CAVORTING NUDISTS Shocking 'Stag Film' Seen On Home TVs

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP) — Without warning, a stag film flashed across home television screens in four Coachella Valley resort communities. The shocking movie early Sunday lasted 15 minutes, according to some estimates.

Authorities don't know how many people saw it. Several dozen telephoned police.

In nearby Palm Springs, police received between 30 and 40 calls.

"There was no particular bitterness," police Sgt. Jim Wall said. "People just wanted to tell — and confirm — what they had seen."

The show was seen in the fashionable desert resort communities of Palm Springs, Rancho Mirage, Indian Wells and Palm Desert.

It was 1 a. m., and the unscheduled film started rolling when the channel of one of Palm Desert's two area stations was to end its telecasting day. Wall said the cavorting nudists — men and women — were uninhibited.

Chuck Jenkins, chief engineer of Coachella Valley Television, a cable service, said he had determined somebody tapped into its cable. He said the film apparently was shown in this way, by someone with very sophisticated electronics equipment.

Jenkins said his firm's equipment was not used. The cable service has about 10,000 subscribers. Authorities said they had no clues to the person responsible for the startling show.

Cosmonaut Georgy Beregovoy today smiles at the TV camera in his Soyuz-3 spaceship as he spent his fourth day in orbit.

Cosmonaut Reports Everything Normal

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet cosmonaut Georgy Beregovoy circled the earth for the fourth day today in his Soyuz 3 spaceship and Tass reported he "feels well and his capacity for work remains at a high functional level."

NORMALLY
Beregovoy reported in a radio session that all life-support systems on the craft were working normally. He said he had a good night's sleep, did his exercises, had breakfast and "went ahead with the flight's program," the Soviet news agency reported.

There was no announcement of how much longer the flight would last or what further maneuvers would be attempted. Specific objectives are seldom disclosed in advance, so if they are not accomplished, there is

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., endorsed Hubert H. Humphrey for president today but fired fresh criticism of Democratic party leaders and the Chicago convention where he lost the presidential nomination.

In a statement ending his sustained refusal to back Humphrey after the latter wrested the nomination from him last August, McCarthy called on his supporters to vote for the vice president as he said he plans to do.

seek a third party nomination.

McCarthy, in announcing that he would vote for Humphrey, recommended that "those who have waited for this statement of my position do the same."

In Pittsburgh, Humphrey said, "I'm a happy man, this morning."

The vice president, appearing on a Pittsburgh television show, said that he had predicted all along that McCarthy would eventually support him because of their long personal connections and the friendship of their families.

Humphrey said the last time he had talked to McCarthy was by telephone last Sunday.

Humphrey was asked why it had taken so long for McCarthy to express his support.

The vice president said that his Minnesota colleague had gone through a long ordeal and it takes "a long time for wounds to heal."

"I say, thank you, Gene," Humphrey said.

Democratic National chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, Humphrey's campaign manager, said in advance of Mc-

Carthy's announcement that "it will be nice to have Sen. McCarthy aboard."

O'Brien would not speculate on the impact of McCarthy's announcement. He noted, however, that most of the leaders of McCarthy's drive for the presidential nomination already had come over to Humphrey's camp.

And he made clear he still holds bitter memories of the Democratic nominating convention in Chicago.

'BELOW-THE-BELT' Demos Protest TV Commercial

But the Minnesota senator left open the possibility that he might quit the party.

And he did not foreclose the possibility that he would seek re-election to the Senate in 1970 or a presidential nomination two years later under some other political banner than the Democratic standard.

He did so by declaring: "I will not be a candidate of my party for re-election to the Senate from the state of Minnesota in 1970. Nor will I seek the presidential nomination of the Democratic party in 1972."

In saying he would vote for Humphrey against GOP nominee Richard M. Nixon, he called on those who supported his effort to win the Democratic nomination to do likewise.

But he said he wanted to make it clear that "this endorsement is in no way intended to reinstate me in the good graces of the Democratic leaders nor in any way to suggest my having forgotten or condoned the things that happened both before Chicago and at Chicago."

COULD SEEK
McCarthy was elected to the Senate on a Democratic-Farmer Labor ticket. Presumably he could seek re-election as a Farmer-Labor candidate, if he chose to do so.

His assertion that he would not seek the Democratic nomination in 1972 left open the possibilities that he might decide not to run at all or that he would

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican television commercial showing a smiling Hubert H. Humphrey with scenes of war, poverty and rioting has been protested by the Democratic National Committee.

"It is a smear in keeping with Nixon's below-the-belt reputation in politics and unworthy of a man running for the nation's highest office," the Democratic committee said in a statement.

In Detroit, an aide to Richard M. Nixon said, there would be no comment on the matter.

The one-minute commercial, paid for by the Nixon campaign, was shown at 8:47 p. m. during the "Rowan and Martin Laugh-In" show.

The commercial interspersed pictures of bloodied rioters, dead soldiers and refugees with photographs of Humphrey.

The Democrat National Committee said it immediately filed a protest with NBC and the National Fair Campaign Practices Committee.

The National Broadcasting Co. said today that Nixon's campaign forces have withdrawn the commercial.

"It is not NBC's decision whether to run the commercial or not, but the Nixon-Agnew campaign committee has decided to withdraw that particular commercial from all future broadcasts," an NBC spokesman said.

TEST
Referring to the youths and others who supported him for the presidential nomination, McCarthy said he had "asked them to test the established political processes of the Democratic party" and "I will not make that request of them again unless those processes have clearly been changed."

"I wish to assure them that I intend to work to that end and, at the same time, to continue to discuss the substantive issues of American politics," he continued.

McCarthy commented in a statement released through his office.

While not giving Humphrey unreserved praise, McCarthy pointed out that "the choice, however, is between Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon."

He said his endorsement of Humphrey was based on these considerations:

—On the basis of what he has stood for in the past and what he has said about domestic problems in this campaign, "Hubert Humphrey has shown a better understanding of our domestic needs and a stronger will to act than has been shown by Richard Nixon."

—"With Hubert Humphrey as president, the possibility of scaling down the arms race and reducing military tensions in the world would be greater than it would be with Richard Nixon as president of the United States."

Absentees Heavy

Nine days of absentee balloting have produced 297 voters in the county clerk's office for an average of 33 persons per day. Monday, 71 ballots were cast.

Ballots mailed to persons who will not be in Howard County on the Nov. 5 election day total 467, to make this year the heaviest on record for absentee votes.

Voters have until 5 p. m. Friday to cast their ballots in the county clerk's office at the courthouse.

INFLATIONARY SURGE Peak Is Past

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today the smallest monthly rise in living costs in a year, two-tenths of one per cent.

Officials said, however, that 1968 is almost certain to wind up with the largest jump in prices in 17 years.

"It is safe to say the peak of the inflationary surge is past," said Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, in reporting the comparatively small September rise.

The consumer price index for the month rose to 122.2, which means it cost $12.22 in September for typical family goods and services that cost $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

The bureau also reported that the earnings of some 45 million workers climbed to an all-time high of $110.49 per week due to a four-cent jump in average hourly earnings. It was the largest gain in two years.

50 PER CENT GREATER INCREASE THAN OTHER LIVING COSTS

Hospital Bills Tripled, Doctor's Fees Doubled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hospital bills have more than tripled and doctors' fees more than doubled in the past 21 years, according to a government report.

The overall rise in medical prices during the period was 50 per cent greater than the general rise in living costs, the Labor Department said today.

And the report had an answer for why few doctors will make house calls any more.

"With an overload of patients, physicians in some cases have tried to discourage the practice of making house calls by raising the rate for such service to a level that few patients are willing to pay," the report said.

The shortage of doctors and other medical personnel was cited as a major factor in the rise in medical costs, coupled with a rise in demand because of medical insurance that has made better care available to millions.

Drug prices have remained relatively stable, according to the report.

The report said that since 1946 hospital room rates have skyrocketed 354 per cent and doctors' fees climbed 107 per cent. All medical costs averaged out to a rise of 125 per cent.

But wherever costs account for some 65 per cent of hospital operating costs, it is due more to a vast expansion in the number of workers than to high wages, the report said.

Advanced medical technology, more expensive equipment, and specialization by doctors — all adding up to better medical care — has also been responsible for some of the rapidly rising costs, the report said.

The report noted that doctors' fees rose 7.8 per cent in 1966, while dentists increased their charges only 4.6 per cent that year.

"One possible reason for the disparity is the fact that few consumers have health insurance covering dental care while over 50 per cent of the population has some kind of coverage for physicians' fees," it said.

United Fund Report

Inching ahead, the United Fund today reported $70,658,222, or 65 per cent of the $109,225 goal.

Employee division, with Don Womack as chairman, has reached 47 per cent of its objective, and the special division, Charles Beil, chairman, has collected 45 per cent of its goal.

United Fund campaign workers are urged to complete the remainder of their cards and return them to the United Fund office as quickly as possible, said Mrs. Alyce Butler, executive secretary.

Delays Red Missiles

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong Star said today an accident on an intermediate range test missile on the launching pad has delayed Red China's long range missile program.

The report could not be verified here. U.S. military authorities reported last month that Red China was nearly a year behind schedule in testing its first long-range missile.

Charges N. Korea Ready For Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel III, U.N. commander in South Korea, said here today North Korea is "more openly belligerent and ready" to cause trouble than at any time since 1953.

"I think it is fair to say that with the exception of the conflict in Vietnam, nowhere else in the world today is there so direct and inflammable a confrontation, as there is along Korea's DMZ," he said.

Bonesteel's remarks came a day after the Pentagon delayed, according to Defense Department sources, announcing an exercise airlifting troops to South Korea. Purpose of the delay, the sources said, is to avoid endangering the Paris peace talks.

Yule'll Be Wise To Check Checks

By TEX ROGERS

Merchants like to see November come because it means Christmas is not far away and people will begin gift shopping. However, businessmen are warned that some of the money they take in may be bad.

A. N. Standard, Howard County sheriff, says that each year in the weeks preceding Christmas there is a heavy increase in worthless check writing and forgeries.

"During the course of a year, a merchant will accept a small percentage of bad checks," Standard says. "But in the last few weeks, when stores are crowded and business is heavy, a merchant may lose a lot more."

BWARE

Standard suggests that businessmen may caution their employees to beware of possible bad check writers.

"Look out for two-party checks, over-pronounced company checks and counter-checks, unless you know the person who gives them," he says.

The sheriff explains that two-party and counter checks may be forged, and over-pronounced checks, or checks which have a lot of detail on them may not be good at all.

"The sheriff's office has had cases of company checks which had the bank, address, telephone number and even marked with a check protector, but were phony," he said.

The best way to curtail bad check writers is to ask for all the identification a person may have, including drivers license, Social Security card and Selective Service card, Standard said.

He also said that merchants should beware of counter checks which are rubber stamped with the name of a business.

SMART GUYS

"If any businessman has a question about the validity of a check or person passing a check, he should contact the sheriff's office, police department or other law enforcement agency, and a check could be run in a matter of minutes," the sheriff said.

Standard explained that check writers are a clever lot, and some get by three or four years before being caught.

"Some bad check artists will start on one side of the state and move all the way across in three or four weeks before anyone knows what happened," he said. "They may move into a town, rent an apartment and make themselves known to a lot of businessmen, and then one day they write several hundred dollars worth of checks and leave town. They could be 300-400 miles away before anyone knows the checks are bad."

Standard also said that sometimes even identification may be bogus.

"One man was picked up here, and when the trunk of his car was opened we found a dozen forged drivers licenses, Selective Service cards, blank Social Security cards, a check protector, typewriter and a book of blank, company-styled checks," he said.

ROBBERIES

Another form of worthless checks comes by way of checks and money orders from a robbery. Standard said a store or post office in East Texas may be robbed and several checks or money orders taken. The thieves will then work their way across the state, passing the forged checks and money orders in every town.

"Our office won't know about the burglary until probably in the afternoon when it comes over the police teletype," he said. "By then the thieves could be several hundred miles away. Also, a merchant may not know about the forged check until three weeks later when it returns from the bank."

Standard said merchants should be cautious about out-of-town money orders.

Johnson Says He'll Conduct Several Seminars At Rice

HOUSTON (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson, a school teacher before turning to politics, will conduct several seminars at Rice University after his term in office expires in January.

Johnson has accepted an invitation to speak at the Houston school sometime in the spring. Dr. Joseph Cooper, head of Rice's political science department, said Monday that Johnson probably will discuss American politics.

'I ACCEPT'

"We envision the President meeting with a small group of students on some topics agreeable to him—a series of such seminars over a period of several days," Cooper said.

Johnson indicated earlier that he will teach at the University of Texas in Austin. He already has been elected a member of the Texas faculty, and is expected to participate in informal discussion groups.

Cooper said Johnson accepted in a letter stating, "At this time it is difficult to arrange a schedule and to decide on the format of my visit with you. Rest assured, however, that I gladly accept your invitation."

FOUR OR FIVE

"There haven't been any plans made, but I would imagine President Johnson will conduct four or five seminars in a period of several days," Cooper said.

Israeli Units Turn Back Sabotage Band

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli army units turned back a sabotage band trying to cross the usually quiet Lebanese border near the villages of Honein and Maiketh in upper Galilee Monday night, an army spokesman reported.

No Israeli casualties were reported.

The Lebanese defense ministry charged Israel with shelling three uninhabited forest areas for a half an hour.

An Israeli army communique Monday said Israeli forces had captured a key guerrilla leader and seven armed followers, each of them carrying a copy of Che Guevara's diary. The army said the leader was Abu Gissan, the commander of the Popular Liberation Front, based in Jordan.

The eight men were captured after a 40-minute battle when they waved their undershirts in surrender. Gissan reportedly admitted that he and his men received clearance from the regional commander of the Jordanian army before going into Israeli territory 11 miles north of Jericho.

Here's Big Switch: College Too Liberal

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — In a year when liberal college students across the nation are rebelling against conservative administrators, the inconceivable is happening at Pikeville College—conservative students are accusing their administration of being too liberal.

The students haven't taken to the streets nor have they threatened to take over the college administration building.

But the signs of a liberal-conservative element are unmistakable at the campus, which is dug into a mountain slope high above this eastern Kentucky city of 5,800.

FREE SPEECH

The issues are the same as on many campuses: free speech, freedom in the classroom, the college's involvement in social problems, the impersonality of the education system, student dress and activities, and the college's response to change.

However, the sides are the reverse of what they are at other campuses—with the students taking a conservative position on almost every issue and the administration taking a liberal one.

Senior Dave Cleavanger, who classes himself a conservative put it this way: "We must have the only right-wing student protest movement in the country."

The student conservatives who seem to have a numerical upper hand in the 1,200-member student body, strongly support the Vietnam war and the draft.

TOO FAST

As for the college, they feel that the administration of Pikeville's 37-year-old president, Dr. Thomas H. Johns, is too liberal and that Johns is attempting to change the institution too fast.

"We're taking education out of its box," Johns said. "We're addressing it to the 20th century."

Conservatives at this Presbyterian-affiliated institution arent impressed.

Conservative students have accused Johns of ousting elderly faculty members and replacing them with teachers who have liberal leanings.

The college board of trustees has given Johns a vote of confidence but opposition by the conservatives continues. Said student council president Robert Ford, "We're not satisfied with the investigation," referring to the action by the trustees.

Defense Leases To Cost Millions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense work in 16 industrial plants will cost the Pentagon at least an extra $55.8 million because the contractors lease rather than purchase their facilities, a new government study shows.

And if all the leases were renewed for continued defense work, the extra expense would jump to $99.3 million, according to the report just released by the General Accounting Office, Congress' auditing agency.

The practice of leasing rather than buying land and buildings to perform defense work is widespread in private industry, GAO said.

MYSTERY

The agency's auditors studied the operations of 17 private contractors in 20 locations and found what GAO called 63 significant lease arrangements—those where annual rentals totaled $50,000 or more a year—in 16 of those locations.

Neither the contractors nor the locations were identified, but the GAO said most of the work was done under negotiated contracts. These are priced on the basis of cost to the contractor, and the contractor is able to charge off to the government as costs the rent paid for the land and buildings.

