TALLULAH BANKHEAD

Tallulah Bankhead Dies, 65

NEW YORK (AP) — Tallulah Bankhead, the gravel-voiced Southern belle who became a stage star, movie siren, and eventually one of the nation's leading character actresses — and characters — died today. She was 65.

Miss Bankhead had been ill only a few days, a victim of the current outbreak of flu, when pneumonia developed and led to her death, according to her business manager, Ezra Schine.

Her sister, Eugenia Bankhead, and nephew, Billy Bankhead, were with her at her death.

FLAMBOYANT BELLE

The flamboyant Tallulah — named for her grandmother, who was named for a waterfall in Georgia which the Indians called "singing water" — gave many of her best performances off stage.

A violently partisan fan of the New York Giants, she instructed the players from the stands, and could dominate cocktail party conversations with baseball statistics.

Members of an old Alabama family and the daughter of William Brookman Bankhead, a long-time member of Congress and once speaker of the House, Tallulah drew her Deep South and highly cultured accent through innumerable films and plays and received from the American public that final honor — to be known by her first name.

SHARP BITE

A woman of great wit, which often had a sharp bite, Tallulah could cut a detractor down with a "Dahling" more effectively than some of her contemporaries could with a four-letter word.

Mrs. Kennedy's 11th Child Delivered Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ethel Kennedy, widow of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, gave birth today to her 11th child — an eight-pound, four-ounce girl.

The child was delivered at Georgetown University Hospital by Caesarean section at 8:40 a.m. Mrs. Kennedy has three other girls and seven boys ranging in age from 18 months to 17 years.

Her husband, the junior senator from New York, was assassinated in June in Los Angeles shortly after winning the California Democratic presidential primary.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., his wife and other family friends were at the hospital for the birth.

A family spokesman said both mother and child were doing well.

This is the fifth child delivered by Caesarean section to Mrs. Kennedy who entered the hospital Wednesday night. She had been confined to bed since suffering false labor pains in October. At that time, she entered the hospital but returned home the following day.

Israeli Jets Bomb Jordan Gun Sites

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Israeli jets bombed Jordanian gun emplacements in the area of the Sheikh Hussein bridge across the Jordan River for 10 minutes today, a Jordanian spokesman reported. He said there were no casualties.

FOUR PLANES

Four planes made the attack, the spokesman said, after a 35-minute duel across the river between an Israeli tracked vehicle and Jordanian ground forces. The spokesman said one building was damaged and the Israeli vehicle was destroyed.

Israel claimed that the Jordanian troops opened fire first with rockets and mortars on an Israeli patrol and the Israelis returned the fire. A spokesman in Tel Aviv said there were no Israeli casualties.

Jordan on Tuesday reported a number of Israeli fighters flew over the Marfaq area in northwest Jordan but said anti-aircraft guns drove them off.

THREAT

In Beirut, meanwhile, the Al Fatah organization of Arab commandos group issued a veiled threat of attacks during the Christmas season on Jerusalem and Bethlehem. It announced it would not be responsible for the safety of Christmas pilgrims to the holy places which Israel seized in 1967.

Al Fatah, the strongest and most effective of the Arab commando organizations, said it would "do all in its power to protect the peace and safety of the holy places" but would be in no position to guarantee the safety of tourists and visitors.

Heroism Medal

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Thomas Clayton Odum, a Frisco Railroad engineer, was presented a special medal for heroism Wednesday night for his help in the rescue of three persons from Lake Texoma on July 17.

2 GIFTS TO CHEER FUND

The CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND needs a lot more friends, if it is to fulfill its aim of bringing a bit of holiday delight to every poor child in Big Spring.

Two gifts were received today — $25 from the BPO Elks Lodge, and $5 from William U. O'Neal — to bring the Fund's total to $491.71.

At least twice this amount is needed to accomplish the holiday mission carried on by city firemen, who repair toys, and by others who see to it that all the needy are remembered.

If you'll help bring cheer to a needy family, your gift — no matter the size — will be welcomed. Make checks to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND and mail to The Herald for acknowledgement.

New Proposals May Break Talks Deadlock

PARIS (AP) — Top U.S. and South Vietnamese diplomats agreed today on new proposals for the Communists aimed at getting the Vietnam peace talks under way.

Chief U.S. negotiator W. Averell Harriman and South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky conferred on what different procedures might be suggested to break the present deadlock on how to start the long awaited four-way parley.

TO OTHER SIDE

"We are going to present the other side with some new proposals," an authorized U.S.

delegation source quoted Harriman and Ky as saying after their 1 1/2 hour meeting.

The informant declined to disclose any details of the new allied approach but he acknowledged the main point at issue involves seating arrangements for the conference.

At issue are such symbolic matters as who is to speak first and what shape the conference table will be. American sources said there is still room for compromise and they remain hopeful.

Qualified sources said the Saigon government feared U.S. negotiations are deadlocked by the symbolic dispute over the shape of the conference table and the order in which the various delegations will speak at the opening session.

North Vietnam's Col. Ha Van Lau proposed again on Tuesday that the conference should meet at four equidistant tables and draw four lots to decide the speaking order. Both arrangements would make the conference appear to be one of four equal delegations, a status which the Saigon and U.S. governments refuse to concede to the NLF.

House, Jan. 20 and might consider procedural concessions that would give the status of a full delegation to the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

American officials sought to minimize the reports of differences between the U.S. and South Vietnamese delegations. They stressed that the United States will make no deal with North Vietnam on conference procedure unless it is acceptable to Saigon.

COLLECTIONS ARE MUCH HIGHER

Belles Are Better Than Beards

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What's more popular at Christmas time than Santa Claus?

It's lady Santas. But perhaps it's because they wear red minidresses and tight red leotards.

After 68 years of relying on male Santa Clauses for Christmas season streetcorner collections, the Volunteers of America is experimenting with female collectors, called Santa's Belles. "They're doing two to three times as well as the men have done," said Paul H. Nolte, executive director of the Los Angeles volunteers.

Outfitted from cap to boots in red and white fur trim, five cute, college-age girls have been collecting staves and smites in downtown Los Angeles, as well as money for the organization's charitable activities.

"People ask things like, 'Will you come down my chimney?'" said pretty Yvonne LaRose, 20, a sophomore at California State in Los Angeles.

Nolte says Yvonne's collections reach about $45 for a four-hour day. "A good Santa will pull in about $30 a day near Christmas and that's in an eight-hour day," he said.

The five girls, who are paid $2.10 an hour, augment a regular staff of 25 male Santas scattered around the city. The girls have done so well that their number will be doubled before Christmas, Nolte said.

Calls U.N. Last Hope For Peace

HOUSTON (AP) — Arthur Goldberg says the United Nations "is our last hope for maintaining peace in the world."

Goldberg said chances for survival of the human race are "really not very good."

Nixon Lists No Cabinet Surprises

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Nixon has named a no-surprises, no-Democrats cabinet that he says will bring "an extra dimension" to the handling of the nation's problems.

"I can assure you these are strong men. They are compassionate men. They are good men," Nixon said in an easy-going, informal manner as he announced the makeup of his official family Wednesday night before a national television-radio audience.

REFLECT NIXON

Reaching into the ranks of Republican governors, high-powered businessmen and educators, Nixon came up with 12 men, many longtime associates and friends, who generally reflect the internationalist-minded and fiscally conservative attitudes of the president-elect.

In his drive for president against Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey, Nixon had said he would seek men of both parties and of differing views for help in achieving his campaign goal of uniting the country.

Asked about the absence of a Democrat, Herbert G. Klein, Nixon communications director, quipped the President-elect had appointed "all independents who vote Republican."

However, press spokesman Ronald L. Ziegler made a point of telling newsmen that a Democrat will get one top job to be announced in the near future—ambassador to the United Nations.

The post has been offered to Sargent Shriver, now ambassador to France. Shriver is a brother-in-law of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., an association by marriage that has prompted some strong private protests from conservative Republicans.

Nixon also did not have a Negro on his list. Perhaps to try to offset any adverse comments, he began his broadcast by disclosing that Washington's Democratic Negro mayor, Walter E. Washington has agreed to appointment to a second term when his tenure expires Feb. 1.

By the time Nixon spoke without benefit of notes or cue cards, his choices for the Cabinet were hardly a secret. The President-elect had given the names in advance to GOP congressional leaders and from there the roster soon found its way onto the air and into print.

Here is President-elect Nixon's Cabinet, announced Wednesday night:

Secretary of State—William P. Rogers.

Secretary of Defense—Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis.

Secretary of the Treasury—David M. Kennedy.

Attorney General—John N. Mitchell.

Postmaster General—Winton M. Blount.

Secretary of the Interior—Gov. Walter J. Hickel of Alaska.

AGRICULTURE

Secretary of Agriculture—Clifford M. Hardin, chancellor of the University of Nebraska.

Secretary of Commerce—Former budget director Maurice H. Stans.

Secretary of Labor—George P. Shultz, University of Chicago dean.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare—Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch of California.

Secretary of Housing and Urban Development—Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

Secretary of Transportation—Gov. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts.

Draft Call Up Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon today called for the drafting of 33,700 men next February—the highest monthly quota in eight months.

The figure is up sharply from the 26,800 previously announced for January and more than double the average monthly draft requests during the last seven months of this year.

Manpower requests this year ranged as high as 48,000 in April and 45,900 in May.

The Pentagon recently said draft calls in 1969 would turn higher by about 3,000 men per month than otherwise would have been expected due to the planned early release of 20,000 Army Reserve and National Guard members who were called earlier this year.

Comanche Bank Robbed By Three

COMANCHE, Tex. (AP) — Three men robbed the Comanche National Bank in West Texas today of an undetermined amount of money.

The holdup occurred shortly before 11:30 a.m.

Details of the robbery were not at once available. Comanche is 26 miles northwest of Brownwood.

Cold Front Ushers Chill Into State

By The Associated Press

Cold north winds tugged at the West Texas landscape today while warm weather with widely scattered light rain or drizzle enveloped the rest of the state.

Official observers looked for a new front to spread a chill throughout Texas by early Friday. Although it appeared to be packing mostly dry air, forecasts held out a prospect for snow flurries in the Panhandle this evening.

Scattered showers were expected to move eastward just ahead of the norther, with clearing skies and sharp drops in temperature following hard on its heels.

By early this morning the forward edge of the approaching front stretched along a line linking Perryton, Lubbock, Pecos, and Van Horn.

GUSTING WINDS

Winds gusting at 45 to 55 miles per hour whistled through the Panhandle-Plains sector, stirring dust in places but not reducing visibility to any great extent.

It was cloudy with very light rain or drizzle over East and South Texas, meanwhile, and a little of the moisture edged into North Central Texas.

Temperatures down to 16 degrees above zero were predicted in the upper Panhandle by early

Police Force Out Agitators

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police encircled and closed in on a student strike rally at San Francisco State College Wednesday in a day of few scuffles and 12 arrests.

Acting President S.J. Hayakawa said later that he has "complete faith" that calling in police to quell violence will lead eventually "to opening up of discussions."

NO MEDIATIONS

Strike leaders asserted their 21 demands can't be mediated or negotiated.

Chanting "On strike. We'll be back," some 500 agitators left the campus Wednesday. Some police used clubs and some strikers threw rocks earlier in a 10-minute flurry in which police pressed into a rally and arrested Bridges Randall, a Negro leader.

Others were arrested in the crowd and one girl was carried away on a stretcher. Clubs and rocks were used less than in some previous campus battles.

Students strikers' demands include establishment of independent black and ethnic studies programs, admission of all Negroes who apply and, in general, more aid and power for minority groups on campus.

AFFECTS OTHERS

The strike by a minority of students and faculty on the 18,000-student campus has affected the area. At San Francisco City College, 15 blocks away, Negro students marched out of a convocation held to discuss the state college problems. The University of California called off a weekend San Francisco meeting on aiding minority group students statewide for fear of demonstrations.

Kentucky Guards Challenging Call Up

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A new challenge to the call up of National Guard units for service in South Vietnam is to be heard in federal district court today.

The suit was filed by 105 members of the 2nd Howitzer Battalion, 138th Artillery, Kentucky National Guard, who were activated as a unit while on inactive duty at Louisville, Ky., and sent to Fort Hood, Tex.

NO MEANING

The guardsmen say Art. 1, Sec. 8 of the Constitution permits the activation of state militia in three cases only: to execute the laws of the United States, to suppress an insurrection or to repel an invasion.

The government's position is that they are members of the Army National Guard of the United States as well as of the Army National Guard of Kentucky (state militia). They signed up simultaneously for both units, the government says.

The guardsmen say this double signing cannot be used to circumvent the Constitution's restrictions on when the militia may be used. Otherwise the constitutional provision would have no meaning, they contend.

They say they were not called up as individual members of the Army National Guard of the United States but as a militia unit. No statute authorizes the activation of a militia unit except for one of the three purposes listed in the Constitution, they say.

NEW QUESTION

This new question was raised after the guardsmen's original challenge reached the U. S. Supreme Court, where it is still pending.

In that original suit, the petitioners said the call-up violated their contractual rights, guaranteed by the Fifth Amendment. Under the terms of their enlistment, they said, the army could place them on active duty for no more than 17 days a year except in time of war or national emergency.

The guardsmen already are in South Vietnam, having lost their fight in the U. S. Supreme Court to enjoin the Army from sending them there until the suit was disposed of.

The guardsmen quoted a 1912 attorney general's opinion that held that "even Congress" cannot authorize the activation of militia except in one of the three cases listed in Art. 1 of the Constitution. The U. S. Supreme Court has never ruled on this question, they say.

The question was raised, but not decided, in the guardsmen's fight to enjoin the Army from sending them to Vietnam. Justice William O. Douglas said: "I am not yet persuaded that either the Army or the solicitor general can play loosely with the concept of 'militia' as used in the Constitution and thus create a credibility gap at the constitutional level."

Tijerina Trial Near Conclusion

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The month-long trial of Reyes Lopez Tijerina, leader of a group claiming ancient Spanish land grants, neared its conclusion in district court today.

