FAVORS HARDER LINE IN VIETNAM

LeMay Joins Wallace

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Retired Air Force Chief of Staff Curtis E. LeMay, a famous flying general in World War II, became George C. Wallace's vice presidential candidate today and called for a harder line in Vietnam.

The main flaw in American policy in Southeast Asia, LeMay told a news conference, "is the lack of a will to win."

RATHER TALK

"I'd rather talk than fight any day," said LeMay, who was shot at plenty as he led bomber raids on Germany in World War II.

But I don't think you have to be very smart to realize that they (the North Vietnamese) are not going to talk until we twist their arm a little bit."

Later, when asked if he recommended nuclear weapons to achieve field victory in Vietnam, LeMay, who becomes Wallace's running mate on the American Independent Party ticket, answered:

"To me any war is horrible. It doesn't make much difference if I get killed in Vietnam by nuclear weapons. In fact, if I had my choice, I'd rather get killed by nuclear weapons."

"A nuclear weapon is just another weapon in the arsenal," he said. "Use the force that is necessary to win, maybe a little bit more."

LeMay, who has been called "the architect of systematic destruction" because of the mass bombing techniques he developed in World War II, said the decision to campaign with Wallace was a difficult one.

But after he thought about it, he said it seemed like staying out of the campaign was essentially the same position taken by Vietnam doves, so he decided to join up.

"After adding up all the factors I decided to dedicate myself in joining with him (Wallace) on getting this country back on the right track," LeMay said.

COURAGE

"Those who support this

movement have the courage of their convictions — the courage to stand up for this nation against the forces that wall us into acquiescence, the permissiveness and the consequent destruction of our democracy," Wallace said.

Planning Continues On Downtown Parking Project

Preliminary planning goes on with a proposed program to raze the Crawford Hotel and convert the land on which it stands to a public parking lot.

Leaders in the Downtown Big Spring Inc., conferred yesterday, and were trying to determine if a reasonable bid could be obtained for demolition of the building. Cost for this undertaking would come through subscriptions from merchants and property owners who participated in such a way to acquire the old First National Bank property at Second and Main.

CITY OFFICIALS

Members of the City Commission indicated that the city, if title to the property were transferred to the city and county, could improve the lot — once the building is demolished — and maintain it as a public parking facility.

Meanwhile, Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, said there is a legal way for the County Commissioners Court to approve acquisition of property for public use. He said the plan would follow that of Midland County which recently purchased property for the convenience of persons having business at the courthouse; and that this has been ruled legal and in full accord with the law.

Davis said he called the attorney general's office again this morning, and asked the following question: "Can Howard County buy a 25x140 foot tract located across from the courthouse for parking purposes?"

He said the attorney general's representative answered that there was no reason why the county could not.

Davis said he is asking for a written opinion. It has been proposed that the county acquire a part of the Crawford site, the city the remainder. The county had agreed to appropriate $10,000 for such land acquisition, stipulating that it would have title to the property.

When the action was announced, some objection arose on the ground that the county cannot buy land except for specific needs and purposes. Two different opinions — both given orally — came from the state attorney general's department.

Davis said he had talked with Midland County officials who told him their action in acquiring a parking lot for courthouse visitors has been held valid. Businessmen associated in Downtown Big Spring, Inc., said they could purchase the old hotel at a reasonable figure, but must get costs on tearing down the 40-year-old structure. The greater cost in the project would be in demolition, which is the responsibility of the Downtown Big Spring group.

Gromyko Talks 'Dovish' In Defending Invasion

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko offered a hand of friendship to the United States today and said there was no contradiction between Moscow's interest in peace and its determination to defend the interests of socialism.

THREAT

The Soviet leader told the 125-nation General Assembly that the military intervention in Czechoslovakia was dictated by what that country called a threat to the socialist world and should have surprised nobody.

"The Soviet Union," he said, "deems it necessary to proclaim from this rostrum, too, that the socialist states cannot and will not allow a situation, where the vital interests of socialism are infringed upon."

He declared: "To damage the position of socialism in the world is tantamount to increasing the danger of a new world war."

Gromyko said the paramount world problem today is arms control and disarmament because "it is ignorances or mere adventurists alone who can be unaware of the implications of a military clash between the two great social systems."

"We are convinced that it is necessary to set up obstacles in order to slow down and arrest the rushing flood of armaments, and after that to start moving toward arms reductions and toward elimination of all means of warfare," he said.

ARMS TALKS

Stressing the need for continued arms talks, he declared: "We are for friendship with the peoples of North America, including the people of the U.S.A., who will always remember, as we will, the traditions of joint struggle in the ranks of the anti-Hitler coalition and who also shoulder a tremendous responsibility for the preservation of world peace."

AUSTIN (AP) — Unemployment in Texas was 2.7 per cent of the labor force in August, lowest jobless figure ever recorded for the month, the Texas Employment Commission said today.

Total employment also declined, dipping 21,800 to an August total of 4,340,400.

Mexican Snipers Silenced, Battle Leaves 25 Dead

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican army troops silenced sniper guns early today in the bloodiest battle yet of Mexico City's student rebellion. Tanks patrolled downtown streets of the capital, due to become host Oct. 12 to the Olympic Games.

Police and hospitals reported

25 persons were killed in an hours-long exchange of fire set off by a rifle shot, presumably aimed at a soldier, at the crowded site of an antigovernment rally Wednesday night.

Witnesses estimated more than 100 were wounded and a check of three of Mexico City's hospitals showed 72 injured had been treated.

Fresh soldiers relieved the first units before dawn in the battle zone, in and around the Plaza of the Three Cultures, and moved from building to building in the adjoining Tlatelolco apartment district to round up civilians suspected of sniping.

Bitter feeling was reflected in the reaction of a troop commander to the discovery of a number of leaflets and a paperback book on a youth who surrendered with his girl at gunpoint during the nocturnal shooting.

COMMUNIST

The officer threw them in the youth's face and exclaimed: "Communism! You read this stuff. That's why people are dying out there, because you read this stuff."

The International Olympic Committee called a meeting today to discuss the violence and its possible effect on the 1968 summer games, scheduled to open in the Mexican capital in nine days.

The government spokesman, presidential press secretary Fernando Garza, said of the Olympics: "There is no danger. All necessary precautions have been taken."

An editor for the newspaper El Universal said his reporters told him of soldiers finding 20 bodies in upper stories of the Social Security Hospital, where snipers had been seen firing.

AT ANY COST

Gen. Marcelino Garcia Barragan, the defense secretary, said he had orders to crush the student uprising at any cost.

One newsman said hundreds of persons were lying in the plaza after the first volley of gunfire.

Throughout the evening, snipers with automatic weapons fired from apartment windows and troops brought armored cars into the battle and poured machine-gun fire back into the high-rise buildings. The troops began clearing out the buildings about four hours after the battle began. Hundreds of residents already had fled.

develop, giving the Soviet Union an advantage in that field of weaponry.

He said the next eight years will be the period of greatest danger of world war because of the threat of growing Soviet power and because the Communist Chinese will be developing an independent nuclear capability.

"I've heard one candidate suggest, 'well, all you have to do is go out and get all these State Department bureaucrats and throw their briefcases into the Potomac,'" Nixon said.

"That idea came from Wallace, although it originally was a reference to education officials, not diplomats."

"Let me say this," Nixon said. "It takes more than just being against what has happened to solve the problems of this country. It's a question of what you're for."

"The problem isn't quite as simple as throwing the diplomats' briefcases into the Potomac."

Nixon Invades The South, 'Solutions Not Simple'

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, preparing to invade the Southern stronghold of George C. Wallace, says the solution to America's problems "isn't quite as simple" as the third-party candidate implies.

The Republican presidential nominee, who seldom mentions Wallace by name, stages a major show in Atlanta, Ga., tonight in his drive for southern votes.

TV PROGRAM

He goes on a television program to be shown in Wallace's own Alabama and 10 other states where third-party sentiment is said to be running strong.

While Nixon insists a direct campaign against Wallace would only enhance the third-party candidate's political stature, he did say, somewhat jokingly in Norfolk, Va., Wednesday night that the former Alabama governor might run ahead of Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey.

While only a quip, it was a departure from Nixon insistence that the race is between two men, the major party nominees.

When a mention of Humphrey's name brought a few cheers and some boos from a Norfolk crowd of about 5,000 people, Nixon remarked: "No, wait. If he gets going he might come in second."

Nixon, in a Navy town, suggested that the Democrats have permitted a "submarine gap" to

HHH Motorcade Tours Appalachia

WELCH, W.Va. (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey returns today to the villages and craggy hills of West Virginia where he fought the late John F. Kennedy in the presidential primary eight years ago—and lost.

The Democratic presidential nominee makes a marathon motorcade through 29 towns and cities carrying this message:

DID NOTHING

"In 1960 a cold-hearted Nixon Republican administration sat in Washington and cared nothing for the people of Appalachia."

"Yes, John Kennedy and I came to West Virginia in 1960.

We made promises and in the last eight Democratic years we kept these promises."

When Humphrey was making those promises eight years ago he was campaigning along the narrow roads in a cold, beat up bus.

Today the vice president flew from Charlotte, N.C., to Bluefield, W.Va., with a fleet of five prop planes for the 122-mile motorcade through such towns as Pineville, Slab Fork, Crab Orchard, Glen Jean, North Fork, Wolf Pen and Cow Shed.

Also scheduled to be riding along in another sentimental gesture is Jimmy Wolford, the country singer and guitar player who was the Humphrey traveling minstrel eight years ago.

Humphrey comes into West Virginia after an excursion into Dixie. Crowds in Knoxville, Tenn., Jacksonville, Fla., and Charlotte, N.C., obviously bouyed Humphrey and his staff.

"We've turned the corner," Humphrey said of his campaign.

A crowd estimated at 13,000 turned out in Charlotte Wednesday to hear an obviously pleased Humphrey contend that he had a better record for keeping law and order as mayor of Minneapolis a score of years ago than George C. Wallace, his third-party opponent, had as governor of Alabama.

Humphrey also told the audience that Richard M. Nixon is afraid to debate him but that he would keep after his Republican opponent.

Humphrey said in a speech prepared for West Virginia audiences that he was pledging a "new day for the people of West Virginia—a new day for all Americans."

Peru's Army Overthrows President In New Coup

LIMA, Peru (AP) — The Peruvian army early today overthrew the elected government of President Fernando Belaunde Terry.

Soldiers stormed the presidential palace shortly after 2 a.m. and emerged a short time later with Belaunde, dressed in a blue suit and shouting in Spanish "You are traitors."

The coup took place about 12 hours after Belaunde had installed a new 11-member Cabinet—the seventh in his five-year regime.

All was calm on Lima streets and Peruvians awoke on a bleak misty day to find that the military had taken over, as they did five years ago—that time with the result that Belaunde took office.

Kenneth Barfield Shows Champion At Pig Show

By SAM BLACKBURN
Kenneth Barfield, 17-year-old Big Spring High School senior, showed the grand champion barrow of the 1968 Howard County barrow show Wednesday night but it was the winner of the reserve championship, tiny Cindy Shaw, who grabbed off the lion's share of honors.

Kenneth's barrow nosed out Cindy's entry for the coveted grand championship and the little 11-year-old Forsan grade schooler had to be content with reserve championship.

However, just to make a good night of it, Cindy chalked up an impressive column of other wins at the 23rd annual barrow show. In addition to her reserve championship, she took home the blue ribbon for the first place heavyweight hamshire, first place ribbon for gilts, and a third place award for Duroc barrows.

Ninety-six barrows were in the competition. Bobby Lee, FFA instructor from Wilson High School, judge of the show, was lavish in his praise of the entries and of the skill of the young exhibitors.

Tonight, the annual show comes to a close. The big event will be the auction sale which starts at 8 p.m. Dub Caldwell, local auctioneer, will wield the hammer, as he has at many of the county's prior shows. Thirty-six of the pigs will be sold — the first to go on sale will be the grand champion shown by young Barfield. Cindy's reserve champion will be No. 2 on the sales list.

Young Barfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barfield, 1503 Mesquite, is a second year showman. He is a teammate in the Big Spring FFA of Ricky Harris, who showed last year's grand champion. Harris showed the reserve champion lightweight and heavyweight Hampshires this year.

Cindy is also a second year showman. She placed 14th last year and has made amazing gains in her showing skills in a single year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaw, who live west of Webb AFB. She attends Forsan High School and is a member of the 4-H club.

Cross breed lightweight champion was shown by Patty Peugh with Perry Gamble, showing the reserve champion.

Results of the judging through tenth place:

Duroc Barrows—
Heavyweights — Kenneth Barfield, first; Dicky Stanley, second; Jim Bob Phillips, third; Robert Nichols, fourth; Johnny Peugh, fifth; Mike Duke, sixth; Kelly Gaskin, seventh; Bobby Fryar, eighth; Pam Parmenter, ninth; Wesley McIntosh, tenth.

Lightweights — Ricky Harris, first; Ricky Jackson, second; Cindy Shaw, third; Julie Hall, fourth; Patty Peugh, fifth; Kayla Gaskin, sixth; Steve Foster, seventh; Randy Lowe, eighth; Phil Parmenter, ninth; Terry Bradford, tenth.

Champion, Kenneth Barfield, reserve champion, Ricky Harris.

Hampshire Barrows—
Lightweights — Ricky Harris, first; Donny Harrington, second; Jim Bob Phillips, third; Robert Nichols, fourth; Johnny Peugh, fifth; Mike Duke, sixth; Kelly Gaskin, seventh; Bobby Fryar, eighth; Pam Parmenter, ninth; Wesley McIntosh, tenth.

Texas Leads In Jobs Goal

Texas led every state in the nation last year in placement of handicapped persons in jobs through state employment offices. The Texas Employment Commission made 14 per cent of the national total handicapped job placements.

Leon Kinney, manager of the local TEC office in Big Spring made 185 handicapped placements during 1967.

"It is highly significant that in 1967, our Texas Employment Commission offices alone found 37,194 jobs for the handicapped worker," Kinney noted. "This means that more and more of our employers are realizing the valuable potential and sound business sense of using the vast reservoir of handicapped manpower."

"Employment barriers often based on misinformation — continue to exist. The demonstrated ability and dedication of the handicapped worker in the right job is getting through to employers."

An indication that progress is not limited to Texas is that nearly 300,000 handicapped workers were placed throughout the country by state employment services in 1967.

Theft Might Make Firemen Happy

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Someone removed a fire alarm box with chisels and cutting pliers and carted it off. The box — No. 936 — was a favorite with false-alarm pranksters. Firemen said 9 of 10 alarms sounded from the box proved to be false.

Wants To Know Where Yips Get Their Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Yip group of Yippies that milled around outside the building arrested today when he showed up at a House office building to attend a meeting of the Committee on Un-American Activities wearing an American flag designed as a shirt.

WIFE ARRESTED
Arrested with Hoffman was his wife, Anita, and another Yippie—Youth International Party—Brad Fox, all of New York City.

Capitol police charged Hoffman, who has been subpoenaed by the committee investigating the disorders during the Chicago Democratic National Convention, with mutilating the American flag and resisting arrest.

His wife was arrested when she attempted to stop her husband from being dragged into a patrol wagon by several policemen.

Police arrested Fox when they saw him letting the air out of a tire in the patrol wagon holding Hoffman.

The committee was meeting in executive session at the time of the arrests. The Hoffmans and Fox were among a small group of Yippies that milled around outside the building waiting for the meeting to end.

