Tractor Thug Frustrated?

What appears to be an attempt to steal a tractor from the farm of L. J. Davidson, northeast of town last night, was frustrated by the return of the former county commissioner to his home before the thief had time to drive the vehicle away. Sheriff A. N. Standard and Deputy Lindy Oldfield, who went to the scene, are continuing their investigation today. Davidson had left the tractor at the rear of his home. He and his family had been away from home and returned about 9 p.m. They heard the sound of the tractor engine and Davidson notified a neighbor. The two men approached the tractor. It was still running but no one was around. Apparently the thief had seen the car lights and been frightened from the scene. Davidson said that the engine was only mildly warm when he reached it.

Raps Death Definitions

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Legal definitions of death should be changed to say it occurs when the brain stops functioning, says Dr. Norman E. Shumway, Stanford University's pioneer surgeon in heart transplantation. Speaking at Alumni Day at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center, Shumway described on Wednesday present definitions of death — based on heart beat and pulse — as the "old boy scout view." A person dies, Shumway said, when he goes into "irreversible coma or suffers a brain death." He said organs die at different times and destruction of the brain is destruction of the essence of a human being. Shumway has performed five human heart transplants.

CLASS 69-B GRADUATION Golden Knights To 'Chute' At Webb AFB Saturday

Free-falling parachutists of the world famous "Golden Knights," the United States Army Parachute Team, will demonstrate their acrobatic skill at Webb AFB, Saturday morning. The team, based at Ft. Bragg, N.C., will perform following the graduation ceremonies on Webb's flightline for pilot training class 69-B. The graduation is scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. Besides the "Golden Knights," spectators can view the static display of various aircraft that will be set up and watch a wing parade and pass-in review — all of which are in conjunction with the UPT class graduation. Col. William C. McGlothlin Jr., Webb wing commander, invites the public to witness the parachute demonstration as well as 69-B's graduation exercise. Air policemen at the main gates will direct visitors to the base flightline, and free parking will be made available. Since the "Golden Knights" were organized in 1939, the Army's aerial ambassadors have staged over 700 demonstrations of free-fall parachuting throughout the world. The "Knights" have three basic missions: demonstrations, research and development, and parachuting competition. In competitive parachuting circles, the "Knights" are recognized as the world's finest. They have produced five United States champions, two world champions, one Helms Foundation Sport Parachute Athlete of the Year, and numerous runners-up. The team also claims 74 per cent of the International Precision Parachuting Records. During their demonstration of championship techniques Saturday, the "Knights" will jump from aircraft at 13,500 feet, over 2 1/2 miles high. Then during 70 second free-falls, they will perform a Baton Pass, Cutaway, Diamond Track, and Formation Free-Fall. Colorful smoke trails from foot-mounted smoke bombs will allow spectators to follow the aerial action with ease. As each jumper approaches 1,800 feet, he will pull the ripcord opening his parachute. Black and gold canopies will blossom out and the jumpers will steer their highly maneuverable parachutes to landings in front of the spectators. In addition to nine parachutists, the "Golden Knights" will also have a narrator and a ground control operator at the aerobatic demonstration.

Tactics Of Presidential Hopefuls Cause Discontent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The early campaign techniques of the two major presidential candidates are causing some discontent among members of their own parties. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has been criticized by some Democrats for too often shooting from the hip on crucial matters. On the Republican side, Richard M. Nixon is said to be too complacent about winning the November election. This assessment of the early tactics of the general election drive surfaced from a cross-section check of interested politicians not intimately connected with the campaigns of the two candidates. Campaign officials generally are loathe to publicly discuss the tactics or prospects of their candidates, except in confident and laudatory terms. But those politicians whose only stake in the campaign is a desire to see their own party win more often will give a candid assessment of what's happening. For example, some Democrats not directly involved in the presidential campaign say Humphrey has been making too many statements, particularly on Vietnam, on which he has had to backtrack. These same observers say the Democrats' No. 2 man, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, has been making a better impression on the voters than Humphrey. On the Republican side there is comment that Nixon is being too vague about the issues, that he is trying to coast into the presidency in the manner that helped defeat the GOP's Thomas E. Dewey in 1948. BIG CINCH? Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, one of those Republicans willing to speak out on the subject, said he thinks there is more than a grain of overconfidence on the part of some of Nixon's advisers. "Dick himself isn't over-confident," Morton said. "But I think some of the men around him are just a little too sure he is going to win the election and they are trying to keep him under wraps." Morton, a former Republican national chairman, is retiring from the Senate this year. Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., who doesn't face his state's voters again until 1970, had another point. He said in a separate interview that unless Humphrey can pull feuding Democrats together he may be "clobbered" in November. # Barnes Says Hubert Faces Uphill Fight

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Ben Barnes says he told Vice President Hubert Humphrey in Houston Wednesday the Democratic ticket faces an uphill fight in Texas and must come down hard for law enforcement to win. Barnes campaigned with Humphrey in Houston, then came to the Capitol for a news conference that marked the beginning of his own race for lieutenant governor. It was that race, he said, that prompted him to turn down Humphrey's request that he serve as his statewide campaign manager. EASY WIN? Most political pros feel Barnes has an easy contest against Doug DeLuitt, a political unknown who is Republican nominee for lieutenant governor. Barnes also said he told Humphrey, in answer to a question from the Democratic presidential candidate, that he felt there was no significance to the fact that John Connally's absence when Humphrey appeared in Houston. A spokesman for Connally said he was unable to be in Houston because of pressing personal business elsewhere. That same business caused Connally to cancel a speaking engagement before some New York investment bankers on behalf of Texas Park bonds. Barnes agreed to fill the New York commitment for Connally.

The bidding:
East South West North
3♥ 5♦ Pass 6♦
Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: King of ♥
South, the declarer at six diamonds, permitted his opponent to score a trick with the nine of diamonds despite the fact that the former had a solid holding in trumps. This apparent gift, however, was an essential ingredient to a successful campaign on the deal.
East opened the bidding with three hearts and South overcalled with a direct leap to game in diamonds. There was little room left for investigation and no other suitable bid was available to him. North felt warranted in raising his partner to six diamonds inasmuch as he held some strategic values in the form of the ace of spades plus trump support.
Altho a spade lead would have sealed South's doom, West can hardly be faulted for selecting the more normal opening of the king of hearts which South ruffed. He began drawing trump by leading over to the queen of diamonds and back to the ten in his hand. When West showed out on the second round, declarer abandoned the suit and switched his attentions to clubs.
He cashed the ace of clubs and continued with the king. East ruffed in with the nine of diamonds; however, he found himself to be end-played. He was reluctant to lead away from the king of spades with the ace and queen in full view, so he returned the ace of hearts.
South ruffed, played the queen of clubs and then ruffed away West's jack on the next round with North's jack of diamonds. A spade was discarded on the queen of hearts and, after the ace of spades was cashed, South's hand was high. He had lost only one trick—the nine of diamonds.
If declarer had drawn three rounds of trumps at the beginning, he would have gone down to defeat after the spade finesse fails, inasmuch as a club trick must also be lost when that suit fails to divide evenly. If both opponents should follow to two rounds of clubs, South can safely draw the last trump, for he is now assured of at least 12 tricks.
Observe that, East would not have benefited by refusing to ruff the second round of clubs for, declarer will continue with the queen and, if that card is also permitted to hold, he can trump the fourth club in dummy with the jack of diamonds.

Considerate Car Thief Tanked Up WICHITA FALLS (AP) — The case of the considerate car thief is being considered by Wichita Falls police. Doyle Conner of Wichita Falls reported his 1960 pickup truck was stolen from its parking place. Later Conner drove past the spot in another vehicle and found the truck had been returned. When stolen, the truck had only about a quarter of a tank of gasoline. But when it was returned, the tank was almost full.

Antique Cars Will Parade By Webb's Jet Planes Sunday

Ancient vintage automobiles are scheduled to be on display Sunday afternoon at Webb AFB as the Big Spring-Midland Antique Car Clubs hold a "Sublime to Ridiculous Ice Cream Social."

Approximately 35 antique cars, ranging in years from 1915 to 1930, can be seen from 2 to 3:30 p.m. behind Webb's John H. Lees Service Club. They are owned by residents of Big Spring, Midland, San Angelo, Abilene and Lubbock.

Earlier Sunday, the cars will tour the base and pass a judging stand. The best looking automobiles from each city will be photographed beside a jet-age T-38 Talon.

The afternoon extravaganza is a "thank you ice cream social" sponsored by the Midland West Texas Region in cooperation with the Big Spring Antique Automobile Club. It is being held to reciprocate for a sister region's Grand Old Tour which took place in San Angelo earlier this year.

This is the first time Webb has been selected as the site of the antique convention.

Bishops Leave Door Open For Dissent

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bishops of the Roman Catholic Church around the world are taking various positions ranging from firm crackdowns to toleration toward the widespread opposition to Pope Paul's encyclical barring contraception.

Generally, both in this country and abroad, the predominant tendency seemed to be to leave the door open to dissent.

SCANDALOUS

In scattered cases, in Australia, Ireland, Great Britain and the United States, some priests were reported suspended from their posts for challenging the encyclical.

A showdown over the issue appeared to be building up in this country involving Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle of Washington, D.C. who has indicated he may act against 52 priests unless they repudiate their dissent.

In a letter to archdiocesan priests and aimed at all Catholics in the jurisdiction, Cardinal O'Boyle said Wednesday that the Catholic Church, the one of dissent from the encyclical is erroneous, scandalous and offensive to faithful Catholics.

He said acceptance of the papal ruling represents true freedom of conscience in that "we are responsible for forming a right conscience."

CUT OFF

Mostly, however, American bishops have not moved to cut off the discussion.

In Western Europe, German and Belgian bishops have upheld the rights of individual conscience on the matter.