Tijerina, 42, is charged with kidnapping, false imprisonment of a hostage and assault on the courthouse and jail at Tierra Amarilla, in northern New Mexico's Rio Arriba County.

Final arguments by opposing counsel and instructions to the jury by Judge Paul Larrazolo were scheduled before the case goes to the jury.

CHANGES STORY

The judge took under advisement Wednesday renewed motions by the defense for dismissal of the three charges stemming from violence at the courthouse June 5, 1967.

Tijerina's lawyers argued the state had failed to prove its case and had "charged" Tijerina with the wrong offenses. They also said the state had failed to prove that Tijerina assisted in an armed raid on the courthouse.

The kidnaping and false imprisonment charges specifically involved Deputy Sheriff Dan Rivera of Rio Arriba County.

Rivera had testified he was beaten by gunmen but said he did not blame Tijerina and could not recall being forced to go anywhere against his will.

Several state witnesses had testified they saw a gunman behind Rivera when the bloodied deputy went to the courthouse jail to release two prisoners.

The trial began Nov. 12. Ten defendants originally were involved, but the judge separated Tijerina from the other nine, and said the others would be tried later.

NOT ARMED

The defense rested its case Wednesday after calling 29 witnesses, including Tijerina, the militant leader of a group claiming ownership of Tijerina under Spanish and Mexican grants.

Tijerina testified he took no part in the violence and that he had gone to the courthouse in an attempt to stop it. He said he was unarmed but covered his face with a white handkerchief "because I knew I was a wanted man and I expected to see police officers there."

The state called seven rebuttal witnesses Wednesday and several said Tijerina had no handkerchief covering his face. Also testifying as rebuttal witnesses were three newsmen. Tijerina said earlier he had been incorrectly quoted regarding the courthouse attack.

Clay Shaw's Trial Date Set Jan. 21

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A trial date of Jan. 21 has been set for Clay Shaw, a retired New Orleans businessman charged with conspiring to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison announced the date Wednesday with a new blast at the federal government, which he accuses of trying to block the trial.

"These efforts to interfere with the case have been because the federal government does not want the case to go to trial and does not want the people of America to know that the Warren Commission was a complete fraud," he said.

The U. S. Supreme Court refused last Monday to block state prosecution in the controversial case.

Criminal Dist. Court Judge Edward Haggerty, who would preside over the trial, said he had ordered that 250 prospective jurors be available in January.

Garrison said his chief assistant, James L. Alcock, would handle prosecution but that he expects to take an active part. Alcock said he expects new defense pleadings which could result in postponement.

Shaw, 55, was arrested March 1, 1967, a few days after Garrison confirmed he was conducting his own investigation of the assassination.

The district attorney contends Shaw conspired with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to kill President Kennedy, who was slain by a sniper in Dallas in 1963.

The Warren Commission said that, based on the best evidence it could find, Oswald acted alone.

Farm Bureau Delegates Okay Federal Withdrawal

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Final voting on American Farm Bureau Federation policy resolutions for next year continued today as representatives of the organization's 1.8 million members ended their 50th annual convention.

In voting Wednesday, delegates tentatively approved a wide range of resolutions, including Farm Bureau views on federal farm programs, conservation, the national economy, the war in Vietnam, taxes, marketing, legislative apportionment and international affairs.

The delegates approved with little difficulty a resolution seeking a gradual withdrawal of the federal government from agriculture. The plan features a voluntary land-retirement program to take whole farms from production during a shift from present controls and subsidies to what the Farm Bureau calls a market-oriented economy.

GET OUT

Delegates were expected to give final approval today to the farm program resolution, though it still was open for debate and possible amendment.

There was speculation some delegates might attempt to change a provision that specified "no limitations" be imposed on federal payments to individual farmers.

The resolution also points out that farmers should not be treated alike by federal programs. Efficient, commercial farmers, the Farm Bureau says, have problems different from smaller, poorer operators.

There was also dissatisfaction over a resolution on price support loans made by the government's Commodity Credit Corp. Delegates approved a provision calling for nonrecourse price support loans not to exceed 85 per cent of the previous three-year average market price for a commodity.

Under the nonrecourse system, farmers are not required to repay price support loans made by the government and may simply turn over their collateral—wheat or corn, for example—to the Commodity Credit Corp. which then assumes ownership of the commodity.

Critics said that pegging the support loans to 85 per cent of previous market prices could depress cash markets even further.

MIGHTY PROUD

Delegates supported expansion of Farm Bureau activity in agricultural marketing programs and a campaign to seek legislation to "clarify the rights and limitations" of farm bargaining associations.

Reaction to President-elect Nixon's choice of Clifford M. Hardin, University of Nebraska chancellor, as the next secretary of agriculture appeared favorable.

Charles B. Shuman, Farm Bureau president, said "The primary responsibility of the secretary of agriculture is to administer in an impartial and equitable manner laws affecting agriculture approved by the Congress," Shuman said.

HOROSCOPE FORECAST TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: "A soft answer turns away wrath" would be wise to keep above any sort of spite attitude or vendetta. Be sure others see that you are able to smile and please them by some special act or other consideration that makes them realize you are the one who is willing to be a peacemaker.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Be very understanding with partners right now since this is very important to all parties. Acting rashly could bring much trouble. Show you are a balanced and thinking person.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Plan how to get a good deal of work done. Do your utmost to avoid arguing with others. Be sensible and kind.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Use that plan that you can run those hobbies nicely that can bring you the most enjoyment. However, don't be irrevocable. Forget that Friday the 13th looms.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Find the best way to cut the backing of kin for that project you have in mind and listen to their ideas, suggestions. Listen to what an expert has to say. Get on the good side of this party.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Go after information you need right now, but show gratitude to the ones who give it. Follow plan that makes your shopping accounts much easier. Try not to lose your temper with others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make sure your income is such that you can pay bills promptly and still have money left for emergencies. Show others that you are sensible. Stop wasting time, effort, faculty.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you are friendly and charming with others, you can get just about anything you want now, but rid yourself of whatever is obsolete. Social affairs are very fine for you at this time. Aim for the highest in the group.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show appreciation for the good ideas and friendships of those who can keep secrets, are your pals. Be sure you assist one too proud to ask for help. Do so quietly and show generosity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you show real friendship for others you find that you soon get fine benefits from such efforts. Avoid those undependable individuals who could lead you into the wrong channels. Seek personal goals wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take care not to jeopardize the fine reputation you now enjoy. Show appreciation to it. Blotter who has been very helpful, though this person is quite boring. Be just.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Find just the right outlets to best express yourself. Be active. Get busy with new arrangements while one is out-of-town. Surprise this person you love on his or her return.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You have made promises to others and this is the right time to discharge them with real ability and ease, since you have had your mind to it. Don't offend closest tie. Think before you speak and sit in line.

WHEN HE TRIES TO PRACTICE WHAT HE PREACHED

Laird May Be Tested

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Melvin R. Laird may be tested when he attempts to put into practice as the Nixon administration's defense secretary what he preached as a congressman.

The Wisconsin Republican will have to reconcile the need for new strategic weapons to stay ahead of the Soviet Union with the need to keep the defense budget from soaring out of sight.

He will have to find a way to maintain firm civilian control in military affairs and still give greater weight and freedom to military judgment.

He will have to find a substitute for former defense chief Robert S. McNamara's "cost-effectiveness" tool, which he criticized severely, and still insure against waste in defense spending.

HE'S UNIQUE

Laird is unique—he is the first member of Congress to step into the exceedingly tough job of running the gigantic defense establishment and shaping national strategy to deal with changing threats.

As a ranking GOP member of the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee, he has interrogated Pentagon chiefs and challenged their policies. Now he will be on the other side of the committee table.

Though respected by both Democrats and Republicans in Congress, he will be far from immune to criticism.

In fact, his reputation as a strong partisan may open him to Democratic attack after the customary period of grace at the start of a new administration.

Laird was Nixon's principal defense policy adviser during the recent presidential campaign.

His views show through Nixon's core contention that Democratic administrations allowed a "gravely serious security gap" to open up between the United States and the Soviet Union.

CLAIMED LAG

Like Nixon, he rejects the idea of nuclear "parity" and favors clear cut U.S. superiority. Like Nixon, he has deplored what he claimed was a lag in new weapons development and military research under the McNamara regime.

He supports Air force aims for a new advanced bomber, but does not go all the way with the Air Force on the dimension of that program.

Like Nixon, Laird is an advocate of a stronger Navy. He fought for more nuclear-powered warships at a time when McNamara opted for conventional power because of economic considerations.

Like Nixon, Laird has attacked "gradualism" as it was practiced in the U.S. bombing campaign against North Vietnam. At one time, he advocated air strikes at the port of Haiphong, which was off-limits to U.S. bombers under the McNamara policy endorsed by President Johnson.

Hunters Kill 1,164 Antelope

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Hunters killed 1,164 antelope this year in the three regulatory districts which allow antelope hunting. This was 22 fewer than last year.

Permian Basin hunters killed 74 antelope. Trans-Pecos hunters 799 and Panhandle hunters 295.

Production Of Silage On Area Farms Urged

LAMESA — LeRoy Colgan, Dawson County agricultural agent, is advocating production of silage on farms in his area as a means of providing additional income to the farmer.

"If you are raising beef cattle," said Colgan, "you need to give some serious thought to silage."

Before beef cattle can be placed on the farms of the county, the county agent stressed, a reserve supply of feed is almost a necessity.

Silage, he feels, can meet this need.

He cites the case of Ernest Bartlett, a Dawson County farmer.

Bartlett grew forage on his farm as a silage demonstration this year.

Planting date was April 25 and the crop was harvested on Aug. 25. Bartlett seeded five pounds to the acre in solid rows. There was 20 inches of rainfall on his land and he irrigated one time with three inches of water.

He used 60-0-0 fertilizer on the demonstration.

His yield rates, Colgan said, insured the handling of a lot of beef cattle.

RCY Matador produced 15 tons of silage per acre. PAC Siechow turned out 12.5 tons as did HT-Hok. Atlas production was 10 tons and other species in the demonstration tapered down to as little as 5.5 tons.

Parks Commission Chairman Resigns

AUSTIN (AP) — Will Odom, chairman of the often controversial Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission since it was formed in 1963, resigned today.

New Dawson Prospector

Kelly Bell of Midland No. 1 Middleton, Dawson County prospector, originally projected to 9,200 feet as a Pennsylvania reef venture, drilled to 8,060 feet and is preparing to run 4 1/2-inch casing to make completion attempt from an unidentified section, possibly the Dean sand.

It is 3 1/2 miles northeast of Lamesa, 660 feet from south and 990 feet from east lines of section 6, block 35, T-6-N, T&E survey. The location is three miles north and slightly west of the Walls (Wolfcamp) pool and 1/2 mile north and slightly west of the depleted one well McCasland (Spraberry) pool.

A one-hour drillstem test at 7,878-7,900 feet returned 5,000 feet of gas, five feet of oil and 35 feet of drilling water. Flowing pressure was from 21 to 43 pounds, one-hour initial shut-in bottomhole pressure was 3,659 pounds, while one-hour final shut-in pressure was 533 pounds.

The project is 3/4 miles northwest of the depleted Arvanna (San Andres) reservoir. Mobil Oil Corp. was testing for sand fill-up after treating No. 1-A Nail, an Ellenburger failure and a Dean-Wolfcamp prospect, seven miles northeast of Midland and 11 miles northwest of Stanton.

Shot holes between 8,893 and 9,281 feet were fractured with 40,000 gallons of gelled brine and 120,000 pounds of sand and on the latest gauge reported flowed 347 barrels of the load water on a 22-64-inch choke with 22 hours casing pressure 25 pounds.

No. 1-A Nail spots 660 feet from north and 1,380 feet from east lines of section 38, block 38, T-1-N, T&P survey, 1 1/4 miles southeast of the Fran-Glass (Spraberry) pool and 2 1/2 miles west of the exhausted Ellenburger opener in the former Stanton multiphase region. Drilled to 12,568 feet on a 12,700-foot Ellenburger contract. It is plugged back to 9,502 feet with the 5 1/2-inch casing set at that point.

Pennzoil United Inc. of Midland scheduled No. 1 Eva Cole as a 10,000-foot Fusselman venture, nine miles east of Garden City in Glasscock County.

DAILY DRILLING

STERLING
Parker and Parsley No. 1 Ellwood drilled to total depth of 5,147 feet, plugged and abandoned, 2 1/2 feet from the north and 870 feet from the west line, 22-38-SPR survey, 13 miles northwest of Sterling City.

GLASSCOCK
Pennzoil United No. 1 Eva Cole is moving in hole and prepared to spool.

MARTIN
Pennzoil United No. 1 Concor is drilling at 4,344 feet in hole.

BURDEN
Tom Brown Drilling Co. No. 1 Clayton and Johnson is drilling at 8,177 feet on running drillstem test.

LOCATIONS

BORDEN
Tennaco, Inc. No. 4-A H. N. Zent has tested a well at 4,430 feet in the Oceanic Northeast (Pannathurion) Reef, 1,100 feet from the south and 2,032 feet from the west line, 19-35-SPR survey in the townsite of Vestermeer. Location is northwest and southwest of production.

Odom's term as commission member and chairman. An informed source said Odom had wanted out for some time to "devote more time to his business affairs." Odom was serving a term that had more than two years to run, expiring Feb. 1, 1971. He is an Austin engineer and geologist.

AMARILLO NATIVE
Gilvin, an Amarillo native, is president of Gilvin-Terrill, Inc., contractors. He chaired a committee last year to promote the constitutional amendment authorizing issuance of $75 million in state bonds to establish and develop state parks.

Gilvin is a University of Texas graduate. He is president of Panhandle West Inc., president of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, a director of Cal Farley's Boys' Ranch, member of the executive committee of the Texas Good Roads Association and vice president of Associated General Contractors of America.

Connally said Gilvin "is a man of proven ability in business who has demonstrated a keen interest in the affairs of the Parks and Wildlife Commission, and I am delighted that he has agreed to serve in this important area of our state government."

