

Star Lites

By Bill Ellis

WE HAVE BEEN SAYING for some time that Americans have lost their concept of "majority rule," and if you had doubted our word, then this week's vote to relinquish control over the Panama Canal should convince you.

We would bet that if the issue had been submitted to American voters, it would have failed by 85 per cent to 15 per cent. A number of the U.S. senators who voted for the treaties openly admitted that their constituents were opposed to the give-away, but they went ahead with their more or less pre-determined plan to give the canal away.

Adding icing to the cake was the announcement, a day or two following the vote, that indicated that our officials knew in advance that if the treaties had failed, there was a plot underway by extremists in Panama to put the canal out of commission.

If any of the senators voted affirmatively for this reason, then we are doubly ashamed, to have our foreign policy dictated by a small group of terrorists in an equally small country. What sort of future do our children have to look forward to?

We were also told this week about the efforts by the American Agriculture Movement in our county, who helped stage a massive telephone campaign by interested persons, prior to the vote on the farm bill.

The citizens were calling President Carter, to remind him that the 1976 Democratic platform, which helped elect him to office, promised "parity for farmers." Now, he has decided that parity for farmers is inflationary.

Hundreds of voters reportedly called Washington, and expressed their demands that the president honor the Democratic platform. The Farmer County Democratic executive committee had earlier sent a letter to Carter, demanding the same thing.

In contact with one Washington official, an American Agriculture leader was told that "he had never seen anything like the number of calls received by the executive department" during the 'phone rally.

Asked if the campaign may have had any effect, the Washington official denied that it did. "About the same as if the callers had sent a post card to the president. I doubt that their efforts had any input or any influence on the president whatsoever," the Washington contact said.

Do you still believe in majority rule....and "government OF THE PEOPLE, BY the people and FOR the people? Then the people had better wake up, or they will find themselves servants of their omniscient leaders in Washington (or maybe Moscow).

After the constitutional convention, when Thomas Jefferson was asked what the group had to offer, he replied "A Democracy, if you can keep it...."

Our democracy, in recent years, has been slipping through the fingers of those who were meant to be in control.

IN ROBBERY CASE

Coreolla Sentenced; Constancio Released

Rodolfo Moreno Coreolla, 24, was sentenced to 40 years in the state penitentiary after pleading guilty to a charge of aggravated robbery Friday morning in 154th District Court in Farwell.

The charges stemmed from the January 6th assault and robbery of Friona Piggly Wiggly manager Joe Tongate, in which Tongate was robbed and stabbed by an assailant.

Coreolla was sentenced by District Judge Pat Boone, who a day earlier had dismissed charges against Fred Constancio, Jr. of Friona, charged with being an accomplice in the incident.

At 6:20 p.m. Thursday, Judge Boone called a chamber's conference of the opposing counsels and upon returning to the courtroom pronounced a directed verdict of dismissal, based on insufficient evidence.

Twelve witnesses had been called for the state by District Attorney Jack Young before proceedings were halted by Judge Boone.

A growing thread of doubt concerning the evidence was apparent, as defense counsel Dee Treadwell cross-examined each witness.

The first witness, Alice Garza of Friona identified Coreolla as her brother-in-law, but said that she is only faintly acquainted with Constancio.

Nora Velasco, Friona, testified she saw a green 1970 Ford pickup parked at the Piggly Wiggly store the night of January 6. She testified that she knows Constancio and his wife and is familiar with his pickup, but that she saw neither of these persons at the store that night.

Tongate testified that when he was attacked, he was going to deposit the day's receipts of approximately $13,000 cash and $100 in food stamps, and $8,000 in checks. He could not identify Constancio as one of his assailants, but on being recalled to the stand, he did point out Coreolla, who was in the courtroom as the man who repeatedly stabbed him as Tongate struggled with him for possession of the knife.

The defense brought out that neither Tongate nor any other witness could positively identify the club and knife as the weapons actually used in the assault and robbery.

Kenneth Moore, Friona, owner of the super market, could only repeat what he did and was told after the fact, because he did not know of the robbery until it was over.

Opal Wiseman, operator of the Sands Motel, Sudan, testified that Coreolla had registered at the motel on the night of January 6. She said she thought she saw a shadow of another person in a pickup, but Coreolla said he was alone, so she dismissed it from her mind.

Other witnesses called were Marjorie Watkins, Farwell, tax office employee, who showed a license registration for a green 1970 Ford pickup in the name of Fred Constancio, Jr., and Albert Hill and Tom Edgett, formerly of Roswell, N.M. Sheriff's department, who recounted events leading to Coreolla's arrest in Carlsbad, including the finding of $6,408 in small bills in Coreolla's suitcase.

Also, Paula Castillo, Friona, who is acquainted with Constancio, Parmer County Sheriff Charles Lovelace and Deputy Bill Morgan told of events following the robbery and subsequent investigation.

They identified the club found in Tongate's car and a blood-stained piece of floor mat and the door of the glove compartment in Constancio's pickup, which were sent to the Lubbock DPS laboratory for analysis.

As each exhibit was offered in evidence, the thrust of defense counsel's objections was that none of the items could be positively identified.

The last witness was Jack L. Benton, a forensic chemist with the Lubbock laboratory of the DPS. In intricate and lengthy questioning by both attorneys, Benton confirmed the examination of the two parts of the pick-handle from which the club was allegedly sawed, the floor mat, door of the glove compartment, and a blood sample from Coreolla.

He said Coreolla's type O blood sample was similar to that taken from the pickup. Treadwell objected to the testimony because the witness was not the person who made the test, and he also claimed no proper background had been laid by prosecutor Young.

Judge Boone's dismissal of the charges then followed.