In England, where a group of laymen was gathering clergy were reported suspended from their posts for challenging the encyclical.

Some theologians have said that dissenters could cause schism in the Church.

But a Canadian scholar, Rev. Gregory Baum, professor of theology at St. Michael's College in the University of Toronto, predicts:

"After a year, it will be evident there are two positions in the Catholic Church, the one of the Pope, the other that of the theologians. This will demand a reinterpretation of papal authority in the Church."

Aside from several groups in various places, about 650 U.S. Catholic theologians, philosophers and canon lawyers have signed a statement disagreeing with the Pope.

RIGHT TO FOLLOW

A Gallup poll indicated 52 percent of American Catholics also opposed the Pope's position, and 65 percent said they believed it is possible to practice artificial birth control and still be a good Catholic.

In the Netherlands, only 20 percent of Catholics agreed with the encyclical, a poll there found.

Belgium's bishops said they accepted the encyclical "with filial respect" but that a knowledgeable Catholic who honestly differs from its conclusions has the right to follow his convictions.

West Germany's bishops issued a statement defending the encyclical as "an authentic decision," but added:

"Catholics for reasons which must be taken seriously, may believe that they should deviate from a decision proclaimed by the Church without the claim of infallibility."

SAN ANTONIO — The view from the top has proven to be one of the most popular attractions at the San Antonio World's Fair, with more and more visitors each day taking the ride up the 622-foot Tower of the Americas.

The theme structure of the World's Fair is tallest tower in the Western Hemisphere, and it has attracted more than 1.6 million persons since the exposition opened and will continue as a permanent attraction after the fair closes Oct. 6.

Actually, the city of San Antonio, which operates the Tower, has boosted it to 750 feet with the addition of an antenna stretching from the top.

All eyes will be on the 750-foot level Sept. 28 during a special celebration honoring Gov. John Connally, commissioner general of the World's Fair.

At that time, the chief of the Flying Indians of Mexico will perform his daring dance atop the antenna as a special attraction. The chief usually performs the dance atop a 114-foot pole at the Pepsi-Cola-Frito-Lay Pavilion.

DEAR BOSS:

Brace For Friday The 13th

DEAR BOSS: Knowing how you are about not remembering to look at the calendar, it behooves me to advise you that Friday of this week falls on the 13th. And you know, Boss, what that means.

Friday is always unlucky as everyone knows. Thirteen is unlucky. Put 'em together, Boss, and you've got a mess. When such a day falls, it is entirely best for all good men to stooled in bed and not even attempt to get where the action is.

FIRST OF YEAR

This particular jinx day is the first we have had in 1968, but it ain't the last one. We go to live through another Friday the 13th in December. It doesn't seem so bad in those years when these dire dates occur from five months to seven months apart, but to have two of 'em in three months — well that's overdoing it.

People are always explaining they are scared of Friday the 13th, but few know why. Some tell you of some bad luck they had at some remote time which occurred on a Friday 13. They are forgetting, of course, a lot of other misfortunes that befell them on other days which happened to be Mondays or Wednesdays and not on 13s.

A lot of theories have been advanced over the centuries as to why the figure 13 is supposed to be bad luck. Probably the most popular is that there were 13 diners at the Last Supper. Some connect Friday with that tragic date and putting the two together, you have a good logical reason for smearing the combination as bad luck.

In the rugged old days when the hangman awaited 90 per cent of the criminals in Merrie Old England, the established day for hangings at Tyburn was Friday. It was a major holiday each week and all of London's idle, along with its society swells, would mass around the gibbet to watch the luckless prisoners die. Friday and the hangman became synonymous, and since the connotation is not happy, Friday added to its bad luck reputation.

The soothsayer warned Caesar to beware the Ides of March — not a 13th, by the way, nor a Friday. It worked just fine though — about the toughest luck on record befell the emperor at the base of Pompey's column on that day. The soothsayer could have told Caesar to beware of Friday the 13th, but the big doings to which the emperor was going were set for the 15th.

Boss, a lot of folk will spend the day trembling and waiting the end of next Friday. They will shun ladders, avoid black cats like the plague, spill no salt, be grateful there is no new moon to be accidentally seen over the left shoulder.

PROOF OF FALSITY

And the fellows who were born on Friday 13 will prate of it and cite the longevity and good fortune as proof of the falsity of the old superstition. Or, if they feel their lives have been less than ideal, they can readily blame all their own failures and shortcomings on the unfortunate circumstance of the day on which they were born.

Unfortunately, I was born on a Tuesday and the date was the 25th. I got no alibi for my own assorted bingles.

Hoping you are the same, I remain your superstitious-minded reporter,

SAM BLACKBURN

Sale Of Gold Guesses Bad

WASHINGTON (AP) — France's hush-hush sale of gold to the United States in June, a humiliating act for the government of Charles de Gaulle, turns out to have been far larger than speculation indicated.

The upper limit of guesses as to the size of the sale, suggested to bolster the suddenly wobbly franc, was about $100 million.

But the Treasury Department's quarterly report on monetary trade transactions, released Tuesday, showed the actual figure to be $220 million.

The report also showed that despite the big purchase from France the United States experienced a $21.9 million outflow of gold during the second quarter.

But this was only a tiny fraction of the $1.4 billion drain during the first quarter when the United States was still committed to supporting the price of gold on the London market.

Since March, when a two-price system for gold was set up, the United States and other gold pool nations no longer try to keep the free market price in check, instead letting it find its own level.

The traditional regulated price of $35 an ounce is now observed only in transactions between governments.

Casualty Reports Indicate War Lull

SAIGON (AP) — American, South Vietnamese and enemy casualties all dropped sharply last week, back to the level that prevailed during the prolonged lull in ground fighting in July and early August. The weekly casualty reports by the allied commands indicated that the war might be tapering off slightly again after two weeks of intensified combat.

The U.S. Command said 195 Americans were killed in action and 1,400 were wounded, with 681 of the latter hospitalized.

These figures were about half those for the previous week.

The U.S. Command reported 1,664 of the enemy were killed last week, less than half the enemy losses reported for the previous week.

South Vietnamese casualties were 325 killed, 1,081 wounded and 60 missing, also a marked drop.

The week's figures brought total American casualties reported for the war to 27,704 killed, 91,263 wounded and hospitalized and 81,926 wounded and treated in the field.

The total enemy dead reported since Jan. 1, 1961, is 392,585, the U.S. Command said.

Stenerud Named Player Of Week

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City Chiefs Coach Hank Stram has said that "anywhere from four to six games a season can be decided on the kicking phase."

The Chiefs' 26-21 victory Monday night against the Houston Oilers was one.

For his performance that featured four field goals, Jan Stenerud was named The Associated Press' offensive player of the week. Counting his two extra-point kicks, he provided Kansas City with 14 points.

As it turned out, every one of the field goals—from 27, 33, 26 and 32 yards—was crucial. When Houston quarterback Pete Berhard steered the Oilers to the Chiefs' nine-yard line with 26 seconds to go, he was forced by the five-point deficit to go for the touchdown.

There's Big Hitch To Paper Panties

NEW YORK (AP) — So-called paper panties are going to step onto the American market soon — courtesy of British ingenuity.

The panties, actually made of a nonwoven viscose rayon, were revealed by a model in a showing for the American lingerie industry.

The disposable garments have been a fashion rage in Britain since 1967, and the firm that makes them is working on bras of the same material. They also make men's shorts.

The ladies' panties are marketed individually in packages about the size of cigarette packs and will be available in machine dispensers. They have been selling abroad for 15 cents a pair.

There's one hitch: If you're over size 8, forget it. The pants can't stand the strain.

New Teachers Strike Set After Threats Of Violence

NEW YORK (AP) — A new citywide teachers strike has been set for Friday after threats of violence against teachers in the Negro Ocean Hill-Brownsville section of Brooklyn. Classes began Wednesday for 1.1-million pupils after a two-day strike by the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers.

Ray's Trial Date Might Be Delayed

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The chief attorney for the man charged with murder in the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says his client may be unable to face a Nov. 12 trial because of the mental upset of intense security over a prolonged period. In a Wednesday interview in Birmingham, Arthur Hanes Sr. said James Earl Ray has undergone "enough to bug anybody" during his confinement in jails in London and Memphis.

Agent Invites Booze Questions

CHUCK HAWKINS, Liquor Control Board agent for Big Spring, has invited anyone with questions or solutions to problems in the area of young people and alcohol to contact him at the Big Spring Police Department. Hawkins hopes to establish a program with the police department which can be taken to the schools and organizations. "It's our belief that preventive law enforcement instead of prosecution is the best way to deal with alcohol and its problems among the young people," he said.

Annual Humorous Speech Contest Slated Oct. 8

The annual humorous speech contest of the Flying Turnbloom Toastmasters Club will be held Oct. 8 at Cosden Country Club and will be preceded by a dinner there at 6:30 for club members and Reddy Room. Marian Bartlett was judged best speaker of the evening and Jerry Peacock was best evaluator. Adrian Randle and Roy Thurston were impromptu speakers.

Junior Rodeo Ropes Profit

Howard County Junior Rodeo of 1968 showed a net profit of $1,445.64 after all bills were paid, according to James Shelton, assistant county farm agent. Gross receipts for the show this year were $16,148.05 — an all-time high. Expenses were $14,702.41. Entry fees paid in (and paid back out as prize money) accounted for $3,175 of the gross. This was the largest entry fee total in the history of the rodeo. Attendance was greater this year and since the bill for cold drinks was twice that of 1967, it must be assumed the audience was thirstier and more prone to spend for refreshments this year than last. Profits for the 1967 show were $1,385.

On Honor Roll

Raymond Lee Tollett Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Tollett, 605 Hillside Drive, is among those who were rated with high honors on the honor roll of the College of Business Administration, the University of Texas, for the spring semester, according to Dean George Kozmetsky.

