Voices Heard In Rubble Of Building

MANILA (AP) — Rescuers established voice contact early Sunday with an undetermined number of survivors entombed in the wreckage of a five-story apartment house that had yielded 111 dead since its collapse in an earthquake Friday.

Power equipment was stilled at midnight and a loudspeaker was brought into play across the pile of debris and twisted steel to urge any victims still alive to make themselves known. "Shout or signal," the speaker urged in Chinese, the language of most of the apartment dwellers, and Filipino. "Do not be afraid."

A few minutes later came the response. "They're shouting back," the speaker said. "There are still people alive there. One is a child crying for his mother."

Flashlights and floodlights helped rescue workers, including American servicemen, to locate likely points of entry in the crevices.

Fifteen minutes later the operations, which had previously recovered 254 injured persons, resumed full blast.

More than 3,000 men were on the job. A second quake jolted Manila as the volunteers toiled in a drizzling rain Saturday to save the living and retrieve the dead.

Tall buildings and lamps swayed for a minute, but the toll seemed to be limited to some heightening of the damage in the initial quake.

American servicemen and other volunteers carried on without letup. They sifted debris hand to hand in a desperate effort to find 250 to 300 persons believed trapped in the pile of concrete, wood and steel that had been the Ruby Tower, a handsome, five-story apartment house in Manila's Chinatown.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

It was a bad, bad week on the highways and streets. Two lives were lost — one in town and one outside, running the total to seven lives so far lost in traffic mishaps this year. J. F. Brooks, 41, Coahoma, died Monday six hours after his pickup truck collided with the rear of one being towed on IS 20 east of here. Mrs. Mamie Katherine Burnett, 48, died some 10 hours after she was knocked from her car in a collision at Third and Benton. There were half a dozen other accidents which sent people to the hospital, and some of these could have been tragic, too.

Little Bobby Glenn Lepard, who seemingly was doing well after a kidney transplant in Denver, had a serious turn early in the week and fought for his life. Friends here were rallying to help by contributing to a Bobby Lepard fund.

Our congressman, Rep. Omar Burleson, succeeded last week in his efforts to gain a seat on the powerful House Ways and Means Committee. Among other things which are funneled through this panel are appointments to committees, thus a voice here is a voice in influencing the com-

Claims Nixon Victory Would Help Wallace

Rocky Has Praise For Sen. McCarthy

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller flew in from New York Saturday and told Republicans that if they give their presidential nomination to Richard M. Nixon the November election may be thrown into the House.

Rockefeller noted that two pollsters said third party candidate George Wallace could hold the balance of electoral votes if Nixon is the GOP nominee and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is the Democratic entry.

FEAR, HATE
He described Alabama's former Gov. Wallace as a candidate of "fear, hate and racism."

Rockefeller told a beachside rally that he is the candidate who can bring a negotiated peace to Vietnam and a victory of law, justice and tranquility to the cities.

"Most important to the hearts of the American people is a victory that means peace in Vietnam, not through military escalation, but through political negotiation," he said.

And, he said, "We want a victory that will bring peace to our cities—a victory of law, justice and tranquility."
Rockefeller also said he would work to stop inflation, "the cruellest tax of all," by setting priorities for federal expenditures at home and abroad.

YOUTH BID
In a bid for the youth vote, he said 18-year-olds should have the right to vote and he praised Sen. Eugene McCarthy, a Democratic presidential contender, for "breaking the dam that keeps young people out of politics."

At the Americana Hotel, Rockefeller-climbed aboard an open bus where a band called the Calypso Twisters was beating drums and rattling maracas.

Inside the crowded lobby of the luxury resort hotel people chanted "We want Rocky!! We want Rocky!!" and "Nixon's a loser."

At the airport reception Rockefeller said: "I'm not trying to stop anybody. I'm just trying to get myself elected."

Rockefeller's forces claimed success Saturday in their drive to stop Richard M. Nixon as the presidential infighting and the tropical revelry escalated in advance of the Republican National Convention.

Nixon men argued just as vehemently that the New York governor hasn't stopped a thing, that the former vice president will sweep to nomination on the first or second ballot next Wednesday night.

REAGAN
California Gov. Ronald Reagan was on his way, too, saying he has a longshot chance of emerging as the nominee should the current top contenders deadlock.

Rockefeller's campaign manager, Robert Douglas, said flatly:

"The Nixon effort to gain this nomination on the first ballot has been stopped."

And after that first ballot, Douglas argued, Nixon's delegate strength will begin to diminish.

Leonard W. Hall, former national chairman and a Rockefeller strategist, estimated Nixon's first ballot delegate strength at 535, Rockefeller's at 350, Reagan's at 180 to 200.

Ten blocks up the beach, at a Hilton Plaza Hotel emblazoned with the name Nixon in gigantic red letters, the front-runner's camp made its counter-claim.

"Our private polls continue to show we retain the strength that puts us way over the 700 mark," said Herbert G. Klein, spokesman for Nixon. "Depending on the position of favorite son states, we have enough to get in on the first ballot and certainly the second."

SURVEY

The Associated Press survey of delegates showed 544 solid first ballot votes for Nixon, based on primaries, public statements, commitments and replies to the poll. That is down eight votes since last Thursday.

The AP tally showed 298 Rockefeller votes, 100 for Reagan, 207 uncommitted.

It will take 667 votes to choose the Republican nominee.

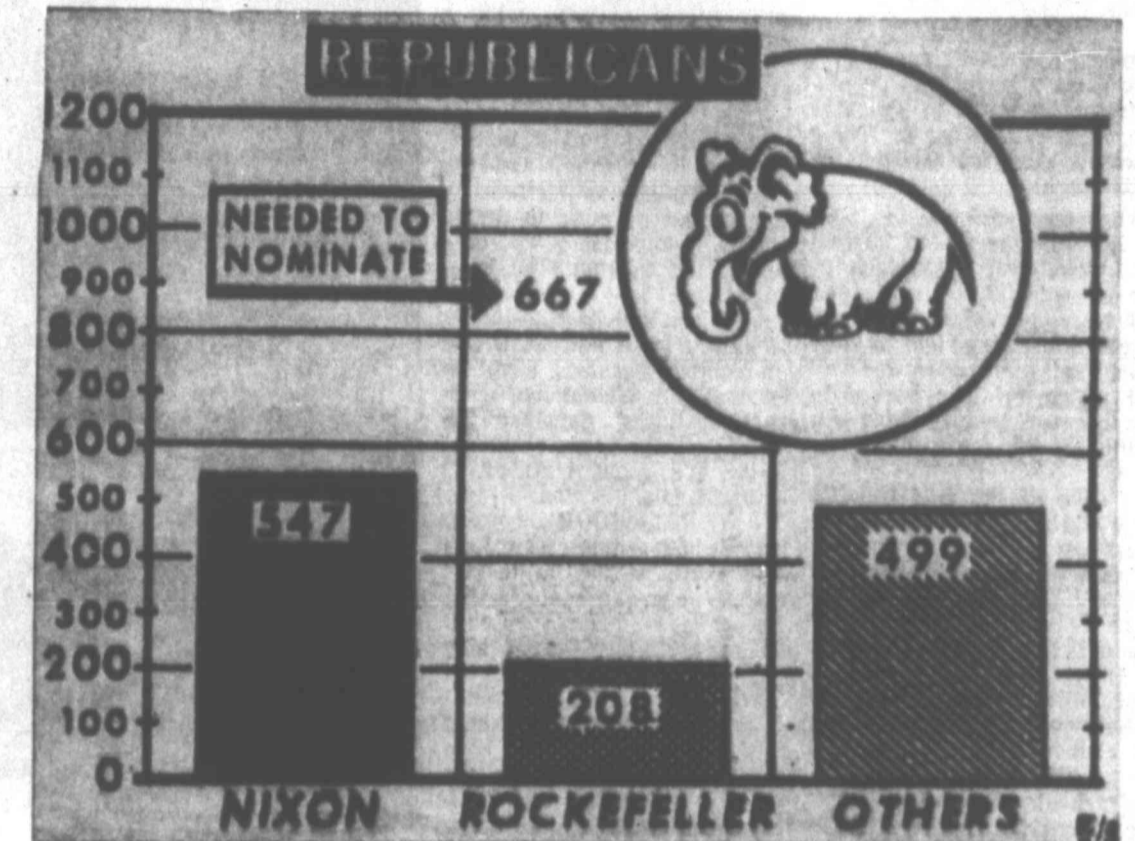

"Nixon strength will drop rapidly after the first ballot," Douglas said. He said there would be an initial shift of southerners to Rockefeller, an ultimate turn to Reagan.

Czechs Apparently Win Support Of Neighbors

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia (AP) — With thousands shouting, "Long live sovereignty!" and "Czechoslovakia's leaders and those of five orthodox Communist countries adopted a declaration Saturday night that the Czechoslovaks said would preserve their drive for liberalization and democracy."

NONINTERFERENCE
Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek said the declaration, coming after a fortnight of hints of armed intervention by the Soviet Union, reaffirmed the principle of noninterference in the internal affairs of other Communist parties.

Hajek told a news conference the document would not force any change in the reforms that have brought freedom of speech and the press to this Communist nation.

Delegate Strength

A late tabulation of delegate strength among the GOP presidential contenders has yielded the above figures. With 667 votes needed to nominate, Richard Nixon remains in the lead but short of a first ballot nomination with 547 votes. Others column includes favorite son and uncommitted votes. Not included in the chart are votes committed to Ronald Reagan and George Romney from outside their home states.

Long Fight Expected On Vietnam Plank

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Republican platform writers virtually wrapped up the domestic section of their 1968 platform late Saturday in apparent harmony and headed into a nighttime battle over foreign policy, particularly Vietnam.

Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, deputy chairman of the Platform Committee, told reporters the session "might last into the wee hours Sunday morning."

But the finish drive seemed to be on, with strict limitations of debate on lesser issues. Authoritative committee sources said the whole document might be released Sunday if agreement were reached on a Vietnam plank giving hope of a settlement in Southeast Asia—and a GOP victory in November.

SOURCE
One source described the outlook this way Saturday evening:

"The time we'll get through depends on negotiations going on outside the committee room for an agreement on the Vietnam wording."

"If the big guns agree, the pop guns in the committee room can keep popping away but we'll get through tonight."

"But if the big guns don't agree tonight, the popping will go on tomorrow."

The afternoon's work produced agreed planks on all domestic issues except agriculture, which delegates estimated would require about an hour's work after resumption of the closed sessions.

STRENUOUS EFFORTS

"Strenuous efforts are being made to find a position on Vietnam which will be satisfactory to all parties," Scott added.

Completed were planks which some delegates called "quite liberal" on efforts to cure the ills of the cities by stepped-up government aid and incentives to private industry to provide jobs, job training, and low income housing. A completed crime plank demands both sterner law enforcement and an assault on slum conditions that breed violence.

SUBSTITUTE

Sen. Jacob Javits of New York was drafting substitute language which he said would commit the party, in summary, to:

"First, a negotiated settlement; second, broad inclusion of all elements in Vietnam in a settlement; and third, a beginning on phasing American elements out of major combat responsibility and South Vietnamese elements into it."

Three Released Pilots Due Home Today

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Twenty-four hours, two plane rides, a home-cooked meal with the American ambassador to Thailand and a dozen cigars later, three American pilots boarded an American airliner Saturday for the last leg of their journey home from Hanoi and months of captivity in North Vietnam.

PILOTS

The pilots, Maj. James F. Low, 43, Sausalito, Calif.; Maj. Fred N. Thompson, 32, Taylors, S.C., and Capt. Joe V. Carpenter, 37, Victorville, Calif., all had been shot down while on combat missions. Hanoi announced their release July 18, but they did not emerge from North Vietnam until 15 days later.

They flew from Hanoi to Vientiane, then on to Bangkok. Low had been a prisoner since Dec. 16, 1967; Thompson since last March 20 and Carpenter since Feb. 15.

Maj. and Mrs. Thompson were frequent visitors in Big Spring prior to his tour of duty overseas and Mrs. Thompson and the couple's two sons had been living in Big Spring since his capture March 20. He had been due home April 9.

Mrs. Thompson and the two boys, Steven, 7, and David, 10, were living with Mrs. Harry Logan, 512 Scott, but left Big Spring July 1, for a visit to Monch Corner, S.C., where Mrs. Thompson's mother lives.

In their fourth news conference in 24 hours, the three pilots relaxed their previously formal attitude to questioning and gave some insight into what life is like in a North Vietnamese prison camp.

Low, speaking for his two companions, said his North Vietnamese captors had given the prisoners a loaf of bread a day and "sometimes a loaf and a half."

"The food was good," he added.

"The food was fresh and included meat, mostly pork fat."

For entertainment they were allowed to read local newspapers and magazines, a Russian magazine and on rare occasions, copies of the American magazine Newsweek.

They also listened to Radio Hanoi. All pilots in the prison in Hanoi listened to news of the Paris peace talks with "great interest," he said.

Low said he and his companions had not met before their release. All prisoners eat alone.

Low repeated that he and his companions had decided to fly home commercially instead of by military flight because it was "in the best interests of the prisoners in Hanoi."

SELECTED
He said neither he nor his fellow pilots knew how they were selected for freedom.

"I guess they just picked our names out of a barrel," he added.

Boll Weevils Make Sudden Invasion

GARDEN CITY — There has been a sudden build up of boll weevils in northern Glasscock County, County Agent Oliver West reported Saturday.

Poisoning operations, by airplane, were to have begun Saturday on approximately 450 acres, depending on winds.

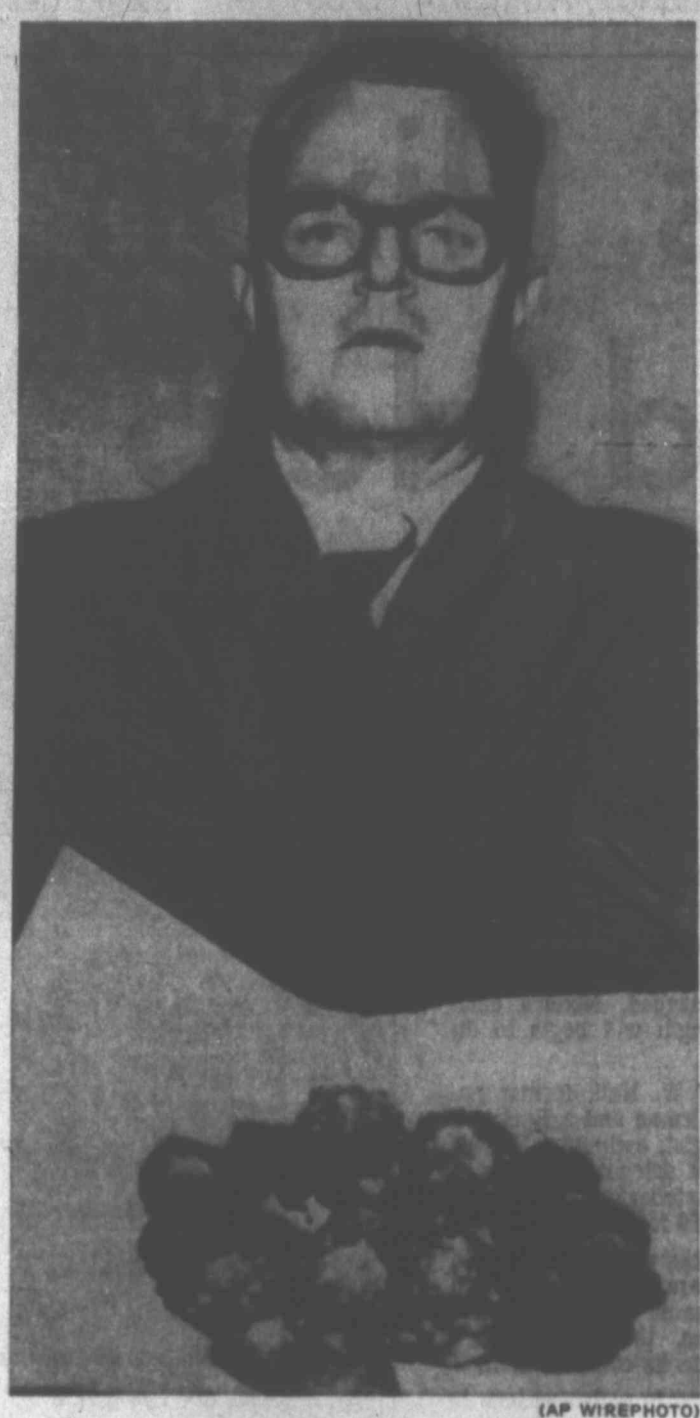

West said an inspection of fields in the vicinity of Lee's store showed better than 30 per cent punctured squares in the fields.

There had been an infestation in the area last year, and it has been watched closely this year. The build up has occurred mostly within the last 10 days with square damage tripling in that period, he said.

Possibly 1,000 to 1,500 acres of cotton in the area may be subject to the attack. West said it could be that some of the fields in south Howard County would bear watching.

Because of the infestation, he urged farmers in the area to keep their fields under close watch and to report any undue build-up. West said he would be ready to help wherever possible.

and distribute it." A U. S. customs official said officers seized about 5,000 pounds of marijuana and made 700 arrests in fiscal 1968 along the Texas - Mexico border. The corresponding figures for the preceding year were 2,100 pounds and 378 persons.

"I don't guess there's a major college anywhere in the United States that hasn't been represented among the kids we've arrested recently," said William D. Kilman of Houston, staff assistant, U. S. Customs Agency Service.

FILL TRAFFIC
"We get a lot of them from the East," Kilman said. "It's not hard to catch them, with their beards and long hair."

He added: "We used to deal with criminals. Now it's kids who have never been in trouble before."

W. E. "Dub" Taylor, agent in charge of narcotics, the Texas Department of Public Safety, said virtually all of the marijuana in Texas comes from Mexico.

"Marijuana is the big problem," Naylor said. "There's quite a bit of pill traffic, but nothing like marijuana."

Naylor said marijuana smoking is widespread on Texas college campuses.

"Last spring, we sent undercover agents to nine colleges in the state at the request of the school administrations to weed out the problems there," he said. "We made sufficient cases at five schools to break the back of the operation."

Court May Talk About Budget

Howard County Commissioners Court, which did not meet last Monday because the county judge was not in town, will meet Monday. It is possible that the board may resume study of the county's proposed 1969 budget.

Virginia Black, county auditor, has prepared the first draft of the budget and at a session several weeks ago, the commissioners went over her figures but made no final decisions.

The budget must be ready for public hearing and final approval by mid-September.

Class 69-A Ends Training With 43 Receiving Wings

In graduation ceremonies at Webb AFB Saturday morning, 43 Air Force officers received their wings and certificates of aeronautical rating, signifying the completion of 53 weeks of undergraduate pilot training.

The class, 69-A also included seven additional students who received their wings a week earlier in order to attend pilot instructor training courses.

The seven comprise the largest segment of any class in Webb history to return to UPT bases as instructor pilots.

Of the 43 new jet pilots who received wings yesterday, two were Marine officers. The presentations of wings and certificates were held at 10 a.m. on the base's flightline during a wing parade and review.

