Death Only Moments Away

This was the scene in Los Angeles Wednesday as pilot Walter Atherton was thrown clear of his helicopter, with Mike McKenna just above him only moments before the craft crashed at Forest Lawn Memorial Park in the Hollywood Hills. Both men were killed in the accident. The helicopter went out of control when lines suspending McKenna were entangled atop a church steeple he was getting ready to paint.

SUNDAY

N. Koreans May Release Pueblo Crew

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Alabama congressman says the captive U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo and its 82-man crew may be released by North Korea on Sunday.

Rep. William L. Dickinson, R-Ala., said reliable sources had informed him the release might coincide with the anniversary Sunday of the founding of the People's Republic of North Korea.

Dickinson, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, did not disclose the source of his information. But he said original intelligence estimates indicating the ship would be released after a thorough study of its electronic equipment appeared to be correct.

Bible Fund Report

Another splendid response today pushed the high school Bible Class appeal to less than a thousand dollars from its goal. Fifteen friends — including two service clubs — gave $255, the largest amount for a single day since the annual campaign got under way.

If this pace is maintained by the friends who have not yet sent in their gifts, then the goal of $3,500 can be met by the time the formal appeal ends this weekend. But it will take your help now — so if you can help with this important ministry for our young people, send or mail your investment today.

Strikes Keep Schools Closed

VACATIONS EXTENDED FOR THOUSANDS

Teachers striking over salary and other grievances have postponed the opening of the fall school term for thousands of pupils around the nation.

In Michigan, 67,700 youngsters continued their summer vacations as 12 districts remained closed. Teachers in another 35 districts agreed to work while contract talks continue.

The New York City public school system with 1.1-million students was threatened with a repeat of last fall's teachers' strike as the head of the teachers union said he would recommend a walkout Monday.

Last ditch negotiations between teachers and the school board continued in Philadelphia to avert a strike in the 276,000-pupil system which starts classes Friday.

A teacher boycott in East St. Louis, Ill. was in its second week with 23,600 pupils affected. Negotiations Wednesday were fruitless as the 900-teacher union sought higher pay and a formal working agreement.

In Madison, Ill., where some 35 of the town's 3,000 pupils picketed to get back in class, the school board went to court in an effort to return teachers to their jobs.

About 100 teachers submitted mass resignations which the school board refused to honor.

The board sought a circuit court judgment to determine if he could hire replacements for teachers who refused to report.

Six of 13 public schools in East Chicago, Ind., were closed with 372 of the city's 496 teachers out on strike. School Supt. Ernest Millers said about 70 per cent of the 10,300 pupils attended classes.

The 500 teachers in the Clarksville-Montgomery County, Tenn., school system walked out Tuesday night to protest budget cuts. Registration for 14,000 pupils—many dependents of servicemen at the Ft. Campbell, Ky. Army base—was set for Friday.

Darien, Conn., teachers voted to stay away from classes again today to support demand for higher pay. Affected were about 5,200 pupils in the city's 10 public schools.

East Haven, Conn., schools with 6,000 pupils were hit by a strike with the dispute reportedly centering on inclusion of teachers' families in medical insurance.

Despite some tension, classes in all but one of Boston's 159 schools opened without incident.

The exception was the Gibson school in the Dorchester section where a group of Negro parents said they would renew a sit-in to force the transfer of a newly appointed white principal and her replacement by a Negro principal of their own choice.

Johnston, R.I., public schools were prevented from opening Wednesday when bus drivers reported sick. Their union's negotiations with the school committee for a new contract have been stalled several months.

The New York City dispute involves a controversy over hiring and firing of teachers by an experimental local school board in Brooklyn.

The board dismissed 19 teachers last spring and the teachers union says there will be a city-wide strike unless 10 of them are reinstated.

'DISORDERS COULD HAVE OCCURRED IN ANY CITY'

Nixon Defends Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard M. Nixon said today the disorders in Chicago last week "could have occurred in any other city."

At an early morning news conference he was asked to elaborate on a statement he made about the violence during an hour-long telecast Wednesday night. He said that criticism of either the Chicago police or the demonstrators would not be helpful.

NOT DEMO

Nixon added, "What happened in Chicago was not the agony of Chicago. It was not the agony of the Democratic party. It was the agony of America. It could have happened in any other city."

Nixon said the question was the proper balance between dissent and maintaining law and order.

He said that he has stated repeatedly, "that no cause justifies the use of violence."

He advocated a study of that question.

He said he was not advocating a federal police force but the development of "highly trained local forces."

He said the national study should touch on the question of "once the law is broken, what degree of force is proper." That is a difficult decision for the individual officer.

He said that during his campaign for the presidency he will discuss the question of the violence in Chicago and the need for a national study.

Nixon held the news conference just before carrying his campaign to San Francisco.

NON-PARTISAN

Nixon said Wednesday political figures should not make partisan comments on last week's violence while federal and local investigations of the disorder are in progress.

"I'm not going to get into it," he said.

The Republican candidate for president made the statement on a question-and-answer program televised live in Chicago Wednesday night.

A panel of seven men and one woman asked Nixon 17 questions on domestic and foreign problems during the hour-long session. A partisan studio audience of about 300 applauded after Nixon finished each answer.

Nixon was asked about his opinion of the tactics of the Chicago police during the disorders and whether he believes the media coverage of the disturbances was fair.

GRIMACED

Before answering he grimaced and said, "that grieves the questions weren't planted."

Then he said he had just learned that a presidential committee headed by Dr. Milton Eisenhower is to conduct an investigation and that the city of Chicago has authorized an inquiry into the violence.

"I feel there was a great deal of activity on the part of demonstrators you didn't see on television which irritated the police, which was certainly provocative in nature," Nixon said.

Assaults To Block Infiltrators Staged

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces launched air and ground assaults today to block Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops moving toward Saigon from the north and northwest.

But U.S. intelligence officers said the earliest the enemy could attack the capital was Sept. 15, and that any plans to attack may depend on success against allied troops in the outlying areas.

South Vietnamese rangers relocated an enemy force only 2 1/2 miles southwest of Saigon Wednesday in the biggest outbreak of fighting near the capital since enemy troops battled their way into the city in May and June.

Vietnamese headquarters said

Free Stable

ATASCADERO (Calif. AP) — For pupils who live 10 miles from school or less, Atascadero is out this year in the Atascadero Unified School District.

"We just can't afford it," Supt. Edward Holden said Wednesday. But he said free stabling will be provided to youngsters who ride horses to school.

seven rangers were killed and 17 wounded, and 31 enemy bodies were counted on the battlefield.

The attackers were believed part of a large reconnaissance force probing for weak points in Saigon's defenses. Another enemy unit about a mile away fired eight mortar shells at government rangers and wounded five, a South Vietnamese spokesman said.

More than 2,000 American and South Vietnamese infantrymen launched a drive early today into the Boi Loi Woods, 30 miles northwest of Saigon, where a former enemy base camp has been leveled by bulldozers and saturation bombing raids.

Elements of two regiments from the Viet Cong 5th Division are believed to have pushed into the Boi Loi Woods during the past few weeks. The allies aim to keep the enemy from using the woods as a staging area for attack on allied installations and government towns along the offensive lines leading into Saigon. These include the headquarters of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division at Cu Chi, about 10 miles to the south.

Meanwhile, U.S. B-52 bombers dropped tons of bombs on suspected positions of two North Vietnamese regiments reported to have moved to within 38 miles north of Saigon from jungled hideouts along the Cambodian border near the district town of Loc Ninh. Earlier, the B-52s hit suspected stores of ammunition and rice for these troops.

One U.S. intelligence source said the enemy had planned to attack the capital Sept. 1 or 2 but now "they're going to continue harassing actions while they re-plan what to do about Saigon."

Schools Report 7,401 Signed In

Enrollment in Big Spring schools increased 33 more today for a total of 7,401, according to Sam Anderson, school superintendent.

Increases came in all schools, with the high school gaining 17 for a 2,051 total, and the junior highs adding three for 1,271. Elementary schools had an increase of 12 for 3,953, and special education was upped by one for a 126 total, he said.

Beauties Chalk Up Victories

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Miss Iowa, Susan Thompson, jubilant over winning the first swimsuit judging in the 1968 Miss America Pageant, says her father leaves Sept. 27 for Vietnam.

TAKES JOY

"It kind of takes some of the joy away from it," said the curvy, 20-year-old daughter of an Air Force pilot after Wednesday night's competition.

Susan's dad, Maj. Abe Thompson, was unable to see his daughter at the pageant. Formerly a professor of aerospace studies at Grove City College in western Pennsylvania,

LBJ Popularity At Record Low

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Johnson's popularity among Americans has hit a record low, according to the Gallup Poll.

A nationwide survey shows that only 35 per cent of those questioned approved of the way the President is performing his job, the poll said Wednesday. Some 52 per cent disapproved.

President Johnson's previous low in popularity was 36 per cent last March, just before he said he was limiting bombing of North Vietnam and would not seek re-election.

he is now in training for his second tour of duty as a jet fighter pilot in Vietnam.

Susan said she has moved from post to post since 1954. "The only piece of furniture that followed us was the piano," the blonde, blue-eyed Drake University music major from Des Moines added.

Although she will play the piano in the talent competition, the judges found nothing wrong in the way she filled a swimsuit with her 36-24-36 figure. She stands 5-foot-8, and weighs 121 pounds.

While Susan was winning the swimsuit judging, Miss Virginia, 19-year-old Cherie Davis took first night honors in the talent division.

A junior at the Shenandoah Conservatory of Music, the brown-haired mezzo soprano won the judges' nod by singing the aria "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice" from the opera "Samson and Delilah."

"I had high hopes but I didn't think I was going to win," said Cherie, of Clifton Forge, Va., population 6,000.

The 50 contestants are divided into three groups for three nights of preliminary judging. The 17 who were in the talent division Wednesday don't swim-suits Thursday night and evening gowns Friday.

GOAL

The goal each girl seeks is the title Miss America 1969 and a $10,000 scholarship, glamor and excitement that go with the crown.

Marmes Needle

Scientists digging at the Marmes Rockshelter in Washington have uncovered this delicate, 13,000-year-old bone needle which they say represents "a feat of engineering comparable to the wheel." The needle was discovered 20 feet from where remains of the Marmes Man were found.

NY Cops Attack Black Panthers?

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay has ordered an immediate report on charges that off-duty policemen were among a group of 200 white men who attacked about a dozen Black Panthers and white sympathizers in the Brooklyn Criminal Court building.

The clash took place Wednesday in a sixth floor corridor outside a packed courtroom where three Black Panthers had a hearing on charges of beating three policemen Aug. 20. Three persons including a white girl were injured.

Witnesses said the group of white men—some known to newsmen as policemen—who had been unable to get into the courtroom slowly converged on the smaller group and then suddenly rushed them.

Blackjacks were seen swinging down through the air during the melee which was broken up by uniformed officers assigned to the building. No arrests were made.

David Brothers, leader of the Brooklyn Panthers, and Thomas McCreary, a member of the militant group, charged that their attackers were members of the Law Enforcement Group of New York, a militant group of police officers.

Half The People Won't Own Auto They Drive?

DETROIT (AP) — Sometime within the 1970s half the people sitting behind automobile steering wheels in the United States won't own the car they're driving, William S. Pickett, sales vice president of American Motors Corp., says.

Pickett says the cars the drivers won't own will be those from company fleets, you-drive-it rentals or those leased, rather than bought, from dealers or others.

LEASING AUTO

The reason, he said, is the snowballing sales of lease, rental and fleet cars.

Some others within the industry and even within Pickett's own company suggest his forecast of 50 per cent before 1980 is high, but such sales already account for something like 12 per cent and most industry executives anticipate growth.

Clyde Sutton, assistant sales manager of McCullagh Leasing Inc. of Detroit, agrees with Pickett that possibly 30 per cent won't own the cars they're driving by 1980, and he pictures the leasing business as "growing by leaps and bounds."

"We think," Sutton said, "we honestly can show an individual it is cheaper to lease than to buy. Leases are adaptable to almost any given situation or condition. Leasing amounts to one-stop shopping and there's a minimum amount of pressure."

ADVANTAGES

American Motors now has 141 dealers who lease, as well as sell cars. Chrysler reports 291 dealers in its leasing system with 70,000 vehicles under lease and the business growing at the rate of 10 per cent yearly. Ford reported 2,460 leasing dealers.

GM had no figures immediately available on the number of leasing dealers, but likely has more than the others, since it has many more dealers to begin with.

Advocates of leasing list these advantages: No capital investment through down payment, no worry about used car values at trade-in time, a possible tax write-off for business people, a new car every year or two and cheaper insurance and no repair bills in some deals.

Bishops Asked To Step Into Priests' Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty-one Roman Catholic priests, claiming a right to their own ideas on birth control, are asking the National Council of Catholic Bishops to step into the priests' dispute with Washington's Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle.

sermon the words of some Catholic theologians who disagreed with Pope Paul VI's encyclical banning all forms of artificial birth control.

Cardinal O'Boyle told a news conference this week that the encyclical is the authoritative teaching of the church and must be followed by priests who deal with birth control, even though the encyclical is not necessarily infallible.

ADVANTAGES

A leader of the dissident priests, the Washington Priests Association, said Wednesday night a petition is being sent to the Council of Bishops asking it to set up a special board to mediate the dispute which already has led to suspension of one priest.

The suspended priest is the Rev. T. Joseph O'Donoghue who moved out of his Northwest Washington rectory quarters Wednesday, meeting a deadline set by Cardinal O'Boyle.

The cardinal suspended Father O'Donoghue for citing in a church.

408 U.S. Troops Killed Last Week

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. casualties surged upward again last week, reflecting the heavy fighting that had continued for a second week after a prolonged lull. The U.S. Command said 408 U.S. troops were killed and another 2,513 were wounded, 1,398 seriously enough to require hospitalization. The toll was the highest since the week ending June 1, at the end of the Communists' second major offensive of the year.

pared to 495 killed, 1,533 wounded and 49 missing the previous week.

Since U.S. forces entered the war at the beginning of 1961, the U.S. Command has reported 27,509 of its men killed in combat and 171,809 wounded. Another 1,197 are missing or captured.

Enemy casualties in that period are estimated at 390,105.

The U.S. Command reported 4,476 enemy troops killed by allied forces last week, virtually unchanged from the 4,474 reported the week before. But that earlier total was increased to 5,322 and last week's figure will probably be boosted similarly as more reports come in.

American casualties in the previously reported week, ending Aug. 24, were 308 killed and 1,444 wounded.

Despite the increase in fighting, South Vietnamese government casualties dropped off slightly to 484 killed, 1,768 wounded and 40 missing com-

Tiant, McNally Close In On Coveted Mark

By The Associated Press

Luis Tiant's Cleveland bullpen buddies gave him a lift to the front door of the 20 Game Winners' Club. Baltimore's Dave McNally got there under his own power.

