation ceremony Thursday at the Masonic Temple. A reception was held following the meeting in the fellowship hall.

Mrs. Henry D. Brewer, worthy matron, presided and announced that Mr. and Mrs. Steve Baker, grand officers of Texas, will make their official visit at the next meeting, July 25.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with red and white roses. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Mrs. Joe B. Evans presided at the punch service, assisted by Mrs. M. C. Lawrence and Mrs. Clayton Bettle.

Bride-Elect Honored At Gift Party

Miss Norma Johnson, bride-elect of Charles Michaels, was honored with a gift party Thursday evening prior to her wedding Saturday evening. Mrs. Robert W. Greene, 608 Colgate, was hostess.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Charles Arbuckle, Mrs. J. R.

Mrs. O. Hughes Hosts Luncheon

Mrs. O. G. Hughes, 1506 Tucson, was hostess to a luncheon Thursday for the Past Matron's Gavel Club, Laura B. Hart Chapter, No. 1019, Order of the Eastern Star. Mrs. Bill Smelser was cohostess.

The table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of summer flowers.

The hostess presided, and Mrs. Richard Mitchell brought the devotion. Cards were mailed to the sick.

Eight attended. The next meeting will be Aug. 8 in the Masonic Hall.

S. G. Crowells Will Reside In Midland

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Glenn Crowell are residing in Midland temporarily, following their marriage June 29 in the First Methodist Church at Snyder. This fall, the couple will return to Austin where both are senior students at the University of Texas.

The bride is the former Miss Betty Doyle Buchanan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Buchanan of Snyder, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Crowell of Big Spring.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lonnie Voorhies of Abilene, former pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Snyder. Mrs. M. M. O'Rear was organist, and the vocalist was Miss Sharyn Atur who sang "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee" and "Wedding Prayer."

At the altar, a memory candle on an antique stand was flanked with candelabra garlanded with white satin and English ivy.

Mr. Buchanan gave his daughter in marriage. She was attired in a candlelight silk A-line dress with softly rolled collar and trim circling the hemline. Fabric marking the waistline formed a bow at the back. The gown featured Chantilly lace sleeves which matched a mantle veil attached to a crown covered with applied roses and sweeping to form a chapel train.

The bridal bouquet was of gardenias circled with Stephanotis and feathered chrysanthemums.

The bride's sister, Miss Fern Buchanan, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Crowell, of Big Spring, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Ruth Eckert of Mason and Miss Daphne Hauber of Big Spring. Beth Littlefield of Hobbs, N.M., was flower girl. They were identically gowned in dresses of green Alencon lace with Empire waists marked with yellow velvet ribbon, dotted with daisies, which tied with a sash at the back. Their accessories were ivory, and each carried a bouquet of daisies.

Robert Crowell of Houston was ring bearer.

The bridegroom's brother, Bill Crowell of Houston, was best man, and groomsmen were Mickey Ginnings of Denton, Ronnie Detrich of Big Spring and Jerry Vestal. The ushers were Mike Carter, Ramond Mislock of Denton, George Butts of Sweetwater and Ric Armstrong of Iraan.

RECEPTION
The reception was held in the church fellowship hall where members of the house party were Miss Janeen Thompson, Miss Beverly Allen, Austin; Miss Pat Jefferson, Denton; Miss Anita Buchanan and Miss Barbara Buchanan, Miss Jan

Fullerton, Levelland; Miss Phyllis Detrick, Big Spring; and Miss Renee Gladson. The tiered cake was topped with wedding bells.

The bride's table was covered with white satin and net and appointed with crystal and silver. Her bouquet served as the centerpiece. Ivory linen covered the bridegroom's table which was accented with an arrangement of daisies and green candles in gold holders. Appointments were gold and crystal.

Both the bride and bridegroom attended Snyder High School, and she attended Angelo State College and the Sue and Charles School of Beauty. He is employed this summer by the Shell Oil Company in Midland.

Wedding Solemnized Friday In Midland

The wedding of Miss Patricia Ann Smith and Lloyd Patrick Hamilton was solemnized at 6 o'clock Friday evening in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church in Midland.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James R. Smith of Midland and Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd V. Hamilton of Lubbock, formerly of Big Spring.

The altar was graced with baskets of yellow and white gladioli as George L. DeHart, organist, accompanied Jerrel Elliott as he sang "The Wedding Prayer." White tapers in branched candelabra illuminated the wedding scene.

WHITE GOWN

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white formal gown, the Empire style fashioned with portrait neckline. The bodice and short bell sleeves were overlaid with re-embroidered Alencon lace, and matching appliques cascaded down the slender silhouette of the A-line skirt. A squared panel train was attached at the waist. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion fell from a cluster of silk organza rose buds accented with seed pearls, and she carried a cascade of gladioli centered with gardenias.

Miss Donna Cleek of Panhandle was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Leonard Caswell of Albuquerque, N.M., and Mrs. Jerry Irby of Abilene. The bride's sister, Miss Kay Smith, was junior bridesmaid. They wore formal A-line dresses of yellow Alaskine with fitted Empire bodices, portrait necklines and puff sleeves. Watteau panels were attached at the waist. Their shoulder length veils were held by yellow and white gladioli. Cascade bouquets were of yellow and white gladioli.

Greg Ferris of Abilene served as best man, and groomsmen were Steve Foster, Abilene; Mike Hanner, Borger; and Bob Smith. Ushers were Don Smith and Bill Smith, brothers of the bride; Lynn Taylor of Abilene and Warren Gossett of Amherst. The altar tapers were lighted by Vicki Dublin and Sandi Dublin, both of Abilene.

RECEPTION

Miss Cyndee Snyder registered guests at a reception in the church parlor. Members of the house party were Miss Kathy Moore, Miss Glenda Ferris and Miss Mary Lemon, both of Abilene; Miss Mary Anne Kunz, Plainview; Miss Becky Kilpatrick, Denver City; and Miss Cindy McCann, Lometa.

Guests from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Dublin, Abilene; Col. and Mrs. R. J. Fry, San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Kilpatrick, Denver City; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Galloway, Andrews; Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Hamilton, Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Copeland, Chandler; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Heist, El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Ferris, Fort Worth; Mrs. R. T. Bucy, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Copeland, all of Lubbock; and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Gage, Vega.

SCHOOLS

The bride is a graduate of Lee High School in Midland and attended McMurry College. She will continue her education at the University of South Florida in Tampa. Hamilton, a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School, also attended McMurry College and is now a member of the 589th Air Force Band at McDill Air Force Base in Tampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will reside at 3519-B, Bay Ave., Tampa.

Bobby Johnsons Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Johnson, 1803 Settles, are parents of a daughter, Michelle Denise, born at 10 p.m., July 5, at Cowper Clinic and Hospital. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Buster Cautle of Vealmoor, and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cautle Sr. of Big Spring are the great-grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollister Johnson of Cincinnati, Ohio, are the paternal grandparents, and Mrs. Caroline Grisham is a great-grandmother. The infant weighed 8 pounds, 14 ounces.

MRS. LLOYD PATRICK HAMILTON

MRS. SAMUEL KAYE WEAVERLING

Stanton Sanctuary Is Scene Of Ceremony

STANTON (SC) — The First Baptist Church was the setting for the Friday evening wedding of Miss Susan Mae Clardy and Samuel Kaye Weaverling.

The Rev. W. H. Uhlman officiated at the single ring ceremony as the couple exchanged vows before an altar graced with greenery and flanked by candelabra holding cathedral tapers. The couple knelt at an antique gold prayer bench during "The Wedding Prayer."

Mrs. Roy Pickett, organist, accompanied Joe Cruse as he sang "More."

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Derwood Clardy, Stanton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Olga Bole of Loveland, Colo.

BRIDAL GOWN

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white brocade satin designed with an Empire bodice and long sleeves forming petal points over the hands. The white satin train was attached at the shoulders, and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of blue carnations and yellow daisies atop a white Bible.

Miss Melrae Angel was maid of honor, and Miss Bill Bohannon was bridesmaid. They were attired in yellow satin brocade Empire dresses designed with scooped necklines, and carried bouquets of white carnations. They wore yellow satin Dior bows as headpieces.

Airman I.C. Dale Weaverling of Lackland Air Force Base, was best man. Ushers were Donnie Trim and Alton Hill, both of Midland. Brice Berdehoff of Loveland, Colo., was groomsmen, and altar tapers were lighted by the ushers.

WEDDING TRIP

The couple left on a wedding trip to Colorado, and for traveling, the bride chose a yellow two-piece dress with white accessories and the corsage from her bouquet.

The couple will be at home in Cody, Wyo., where the bridegroom is employed by the Dawson Seismograph Company in Midland. Mrs. Weaverling is a graduate of Stanton High School where she was a member of the band. The bridegroom graduated from Loveland High School.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall. Miss Brenda Bruton presided at the guest register, and Miss Sandra Bridge assisted in the house party.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a basket of yellow daisies. The three-tiered cake was topped with a bridal couple, and crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Area Residents Visit, Have Guests

"Listen, doll, they're playing our song."

Just imagine what memories that phrase will conjure up for the "now" generation in years to come. It certainly won't be associated with "moon and spoon." Nothing that corny, of course, but surely it will be remembered as "music to move by."

When "James Green and the Mercenaries" and the 13th Boulevard Medical Institute Band" (a trio) played Friday night, the young people didn't tap a single toe — but they danced in the amphitheatre orchestra pit, looking somewhat like wound up worms. Great fun, I bet. It made me feel old, old, old!

Afforded me a chance for a good chat with the Roy Rogans as Reba kept him company while he kept watch on the lighting, etc. They are almost through with remodeling the house and expect to sigh their sigh of relief in Denver before long. Their recent guests were the Earl Rogans of Stephenville.

Still sighing over a vacation in Mazatlan was MC Bob Lewis, who said that he and wife, Susan, helped newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stevens Jr. enjoy their honeymoon at the Mexican resort. You'll remember Paul as a teacher at College Heights (son of Paul Stevens Sr. of Fort Worth, who is director of the Southern Baptist Radio-TV Commission). Paul Jr. will be working on his masters degree at UT in El Paso.

While Mama and Papa Lewis were in Mexico, little Kevin stayed with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Lewis, in Fort Worth and brother, Brian, stayed here to be spoiled by the other grandparents. The Jim Zacks, Clara and Jim are now recovering in Las Vegas, Nev., and have as their running buddy, Mrs. Harold Talbot.

