Meets With Murphy

President Johnson talks with veteran diplomat Robert D. Murphy, left, in the White House today. Murphy was named by President-elect Richard M. Nixon as his personal representative to keep Hanoi with the Johnson administration on foreign policy matters during the period of transition of government prior to the Jan. 20 inauguration.

Johnson Makes Clear Decisions Are His

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson made it clear today that he will "make whatever decisions the President of the United States is called on to make between now and Jan. 20" when President-elect Richard M. Nixon takes office.

Johnson said that after Jan. 20, he hopes Nixon "can speak not only for his administration but for all the American people" and Johnson said he would work to help Nixon in that.

TRY TO HELP
He called on all Americans now to "submerge any party interests"—whether Democrat or Republican—and try to do what they can to help.

Johnson also said at an impromptu meeting in his office with reporters that "we are doing all we can to bring about substantive discussions" in Vietnam peace talks at Paris "that will include the government of South Vietnam at the earliest date possible." But he had no further report of progress in that respect.

Johnson met today for the first time with Robert D. Murphy, veteran foreign policy diplomat who has been named as Nixon's personal representative to the Johnson administration in the field of foreign affairs.

COOPERATION
The President called in reporters to introduce them to Murphy, to whom Johnson promised full cooperation in the hopes of "effecting an orderly transition" of government.

Then, the President took on questions and the first was a request to describe the understanding he and Nixon have regarding foreign policy matters that will come up between now and Jan. 20.

DID NOT DISCUSS
When asked whether he and Nixon had agreed, as Nixon said Thursday that it was essential there be prior consultation and prior agreement on major policy decisions, Johnson said, "We did not discuss that precisely. We only discussed having an observer"—the role Murphy is playing—and Johnson reiterated the decisions to be made between now and Jan. 20 "will be made by this President, by this secretary of defense and by this secretary of state."

British Pound Plunges Again

LONDON (AP) — The British pound plunged to its lowest level in 10 months today and the Bank of England rushed into the market to stop the fall.

The pound opened weak at $2.3850, well below Thursday night's closing $2.3862. It fell to $2.3530, the lowest since January, when it reached $2.3825. Then it rose suddenly to $2.3835, indicating the Bank of England was buying pounds to shore up the price.

Financial sources said the main reasons for the drop were Britain's bad trade figures for October and persistent rumors that the French franc is to be devalued and the German mark revalued.

The price of gold jumped 10 cents from Thursday night, rising to $40 an ounce on the free market, its highest level since Sept. 27, when it reached $40.125.

Thieu Edging Toward Attending Peace Talks

Vote Recount Plans Are Made

Steps are being taken to recount the votes cast in the Nov. 5 election for county commissioner of Precinct 3.

W. B. (Bill) Crooker, Republican candidate who lost his race in the unofficial count by 81 votes to incumbent Democrat Mrs. Joe (Mae) Hayden, filed for a recount Thursday afternoon with County Judge Lee Porter, presiding officer of the commissioners court, which acted as election canvassing board.

MEET TODAY
The commissioners were to meet at 2 p.m. today to select a committee of three disinterested registered voters to stage the recount. Election laws state that a recount shall begin no earlier than two days or later than four days, after notification for a recount has been given.

Crooker's call for a recount came after commissioners discovered 102 more votes in the absentee box had been counted in the Precinct 3 race than there were applications for ballots. George Elliott, election judge for the special canvassing board which counted the absentee ballots, told the court that one stack of ballots may have been counted more than once.

The commissioners also discovered there were 178 more votes counted in the Precinct 1 commissioners race than there were ballot applications. However, no recount of the Precinct 1 race has been ordered.

There were 383 applications for absentee ballots in the Precinct 3 election, but 485 votes were counted. In the Precinct 1 election there were 145 absentee applications and 323 votes were counted.

CERTIFIED
Wednesday the commissioners certified the entire county election, but tacked on the notations that the races for commissioner of Precincts 1 and 3 were unreconcilable because the number of votes counted in the two elections exceeded the number of absentee applications.

Snow Mixed With Rain In Some Areas

By The Associated Press

Light rain occasionally mixed with snow flurries pelted the Panhandle-Plains section today while widespread precipitation strayed eastward across Texas' midsection.

The moisture stemmed from a weakening cold front which edged a bit farther east before coming to a near standstill this morning along a Fort Worth-Brownwood-Del Rio line.

SOME SNOW

Twenty per cent of the area from 30 miles southwest of Amarillo to 20 miles northeast of Pampa to 15 miles west of Shamrock and 20 miles north of Plainview received showers that carried some snow.

Forecasts called for a little further cooling tonight in Northwest and North Central Texas, warm weather in most other sections, and possibly a few more showers by Saturday afternoon in western sections of the state.

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu was reported edging toward attending the Paris peace talks today provided Washington assures him that no coalition government with the Communists will be thrust upon him.

As part of the price for abandoning his boycott of the talks Thieu is also reported to be seeking other unspecified promises from President Johnson.

COMPLICATIONS

While the United States is favorably disposed to meet Thieu's wishes diplomatic sources cautioned that there are other complications which could slow any final settlement.

Reliable officials in Saigon feel the break—if it comes—may take as much as two more weeks and will be coupled with changes within the South Vietnamese Cabinet.

It was reported by authoritative sources—and officially denied—that Premier Tran Van Huong had submitted his resignation to Thieu.

On the military front, the U.S. Command accused North Vietnam of violating a mutual agreement to keep the demilitarized zone free of military activity and sent American bombers streaking over the zone to attack bunkers and ammunition stores.

A spokesman said 34 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed and at least a dozen bunkers were destroyed in the southern half of the DMZ. Huong's resignation was submitted as a result of differences arising partly from the stalemated peace talks, the sources said. It was part of an over-all Cabinet crisis which could result in Huong's return to office as head of a stronger government or his departure from Thieu's regime.

Information Minister Ton That Thien, asked about the report of Huong's resignation, said the premier had been informed, "laughed and termed it not accurate." However, Thien would not elaborate and declined to comment further when asked if the report was true.

Other sources in the government said a Cabinet shakeup had been under consideration for several days and some kind of official action was imminent. Just what shift in the South Vietnamese boycott of the Paris talks was likely was not known, and government sources would make no official comment. But other sources close to the government said if a stronger Cabinet emerged and the Thieu regime thus felt more secure, the president might not feel it so necessary that his resignation outrank that of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front at the Paris talks.

MAJOR SHUFFLE
Huong submitted his resignation Thursday, but by Friday afternoon Thieu reportedly had not decided whether to accept it. The president was reported considering a major Cabinet reshuffle, including the foreign and information ministries.

The premier, who wields little political power under South Vietnam's constitution, was reported dissatisfied with the slow progress of his campaign against corruption and interference by the military in Cabinet affairs.

The real power is held by South Vietnam's president, but Huong, who has been in office less than six months, is widely respected and is the source of much of what popular support the government has.

Flies, Worms Made Flight

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet scientists today revealed the first living creatures to fly around the moon and back to earth were a pair of turtles and a number of wine flies and meal worms.

They were all aboard the Soviet moon shot Zond 5 which landed in the Indian Ocean Sept. 21 after a week-long flight.

They arrived back in a Soviet laboratory in good condition, moving about in their containers and with good appetites, a report by four scientists in the Communist party newspaper Pravda said.

They lost some weight, returning home 10 per cent lighter. Blood analysis showed no substantial difference from a group of stay-at-home turtles used as a test control.

The scientists reported a checkup 21 days after the turtles' return showed "an excessive content of glycogen and iron in their liver tissue (and) the complex of flight factors had also exerted a certain influence on the structure of the spleen."

NIXON CONTACTS SOVIET LEADERS

'Strides Toward Peace'

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon expressed to the leaders of the Soviet Union today the expectation that "great strides can be taken in the years just ahead" toward genuine peace and security.

Nixon made that statement in a telegram to Nikolai V. Podgorny, chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet. It was in response to a telegram of congratulations from the Soviet leader.

The Nixon message was dispatched Thursday and made public today.

SOVIET TRIPS
Nixon said he remembered with pleasure past trips to the Soviet Union and the friendship he found to exist between the Russian and American people.

"I join you in the hope that this friendship can be preserved and further strengthened," Nixon said. "It is now more essential than ever that our two peoples work together in a spirit of mutual respect and with a recognition of the special responsibilities we share for the peace of the world."

Nixon added: "I am sure great strides can be taken in the years just ahead toward the genuine peace and security that people everywhere yearn for."

During his campaign, Nixon advocated a series of summit meetings between the United States and the Soviet Union, but Ronald L. Ziegler, spokesman for the president-elect, said the telegram to Podgorny was not related to that suggestion.

Podgorny had wired Nixon that "we would like to hope that the forthcoming period will be marked with a further development of relations between the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. in the interest of the Soviet and American peoples, in the interests of strengthening peace through our world."

Nixon's announcement of his message to the Soviet leader came a day after he disclosed that President Johnson had agreed to take no foreign policy initiative without Nixon's concurrence. Nixon is sending a veteran diplomatic troubleshooter to the State Department to be his voice during the interim between outgoing and incoming administrations.

Nixon said that retired diplomat, Robert D. Murphy, will oversee foreign policy matters during the period of government transition in an agreement by which Johnson will consult with his Republican successor before acting abroad.

Murphy will take his new post as soon as possible, perhaps within the next few days.

Nixon was not explicit on the question of what will happen if he and Johnson differ on some foreign policy undertaking, between now and the inauguration Jan. 20. He disclaimed any veto power over policies of the Democratic administration. But he made clear that he expects nothing to happen over his objection.

NO DISAGREEMENT
Nixon said that in Vietnam policy, there is no disagreement between the incoming and outgoing presidents on "broad general policy outlines."

He added at a Thursday news conference: "I think President Johnson is keenly aware of the fact that it would be very difficult for him to make any kind of an agreement on a major policy matter unless he could give assurance to the parties on the other side that it would be implemented and respected by the next president."

DMZ VIOLATIONS Labels Charges 'Smoke Screen'

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam said today American charges of violations of the demilitarized zone are a "smoke screen intended to camouflage the intensification of the American aggressive war in South Vietnam and illegal American reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam."

UNCONDITIONAL
Nguyen Thanh Le, chief spokesman of Hanoi's delegation at the Paris peace talks, told a news conference that, in any case, the United States halted the bombing of North Vietnam "unconditionally" and therefore had no cause "to make a great fuss over the alleged bombardment from the demilitarized zone."

Le referred to a statement issued by the State Department Wednesday which said the United States takes "a serious view" of verified instances in which North Vietnamese artillery fired on allied forces in South Vietnam from positions inside the demilitarized zone since Nov. 9.

The U.S. government has avoided any assertion that North Vietnam accepted formal commitments in return for President Johnson's Oct. 31 bombing halt. Nonetheless, in the American view Hanoi tacitly acknowledged an understanding to respect the demilitarized zone and refrain from indiscriminate attacks on major South Vietnamese cities.

Le called his news conference mainly to read a long statement assailing the Saigon government for its refusal to come to the peace talks as long as the Viet Cong's National Liberation front was represented by an independent delegation.

He reiterated that Hanoi holds the United States alone responsible for the failure to get the talks under way and declared: "The Saigon puppet regime owes its creation and its existence to the neocolonialists of the United States. It lives under American protection and thanks to American dollars. It wants to prolong its own existence and fill its own pockets. That is why it continues to issue grotesque declarations and terrorizes and oppresses the population of Saigon and other areas of South Vietnam temporarily under its control."

REFUSAL

The American refusal to start talks with the Hanoi and NLF delegations in the absence of a South Vietnamese delegation "proves the obstinate, perfidious, two-faced and warlike attitude of the United States," he added.

Reagan Protests Closing Classes, Strikers Laud It

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco State College classes were closed for a second day today despite the protest of Gov. Ronald Reagan, but to the satisfaction of black student union strikers whose signs proclaimed: "We Shut It Down."

"I can't predict when it's going to open at this point," Theodore Meriam, chairman of the State College trustees, said in a news conference late Thursday.

The shutdown followed violence on the campus Wednesday when several hundred of the schools 18,000 students hurled rocks and cans at 30 members of the city police's tactical squad.

No one was injured seriously, but eight persons were arrested—seven of them charged with felonious assault on policemen. Triggering the disturbances was the 30-day suspension of George Murray, a part-time

English instructor and graduate student. Murray, a member of the Black Panthers, told fellow Negro students to carry guns on campus.

Reagan said closing the school was "an unprecedented act of irresponsibility."

He assailed it as "an act of capitulation—surrender, if you will—to a small, unrepresentative faction of faculty and student militants determined to substitute violence and coercion for orderly grievance procedures available to all."

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, a Democrat, sent Reagan a telegram urging him to reopen the college and describing the shutdown as "a triumph for anarchy."

Republican state Sen. James E. Whetmore called on Reagan to send in the National Guard to get classes going smoothly and to fire faculty members who refuse to resume work.

LAST NIGHT Up To An Inch Falls On County

Rains, which began falling early Friday morning, dumped from half an inch to an inch on all parts of Howard County for the heaviest precipitation in two months.

Places reporting an inch were parts of Big Spring, Vincent, Lomax, and the area northeast of Coahoma. The rain fell without wind and was accompanied by some thunder.

It brought a general halt to cotton stripping over the county, but most of the gins utilized the interval Friday to catch up on cotton already on hand in their yards.

It was not believed that the rains would cause important grade damage to the cotton, although some felt mild spotting might ensue. Bright sunshine replaced the clouds at dawn.

Texas Electric Service Co. switch station had .65 inch. This compared with the U.S. Experiment Station, about a mile northwest of the switch station, where .60 inch was measured.

Other TESCO rain reports showed Eskota .78; Sweetwater 1.69; Chalk .60; and Morgan Creek .53.

Elbow reported .80 inch rain; Coahoma had .70 in town, but an inch was gauged on the Noble Reed ranch northeast of Coahoma.

Forsah had .60; Luther .60; and Fairview .60. Only a shower fell at Knott. Vealmoor had about half an inch.

High temperature here Thursday was 75 degrees. Low was 45 degrees.

Pickle Named To Board

Joe Pickle, managing editor of The Herald and a leading layman in the First Baptist Church here, has been named to the board of directors of the Baptist Standard, state publication of Texas Baptists.

His election came at the annual session of the Baptist General Convention of Texas in Fort Worth Thursday. Nomination previously had been submitted for election by delegates.

The Baptist Standard is one of the largest denominational publications in the country. It is published weekly in Dallas.

