TOBACCO INSTITUTE ATTACKS REPORT AS 'INTEMPERATE DEFAMATION'

Stepped-Up Campaign Urged Against Cigarettes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A national task force today recommended stepped-up federal and private efforts to combat use of cigarettes and "stem the rising tide of early deaths and disabilities associated with smoking."

The report was immediately attacked by the Tobacco Institute as a "shockingly intemperate defamation of an industry which has led the way in medical research to seek answers in the cigarette controversy."

Among the recommendations of the task force report to the U.S. Surgeon general:

- Tighter restrictions on cigarette advertising and promotion.
- Better instruction in schools to influence youngsters to refrain from smoking.
- Greater antismoking efforts by doctors and other health professionals.
- Use of group approaches to prevent or reduce smoking.
- More insurance plans which give reduced rates to nonsmokers.

—Development and promotion of safer cigarettes.

The task force, which was appointed in 1967, said it is encouraged with early results of anti-smoking efforts.

It noted that cigarette consumption per capita declined sharply after the surgeon general's 1964 report on smoking and health, that it rose again in 1965 and 1966 and again is declining.

But the task force said "The problem remains, still, bigger than the efforts to combat it. Cigarette smoking is one of the foremost preventable causes of death in the United States as well as in other parts of the world."

On cigarette advertising the task force said it "is unable to see how, in the long run, a product involving the health hazards of cigarettes can continue to be advertised."

In the meantime, the group said, "higher standards for cigarette advertising should be demanded." It called on the administration to press for legislation to require that tar and nicotine contents be listed on cigarette packages and in advertising. And the task force urged a stronger warning about the health hazards on cigarettes, to be placed in advertising as well as on cigarette packages.

The task force also said such advertising should not be allowed to reach large numbers of children and young people and shouldn't equate smoking with social success or sex appeal.

The group criticized what it called "the inability or unwillingness of the cigarette industry to face up to the health hazards of cigarette smoking or even to admit they exist."

The task force called on industries, hospitals and private organizations to conduct anti-smoking campaigns. Wives can help their husbands stop smoking, the task force said, and it urged women to form groups to try. And pregnant women were asked to organize groups to give up smoking together.

Chairman of the task force was Dr. Daniel Horn, director of the Public Health Service's National Clearing house for smoking and health.

The Tobacco Institute said the report "overlooks completely the fact that the industry pioneered organized and scientific study of the (health) question when it established the council for Tobacco Research-USA in 1954, long before any other public or private agency even attempted to provide anything but statistics and speculations."

SQUARE MILE Demos To Have Lots Of Security

CHICAGO (AP) — A mile-square area surrounding the International Amphitheatre, site of the Democratic National Convention, will be closed to virtually everyone but holders of convention credentials.

A spokesman for Chicago police said Thursday a tight security area will extend from Halsted Street at the eastern edge of the stockyards area to Ashland Avenue on the west, and from 39th Street to 47th Street.

Earlier, the police had planned a restricted zone four blocks long and two blocks wide in the area of the amphitheatre.

Democratic Chairman John M. Bailey was in Chicago Thursday inspecting preparations at the convention hall and said he was pleased.

"I've never been sorry for one minute that we stayed in Chicago," Bailey said.

There had been persistent rumors earlier that the convention would be moved to another city because of a strike by electrical workers against the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. The dispute has not been settled, but strikers are making communication installations in the amphitheatre on a volunteer basis.

Filipinos Riot

MANILA (AP) — Police fired into the air during a turbulent anti-American demonstration before the U. S. Embassy here today by 600 to 1,000 Filipino students and labor unionists.

The police fired when the students began throwing torches and signs.

The demonstrators were agitating because of a wide range of issues, including the killing last month of a Filipino teenager by an American Marine guard.

Explosion Kills Two

MINDEN, La. (AP) — Two men were killed early Friday when an explosion ripped a bomb-loading section of the Louisiana Army Ammunition Plant near Minden, authorities said.

The two victims were reported dead at a Shreveport hospital. One of the men, Jesse Bush, about 50, of Bossier City, suffered a fractured skull.

The second man was not immediately identified. Authorities said he suffered burns over 90 per cent of his body.

Lt. Col. James W. Donald, commanding officer at the plant, said "secondary explosions" were occurring at the sprawling ordnance plant, threatening other buildings. The area around the complex was sealed off. He said there was "a distinct possibility that other persons are unaccounted for."

Copter Student Killed

FT. WOLTERS, Tex. (AP) — An Army helicopter crash killed a student pilot and injured a second man shortly after midnight Thursday near Lake Bridgeport, northwest of Fort Worth.

Fl. Wolters authorities said the craft was on a cross-country training flight which started from its Dempsey heliport near Palo Pinto.

A Fl. Wolters spokesman said the helicopter burned after cracking up about 13 miles east of Jacksboro.

Many More Killed In 'Mistake' Clash

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that an American river force fighting off Viet Cong ambushes last week in the Mekong Delta killed nearly five times as many South Vietnamese as had been previously reported.

The revision made the toll the Vietnam war's second highest in such an incident.

The U.S. Command said 71 Vietnamese civilians and one government soldier were killed in the course of the American retaliation to the enemy ambushes, and 188 civilians and 15 government troops were wounded.

FEWER REPORTED

Last Friday, in its first report of the incidents which occurred the day before, the U.S. Command said 15 civilians and one soldier were killed, and 120

South Vietnamese were wounded.

A U.S. spokesman said the compiling of accurate casualty figures was delayed because the ambush sites were scattered and civilians applying for indemnity had not contacted authorities for several days.

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces, striking with tanks, artillery and planes to support the infantrymen, today reported killing 234 North Vietnamese in the hardest fighting in nearly a month along South Vietnam's northern frontier.

Spokesmen said three South Vietnamese soldiers were killed in the clashes Thursday while 15 government troops and 15 U.S. Marines were wounded.

Vastly superior allied firepower was considered responsible for the big difference in casualties.

The flareup along the northern edge of South Vietnam resulted from vigorous patrolling by the allied forces. Elsewhere across the country, the lull in ground action continued, and there was no sign of the start of the major enemy offensive which American officers expect before mid-September.

An enemy artillery barrage of 250 rounds, fired from inside the demilitarized zone at a South Vietnamese armored patrol, was the prelude to the heaviest action on the DMZ front Thursday.

The barrage destroyed one medium tank and an armored personnel carrier, and damaged another tank and three more personnel carriers. But the government troops moved out and found a main body of enemy troops several hours later north of the Gio Linh outpost and about one mile south of the DMZ, near the east coast.

A spokesman reported 165 enemy soldiers killed in a day-long battle, 50 of them by fighter-bomber strikes, before the remaining enemy escaped.

South Vietnamese headquarters said the action was in the same area where government troops killed 107 enemy soldiers a week earlier.

THREE CLASHES

To the west along the DMZ, U.S. Marines reported killing 69 North Vietnamese in three clashes, one three miles north of the U.S. artillery base at Camp Carroll and the other two southeast of the Con Thien outpost, which is two miles below the DMZ.

In the fight near Camp Carroll, enemy troops dug in on high ground north of the Cam Lo River fired mortar shells on approaching Marines. The Leathecks called in tanks, artillery and air strikes that drove the North Vietnamese from their positions. Then they pursued the enemy down the back side of the ridge.

The Marines reported 41 enemy soldiers killed and 13 Marines wounded in that battle.

GOP Leaders Fear Black 'Coolness?'

By The Associated Press

The resignation of Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew's only Negro staff member has underlined a top Republican Negro adviser's contention that party leaders fear black dissatisfaction is fermenting within the GOP.

Dr. Gilbert Ware, Agnew's liaison with the black community, said in a telegram of resignation that he was concerned over the governor's comments on "broad and vital questions of social justice."

'REVOLT'

At about the same time aides to the vice presidential hopeful were announcing Ware's resignation Thursday in Annapolis, Md., a top Negro adviser to Richard M. Nixon stepped out of a conference with Nixon in San Diego, Calif., to meet newsmen.

The adviser, J. Earl Dearing, Louisville prosecuting attorney, first used the word "revolt" to describe the Negro mood in the party but later said it might be better described as "seeming dissatisfaction or coolness."

But he urged Agnew to "meet with Negroes from the ghettos and formulate some positive programs."

In New York, Jackie Robinson, who quit the Republicans and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's staff over the nomination of Nixon and Agnew, announced he'll support Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

SOLD OUT

Robinson, the first Negro in baseball's major leagues, had said earlier Nixon "prostituted himself and sold himself out to the bigots in the South."