During dining-in ceremonies held in the Webb Officers Open Mess Friday night, awards were presented to three of the graduating pilots.

Captain John H. Smith was awarded two of the four top awards. He received the Air Training Command Commander's trophy and the Officer Training Award.

The Academic Training Award went to 2nd Lieutenant Gary M. Rubus and the Flying Training Award was presented to 2nd Lieutenant Norman G. Schuessler Jr. The trio also were named as distinguished graduates, along with 2nd Lieutenant Robert D. Welsh and 2nd Lieutenant Douglas M. Walker.

Speaker at the dining-in was Col. Harry Howton, commander of the USAF Special Operations School, Special Operations Force, Hurlburt Field, Fla. Col. Four At Webb Are Awarded Decorations

Three Distinguished Flying Crosses (DFC) were among five decorations awarded to four permanent party officers in ceremonies at Webb AFB Saturday morning.

Presentation of the awards were made during a wing parade and review, honoring graduating pilot training class 69-A on the base's flightline.

Receiving the decorations were: Col. Donald A. Jones and Capt. Melvin R. Gibson, Stephen P. Piszczek and Eugene L. Haggerty.

Col. Jones, deputy commander of materiel, received the Legion of Merit for outstanding service while assigned to the Directorate of Supply and Services, Headquarters, USAF, Washington, D. C.

The three captains received DFC's for heroism in military actions in Southeast Asia. Capt. Gibson was awarded the DFC for his feats as a forward air controller in Vietnam on March 28, 1968. He utilized his airpower to support a besieged friendly ground unit and rout the enemy's offensive forces.

In addition to receiving the DFC, Capt. Piszczek also was awarded the sixth through thirteenth Oak Leaf Clusters to the Air Medal.

He received the DFC for his actions while piloting an F-4D on Oct. 22, 1967. Although under severe enemy fire, Capt. Piszczek accomplished a radar and photo-intelligence gathering mission over a highly defended target.

He received the Oak Leaf Clusters for completing other important and hazardous missions in Vietnam. Capt. Haggerty was decorated with the DFC (second Oak Leaf Cluster) for his performance as a F-105 pilot in North Vietnam on Dec. 19, 1966. He flew in the No. 2 position in a set of four F-105 Thunderchiefs and directly bombed his objective — a high priority petroleum surface area located 15 miles from Hanoi. The captain accomplished his mission despite marginal weather conditions and continuous antiaircraft fire.

Sculptor's Work Gets Recognition At Show

By WINNIE UNGER
Al Long, Big Spring metal sculptor, has received notice that two of his bronze pieces received honorable mention in that division of the Carlsbad, N.M., Annual Arts and Crafts exhibit. Herb McKinley, Midland painter, won second in the oil painting section of the show.

Mrs. Myrtle Lee and Mrs. Fannie Clark were in San Angelo last week attending the exhibit of "Paintings of the Southwest" from the Santa Fe Railway Collection, which will be on display in the Helen King Kendall Gallery through Aug. 11.

Highlight of the show is a painting, "Grand Canyon," by Thomas Moran, valued at $60,000. Other works are by Gerald Cassidy, W. R. Leigh, Irvin Course and Victor Higgins and others.

An excursion bus leaving Friday, Aug. 23, at 4:30 p.m., from Lubbock's West Texas Museum will provide round-trip transportation to Palo Duro Canyon amphitheater for the production of Paul Green's "Texas." Passengers bring their own picnic dinners.

There will be a stop en route at the Canyon Art Gallery, soft drinks at a picnic site in the canyon, and reserved seats for the amphitheater production included in the price ($9.50) per person. Reservations will be made upon receipt of a check for the proper amount at the museum, Box 4210, Lubbock. Last season's trip included 200 persons in five busloads.

CONVENTION COSTS SOAR

Spending By Demos Will Surpass GOP

By BEN FUNK
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "The difference between a Republican and a Democrat," said a Miami Beach politician, "is that when a Republican catches a fish, he has it mounted on his wall. When a Democrat catches one, he eats it."

The inference suggested by this lifelong Democrat was that the GOP represents an upper crust section of society. He may be right to a certain extent.

If spending habits of delegates to the national party conventions remain unchanged from 1964, Republicans will spend more money at Miami Beach than Democrats will drop in Chicago.

MORE DEMOCRATS

But over-all spending by Democratic delegates and alternates will surpass that of the Republicans because there are so many more Democrats. The Democratic delegation, including alternates, totals 5,611. The Republicans number 2,666.

The cost of nominating presidential candidates has soared spectacularly in recent times.

In 1940, Chicago got the Democratic convention on a bid of $125,000 and a free hall. Philadelphia bought the Republican show for $200,000 and a hall.

By 1964, reported convention expenses had soared to $1.2 million for the Democrats and $664,754 for the Republicans.

AVERAGE $455

As convention costs went up along with the price of everything else, an increased burden was placed on host cities. To win the 1968 GOP sessions, Miami Beach had to pledge $850,000 in cash and services and lay out $4 million for a new Convention Hall. Chicago corralled the Democrats for $900,000 in money and services.

The out-of-pocket expenses of delegates and alternates went up along with party costs.

A survey after the 1964 conventions showed that the average Republican delegate spent $447 on transportation, hotel rooms, meals, entertainment and other personal expenses at San Francisco. The average Democrat put out $455 at Atlantic City.

PRICELESS

If the conventions draw 25,000 people to each city, as predicted — and everyone spends about the same — some $15 million will be left at Chicago and $11 million at Miami Beach.

For Miami Beach, this actually may not represent any new business at all, for August is the biggest tourist month of the year and the hotels are usually full. If the Republicans were not here, other visitors would be occupying their rooms. For a tourist resort, however, the national publicity of a political convention is priceless.

A major item in rising costs has been the need for much more extensive facilities for the news media.

The television networks say they spent about $15 million covering the 1964 conventions.

Cosden Licenses Unique Process

Cosden Oil & Chemical Company has licensed Monsanto Company to utilize its process for ethylbenzene separation under Cosden's U.S. Patents, 2,958,626 and 3,200,044.

Cosden has nine other licensees of its ethylbenzene process in the United States, Italy and Japan.

Cited For Honors

Two Big Spring students are among those cited for honors in the spring term at the University of Texas.

James Houston Zike, Sterling City route, made the deans list in the College of Engineering, and Patricia Alexander, 1010 Blaubonnet, was on the cumulative list in the College of Education.

No Special Teal Season This Year

AUSTIN (AP) — The Parks and Wildlife Department says there will be no early special teal season this year.

The early season has been held for the past three years as an experiment to determine if the small ducks could be managed on a species basis since most teal migrate through Texas before duck hunting season opens.

Results of the three experimental seasons are still being studied by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service to decide if early teal seasons should be held in the future.

Steady Progress Reported On Robert Lee Projects

Steady progress is being made on projects connected with the Colorado River Municipal Water District's lake at Robert Lee.

Work on the dam is nearing the 80 per cent mark, said O. H. Ivie, general manager. The last of the core trench has been cut, and backfill begun with select material. Saturday traffic on State highway 158 (Robert Lee-Sterling City) was diverted over the new section which puts the road around the south end of the dam. This will close traffic over the center section of the dam and will permit the contractor, Clement Bros., unhampered operations in bringing the north flank of the dam to the channel.

Last major pour on the spillway has been made with rip rap is being put on the mounds. Work will start soon on the substructure of the main pump station six miles upstream from the dam. Similarly, work is due soon on a drip station and intake station for Union of Texas and Humble.

Parhandle Construction Company lacks only three miles on the east end of the Big Spring-Martin County pump station 30-mile section of 33-inch line. The west 11 miles have been hydraulically tested and is in good condition. A conference between the CRMWD, engineers and contractors for 37 miles of 21-inch, 27-inch and 42-inch pipeline is due Tuesday in Big Spring.

July Winds Up As Driest Month With 1.37 Inches

July turned out to be the driest month of the 1968 season. The U.S. Experiment Station reported that the total rain for the month gauged at the station was 1.37 inches. The low rainfall record for the year has been held by January which had only 1.32 inches.

The total precipitation for 1968 now stands at 14.59. This is 4.13 inches above the normal rainfall for the first seven months of any year, as recorded in the 69 years that books have been kept.

Rains fell in the form of light showers to give July its 1.37 total. July 1 produced .16 inch; July 2 had .02; July 3 reported .20; July 8 had .04; July 15 had a trace; July 18 reported .06; July 19 showed .39, and July 20 provided the heaviest shower of the month — .59 inch.

There have been no rains since July 20 and the need is beginning to become acute.

July's hottest day was the 17th when it hit 100 degrees and the coolest readings were on July 1, 5 and 8 with 64 degrees.

The average for the month was 91, and the 53 year average is 95. Minimum average for July was 79, exactly the same as the 53 year average. The mean average for the month was three degrees under the long range average of 83.

The wind blew a little harder than the 50 year average. The July figure was 4.5 mph, compared with 4 mph for the half century normal.

Evaporation was 9.60 inches, which was 1.17 inches less than for the 53 year average.

SLAIN WHITE MAN RESEMBLES MARINE MISSING SINCE 1965

Strange Episode Of Enemy Failing To Shoot Back

PHU BAI Vietnam (AP) — For a moment the two young men, the American Marine and the white man in the uniform of the enemy stared at each other. Then the Marine fired. "I fired five to eight times and he went flying back," said Lance Cpl. Perry C. Gordon, 19, of Ballwin, Mo. "He fired two or three times as he was falling back into the stream, but I think it was just reflexes. "I had to change clips and when I looked again he was up on one knee trying to get out of the water. He cried 'Help me,' and started to yell again when I emptied all 20 rounds into him. He just collapsed." The violent episode July 15 was one of the strangest in this strange war. Gordon and eight other survivors of the 16-man Marine reconnaissance patrol in the foothills of Troy Mountain say the white man was the lookout for a squad of North Vietnamese soldiers. Five of the Marines who said they saw the white man were shown photographs of 200 American servicemen who have been reported missing in action. Four said the slain enemy resembled an American Marine who was 18 years old when he disappeared in 1965. A Marine investigation followed and found that the man killed by Gordon "probably" was the missing Marine. A spokesman for the 1st Marine Division said there would be no comment on the matter since it involves a person missing in action and no one found the bodies of the seven enemy soldiers the Marine patrol claimed it killed. Several of the Marines suspect that the unknown white man, whom they call "the Caucasian," could have shot first but deliberately held his fire. "He had time to shoot us, our weapons were down and we had to pick them up," said Lance Cpl. Jim Wilker, 20, of Waseca, Minn. "I don't know if he wanted to shoot us or us to shoot him." Gordon opened fire after moment of indecision. He was putting on his cartridge belt "when I looked and saw him 25 feet away. He was looking around like a pointman, and he looked right at me. "I thought he was one of our men who went down for water but he turned and another VC stepped out. Then the Caucasian turned back and I was sure that he'd shoot me. He had an AK47 Automatic rifle in his hand but he just looked at me. That was when I fired." Could the Caucasian have been a prisoner forced to serve as a decoy? The Marines don't think so. Cpl. Charles H. House, 26, of Glendora, Calif., the patrol leader, said, "He fired at least twice when he was hit." He added that the incident occurred four miles south of Phu Bai, considered to be a "rear area" for the enemy. Wilker said the man had sharp features and brown hair parted on the right. He was wearing a dark green North Vietnamese fatigue uniform with the trousers legs cut off above the knees. "He had a red sash across his chest and we think that was to identify him to keep the Viet Cong and NVA soldiers from shooting him as an American," Wilker said. After the firefight in which the Marines said they killed six other enemy soldiers, they were evacuated from the area by helicopter while fighter-bombers raked the jungle. The next day Gordon and House returned to search for the Caucasian's body, but they couldn't find the small stream where he had been shot. In its radio call back to the Phu Bai headquarters the patrol had not reported killing a Caucasian. "We didn't say at that time we thought we had killed an American. We were still stunned and I really couldn't believe it," said House.

Tons Of Aid Moved Into Stricken Areas

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Officials moved more than 60 tons of aid Saturday into the two areas hurt most severely by Mexico's worst earthquake in 11 years. Aftershocks rolled by at almost half hour intervals. A seismological station in Mexico City reported 25 tremors of varying intensity in slightly more than 24 hours but there were no new reports of injury or damage. The quake shortly after 8 a.m. Friday, which measured 7 on the 12 point Mercalli intensity scale, caused an official toll of three dead, at least 10 seriously injured and scores of minor injuries. But Mexico City was back to normal after one of its most turbulent weeks since the "tragic 10 days" of 1913 when thousands died in street fighting. Student disorders earlier in the week, including a riot in the heart of the capital within sight of the National Palace, caused at least one death and hundreds of injuries. The towns worst hit by the quake, strongest since 32 people died on July 28, 1957, were Pinotepa Nacional and Jamiltepec in Oaxaca. A spokesman at the seismological station said most of the aftershocks were centered in the same area although one had its epicenter about 16 miles from Mexico City. The strongest aftershock, at 11:07 a.m. Saturday, measured 5.3 on the Richter scale of magnitude. The station has not assigned a Richter magnitude figure to Friday's tremor but foreign stations said it was probably 7.5 at the epicenter 250 miles south-east of the capital. Several villages were damaged on the West Coast. Acapulco was not hurt. There was brief panic in Mexico City and many buildings were damaged, at least two of them seriously enough to be condemned. A mother, 23, and a man, 89, were killed in separate parts of Mexico City by falling debris. Gov. Rodolfo Brena Torres of Oaxaca said one person died in Pinotepa Nacional when a building fell. About 80 per cent of the structures in Pinotepa Nacional were damaged. The governor said about half the homes in this town and in Jamiltepec were damaged enough to be inhabitable. Longtime residents of the capital said the disorders and the earthquake made this past week perhaps Mexico City's most harrowing since Gen. Victoriano Huerta overthrew President Francisco Madero after 10 days of street fighting in February of 1913. An estimated 400 people, mostly civilians, died in the first day of the "Decena Trágica." It appeared the government ended last week's disorders with its show of force, displaying tanks, armored cars and battle ready troops, Thursday night. No trouble has been reported since then. Eight Big Spring teachers attended the Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading July 29-31 at Sul Ross State College in Alpine. The teachers from the Big Spring area who attended were Elfa Cantrell, Gladys Hardy, Mary Ingram, Geraldine Martin, Fay Newman, Ira Ratliff, Elizabeth Schattel, and Thelma Williams.

Cotton Hopes Pegged High

The Aug. 1 county-by-county High Plains crop estimate adds up to 1,534,000 bales for the 23 counties represented by Plains Cotton Grower, Inc., despite heavy losses to rain, wind and hail earlier in the year. Good "cotton weather" recently has done much to raise producer hopes. The estimate compiled jointly by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange and PCG, shows standing acreage as of Aug. 1 to be 1,549,000. A new estimate is made the first of each month from August through December. Last year, from Dec. 1 the area produced 1,187,472 running bales, as compared to the Dec. 1 estimate of 1,189,000 published by the LCE and PCG. Standing acreage, the Aug. 1 estimate of 1968 production and the number of bales produced in 1967 appear below for counties in this area:

County	Aug. 1 Standing Acreage	Aug. 1 Estimate For 1968	1967 Production

Court Docket Has 41 Gain

A 41 case gain in cases on file on the 118th District Court dockets was noted in July. The month began with 1,200 on file and terminated with 1,241. Two new annulment cases were filed and two were granted by the court to leave the number on hand at two unchanged. Other civil suits than divorce, personal injury and compensation, divorce and annulment climbed from 546 to 562. Twenty five new cases were filed and nine disposed of. Criminal cases began with 55, added 19, disposed of four to leave the total at 70. Tax suits were unchanged with 331 on file. The truck, driven by Vernon Leon Martin of Andrews, and the pickup, driven by Rodolfo Garcia Jimenez, 1201 W. 6th, were both going north, police said. Heavy damage was done in a two-car collision at West Third and Abrams about 8:17 p.m. Friday. Police On Horseback Break Up Demonstrators

NEW YORK (AP) — Police using horses and clubs broke up a group of about 150 antiwar demonstrators in front of a midtown Manhattan armory Saturday afternoon. Mounted police also were used to disperse protesters on the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral, about a mile from the armory. Both groups were originally part of a crowd of several thousand that attended a Times Square rally to protest the Vietnam war. After the Times Square rally, about 2,000 persons marched to the armory. Most of them picketed briefly, then left quietly. The 150 who remained refused to leave and mounted police moved in on the crowd. Soon afterward, while crowds of Saturday afternoon shoppers watched, police on horseback rode up the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral on Fifth Avenue, breaking up a group of demonstrators. About 20 persons were seized at the cathedral; about two dozen including demonstrators and counterdemonstrators were seized at Times Square and at the armory. The demonstration began early in the afternoon when several thousand persons converged on Times Square in three separate feeder marches. These were marked by shouting matches and a few scuffles between onlookers and the paraders, some of whom carried Viet Cong flags.

Fines Collected

Fifteen fines amounting to $240 were collected in Corporation Court since Wednesday. Nine traffic fines yielded $100, while two arrests for drunk netted $50 and $90 was collected from four miscellaneous charges.

Wallace Says Republicans' Sweat Not Due To The Heat

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Former Alabama Gov. George Wallace accepted Saturday the presidential nomination of one state convention of his American Independent Party which the leader of a dissident group said was run by the "Alabama Mafia." Wallace told a news conference that the dispute between the two groups of his supporters was not as serious as it appeared. He said party fights are nothing new, and described the campaign being run by Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy for the Democratic presidential nomination as "the biggest party fight in the history of the Democratic party." Wallace held the news conference after he was formally nominated for president by the convention recognized by the California secretary of state's office as the party's official state convention. The third party candidate said he and his aides will choose a vice presidential candidate after the Democratic National Convention late in August. "We're going to have a very good candidate," he said, adding that he was not at liberty to mention any names at this point. The office of the secretary of state recognizes the group Wallace addressed as the official convention because it has a majority of the delegate-nominees. Wallace lauded his supporters for gathering enough petition signatures to get his name on the California general election ballot and said the psychological effect had helped his party qualify in 38 other states so far. "We already have both national parties thinking about this movement," Wallace said. "One is meeting now in Miami Beach and they're sweating. And not because of the heat." The Republican National Convention opens Monday in Miami Beach.

DEATHS

Mrs. Anita Coleman, Found Dead
Mrs. Anita Coleman, 54, an out-patient for several years at Big Spring State Hospital, was found dead about noon Friday in her apartment at the rear of 1017 Johnson. Justice of the Peace Walter Grice ruled death was by suicide. He said an empty bottle of sleeping pills was found near the woman's body. Funeral services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. Grice said Mrs. Coleman's body was found by Dr. Frankie Williams of the state hospital, who was going to visit her, and two hospital attendants. According to Grice, Dr. Williams found a letter written by Mrs. Coleman in her mail box which had not been picked up. In the letter to a friend, Mrs. Coleman said she was despondent. Dr. Williams tried opening the door to the apartment, found it locked, and entered through a window. Grice and Deputy Linda Oldfield were summoned. It was estimated that Mrs. Coleman had been dead about 24 hours, since she was last seen Thursday by her landlady as she took the letter to the mail box.