LEADERSHIP
He also said Odom's "contributions to the Parks and Wildlife Commission will be of lasting benefit to all Texans."

"The state is losing the leadership of an extremely able and energetic individual," Connally said. The commission was created at the governor's request, with the former Game and Fish Commission and State Parks Board merged into a single agency under a three-man board. The agency almost at once became involved in controversy when it allowed shell dredgers to operate within 500 feet of live oyster reefs in Texas bays. Odom also was chairman when the commission designated the Lyndon B. Johnson State Park and began collecting private funds to buy land for it.

'Corned Beef Confucius' Dies
NEW YORK (AP) — Max Asnas, founder and resident sage of New York's famous Stage Deli restaurant, where he reigned as the pastrami, chopped liver, corned beef and salami, died at the age of 71.

The "corned beef Confucius," he was dubbed by the late comedian Fred Allen. A customer, complaining about the quality of a corned beef sandwich, once was berated by Asnas. "You can't talk to me like that," said the man, "I'm a customer."

"What do you want to be for a lousy sandwich, a partner?" Asnas retorted. Asnas, who made the 84-seat restaurant into a million-dollar property that lured the rich and the famous, died of a heart attack Wednesday, after being stricken in his Manhattan apartment.

Murder Investigation Moving At Steady Pace

Investigation in the shooting death Monday night of A. D. Blount moved at a steady pace today, but positive identification of the gunman has not yet been made, according to Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard. Blount, 40, who had operated a pet shop business here the past five years, was shot and killed by an unknown assailant at his home about 10:45 p.m. Monday.

Standard and his deputies have been investigating the possibility of a hired gunman committing the murder, but are also pursuing other angles. The scene, and the gun has been traced to its last point of purchase in Kansas City, Ballistics tests will be run on the gun, but the expert in the Texas Department of Public Safety laboratory in Austin cannot get to the job for at least three days, Standard said.

sheriff said information from out of state is being checked, which is hoped to lead to a suspect. "It takes time to make a thorough investigation," Standard said. "Things are looking good and are progressing satisfactorily." Deputies theorize that the gunman knew the area around the Pet-A-Zoo, or a quick getaway could not have been possible. Apparently, the gunman approached the apartment by way of an old wagon trail some distance to the rear of the Pet-A-Zoo. The terrain between the trail and building is rough and brushy. Standard also said that Blount had received threats on his life from one person since before April, and that the person told Blount he would kill Blount or have someone else kill him. Blount had reported these threats to the city police.

Motorbike-Car Wreck Injury
Richard D. Phelps, Webb AFB, was treated for minor injuries and released from Webb AFB Hospital this morning after being involved in a motorbike-car collision. 'GI Bill' To Aid Civilians Sought

NEW YORK (AP) — The Carnegie Commission on Higher Education proposed today to President-elect Nixon and the Congress a civilian "GI Bill" to allow an additional one million students to attend college. The recommendation, one of 22 in a 56-page report issued by the commission, called on the federal government to provide "educational opportunity grants" to qualified youths unable to afford the rising costs of college. At present 40 per cent

Arrest Leads To Boycott

SYLVESTER, Ga. (AP) — The arrest of two Negro sisters and their six-day stay in a regional juvenile detention home at Albany has led to a boycott of a Negro public school. The girls, 11 and 14, were accused by school officials of using obscene language and fighting on a school bus last month. They were taken into custody Dec. 4 and were held without bond until a hearing Tuesday when Superior Court Judge Bowie Gray released them to their parents. He continued the hearing to Dec. 23.

LOT OF MONEY
The 14-member commission said private sources, which today pay half the costs of higher education, should continue to provide the major share of support to preserve the autonomy and diversity of higher education. The report estimates that its proposals would cost the federal government $7 billion by 1970 and $13 billion by 1976. Government spending in related areas at present amounts to $3.5 billion.

Flames Damage Girl Scout Hut
Fire heavily damaged the Girl Scout hut Wednesday. The fire in the building, 1405 Lancaster, apparently started in the area of the floor furnace, according to Fire Marshal A. D. Meador. About a quarter of the floor in the meeting room was destroyed, and the fire burned through the wall to the outside of the building in one area.

of young Americans go to college. PRIORITY "Today a young man or woman whose family's income is in the top half of the national income range has three times the chance to get a college education as one whose family is in the bottom half," said the commission chairman, Clark Kerr, former president of the University of California. "This economic inequality is holding back the next generation and our country," Kerr said. "The first priority in our proposals is to end this form of inequality." A second key proposal called for expansion of medical education in the next eight years to provide the capacity to train 75 per cent more doctors and to meet the rapidly growing demand for a variety of medical services under Medicare. The report was introduced at a news conference and Dr. Kerr's remarks were prepared in advance for delivery at that time. LOT OF MONEY The 14-member commission said private sources, which today pay half the costs of higher education, should continue to provide the major share of support to preserve the autonomy and diversity of higher education. The Wee Ice Mon'

The face and golfing exploits of this competitor are familiar to countless golf buffs. He's Ben Hogan, dubbed at times "The Wee Ice Mon," "The Hawk," and "Bantam Ben."

At age 56, physical problems have limited his participation in competitive golf of late. Recent surgery on his shoulder has thrown a shadow over future plans.

Bantam Ben Must Try Bad Shoulder Again

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The answer will more than likely come on a bright, crisp day this spring.

It will be on a practice fairway at Colonial Country Club in Fort Worth. The man will no doubt be alone.

The swing will be machine-like. The ball will rattle true to its target. But the questions will be: Did the shoulder hurt? Will the left leg hold up under the pivot?

And if things aren't just right it will be at least another year before bantam Ben Hogan will make a token appearance in competitive golf.

Hogan, four-time winner of the U.S. Open, twice winner of the Masters, former PGA and British Open title, hasn't played a competitive round of golf since 1966. And he won't again unless the conditions are perfect.

The fact that Hogan is a proud man, of course, is legend. He once objected strenuously to a reporter for keeping score while giving the king of Belgium a few lessons on a round at Colonial Country Club.

"We're not playing golf," Hogan snorted.

The reporter put his pencil away. Hogan retired from competitive golf in 1955. But he enjoyed playing in an occasional tournament in Florida, or the Masters at or at home at the Colonial. And even though the putting jitters affected his scores somewhat, he thrilled the tournament crowds with his shotmaking ability which seemed to lose neither its distance or accuracy.

But a combination of age—Hogan is 56—and physical problems have cast doubt on whether he will ever play seriously again.

Hogan underwent surgery last month in New Orleans. The doctor cut away calcium and some tissue from his shoulder. Hogan will return in six weeks for a checkup.

His left kneecap is ailing. But Hogan said the doctor advised no surgery for it—just more time to heal.

"It works against the cartilage," Hogan said. "When I move to my left side it hurts. So I back up on my right foot and that's not very good if you're going to play golf."

Hogan has been busy with his business activities, including his golf club company.

But the competitive fire hasn't dimmed. A reporter asked him wouldn't he miss playing in the Masters this year when spring rolled around. Wouldn't he want to give it another try?

He grinned and said "Yeah, I guess so."

There are those who remember the way Hogan fought back after a crippling automobile accident in 1949. First it was thought he wouldn't live. Then it was thought he would never play golf again. Hogan's answer was three more National Open championships.

He may never play in another tournament. But don't bet your favorite wedge on it.

Competition will begin at 6 p.m. Monday, Jan. 13, and play will be conducted each Monday and Thursday thereafter.

Those interested in entering teams can contact Trice at the Y building.

Skidoo Kid Is Off To Great Cage Start

By The Associated Press

This promise to be a glorious college basketball season for Calvin Murphy, the 5-foot-10 Skidoo Kid for the Niagara Purple Eagles.

The junior sharpshooter from Norwalk, Conn., who scored 68 points against Syracuse last Saturday, threw in 44 against Cornell Wednesday night and strengthened his claim to the No. 1 spot in the national individual scoring race for the young season.

Murphy threw in 20 field goals and four of four free throws in helping Niagara come from behind to beat the Big Red 89-63 at Niagara Falls, N.Y. He probably would have crossed the 50-point mark except that he was taken out by Coach Frank Layden with four minutes left to play.

"Calvin played a very unselfish game and still managed to get 44 points," Layden said. "He had seven assists and fed the subs regularly. He played a magnificent game."

OVERSHADOWS IRISH

Murphy's magnificent play overshadowed Notre Dame's 57-56 squeaker over Wisconsin, Dayton's 83-55 conquest of Miami, Ohio, for the Flyers' 19th straight, Virginia's 81-75 upset of Duke and Richmond's 80-79 surprise of West Virginia.

Austin Carr and Tom Sinnott pulled the game out of the fire for Notre Dame at South Bend. The Irish seventh-ranked in The Associated Press poll, trailed Wisconsin 56-54 with 38 seconds left. Then Carr, a sophomore, pulled out.

Sinnott followed with a free throw with 10 seconds on the clock to win the game. Carr led the Irish with 22 points. Chuck Nagle's 15 topped Wisconsin.

Dayton shot a blistering 61 per cent as the Flyers made it five in a row this season against Miami at Oxford, Ohio. Ninth-ranked Duke fell to Virginia for the first time in 10 years as Tony Kinn's 29 points paced the Cavaliers in the ACC game at Charlottesville.

Mike Truell's free throw in the last second broke a 79-79 tie and gave Richmond its upset over West Virginia at Morgantown. It was the first time since 1954 that Richmond has beaten West Virginia on the Mountaineers' home court.

Trojans Are Rated Tops In Region V

Christian College of the Southwest, a Mesquite-based school, is the new top-rated team in Region V.

The Trojans earned the right to pace the parade by turning back Howard County JC, the previous leader, in the recent Odessa tournament.

HCJC, located in Big Spring, was dropped to second place in the recent poll conducted among coaches by Region V director D. E. (Buddy) Travis of HCJC.

Third in the balloting was Hill County JC of Hillsboro, immediately ahead of South Plains JC of Levelland. In all, ten teams were included in the rankings.

South Plains recently won consolation honors in the Coffeyville, Kansas, tournament after losing a thriller in double overtime. South Plains is averaging 103.4 points a game and has won nine of its first 11 starts.

Ranger finished as runner-up to CCSW in the Odessa meet but has only a 5-4 record and is listed no higher than tenth in the poll.

Among the top ten teams in the Region, five are Western Conference teams. Odessa was ranked fifth, New Mexico JC seventh and Clarendon eighth in the voting.

The coaches' poll:

1. CCS (9-3) 49.9
2. HCJC (9-2) 45.5
3. Hill (7-3) 43.4
4. S. Plains (9-2) 42.8
5. Odessa (5-3) 41.8
6. McLennan (7-2) 40.8
7. NMJC (3-4) 39.8
8. Clarendon (5-4) 38.8
9. Cisco 37.8
10. Ranger 36.8

Recent scores: HCJC 94 South Western 60; HCJC 86 Cisco 71; HCJC 112 CCS 124; HCJC 106 Odessa 87; Wharton 80 Hill 72; Hill 90 Cisco 80; Cochise 86 NMJC 74; NMJC Fresh 89 NMJC 74; Amarillo 87 Prof. Kan. 85; Amarillo 89 Dodge City 84; Amarillo 88 Frank Phillips 80; Weatherford 83 North Tex. Freshmen 88; Weatherford 110 Navarro 87; Ranger 93 South Plains 94; Ranger 78 Oklahoma State, Fresh 81.

Ranger 85 Arkansas City 60; Ranger 79 Cisco 72; Ranger 79 Fort Worth Christian 69; Ranger 85 NMJC 84; St. Phillips 83 NMJC 80; Cisco 71; NMJC 65; MCC 97 Oklahoma City 79; MCC 80 Garvin 77; SPC 98 IOLA 89; SPC 89 Hardin-Simmons 80; SPC 98 Fort Scott 101; SPC 111 Parsons 77; Odessa 101 Southwest Christian 82; Odessa 81; St. Phillips 79; Ranger 97 Odessa 87.

Stellar team and will get stronger as the season progresses, Travis adds.

Only losses the Hawks have suffered this year are to North-eastern Colorado of Sterling in the Garden City tournament (by two points) and to CCSW (by 12 points) in the Odessa meet.

Jayhawks Take 9-2 Mark Into Game Friday Night

Through 11 non-conference games, the Howard County Junior College Jayhawks have averaged 93.7 points a start, compared to 80.8 for the opposition, while winning nine decisions.

The Big Spring collegians open defense of their Western JC Conference title here Friday night against Odessa College, a perennial challenger. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Sophomore Robert Jackson leads the Hawks in scoring with 220 points and a 20-point average. Closest to him in the scoring derby are freshman Sammy James, with 168 points and a 15.3 norm; and sophomore Mickey Wilson, 157 points and a 14.3 mean.

The Hawks have gone over the 100-point mark four different times this season — against Lubbock Christian, South Plains, Christian College of the Southwest and Odessa.

The win over Odessa was deceptive, coach Buddy Travis insists. The Wranglers have a stellar team and will get stronger as the season progresses, Travis adds.

Only losses the Hawks have suffered this year are to North-eastern Colorado of Sterling in the Garden City tournament (by two points) and to CCSW (by 12 points) in the Odessa meet.

Contacts Are Urged By CC

The sports and recreation committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce met Wednesday and proposed several recommendations to the new committee which will be formed in January.

Members of the 1968 committee, with Harold Davis as chairman, recommended that the 1968 sports and recreation group keep in closer contact with area schools who are in state playoff football games so that Big Spring could be used as possible playoff sites.

The committee also suggested that the chamber sponsor another golf tourney next year, and that continued support and assistance be given in securing a coliseum in Big Spring.

The group then urged further support and assistance to Howard County Junior College who will host the Region V National Junior College basketball tournament at Big Spring High School March 6-8, and for the American Business Club Relays here April 5.

Efforts to improve school playgrounds and parks also were urged through cooperation with the school district and city Parks and Recreation Board.

Takes Stroke Lead

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Bob Kiersky, Delray Beach, Fla., shot a 75 Wednesday and took a one-stroke lead over J. Wolcott Brown, Sea Girt, N.J., at the halfway mark of the American Seniors Golf Tourney. Kiersky has a 36-hole total of 148, Brown 149.