Four Cleveland relievers combined to preserve Tiant's 19th victory Wednesday night as the Indians subdued the California Angels 9-5 after blowing a seven-run lead.

McNally nailed his 19th triumph with a fourth inning home run as the Orioles trimmed the New York Yankees 6-3.

YAZ AGAIN LEADS

Carl Yastrzemski grabbed the American League batting lead with a four-hit spree in Boston's

10-2 romp over Minnesota. Willie Horton's tie-breaking single in the eighth inning sparked the first place Detroit to a 4-2 victory over Oakland and the Chicago White Sox blanked Washington 3-0 in 14 innings.

Tiant, 19-9, stopped the Angels on one hit until the sixth, when Roger Repoz' two-run homer drove him from the mound. Sonny Siebert, Bob Gardner and Horacio Pina all came out of the bullpen before the inning was over and Vicente Romo got the last two outs after Pina faltered in the ninth, preserving Tiant's first victory since Aug. 10.

Joe Azcue drove in four Cleveland runs with a pair of singles and Vern Fuller collected three hits and scored three runs. McNally, who has reeled off 11 straight victories since the All-Star break for a 19-8 mark, smacked his third homer of the season after the Yankees had closed the gap to 4-3 on consecutive homers by Bill Robinson and Andy Kosco in the top of the fourth.

HENDRICKS HOT

Elrod Hendricks, who singled home one of three Baltimore runs in the second, doubled and scored an insurance marker in the sixth.

Yastrzemski boosted his batting average to .291 by swatting three singles and his 18th homer in the Red Sox' victory at Minnesota. Right-hander Gary Bell checked the Twins on six hits and broke a 2-2 tie with a sacrifice fly in the seventh before Boston sewed it up with six unearned runs in the eighth.

Buffs To Meet Roscoe Today

STANTON — Coach Bryan Boyd takes his Stanton Buffaloes to Colorado City this evening for a 7-30 scrimmage with the Roscoe Plowboys.

Boyd was pleased with the manner in which his boys performed in a recent scrimmage at Rankin. The Buffaloes outgained Rankin on that adventure, 170 yards to 60.

Boyd is concerned with a lack of depth at ends but is impressed with his club's quickness.

David Jones continues to impress as the Bisons' quarterback and Johnny McMeans apparently has nailed down the club's fullback spot, having made the transition well from center.

The two halfback positions are still up for grabs, with Alan Gregston and Carl Dean scrapping for one position and Jack Madison and Gary Kitchens the other.

Tooter Harwell and McMeans are vying for McMeans' old position at center.

A total of 52 boys are now undergoing regular drills here and Boyd has already booked a nine-game schedule for his B team.

The Buffaloes open here the night of Sept. 13 against Tahoka.

Golf Sponsors In Conclave

HOUSTON (AP) — Sponsors of most of the major golf tournaments met today to discuss problems arising out of the dispute between the touring pros and the Professional Golf Association.

During the two-day closed session some 34 members of the International Golf Sponsors Association will attempt to decide whether to maintain their alignment with the PGA or go along with a newly formed group of touring professionals.

The meeting follows a one-day session Wednesday of the PGA advisory board whose executive committee made recommendations aimed at settling the dispute.

A resolution passed by the advisory committee recommended that the executive committee of the PGA give consideration to the creation of a tournament players division.

Most of the touring pros left the PGA Aug. 13 in a dispute over control of the tour and announced Aug. 19 the formation of a new organization called the American Professional Golfers.

The advisory board, made up of businessmen, discussed the issues four hours before going into executive session to adopt the resolution.

Curtis Person Sr., of Memphis, Tenn., moderated the program and read the resolution,

Pete Rose Out To Ruin Image As Stick Man

By The Associated Press

Pete Rose is ruining his image.

Determined to become the first $100,000 player who doesn't pitch or hit home runs for a living, Rose has broken out in an unaccustomed display of power.

The Cincinnati spark plug rapped his second home run in as many days and 10th of the season Wednesday night helping the Reds halt a six-game losing streak with an 8-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

In other National League action, Los Angeles shut out Philadelphia 3-0, and Chicago split a doubleheader with San Francisco, winning 7-6 before losing 5-4.

Rose led off the game with his home run and then reverted to his normal approach with two singles, raising his league leading batting average to .348.

The three hits gave him 181 for the season—19 shy of his goal of 200. He has 25 games to go and if he hits the target, it will be the third time in the last four years he has done it.

Rose's target has been made more difficult this season by a broken thumb which cost him 13 games in July. Nevertheless, he leads Pittsburgh's Matty Alou by 11 points in the batting race and is one of only four batters in the major leagues hitting more than .300 in this year of the pitcher.

Johnny Bench had a two-run homer and Leo Cardenas and Lee May also drove in two runs apiece with key hits for the Reds.

Don Sutton pitched his first shutout of the season, throttling Philadelphia on three hits as the Dodgers defeated the Phillies.

Sutton struck out 12—a career high—and never was in real trouble, winning his seventh game.

The Dodgers bunched three singles for a run in the fourth and then added two insurance runs in the eighth and ninth with triples by Willie Davis and Bill Sudaks the key hits.

Don Kessinger and Billy Williams each rapped two-run homers helping Chicago past San Francisco in the first game of their doubleheader. For Kessinger, it was his first home run in his 24th of the year.

Dogs Glisten On Defense

COAHOMA — Halfback Ricky Evans of Coahoma went over for the only touchdown as the Coahoma Bulldogs scrimmaged Tahoka earlier this week.

Coach Bernie Hagins of the Bulldogs said his team looked better than it did against Iraan in a previous scrimmage. On two occasions, Tahoka worked the ball down to the Coahoma ten-yard line but couldn't go on in.

Coahoma's second unit fought Tahoka's reserves to a standoff in their toll Quarterback James Dunn sneaked over from five yards out for the Bulldogs' only tally in that one.

Coahoma opens its season a week from Friday night at home, at which time it hosts Rankin in a 7:30 p.m. game.

Midland Winner In Own Tourney

MIDLAND — The Midland Colts defeated Snyder's Redlegs, 10-2, in the finals of the Midland Semi-Pro Baseball tournament here earlier this week.

Midland had topped the Big Spring All-Stars earlier in the tournament.

The Colts swept through the tournament without loss of a game, winning four straight. Big Spring yielded to Midland, 5-4, but it took an extra inning for Midland to achieve the success.

Cincinnati Bengals Invade San Diego

By The Associated Press

The new Cincinnati Bengals, who did some growling in their last two exhibition games, will invade the jungle of regular season professional play for the first time Friday night.

Paul Brown's Bengals will kick off the regular American Football League season when they play the Chargers at San Diego. Kickoff for the game to be televised nationally by NBC is 7:30 p.m., Big Spring time.

The game is one of three regular season games that will be played during a busy weekend schedule, which also will have two interleague exhibition

LARRY STEPHENS IS DROPPED BY DALLAS PRO FOOTBALLERS

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas trimmed six players to get down to the 45 player limit Wednesday, but kept three of them on the taxi squad when they cleared waivers.

Defensive back Robert Logan of Trinity and linebackers David Simmons of Georgia Tech and Ed Harmon of Louisville were placed on the taxi squad and could be called to duty if injury strikes a regular.

Larry Stephens, a nine-year veteran defensive end from the University of Texas, and defensive back Leavie Davis of Edward Waters College cleared waivers but were not kept by the Cowboys.

The sixth player — end Sims Stokes of Northern Arizona — was claimed by Atlanta of the NFL for the $100 waiver price.

Dallas must get its squad down to 40 next week following the exhibition game with Baltimore Saturday night in the Cotton Bowl.

Bob Murphy Says He Can Putt With A Broomstick

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — "I could putt with a broomstick," superconfident Bob Murphy said Wednesday as he prepared for a try at becoming the first golfer since 1963 to win three consecutive tournaments on the professional golf tour.

Murphy's magic touch with the putter earned him victories in the Philadelphia Classic and the Thunderbird Tournament at Montclair, N.J., the past two weeks.

His current streak makes him the cofavorite along with 1968's leading money winner Billy Casper in the $100,000 Greater Hartford Open starting today at the par-71 Wethersfield Country Club.

Murphy managed only a one-under-par 70 in Wednesday's games and one AFL and seven National Football League preseason games.

Rookie Dewey Warren and John Stoffa are expected to share the quarterbacking for the Bengals, who lost their first three exhibition games before beating the NFL Pittsburgh Steelers and the AFL New York Jets.

Cincinnati's main chore in their first play-for-keeps contest will be to stop the passing of John Hadl and the catching of Lance Alworth.

The other two AFL regular season games have Boston at Buffalo Sunday and Kansas City at Houston Monday night. Both games will be televised nationally by NBC.

The two final interleague exhibitions—the AFL leads the series 11-10—pits NFL Atlanta against the AFL Dolphins at Miami and the Jets against NFL Detroit at Cleveland Saturday night.

Minnesota meets New Orleans at Shreveport, La., St. Louis plays at Chicago and San Francisco is at Los Angeles in NFL preseason action Friday night, while Philadelphia meets the New York Giants at Princeton, N.J., Saturday afternoon and Baltimore is at Dallas in a nationally televised (CBS) game. Green Bay is at Cleveland and Pittsburgh is at Washington Saturday night.

The Green Bay-Cleveland games follows the Jets-Detroit contest as part of a doubleheader.

Denver plays Oakland at Portland, Ore., in the AFL exhibition Saturday night.

In trades Wednesday, Detroit obtained receiver Billy Gambrell from NFL St. Louis for a future draft choice, the New York Giants acquired quarterback Gary Lane from Cleveland for a draft choice and Washington sent center Heath Wingate to Atlanta for a draft pick.

Horsemen Plan Pastry Auction

The Howard County Youth Horsemen's Club will conduct a combination business and social meeting under the Old Settlers Pavilion in the City Park starting at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Each family is being asked to bring a pie or a cake, which will be auctioned off.

Funds from the sale will be used to stage the club's annual Play Day, now scheduled Sept. 14, and for the annual barbecue.

Date for the latter event will be pinpointed at the Monday night conclave.

Men's Loop Opens Campaign Tonight

The Men's Major Bowling league opens its fall-winter season at the Bowl-A-Rama at 8:30 o'clock this evening.

All team captains are being urged to attend a special meeting in the conference room at the Bowl-A-Rama, starting at 8 o'clock.

Reserves Rip BS Regulars

"The next 72 hours are going to be critical for us," coach Spike Dykes said after a 2 1/2-hour scrimmage staged by his Big Spring Steers at Webb AFB Wednesday. "We've got to decide who we're going to play."

The scrimmage raised a few eye brows, to say the least. The reserves mopped up on the regulars, 20-8, and looked good in doing it.

The reserves took charge after fullback Rocky Wooley had put the regulars in front with a 55-yard touchdown run up the middle.

The regulars tried to pick holes in the reserves' defense with a passing game but their aerial game didn't jell.

Gary Hinds and Gary Hughes did a good job of directing the reserve attack and got fine performance out of such boys as running backs Leonard Basco and Herman Evans plus Mike Holten, Jimmy Farris, Randy Morgan, Ronnie Anderson and Billy Bob Spier.

Wooley and Johnny Rutherford were among those who glistened for the regulars.

Position Changes
Claude (Snake) Tucker, left, and Steve Russell will be playing new positions when the Big Spring Steers open their season Saturday night, Sept. 14, in Lubbock against Monterey. Tucker has been moved to split end from tailback while Russell, formerly a fullback, is now at tackle.

LOOKING 'EM OVER
With Tommy Hart

The consensus on the St. Louis (football) Cardinals, for whom Big Spring's Charley Johnson will again be a weekend quarterback, is that they will get better with each passing week as newcomers begin to fit in.

The weakness of the Century division, of which St. Louis is a member, gives the Red Birds a good shot at the title. Cleveland, Pittsburgh and New Orleans are other clubs in the division.

Extensive changes have been made in St. Louis' defense but the team's linebacking looks especially doubtful. Dale Meinert and Don Brumm, two Card linebackers who weren't as good as their reputations would lead you to believe, have departed.

The team has excellent pass receivers, a solid offensive line, a stellar ball carrier in Texan Johnny Roland and the best place kicker in the business in Jim Bakken. Much still depends on quarterback Jim Hart, who stepped in when Johnson was summoned by the military.

Paul Lyons, a stellar quarterback for Midland two years running, will enroll at Louisiana State this month.

Tailback Charley Wright, who did as much as any one Bulldog in knocking over Big Spring last fall, will pop up at Angelo State College.

Milton Martin, the Fort Worth Kirkpatrick quarter miler who had committed himself to attend Howard County J.C., is going instead to Texas A&M.

He would have gone great on the mile relay team Coach Jerry Dudley is lining up.

Phil Howe, new City golf champion here, is a 22-year-old jet mechanic at Webb AFB who played tackle on his high school football team at Ponca City, Okla., his junior and senior years.

Howe, stockily built in the manner of a Billy Maxwell, was Oklahoma state high school champion in and 1963 won the City championship in Ponca City.

His best score ever? He once toured the Ponca City course in 65 strokes.

It's no coincidence that wide receivers in football, especially in pro ranks, take an awesome beating around the ribs.

Defensive backs and linebackers are ordered to inflict pain and promote fear in the hope the receiver will drop the ball when next he hears footsteps.

The words that go out to the defensive players are: "Make it sting."

The ends are virtually helpless when they turn their backs and reach for the ball. Unlike punt receivers, there's nothing in the rule book that says they can signal for a fair catch. The most tender area on the body of an athlete is the rib cage, which is unpadding.

Viciousness isn't something that is passed on from father to son but rather it is an acquired something. A man's compassion for his fellow human being naturally diminishes when he is vying for a job in athletics.

By the same token, a pitcher who hangs on the big leagues must learn to throw at an opposing hitter and not wince when the batter goes sprawling in the dirt.

Defensive backs and linebackers know that if they don't make it hurt, others will take their places.

Wide receivers are beautiful to watch but imagine the thoughts going through their minds once they expose themselves to defenders who are angered in the first place because the pass connections have been made. Linebacker country, where the headhunters roam, is no place for the faint of heart.

The experts often take the ball just within bounds and then try to thread their way down the sidelines or step out of bounds but the coaches just as often make them turn inside just to keep the cornerbacks honest. And the cornerbacks stay honest, mind you, by trying to separate the receiver's head from his torso.

Pancho Gonzales, 40-year-old veteran pro from Los Angeles, charges toward Tony Roche of Australia during their match at Forest Hills Wednesday. Gonzales beat the second-seeded Roche, 8-6, 6-4, 6-2, which advanced him to the quarterfinals of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships when he will face Holland's Tom Okker.

