LANDING HERE Commuter Service To Begin Flights

Officials of the Sentinel Airlines Inc., Abilene, have announced they will proceed with plans to institute commuter plane service to a number of West Texas cities, including Big Spring. The officials said the service would start about Dec. 15 under present plans.

Sentinel Airlines had a conference earlier this week with the Texas Aeronautics Commission. Bruce Puckett, Sentinel president, said that a hearing has been scheduled for Jan. 6 in Austin. This will be an attempt by Sentinel to get approval from the TAC for the new airline.

However, he said, TAC certification is not necessary to begin operations, so plans are currently to have planes in the air by Dec. 15-17.

Franklin P. O'Neill, executive secretary for the company, is setting up an itinerary for visits to chambers of commerce and airport officials to discuss the Sentinel plans.

Sentinel Airlines is a third level airline operation, with headquarters in Abilene. Tuesday it presented application for operating certificates to the TAC and a hearing has originally been slated for Dec. 19. Commissioners had said Tuesday there was a possibility service to cities from larger airlines would be endangered if the new service was allowed.

Christmas Cheer

The CHRISTMAS CHEER fund picked up some steam today, adding $78.71. This was easily the biggest day for the current appeal.

As a consequence City Firemen were getting a little working margin in getting parts and supplies for repairing toys for children who might otherwise have a bleak Christmas. All funds left spread cheer through the year by furnishing desperately needed drugs and food for needy youngsters.

Please send or mail your contribution to The Herald for acknowledgment. Latest friends of the fund are:

Hit By Cotton

A Big Spring man is reported in critical condition at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital this morning, suffering from a ruptured spleen and numerous fractures he received when a 500 pound-cotton bale fell on him Thursday afternoon.

Ray Bradbury, 1301 Michael, received the injuries at the West Texas Compress and Warehouse when he loosened chains holding bales of cotton on his truck. As the chains were slacked, two of the heavy bales fell from the truck and one fell on top of Bradbury, according to a witness.

Brando Put Off Following Quip

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A man wearing a beard and pigtail boarded National Airlines flight 64 for Miami, Fla., and, says stewardess Barbara Self, asked, "Is this flight to Cuba?" Miss Self, who admitted "I was scared," notified a station agent, who told the pilot, Capt. Gerald White.

The man was escorted off the plane Wednesday. When he reached a gate, another agent exclaimed, "My God, it's Marlon Brando!"

Since the 44-year-old actor had a ticket, he was asked to climb back aboard the plane but refused, an airline spokesman said Thursday.

Brando's attorney, Norman Garey, said the Cuba-flight statement "was nothing but an off-hand remark to a stewardess — that's all."

"That was a perfectly silly thing for Brando or anyone to say," the airline spokesman said, "especially when our airline has been hit harder by hi-jacks than any other one."

Brando was bound for a movie set in Colombia and wearing "a beard the script calls for and completely normal clothing," his lawyer said.

An airline spokesman said, "He was dressed sloppily, like a hippie," and wore a full beard and pigtail.

Shape Of Table May Delay Talks

PARIS (AP) — The United States and North Vietnam were reported today to have reached agreement on at least six procedural points, but delay still loomed for the start of expanded peace talks.

A sticking point is the shape of a table for the negotiators, seemingly trivial but highly significant for South Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, who will join the talks for the first time.

SHAPES

The allies want a rectangular table, with the United States and South Vietnam on one side and North Vietnam and the Viet Cong on the other. North Vietnam wants a square table to show the independence of its protegee, the Viet Cong. South Vietnam recognizes the Viet Cong only as part of the North's delegation.

In Saigon, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, discussing the forthcoming negotiations, declared in a radio-television address: "There is no reason that we shall let the Communists achieve through negotiations their dream of domination because of a minute of weakness on our part.

"Our delegation will come to the conference table neither to wrestle for any advantage nor to force the opposite side to concession. We will only demand that there be reasonableness, equality and rationality."

In two private meetings earlier this week, the United States and North Vietnam agreed on a number of points, including the room and the language to be used at the outset of the conference.

SQUABBLE

Despite the squabble over the shape of the table, U.S. sources said agreement has been reached on six or seven other points and they still hope for the first procedural meeting to be held next week.

They added that one of the most important agreed points is that there shall be four speakers at the opening session, one for each of the groups attending the conference. This implies an acknowledgment that the conference is four-sided.

North Vietnam's chief delegate, Xuan Thuy, cast some doubt on whether the first meeting could be held next week. At a reception Thursday night, reporters asked him how important the shape of the table was.

"Whether it's important or not it must be resolved," he replied. "You cannot sit down at a conference without a table."

U.S. Ambassador Cyrus Vance and North Vietnam's Col. Ha Van Lau, who have been conducting the private sessions, were scheduled to meet again today or Saturday to tackle the table issue again.

They have agreed that the deputy leaders of the four teams will begin the expanded conference by working out the rules of conference procedure.

Vance said in an interview broadcast Thursday by the British Broadcasting Corp. that he hoped the expanded talks, delayed now for a month by Saigon's boycott, "will get under way the first part of next week."

IMPROBABLE

But Pham Van Ba, head of the NLF information bureau in Paris, told newsmen this was highly improbable because of the number and difficulty of the points still to be settled.

The statement in New York Thursday by chief U.S. negotiator W. Averell Harriman that he and Vance would be replaced by President-elect Nixon's own envoys next month drew little interest from the North Vietnamese.

"American policy in South Vietnam is one of aggression," Xuan Thuy said, and President Johnson and Nixon "basically resemble each other."

Nixon Won't Send Observer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon has reaffirmed his intention not to send an interim observer to Paris to sit in on the Vietnam peace talks.

OPINION

Earlier Thursday W. Averell Harriman, the chief U.S. negotiator in Paris, emerged from a hour-long meeting with the President-elect and indicated that a representative of the new administration probably would be sent to Paris before the first of the year.

"I got the impression that he will send an observer," Harriman said of Nixon, "but I don't know who he will be or when he will come."

"It seems to me (Cyrus R.) Vance and I that this will be a very excellent way to show continuity," Harriman said. "It was perfectly clear that Mr. Nixon wanted to have a continuity in these negotiations."

Standing beside Harriman at that moment was Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's press spokesman, who, less than 24 hours earlier, had disclosed that Nixon already had reached a tentative decision against sending a pre-inauguration envoy to Paris.

On this later occasion, Ziegler listened to Harriman express confidence such an emissary would be dispatched and commented: "The thinking at this time is leaning toward sending an observer."

Ziegler interposed no objection when Harriman further related that both he and Cyrus R. Vance, deputy negotiator in Paris, would be replaced by one or more Nixon appointees soon after Jan. 20. Harriman did say Vance might remain in Paris "only a few days" to help the Nixon team.

CLARIFICATION

Then came a clarification from President Johnson's Air Force One carrying Nixon non-stop to Los Angeles. Ziegler, who had not been present at the Nixon-Harriman conference, told a small group of newsmen aboard the plane that Harriman apparently had received an erroneous impression. The Nixon spokesman issued a formal statement that began:

MOB TURNED BACK IN FRISCO Student Rioting Spreads

By The Associated Press
Student protests spread to Brown University's Ivy League campus and the halls of Washington University in suburban St. Louis Thursday while violence again struck at trouble-racked San Francisco State College.

PISTOLS, SPRAYS

Police used drawn pistols and crowd-control chemical sprays to turn back an advancing mob of 150 striking students in the San Francisco College administration building. At least 32 persons were injured in a subsequent melee, two seriously.

Negro community leaders and two white clergymen were among 26 arrested. A total of 81 persons have been arrested since acting president S.I. Hayakawa reopened the 18,000-student campus Monday.

Hayakawa and Mayor Joseph Alioto prepared today to respond to minority students demands for an ethnic studies department, but there was no guarantee that the announcement would end the month-long disturbance.

In St. Louis, about 40 of 100 Negroes enrolled at the 14,000-student Washington University campus locked themselves in the campus police station Thursday night protesting the alleged mistreatment of a Negro graduate student.

Another 200 white students occupied another administration office in the orderly and peaceful demonstration to back the Negro student's demands that three security officers be fired and two others suspended.

The graduate student involved, Elbert Walton of St. Louis, said campus police grabbed his legs, made him fall, kicked him and handcuffed him and forced him into a patrol car. Police said Walton was released after showing he was a student.

Chancellor Thomas H. Eliot refused to take any action pending a hearing for the officers. One administration source said Walton put up a struggle and struck two officers when stopped for questioning.

S. I. HAYAKAWA

Brown University in Providence, R.I., agreed to demands of Negro students who said they would boycott classes until black enrollment was increased. Students said they would study the proposal before accepting it.

About 65 students at Brown and Pembroke, its sister college, had earlier marched off campus declaring that a refusal of their demands would show that "it is a racist institution and plans to stay that way."

MORE NEGROES

The students asked for a Negro enrollment of 11 per cent in incoming freshman classes. Brown has about 50 Negroes among its 2,000 students and Pembroke 35 among 1,000.

In New York, Martin J. Meade, Fordham University dean of student affairs, was recovering from a heart attack suffered hours after a student takeover of his office. Meade, 37, was hospitalized Thursday morning.

Spiro Expects Controversy, Predicts Era Of Renaissance

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew said today that just as he was a controversial candidate in the presidential campaign "there is no reason to believe that I will be any less controversial as vice president."

Speaking in advance of President-elect Richard M. Nixon's arrival at the Republican governors' conference, Agnew predicted that the new GOP administration will provide "an era of renaissance for state governments" by giving them flexibility in spending federal grants.

Designated by Nixon as his liaison with state governors, Agnew gave voice to the complaints that the governors have been stacking up to present to Nixon, who is scheduled for a midday arrival. Aides said Nixon expects to talk to every GOP governor and those newly elected before and after he speaks at a formal conference state dinner tonight.

Agnew's remarks were prepared for delivery.

MEET COMPLAINTS

Agnew told his colleagues that they can expect him to meet their complaints that Washington parcels out federal grant money on an uneven basis and keeps its hand too rigidly on spending.

Agnew told a conference panel:

"I was a controversial governor, I have been a controversial candidate for vice president. There is no reason to believe that I will be any less controversial as vice president."

"I do not intend to play games with the secret meaning of words nor practice the gentle art of the platitude. I do not intend to rely on dictionary definitions and (do intend) to call the shots as I see them. I think this is what Richard Nixon selected me to do and what the American people elected me to do."

In a speech that obviously passed through the Nixon clearing house and was stamped valid, Agnew came out in favor of block grants to the states. This would give them more leeway in spending federal funds.

Agnew said there had developed "an unhealthy short circuit" between Washington and the cities which detoured state government control of programs.

DIFFICULT BATTLE FOR DOCTORS

Flu Virus Dodges Vaccine

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Doctors are having a hard time fighting the Hong Kong flu because the flu virus changes from year to year, area to area, even case to case.

That is why vaccine being developed to prevent this year's variant of the Asian flu remains an unknown quantity, doctors at the National Communicable Disease Center said. They expect Hong Kong flu to reach epidemic proportions in the United States this winter.

"We're lucky in most years if a vaccine is 60 to 70 per cent effective," Dr. Bruce Dull, assistant director of the center, said. "Our biggest problem is trying to educate people to understand that flu is different from all other infectious diseases."

The difference lies in what scientists call the "antigenic drift."

An antigen is a substance that causes the formation of antibodies. In all viruses except the ones causing flu, the antigens do not change. Therefore, a vaccine once effective against a virus-caused disease is always effective.

Scientists do not know why, or even exactly how, but flu viruses are different. This change or mutability usually is so small that a vaccine developed for one strain will have at least a limited effect on a newer type.

Occasionally, however, flu virus antigens will show a more marked difference, as in the case of Hong Kong flu, and a new vaccine is needed.

A new vaccine has been developed, using fertile chicken eggs to grow the virus strain used in inoculation. But nobody knows yet how effective it will be.

Martin County Man Killed In Stanton Train Accident

STANTON — Frank Romero, 37, longtime resident of Martin County, was instantly killed at 6:17 p.m. Thursday when his 1953 sedan was struck by a east bound Texas & Pacific Railway freight train on a Stanton railroad crossing.

ACCIDENT

Martin Gibson, justice of the peace, ruled death due to accident. The body was removed to Gilbreath Funeral Home, where services are pending. Police Officer Jake Bruton and other peace officers checked the accident.

Romero, alone in the car, was going north, crossing the T&P tracks at what is commonly known as the "section house" crossing, about four blocks east of the old railway depot.

The train was identified by railroad officials as Train No. 60, eastbound to Fort Worth. The railroaders aboard were all from Big Spring. A. W. Page was the conductor, J. C. Crowen, engineer and R. D. Sallee, fireman. None of the crew was hurt, and the train was not immobilized.

The impact of the crash, according to Gibson, hurled the car about 150 feet east of the crossing where it came to rest in the ditch. Romero's body was thrown partially clear of the wreckage, but he was still trapped by his feet when rescue workers reached him.

CONSTRUCTION

Romero was listed as a construction worker, employed by the Strain Construction Co.

He was born Jan. 18, 1931 in Karnes City, but had lived most of his life in Stanton. He is survived by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Romero, Stanton. He has six brothers and two sisters, whose names and present addresses were not immediately available.

'Make It With Wool' Contest Is Saturday

The annual "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest will be held Saturday in Lubbock for District One. Dr. Gene Sheldon, head of the department of clothing and textiles, Texas Technological College, Lubbock, will serve as director.

Those who will represent Howard County in Lubbock are Anita Jones and Kayla Jackson, both of Knott, and Sandy Williams, Big Spring, in the sub-division; Molly Adkins, Lomax, Joann Crawford, Big Spring, and Debra Buchanan of Gay Hill, junior division; Kay Read, Coahoma, and Neomi Galon and Carolyn Crawford, both of Big Spring, senior division.

Mrs. Angel Speaks On Christmas

Mrs. Clyde Angel presented the program, "The Magic of Christmas," and gave excerpts from the book, "Merry Christmas, Mr. Baxter" by Edward Streeter at Wednesday's meeting of Big Spring Garden Club. The group met in the home of Mrs. H. G. Keaton, No. 10 Indian Ridge, with Mrs. J. B. Knox as cohostess.

Mrs. Angel told the Biblical Christmas story and gave a reading, "The Night The Chimes Rang."

The refreshment table was laid with a Christmas cloth and centered with a Yule arrangement. Holiday decorations were used throughout the entertaining rooms, and Mrs. G. T. Hall presided at the silver coffee service.

Plans were made to decorate a ward at Big Spring State Hospital for Christmas. Mrs. Angel will host the next meeting in her home at 706 Hillside on Jan. 8.

Christmas Program Presented To PTA

"Christmas is for Everyone," was the program presented by the sixth grade at Tuesday's meeting of Moss Elementary School Parent Teacher Association. Mrs. Curtis Compton directed the program. Frosty Robison presided and announced a profit of $495.54 from the Halloween carnival. The money will be used in an improvement project at the school. Mrs. Donald Judd gave the city council PTA report and cited the changes made at the state convention. Bill Irwin's sixth grade class won the room count.

A LOVELIER YOU

Yule Season Ushers In Dramatic Jewels

By MARY SUE MILLER
Anytime after sundown is the time for a dazzling jeweled pin. It can hardly be too large or too glittery.

Rhinestones, cabochons, gold and enamel meld to set the dusky crepes, veivets and chiffons ablaze. A brooch may have the elegance of a gem heirloom, intricate and paved with stones. Or it may be a none-such sparkler, frankly mod and outrageously make-believe.