George C. Wallace, the third party presidential candidate, gets a hug from a supporter on his arrival for a fund-raising dinner and rally Wednesday night. The $25-a-plate dinner raised about $14,000 for his campaign.

Wallace Claims Nixon Makes Empty Promise

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — George C. Wallace, the third party presidential candidate, says Richard M. Nixon made an empty promise when he told Southerners he would not try to jam anything down their throats. Wallace, speaking Wednesday night at an outdoor rally and a $25 a plate fund-raising dinner which netted about $14,000, was referring to Nixon's promise at the Republican National Convention that he would not try to jam anything down the throats of the South or any other section of the nation. "When the national Republican

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Safe Crossings Needed, Teenagers Seek Advice

Dear Editor: Yesterday I saw the child that was injured at the school area on Goliad. Goliad is an extremely dangerous street for our children to be crossing, aided only by a stop sign. I sincerely believe that an efficient safety and traffic control program should be investigated and organized at all school crossings as soon as possible. We cannot afford to have our youth exposed to this danger! We cannot afford to have them injured! What can we do as parents and concerned members of this community to aid the safety of our children? Is slowing down and driving with extreme care enough? I would hate to think that this is the only efficient and effective way of protecting our children from unnecessary injury.

Everyone in this world is equal and nobody deserves any more courtesy than the next person. Why doesn't the world straighten up and think about somebody else, at least once in a while. Teenagers aren't all bad, and neither are adults, but we do need somebody to look to for leadership and advice. Alice Denning

Dear Editor: I believe George Wallace would be the first to tell you that he doesn't consider himself as the savior of our nation, or for that matter, even an angel. But there are a lot of Texans who consider him an angel compared to the other two candidates, and I am one of them. It is time for the people to wake up and vote for the man instead of the party. The first thing (to restore law and order) he would attempt to do would be to have pink-flavored members of the Supreme Court impeached and for Congress to reverse several of the court's stupid decisions. Secondly, he would give his moral support to our policemen and firemen. In my opinion, Wallace is not a false prophet and I don't think we should look the other way. Morris McAdoo 4202 Parkway

Mrs. Raymond Torp 608 Highland Drive

Dear Editor: I think it is time a few grown ups in Big Spring opened their eyes to what the world is all about. I am 18 and since I reached the teenage stage I have heard time and time again that kids have no sense and are nothing but self-centered. Sometimes I wonder how old you have to be to be considered an adult, because lately I have seen quite a few self-centered and childish adults.

Dr. Jerald C. Nelson, assistant professor of medicine, Loma Linda School of Medicine, San Bernardino, Calif., will be guest lecturer for the Veterans Administration educational program Friday. The lecture will begin at 1:30 p.m. in Room 232 of the VA Hospital, and will be on problems of thyroid diseases. All persons of the medical profession in the area are invited to attend.

Dear Editor: I think it is time a few grown ups in Big Spring opened their eyes to what the world is all about. I am 18 and since I reached the teenage stage I have heard time and time again that kids have no sense and are nothing but self-centered. Sometimes I wonder how old you have to be to be considered an adult, because lately I have seen quite a few self-centered and childish adults. In my job I come constantly in contact with adults. I have seen them lose their tempers at the drop of a pin. They throw tantrums just like a five-year old — just because they didn't get their way. Some seem to think of no one but themselves. And this is what is leading our country. These are the people "immature teenagers" are supposed to be planning their lives after. No wonder the world is in the shape it is in today. Whatever happened to the Golden Rule and love for your fellow man, or is that out of

Marichal Is Stalled In Bid For 30 Wins

The St. Louis countdown is at four and moving while Juan Marichal's count-up is at five and stalled. It's a cinch the Cards will reach their goal but doubtful that Marichal will make it to his.

The Cardinals reduced their magic number for clinching the National League pennant to four Wednesday night by nipping Los Angeles 5-4 for Bob Gibson's 21st victory of the year.

San Francisco, meanwhile, dropped a 3-1 decision at Atlanta with Marichal, still hoping for a 30-victory season, taking the loss. It left the Giant ace at 25-8 and, with only 15 games remaining, his chances for 30 are about as good as San Francisco's chances of catching St. Louis.

ASTROS LOSE
In other National League action Wednesday, New York blanked Chicago 1-0. Cincinnati swept a two-night doubleheader from Houston, 5-1 and 11-6 and Philadelphia split a two-nighter with Pittsburgh, winning the opener 9-6 in 12 innings and dropping the nightcap, 6-4.

Gibson's victory over the Dodgers wasn't his sharpest performance of the year but it opened the Cardinal lead to 11 1/2 games and made the pennant clinching party a weekend likelihood.

LA strafed the St. Louis ace for 11 hits including a leadoff homer by Willie Crawford. But the Cards bounced right back, staking Gibson to a 5-1 lead before the Dodgers made a late run at him.

Lou Brock's two-run double broke a 1-1 tie in the second and doubles by Orlando Cepeda and Tim McCarver helped build two more runs in the third.

Meanwhile, in Atlanta, where Marichal hasn't won in two years, the Braves just about ended any hopes the Dominican Dandy might have entertained about 30 victories.

Clem Daniels Is Put On Waivers
OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders have released the leading ground gainer in the American Football League's eight-year history, Clem Daniels, who was placed on waivers Wednesday.

Daniels, 31, broke his right leg last Nov. 19 in a game against Miami and was sidelined the rest of the year. His 575 yards in nine games still led all AFL rushers.

Olympics Open In One Month

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Exactly a month from today Mexico's best woman athlete will trot into Olympic Stadium with torch in hand for the most important moment of her life and the opening of the 1968 Olympic Games.

Landry Looks For Trouble

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Coach Tom Landry vigorously defended Dallas quarterback Don Meredith Wednesday from the boo birds who bombarded the veteran signal caller with catcalls after he had four passes intercepted last week against Baltimore.

Landry said "Meredith played an excellent game. If I thought he would play that well in the next 14 games, I'd be very happy."

Total Of 271 Ducats Sold

Two Longhorn Backs Are Likely To Miss Opener

Two Big Spring backs, senior Robert Domino and junior Mike Barnes, will miss Saturday night's football game in Lubbock between Monterey and the Steers.

The two have been running behind Roy Lee-Warren on offense but Domino has been playing first string on defense.

Talmadge Wins Georgia Race

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., has won renomination to the Senate by a margin of nearly 3-1 votes. His opponent, Maynard Jackson, a Negro, got more than 100,000 votes and said this represented a moral victory.

"Georgia told the world that any American—black or white rich or poor, liberal or conservative—can run for public office in this state," Jackson said.

Talmadge said, "I profoundly appreciate this vote of confidence in the Talmadge record."

Returns from 1,006 of 2,011 precincts gave Talmadge 522,897 votes, Jackson 112,357.

Winner of the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate apparently was Earl Patton Jr., 41, an Atlanta manufacturers' representative. Returns from 766 of 2,011 precincts gave Patton 15,418, State Sen. Jack Sells of Atlanta 10,379.

Two Democratic congressmen won renomination and former congressman Charles L. Weltner gained nomination again in an attempt to retrieve his seat. Weltner withdrew two years ago rather than keep a party loyalty pledge and support gubernatorial nominee Lester Maddox, now governor.

Major interest centered on Jackson's challenge of Talmadge, 55, former governor and longtime power in politics and son of Eugene Talmadge, who was elected governor four times.

In conceding the election defeat to Talmadge, Jackson said "an historical victory has been achieved." It was the first statewide race by a Negro candidate since Reconstruction.

Jackson said he probably would have lost in any case but was "deeply disappointed and grieved for those who did not have the opportunity to express their desires at the ballot box because of improper conduct on the part of some officials."

He did not explain the remark, or identify the officials.

He said the primary vote was running about 25 per cent—about double the percentage polled by Talmadge's last opponent. In the 1962 primary, challenger Henry M. Henderson, an Atlanta attorney, got about 12 per cent of the vote.

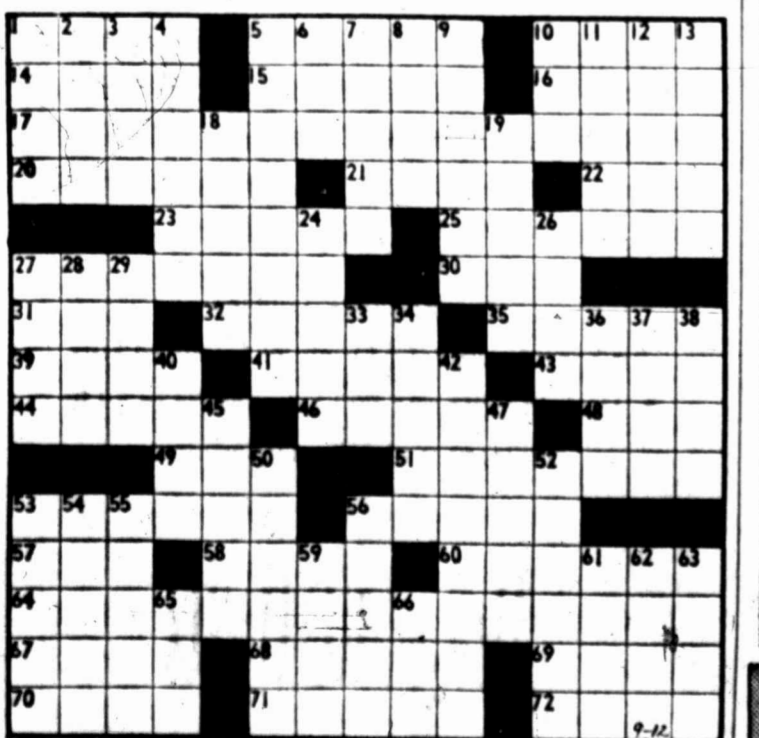

Jackson, 30, a lawyer, was unknown politically before this campaign, a factor adding weight to his showing against a man long considered virtually invincible in Georgia. Jackson stumped across the state, hunting votes in the rural farm strongholds of Talmadge, as well as in urban centers, appealing to whites and Negroes.

