MORE THAN TWO INCHES ESTIMATED

Heavy Rain Drenches County

Unannounced rains, which crept into the county in the early hours of Tuesday morning, dumped from 1.5 to as much as two inches of moisture over the county.

The rains were still falling at 11 a.m., and heavily overcast skies held no prospect of an immediate let up in the precipitation. The temperature was 45 degrees and the slanting rain was cold enough to keep the streets clear of pedestrians.

HEAVIEST SINCE MAY

The rain was the heaviest the county has had since May 10, according to the U.S. Experiment Station. On May 10, the station reported 2.39 inches of moisture. Today's reading was 1.64 at 8 a.m. and it was near two inches at 11 a.m.

Apparently the rain was general and all parts of the county shared about equally in the precipitation.

The moisture brought a complete shutdown to the cotton harvest. Gins were idle today and operators were watching the raindrops soaking into the loaded trailers waiting turns.

While bulk of the cotton has been stripped, there are still hundreds of bales to be handled. The heavy rain will do damage to this cotton, farmers felt, and it will certainly slow down efforts of the growers to complete their crops before Dec. 10.

OVER 21 INCHES

The 1.64 inch report at the U.S. Experiment Station brought to 2.76 inch the total rain for November. This brings the year's measurement to 21.16 inches. The last year in which a total of more than 21 inches was reached was 1966, when the year-end figure was 22.52.

Rain reports from various parts of town showed from 1.5 to as much as 1.75 at 8 a.m.

The rain was without bad side effects. It fell quietly and caused no damage.

Reports from points in the county: Experiment Station 1.64; TESCO Switching Plant 1.24; Elbow 1.40; Lomax 1.50; Coahoma 1.70; Sand Springs 1.75; Moss Creek, 1.40; Vincent, 1.50 to 1.75; Luther, 1.60; Fairview, 1.5 to 2; Knott, 1.50.

LAKE CATCHES SOME

The Colorado River Municipal Water District reported 1.65 inches at the Lake J. B. Thomas dam, 1.20 at the Big Spring-Odessa intake four miles west, 1.60 at the Morgan Creek pump station midway between Big Spring and the lake. At the pump station, just north of town on the Snyder highway, the amount was measured at 1.60 at 8 a.m., while in the Martin County station, in central part of the county, the total dropped off to .60 of an inch.

Snow Forecast For Panhandle, Plains

By The Associated Press

Cold rains fell in Northwest Texas today and forecasts called for a little snow mixed with the moisture in the Panhandle-Plains sector by evening.

Colorado City in West Texas had reported 1.58 inch of rain before 7 a.m. Wichita Falls in North Central Texas reported 1.46 inch.

Other rainfalls over an inch were recorded at Haskell, Rotan and Woodson all in Northwest Texas.

The moisture came in the wake of Texas' latest cool front. Winds up to 25 miles per hour accentuated the chill in places.

In early morning the forward edge of the new Pacific front slanted toward the southwest along a line linking the Childress, Lubbock and El Paso areas.

In addition to rainfall in its immediate vicinity, there were scattered showers in West and North Central Texas, and from the vicinity of Del Rio on the Mexican border to near Austin.

Temperatures generally held above freezing, but winter was expected to take a sharper bite at northern and western sections of the state by Wednesday morning.

At many points the moisture amounted to no more than a drizzle.

Decision Pends On Mine Rescue Work

MANNINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Rescue leaders and company officials indicate they may have to reach an immediate decision on whether they have gone as far as they can in trying to rescue 78 men trapped for six days in a coal mine wracked by explosion and fire.

Most of those directing the rescue operation said they were "not quite" ready to make such a decision but time and continued setbacks are working against them.

Almost every rescue method, almost every device known—except for sealing the mine and the fate of the 78 along with it—has been brought into play in the tense six days since the first blast shattered through Mountaineer Coal Co. No. 9 mine.

The 99-man midnight shift was about to finish its work last Wednesday morning when the mine quivered from the explosion. The other 21 managed to escape or were rescued.

Adding to the problem was a report on the analysis of gas content in the mine shaft where a slim copper tube poked through and sucked it to the surface for examination.

The report on the sample showed it to contain 7.4 per cent deadly methane gas—more than three times the limit for humans—and one per cent carbon monoxide, 50 times the tolerable limit.

"You and I could not live in it," President John Corcoran of Consolidation Coal Co., parent firm of Mountaineer, told a news conference.

"We know the hopes are slim," Corcoran said. "Let's face it. The question now is how much longer do we go before the judgment has to be made, that based on all the evidence accumulated, that the very best job that can be done has been done."

But Corcoran contended that point had not been reached.

He said, "It's pretty evident that as every day goes by, and the situation doesn't improve, the situation grows dimmer."

Charges Of Murder Filed

Murder with malice charges — two counts — were filed in Jess Slaughter's Justice of the Peace Court late Monday, naming Manuel Castro, 40, in the shooting deaths of Evaristo C. Medina and Joe G. Solis. The two were killed in a gun fight early Sunday morning at the Big Boss Lounge, N. Seventh and N. Lancaster.

No bond was set, because technically Castro has not been arrested, according to Slaughter. Castro is in Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital being treated for a bullet wound he received during the shooting.

At present, there are no plans to arrest Castro until he is released from the hospital, Detective Sherrill Farmer said.

"We don't want to do anything which would interfere with the accused receiving medical care," said district attorney Wayne Burns, when the charges were filed.

S. Viet Near End Of Peace Talks Boycott

PARIS (AP) — A mystery envoy from Saigon was reported in Paris today preparing for the arrival soon of Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky. This indicated South Vietnam's boycott of the Paris peace talks is nearing its end.

Qualified informants said if all goes well Ky is likely to arrive with a South Vietnamese delegation by next week, clearing the way for the resumption of the negotiations that have been suspended since Nov. 6.

AGREEMENT

An American-South Vietnamese agreement on the terms of Saigon's participation in the conference is imminent, according to reports from both Saigon and Washington. President Nguyen Van Thieu is expected to announce his government's readiness to participate in the Paris talks with the United States, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front in a few days.

Informants said the mystery man from Saigon arrived during the weekend to arrange the many protocol details connected with the reception and accommodation of the South Vietnamese vice president.

He was reported to be a high official in Ky's own office, but the South Vietnamese mission withheld his name "for reasons of security."

The official will be returning to Saigon in the next two days or so, sources said.

South Vietnamese officials suggested that the agreement under which Thieu would agree to participate in the Paris talks might take this form:

LEADING ROLE

South Vietnam would have the "leading role" on the allied side of the table when certain major issues were discussed, particularly anything touching on the political settlement of the war.

The United States would have top say on such matters as withdrawal of its troops from South Vietnam and a matching North Vietnamese pullback.

The United States would assure South Vietnam again that it would resist any Communist effort to impose a coalition government on the South.

The South Vietnamese would "ignore" the presence at the table of the National Liberation Front.

High State Department sources in Washington viewed the situation with "utmost caution" and none would venture a guess whether announcement of a U.S.-South Vietnamese agreement might come in hours or days.

Informants pointed out that once before, on Oct. 31, the United States had every reason to believe South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu had agreed to the "package" of halting the bombing of North Vietnam and transforming the bilateral Paris talks into a four-way affair.

Thieu, however, refused to join the talks that were scheduled to start Nov. 6. He objected to the possibility that direct talks with the National Liberation Front—political arm of the Viet Cong guerrillas—would give the appearance of heading toward a coalition government in the South.

INSISTED

He also insisted Saigon delegates head the U.S.-South Vietnam team.

Thieu and U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker have been drafting an agreement, taking it word by word, Washington officials said.

These discussions, they said, have reached the point where an announcement is considered imminent.

Reports that Saigon is near agreement to join the talks came after a day of activity in Washington.

President Johnson met with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and then with the National Security Council, comprised of the top presidential military, diplomatic and intelligence aides. A White House spokesman said no special events required the meeting.

Rusk later met with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin who is scheduled to return shortly to Moscow for consultations.

Johnson had been expected to enter the hospital momentarily for a checkup on a chronic intestinal disorder. It was not clear whether the visit had been delayed or just not firmly scheduled yet.

FOUR-SIDED

After President Johnson halted the bombing of the North last month, Hanoi agreed to four-sided talks in Paris with North Vietnam and the NLF on one side of the table and Saigon and the United States on the other.

Thieu objected to considering the talks four sided with the NLF having equal status. The U.S. has considered the proposed talks as two-sided the "our side, your side" principle that avoids an appearance of direct dealings between Saigon and the NLF.

Allies Invade DMZ For Battle With Enemy Force

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese infantrymen invaded the demilitarized zone today for the first time since President Johnson called the bombing halt Nov. 1.

American infantrymen, planes and artillery were reported fighting an enemy force 500 yards inside the southern half of the zone just above Con Thien. The South Vietnamese reported at least three North Vietnamese killed in a brief clash seven miles to the east, about a mile inside the DMZ northwest of Gio Linh.

NO CASUALTIES

By late afternoon there were no reports of any U.S. or government casualties.

The U.S. Command said the Marines entered the DMZ because intelligence reports indicated enemy activity creating a possible threat to U.S. forces at Con Thien.

A spokesman said about 9:50 a.m. a reconnaissance patrol from the 3rd Marine Division ran into enemy troops that fired assault rifles and 50-caliber machine guns from fortified positions. The patrol returned the fire, and an hour later Marine reinforcements pushed into the DMZ.

The spokesman said the fact that the Leathernecks made contact "is a fairly good confirmation" of intelligence reports indicating a threat to Con Thien.

South Vietnamese headquarters said it sent a reconnaissance patrol into the southern half of the DMZ "to locate enemy mortar positions that have been firing on South Vietnamese units operating south of the DMZ."

South Vietnamese headquarters said its troops in the DMZ were involved in a brief fight two hours before dawn.

"The enemy employed small arms fire while the patrol members returned fire with their automatic weapons," a communique said. "Contact was lost almost immediately as the remaining enemy withdrew."

It said in addition to the three North Vietnamese reported killed, one enemy soldier was captured and said his unit was the 138th North Vietnamese Army Regiment.

CONTINGENT

U.S. and South Vietnamese officials contend that President Johnson's order halting the bombing of North Vietnam was made contingent on North Vietnam's not "abusing" the DMZ by using it for military operations.

But activity there has steadily increased, with the U.S. Command reporting shelling of allied units along the frontier, troop movements and firing on U.S. reconnaissance flights over the southern or South Vietnamese half of the zone. Each time U.S. artillery has replied, and the U.S. Command usually reports North Vietnamese guns and adjacent structures destroyed.

The U.S. Command announced earlier today that American guns and fighter planes attacked North Vietnamese positions in the DMZ Monday after five American reconnaisance planes were fired on. Spokesmen said two of the spotter planes were hit by machine-gun fire but returned safely to their bases.

This brought to 26 the number of "significant" incidents the U.S. Command has reported in the zone since Nov. 1.

DESTROYED

The U.S. Command said the fire Monday from American artillery, U.S. Navy ships offshore and Air Force fighter-bombers destroyed three machine-gun positions, two bunkers and 81 yards of trenches in the two halves of the DMZ.

School Strike Leaders Held

NEW YORK (AP) — Two key Negro leaders in the Ocean Hill-Brownsville school district were taken into custody by police today, as the state moved to preserve a shaky agreement which ended a seven-week teachers' strike last week.

The Rev. C. Herbert Oliver, chairman of the suspended Ocean Hill board, and Albert Vann, head of the Afro-American Teachers Association and a suspended teacher were arrested at Junior High School 271.

Police said the two refused to leave the school as requested by Herbert Johnson, the state trustee put in charge of the eight-school experimental Brooklyn district as part of the strike-ending agreement.

Both were to be booked on charges of criminal trespassing, police said.

The seizures came on the heels of a dispute over Johnson's decision Monday to temporarily remove from classes a union teacher accused of injuring a 12-year-old pupil at JHS 271.

The teacher, Fred Nauman, was reassigned pending a hearing.

PRESIDENT Offers Thanks To Servicemen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has singled out the nation's 3.5 million service men and women — whom he said bring hope and freedom from fear to Americans — in his Thanksgiving Day message.

