IKE BACKS NIXON

Rockefeller Not Surprised By Blessing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon believes his endorsement by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower may persuade some uncommitted Republican National Convention delegates to back his presidential candidacy.

Nixon told newsmen shortly after Eisenhower's endorsement Thursday that persuasion of uncommitted delegates was one possible benefit.

Should Provide Lift

But, he added, the endorsement also should provide a lift not only to his current drive for the presidential nomination but beyond that to the fall campaign.

Neither Eisenhower nor Nixon contended the endorsement would be decisive and both insisted that despite Nixon's hefty delegate lead the convention that opens Aug. 5 in Miami Beach will be open.

The reaction of Nixon's chief rival for the nomination, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, said the endorsement was no surprise to him.

"It would be embarrassing for him if he didn't get the endorsement since Eisenhower's grandson is about to marry one of Nixon's daughters, Rockefeller said.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, potential candidate for the nomination, told a news conference in Sacramento that he had expected the endorsement.

Referring to the eight years Nixon served as vice president under Eisenhower and the impending marriage, Reagan said "they had a long and fruitful relationship and now they are going to be joined in a family way."

Issues Are Great

The 77-year-old Eisenhower, dropping his rule of pre-convention neutrality on grounds the issues are great and the situation confusing, held a hospital news conference to announce that Nixon is the man he wants nominated by the convention.

Nixon was campaigning in Washington when Eisenhower summoned reporters to Walter Reed Army Hospital, where he suffered a fifth heart attack several weeks ago, to deliver his endorsement.

Drilling Rig Death

MAURICEVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Douglas C. Peveo died today shortly after a drilling rig accident near Beaumont.

Authorities said a pump on the drilling rig blew out about 2 a.m., and Peveo was struck in the chest by flying debris. He died 30 minutes later in a Beaumont hospital.

Substitute Mailing

OTTAWA (AP)—Canadians turned today to the telephone, telegraph and the U.S. mail as a nationwide strike by 24,000 post office workers paralyzed regular mail delivery for the second day.

Businesses in cities and towns near the U.S. border rented U.S. postal boxes and arranged for mail pickups and deliveries. Fresh supplies of U.S. stamps had to be rushed to Blaine, Wash., 20 miles south of Blaine, Wash., 20 miles south of Vancouver, where the U.S. post office was swamped with outgoing Canadian mail.

In Toronto, Bell Canada, Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Telecommunications recorded a 50 per cent business increase. Air Canada and Canadian Pacific Airlines reported similar surges in the use of air cargo and air express services. All said they had to hire extra staff to handle the rush.

Substitute mailing operations sprang up across the nation, ranging from student letter carriers in Edmonton to special taxi and delivery truck shipments in Saint John, N. B.

The government has offered the striking workers a 15-cent hourly wage increase, or six per cent over a 14-month contract estimated to cost $7.6 million. Union bargainers are seeking a 75-cent hourly increase in all categories, ranging from 26 to 39 per cent.

Fast Look At Politics

By The Associated Press

Here is a summary of developments in the presidential nomination campaigns:

Humphrey: Vice President Humphrey was quoted by the New York Times today as saying he will get together with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., for a talk in the next few days. Humphrey said he was not convinced by reports that Kennedy wants no part of running for vice president.

McCarthy: The vice president was challenged once again by his Democratic rival, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, to a debate on the Vietnam war.

HEAVILY GUARDED, WEARING 'PROTECTIVE GEAR'

Ray Is Hustled Into Jail Cell In Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray, handcuffed and wearing what appeared to be a bullet-proof vest, was whisked into the Shelby County jail before dawn today to await trial on a charge of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Ray was placed in his cell at the jail at 4:34 a.m. CDT, 46 minutes after he arrived at the nearby Memphis Naval Air Station aboard a U.S. Air Force Boeing jet transport from London. He had left London about midnight—6 p.m. CDT—so that the entire trip took about 18½ hours.

From the Navy base, a blue-and-white prison van, surrounded by a half-dozen police cars and an equal number of motorcycles, roared into the parking lot behind the jail building at 4:29 a.m. CDT.

No newsmen was allowed to see Ray, but Sheriff William Morris distributed photographs of the prisoner showing him dressed in what the sheriff told a news conference was "protective gear." He appeared to be dressed in a bullet-proof vest and he was handcuffed to a heavy leather belt.

"We took custody of Mr. Ray at 3:48 a.m. aboard a Boeing 707 at Millington," the sheriff said, referring to the Navy base at suburban Millington. "He arrived at the jail at 4:29 a.m. and was in his cell at 4:34."

The sheriff said Criminal Court Judge W. Preston Battle has been chosen to hear the murder trial, but "no courtroom has been selected for the trial yet." He added that no date for arraignment on the murder indictment has been set.

Judge Battle already has issued his first order in the case, the sheriff said. This forbids cameras, tape recorders or other similar devices from the courthouse-jail building, its grounds or sidewalk surrounding the structure—and forbids anyone connected with the case from giving interviews or otherwise discussing the case outside the courthouse or with anyone but lawyers connected with the case.

The van carrying Ray to the jail was preceded by another police car loaded with officers who immediately jumped out and joined a security guard of deputies who had taken up stations across the parking lot driveway 11 minutes before the prisoner arrived.

One other car, carrying Criminal Court Judge John Coulton, had driven into the parking lot a short time earlier. There was no indication why Coulton came to the jail.

Ray's departure from London's Wandsworth jail was as shrouded in secrecy as his arrival in Memphis. It could not be determined where he boarded the jet in England, nor who accompanied him.

Throughout the night in Memphis, deputies and city policemen had guarded the jail and court complex. Then, at 4:15 a.m., a large bus was backed across a driveway, blocking the view of the jail entrance.

Three minutes later, 10 sheriff's deputies carrying riot guns marched out of the building and blocked the entrance. Four deputies sealed off the other side of the parking lot.

In Washington, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the international transfer of Ray was accomplished "without incident."

Cambodian Navy Grabs U.S. Boat

SAIGON (AP) — The Cambodian navy was reported today to have seized an American patrol boat in the Mekong Delta and arrested 11 Americans and one South Vietnamese aboard.

U.S. military authorities in Saigon confirmed that a Navy landing craft was missing in the delta but said it had 10 Americans aboard. There was no mention of any South Vietnamese passenger. It was assumed to be the boat which a newspaper in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, said was seized a mile inside Cambodian river waters.

RETURN BID
American authorities said the missing landing craft left Dong Tam, a base near the delta city of My Tho, on July 15 and headed up river for Binh Thuy, another base just up river from Can Tho, the delta's largest city. The trip up the Mekong and Bassac rivers and across a major canal should have taken two days, but the boat did not arrive on the night of July 17.

U.S. headquarters said a search for the past two days had failed to produce any trace of the boat.

It was assumed that the United States would send Cambodia a request for return of the boat and its crew, using the Australian Embassy in Phnom Penh as the channel. Australia has represented U.S. interests in Cambodia since Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, broke relations with Washington in 1965.

Officers Seek Items' Source

In the course of the Vietnam war, several small American craft have been seized by the Cambodians after straying across the border in the delta. All the crews have been returned, although the Cambodians have reportedly kept one small landing boat.

Police continued questioning two men here Friday in connection with a large haul of jewelry, merchandise and guns recovered with a stolen car here shortly before midnight Wednesday.

Held on warrants from Beaumont were Gene Richardson, Sweetwater, and Henry Nugent Sanders, Fort Worth. Other warrants are en route from Beaumont, officers said.

Richardson and Sanders were picked up by officers as they emerged from a westside lounge. The car in which they had been riding had been spotted at 10 p.m. on the north side but was lost temporarily. Officers waited for the occupants to come back to the car.

Detectives W. W. McCain and Paul Alexander were busy on the case, seeking to locate source of the cache of goods. Guns and rifles as well as some silverware and jewelry may be missing from the Fort Worth area, and detectives from Fort Worth are due here during the day to make identification.

The sheriff at Aspermont and chief of police from Hamlin were due to attempt identification of a watch with a diamond cluster. The $800 in express orders apparently was missing from Abilene. Source of the other items has not yet been pegged, but the detectives said it may have come from Waco.

Leaders Talk Of Full Bombing Halt

Saigon, Cong Negotiations Considered

HONOLULU (AP) — President Johnson and South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu formal talks apparently will embrace possible direct Saigon-Viet Cong negotiations and a total bombing halt in the North.

In advance of today's first formal meeting at the hilltop headquarters of the U.S. Pacific Command, Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford said he avoided those two topics during his Saigon visit earlier in the week "in order to leave that up to Thieu and President Johnson."

Clifford talked to newsmen Thursday at Hickam Field as he waited with Johnson to greet Thieu's chartered airliner.

STAND FIRM
Johnson, in welcoming the South Vietnamese leader, touched on the peace search under way in Paris and offered these words of reassurance to his visitor:

"Mr. President, our pledge to help your people defeat aggression stands firm against all obstacles and against any deception."

Thieu, dwarfed by the U.S. chief executive, responded by saying he looked forward to discussions of "accomplishments as well as problems that lie before us." He said he hoped for "steps toward peace and freedom for Vietnam and Southeast Asia."

Only a few score uniformed military personnel and dependents, plus a small costumed delegation from Honolulu's Vietnamese colony, were allowed to witness the arrival ceremony. Authorities obviously had taken pains to avoid any antiwar demonstration.

Both Johnson and Thieu were doing most of their traveling around the island of Oahu by helicopter.

The American President was quartered at a luxury seaside home built by the late industrialist Henry J. Kaiser. It was sealed off from the curious. Thieu was staying at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel on Waikiki beach.

Johnson And Thieu In Hawaii

With President Johnson standing at his side, President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam speaks to news after his arrival at Hickam Air Force Base, Honolulu, Hawaii, yesterday.

The two allied leaders will begin two days of talks today on the Vietnam war and the Paris peace talks.

USS Scorpion Still Missing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Specially equipped Navy vessels hunting the lost nuclear submarine Scorpion are searching with underwater cameras a "highly suspect" area southwest of the Azores, a Navy source said today.

"We haven't found her," the source added.

He described the intensity search area 450 miles from the Azores as having the "highest probability" of being the last resting place of the submarine.

When it sent its last radio message May 21, it was about 250 miles south of the Azores, on its way to Norfolk, Va., from duty in the Mediterranean with a crew of 99.

Westinghouse Broadcasting science specialist William Hines said today Navy vessels have located the Scorpion in one of the deepest parts of the Atlantic.

Committee OK's Projects At Webb

New construction projects for Webb Air Force Base moved forward another step today when the House Appropriations Committee approved $1.76 billion to finance what it called "the most austere" military construction program in years.

The figure approved for Webb was $2,796,000 and is earmarked for three proposed items: a new parallel runway, $2,300,000; academic classroom, $147,000; and basic flight training facility, $349,000.

Action of the committee, headed by Rep. George Mahon, means the appropriations will go next to the House for final approval. Then the Senate must concur.

The $1.76 billion figure is $266 million less than requested by the Johnson administration and $328 million under last year's appropriation.

Subject to House action next week and final Senate approval, the bill would finance construction and modernization of military installations and family housing at bases in the United States and abroad.

The Army's share was $554.6 million, the Navy's $289.2 million, the Air Force's $221.6 million and reserve and other agencies $106.7 million, in addition to $566.7 million for service-wide family housing programs.

The committee called for improvement of military support facilities in South Korea, with emphasis on improved troop housing.