Just for kicks, here is the way they would line up under the old system.

Dick Butkus Is Applauded

CHICAGO (AP) — National Football League rivals painfully will agree that Dick Butkus of the Chicago Bears has followed his father's advice to the letter.

Butkus, named NFL defensive player of the week by The Associated Press for his linebacking Sunday against the Los Angeles Rams, operates on his Dad's admonition to:

"Have pride in my work and always finish what I started."

In the Bears' 17-16 victory which knocked the Rams out of the Coastal Division race, Butkus picked off passes, forced fumbles and caught a kickoff on which he handed off to return specialist Clarence Childs for an 88-yard play setting up the first Bear touchdown.

Butkus took the news of his AP honor while sitting on the sidelines Wednesday watching practice.

Explained head Coach Jim Dooley: "Dick was pretty well bruised up Sunday. He played a typical Butkus game Sunday. He simply is consistently great, game after game."

The former University of Illinois star now in his fourth pro season said:

"It's a fine honor, but everybody on our defensive unit played his best game of the season. The thing that probably made it outstanding for me was a fumble recovery and a pass interception."

Significant Events Affect City Affairs

Two significant things have occurred within the past year to affect the City of Big Spring fiscal affairs, Charles Smith, city secretary, told the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday.

One is the approval of a city sales tax; the other is the re-vamping of the fiscal system to mesh with computerization.

From the beginning as a state until 1967, Texas had confined municipalities largely to an ad valorem tax base. In that year, however, the state permitted cities to impose upon themselves an one-cent sales tax, and Big Spring voters affirmed this in a special election.

In calling the referendum, commissioners earmarked half of the proceeds for capital improvements, Smith continued, and thus the city will get double value out of its money by being able to pay cash for building projects. He was hopeful that this would take care of most ordinary capital needs.

Aside from contributing the other half to city operations, another benefit of the tax has been stabilizing city finances, said Smith, for instead of relying on annual payment of ad valorem taxes, the city now receives quarterly returns from the sales tax.

With addition of the computer system, the city is shifting more functions in this direction, he reported. The payroll is now being handled, the general ledger is being set up, a financial statement is being pulled, and eventually the city hopes to use it for water billing, tax statements, inventory control and other things.

"But I don't like to stress machinery," said Smith. "Our biggest asset is still the people who work for us, who must have understanding enough to work with other people who come to us with their problems."

Prosperity hasn't got into every home, and the staff has to exhibit human concern for people on the low run of the economic ladder, he said.

The club gave Willard Sullivan a standing round of applause when he was presented his life membership in the Texas Lions League for Crippled Children. President Clyde McMahon Jr. thanked Sullivan for his service.

Some Snow Job

BLUEFIELD W. Va. (AP) — Kenneth English of Jacksonville, Fla., bet his wife he could bring her home some snow after she told him she had never seen any. He hitchhiked north and 28 hours later gathered up some snow, filled two thermos bottles and headed home to collect on his bet.

Opening lead: Four of ♠
East's course of action in defending against South's four-heart contract was soundly conceived, but one slight slip along the way enabled the declarer to subvert his opponent's efforts.

West opened the four of spades, declarer played the ten from dummy, and East's jack won the trick. East was looking at two spade tricks and one in hearts, but the appearance of the dummy rendered it unlikely that the defense could do any further damage.

The only possible source for another trick would be a ruff in diamonds, provided, of course, that South had at least two of that suit. East was certain to get in again with the ace of trumps and West is marked with an entry in the form of the king of spades. East accordingly returned the eight of diamonds at trick two.

It was apparent to South that East must have a singleton diamond when he led directly into the dummy's imposing holding in that suit. Inasmuch as declarer could not draw trumps without letting the opposition in, he decided to direct his efforts toward severing the enemy's line of communications.

The ace and king of clubs were cashed on which South discarded a spade. The eight of clubs was played next and, when East played the jack, declarer did not ruff. Instead, he threw his last ruff. East could not put West in now for the diamond ruff, and South was able to go about the business of drawing trumps without any further threat.

East could have thwarted declarer's counter-measures by unblocking in the club suit. When South cashes the ace and king of that suit, it should be apparent that he is short in that suit and intends to take a discard. East can, therefore, afford to drop the jack of clubs on the second round. When South leads a third club, East can now play the four—and declarer has no way of keeping West out of the lead. If South ruffs the club, West will get in later with the king of spades to give East the diamond ruff.

Wife Of Skipper Builds Pressure

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Lloyd Bucher, wife of the skipper of the USS Pueblo, says about 500,000 signatures supporting action to release the captured intelligence ship will be taken to Washington Saturday for delivery to the White House and the office of President-elect Nixon.

Mrs. Bucher, in accepting petitions containing 8,500 signatures demanding the release, said Tuesday that she hopes the Johnson administration will get the Pueblo crew home or that Nixon will use "new men with new ideas" to do it.

North Korea seized the Pueblo 322 days ago.

The signatures will be forwarded by the National Committee for Responsible Patriotism in New York, she said.

Dow Jones Isn't Stock Market Pro

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dow Jones isn't much interested in the stock market. He is the 49-year-old manager of the Danford Corp. plant in Los Angeles and says he didn't become aware of the "other Dow Jones" until he was 14 or 15 years old.

GI Bill Terms Are Reiterated

Dec. 1, liberalized the previous post-Korean GI Bill limit of one month of educational assistance for each month of service for veterans with at least 181 days of service, including some after Jan. 31, 1955.

Another provision of the law which went into effect Dec. 1 grants veterans with at least 18 months of continuous service after Jan. 31, 1955, who have satisfied their military obligation, the maximum of 36 months of educational assistance entitlement.

Sound Sleeper?

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — Police say a thief broke into the apartment of Filomena Marabito, 72, while she slept and rolled her 200-pound safe out of the apartment. It contained her savings of $1,000 in cash and several rings and watches.

TWELVE ANNOUNCED OFFICIALLY WEDNESDAY

Thumbnail Sketches Of Nixon's New Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are thumbnail sketches of the 12 men that President-elect Nixon has appointed to his cabinet in his upcoming administration.

SECRETARY OF STATE
William P. Rogers, in the words of one liberal, "is the kind of Republican who appeals to a Democrat like me."

It's an asset sure to help the 55-year-old former attorney general when he takes over as secretary of state in the Nixon administration.

But it is not the only reason—or even the most important—for his selection.

During long experience in government capped by the attorney generalship from 1957 to 1960 and a brief but successful brush with foreign affairs, Rogers has built a reputation as cool man under fire.

Nixon himself has said that it was Rogers that his thoughts turned when the president-elect was faced with three of the major crossroads he described in his best-selling book "Six Crises."

"He is always the best when the going is hardest," Nixon said of Rogers in announcing his appointment Wednesday night.

Rogers, tall and blond, evokes the words "pleasant" and "witty" from nearly everyone who describes him and from Nixon the accolade of "the best negotiator in the world."

Rogers' only close contact with foreign affairs came in 1965 when President Johnson appointed him to the U.S. delegation at the U.N. General Assembly.

Rogers left the government in 1950, but returned two years later as a deputy attorney general under Herbert Brownell, succeeding Brownell, in 1957. He was at Vice President Nixon's side during the "crisis" of the first heart attack as he had been earlier in campaign fund "crisis" that almost cost Nixon his spot on the Eisenhower ticket.

Rogers is married and the father of four.

SECRETARY OF DEFENSE
Melvin R. Laird, President-elect Nixon's appointee as secretary of defense, is no stranger to the whys and wherefores of the Pentagon.

The 46-year-old congressman from Wisconsin has spent 10 of his 16 years in the House as a member of the Appropriations subcommittee on defense and has developed a reputation as one of the Republicans' experts on the defense establishment.

In his running feud with former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, Laird often disputed the Johnson administration's statements and ultimately was correct.

Laird, the No. 3 GOP House member, has established himself as a hawk on Vietnam, although he has softened his position somewhat in recent months.

A Nebraskan by birth, Laird was brought up in Wisconsin. He entered politics as a 23-year-old state legislator, succeeding his father. After six years as a Wisconsin state senator, Laird was elected to Congress and started the long climb to power in his party.

In 1964, the year he helped in the overthrow of Rep. Joe Martin, he was chairman of the Republican National Convention Platform Committee. He has since become a dominant force on the GOP Coordinating Committee, the party's top-policy-making agency.

He is married and has three children.

TREASURY SECRETARY
The country's top banker under the Nixon administration, David M. Kennedy, didn't start his adult life intending to be a money man. Rather he wanted to be a lawyer.

But the realities of the Depression found Kennedy, son of a banker, going to work—for the Federal Reserve System, which oversaw the affairs of the nation's banks.

It was the start of a career that led Kennedy up through the world of Illinois banking, to becoming president and board chairman of Chicago's largest bank, the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co.

In appointing the 63-year-old Kennedy as Treasury secretary, President-elect Nixon has selected a man who says that his Mormon religion has humanized his attitude toward money. "Belief in God makes one more interested in others and their problems," Kennedy once said.

But he has said increased government spending isn't the answer to solving problems in the country.

"Partnership with private enterprise, including more loan guarantees and less federal spending," should be the role of government, Kennedy says.

Kennedy and his wife, Leona, have four children, all girls.

ATTORNEY GENERAL
If pipe-smoking, methodical John N. Mitchell, the new attorney general, didn't create the "New Nixon" presidential campaign, he at least made it go.

While serving as manager of the campaign, Mitchell once described his job as "programming the candidate."

A staff member termed it an apt analogy. "He operates with absolutely no passion," he said of Mitchell. "He's unflappable. He has a program ... and he adheres to it."

Mitchell, 55, ascended to the campaign post only about two years after the two came together for the first time, as partners in Nixon's New York law firm.

Mitchell is a Fordham law school graduate who specialized in state and municipal bonds. His political experience has all been advisory.

He was a commander of a PT boat squadron during World War II. Among his junior officers was John F. Kennedy.

Mitchell's position on civil rights and law enforcement is considered a largely unknown quantity.

SECRETARY OF LABOR
George P. Shultz, who was sought by Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy for advice on economics and labor relations.

The Nixon administration's labor secretary got his initiation into national policy discussions during the last two years of Eisenhower's first term, when he served as senior staff economist on the Council of Economic Advisers.

Shultz, who will be 48 Friday, then became consultant to Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

President Kennedy named him to the committee on labor-management policy.

Since 1960 Shultz mixed labor arbitration duties with his tasks as dean of the University of Chicago's graduate school of business administration, a post he's held since 1957.

He was a Marine major in World War II. He has five children.

POSTMASTER GENERAL
Winton M. Blount, who parlayed four war-surplus tractors into a $100 million business, will be faced with the task of postmaster general of organizing a federal agency that loses as much or more every year.

Blount, 47, is an Alabamian, from Montgomery, who opposed George Wallace in two races for governor and in his third party presidential candidacy this year.

As president of the state

Chamber of Commerce in 1965 he urged an end to violence against civil rights demonstrators and for respect of their civil liberties.

"I suppose you would basically call me a conservative, but I try to think of myself as progressive," Blount said earlier this year when asked to describe his political philosophy.

In 1946 Blount took over his father's sand and gravel business, purchased four war surplus tractors and founded Blount Brothers Corp., now a $100 million general contracting firm.

He is also president and chairman of another big piping contracting firm and serves on more than a dozen boards of business and civic enterprises.

A graduate of the University of Alabama, he is a veteran of World War II. Blount is married and has five children.

HEALTH, EDUCATION AND WELFARE
Wavy-haired Robert H. Finch, the Nixon lieutenant who reportedly could have had virtually any administration job he wanted, is to be secretary of health, education and welfare.

Finch, 43, who is constantly puffing nervously on cigarettes, has been a key Nixon adviser since the president-elect ran for Congress in 1946.

Finch was administrative assistant to Nixon during the last two years of his vice presidency and managed the unsuccessful 1960 presidential campaign.

This year he was a key Nixon adviser to Gov. Ronald Reagan, another potential candidate at the Republican convention.

And he worked with Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, a bitter Reagan enemy.

Finch had expressed some reluctance over moving to Washington, even though Nixon indicated Finch could have had virtually any White House spot he wanted.

He is married and has four children.

HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT
George Wilcken Romney will bring to his new job of secretary of Housing and Urban Development a firm belief that he can do anything he sets out to do—and a public record that proves he's been wrong only once.

"How can he do it?" a friend once asked the three-term Michigan governor as they watched an opposing player run wild against a Michigan State University football team.

"Because he thinks he can," answered Romney, who envisioned himself in November, 1967, as fighting and winning the Republican nomination for president.

It was this characteristic above all others that led many people to believe he just might have pulled it off although no public opinion poll then or until he withdrew just before the New Hampshire primary gave him a chance.

Born in Mexico of poor Mormon parents who fled persecution in the United States, the 60-year-old silver-haired Romney never knew major defeat in his climb from Washington lobbyist for the aluminum and auto industries, to chairman and savior of American Motors Corp., to reformer of the Michigan constitution to the Michigan state house where voters returned him three times by ever increasing margins.

Romney is a devout Mormon who abstains from tobacco, liquor and all such stimulants as coffee.

Besides this drive, Romney will bring to his new job under transportation, John A. Volpe, brings an experience to his new job that goes well beyond the political life that led him to three terms as governor of Massachusetts.

Starting as a member of his family's construction firm, Volpe moved into government in the 1950s. Appointed by President Eisenhower to be the nation's first federal highway administrator in 1957, Volpe directed the start of the nation's interstate highway system.

He left the federal government in 1960 to win his first term as Republican governor in his home state. He was defeated in 1962 for re-election, but regained the state house two years later. He won a four-year term in 1966.

As chairman of the National Governors' Conference, he continued his efforts to strengthen the nationwide highway program.

Volpe, 60, born to immigrant Italian parents, served as a Navy officer in World War II. Volpe is married to the former Jennie Benedetto and has two children.

