Trio Of Presidents

Three Officials Get Presidential Posts

Three Big Spring city employees were honored by their professional associations earlier this week, when they were elected to presidential posts during the Texas Municipal League meetings at Dallas. It also put the city in the unique position of being represented at the top of three statewide organizations at the same time.

ELECTED
City manager Larry Crow was elected president of the Texas City Managers Association; Public Works Director Ernest Lillard was elected president of the Texas Public Works Association; and Chief Police Jay Banks was elected president of the Texas Police Chiefs Association.

Crow had been acting president of the managers' organization since mid-summer, when A. K. Steinheimer, president, (and a former city manager here) resigned. There are more than 100 members in the association. Crow has been a member 17 years, and has held two terms as director, and a term as vice president.

Banks has been a member of the chiefs' association eight years, serving as a director, secretary-treasurer, and first vice president. It has some 200 members. Lillard has been a member of his organization six years, and it has about 500 members. He has served as vice president, trustee, and secretary-treasurer.

Delegates voted three resolutions which the league will push in the next session of the Texas Legislature, according to Crow.

LEAVE ALONE

One calls for the law makers to leave the present sales tax laws alone. Crow said many cities which voted down the sales tax have urged that the state constitution be amended so as to include all cities under the one cent city sales tax, in addition to the three cents being collected by the state.

Texas automobiles would be removed from tax rolls and a fee would be charged each car owner, if one of the league's resolutions were enacted into law, Crow said. While automobiles are taxable under Texas law, few cities actually collect the tax, he said.

The fee proposed by the league for cars would be divided among the county, city, and school governments, Crow said.

Mobile homes would become taxable under a third resolution, he said. At present, Texas laws are not clear as to the way trailers are taxed. Some cities charge a fee to owners of trailer camps, which is passed along to the trailer owner in the rent charged for camp spaces, he said.

10 ATTEND

Ten Big Spring city officials attended the Dallas meeting. Local representatives were Mayor and Mrs. Arnold Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Morehead, Mr. and Mrs. Garner McAdams, mayor pro tem George Zachariah, Mr. and Mrs. Lillard, Chief and Mrs. Banks, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Prouty, and Roy Anderson.

EARL WARREN May Accept Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen says the letter of retirement Chief Justice Earl Warren submitted to President Johnson holds over and could be accepted by Richard M. Nixon after he takes office.

"While the offer to retire was made to President Johnson, there is nothing to prevent the new President from acting on it," Dirksen said in an interview.

This view of the letter, submitted last June, addressed only to "My Dear Mr. President," is contrary to that held by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and others who supported Johnson's unsuccessful nomination of Abe Fortas to succeed Warren.

"Of course," Dirksen added, "the chief justice has the option to retire at any time he chooses, even before the new President takes office."

Dirksen also said that despite the fact Nixon and Warren have been at political loggerheads since the days both were GOP figures in California, he has every expectation that Warren will administer the oath of office to Nixon Jan. 20. There has been no discussion of the matter between Warren and Nixon, other sources said.

New Front On The Way

By The Associated Press
Stiff south breezes afforded Texas a warmup between northers today.

Clouds thickened as the warm air flowed inland to finish routing the latest cool spell, and prospects were seen for a few showers in most sections of the state by Thursday.

At the same time another in the parade of cold fronts common to this season was descending from the Central Rockies and due to reach the Texas Panhandle by evening.

Although the Panhandle Plains sector was expected to stay dry, forecasts held out a chance for snow tonight in the mountains of Southwest Texas and both sections were promised temperatures down to 32.

BOSTON (AP)—Five Negro men burst into the headquarters of a civil rights group today, shot the Negro founder and two other men dead, then escaped, police said.

Two others wounded were hospitalized. All the victims and all the assailants were Negro, officers said.

One victim was identified as Guido St. Laurent, the blind founder and executive director of the New England Grass Roots Organization (NEGRO). St. Laurent was characterized by a city official as "a responsible militant."

St. Laurent's guide dog, a black Belgian Shepherd, remained at the victim's side as police closed off the three-story brick building on Blue Hill Avenue in the Roxbury section, a predominantly Negro area.

The others killed tentatively were identified as Cornell Eaton of Boston and Ronald King.

Fred Rose, 41, the black self-help organization's public relations director, and Ronald Hicks, 31, were wounded in the gunfire. They were taken to City Hospital.

Rose told police the five intruders burst into the organization's first-floor storefront office before dawn, yelling, "Where's the money? Where's the money?"

The gunmen began firing as they entered, Rose said.

Rose told officers he crawled under a desk after being shot once and was fired at again by one assailant who pointed a gun under the desk at him.

One of the dead men was found in a chair, and the others were sprawled on the floor when police arrived.

SELF-HELP

NEGRO is one of several black self-help groups which have sprung up in Boston in recent years. Under St. Laurent's leadership, the group coordinated a 250-man Security Patrol of young Negro men who, armed with walkie-talkies and arm-bands, patrolled the area acting as a "buffer" between police and the community.

The patrols were active in attempting to keep the area calm following the assassination in April of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Saigon Is Expected To End Talks Boycott

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials say they believe that Saigon, faced with the prospect of having to settle its political differences with the Viet Cong alone, will drop its boycott of the broadened Paris peace talks.

IMPLICIT

This prospect appeared implicit in Tuesday's declaration by Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford that the United States intends to go ahead with negotiations with Hanoi whether Saigon joins in or not.

Clifford said the United States and Hanoi could make big strides on the most immediate issue—military de-escalation, including steps toward withdrawal of troops. Pentagon officials said such an arrangement would leave Saigon to face the Viet Cong alone in the political struggle.

The view that South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu would end his boycott, was disputed in Paris and Saigon.

MUST AGREE

In Saigon, South Vietnamese Information Minister Ton That Thien said if there are to be peace talks, then all parties must agree to Thieu's formula calling for his government to head the anti-Communist negotiators while the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front is subordinate to the North Vietnamese on the other side of the table.

Thien also said unless his government participates in the negotiations, it won't recognize a cease-fire or anything else agreed on that affects its vital interests.

Pham Dang Lam, head of Saigon's observers in Paris, said he does not think his government will change its mind and join the talks under the four-party formula that would bring the Viet Cong to the bargaining table on Hanoi's side.

Although Pentagon authorities said Clifford spoke for himself, the defense chief generally reflects the views of President Johnson. He long has been one of Johnson's closest advisors on the war.

Clifford's words, delivered with considerable emotion, were calculated to impress on the Saigon government that the United States does not intend to let its objections stand in the way.

Viet Cong Spokesman Says Talks Must Begin

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front said today the Vietnam peace talks must begin without delay regardless of whether the Saigon government sends a delegation.

Duong Dinh Thao, No. Two member of the NLF team, told a news conference that it makes no difference whether Saigon is represented. He said the NLF is "fully competent to discuss all problems concerning South Vietnam," whereas the Saigon government is merely an American creation.

Thao reiterated that the NLF is ready to take part in peace talks with the three other delegations—the United States,

North Vietnam, and the South Vietnamese government. But he added:

"If Saigon does not send a delegation, then the three parties must meet without delay to find a solution on the basis of the program put forward by the NLF."

Thao declined to answer when asked whether the NLF has a time limit beyond which it will not wait for the conference to open.

He also refused to comment on U.S. Defense Secretary Clark Clifford's declaration Tuesday that the United States intends to go ahead with negotiations with Hanoi if Saigon won't join in.

Heroin Sandwich

CHICAGO (AP) — A counter man at a Near North Side restaurant was slated to appear in narcotics court today charged with serving up heroin stuffed sandwiches to customers who knew the code words.

Carlos Figuera-Diaz, 21, of Chicago was arrested by police Tuesday night after a narcotics addict reportedly told detectives Diaz was slipping aluminum foil packages of the drug into certain "sandwiches."

United Fund Push

The United Fund Drive, in the third day of the clean-up effort, climbed to $95,944.26 for 87.8 per cent of the $109,225 goal.

Big Spring State Hospital turned in a contribution of $919 with 100 per cent participation from employees, and some contributions from patients. The hospital's gift was 20 per cent above the 1967 contributions.

SECRETARY OF STATE RECOMMENDATIONS TURNED DOWN

County Officials Still Wrestling With Vote Puzzle

By TEX ROGERS

The Nov. 5 general election in Howard County is still unofficial, and resolution of a problem affecting county commissioner voting was still unresolved this morning.

However, officials planned to meet at 2 p.m. today to arrive at an answer.

After four hours of deliberation Tuesday, the Howard County Commissioners Court, acting as the canvassing board for election returns, failed to certify any of the votes or to resolve the controversial count in the absentee ballot box.

UP TO CROOKER

In the end, the court had turned down two recommendations from the Secretary of State's office on settling the question of excess votes in the absentee box and left the matter of calling for a recount in the hands of W. B. (Bill) Crooker, Republican candidate for commissioner of Precinct 3, who lost his race by 81 votes.

However, Crooker this morning said he was "relying upon the integrity of the election officials to provide the people of Howard County with an accurate vote count."

He issued this formal statement:

STATEMENT

"There are reported and admitted unintentional irregularities in the counting of at least the absentee box in Commissioner Precincts One and Three. At this time, I am relying upon the integrity of the election officials to provide the people of Howard County with an accurate vote count.

"The closeness of the vote and the admitted discrepancies clearly indicate a need for the canvassing board to take appropriate steps to assure the people of Howard County, and particularly the voters of Precinct Three, that the expression of their will at the ballot box is accurately reflected. The County Commissioners, who are acting as the canvassing board, will surely take the necessary and responsible steps to assure the voters of Howard County a true election."

Commissioners since Monday have been facing the dilemma of finding where 280 votes came from in the absentee box for the commissioners races of Precinct 1 and Precinct 3.

While canvassing returns Monday, the court discovered that in Precinct 3 there were 383 applications for absentee ballots, but 485 votes were counted — a 102-vote discrepancy. In Precinct 1, there were 145 applications for absentee ballots and 323 counted — a difference of 178.

In the race for commissioner of Precinct 3, incumbent Democrat Mrs. Joe (Mae) Hayden narrowly defeated Crooker — by 81 votes, 1,527 to 1,446. Democrat incumbent Simon (Cy) Terrazas overwhelmed Republican O. L. (Lamar) Green in the commissioner Precinct 1 race, 1,534 to 297.

Dr. Akin Simpson, Republican county chairman, called the Precinct 3 discrepancy to the court's attention, and then County Judge Lee Porter spotted the difference in the Precinct 1 applications and votes.

COUNTED TWICE?

George Elliott, election judge of the special canvassing board that counted the absentee returns, explained that a stack of ballots might have been counted twice.

Realizing they had a problem in certifying an election where the returns in the absentee box were unreconcilable, the commissioners instructed County Attorney Dee Jon Davis to call the Secretary of State for instructions.

A first call provided no clear-cut course of action from the Secretary of State, so after consultation on election law among the commissioners, Davis, District Judge Ralph Caton, and the candidates and chairmen of both county parties, a second call was made.

Davis talked to Mrs. Mary Wall, special assistant to the Secretary of State and one who has handled election problems for several years.

Davis told the commissioners that Mrs. Wall said three things could be done:

The district judge could call for the absentee box to be opened and the votes recounted if the election judge said there was an error in counting;

The commissioners could certify the election in Precinct 1, with a qualifying statement that the election in the absentee box was unreconcilable because there were 178 more votes cast than there were applications; and

The court could either not certify the election of commissioner of Precinct 3, or certify it with the qualifying statement that the election in the absentee box was unreconcilable because of more votes cast than there were applications.

The county attorney said that Crooker then could file for a recount with the Secretary of State, with an affidavit from the election judge, George Elliott, saying there was a mistake in counting. Davis said Mrs. Wall told him that although there is no written statute saying a district judge can call for a recount, it has been done several times in the past.

Judge Caton gave the court an emphatic "no" to calling for a recount.

"I will not assume powers not delegated in the matter," he said. "I have no authority to call for a recount. The commissioners court is only authorized to canvass the returns and certify them, that is all. The commissioners court must certify the election as the election judges certify their boxes."

RESCIND?

The commissioners noted that Elliott had certified the returns of the absentee box when he turned the box over to the county clerk the night of the election.

Ray Nichols, commissioner of Precinct 2, asked Caton if the election judge could rescind his certification of a box.

Caton, quoting from a law book, said, "A judge cannot alter the returns or ballots. However, in most cases, documents can be amended to show the truth."

Terrazas asked if the court would be in error by not certifying the election, since it was required. Davis repeated that the election should be certified, with the notations that the absentee count was irregular.