Looking like crown jewels, pendant brooches with faceted stones swing from chains, belts and sashes, or are placed to accent a feature of a dress — a Empire waistline or Napoleonic collar. Flora and Fauna motifs, encrusted with showy cabochons and brilliant, reflect modern design.

Striking the avant garde note, there are V arrangements of splashy flowers. The better to accent the cleavage of deep V necklines. Bird, fish and snakey themes catch the eye and the conversation. That big, bold and "never wert" are they! Chained high at the throat or pinned at the side waist, a big fish could be the making of a small-pond dress.

With all this bejeweled drama, we girls will have to be careful. The dramatic easily becomes the melodramatic. To keep the fashion plot from getting out of hand, you can wear only one or at the most two elaborate pieces of jewelry. Otherwise, the star quality is lost — including, maybe, your own.

Dear Folks:
Every year people write and want to know how to paint pine cones and leaves for decorative arrangements during the holidays.

Get an old coffee can or a plastic bleach bottle which has the top cut off and fill it about three-quarters with tap water. Pour some paint (NOT water paint. Use house paint, etc.) in the water. The paint will float on top of the H2O.

Any color — silver, gold or flat white is beautiful!

Dip your dry pine cones into this slowly and they will come out ever so lovely! Place 'em on newspapers to dry. If you make a mistake the first time... they can be dipped again with no harm done.

When it comes to painting a branch of holly with a lot of leaves, why don't you paint only the top side? I do this by covering the red berries with a small piece of foil, laying the branch on paper then spraying the leaves.

When the bit of foil is removed, the beautiful red berries will show, the top of the leaves will be white or silver (some people like gold) and all the underneath leafy part is green!

The branches have beautiful contrasting colors. Lovely for centerpieces, mantels or when a sprig is attached to the top of a lovely Christmas package — that saves the price of an expensive bow... Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I know that many times an accident victim is brought unconscious to a hospital emergency room without identification.

I have put a card back to back with my driver's license (both together in a plastic cardholder) with the following information:

Dear Heloise:
I have white kitchen cabinets that always seem to have dirty little handprints on them.

I dampen rags in a good cleanser and give them to my four and five-year-old and it is really surprising what a good job they do cleaning the lower portions.

And while they're at it, they also clean up black heel marks and polish legs on the dinette set. I praise them a lot and really get the work done (with no backache!).

Of course, when I clean thoroughly, I always turn the chairs upside down on the table like cafes do and then clean the legs good. Saves bending over. Nancy

OES Holds Dinner For Dignitaries

Mrs. Ray York of Midland, district deputy grand matron, Order of Eastern Star, made her official visit Tuesday to Big Spring Chapter No. 67 in Masonic Temple.

The hall was decorated with black shoes representing "The Old Woman in the Shoe." The program was presented by Mrs. W. D. Peters and Mrs. C. O. Graham. A salad supper was served from a table laid with a white cloth decorated with autumn leaves and colors of gold, green and orange.

Grand officers attending were Steve Baker, member of the board of grand trustees; Mrs. N. O. Starr, Odessa, Mrs. A. L. Ditty, Midland; and Mrs. Peters, all members of the Founder's Day committee; Mrs. Susie Mae David, Midland, library committee; Fred Moore and Virgil Bates, Masonic ambassador committee; and Mrs. A. T. McCann of Odessa, paternal visitation committee.

Hostesses were Mrs. D. D. Dyer, Mrs. Hayes Stripling Sr., Mrs. Rogers Hefley and Mrs. Steve Baker.

Approximately 80 attended.

Baby Shower Held In Bill Reed Home

Mrs. Ralph Wilkerson, 1810 Gollad, was honored with a baby shower recently in the home of Mrs. Bill Reed, 1500 Pennsylvania. The Wilkersons have adopted a baby daughter, Tracie Sue.

Cobostesses were Miss Lillie Gandy, Mrs. Billy G. Land, Mrs. Joe Bill Wennik, Mrs. Don Eggleston, Mrs. Robert Nielson, Miss Linda Taylor and Mrs. Greta Yochers.

The hostess's gift was a baby book.

The refreshment table was laid with white cloth and centered with a tree decorated with miniature baby articles.

One out-of-town guest, Mrs. Betty Ovarcik, attended.

Will Attend School

The Order of Rainbow for Girls will leave Saturday morning at 8 a.m. from the Continental bus station for the school of instruction to be held in Midland. Each girl is requested to bring a sack lunch.

Midland Club Invites Gardeners On Tour

The Midland Council of Garden Clubs will hold its fall garden tour from 2 to 5:30 p.m. Sunday. The tour will offer a wide variety of gardens of interest to the public. Admission is 50 cents for adults, and children under 12 will be admitted free. Tickets will be on sale at the featured gardens, or from members of clubs affiliated with the Midland Council of Garden Clubs.

The council will endeavor to assist both residents and newcomers by showing landscape examples of plants that thrive in this area. Apartment dwellers will be shown an enclosed patio and sun room of a type featured by two of the clubs.

The Sand and Seed Garden Club will present the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Larremore at 719 Snell. This garden will feature a re-designed landscape and a waterfall built by the owners and is an example of improvements that can be made at a pre-owned home.

The garden of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Van Auken, 2823 Maxwell, will be sponsored by Pyrantha Garden Club. Cacti and succulents will be featured and this is an excellent example of an original evergreen landscape plan.

Midland Garden Club will offer the garden of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Unger at 1606 Humble. An enclosed patio suitable for year-around use will be featured.

The final garden to be toured will be the indoor sun room garden planted by Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Cox, 1610 Snell, which will be shown by the Yucca Garden Club. Pot plants suited for indoor culture will be featured, and the home will be decorated for the holiday season with arrangements of native plant materials.

Col. McGlothlin Presented Youth Opportunity Award

Col. William C. McGlothlin, Webb AFB wing commander, was presented with the President's Youth Opportunity Award this week during a wing-staff meeting.

The certificate, signed by Vice President Hubert Humphrey, commended the colonel "for outstanding accomplishments in supporting the President's program to enhance the opportunities for disadvantaged youth in the fields of employment, education, health and recreation during the summer of 1968."

Col. Chandler B. Eses, air base group commander, made the presentation. Accompanying the award was a letter from Lt. Gen. Sam Maddux, Air Training Command commander. The general also lauded Col. McGlothlin's support of the President's Youth Opportunity Program this summer.

"Your efforts in behalf of this program have resulted in our being among the leaders in providing employment opportunities for disadvantaged youth," the general said in his letter.

This past summer, Webb employed 89 disadvantaged children between the ages of 16-21. The base also had a highly successful junior olympic program and many of its personnel were active in the Little League program and other recreation activities for children.

Capt. Borland Given Honors

Capt. Melroy Borland, rescue crew commander with Detachment 18, Western Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Unit at Webb AFB, was presented with the sixth through 15th oak leaf clusters to the Air Medal recently in ceremonies at the detachment.

In addition to the military decorations, the captain also received the Kaman Aircraft Scroll of Honor for participation in rescue or mercy missions in Kaman-built helicopters under adverse conditions.

Both awards were the result of duty performed in Vietnam. Capt. Borland recently returned from Southeast Asia. He spent from January, 1967, to August, 1968, at Nha Trang AB, Vietnam, being assigned to the 58th Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron there. The captain flew 20 rescue missions in an HH 43B and F helicopter during that period.

Capt. Borland, a native of Midland, was graduated from the Air Force Academy in 1963. The 12-year Air Force veteran entered the Air Force immediately after graduation from Plains High School in 1956. He attended prep school before his appointment to the Academy.

Maj. Wingate, Operations Officer, Gets Assignment

Maj. Douglas Wingate, T-33 operations officer at Webb AFB, will complete his second tour-of-duty at the base Dec. 16.

The major will attend survival schools at Homestead AFB, Fla., and Fairchild APT, Wash., F-105 Thunderchief training at McConnell AFB, Kan., follows. He will eventually draw an overseas assignment, most likely a Southeast Asian air base.

Maj. Wingate was first assigned to Webb in April, 1967. For three years he served as assistant squadron operations officer in the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron.

He returned to Webb and the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron in June, 1965. In December, 1965, the major took over as T-38 operations officer. In four years in that position, Webb-based T-38's have moved under increased radar control. He was instrumental in making the base the only Air Training Command base with a complete category IV radar control.

Other accomplishments in the major's four year tenure include implementation of operation Smooth Flow, and the operations input to support the Edwards AFB, Calif., and Randolph AFB. He also served on the Air Training Command standardization - evaluation board and attended the Air Command and Staff College, Maxwell AFB, Ala., before returning to Webb in 1965.

Maj. Wingate enlisted in the Air Force in January, 1951. He entered pilot training as an aviation cadet at Columbus AFB, Miss., in April, 1952. After graduation as a jet pilot from Laredo AFB, the major took advanced gunnery training in the F-80 Shooting Stars and the F-86 Sabres at Nellis AFB, Nev.

The following six months he was assigned to the 1738th Ferry Squadron at Long Beach, Calif., ferrying F-86 and T-33 aircraft.

In April, 1954, Maj. Wingate went to Bitburg, Germany, for a two-year tour with the 23rd Fighter Squadron. During this duty he flew F-86Fs.

Maj. Wingate left the Air Force for one year between April, 1956, and April, 1957. After being recalled to active duty, he completed basic instructor school at Craig AFB, Ala., before his first assignment to Webb.

Maj. Wingate is now a command pilot who has logged 4,200 hours of rated jet time. Both the major and his wife, Gwen, are natives of North Carolina. The family will return there when the major departs for overseas duty. All three of the major's children were born during his first tour-of-duty at Webb.

Honor Pilot Announced

First Lt. Steven Reynolds has been selected the T-37 Instructor Pilot of the month of November. It was announced this week at Webb AFB.

Lt. Col. Robert Wall, commander of the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron said, "All facets of Lt. Reynolds' job performance have been exceptional." He cited such examples as the lieutenant's dedication to the mission of training officers and pilots, patience, versatility and varied instructional techniques which enable him to challenge the strong student while progressing marginal students at a maximum rate and objective grading practices and attention to detail.

In addition to his normal flying duties, the lieutenant also serves as flight scheduling officer. In this capacity, he schedules nine instructors and 29 students thus achieving optimum continuity of training.

Capt. Shaw Joins Judge Advocate's Office At Webb

Capt. Walter I. Shaw, who recently swapped civilian garb for the Air Force blue, is the new assistant judge advocate at Webb Air Force Base.

Capt. Shaw received his doctorate of jurisprudence degree in June from St. Louis University, St. Louis, Mo. After taking his bar examinations and working in an attorney's office for several months, the captain came on active duty in the Air Force Nov. 15 in Jefferson City, Mo. Two days later he reported in for duty at Webb.

As assistant under Maj. Duane Feichtinger, staff judge advocate, the captain will handle claims and contract work and also will have some trial duty.

The 25-year-old captain was graduated cum laude from St. Louis. He received his undergraduate degree in 1965 from the Kansas State University Manhattan, Kan. Besides his bachelor of arts degree from Kansas State, the captain also received an Air Force R.O.T.C. commission from that university.

Skyjackers Called Strays And Losers

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — If there is a connecting link in the chain of airliner hijackings in 1968, it is that the sky pirates have almost always been described as strays from the ranks of society's losers.

Oran Daniel Richards, who seized a Delta airliner July 12, broke into sobs and dropped his gun and his hijack attempt failed. A former Springfield, Ohio, mental patient, he was committed to a Florida state hospital.

Two Priests Indicted On Influence Charges

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two Roman Catholic priests, both with more than 20 years service, have been indicted on charges of trying to influence a juror in a personal injury case.

One of them, the Rt. Rev. Paul Bassompierre, has been a priest for 25 years and is prominent in Catholic charities.

The other, the Rev. Charles A. Kobylarz, is pastor of St. Edward's Church in the suburb of Hermine in Westmoreland County.

The indictment, returned Thursday by a federal grand jury, charges they "did corruptly endeavor to influence, intimidate and impede a petit juror... in discharge of the juror's duty."

The maximum penalty is a $5,000 fine and five years in prison.

Records filed in federal court in January identify the juror as a parishioner and an employee in Msgr. Bassompierre's St. Bridget Church in the city's Hill district.

The records show the trial was a personal injury suit against the Monongahela Connecting Railroad Co. by an employee, Ronald Pryor, 50.

The case had been in trial six days in October, 1967, when U.S. Dist. Court Judge Edward Dumbauld stopped it, ruling it a mistrial. Before a new trial could be scheduled both sides settled out of court.

Some have been blacks rejecting a society they harangued as "racist." "H. Jackson," National Airlines, Nov. 4, dressed himself in a Black Panther-style uniform, christened the jet "Republic of New Africa" at gunpoint and declared the plane "contraband of war."

Some fled loneliness. Mario Velasquez Fonseca, Northeast Orient Airlines, July 1, left a few acquaintances in Chicago who said, "The homesickness ate him up." He had a wife and two children in Cuba.

And some have bragged of revolutionary empathy with Castro. Rogelio Hernandez Leyva, National Airlines, July 17, said he was a Castro agent who had been ordered home.

In all there have been 28 hijackings or attempted hijackings this year, all but three of them involving Cuba as the ultimate destination. Twenty of the hijackings were of commercial airliners carrying from 18 to 109 passengers.

NO ONE KILLED
No one has been killed or seriously injured in the wave of hijackings this year.

The hijackers have usually been solitary men in their 20s or 30s although some women have hijacked planes and a couple of hijackings involved groups of men, women and babies held in their mothers arms.

In just about every case the hijackers have been armed with handguns, but some carried knives or what looked like hand grenades. One grenade later turned out to be a shaving lotion bottle wrapped in a handkerchief.

The cost of the hijackings is difficult to measure. The Cuban government has threatened to bill the air lines for landing fees, but Bill Wooten, Eastern public relations man, says no bills have ever been received.

Wooten said it is almost impossible to calculate what a given act of air piracy would cost an air line.

The government pays the cost of flying hijacked passengers back to this country aboard propeller-driven planes chartered from Airlint International, which runs the twice daily Cuban refugee freedom flights.

Weather Forecast

Rain is forecast for Friday night in the Pacific Northwest and in the southeast quarter of the nation. The rain will turn to snow flurries in the southern Appalachians and there will be snow flurries in the northeastern states. It will be warmer in the south Atlantic states and colder elsewhere.

Estranged Wife Of Tarrant County Clerk Is Charged

FORT WORTH (AP) — Authorities charged the estranged wife of Tarrant County Clerk W. C. "Red" Cowen today with assault with intent to commit murder after the official was shot in the jaw and chest.

Mrs. Betty Flanagan, 47, was accused of the assault on her husband as Cowen sat in his car early Thursday near the old county courthouse.

Cowen, who lost both his legs during World War II, was listed in good condition in a Fort Worth hospital.

Mrs. Flanagan, a county employee who identified herself as a witness to the shooting, said she saw a woman get out of a parked car and approach Cowen's auto. Mrs. Flanagan said at first she thought the woman and Cowen "were just playing."

Mrs. Flanagan said she saw the woman reach into Cowen's car. "I thought she was just spraying him with perfume or something. I didn't realize what was happening," said Mrs. Flanagan, a clerk in the county voters affairs office.

Mrs. Flanagan said she then realized that the woman held a pistol and "then she shot it." "I thought, my God, that woman is killing him," the veteran clerk related.

Mrs. Flanagan said Cowen, who apparently toppled forward after he was shot, pulled himself back into a sitting position.

The day after the divorce suit was filed, a temporary restraining order was filed against Mrs. Cowen, ordering her not to harass or threaten Cowen.