'PIGS'
When Hoffman's picture was being taken—a procedure Capitol police use when arresting demonstrators—he stuck his tongue out at the officers and called them "pigs."

Earlier a member of the committee said he wants to know where the demonstration organizers got their money.

Rep. Albert Watson of the House un-American activities subcommittee said he would subpoena records and financial statements if witnesses balk during testimony today.

Watson, R-S.C., said Wednesday. "The violence in Chicago was planned months in advance, and only an exorbitant amount of money could guarantee the success of the student disruption in that city."

The demonstrations triggered a series of bloody clashes with police and national guardsmen, who used clubs, Mace and tear gas to disperse the crowds.

The subpoenaed antiwar protesters and their lawyers had said they would continue the insults, procedural objections and flamboyant tactics that marked Tuesday's opening day of hearings.

The hearings were in recess Wednesday in observance of the Jewish holiday, Yom Kippur. Jerry Rubin, leader of the Yippies, who was thrown out of an un-American activities committee hearing two years ago while wearing a Revolutionary War uniform, was ejected twice at Tuesday's hearing.

He was first turned away when showed up with bullet-studded belts draped across his shirtless chest. He was allowed back when he took off the ammunition belts.

Switch Damaged
Bill Condra, 614 Colgate, reported to police at 11:24 p.m. that his car had been vandalized while parked in the Holiday Inn parking lot. The ignition switch had been damaged in an apparent attempt to steal the car.

Webb Units Soaring To Meet United Fund Goals
The Air Base Group, with 2880 turned in Wednesday, became the second major unit at Webb AFB to record a 100 per cent contribution in the base United Fund Drive.

Last week, Webb's Western Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center, Detachment 18, became the first base unit to reach its 100 per cent goal.

Now the two units can watch Webb's other four major organizations play "catch up." The closest to date is the Deputy Commander for Materiel (DCM) section, with a 92 per cent response.

The three remaining major units are bunched together with the Communications Squadron heading the trio. It has registered a 61 per cent contribution. One notch down, at 60 per cent, is the Deputy Commander for Operations

Bradbury Gets Sole Control Of 2 Stations

The transfer of sole ownership of radio stations KHFM and KFNE-FM in Big Spring to Robert E. Bradbury Jr. has been approved by the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, effective Oct. 1.

The order allows Bradbury to take over sole operation of the properties of Cobra Corporation here and Thomas E. Conner the operation of KPET and KPET-FM in Lamesa. The two have been partners for 10 years and formed the corporation by making a name out of the first letters of their names. For the past three years they have more or less operated the properties separately and recently filed application to FCC for the change.

Bradbury will assume debts against Cobra and make a payment to Conner, the two aggregating $52,258. In turn, the Lamesa properties are transferred to Conner Corporation in exchange for assumption of $89,991 in debts. Bradbury will continue to operate Cobra Corp. while Conner will operate corporately under his own name.

Two Charged, Car Recovered

Big Spring police recovered a car reported stolen in Odessa and arrested two men charged with the theft Wednesday night.

Arrested in the case were Richard Walter Silva, 27, and James Henry Richard, 31, on warrants from Odessa. Both men are from Odessa.

Police officers Jimmy Lockhart and Ronald Brown spotted the car parked off the road near the intersection of US 80 and Tulane. The hood was still warm when they found it, according to their report.

The two men arrested in the case were found about 200 yards down the highway from the car, according to the officers.

The transmission of the stolen car was inoperative and a wrecker had to be called to get the car to the police station, they said.

Aircraft Mechanic Seminar Slated

The Texas Aeronautics Commission, in cooperation with the Fort Worth area office of the Federal Aviation Administration, is sponsoring an aircraft mechanic seminar, the first ever held in Texas.

The seminar will be conducted at the Western Hills Inn at Euless, Tex., between Dallas and Fort Worth with presentations from leading aircraft manufacturers. The seminar is set for Oct. 15-17, from 1 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. daily. Further information and applications may be had from the Texas Aeronautics Commission, 204 W. 16th Street, Austin, Tex. 78701.

YES, HE HAS NO REGRETS!

NORFOLK, Mass. (AP) — "Having a good time, wish you were here," read the post card messages addressed to inmates at state prison.

Prison officials said they intercepted the post cards because the handwriting was much like that of Robert G. Delleo, 27, of Revere, who escaped two weeks ago.

Delleo was serving a life term for murder in the death of a Boston policeman.

Heart Of Unnamed Keeps Him Alive

DALLAS (AP) — Surgeons kept Floyd Pratt, a construction worker, alive by transplanting the heart of an unnamed man into his chest Wednesday night at Parkland Hospital.

"His condition is very gratifying," newsmen were told shortly afterward by Dr. Watts Webb, head of the surgical team from the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School.

Pratt, 46, had been dying because his old heart muscle grew too weak to function, Webb said. Hospital spokesmen said the donor was a 43-year-old Dallas man who died of a brain hemorrhage. Relatives asked that his identity not be disclosed, they said.

The four-hour operation was the world's 56th heart transplant and the second of its kind at the Dallas hospital. Sixteen

United Fund Goal Closer

United Fund '68 in Big Spring inched steadily upward today with $36,762.63 of the $109,225 goal reported, but several individual drives are about to wind up.

The 34.4 per cent of the objective was helped when 100 per cent of the two YMCAs in Big Spring participated in the drive by kicking in $25 per employee.

Webb AFB lacked only a small per cent completing its goal this morning, and the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and Communications Workers of America drive had reached 93.3 per cent this morning of its $2,195 objective.

Check Red Flag On Firing Range

Local residents are reminded of the danger that exists when the red flag is flying over the Webb AFB firing range.

The red flag warns that small arms fire is being conducted at the firing range. The range, located south of the base, is past the golf course on Perimeter Road and east of the south end of the runways.

Italy Wants Taxes On Immense Vatican Wealth

By EDWARD MAGRI
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) — It is the oldest institution in the Western world and possibly the richest. Its collective wealth ranges from the gold in countless crosses and candlesticks to its unmatched patrimony of art, to the properties and business holdings of the Vatican.

Now the Italian government is determined to get a tax share of the earnings of the Roman Catholic church in this country. And though its fight seems hopeless, the Vatican is lashing back with denunciations and the veiled threat of economic reprisals.

NOT MUCH

On the surface, it appears that all the Vatican is really facing is the loss of up to $12.8 million in back taxes and up to $2.4 million a year thereafter. Not a gigantic sum for an institution of gigantic wealth.

But the Vatican clearly sees a far bigger issue at stake—the very status of the headquarters of Catholicism in the land where for centuries the church was supreme and there was no secular power big enough or strong enough to interfere.

It is taken for granted that after next November the Vatican, by law, will be obliged to start paying taxes on the dividend income earned by its stock investments in Italy. This has been made plain by a majority in Parliament.

Premier Giovanni Leone, a Christian Democrat and a supporter of the church, has bowed to the inevitable by announcing that his government would not oppose the majority view. He will not introduce any bill to prolong the tax exemption that up to now has spared the Vatican from paying taxes as any other stock holder.

The Vatican, however, does not regard itself as comparable to any other stock holder. In an angry blast at Leone, the Holy See recently declared that paying taxes would diminish the money the church devotes to religious and charitable works around the world.

It asserted that lifting the dividend tax exemption would violate the 1929 Lateran pacts which restored to the church a special status in Italy after the state ended the church's historic temporal powers in 1870.

This is the crux of what is shaping up as the most serious church-state dispute in Italy since the Lateran pacts were negotiated under Fascist dictator Benito Mussolini in 1929.

By all indications, the Vatican is preparing the strongest bargaining position it can to protect most of its other privileges against the expected time when the Lateran pacts eventually will be revised. Parliament last year demanded the start of negotiations to revise them.

FORCE ISSUE

A big question is whether the Vatican intends to use its vast stock holdings to force the government to preserve most of the church's privileges.

Some economists believe that through its holdings the Vatican can exert a profound influence on the over-all Italian economy.

The government estimates that the Vatican holds stocks in Italian companies worth 100 billion lire—$160 million. This is an estimated 1 per cent of all Italian stocks, providing the Vatican a reported annual average of $4.8 million to $6.4 million in dividends. Unofficial estimates put the holdings many times higher.

In addition, the Vatican owns various construction and rental companies, land, farms, vineyards and chains of business and residential properties. Unlike the dividends, these holdings are tax-free for the church and this is a privilege the Vatican wants to keep.

A massive shifting of Vatican investments out of stocks into other areas to escape taxation could affect the stock market.

It could cause a flight of capital of the kind that posed a major economic problem for the government during a recession several years ago.

Rumors have begun to spread that in its fight with the state, the Vatican is considering such a move, on the basis that the church must protect its income for its own purposes.

The big unknown is how far the Italian Parliament, faced with a possibility of economic reprisals, would try to cut back the Vatican's other financial exemptions beyond forcing the payment of dividend taxes—and how far the Vatican might go to protect its other privileges.

NEPAL IS LAST STRONGHOLD FOR HIPPIES, 'THE GREAT UNWASHED'

Katmandu, Baby, Is Where It's Really Happening

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — For the hippie set, there is no high like getting high in the Himalayas. At a time when Laos has grown disenchanted with the flower power folk and Thailand won't let them in without a bath and a haircut, and Japan requires a bond of $20 as proof of financial stability, the tiny kingdom of Nepal looms as the last stronghold of hospitality for the great unwashed.

DISCOVERED

If a fellow really wants to go to pot, or whatever it is his hand-up, here indeed is the place to crash-hippie talk for settle in—as hundreds of pilgrims to psychedelia from all over the world already have discovered. Katmandu, the capital of this swinging kingdom at the roof of the world, is an unbelievably medieval city of narrow winding streets and quaint, tiny, tottering brick houses with exquisite carved wooden balconies, interspersed everywhere with garishly gilded Hindu and Buddhist pagodas. The crowded sidewalk bazaars are a constant clatter of wailing Oriental flautists, braying goats, chanting holy men, bawling merchants, mooing sacred cows, wandering string musicians.

"It's an out of sight place to groove," avowed Richard the Hippie from Iowa, reverently traipsing through a temple courtyard in his saffron Buddhist robes tastefully topped off with Tibetan prayer beads, a lot of poinsettias, a John the Baptist haircut and a way-out Nepalese umbrella ornamented with nearly naked Nubian slave girls.

To groove, in the hippie argot, means simply to wander out the door of one's pad with no avowed purpose or direction and let the world happen to you.

HAPPENING

And Katmandu, baby, is where it's really happening. On an ordinary everyday groove, one can encounter a real live vestal virgin with Twiggy-like eyeballs, a guru pushing an impressive array of aphrodisiacs, fortune tellers who use trained parrots to peck out lucky cards from a deck, Gurkha tribesmen down from the high passes with ferocious and bejeweled khukuri knives, blue haired little old lady tourists giggling in shock at the erotic carvings on the Hindu temples, beggars and blind men, lepers and holy men, a bell whose knell is said to be the sound of death and sets all the local dogs to howling, a pagoda presided over by a priesthood of monkeys, sikhs in turbans and long flowing beards, sari-clad ladies with precious stones in their nostrils and caste marks on their foreheads, rickshaw boys who make their way through the endless stream of humanity by pumping on bulbous claxon horns, Tibetan refugees flogging off magnificently textured carpets in tiny sidewalk stalls, lammas whirling their prayer wheels and parrots sucking on their waterpipes—all, when the monsoon clouds lift, against a stupendous background of snow-covered peaks.

CAR

Since airplane fares are beyond the means of most hippies, the accepted method of making a pilgrimage to this mecca of marijuana is to form a limited holding company for the purchase of a second hand car in India, drive the woeful 22-hour ordeal of scorching plain and malaria-ridden jungle from Calcutta, and then sell the car, which should enable everyone to live for at least a year.

A room at the Camp Hotel or the G.C. Lodge, the two favorite crash-landing pads, costs three rupees—30 cents—a night. At an occupancy rate of seven in a room, often crowded, this works out to about $1.25 a month, and, fragrance-wise after a week or so, gives yak butter a good name.

To keep body and soul together between trips to the wild blue yonder, a hippie for a similar three rupee investment can procure a "buff steak" (water buffalo meat), dal (a pea soup made with curry), weak tea, and India bread smeared with Tibetan Jam (a fermenting concoction that smells and tastes like beer) at the Blue Tibetan, a six table restaurant that serves as the mother house for the cats of Katmandu.

WEDDING

On a recent balmy evening, a goodly crowd was gathered in the Blue Tibetan discussing hippie wedding that was about to take place at Swayambhunath, the great monkey pagoda sacred to both Buddhists and Hindus. Through the haze of ganja (high class marijuana) and opium smoke, it became somewhat less than clear that the bride had decided against a micro-mini wedding gown in favor of a Tibetan temple robe, that Richard had been assigned to procure flowers for the ceremony and that in a country short of food the custom of throwing rice would be waived in favor of throwing poppy seeds.

Not everyone was tuned in to the arrangements. Derek from Detroit, was sniffing at a smoldering white rope of raw incense in between belts on a bottle of Madras cough medicine with a strong codeine base. Off in the corner, two Danish hippies had dissolved into a murky stupor and were singing softly to each other. Dean, a new arrival from Hollywood, who claimed his father was a famous television writer, was complaining to Michael, who professed to be the son of prominent U.S. ambassador, that methadine and methalene didn't have the same old kick.

The pharmacies of Nepal carry an unbelievable pharmacopia of dream drugs, everything from airplane glue to benzadrine, codeine, morphine and methadine, all at over the counter prices that would put socialized medicine out of business.

IMPORT

"They have everything except LSA," observed Richard, "and I can import enough of that in one airmail envelope from India to blow out every mind from here to Peking."

With that, Richard repaired to his pad for an evening of rippling to Bach fugues on his T. beta-hammonium. He swirled his long flowing robes about him and, with as much dignity as an evening of way out puffing would allow, sashayed down the street swinging a long swagger stick to ward off the roaming packs of stray dogs.

Richard's pad, entered by stopping under a low doorway and climbing a winding flight of wooden stairs, was a one-room apartment with slanting floors and magnificently carved window sills in a dangerously listing brick house that must have been at least 700 years old.

Like others in Nepal's international hippie set, which now includes Germans, Danes, Swedes, Japanese, Philipinos, British, French, Greeks, Italians and even a few defectors from Poland and Czechoslovakia, Richard has been bumming around the world for five years in search of the right "karma" attitude of mind.

"The Middle East," he said, "has a bad karma. Too much hate. You could feel it, even in Turkey which otherwise is out of sight."

ENDLESS

Nepal allows all visitors in on a seven day visa, but the hippies can obtain endless 30-day extensions by getting "trekking permits" from the foreign office, although the trips they have in mind have nothing to do with the high Himalayas even though they take them to heights that Sir Edmund Hillary never scaled.

For all its exotic vibrations, the swingers Shangrai-la has some drawbacks, particularly where the health of the hippies are concerned.

Harry Wisnowski and Erwin Orchek, two West Berlin pilgrims who are shouldering their hippie bags and heading back to New Delhi, complained that most of the colony was suffering from dysentery, tuberculosis, hepatitis, and malnutrition. Ironically the medical halls superbly stacked with freak-out items are notoriously deficient in common antibiotics.

Even in the highest of mortal heavens, Harry confided, hippies get bored and homesick, weary of living at close to survival level, impatient with the glut of newcomers, particular the summer crowd who are only playing at being hippies.

DEATH

The death of a German hippie shook the Nepal flower colony badly. It took all the fun out of Gajatra and Holi, the Himalaya carnival festivals when everyone dresses like hippies in wild robes and masks and goes about squirting red water in the faces of tourists and governmental officials.