In the Democratic camp: Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy picked up the endorsement of Vermont Gov. Philip H. Hoff, who had earlier supported the assassinated Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. But McCarthy's simultaneous rallies at several cities across the country fell $3 million short of the $5 million he was trying to raise, aides said.

Humphrey, campaigning through New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, said "a difference of emphasis" is a sign that he and Nixon don't agree on Vietnam.

Humphrey said Nixon has been urging a continuation of the bombing, while the vice president has warned against "loose talk" that might scuttle the Paris negotiations.

'NIXIECRATS'

In a speech at Minneapolis, Minn., where Humphrey was once mayor, he labeled the Republican candidates "Nixiecrats."

Humphrey noted Nixon's close relation to Republican Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who was a Democrat in 1948, but walked out of the convention over a strong civil rights stand and later ran for president as a Dixiecrat.

Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, the newest Democratic candidate spent most of his day on the telephone wooing delegates. But an Associated Press tally showed four of the 26 South Dakota delegates pledged to him as a favorite son had deserted or become uncommitted since his entry into the race.

Third-party candidate George Wallace headed for Indiana to spur his drive to get on the ballot there. But spokesmen for Wallace conceded after the deadline Thursday night that they'd failed to get the 8,000-plus signatures to put him on the ballot in the District of Columbia.

Republican Agnew responded in Annapolis to criticism of his attitude toward Negroes.

"I am not a racist," he said. "I have never been a racist. I have done more for the Negro than anyone who has ever held this office."

NO SWEAT

Agnew said he isn't worried about the 18 Negro leaders from Baltimore who have formed the Ad Hoc Committee for Good Government to oppose the Republican ticket nationwide.

"These people are actually endorsing violence," said the governor. "I feel very comfortable about being criticized by them."

Agnew appointed another Negro, lawyer Frank A. DeCosta, to the $19,000-a-year post vacated by Ware.

The Democrats continued the scramble for delegates as they point toward their convention.

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago said his 118-man delegation supports President Johnson 100 per cent.

Daley said his delegation won't announce its choice until after an Aug. 25 caucus, but the mayor said he doesn't care about "intellectuals" and "university professors."

An Associated Press survey showed California will send 152 uncommitted delegates—more than any other state—to the convention. Illinois will send 96 uncommitted, the AP survey showed.

A Devotional For The Day

The publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner. (Luke 18:13)

PRAYER: Hear our prayer, O Lord. Supply our needs this day. May we become as little children in Your sight. Forgive us our sins, and we shall never cease to praise Your name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Family Relations Courts

Plausible are the predictions being made by those who study the problem that Texas domestic-relations and juvenile courts must in time be replaced by specialized district courts handling all legal problems in family relations.

This is already the trend for county courts dealing primarily with domestic-relations affairs. In the major counties a number are already near full-fledged district court status. It is a trend also foreseeable in juvenile courts, now an additional duty for district judges and usually for a particular one in the multidistrict metropolitan counties. And the latter will have to be better staffed and equipped to meet the adult-type fair trial guarantees for minors recently required by the U.S. Supreme Court.

All this should be a thoughtful, logical part of a comprehensive restructuring and reorganization of the over-all state and local court system. That is, it should be part of a fundamental overhauling and modernization of the judicial article in a revised or new Texas constitution. But the odds appear now to be against such neat and prompt reform of Texas government, including its institutions for crime control and the administration of justice.

Meanwhile, it should be shocking, as it is difficult to understand in view of the general public concern over juvenile delinquency, that only nine Texas counties (including Howard) yet have separate juvenile detention facilities such as envisioned in state law. And it is no less disturbing that only 59 of the 254 counties have probation officers for the supervision essential to making state juvenile delinquency laws fully effective.

The juvenile delinquency and domestic relations concerns are as much a social welfare as a legal problem. Federal-state aid to dependent children in broken homes, for example, is a major cost item in the public welfare programs. The need to bring our judicial system up to date in this area is as pressing as the need to devise new approaches in the welfare programs.

School Lunch Price Comes Down

Families whose youngsters have their noon meal in the elementary school cafeterias get a bit of a break this year. The school board has reduced the price of the lunch from 40 cents to 35 cents.

This is a help within itself, but we note with commendation that it reflects sound administration of the cafeteria program in the school system. This is a separate entity in the matter of financing, and it cannot be profit-making. Thus, when it achieved a balance, the school business administration recommended a reduction in prices.

This means, of course, that revenues this year will not be as large, and the cafeterias also are faced with increased costs. The lower rate, then, will not necessarily be a permanent one, but it can be welcomed for at least a year.

It should be remembered that under the federal fair facets of the lunch program, free meals must be provided to these children who qualify for such assistance. This cannot, and will not be changed, but this is a factor in over-all income and expenditure reckoning for the cafeteria program.

The lunch program seems to be going well, and patrons should be pleased.

Collective Defense A Necessity

WASHINGTON — The Soviet press, which is controlled by the Soviet government, has just denounced Richard Nixon, the Republican nominee for the presidency of the United States, as an "imperialist." Doubtless it will express the same opinion about the selection of Hubert Humphrey as the Democratic nominee because he will have the support of the Johnson administration. But the fact is that the Moscow regime itself has been carrying on a militant imperialism and is plainly responsible for continuance of the Vietnam war.

NONE OF THE spokesmen for either party in this country has thus far laid it on the line by telling the voters that a large number of American troops would not be in Vietnam today if instead a peace-keeping force had been sent there by the collective action of the members of the United Nations.

It has often been said on the stump during the current political campaign that the United States "has no business in Vietnam." This would be true if the United Nations obeyed its own charter and acted as a "world policeman" whenever nations, large or small, are the victims of aggression.

TODAY THE RUSSIAN government is supplying billions of dollars worth of arms and munitions to the North Vietnamese in defiance of the purposes of the United Nations to which Moscow subscribed when it joined the body. If the Soviets were not plotting to control Southeast Asia, there wouldn't be any Vietnam war going on now, and an agreement could be promptly concluded to supervise elections and guarantee to the peoples of North and South Vietnam their right of self-determination.

THE CHARTER of the United Nations gives the General Assembly power by two-thirds vote to make recommendations with respect to the maintenance of international peace and security. These may include collective measures and the use of armed forces. There are 122 member countries in the United Nations, and most of them are small and need the protection that the U.N. presumably will give them. But as long as some of the principal governments — including one of the most powerful — intimidate the smaller nations, there isn't much chance of the U.N. authorizing the collective defense of any country which the Soviet government seeks to dominate.

THE WEAKNESSES of the U.N. have been conceded. But collective action, of course, is possible without the authorization of the United Nations. New alliances can be formed, and the proposed steps need only to be reported to the U.N. This doesn't mean, however, that the world organization is justified in refusing to help maintain peace when it declines to authorize its members to aid in repelling a war of aggression in Vietnam.

THE UNITED STATES has obtained in Southeast Asia the help of a few allies. But significantly none of the European nations has come to the assistance of the American government on a mission which is plainly in accordance with the U.N. charter. The Vietnam war has reached the point where the United States government feels that a withdrawal is impossible without some assurance that South Vietnam will be protected against the Communist government in Hanoi and its backers.

So the real task of the future is to win over the public opinion of countries, large and small, throughout the world in order that an effective system of collective defense can be established, either inside or outside the United Nations, to thwart invasions by imperialist powers and thereby permit all peoples to exercise their right to govern themselves.

Writers Can't Win In The Tax Game

NEW YORK (AP) — George Goodman, exposed as the "Adam Smith" who authored "The Money Game," an hilarious and instructive treatise on winning and losing at stocks, is now hung up on another game.

It really isn't the kind of game Goodman likes to play, for it involves taxes, and taxes are not, as he defines game, "sport, play, frolic or fun." The frolicer, if there is one, is Uncle Sam—not Goodman.

To Goodman, a gamesman whose playground is the best seller list right now and whose book is expected to retail at least $150,000 to him, an author can't win in the tax game.

"The laws discriminate against the author," he said the other day, implying he would be happy to come away with his sense of humor and a couple of copies for his kids after the tax men get through with him.

"I'M MAKE as much as a good second rate institutional stock salesman," he said, setting down his pipe and running one hand over thick grey hair while flipping with the other through the Internal Revenue Code.

For those who don't know Goodman, his only other association with Adam Smith was as a reader. The real Adam Smith lived in the 1700s and is famous for enunciating theories of free enterprise. Goodman, seeking anonymity, simply borrowed the name. Then he, also, became too famous to keep his cover.

For the record, he is editor of an influential monthly called The Institutional Investor and works in an office at the edge of the financial district. He is 37, married to actress Sally Brophy, and is father of a son, 5, and a daughter, 4. He commutes from Princeton, N.J.