"Foremost among those whom we remember," Johnson said, "are the brave men and women in uniform whose sacrifices have protected our nation and preserved our cherished heritage of freedom."

"We are one in gratitude on this Thanksgiving Day as we are reminded of your constant courage and unquestioned devotion to this country. For thanks to you, there is hope in the homes of America today, and the hearts of America are free from fear."

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, in his own message to the forces, said "none of our citizens deserves . . . gratitude more" than those serving in uniform.

Wilson Called 'Bully'

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson was accused in Parliament today of trying to bully West Germany into increasing the value of its mark. He angrily branded the reports as "quite false."

The row was touched off by reports that Wilson threatened Bonn with political retaliation during a midnight meeting with the West German ambassador at the height of last week's money crisis.

MPs pressed Wilson in the House of Commons today for an explanation of what one, Conservative Norman St. John Stevas, called the "deplorable bullying" of German allies.

He referred to dispatches in newspapers here and in Bonn that Wilson had made a veiled threat to withdraw British troops in Germany if Bonn refused to revalue the mark upwards.

Wilson replied that these reports of his talk with the ambassador were "snide." He deplored the newspaper stories but refused to comment on the substance of these talks.

PARIS (AP) — France's 1969 atomic test program in the South Pacific will be canceled and credits will be reduced for the supersonic transport plane Concorde as part of the French austerity program to save the franc, Premier Maurice Couve de Murville announced today.

Couve de Murville gave the National Assembly the news on civilian and military projects that will suffer in a cutback of the 1969 budget deficit from 11.7 billion francs—$2.34 billion—to 6.354 billion francs—$1.27 billion.

President Charles de Gaulle announced the deficit cut Sunday night in a radio address, but left it up to the premier to spell out the details.

Couve de Murville said the military budget will be trimmed by 400 million francs—$80 million—and that the 1969 atomic test program cannot be held. During this year's test series, France's first hydrogen devices were exploded.

The Concorde supersonic transport project is a joint venture with Great Britain. Its costs have ballooned from an estimated $448 million in 1962 to about $2 billion. The cut announced by Couve de Murville will be $12 million in the French contribution for 1969. It was not known how much delay this might cause in the program.

The first prototype is scheduled to fly late in December. The premier said that a 4.25 per cent payroll tax will be canceled, and adjustments made in the added value tax to compensate for the loss in revenue.

This is intended as an aid to exporters. The added value tax does not apply to exports. The elimination of the payroll tax will apply to all employees.

ADVANTAGE

Couve de Murville said there would be a double advantage to this since exports would be aided by lower costs to manufacturers, and imports will be subjected to the higher added value tax.

The belt-tightening program was designed to cut the government deficit almost in half, increase exports, improve the tax collection machinery and prevent rises in wages and prices. It was a companion to currency regulations announced Monday to keep speculators from shipping more francs out of the country in wholesale lots.

The only advance word on the austerity program came from De Gaulle himself in his broadcast Sunday night. He said reductions would be made in subsidies to nationalized industries and in previously planned expansions of the "civil, military and university" programs.

Meanwhile, as the new currency regulations went into effect, squads of security police manned border crossings and airports and searched travelers to make sure they took out no more currency than the relatively small amounts decreed Monday. Air lines and tourist agents reported heavy cancellations.

A LOVELIER YOU Cosmetics, Clothes Show Sheer Fashions

Transparency and fashion — the name's the same. From see-through dresses to see-through cosmetics, the whole world goes for a game of peek-a-boo.

Naturally, the trend reached to the fingertips. Enamels are sheer. Nothing is hidden. Unhappily, the viewing is not always of the best quality. So the time is ripe for this column to stress for the umpteenth time the need for educated nail care.

Something new really has been added to drinking gelatin. But this is not to downgrade gelatin. If it helps you, keep drinking. Whether or not you do, investigate protein and keratin brush-ons. Surveys prove that application helps to overcome nagging nail problems.

Updated products coat the nail with proteins in the hope of forming building blocks of health and strength. Application is simple. You simply brush on your product to clean unvarnished nails, touching up the over and under surfaces. After drying, polish may be applied. Should a break occur, heaven forbid, there are mending kits with reshaped tissue and liquid adhesive. Protein treatments may be brushed on top, as well as enamel.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I was wondering if anyone else had ever thought of lining their full-length draperies with a plastic opaque shower curtain? I did just this and it certainly helped to keep the drapes from fading or getting stains from the sweating windows.

The lightweight, inexpensive shower curtain is perfect. And they come in many colors.

One shower curtain was ample for six single-width draperies. Sure saved me money... Dot

Great idea, Dottie.

I wouldn't attach the plastic permanently to the material though. Too hard to wash and if you had to iron them — wow! Besides, they might shrink.

The plastic does NOT have to be hemmed. Some of you might want to get fancy though and use your pink shears... Heloise

Garden Designs Form Focal Points

A tasteful choice of garden ornaments can lend a new note of interest and dramatic impact to a lawn, but whether it's an elegant fountain or a simple paving-stone walk, it should be an integral part of the landscaping scheme, not an obvious afterthought.

A garden ornament generally looks best when it forms a focal point such as at the end of a garden path, in a corner of a lawn where paths meet, in the middle of a little garden, or near a garden pool. It shouldn't be placed as an exhibit but rather as a foil or point of contrast with the living plants in the garden.

A stone sundial, seat, fountain or birdbath blends particularly well with plants of rose, pink, lavender, or mauve coloring.

Dear Heloise: I found a way to give my children all the hot cocoa they want on school mornings without any messy pots to clean!

In a large canister I make cocoa mix. I stir about three parts dry whole milk with one part powdered cocoa and some sugar. (The kind I buy has some powdered milk in it.)

Then I put my powdered mixture in the cup — I keep a coffee measure in the canister for this — then just fill it up with very hot tap water.

Children don't want boiling hot cocoa anyway. This is easily made by my boys whenever they need a warm-up... Mrs. J. Schuster

HOW ABOUT SOME BROWN COTTON FOR A CHANGE? Novel bolls yielded by plants grown on farm southwest of here

Brown Cotton Will Grow Here And Weevils Like It

By SAM BLACKBURN

If there is any demand for brown cotton — naturally brown lint, if you please — it will grow here.

"I figure if I had a field of the stuff and if it all turned out like the five stalks I grew near the well, it would make about three bales to the acre," said J. E. Kennedy, who lives in Cartersville, about 14 miles southwest on the Garden City road.

The cotton looks much like the mill-run varieties grown here. The only difference is that the lint, instead of being white, is a dark yellowish brown. The clusters of lint are shaped differently from white cotton. The staple appears to be short — about half an inch, Kennedy estimated.

He said leaves on the plants are more slender than those on ordinary cotton plants. He planted the seeds in the spring, he said, about the usual time cotton is planted.

Kennedy said that he was given a small handful of the seed by Jim Redmon, his brother-in-law, who lives northwest of Big Spring.

"He asked me if I would like to talk some brown cotton," said Kennedy. "I told him I would and I planted the seeds."

Redmon said that he got the seeds from a sister whose home is in Hobbs, N.M. She had grown several stalks in a flower bed. "If she told me where they came from originally, I don't remember," said Redmon. "Someone gave her a few seeds just like she gave some to me."

One thing Kennedy learned about his brown cotton — boll weevils like it just as well as they do the white kind.

Doc Says Truman 'Is A Bit Shaky'

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman has some of the symptoms of Parkinson's disease, his personal physician says, but not the disease itself.

Dr. Wallace H. Graham said Monday night that the symptoms, including tremors and rigidity, are not uncommon for a man of Truman's age.

"I never said that President Truman was suffering from Parkinson's disease," he added. "He is still out taking walks. He is a bit shaky, but he is 84 years old."

Graham, who was Truman's physician in the White House, made the statement following a talk given by Everett Dudley, an attorney for the National Parkinson Institute at Miami, Fla.

Dudley outlined the benefits of the proposed center of Miami Monday and said, "Even the personal physician of former President Truman has sought the help of the institute. Mr. Truman has Parkinson's disease."

Graham said he requested technical information from the institute on treatment and added: "I have one young lady patient who definitely has Parkinson's disease and I have others that anything that would slow the process down would aid."

The disease is marked by tremors, muscle rigidity and loss of speech and coordination.

Cops Close Case With Happy Ending

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Paris police closed one theft case with a happy ending.

Amendment No. 11 Passed By Bexar Vote

AUSTIN (AP) — Constitutional Amendment No. 11 finally passed — instead of failed, as originally reported — because the official canvass of Bexar County returns was delayed by eight days, a secretary of state spokesman said Monday.

The amendment authorized the consolidation of governmental functions in Tarrant and El Paso counties.

The final statewide tabulation reported by the Texas Election Bureau on Nov. 9 — based on returns still incomplete — showed the amendment failing by about 1,500 votes — 872,024 for, 873,561 against.

County commissioners courts were supposed to canvass the vote on the Monday following the election, Nov. 11.

The secretary of state's office sent telegrams to more than 20 counties Nov. 15 asking for their official tabulation.

On Monday, Nov. 18, Mrs. Mary K. Wald, director of the elections division of the secretary of state's office, telephoned the Bexar County clerk. The clerk told her the commissioner's court had not canvassed the vote because there was to be a recount in a close race for one of the commissioner's posts, Mrs. Wald said.

The clerk agreed to seek a canvass of the remainder of the ballot, Mrs. Wald said. The official returns arrived in the secretary of state's office Nov. 20. The Bexar County vote on the Texas Election Bureau's final count Nov. 9 showed 22,031 for No. 11 and 15,225 against a margin of 6,806. But the official vote total on Nov. 20 showed the amendment winning in Bexar by 50,782 to 32,585, a margin of 18,197.

The final statewide vote on No. 11 was 916,191 for, 906,826 against.

Amendment No. 12 was listed as winning in some reports, but it failed by a vote of 976,943 against 939,023 for.

FOUNTAIN OF KNOWLEDGE LONGEVITY KEY

Man To Live 200 To 300 Years?

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A fountain of knowledge, not the mythical fountain of youth, is the answer to mankind's search for a longer life, an artificial organ expert says.

NOT REAL SOON
With this knowledge, science will be able to help man live for as long as 300 years, predicts Dr. Charles William Hall. "It won't happen in our lifetime," Dr. Hall said Monday, declining to suggest when science would reach such a stage.

"We've got to have a better understanding of how we're put together," he said.

In the far distant future, however, man will have a life expectancy "of possibly 200 or 300 years, once they get the aging problem solved," the veteran researcher said.

GROWS OLD
Applying the knowledge gained through research will provide the answer to why man grows old, Hall said.

"The ultimate key is understanding the aging process and slowing it down—I doubt that it (aging) will ever be eradicated," Hall said.

Genetics, the endocrine system, dietary habits and many other related subjects will play an important role in increasing man's life span, Hall said.

Hall, 46, is deeply involved in research aimed at enabling man to live longer.

In Houston, he served as director of the artificial heart research program on the DeBakey team.

Plan To Pick Key Justices

WASHINGTON (AP) — A procedure he says would prevent appointment of Supreme Court justices by a president on the basis of friendship or politics is being pressed by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr.

The North Carolina Democrat, who helped block President Johnson's effort to elevate Justice Abe Fortas to chief justice, wrote fellow senators Monday he will propose a constitutional amendment when Congress reconvenes.

He said it would require the president to name justices from among five or more candidates selected by a conference of the chief judges from each state and each federal judicial district.

"I believe that my proposed amendment," Ervin said, "will make it as certain as possible that members of the Supreme Court will not be chosen on the basis of personal friendship with the president, political service rendered to the political party in power, or past association with politically potent groups."

Probe Sought To Determine Why Cargo Plane Costs Soar

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department and the General Accounting Office were asked today to undertake full-scale investigations of why the CSA cargo plane—backbone of airlift planning for the next decade—may cost $1.2 billion more than original estimates.

The demand was made by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee that recently heard testimony on contract overruns for the world's largest airplane.

