ONE DIES Sextuplets Arrive For English Couple

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — A 30-year-old woman gave birth to sextuplets at Birmingham Maternity Hospital today.

One of the six babies died shortly after birth. First reports had said the mother, Sheila Ann Thorns, the wife of a draftsman, and all six children were well. The babies were four girls and two boys.

Within an hour, however, one of the girls died. The couple has been married 10 years. They have no other children.

"We were expecting a multiple birth, but this was a shock," said Mrs. Thorns' mother. "We thought it would be twins."

The babies were two months premature. They weighed between two and three pounds each. The babies are believed to be the first sextuplets born in Britain, medical experts said after a quick check of records here.

World records show there have been reports of about 20 previous sextuplet births since 1900, but many of these reports were not confirmed.

Sextuplets may be becoming less rare because of the effects of modern fertility drugs, doctors said.

Cases of women taking drugs because they have been unable to have a baby, have sometimes resulted in multiple births.

Paper Ignores Royal Request

LONDON (AP) — London's Daily Express ignored a royal request today and published pictures of Queen Elizabeth II in bed after the birth of Prince Edward.

Buckingham Palace expressed disapproval and a spokesman repeated the queen's own wish that the "personal and intimate" photographs should not be published in Britain. But he said no action would be taken against the Express.

The Express ran one of the pictures across the whole top half of its front page. It showed the queen sitting up in bed soon after the birth of Prince Edward in 1964, holding the infant in her arms and smiling at other members of the royal family.

LBJ Accepts Fortas' Withdrawal Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson received and accepted "with deep regret" today a request by Abe Fortas that his nomination as chief justice of the United States be withdrawn.

"With deep regret I have accepted and concur in the request of Mr. Justice Fortas and am withdrawing his nomination as chief justice of the United States," a brief presidential statement said.

BEST QUALIFIED
"I believed when I made this nomination, and I believe now, that he is the best qualified man for this high position," Johnson said.

Speaking of the Senate's refusal to halt a filibuster against Fortas' nomination, Johnson said: "The action of the Senate, a body I revere and to which I devoted a dozen years of my life, is historically and constitutionally tragic."

Today's action climaxed the long and sometimes bitter fight which began with Johnson's nomination of Fortas June 26.

In a letter to the President, Fortas said that the continued efforts to secure Senate confirmation of his nomination, even if ultimately successful, would result in a continuation of attacks upon the court.

The letter was released at the Supreme Court simultaneously with its delivery to the President at the White House.

Fortas' request that his controversial nomination be withdrawn followed a vote in the Senate Tuesday which fell 14 short of the two-thirds necessary to cut off a filibuster by opponents.

The 58-year-old justice, appointed to the Supreme Court by Johnson in 1965, started off his letter by saying he had noted the failure to end the filibuster in the Senate.

NEW TEAM

He coupled this with the observation that the new term of the court will begin on Monday and that "I will, of course, be participating in its work as associate justice."

"In view of these circumstances," Fortas wrote, "I ask you to withdraw by nomination as chief justice."

"Continued efforts to secure confirmation of that nomination, even if ultimately successful, would result in a continuation of the attacks upon the court which have characterized the filibuster attacks which have been sometimes extreme and entirely unrelated to responsible criticism."

"Attacks of this sort would be especially inappropriate and harmful to the court and the nation if they should continue while the court is in session, engaged in the adjudication of issues of great importance to the nation as well as the litigants."

Fortas, whom Johnson had nominated June 26 to succeed Chief Justice Earl Warren, told the President in his letter he did not want to provide the occasion for a situation marked by continuation of attacks on the court.

Fortas said he appreciated the confidence Johnson had shown in his qualifications by nominating him for the nation's highest judicial office.

The Supreme Court clerk said that Fortas had written the letter Tuesday, that it was typed this morning and that it was delivered by a secretary to the White House.

Newsmen were told that Fortas would have no further statement to make and that he was not available because he was observing Yom Kippur, the Jewish holiday.

Fortas' letter, in which he said he intends to continue as an associate justice, appeared to wash out Johnson's nomination of U.S. Circuit Court Judge Homer Thornberry of Texas to be a member of the Supreme Court.

Snag Develops In Plan For Downtown Project

A new snag seems to have developed in the plan to raze the old Crawford Hotel building and transform its site into a downtown parking lot.

The attorney general's office, on a second consultation by telephone, has reversed a former announcement — the county, the attorney general's office now feels, has no legal right to spend money for land unless that land is to be used for a specific county use.

AGREED

The county commissioners court had agreed to provide $100,000 of the funds needed to acquire the old unoccupied hotel structure and renovate the site into a downtown parking area. The county, in return for its money would have a deed to part of the land on which the hotel is now situated.

The city would grade, fill, pave, and landscape the land and make into a parking area similar to the one at the corner of Main and Second City officials were to meet at noon today to discuss city participation.

The bulk of the funds for the purchase of the old building and for its demolition would come from privately subscribed money raised by Downtown Big Spring Inc., an organization of business establishments seeking to beautify and improve the downtown shopping section.

Monday, before the county commissioners approved the plan, Dee Jon Davis, county attorney at the court's request, contacted the attorney general's office by telephone, explained the plan, and was told it was legally satisfactory. The commissioners acted on this report.

Tuesday, Wayne Burns, district attorney, said he received a number of inquiries and protests from citizens who did not like the plan and he was asked to check out the legal status of the matter.

"I talked with Davis," said Burns, "and asked if it would be all right if I called the attorney general to confirm the phone opinion given him earlier. He said to go ahead."

Burns said he called the attorney general's office and talked to the same person that Davis had consulted. This time, however, Burns said, the attorney general's spokesman said that he had misunderstood the proposition as outlined by Davis Monday.

Contrary to what he had told the county attorney then, he now said that it was not legal for the county to spend county money on the project.

Today, Davis said he planned to get a written opinion from the attorney general's office. A telephone opinion is not a binding statement, he said.

SEEK ANSWER

However, because any written opinion usually takes weeks to clear and because the situation here is pressing for action, he said he planned to seek out further law and find out what might be done to legalize the participation of the county with the city and the businessmen in the program.

He said Midland County had recently acquired land under a somewhat similar program and that he wanted to find out what steps and law they had taken.

N. Vietnam Warned New Invasion Threat Will Fail

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman today accused North Vietnam of preparing a massive new invasion of the South, but he warned such an attempt would fail.

Harriman said weapons caches and bunker complexes found by allied forces indicated the enemy has transformed the once-neutral demilitarized zone into a staging area for troops preparing to move south.

Harriman made the charges at the 24th session of the Paris peace talks to Ambassador Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam.

Earlier today Harriman called for a North Vietnamese pledge to refrain from exploiting any American bombing halt and thus open the way to serious peacekeeping.

Harriman's statement, made to newsmen before entering the 24th session of the peace talks, appeared to take account of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's qualified campaign promise to end air attacks on the North.

Without commenting on Humphrey's proposal, Harriman said: "It would be very easy for North Vietnam to bring this conference to fruitful discussions. All they have to do is indicate they are prepared to restrain the military advantage that might come to them from the cessation of the bombing."

THURSDAY

Wallace Promises To Name Partner

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Third party candidate George C. Wallace said on arriving in Akron today that he would name his vice presidential choice at 10 a.m. Thursday in Pittsburgh.

Wallace declined comment on speculation that his choice would be retired Air Force Gen. Curtis LeMay, but said his proposed running mate would be present Thursday.

SCOPE RIFLE

Wallace arrived in Akron this morning after a flight from Michigan. His arrival came about one hour after sheriff's deputies began a search for a man spotted near the Akron-Canton Airport with a telescope-equipped rifle.

Summit County Sheriff Robert Campbell said the man might have been a hunter, but fled when cruisers were dispatched.

Wallace, who says he senses increased support from labor's rank and file, headed into industrial areas of Ohio and Pennsylvania after stumping his way through bands of hecklers at enthusiastic rallies in Michigan. At every city Wallace introduces Alabama and Georgia labor union officials accompanying him on his campaign through the heavily unionized Midwest.

In a nationwide paid political broadcast on CBS Tuesday night he said he has strong support from workers but some union leaders are using "smear tactics" against him.

He said the rank-and-file would not be "fooled by propagand da." The former Alabama governor said, "Anyone who threatens to take away the long-term gains of labor in this country should be defeated for president."

In the telecast he also touched on the controversy over debates between the presidential candidates by accusing Richard M. Nixon, the Republican candidate, of "being safe" in refusing to debate him.

"Mr. Nixon says he's willing to debate Mr. Humphrey but that he's not willing to debate me," Wallace said. "The polls show that the vice president is running third, so if Mr. Nixon is willing to debate the third runner, he ought to be willing to debate the one who is running second."

Should the debates come about, Wallace added, Nixon "would have to explain how his record differs from what he's saying now."

Wallace heads into industrial areas of Ohio and Pennsylvania today. Noisy groups of hecklers, mostly college students, interrupted Wallace repeatedly during speeches Tuesday in four Michigan cities, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Lansing and Flint. They were by far the minority in all the crowds.

The most persistent hecklers, who sang and attempted to drown him out with peace slogans and cries of "Wallace go home," were in Flint where the former Alabama governor spoke to a capacity of about 12,000 in a football stadium.

Michigan, with its 21 electoral votes, is one of several Northern states Wallace hopes to capture.

In Lansing, one dissenter introduced a new form of heckling, a mirror reflecting the afternoon sun in Wallace's eyes.

Returning to his car after the speech, Wallace said: "He blinded me a time or two."

Briton Wants 'Great Debate'

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Former Foreign Secretary George Brown called today for "a great debate" on the issues of the future to prepare the Labor party for victory in the next national elections.

Brown, who resigned in a huff from Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government six months ago, spoke to the Laborites' annual convention in his capacity of deputy party leader.

He was presenting the national executive committee's "Mid-Term Manifesto." It appeared to be the opening gun in the battle for re-election.

ASSAILED

But in the debate that followed, speaker after speaker assailed the manifesto because it made no reference to further nationalization of industry.

Lawmaker Eric Heffer castigated the Wilson government for abandoning Socialist principles and he appealed to the party "to turn to the left."

Striking Longshoremen Expected Back To Work

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking East and Gulf Coast longshoremen are expected back to work Thursday under a federal court order.

Judge Sylvester J. Ryan Tuesday night signed a temporary restraining order to halt the walkout by 75,000 members of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association.

The strike began at one minute past midnight Monday when the union contract expired.

IILA President Thomas W. Gleason said he would not be able to get the men back today but probably could do so Thursday, adding: "We all abide by the law."

Ryan set a hearing for next Wednesday on the government's application for an 80-day cooling-off period as provided by the Taft-Hartley Act. The restraining order, however, became effective at once.

Earlier, Gleason told a presidential board of inquiry that automation—in the form of containerized shipping—was the foremost issue.

Other issues include wages, pensions, a guaranteed annual wage, and fringe benefits. Longshoremen earned $3.62 an hour under the old contract.

NONE HURT Bullets Fired At Wallace Office

LOS ANGELES (AP) — About 15 bullets were fired into a George Wallace for President campaign headquarters, police said, but the office was empty and no one was hurt.

Officers said American Independent party workers found plate glass windows shattered and plaster walls riddled with bullets when they arrived Tuesday morning at the office near downtown Los Angeles.

United Fund Report

The United Fund Drive settled down today after two days of division kiffing with campaigners making contacts and reporting almost $1,000 this morning.

Total to date is $35,780.63 of the $109,225 goal.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. employees and Communications Workers of America drew close to their goal with 77 per cent of the $2,195 pledged this morning, according to Al Harrison, co-chairman of the company campaign with Mrs. Walter Schattel. The drive at Southwestern Bell is hoped to be completed by this afternoon, Harrison said.

Webb AFB was reported nearing its goal. The airmen had 72 per cent of their objective Friday, before the drive officially opened.

Gold Price Down

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold was fixed in London Wednesday morning at $38.30 an ounce, down $1.15 from Tuesday afternoon's fixing price of $39.45.

Biafran Trap Closing

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Federal Nigerian troops have captured Okigwi and are slowly moving towards Umuahia — Biafra's last remaining major town 30 miles away, according to reports reaching Lagos today.

The hillside town of Okigwi fell to 1st Division soldiers Tuesday while Nigeria celebrated a war-torn eighth year of independence.

Umuahia, where the secessionist state is believed preparing to make a last ditch stand in its declared "fight to the finish," is also being threatened from the south where 3rd Division commandos are reported less than 20 miles away.

New Walkout Looms

NEW YORK (AP) — The threat of a new teachers' strike loomed in New York City as city officials labored to restore the precarious school peace upset by renewed violence in a Negro-Puerto Rican experimental school district in Brooklyn.

Albert Shanker, president of the 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers, raised the possibility of a new walkout against the 1.1-million-pupil public school system after the violence Tuesday in the Ocean Hill-Brownsville District.

Ten policemen were injured and more than a dozen persons arrested as angry parents, children and demonstrators clashed with police over the return of about 80 disputed teachers to the district.

North Viet Gunfire Hits Infantrymen

SAIGON (AP) — Two evacuation helicopters loaded with wounded Americans were shot down by North Vietnamese troops during a fierce battle in the jungled foothills south of Da Nang, military spokesmen reported today.

