4.2 PER CENT

Living Costs Jump Higher During June

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living, paced by higher mortgage interest and other home ownership charges, jumped one half of one per cent in June to a level 4.2 per cent above that of a year ago, the government announced today.

The June rise equaled that of February, 1966, and was larger than any other since September, 1967, when the index went up six-tenths of one per cent.

The rise in consumer prices was relatively steeper than that for wholesale prices which increased two-tenths of a per cent in June, raising them 2.3 per cent above a year ago.

Odessa Losing Funds

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — The Ector County School Board will meet Thursday to discuss the possible loss of $400,000 in federal funds for failure to comply with school desegregation guidelines.

School Supt. Floyd Marny was notified Tuesday by the Dallas office of Civil Rights of the Department of Health Education and Welfare that the district's alleged non-compliance was being called to the attention of the Washington office, where administrative action to strip the school of funds could be initiated.

Wants Hazlewood To Quit

AMARILLO (AP) — The Potter County Democratic executive committee Tuesday called for the resignation of State Sen. Grady Hazlewood because he has endorsed two Republican candidates.

The committee said that Hazlewood — a Democrat — has endorsed California Gov. Ronald Reagan for president and GOP Texas gubernatorial candidate Paul Eggers.

Claims Wallace Has 'Em

BOSTON (AP) — Supporters of third-party presidential candidate George C. Wallace say they have filed 7,000 more certified signatures than needed to put the former Alabama governor's name on the Massachusetts ballot.

The Wallace backers brought 15 cartons of nominating petitions to the state house office of Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren Tuesday. They said the cartons contained 68,249 signatures certified by city and town election officials.

To be listed on the November ballot, Wallace needs 61,236 confirmed signatures — equal to three per cent of the total vote for governor in 1966.

Death Toll Climbs

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — The death toll in the eruption of Mt. Arenal rose to 65 today and authorities began evacuating the town of Tilarran, where great quantities of volcanic ash were falling.

Some 90 persons were missing as lava, ash, rocks and boiling water continued to pour from the volcano. Dormant for five centuries, it began erupting Monday.

Explosion Checked

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A bomb explosion which authorities believe may have been triggered by anti-Castro Cubans has caused extensive damage to the British consulate offices.

The blast tore through the consulate Tuesday at 7:10 p.m., an hour after the 26 employees went home for the day. No one was injured and there was no fire, police reported.

Authorities said anti-Castro terrorists may have placed the bomb in retaliation for Britain's relations with the Castro government.

Hit By Train

DEL RIO (AP) — Terry Scarborough, 16, of Houston, was dead Tuesday after he was hit by a train as he stood atop a railroad bridge and was plummeted some 75 feet into a canyon in desolate country 56 miles west of Del Rio.

Scarborough, officers said, and Alvin McCombes, 17, of Houston had car trouble en route to California. McCombes told officers that Scarborough climbed atop the bridge to see if a train was coming.

Bill Amendment Is Called Cruel Hoax, Meaningless

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved an amendment to its foreign aid bill which sponsors say could help gain the release of the USS Pueblo's crew, but which critics term "a cruel hoax . . . silly and meaningless."

The amendment was added by a 43-29 vote to the pending $1.94-billion bill Tuesday.

It would withdraw, until North Korea releases the 52 crewmen seized last January, presidential authority to make exceptions to an existing law barring U.S. aid to Communist nations. The President can authorize such aid if he thinks it vital to U.S. security, if the recipient nation is not controlled "by an international Communist conspiracy" and if the aid would spur the receiver toward independence from the Communist bloc.

The aid authorization has been cut more than $1 billion below President Johnson's requests. Proposals to restore some of the funds for aid to under-veloped countries were given little chance of success in today's session in the face of the current economy drive in Congress.

Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Cole, sponsored the Pueblo amendment. He said the State Department had done nothing thus far to obtain release of the crewmen "except ask for their return."

Sen. Joseph Clark, D-Pa., said the Dominick proposal was "silly and meaningless."

BIG SPRING INCLUDED: 50 CENTS

Entrance Fees For Ranger Calls State Parks Set

AUSTIN (AP) — Thirty-six state parks will begin charging entrance fees this fall to pay for $5.75 million in bonds to develop recreation areas near urban areas.

The Parks and Wildlife Commission authorized sale of the bonds Tuesday. It is the first issue in a $75 million program authorized by constitutional amendment last year.

NOT INCLUDED The Lyndon B. Johnson Park is not included in the entrance-fee plan. J. R. Singleton, department executive director, said it could be "some three to four years" before the park is developed.

The bond issue will be repaid in 10 years from $1-a-day entrance fees charged at 30 state parks, 50-cent fees at six others and $12 annual-passes to all parks but three.

The three exceptions are the San Jose Mission, Varner-Hogg Plantation and the Eisenhower Birthplace. Deed restrictions and other legal agreements require separate treatment for those.

The parks with $1 fees "as soon as feasible after Sept. 1 are: Abilene, Atlanta, Bastrop, Blanco, Bonham, Bentsen-Rio Grande, Caddo Lake, Cleburne, Dangerfield, Davis Mountains, Eisenhower, Falcon, Fort Parker, Garner, Goliad, Goose Island, Hunstville, Inks Lake, Kerrville, Lake Brownwood, Lake Corpus Christi, Lake Whitney, Lockhart, Martin Dies Jr., Meridian, Palmetto, Palo Duro Canyon, Possum Kingdom, Stephen F. Austin and Tyler.

BIG SPRING The 50-cent fee will be charged at Balmorhea, Big Spring, Governor Hogg Shrine, Monahans Sandhills, Mother Neff and Washington-on-the-Brazos.

Exempted from the fees are Acton, Brazos Island, General Zaragosa, Indianola, Lipantitan, Velasco, Buescher, Fannin Balldground, Fort Griffin, Jim Hogg, Mission San Francisco de los Tejas and San Jacinto.

Six parks now operated on a concession or lease arrangement and not affected by the commission's action are: Jeff Davis, Longhorn Cavern, MacKenzie, Tips, Copano Bay and Port Lavaca Causeways. All fees are in addition to use fees for such things as camp sites.

A special group rate of 10 cents a person will be charged children 12 or under in groups of 10 or more.

Race Disorders Quiet In Gary, Seattle, Peoria

Racial disorders slackened considerably Tuesday night in Gary, Ind., Peoria, Ill., and Seattle, Wash., which had been troubled by disturbances.

ALL QUIET The Negro mayor of Gary, reported "all is quiet" after a personal night tour of the city. Police reported scattered gunfire and rock throwing in two districts where youth gangs roamed the streets. No injuries were reported. Two youths were arrested for curfew violations.

Peoria had its quietest night of the week with vandalism and rock throwing virtually absent in the wake of a 9 p.m. curfew on the city's teenagers. The Illinois National Guard had been put on alert but was not called out.

In Seattle's Negro district, two policemen suffered minor injuries during disorders, but authorities noted they were a far cry from Monday night's disturbances when eight patrolmen and two Negro youths were injured.

About two dozen persons, most of them juveniles, were arrested and eight adults were booked on charges of assault. In one four-block area, police used tear gas to break up milling street crowds. Some windows were broken in a junior high school. Several fire bombs were thrown but most failed to ignite, police reported.

Five juveniles and two adults were arrested in Kalamazoo, Mich., after a second night of rock throwing in the mostly Negro North Side.

In Jackson, Mich., 13 Negro youths pelted city commissioner with crumpled copies of the agenda, when they adjourned a meeting without hearing the youths' complaints.

Accusations Swapped In Peace Talks

Lau Claims U.S. Is Losing Vietnam War

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam today denounced press conference statements by Secretary of State Dean Rusk as new evidence of "the obduracy of U.S. aggressive ruling circles" in pursuing a "policy of war and aggression."

Speaking in the 15th session of the Paris peace talks, Ambassador Ha Van Lau also charged that "the U.S. government has told lies" in asserting North Vietnam has committed aggression against South Vietnam and in "boasting of victories" when, he said, it is being defeated in the war in Vietnam.

RUSK CALL Rusk called on North Vietnam at a news conference in Washington Tuesday to say what it will do to scale down the fighting if the United States ends all attacks on its territory.

Earlier, going into the meeting, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman charged the leaders of North Vietnam with ruling "through terror and butchery" and they ought to give their people a little freedom.

Harriman also told newsmen as he entered the 15th meeting of the Vietnam peace talks that he intended to denounce North Vietnam for failure to live up to the 1962 agreement to neutralize Laos.

Harriman made the accusation against the North Vietnamese leaders when asked what he thought about recent jail sentences given by the Saigon government to critics or opponents.

"Have you seen any freedom in North Vietnam, in Hanoi?" Harriman responded.

"It would be a great thing for Hanoi to give a little freedom to the people there," he continued.

"They impose their will through terror and butchery and so it's rather ill becoming for them to make any comment about freedom in other parts of the world."

Harriman told newsmen that "the North Vietnamese never kept the 1962 agreement (on Laos) for one day."

Crucial Meet Is 'Promising'

PRAGUE (AP) — One of Czechoslovakia's leading Communist reformers reported today that the crucial talks between the Soviet Politburo and the Czechoslovak party Presidium are taking a "promising course."

"The atmosphere is optimistic," said National Assembly Chairman Josef Smrkovsky in Rude Pravo, the Czechoslovak party newspaper.

THIRD DAY The leaders of the two parties met for the third day today to the martial accompaniment of record Soviet military maneuvers. The talks continued at least one day longer than expected as the Soviets sought to develop evidence of discord among the Czechoslovaks.

Talks between the top-ranking leaders of the two parties, which had been expected to end Tuesday, were extended after the Soviets insisted that each member of both delegations have a chance to state his personal views on the liberalization program launched by the Czechoslovak party's new leaders.

The Soviets presumably hoped to draw out dissident members of the 11-man Czechoslovak party Presidium attending the conference that began Monday in the tiny farming village of Cierna, in Slovakia one mile from the Russian border.

The Russian Politburo delegation, headed by party chief Leonid N. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, is reported to have demanded a reversal of Czechoslovakia's new course and the right to station Soviet or other Communist bloc troops on Czechoslovak territory.

Three members of the Czechoslovak delegation who are considered possible opponents of party chief Alexander Dubcek's reformist course are Vasil Bilak, chief of the Slovak Communist party; Oldrich Svstka, editor-in-chief of the party newspaper Rude Pravo, and economist Drahomir Kolder. However, pro-Dubcek sources said these three had swung firmly behind Dubcek because of the widespread popular support for him and the threats of Soviet military intervention.

'FRANKNESS' The meeting Tuesday was described by Tass, the Soviet news agency, as having "passed in an atmosphere of frankness and comradeship." The Czechoslovak news agency, CTK, also said the talks continued "in an atmosphere of comradesly frankness."

In Communist terminology, "frankness" is understood to mean differences of opinion. The coupling with "comradeship" was taken to mean that despite disagreement, there were no threats of drastic action at the meeting.

Heart Patient Gets Better

HOUSTON (AP) — The recipient in the first woman-to-woman heart transplant steadily improved Tuesday and drank some liquid nourishment.

Mrs. Allen H. Brunk, 49, of Houston was kept alive Monday night in the eighth such operation at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital since May 3.

She received the heart of Mrs. Alvie O'Neal, 48, of Corsicana, who died of a brain tumor. Mrs. O'Neal had said she wanted to donate her heart before lapsing into a coma 24 hours earlier.

Mrs. Brunk was taken from a respirator 16 hours after surgery and received some food and medication intravenously, a spokesman said.

Six of the eight recipients are living and two have been discharged from the hospital. The operation Monday night was the world's 29th heart transfer.

Reagan, Lindsay Call For Contrasting Party Planks

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Two Republican stars — Ronald Reagan and John V. Lindsay — descended on GOP platform writers today with contrasting calls for 1968 party planks.

For the California governor, whose hat is in the presidential ring at least as his state's favorite son candidate, the accent lay on firm defense against communism abroad and sound finances and law and order at home.

"About one issue there should be no confusion," Reagan said. "Prevent the expansion of Communist power. It is time to tell friend and foe alike: we are in Vietnam because it is in our national interest to be there."

AT HOME And "here at home," he said, "we must recover the will necessary to make our streets safe, our cities free from violence and our campuses centers for learning rather than for outrage and insurrection."

For the New York mayor, who says he's for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and not himself as president, the stress was on reforms to cure city ills and poverty at home and on flexible diplomacy abroad.

"We can begin by writing a vigorous platform that affirms the humane and financial commitment described by the Riot Commission; a commitment that this Johnson administration has scorned," he said. "It is time to make good the promise of American democracy to all citizens."

On Vietnam, Lindsay said "the Republican party should assume forthright leadership of the cause of ending this unwanted war on the other side of the world."

And U.S. diplomacy, he said, should recognize that in a changing world, relations with Russians and Chinese are not "fixed forever in an unalterable pattern."