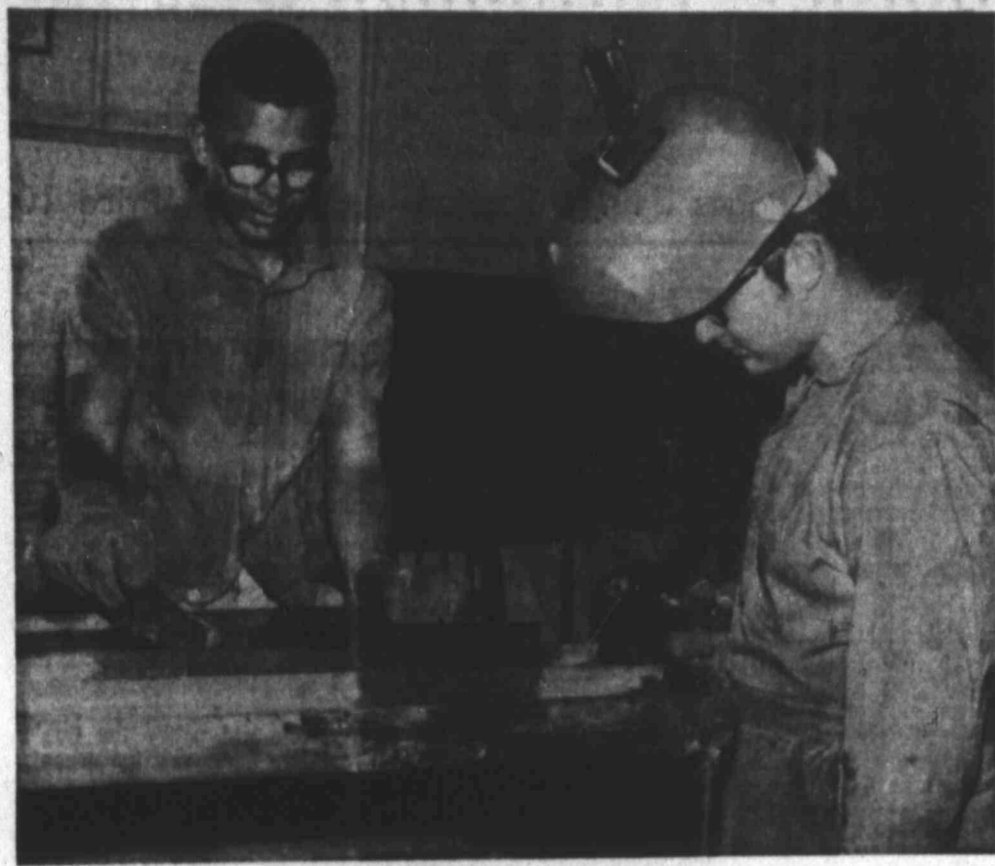

MOTIONS FAIL

Terrazas then said he wanted the court to accept the election "as the votes are, without making the qualifying statements, because the votes will be recounted anyway."

Nichols made the motion that the Precinct 1 and Precinct 3 elections be certified with the notations of irregularities as recommended by the Secretary of State's office.

On the Precinct 1 motion, Judge Porter made the second, with he and Nichols voting for, and Terrazas, Mrs. Hayden and commissioner Bill Tune voting against.

Voting on the Precinct 3 motion went the same way.

REGARDLESS OF RACE, RICHES

Students In Big Spring Have Equal Opportunity

America's school systems — and particularly Big Spring's — today more than ever are trying to provide the best in education in equal opportunity regardless of economic background or ethnic origin. On the occasion of American Education Week (Nov. 10-16) it is well, therefore, to examine how equal opportunity for education is provided, and perhaps to single out some areas which offer a good illustration. Only 42 per cent of the graduates of Big Spring High School go to college and stay, according to recent study of one class. Thus, while preparing students to meet the challenge of college demands, today's secondary schools have shifted from full academic in scope to an academic and vocational training program.

paid for each month under Title I of the 1965 Higher Education Act, and an additional 6,038 are paid for by the school system. Families in the lower income brackets make application to the principal of the school where children attend to be placed on the program. After an investigation of the family's statements in the application, the children are enrolled in the lunch program without charge to them.

The lunches are priced so that almost all students can afford them. Elementary lunches are 35 cents and offer a meat, vegetable, salad, dessert, hot bread and milk. Junior high and high school students have a choice of paying 40 cents for a plate lunch or going through a snack bar line. Their lunches are the same as elementary grades except they receive a choice of two meats, according to Ray Lawlis, director of the system's food service.

HEALTH PROGRAMS There are about 3,800 plate lunches served within the school system daily. In other areas, all children have equal access to health programs which help pinpoint disabilities or special needs. Those in need of glasses are referred to Lions Clubs or other groups if they are unable to acquire them. Some who lack clothing are helped in finding garments or shoes, and in most instances the school acts as a coordinator between the child and some volunteer agency. A visiting teacher also goes into homes to pinpoint special needs.

EARN LIVING Under the new systems students are prepared to earn a living, said Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent for academic affairs in the Big Spring Independent School District.

Big Spring High School has been designated as an area vocational school. Under certain vocational training programs students attend school — half a day and work (and get paid for) half a day in a related vocational field.

Big Spring High School offers several vocational programs for its students. Vocational office education, distributive education and industrial education place the students in on-the-job training situations.

Students in the vocational training fields are not prevented from attending college for higher education, but those who cannot attend have the training to earn a living.

TECH TRAINING Other vocational training programs — such as vocational agriculture, homemaking, appliance repairs, auto mechanics, metal trades and building trades — use classroom situations to teach. While students gain knowledge of the trades being taught, they do not receive actual on-the-job training until after graduation.

Not only is an equal opportunity offered students in job training at the schools, but pupils all have the opportunity to attend schools.

The school district operates 19 school buses daily for the benefit of students who live more than two miles from their school. These buses travel more than 1,146 miles a day and transport 1,335 students to and from school.

Two of the buses are used for special students (those with some sort of handicap) who are also given an equal opportunity for an education. One is used to insure that the physically handicapped students have a way to school, while the other takes mentally retarded students to their special classes which the school system provides.

ATTACK HUNGER After the students are at school, no child goes hungry because his parents cannot afford the price of his lunch. An average of 4,793 lunches are

Sawed-Off Shotguns Must Be Registered

DALLAS (AP)—Unconventional weapons and destructive devices must be registered by Dec. 1, Frank White, regional commissioner for the Internal Revenue Service, said Tuesday.

White said weapons that must be registered under the Gun Control Act of 1968 include machine guns, sawed-off shotguns and rifles, silencers, deactivated war trophies and other destructive devices. Conventional weapons need not be registered, he said.

NO DEALS

An IRS spokesman said registration of weapons with the federal government guarantees no immunity to state laws prohibiting those weapons.

"A Texan who registers a sawed-off shotgun could very well be picked up the next day by the county sheriff or the Department of Public Safety for carrying a prohibited weapon," he said. However, the spokesman said, state law enforcement officers must go through Washington to get names of those registering weapons since the names are not available in regional IRS offices.

Funds For Water

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—The Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a $233,100 grant for the county-wide water distribution system in Lamar County—clearing one of the three remaining hurdles for constructing the far-reaching system.

The system will give rural residents in Lamar a city-type water system.

The remaining steps are negotiation of a $1,311,000 loan from the Texas Water Development Board and final approval of a $952,000 loan from the Farmers Home Administration.

"The persons registering his weapon can rest assured no questions will be asked—other than those on the registration form," he said.

AMNESTY

He said the federal government declares a period of amnesty between Nov. 2 and Dec. 2 in which a person may register a previously unregistered weapon for the first time.

Firearms should not be brought to an IRS office to be registered, he said.

Under the new law, all firearms and destructive devices requiring registration must be identified by a serial number.

Persons owning a firearm or device without a serial number should contact the nearest IRS Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Office where a number will be assigned, the spokesman said.

The man was wounded.

Bishops Facing Final Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's Roman Catholic bishops are faced with making a final decision on one of the most divisive issues in the church's recent history—whether to loosen the traditional ban against the use of artificial birth controls.

The issue before the National Conference of Catholic Bishops today is whether Pope Paul VI's recent encyclical prohibiting artificial birth controls should be interpreted to allow a couple's conscience to guide them whether to use contraceptives.

A proposed draft of a pastoral letter recommends the liberal interpretation, although one source said the preliminary report still calls use of artificial controls a sin.

Forty priests punished by Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle of Washington for calling for a choice of conscience were rebuffed Tuesday in their appeal for intervention by the conference.

The bishops also defeated a proposal Tuesday to set up local fact-finding boards to try to ease the strain over dissent in Washington and in San Antonio, where a group of priests had urged the resignation of their archbishop.

The American bishops met in secret for the sensitive showdown on birth control, with their final decision to be made public in a pastoral letter before the end of the conference Friday.

The bishops made no move to intervene in the Washington punishment dispute as one cardinal lashed out at the dissenting priests for rejecting local mediation.

Lawrence Cardinal Shehan of Baltimore, who has headed the bishops' arbitration panel, said the priests had made a serious error. But the Rev. John E. Corrigan, leader of the dissenters, said Cardinal O'Boyle "has given no sign of good faith in the mediation effort."

Father Corrigan said the priests' "situation is hopeless unless the bishops act."

Priests Rap Commission

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Dissenting priests launched Tuesday a verbal attack on a fact-finding commission set up by local priests and laymen to study the divided San Antonio archdiocese.

Some of the Roman Catholic priests rejected the investigative group.

An official resolution unanimously adopted by 56 dissenters who attended a three-hour meeting Tuesday was couched in milder terms.

The move was another in a long list of action taken on both sides since 51 priests announced last month that they had asked for the resignation of Archbishop Robert E. Lucey, 77, head of the 32-county archdiocese.

The dissenters now number 68.

"This is not an answer to our request," the priests' resolution stated.

In their original request two months ago to Pope Paul and other Catholic officials, the priests had asked for the resignation and also for an investigative group from outside the archdiocese to be sent here. There has been no response to their demands.

"We are not rejecting the concept of this committee," said the dissenters' spokesman. "However, we do have grave reservations."

The commission consists of 12 priests and six laymen. It will hold private hearings next week with any layman or priest who wishes to air his views. A neutral observer appointed by the pope's U.S. delegate is to attend.

Corpus And Corsicana Papers Win Citations

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The Corpus Christi Caller-Times and the Corsicana Sun received citations from The Associated Press Managing Editors Association today for excellent participation in AP news coverage.

The citations were presented here at the annual meeting of the APME, a national organization of editors of newspapers which are members of The Associated Press. The AP is the world's largest news-gathering and distributing organization.

The Caller-Times was cited for its coverage of Hurricane Beulah, which struck Texas in September, 1967.

The Sun was cited for its coverage of the crash of a Braniff International airliner in which 84 persons were killed near Dawson May 3, 1968.

The two Texas newspapers were among 38 Associated Press members cited by the APME.

The Caller-Times' citation said the newspaper "made the full resources of its news and photo staff available to The Associated Press for coverage of Hurricane Beulah. . . For two weeks the Caller-Times made available immediately to other Associated Press members every detail and picture it could obtain on the winds, tornadoes and floods of the third greatest hurricane in history."

The Sun's citation said the paper "made an outstanding contribution to Associated Press coverage of the Braniff International plane crash in which 84 persons were killed. . . Although the Sun did not have another edition for 24 hours when the crash occurred, its staff immediately protected The Associated Press. Publisher Jerry Stradner's initial account was the backbone of Associated Press coverage. . ."

South opened the bidding with one diamond and North, who had a sound opening bid himself, temporized with a simple forcing takeout to one spade. South now felt obliged to make a display of strength and, tho his suit was not very imposing, he jumped to three diamonds. It should be observed that three was no ideal rebid available.

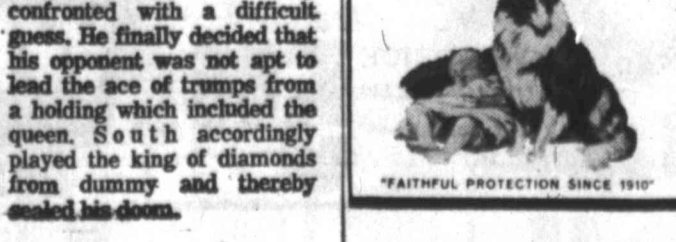

North made a further temporizing call of three hearts at this point, sensing a possible slam in the offing. South was not certain of his partner's intentions, but he de-

Demonstrator Calls Demonstrations Silly

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Folksinger Joan Baez sported a new, short haircut Tuesday and a new opinion of campus demonstrations. They are "downright silly" and "irrelevant," she said.