Mrs. Cowen was charged before Peace Justice W. W. Matthews.

One cold front threatening to tread on the heels of another reminded Texans it was overcoat weather over a good part of the state today.

Subfreezing temperatures nipped northern areas and it was foggy with a few showers near the coast, where readings were in the 50s and 60s.

The moisture occurred mostly ahead of a weakening front which early morning lay just north of Beaumont, Houston and Victoria, extending westward to a little south of Laredo.

Except for partly cloudy to cloudy skies in coastal areas, it was mostly clear across the state.

Official observers looked for a new norther to reach the Texas Panhandle by evening and spread still more cold air through other sections by Saturday, possibly also bringing a little snow in the Panhandle.

Fair weather was expected to continue except for occasional clouds in the northwest and south central portions of the state.

The mercury climbed Thursday afternoon to 81 degrees at McAllen and 80 at Brownsville on the southern tip of Texas, making them the warmest spots in the nation. Amarillo, Dalhart and Lubbock registered highs of only 43.

Readings before dawn today included Amarillo 20, Dalhart 21, Lubbock and Midland 23, and El Paso 26, Mineral Wells, San Angelo and Wichita Falls 27, Big Spring 28, Fort Worth 29 and Dallas, Denison and Sherman 31.

But Rudolph Lyons told a Newcastle court Brian Edward Howe was murdered jointly last July 31 by Norma Joyce Bell, 13, and Mary Flora Bell, 11. He said fibers from the clothes of both girls were found on the boy's body.

The two girls, next-door neighbors but unrelated, pleaded innocent when their trial opened Thursday to charges of strangling Brian Howe and Martin George Brown, 4, within two months "solely for the pleasure and excitement afforded by killing."

Lyons unfolded a story of such gruesomeness today that Judge Ralph Cusack asked the five women among the 12 jurors to tell him if they felt unable to continue the trial. There was no response from the jury but Mary's mother burst into tears and was taken from the court by a policeman.

The trial is expected to continue several days.

Kennard Thomas Lawrence, son of Mrs. Kelly Lawrence and the late Mr. Lawrence, is among the nine West Texans who passed the October examinations by the State Board of Law Examiners.

He and others who qualified will get their licenses in special ceremonies by the Texas Supreme Court Dec. 16 in Austin.

Rebel Priest Is In Hiding

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Don Enzo Mazzi, rebel priest and hero to the Florentine poor, was in hiding today after being dismissed from his parish Thursday. But his parishioners held the key to the church and were setting up a revolution promotion center next door.

Two other Florentine priests expected expulsion from their duties in the bitter dispute between Don Mazzi and his working-class flock on one side and Ermenegildo Cardinal Florit, the archbishop of Florence on the other.

The priests were Don Sergio Cacioli, a pastor in one of Florence's poorest districts and a close associate of Don Mazzi's, and Don Paolo Gombi, 28, Don Mazzi's assistant.

"It's my turn now," said Don Cacioli Thursday night. "I've been waiting for it for years. I knew it was coming as soon as Don Mazzi was fired."

Don Mazzi was hidden in a private house while his parishioners continued to control the church of Mary of the Graces in the Isolotto district.

They scheduled meetings through Saturday night to decide what stand to take against the archbishop. In rooms adjoining the church, parishioners were making posters and turning out mimeographed bulletins.

Don Mazzi had been their pastor 14 years. For the last 10 years he and his associates had been writing children's catechism that made Cardinal Florit bristle and sent shock waves into the Vatican.

The just-published catechism depicts Christ as a revolutionary leading the poor against the privileged and wealthy. The cardinal censured the catechism and forbade his priests to use it. Don Mazzi said the cardinal told him: "Resign or I'll fire you."

The priest made no move to resign, and on Thursday his dismissal was announced.

Pupils in two elementary schools walked out of classes in protest. They had their teachers' approval. Thousands of Don Mazzi's parishioners, including many cripples, marched in silence across the Arno and massed outside the cardinal's residence, waving placards demanding that he restore Don Mazzi to them.

The Vatican newspaper upheld the dismissal and called it a sad but predictable end to the episode. "Meetings, yes; discussion, yes," said L'Osservatore Romano. "But at a certain point must recognize the rule of the legitimate pastor."

"No one contests the good intentions of this temacious priest. But obedience to a bishop is always the boundary in every clerical or lay activity."

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Photo model Jacqueline Lotte Hermans is the prize in the current question and answer contest of Candy, one of the Dutch monthly sex magazines.

A picture of the 22-year-old model, titled, "You can have me on April 25th for the whole week," published above the contest rules.

Lotte said her contract allows her to refuse to go along with the deal if the man is over 75, shows clear evidence of physical or mental abnormality or is drunk.

"She can't trifle with me," she said. "I've got control of myself. My boyfriend knows me well enough that he believes I'm not going to do anything crazy."

Clifford Bly, association president, or John Middleton, secretary, may both be contacted in San Angelo for more information. Annual dues in the association are $10.

BREAKDOWN IN VIET PEACE TALKS, SOVIET POWER PLAY AGAINST GERMANY

Nixon Faces Possibility Of New War In Middle East

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three dangerous situations threaten President-elect Richard M. Nixon's program for giving the United States new direction in world affairs.

They are the possibility of a fresh outbreak of fullscale war between Israel and the Arab states; a complete breakdown of the Paris talks on ending the Vietnam war; and some new Soviet power play against West Germany.

TOP PRIORITY

The Nixon foreign policy program, sketched in only broad outline during the campaign, set forth three early major goals—Reduction of U.S. involvement in Vietnam; assignment of top priority to European over Asian problems; and creation of a position of strength for summit negotiations with the Soviet Union.

The new president thus will be confronted with the interlocking tasks of striving for achievement of these goals while at the same time trying to avert crises which could block or seriously hamper such achievement.

Senior diplomats rate the danger of a Middle East crisis as the greatest and most urgent situation. Painsstaking United Nations peace efforts, under way for more than a year, appear to have collapsed.

However, failure of the Paris peace talks could pose extremely serious issues for Nixon, especially the question of whether to resume bombing North Vietnam.

LONG RUN

And yet in the long run the most perilous situation may well involve Germany. The Czech crisis points that way.

Soviet leaders blamed West Germany for making trouble in Communist Czechoslovakia which led to the Soviet invasion in August. Now U.S. authorities foresee more Czech-type cracks in the Soviet political system in Eastern Europe. They expect West Germany to be blamed by the Kremlin and a slow accumulation of tensions to result. The Soviets could, of course, turn the heat on West Berlin at any time as a diversionary tactic. But a more serious assessment in official Washington is for a slow buildup of East-West crisis over Germany during the next three or four years.

Nixon's sense of the urgency of such foreign policy problems in relation to his general foreign and domestic goals is evidently great. He has broken the fundamental tradition of isolation from an outgoing administration to buy extra time for his own peace-making hopes. The unique grant of authority he gave Johnson administration leaders Nov. 11 to speak on foreign affairs for the incoming administration along with the outgoing—presumably was justified in his judgment by the importance of what might be achieved.

HE'S TO BAT

Nixon was critical of Johnson's foreign policy during his campaign against Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. But he had responded favorably to President Johnson's offer of information on the peace negotiations, the total ban on bombing of North Vietnam, the related agreement to expand the Paris peace talks, and other foreign developments. Thus there was a basis for his decision to endorse Johnson's strategy in critical areas of foreign policy as soon as he was elected.

Meanwhile it seemed to be apparent from the general trend of Nixon's statements during the campaign and his emphasis on restoring national unity after the election that he shares Johnson's view of a vital interplay between foreign issues and domestic attitudes.

It is generally thought here Nixon believes detachment of the United States from Vietnam is an essential step if he is to reduce dissension in the nation and create the unity he has called for. When Johnson ordered the partial halt of the bombing of North Vietnam last March 31 in a bid to start peace talks, he recognized U.S. involvement in the war as a cause of dangerous divisions in the country and said he removed himself as a candidate for reelection to strengthen his hand in peace negotiations.

TWO WAYS

Nixon has two ways of handling detachment from Vietnam and a third way, beyond his control, could develop.

During the campaign he said that "the national interest, the interest of our fighting men and the interest of peace in the world require that this war be brought to an honorable conclusion as quickly as possible." By such statements he committed himself to a negotiated peace in Vietnam if that is possible. It is thus evidently the preferred way for him to bring about U.S. disengagement.

The second way available to Nixon is to continue the Johnson policy of building up South Vietnamese military forces, now said to number about a million men, and to shift the burden of fighting to them. Nixon himself said during the campaign that as the South Vietnamese become more effective "the de-Americanization of the war can begin."

A third possibility, which some of the best informed U.S. officials foresee, is that the war may simply fade away. The concept that North Vietnamese forces might be pulled out of South Vietnam without fanfare and that the flow of supplies to the Viet Cong guerrillas might quietly dry up is an old one. U.S. officials base it on two assumptions: That Hanoi will never sign agreements committing itself to a truly independent South Vietnam and that Hanoi may realize eventually it is suffering military defeat.

POLICY CHANGES

Most of the foreign policy changes which Nixon talked about during the campaign were either expressed in very general terms or represented essentially tactical alterations to promote some of his main objectives.

Thus he called for a shakeup in the State Department to make it more effective. He said foreign aid should be reorganized to reduce commitments to some countries and increase them to others—with an implication that the cost might be less in the long run. He declared the nations of Asia should develop their own all-Asian alliance to give themselves the ability "to make the initial response to any new aggression in their area." Nixon also promised on many occasions that he would give the United States "a new foreign policy." He said it is his goal to prevent war for the rest of this century.

Nixon is not expected to spell out before taking office how he would bring about all the changes in the U.S. world position which he spoke of — no more Vietnams, more cautious intervention, a strengthened alliance in Europe, and the beginning of negotiations with the Russians on a regular basis to reduce the danger of nuclear war and to damp down the Middle East. Nixon's problem after he takes office, like that of any other president, will be to see where his declared aims and the hard realities coincide and, where they conflict.

'FLASH POINT'

During the campaign Nixon said negotiating with the Russians must be prepared by rebuilding the Atlantic alliance—including closer contacts with French President Charles de Gaulle—and strengthening this country's military power.

Nixon rated the Middle East as a greater danger than Vietnam in terms of its potential for world war, saying that next to Berlin it was a "major flash point."

The Soviet Union, Nixon said, "must be made to understand that a renewed war in the Middle East could lead to a nuclear confrontation which neither side desires."

Soviet leaders have been building their present strong position in the Middle East since the mid-1950s when they began giving arms to Egypt.

In an effort to maintain some leverage and traditional contact on the Arab side, the United States has sold arms to Jordan.

But the major U.S. arms shipments have gone to Israel along with the armaments sold or supplied to Israel by other Western powers. Thus the strategic region, historically a crossroads of the world, has been for more than a decade an arena of competition between the United States and Russia—and the Russians have been increasing their stake and their power.

'GRAVELY SERIOUS SECURITY GAP' CHARGE FADES

President-Elect Plans Defense Study

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications currently point to a slower-paced military buildup after Richard M. Nixon takes office than was suggested by campaign statements hammering at a "gravely serious security gap."

Nixon associates say the new president plans a deep and detailed study of defense commitments and the nation's strength before deciding how far and how fast to go in spending additional billions of dollars on weaponry.

NEW HARDWARE

"He wants to review all of our commitments and translate that into what new hardware is needed," one source said, implying there are some private U.S. commitments which must be taken into account.

The Nixon team is reasonably convinced already that time consuming research and development will require early stimulus.

Nixon charged in the campaign the Johnson administration had permitted a technological "research gap" between the United States and Russia.

"We must not run the risk that a technological breakthrough might overnight alter the balance of power which now maintains the peace," Nixon has said.

Research and development is a slow process, involving much experimentation and trial and error, before new weapons can take shape.

The Defense Department's fiscal 1969 budget carried $3 billion for all kinds of military research and development. The Pentagon claims to have spent some $47 billion on this since 1962.

'FOOT-DRAGGING'

Nixon aides contend there has been a "fair amount of waste" because of what they term "foot-dragging" in some important project areas.

"We think they should be moving faster," a Nixon staff member said but he declined to discuss specific projects.

The president-elect has avoided being nailed down in any specific commitment to buy certain types of weapons.

About the closest he has come in this regard has been to explore what he called a "freeze on nuclear submarines" and to claim this has led to a "submarine gap" in relation to the Soviet Union. While he has not hemmed himself in with numbers, Nixon has criticized the Defense Department's action limiting nuclear-powered attack submarines to 69 "despite the Navy request for 109."

He also has come out flatly in support of the controversial F111 fighter plane, or at least the Air Force version of it. The F111, once known as the TFX, has been plagued by a series of crashes and mechanical flaws.

In a statement at Ft. Worth, Tex., where the F111 is manufactured, Nixon pledged that "the F111 will be in a Nixon administration made into one of the foundations of our national security."

HIGHER PAY

Nixon has made a major point of urging a change from the draft to an all-volunteer armed force, but not until "our involvement in the Vietnam war is behind us."

He estimates the cost of higher pay and allowances to attract enough volunteers at $5 billion to $7 billion a year. Democratic officials challenged this during the campaign, mentioning a possible cost of more than $16 billion. Many senior military men welcome the Nixon presidency because they expect to get more of their weapons requests approved. But they really don't know how much more they can expect.

While Nixon has talked about achieving "clear-cut military superiority," he has stressed he was speaking about "the over-all position of strength of the United States."

NOT SURE

Nobody is quite sure what this means, though Nixon has mentioned a rejuvenated merchant marine—only indirectly a military program.

Although he has laid considerable emphasis on relative present limit of 1,000 land-based nuclear weapons power, he has refrained from committing himself to build advanced missile systems, or even to increase the Minutemen set by former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara four years ago.

Some Pentagon professionals think Nixon is inclined to give the Air Force its long sought go-ahead to build a completely new advanced manned bomber. But Nixon aides say he has made no such specific commitment.

RED CHINESE

By criticizing the McNamara approach to an antimissile defense, Nixon has implied that he might be willing to expand the present limited plan, aimed at protecting the United States from a relatively unsophisticated Red Chinese attack, to a bigger and more complex shield against heavy Russian attack.

But here, too, there is nothing more than an implication.

At the end of the campaign, some Nixon associates said his defense plans contemplated raising the military budget to about $87 billion by 1973.

This would be some $15 billion more than Congress allotted this year.

The 1973 projection envisions spending some $10 billion to $15 billion on Southeast Asia, even though the Vietnam war hopefully will be over by then.

About $25 billion of this year's defense budget is earmarked for the Vietnam war.

STAGGERING

The staggering cost of military hardware—and the prospect that inflation will send these costs upward—must be an inhibiting factor in Nixon administration thinking about any major new buildup.

Pentagon analysts have estimated that a new advanced land-based missile system would cost about $10 billion. Roughly the same figure is projected for an advanced bomber called the AMSA.

If the Nixon administration should decide to go for a Russian-oriented antimissile defense, Pentagon analysts have spoken of a price ranging up to $5.5 billion for the Chinese-or-$40 billion compared with the current system.

THERE ARE SURE TO BE THREATS OF INCREASED RACIAL VIOLENCE

Negroes Waiting For Nixon's Civil Rights Program

By AUSTIN SCOTT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In his drive to unite the nation, Richard M. Nixon must reckon with a frustrated, skeptical black America which voted overwhelmingly against him.

Negroes—85 per cent of whom voted Democratic—are waiting for Nixon's program to take form around his general campaign statements that federal influence should recede in favor of industry and local government.