Reagan and Lindsay spoke in separate, prepared statements as the Republican Platform Committee neared the end of open hearings on the party's policy document for this campaign year.

CLOSED MEET On Thursday the group plans to start closed plank-writing sessions amid indications that despite some disputes here and there, the drafters can agree on a platform acceptable to any of the candidates.

Reagan and Lindsay spoke in separate, prepared statements as the Republican Platform Committee neared the end of open hearings on the party's policy document for this campaign year.

Little Girl Dies After Liver Swap

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A 16-month-old girl who received an infant's liver in a transplant died today—four and a half hours after the operation. Surgeons said earlier that the tot's chance of survival were slim.

A spokesman at Texas Children's Hospital said the cause of death had not been exactly determined but doctors believe the reason was that the donor's liver had an artery defect.

The child was Sheila Renee Sanford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royce J. Sanford of Corrigan, Tex.

TINY TOT

She weighed only 15 pounds and was admitted in what doctors called terminal condition from blockage of the bile ducts. The little girl died at 6:30 a.m. The operation ended at 2 a.m. after three hours of surgery.

The donor infant was Janice Marie Samuel, born Monday to

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Samuel of Houston. Attendants said the Samuel baby never breathed unassisted but was kept breathing artificially until she died at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday after suffering a brain hemorrhage.

FIND DEFECT

Dr. Denton A. Cooley, widely known as a St. Luke's heart transplant specialist, headed the team of surgeons who began the operation 20 minutes later.

Others performing the operation were Drs. Luke W. Able, Robert D. Bloodwell and Grady L. Hallman Jr.

Through the spokesman, the surgeons said they found an unfortunate defect in the liver of the donor and were able to attach it by only one artery and two veins in the Sanford baby.

They explained that a second artery, which normally would have been joined also, was found to be as thin as a piece of string where it should have been the size of a soda straw.

TEXANS AT WAR Andrews High Grad Escapes U.S. Bombs

By The Associated Press

"I didn't see the jet let out the bombs, but I saw the most horrified expression on everyone's face. I knew it couldn't have been anything that the gooks (North Vietnamese) had to shoot at us, so I hit the ground with four Marines beside me."

FIRST TIME

"Everyone of them got hit with shrapnel, some of them real bad, and I have God to thank because not one piece hit me."

That was the way hospitalman J.C. Billy R. Wilke, a Texan at war from Andrews, began his description—in a letter home—of the day his 3rd Marine Division unit was bombed by U.S. jets.

He recalled:

"We were on an operation about nine miles west of Khe Sanh. You could see Laos, we were so close to the border."

"It was the first time any outfit had been that close to Laos since the beginning of the war. We were near the Ho Chi Minh Trail, and another trail all the North Vietnamese come down."

"It was a real big operation and our battalion killed over 400 Vietnamese in two days and two nights of fighting."

'SCARED TO DEATH'

"There wasn't a Marine who wasn't scared to death during those two days, including myself."

"I guess you read in the papers about our own jets bombing us by accident," he said.

After the bombing, Wilke said: "I couldn't believe all the casualties we had from our own bombers. I had my work right there in front of me."

"That's the scariest I have been in my life. A thousand pounds of bombs drop right on you—that's something. I'll never forget it as long as I live."

Wilke, 20, received a shrapnel wound in May but didn't lose any time from duty. He has been in Vietnam four months.

Wilke, a graduate of Andrews High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wilke of 600 N.E. 4th St., Andrews.

UNION WRAPS UP BILLION-DOLLAR DEAL

Two Steel Giants Boost Prices

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The steel industry's two giants announced price increases today, less than 24 hours after the United Steelworkers Union won a new billion-dollar labor contract-richest in its history.

Bethlehem Steel, the nation's second largest producer, announced an increase of almost 5 per cent across the board—first of its kind since the late President John F. Kennedy forced a rollback in 1962.

U.S. Steel Corp., the biggest steelmaker and usually the pacemaker for industry prices, posted increases for many of its tin mill products, although some items were reduced.

NO COMMENT

However, a spokesman for U.S. Steel said, "This is a price increase. No question about it."

There was no immediate comment from Washington, which usually watches steel prices closely and is not slow to express displeasure with increases.

It was only Tuesday night that the union wrapped up a new labor contract that will give the nation's 450,000 steelworkers wage and benefits hikes of 90 cents to a dollar an hour. The over-all package was figured to be a 6.5 per cent increase in each year of the three-year contract.

The industry had insisted all along that it could not stand a 6 per cent contract without price relief. Otherwise, industry spokesmen said, two-thirds of the industry's profits would be wiped out and some companies would be put out of business.

"The price increases," Bethlehem said, "are expected to add only enough to revenues to offset cost increases just incurred or expected in the next several months.

"Selective price increases have not been effective in offsetting smaller cost increases than those now facing Bethlehem. A general price increase is the only method available to alleviate the financial problem which would otherwise occur in the future."

TIN PRODUCTS

The Bethlehem hikes take effect Aug. 8.

The increases on tin products—which amounted to 6.6 million tons out of the industry's 83.9 million tons of shipment last year—were so complex that an exact rundown of each item was not immediately available. They are effective Oct. 1.

The increases hit the market at a time when foreign steel—which already sells for 125 to 140 a ton less than domestic steel—is running 50 per cent ahead of last year.

In addition, major consumers have stockpiles of two months or more, accumulated as a hedge in case there was a steel strike.

But the new labor contract wiped out any chance of a strike.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for management, said the new contract "is higher than we hoped it would be. It involves cost increases greater than we hoped."

'CATCHING UP'

But he refused to say whether price hikes could be expected. "I only negotiate contracts," he said.

I. W. Abel, president of the union, said the agreement would cost the industry "considerably in excess of one billion dollars." But he said it wasn't inflationary.

Inflation "is already here," he said. "We're only catching up."

Here are major provisions of the contract, which apparently falls within the six per cent pattern of major labor settlements this year.

—Yearly wage increases of 20 cents an hour, 12 cents and 12 cents for a total of 44 cents. Over the life of the contract, seven cents will be added to the top classifications for a total of 51 cents.

—Pension improvements averaging 30 per cent, allowing a man with 30 years service to retire with a minimum of $195 a month, versus the old $150.

—Incentive, or bonus, pay for workers not now covered for an average of 10 cents. The details will be worked out by a joint board, with appeals to arbitrators.

—A $30 bonus for each week of vacation, and an extra three weeks of vacation for junior employees once every five years.

BENEFITS

—Supplementary unemployment benefits increased, effective Jan. 1, from the current maximum of $37.50 a week to $52.50 for workers also getting state benefits. After state benefits run out, a worker will get a maximum $80 a week compared to the current $60. Also, adjustments in other formulas to raise benefits about 10 per cent.

—Liberalized medical insurance, life insurance, bereavement pay, an additional paid holiday, trial witness pay and increased night and overnight differentials.

NOT HAPPY

"From the standpoint of an economic package, it is the largest that has been negotiated in steel," Abel said.

Steelworkers averaged $3.94 in May. The industry claims fringe benefits added $1.09 to the cost.

Abel acknowledged that many of the 600 local union presidents who comprise the basic steel industry conference were opposed. "I'm not entirely happy myself," he said.

Dozens of local officials denounced the settlement in speeches during a three-hour meeting Tuesday. The opposition was so bitter that a voice vote was ineffective.

A standing vote was called, and the supporters were declared in a majority. One member of the conference estimated that only 65 votes separated the yeas and nays.

Junior Rodeo Entries Filed

Twenty-two entries had been received through Tuesday for the 23rd Annual Howard County Junior Rodeo, slated here Aug. 8, 9 and 10 at the Rodeo Bowl.

However, the big scramble by contestants isn't expected until just before the books close at 3 p.m. Monday, Aug. 5, in the Howard County Agent's office. Early entries indicate that a large number will be on hand when the show opens, said James Shelton, assistant agricultural agent.

About 200 contestants are expected to compete in the American Junior Rodeo Association show.

Performances in the Howard County 4-H Club-sponsored event will get underway each day at 8 p.m. Black Rodeo Producers of Marfa will provide the stock.

A parade through downtown Big Spring has been slated at 4 p.m., Aug. 8, with Howard County Sheriff's Posse and other riding clubs over the area to appear.

Events will be marked for boys and girls with three age groups in each division. Girls in all groups, 12 years and under, 13-15 years, and 16-19, will compete in breakaway roping, barrel racing and pole bending.

Boys competition for 12 years and under include calf roping, pole bending and ribbon roping. Boys 13 to 15 years may enter calf roping, pole bending, ribbon roping and bull riding. Entrants in the 16-19 years group may compete in calf roping, ribbon roping, bareback bronc riding and bull riding.

A saddle will be given to both the all-around cowboy and cowgirl who earn the most points during the rodeo. Trophy buckles will be given to winners of each age event.

Tickets to the rodeo will be $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children, from six to 12 years.

Lone Star Meet Date Changed

The regular monthly meeting of the Lone Star District committee will be held Aug. 8, rather than the customary first Thursday of the month, according to R. L. Tollett, chairman.

Preparations for the Fall Roundup, which coincides with reopening of school, will be made, along with other matters of reviving the program of activities after a supper respite.

Rocky Camp Has Not Written Off 'Dixie'

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is placing increasing importance on the Southern states in the effort to prevent Richard M. Nixon from winning the Republican nomination for president on an early ballot.

His aides in the South advise him that numerous Southern delegates who are listed as voting for Nixon, the acknowledged frontrunner for the nomination, in fact favor Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

"The first ballot is the key," said Robert Douglass, campaign manager for Rockefeller, "and the Southern delegates who are for Reagan could be the key to that."

DEFECTIONS
He said there are potential defections from Nixon to Reagan in Texas, South and North Carolina, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Tennessee.

In a news conference in Denver Tuesday, Rockefeller underlined the importance of the first two ballots at the Republican National Convention.

After the second ballot there will be a drifting toward the ultimate winner," he said. "In the history of our party, the person who has had the most votes in the beginning and then who has lost votes, has never regained that leading position."

Rockefeller's chief Southern leaders are Robert Snodgrass of Atlanta, Southern regional chairman, and Michael Neal of Florida.

REAGAN VOTES
Douglass said they have consistently reported wide latent strength for Reagan in the South. But so long as Reagan said he was not a candidate for the nomination—which he still says—they listed themselves as supporters of Nixon.

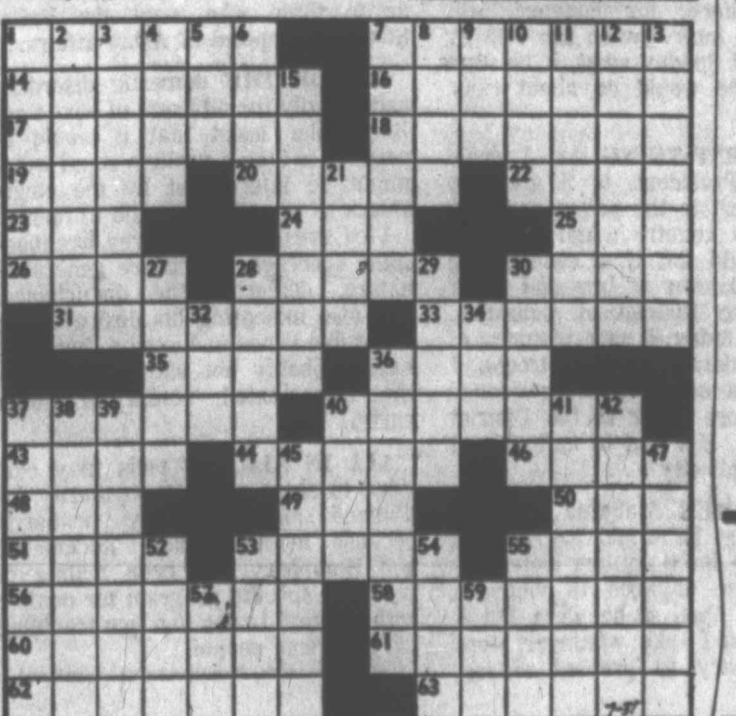

"However," Douglass said, "the minute Reagan began looking like a true, viable candidate, their situation changed."

The Rockefeller camp has not written off the South, although the governor says his principal strength is in the industrial states of the North. His aides said that he could get votes for the nomination in Georgia and Alabama.

The governor's strategists estimate the combined Reagan-Rockefeller strength on the first ballot at between 500-600 votes. They give Nixon approximately 550. The minimum to win the nomination is 667 votes.

A Devotional For The Day

Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain. (John 15:16)

PRAYER: Thank You, Lord, for what the church has meant throughout the ages. Yet even more is required of her in these tough days of crisis. Renew Your church to be equal to her task. As a member, make me so to live and serve that if each other member will do the same, Your church will fulfill her mission. Amen.

Burleson To Top Committee

The naming by his colleagues of Rep. Omar Burleson to the prestigious House Ways and Means Committee can be taken as a credit to Texas, the 17th district which Burleson represents, and principally to the West Texas congressman himself.