Cassius Lives In Luxury As A Muslim

By WILL GRIMSLEY
By The Associated Press

CHICAGO (AP) — "I'm not just a boxer. I stand with senators and ministers and college professors," Muhammad Ali said, drawing himself proudly to his full 6-foot-3 height and expanding his 44½-inch chest. "I teach at colleges. I was at Princeton, Rutgers and Iowa. I'll be teaching at Harvard. I'll be teaching at Yale. I talk from the same platform as men who want to be president—high-class, dignified colleges."

LOOSE

The Louisville Lip is on the loose again—not spouting bombastic predictions and unseemable poetry from the middle of a ring but speaking out for Negroes.

"I got so many engagements, I can't keep up with them," Ali added. "I speak three or four times a week. I got 36 colleges on the waiting list." Cassius Marcellus Clay, undefeated ex-heavyweight champion, convicted of draft dodging and, as Muhammad Ali, minister of the Black Muslim faith, declines to identify himself as a Negro leader.

"I am a preacher and a teacher," he said. "We are all working for the same end but we got different approaches."

It's like war. One man fights from the air. One fights on the ground. One is on the water. Another is a spy or secret agent. The black man in America is at war, too, fighting for justice.

"I am a follower of Elijah Muhammad (leader of the Black Muslims in America). I believe he has the answer. It comes from Allah."

The handsome, 25-year-old former champion spoke of his expanding civil rights role as he relaxed on a satin sofa in the expensively decorated living room of his modest home on the South Side of Chicago.

UNIMPOSING

It's middle-class neighborhood which in recent years has become predominantly Negro. The house is an unimposing, one-story brick bungalow on a small corner lot. But once the heavy oak front door is opened there is a sparkle of marble, mirrors and other luxuries.

"I spent $67,000 redecorating this house," Ali said. "It has built-in air conditioning, a speaker system in every room, a finished basement."

On one side of the big screen color television set was a large glass case containing a trophy and the gold championship belt which Cassius never lost but which technically has been taken away from him because of his refusal to enter the armed services.

Across the room at a table—speaking only when spoken to—sat Cassius' teenage pregnant wife, his second. Although the room was quite warm, she wore a long-sleeved, brown wool dress that dropped to the tops of her gold slippers. Belinda X. Boyd was just 17 when she was married to Ali last August in a Muslim ceremony. Clay previously had been married to Sonja Roi, a beautiful model. He divorced her, he said, because she refused to wear dresses down to her ankles and become a convert to the Muslim faith. Belinda X is a practicing Muslim.

BODYGUARDS

As Cassius talked, a couple of figures—Muslim associates or bodyguards—moved around in the background.

Ali was reminded that his circumstances didn't look much like those of a man financially distressed, as has been suggested.

"It's true, I'm broke, really broke," he insisted. "A judge down in Miami says I got to give my ex-wife a $30,000 bond and $1,250 a month. One of my lawyers is suing me for $209,000. I made $2 million in the ring and the government took all but 10 per cent of it. That Louisville group that sponsored me made a deal with Washington to pay 90 per cent of what I made before I ever saw anything. They call it the Joe Louis law."

Now Washington has cut me off from fighting or from leaving the country. So I have no way to make any money."

After winning an Olympic gold medal and turning pro, Clay put his fortunes into the hands of a syndicate of prominent Louisville business men.

REFUSED

The arrangement worked satisfactorily until last April when Muhammad, contending he was a Muslim minister, refused to Houston to take the step forward after being drafted into the Army.

A federal court found him guilty of draft evasion and sentenced him to five years in jail and a $10,000 fine. He was stripped of his heavyweight title and refused the chance to fight or travel abroad while his appeal was being heard in the higher courts.

Recently the next-to-last appeal was rejected by the Fifth U.S. Court of Appeals in New Orleans, leaving the final judgment—in the hands of the Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, Muhammad's connection with the Louisville group has been severed. He is now personally managed by Herbert Muhammad, son of Elijah Muhammad.

The Louisville group set up a trust fund for the former champion of around $100,000, not to be touched until Ali is 35 or retires.

CARES

"I have no intention of retiring," Ali said. "I don't need anybody's money. Allah takes care of me. If he counts the feathers on a sparrow, he certainly will take care of one of his ministers." Still a striking, superbly-conditioned athlete—at 221 only 11 pounds above his best fighting weight—Cassius is a living and talking contradiction. One moment he is a naive schoolboy—wide-eyed, enthusiastic, warm, puckish, completely charming. Then, with the flick of an invisible switch, he becomes cold and aloof, distrustful of every man with white skin.

"I never needed whites and I never hung with whites," he said. "People say when you're big, you're on top and when you're down nobody wants you."

"I'm the hero of 600 million Muslim brothers on earth, 800,000 in America. They'll never let me wait for anything."

"I've got this house and it's all paid for," he said. "I have another house in Louisville where my parents are living and I'm getting another one in Miami."

"I just had six new suits cut—all of them $300 apiece. I got two oil wells pumping 150 gallons a day each. Friends send me money in the mail. I got rice named after me in Egypt and a chocolate drink called Muhammad Ali punch in Turkey. I get royalties on them."

CARED FOR

"If I go to jail, I won't have to worry about Belinda. She'll be taken care of for life. Some people say the Muslims bled me of my money. That's crazy. What does Elijah Muhammad need with my pennies? He's building a million-dollar restaurant just around the corner. I don't give to him, he gives to me. I owe him $100,000."

"Besides, I get good money on these speaking tours. Sometimes $800, sometimes $2,000, sometimes $5,000, sometimes nothing. Sometimes we give all the money to the movement."

"I spoke to 22,000 people live in the San Francisco Civic Center. Let me give you an idea of it."

He walked across the room and inserted a tape in a large recording device sitting beside the marbled-over fireplace.

There obviously—according to the tape—was a lot of confusion at first at the scene.

"That was because I refused to speak until all the antiwar, violence and hate signs had been put down," Ali explained. "There were about 30 or 40 such signs."

"I refuse to talk where there are anti-government signs. I don't want to get in trouble. I'm on bond. Washington could confine me to Houston if it wanted to."

POET

The tape began running and out came the familiar voice of Cassius Clay, the onetime fighting poet.

"I am not here to condemn America's policies in Vietnam or anywhere," Cassius declared in a booming voice. There were cheers.

"My case is being fought le-

State National Bank Has Experience, Good Service

At State National Bank, there are two things you can bank on — their experience and outstanding service with their computerized system.

As for experience, nine tellers have a total of 158 years experience in banking, which more than qualifies them to meet the needs of the customers. And for service, State National Bank stands abreast of the times by putting transactions through a computer system which balances, computes, analyzes and prints.

The tellers, whose chief duties are taking and paying money, are actually in the public relations department of the banking business. They deal with more customers than anyone else in the bank.

Besides taking care of the customers, the tellers take care of the deposits that are made in and those that are placed in the night depository. It is their responsibility to see that the deposit slips are properly made out and that the checks being placed for deposit are correctly endorsed.

Tellers also are trained on accepting and cashing checks. If you are new to State National Bank, you will be asked for proper identification, but this is routine procedure, and the teller is doing his job.

Tellers also know not to accept checks that show signs of being changed or written with a pencil. Also, they will not accept checks which are predated or too old, or those which have "hold" or "to hold" written on them.

During the banking day all transactions for that date are sent to a computer center in Lubbock, and then the materials, together with a battery of reports are back in the bank by opening time the next morning.

This is possible through the marvels of electronic data processing. The materials sent from State National, as well as a number of other area banks and businesses, are fed into the National Cash Register 315 Electronic Data Processing system, which represents an outlay of about $1 million. At the rate of 2,500 per hour, the transactions are completely handled.

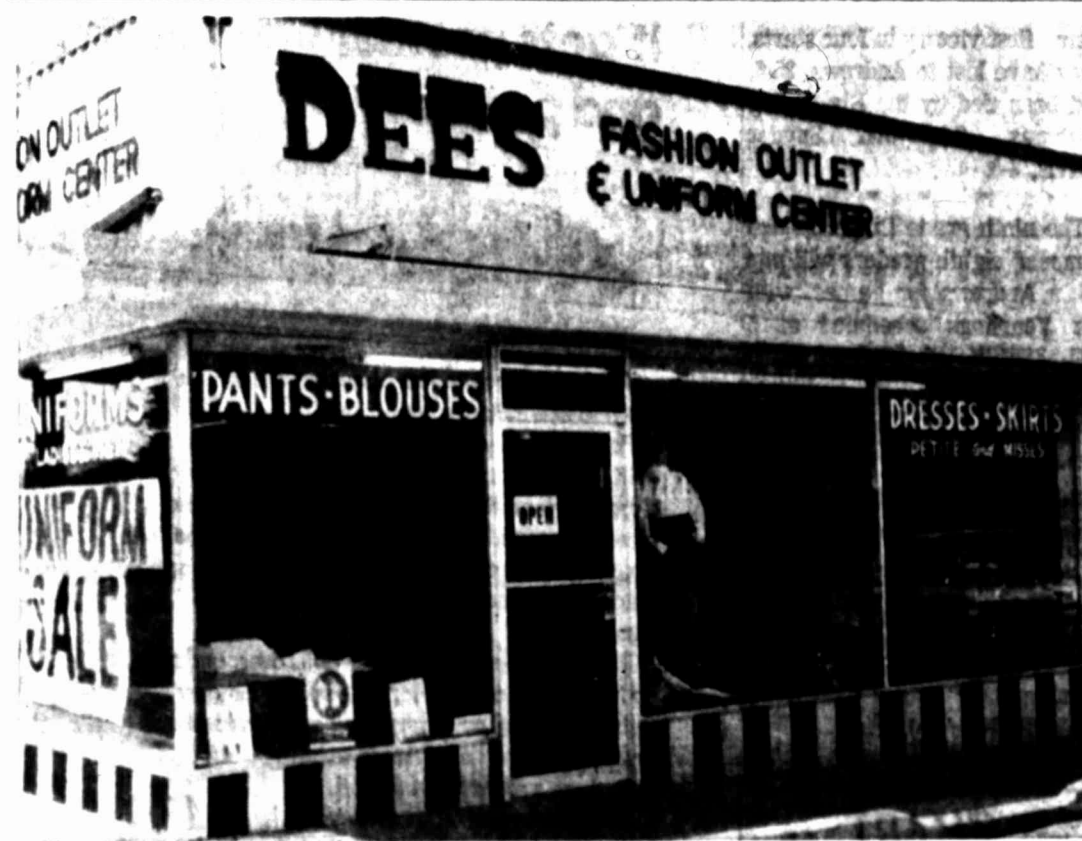

One product of the processing center is a daily journal showing all accounts active on a given day, the credits and debits, and balances. Should there be an inadvertent overdraft, this will show, together with the balance were it honored. A second report is a statement of all accounts at the end of any day. Thus, tellers or others at the bank will be able, by thumbing to an account number, to tell a customer quickly what the balance is or if there has been any activity in the account recently.

The bank here begins by running checks through an electronic proof machine which puts an account number on them in coded electronic ink, if they do not already have a number. The computer in Lubbock then takes the checks and reads them at a rate of 1,250 per minute, performs its bookkeeping, and stores information.

If anything is out of balance, it is pinpointed immediately. Not until the computer balance is reconciled with the bank's balance are the individual accounts put through the computer.

DEES FASHION OUTLET AND UNIFORM CENTER
Quality women's fashions and large selection of uniforms

Top Quality, Low Prices Are Highlights At Dees

If you need a uniform for just about any job see the complete line of uniforms at Dees Fashion Outlet and Uniform Center, 1714 Gregg.

Dees Fashion Outlet and Uniform Center, opened three weeks ago, has the best selection of uniforms in the area for nurses, laboratory technicians, dental assistants, waitresses, beauticians and barbers.

Their uniforms for other than the medical profession come in various styles and colors. They also have uniform accessories such as hosiers, slips and nursing caps.

Dees also have the latest styles in women's sportswear and dresses at very reasonable prices.

Ken and Sharon Dees, owners and managers of one of Big Spring's newest fashion shops, buy all their women's apparel from samples and closeouts off the market floor, so they are in the store on time at a lower cost to customers.

Their line of women's fashion is of high quality, but near whole sale cost for greater savings.

Ken and Sharon formerly owned The Outlet on Eleventh Place, but opened the Fashion Outlet and Uniform Center in August. Their new store is much larger so that they can keep a greater selection of merchandise.

Women's goods include complete lines of sportswear, skirts, blouses, coats, sweaters and accessories. Nearly all the clothing is styled for winter.

Dees also has special prices on boys sport shirts and men's knit shirts.

By next spring Dees hopes to have a full line of little girls wear, including Easter outfits and back-to-school fashions. All merchandise will be of top quality at big savings.

Remember, if you ever need a uniform for just about any job, or women's fashions in the latest styles and lowest prices, shop at Dees Fashion Outlet and Uniform Center, 1714 Gregg.

McLain Keeps His Aplomb Despite Loss

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Denny McLain was on the losing end of the celebrated World Series pitching duel Wednesday against Bob Gibson of St. Louis. But Detroit's 4-0 defeat didn't seem to shake McLain's nerves.

Newsmen flocked around him in the Tigers' dressing room as the right-hander casually sat down with his feet propped on a table and answered questions in his usual almost cocky fashion, smiling as if he had just won the Series opener rather than lost it.

Although he acknowledged his lack of control resulted in the loss, he expressed surprise and even indignation at being pulled from the game after five innings. Pat Dobson relieved him in the sixth.

HE'S DISTRESSED
"Yes, I was very surprised," McLain said. "You don't pitch 340 innings (this season) and then get yanked out."

"Do you plan on seeing Mayo (Manager Mayo Smith) about it," he was asked.
"I just may do that," he said.

"I think he did what he thought he had to do," said pitching coach Johnny Sain.

McLain allowed only three hits and three walks, but he was behind on many batters and two of the walks came in the fourth inning in front of a pair of singles as the Cardinals went ahead 3-0.

"Control was his problem," Smith said. "I don't think it had a bit to do with nerves."

McLain will face Gibson again Sunday in Detroit.

"It's always an advantage to play in your home park, but actually I prefer to pitch away because most other parks are larger," Denny said.

WASN'T TO BLAME
The Cardinals stole three bases against the Tigers Wednesday. Mayo said the blame shouldn't all fall on catcher Bill Freehan.

"It wasn't just Freehan," Smith said. "The pitcher has to control the base runners."

"The stolen bases didn't account for one run," said Freehan. "I'm not making excuses for my throws you understand, but that's just the way it is."

Gibson set a World Series record in the game by striking out 17 batters. The old record of 15 was set by the Los Angeles Dodgers' Sandy Koufax against the New York Yankees in 1963.

"That was the whole show," Smith said.

"I've seen that guy pitch before, but this was his best."

McLain wouldn't take anything away from Gibson's victory. "That was the greatest performance I've ever seen," he said.

Mickey Stanley, the regular Tiger centerfielder who is playing shortstop for the Series, got two hits off Gibson. "Both were breaking balls," he said. "He's definitely the best pitcher I ever faced."

Taylor's Record Is Impressive
Don Taylor, who will perform at tight end for the Lubbock High Westerners against Big Spring here Friday night, brings good credentials as a pass receiver to town.

He's been the target of Lubbock passers seven times thus far this year and has caught all seven of them.

At 160 pounds, Taylor is considered small for a starter but Big Spring scouts say he is one of the toughest high school players around. He plays linebacker on defense.

