Kennedale Blast

A gasoline tanker truck burns amid charred service station pumps after a blast that injured 32 persons here last night. One newsman, firemen and spectators drawn to the scene of the fire were hurt, some critically, when a gasoline storage tank exploded. (See story on Page 4-B.)

AT DEADLINE Effort To Recall Reagan Falls Short

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Two California officials have termed "a colossal failure" the campaign to force a recall election to remove Gov. Ronald Reagan from office and blunt his presidential prospects.

Unofficial reports from 29 counties, including the most populous, showed 491,096 signatures on petitions to put the recall question on the Nov. 5 ballot—short of the 780,414 required by the deadline of 5 p.m. Wednesday.

The tally was far below the 850,000 signatures that organizers of the recall move claimed to have gathered in a six-month campaign conducted while Reagan's supporters were pushing him for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I've had faith in the common sense of the people of California and that faith is vindicated," Reagan told newsmen in Sacramento after flying in from Miami Beach, Fla., where he spoke to the GOP National Convention Platform Committee.

Dies Of Wreck Injuries

Mrs. Mamie Katherine Burnett, 48, 709 W. 7th, became the second traffic fatality this week in Howard County when she died at 8:30 a.m. today in Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital.

She was injured in a three-car accident about 10:15 p.m. Tuesday at Third and Benton streets. She had undergone surgery early Wednesday morning after suffering internal injuries.

Services are pending at Nalley-Pickie Funeral Home.

She was born June 12, 1920, in Louisville, Ky., and had moved to Big Spring from Abilene in June, 1967. She was of the Baptist faith.

Survivors include her husband, Garland Burnett; two sons, William R. Crowley, Big Spring, and Willard L. Bellou, Louisville, Ky.; three grandchildren; three sisters and three brothers.

J. F. Brooks, Coahoma, was killed in a three-car accident Monday on IS 20.

Police officers said that Mrs. Burnett was the second traffic fatality within the city limits this year.

Bloody Massacres

HONG KONG (AP) — Detailed reports reached Hong Kong today of four "bloody massacres" in which hundreds of persons were killed and thousands wounded in a small southern China county by a 1,300-man rightist force equipped with mortars, machine guns, rocket launchers and other weapons.

The Canton newspaper Chienchu Hung-ilen said an "army of cutthroat murderers led by anti-revolutionary butcher Yu Feng Ching attacked our revolutionary headquarters" in Yangchian County, Kangtung Province during April and May.

There was no confirmation of the reports which were the most detailed to come out of Kwangtung since violence exploded in that province early this year.

Seattle Uneasy

SEATTLE (AP) — Police arrested 65 persons Wednesday night as rock throwing and fire bombing broke out in the city's predominantly Negro central area for the third straight night.

There were isolated reports of gunfire, but police said they had no reports of anyone being hit. Police said the fire sounded like it came from both small automatic weapons and automatic rifles.

A portable unit at an elementary school, a drive-in and a drugstore were targets of fire bombs. A number of grass fires were reported. A civilian motorcycle and a car also were set afire.

Steel Firms Defend New Price Hikes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The nation's top three steelmakers have posted their most sweeping price hikes in six years and say they will stand despite sharp criticism from President Johnson.

Other producers strongly hinted they would follow.

U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp., and Republic Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1, 2 and 3 steelmakers respectively, raised prices Wednesday, the day after the United Steelworkers union won its richest contract.

UNREASONABLE Johnson called Bethlehem's nearly 5 per cent across-the-board hike "unreasonable" and said at a Washington news conference that it "just should not be permitted to stand."

Edmund F. Martin, Bethlehem's chairman and chief executive officer, replied: "Our announcement . . . speaks for itself. In our opinion, our price increase is absolutely necessary and we do not intend to withdraw it."

It was the first confrontation between the federal government and the steel industry since 1962 when President John F. Kennedy forced the rollback of a general price hike.

Johnson, asked if he planned "any instruments" to compel a rollback, said, "We urge them and reason with them and counsel with them and plead with them not to" increase prices.

LABOR COSTS Republic Steel followed Bethlehem and said it would hike its principal steel mill products 4.5 per cent and said the new labor contract was the reason. The Bethlehem and Republic increases are effective Aug. 8.

U.S. Steel, acting in a manner that has become common in the industry in the past six years, announced a selective price increase for its tin mill products, material used in making cans.

The U.S. Steel increases, effective Oct. 1, were on products which accounted for 7 per cent of last year's industrywide shipments. U.S. Steel would not say how much the increases were.

Johnson expressed hope "other steel companies will not join this parade," saying such action would lead to a price increase of $500 million for American consumers.

HIGH TERMS Commenting on the union's billion-dollar plus settlement, Johnson said, "The terms of their settlement are high. That settlement will result in some increases in steel costs, but the announced Bethlehem price increase far exceeds any reasonable calculation of the cost of the wage settlement."

Mexican Students Plan Charges Against Officials

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Thousands of students are preparing demonstrations in the Mexican capital to press their charges of police brutality and violation of their traditional right of autonomy.

A spokesman said plans were going ahead for a joint demonstration by students of the University of Mexico and the Polytechnic Institute, whose buildings were invaded Monday night by army and police forces after hours of youthful violence.

The University of Mexico's director, Javier Barros Sierra, declined to lead today's demonstrations although on Wednesday he condemned repression of the riots early this week. He

MAJOR ROLE IN POLITICS

Which Poll Can You Believe?

NEW YORK (AP) — Take it from Dr. Gallup, if the presidential election were held at the end of July, Richard M. Nixon would defeat either Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy or Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Or if you'd rather take it from Lou Harris, either McCarthy or Humphrey would defeat Nixon. As for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the Gallup Poll has him in a tie with Humphrey and a virtual tie with McCarthy. Harris has Rockefeller beating both Humphrey and McCarthy.

NIXON MEN In Miami Beach, Nixon supporters claim they have the Republican nomination assured on the basis of the Gallup Poll. Rockefeller sees himself leading the Democratic presidential hopefuls outside the South and an aide smells a nominating victory.

Now listen to Richard Nixon on a winter Sunday, Feb. 25, in Whitefield, N.H.:

"The polls are not going to determine the Republican presidential nominee."

But the polls have assumed a major role in this turbulent political year, with Rockefeller, for instance, commissioning a major private survey. The preliminary results, he says, show him carrying at least eight of nine states said to be vital to a Republican victory.

Then the Nixon forces split on the same poll figures from

Pollsters

Dr. George Gallup, left, and Louis Harris head two prominent political polling organizations in this country.

Rockefeller to argue that, because they show Nixon would carry four of the states—New York, California, New Jersey and Ohio—this indicates a national trend to Nixon over McCarthy or Humphrey.

The polls have a built-in margin of error of 3 percentage points. With a sample of 1,500 persons, a poll can be within 3 per cent of accuracy at least 95 per cent of the time.

But the margins of difference on, for example, Nixon and McCarthy in these recent polls, translates into enough votes to swing an election.

Gallup has Nixon with 41, McCarthy 36, five points apart.

Platform Details Ironed Out, Hearings End Today

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Republican platform will call for a smaller U.S. role in the Vietnam war, but will say American forces should not be pulled out without a satisfactory settlement.

It will bear down hard on crime in the streets and organized underworld activity, insisting on more leeway for enforcement methods.

It will call for new approaches to the problems of poverty and deteriorating city life, with heavy emphasis on promoting ownership of homes and businesses, giving private industry incentives to train and employ ghetto dwellers and streamlining government programs.

DEPLORE It will deplore unbalanced budgets and inflation, holding out hope of future tax cuts.

These were among the clear indications of the mood of the Republican platform committee, which winds up its hearings today and begins writing the document the GOP presidential candidate will take to the voters in November.

fered recommendations for the platform ranging from a Vietnam policy to revision of labor laws.

Romney called in prepared testimony for a declaration of conscience pledging action at every level in behalf of "the legal and moral equality of citizens."

Romney said outdated labor laws "which feed the growth and concentration of excessive collective bargaining power in the hands of excessively powerful economic groups" must be changed.

In Vietnam, he said, peace at any price would be a calamity. But he said "the chief component (of U.S. policy) is an expansion of the South Vietnamese role and contraction of the American role."

The platform-writers go to work today on a tentative draft.

In general, the Republicans are expected to hammer hard a contention that a switch in attitude is needed, with protection of society rated high.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California got the biggest applause of the platform hearings Wednesday when he denounced "the idea that every time a law is broken, society is guilty rather than the lawbreaker" and when he said violent dissidents on campuses should be told "obey the rules or get out."

Rocky's Backers Claiming Progress With Favorite Sons

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Buoyed by a favorable national poll, backers of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller claimed progress today in their battle to hold favorite sons in line against an early ballot decision on the presidential nomination at next week's GOP convention.

A Louis Harris poll that showed the New York governor could defeat the leading Democratic contenders and that Richard M. Nixon would lose to them gave the Rockefeller camp new ammunition in its effort to ward off a possible convention blitz attempt by the former vice president.

In this connection, one of Rockefeller's strategists reported that Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio had made a commitment to hold his 58-vote state delegation intact behind his favorite son candidacy through the first two ballots.

Supporters of Nixon scoffed at this claim. They noted that Rhodes has said his course will be determined by a state caucus before the convention opens Monday. They said they have what they called reliable indications that Rhodes prefers Nixon.

In the Harris poll, former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama continued to hold 15 to 20 per cent of the vote nationally.

At this point favorite sons from Alaska, California, Hawaii, Kansas, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey and Ohio are presumed to control 288 of the 667 votes needed for the nomination. To prevent Nixon from winning the prize on the first roll call, or on the second, Rockefeller's camp must prevent the bulk of these from jumping on any Nixon bandwagon.

There has been no cohesion among the favorite sons and Gov. Ronald Reagan, heading California's power-packed 86-vote delegation—with public commitments of 86 votes in other areas—spurned any coalition. He said he would not participate in a "stop" movement against Nixon or any other candidate.

CONTENDER Both the Nixon and Rockefeller forces recognize Reagan as a full-fledged, if unannounced, contender for the top nomina-

Green Beret Force Clashes With Commies

In 1964, about 70.6 million persons voted. Five per cent of that is about 3.5 million votes.

Harris has McCarthy 43, Nixon 35, eight points or 5.6 million votes.

George Gallup, however, says his average deviation from accuracy since 1948 has been 1.7 percentage points. In 1960, Gallup was off less than one point. Harris, who started in 1963, called the 1964 election within two points.

The two major polls were in disagreement back in early April, when Gallup had Nixon with 43 per cent to Humphrey's 34 and 41 per cent to McCarthy's 38. Harris had McCarthy with 39 per cent to Nixon's 33 and Humphrey edging Nixon 35-34.

TRIAL HEATS In early May, Gallup found Nixon with 39 per cent to McCarthy's 37, while Harris had McCarthy with 40 and Nixon with 37. By late May, both had Nixon trailing Humphrey and McCarthy in the trial heats.

The polling organizations have long maintained that they are only reporting what people think or feel at the time they are interviewed. Events affect the answers, so many findings may not be directly comparable, they say. But some delegates to the political nominating conventions, faced with conflicting findings, may prefer the crystal ball to the computer.

SAIGON (AP) — An enemy force inflicted heavy casualties of 16 killed and 39 wounded on two companies of South Vietnamese irregulars led by U.S. Green Beret men in a battle close to the Cambodian border, the Saigon government reported today.

South Vietnamese headquarters said only four enemy bodies were found after the hard battle Wednesday 63 miles northwest of Saigon on one of the enemy routes from the Cambodian border to the capital.

IRREGULARS All the casualties in the government force apparently were Vietnamese irregulars. There was no report of any among the U.S. Special Forces men who train and lead the irregulars.

Initial reports indicated the government force was ambushed, although military spokesmen did not say so. They said two companies of irregulars—perhaps 200 men or more—clashed with an enemy force of unknown size along the border. The spokesman said the government troops destroyed 150 fortified positions in the battle area.