It would be a dereliction of duty, said Proxmire, for Congress to permit payment "of such an exorbitant increase in contract costs without scrutinizing the reasons given for the increase and, indeed, the entire circumstances."

"In view of the testimony we received in our hearings," the senator said, "very serious questions about the cost of the plane have been raised. For example, there is some evidence that poor management on the part of the contractor may be a significant cause of the increase in cost."

Earlier this month the Air Force said the price of the CSA could run $2 billion over original estimates of $3 billion for the first 120 planes. Later, however, "in response to queries," the Air Force put the figure at a more conservative $1.2 billion.

At the same time, the Pentagon said the CSA contract provides safeguards for the government and for Lockheed Aircraft Corp., maker of the frame, and General Electric Co., which makes the engines.

The higher price tag for the four-engine behemoth has been attributed to increased costs for labor and materials, introduction of new technology and unexpected technical troubles.

The CSA is designed to carry troops as well as big equipment like tanks and trucks. The first model flew last spring and the Pentagon has maintained the craft will exceed performance guarantees of Lockheed.

Proxmire asked the General Accounting Office, spending watchdog for Congress, to report to him within six weeks.

North Korea Ready To Free 82 Crewmen?

NEW YORK (AP) — The key to obtaining freedom for the 82 crewmen of the intelligence ship Pueblo, some Johnson Administration officials believe, may be two ships being built for North Korea in the Netherlands, the New York Times reported today.

A Washington dispatch by William Beecher said American agents in Rotterdam are "ostentatiously showing interest" in two costly fish-processing vessels which might be seized on their long trip home.

The first of the two ships ordered about a year ago is now nearly ready for delivery with a North Korean captain and crew standing by, the newspaper said.

While the United States has made no explicit threats concerning seizure of the ships, the story continues, North Korea, in view of the implied threat, might move to release the crewmen.

The newspaper quotes a U.S. official as saying:

"North Korea has already milked about as much propaganda from the seizure as it can expect."

"Rather than run the risk of a black eye, and loss of an expensive vessel on the high seas, it may be willing to turn the Pueblo crewmen back and close the books on the incident."

North Korea captured the Pueblo last January in what it asserts were Korean waters and has been insisting that the U.S. government make public apologies. The Administration has called it an "act of piracy."

A Devotional For The Day

Is thy God, whom thou servest continually, able to deliver thee from the lions? (Daniel 6:20)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, Thou knowest all things. Thou knowest the dangers we face. As Thou hast been our help in the past, grant us victory over the fears and uncertainties we face today. In the blessed name of Jesus Christ, our Savior. Amen.

The Money Crisis

Americans cannot work up much sympathy for Gen. de Gaulle's worry over the shaken franc and drain on France's gold reserves. Too well remembered are the dollar crisis and U.S. gold drain that de Gaulle partially caused in building up France's gold hoard.

The immediate trouble was that West Germany was running a huge export surplus, while France, after the May student-labor riots, was having production, inflation and trade difficulties.

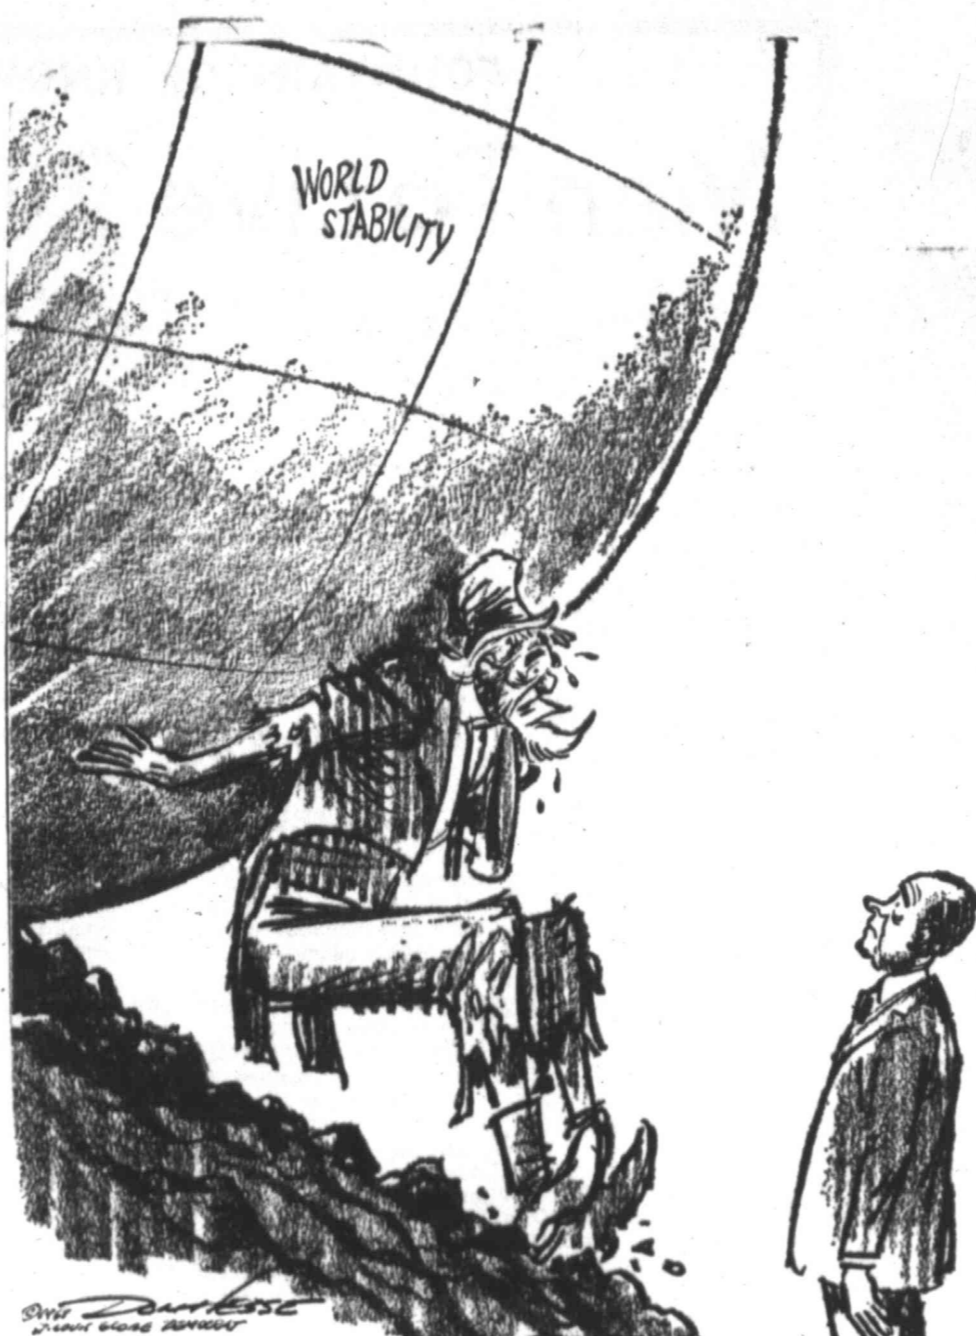

Speculators began gambling on a devaluation of the franc and an upward revaluation of the mark, by trading francs, British pounds, and dollars for marks. Given the brokerage power in a tight reserve (or trading) currency market unduly accruing to Swiss banking houses, the speculators have almost caused what they were gambling for. But France quickly announced an austerity program, to ease downward pressure on the franc, and the Germans cooperated with an export tax plan to lessen upward pressure on the mark. Other nations rallied with a market-closing breahter, and just as it looked as if the patch job might hold, de Gaulle balked at devaluing the franc. After all, the Red Sea parted before Moses.

It is hardly coincidental that Western Europe's new international monetary problems peaked at a moment when the United States had at least temporarily erased its balance-of-payments deficit. This would seem to confirm the conclusion that whenever the United States can lessen its dollar outflow (and thus the foreign claim on its gold reserves) that there is simply not enough convertible currency and gold in existence to back the amount of international credit necessary to sustain the contemporary high level of world trade.

Consequently, it should be seen as a great contribution by outgoing Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler that he succeeded a year ago in getting the International Monetary Fund members to agree on a system of Special Drawing Rights (often called "paper gold") to bolster trading funds while easing pressure on national currencies, especially reserve currencies such as the American dollar and British pound. This system is not yet in effect, but when it is established it should mitigate such speculation crises as the one now involving France and Germany.

The SDR system is hardly the final answer, but it is an historic step toward more stable international finance and improved world trade. Fowler's achievement is not one to excite the man on the street (unless it is Wall Street), but it is of great importance to this nation's economic future.

'IF YOU COULD JUST FIND ME A LITTLE HELP'

Higher, And Higher And Higher

It is widely supposed that, thanks to general prosperity and various loan and scholarship programs, just about any high school graduate can go to college if he so desires. Rising costs suggest that this may not be true. It may become even less true in years to come unless there is a heightened effort to realize the goal of making a college education available to all who can qualify.

The United States Office of Education has just released figures showing a marked increase over the past decade in the cost of attending a public or private institution of higher learning. The federal experts believe costs will continue to rise over the coming decade.

Figures compiled by the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges support the conclusion that educational costs have risen steeply. It is estimated by this group that since 1958-59, the price of attending a public college or university has gone up 30 per cent and the cost of a private college education is 42 per cent higher. These figures take on special meaning when compared with the general cost-of-living increase of 19.4 per cent over the same decade.

Both private and government programs help students who could not get through college on their own. Numerous scholarship and loan programs are available. It remains a fair guess, however, that quite a few high school graduates are being priced out of the market when it comes to a college education. And the pressure is rising; the federal government estimates that over the next 10 years the number of college students will rise four times faster than the population. If we want to realize the goal of virtually universal college education, aid programs from some source will have to be increased.

Marquis Childs Early Bird For Ted Kennedy

WASHINGTON — One week before the Nov. 5 election a mailing to a selected list went out from New York with merely a postoffice box as a return address and HOPE in large letters on the envelope. Inside was a button with the initials EMK and the instruction, "Wear this after Nov. 6," with the acronym spelled out as Help Organize People Early.

EDWARD M. KENNEDY, the 36-year-old senator from Massachusetts and the surviving son of a political dynasty haunted by tragedy, may have had no knowledge of this early blossoming hope. But whether he will or whether at this stage he is merely studying the shape of things to come, Teddy Kennedy is the focus of determined partisans who mean to make him the Presidential nominee of the Democratic party in 1972.

If the Democratic party was fragmented by the bitter divisiveness of the year now ending, as was evident even at the height of the campaign for the Humphrey-Muskie ticket, the Kennedy piece has survived more intact than any of the other pieces. Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey has a claim to what survives of the organization nationally and in the states, but that claim is diluted by his defeat which was blunted in the final days. The warring elements in the party were brought together only for the temporary expedient of defeating Richard Nixon.

HUMPHREY has a rival for party leadership in Lyndon Johnson. The President has no intention of retiring quietly to Johnson City following the example of former President Harry Truman, who went back to Independence, Mo., and there, except for an occasional interview, stayed clear of the national scene. The soon-to-be former president is playing it close to his chest as is his unflinching expedient of defeating Richard Nixon.

Nevertheless, the report is already circulating that a deal is being worked out in Texas whereby Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough will run for governor in 1970 and leave the track open for Johnson to take Yarborough's senate seat. Granted the success of this maneuver, he would then, as Barry Goldwater is doing, go back to the Senate, the scene of his greatest triumphs. But, regardless of any further political ambitions he may harbor, it is hard to envision Johnson in the role of Cincinnati returning to the plow.

TO THE left of center are the remnants of Sen. Eugene McCarthy's following, the concerned and dissident Democrats. McCarthy and some of his followers have implied a movement out of the Democratic party altogether. Others who came around late and reluctantly to support the Humphrey-Muskie ticket believe they can work from the inside to reshape the party organization.

ASIDE FROM Massachusetts the Kennedy commandos have really no political base. One of the captains, Theodore C. Sorensen, counsel to President John F. Kennedy, failed in New York City where he now lives to be elected a delegate to the Democratic convention. In California Jesse Uruhu, who gave only the most indifferent support to the national ticket, is now without a power base since the Republicans seem to have captured the state Assembly of which Uruhu was formerly speaker.