Miss Baez, 27, who took part from time to time in the University of California at Berkeley student rebellion in 1964 although not a student there, told a news conference that there "might be a time or a reason for campus demonstrations, but I haven't seen it yet."

"If you're going to do anything really revolutionary, you're going to have to leave the campus."

Astros Given 'Go' To Shoot For Moon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 8 launch team and astronauts, given the "go" to shoot for the moon at Christmas, stepped up preparations here today knowing they have less room for mistakes than on any previous manned space venture.

"My own mental outlook," observed an executive with North American Rockwell Corp., prime Apollo spaceship builder, "is that in the past, as we loaded propellants and got spaceships ready to fly, there has always been that little thing in the back of your mind that says you can bring the astronauts back to earth quickly if something goes wrong."

Preparing for a flight around the moon, however, when the Apollo 8 crew could be three or more days away from earth if trouble were to develop, "the outlook is different," said Bastian Hello, vice president and general manager of launch operations for North American's space division here.

"The name of the game this time is to give them every ounce of energy you can pack in the fuel tanks," to give Apollo 8 every change to get back if it gets off course, Hello said, while at the same time making certain spaceship systems are untraversable.

FOR EXAMPLE

For example, a new main engine has been installed aboard Apollo 8 "not because the old engine was bad, but because we wanted one that was superb—the best of the breed," Hello said in an interview.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials announced Tuesday that the three Apollo 8 pilots—Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders—have been given the go-ahead to blast off Dec. 21 for a 10-orbit flight around the moon Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

Apollo 8 will be the first manned flight aboard a huge Saturn 5 superrocket, the type booster built to hurl astronauts to the moon. America's Apollo 7 pilots, who successfully orbited earth for 10 days last month, were launched by a smaller Saturn 1B booster, forerunner of the Saturn 5.

Demonstrator Calls Demonstrations Silly

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Folksinger Joan Baez sported a new, short haircut Tuesday and a new opinion of campus demonstrations. They are "downright silly" and "irrelevant," she said.

Miss Baez, 27, who took part from time to time in the University of California at Berkeley student rebellion in 1964 although not a student there, told a news conference that there "might be a time or a reason for campus demonstrations, but I haven't seen it yet."

"If you're going to do anything really revolutionary, you're going to have to leave the campus."

Border Patrolman Disarmed And Handcuffed To A Tree

RAYMONDVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Federal officers continued their investigation today of a case involving an Austin couple, 650 pounds of marijuana, a high speed chase and a border patrolman who was disarmed and handcuffed to a tree.

Raymond Keith Smith, 25, of Austin, remained jailed at the Willacy county jail in lieu of $500 bond on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Eddie Stark and ordered held in lieu of the bond and pending the outcome of the investigation by the FBI and U.S. Customs agents.

WILD CHASE

Smith was arrested at the end of a chase down a Raymondville street after the border patrolman was disarmed and handcuffed to a mesquite tree near U.S. 77 north of Raymondville.

Officers said the incident started when Smith, accompanied by his wife and two small children, turned around and sped south on U.S. 77 after approaching a border patrol checkpoint some 40 miles north of Raymondville.

Border patrolman Bill Christensen, 31, said he chased and stopped the car, but was disarmed after Smith drew a pistol. The officer said he was then handcuffed to the tree and left at the side of the road by Smith who allegedly drove the officer's car about five miles south to a roadside park where the vehicle was later found.

Smith ran from the car at Raymondville local officers said after they stopped the vehicle. While the officers were chasing Smith down the street, Mrs. Charlotte Marie Smith, 28, drove away, they said.

Mrs. Smith was later apprehended as she drove along Texas 186 between Raymondville and Fort Mansfield. Officers said they found three blackjacks in the car and a pistol and a rifle concealed beneath a bridge on the Fort Mansfield highway.

Officers later found 13 burlap bags containing 650 pounds of marijuana at Fort Mansfield.

PREPARING CHRISTMAS SEALS FOR YOU - Mrs. Jerry Allen, chairman, Audrey Ellmore, nurse, Mrs. John Currie

It's Christmas Seals Time In Big Spring

Postmen today were working out 6,600 envelopes bearing Christmas seals as the Howard County Tuberculosis Association kicked off its annual seal sale.

With the three sheets of seals — bearing the emblem of the partridge in a pear tree — went an appeal to purchase and use the seals or send gifts to support the fight against tuberculosis.

The association this year urgently needs to hit a goal of $6,000. Last year's $5,000 is inadequate to finance the work in the face of rising costs. Those who receive the seals are urged to mail in their checks as soon as possible to undergird the program of administering tuberculin patch tests in Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan schools.

Audrey Ellmore, the association's testing nurse, will begin this month to give the tests to children in grades one, five, seven and 12, and to all children new to the systems, regardless of grades. At the same time she will distribute literature explaining the tests and also the threat of tuberculosis in general. This is part of the increased educational campaign.

By the time the testing is over, well over 4,000 children will have been tested. If those who show a positive reaction and an X-ray is indicated are unable to pay for the X-ray, the association will step in and take care of it.

The association also cooperates closely with the city-county health unit and its nurse, Bob Bowen, in sending proven cases to McKnight Sanatorium. It also works with the county welfare department in the instances of indigent families who have a member with tuberculosis.

Please Readers!

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — "Service to Readers" read the headline in The Senator, newspaper at Sheppard Air Force Base here.

The newspaper said: "To our readers: Any errors you find within the pages of The Sheppard Senator are put there on purpose. Some of our readers read The Senator only to find things wrong, and we aim to please all of our readers."

Storage Of Body Parts Buys Time

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Storage of vital body parts is buying time and hope for potential organ transplant patients, putting them within reach of the life-saving surgery no matter where they are.

A few hours, sometimes just minutes, often means the difference between success and failure in transplantation.

Each second's delay in restoring blood and oxygen to a donor heart or liver or kidney means a smaller chance of success.

In specific terms, this means that people like Eddie Miller, 45, a construction worker from West Helena, Ark., had time to get to Denver for a liver transplant when a donor organ became available. His own liver was destroyed by cancer.

He is among seven survivors of liver transplants in Denver, including a 3-year-old northern California girl who underwent the operation Monday.

Others have been flown here on short notice for kidney or liver transplants from homes as far distant as Florida and New York and Honolulu.

Dozens of others, from all parts of the nation, are on a waiting list for kidney and liver transplants here. Perhaps 75 persons are in line for heart transplants here and in such centers as Houston, Tex.; Palo Alto, Calif.; and Richmond, Va.

Heart-lung machines have been used to keep a heart going and the lungs breathing after the donor patient has died, while the recipient is prepared for the transplant.

Dr. Lawrence Brettschneider and other surgeons here developed a low temperature, oxygen pressurized chamber to store livers for several hours.

Dr. F. O. Belzer of the University of California devised a similar machine which has stored kidneys up to 17 hours before successful implantation.

These storage techniques are steps toward organ "banks" which could provide a pool of donor organs, ready for long-distance tissue-matching and transport to the donor who needs one.

STANTON — Voter registration interest in next year's elections in Martin County is not exactly red hot according to Dan Saunders, sheriff.

Through Tuesday his office had registered only 384 voters — "these are folk who have come in to pay their taxes," the sheriff explained.

The current registration list for the present year showed around 1,200 voters.

"We'll get a little boom in February," said the sheriff. "The voters will show up as the deadline for registration nears."

Politically, it was pointed out, 1969 looms as a year devoid of many exciting elections. This condition always tends to dampen voter interest and reduce the number of persons who bother to qualify themselves to vote.

Maj. O'Donnell Is Named Executive Officer At Webb

Maj. John O'Donnell Jr. has been named by Col. William C. McGlothlin Jr., Webb AFB wing commander, to succeed Maj. Jerry Osgood as wing executive officer.

Maj. Osgood, 3560th Pilot Training Wing executive officer for the past 2½ years, will leave Thursday for an assignment which will eventually have him flying the F-100 Super Sabre in Southeast Asia.

Maj. O'Donnell has been at Webb since April, 1966. He moves to his new post from the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron where he served as commander of Section II. The major initially served as operations officer for the 3561st PTS. With the squadron reorganization in April, he moved to the 60th.

The wing executive position calls for a lieutenant colonel, although Maj. O'Donnell is the third consecutive major to fill the slot. The major has been selected for promotion to lieutenant colonel, however his effective date of promotion has not been announced.

Maj. O'Donnell entered the Air Force through the enlisted ranks in 1947. He was released after one year's service and enrolled in the University of

MAJ. JOHN O'DONNELL

Southwestern Louisiana, where he received a degree in physical education and earned a commission in the Air Force through the Reserve Officer Training Corps. His first assignment was in 1952 as administrative officer for the air base group commander at Perrin AFB.

He took primary flight training at Spence AB, Ga., had second phase training at Greenville AFB, Miss., and completed advanced training at Waco AFB. After completing his T-33 training, he moved to Nellis AFB, Nev., for advanced flight training in the F-86 Sabrejet.

He served 13 months in Korea in 1954-55, flying the F-86F. He returned to the United States and spent 4½ years at Hamilton AFB, Calif., in which he flew the F-86, the major spent three months at Quemoj during the Formosan crisis. His squadron at Hamilton was the first in the Air Force to receive the F-104 Starfighter.

From California, the major went to North Luffenham RAF, England, where he served as advisor to the Royal Air Force's missile program and earned the Missileman's Badge.

Before heading overseas for a third time, Maj. O'Donnell spent time at Walker AFB, N.M., and at Vandenberg AFB, Calif. His third overseas assignment was at Tan Son Nhut AB, Vietnam, where he was advisor to the joint operations center.

He is a native of Lafayette, La. He and his wife have four children.

THURSDAY NIGHT Four Top Speakers Due For Aerospace Lectures

Reserved seats are still available for the space lectures, scheduled for Webb AFB's Withycombe Hall, beginning at 8 p.m. Thursday. Approximately 83 have made reservations for the space talks, sponsored by the Air Force Association.

The lectures are comprehensive, informative and up-to-the-minute reports on various aspects of the American space program. They are free and open to the public. Interested parties can still make reservations for the evening by contacting the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

The four guest speakers who will be participating in the program are authorities in their specialized space careers.

William H. Dana is the famed X-15 test pilot, who is a civilian research pilot-engineer for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Flight Research Center.

Before joining NASA in 1958, Dana was the project pilot on NASA's study of supersonic transport operating conditions. In addition to many jet aircraft, he has flown NASA's M2-F1 lightweight lifting body. He has piloted the X-15 to an altitude of 310,000 feet (about 59 miles high). He is a former USAF jet pilot and is currently a member of the Society of Experimental Test Pilots.

The representative from the NASA Manned Space Center in Houston, is Don Wade. He is chief of the flight loads section, a part of the Structural and Mechanics Division at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

LT. COL. CALVIN CHAPMAN

Wade will discuss the Apollo and Gemini space projects, season his talk with two 16 mm films on the projects and conduct a question-and-answer period.

Lt. Col. Calvin Chapman, supervisor of the primary phase of aerospace medicine, USAF School of Aerospace Medicine, Brooks AFB, is the third speaker. The colonel trains all USAF flight surgeons. He holds a bachelor of science degree from the Yale University Engineering School and a master's degree in public health from Harvard University. He also was awarded an M.D. degree from the University of Rochester School of Medicine, Rochester, N.Y.

Col. Chapman interned at the Walter Reed General Hospital, Washington, D.C., and at another time in his career, he served as assistant chief of the surface-to-air-missile aero-medical indoctrination branch.

While serving as commander, 3rd Tactical Dispensary, Bien Hoa AB, Vietnam, he developed humanitarian medical programs for the Vietnamese civilians near the air base. These voluntary efforts conducted by dispensary personnel in their spare time treated over 25,000 Vietnamese in 12 months and are continuing to do so.

The other speaker is Maj. Don Kutyna, Edwards AFB, Calif., where he is an instructor and chief of performance in flight tests in the Research Test Pilots' School. The major was graduated from West Point in 1957. He received his masters degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1965. In 1966, he became an astronaut graduate. He has registered 3,300 flying hours and at various times in his career, he has flown the F-104, T-38, T-33 and B-57.

The lectures, a first for Big Spring, have been planned for over a month. Air Force Association members are encouraged to attend. Non-AFA members are also welcome.

Counterfeiting Ring Discovered In Prison

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A counterfeiting ring has been discovered inside the state penitentiary at McAlester for the second time in about two years.

This time it was just an attempt — Secret Service agents seized negatives and printing plates for $20 bills, and said they apparently got the equipment before any bogus money was printed.