U.S. headquarters said several soldiers who had been wounded in the ground fighting were unaccounted for and presumed dead. They were aboard one of the helicopters that was destroyed while trying to evacuate them to a field hospital.

The U.S. Command declined to say how many men were missing while a search was still on for their bodies, but unconfirmed reports put the number at three. Four crewmen aboard the helicopter, a corpsman and two wounded infantrymen were rescued. The crewmen and the corpsman were wounded.

The second helicopter was recovered. None of the crewmen or wounded aboard it was killed or missing. But three of them were reported wounded.

Headquarters said 23 Americans were wounded in the day-long fighting Tuesday, but none killed in the ground action that was touched off when enemy troops opened fire on troops of the 198th Light Infantry Brigade sweeping the area.

The number of enemy casualties was not known.

The loss of the one helicopter raised to four the number damaged by enemy ground fire in the past three days in South Vietnam and to 876 the total for the war.

SKYHAWK SHOT

Headquarters also announced the loss of the third warplane over North Vietnam in the last four days. A Marine Corps A-1 Skyhawk was downed in the northern half of the demilitarized zone Tuesday while spotting targets for the newly arrived battalions New Jersey.

The plane's two crewmen were able to fly the crippled aircraft over the Tonkin Gulf where they bailed out. They were picked up by the 7th Fleet destroyer Towers three miles offshore.

It was the 902nd American warplane reported downed in combat over North Vietnam.

The New Jersey, the first American battleship to see action since the Korean war, turned its big 16-inch guns toward North Vietnam's southern panhandle Tuesday in its second day on the firing line.

The Navy said the vessel's 2,700-pound shells—some of them hurled as far as 16 miles—smashed a dozen bunkers, one truck and an anti-aircraft battery that had been firing on another spotter plane.

What Makes An Assassin?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential commission on violence is probing into the dark alleyways of the human mind to try to find what makes a man an assassin.

The panel stepped gingerly clear of the specific slayings of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in its search for the assassinations that have shaken the nation in recent years.

Top Secret Service officials were called to today's closed session. They included Director James J. Rowley, Thomas J. Kelley, assistant director for protective intelligence, and Charles Humpstone, who oversees the presidential guard.

Psychiatrists and academic experts dotted the witness list for the public portion of the hearings.

The commission, created by President Johnson as Sen. Kennedy lay dying last June, turned to assassinations as it began its third weekly session of testimony in a wide survey of American violence.

Unlike the Warren Commission which investigated the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the violence panel is making a general study that embraces everything from anti-war protests to street muggings.

Lloyd Cutler, executive director of the commission, said there would be no attempt to delve into the specifics of the Kennedy and King slayings. Any testimony that did touch on the deaths was expected to be quite guarded since trials are pending in both 1968 shootings.

Proposal To Spread Losses From Riots

AUSTIN (AP) — An insurance industry committee recommended today a plan to spread losses from riots among a large number of insurance companies to make it easier to get coverage on urban buildings.

The committee headed by Raymond Mauk, Houston, reported to the State Insurance Board, which appointed it Sept. 6.

The three-man board conducted a public hearing today on a program to provide adequate coverage, including insurance against riot losses, to Texas property.

FEDERAL DATE

Such a program must be approved by the board by Oct. 29 in order for Texas to continue to qualify for federal reinsurance under the housing bill enacted this summer by Congress.

A statewide plan approved by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) would qualify insurance companies operating in Texas to purchase federal reinsurance against riot losses.

The plan specifies that any property owner who is unable to obtain insurance would apply through an agent for an inspection of his premises.

The inspector would make recommendations of any needed repairs to eliminate fire hazards. Only if the owner refused to make the repairs could insurance be refused. Environmental hazards beyond the owner's control, such as a deteriorated neighborhood, would not be grounds to refuse coverage.

When there is a loss, whether from a riot or from any other hazard covered by the insurance, the claim would be paid by the pool of participating insurance companies. The cost would be spread among the firms in proportion to their premium writings.

RIOTS POOL

"This is a social undertaking by the insurance industry in conjunction with the state and federal governments," said Mauk, who is vice president of the Maryland American General group of insurance companies.

"The setting up of a pool will mean that the losses incurred on properties insured through this facility will be borne by insurance companies proportionate to the amount of property insurance they do."

The committee said the plan goes beyond riot insurance and includes coverage against fire, windstorm and hail losses.

Water Hearing In Plainview

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Water Rights Commission opens a special hearing in Plainview Thursday on flood protection for the West Texas city and its surrounding area.

An announcement from the commission's office here said testimony will be taken for and against the feasibility of the $3.2 million U.S. Corps of Engineers plan for flood control and other water problems of the running water draw.

NY Youth Corps Money Missing

NEW YORK (AP) — The federal government has threatened to stop providing money for New York City's Neighborhood Youth Corps program unless steps are taken "to prevent further fraud and misappropriation of federal funds."

Assistant Secretary of Labor Stanley H. Ruttenberg charged Tuesday in a letter to Mayor John V. Lindsay that there had been "large-scale embezzlement" of Youth Corps funds during the past two years.

money would be allocated to the program after Oct. 31 unless "mismanagement, fraud and misappropriation" were eliminated through widespread management reforms.

The Neighborhood Youth Corps, administered by the city's Human Resources Administration, creates and helps find jobs for young people from low-income families. The mayor has praised the corps, saying it has helped the city avoid summer riots.

A city investigation into the fiscal policies of the Youth Corps program is already underway. Investigators have reported approximately $553,000 missing over the past 14 months, but other sources indicated Tuesday that the actual amount might be in the millions.

RED CROSSES

A U.S. spokesman said the two helicopters were clearly marked with red crosses and that firing on them was a violation of the Geneva conventions governing the rules of warfare.

Elsewhere, in the rubber plantation country northwest of Saigon, U.S. troops killed 14 of the enemy in a battle for control of tons of enemy ammunition.

Troops of the 25th Infantry Division discovered the cache during a probe through the area about 43 miles from the capital. They found 33 five-pound cases of explosives, 30 cases of 82mm mortar rounds, 30 cases of rifle ammunition and four cases of rocket grenades.

A second arms cache was found in the rice paddies nine miles south of Saigon by a force of the U.S. 159th Light Infantry Brigade and government troops.

The cache held 63 rounds of 82mm mortar shells, 50 cases of rifle ammunition and 50 rocket grenades.

Rioting Prisoners Calm In Carolina

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — South Carolina's top prison official calmed rioting prisoners Tuesday and later expressed optimism that an "understanding legislature" will help him solve their grievances.

William Leeke, director of the state Department of Corrections, threatened to send in troops armed with bayonets and tear gas.

Leeke said the 10 injured inmates were hurt by fellow prisoners.

Some 100 National Guardsmen, 20 highway patrolmen and 26 Columbia city policemen were summoned to the State Penitentiary at the height of the disorder.

Then Leeke climbed to the top of a low building overlooking the rioting prisoners and told them through a bullhorn to walk onto the big athletic field fronting the prison.

Leeke said the 20 leaders of the riot would be punished and said the other 30 or 40 who participated in the riot also would be disciplined.

Opening lead: Nine of ♠ South had temporary visions of going all the way when the opening bidder raised his jump shift response of two hearts. However, after his Blackwood inquiries revealed that the partnership was missing two kings, South resolved to settle for the more modest commitment of a small slam in hearts.

West opened the nine of diamonds and the ace was played from dummy, so that declarer could take a finesse in trumps. West was in again with the king of hearts and he returned another diamond to declarer's king.

South could count 11 tricks at this point—four hearts, three diamonds, three clubs, and one spade. The issue apparently boiled down to the spade finesse, but declarer decided to apply some pressure against the opposition first.

A heart was led to dummy's nine to clear up the trump situation, and the lack of diamonds was cashed on which South discarded a spade. Declarer now proceeded to run the balance of the hearts, obliging West to make three discards. The latter realized that he could not afford to let go a club if South had the queen. To give up two spades, however, would also prove fatal if declarer had the ace and queen of that suit and became aware that his opponent was in difficulties.

West was able to part conveniently with the nine of spades as South ran the hearts. When East discarded the five of clubs, it became obvious to West that he must hold on to all of his cards in that suit. He, therefore, steeled himself as the last heart was led, and calmly parted with the eight of spades.

Declarer played the queen of clubs followed by the ace and king. When the suit did not break, he fell back on the spade finesse. West took the last two tricks with the king of spades and the jack of clubs.

Needless to say, had West shown any reluctance to part with his spades, South might have become sufficiently alerted to refuse the finesse in that suit and play to drop the king.

He said damage from the riot was limited to broken windows and water pipes, burned mattresses and scattered food.

Pluck, Soup Snare Teens

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Jennie Pollack, 82 years old, can thank her pluck and her chicken soup for the seizure of two teenagers accused of robbing and assaulting her.

Police said Mrs. Pollack was surprised Tuesday by two youths as she was cooking a pot of the soup in her apartment. When they demanded money, she threw the soup pot, drenching both of them.

The youths knocked her down and left with about $200 in cash, including several rolls of coins, plus a hair dryer, record player and clothing. After the attack, Mrs. Pollack went to a hospital for treatment, neglecting to call police.

Detectives cruising in the Bronx neighborhood saw Carlos Garcia, 16, Israel Martinez, 17, and Minerva Perez, 16, sitting on a stoop with cash and coins stacked in front of them.

Taking note of the money and the aroma of chicken soup, police took the youths to a station house for questioning. Among the coins was a roll of pennies with the name Pollack on it and a bank account number.

Police obtained Mrs. Pollack's address through the bank, and were waiting for her with the cash and coins when she returned from the hospital.

Nixon Promises Leaders Of Securities Industry

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon has promised leaders of the securities industry that, if elected, he will end what he calls the "heavy-handed bureaucratic regulatory schemes" of the Johnson administration. The New York Times reported today.

In a Washington datelined story, the Times carried the text of a letter it said was sent to industry leaders last Friday in which the Republican presidential candidate discussed his views on the industry.

The story also said in part: Alan Greenspan, a top Nixon economic adviser, was quoted as saying the letter "was signed by Mr. Nixon and has the full force of a formal policy statement" but was not made public because it covers "a narrow policy area."

Gunmen Loot Apartment Of 'Pill' Developer

NEW YORK (AP) — Two gunmen invaded the luxurious East Side apartment of Dr. Harry Rudel, a participant in the development of the birth control pill, and made off Tuesday with jewelry, paintings and sculpture valued at $250,000.

The bandits gained entrance to the Rudel apartment, which occupies the 10th floor of the building, by posing as deliverymen.

At gunpoint, they forced Mrs. Sylvia Rudel, 35, a nurse, and a maid into a clothes closet. Two small children were in another room and were not disturbed. Rudel was not home at the time. The bandits cut paintings from frames, took jade statues from a foyer cabinet, and ransacked the entire apartment. Police said one jade statue was valued at $100,000.

The men carried out their loot in a cardboard box and drove off in a panel truck. They were described as in their 30's. One man's face was scarred; the other wore a handkerchief mask.

Rudel is associate director of the biomedical division of the Population Council of New York. He previously was vice president of Syntex Laboratories, a California firm that has developed a progesterone hormone birth control pill.

Nixon said a first priority of his administration will be to conduct "an independent, comprehensive economic study of the role of financial institutions in our economy, the relationship of financial institutions to our nation's growth, the requirement for investor protections and the interrelationship of all financial institutions."

The letter charged the Johnson administration with being guided by the philosophy that "the government can make decisions for the investor better than he can make them for himself."

The letter specifically denounced legislation aimed at forcing mutual funds to reduce their charges to investors as "rate-fixing in a highly competitive industry." The legislation was passed by the Senate this year, over the opposition of mutual funds, but died in the House Commerce Committee.

VA Salutes Handicapped

During National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, Oct. 6-12, the Veterans Administration Hospital will salute those employees who have overcome their impairments to perform their duties without asking for special considerations.

Jack D. Powell, hospital director, said, "There are only rare instances when an employee asks for a special tour of duty or light assignment because of his handicap. In these cases, it is usually the supervisor who must convince the employee that he should ease up."

The hospital employs a growing number of people in a variety of positions who do not let a minor disability prevent their leading a productive life, Powell said.

Some of these "minor" disabilities include epilepsy, diabetes, amputations, inactive tuberculosis and mental retardation. The latter disability belongs to a recently appointed employee referred by the Texas Employment Commission as a temporary appointment.

A Devotional For The Day

We are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. (II Corinthians 5:20)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, help us not to spend our days in trivial things when so many are stumbling along with no knowledge of Thee. Strengthen us to witness that others may find joy in our Lord. Amen.

A Casualty Of Changing Times

Plans, which have been in the exploratory and then in the preparatory stage for a couple of years, appear to be assuming substance. If they come to fruition, the Crawford Hotel will come tumbling down.

While there is much nostalgia and not a little community sentiment attached to the building which figured so prominently in the city's boom-day history, it must be admitted in all candor that its demolition would only improve matters.

Because of changing times, the picture for downtown hotels has been altered sharply except for points which may compel captive traffic for business or other reasons or those places which host major gatherings on a systematic and continuing basis. Long ago the owners of the Crawford faced this reality and therefore closed the Crawford in order to save our larger, better equipped hotel.

Since then, the Crawford has deteriorated. It has become a hazard from the point of potential fire, to some degree a health problem because of harborage of pigeons and so on. From the point of the owners, it has been a tax liability, and from the point of the local government it has become a tax problem because it is not sound to continually look to sources which are in reality liabilities.