Boys, Girls State Delegates Named

Leslie White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl White, was named delegate to the Boy's State Convention this week, while Priscilla Pruet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pruet, was named the Girl's State delegate.

Alternates were Ricky Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Taylor, and Stephanie Schueler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Schueler.

Bluebonnet Girls State will be held on the campus of Texas Lutheran College June 13-23. Boys State will be held the following week.

Sponsors of the program are the Friona American Legion Post 206, and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Only juniors in high school are eligible for the program.

The purpose of the Girls State and Boys State programs is to educate the young citizens as to the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship.

The goal is to awaken within the youth of the nation a sincere conviction that a well-informed, intelligent, participating citizenry is most vitally needed to protect and preserve our American institutions and democracy.

In the mythical 51st states, the citizens of Boys and Girls State organize their own city, county and state governments. They choose their own officials in accordance with regular election procedures.

The youngsters also learn the duties of the various city, county and state offices.

Catholic Church To Build Auditorium

Officials of St. Teresa's Catholic Church have announced plans for a new auditorium to be constructed on the church property. Cost of the new building is to be around $160,000.

The new addition will be built by Plains Builders of Lubbock. A 70 by 90 foot sanctuary is to be built. It will be of frame construction with brick veneer.

Also planned is to convert the present church hall to classrooms. Some paving and sidewalks also are in the works.

Some $60,000 is already on deposit in the church's building fund. Further fund-raising activities are also being planned, and the church will finance a portion of the expansion program.

Groundbreaking is scheduled at the church property on Sunday, April 30 at 11:45 a.m.

It was also announced that Father John McGovern is the new permanent administrator for St. Teresa's, as well as St. Ann's Rectory in Bovina.

Meeting Is Termed Urgent

An urgent meeting for parents who will have children in third through sixth grade Little Dribblers next year has been scheduled for Tuesday, April 25, at Friona State Bank's Community Room. The meeting will begin at 7 p.m.

The future of the Little Dribblers' program in Friona is at stake, according to a spokesman for the league. "We need more than just one or two parents helping with the program," he said.

Senior Citizen Group To Mark Anniversary

On Friday, April 28, the Friona Senior Citizens organization will celebrate their sixth anniversary with the usual noon luncheon at the Union Congregational Church, to be followed with a program, visiting and games.

This month's program will feature a talk on city government and city problems by Jake Outland, city manager. Outland will also attempt to answer any questions concerning city affairs. The group will also have a sing-song led by Lora Mae McFarland.

On April 28, 1972, the Friona Senior Citizens organization held their first meeting at the Union Congregational Church. Mr. and Mrs. A.W. Anthony Sr. were elected as co-presidents and served in that capacity until December 31, 1974.

Early in 1974 a set of by-laws were adopted. Mr. and Mrs. Otho Whitefield served as co-presidents in 1975 followed by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moyer in 1976. Mrs. T.E. Lovett was president in 1977. Otho Whitefield was again elected as president for 1978.

In the past six years only two meetings were missed on account of inclement weather. The average attendance has been about 40 persons.

DELEGATE NAMED.... Priscilla Pruet, center, was named this week as the American Legion Auxiliary's delegate to the Girls State convention. Stephanie Schueler, left, was selected as alternate. Making the announcement to the girls was Geneva Williams, representing the Auxiliary.

Rites Held In Bovina For Frank Hastings

Services for Frank Hastings, 96, a 76-year resident of Bovina, were held Monday in the First United Methodist Church with the Rev. James Putnam, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Bovina Cemetery under the direction of Parsons-Ellis Funeral Home of Friona.

Hastings, a native of Wise County, died Saturday in St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

He was a retired farmer and rancher and a 61-year member of First United Methodist Church of Bovina. He also was a member of the Farwell Masonic Lodge No. 977, and received his 50-year pin in October 1961, and was a member of the Khiva Shrine Temple at Amarillo.

He married Leora Tidenburg May 20, 1915 in Amarillo.

Survivors include his wife Leora; two daughters, Anna Hastings of Plainview and Mrs. Bob Wilson of Bovina; four grandchildren and three great-grandsons.

Pallbearers were Durward Bell, Bedford Caldwell, J.T. Hammonds, John Dixon, J.T. Sherrill Jr. and Gene Ezell.

Hastings came to Bovina in 1902, when the town consisted of only a couple of stores, a railroad and acres of cattle pens. This was four years after the Santa Fe Railroad pushed through, and made the young settlement a shipping point for the historic XIT Ranch.

When Parmer County's government was organized, Hastings became the county's first deputy sheriff, although he had been acting as the community's unofficial lawman prior to that time.

While on the streets recently we met with the rumor that it is probable that our two modern cafes may close their doors to the public before long. Around The House

By Laura Jacobs

With springtime here, travel seems to be a very inviting idea. Don't let the thoughts of packing put a damper on your plans. You can't take everything, so a little pre-trip planning will help you get the most use from the items you do take along. Plan wardrobe and accessories for a trip according to climate, activities and length of stay. Mix and match coordinates and colors to keep needs to a minimum. Pack clothes that are washable and resist wrinkles.

Unbreakable bottles and jars for spillables are lighter and should hold enough supplies to last the entire trip. Pack a plastic case. Be sure to include detergent or soap for hand washing. Shoes in shoe mitts or plastic bags protect other articles from dust and polish. Extra waterproof bags for soiled laundry or for repacking wet items are handy. Place heavy articles at the bottom of the suitcase near hinges. Take advantage of every bit of space by stashing small items inside handbags, into corners and spaces left by bulky accessories, e.g. shoes. Weight should be evenly distributed in the luggage. Be sure zippers and buttons are fastened for ease in folding. Fold pants with the crease line. Smooth collars and sleeves and fold garments with sleeves turned in. Jewelry should be placed in a jewelry case or with other valuables in hand luggage. Though not a closet full, an organized suitcase gets you going with the essentials.