Ways and Means is the panel which originates all tax legislation, and as such it carries much power in Washington. So demanding is this committee that its members may not serve on others, and Rep. Burleson thus has resigned from three other committees.

He did this willingly, however, because he long has sought a place on Ways and Means. Two years ago he made an active campaign for it, but was defeated by two votes, largely through the efforts of more liberal elements of House Democrats.

This week, he got unanimous acceptance, through he told the press that some liberals did not entirely support his political views although they were friendly to him personally.

Rep. Burleson's long record in the House — 22 years — bears him out as a strong spokesman in the conservative ranks, particularly in the realm of fiscal affairs.

Those of his constituents in West Texas who feel that it is high time for a more restrictive approach to handling federal monies can take heart that a man of Burleson's views is on the Ways and Means Committee, and that another voice can be raised for fiscal responsibility.

Rep. Burleson is to be congratulated on his new responsibility, and the district he represents can take a measure of pride in this development.

Something Special Is Needed

In retrospect, John F. Kennedy was elected President because he chose Lyndon B. Johnson as his running mate. Very few elections in our history have been decided by the choice of a vice president, though.

Yet today, well in advance of the nominating conventions, the selection of a vice presidential candidate appears crucial to victory in November. For if there is no major upset, Richard M. Nixon and Hubert H. Humphrey will be the nominees. Yet there is no great enthusiasm among Republicans or Democrats over this prospect.

A race between Nixon and Humphrey undoubtedly will be a close one. The difference may well be measured in the appeal of the vice presidential candidate.

If Humphrey had been able to get Sen. Edward Kennedy to run with him, he might have had a decisive edge over Nixon. But Kennedy is apparently determined not to run.

If Nixon can persuade Nelson Rockefeller to run with him, the appeal of the ticket would be enhanced substantially. The same, to a lesser degree, might be said of George Romney or Ronald Reagan.

It is against this background that the leading candidates and their advisors are eagerly searching for vice presidential candidates with wide voter appeal. Routine ticket-balancing will not be enough this year. Something special must be added.

Take US 84, east of Palestine (which began with old pioneer Fort Houston), through Rusk. Below that pineforested little city is the rare ghost of New Birmingham: once dreamed the iron-steel capital of Southwest, its English money withdrew; but its ruins, from foundry to great hotel, still lie just within the recapturing forest. . . . Up the Neches woodland from Rusk to above Tyler is last-stand ground for the Cherokee, driven from Texas in 1839. . . . And far beyond, near Louisiana's line, is the redland Shelby country of Texas' fiercest feud — nearly a war — where men set out as "Regulators" for the law, and others, as "Moderators" to keep the peace. . . . and Sam Houston had to send a buckskin army to stop the bloodshed.

Below, where Toledo Bend's great lake gathers the Sabine beyond San Augustine, is the beginning of the Royal Road — Camino Real — and all that lies along it. The Gaines House, 1812, now moved back from lake edge, where first Anglo armies rendezvoused to seek Texas from Spain. . . . San Augustine, the old one, with homes like Jefferson's. . . . Since I lost my husband everything is meaningless. How can I face life when the only person I cared about is gone? C.D.

The loss of a loved one is always hard to bear, but it comes to all of us sooner or later. It is useless, though, to say this lessens your grief, or that someone else is left in a plight worse than yours. It is equally futile to try to heal your wound by a busy round of meaningless activity. New scenes and new interests may help some, but they can never provide a cure for your loneliness and despair.

Instead, find a Christian friend and share your sorrow with her. Or talk to your minister. Do not try to bury your grief deep in your heart. Shakespeare was right when he said, "A sorrow shared is a sorrow halved." Never forget that Jesus is your best and most understanding friend. He knows what sorrow is. Share yours with Him.

Then find someone who is in need, and try to bring a ray of sunshine into that life. God has so made us that when we bring joy to another some of it is reflected in our own souls.

You must accept your loss, and ask God to help you bear it. The Bible says: "Thou therefore endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ." (II Timothy 2:3) Ask God how you can use this difficult hour to witness for Him.

Many Firms Hunt Hidden Treasures

NEW YORK (AP) — Industry is plunging into the science of oceanography in hopes of reaping profits from the wealth of resources in and beneath the seas.

The hidden treasures include oil, minerals and food.

"Just as the seas are the last great area for physical exploration on the planet, they are also the last great area for economic expansion," says Dr. Charles F. Jones, president of Humble Oil & Refining Co.

THE BIG brokerage firm Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith includes oceanography in its list of five emerging industries. The others are medical technology, nuclear energy, learning aids and pollution control.

The federal government spearheaded research into the realm of oceanography. The oceanographic activities of 22 federal agencies may involve an expenditure of $500 million next year.

"THREE hundred of the nation's 500 largest corporations have ocean science programs of their own," reports Oilways, a publication of Humble Oil & Refining Co.

But Samuel A. Jordan, manager of Westinghouse Electric Corp.'s Undersea Division, cautions against thinking that a harvest of wealth from the oceans is just around the corner.

"In the immediate future the outlook is uncertain," he says. "But we want to be ready. For the long haul you can be optimistic. Ten or 15 years from now there probably will be production from deep oil wells and the more sophisticated food areas."

Current manufacturing activity in the oceanographic field is mainly confined to submersible vessels, research instruments and equipment to enable man to operate at great depths.

IN ITS projection of oceanography's future as a commercial undertaking, Merrill Lynch says scientists believe the greatest riches of the ocean, which cover 71 per cent of the earth's surface, lie on the continental shelves surrounding the land masses.

Ferry Showdown Time

NEW YORK (AP) — It is about 200 miles between New York and Washington, and some motorists can make the trip in as little as four hours. It takes us 10.

That's because my husband has a yen for taking ferries. If there isn't a ferry where we are going, we go where there is a ferry.

Thus on a recent trip to the nation's capital we disdained the direct mode of travel via turnpike and expressway in our eternal pursuit of a ferryboat route.

INSTEAD we traversed the entire coastline of New Jersey, all the way down to Cape May where, by diligent map study, my would-be sailor had located a ferry that took us from New Jersey to Delaware. From there it was only a roundabout trip of some hours before we reached our destination.

En route to Florida we always drove down to the tip of the Delmarva Peninsula, from which point we were waterborne in slow splendor across Chesapeake Bay. When they built the 17-mile-long Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel a few years ago and eliminated that ferry, what others regarded as an engineering marvel my husband regarded as a personal affront.

THE NEXT time we went down that way we traveled a couple of hundred extra miles in order to take a ferry he had discovered in Wilmington, N.C.

There is always some heated debate between us as to whether the ferries he has ferreted out are seaworthy. I always take the negative.

On one occasion we rode a vessel so tiny that it resembled a raft. It was so small it wouldn't even hold the car, but that didn't deter my determined spouse. We left the family vehicle behind and went to an island and back just for the ride.

WHEN WE DO manage to get the car onto a boat, I am always convinced that we are going to drive straight into the water when we leave it. Actually there is not much danger of this as my chauffeur is usually not even at the wheel when we make landfall. He always insists on getting out, no matter how short the trip, to view the passing scenery and is usually not back by the time the chains are down and the attendants are motioning impatiently for the car to move.

Each time my husband reads that a new bridge is being built and an old ferry is being dropped, he reacts as though a favorite uncle had died.

Outwardly I commiserate with him, but inwardly I smile. I'm all for progress.

How Stroke Patients Can Be Helped

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
(Second in a series of three)

We explained yesterday that a "stroke" is damage in the brain. When a leg, arm, speech, or whatever, becomes paralyzed from a stroke, the damage is not in the paralyzed limb. It is in the brain, where limited treatment is possible.

If, as is common, the damage in the brain was because a clot or thrombus shut off circulation in a certain area, anticoagulants ("blood thinners") may be, and often are, used for a time to minimize risk of another blockage.

Then, depending on the severity of the stroke, circulation resumes, or finds other routes to carry the blood stream. The damaged brain tissue regains some degree of activity. This accounts in part for the paralyzed limb's beginning to lose some of its paralysis.

Another reason for this partial recovery, in some instances, is that other parts of the brain and other nerve routes can "learn" to control muscles in place of the damaged brain areas.

If a leg is affected, he still that the paralysis from a stroke does not mean that the paralyzed muscles have been damaged. It is merely that they receive no "instructions" from the brain and so can do nothing.

As time passes, this very idleness results in weakness and wasting of the muscles. The same thing happens if a person spends too much time at bed rest — loss of muscle tone and weakness sets in rapidly. Even a few days makes a difference.

Therefore with a stroke it is necessary to prevent the idle muscles from the consequences of not being used. Shortly after a stroke, any measures to retain muscle tone must be under medical supervision — massage, physical therapy of various types, in certain cases even electrical stimulation to make the muscles contract and relax.

Later on, however, much of the responsibility belongs to the patient — with encouragement by his doctor and family. The partially paralyzed patient cannot overcome the effects of a stroke by sheer will power. But he can, and must exercise, to the best of his ability, such muscular activity as remains.

If a leg is affected, he still must move it as much as he can. If he cannot walk, he may still be able to move it a little — and he should. Or if a hand and arm are affected, squeezing a rubber ball or practicing lifting and arranging very small objects will be of benefit. Any action that is possible will tend to keep the muscles in condition while the patient waits for such return of such nerve stimulus as may be possible for him.

If a patient cannot hold a fork or spoon or comb, but can move his arm, special holders have been designed to give him a sufficient grip — rehabilitation institutes or rehab departments of many hospitals can show what is available in this line.

And the sooner a patient receives specialized care after a stroke, the better for him.

Some further thoughts tomorrow on strokes.

Best Time Of The Day

What's the best time of day?

Perhaps when you are doing whatever makes you happy, and that can be any time. But there are certain parts of the day that seem made especially for our souls.

ONE IS in the evening, just at dusk.

The day's heat, like the cares of the day, seem to retreat and melt away like a weary fog. The cooling breezes begin to ripple in ever so tenderly from the south.

The tarnished gold of the west dies slowly and presently the discarded crown of the day past fades. Out of the embers of this glory arises a new light — the evening star, shining more brilliantly than it should as if to make up for what is gone.

THE SOUNDS diminish, almost one by one, until the distinct ones come almost as a startling experience. Dust from the streets and dirt trails crawls into the low places and lies down ever so lazily. Then lights, like the stars, begin to twinkle on here and there until they seem to have been sprinkled about.

Peace settles on the world and it is a time for quiet reflection.

AND YET ANOTHER time that fills you very being to the brim is in the morning, just before sunrise. All of the solitude of the night begins slowly to disintegrate. The weary songs of the evening before now become wild bursts of joy from the mockingbirds. From over the ridge bounces the plaintive cry of the mourning dove.

THE COOL breeze smells of moisture, and the dips are still and crisp. The animals seem to have a bounce, an eagerness to explore and to be about.

The steely gray in the east lightens, glows and seems to catch fire. Gray tufts of clouds seem edged in bronze, and silhouettes along the horizon begin to take form.

IT IS AS though some great sympathy of sound and color is about to break forth with the overture to the greatest show on earth — the birth of a new day. It is a time for great fulfillment. —JOE PICKLE

Russia's Freedom Is Relative

MOSCOW — In the large, second-floor sun parlor of a dining room at the Rossia Hotel, two heavy set men order themselves a full meal. When it arrives, after considerable delay, they look at it, peck at it, rise and walk away.

"Checkup," explains my Russian-speaking companion after conversing with the waiter. "They are undercover Government men who will now go and make their report on the hotel's service. But, you see, the same thing happens in America. Don't you suppose the Howard Johnson restaurant service has secret inspectors?"

SAME THING, not quite. The Howard Johnson waiters could strike against obnoxious practices, or could go to other jobs. Throughout all Russian industry, there is only one boss, and nobody strikes against the Soviet State — there's nowhere else to go for a job. My Russian-born, English-speaking friend went on to say that it wasn't the waiter who would catch hell from the ministry — it was the hotel manager — a bureaucrat who'd soon be getting what-for, and perhaps a fine, from another bureaucrat up the line.

THIS IS HOW it goes. Communism has given immunity to the menial worker, and given him dignity. There is a certain old-fashioned puritanism here which holds that honest work is ennobling. The lowest of the low, the charwoman down on her knees scrubbing the floor, is respected under the philosophy of the proletarian State. The superintendent, all the way up to Khrushchev who was fired by the Central Committee for flamboyance and inefficiency, has got to deliver.

THERE IS dignity at the bottom echelons of the workers' paradise, and discipline throughout, but by and large the individual in Russia gets treated like a simpleton. The State is his keeper. He is flattered by endless propaganda over the radio and on posters — "Glory to the workers of the Soviet Union!" The citizen gets his share of the national wealth, but very little share of self-government. He isn't trusted — not with a meaningful vote, not with the privilege of decent privacy, not with any decision in the market place as a consumer of goods, education and employment.