Tay Ninh Province, where the battle occurred, is believed to be the major staging area for the big Communist offensive which allied intelligence men expect the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese to launch against Saigon in the next two months.

The North Vietnamese 9th Infantry Division and two independent regiments are said to be at secret base camps in the area preparing for the Communist offensive.

America's biggest bombers, Air Force B52s, have been attacking the enemy camp areas in Tay Ninh Province daily with thousands of tons of bombs. The eight-jet bombers flew seven more missions against base camps, troop concentrations and antiaircraft positions in the area near the border.

In another critical sector, the defense of South Vietnam's northern frontier was stiffened by 4,000 fresh American troops flown from a Colorado base in an airlift of 71 Air Force C-141 Starlifters. Scores of armored personnel carriers for the troops came by sea.

NEW THREAT President Johnson's statement Wednesday that the U.S. government might have to take "additional military measures" to meet the threat of major new enemy offensives aroused speculation in Saigon that the ceiling on the American troop commitment might be raised again.

U.S. officers say North Vietnam has the equivalent of eight divisions either in the northern provinces or adjacent to them in Laos, the DMZ or the southernmost part of North Vietnam.

Around Saigon, meanwhile, six South Vietnamese military installations were hit by mortar fire early today, but a spokesman said casualties and damage were light.

U.S. headquarters reported no significant action for American troops but said soldiers of the 1st Infantry Division had uncovered a large enemy food cache near Loc Ninh, close to the Cambodian border. It included 25 tons of rice.

More Red Nations To Join New Czech Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia have agreed to discuss the Czechoslovak situation with other Communist countries beginning Saturday in the Slovakian city of Bratislava, a communique said today.

The four-day talks of party leaders from Moscow and Prague ended today with a call for the broader meeting including the hard-core Soviet allies who have backed the Kremlin's demand that Czechoslovakia change its liberal course.

Joining the talks in Bratislava will be Poland, East Germany, Bulgaria and Hungary. Romania and Yugoslavia were not included in the list. The meeting that ended today at the Czechoslovak rail yards town of Cierna on the Soviet border, the communique said, "was aimed at the search for ways of further developing and strengthening the traditional friendly relations" between the Soviet and Czechoslovak Communist parties and peoples.

The communique did not indicate what if anything, was decided about ways of improving relations. Relations had deteriorated into open Soviet hostility, backed by military maneuvering on the Czechoslovak borders, over the liberal course of Prague's Communist leader, Alexander Dubcek.

Street Gangs Lose Antipoverty Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — An antipoverty program to rehabilitate Chicago street gangs has been cut off from its last trickle of federal dollars in the wake of a Senate controversy involving sex and drugs.

The Office of Economic Opportunity ruled Wednesday against an extension for the skeleton staff remaining from the $927,000 project. The move signaled almost certain disapproval of a separate application for $1 million still pending to resume the program.

Senate hearings produced testimony last month that antipoverty training centers had been used to store weapons and hold sex and narcotics parties. The Senate voted 80-0 to cite a gang leader for contempt after he refused to answer questions and walked out of the hearings.

The pilot program was designed to try to teach job skills to gang members of the Blackstone Rangers and the Devil's Disciples. It was halted in May, but three staff members had remained until Wednesday.

Antipoverty officials pointed out the gang leaders kept the Woodlawn area of Chicago calm after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

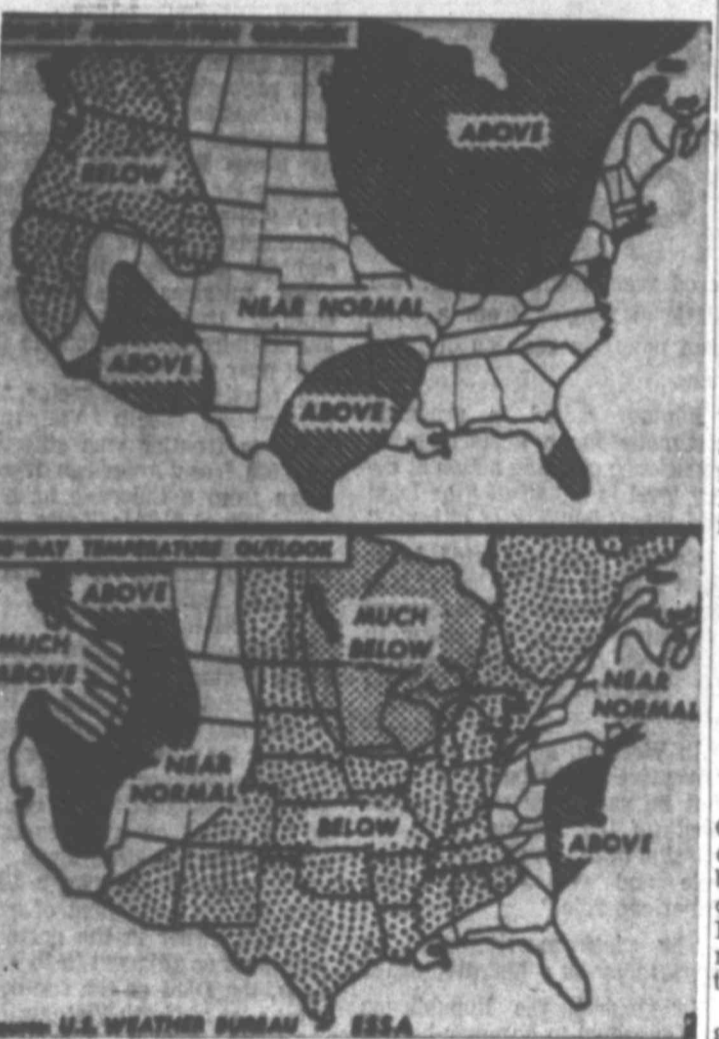

The Rev. Arthur Brazier, head of The Woodlawn Organization which sponsored the program and applied for the $1 million renewal grant, told the senators that staff members had found no signs of guns, liquor or narcotics in the centers. But he did concede difficulties in trying CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Once police told tipsy people to "walk that line." If the suspect flunked the test he was drunk. It's not that simple now. The West Virginia state police recently bought a $40,000 machine to give intoxication tests.

No Injuries Reported In Five Minor Accidents

Five minor accidents were investigated Wednesday by Big Spring police, but no injuries were reported.

A car driven by Ellen C. Tamplin, 1106 11th Place, and one driven by Charlie Lee Merritt, 1011 N. Gregg, collided on the east viaduct on SH 336 about 3:03 p.m., police said. Both cars were traveling south, and about $100 damage was done to each car.

Estep, 706 Sam Houston, collided.

Officers said the Mayes auto was going east on Fourth and the Estep car was traveling south on Birdwell when the accident occurred.

Orba Esco Hamlin, 704 Moor, and Wanda Robins Ramos, 1104 1/2 11th Place, were in collision at 808 W. 3rd about 6:12 p.m.

Police said both cars were going west and the Ramos car passed the Hamlin auto and pulled back in front of it when the collision occurred.

Police said a hit and run accident occurred about 9:30 p.m. at 22nd and Scurry. Martin Calvin Newton, 1601 Cardinal, was going east on 22nd when the vehicle was struck in the rear, causing about $110 damage. The other vehicle left the scene, police said.

Mixes Humor In Interview Humphrey Walks A Perilous Line

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy looked back on his entry into the presidential race and said, "When you challenge the President, you take the risk that you might win."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has delivered one of his strongest endorsements of the Johnson administration only a few hours after he seemingly was at odds with some of the President's Vietnam policies.

"This means free elections," he said, "elections in which all can vote and all can run for office, with guarantees against force and intimidation."

In a day-long campaign visit to New York Wednesday, McCarthy met with metropolitan area county leaders, picked up the endorsement of 50 clergymen, made a brief television appearance, attended a fund-raising cocktail party and criticized Secretary of State Dean Rusk's most recent comments on the Paris peace talks.

"I do not want to run for the presidency by turning my back upon those who have stood with me and repudiating the good works of my party, my president and his predecessors," Humphrey told a $500-a-plate fund-raising dinner Wednesday night.

"I'm not sure," he went on, "my views are compatible with the governments of France, England or anywhere else."

Asked by Cavett why there had been so little speculation about potential running mates for McCarthy amid publicity about Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's choice for vice president, McCarthy said, "They seem to think everyone else might need a vice president, but I might not."

This followed an earlier Wednesday speech when he said in connection with Vietnam that "I'm trying to make my views compatible with the government of the United States—and I'm having a little trouble with that."

In the first speech he spoke to the convention of the National Association of Counties. His talk bore little resemblance to the advance text, but he said he stood by it as a statement of his position.

Interruptions Of Applause Mark Talk By Wallace

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — George Wallace stops in Shreveport today for a round of fund raising and vote seeking meetings in a state where campaign workers hope to raise 100,000 voter signatures supporting his candidacy. Only 1,000 are needed to get on the November ballot.

In Washington Wednesday, Wallace spoke to the National Association of Counties. He was interrupted several times by applause from the crowd of 2,000 during his 30-minute talk.

Rep. Cahoon Goes Reagan

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. Frank Cahoon, Midland, said Wednesday he has switched his first ballot GOP convention preference from Richard Nixon to Ronald Reagan but his long-range aim is a Nixon-Reagan ticket.

"I think I would vote for Reagan on the first ballot because I think he needs the show of strength right now," Cahoon said. But, he added, "I'm still a supporter of Nixon."

Cahoon said he expected to vote for Nixon on the second and third ballots at the Miami Beach convention.

Jack Cox, a former GOP gubernatorial candidate, said Tuesday he had switched from Nixon to Reagan.

Future Of Building Class Hinges On Selling House

By SAM BLACKBURN
The Big Spring Independent School District has a modern, attractively designed and new brick home it would like to sell. Right now the business office for the district is beginning to worry quite a lot about the matter.
"We've got a lot of School District money tied up in this house," said Don Crockett, business manager. "We would like very much to get out from under."
So far, although a few nibbles have been noted, there is no grand rush of eager buyers who want the 3-bedroom brick dwelling at 2001 Nolan.

Not Much Chance Now For HHH-McCarthy Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chances of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy joining to run together on the Democratic national ticket are discounted by sources in both camps.
Although the two Minnesotans, the only contenders now in sight for the Democratic presidential nomination, are miles apart over the key Vietnam issue, some Democrats have suggested that McCarthy might become Humphrey's running mate.
"This is not outside the realm of possibility," one highly placed Humphrey source says, "but it would require a major change of attitude... You could not have the presidential and the vice presidential candidates at marked odds on Vietnam."
McCarthy is a strong critic of the Johnson administration's Vietnam policies, while Humphrey basically has adhered to the President's position.
A McCarthy aide, echoing the comments from the Humphrey people, said such a combination would require a 180-degree turn in the views of one or the other of the contenders. If McCarthy were to change his stand, the aide said, his "supporters would consider it a repudiation of all who rallied around him."
Besides, McCarthy isn't interested in being vice president, the aide said.
Even if the Minnesota senator wanted the No. 2 spot, Humphrey sources say McCarthy is not mentioned in conversations about the second spot among persons close to the vice president.
These sources say Humphrey has made no commitments about his running mate and "there have been no overtures to anyone. The prime consideration will be on who would be highly qualified for the place."
However, two people close to Humphrey listed four names as high among the vice presidential possibilities: Sen. Fred B. Harris, D-Okla., co-manager of Humphrey's campaign; Sargent Shriver, brother-in-law of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and now ambassador to France; Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

Texas Too Hot For New Cool Front

By The Associated Press
The latest cool front found most of Texas too hot to handle but still manage to stir up thunderstorms across parts of the Panhandle today.
There also was rain at El Paso and around Mineral Wells and Jacksboro, while scattered showers extended from the Panhandle-Plains sector into both Oklahoma and New Mexico.
Weather Bureau observers reported the southbound cool front lost its forward momentum during the night. It edged back toward the north before coming almost to a halt along a line linking Wichita Falls, Wink and El Paso.
Lubbock already had received 1.12 inches of rain and El Paso measured .58 in showers which began Wednesday.
Behind the front, the top temperatures Wednesday afternoon climbed to 75 degrees at Dalhart and 79 at Amarillo in the Panhandle.
Farther south there was no letup in the summer heat. The mercury hit 104 degrees at Presidio in Far West Texas, 102 at Wichita Falls, 101 at Wink and 100 at Cotulla, while numerous points had readings in the upper 90s.
Before dawn today thermometers sagged to 58 at Dalhart, 62 at Lubbock and 63 at Amarillo. At the same hour it was 81 in Galveston on the coast.
Weather Bureau observers reported the southbound cool front lost its forward momentum during the night. It edged back toward the north before coming almost to a halt along a line linking Wichita Falls, Wink and El Paso.
Lubbock already had received 1.12 inches of rain and El Paso measured .58 in showers which began Wednesday.