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE
Maurice H. Stans brings to his new job as commerce secretary in the Nixon administration an expertise in financial affairs developed on high levels in both private and government

Stans, 60, entered adulthood as a saxophone player in his native Minnesota. But he soon moved into the world of commerce in Chicago and ultimately headed the nation's 10th largest accounting firm.

He became an investment banker and was appointed President Eisenhower's budget director from 1958 to 1961.

Regarded as a fiscal conservative, Stans is expected to continue the tight-belt economic philosophy he projected as budget director.

He played an active part in Republican party affairs after leaving the government and was a prime mover in raising money for Nixon's campaign this year.

Stans is married to the former Kathleen Carmody and they have four adopted children.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE
President-elect Nixon's selection of Clifford Hardin to be his secretary of agriculture projects into the national political scene a man little-known outside Midwestern educational circles.

Hardin, 53, has served as chancellor of the University of Nebraska for the last 14 years and has watched the school more than triple in size since he became its head. A man said by associates as having unshakable patience and perseverance, Hardin took little if any part in national or state politics, although he is a registered Republican.

Hardin was born and raised in Indiana's farm country and has spent most of his life involved in agricultural matters.

He rose to dean of Michigan State's agricultural economics department before being appointed in 1954 to run the University of Nebraska.

In recent years, the plain-speaking Hardin has traveled overseas for the federal government and on educational projects.

He is married to the former Martha Wood. They have three daughters and two sons.

Presidents To Meet In El Paso

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Presidents of the United States and Mexico meet Friday to mark, for the sixth time, the amicable settlement of a 100-year-old boundary dispute between the nations.

President Lyndon B. Johnson will join Mexico President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz on the Santa Fe international bridge over a new channel of the Rio Grande shortly before noon Friday.

A dynamite blast will remove an earthen dam as the last obstacle to the movement of the sluggish river water down the concrete-lined channel that runs the El Chamizal sector.

On the Mexican side of the new channel are 437 acres of land transferred from the United States to Mexico by terms of the Chamizal treaty.

On the U.S. side are 193 acres shifted from Mexico to the Texas side.

The new channel will be named after ailing former Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, who originally negotiated the Chamizal treaty with President John F. Kennedy in 1963.

Johnson and Diaz Ordaz formalized the treaty at an elaborate border ceremony in 1964 and met again at the river in October, 1967, to dedicate two new international bridges and new border crossing facilities on Cordova Island.

Total cost of the Chamizal settlement, including the new bridges, border inspection stations, relocation of railroad tracks and changing river channels, has been estimated at about $43 million. The cost does not include a planned Chamizal memorial park on U.S. land that formerly was in Mexico nor the new border expressway extending from downtown El Paso to the river.

After the bridge ceremony, Johnson will be host to Mexico's president at the Paso del Norte Hotel in downtown El Paso.

Johnson is expected to fly to his ranch west of Austin after the luncheon.

Diaz will meet Friday afternoon with a selected group of prominent businessmen and industrialists to discuss the need for a new border entry point to link the state of Chihuahua in Mexico with Texas and New Mexico.

The group will petition the president to make Anapra, N.M., a new border crossing point, to pave the Palomas-Casas Grandes highway which leads to Columbus, N.M., the paving of the Guadalupe-Portvenir highway to Ojinaga, across from Presidio, Tex., and for an international highway linking the northern Mexico states that border on the United States.

Large groups of Mexican secret agents and fully armed Mexican troops have been quartered in Juarez, across from El Paso, for special guard duty during the presidential meeting.

Juarez airport officials said they had been alerted for the possibility that President Johnson's plane might land at the Juarez International Airport as a final friendship gesture between the two presidents.

It's 'Nondinner' To Assist Poor

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The tables will be set for a banquet. There will be menus and a bill to pay—but no food or drink.

It's a "nondinner" at Sacramento State College Sunday evening. Sponsored by students, it will raise money to help make Christmas happier for poor families in the Sacramento area.

Leonard Starks, president of the Associated Students of Sacramento State, said they hope at least 600 persons will show up and pay for items ranging from a 10-cent soft drink to $5 for a steak. They'll get nothing of course, except a feeling of helping others.

MRS. BILLY W. CARLILE

Uses Color To Fight Boredom In Routine

By RHODA LEMONS

"I fight boredom and monotony in everything I do, and color is one of my weapons of defense," said Mrs. Billy W. Carlile of 1110 Mt. Vernon. Her favorite color is red and she uses it profusely in her home to brighten a dark corner, accent a striking accessory or as part of the furnishings.

Mrs. Carlile and her husband both work. He is a billing clerk at Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, and she is a procurement clerk at the Veterans Administration Hospital. The couple has two sons, Scott, 13, an eighth-grader at Goliad Junior High School, and Mike, 6, who attends St. Mary's Episcopal Church School. Also, there are three dogs which are part of the family. There is Tyrina, a beagle; Rumbaux, a pomeranian; and Miss Dapple, a dachshund.

Mrs. Carlile uses color in their home, in her clothing and in the food she prepares. She began her holiday cooking in November and will prepare, in advance, everything that can be put in the freezer. She prepares menus mentally for approximately two weeks and does her grocery shopping that often. It takes her approximately 45 minutes each day to prepare dinner for the family, and she usually serves a meat, vegetable and salad.

The Carliles' eldest son is active in all phases of sports at Goliad, and he is joined by his father who is basketball team manager. Scott plays football, baseball, basketball and goes out for track.

Mrs. Carlile believes that she must have time for creative effort to offset tensions of the day. She has refinished furniture, painted the house inside, and made a multiplicity of articles to decorate the home.

She has decorated a bouganvillea plant that is about three and one-half feet tall. She made a decorative cover for the base of the tree from felt and added sequin and flower trim. Then, she made satin Christmas balls, flowers and miniature reindeer which she used in trimming the tree.

In the past, she has made many Christmas presents such as miniature black lacquered jewelry or tidbit boxes, decorative larger boxes and, at present, she is working on Zodiac wall hangings based on red felt.

She has made a massive felt billiard table cover which is decorated with a variety of designs. Also, she has made a Christmas cloth for a small table in the den, and has decorated a miniature pine tree and made Christmas "hippie" dolls, which she has hung on the fireplace. She makes these in an assortment of colors and gives them as gifts to young relatives.

She has designed an unusual small chair which was originally a portion of a chest. She had the chair upholstered professionally and it now graces the family's living room. All of her furnishings are designed to be used in other places in the home, because Mrs. Carlile thinks that the household should be changed around often to add variety to living.

Mrs. Carlile bakes a number of things for the holidays, but makes very little candy. She thinks that her boys do not need the sweet, and so she uses the sugar for other things. For Christmas, Mrs. Carlile always makes a delicious soup from leftover turkey and prepares her husband's favorite dessert which is pineapple pie. Both recipes are listed below.

Carlile and his sons are motorcycle enthusiasts, and they spend a portion of their free time riding around the countryside. This is one sport that Mrs. Carlile does not really care for, so she spends the time they are away doing creative things.

Fat, Succulent Turkeys Ready For Shoppers

A Christmas song tells us that, with the approach of the Yuletide, the geese are "getting fat."

Well, the turkeys are already fat. If you're like many American families, you're planning turkey for the dinner table this Christmas.

More than likely the turkey you buy will be frozen, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In that case, allow plenty of time for thawing. Either place turkey in its original wrap under cold running water and allow two to six hours for thawing. Or leave bird in its original wrap, place on tray in refrigerator and allow one to three days for thawing.

Turkeys of any size may be roasted. But, roasting should always be done in one continuous cooking period. For best results, follow these simple directions:

Rinse bird with cold water, drain and pat dry. Rub cavity of bird lightly with salt, if desired. Do not salt if stuffing is used. If stuffing is used, fill wishbone area (neck) lightly and fasten neck skin to back with skewer. Then fill cavity lightly. (Allow one cup stuffing for each pound of ready-to-cook weight. Extra stuffing may be baked in loaf pan or casserole the last hour of turkey cooking and, if desired, basted with pan drippings.) Fold wing tips onto back. Push drumsticks under band of skin at tail, if present, or tie them to tail.

Place turkey on rack in shallow roasting pan, breast side up. Brush skin with fat. If roast meat thermometer is used, insert it so that bulb is in center of inside thigh muscle or thickest part of breast meat. Be sure thermometer bulb doesn't touch bone. Do not cover. Do not add water.

Place turkey in preheated slow oven (325 degrees). When turkey is two-thirds done, cut cord or band of skin at drumsticks.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports plentiful supplies of turkeys at markets now, so you should have no trouble finding just the right size bird for your family's needs. But there should be no worry over leftover turkey, either. It will come in handy for many tasty dishes following the Christmas dinner.

SCALLOPED TURKEY AU GRATIN

2 1/2 cups diced, roasted turkey
1/2 cup water
10 1/2 oz. can condensed cream of chicken soup
1/2 cup cubed Cheddar cheese
1/2 tsp. thyme
1/4 tsp. basil
1/4 cup finely crushed cracker crumbs

Combine turkey, soup, water, cheese and seasonings in a buttered 1 1/2 quart casserole. Top with cracker crumbs. Bake in a 400-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes, or until bubbly. Serve with Chinese noodles.

TURKEY CHOWDER

1 1/2 cups chopped, roasted turkey
1 large onion, sliced
1/2 cup sliced celery
2 tbsps. butter

Add Flair To Kabobs Of Lamb

Marjoram is an herb related to the mint family. Because of this it has a special affinity for lamb.

When the lamb is ground, points out Reba Staggs, meat authority, it's possible to mix this herb thoroughly with the meat. Add bacon and tiny pickled onions and you have the makings for a very palatable kabob that can be broiled inside or out-of-doors, in about the same length of time.

KABOBS WITH FLAIR

1 1/2 lbs. ground lamb
1/4 tsp. marjoram
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 bottle (8 oz.) pickled onions
4 slices bacon, cut in half
8 wooden skewers

Combine ground lamb, marjoram, salt and pepper. Shape about two tablespoons of meat mixture around each of 24 small pickled onions, forming 24 small balls. Thread meat on skewers as follows: insert skewer in end of 1/2 slice of bacon, then into a meat ball, an onion, the bacon, a meat ball and into the other end of the 1/2 slice of bacon. Continue with the remaining seven skewers.

Set regulator for broiling. Place kabobs on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so the top surface of kabobs is three to five inches from heat. Broil on one side six to eight minutes or until brown, turn and broil on second side six to eight minutes or until done. Makes six to eight servings.

COCONUT MYSTIQUE Try new exotic dessert

Plan Caroling Party For Christmas Week Event

Not everything mysterious comes from the East. Coconut Mystique — an eye-filling Turkish delight — pops right out of the homemaker's kitchen.

What a pleasure to have an exotic, easily made dessert that can be prepared hours ahead, or even the night before.

At Christmastime, why not plan a caroling party. In from the cold, the group can be warming up with mugs of hot chocolate while you garnish this golden spectacular with holiday decorations.

COCONUT MYSTIQUE

1 pkg. vanilla wafers (12 ounces)
1 cup butter (1/2 pound)
2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 tsp. almond extract
3 jars strained apricots with tapioca (4 1/2 ounces each)
1 pkg. flaked coconut (3 1/2 ounces)

Whipped cream
Maraschino cherries
Dragees and nuts, optional

Between waxed paper, crush wafers into very fine crumbs (there should be about 3 1/2 cups); set aside. Cream butter until light and fluffy. Gradually beat in sugar. Beat in eggs,

ALMOND POUND CAKE

1 cup cooking oil
3 cups unsifted flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup soda
1 cup buttermilk
2 tps. almond extract
4 eggs
3 cups sugar

Mix ingredients together and put in greased and floured pan, either tube pan or Bundt pan. Bake approximately 45 minutes at 350 degrees. (Test cake for doneness because sometimes it takes longer to bake.)

OATMEAL COCONUT CRISPIES

1 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup granulated sugar
2 well-beaten eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/4 tsp. allspice
1 1/4 cups quick cooking oats
1 1/4 cups flaked coconut
3/4 cup chopped nuts

Thoroughly cream shortening and sugars, add eggs and vanilla. Beat well, sift dry ingredients and add to creamed mixture. Add oats, nuts and coconut. Mix well, drop by teaspoon on cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes. Makes five dozen cookies.

GOOD AND PRETTY Easy to prepare in hurry

'Nuttty' Party Pudding Will Surprise Guests

It would be hard to find a company dessert as pretty, as delicious and as easy to make as this recipe from the walnut kitchen. It's a rich, velvety, smooth, Spanish cream type of pudding with a hint of coffee and maple, and its creamy texture is flecked with the luscious crunch of walnuts and semi-sweet chocolate morsels — the "cookin' cousins" of the flavor world. For more wonderful walnut recipes, send for the rave-notice cookbook of over 200 round-the-menu delicacies. It's a superb collection of hors d'oeuvres, salads, gourmet entrees, hot breads, candies, cookies and many elegant desserts. Only 50 cents mailed with your name and address to Diamond Walnut Recipe Gems, Dept. MA, Box 401, Clinton, Iowa 52732.

Chop walnuts and chocolate morsels medium-fine. Sprinkle gelatin over one-half cup milk to soften. Heat remaining one and one-half cups milk. Add sugar, salt, instant coffee powder and maple flavoring. Stir in a little of the hot liquid into beaten eggs. Return to moderate heat; cook, stirring several minutes longer. Add softened gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Remove and cool, then chill until custard begins to thicken. Fold in walnuts and chocolate. Gently fold in stiffly beaten cream. Turn into lightly oiled four or five-cup mold. Chill firm. Unmold and decorate with walnut halves. Makes eight servings.

Store Tomatoes At Room Temperature

Most fresh tomatoes keep their flavor and texture better if stored at room temperature — out of the sun — rather than in the refrigerator. The greenhouse variety will last as long as two weeks. To chill, place in cold water or refrigerator for a short period.