Shot Touches Off Troubles

SEATTLE (AP)—A shot fired at police chasing a stolen car touched off three hours of minor disturbances in Seattle's Negro Central Area Thursday night, resulting in two arrests and window breaking in at least a dozen stores.

The trouble began when the two officers were roughed up by a group of about 100 Negroes on the grounds of a junior high school and then shot at as they pursued two persons in the auto theft. The two policemen escaped with minor cuts and scratches.

An unidentified Negro later was arrested for carrying a concealed weapon.

A police spokesman said some Negroes then overturned the stolen car and set it on fire. Firemen were pelted with rocks by a group of 50 to 60 people as they put out the blaze, but no one was hurt.

MAY END STATE'S REVENUE PROBLEMS

Discovery Of Oil In Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Gov. Walter J. Hickel sees the discovery of oil in Alaska's Arctic region as a key unlocking the state's vast potential, and a stabilizer of its economy.

"It's tremendous," the governor kept saying Thursday after hearing that reserves estimated by oil experts at five to 10 billion barrels had been found in the Prudhoe Bay area along Alaska's Arctic coast.

WILD AREA
The Arctic Slope is an expanse of endless tundra inhabited only by caribou, wolves and an occasional roving band of Eskimo hunters.

The area, some 390 miles north of Fairbanks, is a region long eyed with anticipation by petroleum geologists.

The U.S. Navy's Petroleum Reserve No. 4 lies to the west of the Atlantic Richfield-Humble discovery, in an area where the temperature merely toys with the freezing point—even during the long summer days when the Arctic sun never gets below the horizon.

Degolyer and MacNaughton, a Dallas oil consulting firm, said the new discovery has the potential of developing into one of the world's largest fields.

STOREHOUSE
Located on a 90,000-acre block of federally leased land, the new discovery apparently confirms what petroleum geologists have long thought, that the Arctic Slope is a vast storehouse of oil and gas.

Gov. Hickel feels the oil income from the huge federal holdings on the north slope could be used to meet native demands for $500 million to drop claims blocking the state's efforts to select the 103 million acres promised by the statehood act.

He also sees it as possibly leading to the elimination of state income taxes, which brought in $31 million in the last fiscal year.

Alaska, which ranks 10th among the 32 oil producing states, received direct income from oil and gas production taxes, lease bonuses, royalties and rentals of over $40 million for the fiscal year ending June 30. The state's general fund budget for the year was $104 million.

RAIL PLANS

The governor listed as his first priority the extension of the federally owned Alaska railroad from its northern terminus at Fairbanks the remaining 400 miles to the north coast.

Besides relieving the oil industry of the immediate need of building a $400 million pipeline to get the oil to ice-free water, the railroad, he said, would provide a "two-way haul" to open up thousands of square miles of unexplored wilderness.

"We haven't even begun to top the mineral potential up there," Hickel said.

Atlantic Richfield Co., which drilled the two discovery wells on the North Slope in a joint venture with Humble Oil and Refining Co., talked in terms of a pipeline, however.

"Four point of the oil from the test is minus 10 degrees Fahrenheit, which means we will be able to move it by pipeline during the very severe winters in that Arctic area," Robert Anderson, Atlantic Richfield Chairman, said in disclosing the find.

ICE-CHOKED

The problems, though great, are not insoluble. The ice-choked Arctic ocean is navigable by supply ships for only two months of the year. The flat terrain of the 50 to 150-mile wide oil exploration area turns to a spongy quagmire in the summer months.

Gun Controls Blizzard Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill banning the mail-order sales of rifles, shotguns and ammunition has picked up support from the House Republican leadership. But it still faces a blizzard of more than 100 amendments which could strengthen it, weaken it or kill it.

The unusual volume of amendments readied for today's session was expected to delay a final vote until Saturday or possibly early next week.

The amendments range from minor exemptions to lessen the impact on hunters and collectors to provisions for registration of all firearms and licensing of owners.

PRISON PLEA
Another proposed major change in the measure as originally asked for by President Johnson would impose mandatory prison sentences for those who carry a gun while committing a felony.

This provision, however, has drawn opposition mainly from congressmen who say it raises constitutional questions.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, House Republican leader, lined up Thursday behind the basic Johnson administration bill which would ban the sale of rifles, shotguns and ammunition through the mails and over the counter to residents of non-adjacent states.

The bill would ban all sales of

FEAR

This was the way the bill was reported out of the House Judiciary Committee last week and Ford told newsmen "If the committee bill is changed significantly either way—stronger or weaker—it is probable the bill will be defeated."

"If we want to get meaningful legislation," Ford added, "I think we better stick with the committee bill."

Ford thus aligned himself with two other key members of the House who have said they were opposed to registration and licensing for fear such an amendment would jeopardize passage of any bill at all.

Recreation Program Gains

With still two more full weeks of activities to go, attendance is picking up in the Citywide Summer Recreation program.

Mike Harris, director, said that as many as 70 youngsters have been at the City Park during the mornings this week, although a shower-cut down attendance this week.

The Northeast Park program has been drawing around 40 per day, and Lakeview, in the northwest part of town, has had 70 or more. Two evening programs operated alternately at Airport school grounds and at the Westside Park have been drawing more than 30 together.

The City Park, Northeast Park and Lakeview programs are operated in the morning and include games, crafts, hikes and swimming. The Airport and Westside programs are largely recreational. The program is made possible by the United Fund, the City of Big Spring, the Big Spring School District, and the YMCA, which administers. Any youngster is welcomed to participate.

Thoroughly Modern Miss

Glenda Kay Probes, Miss Rusk County from Henderson, Tex., sings "Thoroughly Modern Millie" during the Miss Texas Pageant Thursday night to win in the preliminary talent competition. The 18-year-old beauty is a freshman at Kilgore College and a member of the famed "Rangerettes" drill team.

Curvy Coeds Join Winners' Circle

FORT WORTH (AP) — Two shapely, brown-haired coeds slipped into the pressure-packed winners' circle as the Miss Texas Pageant moved toward tonight's conclusion of preliminaries.

The preliminary competition will end the prelude to the crowning Saturday night of the new Miss Texas to represent the state in the Miss America contest.

Kathy Brown, entered as Miss Richland Area, took swim suit honors Thursday night after a strong opening night performance in the talent judging.

Glenda Probes, Miss Rusk County, sang and danced to a triumph in the talent division, performing to the hit tune "Thoroughly Modern Millie."

Miss Brown, 19, assembled statistically at 34-22-34, is a 5-foot-3, 100-pound, blue-eyed Texas Christian University student who aspires to a radio-television-movie career.

Nuclear Terror Balance Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon leaders say the United States and Soviet Union may have reached such an even balance of terror that nuclear weapons will no longer deter conventional wars—nobody will take the threat of their use seriously.

Secretary of the Air Force Harold Brown has told a Senate subcommittee that each nuclear superpower is so strong "that any all-out thermonuclear war would inflict unacceptable damage on both."

Gen. John P. McConnell, the Air Force chief of staff, also has told the subcommittee that the Soviet Union will catch the United States in the number of intercontinental missiles by the end of this year.

ALMOST
McConnell said the U.S.S.R. will be almost, but not quite, equal to the United States in overall nuclear strength in 1971.

He said this may cause Soviet leaders to feel they can intervene in crisis areas of the world with less risk of U.S. opposition.

Brown said there can be no confidence in nuclear weapons serving to discourage conventional arms flareups.

"I don't think you can deter in Johnson told the subcommittee at a May hearing: "As I understand it, the argument is that the number of American lives that would be saved is not meaningful—and the number of American lives is generally figured as somewhere in the neighborhood of 10 to 40 million, with a median there of about 20. "To me, 10 per cent of our population is pretty significant," he said.

Storms Dot West Texas

By The Associated Press

Showers and occasional thunderstorms persisted near a dying cold front stretching from North into West Texas this morning.

Although the cooler air held top temperatures down a bit in some areas Thursday, it was expected to have little further effect.

Weather Bureau observers traced the diffuse front near daylight along a line linking Gainesville, Abilene and Fort Stockton.

There also was shower activity early in the day over parts of East Texas and near the Upper Texas Coast.

Even more unsettled weather kept broad areas of the state on guard during the night, but apparently no major damage resulted. Severe thunderstorm watches covered two 120-mile wide sectors embracing a total of 63 counties—one from Wink toward Abilene and the other from the Mineral Wells vicinity toward McAlester, Okla.

Hard showers brought 1.87 inches of rain at Henrietta, 1.56 at Bowie, 1.17 at Abilene and .59 at Wichita Falls.

Thunderstorms dotted the countryside, forming into occasional squall lines, in a broad band from along the Red River in North Central and Northeast Texas toward the southwest to the Pecos River.

Shower activity, mostly light, covered much of the section between Abilene and Wichita Falls, and there also were showers around Longview, Mount Pleasant and Kilgore in East Texas.

Behind the cool front Lubbock recorded a Thursday afternoon high of 56 degrees, nine degrees lower than the maximum the day before. Galveston on the coast, with an 87, was one of the few other spots below the 90s.

Top marks elsewhere included El Paso 98, San Angelo 99, Wichita Falls 100 and Presidio 103.

Akron Police Use Tear Gas

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Police used tear gas to break up some groups of youths as they enforced an overnight curfew in a Negro section that was the scene of widespread looting the previous night.

The arrests totaled 123 persons. Almost all arrested were Negroes. Forty-two persons were arrested Wednesday night.

The city became quiet early today as National Guardsmen helped police patrol the streets. A steady rain lasted for several hours Thursday night.

Police used tear gas in arresting about 40 young people as curfew violators Thursday night at the new Afro-American Liberation Front, a storefront club on Wooster Avenue.

Police ordered the youths to leave the clubhouse, but they answered that they thought the curfew order simply meant they had to be off the streets from 9 p.m. to 4 a.m.

The police, with some Summit County sheriff's deputies and guardsmen assisting, then broke windows and tossed tear gas inside. The youths were taken from the clubhouse into police vans. Newsmen on the scene said some were clubbed with nightsticks, but police denied that anyone was clubbed.

Two young men were cut by glass and treated at a hospital. There was no repetition of the looting Wednesday night involving roving bands of young Negroes.

A force of 450 National Guardsmen was on duty. Gen. Sylvester Del Corso, Ohio adjutant general, said Thursday the troops ordered in by Gov. James A. Rhodes were armed and "the weapons will be loaded."

"When we order someone to stop and surrender himself, if he does not stop he will be shot," Del Corso said.

Akron, with a population of 305,000 has an estimated 60,000 Negroes.

Docket Call Due Today

Judge Ralph W. Caton, 118th District Court, was sounding a criminal docket in court this afternoon. There are more than a score of cases on the docket, but how many will be ready for trial at next week's jury docket was uncertain.

A jury panel of 120 persons has been notified to report to the court at 10 a.m. Monday for possible duty.

One of the matters slated for disposition is a charge of robbery by assault. Two men are under indictment for this complaint.

Jaycees Face Female Test

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Jaycees would like for one of its members to resign.

The reason is that the unwanted member is a woman. The by-laws of the Jaycees says the membership is limited to males.

Mrs. Joan Lockman, mother of three children, had been on the chapter's mailing list for some time. Apparently her name plate accidentally was switched to the membership list.

When she was billed for $18 dues last week she promptly paid. Then the chapter realized it had a woman member.

"We're not sure what to do," said Ron Cobb, president of the chapter which is the largest in the nation. "Mrs. Lockman would be an asset to any organization but it's against the rules."