Thus, if the downtown and other interests can bring this about, Big Spring will be better off. The surrounding area will benefit because of added parking facilities, and because the area can be made more attractive and more modern. It is a shame that a building so soundly put together as was the Crawford is consigned to destruction, but this is better for all than inevitable and insidious decay.

Opinion Is Felt

While it is unwise to claim knowledge of what goes on in the minds of Russian leaders, there is circumstantial evidence to suggest this conclusion: The Russian leaders had no conception of the worldwide condemnation they would receive for invading Czechoslovakia.

Progressive Communists and old-line Stalinists in most countries were appalled by the Russian invasion. The leadership even in those countries who look to Moscow for guidance was almost unanimous in its disapproval. To the Russians this must have been totally unexpected. They must have thought that the incident would be passed over, as was the 1956 repression of the Hungarian rebellion. Instead they are being treated almost as pariahs.

A hint of Russian uncertainty over the furor is the continuance in office of Alexander Dubcek, first secretary of the Communist party of Czechoslovakia. It was the reforms planned or instituted by Dubcek which led to the Russian invasion. In another effort to quiet the waters, Moscow announced that 20 of the 28 divisions stationed in Czechoslovakia will be withdrawn.

The Russian leadership may be just as upset over the reaction of the West. Preoccupied as Russians must have been with what they thought was an "internal" problem, they probably were jolted by the assessment in Western capitals that the invasion of Czechoslovakia had destroyed the balance of power in Europe. They must have been unhappy when the North Atlantic Treaty Organization assumed sudden new meaning and military planners promptly studied contingencies arising from the Russian move.

Perhaps the Russians have learned a timely lesson. Perhaps they have not. But they will misread the times if they do not realize that playing the bull in the china shop is no longer productive. The end of colonialism brought too many small nations into being, nations that are engaged in a desperate effort to achieve political and economic stability, nations that are profoundly fearful of great power moves. In a world dominated by two superpowers constrained by the realities of nuclear weapons, so-called world opinion may become much more important than it ever was.

Irish Spotlight

People Trouble Began With Potato Famine

By DENIS O'CONNOR
AP Special Correspondent

DUBLIN (AP) — Ireland is prosperous as never before — but its biggest single export is people.

The government has launched an ambitious program to bring in new industries but there's no immediate prospect of creating enough jobs to keep the youth at home.

"SAD AS IT IS TO SEE the young go," said one Irish philosopher, "in some ways it has been God-sent in that we have been able to export our unemployed."

Ireland's people trouble began with the potato famine of 1846-47. Hundreds of thousands died when the potato crop failed. Equal numbers fled the country — mostly to the United States.

The exodus continues at a rate of 10,000 to 20,000 young men and women every year. The population was nine million before the famine. It is now 2.9 million.

Billy Graham

I am a teacher in West Germany, and my class of teenagers asked me to write you about what you consider to be the profoundest meaning and the highest aim to aspire to in life upon this earth. They really want to know. Would you oblige us?

M.H. The Westminster Catechism says, "The chief end of man is to glorify God and enjoy him forever." Though this is taken from the context of Scripture, I would prefer to cite you to the world's greatest Authority on life's aim, Jesus Christ. After all, my opinion could be in error, but He never makes a mistake.

He said that life's chief aim is twofold: "Thou shalt love the Lord God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength; this is the first commandment. And the second is like, namely this, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these.'" (Mark 12:30, 31)

The whole theology of the Bible is contained in these two verses. Here is the answer to all of our modern problems, but too many of us consider these words a spiritual cliché with no relevancy for these times. So, we are given to the converse of His words, and resort to violence, prejudice, hatred, and malice toward others. Christ has the power to enable us to keep this the greatest commandment, if we really want Him to do so.

on itself—the more people leave, the less manpower is available to produce the necessary goods and services and the less attraction there is for others to stay.

"WE ALL LOOK forward to the day when nobody will be compelled to leave Ireland through economic necessity," says Joseph Cardinal Conway, the Roman Catholic primate. "But the fact is that thousands are compelled to emigrate annually."

"Our Connemara lakes and mountains are superb scenic attractions for visitors, but you cannot live on scenery," said Mayo cattle trader John Dunphy. "The fresh air here increases the appetite but you just cannot eat the view."

Yet a recent report by the World Health Organization showed the Irish as the best fed people in the world, with a higher caloric intake than even the United States.

The emigrants fall broadly into two types — young skilled workers and younger unskilled ones.

MANY TEENAGE boys and girls go to England, where bureaus have been opened to help them find homes and jobs. A million Irish-born people live in Britain.

The social services in England provide an attraction — immediate relief as soon as an Irishman steps off the boat plus free medical care. Some go as a form of protest against dull village life. And girls find more freedom in England.

Doctors, scientists and engineers tend to cross the Atlantic. Official records list 29,033 emigrants to the United States since 1962 and 6,538 to Canada.

The number going to Canada increased from 452 in 1962 to 2,181 in 1967. In the same period emigration to the United States dropped from 5,354 to 2,665 last year.

Many young Irishmen look to Canada because of the U.S. draft. Canada has no draft, and besides offers free passage to would-be settlers.

OCTOGENARIAN Archbishop Joseph Walsy says: "All of us admit that some emigration is at present inevitable, but it is necessary to have the mass emigration that has been going on."

In the past 10 years, quite a number of young people have qualified in medicine, science and engineering, but how many of them are now working in Ireland? Too many young Irish people are using their talents not to build up their own country but to help bring prosperity to other lands."

John Cunniff Responding To Urban Problems

NEW YORK (AP) — Business is responding to urban problems better than most institutions in the opinion of John Gardner, former member of President Johnson's Cabinet and now chairman of the Urban Coalition.

Gardner, who was secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare until March of this year, termed "extremely encouraging" the attitudes and activities of business in helping solve the problems of the cities.

"I THINK they have outstripped most other segments of American society in this response," he said. "Generally they have been more active than labor in the coalitions, and vastly more so than the universities."

The Urban Coalition's goal is to bring together community leadership elements that normally do not collaborate, believing that stability depends upon coordinated rather than fragmented efforts by business, labor, the black community, universities, the press and other elements.

Gardner said the black community has been the most active group in the coalitions, followed by business. Mayors' offices have been fairly active, he said, but "universities have been relatively passive," as have the professions.

THE REAL problem for business, he said, is in the type of participation. "There is a fair amount of confusion," he said. "Some of the things they have been urged to do are probably silly. They have to learn how they can contribute."

Gardner, a realist with an optimistic bent, believes the problems of the cities—poverty, inequality, decay and unrest—can be overcome by intelligence, energy and goodwill, but only if leadership segments do not shirk their jobs.

"If the universities and professionals and businessmen are all to say that the problems are not theirs then you are faced with a question of who is minding the store," he said.

BUSINESSMEN can participate and lead in solving urban problems in at least three basic ways, he said. He suggested these categories:

1. Business functioning as business, "not as a part-time charity or a social welfare agency, but as a business," doing the things it does best, by producing and selling its goods and services.

2. Business as a good citizen. "Here I would list things business could do in providing equal opportunity, employment, in working with schools, in aiding dropouts.

Business as a good citizen also has an opportunity, he said, in providing venture capital for black businessmen, who often have difficulty meeting credit standards.

Gardner conceded: "I'm somewhat cautious on this front, for entrepreneurs lose as well as make money." But he said as black community leaders responded strongly to opportunities for self-ownership of businesses.

Businessmen as community leaders, acting as individuals rather than as members of corporations.

Hal Boyle Hummed Before She Could Talk

NEW YORK (AP) — Peggy Lee, the golden songbird of her time, hates to be called a perfectionist.

"It makes me sound too much as if I were one of those fussy women who always bustle around seeing that the ashtrays are clean," she sighed. "And I'm not that way."

"But I do pay great attention to detail to my work because I want to improve it, and if that makes me a perfectionist, then I suppose I am. But everybody enjoys a show better when it is done creatively."

PEGGY INVESTS from $25,000 to $30,000 preparing a show, a sum larger than is sometimes spent to launch an entire off-Broadway play. Her investment has always paid off.

Over a career that spans three decades, the champagne-blond singer has recorded more than 500 songs, 100 of which she wrote herself. Her weekly income is high in the five-figure bracket. Tops with the public, she is also a favorite with her fellow musicians. They tend to rate Peggy and Ella Fitzgerald as the best of the living pop singers.

She is self-tutored, and like most of the truly great ones she came up the hard way—step by painful step.

"My sister said I hummed before I learned to talk," she said.

Born Norma Jean Engstrom, daughter of the railway station agent in Jamestown, N.D., she lost her mother when she was four. At 17, on a borrowed railroad pass and $18, she set out for Hollywood, and rode sitting up in a coach car all the way.

"I WAS terribly shy and naive, and didn't even know where to go to find a place to sing," she said. "I was a short order cook, a waitress and an amusement park barker. I was down to a dime, literally, when I got a job at a supper club for $3 a night and my meals."

Bronchial illness that had plagued her throughout her adult life forced her to return home. Then Ken Kennedy of Station WJAY in Fargo, N.D., gave her a job and renamed her Peggy Lee.

"I like the name—it has been very good to me," said Peggy. "I like it better than some of the names you hear now—such as The Electric Prune."

After touring with several Midwest bands, Peggy was summoned by Benny Goodman to be his leading vocalist. In 1942 she recorded "Why Don't You Do Right?", the first of a parade of smash hits. They include "Lover," "Manana," "Golden Earrings," "Fever," "It's a Good Day," and "I Don't Know Enough About You."

GIFTED in many fields, Peggy is a skilled painter and poet. She is widely read and a sentence from Ralph Waldo Emerson has deeply inspired her in time of trouble: "God will not have his work done by cowards."

"I have the feeling sometimes that the public thinks I am sad because I sometimes sing sad songs," she said. "I have had sad times—her three marriages ended in divorce—but I have a sense of humor and love to laugh."

To Your Good Health Questions, Answers About The Pacemaker

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: The writer would appreciate information on heart pacemakers. What is the mortality rate for a senior citizen with a pulse rate of 36 to 66, but mostly about 40. Does the operation, if successful, solve the problem? Do the batteries go into the heart through the aorta and neck?—G.R.B.

Your questions imply that you are a bit confused on some aspects, not on others. The pacemaker is a device for use when the heart does not beat as rapidly and steadily as it should. The pulse rate of an average adult is around 70 or a bit more. Some have a normally slower rate without harm or symptoms.

But the rate can be so slow as to cause inadequate circulation. The patient may have periods of feeling faint or may even lose consciousness. Electrocardiograms can identify the condition and permit the doctor to determine accurately the interval between heart beats. Sometimes medication can meet the situation successfully. In other cases, it is better to resort to a pacemaker.

Electrically, this is an instrument which, while small, is made to operate with great precision, supplying rhythm in small pulses of electricity. When a pulse is delayed, the electric pulse impels the heart muscle to contract or "beat."

The batteries, and the pacemaker itself, are not inserted into the heart at all. Hence it is not necessary to put them in place "through the aorta," which is the main artery of the heart.

Rather, the tiny batteries and pacemaker are implanted under skin (commonly the chest) and an electrode is then placed at whatever point will be most effective, sometimes in the heart muscle, sometimes at some other point at which the electrical impulses can conveniently introduce the impulse to beat.

When new batteries are required, the surgeon need go only below the skin level to replace them; it is not necessary to disturb the rest of the pacemaker circuitry.

Asking for the "mortality rate" is posing too hard a question unless one knows the patient's condition in considerable detail but already we know of patients who have gone along successfully with pacemakers for periods of years. Indeed, it is the hope and expectation of the doctors, when they install pacemakers, that the patient then will get along well for an extended length of time.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you explain the warm feeling that comes over you from taking niacin? I have asked several who take it, and none seems to know, just that it is not harmful.—L.G.W.

Niacin is a vasodilator, that is, a drug which causes small blood vessels to expand slightly. This brings a flush to the skin (from the added circulation) and a sense of warmth. It occurs shortly after the drug is taken and lasts a few minutes.

Around The Rim

Starting Toward Decision

On Saturday of this week there will be a meeting in Hereford to sample sentiment concerning a matter of extreme importance to Texas and particularly to West Texas.

THE GATHERING has been called by Rep. Bill Clayton, chairman of the Texas House Interim water committee, who wants to know the answer to some crucial questions.

Rep. Clayton asks this way: Would the economic benefit of imported water justify the cost to the West Texas area? If this water were to cost $20 an acre-foot, plus a 10 per cent increase in property taxes, would you be willing to pay this? Would non-irrigators be willing to pay the added tax? Would you favor the creation of a master authority to contract, finance, tax, etc.?

WELL, THIS is getting down to the heart of the situation. There has been a lot of talk, a lot of it grandiose speculation about bringing water into the state, and especially into the upland areas of marked water deficiency. It is easy to agree on this as a matter of abstract conjecture. It is well to be for God, home and mother, but are you willing to invest your money in God, home and mother?

Engineering studies have indicated that from a technical standpoint it is possible to divert water from the Mississippi and lift it a couple of thousand feet into the High Plains of West Texas. Despite formidable obstacles, it is likely legally practical. It is economically feasible according to present standards, only if there is some source of support other than the sales revenues the water would generate.