And yet, since all truth is relative, the Soviet citizen is free. He thinks he is, which is what counts. There was a great liberation after the death of Stalin in 1953. The pomp of office almost disappeared in Khrushchev's decade which ended in 1964.

THE FREEDOM enjoyed by the Russians (who have known nothing that is better and much that was worse, has been well described as a democracy without any checks-and-balances. It is as if in America, the two-party system in the coming conventions produced an echo, not a choice. And as if the Senate got the habit of giving automatic consent to Supreme Court nominations and to all presidential programs. And as if members of Congress carried their absenteeism to the limit and went on an extended vacation.

IF ALL THIS happened in America, we would be haunted by our memories of better times. But the Russians can get along with their false-front democracy, partly because of their backward glances into history. They have no lost liberties to mourn.

They are living in a strictly managed society which Americans would find intolerable. It may be, as is often said, that our society and theirs are becoming more alike as the years go by. It is another way of saying that their personal liberties lie ahead — and ours, if we don't watch out, will lie behind us. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Voicing The Feelings Of Protest

WASHINGTON — Two questions have gone unanswered during the pre-convention campaign — why is the strength of Wallace growing, and why has McCarthy hit up such a sizable following?

It is conceded that the senator from Minnesota is not likely to gain the nomination of his party and that the former governor of Alabama has virtually no chance of winning the presidency. But both these men are getting big receptions.

THE TRUTH IS that George Wallace is speaking out unequivocally for what many millions of persons believe should be the attitude taken by the federal government with respect to domestic disorders. Eugene McCarthy has turned out to be the exponent of what is, in effect, a "peace at any price" policy in Vietnam. Irrespective of the merits of the positions adopted by these two aspirants for the presidency, there is no doubt that in each case a large number of the discontented voters in the country today feel that someone is expressing exactly their feelings of protest.

Gov. Wallace, for instance, was asked in an interview on the CBS-TV network last Sunday what, if he were President, he would do about riots. He replied:

"THE FIRST THING that I would say, as a President, is 'I give my moral support to the police and firemen in this country.' And the first thing I would do, if a continuation of the breakdown of law and order exists in the District of Columbia, where just today I saw pictures of people murdered in the streets, I would use the office of the presidency . . . to restore order in the District of Columbia, if I had to call federal troops into this city . . ."

THE FORMER Alabama governor said also that he would instruct the police to use force against looters as well as those engaged in violence. He declared that, if he were President, he would take whatever steps were necessary to prevent rioting, even if it meant the "knocking in the head of many people." He added:

"And when you do that you are going to satisfy the overwhelming majority of people of all races in the country, because it is not a matter of race, it is a matter of anarchists. The government has kowtowed to every anarchist group in the United States and, as a consequence, we don't have any safety in the streets of our large cities, nor right here in Washington, D.C."

THIS IS THE type of utterance which wins the approval of many millions of people today who think that there has been too much laxity not only in dealing with individuals engaged in rioting and looting but also in the matter of punishing those responsible for instigating the disorders.

Sen. McCarthy attracts discontented voters in an analogous way. He voices the feelings of those people who think that the United States should wiggle out of the Vietnam war and bring American troops home. Such a viewpoint appeals to many persons who have sons of draft age as well as to those who want the United States to keep out of Asian affairs.

AS FOR THE domestic disorders undoubtedly the advisers of Nixon and Rockefeller insist that it would be perilous to take a positive stand which might be interpreted by the Negro voters as something hostile to them.

Vice President Humphrey has made some speeches, which are general in nature, deploring the disturbances and also indicating his desire for an honorable peace in Vietnam, but these have probably not satisfied most of the discontented voters in either party.

ALL IN ALL, the polls may continue to show a rising popularity for Wallace and McCarthy primarily because neither Nixon, Rockefeller nor Humphrey has been willing to lay out a specific program for dealing with the real issues that are troubling the American people. # Say Vows In Panna Maria

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henry Wisener III are residing at Coronado Hills Apartments, No. 21, following their marriage June 22 in St. Mary's Church in Panna Maria. The Rev. John Yanta of San Antonio, cousin of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Wisener is the former Judy Ann Banduch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henry Wisener of Panna Maria, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henry Wisener of Lubbock.

The bride, a graduate of Karnes City High School, received a BS degree in clothing and textiles and home economics education at Texas Tech and did student teaching at Muleshoe High School. Wisener graduated from Amarillo High School and received a BA degree in psychology at Texas Tech where he is a candidate for a M.A. degree in clinical psychology. He is now on the psychology staff at Big Spring State Hospital.

WHITE SATIN

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a formal white satin gown with Empire bodice and neckline accented with Rhelms lace. Galoon scallops of the lace formed the elbow-length sleeves and circled the hemline of the princess gown. The train, which swept from a band circling the waistline, ended in a lace scallop, and her full-length veil of illusion was edged with Chantilly lace and fell from a white satin headpiece. She carried a white rosary and her grandmother's handkerchief with a bouquet of white roses and orchids.

The feminine attendants were Miss Helen Wilhelm of Happy, maid of honor; Mrs. Ronald Sanning of Amarillo, matron of honor; and Miss Mary Anne Puri of Amarillo, bridesmaid.

They wore identical princess gowns of yellow and white dotted swiss with cap sleeves. The dresses were trimmed with rows of white lace which was repeated on their flat bow headpieces. Each carried a long-stemmed white rose with streamers.

The flower girl was Susan Mayer of San Antonio, who was dressed identically to the other attendants, and the ring bearer was Ray Allen Labus of Tucson, Ariz.

The bridegroom's father served as best man, and groomsmen were Ronald Sanning of Amarillo and David Banduch, brother of the bride. Ushers were Shelby Dupnik of Karnes City and Harvey Labus of Tucson.

Miss Frances Kowalk of San Antonio, soloist, sang "Ave Maria," accompanied by Miss Mary Milka. The sanctuary was decorated with native white yucca blossoms and leather leaf, and pews were marked with yellow and white satin bows.

Winner Named In TOPS Gift Contest

Mrs. B. J. Williams was winner of the kitchen gift contest held at the Monday meeting of TOPS Friends Rehearsal in Knott Community Center. Members presented her with gifts for maintaining a weight loss for a six-week period.

Mrs. R. J. Shortes was named July queen for losing 13 pounds in three weeks, and Miss Judy Shockley was announced as weekly queen.

Mrs. Don Brasher, leader, directed the program on problems encountered in losing weight. Plans were completed to enter six members in the national TOPS Greatest Improvement contest which will be concluded Aug. 31. Judging will be based on a minimum loss of five pounds and outstanding improvement in personality and appearance since joining TOPS clubs.

Mrs. Homer Petty Receives Award

Mrs. Homer Petty was presented a certificate of merit by Mrs. Odell Buchanan at the Monday meeting of the John A. Kee Rebeekah Lodge No. 153 at the IOOF Hall. The certificate was from Mrs. Myrtle Russell, state secretary, for a perfect semi-annual report.

Mrs. Everett Hood, noble grand, presided and announced the Midland Lodge No. 97 had invited the group to attend an instruction conference Tuesday.

Members donated to the birthday fund for the children's home in Corsicana. Twenty-one attended, and 26 visits to the sick were reported.

Stanton Lodge

STANTON (SC) — The Stanton Rebeekah Lodge met Monday evening at the IOOF Hall where Mrs. Henry Loudon, noble grand, presided over a business session which preceded a lodge party. Secret pals were revealed and gifts exchanged.

guests outside the church, and afterward, a reception dinner was held at Panna Maria Hall. The bride's table was laid in white linen and lace and centered with yellow zinnias in companion effect. The tiered wedding cake was topped with white doves, wedding bands and yellow roses. It was flanked with crystal candelabra. Serving at the table were Miss Kathy Labus and Miss Nancy Labus of Tucson, Mrs. Robert Brysch, San Antonio; Mrs. Louise Franta, Karnes City; and Mrs. Al Kolodziej, San Antonio. Miss Pat Dupnik served the chocolate bridegroom's cake. Miss Linda Moravits of San Antonio presided at the bride's book, and rice bags were distributed by Miss Thelma Banduch of McAllen and Miss Jeanette Kolodziej of LaVerne.

The couple took a wedding trip through Texas.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wageneck of St. Louis, Mo., are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Peggy, to William B. Talbot, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Talbot, 703 W. 16th. The couple will marry Aug. 31 in the First Presbyterian Church at Arlington, with Dr. A. J. Soidan of Los Angeles, Calif., officiating.

Pre-Nuptial Shower Held For Nancy Jo Anderson

A bridal shower honoring Miss Nancy Jo Anderson, fiancée of Mickey R. Allen of Stanton, was held Monday evening in the R. V. Fryar home in the Elbow community.

Hostesses with Mrs. Fryar were Mrs. O. B. Kirby, Mrs. M. A. Long, Mrs. Hamlin Elrod, Mrs. Jimmie Jones, Mrs. A. D. Barton, Mrs. Tommy Albertson, Mrs. Travis Carlton, Mrs. Travis Fryar, Mrs. J. L. Overton, Mrs. D. W. Day, Mrs. Lee Yarborough, Miss Susan Elrod, Mrs. J. H. Fuller and Mrs. Tommy Beeson.

Miss Anderson was attired in a lace-trimmed white knit dress as she received guests with her mother, Mrs. J. E. Anderson. Honored guests were Mrs. G. P. Harrell and Miss Kay Harrell of Stanton. Mrs. Harrell presented a white carnation corsage as were the honoree and her mother.

Miss Anderson's chosen colors of orange and yellow were used in decorations. The table featured a white net cloth, over yellow, caught at the corners with ribbons and daisies. The centerpiece was a miniature bride flanked with silver candlesticks holding yellow tapers. Crystal and silver appointments were used, and Miss Fran Long and Mrs. Charlotte Southerland of Odessa served.

Miss Debbie Fryar, Miss Kathy Fryar and Miss Kim Kuykendall alternated at the guest register. The gift table was accented with a bouquet of burial flowers in yellow and orange, and the hostesses' gift was an electric coffee pot. Thirty-five guests called.

The couple plans to be married Aug. 31 in the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Better Keep Water In Stove 'Deep Well'

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks: This is for those who have electric kitchen stoves with a "deep well" on the back.

To keep from burning up the pot that sits down in the well, keep it partly filled with water at all times, when we are in a hurry, we accidentally turn on the back burner instead of the front one.

Take it from me, the bottom of that pot sitting in that deep well gets hot mighty fast. If you don't smell it or notice that the front burner is not getting hot like you wanted, you will soon have a pot with the bottom melted out.

This is also likely to happen if you have house guests who go in to heat some water for tea or coffee and are not familiar with an electric stove.

Keeping water in that deep well pot doesn't hurt anything and you can change it every now and then.

I also keep three marbles in mine! They make a noise when the water starts to boil.

Heloise

P.S. And if your pot is aluminum and has turned dark, it can be cleaned beautifully with no effort by boiling two tablespoons of cream of tartar in the pot of water for 45 minutes or so. Looks almost new again.

Now how about that! As we are still receiving hints on uses of these trays, thought you'd like to have more ideas on how other ingenious folk are putting theirs to use.

Many are making plaques by pasting a picture in the bottom of the tray and either using a buttonhole stitch with colored yarn around the edge, or a hole-punch with ribbon threaded through it for an interesting frame.

Foil covered, they make dandy hot plates. Great, too, for dredging meat, fish, eggplant, and tomatoes. As picnic plates, coasters and under paint cans and brushes. Also, as corn-cob trays and rests for cleanser cans and steel wool pads that usually leave rust marks. And in sick rooms for medicine bottles, and thermometers.

All ideas were excellent and it's especially great to know that these versatile little trays that we get for FREE are not being discarded.

Thanks to all you pals who took the time to write.

Write Heloise in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Dear Heloise: After I finish cleaning a room and it's so nice and fresh, I feel like I have really done something. But why doesn't it sparkle like on TV?

I wish they would send me their helpers. Also the mops, feather dusters, sponges, etc. They do it with such ease.

Jeanne R.

Dear Heloise: My large, braided wool rug had become quite worn and frayed around the edges, otherwise, it had the potential for a great deal more wear.

Then I hit on the idea of ripping all of the outer braid off. This made the rug a little smaller, but what a nice smooth edge it had! Mrs. Fred Osborne.

Dear Heloise: As a male admirer of your column, I couldn't help but put in my two-cents worth on using those opaque plastic meat trays. I used them to cover the old ceiling in our den!

If you doubt this, just lay a dozen or so on the floor and

A LOVELIER YOU

Enhance Luster Look Of Attractive Suntan

By MARY SUE MILLER

There's a lustre about a truly attractive suntan. Some skins come by it naturally. But then lose it through a muddy makeup. Other skins never develop any sort of glow, and yet appear radiant.