How Does Marriage Change A Man?

NEW YORK (AP) — There is no institution that changes a man more than marriage.

And, alas, not always for the better. Isn't that true, ladies? As a matter of fact, one of the big surprises of the long matrimonial journey to most women is how their husbands slowly but almost inevitably transform themselves from Dr. Jekyll to Mr. Hyde.

AND THE trend seems to be irreversible in most cases. There is usually no turning back for a husband once he's passed the point of no return on his road to monstrosity. The wife is stuck with a surly brute forever.

Just how does marriage actually change a man? Well, of course, there are as many endless variations to the common pattern as there are husbands, but here are a few familiar examples:

He used to hang on her every word. Now days go by and he never listens to a thing she says. He can't even hear her when the water isn't running. There was a time when he vowed he'd swim the deepest sea or climb the highest mountain for her. Today if she asks him to bring something up from the basement he whimpers, "What, and risk spending two weeks in the hospital with a hernia?"

FONDLY SHE remembers the dear dead past when they thought nothing of dancing the night away together. Now, if she can even get him out on the dance floor at all, he gives her the old once around the floor Mama and let's go back to the table my feet hurt routine.

During the courtship he loved to light her cigarettes for her and have her blow out the match. But what is his present attitude? He is trying to get her to give up smoking altogether—not for her health, but simply so he'll be able to afford more expensive cigars.

"HONEY, nothing is too good for you—nothing," he once told her solemnly. Now, no matter what she wants, he growls, "It's too expensive." Occasionally, a wife pensively wonders what she could possibly have done to turn her husband from the nicest young fellow in the neighborhood into a gruff, surly old meanie.

But all she did was what he asked her to—she married him. He did all the rest.

John Cunniff De Gaulle's Gamble

NEW YORK (AP) — If pride, love of country and determination could do it, French President Charles de Gaulle would win his big gamble. That, really, is his arsenal in the battle of the franc.

Realistically, the world's financiers do not respect these attributes. They look instead to the amount of payments, the direction of the economy, the soundness of fiscal policy.

These are the things that determine a currency's worth, its strength. As with a corporation so with a nation. Investors avoid owning shares of firms with poor earnings, low worker productivity, mismanagement, bills due.

ON THE SIDE of the franc is a good deal of willpower, but even De Gaulle cannot stare down an attack on his currency. Those who attack have their fortunes at stake and their sensitivity is to mathematics rather than psychology.

An austerity program, they agree, is the method by which the franc can be returned to full value. But investors and speculators alike note that it was a rebellion against austerity that brought about the present crisis. Why, they ask, should De Gaulle be successful now in selling austerity to his nation when just six months ago he capitulated to their demands for higher wages, to their desire for more material comforts and luxuries?

IN STRIKING earlier this year, French workers let known their feelings that they were contributing more than their share to the low cost of French goods in export markets. Their low wages, they argued, were a main reason why France was able to sell abroad. And the workers won their way.

With some wage increases actually topping 20 per cent, the prices of French goods rose sharply. Inflation took hold of the economy. And French goods in foreign markets weren't nearly as competitive as they were just months earlier.

The increase in French prices, said traders, investors and speculators, did not represent true value. The franc really wasn't worth what the French claimed for it. It really did not buy 20 cents worth of workmanship and materials, they said. Perhaps more like 17 cents.

To Your Good Health Tracheitis And What To Do About It

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you discuss tracheitis, the seriousness of same, and whether it is caused by a germ or what? Each year I seem to have this "itis." — M.E.

Tracheitis is inflammation of the windpipe or trachea. The causes? Irritation from smoking, fumes, or other irritants. Include among the irritants a cold or similar virus infection which may start as a cold in the head but progresses downward toward the chest.

Cough mixtures that promote secretions and steam inhalations help soothe the inflamed tissues. If you are a smoker and have a cold, give up smoking, at least for the time being. You are only adding insult to injury.

The cold, of course, will have to wear itself out, but meantime the trachea will heal more readily if you protect it from any unnecessary irritation.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please give me information about Meniere's disease — I don't think it is spelt right but I can't find it in the dictionary. Would diet have any effect? I have dizziness almost always when I wake up, and become very nauseated. — Mrs. R.M.

That's pretty close — you spell it Meniere's disease, caused by a disturbance of the balance mechanism in the inner ear. Now I'm regarded as an old fool. Some of the neighbors have hollered, "Hi-ho, Silver," after I passed them. These were grownups? ... A group of kids yelled, "Hey, grandpa, aren't you a bit old to ride a bike?" Inwardly I am hurt. Why is it so right to ride a bike in Europe and so wrong here?

I have two bikes here but can't find another grownup to ride with me for fear of being ridiculed. What is wrong, doctor? Is it me? — A.P.C.

Just grin and wave when they holler. The neighbors will presently get used to seeing you riding, and some may join you. Joggers are stared at too, and chased by dogs.

Cycling is excellent exercise — recommended and done by Dr. Paul Dudley White, the noted heart specialist, among others.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a man of 58, retired because of back and eye defects. When I retired a year ago I bought a bicycle for exercise — I had liked to ride with my daughters

Around The Rim Guests Who Made Dinner Possible

Let 350 years pass and an event can become enmeshed in legend until the real facts concerning it are so hidden they can never be completely clarified.

It's been about that long since the Pilgrims celebrated their first good crop year with a feast in the fall — establishing, indirectly, the holiday which we call Thanksgiving Day.

HOW THE Pilgrims celebrated the first Thanksgiving is a little muddled. One thing is pretty certain — they didn't have all of the familiar and colorful trappings which we of this date associate with the holiday.

And the Thanksgiving Day they observed may have been the first in this country, but it was not followed, as many seem to think, by an unbroken recurrence of the celebration each fall from that time on.

In fact our own observation of Thanksgiving is only about a century old. Abraham Lincoln, during the War Between the States, proclaimed a day of Thanksgiving in 1863. Since that time, the presidents have followed the pattern and annually have called upon the nation to pay its thanks to the Almighty for the blessings of the year.

AFTER THE Pilgrims had their first party (which was really an American edition of feasts which had been held for many centuries in Europe) the colony repeated the event, irregularly for some years.

In the days of the American Revolution, Congress recommended days of Thanksgiving annually, and when peace was declared it proclaimed another such day.

OBSERVATION in those times was rather spotty but in New England, where the Pilgrims had established the custom, the fall festival was fairly well noted each year.

Washington in 1789 noted the adoption of the Constitution with a proclamation of a day of Thanksgiving. He repeated his proclamation in 1795 for the blessings the nation had received. However, there were gaps in the observation. Some falls there were no observation of the occasion at all.

So actually, our form of Thanksgiving dates to 1863. And the way we celebrate it — what with the turkey and all of the other traditional trappings so familiar to all of us — is a sort of fantasy dreamed up out of the past and created by our people through the past 100 years.

ONE THING seems to be pretty clear — if the Indians in the vicinity of the Plymouth colony had not rallied to the aid of the Pilgrims on that first Thanksgiving in this land in 1621, it is likely the menu would have been rather sparse.

It was the noble Redman, apparently, who fetched in the deer, possibly a lot of the corn and pumpkins and other goodies. The tribes along the New England coast had contributed a great deal to the survival of the Pilgrims and even after the first passable harvest had been reaped, it was still the Indians who made major contributions to the celebration.

EVEN THOUGH the Indians were supposedly the guests at the dinner, without the guests, the table would have been pretty bare.

Holmes Alexander Thieu's Political Leap

WASHINGTON — Gen. Thieu, president of South Vietnam, parachute-clad, stood in the doorway of a plane in flight — and jumped. He had to do so. It was a political leap. It was necessary at the time for Thieu to become an insider and an officer of Vietnam's airborne command which is not just a military elite but an influential political clique.

STANDING behind Thieu, making his sixth and qualifying jump (the one that entitled him to the prized badge of a paratrooper) was an American officer from whom I heard the story and the moral of the tale. The American was making, if I remember correctly, his 126th jump, and was doing so for the purpose of giving Thieu both moral and political backing.

This true-life parable was told in answer to a question about the Paris peace talks. We have not fully understood what it means to stand in the jump boots of President Thieu. He is not an American puppet, and we should be grateful he refuses to be like one.

THIEU HAS become the strongman of Saigon by reason of political cunning, physical daring and an acute awareness of the elements that make up his complicated constituency. He has been denounced and derided for stalling peace negotiations by as high an American official as Defense Secretary Clifford and many U.S. citizens and newspapers that are afflicted with Occidental impatience for a settlement.

But Thieu's actions are not evidence of indecision. They are the necessary moves of a practical politician who cannot afford any mistakes at a crucial hour for himself, his career and his country. If Woodrow Wilson had been as pains-taking and Lyndon Johnson as sure-footed, the story of other Paris conferences might have made different reading.

From Thieu's viewpoint the Vietnam War is not a stalemate where peace is a bargain at any price. He could not do without American ground forces, but he is closer to it than any leader before him. The Army of Vietnam is once again doing most of the fighting, as was true in the days of President Diem.

For years the South Vietnam infantryman was underarmed with the U.S. M-1 semi-automatic rifle which was inferior to the Russian-designed, fully-automatic AK-47. Today all of Thieu's combat units have been issued the U.S. M-16 rifle, which is lightweight, automatic and with a deadly high-velocity.

Gen. Westmoreland said this weapon alone had much to do with making the South Vietnam soldier a superior fighter. Given American bombing support below the DMZ and helicopter mobility to reach the enemy, Thieu does not have to sue for peace as a loser.

WITH THE nearby examples of the treaty that Averell Harriman arranged in Laos, and of the "neutrality" in peaceful Cambodia, Thieu and his country are more willing to fight on than we are.

Thieu is, as a military historian has pointed out to me, in much the position that George Washington was when foreign diplomats at Paris were willing to settle the American Revolution on terms that suited them. There is no need to rely on any overwrought comparisons, for the story of the parachute leap will suffice. Thieu is not an impetuous jumper. He is deliberate and calculating, and he deserves an American presence at his shoulder.

Art Buchwald Defense Fund For Non-Reporters

WASHINGTON — My friend, Rumpelmeier, the arch-Democrat, called me up the other day with a surprise request. He wanted me to contribute to a "defense fund" for the Republicans who may be prosecuted under the Corrupt Practices Act for failure to meet the deadline on their reports of contributors to the Nixon-Agnew campaign.

"BUT RUMPELMEIER," I said, "why are you getting involved in this?"

"I believe in it," Rumpelmeier said. "Nixon and Agnew ran on a law-and-order platform and they vowed to prosecute anyone who breaks the law. If they follow through on their pledge, then the first thing the new attorney general will have to do is take the people who raised money for Nixon and Agnew to trial."

"But surely, Rumpelmeier," I said, "Nixon wouldn't prosecute his own people for what was probably an administrative oversight. After all, it's just politics."

"THAT'S WHAT you say, but Nixon and Agnew specifically said they would not tolerate any monkeying around with the law. They promised if they were elected that there would no longer be some laws for people to obey, and others that they didn't have to obey. They won't have any choice but to see that the men who failed to file their reports feel the full weight of our judicial system. Now, how much can you pledge to the defense fund?"

"Wait a minute, Rumpelmeier. No court in the land is going to convict men for being tardy in handing in political contribution reports."

on criminals, and that you don't prevent crime by letting people who break the law get off scot-free. I can't see where Nixon could do anything but lower the boom on his fund-raisers."

"You know, Rumpelmeier," I said, "I'm always willing to give for a good cause, but even if the committee chairman were tried, what could they get?"

"The law says they could get as much as a $10,000 fine and up to two years in jail," Rumpelmeier said. "Even as a Democrat I don't think a Republican should have to do time for putting Nixon in the White House."

"I BELIEVE you're overreacting, Rumpelmeier. This whole thing will probably fade away."

"Not if Nixon gets a new attorney general. Don't you understand? The Nixon Administration is trying to dramatize the issue of law and order. What better way to do it than to have the new attorney general try his first case? The People vs. the Nixon-Agnew Fund-Raising Committee?" It would show beyond a shadow of a doubt that the new administration means business.