Double Whammy Nets Jail Term

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — A man was sentenced to 10 days in city jail for giving Municipal Judge Romualdo E. Chavez a whammy.
Chavez said he was conducting court when he noticed James Khron of Los Angeles giving him what Chavez called the evil eye. Chavez said Khron clasped his hands together and pointed both index fingers at him.
The judge gave Khron five days for contempt of court. When Khron repeated the gesture he was sentenced to another five days.

PREDICTS MASSIVE ENEMY ATTACK

LBJ Blasts Steel Price Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says the nation can expect a massive attack by the enemy in Vietnam and possible "dire economic consequences" at home over a steel price boost.
The President says he is discouraged over the infiltration and troop buildup by North Vietnam in the South and lack of response, so far, to the U.S. bombing restraint.
But, he expressed hope the enemy will match the restraint and that the attack, which he said appears imminent against major South Vietnamese cities "could be aborted."
He cautioned Hanoi that the U.S. might have to act promptly with additional military measures if they "put our men in danger."
Calling an impromptu news conference in the Cabinet Room of the White House late Wednesday afternoon, the President issued a blast at Bethlehem Steel Corp. for its announced 5 percent across-the-board price increase effective Aug. 8, the first such blanket price hike in the industry since President John F. Kennedy's confrontation with the steel titans in 1962.
Pointing to the possible inflationary consequences from pricing decisions he said could affect the entire economy, Johnson declared:
"Inflation for steel is inflation for the nation."
Johnson said he hoped other steel companies "will not join this parade" and that competitive factors would then "bring about a readjustment on the action of the Bethlehem company has taken."
The 42-minute session with reporters, longer than usual, covered only a few topics.
The President concentrated on Vietnam and the economy.
But he also spoke out publicly for the first time—and at length—on his controversial nominations of Abe Fortas, to be chief justice and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice of the Supreme Court.
Johnson said he thought he promoted "two good men," both judged highly qualified by the American Bar Association. "I have no doubt but what a very substantial majority in the Senate believes them qualified," he added.
Johnson had an answer for a group of Senate Republicans who oppose the appointments by Johnson because it is an election year and he is, they say, a lame duck President.
He said he didn't believe many senators wanted him to withhold Supreme Court nominations six or seven months "or that I should play that I was not President" for the remainder of his term.
Johnson also discussed the status of current preliminary peace talks in Paris and efforts toward a missile disarmament conference with the Soviet Union.
On Paris, he said, "We continue to hope for the best." Johnson said he had de-escalated the bombing of North Vietnam and he wanted to give the other side all the time necessary to consider a response.
On missile disarmament, the President reported he expects agreement "in a reasonably short time" on the place and date to start talks on the limitation of offensive and defensive nuclear weapons.
In another action on the economic front, Johnson defied threats from the Senate to freeze $122 million in foreign aid funds unless he released $91 million Congress added to the 1968

Rip out this page and pin it in your garage. It might keep you from doing something foolish.

Such as plowing still more money into your ailing old car. Or falling for somebody's "Big Sale" and maybe winding up with a car that just can't match the year-round value of Chevrolet. (When you build as many cars as we do, you can afford to build them better.)
Pin up this page as a reminder that no other car in Chevrolet's field looks quite this good. And remember: Chevrolet has Hide-A-Way wipers, Magic-Mirror finish, automatic ignition key alarm, protective inner fenders, Full Coil suspension, Body by Fisher, energizer-type battery, and plenty more features nobody but the leader can give you at our price. Like we say: Putting you first keeps us first. See your Chevrolet dealer last.

You get the biggest year-end savings just where you'd expect to.

Impala Sport Sedan

When others talk about car deals too fantastic to be true, that's exactly what they mean.

See your Chevrolet dealer. He'll give you sound, straight year-end savings on any Chevrolet—a car worth owning. For example: special savings on Power Disc Brakes and Power Steering. Also on popular V8's, and automatics on big Chevrolets and Chevilles.

A Devotional For The Day

Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only. (James 1:22)
PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for the opportunity that is ours today to serve through the outreach of Thy church. Keep us from becoming obstacles that may prevent others from knowing Thee and the joys of service through Thy church. We ask it in Christ's name. Amen.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission has added the Big Spring State Park (Scenic Mountain) to the list of installations for which it will make a charge.
Plans are to assess a charge of 50 cents for entry into the park. The theory is that this will help finance improvements and maintenance at the park.
Our reaction to this is that the commission has found an instrument for putting the axe to the park's popularity.
Until now, the state has done precious little if anything toward improving the park. It has made a stepchild of it. Where the credit belongs is to the Texas Highway Department which has laid down and kept in perfect maintenance the scenic drive around the hill overlooking the city. This year the legislature did appropriate funds which included $10,000 for the park here (to be matched by a like amount of federal funds), but these are for projected improvements, principally in picnicking and camping facilities.

We recognize the need for revenue, but we venture that returns from this charge would not approach the cost of collecting it. Most of the traffic in the park is by people wanting to take the drive or to show friends and visitors the vast panorama of the area from its rim. It is true that a substantial amount of traffic is by youngsters horsing around the drive, but why kill the hen to get at the egg? Perhaps a charge for camping, picnic facilities, or for using the pavilion would be in order, but why make a toll road out of Scenic Drive? And is that legal anyhow?

Time For Re-Alignment

An individual has filed suit to force redistricting of commissioner precincts in Nueces County, which seems almost superfluous in view of the U.S. Supreme Court decision on the Midland case.
But perhaps it will serve one useful purpose in keeping attention on the inequities which exist in many if not most Texas counties.
Mayor Hanke Avery of Midland complained that 90 per cent of the county's population was within the city limits but that the city had only one commissioner precinct. The court held that this was manifestly unequal representation and that an attempt must be made in Midland County toward bringing representation into balance.

A guideline of a variation of rigid application has been in holding within 10 per cent of a mathematical division. But, unfortunately, many counties do not approach even this measure of representativeness.
August is the month for redefining precincts, both as to commissioners and as to voting boxes. Surely most Texas commissioners courts will address themselves to this problem in the spirit of justice as well as in compliance with the law.

Art Buchwald For Sheer Adventure, Try Moscow

MOSCOW — The Soviets have just signed a treaty permitting Pan American Airways to fly to Moscow and Aeroflot, the U.S.S.R. airline, to fly to the United States. This should open up the gates to tourism for both countries, and no country is better prepared to handle tourists than the Soviet Union.

To add a new thrill to my trip to Moscow I decided to take an Aeroflot plane. I really didn't decide to take Aeroflot; the Russians decided that for me, I was booked on an Air France plane from Paris to Moscow at 9 in the morning. But when I went to get my visa the day before, the Soviet consulate people said the visa wouldn't be ready until 10 o'clock, on the day I was leaving.

"BUT," I PROTESTED. "I'm scheduled to leave on Air France at 9."
"You're lucky," the man said. "Aeroflot leaves at noon."
"That's a helluva way to get business for your airline," I complained.
"That's cheaper than advertising," the consulate man shrugged.
I am happy to report that Soviet planes are well constructed and perfectly safe. If there is any flaw in the design of their planes, it is that the aisles aren't wide enough for the stewardesses.
As a safety factor, Aeroflot selects their stewardesses for their strength instead of their looks. That's why you never hear of an Aeroflot plane being hijacked to Havana.

WHEN MY WIFE and I arrived at the airport in Moscow, the Intourist guide who was slated to meet us wasn't there, and there was some

Billy Graham

What can Christ do for an ordinary man like me?
L.T. Christ's ministry on the earth, for the most part, was to ordinary men. The Bible says, "The common people heard him gladly." He must have had a cheering, challenging word for them, else they wouldn't have been so glad to listen.
What word did He have for them? He offered them forgiveness. A sense of inner guilt possesses all of us, because we have 'all sinned.' Nothing so robs a man of the zest of life like a guilty conscience. No one can be completely happy until this burden of sin is relieved. Christ offers forgiveness of sin.
Next, He offers inner peace. He doesn't leave our lives a vacuum. He said, "My peace I give unto you." He can make us at peace with others, and at peace with ourselves. He resolves the inner conflict within us.
Then, He gives our lives purpose. He gives life meaning and significance. He takes away boredom, and the desire for artificial thrills and stimulants. In their place, He gives joy and serenity.
Then last, He lifts us out of ourselves, our selfishness, and helps us to help others. And He can do all this for an ordinary man like yourself, for He has done it for me.

confusion about it.
The commissar in charge went through several sheets of paper and finally he said to us coldly, "You were scheduled to come on the Air France flight."
I didn't want to get the consulate employe in Paris in trouble, so I said, "I didn't like the movie they were showing on Air France, and since I knew Aeroflot would be five hours late, it would give me a chance to see the Russian version of 'War and Peace.'"

THIS SEEMED to satisfy him, and he gave me a car and a chauffeur to the Hotel Rossiya which American newspapermen in Moscow refer to as "Comrade Hilton." The Hotel Rossiya has good beds and is the largest hotel in the world. One lobby overlooks the Kremlin, and the other lobby overlooks the winter palace in Leningrad. It is so big and the chances of getting lost are so great that no tourist is permitted to leave his hotel without a canteen of water.
Every problem concerning tourism is handled by Intourist, an all-encompassing state organization which provides cars, interpreters, meal tickets and free red tape for anyone visiting the Soviet Union.

IF YOU STICK to the schedule, Intourist will give you no trouble. But if for some reason you want to change it, you are marked as a petty bourgeois adventurer, and the Intourist people will show you no mercy.
I made the mistake while in Moscow of trying to change my hotel room. The request was granted only after I signed a confession saying that I was working for the CIA and had come to Moscow to photograph the plans of the Hotel Rossiya for a new Holiday Inn that was being built in Chicago.

DESPITE the language barrier and the problems of coping with Soviet bureaucracy, you can have a wonderful time visiting the Soviet Union.
At the airport just before we were ready to leave I said to my wife, "You forgot to throw a coin in the fountain at Red Square. Now you may never come back."
She cried all the way to Monte Carlo.

CHICAGO (AP) — Head for the open highways and exercise your automobile.
That's the advice from the director of the Chicago Motor Club's emergency road service department, John H. Struben.
He said exercise, as in the human body, keeps a car tuned and peppy. "This does not mean that you must drive at excessive speeds — just reasonable highway speeds sufficient to give your engine a good workout," Struben said.
He said a brisk run at highway speeds helps to improve battery efficiency, removes carbon from spark plugs and frees sticky valves.

Business Mirror Frozen Foreign Food Firms Flourish

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are becoming more adventurous in their eating. As a result, foods of foreign origin now account for a $150 million annual share of the frozen food market.
Italian, Oriental, Mexican and kosher foods lead in popularity. But dishes native to Hungary, France, Germany, Poland, Sweden and Spain are gaining a place at the table.