"I do not see any significant area where additional legislation could be passed that would be helpful in opening doors that are legally closed," Nixon has said.

DOUBTS

"We must now concentrate on such areas as economic development, education, building and strengthening the black community from within and fashioning a new understanding between the races."

But civil rights leaders like Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has doubts about Nixon's philosophy.

"The real basic fight of the Negro population of the United States for the past 60 or 70 years has been against local determination of his citizenship rights," says Wilkins.

"We have been unwilling to allow Brinkley, Ark.; or Raleigh N.C.; or Biloxi, Miss.; or Saginaw, Mich., to determine what we're entitled to."

But Wilkins and others are hesitant about judging Nixon's civil rights proposals at this stage. "He hasn't really said enough yet," Wilkins says.

Among Nixon's proposals so far, are eliminating the Job Corps program as quickly as possible, and inducing private enterprise through tax credits to "train the unemployed for jobs that really exist."

WELFARE RULES

Welfare and public housing has "perpetuated poverty" in the cities, Nixon said, and his chief programs in this field include national minimum welfare standards, welfare rules that encourage families to stay together and encourage people to work, and government help for home ownership programs.

He said he would also like to see tax incentives for businesses that set up in poverty areas, loans, loan guarantee programs and increase that would promote "black capitalism," and a new enterprise program that would offer tax deductions for businessmen and teachers who help train urban Negroes to own or manage businesses.

SUBSIDIES

Whitney M. Young Jr., president of the National Urban League and a man who has spent the past five years prodding businessmen into Nixon-like programs, is skeptical.

"He's oversimplified it when he talks about the free enterprise system handling the problem," said Young. "Free enterprise can handle it, yes, but it's not going to unless it is given certain subsidies and insurance against loss."

"The government would have to take the same role it took in building the airlines system, and in highway construction. Free enterprise isn't going to do anything unless it has guarantees against loss. . . . They have stockholders, they aren't in the business of social reform. What we need is a plan with a timetable."

And the question unanswered in Nixon's campaign, say civil rights activists, is: What does he do if, left to themselves, the states and private industry do not advance in the civil rights arena?

U.S. Rep. John Conyers, a Michigan Democrat who is a symbol of the increasing political power Negroes have been able to muster, says the problems confronting Nixon are the same as last year—and the year before that.

"The issues don't change from year to year," says Conyers. "We're still working on the old domestic problems in this country that have never been resolved. . . ."

A rundown makes for sober reading: The two most important achievements so far have been breaking the web of segregation and vote registration laws in the South.

But neither the U.S. Supreme Court's school desegregation order 14 years ago, nor penalty provisions in the 1964 Civil Rights Act, have made much impact on the all-important education of the nation's Negro children.

JOBLESS

In the South, 86 per cent of them still attend notoriously poor segregated schools, according to a report by the Southern Regional Council. The high is Mississippi with 96.1 per cent.

As the rural economy of the South gives way to industrialization, thousands of jobless, ill-educated Negroes flee to the same Northern city slums that have been erupting into violence almost regularly for the past four years.

Negroes are better educated now than ever before, but black unemployment is still double white unemployment. It runs as high as 30 per cent for the 16-24 age group that dominates the streets during riots.

Laws prohibit discrimination in employment, but Negroes still work in large numbers in low paying, manual labor jobs. In some fields, such as the building trades, employers are at the mercy of unions that refuse to admit more than a token number of Negro members.

And the welfare rolls keep climbing. Federal and state open housing laws have not dramatically changed the American custom of enclosing Negroes in separate sections of town, neatly hidden from the daily sight of most whites.

BLACK FACES

More and more black faces appear over white collars in the gleaming downtown office buildings of major cities. But one need only walk through any of the major city riot areas to realize how many, many more seem locked permanently away from that kind of life.

As an early indication of how Nixon will tackle these problems, Negro leaders are watching his appointments—particularly attorney general.

Nixon's emphasis so far in discussing the attorney general's job has been on crime control, but the attorney general has the power to deal with segregation in schools, public accommodations, some hiring and voter registration.

"The attorney general post is very, very significant, a key appointment," said Glover Current, director of the NAACP's program development. "The growing tendency for cooperation in Mississippi and Alabama can be reversed if the attorney general is known to be unsympathetic. A resourceful, aggressive administrator can find ways to press the guidelines farther in integration."

There are sure to be threats of increased racial violence from some activists who don't like Nixon's approach. They may add to Nixon's problems, but Wilkins warned against thinking that they represent Negroes as a whole.

VOTED FOR HHH

"It seems to me the Negro population has overwhelmingly demonstrated that it wants to work inside the American system," he said. "They voted heavily for Mr. Humphrey, of course, but that means that they voted and they didn't listen to the pleas of the extremists to abandon voting and pay no attention to the ballot and so forth."

"In the course of this exercise they elected the first Negro woman in Congress, seven new state legislators in the South, expanded their election to minor offices. They now hold some 370 offices throughout the South."

That kind of increasing political participation, say civil rights leaders, could be one of the most useful elements Nixon has to meet the civil rights problems that confront him.

Area Strippers Back In Fields

Cotton fields left soggy by the recent rains and dry winds are drying out much faster than most farmers felt they could and as a result, some stripping has resumed.

The Paymaster Gin at Fairview reported that 37 bales of newly stripped cotton had rolled into its yard Wednesday and that others are expected. Other gins were experiencing similar activity.

Meantime, it is estimated that at least 90 per cent of the county's crop has now been harvested. Knott ginners estimate there are 400 to 600 bales of scattered cotton still to be handled in their neighborhood. The Fairview gin expects a few hundred more bales but it is evident that the bulk of the crop has been handled.

If the bright sun of Thursday continues through this weekend, the strippers will be able to go back to work at full speed next week.

SKYSCRAPER COLLEGE

HemisFair Site Quiz

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — What to do with the HemisFair '68 site?

Some businessmen seriously pondering the question think it should become a skyscraper college.

The six-month fair closed Oct. 6 and automatically became city property. The crowds immediately shrank although the fair grounds have remained open to the public.

Several re-use proposals have been offered, including one that calls for a computer center for higher learning.

NEW IDEA

Thursday a prominent businessman disclosed still another idea.

Insisting it was only a suggestion, not a specific plan, he said he and other downtown businessmen think the fairgrounds should be converted into a four-year "high rise" college.

James Shand, a vice president of a large department store here, said he and a group of about 12 businessmen plan to ask city councilmen to offer the fairgrounds as a site for such a college.

"We feel as a downtown group there is a very strong argument for the placement of a four-year college in the downtown area," Shand told The Associated Press. "And the obvious location for such a college or university in the opinion of the downtown group is the HemisFair site—if it can be shown to be feasible."

OFFERS MADE

The fair covers only 92.6 acres. Thus it would have to be a "high rise" college, he said.

The suggestion would tie in with a request from Bexar County legislators last month for offers of land for a state-supported college here. Deadline for the offers was set at Dec. 15, which is three days after the businessmen plan to approach city councilmen with their suggestion.

The legislators plan to introduce a bill in January proposing such a college for San Antonio.

When the request for land offers was made, University of Texas officials appeared in an unofficial capacity and suggested a high rise college was undesirable. They urged that plenty of land be allocated for the proposed college.

Dangerous Toys Alert

Will your child see his Christmas tree next year?

The toys you buy for him this year may determine whether or not your child is blind this time next year, says the Texas Society for Prevention of Blindness.

Each year potentially dangerous toys, Christmas tree hazards and fireworks cause blindness and eye injuries to Texas children during the holiday season, according to a recent report of the association.

Parents are urged to think twice before buying missile-type toys, such as pellet guns, dart guns, bean shooters, or other toys which release projectiles, said Richard E. White, president of the Texas Society.

"Parents should also be alerted against buying toys with protruding points, sharp edges or detachable parts and toys made with flammable materials or plastic materials that shatter," said White.

White said that fireworks of any kind should be used under strict control of adults.

Fight To Control Martin Weevils

STANTON (SC) — Directors of the Martin County Cotton Insect Association and two local ginners, Jett Hoggard and Bernard Houston met with Curleton Chairman of the State Agriculture Department at the Grady School Tuesday. Chairman held a question and answer period on just what participation the state could offer in the county's fight to control the boll weevil. Plans are also being formulated to provide for the spraying of the fields next fall.

Opening lead: Three of ♠ South blew alternately cold and hot during the auction. He had a shade too strong to bid one no trump originally—it contains 19 high card points—however, a jump raise to two no trump was clearly indicated to provide partner with an accurate description of the holding.

North's jump raise to three hearts was proper for, valued in support of hearts, his hand becomes worth the equivalent of an opening bid even though it has only 10 high card points. South decided—rather belatedly—to stop pussyfooting and he barged into a Blackwood Inquiry. When North admitted to having an ace, South proceeded to six hearts.

In view of the strong bidding campaign displayed by his opponents, West decided in favor of a passive defense, and he opened a trump. South started to work on the dummy's diamond suit first by playing the ace, king, and then ruffing the third round with a high heart. When the diamonds divided evenly, declarer proceeded to draw the remaining trump, ending up in dummy.

The issue appeared to hinge on the spade finesse for, if the king was favorably located, South could restrict his losses to one club trick. He decided to make a club play first—inasmuch as it involved no additional cost to himself.

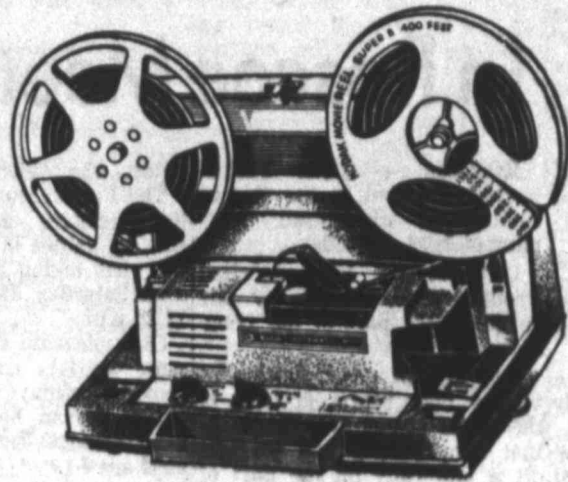

The ten of clubs was led and, when East followed with the three, South permitted the ten to ride. West won the trick with the ace, but he could not exit without giving his opponent a 12th trick. If West returned a club, the lead would come into declarer's king-jack and two spade discards would be obtained from dummy, eliminating any need for a spade finesse.

A spade return by West is equally fatal to the defense, for it presents declarer with a free finesse in the suit and now a single spade discard on the king of clubs serves to eliminate South's spade loser.

Baltimore Bullets guard Jack Martin (24, center) appears to be exchanging slaps with the Los Angeles Lakers' Tom Hawkins while the Lakers' Wilt Chamberlain hauls down a rebound. The Bullets defeated the Lakers 108-90 to regain first place in the NBA's Eastern Division.

Packer Reign May End This Weekend

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers' three-year reign in the National Football League may come to an end this Saturday when they take on the Baltimore Colts. Despite the extreme importance of the nationally televised contest, it might not decide a thing. Zeke Bratkowski is figured to get the starting nod at quarterback for the Packers. Bart Starr hasn't thrown in practice yet this week as he is recuperating from a rib injury that was aggravated in last week's loss to the San Francisco 49ers. "We don't know about Bart," a packer spokesman said. "He might not attempt to throw until the pre-game warm-up." Sitting on the Baltimore bench will be Johnny Unitas, while back-up quarterback Earl Morrill leads the Colts into battle.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Snyder, Sweetwater, Brownfield, Levelland, Slaton and Littlefield have been placed in one zone of the sprawling 3-AAA football conference while Colorado City goes into the other zone with Lubock Estacado, Lubbock Dunbar, Lamesa and San Angelo Lake View. That means Snyder and Sweetwater will be seeking four non-conference games while Colorado City and Lamesa will be needing five practice tilts each. Big Spring's non-conference schedule is filled for next fall but it's a shame, in a way, the Steers can't play one of those four teams. All would be money-makers—better draws than Monterey or Lubbock High. Jim Hines, the famed Olympic runner, didn't come along as expected in pro football—although the Miami Dolphins signed him to a $75,000 contract. The Dolphins will try to get him ready to debut in 1969 but he's still has to learn to catch the football.

They had to profit from the lesson learned in pro football but that divisional alignment approved in baseball could do greatly benefit the game. The 24-team setup will be divided into four divisions and chances are most of the teams will be in contention until well into August. It's much better, too, to finish sixth in one division than it is to wind up 12th in a league. Think how a contender in Houston will prosper. The Astros have consistently drawn more than a million at home in the past even without a contesting club. If Hoyle Granger, the Houston Oiler back, insists upon pronouncing his last name "Gran-jay," why doesn't he suggest his given name be "Ho-yay?"

Of the 30-man squad which Sonora Coach Jerry Hopkins took to San Angelo last weekend to play Coahoma, only seven are playing out their string. The Bronchos' fine quarterback, David Wuest, will return, as will fullback Kerry Jay, who scored Sonora's lone TD against the Bulldogs. Gene, however, will be Sonora's helmwether, Eddie Lee Renfro. Coahoma loses 10 players off its squad. Included are halfbacks Mike Duke and Ricky Evans, center Marvin Wynn, guards Leo Bender, Gene Snow and Ronnie Leppard, tackle Rodney Wall and ends Lynn and Billy King and Gaylon Williams but the Bulldogs should be able to compete. QB Kenny Clanton will return, as will his two backup men, Toby Green and James Dunn, halfbacks Dean Richters and Noel Harvell, fullback Johnny Ted Fowler, halfback Charles Denning, center David Brady, guard Bill Bailey, tackles Dicky Leppard, Bruce Allen and Don Richters and end Gaylon Harrison. Coahoma also fielded a fine junior high team. Sonora and Coahoma could be meeting in the second round of the playoffs again in 1969, with a little luck. Texas A&M's stellar quarterback, Edd Hargett, is lined up to play in three post-season football games on successive Saturdays. He'll wind up his college career in the Senior Bowl contest.

Bullets Back In Top Spot In Pro Loop

By The Associated Press

Want to know how to control Los Angeles' rampaging Lakers? Just stop Elgin Baylor, Wilt Chamberlain and Jerry West. Sounds impossible? Well, the Baltimore Bullets did just that Wednesday night and rode a 108-90 victory over the Lakers back into first place in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division. The Bullets' tenacious defense completely checked the Lakers' super trio, who spent the last five minutes of the game sitting on the bench next to disgraced Coach Butch van Breda Kolff. Jack Martin held Elgin Baylor to only 16 points, while Chamberlain managed only 17 and West 20. Chamberlain scored only five points in the second half and grabbed just four of his 21 rebounds after intermission while Baltimore was building a big lead. Philadelphia sailed past Chicago 109-92 in the night's only other NBA game. In the American Basketball Association, Indiana nipped New Orleans 118-115, Denver squeezed past Minnesota 119-118 and Oakland turned back New York 139-122.

The victory was the 20th in 7 games for the Bullets, who moved a full game ahead of Boston in the Eastern race. The setback snapped the Lakers' three-game victory streak, but Los Angeles still has a five-game lead in the Western Division. Earl Monroe led the winners with 6 points while rookie Wes Unseld grabbed 27 rebounds in outplaying Chamberlain. The Lakers, forced to take many shots from way out of range because of Baltimore's overpowering defense, trailed 50-43 at halftime. Then Baltimore broke it open in the third quarter when Gus Johnson scored 12 of his 17 points and Unseld snared nine of his rebounds. It also was a frustrating night for Chicago Coach Dick Motta, who benched his two 7-foot centers for the entire second half. Tom Boerwinkle had only five points and Dave Newmark was held scoreless in a first half that saw the Bulls hit only 11 of 53 shots while Philadelphia roared to a 62-29 lead.