Inductions Slated In Hall Of Fame

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex. (AP) — Five players from the 1920s of the Texas Interscholastic League will be inducted into the High School Football Hall of Fame here Dec. 2.

Coaching names like Matty Jones, who coached at Austin College, Southwestern Military School at Dallas, Wichita Falls and Sam Houston State, will induct his star of 1922 at Wichita Falls—Leo Baldwin—into the Hall.

The fourth living player to get the honor is Blue Smith, who starred at Cleburne in 1920 when the League first held a football race. Harold V. Ratliff, retired sports editor of The Associated Press and historian of the Interscholastic League, will induct Smith into the Hall of Fame.

Boody Johnson, waco great of 1922 who died last year, will be inducted posthumously, with his widow, Mrs. Gertrude Johnson, receiving the plaque from Dave Campbell, sports editor of the Waco News-Tribune.

A committee headed by Puff Powell of the Amarillo News-Globe made the selection of these five to receive the first awards of the Texas High School Football Hall of Fame.

The rest of the Top Ten consisted of Northern Michigan, fourth Lenoir Rhyne, fifth, Texas A&I, seventh; Fairmont, W. Va., ninth, and Tennessee State, 10th.

In the Second Ten were Louisiana Tech, Texas-Arlington, Mortan State, Eastern Washington, Arkansas State, Western Kentucky, Akron, Tampa, Indiana, Pa., and Trinity, Tex.

The Top 20, with first place votes and total points, points awarded for 15 picks on basis of 20, 18, 16, 14, 12, 10, 9, 8, etc.

The Toros will be seeking their first victory in four starts. They have lost to Andrews, 25-6, and been tied by the Big Spring Brahmas, 6-6, and Snyder Travis, 6-6.

The ninth grade Brahmas and Runnels' eighth graders will pop up in Andrews for games, with the Yearlings scheduled at 5 p.m. against the Andrews ninth grade B team and the Brahmas squaring off with the Andrews ninth grade A squad at 6:30 p.m.

Runnels is 2-1, having shaded Big Spring Goliad, 14-6, and Colorado City, 46-0, while losing to Snyder Lamar, 12-6.

The Brahmas are 0-2-1. They lost to Snyder Lamar, 26-14, and Colorado City, 20-14, after opening their season with a 6-6 tie against the Big Spring Toros.

Record-setting stuff is probably a better description. Gibson struck out 17 batters and broke the World Series strikeout record as the Cardinals wanded the Detroit Tigers 4-0. Sandy Koufax held the old record of 15 strikeouts, set in 1963 against the New York Yankees.

Gibson had no idea what he had accomplished by striking out Al Kaline in the ninth inning. "When you're pitching, you're too involved to know," Gibson said. "I don't imagine many guys know about it until it's all over. But the people were clapping and I didn't know why. Then Timmy walked out from behind the plate and pointed to the scoreboard. I was saying to myself 'get behind there and catch.' Finally I looked up there and saw it."

Both men agreed it wasn't Gibson's best game.

"No, I don't think so," McCarter reflected. "He's pitched games as good as this. I can think of others when he could have had as many strikeouts. There was one game here against Los Angeles this year and he had great stuff. He lost that game."

McCarter said Gibson threw more breaking pitches than he normally did. "His fastball is always his best pitch," McCarter said. "His slider might approach it sometimes, but the fastball is the best pitch. He is a nasty pitcher to hit against. I'm glad I don't have to."

Gibson said he had used his breaking stuff more.

"You know right away when you have a good breaking ball, and when you know you're not afraid to use it," Gibson said. "I wasn't sure about my fastball the first couple of innings and I asked Timmy. He said it wasn't that good and my breaking ball was better."

A&I Rated 7th By AP

San Diego State continued to lead The Associated Press' small college football poll Wednesday while Weber State of Utah and New Mexico Highlands climbed into the Top Ten.

San Diego State collected 12 of 6 first-place votes after downing Montana State 34-22 for its third straight victory.

Weber State jumped from 12th to sixth with a 21-14 win over Northern Arizona. New Mexico Highlands rose from 13th to eighth by crushing Hiram Scott 72-0.

North Dakota State beat Northern Illinois 31-13 and moved up from third to second while Eastern Kentucky, runner-up last week, dropped to third despite a 23-20 triumph over East Tennessee.

Bob Gibson Casting Long Shadow Again

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Just as he did last year, St. Louis' Bob Gibson has turned a potentially great pitching duel into a one-sided affair and confronted the opposition with the problem of finding another road to a World Series victory.

Gibson, who completely dominated his seventh-game match with Boston's Jim Lonborg last year, struck out 17 and allowed just five hits as the Cardinals won Wednesday's opener with a 4-0 decision over Denny McLain and the Detroit Tigers.

OUTLOOK COMPLEX
The 32-year-old right-hander so overwhelmed the Tigers—he permitted two men on base in only one inning—that they may be faced with the problem of how to lose to Gibson and still win the Series.

Mickey Lolich was the Detroit starter for today's second game, and Earl Wilson is Manager Mayo Smith's choice for Game No. 3 in Detroit Saturday.

Thus, now that the Tigers have seen what they can't do against Gibson, Louch and Wilson have the task of trying to do Nelson Bries and Ray Washburn what Gibson did to McLain.

McLain, meanwhile, had the problem of getting over his anger following Wednesday's loss. Smith pulled the 31 game winner for a pinch hitter in the sixth inning.

"Yes, I was very surprised," said the 24-year-old right-hander, commenting on his early exit. "You don't pitch 340 innings and then get yanked out."

Asked if he might talk to his manager about it, McLain replied, "I just may do that."

The Tigers, however, not only have to talk about what to do to get past Gibson, but they also have to do more than they did Wednesday.

At the same time, though, Smith was rewarded for his bold experiment of playing center fielder Mickey Stanley at short in order to get Al Kaline into the lineup. Stanley played flawlessly in the field while rapping two hits, and Kaline doubled in the sixth, the only inning the Tigers had two men on base.

"His pitching was on a par with anything I've ever seen," said Kaline, a 16-year veteran. "He had an excellent breaking ball. I know he's a great pitcher, probably one of the great."

"I didn't feel strong, but I did have real good control," said Gibson, who posted 13 shutouts among his 22 victories during the season. "You know getting more strikeouts doesn't necessarily mean you pitched a better game."

No matter how Gibson graded his effort, it was far superior to McLain's. The 24-year-old right-hander issued two walks that contributed to St. Louis' three-run outburst in the fourth inning.

Following the passes to Roger Maris and Tim McCarter, Mike Shannon singled to left for one run and Javier later knuckled in two more runs with a single. Brock hit a 3-2 pitch off reliever Pat Dobson for a homer in the seventh.

LOOKING 'EM OVER
With Tommy Hart

The current and future District 3-AAAA football schedules aren't the best ever devised by man. The arrangement calls for Big Spring to visit Odessa three times this season and Abilene Cooper to call as many times there in 1969. They say that visitors, like fish, begin to smell after three days.

Big Spring's Charley Johnson, no doubt, earned the starting berth at quarterback for the St. Louis Cardinals against New Orleans Sunday by completing three of four passes against San Francisco the preceding week.

All were for short yardage but Charley proved he was on target. Johnson also ran for three yards in one carry against the 49ers. He's prone to set up the defense for a run by making it scatter like quail when he retreats as if to pass. He's not a scambler but he knows an avenue of escape when he sees it and, for that reason, is a respected ball carrier.

Melvin Lindsey, the former Steer coaching aide, is now a life insurance salesman in Waco. He's one of 25 ex-coaches employed within the state by the same firm.

Rabbit hunting has become all but a lost sport in Texas. One nimirad says it is because the bunny is not protected by game laws within the state.

In other words, it takes the pleasure out of the endeavor by making it legal to hunt for rabbits anytime.

Kyle Rosene, the JV football back here, has fine balance as a runner and should be a great asset to the Steers by 1969. The JV's also have one of the more exciting runners around in Herman Evans. He doesn't always run to daylight but he's hard to corral in an open field.

Ron Sellers, an outstanding pass receiver for Florida State this fall, has the unusual nickname of Jingle Joints.

George Carly, Odessa College's splendid hurdler, failed to qualify for the U.S. Olympic track squad because he finished no better than eighth with a 14.0 clocking in the 110-meter hurdles at Lake Tahoe.

Carly did well to even make the trials, however, and he has done the distance in 13.5. He could go to Europe with a U.S. team in 1969.

He'll be back at Odessa to complete his eligibility next spring, so coach George Roach insists. He's not there now, however.

The Big Ten hasn't had a player chosen for the Heisman Trophy for 14 years now.

Leroy Keyes of Purdue is likely this year but he'll have to go some to beat out USC's O. J. Simpson. The success the two teams experience will, no doubt, have a lot to do with which one is gifted with the award.

Leaves President With Three Choices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The withdrawal of Abe Fortas' nomination to be chief justice has left President Johnson with three choices.

Chief Justice Earl Warren said earlier he'd stay on if Fortas weren't confirmed by the Senate, removing any need for quick action.

He will be on the bench when the Supreme Court opens Monday.

FIGHT PLEDGE

Warren said last July his open-ended retirement—which was seized as a major issue by Fortas opponents—avoids "the danger of 4-to-4 decision" in the Supreme Court term beginning Monday.

Johnson could submit a new nomination before Congress adjourns, or make a recess appointment that would be subject to confirmation in the Senate's next session. And he could simply do nothing.

The men who spearheaded the opposition to the Fortas nomination and cheered its withdrawal Wednesday are for this last alternative. They promised to fight any attempt by Johnson to name a new chief justice.

Policeman Gets Honors At Webb

St. Darwin R. Hadrick, a member of the security police force at Webb AFB, has been named the Headquarters Squadron's Non-Commissioned Officer of the Month for September. Sgt. Hadrick serves as both a desk sergeant and patrolman. He is the non-commissioned officer-in-charge of the base color guard. The sergeant came to Webb from Udorn Royal Thai AB, Thailand. There he served with the 432nd Combat Support Group. For his performance there, the sergeant received the Vietnamese Campaign Ribbon and the Commendation Medal.

The 3 1/2 year Air Force veteran joined the service in 1965. He is a native of Napoleonville, La., and was graduated from W. H. Reed High School in Napoleonville in 1964.

new nomination," said Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., who started the drive against Fortas.

"We are on the eve of a decision by the people concerning new government," he said. Asked if he thought Johnson would offer another chief justice nomination, Sen. Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., said: "I very much hope he doesn't."

In 1960, Johnson as majority leader supported a resolution that Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., guided through the Senate opposing any recess Supreme Court appointments by outgoing President Eisenhower. Warren told a news conference last July: "I am obliged to stay on, I suppose that under the oath I am obliged to per-

Pennsylvania Ballet Put Third On Concert Series

Since the days when Ruth Page first brought her Chicago Civic Ballet here, Big Spring audiences have demonstrated a great affinity for the ballet.

In the intervening years, there have been some notable artists such as Marjorie Tallchief, George Skibine and others who have delighted audiences with what is perhaps the most graceful and beautiful form of the moving arts.

This year, as the third program in the current series of the Big Spring Civic Concert Association, the Pennsylvania Ballet—a company of 55 with symphony orchestra—will perform here. The date is Monday, Feb. 3.

Last season the company toured from Florida to Chicago and touched off glowing notices everywhere. A New York Times critic described the Pennsylvania group as having "brilliance—command of style—a company very well worth seeing." UPI described it as a "major force in the world of dance." The Saturday Review classed it as a "well-trained, highly attractive and spirited company."

The Pennsylvania Ballet is relatively young as cultural

Speak Of Turning Israel Into 'Viet'

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Guerrilla fighters speak confidently of turning Israel into another Vietnam if it takes 20 years.

They claim to represent the objective of a restored Palestine in the area that is now Israel, and some of them at least seem impelled by a fanaticism spawned in the loss of a homeland. They reject in advance any Middle East settlement that provides for the continued existence of the Jewish-led state.

NO SHORTAGE

The best available information indicates that the guerrillas are currently about 3,000 strong, with no shortage of recruits or money to buy weapons.

Jordan officials describe them as a problem for the Arab governments. Leaders of Al Fatah, most effective of several guerrilla organizations, argue that the Arab people would overthrow any Arab government within 24 hours if it began peace talks with Israel.

Most guerrilla camps are in Jordan. "Let King Hussein raise a finger to begin negotiations and we will cut it off," threatened one Al Fatah member. "The king would like to talk peace with the Jews but he knows he cannot." If it came to a showdown, Jordan's army, by striking hard and fast might be strong enough to overcome guerrilla resistance. But every week the guerrillas seem to become stronger, in numbers, efficiency and firepower.

The guerrillas harbor no hopes of a quick victory over the Israelis and an Al Fatah spokesman reported boys of 9 and 10 are being trained to carry on in the years ahead.

"We are still in the first stage of a long campaign," he said. "This is the stage of hit and run. We know we are not strong enough to tackle the Israeli army in the occupied territories. We can only make life uncomfortable for them."

Boiler Bids To Be Opened

Bids were to be opened at 5 p.m. Thursday by the Howard County Junior College board of trustees for enlargement and modification of the boiler house and installation of a new boiler. A contract was awarded previously for the boiler itself with the understanding that it would be in place and in working order before the onset of cold weather.

Coal Strikes Idle 43,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Contract negotiators concentrated on fringe benefits today, while soft coal miners resisted the prodding of union officials trying to curb scattered wildcat strikes which have idled nearly 43,000 men.

Reports from bargaining between the United Mine Workers and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association Wednesday said the two sides reached agreement on a wage hike of more than $1 a day for a new two-year contract.

But despite Wednesday's report of progress, strikes mushroomed in the coal fields of five states, where about 30,000 men had been on strike Tuesday.

The latest tabulation showed 21,200 out in West Virginia, 7,500 in Pennsylvania, 6,800 in Ohio, 4,000 in Kentucky and 3,200 in Illinois.

A further indication of progress in the talks, racing a midnight Tuesday deadline, came from Harvey Younker of Ebensburg, Pa., a member of the 125-man Wage Policy Committee which must approve any proposed contract.

The committee convened in Washington once in anticipation of an agreement, then scurried home after the wildcat walkouts started Monday. Younker said he expected to be recalled to the negotiations, "the next few days."

Lt. Webb Receives Academic Award

2nd Lt. Edwin G. Webb, Class 69-06, has been named to receive the T-37 Academic Award. His average for academic courses throughout the T-37 phase was 98.42.

Lt. Col. John W. Oshant, commander, 3561st Student Squadron, presented the certificate of award at a recent commander's call.

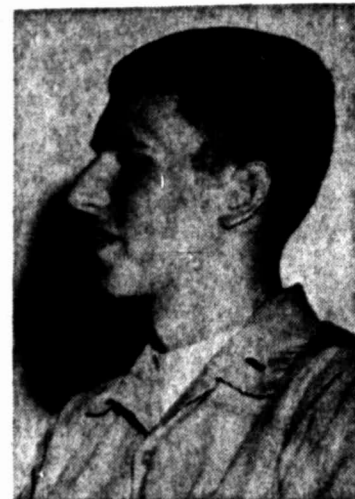

The lieutenant's name will be engraved on a plaque which hangs in Withycombe Hall, the academics building.

The award is made to a member of each class as it completes the eight courses and 10 examinations in the T-37 academic program. Competition for the award starts when the class enters airmanship class and ends with the weather course. Also included in the 174 hours of instruction are: T-37 aviation physiology, T-37 systems operation, principles of flight, flight instruments, VFR navigation and IFR navigation.