THE $20 AN acre-foot (or approximately $60 per million gallons) is held out as a cost for irrigators. Municipalities and others taking water from this source undoubtedly would have to pay more, but still this would not carry the bill. Unless someone comes up with a miracle substitute, the logical answer is general taxation to subsidize the difference.

The non-irrigator may ask: Why should I do this? Imported water likely will be the only means of sustaining the vast agricultural areas a generation hence when the ground water supplies will have been depleted to the point it is no longer economically practical to produce this water for farming. To a lesser degree the same answer could be applied to industrial water sources.

STRANGLE GENERAL and agricultural industry in West Texas and you've sharply restricted if not killed off its ability to survive as a viable part of the state's economy. Thus the state has a stake in this, too. That's why top officials and legislators will have to come up with more than vague hedging in committing Texas to some $3 billion as its share. That will mean adding around $400,000,000 a year — or one-sixth — (for 20 years) to the state budget.

THUS, THE time of dreaming is fast drawing to an end, and in its place a time of decision. The zero hour on Texas water deficiency is only three decades away, and it will likely take this long to bring about the most massive water importation project in the history of man. The luxury of platitudes no longer will suffice, and starting Saturday some hard decision may have to be made.

David Lawrence Democratic Party In Trouble

WASHINGTON — The most significant of the public-opinion polls taken thus far in the presidential race has just been reported by the Gallup organization. It shows the results of two surveys taken in September which, when combined by the pollsters themselves, reveal what is happening outside the South and across the whole country. Nixon is leading with 43 per cent in the East, 50 per cent in the Midwest and 49 per cent in the Far West. Thus, he could lose the national election in 1968 because the Democrats are disunited and by their defections either to Wallace or Nixon have opened the way to a Republican victory.

WHILE WALLACE is ahead in the South with 38 per cent, Nixon is second with 31 per cent and Humphrey is third with 24 per cent. So it is still possible for even some of the Southern states to split their vote in such a way as to give Nixon some electoral votes.

But the most important figures are from the regions outside the South. Wallace's total in the Midwest is 16 per cent, as compared with Humphrey's 27 per cent and Nixon's 50 per cent, with only 7 per cent undecided. Wallace, however, slips to 12 per cent in the East as against Humphrey's 34 per cent and Nixon's 43, with 11 per cent undecided. Also, in the Far West Nixon gets 49 per cent, which is more than Humphrey's 33 per cent and Wallace's 13 per cent combined.

WHAT CAN BE inferred from the figures is that the Democratic party is really in trouble. The Gallup survey reports that in its latest poll, 12 per cent of the Democrats are defecting to Nixon and 18 per cent to Wallace while the Republican presidential nominee is losing only 2 per cent to Humphrey and only 7 per cent to Wallace.

Some of the defectors may go back to the two major parties before election day, but the Nixon percentage is substantial.

Holmes Alexander Nixon Seeks Confidence Vote

WITH THE CANDIDATES — He is now Richard the Conqueror. He is losing his cufflinks, the way Bob Kennedy did, when he thrusts both arms into the friendly crowds that surge around his motorcades and speaking podiums.

Dick Nixon has gained what he never had before, and that is a measure of popular adoration. He is no longer merely striving to win — but to win, oh, so big!

NIXON HAS gone shooting, in the Goldwaterian phrase, "where the ducks ark." They feed in the rich marshes among the tall buildings of the urban business centers where the glistening ticker tape and confetti come showering down and the gay balloons dance in the autumnal sunshine.

This is affluence Avenue, USA, where the ducks feast on the profits of the bankers and brokers, the merchants and contractors and salesmen. Nixon catches these people at the noon hour in city after city. Time seems to have rolled backward when America's business was business — as usual and the Republicans were the party of prosperity and the full-dinner pail.

ON SATURDAYS Nixon catches these same people in their suburban communities, with their wives, children and the high school hands.

How can he miss? Nixon has awakened the Forgotten American whom he described in his Miami Beach acceptance address, and re-describes several times daily. He is calling upon the non-rioter, the non-bearded, the draft-card keeper, the

BUT WHEN THE figures are closely examined, the conclusion which seems most logical is that the Republican party has shown an unusual form of solidarity this year after its breakup in 1964. It presents now the image of a party united behind a candidate who seems more popular than he was when he ran such a close race against John F. Kennedy in 1960. If Nixon were merely to retain the proportion of the popular vote he got in that year, he could lose the national election in 1968 because the Democrats are disunited and by their defections either to Wallace or Nixon have opened the way to a Republican victory.

SOMETIMES kaleidoscopic events which have not been foreseen change the whole aspect of a presidential election. So the organizations working for each of the three candidates are not going to diminish their efforts. In the next four or five weeks lots of money will be spent on television.

But there are signs that the public is becoming a bit bored with the campaign, especially its vague phrases and generalities.

THE TREND away from Humphrey may draw enough votes from Democratic congressional nominees, especially in the Northern and Western states, to cause many a Republican to win a seat. There is a good deal of talk here about the prospect of a Republican majority being elected for the next House of Representatives.

In the Senate, where only a third of the members are up for election, as is required every two years, the contest for control will be close, as many of the members elected in 1964 and 1966 were Democrats, who naturally are not running this year. A coalition, however, of Southern Democrats and Northern and Western Republicans probably will control the Senate on major issues.

(Copyright, 1968, Publishers - Hall Syndicate)

prompt taxpayer and flag-saluter. These are the common people of today, the multitudinous American middle class, and for them Nixon's is the one.

HE'S SO much their Number One that he can preach them little sermons in statesmanship.

Nixon's main message is that a Democratic war, Democratic inflation, a Democratic game away-all mean that "it's time for a change." But somewhere in the end of the message, he will preach to the rich about the poor, remind the suburbs there is a ghetto, and deliberately cross the color line with a good word about equality for the Negro.

THIS IS Nixon, the mandate-seeker. It is Nixon bidding to win, oh, so big, that he will be able to govern as we nostalgically like to recall the way Ike once governed. Nixon is dead serious on this point. The other day under questioning he let slip the fearful words "civil war" to describe the situation that would face a coming President, who won on merely a protest vote. Nixon was hinting at the George Wallace menace, and was spurning any temptation to out-Wallace the Southern Discomforter.

HE SEEKS a vote of confidence, which is all right. But he sometimes comes very close to assuming it, which is another matter. It would take a neo-Eisenhower to win an All-American, reunifying majority, and Nixon is no Latter Day Ike.

Judge To Select Winners Of Annual Barrow Show

Bobby Lee, Wilson High School FFA instructor and widely known judge for pig shows in this part of Texas, will have his work cut out for him tonight when he begins evaluating the 100 or more barrows entered in the 23rd Annual Howard County Barrow show at the county fair barns.

The animals being shown by the 4-H and FFA boys and girls of the county are of exceptional quality, according to Paul Gross, county farm agent, who is general superintendent. It will be up to Lee to pick the champions in the several classifications and to decide which of the animals is the grand champion of the competition. Judging begins at 7 p.m. today.

This is the first year in the history of the show that judging has been at night rather than during the afternoon. The public is invited to attend.

Thursday at 7 p.m., the auction sale will open, the climax and closing event of the two-day show. Thirty-six of the top pigs of the show will be sold for the highest and best bid. The sale is also open to the public.

An exceptionally attractive assortment of trophies and ribbons has been provided for the show to be awarded tonight.

There are eight classes in all in the show. Six of these are

Arbor Shelters Work Spelled Out

Arbor shelter units for the three rest areas on IS 20 in Howard County are to be built by the maintenance workers of the State Highway Department in the county and not by contractor, Joe Smoot, resident highway engineer, has announced.

He said that the arbor shelters are to be of the same general design used on the state and federal highways in the roadside parks.

Howard County has been allocated $12,000 to pay for the 12 shelters scheduled for construction in the near future. Eight of these shelters are slated for the dual rest areas on IS 20 about 10 miles west of the city limits. Four are slated for the rest area zone three miles east of Coahoma.

The program calls for the total expenditure of $100,000 in building the arbor shelters in rest areas on all of the state's IS roads.

Will Tour New Federal Building

Big Spring Kiwanians will tour the new Big Spring federal building at 12:30 p.m. Thursday.

The new building, costing approximately a million dollars, is due for completion in November.

She Is Pink Cycle Expert

There really is a little old lady from Detroit, but she wears boots instead of tennis shoes. And her means of transportation isn't the finest used car in the world, but a big 600-pound pink motorcycle.

She is Dot Robinson, a red-haired 55-year-old grandmother who is first vice president of the National Motormaids, a women's branch of the American Motorcycle Association.

She and her husband, Earl Robinson, a motorcycle dealer from Detroit, wheeled into Big Spring Tuesday en route to Los Angeles for a visit with Cecil Thixton, local motorcycle dealer.

She handled her huge machine quite well despite her 5-foot, 96-pound frame, but then she puts about 20,000 miles a year on her pink motorcycle.

After a short visit with Thixton, whom she first visited on a motorcycle trip through here by herself in 1939, Mrs. Robinson donned her pink crash helmet and joined her husband on their trip west. It was just a summer jaunt to California during their vacation.

Hubert Continues Attack On Wallace

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey is campaigning hard against George C. Wallace in the South—talking of Germany's Hitler and America's times of trouble.

Humphrey, calling Wallace a "creature of the most reactionary underground forces in American life," told a University of Tennessee audience:

"I say to you solemnly in the 1930s the reactionary forces of Germany thought they had found a man to speak for them, and a few years later, helped by an economic depression, that man had destroyed not only his creators but German democracy, the European balance of power, and the result was the carnage of World War II."

HOPE AND PRAY

"You say these things could never happen in America," Humphrey said. "I devoutly hope and pray that you are right. But I know from deep personal experience we are closer to this possibility than you would have ever believed possible."

An audience estimated at 11,000 turned out Tuesday night. The audience—mainly students—was friendly. There were boos when Humphrey first spoke of Wallace and applause when he said the University of Tennessee was the place to criticize Wallace.

Humphrey steered his campaign from the border state of Tennessee far below the Mason-Dixon line to Jacksonville, Fla.

HITS EXTREMISM

Here, the vice president continued his attack on Wallace, the third-party candidate for president.

"There are forces abroad in this land striving to divide and embitter our people—radical extremists of the right and left—demagogues who preach fear and hate and division," said Humphrey. Humphrey recalled he had seen extremists whose chants and shouts are aimed at disrupting meetings.

But, he added, "there is another form of radical extremism—just as dangerous, just as extremist of our liberties—the extremism of those who preach disrespect for our courts, for certain laws, who play to the basest fears and deepest suspicions of our people."

Humphrey said a strategy of organized hate "can lead America to disaster, just as surely as the radical tactics of the shouters and the disrupters."

Humphrey lashed at Wallace's record.

MURDER RATE

While Wallace is running on a platform of law and order, Humphrey said, as governor of Alabama he disobeyed courts, insulted judges, and headed a state "with the highest murder rate in the nation."

"He could not maintain order in his own state—where he had

Four Consignors To Annual Sale

Leland Wallace, Charlie Crighton, Hall Bar-H Ranch and James Coates will be consignors to the annual Concho Valley Hereford Association bull sale Nov. 4 in San Angelo.

The sale this year will be larger than usual with 123 bulls consigned. Of these, 103 will be horned and 20 are polled, said Wallace, Big Spring, president of the association.

Division Chairmen Mrs. Bob Galbraith, left, and Mrs. Ralph Caton are co-chairmen of the women's division for the 1968 United Fund Drive in Big Spring. The women's division officially opened its campaign Tuesday with a coffee at First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Foes Of U.S. Missile System Try Again To Block Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., leading the Senate fight against funds for the Sentinel antiballistic missile (ABM) system, said today the ultimate cost may be as much as $70 billion.

Noting that both critics and proponents now agree that the so-called "thin" Sentinel system is the first stage on a full antiballistic defense against possible attack from Russia, Cooper called for delay until all the facts are known.

"Once the ABM system is deployed," he said, "it will be difficult for Congress or the administration to reverse the full deployment of the Sentinel system."

His remarks were prepared for Senate delivery.

Cooper and Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., are sponsoring an amendment to cut $387.4 million in Sentinel procurement and deployment funds from the $7.9 billion defense appropriations bill as critics press their fourth try this year to block the project.

Their amendment is one of two aimed at Sentinel funds.

Another by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., would strike a full $700 million for initial Sentinel research and procurement.

Critics contend the Sentinel, estimated to cost $5 billion, already is technically outdated, and is merely the first step in a full ABM defense system against the Soviet Union that would cost between $30 billion and $40 billion.

Cooper contended in opening debate Tuesday that if the current Sentinel appropriation goes through, work on the full project probably will be "irreversible."

Attempts to cut Sentinel funds from three earlier bills—the military construction authorization and appropriation and the defense procurement authorization—were defeated earlier in the session.

Clark said his Sentinel fund cut amendment is one of ten he is pressing to cut $8.5 billion from the $71.9 billion defense money bill, a cut he said would not hurt the nation's security.

Clark's other nine amendments would trim funds for such items as bomber defense, surface-to-air missiles, helicopters, aircraft carriers and the Manned Orbiting Laboratory (MOL).

Nixon Launches Bid For Degree

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Campaigner Richard M. Nixon turned college lecturer today and said the nation needs leadership offering neither more nor less of the same but "an approach that is entirely different."