Morrill has been at the reins all season while Baltimore has racked up an 11-1 record. The Packers are only one-half game behind Central Division co-leaders Minnesota and Chicago. Following the Baltimore clash, Green Bay takes on the Bears in Chicago to close out the season. If Minnesota, Chicago and Green Bay should all lose this weekend, the division title would not be decided until the final day. Baltimore, the Coastal Division leader, has to beat arch-rival Los Angeles in their season finale, despite what happens in Green Bay this Saturday, to qualify for the Western Conference championship game. The Colts sport the league's top defense, which has given up only two touchdowns in six games. The offense, with Morrill directing, is scoring at a clip just under 30 points an outing. Throughout their championship year, the Packers made it a point to win the big games. They don't come any bigger than Saturday's battle.

McKay Is Still Sold On Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Ohio State might be the No. 1 college football team in the country, but John McKay, coach of second-ranked Southern California, won't believe it until the Buckeyes prove they can go unbeaten in 10 games.

"We think we're the best and, of course, Ohio State thinks they are," McKay said before the Heisman Trophy dinner Thursday night honoring winner O.J. Simpson of the Trojans. "I'd like to have seen them play 10 games, though. Maybe they could have met Notre Dame in their 10th game." The unbeaten Buckeyes played only nine regular season games while USC, with a chance to overtake Ohio State in the poll, was tied by Notre Dame last Saturday and finished at 9-0-1.

However, the Trojans get a final chance when they square off against Ohio State in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day. McKay felt that, although the quality of opponents can't be regulated, at least there should be uniformity in the schedule with each team playing 10 games. "After all, we would have been unbeaten and untied, too if we had played only nine games," he pointed out. "Fortunately, Ohio State will have to play a 10th game against us."

Minor league realignment, including the makeup of the Pacific Coast League, was put off because no agreement could be reached on how the PCL should be indemnified for losing teams in Seattle and San Diego to the American League. A meeting is set for Dec. 14 in Phoenix, Ariz., to decide the matter. The subject of the player strike, threatened Wednesday by the Players Association if agreement on a pension-fund dispute couldn't be reached, was not discussed. American League President Joe Cronin said experimental rules would be made during the 1969 spring training season, but that they would not be used during the regular season. Among the experiments, on which Cronin will announce details later, are a permanent pinch hitter, a permanent pinch runner who could be used at any time and awarding an intentional walk automatically rather than throwing four balls. Giles said the National League would test all its lighting systems to make sure outfields were as well lit as the infield area. This was a suggestion of the New York Mets.

Steers Lose, 58-46, In Odessa Tourney

ODESSA — Big Spring dropped its opening round game to El Paso Jefferson, 58-46, here Thursday afternoon.

The Longhorns, 4-5 on the season, will return to competition against Amarillo High at 5:30 o'clock today. A win would put the Steers in the consolation finals at 6 p.m. Saturday. A loss would find them playing for seventh place at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Big Spring dropped behind, 12-2, early in the contest but fought the Silver Foxes on fairly even terms thereafter. In the second half, the Longhorns outscored the El Paso team, 28-25.

Forsan Teams Win In Roscoe Meet

ROSOCOE — Both Forsan teams advanced in the Roscoe Invitational Basketball tournament here Thursday.

Don Stevens' boys defeated Bronte, 52-48, despite a late surge on the part of the Longhorns. The Forsan girls' margin of victory over representatives of the same school was 54-46. In that one, Forsan had to fight off a late rally on the part of Bronte to win. Terry Wooten, back in the groove after a siege of back trouble, led the Forsan boys with 19 points. Randy Caperton and Keith McCutchen each had 14 for Bronte. Gloria Dodd and Doris Franklin waxed warm for the Forsan teams. Dodd settled for 28 points while Franklin had 18. Bronte was led by Norma Pruitt, who tallied 27.

The Forsan teams will oppose the winners of the Rotan-Hawley games in each bracket, the girls taking the floor at 11 a.m. Saturday and the boys at 12:30 p.m. Championship finals are at 7 p.m. (girls) and 8:30 p.m. (boys) Saturday.

The top AAA tilt has Plano, last year's Class AA champion, meeting the top-ranked Henderson Lions, who feature the runs of Joe Wylie. The teams will meet at Highland Park Stadium. In other AAA games, Alvin and Silsbee tangle at Beaumont, and Refugio and Mission play at Alice. Lubbock Estacado meets Kermit in Kermit Saturday. Top-ranked Iowa Park of Class AA collides with Big Lake at Abilene tonight.

Plano, Henderson Clash In Headline Encounter

By The Associated Press

It's sweaty palms time again in Texas' fast-closing schoolboy football championship race. The quarterfinals are on tap this weekend. The prime games tonight are in Classes AAA, AA and A. Only one Class AAAA game is set, but it's a good one with two highly ranked clubs—Galveston Ball and Houston Washington—tangling at Rice Stadium in Houston.

Realignment Of Minors Delayed At Convention

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Faced with a possible player strike and dwindling attendance in major league baseball parks, the American League is changing some spring training rules and the National League will test lights in its ball parks. That's the size of what happened in the final full day of baseball's winter meetings. Only a one-hour session was planned for today, to discuss lowering the number of players a team can carry from 25 to 23. Thus it appears that the winter meetings will again end a day ahead of schedule with more important matters put off until later.

Among matters to have been decided at these meetings was the division of money for the inter-league playoffs that will be held for the first time in 1969. The realignment of the minor leagues and rules at inter-league play were also put off for further talks. The playoff money split was postponed, said National League President Warren Giles, because "that's not until next fall. We don't have to decide that now."

Webb Team Is 3rd In ATC Grid Tourney

The Webb AFB flag football team, outscoring opponents 150-58, grabbed third place in the first Air Training Command flag football tournament held at Sheppard AFB, recently.

Unbeaten Reese AFB captured first place. Host Sheppard, who along with Webb absorbed two losses, finished second in the tourney. The 13-man Webb team, playing six games in four days, opened tourney play with a resounding 50-14 pasting of Randolph AFB, Tex. That afternoon, Webb whipped Keebler 22-6.

Coach Denny McLain's Webb team deadlocked Reese 6-6 after four quarters of football action the next day. In the ensuing play-off to determine the winner, Reese earned a one-point victory by outgaining Webb in yardage. In play-off competition, each team has four downs to move the ball as far as possible. Reese totaled 17 yards. Webb, thrown for losses on the first two plays never caught up.

The loss dropped Webb into the loser's bracket where it registered a 28-6 victory over Craig AFB, Ala., and a 38-12 win over Mather AFB, Calif., before losing to Sheppard, 12-6.

TIRE TREAD Webb led Sheppard 6-0 at halftime. In the second half, Sheppard switched from a passing to a running quarterback. The new field general scrambled for two touchdowns against the exhausted Webbits. "Once we dropped to the loser's bracket," McLain said, "we were forced to play more games to stay in the competition. By the time we got to Sheppard (an afternoon contest following a morning game), we were really tired."

Ford Farris, who played football and took part in other sports here through the ninth grade, has guided Hobart, Oklahoma, High School into the 1968 playoffs and is still going strong.

FORD FARRIS

Ford is a brother to Sheri Wilson of Big Spring. Hobart rallied to tie Weatherford, 13-13, winning the game on penetrations (5-3) after being down by 13 points going into the final quarter.

Weatherford had beaten Hobart, 20-12, during the regular season. Farris started the game as the Hobart tailback but returned to the quarterback position in time to guide Hobart to their two touchdowns. The 160-pounder scored both Hobart touchdowns on quarterback sneak of one and two yards. David Mahone kicked the PAT that enabled Hobart to win the game eventually.

Coahoma Boys Win, 49-34, In Tourney

WINTERS — Coahoma's boys flogged Robert Lee, 49-34, in the first round of the Winters Basketball tournament here Thursday but the Coahoma girls lost to representatives of the same school, 44-42.

In the boys' game, Lynn King had 21 points for Coahoma and Mike Mumford 12 for Winters. Coahoma thus earned the right to tangle with Eden at 5 p.m. today.

Winters slaughtered Eden, 97-28, in another first round boys' game.

Sandra Gross banked in 24 points for Coahoma in the girls' contest, Judy Gartman led Robert Lee with 20. A win over Eden would send Coahoma's boys into the 7:30 p.m. finals Saturday.

CAP Offices Opening Set

COLORADO CITY (SC) - Mitchell County's Community Action Program has announced that it will open its offices in the Colorado City Community Center at Tenth and Shepherd Streets.

The big building was formerly an area office for the Shell Pipeline but has been owned by the city for several years. The CAP will use 2,000 square feet of the building's 7,000 square feet, according to Eddie Piland, chairman of the CAP board of directors.

Mrs. Harris Hamilton of Lorraine, employed to coordinate the CAP program, and two aides, Florence Green and Cecilia Davila, both 19, are in an orientation program at Abilene and will open the office in the next few days.

Mitchell County will provide office furnishings for the CAP offices.

Yip Leader Says He Won't Testify

WASHINGTON (AP) - Yip leader Jerry Rubin says House members investigating the Chicago street disorders don't want him to appear in open session because they fear what he'll say.

Rubin, who was tossed out of a session earlier this week because he wore a Santa Claus suit, said Thursday he wouldn't testify at today's hearings chaired by Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., unless they were open to the press and public.

The special subcommittee of the House Committee on Un-American Activities said Rubin was called to testify in closed session because he faces charges in Illinois for solicitation to commit mob action during demonstrations at the Democratic National Convention.

The subcommittee has held hearings all week long into disturbances at the August convention.

Rubin was permitted in the hearing room Thursday when he arrived wearing a blue sweater, brown slacks and a bearded band around his forehead beneath a full head of bushy dark hair. He also has a full beard.

In a statement distributed Thursday, Rubin said: "The inquisitors have demanded that I take the stand Friday behind locked doors - closed to the press and public. They know that I will expose them as the fools, racists and scoundrels that they are. I will not say a word to HUAC unless the doors are opened and the press and the public admitted."

The subcommittee also heard Thursday from David Dellinger, a leader of the Chicago demonstrators who is chairman of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam. He told questioners that his side of the oval. "It was a real cold, windy day," recalls Deppen, a Lincoln physician. "I had eaten a little and was hurrying to get to the game and walking pretty fast. I was walking up a ramp when I said, 'I believe I'm getting sick.'"

Fortunately for Dr. Deppen, his heart attack a year ago occurred in what is believed to be the nation's first football stadium equipped with apparatus and talent to provide emergency cardiac resuscitation on the spot.

Scattered through the stands were about 30 Red Cross volunteers, trained to keep heart attack victims alive during those first crucial minutes by giving mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and external heart massage.

Down below, at the stadium's north end, a cardiac resuscitation team aided by the most modern equipment unit, was standing by in the first aid station.

NO PULSE One of the 10 Red Cross workers equipped with walkie-talkie radio transmitter-receiver units flashed word to the aid station

"Then I collapsed." ATTACK Dr. Deppen had just suffered a cardiac arrest - a heart attack.

Dr. Deppen had absolutely no pulse and was not breathing when they brought him in," said Dr. Stephen W. Carveth, Lincoln cardiovascular surgeon. Dr. Carveth headed up the special cardiac resuscitation team through the first two of the three football seasons during which the aid has been supplied, but shared the responsibility this year with Dr. Herbert E. Reese of Lincoln.

The team included two cardiopulmonary technicians, an inhalation therapy technician and two coronary care nurses.

Equipment on hand included a defibrillator, used to provide the electric shock to get the heart pumping after its "electric system" has gone awry and the heart has either stopped or is fibrillating or fluttering ineffectively.

Also on hand was a monitor to take electrocardiograph readings, suction equipment, automatic respirator, automatic massage device and assorted intravenous solutions and drugs.

RECOVERY It took three countershocks with the defibrillator and an intracardiac injection to get Dr. Deppen's heart rhythm restored. In short order his condition stabilized and he was transferred to the coronary care unit at St. Elizabeth's Hospital for two months of convalescence.

"I work every day, even ride horseback," says the recovered patient. "As far as I know, I have made a complete recovery."

Dr. Deppen is one of five helped by the Memorial Stadium preparedness. Dr. Samuel Fuenning, medical director of the University of Nebraska's health services, says the cardiac resuscitation project was a natural "amplification" of the university's emergency first aid program at football games, started a decade ago. Bryan Memorial Hospital in Lincoln provides the cardiac team members and loans the equipment for game time use.

This year, for the first time, the cardiac team found itself without patients, although two Nebraska fans died of heart attacks while attending out-of-town games involving the Cornhuskers.

Dear Abby

You Ask Him

DEAR ABBY: How does one answer the church community as to why one's husband does not attend church with his family?

I have been married for almost 10 years and have two school-aged children who attend church with me, but their father does not. I have tried to persuade him to go to church - if only to set a good example for our children, but no amount of coaxing will move him.

I am not happy with the idea that my husband is a heathen, but there is nothing I can do about it. So what do I tell those who ask, "Why doesn't your husband go to church with you?"

DEAR STUMPED: Those who would ask such a question don't deserve an answer. If you don't want to tell them it's none of their business - which it's not, inquire, "Why do you ask?" If that doesn't stop them, follow through with, "Why don't you ask my husband?"

DEAR ABBY: Who said, "LUCKY IN CARDS, UNLUCKY IN LOVE?" "ING!"

DEAR "ING": "Probably some sorehead who always loses at cards."

DEAR ABBY: I am a career woman in my thirties, have an assured steady income and am desperately in love with a married man in his fifties. His wife has been on the fence about giving him a divorce for the past five years, knowing that her husband has been more mine than hers. She has used one excuse after another to hold him. There is only one child left at home now - a boy who will soon be of college age. I offered to pay for the divorce, pay any alimony agreed upon, or even a lump sum settlement if she preferred. I even agreed to pay for the boy's college education. She turned it all down!

Abby, what is wrong with a stubborn, prideless, unloved creature who would enslave a man with a piece of paper?

DEAR WAITING: Maybe she loves him anyway, and is also "waiting" - for the day he re-

Riots Report Rewritten By Atty. General Clark?

CHICAGO (AP) — The Walker report accusing Chicago police of undue violence in putting down Democratic convention week disturbances was substantially rewritten under the direction of Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark before being released, the Chicago Tribune said today.

The Tribune said in a copy-right story by Chesly Manly that it was advised by an authoritative source Thursday of Clark's role in the final draft of the controversial report released Sunday in Washington. The report was prepared by the Chicago study team of the President's National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence. It was submitted by Daniel Walker, a lawyer who is president of the Chicago Crime Commission and who headed the study team.

BACKGROUND
According to the Tribune's informant, Walker took copies of his report to Washington and showed them to half a dozen persons, including Clark. The attorney general was not satisfied and the report—particularly the summary, which accused Chicago police of unrestrained brutality against demonstrators—was rewritten under Clark's direction.

The Tribune gave this account of other background on the report and how it came to be released Sunday:
Walker wanted to be named special prosecutor for a federal grand jury now investigating the convention week violence and he was supported by Clark for this role. However, the idea was rejected by Chief Judge William J. Campbell of U.S. District Court in Chicago.

Judge Campbell, who is directing the grand jury probe, said Wednesday the timing and motivation of the report compiled by Walker should be scrutinized by the grand jury. He questioned its being released while the jury is hearing evidence.