Tornado Preparations Now Save Lives, Property Later

The familiar lines, "Seldom is heard a discouraging word, and the skies are not cloudy all day," still ring true for the most part in Texas. But when two tornadoes touched down in Monahans, Texas, last April and inflicted extensive damage, townspeople were singing quite a different tune. Previous to the 1977 Texas tornado season (April through June), there was no record of a tornado ever striking Monahans. But as residents of the small West Texas community discovered, catastrophes don't always happen to "the other guy."

The two twisters—a small white one and a large black one, according to witnesses—only stayed about five minutes. But before they left, they had destroyed 60 homes, damaged 150 others, and caused an estimated $2.9 million in damages. Much of the city "looked like a giant foot stepped on it," one eyewitness said. The Texas Department of Public Safety reported 18 persons received minor injuries. The town's warning siren went off six minutes before the twisters struck, enabling most of Monahans' 8,700 residents to reach shelter.

Just 16 days earlier, the town newspaper, the Monahans News, had published a story listing precautions to take before and after a tornado strikes, "just in case."

Last year, Texas was the leader in tornado incidents in the nation with between 111 and 160 sighted. The discrepancy in figures is due to the system of recording used by two reporting agencies—the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (111) and the Texas Department of Public Safety (160). Fortunately, only one tornado-related death resulted in the state in 1977.

THREAT YEAR-ROUND

The peak months for tornadoes are April, May and June—but they are a year-round threat.

Just last December, after "the season" was long gone, a tornado gouged a 25-mile-long twisting path of destruction through northeast Houston. Damages to insured property totaled more than $3.6 million, according to Frank Lewis, regional manager of Property Claim Services, American Insurance Association. One person was killed trying to escape the twister when it flipped his truck.

Survivors in the tornado's path compared it to a gigantic fist that "exploded houses" and flung cars and trailer trucks like a child's toys. Often tornadoes are associated with hurricanes. The "hurricane season" is from June to November. In 1967, for example, Hurricane Beulah spawned 115 tornadoes in a five-day period. Sixty-seven of these occurred on one day, setting a national record.

KNOW WARNINGS

Two phrases that should be part of every Texan's vocabulary are "tornado watch" and "tornado warning."

A watch—usually posted for broad areas spanning hundreds of miles—is issued anytime a squall line develops which has the potential of spawning tornadoes. It is not uncommon for a city or town to be included in a watch dozens of times without ever experiencing a tornado. For this reason, the Texas Insurance Information Center says there is a danger of becoming complacent. No matter how often a watch is posted for a community, residents should monitor broadcasts and be generally aware of the potentially threatening weather. Should a twister be spotted, a "tornado warning" is signaled.

Warnings are issued for much smaller areas and may mean that residents have only a few minutes to take shelter.

If a warning is issued, persons in the affected area should immediately watch for danger and be ready to take cover at a second's notice.

STAY LOW

The key word in taking cover is "low." The lowest floor in any building is safest. Small rooms—such as the bathroom—or a closet in the central part of the structure offer the best protection. If this hideout isn't available, taking cover under heavy furniture such as a tipped-over, upholstered couch is advised.

Neither a mobile home nor buildings with wide, free-span roofs—such as auditoriums—are desirable shelters.

Most deaths associated with a tornado are caused by flying debris and most injuries are to the head or chest. For these reasons, care should be taken to protect the head and chest no matter where shelter is taken.

AFTER STORM

Immediately after a storm is passed, stay put for a few minutes. Make sure there is no leaking gas in the area before striking matches. Remember, too, downed telephone and power lines are a hazard.

Whenever a community begins mopping up after a windstorm or tornado, insurance companies put into force pre-arranged catastrophe procedures to help a community recover from the disaster.

Beware of unscrupulous, fly-by-night contractors who often follow the storm into town. Deal only with reputable contractors.

The message is an old one but worth repeating, especially this time of the year: proper action before and after a storm can save lives and property.

Area Teams

Compete In

Farm Contest

The annual Farm Mechanics Contest for the Amarillo District was held April 4, at TSTI in Amarillo. Approximately 15 towns were represented in the competition. Texline entered the first all-girl team in the contest.

This event was sponsored by Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative. Eight area teams competed in welding, plumbing, electrical wiring and tool identification. The area teams participating were Dalhart, Claude, Canyon, Adrian, Stratford, Vega, Hereford, and Texline.

Judges for the contest consisted of Benny Pryor, Friona High School, and John Coats, Tulia High School.

First place teams received $50 and $25 was awarded to the second place team. Along with the money, first, second and third place and high point individuals in each skill received trophies.

Winners were as follows: 1. Stratford, 2. Texline, and 3. Adrian. The contest was held in the Welding Complex at TSTI where Carl Morgan and his instructors helped with judging and tabulating of the contest.

Chiefs Leading 3-AA After Field Events

The Friona Chieftains, one of the pre-meet favorites in the District 3-AA track and field meet, held a narrow three-point lead after the completion of the field events on Thursday afternoon at Olton.

Usual winners Koty Kothmann in the discus and Jeff Whiteside in the long jump failed to come up to their level of performance, but the team's depth helped to amass the 42 points.

Kothmann, who has usually won his event when pitted against class AA foes, had to settle for second place with a heave of 142-8, about five feet below his best distance. Kothmann fouled on all three of his tosses in the finals, and had to use his best mark in the preliminaries.