"You've got a good heart, Rumpelmeier," I said. "Who would have ever thought that you would be concerned with Republican fund-raisers going to jail?"

"I WOULDN'T have gotten involved," Rumpelmeier said, "but I'm concerned with justice."

"OK, Rumpelmeier. Put me down for $50. If you're man enough to raise money for their defense fund, then I don't see any reason why I shouldn't kick in. By the way, what do you think the defense will be?"

"We're going to claim it was a crime of passion."

King Of Muckrakers Upton Sinclair Dies

BOUND BROOK, N.J. (AP) — Upton Sinclair, a prolific author who earned the title "King of the Muckrakers" during a 63-year career, is dead at the age of 90.

Sinclair died Monday at the Somerset Valley Nursing Home near here. A memorial service will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal church in Bound Brook at 11 a.m. Saturday.

THE JUNGLE
During what he described as a 63-year battle for social justice, Sinclair wrote 89 full-length books. One of his best known works, "The Jungle," catapulted him to fame at the age of 28 in 1906.

The book exposed filthy conditions in the Chicago meat-packing industry and led to the nation's pure food laws. The book's message went around the world through translation as did most of his subsequent works.

It was one of the major reasons for the title "King of the Muckrakers." Sinclair's dedication to social reform incurred the enmity of powerful personalities and the support of many famous men.

Among his admirers were George Bernard Shaw, who recommended Sinclair for the Nobel Prize, and Albert Einstein, who wrote a poem to him.

Sinclair, a wiry 5-foot-7 man who kept in shape by playing tennis, was known for his energy even in his later years.

UPTON SINCLAIR

He was at the nursing home since December, 1967, living within 15 miles of the farm in Princeton where he wrote "The Jungle."

In 1942 he won a Pulitzer Prize for his novel "Dragon's Teeth," a story set in Hitler's Germany where his books had been put on the bonfire a few years earlier.

UPDATED BOOKS
The intense but cheerful socialist crusader, who lived to see changes that he had sought, had been ailing since July, 1967, when he was operated on for an intestinal disorder.

When he was 83 he updated his autobiography and only then did a barrage of books, articles, pamphlets, letters cease—eighty tons of them now stored in the Lilly Library at Indiana University. He relaxed, making an occasional appearance on the lecture platform.

Born in Baltimore Sept. 20, 1878, Sinclair began his writing life at 14, spurred greatly by a luckless though instructive childhood with kindly but impoverished Southern Aristocrat parents.

David, Sinclair's only child, was by a first wife, the former Meta H. Fuller of New York who died five years ago. The 1900 marriage ended in divorce in 1912 and she remarried, as did Sinclair two years later.

He wed Mississippi born Mary Craig Kimbrough, of whom he said after her death in 1961, "I had for half a century the love of one of the kindest, wisest, and dearest souls that ever lived upon this earth."

In 1962, lonesome in a comfortable California home that his writings had earned him, he married the former May Hard, 79, widowed like himself. She died in 1966 in Rockville, Md., where the couple had moved to be near their families.

NY Commuters Are Slowed To A Crawl

NEW YORK (AP) — The 90,000 commuters of the struck Long Island Railroad make their nerve-racking way to and from New York City via bumper-to-bumper traffic and jammed buses and subways today for the second day.

With the nation's busiest commuter line shut down Monday by a trainmen's walkout over a new timetable, the time element in getting to work proved a travel headache of giant proportions.

"I've never seen anything like it in my life," said a man who drove for two hours from Bethpage to Manhattan—a trip that usually takes about 45 minutes.

Grand Central Parkway, for instance, was clogged with a six-mile stream of barely moving autos during the rush hours.

Bus companies added extra vehicles, taxi pools were formed, and subways brought out all available equipment. Cars pools were hastily formed. However, it all added up to crowded quarters, slow going, and confusion. It was just as bad getting home in the evening.

Even the judge who issued the original restraining order against the 1,600 trainmen, which was ignored, evidenced his frustration.

Using Pre-purchased Tokens Help Slice Bus Robberies

By The Associated Press
A plan to cut down on bus driver holdups by requiring passengers to put the exact fare in a robber-proof box is being called a success in six of the nation's largest cities and is spreading to more.

Robberies of bus drivers, which were running as high as two and three a day, have virtually ended in Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Cleveland, San Francisco and Washington, D.C., since each of those cities adopted the plan.

EXACT FARE
The system is also in operation in Milwaukee but police there say it is too soon to evaluate results. Detroit will put the exact fare policy into effect Nov. 30 and New York has taken the program under study.

In at least three cities—Baltimore, Washington and Pittsburgh—the death of a driver during a holdup was partially responsible for the move to adopt the exact fare system.

Although there are variations from city to city, basically the plan works as follows:

The driver carries no change or tokens so the passenger must deposit exact change or a token. If the passenger lacks the right change, he may overpay and be given a refund slip redeemable later. The fare box is locked and the driver does not carry a key.

The one drawback that has emerged is that in the few instances where a determined bandit has held up a bus anyway, it was not the farebox but the passengers who were robbed. Such instances have so far been the exception.

At the time Baltimore adopted the plan last June, bus driver robberies were averaging two a day. "Now it's unusual to hear of a holdup," says one veteran police officer.

NO MONEY
In Cleveland the exact fare plan went into effect Nov. 3. There was one holdup attempt the same day, but the would-be robber fled when the driver told him he had no change. Police have no record of any bus holdups since.

"I don't think we have had any holdups in Philadelphia since we adopted this plan Sept. 22," said George Lloyd, spokesman for the South East Philadelphia Transportation Assn.

"We're issuing fewer than 200 rebate slips daily out of 1.5 million riders a day system-wide," Lloyd added. "This means the public is taking to it too."

The reason for Detroit's adopting the plan was given by Robert E. Toohy Monday. He said, "In 1966, 11 drivers were robbed. The figure went to 48 in 1967. So far in 1968 over 72 drivers have been robbed."

The success of the exact fare policy was summed up by a police spokesman in Washington. He said the plan "has cut down robberies 99 per cent. In fact there haven't been any since it started that I know of. It's very effective. They don't have any money, so there's no use robbing them."

BOOZE BOARD MEMBERS

Take Another Look At New Club Rules

AUSTIN (AP) — The Liquor Control Board is reviewing proposed new private club rules which some club spokesmen said could temporarily put them out of business because of honest mistakes in record keeping.

The board heard an hour and 50 minutes of testimony Monday on a 2 1/2 page set of rules.

NO DATE
No date was set for action on the rules, which may be changed considerably if the board goes along with Monday's testimony.

Several club spokesmen, including Tom Thomas, attorney for the Associated Clubs of Texas (ACT), said a provision allowing suspension or cancellation of a permit for falsifying records or serving liquor while a license was suspended should include the word "knowingly."

As written, Thomas said, the pending rule "would mean that a club, for example, could be closed for a maximum of 60 days if a club bookkeeper had inadvertently entered the incorrect telephone number of the member."

RED TAPE
The rules would replace private club regulations issued Feb. 5 which, among other things, outlawed cash sales in private clubs and required that all transactions be for credit. Those rules were suspended earlier this year by an Austin district judge.

The pending rules would require a club to: —Always have 25 or more members.

—Admit members only on the recommendation of a membership committee of at least five members.

Maintain bound, permanent records of members, including non-reissuable membership numbers for each.

—Provide individual liquor lockers for each member, if it operates under the locker system.

—Keep permanent records of liquor pool assessments if operating under the pool system.

Many clubs would have to change their constitutions and by-laws to meet the membership committee requirement, said Larry Guinn, general counsel of the Dallas Press Club. This, he said, would be a "punitive action of which we are not deserving."

British Racial Act Spurs Fuss

LONDON (AP) — Britain's new race relations act went into effect Monday amid a stormy public debate over the proper way to approach the nation's growing race problem.

The act empowers the Race Relations Board to investigate and seek compliance with the law over a wide field of alleged acts of discrimination against Britain's 1 million colored people—2 per cent of the population.

LIMIT
Up to now, the board was limited to investigating complaints of discrimination in certain public places. This resulted largely in efforts to conciliate between Asian, West Indian and African immigrants and pub owners who refused to serve them drinks.

Now the board's investigative powers have been broadened to acts of discrimination in the provision of any goods, facilities or services. This includes housing, hotels, educational institutions, banking, insurance, entertainment, travel and the service of any business, profession, trade or public authority.

Ten days ago, Enoch Powell, a rebellious Conservative foe of colored immigration, proposed in a speech that Britain rigidly limit the flow of immigrants and set up a government ministry to assist the repatriation of those already here.

HATRED
He predicted there would be 4.5 million colored people in Britain by the end of the century, with whole communities becoming predominantly or exclusively Afro-Asian. There would be, he said, "Several Washingtons in England," unless this was done.

"The people of England will not endure it," Powell said. "I do not believe it is in human nature that a country should passively watch the transformation of whole areas which lie at the heart of it into alien territory."

Powell's speech triggered a public outcry, but the attorney general declined to take action under a law prohibiting public acts likely to stir up racial hatred.

LONG ARM OF THE LAW

GREAT BEND, Kan (AP) — Sheriff Marion Weese has received notice that a Kansas man convicted Oct. 16 in Dungan Court, London, on a charge of drunken driving and that the English court suspended his driver's license six months.

"It was the first notice of this type I can remember in which a conviction in one country can be binding in another as a result of a reciprocal agreement," the sheriff said. "This person will not be able to drive in Kansas until the six months is up."

Weese declined to reveal the man's name.

Negro Mothers Protest Aid Cut

DALLAS (AP) — Twenty-one Negro mothers spent Monday night as sit-in guests at downtown offices of the state welfare department.

They started arriving as the place opened and stayed through the day in protest against reduced aid to families with dependent children.

"We have talked and talked, and our children are still hungry," said Ruth Jefferson, spokeswoman for the mothers.

"We've been here all day talking. No one does anything. This is the only way."

Authorities said state welfare payments were reduced Sept. 1 from a maximum of $135 per family to $123. They explained that prior to a recent Supreme Court decision, such payments were denied families where a man lived in the house.

In compliance with the ruling, officials said, dependent child aid now is paid to such households—putting more persons on the welfare rolls without any increase in available funds. They said this meant the money "had to be spread thinner."

James Rowell, regional director of state welfare, asked the mothers to leave at closing time and they refused. He consulted with police chief Charles Batchelor and others.

"They have been orderly all day," Batchelor said Monday evening. "We've been in contact with the (state) attorney general and with welfare authorities in Austin. It has been decided to let them be the welfare department's guests for the night."

Six individuals who identified themselves as members of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee joined the mothers in the sit-in.

Some 1,200 Howard County farmers will receive their cotton allotments and yields for 1969 by Thursday and next week will begin voting to accept or reject the 1969 cotton program.

The allotment and yield for each farm will be mailed Wednesday from the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office here, and Friday ballots for the referendum on the program will be mailed. Voting in the referendum will be from Dec. 2-6, said Gabe Hammack, county ASCS manager.

PAYMENTS
If the quotas are approved by two-thirds of the voters the 1969 program will feature marketing quotas, acreage allotments, price support loans and payments and other provisions.

If the quotas are not approved by the necessary vote, allotments will remain in effect for the 1969 crop, but there will be no marketing quotas, no penalties on excess cotton, no price support payments and no export market acreage.

Hammack said the 1969 cotton program, if approved, will be different from the 1968 program, but payments will stay about the same.

Principal difference in the proposed plan is acreage diversion will not be required and diversion payments will not be a feature of the program, he said.

SUPPORT LOAN
By meeting provisions of the cotton program, after signing up in the spring, farmers will be eligible for a price support loan on all cotton they produce based on a national average loan rate of 29.25 cents per pound for middling one-inch cotton at average location, Hammack said.

Farmers Will Receive '69 Cotton Allotments

Some 1,200 Howard County farmers will receive their cotton allotments and yields for 1969 by Thursday and next week will begin voting to accept or reject the 1969 cotton program.