The age limit is 35 but apparently no member has the nerve to find out if Mrs. Lockman could be mustered out for this reason.

A suggestion that Mrs. Lockman be made a sustaining member was ruled out by the new member herself.

"I might resign gracefully if they would make me a special member," she said, adding that she might even consider running for president of the chapter.

Dear Abby

Protection From Spender

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is married to a man who has her completely buffaloed. He doesn't let her see any of the bank statements. They are all sent to his office. She has complete faith in him and believes everything he tells her.

He spends money extravagantly but he keeps her spending to a minimum. He handles all the finances while she is kept entirely in the dark.

Since there are no children, how can I fix my will so that I can leave everything to my daughter, and her husband cannot get his hands on any of it? If this cannot be done, I shall leave everything to charity. I must make some decisions soon as I am getting along in years.

DEAR WORRIED: If you leave "everything" to your daughter, "everything" could end up in her husband's hands. Explore with your lawyer a trust of some kind, from which your daughter alone can draw the proceeds. That way she would be provided for in the event that "Big Spender" moves on or passes out.

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating a young man steadily for 4 months. I am 23 and he is 27. During this time he told me he loved me and wanted to marry me. I told him I "thought" I loved him, but I wasn't sure I wanted to marry him.

Last weekend, after much thought, I decided I did not love him enough to marry him, and therefore we should quit dating. He was very hurt and asked me to continue dating him in order to give him a chance to "fall out of love" with me. I have positively made up my mind not to see him anymore as I know how these dates will end up, and I want to discontinue our relationship.

He is persistent. I don't want to hurt him further. How should I handle it?

KATHY DEAR KATHY: Be even more persistent than he. Tell the young man that it's more painful to cut off a puppy dog's tail an inch at a time. Better to do it with one clean whack. And don't accept any more dates with him.

DEAR ABBY: I wouldn't miss your column for the world. It's better than the comic strips.

But Abby, I am getting a little weary of those idiots who write to you and ask, "How can I tell my friends and neighbors not to just drop in to visit me at odd hours when I want to nap, or do something around the house, or just be alone?"

I will tell you what I do. I hang a sign outside my door which reads: "I am napping. Please do not ring or knock unless it's an emergency. Come back at 4 p.m." Then I go about my business, reading, napping, painting, or doing whatever I want to do in privacy.

NO DUMMY

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69780, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sharon Appears Tonight In Talent Competition

FORT WORTH—It tastes better than chicken, was the reply of Sharon Hicks, "Miss Big Spring," when she was asked Thursday afternoon by judges in the Miss Texas pageant, what rattlesnake meat tasted like.

Thursday night she went on to walk the ramp in a blue chiffon evening gown, which was sleeveless and topped at the high neckline with a border of beads.

Thursday also brought her before several hundred persons at a style show at Leonard's De-modeled three outfits.

Sharon will perform her talent on the guitar in Friday night's final preliminary to the crowning of Miss Texas. She will play the guitar and sing "Louisiana Man."

Another singer won talent competition Thursday night when Glenda (Gindy) Probers, Miss Rusk County, presented her rendition of "Thoroughly Modern Mille," which she ended with a short dance before the judges.

The second night's swim suit winner was Kathy Brown, Miss Richland Area, who opened her bid Wednesday night with the singing of "You Made Me Love You."

Thursday morning when Sharon rehearsed for evening gown competition, she was presented with a problem. Sharon and her chaperone, Mrs. Barbara Tibbs, bought shoes and when Sharon went to wear these shoes in rehearsals, it became necessary to have others. Then the correct shoes were sent for.

Tears started rolling down Sharon's face Thursday when she received a letter from her younger brother, Larry Hicks. In the letter he wished all the luck to Sharon, whom he described as "our Miss Texas."

Tonight's performance will be the last one, before Saturday's huge extravaganza, at which the new Miss Texas will be crowned.

McCarthy Mixes Up His States

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, speaking at Charlotte's Douglas Municipal airport Thursday, forgot where he was.

"Thank you all in South Carolina," the candidate said to an enthusiastic crowd of about 1,500.

After a few scattered boos McCarthy realized his mistake and said at least he knew he was in the South and Charlotte's welcome was the warmest yet in his campaign. The official airport temperature was 86 degrees.

The Cuba Bit Was A Stupid Joke

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An unidentified passenger who said "I want to go to Cuba" was removed from Eastern Air Lines Flight 955 at Miami Thursday night, but a deputy sheriff said later the incident "was just a bad joke—a stupid crack." Seven commercial airliners have been hijacked to Cuba this year and two attempts were thwarted.

Czechs Check Defense

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Czechoslovak Communist party leaders discussed defense of their liberalization program against the Soviet threat today while the Russian party pledged help to a 35,000 man People's Militia here that has sided with the old guard.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper named the armed militia, made up of workers who backed Antonin Novotny, the ousted Stalinist ruler, as a leading foe of the liberalization drive.

article and Soviet charges during the 1954 Hungarian uprising that caches of U.S. weapons were discovered in Hungary.

Pravda also charged that the

Welcome
A sailor and his wife embrace and get a smile from another sailor yesterday after the 90,000-ton aircraft carrier USS Enterprise returned to Alameda Naval Air Station following six month combat tour off Vietnam.

TARGET
The militia, reportedly in contact with the Soviets, has been a target of Czechoslovak liberals who demand it be scrapped.

This new Soviet offensive against the reformers came as the 110 members of the Czechoslovak party's Central Committee were expected to give their overwhelming support to party chief Alexander Dubcek, who told the Czechoslovak people Thursday that liberalization will continue but "our road will not be easy."

The session of the 110-member committee also was attended by some 50 newly elected delegates to an extraordinary party congress scheduled for September to remove Stalinist hard-liners remaining in high party positions.

In Moscow, Pravda kept up the war of words against the Czechoslovak liberals, repeating the charge that "counter-revolutionary" forces in Czechoslovakia "threaten the foundations of the Socialist system."

HELP
The Soviet Communist party newspaper, in a long front-page editorial, promised "all necessary help" for Czechoslovak hard-liners. The Soviet press has made no mention of declarations of support for the new Prague government from other Communist parties.

It also ignored Dubcek's speech, in which he declared: "The people will not permit a return to the pre-January days." He referred to the regime of Stalinist Antonin Novotny, whom he displaced as Communist party chief at the start of the year.

Pravda also said there were reports in Prague's "journalistic circles" that Czechoslovak security police had discovered U.S. weapons hidden on Czech soil near the West German border.

Pravda said the weapons were pistols, machine guns and submachine guns "suitable for small rebel groups." It said they "obviously have been smuggled in from West Germany" for anti-Communists.

UPRISING
Observers in Moscow noted a similarity between the Praydaler,

U.S. Central Intelligence Agency and the Pentagon are trying to subvert "unstable elements" in Czechoslovakia.

Dubcek spoke on television after his regime had prepared a statement rejecting the demand of the Soviet Union and four orthodox Communist allies for reversal of the liberalization drive.

The demand came from a conference in Warsaw of leaders of the Soviet Union, Poland, East Germany, Hungary and Bulgaria, all of whom fear Czechoslovakia's example may stir up liberal ferment in their nations.

In a pointed reminder to Moscow that Czechoslovakia does not stand alone, Dubcek in his speech said he was grateful for the support of "many fraternal parties"—meaning those in Yugoslavia, Romania, France and Italy.

Fortas Nixed By Wallace

ST. LOUIS (AP)—George Wallace opposes Abe Fortas for chief justice.

Wallace told a news conference Thursday that President Johnson had a right to appoint Fortas, but the Congress also has a right "not to confirm."

Wallace declared that he has more support for president than the polls show and confidentially said: "I feel that I'm going to win."

Wallace denied holding racist views, saying that in his administration as Alabama governor he had sponsored legislation to aid Negroes. He said there was less nonwhite unemployment in Alabama than other states.

Wallace said Negroes "are entitled to every right that everyone else has."

"My child goes to a school that is integrated," Wallace said. He charged that most congressmen who vote for civil rights legislation sent their children to schools outside of the integrated District of Columbia. Asked if he called himself a segregationist, Wallace said "I recommended only that you have local government."

Asked if the Vietnam war was moral or legal, Wallace replied: "We're there. Whether we like it or not we have to stay with our servicemen so long as they are there."

Wallace said Democrats and Republicans in Congress were joining to oppose him because his efforts were successful. "This shows the movement is strong," he said, "and it shows there is not 10 cents worth of difference between the two major parties."

An enthusiastic crowd waving Wallace placards swarmed around the former governor as he stepped from his plane at the airport. The only opposition noted were a couple yellos of "racist" as Wallace and his party left the airport.

Rap Attacks Bond Action

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Black power advocate Rap Brown has brought at least part of his legal troubles back to Virginia, where he is asking a federal court to reconsider a $10,000 bond forfeiture imposed on him earlier this year.

In a motion filed Thursday, he contended that the violation of bond terms was committed with "mistaken concurrence of counsel."

U.S. Dist. Judge Robert Merhige imposed the bond in September, 1967, with the condition that Brown confine himself to the Southern District of New York, except for court appearances.

Merhige ruled in February that the $10,000 bond be forfeited because of Brown's travels to California. His order was upheld by the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Brown was unsuccessful in his long and complicated legal battle to avoid extradition from Virginia to Maryland where he faces charges of inciting to riot and arson.

Texas Special Deer Hunt Set

AUSTIN (AP) — State Parks and Wildlife officials say there will be a special, limited deer hunt in September at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge.

Archers will have from Sept. 1 to Sept. 8 to bag one deer, doe or buck. No drawings will be necessary.

From Sept. 11, through Sept. 30, 200 gun hunters per two-day period will be allowed on the refuge, with a bag limit of one buck and one antlerless deer. The gun hunters will be chosen by a drawing.

Brother Of Grid Pro Sentenced

DALLAS (AP) — Samuel B. Haynes, 43, who pleaded guilty to violating income tax laws and forging a government check, was sentenced Thursday to 18 months in federal prison.

Haynes, brother of pro football player Abner Haynes, was operator of his own bookkeeping, tax and real estate service in South Dallas.

He admitted preparing a fraudulent income tax return for his brother which claimed a tax refund, making a false claim against the government for a tax refund, and forging a refund check payable to one of his clients.

Bombs Rock LA Offices

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bombs believed detonated by anti-Castro Cubans ripped through four travel agencies and an office of the Shell Oil Building today, police said.

Damage was minor in each case and no one was injured.

The first blast rocked the offices of the Mexican National Tourist Council in neighboring Beverly Hills. Within 17 minutes, bombs dropped through mail slots shook the Mexican Travel Agency, the tourist offices of Air France and a business office in the Shell building.

A fifth explosion occurred two hours later at Japan Air Lines.

Red, white and blue stickers reading "Unite Cuban Power" in Spanish were found on doorframes at each location, investigators said.

Experts in explosives were called to investigate.

Similar explosions have occurred in the New York metropolitan area where 10 foreign tourist or diplomatic offices have been bombed since April 22.

CAB To Study Texas Routes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Examiner William J. Madden says he will consider a proposal by the Civil Aeronautics Board's Bureau of Operating Rights for new routes involving three airlines which operate in Texas.

The bureau asked that Continental Air Lines be granted new routes eastward and westward from Albuquerque, N.M. to Chicago and to San Francisco-Oakland.