Forsan Classes Begin Aug. 28

FORSAN — Calendar for the year's activities of the Forsan County Line Independent School District has been announced by Supt. Herb Smith. It calls for the start of school on Wednesday, Aug. 28.

There will be no pre-registration unless there are indications of an unusually large number of new pupils, but in that event this would be accomplished Aug. 26-27 when the in-service training session for teachers will be held, starting at 9 a.m.

Supt. Smith still is needing a high school and a junior high school math teacher and a sixth grade teacher, but he hopes to have prospects for these three spots soon.

The cafeteria will be open and the regular bus schedules will be run on Aug. 28. Labor Day, Sept. 2, will be observed as a school holiday.

The first six-week term ends Oct. 4; the second Nov. 15; mid-term Jan. 10; first six weeks of second half Feb. 21; second six weeks April 11; and finals May 23.

The Thanksgiving holidays are Nov. 28-29; Christmas Holidays Dec. 21, Jan. 1, inclusive; March 7 for Texas State Teacher Association District XVIII meeting; Easter holidays April 3-4-7, inclusive. Prior to each holiday, school will be dismissed at 2:30 p.m. the preceding day.

Those who get grades on nine-week periods will do so Oct. 25, Jan. 10, March 14 and May 23.

Baccalaureate will be at 8 p.m. May 18 in the school auditorium, and commencement at the same time May 23.

Budget Hearing Set At Forsan

FORSAN (SC) — The public hearing on the proposed budget of the Forsan Independent County Line School District has been set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 13, at the school building here. Copies of the budget are on file in the superintendent's office.

Old Sewage Plant May Be Used Again

Recirculation of city effluent through the old Hays treatment plant might be the key toward raising standards at the city sewage plant, according to Ernest Lillard, director of public works.

Effluent dumped out of the sewage plant currently is rated at a quality of 30 biological oxygen demand to 30 dissolved solvent. Running effluent through the Hays plant would probably bring the ratio down to 20-20, Lillard said.

Since the effluent percolates into the soil before it reaches Beal Creek, this would make the ratio of that sewage reaching the creek even lower, he said.

Effluent rated at 30-30 is suitable for reuse for industrial purposes and that with a 10-10 rating is suitable for drinking water, Lillard said.

"There are many places in the United States which take drinking water for their filter plants from rivers and streams which aren't as good quality as our present effluent," Lillard said.

The Hays plant, unused since completion of the new sewage plant under the 1950 Master Plan bond program, includes a huge digester and stands beside the new plant.

"Recirculating effluent from the new plant through the Hays plant would require only a minimal expenditure of funds — probably just connecting pipeline — since the two are so close," Lillard said.

Larry Crow, city manager, said he knew of no other city which used such a combination of sewage plants, "but the idea is probably not original with us — it's just a matter of being practical."

The plant is located on an 18-acre tract on the east edge of the city and was designed especially for Big Spring to furnish adequate sewage service for 32,500 persons, the projected population for 1975.

The $750,000, two-stage sewage plant is an automated plant run on water pressure costing the taxpayer 2½ cents of every dollar in the city budget.

Test samples are taken of raw sewage, influent and effluent, every two hours and then tests are run on composite samples to insure that standards set by state health department are met, according to Jones Lamar, superintendent.

Dear Abby

They Show Their License

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a married couple who have their marriage certificate framed and hanging in their living room? They have been married for eight years and have eight kids. (No twins.) A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: They probably want the world to know that they're not practicing without a license.

DEAR ABBY: An old acquaintance (a man) comes for coffee several times a week while my husband is working.

Since we have been married less than a year, I have mixed emotions. I really don't want to hurt his feelings since he is a former boyfriend, but I want to get rid of him.

I have talked to my minister, and he says there is nothing wrong with being open-minded, but I'm afraid my husband wouldn't like it if he knew. What do you suggest? MIXED EMOTIONS

DEAR MIXED: There is nothing wrong with being "open-minded" — as long as you aren't so open-minded that your brains fall out. TELL the old acquaintance that you would prefer that he discontinued the coffee-katches simply because you feel that your husband would not approve. And that should settle it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old, fairly good looking girl and I have a few questions. Why does my mother keep telling me that it is wrong for a girl to call up boys on the telephone? And why is it "not nice" for a girl to go to a boy's house unless she has been invited there for a party or something special?

My best girl friend calls up boys all the time and they seem to like it. And she's dropped in to visit them when she happens to be in the neighborhood. I've been with her when she's done it and I really don't see anything wrong in it. I wouldn't call a boy or go to his house uninvited without my girl friend because I haven't got the nerve.

Don't you think my mother is living in the past with her old-fashioned ideas? Most girls would never see a boy outside of school if she didn't go after him a little. LIKES BOYS

DEAR LIKES: Your mother is right. It is "not nice" to call boys and go to their homes uninvited. Boys like to have girls "run after them," but when a boy wants a special girl, he likes to do the running.

Listen to your mother, Honey.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pollsters Get Together

NEW YORK (AP) — George Gallup Jr. and Louis Harris are in agreement that this has been a year of the unexpected in politics. Chances are they also are in agreement that this has been a week of the unexpected in their public opinion polls.

Harris on Thursday found himself consulting his arch rival Gallup after the widely divergent presidential surveys caused an uproar in the Republican party.

"We were getting an enormous number of inquiries," Harris said, "and we decided to see if we could examine the data together and find any commonality. We did and felt we had to report it."

Asked if it wasn't unusual for the two to confer on findings, Gallup replied: "It is, actually."

Between July 19-21, the Gallup

Poll sent 300 interviewers into private homes in 321 sampling areas across the nation, where they asked: "Suppose the presidential election were being held today, if Richard Nixon were the Republican candidate and Hubert Humphrey were the Democratic candidate and George Wallace of Alabama were the candidate of a third party, which one would you like to see win?"

The question was repeated as between Nixon and Sen. Eugene McCarthy, and between Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Humphrey and McCarthy.

From July 26-29, the Harris poll did almost the same thing, wording the questions in similar terms.

A spokesman for Gallup said replies were obtained from 1,156 registered voters. Harris pollsters received 1,346 answers. The experts maintain that the scientific nature of the polling is such that, in Harris' words: "It doesn't matter if we use 3,000, 30,000, 300,000 or three million. A sample of 2,000 or 3,000 is as reliable as a sample many times that number."

Gallup has put it this way: Suppose you have two barrels of marbles, one with 5,000 white marbles and 5,000 black marbles, the other with 500,000 of each color. If you draw 10 marbles from either barrel, your chances of getting five black and five white are about the same.

On the basis of these July polls, Gallup on Monday gave Nixon 40 per cent of the vote to 38 per cent for Humphrey, and a slightly better ratio against McCarthy. Rockefeller ran even with Humphrey and only one point ahead of McCarthy. Consequently, the New York governor expressed himself as baffled by the Gallup findings. Rockefeller said: "It's so out of keeping with the trends that it's very hard to explain. But one Gallup doesn't make a race."

Then on Wednesday came the Harris poll—giving Rockefeller a 40-34 edge over Humphrey and the same over McCarthy. Nixon ran behind both Democrats.

The difference between the two polls represented a change of about 2.8 million votes in the 1964 presidential election.

The disparity was so striking that Harris called Gallup and suggested a joint effort, involving plotting their separate polls in sequence as though they had been conducted by a single organization.

Lumping their figures together, they then said in a statement Thursday that Rockefeller had moved into "an open lead" over Humphrey and McCarthy, while Nixon as the GOP nominee might find himself in "an extremely close race."

Gallup said his poll may have "caught a transitory peak" in Nixon's popularity as a result of former President Dwight Eisenhower's endorsement of Nixon on the day the Gallup interviewers went into the field.

"I have no absolutely solid evidence, but I am convinced that that was a major factor," Gallup declared. "Remember that Gen. Eisenhower is easily the most popular man in the world among Americans."

But would as many as 2.8 million voters change their minds in the 10 days between the beginning of the Gallup poll and the completion of the Harris survey? Not necessarily, it was contended, but if each poll was off slightly, that would account for the disparity.

"Normal sampling fluctuation can go as high as two or three points," said Gallup and Harris, "even with the use of modern probability sampling techniques."

The results of the polls will have to stand until the Republican convention makes its choice later this week. Neither Harris nor Gallup conducted any further pre-convention polls.

Third Dies Of Fire Injuries

FORT WORTH (AP) — S. C. Copeland, 40, Saturday became the third fatality of Wednesday's service station fire and explosion at Kennedale, a Fort Worth suburb.

Copeland, a Mansfield volunteer fireman, followed his fire chief, Harry Blissard, 40, in death.

Steve Pieringer, 28, a KRLL-TV newsman stationed in Fort Worth for the Dallas stations, also died.

All succumbed to burns. In all, 32 persons suffered injuries from the gigantic fireball which singed hair as much as a block away.

The disaster began, apparently when a spark set off a fire in spilled gasoline.

The fire spread in a few minutes to a large above-ground storage tank, resulting in the fiery explosion.

Most Texas Delegates For Nixon, Caucus Set

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Texas' 56 delegates to the National Republican Convention caucus Sunday afternoon for the first official showdown on Ronald Reagan's efforts to take the delegation away from Richard Nixon.

Nixon appeared likely to retain majority control of the delegation but a whirlwind drive the past two weeks by Reagan backers whittled down considerably the 3-to-1 lead Nixon once claimed.

Tentative plans for the California governor to appear before the Texas delegates, plus continued missionary work in Miami Beach, indicated the final delegation vote will not be known until announced on the convention floor Wednesday night.

"I'm tempted to stay home," said one disgruntled delegate, who after the two-week bombardment of telephone calls, telegrams, and mail realized he released the delegates, urging them to vote for Nixon, presented two of Nixon's position papers to the platform committee.

Headquarters for the Texas delegation is the Barcelona Hotel. In addition to special suites for Tower and state GOP headquarters, the Texas for Reagan organization, headed by J. R. Butler, an alternate delegate from Houston, will have headquarters in the Barcelona.

After the 3 p.m. Sunday caucus, the Texas delegation will attend a night reception for all delegates at the Fontainebleau Hotel, where national GOP headquarters is located.

The first general session Monday night will feature the keynote speech and other opening preliminaries. The Tuesday night session will be devoted to the platform.

Wednesday night, nominations for president will be made followed by vice president nominations and acceptances on Thursday night.

Most of the Texas delegates plan to return home Friday, Aug. 9.

Reagan supporters claimed they had at least 18 but would not list the names.

Texas' GOP officials are playing an important part in the 1968 national convention just as they did in 1964. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., who was a key official in the Goldwater drive, has been an important figure at the pre-convention platform hearings. Tower, who started as a favorite son candidate and then

Assailant Foiled By Quick Thinker

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A quick-thinking teenage girl used her wits Friday night to foil an assailant.

She stalled and said she would be embarrassed to undress in front of him but would submit if he got out of the car.

He did, disturbing and throwing his clothes in the car.

She jumped into the car and drove to police headquarters—with his clothes in the back seat.

plexion of Congress. It is so important that Rep. Burleson is giving up a commission chairmanship to take the place.

What seemed an impossible task a fortnight ago may become a reality in the appropriation of military construction funds that include Webb AFB. From January to July the two houses ground away and came up with authorizations, which must then be followed by actual appropriations. To do this in one session, short of emergencies, is unusual. Thursday, however, the Senate followed the House in voting the appropriations, including $2,796,000 for Webb.

COAHOMA (SC) — Mrs. Mary Cochran, of the Big Spring State Hospital, will speak on mental health at the Monday meeting of the Coahoma Lions Club. Meeting time is 6:30 p.m.

Speaking of funds, wage board employees at the air base are in for salary increases effective a week from today. While no figures were extended, these seem to average around 15 cents an hour and this would amount to a sizable piece of money within the year.

Csonka Is Named MVP In All-Star

CHICAGO (AP) — Larry Csonka, latest and greatest among Syracuse's legendary fullbacks, was an overwhelming choice Saturday as most valuable collegiate player in the All-Stars' begrudging 34-17 loss to the world pro champion Green Bay Packers. In the traditional press box poll after the 35th All-Star game at Soldier Field Friday night, balloting ran Csonka received a landslide vote of 61 ballots in 79 cast for the most valuable distinction. City Tournament Deadline At Hand

Today is last call for those linksters interested in competing in the annual City Golf Tournament at the Municipal golf course here. Players have until closing time this evening to qualify for the tourney which begins next Friday, according to club pro Charles Brantley. Entry fee is a modest $5 for the match play meet, which will be held in conjunction with a junior tournament. Entry fee in the junior event is also $5 per participant. As of late Saturday, 70 adults and 10 junior golfers had signed up for the tournament. Additional entries were anticipated, since many of the Country Club players were expected to register today. Pairings will be released by midweek and a large turnout is anticipated because of the small entry fee and the merchandise awards which will be made to winners, runners-up and consolation winners in each flight. Today is also the deadline for those shooting for medal honors. The medalist's prize will be a dozen golf balls. Among the medalists, Bob Waters had posted a 70 late Saturday, but other competitors in the division had yet to post their scores. In the junior tourney, age limits are 12 to 18 years, with only those 18-year-olds with high school eligibility remaining being allowed to compete in the junior division. Don Lovelady, the defending champion, will be on hand to try to claim his second crown in a row. Charles Bailey and Farris Hammond are co-chairmen of the tournament committee.

Dean Chance Stops Tigers Behind Twins

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Dean Chance tamed Detroit's American League leaders on four hits Saturday and got strong hitting support from Rich Reese and Ron Clark in pitching Minnesota to a 4-0 victory over the Tigers. Despite the loss, the Tigers remained six games ahead of the second place Baltimore Orioles, who bowed to New York 3-1. Chance permitted only one Detroit runner to reach third base in leveling his record at 18-10. It was his 10th complete game and fourth shutout. He struck out five of the first nine men he faced and finished with eight strikeouts. The Twins scored single runs in each of the first four innings to give Chance his working margin. Detroit starter Earl Wilson, tagged for six hits and three runs in three innings, took the loss and is 9-2.

Midlanders Host Polo Match Today

MIDLAND — After splitting two contests last month, the Midland Polo Club returns to the turf against the visiting Philippines Islands contingent here today in a rubber match at 6 p.m. In the first game, July 21, Midland emerged victorious by a score of 11-6, but the Philippines turned the trick in the game played July 23 — defeating the Midlanders, 9-4. In today's match, the Manila team is putting up a silver cup to be presented to the winners of this final match. Admission is $1 for adults; 50 cents for children, and those wishing to view the match may follow the signs north of Garfield Road in order to find the playing field. Representing the Philippines will be Joe de Leon, Vincente Warns, Ruben Lopez and Ruben Evans. For Midland, Gene Lintchum, Charlie Armstrong, Floyd Heinz and Willie E. Wilson will be the standard bearers. For additional information regarding the polo club's activities, interested persons should contact Mr. Lisle Nixon, club manager, at MU 2-3911 or MU 2-2994.

Fort Worth Site Of Racing Meet

Four Big Spring representatives will take to the waterways next Saturday and Sunday when the Starfish International Sailboat Races are held in Fort Worth. Ron Matik, Tom King, Bob Barker and Faye Deibler, all of Webb AFB, are the local racers entering the meet. Another Starfish racing meet is slated for Aug. 18 here at Moss Creek Lake. Six water racing enthusiasts entered a meet held at the lake recently, with Matik taking home top honors with 17 points. Doc Parker copped runner-up laurels with 14 points and Tom King's 12 points were good for third place, according to Ed Tyler, racing officer.

Mexico Can't Offer Many Topflighters

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Alchemists of the sports world are at work trying to turn dross into gold, but there is little hope they will achieve their goal with the Mexican Olympic team before the 1968 games. Mexico, like Japan in 1964, figures that as a host country it has little chance of distinguishing itself in competition, but it hopes to make up for this in its execution of the Games. TWO MEDALS The gold kept in Mexico after the Games will amount to two medals, according to organizing committee officials, and one according to sports writers, both estimating on the conservative side. With luck, five gold medals might remain in Mexico when the other countries' contingents depart. The alchemists are the coaches, many of them foreign to Mexico, who are trying to turn essentially poor material into 24 karat international class competition. It is not that the Mexicans totally lack the physical skills to compete internationally with regularity, but rather the resources. Another fact is that they are physically among the lightweights, which cuts down their chances of winning medals in boxing, wrestling, weightlifting and rowing, while their stature

Wisconsin Hoopla Packerland Set To Honor Vince

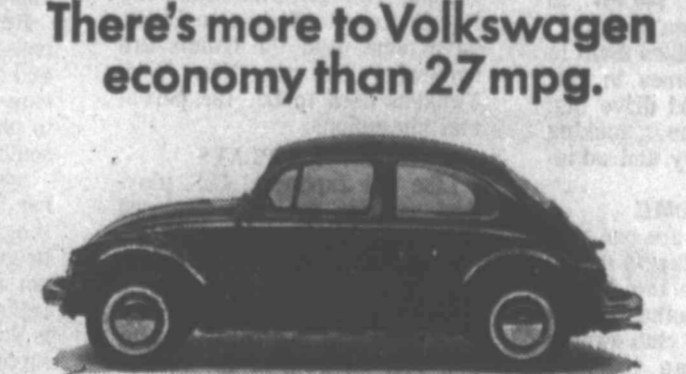

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin is generally known as the Dairy State. Warren P. Knowles is the governor. But here in Green Bay, home of the world champion football team, it's known as Packerland and Vince Lombardi is chairman of the board. Before Lombardi, in 1958, the Packers finished dead last with one victory and one tie to show for a 12-game season. FIVE TITLES In 1959, under The Man, the Packers finished 7-5 and Lombardi was unanimously voted coach of the year. Since then, the Packers have won National Football League championships in 1961, 1962, 1965, 1966 and 1967. Following last season's third consecutive NFL crown and the second straight Super Bowl championship, Lombardi turned over the coaching reins to assistant Phil Bengtson and announced that he would remain as general manager of the Packers. This Wednesday, Green Bay will present a "Salute to Vince Lombardi" that should, according to advance reports, rival a presidential inauguration. "The Day," as Green Bay residents call it, will begin with an invitation-only Mass at Resurrection Catholic Church. It will climax with "An Evening With Vince," a program featuring five bands, an elite choral group and 30 baton twirlers, among others. City officials, aided by some of the NFL hierarchy and other visiting dignitaries, will formally dedicate Lombardi Avenue. The Navy will bring one of its ships up the Fox River and dock near downtown Green Bay, while the Army and Air Force will set up displays complete with missiles and aircraft. Throughout the day, movie theaters here will have, free to the public, continuous showings of Packer highlight films. The entertainment portion of "An Evening With Vince" will be provided by names more familiar with sports fans than with subscribers to Variety: WILLIAMS TO SING Travis Williams, Packer running back, will sing his own version of "That's Life"; a trio of former "Packer greats"—Paul Hornung, Max McGee and Fred "Fuzzy" Thurston—has prepared a special rendition of an original song titled "Run to Daylight." Lombardi is generally known as a hard taskmaster, a no-nonsense man who finds pleasure in grinding his foe into the frozen turf of that little strip of tundra known as Lambeau Field. His rare smiles are recorded by area news media as local phenomena. Yet, there has never been an empty seat for a league game in Green Bay since he took over the coaching reins. Fans in Milwaukee camp on the sidewalk overnight in order to be one of the few that get tickets to games in the state's largest city. A newspaper cartoon showed a cook on the telephone ordering for the Lombardi Day box lunch. "You heard what I said," the caption read, "seven barley loaves and five small fishes."