Whiteside, likewise unbeatable in the early season, managed a best jump of 20-11, and placed only third, to miss qualifying for the regional meet by about four inches. Whiteside also had a good jump rubbed out by a narrow scratch.

The Chiefs showed depth in the high jump, where Mike Hutson placed third with a 6-2 effort; Scott Fangman was fourth and Kevin Kothmann sixth, both at 6-0. Also, in the pole vault, where Leslie White was third, Ernest Mills fourth and Chuck Nichols fifth.

Jeff Peak was fifth in the shot put and Joe Malouf fourth in the long jump, to round out Friona's scoring during the opening day's events.

Running events were on tap for Friday. Friona is one of the favorites in the mile relay, and could score big in the 880, 440, 440-yard relay and intermediate hurdles. Dimmitt was expected to dominate the sprints, with Olton scoring big in the hurdles.

The scores after the first day's events were as follows: Friona 42; Muleshoe 39; Olton 34; Morton 21; Dimmitt 19; Littlefield 0.

Little Dribbler Stars Edged In Tournament

Friona's American Division Little League all-stars were eliminated from post-season competition in their series with the Dalhart all-stars, by scores of 34-32 in their game here and 34-24 in their game at Dalhart.

The Friona team had held the lead for virtually the entire game in their playoff game at Friona, only to lose it in the final stages, and aided by an unusual violation call by an official during a free throw attempt.

Friona held a 17-12 lead in this game at the half, and had a nine-point lead at one time.

But Dalhart kept nibbling at the lead, tying it up at the end of the third quarter, and then pulling out the two-point win in the latter stages of the game.

Mark Murphy scored 12 points, and Charlie Veazey and Charlie Morgan scored six points each for the Friona all-stars to pace their scoring.

The game at Dalhart was just the reverse, with Friona getting off to a bad start. Dalhart led, 8-2 at the end of the first quarter, and 17-10 at the half.

Friona came to life in the third quarter, outscoring their hosts, 10-5, to cut the lead to 22-20, but Dalhart responded with a 12-point fourth quarter to wrap up the win.

Mark Murphy was the leading scorer for the Friona team with eight points.

"The parents should be real proud of the kids who took part in this year's Little Dribbler program. They are the type of kids that, if they stay together all through school, could get Friona back to the state basketball tournament," said Ron Cain, who along with Jackie Morgan served as coach for the all-stars.

Squaws Qualify Four For Regional

REGIONAL BOUND..... Robin Zetsche, shown during her second-place finish in the district mile run, earned the right to compete at the regional meet at Lubbock.

Three members of the Friona Squaws' track and field team qualified in four events for the regional meet in Lubbock this weekend, and were set to compete at the Star's press time this week.

Sylvia Malouf, who has been consistent in the jumping events, qualified for the regional meet in both the triple jump, which she won, and the long jump, where she placed second.

Miss Malouf jumped 34-1 in the triple jump, to win the District 3-AA gold medal by an eyelash. Second place was 34-0. In the long jump, she again survived the microscope, winning second place by an inch over Evelyn Grace of Muleshoe with a 15-11 reading.

Paige Osborn won the open 440-yard dash in the time of 60.9, a relatively easy win, to also qualify for regional, and Robin Zetsche qualified by placing second in the mile with a 6:15.6 effort, a new school record in the event.

Barely edged out of the regional meet was Varla Welch in the discus event, after a throw of 89-3. Miss Welch placed third, and was named alternate to the regional meet.

Also edged by an eyelash for a regional spot was Friona's mile relay team, edged by Olton for second place by about two yards. Miss Osborn ran a super anchor lap to pull the team up, after it had trailed by 20 to 30 yards, but just ran out of space at the finish. Other team members were Norma Barlow, Sylvia Malouf and Kimber Britting. The team ran a 4:19.2.

The 880-yard relay team, which was Friona's "main event" last year, placed fourth with a time of 1:51.9. Members of the foursome were Cindy Cleveland, Kimber Britting, Sylvia Malouf and Paige Osborn.

The Squaws' 440-yard relay team of Renae Monroe, Julie Owen, Varla Welch and Cindy Cleveland placed fifth with a time of 53.5.

Other point-makers for the team included Mary Lafuente, fifth in the 880-yard dash, 2:45.8; Kimber Britting, fourth in the 220-yard dash, 28.1; Varla Welch, fifth in the 220-yard dash, 29.3; Renae Monroe, fourth in the 80-yard hurdles, 11.9; Julie Owen, sixth in the hurdles, 12.3.

Also, Cindy Cleveland, fourth in the 100-yard dash, 12.2 (Miss Cleveland had run a time of 11.8 in the preliminaries); Kena Noland, fourth in the high jump, 4-8 and Miss Cleveland fifth in the long jump, 15-2.

As a team, the Squaws placed fifth in the district meet, with 89 points, with Miss Malouf's 23 points pacing the team.

Heart Association's Goal: One CPR Per Family

The goal of the American Heart Assn. is to have at least one person out of each family certified in CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation).

CPR is a life-saving technique that can be used at any time, any place, and without having to have any specialized equipment. It is designed primarily to save the lives of persons who experience heart attacks.

A number of CPR classes have been given locally, and the Friona chapter of the American Heart Assn. plans to teach the CPR course to the physical education classes at FHS the first two weeks in May. The course is currently being taught at Farwell.

The chapter hopes eventually to have the CPR course as a regular part of the health curriculum in high school, with all students exposed to it before graduation.

The CPR course, which require only six hours of time, are free of charge. Plans are to give regular classes during the fall on a once a month basis.

The American Heart Assn. recommends that persons who have taken a CPR course be re-certified once a year, in order to stay abreast of changes in techniques.