GOODMAN is a Harvard graduate, magna cum laude. He was a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford for two years, has managed a mutual fund, and has written three novels, two of which, "The Wheeler Dealer" and "A Time for Paris," were made into movies.

He wears black-rimmed glasses and projects the aura of an intellectual who is thoroughly relaxed and happy in the commercial world, although still a bit curious and amused by the antics he observes.

Goodman's tax irritation primarily concerns capital gains, which are taxed at no more than 25 per cent. But authors don't qualify. Their earnings are taxed as straight income. If an author writes a best seller, he can be taxed very heavily for two or three years.

TO PROVE INJUSTICE, Goodman pointed to a section of the tax code.

An inventor, it appeared from the code, can treat income from the product of his mind as a capital gain, but the offspring of the author's imagination is specifically excluded.

This Goodman maintains, doesn't make for a fair game, different from inventor Chester Carlson, who was able to capitalize his rights in Xerography into stock worth at least $35 million.

"If the laws were so written—and they aren't—I would really like to capitalize my earnings," said Goodman, giving way momentarily to the fantasy that authors should be able to sell stock in themselves and take a tax break.

Well, maybe not a fantasy at all.

Sugar-Coated Double-Talk

NEW YORK (AP) — We all say we want the truth, but rarely do we want it put to us too plainly.

For the truth, like any other bitter medicine, is more palatable when sugar-coated.

That is why we so often have to resort, in communicating with one another, to double-talk: It enables us to dole out conversational sugar to another person without disturbing him with reality.

The ability to use double-talk is the hallmark of maturity and adulthood. So is the ability to recognize double-talk — and not be fooled by it.

FOR THE BEGINNER, here are a few typical examples of doubletalk followed, in each case, by their literal translations:

"This job has unlimited opportunity."

—The pay is lousy.

"It's a lovely apartment. It even has a view of the river from the kitchen."

—But you have to stand on the stove to see it.

"All I want from you is your honest, unbiased opinion."

—If you don't agree with me, shut up.

"Frankly, I recommend our chicken a la king today—it's superlative."

—The chef cooked so much of it the day before yesterday we haven't been able to get rid of it.

"YOUR FIANCE MUST be awful rich, or crazy in love with you, to give you such a beautiful engagement ring."

—Poor thing, I'll bet she had to pay for it herself.

Washington

WASHINGTON — Justice Abe Fortas, the Communist saying goes, broke a lot of eggs before he made the omelette. The chickens which laid them are roosting in the Senate where his nomination to be Chief Justice is pending. Many senators wish it were otherwise.

The reason is that the senators have their own chickens to worry about — the ones that turn up back home in every election year.

AT FIRST it was thought politically risky to oppose what is theoretically a non-partisan nomination to a non-political post. But as the hearings went on, and ideas moved into circulation, it evolved that a vote to confirm might be more risky than a vote to reject. There were these telling points scored against Fortas.

He had played cronyism with Lyndon Johnson, not merely before becoming an Associate Justice, but during the whole three years of service on the Supreme Court. Senators who consent to the promotion to Chief Justice would be approving a back-door relationship between White House and Court — a flagrant breach of the separation-of-powers principle.

FORTAS in his thousand days on the bench has participated in decisions that extend the "permissive" philosophy which is in rank disfavor with the American public. No senator can safely become permissive-by-association.

Fortas has given judicial approval to passiveness toward pornography and toward "non-violent" dissent which advocates civil disorders so long as it technically stops short of overt action. This exercise in intellectualism may show great dexterity at threading needles or splitting hairs, but it does not draw popular applause these days. Campaigning

"DON'T STAY UP for me, honey, I'll probably have to work late at the office tonight."

—Unless my secretary has a date with another guy.

"Our profits dipped somewhat during the first half of the year because of a needed purchase of emergency supplies which I trust won't be duplicated."

—We had to buy a whale of a lot of red ink.

"I'll always remain your soul sister, Ronnie, but I'm afraid I must give you back your wax rose and amber beads."

—Since I found a boyfriend with a steady job, I don't want to be a hippie anymore.

"Much as I like to be of every possible service to a constituent, I find that in this case my hands are tied."

—This bum has got a real nerve. Asking for favors, and he didn't chip in a thin dime for my last campaign.

Around The Rim

Oh, Oh, Big Brother Is Watching

Polly Davis has sent me a post card from Tulsa which reads (and you are free to copy it off to send as a joke to your friends in distant cities):

OFFICIAL NOTICE
An informer has revealed to us that you willfully removed a "DO NOT REMOVE UNDER PENALTY OF LAW" tag from a cushion three years ago.

We want you to know that we do not treat such violations casually. Our department has record of 100 per cent convictions.

You may expect a truckload of investigators to arrive at your residence tomorrow morning at the crack of dawn to examine every piece of furniture and every pillow on the premises.

If any tags are missing, you should be prepared to take a long trip.

TWO FARMERS, jealous of each other's early rising, became boastful. One allowed as how he got up at three o'clock. His rival, hoping to catch him in a fib, rose at two the next morning and went to call on his neighbor.

When the latter's wife answered the door and was asked where her husband was, she replied:
"Dunno, but he was around early this morning."

BIG SPRING'S A. J. Vaughn left me a note asking:
"Would a safe manufactured in Warsaw be a Pole Vault?"

Could be. It might also turn out that if peace talks were held there it would turn out negotiators were Poles apart.

A DALLAS FRIEND, the Rev. Buddy Whitworth, reports a sign in a store there reading:
"Notice: Shoplifters will be arrested. Looters will be shot. Cash customers will be dealt with."

He asks: "What happened to credit?" Doesn't sound much like a preacher, does it? Well, I can forgive him. I always think of him as a college buddy who always helped me when I got in a jam — which was often.

AND THEN there's the old story of the prayer meeting where a man jumped up and shouted:
"Brethren, I have been a miserable, contemptible sinner for years and never knew it before tonight."

A deacon stationed on the aisle shut him up:
"Sit down, brother! The rest of us knew it all the time!"

COMING THROUGH the rye: The character weaves an erratic path toward a pair of sidewalk talkers in front of the Settles Hotel. Coming to a wobbly halt, he opens his mouth to do a little business. But before he can utter a word, one well-dressed Big Springer comes out with, "Say, fellow. Can you spare . . ." The bum walks away wagging his head.

Chicago Will Be More Of The Same

WASHINGTON — Finding anyone who was happy with the Republican proceedings at Miami Beach is like the search for the needle in the haystack. The antics interminably prolonged, compounded by the excesses of television with delegates on the floor repeating endlessly the same banalities for mobile TV units, produced boredom, disgust and just plain rage.

AND NOW AHEAD is the prospect that the Democrats will repeat this performance, with variations growing out of the revolt of the dissidents. The Democrats have never been known to paper over their differences in behalf of a synthetic harmony, as did the Republicans in their convention.

The format, however, is the same. It was suited to the era of William McKinley when the tempo of life was slower and the distractions fewer and when politics meant more to the average citizen.

GIVEN THE controls to be exercised in Chicago, the convention — quite aside from ideological differences — will be one of Vice President Hubert Humphrey's big obstacles in trying to bridge the old politics and the new. It is a frowzy, moth-eaten lion in the path.

Democratic National Chairman John Bailey has been given at least a nominal command over the arrangements for Chicago. Under the Johnson Administration he has been a shadow chairman, with the White House issuing the orders. So he sees Chicago as an opportunity to go out in a blaze of the old-time glory.

HUMPHREY HAS his own plans for what is to happen in the International Amphitheater and outside in the streets where protest demonstrations will occur. How nearby he will have his way may well be a measure of his success or failure in Chicago — failure even though he comes off with the Presidential nomination.

There is another bit of delicate diplomacy that must be engineered by Humphrey and his managers. The rumor keeps popping up that President Johnson has not entirely abandoned the idea that at a climactic moment the convention will turn to him as the way out of the dilemma posed by the challenges of Sen. Eugene McCarthy and now Sen. George McGovern.

AUGUST 27 is Lyndon Johnson's 60th birthday. Johnson idolators in the White House would like to turn the whole business at Chicago into a paean of praise of the Johnson Presidency. And as the President broods on his Texas ranch about his place in history, he might not be averse to lighting up the sky with the reflection of his glory.

This observer has never believed that the President harbors the slightest intention of reneging on his "irrevocable" renunciation of March 31. That would make the credibility gap an abyss dwarfing the Grand Canyon. He wanted to find a way out, and he put the best possible face on it.