Sam McDowell Staggered To 4-1 Win Over A's

CLEVELAND (AP) — Lou Johnson slashed a bases-loaded, two-run single and rookie Vicente Romo bailed Sam McDowell out of a seventh inning jam as Cleveland downed Oakland 4-1 Saturday. Johnson's fifth inning single was the only hit in a three-run Indians' rally against John "Blue Moon" Odom and followed a bases-loaded walk to Billy Harris that forced in the first run of the game. An error by Ted Kubiak and a wild pitch started the rally. McDowell, 12-9, gave up four hits, including a lead off homer to Dave Duncan in the sixth. He retired the first 13 men in a row until Mike Hershberger walked in the fifth. Duncan's hit was the first off McDowell and it was followed by an infield hit by Dick Green, Hershberger and Rick Monday singled in the seventh but Romo came on with one out and retired the side with men on first and second. Tony Horton tagged his ninth homer of the season in the sixth.

There's more to Volkswagen economy than 27 mpg.

It's only the beginning. Volkswagens take pints, not quarts, of oil changes. And average 40,000 miles to a set of tires. You can skip the expense of anti-freeze and broken water hoses, too. VWs are air-cooled. Then there's something you may not give much thought to right away. Depreciation. Give it some thought. VWs don't change every year like domestic cars. So you can sell a 2-year-old Volkswagen for more money than some domestic cars that cost more new. Even if you kept it as long as 5 years, you'd still sell it for more than you'd get for that domestic car. So anybody who tells you how much money VWs save you on gas isn't telling you the whole truth.

Lamesans Host Cards Today

Flying high as a result of their 9-4 conquest of the local Tigers a week ago, the Big Spring Cardinals journey to Lamesa this afternoon to play that city's Cardinals in a semi-pro baseball game. Game time is 2 p.m. With their 12-5 won-lost mark on the line, the Big Springers will go with either strongman Tom Ham or fireballer Jim Newman on the mound. Gary Don Newsom will hold down the catching chores. Others starting for the local nine include Felix Martinez at second, Jesse Zapata in center field, Pano Rodriguez at first, Tony Martinez at third and Bill Burchett at shortstop. R. J. Englert will defend left field and Abel Ramirez will be the big glove in right field. Charlie Rodriguez and Joe Martinez will be around for relief pitching, if necessary, with Mingo Rubio, Mage Duran, Benny Gomez, Jimmy Wilson and Coach Benny Marquez available for other duties. A week from today, the Big Spring team will fashion a double-header here—a four inning farce played by the regulars in ladies' attire, and a regular seven-inning game against the same Lamesa team, in Steer Park.

Mantle's Run Nudges O's

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle scored the deciding run on Boog Powell's throwing error in the third inning as the New York Yankees beat Baltimore 3-1 Saturday, ending the Orioles' winning string at four games. Powell's miscue, which climaxed a two-run New York rally, gave Mel Stottlemyre, 14-8, the victory in a tight pitching duel with the Orioles' Jim Hardin, 13-7. Bill Robinson stole home in the eighth inning giving the Yanks an insurance run. Stottlemyre scattered seven hits and blanked the Orioles after the first inning, when they scored on two walks, around a double by Curt Blefary and a force play at second.

Writer Says Rickey Doomed .300 Hitters

EDITOR'S NOTE: The only left-handed major league baseball pitcher to become a manager, Al Mallette, takes a look at the current decline of the .300 hitter and the rise of the untestable pitcher and comes up with a reason that may explain the current state of the major league pitcher. He puts the finger on Branch Rickey.

Yes, Rickey! In my view at least, the collapse of major league batting averages is a by-product of teaching techniques Rickey introduced into a game that was abysmally lacking in good teaching.

As Whitey Ford of the Yankees said recently, the paramount factor in the decline and fall of the .300 hitter—indeed all hitters—is the astonishing sophistication and poise of strong-armed young pitchers.

Time was when young pitchers had blazing fast balls and cracking curves but no acquaintance with the strike zone. Aging pitchers usually learned pinpoint control and that vital extra pitch as survival measures after time had lamed their arms.

Fees Played Fine Game

By TOMMY HART

The 5,000th person to register for the Texas Coaches Association Clinic at Fort Worth last week was Zay LeFevre, the one-time Big Spring athlete who is now coach at Tilden High School near San Antonio.

EMORY BELLARD

The story was rampant in Fort Worth immediately prior to the Thursday night all-star game that Ahilene Cooper's Jack Mildren would ignore a letter of intent he signed with the University of Oklahoma and attend TCU but Mildren wouldn't even dignify the rumor by discussing it.

Lamesa's Darrell Froman finished third in the balloting for the Baseball Coach of the Year honor voted by the Texas Sportswriters Association. Perhaps Froman should have led the ticket, in view of the fact that Lamesa didn't land a player on the all-state team, even though they went all the way to the state finals.

veloped a threat to a game he helped so much.

Knowledgeable beyond their years, today's young pitchers confidently use three, four, even five pitches. They throw breaking stuff on any count. Batters can't outguess them, or feast on the moderated fast ball down the pipe.

They can't wait for the walks so liberally dispensed by Bob Feller and other wild young fireballers in a bygone day. In baseball parlance, these precocious young pitchers simply won't give in to the hitter.

Writing in a national magazine recently, Ted Williams said, "Pitchers, as a breed, are dumb and hardheaded." Maybe so, but Rickey improved the breed dramatically, and we are now harvesting the full fruits of his teachings. Let me illustrate from personal experience.

GRAM COURSE

In 1947, after only two months of pitching professional baseball at Norfolk in the Class B Piedmont League, I went eagerly to spring training with the then all-commanding New York Yankees. The St. Petersburg camp, I fully expected, would offer a cram course in pitching wisdom.

Looking back, I now recognize the barrenness of that camp. True, we fielded bunts and covered first base and practiced pickoffs, but these were lessons already learned from a good high school coach.

The said fact is that there was no instruction in St. Petersburg, group or individual, on the nuances of pitching. In that camp, and I must assume it was like most other camps (this is no indictment of the Yankees as such), a rookie learned through osmosis or not at all.

In three ensuing seasons in the minors, mostly in Triple A leagues, I found the lack of detailed instruction equally appalling. Only later did I recognize the failure, in the dazzling contrast of a Rickey camp.

Three of my managers in those years, all former major leaguers, knew almost nothing about pitching, although entrusted with schooling young pitchers. In fairness, I must mention two knowledgeable exceptions, Bill Skiff at Newark and Del Baker at Sacramento.

Then in 1950, newly purchased by the Brooklyn Dodgers, I trained at Vero Beach. There the Rickey influence was a bright, blue flame.

Rickey, the thinker, had in effect broken pitching down to its components—speed of the ball, change of speed, control, rotation of the ball, the motion of the pitcher (menacing like Luis Tiant, or deceptive like Robin Roberts) and sequence of pitches. At the sprawling Vero Beach camp, every pitcher, from the Dodgers down to Class D rookies, was drilled in these elements.

Rotation: Sure, what else is a curve made of? What's more, poor rotation can kill the hop or dip in a fast ball—so managers and coaches checked rotation constantly.

LONG WORKOUTS

Change-up? Dodger pitchers practiced by the hour. Every coach in camp could teach the techniques. Nobody was assumed to know anything until he had been told repeatedly, often by Rickey himself in memorable evening orations.

As a result, all the pitchers, including the dumb and hard-headed ones mentioned by Ted Williams, thought about pitching. They talked about the effect of finger pressures on the rotation and how to set up hitters. They pitched through strings stretched between posts to outline the strike zone.

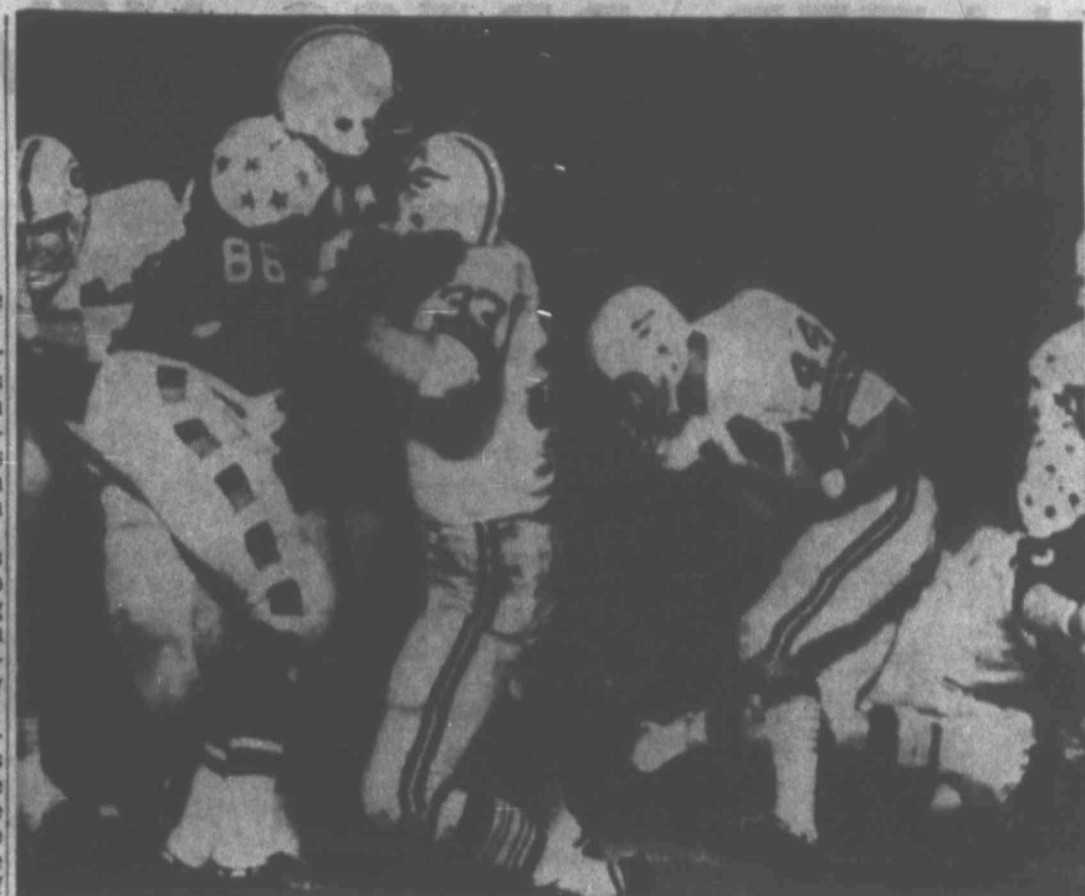

From Rickey's camps teachers spread through baseball. Gil Hodges and Rube Walker tutored the Mets' brilliant young pitchers. Walt Alston of the Dodgers and Larry Shepard of the Pirates have risen from obscure minor league assignments. The list is long. Vero Beach was the seedbed, Rickey, the planter.

Early teaching is vital. In 1946, there came to the Norfolk club in late season from a Class D club, a strong right-hander named Bob Porterfield. His fastball was superb. But he was quickly battered. Reason: He threw a mediocre curve with thumb off the ball and upraised like a signal flag.

With technique corrected, Porterfield became a big league star. The point is, he lost time. The upraised thumb would never have survived a Rickey camp. How many pitchers have stumbled along, untutored, for years?

Before Rickey, the best place to learn pitching was the Pacific Coast League, a refuge for aging players. What I learned there in 1940 among pitching graybeards I saw taught painstakingly to rookies at Vero Beach.

Today, many Little League coaches know as much pitching as some professional managers once knew. Result: A parade of major league shutouts.

Up The Middle

Don Anderson (44), Green Bay Packers' halfback, bursts through College All-Stars' line for five-yard gain in third quarter action in Friday night's College All-Star game in Chicago.

Blocking for Anderson is Jim Grabowski (33), while All-Stars' Fred Carr (86), of Texas-El Paso chases the ball carrier. Packers won, 34-17.

Net Hope Carefully Trained By Father

LONDON (AP) — After 11 years of planning and big spending, retired contractor Jack Warboys claims he is in sight of creating a world tennis champion.

He's putting all his money on his 14-year-old son, Stephen, to win Wimbledon in a few years' time.

What's more, British tennis circles are beginning to think there could be something in it.

Indignant

Go Chicago Go may be saying "Last one across the finish line is a rotten egg!" The three-year-old colt qualified for today's $106,344 Rainbow Derby at Ruidoso Downs and he seems to be daring anyone to outrun him. The well-bred son of Go Man Go is owned by R. V. Moore and C. W. Grant-ham of Grand Prairie and is trained by J. Paul Lomax.

Horse Could Lead Her Owner Around

NEW YORK (AP) — Wendell P. Rosso had better be careful or that pretty yearling filly he bought for a record $405,000 will be leading him around instead of vice versa.

Some horses may be dumb, but an equine filly of her royal blood certainly knows which side of her ears are buttered on—and by whom.

The tipoff came after the 56-year-old widower of Norfolk, Va., bought the daughter of Sea Bird-Libra at the Kenneland summer sales in Lexington, Ky., July 23.

Rosso cast a loving look at the half-sister of the stakes winners, Ribocco and Ribero, and said, "I don't have any family any more except that filly."

All Rosso's folly, which may become her name, has to do with Rosso affectionately and she will queen it over her master. There's something about running a satin-smooth nose of a thoroughbred that makes the heart beat faster and creates a bond of affection.

There was another example couple of years ago at Aqueduct. Owner Matt Murphy was enamored of his 6-year-old mare Barletta who did well in turf races.

Anyone who has fed a lump of sugar to the mounted policeman's horse knows the feeling.

There was the case a quarter of a century ago of the late William Helis, Sr., and Pericles Helis paid a then record $66,000 for Pericles, who never amounted to much on the race track.

Packers Rack Up All-Stars

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars didn't win Friday night against the Green Bay Packers but they managed to score both against the Packers and for the pro teams for whom they will play.

The final score in the 35th annual midsummer football classic was 34-17 in favor of Green Bay.

It was an unprecedented fifth straight loss for the All-Stars in the series but it left the prospecting their chops waiting for their new draft choices to arrive.

Starr completed touchdown passes of 20, 36 and 13 yards to Dale, and in between he used Dowler and Elijah Pitts as receivers in setting up Green Bay's scoring arsenal.

It also produced a chink in the Green Bay armor — you can run against the Packers.

Both All-Star touchdowns came in the second half on fourth-down plays and were passes to McCullough.

For the first time in three years an All-Star team dented the scoring column against the Packers.

Gary Behan of UCLA headed for the Washington Redskins, clicked to the Southern California speedster with a seven-yard strike in the third quarter.

Larry Csonka, the Syracuse All-American headed for the Miami Dolphins, turned out to be the game's leading round gainer while the passing duo of Grey Landry and Earl McCoullough, both headed for the Detroit Lions, proved itself ready for pro football.

Both All-Star touchdowns came in the second half on fourth-down plays and were passes to McCullough.

"You can't take a bunch of kids, no matter how good they are, and teach them pass defense in three weeks against Green Bay," said Coach Norm Van Brocklin.

"We got action out of the boys but couldn't get the execution," said Van Brocklin. "But we proved again that a team can run against the Packers."

The Stars, a 17-point underdog, proved it by gaining 225 yards rushing against the Packers with Csonka netting 95 yards in 18 carries for a 5.3 average.

Torch Reaches Site Of Games On Oct. 12

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The first Olympic flame to travel from Greece to the new world is to be lighted in Olimpia Aug. 25 to start a month and a half journey to Mexico City's Olympic Stadium.

On Oct. 12, Enriqueta Basilio, Mexico's best female runner and a member of this country's Olympic team, will trot into the stadium holding the symbolic flame aloft to open the Games of the 19th Olympiad.

SWIMMER IN ACT

In between those two points the flame will travel by runner, by ship and even by swimmer as Mexico's emphasis on its desire for peace and friendship with all peoples.

Only twice before have the Olympic Games been held in the Western Hemisphere—both times in the United States—and in each case the Olympic flame was lighted in the stadium rather than being brought from the birthplace of international athletic competition.

The cost to Mexico of the torch's journey has been conservatively estimated at $40,000. The actual cost will be higher but the expenses in Europe are to be borne by the National Olympic Committees of Greece, Italy and Spain.

Once the torch is lighted at the sport where the first recorded games were held in 776 B.C., it will start a journey over the same route taken by Christopher Columbus when he discovered the new world and, later, by Spanish Conquistador Hernan Cortes when he led his small band on the conquest of Mexico.

One of the most unique parts of the journey will be across Veracruz Harbor on the eastern coast of Mexico. Seventeen young Mexicans will swim across the harbor with one hand while holding the torch aloft with the other.

The Mexicans have even designed a pair of special boats with underwater cradles to protect each young man on his 50-meter swim in the shark-infested water.

DRESSED THE SAME

All runners, from Olimpia to Olympic Stadium, will be dressed in identical white uniforms. The uniform has a green band across the chest in which is depicted a white dove of peace.

At the waist is a red band with the "Mexico 68" slogan of the Games. On the left leg of the shorts each runner will wear a four-by-four inch flag, the only national identification, on the uniform.

From Olimpia the torch goes through the Greek cities of Pyrgos, Amalaga, Patras, Aigion, Xilokastro, Kition, Corinth, Megara and Eleusis before arriving at the Parthenon Aug. 24.

The next day it goes from Athens to the port of Pireo where it is to be put aboard a Greek naval ship destined for the Italian port of Genoa—the birth place of Columbus.

In Genoa Aug. 27, there will be a ceremony in the house where Columbus was born. On Aug. 28, the flame will be put aboard the Italian sailing ship Amerigo Vespucci—the same ship which carried the torch from Athens to Syracuse before the 1960 Games in Rome—destined for the Spanish port of Barcelona.

Bonallack After Double In Amateur Golf Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Bonallack of England, four times winner of the British Amateur, will try to score a double by winning the U.S. Amateur Aug. 28-31 at Columbus.

The U.S. Golf Association announced Saturday that the name of the 33-year-old veteran Walker Cup ace is included among the record 2,886 who have entered the National Amateur at the Scioto Country Club.

Only four men have won the British and American Amateur crowns in the same year. They were Englishman Harold Hilton, 1911; Bob Jones, 1930; Lawson Little Jr., 1934; and Bob Dickson last year. Dickson since has turned pro.

Bonallack is one of three players exempt for qualifying for a spot in the starting field. The others are Canadian Gary Cowan, the 1966 winner, and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W.Va., who was the last player to win at match play in 1965.