The proposal also asked that Frontier Air Lines be given routes between Albuquerque and Las Vegas, Nev., and between Albuquerque and Dallas-Fort Worth.

Under the same plan, Trans-Texas Airways would get a route from Albuquerque to Los Angeles-Long Beach.

Madden will study the proposal in making his own recommendations to the CAB for action.

In submitting the proposal Thursday, the Bureau said Continental needs economic strengthening through new route authority. The bureau also said an Albuquerque-Los Angeles route would give Trans-Texas an opportunity for a substantial reduction in its need for government subsidy.

A Devotional For The Day

We know that in everything God works for good with those who love him, who are called according to his purpose. (Romans 8:28, RSV)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we know the love Thou hast for us in Thy Son, who is saving us and teaching us to love Thee and trust in Thee. We love Thee, but in our weakness we ask Thee to keep us in Thy grace to overcome all difficulties and wait till Thy power and glory become evident to us. In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Encouraging Step

One of the most intriguing aspects of the present national concern over gun violence is the way manufacturers and sales outlets have begun to act on their own. Though the movement to curb sales promotion of both real and toy guns is not yet as widespread as many would like, this has gotten a good start.

It is significant that two of the nation's largest retailers, each of which has a huge mail-order business, are de-emphasizing advertising and sales of toy guns. This action by Sears, Roebuck and Montgomery Ward comes on the heels of an earlier undertaking by both to voluntarily restrict sales of real firearms.

Montgomery Ward reports that it is "toning down" catalog references to toy guns. A Sears spokesman says that firm has stopped advertising "firearms, ammunition, toy guns and similar toys of violence."

Toy manufacturers also are concerned about public reaction to toy guns and other weapons. One of the largest, Mattel, Inc., has launched a comprehensive study of the subject including surveys and interviews with psychiatrists—an investigation, an executive reports, into "The whole proposition of toy weapons." There are indications that numerous toy dealers are delaying purchases to see what this and other studies will show, and that some do not plan to stock toy weapons for the Christmas trade.

The cynical may argue that the motivation for all this show of interest in the subject is strictly commercial. We prefer to think that, at least to some extent, it reflects genuine concern about violence in our society and the possible contribution toy guns make to the fostering of violence. It is good that toy makers and toy sellers are doing something about the matter on their own without awaiting a government edict.

A Rising Challenge

There has been considerable verbal hand-wringing of late on the part of U.S. naval experts. They are viewing with considerable dismay and displeasure the rising power of the Russian fleet in the Mediterranean Sea.

Units of the U.S. Sixth Fleet are continually being shadowed, even harassed, by Russian naval vessels. It's getting so you can't have a routine training exercise without attracting Russian snooper ships from all points of the compass.

The Mediterranean was a British lake until after World War II. Then it became a U.S. lake. Now the Russians are brisily competing to make it a Russian lake.

This is not without long-range significance, mind you. The growing presence of Russian naval units and the establishment of naval bases, particularly in Egypt, will almost certainly have profound political effects in the long run.

The Russian ambition to have free access to the Mediterranean is not a recent one, of course. As long ago as 1799, Lord Nelson wrote that "The Russians seem to be more bent on taking ports in the Mediterranean than in destroying Bonaparte in Egypt." But we can afford to cultivate a more relaxed attitude toward what is now characterized as a Russian threat. No one can pretend any longer that navies control the seas. If a major war comes, neither ships nor planes can tip the balance. Rockets are much cheaper and much more destructive.

What we do face, though, is the growing menace of closer ties between Russia, Egypt and other Middle Eastern countries. For the Arabs have nowhere else to go. We are on the side of Israel. The grim specter of Arab nationalism will haunt us for the foreseeable future.

Here we are able to see trouble long before it reaches a showdown. Yet there is so little we can do about it as matters now stand. The only hope we have is to persuade Arab and Jew to live peacefully together. We cannot do this by worrying about the balance of naval forces in the Mediterranean. What is demanded is statesmanship and diplomacy of the highest order—and we need it now.

Marquis Childs Many Oppose The Fortas Record

WASHINGTON — The controversy over the confirmation of Abe Fortas to be Chief Justice of the United States is like the familiar analogy of the iceberg. Out of the water at the top are the bigots who spew out their hatreds and prejudices in Nazi-like language. But down below in the murky depths are those who look with a cold and accusatory eye at Fortas' record as a civil libertarian. They would never be caught uttering the gross slanders of the extremists. Their opposition, however, dressed up in polite niceties and constitutional ineptness is what may in the end block confirmation.

FORTAS HAS BEEN a brilliant and skillful fighter in case after case in the cause of justice and freedom. A partner in one of the most successful and richly rewarded Washington law firms, he gave his services repeatedly without charge in civil liberties cases even when this risked alienating some of the firm's well-heeled corporate clients.

AT THE HEIGHT of the Joe McCarthy terror Fortas came to the defense of one of the most conspicuous victims of that terror. While Prof. Owen Lattimore, a distinguished Orientalist, was in remote Afghanistan on a technical mission for the United Nations McCarthy leaked word to the press that he was the "top Soviet agent" in the Western Hemisphere. On Lattimore's return there followed a Senate inquiry aimed at destroying him once and for all.

ALLIED WITH McCarthy was Sen. Pat McCarran and behind the scenes was the China Lobby bent on obliterating anyone questioning the wisdom of Chiang Kai-shek and the support of the United States for returning him to the mainland in a crusade against communism. Lattimore, out of his intimate knowledge of China and the Far East, had ventured to question the practicality of restoring Chiang and bringing down the Communists if not by force then by blockade and isolation. He foresaw the dead end of America's China policy in the dubious years that have come to a climax with the tragedy of Vietnam.

NO WITNESS before a Senate committee has ever before or since been interrogated for so many days without a letup. It was a lynching bee that might have succeeded if it had not been for Fortas' almost constant vigil at his side.

After nearly four years Lattimore emerged clear of guilt. Fortas' only charge was for the actual cost of transcripts and other expenses. While these were heavy enough for a professor on a professor's salary, they were minuscule compared to the cost of the man-hours his defender put into the whole affair if he had charged his normal fee.

IN THE GIDEON case Fortas championed a friendless and penniless defendant in Florida. He brought the Supreme Court around to accepting the view that in the state courts as well as in federal court the defendant is entitled to a lawyer for his defense. A landmark decision, it meant a new dimension for simple justice.

In still another instance Fortas moved in at the Court of Appeals level in the District of Columbia in behalf of a defendant whose mental status was questionable. The end was the Durham rule breaking down the barrier that had existed between psychiatry and the law. Psychiatry—mental disorders leading to criminal behavior—has long been one of Fortas' interests. Considered a major achievement in the law, the Durham rule aroused the ire of conservatives who talk about coddling criminals because of testimony that they cannot distinguish between right and wrong.

'Not Very Accurate — But It Makes A Heckuva Noise'

John Cunniff Church Taxation Arguments

NEW YORK (AP) — Some Americans were shocked this week by an Italian proposal to tax investment dividends earned by the Vatican, seemingly unaware that rather similar suggestions are now widely discussed in the United States.

Although the dialogue seldom reaches the mass circulation periodicals, religious publications frequently probe the question. Surprisingly, the discussions often are opened by the churches themselves.

AN EPISCOPAL bookstore here, for example, sells "A Report on Churches and Taxation," published by the Guild of St. Ives, a group of clergymen and lawyers, that concludes:

"The undersigned believe that real and personal property owned by religious institutions should be subject to taxation to the extent that it is used for business purposes in either actual or potential competition with secular persons..."

It isn't too often, in America or elsewhere, that any group advocates more taxes be levied upon its institutions.

TWO CONVERGING factors are causing the re-examination in the United States:

1. Governmental units are finding it more difficult each year to finance public services with the present tax base. The needs of local government, in particular, are growing.

2. Organized religion's assets, which generally are untaxed, grow larger each year. This has placed very little strain so far on relations between the clergy and the tax collectors. Each maintains the civilities, although each suspects the other might be muttering under his breath. An open fight could ensue.

IN THE United States, traditionally, each has left the other alone, the separation of church and state being based in the Constitution and exercised in the American creed.

The advocates of church taxation argue, however, that any tax exemption for a religious organization means that the First Amendment—"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion..."—is violated.

In rebuttal, those who wish to preserve the status quo state that a tax exemption is a long way from establishment of a church by a state or federal government.

Hal Boyle Remarks That Make Docs Sicker

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that doctors get tired of hearing—or overhearing: "I can't come to your office today, doc. I don't feel so good."

"Is it true that doctors have secret medicines that they save for themselves, in case they get sick?"

"If you're not sure exactly what's wrong with me, why don't I just wait while you look it up in a book?"

"DON'T DOCTORS ever practice what they preach? You tell me I ought to take off 10 pounds, but unless I miss my guess you ought to take off at least 20 yourself."

"Can't you prescribe something for me that comes in a pink capsule? I always seem to get well quicker when I take pink-colored medicines."

"How can you tell if a doctor has a good bedside manner any more? You can't get them to come to your bedside."

"No, I'm not really a patient. I'm from the U.S. Internal Revenue Service. However, after we finish our little chat about your 1965 income tax return, I would appreciate it if you'd take a quick look at my throat. It's been a bit sore for several days."

"WHAT ARE my symptoms? You name any symptom on your list, Doc, and I'll lay you 3 to 1 that I've got it."

"Instead of diagnosing it as gastritis from too much beer, Doc, couldn't you just give me a little note for my boss saying it's a potential ulcer from too much work and worry? That'll get me a lot more sympathy at the office."

"I can remember when his grandfather used to come to our house in his horse and buggy, even to treat a headache, and he only charged $2."

"Which patient do you want to see next, Doctor, the gabby old lady with the kidney or that fat Mr. Stuffed Shirt with the blood pressure? Better him maybe. He's getting pretty red in the face. He says he's been waiting 15 minutes already and that his time is as valuable to him as yours is to you."

"I'M GETTING married next week to the sweetest girl on earth, Doctor, and I just wanted to know if you had any—uh—medical advice or—uh—philosophy about life that would be helpful to me on our honeymoon."

"This your limousine in the no-parking zone, Doc? Afraid I'll have to write you out a ticket. Don't hand me that stuff about making a house call—because I just saw you coming out of that movie."

"I hate to be so old-maidish, Doctor, but couldn't you please look the other way while you examine me? I'm terribly shy."

"I KNOW I shouldn't ask you about professional matters while we're dancing at a party, Doctor, but could you tell me what are the first signs of gall bladder trouble in a girl who is—let us say, for example—on the shady side of 40?"

"I was reading one of the magazines in your anteroom, Doc, and according to that issue it looks like Tom Dewey is a sure shot for the presidency."

"Let the patients wait, Doctor. What kind of a nurse would I be if I didn't tell you when it was time for you to take your own medicine. Now, don't be a big baby about it. Open! Swallow! There!—that wasn't so bad, was it?"

To Your Good Health How Did A Stone Get In Her Jaw?

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: We discovered a lump in my mother's jaw. The doctor said it was a stone and fluid had gathered around it. Could you tell me how a stone happened to be there? If it's not gone in a month, she has to have an operation. — B. D.

Such "stones" are (like gall stones and kidney stones) solidified material which has been precipitated from certain body fluids. Such "stones" can form in ducts or outlets of glands which produce liquids in which various materials are dissolved.