Weary Gonzales Faces Okker In U.S. Open

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Pancho Gonzales is holding up the fabled fighting spirit of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships, but what about those 40-year-old legs? "Muscles don't respond the way they used to," the fiery old warrior from Los Angeles said today as he contemplated his quarter-final match with Tom Okker of the Netherlands. Gonzales' age can play two and perhaps three tough matches, but then the legs start getting wobbly. "I'm very tired," Gonzales experienced his greatest hour in 19 years on the

Don Meredith Ailing But Morton Ready To Step In

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys' fragile quarterback, Don Meredith, is ailing again but with the steadily improving Craig Morton in the wings nobody has panicked yet. Coach Tom Landry disclosed Wednesday that Meredith "has something torn in his right chest." Landry said Meredith "came up with it" Monday when he tried to throw. "It may be a pulled muscle," said Landry. "I just hope it's soreness that will work out." Meredith threw some in practice Wednesday, but wasn't particularly effective. Landry said "if Meredith isn't ready for Saturday night's game against Baltimore then Ashe, Graebner and Okker are the lone remaining amateurs stacked now against five pros all shooting for the $14,000 first prize. Okker, as a registered player, also has applied to go after the big purse, permissible under relaxed tennis rules.

AS ECTOR MOVES INTO 3-AAAA

Harold King Is Beset With Manpower Woes

ODESSA—Coach Harold King and his Ector Eagles move into touch District 3-4A this season and face the big move with less manpower than any other team in the league.

"We just don't have the players this season, especially in number," said King.

The Eagles, 34 strong, will have to overcome a big handicap in not having any bench strength whatsoever.

Ector rang up a 10-0-1 record last season in Class AAA, but the brunt of that fine team has graduated with only six returning lettermen back to form this year's squad.

Alan Toles, 195-pound senior fullback and two-year letterman along with Don Tuck, 210-pound guard and winner of two letters, head the Eagles this fall.

Actually, Toles played in the line his sophomore and junior seasons and King will shift him back to beef up a thin forward wall.

King has a promising fullback in senior Manuel Fuentes, a 200-pounder and if Fuentes does the job, Toles will be moved back into the interior line.

Sam Jones, 207-pound senior tackle along with 220-pounder Tommy Stalik, give the Eagles some size at the tackle slots.

Eloy Rodriguez, a 195-pound sophomore, could start for the Eagles at center, but he is inexperienced and young.

Johnny McDowell, 175-pound senior end along with Ector Matta, 155-pound senior defensive back, return after letting last season.

Tackle Jesse Hinojos, a 190-pound senior also returns in the line for the Eagles.

Ira Young, speedy defensive back and 155-pound senior, is back along with split end Joe Carter who played the first half of the season on the junior varsity and played enough to letter.

Carter is a 160-pound senior and is blessed with good speed and is a fine receiver.

Alex Bitolas, 165-pound junior quarterback, will have some big shoes to fill this season.

He replaces the departed Arturo Spencer, Class AAA all-state quarterback for the Eagles last season.

Ector has had two all-state signal-callers the past two years in Clarence Redic in 1966 and Spencer last season.

"Alex is a fine athlete and about the only thing going against him is the fact that he has little experience," said King.

Bitolas played on the junior

DENNIS HOMAN LIKENED TO RAY BERRY

Pokes, Browns Get Nods In Divisions

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the two newcomers most likely to succeed with the Dallas Cowboys this fall could be the next Raymond Berry. The other is Raymond Berry.

HOMAN

That neither will be in Dallas' starting line-up is a tip-off on the relative prospects of the Cowboys and seven other Eastern Conference clubs in the upcoming National Football League season.

Dallas' three Capital Division rivals and the four Century Division contenders have undergone wholesale personnel changes since 1967. But the Cowboys, who came within 13 seconds of winning their first NFL title last Dec. 31 at Green Bay, will open with a solid set of returning young veterans—all of whom have been through two summit clashes with the Packers.

One of the handful of newcomers who have earned a spot on the Dallas roster is Dennis Homan, the All-American pass-catcher from Alabama. The Cowboys' No. 1 draft pick has the sure hands and deft feints that made Berry a record-setting Baltimore standout for 13 seasons.

But Homan will begin his pro career in the shadow of two of the NFL's finest receivers—Lance Rentzel and Bullet Bob Hayes.

Berry, who joined Tom Landry's Dallas coaching staff after winding up his playing career last winter, has been sharing pass-catching secrets with Hayes.

"When Berry gives Hayes two or three moves," says Landry, "there's no way you can cover him with one man."

And it appears from here that there's no way to stop the Cowboys from nailing the Eastern championship for the third straight year.

Here's how the conference races should wind up.

- Capitol Division
- 1. Dallas
- 2. New York
- 3. Washington
- 4. Philadelphia
- Century Division
- 1. Cleveland
- 2. St. Louis
- 3. Pittsburgh
- 4. New Orleans

Despite injuries to several key men, including quarterback Duff Meredith, the Cowboys rode to the Capitol championship with a 9-5 mark last year, then humiliated Cleveland 52-14 in the conference playoff before bowing to Green Bay 21-17 on Bart Starr's clock-beating one-yard sneak.

With Meredith directing a wide-open attack, Don Perkins and Dan Reeves grinding out yardage and the Doomsday Defense led by mammoth Bob Lilly, certain to be better than ever, the Texas powerhouse could go all the way in '68.

New York and Washington figure to run neck-and-neck for the runner-up spot, but the Giants' rate the nod because they figure to give scambler Fran Tarkenton more support than Sonny Jurgensen can expect from the Redskins.

The Giants, on the upgrade since their disastrous cellar finish in 1966, helped themselves defensively with the acquisition of linebacker Tommy Crutcher, safety Bruce Mahler and tackle Sam Silas in pre-season trades.

The Skins' defense is erratic and Jurgensen, who set all-time records for pass attempts, completions and yardage last year, might have trouble getting untracked after undergoing surgery on his throwing arm and missing the exhibition campaign.

A Devotional For The Day

As many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God. (John 1:12)

PRAYER: Forgive us, Lord, for not utilizing our spiritual resources and for our lack of faith, thus limiting the working of Thy power through us. Give us greater confidence in Thee, as we remember that Thou art the source of all strength. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Back To The Drawing Boards

The U.S. Corps of Engineers has dusted off the Big Spring drainage file and is going to work on an interim report due to be completed by June 1, 1969.

This is welcome news, although it will be held in some restraint, seeing that this project has been resurrected and rested alternately for three decades.

In the meantime, the City of Big Spring has done much to alleviate the situation. It has constructed a system of half a dozen detention dams which have performed admirably in holding back flash floods.

Still there is some flooding after intense showers, and the only reason we have not faced a critical situation is that we have been spared some of the cloudbursts such as have fallen elsewhere in the area and the state. There also persists the real possibility that sustained heavy rains to the west could compound abnormally heavy runoff in the city and thus submerge the lowlands as in some of the historic floods.

One of the chief problems is how to get the water from the center for town to a certain point east of town. Much of this stretch is almost level, and how practically to expedite the flow is the nub of the situation. This could get into a sizable channel, and it could get into a sizable investment. The city has little less than half a million earmarked for this. Whether matching federal funds would be sufficient is questionable, but perhaps we will have part of the answer by next June.

Vagaries Of Trade

Foreign trade has slight relevance to international morality, and events in one part of the world can have repercussions tinged with irony in another part. These two thoughts emerge from the effect which the closing of the Suez Canal a year ago has had on the Republic of South Africa.

The canal closing, resulting from the Egyptian-led Arab effort to extinguish the Jewish state of Israel, resulted in a shipping business boom and greater strategic importance to the most racially prejudiced country on earth. One prejudiced nation's poison became another prejudiced nation's meat.

Since the Suez Canal closed, Cape Town and Durban ports have enjoyed a shipping-calls windfall of over $100 million. Ship repair has become one of South Africa's major industries, and ship-building soon may. The ship oil reserves that now must be kept there have strengthened South Africa's military and economic security.

More importantly because of the bigger-than-Suez tankers now being built to make the Suez by-pass more profitable, the Cape route can expect permanently expanded traffic. Furthermore, its strategic safety in contrast to the demonstrated vulnerability of the Suez route from the Middle and Far East to Europe and North America, accords South Africa enhanced leverage in world affairs.

Such are the paradoxes in the hard realities of international relations.

David Lawrence The Vice-Presidential Nominees

WASHINGTON — Already there are evidences that the vice presidential campaign may be a much more important factor than ever before during a presidential campaign. What each of the vice presidential candidates — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, Republican, and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, Democrat — said in their speeches before they were chosen and everything they have said since the conventions are being carefully scrutinized.

SEN. MUSKIE, for instance, has indicated that, if he were elected, he might or might not agree with a president and all his policies. While he has been very careful to conform as far as possible with Hubert Humphrey's viewpoint, the Democratic vice presidential nominee has made some observations in public interviews which are being construed as "differences." In an interview on NBC's "Meet the Press" on Sunday, the following exchange occurred:

"Q. If you, during your vice presidency, found yourself in fundamental disagreement with the President, would you resign? Gov. Agnew, I understand, has said this is the course that a vice president should follow if he did find himself in fundamental disagreement.

"SEN. MUSKIE: I would hope that a man ought to contemplate that possibility could occur. Now, we have no historical precedent along that line, but I think a man ought to contemplate that that will happen and resolve in advance what his attitude would be in that connection. I don't believe I could in any public office endorse a policy that violated my conscience."

All this is an indication that the limited powers of the vice presidency are not as well known as might be imagined. Thus, the Constitution of the United States makes it clear that the executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States. It also says that "the vice president of the United States shall be president of the Senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided."

HENCE, the vice president is not a member of the executive branch of the government. As a courtesy, a President may invite him to sit in on cabinet meetings or other conferences. This has become even more important since the Constitution was amended in 1967 to provide that, whenever a President is physically disabled and "unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office," these same powers and duties "shall be discharged by the vice president as acting President."

A VICE president, therefore, will have to be an understudy of the President in every sense of the word. He will have to be familiar with what the executive is doing so that he can take over the office at a moment's notice and be aware of the innermost secrets of the administration, particularly in the conduct of foreign affairs, where major crises could emerge at any time.

Certainly it would not be wise for any vice president to express publicly views that are different from those of the President. But even if a vice president differed with a president, there is no way by which he can be removed from office just because his views may be at variance with those of a president. In fact, there was no method of filling a vacancy prior to last year when the Twenty-Fifth Amendment to the Constitution was adopted. It says:

"WHENEVER THERE is a vacancy in the office of the vice president, the President shall nominate a vice president who shall take the office upon confirmation by a majority vote of both houses of Congress."

During a campaign, of course, there may be some advantages in having a vice presidential nominee who in his speeches can go a little more to the right or a little more to the left of the presidential nominee in order to attract votes for the ticket.

IT MAY BE expected, however, that Sen. Muskie will hew to the line and make his speeches conform to those of Humphrey on any really important question. For the Democratic or Republican ticket will be nominated by the presidential nominee instead of the vice presidential nominee. (Copyright, 1968, Publishers-Hall Syndicate)

He was going to get himself a cup of tea after workers had prevented his office boy from fetching it for him.

John Cunniff Deadends, Deadheads, Profits

NEW YORK (AP) — Good management, we are constantly reminded, is what gives American corporations the edge over foreign competitors. According to dozens of books on the subject each year, we have turned the management art into a science.

The best selling book in Europe during the past year, in fact, was "The American Challenge," written by a Frenchman who described a situation wherein American industry might dominate Europe because of management know-how.

MANAGEMENT has been described as a fundamentally American skill. Americans have a reputation for being able to identify and analyze problems and then make plans to cope with them. They are said to know how to utilize technology and how to deploy and motivate workers. Americans, according to the popular belief, love to plan ahead.

And yet, talks with management experts who analyze American business produces a different story. Americans are skillful in management, they say, but only in a relative sense. More to the point, foreign firms are poorly managed.

AMERICAN corporations, they say, often are laden with deadends and deadheads, with duplicate effort and useless motion, with slovenly methods and ill-defined goals, and sometimes no knowledge of how to achieve these goals.

American corporations, one of these experts maintains, operate at 65 to 75 per cent efficiency. In other words, they are "C" performers.

It is the estimate of Bruce Payne, who runs a consulting firm of the same name with the usual "and associates" appended. Although the estimate may not be a consensus, it certainly isn't disputed by all consultants.

Most corporations, Payne insists, should be able to grow 10 per cent a year by planning better. But some neither plan nor grow. "Many of them don't even know where they'll be two years from now," he states.

THE ABSENCE of corporate planning is illustrated by Payne in describing a well known company with sales of more than $2 billion a year that has publicly announced it expects sales to rise 10 per cent a year.

After the announcement, to securities analysts and newsmen, the company realized it had no plan for achieving the sales increase. It had no idea of how it would achieve the goal.

The first question the management consultant asks such a company is: "What business are you in?" and secondly, "What business do you want to be in?" Most companies, the consultants say, don't know who they are.

Checks Roots In Family Trees

NEW YORK (AP) — Does your neighbor proudly have an ornate framed copy of what he blithely calls his family coat of arms hanging in his den or playroom?

Well, alas, the odds are heavily against his having a right to display it as his own, says a British expert in such matters.

"As few as 10 per cent of the people who use coats of arms are historically entitled to them," said Brian Brooks of London, one of the 45-member Association of Genealogists and Record Agents formed to combat fraud in such matters.

"THE WHOLE thing has been wide open to charlatany in the past," he said.

"Coats of arms originated in England and the Continent in the 11th century to distinguish knights in battle. Simply bearing the name of any such knight doesn't entitle you to wear his coat of arms. You must be a descendant of his through the male line."

The English merely smirk tolerantly at people who boast of their phony coats of arms. But not the Scots. In Scotland you can be jailed for a misdemeanor if you wear a family crest you have no right to.

Brooks, a tall, studious bachelor of 40, is a victim of his own research.

"I DISCOVERED my mother's family used a coat of arms for generations they weren't entitled to," he remarked. "They were descended from King Edward III, but not in the direct male line.

"I was able to trace my ancestry on my father's side back only to 1726. There I ran into Thomas Brooks, a carter. He chiefly transported manure."

But if there are thousands of Americans who are nonarmigeral—that is, not entitled to armorial bearings—Brooks said there are other thousands who are indeed fully armigeral but don't know it. He charges a fee of $50 to $150 or up to backtrack ancestors.

"IT IS ESTIMATED that of the 200 most common names in America, 183 are of British origin," he said. "Oddly, the commonest names, such as Brown, Smith, Robinson, Thompson, Edwards, or Johnson are the most difficult. Unusual names are easiest to trace."