Officers estimated they seized the plates only one hour before printing operations were to begin.

Pat Steele, Secret Service chief in Oklahoma, said a search of the prison printing plant Sunday and Monday turned up the equipment.

"Some inmates are suspects, but no arrests were made," Steele said. "There was nothing to indicate any prison employees were involved in any way."

In fact, Steele credited prison employees with reporting their suspicions that such an operation was under way.

Agents seized about $40,000 in bogus $50 bills in August, 1968, and arrested the prison print shop supervisor in Seminole as he tried to sell $2,500 of the phony money.

Plaque Presented Ex-Scoutmaster

STANTON (SC) — Russell McMeas presided at the Tuesday meeting of the Lions Club. David Workman, retiring scoutmaster, was presented a plaque by Paige Eiland for his service to the local scout Troop 28. The plaque read "To David K. Workman, in grateful appreciation for outstanding service, Scoutmaster Troop 28 BSA. Sponsored by Stanton Lions Club."

James Eiland, program chairman, introduced Bob Deavenport, new scoutmaster. Deavenport brought five boys from his troop who presented the program. Curtis Flanagan acted as spokesman, introducing the boys and each one told of a different phase of scouting.

Dennis Ireton gave the requirements of scouting; Tommy Deavenport demonstrated knot tying which they all learned their first two years of scouting. The correct procedure for cutting wood and sharpening an axe was demonstrated by Dale Henson and Walt Haislip gave first aid tips for severe bleeding, broken bones and victims of poisoning, shock and fainting. He also demonstrated artificial respiration. Twenty-six members were present for the meeting.

Voter Interest Not Real 'Hot'

Nixon Taps Speechwriter For Ike As Key Assistant

NEW YORK (AP) — Presidential assistant, indicates Kennedy or Johnson. Nixon announced Tuesday naming Bryce N. Harlow as aides than either Presidents that he was naming Harlow, 52,

Beauty With A Bite

Rose Dauchot, 25, who will be Miss Bahamas in the Miss World contest Thursday in London, England, poses in plate garb during a reception at the Variety Club in London.

to be one of several presidential assistants. Harlow, an in-and-out government man since World War II, will specialize "management of legislation and Congressional affairs."

$30,000 PLUS
In the administrations of the late John F. Kennedy and President Johnson, the highest ranking White House staffers have carried the title of special assistants along with the maximum authorized salary of $30,000 a year.

Sources in Nixon's entourage said today, however, that the President-elect plans to depart from the Kennedy and Johnson practice of naming the authorized maximum of four special assistants at $30,000 a year, and plans to change some titles while so doing.

These sources said that in the Nixon administration assistants to the President will have the highest rank, and that they will number far fewer than 14.

SOAP SELLERS

When Nixon takes office on Jan. 20, they said, special assistants will rank below assistants and, on a still lower level, there will be administrative assistants.

Nixon is in New York for at least a few days, continuing staff discussions on formation of a new administration.

A balding, cherubic man of 52, Harlow specialized in Congressional relations and speechwriting for former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He left the White House as a deputy assistant to the President, then became director of governmental relations in Washington for the Procter & Gamble Co.

On leave from Procter & Gamble, Harlow became a full-time participant in Nixon's presidential campaign on Sept. 5. He said he hopes to return to the Cincinnati firm after Nixon leaves office.

MIGHT AX AFFILIATION

Baptists Weigh Baylor College Medical Action

FORT WORTH (AP) — Texas Baptists weighed a decision to disaffiliate Baylor University's college of medicine at Houston and their denomination.

Proponents argued that removal of the medical school's affiliation with the Baptist General Convention of Texas would tend to help fill what was described as an acute need for more doctors in the state.

The 192-member executive board of the BGCT recommended Tuesday that affiliation with the medical school be severed.

Proponents argued that removal of the medical school's affiliation with the Baptist General Convention of Texas would tend to help fill what was described as an acute need for more doctors in the state.

Approval of this course would withdraw financial aid which the Baylor University college of medicine now receives from the church. At the same time it would become eligible to receive state funds.

C. R. ANTHONY Store Founder Is Honored With Anniversary Sale

It was 46 years ago that C. R. Anthony opened the first store bearing his name in Cushing, Okla. This was the beginning of what is now a chain of over 300 stores in 21 states.

Carlo Morris, a member of the medical school's board, offered the resolution. It stated:

"The state of Texas is in dire need of more physicians. Baylor University college of medicine, as a private medical school responsive to the needs of the community and the state, greatly desires . . . to proceed by whatever means are available toward this objective.

"A separate, nonprofit corporation should be formed for educational charitable and scientific purposes, to assume ownership and control of Baylor University college of medicine."

The Baylor name would be retained but the separation would enable the medical school to accept state funds.

C. O. Overstreet of Houston suggested that the convention "give it (the medical school) to the University of Texas with the provision that it retain the name Baylor."

Overstreet said he feared, however, that some might think this plan a "subterfuge to get around our stand on separation of church and state."

Baylor president Abner McCall disagreed.

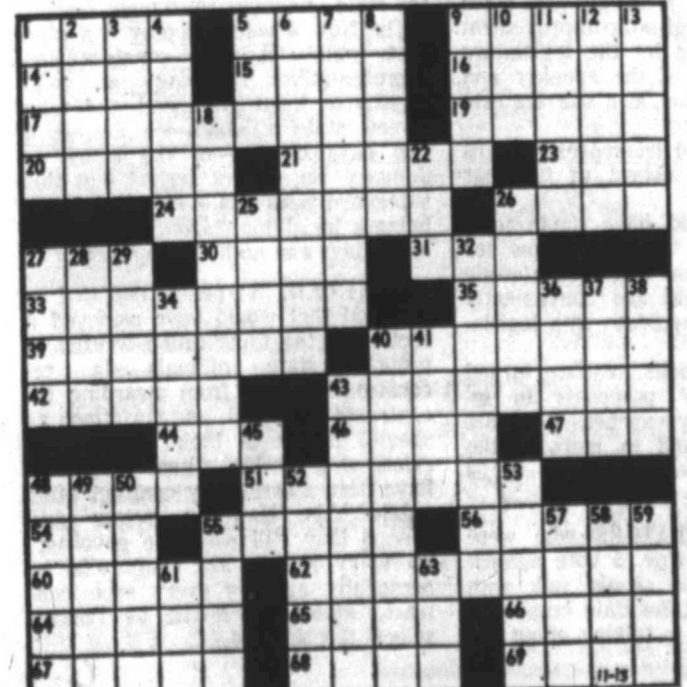

McCall said, "I've talked with the faculty and they said they didn't want to be sold and delivered just like cattle. They want to preserve the affiliation with Baylor. Half the faculty would quit if it changed to a state school."

He added that the structuring would be the same for Brooke Army Hospital in San Antonio and the Wadley Blood Center in Dallas.

Dr. George Hooper of San Antonio, a graduate of the medical school, approved the disaffiliation.

"Behold, heaven and the highest heaven cannot contain thee; how much less this house which I have built! (II Chronicles 6:18, RSV)

PRAYER: Lord God, "there is no God like thee, in heaven above, or on earth beneath, who keepest covenant and mercy with thy servants that walk before thee with all their heart." All honor and glory be to Thee; through Christ, our Savior. Amen.

Better Balance Of Payments

One of the best legacies that President Johnson may pass on to President-elect Nixon is an improved balance-of-payments position in international finance. This is far more important than the general public may realize.

When the United States is paying out more — for imports, foreign aid, private investments, tourist spending, military spending, and other outlays — than it is receiving for exports and other foreign spending in this country, it runs a deficit in the balance of payments. Large, successive annual deficits that drain our gold store and weaken the dollar as a medium of international exchange severely limit what the federal government can safely spend to solve domestic problems and to strengthen the security and improve the well-being of friendly nations.

Balance-of-payments deficits have by now cut in half the huge gold store that the United States accumulated during World War II. The deficits dropped from a high of $3.9 billion in 1960, an intolerable figure, to $1.3 billion in 1966, but jumped back to more than $3.5 billion in 1967.

With a 4-5 per cent inflation rate now hurting U.S. exports and big war outlays continuing, it early looked like 1968 would be another bad year. But the deficit began dropping, to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $2.5 billion in the first quarter and a $700 million rate in the second quarter. Now the figures are in on the third quarter, and the report is that output and input were in near equilibrium, and the U.S. actually regained $100 million in gold, mainly from French distress sales.

Of course, one quarter, even one year, is not enough to confirm reversal of a long-range adverse trend. But, largely attributable to a pickup in exports over imports, a slowdown in private U.S. foreign investments, and more buying of U.S. corporate stocks and bonds in other countries, the short-term balance is promising. That is especially so because it comes while inflation is unabated and war spending is unrelieved.

But if the fourth quarter 1968 is as good as the third, as it is hopefully likely to be, then the outgoing President will hand the incoming one a very valuable initial asset.

Impasse

Efforts to certify results of the general election in Howard County have reached something of an impasse.

During the official canvass of returns, it was pointed out that the number of absentee votes cast in the races for commissioner of Precincts 1 and 3 was greater than the number of applications to ballot absentee in these precincts.

State officials, consulted for advice, suggested that the absentee box could be ordered open by the district court upon a certification by the election judge that something apparently was amiss. But the statute is not clear on this point, and the court is reluctant to move without sound statutory ground upon which to stand.

On the other hand, the box cannot be contested until results have been certified as official by the county commissioners court.

The commissioners court is understandably reluctant to certify that the results are correct when obviously the application and vote totals cannot be reconciled.

And yet, this may be one logical way to break the impasse and give the returns official status that will permit legal challenge. To correct an error, if any, in a ballot box, it is first necessary to get into the box.

Things Haven't Changed In 50 Years

WASHINGTON — Do times really change? There always seems to be either a war going on or talk about peace or the threat of another war.

Fifty years ago the armistice that terminated World War I was celebrated on November 11 with enthusiasm, but it was nothing like the tremendous outpouring of joy in parades and demonstrations which had come four days earlier when the people of the United States thought the war was over. Actually, a mistaken report — not discovered until many hours later — had started the premature rejoicing.

THE CESSATION of hostilities turned out to be the beginning of a long negotiation, and was followed by an era of doubt as to whether a firm peace could really be established in Europe.

Just before the armistice on November 11, 1918, the American people had elected on Nov. 5 a Republican majority in both houses of Congress. This was largely due to dissatisfaction over the war. For the United States had never participated in a major war overseas, and many people felt it was a mistake.

SO WHEN President Wilson in 1919 signed the Versailles peace treaty, which called for the creation of a League of Nations, the opposition in the Senate was so intense that the treaty was defeated because of the League. It was argued by the critics that the new international organization would mean further involvement of the United States in world affairs and an obligation to maintain peace through military power.

LATER ON, in 1921, the United States formally declared the war terminated, and ratified separate treaties with Germany, Hungary and Austria, but it never accepted membership in the League of Nations. This course was considered then by many disinterested persons as a grave mistake because, without the active participation of the United States, no international organization could make much headway, and the League of Nations foundered.

IN FACT, the disarray in Europe in the 1930's and the isolationist sentiment in the United States encouraged Adolf Hitler to believe that, if he wanted to conquer other parts of Europe, he would not be blocked by any military force from the United States. It was only when the militaristic government in Tokyo which was working in collusion with Hitler, decided to attack Pearl Harbor, so as to divert American strength from possible help to Western Europe, that the United States in December, 1941, got into World War II.

THE CIRCUMSTANCES have changed in 50 years, and the individuals who lead the various nations or who threaten peace are different personalities. But the fundamental principles which affect peace in the international situation are much the same today. This very month the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is reassembling in Brussels in an effort to increase the military strength of Western Europe and to build a potential defense against Soviet aggression. There are threats of war in the Middle East, and Russia is sending a bigger and bigger fleet into the Mediterranean.

All this is causing apprehension among those who follow carefully the intricate maneuvers of international affairs, most of whom today would agree that times haven't changed much in 50 years.

The Lord does not require you to do the impossible. "He knoweth our frame; he remembereth that we are dust..." but the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting to them that fear him." Some of the greatest Christians have been bedfast and unable to attend church. Their sickness becomes a sanctuary, their pillow an altar, and each visitor a worshipper. From their pulpit of affliction they bear strong witness to the power of God to keep one faithful in infirmities. The Lord has given you a golden opportunity to witness for Him in the very choicest setting: in affliction. He says to you as He said to the infirmed Paul: "My grace is sufficient for thee." And you can say with Paul: "For my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me."

What Is A Teen? Demon? Savior?

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

What is a teenager? Is he merely today's demon? Is he tomorrow's savior? Is it possible that he is both?