A graduate of the University of Southern California, with a degree in mathematics, Lt. Webb entered pilot training shortly after he completed officer training school. He participated actively in athletics in college, and the lieutenant finished his degree program with a 3.240 grade point average.

He was a member of the AAU water polo team which finished second in the Olympic game trials. Following this feat, he was named to the All-America team. In 1966, a member of the AAU indoor National water polo team, he was again named All-American.

Married during his senior year at USC, Lt. Webb and his wife, Linda, expect his flying career to extend through many years.

The bidding:
 East South West North
 Pass 2NT Pass 6NT
 Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♠
 The bidding was short and to the point. South's opening call of two no trump is a shade off center perhaps, inasmuch as he lacks a true stopper in diamonds. However, holding 22 high card points, no other bid would be considered acceptable. North has 11 points and two suits that can be developed which is enough to assure a sound play for a small slam in no trump.

West opened the ten of hearts which was taken in the closed hand with the jack. South counted 11 top tricks —three spades, four hearts, one diamond, and three clubs. There was a good chance to score a 12th in the diamond suit for, if West holds one of the missing honors, South can develop the fulfilling trick by taking repeated finesses thru his opponent.

There was also a prospect of dropping the jack of clubs. Declarer, however, spotted a method of eliminating all guesswork provided that West held at least three hearts. He proceeded to cash all his hearts, discarding two diamonds from dummy. West followed suit, while East parted with a club on the fourth round.

Having completed the preliminaries, declarer now exited by leading the jack of diamonds and letting it ride into the East hand. The latter won the trick with the queen; however, there was no return that he could make that would not surrender a trick. If he led back either a spade, diamond or a club, it would present South with a free finesse for his 12th trick.

Had West shown out on an early round of hearts, declarer has sufficient time to alter his line of play to include the other prospects.

Rehab Week Is Declared Here

Rehabilitation Week in Big Spring, so proclaimed by Mayor Arnold Marshall, will be observed with a series of service club luncheons at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

The Jaycees will meet there Monday, the Rotarians on Tuesday, the Downtown Lions on Wednesday, the Kiwanians on Thursday, the ABC and Civitans on Friday. Optimists will be there the following week.

Plans are to have the luncheon in the center's patio, then to tour the building where staff members will explain and demonstrate various facilities and items of equipment, said James Thompson, therapist.

Doll Dressers Are Needed

The Salvation Army has turned out to Mrs. Jesse Crane Jr., 433 Hillside, some 150 undressed dolls to be readied for the Christmas project.

Mrs. Crane is to be in charge of getting dresses made for the dolls. Lt. Bart Deggs, commander of the local SA corps, said that at least as many more dolls would be needed as those on hand. He appealed for others who have dolls they can give to bring them to the citadel or to contact his office.

'Twiggy' Takes On New Look

British model, Twiggy, appears on Merv Griffin show in New York yesterday as she returns to the United States for a visit. It's a new Twiggy that has come across the Atlantic this time, with longer hair and a full pound heavier, as she says, "to look more feminine."

Mrs. Harold Rosson Speaks On Counseling

Mrs. Harold Rosson, counselor at Big Spring Senior High School, was one of two guest speakers when the Scenic Chapter of the American Business Women's Association, held a salad supper in the garden of Mrs. Paul Guy.

Mrs. Rosson, a teacher for three years and counselor for three, described the counseling program at the school. Most of the counselors' time is spent working with over 2,000 students on their schedules. Stressing the importance of good student-teacher communication, she told how counselors work with the student to arrive at the best schedule for the individual, making changes in necessary. A complete file is kept on the student during his years in public school, and this file is used for reference concerning possible scholarships or jobs.

The counselors would like to take career opportunities to the students, advising them of career fields and helping them determine for which they are best suited. Also, the office provides the student with information on colleges, training institutions and specialized schools.

The second speaker was Mrs. Star Warford of the Big Spring Concert Association who described the coming season's programs. Noting that this year's budget was $14,500, she urged attendance at the programs. Adult season tickets sell for $10, and student tickets at $4. Both speakers were introduced by Mrs. Troy White, program chairman.

The vocational speaker was Mrs. Guy, owner and operator of Doris Letter Shop. Mrs. Guy said the shop specializes on offset printing and illustrated the process.

Mrs. George Mixon presided for the business session, and Miss Shirley White, education chairman, introduced the chapter's scholarship recipient, Miss Paula Stuteville of Howard County Junior College.

Mrs. Mixon and Mrs. Tony Barron will attend the national convention in Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 18-20.

An attendance contest was slated to begin Oct. 3 with the winning team to receive a free dinner. Mrs. Thomas Orndorff, tea chairman, expressed appreciation to those working on the recent membership tea, and Mrs. Lambert Miskewicz, means chairman, reported that the chapter will be selling home products, napkins and ABWA pin shields as a fund-raising project.

Candlelight services were held for two new members, Mrs. Ruby Exline and Mrs. Drew Hunter. There were seven guests, Mrs. Robert Rodman, Miss Stuteville, Miss Elaine Burks, Mrs. Andy Arcand, Mrs. Dean Christen, Mrs. A. C. Moore and Mrs. O. A. Badwich.

The November meeting will be at the Silver Star Restaurant, and the guest speaker will be Dr. Charles Warren.

A LOVELIER YOU

Clean, Press, Hang Clothes To Store

By MARY SUE MILLER

How will this summer's clothes look to you next summer? It depends in a large part on how well you bed them down for their winter's nap.

To come out of a long slumber looking as great as Sleeping Beauty, clothes have to go to rest as pretty as she. Otherwise they will become progressively seedy. For daisy-fresh results, follow this general plan:

Wash or dry clean all outerwear. Left over the winter, even a few grains of dust become ingrained. Not to mention spots! Don't neglect pressing of cleansed garments. Wrinkles may set if not pressed out. Rough-finished clothes are false economy.

Do not replace missing hooks, buttons and stitches; secure all fastenings. That way garments keep their shape and are ready-to-wear or close to it.

Hang fabric dresses, jackets, and coats from wide-shouldered hangers; suspend skirts from skirt hangers. Cover each garment with a slip-on protector or place in dustfree, multiple storage bags. Fold knits, shorts and beach wear over thick rolls of tissue paper, place in tightly covered boxes and label for easy access.

Similarly clean, wrap, box and label accessories — including shoes.

Before stowing hangers and boxes, sweeten the resting place with a vigorous cleaning.

Depending on the need, spray with moth or mildew preparations.

Thus clothes weather the season.

BEAUTY OF HOUSEWORK

Attention, homemakers! If housework saps your energies, looks and nerves, send for my booklet, "Beauty of Housework." It explains how to keep home and self sparkling with time to spare. Also included are an effort-saving work plan, shortcuts in housekeeping, and advice on how to give yourself a beauty treatment while engaged in your duties. For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 25 cents in coin and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Daniel Johnson presided and Payte worded the opening prayer. Mrs. John Coffee's class won the room count.

Reading Problems Are Explained By Doctor

Dr. Harold Smith was guest chairman, introduced the speaker at Tuesday's meeting. Mrs. T. A. Harris of the Big Spring City Council presided and introduced the executive committee. Mrs. Dan Goliad Cafeteria Shockey read the proposed budget.

Dr. Smith discussed the problems of children who have average, or above, IQ's but who have difficulty in reading or making correct sounds. He told set for 9 a.m., Oct. 29, at the First Federal Community Room, sponsored by the council. Mrs. Harris urged all members through combined efforts of specialized educators and doctors working with the students.

Baptist Association To Hold Annual Meeting

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. C. Frank Prewitt will direct the singing, and Bible study will be held at 3:45 p.m. and 6:35 p.m. by Dr. Bill Smith of Hardin-Simmons University. The Rev. L. B. Edwards, pastor of the Westbrook Baptist Church, will bring the annual sermon, and the 8 p.m. service will be delivered by Dr. Pete Forderhase.

To Sponsor Sale

The Forsan Parent Teacher Association will sponsor a garage and bake sale Friday and Saturday from 9 to 5 p.m. The regular congregational program will begin at 3 p.m.

West Texas Lodges To Meet Here

The Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 will host the West Texas 100F and Rebekah Assembly Saturday in the 100F Hall. The announcement was made at Tuesday's meeting of the lodge by Mrs. S. A. Wilson, noble grand. Mrs. Earl Wilson is president of the assembly.

Mrs. Gordon Gross, district deputy president of District 11 installed the new officers. They include Mrs. A. G. Hall, noble grand; Mrs. J. L. Unger, vice grand; Mrs. C. N. Gilliland, wardress; Mrs. Tom McAdams, conductress; Mrs. A. F. Gilliland, chaplain; Mrs. Logan Grider, musician; Mrs. E. V. Cockerham, color bearer; Mrs. Emmett Hull, flag bearer; Mrs. Gene Cronshaw and Mrs. L. A. Griffith, right and left support of noble grand; Mrs. Henry Roger and Mrs. A. F. Hill, right and left support to vice grand; and Mrs. J. L. Hanke, inner guard.

Also, Mrs. Jewel Fields, outer guard; Mrs. B. A. Bunn and Mrs. Beulah Morrison, chaplains; Mrs. Earl Wilson and Mrs. F. Brown, right and left supports to the past noble grand; Mrs. Marion Mangum, reporter; and Mrs. Gene Cronshaw, funeral marshal.

Mrs. Hall's theme for the year will be "Friendship," and her guide will be the Bible. Her flower will be the gardenia, and her colors will be green, pink and white.

Guests Speak To Gardeners

Mrs. A. W. Cowden and Mrs. R. L. Grubbs, both of Midland, were guest speakers at the Wednesday morning meeting of the Big Spring Garden Club in the home of Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, 511 Hillside, with Mrs. L. B. Edwards as cohostess.

"Roses will grow anywhere," said Mrs. Cowden, as she told how to plant, water and prune the bushes for best results with blooms. She stressed that the bushes should be pruned from four to six inches by the end of February, suggesting that pruning could be easily done while cutting the roses.

Mrs. Grubbs spoke on chrysanthemums, using the flower sprays in showing how to dish the plants. Both speakers were introduced by Mrs. D. O. Gray who arranged the program.

Mrs. Bruce Frazier presided during the business session.