Oh yes, the Lewises also visited in New Braunfels with former residents, Mr. and Mrs. Art Cloats.

Mrs. Clarence Ransow has returned to Jacksonville, Ill., after visiting her sister, Mrs. J. E. Hardesty. Still in Big Spring, however, is Mrs. J. L. Frankha of Houston who is getting a taste of Western hospitality while visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle Nix of the Gall Route. His daughters, Hoyleene and Robin of Coahoma, are there, too.

There's been a lot of talk and good food over at the Willard Sullivans, too, as their guests were the M. C. Bradshaws and son, Edward, of Mormora, N.J., and W. B. Bradshaw of Texas City. (Both are Tot's brothers.) Willard stayed home to cut the grass, but the rest of the clan went on to see other relatives in New Mexico. The reunion included Mrs. and Mrs. H. J. Irion, the D. L. Irion family, the S. A. Waits, the Al Straws, the R. L. Byrums and Mrs. C. T. Bond.

"Cousin Louie," official greeter at the Juarez Race Track, said Big Spring must have been "left dark" over the recent holiday, cause in counting noses, he could see Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Tom South, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Choate, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Crocker and Mr. and Mrs. Angie Glenn. Some of the bunch had gone down for golfing but got flooded out.

When Allen Robertson (formerly of Webb) was in the other day, we reminisced about the old days with the Little Theatre when it was such fun. I remember when Robbie was elected president, he said, "I'm like the man who was tarred, feathered and ridden out of town on a rail. If it wasn't for the honor of the thing, I'd just as soon walk!"

He's kept in touch with a few of the ones that were with us the time we stayed up all night getting ready for the Easter Pageant. Unforgettable Dewey MacGe, the former Webbite who was the guiding light of the whole thing, and his Mary are in Florida and he will be retiring soon. The former Webb airman, Hugh Butler McCasley, is now a Houston banker, and he and his pretty Barbara still make it back annually to visit such people as Mrs. Rilla Webb and the S. M. Smiths. The former Mary Archer is, of course, now Mrs. Charles Holcomb and they, too, live in Houston. Whatever happened to Wilma Rude-seal?

Mrs. Camille Inkman and daughter, Mrs. Frog Koger were in Lubbock last week and probably got a little misty saying goodbye to the Koger's daughter, Karen (now Mrs. John Passow) as she left to join her husband in Los Angeles. He's joined Continental Airlines.

Another one who is up in the clouds is Mrs. Beulah Bryant who had all her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren here over July 4th. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Hasley, her daughter from Waco, their daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Richardson and children from Lake Jackson, and Mr. and Mrs. Mac Savage

Mrs. Pat Brunton Is Honored With Shower

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. Pat Brunton of Skatook, Okla., who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Camp, was honored with a pink and blue shower recently in the home of Mrs. J. W. Overton.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Mac Robinson, Mrs. Tom Evans and Mrs. A. L. Hawkins.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth edged with lace and centered with a stork.

The honoree was presented a corsage of pink carnations. Nineteen attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Brunton and daughter, Pattie, returned to their home Thursday.

Club Views Flower Art In Fabric

Mrs. J. W. Wood gave a demonstration on making flowers from colored burlap at Wednesday's meeting of the Coahoma Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. D. S.

The club will sponsor the 4-H girls local dress revue before the group enters the county competition, July 25.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of summer flowers.

Ten members and two guests, Mrs. Rob Etheridge and Mrs. Charles Wolfe, attended.

Auxiliary Presents Membership Pins

Two 40-year membership pins were presented at the Friday afternoon meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen at the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. Della C. Hicks and Mrs. Stella Tyson received the pins. Twenty-year pins were given to Mrs. E. E. Musick and Mrs. John Fisher.

S. V. Jordan was elected counselor, and Mrs. T. A. Underhill presided, Mrs. G. C. Ragsdale served as pro tem inner guard.

Refreshments were served to 14 by Mrs. Jack Smith, Mrs. N. R. Ralph and Mrs. W. C. Jones.

Party Honors Miss Hudgins

Miss Sonyia Hudgins was honored Thursday evening with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. J. W. Hughes, 223 Mobile.

Hostesses with Mrs. Hughes were Mrs. E. R. Richardson, Mrs. Joe Schalk and Miss Evelyn Hughes.

The honoree, daughter of A.C. Hughes and Mrs. H. K. Alley, plans to be married July 20 to Sgt. James William Yost in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base.

Miss Hudgins, who was attired in a peacock blue knit sheath, received a corsage of gladiolus in her chosen colors of turquoise and white. The hostesses wore smaller gladiolus corsages.

The refreshment table was covered with an ecru lace cloth over turquoise linen and was centered with wedding bells. Appointments were of crystal and silver.

Bruce Rich Feted At Birthday Party

WESTBROOK (SC) — Bruce Rich was honored with a party in the home of his parents, the C. E. Riches. Attending the affair were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Inglehart, and his great-grandmother, Mrs. M. J. Whirley.

Sunday guests of the J. D. Ingleharts and Mrs. M. J. Whirley were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Whirley and Mike Whirley, all of Big Spring; Mrs. Milton McMorris of Tarzan; and the N. W. Stokes of Stephenville. The Stokes also visited the Gran Moores and Bobby Hamricks in Colorado City.

Martha Oden spent Thursday in Garden City.

Guests in the Drue Cawthron home are Lonnie and Donnie Rountree from Holland.

TFWC Wants Thicket Saved

Mrs. Henry Shaper of San Antonio, president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, in her installation address at the state convention in May, pledged that the preservation of the Big Thicket as a national park or monument would be her special project.

Legislation is now pending in Congress to create a portion of the unique Big Thicket in East Texas as a national park so that all Americans can visit, see and study the wonderful plant, animal, and bird life of this ecologically important wild wonderland.

Mrs. Shaper urges every man, woman and child of Texas to get behind "S4" in Congress to save some of what's left of this fabulous area.

The Big Thicket once comprised millions of acres in 12 counties, but has dwindled down to around 300,000 acres in four counties, and these are going at the rate of 50 or more acres a day. The lumberman's power-saws, bulldozers, "developments," etc., are day by day depleting part of this Texas paradise that should be preserved. It is an area predominantly of hardwood and pine forests; rivers, bayous, creeks, springs, bogs, swamps and seeps; of prairies, hills, and canyons, rocks and sand, with such a diversity of plants, rare molds, mosses, and ferns, and other vegetation that has never been counted and identified.

Also, there are wild animals, and some not so wild; birds; land and water — including the long - lost magnificent Ivory-billed Woodpecker. Five Texas governors have come from this area.

Here are more champion trees than anywhere else in the world, and of the five known insect-eating plants, four are native. Here, too, are innumerable wild orchids and azaleas.

Many biologically, geologically, and historically significant areas of the Big Thicket are already lost forever, and many are now doomed unless S4 is enacted into law soon, according to Mrs. Shaper.

The National Parks Service originally approved 35,000 acres composed of nine units — "The String of Pearls," but a policy has been adopted by all the major conservation societies to increase it to 100,000 acres. This would result in a highly desirable formation of a connected two looped green belt.

The Texas Federation of Women's Clubs will also work during this administration to preserve 100,000 acres of this wonderland.

Church Of Christ Is Setting For Michaels-Johnson Nuptial Rites

Miss Norma Kay Johnson and Sgt. Charles F. Michaels were united in marriage Saturday evening at the Eleventh and Birdwell Church of Christ.

Bob Kiser of Sand Springs, Church of Christ minister, served as officiant, and read the double ring ceremony as the couple stood before an altar graced with twin arrangements of yellow gaidoli.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Chestley Johnson, 2203 Runnels, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Michaels, Port Washington, Wis.

The church a cappella choir sang "Faithful and True" and "The Wedding March."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a formal gown of white, embroidered with an Empire bodice, rounded neckline and long, tapered sleeves. Her veil of Chantilly lace fell from a crown encrusted with seed pearls, and her train was accented with lace. She carried a white and yellow bouquet of roses with yellow streamers.

Miss Marsha Johnson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She chose a yellow crepe dress with yellow organza overlay and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies.

Ray Fredricks of Brookfield, Wis., was best man. Ushers were Dennis Johnson, brother of the bride, and Donald Boling.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Wisconsin, and will be at home temporarily in Tampa, Fla. Later, Mrs. Michaels will return to Big Spring while her husband is on an overseas assignment.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School where she participated in Vocational Office Education as receptionist for George T. Thomas, local attorney. The bridegroom graduated from Port Washington High School in Wisconsin.

RECEPTION
A reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greene, 608 Colgate. Miss Nelda Morris presided at the guest register, and others in the house party were Miss Jacque Sevey and Miss Kathy Shaw.

The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth with yellow underlay and centered with an arrangement of yellow and white roses in a crystal container flanked by yellow tapers in silver holders. The tiered cake was topped with a miniature-bridal couple. The bridegroom's table was highlighted by a silver coffee service on a yellow cloth.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Johnson of Abilene.

MRS. KIRBY DOYLE HORTON

Miss Lane Marries Kirby Doyle Horton

Candlelight wedding vows united in marriage Miss Beverly Jan Lane and Kirby Doyle Horton during a double ring ceremony performed Friday evening at the Birdwell Lane Baptist Church.

Nuptial rites were read by the Rev. Robert Lee as the couple stood before a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and greenery. Twin baskets of gladioli and greenery flanked the altar, and branched candelabra held cathedral tapers. Family pews were marked with satin bows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Lane, 1402 Stanford, and Mr. and Mrs. James R. Horton, 422 Hillside.

The couple knelt on a white satin prie-dieu as Mrs. Nile Cole and Mrs. Charles Grizzard sang "The Wedding Prayer," followed by "Whither Thou Goest," accompanied by Mrs. Robert Lee.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white satin designed with an Empire bodice of lace over satin with long lace sleeves. A lace ruffle accented the high rise of the bodice and sleeves. Her headpiece was of white silk organza roses trimmed with satin and velvet leaves encrusted with seed pearls and roses. She carried a bouquet of feathered chrysanthemums and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Miss Judy Lane, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Miss Gayle Coleman was bridesmaid and Mrs. Mike Schafer and Mrs. Kenny Hamby were bridesmaids. The attendants were attired in floor-length Empire dresses of light pink crepe designed with cerise ribbons at the waist. They wore headpieces of cerise silk organza accented with satin leaves and seed pearls, and carried nosegays of pink pompon chrysanthemums tied with cerise ribbon.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Groomsman were Ronnie Anderson, Lubbock; Bruce Wells and Mike Schafer. Ushers were Kenneth Lane and Danny Lane, both brothers of the bride, and Kenny Hamby.