From your description, I would guess that in this case the stone is in the duct of the parotid gland, that is, one of the saliva glands. These stones can sometimes be painful in addition to causing swelling of the gland, since the outlet is plugged, or partially so, and the saliva produced by the gland cannot flow freely.

Sucking on a lemon or something quite sour sometimes will activate the salivary gland to an extent that will force the stone out. If that does not work, surgical removal may be necessary.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read somewhere that zinc is important in the diet and, if men don't get enough of it, they may not be fertile. Is this true? If so, in what foods is zinc prominent besides seafood? — J.M.E.

Zinc is one of the "trace elements" that has had considerable discussion lately. It is present in all tissues of the body, and appears to be related to enzyme activity.

I don't know of any special relationship to fertility. Extra amounts of zinc have been found to accelerate wound healing, and extra zinc has been tried in cases of extensive arteriosclerosis.

In actual living habits, it is hard to escape getting enough zinc because good sources of it, besides seafood, include beef, egg, liver, many vegetables including corn, beets, peas, and

Around The Rim You Can't Trust Nobody

A friend and I were discussing our respective social lives. In fact, from the age standpoint it was a discussion between the lower middle age and upper middle age.

We agreed we didn't go out much. We had when we were younger, but somehow it lost so much of its glamour, if any.

"One time we were invited to a party," I said, "and suddenly I realized I had been to a party once, and they all seemed to be the same."

"YEAH," SAID my friend, "especially if you don't drink and everyone else does."

There was a short silence and I asked, "If I invited you over to our house, would you come?"

"No," he said.

"OK," I said, "why don't you and your wife come over to our house tomorrow night?"

"All right," he said enthusiastically. "What time?"

You can't trust nobody.

I DIDN'T identify my friend in the item above because his reputation is such that he can't afford to have my friendship made public.

But I can assure you it wasn't Ima Wineaux.

Justa (Ima's brother) needs help. "I've taken up music," he writes. "Can I get 'The Woodcutter's Solo' by Chopin in a Big Spring store? And where can I get Bach beer?"

BILLY GRAHAM says the world may be coming to an end soon, bringing up the old question, how soon is soon?

My bashful aunt, Marie Chastain, writes:

"Girls who wear skimpy bathing suits are provided with plenty of vitamin see."

The Middle Aged Curmudgeon reports he hasn't yet learned to carry water on both shoulders, "but I have it on both knees."

AND THE MOST penetrating observation of the week was made by Mrs. M. A. Curmudgeon, who stated: "I like Shirlee because we detect the same people."

Marie Antoinette's thoughtless remark, "Let them eat cake," was possibly history's most dramatic instance of "flour power."

ELECTION YEARS always remind me of the Mama Cow and Papa Cow grazing on the hillsides when the Mama noticed that the Baby Cow had wandered over two hills and was rapidly approaching the crest of a third.

She turned to the Papa and said, "Papa, look where our son is."

"Yes, Mama," Papa replied, "these days a little bull goes a long way."

MY DRINKING cousin, old what's-his-name, doesn't know when to stop. He asks:

"Did you hear about the rich Texan who went all the way to South Africa to get a gun heart?"

—WALT FINLEY

Holmes Alexander Another Concession To The Soviets

WASHINGTON—Dean Rusk is not Secretary of World Salvation, but he sometimes talks that way. The other day, in presenting the Non-Proliferation Treaty to the Senate, Rusk rose above his humble post as American Secretary of State in grand style. He began to talk with quaking voice about the "great tragedy that humanity experienced" when nuclear energy was not internationalized under the Baruch plan of 1946. He told the senators that the opportunity had come around once more "to keep the nuclear beast in its cage."

BUT IT'S a stubborn fact that Rusk doesn't get paid for worrying about "humanity." The only oath-of-office he swore was to this nation, and to none other. The Baruch plan to which he referred would have given American goods and secrets to the United Nations, one of the silliest proposals ever seriously made by a sane man.

Rusk expressed regret that Bernard Baruch's proposed giveaway hadn't succeeded and had not "removed nuclear energy entirely from the military field." But what a bit of luck it was that this didn't happen! Had it happened, as Churchill once noted, the Soviet Army in 1946 would have marched from East Europe to the English Channel. Had it happened, we would have had World War III instead of the Cold War.

RUSK'S CONFUSION of mind throws much doubt upon the Non-Proliferation Treaty as an instrument of benefit to the United States. As he and William S. Foster, the U.S. disarmament chief, explained the Treaty to the Foreign Relations Committee, it is clear that we are accepting more disadvantages than the treaty is worth.

One major concession is that we have agreed to on-the-ground inspection of our peaceful nuclear facilities whereas Russia has refused to make a reciprocal agreement.

ANOTHER disadvantage to the U.S. is that we retain our obligations to defend almost every allied and neutral nation in the world against nuclear blackmail. Even India, which has refused to sign the Treaty because of the nearby threat of Red China, has a call upon our protection. But there is nothing in the Treaty that binds Russia to help us halt a nuclear aggressor or blackmail, such as China or France. To make up for this inequity, there was an empty resolution agreed to last March in the U.N. It said that nuclear aggression against a non-nuclear nation "would create a situation in which the Security Council . . . would have to act immediately . . ."

But Russia, as in the past, will veto any Security Council proposition that doesn't suit Soviet policy.

IN SHORT, we are dealing with a proposition, like the Baruch plan, which contemplates much American giveaway in "nuclear service" to smaller nations, but requires very little of Soviet Russia, not even the good faith of mutual inspection. This Treaty makes the absurd assumption that the Free World is somehow better off whenever the U.S.A. makes concessions to the U.S.S.R.

WASHINGTON — Preconvention trends in politics are often followed by an entirely different set of influences that become dominant after the presidential nominations have actually been made. Thus, today there is much speculation about the meaning of the large percentages achieved in polls by George Wallace and Eugene McCarthy, respectively. The truth is that the strength shown by both these aspirants could evaporate to a considerable extent once the party platforms take specific positions on current issues.

AS OF NOW the most articulate and free-swinging critic of the Johnson administration is former governor Wallace, who has delved into many issues. Sen. McCarthy, on the other hand, owes his support for the moment largely to the people who think the Vietnam war can be ended by some magic device which the Minnesota senator might invent.

The Gallup Poll over the weekend shows the Wallace vote nationwide has gone up from nine per cent in April to 16 per cent in early July. When the details of the poll are examined, however, it is found that the biggest proportion of his support is in the South and that he gets a relatively small percentage rating outside that section of the country.

ROCKEFELLER'S strategists naturally are making hay out of this. They argue that, with Wallace in the race and running so strongly in the South, Nixon will be prevented from winning electoral votes in that region. Their theory is that a Republican nominee who could carry many states in the West and East could pick up a majority of the electoral votes without the South.

CERTAINLY the Republicans in the South are today more numerous than ever before. But there are also many supporters of Wallace who would switch their votes to the Republican side if Humphrey or McCarthy were nominated. Southern Democrats generally would be more inclined to shift to Nixon than to Rockefeller, as the former is considered closer to the position taken on various subjects by Southern members of Congress.

THE SAME SORT of issues are being debated among Republican delegates in the East and West. Which of the candidates — Nixon or Rockefeller — would support programs favorable to business? Which of the two men would take a stronger stand on preserving the civil rights of those northerners who think that some of the existing laws are being applied arbitrarily and in a discriminatory way against them? Would Nixon or Rockefeller deal more firmly with riots and disorders and other troublesome questions that have produced discontent throughout the nation?

AS FOR the Democrats, there is talk of a Humphrey - Kennedy ticket. This raises some political problems encountered before, and it will be recalled that the religious issue emerged in 1960 and became a factor in the campaign. Defections occurred then in both parties.

This time, however, the election is much more likely to be determined by the size of the over-all protest vote. Up to now, every poll taken indicated disapproval of many policies of the Democratic administration. Unless these are clearly repudiated by the Democratic presidential nominee — which doesn't seem probable — the addition of Sen. Edward Kennedy to the ticket could hardly be decisive.

Socialists Seize Iraq

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The military junta that seized power in Iraq Tuesday is made up of moderate Socialists, nationalists and conservatives, informed Arab diplomatic sources reported today.

The diplomats said the overthrow of President Abdul Rahman Aref was engineered by this coalition:
BLOODLESS
—Moderate left-wingers led by the new president, Maj. Gen. Ahmed Hassan El Bakr.

—Nonaligned nationalists led by former Vice Premier Rajab Abdel Majid.
—Conservative army elements supporting the former defense minister, Gen. Abdel Aziz El Okelli.

The sources said the junta is

Roof Repairs Near $90,000

Roofing permits issued since the May 5 hail storm have placed damage values at $90,130.58, and this only includes roof damage to homes, not automobiles.

May reroofing permits were valued at $40,661.83 and June permits at $49,468.75.

Insurance adjusters in May estimated that the loss might rise as high as $1,200,000 before all damages are taken care of.

Two score adjusters from Insurance Information Institute in Dallas arrived in the city during the week following the storm to help expedite claims and set up a special General Adjustment Bureau at 410 E. Third St.

The storm, as sudden as it was vicious, raked everything east of a line laid diagonally from northwest to southeast across the city with a barrage of golf-ball size stones and dumped two to three inches of rain within the space of half an hour causing flooding around town.

City residents compared the storm to the one of May 15, 1965, which caused more than a million dollars worth of damage here.

Roswell Quartet Performs Here

The Gloryland Quartet from Roswell, N.M., will be at Stadium Baptist Church Sunday to take charge of the song service.

The service will begin at 10:50 a.m. and continue until the preaching service. The group has appeared several times in the past in local churches.

The members hold secular jobs during the week and fill singing engagements at various churches on Sundays.

O. L. Kennison, head of the group, said, "We just sing to praise the Lord."
—The group has been singing together for several years.

More Moisture Over County

Light showers returned to Big Spring on Friday morning and added to the light amounts of moisture which were received Thursday. The U. S. Experiment Station reported .06 inch for Thursday morning but no report was available for the Friday rains. In some parts of town, the Thursday rains were believed to have reached as much as quarter of an inch.

Friday's shower seemed to be even brisker downtown than the Thursday sample. Only light showers apparently fell over the county. Knott had a light rain today according to Mrs. Mac Gaskins.

Two More Texans Killed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Defense Thursday announced the following casualties in connection with the war in Vietnam.

Killed in action:
ARMY
Texas — Spec. 4 Marcos Hinojosa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roberto Hinojosa, Box 11, Hebronville.

Died, not in action:
ARMY
Texas — Pvt. Roland H. Jenkins, son of Clarence Jenkins, 2001 Breckenridge St., Houston.

Disaster Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Small Business Administration Thursday designated Collingsworth County, Tex., as a disaster area because of flood damage July 16.

made up of El Bakr, Abdel Majid, El Okelli, and three other army officers who actually carried out the coup; the commander of the Baghdad garrison, the commander of the palace guard, and the assistant chief of the army intelligence service.

Although slogans of the Baath Socialist party dominate Baghdad Radio, the bloodless coup bore the restrained stamp of El Okelli, the sources added.

The junta on Thursday announced appointment of a 27-man coalition government made up of nationalist, Baath Socialist and conservatives.

The government is headed by Abdul Razzak El Naef, a former intelligence official who played an active role in the coup. Others include Nasser Elhanan, a career diplomat, foreign minister; Ibrahim Abdul Rahman Daud, defense minister, and economic expert Saleh Kobbar, finance minister.