CAN'T ANSWER

When he delivered his report to Washington, the Tribune said, Walker also gave a copy of it to Life magazine which obtained it before any members of the commission had seen it.

The story also questioned whether the report is an official U.S. document. If not, the document would not be privileged information and publishing firms spending large sums to get it out might be subject to libel and injunction suits.

"Since Walker did this for the commission under contract, the question as to whether his report is a privileged document is fuzzy," the Tribune quoted Joseph Laitin, information director for the commission in Washington. "I can't answer that question and I don't think anybody else can."

Meanwhile, first copies of a paperback edition of the report went on sale in Chicago Thursday and by midday the distributors concluded, "We've got a hit on our hands."

"Some outlets were reporting the sale of 30 to 40 per cent of their stock within one or two hours after they received delivery," said Gus Raggio, sales manager of the book division of Charles Levy Circulating Co.

The 496-page volume, titled "Rights in Conflict," is being published by Bantam Books and sold at $1 a copy.

Viet Cong Gunners Shell Allied Bases

SAIGON (AP)—Viet Cong and North Vietnamese gunners shelled 37 allied bases and South Vietnamese towns Thursday night and early Friday in the heaviest rash of such attacks since the halt in the bombing of North Vietnam Nov. 1, military spokesmen reported today.

MORTAR FIRE

The spokesmen said from 300 to 400 mortar and rocket rounds were fired. A total of 27 South Vietnamese were reported killed and 104 wounded in the shelling and in three terrorist attacks.

The majority of the rocket and mortar attacks came in an arc northwest to north of Saigon. Enemy troops in that area also rampaged through a hamlet, killing 11 persons, wounding another 22 and burning 25 houses despite the presence of thousands of American and South Vietnamese troops in nearby areas.

It took South Vietnamese reinforcements two hours to move less than two miles to the aid of the lightly defended hamlet, which is 60 miles north of Saigon and just outside the heavily defended provincial capital of An Loc.

By the time the reinforcements arrived, the attackers had pulled out and their casualties, if any, were not known. A government spokesman in Saigon said he did not know the reason for the delay in reinforcing the hamlet, which was defended by 30 militiamen. Five of the rocket and mortar attacks were within one to four miles of An Loc, against U.S. Air Cavalrymen in night bivouac, South Vietnamese infantrymen and the An Loc district headquarters.

20,000 Will Be Replaced By Increased Draft Calls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon intends to release about 20,000 Army National Guardsmen and reservists now on active duty and replace them through increased draft calls by possibly 3,000 men a month, sources say.

It was learned that the Army has decided to free its mobilized guardsmen and reservists by the end of 1969, meaning a savings of at least five months from the two years they could have served.

Meanwhile, sources said draft calls will be boosted starting several months ahead of time to have regulars ready to fill the gaps left by the departing guardsmen and reservists.

Army officials calculate it takes about five months to put a man through basic and advanced individual training, and give him leave, before he can be assigned to a unit.

To accommodate the increased training load, the Army is reversing plans to cut back its training companies.

Less than a month ago, Nov. 18, the Army announced that 30 basic combat training companies at Ft. Bliss, Tex., and 18 advanced individual training companies at Ft. Dix, N.J., would be eliminated.

Since then, sources said, it was decided to set a target and get prepared for release of the 20,000 guardsmen and reservists ordered to active duty last spring to supply support troops for Vietnam and to plug some holes in the Army's forces in the United States.

The January draft call has been set at 26,800. It was not known immediately whether that quota will be raised or whether the increase will show up in later months.

'FROM THE PRUDE TO THE PROMISCUOUS'

Vassar Girls 'Run Spectrum'

By The Associated Press

The editors of Princeton University's student newspaper, in a guide to girls' colleges, says Vassar coeds "run the spectrum from the prude to the promiscuous." Some Vassar girls agree.

Marylee Hardenbergh, a 20-year-old junior, laughed and said, "It's probably accurate. You can find that anywhere. That's a pretty safe description."

Then she added, "It would be Princeton that would come up with that remark. It sounds like a weekend-oriented type mind." But a description of Wellesley coeds in the book titled "Who the Girls Are" drew a negative response.

It said most Wellesley girls

"have tried both grass (marijuana) and sex once. They didn't like either one."

"I don't think that's true," snapped a Wellesley student who asked that her name not be used.

SNAPSHOTS

The 112-page book is devoted primarily to giving brief biographies and snapshots of 1,500 coeds at eight women's colleges.

Peter G. Brown, a junior from Erie, Pa., who edited the volume, said, "This little book does no less than spell the demise of the absolute abolition of that atrocious anachronism, the blind date."

"Wow!" said Louise Harris, whose picture is in the book. "I never thought they'd pick me in a 100 years." Louise is a Skidmore freshman from Upper Montclair, N.J.

Lisa Vandermade of Montclair, N.J., a Smith freshman who does "quite a bit of blind dating," said she hoped having her picture in the book would help her in that line.

Lisa Connor of Morristown, N.J., another Smith freshman, said, "I don't like people just to judge someone on looks, but it does let anyone who knows me at Princeton know that I'm at Smith."

"Every girl in my dorm sent a picture because the fellows at Princeton have promised to do our student handbook," she added.

"Who the Girls Are" is a sequel to Princeton's 1965 publication, "Where the Girls Are,"

which was much ridiculed but became a bestseller in campus bookstores.

"Who" gave capsule descriptions of Bryn Mawr, Goucher, Mount Holyoke, Skidmore, Smith, Sweet Briar, Vassar and Wellesley—and some Barnard coeds didn't like it that their school was left out.

"I think they're making a big mistake," said Elizabeth Riley, a Barnard freshman from Glenview, Ill. "We're better than everybody else... probably we're too good for them."

And some students at the listed colleges also fired back.

Marian Howell, 19, a Vassar sophomore, said, "Among my group we consider the Princetonian a typical college slob who thinks he's really cool."

Ready For Presenting 'Messiah'

Conductor Larry Stanley carries the combined choirs of the First United Methodist Church, Howard County Junior College and part of the Webb AFB chapel through a rehearsal for Handel's great oratorio, "The Messiah." The program is at First Methodist Sunday at 5:30 p.m. with the Texas Tech string ensemble. Soloists are, from left, Kenny Sheppard, Mrs. John Stanley, Mrs. Joe Wiser, Mrs. Don Newsom and Lester Morton, together with Mrs. Carl Bradley, not shown. The public is invited to share in this inspiring occasion.

Combined Big Spring Choirs Present Handel Masterpiece

Preparations are moving to a rapid climax for the traditional presentation of Handel's incomparable "Messiah" here Sunday.

The concert, embodying extractions from the 2½-hour complete work, will be presented at 5:30 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church. The program will encompass about one hour and 15 minutes and will feature the 90-voice combined Methodist and the Howard County Junior College choirs, along with voices from other choirs. Also adding to the occasion will be 15 pieces from the Texas Tech symphonic orchestra string ensemble.

Larry Stanley, director of the choirs, will be on the podium, assisted by John Stanley, organist, and Mary Grenier, pianist, all from the music faculty of HCJC. The trumpet solo for "The Trumpet Shall Sound" will be played by Richard Grady, band director for Rannels Junior High.

A rehearsal is set for 2:30 p.m. Sunday with the Tech string ensemble. The choirs have been in rehearsal for the "Messiah" presentation for over two months.

Soloists will be Mrs. John Stanley, Mrs. Joe Wiser, Mrs. Don Newsom, Mrs. Carl Bradley, Kenny Sheppard and Lester Morton.

"The Messiah" is unquestionably one of the greatest works of its kind conceived by the mind of man. In its pages will be found music of both the simplest and most complex nature, but all of it is on the highest level.

One of its most familiar passages is the stirring and majestic "Hallelujah" chorus, and it was of this part that the composer Handel said: "I did think I did see all Heaven before me, and the great God—Himself."

One tradition connected with a presentation of the "Messiah" is the audience standing during the "Hallelujah Chorus." When Handel's famous work was first presented, the king was so compelled the entire audience moved that he wanted to honor the composer in some way. As the auditorium filled with the majestic sound of the chorus, the king stood, since no one else was to help defray the expense of the ensemble.

CHRIST SPEAKS TO CHURCHES THROUGH REVELATION BOOK

The Book of Revelation has a unique place in the New Testament. It is the capstone of divine revelation, and, fittingly, it concludes with a new heaven and a new earth. There are three natural divisions of the book: "The things which thou hast seen," "the things which are," and "the things which shall be hereafter."

Sunday's lesson covers the first two divisions — the past and present. The printed verses give the setting for the vision of the Son of Man.

When John wrote Revelations, he stated that he was in a trance-like condition when he heard a great voice directing him to write. The voice told him which churches were to receive copies of the book, and these churches are listed as they would appear on a map to form a great circle which would be the easiest path for a messenger to follow in delivering the copies.

The fact that the churches are listed in such a way as to form a circle has meaning later when John's vision sees Christ standing in the midst of seven lampstands which represent the churches. Earlier lessons have stressed light as God's Word. Now, we have lampstands which give off light.

Little Change Seen In Government's Religion

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The religious balance among members of the Nineteenth Congress will be generally maintained in the Ninety-First, though several denominations least represented in politics show small gains, according to the authoritative Religious Census of Congress published in "Christianity Today."

Noting that "1968 was a good year for incumbents," the magazine says totals of only two religious groups changed by more than one. The number of the Roman Catholics in the House and Senate rose two, to 111, and the Methodists, largest Protestant group in the Congress, dropped three to 90.

The independent Protestant journal says the statistics it regularly compiles on Congressmen "indicate something of the prestige and social involvement of America's religious groups, on a personal basis." It finds the affluent, largely-white, British-background denominations rank highest when their total Congress members is compared with the church membership more than one. The leaders are the Unitarian-Universalists, Presbyterians, Episcopalians, and the United Church of Christ.

Church Council Aids Biafrans

The World Council of Churches has given $150,000 to the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) to help finance the continuation of the Nigeria-Biafra airlift.

(Fifty thousand dollars for airlift relief purposes had been cabled to the WCC by James MacCracken, Executive Director of Church World Service, representing 30 Protestant and Orthodox denominations in the U.S.A.)

The WCC action followed a plea by Ambassador Auguste Lindt, ICRC Commissioner General for Nigeria-Biafra, when it became evident that more cash was immediately required.

Meanwhile, Scandinavian relief group "Nordchurchaid" today received $100,000 from the World Council of Churches to help finance its airlift operation to Biafra. This group, formed in late August, has made over 500 mercy flights to Biafra in cooperation with German relief agencies.

HOW WOULD YOU ANSWER?

Yes ___ No ___ Though I do worry, I feel there's a way to prevent it.

Yes ___ No ___ Sometimes I antagonize people because of my actions or attitude. I know there must be a way to correct this.

Yes ___ No ___ It seems contrary to reality, but I feel that real happiness is something apart from wealth, power, or fame.

Yes ___ No ___ There must be a practical way of raising my family in a better world.

A "yes" answer to any of these questions is definite proof of God's concern for you. God talks to man by making him "feel" and "know" of a better way of living. You feel discontent about present conditions, you sense "something better," somewhere.

That's God talking to you. Listen to him. Come to church this Sunday. Read His Living Word in the Bible. This could be the chance you've been waiting for.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A Devotional For The Day

It shall come to pass, that at evening time it shall be light. (Zechariah 14:7)

PRAYER: May the nations, our Father, find inspiration, challenge, and hope in Thy Word. Grant to us a new birth of freedom that, under Thy guidance, we may show forth the glory of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, in His name and spirit we pray. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Caveat Emptor

The commercial philosophy bespoken in the cynical ancient cry, "Let the buyer beware," has long since been discredited in this country. Yet until recently, progress toward safeguarding consumers by law had been rather slow.

There has been a dramatic change in the past few years. Through so-called truth-in-packaging and truth-in-lending laws, extension of federal meat inspection standards and other legislation, Congress has given strong impetus to consumer protection. The hope now is that this momentum will be continued.

Plenty remains to be done. American consumers, particularly in low-income areas, need more protection against abuses. Often they lack knowledge of the basis for choice of products, and wind up paying more than they should for an inferior item. Many have little idea how to go about getting satisfaction when they have been targets of a bad deal.

More and better consumer education would help. Vigorous enforcement of existing statutes is another important step. But it also remains true that in some areas, we need more law to cover chinks in the average consumer's shield against getting hooded. The new Congress that will convene in January should not slacken the pace of enacting such law.

Something To Take Up Worry Slack

Whatever else may be in short supply, there is never any dearth of food for worry. Witness the speculative word from a California physicist that the sky, as Chicken Little informed us so many years ago, may indeed be falling. Or at any rate that things are falling from the sky — things deadly enough to kill.

What Prof. Fritz Zwicky of the California Institute of Technology had in mind, he said in Geneva, Switzerland, at an international symposium on problems of man in outer space, was heavy nucleons in cosmic rays, or meteoritic objects. He figures that such things might be the cause of a number of unexplained deaths here and there on earth each year.

Alert heavenward glances are no use: Whatever it is that does the damage is too fast to be dodged. But isn't it nice to have the Zwicky thesis in reserve for times when there's nothing interesting to worry about?

Marquis Childs De Gaulle's Troubles Smoldering

PARIS — Like the Eiffel Tower, Gen. Charles de Gaulle dominates the landscape of Paris and of France. At 78, surviving still another storm, he stands as tall and unyielding as he did nearly 25 years ago when Paris was liberated and he stalked into Notre Dame Cathedral, ignoring the bullets that were still flying.

THIS TIME there is a difference. His defiance of the monetary storm comes at the end of an unpredictable year that has seen one calamity after another. It began with De Gaulle's New Year's Day boast that France was the most stable country in Europe with the strongest currency.

The storm that nearly forced devaluation of the franc was the climax of a series of blows putting his boast to naught. The revolution of May and June — it was not less than that — was a complete surprise, like the eruption of a volcano long considered extinct. The uprising of the students triggering a strike of 10 million workers, paralyzing the country, set in motion a train of events not yet come to rest.

THE CONCESSIONS forced on De Gaulle by the revolution — both open and secret concessions — say a lot about his present trials. The personal drama of the man is an incalculable element of both strength and weakness in France's postwar history.

At the height of the revolution when France seemed about to be engulfed by a wave of communism or anarchy De Gaulle disappeared. Supposedly en route to his country retreat at Colombey les Deux Eglises, he went instead secretly to Baden-Baden to meet the French military high command and make a pact with them. He agreed to release at once, prior to a national election, the officers who had been imprisoned for conspiring to bring him down and take over the country following his ending of the Algerian war. He also agreed, it is widely believed in Paris, to give the Army complete authority in the event of another uprising.

IN HIS seven-minute speech to the nation the other night, announcing the start of belt-tightening to get the economy in line and restore confidence in the franc, he devoted two minutes to a stern warning that force would be used to put down any new trouble. His critics saw in this a shadow of authoritarian rule to be imposed if his remedies fail.

This may be far too gloomy. Yet, given a febrile, restless people, historically conditioned to resist government controls, one can doubt whether the austerity blanket will do the job. De Gaulle granted wage increases up to 11 per cent, perhaps 14 per cent. This set off a price spiral that has eaten up perhaps half of the increase. Workers are discussing the need for a new strike.

STILL SIMMERING below the surface are resentments over the rigidities of the past dominating so much of French life that boiled over in May. Several of the faculties of the University of Paris have not resumed teaching. There is deep unrest in the Lycees, the public high schools, over the rigid learning by rote system.

For Frenchmen in the upper levels the triumph of the German mark has been a bitter humiliation.