The states estimated 1.8 million voters include about 340,000 Negroes. There now are 11 Negro state legislators compared to only one in 1963.

President Of Local Bank Will Discuss Protection

Robert W. Currie, president of the State National Bank, will be one of a number of bankers and others who are to appear on a panel discussion in Abilene next Monday.

The conference is being arranged by Gordon Shanklin, special agent in charge of the Dallas office of the FBI and will be based on the subject "Bank Robbery and Incidental Crimes."

The session will be at the West Texas Utilities clubhouse on Lytle Lake, Abilene, from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m.

VICTIM OF BANDIT

Currie was the victim of a bank bandit about a year ago which is probably one of the reasons he has been invited to appear on the panel.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said that he planned to attend and that most of the sheriffs and police chiefs and their deputies would be on hand.

In an announcement concerning similar conferences being held throughout the United States, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said that this topic was chosen because of the continued increase in crimes involving banking institutions. He also noted that there was an alarming increase in the number of instances in which these crimes were accompanied by violence against employees, customers, and others.

According to Shanklin, the conference will be attended by law enforcement officials, prosecutors, and representatives of banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions, and related professions in this area. The agenda will include discussions on what law enforcement officials can do to prevent bank robberies, burglaries, and larcenies and also what banking institutions can do to prevent these crimes.

GUIDANCE

Guidance will be given regarding actions to be taken by bank employees to assist law enforcement officers in the quick apprehension of violators. The Bank Protection Act of 1968 passed this July, which provides for establishing minimum standards for security devices to be used in banks to discourage these crimes, will also be discussed.

The following persons will appear on panels at the conference: George Maxwell, sheriff of Taylor County, Abilene; Warren Dodson, chief of police, Abilene; Edward R. Paynter, district attorney, Abilene; Oliver Howard, president of the Citizens National Bank, Abilene; C. S. Bentley, president of Abilene Savings Association; Eldon B. Mahon, U.S. attorney, Northern District of Texas; C. E. Waininger, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation; Billy R. Prince, National Bank Examiner; John C. Blake, Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas; Regional Majors, Texas Department of Public Safety; and Regional Captains, Texas Rangers.

Smith To Tap Baum For Post

AUSTIN (AP) — Sources close to Lt. Gov. Preston Smith say he has chosen Dr. Elmer C. Baum, a local osteopath, to be the next state Democratic chairman.

Baum, 55, is a longtime friend of Smith and was his Austin campaign manager in each of his statewide races, starting in 1962.

A Smith spokesman said, however, Smith had made no statement on his choice for Democratic chairman, a post now held by Austin lawyer Will Davis.

Baum refused to comment on the matter.

As the party's gubernatorial nominee, Smith has the traditional privilege of having his choice for state chairman endorsed by the party's Sept. 17 state convention.

A native of Nebraska, Baum graduated from the Kansas City College of Osteopathy and Surgery. He is a member of the State Board of Health.

Ling Claims Investors Hurt By 'Witch-Hunts'

CHICAGO (AP) — The chairman of Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., says unwarranted government investigations into conglomerates has financially hurt hundreds of thousands of investors.

"I have been cautioned by my colleagues and advisers that I am taking a substantial personal risk as well as exposing the company I work for in taking a public stand on this matter," James J. Ling, head of the diversified conglomerate LTV, said Wednesday.

He spoke at the start of a two-day conference of life insurance executives.

CHAIN REACTION

Recently the Federal Trade Commission announced that wholesale investigations into the conglomerates have commenced, and alluded to unspecified "implications," whatever that means," Ling said.

Ling agreed to government investigation of all mergers and acquisitions but said that a lack of governmental discretion has harmed many innocent companies. He said this has triggered an economic chain reaction which has "affected the market value of scores and scores of companies and consequently hundreds of thousands of investors."

FEARS

In reference to investigations made by the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy, R-Wis., in the 1950s, Ling said: "This selective assembly-sponsored brand of business McCarthyism or witch-hunting is based on selective suspicions and is absolutely unwarranted."

Glen McDaniell, executive committee chairman of LITCO Industries, Inc., said in another address that investigations by the Federal Trade Commission are salutary but he fears they will be only directed against the newer conglomerates.

Those conglomerates which made their acquisitions years ago, he said, probably will be left alone and it is against them and their entrenched positions that the new conglomerates compete.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

She's Not 'Mama'

DEAR ABBY: My mother died two years ago, and my father got married again last May. He married a very nice woman and I like her a whole lot, but Abby, I just can't call her "Mamma." I have tried, but when I do it makes me feel so bad I have to go away somewhere and cry alone. I loved my own mother so much, no one will ever be able to take her place. I have three younger brothers, and when I hear them call Daddy's new wife "Mamma," it hurts me so bad inside.

I don't have anything against this lady, but I just can't call her "Mamma." What should I do?

SAD 12-YEAR-OLD I

DEAR TWELVE: Your Daddy's new wife doesn't expect you to love her as you did your own mother, nor does she want you to "hurt inside." So don't make comparisons, and don't feel guilty if you can't call her "Mamma." This woman has come into your home to make your Daddy happy and to help him raise his children. She must be a wonderful woman. Give her a chance.

DEAR ABBY: After a long, unhappy marriage which ended in divorce, I married a widower. He is a very successful small town merchant who is very much admired in his community and church. We are very happy, but here is my problem:

I find that my husband pockets a part of each day's cash sales to avoid paying so much income tax.

How serious an offense is this, and what can happen to him if he is caught? I dare not ask anyone but you. Please answer in the paper and tell me what to do. I love him. WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: This is a VERY serious offense, and if caught, he can be fined and sent to prison. So if you love this crook, tell him to keep his duke out of the cash register.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister, Marcella, and I have been very close for years, so naturally, when Marcella became engaged, I expected her to ask me to be a bridesmaid at her wedding. You can imagine how hurt I was when she passed me by and asked her fiancée's two sisters who both live out-of-state. I wouldn't have minded so much but she had never met either one of them.

As it turned out, one of the girls cannot make the wedding, so now Marcella has asked ME to be a bridesmaid. I have been so hurt by this that I don't know what to do. Can you advise me?

SECOND-CHOICE

DEAR SECOND: If it would give you pleasure to be Marcella's bridesmaid, accept. You would gain nothing by turning her down just to show your "hurt."

She Fell In Love With Switzerland

The excitement of discovery of beautiful trees and lakes, in several weeks spent in homes of Swedish Lions was communicated Wednesday to the Downtown Lions Club by Cynthia Pond.

Cynthia, daughter of former Dist. Gov. and Mrs. Joe Pond, was one of 156 young people (all but 10 of them from Texas) who were part of a Lions exchange program this summer. She became a member of the Jan-Axel Lennerman family in Jämsjöberg, a Stockholm suburb, and of the Anders Gustafsson family in the village of Tibro.

The inherent friendliness and warmth of the people impressed her. They were outgoing and wanted her to have a good impression of their country. They succeeded, for Miss Pond said she fell in love with Switzerland. She found it a land of beautiful trees and lakes, sparkling houses with red roofs. Things are either new or old, she said, and the old properties are kept in excellent condition and appearance. Part of the country is extremely liberal in outlook, yet some (such as the families she was with) are conservative in their social and behavioral philosophies. She found churches charming, but poorly attended.

She did her best to dissuade her hosts of the notion Texas was a land of cowboys and Indians. She hopes that next summer sons and daughters of the Swiss Lions will get to come to Texas and see first hand. After several weeks in Sweden, she took a two-week bus tour of Europe. All in all, she observed, "it was worth two years in college."

Death Penalty On The Agenda

HOUSTON (AP)—The general board of the National Council of Churches opens a two day meeting today with some 160 representatives of 33 Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox denominations expected to participate.

Policy decisions on such matters as civil disorders, student rebellions and abolition of the death penalty will be made during the sessions which will comprise the board's third and final policy meeting this year. The first day agenda includes a discussion by Dr. Arthur S. Fleming, council president, and Dr. Charles S. Spivey Jr., executive director of the council's department of social justice of the council and poverty crisis.

Proposals for policy statements on defense and disarmament and guidelines for church-texas relations are also on the first day agenda.

Consumers Of Natural Gas Stand To Benefit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Consumers of natural gas distributed by Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. stand to benefit from a decision announced Wednesday by a Federal Power Commission examiner.

Examiner Arthur H. Fribourg recommended that four gas producers refund $31,449,000 to Texas Eastern. He further recommended that Houston-headquartered Texas Eastern pass the refunds along to its customers.

BEGAN IN 1959
The decision would conclude a case that began in 1959, when Texas Eastern bought an estimated 900 billion cubic feet of natural gas reserves in Rayne Field, Acadia Parish, La., from four Texas sellers: Continental Oil Co., Houston; Sun Oil Co., Beaumont; M. H. Marr, Dallas; and General Crude Oil Co., Houston.

The purchase price was $134,395,700. Texas Eastern paid $12.4 million in cash. The remainder was to be paid in 16 annual installments, ending in 1975.

Last Jan. 23, Fribourg issued a decision that granted a certificate to Texas Eastern and modified how the firm was to pay the sellers. Wednesday's decision concluded the refund phase of the case.

The examiner ordered that Texas Eastern be refunded $21,854,000 in principal plus $9,595,000 in accrued interest, making a total of $31,449,000.

In response to the sellers' objections to the payment of refunds, the examiner said the use of a determination of 20 cents per thousand cubic feet in-line price for the future necessarily implied its use as a just and reasonable price for the past.