The Republican presidential nominee spoke to fewer than 200 people in a paneled colonial hall at William and Mary College, and told them it was an appropriate time to turn away from "the usual rally speeches."

Nixon said the American spirit it has always welled up in times of trouble with leaders with new ideas and we felt them we are ready to make any sacrifice required to set our nation right," he said.

He left the college through a line of students which included some hostile pickets, saying that he hoped to return with a degree from the Electoral College.

Nixon, maintaining his own Vietnam policy silence, says that about any way that Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey handles the war issue will be wrong.

Nixon's tactics are pointing at establishing a vise around his Democratic opponent's stand on the war in relation to the Johnson Administration's policies.

Instead, Nixon spoke of the American spirit and said that today that spirit strives for a restoration of personal freedom. "We must find a way to make government work for all of us without dominating any one of us," Nixon said.

He said that approach must be applied to welfare so that it will become a means of escape from dependency to dignity. Nixon said the flow of power should be reversed from Wash-

Slashed Check Inquiry Begins

Postal inspectors have been called into a case here involving the destruction of a government check, according to Big Spring Postmaster Frank Hardesty.

C. J. Nix, 110 Elm, reported to police Tuesday, his government check had been taken from an envelope in his mail box. The envelope was left in the box.

Officer John Minnick made the initial investigation and found the check torn into eight pieces in an alley near Nix's home.

"The check will be easy enough to replace," said Hardesty. "However, we must deal with the safety of the mail in home boxes."

The fact that a government check was taken makes little difference as far as the post office department investigation is concerned, Hardesty said. Postal inspectors would have been notified even if it had been a personal letter stolen.

Howard County's Fifth Screwworm Case Confirmed

Howard County's fifth screwworm case was confirmed this week and was reported in a herd of 300 cattle on the John Otis Chalk ranch in the southeastern corner of the county.

There have been 437 verified screwworm cases reported by the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program in Mission from Sept. 1-14, compared to only 26 during the same period in 1967.

There were 36 cases reported in Arizona, 14 in New Mexico and eight in California. In Texas, the fall build-up got off to an early start with heavy outbreaks in the Trans-Pecos and Big Bend areas. Fifty counties recorded cases during the period, however, with cases showing a spreading trend.

Officials of the program said ranchers can help reduce the outbreaks this fall by using preventive practices. Surgical operations which can be postponed until cold weather should be treated with products recommended against screwworms on the label. Spraying herds also will help reduce cases.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Can't Fool All
The People

DEAR ABBY: I am a young man of 29, if you can call 29 "young." I have plenty of hair around my ears, and also in the back, but I am very thin on top. Oh, let's face it, I'm bald!

I recently bought a very natural-looking hairpiece, and, if I say so myself, it improves my looks 100 per cent. I get along fine at dinner parties and shows, but what do I do when I'm invited to go swimming or boating with some of my new friends who don't know I wear a rug?

And how about when I'm making out with a girl and she wants to run her fingers through my hair? PHONY

DEAR PHONY: You can fool some of the people some of the time, but they're usually the wrong people, so don't try to fool anybody. Tell your new friends you've got store-bought locks, and carry on accordingly.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and my problem is that I come from a long line of "profuse perspirers." In other words we are champion sweaters.

My mother walks around the house all summer with a bath towel around her neck because she sweats so much. My married sister says, when she goes anywhere to play canasta the hostess says, "Let's use the old cards, Ruthie gets them all wet anyway."

My kid brother says he hates to hold a girl's hand in a movie because his is always so wet and clammy.

And I take the prize. I have to put my hair up every night because my head sweats and the curl won't hold. Is there a cure for this, or are we all hopeless? MARCIA

DEAR MARCIA: Perspiration apparently runs in your family. Sweat glands become overactive when the emotions are revved up. Talk to your doctor, he may be able to give you something to control it. If he can't, forget it. It may be something you will just have to sweat out.

DEAR ABBY: My problem isn't a big one but it irritates me to no end. After 12 years of marriage, my husband and I adopted a beautiful four-month-old baby. Every time we tell someone he is adopted, they say, "Oh, he's so sweet. How could his mother give him away?"

Abby, I'm so tired of hearing this I could scream! What can we say? Sign me... IRRITATED

DEAR IRRITATED: No really intelligent person would ever ask such a stupid question, and stupid questions don't deserve to be answered. But if you must say something, say "His mother gave him away because she loved him as much as we do."

DEAR ABBY: Aha, I knew if I followed your column long enough I would eventually catch you in a misstatement of fact.

You said, "No man ever proposed to a woman when his feet hurt."

Well, I did. On Christmas eve, 1935, I donned new clothes from head to foot for my date with Kathleen. My feet were killing me when I asked her to marry me. When she said yes, although I was walking on air, my feet still hurt.

Now, 32 years and three grandsons later, the first thing I do when I come home at night is to take off my shoes.

So, Abby, if you would like to correct the record and print this, go ahead. And I won't object if you use my real name. STAN MORRIS, VAN NUYS, CALIF.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Strangler Wants
To Halt Showing

BOSTON (AP) — Albert DeSalvo, who says he is the Boston Strangler, has asked the courts to halt the showing of a film based on the exploits of the strangler.

DeSalvo's lawyer, Thomas C. Troy, said the film invades his client's personal and private rights and its showing would prejudice any future trial DeSalvo might have.

The film, "The Boston Strangler," was made by 20th Century Fox and is to be released later this month.

DeSalvo, 36, says he was responsible for the deaths of 13 women in eastern Massachusetts between 1962 and 1964.

He is serving a life term in prison for assaults on four women. The assaults were not connected with the stranglings.

Should Firemen Carry Guns To Combat Mobs?

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Though some differences exist, some fire chiefs of America's large cities say that firemen should not be armed to combat crowd violence they encounter in fighting some fires.

All say a fireman can't fight a fire in front and watch the people in back.

OUR JOB

Detroit Fire Chief Charles J. Quinlan, whose city was hit by rioting in 1967, is one of those opposed to arming firemen.

"We can't enter into the psychological aspect of the riot," he says. "It's our job to save lives and property."

Quinlan, interviewed with several other chiefs attending the convention of the International Association of Fire Chiefs here, says he is strictly against arming firemen although he recalls ordering units away from fires because of snipers.

But Los Angeles Chief Raymond Hill has ordered 60 riot guns for firemen going into riot-prone areas. Each gun holds six cartridges, or seven with one in the chamber.

GET OUT

Hill says firemen should be able to defend themselves if they are trapped by a hostile crowd.

Most of the chiefs say it is the duty of policemen to furnish protection and most have arrangements where police carry answer fire calls. If no police protection is available and if a crowd at a fire turns ugly, the chiefs say they simply order their men to leave.

But even with sniping and rock-throwing, the chiefs say the morale and efficiency of their men has not suffered.

Henry Galotta, the just-retired chief of the Washington, D.C., fire department, said "the efficiency of any fire department in riot conditions depends on the amount of protection it gets allowing it to carry out its assignment unharassed."

Galotta said 17 men were hospitalized after the rioting in Washington which followed the assassination last April of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

But, he said, most of these men remained on the job until the episodes of violence were over.

'GOOD GUYS'

During disorders in Newark, N.J., in July of 1967 Capt. Michael Moran of the fire department was shot to death.

Always before, Chief Joseph Redden says, firemen have been accepted as "good guys" or protectors of life and property.

"Since 1967," he says, "we men by covering their faces with tough, clear plastic shields, their necks and ears with high collars and their hands with gloves."

Fire departments now are taking measures to protect fire-

San Antonio Symphony Makes Second Visit Here

After a too-long absence, the San Antonio Symphony will reappear here Dec. 16 as the second of the current Big Spring Concert Association series.

When it came here last a decade ago, the orchestra was under the baton of a young conductor, Victor Alessandro, who had succeeded its founder, Max Reiter. He and the orchestra were a tremendous hit, and some still remember the final portion of the program, Tchaikovsky's "Capriccio Italiano."

As proficient as any symphony orchestra which has appeared here, the San Antonio troupe had an enthusiasm and vivacity which touched a responsive chord here. Of course, a lot of it was the product of Dr. Alessandro.

In the intervening years, both the conductor and the orchestra have achieved a richness of maturity which has won acclaim all over the nation.

This year there will be an added attraction, Drusilla Huffmaster, native Texas pianist who has won international acclaim and has been guest soloist with such leading orchestras as National Symphony, Houston, Julliard, etc. Miss Huffmaster is to be the soloist here.

Dr. Alessandro has filled numerous guest engagements from coast to coast, but he has never shirked his and the orchestra's responsibility at home. Each spring they give a complete music series, including an opera. In its own auditorium it presents 15 subscription concerts annually, plus concerts which attract 200,000 students a year, also a series of pops concerts. This year the orchestra is undertaking a week-long grand opera festival.

John Corigliano, former concert master of the New York Philharmonic, has been appointed concert master for the San Antonio orchestra, adding a new dimension to it.

Season tickets ($10 and $4) may be had by calling Mrs. R. W. Caton (267-2301). Other programs include the operas, "Cactus Flower," Broadway hit comedy starring Jeannie Carson and Biff McGuire; the Pennsylvania Ballet with five talented dancers and musicians Monday, Feb. 3; and the Paul Winter Contemporary Consort, a new adventure in sound, Friday, March 28.

County To Build First Fire Station

Howard County Commissioners took steps on Monday to expand the county's rural fire protection operations.

Bids will be opened Oct. 14 for a fire station to house the third of the county's fleet of four fire trucks. This new station will be located on a lot the county acquired some time ago in the vicinity of Jonesboro Road on the northeast edge of the city.

The county has a fire truck stationed in Knott where the Knott Community Club found available storage space for the equipment in the old Knott school gym; in Sand Springs where the county and the community cooperatively built a station. The other two are maintained temporarily at the county barn.

The commissioners had hopes of finding a suitable place for a station in Commissioner Precinct 3, but so far no solution has been found.

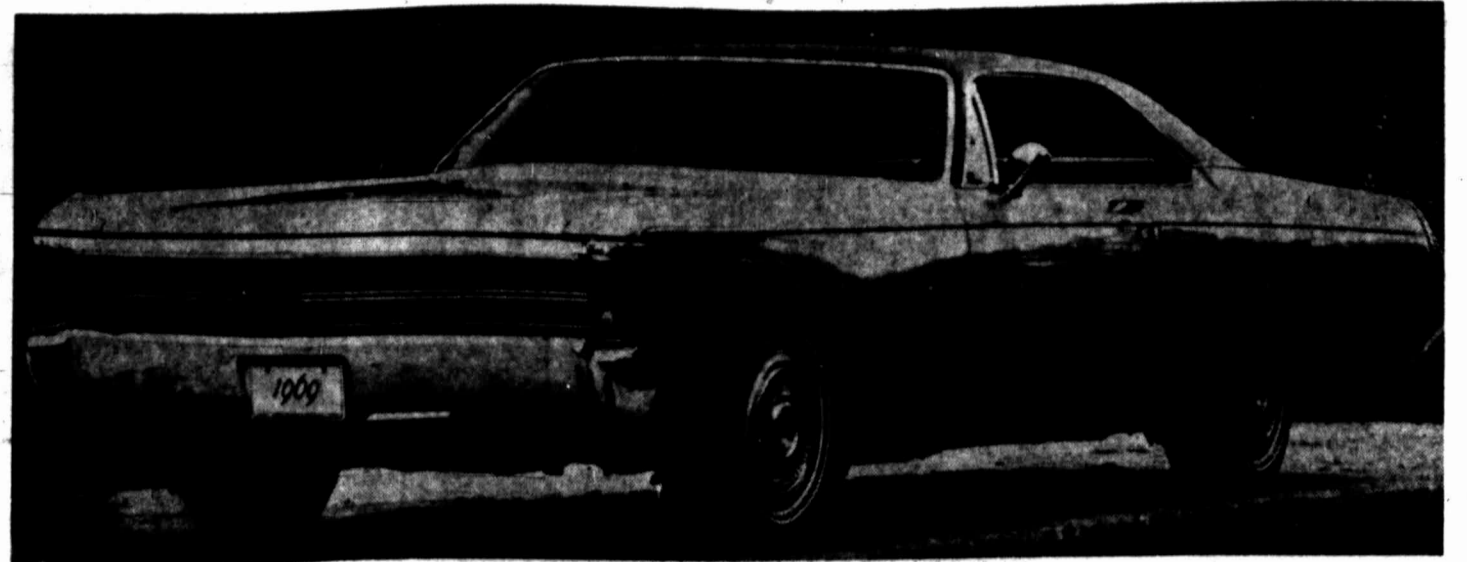

The trucks are manned by volunteer organizations and make runs when a rural fire breaks out.

Airlines Map More Flights

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Frontier Airlines has arranged to serve Paris with two flights daily with new 53-passenger Convair 580 turbo-jets—and will offer two additional flights daily through a unique supplemental plan with new 17-passenger Beech 99 turboprops.

The present Convair Dart turboprops and the older DC3 planes will be phased out, Paul Jones, assistant to the president of Frontier airlines, announced.

Paris set a new record for monthly boardings of Frontier during August with 292 passengers, plus more than 11,000 pounds of air freight.

Contemporary Classic

The Imperial for 1969, including this LeBaron hardtop, is available in three models. The modern styling and traditional elegance are coupled with a full range of luxury options.