Wendi Kim Lane was flower girl, and Tony Kent Lane was ring bearer. Altar tapers were lighted by Pam Harper of Baton Rouge, La., and Darla Ernest.

WEDDING TRIP
The couple left on a wedding trip to the Dallas and Fort Worth area. For traveling, the bride chose a pink silk two-piece suit with white crepe blouse and white accessories. She wore an orchid corsage.

The couple will be at home at 106-A East 15th.

Mrs. Horton is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School, where she participated in Vocational Office Education and is employed as bookkeeper at Smith and Coleman Oil Company. The bridegroom graduated from BSHS, where he participated in football and track. He is attending Howard County Junior College and is presently employed at Gibsons.

RECEPTION
A reception was held in the fellowship hall. Those in the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ernest, Mr. and Mrs. James Abbe, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wright, Mrs. Oma McCown and Mrs. Kenneth Lane. Miss Connie Felts presided at the guest register.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Harper, Donald and Pam, Baton Rouge, La.; and Mrs. Pauline Anderson of Lubbock.

REHEARSAL DINNER
A rehearsal dinner was held in honor of the couple Thursday evening at Coker's Restaurant, and parents of the bridegroom served as hosts. The table was laid with a white cloth and centered with a pink pompon chrysanthemum arrangement with greenery. Gifts were presented to the couple's attendants, and thirty-five attended.

Among those were Maj. and Mrs. Carl Wyrick, Capt. and Mrs. John Whitney, 2nd Lt. and Mrs. Frank Hutto, 1st Lt. and Mrs. Harry Hopper, 1st Lt. and Mrs. Steve Reynolds, and 2nd Lt. and Mrs. Ernie Casstevens, who all journeyed to Possum Kingdom for the weekend where they went fishing and sailing.

First Lt. and Mrs. Henry C. Townsend went to Chickasha, Okla., to visit with both of their families.

Going to Dallas and Fort Worth for the weekend were 1st Lt. and Mrs. James W. Jacobs and family. They toured the Federal Aviation Agency.

First Lt. and Mrs. Robert Hall traveled to "Six Flags" over the July 4 weekend.

Journeying to Lake J. B. Thomas were Capt. and Mrs. John King and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Yengst from San Antonio.

Mrs. Joe E. Crenweige and her children traveled to San Antonio last week to visit Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Meurer.

Back from leave in Russellville Ark. are Maj. and Mrs. Gaylon O. Smith and family.

G Flight hosted their student wives to a brunch Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Jack Hallett.

Friday evening 2nd Lt. and Mrs. Ken Francis entertained seven couples in their home. Guests were members of Class 69-H.

Maj. and Mrs. Marilyn E. Gleesing entertained Capt. and Mrs. Terry P. Corrigan for dinner Friday.

The men of Class 69-H hosted the class to a party at the Elks Club on June 28.

Officers' wives are reminded that July 16 is the last date to make reservations for the brunch at 10 a.m., July 18. Bridge will be played at 1 p.m. that afternoon.

Planters Club Views Flower Show Slides

"Planting to Keep America Beautiful" was the title of the 150 narrated color slides shown Tuesday for the Planters Garden Club in the home of Mrs. A. C. Moore, 1907 Main. Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales and Mrs. Herman Taylor were cohostesses.

The slides were of the 49th annual International Flower Show in New York, N. Y. Preparation for this event begins a year in advance, and the films showed the proper forcing of blooms so they would be fresh when the show opened.

Mrs. Paul Guy presided for the business session, and roll call was answered with aids to keep arrangements fresh.

The display arrangement, "Sunshine in the Morning," was prepared by Mrs. J. W. Trantham and was one which permitted dried materials along with fresh flowers. Members graded the arrangement as a method of practicing for the fall flower show which will be held in October under the sponsorship of the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs. A practice workshop will be held in September, prior to the show.

Guests attending were Mrs. Neva C. Richardson, Mrs. Fred Fuller, Mrs. Boone Horn, Mrs. Paery Dally, Mrs. Mark Doty and Mrs. R. W. Sellar.

The August meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Guy at 1305 Tucson. The program will be "For Beauty and Eating—Let's Plan an Herb Garden."

Mrs. V. Permenter Named President

Mrs. Vernon Permenter was elected president at the Friday meeting of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club in the home of Mrs. A. B. Jernigan, 707 E. 18th.

Other officers elected were Mrs. R. I. Findley, vice president; Mrs. J. E. Freeman, secretary and treasurer; and Mrs. Gabe Hammack and Mrs. Connie Washington, social chairman.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of summer flowers. Five attended.

MRS. WARD LESTER BOOTH (Howard's Studio)

Miss Vicki Lynn Hull Weds W. L. Booth

Miss Vicki Lynn Hull and Spec. 4 Ward Lester Booth were married Saturday evening in the College Baptist Church.

The Rev. Byron Orand read the double ring vows before an altar centered with candelabra flanked by white columns holding sunburst arrangements of gladioli, stock, asters and pompons. The couple knelt on a white satin prie-dieu for the wedding prayer, and family pewers were marked by candelabra holding votive candles and greenery.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Buford Hull, Route Two, and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Booth, 1505 Lancaster.

Phillip Hall of Amarillo, uncle of the bride, sang "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "One Hand, One Heart" accompanied by his wife at the organ.

BRIDAL GOWN

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal gown of silk peau de soie designed in traditional style. The high neckline and Empire bodice were formed from re-embroidered Alencon lace over silk illusion, and the tapered sleeves formed petal points over the hands. The chapel train was edged with lace motifs. A cluster of ivory lace petals edged with seed pearls and crystals formed her headpiece, and a bouffant veil of English illusion fell to the shoulders. She carried a cascade of Frenched carnations and a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Miss Dorothy Atchison was maid of honor.

Mrs. Paula Hildreth, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmatron, and Miss Wanda Sandridge, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of peach crepe and carried ivory fans graced with nosegays of peach carnations and matching satin. They wore headpieces of pastel peach feathers.

Ronnie Booth of Mesquite, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Mike Hull, brother of the bride, and Dan Brown. Ushers were Larry Sandridge of Fort Worth, brother of the bride, and Steve Robinson of Mesquite.

Security State Bank Is Opening New Facilities

NEW DRIVE-IN WINDOWS EXPEDITE BANKING
Customers can move through easier and much faster

Security State Bank is opening three new drive-in windows and utilizing other new facilities Monday that will expedite service to customers. This will mark the 12th anniversary of the bank.

The extensive improvement program, including some remodeling and refurbishing of the existing unit, has been completed, Larson Lloyd, president, announced.

While the windows are the most apparent of the enlargement facilities, there is as much below the ground as above. The work room area downstairs has been expanded considerably with a 4,042-foot basement area, the roof of which is the drive-in area for the new drive-ins.

New facia has been installed around the bank's exterior, and all trim has been painted. A new, large sign has been erected, a water tower has been removed to provide more parking area, etc.

"We've invested as much in improvements as the original building cost," said Larson Lloyd, president, "and we've done it to provide our customers with the finest in modern banking services. We feel that the additions and the changes will make it easier, faster and more pleasant to visit the bank."

Some equipment will be moved out of the present work room into the new area. Much of the 1,600 square feet will be used, however, for backup storage space and to handle needs as business continues to grow.

The new underground room is heavily constructed with the floor consisting of one layer of concrete slab, overlaid with sand and another concrete slab and vinyl asbestos tile. The roof is even more heavily constructed, for it supports not only the weight of the drive-in windows but also of the automotive traffic in the drives.

Each of the three new windows is a separate entity accessible by winding vertical staircases to the basement area. The teller never has to step out of her cage to get to the bank because her work area is actually a part of it. The only way she could get directly to the outside is through an emergency escape hatch.

The windows have ducts for air conditioning—cool and warm—which is controlled by the operator for that unit. A lever is pushed forward to extend an enclosed chute to the customer. These are nine inches longer and 4 1/2 inches lower than most conventional windows, increasing the ease and comfort with which a customer may put in his deposit. The chute also is made deeper.

When the lever is pulled back, the chute locks until the teller is ready to return the deposit slip, money bags, or bank book to the customer. The glassed-in area is tinted and is heavy bullet-resistant plate. All three units are custom built and installed in place. The new units, together with the present two drive-in windows, will give up to five working spaces for drive-in customers. These will be operated as traffic warrants.

Part of the expansion has been enlargement of parking space, and the elimination of the short stack-up space for drive-in customers.

Assets Have Multiplied

In a dozen years, the Security State of Big Spring has multiplied its deposits by more than 10 times and its resources by eight and a half times.

When the bank made its first statement of condition, in response to call of condition by the state banking commissioner, it had resources of $1,907,552. The latest statement shows assets of $8,527,006.

The initial call showed $709,741 in deposits; the June 30 call this year reflected $7,790,896.

At the outset, the bank had $198,400 in United States securities; on June 30 the figure was $1,316,912. The capital stock of $125,000 and certified surplus of $125,000 at the beginning had been increased to $275,000 and $275,000. Undivided profits and reserves at the beginning of $47,811 had increased to $186,110.

Supervised Program Provided On West Side

By JEAN FANNIN

Every Monday and Thursday afternoon, Westside youngsters congregate in ABC Park for two splash-filled hours of fun in the water.

On those days city workmen fill the shallow wading pool located in the park, and Mrs. Ernest Bauch, director of the Westside Center, is on hand to supervise the children at play.

POOL FILLED

The pool is filled at 1 p.m. and drained at 3 p.m. Mrs. Bauch divides the children into two groups by ages and each group spends an hour in the pool.

For some 26 years the Westside Center, 1308 W. 5th St., has been serving the community by giving the children 6-12 years of age a place to play, according to Mrs. Bauch, who has been director of the center for the past two years.

The 1930 Hyperion Club began the center in 1942 to keep the children out of the streets, according to Mrs. Hubert Stupp, charter member of the Hyperion group.

"The city moved the building in—I believe it was an old barracks—and paid the caretaker's salary for a time," Mrs. Stupp said.