Lake Level Up

Half an inch of rain raised the Lake J. B. Thomas level by only about that much Thursday night. The Colorado River Municipal Water District reported an elevation of 2233.28 Friday morning, a gain of .03 of a foot, or about 100 acre-feet. The rainfall measured .60 at the dam and .50 at the Big Spring-Odessa intake, four miles west of the dam. Morgan Creek station, between the lake and Big Spring, gauged .70 of an inch.

United Fund Inches Up

United Fund clean-up workers inched the campaign here to $7,121.29 this week, or 89 per cent of the $109,225 goal.

Big Spring State Hospital had 100 per cent participation from every employe and patient, and increases over 1967 contributions were given by Montgomery Ward Co. and Merchants Fast Motor Freight employes.

Moon Trip Sounds Easy--Not Simple

Scores of Air Force members and other people interested in aerospace developments got a closeup Thursday evening on how the United States soon will send three men around the moon and next year land two on it.

They listened and watched for 2 1/2 hours at Withycombe Hall as four experts talked about various programs leading up to and dealing with the space program. They made it sound easy—but not simple.

Commissioners Okay Most Of County Vote

After the controversy of the commissioners races in Precincts 1 and 3 was settled Wednesday, Howard County commissioners, acting as the official canvassing board for the Nov. 5 general election, certified the remainder of the election returns.

Final standings of the Howard County vote were: President — Hubert Humphrey, 3,897; Richard Nixon, 3,805; George Wallace, 2,789; U.S. Congressman — Omar Burleson, 7,100; Governor — Preston Smith, 6,213; Paul Eggers, 3,901; Lt. Governor — Ben Barnes, 7,358; Doug National Aerospace Administration; Don Wade, NASA chief of flight load section; and Lt. Col. Calvin Chapman, supervisor of the primary phase of the USAF School of Aerospace Medicine.

Delegations from area points, including Colorado City, Lamesa, Midland and Odessa were in the audience.

TOUGH COURSE
Maj. Kutyna described the experimental (test) and research pilot training program, one so exacting that about a third of the class members have either their masters or Ph.D. degrees. The curriculum is tough and fast; for instance, the calculus section consists of a two hour test the very first day of the school — and "if you bust you're out."

Dana, who has flown the X-15 to a height of 67 miles and at 4,500 mph, showed how these flights aided in pinpointing such space problems as weightlessness. He also explained and showed pictures about the lifting bodies which some day, because of maneuverability, may replace the command capsules on space vehicles.

Amazing pictures of the Apollo crew in flight, together with pictures of the earth (one which pinpointed Webb AFB and the auxiliary landing strip at Colorado City) were projected for Wade's discussion. Still pictures showed the entire Mississippi basin and the Ganges basin, as well as the Himalaya chain and the Andes mountains. Movies also showed astronauts handing a pencil by a simple tap that floated it across the cabin.

Col. Chapman touched on numerous space problems which cast man in an odd environment. Exercise becomes important to prevent physical deterioration, he said. He touched on a wide variety of subjects from radiation (which may be one of the biggest of all space bugaboos) to personal sanitation.

Both he and Wade had films and slides showing how the command capsule (a cone-shaped affair), service center (a cylindrical unit) and the lunar landing module (an odd device resembling a concrete mixer with legs below and a hopper on top) will escape earth's gravity. There it will proceed around the moon while two men crawl in the lunar module, separate and set down on the moon's surface for 18 hours.

Later they will blast off, rejoin the service and command units, jettison the lunar and service modules and send the command capsule streaking back to earth.

One of the many out-of-town guests present was Sam Keith, of General Dynamics in Fort Worth. Keith, president of the Texas AFA, said that there are over 94,000 AFA members in the United States today. Texas, he said, is second to California in total membership.

Earlier in the day approximately 60 guests from neighboring communities toured Webb's pilot training wing. The group, hopefully future members of the AFA, saw such base facilities as the mobile control unit, the computer section, base supply and static displays of the Webb aircraft as well as witnessing a fire suppression demonstration by the base fire department.

DRAFT REVISION EFFORTS OUTLINED Wants All-Volunteer Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — A moderate Republican senator plans early in the new Congress to revive efforts to replace the draft with an all-volunteer Army—a move that would implement a Nixon campaign proposal.

Oregon's Mark O. Hatfield said Wednesday he hopes beforehand to iron out with President-elect Nixon their major difference on the proposal—the matter of timing.

WHY WAIT?
Hatfield said in an interview his bill will call for a prompt start on the changeover. Nixon proposed to wait until the end of the Vietnam war.

Other congressional sources, however, predict the proposal will run into the same stiff opposition it has encountered in the past in the powerful armed services committees of both houses of Congress.

"Compulsory conscription is repugnant, short of a true national emergency, to a country that purports to have democratic institutions," Hatfield said.

Hatfield plays down the controversies over methods of selection, deferments, age order of induction and conscientious objections. Such discussions, he said, camouflage "the most basic inequity of the current draft system—the fact that a smaller and smaller minority of young men is carrying the burden of national defense."

The bill he plans to submit would provide for a transition period in going from the draft to an all-volunteer system.

It calls for higher military salaries, expansion of in-service education and training, greater opportunities for enlisted men to become officers, reduction in the length of time required before promotion, better social, cultural and recreational facilities for personnel, and higher bonuses for re-enlistment.

Overhaul Of Presidential Election System Tangled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The move to overhaul the presidential election system has picked up the support of two more senators, but their differing ideas on how to do it underscore what may be a major obstacle to reform.

TEXANS IDEA
Republican Strom Thurmond of South Carolina said Thursday he could support either of two previously suggested proposals while Democrat Ralph Yarborough of Texas came out with still another.

Thurmond is a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee's constitutional amendments subcommittee.

The subcommittee plans hearings next week on proposals to change the electoral system. Chairman Birch Bayh, D-Ind., called the hearings after Richard M. Nixon's razor-thin victory narrowly averted deadlocking the Electoral College and throwing the election into the House.

Thurmond said he thinks a constitutional amendment dividing a state's electoral college votes in proportion to its population vote stands a chance if Nixon pushes it.

The South Carolina Republican said he is in favor of abandoning the present winner-take-all system which enables a presidential candidate to walk off with a state's entire electoral vote no matter how small his popular-vote margin.

EXAMPLE
Thurmond advocated either the proportional plan Nixon endorsed during his campaign or one long-backed by Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., under which each state would choose two electors at large and the rest by districts corresponding roughly to congressional districts.

While declaring either plan would suit him, Thurmond told a reporter he thinks that dividing each state's electoral votes among the candidates in proportion to their popular vote would provide the truest reflection of the will of the people.

Yarborough told a news-conference Thursday that he would propose a constitutional amendment retaining the present electoral college system but revising the method of electing a president if no candidate gets a majority of the electoral votes.

Gypsies Waiting 'For A Miracle'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — "We just wait and pray. We're waiting for a miracle."

That is the way about 150 gypsies from throughout the nation describe their vigil at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital.

The gypsies, all members of the Mitchell Clan, converged on the hospital last Friday after one of their number, Mark Mitchell, 40, of Savannah, Ga., underwent surgery for removal of a kidney.

The hospital said late Thursday Mitchell was in "very poor" condition. It did not elaborate.

However, his kinsmen said he developed a blood clot in the brain about 12 hours after the surgery which was performed by Dr. Denton A. Cooley, famed heart transplant surgeon.

"It is tradition that those who are closest come when it is a matter of life and death," said Miller Mitchell of Laurel, Miss., a spokesman for the group. "We are prepared to stay a week, a month, whatever is necessary."

The visitors stay in nearby motels and go back and forth to the hospital, keeping about 20 in the hospital lobby at all times.

In the group were the patient's wife, Ann, and their three children.

The men wore black, pointed shoes. The children were mostly barefooted. The men talked in low tones. The women said nothing.

One of the Mitchells said the clan had paid $3,000, half to go to St. Luke's and the other half to Dr. Cooley.

"RAKED IT UP" "We raked it up among us," he said.

"Dr. Cooley stood behind us," said another. "He said to take care of the hospital first. He even indicated that he would work free if necessary. If Mark dies, there is a chance he'll give us a refund."

Apparently the only complaint the hospital has is that the vigil crowds the lobby.

Occasionally a policeman speaks to one of the men. The men move out of the lobby through the front door. The women stay seated.

Yippie Leader Warrant Out

CHICAGO (AP) — Arrest warrants were issued Thursday for two men, including a leader of the Youth International Party, after both failed to appear in court on charges stemming from disturbances during the Democratic National Convention.

Judge Joseph A. Power of Circuit Court issued the warrants for Yippie leader Jerry Rubin, 30, of New York City and Benjamin Ortiz, 20, of Camden, N.J. Judge Power also raised their bonds.

Four persons were indicted by a grand jury for roles in the disturbances. One of the four appeared in court Thursday. David Lee Edmundson, 18, of Birmingham, Ala., pleaded innocent to a charge of aggravated battery.

The identity of the fourth man indicted is not known. Named was Douglas Cox, 18, of Des Moines, Iowa, but authorities established that someone had given his name falsely when arrested at Balbo Drive and Michigan Avenue on Aug. 28.

Rubin was indicted on charges of solicitation to commit mob action. He had been free on $25,000 bond. Power upped it to $50,000.

Texas Baptists Postpone Government Funds Action

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Action has been postponed on whether to accept government funds for building Baptist institutions.

A Mineral Wells man, Rufus Sprayberry, recommended at a late session of the Baptist General Convention of Texas (BGCT) — which ended Thursday — that federal funds be accepted only at higher than normal interest rates. Such a method, Sprayberry said, would avoid charges that the Baptists accepted federal subsidies.

A similar proposal was presented in the Carden report, a work encompassing all aspects of Texas Baptist schools. The report is under a year's study.

The group approved all recommendations suggested by the Committee of 100 with the exception of one proposal that would have created an office to help churches find pastors.

The Committee of 100, charged with examining all policies and activities of Baptist boards and agencies, completed its 2-year tenure.

Discussion over the wording of a Christian Life proposal on youth occupied a sizable segment of the morning business session. The proposal asks Baptists to refrain "from judging young people on such irrelevant grounds as hair styles and clothes fashions."

Jake Fetzer of San Antonio objected that hair and clothes are "very relevant" since the body should glorify God.

Travis Holland of Arcadia said churches should support school principals in their enforcement of hair styles and dress.

The recommendation finally was modified to read that one should not judge young people "only on such grounds" as hair styles and clothing.

Other Christian Life Commission recommendations dealing with race, new concern for narcotics users, birth control and in evangelism, passed with no debate.

"MARY JANE" A Corsicana physician, Dr. Robert Boone, addressed the group on widespread misinformation about marijuana. He cautioned the group not to be misled by the theory that marijuana is harmless, stating that growing medical evidence has shown that chronic use of marijuana has resulted in organic deterioration and serious reaction.

A call for Baptists to show new "compassion, humility and meekness" in dealing with youth addicts as well as other non-conformists was made by Dr. Herbert Howard, pastor of Park Cities Baptist Church in Dallas.

Dr. James McCain, president of Kansas State University said Thursday that Landon "is the newest member of our faculty in political science" and will give a series of lectures.

Landon, a former Kansas governor, was the Republican presidential candidate in 1936.

The bidding:
West North East South
Pass 1NT Pass 3♥
Pass 4♥ Pass Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♠
It was necessary for declarer to manage his resources with great care in today's hand against a pair of defenders who leveled a full scale assault against his trump holding.

South's jump to three hearts over North's opening bid of one no trump is technically one point shy of the book requirements which specifies ten high card points. Possession of two five card suits as well as an abundance of intermediate spot cards, however, provides a comfortable degree of compensation. Holding ample trump support and a doubleton, North naturally proceeded to four hearts.

West opened the jack of spades and was permitted to hold the trick. The suit was continued and declarer ruffed in his hand. The queen of clubs was led for a finesse, losing to East's king. The ace of spades forced South to ruff again — reducing him to three trumps.

A heart was now led and, when West followed with the ten, the ace was played from the North hand. The ace of clubs was cashed and then a small heart was returned and declarer's nine was successfully finessed — as West showed out. South was quite willing to lose this trick for, if West turned up with the queen of hearts, it would assure a three-two split in trumps, and declarer would be able to claim the balance of the tricks and his contract.

When West showed out on the second round of hearts, South was obliged to proceed cautiously inasmuch as he was down to one trump in each hand while East had two left. The jack of clubs was led which East ruffed; however, this turned out to be the last trick for the defense. The heart return was taken by declarer and he proceeded to ruff the established club suit plus the top diamond honors.

She said the bulbs need not be fertilized when planted but should be watered frequently. They should have good drainage and be six inches apart.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For those who need candles in an emergency when the lights go out...

Do try my method! I filled a water glass with salt and stuck a candle down in the middle of it.

It not only proved attractive but practical... Katherine Kurtz

Wow! This is the greatest! The candle really does hold in the deep glass filled with salt!

The wax (which drips) falls onto the salt and stays there. No messy substance or awful drippy, wax spilling on the table.

Now here's a little dilly which I practiced on that actually works.

You gals get out some of those pretty glasses and pour three or four inches of salt in them. Put three or four drops of food coloring in the salt and stir with a spoon. The salt will become colored to match your decor. Then stick your candles in 'em!

BE SURE that the salt is at least deep enough (three to four inches) to take care of the height of your candles so they won't fall over.

Especially good for parties on the patio or at anytime you want a different centerpiece.

This is about the prettiest centerpiece I have ever made. You don't need expensive candelabra!

And even if you have them and can afford the best... this is different!

Line the glasses (any shape, size or color) down the center of your table — candles all in a row just like "Mary's" garden was supposed to grow... with cackle shells, etc.

Listen to the compliments! No drips on the tablecloth, no candelabra to clean later. And our thanks to Katherine who took time to write and share this idea for an emergency.

And any of you who have problems, ideas... or just want to get something off your mind, write to me in care of this paper. Letters do not have to be signed. Always... Heloise

Dear Heloise: Here's an easy way to cut those smooth candy-coated pills in half:

Simply make a little "nest" in the cotton ball from the pill bottle, place the pill in the nest and cut with a sharp knife. The pill won't slip away from you!... A Nurse

Dear Heloise: I cut a small "cooking measure" table out of an old cookbook and pasted it on the front of my recipe box.

Sure comes in handy when I'm in a hurry... Mel

Dear Heloise: Being the mother of seven children, I am always looking for easy cleaning methods.

So I wondered if a rubber eraser would remove pencil marks on sheetrock walls. Having plenty of stub pencils with good erasers to experiment with, I went to work in the hallway.

When I finished, I vacuumed up the eraser shavings and went over the walls with a light detergent and water on a rag. It turned out clean as can be.