In 1965, the format was changed to 72-hole medal competition.

Bonallack is one of the world's leading amateurs. He has been a member of every British Walker Cup team since 1957 and every Eisenhower Trophy team since 1960. He won the British Amateur in 1961, 1965 and this year.

A record 2,083 players will attempt to win spots in the amateur field in 36-hole sectional qualifying tests at 37 centers Aug. 8, 12 and 13. In the championship proper, 150 will tee off at Scioto Wednesday, Aug. 28.

Hoad, Anderson May Enter Meet

FORT WORTH (AP) — The 7th Colonial National Invitation Tennis Tournament is expanding its field to include Australian's Mal Anderson and possibly Lew Hoad.

Tournament chairman Dick Osburn said Anderson has accepted an invitation to play in the Aug. 15-18 event.

"There is also a very good possibility that Lew Hoad, one of the outstanding stars of the past decade, will be able to make the tournament," he added.

Bernard "Tut" Bartzten, Colonial's resident pro, may also enter the $20,000 tournament, bringing the men's field to nine. It includes Wimbledon champion Rod Laver.

Also on hand will be Roy Emerson, Ken Rosewall, Andres Gimenez, Fred Stolle and Pancho Gonzalez.

The women's field includes top-ranked Billie Jean King, another Wimbledon titlist, Ann Haydon Jones, Françoise Durr and Rosemary Casals.

Entry Deadline Monday For Annual Junior Rodeo

By TEX ROGERS

The last minute scramble by contestants to get on the entry books for the 23rd Annual Howard County Junior Rodeo, slated Thursday, Friday and Saturday, will end at the 3 p.m. deadline Monday.

Some 200 contestants are expected to be entered Monday when the books close at the Howard County Agricultural Agent's office.

The rodeo, sanctioned by American Junior Rodeo Association, will kick off with a parade at 4 p.m. Thursday through downtown Big Spring. The Howard County Sheriff's Posse and Howard County Junior Horseman Club will head the parade and several other riding clubs are expected to be on hand.

Performances will be held at 8 p.m. each day at the Big Spring Rodeo Bowl on US 80 west, and tickets will be $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Sponsored by the Howard County 4-H Club, the rodeo will feature good bucking stock from Black Rodeo Producers of Marfa, said James Shelton, assistant county agent, who has been in charge of the show arrangements.

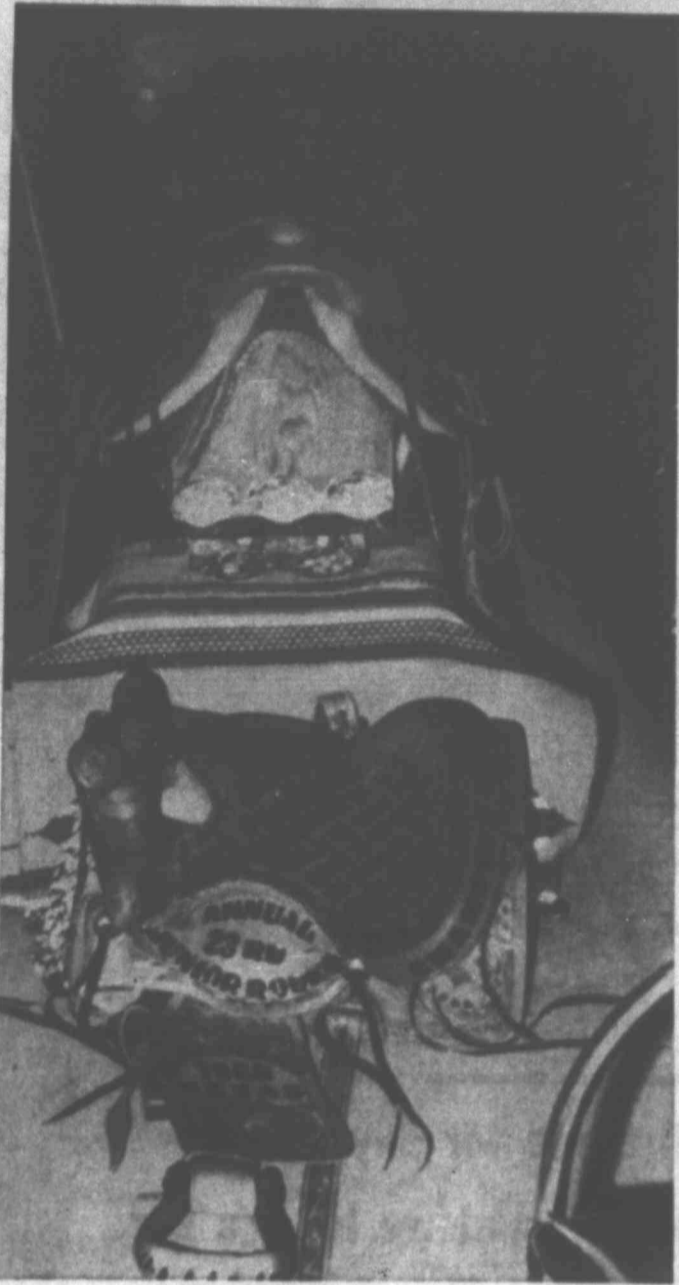

Events will be held for boys and girls with three age groups in each division. Girls in all age groups, 12 years and under, 13-15 years, and 16-19, will vie in breakaway roping, barrel racing and pole bending.

Boys competition for 12 years and under include calf roping, pole bending and ribbon roping, while 13-15 year-old-boys may enter calf roping, ribbon roping, pole bending and bull riding. Boys from 16-19 may compete in calf roping, ribbon roping, bareback riding and bull riding.

There also will be a wild steer race and goat sacking contest.

Prizes for the show will be better than ever this year as two championship saddles and a trophy buckle for the winner of each event go on the line.

For the first time a championship saddle will be given to both the all-around cowboy

Top Rodeo Prizes

These two saddles will be awarded to the all-around cowboy and all-around cowgirl who each score the most points in two or more events at the Howard County Junior Rodeo scheduled for this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Rodeo Bowl. The saddles and trophy buckles for winners of each event are on display at Ward's Boot and Saddle Shop.

and all-around cowgirl. The top girl and boy will be decided by the highest number of points scored in two or more events. The saddles are being given by Ward's Boot and Saddle Shop.

More Pressure Ordered Against Steel Firms

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson ordered the government's civilian arm Saturday to join the Pentagon in boosting purchases from price-boosting steel companies.

Still more federal pressure may be applied if the administration can find additional ways to do it.

At the Texas White House, press secretary George Christian told reporters:

"We're looking for every possible way to protect the taxpayers on this."

But at the time he spoke, there was no sign any steel firms were heading a presidential plea to roll back price increases in which eight of the 10 largest producers have joined.

In Washington, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., asked the Federal Trade Commission to investigate the steel-price boosts to determine whether they are economically justified.

Hart noted that steel costs play a significant part in the price of automobiles.

Earlier, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., had called for a federal investigation of the price boosts, calling them unjustified.

The President, Christian said, conferred at the LBJ ranch during the morning with Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford and Joseph A. Califano Jr. of the White House staff on the steel situation.

The upshot was a go-ahead to Lawson Knott, General Services administrator, to civilian agencies to "take extraordinary precautions to assure that all direct and indirect procurements by your agency, including any grants in aid of steel and steel products, be made at the lowest possible prices."

Knott's order apparently was the "additional action" Johnson had predicted Friday in the steel situation.

It will have the same effect on civilian buying as a Clifford order had for the military on Thursday. And it will have an even greater impact on the steel industry.

Civilian departments buy about 5.2 million tons of steel and steel products a year at a cost of nearly $700 million. Most of this, 4.5 million tons, is concentrated in five agencies—the Departments of Transportation, Housing and Urban Development and Health, Education and Welfare, plus the Agency for International Development and Knott's GSA.

The Defense Department buys about 3.7 million tons costing about $600 million.

Christian told reporters Johnson has received some response to a telegram appealing to steel producers to cancel price hikes but that "there have been no flat statements."

Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, head of the Nigerian federal government, has refused to go to the Addis Ababa talks.

Opukwu, 34, declared the Biafran sector of Eastern Nigeria independent on May 30, 1967. The action precipitated a bloody civil war after the Nigerians claimed the secession was an attempt to usurp crude oil holdings in the East.

In 14 months three Nigerian divisions have steadily pushed the Biafrans into an area one-third the size of their original claim. Hundreds of thousands of Biafran war refugees are reported starving in the landlocked territory blockaded by federal troops.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Recruiting of college graduates moderated in 1967-68, according to Mrs. Gladys S. Bishop, acting placement director at Texas A&M University.

She reported two per cent fewer job offers were made to bachelor degree graduates. Beginning salaries, while higher, did not match the 1966-67 percentage increase, Mrs. Bishop said.

Data on college graduate recruiting was compiled by the College Placement Council's Salary Survey.

Three Charged In Assault, Victim Wounded In Leg

Three Latin American men were charged with assault with intent to murder early Saturday morning after a shooting that sent Daniel Rios, 605 Lancaster, to a local hospital with a bullet wound.

Charged in the shooting were Bobby Torres, 21, 507 NW 11th; Elano Chavez, 24, 605 NW 9th; and Tony Torres. Bobby Torres and Chavez were released on $2,000 bond after being charged with assault with intent to murder in Jess Slaughter's Justice of the Peace court. Tony Torres, also charged, was still in city jail in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Officers said the shooting took place about 2:47 a.m. Saturday at the Deep Rock service station on North Lamesa Drive.

Rios had gone around the back of his station wagon, which was parked on the south side of the station, when three persons across the street began shooting, police said.

Rios was hit by a .22 caliber bullet in the left leg just below the knee and was taken to Cowper Hospital, officers said. The station wagon had 14-15 bullet holes in it, police said, but four men in the auto were not hit. They were Gilbert Ramirez, 608 NW 3rd; Benito Diaz, 700 NW 7th; Martin Diaz, 700 NW 7th; and Tito Vasquez, 711 NW 6th.

Police issued warrants for the trio and they were arrested in the 800 block of North Aylford. Officers took custody of a .22 caliber six-shot revolver and six .22 caliber bullets. The serial number of the gun had been filed off, police said.

In other police activity, an air cleaner was taken from a 1968 auto owned by James R. Roger, 1300 Blackmon, as it was parked at the Bowl-A-Rama Lanes, on US 80 east.

Vandalism was reported Friday night at two houses at 504 N. Benton, which were owned by Mrs. Slater James, 105 Presidio. Wiring was taken from one of the houses, police said.

A woman's diamond ring, valued at $100, was taken from a car owned by Van Lewis, Big Spring, as it was parked at Robertson Body Shop, 805 E. 2nd St., officers said.

Nigerian Peace Talks To Get Started Monday

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Biafran leader Lt. Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu said Saturday he has ordered his troops to cease fire "as a gesture of sincerity" during the Nigerian-Biafran peace talks scheduled to begin Monday in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

The bearded commander said he would lead the Biafran delegation in a quest for "an honorable and just settlement."

Nigerian leaders assailed his promise of a cease-fire as a "propaganda move."

"How can a losing side call a cease-fire?" snapped Brig. Hassan Usman Katsina, the Nigerian army chief of staff.

The Addis Ababa talks are being held under the auspices of the Organization of African Unity. The Nigerian delegation will be led by Chief Anthony Enahoro,

History Repeats In Texas Court

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — History has repeated itself in a Wichita Falls courtroom.

In 1947, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Warren adopted a son.

In 1968, that son adopted a son.

Judge Temple Shell of the 78th District Court presided both times. The judge said he recalled the first adoption hearing — 21 years ago — and was happy to approve the second adoption petition.

Style Trends Evident In Designer Collections

MAD HATTERS GO MASCULINE this year in their search for a different way to adorn milady's head. At left is a beige taupe helmet by Marie-Christiane, and at right, is shown a hat in white felt, featuring a clip on the chin strap, from the collection of Jean Barthe.

THIS SKETCH FROM PARIS shows the mink coat Louis Feraud displayed in his autumn-winter collection. It has a set-in plaque of gunmetal plastic that emphasizes the military air.

FASHIONABLE FOOTING LOOKS considerably more substantial in the view from Europe. Saint Laurent selected these three shoes from Roger Vivier to present his fall collection in Paris. From left, are brocade opera pumps with white stripes, patent leather pumps accented with a metal ring and brown alligator mini-boots trimmed with a golden chain.

THE FIRST LONG DRESS shown in the fall and winter collections in Paris was from Courreges. The dress is created of white organdy with pink petals for a young look.

THE MOST IN THE LEAST is this far-out frack by Paris designer Ungaro. It has a stained steel halter breastplate with a chastity belt of the same steel atop a brief skirtlet. Costume is topped by a fingertip circular vinyl cape decorated in self-vinyl raised white roses.

THIS OUTERSPACE STYLE dress of grey plastic with huge metallic buckle and tight boots is a creation of Parisian fashion designer Paco Rabanne. "Isa" modeled the presentation in the French fashion capital last week.

DARINGLY DIFFERENT IS THIS creation by Jules Francois Crahay from the Janne Lanvin collection in Paris. The sketch shows a metallic, lame jacket, cut like a shirt, over black chiffon harem pants which are slit to the thigh.

BIG SPRING HERALD - SEC. C

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, AUGUST 4, 1968

Casualty Yours

By JO BRIGHT

During a decade when the public has come to expect so little in the way of entertainment from "Hollywood," apparently wiser heads have prevailed in the East. New York seems to be producing a different breed of movie-makers — bright young people who begin with talent but continue to polish the product they sell — until it's worth putting on the market. Look closely, and among the mediocre, sometimes you'll see of their perfect little gems.

The film makers are bringing a bit of fun to the local area as they prepare for the "Midnight Cowboy" shooting, and townspeople are joining in the spirit of the thing by signing up as "extras." From all reports, Michael Childers, John Lloyd, Randy Carver and all the other advance men are delightful, courteous people who will surely bring out our reputation for hospitality.

One of the ranch homes which will be made available for the group to tour is that of Mrs. Horace Garrett. She and the girls, Sue and Anne, returned Tuesday night from two weeks in Hawaii. They stayed at the Kahala Hilton, near Diamond Head, this time, as Dorothy said, "to unstring." Col. and Mrs. C. W. Head, ex-Webbites, helped show them areas of the islands they hadn't seen before, and it turned out to be a beautiful trip. (Anne is getting ready for classes at SMU this fall.)

Other travelers are Mr. and Mrs. Alva Perch who have returned from a tour of France, Germany and Austria. They visited their son and daughter-in-law, Sgt. and Mrs. Paul Perch and daughters, Michelle and Leslie, in Frankfurt.

Back in the corral, too, are Mrs. H. H. Thames and Mrs. Cleo Byers who are back from Branson and Rockaway Beach, Mo., where they visited Mrs. Byers' daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Melton, who operate a business at the resort. Since returning, Mrs. Thames has had guests, her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mymern, both school teachers in Richardson.

Mrs. Rip Smith hasn't had much to be happy about lately, and she's still confined to a wheelchair with that broken hip, so the shop is doing the best it can without her. Things are a bit brighter today, though, for her son and daughter-in-law, Col. and Mrs. William J. Roberts of Fort Lewis, Wash., are here to cheer her up. Col. Roberts will transfer soon to Fort Bliss at El Paso. Speaking of El Paso, George Raneich, president of Fortuna Corporation, and Dick Alwan, new publicity director at Sunland Park have mailed out a great little stakes book and press guide this year. There will be 94 racing days, the longest season ever, as the track inaugurates night racing. Local players are already making their plans, and as always, a number of locally-owned horses will be competing.

A cute little "hatching egg" card let the staff here know that the Michael Ngents are parents of a son, Michael Jr., born in Orange. Young Mike's mother is the former Becky Stark, and his great-grandfather was the late Luther Stark, well-known Texas philanthropist.

The George McAlister family is back from a tour of Europe and will leave Aug. 11 for Tall Pine Lodge at Red River, N.M., where they will be joined by the Joe Prieess, the Harold Davises, the Paul Meeks and the Harold McAlisters. Just for fun.

MRS. DARRELL DOUGLAS MORGAN

(Curley's Studio)

Wedding Ceremony Held Friday Evening

Miss Sandra Diane Brooks became the bride of Darrell Douglas Morgan Friday evening in the College Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jesse F. Brooks, Coahoma, and the late Mr. Brooks. The bridegroom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Noel D. Morgan, 1011 Main, and Rev. Morgan officiated for the ceremony.

The couple exchanged vows before an altar graced with baskets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and palms of emerald fern. The setting was illuminated by cathedral tapers in seven-branched candelabra.

Mrs. George A. White, sister of the bridegroom, was organist. She accompanied Mrs. Ray Walker as she sang "The Twelfth of Never," "My Cup Runneth Over With Love" and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt on a white satin prie-dieu.

Rodney Brooks gave his sister in marriage. She was attired in an A-line gown of white bridal satin designed with Empire bodice and long, tapered sleeves forming petal points. The skirt and chapel-length train were appliqued with white lace roses highlighted with tiny pearl beads. She carried a formal cascade bouquet of white miniature carnations centered with an orchid tied with bridal lace. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a cabbage rose outlined with seed pearls.

Miss Iva Jo Brooks, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jackie Cauble and Miss Betty Morgan, sister of the bridegroom. They chose identical A-line dresses of yellow bonded crepe designed with rolled collar and trimmed in white daisies. They wore headpieces of yellow roses with brief veils and carried colonial bouquets of white daisies tied with avocado satin.

Roger Terry was best man. Groomsmen were Randy Morgan, brother of the bridegroom, and Jimmy Anderson. Ushers were Jim Davis, Simon Terrazas, Bobby Baker and Donnie Reagan.

FLOWER GIRL
Penni Anderson was flower girl. She wore a white crepe dress accented with yellow daisies on the sleeves and hemline.

Reagan Brooks was ring bearer. Altar tapers were lighted by Marty Brooks, brother of the bride; and Tab Morgan, brother of the bridegroom.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M. For traveling, the bride chose a three-piece yellow knit suit with black accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. The couple will be at home at Varsity Village Apartments in Lubbock.

The bride is a graduate of Coahoma High School and attended Howard County Junior College. The bridegroom graduated from Big Spring Senior High School and attended Howard County Junior College. He will attend Texas Technological College this fall.

RECEPTION
A reception was held in the fellowship hall. Mrs. Jimmy Anderson, sister of the bride, presided at the guest register. Others in the house party were Mrs. Rodney Brooks, Mrs. Mark Wheeler, Mrs. Jimmy Taylor, Mrs. Ray Echols, Mrs. Jack Cauble, Mrs. Wade Choate, Mrs. J. L. Baugh, Mrs. J. W. Broughton, Mrs. C. C. Wolf, Mrs. E. E. Lowe, Mrs. Jerrold Walker, Mrs. Carroll Walker and Mrs. Johnnie Walker.