Brooks said that most of the snobbish current a generation ago in the genealogical field has died out.

"MOST PEOPLE today have a genuine interest in the past. They are searching for roots. They want to check family legends, to find out who they sprang from and where their forebears came from. Of course, some do hope to find they are descended from royalty, and some are afraid."

Others are afraid to pursue their origins for fear that instead of a king, duke or prime minister, they'll find a sheep thief dangling from a limb of their family tree.

Around The Rim

Who Dat Mess Up My Hi Fi?

I prefer my Beethoven and Bach without loud guffaws. And when Segovia makes his guitar sound like a full orchestra, I like to hear every note without interference of conversation and static.

SOME YEARS AGO, I convinced my good wife Joyce that only an incredibly expensive batch of tubes and wires would deliver the works of the masters in pure enough form for my enjoyment, and soon we filled a table with all manner of "hi-fi" equipment, with speakers scattered here and yon.

Since then, we have acquired the records of several favorites, as the family budget might allow. But an unforeseen development has entered the picture.

THE MYSTERIES of the radio world baffle me, and I am content in knowing which knob turns the volume up. On the other hand, it would be helpful to know more. For once we have the supper dishes put away, the kids chased off to bed, what better relaxation than listen to the artistry of concert guitar?

SOMEWHERE, there is a ham radio operator who has negated our entire expense. When he gets on the air, our Beethoven is drowned in static and his conversation with some other ham.

I'm not opposed to ham radio operators. I recognize the many services they provide at no charge to society, and indeed, they have a hobby that, in the main, is the least onerous to other folks. Unless, that is, you have a stereo outfit like mine that picks up their signals. In such a case, our only recourse is to turn off the set.

GUFFAWS simply do not mix well with Bach, and conversation intermingled with static is too distracting with Segovia. The operator's conversation even managed to wind up on a tape recording the other evening, which proved quite vexing.

Unfortunately, I do not understand the operator's special lingo sufficiently to identify him. Otherwise, I might give him a call and try to straighten out the matter. Of course, he may be in Afghanistan, which could complicate a solution — and run up the long distance toll.

Meanwhile, we are giving up Beethoven, Bach and Segovia when this operator signs on. Classical, he ain't!

Trying To Forget Chicago

MARTHA'S VINEYARD, Mass. — The 1968 Democratic National Convention has left a mark on all of us. Anyone who was in Chicago last week is still suffering from the effects of it. I know I am.

I came to Martha's Vineyard in Massachusetts to forget all that had transpired, but it wasn't easy.

As we sat down to eat dinner the first night I said to my wife and children, "Where are your credentials?"

"What credentials?" my wife asked.

"YOUR CREDENTIALS to get into this dining room. No one is permitted to eat dinner unless he shows his credentials. You're supposed to wear them around your neck at all times."

"That's ridiculous," my wife said. "Ridiculous is it? How do I know everyone here belongs to my family, if they don't have the proper credentials?"

"Are you sure you didn't get hit over the head in Chicago?" my son asked.

"YOU'RE TRYING to provoke me into over-reacting," I said angrily. "But your little game isn't going to work. I'll use as much force as necessary to keep the peace."

Everyone ate his dinner in silence. After it was over the children went into the living room to play Scrabble.

"All right," I said grabbing a broom handle and a megaphone. "Let's break it up. You don't have a permit to hold a meeting in the living room."

"We don't need a permit," my 13-year-old daughter said.

"I'LL TELL YOU if you need a permit or not. We're going to have law and order around here if I have to lock everyone in this house up."

My wife said, "Why don't you get some sleep? You've had a rough week."

"That's typical," I said. "You're siding with the kids instead of the authorities. No wonder they think they can play Scrabble in the living room and not have to face the consequences."

"Why don't you children go down to the drugstore and have a soda?" my wife said.

"THEY DON'T have a permit to march down to the drugstore," I said, holding the broom at port arms. "Anyone who crosses this line will get hit over the head."

My 12-year-old daughter said, "I told you we shouldn't have let Daddy go to Chicago."

My wife was becoming angry. "Will you stop all this nonsense? You're ruining our vacation."

I PICKED UP an aerosol can of Flit and shouted through my megaphone, "Anyone who comes near me will be maced."

The family stared at me in silence. "Let's all go to bed," my wife said. I shouted through the megaphone, "You will leave one at a time and go directly to your rooms. If anyone throws anything out of his window he will be beaten and tear gassed."

"I don't want to go to bed," my son said.

"Neither do I," said my daughters.

"ALL RIGHT," I said. "By the authority vested in me by Mayor Daley, I have no choice."

I started squirting the Flit around the room. The family ran for cover. I stayed up all night, but there were no further demonstrations in the house. The next morning I went to sleep and when I woke up and saw the sailboats out in the harbor, Chicago seemed far away. I still carry the broom handle and Flit can around with me for protection, but I think I'm getting better. I haven't made an arrest in four days.

The Need To Know About Soviet Defense

WASHINGTON — Will Moscow soon be invulnerable to nuclear assault?

This important question can only be answered by the Pentagon. Consider what it means if the anti-ballistic-missile-system (ABM) around the city becomes an effective method of blocking out the guidance system of incoming American missiles. It means:

Russia could launch a nuclear first-strike against the American homeland and be able to absorb our counter-attack with acceptable losses.

THE RUSSIANS could inflict short-of-war blackmail upon the USA, the equivalent of subjecting us to catastrophic defeat.

The vaunted American theory of mutual deterrence ("two scorpions in a bottle") would be kaput, and we would be many years behind time in re-capturing the nuclear superiority which we have frittered away.

When I was in Moscow recently I taxied from the Hotel Rossia to the U.S. Embassy in hopes that somebody would discuss the Soviet ABM, code name GALOSH. Nobody would, but I did get considerable information elsewhere, and both points need to be examined.

WHY AN informational blackout on GALOSH at our Embassy? Surely, it wasn't from lack of obtainable facts. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson must have an aide who had seen one or more of GALOSH installations around Moscow. The military attaches must have counted or made some estimate of the aboveground sites.

GALOSH is a civil defense project, but it is more than that. Moscow, a metropolis of 6.5 million, is both a national capital and an industrial complex, a combination of Washington, D.C., and Detroit, Mich. The Soviet ABM protects both population and warplants. Anything published about GALOSH in American newspapers would not be giving secrets to the enemy, but only giving information to the American people — and they are entitled to know.

THE SOVIET ABM is composed of fire-control radar and interception projectiles. The system is presently deployed, not against Red China as some reports have it, but against the Western powers, principally the USA and France.

Construction began, not before the Test Ban Treaty of 1963, but afterwards, indicating two significant probabilities. One is the Russians do not regard the Test Ban Treaty as a turn toward "peace," else they would not make such an expensive investment as GALOSH. The second is that the Russians, as Dr. Edward Teller has warned us, may have agreed to stop high-altitude, multimegaton testing only after they'd made a scientific breakthrough which is now incorporated in their ABM system.

FINALLY, there is a definite feeling among knowledgeable persons that the Moscow GALOSH is a model, and that variations of it will be deployed around other centers of Soviet population and industry.

There should be the right of on-the-spot inspection of the Soviet ABM before we consent to any further nuclear disarmament treaty, such as President Johnson seems to be pressing upon Premier Kosygin.

WOMACK TO DO THE SIX MONTHS JOB FOR $18,000

Rural Property Revaluation Program Okayed

By SAM BLACKBURN
Howard County, Howard County Junior College and the Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan Independent School districts, will share in the $18,000 cost of a rural property tax revaluation of the county, provided the governing boards of the agencies approve.

Novis Womack, tax evaluator for the county, city and school district, Wednesday told a group of representatives of the agencies and the city, he estimated his department could make the revaluation for $18,000.

Called
The meeting had been called by Lee Porter, county judge, to discuss with the other political subdivisions ways and means of complying with a demand by the oil and utility firms of the county that a better and more fair evaluation of rural and real property be made in this county.

Attending were members of the city commission, headed by Mayor Arnold Marshall and City Manager Larry Crow; President W. A. Hunt of Howard County Junior College and two members of his board; several members of the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees; and the LEADERS HEAR REVALUATION PROPOSAL Rural and personal property slated for new consideration by Oct. 1. He estimated that with bad weather interfering in the winter, it could require eight months, perhaps, to finish up the revaluation.

He wants a committee of competent persons to set a scale of valuations for farm and ranch lands, bearing in mind that all such lands are not alike and that the value must be based on some proper recognition of what the property is worth.

He said that his plan would call for remeasuring all such houses as are on such property and that he found 1,500 or more had improvements which should be listed.

He displayed a map outlining the areas which are in the three school districts, to demonstrate the importance of the revaluation to these agencies.

The superintendents of Coahoma and Forsan pointed out that, in a sense, the plan came as a complete surprise to them, and that they have had an opportunity to discuss it with their boards.

Porter noted that the bulk of the cost would fall on the county and the junior college. It was the agreement of the group that the city would not benefit by any revaluation of this nature since Womack's staff has kept the properties in the city at a fair valuation since the general county revaluation of 10 years ago.

Most of the rural residences on the rolls were placed there by the Pritchard and Abbott 1948 check, Womack said. He added the valuations carried on many of these is extremely low.

Dr. P. W. Malone, a member of the HCJC board, pointed out that the proposed revaluation would tend to properly equalize tax responsibility and as a member of the HCJC board, he favored adopting the plan.

PERSONAL

Crow pointed out, in answer to a query about the numerous trailer houses in the county and city, that the attorney general has ruled such dwellings are personal property and cannot be made subject to ad valorem taxes, unless special legislation is enacted.

Jimmy Taylor, a member of the Big Spring school board, told the group that Womack's offer of $18,000 to do the job is "more than reasonable" and said he knew other counties in the area which are having to pay many times that amount for similar programs.

Womack stressed that he felt there should be three definite classifications of farm land drawn up to fairly and equitably fix a value on such property for tax purposes.

It was explained that the $18,000 for the revaluation would be above the present payment made to Womack for his tax services. Dr. Hunt said that since the county, college, city and school had been partners in the operation of the office since its creation, he felt the partnership should extend to this new program.

green light to set his machinery in operation.

The proposal grows out of an insistent demand by oil and utilities made on the county commissioners and the junior college and, to a degree, on the school districts, when equalization meetings were held this year. They went along with the increased taxes which were levied against them for 1968 but urged that in 1969, a revaluation be made to equalize farm and ranch lands.

'CAN' Rocket Cong's Newest

SAIGO (AP) — The Viet Cong's newest secret weapon is a fearsome homemade contraption called the trashcan rocket.

Built in a secret workshop in the Mekong Delta by some American ordnance men call the Doc, the rocket packs a powerful 220-pound warhead and its mission is to blow up allied ships on the river channel to Saigon.

It is a cumbersome, makeshift weapon, but American experts say it is effective at short ranges.

One of the rockets has been found intact. Others are believed under construction, and U.S. troops are looking for the Viet Cong "rocket research" shop in the delta southeast of Saigon.

The rocket that was recovered was fired July 29 at an American ship coming up the river about 16 miles below Saigon. Startled sailors watched the flame trail flash past their ship and reported approximately where the rocket landed. It did not explode.

Searching at low tide, Navy WO Robert Lutze, of Ewa Beach, Hawaii, found the strange rocket buried in the mud. About 1,000 yards away his team found the low wooden rack from which it had been fired.

Using a standard Russian 122mm rocket charge for a propellant, the Viet Cong rocket fin for guidance and a warhead made of old metal sheeting shaped to penetrate the steel sides of ships. The warhead was about 16 inches in diameter, and the whole rocket was almost seven feet long.

The experts say the rocket's maximum range is probably no more than a thousand yards, and that it was designed for close-in firing at ships.

Annual Meet Of Cap Rock

The annual membership meeting of Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc., will be held Saturday evening in Stanton starting at 7 p.m. at the Stanton High School football field. Free barbecue will be served and the business session will begin immediately following the barbecue.

Newt Hielscher, colorful speaker from Shreveport, La., will provide the entertainment highlight of the evening, accented by the popular Border Brass Band from Coahoma.

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc., provides electric service in the rural areas in 13 West Texas counties, and a large number of its 6,600 member-owners is expected to be present for the annual affair. Members will hear reports on the operations of the organization, receive a financial statement, and elect three directors.

During the meeting, two outstanding students will be awarded college scholarships for the 1968-69 school term. Attendance prizes will be given, and there will be free rides and snow cones for the children.

All members of Cap Rock Electric Cooperative are being urged to participate in the meeting.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mrs. B. C. Hamner Sr. wishes to express their appreciation to Dr. Riley, nurses, and staff of Malone-Hogan Hospital for the excellent services performed for our loved one. We also extend our gratitude to all the friends from whom we received sympathy and assistance.

Look At Bright Spots Of Prague With Envy

PRAGUE (AP) — Soviet GIs from Siberia and the Ukraine look at Prague's night spots with envy as they continue their occupation of the Czechoslovak capital.

"We aren't allowed to drink," said a captain in dark weather-stained khaki when foreigners offered him a small bottle of whisky.

He also refused an invitation to dinner at one of Prague's excellent restaurants. "Not in this uniform," he said. "Unfortunately, we haven't any civilian clothes."

BITTER ANGER

It was his way of being discreet. Probably no Czech could have shown his bitter anger over the Soviet invasion, but Soviet troops are under strict orders to do nothing that might lead to an incident with the submissive but still resentful population.

The Soviets are especially sensitive about their uniforms. Czechs have told them so often: "We'd be more than glad to welcome you as civilians, without weapons."

The Russians get such a cold shoulder from the Czechs that they welcome any normal civility.

In recent days there has been a more friendly response from some young Czechs, and some local girls have been seen fraternizing with the Soviet troops, undeterred by those whose heads were shaved by indignant patriots.

One of the chief contact points between Soviet soldiers and the people of Prague is the encampment in Vrchislého Park between the main railway station and St. Wenceslas Square, the center of the city.

BORED

Bored with the lack of activity, the Soviet soldiers welcome any opportunity for a friendly chat or even a sharp political argument.

Life isn't too comfortable in the park, in the heat and the rain, but the soldiers seem re-

Wed License Bid Rejected

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The clerk of Pulaski County refused Wednesday to accept an application for a marriage license from a Negro man and a white woman.

Clark R. S. Peters of Little Rock said he took an oath to uphold Arkansas laws, including an 1838 law forbidding racially mixed marriages in the state.

The application was made by Michael Higgins and Susan Lane, both of Little Rock. They declined to discuss the matter but said they would consult a lawyer today.

Peters said he "fairly" recalled reading news accounts about a June 12, 1967, decision by U.S. Supreme Court which declared antimiscegenation laws unconstitutional.

He said, however, he had received no official notice that this voided the Arkansas law.

"I can't go by what I read in the newspapers and I think any clerk who did would be crazy," Peters said.