BUT FOR Humphrey the dilemma is to emerge as his own man and neither to stand in the Johnson shadow nor seem to be accepting the nomination as a gift from the power brokers, with the President as broker-in-chief. The problem for Humphrey is infinitely greater than it was for Richard Nixon when, in 1960, he was detaching himself from the Eisenhower Administration to run as his own man.

BUYING TIPS FOR HOMEMAKERS

Air Conditioning Has Revived Use Of Fans

Even in this age of air conditioning, electric fans have an important part in cooling the home. Air conditioning has brought about the revival of a favorite of yesteryear, the ceiling fan. These old timers, now in such demand that they are being manufactured again, are used to help circulate the air in a house or apartment that is air conditioned. This greatly increases the comfort of the home, of course. They also are being used in their original manner — to help cool a home by circulating the air at night or during the day when the air inside the home is kept cooler than the outside air by closing up the house. Yes, great grandmama knew what she was about in the old days when she closed the windows and drew the blinds or shutters during the day, and kept them closed until after sundown. Lacking a strategically placed ceiling fan, a twenty-inch exhaust fan (measurement of the diameter across the blades) is a good cooler. Engineers hold that such a fan placed near a window is more effective than when placed in the window. When the temperature of the outside air drops below that of the interior of the house with nightfall, the window for exhausting the stale air can be open to the full size of the fan for maximum cooling. But during a hot day it should be open only a little, since the movement of the air in the house is what contributes to coolness. When used to exhaust the air out of the house at night, a twenty-inch fan circulates the air in a five-room house. This type fan also can be used to boost the intake of cool air into the house. The action of the fan is reversed simply by turning a button. All these fans have at least two speeds, some have three. Some also are thermostatically controlled.

WHAT SIZE FAN

Consideration of the size of an electric fan brings up something different in the service it will perform. You may find that a twenty-inch fan bears on its label the term 3,600 cfm. This means the measured from a given distance of the fan in one minute's time it can move 3,600 cubic feet of air. If you have a house that measures 30x40 feet and the ceilings are 8 1/2 feet high the cubic footage of the interior is a little less than 10,200 cubic feet. There in "about three minutes' time the fan can replace the stale air with fresh air from the outside. Exhaust fans also can be used at lower speed to cool a single room. Experimenting in the placement of the fan will soon teach you the most advantageous place for it. In general there are three types of exhaust fans — the window, the portable, and the rollabout. With the window fan the panels that enable the fan to be fitted into the window come separately. The portable fan's housing is fitted with a handle, so that it can be moved about the home as convenience dictates. The rollabout is essentially the same fan as the other two, except that it is mounted on a frame so that it can be rolled from room to room. The fan adjusts within the frame as much as 20 inches in height, and also can be tilted. Usually the casters can be locked to make the rollabout stationary. These larger exhaust type fans have motors of varying power. The more powerful the motor the greater the cooling power of the fan.

SMALLER FANS

The simple little electric fans are still being made, usually for cooling much smaller areas. You have a choice of fans that oscillate or that remain stationary. These fans are excellent for some tasks but do not expect too much of them. No matter which type of fan you buy, check the finish of the housing or stand, the kind and style of blades (plastic now is much used), the button control for speeds and reversibility, and the length of the cord. Above all, read the guaranty to know what the manufacturer promises you and for how long.

Dear Heloise: Here's one for the fellows. If any of you have a knitted pullover shirt with two buttons in front, try putting it on BACKWARDS and buttoning it in the back.

Dear Heloise: I have found a way to simplify the procedure of moving buttons over to ease or tighten a garment.

As it is difficult to position the buttons to exactly the places I want them, I've solved this by incorporating large safety pins.

I simply put the pins where I think the buttons should be moved. Pin it in vertically so it will slip through the buttonhole like a button and hold.

I can then try on the garment with all the pins slipped through the buttonholes, see how it will fall, raise my arms and see exactly how the garment will fit with the buttons in that position.

It saves the wasted time and effort one experiences in setting over the buttons and finding that they should have been set over another fraction of an inch. . . . Beatrice Bachrach

Reduced HCJC Budget Okayed By Trustees

A loss of almost $100,000 in state support will result in a reduced budget for Howard County Junior College in 1968-69, Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, advised trustees at the public hearing Thursday.

Trustees originally studied figures for a budget total of $1,431,346. Following the cut in state aid, the budget total was revised downward to $1,249,849, almost $200,000 lower.

Dr. Hunt told trustees that despite this loss in support, only one course had been planned in the vocational-technical division will be lost. This is the plastics technology course which would have been partially funded by industry and the state. All other courses have been salvaged and will be offered.

The college, according to Don Shoemaker, business manager, had applied for $202,173 from the state to assist in the vocational division of the college, of which it anticipated receiving 75 per cent, or $151,630. Following legislative action, HCJC will get only $58,377 for these courses.

However, Dr. Hunt was optimistic that the Legislature in January will look again at this support and may vote the needed funds.

Following revisions, due to the reduced state support, the college budget income figures are $374,953 from the state; $21,835 from federal government; $172,367 from tuition and fees, $376,456 from local taxes, gifts, services; for a total of $945,611 for educational and general income.

Expenditures in this section of the budget include $120,127 for administration and student services; $116,033 in general institutional expenses; $378,386 in academic program expenses, which includes faculty salaries of $335,174; vocational-technical program expenses of $107,541; library expenses of $40,422; extension service of $2,500; and plant operation costing $14,246 for a total of $945,611, which includes an anticipated year-end balance of $6,266.

Auxiliary income, from athletics, student housing, bookstore sales are expected to reach $174,003, and require a transfer from the general fund

Current Year Has A Larger Balance

Howard County Junior College trustees approved a revised budget for the 1967-68 year Thursday, which revealed the college will wind up the year with a balance of about $20,000, Dr. W. A. Hunt said.

He reviewed a number of areas where money had been saved by doing repair work with maintenance crews, rather than employing outside labor. In addition, income was considerably higher from state and federal sources than had been anticipated.

The original budget for the current year was pegged at $1,151,727, and wound up with a total of $1,189,563, including the balance of $19,261, which was originally expected to be only a little more than $2,400.

In other business, trustees approved roof repair to four buildings on campus. These include $899 for the auditorium building; $732 for the student union building, and dormitory buildings; $785 from the Industrial Arts building and gymnasium; and $756 for the old student building and old science building.

Dr. Hunt said these figures bring the total cost of roof repair, due to hail damage, to $5,517, and insurance payments of $6,544 had been received.

In other business, trustees:

Approved employment of R. E. Daniel as instructor for the new police technology course at a salary of $3,508;

Approved purchase of four desks and chairs at a cost of $443;

Approved purchase of a new electric typewriter at a cost of $416;

Advised Dr. Hunt to seek bids for the repair of an air conditioning unit for the Music Building, expected to cost from $375 to $675, depending on whether it is placed on the roof.

Approved employment of Mrs. Evelyn Anderson as book store manager at a salary of $230 per month.

LETTER

Praise For Police Dept.

To the Editor:

This past week, two young men kicked a plate glass door in at a business I operate. It was rather late at night, after closing time.

I was astonished to discover that the two men were apprehended in another section of town within minutes of the offense. Not understanding how our police force does these things time after time, it seems to me that Big Spring has a lot to be proud of when it comes to law enforcement.

I shudder to think of what I would do if someone said to me, "organize, staff and operate a police department for Big Spring. Stay open for business 24 hours a day, every day of the year. Be everywhere at once. Do not have any open spaces in your coverage or protection. Take on all comers who violate any local, state or national law. Maintain a perfect and benevolent image in the community for all personnel. Never make any mistakes, and oh, yes, do not pay these people very much money because they will have the pride and reward of being public servants."

Respectfully yours,
GENE NABORS

Vandals Rock Radio Station

Vandals caused about $300 in damage at radio station KHEM, Interstate 30 and FM 700, during Wednesday night by throwing rocks through two large plate glass windows there, police said.

When Don Brooks opened the station Friday at 5:50 a.m., he told police he found two windows broken with two rocks inside the building. A large tape recording machine also was hit by a rock, police said.

No entry into the building appeared to be made, and nothing was missing, officers said.

Police are also investigating a burglary at the residence of J. C. Scarborough, 100 Cottonwood. Police said a brown leather bag, locked and containing personal papers, was taken from the house after a burglar cut a screen on the east door and pried two bolt latches off the door.

Crow Applauds Property Owners

"We have had a tremendous amount of cooperation from the property owners in keeping property from becoming overgrown this summer," Larry Crow, city manager, said today.

Lots overgrown with weeds are always a problem, he said, but have been particularly bad this summer due to the "wet spring" experienced by the area. City mowers have been kept busy trying to keep city property clean, Crow said.