NO SERIOUS strike has occurred in Germany since the end of World War II. Frenchmen note. The German wage level has been so closely geared to the increase in productivity that the standard of living in Germany has doubled in 10 years.

In his pursuit of grandeur De Gaulle set out to build for France an independent nuclear striking force. This has been a drain on the budget and the economy. Now he has called off the hydrogen bomb tests scheduled next year.

WE ARE individualists, the French proudly declaim, and as individualists they have carried tax evasion to a high art. The budget for 1969 provided for a sharp increase in the inheritance tax that has been 15 per cent in the top bracket — minute compared with the similar tax in Britain and the United States.

Unlike any other country, except possibly India, the French citizen is a hoarder of gold. The gold in the French sock totals three to four billion dollars, and it increased as the franc reeled under the attack of speculators.

Whether De Gaulle will survive — whether France of the Fifth Republic will survive — no one is sure. In the splendid solitude of the Elysee Palace De Gaulle keeps his own counsel.

Cut-Rate Pay

THIMBU, Bhutan (AP) — King Jigme Dorji Wangchuk of Bhutan is perhaps the world's lowest paid monarch.

The Bhutan National assembly has fixed the king's privy purse at 3,000 rupees ($400) a month — or only 500 rupees ($67) more than what his ministers get.

Wedged between Tibet and India, the 18,000-square-mile Bhutan has a population of 750,000.

Hal Boyle Who Are You, All Kidding Aside?

NEW YORK (AP) — Life today has been called a quest for identity.

Many people seem to be going around in circles plaintively inquiring of each other, like treble-voiced lost birds, "Are you actually you?" and "Tell me the truth now, am I really me?"

Others simply cling at every passing lapel and plead "Please help me find out who I am."

YES, THE search for identity has become one of the most popular parlor guessing games of our day. But if one is going to play a game at all well, he should begin at the beginning. Instead of starting off by demanding to know who they are, the players should first ask what they are.

"Am I animal, mineral, vegetable or human?" That should be the initial question.

How can one tell if he is really a human being? Here is a simple fill-it-out-yourself questionnaire that might provide the answer.

ON A RAINY night do you think everybody in the world deliberately jumps into a taxi cab just so you won't be able to get one?

Do you throw an uneasy glance over your shoulder now and then because you have the feeling that you are being followed by someone other than Father Time?

Do you secretly hate injustice even though you know you are benefiting from it?

Do you owe more than you are worth but still feel that you are worth more than you owe?

Can you lose your head while all those about you are keeping their screws on real tight?

When you are standing in a bank waiting for a friend to make a deposit or draw out some money, do you have the feeling that the guard is eyeing you suspiciously. And, as a "Dow 1,000" and taking another nose dive.

To really understand what emotional impact "Dow 1,000" has on many Wall Streeters you

NATURALLY, like every other decent person, you are offended by the low moral tone of many modern movies, but don't you find yourself standing in line more often to see one of those films that don't admit anyone under 16?

If you had your life to live over again, are you honest enough to admit to yourself that you'd probably make an even bigger mess of it?

Doesn't your conscience mildly pang you now and then because you know you are getting away with something that you shouldn't? But you also still hope that you can go right on getting away with it, don't you?

If your answer to all these queries is a resounding "yes," then the verdict is clear. You're too normal to be inhuman. You are a very human being.

Now that you know what you are, you are ready for the next step in the game. Who are you, all kidding aside?

John Cunniff The Magic 'Dow 1,000'

NEW YORK (AP) — Cheers will ring and champagne corks will pop when the Dow Jones industrial average hits the 1,000 mark.

It came close two years ago and has built up to the point—it started the week at 985—where it could hit 1,000 before the end of the year.

The attainment of "Dow 1,000" will actually be more of a psychological triumph than a real achievement in terms of an economic or financial goal.

The market came very close to making it when the average closed at 996.15 on Feb. 9, 1966. But then came one of the most horrendous drops in history as the Dow sank 250.83 points to a low of 74.32 by Oct. 7.

AFTER JAGGED ups and downs, the market has won back its lost ground. This year, as it neared the historic peak of 1966 once again, fears were expressed that the market might repeat its dismal performance of that year by shying away from matter of fact, aren't you actually at the same time wondering how hard it would be to rob a bank?

To Your Good Health When Someone Has A Stroke

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: A person had a stroke while at my home. It was obviously a stroke, but he was not gasping for air or having any difficulty breathing.

The ambulance was on the way, but a relative who has asthma and carries oxygen in his car wanted to give him oxygen. I said, no, wait for the ambulance, but since then I have been criticized for not using it. Was I wrong? — Mrs. D.M.

No, you weren't wrong. As long as the patient was having no breathing difficulty, there was nothing to be gained by giving him oxygen, and there could have been something to lose.

In case of a stroke, there is nothing to be done except to keep the victim as quiet as possible, keep him warm if it is necessary, and wait for the ambulance. Loosening collar or tie is usually all right, but not necessary if he is breathing easily. Placing a pillow under the head makes sense. But that's all.

Trying to give oxygen in such a case accomplishes nothing except to bother the patient — and what he needs is to be kept as quiet as possible.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have varicose ulcers on my ankles. Do you have any suggestions on how to heal them and keep them healed? — E.J.R.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to stop smoking, but when I tried I acquired an irritating cough, dry and ticklish, at night, so went back to smoking which leaves me with a loose cough but persistent. I take tablets to help my breathing, and phenobarbital. Please help me. I have emphysema and am depressed and irritable. — Mrs. C.

I guess I've heard everything now in the way of excuses to keep on smoking — to create a loose cough instead of a dry one.

A cough is quite likely to develop from emphysema, but to add irritation to your breathing passages, to create phlegm and a "loose" cough, is no answer at all.

With emphysema, you MUST stop smoking; otherwise you just make the basic condition worse and worse.

The only way I can help you is to urge that you give up smoking again and make it stick — and have your doctor prescribe medication which will loosen your dry cough until the irritated membranes can repair themselves.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Big Spring Herald, requesting a copy of the booklet, "How to Control Emphysema," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 30 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Discover The Key

An open letter to my drinking cousin, Bobby Harris, Oklahoma City: I've always figured I was a better writer than talker. Since mother called and told me Robin Rea had been struck and killed by a car while rushing to board a school bus — I'm not sure.

"Bob's darling daughter was only 9 years old," mom kept repeating between sobs. "Wait, contact him — he needs you."

I TELEPHONED several times and when you, Arlene or one of your daughters answered I hung up. I didn't know what to say. Now, I don't know what to write.

I'm silenced by my inability to communicate. It hurts! In the past, we've always been able to "talk things out." Several times it's taken a couple of days on a creek bank, but we chased "ol' man trouble."

I THINK I know one of the questions you're probably asking yourself — why Robin? You're the one who raced motorcycles, dived off the Lake Texoma bridge, fought Red Koreans, fell from a steep cliff and knocked me out not long ago.

Our last time out on Blue River, I said: "I always feel closer to God at a time like this." You nodded. Why Robin and not you?

BOB, I HAVEN'T got the answer. Meanwhile, I want you to read this Santa Claus letter.

"Dear Santa," it says. "The thing I want most for Christmas is LOVE. Perhaps you can't give that, but if you can, Dear Santa, please take that gift to one of my friends.

"You see, Santa, I know a mother whose heart is not full of love for the boy her daughter loves. She is thinking only of her selfish pride. If only she could learn to love, their problems would be solved.

"AND, SANTA, there is another I want to receive the gift of love. This one is a young man who is a close friend of our family. It seems as if of the worst of the world looks good to him. I am sure that if he knew real love he would instead find the peace and happiness he seeks.

"Santa, if you will, take love to a teenage girl I know, for she is so rebellious and full of resentment toward her father and mother. She has forgotten the love they have for her.

"IF YOU COULD replace the feeling in her heart with love, she would know how great is their love.

"Santa, if I could have what I really want for Christmas, it would be the gift of love for everyone, including the boys in Vietnam of every race and creed.

"And I want love in my heart for everyone, for if I do have it, there won't be room for hate, resentment or revenge for even little things.

"I REALLY DON'T expect you to have this gift of love to offer, of yourself, but you can help us to remember that God did give such a gift, when He gave His only begotten son in whose name we commemorate this season."

The letter came to us last year from a blue-eyed, 94-year-old lady in Oklahoma's "little Dixie" who still pens poetry. She signed her name, but to use it would prove only that, in too many places, such a reaction demonstrates a need for the gifts she asks.

HOWEVER, KNOWING Mama Ladd, my grandmother, like I do, I just want her to know I'll be "home" for Christmas in Durant, Okla.—just like I've been 40 of the 43 years of my life.

Bob, I'll see you there. Maybe, we can discover the key this Christmas season. — WALT FINLEY

David Lawrence Slow Down? Not In Sight Yet

WASHINGTON — Control of the national economy is often assumed to be something that the federal government can manage with meticulous efficiency. But the general public often is unaware of factors that cannot always be foreseen.

THIS WEEK, for instance, the leading commercial banks of the country have boosted their minimum lending rates on corporate loans from 6½ per cent to 6¾ per cent. If somebody in industry raised prices, the assumption would be that it was prompted just by a desire to make more profits. But the banks of the nation are supervised by the federal reserve system, and if interest rates go up, it is often the result of Federal Reserve policy.

Not all government economists like the upward rise in interest rates, but some of them feel that it was inevitable because consumer prices also have been rising. The U.S. Bureau of Labor statistics reported last week a six-tenths of one per cent increase in October over the previous month, due to higher prices for new automobiles, apparel and some foods. The October index is 4.6 per cent higher than a year ago. Increases for the first 10 months in 1968 amount to four per cent, compared to 3.1 per cent for all of 1967.

THERE HAS been an upward trend in the prices of apparel and accessories, with prices averaging 6½ per cent above a year ago. Retail prices for food in grocery stores rose, instead of declining as had been expected. Increases were noted in the prices of eggs and dairy products, which are higher than usual. Meat prices have not shown the decline generally experienced in the autumn season. Household appliances at both the wholesale and retail levels as well as furniture and floor covering have risen higher and higher.

The prices of new cars went up in October, and there has been a reduction in allowances on trade-ins and in other discounts on new models. For some workers the cost-of-living increases are offset by added compensation in union contracts. These provide that, when the national index of prices goes up, a raise in wages per hour is automatically given.

THE BANKERS, however, are defending their higher rates by saying the price they must pay for money through certificates of deposit has pushed upward, and there is a bigger demand for loans. It is estimated that New York banks have increased their outstanding commercial loans by more than 400 million dollars in the four weeks ending Nov. 27, according to figures made available by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Many banks follow New York banks. The whole situation is one that is not relished by those political observers who think that, if the economy slows down, it will present the Nixon administration with the necessity for important decisions in other fields that could for a time adversely affect the national economy.

THE POSSIBILITY of a recession in 1969 has been widely discussed by economists. Some experts have predicted that it would develop in the latter part of 1969, but it could come much earlier if the new administration's policies are of such a nature as to let the slowdown take its course. The basic purpose would be to stop the inflationary trend. This could bring a drop-off in demand, which might cause prices generally to be reduced. Such a situation, however, cannot happen in a week or a month. The change in interest rates by the banks is not an indication that the economy has begun to slow down. On the contrary, business is still strong, and the upward movement of prices is continuing.

Holmes Alexander How Mr. Nixon Should Run State Department

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy after the Bay of Pigs disaster called the State Department a "dead letter box," a "bowl of jelly," and told a reporter that "Bundy and I get more done in one day at the White House than they do in six months at the State Department."

JFK'S OUTBURST will do as a colloquial summary of what Richard Nixon wants to change at Foggy Bottom. The president-elect needs a State Department where executive suggestions and requests don't fall into the file-and-forget box, where the nervous bureaucracy does more than simply quake in time of crisis and where the rule is for take-charge instead of pass-the-buck to the White House.

I asked Smith Simpson, a State Department alumnus and author of a caustic book, "Anatomy of the State Department," how he would advise Mr. Nixon to begin. Like many other veterans of Foreign Service, Simpson has a grudging admiration for Robert McNamara whose "whiz kids" shook up the Defense Department while the State Department Under Secretary Rusk remained in an organizational snore. Simpson said that McNamara, both at the Ford Motor Company and the Pentagon, insisted on fielding his whole team.

"IT WON'T DO any good," said Simpson, "for Mr. Nixon to appoint just a good secretary of state. He must also name top performers as under secretary, deputy secretary for administration, assistant secretary for personnel, director general of foreign service and director of the foreign service institution, this last being the training officer for diplomats."

But the examples of the Kennedy-Johnson regimes show that even if Mr. Nixon fields an all-star State Department team, it won't win for us unless the players are allowed to master their positions.

CHESTER BOWLES, a political appointment, floundered for 18 months as under secretary and was replaced by George Ball. George McGhee took Ball's place as under secretary for economic affairs and the job was converted into one for political affairs. McGhee was replaced by Averell Harriman, who was replaced by Thomas Mann, who resigned the next year.

The rotation was dizzying. In six years there were five different men in the position of assistant for inter-American affairs. Mr. Nixon must choose well and then let 'em alone.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE for Mr. Nixon to avoid is the idea that newly established "excellence" calls for a scorched-earth policy on the past. In August, 1965, Secretary Rusk denied a statement by the Singapore prime minister that the CIA had offered that little government a $3.3 million bribe. Later Rusk had to apologize. He honestly didn't know about the transaction because a department order required that papers not be kept on file for more than five years.

YOU'RE FAMILIAR WITH ELROY'S RANCH. I WANT YOUR COOPERATION IN BREAKING UP THE ROPE RING.
WHOA! HOLD ON! I'VE ALREADY BEEN BEATEN UP BY THOSE MOBSTERS. IF THEY CAUGHT ME ON THE RANCH AGAIN... NO THANKS! MY JOB WAS TO FIND ELROY.
ON THE CONTRARY, YOU SAID YOUR JOB WAS TO FIND HIM AND BRING HIM BACK TO HIS WIFE. AREN'T YOU GOING TO FINISH YOUR JOB?
HAM! YOU HAVE A POINT?

GASOLINE ALLEY
Wait is turning toward town. Skeezi!
I'll stay back so he won't see us!
Oh, dear!
...131...132...they're making these freights longer than when I was a kid!
CLANG! CLANG!
CLANG! CLANG!

NANCY
I'LL MAIL THIS TALKING DOLL TO IRMA FOR HER BIRTHDAY
SHE'LL LOVE IT— WHEN IT LIES DOWN IT SAYS "MAMA" MAMA
MAMA
MAMA

LIL' ABNER
TH' HONEYMOON IS OVER. WISE GUYS!!
THAT'S A CHIEF CUSTODIAN ON DOOTY NOW!!
GULP! THEY DIDN'T PAY TH' SLIGHTEST ATTENSHUN TO HIM!
THEY GOT NO RESPECT!

BLONDIE
THIS WRITER CLAIMS THAT MOST FAMILY QUARRELS ARE STARTED BY THE WIFE
THAT'S NOT TRUE!
DAGWOOD BUMSTEAD, YOU KNOW THAT ISN'T TRUE!
I JUST THOUGHT IT WAS AN INTERESTING LITTLE NEWS ITEM

RICK O'SHAY
PUT HIM IN WITH THE RAZZLEES. SEGUNDO, HE'LL MAKE A GOOD CIRCLE HORSE.
St. Patrona!
CERRA, WAGO. La Patrona esta muy mujer!
YEAH, SHE'S A LOT OF WOMAN, ALL RIGHT...
...AND MORE OF A MAN THAN MOST.