WHEN TOURISTS were in Russia to learn what changes have taken place. The people seem well off and contented. They have been granted much personal liberty in recent years. Now with the penetration of the American tourist trade, it is reasonable to expect more communication and understanding between the super-nations. But the news about Czechoslovakia was a reminder that Russian diplomacy hasn't changed a bit, nor American diplomacy either. Theirs is the policy of do-it-now, and make it stick. Ours is the losing game of barely-concealed appeasement.

IN HAWAII with President Thieu of South Vietnam, LBJ called it "tommyrot and fiction" that he was planning to reduce the air war still further. He said he would make no more military concessions to advance the peace talks in Paris.

THIS WAS FIRMNESS, but it wasn't fortuitousness. It wasn't as if he'd ordered the Air Force and Navy into an all-out offensive to break the stalemate in Vietnam. Everybody doubts that Johnson will send the bombers to Hanoi. Nobody doubts that the Russians will send their tanks rolling into Prague if they're needed to enforce Soviet policy.

THE DIFFERENCE is marked. The Russians use the old-fashioned methods. We use the new-fangled ways of limited warfare and patient negotiations, lest we get near the brink, lest we risk that nuclear holocaust. Our leaders have talked so much "peace" and found so many avenues to appeasement, that it is almost impossible to arouse public opinion to back up a hardline policy. The Russian leaders, despite the new freedom granted, don't bother about consulting public opinion in their homeland or abroad. They will go as far as need be.

Around The Rim Every Litter Bit Doesn't Help

We have our share of civic problems but thankfully, we have no beach. This is not to belittle the obvious joys of sand and surf, but to point out that what might be an advantage in one eye can be a sore in the other.

GIVING in to my little one's demands (as usual), we vacationed to the northern extremity of Padre Island, and found it in many ways superior to the Galveston Beach. But that teevy commercial showing pigs midst the debris turned out to be more accurate than an exaggeration.
Tourists, being people, carry their litter about with them, and the seemingly limitless beach appears all-encompassing enough to accept and swallow all the litter that can be dumped there. Unfortunately, it isn't.
EACH TIME we parked the vehicle, to spread towels and gallop to the water, we first had to initiate a careful search of the sand for what we always found — bits of broken glass usually beer-bottle brown. This even after the most painstaking selection of a place to park.
The balance of the litter varied from bits of wood converted for campfires, pieces of rope, paper sacks, plastic wrappers, beer cans, bottle caps, napkins, straws, plastic spoons, ice cream cartons, and just about every kind of garbage imaginable.
TRUE, THERE are a few litter cans placed along the beach, but near as I could tell in five days of "can watching," I saw no tourist venture near one. In a check on two at different times of the day, I verified that nobody is bothered much with overloading them.

Once a day, a huge garbage packer truck makes a timid foray along the beach, with one man driving and another walking along making a half-hearted stab at picking up some of the debris. Although my statistics are not letter-perfect, I would guess the man walking collected one of every fourth bottle and perhaps a wrapper or two. For the most part, both men found the view of bathing beauties a more interesting pasttime, and who could blame them?
EVEN THE LETTER-WRITERS to newspapers are preoccupied with the litter on the beaches. One mentioned the horror of passing ships discharging sewage that finds its way to the beach. Others wondered where the hundreds of campers go for toilet facilities, for there are none of the obvious variety.
However, there is probably not enough tax money in all the cities along the Gulf Coast to keep those beaches clean, as most of us would like to see them. Similar to Big Spring, solving the litter problem must be by the guy who creates it in the first place. We have enough trouble with our few miles of policed streets, without miles and miles of isolated beach. Our taxes are high enough.

Leninograd — We heard via the Voice of America what was going on elsewhere: the Russians were pulling a power play in Czechoslovakia, and President Johnson was standing pat on the Vietnam war in Hawaii. The more the struggle with Communism changes, the more it remains the same.
Leninograd was the right place for comprehending. Back in the 17th century Czar Peter saw his country's need for a seaport, "a window on the west." He chose a site on the Gulf of Finland, drove out the Swedes who happened to be the owners, and built St. Petersburg there.

IT WAS the forthright way of getting things done. Stalin did much the same in his conquest of East Europe, including Czechoslovakia. He needed a buffer area against an earlier invasion, so he established the satellite bloc. Most nations used to carry out their arrangements in that fashion during the pre-nuclear age. The United States and its allies wishfully believe that times have changed in military diplomacy — well, the Russians know better.

Ours is the losing game of barely-concealed appeasement.

IN HAWAII with President Thieu of South Vietnam, LBJ called it "tommyrot and fiction" that he was planning to reduce the air war still further. He said he would make no more military concessions to advance the peace talks in Paris.

THIS WAS FIRMNESS, but it wasn't fortuitousness. It wasn't as if he'd ordered the Air Force and Navy into an all-out offensive to break the stalemate in Vietnam. Everybody doubts that Johnson will send the bombers to Hanoi. Nobody doubts that the Russians will send their tanks rolling into Prague if they're needed to enforce Soviet policy.

THE DIFFERENCE is marked. The Russians use the old-fashioned methods. We use the new-fangled ways of limited warfare and patient negotiations, lest we get near the brink, lest we risk that nuclear holocaust. Our leaders have talked so much "peace" and found so many avenues to appeasement, that it is almost impossible to arouse public opinion to back up a hardline policy. The Russian leaders, despite the new freedom granted, don't bother about consulting public opinion in their homeland or abroad. They will go as far as need be.

Williams Backs Enrollment Lids

AUSTIN (AP) — The latest volley in the academic battle over enrollment ceilings was fired Wednesday by Dr. Jack Williams, state commissioner of higher education.

Williams defended a College Coordinating Board plan to impose such limits in a letter to Frank Erwin, chairman of the University of Texas board of regents, and L. F. Peterson, president of the Texas A&M board of directors.

"The Coordinating Board staff regrets that the A&M and UT governing groups have joined forces to oppose our plan and hopes that the commentary below may result in a modification of your opposition," Williams said.

The 5-page letter noted that the state law setting up the Coordinating Board authorized it to consider such things as enrollment limits.

Williams argued against the 5-page letter noted that the state law setting up the Coordinating Board authorized it to consider such things as enrollment limits.

LIMITS

"As written, it (the schools' joint resolution) contains the basic elements of pure democracy in college selection; and while this may be attractive to some persons, it is not applicable to universities with large graduate and professional programs. You must restrict the 'freedom of choice' by Texas citizens to attend your complex institutions, either by enrollment limits or admission standards, or both," Williams said.

And, he added, enrollment ceilings, backed up by admission standards set by each school, is the best way.

EXPENSIVE

"To our mind, the most important question related to the size of an institution is the effect size may have on the individual student. A large college or university can and will become

Bride Claims McCarthy Support Cost Her Job

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Activities of Mike Wimmer, 22, and his bride of a month in support of Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., were blamed Wednesday for causing eviction of the couple from their apartment.

In addition, Wimmer's wife Becky, 21, lost her job with the Tarrant County Welfare Department.

Mrs. Wimmer said the apartment house owner, Mrs. E. C. Kirkpatrick of Fort Worth, accused the young couple of turning their apartment into a McCarthy information center.

They were ordered to leave, the bride said, after Mrs. Kirkpatrick took McCarthy-for-president literature off the apartment door.

Mrs. Wimmer said she resigned as a welfare department employee "because they wouldn't let me wear my McCarthy button."

The young woman said, "We were told to vacate on or before Aug. 1. We're looking for a place."

Mrs. Kirkpatrick said, "This couple was not evicted. I asked Mr. and Mrs. Wimmer to move if they refused to do away with the political center. These are garden-type apartments and the lease as well as zoning prohibits such use."

MOD Board To Hear Report On Pre-Natal Clinic

A report on a pre-natal clinic will be given by Miss Bo Bowen and Mrs. Ruby Phillips at the March of Dimes meeting of the National Foundation Board of Directors at 7:30 p.m. today at the Health Center.

A campaign director will be appointed, and campaign activities and plans for attending a pre-campaign meeting in Dallas will be discussed, according to Glenn Cootes, chapter chairman.

Miss Bowen, the county health nurse, will also present a report on patient care, and a report will be given on the area meeting in Houston dealing with legislation regarding health organizations with special reference to state and federal grants.

will have enough money to finance the early stages of the three-year, $5.4-billion program. But even the current Congress has repeatedly slashed President Johnson's budget requests and its own authorizations. If Congress should still be faced with war and inflation six months from now, appropriations to carry the measure through its second and third years may well be cut back to disable Johnson's 10-year goal of six million new and rehabilitated homes.

NEW MONEY The key new feature of the bill would help poor families buy homes and its $300 million outlay over the next three years would be the most generous government subsidy ever enacted for such a purpose.

The program's cost, however, is expected to increase greatly from the initial $75 million authorization.

The measure also includes new money authorizations for many existing programs seeking to deal with problems of city slums and the impoverished.

Among these are rent subsidies, low-rent public housing, urban renewal, and model cities and a package of aid to help set up whole new towns.

SUBSIDY PLANS The legislation also wraps in far-reaching new provisions setting up a government insurance corporation to help make policies available to homeowners and businessmen in riot-potential areas and to establish a national flood insurance program.

The Housing and Urban Development Department estimates new subsidy plans should help 500,000 families buy homes in the three years covered by the bill and enable 300,000 to rent suitable apartments.

Under the home ownership plan, the government would subsidize the monthly mortgage payments by paying all of the interest charges above 1 per cent in the case of those with the lowest incomes. Many home buyers now must pay 7 per cent or more. Families with incomes of $3,000 to $8,000 are expected to qualify for the subsidies. Down payments could be as low as $200.

LOW INTEREST The new rental program also would be based on a subsidy covering all interest charges above 1 per cent on apartment house mortgages.

The bill contains dozens of other provisions making significant changes in government housing programs. Among them are:

Creation of a National Home Ownership Foundation to encourage public and private organizations to provide more housing for low-income families.

A requirement that urban renewal be reoriented so that at least half of the housing units built are for low and moderate-income families in each city and that at least 20 per cent be for low-income families.

Red Viet Diagnostics Hint Paris Talks Might Fizzle

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnamese diplomats participating in the Paris peace talks are dropping hints that the talks may fall unless President Johnson ends the bombing of North Vietnam.

THREATS

U.S. officials regard the veiled threats as a part of the drive North Vietnam has made since the talks began to build up massive public opinion against the U.S. position that North Vietnam must give something in return.

The drive was intensified Wednesday after the North Vietnamese apparently decided that statements by Secretary of State Dean Rusk made speculation about an early change in U.S. bombing policy untenable. Rusk said on Tuesday that the U.S. government would have to be told what North Vietnam would do before it could end the bombing.

Shortly after the talks ended Wednesday, President Johnson told a news conference there was evidence North Vietnam was making massive preparations for a new offensive and the United States may have to take "additional military measures."

He did not spell out the measures.

PARTIAL HALT

In Saigon, a U.S. Command source agreed with Johnson's estimate that North Vietnam had infiltrated 30,000 men into South Vietnam in July. He said North Vietnam had built up its forces in South Vietnam at five times the rate of the United States since Johnson ordered a partial bombing halt of the North four months ago.

A North Vietnamese spokesman also introduced a new element into the conflict by implying there might be some split over bombing policy between Rusk and Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, the chief U.S. negotiator at the Paris talks. The spokesman said Harriman did not speak in Rusk's defense at the meeting Wednesday.

U.S. officials said lengthy statements Harriman made on the reasons for U.S. bombing of North Vietnam supply lines into South Vietnam constituted a reply to the attack on Rusk by Ha Van Lau of North Vietnam.

AGGRESSION

Lau said Rusk's statement provided evidence that "U.S. aggressive ruling circles... are continuing their policy of war and aggression, continuing to ask for reciprocity" (for ending the bombing) and for a ransom to be paid to this aggressor.