It sure beats a new paint job which is usually the alternative after heavy scrubbing with strong detergents... Margaret Voelkel

Dear Heloise: I used crushed cheese crackers as a topping for my macaroni and creamed asseroles. You get the cheese flavor without using the cheese. Less expensive, too... Jane P.

Dear Heloise: When your bottle of window cleaner gets low and the pump won't draw the cleaner out of the bottle, attach a plastic straw to the bottom stem of the pump to lengthen it. Then it will draw out every drop... Shelly (age 10)

GOP GAIN IN CALIFORNIA SIGNIFICANT

Legislative Elections Look

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican gain of three seats in the California State Assembly had the most national significance of the changes made in state legislatures by the November elections.

Across the country, Republicans gained a net 40 or so seats, over their pre-election holdings—a far cry from the 700 they picked up in 1966.

GRAB CONTROL

But the victories in California gave Republicans control of the state's lower house, making the Democrats' struggle for a comeback in the nation's most populous state more difficult.

Conservative GOP Gov. Ronald Reagan was repeatedly stymied during his first two years in office by the Assembly and its Democratic speaker, Jess M. Unruh.

Unruh, a potential rival in the 1970 gubernatorial election, will be reduced to Assembly minority leader.

How well he can combat Reagan from that position could partly determine how the governor's race goes in 1970—and what bases the Democrats will have for recapturing California in the 1972 presidential campaign.

The state's 40 electoral votes provided Richard M. Nixon his margin of victory this year.

Besides the California Assembly, Republicans took over the lower houses in New York and Nevada and the senates in Indiana, Iowa and Delaware.

TENNESSEE

Democrats won the lower houses in Michigan, Pennsylvania and Alaska.

Republicans also have a shot at the Tennessee House, where voters elected 40 Democrats, 40 Republicans and one independent who says he has voted all his life for Republican president.

EXCHANGED SPY NARRATES FILM

MOSCOW (AP) — Col. Rudolf Abel, imprisoned Soviet spy who was exchanged in 1962 for the downed U2 pilot Gary Powers, appears as the narrator in a new Russian movie called "The Dead Season," the news agency Tass reported Thursday.

The story deals with a man hunt for a former German Nazi scientist working on a "monstrous" chemical weapon in an unidentified Western country after World War II.

had lost in the Lyndon Johnson landslide of 1964.

But the GOP's assembly victory in Nevada broke 40 years of Democratic control over that legislative body.

The Michigan House changed hands for the third straight election. Reapportionment and the Johnson landslide in 1964 had broken 30 years of GOP rule and given the Democrats a near 2-to-1 edge. They lost the House narrowly in 1966 but regained it by four seats this time.

Republicans now hold both houses of the legislature in 21 states. Democrats have 20, control is divided in seven. Nebraska has a nonpartisan one-house legislature and Tennessee awaits the vote of the independent.

Astro Has Flu

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Astronaut Walter Cunningham, who suffered from a head cold during the flight of Apollo 7, said Thursday he now has influenza.

He and Apollo 7 crewmates Walter Schirra Jr. and Donn Eisele were in town for a meeting of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

With official vote canvasses and scattered recounts pending, a precise count of winners is not yet available. But Democrats apparently will have a margin of nearly 1,000 seats in the nation's 7,600 legislative districts. Much of this edge is built in the Deep South, where some chambers have no Republicans.

Seven states held no legislative elections this month and in many states, only half the seats were on the ballot. Republicans made gains in 38 chambers, Democrats in 31.

In some states where overt party control did not switch, shifts in membership could still bring political change.

In Massachusetts, for example, Republican Gov. John A. Volpe lost his veto-sustaining power when his party slipped to less than one-third of the membership in each house.

The situation is reversed in Kansas, where Democratic Gov. Robert Docking no longer has enough Democratic legislators to sustain his vetoes.

CHANGED HANDS

In the Indiana and Iowa senates, where Democrats lost half their delegations and control, Republicans were simply regaining the four-year seats they

House Seniority Changes Pressed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of liberal and moderate House Democrats may try to take some of the rigidity out of the seniority system before the new Congress convenes Jan. 3.

But the 140-member Democratic Study Group has no present plans to attempt a change in the House leadership of 75-year-old Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

MAJORITY

Many plans would give the Democratic caucus more say in committee assignments, which are now made by the Democratic Committee on Committees on the basis of seniority and almost always approved routinely by the House.

The Democratic Committee on Committees is composed of the 15 Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee, most of whom got on the powerful group through the seniority process. The committee members are chosen by the party caucus.

The DSG plans to meet to work out a program in advance of the Democratic Caucus, which goes into session just before the new Congress opens Jan. 3. The DSG holds a clear majority of the caucus, which is composed of the 243 House Democrats.

"The idea," a DSG member said, "is to get at least a start in the area of deciding advancement more on the basis of performance and ability instead of political longevity."

STRONGER VOICE

"In all probability, the senior member would qualify for advancement in most cases. When he doesn't, there should be a way for the majority of his party colleagues to bypass him." Some of the proposals suggested so far include:

- Allow the speaker to nominate committee chairmen, subject to approval by the party caucus.
- Require the caucus to select the chairmen, with the choice limited to the three senior committee members.
- Create a new Committee on Committees composed of one member from each state having at least one Democrat in the House. The Republicans now follow this procedure. Each member would have as many votes as there are Democratic members from his state.
- Retain the present setup, with each Democrat on the Ways and Means Committee casting as many votes as there are Democrats from his state, when it comes to making committee assignments. This would give larger states a stronger voice than at present.

U.S. Will Land Men On Moon, Astros Say

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The United States will land two men on the moon and then move on to other important space goals, the three Apollo 7 astronauts predicted Thursday.

Speaking to more than 500 newspaper executives at the Associated Press Managing Editors' annual convention, the three space veterans said the United States is ahead of Russia in the space race.

The APME convention concludes today with selection of new officers and a banquet allowing more discussions of ways to improve news coverage.

The astronauts, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., who commanded the Apollo 7 flight, Air Force Lt. Col. Donn F. Eisele and civilian Walter B. Cunningham, said American citizens—and the news media—must realize that the U.S. and Russia have different space goals.

A Devotional For The Day

The God of heaven, he will prosper us; therefore we his servants will arise and build. (Nehemiah 2:20)

PRAYER: O God, the creator of all that is good, Thou hast called us to work with Thee. Enable us to overcome our discouragements. May our eyes be lifted in hope to see a better future, and under the inspiration of that vision, may we live gladly and creatively in the present. We pray in the spirit of the Christ. Amen.

Legally Sound Basis

The Howard County Commissioners Court took a step Wednesday that opened the way to clarification of an obvious discrepancy in Precinct No. 1 and No. 3 returns in the absentee box. It certified the results but called attention to the fact that there is a discrepancy between the number of applications and the number of votes counted in these precincts.

Now that the returns have been officially canvassed and certified, they are proper subject to challenge through regular legal process. This is not only probably the best way, but quite likely it is the only legal way to proceed.

The problem is not one of inconsistency in certifying something that doesn't quite reconcile, but rather in insuring that ballots in the absentee box, if and when reopened, will still be legally sound.

Reduced to its elements, about the only way a ballot box or boxes can be re-entered is by court order. To open a box upon a simple agreement of parties would be to open it without legal sanction and therefore make it liable to a tampering charge. In such an event there would be a serious probability that the box would be thrown out, and thus deprive the 1,151 people who voted absentee of their votes. The same might well be true if the court were to order a recount upon an informal request of the absentee canvassing board chairman, for there is no clear statute authorizing this. The law may seem tedious concerning re-entry of ballot boxes, but properly so, and in the long run it is the best policy to track the law carefully. Nothing could be lost but a little time and perhaps some expense; otherwise, the voice of voters in a whole box could be lost.

Key Senator

The presidential election of Republican Richard Nixon shifts a strong spotlight on Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., Senate majority leader. The onetime mining engineer and history professor is now in the political position occupied by Lyndon Johnson, when the Democrats recaptured both houses of Congress in the 1954 midterm election in the first Eisenhower administration.

There are several counts against Mansfield making as much of the position as Johnson did. The Montana senator is older, milder, and less forceful in parliamentary politics. Furthermore, his teammate in the House, Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., is far from being a Sam Rayburn.

However, Sen. Mansfield has lost no time in serving notice that he expects the Democratic majority in Congress, and especially in the Senate, to have a strong hand in shaping the course of the Nixon administration.

Mansfield asserted that the Senate will insist on an influential role in the making of foreign policy. And to underline his point, he urged the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to get the nuclear nonproliferation treaty ready for floor action on ratification, possibly before Nixon's inauguration. Nixon has endorsed the treaty, but in the campaign urged delay in protest of Russia's invasion of Czechoslovakia.

In the domestic field, Sen. Mansfield declared that the Senate majority would go along with the Nixon administration in tightening up the Great Society welfare programs, but not in dismantling. Sen. Mansfield has become the main opposition figure in the federal government which Nixon will have to cooperate with to get a presidential program through Congress. And the path of the Democratic party also will depend substantially on what Mansfield does with his new power.

David Lawrence Carrying On Our Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON — The foreign policy "blend" of the outgoing and incoming administrations which started this week in Washington can produce a profound impression throughout the world. President-elect Nixon, after a luncheon with President Johnson at the White House, declared in effect, that he was determined to eliminate political partisanship and carry out foreign policies that were for the best interests of the United States.

THE WORLD was thus notified in unequivocal language that the transition period in American government should not be misconstrued as vacillation or weakness in maintaining the foreign policy of the United States. Mr. Nixon's exact words, in which he stated that present problems cannot await decision or afford a gap of two months, are worth repeating and noting all over the world. He said:

"IF, HOWEVER, action is to occur, if progress is to be made on matters like Vietnam, the current possible crisis in the Mideast, the relations between the United States and the Soviet Union with regard to certain outstanding matters — if progress is to be made in any of these fields, it can be made only if the parties on the other side realize that the current administration is setting forth policies that will be carried forward by the next administration."

This can be considered as a warning to doubting governments abroad that there will be no advantage in trying to embarrass the United States in the two-month period between now and inauguration day. For a method of joint discussion and even decision has been established.

THE VIETNAM issue is, of course, the most serious of all at the moment. Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford made a revealing statement on Tuesday when he pointed out that only at the last minute was the United States notified by South Vietnam that it wouldn't participate in the Paris talks. President Johnson's decision to go ahead anyway with the bombing halt was the only practical course to follow, and certainly should increase the influence of the American negotiators at the Paris conference.

BUT THERE are other problems, such as the NATO conference now being held at Brussels and the growing apprehension over the mobilization of the Soviet fleet in the Mediterranean, which may require some statements of policy. These will be received with far more respect since President-elect Nixon announced that he is in close communication with President Johnson and doubtless will participate in any final judgments which will be made at the White House.

Neither the Soviet Union nor the Communists in North Vietnam nor the allies of the Soviets in the Middle East are likely now to start a crisis on the theory that the United States will be powerless in the next two months to make any major decisions of foreign policy.

THERE IS ONE aspect of the transition on domestic affairs which is not going to be solved merely by trying to familiarize incoming officials with the work of the departments and agencies which they are to take over. When the head of a department or an agency indicates that he intends to resign, there is usually a decline in the efficiency of the organization.

It is unfortunate that the government is not operated with a set of permanent officers on the management side, so that policy-making officials alone would be changed under a new administration. Sooner or later, Congress will have to devise a civil-service plan whereby a general manager for each department will continue in office as a career official irrespective of the political party which is in power.

'BRIEFLY, DICK, THE COUNTRY'S IN LOUSY SHAPE'

John Cunniff International Trade Riddle

NEW YORK (AP) — A riddle with serious consequences for all exists in international trade. It exists partly because one nation's solution to economic problems frequently causes disruption in another.

The tangled affairs involve balances of payments, which are nothing more than the differences between a nation's receipts from abroad and bills owed abroad. It's sort of a checkbook balance.

The United States, for example, has an imbalance because it spends more overseas than it receives in return from foreign nations. American industries export more than they import, but military bills and foreign aid help tip the scales the wrong way.

IT SEEMS that the simplest solution for a nation with such an imbalance is to declare that it intends to spur exports to other countries and cut imports and spending until some of the money comes back.

That's exactly what several nations are doing now, but none will succeed if the other nations won't buy. The other nations might have the same idea.

The problem of these economies is the same as that of the individual who sees the bills piling up and decides he'll just have to work overtime to pay them off. But he's not going to succeed if the potential purchaser of his services is involved in a financial hold-down, trying to cut his own expenses.

This week the relationship of one economy to another seemed to be getting badly out of joint again, and the international monetary scene began to remind people of events just one year ago.

AT THAT time Britain was running consistently high bills abroad, the reason being that it was importing more than it was exporting. Just as any individual can, so can a nation pile up bills. But there's a day of reckoning.

For Britain that day came when few foreigners wanted to accept British pounds. They weren't worth $2.80, much of the world said. If we're to accept your pounds, they told Britain, you'll simply have to give us more of them.

Britain was forced to admit as much officially. It devalued the pound to $2.40, meaning that an exporter now gets more pounds for sales to Britain than was the case a year ago.

As a more permanent solution, Britain cut back its economy. It put clamps on domestic consumption so as to cut imports. And simultaneously it urged Britains to work harder so as to sell more goods abroad.

THE UNITED STATES also was confronted with a similar situation, but it did not need to devalue. Nevertheless, the country is in the midst now of what is expected to be a long campaign to spur exports and cut down on imports.

But now the problems. France was one of the nations that had demanded that Britain cut back. And France also was one of the most outspoken in demanding that the United States get its books in balance.

Now France has fallen on troubled days. Its workers got fed up with denying themselves so the nation could sell its expensive goods abroad. They demanded and received big pay increases, thus adding to the price of goods.

SINCE FRENCH products now cost more than a few months ago, French goods are going to be less acceptable to foreign buyers. Since French workers have money to spend, foreign nations will be exporting more to France.

France, therefore, joins the United States and Britain as three major nations greatly worried about running up bills abroad. Since they all have the same problem, trade with each other isn't going to be much help.

Hal Boyle Middle Age Rewards

NEW YORK (AP) — Soon after a man passes his 40th birthday he begins asking himself wryly, "When does the fun begin?"

He feels afflicted with antiquity and premature enfeeblement. Like most people, he tends to regard middle-age as a punishment or a plight rather than as a normal condition and part of a well-lived life.

BUT MIDDLE age, like any other period of existence, has its peculiar rewards as well as its perils.

"What rewards could middle age possibly offer?" asks the skeptic.

Well, for example: Your feet feel so much better when you take your shoes off at the end of the day.

Yawning becomes one of your favorite forms of exercise. It is no longer necessary for you to break your bones skiing or playing touch football.