Condemning the younger generation has been a popular sport among mankind probably ever since Adam and Eve were served their eviction notice in the Garden of Eden.

HISTORY HOLDS many surprises but it has yet to produce an older generation that praised its successor generation as one more promising and more fit to hold the reins of power. No, the general attitude has always been pessimistic.

Each generation has assured itself, with upraised hands of rejection and an air of profound melancholy, that the young generation is the worst on record and is surely going to Hades in a hand basket. This holier-than-thou attitude has gone on through countless generations and centuries.

If this parade of pessimism were true, surely the human race would have perished of incompetence or moral malnutrition long since. Yet, somehow, the earth still circles the sun as before, and holds more people who live better and last longer than it did when all these dark prophecies of disaster first began to be voiced.

THE TEENAGERS we confront today across our generation gap are regarded as particularly appalling. They enjoy the worst press since Gutenberg came up with movable type.

And I think "enjoy" is the right word. In our adult hysteria we have mesmerized ourselves into believing we have spawned a new race of monsters, a youth that has lost all idealism and lives only for its own kicks and selfish thrills.

Recognizing this hysteria and amused by it, the kids enjoy scaring the daylight out of their parents by pretending to live up to this caricature.

MANY A GROWNUP now sees the typical teenager as if he were viewing him in a Coney Island amusement park distorting mirror. He sees an unwashed, disheveled, mop-headed youngster with a marijuana cigarette dangling from his lip and holding a hypodermic needle in one hand and a smoking pistol in the other.

What normal, wholesome teenager wouldn't be secretly delighted at this apparition, untrue of himself as he knows it to be? By pretending it is verily, he can capitalize on adult panic. Instead of playing trick-or-treat games with grownups only on Halloween, he can scare them all year long.

The average teenager doesn't take dope, smoke reefer, indulge in sex orgies, carry a pistol, or beat up defenseless old ladies for the change in their purses. The record shows that most teenagers are learning more in school than did any previous youth group and, in their own way, are as dedicated and as idealistic as any that came before them. The big differences seem to be that they are less hypocritical, less deferential to their elders, and since they prefer rock 'n' roll, that they march to the music of a louder drummer.

ONE FACT of the matter is that the older generation today is the most neurotic and terror-stricken in history. Hallucination and aberration have become habitual with us.

Perhaps if we simply quit pushing the panic button in ourselves we wouldn't be so panicky about our offspring.

Pay For Salesmen Soars

NEW YORK (AP) — Willy Loman has been dead now ever since the final scene of Arthur Miller's play, "Death of a Salesman," was first performed in 1949. Now, it is claimed, Willy's image may be dying also.

Willy was the much abused main character in Miller's play. Unloved and unwanted after years of production, and with age creeping upon him, Willy succumbed to an acute sense of failure and ended his life.

IN TERMS of pay, says Research Institute of America, today's salesman is more appreciated by his company. During the past three years, it claims, sales pay has risen faster than for any other employe category. After studying the payrolls of 1,500 companies, the institute found salesmen earning 18 per cent more than in 1965, meaning that the fellow who received $15,000 a year in 1965 might be getting about $17,700 now.

Such evidence led the institute, a private business advisory and research firm, to comment: "This may well be marked in history as the year that the 'Willy Loman image' finally died."

By comparison with the 18 per cent rise, compensation for executives in the study increased 17 per cent, middle management and professional 14 per cent and clerical and production workers 12 per cent.

ESPECIALLY noteworthy, the report indicated, was that compensation rose fastest at the lower end of the scale. And rather than being paid solely in commissions, today's salesmen increasingly are sharing in fringe benefits.

For commission men, more participation was noted in group life insurance coverage, hospitalization, pensions and major medical plans. In fact, less than 5 per cent received no fringe benefits.

For those on salary or a combination of salary-commission, the figures were higher, with three of four covered by pensions, four of five by life insurance and major medical, and nine of 10 by hospitalization.

Porphyria, A Difficult Problem

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have just found out that I have porphyria. After several years of headaches and doctors telling me nothing was wrong, I went to a neurosurgeon who discovered my trouble. He says there is nothing much they can do for me. Can you explain it a bit to me? — Mrs. R.B.

Porphyria is a disorder involving pigments (coloring matter) in the tissues of the body. It is a rather uncommon condition but must be suspected when the cause of recurrent pain cannot be readily found. The pain may come in the abdomen, in the chest, or as in your case in the form of a headache.

The cause of porphyria is not known. However, some things about it are. It is well established that barbiturates can touch off attacks. Since barbiturates are widely used as sleeping medicine and sedatives, it is worth inquiring whether you use any Phenobarbital is a common example. Other drugs, however, can cause attacks, too.

Exposure to the sun also tends to bother patients with this ailment. Drugs such as chl.promazine

Dr. Molner has written "The Everyday Medical Handbook," which gives the answers to many questions on family health. Copies may be obtained by writing to Fawcett Publications, Dept. HH, Fawcett Place, Greenwich, Conn. 06830 and enclosing check or money order payable to Dr. Molner Book in the amount of $2.50 plus 25 cents handling.

are effective in allaying the pain of an attack; on the contrary, morphine aggravates an attack.

With all of the above in mind, I think it might be helpful for you to discuss with the neurosurgeon whatever medicines you may be taking.

One procedure for detecting porphyria, once it is suspected, is to find certain pigments in the urine. In many instances, urine will change to a port wine color after it has been standing.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am troubled with cholesterol and have been advised not to eat meats, shellfish, other fish, poultry, butter, cheese, milk, eggs — in fact any animal products, as they can cause cholesterol. Is this correct? — E.F.P.

You have been very badly advised, indeed, because leaving out all the items you mention would make it very difficult for you to obtain the protein you need.

Diet to limit cholesterol involves limitation of some animal fats, not all animal products. Thus, use vegetable oils in salad dressing, avoid fried foods, avoid visible fats in meat.

Notice in the paragraph above I mentioned limiting cholesterol, not trying to avoid it entirely, which is impossible. Cholesterol is necessary to animal and human life and will be created in suitable quantity from our food.

Arthritis sufferers CAN be helped. Dr. Molner's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as outlining effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis" write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Around The Rim

The Day Of The Earthquake

Reports of earth tremors in the Mississippi basin during the past weekend reminds me of the time that Big Spring had its earthquake.

THIS MAY NOT have been the only one, for in 1929 there was considerable argument whether we had experienced a quake or felt the effects of some massive explosion. Likely it was a minor tremor, but just about daybreak on Sunday, Aug. 16, 1931, something unusual began to take place. A few people were up, many others were awakening, and many more were in the twilight zone between waking and sleep.

WALTER WILBANKS, who was then The Herald's circulation manager, heard sounds, felt vibrations and watched powdered plaster trickling down the walls.

A. M. Rippes, on his way to the railway yards, passed by Montgomery Ward at Third and Gregg when the windows began to rattle violently. He ran to the middle of the street.

Will Knox Edwards had just arisen at his home and was walking by a china cabinet when it began to rattle and totter. He caught and held it until the rocking ceased.

LILLIAN SHICK (Dawson) and her mother, Mrs. Nat Shick, who had been in a substantial quake in California two years before, shook Nat. "Wake up," said Lillian. "We are having a nice little earthquake."

Mrs. W. R. Settles, from her bedroom on the second floor of her home in the south part of town, thought that a wind was rattling the house, then reflected how odd, for the trees were not blowing.

Steve Ford Sr., in Edwards Heights, groaned that the hot water heater had exploded.

CALVIN BOYKIN, sleeping in his penthouse atop the Crawford Hotel which he managed, thought some one had slipped into his bedroom and was shaking the bed vigorously to get him up.

Mr. and Mrs. Obie Bristow, awakened in the apartment in the upper floors of the Settles, knew something was wrong and thought it was an earthquake. They made four floor flights down the stairwell when the shaking let up.

Wendell Bedichek, editor of The Herald, recalled sensations on the 14th floor of the Settles Hotel:

"It felt like we were being floated back and forth as on a magic carpet — maybe so about to float out the window. The floor was rolling like we always figured an ocean liner might."

"THE WINDOW weights were going 'plump, plump, plump, plump' in perfect rhythm. It dawned on us we were witnessing an earthquake from a balcony seat."

His room-mate roused. "What's that?"

"An earthquake," yelled Beddy. Next thing he remembered they were in the hallway, ready to wobble for the stairs. He paused to glance out the hall window looking to the east. It was quiet and still.

"Then the windows started that 'plop, plop, plop, plop.' Louder, louder and louder."

IT OCCURRED to him they couldn't make it to the stairs. They stood there. A woman down the hall cried, and they yelled assurance. "I'm scared," she said. "My husband's gone, and I fell out of bed."

Within three minutes it was over. Beddy caught the elevator down to the lobby. A man in gray pajamas and a woman in pink night gown peeked around the corner, debating whether to go back up.

To most people, however, it was no special thrill. They slept through it. — JOE PICKLE

A Vice President's Excess Baggage

WASHINGTON — They never would be missed — Agnew, Muskie, LeMay — and it's a good time to think about an appendectomy to the Constitution. Abolish the vice presidency.

Act while the blood is hot, for that has been the genesis of many amendments. All four of the post war amendments were indignation movements, and two of them were directed at personalities.

NUMBER 22, limiting the presidency to two terms, was angrily adopted because Franklin Roosevelt had power-grabbed a lifetime job. Number 23, on replacing disabled presidents and deceased vice presidents, went off like an alarm bell when Congress saw the aged Speaker McCormack as the automatic successor to President Johnson after the Dallas assassination.

THERE'S ALL this precedent for use today if we take Agnew, Muskie and LeMay into targets of opportunity before the memories of '68 cool off. Even apathy to the office is an argument against it. If you don't care much, past or future, who rides the caboose into national office, better cut it and find a better system.

Mr. Nixon's brainstrom in baptizing the Maryland Governor instantly damaged the prestige of the Miami Beach Convention and eventually endangered the GOP ticket.

SENATOR MUSKIE, considered a far better selection than Agnew, proved a different sort of distraction.

Voters who thought well of him were softened up to swallow Hubert Humphrey and the decayed Democratic party. He served as taste-disgusting sauce which made the mouthful more palatable but not less digestible for the years ahead. The election, to the extent that Muskie took attention off his partner, was not as truly a national decision as it might have been since only the presidential candidate stands to run the country.

GENERAL LEMAY, the best man among all six national candidates, illustrated the inherent wastefulness of the two-member ticket concept. He addressed himself almost exclusively to an appeal for straight-thinking on military affairs, a subject in itself but only distantly related to the Wallace bid for domestic reorganization and party realignment. A non-politician by profession, LeMay had a non-partisan message. He could have delivered it much better by a stump campaign of his own with the backing of scores of like-minded generals, admirals and scientists who know the nation's psychological and material unreadiness to win its battles.

AMENDMENT 25 with little chance could provide the method for choosing a presidential successor who would keep whatever job he now holds and move in as President when needed. As candidate and deep-freeze substitute, every Vice President is excess baggage. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Texans In Politics

Electoral Messages Confusing

By GARTH JONES

Associated Press Writer

Legislators at times get the feeling that Texas voters are trying to tell them something.

But those electoral messages can be weirdly confusing.

Take the message about legislators' pay raises. The answer seemingly is "no" because the Nov. 5 vote on a Constitution change to increase the annual pay from $4,800 to $8,400 failed by a vote of about 855,000 to 791,000.

HOWEVER, the vote total leaves legislators mystified. What happened to the more than one million other Texas voters who voted for president but did not bother to give their views on legislative pay hikes?

This is the third time in recent years that voters have stepped down efforts by legislators to improve their wages and hours. Each time there were great waves of silence from some voters.

The $4,800 salary for senators and representatives was voted in 1960. Before that, legislators got paid only during a legislative session.

IN 1965, voters decisively best down three separate legislator-improvement plans. One would let the legislature set the salaries of the speaker and lieutenant governor, at a starting rate of $15,000 a year.

A second would let representatives serve four-year instead of two-year terms.

The third would have made four-year instead of two-year terms for the Texas governor and six statewide officials, jobs that are conveniently attractive to a candidate with legislative experience.

In other elections, voters turned down legislators' proposals to increase their daily expenses from $12 to $20 a day, and to increase the size of the Senate from 31 to 39 members.

STATE LEGISLATORS who were surprised at the Nov. 5 vote against their salary raise should talk with some of the longtime state employes. "Some of us got to talking about the raise and doing some figuring on the tablecloth, said a Capital veteran. "We figured that their $4,800 a year raise was actually more than the take-home pay for an entire year for a lot of us. Somehow this word got spread around the state to other state employes and their friends and neighbors."