REFUNDS
"Past payments have materially exceeded that price to the sellers," the examiner said, and concluded that "the sellers are not entitled to retain this excess."

Gov. Maddox Will Not Run

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox says the American people know that both major party presidential candidates offer more of the same policies, edicts and guidelines to more lawlessness, flag desecration, fiscal irresponsibility and socialistic programs.

Maddox, who made a bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, spoke Wednesday evening at a meeting of the American Opinion Forum of Allegheny County.

He said, "Now more than at any other time in our recent history it has become respectable to be a conservative."

Earlier Wednesday Maddox told a news conference he would not run with third party presidential candidate George Wallace because he didn't think he could add anything to the Wallace ticket.

Maddox said the former Alabama governor needs a running mate who has support in the North.

MRS. CARL B. MARCUM

Savory Game Sparks Meals At Marcums'

By JO BRIGHT

Does a man's mind automatically mark the moment — and the hunting instinct nudge his nerves — when a desk calendar confirms that it's September? Perhaps not. Yet, as he leans back in the chair, doesn't imagination make the air a bit cooler, the leaves a little paler — and the need to relax more urgent?

The hunting season is at hand. Many families are already dining on dove, and may continue to do so after the season ends Oct. 30, by storing the birds in a freezer. On Nov. 9, the season will open for quail, turkey and deer (these may be hunted from one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset). The duck and coots (mud hens) will be fair game beginning Dec. 14, so the American, Red Breasted and Hooded Mergansers will be looking over their shoulder until Jan. 2. Duck hunting must end at sunset. Hours for hunting all migratory birds are from sunrise to sunset, with the exception of the dove, which may be shot only between the hours of 1 p. m. and sunset.

The season for geese and brandt lasts from Oct. 30 to Jan. 1, and in our area, there is a special season — that for Sand Hill cranes. Actually, there are two seasons for this fellow. From Nov. 2 to Dec. 28, the crane may be hunted from W. Hwy. 87 westward, and from Dec. 14 to Jan. 12, hunters may look for the cranes from W. Hwy. 87 east to Abilene.

Although pheasant were stocked in this area last year, it will be illegal to shoot them for some time. However, there are several counties in the Panhandle where pheasant-hunters will be welcomed this year.

A Texas hunting license may be purchased for $3.15, and with it, goes the privilege and pleasure of hunting from Sept. 1, 1968 to Aug. 31, 1969. For hunting ducks and geese, the hunter must also obtain a federal duck stamp at the Post Office for about $3. (A fishing license is good for the same length of time and costs $2.15.)

One of Big Spring's most enthusiastic hunters is Dr. Carl B. Marcum, whose wife, Mickey, is well-versed in the tasty preparation of all types of game. The pretty brunette admits that she doesn't shoot at all but makes a "dandy retriever."

Usually, Dr. Marcum is joined by several friends who hunt together, so the wives go along on many of the hunting and fishing excursions. Regulars on the trips are the Marcums, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ramsey and Mr. and Mrs. Truman Jones. A couple of years ago, the group traveled to Batuco, near Hermosillo in Mexico to fish for black bass. The old part of the village is now completely under water, except for a church steeple, as a new lake is being created. According to Mrs. Marcum, the area is very primitive, and everything must be provided by the travelers. (This means that the trip ends when the water and ice runs out.) Last year, the men went without their wives, and were joined by others, such as Gil Jones, Frog Koger, Harold Talbot and Harrell Jones. The caravan traveled in planes and pickups to reach the favorite fishing spot.

Dr. Marcum enjoys hunting any type of game, and is a member in good standing with the "Muleshoe Hunting and Fishing Club." He has hunted birds near here as well as deer in Ozona and Arizona. At Ozona, Mrs. Marcum and Mrs. Ramsey have driven the jeep while their husbands sit on the upper section to scout the animals. Dr. Marcum does the field dressing and other preparation, but he can't hold a candle to his wife in the cooking department. Fried, stewed, baked or barbecued — she's tried them all and has come up with some delicious recipes which she shares today.

The Marcums reside at 1506 Dayton. Their children are Erin, a senior at Texas Christian University; Candy, a freshman at the University of Texas; and Pamela, a sophomore at Big Spring Senior High School. The girls learned to shoot while attending camp in New Mexico — and learned to like game, because their mother prepares it so well.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Used By Mrs. Carl Marcum

CANTONESE DUCK
2 wild ducks, 2 to 2½ lbs dressed
Garlic salt and pepper
4 springs parsley
1 lemon, halved
5 slices bacon
½ cup beer
½ cup dry mustard
½ tsp. Accent
2 tpsps. soy sauce
1 cup apricot preserves
1 tsp. grated orange peel
1 tsp. fresh lemon juice
½ cup butter, melted
Sprinkle ducks inside and out with salt and pepper. Place two springs parsley and ½ lemon in cavity of each. Cover breasts with bacon and fasten with string. For Cantonese sauce, stir beer into dry mustard. Stir in remaining ingredients except butter and heat in a double boiler over hot water. Place ducks, breasts up, in a baking pan. Roast in preheated 350 degree oven 15 minutes per pound, basting frequently with butter and once with Cantonese sauce. This may be served with white rice and the remaining cheesecloth soaked in melted butter or bacon fat. Place turkey, breast up, on rack on a roasting pan. Roast in preheated 325 degree oven 20 to 25 minutes per pound. Baste frequently with bacon fat drippings.

FRIED RABBIT
1 small rabbit, cut in serving pieces
Salt and pepper
½ tsp. crushed oregano
2 tpsps. milk
1 egg
¼ cup flour
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
Sprinkle each rabbit piece with salt, pepper, and oregano. If the rabbit might be old, par-boiling is suggested before frying. Combine milk and egg. Beat slightly. Dip seasoned rabbit in flour, then in milk mixture and lastly in bread crumbs. Brown on all sides in ¼ inch fat heated to 375 degrees; reduce heat, cook 20 to 30 minutes or until tender, or you may remove to covered pan and place in oven to steam for tenderness.

DEAR TENDERLOIN OR BACKSTRAP
Marinade:
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup olive oil
½ cup red wine
2 tpsps. grated onion
2 tpsps. ground chili peppers
1 tsp. coriander
1 tsp. powdered ginger
1 mashed garlic clove (or 1 tsp. garlic puree)
2 tpsps. tumeric
3 tpsps. salt
Combine lemon juice, olive oil, wine, grated onion, ground chili, coriander, powdered ginger, garlic, tumeric and salt. Add the deer, and turn several times in marinade. Let stand for several hours or overnight in refrigerator. Cook outdoors on barbecue grill for 30 minutes or broil in oven the same as beef tenderloin.

CHICKEN FRIED DHEAT
Cut deer into small thin

pieces, dredge in flour that has been well salted and peppered; fry in iron pan until done. Make a cream gravy from the oil left in pan, and serve with wild rice.

QUAIL OR DOVE
Wash and dry, rub the birds with salt and flour. Saute lightly in butter. Remove and place in a casserole. Add ½ cup of white wine. Cover, place in oven (325 degrees) and bake from 30 to 45 minutes.

CAESAR SALAD
1 clove garlic
½ cup salad oil
½ head lettuce
1 cup croutons
1 two ounce can anchovy fillets
One coddle egg
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
¼ cup fresh lemon juice
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
½ tsp. each salt and pepper
Wash the garlic clove and add to the salad oil; let stand. Break (don't cut), lettuce in salad bowl; tear endive. Add the croutons, anchovies, and strain salad oil to remove garlic. Pour over vegetables. Combine remaining ingredients. Drizzle coddle egg over salad and toss.

To coddle eggs, place in boiling water after pot has been removed from heat, about ½ minute.

KIDNEY BEANS ITALIANESQUE FOR EIGHT
2 tpsps. onion, chopped
1 tsp. butter
1 lb. Provolone cheese, grated
6 cups red kidney beans, drained
1 canned pimento, chopped
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
½ cup dry sauterne
Saute onion in butter. Add grated cheese. When melted, add beans, pimento and tomatoes. Mix. Add wine and cook until cheese, wine and tomatoes are thick. Put in casserole and bake one hour at 300 degrees.

Prepare Venison For Best Flavor

There are some points to remember when preparing venison. (1) Cure the carcass in a cool place for about a week before cutting and freezing. (2) Ask the meat market man to trim excess fat; the strong odors are concentrated here. (3) Plan to use the frozen venison within six months as gamey flavor tends to increase after that. (4) Avoid overcooking as it becomes dry and unflavorful. (Venison is best well done, however.)

You will probably like the steaks and chops cut at least one inch thick and the remainder made into ground venison.

ROAST WILD TURKEY
1 wild turkey, 8 to 10 lbs.
Salt and pepper
½ lb. sausage meat
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ tsp. crushed thyme
¼ cup chopped parsley
1 cup cooked chestnuts, chopped
8 cups soft bread crumbs
4 to 6 slices bacon
Melted bacon fat
Sprinkle turkey inside and out with salt and pepper. Cook sausage in a skillet until done. Add onion and celery; continue to cook until vegetables are tender. Add seasonings and bread crumbs; mix well. Spoon stuffing lightly into neck and body cavities. Close openings with skewers and string. Cover breast with bacon slices and

'Home Is The Hunter' For Fall Feasting

Some of the more popular game birds include ducks, geese, quail, dove, turkey, pheasant, rail and woodcock. Pheasant and other game birds uncommon in Texas are sometimes raised in captivity or killed in other states and brought home for eating. The native game birds are taken during prescribed hunting seasons and offer excellent wild game taste treats when properly dressed and prepared.

Most hunters agree that dry plucking rather than skinning conserves flavor and moisture in quail, doves, turkeys, rail and woodcock. Pheasants may be skinned or dry plucked with seemingly little change in flavor or moisture content.