YOUR WIFE has probably obligingly quit bearing infants and you don't have to subsidize a diaper laundry. You can use the money thus saved to get your teeth fixed.

By now you are pretty familiar with your digestive system.

To Your Good Health Suffers From Coughing And Choking

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband is 30, has not smoked for five years, is not overweight, does not have asthma or hay fever, and has had a TB X-ray every year for four years.

Since I've known him (nine years) he has had a coughing and spitting problem. It's a loud, raspy choking cough and thick green sputum. This occurs every 10 or 15 minutes. He has continuous sore throats and one cold after another.

One doctor treated him for strep throat and gave him penicillin shots that were so painful that his arm was stiff and bruised afterward. He has no desire to see this doctor again.

But he is up quite a bit at night, coughing and spitting, works in an office and does no heavy work, but is so exhausted that he falls asleep around 8:30 watching TV.

I gave up smoking, too, a year ago, but that hasn't helped. It's sad to see him suffer like this. What do you think he has? — Mrs. I. D.

My opinion? I don't believe in making a diagnosis by mail, but your description sounds very much like bronchiectasis. In any event, the cough, green sputum, and exhaustion all point to a chronic lung infection. Bronchiectasis is a defect in the bronchial tubes featured by a puddling of secretions (phlegm, etc.) in small cavities in the bronchial area, cough, and often bloody sputum. While it occurs more often in older persons, it can attack young ones, too.

Ordinary chest X-rays (as for TB) may give no clue to the condition or may show a non-descript haziness in the lung fields.

Your husband should have a bronchoscopic examination and probably a bronchogram — the latter is a special form of X-ray which can reveal defects such as bronchiectasis.

If my "iffy" suggestion of bronchiectasis is wrong, at least the examination will give some reliable information as to what is wrong.

If it is bronchiectasis, antibiotics should be used, but they do not have to be penicillin injections. Lasting cure is obtained by removing the diseased segment of the bronchial tubes.

If your husband won't go back to the doctor whose penicillin shots hurt, he can go to another, but he mustn't let things go on the way they are. You live in an area where ample diagnostic facilities are available. His best choice might be to see a lung specialist. There are liquefying medications which will loosen the phlegm.

Dear Dr. Molner: How serious is a gallstone operation? How long can you wait to have it? I have had two bad attacks and my doctor says I have to have the operation. He claims it is better to have it now instead of waiting until I am too sick. I feel fine right now. I'm on a 1,000-calorie diet, no fats. However, I'm deathly afraid of an operation and would like to go to see a specialist. What do you think? So many people say gall stones can be dissolved. — Mrs. L. R. C.

By all means see a specialist if it will set your mind at ease — but when a gall bladder acts up repeatedly, it is pretty close to certain that it will again, and worse. The specialist will doubtless say exactly the same thing your doctor did.

Around The Rim

Something About Ralph

Nixon was elected 10 days ago and what has he done for us so far?

I can almost hear Ike saying, "Thank goodness the election's over. Now maybe Nixon will quit dropping in and let me read these Westers."

I GUESS it is no longer necessary to answer the question, "Will the nation reach the age of Huberty?"

We've had LBJ, JFK, Ike, HST and FDR in succession. Maybe Nixon is a short enough name that Paste-Pot men will use it for a change.

If we use RN as the abbreviation for our president-elect's name in the headlines it may be interpreted as an ad for medicare and the Christian Scientists will ask for equal time.

A VATICAN newspaper says Mrs. Onassis is "a public sinner."

The first stone has been cast.

Someone — I forget who — wrote in to ask:

"Why all the uproar over Mrs. Kennedy's remarriage? She married a good Irishman — O'Nassis."

I won't say the new man in the office is dumb but he asked me the other day to show him how the wastebasket works.

My bright cousin, Dr. George Ladd, Muskogee, Okla., writes:

"WHEN BEETHOVEN wrote his most famous sonata, he was moonlighting."

The good doctor also reported the first appendix transplant.

"Hello! Is this the welfare department?"

"Yes, what can I do for you?"

"I need a new crib for my baby."

"What's he sleeping in now?"

"The box my color TV came in."

GEORGE E. Norvell, former mayor of Tulsa, dug up a tale to end all tales the other day. So let's turn the space over to George for a few seconds.

"Did I tell you about Ralph?" he asked.

"Ralph wasn't much of a fighter or competitor so he decided he would open a candy store. All was well for a week or two, and then thugs came in, beat him up, robbed the till, broke all the cases and scattered the candy all about."

"He restocked."

"About three weeks later, the same thing: zop, beat-up, crash, zing, till robbed."

"THE THIRD time, he decided the L with it and sold out, buying a farm."

"First year, flooded out, complete crop failure."

"Second year, he was plowing when a thunderstorm came up and zap! Lightning knocked him plumb off the tractor, burning the tractor tires."

"He went into town, bought new tires and started her again."

"Zap! Lightning came out of this one little cloud, knocking him completely off, singeing and charring his clothes."

"He looked up and asked, 'Lord, what have I done to deserve this?'"

"JUST THEN the clouds parted and a ray of sunshine came down accompanied by a deep, sonorous voice: "Nothing, Ralph. There's just something about you that I can't stand."

The other morning I kept polishing my glasses, which seemed to be foggy. It turned out my eyeballs were foggy.

Marquis Childs Financial Market Seeks Answers

NEW YORK — The great Nixon guessing game is being played in Wall Street as well as in Washington. The hints coming from those in the Nixon inner circle are no more than meager hints, since the President-elect is carrying on as he did in the campaign — cool, calm and collected.

No one really knows what his policies will be either at home or abroad. Nor can anyone be sure who will execute those policies. The best guess in the Street is that Richard M. Nixon concentrated so intensely on his campaign that his plans are still to be formulated. His prescriptions for the nation's ills in the campaign speeches were broad generalities.

BUT THE STREET, which figuratively at least includes the great banking houses and their investment affiliates, is pressing harder for clues than even Washington and the politicians. For Wall Street must find a place to invest the billions of profit that American business rolls up from month to month and year to year. The guessing turns on computerized projections of earnings and performance, on graphs and charts, and on analysis of tax trends and the men in Congress who will shape tax policy.

PROFIT MARGINS will be off in the first quarter of 1969. That is the projection of the computers. Therefore, the guess is for a mini-recession by, say, June of Nixon's first year in office. In the bearish view it could be a maxi-recession lasting only until Nixon's money men pull the levers of the New Economics and pump some blood into the lagging stream.

NIXON PROMISED tax reduction. He promised, too, to apply the brakes and check inflation. Does this mean holding the annual rate of price increase to three per cent as against the current rate of four per cent or more? And wouldn't that mean unemployment going from 3.7 per cent to five per cent or more? The increased load would be, by the rule-of-thumb of last hired first fired, in considerable part among Negroes where the rate has held at 10 per cent or higher. New and serious trouble in the core cities?

THE 10 PER CENT Federal income tax surcharge automatically expires on June 30 unless Congress acts to retain it. One hint out of the Nixon inner circle is that the new President will move to cut it to five or six per cent. But that comes up against the stout figure of Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee, which sets the pattern on taxes. Mills is for fiscal responsibility first, last and always.

And will President Nixon keep William McChesney Martin Jr. as Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System? Traditionally a new President can designate the chairman no matter how long the incumbent's term has to run. Martin has a year to go as chairman, with another year as a member of the board.

ANOTHER FISCAL responsibility man, Martin has let it be known he wants to retire. But would Nixon keep him on as a symbol valued by a sizable share of the financial community to show Nixon's intent of maintaining the strength of the dollar and checking inflation? Here is a personal equation that cannot be computerized.

One thing is certain beyond any doubt — the flood of money pouring into the stock market from pension funds and other institutional sources is creating new, upward pressures. Will economic performance in 1969 justify the rise in the market likely to grow out of these pressures?

ALL THIS IS nonpolitical, as clinical as a conference of doctors considering a difficult diagnosis. These are men who must back their guesses with bets on how the market will go. They cannot wait until Inauguration Day and after.

Holmes Alexander The Cult Of Perfection

WASHINGTON — Some while back there came a letter from Barry Goldwater in which he demurred at a compliment I had paid to Defense Secretary McNamara, Barry's bete noire. Goldwater conceded that McNamara might rank in history as a "budgetmaster" but would rate no higher than a numbskull in military statesmanship.

YES, BUT THE approach of a Nixon administration is a good time to remind ourselves that we owe much to the ink-fingered innovations and Executive Suite mentality which McNamara brought to the Pentagon. The military men there despised Mac the Knife as a morale-buster and dehumanizer, yet he was admired by the civilian administrators. It's fair to say without rancor that in a limited sense "dehumanization" was McNamara's most important product.

It was under McNamara and his whiz kids that the cult of perfection took root to the growing benefit of the defense establishment and the nation at large. Tolerance for the adages "To err is human," "Try, try again," and "Caveat emptor" went out the window. To replace them came such bureaucratic shorthand as VE (value engineering), QC (quality control) and the program called Zero Defects.

SIGNIFICANTLY the Zero Defects program originated from a private contractor, the Martin-Marietta Corporation, Orlando (Fla.) Division, which manufactures missile equipment. Two points are worth making as memos to Richard Nixon. First, the intolerance for human error came from industry itself, McNamara's alma mater broadly speaking. And second, industry in the McNamara years developed a new democratic communications system in which workers were encouraged (often by hot-line telephones in the shop) to make direct "error removal" suggestions to the management. This is so much in the spirit of Nixon's promises of an "open administration" that I commend it to his attention.

CONTRACTS DEVELOPED under McNamara's reign in the "industrial-military complex" were so exacting that industry had to institute self-improvement plans in self-protection. A Defense Department document, December, 1968, with its specifications marked "mandatory," reasserts the government's "option" to reject a company's inspection system, or changes therein. Another document, updated from the 1950's, goes into "quality assurance." It requires manufacturers and vendors to provide "objective evidence" and "reasonable proof" of their innocence of shoddy work. Vice Admiral Rickover, a friend to industry but a fierce perfectionist, became a holy terror during McNamara's reign. In an October, 1962, address to the National Metals Congress, Rickover tore into shoddy workmanship by exposing his long rejection rates on industrial products. AMARILLO FIRM OFFERS TO DO WORK FOR $18,600

Outlines Area Revaluation Proposal

A firm of Amarillo appraisers Thursday afternoon offered to make a revaluation of all rural real estate, along with all rural personal property for tax purposes for Howard County, Howard County Junior College, Big Spring Independent School District, and the Coahoma Independent School District. The firm, Great Plains Appraisal Company, submitted an offer of $18,600.

Walker said that he and another of his associates, Ray Carlton, would do the work in this county if their firm is chosen for the job. He said that with good weather, the task could be finished in five months. Much depends, he explained, on the availability of aerial photographs of the terrain involved. He said that each farm and ranch would be personally visited. All buildings would be measured and valued. All major machinery, livestock, and other personal property would be listed. The lands would be reclassified, he said, by the agencies who are paying for the revaluation.

The plan, he said, that his firm follows is to classify all houses into four groups — class 1, class 2, class 3 and class 4. The value placed on the building would be determined by its classification.

The same rule would apply to the lands. Four classes will be set up and valuations fixed by the worth of the property. He explained that a farm could have lands of all four classes. He said he understood there are 37 farms on which irrigation is pursued, involving about 2,000 acres of land. There are 119,000 acres of dry land farming terrain and 461,000 acres of range land.

The price tag to be put on the property, with consideration of its classification, would be established, he said, by the agencies who are paying for the revaluation.

It was pointed out by the adoption of this plan, the pegged value put on land and personal property could be left fixed and, if need arose for more money, tax rates could be raised and the basic values left undisturbed.

"I can start work on Nov. 25," Walker said.

Several firms have shown some interest in doing the work. Porter told the group. He said another Amarillo firm has submitted a synopsis of the work they would attempt and have suggested a meeting. It is possible they will be the ones interviewed next Thursday.

ZSA ZSA GABOR

Somebody Wants To Kill Zsa Zsa?

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard today said Zsa Zsa Gabor informed them "Somebody is out to kill me." Detectives are investigating.

A Scotland Yard spokesman said the Hungarian-born film player received an anonymous threat.

Miss Gabor, who recently bought a house in London, was reported hiding out with her housekeeper, her private secretary and her pet dogs.

Scotland Yard said no bodyguard had been assigned to Miss Gabor but inquiries were being made into the threat.

A high court judge ordered Miss Gabor to pay the equivalent of $132,840 she owes for two houses in London's fashionable Belgravia district. The owners of the houses claimed she made a down payment and took possession before purchasing formalities were concluded. The court was told the houses cost $147,600.

Burglars Hit Couple Firms

Two break-ins were reported to Big Spring police Thursday.

Julian Bell, 1404 Oriole, reported that his home had been broken into while he was on vacation. He said that $6 in old coins were taken.

A police patrol found McMahon Concrete Company, 605 Benton, broken into Thursday night. A small radio was reported missing. Both buildings were entered through a window.

NO DECISION

Walt Walker, one of the firm's partners, was here to outline the work that his firm would do for the agencies. He spoke to representatives of the county, the college and the two school districts at a meeting in the county commissioners' court room.

Lee Porter, county judge, with all four of the county commissioners; Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of the junior college; Sam Anderson, superintendent of the Big Spring schools; W. A. Wilson, superintendent of the Coahoma schools; Joe Moss and Jerry Currie, members of the school board; and John Coffey, member of the junior college board were among those present.

At the conclusion of the presentation, Walker was told that the offer would be considered. Later, it was suggested that other appraisal firms should be heard before a decision is reached. A meeting was set for next Thursday afternoon to hear another organization's offer.

TAX INCREASE

The revaluation of farm and ranch land and rural personal property is in accordance with a pledge made to the oil, gas and utilities companies that such a step would be taken in exchange for the companies' agreement to go along with a tax increase imposed on them last summer.

Novis W. Womack, county tax evaluator, had offered to do the job some weeks ago, but had to rescind his proposal. He was at the session Thursday and joined with Walker in

Nixon, LBJ Break Ground With Foreign Policy Move

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Richard M. Nixon are breaking historic new ground with their agreement for advance consultation on any major foreign policy moves before Nixon's Jan. 20 inauguration.

SMOOTH DEAL

They probably will have to decide as they go along exactly how the arrangement will work. Nixon's designation of veteran diplomat Robert D. Murphy as his personal representative in the foreign affairs field is expected to make the arrangement smooth and efficient.

Nixon told a news conference Monday, after a meeting with President Johnson, that the present administration can speak in the next two months on foreign affairs with the full authority of the incoming administration.

At a news conference in New York Thursday he said Johnson had agreed to consult him before making any significant moves.