Many hazardous structures have been torn down and lots have been cleaned and kept clean, he said, applauding local citizens for their work. "Big Spring property owners are to be commended," he said.

One Hit-And-Run

Police investigated a hit-and-run accident about 3:45 p.m. Thursday in the 300 block of Bell Street.

The only accident in Big Spring Thursday occurred when a yellow and white 1959 model auto struck a parked car owned by Amador Flores, 511 N. Benton, in the right rear, causing $15 damage.

Burglars Seize Guns, Bloody Trail Traced

Burglars left a bloody trail in the looting of Whittaker's Sport Shop, 910 E. 4th, Wednesday night or Thursday morning, that netted approximately $800 in guns and scopes.

Big Spring detectives said that entry to the building was made by breaking a front plate glass window. Spots of blood were found on the floor inside the store, indicating the person or persons had been cut by the broken glass.

Detectives said that from the number of items taken, there must have been two burglars involved.

The rifles and shotguns were taken from racks behind a counter on the south wall of the store, and the pistols and scopes were taken from display cases. Two shotguns were found behind a counter in front of the store, along with several drops of blood, indicating someone had hidden behind the counter, police said.

Taken in the burglary was one Remington 30-06 caliber bolt-action rifle, one Remington 243 caliber bolt-action rifle, two Remington 12-gauge pump shotguns, one Remington 12-gauge automatic shotgun, two Buffalo Scout .22 caliber revolvers, one Remington .22 caliber revolver, and four scopes.

Bank Robbers At Work

The FBI released this photo showing a trio of bank robbers at work in a Washington bank today. A hidden camera in a branch of the American Security & Trust Company recorded the scene as one bandit points a gun at employees; another keeps a revolver at the head of a bank security guard while the third scrambles over the counter at right. The bandits escaped with more than $13,000.

Chicago's Transportation Disputes Near Showdown

CHICAGO (AP)—Twin labor disputes involving a major share of the city's public transportation moved close to showdown today as preparations for the Democratic National Convention entered final stages.

Drivers of the 3,500 taxis operated by the Yellow and Checker Cab companies threatened to strike at midnight tonight unless agreement on a new contract is reached by then.

Dissident drivers of Chicago Transit Authority buses Thursday night voted down a compromise move by their union to avert a wildcat strike set for Aug. 25, the day before the convention opens.

While none of the smaller independent taxi companies would be affected by a cab strike, they have only a few more than 900 cabs among them.

Negotiators for the cab drivers and Yellow and Checker were to meet at midday with a federal mediator in final efforts to come to terms.

The drivers, represented by the Democratic Union Organizing Committee of the AFL-CIO Seafarers International Union, are seeking higher commissions on fares. The companies have offered 4 1/2 per cent of the fares, compared with a union demand of 50 per cent. Drivers now earn around $20 a day.

Several minor issues also are at stake, including a union demand for protective shields between the front and back seats

Rodeo Event Nets Profit

Big Spring Kiwanis Club will wind up with about $800 in profits from its highly successful Rodeo Barbecue of early June, Delaine Crawford, club secretary, announced Thursday.

Some bills are yet to be paid and some receipts yet to be reported, he said.

Program Thursday was a "classification" session. Dr. Roscoe Cowper, who came to Big Spring in 1934 and joined the Kiwanis Club the same year, told of his childhood and of his education and of the factors which led him to move westward.

He said he reached Big Spring on a day a blistering sandstorm was blowing—and that it continued for three days.

How he set about establishing a hospital formed a part of his discussion.

Soc Walker presided as program chairman in the absence of Jack Alexander, who was scheduled to conduct the program.

Holiday Inns Up To 1,000 Mark

"Our Holiday Inn system will reach a milestone Saturday with the opening of the 1000th Inn," said O. T. Brewster, innkeeper at the Holiday Inn in Big Spring.

"On Aug. 17, the 1000th location will be dedicated in San Antonio. A day-long celebration will pay tribute to this 325-room inn which is six blocks from HemisFair and the Alamo."

"We are especially proud to honor this inn because it represents an important date in our system's growth since its founding in 1952. The Holiday Inn international system is the world's largest motor-hotel organization with inns located in 49 states, Canada, the Caribbean and Europe."

"Here at the Holiday Inn of Big Spring, we can make free instant reservations for any of these locations which our residents may wish to visit, including the 1000th inn," Brewster added.

Hit-And-Run Woes Linger

Big Spring police may seem to be plagued with a rash of hit-and-run accidents during the past three weeks, but Sgt. J. D. Campbell of the traffic division said such accidents have been a problem here for 10 years.

"The hit-and-run accident has been a big problem here for a long time," Sgt. Campbell said, noting that there have been more hit-and-runs than usual recently.

A hit-and-run accident occurs when two vehicles are involved in an accident and one leaves the scene.

Sgt. Campbell said that when an accident happens and a car does leave, the driver of the other vehicle should get the correct license number of the fleeing auto and a proper description for police.

When the license number is traced to the owner of the car, through the county tax assessor, collector's office or by the Department of Public Safety, the driver may be charged with leaving the scene of an accident and fined up to $200, Sgt. Campbell said.

Fines in Corporation Court here for the first offense, a misdemeanor, usually are about $25, and go higher each such charge after that.

Many hit-and-run accidents occur when a car hits another vehicle which is parked and then leaves the scene. The law, however, states that when a person hits an unattended vehicle he must stop and try to locate its owner. If the owner cannot be found, he must leave his name and address in a conspicuous place on the struck auto.

Sgt. Campbell noted that leaving the scene of an accident in which injuries occur can result in heavier consequences. A person could then be charged with failure to stop and render aid, which is a felony, with a penalty of not more than five years in prison or more than one year in jail and fines up to $5,000.

The officers said that the law requires that all accidents with $25 in damage or more resulting to vehicles involved must be reported to all police.

"A ctually all accidents should be reported to police," Sgt. Campbell said, "but state law requires that those involving $25 or more in damage to be reported."

Bid To Cash Check Flops

A man who tried to cash a $70 check at a local store Thursday has been arrested and is being held while officers investigate how he happened to be in possession of the check form he was using.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said the man had a personalized check book issued to a Midland man, C. H. Porter. Mr. Porter, the sheriff learned, has been dead since last February.

The check which the suspect sought to cash was made out for $70 to Walter Johnson.

Held on vagrancy charges, pending final disposition of the case, the prisoner is known to have a long record of crimes with the law. His "rap" record covers several type-written pages.

It is possible that other checks written on similar forms as those taken from the prisoner may have been cashed or presented. The sheriff wants to hear from anyone who may have been asked to cash a check on the First National Bank of Midland with the name C. H. Porter printed in the upper left hand corner.

Local Woman Missing, Sheriff Sounds Appeal

Sheriff A. N. Standard said this morning fear is developing that foul play may be involved in the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Annis Marie Ingram, 43, of Jonesboro Road.

The woman has been missing since 2 p.m. Aug. 10. Also missing is her 1963 white-topped, green bodied Pontiac sedan, which she was driving along Scurry Street when last seen.

Mrs. Ingram, who worked for Furr's Cafeteria, visited her mother on Scurry Street on the afternoon of Aug. 10. She was off duty from her job at the time.

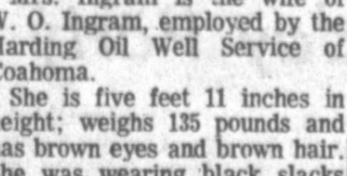

No trace of her or her car has been found since.

Mrs. Ingram is the wife of W. O. Ingram, employed by the Harding Oil Well Service of Coahoma.

She is five feet 11 inches in height; weighs 135 pounds and has brown eyes and brown hair. She was wearing black slacks and a flowered blouse when she disappeared.

The Pontiac sedan bore a Texas license plate DDZ 988.

The family reported her absence some time after Aug. 10. A local search was made and, when no trace of the woman was found, the sheriff's office dispatched a general alarm for her over the Department of Public Safety teletype. There have been no clues found.

Standard sounded an appeal to all persons to be on the lookout for the woman and the car and if either is seen to call his office.

He pointed out that the failure of the car to show up was greatly increased the probability that Mrs. Ingram could have met with foul play. She did not have much money with her at the time she vanished.