SURRENDER

The semiofficial Baghdad newspaper Al Jumhuriya, in an account of the coup, said Aref was forced to surrender after army tanks ringed his palace and fired a warning salvo.

The report said the success of the operation depended on dissidents in the palace garrison who allowed commandos and retired army officers to enter.

Army units then surrounded the palace and an armored unit was moved into the city in support.

El Bakr then telephoned Aref demanding his surrender but the president refused. Al Jumhuriya said tanks and machine guns then began firing and Aref finally gave in on condition that his life be spared.

Man Faces Second Checking Charge

John Lee Thomas, indicted on July 9 for worthless check, has been arrested for a new offense of the same nature and has been released from the Howard County Jail on $1,500 bond, Sheriff A. N. Standard said today.

Thomas was billed for felony check writing by the grand jury which was in session July 9. He was at liberty on bond in the case, Standard said, when the second complaint was filed against him.

'Wet Back' Held

A young Mexican who claims he is a "wet back" is in the Howard County Jail following his arrest at a residence in Silver Heels last night. Officers are awaiting word from the Border Patrol on what is to be done with him.

Reception Area Of New Credit Union Home

The reception area of the new Webb AFB Federal Credit Union has been carpeted and furnished with blue leather couches and chairs and a Tiki fountain in the far corner.

The new-member officer, Mrs. Mary Anne Forch, is located just off the central reception area.

Striking Color Scheme Marks Credit Facility

A color scheme of royal blue, avocado green and tangerine accents the decor of the new Webb AFB Federal Credit Union.

The building is of prefabricated steel and faced with grey brick on the north and south ends and a mural of ceramic tile depicting the emblem of the credit union on the north side, which will be lighted at night.

Containing 4,320 square feet of floor space, the building has three private offices, a conference room, a reception area, five partially-enclosed offices, the cash department, the bookkeeping department and an employees' lounge.

PRIVATE OFFICES
Private offices have been provided for Wade Choate, manager; Mrs. Roberta Oldfield, office manager; and Robert Piatkowski, loan supervisor.

Offices are paneled with mahogany-stained ash, have royal blue- and -green carpets and ivory Fiberglas drapes. Steel desks with teak or walnut wood grained tops have been installed.

The center attraction upon entering the building is the cash department with a long counter fronted with walnut-stained paneling. The area is tiled in light-colored tiles and has a raised ceiling from which globe lights have been suspended.

The reception area in front of this is carpeted and blue leather chairs and couches have been provided. A Tiki fountain is the attention-getter in this part of the building.

RECORDS
Directly behind the teller area is the bookkeeping department where all the records are kept. Accounting for the credit union is done in Dallas, but all information is kept in the local office for quick reference.

The walls in the loan department are covered with vinyl wall fabric and each counselor has a partially-enclosed office.

A lounge for the employees has been provided with full kitchen equipment, decorated in avocado green, for coffee and dinner breaks.

In the entrance hall a large enclosed bulletin board is provided for the financial statement and for use of members advertising sale items. A remote music system provides music throughout the building.

Personnel will be carrying out the color scheme with the women dressed in blue A-line dresses and the men in blue blazers with the credit union emblem. Material for the women's dresses comes from a special bolt of material made up expressly for the Webb Credit Union.

LANDSCAPED
The grounds have been landscaped with honeysuckle surrounding the building, crabapple and red oak trees and bermuda grass in the lawn area. Hilltop Greenery was in charge of landscaping.

The new building, built by J. D. Jones Construction, Big Spring, was opened for business May 31 after employees spent their Memorial Day holiday moving records and equipment. The credit union was formerly located in Building 245 in the Student Squadron.

The new building was designed by Gary and Hohertz, Big Spring, and furnished by West Texas Office Supply, Midland, and Good Housekeeping, Big Spring. The new credit union has been in the planning stages for four years, Choate said.

It is located between the Chapel and the base exchange and is listed as Building 327.

Union Operates For Its Members

The Webb AFB Federal Credit Union, as are all other such federal organizations, is legally incorporated as a non-profit organization for members only. It is run by members through their duly elected directors and is entirely owned by its members. Only the members have money in the Credit Union and only the members can withdraw their funds, use its services, vote for its officers or manage its affairs.

There is a fee of just 25 cents to join, with an initial deposit of at least $5. Members may use savings and loan services immediately.

Credit Union Opening Set For Saturday

A ribbon-cutting ceremony will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday to dedicate the new Webb AFB Federal Credit Union with Col. William McGlothlin, wing commander, doing the honors.

Open House will be held 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with staff members conducting tours of the new facility. Pot holders and metal rulers bearing the credit union emblem and motto, "Lending a helping hand," will be presented to visitors, according to Wade Choate, manager.

Maj. Jerry S. Grimes, president of the board of directors of the credit union, and Mayor Arnold Marshall have been invited to attend the morning ceremonies.

Brig. Gen. (Ret.) Evert S. Thomas, executive secretary of the Defense Credit Union Council, Washington, D. C., will be guest speaker at a noon luncheon honoring out-of-town dignitaries.

Gen. Thomas was appointed Brigadier General in 1959 following a distinguished career in the U.S. Army during which he was twice in enlisted status and twice went back to officer status and was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, the Silver Star, the Bronze Star, the Legion of Merit and the Combat Infantry Badge for combat operations.

The Rhode Island native is married and has one son serving in Vietnam as a captain with the Army. The General is a 1931 graduate of Ohio State University.

Gen. Thomas is the liaison officer between the federal credit unions, the Department of Defense and Congress, Choate said. The luncheon will be 12-1 p.m. in the Officer's Club.

Loans Go To $58 Million, Dividends At $9 Million

When the Webb AFB Federal Credit Union closes its books at the end of the year, it will have achieved a record of having made around $58 million in loans and paid its members about a million dollars in dividends since organization, March 10, 1955.

The picture has been one of steady growth. Although the number of loans made in a year may fluctuate, the volume shows a steady increase. Likewise, this is true for the amount of shares (savings) members have in the credit union. Earnings have increased dramatically.

At the end of 1967, the association had outstanding $4,390,321 in loans. It had made $8,053,000 since organization, and these aggregated $53,177,000. The peak year for loans outstanding was in October, 1966, with $8,873,542, representing the loans assumed when the Webb Credit Union took over the one at Walker AFB when that field was closed in 1966.

Perhaps these figures since 1960 will reflect the picture of growth for the credit union:

Year	Loans Made	Amount	Shareholders	Amt.	Divids.
1967	5,942	$4,709,790	8,888	$4,531,869	$226,728
1966	8,067	5,770,975	10,173	4,268,700	107,182
1965	5,761	3,500,065	4,919	2,576,236	116,298
1964	5,915	4,339,770	4,958	2,366,543	106,138
1963	6,567	3,480,231	4,525	1,842,035	84,763
1962	6,950	2,965,091	4,325	1,583,362	74,323

Active Community Leader Heads Webb Credit Union

A well-known Big Spring resident, Wade Choate, has been manager of the Webb Credit Union since 1965 when he took over from Duke Baker, who had held the post six years.

A 1960 graduate of Coahoma High School, Choate is an active supporter of many organizations. He has been on the YMCA Board of Directors six years, was a director of the United Fund in 1965, and is an active worker of the March of Dimes. He organized the Howard County Employees Federal Credit Union and served as president two years. He is also a charter member of the Big Spring SMU Alumni Association and served as the first president in 1958. He has also been treasurer.

Choate served on the Board of Directors of the SMU Alumni Association in Dallas 1965-67 and is a college student recruiter-interviewer. He is on the Howard County School Board.

He has worked with the high school boys club at the YMCA since 1957, served as vice president in 1967, directed the YMCA membership campaign in 1965, and was awarded the Hi-Y Council Leadership Award in 1961.

He directed the Governmental Employees Division of the 1962 United Fund drive and the county employees 1963-64. Choate served as chairman of the Board for the March of Dimes in 1966 and was treasurer in 1967.

He is an alternate director of the West Texas District of the Texas Credit Union League and a member of the Oddfellows. He has served as vice chairman and treasurer to the Big Spring High School Foreign Exchange Student Program of the American Field Service.

Before he came to the credit union, Choate was district clerk and county auditor for Howard County.

He has attended Draughon's Business College, Abilene; Howard County Junior College; Southern Methodist University, Dallas; University of Wisconsin Credit Union Personnel School. Choate is married and has one son, Kyle Wade, 8, who attends College Heights Elementary. He and his wife, Toni, a longtime Big Spring resident, live at 1807 Main. She graduated from Big Spring High School and her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Tony Barron, 1605 State.

Manager's Office

The office of Wade Choate, manager of Webb Credit Union, is typical of the private offices in the recently completed building. They are paneled in mahogany-stained ash and are furnished in color schemes of tangerine, royal blue and avocado green.

Child Accounts Are Encouraged

Webb AFB's Credit Union, in the interest of training in the thrift habit, encourages members to establish accounts for children. Each child may have his own account (usually joint with one or both parents), and the child receives full dividends on all shares. Withdrawal of children's accounts must have the signature of the joint owner. Credit Union officials say "this is an excellent way to help parents teach children how to save and manage money."

Loans Offered For Many Uses

Members of the Webb Federal Credit Union have access to its loaning facilities for a number of uses. Approval of loans is based on purpose, need, and ability to repay. There are repayment methods set up for pledge-of-share loans, automobile loans, signature loans, and on other items such as mobile homes, furniture and appliances, motor boats and trailers, jewelry and other valuables, motorcycles and the like.

Dividends Paid Twice Each Year

The Credit Union accepts savings shares in $5 denominations, and savings may be deposited in any amount at any time. Savings may be made by allotment, by mail, or in person. Dividends are declared semi-annually by the board of directors and credited directly to each share account on the first day of January and July of each year.

Heartbreak Waiting At Rainbow's End

Editor's Note: Visions of fame and fortune lure many young rock 'n' roll groups to Hollywood, but only a few percentage find success. Of the rest, many are victimized by unscrupulous managers and wind up on the street, broke and hungry. Some legitimate managers, however, are seeking ways to protect the youngsters.

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Long-haired and singing they come— young boys from cities and towns across the land, guitar cases under their arms, seeking the rock 'n' roll kingdom of heaven.

The faces are bumpy with acne and the eyes aglow with a hope that only the young can fathom. Visions of Beatles and Monkees dance in their heads.

What many find at the rainbow's end is the Sunset Strip, littered not with gold but with heartbreak.

"A group comes to town. They seek out a crash pad—a place to live. Usually their equipment gets stolen. They go hungry. They walk the streets where the kids hang out, and that's where they get taken."

The story is told by Jim DeMarco, a long-haired, neatly bearded 26-year-old who has been managing rock 'n' roll groups since he left high school. He has handled the rocketing career of a group called The Vanilla Fudge, but is concerned now with the kids who don't make it—and the people who try to exploit them.

DeMarco, who now manages a group called The Happy Apples, volunteered to work in a campaign started recently by the Hollywood local of the American Federation of Musicians to protect youngsters from what the union calls unethical, moneygrabbing men who have attached themselves to the thriving body of the music business like leeches.

Unscrupulous managers, warns AFM Local 47, are waiting on every corner to victimize young rock 'n' rollers.

"Some are fly-by-night characters, some have real connections, some are strictly one-shot, but all have a similar pattern," says John Tranchitella, president of Local 47. "They have signed new groups to personal management agreements that give the bulk of earnings to the manager but all expenses to the players."