The bride's table was laid with white floor-length net over a white cloth. The centerpiece was an arrangement of white stock, white roses and yellow tea roses. The five-tiered white cake was topped with a miniature bride couple, and crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

The bridegroom's table was overlaid with an olive green burlap cloth. Chocolate cake was served, and silver and china appointments were used. Out-of-town guests were from Del City, Okla.; Pampa, Abilene, Odessa, Midland, Colorado City and Hillsboro.

REHEARSAL DINNER
The bridal couple was honored with a rehearsal dinner Thursday evening at the Spanish Inn hosted by the bridegroom's parents. The couple presented gifts to their attendants, and approximately 35 attended.

Long Jacket Takes Fashion Honors
The long jacket, short skirt adds up to a great look for young summer dressing. Sample: A long shirt-styled jacket paired with a dirndl skirt in a houndstooth cotton tweed in black, brown and white with white collar and yellow pussy cat bow.

Officers Wives Club 'Rides' On Carousel

Officers Wives Club members and their guests were invited to "Come for a ride on the carousel" as the merry-go-round theme was used at Thursday's monthly luncheon in the Officers Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base.

The ballroom was turned into a carousel with cardboard animals on candy-stripe poles; miniature merry-go-rounds accented the tables and spiraled streamers and balloons were suspended from the ceiling. On the head table, a small replica of a circus caravan featured caged "animal crackers."

Hostesses were wives of Class 69-C with Mrs. Mary Ann Coll as general chairman. Her committee chairmen were Mrs. Bruce Bickhaus, program; Mrs. Robert Waldren, Reynolds decorations; Mrs. Robert Downs, food; Mrs. David Marshall, prizes; and Mrs. LaVerne Rude, treasurer.

Mrs. James C. White, OWC president, extended the welcome and introduced Mrs. William C. McGlothlin, wife of the wing commander; and Mrs. Chandler B. Estes, wife of the base commander. Mrs. White announced that her husband has received overseas orders and she will soon be leaving Webb. In September, Mrs. James Malone will assume the presidency.

Mrs. Michael Rega, second vice president, introduced the guests, Mrs. Margie Baker, Mrs. Ollie Layman, Mrs. Joe Blum, Mrs. Thomas Wolf, Janell Botner, and Mrs. Kathy Custer.

In making announcements of future activities, Mrs. Rega stressed the International Tasting Bee which the club will sponsor the evening of Aug. 10. The social hour will begin at 6 p.m., and the buffet will be served from 7 until 9 p.m. The charge will be $3 per couple, $2 single and $1.50 for associate members.

Other announcements were: Mah Jongg, 1 p.m., Aug. 12; bridge, 1 p.m., Aug. 15; Hi and Bye coffee, 10 a.m., Aug. 22; All Day Mah Jongg, 9:30 a.m., Aug. 26; and All Day Bridge, 9:30 a.m., Aug. 29.

Bowlers were invited to join the group which will be organized on Aug. 28, and riding lessons were announced for Sept. 9 through Oct. 28. It was noted that ceramic classes are taught each Wednesday (at a charge of $1 per lesson) by Mrs. Joyce Cootes. A plea was made for Girl Scout troop leaders, and those interested were asked to call Mrs. Margaret Mason at 263-6900. A Scouting meeting is slated at 9 a.m., Aug. 14.

The program was a showing of fall and winter fashions from Theima's Dress Shop with Mrs. Steve Baker as commentator. Models were Mrs. Bickhaus, Mrs. Dave Marshall, Mrs. John Hoffman, Mrs. Richard Schoessler, Mrs. David Crowther, Mrs. Wayne Warden, Mrs. Roy Crabb, Mrs. Rupe, Mrs. Tom Lager, Mrs. Waldren, Mrs. Clarence Uptegraph, Mrs. Louis Landry and Mrs. Winston Schmidt. Background music was by Audra Kapsaroff at the piano.

The fashions ranged from kicky, plaid mix-and-match costumes for sport and leisure to rich velvet gowns for formal wear. The emergence of the tailored suit as high fashion was emphasized as well as the influence of the Far East in simple lines and rich fabrics for after-dark fashions. The Spanish look was evident in a "toreador" suit of black knit, and this year's feminine look was held over from another season in touches of frothy lace and ruffles.

Prizes were won by Mrs. McGlothlin, Mrs. Mary Whitney and Mrs. Karen Hall.

Evening Fashions Lavishly Designed

Evening outfits from the French haute couture collections include: Priest's coat in black alpaca under which is worn long pants and a very transparent chiffon blouse; toreador outfits with a bolero jacket embroidered with jet and braid and worn over evening pants with wide straight legs or mid-calf length skirt. Both are from the Yves Saint Laurent collection.

Paste Tiny Flower On Knee For Fun

Why not copy the English in their summer leg manners!

Since it is sure that the mini-length continued, all the British style seekers are creating summer fashion ideas for that long space between the hem and the shoes... the latest trick being a tiny flower (like a daisy) glued to the knee or ankle with eyelash glue.

It works as well on skin or hose and is a sure attention getter. London, '68.

Guide to Glamour

Valtai Reeves

Perhaps the most damaging superstition prevalent in America today is that youth is worthless. We fight off reality as if there were really something we could do to resist time. Along with this is the infatuation with the idea of eternal youth, many women believe that they stop living at forty. Nothing could be further from the truth. They've lived only approximately half their lives. Live sensibly in the present if you've passed the forty mark. Don't long for a young youth that seems nostalgically far more attractive than it actually was. Don't fret about the morrow. Tomorrow will take care of itself. If you take care of yourself... Today. Financing arranged on approved credit.

Readying For Roll At Republican Parley

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI BEACH (AP) — The New England accent of a Vermont woman lawyer-legislator will sound the rollcall of the states when the 1968 Republican National Convention nominates its presidential candidate this week.

Making her debut as national secretary, Consueto Northrup Bailey of South Burlington, Vt., whose ancestors settled in Vermont in 1790, says she isn't a bit worried.

"I've made speeches at Republican meetings in every state of the union and conducted jury trials for 40 years—so, naturally don't get butterflies in my stomach," she said in a pre-convention interview.

A 68-year-old widow who practices law and runs a dairy farm, Mrs. Bailey has been a GOP national committeewoman since 1936. The first woman ever elected lieutenant governor of a state, she served as presiding officer of the Vermont Senate and as speaker of its House.

If it portends anything, the woman who calls the roll of states at the convention says she is a Nixon fan—"I always have been."

Mrs. Bailey is one of a group of women who have prominent roles—from holding the purse strings to handling out hospitality—at this 29th GOP national convention.

The money—a budget of more than $650,000—is in the hands of GOP Treasurer Mrs. J. Willard

Mrs. W. Baxter Johnson, Crowell; Mrs. Claude Alphin, Corpus Christi; Mrs. H. P. Mundy, Shamrock; Mrs. C. N. Williford, Fairfield and Mrs. Frank Fulk, Fort Stockton. Trustee-at-large is Mrs. Cecil Cabaniss, Austin. Chairman of the board for this administration is Mrs. Howard B. Bratton.

Mrs. Shaper will meet with each group. The executive committee is scheduled for 10 a.m., the district presidents at 1 p.m., and the district trustees at 4 p.m., allowing ample time for planning and discussions. On Thursday they will attend HemisFair-Texas Federation Day.

Credit Club Sets Region Meeting

Mrs. R. L. Nail announced the Women's Credit Clubs-International regional meeting will be held Sept. 21-22 in San Antonio at Thursday's meeting of the Big Spring Credit Women - International at Hotel Settles.

A discussion was held on the possibility of placing credit courses in the ninth grade curriculum at Big Spring Senior High School.

Fourteen attended. The next meeting will be Aug. 15 when Truett Thomas, business manager at Cowper Clinic and Hospital, will speak on hospital credit.

Capt. and Mrs. Clinton Stoneham were honored at a progressive dinner Saturday evening given by H. Flight. The party began in the home of Capt. and Mrs. R. G. Piland, then went to the home of Maj. and Mrs. G. O. Smith, with the final course being served at the home of 1st Lt. and Mrs. Michael L. Leinen. The Stonehams were presented with a gift of silver.

Visiting 2nd Lt. and Mrs. Ronald S. Rosson were her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bandfield and her father, Bob L. Cunningham of Tulsa, Okla.

The wives of H Class held its monthly coffee at the home of Mrs. William Perez the afternoon of July 25.

Visiting 2nd Lt. and Mrs. Russell Sweets is Miss Kathy Sweets of Allen Park, Mich. Sunday evening a watermelon party was held for teenagers at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Those volunteers helping were Mrs. Eugene N. Bellevue, Mrs. John L. O'Donnell, Mrs. Ronnie O. Bouldin, Mrs. David M. Bittenbinder, Mrs. Robert Cleaver, and Dr. and Mrs. Larry McLain. Afterwards, the group celebrated the birthdays of the teenagers which occurred in the past few months, and small gifts were presented.

Last Friday the members and wives of Class 69-H were feted to a barbecue by the Lions Club held at the City Park.

Returning from Lenora, Kan., are Capt. and Mrs. Robert G. Morgan who visited relatives and traveled to Pioneer Village in Minden, Neb.

Second Lt. and Mrs. Sam Bayliss of Reese AFB visited 2nd Lt. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Francis last weekend.

Visiting 2nd Lt. and Mrs. Clayton L. Coston were 2nd Lt. and Mrs. Tinker Heckman from Houston who were on their way to Williams AFB, Ariz.

First Lt. and Mrs. Bobby D. Taylor and 1st Lt. and Mrs. Robert J. Hall went camping and sailing at Possum Kingdom last weekend.

Capt. and Mrs. Roger J. Hegstrom entertained C Flight for dinner Saturday evening in their home.

Pollard Chevrolet hosted Class 69-G to a picnic at Lake J. B. Thomas Saturday. Second Lt. and Mrs. Benjamin L. Andrus had her brother, Randall Tarbell of Fort Worth, visiting last weekend.

Marriott, a District of Columbia national committeewoman and political and family friend of Michigan Gov. George Romney.

Mrs. Marriott wrote checks at the 1964 convention, too, and is not without some personal financial experience. She kept books and wrote checks when the Marriotts launched the first of a now multimillion dollar chain of restaurants.

The hospitality—including welcoming bouquets, free orange juice, sightseeing tours, fashion shows and bags of Florida's citrus fruits—is in charge of the national committeewoman from Florida, Mrs. Helene Morris of Sarasota.

The vice president of a family-owned steel firm in Evansville, Ind., she's credited with helping to rebuild Republican strength after she came to live in Florida in 1946.

Miss Josephine L. Good, native of Denver and resident of Washington, D.C., is the first woman to fill the role of a convention executive director.

With three trunks and six boxes of records, she arrived in Miami Beach July 15 to take charge of convention preparations as she has since 1960. She came up the ranks from business to secretary on Capitol Hill in 1946 and administrative assistant to Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield in 1953.

In 1956, Chairman Leonard Hall recruited her as assistant to longtime GOP convention executive director William J. Donald. When he died in 1958, Jo Good moved in as his successor, and she has held it ever since.

While women are prominent in the convention organization, they don't pack much punch in the decision-making.

Out of 1,333 voting delegates, only 224 are women. Not one woman heads a state delegation.

Since 1964, convention rules have required one man and one woman from each state on each of the four major convention committees—platform, credentials, rules and organization.

Some 15 states will lose representation on these committees this year because they don't have four women delegates. New Hampshire, for example, doesn't have a single woman on its eight-member delegation and Nebraska, with 16 delegates, has just one woman.

The convention won't have the excitement of any woman candidate like the entry of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine into the balloting for the presidential nomination in 1964.

Mrs. Smith, the first woman placed in nomination for the presidency at a major party convention, won't be at the Aug. 5-9 sessions. She is scheduled to undergo surgery in New York to correct an arthritic condition in her left leg.

Only a few women are scheduled to speak during the four-day convalescence. These include: Mrs. Mary Brooks, assistant national chairman who is in charge of women's activities for the GOP National Committee and the convention.

Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell of Long Beach, Calif., president of the half-million member National Federation of Republican Women.

MRS. LYNN ARTHUR MAXWELL

Nuptial Vows Unite Couple

Double ring nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Penny Carole Stacy and Lynn Arthur Maxwell Saturday evening in the Church of Christ at Crystal City.

El Wachtel, minister, officiated as the couple stood before an arch entwined with ivy and flanked with spiral candelabra holding cathedral tapers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Stacy, Crystal City, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Maxwell of Ackerly.

Recorded wedding music was by Harding College a cappella choir.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white peau de soie designed with bateau neckline and petal point sleeves. Re-embroidered Alencon lace motifs enhanced the Empire bodice and hemline of the princess sheath, and a chapel-length train was accented with matching lace motifs. Her headpiece was a caplet of lace roses, embroidered with seed pearls, holding a waist-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with cymbidium orchids.

Miss Phyllis Wolfe of Snyder was maid of honor, and Miss Patsy Kirk of Crystal City was bridesmaid. They wore matching formal gowns of green dotted swiss and Dior bows and carried nosegays of pink roses.

Sam Tarbet of Ackerly was best man, and Kynn Maxwell of Ackerly served as groomsman. Ushers were Bryan Stacy, brother of the bride, and Billy Parsons.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Mexico. For traveling, the bride chose a chocolate brown dress with brown patent accessories, and the corsage from her bouquet. The couple will be at home at 517 N. Comanche, San Marcos.

SCHOOLS
The bride is a graduate of Crystal City High School and attended Lubbock Christian College. The bridegroom graduated from Sands High School and attended Lubbock Christian College, where he played on the varsity basketball team.

A reception was held in the church parsonage. The refreshment table was laid with a pale pink cloth and centered with an arrangement of green roses with silver and green leaves. Crystal and silver appointments were used, and the three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Miss Becky Ash presided at the guest register. Others in the house party were Miss Glenda King, Brownfield; Mrs. Janet Durbow, Miss Kelley Stacy and Miss Tracy Harvey.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Maxwell and Mrs. Ila Mae Dunning, all of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Arlen White, Ackerly; Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Heathington, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Little, Mr. and Mrs. Arvis Grogan, all of Muleshoe; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Williams, Spur; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harvey, Oklahoma City; and Mr. and Mrs. Will Stacy, Lubbock.

Shellac Shelves To Protect Wood

Shelves are always needed. If you put up a new one, coat the wood immediately with a thin coat of fresh, clear shellac. That will keep dirt from working into the wood. Later you can decide on a final finish.

MRS. ROB ETHRIDGE of Coahoma left last Tuesday by plane for Houston to attend a two-week Vocational Office Education workshop. Mr. Ethridge and their daughter, ROBIN, will join her this week, and after the workshop they will take in Astroworld and go to Galveston.

Back from a visit to Houston — the Astrodome, Astroworld, etc., are Mr. and Mrs. JOHN BALCH.

CHAPLAIN and MRS. DON CAUBLE and son, KY LANE, and WALTER HOLLOMON of Abilene were here last weekend to take in the Old Settlers reunion at the city park. They had a fine visit with his family, the J. P. CAUBLE's, and with BUSTER CAUBLE and MRS. DOROTHY PETTY. Chaplain and Mrs. Cauble were en route home after a vacation trip to Arizona, Colorado and New Mexico.

CAPT. and MRS. JERRY OSGOOD and family will be visiting with her family at Jackson, Tenn., for the next fortnight. There's a certain cabin on the river above Jackson which promises to claim their attention, and the

Guild Hears Talk About Christianity

The Rev. Herman Valadares gave a talk on the "Cursillo Movement," a short course in Christianity, at the Friday meeting of St. Anne's Guild of Webb Air Force Base. He discussed the possibility of starting a Cursillo Movement in this area.

Mrs. M. J. Took presided and welcomed Mrs. H. J. Hopper as a new member. An invitation was read from St. Anne's Guild at Reese Air Force Base in Lubbock to attend a joint meeting Oct. 4. Transportation and baby sitting services will be provided.

Mrs. Donald Couvillion will represent the local group at a chaplain's breakfast, Aug. 11, honoring new students and their wives.

Mrs. Took was recognized for her services to the guild. She and her husband will leave Webb AFB for St. Louis, Mo., following his retirement in September.

Mass was conducted by Rev. Valadares, who also led prayer. Refreshments were served.

Try Rainbow Style With Eye Makeup

Eyes will glimmer with color, too, with sometimes as many as three shades applied on the lids. But this rainbow design can be so beautifully blended that the effect is amazingly soft and subtle.

An example would be soft brown under the brow, pearl below that and blue on the lid. Brows will be feathery, stroked slightly upward. Eyelashes will be more important than ever before as an essential ingredient in creating the beautiful face.

Pausing here long enough to call a few friends last week was JIMMY HALE, who lived here when his father, JAMES O. HALE, was the Scout executive for the Lone Star District. Jimmy is in the Marines and has the flying bug on the side. His parents still live in Daisetta, Liberty County, where his father has been mayor for many years.

$4 1/2 MILLION IN WORK FOR THIS COUNTY

Five Road Projects Push Ahead

By SAM BLACKBURN

Four and a half million dollars worth of state and federal road building is now under way in Howard County. Some of the projects are well along — one practically finished — and others are just getting under way.

Joe Smoot, resident engineer for the state highway department, said that there are five projects involved in the $4,500,000 construction now being pushed ahead.

FAMILIAR

Most familiar to residents of Big Spring is the FM 700 rebuilding job, which is transforming the west leg of FM 700 into a four-lane highway and changing its route at the extreme western end. This $1,225,000 project, under way since March 15, 1967, is now about 70 per cent finished.

"There is no reason," said Smoot, "why the contractor can't have this job finished by late October or early November."

Jarbet and Company of San Antonio is contractor for the FM 700 project.

Meantime, work has started on a $1,355,000 rebuilding program on SH 350. Border Construction Co., Monahans, is the contractor. The job calls for widening bridges — particularly at Wild Horse Creek — grade changes, construction of climbing lanes on hills and paving shoulders on 13 miles of the road in this county.

The same contractor has the task of rebuilding FM 820, from SH 350 south to Coahoma. This eight-mile road, built originally by the county and turned over to the state as a farm-to-market road, is to be rebuilt completely. Smoot said that the road is in bad repair due to heavy wear and will have to be generally reconstructed. Included in the program is building curb and gutter in Coahoma for one mile from IS 20 to the city limits on FM 820. Work on this job is moving ahead and was begun late in June.

Strain Bros., San Angelo, is winding up a $651,000 job on 10 miles of IS 20 from the city limits of Big Spring to the Martin County line. This called for retopping both lanes of the highway with heavy layers of hot mix. This job will be completed in a few more days, Smoot said.

Meantime, on the east end of IS 20, Cecil Ruby of Austin has the $1,192,000 contract for the same treatment for 16 miles of road. Here, as in the Strain contract, the mileage of road involved is actually twice the distance. This is because the job calls for treatment of both segments of the highway. The Ruby contract is for 16 miles from east of Big Spring to the Mitchell County line. The project is about one-third finished.

Another important safety project to make the roads safer for motorists has been started on IS 20. A $92,000 contract has been awarded to Tommy Moore and Co. to replace all of the standards holding official signs on IS 20 across Howard County with the new approved "break-away" design.