It was in this contention that he hinted the talks might fail, saying, "The American side has to bear full responsibility for what may arise from this attitude."

Similarly, North Vietnamese diplomats in private conversations are saying that "even Vietnamese patience can be exhausted."

Some observers came away from the North Vietnamese press briefing Wednesday with the impression that Rusk's news conference had hit the Hanoi delegation with considerable force. They based this on spokesman Nguyen Thanh Le's disclosure that Lau continued his attack on Rusk during the coffee break which followed his statement in the formal conference.

TRIVIAL TOPICS

A U.S. spokesman would not say what happened in the coffee break, which the U.S. diplomats normally treat as private meetings except for trivial topics that are discussed. But he did not deny the North Vietnamese report.

U.S. spokesman Harold Kaplan was asked at American news briefing whether Rusk's statement meant the United States is now asking for a definite de-escalation commitment from Hanoi, whereas some officials in the past have said some action by North Vietnam might be sufficient.

Kaplan said the policy has not changed, and Harriman had not received any new instructions from Washington.

It was believed at the time that North Vietnamese helicopters for the first time had been used at the east end of the demilitarized zone, but the report by the U.S. Command said that no evidence has been produced of enemy helicopter action near the DMZ.

The report said so far there appeared to be no grounds for disciplinary action against anyone.

American League Laggards Continue To Play Catch-Up

By The Associated Press
Denny McLain and the Detroit Tigers are showing nothing but their heels to nine American League laggards. But there's still plenty of catch-up left in the also-rans ... when they while the front-running Tigers loped past Washington 4-0 Wednesday night for McLain's 21st victory of the season, the Oakland Athletics, Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees were winning games on ninth-inning comebacks. The A's completed a doubleheader sweep by overtaking California 4-3 on Ted Kubiak's two-run triple in the ninth after winning the opener 4-1 on a three-run homer by Mike Hershberger in the eighth.

Astros Own Cellar Spot

CHICAGO (AP)—The cellar-dwelling Houston Astros of the National League were done in by a veteran Wednesday.

Ernie Banks of Dallas ripped two long home runs to give pitcher Ferguson Jenkins his 12th victory, 6-1.

The homers sent Banks' career total to 460 and were his 18th and 17th of the year. Billy Williams and Jim Hickman also homered off Astro pitching.

PACKERS 19-POINT FAVORITE

CHICAGO (AP)—The College All-Stars, as Coach Norm Van Brocklin says, probably are "apprehensive" about tackling the Green Bay Packers in the 35th All-Star football game Friday night.

"But if they play football and find out Green Bay is like everybody else, we'll be all right," said Van Brocklin, a hard-bitten product of the pro ranks making his All-Star coaching debut.

Texans Try For Victory

The Big Spring Texans try for another step up the Little League championship ladder when they face Lubbock Dixie at 5:30 p.m., today, in Abilene in the first round of the sectional tournament.

Coach Ruben Billalba's Texans gained a spot in the sectional tournament by blanking Pecos 1-0 in the subsectional finals here Monday night.

Farris Whiffs 29 For Victory

Jimmy Farris struck out 29 batters and choked off McCamey with three hits to win the first game of the District VII Hi-Junior playoffs in San Angelo Wednesday evening.

The game went 12 innings before the McMahon Indians of Big Spring eased across a run, in the top of the frame. Farris then banged a single that scored two insurance runs to nail down the 3-0 victory.

Berea Baptists Beat Westside

Berea Baptist defeated Westside Baptist 10-0 in the only softball game of the Church League played Tuesday evening. The Kentwood-Salem match was postponed.

Ron Nixon led Berea with three singles, and no one else had more than one hit. A big third inning broke Westside's back. Batteries were Simpkins and Fryar for Westside and Morgan and Hixon for Berea.

Dallas Tackle Goes To Rams

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif.—The Dallas Cowboys sent defensive tackle Coy Bacon to the Los Angeles Rams Wednesday for an undisclosed draft choice and waived two other players.

Frank Brown, a tackle from Albany State, and end Bob Odum of Idaho State, were waived to bring the Cowboys down to their roster limit of 60 players.

Hart One Of Nominees

The Herald's sports editor and a former Herald staff member are among nominees for the Texas High School Coaches Association "Sports-Writer-of-the-Year" award today.

Tommy Hart, who has been writing sports for The Herald continuously for 23 years and for several years previously before he interrupted his tenure for service in the Air Force, is in Fort Worth to attend the Balfour Hall of Honor luncheon at the Texas Hotel.

Dutchman Says All-Stars Probably 'Apprehensive'

CHICAGO (AP)—The College All-Stars, as Coach Norm Van Brocklin says, probably are "apprehensive" about tackling the Green Bay Packers in the 35th All-Star football game Friday night.

"But if they play football and find out Green Bay is like everybody else, we'll be all right," said Van Brocklin, a hard-bitten product of the pro ranks making his All-Star coaching debut.

Boston Acquires Floyd Robinson

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox have acquired Floyd Robinson for left-handed pinch hitting duties, and released veteran Norm Siebern, who was used primarily in the same capacity.

Robinson was purchased Wednesday night from the Oakland Athletics. The 35-year-old outfielder has hit over 300 three times in his major league career. Most recently in 1964, but has talled off during the past few seasons.

Grabs Rebound

South forward Charles Woodson (30) of Woden, grabs a rebound shot from the hands of North postman Bobby Thompson (21) of Dallas-Samuels in the annual Coaches All-Star basketball game Wednesday night at Fort Worth.

At right is South forward Rick Duplantis (32) of Port Neches-Groves. The South players won, 95-85.

Hot 'Scooter' Spurs Rebels To Victory

FORT WORTH (AP)—"I just men like Price, Lenox and 'Scooter' Lenox, the Clear Creek fireball who guided the South to its sixth straight All-Star basketball victory Wednesday night.

Lenox, voted the game's outstanding player, took scoring honors with 24 points. Price got 19, Thomas 17, Sammy Hyde of Texas City 13 and Tim Teichelman 11.

Lubbock Teams Advance In Play

LUBBOCK (AP)—The Lubbock Hubbers and Lubbock Raiders whipped Arlington and Fort Worth, respectively, Wednesday, to get up a showdown today in the State National Baseball Congress Tournament.

Bennie Lenox, Scooter's brother, starred at Texas A&M. Now an assistant at the University of Texas, he was instrumental in wooing his kid brother into the Longhorn camp.

North Favored By Touchdown

FORT WORTH (AP)—The North ruled a shaky touchdown favorite in tonight's Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star football classic at Amon Carter Stadium in which the South will try to snap a six-game losing streak.

Officials predicted a crowd of about 30,000 if the weather holds. The Weather Bureau foresees cooler weather and possible

Big Nicklaus May Cut Loose In West Open

CHICAGO (AP)—Defending champion Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, winner in 1961 and 1965, try to overcome their victory shyness of this year in the $130,000 Western Open Golf Tournament starting today.

Nicklaus has not been in the winner's circle on the 1968 PGA tour but still is ninth on the money list with $60,428, Palmer, trying to lick putting woes, has won only the Hope Classic while holding 10th place with $68,883.

Nicklaus, competing in only 14 of 31 PGA tourneys this year, is in his longest drought. His last victory was in the Sahara Invitational last October.

But the Big Bear may be ready to cut loose in the Western, which provides a $26,000 top prize. In Wednesday's pro-am he matched par 71 over the heavily wooded Olympia Fields course. Palmer, meanwhile, struggled in with a 77.

Burt Yancey, also seeking his first victory this season birdied the last two holes in the dusk to take the pro-am with a sparkling 66, only a stroke off the official course record set by the late Lawson Little.

Tommy Aaron, with birdies on three of the final four holes, posted a 67. Dick Crawford was next with 68 while R.H. Sikes and Chuck Courtney had 69.

One of the favorites is leading money winner Tom Weiskopf, who has captured titles this year at San Diego and Flint, Mich., finished second twice, third three times and fourth once in pocketing $137,561.

Weiskopf's effort in the pro-am was a 73. Also included in this bracket were Julius Boros, winner of the recent PGA at age 48; Doug Sanders, Western runner-up last year; U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, Bob Charles and Bob Lunn.

HOLDOVER FROM GOLD RUSH

West Lures Jobseekers

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — an essentially rural economy, Eastern city dwellers, disturbed generally is attracting an influx by urban riots, pollution and related metropolitan problems, apparently find the spacious West as alluring economically as did their ancestors.

Alaska still has a strong appeal as a frontier," says R. Scott Withers, field supervisor for Alaska's Employment Security Division. It's a holdover from the gold rush days."

CITES RIOTS

Withers reports letters from out-of-state jobseekers have increased 20 per cent during the past two years. The increase is also typical of several of the sparsely populated Rocky Mountain states. The area, with

Who's Hoarding Canadian Dimes And Quarters

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Who's hoarding all the Canadian dimes and quarters?

That's what the banks, the stores and everyone else would like to know as the shortage of Canadian coins seems to grow day by day.

Canada and Switzerland are the only two countries still using silver for coins, and the Royal Canadian Mint in Ottawa will switch from silver to pure nickel coins Aug. 1.

Meanwhile, however, the mint can't keep up with the demand for silver coins. Some people are hoarding the dimes and quarters because of the value of the silver in them and some apparently are being smuggled to the United States.

It is illegal to melt Canadian coinage in Canada and there are limits on the amount of coins that can be taken out of the country.

It is not illegal, however, to melt the coins in the United States, and the Oregon Journal quotes an investigator at the Canadian customs office in Vancouver as saying, "We had reports that dealers here had been carrying large volumes of silver coins into the United States and we found it was quite so."

Canadian quarters and dimes made in the last year have 50 per cent silver content. Before that coins had 80 per cent silver. With the silver price around $2.50 an ounce, a coin expert says silver in a 25-cent piece is worth 37.5 cents, a 50-cent coin 75 cents and a silver dollar $1.50.

Not all the letters stem from disturbances, although a Nevada official figures 75 per cent of those to his state cite riots as the reason for writing.

Other factors include a change in climate, a desire for a simpler life and avoidance of smog and congestion. Some believe a given area is undergoing a boom or, as New Mexico's job service director, Paul Cruz, says, "want more opportunity that they believe is in the West."

SKILLS PROBLEM

Not all the Rocky Mountain states are having an increase in such letters. New Mexico finds things about normal. South Dakota receives few letters from urban centers. Utah and Arizona say there is no increase.

But taken altogether, Alaska and the Rocky Mountain section receive about 300,000 job inquiries a year from out-of-state residents.

The response these jobseekers get varies from a form letter to personal replies, from a glad hand to some discouragement, from descriptions of the climate and opportunities to lists of job scales sometimes notably lower than their equivalents in the East.

Montana, Alaska, Nevada and Idaho report a significant rise in jobseekers. They face a problem, however: They find most of the hopefuls do not have the qualifications needed in these states.

'FAN MAIL'

Montana, for example, is receiving 500 letters a week from such workers as factory employees and from professional or specially skilled personnel. It needs cowboys, seasonal laborers and teachers, to name a few.

Alaska, with about 14,000 letters a year its employment service calls "fan mail," cites an oversupply of unskilled and semiskilled labor. "There has been a more or less constant demand for people in the professional and technical categories," says Withers.

"Everybody's heard of the high wages you can make in Alaska," Withers added. "People think they can come up here for a summer, grab one of those jobs, build up a nest egg and pull out. It has always been state policy to discourage this type of approach."

A LOVELIER YOU

Sweets Main Cause Of Cavities, Calories

By MARY SUE MILLER
What a gruesome twosome... Calories and Cavities!

How the pair does plot to depoil our figures and ruin our teeth. Sad to say, most of us are easy marks. We succumb to the lure of a little lump sugar.

There's ample proof that we do. You really can't argue the point. On the whole we are not successful weight losers. We have more cavities than the male contingent, according to a survey of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Small wonder that doctors and dentists say, "Watch those sweets." However, when you indulge, your teeth have a better chance of fending off the damage than your hips. You have only one means of controlling weight and you just know it's diet.