"We sponsored a story-telling hour and established a small library. There was no place for a library at that time and we paid for books out of club funds to give the children a place to read," she said.

"When the city felt it could no longer pay for a caretaker, several service groups took it over," she said.

SUPPORTED

The center is currently supported by several different organizations. The United Fund pays the salary for a full time director who lives in the center. The Modern Woman's Forum, Beta Sigma Phi and the Protestant Women of Webb AFB Chapel donate to the center.

Each month a different church group sponsors a "birthday party of the month" for the children who have celebrated a birthday. The party is held on

Splash-Filled Fun

Fun in the water is the order of the day every Monday and Thursday afternoons when the ABC Park wading pool is filled by the city and West Side area children have two hours of splash time.

the third Friday of the month and the sponsoring group furnishes a birthday cake and refreshments.

Party sponsors are First Methodist, St. Mary's Episcopal, First Christian, First Presbyterian, St. Paul's Presbyterian, Wesley Methodist, North Birdwell Lane Methodist, and Kentwood Methodist.

The Kiwanis Club sponsors a Christmas party each year and usually has about 100 children on hand. Gifts, refreshments and a visit from Santa Claus highlight the annual affair. The ABC Club helps with activities and buys candy and fruit for the children.

The center is open 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. during the summer. During the winter it is open after school and on weekends only. Books, toys and a television set are available to the children.

United Churchwomen pay for supplies for the center and maintains the television set. They also pay the salary for a part-time director for one week

Crews Haul 884 Tons

The city sanitation crews hauled a total of 884 tons of garbage to the sanitary landfill during June, according to the monthly report of the public works department.

A total of 1,148 tons were covered in the landfill area this month with 264 tons of that being hauled in by the public.

Because of the heavy accumulation of tree limbs and roofing materials after the storms earlier in the month, the old dump ground was opened and much of the public hauling was moved to that area.

There have been over 1,000 vehicles entering this area disposing of tree limbs, roofing material and building products. An estimated 3,000 tons were disposed of in this way.

during the summer, while the regular director is on vacation.

ADJOINS PARK

The center adjoins the ABC Park and children have access to the playground. The city recently installed new playground equipment in the park at the recommendation of the Parks and Recreation Board. City crews maintain the building and the park.

Every Tuesday Mrs. George H. O'Brien holds a Bible school at the center and usually has an attendance of about 20. She tells stories and teaches Bible verses and songs. She meets with the children 3:30-4:15 p.m.

She began the school in June and will continue it through August, Mrs. Bauch said. The children have refreshments after each meeting.

Lots Of Paint Spread Around

General maintenance crews spent a busy month painting and repainting, according to the June report of the public works department.

All downtown parking lanes were repainted, 34 sign posts of various kinds were repaired and painted and 12,500 linear feet of striping was painted on streets this month. There were 16 street name signs repaired and six signs prepared for use.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reader Wants Collectors To Use Care With Cans

To the Editor:

I am not usually one to complain about things of this nature but today I'm going to. This morning I happened to be standing at my kitchen window when the Sanitation Department picked up my trash. The truck started to drive off before the man had emptied one of my cans. He stopped the truck, emptied the can, and in place of walking at least six steps to put the can back in the rack, he just threw it on the ground, nowhere near the rack.

I try to keep the area around the garbage rack as clean as possible and at one time my cans had lids on them. What do you suppose happened to them? Due to the abuse of the garbage collectors, the lids are no more.

The Sanitation Department sets up regulations for the residents to follow concerning garbage disposal. When we don't abide by those rules, we find our cans tagged, and possibly are fined. How are we expected to comply with these rules if the men who pick up our garbage have no respect whatsoever for our property?

I say the Sanitation Department needs to hold a little tighter rein on the men who collect our trash, if they expect so much of the residents of Big Spring.

Sincerely,

MRS. DARRELL POLLOCK

To the Editor:

Well, the old gun bill is discussed and discussed by all the fuff in Washington for the purpose of taxation and registration and by every home in America. Why? Because American people know that guns is the only protection American homes have.

I think every person over the age of 21 years of age should wear a gun. Crime would soon slow down. History has proven this back in the old days of our forefathers. We had some cattle rustling and a few horse thieves but they were always given justice by a rope or so called neck tie party under some live oak tree and not in a courtroom. Law enforcement is just aftermath of a crime or murder, not protection. We have one officer to about every one thousand population in our cities and the county has approximately one officer to every 7,000 population so that is little or no protection.

Protection means defense, shelter and security so it has got to come from the guns of a man's own home and not law enforcement officers.

If you remember in Dallas, Lee Harvey Oswald was handcuffed and chained to a policeman and surrounded by policemen but still murdered in the police station when led out for a telecast exhibition.

Everybody knows this is a Communist move, backed by Communists and rioters, and if American people give up their guns, they might as well give up their homes.

Delinquencies Hit 20 Cases

Twenty cases involving delinquent behavior were officially referred to the department from the law enforcement agencies and other sources during June, according to the monthly report of the Howard County Juvenile Department.

Cases referred included one case of child abuse; five, theft; four, minor in possession; one, house burglary; two, child welfare; two, runaway; two, public affray; one drunk; and two, robbery by assault.

Eight cases were dismissed at the intake level, one was dismissed following investigation and four are pending. Three were placed on active probation, two were released to the state parole officer and one was sent to the Gainesville State School.

During the month four reached adult age and have been removed from active probation, leaving 61 cases on probation with the department.

S. W. Totten, Houston, president of Standard Oil Company of Texas, has been named executive vice chairman of the Texas Oil Information Committee, according to J. C. Johnston, Houston, state chairman of the OIC of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn. Totten joined The California Company, Denver, in 1945 as a geologist. He became vice president and director in 1956, took a similar job with Standard Oil Company of California, Western Operations, Inc., and was named president of Standard Oil Company of Texas, a Division of Chevron Oil Company, in 1966.

Dumpground May Be Closed Again

Unless volume increases considerably, the sanitary landfill will probably not be kept open Sundays, according to a recommendation made by Ernest Lillard, director of public works, in his monthly report.

The landfill is being kept open 3-5 p.m. Sunday afternoons on a trial basis. There were 26 vehicles that visited the landfill the first Sunday it was open; 11, the second; five, the third; and four, the fourth.

"Unless the volume increases considerably the next three or four Sundays, I do not feel there is any great need to maintain people to operate the sanitary landfill for no more use than we are receiving," Lillard said.

Meter Readings

There were 9,733 water meters read during June at an average of 25.4 per man hour, according to the monthly report of the utilities department. Crews made 694 service calls to turn water on or off and read 9,729 gas meters. One meter was set, seven meters changed out, and one meter removed.

A Devotional For The Day

He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. (Psalm 23:3)

PRAYER: How wonderful this is to us, our Father, that Jesus Christ brings us restoration, renewal, and victory! Continue, O Lord, Thy gracious work within us that we may go on to victory over whatever detracts from life in Christ. In the name of the renewing savior. Amen.

Fitting Climax

The Starlite Specials, a week in the city park amphitheatre, has proven to be even more successful in its second season than in the first. On the whole, attendance has been better, despite unsettled weather that cancelled out (or postponed) one program.

This record commends itself toward the continuation and development of this summer series. It might even be continuous basis, but with other spotted evenings during the summer.

This special, the series comes to a close as it began—with a religious sing-song. There may be a disposition by some to say, "well, we went last Sunday evening," but we hope that the event will again prompt hundreds to come to the City Park after their evening church services. With the preliminaries out of the way, and the effort better organized, this evening's singing, intermingled with special programs from several churches, should move off faster and thus present a shorter over-all program. This is something that will do your soul good, something that will do our community good, in bringing together members of the various Christian bodies.

Something To Do Now

There are several reasons for clean-up campaigns, including such things as appearance, safety and health.

We submit that Big Spring would qualify for another drive even at this time of a year under anyone or all of the categories.

Early and late spring rains produced a record weed crop. While the city has been busy mowing grass and weeds from sidewalk and contingent areas, it obviously cannot get over all the city, and it cannot go on to private property except in certain instances.

The vast bulk of the effort needs to be done by individuals — business operators and residents.

Not only do these weeds present an undesirable picture for visitors and those driving through our city, but they undoubtedly contribute to discomfort of many people and offer a health hazard. Hay fever sufferers are having a tremendously rough time this summer, and it would help a lot if townspeople thinned out the vegetation that burdens the air with irritating pollen. Moreover, rank growths of weeds, coupled with cans, bottles and old tires furnish a breeding place for rodents or other creatures. Later, when these dry, they will make excellent tinder for what could be dangerous fires.

Besides these, there is the matter of piles of debris left along the main highways in our city. One such is not two blocks past the Gregg Street overpass, just right to catch the eye of hundreds who come pass every day on their way to HemisFair. A fine advertisement for our city. We ought to do something about all this.

LBJ Holds Threat Of Special Session

WASHINGTON — While the Senate may succeed in blocking confirmation of his appointments to the Supreme Court before the adjournment deadline, President Johnson is still a canny Texas gambler with an ace in the hole. He is letting it be known on Capitol Hill that if a filibuster blocks confirmation of Abe Fortas as Chief Justice and Homer Thornberry as Associate Justice he will call Congress back in special session after the political conventions.

THAT WOULD be an excruciating embarrassment for the Republican bloc led by Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan vowing to stop the nominations. Senators up for re-election would be dragged out of the campaign at the crucial starting line in September.

There is a precedent for recalling Congress which should chill Republican hearts. In the summer of 1948 after he had been renominated to run for a full term, President Harry Truman called Congress back into session with a demand that the Republican majority pass a whole series of measures previously turned down. Truman got the headlines with the charge that Congress had let the people down. With Congress balking a second time this was the springboard for his fall campaign when he confounded the pollsters and the pundits by defeating Thomas E. Dewey.

ALTHOUGH LYNDON Johnson has bowed out he would surely not like to turn the reins of power over to a Republican administration and particularly if the Republican president were Richard Nixon. Besides asking for confirmation of his Supreme Court appointments the President could call for passage of measures such as the gun-licensing bill that Congress is about to turn down. This would give Johnson a dominant role.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield appraises the chances of confirmation before the August 3 deadline at 50-50. He does not underrate the obstructive power of the opposition.

NO ONE questions that a sizable majority would approve Fortas and Thornberry if their names come up for a vote. But Griffin promises a filibuster which in the last-minute jam with Republicans departing for the Miami Beach convention could kill the nominations.