WALNUT PARTY PUDDING

1 cup walnuts
1 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 1/2 envelopes plain gelatin
2 cups milk, divided
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. instant coffee powder
1/2 tsp. maple flavoring
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup whipping cream

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Used By Mrs. Billy W. Carlile

- SHRIMP VIENNESE
- 4 large mushrooms, diced
1 tsp. finely chopped onion
1/4 lb. butter
1 tsp. flour
1 tsp. chopped fresh dill or 1 tsp. dried dill
1/2 cup chicken broth
1/2 cup light cream
Juice of 1/2 lemon
salt and pepper
1 tsp. white wine
1 lb. cooked, peeled and cleaned shrimp
2 cups cooked rice
- Cook mushrooms and onion in half the butter until onions are pale yellow. Add flour and dill. Mix well; add broth and cream. Bring to boil; add lemon juice, salt, pepper and wine. Simmer until barely thickened, and add shrimp. Put rice in bottom of buttered casserole, and pour sauce on top. Distribute rest of butter in pieces over all, and bake at 325 degrees for 15 minutes. Do not overcook. Serves three or four. Best when made the day before or can be made even further ahead and frozen. For eight to 10 servings, use six pounds of shrimp.
- TURKEY SOUP
- 1 turkey carcass
3 chicken bouillon cubes
1/2 cup celery
3/4 cup shredded carrots
1 to 1 1/2 cups brown rice
2 tps. parsley
Dash of celery salt
Salt and pepper to taste
Any leftover pieces of turkey, cut fine
- Barely cover carcass of turkey with water and bring to boiling point. Simmer overnight and strain broth. Add three bouillon cubes, celery and shredded carrots. Simmer until tender, about 30 minutes, add cooked brown rice, parsley, celery salt and seasonings. Add leftover turkey.
- NUTMEG LOGS
- 3 cups flour
1 tsp. nutmeg
1 cup butter
3/4 cup sugar
1 egg
2 tps. vanilla
2 tps. rum flavoring
- Sift together flour and nutmeg. Cream butter and sugar and blend in egg and flavorings. Gradually add dry ingredients and mix together. Shape into logs one-half inch in diameter, cut in three inch lengths and bake at 350 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes.
- ICING
- 2 tps. butter
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. rum flavoring
1/2 cup confectioners sugar
2 or 3 tps. evaporated milk
Mix butter, vanilla and rum flavoring, blend in confectioners sugar and add milk.
- PINEAPPLE PHILLY PIE
- 2 eggs
2 cup sugar
1/2 cup pineapple juice
2 tps. grated lemon rind (optional)
- 1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese
1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese
1 9-inch baked pastry (Crumb crust is best)
1/2 pt. whipping cream, whipped and sweetened
1 small can crushed pineapple, well drained
- Beat eggs in top of double boiler with spoon, add sugar, juice and rind. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until custard is thick and smooth. Cool, gradually add to cream cheese, blending until smooth in mixer. Add small can crushed pineapple, well drained. Fold in approximately one-half cup of the whipped cream. Pour in pastry shell and chill overnight. Garnish with whipped cream.
- TORTE
- 1 pound cake cut in layers

A Devotional For The Day

What have you that you did not receive? If then you received it, why do you boast as if it were not a gift? (I Corinthians 4:7, RSV)

PRAYER: Be patient with us, our Father, as we come humbly into Thy presence. Dwell in our hearts, helping us to be like Thy Son in thought, attitude, and decision. In His name we make our prayer. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Student Unrest

Gov. John Connally undoubtedly spoke for a majority of Texans when he called upon colleges and universities to adopt clear, concise regulations to deal with student disturbances.

"Students must be taught firmly that a college or university is not a supermarket whose customers are always right," Connally said, addressing a meeting in Austin of alumni directors, officers and magazine editors from Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana. "What sets it (a college) apart from general society is its emphasis upon the gathering, sharing and using of knowledge, and by its pursuit of truth."

Student activism or unrest is not basically evil if it results in a better society, he added, "but the sad result of student activism by the new left of our day is just the opposite... (the) extremists... are tough, smart, dedicated and absolutely serious. They constitute a most serious problem for higher education."

Finally, in the best tradition of the democratic process, Connally said that "respect for the democratic principle of open discussion and the right to hold and to present differing opinions carries with it the obligation to allow speakers to speak and to permit audiences to listen."

Having said this, though, would it be wise to ignore the basis for student unrest? Obviously not. Students are disenchanted for a number of reasons. One is the dreadful impersonality of many of our big schools — what student, for instance, can preserve an identity at the University of Texas among more than 30,000 other students? One is the heavy layers of insulation which protect the administration from any effective communication with students. One is the preoccupation of top-flight teachers with research, to the detriment of their teaching. One is the resentment of the "father knows best" syndrome.

At the heart of much of the student discontent, though, is their feeling that the generation of their fathers and grandfathers has pretty much made a botch of things. It may be unfair, but it is there.

Much can be preserved, therefore, if we are prepared to listen attentively to our children. The reservoir for good, new ideas is not restricted to their elders. Our children want to feel that they are to some degree being understood.

Letters To Servicemen

The Daily Review in Hayward, Calif., came up with the idea of sending a letter six miles long to servicemen in Vietnam. People were encouraged to address a card or letter to "Our Servicemen in Vietnam..." and then combining this into one massive letter.

The deadline for that has slipped by, but we appreciate the thought behind the project.

It's not too late to write a personal note to any serviceman you may know who is stationed in Southeast Asia — or anywhere overseas, for that matter.

So why not sit down today and send just a little note to those fellows, assuring them that they are not forgotten, and particularly not so at Christmas time? Who knows what this might do to relieve their loneliness at a time of the year when it is easy to be terribly lonely. Won't you do it — now?

Congress And Texas Major Projects Approved Or Funded

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 90th Congress in its second session passed bills to help Texans. Nothing Congress did, however, had the impact of the decision by Lyndon B. Johnson not to seek reelection.

For five years, Texas has wielded more power than nearly any other state, with its bevy of House committee chairmen and with a native son in the White House.

The long-range results of Johnson's decision not to run are still being debated among Texans in Washington.

In legislative actions, the 90th Congress will be remembered by backers of the $111 million Trinity River project for its appropriation to help build high bridges across what is planned as a barge canal up the Trinity.

TWO REPUBLICANS opposed money for the bridges, saying the action would set a precedent and signal approval of over-all navigation feature of the Trinity project. The GOP protests apparently kept the bridge money out of the public works bill as it cleared the committee and the House didn't add any.

At this time, however, the results of a Trinity review ordered by Congress three years ago were revealed by the Corps of Engineers. It said the canal was even more feasible than first thought in 1965 and the benefits-to-cost ratio had risen from 1.4 to 1 to 1.5 to 1.

The Senate Appropriations Committee added money for the bridges, pushed by committee member Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and at the urging of Rep. Jim Wright, Fort Worth Democrat. The White House also was reported interested in nailing down some initial funds. Finally appropriated was $850,000.

TEXAS' PORTION of the national public works construction bill was an appropriation of $33.7 million. In the public works projects authorized, the largest in Texas was a $36.8 million Palmetto Bend Dam reclamation project in Jackson and Calhoun counties in Southeast Texas.

Congress also agreed to pay the first of two court suits settling the purchase of land for the already opened Padre Island National Seashore. Rep. John Young, Corpus Christi Democrat, and Yarborough had asked that at least the first award be paid since interest was accumulating on the unpaid amount at $1,000 a day.

IN ANOTHER case involving park land, the Senate Appropriations Committee took $200,000 away from an eastern park fund and all of it went for a down payment on Guadalupe Mountains National Park property. The park was authorized in 1966 but because of the budget pinch no money has been furnished to buy the 77,000 acres. The park is about 100 miles east of El Paso along Texas' border with New Mexico.

A 300-mile stretch of the Rio Grande in far West Texas will be studied to see if it should be included in the national Wild and Scenic Rivers system created by the 90th Congress. The Texas portion extends from western Hudspeth County to eastern Terrell County. Seventy miles of the Rio Grande in New Mexico was declared part of the system now.

Rep. O. C. Fisher, San Angelo Democrat, successfully fought to keep part of the Guadalupe River from being considered for the scenic system. A delegation from Kerrville and other Hill Country points opposed the bill's inclusion of the Guadalupe.

Thank God For The Differences

NEW YORK (AP) — We live in confused times, and few things are more confusing than the sexes themselves.

It is getting harder to tell them apart as men and women tend to ape each other more in manners, dress and talk. Some say that differences between the sexes aren't of much importance any longer anyway. They feel that society is headed toward a future in which there will be only one gender—unisex.

While such a situation certainly would end the present puzzle, there are those among us who are old-fashioned enough to prefer a world in which there are two sexes—and ways to distinguish them.

THERE IS NO DOUBT it has become increasingly difficult to tell the sexes apart, and it is certainly far more difficult than the traditional task of separating the sheep from the goats. But there are means available to do the job in most cases.

For example: If it is too lazy to scrub out the ring it leaves in the bathtub, it is probably a boy. If it wears more than one ring on its fingers, it is probably a girl.

Does it enjoy playing house? It is a little lass. Would it rather scoot around the floor pushing a toy fire engine? It is a little lad.

DOES IT WEAR rubber gloves to protect its hands while doing the dishes? It's a wife. If it moans and groans and says that, after all, washing dishes isn't its line of work, it's a husband.

Could it dance the night away at a fraternity prom and still look dewy-fresh at dawn? That's a coed. Would it rather after swinging its partner around the floor once, sneak out and pitch woo in a parked car? That's Joe College.

Do the pockets of his slacks bulge with junk it has no real need for? Put it down for a young gentleman. Can't it ever manage to carry even its own pack of cigarettes and matches in its slacks? Put it down to be a young lady.

Does it like to pick up an infant and toss it into the air and catch it? That's the Papa. Does it hold the infant to its bosom with one hand while it tries to butter a piece of breakfast toast with the other? That's the Mama.

DOES IT KEEP its old love letters tied in ribboned packets and like to take them out and have a good cry reading them on rainy days? That is the Mrs. Does it sometimes get in trouble by leaving new love notes crumpled in a suit to be sent to the cleaners? That is the Mr. — and he's a rascal, he is.

Is it sometimes willing to admit its errors and take the blame for them? It is a man. Does it always try to conceal its mistakes and like to be flattered for its faults? It has to be a woman.

Is it a teenager? There is no known way for an adult to determine by himself the sex of a teenager. They all look and act alike. All you can do is put another teenager into the room and wait and see what happens. They seem able to tell each other apart—but just how no one knows.

John Cunniff Swaps Jobs Every 10 Years

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Can a college dean with no previous experience in banking find success and happiness in the intricate world of high finance at the age of 56?

Perhaps he can if he is competitive by nature, feels he has plenty to offer, is willing to take on the double task of learning and performing at the same time, and is ready to admit the task will kill him or stimulate him.

THAT, AT LEAST, is a partial portrait of the man who is doing it, Ernest Arbuckle, former dean of the Stanford Graduate School of Business and now chairman of Wells Fargo Bank, San Francisco-based but worldwide in influence.

In the job four months now, Arbuckle concedes that it is tough to learn and perform simultaneously but already he has decided that the job will stimulate rather than kill him.

Swapping jobs is nothing new to the former dean, who shifts completely every 10 years.

For 10 years—with time out for combat Navy service in World War II—he was an executive with Standard Oil of California. After that came a decade with W.R. Grace & Co. and then 10 years with Stanford.

"REPOTTING," said Arbuckle in an interview, "that's how you get a new bloom." But not everyone should try to blossom out anew, he feels.

To Your Good Health Cystic Mastitis And Cancer Risk

Before his death, Dr. Joseph G. Molner had completed and published "The Everyday Medical Handbook," which gives the answers to many questions on family health. Copies may be obtained by writing the Fawcett Publications, Dept. HH, Fawcett Place, Greenwich, Conn., 06930, and enclosing check or money order payable to Dr. Molner book in the amount of $2.50 plus 25 cent handling. Please mention The Big Spring Herald in your order.

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please discuss cystic mastitis. Does one get rid of it, or does cancer eventually develop?—R. P.

I realize that the term "cystic mastitis" is generally used to refer to this problem of cysts forming in the breast, but the better term is "fibrocystic disease of the breast." Mastitis is actually a quite different ailment, inflammation of the breast but with or without the presence of cysts.

Fibrocystic disease is common enough to cause a good deal of worry, not to mention the discomfort it can cause — ranging from none in some patients to a good deal of pain in others.

The ailment is an enlargement or encysting of the milk-producing glands of the breast. These cysts (clogged glands) may or may not reach a size which the patient identifies as a lump. And most women are well alerted to be on watch for a lump in the breast, because it is a sign which may mean cancer.

Thus, thousands of women rush off to the doctor — quite rightly — when they find such cysts. Usually, and not surprisingly, most of them are scared to death that it means cancer.

When the trouble proves to be a cyst, it is a great relief — but the cysts still should be watched, and in some cases treated.

These cysts ordinarily are not cancerous. They should be followed closely, however, because cancer is known to develop in them, although in a very small percentage of cases.

This fibrocystic disease, besides being to some extent unsightly (because of the lumps) can become painful. The cysts are more likely to become tender during menstrual periods.

Aspirating (withdrawing through a hollow needle) of the fluid in such a cyst is sometimes done for two purposes. Examination of the fluid helps determine whether it is benign or cancerous. It also relieves the pressure and discomfort.

Several other methods are employed to decide whether a lump is a cyst or a cancer: cysts usually are removable; cancer is more firmly fixed and moves very little. Cysts are likely to be multiple; cancer starts in a single spot (although, of course, it later spreads).

A group of cysts may appear to be a single lump, in which case removal and microscopic examination may be necessary to be sure. Mammography (X-ray examination of the breasts) also is proving increasingly helpful in diagnosis.

Thus, to answer today's specific question, cancer does not as a rule develop from or in the cysts, although occasionally it may. So it pays to remain on guard.

When cysts become sufficiently troublesome, they can be removed surgically, but this does not guarantee that one will be "rid of the trouble." Unfortunately, cysts tend to recur — some women are subject to this type of trouble, while others are not.

It is a disease of adult maturity; if cysts are going to develop, they usually do so before menopause rather than after.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our son is engaged to a girl who said she had rheumatic fever when she was about 12. What effect might this have on bearing children, or on the children themselves? She seems now to be in excellent health. —D.E.W.