In addition to the managers, says DeMarco, there are night club owners, unscrupulous record companies and artists and repertory men who move from one company to another—all awaiting gullible youngsters with their songs and their hopes.

The union says it has a list of about 40 to 50 groups victimized in recent months, and the methods of exploitation are becoming familiar:

EXPOSURE

—Night club owners tell young groups the only way they can get "exposure" is to work for free—and they do. The "exposure" is a fantasy. Big-time music men rarely attend these clubs.

—A small-time record promoter will take a group to a studio, record their voices on tape "to hear how you sound" and sell the tape to a record company. The kids never get paid.

—An "agent" signs a group to a contract, gets them personal appearance dates, does out weekly living expenses to the youngsters and pockets the rest of their earnings.

—Night clubs catering to teenagers sponsor "contests" in which the prize is supposed to be a recording contract. Entertainers work for free; admission is charged and friends of the singers are encouraged to buy food and drink to influence who will win. The promised "contract" is nonexistent.

The list of unscrupulous practices goes on and on. "This is why so many kids wind up on the street," says

DeMarco. "They lose faith in a society which took advantage of them. They become what society calls hippies."

CLEAN UP

The union says it is taking steps to clean up the situation because "we want the music business to be a healthy business."

Tranchitella hopes to establish a special office to handle complaints of young rock 'n' rollers and to encourage them to get in touch with this office for advance as soon as they arrive in Hollywood.

Meanwhile, Tranchitella has other plans to protect young musicians against exploitation. "We will publicize these practices so that members will be able to recognize them," he says. He also plans to prosecute the cases of exploitation which have been uncovered. And he wants to agitate for legislation which will require personal managers to have state licenses. The legislation would govern the amount a manager is allowed to deduct from a performer's earnings.

Tranchitella is quick to admit that "every once in awhile a young group makes it." But the figures are not encouraging.

DeMarco says that rock 'n' roll recording companies issue about 1,000 records per week. Few ever make the top 10 in sales.

For all the hundreds of young musicians who flock to Hollywood with dreams of glory "about 1 per cent make it."

REST CASE

That 1 per cent finds what the rest came after—the huge salaries, the world tours, the adoration of the masses.

Even then, fame is fleeting. "The longest that a group can expect to last is five years," says DeMarco. "But in this business, if you last for two years you're financially set for the rest of your life."

June Was Cooler

By The Associated Press

Soaring temperatures in Northwest Texas and generous amounts of rain on the Gulf Coast were departures from the trend of Texas weather for June.

Temperatures in June were generally cooler over the state but the month ended on a scorching note in Northwest Texas, where highs were well into the 100s as the month ended.

Tropical Storm Candy visited the middle Gulf Coast, dumping heavy rains on the area and causing an estimated $1 million in damages.

Houston reported rain for 10 consecutive days, a record for June. Beaumont and Port Arthur had rain nine straight days and Galveston had 10.53 inches of rain, making the month the third wettest June on record.

NAVY LOOKING FOR SOMETHING ELSE

Controversial TFX Still Costly

Editor's Note: The F111A is showing its troubles in combat and in Congress, but the airplane is neither down nor out, at least not yet. Here's an examination in detail of one of the costliest airplanes in military history.

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — More delay and higher spending loom in the controversial and costly effort launched six years ago with the idea of producing, at a bargain, a tactical warplane that would serve both the Air Force and the Navy.

Congress has already invested $3.3 billion in the program, originally dubbed the TFX. But it is on the verge of shooting down the Navy's version of the plane, now called the F111.

And three of eight Air Force versions of the swinging supersonic jet literally went down in late March and April during the plane's first exposure to combat.

BLOWS

Despite these latest blows to the joint program fathered and pursued by former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, principally as a money-saving venture, work continues on F111 development, test and production lines.

At the same time, testimony recently made public by the Senate Armed Services Committee includes these harbingers of new delay and more cost:

—McNamara, who has since resigned, said the Air Force supply of the F111A would be built up "somewhat more slowly than planned last year in order to permit a more orderly phase-in of the D model. The F111D, with the superior Mark II avionics now under development, promises to provide a fourfold improvement in navigational accuracy over the F111A, plus a better all-weather, air-to-ground weapon delivery accuracy and an all-weather, radar-guided, air-to-ground weapon delivery accuracy and an all-weather, radar-guided, air-to-air missile capability."

—Navy spokesmen testified that designing a substitute for their F111B would mean a delay in getting a suitable missile-toting, carrier-based interceptor to the fleet. Length of the delay was classified. Secretary of the Navy Paul R. Ignatius also said scrapping the F111B would raise costs of the F111A. But the committee told the Navy to go ahead and figure out what it would need to substitute for the F111B.

SLOWED

—Gen. John P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff, testified that phaseout of B52 bombers has been slowed "to maintain the total bomber force at an effective level over a period in which the F111B will be produced at a slower rate than was originally planned." The F111B is a strategic bomber version of the F111. It should not be confused with the Navy's F111B.

The over-all F111 program has produced since 1962 a jumble of figures, claims and accusations. Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of a subcommittee that has investigated the F111 program for five years, said the Pentagon first estimated it could acquire 1,700 planes for $6 billion, including $711 million for research. Now, he said, the estimate is $12 billion or more for 1,300 planes, including $2 billion in research.

The Pentagon will not say how many F111s it intends to eventually buy.

A newly declassified Pentagon summary shows that in budgets through June 30, 1968, Congress has approved $5.3 billion in spending for the program, including $2.1 billion for research and $3.2 billion for production.

Through Jan. 31, the Department of Defense had signed agreements covering $4.5 billion and had already issued checks for $2.9 billion.

COST

Current flyaway cost of an F111A is $6.76 million according to Defense Department statistics provided this year to the Senate Armed Services Committee. This does not include the cost of such necessities as spare parts, training simulators and ground support equipment.

Secretary of the Navy Ignatius testified that flyaway cost for the F111B is $8.1 million. But, he told the committee: "These two programs share the contractor's facilities, and if the Navy plane were terminated, there would be an upward effect on the cost of the Air Force airplanes, and we are developing these figures."

The present production order awarded to General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth, Tex., the prime contractor, is for 493 planes at a cost of $1.82 billion. The last plane is to be delivered in 1971. Original end-of-run target date was late 1970. Only 24 of the 493 are to be Navy F111Bs.

The $1.82 billion contract does not include such items as engines purchased by the government from another contractor. McNamara claimed at the start of the program that using one basic plane for both services would save $1 billion through commonality—use of many identical systems and parts in both planes. Scrapping of the Navy version, as now contemplated, presumably would nullify many of these claimed savings.

DESIGN

Central characteristic of the F111 is its swinging design. Extension of the wings permits slow speeds and short landings. The wings are swung back along the fuselage for supersonic flight.

Versions of the plane differ, however, in such areas as weight, wing length, nose configuration and fuselage length. Commonality between the Navy and Air Force planes is about 70 per cent, the Air Force said, although in 1962 it was estimated the planes could be 80 per cent common.

Asked what an alternate plane designed solely for the Navy would cost, Secretary of the Navy Ignatius said: "I am not able at this time to answer that part of the question that deals with the cost of an alternative aircraft."

The Defense Department has already issued $374.4 million in F111B contracts and $342.3 million in contracts for the Phoenix missile the Navy plane is to carry. An alternate plane also would be armed with the Phoenix, according to present plans. By way of price comparison, the Air Force is paying $2.4 million flyaway cost for the F4E fighter. This is the latest model of the F4 series, first approved for production in 1955. The F4 comprises the majority of Air Force tactical fighter forces, and also is a Navy plane.

Aside from costs, the planes produced by the program get a varied reaction. The Air Force says the F111A satisfies its needs but concedes it does not match the original goals for the craft.

TOO HEAVY

Navy brass says the F111B is too heavy for carriers and can't do as many jobs as they hoped it would perform.

This criticism of the F111B performance climaxed in April when the Senate Armed Services Committee rejected a Navy request for $460 million to further develop and evaluate the F111B, and procure 30 planes.

The committee ordered in the defense spending authorization bill that "none of the funds authorized to be appropriated by this act may be used for development or procurement of the F111B aircraft." It also voted $287 million for initial development of a substitute for the F111B.

The decisions are subject to full congressional action later this year but Congress is not expected to overturn the committee.

Rep. Jim Wright of Texas, a leading defender of the F111, said he had no plan to fight for retention of the F111B "unless the Navy wants it."

"If they don't want it, I'm not going to cram it down their throats," said Wright, a Democrat whose district includes Fort Worth, where the F111 is made.

Nonetheless, Clark M. Clifford, McNamara's successor as defense secretary, told the House Armed Services Committee recently that Congress should vote money both for continued evaluation of the F111B and for contractor proposals on a substitute. He said this would keep options open until March, 1969, and "with this additional information, we could then make a sounder choice between the two alternatives."

GRUDGING

The Air Force's F111A had finally won at least grudging acceptance from its critics until the string of war losses in Southeast Asia.

In a secrecy-shrouded operation dubbed "Harvest Reaper," six F111As arrived in March at Takhli airbase, 100 miles north of Bangkok, Thailand.

In quick order, an F111A went down March 25, and another crashed March 30.

Two substitute F111As went to Takhli. Then, on April 22, another F111A failed to return from a mission. Four of the six crewmen involved are still missing.

From Capitol Hill came demands that the planes be withdrawn from combat.

Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., said on the Senate floor: "It is mandatory that the remaining five 'Harvest Reaper' airplanes be brought back immediately from Vietnam and not returned to combat until they are fully tested and ready."

McClellan said in an interview: "The Air Force on the face of it should ground and withdraw the plane from combat until they know what's wrong with it and correct it. It's suicidal to send out pilots. The Air Force said that F111As made bombing runs as recently as April 27.

Congressman Wright, who has flown the F111A, insisted it is "a remarkable piece of machinery—the greatest advance in the state of the art ever put together in a single package."

CONTINUE

But McClellan said his permanent investigations subcommittee would continue its five-year investigation of the F111 program "as soon as I can do it." He would "not get pinned to a date."

The wreckage of only one plane has been found in Southeast Asia. It is being collected and will be minutely examined for clues. The first causes given by the Air Force was that "a foreign object (a capsule of solidified sealant) had become lodged in the ditch-roll mixer assembly of the flight controls, thereby rendering the aircraft uncontrollable under certain conditions of flight." Preliminary analysis had ruled out any design failure of the flight control or terrain follow radar systems "the Air Force added.

The needle-nosed F111A features a radar guidance system which carries it low over the ground and under enemy radar and fire, automatically changing altitude to match terrain. It also carries self-destruct equipment designed to ruin such equipment before the enemy can get it.

CRASH

Six F111As and one F111B have crashed during the program's first 10,000 hours of flight time. The Air Force located figures for the first 5,000 hours of flight time of other programs and said these planes had major accidents during those periods: Five F4s, seven F100s, eleven F101s, nine F102s, fourteen F104s, eight F105s and seven F106s.

Frank Davis, president of the Fort Worth division of General Dynamics, the division that builds the plane, was asked if he thought testing was sufficient before the F111A went into combat. He replied that the company had tested it for 5,700 hours and the Air Force for another 3,300 hours.

"All conditions expected in actual combat operation had been thoroughly explored," he said in an interview. He claimed that "the fact that three losses under combat conditions occurred in close succession is probably not significant either from a statistical standpoint or from the standpoint of the integrity of the F111 aircraft. It is characteristic of virtually all aircraft that the accident rate increases on the first exposure to real combat conditions."