Armed services procurement regulations permit this practice, GAO said, while severely restricting the amount which a contractor may charge to the government on owned facilities.

By the time all of the 63 leases studied by GAO expire, therefore, the extra cost to the government through rent charges will be $55.8 million. If all of the leases are renewed, it will be $99.3 million.

SAME DEAL

And, GAO noted, 23 of the leases have already come up for renewal and all have been renewed.

When GAO asked the contractors why they leased rather than purchased facilities, nine cited "the basic instability of government business and the greater risk they would assume by purchasing facilities."

North doubled West's two diamond rebid for penalties—he felt he could win five tricks in his own hand, plus whatever partner could contribute. East bailed out to two hearts and South, who was not interested in defending against a low level contract, rebid three clubs. North, having silenced the opposition, carried his partner directly to game.

West opened the ace of hearts and continued with the king which is the conventional method for showing that he has a doubleton in the suit. The normal play holding the top two honors, of course, is to lead the king first. West shifted next to the king of diamonds taken by dummy's ace.

Declarer led a trump to his queen but, when West discarded a diamond, an unexpected complication appeared. While it was possible to pick up East's trump holding by leading clubs twice from the dummy, it would be necessary to use up both of North's spade entries in the process, and South would be left with a losing heart in his hand. If he chose instead to ruff out his losing heart, he would be unable to prevent East from taking a club trick.

Presently, declarer saw a possible solution to his dilemma, provided that West held the jack of spades. A small spade was led and, when West played low, the ten was put in from dummy—and held the trick. The ten of clubs was returned, covered by East's jack and South's king. The North hand was reentered with the queen of spades and a finesse was taken against East's nine of clubs. The ace of clubs picked up the last trump and declarer continued to lead clubs.

As the last trump came forth, West was down to the queen of diamonds and the jack-nine of spades. The dummy, discarding in back of West, was left with the jack of diamonds and the ace-eight of spades. If West discarded the diamond, he would be abandoning his protection in that suit. He, therefore, threw a spade; however, this enabled South to overtake his king of spades with North's ace and the dummy's eight took the last trick.

Ribbons Awarded At Council Flower Show

"HemisFair '68," a standard flower show, was presented Saturday by the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs in the Highland Center Mall, with the Sweepstakes Award in Horticulture going to Mrs. A. C. Moore, and the Sweepstakes in the Artistic Division being awarded to Mrs. Jesse B. Crane, Jr. Insufficient entries in the Artistic Division prevented the Tri-Color Award of Distinction Creativity and Award of Merit being given.

Mrs. Crane was chairman for the show. Working with her were Mrs. D. S. Riley, Mrs. D. O. Gray and Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, schedule. Mrs. Frank Wilson, staging; Mrs. Tom Ivey, entries; Mrs. Gray Cook, placement; Miss Bessie Love, classification; Mrs. J. C. McCard, all of Midland; and Mrs. Odell Womack, Mrs. W. D. Caldwell and Mrs. Dale Smith all of Big Spring.

Artistic Division winners were: Class 1, "Kino Automat," Mrs. J. W. Trantham, honorable mention; "Kino Automat" (b) Mrs. Crane, first; Mrs. J. W. Trantham, second; and Mrs. Jake L. Trantham, third; Class 3, "Dancing Waters," Mrs. Crane, second; Class 4, "Tower of the Americas," (a) Mrs. Robert Stripling, (b) Mrs. Cook, first; Mrs. Crane, second; Mrs. J. W. Trantham, honorable mention; Class 6, "Confluence, U.S.A.," (a) Mrs. Crane, first; Mrs. Marvin Sewell, second; (b) Mrs. Crane, first; Mrs. J. W. Trantham, second; Mrs. John Knox, third; (c) Mrs. Crane, first; Mrs. J. W. Trantham, second; Class 7, "Fiesta Island," Mrs. Crane, first; Class 8, "Kaleidoscope," Mrs. J. W. Trantham, first; Class 9, "Les Poupees de Paris," Mrs. Crane, first; honorable mention, Mrs. Robert Stripling; Class 10, "The Magic of a People," Bill Sneed, second.

The horticulture winners in the chrysanthemum section were Mrs. Crane with five first place ribbons, two seconds; Mrs. Bristow with a first place; Mrs. Bessie Love with a first place; Mrs. Cook with one first place, and Mrs. Stripling with a second place.

In the rose section, Miss Love received two firsts, and Mrs. John Hogan took a second, while in the annual section, Miss Love had one first place ribbon and one second. Three first place ribbons were awarded to Mrs. Crane and Mrs. Knox, and Mrs. Hogan each received a first.

Under the perennials, Miss Love was awarded two firsts and one second; Mrs. Cook received a first and Mrs. Don Campbell picked up a second place ribbon. Mrs. Crane earned two firsts, and Mrs. Rex Greenwood, Mrs. John Hughes and Mrs. Hogan each won one first place.

The African Violet section was dominated by Mrs. Moore who received both a first and second place ribbon. The last classification on the schedule was the "Invitational," which was open to the Men's Garden Club. Bill Sneed received four each of first and second place ribbons, and Walter Schaitl won one first place and one second place ribbon.

Program Based On Home Plans

Miss Beverly Jones spoke on "Planning the Kitchen" in conjunction with the program theme, "The Home We Make," at Monday's meeting of Xi Mu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, in the home of Mrs. Martha Jones, 2404 Merrily. Mrs. Harry McMillan was cohostess.

The speaker described basic designs of work areas and types along with colors and sizes of appliances. Mrs. Horace Reagan spoke on the good and bad points of kitchen planning.

Mrs. Wade Choate, Service chairman, announced plans for a Halloween carnival, to be held today, for special education students at Moss Elementary School "Trick or Treat" bags were stuffed for the students.

Mrs. Roy Granbery, president, announced a contribution to the American Field Service which sponsors a foreign exchange student.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a fall arrangement of pumpkins and autumn leaves. Milk glass and silver appointments completed the setting.

The next meeting will be Nov. 11 in the home of Mrs. Jack Blizard, 2111 Cecilia.

Eagles Auxiliary To Donate Gowns

The Eagles Auxiliary will contribute gowns to women patients at the Bennett House. The announcement was made by Mrs. Vera Dozier, president, at Monday's meeting at Hotel Settles. Mrs. Anna Kemp will head a committee to purchase the gowns. Mrs. Edith Davie received the attendance prize, and Mrs. E. L. Whittington led prayer.

A LOVELIER YOU

Get Enough Protein For Health, Beauty

By MARY SUE MILLER
Protein is the basic material of the body — of the skin, hair, nails, organs, blood, bones and muscles. A deficiency takes a toll of your health, energy and looks.

According to reports, many Americans suffer from lack of protein in their diet. Yet, the first foods we send to needy nations are protein-loaded. Even a reducing diet — any approved regimen — stresses protein foods. But whether or not you are reducing, you require a half gram of protein every day for each pound of your normal weight (not excess weight). If your normal weight is 120 pounds, your protein quota is 60 grams. You are not likely to make it unless you have two helpings of meat, one of cheese and a pint of milk. Not incidentally, many nutritionists favor 70 grams daily.

It is thought that an inadequate intake derives from an information lag. Many people are not sure what the high protein foods are. Others have an idea the price is prohibitive. The following table lists some less costly high grade protein foods, along with the grams in an average serving:

Dried beef — 30 grams; cheaper cuts beef and lamb — 20; chicken — 20; kidney — 20; liver — 23; turkey — 23; cottage cheese (1/2-cup) — 20;

fish — 20; wheat germ (1 tbsp) — 8; egg — 7; cup of milk — 8.

A thought to ponder is that your body makes a complete turnover in protein every six months. Unless you keep up the supply, you just can't be as healthy, handsome or wise as you could be.

MRS. DICKIE LEE JONES

Couple Recites Vows In Home Ceremony

Miss Jacquelyne Marie Sevey became the bride of Dickie Lee Jones Monday evening in a 7 o'clock ceremony performed in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Walter Sevey, 4216 Muir. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Claud E. Jones, 3229 Drexel.

Chap. Lee Butler performed the ceremony as the couple exchanged double ring vows before an improvised altar adorned with an arch of greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a street-length dress of bridal satin accented with pleated insets of lace and designed with a jewel neckline and short sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion was attached to a satin bandeau, and she carried a bouquet of orchids and white gardenias atop a white Bible.

Miss Christine King was maid of honor, and George Griffith served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School, where she was a member of the Bible Club, V.O.E. Club and Shorthand Club. She is presently employed at Big Spring State Hospital. The bridegroom graduated from BSHS and is now serving in the Navy.

The couple will be at home in Honolulu, when the bride joins her husband there late in November.

For a wedding trip to Cloudercroft, N.M., Mrs. Jones chose a royal blue and green two-piece suit with green accessories.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony, and Mrs. Randall Parker, sister of the bride, presided at the guest register. Others in the house party were Mrs. Charles F. Michaels, Miss Jan Kathleen Sevey and Miss Kay Sevey, sisters of the bride.

Two Local LVN's Go To Convention

Two local women, Mrs. Jack Cox and Mrs. Ollie Bransom, have returned from Corpus Christi where they attended the state convention of the Licensed Vocational Nurses of Texas, Oct. 24-27, at the Robert Driscoll Hotel. Mrs. Cox is president of the local LVN Association, and Mrs. Bransom is president-elect.

Theme for the convention was "Licensed Vocational Nurses Surviving and Serving." The keynote address was given by Larry Niemann, legal advisor to LVNA, who spoke on "Techniques for Serving Without A Sheepskin."

New officers were installed at the banquet Saturday evening. They were Mrs. Madge Post of Corpus Christi, president, and Mrs. Dorothy Harris of Dallas, second vice president.

The next state convention will be held in October, 1969, in San Antonio and the next meeting of the local LVN group will be at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 5, in the Malone and Hogan Clinic in Honolulu, when the bride-

To Sponsor Tournament

The Young Homemakers of Coahoma and the Coahoma Lions Club will co-sponsor a volleyball tournament in March according to plans made at Monday's meeting. Mrs. Billy Spears, the club president, announced that the women will operate a concession stand at the games.

During the business session, cookbooks were distributed which will sell for $1 each with proceeds going to the "Little Sister" scholarship fund. Mrs. Spears reported that the club will donate clothing to the World Church Service for distribution to Vietnamese families. Also, she noted that the club will give an attendance award at the end of the club year.

The program was given by Mrs. R. L. Hodnett, who spoke on decoupage.

The public is invited to attend the Nov. 24 meeting at Coahoma High School when the Big Spring Police Department will present the film, "Attack."

Beauceants Plan November Dinner

A Nov. 11 Thanksgiving dinner was planned, in conjunction with the Knights Templar, at Monday's meeting of the Social Order of Beauceants in Masonic Temple. Hostesses were Mrs. Allen Hull, Mrs. R. L. Lee and Mrs. Wright Vickers.

Mrs. Homer Thorp presided and the work of the order was exemplified. The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums.

Daughters Visit S. V. Jordans

Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Jordan, 703 Gollad, have had as guests their daughters, Mrs. John Mitchell of Shreveport, La., who will remain here until Thursday, and Mrs. D. M. Gilliland and children, Peggy, Ricky, Terry and Joseph, who returned Monday to their home in Alamogordo, N.M.

Piano Teachers Schedule Program

A musical program was slated in December by the Piano Teachers Forum at Monday's meeting in the home of Mrs. Delnor Pass, 704 Mathews. Mrs. H. M. Jarratt presided. Judges for the Piano Teacher's Musical Festival in March were discussed and will be announced soon. Refreshments were served.

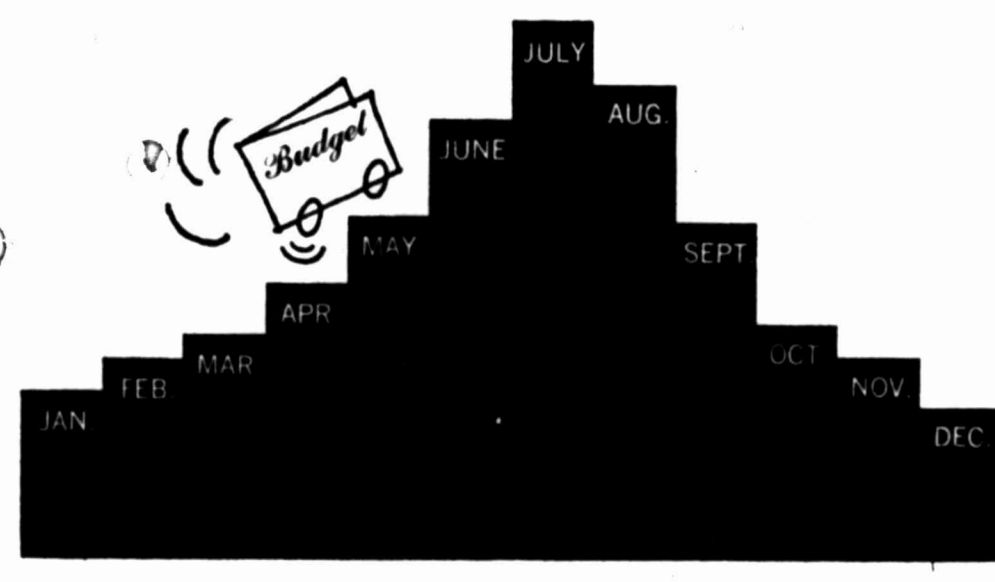

Carnival Tonight

St. Mary's Episcopal Church School will hold a Halloween carnival this evening from 6 to 9 o'clock, and children are encouraged to attend in costume. Featured will be a spook house, cake walk, games, pony ride and refreshments.

SYSTEM OF ELECTING THE PRESIDENT IS CONFUSING, CONTRADICTIONARY

Votes In Larger States Count More In Final Outcome

AP Newsfeatures

Though every enfranchised citizen of the United States is entitled to cast one ballot in the presidential election, sometimes not how he votes, but where he votes, determines how much that ballot counts in the final outcome.

A resident of a large state such as California, for example, often swings more weight at the polls than his counterpart in tiny Rhode Island.

Strictly speaking, neither is voting for his favorite candidate at all, but rather for electors.

LOPSIDED

In the 1960 election John F. Kennedy won only 49.7 per cent of the popular vote, compared with Richard Nixon's 49.3 per cent. Though it was the closest presidential contest in 72 years, Kennedy achieved a lopsided 303-to-219 electoral victory.

Three times in the nation's political history candidates have become President even though they garnered only a minority of the popular vote.

Twice the House of Representatives has been called on to choose the President.

The system that accounts for all this contradiction and confusion dates back to the Constitutional Convention of 1787, when the method for choosing a chief executive was arrived at after heated debate and lengthy deliberation.

Of the 10 states represented at that meeting in Philadelphia, nine were against selecting the nation's leader by popular vote and only one, Pennsylvania, favored that means.

Eventually a solution was agreed on, embodying the electoral college. By terms of this compromise, each state was to have as many presidential electors as the total of its senators and representatives in Congress.

TWO REASONS

These members of the electoral college were to vote for two persons, the candidate with the majority of votes to become President and the one with the next highest number of votes to become vice president.

If the electors failed to give a majority of the votes to a single candidate, the House of Representatives was to pick the winner from the recipients of the three top electoral votes. In this case each state was to have one vote.