"It's a relatively new concept, and some of the things taught originally have been changed. New ideas are being advanced all the time," says Pat Fleming, program chairman for the Parmer County chapter of the AHA.

Day Care Center Opens In Friona

Something new and unique for Friona, to be opening soon, will be the licensed day care center for pre-school age children. The center will be known as "It's a Child's World" and is being run by Debra Reed and Gail Meason.

The ladies will be holding an open house at the center next week starting Wednesday and lasting through Saturday, April 26-29. They will be happy to show people through the new facility and invite the public to come by on these days between the hours of 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

The center will offer many varied activities for the little ones. The location is 1402 West 5th, the former location of the American Ag Office.

The building is being completely remodeled with the children in mind.

Plans are for the center to be opened by May 1st with pre-enrollment now going on.

Some of the activities which will be featured at the center are the music hour, the art hour, the science hour, outdoor activities and free play. There are play-centers for both boys and girls for the free play time.

Children 18 months old and younger will be provided with a nursery which is separate from the older ones. The nursery will feature manipulative and climbing equipment designed especially for that age group.

The children will receive a morning and afternoon snack and a hot meal at noon. There will also be from one and one-half to two hours of quiet time for resting each day.

A weekly menu will be posted at the first of each week and is set up on a required percentage of the child's minimum daily food intake.

"All children attending the center, must have the required shots for their age level" according to Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Meason.

These ladies are required to have at least 12 hours of training in child care per year in order to be licensed by the state. The center and its activities must also pass rigid requirements.

"It's A Child's World" will be open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. till 5 p.m. each day. However, the owners will be on hand slightly before 8 a.m. and will stay for a short time after 5 p.m. in order to accommodate the parents getting to and from working places.

The center will offer decreasing rates for those parents with more than one child and for those whose children will be attending on a regular basis.

For more information on pre-enrollment, you are invited to call Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Meason at 247-3460 or 247-2205.

SCS Begins New Role

A new leaflet explaining the Resources Conservation Act of 1977 and the public's role in its implementation is now available at offices of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service.

Under the new law, SCS will appraise the nation's soil, water, and related resources; develop a comprehensive five year strategy to guide conservation efforts; and evaluate the effectiveness of ongoing conservation programs. SCS will carry out the work in cooperation with appropriate citizen groups; conservation districts; and other federal, state, and local agencies. The appraisal and program will be completed by the end of 1979 and updated every five years.

Copies of the leaflet "Your Role in Conservation's Future" may be obtained by calling 247-2220 or coming by the S.C.S. office in Friona.

"The Parmer County Soil and Water Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service will co-sponsor a workshop or open meeting about this legislation in the future," Mack Mauldin, SCS district conservationist, said, "and it would be helpful to read the leaflet before the meeting."

Mauldin said that public participation is a built-in feature of the Resources Conservation Act, and suggestions from interested groups or individuals are welcome at any time.

U.S. Food Supply Is Jeopardized

The American consumer has never had to worry about adequate supplies of food. However, with the producers of this food being forced out of business because of high production costs and low market prices, America's food supply could be in jeopardy, according to officials of Grain Sorghum Producers Association, which represents thousands of U.S. sorghum farmers.

American agriculture cannot continue to produce under the present cost-price squeeze. Last year it cost the average farmer $2.52 to produce a bushel of corn. That same bushel of corn sold for $2.23-29 cents less than the cost of production. Over the U.S. that meant a total loss of $1.8 billion for corn farmers.

American housewives are concerned about rapidly rising costs, especially food costs, but partly because of increased agricultural efficiency (brought about partially because of better and bigger equipment), and partly because consumer income has increased faster than food prices, the family income buys considerably more food today than 25 years ago. Note the following chart provided by the Agriculture Council of America.

AMOUNT OF FOOD THE AVERAGE U.S. FACTORY WORKER COULD BUY WITH 1 HOUR'S WAGES

FOOD ITEM	1950	1976
White Bread	10.1 lbs.	14.7 lbs.
Frying Chicken	2.4 lbs.	8.7 lbs.
Milk	7.5 qts.	12.5 qts.
Eggs	2.4 doz.	6.3 doz.
Pork Chops	1.9 lbs.	2.8 lbs.

Opponent of higher prices for farmers argue that food prices will rise dramatically if farmers get more money for their products. Congressional studies show, though, that if commodity prices were to increase even to the levels stated in recent farm bills, the increase to the average family of four would only amount to about one cent per meal per person.

These same people also say that costlier agricultural products would cause a substantial decrease in U.S. agricultural exports.

U.S. Department of Agriculture economic studies have shown that though there would be a definite decrease in the volume of U.S. agricultural exports, the higher prices (at full parity) would result in an overall increase in agricultural export value of between $6 and $10 billion annually—which would cut the national balance of trade deficit in half!

Bankrupt farmers don't produce. And agriculture affects everybody. The American consumer has the highest standard of living at the lowest cost, thanks to American agriculture. This can continue if the farmer is given a fair shake—reasonable, above cost-of-production prices.

Grain Sorghum Producers Association is a national organization of farmers dedicated to aggressively trying to solve the problems of grain sorghum producers.

HONORED....Fred Flores, member of the Friona Fire Department, was honored with a certificate this week on the completion of 160 hours of training at various fire schools. Making the presentation was Friona mayor B.K. Buske, right. Fire Chief Ralph Shirley looks on.

Decision On Emergency Farm Bill Alarms Price

Senator Bob Price said recently that he was alarmed by the comments of the Carter Administration's agricultural spokesman, Dr. Howard York, at the House and Senate conference on the Emergency Farm Bill in Washington.

Senator Price attended the conference and visited the conferees to discuss the various proposals put forth.