But other voters' messages to legislators from the general election also are unclear.

FOR INSTANCE, voters said they did not want the state's ceiling of welfare payments increased from $60 million to $75 million, which would have meant a few dollars more in welfare assistance checks, and in welfare checks to the needy blind, disabled and dependent children.

At the same time voters approved a plan that makes the state liable for increased payments to the teacher retirement fund based on a teacher's full salary instead of the former limit of $8,400 a year.

Voters also gave the legislature authority to increase the state's contribution from 5 to 6 per cent in the state employes retirement fund.

The Nov. 5 voters approved a plan that would let state senators and representatives serving a final legislative term go ahead and take a new state official's job despite a few days overlap of the terms in January. Supporters argued that this safeguard against a state official also being a legislator started back in the early days and no longer applied.

HOWEVER, VOTERS defeated a proposal that would have removed a section of the Constitution written to prevent state officials in reconstruction days from awarding fat contracts for fuel and printing as special favors to their friends and relatives. Since 1919 all such contracts have been awarded by contract after public bids. However, voters said Nov. 5 they still want the governor, secretary of state and comptroller to personally approve every such contract, after the Board of Control selects the best bid.

Remember a long time ago when almost every table setting was completed by the addition of a napkin ring? With the great popularity of the paper napkin the holder lost its usefulness but, lo and behold, the napkin ring is reappearing in the gift shops like mad.

Along with the pretty decorative holders come linen or other fabric, napkins in the gayest of colors. The rings we best remember were silver but now they are fashioned in numerous materials. Those who are clever with ceramics make beautiful, delicate ones that are almost like porcelain and some may be. Others are more set for everyday use with a family and are usually very bright with amusing little designs or decorative features.

Fred Eaker, past district chaplain, gave the invocation at the Veteran's Day event, and Mrs. Eaker presented a reading, "I'm Glad I'm an American."

The welcome was extended by Mrs. John Waddill, auxiliary president, and guests introduced were Mr. and Mrs. Sid A. Lowery, Mrs. Mary F. Forrest, Mr. and Mrs. Lee W. Avery, Mr. and Mrs. George Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff F. Kinjon, all of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Milsstead of Lamesa, Martin Gibson of Stanton and Mrs. Foster Kemp, president of the local American Legion Auxiliary. Lowery is District 19 commander and Mrs. Forrest is District 19 auxiliary president.

Miss Virginia Younger, auxiliary historian, was recognized and presented a plaque for outstanding work in selling flag decals and poppies.

The national colors were used in table decorations, and plate markers were miniature flags. The main table held a large birthday cake, decorated in red, white and blue, and the gold numerals "50" on a blue base. A bouquet of red poppies was placed on the register table.

Following the luncheon, the groups met separately and elected new officers who will be installed during a joint Christmas dinner on Dec. 12. T. J. Walker was elected barracks commander, and Mrs. Lee Castle will serve as president of the auxiliary.

Reports were given on the sick and disabled, and appreciation was expressed to the Big Spring Herald for its promotion of Veteran's Day.

Icy Storm Leaving Death, Destruction

By The Associated Press
A severe northeaster churned across New England today after battering the mid-Atlantic states with heavy snow, rain and near hurricane force winds in an icy forest of winter.

Unmanned Red Spaceship Apparently Near Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — An unmanned Soviet spaceship apparently was nearing the moon today while Soviet space officials maintained silence about the flight and its mission.

The spacecraft, Zond 6, was expected to reach the vicinity of the moon tonight or Thursday morning, barring mishap.

It was launched in the Soviet Union Sunday "to conduct scientific explorations along the route of the flight and in near-lunar space" and to test its equipment, a brief announcement said Monday. It gave no further details.

Following usual Soviet secrecy on progress of Soviet space shots until they are proved successful, officials have made no further announcement on its flight.

Western analysts say the success of an earlier Zond and a recent manned earth orbital flight have now put the Soviets in a position, if they want, to challenge the U.S. effort to send the first man around the moon.

Although Soviet scientists have not said whether they will try this, information gathered from the latest Zond could be vital for any such attempt to beat Apollo 8 to the vicinity of the moon next month.

The Soviet capacity for this type of flight was proved last September, Western scientists say, when Zond 5 achieved the first unmanned flight around the moon and safe return to earth. It was recovered in the Indian Ocean.

Zond 5 did not complete a full orbit of the moon, but simply made a wide curve around it and headed back for earth.

The current probe, Zond 6, may attempt the difficult rocket-firing maneuver needed to put it into one or more complete orbits of the moon, then blast out of that orbit for the return trip to earth.

Winds as high as 81 miles per hour were clocked atop New Hampshire's 6,288-foot Mt. Washington.

NEW SNOW

At least eight storm-related deaths were reported in New England and several more fatalities were attributed to the weather further south.

Southern New England was drenched by wave after wave of gale-driven rain and as much as a foot of new snow fell in the north.

Gale driven seas crashing over a seawall caused damage at Kennebunk Beach, Maine. Breakers 20 to 30 feet high tossed boulders and other debris onto King's Highway and onto the lawns of summer cottages.

The winds also threatened the lives of thousands of small doves, a species of auk, which were blown ashore on Cape Cod. Naturalists said the birds live in salt water and can't survive ashore.

The storm, spawned in the Gulf of Mexico, roared up the coast from the Carolinas Monday night to lash the shore areas with wind and rain which turned to snow further inland.

Power lines were downed, commuters delayed, bridges closed, streets flooded, schools closed, ferries stranded, boats swamped, trees felled, windows shattered and umbrellas broken.

Hundreds of families in coastal homes in New Jersey, Long Island and Connecticut were temporarily evacuated as the storm's height Tuesday but most were able to return by night.

EXPOSURE
In eastern Tennessee 20 19-year-old boys died of exposure after being lost for 30 hours while on a hunting trip near Great Smoky Mountain National Park. A third youth in the party managed to walk to safety.

Officials said the dead boys were a quarter mile from help when they collapsed in a meadow. John Cutshaw, the survivor, said rain and snow had made it almost impossible to see.

Snore accumulation of up to a foot were reported in the Tennessee Smokies and up to 15 inches in West Virginia's eastern mountains. There was 17 inches at State College, Pa., 14 inches in Flat Rock, N.C., and 13 inches in Frostburg, Md.

Atlanta, Ga., and Washington received a dusting of white. On Wallops Island off the Virginia coast one wind gust was clocked at 100 miles an hour and the wind blew steadily at 80 m.p.h.

At sea the winds whipped up 35 foot waves causing several small vessels to be in distress.

Charges of forgery and passing have been filed against an East Texan who is being held by police in Wichita Falls in connection with two bogus checks passed in Big Spring in October.

The charges were filed against James R. Copeland and Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter. Bond will be set when Copeland is returned to Howard County authorities, according to Sheriff A. N. Standard.

Standard also said that his office has in custody Prades Ceballos Jr., 22, Odessa, who is being held in connection with forgery and passing of checks taken from the Vincent Gin this summer.

Ceballos was brought here from Midland where he had been held in connection with a burglary there. He also had been sentenced to five years in prison in Ector County for burglary.

Choir Booster executive officers will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Big Spring High School choir room. This meeting will precede the regular meeting of the boosters which will start at 7:30 p.m. at the same location.

Two murder trials are slated to begin next week in 118th District Court.

Ismael Valdez is charged with assault with intent to murder in connection with the shooting Nov. 12, 1967, of Frank Maholly, according to Wayne Burns, district attorney.

The trial for murder of Joe Hernandez Jimenez is in connection with the shooting death Jan. 6, 1968, of O. T. Ramirez, Burns said.

Enrollment in Big Spring schools as of Nov. 8 dropped two students from the previous week to 7,500 students. Total number of students was well below the 7,611 figure for the same week in 1967.

Elementary pupils increased by three over the previous week for 3,969, and special education classes increased two for 694. However, there was a drop of seven students in the high school and two junior highs for a total of 3,370.

Artillery, Tank Fighting Rages Across Jordan River

TEL AVIV (AP) — An artillery and tank duel raged across the Jordan River near the Abdullah Bridge today, three miles north of the Dead Sea. One Jordanian soldier was reported killed.

It was the first heavy fighting in the arid Dead Sea area since last August, when fighting broke out in the wake of an Israeli air raid on Arab guerrilla bases in the Jordan Valley.

An Israeli army spokesman claimed a Jordanian tank and artillery gunners opened up from Israeli positions after several bursts of light arms fire from the Jordanian side of the river. The battle was still going on 80 minutes later, he said.

A Jordanian spokesman claimed Israeli soldiers started the shooting with machine-gun fire. He said one Jordanian soldier was killed in the clash and the Israeli forces were believed to have inflicted casualties. But the Israelis did not report any casualties.

The Jordanian spokesman also said two Jordanian soldiers were killed during the night when a band of Israeli soldiers tried to invade the east bank of the Jordan River in the Adasia area. He claimed the Israeli force was smashed in a 35-minute battle but said nothing about Israeli casualties.

Guerrilla Agents Killed In Korea

SEOUL (AP) — The South Korean government revealed today that a second band of North Korean guerrillas landed on South Korea's east coast two weeks ago, bringing the total number of invaders in the area to 60 this month, twice the number reported earlier.

The government says 28 members of the Communist force have been killed.

Defense Minister Yim Choong-Shik told a news conference one of the guerrilla bands landed near Uchin, 150 miles southeast of Seoul, and the other group went ashore 35 miles north of Uchin near the village of Smachok.

Yim said the Communists were attempting to launch a guerrilla war in South Korea. They killed five South Korean soldiers and four civilians, and wounded seven soldiers and two civilians.

The defense minister said most of the South Korean casualties occurred during the invaders' brief occupation of Uchin before a force of police, paratroopers and marines was deployed Nov. 3 to seek out the guerrillas.

The guerrillas fled into the mountains, and the government force is on their trail.

Yim said the double landing was the largest infiltration of Communist agents since the 1953 Korean armistice. He said it apparently was aimed at establishing guerrilla bases on the east coast. He said 26 submachine guns and nearly 15,000 rounds of ammunition were among a truckload of supplies captured from the guerrillas.

Doggy Day In Lamesa

LAMESA — Last Saturday was not a happy day for Lamesa's canine population. It was also a little hard on their owners.

The dogs went to the city hall along with their masters.

There each of 100 dogs which showed up got a rabies shot and a license. Their owners dug up $5 per dog.

"It was a bargain," said a city hall worker. "Normally the veterinarians charge $3 for the shot but for this special Saturday we provided the vaccinations for $2." The license cost another $3.

The city hall was well pleased with the results. Normally around 1,100 dogs are licensed each year. One hundred and sixty in one day was a good start.

The grand rush is a result of the new city ordinance on dog control which goes into effect in Lamesa on Jan. 1. Dr. David Smith, veterinarian, was on hand to administer the shots.

The city hall spokesman said that no other bargain days are planned.

Heart Swap Patient Dies

HOUSTON (AP) — Assemblyman Sidney Lebowitz of Queens, N.Y., the 22nd person to receive a transplanted heart in Houston, died Tuesday.

Lebowitz, 50, received the heart of a 15-year-old traffic collision victim Nov. 5.

A spokesman at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital said the legislator had responded favorably to the surgery until 24 hours before his death.

"His heart began to fail and this ultimately led to his death," the spokesman said. "Results of an autopsy will not be known for three or four days."

Dr. Robert D. Leachman, a cardiologist on the transplant team, said Lebowitz' body may have developed antibodies against the original heart long before the transplant operation.

Writs of habeas corpus hearings began for two men today in 118th District Court who are seeking new trials.

Percussionists Just Not On Time

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — The 1968 debut of the University of Oklahoma Chamber Orchestra lasted about 30 minutes Monday night. Three percussionists failed to show up.

The rest of the orchestra tried to carry on, but the main piece, "The Chinese Flute" by Toch, hinged on the percussionists. After about 30 minutes, the orchestra gave up and went home. So did the 200 or so music lovers who came to hear the concert.

Conductor Donn Mills said the percussionists simply "forgot the concert was tonight."

Parks Population

AUSTIN (AP)—Attendance at state parks has exceeded the state's population for the second straight year, the Parks and Wildlife Department says.

The department says 12,441, 202 visits were recorded at Texas' 52 state parks this year.

ROAD PICK DUE AT LUBBOCK MEETING

Dawson Dreams Fading

LAMESA — The dream of a new road along US 87 that would be transformed into an interstate highway was said to be fading fast this week.