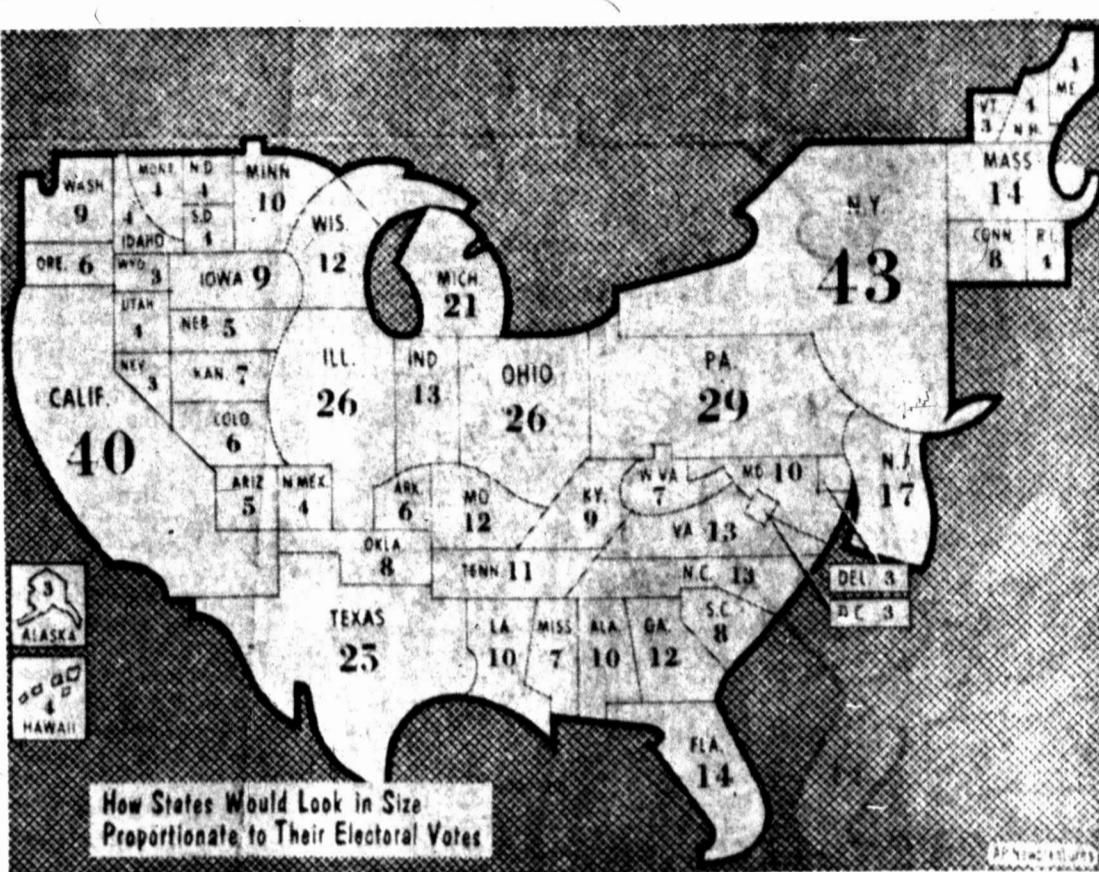

All went according to the Founding Fathers' plan in the first election in February, 1789. George Washington received the unanimous vote of all 69 electors from 10 states, while 34 ballots were cast for John Adams, giving him the vice presidency. The remaining 35 electoral votes were scattered among other hopefuls.

ELECTORAL VOTES TIED
However, complications arose in 1800 when Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr were the Republican candidates. Both received 73 electoral votes and the election was thrown into the House of Representatives, where Jefferson finally won the majority of votes on the 36th ballot.

This deadlock made clear the necessity for changing the mode of election and the 12th Amendment to the Constitution, providing that the electoral college vote separately for President and vice president, was ratified in 1804.

Although countless other ideas for reforming the electoral college have been proposed, none so far has been agreed on. It is still possible for a candidate receiving the minority of popular votes to become President.

How States Would Look in Size Proportionate to Their Electoral Votes

This happened for the first time in 1824, when Andrew Jackson won 152,901 votes against John Quincy Adams' 114,023. But since no candidate received a majority of electoral votes as required by the Constitution, the election again went to the House of Representatives.

ADAMS CHOSEN
There Adams was chosen President with 13 states voting for him, seven for Jackson and four for William C. Crawford.

This political phenomenon occurred again in 1876 in the photo-finish contest between Rutherford B. Hayes, Republican, and Samuel J. Tilden, Democrat. Though Tilden had a quarter-million more popular votes than his opponent, the returns from Florida, Louisiana and South Carolina were in dispute, with two conflicting sets of electoral votes being sent to Washington.

In a bit of historical hanky-panky that proves the ballot counters are at times more influential than the ballot casters, Hayes got the nod, 185 electoral votes to 184.

The Democrats charged the election had been stolen. Tilden did not vigorously protest the decision, fearing that it might plunge the nation further into civil strife.

Once again, in 1888, Republican Benjamin Harrison became President although Grover Cleveland had a popular majority of more than 100,000 votes. The Democratic candidate had only 168 electoral votes. Harrison carried New York and Indiana, the two pivotal states, and racked up 233 electoral votes.

ELECTOR NOT BOUND
Although the Constitution does not require an elector to vote for the candidate whose party received the highest popular vote in his state, with rare exceptions this has been the practice.

However, in the 1960 election, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-VA, received 15 electoral votes — eight from unpledged Mississippi Democratic electors, six from unpledged Alabama electors and one from a defecting Oklahoma Republican.

In 1956 one of the Democratic electors from Alabama refused to vote for Adlai Stevenson, and cast his ballot instead for Walter B. Jones, a local judge. The electors of the winning party in each state gather to vote, usually at the state capitol, on the first Monday after the second Wednesday in December.

The Constitution requires the electors to be picked in a manner determined by each state legislature. By 1828 the process of legislatures appointing electors was dying out.

The electors are usually nominated by state party conventions, state political committees or by primary elections. At first most electors were chosen from districts similar to Congressional districts. Dominant parties soon realized, however, that they could get more electoral votes for their candidate if the party with the most votes in the state won all the electors.

This became known as the "unit vote," "general ticket" or "winner-take-all" method. By 1836, all the states were using it.

ONLY TWO MORE
Although it is believed that more amendments have been proposed concerning the presidential election than for any other single provision of the Constitution, only two in addition to the 12th Amendment have altered any of the procedure.

Among the provisions of the 20th Amendment, ratified in 1933, is that the vice president-elect becomes acting President if no President has been chosen by Jan. 20, the time fixed for the beginning of his term.

The 23rd Amendment, adopted in 1961, gave the presidential vote and three electors to the District of Columbia.

With this addition, there are now 538 electors, and a majority of 270 is required to choose a President and vice president.

From the beginning, the electoral college method has been the subject of debate. Since 1797, when the first Constitutional amendment proposing reform of the presidential election method was offered in Congress, hardly a session has closed without the introduction of one or more resolutions of this nature.

The hundreds of suggestions for reforming the system fall basically into four categories:

1. To reform or not to reform — that remains the question. But one thing is sure: In 1968 the nation will choose its President almost precisely the way it has been choosing him for nearly 180 years.

Kennedy And Johnson Split, Blunder Cited

By The Associated Press

Journalist Jim Bishop's "The Day J.F.K. Died" draws a picture of rancor between Kennedy and Johnson, personae, and says President Johnson would not have been able to order a response to a Soviet missile attack for a 30-minute period because of a blunder.

Bishop also writes that Johnson had not been briefed on making a decision to launch a counterattack.

A portion of Bishop's account of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy appears in the November issue of Ladies Home Journal.

In a note accompanying the article, Bishop says — President Johnson has confided in him in relating how he felt on that day.

President Kennedy had been dead several minutes before Johnson was informed, Bishop writes. Also, he says, the Army warrant officer who carried the coded device by which a president can order a nuclear attack was away from Johnson for 30 minutes at one point.

"The men around Kennedy had kept the secret of power from Lyndon Johnson," Bishop writes of the period immediately after Kennedy's death.

Bishop describes tension between Kennedy and Johnson people aboard Air Force One before and during the flight back to Washington. And he emphasizes what he presents as basic dislike for Johnson among Kennedy people.

"The confinement of the Johnsons and the Kennedys in the plane for a period of 150 minutes was sufficient to cleave the families in permanent schism," Bishop writes.

"Johnson did not and could not, aspire to be 'Kennedy people.' He could be tolerated as a vice president because his loyalty to John F. Kennedy was complete and unquestioned.

"Within the family, only Bobby, Robert F. Kennedy, and Kenny O'Donnell could not abide him as vice president. To them, he was a rumpus wheel-dealer-part Southerner part Westerner, with crowding on his heels. He lacked 'class.'"

COLD
Bishop also alleges coldness between Jacqueline Kennedy, now Mrs. Aristotle Onassis, and Kennedy's mother, Mrs. Rose Kennedy. Bishop says that when Johnson called Rose Kennedy from Air Force One she did not ask to be switched to her son's wife, sitting only 50 feet away.

"Nor did Mrs. John F. Kennedy phone her mother-in-law.

"Four months after the assassination, I sat with Rose and Joe Kennedy at their home in Palm Springs. Mrs. Rose Kennedy said: 'I have not heard from "Mrs. Kennedy" since the funeral.'"

After the assassination, President Kennedy's wife wrote Bishop asking him not to finish his book because, she said, William Manchester was working on an authorized account.

SMITH CALLS FOR EXPANDED POLICE TRAINING TO COMBAT CRIME

Paths Of Texans Cluttered By National Campaigners

By The Associated Press
Texas political candidates trying to drum up added support before the general election next Tuesday found their paths still cluttered today by national campaigners.

In the governor's race, meanwhile, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith of the Democrats spoke up anew for expanded police training to combat crime and Republican nominee Paul Eggers declared ties with lobbyists handicap his opponent.

Two contenders for vice president were moving into the state in the continuing struggle over Texas' 25 electoral votes. Sen. Edmund Muskie of the Democrats was due to stop in Lubbock, Abilene and Wichita Falls while Gen. Curtis LeMay of the American Independent Party was to address the Houston Junior Bar Association.

Departing Texas after speeches Monday night were third party presidential candidate George Wallace and the GOP candidate for vice president, Maryland Gov. Spiro Agnew.

Wallace told a Beaumont audience that neither of his rivals in the race for president, Richard Nixon of the Republicans and Vice President Hubert Humphrey of the Democrats would represent the South if elected. Agnew, heading across the South from Houston appealed for "responsible leadership in Washington that will treat the taxpayer's dollar with the respect it deserves."

"HAMSTRUNG"
Speaking at Amarillo, Lt. Gov. Smith observed that the state has certified 18 police academies in the past year and said, "We must see that police training facilities are continuously extended and updated to enable more local officers to benefit from training and to advance our fight against crime with the most modern means available."

Smith spoke in similar vein during stops at Plainview, Borger and Dumas. He reported $1.5 million in federal aid will enable Texas to improve police facilities and methods, prisons, probation and parole procedure, crime prevention and other means for bolstering law enforcement.

Eggers, stumping at Brownsville and elsewhere in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, asserted his opponent "would be hamstringing" by "conflicts of the past and by obligations to the lobbyists who finance his campaigns."

The GOP candidate added, "Lobbyists were reported to be calling the plays around the Senate chamber while Mr. Smith was presiding during the summer special session."

Eggers also declared, with reference to Smith's years in the Senate, "He never brought forth any important legislation and he has blocked efforts of leaders in his own party to accomplish reforms."

Among assorted other political developments were:
John M. Stokes, executive director of state Republican headquarters in Austin, told news men his party already has uncovered some election irregularities and will have poll watchers in most precincts.

Stokes said, "We fully expect to prosecute all election fraud cases we find, even if Richard Nixon wins."

The GOP spokesman claimed that local election judges at Floresville, home of Gov. John Connally, refused to appoint at least one Republican clerk in each precinct as required by law. He said absentee voters were told at a Bell County courthouse substitution that they could not vote for Nixon if they had cast ballots in the Democratic primary.

Postal employees at a dinner in Austin heard Postmaster General Marvin Watson plug for the Democratic ticket.

Watson said, "I know Mr. Humphrey's ability and the depth of his understanding, the hopes he has for his country and the contributions he will make to each one of us. . . . And I know one other thing from process should be so overwhelming as to cause the parties to submit the entire dispute to binding arbitration."

"SOME HOPE"
McDonnell served with former U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg as a mediator in labor disputes with city police, firemen and sanitationmen.

There was no immediate comment on McDonnell's proposal by Albert Shanker head of the 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers, or John M. Doar, president of the Board of Education.

A three-hour meeting Monday night between Doar, Shanker and Schools Supt. Bernard E. Donovan ended with a report of "no progress."

Earlier in the day Donovan had expressed "some hope" that a solution to the impasse was near.

He didn't spell out what he had in mind, but he has the power to take over the city school system.

Priests Threaten 'Severe' Action

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A prominent Catholic layman Monday indicated more wood will be heaped on the controversial fires of the San Antonio Archdiocese if Archbishop Robert E. Lucey does not respond to 51 priests' demands that he resign.

LAST RESORT
Scott R. Donaho Jr., dairy farmer at nearby Floresville, declined to elaborate on the possibility of what he called "more severe" action, but he said it would be made public only as a last resort.

The phrase recalled a similar remark by one of the 51 priests earlier this month. The priest repeatedly told friends that the group's demand would be made public only as a last resort.

Last Thursday, the priests revealed a letter they had sent to Pope Paul and other top Catholic officials seeking the resignation of the 77-year-old archbishop who has guided 500,000 Catholics for more than a quarter of a century.

The pope, the archbishop and other Catholic officials made no response except to urge the 51 priests not to publicize their letter.

SILENT
The archbishop has been silent on the issue, which has led to numerous press conferences, anti-archbishop rallies, petitions in favor of the demands, and sermons from Catholic pulpits both for and against the 51 priests.

While petitions seeking signatures for the priests were being circulated in some 15 parishes,

Commissioners Approve Repair Of Fire Truck

Howard County commissioners Monday approved the repair of a county fire truck which was damaged more than a year ago in a wreck. When the truck is fixed every county precinct will have a fire engine.

The truck will be stationed in Precinct 3 when it is repaired. Mrs. Mae Hayden, commissioner of that precinct, said land and a place to keep the truck would be acquired, preferably in a central part of the precinct.

Precinct 3 covers the southwest part of the county, including Elbow and Lomax.

Also, a volunteer fire department would have to be established in the area, she said.

The commissioners also accepted the low bid of $113 per gallon for 150 gallons of anti-freeze from Gibson's Discount Center. The court also purchased a neon sign for the entrance to Howard County Airport for $349.50 from Tel-Rite Signs, Inc., and voted to place a two-way radio in the car of the county maintenance foreman.

Agnew Renews His Attack On Demo Fiscal Policies

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew renewed his attack on Democratic fiscal policies today as he continued his vice-presidential campaign swing through the South.

"The time is overdue for responsible leadership in Washington that will treat the taxpayer's dollar with the respect and care it deserves, the time is overdue for leadership that makes a point of saving money, not just spending it," the Republican candidate said.

NUTS AND BOLTS
In his statement today on federal spending, Agnew charged that Pentagon officials recently purchased five pieces of hardware "at rates 400 to 5,000 per cent higher than manufacturer's listed prices."

"They paid $1.55 each for nuts and bolts that the rest of us can buy for six cents apiece at any local hardware store," he said.

"Under a manpower development and training program, $259,300 was spent to train 142 stenographers. But private secretarial schools in Washington, D.C., could have done the job for $32,660."

"A federal day care center cost $600 more per child than the most expensive private kindergarten in the same city," he said.

Publication Of Two Viet Papers Barred

SAIGON (AP) — The government information Ministry announced tonight the permanent suspension of two Vietnamese-language newspapers and the 15-day suspension of a third.

In the past two days, five Vietnamese-language newspapers have been suspended.

The latest newspapers suspended were Tu Do—Liberty; the Duoc Nha Nam—Torch; and the Thoi Su Mien Nam—South Vietnam Events. The latter two were permanently barred from publication.

A spokesman said Tu Do "used language of the gutter" in criticizing Premier Tran Van Huong for spending $21,000 during wartime to send an artistic troupe on a tour of Paris and London.

"They are free to criticize but not free to use dirty words," the spokesman said. "Freedom of the press is not for that purpose."

The spokesman said the two other newspapers were barred from further publication for articles that undermined the government.

Cardinal Cushing Plans To Explain

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, says he still intends to resign, hopes to become a missionary in South America, and will "be in touch with the Pope and explain the whole thing to him."