"The Administration is committed to a cheap food policy," Price said. "The Administration tipped its hand when Dr. York stated that the administration is afraid of production being reduced to an extent that it will reduce supplies and increase prices."

During his visit with the conferees, Senator Price encouraged them to pass legislation that will be fair and equitable to both farmers and consumers.

"I don't believe consumers expect to buy their food at substandard prices, and farmers should not be expected to produce food and fiber for the people of this country and the world at prices that force them out of business. I was very disturbed when the administration admitted that it prefers large surpluses, and large supplies in warehouse, so that it can sell our agricultural products to foreign countries at a cheap price.

"The day for a decision is here. We either help the American farmer now, or face skyrocketing food prices for American consumers and the loss of additional thousands of American agricultural producers."

Senator Price went to Washington at his own expense, along with many Texas agricultural producers, to provide assistance in the development of sound legislation that would be beneficial to the residents of his district, the State of Texas, and the nation as a whole. The Texas Legislature does not meet until January of 1979.

Price said that since he had been a member of the U.S. House

Agriculture Committee when he was in Congress, he was given the opportunity Monday to attend the conference committee meeting, to listen to the debate, and to visit with members—both Republicans and Democrats, from the House and from the Senate—of the conference committee.

96% OF THE POPULATION WILL NOT FEED YOU!

It's hard for Americans to realize, but at this very moment in many of the under developed countries of the world 50% to 80% of the population is still engaged in the direct production of food.

And it hasn't been long since the same was true in our country. Less than 40 years ago when our country was recovering from the great depression — approximately 85% of all Americans were living on farms and ranches. Today less than 4% of our population are engaged in food production.

A major reason for the high standard of living that we all enjoy is the efficiency of American farmers and ranchers. Their efficiency frees the other 96% to produce the color television sets, sports cars, microwave ovens and other products we enjoy so much. It also frees people to become heart surgeons, chemical engineers, T. V. Stars and professional football quarterbacks.

Thanks farmers for the continuing contribution you are making to our abundant life.

Agriculture is basic in Texas. America needs a strong agriculture.

What's Washin' In Washington?

By JAN U. TURNER
President Carter and the Trilateral Commission: The Congressional Record, November 15, 1977, E7014, Hon. Larry McDonald of Georgia.

Brzezinski's New World Order
"It was spelled out in Brzezinski's book 'Between Two Ages: America's Role in the Technetronic Era (1970) and sharply refined in subsequent monographs, Foreign Affairs articles, and Trilateral Commission reports that--the Western peoples, since their identifiable beginnings in the feudal era, have advanced through three great stages and are now entering a fourth and culminating stage," analyzes presidential advisor Richard Gardner in an April 1974 issue of Foreign Affairs, official journal of the Council on Foreign Relations.

"The first stage was that of religion...The second stage was that of nationalism...In the wake of Western nationalism has come Marxism, which, says Brzezinski, 'represents a further vital and creative stage in the maturing of man's universal vision.' But progress by no means stops there. Beyond religion, nationalism, and Marxism, we now have, he tells us, his emerging technetronic-age ideal of rational humanism on the global scale.

"Rational humanism as Brzezinski represents it is to be the result of evolutionary transformations in the U.S. and the U.S.S.U..."

This is the old Marxist dialectic of theses, antitheses, and synthesis. The U.S. and the Soviet Union are to be synthesized in a New World Order. In Foreign Policy for Winter 1975-1976, Brzezinski stated: "It is clear that both an institutional, as well as a political, reorganization is required."

Indeed, which is what Jimmy Carter's demand for a total "reorganization" of the U.S. Government is all about. The Carter "reorganization" scheme was planned by Zbig and David Rockefeller long before Carter became a Presidential candidate. As early as 1970, Brzezinski called openly for the destruction of the U.S. Constitution. In his book Between Two Ages he forecast the April 1976 Philadelphia meeting to write a new U.S. Constitution. The Trilateral director wrote: "The approaching two-hundredth anniversary of the Declaration of Independence could justify the call for a national constitutional convention to re-examine the nation's formal institutional framework. Either 1976 or 1989--the two hundredth anniversary of the Constitution--could serve as a suitable target date for culminating a national dialogue on the relevance of existing arrangements, the workings of the representative process...and of streamlining the administrative structure."

Brzezinski said 1976 or 1989 "would provide a suitable occasion for redefining the meaning of modern democracy" for the purpose of "setting ambitious and concrete social goals."

All of this is to be related to the international scheme. Brzezinski admitted in Foreign Policy magazine for Summer 1976 that any such 'new economic order' seriously threatens 'the traditional American values of individualism, free enterprise the work ethic, and efficiency'. But the Trilateral and Council on Foreign Relations director stated that "the desire for a 'new economic order' is symptomatic of the new global mood."

The New York Times for August 1, 1976, reported that Carter "would give priority to international economic questions, particularly between poor and industrialized states, sharing the resources of the seas, food and natural resources." This news report correctly sums up the Carter-Trilateral objective of stripping America of food and resources for shipment to the Third World nations and the Soviet Union. Brzezinski observed that it is too bad many Americans still see this "as a claim on their resources and as portending the confiscation of the fruits of their labor..." Which, of course, it is.

The Times also says that, advised by Zbigniew Brzezinski, Jimmy Carter "has established a consistent theme in his foreign policy statements: 'We must replace balance of power politics with world order politics.'" Since Brzezinski holds that the "Nation-state as a fundamental unit of man's organized life has ceased to be the principal creative force," what will replace it? He gives us a hint when he states: "International banks and multi-national corporations are acting and planning in terms that are far in advance of the political concepts of the nation-state." You can see why David likes Ziggy. The Rockefeller and their fellow Insiders want to replace the nation-state, including our own, with a New World Order dominated by international banks and multi-national corporations.