Calm and collected as always, Chief Justice Earl Warren is prepared to serve indefinitely if the Senate doesn't act on the Johnson nominations. Although he gave age as the reason for retiring, his health at 77 is excellent and his faculties appear unimpaired.

Warren's strong feelings about Nixon are irrelevant to the constitutional issues in the controversy. Nevertheless, they cannot be ignored, especially since Nixon has given his approval to the Griffin maneuver.

NO VACANCY will exist until the President accepts Warren's retirement. In the unlikely event that Fortas or Thornberry nominations are blocked and Johnson faces the prospect in January of riding down Pennsylvania Avenue to see a Republican inaugurated as President, he can simply return the Warren letter asking for retirement as a piece of unfinished business.

UNLIKELY, it must be added, because many of Griffin's Republican colleagues, including Minority Leader Everett McKinley Dirksen, believe that whatever the merits of his opposition to a lame-duck appointment it is a losing game politically. Fortas would be the first Jewish Chief Justice as Thurgood Marshall was the first Negro on the court, and this rates high with minority groups.

Billy Graham

What is the meaning of: "And the books were opened" in Revelations 10:12?

J.S.

This introduces one of the most magically solemn events that shall ever occur to a human being. It is a picture of the judgment of God when He is going to open the books which are being kept on our account in Heaven. There will be the book of our memory, in which all things that have ever impressed us are recorded. There will be the book of our conscience, in which all things are estimated according to the character we gave them as good or bad. There will be the book of God's memory, there will be the book of God's conscience, which is the divine stricter standard than our consciences ever did. The great Judgment will be a solemn occasion, before which every man outside of Christ will appear. These are the books of God, that He is keeping of our words, thoughts and deeds. They are going to be revealed in that Day.

FTC Casts Eye Upon Conglomerate Merges

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission last week trained its investigative guns on the mergers of conglomerate companies sweeping through the business structure.

It wants to find out if these combinations of diverse companies are good or bad for the economy and the consumers.

A conglomerate merger is a rather new and increasingly used means of creating a giant corporation out of smaller companies with varied lines of products or services.

HIGHEST LEVEL

The merger movement appears to have reached the highest level in American industrial history," the FTC said.

And there has been no let-up this year. W. T. Grimm & Co., a Chicago consulting firm, reports that in the first six months of this year there were a record 1,703 corporate consolidations, up 29.3 per cent from 1,416 in the 1967 first half.

Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., of

  - Ling-Temco-Vought volume up five times in five years
  - Young people flood labor market, jobless rate rises.

Dallas is a classic example of a giant developed through mergers. Five years ago L-T-V was an aircraft and electronics company with annual sales of $25 million. Last year it had sales of $1.8 billion on expanded interests including meat packing, sporting goods, chemicals, pharmaceuticals, metal products and an airline. This year it acquired a 63 per cent interest in Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., one of the nation's biggest steel producers.

DEFECTS TO WEST

NEW YORK (AP)—Arkady V. Belinkov, a Soviet writer and literary critic, has defected with his wife to the United States.

In a parting blast at the Communist government, Belinkov is quoted as writing June 26 in a letter of resignation to the Union of Writers of the U.S.S.R.: "I never considered myself a true subject of a government composed of liars, tyrants, criminals and stragglers of freedom." He termed the government a "merciless, intolerant, ignorant and all-devouring machine."

Robert H. Knight, an attorney who said he had been retained in Belinkov's behalf by a made a translation of the letter public here Friday.

The defection was disclosed earlier in Washington where State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the couple asked for and were granted American visas by the U.S. Consul in Munich, Germany, last month.

Belinkov, 46, was imprisoned for 13 years on charges of anti-Soviet writings. His wife, 38, worked for the state committee for radio and television. Both are natives of Moscow.

To Your Good Health Myxedema—One Form Of Thyroid Trouble

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I would like information about myxedema as I have had thyroid deficiency since childhood. Can this cause bowel and bladder problems?

Is myxedema the same as inward goiter, or simple goiter?

Usually underactive thyroid is said to be easy to overcome, but in my case I have been unable to tolerate thyroid preparations. Yet all the doctors (and I assure you I have had many) claim I need thyroid badly. I would be grateful for any light on this subject.—M.E.W.

Myxedema, simple goiter, and inward goiter are not the same, although all are conditions related to functioning of the thyroid gland.

The term myxedema is usually applied to a low thyroid state when skin manifestations are prominent—the skin has a thick, dry, scaly appearance and is pale. There is little or no sweating. Hair is coarse, sparse, and lusterless. Eyebrows are thin in the outer third.

Other common symptoms are swelling of the eyelids, extreme fatigue, headache, and aching muscles. The bowel can be affected (constipation) but the kidneys should not be affected.

True, underactive thyroid usually is controlled readily enough by thyroid medication, but, as in so many health problems, there is always the case which, for one reason or another, is more than ordinarily hard to solve.

In your particular case I have two suggestions.

First, there are various types of thyroid medications, synthetic ones that could be tried to determine which does you the most good with the least associated difficulty for you.

Second, another possibility which must be considered is that, as sometimes is the case, underfunctioning of the pituitary gland may be the underlying cause of the thyroid gland not being as active as it should.

This condition requires a battery of tests, and also gives some signs of its presence by other symptoms—faulty growth and menstrual disorders. Where this is the real cause of the myxedema, treatment of the pituitary, rather than only the thyroid gland, obviously is the way to attack the trouble successfully.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have read about experiments attempting to increase life expectancy by lowering body temperature. Do you have any knowledge of this?—W.D.

Only what I've read. It's an interesting theory, but let's wait until there has been a great deal more study before trying to form any opinions on the theory.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am in my fourth month of pregnancy and for five weeks have been taking vitamin capsules. Could this cause my baby to be mentally retarded? I have not been to a doctor yet.—H.B.S.

No, vitamins won't harm your baby—but I've preached and preached on the wisdom of going to your doctor as soon as you know you are pregnant. It avoids complications, often makes delivery easier, and costs no more than waiting until the last moment.

Usually prenatal care and delivery are a package deal with the doctor unless complications require special tests and treatment.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is a peri-rectal abscess? What causes it? How serious is it?—J.K.

An abscess adjacent to the rectum. Causes are a fissure, or infection in the rectal canal, cryptitis being one form. Pain and toxicity from the infection are severe. Treatment is by surgical drainage plus antibiotics.

Of all the problems that pediatricians encounter in children, pinworm is the commonest. To learn the newest methods of treatment for this pest, write in care of The Herald for the booklet, "The Commonest Pest, Pinworm," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Another Independence Day

There's another independence day being celebrated today. The United States may not care much about it, but millions of Frenchmen do.

If you read Art Buchwald's ironic piece the other day about the argument between a U.S. citizen and a Frenchman, over their demonstrations, you noted that there was a good deal of boasting on each side. While the American said we fired the cities, the Frenchman said they had barricades in the streets. And he said the gendarmes were pretty handy with the truncheons and the guns.

THE FRENCH, it seems, have considerable experience in overthrowing authority, when the breaking point comes.

What they're observing today is the anniversary of Bastille Day, one of the historic dates in mankind's breakthrough for individual freedom.

The Bastille was a dreaded fortress-prison-dunageous sort of thing, and the pentacles who ran the country had no compunctions about tossing into the depths thereof just about anybody who disagreed with them. A fellow might even offend his mistress, and if she had access to high authority, her offender was clapped into the nether regions of the Bastille. I suppose spitting on the sidewalk may have brought the same incarceration.

ANYWAY, the guys who got lost in the recesses of the ignoble place stayed there for years, 10, 20, 30, and more, without ever having been hailed before a justice, without any formal charge being placed, without so much as one phone call if you want to add a flight of fancy).

The French peasants began to get enough of this sort of thing.

MORE THAN THAT, they began to get hungry, and even the most placid of housewives started a demonstration that turned out to be riots. Haven't checked history to the precise point on this, but when the poor people were clamoring for bread, about the best the monarch of the time could offer was "let 'em eat cake."

This was enough to touch off the trigger temperament of the lowly Frenchmen, who had had about all human resistance could stand.

CAME THE revolution, and the first target was the hated Bastille, the very symbol of despotic power. There was a mighty scrap for control of the fortress, but finally some of the royal guardsmen relented enough to let the peasants pass the courtyard. From then on, it was the people's day.

This all happened on July 14, 1789 — quite a number of years after we on this side of the ocean held our Boston Tea Party and sent Paul Revere out on his horseback ride. We were mad about the taxes (what, even then?) but the French people were striving for some human rights.

FRANCE, they tell me, has never been the same since — or at least it wasn't until De Gaulle came along. And even le Grande Charles isn't saying "let 'em eat cake. He's saying, 'let's 'em up more gold. Vive les French!'

French Groups Have Different Ideas

PARIS — The students in France may be revolting against their parents and the system, but in one respect they're really chips off the old blocks. When it comes to politics the sons are as fragmented as their French fathers ever were.

This is how it was explained to me by a French student who was selling one of the dozens of underground newspapers that have sprung up since the events of last spring.

"THE MOVEMENT of the 22nd of March started the ball rolling in Nanterre under the leadership of Daniel Cohn-Bendit. It was a true democratic movement in that it was in opposition to every structure, including itself. Because of this, it was able to unite various Trotskyite groups, the anarchists, the Che Guevarists and the pro-Mao revolutionaries into taking action. The action consisted of getting the masses to take to the streets. Once the masses were in the streets, the government would be forced to take counteraction, which would give the students a chance to take further action, which would make the government counteract again. You're following me?"

"BUT ONCE the action had been taken the students started to disagree on the goals of the revolution. For example, the Federation of Student Revolutionaries, which had broken off from the Union of Communist Students because it considered the Communist Party a traitor to the cause of communism, came out for a 'permanent revolution.' They were not content with student reforms, but wanted to unite with the workers in a class struggle.

"THIS INFURIATED the Young Communist Revolutionaries, who also are opposed to the French Communist Party. Their hero is Che Guevara because he started a revolutionary struggle even though the time was unfavorable. Are you still following me?"

"I'm at the barricades."