The cardinal also said at a news conference Monday that he had cancer three years ago, but now feels as fit as a "half-back for the Boston Patriots."

And, he said, he would have changed a remark he made about Jacqueline Kennedy's remarriage if he had known a reporter was in the audience.

There has been no official Vatican reaction to the cardinal's statement last Friday that he intended to resign because of the furor over his attack on critics of the marriage.

At a meeting of Catholic men the prelate had asked regarding the marriage of Mrs. Kennedy and Aristotle Onassis, a divorced man: "Why shouldn't she be able to marry anyone she wants?"

He said that if he had known the reporter was there, he would have added: "But not in the Catholic Church."

Dropout Drops Two With Rifle

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high school dropout who received a .22-caliber rifle for Christmas has been charged with sniper fire on a restaurant, service station and passing cars that wounded two persons.

Police said the 16-year-old boy, who wasn't identified, fired two to three dozen times Monday afternoon before police used tear gas and gunfire to rout him from a first-floor apartment in suburban Silver Spring, Md.

After flushing the youth, police found his 17-month-old nephew inside, unharmed.

Police said the youth first opened fire on a restaurant next door to the apartment, sending patrons scurrying from the counter to the dining room, out on painting jobs.

October May Set Record In Abilene Area Ginning

This October may break all records for one-month ginning in the Abilene area, says B. B. Manly Jr., officer in charge of the USDA's Cotton Classing Office.

Harvesting started within a two-week period over practically all the 22 counties the Abilene office serves. Weather has been almost perfect for harvesting.

The Abilene Classing Office has a full crew of 13 classifiers. As of Friday, they are classing on samples they received Monday, Oct. 21. They have a backlog of 40,000.

A total of 34,000 samples were processed last week, compared to 8,000 for the same week last year. This brings the seasons total to 68,000, compared to 18,000 on the week last year.

Grades were down somewhat with 58 per cent in the white category, compared to 69 per cent for the previous week. The remainder of 42 per cent were in the light spotted category.

Staple lengths were 29, four per cent; 30, 47 per cent; 31, 27 per cent; 32, 11 per cent; 33, five per cent; and six per cent were 34 or better.

Micronaire readings were about the same with 89 per cent in the 3.5-4.9 or premium range. One per cent were 3.3-3.4; eight per cent, 5.0-5.2; and two per cent, 5.3 or over.

Some average net prices reported by the Consumer and Marketing Service were middling 30, 21.12 cents per pound; middling 31, 22.78 cents; strict low middling 30, 20.32 cents; middling light spotted 30, 20.44 cents.

These prices represent from 300 to 350 points over the government loan rate, and they reflect the general market situation through the Texas area, Manly said.

Sniper Triggers Blood-Drawing

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Austin, Tex., blood bank official says a marathon, emergency blood-drawing session was touched off when a gunman shot down 47 people on the University of Texas campus about two years ago.

In a report prepared for the annual meeting of the American Association of Blood Banks, John N. Kemp, executive director of the Travis County Medical Society Blood Bank at Austin, said blood was drawn from 123 donors among hundreds who responded immediately after the tragedy.

"From noon until about 8:30 that night," he said, "we were drawing steadily, keeping all six of our drawing tables continuously occupied. During that time we drew about 123 units (pints). Austin, Tex., blood bank official trying to keep up with requests says a marathon, emergency blood-drawing session was touched off when a gunman shot down 47 people on the University of Texas campus about two years ago.

Seventeen persons were killed by Charles Whitman, the sniper. But he said that at the time the blood was being drawn, blood bank authorities did not know how much blood would be needed.

"Frankly," he said, "we just used common sense and started drawing at full capacity without knowing what our needs would be. At the moment, and that night," he said, "we were available, we felt that it would be better to have too much blood rather than not enough."

Dear Abby

Thieving Mother-In-Law

DEAR ABBY: My problem is what to do with a thief when she is your own mother-in-law? Every time she comes to our house, she steals towels, pictures, clothing, and little knickknacks you can buy for 50 cents.

I had about $50 saved up which I kept in an old wallet in my drawer. After the old lady was here, the money was missing. My 6-year-old said, "Grandma took it." We're sure she did, but when we ask her about it, she doesn't know from nothing.

When we go to HER house we see all the stuff she's carried away from our place. When we ask her where she got it, she says, "Someone gave it to me."

I'm all for taking an empty suitcase over there and retrieving our belongings, but the wife says no. If this keeps on, we'll have to move in with the old lady. What do you make of this, and what would you do?

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: I would guess that the woman has become mentally unbalanced. He wouldn't leave anything of value around where she can get at it, and I would keep a sharp eye on her when she visits. P.S. Meanwhile, you might start "stealing" back what is yours. Then let mother-in-law squawk.

DEAR ABBY: I can certainly sympathize with the divorcee who is tired of fighting off every man who takes her out. I am a widow with the same problem. They all sing the same tune. "What do you have to lose?"

I finally hit on a perfect solution. When a supposedly

Sports Dialogue: ART LAMBERT, Olympic water polo coach for the U.S.: "Anybody who says the Olympics are not political is naive. Witness the opening ceremonies this year when Czechoslovakia received the biggest cheers. Besides, we had an unpleasant practice match with Russia recently when our Stan Cole got cut and needed four stitches beside his eye."

DARRELL ROYAL, University of Texas football coach: "Scores are just going out of sight. It's happening to everybody. The defensive personnel is not that much worse than it was two or three years ago."

FRED TAYLOR, head coach at TCU: "It takes three years to build a good college football team, and we're in our second year. We're playing the best we have. We're just going to keep working."

CURTIS COOKES of Dallas, welterweight boxing champion: "I'd love to fight for the middleweight title. I'm not sure why, but I'd like to do it."

JIM WOOD, New Mexico State coach, after his team had been defeated by UT-El Paso: "I felt the Miners were like a powder key and fuse that hadn't yet gone off. It went off against us."

WOODY HAYES, Ohio State football coach, on why he didn't expect his Buckeyes to let down after their 13-0 win over Purdue: "Because they've got a mean coach."

DON WATSON, Texas A&M coaching aide: "The University of Houston has the best offense in America for what they're trying to do. We scored twice against Florida State with their option play."

Ex-catcher YOGI BERRA, after hearing that two men in the New York area stole $500,000 in dimes: "Cheer, they're gonna have to eat in the Automat for the rest of their lives."

GLY LEWIS, University of Houston basketball coach: "When players are little, they look flashy, but big guys can do the job just as effectively if not as spectacularly as the little man. Today's pressing defenses often embarrass today's giants and make them look less artful than they really are. But the great ball handlers of other years might have fared badly against today's defenses, too. The press has run teams out of the dribble. If you want to whip the press you better not dribble. We dribbled against UCLA, and look what happened to us."

BOB HAYES, star receiver for the Dallas Cowboys, after his team was edged by Minnesota: "The Viking defense is right up there in a class with Los Angeles and Green Bay. And I mean that about the Packers. People talk about age but when you look at the injuries they've had in the defensive line this year, you'll know what their problem has been. It's not age."

BILL WRIGHT, defensive tackle for SMU, after his team had squeaked by Rice: "Robby Shelton is the best faker I've seen. He's the best quarterback we've faced all year, and that includes Rex Kern of Ohio State."

Troy Widens Lead In AP Football Poll

By The Associated Press

Ohio State, Kansas and Penn State, top challengers to Southern California's defending college football champs this fall, might have trouble Saturday holding their 2-3-4 spots in the national power structure.

The Trojans, who had last weekend off, increased their lead in The Associated Press poll Monday. They return to action Saturday with a visit to Oregon, and the Ducks don't figure to stop O.J. Simpson & Co. from reeling off their sixth victory without a loss.

But Ohio State's Buckeyes, who held the No. 2 spot although pressed by Kansas and Penn State, face a stiff test when they entertain 16th ranked Michigan State in a Big Ten Conference bout.

The Spartans upended Notre Dame 21-17 last Saturday and virtually wiped out any national title hopes of the Fighting Irish, now 4-2.

Kansas, meanwhile, meets powerful Colorado in a Big Eight Conference struggle and Penn State takes on Army in a battle of Eastern powers.

Southern California picked up 24 first place votes—an increase of three over previous week—in the AP poll of 43 sports writers and sportscasters. Ohio State, 5-0, received 12 first place ballots, compared with 15 a week ago. Kansas, 6-0, got six firsts and Penn State, 5-0, one.

The Buckeyes outscored Illinois 31-24, the Jayhawks drubbed Iowa State 46-25 and the Nittany Lions bounced Boston College 29-0 last Saturday.

Tennessee, Purdue and Georgia each moved up one notch to the Nos. 5, 6 and 7 spots, the unbeaten, one-tied Vols replacing Notre Dame, which fell to No. 12. They go after their fifth victory Saturday at Knoxville against rugged UCLA.

Purdue whipped Iowa 44-14 for a 5-1 season mark and Georgia trimmed Kentucky 35-14 for its fifth in a row after an opening deadlock with Tennessee.

Don't Laugh Off SMU, Tech's Mentor Says

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) —

"Don't laugh them off," says Texas Tech Coach J. T. King of Mustangs into the conference lead with a 3-0 record. And they cracked the top twenty, taking over the 13th spot.

Hixson is the difference in what SMU was picked to be and what they are now," King said. "If that bunch is hot they got a chance to beat anybody in the league. If Hixson isn't hot, they got a chance to lose to anybody in the league."

King generally was unimpressed with SMU with the exception of Hixson and his favorite target, fleet Jerry Levias.

King all but forecast a Texas victory this weekend when the Mustangs invade Austin for the critical clash with the revitalized Longhorns, shooting for their fifth straight triumph. The game matches the Hixson-Levias combo against the awesome Texas ground game that features the running of Chris Gilbert, who last week surpassed TCU great Jim Swink as the all-time top runner in the conference.

LAUDS TEXAS Asked to comment on the pending game with the Longhorns, Hixson tongue firmly in cheek, responded with a trace of a smile.

"I'd just be proud and privileged to go down there and play them. They've got such great guys."

In the same vein, Hixson 21 took note of preseason forecasts that planted the Pines at the bottom of the Southwest Conference.

"It's going to be kind of hard to finish seventh now," he mused. He called the prophets who picked SMU seventh the "confident ones—the others picked us eighth."

More seriously, he observed, "There may not be a lot of people that believe in us. But we believe in ourselves. We've got comeback ability."

The Mustangs have come back, repeatedly, all season in compiling a 5-1 record, best in the league. Hixson's best effort came in the only loss, to Ohio State, when he drilled 37 strikes for 417 yards.

With 164 completions on 291 attempts, he has assembled 1,881 yards through the air, tops in the nation. His passing has also lifted Levias into the lead nationally among receivers.

The Mustangs nonetheless will go to Austin Saturday as a one-touchdown underdog.

"As for that underdog talk," added SMU coach Hayden Fry, "I can say this: I don't believe in it and the boys don't believe in it. We just go out every Saturday to do our best and so far that's been good enough for five victories."

Cooper Is Rated Ahead Of Panthers In Poll

By The Associated Press

Three Texas schoolboy football teams dropped from the Dallas Morning News' poll this week, and there was relatively little shuffling of places.

Dallas South Oak Cliff maintained its position atop Class AAAA, and Brazosport moved up to replace Odessa Permian in the number three slot. Permian took a drastic fall to the number eight position.

Number two team Galveston Ball Journeys to Brazosport Friday for a battle that could mean some exchanges at the top of Class AAAA.

Sam Houston moved into fifth place, and Corpus Christi Miller edged into the sixth slot.

Lubbock Estacado and Ennis exchanged places on the Class AAA poll, with Estacado dropping back to sixth place and giving Ennis number five position.

Waxahachie disappeared from the poll and was replaced by Corsicana in place number eight. Donna entered the tabulation in the tenth place vacated by Corsicana.

Dangerfield and Eastland traded places in Class AA, with Dangerfield taking place seven and Eastland falling to nine. Alvarado disappeared and was replaced at the bottom of the class by Needville.

In Class A Dilley, Sudan and Archer City moved up to fourth, fifth and sixth places respectively as Mason made a complete exit. Sonora entered at position eight, forcing Groesbeck and Aspermont to places nine and ten respectively.

Stanton Books Dunbar JV's

STANTON — Stanton will host the undefeated Lubbock Dunbar JV's in a 7:30 p.m. game Friday.

The Buffaloes still have injury problems but Johnny McMeans, Lindsey Jones and Jack Madison likely will be back in the lineup along with ace quarterback David Jones.

Tackle Larry Pinkston is still ailing and guard Mike Curry is out with a bad knee.

In all, seven of the Buffaloes have physical miseries of one kind or another.

Dunbar has won seven games in a row. Stanton will be seeking its fifth win of the season.

McKenzie Is Back With Boston Club

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins were bolstered by the return of right winger Johnny McKenzie today.

McKenzie, sidelined with torn rib cartilage, was given a medical okay to resume National Hockey League action.

TRYING TO TAKE OUT GUN POSITIONS

B52s Drop 900 Tons Of Bombs

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes and warships, including B52 bombers and the battleship New Jersey, attacked North Vietnam's southern panhandle Monday with the heaviest blows in nearly a month, U.S. military spokesmen reported.

133 MISSIONS
There were clearing skies across the panhandle, and Air Force, Navy and Marine jet fighters and bombers flew 139 missions, the largest number since 143 were logged on Oct. 3.

"The attacking crews continued to concentrate on road and river traffic, interdicting the southward flow of supplies and material," a U.S. spokesman said.

"Assessment of their bomb damage shows at least 25 trucks and 19 supply boats either destroyed or heavily damaged while numerous fires and secondary explosions were touched off. In addition, storage facilities and bunkers were struck repeatedly and two bridges were dropped."

EXPLOSIONS
Meanwhile 30 B52 bombers carrying a bomb load roughly equivalent to that of 450 fighter-bombers, dropped 900 tons of bombs on enemy gun positions along the southern edge of North Vietnam.

Striking northwest of the allied combat bases at Con Thien and Gio Linh, the B52s touched off 27 secondary explosions and sent columns of smoke 4,000 feet up, indicating the bombs scored direct hits on munitions and fuel stores. The Stratofortresses penetrated six miles inside North Vietnam.

The chief targets of the B52s were antiaircraft and artillery positions threatening the smaller fighter-bombers and the Con Thien and Gio Linh combat bases.

GIANT SHELLS
"Those are revetted artillery positions," said one U.S. source. "Even tactical fighter-bombers can't knock them out but a concentration of B52 strikes can."

A tactical fighter-bomber on the average carries about two tons of bombs, a B52 30 tons. But the B52s failed to knock out all of the antiaircraft guns.

The New Jersey, the world's only active battleship, was called in and trained its huge 16-inch guns on the enemy positions. Marine pilots reported that the battleship's 2,700-pound shells destroyed one antiaircraft site and silenced virtually all enemy fire at the time in the eastern end of the DMZ.

No significant ground fighting was reported. Allied forces reported killing 50 enemy soldiers in a half a dozen small skirmishes from the jungle invasion routes northwest of Saigon to the populous coastal lowlands below Da Nang.

Komer Selected U.S. Ambassador To Turkey

SAIGON (AP) — Robert W. Komer, who is leaving Saigon to become U.S. ambassador to Turkey for three months, claims the number of Vietnamese under Viet Cong control has been cut in half since he took over America's part in the pacification program. His critics disagree.

Using computers to rate the more than 13,000 hamlets in South Vietnam, Komer reported recently only 16.8 per cent of the civilian population was under enemy control, 66.9 per cent lived in "relatively secure areas" and the remaining 16.3 per cent was in "contested areas" where the Saigon regime and the Viet Cong were vying for control.

Komer's detractors, including upper echelon officials, say pacification has not really won over people in the countryside.

"We have no pacification program as such. What we call pacification is occupation," said one senior American with years in Vietnam.

Principal Hit, School Closed

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The Nottingham High School was closed Monday after the principal was struck by a chair during a disturbance in the school cafeteria.

Police said about 20 Negro teenagers, who had been ejected from the school earlier in the day, returned during the lunch hour and touched off a melee.