The allotment and yield for each farm will be mailed Wednesday from the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office here, and Friday ballots for the referendum on the program will be mailed. By meeting provisions of the cotton program, after signing up in the spring, farmers will be eligible for a price support loan on all cotton they produce based on a national average loan rate of 29.25 cents per pound for middling one-inch cotton at average location, Hammack said.

A price support payment at 14.73 cents a pound on the farm's project yield for acreage planted within the farm's domestic allotment, which is 65 per cent of the farm's effective allotment, will also be given, he said.

The price support payment in 1968 was 12.24 cents per pound when diversion payments were in effect, Hammack said.

He noted there also is a small farm provision in the program where farmers with allotments of 10 acres or less with projected production of 3,600 pounds or less may plant the entire farm allotment and, in addition to the price support payment on the domestic allotment, receive payment of 11.26 per cent of the projected yield of 35 per cent of the farm allotment. These farmers do not need to divert from cotton to be eligible for the small farm payment on 35 per cent of the farm allotment.

TEXAS TOTAL
Skip-row provision will remain the same as 1968 if the program is approved, he said. Also, the export acreage provision will remain in effect, which means that if cotton is grown under the export provision, no price support will be available on such a farm, nor on any other farm in which a farmer has a substantial or controlling interest.

Texas will have a total allotment of 6,835,134 acres available for producing the 1969 upland cotton crop, and long staple allotment has been set at 28,088 acres for the state. Projected yield for Texas is 421 pounds per acre.

Efforts To Streamline 'Bureaucratic Thicket'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Republican members of Congress say they'll seek Nixon administration backing for efforts to streamline what one calls the "bureaucratic thicket" of federal government.

Sen. James B. Pearson of Kansas said Monday he planned to reintroduce early in January enabling legislation to set up another Hoover commission.

BETTER ODDS
Pearson cosponsored similar legislation in the last Congress with Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn. It passed the Senate but never came to a vote in the House.

"I was pleased to hear Richard Nixon point to the need for such a commission during the campaign and I plan to consult with him on this matter at an appropriate time," said Pearson, in an interview.

"Considering that the bill passed the Senate last session and in view of Mr. Nixon's attitude I think the chances for final passage in 1969 are excellent," he said.

Rep. William V. Roth of Delaware said Monday he has spoken to Nixon about his own efforts in a similar vein and "Nixon said he is with me all the way."

ROADBLOCKS
Roth spent months trying to catalogue the number and variety of various grant-in-aid and other federal assistance programs and ran into a series of roadblocks by various agencies.

Roth said there are such a bewildering variety of federal aid programs that even congressmen have difficulty determining what is available.

Sealab 3 Off On Voyage To Bottom Of The Sea

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Sealab 3 is off on a voyage to the bottom of the sea that may open a new world of riches and research to exploration.

The 57-by-12-foot seafloor habitat, which looks like a tank with observation rooms where the wheels would be, has been carried by barge to a spot near San Clemente Island.

Sometimes in the next few days it will be lowered 600 feet by crane to the Pacific Ocean bottom, where it will serve as working and living quarters for two months for five teams of eight to nine men.

The teams will spend 12 days each at such varied tasks as setting up an underwater trolley line, building a dry and lighted hut on the sea floor, starting a lobster farm with succulent transplants from Maine, and training porpoises and sea lions to fetch and carry.

A day or two after Sealab 3 touches bottom, the first team will start descending in diving bells, called personnel transfer capsules, capable of carrying three to four men at a time.

Members of the first team are Warrant Officer Robert A. Barth, 38, San Diego; Engineer-in-Chief Richard C. Bird, 31, Newton, N.J.; Aviation Ordnanceman I.C. Richard M. Blackburn, 29, Portland, Ore.; Berry L. Cannon, 33, and George B. Dowling, 42, civilian workers at the Navy Mine Defense Laboratory, Panama City, Fla.; Machinist's Mate I.C. Jay W. Myers, 24, Buffalo, N.Y.; Photographer's Mate I.C. John F. Reeves, 39, Ventura, Calif.; Lt. Cmdr. James Vorosmarti Jr., 33, Medical Corps, Palmerston, Pa.; and Dr. Richard A. Cooper, 32, bureau of commercial fisheries, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Sealab 3, a $10-million project, is the U.S. Navy's most ambitious attempt yet to add the world's submerged continental shelves—which range from a few miles to hundreds of miles in breadth—to its theater of operations.

Such depths are ideal hiding places for submarine refueling stations, missile launching sites and antisubmarine warfare gear. They also hold untold wealth in oil, minerals and scientific lore, exploitable when men learn to live and work for long periods at great depths.

Two earlier Sealab projects gave promise that it can be done.

Four men lived 11 days in Sealab 1 at a depth of 193 feet off Bermuda in 1964. A year later, in Sealab 2, three teams of 10 aquanauts spent 15-day periods 205 feet deep off La Jolla, Calif.

Sealab 3, at three times the previous depths, is the final experiment. From it will evolve mobile habitats—vehicles that can move like submarines or crawl along the bottom—carrying skilled technicians for salvage, rescue, construction and research.

Capt. William M. Nicholson, project manager, says, "We are moving into an operational phase, with equipment that will see actual duty with the fleet for the next 20 years."

Nixon Has Made Cabinet Choices

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert F. Ellsworth, former Republican congressman from Kansas, was named today by President-elect Richard M. Nixon to be a top level White House assistant.

Ellsworth, 42, is the third person appointed by Nixon with the title of assistant. Press spokesman Ron Ziegler said there would be no further appointments in that category but did not rule out that others later would be named to posts at the same level—but with different titles.

"THINK TANK" A House member from 1961 to 1967, Ellsworth was national political director for the Nixon campaign.

Ziegler said Ellsworth would be "a generalist in the true sense of the word" and will involve himself in a broad range of duties, foreign and domestic.

Ellsworth will fly to London tonight to meet with the staff of the Institute for Strategic Studies there—a "think tank" operation. And he will be back in New York on Sunday for a luncheon meeting with industrialist Henry Ford II and other leaders of the National Alliance of Businessmen.

Ellsworth said Nixon is greatly interested in the work of the London institute and wants him to gain insights into the way it operates so the incoming administration can take full advantage of the idea-generating capabilities of similar organizations in the United States.

As for the National Alliance of Businessmen, it was created by President Johnson in an effort to enlist private enterprise in training and finding jobs for the hard-core unemployed. Ellsworth said Nixon was interested in that project, too.

"Saying that he would have across-the-board interests as a top Nixon aide, Ellsworth said, "My job will be to do whatever the President asks me to do." Nixon was spending much of the day conferring with advisers in his suite at the Pierre Hotel. No outside appointments were announced.

Ziegler was asked about a published report that Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford, a Democrat, was being considered by Nixon as a possible candidate for the same post in the new administration.

"Many names are being considered," Ziegler said, adding that no one should be ruled out at this point and no conclusions should be drawn on the basis of what he termed "speculative stories."

Although Nixon has said he'll make known his Cabinet choices before Dec. 6, GOP Sen. John G. Tower of Texas emerged from a Monday conference with the President-elect and acknowledged they'd talked about possible Cabinet selections, Democrats as well as Republicans.

Asked if it would be accurate to say Nixon has not yet decided on any Cabinet nominees, Tower carefully responded that Nixon indicated no final decisions to him—leaving wide open the suggestion that the incoming chief executive has privately reached, or is very close to, some final choices.

LOT OF TALENT Tower, one of three prominent Republicans to meet with Nixon during the day, gave a thumbnail description of the kind of Cabinet he believes is being sought by Nixon: "People of great professional competence" whose ideas are not incompatible with those of the President-elect and who have an ability to implement those ideas.

The Texas senator said Nixon would like "geographical balance" in the Cabinet but would not sacrifice other considerations to parceling out appointments on a regional basis.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York was another visitor who acknowledged talking to Nixon about specific jobs and specific possible officeholders. Like Tower, he wouldn't mention any names but offered this teasing comment: "I happen to be the senior senator from a state with an awful lot of talent."

Firemen said they found the bodies of a brother and sister under a blanket in the bedroom. Both died. The mother, Mrs. Valerie Redmond, ran downstairs to call for help and had to be restrained from re-entering the flat.

Merrill Lynch, Ten Executives Punished WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission today punished Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith and ten of its executives and salesmen for disclosing inside information to sell to big investors.

The agency action took the form of accepting an offer by Merrill Lynch, the world's largest securities firm, to settle a case involving antitrust provisions of federal securities law.

In making the offer and accepting the findings of the SEC, Merrill Lynch, however, did not admit the charges of wrongdoing and agreed to the agency action, it said, solely for the purpose of winding up the case as far as it and its employees are concerned.

Meanwhile, pre-hearing conferences started today in New York City involving 14 mutual funds and large investors alleged by the SEC to have received the information from Merrill Lynch in June, 1966.

The information had to do with a report that the Douglas Aircraft Co. would show a sharp drop in earnings for the first part of that year and that the outlook for the remainder of 1966 was gloomy.

The SEC ordered Merrill Lynch to suspend all activities of its New York institutional sales office for 21 days starting Dec. 5 and the firm's West Coast underwriting office to shut down for 15 days starting Dec. 11.

Bucks Claim First Place In Grid Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "We deserved it." This was Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes' reaction to news Monday night that his unbeat Buckeyes had been voted No. 1 in the Associated Press' major college weekly football poll.

Hayes learned of the ranking just before he addressed a crowd of 1,100 persons at OSU's annual football banquet. He made the announcement and set off thunderous applause and cheers for his gridgers, who were assembled around him on the speaker's platform.

"Without exception," Hayes said, "every man on the squad did the best job possible. They did 99 per cent of the work."

His Rose Bowl-bound Buckeyes crushed Michigan 50-14 Saturday to clinch the Big Ten title. OSU finished the regular season with a 9-0 record.

"I didn't have much to do with it actually," Hayes said. "I thought I coached better last year. But the boys made the difference."

"Our talent is diversified this season," Hayes said. "If we can't beat you one way, we'll beat you two other ways."

The Buckeyes topped the AP poll in 1954 and won the Rose Bowl that year, 29-7 over Southern California.

This year's Buckeyes also will face Southern Cal, which slipped from No. 1 to No. 2 in this week's poll and closes its regular season Saturday against Notre Dame.

Hayes cautioned his team against overconfidence but said he doubted the top rating would affect his team's attitude in the Rose Bowl.

"We've done a great job so far but we can't get fatheaded or we will blow everything," Hayes said. "This has been a year of great victories but there is one more great victory left to win—in Pasadena."

Hayes said the clash with Southern California would pit his defense against the "best offensive back in the nation," O. J. Simpson.

Simpson Gets Heisman Award Notice Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The year's worst kept secret leaps out of the bag Tuesday when Southern California's phenomenal Simpson is formally designated as winner of the Heisman Trophy as the best college football player of the season.

The Down Athletic Club has called a noon (EST) press conference and arranged a long distance interview, obviously from Los Angeles.

With one more game to play before the Rose Bowl—the date in Los Angeles Saturday with Notre Dame—Simpson will delay his personal appearance and receipt of the trophy until next week.

The only unknown factor in this year's voting among a special panel is the vote differential.

Simpson is certain to be close to a unanimous choice, with halfback Leroy Keyes of Purdue the probable runner-up and all-time quarterback Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame likely third in the balloting.

There was strong sentiment last year for Simpson but the honor went to his across-town rival, quarterback Gary Beban of UCLA.

The 6-2, 207-pound Simpson, a superb athlete with the effort, less grace of a deer but the shattering power of a bull, cracked collegiate ball-carrying records this year in leading Southern Cal to nine straight victories and the No. 2 national ranking.

He has overshadowed the performances of such all-time great running stars as Red Grange, Tom Harmon, Glenn Davis, Jimmy Brown and Gale Sayers.

He has carried the ball this year 334 times, a record, and piled up 1,654 yards rushing, a new peak in that category. He has scored 21 touchdowns, the most in the nation.

A transfer from City College of San Francisco, Simpson has played only two seasons with USC but in that period has accomplished more than many top-grade athletes are able to gain in three.

His career record shows him with 3,069 yards rushing and 32 touchdowns. No athlete has ever gained more on the ground in two years.