For most of us girls, makeup with shimmer is the secret of an ideal tan. And lipstick is the first concern. Do be sure yours have both depth and luminosity. The deep, glistening pink, peach and honey shades are the most complementary to sun-kissed complexions.

For the eyes, glimmer comes in subtle sea-spray shades of blue and green powder shadow blended on the lids; in a swath of silvery ogamber shadow on the bone.

Laced with rosy or golden glints, powder base works wonders to wake up sluggish shades of tan. Here you may find a makeup stick handy for summer use. It travels like a lipstick and is as easy to apply. Better still are its fluffy, non-greasy consistency, radiant shades, and effective through realistic-looking coverage.

If you are one who dispenses with foundation when tanned, use a moisture lotion in its place for the dewy and protective effects. Could be of an evening that stick of pink gleamer would provide a candlelit finish.

Powder? Only the nose is given to shine. And then only the merest dusting of colorless, completely translucent powder. The idea is to take the shine off your nose, not your tan.

Lodge Has Gift Party

A farewell gift party was held for Mrs. Charles Stewart, whose husband is returning from Vietnam, at Monday's meeting of Big Spring Rebeekah Lodge No. 294 in the IOOF Hall. The Stewarts will move to Little Rock, Ark.

Mrs. Gordon Gross, district deputy president, gave lodge instructions and presented Mrs. Henry Roger with a certificate of perfection in unwritten work. Mrs. A. G. Hill, vice grand, presided.

The refreshment table was laid with a pink cloth overlaid with ecru lace and centered with an arrangement of summer flowers. Those on the refreshment committee were Mrs. Earl Wilson, Mrs. C. N. Gilliland, Mrs. Jewel Fields and Mrs. Hill.

Thirty attended.

Miss Judy Oakes Honored Tuesday With Gift Party

A complimentary gift shower was held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Bill Wallace, Ackerly, in honor of Miss Judy Oakes, bride-elect of Jimmy Childress of Lamesa.

The honoree received guests with her mother, Mrs. Robert Oakes, and 25 guests attended.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Bill Hambrick, Mrs. Audra Vee Graham, Mrs. Myrtle Sikes, Mrs. Jake Harris, Mrs. Bill Elchison, Mrs. Tommy Horton, Mrs. Howard Armstrong, Mrs. Earl Newcomer, Mrs. Barney Springfield, Mrs. Paul Vasson, Mrs. Martin Snell and Mrs. George Moore.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with white satin overlaid with net, and the centerpiece was of pink roses. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

Others assisting were Mrs. Dan Shortes, Miss Kay Newcomer, Miss Dorinda Graham, Miss Mary Ann Wallace and Miss Kathy Newcomer.

Methodists Have Joint Meeting

The Martha Foster and Lalla Baird circles of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Wesley Methodist Church held a joint meeting Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. W. D. Lovelace, 2200 Carl.

Mrs. Janie Cofer presided and the devotion was given by Mrs. J. B. Hollis who led prayer, as did Miss Helen Ewing.

The program, "Africans Seek a New Identity," was given by Mrs. E. A. Guinn. Refreshments were served to 20 members and one guest, Mrs. William Hope.

P. I. Halls Will Live In Midland

STANTON (SC) — Mrs. Pat Hull of Stanton is announcing the marriage of her daughter, Toya Elizabeth, to Patrick Irwin Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall of Midland. The couple was married Saturday and reside at La Casita Apartments in Midland. Hall is employed by Wes-Tex Equipment Company of Midland.

Baptist Women Hold Prayer Day

WESTBROOK (SC) — A prayer retreat was held by the Woman's Missionary Society at Westbrook Baptist Church Tuesday. The program began with a visitation hour.

Mrs. Floyd Rice gave the call to prayer at the church, and Mrs. Alis Clemmer outlined the history of the hymn, "Where Goes The Crowded Ways of Life," written by Frank Mason North in 1906.

The Rev. L. B. Edwards conducted the Bible study on missions, and Mrs. C. E. Rameled a discussion on prayer, followed by a program period. In conclusion, Mrs. L. B. Edwards sang "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee." Rev. Edwards worded the benediction.

Luncheon was served at noon.

Copters, Guns Rake Big Viet Cong Camp

SATIGON (AP) — A task force of armored American gunboats, helicopter gunships and South Vietnamese marines plunged deep into the fertile Mekong Delta to raid a Viet Cong base camp. Field reports today said at least 90 of the enemy had been killed and the action was continuing.

SEIZE WEAPONS

The Vietnamese Marines reported seizing an arsenal containing 62 weapons, 423 mortar rounds and more than 12,000 rounds of small arms ammunition.

The only allied casualties reported were two South Vietnamese wounded.

The assault was made Tuesday 92 miles southwest of Saigon, along a tributary of the Cal Lon River 34 miles east of the Gulf of Thailand.

A military spokesman said it was the first allied penetration of the area of the southern Mekong Delta which has been dominated by the Viet Cong for years.

The allied commanders had

Pipe Parley Due Thursday

A pre-construction conference between the owners, contractors, and engineers has been scheduled Thursday as a prelude to signing contracts for 37 miles of pipeline for the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

O. H. Ivie, general manager, said that the parley had been set up to coordinate the work on the job together with the flow of supplies. Representatives are expected from Whitman Construction Company of Phoenix, Ariz., and from Presce, Nichols and Endress of Fort Worth, engineers, said Ivie.

Whitman submitted the low bid of $2,713,461 for 11 miles of 24-inch concrete cylinder line, 10 miles of 21-inch line and 16 miles of 21-inch line. The district, however, is due to exercise an option for 27-inch in lieu of the 24-inch line, which would make the contract price $2,765,000.

Takes Turn For The Worst

One vehicle took a turn for the worst in a two-car accident at Twenty-First and Runnels about 5:12 p.m. Tuesday, with a seven-year-old boy receiving slight injuries. Involved in the collision were cars driven by Wanda Baker Tucker, 2586 Carol, and Neal Edmund McClusky, 2269 Runnels.

Last Day To Certify Acreage

Thursday is the final day for Howard County farmers to certify acreage in the 1968 cotton and feed grain program, G. A. Hammack, county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office manager, said.

Hammack said Tuesday afternoon that all but 46 of the 762 farmers in the county have come to the county ASCS office in Big Spring to certify acreage.

Farmers who do not certify for the program will receive about $2 million in payments, based on full participation in the program on a projected yield of 560 pounds of cotton per acre in the county, Hammack said.

The Aug. 1 deadline also applies to farmers in Borden, Sterling and Mitchell counties.

Farmers in Martin, Glasscock and Dawson counties have until Aug. 15 to certify acreage.

Ex-Glamor Girl Divorces Former Star Quarterback

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former film glamor girl Jane Russell has divorced her ex-football star husband, Bob Waterfield, ending a 25-year marriage.

Miss Russell, 47, testified in divorce court Tuesday that her husband was cold and indifferent. He had filed a cross-complaint charging her with habitual intemperance.

Miss Russell was given custody of her adopted children, Thomas, 18, and Tracy, 17. Waterfield won custody of their third adopted child, Robert, 12.

Miss Russell received a $10,000 house in Newport Beach and Waterfield, 48, received the $55,000 family house in Sherman Oaks.

Miss Russell continues to receive $900 a week under her contract with Howard Hughes, who launched her movie career by starring her in "Outlaw."

"Outlaw" premiered in 1941. That year Miss Russell married Waterfield, the star quarterback of UCLA's vaunted football team.

Waterfield became quarterback for the professional Los Angeles Rams while his wife starred in scores of pictures during the 1940s and 1950s.

During the last year of their marriage, Miss Russell testified, Waterfield was often out until 2 and 3 a.m. and rarely showed up for dinner.

Burglars Remove Loot From Big Spring Homes

Three cases of burglary and two thefts were reported to Big Spring police Monday night, yielding a heavy amount of property loss to victims.

R. G. Goodson reported a house burglary at his residence, 2808 Carol, sometime between 10:30 p.m. Monday and 11 p.m. Tuesday.

Missing from his home were between $500 and $800 in jewelry, guns, rifle scopes and household items, police said.

Officers said someone has entered the home through a rear door on the west side. A neighbor said that she had heard someone in the house from 9:50 p.m. to 1 a.m. the night before.

Taken from the house were several pieces of men's jewelry, a .44-caliber magnum Ruger pistol, two rifle scopes, about $350 in money, clock, handcase and axe.

A burglary at D&C Sales, 3910 US 80 west-occurred sometime over the weekend when someone entered a mobile home at that location. A broken window and torn screen were found in a 12-foot by 60-foot trailer, but nothing was missing, police said.

About $25 in coins were taken from two peanut machines at the Hull-Phillips Washateria, 611 Lamesa Drive, between 7:30 and 9 p.m. Monday, police said.

Clifford T. Coates, 1012 Baylor, reported a theft from his auto between 2 p.m. Saturday and 9:30 p.m. Monday. Taken from the car were a 16 gauge shotgun, a set of sockets and ratchets, and a torque wrench, all valued at about $250, police said.

Four hubcaps were reported missing from a car at the Abernathy Used Cars lot, 1609 Sycamore, sometime Monday night, officers said.

Edward Akin, Lamesa, reported to the police station about 12:10 a.m., Wednesday, that he had been assaulted by two Mexicans on the service road, south of the Red Barn Restaurant on IS 20.

Akin told police that he had left the restaurant about midnight and two Mexicans signaled him to stop. He said when he got out of the car one of the men pulled a knife and cut Akin on the left arm and the other hit him on the head.

Winds Stir Texas Dust

Gusty winds stirred up dust and scattered thunderstorms were expected to develop as cooler air blasted southward through the Texas Panhandle today.

Except for thundershowers building up over the coastal plains near Geary, Galveston, skies were mostly clear and it was still rather warm elsewhere in the state. Moist air flowing inland from the Gulf of Mexico caused occasional clouds to form in South Central Texas.

The front appeared somewhat brisker than usual for this season and promised to lower temperatures across the northern half of Texas tonight. It passed Amarillo before dawn.

Behind the cool front's forward edge the mercury sagged to 64 degrees at Dalhart in the upper Panhandle, compared to a high of 99 there Tuesday afternoon. Early morning marks elsewhere were mostly in the 70s, ranging up to 82 at Galveston.

Tuesday's top readings ran as high as 102 at Wichita Falls. Childress recorded 101, Presidio, San Angelo and Wink 100, Comstock and Amarillo, Mineral Wells and Waco 98.

Ruth Named Job Corps Recruiter

Guy A. Ruth, 25, will become a member Thursday of the permanent staff of the Texas Employment Commission in Big Spring as a recruiter for the Job Corps program. He had been working on a temporary basis since July 9, according to Leon Kinney, office manager.

Ruth will be in charge of Job Corps recruiting in Howard, Sterling, Mitchell, Scurry and Fisher counties.

A native of Yonkers, N.Y., Ruth received his BA degree from New Mexico State University at Las Cruces, and his masters degree in psychology from Eastern New Mexico University in Portales. Last summer he was a case worker with New York City Department of Public Welfare in Harlem.

He and his wife, Eunice, live in Stanton where she was reared.

Hospital Books Kidney Video

The Artificial Kidney: A Matter of Life or Death will be the subject of the third in a series of videotapes to be shown at the VA Hospital Thursday.

Local doctors and nurses have been invited to view the series of programs described as a continuing postgraduate medical education program by Dr. H. C. Ernsing, acting hospital director.

C. E. McDonnell has been designated television coordinator for this program and Russell Hoover, recreation therapist, will be responsible for handling, operation and storage.

Patent Attorney Talks Thursday

William D. Harris Jr., patent attorney for Cosden Oil and Chemical, will be guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Big Spring Managerial Association Thursday.

The name of the association was recently changed from the Personnel and Management Association to encourage membership from supervisors and executives as well as personnel managers.

Officers for the new term are Frank Caldwell, president; Ed Fisher, vice president; Joe Wallis, secretary-treasurer.

The organization awards a scholarship to a business or management student at Howard County Junior College each year.

The monthly meeting will be at noon at the Downtown Tea Room.

County Health Nurse Elected

Miss Bo Bowen, newly-elected president of the Howard County Health Association, is county health nurse and not director of nurses at the Veterans Administration Hospital as was stated in Tuesday's Herald.

Miss Bowen resigned from her position at the VA to take over duties as health nurse June 1. She is also the current president of the Easter Seal Society, the only woman ever to hold that post, and in the past has been a director of the March of Dimes and the TB Association.

She was elected president at a meeting Monday of the Heart Association's directors in the Webb AFB Hospital conference room. She and Mrs. James Nelson were named delegates to the Texas Heart Association meeting in San Antonio in October.

Deaths

H. A. Young, Rites Today

H. A. Young, of Cross Plains, died Tuesday and funeral was to be held today at 3 p.m. there. He was born Sept. 4, 1881, in Celenople, Pa.