William Wlydenburgh, the principal, received a head injury requiring 16 sutures.

Police said the Negroes were not pupils at the school, which has about 140 Negroes among its 1,500 enrollment. No one was arrested.

Czechs Wonder About Attacks

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist leaders traveled to Slovakia today for more 50th anniversary celebrations while the nation wondered what price the Soviet Union would exact for the 12-hour outbreak of anti-Soviet demonstrations in Prague Monday.

Possible Soviet retaliation ranged from new attacks in the Soviet press to a new showdown between the Kremlin and Czechoslovakia's reform regime headed by Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek.

Dubcek, President Ludvik Svoboda, Premier Oldrich Cernik and many members of the cabinet and party presidium took an eight-car special train to Bratislava, the Slovak capital. There they were to continue the golden jubilee celebration of Czechoslovakia's independence and to attend the signing by Svoboda Wednesday of the law creating semiautonomous Czech and Slovak states joined in a federation.

The Prague part of the celebration produced an outpouring of patriotic fervor Monday that included demonstrations and parades by up to 10,000 persons chanting "Russians go home" and other slogans attacking the presence of the Soviet troops who invaded the country in August.

GO HOME

"Freedom!" the crowds cried. "They have the tanks, we have the truth!" "Russians go home!"

Youths carrying red, white and blue Czechoslovak flags roamed from the seat of government at Prague Castle to the Soviet Embassy, a Soviet district command post, a Red Army of officers' billet and the National Theatre, where they delayed a gala performance of a patriotic opera attended by Dubcek and other leaders.

The East German news agency ADN said some burned Soviet newspapers and "spat on and threatened" cars of the Soviet and East German embassies, but there was no reaction from Russian troops.

FORCE

In their only show of force, Czechoslovak police used clubs to disperse a crowd of demonstrators in Wenceslas Square after they jeered a dozen Soviet soldiers cruising by in a jeep. The jeep drove away on a side street without stopping. Eye witnesses said about a dozen young persons were taken into custody by the police.

Soviet newsmen drew hoots and whistles from the demonstrators when they were recognized in the streets.

Says 'Big Lift' No Substitute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer has warned against total reliance on the Pentagon's 'Big Lift' strategy of rushing troops from the United States in the event of a crisis.

Lemnitzer, supreme allied commander in Europe, said the strategy drawn up under former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is "no substitute for forces actually on the ground."

He said Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, agrees.

Under McNamara's dual-basing concept of U.S. military aid to Europe, sizable U.S. forces have been withdrawn from NATO territory to the United States with the proviso that they are committed to the alliance and would fly back in any emergency.

Lemnitzer said the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia showed that NATO forces must be available on the ground in Europe "if they are expected to conduct an effective forward defense."

The four-star general told the Association of the United States Army Monday that the invasion demonstrated how rapidly the Warsaw Pact can move in Europe.

"There is no doubt," he said, "that the movement of the armored division from Ft. Hood (Tex.) to Europe in exercise Big Lift in 1963 demonstrated an impressive breakthrough in strategic mobility. But it should be remembered that only personnel with individual equipment were moved."

TV Networks Strike Looms

NEW YORK (AP) — About 800 union staff musicians are set to strike Wednesday against the three major television networks in a wage dispute.

The American Federation of Musicians said Monday that picket lines would form in New York and Los Angeles at facilities of the National Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System and American Broadcasting Co.

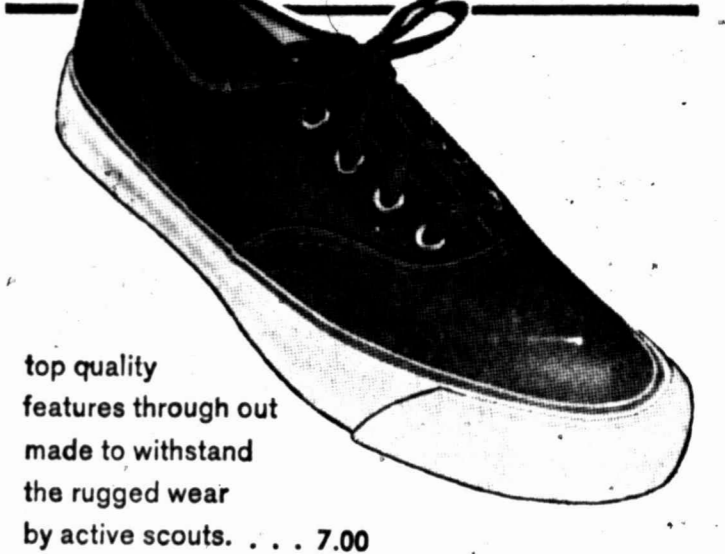

Hardest hit would be musical and variety programs.

The networks said they made a final offer for a new contract to replace the one that expired last July 31. The proposed three-year pact called for a $20-a-week raise the first 18 months and another $20 weekly boost the second 18 months.

The union has demanded an immediate raise of $64 a week, a 10 per cent raise the second year and a 5 per cent hike the third year.

Staff Musicians currently receive a top minimum of $257.50 a week.

Agnew Denies All Charges In Times

NEW YORK (AP) — Republican vice presidential candidate Spiro T. Agnew has denied all the charges in a New York Times editorial that accused him of "clear and repeated conflicts of interest" while serving as Maryland's governor.

In a four-page statement issued Monday night in Houston, Tex., Agnew said it was unfortunate that the Times "should find itself in the embarrassing position of having pulled the major blower of the campaign."

"Everyone knows that the Times endorsed Vice President Humphrey and is actively supporting him," the statement continued. "The fact that the Times waited until a week before the election to distort the facts and make its inaccurate charges against me compounds the libel."

The editorial Saturday said that Agnew joined a group of businessmen in purchasing a tract of land on the probable approach of a new Chesapeake Bay bridge and sold it only after he had become governor and in response to public criticism.

In his statement Agnew said "The Times charged or inferred that because of favorable treatment given friends of mine while I was in office that my financial worth has risen sharply. This is a completely false statement."

PROFIT
Agnew said that several weeks ago he declared his net worth at $110,084. He said that of that total $35,000 to $40,000 had been inherited from his parents.

He said that prior to his election as governor he voluntarily disclosed his ownership in the bay bridge land and deeded his interest to an irrevocable trust with instructions that it be sold and any profit turned over to a charitable organization.

He said the approach route to the new bay bridge "was approved and recommended by the State Roads Commission under a Democratic governor prior to my administration." He said the land was sold by the trustee for the same price he had paid for it.

"Mr Agnew did not profit from this sale, nor did the editorial allege that he had so profited," the editorial said. "The other statements concerning Mr. Agnew's real estate activities and his directorship of the Chesapeake National Bank apparently given friends of mine parently are undisputed."

Polishing Off A Customer

Fred Cooney discovers that the help at the She-Shine Parlor at Penn Station in Newark, N.J., has a lot of polish. Cooney is getting a shine from miniskirted Sharon Lesko, who's in for a "maxitip" if she keeps up the good work. The parlor, owned by Richard and Barbara Zignarelli, did a bustling business on its first day, yesterday, as commuters took a shine to the new idea.

IT'S 'PAPER HANGING' TIME IN BIG SPRING

Yule'll Be Wise To Check Checks

By TEX ROGERS

Merchants like to see November come because it means Christmas is not far away and people will begin gift shopping. However, businessmen are warned that some of the money they take in may be bad.

A. N. Standard, Howard County Sheriff, says that each year in the weeks preceding Christmas there is a heavy increase in worthless checks, writing and forgeries.

"During the course of a year, a merchant will accept a small percentage of bad checks," Standard says. "But in the last few weeks, when stores are crowded and business is heavy, a merchant may lose a lot more."

BEWARE

Standard suggests that businessmen may caution their employees to beware of possible bad check writers.

"Look out for two-party checks, over-pronounced company checks and counter checks, unless you know the person who gives them," he says.

The sheriff explains that two-party and counter checks may be forged, and over-pronounced checks, or checks which have a lot of detail on them may not be good at all.

"The sheriff's office has had cases of company checks which had the bank, address, telephone number and even marked with a check protector, but were phony," he said.

The best way to curtail bad check writers is to ask for all the identification a person may have, including drivers license, Social Security card and Selective Service card, Standard said.

He also said that merchants should beware of counter checks which are rubber stamped with the name of a business.

SMART GUYS

"If any businessman has a question about the validity of a check or person passing a check, he should contact the sheriff's office, police department or other law enforcement agency, and a check could be run in a matter of minutes," the sheriff said.

Standard explained that check writers are a clever lot, and some get by three or four years before being caught.

"Some bad check artists will start on one side of the state and move all the way across in three or four weeks before anyone knows what happened," he said. "They may move into a town, rent an apartment and make themselves known to a lot of businessmen, and then one day they write several hundred dollars worth of checks and leave town. They could be 300-400 miles away before anyone knows the checks are bad."

Standard also said that sometimes even identification may be bogus.

"One man was picked up here and when the trunk of his car was opened we found a dozen forged drivers licenses, Selective Service cards, blank Social Security cards, a check protector, typewriter and a book of blank, company-styled checks," he said.

ROBBERIES

Another form of worthless checks comes by way of checks and money orders from a robbery. Standard said a store or post office in East Texas may be robbed and several checks or money orders taken. The thieves will then work their way across the state, passing the forged checks and money orders in every town.

"Our office won't know about the burglary until probably in the afternoon when it comes over the police teletype," he said. "By then the thieves could be several hundred miles away. Also, a merchant may not know about the forged check until three weeks later when it returns from the bank."

Standard said merchants should be cautious about out-of-town money orders.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching, -Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a medication with the ability, in most cases - to promptly stop itching, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids.

Johnson Says He'll Conduct Several Seminars At Rice

HOUSTON (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson, a school teacher before turning to politics, will conduct several seminars at Rice University after his term in office expires in January.

Johnson has accepted an invitation to speak at the Houston school sometime in the spring.

Dr. Joseph Cooper, head of Rice's political science department, said Monday that Johnson probably will discuss American politics.

"I ACCEPT"

"We envision the President meeting with a small group of students on some topics agreeable to him—a series of such seminars over a period of several days," Cooper said.

Johnson indicated earlier that he will teach at the University of Texas in Austin. He already has been elected a member of the Texas faculty, and is expected to participate in informal discussion groups.

Cooper said Johnson accepted in a letter stating, "At this time it is difficult to arrange a schedule and to decide on the format of my visit with you. Rest assured, however, that I gladly accept your invitation."

FOUR OR FIVE

"There haven't been any plans made, but I would imagine President Johnson will conduct four or five seminars in a period of several days," Cooper said.

Israeli Units Turn Back Sabotage Band

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli army units turned back a sabotage band trying to cross the usually quiet Lebanese border near the villages of Honein and Malkeh in upper Galilee Monday night, an army spokesman reported.

No Israeli casualties were reported.

The Lebanese defense ministry charged Israel with shelling three uninhabited forest areas for a half an hour.

An Israeli army communique Monday said Israeli forces had captured a key guerrilla leader and seven armed followers, each of them carrying a copy of Che Guevara's diary. The army said the leader was Abu Gissan, the commander of the Popular Liberation Front, based in Jordan.

The eight men were captured after a 40-minute battle when they waved their undershirts in surrender. Gissan reportedly admitted that he and his men received clearance from the regional commander of the Jordanian army before going into Israeli territory 11 miles north of Jericho.

Defense Leases To Cost Millions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense work in 16 industrial plants will cost the Pentagon at least an extra $55.8 million because the contractors lease rather than purchase their facilities, a new government study shows.

And if all the leases were renewed for continued defense work, the extra expense would jump to $99.3 million, according to the report just released by the General Accounting Office, Congress' auditing agency.

The practice of leasing rather than buying land and buildings to perform defense work is widespread in private industry, GAO said.

contractor may charge to the government on owned facilities. By the time all of the 63 leases studied by GAO expire, therefore, the extra cost to the government through rent charges will be $55.8 million. If all of the leases are renewed, it will be $99.3 million.

SAME DEAL

And, GAO noted, 23 of the leases have already come up for renewal and all have been renewed.

When GAO asked the contractors why they leased rather than purchased facilities, nine cited "the basic instability of government business and the greater risk they would assume by purchasing facilities."

Here's Big Switch: College Too Liberal

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — In a year when liberal college students across the nation are rebelling against conservative administrators, the inconceivable is happening at Pikeville College—conservative students are accusing their administration of being too liberal.

The students haven't taken to the streets nor have they threatened to take over the college administration building.

But the signs of a liberal-conservative element are unmistakable at the campus, which is dug into a mountain slope high above this eastern Kentucky city of 5,800.

FREE SPEECH

The issues are the same as on many campuses: free speech, freedom in the classroom, the college's involvement in social problems, the impersonality of the education system, student dress and activities, and the college's response to change.

However, the sides are the reverse of what they are at other campuses—with the students taking a conservative position on almost every issue and the administration taking a liberal one.

Senior Dave Cleavanger, who classes himself a conservative, put it this way: "We must have the only right-wing student protest movement in the country."

The student conservatives, who seem to have a numerical upper hand in the 1,200-member student body, strongly support the Vietnam war and the draft.

TOO FAST

As for the college, they feel that the administration of Pikeville's 37-year-old president, Dr. Thomas H. Johns, is too liberal and that Johns is attempting to change the institution too fast.

"We're taking education out of its box," Johns said. "We're addressing it to the 20th century."

Conservatives at this Presbyterian-affiliated institution arent impressed.

Conservative students have accused Johns of ousting elderly faculty members and replacing them with teachers who have liberal leanings.

The college board of trustees has given Johns a vote of confidence but opposition by the conservatives continues. Said student council president Robert Ford, "We're not satisfied with the investigation," referring to the action by the trustees.

North doubled West's two diamond rebid for penalties—he felt he could win five tricks in his own hand, plus whatever partner could contribute. East bailed out to two hearts and South, who was not interested in defending against a low level contract, rebid three clubs. North, having silenced the opposition, carried his partner directly to game.

West opened the ace of hearts and continued with the king which is the conventional method for showing that he has a doubleton in the suit. The normal play holding the top two honors, of course, is to lead the king first. West shifted next to the king of diamonds taken by dummy's ace.

Declarer led a trump to his queen but, when West discarded a diamond, an unexpected complication appeared. While it was possible to pick up East's trump holding by leading clubs twice from the dummy, it would be necessary to use up both of North's spade entries in the process, and South would be left with a losing heart in his hand. If he chose instead to ruff out his losing heart, he would be unable to prevent East from taking a club trick.

Presently, declarer saw a possible solution to his dilemma, provided that West held the jack of spades. A small spade was led and, when West played low, the ten was put in from dummy—and held the trick. The ten of clubs was returned, covered by East's jack and South's king. The North hand was reentered with the queen of spades and a finesse was taken against East's nine of clubs. The ace of clubs picked up the last trump and declarer continued to lead clubs.

As the last trump came forth, West was down to the queen of diamonds and the ace-eight of spades. If West discarded the diamond, he would be abandoning his protection in that suit. He, therefore, threw a spade; however, this enabled South to overtake his king of spades with North's ace and the dummy's eight took the last trick.

MYSTERY

The agency's auditors studied the operations of 17 private contractors in 20 locations and found what GAO called 63 significant lease arrangements—those where annual rentals totaled $50,000 or more a year—in 16 of those locations.

Neither the contractors nor the locations were identified, but the GAO said most of the work was done under negotiated contracts. These are priced on the basis of cost to the contractor, and the contractor is able to charge off to the government as costs the rent paid for the land and buildings.

Armed services procurement regulations permit this practice, GAO said, while severely restricting the amount which a

Lubbock Lures AGC Leaders

West Texas construction industry leaders will convene in Lubbock on Thursday at the Holiday Inn - Parkway for a one-day probe of the industry's problems, it was announced today by Duane Unruh, president of the West Texas Contractors of America.

Committee reports on legislation, labor relations and other topics will follow a luncheon. The board meets at 3 p.m. and an hour later Carl Copeland, representing the state comptroller, will answer questions about changes in sales tax and use law. Clayford T. Grimm, Austin, will discuss high-speed techniques of using brick and other clay materials.