These new standards are so built that when a careening motor vehicle crashes into the poles, they snap off at the ground and topple forward. The present standards are sturdy and when struck by a car, usually survive while the car takes the brunt of the damage.

The first steps of this job have been taken. New concrete bases into which the safety standards will be placed are being prepared.

1969 PROJECT

No other 1969 jobs are planned, but in early 1969 the state will award contract to rebuild the east end of FM 700 from Goliad Street to IS 20 into a four-lane road. The state has already set aside $1,010,000 for this job. It will be started where the present four-lane system begins at Goliad Street and go east and north. The plans call for a new two-lane road to match the present road. There will be no medians such as are being built on the west leg. No service roads are contemplated for this project.

Right of way will pose no problem since it was acquired at the time FM 700 was first built several years ago.

Clothing Need For Three So They Can Attend School

Got any used clothing for children which you are willing to give to a needy family to help the children of that family go to school this fall?

If so contact Mrs. Ruby Phillips or her secretary.

The story is a common, but nevertheless tragic, one.

The father of the family has deserted his wife — soon to have her sixth child — and his five children.

Three of the kids are school age and whether they can attend school will depend on whether they can muster enough clothing to get them by.

Mrs. Phillips, county welfare officer, has sounded an appeal for help. She needs useable clothing for a little girl, who is eight years old and wears size 10. She also needs clothing for another little girl, 7, who wears size 6, and for a 5-year-old boy, who wears size 5.

These youngsters, according to the welfare office, need "everything from shoes to hats."

The mother is unable to work and even if she was offered a job, she has two other little daughters, aged 4 and 3, who require her attention.

Mrs. Phillips' office said that the father abandoned the family about six weeks ago and his present whereabouts are unknown. Charges of non-support and desertion have been filed and the man is being sought.

The mother is 28.

Mrs. Phillips' office said that anyone who has clothing which could be used by the family will do her office a favor by bringing it to the courthouse.

If there is no way to get the garments to the courthouse, a phone call to the Welfare Office, 263-7191, should be made. The office will arrange for someone to call for the clothing.

The family is receiving food from the county welfare surplus commodity program.

A Devotional For The Day

The Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul. (Genesis 2:7)

PRAYER: Creator God, keep us ever mindful of who we are, whose we are, and of the tremendous capacities with which Thou hast endowed us. "Thou hast made us for Thyself and we are restless until we rest in Thee." Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

We Need Defensive Driving

We have just experienced a week in which there were two traffic fatalities — one within the city limits, the other on IS 20. Coupled with these is a record of more than two dozen crashes, several of which sent people to hospitals with injuries of varying degrees.

The deaths are lamentable and nothing can turn back this tide. But surely there is something that we can do to turn back the increasingly greater number of crashes within the city.

Police can crack down on speeding, but this will make only a drop in the bucket. The ultimate answer must come from individual drivers. Invariably it takes two objects to make a collision, and usually this means two drivers at the wheel. And usually at least one or perhaps both are at fault in some measure.

The National Safety Council and others have laid great emphasis upon "defensive driving." Perhaps we need to stress this again and again and again in our own city. It is not enough to be in the right; it is better to exercise precautions and be un-dented and uninjured.

Courtesy, care and caution will work wonders — and it may save other lives.

Good Show Coming Up

Coming up Thursday, Friday and Saturday is the annual Junior Rodeo sponsored by the Howard County 4-H Association.

Because a large part of the funds which enable our boys and girls to compete in distant stock shows (in which they have developed a habit of winning top prizes), the show merits your support at the gate. Your ticket purchase helps boys and girls, and it may help bring favorable publicity to our community.

Be that as it may, the only reason you need for going to one or all the three shows is that it will be refreshing and exciting. The young hands may lack the polish and precision of the old pros, but they will give it everything they have — the old college try with measure to spare.

It's refreshing; it's action-packed; it's exciting.

Last-Minute Work Of Lobbyists

WASHINGTON — Congress is playing the oldest of the old politics in its last gasp. In the frenetic, steamy, emotional windup days the lobbyists for the big-spending blocs get in their licks.

The champions in this play-off are the truckers and the highway lobbyists. They have succeeded in pushing through a bill that will work great harm on the road network and in the cities where a precedent has been set for dictation by Congress in chopping through freeways regardless of human considerations. Conservationists and city planners are dismayed at what they see as the tyranny of the motorcar and his hold through interlocking interests on a major segment of the economy.

THANKS TO aggressive investigative reporting, it has been shown that the truckers made generous "contributions" to key members of the House Public Works Committee. By the kind of specious "compromise" characteristic of these last-minute raids the bill ready for final passage and the President's signature provides an additional 1,500 miles to the federal highway system. Parceled out among the states, this is the bait to draw support from every region.

BY ANOTHER sham "compromise" the effort to eliminate billboards from the federal highways is all but ruled out. In a gesture that seems almost contemptuous, $2,000,000 is provided for the entire 50 states to compensate billboard owners where the state may require a billboard taken down. But there can be no such requirement unless federal funds are available for compensation.

BY DICTATING where freeways shall pass through the city of Washington a precedent is set that can be applied, as the powerful Public Works Committee sees fit, to other cities. One of the sources of deep hostility in the ghettos of America is the way in which these concrete rivers with their incessant flow of traffic displace slum dwellings, with little or no provision for the families thrown onto the street by the bulldozer.

WHERE THE POWER of the Billy Graham

Please explain why you say that we can be sure of eternal life, when in Job 24:22 it says: "No man is sure of life."

B.C. Job, of course, is speaking of temporal life. He is not speaking of everlasting life here at all. However, a great lesson can be taken from his text. If no man can be sure of temporal life, then we should not set our affections upon things here on earth. Jesus said, "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth." The Apostle Paul said: "This is not our resting place." Life may slip from our grasp in a moment.

Another lesson we can learn is to make the most of life while it lasts. The Bible indicates that we are to be up and doing. The night may shut down in the twinkling of an eye. The Bible admonishes that we are to redeem the time.

However, concerning eternal life, the Bible says in I John 5:13: "These things are written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God that ye may know that ye have eternal life." All the way through, the Bible indicates that you can be absolutely certain of your everlasting home.

What Others Say

There is danger to the state, to society, and to the churches themselves, in any breaching of the historic American "wall of separation" between church and state. This is certainly so where public funds are to be voted.

The defeat by the voters of New York State of a proposed new state constitution, with its proviso making more permissive the use of public funds to aid church-related schools, does much to retain the "wall of separation."

Where the "wall of separation" is not explicitly set forth, public money has been voted for textbooks, transportation, medical services, free lunches, poverty programs. An argument can be made — and is repeatedly made — that public assistance should be extended, in the case of church-related schools, where the aid benefits the pupil rather than the school, where a social welfare rather than an educational-religious purpose is foremost. "Why deprive the children?" it is asked.

But there is a larger good involved here. The public schools are available to all children, regardless of race or creed. The peril lies first in introducing and encouraging religious rivalries for public funds. And secondly in undercutting the public school system which is a cornerstone of the American democratic system.

Where parents choose to send their children to private or parochial schools, this is a voluntary decision on their part. They cannot expect the public's tax money to be expended to help maintain and foster particular religions.

Vigilance along the "wall of separation" is constantly necessary.

Wage-Price Spiral Goes Up And Up

PASS IT ALONG

- Labor costs rise $1 billion over three-year period
- Major steel companies promptly pass it on to consumer
- President assails hike, call it inflationary
- Cost of living rise accelerates; up 25 pct. in decade
- Foreign trade on deficit side again in June
- Construction static, automobile change-over coming up

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel was the big word in business the past week with a billion-dollar labor contract agreement, an immediate price increase and a denunciation by President Johnson.

The 11 major steel companies and the United Steelworkers of America wrapped up the contract on Tuesday, a little more than 24 hours before a strike deadline.

The 450,000 steelworkers will get increases in wages and fringe benefits amounting to 90 cents to $1 an hour—about 6.5 per cent a year—over three years.

FAT PACKAGE
The union estimated it will mean $1 billion to the workers.

On Wednesday, U.S. Steel Corp., the biggest producer, announced a price increase for can-making steel. Quickly, second-ranked Bethlehem Steel Corp. followed with a five per cent general increase.

On Friday, U.S. Steel announced additional $7-a-ton price hikes for structural shapes, H piles and plates.

President Johnson deplored the Bethlehem action as "unreasonable" and said it "just shouldn't be permitted to stand."

Republic Steel, Pittsburgh Steel, Inland Steel and Phoenix Steel went along with price boosts of varying sweep.

Johnson, in his news conference remarks, said, "Inflation in steel is inflation for the nation."

Indications were that higher steel prices—based on experience after previous rises—would be passed on to consumers at the retail level if the increase becomes general.

LIVING COSTS SOARS
On the inflation front, the Labor Department reported the cost of living rose in June at an annual rate of six per cent, well above recent advances of four per cent.

The consumer price index advanced last month 0.5 per cent to a record 120.9 per cent of the 1957-59 average. That means it costs $12.09 to buy items that cost $10 in 1957-59.

The Commerce Department said the United States suffered another foreign trade deficit in June. The gap of $87.2 million was considerably deeper than the $32.2 million deficit in May and in sharp contrast to the more normal $350 million surplus in June, 1967. It was the third deficit in four months.

Other business statistics that came out this week showed: Domestic machine tool orders rose in June to $127.3 million from $115.8 million in May but were down from $139.3 million in June, 1967.

Orders for manufactured products in June totaled $49.4 billion, virtually unchanged from May but up from $47.6 billion in June, 1967.

BUILDING STATIC
Contracts for new construction totaled about $5.6 billion in June, less than one per cent higher than a year earlier.

With many automobile plants closed for changeover to 1969 models, production the past week fell to an estimated 39,500 passenger cars from 102,562 last week but was 75 per cent ahead of the 22,622 assembled a year earlier.

During June, output totaled 604,221 cars, compared with 590,344 in June, 1967.

Steel production last week declined 2.3 per cent to 2,561,000 tons from 2,621,000 tons the previous week. It was the fifth consecutive weekly decline.

Getting A Suntan While Staying Home

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I work in an office six days a week, which leaves little time to get any sunshine. I have purchased a sun lamp. Do I need suntan lotion while under the lamp? My skin is a little on the dry side.

O.G.
For heaven's sake, I didn't know anybody but doctors and moonlighters still worked six days a week any more.

No, you don't need suntan lotion if you use the sun lamp properly. People don't need lotion under the sun, either, if they go at the tanning process properly, meaning short exposures (15 to 20 minutes — under a lamp much less than that even) the first few times, until the skin develops protection.

But suntanning has become such a status symbol, or obsession, or whatever it is, that people are in a frightful rush to get fashionably brown.

So — they go out in the hot sun, spend all afternoon, perhaps, and too often cook themselves into a sunburn, which not only is painful and harmful, but doesn't accomplish much tanning.

You don't tan by burning; you tan by having enough exposure so that ultraviolet rays penetrate the skin and bring about a denser color which represents a protection of the skin against the sun.

Anyway, the burn-in-a-hurry addicts can benefit by tanning lotions if they are the "sunscreen" type — that is, contain chemicals which actually screen out some of the ultraviolet.

Other lotions merely dye the skin. Still others can contribute a chemical action which encourages actual tanning instead of dyeing.

Of all of them, I certainly regard the sun-screen lotions highly, since they are genuinely protective — within limits. You can still burn through them if you stay out too long.

But to return to the sun lamp: If you expect to get out in the sun on the seventh day, by all means work up some protection (tan) by spending a few minutes on each of the other six evenings under the lamp. Read the directions — and follow them. Don't stay under the lamp until the skin turns pink. By then you've already had much too much exposure, and burning has started.

Too many people, it seems still do not realize that it is not necessary to burn in order to get a tan. In fact, tanning is best accomplished by avoiding any burning at all. And the only way is to take the sun (or lamp) in small doses at first.

While I'm in favor of getting a fair amount of sun (not to mention fresh air, exercise, and recreation) I'm vigorously opposed to the fetish of getting the deepest suntan possible. It isn't healthful.

Whether it is from too much time under the sun or under the sun lamp, too much exposure makes the skin leathery and disposed to unwelcome changes years later — skin cancer, keratosis, and the like.

So I plead, somewhat pessimistically, for a more reasonable attitude toward tan.

Dear Dr. Molner: I heard that sage honey will get rid of cataracts. Would it do any harm to try it on an eye that sees only light and dark? — W.R.C.
Sounds pretty messy to me. I don't know that it could do any harm but it certainly won't do any good. Why not do the sensible thing (which doubtless your doctor has already advised) and have the cataract removed?

Dear Dr. Molner: I have arthritis in the spine. I am 55. A doctor gave me a cortisone injection which helped me a lot, but someone told me it can affect my heart. — A.J.
Judicious use of cortisone derivatives can be very helpful and will not harm you.

Arthritis sufferers CAN be helped. Dr. Molner's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as outlining effective treatments and medications.

The Ticket Needs A Magic Name

Just how far out would you like to go in getting involved with this midsummer madness called political conventions? Why don't we go this far?

The phone rang and a brisk secretarial voice wanted to know if this were "Mr. Whistler." Before I could enter a disclaimer, she said the vice president wanted to talk to me. At that moment here came Hubert's booming voice.

"Mr. Whistler?"

"Well, er, not exactly —" I said. But Hubert went on.

"I thought you might be interested in taking the vice presidential nomination. You know, the ticket needs a magic name, and we didn't get a Kennedy. I was thinking the name Whistler would be good; after all, everybody knows his mother — you get it? Ha, Ha, Ha!"

"And ha, ha, ha to you, Mr. Humphrey," I said. "But the name here is not the same. However, let me suggest that if you do select a Whistler, the abstract art people are not going along with you, and there seems to be a lot of that breed."

"You could be right. But we need the magic name."

"Well," I said, "We have a mayor here named Marshall. How about him?"

"Marshall, Marshall, what's the connection?"

"Oh, surely, Mr. Vice President, you would recall the great John Marshall, historically one of the outstanding of all our Supreme Court chief justices."

"Oh — but I feel we had better leave the Supreme Court out of this campaign, you know the feeling."

"Yes sir, but then we have a county judge named Porter."

"I don't follow you on that one either, Mr. Whistler, — er — Whistler."

"Just think, Mr. Humphrey, of the prestigious Washington law firm of Arnold, Fortas and Porter."

The vice president got a little huffy. "Of course we can't bring THEM into it."

"I suppose not," I said. "I was just trying to help with a magic name. Say, do you suppose you could find a fellow with a hyphenated handle, say like Barrow-Parker? Then you could play up the Bonnie and Clyde bit throughout your campaign. You have to admit that's been a popular pair."

Now the vice president was really impatient.

"Don't you understand we have got to stop crime in the street? We cannot possibly use a name with any such connotation."

"I'm sorry, Mr. Humphrey; I was just trying to help; and if you're down to a Whistler, it's obvious you need help. About the only other kind of name that comes to me immediately is one like Elvis Presley. He's had film exposure."

HH asked, "Are you putting me on? He can't match Reagan."

"Then," I suggested, "why not try one of the Roosevelt boys?"

And with that he slammed down his receiver.

The Big City Vote Is Critical

WASHINGTON — "Who can win?" This is the question that the delegates to a political convention keep asking themselves. That's why the latest Gallup Poll showing Nixon in the lead nationwide has thrilled his supporters, and perhaps already has influenced many of the delegates who were wavering. The Rockefeller adherents, however, insist that the New York governor would be more likely to carry the states with the big cities than Nixon would. Thus the debate continues, with no way of really solving the guessing game until the test has come in November.

THE CONTENTION of Rockefeller himself has been that the states with a large number of electoral votes are more apt to go to him than to Nixon, and that the vote in the industrial states of the North and the West will be crucial.

Political realists know that the electoral vote of these states is often swung by the heavy vote obtained in the cities. The outcome, therefore, rests on what's going to happen in the large centers of population rather than what will happen in the small towns and farm areas.

UP TO NOW, a determined effort has been made by politicians in both parties to curry favor with the Negro voters concentrated in the big cities. What is not known, however, is just how the white population feels about racial problems. The average person, either white or colored, doesn't like to talk openly about what his preference is. This is substantiated by the large number of voters who call themselves "independents" or tell the pollsters that they are "undecided."

MANY REPUBLICANS, irrespective of whom they are supporting, feel that the white vote in many cities will be cast overwhelmingly against the Democratic party because of dissatisfaction with its handling of riots and disturbances.

Probably the biggest surprise in the November election will be the large defection inside the big cities away from the Democratic party. The national administration has sought to give the impression that it is not responsible in any way for what the states and cities have done or failed to do to maintain order, but the tendency of the voters is to blame the party in power anyway when things go wrong.

SO TO FIND an answer to the question "who will win?" there must first be a more intimate knowledge of what is going on in the major cities of the country. The amount of discontent may be big enough to swing into the Republican column many of the large states which have for years been counted on by the Democrats.

Such a shift in the votes in the big cities is an inevitable result of the rioting and disorder, particularly in the last two years. Many of the white voters feel that a desire not to alienate the Negro vote has caused the administration to be more tolerant and their consequences than should have been the case.

CERTAINLY THERE is voter dissatisfaction in the cities across the country because of a variety of grievances. It may be assumed that Nixon's rise as well as Wallace's surprising amount of support even outside the South has been due primarily to the reaction of white voters in all parts of the nation.

A Question Of Russian Royalties

MOSCOW — The Russians do not have to pay royalties on Western works since they have never signed the copyright convention. But if a writer from the West shows up they will offer to pay him in rubles.

For the past six years the Soviets have been using my column, and I was told I had thousands of rubles waiting for me. The ruble is valued at $1.11.

My first temptation was to take the rubles and buy caviar with them. But then I saw a vision of J. Edgar Hoover shaking his head angrily and saying, "don't do it, Arthur. You'll become a paid agent of the Communist Party."

I BROKE into a cold sweat. How could I turn down the rubles without offending the publications that had been stealing my stuff?

I waited for the vision of J. Edgar Hoover to appear again. He came to me a day later, just as I was taking a photograph of the Kremlin palace. "Not the palace, stupid," he said furiously. "Take a picture of the bridge."

"Yes, sir," I said. "By the way, J. Edgar, about those royalties. If I don't accept them the Soviets are going to get terribly hurt, as well as suspicious. I don't want to blot my notebook with the FBI, but at the same time I don't want the Communists to think I've got that much contempt for money."

AN AGONIZED LOOK came over Hoover's vision. "You may have a point. I'll get back to you."

The following day I was in the Pushkin Museum stazing at a lovely nude by Renoir. Suddenly the face of the nude was replaced by Hoover's. When my tourist guide wasn't looking, Hoover whispered, "You know you're being followed, don't you?"

"Of course, I know it," I said. "I'm being followed by a vice president from the national bank of Kieve. He keeps trying to shove that satchel of rubles in my hands. I can't think of a good reason not to take them."

"ARTHUR," HE SAID, "you must be strong. Once you take those rubles you will be in their power and they will use you like they used Klaus Fuchs and Philby."

"I know that," I cried, "but if I refuse the money, they'll think someone else is paying me to write those articles. Couldn't I accept a couple of thousand rubles just for laughs?"