But Nixon also said that for the United States to speak to other countries with a single voice it would be necessary for the President-elect to agree to a course of action.

MORE POWER

This seemed to indicate Nixon was reserving the right to withhold his agreement.

The White House was unexpectedly brief in its reaction to the Nixon statement. A spokesman said only the President's power had not been "diluted." This seemed to indicate the President was reserving the right to take any action he considers necessary.

Commenting on the prospect of disagreement, Nixon said he and Johnson "did not discuss that precisely."

One evident result of the agreement is to increase Johnson's effective power in the conduct of foreign relations during the next two months. Otherwise, he would be limited substantially to commitments that he could fulfill in the time remaining to him as president.

Another result which Nixon apparently hopes for may well be to speed up the Vietnamese peace negotiations as compared with the pace they would probably follow if there was no assured continuity of U.S. policy.

Nixon made clear in campaign speeches he considered settlement of the war—or at least de-Americanization of the conflict—a priority objective for the next administration.

REBUILD UNITY

His emphasis on seeking to rebuild unity in this country and on shifting the focus of foreign affairs from Asia to Europe suggests that if President Johnson does have a chance to conclude a peace settlement in the next two months Nixon will do everything he can to assist.

Nixon is represented as confident that President Johnson will not make a major foreign policy move which he does not approve.

At the White House, Press Secretary George Christian said in response to a direct question that "nothing has diluted presidential authority"—a statement of the constitutional fact that until the moment of Nixon's inauguration the full legal powers of the presidency can be exercised only by Johnson.

Christian reported that Nixon had informed Johnson by telephone in advance that he was designating Murphy to be his representative in the State Department. Christian added that Murphy "of course is well known to this administration."

State Department officials said that as a top ranking foreign service officer, ambassador and undersecretary of state until his retirement several years ago, Murphy would present no problem of security clearance and require no briefing on how the decision-making process and the administration of foreign affairs work.

* Your newspaper appreciates the spirit that prompts many of the objections to early Christmas shopping promotions.

* However, when the reasons for the urge to "Shop Early" are examined, the most critical agree it's MORE than a problem for stores alone.

* So we're happy to take this opportunity of presenting some of the problems that confront all stores at holiday time.

* Every successful store directs its best effort toward perfecting a helpful service to ALL its customers. And since many customers ask stores to make it easier for them to complete their gift shopping before the crowded post-Thanksgiving period, Christmas merchandise and displays are brought forward early to accommodate them.

* And scarcely a major store in the nation could cope with the store traffic that would be generated if any part of early Christmas shopping was postponed until after Thanksgiving. Even under present circumstances most stores are strained to capacity during the peak of the season, to maintain the kind of store service all shoppers have learned to expect.

* When you recall the extremely crowded conditions of stores the final two or three weeks before Christmas the problem becomes evident.

* If no early Christmas shopping were done this condition would be multiplied many fold. (Actually there would not be enough room behind store counters for enough sales people to serve shoppers during this period between Thanksgiving and Christmas.)

The same condition exists in regard to the children's visits to Santa Claus. Thousands of children and their parents, look forward to their annual visit with him, and unless he makes an early appearance, many hundreds would be doomed to disappointment simply because it's physically impossible to reach him in a shorter time.

* Those in the store business know that an extremely large percentage of the Christmas gifts that are selected are items that are in plentiful supply the entire year.

* If you were to ask the hundreds of retail employees—and as a group they represent one of the largest employe groups in Big Spring—they would tell you that much of the stress and strain of their Christmas would be relieved if the shopping public would anticipate Christmas shopping throughout the year. Then you'd seldom hear your friends in retailing remark, "I'm simply worn down to my knees by Christmas Eve."

* Granted that the problem is not a one-sided one, it should be recognized that stores are faced with the problems of convenient service to customers, of maintaining helpful employe relations, of providing a place where those of the public who cannot, or do not plan ahead may select the traditional gifts for their loved ones and friends.

* We are sure that if all of our storekeepers could chat with you, personally and informally, that you would be convinced of their sincerity, and that in the true spirit of Christmas, they would not be criticized for their efforts to perform a helpful service to their shopping public.

* Finally, for all these reasons, and for others which will occur to you, don't you agree that beginning Christmas shopping early makes its easier, faster and a whole lot more pleasurable for you?

* So do yourself and your favorite stores a favor . . . start shopping now . . . while selections are at their best . . . while you have plenty of time to compare before choosing . . . while sales personnel can give you the kind of service you prefer.

Expense Voucher Info Requested

AUSTIN (AP) — Republicans have been asked to submit in writing to the Travis County Grand Jury any information they have about possible illegal campaign contribution solicitations in the Texas Agriculture Department.

Dist. Atty. Bob Smith made the request in behalf of the grand jury in a letter to Lewis E. Berry Jr., Texas GOP research director and special counsel.

Smith said a deposition from a former Agriculture Department employe which the GOP had given to him and been turned over to the grand jury. "They have been informed of your request to appear with additional information," he said.

Because of the grand jury's "very heavy work load," it asked Berry to submit any additional information, as well as names of possible witnesses, in writing.

At a news conference Wednesday, the GOP said Agriculture Department employes had been pressured into making campaign contributions to agriculture Commissioner John C. White. Later, the GOP claimed, at least one worker was reimbursed by means of a bogus travel expense voucher. White denied the accusations.

Fewer Tube Monsters Expected This Fall

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Fewer "Saturday morning monsters" may be seen on television this fall, but riots, war and other violence will continue, says Roy Danish.

Danish, director of Television Information Service, said, "Television has an extremely important news function. It has become the most important source of news because it tells it all like it is."

The TV authority spoke before a Thursday session of the National Association of Broadcasters' fall conference.

"Saturday morning monsters are to be less evident this fall and may be gone altogether by next year" because of pressure put on the networks to delete violence.

But he said news coverage will not be changed because of its importance.

"Therefore, TV must and will report news as it happens, accepting always the special obligations to do so within the bounds of taste, and never to report more sensationally than the facts warrant," he said.

Danish said networks are unable to grapple with local issues in local terms, so the community broadcaster, "as a trustee of his community's public attention," can focus on the causes of violent anti-social attitudes and acts, local issues and programs which create hostility.

"There are increasing signs, fortunately, that the broadcaster is not alone in his struggle to make his community aware of the real causes of violence," he said.

"Business is becoming increasingly sensitive about both the opportunities implicit in active social participation in the community," Danish said.

"The more the station is involved with its community, the healthier will its position be," Danish said. "By understanding your involvement, you can help to build community support which means so much in the constant re-shaping and re-evaluation of your service to the community."

Dr. Affleck Will Christen His Namesake

Dr. Bert Affleck, pastor for McMurry College, will have the privilege Sunday of christening his nephew namesake.

In addition, he will speak at the morning worship of the First Methodist Church, where he served in 1958 as associate pastor.

Dr. Affleck has been invited by the Rev. Leo K. Gee, First Methodist minister, to christen the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Oakie Hagood — Kevin Bert Hagood. Mrs. Hagood is the former Rebecca Affleck.

Kevin's grandmother, Mrs. Bert Affleck Sr. also is a member of First Methodist.

After his graduation from McMurry, Dr. Affleck went to Perkins School of Theology at SMU where he won the Selectman Award for New Testament Greek. He was awarded a fellowship at Drew University in 1958-59 and it was from Drew that he earned his doctor of philosophy degree prior to his McMurry assignment. He served as pastor of the Anderson, N.J., Methodist Church while he was working on his doctorate.

We Struck It Rich! Oil!

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Imagine the delight of Bernard Weinsieder and his family when oil bubbled up through a crack in their backyard patio a few weeks ago.

Weinsieder's son Jules, 22, said, "We thought we had it made."

But so far it has cost more than $3,000, wrecked the family patio, driven some neighbors away, and landed them in court.

FIRST SIGN

The family followed the seepage to a storage cellar where they found a pool of crude oil. It turned out this came from a well drilled in 1911 and abandoned in 1924.

The first sign of disaster came when they called refiners to find out how much the oil was worth.

"They all said they were committed to certain companies, that we were independent operators and they couldn't buy from us," said Richard Weinsieder, 17-year-old son.

A petroleum geologist checked the well and said he doubted whether it would ever pay to try to make it productive again.

KEPT COMING

Weinsieder, the elder, a bread salesman, had to pay $2 a barrel to have the celer pumped out and 150 barrels of oil trucked away.

Then as the oil kept coming, the family paid $2,500 to a drilling company to dig a hole in the yard and find the well, a tenant moved out because of oil odors and gurgling sounds, a neighbor filed suit because her tenant also moved out, chunks of the patio broke loose because of underground pressures and the Weinsieders learned it would cost them $20,000 to cap the well properly.

DESERTED

The family also found out that the well was drilled and deserted by Associated Oil Co., which later became part of the Getty Oil Co. They hired an attorney who filed a $575,000 negligence

Oil Becomes A Nightmare

Mrs. Sally Weinsieder and sons, Jules and Richard, observe the "oil well" which unfortunately bubbled to the surface in their Los Angeles back yard recently. The Weinsieders at first thought they were lucky—but the seepage turned out to be from a long-abandoned well and they've had to pay to have the stuff hauled away. Meanwhile, the yard is a mess.

suit against the company.

"The oil company reaped the benefits from the oil well years ago," said Jerome Bezik, the lawyer. "Why should the Wein-sieder family, who purchased the home only two years ago, now have to suffer from the oil company's negligence?"

A Getty oil spokesman said:

"We were the corporate predecessor involved in that portion of the old Salt Lake Oil Field, but we've had no interest in the field for 44 years."

Will Not Turn Thanksgiving Over To Birds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Livestock and Meat Board questions whether turkey should be the main fare Thanksgiving day.

Turkey promotion during the Thanksgiving season includes the traditional gift of a fine bird to the White House and reminders of the legend that Pilgrims favored the wild turkey for the first Thanksgiving in the early 17th century.

But the meat board, dedicated to the promotion of red meat, wonders if the sturdy Pilgrims could have eaten roast beef and pork, too.

It is possible, said the Chicago-based board in a newsletter, that traditional accounts of the first Thanksgiving established turkey as the main course simply because the native American bird was new to the settlers.

"Stories of the first Thanksgiving simply may have neglected mentioning other foods on the menu, such as beef and pork," the board says.

The tongue-in-cheek statement said the livestock and meat industries are "not so married to tradition as to turn the holiday market over to the birds."

Counter promotion campaigns have been launched for Thanksgiving and Christmas proclaiming: "Pork, elegant for holiday dining," and, "Highlight the holidays with beef."

However, the board admits, there is no intention to put down turkey. Instead, it is in another American tradition to express "freedom of choice" when it comes to holiday dining.

Onassis And Wife Visit Princess

LONDON (AP) — Aristotle Onassis and his wife, the former Jacqueline Kennedy, arrived Thursday on a chartered jet and drove off to the London home of her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill.

Roman Catholic Bishops Arrive At A Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roman Catholic bishops are facing a showdown vote on a birth control compromise that calls use of contraceptives a sin but says married couples who break the ban won't be cut off from the church.

The proposed bishops' statement also questions the worth of the war in Vietnam and of draft exemptions for youths with a conscientious objection to a specific war.

STRUGGLE

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops, planning a final vote on its pastoral letter, finishes a five-day struggle over stands on artificial birth control and war.

The American bishops backed Pope Paul VI's ban on birth control, but said married couples who find it impossible to follow will not be excluded from communion and other church sacraments.

A key sentence in one version of the proposed pastoral letter reads:

"Conscientious Catholic couples, when overwhelmed by pressures, will not be discouraged if they have resorted to artificial contraception or otherwise fallen into sin; nor should they fail to take full advantage of the strength that comes from the sacraments."

PERSONAL

Another version said that married couples "should never be placated" if they resorted to artificial birth control but would still be open to the church's sacraments.

The Pope's encyclical continuing the church's long ban against contraceptives stirred world-wide controversy. French bishops voted last week to leave the questions to personal conscience.

The proposed pastoral letter said those dissenting priests who challenge the ban act with impropriety and bring the church into disrepute.

The bishops have refused repeatedly to intervene in response to the appeal of 40 priests punished by Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle of Washington for calling for a choice of conscience on birth control. In another controversial section the bishops were asked to take an increasing critical stance on the war in Vietnam and the draft.

HOW MUCH?

It called for selective conscientious objection for youths unable to fight in a specific war. The proposed statement asked whether the Vietnam war had reached the point of human cost where it was no longer worthwhile. "How much more of our resources in men and money should we commit to this struggle, assuming an acceptable cause or intention? Has the conflict in Vietnam provoked inhuman dimensions of suffering?" the proposal asked.

The bishops were also asked to back nuclear disarmament and challenge both the arms race and the U.S. decision to build a thin-line antiballistic missile system.

Baptists' River Ministry Presented In Programs

Two Big Spring Baptist churches will have programs concerning the ministry of their faith along the Texas-Mexico border Nov. 20 and 25.

The Rev. Elmin Howell, River Ministry coordinator of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will be the speaker for a gathering of men interested in learning about the evangelistic needs along the Rio Grande River. This special meeting, under the sponsorship of the Association of Brotherhood Organizations of the Big Spring Baptist Association, will be held at 8:45 p.m. Nov. 20, in East Fourth Baptist Church.

Howell will also be the speaker for the regular prayer service of the East Fourth Baptist Church at 7:45 p.m., states the Rev. Bryan Ross, area missionary of the Big Spring-San Angelo Baptist area. He is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University and George Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn. He is a former high school coach and A.A.U. basketball player. Howell has served in the First Baptist Church, Beaumont, as director of a program in Christian athletics and recreation. He did the same thing in the First Baptist Church, Shreveport, La., serving there for five years.

REV. RUDY HERNANDEZ

REV. ELMIN HOWELL

The Rev. Rudy Hernandez will outline the program to the Big Spring Baptist association at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 25, at the Baptist Temple. Rev. Hernandez, who is staff associate in the evangelism division of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will tell of evangelistic opportunities along the Rio Grande, said Rev. Ross. He also will report on what Texas Baptists are doing along the river. He has participated in many of the crusades, conferences and clinics in Texas as well as in Latin-American countries.

The worker's conference will be preceded by the executive board meeting and Woman's Missionary Union at 6:30 p.m.

Rev. Hernandez, a native of San Antonio, was left fatherless at age 10 months. When 11 he was converted and attended Howard Payne and Southwestern Baptist Seminary. From age 13 he preached and headed a mission when he was 15. He has held pastorates in Menard, Eden, Fort Worth and Galveston. He assisted in direction of the New Life Crusade in Texas in 1964, which resulted in 10,000 first-time professions of faith; also in the New Life crusade in Puerto Rico.