Industry leaders will discuss various cost-cutting methods. Garland G. Hammer, Lubbock vocational school director, will talk about training. Among AGC members in Big Spring are J. D. Jones, Fred Kasch, Paul Kasch, and Jim Bill Little.

Ribbons Awarded At Council Flower Show

"HemisFair '68," a standard flower show, was presented Saturday by the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs in the Highland Center Mall, with the Sweepstakes Award in Horticulture going to Mrs. A. C. Moore, and the Sweepstakes in the Artistic Division being awarded to Mrs. Jesse B. Crane Jr. Insufficient entries in the Artistic Division prevented the Tri-Color Award of Distinction Creativity and Award of Merit being given.

Mrs. Crane was chairman for the show. Working with her were Mrs. D. S. Riley, Mrs. D. O. Gray and Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, schedule; Mrs. Frank Wilson, staging; Mrs. Tom Ivey, entries; Mrs. Guy Cook, placement; Miss Bessie Love, classification; Mrs. S. Gray, judges and hospitality; and Mrs. J. C. Pickle, awards and clerks. An educational exhibit on soil analysis was prepared by the Howard County Agent office.

Judges for the show were Mrs. J. Paul Hatcher, Mrs. W. E. Steel Jr., Mrs. T. C. Watkins, Mrs. S. P. Crain, Mrs. J. C. McCart and Mrs. R. D. Hardman, all of Midland; and Mrs. Odell Womack, Mrs. W. D.

Program Based On Home Plans

Miss Beverly Jones spoke on "Planning the Kitchen" in conjunction with the program theme, "The Home We Make" at Monday's meeting of Xi Mu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, in the home of Mrs. Martha Jones, 2104 Merrily. Mrs. Harry McMillan was cohostess.

The speaker described basic designs of work areas and types along with colors and sizes of appliances. Mrs. Horace Reagan spoke on the good and bad points of kitchen planning.

Mrs. Wade Choate, Service chairman, announced plans for a Halloween carnival, to be held today, for special education students at Moss Elementary School. "Trick or Treat" bags were stuffed for the students.

Mrs. Roy Granbery, president, announced a contribution to the American Field Service which sponsors a foreign exchange student.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a fall arrangement of pumpkins and autumn leaves. Milk glass and silver appointments completed the setting.

The next meeting will be Nov. 11 in the home of Mrs. Jack Bizzard, 2111 Cecilia.

Eagles Auxiliary To Donate Gowns

The Eagles Auxiliary will contribute gowns to women patients at the Bennett House. The announcement was made by Mrs. Vera Dozier, president, at Monday's meeting at Hotel Settles. Mrs. Anna Kemp will head a committee to purchase the gowns. Mrs. Edith Davie received the attendance prize, and Mrs. E. L. Whittington led prayer.

A LOVELIER YOU Get Enough Protein For Health, Beauty

By MARY SUE MILLER

Protein is the basic material of the body — of the skin, hair, nails, organs, blood, bones and muscles. A deficiency takes a toll of your health, energy and looks.

According to reports, many Americans suffer from lack of protein in their diet. Yet, the first foods we send to needy nations are protein-loaded.

Even a reducing diet — any approved regimen — stresses protein foods. But whether or not you are reducing, you require a half gram of protein every day for each pound of your normal weight (not excess weight). If your normal weight is 120 pounds, your protein quota is 60 grams. You are not likely to make it unless you have two helpings of meat, one of cheese and a pint of milk. Not incidentally, many nutritionists favor 70 grams daily.

It is thought that an inadequate intake derives from an information lag. Many people are not sure what the high protein foods are. Others have an idea the price is prohibitive. The following table lists some less costly high grade protein foods, along with the grams in an average serving:

Dried beef — 30 grams; cheaper cuts beef and lamb — 20; chicken — 20; kidney — 20; liver — 25; turkey — 23; cottage cheese (1/2-cup) — 20;

wheat germ (1 tbs) — 8; egg — 7; cup of milk — 8.

A thought to ponder is that your body makes a complete turnover in protein every six months. Unless you keep up the supply, you just can't be as healthy, handsome or wise as you could be.

DIET AND LIKE IT Reduce without starving. Send for my purse-sized booklet, DIET... AND LIKE IT, which includes: shortcuts to dieting; a calorie calculator; simplified menu planning; your model weight. MRS. DICKIE LEE JONES

Couple Recites Vows In Home Ceremony

Miss Jacquelyne Marie Sevey became the bride of Dickie Lee Jones Monday evening in a 7 o'clock ceremony performed in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Walter Sevey, 4216 Muir. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Claud E. Jones, 3229 Drexel.

Chap. Lee Butler performed the ceremony as the couple exchanged double ring vows before an improvised altar adorned with an arch of greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a street-length dress of bridal satin accented with pleated insets of lace and designed with a jewel neckline and short sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion was attached to a satin bandeau, and she carried a bouquet of orchids and white gardenias atop a white Bible.

Miss Christine King was maid of honor, and George Griffith served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School, where she was a member of the Bible Club, V.O.E. Club and Shorthand Club. She is presently employed at Big Spring State Hospital. The bridegroom graduated from BSHS and is now serving in the Navy.

The couple will be at home in Honolulu, when the bride joins her husband there late in November.

For a wedding trip to Cloudercroft, N.M., Mrs. Jones chose a royal blue and green two-piece suit with green accessories.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony, and Mrs. Randall Parker, sister of the bride, presided at the guest register. Others in the house party were Mrs. Charles F. Michaels, Miss Jan Kauten Sevey and Miss Kay Sevey, sisters of the bride.

The refreshment table was laid with an orchid cloth overlaid with an arrangement of miniature wedding rings and white streamers. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Two local women, Mrs. Jack Cox and Mrs. Ollie Branson, have returned from Corpus Christi where they attended the state convention of the Licensed Vocational Nurses of Texas, Oct. 24-27, at the Robert Driscoll Hotel. Theme for the convention was "Licensed Vocational Nurses Surviving and Serving." The keynote address was given by Larry Niemann, legal advisor to LVNA, who spoke on "Techniques for Serving Without A Sheepskin."

New officers were installed at the banquet Saturday evening. They were Mrs. Madge Post of Corpus Christi, president, and Mrs. Dorothy Harris of Dallas, second vice president.

The next state convention will be held in October, 1969, in San Antonio and the next meeting of the local LVN group will be at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 5, in the Malone and Hogan Clinic doctor's lounge.

The Young Homemakers of Coahoma and the Coahoma Lions Club will co-sponsor a volleyball tournament in March according to plans made at Monday's meeting. Mrs. Billy Spears, the club president, announced that the women will operate a concession stand at the games.

During the business session, cookbooks were distributed which will sell for $1 each with proceeds going to the "Little Sister" scholarship fund. Mrs. Spears reported that the club will donate clothing to the World Church Service for distribution to Vietnamese families. Also, she noted that the club will give an attendance award at the end of the club year.

The program was given by Mrs. R. L. Hodnett, who spoke on decoupage.

The public is invited to attend the Nov. 24 meeting at Coahoma High School when the Big Spring Police Department will present the film, "Attack."

SYSTEM OF ELECTING THE PRESIDENT IS CONFUSING, CONTRADICTORY

Votes In Larger States Count More In Final Outcome

AP Newsmasters
Though every enfranchised citizen of the United States is entitled to cast one ballot in the presidential election, sometimes not how he votes, but where he votes, determines how much that ballot counts in the final outcome.

A resident of a large state such as California, for example often swings more weight at the polls than his counterpart in tiny Rhode Island.

Strictly speaking, neither is voting for his favorite candidate at all, but rather for electors.

LOPSIDED

In the 1960 election John F. Kennedy won only 49.7 per cent of the popular vote, compared with Richard Nixon's 49.3 per cent. Though it was the closest presidential contest in 72 years, Kennedy achieved a lopsided 303-to-219 electoral victory.

Three times in the nation's political history candidates have become President even though they garnered only a minority of the popular vote.

Twice the House of Representatives has been called on to choose the President.

The system that accounts for all this contradiction and confusion dates back to the Constitutional Convention of 1787 when the method for choosing a chief executive was arrived at after heated debate and lengthy deliberation.

Of the 10 states represented at that meeting in Philadelphia, nine were against selecting the nation's leader by popular vote and only one, Pennsylvania, favored that means.

Eventually a solution was agreed on, embodying the electoral college. By terms of this compromise, each state was to have as many presidential electors as the total of its senators and representatives in Congress.

TWO REASONS

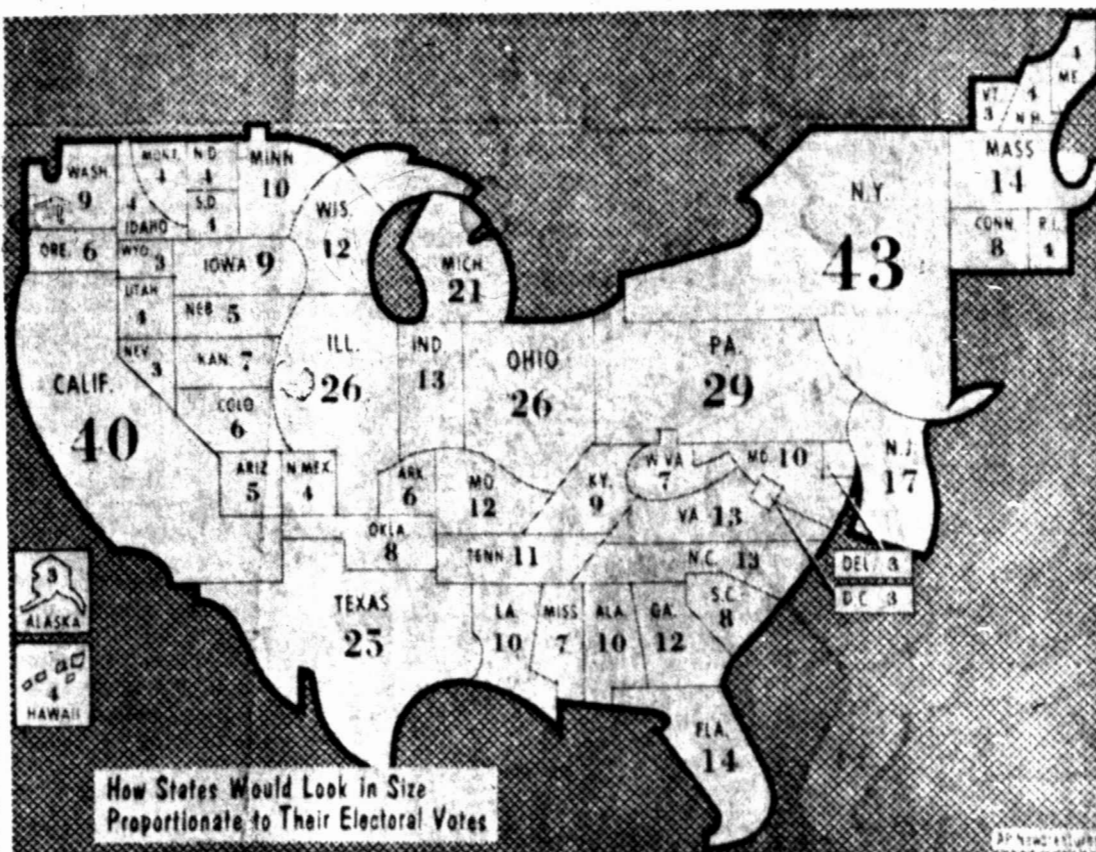

These members of the electoral college were to vote for two persons, the candidate with the majority of votes to become President and the one with the next highest number of votes to become vice president.

If the electors failed to give a majority of the votes to a single candidate, the House of Representatives was to pick the winner from the recipients of the three top electoral votes. In this case each state was to have one vote.

All went according to the Founding Fathers' plan in the first election in February, 1789. George Washington received the unanimous vote of all 69 electors from 10 states, while 34 ballots were cast for John Adams, giving him the vice presidency. The remaining 35 electoral votes were scattered among other hopefuls.

ELECTORAL VOTES TIED

However, complications arose in 1800 when Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr were the Republican candidates. Both received 73 electoral votes and the election was thrown into the House of Representatives, where Jefferson finally won the majority of votes on the 36th ballot.

This deadlock made clear the necessity for changing the mode of election and the 12th Amendment to the Constitution, providing that the electoral college vote separately for President and vice president, was ratified in 1804.

Although countless other ideas for reforming the electoral college have been proposed, none so far has been agreed on. It is still possible for a candidate receiving the minority of popular votes to become President.

This happened for the first time in 1824, when Andrew Jackson won 152,901 votes against John Quincy Adams' 114,023. But since no candidate received a majority of electoral votes as required by the Constitution, the election again went to the House of Representatives.

ADAMS CHOSEN

There Adams was chosen President with 13 states voting for him, seven for Jackson and four for William C. Crawford.

This political phenomenon occurred again in 1876, in the photo-finish contest between Rutherford B. Hayes, Republican, and Samuel J. Tilden, Democrat. Though Tilden had a quarter-million more popular votes than his opponent, the returns from Florida, Louisiana and South Carolina were in dispute, with two conflicting sets of electoral votes being sent to Washington.

In a bit of historical hanky-panky that proves the ballot counters are at times more influential than the ballot casters, Hayes got the nod, 185 electoral votes to 184.

The Democrats charged the election had been stolen. Tilden did not vigorously protest the decision, fearing that it might plunge the nation further into civil strife.

Once again, in 1888, Republican Benjamin Harrison became President although Grover Cleveland had a popular majority of more than 100,000 votes. The Democratic candidate had only 168 electoral votes. Harrison carried New York and Indiana, the two pivotal states, and racked up 233 electoral votes.

party in each state gather to vote, usually at the state capitol, on the first Monday after the second Wednesday in December.

The Constitution requires the electors to be picked in a manner determined by each state legislature. By 1828 the process of legislatures appointing electors was dying out.

The electors are usually nominated by state party conventions, state political committees or by primary elections. At first most electors were chosen from districts similar to Congressional districts. Dominant parties soon realized, however, that they could get more electoral votes for their candidate if the party with the most votes in the state won all the electors.

This became known as the "unit vote," "general ticket" or "winner-take-all" method. By 1836, all the states were using it.

ONLY TWO MORE

Although it is believed that more amendments have been proposed concerning the presidential election than for any other single provision of the Constitution, only two in addition to the 12th Amendment have altered any of the procedure.

Among the provisions of the 20th Amendment, ratified in 1933, is that the vice president elect becomes acting President if no President has been chosen by Jan. 20, the time fixed for the beginning of his term.

The 23rd Amendment, adopted in 1961, gave the presidential vote and three electors to the District of Columbia.

With this addition, there are now 538 electors, and a majority of 270 is required to choose a President and vice president.

From the beginning, the electoral college method has been the subject of debate. Since 1797, when the first Constitutional amendment proposing reform of the presidential election method was offered in Congress, hardly a session has closed without the introduction of one or more resolutions of this nature.

The hundreds of suggestions for reforming the system fall basically into four categories:

direct election, district plans, proportional plans and automatic vote plans.

The direct election plan would eliminate the electoral vote and provide for the election of the President and vice president by a majority of the total popular vote.

The district plan would preserve the electoral college but would eliminate the present practice of giving a state's entire electoral vote to one candidate.

ABOLISH

The proportional plan would abolish the electoral college but retain the electoral vote. In each state the electoral vote would be apportioned among the presidential candidates in accordance with the number of popular votes they receive.

The automatic electoral vote plan would eliminate electors but keep the electoral votes of each state, which would automatically be awarded to the candidate receiving the greatest number of votes in that state.

The candidate with the majority of the electoral votes would become President. If no candidate received a majority, a joint session of Congress would elect a President from the top three candidates. This would effect the least change in the present system.

To reform or not to reform — that remains the question. But one thing is sure: In 1968 the nation will choose its President almost precisely the way it has been choosing him for nearly 180 years.