Dr. Carl Moved

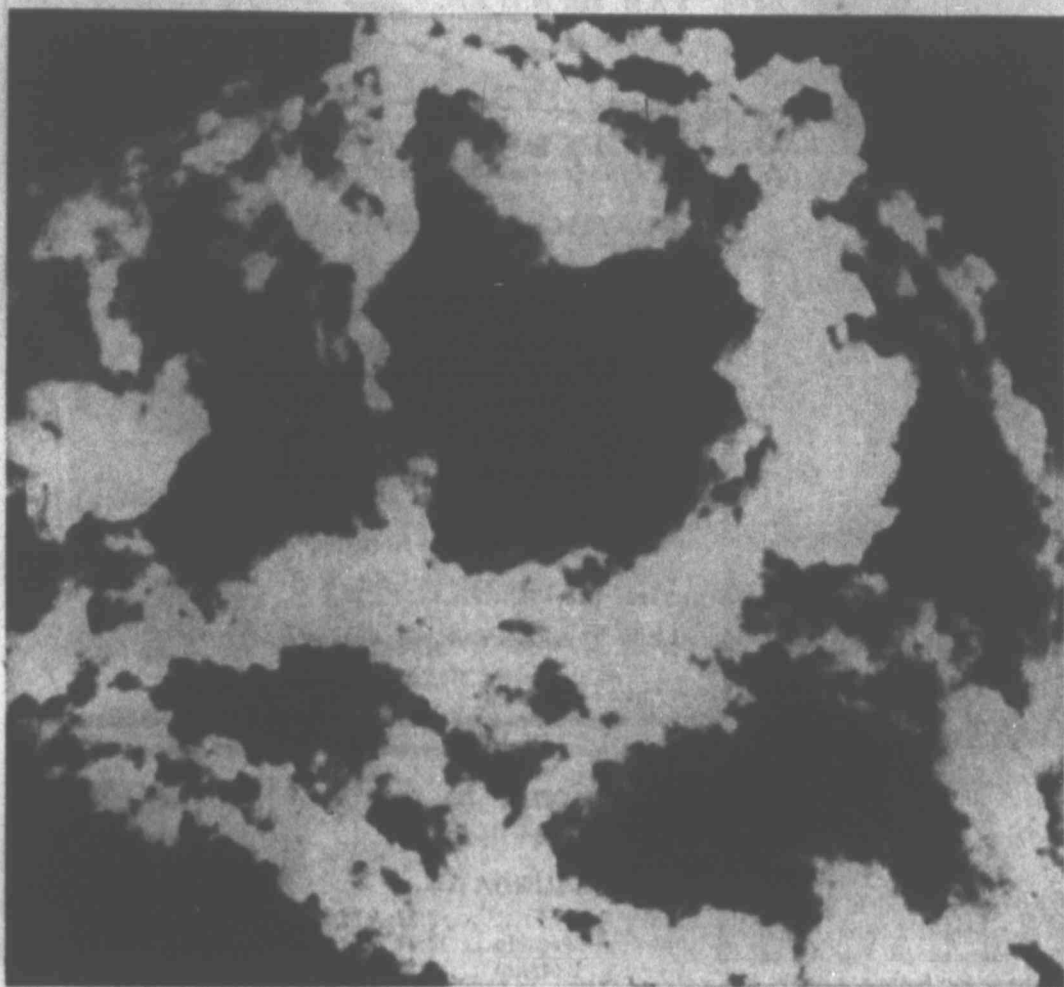

Dr. Alsie H. Carl, who was elected to the United Methodist South Central Conference in Oklahoma City, has moved to the ministry of the Church in North Texas. Pretzel In The Sky

The U.S. Navy launched the first flight model of the Poseidon missile from Cape Kennedy, Fla., today, but it didn't take this course. High altitude winds blew the vapor trail into the pretzel looking shape.

America's Newest Missile Launched

part of the submarine fleet by the early 1970's. One test goal was covering a distance of 1,000 miles into the Atlantic Ocean. Poseidon was one of two new, powerful missiles scheduled for testing here today. Both were designed to improve chances of penetrating enemy defenses.

Slated to blast off later today was the Air Force's Minuteman 3. Both Poseidon and Minuteman 3 have specially designed warheads that can contain several bombs and carry computers to aim them at targets hundreds of miles apart.

Satellites Pose Propaganda Woes

VIENNA (AP) — A United Nations agency reported today that satellites "represent a turning point in the history of communication" but warned that international laws are needed to control them.

The report was presented at the first U.N. conference on peaceful uses of outer space, which opened Wednesday with delegates attending from 74 nations.

Texas Cool Front Fades

Texas weather calmed today but there still were a few thunderstorms in the far west part of the state and near the coast. Occasional showers also cropped up again in parts of the Texas Panhandle after dying down during the night, but there was nothing to match the blustery violence of storms in various sections the past few days.

Without regulation, one U.N. official said, individual nations could use satellites as a powerful propaganda tool.

Moisture remained plentiful aloft over the coastal plains of Texas, and afternoon heating promised to set off further shower activity there. It was expected to stay rather warm throughout the state.

The report envisioned "satellite technology which would make worldwide electronic distribution of news, newspapers and any other printed or visual information material possible for reception on individual sets."

NAB Finds 140,000 Jobs For Hard-Core Unemployed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An executive of the National Alliance of Businessmen has told President Johnson that 140,000 jobs have been found for the hard-core unemployed.

In a report to the President on the first six months of the NAB's jobs campaign, Beebe said the alliance had obtained 310,000 job commitments and placed 140,000 people on the job.

"The alliance was anathema in some cities," the report said. "Mayors and civic groups had programs of their own. Some openly resisted the alliance, others opposed more discreetly."

Beth Graumann, Ann Budke Attend International Meeting

By JEAN FANNIN
Two BSHS seniors will have a lot to tell their classmates when school starts this fall. Beth Graumann and Ann Budke left Big Spring Thursday afternoon for Dallas, en route to Purdue University and the International Walther League Gathering, Tuesday through Friday.

"I think it will be a really good experience," Miss Graumann said. The girls will be meeting with 4,000 other young people to elect 10 of their peers to a Youth Commission.

"Six have already been appointed and have been working to get things started," she said. "We will probably just approve their appointments and elect four more to the commission."

The Walther League is an organization of the Lutheran church and activities will be church-oriented, Miss Budke said. The teens, ranging in age from 14 to 19 years, will attend church services and hold discussions exploring the relationship between the Christian life and all facets of the world's immense problems.

Texans at the meet, Miss Graumann said. "We wanted something associated with Texas and the hats seemed the best idea."

Delegates will be staying in university dormitories at Purdue and have received room assignments. Miss Graumann has adopted a wait-and-see attitude concerning her room assignment — to the men's dormitory. "Surely they couldn't mistake Elizabeth for a boy's name, but then Ann is assigned to the women's dorm," she said.

Indiana, new to Miss Graumann, will be familiar territory to Miss Budke. Her grandmother lives in Evansville and she has many relatives in the area. Born in St. Charles, Mo., she has spent most of her life traveling around the country. Her father retired from the Air Force in 1964, and the family has now settled down in Big Spring.

"WITH JOY"
"With Joy" is the theme of the meet, but the emphasis and the accent will be on world hunger, Miss Budke said. "We can't do much about the problem right now," she said, "but our purpose is to familiarize ourselves with it."

The two girls were scheduled to join with some 36 other Lutheran young people in Dallas and travel by chartered bus to West Lafayette, Ind., where Purdue is located. They were scheduled to leave Irving at 10:15 a.m. today.

Their itinerary includes stops in Tulsa, St. Louis, Mo., Chicago, Valparaiso, Ind., and a visit to Valparaiso University, a Lutheran school, is also on the agenda. They will return home via Nashville, Louisville, Little Rock and Dallas. Cowboy hats will identify the

New Minister
Richard Williams, his wife, Winnie, and daughter, Tammy, have recently moved to Big Spring where he will be minister for the Anderson Street Church of Christ.

STATIONED HERE
"We were stationed here in 1962 for two and a half years," she said, and in 1960 Budke was transferred again to Webb from Anchorage.

She has one brother, David, 20, who is stationed with the Army in Vietnam. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Budke, 3621 Dixon.

Miss Graumann, born in Leveand, moved to Big Spring from Snyder 10 years ago. She has one brother, Keith, 15, who is a sophomore at BSHS. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Graumann, 1903 Nolan.

Following graduation from high school both girls are planning college careers. Miss Budke plans to major in elementary education at West Texas State in Canyon, and Miss Graumann plans to attend Howard County Junior College and then go on to Texas Tech in Lubbock or North Texas State in Denton with a major in journalism.

She is senior editor of the high school annual staff and recently returned from the West Texas High School Press Association meeting in Lubbock.

She will be representing a zone made up of churches in Pecos, Fort Stockton, Andrews, Kermit, Monahans, Midland, Odessa and Big Spring at the meeting. She was chosen over three other teenagers at a zone meeting.