SNUFFY SMITH
DOC-- I GOT A LITTLE CRICK IN MY BACK AN' I WANT YE TO CRACK MY SPINE-BONE
I AIN'T NO BONE CRACKER!! I'M A M.D. AN' M.D. STANDS FER MEDICINE DOCTOR
THEN I'LL TAKE MY THREE DOLLERS CASH SOMEWHERS ELSE

KERRY DRAKE
I HEARD OUR SECRET SIGNAL, HONEY... BUT... GEE! DO YOU THINK I SHOULD COME? I MEAN... AFTER THE WAY YOUR FOLKS CHEWED OUT THE DRAKES... ABOUT ME?
YOU'LL ONLY HAVE TO STAY A MINUTE, DOOLEY!
AT SCHOOL, THEY'RE SELLING CANDY TO HELP PAY FOR BAND UNIFORMS! I HAD TO BUY A BOX... AND I WANT YOU TO HAVE IT!
GEE! THANKS, SALLY! BUT...
DON'T STAY! WE'LL TALK AGAIN TOMORROW!

BEEBLE BAILEY
YOU'RE TEACHING SPED READING, COSMO?
THAT'S RIGHT. I GUARANTEE YOU'LL DOUBLE YOUR READING SPEED IMMEDIATELY
READ FASTER THE COSMO WAY
WOW!
WHAT DOES YOUR COURSE CONSIST OF?
DIRTY BOOKS
KEEP GOING!

PEANUTS
"IN DRIVING FROM TOWN A TO TOWN D YOU PASS FIRST THROUGH TOWN B AND THEN THROUGH TOWN C."
"IT IS 10 MILES FARTHER FROM A TO B THAN FROM B TO C AND 10 MILES FARTHER FROM B TO C THAN FROM C TO D. IF IT IS 390 MILES FROM A TO D, HOW FAR IS IT FROM A TO B?"
WELL, I KNEW IT WOULD HAPPEN SOONER OR LATER
WHAT'S THE MATTER?
MY EDUCATION HAS GROUND TO A HALT!

DICK TRACY
AT 6,500 FEET, TEMPERATURE 2° ABOVE ZERO,
AND TRACY SLEEPS
FROM THE SHIRT POCKET INSIDE HIS COVERALLS SLIDES HIS MAGNIFYING GLASS.
IRONICALLY, IT POSITIONS ITSELF, AS THOUGH IN MOCKERY, AGAINST THE DETECTIVE'S FACE.

MARY WORTH
BEAT, HONEY? YOU LOOK AS IF YOU'D NEVER LAST OUT ONE MORE CLASS!
IT'S BEEN A BRUTAL WEEK, BEN!... I CAN WHOLEHEARTEDLY ECHO THE WORKER'S JUBILANT CRY: "THANK THE SAINTS IT'S FRIDAY!"
LOOK! WHY DON'T WE CELEBRATE OUR ALL-TOO-BRIEF ESCAPE FROM THESE GRAY WALLS BY DRIVING OUT SOMEWHERE FOR A QUIET, EXTRAVAGANT DINNER?
AND SET HALF THE TOWN'S TONGUES WAGGING?
I'LL PICK YOU UP BEHIND THE LIBRARY AT 7:15! IF THERE ARE PEOPLE AROUND, I'LL CRUISE TILL THE COAST IS CLEAR!
DON'T ARGUE! HERE COMES YOUR THUNDERING HERD!

REX MORGAN
KEITH'S IN LOVE WITH YOU, GINNY— WAS GOING TO ASK YOU TO MARRY HIM LAST NIGHT!
WELL, HE DON'T ACT AS THOUGH HE WERE INTERESTED IN DATING ME, LET ALONE MARRYING ME.
HE HAD ME HOME BEFORE ELEVEN O'CLOCK!
WE SAT UP AND TALKED UNTIL QUITE LATE! HE CAME TO THE CONCLUSION THAT IT WOULD BE UNFAIR FOR HIM TO ASK YOU TO MARRY HIM... TOO GREAT A GENERATION GAP!
WELL, YOU CAN BET I'LL GET THAT SILLY IDEA OUT OF HIS HEAD!
I'LL TRY CALLING HER APARTMENT!

TERRY
I, AH, I ASSUME THE AIR FORCE WILL FIND ANOTHER JOB FOR YOU PRETTY QUICKLY, EH, COLONEL LEE?
IT USUALLY WORKS OUT THAT WAY, MR. JACOBS.
I HOPE YOU'LL FIND THE ROOM COMFORTABLE, GENTLEMEN. I'LL SEND SOMEONE OUT TO PICK UP A WARDROBE FOR YOU AS SOON AS THE STORES OPEN... WELL... GOOD NIGHT.
PUT ME THROUGH TO COLONEL YANKINS AT HIS APARTMENT, PLEASE.

SMITTY
YOU SHOULD SEE TH' MONEY MY DOG HAS— HE'S RICH!!
LUCKY DOG!
WITH THAT MONEY HE CAN BUY ANYTHING HE LIVES!
LUCKY DOG!
AND YOU HANDLE ALL TH' MONEY?
YEP
YOU LUCKY DOG!!

MOON MULLINS
GOOD GOSH! AIN'T UNCLE WILLIE HOME YET?
NO! AND GO BACK TO BED!
HOW'S SHE GET THAT WAY? HE'S MY UNCLE, AND THAT'S MORE THAN SHE CAN SAY...
MAYBE NOW.
IT'S 2 A.M., KAYO! WHAT ARE YOU DOIN' OUTTA BED?
I THOUGHT IF I HEARD A GOOD STORY, I COULD GET TO SLEEP.

JUMBLE—that scrambled word game

Answer: For centuries they ignored this country—MAPS

GRANDMA
GRANDMA HAS LOCKED UP HER HOUSE...
...AND IS NOW ON HER WAY TO THE READING ROOM AT THE LIBRARY...
...WHERE SHE'S GOING TO JUST SIT AND ENJOY THE QUIET!

It gets prettier and prettier.

There's so much to like about a VW that you'll learn to like its looks, too.
 For instance, you'll like the way the VW is built. It's so tight you have to open a window to close the door. Bucket seats are contoured, and have headrests, for greater comfort. Safety belts in front and back are standard. There's enough space inside to accommodate a long-legged driver, wearing a hat.
 The air-cooled motor never boils over, and runs up to 27 miles on a gallon of gas. The exhaust emission control conforms to all state and federal laws. And there's much more to tell you about than there's room for in this ad.
 So come in and let us show you why Volkswagens are less and less funny looking, to more and more people.

'King Of World' Tomlinson Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Bishop Homer A. Tomlinson, 76, religious leader who crowned himself "King of the World" and ran for the U.S. presidency on a platform pledging a new Garden of Eden, died Wednesday.

Chance For Nixon Pay Raise Bleak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Congress will have to move fast if it intends to give Richard M. Nixon a pay raise when he becomes president, or to stop a hefty salary hike for its own members.

President Johnson is expected to recommend across-the-board pay boosts from President on executive and judiciary branches.

$100,000 UP

In order for Nixon to get a raise from the current pay scale of $100,000 yearly, Congress would have to give its approval before Inauguration Day, Jan. 20.

The Constitution forbids any change in the President's salary during his term in office. Thus, Congress would have to okay the boost before Jan. 20, or else Nixon will have to wait for a possible second term.

However, most other pay recommendations for congressmen, judges and various officials would go into effect in mid-February without Congressional action.

The increases may follow the recommendations of a nine-member commission created by Congress in 1967 to make a study of government pay scales.

BUDGET

The law that created the commission requires any pay raises recommended by the President must be included in his budget, to be submitted to Congress by Johnson no later than January 18.

The White House said the commission recommendations have not been formally presented to the President, who can revise them up or down or ignore them completely.

While the commission itself has made no announcement of its proposals, congressional and other sources hear that it will recommend a yearly raise for members of Congress, from $30,000 to $35,000; a $35,000 hike for the chief justice to $75,000; increases for Associate Justices from $39,500 to $45,000; $25,000 boosts for cabinet officers to $60,000, and comparable raises for other executives.

CAN SUGGEST

The commission's jurisdiction does not include the salary of the President and the vice president but it can suggest hikes. It has been reported the recommendations will be $100,000 to $150,000 for the President and from $43,000 to $75,000 for the vice president and the speaker of the House.

Congress could approve the whole thing, except for President and perhaps vice president and House speaker by simply doing nothing. Or it could kill the whole proposal or enact a law fixing different pay rates.

But if it does take action it must be within 30 days after the President makes his recommendations, or the congressional, judiciary and other executive pay boosts automatically become law.

Tall And Bald Vet Character Actor, 54, Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fred Clark, a veteran character actor who played the explosive boss or a neighbor with a slow burn, died of a liver ailment Thursday night after a month's hospitalization.

An accomplished dramatic actor, he first became known to millions as the television neighbor of Burns and Allen, showing uncontrolled indignation at the late Gracie Allen's antics.

Clark, 54, was a California native who went into acting with a scholarship award by the American Academy of Dramatic Art. By the 1950s he was a firmly typed actor.

Law Disrespect Blamed On Elders

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston lawyer says the disrespect of law shown by today's youths "is due to the behavior of their elders in disregarding laws and court orders on the ground of so-called civil disobedience."

Leon Jaworski, a member of the President's crime commission and the later commission on the cause of crime and violence, said Thursday the example set for young people by deliberate law violators cannot fall to have terrific impact.

LONG GONE

Addressing the Houston Assembly of Delphian Chapters, Jaworski said the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. committed "a grave mistake" when he defied court orders and refused to follow legal procedures.

"When the rule of law is gone," Jaworski said, "there is no yardstick to govern the conduct of society. This nation will lapse into general chaos and disaster from which there will be no return."

Stressing that there would be no "deeply concerned private citizen" and not as a member of the national crime study panels, Jaworski expressed admiration for Dr. King.

"I want to take nothing away from the accolades that have been his, but I cannot discuss the subject of law as the only guide to an orderly society without pausing to comment on the grave mistake this prominent man made in defying court decrees and in announcing, shortly before his tragic death, that he would violate a federal court order prohibiting his march in Memphis," Jaworski said.

HOUSE ON FIRE

"What are we to expect of our young boys and girls when they hear a Nobel Prize winner defy a court decree because, according to him, it does not agree with his conscience?" Jaworski asked.

Jaworski also said the church had failed to provide moral leadership in respect for the law when their church not only fails to champion such a course of conduct but still worse, winks at violations — on so-called grounds of conscience and in other instances openly condones or supports them," he asked.

Jaworski said the lack of both parental and church guidance places the burden on moral teaching on the schools.

U.S. Civil Rights Panel Calls Two Texas Rangers

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Two Texas Rangers, both involved in last year's controversial Starr County farm labor dispute, have been subpoenaed to appear at the upcoming U.S. Civil Rights Commission hearings on Mexican-Americans.

The hearings, scheduled for six days next week, will be the first the commission ever has devoted exclusively to Mexican-American problems. They will cover interests in the entire Southwest.

NOTHING TO HIDE

Ranger Capt. A. Y. Allee of Carrizo Springs, a third generation ranger with 36 years on the force, said Thursday he had been subpoenaed to appear before the commission on its final day of hearings Dec. 14. He also had been offered the opportunity to appear first before a private session of the six-man commission but indicated he would turn it down. "I don't have a thing to hide," he said, his deep voice booming.

Ranger Jack Van Cleve of Cotulla, a 12-year veteran, said Thursday he had been asked to appear before the commission's private session.

He said he wasn't sure yet if he would submit to the request. He said he first wanted to find out "what the captain says" about the situation. Van Cleve serves under Capt. Allee.

In another development, San Antonio lawyer Fred A. Semaan told newsmen he would represent Allee and Van Cleve. Semaan said neither would appear before the commission's closed executive session but would appear in public hearings.

CLOSED DOORS

Such closed sessions are designed to protect individuals who might be defamed or incriminated by public testimony, commission officials said.

Semaan said he understood both men had been subpoenaed to appear before the commission. Allee said this was correct in his case. Van Cleve said he hadn't received a subpoena, only a request that he appear before the executive session Monday morning. He said he didn't think he had to appear unless he wanted to.

Commission officials were not immediately available for comment. It was not known whether more Rangers have been asked to testify, but Van Cleve said he knew of no others.

Letters Of 'Prexy Sandefer Printed

ABILENE — A collection of letters to students and trustees, "Selected Letters of Jefferson Davis Sandefer," has been published by Hardin-Simmons University. The letters have been compiled in commemoration of the centennial birth of Jefferson Sandefer, Hardin-Simmons University president, 1909-1940.

The collection, published in cooperation with J. D. Sandefer Jr., of Breckenridge, contains a biographical sketch by Dr. Rupert Richardson, professor of history and president emeritus. The foreword and prologue are by H-SU President Elwin L. Skiles.

Although the collection is brief, it reveals the friendliness, enthusiasm and dedication of "Prexy" Sandefer during his 31-year administration.

21 Servicemen Killed In Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty-one servicemen killed in action in the Vietnam war were named Thursday in a Defense Department casualty list.

Changed from missing to dead hostile was Army Spec. 5 Johnny G. Gregg, father of Miss Glenda S. Gregg, care of Susan D. Gregg, 2033 Avenue L, Trailer 8, Huntsville.

Missing as a result of hostile action:

Army

Sgt. John B. Williams, Pfc. Heriberto Blanco, Pfc. Jesus E. Gomez Jr., Pfc. Roger R. Kerns, Pfc. John E. Marason, Pfc. Fred J. Paul.

Captured or interned:

Army

Spec. 4 Earl F. Gurnsey.

Miner Who Escaped Says Safety Checks Ignored

FAIRMONT, W.Va. (AP) — One of the miners who escaped says some safety procedures were ignored or there wasn't time to perform them in Mountaineer Coal Co. Mine No. 9 before it was rocked by explosions and 78 men entombed.

Walter Sloveskosky said Thursday rock-dusting, aimed at minimizing floating coal dust that is often highly combustible, was not thorough. He spoke at a hearing on the causes of the disaster.

Mine foremen often did not "have time to make sure" their sections were safe, said Sloveskosky, one of the 21 men who escaped after the first blast Nov. 20, spent six of his 32 years as a miner in No. 9.

The two-day meeting of the West Virginia Department of Mines; the U.S. Bureau of Mines; officials of Consolidation Coal Co., Mountaineer's parent firm, and representatives of the United Mine Workers union on the disaster continues today.

Charles Biafore, another of the men who reached safety, gave the hearing a different opinion. He said he was "satisfied that I was working in a good, safe section." He said he checked for methane gas "every two or three minutes."

Another of the 21, Russell Foster, said there was no indication of any trouble just before the first explosion.

And Lawrence Riggs, general superintendent of the mine, told the panel the mine's gas content "was checked constantly."

Horoscope Forecast

FOR TODAY AND MONDAY — CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and a night of taking it easy because you are not handling things as wisely as you should, learn when you make your mistakes and correct. Think constructively. Do not mistake your real friends for your enemies.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Put aside all thought of fun now and clear up that work that has been difficult for you to perform during busy work week. Co-workers are not in the right mood. Don't expect much help from them now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) It's all right to have fun today, but don't spend so much you will regret it tomorrow. A close tie may like to cooperate in one way, so don't try to influence to your way of thinking. Be fair and just and all is fine.

Film Exec Dies

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Harold J. Mirisch, 61, head of the company that produced many of the past decade's most popular films, died of a heart attack Thursday.

Among films produced by Mirisch company were "West Side Story" and "In the Heat of the Night."