"PLEASE DO NOT be confused between the Young Communist Revolutionaries and the Union of Young Communists, Marxist and Leninist, who are pro-Maoist and still defend Stalin. The Union of Young Communists did not man the barricades, but instead contacted the workers in hope of overthrowing the pro-Soviet French Communist Party. They were in fact more interested in destroying the present French Communist Party than in destroying the French government. The Union of Young Communists overplayed their hand at the Renault factory when they told the workers 'to take the flame of revolution from the students' fragile hands and carry it in their strong work-hardened fists."

"I think I'm losing you," I said.

"THEN THERE was the Union of National Students which was composed of students from different political complexes who united under its red banner. The Union of National Students took over the leadership of the anarchists and left-wing movements and provided the manpower for the revolution, while the Trotskyites, Stalinists and Maoists fought amongst themselves."

"Things were simpler at Columbia University," I had to admit.

"I haven't told you about the right-wing student group called the Occident. They're the Fascists who attacked the Union of National Students which caused the fight which gave the police an excuse to occupy the Sorbonne."

"Things were even simpler at Berkeley. By the way, what ever happened to Daniel Cohn-Bendit, the fellow who started it all?"

"I DON'T know. Someone said he's in Switzerland going to summer school."

David Lawrence Peace Talks And The Elections

WASHINGTON — What would be the advantage to the North Vietnamese to hold off until after the November elections in the United States before making peace? Is there any chance of an agreement in Paris prior to the selection of a new president here four months hence?

THESE QUESTIONS are producing considerable speculation behind the scenes, because the answers could mean that the conferees in Paris would find themselves either involved in a protracted negotiation or suddenly confronted with a peace plan which could conceivably precipitate an immediate agreement.

Those who are familiar with what is going on diplomatically say that the North Vietnamese have completely misconstrued the significance of the presidential campaign in the United States and do not understand that the incumbent administration could not possibly accept a formula which could be interpreted by millions of American voters as a surrender. Similarly, the North Vietnamese are mistaken if they assume that a victory for either the Republican or the Democratic presidential nominee would mean a willingness to accept a "peace at any price" arrangement.

BASICALLY, all these matters are directly related to the capability of the North Vietnamese to continue the military effort in the South. The strategy worked out in Hanoi was to find a way to come to the conference table — maybe catch the Americans in a mood to make substantial concessions — and at the same time secure some kind of de-escalation of American ground fighting as well as bombing. This was absolutely necessary in order to afford the North Vietnamese an opportunity to get military supplies to their forces, as unquestionably they had been badly hurt in the last several months.

THE TRUTH is there are some signs of a split in Hanoi. The number of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed since the first of the year is in excess of 115,000. The military men have not wanted to hit the cities and risk the heavy casualties, but have advocated instead the protracted guerrilla-type war which they believe would ultimately bring a military victory. The political people, on the other hand, have pushed the attacks on the cities as a means of creating an appearance of strength from which to negotiate, thus providing a more favorable climate for talks.

ANOTHER QUESTION that is beginning to be asked here is just what kind of agreement or treaty will be signed, and by whom. Congress, by joint resolution, might be required to approve any agreement made. Likewise, it seems probable that the six other countries which are allied with the United States — South Vietnam, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, South Korea and Thailand — would request an opportunity to sign the document.

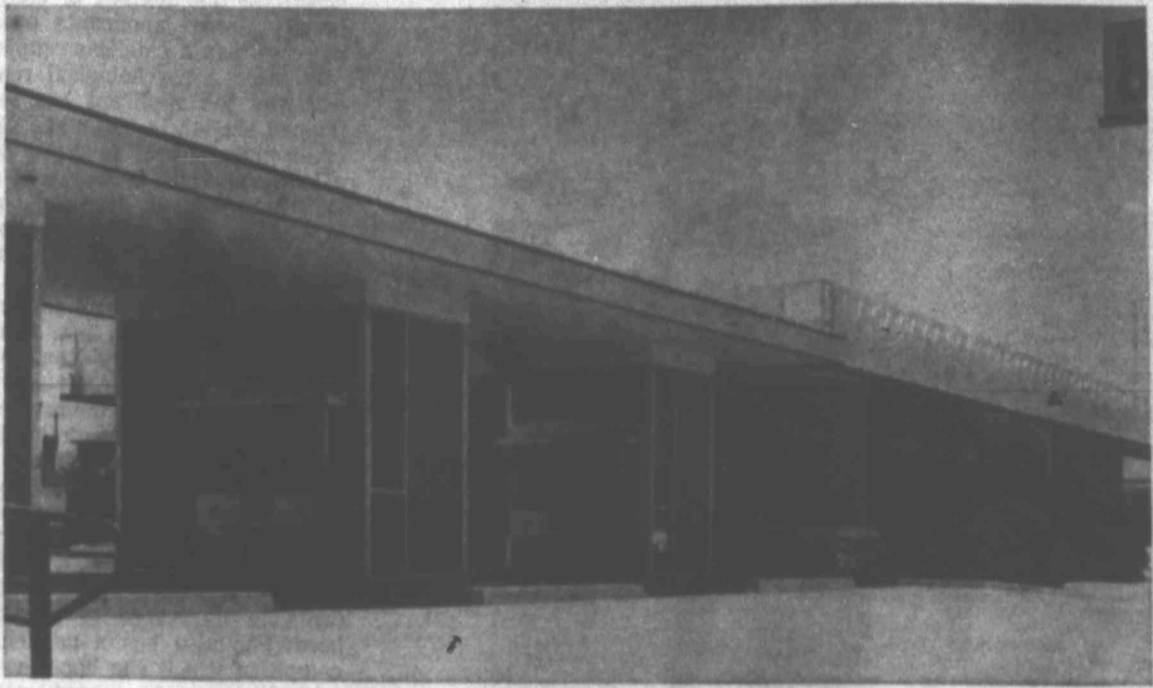

IT IS DOUBTFUL that any kind of document other than a simple ceasefire could be drawn up and approved by the United States and its allies before the November election. The likelihood, therefore, is that whichever way the fortunes of war may go between now and Nov. 3, there will be little inclination to make a final agreement until after a presidential election has been chosen in this country.

TRADITION OF TWO-PARENT FAMILY DIES HARD

Unmarried Women Are Given A Chance At Adoption

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In another time, in another day, the unmarried woman, decorously dressed and fiddling nervously with the gloves in her lap, would have been acting out an all too familiar, heart-breaking drama as she discussed her situation with an adoption agency caseworker.

But today, in many parts of the country, and with increasing frequency, the scene means something entirely different. Instead of seeking to give up a child, the unmarried woman was asking advice on how to adopt one.

NO CHANGE

Three years ago this child-hungry, unwed woman would have had no chance at all. This year her chances are still slimmer than a married couple's and with many more strings. But at least she has a chance.

The walls of resistance to the single person as an adoptive mother or father are beginning to fall.

Some people don't like it. The tradition of the two-parent family dies hard. Many experts still eye the single adoptive parent with suspicion and trepidation. Yet it is happening.

It is happening because of the need to find homes for children with emotional, physical or racial handicaps, or the kids too big to be cute. For them, one parent is better than none.

It is happening especially in the big cities. There the leftovers languish in institutions or shuffle from foster home to foster home until eventually they are shunted onto the streets. Haunted by their helplessness, social workers now are turning to those until now ignored, the paternally unfulfilled singletons.

Most of the single parents are women and probably will continue to be. But a piano teacher, Tony Piazza, Portland, Ore., 41, has adopted two young sons, one of Italian-Spanish extraction and the other of Spanish-Mexican-Indian descent. A man in New York and one in Los Angeles are known to be adoptive fathers.

All in all there are less than 200 single parent adoptions, a minuscule few compared to the more than a million children awaiting adoption. But adoption officials hope that as more unmarrieds learn they are now eligible to adopt children the numbers of unclaimed kids will dwindle.

REGULATED

Adoptions are "not" controlled by laws but are regulated by the agency policies in each community. A pioneer in changing these regulations is Walter A. Heath, director of the nation's largest adoption agency, the Los Angeles County Bureau of Adoption. Concerned by a rising illegitimacy rate and the rising number of hard-to-place youngsters, he re-examined the prospect of the unmarried as a parent.

As a result, the California adoption rules were revised in January, 1965, to allow a single person to adopt a child "when a two-parent family has not been found because of a child's special needs."

By the following Christmas, a 4-year-old Negro boy waited for Santa Claus to arrive surrounded by the first family he had ever known, a widowed mother and a new sister.

Shortly afterward still another widow became the adoptive mother of a Mexican-American. Then a spinster who had reared a niece to adulthood became the legal mother of an 18-month-old Negro girl.

In the face of these examples, the Child Welfare League of America, which sets standards for member agencies, made a study and announced last July it approved of the single parent if all efforts to find a two-parent family had failed.

SUPPLY

The supply of normal white infants still cannot fill the demand from childless white couples. But, ironically, those youngsters most in need of double doses of tender loving care, those with special problems, have few takers.

The way blonde, 3-year-old Patti Elaine, bounces around it is not easy to notice that she is blind. Fortunately, that fierce desire to exercise her independence is understood by her mother of just a few months, Norma Claypool for she herself is blind.

A spinster teacher of visually limited children in Pittsburgh, Pa., Miss Claypool's path crossed Patti Elaine's only because she had been asked for professional advice by some who thought the little girl behind her development, must be retarded. Adopting the child, or any child, had never entered her mind.

Intrigued by Patti's response to blocks with bells in them, Miss Claypool took her home for a few weeks to teach her some skill, experienced the joy of an intellectually awakening child, and reluctantly returned her to the institution. Some time later she returned to visit Patti.

'HI'

"I laid my hand on her gently and said 'Hi' and she broke away from her nurse and fell into my arms," Miss Claypool recalled recently. "I said to myself, 'This is my Patti! She has chosen me for her mother. She is mine.'" The adoption came soon afterwards.

From all appearances blonde, blue-eyed Clayton Cullum, 22 months and full of mischief, is the premium adoption reserved for ideal American couples—that is, normal, white and cuddly. But Clay has a heart defect. Doctors say he will require surgery to correct the main aorta when he is about 8 years old. His new mother is Joyce Cullum, a California divorcee with 16-year-old twin girl and boy. "Couples adopting their first child always want a perfect one. But he isn't my first," she says.

Mrs. Cullum is a Los Angeles County third grade teacher who once taught emotionally disturbed children.

Not surprisingly, several of the single women approved as adoptive mothers have had special training in the social services or in dealing with children.