All game birds should be dressed as soon as possible following the kill. Aging at a temperature just above freezing for 24 to 48 hours generally removes some of the gamey flavor which might detract from eating pleasure.

After the feathers are removed from game birds, singe over flame to remove the down. Remove the entrails, head, craw and feet. Wipe the body cavities clean with a damp cloth. Some hunters find it easier to remove entrails of small birds, such as quail and dove, by making a cut along or across the back to split the bird apart. Larger birds, such as pheasants and turkeys, are dressed in about the same manner as domestic fowl or waterfowl.

COOKING GAME BIRDS
Duck meat is at its best when served rare. If well-done meat is desired, additional cooking time should be given, taking care not to overcook and toughen the birds. Meat of wild duck is dark and drier than domestic meat. Roasting with strips of bacon or in a covered roaster helps retain moisture and reduce dryness of less tender and larger ducks.

ROASTED WILD DUCK
1½ lb. duck
2 cups quartered apples
1 slice of onion
2 tpsps. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
Clean duck and wash thoroughly. Fill the duck with peeled quartered apples. Truss duck. Rub with a slice of onion; then with salt and pepper. Roast uncovered at 325 degrees allowing 20 to 30 minutes per pound. If desired, duck can be basted every 10 minutes with one cup orange juice. Basting is not required, however, at this low temperature. Total cooking time is 45 minutes. Serves two.

BARBECUED DUCK BREASTS
2 large duck breasts
4 tpsps. lemon juice
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. tomato catsup
1 tsp. butter or margarine
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. paprika
1 tsp. tomato catsup
Broil breasts three inches from source of heat until brown or about 10 minutes. Baste frequently with barbecue sauce. When meat begins to brown, sprinkle with salt and paprika.

Broil for 20 minutes or until done. Serves two.

SMOTHERED WILD DUCK
1 duck
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
½ cup flour
¼ cup fat
1 cup milk
Cut duck into six or seven pieces. Season with salt and pepper and roll in flour. Fry duck slowly in hot fat until brown on both sides, about 30 minutes, turning only once. Add milk; cover tightly and simmer slowly one hour or until tender. (May be baked at 325 degrees). Serves three to four.

Wild turkeys vary in weight from an average of 14 pounds for the male and an average of eight pounds for the female. When roasting wild turkey, allow ¾ to one cup stuffing per pound of ready-to-cook meat.

ROASTED WILD TURKEY
1 turkey, 8 to 10 pounds, ready-to-cook
Salt and pepper
8 cups partially dry bread cubes
¾ cup finely chopped celery
½ cup chopped walnuts
2 to 3 tpsps. sage
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1½ cups chopped onion
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup water
Sprinkle turkey inside and out with salt and pepper. Combine bread, celery, walnuts and seasonings. Cook onion in butter or margarine until tender, but not brown; pour over bread mixture. Add the water and toss lightly. Spoon stuffing lightly into body cavity. Put remaining dressing in a greased casserole. Cover and bake in oven with turkey during last 30 minutes of roasting time. Truss bird. Cover breast with bacon slices and cheesecloth soaked in melted bacon fat. Place turkey, breast up, on rack on roasting pan. Roast at 325 degrees 20 to 25 minutes per pound or until tender, basting frequently with bacon fat and drippings in pan. Remove cheesecloth, skewers and string. Serves eight to 10.

BARBECUE SAUCE
1 cup catsup
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 cup water
¼ cup vinegar
2 or 3 dashes Tabasco sauce
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
Combine ingredients. Heat to boiling and simmer 30 minutes. Young geese are a delicacy and very little of their meat is wasted. The meat is rich, dark and lean. Old birds are tough and not easily tenderized by cooking with moist heat. They are identifiable by few pinfeathers, coarse plumage and extremely large wing spurs.

STUFFED WILD GOOSE
1 young goose, 6 to 8 lbs., ready-to-cook
Juice of one lemon
Salt and pepper
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped tart apple
1 cup chopped dried apricots
3 cups soft bread crumbs
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
4 to 6 slices bacon
Melted bacon fat
Sprinkle goose inside and out with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Melt butter or margarine in a large saucpan. Add onion and cook until tender. Stir in apple, apricots, bread crumbs salt and pepper. Spoon stuffing lightly into cavity. Truss bird. Cover breast with bacon slices and cheesecloth soaked in melted bacon fat. Place goose breast up on rack in roasting pan. Roast at 325 degrees 20 to 25 minutes per pound or until tender, basting frequently with bacon fat and drippings in pan. If age of goose is uncertain, pour one cup water into pan and cover last hour of cooking. Remove cheesecloth, skewers and string. Serves 6 to 8.

ROASTED GOOSE
1 goose, 6 to 8 lbs.
1 apple, sliced
2 tpsps. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
Fill the goose with sliced apples. Truss bird. Cover breast with bacon slices and cheesecloth soaked in bacon fat. Place goose breast up on rack in roasting pan. Roast at 325 degrees 20 to 25 minutes per pound or until tender, basting frequently with drippings in pan. Serves 6 to 8.

Quail are small birds weighing about four to six ounces.

When considering the number of servings, allow at least one bird per person to be served. Quail meat is white and it tends to be dry. It needs a protective cover of bacon or other fat and frequent basting.

ROASTED QUAIL WITH MUSHROOMS
4 quail
4 slices bacon
1 tsp. butter or margarine
Juice of half lemon
¼ cup hot water
One-third oz. can broiled mushrooms, drained
Wipe quail inside and out. Bind each bird with a slice of bacon. Put birds into a buttered pan and roast at 350 degrees, basting occasionally, about 30 minutes or until tender. Remove birds and add butter or margarine, water and lemon juice to drippings in pan, stirring to make a gravy. Add mushrooms. Serve the birds on toast with gravy poured over them. Serves four.

A Devotional For The Day

"Remember, I am with you always, even to the end of the world." (Matthew 28:20, Phillips)
PRAYER: O Lord God, almighty Father, thank You for giving Christ to be our everpresent Savior and help. In Him we are no longer afraid, even when we are far away from home. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Softening The Tax Bite

True to promises made last year during the campaign for a one-cent city sales tax, Big Spring city commissioners have sliced 10 cents off the property tax rate. This means that (allowing for non-collectibles) the city will receive about $95,000 less revenue from this source during this fiscal year. The actual levy against property is down by about $70,000 or approximately seven per cent. This should be welcome news to the beleaguered property owners.

This does not mean that the city is taking in that much less tax, but rather that it is being transferred to another base — that of the sales tax. There are no accurate figures yet on what the sales tax will yield but obviously it is going to be more than the ad valorem reduction, probably several times as much. There is this to remember, however, that the

Rehabilitation Lags

Anyone who has read the National Crime Commission's 1967 report and studied the latest annual FBI crime statistics must be convinced that there is no simplistic solution to this nation's shamefully soaring crime rate.

Those who blame the U.S. Supreme Court's civil libertarian decisions — sneeringly called "criminal-coddling" rulings — are not seeing the whole picture. For the national crime rate has been outrunning population growth in a sweeping upward curve since the end of World War II, a trend begun long before the courts' controversial criminal-law interpretations.

Those who blame inadequate police systems may be nearer the mark. Law departments have not been improved — in personnel qualifications and numbers, in facilities and equipment — to match the crime-rate rise. And that is primarily because taxpayers are not willing to spend the money, or policy making officials believe taxpayers are unwilling.

Those who emphasize the need to cure urban social ills — slums, poor schools, unemployment, congestion, prejudice and so on — are right to a degree. Ghettos are certainly crime breeders, but the latest FBI report also shows a sharp crime rise in suburban and rural areas. A powerful factor far too little stressed is the national social failure in rehabilitation of both juvenile and adult offenders. More than half the nation's serious crimes are committed by youths, and 70 per cent of those under 20 released on probation, parole or end of sentence are arrested again within four years. And repeaters average three convictions and two prison terms within 10 years.

Recidivism — the failure of rehabilitation in correctional institutions — makes a shockingly big contribution to the crime-rate rise. The country is alarmingly short of all the things necessary to turn a criminal offender into a law-abiding, producing citizen, from juvenile detention facilities, through prison rehabilitation programs and psychiatric treatment, to parole supervision personnel. And until far greater effort is poured into such work, the crime rate will continue to go up because new offenders will be piled upon repeaters.

John Cuniff Guaranteed Income Arguments

NEW YORK (AP) — Although the guaranteed income may not be a critical issue in the presidential campaign, its proponents and opponents again will make sure that it gets an airing. They seldom miss an opportunity.

About the only conclusion reached so far is that so long as the war in Vietnam continues there will be no such thing for all Americans as a basic minimum wage, an assured income no matter what job a person holds or even if that person works at all.

Still, the idea surfaces regularly and is supported by a wide range of individuals who share almost no other beliefs in common. The issue begins to sound like one whose time is approaching.

IT IS OBVIOUS that the existence of desperate poverty and comfortable wealth side by side in a nation that seeks equal opportunity for all is one of the basic causes of race and class antagonisms. A guaranteed income could be one answer.

Most popularly suggested is a system using the existing federal income tax structure. The graduated tax payments now generally decrease until zero is reached. Zero is when a person of low income owes no tax.

Under the guaranteed wage, however, those of extremely low income, or none at all, not only would pay no taxes but would receive payments to bring them closer to zero, or the minimum needed for basic necessities. Incentives to earn would be built into the system. This is the negative income tax.

Here are some of the arguments likely to be heard in coming weeks. First, as the result of the flip of a coin, are those against.

— It is immoral. You must work to earn your living. Income is not a right.

— IT WOULD perpetuate the handout system. It would weaken incentives to save and invest and thus become a terrible drag on the economy.

— IT WOULD reduce the number of people willing to fill serv-

Hal Boyle She's Ready To Throw In Towel

NEW YORK (AP) — If practice really makes perfect, I ought to be about the world's best dishwasher by now.