Once the industrialized nations of the West have been successfully chained together, the next move anticipated by the C.F.R. (Council on Foreign Relations)-Trilateral crowd involves bringing in the Communists.

TRILATERALISM: Partnership for What?

Princeton's Professor Richard Ullman, director of the C.F.R.'s "1980's Project," states in his article "Trilateralism: 'Partnership' For What?" in the October 1976 issue of Foreign Affairs: "...over the next decade, as the shared characteristics which set the trilateral states off from the other members of the community of nation-states become less distinct...the ranks of the industrialized countries will include not merely the democratic, market-economy nations on the one hand and the Soviet Union and its East European allies on the other..."

Meanwhile, until the Great Merger can be made in the 1980s, Brzezinski wants to do everything possible to aid the Communists so they can be brought into the New World Order on a more equal basis. The Big Z has been playing this tune for a long time. In New Republic for August 31, 1963, he wrote: "The aim should be to improve the standard of living and the way of life in the Communist states..." He justifies this by denying that the Communists have any aggressive intentions. As far back as 1967, Brzezinski wrote: "Communism, the principal and until recently the most militant revolutionary ideology of our day is dead." Since he pronounced Communism a corpse, the Reds have taken Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, Angola, and Mozambique. Brzezinski's reaction is to want to improve their standard of living. You get the picture on Zbigniew when you read in the December 17, 1976 issue of the Los Angeles Times: "Asked his views on Detente with the Soviet Union, he said he favored 'accommodation' with the Russians." Accommodation through merger.

According to the Washington Post of December 17, 1976: "The incoming President decried Brzezinski yesterday as 'the key advisor for me' in global affairs while 'I have been an eager student in the last two or three years' in what amounted to a private tutored course." The voice of Carter is the voice of Brzezinski. Which is the price Carter was willing to pay to become President of the United States. When Jimmy Carter speaks on foreign policy his lips will be moving, but it will be Zbigniew Brzezinski speaking--just as Kissinger did for Nixon and Ford--while the Rockefeller pull the strings.

Carter Signs U.N. Treaties Worse Than Panama.

(By Alice Widener, Publisher, U.S.A. Magazine) Reprinted in Congressional Record, October 14, 1977, H11026.

NEW YORK CITY, October 6, 1977--The two United Nations treaties that President Carter signed publicly at the U.N. on October 5, 1977 are worse, far worse than the two Panama Canal treaties he already signed. The Panama Canal treaties can gut us from without; the U.N. treaties can gut us from within.

WHY?
The United Nations Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and the United Nations Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights--both signed by President Carter and subject to ratification by the U.S. Senate now--specifically exclude private property, as a human right. Both U.N. treaties exclude our right to own private property individually or in association with others. Both U.N. so-called 'human rights' treaties permit government seizure of property without any kind of compensation.

The U.N. so-called Human Rights Treaties are in violation of our Constitution. It specifically protects our property rights. The Fifth Amendment states: "...nor shall any person...be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, now shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation." The Fourteenth Amendment states: "...nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law."

As finally drafted in 1966, the United Nations Covenants signed by President Carter authorize the expropriation or nationalization of any private property considered as "necessary or desirable" by any Member State of the United Nations. This amounts to U.N. sanction of the right of theft of property, a fact that has repeatedly been pointed out by U.S. delegates to the U.N. by all administrations previous to the Carter Administration since 1948, when the U.N. Universal Declaration of Human Rights was adopted.

After that event in 1948, the United Nations continually tried to codify the Universal Declaration. From the very first discussions, the Soviet Union and its satellites strenuously objected to Article 17 of the U.N. Universal Declaration of Human Rights which stated: "Everyone has the right to own property alone as well as in association with others. No one shall be arbitrarily deprived of his property." That is the fundamental U.N. Human Right approved by President Harry Truman when he endorsed the U.N. Universal Declaration. That is the essential human right--the right to own private property--which has made our country great. That is the prime right all Americans enjoy. Without it, all our other rights would be without significance.

Repeatedly, some ultra-liberals in our State Department have tried to get away with the assertion that the two United Nations Covenants which President Carter signed are not "treaties". The reason they allege this is that they know full well that according to our Constitution, treaty law is the supreme law of our land and international treaties supersede all else. But the United Nations itself refers in all its historical documents to the Human Rights Covenants as "treaties". Furthermore, Kathleen Teltsch, New York Times correspondent at the U.N., says in her article of October 6, about the President's signing of the two U.N. covenants, "Previous American administrations declined to sign the pacts, which also require Senate ratification. They felt that Americans' rights were adequately protected, and United Nations treaties were regarded as interference..."

Many Senators honestly believe that President Carter's big push for human rights is essentially anti-Soviet. The facts are, however, that nothing could be more pro-Soviet and socialist than the United Nations Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and the United Nations Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights.

Mr. and Mrs. H.A. Hyde have had grandchildren visiting them. Mr. and Mrs. Juan Sandoval and daughter, Geneica, of Albuquerque were here a day or two.

Juan and Granddad Hyde spent some time driving around the farms. Getting out in the country is a treat for Hyde, who is still a farmer at heart even though he is retired.

Then Kip Kimbrough came from Edmond, Oklahoma. He attends Central State University there and is employed by the Baptist Student Union.

Kip accompanied a group of students to the Baptist Encampment near Amarillo for a weekend retreat. He was allowed some free time, so came down to visit his maternal grandparents.