SUNDAY'S LESSON IS WALKING IN THE LIGHT AND FELLOWSHIP

For Sunday's lesson the background scripture is John 1:5-2:6; 3:1-10; John which was written about 95 A.D. The lesson teaches that walking in the light is the one and only responsibility of the Christian.

"If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie and do not the truth," John 1:6. In every age there have been mystics who claimed close fellowship with God but who were indifferent to morality. This divorce of religion and morals was and is devastating. With typical bluntness John declares they "lie and do not the truth."

If we are to have fellowship with God, we must act like Him. Godless living is a sign that God is not in the heart.

John, like Paul uses 'walk' as we would use 'live,' which is an Old Testament concept. For John the term walk included more than outward conduct; it took in one's attitudes as well as actions, thoughts and deeds.

"But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanseth us from sin," John 1:7.

Those who have fellowship with God manifest the fact by having fellowship with each other. As we draw near to God we draw near to each other. Together we find ourselves in the light of His presence, and there is no darkness between us and Him.

Walking in the light also brings us cleansing by the blood of Christ, and this cleansing is continual as long as we walk in the light. The cleansing is from all sin.

Monk Speaks To Methodists

Dr. Robert C. Monk, associate professor of religion and chairman of the religion department at McMurry College in Abilene, will be the Commitment Day speaker at Wesley Methodist Church Sunday.

His topic will be "The Creditability of Life" as he speaks on the matter of total stewardship of life.

Dr. Monk will be at the 10:55 a.m. worship. At the 7 p.m. service, lay witnesses, including Mike Craycraft and Lorayne Macklin, will give their testimony.

Dr. Monk is a graduate of Texas Tech and Perkins School of Theology with a BD degree in theology. He earned both his masters and his doctor of philosophy degrees from Princeton University in church history.

He also served as associate state director of the Texas Methodist Student work and was director of the Wesley Foundation at Texas A&M University.

Cotham LCC Fund Collector

Perry Cotham, 2903 Goliad, has been appointed as the Martin and Howard Counties representative for Lubbock Christian College's Project IV Advancement by the school's trustees and administration.

The project is the school's drive to raise $3,192,000 in the next three years which should enable it to advance from a junior college to a senior college with an enrollment of 1,200 students. At present 735 students are attending the school.

The funds, when raised, will help build new buildings, increase the number and salaries of faculty members and provide scholarship aid to worthy students.

Lubbock Christian College expects to graduate its first four-year class in May, 1972.

Film Exec Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Samuel J. Briskin, vice president of Columbia Pictures, died Thursday at the University of Los Angeles Medical Center. He was 71. Briskin was in charge of RKO studios for two years before World War II and formed Liberty Films, Inc., bought later by Paramount.

Lamesa Witness Meet Baptizes New Ministers

"The most loving provision God has made for man is the Kingdom," said Eugene R. Brandt, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses at Lamesa Junior High School, Sunday.

Quoting from Brandt's talk "God's Way Is Love," Jack O'Shields of the local congregation commented, "The speaker propounded the question, 'If a pagan asked you, 'What kind of a God is your God?' how would you answer? Could you answer as did the Bible writer John at 1 John 4:8, 'God is love?' Could you supply convincing proof that he would be able to accept?"

Brandt noted that love marks God's dealing with men. "All of us deserve death because of our father Adam. Love is shown in God's purpose to restore faithful ones to paradise at a great and painful cost to Himself. He provided His dear son to suffer an agonizing and shameful death to pay back what Adam lost," he said.

Delegates attending the three-day training program included 16 congregations from Texas and New Mexico.

Deggs Guest Speaker At Salvation Army Services

Richard A. Deggs Jr. will be the combat area with the 256th Personnel Service Company. Salvation Army services Sunday.

Deggs, a former U.S. Army sergeant who has served in Thailand and Vietnam, is the brother of the local Salvation Army commander, Capt. Bart Deggs. He has been awarded the Army Commendation Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, Vietnam Campaign Medal and the National Defense Service Medal.

In addition to speaking at the services, Deggs will show colored slides he took while in

Control Center In Third Year

Family planning information is a major part of the extensive list of ministries provided by Friendship Center, a Baptist-sponsored facility located on San Antonio's south side. Ruben Machado serves as pastor-director of the center, which is under the general supervision of the direct missions department, Baptist General Convention of Texas. Local sponsorship is provided by the city's Trinity Baptist Church.

According to Machado, response has been very favorable to the first two years of the Planned Parenthood Center's operation. He credits Trinity Baptist members serving on the San Antonio Planned Parenthood Board as the founders of the program.

The center director cited the obvious need for dispensation of family planning information in the Mexican-American community. By assuring that all children are wanted and cared for, the chances for attaining a real Christian family life are enhanced, he theorizes.

Machado claims that the center's active role in planned parenthood has caused only minor criticism, but may bring some real advantages. "We are having a change in attitude toward all our ministries because of this program. . . . People now think that we are more advanced than the other churches in the community by attempting to do something like this. . . . It also gives us another reason to contact people and tell them about Jesus," he said.

An indirect benefit of the clinic is that people waiting to see the doctor or nurse have an opportunity to read Christian literature in the waiting room. It is also a source of names and addresses for follow-up campaigns and visitation in the Friendship Center soul-winning program.

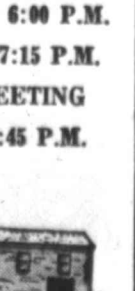

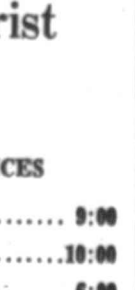

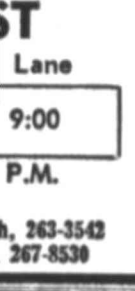

The family planning facility is operated in cooperation with the local Public Health Department and so far Machado has found no conflict in the church-state partnership that this represents. He feels that the real clinic of the matter is that the clinic is providing a needed service, and that after that service is provided it is up to Friendship Center to follow-up and turn the contact into an evangelistic opportunity.

Message for Today

A giant radio telescope picked up bursts of static from a galaxy 2000 light years away. In them, scientists discovered these simple words:
 "Earthmen, your planet is in danger. As your morals decay, your great cities slowly crumble. You will see wars and civil strife."
 "But we offer you hope," the ancient message continued. "A new world. We can give you knowledge and bring you the peace for which you have searched so long..."
 Science-fiction?
 Not entirely.
 There is a message that originated in a distant place over 2000 years ago. It describes the world as it is today, and it offers hope for the future.
 The Bible, inspired by God, is a very real message, one that you can begin reading today.
 Then go to church on Sunday and meet the Author there.

Arkansas in four years. "Arkansas has great passing and good running and is better balanced offensively than Texas, which depends largely on its running. We can match them on passing because I don't think there's a better one anywhere than my Chuck Hixson. But they probably have a better running attack. We have to depend largely on one man—Mike Richardson—and he's a good one but Arkansas has several fine runners."

Arkansas has an excellent sophomore quarterback in Bill Montgomery and a fine stable of running backs.

It will be the 44th meeting between the schools. SMU leads over-all 21-20-2, but Arkansas has won nine of the past 10 games.

SMU has an over-all record of 6-2 and Arkansas is 7-1.

Numerous scouts from various bowls are expected to be on hand for the game before a sellout crowd of some 53,000.

Texas Tech takes its Cotton Bowl hopes to Waco to meet the dangerous Baylor Bears.

The explosive Red Raiders have an all-around attack featuring the quarterbacking of Joe Matulich and Tom Sawyer. Baylor relies on sophomore quarterback Steve Stuart for most of its firepower.

"Anytime you play a team with a great passing attack, you face the danger of catching them with a hot hand and that could be disastrous," says Red Raider coach J. T. King.

Texas rides into Fort Worth Saturday where TCU hasn't defeated the Longhorns since 1958. A crowd in excess of 40,000 is expected.

The Longhorns have the SWC's all-time leading rusher in Chris Gilbert. But you can't key on him because of bullish Steve Worster, and Ted Koy.

Turkey Shoot Is Slated At Munny

Seven dressed birds will be awarded to winners in a Turkey Shoot scheduled at the Munny golf course Saturday and Sunday.

Three of the holiday fowls go to winners in the ten-and-under handicap division, three more in the 11-and-over class while the seventh will go to the entry getting closest to the hole with his tee shot on the sixth hole.

Entry fee is $3 and golfers can play the course either day.

Seek Sixth Victory In Odessa Tonight

The Big Spring Steers, some of whom are pictured here, will try to improve upon a 5-4 won-lost record in an 8 o'clock game with Permian in Odessa tonight. Front row, from the left, they are coaching aide Gerald Loyd, Bill Henry, Danny Pulattie, Tommy Switzer, Roy Anderson, Randy Morgan, Robert Dennis and coaching aide Clovis Hale. Back row, Coleman Nails, Steve Russell, Jimmy Jones, Emmitt Miller, Bill Guinn, Billy Bob Spier, Cliff Cook and Johnny Hedges.

Longhorn Win Tonight Would Benefit Angelo

Although their season ends tonight regardless of how they fare, the Big Spring Steers are to shoot for the moon in an 8 o'clock encounter with Permian High in Odessa.

The Longhorns, 5-4 on the season now, can knock the Panthers out of first place in District 3-AAAA and serve to send Odessa to the district representative by beating or tying Gene Mayfield's team.

The chore is most likely a hard, if not impossible, Permian will be playing at home, for one thing. For another, Mayfield has a respected ability to get his team "up" for a single performance. For still another, the Panthers have a rugged defensive outfit plus the kind of speed that could give the locals fits.

Alert Goliad Is Winner Over Runnels, 20 To 8

Alert Goliad evened its City series with Runnels by defeating the Yearlings, 20-6, in an eighth-grade football game played in Memorial Stadium here Thursday night.

The two teams got in their licks before the rains came, with the result that the estimated 1,000 spectators were treated to some fine play.

Goliad led from the first quarter on, Mike Tredaway getting the first Maverick score from four yards away following a Runnels punt that carried only five yards into a brisk wind. After the punt, Goliad had to travel just 21 yards and it did that in only four plays. The touchdown occurred with 5:14 left in the round.

In the third Ricky Steen and Tredaway hooked up on a 35-yard pass play for the second Goliad TD. Tredaway got far beyond the Runnels defenders and breezed on in untouched, QB Alan Davis then kept for the two extra points to make it 14-0.

Runnels started a 63-yard drive late in the third that paid off with a touchdown early in the fourth. QB Clifford Hobbs flipped an 18-yard pass to Rafael Luevanos for the tally, the playing coming with 6:45 left in the game.

Steen, however, put the game out of reach when he returned the ensuing kickoff 75 yards for another Goliad tally.

Late in the contest, Runnels drove to Goliad's sixth but had the ball picked off by a Maverick.

Johnny Ortega went 57 yards in 15 running attempts for Runnels. Jay Tee Smith gained 67 yards in nine carries, Dick Conley 53 in nine lunges and Hobbs 19 in five attempts.

In an earlier game, Runnels had edged the Goliad team, 14-6.

Both teams had highly successful seasons. Goliad wound up with an 8-2 mark while Runnels finished with a 7-2-1 record.

Tredaway set up the Mavericks' second TD by running the ball seven times, six of them on traps up the middle.

Tredaway was Goliad's leading gainer with 105 yards the 15 times he handled the ball. Steen gained 59 yards in nine carries, Barry Truette 19 in five attempts and Davis 20 in four efforts.

Up front, center Richard Hayley, tackle Mike Parker, end off with a touchdown early in the fourth. QB Clifford Hobbs flipped an 18-yard pass to Rafael Luevanos for the tally, the playing coming with 6:45 left in the game.

Steen, however, put the game out of reach when he returned the ensuing kickoff 75 yards for another Goliad tally.

Late in the contest, Runnels drove to Goliad's sixth but had the ball picked off by a Maverick.

Johnny Ortega went 57 yards in 15 running attempts for Runnels. Jay Tee Smith gained 67 yards in nine carries, Dick Conley 53 in nine lunges and Hobbs 19 in five attempts.

In an earlier game, Runnels had edged the Goliad team, 14-6.

Two Games Slated Locally Saturday

Games involving the Big Spring JV's and Sophomores will be unreeled in Memorial Stadium here Saturday.

The Sophomores play first, hosting Sweetwater's B team at 10 a.m. The Junior Varsity and Permian square off at 2 p.m.

The Sophs have been defeated only once this season, having dropped a 22-6 decision to Monahans' JV's in a game played at Monahans.

They have defeated Stanton, Coahoma, Colorado City and San Angelo twice each on their way to an 8-1 record.

In their nine games, the Sophs have outscored the opposition 253-60. They shut out both San Angelo and Coahoma twice and limited Stanton to a single TD in two games.

The Junior Varsity has carefully constructed an 8-1 record, having lost only to Abilene Cooper's JV. They have counted 249 points and have also yielded only 60 points.

The JV's victories came over Snyder, Midland Lee, Ector, Lubbock Estacado, Odessa High, San Angelo, Midland and Abilene High.

The 16-2 record achieved by the two teams takes on much significance when one considers the fact that all members of the squads return to competition here next year.

Royals Leap Out Front In Divisional Scrap

NEW YORK (AP) — That discounted flock known as the Cincinnati Royals, shepherded by Oscar Robertson, is proving that together goes a long way in ruling the National Basketball Association pasture.

"We've had everybody in the fold since the very beginning," says veteran center Connie Dierking. "We had a good camp and it has carried over."

It has carried the Royals to fast start and first place in the NBA's Eastern Division, which they maintained Thursday night with a 110-101 victory over the New York Knicks over for a 10-3 record.

In the only other NBA game Thursday, Detroit edged Phoenix 111-109 at Tucson, Ariz.

"I think Tom Van Arsdale, John Tresvant, Connie Dierking and more team unity is the big reason for our fast start," says Oscar Robertson, the Royals' perennial All-Star.

Van Arsdale and Tresvant, obtained in a trade with Detroit late last season, scored 12 and 19 points, respectively, Thursday night and Dierking added 17. Tresvant and Dierking also grabbed 10 rebounds each.

"Being together in camp"—there were no holdouts or injuries to delay the Royals from reporting this season—"is a big thing," says Coach Ed Jucker. "And, of course, a healthy Oscar."

Robertson, who missed all or part of 30 games last season, scored 29 points, handed out six assists, and returned to action late in the game to break a Knick rally by scoring five straight points.

It was another typical Big O performance as was that of another Cincinnati veteran, Jerry Lucas, who scored 21 points and snared 20 rebounds.

The Knicks, picked as a serious contender in the East but off to a 5-11 start, were so far apart—and off the target—in the second quarter against the Royals that it cost them the game.