Dr. Mary B. Lane, 56, a childless widow now the mother of a 3-year-old son and a 9-month-old daughter, is professor of education at San Francisco State College. Wanda Metterman, who became New York City's first adoptive unwed mother, is a case work supervisor in Brooklyn for the New York Social Services.

STEADY

Professional women have substantially larger incomes than others, but salary is not a primary consideration in a single-parent adoption. Financially, she must have a steady income and enough for a few emergencies.

Many singletons will be turned down, for caseworkers scrutinize the motives of child-hungry unwed applicants even more so than a childless couple.

Is there a psychological reason why the applicant has remained single? Is he or she socially maladjusted? Is she or he a lonely neurotic in search of a substitute for a husband or wife? Does the applicant realize there are many pains of parenthood as well as pleasures?

"We get to know them as people, their outlook on life, their capacity to be parents. You'd be surprised how much they unwittingly reveal about themselves in talking to us at length," said Mae Nealy director of the Adoption Service for New York City. Though New York is comparatively new in the single adoptive business, Miss Nealy already has guided half a dozen applicants to the verge of parenthood. She also has a publicity campaign which she hopes will attract many more unwed women.

"Nearly all you need is love," say the posters.

DAY CARE

In the case of the single mother candidate, she also needs a good day care program. Highly desirable are a grandmother, aunt or sister—what social workers call an extended family—to supervise the youngster while the adoptive mother works.

It is also an advantage, in the case of an adoptive mother, for her to have a father, an uncle or brother-in-law—some responsible male close to the family—to create a father image for the adopted child.

In any event, the two-parent concept seems anachronistic to Dr. Ethel Alpenfels, an anthropologist at New York University and unmarried.

"Father images come in many ways in our culture, men teachers, athletes," she says. "We are moving away from the person-to-person family. We're drawn out of our homes to our churches, our schools or organizations, our job. This is not 1890. We are mobile families growing up in a world of changes."

"I think the real key is that in the early years the child must have the love and warmth which gives him a sense of personal identity. A single woman can give the child that love."

Psychologist Dr. Albert Ellis says it is "quite possible that a singleton could make a good mother but not a good wife."

NO LAW

Adds Dr. Ellis: "There is no law which says that just because you are a natural parent you are a good one. All of us differ enormously in our willingness to care for children and our capacities to do so. A lot of children would do very well without either one of the parents they draw in life."

Some critics oppose the single adoptive parent on the simple grounds that it seems unnatural for one woman to want to mother the youngsters of another.

That was how the steady beau of Marilyn Karnes, a divorcee, looked at it when she brought infant Jonah home from a Florida hospital three years ago. Before disappearing from her social calendar, her beau told her, "You're some kind of crackpot."

An attractive and successful fashion director in New York, Mrs. Karnes has a 13-year-old son, Michael, who enthusiastically endorsed the idea of an adopted brother.

Though Jonah is a normal, healthy white child, the premium catch for adoptive parents, Mrs. Karnes was able to make him legally her own because she was distantly related to his mother. Relationship is a technicality by which some single adoptive parents are able to circumvent the two-parent tradition.

STRONG

Mrs. Karnes would like to marry again if she ever finds a man strong enough not to feel threatened by her career or her children.

"But these men are rare, and I doubt if I will." Neither Wanda Metterman of New York, nor Frances Champion in Los Angeles, nor Audrey Oliver of Indianapolis, nor Glenda Megan of Washington, D.C., rules out marriage. But there is always that big IF.

"He would have to feel the same way I do about the baby," as Miss Champion put it. Otherwise, these singles will keep right on trying to do the best jobs they can in their pioneering roles as adoptive one-parent families.

Has It Ever Been Wetter?

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer

Has there ever been a wetter first six months in Texas than when Noah went to sea and even West Texas got half an inch?

Better not laugh at that guy next door building a wooden ship in his back yard. Introduce yourself. This may be the wettest ever.

BETTER

In a state noted for droughts so bad parents pushed their kids outside to gaze wonderingly at dew, there are toddlers today who think the sun is a better story than The Three Bears.

Consider this statistic from Robert Orton, Austin, the U. S. Weather Bureau's climatologist for Texas: Every major reporting station for the bureau recorded above average rainfall through May.

Many stations reported better than 150 per cent of their average.

And this does not include June, which has to be one of the soggiest ever. Those figures are not yet available.

"Anything over 125 per cent and you're getting to a pretty wet year," Orton said. He also said it was most unusual that not a single major reporting station reported average or below average rainfall.

Here are Orton's figures for the major reporting stations, through May: Abilene 146 per cent, Amarillo 167, Austin 156, Beaumont - Port Arthur 191, Brownsville 156, Corpus Christi 158, Dallas 104, Del Rio 103, El Paso 132, Fort Worth 133, Galveston 127, Houston 143, Lubbock 113, Midland 229, San Angelo 125, San Antonio 145, Victoria 157, Waco 113, and Wichita Falls 128.

NO WAY

There is no way to compute the average rainfall for the entire state, Orton said. It simply is too big. The best that can be done is to compare averages at certain points, like the major reporting stations, with previous recordings at those same points.

Orton suggested that 1941 may have been the wettest year in Texas in this century. The average for all the reporting stations for the entire year was 150 per cent of normal.

Charros Perform For Fun

By STRATFORD C. JONES
Associated Press Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Not all Mexican executives who don their tailored suits to do formal dress take a tuxedo out of the closet.

There are many who reach for their cowboy clothes. These men are called charros, and their charro suit is what amounts to a cowboy's tuxedo—neatly tailored to form-fit, elegantly studded with silver and replete with braid.

REPertoire

Although these men are more likely to be punching telephone buttons than cattle during their workday, they have a repertoire of feats of skill which they are called upon to perform for nothing.

Their charro associations put on exhibitions weekly throughout the country, and they perform for the sheer joy of risking their fingers and necks in dangerous roping and riding feats.

The National Charro Association in Mexico City has 491 members, all born or raised to the tradition. Throughout the republic there are 329 such associations, with an estimated 20,000 members.

These men are of the upper class and chances are that few have ever worked as ranchhands. Yet the "suertes" or feats that they do are as tough as those any member of the Rodeo Cowboy's Association would be called upon to perform.

Perhaps the most commonly recognized suerie is "la suerie de colear," which means the task of tailing. The mounted charro, without leaning out of his saddle, must grab the tail of a bull he's chasing and twist it to force him to the ground.

They also engage in bulldogging, or leaving the saddle at full gallop to wrestle a bull to the ground. Riding unbroken bulls and horses and roping from horseback are also in their bag of tricks.

Sometimes they come out of it minus fingers, as U.S. cowboys do when they "stack dailies"— build loops—on their saddlehorn instead of tying the rope hard and fast to the catch the horn before throwing. As the roped animal puts distance between himself and the saddlehorse the rope sings out and the dailies close, biting off any fingers that are left inside them.

The charros bear these injuries with pride, whereas to the modern U.S. cowboy they're most often the mark of a careless roper.

Although the charros can perform all these feats, as well as standing rope tricks of the Roy Rogers variety, the image they project is the most important aspect of their avocation.

They are keeping alive the concept of the Mexican as the "hacendado," or great rancher-landowner that went out with the expiration of the days of colonization and was dealt his death blow by the revolution of 1910.

CHARRO

The charro wears a sombrero, wide and hard with its curled-up brim decorated with silver or gold braid, a short jacket, or chaleco, and pants, or pantalones, both black with silver buttons.

For riding he has a different costume, much tougher, often including leather pants or chaps. Different regions of Mexico have spawned variations of the costume.

TIME FOR DECISION

Unity Conference Opens In Sweden

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — With the tide toward Christian unity running stronger than ever, the World Council of Churches moves toward a time of decision on how to channel that momentum to serve Christ's will for mankind.

"Behold, I make all things new," he promised, in Rev. 21:5. And that keynote, with its revolutionary implications, is the theme of the council's general assembly in Uppsala, Sweden, this summer, the first in seven years.

WIDELY

With its ranks expanded and with Roman Catholic delegate-observers taking part for the first time, the global interdenominational parliament will be the most widely representative gathering of Christians in history.

It runs July 4-20. Out of it, says the council's general secretary, the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, may come an inclusive "program for peace"—between the churches, the races, the nations, the rich and the poor.

It comes against a backdrop of intensifying world pressures to bridge those corrosive gaps—and of mounting religious intervention in the effort.

The assembly marks the 20th anniversary of the council, now embracing 232 Protestant, Eastern Orthodox, Anglican and national Catholic denominations with a total of more than 350 million members in 80 countries.

"It is in a unique position to help the world become a community," Dr. Blake said. "This is not rainbow idealism. Technological developments demand it."

Moreover, he added, the ecumenical movement has become "truly pan-Christian," extending beyond its organizational bounds.

TREND

After having fired up the trend, the international cooperative body faced some challenging questions on how to handle it, on how to embrace its new elements or even keep abreast of it and give it coherence.

"We have entered upon a new period in the history of the ecumenical movement," says Archbishop Iakovos, head of Greek Orthodoxy in the Americas and a council president. "We stand at the threshold of a new era."

In the seven years since the last assembly, Roman Catholicism, through its Second Vatican Council, plunged strongly into the movement, after previously shunning it, and began conversations and work with other churches.

Merger negotiations proliferated around the earth. Regional church alliances developed on every continent, and an uncharted grassroots or "rebel ecumenism" arose in many communities, criss-crossing denominational lines.

But the council also was confronted with the pressing issues, including the relationship of Roman Catholicism to it, and the extent to which the council itself might take on unified churchly functions from which it now is constitutionally barred.

OR ELSE

"Either we invest the councils with power and place in the church, or else we admit the failure of the conciliar approach," says the Rev. Stephen C. Rose, a Chicago Presbyterian, urging that the council be empowered to take over all foreign missions work of its member denominations.

It already coordinates separate church mission operations, along with its extensive other activities in joint theological studies, publishing, relief-aid projects and in providing a collective Christian voice on world affairs.

But it has no authority except as sanctioned by member denominations, and it can't carry out strictly ecclesiastical functions, such as ordaining ministers or setting up congregations and mission work.

JOINT

Although it has set up a joint "working group" with Roman Catholicism, and 15 delegates-observers of that church for the first time will have a voice but no vote in the assembly, the council has yet to work out a basis for Rome's full membership, because of its predominant size.

Dr. Blake has said that "from one point of view there is hardly anything" that the council does "that could not be done better if the Roman Catholic Church were fully and intimately involved in it."