Imperials More Luxurious, Available In 3 Models

Imperial for 1969 is all new and longer and more luxurious, reflecting its manufacturer's determination to gain a larger share of the luxury-car market.

With an over-all length of 229.7 inches, Imperial is more than five inches longer than last year. The wheelbase is 127 inches. There are three models: the Crown four-door sedan, the LeBaron four-door hardtop and the LeBaron two-door hardtop.

The new fuselage styling is apparent from any angle. An identifying feature from the rear is the wide, thin tail lamp inset in the massive bumper which completely surrounds it.

The wipers are concealed for greater beauty and in 1969 are articulated, extending the lower left side of the wiped windshield surface by four inches. A new motor on a three-speed wiper completes a full wiper sweep before stopping.

Imperial's interior is formal and luxurious. The new dashboard places dials and instruments within easy reach of the driver, and its floodlighting uses ultraviolet filters to illuminate the various numerals.

Top quality upholstery fabrics and 21 interior trim combinations make Imperial interiors as elegant as the exterior, and a new foam-pillow built into the inside of the rear roofline provides safety and long-trip comfort for rear seat passengers.

All models have a standard 440-cubic-inch V-8 engine, complemented by a number of mechanical advances in this year's Imperial. Among them are:

A transistorized voltage regulator for more consistent electrical output from the alternator.

Improved Sure-Grip differential.

Optional fiberglass belted tires which increase tread life and fuel economy.

A new, more powerful, power steering pump.

A door lock control moved forward on the doors of the two-door LeBaron hardtop for greater ease of operation.

A Post type door latch, designed to withstand 30 g's inertial load from any direction, and much quieter in operation than previous latches.

Suspended accelerator pedals for easier cleaning of the driver's compartment.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Shot over the floor and I knew he was still in there." He stepped outside the bank planning to direct other arriving officers to surround the area.

Law Enforcement Collapse Feared

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Law enforcement, says Baltimore State's Atty. Charles E. Moylan Jr., is "overextended to the point of collapse."

"But murders, rapes, robberies and burglaries have very little to do with the crisis," Moylan said in a 45-page annual report.

Moylan listed other crime waves as commercial frauds, traffic violations, evasions of city and state taxes, juvenile violations, nonsupport offenses, commercialized vice and crimes related to alcohol which raises the question of whether alcoholics can be guilty of crime.

"Almost blindly," Moylan said, "we are approaching 21st century problems of industrialized, swarming urban complexes with 17th century institutions that were shaped to meet the needs of an English countryside."

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SECTION B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1968 SECTION B

Wild Antiwar Protesters Say They Will Be Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of antiwar protesters who, led by a half-naked Yippee wearing love beads and bands of live ammunition, disrupted a House Committee on Un-American Activities hearing say they are coming back for more.

Fourteen protesters and attorneys were tossed out of a HUAC subcommittee hearing Tuesday after a day of taunting committee members and witnesses who testified that demonstrations during the Chicago National Convention were aimed at creating anarchy.

LOVE BEADS

The hearings got off to a bizarre start when Jerry Rubin, leader of the Youth International Party—Yippie—showed up naked to the waist, wearing love beads and bands of live ammunition strung around his shoulders. He also carried a toy rifle in his hand.

He was hauled from the hearing room, but was allowed to return after he got rid of the ammunition.

He and 13 other persons were later invited to leave for good when they stood in a silent protest against the committee.

The hearings resume Thursday after a break today for a Jewish holy day. Rubin and the others, many of whom have been ordered to testify, say they will return Thursday.

Rubin was thrown out of a 1966 investigation of antiwar protests when he showed up in a rented Revolutionary War costume.

TAUNTS

Between taunts from Rubin

Speech Moods Of A Black Panther

Eldridge Cleaver, Black Panther party minister of information and the party's nominee for President of the United States, appeared this way at Stanford University and the others in the audience and procedural objections by lawyers in the audience, the subcommittee headed by Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., heard testimony on the bloody clashes between demonstrators and police during the Democratic convention in Chicago.

Memorial Auditorium last night as he delivered a lecture, punctuated by four letter words, to more than 1,700 students and spectators.

Ichord started the hearings by reading a statement saying the committee had evidence even before the demonstrations that leaders were "determined to effect a general breakdown in law and order preparatory to their long range objective of seizing the powers of government."

James L. Gallagher, an investigator for the committee, testified the aims of the demonstrators "were clearly compatible with the policies of Hanoi, Peking and Moscow."

Sgt. Joseph Brubisic of the Chicago police department said minutes of a pre-demonstration meeting recorded organizer

Tom Hayden as saying the protestors "should have people organized who can fight the police, should be willing to get arrested."

Ichord ordered police to escort the demonstrators and their lawyers from the room when the group insisted on standing in silent protest because of what they called "the rapping of the constitution by the committee."

NO DOUBT

Afterwards, Ichord said, "They were no doubt trying to seek a confrontation with this committee and the police. I highly doubt they are going to gain any sympathy from the objective press and the American public."

Ichord said he hoped the hearings could end Friday.

During Tuesday's hearing, Rubin and another Yippie leader, Abbie Hoffman, constantly mocked the committee.

Depending on the testimony, Rubin would give out either a low hiss or a low cheer.

Hoffman, who had a bullwhip taken from him upon entering the room, jumped up on two occasions to yell: "Mr. Chairman, that man has a loaded gun," pointing to a policeman. "They took ours away, but your team kept theirs."

On another occasion, when the lawyers were making points of order, Hoffman rose to say: "Mr. Chairman, may I be excused to go to the bathroom?" Ichord warned spectators they'd have to leave if they weren't quiet. Shortly afterwards, Hoffman rose and said: "I'm going to have an emotional outburst. Can I do it here or must I go outside?"

Flying Campaign Tour Under Way

AUSTIN (AP) — Doug DeCluit, GOP candidate for lieutenant governor, begins a 16-city flying campaign tour today with a visit to the state Capitol.

Thursday he plans to visit Port Arthur, Bryan, Abilene, San Angelo and El Paso. Friday he will be in El Paso, Midland, Amarillo and Wichita Falls. On Saturday he will campaign in Sherman, Texarkana and Lufkin before returning to his home in Waco.

Big Spring Hospital Will Be Represented

Big Spring State Hospital will be well represented at the Volunteer Services Council annual meeting Friday through Sunday in San Antonio with 23 persons from here attending and two on the program.

Dr. Frankie Williams, clinical director, will speak on "What Generation Gap?" and Mrs. Larry Cheatham, assistant volunteer coordinator, will be on a panel discussing rehabilitation at state hospitals. She will tell of the sewing classes and personal adjustment classes at the hospital here in which volunteers are involved.

Attending the meeting from Big Spring State Hospital are Dr. Williams, Mrs. Lillian Hall, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cheatham, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Cochran and John Kegerreis, all hospital personnel.

Four young boys were returned to the custody of their parents after being charged in corporation court with destruction of private property Tuesday.

The boys, 10, 9, and two 7-year-olds, were charged with entering a house on the old San Angelo Road owned by Mrs. W. D. McDonald.

Police also investigated vandalism to the front door of the Marion Treadway home, 1802 Graf. Someone tossed a rock through the glass in the door.

Gas Is Stolen From Church Bus

Kenneth Curry, 207 E. 9th, reported four wire-spoke hub caps stolen from his car near his home Monday night. The Rev. Byron Orand of the College Baptist Church reported gas had been taken from the tank of the church's bus which was parked in the church's parking lot Monday night.

Smith Rally In Big Spring Due Monday

An area-wide rally for Preston Smith, Democratic nominee for governor, is scheduled in Big Spring Monday, party leaders have announced.

Among the highlights of Smith's visit will be an informal reception in his honor, to be held at the Settles Hotel from 4 to 5 p.m. that day. Local Democratic leaders said the public is invited to appear and meet the nominee.

The affair is being planned to include groups of Smith supporters from Borden, Scurry, Mitchell and Sterling counties as well as Howard.

Monday evening at 7:30, Smith is scheduled to address the Big Spring Teachers Association, and the president of the unit, Mrs. Loyce Phillips, said the public is invited to attend. Smith has been asked to give his views on legislation affecting education, and to discuss the recent report of the Governor's Committee for educational improvement.

The night session will be in the high school auditorium.

Fifteen Traffic Offenders Fined

In corporation court this morning, 28 cases were heard. Four people booked on the city's suspicious persons ordinance were released. Fifteen traffic defendants were fined a total of $197.

Boyd Is Promoted To Plant Manager

O. M. Prigmore, manager of U.S. Carbon Black Plants, today announced the promotion of Robert S. Boyd to plant manager of Cabot Corporation's Dixon plant here. He succeeds A. R. Davenport who retired Monday after 35 years.

Boyd received his BS degree in chemical engineering from the University of Texas in 1950. He joined Cabot's Research and Development operations at Pampa after graduation from the university and served in various capacities in research and development and at Pampa Carbon Black Plant as well as the Dixon plant. His most recent assignment has been as assistant plant manager for the Dixon plant.

Boyd was reared in Houston and completed his high school education there before going into the U.S. Navy in 1944 and earning his commission as ensign at age 19. Not long after he had completed his work at the University and had gone to work with Cabot, he was recalled to service and emerged following the Korean crisis as a lieutenant.

In 1956 he went from research to plant operation at Pampa, then came here in 1959 as superintendent of manufacturing and processing. He was married in 1955 to

ROBERT S. BOYD

Sarah Parker at Pampa and they have two sons, Douglas, 11, and Glenn, 8, and reside at 615 Highland. The boys are members of the First United Methodist Church and he is a member of the official board. He also is a member of the American Society of Chemical Engineers, and when he has time he indulges in hobbies of golf and photography.

Wedding Solemnized In Amarillo Church

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Howard Johnson are at home at 5600 A. Jeff Davis, Austin, following their marriage Saturday afternoon in the Chapel of Trinity Baptist Church in Amarillo.

The bride, the former Miss Janet Gay Tedford, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Tedford, 3304 Cornell, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Johnson of Amarillo. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Norris Onstead before an altar graced with basket arrangements of chrysanthemums and gladioli.

Mrs. Forrest Stockdale, organist, accompanied Miss Joan Craig and Miss Susie Benton as they sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a long sleeved Empire gown with bodice of reemboiled Alencon lace and skirt of peau de soie. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a headpiece of tiny bells and ribbon loops, and she carried a cascade arrangement of gardenias and white Sweetheart roses.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Charles Dehn of Lubbock was matron of honor and wore a dress of green lace over taffeta. The bridesmaid, Miss Mickey Williamson, was identically gowned, and both carried cascade bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

The best man was Michael Pugh, and Bob Joe was groomsmen. The ushers were Greg Brown of Houston and Woody Berry and Johnny Joe. The bride's niece, Kerri Dehn of Lubbock, was flower girl.

Mrs. Walter Wheat, home economist for Texas Electric Service Company, demonstrated electric cooking at Tuesday's meeting of the Conoco Wives Club in the Reddy Room.

Mrs. Wheat used the electric blender, electric skillet with broiler cover and the electronic range. Dinner was served, and cook books were distributed to the members.

Hostesses were Mrs. Albert Medlin and Mrs. Stewart Anderson. The invocation was given by Mrs. O. N. Groen.

The next meeting will be Nov. 5 when members will begin work on Christmas decorations in the First Federal Community Room.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

If the neighbors that I borrow things from regularly ever looked like some of the women in the commercials it might break me from borrowing. The less they know about the product the more ridiculous they act.

MRS. A. E. TRUE writes that her husband, who recently had a heart attack at Sumter, N.C., has now been moved to a Veterans Administration Hospital in Columbia, S.C. It was only a 30-mile trip, and he stood it very well. She says that although he is very weak he feels well. At present they don't know when he will be able to come back home.

MRS. ROBERT FULLER and her daughters, Mishel and Melissa, returned Monday from a ten-day visit in Ruidoso, N.M. They were the guests of MR. and MRS. STORMY EDWARDS. Mr. Edwards came for them in his plane and flew them back home.

MRS. CATHERINE MONROE left Saturday for her home in Bakersfield, Calif., after visiting her last week with her mother, MRS. H. S. HANSON.

MRS. LAJUAN HORTON FLEMING and her children are visiting with her mother, MRS. LOUISE HORTON.

Had a lengthy telephone visit with MRS. HAROLD LYTLE who was just leaving for Monahan after spending a day and night here to see her uncle, ULNER POWELL, who is a patient at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Lytle and two friends were en route to their homes in San Bernardino, Calif., after an extensive trip to Nassau then back through the Carolinas, the Smoky Mountains and Tennessee. They have been away from home for three weeks. The party planned to visit the RESTON SLIGHS, Mrs. Lytle's brother, in Monahan.

From Natural Bridge, N.Y., a short note from the MILLER HARRISES saying they had a wonderful trip into Canada and had come back to the U.S. at Niagara Falls. He is hoping to pass a minor miracle and get tickets for a World Series game in Detroit and is to find out Thursday.

Friends here will remember DR. CHARLES MILLER JR. formerly at the VA Hospital and now county health officer at Conroe. Joe Parsley, editor of the Conroe Courier, recently paid quite a tribute to Dr. Miller for organizing a polio immunization program that had to depend heavily on volunteers and donations. Describing Dr. Miller's concern in trying to reach children who might live too far from the clinics and not have transportation, he observed that "he is one of the most conscientious persons I have met in a long time. He is a dedicated professional in every sense of the word."