The big danger is that the disease sometimes causes heart damage. Other than that, there is no reason why it should have any bearing on having babies, or on the babies.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper, requesting a copy of the booklet, "How to Control Emphysema," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 30 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Incurable Optimist

IN A WORLD where they are scarce, A. D. Blount was an optimist. And if untiring, hard work blended with optimism creates success, then he had that too.

His first pet shop here on the west highway was successful, so much so that he dreamed of a huge indoor zoo, to delight animal fanciers year-round. He launched this dream into reality, but lack of capital and low attendance finally forced him to back a more solid base.

ALONG THE way, however, he made thousands of friends — most of them youngsters who visited his zoo in school groups, and who sent him hundreds of letters of thanks.

His infectious good humor attracted a group from Webb AFB, who tirelessly helped him build the "barnyard" area, where young city children might mingle with typical farm animals. At one time, he had a refreshment stand and some amusement rides.

A VISITOR to the Pet-A-Zoo inevitably found Blount hard at work, patching the roof, grooming a poodle, or welding a broom. At one time, every step he managed to take forward, was offset by a setback. He had planned a huge aquarium, but lightning struck to break it. His llamas broke loose one night, over ate in the monkey biscuits, and died. A bear was struck by a car, and some seals he was boarding died.

THROUGH ALL these calamities, he maintained his remarkable good humor, but most of all, he was eternally optimistic. He always expected the very best was just around the corner.

Almost by accident, he built some shipping crates for animals, and these turned out to be in high demand. He found there were few suppliers, and began wholesale production, sending them out by the truckload. Finally, it seemed his optimism was paying off.

I DIDN'T know who he was the first time I saw him, but it came to be a relatively common sight. He was driving down Fourth Street in a pickup truck, smiling as usual and waving at passersby, shocked at the sight of the huge lion sitting beside him in the seat.

He stopped at the Herald once to show off the cutest tiger cub you ever saw, and which grew into a huge cat that gave me some nervous moments at the Pet-A-Zoo once, when Blount allowed it out of the cage. He hung on to the tail desperately, when the tiger decided to visit with the patrons. Later, I laughed too.

Busy as he was, he always had a few moments to visit; and he always left me laughing.

What The Student Rioters Want

WASHINGTON — Those of us who try to keep abreast of student affairs have noticed that student riots are taking on a pattern. The script reads something like this:

Dean of students arrives on campus. Students start throwing rocks, dirt and tomatoes at him, and try to hit him over the head as they scream, "Amnesty! Amnesty!"

Dean of students, as he tries to protect himself, yells back, "What do you want amnesty from?"

STUDENTS: "From attacking you. We demand that you sign a paper that we won't be punished for throwing things at you and trying to hit you over the head."

Dean: "But why should I do that? Wouldn't it be better if you didn't attack me?"

STUDENTS: "Spoken like a bourgeois racist. You don't even care to listen to what we have to say."

Dean: "I'd be happy to hear what you've got to say, if you'd just stop throwing things at me. I can't listen when I'm constantly ducking."

STUDENTS: "Obscenity — what do you have to say to that?"

Dean: "I didn't understand the question."

STUDENTS: "You don't want to understand the question. Obscenity, obscenity, obscenity."

Dean: "Very interesting."

STUDENTS: "What about the draft?"

Dean: "I don't know anything about the draft. My specialty is anthropology."

STUDENTS: "Black is beautiful."

Dean: "That's very good. Why are you throwing that chair at me?"

STUDENTS: "The system stinks and we have nothing to say about the crummy, capitalistic, profit-making establishment."

Dean: "I assure you that whether you throw that chair at me or not, it is not going to help your cause. It could even hurt it."

STUDENTS: "We don't have a cause. We have certain demands and if they're not met in two hours, we're going to burn down the library."

Dean: "What good will that do?"

STUDENTS: "It will bring about the needed reforms in education."

Dean: "Without books?"

STUDENTS: "You're trying to hold a dialog with us."

Dean: "Heaven forbid."

STUDENTS: "If you don't agree to sign a paper giving us amnesty, we'll close down the school."

Dean: "I don't have the authority to give you amnesty. But I won't press any charges against you, if you'll only stop hitting me with those table legs."

STUDENTS: "You're patronizing us. Aren't we even grown up enough to have charges pressed against us?"

Dean: "All right, I'll press charges against you then, if that's what you want."

STUDENTS: "We knew you would, you South Vietnamese puppet."

Dean: "Now you've gone too far. You're all suspended from this school."

STUDENTS: "What about due process? Don't we even get a trial?"

Dean: "You will, after you're all expelled."

STUDENTS: "Up against the wall! Up against the wall!"

Dean: "You said it, I didn't."

STUDENTS: "Don't we have any constitutional rights at all?"

STUDENTS: "The system stinks and we have nothing to say about the faces. The military has one idea, and Congress often has another.

AS FOR THE administrative side of the Defense Department, Secretary McNamara, in his seven years in the Pentagon, had from 12 to 15 assistant secretaries, and he delegated the responsibility of management largely to his deputy secretary, particularly from 1964 to 1967 when Cyrus Vance held that post.

Prior to the time that Congress enacted the law creating a secretary of defense and requiring the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force to be subordinate to him, there was rivalry between the armed services, but fundamentally each one concentrated on what could be done to build a strong defense for the country. The civilian heads of the Army, Navy and Air Force might well be given more latitude and more power to deal with their respective problems than they have had since "unification" in 1947.

REPRESENTATIVE LAIRD has the confidence of the Senate as well as the House, and knows his way around Congress. He is conscientious and insists on getting all the facts before making up his mind. He has dealt with many officials from the Pentagon while serving on the defense sub-committee in the House. He, therefore, can be regarded as a knowledgeable man in the field of defense organization as well as policy.

To Get Away

DEER LODGE, Mont. (AP) — The state prison in Deer Lodge recently became the first institution in state history to have an organized library.

More than 2,000 books were sent to the prison by the state library in Helena.

Lena Cooper, an employee of the Helena office, said the most frequent requests from inmates are for travel books.

Clinic Slated For Children

Jim Thompson, director of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center has announced a Crippled Children's Clinic for Dec. 21. The clinic, jointly sponsored by the Howard County Easter Seal society and the Center will open at 9 a.m. on that date.

Parents of children may pre-register by calling the Center or registering the day of the clinic up to noon.

The Center's medical advisory committee will supervise the clinic. Members of this group are Dr. B. Broadrick, Dr. W. M. Talbot Jr., Dr. Nell W. Sanders, Dr. Louise Worthy, and Col. Parker.

NO CHARGE

Dr. Thurston Dean, orthopedic surgeon from Midland, will be medical director of the clinic. He will be assisted by Dr. Pete Rhymes, Big Spring orthopedic surgeon.

Local pediatricians will alternate in providing pediatric services for the clinic. Dr. Worthy will serve as head pediatrician for the clinic.

Thompson said all children up to 21 years of age are eligible to attend. Children from the surrounding area will be accepted as well as local youngsters. It is hoped children from Lamesa, Colorado City, Snyder, Lorraine, Stanton, Sterling City, Garden City and other communities will be on hand and a special invitation is extended to them to come to the clinic.

No charge will be made for the services rendered.

Parents of crippled children who wish to have their youngsters seen at the clinic should contact their family doctor in order to have them properly referred. If there is no family doctor the parents should contact the Center or register on the day the clinic is held.

PURPOSE

Purpose of the clinic is to offer diagnostic and evaluation services to children through team approach. This team will be made up of an orthopedic surgeon, pediatrician, physical therapist, speech therapist, public health nurse and brace man.

It is felt that by utilizing the team approach a better evaluation of the child's treatment program can be

Dock Workers Strike Looms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation may face a longshoremen's strike next week in East Coast and Gulf Ports.

A majority of some 30,000 union members voted Wednesday to reject the latest shipper's contract offers.

The rejection reopens the prospect of a walkout when a federal cooling off injunction expires Dec. 20.

President Johnson ordered the use of the Taft-Hartley "cooling off" clause about two months ago as a strike loomed.

The National Labor Relations Board supervised the election procedures. The vote was 14,379 to 1,112 against the management's offer to boost wages from $3.62 to $4.25 an hour over a three-year period.

Union officials will be free to call for a strike at the end of the 80-day injunction next week.

Government sources said negotiators were resuming in New York in an effort to avert the strike.

The vote was taken in the ports of New York, Seaport and Portland, Maine; Boston, Mass.; Providence, R.I.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Hampton Roads, Va.; Miami and Port Everglades, Fla.; and South Atlantic Ports from Moorehead City, N.C., to Tampa, Fla.

Some 10,000 eligible longshoremen in other Gulf of Mexico Ports did not vote though they are bound by the majority action in the other ports. They were not permitted to vote because the management offers were not final.

15 Ministers Tour Webb AFB

Fifteen civilian ministers from Big Spring and neighboring communities toured Webb AFB yesterday morning in conjunction with a Pastor's Day arranged by Lt. Col. Robert T. Deming, wing chaplain.

The group received a briefing on the base mission during a stop in the 350th Pilot Training Squadron. Other stops included visits to the flight simulators, static displays of the Webb aircraft and a mobile control unit along the T-38 runway. The ministers, who ate lunch in the Airman's Dining Hall, were welcomed to the base by Col. William C. McGlothlin, wing commander.

Water Did Not Net Dividends

LAMESA — Watering grain sorghum failed to pay extra dividends in Dawson County this year. This, according to LeRoy Colgan, Dawson County Agricultural Agent, was demonstrated clearly by Dale Merrick on his farm.

Merrick used eight inches of irrigation and received 23 inches of rain in 1968 but his yield was about the same as dryland.

Colgan said that not enough seed was put down to take advantage of all the additional moisture but enough seeds were used to serve a normal year. Two pounds of seed per acre in solid rows was planted by Merrick and he used 50-0-0 fertilizer.

He received as much rainfall in 1968 as he would have received in a normal year plus two irrigations.

His yield per acre ranged from 3393 with HT-124 to 1,781 with ACCO R-102.

FLAVOR OF CONSERVATISM AND REPUBLICANISM

No Yes Men In Nixon Cabinet?

By WALTER MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon has chosen as the men to help him achieve his campaign goal of uniting the country a Cabinet flavored by business, conservatism, caution and Republicanism.

It features no dissident liberals, no Democrats and no Negroes.

In naming his selections Wednesday night, Nixon said they were not yes men. Nevertheless, he will have to look elsewhere for the outspoken sort of dissident which, during the campaign, he promised to heed as president.

OLD PALS

Typically, for the crucial top spots, Nixon chose men he knew well, old friends, many near his own age of 57.

William P. Rogers, 55, goes to the State Department with little diplomatic experience—but with something perhaps more important. He has the absolute confidence of the president-elect, a friend for more than 20 years. Indeed, in three of what Nixon has called his six crises, Rogers was at his side.

So, too, Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch, of California is a friend of two decades. Finch, 43, will head the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. But if past performance is any guide, he also will be a constant counselor within the White House itself.

Atty. Gen.-designate John N. Mitchell, 55, can be expected to fill a similar role. There, too, close personal ties and trust appear to have been a key factor in the selection of a Nixon law partner. Mitchell's field has not been that of crime fighting—a key item in Nixon's campaign talk of the man who would be his attorney general—but in the arrangement of state and municipal bonds.

'WE TRIED'

The Nixon Cabinet has its moderate to liberal Republicans. Finch fits that pattern, Michigan Gov. George Romney, 60, who is to be the secretary of housing and urban development, typifies it.

But in such selections as Rep. Melvin R. Laird, 46, of Wisconsin for secretary of defense, and of Maurice H. Stans, 60, to head the Commerce Department, Nixon has stood fast with the Republican establishment.

As a campaigner, Nixon indicated there would be Democrats, or at least a Democrat, in his Cabinet lineup.

"We tried," one aide said after the choices were announced. This was a reference to Nixon's offer to make Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington his secretary of defense. Jackson declined.

SHRIVER OFFER

In an evident effort to offset the shortage of Democrats, Nixon said a man of that party will be named U.S. ambassador to the United Nations. Sargent Shriver, now U.S. ambassador to France, reportedly has been offered that job.

A similar concern was evident when Nixon prefaced his Cabinet announcements by telling a national television audience that he is going to reappoint Walter Washington, a Negro, and a Democrat, to be mayor of the District of Columbia.

But the Cabinet itself is composed of five Republican politicians, three of them governors; two lawyers, two educators and three men from the world of banking and business.

Three of its members—Rogers, Stans and Massachusetts' 60-year-old Gov. John A. Volpe—held major posts during the administration of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. David Kennedy, 63, who is to be secretary of the Treasury, worked in that department during one of the Eisenhower years.

Scouts Collect Christmas Toys

Residents of Webb Village demonstrated Christmas spirit Saturday afternoon when 30 base Cub Scouts canvassed the housing area for repairable toys.

Toys collected by the Scouts were given to the Big Spring Fire Department for the firemen to repair. After repairs are made, the toys will be distributed to needy children by the Salvation Army.

Ground Is Broken For Big Airport

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Workmen began moving heavy equipment in position today to open the first phase of construction on the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport.

Local, state and federal government officials participated in formal groundbreaking ceremonies Wednesday at the point where the giant facility crosses the Tarrant-Dallas county line.

The $350-million airport—covering 30 square miles—will open Dec. 11, 1972, a spokesman said.

Secretary Alan S. Boyd of the U.S. Department of Transportation, speaking at a formal luncheon program, referred to the rivalry of recent years between Dallas and Fort Worth officials over air service facilities. He said the friction had formally ended with issuance of the work order.

'REAL DOOZY'

He called the long battle "a real doozy of a fight" and said the airport complex was "far ahead of anything else in the world."

With a 30 mile-an-hour wind whipping the some 300 persons gathered in the pasture for the ceremonies, officials mounted four huge bulldozers to kick off the construction.

Dallas Mayor Erik Jonsson, chairman of the airport board, arrived at the pasture site aboard a helicopter.