O. J. Simpson has a good chance of grabbing two other season marks with a game left against Notre Dame. He needs only 17 points to overtake Jim O'Brien of Cincinnati, who has finished for the scoring lead. He needs to pick up 85 more yards in any fashion—running, pass-catching, kick-returning—to pass Eugene Morris of West Texas State as the nation's No. 1 all-purpose back of 1968. Morris has 1,957 yards, Simpson 1,872.

O. J., called "Orange Juice" by his mates, grew up with a brother and two sisters in a black neighborhood of San Francisco called Portero Hills. They were reared by their mother, a hospital worker.

In high school, he was a 5-10 160-pound tackle. He frequently was in trouble with juvenile authorities.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:
SAM BLAIR, Dallas columnist:
"Byron Nelson won't be surprised to see some other major golf tournaments join the Thunderbird Classic in the obituary column. He says the Thunderbird's death was an example of how greed of name pros is the greatest threat to future pro golf tours. Nelson says the new APG demanded a three-year contract with Thunderbird calling for a large increase in prize money each year, although tournament officials already paid $150,000; and that they have the mistaken belief that tournaments with commercial and advertising foundations have limitless funds."

JOE KELLY BUTLER, president of the Astro Bluebonnet Bowl, after he had signed SMU and Oklahoma for his game this season:
"I wouldn't trade games with any of them. I think we have the most exciting two teams available."

BOBBY DOBBS, UT-El Paso football coach:
"It is my feeling that you never want to leave your team in a position mentally that a two point conversion couldn't win a football game. I feel your two point conversion attempt should be delayed until it would put your team ahead or win the game. In other words, it should be one of your last calls. If you tried it earlier and missed, it could very easily deflate the team mentally if they know they need a touchdown and a field goal to win. At this point, in many cases, you are out of gas."

MO MOORMAN, former Texas Aggie, now a guard with the Kansas City Chiefs:
"They had me check into the hospital immediately after we got back from a game in which I had injured a hip. I thought you only went to the hospital when you were dying."

DAN REEVES, injured halfback for the Dallas Cowboys, when asked if he thought he'd lost any speed as a result of his knee operation:
"I never had much anyway. Besides, when I get off these crutches, I figure I'll be so strong I can run on my hands. All I've got to do is learn to catch the ball with my feet."

JIM NANCE, fullback for the Boston Patriots, on having only a modest day in the ball-carrying department:
"I'd rather get beat up more carrying the ball. That'd be fine with me. I'd be getting them, too. You sting one of those little safety men pretty good and he doesn't feel like hitting you again. So you get a good gain or you complete a pass in his area the next time. He's got to be a little bit dizzy."

Pro footballer JOHNNY SAMPLE:
"Flankers as a rule are pretty frail and don't like contact. Ninety per cent of them don't attack the ball when it's thrown up there where both the receiver and defender have it. If it's anybody but Lance Alworth or Otis Taylor I'll go for the interception because I know the others won't fight for it."

A CINCINNATI BENGAL player, talking about his coach, Paul Brown:
"Sometimes he acts like he's still coaching the Cleveland Browns. I think he expects too much of his players at times because he remembers how it was with the Browns. For instance, our field goal kicker has missed from inside the 20. Well, when he was with Cleveland, he had Lou Groza and Groza never missed. Same thing when our backs fumble. He remembers when he had guys like Jimmy Brown."

Discussing the benefits, temptations, and dangers of a Texan playing ball in New York, Jets tight end PETE LAMMONS:
"It is all in the way you were brought up and the way football was taught to you. I played under Darrell Royal and we learned to work hard all week and think of nothing but the game. You're up here to do a job. There are two or three ways to run yourself out of the league. You can get fat and eat your way out or you can do it the other ways."

Coach Kirby Pugh Takes Steer Cagers To Crane

Encouraged by a victory Spring tonight will be Danny achieved at the expense of Lubbock High School last Friday, the Big Spring Steers go to Crane this evening for an 8 o'clock engagement with the powerful Golden Cranes.

The Crane team is coached by Alton White, one-time HCJC star who last year was coach at Sands High School.

Last year, the Cranes advanced to bi-district play where they lost in a thriller to Colorado City.

Big Spring beat Lubbock, 74-63, after earlier having lost to Amarillo Tascosa.

Probable starters for Big Spring tonight will be Danny Parchman, James Evans, James Brown, James Newman and Tommy Butler.

Crane is led by all-state player Tommy Jones, who is also a standout in football. Glen Fletcher, now a member of the Howard County JC team, was a member of last year's stellar outfit at Crane.

B teams of the two schools tangle at 6:15 p.m.

The Longhorns are entered in the Key City tournament, scheduled this weekend in Abilene.

Early Peace In Pro Golf Is Hoped For

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Most of the golfing tourists at the Cajun Classic, the year's last circuit stop, were hopeful of an early settlement of the war between the Professional Golfers Association and the American Professional Golfers.

Leaders of the APG, the organization of tournament pros who've split away from the PGA in a fight over control of the $5 million plus tour, flew to Florida to talk Monday with the hierarchy of the PGA.

APG President Gardner Dickinson and Dan Sikes Jr., a lawyer as well as a tournament golf star, were to meet with the president, vice president and treasurer of the PGA.

Dickinson, asked in an interview here what it would take to satisfy the touring pros so they would remain with the PGA, replied:

"What it's been all along, what it's been for 30 years, or 40, or however long they have been hollering at each other.

"The touring pros' rights in matters pertaining strictly to tournaments run by the PGA, to cast the deciding vote as to how the tour is run, who works for them and so fourth.

"That's all it is. One vote majority. One more touring player than a majority of the tournament committee."

However, PGA National Vice President Nobole Chalfant of Denver, who also was here, said in an interview he didn't think the PGA would ever permit the touring players to have "complete control. They (the PGA) want a share in all negotiations."

Chalfant said the PGA has talked about a golf czar ever since Jack Tullith resigned as PGA tournament director and joined the APG staff.

"There has been talk of getting a tournament manager and different names have been discussed, but no one has been offered a position, job or anything," said Chalfant.

"I don't think we're in a position to do so at this time until we know what the future of tournament golf is going to be."

Dickinson, however, when asked how he felt about a czar, said:

"We have offered the job to someone. I can't tell you who at this time."

Many of the golfers in the Cajun Classic, which rookie Ron Cerrudo won, privately said they felt a compromise may be reached between the PGA and APG are due back in federal court early next month.

"Our door has never been shut," said Dickinson. "Stuck a little, but it isn't closed."

Hayes Leads NBA Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — A four-game spree of 147 points has vaulted rookie Elvin Hayes of the San Diego Rockets to the head of the National Basketball Association scoring parade.

The 6-foot-9 forward moved past Seattle's Bob Rule into the top spot with a 19-game total of 391 points.

The Big E's 31.1 per-game average also tops the NBA, according to official weekly figures released today.

Los Angeles' Wilt Chamberlain is a conspicuous absentee from the Top Ten in scoring . . . he is 19th with 374 points and a 20.8 average . . . but still leads in field goal percentage with a .655 mark.

Chamberlain trails Nate Thurmond of San Francisco and Boston player-coach Bill Russell in the rebounding derby. Thurmond has grabbed 399, Russell 398 and Chamberlain 377, with Russell's per-game average of 22.1 the top figure.

Boston's Larry Siegfried leads in the free throw percentage with an 86.7 accuracy mark.

Guy Rodgers, Milwaukee's veteran playmaker, tops the league with an average of 10.6 assists per game. Len Wilkens, the numerical leader with 203 feeds, is averaging 8.5 per contest.

Final Half Surge Gives Hawks Win

By TOMMY HART

Howard County Jayhawks, coming off a weekend of successful tournament competition at Levelland, adjusted slowly to a challenge thrown down by Grayson County College of Sherman here Monday night but took complete charge after the intermission to win, 94-70.

A surprisingly large crowd was on hand to see if everything being said about this Jayhawk club was true and most of the spectators went away pleased.

This appears to be an HCJC team with verve, stamina, quickness and that priceless ingredient — depth.

Coach Buddy Travis used any number of lineup combinations against the bold Vikings and most succeeded in stinging the opposition. At this stage of the season, only Robert Jackson appears to have won a regular berth in the lineup.

Howard County raced to the fore to remain after the first five minutes of play but a Grayson rally shortly before the first half ended cut the Hawks' advantage to two points — at 41-39.

Two of the Vikings' better players, 6-10 Steve Coffman and Harvey Dalton, got in foul trouble early. Coffman picked up his fourth infraction with two minutes gone in the second half and was gone with 16:01 left in the game, at a time the 53-42.

Dalton fouled out less than three minutes later, but the Sherman team even then appeared hopelessly beaten.

Travis sent 11 players onto the floor and all got into the scoring act.

Jackson counted 17 points to lead the way. In addition, he pulled down 15 rebounds.

Sammy James, a cool cat, especially at the foul line, settled for 15 points while Mickey Wilson had 13. Wilson was hot from the side early in the game. His shots rarely hit metal, so true were they.

Spencer Person counted 15 and Coffman 13 for the Vikings, who are now 1-2 on the year.

The win was the fourth in a row for the Hawks, who next appear in the Garden City, Kan., tournament. Grayson pops over to Odessa tonight for a joust with Larry McCulloch's OC Wranglers.

The Hawks weren't especially warm from the field. They managed only 14 of 36 the first half for 39 per cent and cooled to 36 per cent after the rest period, connecting on 16 of 47 tries.

Some of Travis' freshmen, particularly Glen Fletcher, Danny Clendenin, George Tilley and James, were outstanding. The floor work of both Tilley and Clendenin should make them great crowd favorites here.

PLAYERS OF WEEK

Schafer Claims Award For Kats

Following are the football players in the Big Spring area who were singled out for their play in games involving their teams last weekend:

FORSAN
Back of the Week is again CLAYTON MCKINNON, 175-pound senior fullback and rover on defense. In the Buffs' 36-0 victory over Loraine, McKinnon played an outstanding role. He carried the ball 16 times for gains totaling 103 yards and twice went in for touchdowns. On defense, he came up with 11 tackles. Only slightly behind in the judging was quarterback Larry Tolson, who completed eight of 13 passes for 123 yards and two touchdowns.

Odessa Captures Consolation Title

Robert Jackson and George Tilley, both of HCJC, were named to the all-tournament squad chosen at the conclusion of the South Plains Basketball meet held last weekend in Levelland.

Other members of the elite squad included Wiggle DeFreeze, Lubbock Christian; Mike Bannister, Weatherford; David DeHoff, Butler; John Needy, Schreiner Institute; Ronnie Alvey, Odessa; Danny Whitlock, New Mexico JC; Obezonia Garrett, South Plains; and Tommy Wells, South Plains.

Jackson was also selected as the outstanding player of the eight-team event.

HCJC won the meet by toppling South Plains in the finals, 108-88. Odessa captured consolation laurels with an 83-77 victory over Schreiner.

South Plains smothered Weatherford, 145-104, in the semifinals to earn the right to oppose Howard County.

Butler captured fourth place at the expense of Weatherford, 85-70. New Mexico JC defeated Lubbock Christian College, 106-96, in the game for seventh place.

Sands Opposes Sundown Quint

So effectively did Sands play as a unit against New Home that no individual was chosen for the honor this week. The Mustangs had far and away their best effort against favored New Home and wound up with a 4-6 record — most respectable for a team playing 11-man ball for the first time.

ACKERLY

The Sands High School boys make their first basketball start of the season tonight, at which time they will oppose Sundown in Sundown.

The Sands girls, currently 2-4, play in the preliminary contest.

Pair Charged With Breakins

Complaints have been filed against two Big Spring men by the district attorney for two burglaries and four attempted breakins on Oct. 10.

One of the men is being held in the county jail and a warrant has been issued for the other, according to Sheriff A. N. Standard. Bond will be set for the two when the second man is arrested, he said.

The pair is being charged in connection with the burglary of the Wagon Wheel Drive-In, 2105 W. 3rd, where beer and meat were taken, and the Premier Service Station at 2709 Wasson Road, where 65 cents were taken from a coin machine.