The Supreme Court decision overturned a Virginia law. Arkansas law states it shall be a "high misdemeanor" for anyone to "contract or solemnize" a mixed marriage. The law apparently was tested only once in the courts, in the 1800s when it was found not to conflict with the U.S. or Arkansas Constitutions.

Says Miami Rioting 'Criminal Activity'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A police lieutenant testified Wednesday that rioting in Miami during the Republican National Convention was "mass, planned, criminal activity."

McClure said the second day of violence began about 1 p.m. and then, "as though on signal, just after 4 o'clock, our officers reported being shot at in six different localities along 62nd Street" in Liberty City.

"I saw a garbage can of rocks, and there was other evidence of stockpiling," McClure said.

"We got a call that a police car was taking gunfire," the lieutenant said. "We drove the gauntlet from 12th Avenue to 17th Avenue through the mob, screaming mob of criminals. We were being pelted with rocks and firebombs—each one a felonious assault. There was looting, robbery and felonious assault—every crime in the book."

Disturbances occurred in three Negro business and residential districts in Miami. The focus was in Liberty City where the violence began Aug. 7.

"This was not civil disorder, not civil disobedience, not a group of boys being disobedient," McClure testified. "This signed.

"Rain, snow, it makes no difference to us," one said. "Our tanks are our homes."

Not many seemed interested in a military career. One plans to be an engineer when his term of service is up. Another wants to teach foreign languages, though he seemed able to speak only a few words of German and none of English.

Cactus Chapter Gives Scholarships

Mrs. Boone Horne, right, president of Cactus Chapter, ABWA, and Mrs. T. D. Price, lower left, chapter treasurer, discuss the scholarship checks presented at the school year begins. Standing are Linda Cochran and Ethel Green, both of whom received funds to attend Howard County Junior College, and seated is Nancy Nichols of North Texas State University, who received a national ABWA grant.

Three Students Get Scholarships Through Assistance Of ABWA

Mrs. Boone Horne, president of Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association, has announced that the chapter is providing two local girls with scholarships to Howard County Junior College this fall. The recipients are Linda Cochran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Cochran, and Ethel Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Green.

Mary Holten Is Guest Speaker

Miss Mary Holten was guest speaker at the Tuesday evening meeting of the TOPS P.O. and R.O. She described a recent trip to Rome which she took with her grandmother.

Mrs. Webb Is TOPS Queen

The TOPS Salad Mixers named Mrs. Wayne Webb as "August Queen" during Monday's meeting in the Knott Community Center. She received a gift from the club. Mrs. B. J. Williams was elected weight recorder, and Mrs. B. W. Jackson was introduced as a new member. Mrs. Webb was in charge of the program and directed games. The next meeting will be at 7 p.m., Monday in the center.

Grand Officers Visit OES Unit

Seven grand officers were guests of Big Spring Chapter No. 67, Order of Eastern Star, at its Tuesday evening meeting in Masonic Temple. The two officers making their official visit were Mrs. Della Shipp of Lamesa, time and talent committee; and Mrs. John Ellen McLaren of Odessa, welfare committee. The other officers were Mrs. Hazel Linsey, Mrs. Ella Mae Adcock and Mrs. Winnie Faye Schaffer, all of Lamesa; Mrs. Virginia Zant of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Baker of Big Spring. Refreshments were served to 35 from a table laid with a white cloth and centered with doves and red carnations. A ribbon was printed with "Peace and Harmony." The next meeting will be Sept. 17 when the chapter will honor master Masons with a program and salad supper to begin at 7 p.m.

Couple Is Married Wednesday Morning

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Floyd Ellis Jr. will be at home at 904 Nolan Apt. C, following a short wedding trip. The couple was married Wednesday morning in the First Methodist Church with the Rev. Leo K. Gee officiating for the double ring service. The altar was graced with gladioli, chrysanthemums and greenery. The bride is the former Cheryl Christine Cederberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cederberg, 2306 Merrily, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Floyd Ellis Sr. of the Old San Angelo Highway.

MRS. JACK FLOYD ELLIS JR.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white peau de soie gown fashioned with Empire waist and portrait neckline. The wrist-length belled sleeves were enhanced with lace, and the lace was repeated on the slender skirt and chapel train. Her petal cap was accented with lily of the valley and held a veil of bridal tulle. Atop a white Bible, she carried a bouquet of feathered carnations interspersed with stephanotis and tied with satin streamers.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Janice Anderson, maid of honor, wore a street-length dress of aqua peau de soie styled like that of the bride. Her headpiece was a white circle of net on a white ribbon rose, and she carried a nosegay of aqua and white carnations. The candle lighters, Miss Janet Ellis, sister of the bridegroom; and Miss Karen Fortsen, were identically dressed and wore wrist corsages of aqua carnations.

The best man was Larry Dean of Balingier, and ushers were Billy Anderson and Brad Cederberg. Miss Annette Fitzhugh, organist, accompanied Danny Johnson as he sang "Ave Maria" and "Because."

RECEPTION
Approximately 100 guests attended a reception in the church parlor and were served refreshments from a table covered with a white net cloth and centered with the bridesmaid's bouquet flanked by aqua candles. The appointments were crystal, and the four-tiered cake was topped by a miniature bride and groom. Those who served were Mrs. F. H. Erichsen of Manhattan, Kan., Miss Donna Yater and Miss Cheryl Colclazer. Miss Beth Hayworth presided at the guest register.

Joining the couple in receiving guests were the parents, the grandmother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Lois Turner, and the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Grubbs. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Erichsen of Manhattan, Kan., Miss Donna Yater and Miss Cheryl Colclazer. Miss Beth Hayworth presided at the guest register. Hippies Made It Wilder

The tip-off came early. Almost with the appearance of the first delegates to the national Democratic convention in Chicago came signs that "this was going to be a wild one."

Roger Brown, alternate delegate from this district, Wednesday related to the Downtown Lions Club some of his impressions of the confusion on the convention floor and merriment in the streets.

As delegates were arriving hippies distracted hotel clerks while other slipped behind, stole keys, and took over rooms. The ensuing battle to oust them, plus other confusion, left reservations in a snarl. From then until the convention adjourned, the situation was tense.

Getting into the convention hall was not easy, for each delegate, alternate, etc. had a magnetized card which, when inserted in a machine, activated a specific color: blue (delegate), green (alternate), red (security), etc. Even so, the floor was packed.

"I believe that if someone had simply got on his all fours for a minute, the media would have stampeded to get an interview," said Brown.

Seating the California and the New York delegations across the aisle from each other didn't help," he said, for this enabled them to disrupt the convention almost at will.

But downtown was the more ominous show — the hippies.

The hippies and the Yippies ("a Yippie is a hippie who belongs to an organization") were all over the hotel lobbies, lolling, sleeping, etc. When they were asked to leave, they put stink bombs in the carpets so that for the remainder of the convention the lobby odor was offensive, said Brown. Across the street in the park, they slept on blankets stolen from hotels, made bonfires, talked, sang, and sometimes voiced obscenities and vulgarities over the loudspeakers. There were classes in which they got instructions in how to break barricades, and how to make trouble.

They were young folk — few as much as 30 and most "kids." Brown said from his conversations with them, most seemed to be from rich families, youngsters who had everything. In a ladies lounge, Brown's wife came upon two female hippies in the nude, trying to take a bath. Asked what their parents would think, they replied their parents didn't know where they were.

Those Cool August Days Have Finally Shown Up

By The Associated Press

That cool day in August of which you've often heard finally arrived in Texas.

In fact, there were several cool days during the past month at a number of points in the state. El Paso had a mean monthly temperature of 76.5 degrees, its coolest August so far of the 20th Century.

And for the first time in 60 years Austin has had no 100-degree weather so far during 1968.

Showers and cloudy weather were blamed, or credited, for holding August temperatures below normal in Northwest Texas and in West Texas' Trans-Pecos region.

Above normal rainfall fell in the Trans-Pecos, Northwest Texas and the northern half of North Central Texas, but elsewhere — where temperatures were near normal — rainfall was about average.

El Paso had more rain in August than it has had since 1914. Port Arthur and Beaumont caught rain on 16 successive August days with a total, however, of only .98 of an inch, the area's lowest total for the month in Weather Bureau records.

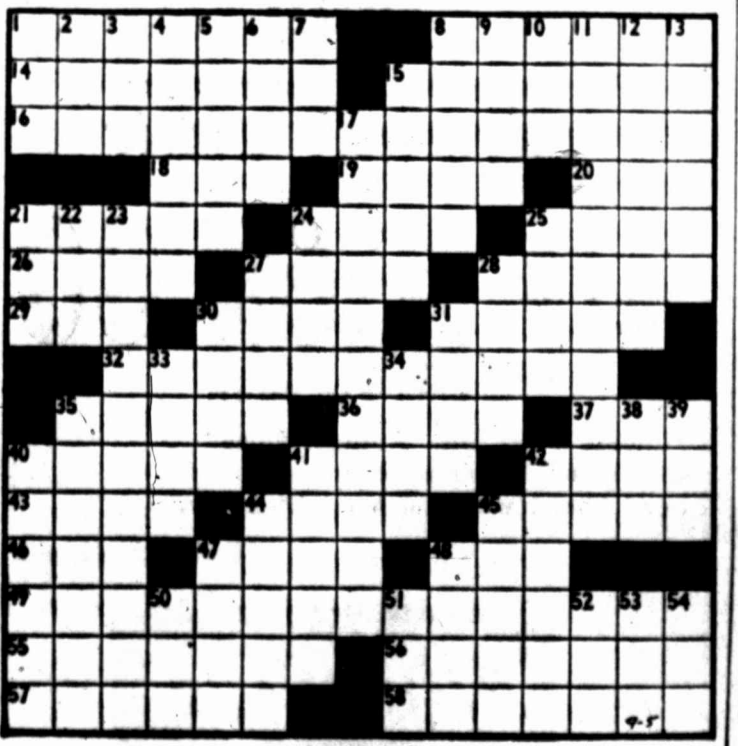

The following table shows in order August precipitation, normal for the month, cumulative rainfall for January through August, and percentage of normal:

Airlines Expect Controls Aimed At Cluttered Lanes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's major airlines say they expect federal controls aimed at clearing the cluttered skies of New York, Chicago and Washington to become law by Nov. 1.

This was the airlines' resigned reaction Wednesday to the Transportation Department's listing of what would be the first-ever federal controls on air traffic.

PIERCE FIGHT
But the pilots of small planes vowed a fierce fight.

The regulations proposed by the Transportation Department would slash takeoffs and landings during peak hours at O'Hare Airport in Chicago, the world's busiest, by 82.

At New York's Kennedy Airport peak traffic periods would see a drop by 48 takeoffs and landings per hour. Small planes would be barred from 5 to 8 p.m. daily.

Stuart G. Tipton, president of the Air Transport Association, representing the nation's commercial airlines, didn't object to the proposals, although he said they should be considered only stopgap measures.

But the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association, which counts 145,000 private pilots as members, said: "The AOPA intends to forcefully oppose this proposed rule making with every means at our command, while we continue to press for the fair and proper solutions to the air traffic management problems."

PUBLIC HEARING
The Federal Aviation Administration plans a public hearing on the proposed limits Sept. 25.

The government warned the airlines last month to propose voluntary measures for trimming air congestion.

Air traffic controllers attracted attention to the problem by strictly enforcing safety clearances between planes, leading to delays of as long as five hours at busy East Coast airports.

The airlines came up with plans for a joint airline committee to act as a schedule coordinator and a scheme of sliding fare rates to encourage travel at slack periods.

The airlines meet with the Civil Aeronautics Board today to discuss the voluntary measures.

HOURLY LIMIT
The Transportation Department proposals set an hourly limit of 80 takeoffs and landings at New York's Kennedy, where as many as 128 have been recorded in a single hour.

Chicago's double-runway O'Hare has logged as many as 217, but would be restricted to 135.

At Washington National, just across the Potomac from the capital, the top limit would be 60 an hour. The same limit was proposed for LaGuardia and Newark in the New York area.

The limit at all airports would be broken down between various classes of flights. O'Hare's limits, for example, would permit 115 takeoffs and landings for airlines, 10 for air taxis and 10 for other planes.

The FAA set hourly limits a couple of years ago at Washington National, which the agency operates, but the airlines worked out a voluntary program acceptable to the agency.

Nevadans Do Not Stagger To Polls

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — For the first time in 104 years, since Nevada became a state, bars and liquor stores were open during voting hours.

Sheriff's deputies arrested three persons for drunkenness in Clark County and a fourth was jailed in Las Vegas. None of the incidents involved the election Tuesday.

There were no reported complaints of unruliness at the polls because of liquor.

Hand Shaking Proves Fatal To Ft. Hood MP

BELTON, Tex. (AP) — A military policeman from Ft. Hood died Tuesday night after a bullet from his own pistol struck him in the stomach.

Sam Weddington was shaking hands with a fellow military policeman, Bernard A. Robinson, when Robinson's hand became entangled in the cord attached to Weddington's pistol.

When Robinson tried to disentangle his hand, the pistol came out of the holster, discharged and the bullet struck Weddington.

Robinson was charged with negligent homicide in the first degree.

Temple police report that the incident occurred at a private party for off-duty military policemen.

Robinson and another military policeman arrived at the party shortly after 10:00 p.m., had a couple of drinks and were about to leave when Robinson stopped to shake hands with Weddington.

High Fine Cost
Fifty-three fines in Corporation Court Tuesday netted $879 with 22 drunk charges bringing $429, 23 traffic fines amounting to $385, and three other fines bringing $65.

Show Solidarity

BASEL, Switzerland (AP) — The International Association for Internal Medicine has canceled its 10th international congress Sept. 10-14 in Warsaw because of Poland's participation in the occupation of Czechoslovakia, it was learned here Wednesday.

The association's executive committee made that decision last week to show solidarity with Czechoslovakia, a member country of the association, sources said. The congress was to draw about 2,000 delegates.

Horoscope Forecast

TOMORROW — CARROLL RICHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's Full Moon brings considerable activity in making the many changes and setting the new ideas that can be your modus operandi for the future and which you are interested in putting in effect because you feel you are not presently able to gain the good will of the conditions you most want to live under.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Get an early start in your work and in your financial affairs, doing something about your health, also be sure you help that person who looks to you for aid in his own duty and who owes it to you.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Be very active with good friends, you reach very happy accord for the days, months, years ahead. Don't argue with anyone. Keep on that constructive kick and you find that all works out just fine.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): An early start in the bustling world of activity will now gain you the aims you know are uppermost in your mind. Conduct the powerful and get their advice. You can gain more fame in the public eye than you are engaged in.

WOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Investigating into some new and better ways of operating, to use since you then gain your aims with alacrity and ease. Stealing into new interests helps you with these also. Be very active.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21): Follow your intuition more instead of listening to what good friends have to suggest, though they mean well. If you make a big fuss over the one you love, you get excellent response now. A little blarney goes a long way.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Find out what others desire of you and then cooperate willingly so that you get along much better with associates of all. Aspects are good for reconciling with persons you have had altercations with. Be happy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Be sure any foolish notions that you get with all that work that is so important right now. Meddlesome labor sees a nicely finished. Improving your wardrobe has been difficult before, but now it's a cinch.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21): Put aside all the humdrum stuff and run out for the kind of recreation that appeals to you so that you feel more alive and happy. Be only with persons you really like. However, do not act home too late tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Rid yourself of those stumbling-blocks in the path of your personal or business success and then you can conquer your own particular world. Make your home more comfortable also. Add to its beauty.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Ideal day for talks with others so that your business or home life, personal contacts prosper. Be more harmonious with others. Buying, selling, correspondence are all fine later in the day. Be sharp, but in the past.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Put your energy to making your property more safe and valuable. See what monetary investments you can make so that you can have fine dividends in the future. Stop being so satisfied and snug with what you have now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): You are very charming today and can sway others to your way of thinking and doing things, so make it your business to contact them. Reply some social debt with graciousness. Make this a very fine social evening.

No Written Invitation Extended To Baptists

AUSTIN (AP) — A tentative Texas Council of Churches in the capital city. Fifteen judicatories (administrative bodies) of Texas churches have ratified the constitution of the proposed new group. Approval of 20, representing 10 denominations, is necessary before the group can be formed. The "Committee of 16," composed of eight Protestant and eight Catholic leaders, set the date Wednesday for Feb. 25-26 in Austin, which will coincide with the annual meeting of the Churches, said the requisite he really feels. No use in being number is expected to be reached this year, much earlier than originally predicted. The Rev. Gerald McAllister, San Antonio, Canon of the Episcopal Diocese of West Texas, was named chairman of a six-man planning committee for the next year's constituting assembly. President T. A. Patterson should be sounded out personally before one is extended.

"The invitation should be made very adroitly," said Methodist Bishop W. Kenneth Pope, Dallas. "We must go through the back door— Find out how

Braniff Hires New Ad Agency

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Braniff International said Wednesday that Lois Holland Calloway, Inc., of New York would handle its advertising, effective Dec. 1.

Harding L. Lawrence, Braniff's president and chairman of the board said Braniff's advertising approached $10 million annually.

Odds Against Bill To Clear Way For Televised Debates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential candidates, says a Democratic and Republican Commerce Committee, said Wednesday time is working against the bill. It would help if the heads of the two tickets gave it public support, he added.

Rep. John E. Moore of California, fifth-ranking Democrat on the committee, said his opposition to the plan remains firm. He already has said he would carry the fight to the House floor if necessary.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a birthmark on my neck which I can do nothing about. It used to be a strawberry red, but now it's gotten brownish, but it's just as noticeable.

I have used cosmetics to cover it, but powders and creams come off on my clothing, so I finally said, "To heck with that!"

I have been to all kinds of doctors and they all say, "It cannot be removed," and a skin graft would be too extensive, and it might leave scars which would be even worse.

I know you can't help me, but if you print this, perhaps it will stop a few people from starting at me in wonderment, or coming right out and asking me the incredibly rude question, "Is your neck dirty?"

BIRTHMARK CURSE DEAR BIRTHMARK: A good rule to remember is, "If there is no remedy for it, learn to live with it." You can't stop rude people from staring. Neither can you prevent them from asking cruel and thoughtless questions, but you can avoid much embarrassment by coming right out yourself (when people stare) and saying, "No, my neck is not dirty... that's a birthmark."

DEAR ABBY: I am a 24-year-old male who is getting married in September. My mother is going to have a baby in October. She is 44 years old, and is heartbroken about her condition because she's a widow. She couldn't believe it at first, but the doctor said she is definitely pregnant.

Abby, I love my mother and I intend to stick by her regardless. My problem is whether to tell my fiancée and her family about my mother. Is it really any of their business? All they know is that my mother is a middle-aged widow. I would appreciate your advice on this.

IN DOUBT DEAR IN: Your mother's condition is nobody's business but hers. But a widow who plans to appear at her son's wedding in her 8th month, had better be prepared to answer a few questions. (And so should you.)

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is soon to be married to a very nice young man, and here is the problem: HIS mother is having a "JACK AND JILL" shower for my daughter and her son, and she is going around SELLING TICKETS to anyone who will buy one for $3.50. I am flabbergasted, to say the least.

How do we get out of this ridiculous situation? I know it is not proper for the parents of the bride or groom to host a shower, but this business of selling tickets is dreadful, and we want no part of it. Any suggestions? EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Tell the mother of the groom (with all the kindness you can muster) that you appreciate her good intentions, but to forget the shower lest people get the impression that she's motivated by the loot.

MRS. WALTER W. STROUP

Mrs. Stroup Called 'Very Good Mother'

By RHODA LEMONS

Mrs. Walter Stroup is spending these days getting her daughter, Sherry, ready for college. Sherry is 18 and will be entering Abilene Christian College, Sept. 9.

This is the first time that Sherry has spent a long time away from her family and home, and the house is buzzing with preparation for her departure.

Mrs. Stroup has made almost all of her daughter's college wardrobe. She has sewn four casual dresses for campus wear and has made two skirts and a sweater. One is of waterfalls built from ledges of leather and the other is a soft wool trimmed with suede. She has made a corduroy suit and a leather jumper.

Mrs. Stroup will complete other clothes before her daughter leaves, saving about half the expense of Sherry's wardrobe by sewing it herself.

Also, Mrs. Stroup sews almost her entire wardrobe, and in the past, sewed for her other daughter, Mrs. Tommy South of Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Stroup live at 701 Scott, and Stroup is an agent for Southwestern Life Insurance Company. His office is in the home and Mrs. Stroup serves as secretary and office assistant.

The Stroups just finished a family project of building an outdoor terrace of rock and marble and adding a delightful waterfall built from ledges of rock.

The Stroups entertain frequently, mostly in groups of 10 or 12. The evening usually begins with a buffet dinner and ends with games of '84' and '42'. They attend all the local football games and usually have friends over for buffet dinners or snacks following the game.

When the Stroups entertain, Mrs. Stroup prepares the menu on that day. She uses her freezer mainly for meat storage and does not cook for it or prepare meals in advance. She is home most of the time and is able to keep up with each day's menus.

"I prepare the main meal of the day at noon," said Mrs. Stroup. She cooks breakfast, and the family snacks at the evening meal which may be any time if her husband is working.

The favorite menu served by the Stroups when they entertain is barbecued turkey, potato salad, congealed salad and pie. Mrs. Stroup thinks that it is best to find one particular menu that serves a large number and is particularly good and use it often. Of course, she varies it on occasion.

"I do my shopping spasmodically," said Mrs. Stroup. She usually tries to keep a large supply of groceries on hand, because she stays busy at home and would rather save shopping time.

"I just plunge in and try it," said Mrs. Stroup when asked how she managed her work in the house, helped her husband and served as family dressmaker.

The Stroups are members of the 14th and Main Church of Christ, and Mrs. Stroup is coordinator for the primary department.

Try Unusual Sauce With Ham Slices

Your guests will wonder what is in the delicious sauce!

SAUCE DANTON
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 small onion, minced
2 tbsps. flour
1 1/4 cups milk
2 tbsps. tomato paste (from a 6-oz can)
2 tbsps. dry sherry
1/4 tsp salt
1/4 tsp white pepper
In a one-quart saucepan over low heat, melt the butter; add the onion and cook until golden. Stir in flour, then milk; cook and stir constantly over moderate low heat until thickened. Stir in remaining ingredients to blend and heat. Serve with broiled ham slice. Makes enough sauce for four portions.

Toss Meat Balls With Salad For Party Touch

For this stick-to-the-ribs salad, meat balls are chilled with sliced zucchini in a garlic-touched marinade. Just before it's time to serve, you add coarsely chopped western iceberg lettuce and toss gently with the meat ball mixture, tomato wedges and onion rings. This party-size recipe may easily be cut in half for a family meal.

MEAT BALL-VEGETABLE SALAD
1 head western iceberg lettuce
3/4 lb. ground beef
1/2 tsp. garlic salt
1/2 tsp. seasoned pepper
1/4 cup corn oil
1/2 lb. thinly sliced zucchini or crookneck squash (about 1 1/2 cups)
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1 clove garlic, minced

Good Mexican Food For Fall Entertaining

Mexican cuisine is one of the most varied and exotic in the world. Its savory flavors were developed through the centuries from the multitude of aromatic spices found in the land—over 90 varieties of the chili pepper, garlic, cumin, chives, dill, ginger, majoram, cinnamon, vanilla, and sesame, caraway and poppy seeds. The tomato was blended with many seasonings to form the base for delectable sauces for meats, vegetables and pastas.

Home economists recommend these tested recipes using canned products. Chili con Queso (Chili with Cheese) can be served as a spicy appetizer for dipping, or makes a tasty luncheon dish when poured over tortillas. Enchilada de Cacerola (Enchilada Casserole) is an ideal supper for a nippy Sunday evening.

CHILI CON QUESO (Chili with Cheese)

1 lb. pkg. mild processed cheese
1 10-oz. can tomatoes with chilies
1 pkg. frozen tortillas
Heat tomatoes with chilies in sauce pan. Add diced cheese. Cook over very low heat until cheese melts, stirring constantly. Serve in chafing dish along with a basket of tostitos (toasted corn chips). Serves 12.
For an entree, fry 12 tortillas in hot fat for a few seconds, until slightly browned. Pour hot cheese mixture over tortillas. Serves six.

ENCHILADA DE CACEROLA (Enchilada Casserole)

1 lb. ground beef
2 tbsps. shortening
1 10-oz. can enchilada sauce
Salt to taste
12 frozen tortillas (thawed)
1 1/2 cups onion, chopped
1 1/2 cups grated cheese
Brown ground beef in shortening. Add enchilada sauce and salt. Cook slowly over low heat for about fifteen minutes until well blended and slightly thick. Dip tortillas quickly in hot deep fat. Place alternate layers of tortillas, onion, cheese and meat mixture in an eight-inch casserole. Heat in 375 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes until bubbly. Serves four.

Mexican Cookery Is Varied

Mexican special dishes provide centuries of background in savory flavors developed through the centuries to produce culinary delights for the palates of the world.

Make Easy Dish For Supper Meal

A delicious dish to add a fillip to a simple summer menu.

BACON SPINACH NOODLES

6 slices bacon
1 pkg. (8 oz.) spinach egg noodles
3 tbsps. sweet butter
3 tbsps. olive oil
3/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Skillet-cook or broil the bacon until crisp, drain and crumble; keep warm. Cook spinach noodles according to package directions, turn into a colander to drain.

In the rinsed noodle pot, over very low heat, melt the butter and heat the oil; add the noodles, bacon and 1/2 cup of the cheese, toss thoroughly. Remove from heat, quickly mix in the remaining one-fourth cup cheese. Serve at once. Makes four servings.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

If you want your chicken well done when you are broiling it, allow 30 to 40 minutes of broiling time. Have the broiling rack about seven inches from high heat but adjust the placement of the rack or the heat as necessary.

If you want to braise chicken in the oven, use slow (325 degrees) heat and a covered casserole or baking dish. If the baking dish has no cover, cover tightly with heavyweight foil. For a young roasting chicken, allow about 1 1/2 hours braising time.

Thicken canned stewed tomatoes with flour or cornstarch and serve as a sauce for omelet. Strips of onion and green pepper, skillet-cooked in butter, may be added to the stewed tomatoes if you like. Makes a pleasant luncheon or brunch dish.

If you want your asparagus spears to be of even length, cut off the ends instead of breaking them. Always peel asparagus spears up to the buds before cooking; this way the whole spear will be edible.

Roll that lemon between the palms of your hands to soften it before squeezing out the juice; or use a cutting board and the palm of one hand for the rolling.

Try Old Fashioned Cake Made This Tasty Way

The fine, even grain of Chocolate Pound Cake has made this a favorite for years—and cake flour plays an important part in making this so. You'll find this recipe an excellent one to serve it with whipped cream into which has been folded either packaged grated coconut or flaked coconut.

CHOCOLATE POUND CAKE

2 3/4 cups sifted cake flour
1 1/2 tps. cream of tartar
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1 1/2 tps. salt
1 1/4 cups sugar
1 cup shortening (x) (at room temperature)
Milk (x)
1 tsp. vanilla
3 eggs
1 egg yolk
3 sqs. unsweetened chocolate, melted
Packaged grated coconut or flaked coconut
Whipped cream or ice cream

(X)—With butter or margarine, use 3/4 cup milk. With vegetable shortening, use 1 cup milk.

Sift flour with cream of tartar, soda, salt and sugar. Stir shortening just to soften. Add flour mixture, milk and vanilla and mix until all flour is dampened. Then beat two minutes at a low speed of electric mixer or 300 vigorous strokes by hand. Add eggs, egg yolk, and chocolate and beat 1 minute longer. Pour batter into two 8x4-inch loaf pans, which have been lined on bottoms with paper. Bake at 350 degrees for 60 to 65 minutes, or until cake springs back when pressed lightly with finger. Or pour batter into 9-inch tube pan, which has been lined on bottom with paper. Bake for 65 to 70 minutes. Blend coconut into whipped cream; serve over cake slices.

BAR-BURGERS

2 lbs. hamburger
1 small onion
1/2 small green pepper
1 can tomato paste
1 tsp. chili powder
1/2 tsp. tabasco sauce
1/2 tsp. salt
Brown meat, onions and green pepper together in large skillet. Drain off excess fat, remove pan from heat and add all other ingredients and 1/2 cup water. Return to low heat and simmer for 30 or 40 minutes or until liquid is gone. Serve on toasted buns.

BARBECUE SAUCE FOR CHICKEN

1/2 cup margarine
4 tbsps. brown sugar
2 tps. salt
Dash Cayenne pepper
1 tsp. paprika
1 1/2 cup water
4 tbsps. chopped sweet pickle
4 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
3 tbsps. lemon juice
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 tsp. tabasco sauce
1/2 cup catsup
4 tbsps. chopped onion
Melt margarine in pan and add all other ingredients as listed. Place on low heat and simmer for 15 minutes. Use to baste chicken every 10 minutes. Makes enough sauce for three chickens cut in half.

ORANGE SQUARES

4 eggs, well beaten
1 tsp. water
1 box brown sugar
1 cup flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. vanilla
1 lb. candy orange slices, chopped
1 cup pecans, cut fine
1 cup flour

Topping:
5 tbsps. orange juice
1 tsp. melted butter
Confectioners sugar, to thick on

Combine eggs, water, sugar, flour, baking powder and vanilla, with orange slices, pecans and flour. Spread on cookie sheet and bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. When cool, spread with orange juice and melted butter that has been thickened to spreading consistency with powdered sugar.