Hoover pursed his lips. "Not one kopek. And don't try anything behind my nude back. I have someone following the man who's following you."

I DIDN'T HEAR from Hoover for two days. Then as I was passing a statue of Lenin with his hand pointing out I saw Hoover's head again in place of Lenin's. "Get a picture of that tank," he said. I looked at where his finger was pointing and snapped a photograph.

"They won't let me leave the country unless I take the rubles," I told him.

"MY PEOPLE have come up with a plan," J. Edgar said. "Call a press conference of Soviet newspapermen and announce that the dollar is in a great deal of trouble and that you're worried it will be devalued at any time. But you know that the ruble will always remain strong. Therefore you're going to keep the rubles in a bank in the Soviet Union as insurance against the day when the dollar goes to pot."

"That's good thinking, J. Edgar," I said excitedly. "They'll have to buy the story. Thanks so much for helping me out."

"That's my job," he said. "I have to leave now. If you need me, I'll be back in the Renoir at the Pushkin Museum."

Many Factors Affect Cost For City Water

By JEAN FANNIN

Water costs more in Big Spring than in some other West Texas cities, but there are several good reasons, according to Larry Crow, city manager.

"Big Spring has found a long range solution to the water problem in West Texas, and many towns have not," he said. Big Spring buys water from the Colorado River Municipal Water District and will soon be receiving water from the new Robert Lee Reservoir. The CRMWD is an "expensive installation" and has to be paid off, Crow said, "but it is worth it." City commissioners budgeted $440,343 for water from the CRMWD for 1968-69.

The city is also paying off bonds for major improvements to the water system, Crow said. Workmen have recently finished construction on a new one-million gallon storage tank and are now working on a 2 1/2-million gallon clear well at the filter plant.

The filter plant is also getting instrumentation and supervisory controls and a bulk storage and automated feeder for the chemicals added to the water.

Big Spring also has an expensive water contract with the Big Spring State Hospital which "is costing us money," Crow said. The contract calls for the hospital to pay 10 cents per thousand gallons for treated water, Roy Anderson, assistant city manager said, "but we pay 15 cents per thousand gallons for raw water and then have to run it through our water filter plant before we send it to the hospital." He estimated that the hospital contract costs the city "35 cents or more per thousand gallons."

A recent study of West Texas municipal water rates shows the lowest monthly minimum charge for 2,000 gallons to be San Angelo's rate of $1.75, and the highest is Lubbock's $3.25 fee. Big Spring and Snyder charge $3.

In the 5,000 gallon category San Angelo charges $2.95 per month, while Big Spring, according to the survey, is highest with a $5 fee.

Comparing water rates is not a simple project, however, Crow said, because of the various ways municipal governments handle departments. "Snyder receives help from the county, and in Odessa the parks department is run by the county," Crow said. Obviously the two are not comparable with each other or Big Spring, he said.

"Big Spring's water department is a huge operation without a lot of federal aid, but we are assured of plenty of water in the future and many cities in this area are not," he said.

The major was awarded two commendation medals and has been nominated for the Bronze Star for his work while in Southeast Asia.

The major is a 21-year Air Force veteran and entered the service through the enlisted ranks. As an enlisted man he served as a B29 flight engineer in the Strategic Air Command and as an aide to Gen. Curtis LeMay, former Air Force Chief of Staff.

After six years as an enlisted man, Maj. Perechlin received his commission and wings through the Aviation Cadet program during the Korean conflict. The major and his wife, Elaine, have four children.

Tech Exes Place Collier On Ballot

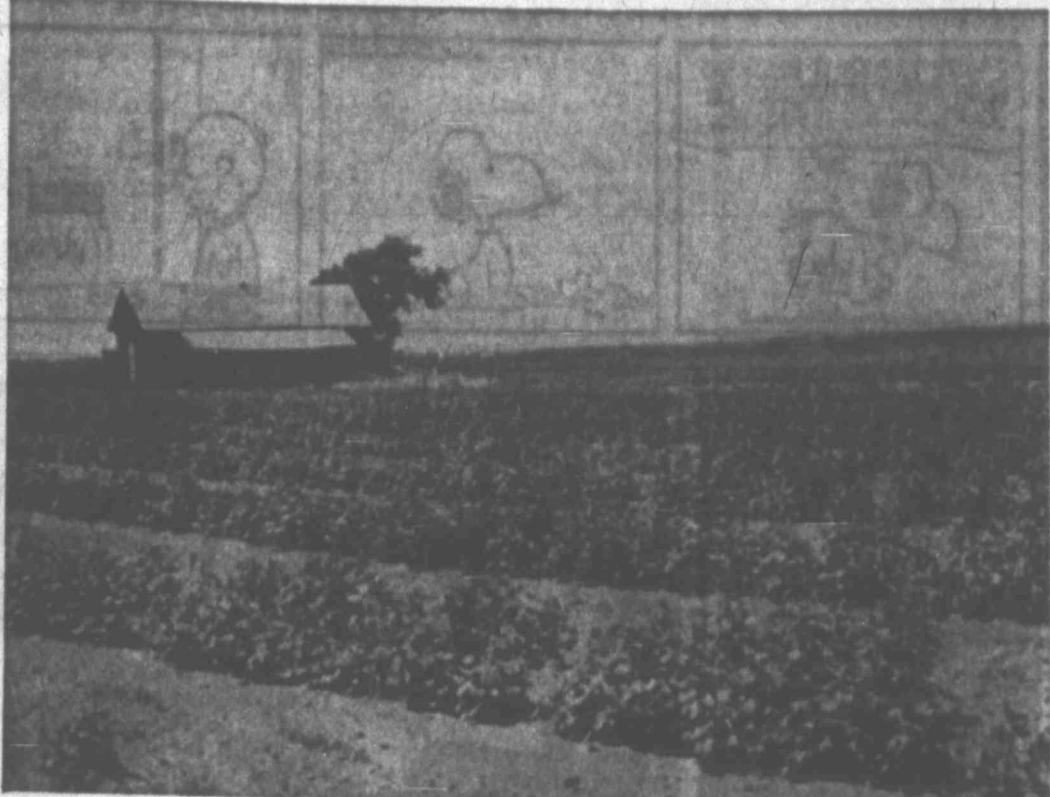

R. E. Collier has been nominated for a position as district representative of the Texas Tech Ex-Students Association.

The announcement of Collier's nomination was made in Lubbock this week by Wayne James, executive director of the Texas Tech Ex-Students Association. James said that ballots listing the names of Collier and three other nominees will be mailed this week to Tech Exes living in six West Texas counties.

Others nominated were: Joe Albright and Randy Pendleton of Andrews; Mrs. Donnell Echols, Lamesa.

Collier, a 1950 graduate of Texas Tech, is married to the former Betty Lee Schulkey, who is also a 1950 graduate of Texas Tech.

LUSH GREEN COTTON FIELDS DOMINATE RURAL SCENE
Prospects for bumper crop continue but rain is needed in county

A Shower Or Two Would Guarantee Bumper Crops

By SAM BLACKBURN

Nothing is wrong with the farming picture in Howard County that a good slow rain from border to border wouldn't solve.

Cotton is in the best shape it has ever been at this season. Feed stuff is generally in good condition, but needs rain. Some fields already may have gone too long without moisture. Others are still growing, but rain must fall if the grain is to mature as it should.

Jimmy Taylor, Big Spring banker and former county agent, said that the Hereford Association selection tour Thursday gave him a chance to see the crops in a number of counties in the Big Spring area.

"Crops are good in Glasscock, Martin, Mitchell and Howard counties," he said. "Cotton looks great and I saw a lot of fine grain. Some of the sorghum in this county will be ready for cutting before too many days.

good, there's no question we must have rain, and have it soon, if the happy prospects we are now enjoying are to continue. The feed and the pastures already need rain badly, and the cotton could use it to good advantage."

Most cotton except for some planted late in the season, is already in lush bloom and forming squares and bolls. Most fields are fairly clean of weeds even though the wet spring season did encourage growth of these invaders.

Farmers who planted black-eyed peas are harvesting bumper yields. Corn is beginning to burn but many growers are able to cash in on roasting ears this year who have not had an opportunity to do so in a decade.

Stock tanks are still low on water. Although rains have been more generous than usual, the runoff has been light, since the storms were gentle rather than of the type that fills ponds and lakes.

The cool nights have helped a lot to retain the balance of moisture and while there have been hot days, as a rule the temperatures have been under the average for the district.

The rainfall, as gauged at the U.S. Experiment station here for July, was 1.37 inches. Most parts of the county received more than that, but the totals were, as a rule, less than was needed to keep things rocking.

No good rains fell in the month — the totals were, for the most part, produced by a series of helpful light showers.

No new complaints of insect troubles have been reported. The boll weevil problem has not increased materially and other insects have not appeared.

A few good rains in August and September, farmers say, and the 1968 crop is a guaranteed thing.

Viet War Hero Takes Texas Job

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Two high-explosive shells had already blown up in the burning 153 howitzer bunker in Vietnam as Raoul R. Ashby pulled out a badly burned man and began pushing ammunition away from the flames.

Ashby, who won the Soldier's Medal for his heroism in the bunker at Lai Khe, South Vietnam, has assumed duties as Professor of Military Science for the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Midwestern University here.

The Soldier's Medal is the Army's highest award for non-combat bravery. Ashby, now a lieutenant colonel, was fire marshal at a First Infantry Division supply base at Lai Khe, about 140 miles north of Saigon when the bunker caught fire.

YOUR MONEY

By CHARLES E. BEIL

Many times in negotiating for the purchase of a home, promptness in obtaining financing and in the handling of the escrow is extremely important. There may be a need for moving into a new house as quickly as possible... or a need to complete one transaction before another can be made.

And even when there is no special need for haste, most people buying a home want the uncertainties of financing to be settled quickly. They've made their choice, and now they're eager to move.

Because new home financing is our primary source of investment (savings and loan associations make more home loans than all other financial institutions put together), our people are experts... and our modern, efficient facilities mean the fastest possible service.

Every precaution is still made to protect your home investment and to make sure that you obtain the right loan for your purposes. So when you plan to buy, stop in and talk to us... for reliable, friendly, and prompt loan service.

SOME FOLKS THINK OUR AUTOMATIC BANK DRAFT PAYMENT PLAN IS GREAT...

Others couldn't care less

Folks who use our Automatic Bank Draft Plan to pay their electric bills seem to like the idea. ♦ They like the convenience of having us draw a draft on their checking account for the amount of the bill. ♦ Then they don't have to bother writing a check, hunting for a stamp and remembering to mail it. ♦ And they don't have any trouble keeping their records straight because we immediately send them the portion of the bill they would normally keep, and it's marked "paid." ♦ Of course, many of our customers aren't interested in the Automatic Bank Draft Plan. They still want to get their bills at home and come in to pay us or send a check in the envelope we enclose each month. ♦ We started the Bank Draft Plan because some of our customers asked for it, and we want all our customers to know it is available. ♦ If you'd like to know more about the Bank Draft Plan, we'll be glad to tell you all about it. Then you'll know whether it makes sense for you. ♦

P.S. Naturally, this plan cannot go into effect on anyone's account until it is requested, and necessary authorization forms are signed.

R TRICHINOSIS IS AN INFECTION

Trichinosis is a parasitic disease characterized by gastrointestinal symptoms, edema of the face, muscular pains and fever. Infection usually occurs when inadequately cooked pork containing the larvae of the roundworm Trichinella Spiralis is eaten.

Many of the symptoms of Trichinosis are similar to other diseases and it takes a physician's diagnosis to determine just what is wrong. That is why it is dangerous and foolhardy to continue self-treatments for repeating symptoms of any problem. Let your Doctor prescribe the proper medication.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shipping nearby, or we will deliver promptly, without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound and dispense yours?

Sophisticated Comedy Due Thursday At Cinema

A sophisticated comedy, with a stylish cast playing against elegant backgrounds, is "Prudence and the Pill," in wide screen and DeLuxe Color, which opens Thursday at the Cinema Theatre. Revolving around the controversial birth control pill, the stylish farce has a cast with Deborah Kerr and David Niven as the leads.

Produced by Kenneth Harper and Ronald Kahn, "Prudence and the Pill" was directed by Fielder Cook from a screenplay by Hugh Mills who based it on his own novel.

Heading the large cast as the outwardly cold, but inwardly warm, Prudence and her outwardly respectable, but inwardly deceptive, husband Gerald are Kerr and Niven. Exciting newcomer Judy Geeson, one of Britain's fastest rising new actresses, appears as their teenage niece — who triggers off a few problems by replacing her mother's birth control pills with aspirin.

Mother of the highly emancipated niece is played by Joyce Redman who rocketed to international acclaim with her portrayal as Albert Finney's eating companion in the sexy-guttenous scene in "Tom Jones." Her bewildered husband is played by skillful veteran comedy actor Robert Cote.

David Dundas makes his film debut in "Prudence and the Pill" as the niece's romantic boy friend. His guardian is played by the first lady of the British theatre, Edith Evans. To make up for his cold wife, Niven has a beautiful warm mistress who is played seductively by talented Irina Demick.

The main casting is completed with Prudence's lover enacted by Keith Michell; Prudence's maid, played by Vickery Turner; and her amorous boy friend, interpreted by Hugh Armstrong.

BROWNFIELD, Tex. (AP)—Jim Cherry has resigned as curriculum director of the Brownfield Independent School District to accept a position as an assistant director with the Region I Educational Service Center at Edinburg.

Cherry, a graduate of West Texas State University, has also served as principal at both the high school and junior high school here and as principal at Spearman High School.

Unknowns Launch Careers In Film

In the legitimate theatre, when the leading lady breaks a leg, or otherwise puts herself out of action, the understudy goes on and, with a dazzling performance, achieves stardom. The movies have their own version of this tired old show business cliché.

It's the story about a film producer finding a complete unknown for a leading role and thereby catapulting the lucky one to instant screen stardom. On both stage and screen, it sometimes happens.

And it recently happened to two — not one, two! — young actors who were selected from hundreds of aspirants to star in the film version of Truman Capote's "In Cold Blood," in Panavision at the Ritz Theatre.

They are Robert Blake and Scott Wilson.

Virtually unknown Hollywood figures only months ago, today Blake and Wilson even have their own fan clubs. Through the positive power of publicity, via a cover and inside spread in Life Magazine prior to the release of "In Cold Blood," fan clubs for both actors unexpectedly sprang up across the country. Even more amazing to the young actors than a national magazine working such wonders for their careers was the variety and source of the requests for autographs.

"I was asked to autograph everything from doctor's prescription blanks to musical score sheets," said Scott. "Most of our letters came from people who were obviously professionals," said Blake. "I think this is because they are the people who read Truman Capote's story and found it so compelling."

"Instead of requests for gossip and silly personal stuff (we got those, too), most of the letters asked us about our own reactions to playing the 'In Cold Blood' roles. It was very gratifying to us to receive intelligent correspondence about something that we've 'lived with' so intensively for months."

Wilson made his film bow with a bit role in "In the Heat of the Night." Blake's first screen part was in "Town Without Pity." Both young actors have done some television work.

'Planet Of Apes' At Ritz Thursday

"Planet of the Apes," stunning futuristic motion picture starring Charlton Heston, has been set to open Thursday at the Ritz Theatre. In Panavision and Color by De Luxe, the film is based on a novel by Pierre Boulle, author of "The Bridge over the River Kwai," which was adapted for the screen by Michael Wilson and Rod Serling.

"Planet of the Apes" hurries the viewer into a strange simian civilization where man is regarded as a brute to be controlled and contained lest he grow in numbers and strength and ultimately destroy the ape culture and society. It also stars Roddy McDowall, Kim Hunter and Maurice Evans, who appear throughout the film in simian make-up.

The massive make-up problems were solved by John Chambers, who designed the fabulous disguises which transform this film's stars from humans to believable apes. Scenically, producer Jacobs had to come up with the physical trappings of an ape culture — simian architecture, wardrobe design, utensils and so forth. Since the apes are civilized they wear clothes. Indeed, theirs is a most conservative society, and their garb reflects this in imaginative designs by Morton Haack which cover the entire body except for the head and hands.

Although well able to stand on its own as an adventure film with much action, intrigue and suspense, the story is an allegory for our times with some of the flavor of Jonathan Swift and a dash of Jules Verne. "Planet of the Apes" opened so big in New York that for the first three weekends it kept beating the previous records it set on the preceding weekends. The critical reaction was most favorable.

Pauline Kael in The New Yorker said, "One of the best science-fiction fantasies ever. Really extraordinary. It has the primitive force of 'King Kong'... You'd better go see it quickly... it has the ingenious kind of plotting that people love to talk about."

The handsome son of the late film star Robert Walker and the equally famed actress Jennifer Jones, is a brilliant star of "The Savage Seven," a spectacular action drama beginning an engagement Thursday at the Jet Theatre. Portraying the role of an American Indian who becomes involved in a war to

Odessa Performances Set By Ice Capades

Ice Capades newest million-dollar production will play Odessa's Ector County Coliseum Aug. 28 through Labor Day, Sept. 2, with seven performances scheduled.

The ice show — which critics have dubbed America's No. 1 Family Show — drew capacity crowds during its Odessa engagement last year, and the inclusion of Labor Day Weekend performances offers greater opportunity for out-of-town fans to see this year's production.

Headlining the 100-member cast will be Wolfgang Schwarz, the 1968 Olympic Gold Medal Champion. Schwarz was signed by Ice Capades directly following the Winter Olympics in Grenoble, France, this year. The handsome, 20-year-old Austrian will perform the program which won him the Gold Medal and world-wide acclaim. Other international stars of Ice Capades include Canadian and North American champion, Donald Knight; Japanese champion, Sashi Kuchiki; U.S. Olympic team members, Roy and Sandi Waglein, as well as many specially and comedy acts.

The 2½-hour presentation has six lush and beautifully costumed productions ranging from a candy-store fantasy for the children to an incredible and surprising number titled "Ritual of the Waters" which features an underwater ballet routine and a real waterfall within the set.

Again motion picture segments will be incorporated throughout the show. In one section, Louis Nye of television fame appears on the gigantic screen as the Genie of Sweetville and transforms the frozen stage into a fantasy land of skating jelly-beans, candy-kisses and giant-sized gingerbread men in the production created especially for the children titled "Sugar'n Spice."

Magic Screen which was such a hit last season will be used in expanded form in the all-new show.

Tickets can be ordered conveniently by mail simply by sending a check or money order, along with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ice Capades, care of Chuck Wagon Gang, P.O. Box 3626, Odessa, Texas 79766.

Adult prices are $2.50, $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00 and youth tickets, for 18 years and under, are half price on Wednesday, Thursday 8 p.m. and Saturday and Monday, 2:30 p.m. shows.

Ice Capades performance schedule is: Wednesday, Thursday evenings 8 p.m., Friday and Saturday evenings 8:30 p.m. Matinees on Saturday, Sunday and Monday at 2:30 p.m. — Aug. 28-Sept. 2.

Ice Capades' Ector County engagement is sponsored annually by the Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang.