To date, 61 F111As have come off the production line and flown. By June, 10 a month are due to come off the line and that rate is to increase to 14 or 15 monthly by the end of the year.

MONEY

Despite delays and increasing costs, General Dynamics still expect to make money on the F111 program. Roger Lewis, president of the over-all corporation, told stockholders in Chicago April 24: "There is no question of anticipated losses. The question is one of how much profit to book in a given year." The original award envisioned a 9 per cent profit margin. The Air Force said it has no present

Congregation Gains New Church Home

By SAM BLACKBURN
Open house at which the Prairie View Baptist Church will show off its beautiful new church plant is set for all day Sunday, July 28.

First services in the new building were conducted on last Sunday night. A wedding ceremony Saturday will make further use of the new plant. And, of course, the Rev. Roy Collins, pastor, will conduct services there on next Sunday.

The attractive brick structure, built at a cost of $35,000, replaces the old church which has served the congregation for 46 years. The new church is the second building the Prairie View Baptists have had. Organized in 1907, the church held services from that date through 1923 in the old Moore school house which is not too far from the present church location. In 1924, the old building, now being abandoned, was built on the tract of ground about half a mile west of the Fairview gin. It has been in service since. Now, if all goes well, the old building will continue to serve. The congregation has offered the structure to a church in town on condition that it be removed from its present site.

Mr. Collins said that the pastor of the town church has said his congregation will want the building.

Prairie View's new edifice is of red brick and of attractive design. Its central feature is a chapel which will seat 150. The chapel is carpeted and the pews and all furnishings are new. The pews are upholstered and are of oak. The walls are paneled in mahogany. There is a sizable choir loft, an organ and a piano. The pulpit is designed to fit into the decor of the building. Adjoining the chapel and connected by a hallway are nine Sunday school classrooms, a nursery, the pastor's study and the church office. Adequate storage facilities are also provided. Adjoining on the northwest corner is a fellowship room, capable of seating about 200. To serve this area is a completely equipped kitchen.

The entire building is air conditioned and equipped with central heating. Lighting in the chapel is by concealed ceiling fixtures. Acoustics are exceptionally good, the pastor said. The church parsonage is on the same tract of land as the new church. The congregation did not award a contract for the new building but employed Ray Parker to supervise the construction. Work was begun three months ago.

Prairie View church has 140 members — all living in the Fairview community. It dates back to 1907 when a group of residents in the Moore community met and formed the first congregation. For a long time, services were conducted in the Moore school.

Rev. Collins has been the church's pastor for a little over a year. A former airman, he resumed the ministry after leaving the Air Force. Prior to coming to Prairie View, he was pastor of another church nearby for a short time.

Deacons of the church are Edgar Phillips, Carl Grant and B. M. Newton. Mrs. W. C. Fryar is the music director with Miss Kendra Thomas, pianist, and Miss Carlene Hammack, organist.

The open house will begin at 10 a.m. July 28 and continue all day. The new building will be inspected from 2 to 5 p.m. Services will be conducted by the Rev. Darrell Robinson, formerly of this county but more recently in Amarillo. He is leaving after the one week revival service he is to conduct at Prairie View for Liberal, Kan., where he will become pastor of First Baptist Church. The services will be daily at 28 or at any time.

H-SU Prof Addresses Baptists

Dr. Lindell O. Harris, chairman of the department of religion at Hardin-Simmons University, will speak at both the 11 a.m. and the 7:15 p.m. worship services of Baptist Temple Sunday.

He will be speaking during the absence of the pastor, the Rev. James Puckett, who is taking graduate work.

Dr. Harris is a native of Blodgett, Mo., and holds degrees from Southwest Baptist College, Baylor University (where he graduated cum laude), and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary (including his doctorate in 1949).

He has taught in the Baptist School of Religion in Honolulu, Hawaii, and at Southwestern Theological Seminary as well as Hardin-Simmons. In addition, he has pastored churches in Missouri, Louisiana and Texas and has served as interim pastor in nearly two score others. Dr. LINDELL O. HARRIS

NEW HEART, NEW LIFE — SALVATION'S BASIS

Every man should face his situation as frankly as Ezekiel wanted his people to face theirs. This is the teaching of the Uniform Lesson Series for this week.

The lesson is taken from Ezekiel 18:25; 36:16-38 and is centered around the core of salvation, "True religion means a new heart issuing a new life."

God tells what will happen to those who stay in their wickedness and to those who turn to Him and righteousness. Facts are facts. Every man is responsible to decide what he will do with his life on the basis of those facts.

Anyone who attempts to live the Christian life apart from the true experience of salvation or new birth will be futile. Man just does not have it in him; that was the message of Ezekiel — let God do for you what you cannot do for yourself.

True religion is more than outward reformation; it is an inward regeneration. It does mean a new life. But first of all it means a new heart (regeneration) and a new spirit (sanctification). It is said of Saul, "God gave him another heart" (1 Samuel 10:9). That is what must happen to a person before he is a Christian. Then he must allow the Holy Spirit to come into his life in His fullness.

Baptist Laymen Visit Stanton For Rally

Baptist laymen of this area will have their annual rally at the Permian Basin Encampment grounds north of Stanton, July 27, according to Dr. H. M. Jarratt, president.

Roy Akers, San Antonio, president of the Texas Baptist Men, will be a speaker, and Dr. L. L. Morris, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Midland, will deliver the sermon.

Others on the program include Owen Taylor, Lamesa, who will lead the singing, and Doyce Edwards, Westbrook, accompanist. The Rev. Julian Vignone, pastor of La Fe Baptist Church in Big Spring, will read the Scriptures, and the Rev. John Rankin, camp director, will give the encampment report.

Laymen may register anytime during the afternoon, when there will be a recreational period. The evening meal will be served from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m., followed by the program at 7 p.m.

Presbyterians Attend Seminar

Seventeen members of the United Presbyterian Church attended a Caribbean-North American seminar for Reformed and Presbyterian churchwomen in Kingston, Jamaica.

Among the members was a Texas delegate, Mrs. Earl H. Christman, Big Lake.

Held at the United Theological College of the West Indies, the seminar was built around the theme "a new people and a new age." Among discussion topics were problems of alienation and isolation, new duties in community and nation, the changes brought about by the shrinking world, and the roles and responsibilities of women in contemporary life.

source of beauty

When we look upon the grandeur of nature—when we gaze with awe at a masterpiece of art—when we are thrilled with the sounds of great music—then we often wonder about the source of all this beauty.

Undoubtedly, our energy and ability is God. It is He who is the real source of beauty in our culture. Human spirits, touched with divine inspiration have given the world treasures untold.

Consider Da Vinci's The Last Supper. Consider Handel's Messiah. Consider the marvelous literature of the Holy Bible. Truly some of the very finest of man's creations have come as the result of an awareness of God.

Indeed today our culture continues to be enriched by the expression of man's faith in the Eternal. Our churches bring us faith in God which is still a vital source of inspiration and beauty. Let the church enrich your life. Attend this Sunday and every Sunday.

Legislation On Credit Explained

Roger Brown, local attorney, discussed phases of the new marital law recently passed by the legislature at the Thursday meeting of the Big Spring Credit Women—International at Hotel Settles.

Brown told the group of new laws granting women's rights to contract as related to credit. He emphasized that with the new freedoms come added responsibilities.

"Women are now obligated to support their husbands if they are unable to work," said Brown. Also, he said that women may be sued or borrow money without joinder of husband. They may assume management and control of other special community property such as income from their careers, have management of automobiles in their name, bank accounts, properties and stocks and bonds.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Flowers Are Festive For Wedding Cars

Dear Heloise: When a couple gets married in our city, the cars in the wedding party are decorated with fresh flowers attached to crepe paper streamers.

When our daughter married recently, we had to find a way to keep the florist's bill to a minimum.

You guessed it. I went to a yardage outlet, bought several yards of nylon net and made "Heloise" pompons to replace the flowers. I used colors to harmonize with the bridesmaids' gowns and white, of course, on the bridal car.

They were both pretty and practical because they didn't dry up and get thrown away after the ceremony. After the bride and groom left on their wedding trip, everyone was welcome to an extra souvenir of the wedding. Vivian Caisse

Dear Heloise: Having been in the electrical business for 54 years, I think I can help your housewives with the annoying and somewhat expensive problem of replacing burned-out light bulbs.

Most electrical power companies try to maintain a constant voltage of 120 to houses, but due to unavoidable fluctuations of usage, the voltage varies from about 118 to 124.

Since most of the light bulbs that stores sell are rated at 120 volts, the fluctuating voltage burns them out sooner than they are supposed to.

For a considerable length of time I have been using 125-volt light bulbs and they last longer. These may be purchased at electrical supply houses and some stores. Or any store can order them for you. Bulbs rated as 120 TO 130 will

Mrs. Bart Deggs Speaks To PWOC

Mrs. (Capt.) Bart Deggs of the Salvation Army spoke on "Woman's Role in Other Religious Groups" at the Wednesday meeting of the Protestant Women of the Chapel at Webb Air Force Base chapel.

The group completed plans for a party at the Westside Recreation Center this afternoon, and ditty bags were sewn for the American Red Cross.

Mrs. Tom Alison presided and served refreshments to 25.

Andy Lankford Is HD Guest Speaker

Andy Lankford of Sherwin Williams Co. gave a program on antique furniture at the Tuesday meeting of the College Park Home Demonstration Club. The group met in the home of Mrs. Jerry Robinson in Sand Springs.

Members brought cookies for the Big Spring State Hospital. Three guests, introduced by Mrs. Conard Miller, were Mrs. Tim Burton, Mrs. Bill Burns and Mrs. Mike Harris.

The next meeting will be Aug. 6 in the home of Mrs. Jim Caldwell, 2405 Alabama.

High Card Tallies

Mrs. D. A. Brazel and Mrs. Ray McMahan placed first in duplicate games held Wednesday at Big Spring Country Club. Other winners were Mrs. Hayes Stripling and Mrs. E. O. Ellington, second; and Mrs. Don Newsom and Mrs. Floyd Mays, third.

also last longer than the usual bulbs with 120 volts rating.

You will be surprised at the results. Benj. Zarin

Dear Heloise: My outside fish pond is partially under a tree that constantly drops leaves.

To save cleaning the pool so often, I stretch chicken wire over the pool. (This keeps out the dogs, cats and neighbor children.) Then over the wire, I lay a piece of nylon net weighted with a few stones.

It can be easily lifted off and the leaves disposed of without having to clean the pool or disturb the fish. Mrs. L. Robertson

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: One real timesaver I've found is to just go ahead and clip what I want to save from the newspaper and let hubby "howl!" Maybe he'll get used to it? Elaine

Dear Heloise: With vacation time fast approaching I'd like to pass along something I tried last summer and will continue doing from now on. When traveling by car we never seemed to find an empty picnic table when the hunger pangs hit. So usually ended up by spreading our lunch on the ground.

Then I thought of carrying along a folding TV tray. When we got hungry, we stopped and set up the tray, put the sandwich makings and fruit on it and had a surface to work on.

Then we ate while walking around and getting some much needed exercise after sitting in the car for hours. Mrs. T. Griffith

Dear Heloise: When I buy a watermelon, I cut it in half CROSSWISE. I cut the ends off — but not into the red — then I stand it upright in a soup bowl.

This saves space in the refrigerator, and the juice will drip into the bowl instead of onto other food in the refrigerator. Martha Zecker