Co. Teachers Name New Officer Slate

Parmer County Teachers Association met for its final meeting of the year on April 3 at the Farwell Cafeteria. Jeanne Mosley of Friona, president, opened the meeting with the welcoming address followed by the Pledge of Allegiance and W.M. Roberts led the invocation. Reports submitted by the secretary and the treasurer were accepted as printed. A report of the T.S.T.A. Convention was presented by Anne Corn of Farwell, who attended the meeting in Dallas along with Jeanne Mosley. Mattie Bell Ray of Friona was the installing officer for the following new officers: Anne Corn of Farwell, president; Richard Montgomery of Farwell, president-elect; Frances Boling of Farwell, secretary; and Virginia Cleveland of Friona, treasurer. A representative from the Teacher's Services gave an explanation of the benefits of the program. The meeting was adjourned for the year.

--Library Report--

"Hear That Lonesome Whistle Blow," by Dee Brown is available at Friona Public Library.

In February 1854 the first railroad from the East reached the Mississippi; by the end of the nineteenth century five major transcontinental railroads linked the East Coast with the Pacific Ocean and thousands of miles of tracks crisscrossed the West, a vast and virginal land just a few years before.

The story of this extraordinary undertaking is one of breathtaking technological ingenuity, other worldly idealism, and all-too worldly greed. The heroes and villains were Irish laborers, Chinese coolies, intrepid engineers, avaricious bankers, stock manipulators, and corrupt politicians. Before it was over more than 155 million acres were given away to the railroad magnates, Indian tribes were decimated, the buffalo were driven from the Great Plains, millions of immigrants were lured from Europe, and a colossal continental nation was built.

Woven into this dramatic narrative are the origins of present-day governmental corruption, the first ties between powerful corporations and politicians who "enjoyed the frequent showers of money that fell upon them from railroad stock manipulators, and gave away America." How the people of that time responded to disillusionments that are remarkably similar to our own adds a contemporary dimension to this story.

Carrie Tatum Gives Program On Crafts

Friona Woman's Club held their regular meeting in the Club House Wednesday with all but one member present.

The roll call was answered with "My Favorite Craft." This was followed by "A Craft Demonstration" by Carrie Tatum, who showed works of art and crafts and equipment necessary for making many items, such as paints, brushes, canvas boards, tracing books and pads, magazines, decoupage and latch hook rug making.

She reported on a workshop she plans to attend in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Mrs. Anna Mae Hays served as hostess. The refreshments carried out the spring theme.

The next club meeting will be on arts with an exhibition of local art. Katie Osborn will be the hostess.

LOY BETH CHRISTIAN....Mr. and Mrs. Wendol Christian of Farwell announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Loy Beth, to Joe Lynn McLellan of Friona. The couple will

Students Produce Safety Filmstrip

Fifth grade students at Friona Junior High School have produced their own colorful filmstrip on traffic safety with materials provided free of charge by the Texas Office of Traffic Safety. Teachers of the classes are Linda Carson, Loy Christian, Ann Graves, Kay Hinton and Rosemary Melton.

In "The Safest Show On Earth," class members create their own illustrations for a full color, sound filmstrip exploring key aspects of passenger, bicycle and pedestrian safety.

The Texas Office of Traffic Safety makes available to the school all necessary materials without cost for "The Safest Show on Earth." After the students finish their illustrations, the drawings are processed into a filmstrip by Media Intensive Learning Corporation, designers of the program.

The filmstrip is returned to the class originating the drawings, along with a lively soundtrack cassette narrated by children. Both the filmstrip and the cassette become the property of the school.

More than a half million children across the nation have participated in the program to date. Initial evidence from evaluation efforts in Texas indicates that the program is contributing to a reduction in traffic accidents among school children.

Lutheran Hour Rally To Be Held

Ranked as the world's largest non-government radio operation, The Lutheran Hour, now in its 45th season of broadcasting, is heard by approximately 40,000,000 persons each week in more than 125 lands.

A rally in behalf of The Lutheran Hour will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 23, at Civic Center Auditorium in Amarillo. Dr. Oswald Hoffmann will be the rally speaker.

The Lutheran Hour utilizes more than 40 languages in its broadcast over more than 1,700 stations, in some instances piercing the Iron and Bamboo Curtains.

Locally the program is heard each Sunday at 9 a.m. on Radio Station KDJW and 12:30 p.m. on Radio Station KGNC Amarillo, and on Radio Station KMUL Muleshoe at 12:30 p.m.

The Lutheran Hour, which features dynamic Bible-centered messages and beautiful choral music, annually receives more than 650,000 pieces of mail. As many as 18,000 letters have been received in a single day. Experts in various foreign languages are required to translate many replies which are sent to listeners everywhere.

Dr. Oswald Hoffmann, regarded as one of America's outstanding Protestant clergymen, has been the speaker on the world-wide Gospel broadcast since September, 1955. The International Lutheran Laymen's League, which sponsors The Lutheran Hour, is an auxiliary organization of the 2,800,000-member Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

The rally also will feature choral music by a 90 voice senior choir and a children's choir as well as singing by the audience. Another special feature will be the colorful parade of the nations flags.

The Lutheran Hour has but one purpose: Bringing Christ to the Nations, telling the world about the way to eternal life, through Jesus Christ.

Announcing

I would like to announce that I have found it necessary to take another job. . . but I would also like to say that I am still able to take care of radiator repairing in my Radiator Shop.

I have had over 30 years of experience. I will assure you that I can do anything right here in Friona to a radiator, heater core or irrigation well cooling coil that can be done at Hereford, Amarillo, Clovis or Lubbock. So if given a chance, I will do my best to do you a good dependable job.

My work is guaranteed for 90 days. I clean, repair, and rebuild radiators. The work that comes in during the day is usually ready the next morning. So, folks, the choice is yours. Your patronage would be greatly appreciated. My current working hours are after 5 p.m. on week days and all day Saturday.