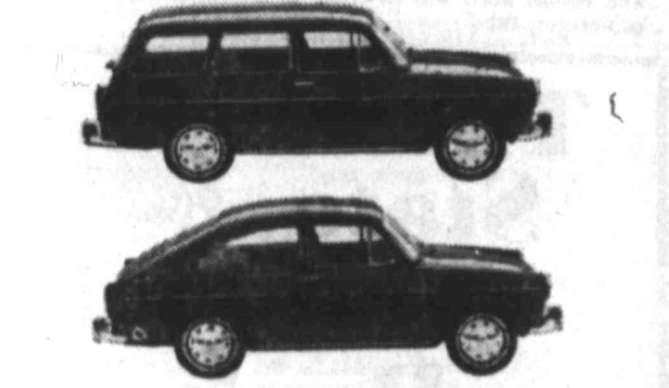

It was too much of a deficit for the Knicks to overcome, although Cazzie Russell went on a 26-point scoring spurge in the second half.

Detroit capitalized from the free throw line in the fourth period and withstood a late Phoenix surge in outlasting the Suns.

The Pistons, limited to only four baskets in the last stanza, connected on 14 of 18 foul shots while Phoenix hit on just two of seven from the free throw line.

Dave Bing and Happy Hairston shared scoring laurels for Detroit with 23 points apiece while Gail Goodrich topped Phoenix with 25.

You say you'd like a few suggestions on how to get more out of your telephone service?

Here are five tips to help make your every "hello" a real good buy:

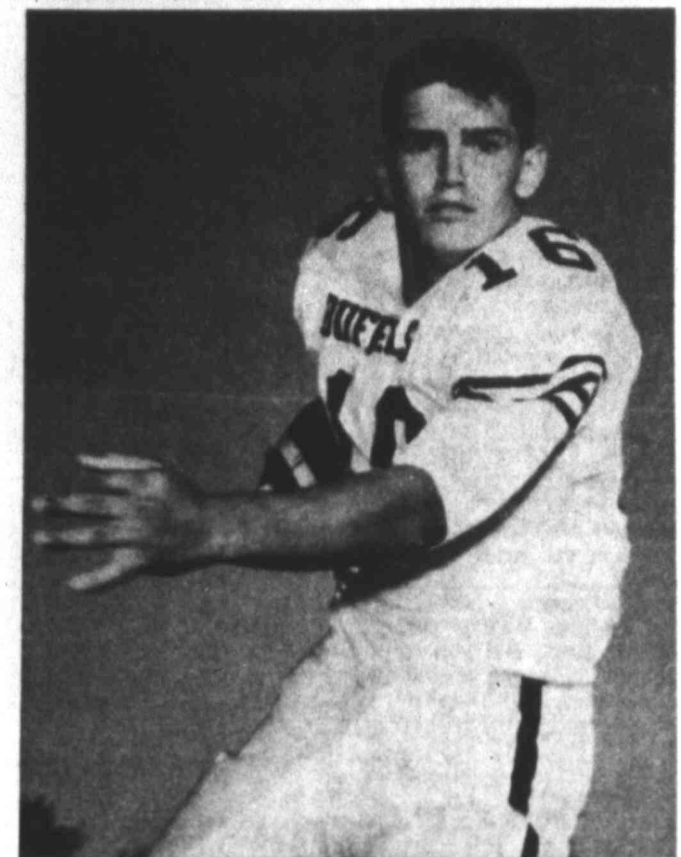

- Whenever you're moving to another town within the Bell System, let us arrange for your phone service before you move. If you know the address of your new home, we can make arrangements in advance so you'll have the exact service you want in your new home. We'll also refer calls from your old phone to your new number if you like. Just call the business office and ask about our Easy Move Plan. There's no extra charge.
 - Speaking of moving, we hope you realize that wherever you move in the Bell System, there is no color charge for the phones at your new address if you had color phones at your old address.
 - Ever wonder what to do when you get a wrong number on a Long Distance call? Just hang up, dial "0" for "Operator," and tell her what happened. She'll see that you're not charged for the call.
 - And if you ever lose your dime in an out-of-order pay telephone, just go to a working phone and report it to the Operator. She'll arrange to have your dime mailed to you. Also, if you give her the number of the out-of-order phone, we'll get it fixed right away.
 - Long Distance interstate rates are lower all day Saturday and Sunday, and after 7 p.m. each weekday. You can also save money if you call by number. A station-to-station Long Distance call costs about one-third less than a person-to-person call.
- At Southwestern Bell, our goal is to help you get the very best telephone service. We want your every "hello" to be a real good buy.

Forsan Thunder Runner

Clayton McKinnon, star running back for Forsan, faces a big challenge when Oscar Becker's Buffaloes clash with Jim Ned in an important District 7-B game at Tuscola tonight. The Bison must win in order to maintain any hope for a conference title.

ran true to form in pro football last week, with the exception of Dallas' upset by New York, but we went down picking upsets with the 49ers and Eagles.

The toughest picks appear to be Minnesota-Detroit and Los Angeles-San Francisco in the National Football League and New York-Oakland in the American Football League. We're going to stick with most of the favorites.

Last week's 9-3-1 made it 69-32-3 for the year (42-20-2 in the NFL and 27-11-1 in the AFL). Let's try again. All games are to be played Sunday.

NFL
Chicago 20, Atlanta 10 — Despite loss of Gale Sayers, Bears seem to have too much for Falcons, who have been giving up almost 31 points a game.

Cleveland 30, Pittsburgh 17 — Steelers always trouble for Browns but they're in no mood to be stopped now with a record on division lead and four-game victory streak. Browns won Oct. 5 game, 31-24.

Dallas 31, Washington 10 — Only a rejuvenation of Sonny Jurgensen, who may be able to play without his protective corset, can make this close.

Minnesota 21, Detroit 14 — Would like Vikings better if game not in Detroit where Lions play their best. Vikings took first game 24-10.

Los Angeles 17, San Francisco 14 — Scared of this one. Los Angeles defense should do it but San Francisco should be ready for all-out effort before home folks. Rams won in Los Angeles 24-10.

Green Bay 21, New Orleans 17 — It's shocking to find Packers 3-5-1 at this stage, but they can't be counted out yet. Saints' defense will pressure Bart Starr. Milwaukee site favors Green Bay, especially if the snow is flying.

New York 27, Philadelphia 17 — Giants sky high after beating Dallas. Eagles, booted at home and losers of nine straight, in angry mood. Everybody runs on Eagles so why not Giants? Giants won first game 34-25.

Baltimore 31, St. Louis 17 — Colts appear to be steaming toward Super Bowl with fine blend of offense and solid defense. Jim Hart may be running for his life from Colt rush.

AFL
Kansas City 27, Boston 14 — Pat Holmes emerging as real rookie star and Jan Stenerud still is booting those field goals. Pats without Nick Buoniconti again.

Miami 21, Cincinnati 20 — Bob Griese's passing and Jim Kiick's running make up for weak defense that has allowed 29 touchdowns. Paul Robinson's running makes Bengals dangerous. Home field favors Dolphins. Miami won earlier 24-22 when Cincinnati failed on two-point conversion try.

Houston 17, Denver 14 — Oakland 24, New York 23 — San Diego 31, Buffalo 14 —

Old Reliable

Perry Gillespie, standout end for Sands High School, will be in the lineup when the Mustangs wind up road play in a game at Wilson tonight. Gillespie recently was named Lineman of the Week on the Sands team.

Barry Adds To ABA Lead

By The Associated Press
With the American Basketball Association season only about one month old, the Oakland Oaks are threatening to romp off with the Western Division title behind Rick Barry, the former National Basketball Association star who jumped leagues.

Barry increased his ABA scoring lead with 43 points Thursday night and powered the visiting Oaks to a 122-106 rout of last place Dallas for their 12th victory in 14 games this season. No other team in the division is above 500.

Los Angeles and Denver each retained a share of second place with 44 records as the Stars downed the New York Nets 113-104 in Commack, N.Y., and the Rockets stopped Houston 105-89 at Denver in the only other game scheduled.

Barry pumped in 19 of his points in the first quarter when Oakland jumped to a big lead. Dallas never caught up, although it did get within four twice in the third period behind the scoring of Ron Boone, who finished with 26 points.

Los Angeles rolled to a 58-44 halftime lead over the Nets, setting this issue. The Nets managed to get within 10 with three minutes left, but scored only two more points.

Los Angeles and Denver each retained a share of second place with 44 records as the Stars downed the New York Nets 113-104 in Commack, N.Y., and the Rockets stopped Houston 105-89 at Denver in the only other game scheduled.

SC-Oregon State Winner To Bowl

By The Associated Press

College football's version of the run for the roses comes up Saturday when top-rated Southern California and O. J. Simpson entertain 13th-ranked Oregon State and Bill "Earthquake" Enyart with the winners going to the Rose Bowl.

"Oregon State is a better team than California," says Coach John McKay, whose unbeaten Trojans trimmed the ranked Golden Bears 35-17 last weekend. "They're a veteran team and probably the biggest team in the country."

The nationally televised Simpson-Enyart duel should be something to see. Simpson is second nationally in rushing with 1,211 yards and 17 touchdowns while Enyart, a line-busting fullback, has 1,038 yards and 13 TDs.

GOOD RUNNER
"Enyart doesn't have great speed but he has quick feet," notes McKay. "You've got to tackle him head-on. You can't get him from the side and expect to keep him from getting four or five yards. Maybe he's not a great runner but he's a real good one behind an offensive line that averages something like 245 pounds, and that includes the ends."

"And their quarterback, Steve Preece, is by far the best we've seen in recent years at running the option."

The Beavers are the only team to beat Simpson—3-0 last year—in his two seasons at Southern Cal.

The nation's ranking teams will be involved in a raft of games that will go a long way toward deciding the conference races and the bowl picture.

While Oregon State-Southern Cal will settle the Pacific Eight, there are three key contests in the Big Ten and two each in the Big Eight, Southeastern and Southwest Conferences.

Unbeaten and second-ranked Ohio State visits Iowa, which has developed an explosive offense with Larry Lawrence at quarterback and Ed Podolak at halfback, where he set a one-game Big Ten rushing mark a week ago.

HOOSIERS GAME BACK
The Buckeyes are tied for the Big Ten lead with fourth-ranked Michigan, and 19th-ranked Indiana is only one game back. Michigan will be at home against winless Wisconsin while Indiana hosts in-and-out Minnesota. The big one is Michigan-Ohio State next weekend.

Missouri, ranked sixth, leads the Big Eight by a game but must tackle rugged Oklahoma on the road. The Sooners, led by Steve Owens, the country's No. 5 runner, topped previously undefeated Kansas into second place a week ago. Seventh-ranked Kansas also is on the road at Kansas State.

The key Southeastern games are fifth-ranked Georgia at 12th-ranked Auburn and Mississippi at No. 11 Tennessee. Auburn, on the strength of three straight upsets, leads with a 6-2 record, while Georgia is 4-0-1, Mississippi 3-1 and Tennessee 1-1-1.

Texas Tech visits Baylor. Penn State, the nation's only unbeaten major independent, takes its third-place ranking and second-ranked rushing defense to Maryland. Notre Dame, ranked ninth, faces Georgia Tech at home without Terry Hanratty, lost for the season with a knee injury. Sophomore Joe Theismann takes over.

Television fans are in for a doubleheader. Besides Oregon State-Southern Cal, ABC-TV will air a night game featuring 16th-ranked Alabama and Miami, Fla., in the Orange Bowl.

Two Deadlocked In Grid Scoring

James Mosley of Lubbock Estacado and Sweetwater's Benji Kemp are tied for the scoring lead in District 3-AAAA, each with 84 points.

Only two points removed from the top is Larry Miller, also of Estacado.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Henry Colwell, the Abilene Cooper coaching aide who scouted Abilene High for the Cougars here last week, says an Abilene ninth grader named Kelvin Caesar is probably the finest athlete ever to come up through the system there.

Last week against unbeaten Lincoln, Caesar guided his Jefferson Junior High club to a 19-6 victory, pushing for 207 yards and scoring three touchdowns.

Considering the fact that Abilene has produced truly outstanding athletes like Glynn Gregory and Jack Mildren, Colwell's statement is worth remembering.

I assume Caesar will wind up at Cooper High School.

Odessa Permlan doesn't have quite the offensive punch nor the defensive grip it has had in other years but that does not mean the Panthers won't be hard to handle when Big Spring arrives there tonight.

Coach Gene Mayfield has a reputation for having his team ready for the big tests and Permlan must win this one tonight if it is to attain the playoffs.

Midland Lee shot the Panthers out of the saddle with a great aerial arm — Big Spring doesn't depend much on its passing arm — only Permlan has completed as few aerials in 3-AAAA play as Big Spring.

The Steers are going to have to run at that Permlan line. The Panthers shut out both Cooper and San Angelo, feats of more than a little consequence. Big Spring's multiple offense figures to give Permlan problems.

The big question is, can the Steers keep the ball out of the hands of the Panthers and thereby deprive them of a chance to score. Given the opportunity to get on the board, the Panthers usually make good.

Charley Waller, coaching aide for the San Diego Chargers, says USC's O. J. Simpson is worth 14 points a game to the team that signs him.

Not even Gayle Sayers averages 14 points a game for the Chicago Bears but Simpson could be a better runner than Sayers, if that is possible. The bidding will, no doubt, go very high for the fabulous Simpson, even though the Philadelphia Eagles will probably hold draft rights to him.

Waller insists that Simpson is the finest running back of the 1960's.

With five of the seven local teams engaged in competition against out-of-city competition boasting 500 or better records, the outlook in football here is rosy.

Between them, the junior varsity and sophomore units have won 16 of 18 starts.

Only the ninth grade Toros and Brahmas have failed to break even and those clubs have developed very well in recent weeks.

The two college quarterbacks the pros covet most are supposed to be Bobby Douglas of Kansas and Greg Cook of Cincinnati. The latter is the boy who gave Texas Tech a fit early in the year.

Big Spring's Benny Kirkland, who'll break all passing records at East Texas State this year, is also interesting the pros but he's undecided whether to give it a try.

Cus D'Amato, who took Floyd Patterson to the top in heavyweight boxing circles, apparently will guide the ring destinies of Texan George Foreman, the Olympic winner this year.

There are those who would rather not see Foreman get involved with D'Amato.

Jayhawks Go To Roswell To Resume Links Play

Coach Jerry Dudley took his Howard County Junior College golf team to Roswell today where at 9 a.m. Saturday Western Conference competition will be resumed in an 18-hole match.