Survivors include his wife, of Cross Plains; a step-son, James Hickman, Cross Plains, and a daughter, Mrs. J. E. Fort, Big Spring. There are also several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Ex-Big Springer Named WT Bishop

A former Big Spring pastor is the bishop of the new United Methodist area created for West Texas and New Mexico. He is A. H. Carleton, consecrated last week in Oklahoma City at the South Central Jurisdictional conference, which chose him as its 10th bishop.

The Northwest Texas conference, which includes most of West Texas, will be separated from the San Antonio area and put in to the new one with the New Mexico conference. Bishop Carleton was assigned to it and will probably headquarter in Albuquerque.

Bishop Carleton was pastor of the First Methodist Church here from 1949-53, leaving to fill the pastorate of the University Park Methodist Church in Dallas. More recently he has been a staff member of the Perkins School of Theology at SMU.

Other assignments of bishops include: Eugene Slater, San Antonio area; Paul V. Galloway, Arkansas area; Kenneth Pope, Dallas-Fort Worth area; Kenneth Copeland, Houston; W. McFerrin Stowe, Kansas; Aubrey C. Eaton, Louisiana; Eugene M. Frank, Missouri; Noah Moore, Nebraska; Paul Milhouse, Oklahoma.

SANTA ESCAPES POSTAL WHACK

SANTA, Idaho (AP) — Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night, nor an economy move slays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds to Santa.

The Santa Post Office was one of many across the nation recently scheduled for closing.

There was an immediate outcry from Idaho officials, who noted that thousands of children each year send Christmas letters to Santa. The letters are answered by volunteers among the 100 townfolk.

Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, suggested that maybe the Post Office Department had something against kids.

Tuesday, Sen. Frank Church, Idaho, announced in Washington that the department had changed its mind.

Santa is alive and well in northern Idaho.

Three Persons Injured In Big Spring Wrecks

Two major accidents in Big Spring Tuesday injured three persons, and one woman was listed today in serious condition.

Mrs. Mamie Katherine Burnett, 48, 709 W. 7th, underwent surgery early this morning after she was injured in a three-car collision at 10:15 p.m. Tuesday, at Third and Benton streets. She is listed in serious condition at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital with internal injuries.

CAR SPINS

Police said the accident occurred when a 1967 model car, driven by James Gilbert, 21, 1403 Johnson, was going west on Third, and was in collision with a 1956 auto, driven by Mrs. Burnett, which was going north on Benton.

The impact of the autos threw Mrs. Burnett from her car, and the Gilbert car spun around and hit a 1965 model car driven by Thomas Edwin Rodgers, 19, 4209 Muir, which was facing south on Benton and stopped at a traffic signal, police said.

All three cars were heavily damaged.

Gilbert was taken to a hospital where he was checked for injuries and released.

Alec Tucker, 7, was treated and released from a local clinic after a two-car accident about 5:12 p.m. Tuesday, at 21st and Runnels. He was at home Wednesday with chest bruises and cuts on the arm.

Officers said an auto, driven by Neal Edmund McClusky, 25, of 2269 Runnels, was going south on Runnels when it collided with a car, driven by Wanda Baker Tucker, 37, 2506 Carol, which was going east on Twenty-first.

After the impact the McClusky car rolled over on its top and the Tucker vehicle spun around onto a curb.

MINOR MISHAPS

A minor accident occurred about 4:24 p.m., Tuesday, at 1508 Main where city crews were sealcoating the street.

Officers said a police car, driven by John B. Scott, 29, 15 November Lane, was stopped, facing north on Main, when a 1964 dump truck, owned by the city, and driven by Pablo Aguirre Ramirez, 56, 608 W. 3rd, backed into the Scott auto.

Scott had stopped the car to help block the street for workers when the truck backed up to dump a load of gravel, police said. About $800 damage was done to the rear of the car, police said.

Another minor accident was reported about 4:43 p.m., Tuesday, when a truck, driven by James H. Gravell, Big Spring, was going north on South Gregg and collided with the rear of a car driven by Arthur B. Valdez, 22, 1809 Lancaster.

A minor accident in the alley behind 1783 Scurry occurred about 1:26 a.m. Wednesday.

Police said a car, owned by Nathaniel Burks, 1701 Scurry, was parked in the alley when it was struck in the left rear by an auto driven by Bobby Roy Kernell, 21, 1507-B Lincoln, as Kernell turned into the alley off East 17th.

City Sealcoating Moving Slowly

The sealcoating program is moving slowly, according to Ernest Lillard, director of public works, with three streets not finished Tuesday being added on to Thursday's slate.

The streets not finished were Locust from Wood to Eleventh, Tenth from Locust east one block, and Tenth from Owens to State.

Other streets scheduled for Thursday include Wood from Birdwell to State, Victory from Eleventh to Tucson, Circle from Wood to Tucson, Mulberry from Drake to Steakley, and McEwen from Hill to Mulberry.

Bill To Exempt Postal Workers Cut Zips Along

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to exempt postal workers from a government personnel cut-back has cleared two more congressional hurdles en route to probable passage.

The measure zipped through a conference committee and the full Senate Tuesday and was sent to the House today for final action.

'BLACKMAIL'

There was no debate as the Senate stamped approval on the measure which some members have called "blackmail."

Postmaster Gen. W. Marvin Watson has told Congress that if it does not exempt his 726,400 employees before adjourning for the political conventions, the first in a series of service curtailments will begin Saturday.

These include cutting Saturday window service to a maximum of two hours, putting street box collections on Sunday schedules and closing the first of several hundred fourth class branches.

FBI ESCAPES

Under President Johnson's 10 per cent income surtax bill, which includes a $6-billion cut in federal spending, all government agencies must cut back to the June, 1966, manpower level by filling only three in every four vacancies.

This would have trimmed the postal staff by more than 83,000 workers at a time when Watson says the Post Office workload is increasing.

The postal department is the first and the largest of almost two dozen government agencies expected to ask Congress to exempt of at least 14,000 more people.

The Senate already has approved exemptions for the FBI and for assistant attorneys general.

Mobs Run Wild In Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico City was a battle ground again Tuesday as mobs of young people ran wild through the city, fighting police, wrecking city buses and throwing rocks and bottles.

At least one person was dead, more than 400 were injured and at least 1,100 persons had been arrested since antigovernment rioting began last Friday.

Officials claimed the riots were Communist inspired and said they were the worst Mexico's capital has experienced in 20 years.

Tuesday night club-wielding students braved a heavy rain and hijacked four city buses after forcing terrified passengers to flee. Then they ran the vehicles into the sides of buildings.

Earlier, Army troops fired volleys of shots into the air and dispersed the students. The troops were withdrawn, but the mobs returned, marching from the old university section, and seized the buses near the city's central square.

Riot squads swinging long batons dispersed that crowd, but at least 3,000 of the youths gathered half a mile away near a teacher's college. Their leaders used bugle calls and walkie-talkies to control them. They swarmed over buses and a trolley car, smashing windows and running the vehicles onto the sidewalks.

4-H Club Plans Achievement Tour

The Knott 4-H Club met Monday to make plans for an achievement tour scheduled for 5 p.m. Aug. 12.

The group will meet at the community center, make the tour, and then return to the center for dinner.

Members wishing to exhibit items are requested to bring them to the center.

Those who made clothing project reports were Rene Roman, Leola Jones, Jana Grigg, Jan Reed, Diann Armstrong, Darlene Allred, Kayla Gaskins and Leah Roman reported on their visit to Texas Electric to see the electronic range on display there.

The Sand Diggers, a local band, entertained the group with western music. A style show was also on the program in which girls modeled garments they made for the County Dress Revue. They were Debbie Parker, Darlene Allred, Jan Reed, Leola Jones, Jana Grigg, Diann Armstrong, Rene Roman, Kayla Gaskins and Leah Roman.

17 Area Scouts Win Arrow Awards

Seventeen area Boy Scouts and leaders received the Order of the Arrow award at a ceremony near Fort Davis Friday evening.

The scouts had been attending a camp for a week at the scout ranch in the Davis Mountains, and they concluded their week of activities with the ceremony.

Receiving the Order of the Arrow award from Troop 179 were Bob Priebe, David Fisher, Craig Lagerstrom and Bill Priebe.

Members of Troop 8 of Coahoma receiving the camping award were S. M. Morris, Johnny Darden, Jimmy Renfro and Ronnie Warden.

Troop 16 of Forsan, sponsored by the Forsan Oil Well Co., had five scouts receiving the award. They were Ronald Allen, Dale Griffith, Vard Ray Griffith, Carl Johansen, Robert Wash and Lewis Grantham of Troop 75.

From the Webb AFB Boy Scout Troop 146 were Gerald Carter, Mike Malone and Joel Wiczorek.

State Hospital Tops Bond Goal

The 1968 U.S. Savings Bond campaign at Big Spring State Hospital has exceeded the 1967 quota by five per cent, said Dr. Preston E. Harrison, hospital superintendent.

Dr. Harrison said he was very pleased with the 57 per cent of the hospital employees now participating in the payroll savings plan.

In 1965 participation was 38 per cent and in 1966 it was 47 per cent. Participation was 52 per cent in 1967.

Ray Murder Trial Judge Forbids Press Freedoms

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Strict new guidelines enjoining "interviews or press conferences for publicity" were handed down Tuesday by the judge who will preside in the murder trial of James Earl Ray.

Judge W. Preston Battle acted after a committee of eight attorneys reported that his previous order forbidding interviews or extra-judicial statements had been violated. The committee, named by Battle Sunday, said these violations had been committed specifically by Arthur Hanes, Ray's attorney; Shelby County Sheriff William Morris; Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark; and Memphis Attorney Russell X. Thompson.

NO INTERVIEWS
The order forbids anyone con-

acted with the case, and all persons employed in the criminal courts buildings, from participating in interviews or press conferences for publicity. It enjoined them from making extra-judicial statements about the case which involve: "1. The personal belief of the declarant as to the guilt or innocence of the accused;

"2. The plans of the declarant relating to the preparation or conduct of the trial, the theory, techniques and strategy of the declarant in the preparation and trial of the case;

"3. The jurors or potential jurors who may serve;

"4. The comments of the declarant about the merits of the case and about any evidence which may be presented;

5. The credibility of or information concerning any known or intended witnesses or the treatment, acts and attitude of the defendant, and are further enjoined from making any and all other statements which may be prejudicial to a fair trial by an impartial jury in the case, whether specified herein or not."

RAY'S RIGHTS
As for Hanes, the order mentioned statements he made to the effect that the shooting of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. involved a Communist conspiracy, to the effect that his client's rights were being trampled in jail, and to the effect that he, his family and servants are being threatened by Sheriff King Jr."

Annual Shrine Circus Slated
Tickets to the annual Shrine Circus, slated Sept. 9 by the Big Spring Shrine Association, are now on sale at various locations in the city.

Advanced tickets at $1 each for adults may be purchased at Blum's Jewelers, Inc., Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, First National Bank, Greyhound Bus Terminal, Hemphill-Wells-Prager's Men and Boy's Wear, Record Shop, Security State Bank and State National Bank, according to Ted Groehl, Shrine member.

Adult tickets will be $1.50 each at the gate, he said. Two performances of the circus will be slated at 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. at the rodeo grounds.

Funds To Help Lepard Family Are Launched
A Bobby Glen Lepard Fund has been set up at Webb AFB to help pay expenses for a kidney transplant for a 10-year-old Sand Springs boy.

Mrs. Robert Lepard, the boy's mother, is employed in the Civilian Personnel office, and this office is conducting the effort. Interested people may contact Chief M. Sgt. Whip Johnson at Ext. 2249 or M. Sgt. Richard Reidy at Ext. 2149. The amount collected will be combined Aug. 18 with a similar fund at Cosden, where Lepard works, and be used to help defray costs, Johnson said.

"Part of the cost will be covered by insurance and a government grant from the Colorado university; however, a large amount of the expense must be borne by the parents," he said.

The child, victim of a rare kidney disease, received a kidney transplant 10 days ago at the Colorado University Medical Center in Denver from the body of another child who had died from injuries received in an automobile accident. A second operation was performed Saturday when Bobby developed an intestinal block, and Lepard said doctors are optimistic, though the boy was seriously weakened by the second opera-

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — W. W. Carpenter of Belk community near Paris is a reasonable man. But when the wolves kept raiding his watermelon patch, he took matters into his own hands.

Opening lead: King of ♥
Some shrewd detective work based on inferences drawn from the bidding helped South, the declarer at four spades, to uncover the winning line of play.

West's opening bid of one heart was passed ground to South who reopened with a take-out double. North duly responded with two diamonds and East, who had already denied the strength to keep the bidding open, offered a competitive raise to two hearts.

A free bid of two spades by South would designate a reasonably good hand. When he chose instead to jump to three spades, North can hardly be blamed for carrying on to game.

West opened the king of hearts and continued with the ace. When declarer's queen appeared, West shifted to the queen of diamonds. Dummy's ace was played and declarer drew three rounds of trump. East's heart discard on the last spade revealed that his partner had a trump trick.