Coffee Held For Bride

Mrs. Gary Mitchell, the former Miss Jane Anderson, was honored with a coffee Saturday morning in the home of Mrs. J. O. McCrary, 708 W. 16th. Mrs. Ben F. Johnson was co-hostess.

Greeting guests at the door were the hostess, the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Roy C. Anderson. The bride was attired in an off-white knit suit and was presented a white carnation corsage. Her mother was given a pink carnation corsage. Pink and white were the bride's chosen colors.

The table was laid with a pink cloth, accented with silver threads, and centered with a bridal figurine. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

The hostess' gift was a jam and jelly set. Assisting in the house party were Miss Dana McCrary and Miss Cynthia Stephens. Approximately 70 were included on the guest list.

Newcomers View Shell Collection

Mrs. G. K. MacConnell presented the program at Tuesday's meeting of Newcomers Club at Cosden Country Club. Mrs. MacConnell, an amateur conchologist, displayed her collection of shells from all over the world.

During bridge play, winners were Mrs. MacConnell, first; Mrs. Noel Shelton, second; and Mrs. W. M. Skaggs, bridge-o. Guests introduced were Mrs. Gerald Fetter, Mrs. Gary Hamilton, Mrs. John O'Dell, Mrs. James G. Hunley and Mrs. Mark Farneau.

Junior Tri-Hi-Y Elects Officers

Brenda Thomas was elected president of Junior Tri-Hi-Y Tuesday at the YMCA. Other officers include Nancy Smith, vice president; Patti Womack, secretary; Lisa Burnett, sergeant at arms; Sue Smith, chaplain; and Elaine Oliver, treasurer. Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr. will host a Coke party for the group Oct. 12 at 1 p.m.

A LOVELIER YOU Help For Your Skin To Get Out Of Tan

By MARY SUE MILLER
What a beauty boon it would be if we could discard a fading tan with the ease we discard a faded dress. Just slip out and be done!

Tans on the wane are such a drag, rendering the complexion sallow and leathery for many weeks. But here's where a few cosmetic measures overcome or at least soften appearances:

1. To combat sallowing, compress cold water to the face upon arising. This rouses circulation and brings up new color and resilience. For a booster, apply a stimulation cream twice weekly at any convenient hour.
2. Dry, leathery conditions respond to moisturized night creams and fluids. Quick results come from first steaming the face and then massaging with moisturizer for five minutes.
3. To improve the skin coloring until it gets back to normal, there are several useful makeup items. Light-as-liquid foundation creams in stick form do a splendid job of blending uneven color and brightening the general tone. Just be sure your stick is laced with pink and gleams with highlights.

Miss Helen Ewing Given Life Pin

Miss Helen Ewing was presented a life membership pin Tuesday by the members of the Women's Society of Christian Service at Wesley United Methodist Church. Mrs. Ben Boadle presided and made the presentation.

Mrs. Don Crockett presented the program, "A Service of Celebration - Charter Meeting," and members signed the charter at the close of the service. Others on the program were Mrs. Druce Cawthon, Mrs. W. D. Lovelace, Mrs. J. C. Ray, Mrs. Howard Berry and Mrs. Boadle.

Prayer was led by Mrs. M. O. Hamby, and Mrs. Rene Brown sang a solo with Miss Ewing playing the piano accompaniment.

Plans were made for a garage sale to be held Sept. 9 at the church.

Ole Miss Is Given Nod Over Alabama

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — The college football schedule-makers will have a hard time topping last week's Purdue-Notre Dame brawl this season.
But this Saturday's grid pairings could produce some fireworks too, with Southern California, Penn State, UCLA and Alabama among the nationally-ranked powers facing formidable rivals.

We're back in the pass pocket again after scrambling for short yardage last weekend in the forecasting league. The completion record to date is 93-28.7... a 725 clip if you count the ties against us.
The picks:

John McGregor (63) and Jim Fryar (64) give the 120-pound Paul Hopper a ride to emphasize the difference in size of some of the football players at Sands High School. McGregor weighs 240, Fryar a mere 225. The Mustangs oppose Imperial in Ackerly Friday night.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Last weekend against Ector, Big Spring started out like the Confederacy's debacle at Appomattox and wound up not unlike a Jeb Stuart cavalry charge into Union territory.

The Steers could do little right the first half, although they showed a fierce determination on defense, and little wrong the last two quarters. They made a real cohesive effort. Their blocking improved. If they play with the same spirit of togetherness in their remaining games, the sky's the limit.

The locals still need to improve their passing game. Their fingers are not getting enough time to seek out their targets and the receivers are running in too much traffic.
Their option plays still are prone to make their friends shudder simply because their quarterbacks cannot or do not take the time to see where they are delivering the ball but perfection in that phase of the game comes only with exhaustive practice. The opposition has been scouting that particular maneuver with the result that it has been diagnosing correctly and crashing through to make the tackle at just the right time. Local scouts insist the enemy has been guessing correctly all too often.

The improvement in the club's tackling and blocking was enough to delight even the most casual observer. Granted that Ector tried for the knockout punch early and spent its strength, the manner in which the Steers dominated play after the intermission was shocking.

Looking back, the two big plays of the game had to be Ken Barfield's interception and return of an Alex Bitolas-throw pass in the third period that led to Big Spring's first TD and that blocked punt by Emmitt Miller which opened the door to Big Spring's second TD.

Several 15 yard penalties called against Big Spring could be charged to the Steers' zeal and not their penchant for mischief.
The Longhorns wanted that one very badly. They went at it the hard way—by first falling ten points behind.

An incensed letter writer aimed a missive at this window over the weekend taking issue with several of the 15 names projected for the Sports Hall of Honor by the Big Spring Ex-Letterman's Association.

Because the writer's name is indecipherable and because he included no return address on the envelope, the letter's contents cannot be printed here.

The author, however, apparently adopts the attitude that I had a role in shaping the list of nominations. Nothing could be farther from the truth, although I certainly would not take issue with those who did prepare the list. I am not a member of the Ex-Letterman's Association but admire very much what it is seeking to do—rivet attention and respect on the fine traditions local teams and individuals have built down through the years.

It so happened that the most of the organizers of the association were in school here some time during the '50's. One could hardly expect them to know too much about the athletic talent that proceeded them by 10 to 20 years.
The first nominations made by the committee will be no means the last ones. As I understand it, other names will be put for a vote each year. Those who think their favorites have been slighted have every right to offer their nominations—if they are members of the association, that is.

The writer accused this department of lending dignity to such an organization by publicizing it. It is a newspaperman's job to write about the news, not make it—or so I have been told.
The originator of the letter maligns the names of several people who have made major contributions to the athletic heritage of the school. I certainly would take issue with him about that.
The association, of course, consists of people who are no longer in school or associated with it. It is a private organization and its officers, as I see it, can conduct their business in any way they choose. I do know that the last thing they want to do is slight someone or hurt their feelings.
The voice of dissent would do better to direct his complaints directly to the association's officers. Honest debate never hurt anyone. I do not profess to be jurist or jury.

SWC 11's Go In For Big Offenses

By The Associated Press
The Southwest Conference statistics reflect the current trend in college football: grass-gobbling offenses and rather porous defenses.

Southern Methodist and its pass-happy quarterback Chuck Hixson are riddling the record books with his bullet tosses. Hixson completed 37 of 69 passes for 417 yards against Ohio State last week to set three individual marks. The total of 76 attempts and 40 completions for 437 yards were new team records.

Jerry Levias caught 15 passes against the Buckeyes, bettering the SWC mark of 13.
Hixson now leads in total offense with 695 yards. He has 700 yards passing and a minus five yards in the rushing department. SMU is the team leader in total offense with a 457.5 yard average.

Texas A&M has the best team defense, allowing an average of 304 yards per game.
The Mustangs' total offense of 915 yards is the most accumulated by a SWC team in two games since the 1961 Longhorns gained 967.

Arkansas is the hottest scoring team with a two-game total of 88.
In 1928, the seven SWC teams scored a total of 356 points in their entire league schedules. The same seven, excluding Tech, have 351 to their credit through only two games.

Norman Bulsich of Texas Christian leads the rushers with 154 yards in 20 carries.
Steve O'Neal of Texas A&M leads the punters with an average of 46.4 yards on 14 boots.

Larry Alford of Texas Tech is the top punt return specialist with 208 yards on seven returns for a 29.7 average. Gordon Utgard of Baylor is the best at returning kickoffs — six for 125 yards for a 29.8 average.

Evans Is Close To Scoring Lead

Ricky Smith, Lubbock Cooper, is tops in scoring in District 5-A with 36 points while his teammate, Emmitt Cardenas, is tied for second with 24.

Also deadlocked for second place is Ricky Evans, Coahoma halfback.

HE'S HAPPY

Kaline Assigned Starting Spot

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Al Kaline would shift center fielder Mickey Stanley to shortstop, move Jim Northrup from right to center and return Kaline to his old post.
"I think it's worth the gamble to get Kaline into the line-up," Smith said. "We'll need as much firepower as we can get against a guy like Gibson."
"This move was not made out of sentimentality toward Kaline," Kaline, a Detroit fixture since he won the AL batting title at the age of 21 in 1955—his second major league season—convicted Smith he was ready to produce in the Series during the Tigers' final set with Washington last weekend. He drilled eight hits in the three-game series to finish with a .287 average, tops among Detroit regulars.

"I didn't go to Mayo and tell him I wanted to play in the Series," Kaline said. "But I thought I might have a chance because he told me some time ago not to worry and to keep working out in right field."

AL KALINE

Cepeda, Stanley Are Beset With Problems

ST. LOUIS (AP)—While Bob Gibson and Denny McLain squirmed in the World Series spotlight today, another Cardinal and another Tiger fidgeted with their own problems.
Orlando Cepeda's stems from his hitting and Mickey Stanley's from his fielding.
Cepeda is the St. Louis first baseman who's built a reputation as a lusty hitter during the season but a failure as a hitter during the Series.
Stanley is the Detroit center fielder who's become known for his defensive ability in center field but who suddenly must do the same thing at shortstop.

In today's first game of the World Series, Cepeda's job was to try and help power 13-shutout Gibson past 31-game winner McLain. Stanley, on the other hand, was responsible for not letting any Cardinal hits get past him.

Cepeda the National League's Most Valuable Player last year after batting .325, managed only three hits in 29 at-bats against Boston, giving him a two-series total of 6-for-48, or .125, and three runs batted in.

This year has been a lot different for him because he plummeted to .248.
"It's just one of those things," said Cepeda. "I wanted to do better, but I couldn't. I knew what I was doing. I got some bad habits. I just keep trying to get rid of them and hoping, but nothing helped."

Stanley, meanwhile, must concentrate on the defensive part of his game. After all, today was only the ninth time in his career he's been a shortstop.

He's there because Tiger Manager Mayo Smith wanted to get Al Kaline's bat into the lineup. With Kaline going to right, Jim Northrup switched to center and Stanley to the infield.

The 26-year-old Tiger first played short in late August, then worked there the last six games of the season.
"I'm really happy Mayo had enough confidence to try me there," Stanley said. "If he wasn't afraid, I shouldn't be."
Smith also indicated that if anything goes wrong, he'll pull Stanley, move him back to center and put Ray Oyler at short.

"Remember, this is for Wednesday," the manager said about what still can be classed as an experiment. "It won't necessarily be the same on Thursday."
For Thursday's second game, the last before the teams move to Detroit, Smith plans to use Mickey Lolich, 17-9, as his pitcher while Cardinal Manager Bill Schoendienst is ready with Nelson Briles, 10-11, winner of last year's third game.

This year's third game pitchers on Saturday will be Earl Wilson, 13-12, for Detroit and Ray Washburn, 14-8, for St. Louis.

Garland Braun, who scouted Lubbock High School, told the boosters that the Westerners could and should be tough for the Steers to handle this week because, like Big Spring, they will be trying to improve upon a 1-2 record.

Lubbock lost to Midland Lee, 21-14, and beat Ector, 13-7. Braun said, and "Ector shouldn't have scored on them."
The Westerners have speed to burn in a tailback named Randy Williams, who is prone to go right up the middle as well as to the outside.

Lubbock also has a fine fullback in Ronnie Caldebaugh, a 170-pounder who has average speed but who does everything he tries well.
Other coaches present gave progress reports on their teams.
The meeting attracted a fine turnout.

Barnes tries field goals for the Owls, as well as extra points, and has scored four touchdowns.
Two Stanton players, Benny Avery and David Jones, are tied for fourth place in the derby, each with 18 points.

Henderson Wings To Series Site

Keith Henderson, manager of the Bowl-A-Rama here, flies out here Thursday for Detroit where he will witness that city's home games of the World Series.
Henderson will meet his brother, A. C., of Shallowater, Okla., in Dallas and they will see the Series together.
Keith formerly resided in Detroit. For that reason, it's not hard to figure out which team he'll be rooting for.

Billie Dillon Medalist In Fems' Club Tourney

Billie Dillon captured medalist honors in the annual Women's Club Golf championship tournament at the Country Club Tuesday with a 79 but faces a stern challenge for the title from Pat Drake.
After 18 holes of play, Mrs. Drake is only two strokes off the pace. The 1968 title will be determined after 54 holes of play ending Thursday.