Jonsson was accompanied by Fort Worth's representative in the project, J. Lee Johnson III, the vice president of the board, and Secretary Boyd.

In the audience were executives and staff members from all of the nation's major airlines expected to use the unique terminal.

The ground breaking site was selected, officials said, because the city limits lines of three smaller cities come together at that point. The cities are Irving, Grapevine and Euless.

Passengers Eat Steak, Hijack Couple Wait

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Passengers aboard a hijacked jetliner ate steak in Cuba Wednesday while their calm hijacker and his woman companion waited for 6½ hours in a room at Havana airport.

Seven crew members and all but two of the 32 passengers aboard the inaugural flight of a Nashville-to-Miami Trans-World Airlines route returned to Miami Wednesday night aboard separate planes.

The hijack couple, both appearing in their 20s, were detained at the airport for 6½ hours before they were taken away by Cuban authorities. Newsmen in Cuba reported the man, who carried a trumpet, and the woman dozed on couches.

NOT BAD

Usually hijackers are met at the plane by Cuban authorities and whisked away immediately.

Two passengers, country singer Tex Ritter and professional golfer Mason Rudolph, said the Cubans fed the stranded travelers grapefruit juice, beer, steaks and sandwiches during their nine-hour stay.

"You had the feeling they were milking it for what it was worth," Ritter said after returning to Miami. "At the end of the day you decided they were pretty nice people. I think that's what they had in mind."

"It was not bad at all. I think most of the people rather enjoyed it except we had about a 2½ hours bus ride" to Varadero, where the passengers were picked up by a second plane, Ritter said.

FAIR FIGHT

Ritter said FBI agents showed him pictures of Eldridge Cleaver, fugitive Black Panther leader, and three other men but he could identify none of them as the hijacker. Federal authorities questioned the passengers for about an hour when they returned to Miami.

About the same time the hijacked plane was flying between Nashville and Havana, Cleaver's wife, Kathleen, was being interviewed in a friend's Manhattan apartment by a reporter for the New York Times.

"Officially," Mrs. Cleaver said, "the last time I saw Eldridge was Nov. 24. But unofficially, I saw him last night."

He's Encouraged By Opposition

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. Robert McAfee Brown, a Stanford University theologian, says he has been encouraged by the degree of opposition to Pope Paul's pastoral letter banning artificial methods of contraception.

"I had feared that many Roman Catholics would lapse into quiet despair but say nothing and do nothing about it. I couldn't have been more wrong," he said.

WANT AD FOR WEAK

ST. HELENS, Ore. (AP) — This classified ad appeared in Thursday's edition of the weekly St. Helens Sentinel-Mist-Chronicle:

"To the person or persons who stole my duck and goose decoys last weekend: They were yours to use any time you asked. You thought it took courage to steal them. If you would like to know what real courage is, bring them back. Be assured you will be the first person I will loan them to."

The ad was signed by Bill Nelson of Deer Island.

Christmas Party Date Changed

The American Legion Christmas party date has been changed from Sunday to Dec. 22 at 3 p.m. in the Legion Hut.

Host Art Pearce and hostess Mrs. F. L. Kemp plan a visit with Santa Claus and candy for the children, plus carols and refreshments for the Legion and Legion Auxiliary members.

City Computer Billing Target

City hall is making changes, so the new computer billing and accounting system can operate at full efficiency, according to city manager Larry Crow.

Finance director Charles Smith has set April 1 as the date on which all phases of the computer system will be in effect. At that time, the city payroll, water bills, tax statements, purchasing and general accounting will be computed by the system, Smith said.

The computer, which will be moved to the water department after that office is remodeled, will be used for water department billing Jan. 2, Smith said.

The city's financial statement information has been converted to computer data, according to Smith. A test run for the September financial statement was made Tuesday, and the system functioned as planned, he said. As soon as the proper forms come in, the formal statement will be run off, Smith said.

Statements for the city's financial condition for the months of October, November and December are scheduled to be run by Jan. 15, Smith said. At that time, the system will be completely updated, and monthly statements will be made, he said.

Records for the finance, tax and water departments will be consolidated in the remodeled portion of city hall on Dec. 29, if the current schedule continues, Smith said.

Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, is designing a new purchasing plan which will be used to control city expenditures, Smith said. This plan should go into effect, and the system be ready for the computer by Feb. 15, he said.

"There will be problems," said Crow. "But I am confident that they will be a matter of detail which we can work out and arrive at a more effective operation."

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Would She Buy His Love?

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, age 68. I have a pen pal, Oliver, who lives in another country. He is about my age, or a little younger. We have met several times and have found each other compatible in every way. I am very well fixed financially, but Oliver doesn't know how well. All he knows is that I own my own home, do not have to work, and can travel as much as I wish.

Oliver is an educated man, but considers himself "poor" and inferior because he doesn't earn a lot of money. His financial status doesn't matter to me. All I want is a loving man, and he is certainly that.

Oliver says he's not interested in marriage. He wants to remain just friends. I would like marriage. Should I tell him how well off I am financially? I don't want to buy his love. Please advise. NO NAME, PLS.

DEAR NO NAME: Why tell him how well-fixed you are financially? It might tip the scales in your favor, which would be more or less "buying" his love. And you say you don't want that. (Or do you?)

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion of an incident: A sister who has not spoken to me in nearly two years recently sent me a copy of an insurance policy she took out before she took an airplane trip, naming ME as the beneficiary.

Do you think she is trying to tell me something?

SURPRISED

DEAR SURPRISED: Yes. She still lacks the courage to start talking to you, but in the event of her death, she would like her money to talk for her. In other words, she's not as mad at you as she used to be.

DEAR ABBY: I am shook. I just encountered something so incredible I can neither grasp nor believe it.

I drive my neighbor lady to the dentist because she gets so panicky she can't drive herself there or back.

Today I took her for some extractions. She was cool as a cucumber on the way there, and she sat like a lump on the way back after having three teeth pulled! We stopped for tea on the way home.

I asked her what she took, and she said, "Nothing." Then she explained that according to KARMA, she must have injured someone in the mouth in a previous life, and now she is "paying her debt."

Abby, have you ever heard anything like it? I just can't get over it. But if this kind of philosophy can turn a hysterical woman into one who is calmly "paying her debt," there must be something to it.

I called her dentist to be sure he didn't give her something and he said he didn't. (He thought I was crazy for sure.) Can there be something to this? FLOORED BUT INTERESTED

DEAR FLOORED: "Karma" is, briefly, a "religion" or a way of life, based on the philosophy that whatever happens is "destiny." And one who is able to accept his "fate" with calm resignation can endure almost anything.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Miss Celia Fowler Gives Scout Talk

Miss Celia Fowler, District Girl Scout Advisor, gave the program at Tuesday's meeting of the National Association of Letter Carriers Auxiliary No. 1875. The group met in the First Federal Community Room.

Miss Fowler and Mrs. Bebra Tate, a Girl Scout troop leader, discussed the need for junior Scout and Brownie leaders and sponsors. The group made plans to sponsor both a junior and Brownie troop. Mrs. Melvin Brown was named representative to the troops.

A Christmas donation was made to a patient at the Veterans Administration Hospital, and holiday activities at the hospital were outlined. The group will sponsor two parties, decorate two trees and provide refreshments.

A Christmas party will be held Saturday evening with a progressive dinner beginning at First Federal Community Room.

The next meeting will be Jan. 14 in the Community Room, with Mrs. Wade Bledsoe as hostess.

Twin Club Has Holiday Party

The Mothers of Twins Club, along with their twins, met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Russell DeVore, 3305 Cornell, for a Christmas party. Thirty attended, and "Santa Claus" appeared to talk with the children. Cookies and punch were served, and stockings were given as favors. The women will have a party with their husbands Dec. 19 in the Downtown Tea Room at 7:30 p.m. Each is to bring a gift for the other.

Mrs. Alta King Is Circle Hostess

Mrs. Alta King, 702 E. 12th, was hostess for a Tuesday meeting of the Lalla Baird Circle of Wesley Methodist Church. Prayers were worded by Mrs. M. O. Hamby and Mrs. J. E. Peters, and the study of the Christmas story was led by Mrs. W. D. Lovelace. Refreshments were served to nine and the next meeting scheduled in the home of Mrs. David Pohl.

Shower Held For Miss Hartley

The R. E. Hickson home at 2708 Crestline, was the scene Monday evening of a Christmas program for the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Church of God. Mrs. Paul Chappel presented the program, "Gift Giving by Love." The meeting concluded with a miscellaneous shower for Miss Mary Alice Hartley, bride-elect of Wallace Herring. The couple plans to be married Dec. 26 in Anderson, Ind.

A LOVELIER YOU

Create 'Starry' Look For Evening Wear

By MARY SUE MILLER
New cosmetics and makeup patterns combine to create a starry look for gala evenings. The eyes and lips are all light and shimmer. And this is as it should be in a season when clothes for evening wear are paved with glittering sequins and jewels. Without some dazzle of her own, a girl could get lost.

The look begins with transparent face color in a mauve tint. On application your skin achieves a cool translucent undercolor that is especially effective under night lights. Add a sheer foundation — a fragile ivory shade or one that near-matches your natural skin tone — and a dusting of neutral finishing powder. At this point, the skin resembles fine porcelain.

NCO Wives Club Plans Activities For Holidays

Mrs. Fred Smith was named 'member of the month' at Tuesday's meeting of the NCO Wives Club in the NCO Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base. A holiday brunch was served, and a farewell party honored Mrs. Fred Smith and Mrs. Edward Falzinie.

Mrs. Smith is moving with her family to Keesler Air Force Base in Mississippi, and Mrs. Falzinie is leaving with her family for Mobile, Ala.

Mrs. John Del Vecchio announced the Christmas party for member's children will be Saturday at the NCO Club when "Santa Claus" will present gifts.

The Christmas dance will be held Dec. 21. Cocktails will be served from 6 to 7:30 p.m., and dinner will be $1.50 per person.

The NCO garage sale will be held Jan. 16-17 at the home of Mrs. C. Benevides, 1600 Harding. The sale will be open to the public.

Two guests, Mrs. Henry Collinsworth and her daughter, Betty, were introduced.

WMU Hears Talk On Pagan Society

Westside Baptist Church Woman's Missionary Union met Tuesday.

The prayer calendar was read by Mrs. J. W. Trantham to pray for South American counties. Prayer was given by Mrs. Mary Riddle.

Mrs. Leroy Menchew presented a program on "Growing Christians in a pagan society." All 11 members present read scripture.

The closing prayer was given by Mrs. Vera Audrain.

Two of the members stayed to work on the Union's Open Door project.

the cheekbones with pink blush powder. Highlight the lids from lashline to brow with iridescent white eye shadow; apply a smoky shade of turquoise shadow along the crease of the lids, a deep turquoise liquid liner to the lashline, matching mascara to the lashes. False lashes? Brow makeup? As desired.

And for double dazzle: Outline the mouth in full, rounded curves with cherry lipstick — very dark in the case but like a light-struck ruby on the lips.

Mrs. D. Johnson Gives Program

Mrs. Dan Johnson presided and presented the program, "Poetry Into Music," at Monday's meeting of Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi in the home of Mrs. William Patton, 2106 Cecilia.

Mrs. Johnson cited examples of setting verse to music, noting that "Home On the Range" and "Old Folks at Home" were originally prose which were later set to music.

Phi psi gifts were exchanged and members reminded of the dance Saturday at 9 p.m. in Hotel Settles. Tickets may be purchased from members for $4 or at the door for $5.

Mrs. Don Statham, a member of Beta Omicron Chapter, was announced as having been selected Beta Sigma Phi City Council sweetheart at a recent meeting.

Beauceant Installation Scheduled

The Social Order of the Beauceant elected new officers at Monday's meeting at the Masonic Temple. The new slate will assume office following a joint installation Jan. 3 with the Knights Templar.

Mrs. Homer Thorp presided and asked the women to bring food to the Dec. 11, 18, and 23rd meetings. A food basket will be provided for a needy family with Mrs. Lee Porter and Mrs. Joe Hoard in charge of arrangements. Also, members will bake cakes or cookies for the Big Spring State Hospital party and deliver them to the home of Mrs. Harvey Hooser Jr. on Dec. 19. Those who will help serve at the party are Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Hoard, Mrs. Wright Vickers, Mrs. R. L. Lee, Mrs. Thorp, Mrs. Allen Hull and Mrs. W. A. Bryans.

The next meeting will be Dec. 23 when the food basket will be delivered.

Friendship Club Holds Dinner

Members of the Friendship Breakfast Club honored Mrs. Ollie McDaniel Monday evening with a birthday dinner at Coker's Restaurant. Following the meal, the group met in the home of Mrs. H. F. Jarratt, 413 Edwards, for a Christmas party.

Holiday decorations were used throughout the home, and the refreshment table was covered with a red cloth and centered with a Christmas arrangement.

Gifts were distributed from a silver tree, and the hostess' gift to each member was a door knocker.

The next meeting will be Jan. 13. Mrs. Ollie McDaniel will be hostess for the next three months.

Circle Holds Study Meeting Tuesday

The Martha Foster Circle of Wesley United Methodist Church studied the book of James at Tuesday's meeting in the home of Mrs. S. L. Thurman, 705 E. 13th. Mrs. W. B. Morris worded prayer. Refreshments were served, and the next meeting will be with Mrs. Janie Cofer.

Christmas Tea Held By Club

Larry Stanley, choir director at Howard County Junior College, conducted the musical program at Wednesday's Christmas tea held by the Big Spring Music Study Club in the home of Mrs. Charles Bell, 502 Highland.

Mrs. James Baum presided and introduced the program. Mrs. Mary Grenier, organist, played seasonal selections; Stanley sang "Mighty Lord, King All Glorious," by Bach; Mrs. Carl Bradley sang "Sweet Little Jesus Boy" and the Bell Choir of First Methodist Church sang a Christmas medley.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a white satin cloth trimmed with sequins and centered with an arrangement of red and green ornaments flanked by red tapers in silver holders. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Approximately 50 attended.