In order to avert a setback, it was necessary for South to pick up the club suit without loss. He led a diamond to North's king and returned the ten of clubs. East false-carded mildly by following with the four; however, South—after a moment's reflection—put up the ace of clubs and dropped West's king. Declarer conceded a trump trick to his opponent and claimed the contract.

South's decision not to take the club finesse—which would be the normal course of action missing five cards in the suit—was influenced by the auction. East's failure to keep his partner's one heart bid open presumably marked him with less than six points counting high cards and distribution. His subsequent competitive heart raise indicated that he held a reasonably good distributional fit with his partner. South decided that, if East had the king of clubs in addition, he might have chanced a raise on the first round.

There was the added factor that—with only 15 high-card points outstanding—West as the opening bidder, was more apt to hold a missing king.

Reed Will Be Selector During Herefords Tour

Lee Reed, brother and partner of the late Bill Reed of Sterling County, will be the selector for the annual Howard County South Plains Hereford Association when the association makes a tour of 12 of the leading Hereford ranches Thursday. Bill Reed served as the selector for many years.

The tour is to select the Herefords which are to be consigned to the December association auction to be held here.

The tour will leave at 7 a.m. Thursday from the Charlie Creighton ranch on the end of West Third Street. The first Herefords to be considered are at this ranch.

The tour agenda calls for a stop at the Patterson ranch at 7:30 a.m.; Hall ranch at 8:10 a.m.; Ronnie Hirt Ranch at 9:10 a.m.; W&M Cattle Co. at 10:45 a.m.; George W. Knox at 11:30 a.m.; and back to Big Spring for lunch at 12:45 p.m.

At 2 p.m. the tour resumes its travels with a stop at the Buchanan Hereford ranch. At 2:30 p.m. the tour will be at James Coates; at 2:50 p.m. at the Bobby Cathey ranch; at the Leland Wallace ranch at 3:15 p.m.; the Jack Buchanan ranch at 4 p.m. and the Pied Piper Farms at 6 p.m. The group will then return to Big Spring.

Jimmy Taylor, secretary, said that some changes are contemplated in the sale in December. One feature will be the elimination of the judging of the stock offered and the awarding of trophies. The second change will involve the procedure of the auction.

Gets His Lumps
CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — It took 10 minutes and a $500,000 check Monday for Eugene Zeller Frerichs to be granted a divorce.

St. Louis County Circuit Court Judge George W. Cloyd granted the divorce in the St. Louis suburb of Clayton. He said after the 10-minute hearing it was the largest lump sum settlement he knew of.

Frerichs gave his wife title to their home and agreed to pay $800 a month for support of two of the couple's five children. The Frerichs were married in 1945. He is president of American Tool Sale Inc.

Civilians Join Webb Staff

Two civilians, recent arrivals at Webb AFB, filled positions on the personnel staff at the base last week. The new education officer is Veri I. Green, and the new recreation director is John J. (Jerry) White.

Green, who comes from Lowry AFB, Colo., has worked in the education field for many years. At Lowry he was assistant education director. He replaces Jimmy Ray Smith, who has moved to training material and evaluation, a part of operations, at the base.

Green has a masters' degree in school administration from Colorado State College, Greeley, Colo.

He first went to Lowry in 1951, serving as a training instructor in the supply procedures branch.

White, a World War II and Korean War veteran, is a retired Air Force master sergeant and former non-commissioned officer-in-charge of personnel services and recreational director at Perrin AFB.

Of his 22 years spent in the Air Force, 15 were at Perrin.

During his stay there, he was instrumental in establishing a golf course and club house, an auto hobby shop, a bowling alley, an aero club, a wood hobby shop and a youth center.

He is an active member of the National Recreation and Park Association, the Texas Recreation and Park Society and the Armed Forces Recreation Society.

He is also a registered sports official with the U.S. Volleyball Association, the Amateur Softball Association, the Southwest Basketball Officials Association, and the Oklahoma Officials Association.

Modern Troubles

BALTIMORE (AP) — According to a report written for Baltimore's Department of Social Services, modern troubles can come in fractions.

A group of welfare recipients who participated in a year-long federally financed rent subsidy program were found to have an average of 2.70 major psychosocial problems, or those which required "community intervention."

The report, written by Dr. Harris Chalklin of the University of Maryland School of Social Work, said social workers identified 57 new problems per family and eliminated 58 problems per family.

FOE SEES NO CHANCE OF CONFIRMATIONS

Fortas-Thornberry Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The opposition leader to President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations says his forces have doubled in recent weeks and have more than enough votes to keep the Senate from voting on the appointments.

"I am confident these nominations will never be confirmed," said Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., Tuesday about the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice.

Griffin said 40 senators now oppose the two.

He did not name the senators who he claims have increased the opposition strength from the original 19.

Griffin and his allies have threatened a filibuster against the appointments and it would take a two-thirds vote to shut off their debate. Griffin needs to muster at least 34 members to vote against choking off the filibuster.

Griffin commented in a speech to the National Press Club while members of the Senate Judiciary Committee gathered in secret in the Senate Judiciary Committee gathered in secret in the Senate's basement recording studio to view three films which one called "hardcore pornography" and another labeled "crude vulgarity."

The question of pornography has taken center stage in the drawn-out hassling over Fortas' nomination to succeed Earl Warren. One Republican has charged on the Senate floor that Fortas' votes on obscenity have helped "destroy community morals" in the United States.

Warren says he will stay on if Fortas, an associate justice since 1965, is rejected.

One of the three films viewed in the small basement room was 0-7.

Fortas voted with the majority in reversing a lower court decision that "0-7" was obscene.

Local Rotary Club Lauded

Dr. Jack Rodgers, district governor of Rotary International, made his official visit to the Big Spring club yesterday and urged full participation by all Rotarians. He is from Odessa.

Only through full participation in all Rotary programs, he said, can members become fully involved to accomplish the objectives to which Rotary is dedicated.

Officers, directors and committee chairmen met with Rodgers Monday night and outlined local programs. The governor lauded the club for its aims and pointed out areas of deficiencies. Membership increases and better attendance were stressed as primary needs locally.

Mrs. Rodgers accompanied her husband and was surprised with a birthday cake. Several local Rotary-Anns were at the meeting.

Dr. Rodgers was introduced by president Joe Price.

Three new members were introduced to the club. They are John Beard, Bob Hut and James C. Jones.

Arrive Too Late

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — A Paris housewife called police to complain that her 5-year-old daughter had just been run over by a large black cow that ran through the yard.

Police checked — but arrived too late. The cow was struck and killed by an auto while in pursuit of a Paris youth.

Sen. Fulbright Scores Arkansas Primary Win

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright won re-nomination in Arkansas' primaries Tuesday against three Democratic foes who urged voters to wrest the office from him because of his stand on the Vietnam war.

Facing his sternest campaign test in 24 years, Fulbright received about 53 per cent of the vote, enough to save him from a runoff but short of the 65 per cent he predicted he would receive.

CONSTANT CRITIC

With 2,548 of 2,659 precincts reported, Fulbright had 202,024 votes, Jim Johnson, 122,072, Bobby K. Hayes, a flooring manufacturer from Calico Rock, 46,701 and Foster Johnson, a music publisher from Little Rock, 10,952.

His opponents accused the Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman of giving aid and comfort to the enemy because of his outspoken opposition to U.S. involvement in the war.

During an intensive two-month campaign, Fulbright told voters his opposition to the war was aimed at stopping the killing of our men and to bring them home to their families where they belong. He was a constant critic of President Johnson's Vietnam policy.

Fulbright, 63, who emphasized his senatorial seniority, faces another test in the Nov. 5 general election against Charles T. Bernard, 40, of Earle, who was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Bernard, father of five, farms and operates a dry cleaning business. His only public service came as a city alderman.

Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, as expected, easily won re-nomination over Sidney C. Roberts of Little Rock, an unemployed salesman making his first political race.

RUGGED RUNOFF

Rockefeller, the state's first GOP chief executive since Reconstruction, indicated that Bernard would have the all-out backing of his organization. The drive to give the state its first Republican senator in 100 years follows by two years Rockefeller's own triumph which helped Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt become the first Arkansas Republican congressman in a century.

State Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman led a six-way race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, but will face a runoff Aug. 13 against either Ted Boswell of Bryant or Mrs. Virginia Johnson of Conway.

Boswell, at 35 the youngest candidate and a strong advocate to revamp the 94-year-old state constitution, and Mrs. Johnson, the first woman to seek the governorship in Arkansas, appeared headed for a down-to-the-wire battle for the No. 2 spot. Mrs. Johnson is Jim Johnson's wife.

Bill Alexander of Joscoola, an attorney, led the field in the 1st Congressional District Democratic primary but also faced a runoff.

Gov. Reagan Wants Votes From Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas delegates to the national Republican convention are being told that California Gov. Ronald Reagan wants them on his side despite Richard Nixon's victory claims.

Reagan already has more delegate votes from Texas than any other state except California.

JOINS REAGAN

Jack Cox, former strong GOP candidate for governor, defected Tuesday from Nixon's ranks and told each delegate he wanted to "visit personally with you on this important matter and hope you will lend your voice to Gov. Reagan."

The announcement by Cox, who previously told the Associated Press he would support Nixon at the national convention starting Aug. 5, climaxed an intensive drive being made in Texas since Reagan spoke in Amarillo July 19.

Cox noted in his letter to each delegate that he has been state-wide chairman of the John Tower favorite son committee and has been active as a peace-maker between Nixon and Reagan forces at the state convention June 11.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., abandoned his favorite son candidacy July 1, and urged the 56 delegates, now freed from their state convention pledge, to support Nixon.

IS MYSTERY

An Associated Press survey completed Tuesday of each delegate showed 30 saying they would support Nixon, 13 for Reagan and 13 uncommitted. Several "uncommitted" delegates have endorsed Nixon previously.

There were no Texas delegate votes for Nelson Rockefeller.

State GOP Chairman Peter O'Donnell, already in Miami Beach, had no comment on Cox's statement except to recall that he had estimated after the state convention that Reagan had only 12 to 16 supporters on the delegation.

A national AP survey of GOP delegate votes showed Tuesday that Reagan had 69 votes committed from states other than California, where he is a favorite son candidate with control of the state's 86 votes. Texas' 13 votes were more than any other state's support.

SOLID FOR BARRY

Texas' delegation to the 1964 national convention was solid for Barry Goldwater, who this week endorsed Nixon.

An AP survey late in 1967 of the 1964 delegation indicated that Reagan and Nixon were apparent heirs to Goldwater's support—with Reagan getting a few more votes than Nixon. The 1968 delegation contains only a few of those who made the 1964 national session.

The first official count of the current GOP delegation will not be made until the group's first caucus at 3 p.m. Sunday in Miami Beach. The final result will appear when Texas casts its vote for the presidential nominee next Wednesday, Aug. 7.

Braniff Crash Pilot Gained Okay Just Before Explosion

DALLAS (AP) — The pilot of a Braniff International airliner asked permission to change course radically just one minute before the craft exploded in flames during a thunderstorm and crashed May 3, killing all 85 aboard.

The request for a 180-degree course change was the last contact ground controllers had with Capt. John Phillips, as revealed on a transcript made public Tuesday at a hearing by the National Transportation Safety Board.

The four-engine, propjet Electra crashed in a field near Dawson, 80 miles south of Dallas. It was Flight 352 on the busy Houston-to-Dallas afternoon commuter run.

LIGHTNING

Four witnesses at the first day of the hearing said they saw lightning flash near the plane and possibly strike it before the ship went down.

The tape from which the transcript was made was played at the hearing Tuesday. Voices of the crew indicated virtually no panic.

At 4:41 p.m., seven minutes before the crash, Phillips told the passenger over the plane intercom: "We'll be able to go well under and to the west of all the thundershowers. . . They will be visible to you to the right and since they have just moved from the west, it might still be just a little choppy there. . . ."

Five minutes later the crew members thought they had found clearance through the thunderstorm.

OPENING

At 4:46 p.m., the Fort Worth

air route traffic control center asked: "Braniff 352, do you indicate the area you're going into there now as being fairly clear, or do you see openings through it?"

Braniff 352: "It's not clear, but we think we see an opening through it."

A minute later the captain asked the first officer to request permission to make a turn of 180 degrees.

Just before that request, which was granted, Fort Worth control told the flight: "You're the closest one that's ever come to it (the storm) yet."

As the tape ends, the captain is telling the first officer: "No, don't talk to him (Fort Worth) too much, don't carry on a conversation with him. . . Let's keep trying to get us a fix. . . We'll make a circling letdown and. . . (unintelligible). . ."

Eleven witnesses testified Tuesday. About 20 or more were still to be heard from today and possibly Thursday.