The pair also has been under investigation for taking a monkey from its cage at the Hillbrunner Shell Service Station, IS 20, and attempted breakins, at a Shell station on Wasson Road, a Fina station at Eleventh Place and State, and another Fina station at Eighteenth and Scurry on the same night, Standard said.

Scouts Campout Termed Success

The Lone Star District Campout during the weekend was termed a success by Frosty Robison, camping and activity chairman. It drew 10 troops with 142 boys for a day of camping, fishing and contests at Moss Creek Lake.

Troop 14 won the camping award and troops 146 and 179 won first-place ribbons. John Paschall (Troop 146) won the prize for catching the largest fish, and Ron Parmenter won the award for the most fish—seven.

The camporee broke up following the 6 p.m. campfire ceremonies when awards were presented. Three troops camped overnight.

Duck Feather King Of Vietnam Freed

BANGKOK (AP) — Keith Hyland, the duck feather king of South Vietnam, arrived in Bangkok today after nine months in Viet Cong captivity.

KEITH HYLAND

Hyland, 54-year-old Australian, told newsmen the Viet Cong tried to release him twice in as many days following his capture in Saigon during the last year new year offensive, but February he said American air activity over the Communist-held portions of the city both times forced the Viet Cong to break off attempts to return him to government troops.

EVACUATED
Instead Hyland eventually was evacuated from the city and made a month-long trek through the jungle to solitary confinement in a prison camp near the Cambodian border.

He was released by the Viet Cong Monday in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, where he was reunited with his American wife. The couple flew to Bangkok and will remain there at least temporarily.

The Australian businessman said he believed he was released because of his failing health and a hearing condition that leaves him totally deaf from time to time. He ascribed the hearing condition to the close proximity of U.S. B52 strikes during the trek to his prison camp and nervous tension. He said he also contracted dysentery while a prisoner.

PALE, THIN
It was not known when Hyland would see his daughter Larissa, who was born after he was captured in Saigon. The Chinese quarters of Saigon, Hyland has a large business there exporting duck feathers for cushions and mattresses. He said whether he returns to Saigon depends on talks he expects to hold in Bangkok with a partner in a few days.

Mrs. Hyland is the former Dorothy Lisa Ludlow, 28, of Mt. Kisco and Larchmont, N.Y. She had arrived in Phnom Penh from San Francisco several days ago.

Hyland was pale and thin, his hair almost snow-white, and his dark blue suit hung loosely on him.

He had lived in Southeast Asia since the end of World War II.

Fresh Call For Obedience Of Pope Paul's Decisions

VATICAN CITY (AP) — One of Pope Paul's closest advisers declared today that Roman Catholics must obey the Pope's orders even if the orders are wrong.

The statement by Pericle Cardinal Felici, president of the Commission for the Revision of Canon Law, was an unmistakable call for obedience to the Pope's decisions on birth control, priestly celibacy and other issues dividing the church. It was also the first admission from a high Vatican prelate that the Pontiff might have erred in some of those divisive decisions.

Writing in the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano for the second time this month, the Italian cardinal asserted:

"Certainly the Superior can err in issuing orders. Though he acts in virtue of power received from God, such power passes through the smallness of human nature which does not always succeed in penetrating the profound design of God. But the possible error of the Superior does not authorize disobedience of the subjects."

DROP FROM SIGHT

30-Plus Hijackers Divert Airliners

HAVANA (AP) — More than 30 hijackers have diverted commercial airliners to Cuba this year, surrendered to Cuban security officials and then dropped from sight.

The government has never disclosed their fate, but many have been given jobs and housing and have settled into Communist society. It is presumed that others are still under security police watch.

Swiss Embassy spokesmen say they haven't heard directly from any hijacker. The embassy represents the United States, which has no diplomatic relations with Cuba.

In a few cases, government news media have named the hijackers or said they have asked for political asylum. After that, nothing more is heard.

Hijackers make no speeches and get no press praise. Higher ranking Cuban officials are known to be concerned by the rash of hijackings because of the delicate diplomatic situations they produce. But spectators at the airport clearly enjoy watching hijacked jets come in.

"We're getting planes from everywhere," said one Cuban as a Pan American jet rolled to a stop beside a hijacked Eastern airliner during the weekend.

Won't Surrender, Claims Panther

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver, due to return to prison Wednesday as a parole violator, says he won't surrender.

The state would never free him again, he contends. Cleaver, minister of information for the militant Negro group is required by State Supreme Court order to surrender to his parole officer Wednesday morning at the state building.

"That's one thing I can't do, go back to prison," Cleaver told a newsmen Monday. "Hoping and praying is irrational, so I've locked my mind and steeled myself."

Cleaver's attorney, Charles Garry, filed a petition Monday with U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas in Washington for a stay, but there was no word from Washington of whether Douglas might act.

Regional Parole Administrator Hal Hubbell said in response to questions that if Cleaver doesn't show up, parole officers will try to contact him. If they can't, Hubbell said, they'll ask police to pick him up.

Meanwhile supporters of the 33-year-old author of the best-selling "Soul on Ice" have been manning a 24-hour vigil in front of Cleaver's home.

Their picket sign reads: "To save Eldridge Cleaver from police murder we wait and watch 24 hours a day." Most of the vigil keepers are white.

Cleaver had been paroled in 1966 after serving eight years of a 13-year Los Angeles sentence for assault to commit murder and rape.

Forgery Nets Prison Penalty

Clyde Ferguson pleaded guilty Monday in 118th District Court and was sentenced to seven years in prison for forgery and passing a worthless check.

In other district court judgments Friday, McKinley Vernon Atkins, following a writ of habeas corpus hearing, was ordered by District Judge Ralph Patton to be released from Big Spring State Hospital.

Atkins alleged that he was not served proper notice in Tom Green County of his insanity hearing and was committed to the hospital without having the right of his own attorney at his trial. He also contended that he was not allowed to appear before the court in the proceedings in Tom Green County.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former child screen star Margaret O'Brien has charged her art director husband with extreme cruelty in a divorce suit on file in Superior Court.

Miss O'Brien, 31, was married to Harold Robert Allen Jr., 33, on Aug. 9, 1959. They separated last Nov. 8 and have no children. It was the first marriage for both.

Attorney Samuel P. Norton, who filed the suit Monday for Miss O'Brien, said the couple agreed on a property settlement.

Burglary Reported Every Eight Minutes In Texas

By TEX ROGERS
Every eight minutes another burglary is committed.

It will be one of 65,487 burglaries committed annually in the state, according to the Major Crimes Committee of the Texas Police Association and Texas Department of Public Safety.

The committee also says that while burglars are working every eight minutes, some 3,608 robberies are being staged each year.

Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard said that activity among criminals usually picks up during the last two months of the year, and all-night service stations, liquor stores and late-closing grocery stores are prime targets.

Also increased in December are thefts from autos, said Big Spring Police Chief Jay Banks. In December of 1967 there were 51 thefts in Big Spring and 29 were from cars, police records show.

Standard has issued hints to prevent robberies and burglaries to all merchants and businessmen in the area. He urged them to prevent costly robberies by keeping operating cash at a minimum and to bank often, but to use different routes and time for depositing cash.

"Be particularly alert to those who ask questions, such as closing time, opening time and how many employees a store may have," he said. "Also, beware of non-authentic calls supposedly from the police. Call the police back to verify if they call you."

If a robbery is committed, Standard said, a store operator should follow instructions of the bandit and offer no resistance. Then the robbed person should try to get a good description of the bandit and the vehicle used by the robber.

The police should be called immediately and the scene of the crime should be protected until law officials arrive, he said.

To avoid burglaries, company safes should be kept in well-lighted area and visible from the street, Standard said. The cash register should be left opened and empty.

Alleys should be well lighted and areas around the business place should be kept clean. Burglars will often use existing debris, such as boxes or ladders to gain entrance to buildings, he said. Rear windows and opening on the roof should be secured with bars, he added.

He cautioned residents to stop delivery of mail and newspapers and to have their lawns mowed while away from home a long period of time.

Thefts from cars can be reduced during the Christmas season if they are kept locked with packages out of sight or in the car trunk.

If a car is to be parked outside a home at night, it should be in a well lighted area and kept locked.

New Pipe Laying Barge Being Built

HOUSTON (AP) — A new pipe laying barge, the Bar 289, will join Brown & Root's fleet of offshore vessels working in the Gulf of Mexico about June 1, 1969.

The new barge, representing a capital investment of approximately $8 million, is being built for Brown & Root by Lexington Ship Building Co. at Orange.

The Bar 289 will be 350 feet by 72 feet by 22 1/2 feet and is designed to lay 6-inch to 36-inch outside diameter pipe in water depth of 15 feet to 350 feet or deeper.

Opening lead: Eight of ♠
Today's hand produced a substantial swing when it was dealt in a recent team-of-four match. The four heart contract was reached by North and South at both tables, but the results were strikingly different, for one declarer succeeded in scoring an overtrick while the other one fell one trick short.

The opening lead by West was the eight of spades at both tables, but the two declarers' respective techniques differed from the outset. One South put up the ten of spades from dummy and, when this was covered by East's queen, he played the ace from his hand.

A diamond was led at trick two and West rose with the ace to return another spade.

East won two tricks in the suit to complete the defensive book and then he led a fourth round of spades. South discarded a club and West ruffed in with the ten of hearts, forcing North to over-ruff with the ace. Try as he might, declarer was unable to avoid losing a trump trick to East subsequently, and he suffered a setback on the deal.

At the other table, when East covered the ten of spades with the queen on the opening lead, declarer permitted him to hold the trick. East could not continue the suit profitably, so he shifted to the ten of diamonds. West played the ace and returned a diamond, taken by North's king—on which South discarded his remaining small spade. A spade was led to the ace, and dummy was re-entered with the king of clubs so that declarer could ruff a spade with the deuce of hearts.

The ace of clubs was played and a small club trumped with the dummy's four of hearts. South ruffed the diamond return as East discarded a spade. The king of trumps was cashed, felling West's lone ten and South trumped his last club with the ace of hearts as East helplessly undertruffed.

On the diamond return from dummy, South sat behind East's jack-eight of trumps with the queen-nine. Declarer took the last two tricks to chalk up an overtrick.

Dear Abby
Waiting For 'Bells'

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a 50-year-old woman to still hear "bells" ring when she meets the right man? I have a friend who has had many opportunities to marry, but she has held off because she was waiting to hear "bells" ring. Should she wait any longer? Or should she settle for less?

CONSTANT READER
DEAR READER: These "bells" don't ring out the same message to everyone. To some it signals "the last call for supper" while to others, it's a prelude to a heavenly romance. Some bells are cracked, and some listeners have a hearing loss, so tell your friend not to wait too long or she's apt to wind up with the Good Humor Man.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are in our forties and this is the second marriage for both of us. We were recently blessed with a beautiful baby girl who was born five months early. (She is now eight months old.) My husband's whole family, including his ex-wife and teenaged children, know nothing about our marriage and baby. He says he prefers to keep it that way for the time being as they may be bitter or angry with him.

This is so hard for me, Abby. I should think his family would be happy to know that he is not alone, but happily married and the father of a beautiful baby girl.

Should I take it upon myself to send them pictures of me and the baby? Or should I wait until he is ready, which could be in a year or more?

BEWILDERED
DEAR BEWILDERED: DON'T send any pictures of yourself and the baby. I think your husband is being childish to "hide" the truth from his family, but if that's the way he wants it, let it lay.

DEAR ABBY: I offered to give a bride-to-be a bridal shower, and I asked her for a list of guests she wanted me to include.

On her list were two ladies who are bitter enemies. (This is no secret.)

I told the bride-to-be that I couldn't invite those two ladies to the same party, and suggested that one of them be put on another list.

The bride's mother then informed me that SHE was responsible for the guest list, and that I had no authority to take anyone off that list. She said she had never heard about the "feud" between these two women, which seems impossible to me.

What does one do in such an awkward position? HOSTESS
DEAR HOSTESS: If you are giving the shower, why then is the bride's mother "responsible" for the guest list? It's your party. Use your own judgment.