CHOCOLATE PIE

1 baked pie shell
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 sqs. chocolate or one-third cup cocoa

3 tbsps. cornstarch and 1 tsp. flour or one-third cup flour
1/2 tsp. salt
3 cups milk
3 egg yolks
1 tsp. butter
1/2 tsp. vanilla
Mix sugar, chocolate, cornstarch and flour (or plain flour), salt and milk. Boil one minute. Add three egg yolks, slightly beaten and cook one minute more. Add butter and vanilla. Pour into pie shell and garnish with whipped cream or meringue.

CONGEALED SALAD

16 large marshmallows
Juice of 1 small can pineapple
1 pkg. cherry gelatin, chilled until firm
1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese
1 can fruit cocktail, drained
1 can seedless grapes, drained
1 small can mandarin oranges, drained
1 small can crushed pineapple
1 cup chopped pecans
1/2 pint whipped cream
Melt marshmallows in heated juice of pineapple and let cool. Whip cream cheese until light and fluffy, then add prepared gelatin. Add marshmallow mixture, and fold in drained fruits and pecans. Add whipped cream last. Half of this salad may be frozen for future use.

BROWNIES

1 cup sugar
4 tbsps. cocoa
1 stick margarine
2 eggs
1 cup flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup pecans
Mix sugar and cocoa in large mixing bowl. Melt margarine in pan and add sugar mixture. Add eggs, flour, salt, vanilla and pecans. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes. Do not overcook.

CHESS PIE

1 unbaked pie shell
4 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 stick melted margarine
Juice and grated rind of one lemon
Mix last four ingredients and pour into pie shell. Bake 10 minutes at 400 degrees. Reduce heat to 325 degrees and continue baking for 35 minutes.

HERE'S SOME TIPS FOR ATTENDING THE OLYMPICS IN MEXICO

Flying Down Recommended, Take Taxi

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Those coming here for the summer Olympic Games will be devoting a good amount of their time to transportation problems, not only getting here but moving around once they do. Competition sites and cultural attractions are scattered around this capital district with its population of over six million.

Here's a rundown on some decisions that have to be made:

The capital forms roughly an equilateral triangle with New York and Los Angeles and can be reached directly by car, bus, train or plane.

QUICKEST

Air travel is quickest, and generally recommended.

Most direct and popular auto route in the Pan American Highway (Route 85), from Nuevo Laredo, which is 765 miles, about 21 hours driving time, much of it through mountains, or the Pan American Highway to Monterrey and a change to Route 57, more of a lowland drive, about 16 hours. Both have en route accommodations, although the latter has more.

Route-57 begins at Piedras

Negras on the U.S. border, 822 miles from the capital, and is also about a 16 hour drive.

From Nogales, the Pacific Coast Highway runs south 1,569 miles, is mostly paved, but narrow in spots, picturesque, with fairly frequent accommodations en route.

From Ciudad Juarez the distance via Route 45 is 1,300 miles, or 31 hours, with relatively good road and accommodations en route.

Some sections of the main routes are patrolled by green trucks carrying fuel, oil, spare parts, first aid equipment and two men, one who speaks English. They pass a given point on their patrol section twice a day, and their services are free.

It is wise to bring spare parts for the car, as sometimes they are unavailable in Mexico, and it is a must to fill the tank at every gas station en route, for the next one open may be a tankful away.

Pemex, the government oil monopoly, supplies all grades of gasoline, which come in three grades. The price per gallon in U.S. currency for the three grades will amount to 40 cents, 31 cents and 25 cents, respectively. High compression engines generally require "Pemex 100," the most expensive, while others should burn "Gasolmex."

Parking in Mexico City costs 5.20 pesos daily, but many attendants will use all their wiles to wash or wax your car before it leaves their lot.

If someone ever suggests he watch your car you agree. Even if it is a type of blackmail, it's a guaranty that he won't do something to your car.

HAZARDOUS

Driving in Mexico City and to it is hazardous at best. Mexican drivers feel no compunctions about taking their half of the road out of the middle, and buses and trucks pass blind over hills on two-lane roads.

The horn is used more often than the brake and sudden lane changing is a way of life. Around the city a good map is indispensable and one of the best, in book form is the Guia Roja, which costs $1 U.S. at most bookstores or Sanborn's drug chain.

Buses from the nearest border points to Mexico City cost about $6 U.S. Autobuses Blancos leaves from Nuevo Laredo and Transportes del Norte serve the capital from Matamoros. Tres Estrellas de Oro makes the haul from Tijuana for $22.50 U.S. These one-way fares are subject to change without notice. The buses mentioned are first class with reserved seats, reclining chairs and air conditioning.

Rail service to Mexico City is generally on schedule and, while not up to U.S. standards, comfortable enough.

Here are some sample one-way, first-class rates, including a lower berth, which are subject to change without notice: from Nuevo Laredo, $14.14 U.S., from Nogales, $30.56 U.S., from Mexicali, $38.56 U.S., from Matamoros, with only coach service available, $8.56 U.S., from Ciudad Juarez, $21.41 U.S.

Mexico's crack train is the "Aztec Eagle," which runs from Nuevo Laredo. It has dining car, bar and observation car. Meals aboard the railroads range downward from $2 U.S., which brings you a full dinner with filet mignon or fried chicken. The cheapest meal, a breakfast of hotcakes, costs 80 cents U.S. Some say the food is mediocre.

Airlines now serving Mexico from the U.S. include Pan American, Eastern, American, Western, Braniff, Aeromexico, Mexican de Aviacion and Air France.

Here are approximate economy round-trip air fares without tax to Mexico in U.S. currency, subject to change without notice: from Chicago $214, Houston $38, Los Angeles $198, Miami $180, New Orleans $121, New York $254.

Various airlines will provide tickets during the Olympics only on a package deal made through U.S. travel agencies and only to persons with lodging and tickets confirmed for the games.

CARD NEEDED

A tourist card is needed to enter Mexico. It's free and all a person needs is proof of U.S. citizenship, such as a birth certificate which he should carry with him. The tourist card can be obtained at any Mexican consulate, or through a travel agent who is handling the trip.

An auto permit is needed to drive into Mexico, and the person in whose name the permit is issued will not be allowed to leave Mexico without the car unless he leaves it in bond—a complicated process. This permit must be obtained at a border crossing point and can take several hours. You must prove ownership by registration.

YOU MUST ALSO CARRY MEXICAN INSURANCE

Obtainable on a daily basis. Without this—and even with it—you can be jailed after an accident if you don't flee the scene, as is the custom here. But with it you're safer.

By October the rainy season should be ended, with the capital cool at nights and sunny and warm during the day.

At 7,347 feet, the capital, with a mean temperature of 60 degrees Fahrenheit, is chillier than the lowlands; Acapulco, for instance, where the mean is 80 degrees. A lightweight overcoat and sweaters are advised. Coat and tie are worn regularly in Mexico City as are women's street suits and dresses. Sports clothes and women's slacks are fine for the lower tropical resorts and for travelling.

DUTY FREE

Mexico customs allows a tourist to bring in about 110 pounds of personal belongings duty free, but if it's much over that or consists of many new articles or goods of one type, some of it may be dutiable. Cameras are okay, although foreign-made cameras should be registered on the U.S. side of the border to assure their re-entry duty free.

Returning to the U.S. the tourist can now take $100 worth of goods duty free. Included in this is one quart of liquor allowed every person over 21. Antiques, books, uncut precious stones, original and some other works of art, all are allowed in duty free, but it is wise to check individual cases with the U.S. Embassy customs department before purchase if in doubt.

For those without cars, public transportation is inexpensive.

Taxis called "peseros" cruise certain streets of the city, but most tourists use them only along the showcase boulevard Paseo de la Reforma and Juarez Street that angles off Reforma and leads to the Zocalo, or government square. The cabbies who cruise this route hold up one finger outside the taxi and carry five passengers who can get on or off at certain stops. A ride over the whole route costs one peso (8 cents U.S.). Beware of those who hold up two or more fingers along Reforma, for they charge two pesos and do not turn off on Juarez.

Other taxis run on a meter and cost about 10 U.S. cents a mile, if you can find them. Some taxis are radiocabs, which can be called from any telephone, although results are better if a hotel bell captain or restaurant doorman calls them. These start their meter running when they get the call, and you owe them one peso more than the meter reading when you alight.

ASK WHY

If a cabbie's meter isn't running when you enter, it's a good idea to ask him why and fix a price to your destination, or get out and start looking again.

First class buses cost 50 centavos (4 cents U.S.) and second class costs 30 centavos (2.4 cents U.S.) and it's easy to distinguish between them. If you ride either watch out for pickpockets.

Car rentals will be scarce, as there will be only an estimated 2,000 such vehicles in the city during the games, split about evenly between Avis, Hertz and the local agencies as a group. Reservations should be made now.

A LIST OF SPECIAL PLACES TO GO

Take Enough Money, Swap For Pesos

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Sleepy town of manana this is not.

It is: fast drivers, elegantly crowded restaurants, swinging nightclubs, streets filled with the music of mariachis, stores the size of closets and supermarkets that rival in size any found in the U.S.

It's a lot of good and a bit of bad, but it's trying its best to get better.

Here's where it now stands in its rush for the world tourist dollar and what it gives the tourist for that dollar.

DOLLAR

Mexico's Confederation of Chambers of Commerce estimates that the largest percentages of the tourist dollar go to product purchases (40.60), lodging (18.20), nightclubs (18.20) and food (14.50).

The basic monetary unit is the peso, which looks like a silver dollar but is worth eight cents in U.S. currency. There is also a paper peso and bills of higher denominations, as well as coins of lower denominations. For practical purposes, the coin can be discounted because the basic spending unit is the peso.

To obtain the price in U.S. cents, simply multiply the price in pesos by eight. That restaurant check says 20 pesos and you own 1.60 dollars U.S.

Banks advise tourists to bring all the money they need, either in U.S. dollars or in traveller's checks. Don't count on getting checks sent from home, as mail delivery is often unreliable. And don't count on cashing a personal check anywhere, even at a bank.

One spokesman for a U.S. bank with branches here said: "We try to help persons who are our customers in the U.S. if they need money in an emergency. About the most we can do is telephone their bank at their expense and get that bank to cable funds. Then when we receive the funds we can turn them over." He points out, however, that the tourist himself can do the same.

ACCEPTED

Dollars are accepted in a variety of establishments, but the tourist who spends them is foolish. They should be cashed for pesos at a bank, where the government regulates the rate of exchange.

Banks generally sell dollars for 12.50 pesos and buy dollars for 12.40 pesos. Hotels have been known to buy dollars for 12.40 pesos, which means that changing 100 dollars U.S. at that hotel would bring you 1,240 pesos instead of 1,249 at the bank—a loss of nine pesos, or 72 cents U.S.

Bank hours are 9 to 1 five days a week, and Saturdays they close at 12:30 p.m. For those in a hurry to change their money on entering or leaving the country, Banco de Mexico maintains a 24-hour service at International Airport.

Another form of money accepted is the credit card. Most top hotels, nightclubs, restaurants and many department and fashion stores accept the major cards—Diners Club, Hilton Carte Blanche and American Express.

Diners Club, for example, claims 5,000 Mexican businesses will accept its card, and 2,000 of these are in the capital.

Other cards are accepted by companies issuing them, such as Hertz and Avis car rental agencies and Sears Roebuck stores. Gasoline credit cards are not accepted.

TIPPING

On most occasions when the tourist reaches into his pocket it will be for a tip, although tips won't constitute a large amount of money spent.

Here in Mexico there are a few do's and don'ts. Taxi drivers don't merit a tip unless they perform some special service. Shoeshine boys are not accustomed to receiving tips—just the peso they charge.

In other situations, 15 per cent is the general rule. In the hotel or restaurant waiters generally get 15 per cent, but in restaurants where five or so persons serve a table and the service is excellent, 20 per cent is not out of order. The 15 per cent is good enough for room service.

MAID

The chamber maid should get about 20 pesos weekly per room, and the bellboy one or two per bag he carries and perhaps two for an errand that brings him to your room. The bag estimate holds true for anyone who handles them.

Parking attendants usually get a peso, as do movie ushers who show you to a seat. Policías privados, or private police, are recognizable by their generally makeshift brown uniforms. These guys stake out a section of curb and park an unbelievable number of cars along them. They get a peso or two, depending upon their effort and the length of time you leave your car in their care.

A last general rule, is that you seldom tip less than a peso.

—Del Lago: Built on the shore of artificial Lake Chapultepec, it is ultramodernistic and is open from noon until 3:30 a.m. It seats about 750 and provides dining, dancing and a gigantic bar. No cover charge. Drinks are 22 pesos per highball, 14 pesos for beer and coke, 10 pesos for a rum, but one drink entitles a customer to a full evening of dancing. Full dinner costs about 100 pesos per person with a drink included.

—El Senorial: A nightclub designed to please everybody except those looking for a quiet place in which to chat. It has a piano bar, jazz, pop music, bossa nova singers, trios, quartets and an Irish band. Dancers in its "Leopard Room" are reputed to have the most skirts in town. In this room there's a 25 peso cover. In the other two bars, the price of a drink (22 pesos per highball, 16 pesos for a domestic drink and 10 pesos per beer) entitles a person to watch the continuous entertainment as long as he wants. With drinks and dinner a couple can spend no less than 400 pesos.

FRENCH

—Can-Can: A sort of Mexican French Guy Nineties restaurant with a good show thrown in. No cover and no minimum, but the porter at the entrance expects a small tip and the captain who escorts you to your table expects no less than a 50-peso bill, as does the bartender and waiter. Two drinks and supper should run about 100 pesos per person. The half-hour shows begin at 9 p.m. and end at 2:30 a.m. No dancing.

—Vendimia: A gigantic continuous floor show and an elevated dancing rink mark this new Spanish-style club. Drinks average 20 pesos each, and guests are practically forced to order dinner, which can run to 400 pesos per couple.

—Rivoli: Many consider this the top restaurant in town. Its prices are also among the highest, and dinner for two, with drinks, generally costs about 500 pesos.

—Delmonico's: Another top restaurant, but with prices a bit lower. Drinks are in the 18-24 peso range and a steak, for instance, costs 60 pesos, and is flown in from the U.S.

—Ambassadors: Fine service and outstanding bar—a gathering place for Mexican newsmen—combined with continental decor make this a good place for a quiet dinner. A dinner for two would cost about 500 pesos.

—Villa Fontana: Very posh atmosphere, with a lot of men playing violins, 99 per cent tourists. Dinner (some say it isn't worth it) and drinks for two about 200 pesos.