While I don't claim to be international champion of the soap suds set, I do feel I could wash dishes hands-down in the 100-plate dash. And I'm certainly in top form for the china cup races.

MY METHOD of cleansing the cutlery may leave something to be desired, but the quantity of my endeavors makes up for what my technique lacks in quality.

I am not of the school which believes in cleaning up as you go along. Some hostesses I know are so devoted to this modus operandi that I have to defend my cup from their overenthusiastic efforts to get it washed and put away before I have even finished my coffee.

While I admire this scientific type of housekeeping, it is definitely not my style. I am a member of the cult that washes dishes only when the sink is full — or the cabinet empty.

ACCORDING to authorities on the subject of after-meal cleanup, the accepted way to do it is to wash the glasses first, the silver next, the dishes third and, finally, the pots and pans.

I don't subscribe to that theory. I just fill the sink with a bubbling cauldron of soap suds, toss everything in at once and let the china chips fall where they may.

While all the equipment is soaking together in democratic style, I'm free to loaf for awhile longer, happy in the thought that the dirty dishes are at least out of sight, if not out of mind.

BUT DESPITE all these delaying tactics, the moment arrives when I have to think sink. The experts who advise that it's more sanitary to let the dishes air-dry than to use a towel found a willing disciple in me. Mine stay in the drainer until they go back on the table.

I have been reading with great interest predictions of life in the future. According to these forecasts, dishes will be molded as needed right at the table. And they will be just as easily disposed of.

I try to keep this utopian vision in mind as I strive to increase my speed and stamina to attain championship form in the swish-the-dish sweepstakes.

That seems like a long time away, though. Right now I'm ready to throw in the dish towel.

To Your Good Health How We Use The B Vitamins

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Could you give me information on B complex vitamins? Is it possible to take too much? —Mrs. R. L.

Dear Doctor: How many Vitamin B's are there, and what is the purpose of each in the body? —Mrs. D. K.

The Vitamin B complex has been likened to a rope, with each strand representing one of the B's. Some are more commonly known by numbers, others by chemical names, some by both nomenclatures.

The main ones are:

Vitamin B-1 (thiamin). Lack of it causes beriberi, a form of neuritis, and loss of intestinal tone.

B-2 (riboflavin). Deficiency causes eye, skin, and nerve symptoms.

Niacin (nicotinic acid). Deficiency causes pellagra.

B-6 (pyridoxine). Deficiency causes eye, tongue, and nerve symptoms.

Pantothenic acid. Lack causes nerve symptoms.

Biotin. Deficiency causes skin and muscle symptoms.

B-12. This is the one that combats pernicious anemia. It also is essential for growth in children.

It boils down to this: The B vitamins serve a multitude of purposes in virtually all parts of the body. Although small in quantity, they act as catalysts, regulators, or "assistants" in body processes.

All the B vitamins are abundant in cereals, grains, meats, some vegetables and fruits, and it is unusual for a person to experience any important lack of them except in certain disease conditions or under conditions of semi-starvation — that is, where there just isn't enough food or the diet is largely limited to an abnormally small variety of foods. Pellagra, for example, occurs in areas where people eat a great deal of corn but not many other vegetables and little meat. Another example is the hard drinker who goes on binges, drinking a lot and eating little. B complex may help bring him out of the shakes, weakness, and general collapse.

If anyone gets more of the

Around The Rim Not So Sparkling

"You missed one," the voice said on the phone.

Stumbling over the salutation, I asked the Voice for an explanation.

"You had a story about a clean-up, and that weeds had been cleaned up, and that old deserted houses had been cleared away," he said. "Well, there is one you missed."

I CAREFULLY began the Form 231 explanation that we just print papers down here and we don't actually chase down the weeds or wreck the houses ourselves.

"Yes, I know all that," he said, "but you were quoting somebody that hasn't had a good look around. Have you been down to the corner of Second and Johnson?"

Trying to find a way out of the conversation, I admitted I hadn't, but would take the trip at the earliest opportunity. That time came yesterday, and I must agree, "they missed one."

IF YOU HAVE not been down there, you have missed what may be close to Texas' own Redwood forests, except they are weeds — higher than six feet tall. More, along the curb, between there and the courthouse, there are patches of the same, mingled with grass of assorted varieties.

Within a block of where businessmen spent a whole of a lot of money to provide beautification and free parking, (which helped us win a Sparkle contest) there are weeds of such size as to block the pedestrian, as well as create an eyesore.

MY CALLER also pinpointed some vacant firetraps that seem eligible for our "hazardous structures" ordinance. Indeed, the city commissioners discussed this matter Tuesday evening; however, no new effort was announced to do something about them.

The traffic commission sometime ago recommended a constant program of "right-of-way" cleanup. Last winter, there was much talk about cleaning up the highway frontage for the expected influx of tourists en route to HemisFair. The spring rains added to the problem, and sad to say, cleanup crews could not keep up.

I SUGGEST a more determined effort is needed to keep pace with this problem of weeds. The old method of pulling a crew off some other job to handle this one, is obviously not adequate to keep the city streets clear of weeds.

Sure it will cost money, but then the city has some unbudgeted funds that might be earmarked for this purpose. After all, how much can a couple of guys, each equipped with hoed, cost? The city has many problems and just as soon as one problem is solved it seems there are two more to take its place. I suppose the problem of weeds is one of them.

HOPEFULLY, the commissioners will see fit to find a few dollars available to tackle this one too.

Holmes Alexander Reds Are Beating Us In Aviation

WASHINGTON — America's largest industry, aviation, is about to get Russian competition — and it couldn't happen at a worse time.

The Soviets will have their supersonic airliner, the TU-144, in flight before the end of the year. The USSR national carrier, Aeroflot, already serves 46 countries, has tentative agreements to serve nine others and 12 more air-service contracts under negotiation.

A GROUP of U.S. aviation writers recently back from an inspection of that Soviet industry, held a joint press conference here to issue a warning. The Russians are pushing their flights, plane-sales and maintenance service into all the developing countries of Asia and Africa. They plan to dominate air travel very soon in these raw-products, heavily-populated areas.

THE SOVIET push finds the United States in a period of aviational doldrums. We have saturated the domestic airlines with so many commercial, military, private and corporate planes that flying schedules are unreliable, and Federal authorities are on the point of "rationing" what was once the national luxury of mobility. Air traffic congestion has become a mob-scene and surface transportation is chafing the receding suburbs where 60 per cent of airline passengers reside. In Brussels there is fast train service from the Sabena downtown station to the main airport, and in London a rail connections system has been started. Nothing of the sort exists in the U.S. at this time, but Cleveland expects to start rapid transit service to its airport in 1969.

THE RUSSIANS have craftily paced themselves to hit the world market in aviation at an opportune moment and with accumulated advantages. "They've got us lashed to the mast on financing," says an American aviation industrialist. He has been in foreign fields where Soviet salesmen are signing up customers for payment in soft currencies and in promises on future crops.

The Russians will even rent planes to hard-up small nations in order to get the business. One of the first countries to purchase the supersonic TU-144 is Pakistan, for many years a U.S. customer and a foreign aid client.

THE RUSSIANS have taken care to profit by our mistakes. Their domestic airlines do not risk bad weather, and seldom fly at night. Every crew, for every domestic flight, is isolated for a thorough medical checkup. Physical and mental ailments are thus virtually eliminated as a cause of accidents. No crew member is permitted to drink for 24 hours before flying, and blood-tests will expose any backslider.

PASSENGER COMFORT, as well as safety, is in the Communist campaign to take revenue away from the capitalist carriers. Russian stewardesses on the supersonic liners are in training to serve Space Age food, probably out of tubes, since there would be no time for elaborate meals. Arm-rests on the new Soviet liners fold into the seat, and each seat has its individual coathanger. The largest Russian turbo-prop plane has room for 700 passengers and the plane does double duty as a freight carrier. Its freight compartment is refrigerated for meats and fresh vegetables — the only known aerial deep-freeze in the world — very impressive to hungry, backward populations.

The USA, once a pioneer and still a tycoon in aviation, will find itself a has-been if Russia should rule the skies.

Art Buchwald When Dissent Goes Too Far

WASHINGTON — In the wild "age of dissent" we're living in, there should be no surprises. But I was flabbergasted last weekend to read that about 100 women had picketed the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City against "ludicrous beauty standards that had enslaved the American women." Carrying signs deploring the "degrading, mindless boob-girlie system," the pickets also set up ascans in which they threw girdles, lipstick, hair curlers, false eyelashes and wigs. The final and most tragic part of the protest took place when several of the women publicly burned their brassieres.

AS ONE WHO has always been on the side of protesters, I regret to say that I believe this demonstration in Atlantic City has gone too far. It is one thing to protest against a system or an institution, but it is another to take the law into your own hands and burn your bra.

By demanding that women do away with all beauty aids, including false eyelashes, wigs, hair tints, girdles and the like, so they will be on an equal footing with men, these well-meaning but misled females were trying to destroy everything this country holds dear.

IT IS A KNOWN fact that the American women, beautiful though she is, needs all the help she can get. For years now hundreds of thousands of scientists and billions of dollars in research have gone into new methods of making the American female the most attractive, the most seducible, the most irresistible woman in the world. Where nature failed, American know-how succeeded, and thanks to our scientific ingenuity, it is now impossible for anyone to know

David Lawrence The Fight Against Justice Fortas

WASHINGTON — The controversy over the nomination of Justice Abe Fortas to be chief justice of the Supreme Court is unprecedented in history. The Senate has hesitated to confirm him for reasons that have never been advanced before. They relate primarily to the fact that, while a member of the court, he has continued to act as a personal adviser to the head of another branch of the government — the chief executive. So the argument is being made that Justice Fortas has not observed the doctrine of "separation of powers."