An investigator for the board said a final ruling on the crash would not be made for perhaps five months. Technicians are still sifting through the wreckage.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Years ago, Jack Hutchison had a solution for slow play on the golf course. Suggested he: "Miss 'em quick."

A stern critic of those linksters who move as if their feet are in molasses and their brains in cobwebs is Gene Sarazen, the gentleman farmer.

Sarazen once defeated the British champion, playing 18 holes in 2 hours and 19 minutes. That was before the days of TV.

Slow play in baseball, of course, is apparently an incurable disease. Rare is the game that is completed in under two hours.

Buddy Travis, the HCJC cage mentor, is making plans to go to Leveiland to watch one of his recruits, Monte Pillion, play in the annual all-star game highlighting the Six-Eight Man Coaching School.

Pillion is a 6-3 Blackwell boy. Travis is hopeful Monte looks good but not too good, else he might have to fight to keep the senior college coaches away from the boy.

Isn't Maury Wills, the Negro athlete, the first choice of the establishment in Montreal to manage that city's new National League club?

Bernie Hagins, the Coahoma mentor, spent the first six weeks this summer attending school at Stephen F. Austin in San Marcos, working toward his Master's degree.

It'll take Bernie another two summers to qualify for the degree.

The New York Yankees make no secret of the fact that they plan to bring Elston Howard back as a coach when his playing days are over at Boston. And, from all indications, that won't be too far in the future.

Texas Tech has booked such so-called basketball softies as Angelo State and Houston Baptist for the coming season because of the immaturity of the Red Raider team as a whole.

Coach Gene Gibson of Texas Tech will go mainly with sophomores and juniors this fall, building toward the future.

The way it looks from here, professional boxing is more in need of thinking promoters than boxing talent.

Consider the case of the recent scrap in San Francisco between Sonny Liston and Henry Clark.

The bout, first show in San Francisco in ten months, should have been a big one but it wasn't. Clark had a local background, was regarded as a comer and was in against one of boxing's celebrated bogymen.

A live gate of between $40,000 and $60,000 was envisioned. The gate receipts amounted to $19,960 while television brought in an extra $30,000.

What went wrong? Plenty, according to all reports. The date was changed to a Saturday on a July 4 weekend and the starting hour was moved up to 2:30 p.m. solely to accommodate the TV people.

That was a monumental blunder. Some observers said that boxing, like making love, is meant for after sundown.

The baseball Giants were playing St. Louis practically down the street at the same hour. Races were on at one of the area horse tracks. It was a perfect afternoon for such things as sailing in the bay, barbecuing or mowing the lawn.

The fight crowd was announced as 4,500 and was probably less. The baseball game lured 23,233 while the bangtails ran before 11,372.

A tape on the fight was screened over TV the following afternoon as most fans knew it would be. The house was sealed at $3 to $10. Why pay that, when you are assured to seeing it free—even if you have to wait a while?

Liston got $21,000 for the appearance, Clark $12,500. After all expenses were taken out, the two promoters split $7,500 in net profits between them. In view of their colossal blunders, they were lucky to get off without having to pawn their wives' earrings.

Rebels Shade Odessa, 4-3

MIDLAND — It took nine innings to do it but the Bell Mayflower Rebels of Big Spring remained alive in the District 1 Sophomore Teen-Age Baseball tournament by defeating Odessa Roberts Hardware, 4-3, here Tuesday night.

The Rebs, losers to Odessa B & B in the opening contest of the double-elimination tournament, return to competition against the same club at 5:30 p.m. today. Johnny Rough likely will pitch for Big Spring today.

In the ninth, David Newman singled for the Rebs, after which the Odessa Roberts pitcher walked the bases loaded.

Newman then broke up the game when he scored on a passed ball.

Big Spring had charged from behind with a run in the sixth.

David Carter, the winning finger, yielded only four hits to the Odessa team. Newman collected half his team's four hits. Carter and Jeff Murdock accounted for the other ones.

No one on the Odessa team had more than one hit.

Winner of the tournament qualifies for the State tournament, which will be held next week.

Odessa Roberts had lost its opening game to Midland Permian despite the fact that its hurler, Charles Ring, threw a no-hit game.

Odessa Roberts thus was eliminated from the tournament.

Pairings Are Set For Abilene Meet

The Big Spring Texans face Lubbock in the first game of the four-team Little League Sectional tournament in Abilene Thursday. Game time is 5:30 p.m.

The two teams clash at Will Hair Park, as do the Abilene Eastern team and Iowa Park in the second game. Starting time for the afterpiece is 7:15 p.m.

Big Spring is champion of District 3 and recently shut out the titlist of District 4, Pecos, 1-0.

Iowa Park turned back Canyon in Sub-Section play, 7-0. Abilene Eastern trounced Weatherford, 7-4.

Losers of Thursday's games return to play in the consolation finals at 5:30 p.m. Friday while the winners meet at 7:30 p.m.

Winner of the tournament advances to the State tournament, which will be held in San Antonio Aug. 6-9.

Snyder Tourney Set This Week

SNYDER — The Snyder Invitational Golf Tournament, scheduled here this week, had 33 entries Tuesday afternoon.

The field will be limited to 96 with the deadline for entering at 6 p.m. Friday. Entry fee is $17.50.

Golfers will play 18 holes of medal Saturday to determine flights.

The round will also count towards the final total, with the championship flight playing 27 holes Sunday and all others 18.

Cheaper in the long run.

Gas will never cost you much. (You'll get about 27 miles to the gallon.)

And the amount of oil you use is like a drop in the bucket. (It only takes 2.7 quarts and almost never needs more between changes.)

And the engine is air-cooled, so you don't have to spend a red cent for anti-freeze or rust inhibitors.

And you get more than your money's worth out of a set of tires (around 40,000 miles).

But don't think buying a new Volkswagen is just another get-rich-quick scheme. You have to wait until the second set of tires wear out.

2 fiber glass belts stabilize the tread with a tensile strength greater than steel

That's stable. So stable, the tread won't squirm like it does on ordinary tires. So it wears longer. Up to 40% longer than the same tire without these belts. All that strength holds the tread open. Lays it down flatter. Socks it to the road.

2 plies of tough nylon cord for high speed dependability

Cross plies, not radial, for more stability. Nothing resists impact like nylon. You can really drive on this tire.

Situation comedy, out of style and out of favor with network television program makers for the past few seasons, is making a comeback next season.

There are seven new series of the genre on the schedules of the three networks. And a lucky swing of the programming cycle returns them at a time when fierce physical action and gunplay is, if not taboo, at least radically modified.

Television series are usually under construction for one or two years before the public gets its first look at a show, so most of these were on the drawing boards long before the public and the networks began worrying about shoot 'em ups and their suspected effects on tender or disturbed minds.

'BLONDIE'
On the September docket are CBS' "Doris Day Show," the popular film star's first excursion into television. She plays a former band singer, a widow with two children, adjusting to rural life. There is also NBC's "Julia," with Diahann Carroll playing a widowed registered nurse with child. Other nonviolent comedies include CBS' "Blondie," based on a comic strip; ABC's "Greatest Girl in Town"; NBC's Fantasy, "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir"; CBS' "The Good Guys," and ABC's hour-long "Here Come the Brides," a period piece set in the Northwest lumberjack country.

Second most popular category for new shows is action, mostly police or private eye action. The five shows include NBC's "The Outsider," in the mood of those old Raymond Chandler private eye books; ABC's "Mod Squad" and CBS' "Hawaii Five," both working the police beat; NBC's

"Adam 12," which will handle a pair of squad car cops in the manner of "Dragnet" and NBC's major effort, the 90-minute "Name of the Game."

VARIETY SHOWS
Two new variety shows will be added to the growing list—NBC's "Beautiful Phyllis Diller Show" and the off-beat "That's Life" on ABC which will attempt a weekly book musical built around a cast of regular performers playing continuing characters.

There will also be two new Westerns, CBS' "Lancer," and ABC's "Outcasts." ABC will replace a science fiction series, "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea," with another, "The Land of Giants," the only new entry in that category. And it will also add one semi-game program, "The Don Rickles Show," in which the emphasis is on comedy rather than showmanship. ABC also has the sole anthology series of the season, "Journey to the Unknown," with different plot and performers weekly.

ADDED LITTLE
CBS' inspection of Negro parades, "The Land of Giants," the only new entry in that category. And it will also add one semi-game program, "The Don Rickles Show," in which the emphasis is on comedy rather than showmanship. ABC also has the sole anthology series of the season, "Journey to the Unknown," with different plot and performers weekly.

Dear Abby

Warning On Marriage

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and Chuck is 23. We've been married going on five years and we have three children and another on the way. We were so much in love we could hardly wait to get married, but a lot of things have changed all that. We have never had a place of our own since we've been married. We have lived with my folks or Charlie's, mainly because Charlie can't seem to hold a job, so I have to work and we need someone to look after the kids.

On top of that, Charlie still runs with the guys he ran with before we were married, and he just doesn't seem to want to settle down to married life. We have separated twice on that account and I can see it coming again. If it weren't for the kids, I'd leave him sure. I just might anyway. Have you advice for a girl who messed up her life as badly as I? OLD AT 22

DEAR OLD: There is not much advice for a young woman in your position but your experience could serve as a warning signal for lots of 17-and 18-year-olds who are "so much in love" they can hardly wait to get married. You are still young enough, however, to make a better life for yourself, so if leaving Charlie is in the cards, don't wait another five years.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do with a husband like mine? Last night I served fresh raspberry pie, which has always been one of my specialties. And all of a sudden my husband, whom I shall call "Dr. Jekyll" turned into a regular Mr. Hyde. He stormed around like a wild man, saying he never cared for raspberry pie as it took him two days to get the seeds out of his teeth. Then he said he never could understand why I've been shoving it down his throat for 28 years!

Abby, I always thought my husband liked raspberry pie. I felt so hurt I cried myself to sleep. Was I wrong, or was he?

RASPBERRY FIGHT
DEAR FIGHT: If a man doesn't care for something his wife serves him, he shouldn't wait for 28 years to tell her about it. Tell Mr. Hyde you're so mind reader, and serve him baby food.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69799, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Humphrey Jabs Johnson About Hunger In Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today jabs at both the Johnson administration and Congress in charging that not enough has been done to combat hunger in the nation.

Humphrey, returning from a four-day campaign swing in California in his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination, said the nation needs "a strong president."

BABIES SUFFER
Humphrey's remarks were prepared for a National Association of Counties meeting.

He said neither Congress nor the administration—specifically the Department of Agriculture—had done enough to combat hunger in the United States.

"It is immoral to allow some babies to suffer from malnutrition while others in our population are concerned about the dangers of overeating," said Humphrey, and he added: "Let me be perfectly candid—neither Congress nor the United States Department of Agriculture have made an

Horoscope Forecast TOMORROW —CARROLL RICHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when you are all too apt to get in arguments with others. It is essential that you double-check whatever you say or do to make sure you have not made a slip of the pen, or of speech, since one is not apt to coordinate as well as usually either today or tonight. Be gentle.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Although you do not agree with allies, you had better look at their side of things if you don't want a severance of connections right now. You are a little confused where personal aims are concerned. Think them over carefully.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You have to garner more of that data needed if you are to get routine duties working more successfully and intelligently. Fellow workers will help you more willingly if you do not make definite demands. Use a little diplomacy, as befits humanity.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) While pleasure is on your mind, you are in one of those extravagant moods, so wait for a better time. Show real affection to that close tie. You are apt to make sarcastic comments at times that are hardly pleasant.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) This day is fine for getting rid of restrictive situations that have been causing dissent at home. You can begin on untold toward greater success. However, do not start wheels in motion to yet.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) It isn't only your own drive that is important; you must keep an eye on the other fellow too. Be sure you wear shoes when driving and avoid possible accidents. Don't let your tongue be coosive with other friends or foe.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Did you stop to think that if you cut down on expenses, you automatically increase your income? Then concentrate on that plan that will really be profitable in the days to come. Get the right partners to make it worthwhile, easier.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Stop being depressive and feeling others are imposing upon you and get busy with important work ahead of you. Reliving on others does not help you very much. Avoid that social business until a better time. Be more practical.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Investigations today usually lead to nothing but blind alleys now. So get busy on whatever will make your personal life more ideal. Don't let that tired, worn-out person be without a friend—show that you care a fine one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You had better postpone seeing those friends you have in mind today, since they are not in a very good mood. Know what it is you want to do most. Stop waiting time and energy foolishly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 30) If you don't obey laws, both moral and legal, you find your reputation deteriorates very badly. Don't criticize higher-ups, but show loyalty instead. If there is some relative you have been very unfair with, try to make it up to him, or her.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 31 to Feb. 19) Those ideas running through your mind now are fine, but this is not the right time to put them in operation. Get busy and gather the needed data you need. Be as thorough as you can in your studies.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Meet the expectations of others where promises are concerned so as not to bust them. Also, instead of expecting more to do things for you, do something kind and constructive yourself. Be fair, just.