Instead of US 87 being designated as an IS highway, that honor appears now, according to information received by the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, to be assigned to US 84 — the road which leaves the loop at Lubbock and goes through Slaton and Snyder and joins IS 20 near Roscoe.

ON AGENDA
Bart Barnett, chamber of commerce manager here, said his road and highway committee is much disturbed over the reported plan of the state to designate US 84 as a new IS road. A meeting is slated in Lubbock Thursday at which the decision on the IS selection committee will confer Wednesday and decide on the strategy they will follow. One thing is already planned — to send a large delegation of Dawson countians to Lubbock to attend the highway meeting.

"We had high hopes of the IS designation for US 87," said the manager. "In fact I was told just a few days ago that the matter had been decided that US 87 would be the road selected."

"The very next day I was informed that plans had been changed — that instead of US 87, the new IS route would follow US 84 from Lubbock.

"We will certainly regret this decision if it is carried out, and we intend to try anything that may appear helpful to avoid it happening."

Fire Department Pulls Fast Sell

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. C. M. Lewis of Denison is convinced her home town fire department renders the finest service anywhere.

Returning home after driving her two sons to school, Mrs. Lewis found her bedroom afire and the house full of smoke. She raced out the door en route to a neighbor's to phone in an alarm and met the fire truck coming down the street.

The truck was on its way to another station to use its drill tower for a practice session. The firemen continued to their practice session after some formal work, which Chief George Cravens said stemmed what probably would have been a serious blaze.

TOMORROW
—CARROLL RIGHTER

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) With all those duties ahead of you, stop drifting and get busy and do them with efficiency, care, to your wardrobe just as you would it to be? Repair or add to it. Talk over amicably how to do things better with co-workers.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You had better plan early for any special efforts you want to give this year. All goes smoothly. Show persons you admire that you are "in" to have him or her as a friend. Be charming.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You now know just how to take care of certain situations at home that have been very vexing heretofore. Do so in a positive way. Add comfort to your recreations you may want. Also bring so much more.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Put aside fun for the moment and concentrate upon making your daily routine work more efficiently. You can find some fascinating way to advance, also. Ride that hobby you like so much in a.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) If you show you are grateful for the favors of one in business, you find they are forthcoming in the future as well. You have the needed cash for that new plan you have in mind. However, be cautious.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Even if you are carrying a business with you, the social can be just fine today for you. Come right out with your plans, ask for favors, back others. This can be a very productive day and evening for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have obstacles in the way of your present progress. So you should be sure to get out and see this person and show you are a humanitarian. Be thoughtful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try to decide which one of your friends can assist you now with a particular problem or to gain some personal wisdom, and contact this individual. Add to present knowledge. Don't think you know it all; listen to others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you want to gain the favor of higher powers, but aside all that desire for pleasure you now have. Do your best to give attention right away. Do your utmost to please blows today and all goes fine for you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) You can advance via the right method of new contacts you make today, especially those who have had much more experience than you. Be sure to send a letter to one you've known. The words should be "I am glad you are doing better."

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) You are now able to find the right method for solving your problems. Be sure to give your full attention to a matter of responsibility in a similar and more effective way. A close friend will be glad to help you with personal or business goals. Give him or her the best of your attention.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) If you show that you have good practical sense, you will find a way to come to a better understanding with associates. Have more confidence in them. Be sure to show them that mutual venture more profitable.

Gibson Named Loop's MVP

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Gibson, the St. Louis Cardinals' brilliant right-hander, was named the National League's Most Valuable Player today, capping an unprecedented pitcher's sweep of baseball's most coveted prizes.

Gibson, a 22-game winner whose 1.12 earned run average was the lowest in league history, beat out batting champ Pete Rose of Cincinnati in a relatively close contest for MVP honors after capturing the NL Cy Young Award as the unanimous choice of voting members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Detroit ace Denny McLain took the American League MVP and Cy Young awards.

In Matsuyama, Japan, where the Cardinals were scheduled to play a local team on their exhibition tour, Gibson said: "It's great. It's just great, because pitchers don't usually win MVP awards. I've got to thank everyone on the team. The whole team helped me have a good year."

Forsan Winner By 56-42 Tab

FORSAN — Forsan's girls ran their won-lost record to 3-1 by defeating Ira in a basketball exhibition here Tuesday night, 56-42.

The teams play a return game in Ira next Tuesday evening.

Gloria Dodd and Doris Franklin were the big guns for Forsan, scoring 21 and 20 points, respectively.

Carolina Rogers of Ira paced all scorers, however, with 25.

Sooners Favored To Edge Tigers

By DICK COUCH
NEW YORK (AP) — With just two full weekends remaining on the college football schedule, the end is in sight for this panting prognosticator.

Done in by underdogs... along with Kansas, Tennessee and Purdue... last week, we settled for a 46-14 record, which boosted the over-all accuracy mark to 722 (341-117-14).

Here's the view from the bridge on this week's matchups: Southern California over Oregon State: This one is for all the Roses. Last year it was Oregon State, 3-0, in the Corvallis mud, but the track should be faster for O.J. Simpson at the LA Coliseum.

Ohio State over Iowa: But the unbeaten Buckeyes will have to keep a close watch on Ed Podolak, Iowa's passer-turned-runner, who rambled for 286 yards against Northwestern last week.

Oklahoma over Missouri: The Sooners took previously unbeaten Kansas down a peg in the Big Eight race and they seem solid enough to bag the visiting Tigers.

Georgia over Auburn: Auburn is a proven giant-killer, but we'll go along with Bulldog bruiser Bill Stanfill and his Georgia defensive gang.

Notre Dame over Georgia Tech: Terry Hanratty is through for the year, but his replacement looked like the real McCoy against Pitt.

Miami, Fla. over Alabama: Look for Miami's Ted Hendricks to buck the Tide in his hometown finale.

Arkansas over Southern Methodist: Arkansas' Bill Montgomery gets our nod over the Mustangs' Chuck Hixon.

Ohio University over Cincinnati: The unbeaten Bobcats have the defensive might to handle Cincy pass-master Greg Cook.

EAST — Army over Pittsburgh: Syracuse over Navy; Boston College over Virginia Military; Rutgers over Holy Cross; Yale over Princeton; Harvard over Brown; Cornell over Dartmouth; Columbia over Pennsylvania.

SOUTH — Penn State over Maryland; Tennessee over Mississippi; Louisiana State over Mississippi State; Kentucky over Florida; North Carolina State over Florida State; Clemson over North Carolina; Virginia Tech over South Carolina; Wake Forest over Duke; Virginia over Tulane; Southern Mississippi over Richmond; North Texas State over Louisville; Memphis State over Wichita State.

MIDWEST — Indiana over Minnesota; Michigan over Wisconsin; Purdue over Michigan State; Illinois over Northwestern; Colorado over Nebraska; Oklahoma State over Iowa State; Kansas over Kansas State.

SOUTHWEST — Texas over Texas Christian; Houston over Idaho; Texas Tech over Baylor; Texas A&M over Rice.

PAC WEST — California over Oregon; Washington over UCLA; Stanford over Pacific; Washington State over San Jose State; Wyoming over Texas-El Paso; Arizona State over Brigham Young; Arizona over Utah; New Mexico State over New Mexico; Air Force over Tulsa.

Big O Chokes Off Comeback With Surge

By The Associated Press
Baltimore's first-place hopes got a jolt, and Cincinnati's a boost... all because Oscar Robertson gave up being a playmaker for about three minutes.

Robertson picked the last three minutes of the game to concentrate on scoring Tuesday night and drilled in six points to choose off a Bullet rally and guide the Royals to a 126-115 National Basketball Association victory.

The triumph—the Royals' sixth in a row—snapped Baltimore's six-game winning streak and dropped the Bullets to third in the Eastern Division, a half game back of Cincinnati and 810 percentage points behind idle second-place Boston.

In other games, Chicago turned back San Diego 115-108, Milwaukee coasted past Seattle 127-114 and San Francisco defeated Atlanta 123-108.

Robertson, who also had 18 assists, pumped in the six of his 29 points after the Bullets had forged from a 16-point deficit to a 107-106 lead with 3:44 left.

After that bit of work spirited the Royals to a 112-109 lead with 1:53 left, Adrian Smith put it out of doubt with 10 straight points—eight on free throws as Baltimore tried to gain possession.

Tom Van Arsdale led Cincinnati with 32 points and Jerry Lucas contributed 26 in addition to grabbing 22 rebounds. Ray Scott topped the Bullets with 27.

Chicago survived a 40-point spree by rookie Elvin Hayes to make San Diego its sixth victim in 15 games.

The Bulls, paced by Clem Haskins' 29 points, led by as much as 18 points in the first half before the Rockets trimmed it to 87-84 early in the last quarter.

However, Haskins and Bob Boozer teamed for a rally that produced a 100-90 lead with four minutes left.

Milwaukee almost blew a 21-point lead before spurting away to dump the SuperSonics.

The Bucks were in front 82-61 in the third quarter when Len Wilkens and Bob Rule, who each scored 17 in the last half, fired a spurge that narrowed the gap to 109-104.

However, four points by Guy Rodgers and a pair of free throws by Bob Weiss put Milwaukee back in control, 115-104.

Dave Gambee scored 29 for the Bucks. Rule had 28 and Wilkens 26 for Seattle.

San Francisco, in scoring 123 points against Atlanta, compiled its highest point output of the season while gaining its fourth victory in five home games.

Sugar Bowl Troubles Could Be Alleviated

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Bowl play second fiddle most of the time in recent years.

LIONS IN FOLD
The Orange Bowl has Penn State wrapped up, according to the underground information circulating about the college football post-season classics.

"Yeah, we're in a pickle again," admitted a highly placed Sugar Bowl official Tuesday. "But so are all the other bowls and maybe this time we'll come out better than our country cousins down on the ocean."

He was referring, of course, to the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., which has made the Sugar Bowl play second fiddle most of the time in recent years.

LOOKING 'EM OVER
With Tommy Hart

All reports to the contrary, the crowd at the recent Big Spring-Abilene High football game was well behaved and might have been slightly bewildered at the scuffling that went on down on the field near the end of the struggle.

This hasn't been a good year for Abilene. Too, the Eagles are not used to losing to Big Spring. Who was at fault? No indictment as to the instigator or instigators of the trouble is about to be launched here. The ending quite probably would have been most serene had one boy been asked to take an early respite on the sideline.

But the crowd? For the most part, the spectators stayed in their seats and silently tramped out of the stadium at the end of the game. One adult tried to walk onto the field during the excitement but he turned on heel when a policeman suggested he not get involved.

The game officials assured local coaches that the situation settled down after the two brief flareups and, no doubt, all of them have been involved in worse situations, some when their own safety has been threatened. Any report on the unpleasantness of the problem going to the Texas Interscholastic League would have to emanate from the arbiters and a spokesman for the four said talk of such a report was unfounded on fact, as far as any of his group was concerned.

Aggie Coach Is Named Speaker

Gene Stallings, who guided Texas A&M to the Southwest Conference championship and a win over Alabama in last year's Cotton Bowl game, will deliver the principal address at the Quarterback club's banquet honoring the 1968 Big Spring High School football team the night of Wednesday, Jan. 15.

The meal will be served in the high school cafeteria.

Stallings was booked here on a Wednesday night, coach Spike Dykes said, because that was the only night he was available. Stallings is in heavy demand as a speaker.

Gene is one of the three coaches named to coach the West in the annual Shrine game at San Francisco.

Tickets for the banquet will shortly be made available to the public, Jimmy Jones of the QBC said.

Stallings is a former Texas A&M player who coached under Bear Bryant at Alabama before returning to his alma mater in 1965. He succeeded Hank Foidberg as the Aggie mentor.

Stallings played ball at College Station with Don Robbins, the former Big Spring coach.

Twenty-Three Longhorns Play Out String Friday

Twenty-three seniors will be playing out their string as Big Spring Friday night against Permian, coach Spike Dykes told members of the Quarterback Club Tuesday night, and they hope to end play on a successful note.

The Steers can deprive Permian of a chance to enter the Class AAAA playoffs and terminate play with a 6-4 mark by trouncing Permian.

The job will be far from easy, Dykes warned.

"We can win only by playing our finest game possible," the mentor said.

The Panthers have tremendous backs in QB Tommy Stewart, one of the fastest players in the district; fullback Travis Wright, a tough runner when he is well; Tookie Berry, a 196-pounder who will play both at fullback and tailback; and junior Charles Billingsley, the Panthers' most impressive runner in recent games.

Dennis Duckworth, 158-pound split end for Permian, is probably the finest receiver in the district, according to Dykes.

Despite the Panthers' 6-3 won-lost record, Permian has a tremendous defense, the Big Spring coach said.