SIGNIFICANT also is the attitude which senators have taken toward the course followed by Chief Justice Warren. The latter did not actually resign, and in his letter to the President said he would "retire" when a successor had been confirmed by the Senate. Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, Democrat, in a speech to the Senate declared:

"MR. WARREN, in the way he conditioned his retirement, has acted in a manner unbecoming the great office of chief justice. It is unprecedented in the Supreme Court. The method used by Mr. Warren and the President says, in effect, that Mr. Warren will retire as chief justice provided the Senate will confirm Mr. Fortas as his successor.

"In other words, he is retiring conditionally or provisionally and saying to the Senate, 'You either take my preference as a successor or I won't retire.' I should think that the Senate would not want to be so coerced."

THE ARGUMENT is made that the procedure used by Chief Justice Warren was merely to insure continuity of administration in the court itself. In answer, Sen. Byrd points out that the present United States code provides that "whenever the chief justice is unable to perform the duties of his office or the office is vacant, his powers and duties shall devolve upon the associate justice next in precedence who is able to act, until such disability is removed or another chief justice is appointed and duly qualified."

PRESIDENT JOHNSON evoked considerable resentment in the Senate when he referred a few days ago to those engaged in blocking the confirmation of Mr. Fortas as a "little sectional group."

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, Republican, who comes from Michigan, is really leading the fight against Mr. Fortas. It is Mr. Griffin who asked the Senate Judiciary Committee to reopen its inquiry. He declared that Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado, Republican, planned to submit evidence that Justice Fortas this year assisted the President in drafting an amendment to an appropriation bill. There are reports, too, that the justice aided in the preparation of the "state of the union" message which President Johnson delivered in 1966. The critics are saying that the President and Justice Fortas ignored the "separation of powers" doctrine of the Constitution.

SEN. GEORGE Murphy of California, Republican, who is also one of those opposing the appointment of Abe Fortas as chief justice, emphasizes that public opinion not in just one section of the country but in all sections has been protesting the nomination. He declares that decisions of the court have permitted criminals to escape punishment. He adds:

"People from all areas are scandalized by the increase in crime in our country and by the Supreme Court's apparent obsession with the rights of the criminal instead of the rights of the ordinary law-abiding citizen . . ."

"THE PEOPLE of this country — North, South, East and West — are concerned about the pornographic material which is flooding our nation. And they are horrified by Supreme Court decisions which have blinked at the realities of this menace."

It is not clear at this time whether a majority of the Senate would vote against the Fortas nomination. But certainly a very substantial number will attempt to block confirmation until after the present session has ended and a new President has made a selection — provided, of course, Chief Justice Warren doesn't decide to continue on the court anyway.

Billy Graham

I am a young man and would like to know how to get more out of life. Can you give me any advice? Thank you.

K.S.

I'll pass on to you the advice that was given to me many years ago. It is from an old Book called the Bible. "Choose life . . . that thou mayest love the Lord thy God, and that thou mayest obey his voice . . . for he is thy life, and the length of thy days." Deut. 30:19, 20.

There is a life-giving force in the world. If we allow habits and attitudes to come into our lives to cut us off from God, the Life-force, and that which mayest obey his voice . . . for he is thy life, and the length of thy days.

Even physicians are advising people to go to church, for they are aware that people need more than pills to find this life-giving force. Carl Jung, the psychiatrist pioneered in the idea that Faith is essential to mental and physical healing.

Choose life. Make up your mind to live for and with God, Christ said, "I am come that ye might have life and that ye might have it more abundantly."

CAPT. AND MRS. JAMES B. WHITE
Busy Couple Leaves Base

One of Webb AFB's many energetic young officers, Capt. James B. White, will leave the base Friday for an eventual assignment in Southeast Asia. The personable, 26-year-old captain has been stationed at Webb for two years, first as an instructor-pilot. Later he was transferred to academics, while retaining his instructional duties. He has been course supervisor for the aerodynamics classes for the latter portion of his tour. He has also conducted T-38 test flights for the base's maintenance division. In his new assignment, the captain will fly the F-105

Thunderchief, and be stationed at either Korat or Takhlil AB, Thailand. Before leaving for Thailand in April, Capt. White must first complete F-105 training at McConnell AFB, Wichita, Kan. He hopes that his one-year tour-of-duty in Southeast Asia will be the necessary impetus to qualify him for the NASA astronaut program. He aspires to follow in the space accomplishments established by his late brother, Lt. Col. Edward White — the first man to walk in space.

LEAVING FRIDAY
Capt. and Mrs. James B. White

Both Capt. White and his wife, Sharon, have been active in community affairs. The captain, a popular speaker on "The Space Program," has appeared before many civic, community and service groups. Mrs. White, active in the Big Spring Little Theater, recently played a leading role in the group's melodramatic production of "The Drunkard." She has appeared on local television, modeled for base community style shows, and earned a role in the movie, "Midnight Cowboy," when auditions for the Hellman Productions Inc. film, starring Dustin Hoffman, were offered in Big Spring recently.

The captain is chairman of the Junior Officers Council, president of the local chapter of Toastmasters International, officer-in-charge of the base Book Issue Section and Film Library, and a frequent usher and lay speaker in the USAF Protestant Chapel.

A recent nominee for the U.S. Jaycees-sponsored America's Ten Outstanding Young Men of 1968, Capt. White has also been nominated for the position of Air Training Command's representative on the Air Force Association's Junior Officer Advisory Council.

Last April, he received the command's TOPS (To Promote Safety) award for Operations. He flew a damaged T-38 Talon off the runway at three knots above stall speed, thus saving the aircraft from a near crash situation and possible personnel fatalities.

Mrs. White is the president of the Officers Wives Club, a member of the chapel choir, and coordinates many Webb-Veteran Administration Hospital base tours. She will be unable to accompany her husband overseas. She plans to return to the couple's hometown, St. Petersburg, Fla., where she will work on her masters' degree in political science at the University of South Florida, Tampa, Fla. She will also continue her interest in theatrics by working parttime as an actress.

"I've enjoyed my stay at Webb," Capt. White said. "It is an outstanding base for a young officer, as opportunities are available that usually go to a higher grade officer at larger bases." "Big Spring," he said, "is by far the friendliest town I've ever lived in."

Will Raise Funds For Paul Eggers

AUSTIN (AP)— State Rep. Frank Cahoon of Midland will serve as state finance chairman of the general election campaign for Paul Eggers, Republican candidate for governor.

"I'm very grateful to have this outstanding Republican leader accept this leadership position in my campaign," Eggers said Wednesday in making the announcement.

Cahoon earlier this year served as chairman of the "Elect Eggers Committee," a statewide group concentrating on the primary election campaign.

He was first elected to the legislature in 1964, and was re-elected by a 2-1 margin in 1966. He is not a candidate for re-election.

Servicemen's Union Men Facing Vagrancy Charges

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — The president and two other leaders of the American Servicemen's Union were to face vagrancy charges today in the corporation court of Judge John Odum.

Andrew Dean Stapp, 24, the president, and William Smith, 22, and Richard Wheaton, 23, were arrested in this Central Texas city Thursday night and freed on bond of $200 apiece Wednesday.

Stapp has said the union wants to give assistance to 42 Negro soldiers at Ft. Hood who face courts-martial for refusing to go to Chicago for possible riot control duty on the eve of the Democratic National Convention.

Ft. Hood is near Killeen. Stapp, of Philadelphia, tried to interview some of the 42 GIs Saturday but was escorted off the base by military police. He said that action was an attempt to "bust up the union."

A Ft. Hood spokesman said Wednesday that one of the 42—Pfc. Oscar Taylor of New York City—was scheduled to go on trial Sept. 18. Trial dates for the other 41 have not been set. About 60 Negro soldiers staged an early morning demonstration around the base that some Ft. Hood personnel might be sent to Chicago in the event of disturbances there. As it turned out, several thousand were.

Grand Jury To Check On Bribery

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A special grand jury has been ordered to investigate charges that conspirators in three states have offered bribes to witnesses whose testimony sent Teamsters President James R. Hoffa to jail.

U.S. District Court Judge Frank Gray Jr. and William E. Miller ordered the probe Wednesday as a result of testimony by Walter Sheridan, a former Justice Department investigator.

Sheridan, who was with the Justice Department when the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., was attorney general, testified last month that efforts have been made to bribe Edward Grady Partin, a Baton Rouge, La., teamsters official, and Robert Vick, a former Nashville policeman. Sheridan said he had been offered $1 million to change statements he made while investigating the Hoffa case. Sheridan did much of the investigative work which led to Hoffa's 1964 jury-tampering conviction in Chattanooga.

Hoffa, who is serving an eight-year term at the federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa., was found guilty of tampering with the jury which tried him on a conspiracy charge in Nashville in 1962. The first trial, in which Hoffa was accused of conspiring to divert union funds, ended with a deadlocked jury. Judges Miller and Gray also ordered the U.S. attorney's office and other federal agencies to launch an investigation into statements made by Sheridan and Earl Wingo, a former official of Nashville Teamsters Local 327 who also testified against Hoffa.

Sheridan's testimony of a bribe offer came last month during a hearing on a motion to overturn the 3½-year prison sentence of Z. T. Osborn Jr., Hoffa's Nashville lawyer who also was convicted of jury-tampering.

"During the course of the proceeding," the judges said, "there were statements by at least two witnesses—Walter Sheridan and Earl Wingo—concerning efforts assertedly having occurred in the state of Tennessee, the state of Louisiana and the District of Columbia to bribe and intimidate government witnesses."

Sheridan testified that since Hoffa's 1962 trial, there has been "a concerted, intensive effort to intimidate, bribe and corrupt government witnesses and others... which continues to this day." He added, "they actually did bribe several government witnesses in Chattanooga." Wingo testified that James Harding, identified as a Washington associate of the Team-