Kennedy And Johnson Split, Blunder Cited

By The Associated Press
Journalist Jim Bishop's "The Day J.F.K. Died" draws a picture of rancor between Kennedy and Johnson, and says President Johnson would not have been able to order a response to a Soviet missile attack for a 30-minute period because of a blunder.

Bishop also writes that Johnson had not been briefed on making a decision to launch a counterattack.

A portion of Bishop's account of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy appears in the November issue of Ladies' Home Journal.

In a note accompanying the article, Bishop says — President Johnson has confided in him in relating how he felt on that day.

President Kennedy had been dead several minutes before Johnson was informed, Bishop writes. Also, he says, the Army warrant officer who carried the coded device by which a president can order a nuclear attack was away from Johnson for 30 minutes at one point.

"The men around Kennedy had kept the secret of power from Lyndon Johnson," Bishop writes of the period immediately after Kennedy's death.

Bishop describes tension between Kennedy and Johnson people aboard Air Force One before and during the flight back to Washington. And he emphasizes what he presents as basic dislike for Johnson among Kennedy people.

"The confinement of the Johnsons and the Kennedys in the plane for a period of 150 minutes was sufficient to cleave the families in permanent schism," Bishop writes.

"Johnson did not and could not, aspire to be 'Kennedy people.' He could be tolerated as a vice president because his loyalty to John F. Kennedy was complete and unquestioned.

"Within the family, only Bobby, Robert F. Kennedy, and Kenny O'Donnell could not abide him as vice president. To them, he was a rumped wheel-dealer-part Southerner part Westerner, with crowding on his heels. He lacked 'class.'"

COLD

Bishop also alleges coldness between Jacqueline Kennedy, now Mrs. Aristotle Onassis, and Kennedy's mother, Mrs. Rose Kennedy. Bishop says that when Johnson called Rose Kennedy from Air Force One she did not ask to be switched to her son's wife, sitting only 50 feet away.

"Nor did Mrs. John F. Kennedy phone her mother-in-law.

"Four months after the assassination, I sat with Rose and Joe Kennedy at their home in Palm Springs. Mrs. Rose Kennedy said: 'I have not heard from "Mrs. Kennedy" since the funeral.'"

After the assassination, President Kennedy's wife wrote Bishop asking him not to finish his book because, she said, William Manchester was working on an authorized account.

ELECTOR NOT BOUND

Although the Constitution does not require an elector to vote for the candidate whose party received the highest popular vote in his state, with rare exceptions this has been the practice.

However, in the 1960 election, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-VA, received 15 electoral votes — eight from unpledged Mississippi Democratic electors, six from unpledged Alabama electors and one from a defecting Oklahoma Republican.

In 1956 one of the Democratic electors from Alabama refused to vote for Adlai Stevenson, and cast his ballot instead for Walter B. Jones, a local judge. The electors of the winning

Uncomfortable Possibility

A week from today the nation will be choosing a new President. Every eligible citizen should vote, and we should hope that this vote will count effectively. There has been much speculation about the possibility of the decision devolving upon the House of Representatives. The eventualities are so many and so confusing, that we pray that our country does not have to go through this ordeal.

Stimulating Thought

In a recent speech to the International City-Manager's Association, Horace Busby, a former special assistant to President Johnson, pointed the phenomenal rate of growth in recent decades of "a high velocity, high-intensity, turned-on society" as the true "anarchist in our midst."

Holmes Alexander Nixon As Guest Columnist

I want to thank Holmes Alexander, a friend of long standing, for turning a column over to me today. A columnist must be perceptive and because of this, his sometimes is a lonely job where he wonders whether his words are being accepted, rejected or ignored. But I know that Holmes Alexander's words are listened to, respected and accepted and I want to take this opportunity to pay tribute to a man of principle.

Our attitudes on how to battle the growing problem of crime illustrate the point. MR. HUMPHREY, in typical fashion I might say, proposed a program to spend a billion dollars. But in doing so he refused to recognize the all-out effort necessary to wage war on crime effectively.

Billy Graham

I, like many other parents are concerned about the rash of pornography distributed among our teenagers. The other morning I turned over the pillow of our 16-year-old boy's bed, and found a shocking book with cartoons showing perverted acts of sex. And yet, many people claim that no harm can come from such obscenity. What do you think? M.U.

I counsel a lot of teenagers, and I have had them tell me that they were so stimulated by pornographic literature that they got up in the middle of the night to search for a sex-mate. Now, the Chinese say that a picture is worth a thousand words, and I believe that pictures, drawings and literature which is solely designed to stimulate sexual passions among the adolescents are sins that bring the judgment of God. God knows they have all the desire they can handle without any stimulation by artists and writers who are interested in one thing: profit.

NOW - LET'S SAVE THE TREAT

John Cuniff Consumers Playing Tricks

NEW YORK (AP) — An inability to understand the admonition to "know thyself" is playing tricks with the immediate future of all Americans and bringing to grief our best laid plans.

THE PROBLEM INVOLVES Americans as consumers. The failure is in being unable to accept the fact that today's consumer is a changing personality, in some respects unrelated to his ancestors.

HE IS WEALTHIER, better educated, has a bank account and enormous credit facilities at his service. Above all he has more options. Whereas once he purchased to fill his needs, now he buys to satisfy his tastes as well.

HE HAS, therefore, become far less predictable than the consumer of a few decades ago who often lived a hand-to-mouth existence. He can postpone or advance his purchases. He can dip into savings. He can obtain credit.

His purchases depend not just on ability but on willingness to buy, as has been stressed for years now by George Katona of the University of Michigan, a pioneer in consumer studies.

NOT ONLY HAS THE consumer become less predictable, he has become a much larger factor in the economy. Although this is well known, the combination still seems to have dismayed the Federal Reserve, the best economic brains in the federal establishment and hundreds of university economists.

As we now know, the consumer cut his rate of savings from near 7.5 per cent take home pay to about 6.25 per cent in recent months and this added to the economic boom about the same amount taken out by a tax increase.

It wasn't supposed to be that way. The consumer was supposed to retrench, as he did in the past. He was supposed to lower his living standard a bit.

To Your Good Health Why Did He Stop Her Cortisone Pills?

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: Please tell me why taking one cortisone tablet per day is harmful here in Arizona, but when I was in Illinois my doctor said one tablet was not enough to be harmful. I have taken it for years. It just means that I am not stiff and sore all the time and can enjoy life. I have tried to use just aspirin, etc., but it does not help me. Yet here my doctor is very opposed to my taking the cortisone.

Enclosed is 35 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, for which please send me your booklet, "You Can Control Arthritis." — C.M. It puts me on slippery ground to try to make a judgment about another physician's care of a patient I have never even seen. However, I am sure that geographical location has nothing to do with use of cortisone. Undoubtedly there are doctors in Arizona who use cortisone in such cases and others who do not. Your doctor is surely aware of this, and he may be of the supercautious school of thought.

Around The Rim Saddest Of All Printer Tales

You probably have to have been either a printer or a newspaper man to really appreciate the tragedy of the event I am going to relate. To get the full impact, you should have been a newspaper man working on a crippled little daily paper back nearly half a century ago. Today it might have considerable overtones of tragedy but it would lack the numbing shock that it packed on the special occasion I have in mind.

I TOILED on a struggling morning newspaper. Its publisher had a check-book, but unfortunately he had no money in the bank. We were weeks and weeks behind with our paychecks and there seemed to be little prospect of relief.

One day, the publisher limped into the office. (One of his legs was a few inches shorter than the other), his face beaming. He had just persuaded the county commissioners court to let him publish the court's proceedings.

This was a very lush advertising plum in those days. It usually ran two full pages of agate type (very small) and the law specified that the paper be paid at the rate of $1 per column inch. It was as though manna had suddenly begun to rain down.

Our mouths watered as we listened to the linotype setting up the type for that precious double page deal.

SHORT ON machinery, as we were on everything, the day the commissioner's proceedings were to be published, we were late in getting to press. Around 3 a.m. the pressman began to lug the heavy forms from the imposing stone to place them on the bed of the press.

The crisis was in lifting the big double page unit. We watched, with bated breath, as the pressman — a huge man with vast arms and a big tummy — hoisted the forms from the stone, tucked one end into his paunch and began walking slowly toward the press.

SUDDENLY THERE was a tremendous clatter. A sound of metal striking stone and the sharp clang of heavier pieces of metal. We knew full well it wasn't St. Nick's reindeer on our roof.

The pressman had "piped" those two precious pages and that the days of hard work by typesetters was now spread out in an untidy jumble of linotype slugs on the dirty pressroom floor.

I SAID nothing nor did I even want to see what others would do. I turned on my heels and walked slowly and sadly to the business office. I walked to the front door and looked out on the lonely street. The distant streetlights cast eerie patterns of colors on the pavement.

I walked back into the office. I suddenly felt that nothing else mattered. The worst had happened. So I stretched out atop the office counter.

I went to sleep. When I awoke it was daylight. People were in the office. Back in the composing room, heavy-eyed printers were still trying to sort out the jumbled type — piece by piece, line by line.

NO ONE said anything to me. I crawled off the counter and into my car at the curb. I drove home and went to bed.

Art Buchwald The Way To Prevent Peace

WASHINGTON — Whenever we have a peace scare in the United States as we have been experiencing for the past few weeks, I search out my dear friend, Gen. Curtis Dismay, formerly of the Air Force Bomber Command, who knows more about war than any living authority.

It is peace inevitable? I asked Gen. Dismay, who had just returned from a three-day trip to Vietnam. "Not necessarily. In the Atomic Age we must always live with the threat of peace, but I think it can be avoided."

"But how?" "FIRST BY NOT making any overtures to the enemy that might provoke them into thinking that we want peace, and second by ignoring any peace feelers from the other side, no matter how promising they are. When peace threatens, you must use all the military know-how you have to prevent it from becoming a reality."

"But how can you do this, General?" "Quite simple. If the enemy lets up on the fighting, you announce they are losing the war and it is the best time to go in and clean them out once and for all. If the enemy comes within fighting, you announce that the enemy has no intention of seeking peace and they must be beaten with every weapon at your disposal. The worst thing to show during a peace scare is any sign of weakness."

Marquis Childs The South After The Election

WASHINGTON — Like a bellicose sphinx George C. Wallace sits on the answer to the South. Both in the Nixon and Humphrey camps once the four states of the Deep South — Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and Georgia — are conceded to the third-party candidate; the rest is sheer guesswork.

What is more, the political future of a Dixie comfortably taken for granted in the past promises to be clouded long after the votes are counted on Nov. 5. Even in a brief sortie south of the Mason and Dixon line it is astonishing to find how deep heels are dug in to resist change.

FROM OTHERWISE responsible men — certainly not in the red-neck category — you hear the view that repression, any form of repression, had better be applied quickly before Negro riots and violence get out of hand.

Whether Wallace or Richard Nixon can best apply this repression is the half-formulated question in many Southern minds. The end result will be a three-way split. And that split is the hope cherished in the Hubert Humphrey camp for a modest harvest of electoral votes in the Southern and Border states.

HUMPHREY'S CAMPAIGN manager, Lawrence O'Brien, believes the split in Virginia and South Carolina may put those states in the Vice-President's column. In South Carolina a large Negro registration is an element that should count for Humphrey. The swing of conservative voters from Nixon to Wallace can be a determining factor, as the Humphrey managers see it, in North Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky.

FLORIDA is an arena where the struggle has intensified as the election nears. With a long-brewing revolt against the Democratic party of the regulars, and Lyndon Johnson it would seem to be a shoo-in for Nixon. But three groups — cultivated by the Humphrey forces — cast a shadow of doubt on the outcome. The minorities

Paths Of Texans Cluttered By National Campaigners

By The Associated Press
Texas political candidates trying to drum up added support before the general election next Tuesday found their paths still cluttered today by national campaigners.

In the governor's race, meanwhile, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith of the Democrats spoke up anew for expanded police training to combat crime and Republican nominee Paul Eggers declared ties with lobbyists handicap his opponent.

Two contenders for vice president were moving into the state in the continuing struggle over Texas' 25 electoral votes. Sen. Edmund Muskie of the Democrats was due to stop in Lubbock, Abilene and Wichita Falls while Gen. Curtis LeMay of the American Independent Party was to address the Houston Junior Bar Association.

Departing Texas after speeches Monday night were three party presidential candidates George Wallace and the GOP candidate for vice president, Maryland Gov. Spiro Agnew.

Wallace told a Beaumont audience that neither of his rivals in the race for president, Richard Nixon of the Republicans and Vice President Hubert Humphrey of the Democrats would represent the South if elected. Agnew, heading across the South from Houston appealed for "responsible leadership in Washington that will treat the taxpayer's dollar with the respect it deserves."

Speaking at Amarillo, Lt. Gov. Smith observed that the state has certified 18 police academies in the past year and said, "We must see that police training facilities are continuously extended and updated to enable more local officers to benefit from training and to advance our fight against crime with the most modern means available."

Smith spoke in similar vein during stops at Plainview, Borger and Dumas. He reported $1.5 million in federal aid will enable Texas to improve police facilities and methods, prisons, probation and parole procedure, crime prevention and other means for bolstering law enforcement.

Eggers, stumping at Brownsville and elsewhere in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, asserted his opponent "would be hamstrung" by "conflicts of the past and by obligations to the lobbyists who finance his campaigns."

The GOP candidate added, "Lobbyists were reported to be calling the plays around the Senate chamber while Mr. Smith was presiding during the summer special session."

Eggers also declared, with reference to Smith's years in the Senate, "He never brought forth any important legislation and he has blocked efforts of leaders in his own party to accomplish reforms."

Among assorted other political developments were:

John M. Stokes, executive director of state Republican headquarters in Austin, told newsmen his party already has uncovered some election irregularities and will have poll watchers in most precincts.

Stokes said, "We fully expect to prosecute all election fraud cases we find, even if Richard Nixon wins."

The GOP spokesman claimed that local election judges at Floresville, home of Gov. John Connally, refused to appoint at least one Republican clerk in each precinct as required by law. He said absentee voters were told at a Bell County courthouse that they could not vote for Nixon if they had cast ballots in the Democratic primary.

Postal employees at a dinner in Austin heard Postmaster General Marvin Watson plug for the Democratic ticket.

Watson said, "I know Mr. Humphrey's ability and the depth of his understanding, the hopes he has for his country and the contributions he will make to each one of us. . . . I know one other thing from my travels and from what I have learned from the people of this great land—I know that the Democratic party and its candidates are again going to be successful in this election."

Plans To Take Over NY School System Hinted

NEW YORK (AP) — James E. Allen Jr., state education commissioner, said today if the city teachers' strike which has kept more than a million pupils out of class for 23 days isn't settled today he will "propose a specific course of action."

He didn't spell out what he had in mind, but he has the power to take over the city school system.

Two previous peace plans proposed by Allen were rejected by the striking teachers union.

CRISIS
"Throughout this crisis I have emphasized the desirability of local action to resolve it," said Allen in a statement. "If such a settlement is not arrived at by 4 p.m. today, I shall propose a specific course of action."

A union spokesman said further negotiation had been tentatively arranged, but "no firm meetings are scheduled."

A top mediator urged binding arbitration to get the schools open before next week's political elections.

State Mediation Board Chairman Vincent D. McDonnell said Monday that balloting next Tuesday was in jeopardy if the walkout continued and added: "The plight of the democratic process should be so overwhelming as to cause the parties to submit the entire dispute to binding arbitration."

"SOME HOPE"
McDonnell served with former U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg as a mediator in labor disputes with city police, firemen and sanitationmen.

There was no immediate comment on McDonnell's proposal by Albert Shanker, head of the 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers, or John M. Doar, president of the Board of Education.

A three-hour meeting Monday night between Doar, Shanker and Schools Supt. Bernard F. Donovan ended with a report of "no progress."

Earlier in the day Donovan had expressed "some hope" that a solution to the impasse was near.

Donoah bought advertising space Sunday in a San Antonio newspaper for a petition demanding Archbishop Lucey's resignation.