The Jayhawks lead the league by five points. After Saturday's round, play will be suspended until spring, when the 1968-69 championship

'Peyton Place' Slashed For 'Section 8' Action

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — By order of the Nielsen ratings, seven and one-half television programs will be cut off the networks in midseason. During January and February, seven new candidates will be put in the schedules. It's the annual turn over.

Until a couple of seasons back, a midseason start was something to be dreaded—and with good reason. Almost none had ever survived through the following September. But now, with the two hottest entries of the past two years—"The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour" on CBS and "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" on NBC—the most talked about shows on the air, a midseason start is something to be cherished. They both started that way.

ABC, which this season is having more program troubles than the other two networks, is dropping five shows and cutting its weekly output of "Peyton Place" in half. In an effort to bolster its ratings, it is taking on a half-hour show by the producers of "Laugh-In" plus an hour show by the team that first produced the Smothers Brothers show. The network obviously hopes lightning will strike it, too.

ABC's massive realignment of its Thursday night schedule involves canceling a suspense anthology, "Journey to the Unknown" that never caught on, and a comedy series, "Ugliest Girl in Town" that misfired. It is a salvage operation for three of its comedy shows, "The Flying Nun," "Bewitched" and "That Girl." The block of three once permitted ABC to capture the top ratings of Thursday nights, but all three have suffered this season. It is hoped they will be returned to Nielsen health by opening the evening with "The Flying Nun," following with the Marlo Thomas series—which will get it out of the path of CBS's powerful movie feature—and let "Bewitched" alone. Then will come the new revue show, "What's It All About, World?" for an hour, after which ABC will turn the final hour of prime time back to its affiliated stations to program, leaving NBC's Dean Martin and the movie to fight it out for audience favor.

Nothing was doing very well for ABC on Friday nights, so the network decided to drop the first three shows of the evening. It will replace "Operation: Entertainment" with a variety hour starring Welsh singer Tom Jones and fill the holes left by departing "Felony Squad" and "The Don Rickles Show" with a couple of inexpensive game shows.

"Peyton Place" has been rapidly running out of steam this season, so it will be cut to one episode a week. The Wednesday night spot will be filled by a half-hour show, "Section 8," which will hopefully be somewhere left of "Laugh-In" and right of "That Was The Week That Was."

"My Friend Tony" is replacing "The Beautiful Phyllis Diller Show" on NBC, and the "The Glen Campbell Show" is taking over from "Daktari" on CBS.

New Movie Rating Boss Optimistic

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The boss of the movies' new classification system is a scholarly looking Irishman whose language, in arguments, can turn waterfront-sally.

If violence threatens, Eugene G. Dougherty toys with the knot of his necktie—ready to flick out with the first punch if necessary.

OPEN-MINDED
He calls himself a liberal and says, "Most people would say I'm an open-minded guy."

And he believes the new classification system, branding movies in four categories from okay-for-everybody to young-people-not-admitted, will work.

Despite one exhibitor's outspoken opposition—for which Dougherty has no comment—he says: "It's going to work because the overwhelming bulk of exhibitors want it. That's where its strength lies. They're men of good will. They want to live at peace in their communities."

"Gene" Dougherty, 50, whom intimates also call "Dock" because he gives his last name a Gaelic pronunciation, Dockery, steps up Jan. 1 from an assistant's post after 23 years with the Production Code Administration.

OWN CODE
He succeeds retiring 74-year-old Geoffrey Shurlock, who becomes a special consultant.

Dougherty—neat, dark-haired, spectacled, square-jawed and gray-eyed—has spent years in discussions with producers, writers and sometimes stars over touchy script problems of sex or violence.

"I've never assumed," he said in an interview in his office, "that the way was to cut something out. It's by putting something in."

"As my first boss, Joe Breen, said, 'Your job is not to stop these people from making pictures. It's to help them make pictures—within the limits of their own voluntary code.'"

COMPLAINT
Dougherty "smoothed out the rough spots" in the "From Here to Eternity" script and suggested additions—eight visiting girls instead of one—that softened a prison-revel scene in "The Dirty Dozen."

The new rating system, he said, "is primarily to alert parents to the contents of pictures." G means a film is for general audiences; M for mature; R, restricted to young people accompanied by parent or guardian, and X, young people—usually under 17, but 16 or 18 in some localities—not admitted.

A practicing Roman Catholic, Dougherty lives in suburban Northridge with his wife Gloria, a onetime model. They have three children. He grows roses and goes deep-sea fishing.

Dancer Reveals The Naked Truth

NEW YORK (AP) — Former dancer Mrs. Shirley Paige Manuel won an uncontested divorce Thursday from her husband who, she claimed, forced her to walk naked about the house and often locked up her clothes.

Testifying before Justice Thomas A. Aurelio in Manhattan Supreme Court, the 47-year-old Mrs. Manuel said, "His special pleasure was to compel me to be naked at breakfast."

When she objected, she said, her husband abused her, locked up her clothes, and threw her out of the apartment.

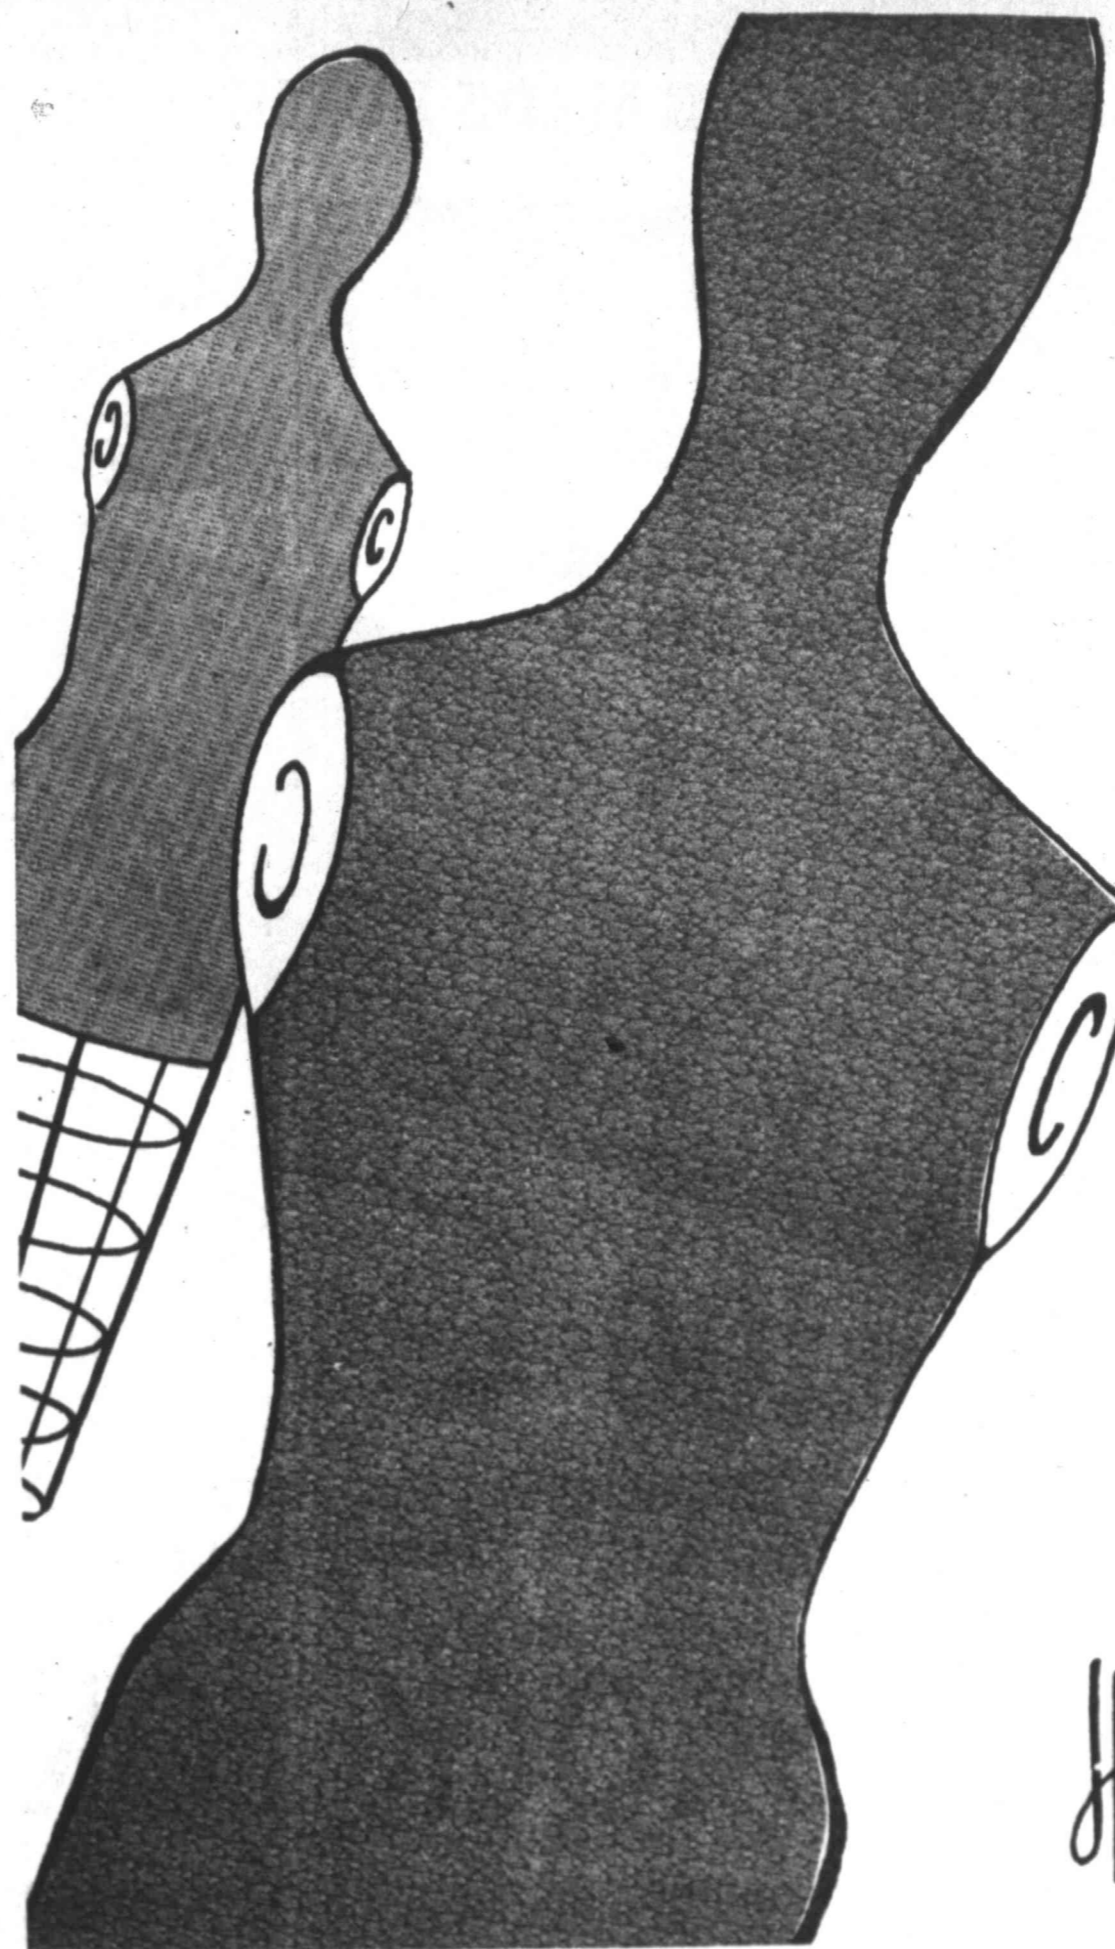

The widow of actor Victor Moore, she married Solon Manuel Jan. 13, 1967.

Miss UCLA Says She's Surprised

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The first Negro to be named Miss UCLA says she's surprised, because she wears her hair in what she calls natural African style.

"I'm natural and it is unusual, or at least I think it's unusual, for the average American beauty contest judge to accept me as beautiful in my own terms," said Carolyn Webb, a 20-year-old English major at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Judges chose her Thursday over 154 other contestants.

Horoscope Forecast

TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A vitally important day and evening to go along with what others expect of you or you can lose friends or support in all directions. Aspects indicate that anyone who is contentious or gets into arguments these days can lose much that has been carefully built up in the preceding days. Force no issues with anyone.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You can really have an argument with a partner. If you make some statement that is prejudicial, say little and keep out of trouble. Wear a smile and you can have a wonderful time socially.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Now is the time to improve your surroundings so that you feel more comfortable and pleased. You have to relax more if you are to have that peace of mind you so want. Stop all that moonlighting.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Try not to spend so much for mundane fun that is really not worthwhile at all. Your closest tie may be in a rather unhappy mood. You have not caused this so don't feel so bad about it. It will pass over.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't keep harping on that ticklish subject of home or you soon find that it builds up into a real battle. Use no sarcasm. Be kind with kin and you see that something wonderful happens.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Being tactless or driving at the fast a speed could cause you to get into real trouble now, if you are not careful. Avoid making sudden changes that could get you out of what is now a good set-up. Job. Stop being so moody.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be prudent and spend your money wisely and try not to make investments that are beyond your ken. Business expert who can usually be trusted with advice could be far off the beam today. Use your own good judgment.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Although you may feel that others are abusing you unbecomingly, you have only that much placed on your shoulders as you can handle nicely. Show you are intelligent. Steer clear of that argument with a social leader.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Carry through with that clever plan to get the good will of a specialist. Listen to suggestions very carefully. Handle most carefully some personal affair. Be secretive about it if you want really good results.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Show pots that you really care about them by doing something nice for them unexpectedly. Get your credit improved. One of your friends may be acting in a fashion you do not approve of but keep mum.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure that you do nothing to ruin your reputation since there is a dramatic situation brewing right now. Keep out of trouble. That higher-up may be in a peculiar mood, so say nothing and keep your course full.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Now it is you know exactly how to handle problems that may be cropping up all around you. Forget sulking on that know-it-all air. Show gentility with others who are quite unable to separate the wheat from the chaff.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) If you try to get out of just responsibilities you find you get into real hot water now, so be ethical. Either you or mate can show jealousy in p.m. There is absolutely no foundation for it, so forget it. Be happy.

If you haven't, you should come to our

When The Herald ran the World War I pictures last Sunday of a number of veterans residing here, one picture was wrong for it certainly wasn't Frank Mulligan. Instead it was a friend in a group picture with him. This is how Mr. Mulligan appeared after he enlisted here in October, 1917, and served until August, 1920, with Co. B, 5th MP, 9th Division.