Measures for fighting tooth decay are several. Surely we all know and follow the saving practice of brushing the teeth or rinsing the mouth immediately after eating.

Another sound decay fighting method is to use a dentifrice with stannous fluoride, an ingredient that combines with tooth enamel to build up resistance against acids in the mouth that trigger cavities. The American Dental Association has given recognition to stannous fluoride toothpastes.

There is evidence that stannous fluoride treatments, administered in the dentist's of-rice, are also helpful. Another stepping stone to pretty teeth. MODEL TIPS

Sign Of The Times

Gov. John Connally, helping inaugurate the Texas Forts Trail Tuesday, was besieged by well-wishers in a stop at Robert Lee. Here he paused to use a "Connally for President" sign as a back-up while signing autographs. Connally will lead the Texas delegation to the national Democratic convention as a favorite son candidate. Ready for a key role in convention maneuvering, he said Tuesday, "I never felt better."

Expert Rules Out Lightning Strike

DALLAS (AP) — The crash of a Braniff Electra airliner near Dawson which killed 85 persons May 3 occurred after a wing was ripped off, an expert testified Wednesday.

L. W. Nelson, a member of the investigating team that studied the crash and engineer for Lockheed-California which built the craft, gave that opinion at a hearing conducted by the National Transportation Safety Board.

WING FAILURE
Nelson said the wing failure resulted from stresses caused by the pilot's control movements, excessive turbulence or a combination of those two factors. Dr. Edward Kessler, director of the National Severe Storms Laboratory, said the Braniff plane was within five miles of a storm so severe he would "hesitate to send high-performance Air Force research planes into it."

Witnesses testified earlier that they saw lightning strike in front of the plane, possibly hitting it, just before the airliner fell in flames. But Nelson said examination of the wreckage revealed no lightning hits or explosions. He suggested the flames could have started from electrical wires in the torn wing touching escaping jet fuel.

Nelson said post-crash studies gave some indication that the plane's wheels had been lowered before the wing ripped off, even though it was still around 7,000 feet in the air.

He estimated the plane encountered force from 4.3 to 4.5 times that of gravity and this was sufficient to shatter the metal.

A transcript of a conversation between the pilot of the plane and a Fort Worth air traffic controller indicated that the Braniff plane attempted to fly around the storm cell, but went to the west instead of east as other planes on the Houston-to-Dallas route had been doing.

Ten minutes after the route change, the pilot radioed again and asked permission to turn around and go back the way he had come. Just 30 seconds later the tape of the on-board flight recorder transcribed the sounds of the landing gear warning horn, the fire warning bell and then what was described as "sounds similar to break-up noises."

Speaking for Braniff International, Herman Rumsey said Kessler's testimony was based on "unfounded assumptions" and the airline could not accept it.

Braniff instructor R. L. Barber told the safety board that pilots had instructions to approach a storm no closer than five miles. He acknowledged, however, that this was "strictly a recommendation of minimum distance."

When his partner opened the bidding with one no trump, North had sufficient-nine high card points—to offer a direct raise in no trump. Holding a five card heart suit, he desired to investigate for the best contract, and he accordingly used the two club convention which requests the no trumper to show a major suit. Observe that, if North bids two hearts, directly, it would designate a hand containing less than eight points.

When South rebid two hearts, North proceeded directly to game in that suit. West opened the three of clubs, declarer played a small card from dummy and East won the trick with the king. The latter decided to switch the attack and he shifted to the six of diamonds.

South played the king of diamonds and then cashed the king and queen of hearts—drawing the adverse trump. A small spade was led, West followed with the four and the nine was played from dummy which forced out East's king. The queen of diamonds was returned driving out South's last stopper. When West got in with the ace of spades, he cashed the jack of diamonds for the setting trick.

East's timing was perfect; however, declarer could have averted the fatal diamond shift by playing the ace of clubs at trick one in order to begin development of the spades. After drawing trump, a spade is led toward dummy. When the nine drives out the king, only one more lead is required to establish South's queen for a diamond discard from dummy. The defense does not have time to establish their diamond trick, and South's losses are restricted to two spades and the king of clubs.

The club finesse had little to gain, for declarer must eventually lose one trick in that suit even if West has led away from the king. South should, therefore, concentrate his efforts on establishing a discard before the opposition has time to get at their diamond trick.

Gas Storage Tank Blasts In Fort Worth Injure 32

FORT WORTH (AP) — Exploding with a mighty roar, a gasoline storage tank rocketed a huge fireball into the air and inflicted burns on 32 persons Wednesday night.

At least four of the injured were reported in grave condition today. Hospitals kept two dozen under treatment overnight.

The ground level tank, filled with 5,000 gallons of gasoline, blew up at a service station on US 287 in suburban Kennedale, five miles southeast of Fort Worth.

LIKE A-BOMB

Witnesses estimated the ball of fire reached 200 feet in diameter as it shot 125 feet aloft. One said, "It looked like an A-bomb mushroom cloud."

Firemen and employees at the Red Ball Gas House, where the blast occurred, reported a small blaze started an hour earlier from a leak as a tank truck pumped fuel into the station's underground tanks.

They said this presumably spread to the surface tank and the eruption followed. There were nearly 20 smaller blasts as cans of oil and other fuel also exploded.

Persons suffering the worst injuries were taken to the burns center at Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas.

NEWSMAN CRITICAL

Attendants listed those in critical condition as Steve Pieringer, 27, a Fort Worth newsman for Dallas radio-TV Station KRLD; Harry Blissard, 40, of Mansfield, the assistant fire marshal of Tarrant County; and brothers Thomas Henson, 2, and Thorice

Henson, 3, also of Mansfield. One man a block distant told of being singed as the searing flames shot into the sky. The roar and concussion brought residents dashing from homes

Flames destroyed the gasoline truck but its tank did not explode, authorities said. A foam truck sent by the Arlington fire department was wrecked by the blast.

Firemen quenched the blaze after a two-hour struggle.

Spree Bit Costly

A young Latin-American who tried breaking windows, battering up a motor car and doing a little drinking in between times at Sand Springs on Tuesday then tried to give arresting officers a lot of trouble was fined a combined total of $250 in justice court Wednesday. Costs were added to the fine.

Number Of Men Killed In Viet Action Spirals

SAIGON (AP) — The number of men killed in action in Vietnam—Americans, South Vietnamese and enemy—increased last week although a general lull continued in the ground fighting.

The U.S. Command, in its weekly summary today, said 193 Americans were killed compared with 157 in the previous week.

The number of wounded dropped sharply, however, to 1,066 last week from 2,014 a week earlier. Of those wounded last week, 580 were hospitalized.

U.S. officials said there was no precise explanation for the increase in combat deaths and the decrease in the number of wounded.

The report increased the total of U.S. casualties since Jan. 1, 1961, to 26,290 killed and 165,130 wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 243 government troops were killed last week compared with 156 a week earlier.

The allied command reported 1,146 enemy were killed last week, but U.S. headquarters noted as usual that this figure was "subject to adjustment." It added that the enemy death toll for the previous week had been increased from 1,248 to 1,548.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Making A Bare Living

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor of mine has a daughter who is 24 years old. Linda is a college graduate so she can't be dumb. Well, this Linda girl happens to be very pretty with a knock out shape. So she went to the city and took a job posing for an artist who specializes in painting girls with nothing on.

Aren't there laws against indecent exposure, and can't this shameless girl be arrested if caught?

ARKANSAS

DEAR ARKANSAS: There is a law against indecent exposure, but I don't know how (or if) it would apply to your neighbor's daughter. The young woman is well past the age of consent, and if the artist is legitimate, and Linda is indeed his model, no one can stop her from making a bare living.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday my girl friend and I were standing in front of my house talking to a bunch of boys, and one of the boys said something real dirty. I felt my face getting real hot, but I didn't say anything. Nobody else said anything either, but a couple of the boys laughed. Greg, who is sort of my boy friend, but we don't go steady or anything like that because we are only 14, just stood there and didn't say anything.

Later on when Greg was walking to the door I told him I was disappointed in him because when that boy said something dirty in front of me he didn't tell him he shouldn't talk that way in front of girls. Greg said if I didn't like what the guy said I should have said something. What do you think?

SUNNYVALE

DEAR SUNNYVALE: You were right. Greg was wrong. Color him yellow.

DEAR ABBY: Bob and I were married earlier this year and everything is just wonderful except one thing. I don't have a penny to my name.

Bob goes to the store with me and pays for the groceries and if I want a dime for a soft drink or six cents for a stamp I have to ask him for it. (I'm telling him the six cents I need for this letter is for a letter to my mother.)

When we were going together he was very generous, so I had no way of knowing that he would be such a miser.

He reads your column every day, so will you please give him the word?

RESENTFUL

DEAR RESENTFUL: You're lucky you are still a bride, and your husband's stinginess has not yet become a bad habit. TELL him that you want an allowance. Work out a budget together and decide on a mutually agreeable amount. And do it now, or prepare to be a "beggar" all your married life.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Texas Welfare Checks Will Be Cut Sept. 1

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas aid to house' ruling which will add still more AFDC clients. The Supreme Court recently outlawed the practice of denying AFDC to children because a man is living with their mother. August AFDC checks will notify recipients of the amount by which their benefits will be cut.

Owen Named Field Deputy

Eddie Owen, 1610 Benton, joined the staff of Sheriff A. N. Standard today as a field deputy. He will fill a vacancy which has existed for two months. Leon Ward, who had been deputy sheriff at Forsan, resigned in May to take a job with an oil field company. Standard said that he had numerous applications but believes that in Owen he has a man who will be able to serve the department well. He said that Owen is a long time resident of the county and is intimately familiar with its territory and people. He is married. Owen is a member of the Baptist church, Standard said. The new deputy has had four years of experience as a peace officer. He has been working recently in the oil fields. For the present time, Standard said Owen will be a field deputy and work out of the courthouse office.

Americans Donate Money, Food For Hungry Biafrans

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are responding with emotion—and cash—to the plight of children reported starving on the other side of the world. This time the victims of war are the people of Biafra, a tiny African country which seceded from Nigeria and in the ensuing fight was cut off from food and medical supplies. Church groups and the International Red Cross long have been aware of the tragedy of the Biafrans. Millions of dollars and thousands of tons of food and other supplies have been collected around the world, much of it through U.S. churches.

TRAGEDY
The supplies, including baby food, powdered milk and eggs to meet the Biafrans' desperate need for proteins, and medical supplies, have been airlifted into Biafra's 10,000-square-mile de sac, surrounded by hostile territory, in a cloak-and-dagger operation—a miniature Berlin airlift.

Many tons of supplies already are in African warehouses and much more is on the way. For example, Church World Service, relief arm of the Protestant National Council of Churches, has started trucking 500,000 pounds of high-protein beans from its Saginaw, Mich., depot to Baltimore for transport by ship to Biafra.

The Biafrans get only a few plane loads of food and medicine a day because the relief planes must fly at night to avoid Nigerian government anti-aircraft fire, landing in the dark on makeshift landing strips.

Photographs showing tiny Biafrans with protruding ribs and distended bellies of malnutrition brought sudden and dramatic results.

POLITICAL FIGHT
Dr. Nwoye Otu, head of the New York office of the Republic of Biafra, gets numerous offers of aid for his countrymen.

Otu refers would-be contributors to the groups which have been helping Biafra all along—the World Council of Churches, Catholic Relief and the Red Cross—or to UNICEF, the United Nations children's fund which has started a Biafran relief program.

At Van Nuys, Calif., a public relations man, Robert Goldstein, is busy working on a $400,000 contract he obtained from the Biafran government last Dec. 1 to promote the cause of Biafra in the United States.

"At the time we wrote the contract, we didn't know the Biafrans would be starving," Goldstein says.