Miss Budke will be representing the local league from St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Methodist Youth Activities
Wesley Methodist Youth Week, Wednesday through Sunday of this week, was planned by and for youth. A film, "The World, the Flesh and the Devil," is planned for tonight at 7:30 p.m. and a "happening" is planned for Saturday night. Youth will take over evening services Sunday. Carl Van Vleet and Sue Pohl, standing, and Barbara Todd and Sara Pohl, kneeling, have been among the young people planning activities.

New Minister Moves To City

Richard Williams, new minister for the Anderson Street Church of Christ, is from Decatur, Ill., but he attended school in Arkansas and Texas.

He attended Harding College in Searcy, Ark., and Sunset School of Preaching in Lubbock. He has been working part time with the Anderson Street Church of Christ since December while finishing his schooling in Lubbock.

Williams and his wife, Winnie, have one daughter, four-year-old Tammy, and will be living at 1311 Mulberry.

ACTIVE PEOPLE OF TODAY NEED MORE TIME TO THINK

In today's schedules there is very little time to think — there is always noise or activity. We need to do nothing instead of "nothink," the Uniform Sunday School lesson points out this week.

The lesson is taken from Haggai 1:1-9 and Ezra 5:1-2 and concerns a great milestone in the history of the children of Israel — the rebuilding of the temple.

Material possessions are the blockade to satisfaction when they are put before God in one's life, the lesson says, though they are not wrong in themselves.

God always has a man for the right time and place — a prophet to speak out against complacency among their people and urge faithfulness, and in this case it was Haggai and Zechariah who told the people they were not doing the work of the lord but were helping themselves to live in luxury.

Many discontented people in materialistic America do not know that God has stated and restated the fact that "things" do not give the kind of satisfaction He meant men and women to have.

People today need to know what Haggai told his people: that they are putting the emphasis on the wrong things and neglecting eternal things.

Everyone gives his life to something; he must learn that commitment to the Lord and His way of life is most valuable.

It's Such a Big World

Some folks say that as we grow older the world grows smaller. Is that because of the wonders of modern communication and transportation? Or is it because when some folks grow older they become preoccupied with their own little orbit of life?

Junior certainly enters life completely preoccupied with himself. But once he begins to walk and talk—gosh how his world balloons!

That's why he needs the religious training our churches provide. His faith must keep pace with his burgeoning world.

And as grown-ups, in worship and Christian devotion, we need likewise the spiritual gifts our churches offer.

For it really is a big world. Full of challenges, opportunities, and promising tomorrows. It always looks that way to a growing soul.

Floating Saucer

A Newport Beach, Calif., yachtsman, C. M. Christensen walks on top of the sailing-saucer he built for a planned trip around the world. The craft is propelled by four hydro-folts and rides on an air cushion when under way. It's made of laminated fiberglass and cost about $15,000. Christensen, who won't let anybody see the inside, has named it Top Secret.

Wallace May Get On Ballots In 38 States

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — George Wallace's third party presidential campaign has met the requirements to get on the ballots in 38 states, campaign aides said Thursday, although the secretaries of state have not certified petitions in all of them.

The workers also said that legal battles or petition drives are being conducted in the remaining states—Hawaii, Indiana, Iowa, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Vermont, Virginia, Washington and Wisconsin.

The former Alabama governor will try to spur petition efforts in Indiana today with speeches in Hammond at a fund-raising dinner and rally. Similar speaking engagements are scheduled in Fort Wayne on Saturday.

Wallace will kickoff the two-day tour with a news conference at Chicago's Midway Airport. Bill Hastey, a Wallace aide in Indiana, said that nearly half the 8,320 signatures needed to get him on the ballot there have been obtained. He predicted they would have about 16,000 or 17,000 signatures by the end of August.

Wallace is expected to return to Montgomery after the Indiana trip for several days relaxation before taking off Tuesday for an eight-day tour to Little Rock, Ark., Oklahoma City, Portland, Ore., Los Angeles, Long Beach, Calif., and Phoenix, Ariz.

Aides said Wallace's Aug. 27 visit to Phoenix was pushed back from Aug. 22.

Dear Abby Loves His Hefty Wife

DEAR ABBY: This probably won't make your column, but for the sake of all men who have fat wives, I hope it does.

My wife is 5 feet 3 and tips the scale at 200 pounds, but as long as she is happy, so am I.

Our children adore her, worship her and friends love her. She is a wonderful cook and housekeeper and she always dresses neat and smells fresh and clean. She's never nervous and grouchy like most women who are always on some crazy starvation diet. To me, she is perfect and I tell her so. I couldn't be more anxious to get home to her every evening if she looked like Sophia Loren. Sign me . . .

SATISFIED DEAR SATISFIED: If you are satisfied, fine. But is your wife's DOCTOR satisfied? Ask any insurance expert how many years of life one can deduct from each 10 pounds of overweight. Vanity isn't everything, I agree. But if you want that wonderful wife around to "worship" in your old age, give her some food — for thought.

DEAR ABBY: This letter is for parents who believe their son is window peeping: My fiancé has been in that sort of trouble for the past 10 years. He said he did it at first for kicks. Then it became a habit. There followed a series of arrests and jail sentences. He is presently awaiting action good family. I beg you, please see that your son consults a doctor, clergyman, school guidance counselor, or any mental health center, but do it now. Later may be too late. NO NAME, NO CITY, PLEASE.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that Montana professor that somebody here in Arkansas disagrees with him. He said, "a wife should be patient and encourage her husband to stay in graduate school, for they will both benefit from his increased earning capacity as well as the professional status boost he will have earned," or words to that effect.

I say, PHOOEY! I quit college and worked for eight years in order to put my husband through medical school. Then he met a cute little nurse! He left me and took his "increased earning capacity and professional status boost" with him.

If I had been wise, I'd have finished MY education in order to increase MY earning capacity, because now I have to support myself.

Candidates In Race For Entertainers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Zsa Zsa and Eva Gabor come out for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. Sen. Eugene McCarthy counters with a pair of well-known Allens—Steve and Woody.

Leonard Bernstein backs presidential nomination.

A third candidate, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, entered the race only last Saturday and apparently hasn't had either the time or inclination to comb the dwindling ranks of stage, movie, television and concert performers still uncommitted.

The McCarthy camp fielded scores of performers in a series of rallies across the nation Thursday night, with Harry Belafonte sharing billing with the candidate at the main one in New York's Madison Square Garden.

The Humphrey headquarters jumped in shortly before those performances with an announcement—"for immediate release"—that the "Fifth Dimension" musical group had joined the Entertainers for Humphrey Committee.

A FEW NAMES With Simon & Garfunkel already enlisted on McCarthy's behalf, his forces managed to survive the opposition maneuver.

The McCarthy camp includes performers under the broad heading of "Arts and Letters." The approach brings together Brooks Atkinson, Polly Bergen, Red Buttons, Betty Friedan, John Kenneth Galbraith, Robert Goulet, Jean Kerr, Bob Newhart and Igor Stravinsky, among many others.

In his more compartmented approach, Humphrey has an entertainment committee (Danny Thomas, Jerry Lewis, Soupy Sales, Al Hirt, Jane Morgan and Peter Duchin, to name a few) and a separate Arts & Letters listing.

RFK Film Prepared For Demo Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 20-minute motion picture depicting the public life of Robert F. Kennedy is being prepared for the Democratic National Convention—but party officials refuse to say when or if it will be shown.

Charles Guggenheim said in an interview that his Washington production firm was commissioned by the Kennedy family to make the film. He said the project is 60 per cent complete.

Four years ago, Kennedy—then attorney general and a candidate for the Senate—stood head bowed and eyes moist before the Democratic convention in Atlantic City and introduced a similar film of highlights in the life of his brother, John F. Kennedy, slain nine months earlier by an assassin.

For 13 minutes, the thousands in convention hall cheered Robert Kennedy. When the lights went on after the film, thousands were weeping.

Guggenheim's firm, which made a documentary for Kennedy of his 1964 Senate campaign, has asked for film footage from television networks and television stations and for still pictures from news media.

The film will be in black and white. The narrator, Guggenheim said, will be someone well known.

WILL NOT SAY Guggenheim was reluctant to discuss specific scenes because the movie is subject to approval by the Kennedy family.

"This will not be a definitive biography, but rather the quality of a man's life," he said. "I don't think we have to trick it up to get an emotional response—the loss people feel is the quality the man communicated."

The Democratic National Committee has refused to say if the film is scheduled. In 1964, the John Kennedy movie was rescheduled from the second to the fourth day of convention week until after a vice presidential candidate had been nominated.