"As Christians worshipping God in the communion of the Roman Catholic Church," the petition stated, "we the undersigned thank Bishop Lucey for his years of service and respectfully request his resignation at the earliest possible date." There is room for 57 signatures on the quarter-page ad.

Priests Threaten 'Severe' Action

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A prominent Catholic layman Monday indicated more wood will be heaped on the controversial fires of the San Antonio Archdiocese if Archbishop Robert E. Lucey does not respond to 51 priests' demands that he resign.

LAST RESORT
Scott R. Donoah Jr., dairy farmer at nearby Floresville, declined to elaborate on the possibility of what he called "more severe" action, but he said it would be made public only as a last resort.

The phrase recalled a similar remark by one of the 51 priests earlier this month. The priest reportedly told friends that the group's demand would be made public only as a last resort.

Last Thursday, the priests revealed a letter they had sent to Pope Paul and other top Catholic officials seeking the resignation of the 77-year-old archbishop who has guided 500,000 Catholics for more than a quarter of a century.

The pope, the archbishop and other Catholic officials made no response except to urge the 51 priests not to publicize their letter.

SILENT
The archbishop has been silent on the issue, which has led to numerous press conferences, anti-archbishop rallies, petitions in favor of the demands, and sermons from Catholic pulpits both for and against the 51 priests.

While petitions seeking signatures for the priests were being circulated in some 15 parishes,

Commissioners Approve Repair Of Fire Truck

Howard County commissioners Monday approved the repair of a county fire truck which was damaged more than a year ago in a wreck. When the truck is fixed every county precinct will have a fire engine.

The truck will be stationed in Precinct 3 when it is repaired. Mrs. Mae Hayden, commissioner of that precinct, said land and a place to keep the truck would be acquired, preferably in a central part of the precinct.

Precinct 3 covers the southwest part of the county, including Elbow and Lomax.

Also, a volunteer fire department would have to be established in the area, she said.

The commissioners also accepted the low bid of $13 per gallon for 150 gallons of antifreeze from Gibson's Discount Center. The court also purchased a neon sign for the entrance to Howard County Airport for $349.50 from Tel-Rite Signs, Inc., and voted to place a two-way radio in the car of the county maintenance foreman.

World's Finest Bourbon a 173-Year-Old Secret

CHICAGO, ILL.—Before you can call yourself the world's finest anything—you'd better have a case in your favor.

Jim Beam Bourbon has that "case."

The whole matter started with Jacob Beam—who would be 200 years old this year and a secret he discovered.

The secret, in the case of Jim Beam Bourbon, goes back to 1795, and it is still hush-hush today. The secret lay in the heart of Kentucky where there was, and is today, the right combination for pleasure. The right land. The right climate: the perfect Bourbon formula.

In north central Kentucky, Jacob Beam found clean, free water—water that came from limestone springs considered the very finest. Beam went out to make his own rolling country his own pride.

Six generations of distiller through six generations. Every glass of Bourbon is nature and the passed on from Jacob to David to David M. to Colonel James to T. Jeremiah to Baker and

Agnew Renews His Attack On Demo Fiscal Policies

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Spiro Agnew renewed his attack on Democratic fiscal policies today as he continued his vice presidential campaign swing through the South.

"The time is overdue for responsible leadership in Washington that will treat the taxpayer's dollar with the respect and care it deserves," the time he purchased five pieces of hardware "at rates 400 to 5,000 per cent higher than manufacturer's listed prices."

"They paid $1.55 each for nuts and bolts that the rest of us can buy for six cents apiece at any local hardware store," he said.

"Under a manpower development and training program, $250,300 was spent to train 142 stenographers. But private secretarial schools in Washington, D.C., could have done the job for $32,660."

"A federal day care center cost $600 more per child than the most expensive private kindergarten in the same city," he said.

Publication Of Two Viet Papers Barred

SAIGON (AP) — The government Information Ministry announced tonight the permanent suspension of two Vietnamese-language newspapers and the 15-day suspension of a third.

In the past two days, five Vietnamese-language newspapers have been suspended.

The latest newspapers suspended were Tu Do—Liberty; the Duoc Nha Nam—Torch; and the Thai Su Mien Nam—South Vietnam Events. The latter two were permanently barred from publication.

A spokesman said Tu Do "used language of the gutter" in criticizing Premier Tran Van Huong for spending $21,000 during wartime to send an artistic troupe on a tour of Paris and London.

"They are free to criticize but not free to use dirty words," the spokesman said. "Freedom of the press is not for that purpose."

The spokesman said the two other newspapers were barred from further publication for articles that undermined the government.

Cardinal Cushing Plans To Explain

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, says he still intends to resign, hopes to become a missionary in South America, and will "be in touch with the Pope and explain the whole thing to him."

The cardinal also said at a news conference Monday that he had cancer three years ago, but now feels as fit as a "half-back for the Boston Patriots."

And, he said, he would have changed a remark he made about Jacqueline Kennedy's remarriage if he had known a reporter was in the audience.

There has been no official Vatican reaction to the cardinal's statement last Friday that he intended to resign because of the furor over his attack on critics of the marriage.

At a meeting of Catholic men the prelate had asked regarding the marriage of Mrs. Kennedy and Aristotle Onassis, a divorced man: "Why shouldn't she be able to marry anyone she wants?"

He said that if he had known the reporter was there, he would have added: "But not in the Catholic Church."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high school dropout who received a .22-caliber rifle for Christmas has been charged with sniper fire on a restaurant, service station and passing cars that wounded two persons. Police said the 16-year-old boy, who wasn't identified, fired two to three dozen times Monday afternoon before police used tear gas and gunfire to rout him from a first-floor apartment in suburban Silver Spring, Md. After flushing the youth, police found his 17-month-old nephew inside, unharmed. Police said the youth first opened fire on a restaurant next door to the apartment, sending patrons scurrying from the dining counter to the dining room, out

October May Set Record In Abilene Area Ginning

This October may break all records for one-month ginning in the Abilene area, says B. B. Manly Jr., officer in charge of the USDA's Cotton Classing Office. Harvesting started within a two-week period over practically all the 22 counties the Abilene office serves. Weather has been almost perfect for harvesting. The Abilene Classing Office has a full crew of 13 classifiers. As of Friday, they are classing on samples they received Monday, Oct. 21. They have a backlog of 40,000. A total of 34,000 samples were processed last week, compared to 8,000 for the same week last year. This brings the seasons total to 66,000, compared to 18,000 on the week last year. Grades were down somewhat with 58 per cent in the white category, compared to 69 per cent for the previous week. The remainder of 42 per cent were in the light spotted category. Staple lengths were 29, four per cent; 30, 47 per cent; 31, 27 per cent; 32, 11 per cent; 33, five per cent, and six per cent were 34 or better. Micronaire readings were about the same with 89 per cent in the 3.3-4.9 or premium range. One per cent were 3.3-3.4; eight per cent, 3.0-3.2; and two per cent, 3.3 or over. Some average net prices reported by the Consumer and Marketing Service were middling 30, 21.12 cents per pound; middling 31, 22.78 cents; strict low middling 30, 20.32 cents; middling light spotted 30, 20.44 cents. These prices represent from 300 to 350 points over the government loan rate, and they reflect the general market situation through the Texas area, Manly said.

Sniper Triggers Blood-Drawing

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Austin, Tex., blood-bank official says a marathon, emergency blood-drawing session was touched off when a gunman shot down 47 people on the University of Texas campus about two years ago. In a report prepared for the annual meeting of the American Association of Blood Banks, John N. Kemp, executive director of the Travis County Medical Society Blood Bank at Austin, said blood was drawn from 123 donors among hundreds who responded immediately after the tragedy. "From noon until about 8:30 that night," he said, "we were drawing steadily, keeping all six of our drawing tables continuously occupied. During that time we drew about 123 units (pints), trying to keep up with requests from the emergency room at Brackenridge Hospital." Kemp said only 81 of the 123 pints were used among the 31 wounded persons. Seventeen persons were killed by Charles Whitman, the sniper. But he said that, at the time, the blood was being drawn, blood bank authorities did not know how much blood would be needed. "Frankly," he said, "we just used common sense and started drawing at full capacity without knowing what our needs would be. At the moment, and that night," he said, "we were available, we felt that it would be better to have too much blood rather than not enough."

Dear Abby Thieving Mother-In-Law

DEAR ABBY: My problem is what to do with a thief when she is your own mother-in-law? Every time she comes to our house, she steals towels, pictures, clothing, and little knickknacks you can buy for 50 cents. I had about $50 saved up which I kept in an old wallet in my drawer. After the old lady was here, the money was missing. My 6-year-old said, "Grandma took it." We're sure she did, but when we ask her about it, she doesn't know from nothing. When we go to HER house we see all the stuff she's carried away from our place. When we ask her where she got it, she says, "Someone gave it to me." I'm all for taking an empty suitcase over there and retrieving our belongings, but the wife says no. If this keeps on, we'll have to move in with the old lady. What do you make of this, and what would you do? NO NAME, PLEASE DEAR NO NAME: I would guess that the woman has become mentally unhinged. I wouldn't leave anything of value around where she can get at it, and I would keep a sharp eye on her when she visits. P.S. Meanwhile, you might start "stealing" back what is yours. Then let mother-in-law squawk. DEAR ABBY: I can certainly sympathize with the divorcee who is tired of fighting off every man who takes her out. I am a widow with the same problem. They all sing the same tune. "What do you have to lose?" I finally hit on a perfect solution. When a supposedly

B52s Drop 900 Tons Of Bombs

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes and warships, including B52 bombers and the battleship New Jersey, attacked North Vietnam's southern panhandle Monday with the heaviest blows in nearly a month. U.S. military spokesmen reported 139 MISSIONS There were clearing skies across the panhandle, and Air Force, Navy and Marine fighters and bombers flew 139 missions, the largest number since 143 were logged on Oct. 3.

The attacking crews continued to concentrate on road and river traffic, interdicting the southward flow of supplies and material, a U.S. communiqué said. "Assessment of their bomb damage shows at least 25 trucks and 19 supply boats either destroyed or heavily damaged while numerous fires and secondary explosions were touched off. In addition, storage facilities and bunkers were struck repeatedly and two bridges were dropped."

EXPLOSIONS Meanwhile 30 B52 bombers, carrying a bomb load roughly equivalent to that of 450 fighter bombers, dropped 900 tons of bombs on enemy gun positions along the southern edge of North Vietnam.

Striking northwest of the allied combat bases at Con Thien and Gio Linh, the B52s touched off 27 secondary explosions and sent columns of smoke 4,000 feet up, indicating the bombs scored direct hits on munitions and fuel stores. The Stratofortresses penetrated six miles inside North Vietnam.

The chief targets of the B52s were anti-aircraft and artillery positions threatening the smaller fighter-bombers and the Con Thien and Gio Linh combat bases.

GIANT SHELLS "Those are revetted artillery positions," said one U.S. source. "Even tactical fighter-bombers can't knock them out but a concentration of B52 strikes can." A tactical fighter-bomber on the average carries about two tons of bombs, a B52 30 tons. But the B52s failed to knock out all of the anti-aircraft guns.

Komer Selected U.S. Ambassador To Turkey

SAIGON (AP) — Robert W. Komer, 46, arrived in 1967 with a mandate from President Johnson to revitalize the flagging pacification program. At the time the number of Vietnamese civilians classified as being under enemy control was more than double present official estimates.

Using computers to rate the more than 13,000 hamlets in South Vietnam, Komer reported recently only 16.8 per cent of the civilian population was under enemy control, 66.9 per cent lived in "relatively secure areas" and the remaining 16.3 per cent was in "contested areas" where the Saigon regime and the Viet Cong were vying for control.

Principal Hit, School Closed
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The Nottingham High School was closed Monday after the principal was struck by a chair during a disturbance in the school cafeteria.

Police said about 20 Negro teenagers, who had been ejected from the school earlier in the day, returned during the lunch hour and touched off a melee. William Vlydenburgh, the principal, received a head injury requiring 16 sutures. Police said the Negroes were not pupils at the school, which has about 140 Negroes among its 1,500 enrollment. No one was arrested.

Czechs Wonder About Attacks

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist leaders traveled to Slovakia today for more 50th anniversary celebrations while the nation wondered what price the Soviet Union would exact for the 12-hour outburst of anti-Soviet demonstrations in Prague Monday.

Possible Soviet retaliation ranged from new attacks in the Soviet press to a new showdown between the Kremlin and Czechoslovakia's reform regime headed by Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek.

Says 'Big Lift' No Substitute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer has warned against total reliance on the Pentagon's 'Big Lift' strategy of rushing troops from the United States in the event of a crisis.

Lemnitzer, supreme allied commander in Europe, said the strategy drawn up under former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is "no substitute for forces actually on the ground."

Under McNamara's dual-basing concept of U.S. military aid to Europe, sizable U.S. forces have been withdrawn from NATO territory to the United States with the proviso that they are committed to the alliance and would fly back in any emergency.

TV Networks Strike Looms

NEW YORK (AP) — About 800 union staff musicians are set to strike Wednesday against the three major television networks in a wage dispute.

The American Federation of Musicians said Monday that picket lines would form in New York and Los Angeles at facilities of the National Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System and American Broadcasting Co.

Hardest hit would be musical and variety programs. The networks said they made a final offer for a new contract to replace the one that expired last July 31. The proposed three-year pact called for a $20-a-week raise the first 18 months and another $20 weekly boost the second 18 months.

Horoscope Forecast FOR TOMORROW —CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Many are nervously trying to work all kinds of insidious and ingenious, inventive angles to gain their ends. Watch closely what is going on. You certainly will be able to keep ahead of them. Fine for investigation and laboratory vocations.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Some degree of concentration and studying whatever is puzzling can produce just the results you want. Get into the experimental things you like. Be sure to attend that social affair tonight that could be very pleasurable.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Associates will now listen to your finest ideas and help you to put them in operation to a mutual benefit. Showing that you are very cooperative will make this a very productive day. Others become eager to work alone with you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Work in such a way that higher-ups will be pleased and impressed and avoid frivolity of all kind. Observe all laws that apply to you. Doing yourself an injustice by jeopardizing your reputation could be most unwise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): You have to change your attitude somewhat before you can realize some of those fond dreams you have. Study new interests so that you do not jump into something dangerous. Put your future on a sure footing.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): If you are very kind to a carrier who can improve your life, you also gain good will of others. You may have to revise that contract somewhat. This could be wise for all concerned.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): If you are practical in doing your work, you find you can have more income soon, especially if you use a more modern method. Decide now just what kind of wardrobe you want. Be conservative.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Good day to do just what you please and have a heavy day for yourself. Later sit down with allies and tell them what plans you have. Be sure not to plan the results you want to get. Be wise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21): Get that new outfit perfected and then show persons you like how devoted you are and gain real respect. Being more devoted to your more that you have been taking for granted is also a must.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Making all those outlets you have more operative is wise now. If you follow advice of kin, this can be done easily. Rid yourself of stumbling blocks.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Allies and pals are in the mood to go ahead with your suggestions, so state them early and then carry on at full speed. Later do what others desire from the social and personal angle. Don't try to force your own way.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Doing whatever will add to present abundance is fine. You can then be in a position to assist others as well. Get practical plans working intelligently. You may have to whittle them down a bit, though, your views so that you make your social position more tenable. Be more compassionate toward others. Know what your ultimate personal needs are and make arrangements to get them. Early to bed tonight.

Agnew Denies All Charges In Times

NEW YORK (AP) — Republican vice presidential candidate Spiro T. Agnew has denied all the charges in a New York Times editorial that accused him of "clear and repeated conflicts of interest" while serving as Maryland's governor.

Agnew said that several weeks ago he declared his net worth at $110,084. He said that of that total $35,000 to $40,000 had been inherited from his parents.

He said that prior to his election as governor he voluntarily disclosed his ownership in the bay bridge land and deeded his interest to an irrevocable trust with instructions that it be sold and any profit turned over to a charitable organization.

He said the approach route to the new bay bridge "was approved and recommended by the State Roads Commission under a Democratic governor prior to my administration." He said the land was sold by the trustee for the same price he had paid for it.