Part of the money was to be used to set up a "Peace for Biafra Committee," originally aimed at forwarding Biafra's political and military fight against the rest of Nigeria.

Now, Goldstein says, the committee will take on relief work for the refugees as well as the job of trying to influence American opinion toward the Biafrans.

Horoscope Forecast

TOMORROW —CARROLL RIGNER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You certainly need to be watchful that you are not so eager to find errors in what others are doing that you appear to be a nag and thus lose some of the good will that you have built up with others. Do your work perfectly but don't expect others to conform to it. Follow your pattern for they are individuals.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Why don't you get busy and improve conditions around you instead of wasting time with bawls? Be very kindly toward a fellow worker who is feeling down-in-the-dumps. Don't bark at him, or have TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A little extra flair is necessary now in order to become more attractive and pleasing to others. Then get together with persons who have free time for that hobby you delight in. Have a good time by having a more friendly attitude.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Basic affairs now need your full concentration in order to rid yourself of those annoying situations that impede your progress. You had better make a family hobby, also, even if chores are boring. Sit down happily tonight and know that all is well.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be most careful in motion and you save yourself some costly and painful accident. Before you make that critical comment to another, forecast it. Show that you are a true and understanding friend.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan early how to make your operations more productive without annoying those around you. Avoid office, higher-ups. Don't go overboard financially just to satisfy some whim of yours. This could not end the worth it.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Find the right solution to present problems and do not make small talk with persons who are busy at work. Be thoughtful. Take more time for self-improvement, also, and you find others respect you more.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Showing others that you are more than capable of handling all those secret matters that are important is wise now. Get all cleared up for more action in the days ahead. Be sure future hours more sensibly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Concentrate upon how you can best assist people who are having rough sledding right now. Don't expect your help, whether large or small, sees you getting ahead more quickly than you had thought possible.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Although you feel that something is not doing what you feel to be right, be careful before you criticize—think matters over more thoroughly. Keeping promises is a must. Do the town tonight and have a wonderful time.

Bake Herb Yeast Bread

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

There's a new yeast abroad in this land and it lends itself to preparation shortcuts. Now even go-go girls can bake their own bread and like it.

We tried this new instant-blending yeast in our own kitchen and we're here to report that we turned out a fine loaf of regular white bread.

We also used the yeast in the following recipe for Herb Twists, a delightful offering for a buffet lunch or supper. Besides tasting delicious, the Twists look wonderfully attractive.

This yeast makes a quick-mix method possible. In this new routine, the yeast is mixed with the flour (rather than being softened in liquid first) and then warm liquid is added. The combination is beaten in an electric mixer, kneaded and shaped. Only one rising is necessary.

HERB TWISTS

4 1/2 to 5 cups regular unsifted flour
2 pkgs. instant -blending dry yeast
1 1/2 tps. dill weed
1 tsp. caraway seed
1/2 tsp. celery seed
3/4 cup milk
3/4 cup water
2 tps. shortening
2 tps. sugar
2 tps. salt
1 egg, at room temperature

Put 1 1/2 cups flour into large electric-mixer bowl; add yeast, dill weed, caraway seed and celery seed; stir to blend.

Put milk, water, shortening, sugar and salt into a saucepan; heat until warm (120 to 130 degrees); stir to blend. Pour into flour-yeast mixture; add egg.

Beat at low speed of electric mixer one-half minute, scraping bowl constantly. Beat three more minutes at high speed.

Gradually stir in enough more flour to form a soft dough. Knead five to 10 minutes until smooth.

Cover dough with bowl or pan. Let rest 20 minutes. Grease two 15 by 12 inch cookie sheets.

Divide dough in two parts. To shape one twist, divide one part in two. Shape each piece into a smooth strip 13 inches long and one inch wide. Place a little apart diagonally on a cookie sheet. Beginning at center, twist strips together toward each end. Seal by pressing onto pan.

Let rise on a rack over hot water until doubled - 30 to 45 minutes. Dent remains when finger is pressed gently on side of dough.

Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven for 20 to 30 minutes. For soft crusts, brush with butter.

Makes two large twists.
Note: If you like, you can divide the dough into four parts for smaller twists. Small pieces should be eight inches long before shaping.

MRS. JIMMY WOOD

Mother Finds Time For Multiple Tasks

By RHODA LEMONS

"I have plenty of time for everything I want to do," said Mrs. Jimmy Wood, 3209 Cornell. She and her husband, who is an A-craftsman pipe fitter for Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, have two daughters. They are Shelley, 5; and Stacey, 3.

Unlike many homemakers, Mrs. Wood says that she could accomplish much more than she does if she really applied herself, but she enjoys coffee breaks with the neighbors, watching a television show or just playing with her daughters.

Mrs. Wood cooks three meals a day. Her husband comes home for lunch and they all eat together. Mrs. Wood prepares foods for the freezer in advance such as pastries and cakes. She also stores leftovers so that they might be used later rather than having the same meal again that day.

"I shop for groceries every two weeks," said Mrs. Wood, wryly admitting that she made about 14 trips to the store in the meantime. She does not plan menus in advance, but decides each morning what she will prepare for the day.

Mrs. Wood sews for herself and the girls. She has a knitting machine with which she has made several suits and sweaters. She made burlap curtains for her daughters' room and applied brightly-colored felt cut-outs on them.

Mrs. Wood and her husband are "do-it-yourselfers." They antiqued an old treadle sewing machine, originally belonging to his grandmother, and worked diligently filling in the wormholes and sanding it smooth, only to find the antiquing directions advised them to distress the wood and simulate wormholes to help authenticate the age of the furniture.

Mrs. Wood antiqued an upright piano in red and recovered the piano stool and an old rocker in matching red, blue and green print. She hung a mirror on a red burlap background and lacquered an old coffee pot black to use as a holder for ivy. A black rocking chair also accents the living room which is furnished in vivid blue and red.

The Woods recently returned from Lake Tawakoni near Dallas where they stayed in a camp shelter for a week. There, Wood did a great deal of fishing and they brought some of his catch home for the freezer. The whole family enjoys this type of camping out, much better than staying in a tent as they did last year on vacation.

"I washed for three days after we returned home," said Mrs. Wood. She found the trip relaxing, and did a minimum of work, but was glad to return home and get back to her regular schedule.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

CHICKEN PIE

1 large chicken
1 large onion
1 large potato
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 1/2 tps. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/2 stick butter
2 finely diced carrots (optional)

Boil chicken and de-bone. Dice meat and reserve. Place two cups of chicken broth in pan and add the diced potato and onion. Simmer until potato cubes are soft. Add salt, pepper, butter, meat, and soup. Place mixture in unbaked pie shell and bake for one hour at 350 degrees or until crust is done. Use an 11 x 14 1/2-inch pan.

PASTRY

2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. salt
2-3 cup shortening
1/2 cup cold milk

Sift flour and salt together. Cut in shortening and add milk. Divide dough in half, using one-half for the bottom crust and the remaining half for top crust.

CHILI

2 lbs. hamburger
1 large chopped onion
1 clove garlic
2 tps. ground cumin
1/2 tsp. red pepper
1 1/2 tps. salt
1 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. garlic salt
1 tsp. chili powder
1/2 can tomatoes and green chilies

2 cups cooked mashed pinto beans
4 cups water
Brown hamburger meat. Chop the onion into the meat while it is cooking. Add all spices, water and garlic clove. Simmer for two to three hours or until most of liquid is cooked down. About 30 minutes before serving, add previously cooked pinto beans.

BEEF STROGANOFF

3 lbs. lean round steak or sirloin
2 big yellow onions
2 big can mushrooms (stems and pieces)
1 1/2 tps. flour
1/2 cup butter
1 cup tomato juice
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 pt. sour cream (commercial cream must be used)

1 large clove garlic
1 bay leaf
1 tsp. shortening
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. paprika
1 tsp. pepper

To prepare meat, trim away all fat. Cut into small cubes. Use two skillets. In one put butter and add chopped onions. Cook on medium heat until golden in color. Do not brown. Set aside.

Pour juice off the can of mushrooms, add flour to make smooth paste. Add mushroom pieces, then tomato juice, Worcestershire sauce and sour cream. Add all of this mixture to onion and let cook on low heat about 10 minutes. Stir often.

In second skillet, put shortening. When skillet is very hot, add meat. Brown quickly on all sides, then add split garlic, bay leaf, salt, pepper and paprika. Add about one-half cup of water, cover, and let simmer one-half hour. Add mushroom mixture. Cook 30 minutes longer on low heat, stirring now and then. Serve over noodles or rice.

SPICE TEA

5 tps. loose tea

1 qt. boiling water
Juice of 4 oranges
Juice of 2 lemons
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/4 tsp. ground cloves
1/4 tsp. ground cinnamon
Small can apricot nectar

Cover tea with boiling water and steep for five minutes. Add orange juice, lemon juice, sugar, cloves, and cinnamon. Add enough water to make one quart and let come to boil. Strain this mixture through cheese cloth to remove tea leaves, fruit pulp. Cool and add enough water to make five quarts liquid. Add small can apricot nectar. This will keep several days in the refrigerator.

SWEDISH BEAN SALAD

1/2 cup sour cream
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 16-oz. can French cut green beans
1 medium cucumber, diced
6 green onions, cut fine
1 tsp. dill seed
Celery and green pepper (to taste) finely chopped
Salt and pepper to taste
Combine ingredients as listed and chill for at least 24 hours before serving.

Refrigerate All Cheese Products

Cheese keeps best in the refrigerator. How long it will keep depends on the kind of cheese and the wrapping.

Soft cheeses such as cottage cheese, cream, and Neufchatel are highly perishable. Hard cheeses, Cheddar and Swiss, for example, keep much longer than soft cheeses if protected from drying out, says Mrs. Gwendolyn Glyatt, extension consumer marketing specialist.

Leave cheese in its original wrapper, if possible. Cover cut surfaces tightly with waxed paper, foil, or plastic to protect the surface from drying out, or store the cheese in a tightly covered container, advises the Texas A&M University specialist. To store a large piece of cheese for an extended time, dip the cut surface in melted paraffin. Store cheese that has a strong odor, such as Limburger, in a tightly covered container.

Any surface mold that develops on hard natural cheese should be trimmed off completely before the cheese is used. In mold-ripened cheeses such as Blue and Roquefort, mold is an important part of the cheese and can be eaten.

If mold penetrates the interior of cheeses that are not ripened such as Cheddar and Swiss cut away the moldy portions and use the rest.

Good And Creamy

Ice cream treats always have been summer favorites. These four are extra special. Clockwise from the left are a parfait with alternating layers of vanilla ice cream and fudge sauce, a creamy strawberry frappe, an orange sherbet pineapple sundae and a sundae of chocolate ice cream topped with marshmallow cream. All are simple to make and taste refreshingly delicious.

Serve Cool Desserts For Summer Treats

Refreshingly cool drinks and desserts are a natural part of summertime living, whether they are just for the family or for guests as well. And you can't beat ice cream for easy use at a moment's notice.

Since ice cream has long been an American favorite, you've probably had it served many different ways. This summer, however, don't limit yourself just to basics. Be different. Keep it simple, but make it special.

An especially tempting sundae is a double scoop of chocolate ice cream topped with marshmallow cream. This ready-to-use marshmallow cream with cold water until it is of sauce consistency, then spoon over the ice cream. To add variety and flavor, top with a maraschino cherry and circle the scoop of ice cream with mint patties.

Refreshing sherbets can be enhanced with fresh or canned fruits. Put a few dips of orange sherbet in a tall glass, alternating with fresh or canned pineapple sections. Garnish each sundae with a fresh orange slice and top with pineapple juice.

Luscious parfait layered ice cream creations with fillings of fruits, sauces, nuts, syrups and other tasty ingredients always are favorites with children. Try creamy rich vanilla ice cream layered with a triple thick fudge sauce topped with crushed pecans. Use parfait, sherbet, pilsner or small iced-tea glasses. Ice cream flavors as well as the fillings can be varied. These are excellent for making in advance and then storing in the freezer.