Third place is held by Bette Jones, who fashioned an 86, while newcomer Diane Rankin is fourth in the 11-player championship flight with a 92. Considering the fact that Miss Rankin was playing the local course for only the sixth time, her score was considered remarkable.

Mrs. Drake shares the course record of 73 with Ida Mae Powell of San Angelo and always plays the Country Club well.

Nine clubs are in the nine-hole flight and leaders in that division will not be established until today.

Steers Praised For Late Effort

"Our kids showed so much spirit after the half in the Ector game and in the dressing room following it, we were afraid they would hurt each other more than they would get hurt by the opposition," coach Spike Dykes told members of the Quarterback Club at Tuesday night's session in the high school cafeteria.

"We could tell at the half they were ready to play ball. Up until that time, they had been going through the motions. They have worked hard all year but for the first time (in the second half against Ector) they played like we know they are capable of playing," the coach added.

"When we went to the dressing room trailing 10-0, we didn't know what to think. No one gave up in the first half but we just hadn't been playing good ball. We (the coaches) felt that maybe we had over-estimated (the ability) of a lot of people. But, in the last half, we got with it and the boys proved what they're capable of doing."

Big Spring wound up winning the game, 28-10, and held Ector without a first down following the intermission.

Dykes said the Steers' injury situation could be better. Tackle Coleman Nalls has had a broken hand for two weeks. Both guard Gary Crane and end Snake Tucker have knee miseries while fullback Jimmy Wilson has a toe he injured in the dressing room following the game, at which time a table leg crashed down on it.

"We are closer to having a good team now than we were this time a year ago," Dykes said emphatically. "We need to improve our passing, however. Our downfield blocking has improved. Our tackling was good against Ector. Often we would have seven or eight boys in on one tackle."

Dykes had special words of praise for such operatives as Danny Plattie, Milton Arriola, Gary Hinds, Leonard Basco, Robert Dennis, Emmitt Miller, Cliff Cook, Luven Flores, Roy Lee Warren, Johnny Patton, Mike Barnes, Tommy Switzer, Charlie Lewis, Steve Russell, Jimmy Farris and Tony Dean to name a few.

Lubbock lost to Midland Lee, 21-14, and beat Ector, 13-7. Braun said, and "Ector shouldn't have scored on them."
The Westerners have speed to burn in a tailback named Randy Williams, who is prone to go right up the middle as well as to the outside.

Van Brocklin Named Coach

ATLANTA (AP) — Norm Van Brocklin takes over the football fortunes of the Atlanta Falcons with promises of plenty of power and plenty of time to turn them into a top team.
The National Football League's passing whiz of the '50s demanded—and got—a long-term contract of a reported five years, full control of the team and a free hand in future scouting, trading and drafting of players.

Van Brocklin, 42, apparently has been in contact with Atlanta owner Rankin Smith of several weeks.
Smith, who has been unhappy for some time with the performance of the Falcons under Norb Hecker, fired Hecker and hired Van Brocklin after published reports that such a change was upcoming.

"Let's just say that the newspaper stories speeded things up," said Smith, whose Falcons have won but four games since they joined the NFL in 1966.
Van Brocklin, who arrived in Atlanta Tuesday night, indicated that the job of Randy Johnson—who has quarterbacked the Falcons since their founding—may be in jeopardy. Van Brocklin said, "I'm as high as a Georgia pine on Bob Berry."

TEXAS SUFFERED, AS RESULT

Dowdy Emerging

By The Associated Press
One of the more exciting phenomena witnessed by a record crowd of 50,167 in Lubbock last weekend, was Tech sophomore Bruce Dowdy changing from a question mark into an exclamation point.
Dowdy started the season as an unknown quantity, a replacement at defensive end for injured George Cox. Coach J. T. King placed a question mark at the position. "Wait and see," he said.
SAW PLENTY
Everybody saw plenty as the rowdy Raiders squashed Texas 31-22 Saturday. Things like Dowdy throwing a key block to spring safety Larry Alford loose for an 84-yard punt return for a touchdown; Dowdy recovering a blocked field goal attempt; and Dowdy breaking up two drives by intercepting a pass.
Operating a few feet behind Dowdy at safety, Alford was having his own fun. He returned another punt 49 yards to the Texas two, setting up the score that broke the Longhorns' backs. He also caused UT back-lowing week when lowly Mississippi State upset the Raiders. If we take it one at a time, we can," he said. "We want to be Colorado State, now 0-2, says Alford.

"I was there last year after we beat Texas and we walked around in the air all week, Alford said. "We didn't even think of Mississippi State.
"But right after the game Saturday, somebody said 'Let's get Colorado State' and I think if we take it one at a time, we can," he said. "We want to be Colorado State, now 0-2, says Alford.
TCU's Norman Bulatch was a close second for back honors. Others receiving votes included Larry Stegert, Texas A&M; Joe Matulich, Texas Tech; Doug Dickey, Arkansas; and Chuck Hixson, SMU.

Cricket Experts To Help Dry Out Soggy Course

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — If the Alcan $200,000 Golf Tournament gets started at all today they can thank British cricket.
Cricket experts who know best how to dry out selected grounds arrived to bail out the 7,140-yard, par 74 Royal Birkdale Golf Club links which have been under a week long rain.
At stake is a 64-man tournament which includes the Alcan Gopher of the Year title, restricted to 24 professionals who have qualified to shoot for a first prize of $5,000.
The two tournaments run side-by-side.
To meet the water problem, the promoters brought in equipment which is used to dry cricket wickets and collect water.
The work was to be done at first light today and the 64-man tournament then starts. The Gopher of the Year, over 72-holes, 18 holes per day, gets going after noon.

In that one, America's Billy Casper is favored, with Gay Brewer and Australia's Peter Thomson also drawing strong support. Other Americans in the 24-man field are Frank Beard, Gardner Dickinson, Bob Murphy, Miller Barber, George Archer, Tom Weiskopf, Bert Yancey, and Lee Trevino.

Two Purdue Stars Honored By AP

By The Associated Press
The Notre Dame Victory March may be replaced this week by a new tune entitled Why, Oh, Why, Oh, Did Bob Yunaska and Bob Dillingham Ever Leave Ohio.
Seniors Yunaska and Dillingham are two big reasons why Purdue trounced Notre Dame 37-22 Saturday to remain the No. 1 college football team in the country.
As a result, they were named co-Linemen of the Week today by The Associated Press.
Yunaska, a 6-foot-1, 206-pound linebacker from Westlake, Ohio, received an astounding grade of 87 per cent for his play Saturday. Dillingham, the 6-2, 192-pound split end from London, Ohio, tied a school record by grabbing 11 passes, two for touchdowns.
The Ohio duo really did Notre Dame in when Purdue broke the game open with three quick touchdowns in the second period. Shortly after Leroy Keyes had scored to give Purdue a 10-7 lead, defensive end Bill McKoy deflected a Notre Dame pass and Yunaska picked it off at midfield and lugged it to the Irish 31. A few plays later Dillingham caught a 17-yard TD toss from Keyes.
On the second play after the ensuing kickoff Yunaska recovered a Notre Dame fumble at the Irish 41. Quarterback Mike Phipps threw two 16-yard passes to Dillingham, the latter for a touchdown that made the score 24-7.
"Yunaska played his finest game," said Don Fuoss, a Purdue assistant coach. "He was graded 87 per cent—highest for a linebacker in a long time."
Dillingham's performance—his 11 receptions were good for 147 yards—is posing a major

Aggie Mentor Is Homesick

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas A&M Coach Gene Stallings is getting homesick. Stallings, who must take his team to play tough Florida State Saturday night in Tallahassee, said "Man, will I ever be glad to play one at home."
The Aggies don't play at home until Oct. 12 against Texas Tech.
The Aggies have split in two intercollegiate games in Louisiana, losing 13-12 to Louisiana State and whipping Tulane 35-3.
Stallings said he didn't expect the Seminoles to be down even though they lost to cross-state rival Florida last week.
"I don't believe in any team being down," Stallings said. "A team only gets to play 10 times a year and if you're down and lose one that's one-tenth of your season gone. No, I think they'll be ready for us."

'Power In House' Shakes McCormack

By JACK KNEECE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker John W. McCormack says that a fellow House member who criticized his leadership in a recent book should stick to congressional business if he wants reforms and leave the writing to others.

McCormack, in an interview, answered the attacks made by fellow Democratic Rep. Richard Bolling of Missouri, who said in a book published last month that the speaker is a weak king surrounded by strong dukes.

"I don't think much of the books Mr. Bolling writes," McCormack said, adding that "I haven't read the damned thing but I know what it's about. I've got it right here in my desk."

RAYBURN'S COURAGE
He opened a drawer and pulled out a copy of the book, "Power in the House." It was the second book critical of McCormack written by Bolling, the fourth-ranking Democrat on the powerful Rules Committee, in the last three years.

In the latest book, Bolling said McCormack would be more suitable as speaker in a state legislature and compared him unfavorably with his predecessor, Sam Rayburn.

Bolling charged that McCormack lacks Rayburn's courage and is not as closely in touch with the House as was the Texan, who was speaker for all but four years between 1940 and 1961.

McCormack, visibly angry when told of these passages, said:

"How do you think we pass these close bills by just a few votes time after time if we're out of touch with the House?"

McCormack looked to Majority Leader Carl Albert, D-Okla., who entered the room at that moment. Albert, who was praised in Bolling's book, was asked to comment but declined.

"Bolling should use his position on the Rules Committee if he wants to change things in the House," said McCormack.

McCormack said Bolling apparently is enamored of the strong speakers of the past "who didn't care for the sensitivity or the feelings of the members of the House—speakers like Cannon."

Joseph G. Cannon, an Illinois Republican, was speaker from 1903 to 1911 and was noted for his tight rein on actions of the House and its committees.

"I don't operate that way," said McCormack. "I believe in treating people like human beings. Cannon believed in punishing the members who didn't fall in line."

Eggers Outlines Plan For Pollution Control

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas cities should be allowed stricter laws than the state to control air and water pollution, says Paul Eggers, Republican candidate for governor.

"We should not deny local governments the right to impose stricter standards in their area than called for in the state act," Eggers said in a position paper Tuesday.

Eggers proposed at a news conference a five-point program against air and water pollution. —Reform of existing laws, which he said are "too vague either to protect the public or to provide adequate guidance for industries."

—New legislation, including a constitutional amendment to allow the state to issue bonds for air pollution control devices, which would be leased to industry.

—A joint government-business effort to establish a pilot program to clean up rivers. He said major pollution problems exist in the Houston ship channel, the Trinity River near Dallas-Fort Worth, the San Antonio River below San Antonio and the Neches and Sabine Rivers near Beaumont and Port Arthur.

—Mass education on pollution, including publicity on pollution damage in Texas.

Eggers recommended repeal of a section of the 1967 state Clean Air Act that excludes from control cotton gins and what he called "15 other major pollution industries."

He also said he would work for legislation to make the state safety inspection of all automobiles manufactured after 1968 include examination of their pollution control devices.

Homicide Ruling In Aliens' Case

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Homicide was the ruling in the deaths of three Mexican nationals found locked with 41 countrymen in a small trailer, supposedly bound for jobs in Chicago.

One man died before reaching a hospital after police discovered the aliens' plight Monday afternoon. The others succumbed Tuesday.

Dr. Ruben Santos, acting county medical examiner, said the first two men died of heat stroke and asphyxiation. A autopsy report on the third was awaited today.

"INHUMANE"
Peace officers pressed a search for the driver of the truck which brought the 44 men to San Antonio from Eagle Pass, near where they told of slipping across the border.

Near Freer, 110 miles south of San Antonio, border patrolmen meanwhile arrested the drivers of two pickup trucks reported to be carrying a total of 32 more Mexican nationals inside camper units.

John W. Holland, San Antonio district director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, said the drivers and passengers were taken to Laredo for questioning.

Holland said the Freer arrests Tuesday apparently had no connection with the San Antonio case except that the aliens in both instances said they were being transported to Chicago and had been promised jobs.

Concerning the San Antonio case, Holland said he had never seen "anything as inhumane as this." Passengers in the pick-

Area Airline Date Muddled

AUSTIN (AP) — Hearings will be held Oct. 7 on applications of three commuter airlines to operate in Texas.

The Texas Aeronautics Commission said it would consider these applications:

—By Fleetway, to fly between Dallas and Austin and between San Antonio and Houston.

—By King Airline, to fly between Houston and Lake Jackson.

—By Air Texas, to fly between Fort Worth and Austin, San Antonio and Wichita Falls.

The commission granted a temporary permit, good for 60 days, to Air Texas Monday on the requested route after the airline showed it was adequately covered by insurance and also because no one opposed the application.

No date has been set for a hearing on the application of Sentinel Airlines to operate between Abilene, Dallas, Graham, Snyder, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, Brownwood and San Antonio.

Horoscope Forecast FOR TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES This is a real fun together later in a social way. Do not engage in whatever interests. Be very friendly in talking matters over that concern all. Get right results.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Show others that you are not only a good worker but a stickler for precision and punctuality. Make this a day for just keeping your nose to the grindstone. Clear the slate for bigger things tomorrow.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Early start in the world of activity brings you greater insight into how to get ahead faster and gain knowledge of true values. Sit down with one who can help you to clear up enigmas, problems and show attitude. Be happy in p.m.