Some critics have accused the administration of a hard-line interpretation of the recent decline in enemy military operations.

SIGNAL CALL Their argument is that the lull should be viewed as Hanoi's response to President Johnson's bombing limitation, ordered March 31, and that the administration ought to follow through with another step of de-escalation: Stopping all the bombing.

Clifford contended in a Pentagon news conference that all signs point to the likelihood of a major new offensive, and that Hanoi could easily dispel the notion.

"Obviously, what I would regard as a clear signal would be the kind of signal that would be so easy for them to give," the defense chief said.

"All they have to do," he added, "is get word to us that they have reduced the level of combat and that they will continue to reduce the level of combat, and that that constitutes a de-escalatory step, and that we could then get on with substantive negotiations in Paris."

Clifford suggested as an alternative Hanoi could get its message across indirectly by further lowering the combat level "for a lengthy period of time, with some word even through third parties that this constituted a recognition on their part of the need to get on with the Paris peace talks."

DEATHS DECLINE The drop in enemy activity has been noted by defense officials the past seven weeks, in terms of both large-unit and small scale actions.

U.S. combat deaths have declined, too, since the Tet offensive when as many as 400 to 500 Americans were killed in a peak week. They now average about 181 a week.

Clifford acknowledged the North Vietnamese have been withdrawing troops to border areas of their own territory as well as to Laos and Cambodia but he did not interpret this as de-escalation.

"This is a pattern that he has followed in the past," he said. "He moves the troops out of the battle areas so that he can start the regrouping and the refitting, and institute other preparations for attack."

"We have no alternative, obviously, but to proceed on the assumption that there will be a third enemy offensive," Clifford said.

What Does Current General Lull In Vietnam War Mean?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration is putting the onus on North Vietnam to say directly or indirectly whether the current battlefield lull in South Vietnam is a sign of de-escalation.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford gave that word Thursday while making clear he believes the lull merely reflects a time of preparation for new enemy attacks.

Some critics have accused the

Wheat Prices Not Key To Bread Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The price farmers receive for wheat on the free market appears to have little to do with what consumers have to pay for bread, Agriculture Department economists indicate.

Right now the cash wheat market in many farm areas is at the lowest ebb since the early 1940s, well below the government price-support loan rate average of $1.25 a bushel.

The department says in its current review of the farm marketing and transportation situation that the average retail price of a one-pound loaf of white bread last year was 22.2 cents.

This average loaf, the department said, contained 28 cents worth of wheat, valued at the farm producing it.

In other words, as wheat farmers have pointed out before, if the farmer gave his wheat away free of charge, the consumer still would have to pay 19.4 cents for a loaf of bread at his local supermarket.

School Nixes Freedom Bid Of 'Killer'

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — State officials say John Phillip Angles, 29, who was committed to a boys correctional school after the 1965 slaying of three fishermen, will not be released immediately.

County Judge Bolar Brown of Kleberg County last week signed an order for Angles' release, but Clinton Kersey of Austin, director of paroles for the Texas Youth Council, said Thursday the court order would have no effect on the handling of the youth.

The school refused to free Angles and an attorney Wednesday applied for a writ of habeas corpus.

A hearing on the writ is set for Monday at 1:30 p.m., and two state youth correctional officials have been ordered to testify in Kleberg County court.

County Judge Brown said he was ordering the release of Angles so the youth could attend college. He said he had been informed that Angles had completed all courses at the school plus some correspondence work.

"Once a juvenile court judges a youth to be delinquent, he is placed completely under our jurisdiction at least until he is 21 years old," Kersey said. "He cannot be released without a unanimous decision by a committee composed of the staff of our central office and the correctional school," Kersey added.

George Adams, superintendent of the Gatesville Mountain View School, said Angles was still in his custody.

"Our office has been instructed to hold him until we have further word from the Texas Youth Council," he said.

Kersey, chairman of the release committee, said officials of the Gatesville school did not believe the youth is ready for release.

Angles and Paul Eric Krueger of San Clemente, Fla. were charged in the 1965 shooting of three Corpus Christi fishermen. Krueger, was tried as an adult for each of the murders.

If You Walk Don't Drink

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Nearly half the 19 pedestrians who died in Milwaukee traffic accidents during the first seven months of 1968 had been drinking, the city Safety Commission said Wednesday.

The commission said it was not specifically listing alcoholic beverage as the primary cause of the deaths. Of the nine victims who had been drinking, most were older than 50, and most were injured at night, it said.

Deaf Dallasite Didn't Want House To Collapse

DALLAS (AP) — August down. Kraus built a house back in 1931 and he didn't mean for it to fall.

The other day, however, the city condemned the place to be unfit to be occupied and the owner hired Ed Marsh to tear the place down.

Marsh, using a bulldozer, has found Kraus implanted numerous frames, axles, bumpers and springs of old Model A Fords in the walls, mixing and pouring a five-gallon bucket of concrete at a time.

PROMISE

"It's the toughest job I've ever had," Marsh said Wednesday. Kraus, now 92, lives in another house behind that being razed, and the city has condemned it as well.

"He wants to stay there till he dies," said Charles F. Humphreys, the current owner. "When he sold the property he put in a clause allowing him to live in the upstairs room until he died. I'm not going to put him out."

HUNCHBACK

Kraus came here in 1908 from Germany and worked as a handyman for a downtown hotel. He never married.

Although deaf and bent nearly double, he still goes out to collect scrap paper for a church's missionary society. He cooks his meals on a wood-burning stove.

His second floor quarters are reached by climbing steep stairs and the ceiling is unusually low. Years of living there are blamed for making him hunchbacked.

Girl, Priest Plan Appeal

LONDON (AP) — A 9-year-old American schoolgirl and a Roman Catholic priest flew to London today to appeal to the Archbishop of Canterbury on behalf of the children of Biafra, but no one came to meet them at London airport.

Melanie Nix arrived from New York with the Rev. Aloysius Dempsey. They were sent by the American Committee to Keep Biafra Alive and are scheduled to go on to Rome Saturday to appeal to Pope Paul VI.

"I do not know what to do," said Father Dempsey. "We only have 24 hours in which to see the archbishop before going on to Rome. I was promised by the committee that we would be met here."

Crane Operator Cheats Death

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — A motor crane operator swinging a wrecking ball in the demolition of the old St. Joseph's Hospital here narrowly escaped death when one of the walls fell on the crane.

Douglas C. Clarkson, 50, of Dallas was placed in the new St. Joseph's Hospital next door with multiple bruises and lacerations. He was thrown from the cab of the crane. Roy Clark, vice president of B. N. Nabors Co., the Dallas firm wrecking the hospital, said being thrown out was all that saved Clarkson.

The cab and sections of the boom were buried under the debris.

Santa Rosa Faces Hospital Crisis

SANTA ROSA, N.M. (AP) — Residents in an estimated 18,000-square mile area of Eastern New Mexico will be without medical services if the small SSTA Rosa Hospital closes Sept. 1.

The community's only doctor, Dr. John Galvin, said he plans to leave Sept. 1.

He said Thursday that he wasn't leaving this town on US 66 because of a lack of practice but because of a heavy work load imposed on only one doctor.

The only other doctor in Santa Rosa resigned from the hospital staff July 22.

When Galvin leaves, the nearest physicians will be at Tucumcari, 58 miles east; Albuquerque, 115 miles west; Las Vegas, 65 miles north, and Fort Sumner, 45 miles south.

The hospital has operated since 1952, and residents are afraid it may be closed after Galvin leaves.

Daily costs to operate the hospital, which is staffed by Dominican sisters from Grand Rapids, Mich., are $500, said hospital board president H. L. Gallegos. Other board members said $46,000 is owed the hospital for regular care and $4,000 for emergency room treatments.

The hospital administrator, Sister Marie Alexander, said it requires 50 per cent occupancy of the 21-bed hospital to break even. There was an average of six patients per day in July, compared with an average of 10 per day in 1967.

Board members said if another doctor is not found, the Dominican sisters, who arrived in 1955 after a similar crisis closed the hospital in 1952, will leave and the hospital will be closed.

Moon Lumps Could Delay

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A mass concentration of dense material found beneath the surface of the moon could delay the first man landings, two scientists report.

The discovery of lumps the size of cities 30 miles below the surface of the moon was reported Thursday by two scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

Mathematicians Paul M. Muller and William L. Sjogren said they detected the mass concentrations of dense material—called mascons—in a study of unexplained speed changes in the flight of Lunar Orbiter 5, last of a series of photographic survey ships.

The researchers said the mascons caused the craft to speed up when it flew over them. They said this could make a landing craft miss its target by several miles.