Creamy, thick frappe treats are cool, frothy and full of flavor. For a fruited strawberry frappe, combine one cup of crushed strawberries and one-third cup of sugar. Stir in one quart of milk. Fill four chilled tall glasses three-quarters full with the flavored milk. Add a heaping scoop of vanilla or strawberry ice cream to each glass. Stir until the ice cream is partially melted, then garnish with whole strawberries and a touch of whipped cream.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

To make good looking pan rolls, form yeast dough into a long roll and cut into equal pieces. Roll each piece between your palms to shape into a smooth ball. The balls may be placed close together in a square cake pan for baking.

Just for a change: tuna salad sandwich mix may be spread on toasted, buttered English-muffin halves. Have the muffin halves piping hot, sprinkle the tuna mixture with minced parsley and serve right away.

Minced parsley - Quite a bit of it - is an excellent addition to condensed cream of celery soup.

To serve with roast pork: sour cream mixed with apple-sauce. You can use equal portions of the cream and sauce if you like. Turn the mixture into a small bowl and sprinkle with paprika - for color.

Canned apricots, heated in a little of their own syrup in a skillet, make an excellent accompaniment to a platter of sliced baked ham. Use a slotted spoon to remove the apricots from the skillet when you are ready to add the fruit to your platter.

An eight-inch pie should serve six persons; a nine-inch pie should serve at least seven, and a 10-inch pie should be ample for eight.

New use for mincemeat: add it to a cornbread stuffing for roast duck or turkey.

When a recipe calls for 2 cups of cooked prunes, count on using 1/2 pound prunes.

Delicious topping for rice pudding: A cup of broken pecans gently cooked in a quarter-cup of butter until golden brown.

Cut up poultry should be washed quickly but thoroughly under cold running water, then thoroughly drained. Never soak poultry parts.

Go slow, weight watchers, when you reach for those crackers! There are about 25 calories in an ordinary soda cracker.

Delicious meat for a company main course: rack of lamb consisting of rib lamb chops that are left in one piece.

Use warm water when you are washing fresh spinach, Swiss chard or asparagus.

When you take a loaf of bread from the freezer, leave it in its wrapper until it thaws so that

If the bread is to be toasted, however, it needn't be thawed.

If you are storing a loaf of bread in the freezer for a short time, it needs no more protection than its waxed wrapper.

Nothing moves troops like The Daily Bugle.

The sound of a powerful ad opens up people's eyes. And minds. It stirs them. Starts them marching in to buy your product. And often at less cost-per-thousand to you than any other person-to-person message.

(The Classified Section is one example. Remember how disappointed you were the day you called on that Want Ad, and found out the item had just been sold?)

Print bugles like that. Sharp and clear. Which is just the call to action you need when your adversary is public inertia. And it generally is. Newspapers. Magazines. Brochures. Mailings. These are all print. And they all work to muster the troops. Use them.

It'll be a monumental campaign, General.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, going along with arguments the federal farm program is a bonanza for corporate farmers, has approved a $20,000 ceiling on payments to any one person.

But backers of the farm program said the ceiling would only drive the big operators away from the voluntary program, make it unworkable and cripple chances for its extension beyond 1969.

The House approved the $20,000 payments lid by a 230-160 vote Wednesday. Backers of the restriction said 25 large-farm operators received payments ranging from $442,327 to $4,091,818 in 1966.

The House then approved a one-year extension of the federal farm production-control program beyond its present 1969 expiration.

ROLL CALL
 But Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, who tried unsuccessfully to get the same four-year extension approved by the Senate, said the Senate would not accept the payments ceiling and there may be no extension at all.

"Unless the House reverses itself, I don't think there will be a bill," Smith said. "This is a portrayal of things to come. Farm programs are in great danger of not being extended in any meaningful fashion."

Chairman W. R. Poage, D-Tex., of the House Agriculture Committee claimed the program "just won't work if you limit participation of large operators."

Rep. Thomas Foley, D-Wash., added, "It is useless to extend it for one year if you are going to kill it with this payment limitation."

Their arguments prevailed during earlier voting when members were not recorded by name on the $20,000 limitation and a series of similar ceilings. But when it was put to a roll call vote by Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., these defeats were overturned and the limitation written into the House bill.

It would apply to all payments to individual farm operators under programs involving wheat, feed grains, cotton and wool, becoming effective in 1970.

'FAT CAT' DEAL
 The present basic program, which has made possible annual payments of more than $3 billion for land retirement, does not expire until the end of 1969.

Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn., who had proposed another type limitation, said it was "just unacceptable" for payments of more than $1 million to be made under terms of the program.

Rep. Ray Madden, D-Ind., called it a "fat cat operation" which has turned into a bonanza for corporate farms and wealthy farm owners.

Conte's limitation was supported by 137 Republicans and 93 Democrats. It was opposed by 130 Democrats and 30 Republicans. The one-year bill then was passed on a 213-176 vote.

Opponents of the limitations contend the large operators won't take part in the voluntary program with these features, will withdraw and produce in quantity, resulting in large surpluses which in the end will harm small farmers.

NOW A LOT OF FOLK SHOULD HAVE HEARD ABOUT IT!
 Local man's birthday is heralded by energetic effort of brother-in-law

Hood's Birthday Shouted To The World On A Sign

Wednesday was Charles Hood's 40th birthday and every one who happened to drive along North Birdwell street doubtless was made aware of it.

A big sign, posted at the entrance to Hood's house-moving yards, literally shouted the news to the passing world.

"Charles Hood is 40 years old today," read the neatly painted sign. "Happy Birthday Old Man."

The rather bizarre birthday card was the product of two conspirators — Richard Cauble and Richard Cauble Jr. Cauble is Hood's brother-in-law and young Cauble is a nephew. Friends said that the idea of the sign probably stemmed back to a day when Cauble reached his 40th milestone and was given deep sympathy by Hood.

Not content with merely erecting the sign, the Caubles also neatly lettered the news on the bumper of the pickup truck which Hood drives.

'The Outcasts' Inject White, Black Partners

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Don "Red" Barry, a wrestler turned character actor, slumped in the hot midday sun behind a plaster of paris boulder on the Screen Gems backlot, rehearsing the scene in which he, a villain, gets his comeuppance. Shots were fired by a member of the technical crew.

VIOLENCE
 Barry writhed and the director shouted, "Get ready with the blood."

On the sidelines in the shade, Don Murray, one of the two stars of the show, "The Outcasts," leaned back in his folding chair and talked about the new ABC series—his first regular television assignment.

"Well, yes, this one is based on personal relationships," he said, "since I play a former slave owner and Otis (Young) plays a former slave. But it's still a violent, action Western."

A couple of months ago, Murray said, "they started to cut down on the number of people killed, and cut out some of the details of blood and gore."

"But we still have lots of fights and I play the kind of guy who gets drunk and is interested in women. I've lost a lot of horses in the 11 episodes we've finished—they've been shot, broken a leg, died from thirst and, in one episode, got bitten by a rattlesnake."

CHANGED MIND
 All this, presumably, makes "The Outcasts" one of those so-called "adult Westerns," but with a contemporary television switch that has a white man and a black man in prickly partnership as bounty hunters.

Murray, a stage and film star with credits such as "A Hatful of Rain" and "The Hoodlum Priest"—which he wrote, produced and in which he starred—said he had never wanted to be involved with a television series before because he thought it would be detrimental to his film career.

"I've changed my mind," he said. "Now I think it will be helpful. If you do good work and if the audience likes you and identifies with you, it will make the audience want to see more of you."

Acting in a Western is a kick, he said—"like being a kid again and getting paid for it." He added that in a Western with more action than talk, there isn't much of the dreary business of learning lines.

"I'd hate being in one of those court room series and have to study pages and pages of speeches."

'IRONSIDE' SPECIAL
 The teaming of black and white man in the Old West permits the series to inject new twists into time-honored plots.

In one episode, Young, whose character Jamal David has been made acting sheriff of a small town, walks into a restaurant full of empty tables and one lone diner. He asks for food and the proprietor explains that he just hasn't the room to serve him.

"I react," said Young, a TV newcomer. "I play a guy with a short fuse. As a matter of fact, I react to this series. I've waited 14 years in show business for this chance, and I don't want anything to hurt it."

NBC plans a special two-hour episode of "Ironside" on Sept. 26, pre-empting "Daniel Boone." It crowds into one program a story about surgery to see whether the sleuth can regain the use of his legs.

The show, a week after NBC premieres its new season, arrives during the debut week of both ABC and CBS, and will conflict with the season premieres of CBS' "Hawaii Five-O" and ABC's "Bewitched" and "That Girl."

Dirksen Is Urged To Cancel Party

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith has urged Sen. Everett M. Dirksen to stop a planned party for Republican convention notables at a private club the Jewish organization says bars Negroes and Jews from membership.

The plea to the Senate Republican leader followed cancellation of a society page dinner-dance at the same club to which Richard M. Nixon, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and other top Republicans had been invited. The hostess, Mrs. W. Vincent Astor, called it off following similar protests from the Anti-Defamation League.

Asked about the club's alleged policy of excluding Negroes and Jews from membership, Dirksen said: Edward Brooke and Jacob Javits will be at the party so what has that got to do with it?"

SILENCE
 Sen. Brooke, R-Mass., is a Negro. Sen. Javits, R-N.Y., is a Jew.

Neither was available for comment.

An assistant to Brooke said in Washington the senator planned to attend Dirksen's party. But the aide also said Brooke was unaware of the league's charge and that he could not say if it would change Brooke's plans.

Dirksen said: We wouldn't have a party unless they could all be there, regardless of race, creed, color or origin.

Arthur Teitelbaum, director of the league's Miami branch, said the Bath Club had waived restrictions on Jews for special private events. Teitelbaum said he knew of no Negro who had attended a function there as a guest.

The party is planned for Tuesday. The management of the club refused comment on the League charge.

Gets His Girl By Advertising

NEW YORK (AP) — Stephen N. Delt got his girl through the New York Times.

Delt, 23, a romantic fellow from Flushing, Queens, placed the following ad in Tuesday's Times to celebrate the 23rd birthday of his fiancée, Ellen J. Richter:

"E.J.R. Happy birthday. I love you. Will you marry me? S.N.D."

"I thought it would be romantic in an age of unromanticism," explained Delt, a high school math teacher, "especially in such a staid paper as the Times."

Miss Richter was equal to the occasion. Upon reading the two-line ad at the bottom of the front page of the second section, she promptly placed a reply running in the same place in today's edition. It reads: "S.N.D. I love you too. Yes I will. E.J.R."

Dig This Crazy, Sexless Gadget

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A computer—supposedly sexless and impartial—says women drivers are better than men in Michigan.

The Department of State computer pulled the files of 27,662 drivers from a cross-section of those under the letter "A."

It showed that seven of 10 women have perfect driving records while less than five of 10 men can make the same claim. The computer cross-section sampling involved both accident and violation records ranging back through a six-year period.

Southerners Book Meet To Take Aim At Hubert

CHICAGO (AP) — More than 1,000 Southerners from 14 states will meet in Atlanta for two days before the Democratic national convention to try to stop the nomination of Hubert H. Humphrey, a sponsoring group says.

Sponsors of the National Coalition for an Open Convention said Wednesday the gathering will be Aug. 10 and 11. They said the conference aims to bring together insurgent forces now fighting separately against the established Democratic party in the South.

Among those invited to the Atlanta conference are the Rev. Ed King, a leader of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party; John Cashin, chairman of the National Democratic Party of Alabama, and Orswell Billingsley, Alabama lawyer—who helped lead the loyalty oath fight at the 1964 Democratic convention.

States to be represented at the conference include Georgia, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, North Carolina, South Carolina, Louisiana, Florida, West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi, the sponsors said.