He said the same applies to the other two large churches still not members—the Southern Baptist Convention and the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, both in the United States. All other large denominations belong.

But many smaller evangelical groups do not, although the council has stepped up overtures to them, as their interest in cooperation grows. Some of them object to the churches speaking out together on public issues.

But this is a firmly upheld role of the council, in its effort to apply Christian principles to current issues. Unbound to East or West, it prods both. It condemned the 1956 Russian intervention in Hungary and also has condemned the American intervention in Vietnam.

REPRESENTED

Churches from both spheres are represented in the council. From indications of a council-sponsored 1966 Conference on Church and Society, it seemed likely the assembly would view the world's most explosive division as between the "have" and "have-not" nations rather than between East and West.

Once full-scale intercommunion and reciprocal recognition of clergy and memberships is achieved, some churchmen think the council might become the world framework for a united church, without centralized control but encompassing varied administrative systems, customs and theological emphases.

Some church leaders surmise that the coming assembly may be the last for the council, and that rapid ecumenical developments will replace it with a wider forum of churches, embracing Roman Catholicism and smaller evangelical bodies not now members.

The next assembly, says the Rev. Albert van den Heuvel, of Geneva, the council's communications director, should be a "council of the whole church."

Altogether, the assembly will bring together about 2,000 churchmen, including voting delegates, plus advisors, consultants, fraternal observers and youth delegates.

For the first time, Eastern Orthodox churches will hold the biggest bloc of seats—128 of them—inasmuch as all 14 major branches of Orthodoxy now belong to the council, originally dominated by European and American Protestants.

Who
roof on ...
(when everyone is raising it?)

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ...
... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

With all the theological ferment these days there is more unrest in our churches than we have known in many years. Issues divide the congregations and sometimes the whole debate seems endless. It would be easier to stay home in bed on Sunday mornings.

But through it all, the houses of God stand, because regular churchgoers know that men are inconstant, that they are subject to numerous temptations and influences. They also know that God is omnipotent, is omniscient. His care is constant. His creative spirit continually sustains the earth, and His love is always sensitive to the plight of man.

It is not easy to be a Christian; it never was. Houses of God stand because there are those who are willing to be channels of God's care—who assume responsibility for church schools, missions, social justice, and—oh yes—that roof.

'Carpetbaggers' To Return To Drive-In

Hollywood has never been depicted in so big, so colorful and so glamorous a fashion on the screen as it is in "The Carpetbaggers," opening in Technicolor and Panavision Wednesday at the Jet Theatre. Millions of dollars worth of costumes, sets and special props back up the all star cast, headed by George Peppard, Alan Ladd, Bob Cummings, Martha Hyer, Elizabeth Ashley, Martin Balsam, Lew Ayres, Ralph Taeger and Carroll Baker as Rina.

Epic in proportion, the exciting drama begins during Hollywood's "golden years" and surges forward over three decades in the turbulent growth of America's manufacturing and entertainment industries. Much of the film is set in Hollywood itself and Paramount's 70mm Super Panavision cameras roamed the film capital and its environs, under the supervision of director Edward Dmytryk and chief cinematographer Joe MacDonald photographing for weeks.

Although 17 outside locations were used, including one in the Mojave Desert town of Boron. Here the movie company utilized facilities of the U.S. Borax and Chemical Co., locale of the famous Borax 20 Mule Team route. Other scenes were shot at the old Pasadena railroad station, where for years Hollywood's most glamorous stars arrived amid legendary ballyhoo. The famed locomotive, Santa Fe R.R. Engine No. 1010, was taken out of storage, refitted, polished and hitched to a string of "prop" Pullman cars.

Classic automobiles of this same period were rented from collectors and car hobbyists, for use in early scenes of "The Carpetbaggers." Among them were a platinum Packard - Darrin, once given by Clark Gable to Carole Lombard; a 1929 Rolls Royce Piccadilly roadster, formerly Charlie Chaplin's; a 1927 Lincoln limousine, once Cecil B. DeMille's; a 1929 Cadillac phaeton, once Richard Arlen's, and a one-of-a-kind Mercedes-Benz SS-35-250, reportedly once owned by Rudolph Valentino.

Pleasance Is Spectre Agent

Donald Pleasance has played plenty of villains on screen, including Satan, but he says he considers his role of SPECTRE's top agent his most evil characterization. This highlight in playing low-lives occurs in "You Only Live Twice," fifth in the James Bond series opening today at the Jet Theatre, in Technicolor and Panavision. Sean Connery again stars as Agent 007 - and almost meets his match in the unpleasant Pleasance.

Although he had his head shaved for the role, and sports a seven-inch scar, Pleasance doesn't consider the make-up essential to the characterization. "Evil comes from within," he says - "but the fad is for unusual looking villains. A friend of mine, however, didn't consider my appearance so unusual. He has no hair, you see - and does have a long scar! I still can't convince him I did not design the makeup to rib him. He gave me some tropical fish recently and they turned out to be piranhas!"

Piranhas, man-eating fish, figure gruesomely in the film, as pets of the SPECTRE chief portrayed by Pleasance.

A former member of both the Old Vic and Royal Shakespeare companies, the 46 year old actor is one of Britain's best known film, TV and stage actors and is popular here for his performances in "The Hallelujah Trail," "The Greatest Story Ever Told," "The Great Escape" and "Cul-De-Sac." On stage he has starred in "Poor Bites" and Harold Pinter's "The Caretaker," as well as in its film version, called "The Guest."

Firemen Report A Busy Month

The fire department answered alarms for nine building fires, eight grass fires, eight automobile fires, one false alarm and made three other emergency calls during June, according to the monthly report.

Three of the fires were out on arrival, two were put out by the occupant and 20 were put out with the booster line.

Last month the department answered alarms for 24 building fires, four grass-fires and four automobile fires.

Quinn Plays A Mobster In Film 'The Happening'

Onlookers in Miami Beach were enthralled recently when they saw actor Anthony Quinn pick up a garbage can and hurl it violently through the glass door of a telephone booth and, later, when he shattered the glass of another curbside phone booth with the telephone receiver.

This was the Anthony Quinn they knew and recognized from the screen, the rough, tough heman of more than a hundred films.

Quinn's display of violence, however, was for the new presentation, "The Happening," at the Sahara Theatre in Technicolor. Starred with Quinn in the action-drama directed by Elliot Silverstein and produced by Jud Kinberg are Michael Parks, George Maharis, Robert Walker, Martha Hyer and Faye Dunaway. Oscar Homolka, Jack Kruschen and Milton Berle as Fred are co-starred. Quinn plays a Miami Beach mobster involved in a $3,000,000 caper which boomerangs when he takes over the operation and the youngsters handling it.

Quinn's on-screen violence in "The Happening" was in direct contrast to his off-stage gentleness. When he is not before the cameras, he plays chess or writes. He loves to sail or go mountain climbing, and he does not hunt or fish. "I have too much respect for life to kill," he explains.

One of the screen's truly international stars, Quinn has some highly individualistic views on acting.

"Acting," he says, "is a profession, not a competition." Quinn was referring to Hollywood's Academy Awards - of which he has won two - but which he does not regard as a true criterion of fine acting. "Competitive acting has never interested me. With me the story comes first.

"That is the only criterion - how good a job the actor does, not what he is. Take the great composer, Wagner. In private life he was cruel, sadistic, a petty tyrant. But you don't think of that when you hear his music. Many of the world's greatest writers and artists, in private life, were monsters. But we don't judge them by what they were, but by what they accomplished. A man should be judged by his work."

Quinn has equally strong views on directors.

"The actor," he expounds, "is like a horse. The moment the jockey - in this case the director - is on your back, you know from the way he handles you if you're going to run a good race, or a bad race."

In the case of "The Happening" Quinn soon discovered that he was happy with his "jockey," director Elliot Silverstein. "He rehearsed the first scene. Then it was filmed. Quinn went to the side-lines, face beaming, and crew members heard him mutter, "This is it!"

Silverstein, apparently, had passed the test, and would not fall into that category of certain film directors whom Quinn declares "should be directing traffic!" Silverstein, incidentally, was the director of "Cat Ballou" and Kinberg, co-producer of "The Collector."

Holden Has Lead In 'Devil's Brigade'

If ever the phrase "a man who needs no introduction" aptly fitted a man, it fits William Holden. To which should be added, "in any corner of the globe." He, together with Cliff Robertson and Vince Edwards, make up the top roles in "The Devil's Brigade," which opens in Color by DeLuxe and Panavision at the Ritz Theatre next Tuesday.

Holden certainly is a traveling man, and he has business interests in America, Europe, Asia and Africa. Now, as Lt. Col. Robert T. Frederick, the commanding officer who leads the Devils of the "The Devil's Brigade," Holden traveled to Utah, U.S.A., Italy and England in portraying the role.

His career as an actor has taken him to out-of-the-way places for filming - and those countries in which he hasn't worked he's been able to visit since his success has provided him with the means to afford travel.

All this began when Holden was a chemistry student at Pasadena Junior College in 1938 and unexpectedly landed the film lead in "Golden Boy." From that time until today, he has been in such notable films as "The Moon Is Blue," "Sabrina," "The Country Girl," "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing," "Picnic," "The Bridge on the River Kwai," and "The World of Suzie Wong"—to mention a few. His performance in "Sunset Boulevard" brought him an Academy award nomination, and three years later "Stalag 17" won him the coveted Oscar for his mantlepiece.

Holden has been married since July, 1941, to the former actress Brenda Marshall. They have three children: two sons, West and Scott, and a daughter, Virginia.

Burglary Cases Top Police File

Police investigated five cases of aggravated assault, three cases of robbery, 29 cases of burglary, 20 cases of theft over $50, 25 cases of theft under $50 and two cases of auto theft during June.

Officers cleared three cases of aggravated assault, one robbery, three cases of burglary, six cases of larceny over $50, two cases of larceny under $50 and both cases of auto theft.

Policemen recovered $65 worth of stolen currency and notes, $1,000 of jewelry, $11.71 of clothing, $475 of automobiles and $1,140 of miscellaneous.

Less Than Dime Spent On Meals

The average cost per prisoner meal during June was 9.22 cents with a total of 750 meals being served in the city jail. Total cost of food was $69.07.

Total expenditures for food this year are $241.38 with a total of 2,218 meals being served at a per prisoner cost of 10.48 cents.