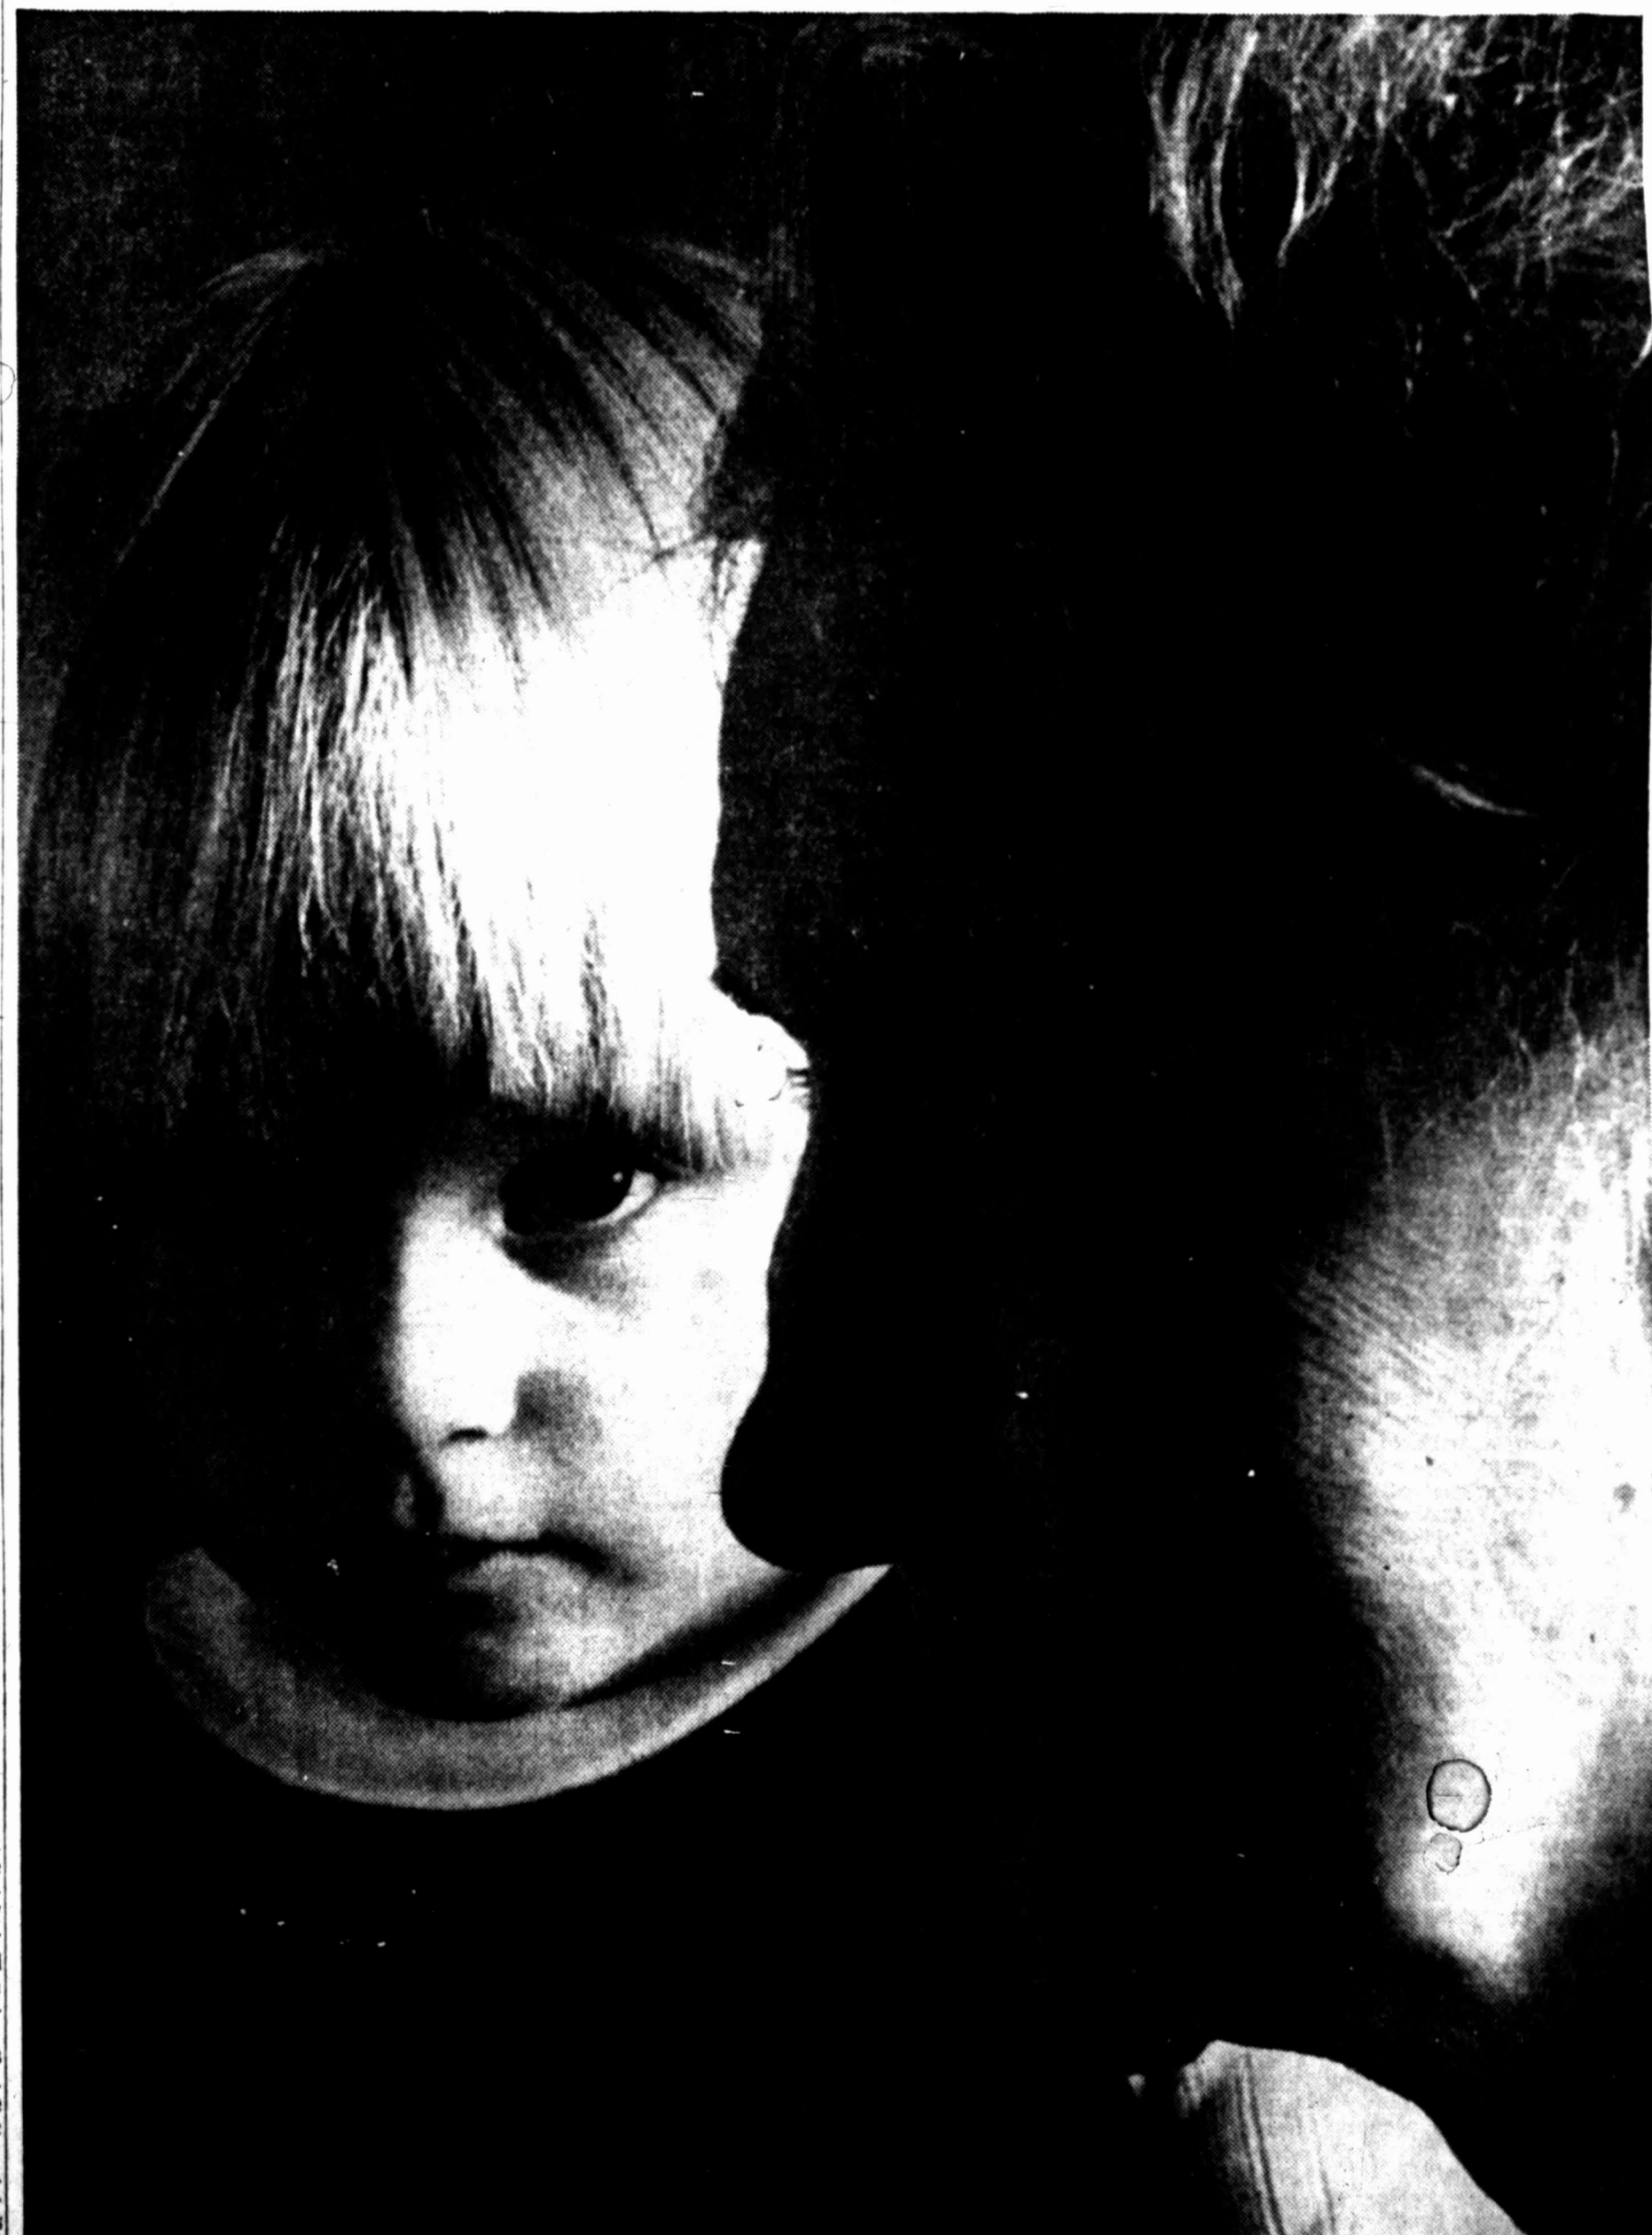

NCO Wives Club Plans Luncheon

Mrs. Noel Shelton presided at Tuesday's meeting of the NCO Wives Club at the NCO Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base. Mrs. Thomas White was introduced as a guest, and two new members, Mrs. Fred Ponte and Mrs. C. Benavides, were welcomed. The next meeting will be the monthly luncheon, Tuesday, at the NCO Open Mess. All NCO wives are invited to attend, and nursery care will be furnished by the club.

GIVE THE UNITED WAY

MRS. R. C. SHAVER

Hospitality Keynotes R. C. Shaver Home Life

By RHODA LEMONS

The R. C. Shaver family, 703 Highland, is a "unit" that enjoys entertaining others and being entertained. Each has separate and diversified interests, and yet, each is brought together under the hospitality of the home.

The Shavers have three children, Mark, 16, a senior at Big Spring Senior High School; Jill, 14, a freshman at BSHS; and Scott, 9, a fourth grader at College Heights Elementary School.

"I received a cook book, 'The Joy of Cooking,' as a wedding present," said Mrs. Shaver. It is still her favorite recipe book. It is filled with recipes for the beginner on up to gourmet cooks, and as she has progressed in cooking prowess, she now uses the more complicated recipes.

"My husband enjoys good food, but he is usually easy to cook for," said Mrs. Shaver. "We enjoy quite a few of our own creations which are a little different." Mrs. Shaver, her husband and the two older children all cook, often experimenting with basic recipes.

The Shavers entertain a great deal in a relaxed manner. Mrs. Shaver likes "spontaneous company" and her children feel free at any time to invite a group over for snacks or to spend the night. Mrs. Shaver usually serves a basic recipe such as "their chili," brown bread and a salad.

Scott is interested in football, drama and choir and often asks a group of boys over for a late meal or to spend the night after a practice session. Jill likes to have overnight company, and she and her girl friends find the kitchen a natural place in which to gather and learn how to cook. (They clean up afterward.)

Shaver broke his leg recently, and at the time was slated to direct the Little Theatre production of "The Drunkard."

Consequently, most of the rehearsals were held in the Shaver home. Mrs. Shaver served snacks and drinks to the entire group and the family "thoroughly enjoyed the whole thing."

Mrs. Shaver makes a meat pie that she serves when entertaining or for weekend suppers, and she often prepares a cobler and serves it hot with milk. Shaver is the outdoor cook, and according to his wife, he is without equal in broiling a Pike's Peak roast with hickory chips.

The family enjoys casseroles, one dish meals and meat loaf. Mrs. Shaver admits that mushroom soup adds a pleasant and quick way to change a menu, but their chili recipe is "something else" accented with peanut butter and other unusual additives. The recipe is listed below. Another family favorite is French Carbonade.

The family has breakfast together, and the children eat at school. Shaver comes home to lunch occasionally, and the family tries to eat together at night if conflicting appointments don't interfere.

Mrs. Shaver is a Mary Kay Cosmetics beauty consultant, and her husband is associated with Sid Richardson Carbon Company.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Used By Mrs. R. C. Shaver

JOHNNY MARZETTI

- 2 lbs. ground beef
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- 3 cans kidney beans, drained
- 8-oz. pkg. noodles
- 1 cup cheddar or American cheese, grated
- 1 tsp. salt
- 2 tsp. pepper
- 1 large can tomato juice or one large can tomato sauce
- 1 can water

Cook noodles as directed. Brown ground beef and onions. Use as first layer in three quart pot or casserole. Sprinkle one-third of grated cheese over meat and onion mixture. Add drained beans, sprinkle with one-third cheese. Add drained, salted noodles as top layer. Pour tomato juice into mixture by poking with table knife and let it soak. Sprinkle rest of cheese over top. Bake in 350 degree oven for one hour or until bubbly. Remove any excess juice with ladle. Cover, until last 15 minutes, then remove cover for browning.

ONE DISH STEW
Do not precook in any way. Mix together in casserole and cover with tight lid:
2 lbs. beef stew meat, cubed
1 No. 2 can young English peas
1 cup sliced carrots (lengthwise)
2 onions, chopped
1 tsp. salt
Dash pepper
1 can tomato soup, thinned with 1/2 can water
1 large or 2 small potatoes, cut into pieces
1 bay leaf (optional)

Put all ingredients together in casserole and close tightly with lid; cook for five hours at 350 degrees. For added flavor, add two stalks cut-up celery and a small can of mushrooms. Use liquid from peas and mushrooms to help make up the one-half can water mixed with the soup. Pour the soup, seasoning, peas and mushroom mix over the other ingredients.

SLOPPY JOE FOR FORTY

(Will serve crowd)

- 8 lbs. ground beef
- 1/2 cup dried minced onion or 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. pepper
- 4 cups catsup
- 2 8-oz. cans tomato sauce
- 2 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce (optional)
- 2 tbsps. chili powder

Brown ground beef in one large or two medium pans. Add onions and brown. Add listed ingredients to taste and other seasonings if desired. Some barbecue sauce adds a good flavor (1/4-1/2 cup). Add water if mixture becomes too thick. Skim off grease as it cooks out. Serve on buns. (Use imagination and season to suit your family.)

YANKEE CHILI

- 2 lbs. ground beef
- 1 medium onion, chopped or grated
- 2 large cans tomato sauce
- 3 cans red kidney beans, drained
- 1 1/2 tbsps. chili powder
- 2 tbsps. salt
- 1 tsp. pepper
- 1 tsp. cocoa (optional)
- 1 tsp. honey
- 1 tsp. peanut butter (optional)
- 1 tsp. mustard
- 1/2 tsp. horseradish (optional)

Brown beef and onions. Add beans, tomato sauce and seasonings. Taste and adjust accordingly. Skim grease off with ladle. Serve with black or sesame bread and tossed salad.

CARBONADE (French Stew)

- 3 lbs. stew meat, cut into pieces
- 2 tbsps. butter
- 6 medium onions, chopped

1 tsp. flour
2 tbsps. granulated sugar
1/2 cup beef consommé soup or 1/2 cup water and 4 beef bouillon cubes
1 can light beer
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper
2 bay leaves (optional)

In Dutch oven or large pot, heat butter. Add meat; cook until well browned on all sides. Remove meat. Add onions to pan, cook until slightly browned. Stir in flour and sugar and cook until well browned.

Stir in consommé and beer, and bring to boil. Return meat to pan; add salt, pepper, bay leaves and cover tightly. Simmer for three hours until tender.

SPEEDY BEEF STEW

- 2 cans (1 lb. 8 oz. each) beef stew
- 1 pkg. (9 oz.) frozen green beans
- 1 pkg. (8 oz.) refrigerator biscuits

Sliced stuffed olives
Cook green beans according to package directions. Drain and combine with stew. Place mixture in a two-quart baking dish. Arrange biscuits on top. Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes, or until biscuits are done. Garnish biscuits with sliced stuffed olives. Makes six servings.

Make Cool Dessert From Fruit Juices

Fruit juice from the pantry shelf makes a frozen dessert.
CRANBERRY ICE CREAM
1/4 cup sugar
1 tsp. cornstarch
2 cups cranberry juice cocktail
1 tsp. unflavored gelatin
1 tsp. water
1/2 tsp. almond extract
2 cups heavy cream, whipped

Combine sugar and cornstarch, gradually stir in cranberry juice; then cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until juice bubbles and thickens slightly.

Softening gelatin in water for five minutes, then stir into hot juice until dissolved. Cool, stirring occasionally. Fold in almond extract and whipped cream. Freeze until almost firm. Turn out into a bowl and beat until fluffy.

Refreeze until almost hard; then beat again until fluffy. Pour into freezer container and cover tightly. Freeze until firm. Makes about two pints.

Unusual Dish

Ever add chunks of canned pineapple (drained) to baked beans? Nice to serve with ham or boneless smoked pork shoulder.

Serve Southern Beans And Bacon

SOUTHERN GREEN BEANS
The younger the snap beans, the better they'll taste.
4 slices bacon
1 lb. snap beans
1 cup boiling water
1 tsp. salt

Pepper to taste
In a 10-inch skillet over low heat (so bacon fat stays as white as possible), cook bacon until crisp; crumble bacon; reserve fat. Cut ends from beans; scrub in cold water; cut crosswise into one-inch slanted pieces.
In a medium saucepan, bring beans, boiling water and salt to a boil; cover and boil (lifting cover a few times to help keep beans green) until tender-crisp—about 10 minutes. Drain.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Brown pork chops in a skillet, then pour barbecue sauce around them and bake, uncovered, in a moderate oven until they are tender. Baste the chops, occasionally with the sauce while they are baking.

When you stuff a whole fish for baking, cut several gashes in the top — at even intervals — and insert small pieces of bacon in the gashes.

Delicious spread: Cooked shrimp (ground) mixed with butter, mustard, ground mace and sherry plus salt and pepper. Chill the mixture before serving.

Company luncheon salad: cooked shrimp served on lettuce with cooked frozen artichoke hearts, sliced tomatoes and sliced cucumber. Serve Thousand Island Dressing with this.

Cut soft rolls into slices that are about 1 1/2 inches thick. Spread the cut surfaces generously with butter and toast under the broiler. These tidbits are delicious with soup or salad.

When you make garlic bread, you may wrap the loaf in foil — but be sure to leave the foil open at the top so the bread will be crusty.