SPLENDID VIEW

—Da Vinci: A penthouse restaurant and bar with splendid view of the city. Drinks from 10 pesos up. Dinner for two around 300 pesos.

—Hotel de Cortes: Restaurant in a colonial palce in Mexico's oldest hotel. Its Mexican fiesta on Saturdays is attractive, with dinner costing 60 pesos, with either fried chicken or a huge steak. Drinks, from five pesos a beer.

—Muraltto: Bar and restaurant on 41st floor of the Latin American Tower, tallest building in Latin America. The view is magnificent. Drinks, 20 pesos each. Dinner and drinks for two, about 300 pesos.

—Bamer Hotel restaurant: Overlooks Alameda Park. Dinner in very exclusive atmosphere, about 300 pesos for two, with drinks. Music, but no dancing.

—Ritz Bar and Grill: Good lunches and fine service. About 100 pesos per couple, with drink.

—Hacienda Los Morales: Dinner or lunch for two, with drinks, around 300 pesos at this old Mexican hacienda converted into an elegant restaurant and bar.

—San Angel Inn: Colorful Mexican showplace with reasonably good food and nice decor. Luncheon or dinner for two costs about 300 pesos with drinks.

Throughout the city there are hundreds of restaurants where, in a nice atmosphere, lunches and dinners are served in the 10-30 peso range. Drinks run between six and 10 pesos and a bottle of Mexican beer costs about three pesos.

Cuernavaca has 100 fair-to-middling restaurants and bars. One not to miss, however, is the restaurant of the Las Manantias Hotel. Dinner for two is about 200 pesos including drinks.

ACAPULCO

Acapulco sports a great variety of bars and restaurants, but here are three worth mentioning:

"Le Club" is THE nightclub in Acapulco, and it charges as though it knows it is. Dinner and drinks for two will run about 400 pesos, and there is dancing.

Dinner at "Armando's" is an occasion on which to dress your best. It is a sophisticated restaurant, with piano bar. Dinner for two, with drinks, 300 pesos.

"La Perla," inside the Hotel Mirador, serves drinks for about 15 pesos each. This entitles the guest to enjoy a spectacular view of the ocean breaking onto the rocks below and the world-famous daredevil divers plunging from clifftop to surf.

Hire A Guide Licensed By The Government

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico, where enough culture exists to satisfy the appetite of the most voracious tourist, is importing still more in honor of the Olympic year.

The government has asked all countries entering the Olympics also to be represented here at some time during the year with a cultural attraction.

So those who come to Mexico and don't want to see things Mexican will have a chance to see Belgian ballet, Greek theater, Czechoslovakian opera, Japanese art and Van Cliburn.

For those who want to see things Mexican, the opportunities are here just as before.

SHOPPING

Mexico's markets and arts centers provide a world of shopping for the tourist. Churches, museums and murals abound and huge archaeological digs exist within the city.

Short drives from the city will bring the visitor to snowcapped volcanoes or sunny lowlands with lakes for swimming and grottoes with underground rivers.

First, a word about getting around. Bus and taxi transportation are less expensive in Mexico City than most other capitals of the world. A five-mile taxi ride can cost as little as 50 cents U.S. Within Mexico City are many sites that can be reached with a healthy walk.

Tourist guides are licensed by the government (you should ask to see their Department of Tourism card that will bear their picture) and many of these can be hired with a car at a fixed price for a day.

Without a car they can be hired for $10 U.S. per eight-hour day, but as most own cars they would rather use them, and a guide-car combination costs $20 U.S. for use within the city.

Cost of trips outside the city varies. For instance, a guide driving to the pyramids of Teotihuacan about 35 miles northeast of the city charges $24 U.S. for six hours.

PYRAMIDS

Buses run to the pyramids, and a taxi has taken a group of four persons there for as little as 10 pesos (80 cents U.S.) per person. There for a few pesos a person can buy a book that tells all their is to know about the pyramids.

During the Olympic Games month of October most of the city's 52 travel agencies' tours will be booked solid. Advance reservations made through U.S. travel services are recommended. These 52 agencies have been given large room allotments in top hotels outside of Mexico City during that period.

Four of Mexico's top tour operators have banded together for the games into an organization called Affiliated Mexican Operators Service Association. They will offer bus and auto tours to just about all the outlying cities and towns of interest. Information on these can be obtained either through a U.S. travel agency or by writing to: AMOSA, Londres 106, Planta Baja, Mexico 6, D.F.

For example, a one-way auto tour for six days takes you to Guanajuato for two nights with a single bed in a double room and six meals, then on to Guadalajara, Mexico's second-largest city, with three nights in a similar hotel room but only one meal—a lunch provided on a side trip. Cost if $134 U.S., and you have to arrange your own transportation from Guadalajara back to Mexico City.

TOUR

A similar tour to Acapulco for four nights with a one-night stop in Taxco, famed for silver-working costs $147 U.S. and includes three meals in Taxco but none in Acapulco. Also included are small side trips by water and land.

For the person on foot in Mexico City and the person travelling by car outside of it, a good tour book is recommended. John Wilhelm's "Guide to Mexico City" and "Guide to A.I. Mexico" are highly regarded, as is "Terry's Guide to Mexico," all of which are updated since their first editions.

Wilhelm's book lays out a number of fine walking and driving tours within Mexico City, telling a bit about each historic building you pass and where you should stop for a bite to eat or a glass of beer.

Within the city, some of the sights that should be missed are the National Anthropology Museum on Paseo de La Reforma which charges 3 pesos. Chapultepec Castle, the residence of Aztec Emperor Motecuhzoma which was rebuilt by Emperor Maximilian in the mid-1800s, is nearby and well worth the 2-peso entrance fee.

A quick drive out Reforma to the Lomas area and a return through Lomas de Chapultepec gives a fine view of some of the most palatial house in Mexico.

PINK ZONE

The Zona Rosa, or pink zone, lying south of Reforma near the unmistakable Independence Monument topped by a golden angel, is an area of fine specialty shops and restaurants best seen by walking.

Near the pink zone is the city's main north-south boulevard. Avenue of the Insurgentes, and a trip far south on this leads to the National University, across from which the Olympic track and field events will be staged.

Getting back via Insurgentes to Reforma, along which many of the best hotels are scattered, and turning right (east) brings you to first the statue of Cristobal Colon (Christopher Columbus) and then to "El Caballito," or little horse, which is being ridden by Carlos V, whom everybody seems to have forgotten.

From this point Reforma continues on to La Villa, and the shrine of the Virgin of Guadalupe. A slight right at "El Caballito" puts you on Avenue Juarez which leads to the heart of old Mexico (roughly in southeast direction).

Travelling on Juarez, which soon turns into Madero, toward this heart, you come to statue-filled Alameda Park on the left, then the Palace of Fine Arts, where many of the Olympic cultural program dance and music events will be staged.

TALLEST

Further still, on the right, is Latin America's tallest building, the 43-story Latin American Tower, with dining facilities and bar on the 41st floor and an observation tower (4-peso admission) on the 42nd floor.

Madero ends at the Zocalo, or government square, site of the Aztec city conquered by the Spaniards. Fronting on this square are the cathedral, presidential palace national, pawnshop and other government buildings.

Behind the presidential palace and a good walk is La Merced, a giant public and wholesale market of some interest. But more colorful in this line is Lagunilla Market, off to the right on the return trip along Madero to Reforma and before the Fine Arts Palace.

In this same area, about three blocks from the Fine Arts Palace mariachis hold forth in the evenings at Plaza Garibaldi, both outside in the plaza and inside restaurants. They'll serenade a person or a group for about 10 pesos (80 cents U.S.) per song.

GARDENS

The floating gardens of Xochimilco, reachable by a short drive from the Zocalo area, are best seen on Sunday, when the boats are decorated with fresh flowers. The gardens, originally built on rafts by the Indians, do not float anymore, but the rafts you can hire do. Although they look rickety, none has yet been known to sink. If they do, the water is only several feet deep. The craftsman should charge 20 to 40 pesos ($1.60-$3.20 U.S.) per hour for four persons, and if he doesn't keep looking for one who does.

There are many other sights to see, and these can be found by looking in any guide book.

For the imported culture available during the Olympic year, the Mexican Olympic Organizing Committee has set up a section dealing with cultural events.

These events began Jan. 19 and will continue throughout the year. A spokesman for the cultural committee said confirmations of participation are still coming in from various countries and schedules for the fall are subject to some change.

These mainly constitute what is called the International Festival of Fine Arts, in which the committee hopes to fill 278 days with performances by various countries' ballets, operas, orchestras, dance and choral groups.

Other events and exhibitions in the cultural olympics are congresses of poets and sculptors, exhibits of architecture, art works, olympic art and statuary, olympic stamps, handicrafts, space technology and films, from various countries.

FINE ARTS

Most of the fine arts program will be presented in the Fine

Arts Palace. It is the home of Mexico's National Opera and Ballet Folklorico, and is one of the city's most impressive structures, which took 14 years to build. In it hangs the world's only glass curtain, weighing 22 tons and built by Tiffany at a cost of $47,000 fifty years ago.

A committee spokesman said that although a reservations office will be set up for these events, a large portion of the tickets will be on sale at the box offices six days before the individual event. Prices of tickets vary with the size of the company giving the performance, but generally range between 10 pesos (80 cents U.S.) and 80 pesos (6.40 U.S.) for ballets and orchestras. In no case, the spokesman said, will a ticket cost more than 80 pesos.

Here are the events now scheduled for October at the Fine Arts Palace, followed by dates and times of performances.

The Olympic Ballet of Sweden — Oct. 1, 3, 5, 7, 8, 10 at 9 p.m.

Mexico's National Symphony Orchestra — Oct. 4, at 8:30 p.m. and Oct. 8 at 11:45 a.m.

The 20th Century Ballet of France — Oct. 14, 15, 17-19, 21 at 9 p.m.

GREECE

The Piraiikon Theater of Greece — Oct. 22, 24, 25, 29, 31 at 9 p.m.

Mexico's Ballet Folklorico — Oct. 2, 9, 16, 23, 30 at 9 p.m., and Oct. 13, 20, 27 at 9:30 a.m., 12 p.m., 5 p.m. and 8 p.m., and Oct. 6, at 9:30 a.m., 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.

In some of the Ballet Folklorico performances the company will put on a Ballet of The Five Continents—choreographed by persons from different nations—instead of the tradition folk dance program.

 Dog inherits kittens after mother is killed

Trixie Takes Over When Momma Cat Killed By Car

By TEX ROGERS
 Animals usually take to their own kind, and it's not often that the species barrier is broken. But a brown Pekingese named Trixie jumped the tracks of dogdom and has latched onto two kittens which she thinks are her own.

Trixie, owned by Mollie Larez, 401 NE 9th, and children, has been a dutiful mother to a pair of pure Siamese kittens since their own mother was killed by a car two weeks ago when they were but a week old. The dog keeps her charges fed, washed, cleaned and hardly out of her sight. After feeding time, she washes them down, stretches out and starts her nap. The kittens quickly follow.

Mrs. Larez said that the kittens' mother, a two-year-old Siamese named Tomasina, and Trixie were the best of friends since Tomasina came to the Larez home when she was a kitten.

"Trixie and Tomasina always played together, and the dog was really excited when the kittens were born," Mrs. Larez said. "She acted as if she wanted to have them for her-

Coahoma Enrollment Figures Add To 980

COAHOMA — School enrollment has started off here a stride ahead of last year. Opening day totals added to 980, which is 19 ahead of the first day last year. Supt. W. A. Wilson anticipated that additional enrollment would be recorded this week. The peak last year was 1,024 and the school term ended with 1,001, so the district is expected to pass the 1,000 mark in registration soon.

The breakdown showed 445 in grades 1-8, plus 277 in grades 6-8, and 258 in grades 9-12. This year pupils are utilizing eight additional classrooms, four of them in the junior high level and four in high school. They also have a new language lab with 15-20 stations; a new vocational office education program; and a new course in mechanical drawing.

The junior high library has been remodeled, has new windows, illumination and lowered

Fall Cotton Meet In Rio

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Reports on various phases of the cotton industry are to be presented at the fall meeting of the board of directors of the National Cotton Council here Thursday.

Board Chairman Raymond E. Blair of Bakersfield, Calif., said the first report at the annual meeting will be by Dr. M. K. Horne Jr., the council's chief economist.

The report by Horne will be an analysis of trends in cotton consumption and the competitive position of cotton.

George Buck, director of research for the council, will outline programs in the industry's expanded effort to improve and develop cotton products, lower costs, obtain greater efficiency and to improve the quality of cotton.

Other reports will be presented on research projects financed by the council as well as those conducted on behalf of the Cotton Producers Institute and the Foundation for Cotton Research and Education.

A difference in approach at the opening plop led to a substantial swing in a recent team-of-four contest, when West found himself on lead against a three no-trump contract.

The bidding was identical at both tables. North opened the bidding with one spade and South responded with two clubs. Altho North's raise to three is slightly aggressive with a holding that is not far removed from a minimum, the final contract of three no trump was reasonable.

At one table, West opened his fourth best diamond. East put up the ace and returned the ten. South finessed the jack which lost to the queen. West realized the futility of continuing the attack in diamonds inasmuch as he had no visible means of regaining the lead once the suit became established.

West, therefore, switched to the nine of hearts, in order to make a play for his partner. East took the next two tricks with the queen and ace of hearts, and then led a third round to clear the suit. South had lost the first four tricks; however, he easily won the balance with five clubs, one diamond, one heart and two spades.

At the other table, West decided from the outset that a diamond lead had little to gain. Since his own holding was virtually a washout, he decided to make a play for his partner who was marked with substantial high card strength. In the hope that East's suit was hearts, West opened the nine of hearts. The three was played from dummy and East's queen held the trick. He continued with the ace and another heart, clearing the suit.

Declarer proceeded to run the clubs on which West discarded three diamonds and East parted with one diamond and one spade. South had only eight top tricks available and, in order to score a ninth, he must play the diamond suit himself. He, therefore, entered the dummy with the king of spades in order to lead a diamond. East followed with the ten and declarer was left with a guess. He eventually chose to play the jack in the hope that it would force out the ace.

West won the trick with the queen, however, and he returned a diamond to his partner's ace—after which East cashed the setting trick with the six of hearts.

Volcano Erupts

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — The Irazu volcano on Costa Rica's central plateau erupted Wednesday, sending up a 1,000-foot gray cloud.

The eruption caused alarm in nearby towns but there were no immediate reports of damage. Irazu last erupted in 1963, continuing for 18 months and scattering millions of tons of ashes over the area.

The Arenal volcano in north-west Costa Rica, which began erupting several weeks ago, continued to shoot out vapor clouds Wednesday.