Milton Arriola, who plays in the interior line, probably will be available to the Big Spring club. Arriola missed last week's game due to injuries.

Dykes said he was immensely proud of the manner in which his team performed against Abilene High last week.

Tech's Don King Given Award As Top Lineman

By The Associated Press
Texas Tech guard Don King did such a good job of feeling like he did a bad job last Saturday that he was named today as the Associated Press Southwest Conference lineman-of-the-week.

It seems that every time King is on the verge of an outstanding performance, he has just the opposite feeling.

"Everytime I feel like I haven't played too good, it turns out I've done pretty good," King explained.

While King was opening gaping holes in TCU's line Saturday, SMU's Mike Richardson was doing his thing against the Texas Aggies. He rushed for 244 yards, scored four touchdowns and erased Kyle Rote's name from the SMU record book.

All that made Richardson a solid choice for the back-of-the-week award.

King came running off the field early in the game against TCU with some good news for Tech coach J. T. King: "I can move my man," he said.

Gail Lashes Sands Fems

SANDS — Gail's Coyotes flogged the Sands girls, 72-43, in a basketball exhibition here Tuesday night, leading from wire to wire.

The loss dropped Sands' record to 2-3. The teams play a return game in Gail next Tuesday.

Sands won the B game, 36-16, in a contest that saw Cynthia Richter count 16 points and Jeanette Nichols 12 for Sands. Mary Anderson tossed in eight to lead Gail.

In the A game, Shara Dee Hambrick tallied 20 for Sands and Debra Williams 24 for Gail.

SANDS (43) — Shara Dee Hambrick 20; Jean Nichols 17; Paula Woods 14; Long lived 3-0-4. Totals 13-17-43.

GAIL (72) — Cynthia Richter 16; Jeanette Nichols 12; Mary Anderson 8; Sandra Hancock 2; Debra Williams 24; Totals 20-16-72.

Sands 10-35-43; Gail 15-34-48-72.

TML To Push Car Tax Bill

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Municipal League voted Tuesday to push passage of a bill that would abolish the ad valorem tax on passenger vehicles.

The auto tax would be replaced by an annual fee payable at the time the vehicle is registered, and the proceeds would be funneled to the cities, counties and school districts, according to the resolution.

The convention, attended by about 2,500 officials of more than 650 Texas cities, also approved resolutions requesting that the Texas Highway Commission finance construction of state highways through cities; immunizing cities from total liability in cases involving a governmental function; supporting the Texas Highway Commission's opposition to portions of federal regulations set out by the Department of Transportation; and opposing the adoption of a proposed policy by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads on accommodation of utility facilities on highway rights of way.

The Texas Municipal League elected L. O'Brien Thompson, Amarillo commissioner, as its president. He succeeds El Paso Mayor Judson Williams.

Dallas Mayor Erik Jonsson was elevated to first vice president, and Kemper Williams, mayor of Victoria, became second vice president.

The Municipal League's three-day session which closed today, featured a Tuesday noon address by Governor-elect Preston Smith.

Presentation of awards to three cities and three municipal officials at an evening banquet climaxed the convention.

The cities of Bellaire, Port Arthur and Canyon were named first place winners in the TML's annual reports contest.

City officials from Lancaster, Arlington and Fort Worth were cited for outstanding work in municipal debt administration and reporting a contest sponsored by the Municipal Advisory Council of Texas.

The 1969 Texas Municipal League conference is scheduled for Nov. 9-11 in San Antonio.

UN Disarmament Debate Delayed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly's annual disarmament debate appeared today to be stalemated from the start as Soviet-American nuclear talks awaited the change in U.S. presidents and a calmer atmosphere abroad.

Delegates felt that not much could be accomplished toward disarmament in view of the uncertain status of the Vietnam peace talks in Paris, the impending changeover in Washington and indications of an arms buildup among NATO members alarmed by the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia.

The Soviet Union made plain it holds virtually no hope of talks with the United States at this stage. Speaking Tuesday at the opening of the arms debate in the assembly's main political committee, Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik made a perfunctory bid for opening negotiations between his government and Washington. Then he proposed that the assembly send the entire arms question back to the 17-nation disarmament committee in Geneva.

The United States and Russia had agreed to exchange views on limitation and reduction of nuclear weapons delivery vehicles, including antimissile weapons. U.S. Chief Delegate J. R. Wiggins told a news conference Tuesday that the plans had come to an abrupt end with the Czech crisis.

Any chance of reviving them would doubtless have to await the inauguration of Richard M. Nixon as president.

Dear Abby

A Privilege He Misses

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I were married three months ago. In seven more months she is going to have a baby. I told my wife I want very much to be in the room with her when she gives birth, but she says she doesn't want me in there and I should go by the custom and walk the floor by myself. I have the doctor's permission if my wife doesn't object. The other reason she gives for not wanting me to watch her give birth is that she doesn't think it's right for me to see her nude in front of another person.

Abby, I would give my right arm to witness the birth of our first child. Is my wife right or is she wrong to deny me this privilege? WANTS TO WATCH

DEAR WANTS: Keep your right arm. It's your wife's body, her performance, and her decision. Stay out.

DEAR ABBY: I finally accepted a date with a real jerk. I only did it because he had asked me a dozen times and I kept saying I was busy, then he asked ME to set a date when I wasn't busy. So I was stuck, right? Now he's pestering me again, and giving me the same routine. How can I discourage this drip without coming right out and insulting him? When we dance he holds me too close, sings in my ear, and pants like a dying bull. When he holds my hand, my flesh crawls.

ROSAITA
DEAR ROSITA: Tell him you like him "as a friend," and don't think he ought to waste his time and money on a girl who thinks of him as a "brother." This should cool off the most amorous amigo.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I were recently divorced. She was given custody of our teenage daughter and she also got our three bedroom home.

My problem is that she intends to rent the spare bedroom out. This is all right with me as long as she rents it to a woman! With just the teenage daughter and my wife alone in the house, I think renting to a man would be risky, don't you agree? Besides, it would be real easy for her to move a man friend in (rent-free) without having to look bad.

How can I prevent her from renting to a man? NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: Warn her about the risk of renting to a man, although I'm sure it's already occurred to her. She can either accept your suggestion or reject it, but she may do as she pleases. As for her moving another man in (rent-free), the above answer also applies here.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

Ray's Lawyer Maps Defense

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — With one big item accomplished — delay of the trial — James Earl Ray's new lawyer turned today to preparing a defense for the man accused of assassinating Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Percy Foreman, the famed Texas criminal lawyer who took the case Sunday, went into court Tuesday, the day Ray's trial was to begin, and got a delay until March 3.

Judge W. Preston Battle granted the postponement and agreed to enter Foreman as Ray's attorney of record to replace former Birmingham, Ala., Mayor Arthur J. Hanes, who was fired abruptly the same night Foreman was hired.

Foreman said he planned to stay on here for a few days to confer with local bar association leaders to get help in securing a Tennessee lawyer as associate counsel.

W. A. (DUB) MOORE

Moore Is New Associate In McGibbon Oil

A former Big Springer, W. A. (Dub) Moore, has returned here and is now associated with the McGibbon Oil Company, Phillips 66 distributor, as general manager. Moore will work with K. H. (Chub) McGibbon and Roy Lee in handling administrative matters of the operation.

Moore has been with the Phillips Petroleum Co. for nearly eight years, having joined the firm after his graduation from Eastern New Mexico University. He was in Big Spring from 1961 to 1964 as a district representative, was promoted to retail representative in Denver, then moved on to Bartlesville, Okla., as a marketing assistant.

Moore was born and reared in Portales, N.M., attending public schools and the university there. In college, he played football under the coaching of B. B. Lees, a Big Spring product.

Mr. and Mrs. (Patsy Ruth) Moore are residing at 2614 Cindy Lane. There are two daughters, LaVoy, 8, and Laura, 6. The Moores are members of the Church of Christ.

Farmers Plan Good Turn For Family Near Knott

KNOTT — Knott community farmers are to assemble at the W. B. Walker farm, 10 miles west of here, on the morning of Nov. 18. They are to bring their cotton strippers and trailers with them.

The purpose of their visit is to harvest the 100 acres of cotton on the Walker farm now ready for the gin.

The reason for the community effort is that Mr. Walker, a lifelong resident of the Knott community, died about a month ago and his family is faced with a difficult problem in saving the highly valuable crop.

Co-Op Gin at Knott has posted notice asking all farmers to show up bright and early at the farm with their strippers and trailers.

As quickly as a trailer is loaded and reaches the gin it will be immediately processed to free it for another trip to the farm or to empty it for the convenience of its owner.

The Walker cotton will be ginned ahead of all other cotton

WORK TO HEAD OFF DEMONSTRATIONS

Czech's Reds Wage Power Fight

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist leaders worked desperately today to keep young demonstrators off the streets while they wage a power struggle behind closed doors.

The leaders used a combination of threats and pleas in an attempt to head off students' and workers' plans for demonstrations against any more concessions to the Soviet occupiers.

THREATS

Party chief Alexander Dubcek met with student leaders and warned them not to demonstrate Sunday. He told them force would be used to stop them if they marched.

Dubcek's reform leadership faces a crucial power struggle with old guard Communists at a meeting beginning Thursday of the 160-member party central committee. The Dubcek group fears that more demonstration will result in Soviet intervention to return the old guard to power.

BURN FLAGS

The 21-member party Presi-

dem issued a statement condemning those who "organized" demonstrations Oct. 28 and Nov. 7 when youths chanted "Russians go home" and burned Soviet flags.

Student groups made a personal appeal to Dubcek to authorize a demonstration Sunday to commemorate students executed by the Nazis and express opposition to the "occupation of any country by foreign armies."

Informants said Dubcek refused authorization and that Deputy Premier Gustav Husak charged the earlier demonstrations were instigated by "counterrevolutionaries."

Such a counterrevolutionary charge was used by the Soviet Union and four of its Warsaw Pact allies to justify the Aug. 20 invasion. BATTLE? The student groups did not indicate immediately whether they would call off their demonstration.

There were reports the old guard Communists, who want to completely reverse Dubcek's post-January reforms, might even try to oust the party boss at Thursday's Central Committee session.

On the other side, there is a Central Committee group that wants no more retreat from the reform policy. Frantisek Vodson, a member of Parliament who voted against the Oct. 18 Moscow agreement legalizing the indefinite stay of occupation troops, said: "There is bound to be a battle."

Replace Catfish

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — Little River has been restocked with 5,000 catfish to replace those killed recently apparently by chemicals washed into the stream from the Dierks Forests, Inc., plant. The fish were purchased by Dierks.

Martin Farmers Prepare For War

STANTON — Martin County cotton farmers are preparing for a war which will not be started until September, 1969. A campaign is being launched this week asking each cotton farmer in the county to contribute $1 per bale to a war chest being collected to battle the invasion of the cotton boll weevil. Such a war will not be opened until the strategic time in 1969.

The county is also applying for a charter for the Martin County Insect Control Association and if this is granted, the state will match the funds provided by the cotton farmers. These funds, combined, will offer a good chance, leaders say, to lick the boll weevils.

$1 BALE BITE

A letter is being sent out this week to each cotton farmer outlining the plan and asking for his cooperation. The letter is being dispatched by the leaders of a special committee appointed sometime ago to begin activities against the boll weevil.

Farmers who are still harvesting cotton are to be asked to authorize the gin or compress to collect $1 from each bale for the fund and those who have already ginned their cotton are being asked to send checks to the committee.

The checks and pledges should be mailed to Leroy Linney, secretary of the association, Box 61, Stanton.

Owen Kelly is president of the association.

The committee which has worked out the plan are men selected at an earlier meeting.

The committee members are: Owen Kelly, Newell Tate, Leroy Linney, Buster Haggard, Orville Seely, J. B. Shockley, Bruce King and F. E. Snell.

INVASION LINE

Martin county has not been badly hurt by the boll weevils this year, it was said. Most of the infestation reported is in the cotton belt adjacent to the Lomax community in Howard County. A few scattered spots have been located in other parts of the county.

However, the farmers anticipate that the invasion line will spread widely next year and that it is imperative some organized campaign to halt the march be initiated.

The crop is too well along now to permit fall poisoning such as has been practiced in St. Lawrence in Glasscock County. Therefore, the leaders point out the war will have to be put in action in the fall of 1969.

Roundtable Set

Winter wonderland will be the theme for the Cub Scout leaders' roundtable held in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The program will include ideas on good uniforming, Christmas gifts boys can make, Christmas songs, skits, games and crafts. All den mothers, Cubmasters and committeemen are urged to attend.