To dredge pieces of meat, put the meat plus seasoned flour in a brown paper bag; secure the top of the bag and shake thoroughly.

Next time you are making meat patties from ground lamb, try adding a little caraway seed along with the usual salt and pepper.

Speedy Stew Appeals Appetites

Cooler weather is just the right temperature for hot, hearty stew.

"But stew takes time," says a homemaker, "and I have to shop, sew, do the laundry, fix sandwiches for lunch, snacks for after school, attend PTA meetings, umpire all the hassles the family gets into and get to church on Sundays."

What about a quick-fix stew for the busiest of those days? Cook a package of frozen green beans while you open two of the one and one-half pound cans of beef stew, pop in a casserole and top with ready-made biscuits.

It's a great help to a homemaker to have cans of beef stew in the kitchen cabinet. These can be varied with different kinds of frozen or canned vegetables as well as toppings.

Want it fancy? Add mushrooms to canned beef stew and tube hot, seasoned mashed potatoes, fluted or in rosette fashion, atop the stew.

HARVEST NEW CLAMATO DISHES
Ruddy new clam-tomato drink makes sipping hot or cold

Try New Menus With Sauce

The new clamato juice, a spectacular blend of ruddy tomatoes and clean clam flavor, is stealing the spotlight for autumn menus. Its brilliant color, lively accent and instant convenience add fresh variety to menus and pique the appetite without overwhelming it.

Versatile seems to be the word for this new drink. Chili and pour clamato right from the can — it's tasty and refreshing. Use as a base for the exciting Clam Digger Cocktail. Or heat and serve it hot in mugs with a dollop of sour cream — it's hearty and satisfying!

To add glowing warmth with a refreshing seafood flavor to menus for chilly autumn days, Clamato Cioppino is quick and easy to do and downright good to eat. Fishermen on San Francisco's wharf agree that you make Cioppino the way you like it. This guarantees new clamato instant approval. For extra fun buy big bibs and tie one around each guest's neck. Fill sturdy bowls with this meal in itself. Add crusty garlic bread, fresh fruit and black coffee. All anyone needs is time to enjoy a feast.

CLAMATO CIOPPINO SOUP
1 1/2 lbs. firm-fleshed, fresh or frozen fish
3 medium size tomatoes
1/2 cup olive oil
1 large onion, chopped
2 cloves garlic, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
1/2 cup red wine
1 can clamato (16 oz.)
1 can steamed clams in shell (48 oz.)
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. black pepper
1/4 tsp. oregano
1 large potato, diced (2 cups)
1 pkg. (about 9 oz.) frozen lobster tails, thawed, cracked and split lengthwise

1 lb. uncooked frozen shrimps, thawed, peeled and deveined
1/4 cup minced parsley
Cut the raw fish into small serving pieces. Rotate tomatoes on fork over heat until skin pops, peel and chop coarsely, set aside. Heat oil in broad casserole-type pot, add the chopped onion, garlic, green pepper and cook for three minutes.

Stir in tomatoes, wine, clamato, and one and one-third cups of liquid from clams. Season with salt, pepper and oregano, cover and simmer 15 minutes. Add the diced potato and fish, and cook 20 minutes more.

Arrange lobster tails, shrimp and drained clams in pan with fish; cook, uncovered five to seven minutes more until lobster is done. Sprinkle liberally with minced parsley and serve with garlic bread.

For a simple dish, ready right now, offer this new chowder: QUICK CLAM CHOWDER
2 tbsps. butter
2 cups chopped onions
2 cups diced canned potatoes, drained
3 stalks diced celery, drained
1 green pepper, diced
1 can (48 oz.) clamato
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) minced clams
Heat butter, saute diced vegetables until lightly browned. Add clamato and clams. Stir together and simmer 10 minutes. Taste for seasonings, salt and pepper. Serve piping hot with toasted sea biscuits. Makes six generous servings.

For a quick glow, try the new clamato cocktail appetizer. CLAM DIGGER
1 1/2 oz. Vodka
4 oz. clamato juice
Pour over ice cubes in Old Fashioned glass — stir vigorously. Add seasoning to taste, if desired.

ARMY SAYS IT STILL NEEDS THE 20,000 MEN IT CALLED UP

Air Force To Release About 16,000 Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force will release about 16,000 Air National Guardsmen and reservists from active duty by next summer. But the Army says it still needs the 20,000 men it called up to support the Vietnam War.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford announced Wednesday night that some Air Guard and reserve units and individuals will be released before January, the remainder in April, May and June.

NO CINCH
However, Clifford warned the plans "could be changed, of course, if unforeseen circumstances arise."

He did not spell out what those circumstances might be but he obviously meant some new crisis at least as grave as the North Korean capture of the U.S. spy ship Pueblo and last winter's enemy offensive in South Vietnam.

Those developments resulted in a two-stage muster of some 38,000 Air Force, Navy and Army reservists and Guardsmen in late January and mid-May. They were subject to up to two years in uniform.

By releasing the 16,127 Air Guardsmen and reservists gradually over the next nine months, the Air Force said it will be able to replace demobilized pilots and navigators from its training program and by what it calls "personnel management."

Among those to be released is Airman IC Patrick J. Nugent, son-in-law of President Johnson. He has been in Vietnam since April.

REPLACEMENTS
Replacements for the demobilized citizen-armor will have to come from the ranks of the regular Air Force.

"As a result, some airmen will be selected to return to Southeast Asia for a second tour involuntarily sooner than would have been otherwise necessary," the Air Force said.

The Navy announced more than two weeks ago that it will deactivate six reserve squadrons and 600 officers and men by Nov. 1. They, too, were mustered in the wake of the Pueblo seizure. About 1,000 reserve Seabees also are on active duty.

But the Army said it does not now plan to release any of the 20,000 men it called to the colors "except upon expiration of their respective terms of service."

"Only when it is determined that a need for these units no longer exists will they be released prior to the terms of service for which they were called to duty," the Army said after the Air Force move was disclosed.

Six Air Guard squadrons were shipped to Vietnam and South

Korea during the spring and summer.

Guard pilots with the four squadrons of Korean War vintage F100 fighter squadrons already have logged more than 8,000 combat missions. Two have been killed in action. Some 300 medals have been won by Guard fliers.

Clifford said the Vietnam squadrons and two assigned to defend South Korea will be replaced by regular Air Force squadrons, "thus maintaining our force posture in that area at its present level."

First to be released will be some 1,500 individual Guardsmen and reservists who meet certain special criteria.

Four squadrons, a medical evacuation outfit and three support units, will be demobilized by the end of 1968.

Some critics, including congressmen, have attacked the administration for calling up the guardsmen and reservists, contending the Pueblo incident was used as a convenient excuse to beef up forces.

Defending that mobilization, the Air Force said it was "of necessity based on an assessment of the potential for military force requirements," and in a climate of Southeast Asia escalation intensified by the Korean Pueblo incident.

Several groups of Army reservists are fighting, right up to these suits claim the reservists' for their call to active duty agreement with the government members of its reserve force.

Helicopter Scheme
DALLAS (AP) — Ed Mahood of Bell Helicopter Co. of Hurst has told Dallas and Fort Worth leaders that they should actively develop helicopter pads as one solution to the mounting problems of getting people to and from airports.

Horoscope Forecast
TOMORROW
—CARROLL RICHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Only by refusing to get upset and by making a special point to use conscious self-control will you avoid a feeling of frustration or of confusion of the various things that are going on about you today, and tonight. Make a special point to avoid any critical comments to others and downgrading yourself, too.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You had better trust your intuition if you want to understand what the true state of affairs is around you, since you are full of anxiety, worries. You must not make a mistake in one particular situation. This is important!

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Not a day to be with friends who can be quite confusing, so get busy with own affairs. An associate comes some new plan to you. This helps you to be more efficient in the days ahead.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Safeguard your reputation at all cost and be loyal to those in whom you have placed your trust. Show others that you are alert and can be relied upon.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You want to do things in various new directions today, but it pays to do so very carefully. Garner the data you need. Then you have new vistas round out for you leading to greater success.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) This is not a good day for the light fantastic, so get busy getting responsibilities done. You really appear very cleverly. Show others that you are alert and can be relied upon.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan your recreation so that you do not have to expand a good deal of money on it and be with companions who understand you. Do your utmost to please in p.m. Don't fly off the handle so much or so often.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Impress higher-ups or kin that you are more than willing to please them now. Suggest that you or a critical remark to a higher-up or you can get in very hot water. Show that you have extraordinary ability.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be careful of your purse or you can lose valuables very easily now. They would be a source of much grief later on. Be very loyal to associates. Stop criticizing so much, as this is just a bad habit that makes others dislike you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Try to add to present abundance instead of spending more than you can afford, and you win approval of bigwigs, experts in business. Get that budget balanced. Plan the future more intelligently.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Instead of stalling exactly what you want from others, find the right, diplomatic method to use to gain your objectives. Find more fascinating people to associate with socially. Become a happier, more clever person yourself.

'ENEMY HAS CRAWLED BACK INTO THE WOODWORK'

Fighting In Viet Hits Its Lowest Level In A Week

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy firing into it in an apparent effort to force the American forces slammed more than 100 mortar shells into a base of the U.S. base protecting Saigon's northwestern flank today. The enemy troops pulled back after an hour of fighting, leaving 13 dead on the battlefield. Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., Oct. 3, 1968.

planned enemy attacks. In the air war, headquarters announced the loss of the fourth American plane over North Vietnam in the past five days, raising the toll to 903 in more than 3 1/2 years of bombing. A Navy A6 Skyhawk from the 7th Fleet carrier Hancock was downed Wednesday by ground fire two miles below the 19th Parallel bombing limitation for American pilots. The Navy said the pilot bailed out over the Tonkin Gulf seconds before the jet exploded but that a rescue helicopter found only the parachute and a rubber raft. The pilot was listed as missing in action. U.S. pilots flew 130 missions over North Vietnam's southern panhandle Wednesday. They reported destroying or damaging a dozen trucks and 25 sampans and barges ferrying war supplies into South Vietnam. A surface-to-air missile site just below the 19th Parallel also was reported knocked out. UNLUCKY SEVEN Headquarters also announced that seven wounded American infantrymen being lifted out of a battle were killed Tuesday when North Vietnamese gunners shot down a medical evacuation helicopter 55 miles southwest of Da Nang.

Mother Knows Best

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl with a slight problem. I have a favorite uncle (my mother's brother) who is 42. He says I am his favorite niece. We like to be alone together and talk, and he understands me better than either one of my parents.

My problem is my mother. She says she doesn't like me seeing so much of Uncle Bill, and that I should quit calling him up all the time (I love to talk to him on the phone). She even hinted that maybe the feeling wasn't exactly like it should be between an uncle and his niece, which is ridiculous. Do you think my mother is being fair? FAVORITE NIECE DEAR ABBY: I can't say, but I can only guess that your mother is looking out for your best interests. Listen to her, young lady. She knows her brother better than you know your uncle.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter-in-law is getting me down, but I refuse to be a meddling mother-in-law. She has three boys, and her eldest is her favorite. (This isn't just my opinion. Everyone who knows the family can see it.) She buys clothes to fit the eldest, and the two younger ones have to wear them, too. The younger ones look like a couple of clowns. I think it is just terrible. I once bought the younger boys some nice slacks, shirts, and blazers, and she took all of it back to the store and put it toward clothes for the older one!

What can I do without getting in bad with her? HAD IT DEAR ABBY: Where is your son? Tell him! If he doesn't set her straight, the next time you buy something for the two younger boys, tell the merchant that under no circumstances should he allow that mother to return it for a larger size. And why worry about getting "in bad" with her. Who needs her good will?

DEAR ABBY: Will you please give your opinion of the following? Also ask other readers what they think about it.

A lady was having lunch at a popular luncheon room at the noon hour. She sat there sipping a second cup of coffee while she slowly smoked a cigarette. Several people were standing waiting for a place at the counter.

While she was leaving, a woman who had been waiting said to her, "I thought you would never finish that cigarette."

Do you think the rudeness on the part of the lady who was waiting was justifiable?

CURIOS IN PORTLAND

DEAR ABBY: Rudeness is never "justifiable," but it is sometimes understandable.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HJ:

Everyone (and I do mean everyone) has problems of some kind. The healthy people are those who recognize this fact, and seek solutions. Sometimes the "solutions" require professional help. The unhealthy people are those who deny they have problems. Sadly enough, they become "sicker," because problems do not just disappear. They have to be resolved.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A Devotional For The Day

All things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation (II Corinthians 5:18)

PRAYER: Gracious Father in heaven, help me so to live that men may know that I am a follower of Christ. Lead me in my life and my words to invite others to follow Him. Amen.

Ban Common-Law Marriages

The 61st Texas Legislature will clash head-on with a dubiously cherished Old West custom, and it is high time it did. With indicated support from House Speaker-apparent Gus Mutscher of Brenham, Rep. Russell Cummings of Houston will push a bill to ban common-law marriages.

Common-law marriage, effected by open cohabitation as man and wife though without official and-or religious certification, was an acceptable expedient in early times. Civil and religious offices were often many miles distant, practically inaccessible to many poor. Legalizing informal but sincere unions served a truly useful and humanitarian purpose.

But, in modern times, there is no excuse for common law marriage, even in the poverty subculture. And in fact, it has become a legal technicality grossly abused for indefensible motives. Texas is one of only 14 states that still recognize common-law marriages.

In 1959, a Texas Research League report on the children's services of the Texas Department of Public Welfare found that common-law marriages were often merely a cover-up for illicit relationships that swelled the public welfare rolls for federal-state aid to dependent children.

A committee on domestic relations of the Texas Bar Association, quoted in the same report on the state welfare programs, called common-law marriage a "fossil of the frontier days." Added the committee: It encourages immoral relationships, confuses estate law, circumvents marriage-law reforms, cheapens marriage and gives instability to the home.

That would seem to be more than argument enough to get agreement on the bar committee's recommendation that this state abolish common-law marriages. The Legislature should have acted on this years ago, and certainly should not neglect to do so next session.

Ray Of Hope For Settlement

A path to peace in the Middle East may have been opened by a compromise plan presented recently by Russia to the United States. Its most significant provision is superpower guarantees of Arab and Israeli boundaries, the only foreseeable basis for imposing a peaceful settlement in that troubled area.

The Russian plan, as reported by the New York Times, would provide for:

1. Israel's withdrawal to frontiers held before the six-day war of June, 1967.
2. A revived and reinvigorated United Nations "presence" in areas evacuated by Israel.
3. A declaration by the Arab states ending the state of "belligerency" with Israel existing since the 1949 armistice.
4. A four-power guarantee of future peace by the Soviet Union, United States, Britain and France.

If agreement could be reached on these points, the Russians suggested, then negotiations could begin to resolve the crucial issues of Israel's right of passage through the Suez Canal, the status of the Arab refugees, the status of Jerusalem.

The Russian overtures indicate that the Soviet Union may be almost as interested as the United States in defusing the perilous situation in the Middle East. There is no peace, nor hope of peace, as long as Arabs and Israelis exchange artillery and small-arms fire almost daily, and Israel continues to occupy parts of Egypt and Jordan. Acts of Arab terrorism in the occupied zones are likely to increase, not diminish. The threat of resumption of full-scale war is imminent. If that war begins, there is no guarantee that both the United States and Russia will not be sucked into the conflict.

Art Buchwald A Seminar For Hecklers

WASHINGTON — Heckling of speakers has become such a big thing on college campuses these days that it has been decided to hold an Intercollegiate Hecklers Conference in the near future.

The man behind it is Hiram Bullhorn, who had come to Washington to arrange for speakers who could be heckled at the conference.

"We were hoping to get President Johnson," Hiram said, "but we may have to settle for Hubert Humphrey and Gen. Hershey."

"What do you intend to do at the conference?"

"WE WANT to exchange ideas on heckling, discuss new methods of jeering and hooting and see if we can find ways of shedding more heat and less light on the basic issues of the day."

"It should be very constructive," I said.

"I've had a very good response."

Billy Graham

Don't you believe that one of the reasons communism has flourished is the extreme luxury in which most of our leaders live? With so much poverty in the world, isn't it a sin to have so much when so many have so little?"

Of course there are many inequities in our democratic system, but Communist leaders display an interest in personal luxuries as well. For example, according to Parade Magazine, Kim Il Sung, the Stalinist leader of North Korea, who ordered the capture of the Pueblo, is a millionaire. His Pyongyang residence is a luxurious mansion, surrounded on all sides by sentry posts. He owns six country estates paid for by the people "whom he exploits," says Parade.

Communism, which is built upon the premise of economic equality for all, is far from that. It has developed into a class system where the rich get richer and the poor get poorer. As Socrates once said, "Utopia will never be built upon this earth because of human greed. A perfect society cannot exist without perfect human beings."

The kind of political system is not nearly so important as the quality of human beings within the system. Many Americans are disturbed by those who advocate the irrelevancy of a moral standard. We are, at the moment, undergoing a moral revolution in America. There is a movement, organized, or unorganized, to overthrow the traditions that many thoughtful people believe to be essential to our American way of life. Time will tell if these endure.

'YOU AFRAID OF HIM?' 'NAW - ARE YOU?' 'NAW ...'

Jack Lefler Flower Power Makes Business Scene

NEW YORK (AP) — Flower power is being used by big business.

So says a financial publishing firm which advises corporate executives on business procedures.

In this case, according to Prentice-Hall, Inc., flower power has been invoked to inspire slow-paying customers to come up with the money.

THE ORDINARY GUY

has been getting dunning letters for years—some subtle hints, some pleading, some threatening.

Business owners, who sometimes can be as strapped for cash as Joe the truck driver, get too.

flower may be an odd item to find in a collection letter.

One manufacturer uses a letter with a pressed flower enclosed.

"We all have fond memories that make our present day lives more enjoyable. And we've always had especially fond memories about dealing with your company in the past."

"We know you'd like to keep things that way. And it's easy to do. Simply send your check within 10 days to cover the attached statement. We would like to see our relationship continue to bloom."

THEN THERE'S the rubber band gimmick.

A St. Louis tool company sent its delinquent customers a letter with a rubber band taped to it. The message:

"A certain amount of stretching keeps the rubber lively but too much stretching breaks it. Credit terms are a lot like that, aren't they? Here's what we mean. There's a point beyond which they cannot be stretched."

"I hope the rubber band will serve as a reminder. You have stretched sufficiently. We must have your check in two weeks."

And the lowly paper clip has been recruited for collection duty.

ONE COMPANY attaches a clip to its letter reading:

"Does this clip look just like other clips you have seen? It may, but don't be fooled. It isn't. This one is entirely different. You see, this clip has a magic power."

Hal Boyle

Your Phase Is Familiar

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals is having an imperfect memory for names.

Most of us are in this plight. We rather envy people like former Postmaster General James A. Farley, the sprightly octogenarian who has the reputation of never forgetting the identity of anyone he has ever met. It is said of Jim that he even had a prenatal memory, and that immediately after birth he handed the doctor a cigar and called the surprised medic by his first name.

SUCH POWERS of total recall, cultivated by politicians and salesmen, are beyond most of us. What feeble memory we do have seems to desert us in an emergency. If asked unexpectedly to introduce his own mother, many a man stutters and murmurs, "I'd like you to —uh—meet—uh—Mama." Under sudden stress he not only can momentarily forget his mother's name—he can forget his own.

This is such a human fact of normal life that you would think it would be taken for granted by everyone, and accepted for what it is—a temporary lapse.

But it isn't. All of our lives are made hideous at times by those oddballs who rush up to us at a social function, stick out their paw and demand loudly:

"I'll bet you don't even know who I am!"

THUS CHALLENGED, your mind immediately flees. Guilt assails you. All you can see is the bulbous face of your tormenter. Everyone nearby stops talking and watches your feeble struggles.

"Sidney Beaverhoff?"

"Nope."

"Bascom Ripplethwaite?"

"Nope."

"Algy Whumperdink?"

"Nope." He is leering triumphantly now and the crowd is snickering.

"Well, your face is familiar, but—" Your voice trails off lamely.

"I'm Abner Jabberwocky, the guy you slept next to in Latin during our sophomore year in high school," he crows. And then the inevitable note of injury creeps into his tone: "You're not the kind of a guy who forgets his old pals, are you?"

The Desire For A Change

WASHINGTON — Emotional issues sometimes outweigh everything else in a presidential campaign, and it looks this year as if those questions which have aroused intense feelings are uppermost in the minds of the voters. From all parts of the country come virtually the same reports from campaign workers and others who have sought to learn what is truly preoccupying the thoughts of most people.

WHENEVER THERE is a war going on, the voters are always deeply worried. But this time there are issues of even more widespread and intimate concern which are causing the people to be gravely discontented and fearful. Members of Congress are hearing about this in the letters they receive. When many of them go back to their districts, they are gobbled up by their constituents and given plenty of complaints.

The presidential candidates are dealing in the vaguest way with solutions for these issues, although they know how deep-seated are the people's feelings on each one. The call for "law and order" has been popularized, but citizens generally are upset because they believe that governmental authority has not been exercised effectively at the federal, state or city levels.

NIXON, in one of his speeches this week, promised to set up a national law-enforcement council and to select an attorney general who would really prosecute violations of federal law— which the Republicans contend has been neglected.

Humphrey has issued a task force report on "order and justice," and says the nation must mobilize not only to enforce the laws but to root out social and economic causes of crime and violence.

Wallace promises a stern and repressive policy on the problem of civil disorder and crime in the streets.

THE AVERAGE VOTER isn't so interested in any particular remedy.

Around The Rim

Persistent Thoughts

Selected recurring thoughts!

No matter whether history proves them right, anyone who carries the enemy flag down the street under a freedom not allowed by the flag's own citizen, is inevitably an enemy.

EVERYONE should have enough money to pay a tutor for his children, so he can avoid the heart-rending experience of seeing them off to school that very first time.

"American as apple pie" was undoubtedly coined by either someone with a stomach ache, or someone else who never lived through the agony of a piece of peel between a tooth and a bridge.

FOLLOWING almost 10 years of budgets totaling multiplied millions of dollars, Scurry Street should be a better thoroughfare than a long string of patched-over patches. Incredibly, another gigantic paving program is currently in the works, and Scurry Street has been left out once more.

Capital punishment seems a poor answer, but what to do with an admitted multiple murderer?

We have proof enough that any system is costly, but I see nothing inherently superior in the so-called "great two-party system." Unless more of them might multiply the costs.

MAPS, CHARTS, and extravaganza-type plans were announced several years ago to convert the Birdwell Park area into a vast recreational complex. This joint city-school project was to transform the gullies and weeds into a veritable Eden. What happened to it?

Many folks, who find some complaint as reason to avoid giving to the United Fund, would simply find another excuse if the point of displeasure were removed.

AT THE PRESENT rate of expenditures, rural fire-fighting costs here is going to cost more, but the rural homeowner will not have the benefit of trained firefighters. There is something over $20,000 expected this year alone. Used to be around $8,000.

A score of years ago, we were afraid to burn our draft cards, not for fear of the government, but because we had to face our friends and families afterwards.

Wallace promises a stern and repressive policy on the problem of civil disorder and crime in the streets.

THE AVERAGE VOTER isn't so interested in any particular remedy.

But he does want "something done" to stop riots, make the streets safe and produce a more peaceful relationship between the races.

The protest vote is not confined to any segment of the people. Racial consciousness in some cities has reached an extreme point. A substantial majority of the Negroes want peace and are not sympathetic with the militants. In almost all the riots Negroes have suffered more injuries than have whites.

THE ORDINARY citizen doesn't offer any solution for the crime problem, but he thinks the presidential candidates ought to have one. He feels the government ought to be able to find an answer. So his vote this year will be registered in protest against inaction and for whoever promises really to "do something" that is decisive and seems likely to carry out his pledges.

Among the most penetrating issues which have built much emotional stress are federal "integration" activities which involve the busing of children from one school district to another, and the various laws forbidding owners of property to sell to whomever they please.

THE AMAZING size of the Wallace percentages in different states is, of course, due to the mood of protest. Primarily the undercurrent of discontent is leveled at the existing administration in Washington. This happened many times before — the people blame unfavorable developments on the party in power.

Summed up, reports of voter sentiment indicate clearly that there is a desire for change in the past, when a change in the party in power has been sought and obtained, the new administration has sometimes not done much better than the preceding one. But the people feel, when they vote for an opposition candidate, that at least the new chief executive will not be bound by party ties or platitudes to pursue the same course as his predecessor.

Candidates Must Prove Their Stuff

WITH THE CANDIDATES — We used to have a crewcoach at Princeton, Old Duncan Spathe, who liked to say that the middle distance of a boatrace tested each oarsman's personal fortitude, but the grueling home stretch tested the courage and character of each contestant's grandfather.

If we translate this formula into political jargon of the day, it would mean that the September roadshows tested the surface personalities of the major presidential candidates and that October will prove what stuff their deep-down political guts are made of.

BY THE THIRD week of September there was no doubt Richard Nixon had a stage-presence and a crowd-acceptance, that made Hubert Humphrey look pathetic by comparison. At Philadelphia and in a day-long motorcade which I followed through the outlying suburbia, Nixon had the footwork, the rhetoric and the repartee which never let him down.

At Boston on the previous day when I scouted Humphrey, he answered back manfully to the heckling, but he might as well have gone out to Cape Cod and squallied at the seagulls for all the verbal or spiritual communication he was able to establish with the populace of that Democratic stronghold.

SEPTEMBER WAS all Nixon's, but in the overlap days which bring us into October, there comes the merciless probe into each man's make-up, the relentless pressure to find his cracking point, if any.

Both, Nixon and Humphrey, come from Early American stock which conquered the wilderness, fought for freedom, backed up the intellectuals and aristocrats who founded our social liberties.

NIXON AND HUMPHREY, humble and poor, made professional careers, one in law and one in education, both in politics, one as a moderate Republican, the other as a liberal Democrat. But in October each must show that character as well as conviction are more than skindieps. A failure in Nixon or Humphrey, or both, will give racing room to George Wallace, a sinister man but sincere, a dangerous character but doughy.

Nixon has showed prudent tokenism in approaching bad lands. He won't debate Wallace, won't discuss Vietnam, hasn't unveiled any breakwaters against the raging waves of crime, inflation, world communism. His campaign has been clean, classy, uncommitted and Dewey-fingered.

ALSO, at this writing, Humphrey is feinting and is not fighting. His managers, I'm told, are desperate to find places where the Vice President can speak without providing a scene-stealing show for the raffish demonstrators.

Humphrey has slipped at Nixon, but he hasn't ventured to bomb the tough targets — Wallace and Johnson, not Czechoslovakia and Vietnam, not crime and inflationville, not anywhere that carries the risk of do-or-die.

MAYBE NIXON and Humphrey will get away with play-it-safe, but the American electorate won't admire them for it. And it isn't as though the electorate had no other way to swing during October.

George Wallace is telling Americans what they like to hear, in language that they understand, and with a transparent candor they admire.

The worry about Wallace is that, if elected, he might use an iron glove to carry out his promises.

We hope Nixon and Humphrey will use this October stretch to prove what resolute stuff they're made of.

Frito Bandito Escapes Mexican-Americans Ire

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two groups of Mexican-Americans are complaining about the manner in which Mexicans and other Latinos are portrayed in American movies and television commercials.

Such people are shown as "stupid, shiftless, dirty, immoral and lackey-bandito types," charges the Mexican-American Political Association. "It's an insult to all persons," says La Casa Community Center, a Mexican-American group of 5,000 members.

BOYCOTT PLEA
The association, claiming thousands of members, said Wednesday it will ask the governments of Mexico and Latin American nations to boycott U.S. films.

There was no immediate comment from Hollywood studios. The La Casa center, with headquarters at nearby San Gabriel, Calif., has written letters of complaint to several companies criticizing the use of Latin characters in TV ads. Gilbert Mariero, La Casa's program director, wrote, "We feel that your portrayal of Mexicans as lazy, stupid and cunning is an insult to all persons, especially to those Mexicans now residing in the United States."

The letters were sent to the Frito-Lay Co., which makes Fritos corn chips; the makers of L&M cigarettes; and Taco Bell, a California-based chain of short order restaurants. Two of the firms have dropped the ads in question. A spokesman for L&M said a commercial featuring a revolutionary leader who postpones his revolution to finish a cigarette has been cancelled because of unfavorable comment.

MIMIC MUM
And a spokesman for Taco Bell said a radio commercial which features mimic Mel Blanc using a Mexican dialect will not be aired again until the company is contacted.

A Gaines representative said

Smith Flays Smugglers Of Human Cargo In Texas

FORT WORTH (AP) — Lt. Gov. Preston Smith called Wednesday for tighter law enforcement to stop the smuggling of aliens across the Rio Grande from Mexico.

He said it may take new legislation.

Referring to the discovery Monday at San Antonio of 44 men in an unventilated truck supposedly taking them to jobs in Chicago, the Democratic nominee for governor said at a campaign meeting: "The deaths of three Mexican nationals and the hospitalization of many more has uncovered a tragic and pitiful criminal activity—the smuggling of human cargo."

Officials believe professional criminals are operating human smuggling activities in which workers are trucked from the Mexican border well into Texas and North to various other states for work.

Smith said state and local police should give "utmost cooperation in the apprehension of the truck driver who, like many smugglers of human cargo, subjects his passengers to sub-animal conditions, including heat prostration, starvation and dehydration, and has little or no regard for his passengers or their health."

He said legislation may be needed to provide for confiscation of vehicles hired to transport aliens.

said, however, the Frito bandito, an animated cartoon character, will continue to sell corn chips. He said most Mexican-Americans like the character because he is "cute."

John McCarthy, vice president of Frito-Lay, said in Dallas, Tex., the Frito bandito was previewed among Mexican-Americans in Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz., and Fort Worth and Waco, Tex.

"People look upon him as a cartoon character," McCarthy said of his bandito, spelled "bandito" to go with Frito.

"If we really felt we were offending people of any race, we would withdraw the advertising."

G. R. Robinson Undergoes Knife

G. R. Robinson, head of Robinson Drilling Company, is convalescing in Harris Hospital, Room 72-A, Fort Worth, following cranial surgery. He was reported resting well and is expected to be able to return here Sunday. The surgery followed an injury sustained a couple of years ago.

Wood Ducks On Upcoming Stamp

A six-cent waterfowl conservation stamp, the first in the annual series that will point to the need for protecting wildlife, will be placed on sale at Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 24, according to Big Spring Postmaster Frank Hardesty.

This stamp depicting wood ducks recognizes the accomplishments of Ducks Unlimited, an organization that has spent nearly $15 million for waterfowl conservation, Hardesty said. Scattered across the prairies are some 900 Duck Unlimited projects involving roughly a million and a half acres which are heavily populated with waterfowl, he said.
